Right At Home In Iowa

This South Pole penguin really isn't alive, but the way the winter has been going in Iowa the white-breasted aquatic bird might not feel out of place if it were. Weather records for snow and cold—are being set. The stuffed penguin was brought back from the Antarctic by Richard Brown of Keokuk, Iowa, who obtained it on a tour in the Navy near the South Pole. Posing with the bird are Roddy Vance, 13 months old, and his brother Lonnie, 3, sons of Dr. and Mrs. William Vance of Keokuk.

Heavy Hail Strikes East Texas Area

By The Associated Press
Hail, described at some points as heavy, struck the Dallas-Fort Worth area shortly after dawn Monday amid a thunderstorm.

Observers said hail covered the ground on the western edge of Arlington, which is midway between Fort Worth and Dallas, and on the southeast edge of Fort Worth.

Drivers on Central Expressway, a main artery in Dallas, reported heavy hail at 7:30 a.m.

Torrential rain fell for a time after light rain during the night. Lightning and thunder accompanied the downpour.

Light rain or mist fell in almost all weather reporting points during the night.

Lightning during the thunderstorms caused scattered power failures in Dallas. About three streets in West Dallas were without electricity after lightning struck power lines. A portion of the business district in Brook Hollow industrial area some distance from downtown Dallas also was without power for a time.

Rainfall totals as reported by the Weather Bureau included Corpus Christi .45 inch, Brownsville .29, Kingsville .68, Beeville .25, Cotulla .17, Laredo .11, Junction and Childress .10, and less than a tenth of an inch at Amarillo, Lubbock, Midland, San Angelo, Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Victoria, Houston, Galveston, Texasarkana, Palacios, Tyler, Longview, College Station, Sherman and Temple.

Only in the El Paso area were skies clear. Early morning temperatures ranged from 36 degrees at Childress to 66 at Brownsville.

Rescue In Mine At Critical Stage

New Approach To Trapped Men

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP) — Workmen striving to reach 18 trapped miners had a new approach today to where the men are believed to be held up, and the rescue chief said, "We're at the critical stage now."

Crawford L. Wilson, state mines director, said a new fresh air line had been set up and converged with the first one.

"These lines of approach are certain and safely supported," said Wilson as he spoke to newsmen after a conference with officials of Island Creek Coal Co.

One rescue team had reached almost within shouting distance—150 feet of their target deep behind the tunnel which has been clogged with a smoldering fire and slate fall since last Tuesday morning. But rescuers have had to return for fresh oxygen supplies and again.

Fate of the men who were trapped six days ago remains as shrouded as the smoke and gas-clogged air. However, rescuers believe they had time to barricade themselves off with heavy canvas.

GOOD SPIRITS

Wilson, veteran mine official who was celebrating his 66th birthday today, walked briskly and was in good spirits as he arrived from an overnight stay in Holden.

He explained that work teams have fought their way through tunnels 7 and 8 and the honey-comb passageways between them. The new fresh air passage through these tunnels has linked with the main rescue attempt up tunnel 4.

The entombed men are believed in an area off 7 and 8, which also can be reached from the No. 4 tunnel.

Earlier, one workman described the tremendous obstacles in the way of the rescuers.

"That smoke is so thick down there you can stick out your finger and punch a hole in it," said Elmer Layne, 37-year-old rescue team captain just up from the black depths.

A rock fall and fire trapped the miners last Tuesday morning in the Island Creek Coal Co. No. 22 mine at nearby Holden, about 13 miles from the Kentucky border.

TELLS OF OBSTACLES
His face gray with dust, his white miner's hat and khaki shirt and pants streaked with black, the Bartley, W. Va., safety engineer-told newsmen early today some of the obstacles rescuers have battled.

You have to crawl on your stomach about 150-200 feet to by-pass the still smoldering fire in the main tunnel.

Then there's the choking smoke and the deadly carbon monoxide.

At the news conference, company officials told of another breakthrough in the push to reach the trapped men.

"We have made two probes in the past three hours," said T. N. Camicia, Island Creek vice president in charge of operations.

"From our fresh-air base, we went to a point within 200 feet of the area where we presume the men are barricaded. Then we had to turn back because of dense smoke and heat.

ANOTHER TEAM

"Then we sent another team out. It went to within 150 feet of the area before turning back.

Then they backed up to another point on the main heading (tunnel) and advanced forward 150 feet to a place 100 feet farther than we have ever been before.

"The men stopped at a motor pit (an equipment repair shop). The men tore off a few boards and looked inside. They saw nothing."

Island Creek President Raymond E. Salvati, who used to dig coal himself, began talking.

"There's something wrong with our ventilation system," he said grimly. "We can't get the air to do what it's supposed to do."

Someone asked the inevitable question. Are the men alive?

"I don't think there is any question about it," said Salvati. "Those men are still alive and we are going to get them out."

Patrons Back Flower Grove Board Action

FLOWER GROVE (SC) — Trustees of the Flower Grove school district called a meeting of all school patrons and taxpayers at 8:30 a.m. today, in an effort to resolve problems arising from an altercation between two male members of the faculty.

The 50 Flower Grove area residents who turned out for the meeting gave a near-unanimous vote of confidence to the seven-man school board.

The actual decision on the problem will be made by the board at a meeting tonight at the school.

The alleged incident occurred last Wednesday, on the school grounds. It involved Henry Lewis, chemistry and physics teacher, and Kenneth Newcomb, typing and math instructor, and was said to have stemmed from an argument over a school tractor.

The altercation occurred when Lewis, who is in charge of the tractor, loaned it to Newcomb to clear an area between teachers' houses. When Newcomb continued the clearing around the football field, an argument arose.

Supt. P. J. O'Connell, who was outside at the time, instructed Newcomb to get off the tractor. A fight ensued and Newcomb suffered three or four slash wounds. Lewis was relieved promptly of his duties, said O'Connell, and Newcomb withdrew of his own accord.

Candidate

Ex-Governor Elmo Smith of Oregon has filed for GOP nomination for the U. S. Senate. He is expected to oppose Sen. Richard L. Neuberger's widow in the fall general election.

Soggy Weather May Be Breaking

A continuous drizzle which began early Sunday morning and dragged on steadily throughout the day until early Monday morning added .06 inch moisture to the 1960 total.

Temperature did not drop below 40 during the wet interval and there was no frost. The high for Sunday was 46.

Forecast for this afternoon calls for partly cloudy skies and some wind. It will be cooler tonight, the forecast promised than it was Sunday night. A low of 34 predicted Tuesday should be a little cooler than today.

The sun came out Monday morning after the day had started off with a heavy drizzle. It rapidly warmed up the damp chill.

Court Docket For Week Folds Today

A civil docket slated for 118th District Court this week fell apart at the seams Monday morning. When Judge Ralph Caton had completed sounding the docket, there were no cases listed as ready for trial.

Judge Caton thanked the members of the jury panel and excused them from further duty this week.

The court said that some of the cases on the docket had been settled out of court. Others have been dropped and a number were not ready for trial.

Next Monday, the court will begin hearing of a murder case set for special trial. The defendant is James Tindol charged with the Feb. 14, 1959, murder of William Walter Gatlin. A special venire of 100 jurors has been summoned to serve in this case.

Adlai May Wage Nomination Drive

NEW YORK (AP) — Signs mounted today that Adlai E. Stevenson intends to wage an active but soft-sell campaign for a third Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson, who has stood on the sidelines so far, intends to deliver a series of five or six major addresses upon his return next month from a two-month South American tour.

Contract On Paving Due

The Big Spring City Commission will award the contract for the 100 block assessment paving program today at 6:15 p.m. in city hall.

Nine bidders submitted proposals last Tuesday which were opened during the regular meeting of the commission. The bids of W. D. Caldwell and H. G. Counts was the apparent low offering for hot mix paving on a flexible base.

This bid of $270,061.54 was recommended by City Manager A. E. Steinheimer and Louis Gene Thompson, engineer.

The apparent low bid for quadruple penetration on a flexible base was made by J. H. Chastain, Snyder. It was $369,312.09.

If the Caldwell-Counts bid is accepted, Big Spring property owners will pay between 4.22 and 5.66 cents per front foot for paving.

Thompson has told the commission that this bid is about $100,000 less than he estimated.

Cancer Drive Plan Mapped At Lamesa

LAMESA — Plans for the 1960 house-to-house campaign of the American Cancer Crusade in Dawson County were aired at a meeting at 10 a.m. today, in Lamar Forrest Community Center here.

Area captains and district captains for the drive were present along with the co-chairmen of the house-to-house committee, Mrs. Homer Simpson and Mrs. Henry Stafford.

Area captains are Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Trice, Mrs. W. J. Beckham, Mrs. Doris Wilmoth, Mrs. Don Nutt, Mrs. Fred Henderson, Lee McCallister and Ray Gozales.

Drive To Aid The Crippled Is Launched By Volunteers

Voluntary workers in Big Spring began a countywide appeal for assistance of the local Society for Crippled Children and Adults today according to George Zachariah, president of the organization.

The group is seeking its annual budget to maintain an active program of treatment and training of handicapped children and adults in the community. The drive will coincide with others throughout the nation in the National effort to "Fight Crippling."

Spearehead of the appeal is the American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Lois Hill, president announced some 30 workers have prepared more than 8,000 mailings containing the traditional Easter Seals. A prompt response in contributions and use is urged by Mrs. Hill.

The auxiliary has also scheduled two benefit dances with all profits to go to the fund.

On March 18, a special teen-age ball will be held at the high school, from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. Music will be by Max Alexander and his Hi Fi Combo with tickets selling at $1.00.

Use of the Settles Hotel ballroom has been donated for the adult dance April 8. The Alexander band will also play for this benefit with tickets to be sold by the auxiliary members. Only a small fee will be paid members of the band with the leader donating his services.

Other activities scheduled include a bake sale to be held on April 16, at the Hull & Phillips, Furr's and Safeway stores. Women's groups are planning numerous benefit coffees, and some cafes are planning a "Fight Crippling" coffee day. The American Legion is donating all coffee revenue during the entire month.

Coin receptacles will be placed throughout the business area next week to encourage a broader participation in the campaign.

An urgent need for budget funds exists according to Mrs. Cleta Teague, voluntary worker with the group. Mrs. Teague drives the county furnished car to the Cerebral Palsy center in Midland each Monday with those requiring treatment at the Society's financed clinic. The society must furnish the gasoline. Currently some 10 to 20 children are receiving periodic treatment at the center.

Besides funds to support the treatment centers the local society must be in position to supply specially made shoes, braces and many of the items of equipment necessary in the therapy and to finance trips to other treatment centers.

The Big Spring Society is also handicapped by lack of a home to operate from. According to Zachariah a suitable building has been donated by the Texas & Pacific Railway Company. The city is furnishing land near the new YMCA, but funds are needed to move the building and make it usable.

Assistance from other organizations and individuals in the campaign will be welcome, Zachariah said.

Helping Hand For Crippled Children

Mrs. Byron Hill, president of the American Legion Auxiliary and chairman of the Easter Seal drive, assists George Zachariah in posting some 8,000 appeals Monday. This year found Zachariah, a veteran worker for the Crippled Children and Adults Society, which he heads, in greater sympathy than ever. He has a broken shoulder. The Legion Auxiliary is handling the entire fund appeal campaign this year.

Beating Of Negro Family Heads Dixie Violence List

Outbreaks of violence in Alabama—the latest a report that white men beat a Negro family with iron pipes—have led officials of two large organizations to urge President Eisenhower to step into the race situation in that state.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, telegraphed the President urging action by federal agencies to protect constitutional rights of Negro citizens in Alabama.

"In action of the federal government," Wilkins said, "could result in massacre on a scale that will dishonor the United States before the world."

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, wired Eisenhower asking him "to instruct the attorney general to take immediate action in your name to restore law and order in Montgomery, Ala." scene of frequent student demonstrations and numerous arrests.

TEAR GAS
The requests came during a weekend marked by the use of tear gas to break up a march of Florida A. & M. University students in Tallahassee, and rallies, prayer services and sit-down demonstrations at other places in the South.

Picketing in support of the Negro stand for integrated Southern eating facilities occurred in New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Michigan, Kansas and Colorado.

Wilkins originally asked for presidential action March 10. He said Sunday he was renewing the request because of a report a Negro family was attacked in their Bessemer, Ala., home by white men wielding pipes.

Robert Jones, 20, a college student, told police 9 or 10 white men broke into his house Saturday night and beat him, his mother Mattie Mae Jones, 45, and his sister Luvina, 18. The mother was hospitalized with a broken leg and finger. Jones and his sister were treated for bruises and abrasions.

NO ARRESTS
George W. Barron, Bessemer police chief, said he was investigating the beating report but had made no arrests. Jones was in a group of Negroes arrested at Birmingham several weeks ago while distributing anti-segregation literature.

At Raleigh, N.C., 300 Negroes held a prayer service on the steps of the state Capitol and then marched down the city's main street. The service occurred on the eve of the trial of 43 Negro college students charged with trespassing in connection with a lunch counter demonstration.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., of Atlanta, a Negro integration leader, told 3,500 persons attending Sunday service at the Princeton University chapel that some white people show more concern for their economic status than for their fellow men.

His appearance came a day after Princeton students clashed with snowballs and fists during an anti-segregationist picket demonstration outside the F. W. Woolworth Co. store in the university town. There were no arrests.

BIG RALLIES
Negro rallies in four states attracted nearly 40,000 persons.

At San Antonio, Tex., 1,500 Negroes met with NAACP officials to plan possible protests. The NAACP has asked six downtown stores to desegregate lunch counters by Thursday and a spokesman said if answers are not received demonstrations will be held.

Some 1,500 Negroes attending a NAACP-sponsored meeting at Hampton, Va., were urged to use economic pressure and passive resistance in the campaign.

In Tampa, Fla., the state president of the NAACP reported two pistol bullets were fired into his home early today.

New Faces In City Budget

The city budget for 1960-61 has several new faces among its expenditures, and at least one department will be completely reorganized.

New listings under expenditures will be appropriations for the proposed city-county juvenile department and Civil Defense. The Citizens Traffic Commission will be reorganized within the department of public works, with an assist from the police department.

The city commission was budgeted $250 for civil defense in the new fiscal year. W. D. Berry, civil defense director, had requested considerably more and the preliminary budget worksheets listed a request of $1,400.

CD OUTLAY
Civil defense expenditures have not been budgeted in previous years, but were met with specific appropriations from surplus during the year. The commission felt economy measures forced them to reduce the request.

The Citizens Traffic Commission was listed in the preliminary budget at $5,565, a $72 increase above the previous budget year. The commission decided to save this expenditure by reorganizing the department within the public works department.

Costs for the operation will be absorbed by the public works department and the police department. The commission will be set up similar to the planning and zoning commission and the zoning board of adjustment.

Bruce Dunn, director of public works, will act as executive secretary, as he currently is for the other two citizen boards. The com-mmission will appoint members to the CTC.

Lt. Stanley Bogard, traffic division will work under Dunn in CTC traffic matters. A secretary, approved for the inspection division, will handle correspondence and book work of the commission.

In this discussion, Mayor Lee O. Rogers pointed out that the CTC has handled a difficult job and did it well. The commissioners agreed with him. A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, proposed the reorganization program which the commission approved.

Chief C. L. Rogers was asked his opinion of the shuffle and agreed with the commission that money could be saved and the same service to the community rendered.

NOT ENTIRE YEAR
Regarding the city-county juvenile department, John Taylor pointed out it would not be organized in time to operate the entire year and he suggested cutting the appropriation from $4,800 to $2,400. Steinheimer said this amount would be a little more than a half cent of the total $1.50 tax rate.

The Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit budget of $12,690 was approved as submitted. The city share will be a little more than three cents of the $1.50 levy.

Also budgeted is $31,500 for Master Plan expenditures. Of the total, $15,000 will go to Forrest and Cotton, and the remaining $16,000 will be paid to Marvin Springer. This cost is about eight cents of the tax rate.

Big Spring taxpayers will have their say on the budget during a public hearing which the commission called for March 29.

Take To The Hills

Taking no chances, members of the press view the situation from as great a distance as they can achieve within the confines of a New York hotel suite as Philadelphia socialite Stella (Sissy) Reeves, 27, uncovers a 12-foot Anaconda she brought back with her from Brazilian jungles. The adventurous Philadelphian went to northwest Brazil last June to hunt jaguar with spears. She found the snake during the expedition and smuggled him out of Brazil in a false trunk bottom. She also brought back a hairless dog.

Medical Quacks Clean Up Billions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Have you ever tried turtle oil to iron out your wrinkles; used royal jelly to cure anything that ails you; or applied an electric shock to mend broken bones?

If you have, you may be among the millions of Americans who shell out close to a billion dollars a year to medical and nutritional quacks.

The Food and Drug Administration is conducting a running war against "literally thousands of medical quacks" and wants Congress to put up more money to finance the fight.

George P. Larrick, head of the agency created to police the food and drug business, recently outlined his problems to a House Appropriations subcommittee which published his testimony today.

Larrick brought along some samples to back up his case. They included a "hagi pipe" and a plastic bag into which a person suffering from muscle cramps sticks his head.

The "hagi pipe," made in Japan at a cost of 6 cents, was offered for sale at $2.40. Made of bamboo with a mouthpiece on one end, it carried this claim: "Gospel to all smokers, hagi pipe to prevent lung cancer from smoking."

The directions for the plastic bag, which sold for a dollar, told the user to "stick your head down in the bag and exhale into it, and then breathe back your own breath." After doing that five times, the cramps were supposed to disappear.

Another form of "medical hocus - pocus" is long - distance diagnosis and treatment of ailments. The patient sends in a drop of blood on a blotter and gets a reply telling him what to do. One skeptical person sent in the blood from a rooster. The long-distance diagnosis was that the patient had "malaria and gonorrhea."

Nutritional quackery, Parrick estimated, costs an estimated 16 million Americans more than $60 million dollars annually. It involves promotion of "special" or "secret" formulas including such ingredients as black-strap molasses, seaweed, or alfalfa. The makers claim that if the formulas are used properly they would cure or prevent cancer or graying hair. Some of the formulas sold for as much as $200 a year per person.

"Medical quackery is big business," Larrick informed the committee with an estimated 250 million dollars a year going into the pockets of the quacks.

One company, he said, sold vitamins on a yearly basis at a cost of $108 per person and grossed $5 million dollars a year. Its product was supposed to be "good for everything from cancer, to sterility."

Not long ago, Larrick said, an estimated 4,000 people paid $19.50 each for a little battery device to administer shocks. The gadget was supposed to be "helpful for goiter, kidney trouble, heart pain, broken bones, childbirth, paralysis and deafness."

Three other persons, including young Hayes, were wounded during the shooting spree.

Bloodgood said the shooting followed a party at the Hayes home attended by two young couples and the assailant's girl friend. Hayes slapped one of the girls and the guests left.

The district attorney said the youth then evidently went berserk, tearing down drapes, wrecking furniture and lamps and smashing windows.

When Hayes and his wife and two other couples returned home, the youth opened fire, Bloodgood said. The elder Hayes and Nelson were cut down in the driveway by .22 caliber rifle bullets.

Another shot struck Arnold Rasmussen, who with his wife had attended a dinner gathering with the Hayes and Nelson.

The youth then opened fire on a neighbor, Larry McCollough, 16, striking him in the arm.

Sgt. Charles Lullins entered the home and found Hayes hiding in a bedroom. He fired at the door and Hayes fired one shot, the bullet striking his own foot. Then he threw the gun out the door and surrendered.

The youth was a Navy veteran with a medical discharge.

Church Of God Party To Form

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—A religious leader says he will organize a third political party—the Church of God party—next Sunday at Fulton, Mo., and run for president.

Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson of the Church of God, Queens Village, N.Y., said if he is elected he would try to change the United States government from a democracy to a theocracy where tithing would replace taxation.

"The two - party system has served its day," said Tomlinson, 67.

While here Sunday, he performed what he called his "symbolic coronation" as king of Utah. It was the 23rd state in which he has conducted this ceremony.

Violence Takes 25 Lives In Texas

Six persons were killed in a head-on highway crash in South Texas Sunday as the weekend violent death toll in the state reached at least 25.

Eighteen of the deaths were blamed on traffic mishaps. Four persons died in shootings, two burned to death and one was fatally stabbed.

Travis Gail Lambert, 16, of Wichita Falls and Greta Gay Hancock, 19, of Bowie were found dead early Sunday in a wrecked car on a county road 2 miles northwest of Wichita Falls.

Carl W. Reed, 42, an auto mechanic, was killed at El Paso in a fire of undetermined origin that destroyed a house trailer Sunday.

Jimmie Cline Taylor, 18, of Coleman and James Fields, 25, an air-stated at Dyess Force Base station at Dyess Force Base at Abilene, were killed Sunday when their cars collided head-on near Coleman. Two other persons were injured.

Adenauer Blames Small Group For Anti-Jew Smears

NEW YORK (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer says his nation today is a practicing democracy and he blames recent anti-Semitic incidents there on a "minute minority of neo-Nazis."

"Be convinced," said Adenauer Sunday, "that this Germany is a democratic Germany and that none of its Jewish citizens will suffer any harm or damage."

Adenauer said: "Behind everything that is being said here and there against Germany, there is the concerted will of the Soviet Union. The Soviet Union wants to drive a wedge between the German and American people in order to shift the political balance of the world in favor of the Soviet Union."

"I assure you that the spirit of Germany today is far from being anti-Semitic or Nazi."

Practicing democracy, Adenauer said, "seems to be a difficult thing, as you can see from the debate in the United States Senate." He apparently alluded to the civil rights debate.

"I might, therefore, ask your tolerance and understanding for the German Parliament and its times our federal government," he said.

The 84-year-old German leader has a busy Sunday. He spoke at a luncheon of the American Council on Germany. Earlier, he had breakfast with Francis Cardinal Spellman after Mass, and visited the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Sunday night he attended a private dinner.

The chancellor, who is en route to Tokyo for a state visit, will go to Washington Tuesday to confer with President Eisenhower.

Burns To Death

DALLAS (AP)—Melee Hawkins, 32 and a Negro, burned to death early today when fire swept his four-room home.

The blaze may have started from a cigarette.

Chief To Visit Border States

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Adolfo Lopez Mateos takes off today on a five day tour of the northern border states of Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas during which he will inaugurate public works projects ranging from refineries to schools.

Traveling in the presidential plane, "El Insurgente," he will be accompanied by the following members of his official family:

Minister of Health Dr. Jose Alvarez Amezcua; Manuel Moreno Torres, director of the Federal Electricity Commission; Pascual Gutierrez Rol An, director of Pemex, the government oil monopoly; Javier Barrios Sierra, Minister of Public Works; Alfredo del Mazo, minister of hydraulic resources; Roberto Barrios, chief of the Department of Agrarian and Colonization Affairs; Eduardo Bustamante, minister of national patrimony; General Jose Gomez Elorza, head of the presidential military household; and private secretary Humberto Romero.

MacMillan Ends De Gaulle Talks

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was back home today after weekend talks with French President Charles de Gaulle on disarmament, the German problem, European and African questions and Algeria.

A British spokesman described the talks as "useful" but declined to go into details. A spokesman for De Gaulle said they served to tighten the close tradition ties between the two countries.

Ike Defense Critic Is A 2-Fisted Man

NEW YORK (AP) — At 44, Thomas G. Lanphier Jr., a big, two-fisted man who knows how to fight.

He was a flying ace in World War II. Now he's figuratively swinging his fists in a struggle to keep his country from "losing World War III." There are those who see him as something less than a hero in this time.

That doesn't dismay Lanphier. He isn't a man who lets politics, personal acclaim or profit stand in the way when he makes up his mind. He has suffered on all three counts in recent days by shouting warnings right and left.

Lanphier, a Republican, drew party scorn when he proclaimed President Eisenhower is undervaluing the Soviet Union and overestimating American power, and "taking a chance" with the nation's survival. He said in effect Eisenhower doesn't know modern weapons.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), one of the administration's sharp critics, knows a lot more, said Lanphier. Lanphier was a special assistant in 1949-50 when Symington was Air Force secretary. Lanphier would like to see Symington as a presidential nominee.

Lanphier knows about the shooting end of war from service as an Army pilot in the Pacific during World War II. He was credited with shooting down a plane carrying the Japanese naval commander, Adm. Iroroku Yamamoto.

The war over, he put in a stint of newspaper work on the Boise (Idaho) Statesman.

was special assistant to the chairman of the National Security Resources Board, served on various military advisory boards and was president of the Air Force Assn.

He joined the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. in 1951 and rose rapidly to a vice presidential post paying $42,500 a year. A few weeks ago he got a raise to $60,000. By that time, however, he also had gotten alarmed over American defense policies.

Though Lanphier was taking a leading hand in his firm's Atlas missile production, he concluded it was time to do more. He began plumping for stouter national measures—and he began getting jobs from some who asserted he was only trying to be a better missile salesman.

A few doses of this treatment convinced Lanphier he would have to quit his job in order to speak out freely. So he quit, effective March 15.

Once his decision was made public last month, he didn't waste much time in setting out his views in newspaper interviews, television appearances and congressional testimony.

Lanphier, son of a flier, was born in the Panama Canal Zone.

He studied journalism at Stanford University, where he was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in 1941. He worked his way through school writing for various newspapers.

In 1943 he married the former Phyllis Johnson Fraser. They have five daughters, ranging from 4 to 15. The family home is at La Jolla, Calif.

Story Now Told—Wartime Blast Greatest Mine Disaster

Editor's note: The world has known little of its greatest mining disaster, a series of blasts that killed more than 1,500 men in Japanese-occupied Manchuria in World War II. Details hidden by wartime censorship are touched upon in the following dispatch.

By FRED SAITO
TOKYO (AP)—A series of tremendous explosions ripped through the Honkeiko colliery in Manchuria April 26, 1942.

Five days later Manchuria's Japanese puppet government announced in a communique there were "not a few victims." This was a laconic summary of the greatest mine disaster in the history of the world. More than 1,500 men, chiefly Chinese and Manchurian coolies, had perished. The Japanese military, whose war machine was being fed by the Honkeiko colliery and the industries in the area, didn't want the rest of the world to know what happened.

A rigid censorship was imposed. And when Japan was defeated in 1945, much of the story of the Honkeiko disaster went up in the smoke of burned documents and papers.

This story can be pieced together. The colliery was situated in a great industrial section of southeastern Manchuria near Fushun. It was operated by the semi-government Manchurian Heavy Industries Corp., which developed Manchuria for Japan. The government communique said the accident occurred in the lower stratum of the Ryuto pit. "As soon as the accident occurred, the company organized rescue squads and made the utmost effort to prevent a spread of the disaster," it said.

"At present, reconstruction is proceeding smoothly. Coal mine operations were partially resumed on April 30. A complete resumption on the scale preceding the accident is expected soon. No damage whatsoever was done to the iron works."

That was the official version. But recently, Zoroku Hatakeyama, 67, managing director of the colliery at the time, told his story in an interview.

Hatakeyama, now chairman of the board of the Mining Welfare Facilities Construction Co., said: "The Honkeiko colliery was a

Airlift May End Today

WEST JEFFERSON, N.C. (AP)—Air and ground mercy missions to snowbound mountain families in North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia were expected to be all but completed today.

North Carolina Gov. Luther Hodges flew over the stricken area Sunday and told reporters: "I think you can say to the whole world that the situation is in hand."

The Red Cross said it expected to reach the last of 1,500 snowbound families today.

At least two weather-connected deaths were reported.

A break in the weather Sunday sent rescue teams throughout the area carrying Red Cross food packets, bagged coal and medical supplies.

C. W. Lee, a highway department engineer from Raleigh, said all paved roads were open in Alleghany, Ashe and Avery and Watauga counties. He said most unpaved roads also were open. Eight helicopters shuttled over the area which averages three feet of snow and drifts up to 35 feet. Twenty Army Jeeps and three Weasels, Army half-track snow vehicles, joined the equipment already in use, including a 195 road clearing machine.

Family Missing On Plane Flight

BURLEY, Idaho (AP) — A search was under way today for a light airplane reported missing on a flight from Burley, Idaho, to Las Vegas, Nev.

Aboard the Piper Apache were Wes Stoddard, 50, of Anchorage, Alaska; his wife Helen, 49; their daughter Mrs. Horace Cumble, 28, her son Randy, 5; and Stoddard's sister, Mrs. Joseph V. Lee.

Stoddard, his wife, daughter and grandson left Anchorage last Monday on a family visiting excursion. Mrs. Lee, of nearby Heyburn, joined the family flight Sunday at Burley. They planned to visit their mother and some brothers who live in Arizona.

Test Pilot Waited A Long Time For Flight In X15

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — "I've been waiting a long time to get my hands on that plane."

That's the test pilot Joe Walker talking about the X15 rocket ship. He makes his first flight this week in the sleek black dart that eventually is expected to fly 100 miles high at 4,000 m.p.h.

The plane Walker will take up has been flown only once under power. North American Aviation's Scott Crossfield reported then he wasn't satisfied with the way it handled.

"It was just a little trouble in the damping," says Walker. "The pitch control needed some adjustment. But I'm sure it's ready to go now."

Walker, one of the nation's top test pilots, works for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the federal agency that runs the X15 program. He has been with NASA and its forerunner, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, since 1945.

Over the years he has flown a long string of experimental planes, starting with the Xq. Since 1952, when the idea for the X15 was born, he has had his eye on the 50-foot space bird that may someday carry him to the edge of space.

In 1955 NACA completed plans for the X15 and turned the project over to a manufacturer, North American Aviation. A fellow NACA pilot, Scott Crossfield, joined North American to help design the plane.

Joe stayed with NACA, and now the long wait has borne fruit. Crossfield, who has made six low-altitude, low-speed checkout flights on the two X15s ready so far, is restricted by contract from pushing the plane to its limits.

Now it's up to Joe—and Air Force Maj. Robert White—to show what the stubby-winged plane really can do. Flying alternately, they'll first test the low-thrust engines now in the planes. Later they'll begin a series of all-out tests with a bigger engine.

By the time all three X15s are equipped with the big power plant, four other pilots will be flying the planes: Jack McKay and Neil Armstrong of NASA, Capt. Robert Rushworth of the Air Force and Lt. Comdr. Forrest Petersen of the Navy.

Walker, his blond curly hair turning iron gray at 39, faces this week's flight with almost boyish enthusiasm.

"This is what I like to do—this is what I have to do," says Walker with his slow and easy grin. Walker says he's not interested in setting records at first.

"It doesn't make sense to skim by unknown regions without exploring them," he says. "Just to set a record."

His feeling is shared by Major White, his dark-haired, blue-eyed counterpart in the Air Force.

"The X15 is not a vehicle for man's glory," says the 35-year-old White. It's a scientific instrument. If records come along—and they will—that's fine. But our main interest is a safe and successful program."

A Devotional For Today

They cried, saying, Crucify him, crucify him. (Luke 23:21.)

PRAYER: Almighty God, help us to keep vividly in mind the price paid for our redemption. Grant us strength to endure the cross we bear for Thy sake. Guide us in life that we may know the joy of the resurrection. In Christ's name we ask, Amen.

Be Sure We Get A Full Count

Our town and every other town, from Podunk to Greater New York, has a vital interest in seeing that every person within its environs is counted in the 1960 census.

It is apparent that Big Spring has enjoyed a wonderful growth during the past decade, and there is plenty of visual evidence and statistical proof to support this.

But if we don't take pains to see that every person is enrolled, we can't get full credit for size, and that could downgrade us in many ways, commercially and otherwise.

The decennial head count will be more complicated than usual, and while a strong force of census-takers will be ready to go, they are going to need a lot of cooperation in seeing that no one is overlooked, and none of the various kinds of information sought by Uncle Sam from individuals, families and firms should be neglected.

Householders are scheduled to receive a census questionnaire through the mail. Your responsibility is to see that this form is filled out completely and accurately, and have it ready when the enumerator calls. This will simplify and speed up the whole procedure.

You will be given full information through public information media, as census time approaches. Just be sure you — and everybody you know — get in on the count.

More Ammunition Against Censorship

Increasingly in recent years newspapers and other mediums of communications have complained of the almost impenetrable censorship various boards, bureaus, commissions and agencies exercise.

Most of them operate under the "right" to classify information as secret. If any bureau chief decides that something that had happened in his area of authority would reflect on himself, his subordinates or bureau, he simply marked it "classified" and that was that.

As a result, news media complained that this bottling up of legitimate news had reached a point worse than at any time in history, even during wartime, when much of it clearly was justified.

Well, President Eisenhower has taken steps to ease this situation to some extent — but it was only a beginning. He denied 30 federal agencies the right to classify information as secret.

But he gave to eight other agencies such authority, some of which had inherited the privilege from predecessor agencies. One such agency is the National Aeronautics and Space Administration; another, the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization. These, of course, are "critical areas," and their privilege of censorship (classification) can easily be justified.

Less obvious are some of the other privileged few, such as the Development Loan Fund, the Federal Aviation Agency, and the Council on Foreign Economic Policy.

One wonders how some of the 30 agencies deprived of authority ever got on the list in the first place. To name a few, the Advisory Committee on the Arts, the Civil Rights Committee and the Theodore Roosevelt Centennial Commission.

The practice of withholding information from the public is widespread among states and municipalities, and by innumerable boards and bureaus throughout the country. The net effect is to deprive the citizen-taxpayer and the general public of information to which they are entitled, and to protect bureaucrats in their misprisions and inefficiencies.

Deliberate suppression of legitimate information relating to the public's business, where its release would harm only the guilty, should be made a felony.

It will take stronger and more vigorous action than the President has taken to clean up a disgraceful situation in this democracy.

New Hampshire Helped Nixon, Kennedy

WASHINGTON—Some of the politicians may scoff at presidential primaries and pook-pook them, but somehow both Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon are better off from a publicity standpoint than they would have been if they hadn't entered the New Hampshire primaries.

For a sizable segment of the electorate—not a mere handful, such as are canvassed in public-opinion polls—actually expressed themselves by their votes. Vice President Nixon polled more votes than did President Eisenhower in the New Hampshire primary four years ago. Sen. Kennedy got a larger vote than the two Democratic aspirants together did in 1956.

THE PUBLICITY GIVEN by the New Hampshire primaries to the two candidates—Nixon and Kennedy—was priceless. Mr. Nixon didn't campaign personally, so his big vote is especially impressive. Mr. Kennedy did campaign personally and piled up a vote far larger than that of any other Democratic aspirant to the presidency in the New Hampshire primaries of past years.

Democratic leaders throughout the country are examining the results. They see Mr. Kennedy as a good vote-getter. They see Mr. Nixon as a man who can't be written off as readily today as was attempted a few months ago.

Some important conclusions can be drawn from the New Hampshire primaries. If, in state after state, Sen. Kennedy wins the presidential primaries, will the Democratic National Convention dare to sidetrack him? If it does, the cry will be raised that only because of his religion is he being barred. This viewpoint indeed was frankly and pointedly expressed several months ago in Kennedy circles as something to be borne in mind by the convention delegates. For if there is a resentment developed inside the Democratic party, it could mean a large stay-at-home vote in November or even considerable support for the Republican ticket as a punitive measure.

EVEN MORE IMPORTANT is the "image" of Mr. Kennedy as a presidential candidate which the newspaper reports of the different primary campaigns will be giving in the next few months. No other candidate will be as much in the public eye, nor will there be any such accumulation of votes throughout the country.

Mr. Nixon, moreover, was given a good chance to employ some wise tactics. He defended Sen. Kennedy publicly against charges made against the latter for allegedly being "soft on communism." This has the effect of putting a damper on those Democrats who were getting ready to have a field day over Mr. Nixon's comments about communism in reference to his own political opponents in the California senatorial race a decade ago. The recent comment by the vice president shows that he knows how to rise above personalities.

BUT, ON THE OTHER HAND, this maneuver doesn't dispose of the communist issue altogether. The attack on Sen. Kennedy doubtless will continue because he indicated a disposition toward the eventual recognition of Red China under certain circumstances. This is something that will bob up again in the campaign, as will also some questions about the Massachusetts senator's position with reference to the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy. It appears that some of the so-called "liberals," including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, have been at odds with the Massachusetts senator because he didn't vote in favor of the resolution "censuring" Sen. McCarthy in 1954. Mr. Kennedy explains that he was ill at the time and says now that, if he had been present in the Senate, he would have voted for the resolution. This confession will not endear him to the McCarthyites, of whom there are a considerable number in this country.

BUT WHEN ALL IS said and done, Sen. Kennedy did gain stature by his showing in the New Hampshire primary, and the mere fact that other candidates did not venture to dispute him indicates they thought they might get beaten.

So primaries do have their uses, and the big test will come this year when, as Sen. Kennedy rolls up the biggest primary vote of all as compared with his Democratic competitors, the question will be asked why, when a man is the favorite of the Democrats of the country who participated in pre-convention primaries, he isn't entitled to the presidential nomination. Primaries aren't so superfluous, after all.

Tough Time With Summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet preparations for the summit conference are like a rest cure, compared with what the Allies have to go through.

Latest example is the visit here by West Germany's chancellor, the 84-year-old Konrad Adenauer who visited President Eisenhower Tuesday.

This past weekend British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan visited French President Charles de Gaulle to talk about the summit. Later De Gaulle visits Britain and then comes to see Eisenhower. The summit meeting starts in Paris, May 16.

More than 15 months ago Premier Nikita Khrushchev began pushing the Allies toward this summit conference by demanding they get their troops out of West Berlin, although 100 miles inside Communist East Germany, is linked with the West.

THE SOVIETS KNOW what they want. They want West Berlin absorbed into the Communist world, they want to stop West Germany from re-arming, and they want the permanent division of West and East Germany.

Adenauer and his West German allies don't want their Western allies to agree to any of those things. Adenauer doesn't want the West to make any soft concessions, either.

Since West Berlin is so deep inside East Germany, a Soviet satellite, Khrushchev has an advantage which he holds over the Allies' heads.

All supplies for West Berlin—from the West—must pass through or over East Germany. Any time he wishes Khrushchev can order the supplies shut off.

Eisenhower himself agreed last year that the Allied ground forces in Europe aren't strong enough to prevent the Soviet from shutting the Allies out of West Berlin.

If the Allies tried to resort to some kind of force, it would be with planes or missiles. Either one would mean war. They might try to supply West Berlin by air as they did 11 years ago, if the Soviets interfered with that, the result might be war, too.

ALTHOUGH BERLIN and divided Germany will be the main issue at the summit, only the United States, Britain, France, and the Soviet Union will do the direct talking.

West and East Germany of course will be practically in the conversation, too, since they'll be sitting close by. But the West Germans seem fearful the West will make concessions to avoid conflict.

Earlier this month administration authorities here were reported as saying Eisenhower will give Adenauer a virtual veto over Western policies at the summit, that the West German leaders must be satisfied.

At his news conference last week Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was asked about this. He said the United States had never pretended to say anyone will have a veto at the summit.

But he added the Allies are trying to "concert" their position along with Adenauer's West Germany.

You can translate this anyway you want, but it seems to add up to this: so far as the United States is concerned, West Germany is going to have an awful lot to say about what the Allies do.

Only one thing about the summit seems clear at this moment. Between now and May 16 both talk and tension will increase as the Allies wrestle with one another and Khrushchev throws some broken glass into the ring.

That Next Drink Was Charged

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Wives in ancient Rome had an interesting way of reforming a boozing husband. When wine had dulled him, they slipped live eels into his drink.

The 1960 census is expected to show that 62 per cent of American families now own their homes, more than at any other time in our history.

As every mother knows, a boy baby uses from two to five more diapers a day than a girl baby.

Preparedness pays. In tiny Switzerland, which hasn't had a war in more than 150 years, every able-bodied man serves periodically in the National Militia over a 40-year span, from the age of 20 to 60. As a result of this lifelong training, no other army is as big as many sharpshooters.

Our quotable notables: "Honest statesmanship," Abraham Lincoln once observed drily, "is the employment of individual means for the public good."

You think this has been a tough winter? During the winter of 1906-07 a world record total of 894 inches of snow fell at Tamarack, Calif.

The good old days! In 1947 a poll of ex-GIs showed the average price they paid for a new suit was $37.

There's nothing more American than bean and eggs. But they also were popular foods with the Egyptians back in 1500 B. C.

Leap-year tip to the ladies: Tell your favorite bachelor he can help save your life by marrying you. Statistics prove that wives, divorcees, and widows all have lower death rates than women who never wed.

England has its beatniks, too. But over there they are known as "weirdies."

Great thoughts by great minds: "There may be some things better than sex," said W. C. Fields. "And some things may be worse. But there is nothing exactly like it."

Longevity: A lobster, if it can avoid hot water, lives about 50 years.

Worst pun of the week: Kathryn Murray tells of the young girl who went to her first dance and suffered from stag fright.

Ever wonder where the term "two bits" came from? It stems from the time when a Spanish coin, the real, circulated widely chopped into quarters each part was worth "two bits."

Do you shrink from work? Sure do. The average man shrinks about three quarters of an inch every day between breakfast and sundown.

What Causes Swollen Feet And Ankles?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Will you please write about swollen feet and ankles? Two doctors have examined me and found my heart, blood pressure and kidneys all right. They only suggest that I use less salt, I do use less, but my feet and ankles still swell. They are almost normal in the morning but by night are really swollen. I am 73—A.R."

This swelling means that fluid is accumulating in the tissues. It can occur in one ankle or both. It can result from one cause or another, or from a combination of causes.

Generally, lack of adequate circulation is the principal cause, but there are many causes of faulty circulation.

Weakness of the heart can be the basic cause. Or perhaps the kidneys are not removing sufficient poisonous waste matter from the bloodstream. That's another.

But if both kidneys and heart are satisfactory, then what? Various veins (which no longer can carry blood back to the heart and lungs efficiently enough) are a not uncommon cause. That is one of several things which might result in trouble in one leg but not the other.

Tumors in the pelvis may press on the blood vessels, impeding circulation. Obesity is another possibility, since with excess weight we have that much more flesh through which we must circulate the blood, and we can't always keep circulation up to par everywhere.

At the age of 73, some fault in circulation in the veins of the legs is a likely suspicion. This is fairly common on older persons. But as is the usual situation in medicine, you don't dare assume that the commonest cause is likely to be the one in the particular case you are considering. Flat feet can be a very real factor. So can anemia, or an under-active thyroid.

Still another possibility, in a one-sided problem of swelling, is a defective vein due to an injury, or phlebitis, or whatnot.

Ankle-swelling is not unusual among women, especially in hot weather and particularly if they are on their feet a great deal.

In any case, regardless of the cause, the swelling is likely to be less severe if you change from being a heavy eater of salt to a light eater of it. Salt tends to keep water in the tissues. (Recently, in heart and kidney cases, there is a much greater tendency to use some of the new drugs to get rid of this excess fluid.)

But if you can't find any definite cause, or can't find one that adequately explains the trouble, then you have reason to suspect that it is some general weakening of the leg circulation without any particular defect being responsible.

In such cases, and this may be the best possible advice to many readers who are of reasonably good health wearing elastic supportive hosiery may be helpful enough to prevent, or at least minimize, swelling late in the day.

"Dear Dr. Molner: In regard to the letter from 'R. H.' whose granddaughter doesn't have teeth at 14 months, we have one who didn't cut a tooth until 15 months and then they came in one after another. She's over 3 years old now and has nice strong teeth." —Mrs. J. R."

Thank you — and I hope "R. H." sees this.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing." For a copy, write to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Adventures With A Three-Year-Old

Strange things have been turning up in our ice box at home, like plastic toy dogs and doll clothes.

Carol, the three-year-old heiress, has learned to open the door of the refrigerator and the light therein has all but burned a hole in the floor, as a result.

The situation is normal. Any day now, I expect to go home and find dishes of the staple diet all over the floor and the trays of the ice box filled with dolls, trusty 45's and maybe a rubber ball or two.

Our favorite recreation now is reciting stories ordinarily used to put kiddoes to sleep at night. Only these stories are apt to be told at any time of the day.

And these ageless tales of Goldilocks and the Three Bears, The Ginger Bread Man and The Three Little Pigs take two people to tell them.

I build up to the exciting climaxes and she interrupts me with the punch lines. She knows the stories a lot better than I do and if I wander a little bit and maybe bring Red Riding Hood and the Wolf face to face with Goldilocks I'm apt to get a stern lecture.

As additional punishment, I have to retell the story from the beginning, with pauses at the proper places to let her come to the center of the stage.

The other night I was bending an ear to the radio, listening to the waning moments of an exciting basketball game, when Carol maneuvered through the door, luging two toy telephones.

I spent the last few seconds of the contest shouting into the mouthpiece of the phone she handed me, making conversation that went something like this:

"Who did you want to talk to? Oh, she's not here. She went down town. I'll tell her you called. Yes, that's right. That's right. You want to speak to Johnny Ringo. OK, I'll get her. I mean, I'll get him."

I don't know yet how the game came out.

Not long before bed time on a recent evening, she amused herself by pulling the cushions of the divan to the floor and bouncing back and forth across them.

In time, she tired of that and I set about to repair the damage. She watched me complete the chore of returning the sofas to their proper places, then remarked:

"You sure are pretty to do that."

The other day I found her at the lavatory, rubbing soap onto her face with a wet rag, without taking the trouble to wash it away.

I cautioned her that she ran a grave danger of chapping her cheeks, to which she replied:

"No! It makes you 'kin parkle." (The TV influence, no doubt.)

I ask you: What can you do about a thing like that?

Texans Make A Mark In England

The distinguished English Speaking Union, operating on both sides of the Atlantic to cement the ties between the U. S. A. and Great Britain, has a serious rival.

The junior organization is the Anglo-Texan Society, organized by Englishmen who feel that Texans need a feeling of love and security away from home. And while the society is young, nonetheless, anything to do with Texas is bound to get bigger. And louder.

Now the Anglo-Texan Society does not kid around, when it calls a meeting, with such speakers as Sir Winston Churchill, Prince Philip or Herbert Hoover, as does the English Speaking Union.

NO, THE ANGLO-TEXAN Society takes under its wing such lonely persons as Jayne Mansfield, whom it took to tea in the House of Lords, the most-enthralling event in that chamber since the Gunpowder Plot of 1605.

Through a mutual friend, I have just met a member of the Council of the Anglo-Texan Society, Eric L. H. Cosby, who has lived in America on and off for several years and who is a naturalized Texan.

"I speak Texas and have visited the King Ranch," Mr. Cosby said, by way of presenting his credentials. "I used to be in the oil business myself—an engineer—so when the Anglo-Texan Society was formed at home, I felt I could make a contribution. I could interpret things like 'bourbon and ditch,' for instance, and signal people to stand up for 'The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You.'"

"WE TAKE TEXANS to the House of Commons for tea, for example. They always say Parliament is nice, but not as big as their little 'ol' capital in Austin."

"Our work is chiefly humanitarian," Mr. Cosby, a roly-poly man with bright blue eyes, continued. "Now you take a girl like Jayne Mansfield—and a great many people would be glad to—well she's a Texan, you know. So the society rallied around, a very large rally, in fact."

"We took her to the House of Lords for tea, and she is now the most popular Texan in England. Very big with the peerage. Her husband came with her. What a strong, silent man. He just sat silently, rippling his muscles while his wife breathed fire into the Lords."

In addition to his missionary work among visiting Texans, Mr. Cosby keeps inventing things. He has just obtained a patent on a comb not only with refillable but with movable teeth. (The latter massage the scalp while arranging the coiffure.)

"THIS IS THE FIRST variation, much less improvement, on the comb in 6,000 years," he said. He has also invented a brush for bald and semi-bald men. He feels such a brush restores self-confidence to bald men and mitigates their inferiority complex.

For a man who heads one of the oldest brush companies extant, Mr. Cosby is himself extremely shy on hair, his forehead extending back to his crown. This condition he blames on two factors: (1) short hair and (2) ignorance in his youth that brushing his hair briskly for 10 to 15 minutes morning and night would preserve it.

"Long hair stimulates the roots and prevents hair from falling out," Mr. Cosby explained. "That's why women aren't bald. Even though they bob their hair, they still wear it long enough to irritate the roots and make 'em work."

"For man, there is only salvation through the duck-tail hair-cut or the brush," Mr. Cosby said. "Probably that is why the sale of brushes is up."

'Bear Market' Brings Rally In Bonds

When the stock market slips to new lows, it's news. Often front-page news.

When, at the same time the government bond market pushes sharply higher, it isn't headline news. Yet this could be fundamentally significant. It could imply widespread unemployment, the end of inflation, possibly serious deflation.

More persons own American Telephone & Telegraph, or General Motors, or U. S. Steel stock than marketable bonds of the Treasury. Bonds are esoteric — of direct and critical concern to investment analysts of insurance companies, banks, and investment trusts. This is what makes the recent rally in government bonds important, perhaps prophetic.

JUST BEFORE CHRISTMAS, a thousand-dollar 2½ per cent bond of September 1967-72 sold for $785. The other day, you'd have had to pay $845 for this bond. That's a rise of $60 per bond in just a little over two months. In bonds, that's a good gain. Contrast this with General Motors stock — $54 a share then and $44 now. Or U. S. Steel, $100 versus $81.

Or take another example — the magic 5's. Before Christmas, you paid $1,005 per $1,000 note. Recently you'd have had to put up $1,030 to buy one. Why?

According to Dow theorists, the recent dunk of the rail stocks to new low prices in Wall Street signals a bear market. A bear market could mean two things:

1. PRICE READJUSTMENTS within the market. Stocks got too high. People let their enthusiasm run away with their sense of values. A revaluation takes place. This occurred in 1946-49 — without any damage to the nation's economic fabric.

2. A major business adjustment — a recession, or even a depression. This is the assumption behind the rise in bond prices.

If we are on the threshold of a business recession, the rise in bond prices also explains itself.

A setback in business automatically presses the Employment Act of 1946 button. The full powers of the federal government would be called forth, forthwith, to check a rise in unemployment and to stimulate a recovery. This would mean that the Federal Reserve Board would try to make credit easy.

THE RESERVE BOARD could do this by purchasing government securities in the open market, by reducing the required reserves of member banks, or by reducing the discount rate. It would raise bond prices.

Thus the bear market in stocks and the minor bull market in bonds are interrelated. Experts in bonds are looking ahead. Up until now, Federal Reserve policy has been to prevent a boom. Purpose: To prolong prosperity. Now, from relatively tight credit, perhaps the Board will shift to easy credit.

Another reason for the upswing in bonds is also a social one. With the drop in stock prices, inflation fears have been subsiding. It seems to me that Americans are writing and talking less about dollar depreciation than they were three to six months ago. Why not?

FOOD COSTS HAVE DRIFTED for 18 months. Auto prices haven't gone up in 1960; neither have steel prices. So people are less inflation-conscious. The cost of living has also been off slightly in the last two months.

Persons who formerly sought common stocks as an inflation hedge are less impelled to buy them now.

At the same time, persons who were afraid to buy bonds because living costs would rise and the dollar value of the bonds would depreciate are now less worried about such consequences.

They're willing to buy bonds. Hence, stocks down, bonds up. Psychology, anticipation has changed.

Airman Signs Another Hitch

A.I.C. Jerry G. Burrow of the Air Police Squadron is one of Webb's "first-termers" to re-enlist this year for another Air Force hitch. The 21-year-old air policeman first joined up in February, 1955.

Airman Burrow came here from Francis E. Warren AFB, Cheyenne, Wyo., in July 1956, and is presently assigned as a correction specialist.

He married the former Peggy Autry two years ago, before she was graduated from Big Spring High School. Mrs. Burrow is now attending the same school in the daytime and is currently rated as an "honor student" in her class.

The airman himself carries an academic workload during his off-duty hours. Last summer at Howard County Junior College, he took a course in English. He is currently enrolled at the college in history and accounting. Burrow attended high school at Charleston, S. C.

He and his wife live at 903 E. 16th Street.

Experts Talk Over Nation's Defense Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon's top military scientist says the Soviet Union has more missiles than the United States "but we have more of everything else."

Dr. Herbert F. York added "even the more missiles is not a permanent situation."

York, director of defense research and engineering, again said defense officials feel that at no time in the future could the Soviet Union attack the United States with impunity.

York and others stated their views Sunday during television interviews.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, said he believed the military trend is against us. And unless we change that trend we will soon be faced with trying to live with Communism as an inferior. I don't believe that can be done.

"My concern is not so much today but where we will be in two or three years hence," Taylor added. He said he was not a pessimist and had never suggested that at this moment the United States does not have very formidable forces capable of offsetting the Soviet threat.

BEHIND TIMES

Thomas G. Lamphier Jr., World War II flying ace who recently quit as an executive of an aircraft firm so he could criticize the administration's defense policies, not seek the advice of key military men in defense planning.

Lamphier said that Eisenhower in the last 15 years "has been quite apart from the revolution that has been taking place in modern arms and doesn't seem to recognize the kind of revolutionary war being waged against us by Russia over and apart from military weapons."

He said "the floor of heaven is cluttered with evidence" that the Soviets are ahead of the United States in space activities and long-range missiles.

Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) said that in buying defense "security ought to control—not the budget figures." He said there wasn't any question that the budget figures have been a controlling factor as far as the Eisenhower administration is concerned.

RING OF BASES

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) said the Soviet Union now has 100 major missile bases along its western frontiers. He said these bases are capable of launching destruction from Scandinavia to the Middle East.

Keating said these bases and the chief Soviet missile production centers form a separate branch of the Soviet military setup—the missile arm. He said this branch of about 200,000 men is under the command of an engineer general.

Keating did not reveal the source of his information.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said it will be some years before the United States matches the propulsive thrust of Soviet missiles.

"Otherwise," Glennan said, "I don't think it is a matter of overtaking and surpassing the Russians. I think we are the equal, or better of them in every other area at the present time."

Daniel Reminds Texans Of Issues

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel urged Texas Democrats today to remember that they still face many unsolved state problems including education financing and crime control.

He told the State Democratic Executive Committee that while the major interest centers this year on national politics, "There are still battles to be won here at home for the welfare of the people of Texas and their state and local governments."

The committee met to ratify the selection of Austin formally as the site for the June 14 state convention. Dallas is seeking the Sept. 30 state party convention.

The committee also honored Mrs. H. H. Weirner of Seguin, former national committeewoman, for her many years of service to the democratic party.

A plan to ask Texas voters to say whether they want the poll tax abolished as a balloting requirement may be pushed during the session. Leaders of an anti-poll tax drive considered asking the state leaders to put the proposition on the May 7 primary ballot in a referendum of party voters.

Daniel noted that Texas Democrats are in the midst of an era of unity unmatched in recent political history.

He reminded party leaders that the last platform they adopted opposed both a state income and general sales tax. At the same time, the governor said, the platform obligates a march toward improvement in the school system including the colleges.

As a national committeewoman, she was honored with a post on the important committee on credentials.

She is now district committeewoman and chairman of the committee's sub-panel on resolutions.

As a national committeewoman, she was honored with a post on the important committee on credentials.

New Port Facilities Are Checked By Officials

Howard County Commissioners, architect, accompanied by Bill French, architect, inspected the new administration building and hangar at the Howard County airport on Monday morning.

The removal to the Howard County airport on Tuesday of Continental Airlines impelled the inspection trip. The contractor who has been building the hangar and offices still lacks some work of having the job completed but it is far enough along to permit occupancy by CAL.

The commissioners said that their inspection of the building revealed that it was generally satisfactory. Some corrections and finishing touches are to be completed by the contractor.

Preparations For Show Being Made

Bill Sims, assistant county agent, and other workers were at the Howard County Fair Ground barns today getting the place in shape for the 23rd Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock Show. The show opens Tuesday.

Home demonstration club members planned to move into the buildings this afternoon to get the refreshment stand ready. The clubs will serve coffee, cold drinks and sandwiches and other foods on the three days the show is in progress.

Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said that everything will be ready by Tuesday at 8 a.m. when the first of the steers, capons and lambs arrive at the barns. Official weighing in and preparation of the entries for the judges will absorb all of Tuesday. Judging is set for Wednesday.

The big auction at 7:30 p.m. Thursday — preceded by the annual barbecue for all business men and other participants in the sale at 6 p.m. — will wind up the show.

Man, Girl Held

A 27-year-old man and 17-year-old girl were arrested by police Saturday and are being held for California authorities.

Capt. Walter Eubanks said the couple are involved with a stolen car. Eubanks and Chief C. L. Rogers arrested the pair at the Wyoming Hotel.

Daniel said there is also a pressing need for better law enforcement including improvements in the criminal laws and criminal court procedures to help stop the rapid increase in crime.

To aid the material development of Texas, we must also adequately finance the state industrial commission's program for attracting new industries, and continue to improve the water development program," Daniel said.

He told party leaders that "a stronger, more responsible Democratic party in our state results in better government."

"A political party that concerns itself with progress and good government more than with political power and patronage is fulfilling its principal role," the governor said.

The committee also had on its official agenda the certification of candidates for the May 7 primary ballot and selection of a May 17 meeting place to canvass returns of that primary.

This was "Mrs. Weirner Day" for the Democratic leadership and one of its staunch veteran members.

Mrs. H. H. Weirner of Seguin was honored at a luncheon for her service to the party over more than 25 years. For 12 years the Seguin civic leader, club woman, church and school worker was a member of the Democratic National Committee.

She is now district committeewoman and chairman of the committee's sub-panel on resolutions.

As a national committeewoman, she was honored with a post on the important committee on credentials.

Meantime, the commissioners are waiting for the FAA to send the balance due to the county for construction of the airport. When this money arrives, the county will be in a position to pay off the contractor for the administration building. The commissioners said that the county has complied with all requirements set up by FAA. The money is the final payment to be made by the federal agency as its part of the airport project.

The clearing skies and warming weather of Monday was hailed with satisfaction by show officials. The show is sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It is expected that 150 boys and girls from the 4-H clubs and the FFA organizations of the county will take part in the show. The general public is invited to attend all sessions. There is no admission charge.

Moon Eclipse Real Show But None Got To View It Here

By SAM BLACKBURN
There was a jim dandy eclipse of the moon early Sunday morning.

The only trouble was that nobody could watch it. The moon and the earth's long conical shadow staged their late, late show at 1:41 a.m. up to midnight, everything looked like an ideal night for the big event. The skies were clear and the moon, which became full Sunday night, was riding high in the zenith.

A few hardy souls set alarm clocks to rouse them at the proper hour to witness this colorful celestial phenomenon they expected to witness one of those very rare eclipses when the position of the moon in the heavens, its fullness and the clearness of the skies should make it spectacular.

When they sleepily responded to the clangor of the alarm and drove themselves out into the night what did they see?

Inky blackness augmented by a heavy long hanging blanket of sky-obscuring clouds which blotted out the moon, the stars and the skies in general.

MOON DIDN'T MIND
The eclipse, naturally, proceeded according to schedule. The moon crossed into the earth's shadow at 1:41. The obscuring process continued at peak until after 2:15 a.m. It actually ended four hours from the time the moon's disc first edged into the cone.

The sun shining against the earth's opaque mass casts the long spear of shadow 800,000 miles out into space. The moon is only 240,000 miles from the earth so it cut through this shadow at a point where the cone was broad—so broad in fact that it took the moon a long time to cross it.

The shadow of the earth is not dense enough to completely obscure the face of the moon. The best it could do was change its silver gleam to a weird copper. The deeper into the shadow cone the moon moved, the denser the coloring.

RUDDY COLOR
Scientists explain this ruddy coloring as being caused when the longer, or red, wave lengths of sunlight bend as they pass through the earth's atmosphere.

The eclipse of Sunday night was the first of four in 1960. There will be five, actually, but the fifth will not be noted by a very great audience.

There were to be two eclipses of the moon. Another will occur Sept. 5. It will not be as widely seen as the one Sunday.

Eclipses of the sun are seldom so perfect as those of the moon. There are two on tap this year. Both are partial eclipses. The first, March 27, is not visible in North America and will be seen only in the Antarctic, Tasmania, and parts of Australia. The second, Sept. 29, will be visible over North America except for the east coast.

MORE COMING
The fifth "eclipse" of 1960 is not really entitled to the name. Technically it is called a transit. On Nov. 7, the planet Mercury, smallest of the sun's family, will pass across the face of the sun. If the observer is looking at exactly the right time and properly safeguards his eyes with smoked glass, he will see a tiny black disc in a line slanting upward toward the west. Mercury is far too tiny and too far away to obscure any of the sun's rays from the earth and its transit will be only of scientific concern.

Massive Airlift Opens Maneuvers

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—Red-nosed military transport planes were transporting shivering, red-nosed troops from snow-covered United States bases today to weeks of maneuvers in balmy Puerto Rico.

The split-second airlift schedule, which will last throughout the exercises, will get 700 soldiers and hundreds of tons of equipment to the Caribbean commonwealth by midnight. Before the operation ends, 18,000 soldiers and 11,000 tons of equipment will be sent to Puerto Rico and returned.

Eight thousand of the men are 101st Airborne Division paratroopers from Ft. Campbell, where the temperature was 25 degrees. Nine hours after departure, the men will be in Puerto Rico where the temperature is expected to reach the 80s.

Exercise Big Slam-Puerto Pine is one of the largest airlifts of men and equipment ever undertaken in peacetime and is designed to flex the muscles of this nation's missile-age defenses. It's chief purpose is to see how quickly the Military Transport Service can speed battle-ready troops to the world's hot spot.

Those taking part in the joint Army-Air Force exercise include Utah National Guardsmen and Pennsylvania Reservists.

Others will come from such widely separated points as the Pacific Northwest and New England.

The first planes took off at 12:30 a.m. and the schedule called for similar flights, each carrying 10 men with battle equipment, every half hour during most of the next two weeks. Most of the men will stay in Puerto Rico only two or three days.

The initial flights will be loaded primarily with equipment. The big lift of manpower will be Saturday.

Similar flights took off simultaneously from Ft. Bragg, N.C.; McGuire Air Force Base, N.J.; and eleven other departure points.

A total of 370 planes will fly 925 round trips during the exercise. The troops, in addition to those from here and Ft. Bragg, come from such diverse points as Ft. Devens, Mass., and Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The exercise is divided into three stages — first, to get the troops to Puerto Rico; second, to get them into battle formations; and third, to get them home again with clock work precision.

Commanding the troops during the exercise are Lt. Gen. Robert F. Sink, Ft. Bragg commander, and Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, Ft. Campbell commander.

The police report listed 10 minor accidents during the weekend, only one resulting in an injury. A city vehicle was involved in one of the crashes.

Seburn Eugene Cowan, Snyder, was taken to Big Spring Hospital in a River ambulance after his car collided with a culvert in the 1800 block of East 2nd. Attendants kept him overnight for observation, but a neck injury was not considered serious.

A city truck, driven by Tommy Arista, 404 NW 6th, was involved in a minor mishap at 4th and Scurry this morning, with B. C. Derryberry, Big Spring, Officers said the damage was minor.

In eight other accidents, police said the damage was not excessive and no injuries were reported.

Euladio Arreola, Colorado City, and Fred White, 3309 Eleventh Place, were involved in a wreck in the 100 block of Main.

At 1510 Gregg, Harold E. Tatum, 1903 Johnson, was involved in a collision with Robert Gage Lloyd, 401 Edwards.

Estelle Wozencraft, 1111 Settles, was a driver in collision at 1307 Gregg with D. L. Snider, 1311 Johnson.

Several Big Spring florists took part in a meeting of the Unit No. 9-B of the Federated Telegraph Florists Association in Lubbock over the weekend.

They also participated in a special design school sponsored by the Lubbock Allied Florists. At the Saturday evening meeting of the FTDA, its president, Irving Allen, spoke to the group. The design school at the Cap Rock Hotel followed on Sunday.

Attending from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. William Draper, Mr. and Mrs. John Quigley, Mrs. Eva Hansen, Linda Thixton, Mrs. Jess Lee Townsend, Mrs. Earl Reynolds, and Bill Watson.

Mr. Edward Martin, 48, sister of Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt, died Saturday in Silver City, N. M. She had been ill for some days.

Mrs. Rainbolt flew Sunday to Silver City where rites were to be conducted at 3 p.m. today. Mr. Rainbolt and Anne were unable to attend due to illness.

Mrs. Martin is survived by her husband and one son, Michael, who lives in Midland. She also leaves a brother and one sister other than Mrs. Rainbolt.

Theft of an automobile wheel and tire cost William Swink 10 days in jail Monday. He pleaded guilty to the charge before County Judge Ed Carpenter and the court ordered him to jail.

Charges of DWI were filed against Emilio P. Diaz and Lloyd B. Jenkins. Both men pleaded not guilty and were released from custody on posting $500 bonds.

Election of officers will be held by the Howard County Tuberculosis Society Tuesday at a 7:30 p.m. dinner in Coker's.

All members of the society — those who bought Christmas seals — and the 40 members of the board of directors are urged to attend.

Dr. John H. Selby, Lubbock, thoracic surgeon and chairman of the Texas TB Association research committee, will be the guest speaker.

His speech will include a report on recent efforts to control the spread of tuberculosis and also any new developments in the field.

Dr. Preston Harrison, president of the Howard County chapter, will preside at the meeting.

Veterans of World War I will be special guests at the 41st anniversary celebration of the American Legion on March 19. A barbecue supper will be served at the Legion Home, San Angelo highway, beginning at 7 p.m.

The observance of the birthday of the Legion is annually combined with the Howard County post's reunion of WWI veterans, and a capacity crowd is anticipated.

According to Foy Dunlap, commander, the event has proven of increasing popularity each year as a general get-together of the buddies of the first World War.

Dunlap stressed that all veterans of WWI, their wives and Auxiliary are special guests at the event. The post annually holds the reunion each year for this purpose and all these veterans, whether a member or not, are cordially invited.

"What's this I hear about cutting your food costs without even having to leave your easy chair?"

"Easy does it! I just simply make up my shopping list from Herald food ads!"

Yes, that's the answer of hundreds of homemakers in the Big Spring area . . . for every Monday and Thursday the best food values in town will be found in The Herald food pages.

It isn't necessary to run all over the city to compare prices at the various stores to find the lowest . . . She can sit right in her own home and check price for price and know which are the best values to be found.

The easiest and surest way to get the best foods at the lowest prices is to check the many food ads in The Herald every Monday and Thursday!

A new champion is assured in the National Junior College Basketball tournament, which begins tomorrow in Hutchinson, Kansas, and continues through Saturday.

Phoenix, which is in the opposite bracket from Howard County, beat out last year's king, Weber of Utah, by one point recently in the finals of Region I play.

Weber will never again play in the NJCAA tournament because it will not be a junior college after this year. The school is to join the four-year small college group starting with the 1960-61 season.

Pueblo, Colo., which has a team in this year's meet, is talking "four year" status and probably will make the change within the next few years.

Several other schools which have been regulars at Hutchinson are "defecting" to four-year ranks. Campbellsville, Ky. added a junior year this year and was declared ineligible for the Region 16 tournament at Moberly, Mo. Graceland College of Landon, La., which has sent several teams to Hutchinson, went "four year" two years back.

HCJC figures in one of the all-time records in the National meet but officials don't point with pride to it.

The great Ray Schumann of the 1955 Hannibal-LaGrange team scored a record 162 points in four games at Hutchinson — 34 against Fort Wayne Ind.; 47 against Mt. Vernon, Ga.; 37 against El Dorado, Kansas; and 41 against HCJC. That averages out to 40.5 points per game.

Here are the other records at which this year's field will be shooting:

Most individual points scored in one national tournament game — Denver Bracken of East Central J. C., Decatur, Miss., 62, in four games at Hutchinson. A total of 24 points against Mt. Vernon, Ga. He also scored 5 FT for his high point total.

Most field goals scored by an individual in one tournament game — Denver Bracken of East Central J. C., Decatur, Miss., 13, in four games at Hutchinson. A total of 24 points against Mt. Vernon, Ga. He also scored 5 FT for his high point total.

Most free throws made in one tournament game — Jim McInyre of Henry Ford Community College, Dearborn, Mich., 12, in four games at Hutchinson. A total of 24 points against Mt. Vernon, Ga. He also scored 5 FT for his high point total.

Most team points scored in national tournament play — Hutchinson, Okla., scored a total of 302 points during the 1958 tournament, 81 against Grand Rapids, Mich.; 82 against Road, Ala.; 79 against Kilgore, Tex.; and 57 against the Georgia College, Lawton, Okla. Game average was 75.3.

Most points scored by one team in one game in national tournament — East Central J. C., Decatur, Miss., with a total of 114 points against Mt. Vernon, Ga., in 1955.

Most points scored by both teams in one game of national tournament — 1958 at Hutchinson, Okla., 162 points by Hannibal-LaGrange College, Hannibal, Mo., and 140 by Grand Rapids, Mich.

Least fouls by one team in one game of national tournament — 1958 at Hutchinson, Okla., by Hannibal-LaGrange College, Hannibal, Mo., with 9 fouls.

Least fouls in one game by both teams in national tournament — 1958 at Hutchinson, Okla., by Hannibal-LaGrange College, Hannibal, Mo., with 19 fouls.

Least fouls in one game by both teams in national tournament — 1958 at Hutchinson, Okla., by Hannibal-LaGrange College, Hannibal, Mo., with 19 fouls.

Al Kloven Has Dual Role

Big Spring's Al Kloven, Howard Payne's first All-Lone Star Conference performer in history, is also a member of the HPC golf team. Kloven is still working out for basketball because he will be among the group of college cagers who will enter the AAU tournament at San Antonio March 19-19. Here Kloven receives putter and golf shoes from his wife, the former Judy Masters of Big Spring, just before taking off for the Southwestern Meet last Saturday in Fort Worth.

Al Kloven First HP Boy On All-Stars

BROWNWOOD (SC) — Howard Payne College's cage captain, 6-2 Al Kloven, of Big Spring, last week was paid the highest tribute ever accorded a Yellow Jacket player in Lone Star Conference history.

Four Hawks Gain Points In Fort Worth Track Meet

Howard County Junior College placed in only four events Saturday in the Recreational meet in Fort Worth.

Eugene Franklin took fifth in the 120 yard high hurdles and Noel Orr also placed fifth in the pole vault. R. D. Ross grabbed fifth spot in the mile run.

Thifon Stone won second place in the discus throw behind Ron Carter of Coffeyville, Kan. Stone's heave of 138 feet nine inches was four feet short of Carter's toss.

The Jayhawks were hampered in the meet due to the segregation barrier. Sprinter Maurice Burnett and high jumper William Carter were not allowed to compete.

"I hurt us in the relays," comments Coach Red Lewis. "Lubbock Christian took third in both the sprint and mile relays. If we'd had Burnett in there, I'm sure we could have finished ahead of them."

"We lost points in the high jump too. Franklin has been clearing 5 feet four regularly and that's about what won the event Saturday. But the high jump and hurdles were being held at the same time and that hurt Franklin."

"He had just finished running

He became the first player in the school's history to be named to the All-Lone Star Conference first team, after being chosen for the second team last year.

Other Payners honored on the "dream teams" selected by Lone Star Conference coaches were Ed-win Cox, 6-5 Brooksmith senior, and Carlisle Strickland, 6-3 Decatur sophomore. Cox was named to the second LSC team, and Strickland, playing his first season of senior college ball, was an honorable mention selection.

Six cagers were named to the top team. Bonnie Wilkenson of Southwestern Texas and Sam Houston's Johnny Scheer received the same number of votes for the fifth position, so both were placed on the number one team.

Only unanimous selection was East Texas' Noel Pain. Others on the first team were Little All-America Charles Sharp of Southwest Texas and Bob Shepherd of Lamar Tech.

Joining Cox on the second unit were Herman Hudson, Sul Ross; Russell Jones, Stephen F. Austin; Johnny Johnston, Lamar Tech; and Rudy Davalos, Southwest Texas.

Honorable mention cagers in addition to Strickland were H. A. Allen, Texas A&I; Jim Colpepper, East Texas; Guy Davis, L. A. Tech; Don Dennis, Stephen F. Austin; Harlon Gerhold, Texas A&I; and Ugril Votraw, Sul Ross.

All on the first team are seniors in eligibility, save Noel Pain, who has one year remaining.

Kloven, HPC's leading scorer, was number six in the loop in the scoring category. He was almost a member of the HPC "400 Club," scoring 399 points across the season. Kloven missed one game due to a knee injury—the tilt in which the Payners were forced into overtime to bump Arlington State, 72-69.

He hit 186 of 395 field shots attempted for a 47.3 percentage, and made good on 67 of 90 free throws. Averaging 8.5 rebounds per game—second leader in that department for HPC—he ranked seventh in rebounding in the LSC.

Cox finished out his senior season with uncanny field goal accuracy. He hit 63.3 per cent of his shots to lead the conference, and was second in shooting in the entire NAIA.

Strickland was HPC's top outside shooter in many years. The 6-3 smoothie on whom the Jackets will depend a great deal next season fired from outside at a 47.5 accuracy clip, and averaged 13.1 points per game.

Kloven married to the former Judy Masters of Big Spring, is majoring in business and secondary education. His current plans are to return to HPC next fall to work toward his master's degree, and to coach HPC's freshman basketball team.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kloven, Big Spring.

and-seeded Utah State, both 23-4, playing in the other. The final, to be nationally televised (NBC) will be played Saturday at 4 p.m., EST.

Although the NCAA has been more touted teams—with Cincinnati No. 1, defending champion California No. 2, and Ohio State No. 3 along with NYU at No. 12 in the final AP poll, the NIT already has established itself as one of the liveliest in years.

As for the NCAA, Cincinnati, California, Ohio State and NYU earned their trips to the San Francisco showdown by winning regional titles last Saturday night.

Cincinnati (27-1), with Oscar Robertson scoring 43 points, beat Kansas 82-71 and Friday will play California (27-1). The Golden Bears ousted the Bearcats in last year's semifinals and now has an 18-game winning streak after routing Oregon 70-49 behind All-American Darrall Imhoff.

Ohio State (23-3) won the Midwest regional 86-69 over Georgia Tech and Friday will play NYU (22-3), the Eastern regional champ after romping past Duke 74-59.

Together, the four have a 99-8 record and current winning streaks that total 46-18 for Cal 14 for Cincinnati, 3 for Ohio State and 11 for NYU.

Longhorns Play Lamesa At 4:15 Here Tuesday

Beaten in their first four starts, the Big Spring Steers will seek a return to winning ways in a 4:15 p.m. game here Tuesday with the Lamesa Tornados.

The contest is one of four scheduled for the Longhorns this week. The locals visit Lubbock Friday for an engagement with Monterey and play host to Snyder in two games Saturday.

Roy Baird's team hasn't been hitting. In four outings, the Steers have made only two runs and only one of those was earned.

Lamesa has three lettermen back from last season. The Tornados ruled as co-champions of their conference in 1959.

The Lamesa veterans are outfielder Nat Self, catcher Harvey Everheart and first baseman Jerry Dozier.

Self was named to the all-district team last season and led the Tornados in runs batted in. Shortstop Kenneth Crouch, second baseman David Harris and outfielder Jimmy Nance are Lamesa squadmen back from last season.

Jack Wetzel is coach of the Tornados. Overall, the Lamesas finished with a 5-10 won-lost record in 1959.

Baird will probably start one of the LeFevre twins, Jay or Zay, on the mound for Big Spring.

Others who will open are Jimmy Roger behind the plate, Don Everett at first base, Rex Appleton or Coy Mitchell at second, Jimmy Kinman at shortstop, Jerry Dunlap at third and Alf Cobb, Bob Andrews and Jack Irons or Gene Rzaia in the outfield.

Cobb has been the team's most impressive hitter to date.

IN MANILA RING

Gomes Will Pick Up A Big Purse

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't scoff at those recently revived junior boxing championships. They're paying off big to the two champs.

Last month Carlos Ortiz, the junior welterweight king, collected $17,500 in Los Angeles for knocking out Battling Torres in defense of his 140-pound diadem.

This Wednesday Harold Gomes, of Providence, R.I., boss of the junior lightweight (130 pounds), will earn $25,000 tax-free for a defense against Filipino Felipe Elorde at Manila.

They take the synthetic title seriously in Manila. A crowd of about 23,000 is expected to pay about $12,500 for Gomes' first defense. The 26-year-old New Englander won the long dormant title by whipping Texan Paul Jorgensen at Providence last July 20.

American Barney Ross, former lightweight and welterweight champion, will referee. The judges will be Filipino.

Champions of two long established divisions also will be seen in action this week but in nontitle scraps.

Featherweight ruler Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, faces a local fighter, Carlos Hernandez, in a ten-rounder at Caracas, Venezuela tonight.

Bantamweight boss Joe Becerra of Mexico City journeys to San Antonio, Tex., for a Tuesday night clash with Ward Yee of Los Angeles.

Television fans in the United States won't see any champions this week but they'll have two top fights to watch.

On Wednesday night (ABC 10 p.m. EST), heavyweight contenders Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., and Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, N.Y., clash in Cleveland. Folley, ranked as the No. 1 contender by Ring and No. 3 by the NBA, has won nine straight. DeJohn, ranked ninth, has a winning streak of three.

The Friday night feature (NBC radio-TV, 10 p.m. EST) pairs Argentina's Eduardo (KO) Lousse and Willie Graves, Canadian middleweight champion, at New York's Madison Square Garden. Lousse, a terrific left hooker, returns to the American ring after an absence of four years. He has won 14 straight. Graves, an aggressive body puncher, has won his last four.

Unbeaten Tom McNeely of Arlington, Mass., meets veteran Willie Besmanoff of Milwaukee and Germany, at the Boston Garden tonight.

Another undefeated youngster, middleweight Jose Torres of New York, tangles with Tony Dupas of New Orleans at Buffalo Tuesday night.

A clash of lightweight contenders—Len Matthews of Philadelphia and Lahouri Godih of France—highlights a double wind-up at the Philadelphia Arena Tuesday. In the other ten-rounder, light heavyweight contender Von Clay of Philadelphia, takes on Clarence (Tiger) Floyd of New York.

Pascual Dazzles In Mound Debut

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Camilo Pascual, who posted a 17-10 record with the last place Washington Senators in 1959, gave every indication Sunday that he may have another dazzling season.

He pitched three perfect innings, allowing only one ball to be hit out of the infield, as the Senators defeated the Detroit Tigers 4-1.

Sam Jones Should Get Longer Rests

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sad Sam Jones, the pride of the San Francisco pitching corps, figures to cut down on his toothpick consumption this season while the Giants make another bid for the National League pennant.

With Billy O'Dell and Antonella Billy Loes added to the mound staff through a trade and such standouts as Johnny Antonelli and Jack Santore returning, the 34-year-old Jones should be able to get at least a day of rest between pitching stints.

The toothpick-chewing right-hander appeared in 50 games for the Giants last year, pitched 271 innings, won the ERA crown with a 2.82 mark and compiled a 21-15 record as San Francisco battled down to the end of the season with Milwaukee and Los Angeles for the championship.

Jones made his first appearance in spring training Sunday. He breezed through a three-inning workout.

Hardly working up a sweat, Sad Sam scattered three singles and struck out three as the Giants shut out Cleveland 5-0 with young Mike McCormick and O'Dell following Jones to the mound.

Meanwhile, the world champion Dodgers unleashed a 12-hit attack to whip Kansas City 11-3 and the American League champion Chicago White Sox continued to win the close ones by edging Cincinnati 2-0.

In other games, three Baltimore rookies combined to shut out Pittsburgh 1-0; Roger Maris paid his first dividend as New York topped St. Louis 3-2; Milwaukee outslugged Philadelphia 11-9; Washington defeated Detroit 4-1, and Boston outlasted Chicago's Cubs 11-9.

The Giants scored two runs in the fourth inning on a walk, singles by Willie Kirkland and Willie McCovey and a wild pitch, then wrapped it up in the fifth with a three-run uprising.

Cards Moved To St. Louis

By BOB MYERS
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The National Football League, which has had its share of new faces, got a new one today — the St. Louis Cardinals.

The league unanimously agreed to move the Chicago Cardinals to St. Louis.

The action, coupled with supplying the new Dallas club with players, highlighted the closing sessions of a meeting here which was a continuation of a meeting in Miami in January. It will be resumed in Chicago at a date to be set late this month.

The latest transfer of players to Dallas, revealed today, sent three players from the Green Bay Packers.

They were offensive halfback Don McHenry, a four-year NFL man from Southern Methodist University; Nate Borden, a defensive end and five-year veteran from Indiana, and offensive halfback Bill Butler, a four-year vet from Chattanooga.

Over the weekend the Dallas club received 18 players from the Los Angeles Rams, San Francisco 49ers, New York Giants, Cleveland Browns, Baltimore Colts and Green Bay Packers.

The shift of the Cards to St. Louis, announced by Commissioner Pete Rozelle, came as a surprise. The day before Managing Director Walter Wolfner had denied that such a widely rumored move was contemplated.

It cost the other NFL clubs $500,000, paid to the Cardinals, to achieve the switch. A large part of it, Rozelle disclosed, was underwritten by the rival Chicago Bears.

NI Cage Tourney Takes Spotlight

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Invitation Tournament steps front and center in college basketball's tournament stage for the next couple of days while Cincinnati, California, and Ohio State—the game's Big Three—join New York U. in preparing for the NCAA semifinal showdowns at San Francisco Friday night.

The NIT, in the midst of its 23rd annual show at New York's Madison Square Garden, has a doubleheader Tuesday night to determine who joins Utah State and Providence in the semifinals.

The doubleheader brings top-seeded Bradley and defending champion St. John's off the sidelines, where they've been resting since the tournament began last Thursday.

Bradley, only team to beat top-ranked Cincinnati this season, takes a 24-2 record against big, strong Dayton (21-6) while St. John's (17-7) after losing its last two goes against smooth-working St. Bonaventure, which has built its record to 20-3 with a 17-game winning streak.

The Bradley-Dayton and St. John's-St. Bonaventure winners will meet in one semifinal Thursday night with Providence and second-seeded Utah State, both 23-4, playing in the other. The final, to be nationally televised (NBC) will be played Saturday at 4 p.m., EST.

Although the NCAA has been more touted teams—with Cincinnati No. 1, defending champion California No. 2, and Ohio State No. 3 along with NYU at No. 12 in the final AP poll, the NIT already has established itself as one of the liveliest in years.

As for the NCAA, Cincinnati, California, Ohio State and NYU earned their trips to the San Francisco showdown by winning regional titles last Saturday night.

Ohio State (23-3) won the Midwest regional 86-69 over Georgia Tech and Friday will play NYU (22-3), the Eastern regional champ after romping past Duke 74-59.

Together, the four have a 99-8 record and current winning streaks that total 46-18 for Cal 14 for Cincinnati, 3 for Ohio State and 11 for NYU.

Local Team Is 4th In Meet

Runnels' ninth grade tracksters ended in a tie for fourth place Saturday in the Wink Junior High track meet.

The meet is the biggest of its kind in West Texas. Kermit Junior High capped first place in the A division with 22 points and Van Horn won the B division. Runnels is classified in the A division.

Runnels' 11 points consisted mainly of firsts in the sprint and mile relays. The spring relay team stepped off a crisp 47.2 quarter. Jerry Bethell, Dickie Spier, Tony Fierro and Ricky Wisener did the stick passing for Runnels.

Most junior high mile relays consist only of 1,320 yards — 440 yards shy of a mile — but the relay at Wink measured 1,520 yards. Fierro, Spier, Wisener and Gene Lamb brought home the baton in 3:09.3, just one-tenth of a second over the record.

"We would have broken the record in the preliminaries," says Coach Ted Kirby, "but our anchor man fell down and dropped the baton. He got up and finished second, however, to qualify for the finals."

Bethell placed fourth for Runnels in the 75 yard dash to cap the scoring for the locals. Wisener had the best discus throw, but he scratched on the effort. Wisener's heave carried 151 feet and the winning mark was only 144 feet.

Runnels, along with Goliad Junior High, competes here this weekend at Memorial Stadium in Big Spring's Junior High meet.

Lee and Edison schools from San Angelo will be here along with junior highs from Snyder, Lamesa, Colorado City and Brownfield. Hobbs, N. M. will also be represented with three schools.

The meet is for ninth graders only and will begin at 10 Saturday morning. Finals in the meet at 1:30 that afternoon.

Women Linksters Plan For Meet

LUBBOCK (SC)—The executive board of the Women's West Texas Golf Association conducted its first meeting of 1960 at the Lubbock Country Club last week, with Mrs. Bedford Fancher of Odessa presiding.

Directors present included, in addition to Mrs. Fancher, Mrs. George Soash and Mrs. Hiram Parks, both of Lubbock; Mrs. C. D. Elwell, Mrs. Van Ligon and Mrs. James W. Brown, all of Midland; Mrs. Clifton Morris, Fort Worth; Mrs. E. L. Anders, Abilene; Mrs. James McDaniel, Plainview; Mrs. C. E. Covington, San Angelo; Mrs. J. R. Brown, Amarillo; Mrs. C. E. Foster, Odessa; Mrs. John L. Cruce, Brownwood; and Paulette Kropp, Lockney. The latter is a junior director.

Faulty Antenna May Cause Unsatisfactory TV Picture

What have the winter and the winds of spring done to your television antenna? Are you having trouble getting the quality reception you desire and is the picture you're watching today not as good as it was last summer? Maybe the wind has done your antenna damage. Perhaps the system you are now using is out of date. You may need an overhaul job or it could be the answer is a new antenna.

How's the lead-in wire from the antenna to your receiver? Insulation may have fallen away and the wire may need replacing.

If you want to get your TV seeing back up to par, make sure that you have your antenna system checked out. It could be a lot of your trouble is in the antenna.

If you think you need to have the job done, why not call Ward's? They have a complete line of antennas and a wide stock of accessories. They also have service men who know their business and can

Unusual Service For Patrons Of City Bank

Personalized checks are available to depositors of the State National Bank in Big Spring. Those doing business with the concern can have their own blank checks, complete with printed names, made available to them in book form at no cost.

Those who do their banking with the establishment should take the trouble to memorize their banking code numbers and use them every time they write out a check. By referring to the code number, employees of the bank do a much faster job of referring to the client's accounts.

Whether you want to borrow money for the purchase of a new automobile or purchase traveler's checks for a vacation, employees always stand prepared to serve you without undue delay.

The State National Bank, located at Second and Main streets in Big Spring, of course, maintains safety deposit boxes for the convenience of its customers. They can be rented

Wagon Wheel Drive Ins Widely Popular

Wagon Wheel Restaurant operates two drive-in establishments. One is located on East 4th at Birdwell and the second at 2011 Gregg. Both are famous for the quality of the food and service they offer and both are widely patronized by Big Springers. It is a common expression in this town to hear someone say, "I'll meet you at the Wagon Wheel Drive In." And the cluster of cars parked at these popular places each operating day is ample proof that patrons find the food and service to their liking. If you want to avoid the kitchen and yet not have to dress up to dine, why not try the service offered at either of the Wagon Wheel Drive In establishments. You'll enjoy your visit.

Two-Way Radio Service Marks Smith's Trucks

The H. W. Smith Transport Co., Inc. is a widely known transport firm throughout this area, serving oilmen on drilling sites with 10 two-way radio transports.

Smith's trucks transport crude into refineries from producer's leases that are not on pipelines. The firm is currently hauling to the Col-Tex refinery and the Cooden Petroleum Corp. refinery. All major oil companies and some independents have used this important service. It also includes hauling drilling water and fracturing oil to drillsites.

Many sites do not have adequate drinking water and Smith has one truck transport that is used for carrying only drinking water. The other nine are for crude and drilling water.

Smith also has vacuum tanks to handle heavier loads. The radio equipment insures better and faster delivery, as trucks can be routed out to drillsites from any location, rather than returning to the central office at 810 E. 2nd.

The H. W. Smith Transport Co. also does some crude oil purchasing.

Oilmen interested in these services are urged to call Smith at AM 4-2561 or stop by the offices. It is a natural selection for prompt, efficient and friendly service.

Signs Of Spring On The TV Screen

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Time was when one had to look outdoors for signs of spring: the crocus poking through the snow, the yellowing willow, the first robin.

Television has changed that. Today one finds harbingers of the vernal season right in the living room, on the screen.

Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic wound up their series of lectures and music Sunday. Sunday Showcase was a repeat of a program shown shortly before Christmas. Ed Sullivan's show was an hour-long tribute to the Irish — and everyone knows that when shamrocks turn up on a Sullivan show it means that St. Patrick's Day and spring are just around the corner.

Earnest Ed's weekly vaudeville show doesn't change much as the seasons go by. With duty calling me to another channel most Sunday nights, I have been an infrequent viewer of his show but felt right at home from the start Sunday night.

There was Sullivan, acting like elder statesman, congratulating stars of other TV shows who plan to "follow in my footsteps"—for all the world as if he had discovered travel himself. There were a raft of entertainers with Irish names, including Sullivan's "favorite leprechaun, Myron O'Cohoun," singing everything from "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" to "Clancy Lowered the Boom." Also, of course, films showing Ed kissing the Blarney stone.

My favorite leprechaun was Pat Rooney, who must be in his 80s and was dancing around like a boy in his 60s. A Sean O'Casey interview, cut from the show by Sullivan in the last minute wouldn't have been missed if Ed had not mentioned the omission.

Bernstein enlightened us on rhythm and beat in music in his windup show, and did it by his usual chalk talk demonstrations and not anywhere near enough fine orchestra music. There were some moments when it seemed as if Bernstein was imitating Art Carney imitating Bernstein. This, however, has been a fine Sunday series on CBS and I am sorry to see them end.

Speaking of music, "Small World" with three musicians talking about their profession, was not as stimulating as usual. But it was interesting to watch the face of the great cellist, Pablo Casals.

Friday night CBS started a new series called "Manhattan." The first turned out to be a pretty routine attempt at a thriller. It was one of those pieces about a bored society matron, who for some obscure reason, gets mixed up in a death plot—her own. The outcome was as fuzzy as the motive.

"World Wide 60" on NBC Saturday night was an excursion into architecture. It was done amusingly, lightly and intelligently. But somehow Saturday evening just doesn't seem to be the time of the week when most of us want to settle down for an hour of enlightenment. Another evening would seem to be a more inviting time.

Peggy Lee, by the way, proved a pretty good actress in "So Deadly, So Evil," Sunday night's GE Theater piece which didn't live up to its intriguing title.

Recommended tonight: Steve Allen Show, NBC, 10-11 p.m. with guests Tony Martin, Mort Sahl and Juliet Prowse; June Allyson Show, CBS, 10-11 p.m., an off-beat story of a man who coaches a school baseball team.

Writers Face Big Foe In Producers

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What are the actors up against in their strike against the major studios? They're facing an organization unique in American industry. There are other trade associations and intra-industry bodies, but nothing quite like the Association of Motion Picture Producers.

About the closest thing you'll find to it is in baseball. Producer chieftain Eric Johnston wields much the same power as does the baseball commissioner. Their power evolved for the same reason: corruption.

The Chicago Black Sox scandal in 1919 prompted the baseball bosses to hire Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis to set their ballparks in order.

A series of movie scandals in the same era brought public censure and prompted the film heads to band together. They chose as their czar another incorruptible politico, Will Hays of Indiana.

The major studios actually belong to three organizations: Motion Picture Assn. of America—New York-based, it sets high policy, maintains the production code office in Hollywood to censor film content.

Motion Picture Export Assn.—It also operates from New York, on matters of foreign releases.

Assn. of Motion Picture Producers—A California corporation, it maintains a public relations, legislation and labor service for the studios, as well as hiring extras through central casting.

All are sister organizations; all are headed by Eric Johnston. It is the AMPPP that negotiates labor contracts for the studios through Executive Vice President Charles Boren. He is the one who delivered the big no to the actors' demand to share in the proceeds from sale of feature films to TV.

The AMPPP is 11 years older than its adversary, the Screen Actors Guild. The producers banded together in New York in 1922, formed their Hollywood organization in 1924. Membership in the non-profit corporation is voluntary.

Present members of AMPPP are Allied Artists, Columbia, Walt Disney, MGM, Paramount, 20th Century-Fox and Warners. Though they band together on such matters as opposing the actors' demands, they are still fierce competitors in business.

Rhee Heads Korean Voting

SEOUL, South Korea, (AP)—South Korea's tense presidential election campaign closed today with tough old President Syngman Rhee unopposed for a fourth four-year term and his vice presidential running mate, Lee Ki-poong, favored to unseat incumbent John M. Chang.

Balloting at 8,108 polling places begins at 7 a.m. Tuesday. Conclusive results are expected by noon Wednesday.

Rhee, 84, who heads the Liberal party, needs only approval by one-third of the 11,196,490 registered voters to qualify. His only opponent, Chough Pyong-ok of the Democratic party, died following stomach surgery in Washington, D.C., in February.

Actor Held On Dope Count

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor William Talman, the district attorney who always loses to Perry Mason in the TV series, faces narcotics and morals charges with seven others arrested at a Hollywood party.

Raiders said they found Talman and others nude or partly nude and said "all were high on marijuana."

Among those arrested Saturday were television producer James H. Baker and Richard Reibold, 31, in whose apartment the arrests were made.

Talman, 45, said that he just stopped by the apartment for a drink. "There must be some kind of a mistake," he said. "This could ruin me."

Sheriff's Capt. R. B. Brooks said his office had had Reibold's apartment under surveillance for some time. Raiders said they found several marijuana cigarettes and a quantity of loose marijuana.

Baker, 39, said that he didn't even smoke tobacco. All those arrested—four men, four women—denied the charges. They were booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana and lewd vagrancy, a morals count.

The eight were later freed on $1,050 bail each. Among those arrested was actress Lola Dewitt.

Reagan Sees Hope In Strike

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ronald Reagan, presiding over a union meeting uncommon in labor history, Sunday night told 4,000 cheering members of the Screen Actors Guild that there is hope of early settlement of the actor's strike.

"We (actors and producers), finally are talking to each other, not about each other," Reagan said.

Many of the rank-and-file workers showed up in big limousines and some of the women wore full-length mink coats.

On a motion by Walter Anderson, the SAG board was given a standing vote of confidence in its battle with the seven major studios over the sale of post-1948 films to television.

Reagan detailed the history of the negotiations with the studios and commented that the producers had refused to discuss the major issue until the actors called the strike last Monday.

"We found ourselves in the unique position of negotiating for the right of negotiation," Reagan said.

Reagan said the producers and the actors will meet again Tuesday.

To Continue War

TUNIS (AP)—Algerian rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas said today that President Charles de Gaulle had closed the door on negotiations for peace in rebellion-torn Algeria.

In a communique issued here, the head of the rebel government-in-exile said his forces would continue the war until independence is won.

Abbas cited De Gaulle's recent declaration that the five-year-old rebellion would be quelled by French arms and that a long war lay ahead.

Alvin The Precocious Prairie Dog

Alvin, shown at lunch, is the household pet of the Melvin Saunders family of Garden City. He offers very lively proof that prairie dogs can be transformed into house pets all theories to the contrary. Alvin has the run of the Saunders' residence in Garden City.

Alvin Hits Back At Tribe's Foe

Meet Alvin Saunders of Garden City.

Alvin is a most articulate prairie dog. He is the pride and joy of the Melvin Saunders family — and that includes papa, mama, daughter Pat, a Garden City high school student and son, Bud, in junior high.

Alvin has lived with the Saunders for a year now. He offers himself as convincing proof that what a newsman recently wrote in this paper "prairie dogs do not make good pets" is a misstatement and a smear on his family.

Taking his typewriter in hand on reading what was published relative to prairie dogs as domesticated animals, Alvin writes:

"It has come to my attention you recently made some uncomplimentary remarks about prairie dogs as pets. I am a prairie dog, my name is Alvin and my family and I resent your remarks.

"I have lived with my family for about a year. They say I am the sweetest and most affectionate pet they have ever had. They have had many pets of a wide variety.

"You said that you remembered one thing about prairie dogs from your boyhood — they don't make very nice pets. Let's lay it on the line — I love my family; I play all over the house with them; I climb on their laps and snuggle against them. I sleep with them if they'll let me. I come when they call me.

"Once I went out riding in the car with my family. They stopped a minute and I got out of the car when they weren't looking. They had gone on about half a mile when they missed me and couldn't remember where they had stopped. Mama Saunders walked back along the road calling me. Although it was getting dark and I had already gone out into a pasture, I ran to her and stood on my hind legs asking to be picked up.

"Last summer, my family and I went to California for a two-week vacation. I was given freedom of the car and I roamed or slept where I wished. It was my responsibility to guard the car when my family was out."

His letter goes on to defend his occasional habit of biting strangers and his defense is that he does so to protect his family.

Mrs. Saunders says that Alvin is all his letter says he is.

He has a great liking for Cokes and also fancies malts, ice cream, candy, chewing gum and cake. His basic diet, however, consists of Graham crackers, peanuts, apples, lettuce and other leafy vegetables.

Alvin has a miniature harness which he wears with great reluctance whenever his family take him for a walk.

The Saunders declare that of all the many pets they have had over the years, there's never been one so lovable and entertaining as Alvin. He is held in high regard by all of his family and shares his own affections equally with all of the Saunders.

Alvin has the liberty of the Saunders home.

Idahoans Choose On First Ballot

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Idaho's 28 delegates to the Democratic National Convention are authorized to vote for the presidential nominee of their choice on their first ballot.

After the first ballot, Idaho's 13 votes will be cast as a bloc for the nominee favored by the majority of the delegation. Each delegate has 4 votes.

The state convention selected the delegation Saturday night. It will be headed by Sen. Frank Church.

There was no attempt to instruct the delegation. An Associated Press poll showed 11 of the delegates are undecided, five favor Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), four support Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) and one each are for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Religion Watched In W.Va. Primary

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Virginia's May 10 Democratic primary is being watched by politicians as a possible test of whether religion will be a major presidential campaign issue.

The subject may not be discussed openly, and other campaign issues will becloud whatever significance it may have in the voting results.

But in an overwhelmingly Protestant state, the balloting will indicate to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and others how much effect his being a Roman Catholic will have on his chances of winning his party's nomination.

Kennedy is opposed in the Democratic primary by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in what amounts to a popularity contest. Humphrey is a member of the Congregational Church in Minnesota and an associated member of the Methodist Church in Washington.

West Virginians are reported to be almost 97 per cent Protestant. There will be no substantial representation of Catholic voters as there was among Democrats in New Hampshire and will be in Wisconsin where Kennedy meets Humphrey in the April 5 primary. If Kennedy can win in West Virginia he will have taken a long stride in washing out the fears of some Democratic leaders—and these apparently include a couple of Catholic governors in charge of big-state delegations—that a member of his faith can't win the presidency.

The risk for Kennedy is that he could lose to Humphrey in West Virginia or barely skin by his opponent. Organized labor, strong there, is regarded as favoring Humphrey.

All sorts of factors will be involved in West Virginia and the least mentioned of these is likely to be religion.

There will be a great deal of talk in economically hard hit West Virginia about depressed areas, unemployment insurance, and measures to aid the farmer, the miner and the small business man. There will be much blaming of the Eisenhower administration for its alleged failure to do anything effective to create new jobs.

When the whole thing is over and the votes are counted, nobody will be certain how much of a part religion actually played in outcome.

But politicians pain with a broad brush in interpreting such matters.

Pioneer V Sets Radio Record In Race To Sun

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's Pioneer V satellite sped on through space today after setting a new long distance communications record.

Around noon today, the beach-ball-size sphere was expected to pass the 500,000 mile mark in its vast solar orbit.

The new record was set at 8 p.m. Sunday when NASA receiving stations in California and Hawaii picked up "excellent" radio signals from the sphere which then was 409,000 miles out, soaring along at 5,955 miles per hour.

Pioneer IV, launched a year ago, set the previous long distance communications record. It sent back signals from 407,000 miles before its radio batteries went dead. The sun's rays provide the electricity to operate the newest Pioneer's radio.

Information relayed back from the spheres is being accumulated in tape form to be analyzed later by space scientists.

May Lose Eye From Frat Prank

DALLAS (AP)—William Squibb, 19, may lose an eye as result of a fraternity prank on the University of Oklahoma campus.

Squibb, who returned home Sunday after being treated by an eye specialist, was struck in the eye by paper wadding from a blank shotgun shell fired by another pledge from Houston at the Kappa Alpha fraternity house Saturday. Jodie Smith, dean of men at the University of Oklahoma, said that no decision regarding disciplinary action against the Houston student has been made.

City Park Rose Garden Is Planted

Representatives of all units of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs gathered Saturday at the rose garden in City Park where they planted rose bushes, crape myrtle and flowering peach trees.

Assisted by members of the Junior Garden Club, the group set out 182 rose bushes, 48 crape myrtle bushes and seven flowering peach trees.

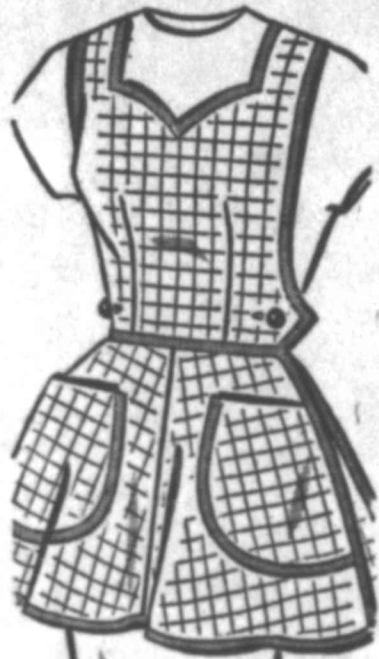

A sundial, which will center the plot, is a gift from the class in agriculture at Howard County Junior College; members of the class made it.

Members of the Big Spring Garden Club donated $90 for the purchase of the crape myrtle; proceeds from the tasting tea, set for April 2, will go toward paying for the roses.

Other clubs in the council are the Planters, Spaders, Oasis, Four O'Clock, Rosebud and After Five.

Good Fencing

Fencing material is being made from a new plastic material similar to the translucent fiberglass sheeting used in patio roofs. It comes in colors and is said to retain its high gloss without painting or other maintenance costs. Used up to now only for industrial fencing, it is expected to reach the home market soon.

HERE'S HOW

Don't Just See Black -- Use It!

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

When in doubt about home decor colors, try black.

If you don't, you're in the minority, says Michael Greer, president of the National Society of Interior Designers.

"It may be hard to believe, but black is America's favorite color in the home," he explains. "Almost any home has a touch of black in its rooms. And it is a color the amateur decorator shouldn't overlook because it is as useful and practical in the home as the little black dress is in the closet."

Try to persuade a woman to put black into a sofa, and she may rebel, he points out. It may seem like an awful lot of black in the room. Yet people are not really afraid to use black on a large area such as a floor, in other accessories or in furniture woods such as black lacquer. They use black marble and black plastic table tops without hesitation.

"Black is a more universal color than white, either as an accent or a primary part of the color scheme. It can be used so beautifully that it should be incorporated with other room colors to achieve a different look. Try black, lettuce green and azure blue for a beautiful combination. Red, black and white can be striking. Lacquer red, pale yellow and black can be stunning."

There is a trend toward sophistication in furnishings, he says, and one of his forecasts is that we shall see more steel furniture this year.

Lutherans Attend Conference

Eleven Sunday school teachers of St. Paul Lutheran Church, accompanied by Lee Axten, Sunday school superintendent, and the Rev. Clair Weiderhoff, spent Sunday afternoon in Odessa. They attended the Permian Basin Sunday School Association spring conference.

"Knowing the Learner" was the subject of the guest speaker, the Rev. C. E. Kleber of Andrews. This theme was later carried out in sectional meetings of various Sunday school departments.

Bill Snyder of Big Spring was spokesman for the intermediate and senior division. During the report period Mrs. Gilbert Pachal told of the nursery program.

The over-all meeting was summarized by the Rev. Weiderhoff, pastor of the local Lutheran congregation.

Luncheon, All-Day Program Is Feature Of Forsan Baptists

FORSAN — A covered dish luncheon highlighted the all-day meeting of the Willie Mae Kennedy and Belle Overton Circles of the Forsan Baptist Church.

Hostess for the affair was Mrs. Bob Cowley. The Week of Prayer program centered on home missions.

Members of the Forsan Church of Christ honored Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wasson of Big Spring with a turkey dinner.

Twenty-five people attended the dinner held in the home of Mrs. O. W. Fletcher. Wasson has been conducting services at the Forsan church each Sunday, but has recently resigned.

Van Allen Hayhurst has returned to Weatherford after visiting his grandparents, the L. M. Hayhursts and the John B. Andersons, Sr., Jo, Mo., is the destination of Mrs. Kenneth Cowley.

Centering the refreshment table that was covered with a pink lace cloth was a blue and pink honeycomb stork. Smaller storks and rattlers were scattered over the reflector base.

Twenty guests attended, with six out-of-town guests present.

Safety Council Has First Aid Tests

In case of an emergency, what would you do, was asked of the T&P Ladies Safety Council Thursday in their meeting at the Settles Hotel.

Mrs. J. W. Forrester brought the question to members and in a game she tested them on their knowledge of first aid.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. H. M. Doan and Mrs. John Flynn. Mrs. J. P. Meador won the special prize.

Introduced as a new member was Mrs. J. S. Thompson, who joined the other 23 members of the council.

It's His Day

DES MOINES (AP) — It was on his wedding day 46 years ago that Harry Ginsberg found a dollar bill on the sidewalk at a downtown intersection.

On his 46th anniversary he found another one — same place.

Advices Exercise

Renee Godfrey feels that the secret of a good figure lies in a few minutes of exercise a day. She appears on CBS-TV "Zane Grey Theater."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Regular Exercise Is Her Standby

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — They say that age is not so much a matter of accumulated years as accumulated neglect. And in Hollywood, where there is an appreciation of physical beauty, time seems to march on without leaving a mark.

Renee Godfrey, who has resumed her career after 12 years, has the same measurements she did before her twins were born.

"I had to work to get my tummy flat," Renee confided, "because the twins weighed 15 pounds at birth."

We were chatting on the "Zane Grey Theater" set and I asked how she kept so thin.

"Exercise every day," she said. "It is not how long you work but how regularly. Peter (her husband is Peter Godfrey) gave me a stationary bicycle that has a speedometer and a pressure gauge. In eight minutes I can have the equivalent exercise of a two-mile ride. This exercise is not only good for your legs and hips, but the circulation in the whole body is stimulated."

"The bike takes up so little room and it requires such a little time to ride that I don't mind the period spent every morning."

I asked Renee if having been a Powers model and a beauty contest winner was an incentive to keep in shape.

"Not especially. I think every woman should try not to lose interest in her appearance. You usually find that the ones who have let themselves slip have let their lives slip, too. An enthusiasm and interest in life is usually accompanied with an interest in keeping fit."

"Self-discipline is one of the most necessary traits a person should have," Renee observed. "I have explained to my children that we will love them no matter how they look or act but the would won't."

EXERCISE FOR A LOVELY FIGURE

You may not have access to a bicycle machine but you can achieve the same results with 15 minutes a day disciplined exercise. It isn't the length of time you exercise that counts. It is the regularity of daily exercise. Leaflet M-5, "Exercises of the Stars," will help you to keep that slim figure or give you a trim figure. Learn the quickest and easiest way to build muscle-tone with the suggestions in this leaflet. For your copy send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Art Club Plans Houston Trip

Plans were made by members of the Permian Basin Porcelain Art Club to charter a bus to attend the state convention in Houston, April 23-24 are the dates set for the annual affair; this year it will be held at the Shamrock-Hilton Hotel.

When the club met Sunday at the Lamar Forrest Memorial Center in Lamesa, it was announced that one table will be set up by the group at the Dallas Porcelain Art Exhibit. China painting will be displayed.

A workshop on china painting was held, along with a covered dish dinner. Winner of the door prize was Mrs. V. L. Perkins.

Officers will be elected at the March 27 meeting that will be held in Midland at the Palette Club.

Among the 17 members and 3 guests were Mrs. Florence McNew, Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, Miss Carrie Scholtz, and Mrs. Perkins of Big Spring.

Quartet Makes Trip To Dallas

FORSAN — The J. H. Cardwells joined her brother and his wife the August Edens of Odessa, for a trip to Corsicana, Rice, and Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Shoules are home from a visit with her parents, the Jim Huffis, in Desdemona.

Martha Cowley of Abilene is spending a few days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cowley.

A business visitor to Snyder Friday was H. A. Sanders; Mrs. Sanders is a guest in Aransas Pass.

Mrs. Laura Petty is visiting a sister in Eden.

Mrs. Jimmy Hagar and children of Pecos are visiting Forsan relatives.

The Earl Beeson family were Odessa visitors with the H. L. Greers. Other Odessa visitors were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby, who were guests of the Charles Walls.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Wilson have been to Hobbs, N. M., where they were guests of the Dennis Hughes family.

The Sammy Porters were in San Angelo to be with his father, Sam Porter, as he underwent surgery at Shannon Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walraven, Sherry and Kay, were guests of her parents, the Luther Stovers, in Burnet.

AAUW To Meet

Meeting at 8 p.m. in the music building at HJCC Tuesday will be the American Association of University Women. Speaker of the evening will be John Findlater, who will give a demonstration in water colors.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
The old and the new meet on a forthcoming United States postage stamp.
A new denomination — 1½ cents — will feature a view of the oldest public building in the country.
The stamp will show the front of the Palace of Governors in Santa Fe, N. M. The new denomination will be used for bulk mailings of non-profit organizations in accordance with the new postage rates which become effective July 1, 1960.

It is interesting to note that the palace, now a museum, was constructed in 1610 and was the seat of government in New Mexico until 1901. During this time the flags of Spain, Mexico, the Confederacy and the U. S. have flown over the structure.
The new stamp will be placed on first day sale June 17, in sheet form and in coils, at Santa Fe, N. M. Collectors may send requests for first day covers to the Postmaster, Santa Fe, N. M. prior to June 17.
Remember, it will require four of the 1½ cent stamps to be applied for the first class rate so leave space available. The four stamps will have a face value of five cents. Outer envelopes should be endorsed "First Day Covers 1½c Regular Stamp."

A two-color cachet of Bunratty Castle, County Clare, Ireland, will be available for stamp collectors March 17 to honor St. Patrick's Day. The covers will be mailed in Ireland with attractive Irish stamps postmarked Bunratty. This is the ninth consecutive cachet of the historical Irish castle series to be issued.

Collectors desiring covers may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 E. 32 St., Brooklyn 10, N. Y. The cost per cover is 45 cents.
France has issued two new stamps commemorating the centenary of the return of Savoie and Nice to France. The 30-centime stamp for Savoie shows a woman in regional costume against the background of a mountain. The 50-c stamp for Nice depicts a woman in regional costume against the shoreline of Nice.

Also issued by France is a 20-c plus 5 adhesive illustrating a ship laying underwater cable. The stamp is France's annual commemorative for its Stamp Day.
For the first time in its history the Republic of Dahomey will issue stamps carrying the name "Republique du Dahomey." The 25-franc regular will be released first and will be followed by two airmails. The new republic, previously known as Dahomey, is the first autonomous member of the French community.

Flu Causes Niki French Tour Delay

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev is expected to be laid up the rest of the week with influenza, which forced a last-minute postponement of his tour of France.

Diplomats here scoffed at the idea that the Soviet premier, who was scheduled to fly to Paris Tuesday, might be pleading "an illness of convenience." They said he was eagerly looking forward to the summit talks with French President Charles de Gaulle.

There were some Western suggestions that Khrushchev had decided it would not be discreet to follow up his recent Southeast Asian tour, in which he denounced colonialism, with a formal visit to a country many Asians and Africans consider the worst colonial offender.

Another Eclipse For September

NEW YORK (AP) — Did you miss the total eclipse of the moon early Sunday? There'll be another one next Sept. 5.

New Yorkers got a perfect view of the eclipse in a cloudless sky. Dr. Joseph M. Chamberlain, chairman of the American Museum-Natural History Planetarium, called it "a classic."

Throughout the Western Hemisphere, where the weather permitted, astronomers, photographers and nature lovers watched the full moon take on a weird copy color.

The eclipse started here at 1:38 a.m., was total at 2:41 and ended at 5:18.

Crash Kills 6

EDNA, Tex. (AP)—A head-on collision of two cars on a rain-slick highway killed six persons and injured three others near here Sunday.

Killed were Earlene Bailey, 17, Houston, Armando Pena, 19, Rosenberg, Raul Garcia, 28, Westaco and Jose Garza Jr., 15, Westaco.

Officers said the crash occurred during a light rain.

Finch Wrangling Nearly Violent

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Wrangling by jurors in the Finch murder trial almost erupted into violence as the seven women and five men deliberated to a bitter, exhausting deadlock.

This was the report today of two members of the panel—one a woman who said that at one point a male juror threatened to throw her out a window of the locked jury room.

The jury was dismissed Saturday after failing to agree whether Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23, had plotted and killed with a bullet-in-the-back the doctor's estranged wife, Barbara Jean Finch. The wealthy surgeon and his onetime receptionist broke into sobs when the jurors announced they were deadlocked. They face another trial. A date will be set Thursday.

While all seemed outwardly serene during the eight days of deliberations, reports of shouts, insults and near-violence came from two jurors—Louis Werner and Genevieve Lang.

Mrs. Lang, 34, a secretary, said a male juror turned the locked jury room into a panic Friday when he shouted at her: "I'm going to pick you up and throw you out the window."

She said the juror, whom she did not identify, started "to pick up the jury table—he started to take off his coat—I was scared."
"One woman ran for the buzzer and buzzed for the bailiffs. Another screamed hysterically at the door. It was terrifying to realize we were locked in that way."

After bailiffs quitted the dispute, Mrs. Lang said: "I want off the jury." However, she stayed on the panel and the next day they announced the deadlock—10 to 2 to convict the balding surgeon of second-degree murder and 8-4 to acquit his pretty mistress.

Werner, 66, retired sales manager, identified the two male jurors standing between Finch and a five-year-to-life prison sentence as Dolores Jaimez, 33, and Eddie Lindsey, 26, both Los Angeles postal employees.

"We voted our convictions," said Jaimez.

"Basically the other members of the jury just didn't accept other people's views and argued irrationally," said Lindsey, a Negro.

Finch and Carole remain in county jail. Their attorneys say they will ask for their release on bail. The district attorney says he will oppose such a move.

DEAR ABBY NEW VERSUS OLD

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother lives with us. I know she is an old lady, but listen to this and tell me if I'm wrong.

She is a fanatic on housekeeping. If I put down a piece of paper even for a minute while I go for a pencil, when I come back the paper is crumpled and in the wastepaper basket. When people are smoking she will take the ash tray away from them and empty it. She is always busy polishing door knobs and every little bit of chrome, brass or silver she can find. All this constant polishing and tidying-up makes her look like a perfect housekeeper and by comparison I suppose I look like a slob. What can be done about it? She is 77 and I am 45 and she wears me out. WORN OUT.

DEAR ABBY: You ought to be thankful that you have an energetic, healthy mother bustling around your home. If she wants to polish and tidy up — let her. It will keep her busy and happy and it won't hurt your house. Next time a speck of dust settles — race her for it. (I'll bet on Mamma.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband works from 3 p.m. until 11 p.m. He used to get home at 11:30 every night.

Lately he's been getting home at 2 and 3 in the morning with a fresh shave and smelling pretty. He claims his whiskers haven't been growing lately. I think he must be lying to me. He used to come home needing a shave. I would like to know where he is getting these shaves and why.

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: If he de-

...sives that he has had a fresh shave when it is apparent that he has, you won't have to look far for the guy blade. Behind every "slob" shave there's usually a "two-timer."

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who is 13 but I look about 16. My Daddy died when I was seven and Mamma married another man. I always liked my step-Daddy, mainly because he would buy me candy and he was extra good to me.

He used to kiss me a lot and put his arms around me and pull me down to sit on his lap. He offered to teach me how to drive a car. I know now that it was just an excuse to get me alone. I am scared to death of him, Abby, because he is too friendly lately. I can't tell my mother because it will break her heart. She thinks he is perfect. Tell me what to do, please, before I run away.

SCARED GIRL

DEAR SCARED: TELL YOUR MOTHER!

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE BOYS IN THE COMPOSING ROOM: Compose yourselves. This is what is known as "figure falsification" and there is no law against it.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of the Big Spring Herald and enclose a stamped-self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-Ager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Negroes Planning San Antonio Sit-In

By The Associated Press

Approximately 1,500 Negroes made plans Sunday for sit-in demonstrations if San Antonio merchants ignore a National Association for the Advancement of Colored People ultimatum to end segregation at lunch counters by Thursday.

At Dallas, 130 Negroes attending a NAACP meeting were told that every legal means will be used to gain equal rights but no plans for sit-ins at segregated lunch counters were announced for that city.

The San Antonio action followed protests last week by Negroes at Austin, Houston and Galveston. Picketing of the University of Texas campus ended at least temporarily Saturday after the regents announced expanded housing facilities for Negroes at the state's largest school.

White and Negro students had carried signs protesting the limited number of dormitories available to Negroes at the integrated school. The demonstration, which was peaceful, also complained that Negroes were not allowed on athletic teams nor in dramatic productions open to the public.

At Galveston extra police were called out Saturday as Negroes continued their protest against segregated eating places. A number of downtown stores closed their lunch counters when the Negro youths appeared.

Five lunch counters at Houston remained closed over the weekend after store managers earlier on the week refused to serve Negroes.

San Antonio businessmen and Catholic and Protestant churches have scheduled a meeting Thursday to discuss a simultaneous desegregation plan.

Harry V. Burns, state youth director of the NAACP, said after the San Antonio rally Sunday: "If we don't get an answer from the downtown merchants by Thursday, demonstrations will definitely be held."

Burns said he understands some of the business heads have met with the Downtown Merchants' Assn., but he says the NAACP letters have not been answered.

"The meeting Sunday," Burns said, "was to mobilize individuals in case we have to resort to a demonstration."

Burns said the large turnout was a good indication of the tremendous interest among Negroes here in the campaign.

Letters were mailed Saturday to three more downtown stores making a total of six, asking lunch counter service for Negroes.

W. J. Durham, attorney for the NAACP, told a meeting of the Dallas branch of the NAACP that neither the group's executive committee, adult group or youth council has announced any plans for conducting lunch-counter sit-ins there.

Prior to the meeting there had been speculation that the meeting was to be a planning session for sit-in demonstrations to be staged in Dallas during the coming week.

Lanza Widow's Rites Wednesday

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Betty Lanza will be laid to rest Wednesday beside her late husband, singer Mario Lanza, in a family crypt.

A Rosary Tuesday and the Requiem High Mass Wednesday will be said in Hollywood's Blessed Sacrament church—scene of last rites for her husband five months ago.

A coroner's autopsy failed to determine the cause of Mrs. Lanza's death at her Beverly Hills home last Friday. Her doctor said, however, the autopsy revealed there had been no "external violence."

Mrs. Lanza, 37, is survived by four children, three sisters and two brothers.

Shot To Death

BLANCHARD, La. (AP)—Kermit Davis, 36, of Hobbs, N.M., was shot to death here Friday. Officers said his estranged wife admitted the shooting.

Dr. Stuart Delee, deputy parish coroner, said Davis died from a shotgun blast fired through a wooden door.

Delee quoted Mrs. Goldie Davis, 30, as saying Davis had threatened her and was trying to break down the door when she fired.

The couple, parents of four, had been separated since August. No charges were filed.

Addison Praised At Honor Dinner

DALLAS (AP)—John Milton Addison and his uranium promotions were praised Sunday when 600 of his creditors and lenders turned up for his $200-a-plate luncheon of beans, cornpone, fatback, sugar molasses, buttermilk and ice cream.

During the 5-hour long session, the guests heard 14 speeches, three of them by Addison. They repeatedly interrupted with applause and cheers and gave nine standing ovations.

Each wore a red-and-white button declaring "I am a satisfied lender and creditor of John Milton Addison."

Henry Stowers, a spokesman for Addison, quoted the promoter as saying he will take the money from the luncheon—about $130,000—and use it as I see fit in the organization.

Many who attended the luncheon were flown here at Addison's expense. Two came from Hawaii. Fifty came from California. Others came from Florida, New Mexico, Virginia, Colorado and Wisconsin.

The guests signed statements to the effect that they didn't want back the money they have loaned Addison.

Billed as "a reaffirmation of faith in John Addison," the luncheon came at a time when he is fighting against being declared bankrupt.

Addison and his uranium ventures particularly a machine to upgrade ore, have been involved in court actions for almost a year. State and Federal officials claim he has obtained millions of dollars from thousands of people in several states. Addison claims the money he has received was in loans and not investments.

Federal bankruptcy referee Elmore Whitburn has overruled Addison's motion to dismiss an involuntary bankruptcy petition brought by a creditor.

Addison was acquitted in San Antonio last year of a charge to defraud.

The major project is to provide primary school education for every child in Latin America. Average illiteracy in the area is about 50 per cent of the adult population. Officials estimate that between 17 and 20 million children do not go to school.

Delegates from 12 countries, and observers from many more are attending the convention to be opened by UNESCO Director General Vittorino Veronesi of Paris. Member countries actively participating include the United States.

Off Course

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A Matador guided missile fired from Formosa in a test last January went off course and landed in the sea, the U. S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command said today. There was no injury to personnel or property damage, the command said in response to inquiries. The command gave no details.

Slip And A Hoist

This truck owned by a Midland lumber company grade. The shifting lumber hoisted the front end presented a problem when its load of lumber slipped backward as the truck was climbing a high above the roadway.

Petty, re-elected secretary; and new directors: Ralph Ranson, Doyle Hankins, Dr. Douglas Black, Mrs. W. B. Beeson, Mrs. A. J. Bradford, Lee McCallister, Mrs. Herman Mayberry and Judge R. F. Spraberry.

Castro Warns Army Bigger Than Algerian

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro warned his enemies today that Cuba's revolutionary army is stronger than the Algerian nationalists who are holding off a French force of half a million.

But, he told a cheering crowd, the amount his government is spending for arms "should be of no one's concern. What is important is that the bulk of the revolution's resources have not been invested in arms but in tractors and machinery."

The fiery Prime Minister delivered a rambling post-midnight speech at a University of Havana ceremony in memory of the students killed in an abortive attempt to assassinate ex-President Fulgencio Batista three years ago.

Castro's reference to his fighting force appeared in reaction to a recent New York Times report that Cuba spent 120 million dollars in foreign exchange for arms last year.

"If we buy arms, it is the fault of aggressors and their allies," he said. "Without enemies there would be no need for arms which we need to defend ourselves. We don't obtain arms to attack anyone."

Then, with marked bitterness, he struck out at "economic threats, military maneuvers, aggressions and bombardments"—apparent references to current U.S. military exercises in Puerto Rico, previous charges that Florida-based planes are making fire raids on Cuban sugar cane fields and American press reports about his regime.

Again he denounced what he called "economic aggression" by the United States and told the Cuban people that the struggle for his revolution's survival would be long and difficult.

At one point he said proposed changes in the U.S. sugar act were being designed to "kill us by hunger" and "arbitrarily place without limitation the economic destiny of our nation in the hands of a foreign chief executive."

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

Englishman John Charles Beales contracted with the Mexican government on this day in 1832 to bring European settlers into Texas — his first of three empresario agreements affecting the Texas domain.

Beales had married a charming Mexican widow and had thus acquired half-ownership of another contract. He became enthralled with ambition to develop Texas and launched a most ambitious colonization program.

He brought only three groups of colonists to Texas, however, and none of them were permanently settled. The first wave of immigrants founded the town of Dolores, then abandoned it and were slaughtered by Indians as they were making their way back to the coast. The second group landed at Matamoros but were so frightened by wild tales of wars and massacres that they settled among the Rio Grande settlements. The outbreak of the Texas Revolution checked the third effort.

The Republic refused to recognize empresario contracts made with foreigners and Beales spent the rest of his life in futile efforts to secure some compensation for the $100,000 he purportedly spent on his colonization ventures.

Ex-Ranger Heads Airline

DALLAS (AP) — Former Texas Ranger Capt. E. J. Banks has been named president of Republic Airlines, Inc.

The line said today it hopes to start triangular service between Dallas, Houston and San Antonio by early fall.

Banks appointment was made by Largent Parks Jr., Dallas business man who helped form the company.

Parks said Banks became the choice of the company as soon as it was learned the famous Ranger would no longer be with the Department of Public Safety.

Banks resigned from the Rangers March 2, saying the DPS had "lost confidence" in him.

A sharp exchange followed between him and Homer Garrison, director of the DPS, and the board of commissioners of the department. They charged Banks had failed to enforce orders given him by the department to halt Tarrant County gambling.

Parks said the new airline has received its charter and flying dates are contingent on obtaining equipment.
