Ex-Judge Is Honored By Legion Post

Charlie Sullivan, the first commander of the Howard County American Legion post, and for 10 years judge of 118th District Court was honored by his fellow legion members Saturday night.

The occasion was 41st Legion Birthday and WWI reunion and more than 300 Legion members, guests and wives of legionnaires jammed the legion hall to attend the celebration.

Judge Sullivan, who retired from the bench on Jan. 1, was presented with a plaque by the legion in tribute to his work with that organization and for his fine career as a jurist.

Gil Jones, district attorney, was toastmaster.

Guest speaker for the evening was Ralph Caton, who succeeded Judge Sullivan to the bench. He discussed the privileges and benefits which derive from the American system of government and reviewed the story of how the constitution came into existence.

Special honors were paid to the 30-year members of the post who were in attendance and to the goldstar mothers in the audience.

Special guests were Pete Turner, Midland, departmental judge advocate, Midland, and Ray Andrews, Big Spring, 19th District Commander, and Mrs. Wilford Stone, Plainview, Dist. 19 Auxiliary president and Wilford Stoner, Plainview, 19th District chaplain.

Commander Foy Dunlop made the presentation of the special plaque to Judge Sullivan, praising him for his work as a legion leader, as a citizen and as a jurist.

Sullivan voiced his appreciation for the honor and said he was grateful to all of his friends for their loyalty and help in his career.

STATISTICALLY
Spring Officially Makes Its Debut Here Today

Today it is spring. Therefore, unsavory weather, with its chilling winds, freezing temperatures and even snow should vanish from the scene.

By TOM OCHILTREE
GENEVA (AP) — With a big if, the Soviet Union offered Saturday to sign a treaty proposed by President Eisenhower to ban all big nuclear tests except low-powered blasts underground.

FRAGMENT OF TRAGEDY

Both U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore described Tsarapkin's move as a serious attempt to break the conference deadlock.

The small underground explosions which would be prohibited by the promise of the three powers, though not specifically in the treaty, are those below the seismic magnitude of 4.75.

MEAGER CLUES
Stablehand Held In Triple Murder

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — A young stable hand was questioned Saturday and several other persons, including two truck drivers, were asked to take lie tests in the investigation of the sadistic slaying of three women hikers.

Police questioned the worker Friday, released him and then sought him again for questioning until Wednesday.

The slain women, socially prominent wives of Chicago business executives, apparently were slain Monday afternoon after setting out for a hike in Starved Rock State Park where they had gone for a three-day holiday.

Their bodies, brutally beaten and partly stripped, were found Wednesday in a shallow cave in a dead-end canyon in the park, about 90 miles southwest of Chicago.

State's Atty. Harland Warren of LaSalle County said the stable worker was questioned briefly Friday and released when it appeared he had no information helpful to authorities.

Later, the prosecutor said, it was learned the man had left his job Monday afternoon and did not reappear until Wednesday.

Warren said a witness told investigators of seeing the stable hand in the park Monday in a highly nervous condition. The witness said the man's clothes were torn and disheveled.

The truck driver, whose truck reportedly was seen near the canyon entrance Monday afternoon, was questioned Saturday about contacts in his original story to police. His name was not disclosed and Warren said the man was not under arrest.

A piece of twine similar to the type used to bind the wrist of two of the victims was found in the truck and sent to the state crime laboratory in Springfield for tests.

$25,000 Bond Frees Carole

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After 162 days behind bars, Carole Tregoff is home again.

The pretty, 23-year-old co-defendant in the Finch murder case walked out of the county jail into the warm afternoon sun Friday.

On May 23, she must return to court to stand trial again with her lover, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, on a charge they murdered the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean, 36, last July 18.

Dr. Finch has been denied bail. At the moment Carole was released, he was having a dinner of creamed frankfurters on toast.

West Texas Elks Here For District Meeting

Delegations from Elks Lodges in a dozen West Texas towns are in Big Spring today to attend the Texas West District Convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The lodges in Texas West District include all of the cities in this area from El Paso east to beyond Big Spring and from the panhandle south deep into Texas.

Here for the two-day meeting was Forest Gathright, Austin, state Elks president. He was guest speaker at the banquet last night and stressed the need for the lodges to bring more emphasis to bear on family participation in the activities of the order.

Bill Quimby, chamber of commerce manager, delivered the address of welcome. Bill Ragsdale, past exalted ruler of the Big Spring Lodge, presided as toastmaster. A dance followed the dinner.

A business session is to be held today. Cliff Ashton, Midland, vice president of the Texas West Elks Lodges, will preside at this meeting.

Violence Threatens
15 Sentenced For Lunch-Room Riots

By The Associated Press
Negro demonstrators in the South were subjected to new arrests and convictions Saturday as their campaign to wipe out segregation sparked overtones of violence.

Fifteen Negro college students were sentenced for participating in mass demonstrations at Orangeburg, S.C., and a state official expressed fear that such protests could lead to riots.

"Some zool-suited fool, while or colored, slaps somebody and the roof comes off," said James Verner, assistant state attorney general.

Almost at the same time, 40 Negroes, including five newsmen, carried the sit-down protests from lunch counters to public libraries at Memphis, Tenn., and were promptly arrested.

Two dynamite caps—but no dynamite—were found in the washroom of a Nashville, Tenn., bus station where Negroes were served after staging a sit-down demonstration in the white restaurant earlier this week.

A fist fight erupted between white owners of a store in Arlington, Va., and Negroes who sought lunch counter service. Two Negro men were arrested.

White and Negro sympathizers in six Northern cities picketed stores at the Woolworth chain, which is on a boycott list of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Plane Crash Victims Are Still Sought
5 Killed In Road Mishap

TELL CITY, Ind. (AP)—Investigators dug in a farm field crater Saturday, hoping a thin column of gray smoke would lead them to some of the 63 dead in the crash of an exploded airliner.

Civil Aeronautics Board experts hoped the crater's rubble would yield clues that might tell whether the plane blew apart from a bomb, turbulent air or something else.

Smoke had poured from the hole in a soybean stubble field since the Northwest Airlines turbo-prop plane crashed Thursday on its way from Minneapolis and Chicago to Miami.

Saturday the smoke subsided enough for two investigators to go down into the crater with fox-hole shovels. They found a piece of a $20 bill, a ringed finger and a scrap of a letter being written on the plane.

In the snow-covered field above, other investigators gathered bits of wreckage into a pile about the size of a dining room table and catalogued it for laboratory tests.

They picked up the rubble in clearing a path for bulldozers and a clam-shell shovel loaned by the State Highway Department for full-scale removal of the major wreckage. Some metal scraps were turned up along the crater's edge by the bulldozers.

J. T. Hornsby, a Federal Aviation Agency investigator, said the thin smoke column near the center of the crater probably came from a buried engine of the Lockheed Electra.

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Five Corpus Christi, Tex., Negroes died Saturday in a collision of their station wagon with a milk truck.

Three of the dead were en route to Hearne, 20 miles north of here in South Central Texas, to attend the funeral service for their father.

State highway patrolmen said the station wagon apparently swerved across a farm road into the path of the heavy truck, which overturned and smashed its rear half almost flat. The accident happened 10 miles north of Bryan at Steele Store.

Mortuary attendants identified these dead: Mrs. Tennessee Martin Ollison, 43, driver of the station wagon; Philetus James Johnson Jr., 37; Willie Johnson, 13, and Van Ira Johnson, 15.

Also killed was an unidentified woman, about 30.

The driver of the milk truck, Edward D. Popek, 21, of Bryan, escaped with minor injuries.

Mother Dies

Mrs. Walter J. Goodwin, mother of Walter J. Goodwin, Jr., Big Spring, died Saturday afternoon at a Stephenville Hospital. Goodwin was at her bedside at the time. The funeral services will be in Gorman but time and place has not been announced.

Five Members Of Family Are Shot To Death

SENECA, Ill. (AP)—A family of five was found shot to death in their Seneca home Saturday in LaSalle County's second mass slaying in a week.

William Dummitt, deputy sheriff, said the William Winder family apparently had been dead since late Thursday or early Friday.

He said that, apparently, William Winder, 29, a factory worker, their three children, and then took his own life.

Western Division Wins T&P Safety Award Again

Texas and Pacific Railway Co.'s Western Division railroaders, spearheading T&P's finest year in employe safety, will receive their President's Safety Trophy as honored guests at a banquet to be held here the evening of April 8.

T&P maintained in 1959 its spotless passenger safety record which now covers more than 36 years of public service without a single passenger fatality. Moreover, for the first time in the history of the 89-year-old railroad no fatal employe injuries were incurred last year among the thousands of T&P employes.

RECORD ACHIEVEMENT

In leading the railroad to this safety achievement, employes of T&P's Western Division—from El Paso to Fort Worth—were tops in safety, winning the coveted President's award for the third straight year. Their performance marked the first time the same division has won the award on three successive years.

Last year was injury free for station forces, shop workers and engineers on the railroad's Western Division with employe injuries occurring only among trainmen, yardmen and maintenance of way employes.

"Our employe injuries last year were generally of minor nature," said T&P superintendent of safety J. H. Williams. "For the second straight year no T&P employe suffered so much as the loss of a limb or any dismemberment injury in 1959."

The National Safety Council in 1959 cited the Texas and Pacific for the sixth consecutive year for its efforts in public safety which embraces safety promotion in homes, schools and communities.

HUGE TROPHY

Highlight of the banquet program at Big Spring, which is headquarters for T&P's Western Division, will be the presentation of the President's Safety Trophy, by J. T. Suggs, president. The award will be accepted by K. D. Heston, superintendent, on behalf of his safetykeeping colleagues.

L. C. Porter, vice president-operation, will award 17 T&P "Safety Oscars," smaller gold-plated trophies, to a like number of Western Division supervisors whose departments achieved perfect safety performances in 1959. These recognize a departmental year without injury or fatality. A special plaque will be presented to El Paso's large T&P-family whose various workers in the shops, station and traffic offices combined in achieving a perfect safety year in 1959.

THOUSAND GUESTS

Approximately 1,000 are expected to attend the dinner, coming from up and down the Western Division of the railroad. Also included are employes of the Texas-New Mexico Railway, a T&P subsidiary.

Special guests will include members of T&P Ladies Safety Councils, composed of women employes and distaff relatives of T&P workers. These women safety clubs of the railroad are located in Big Spring and El Paso on T&P's Western Division.

J. H. Williams, superintendent of safety, will act as master of ceremonies. Accompanying President Suggs and Porter will be a contingent of officers and representatives from T&P's general offices in Dallas.

This railroad safety banquet will be staged in the company's freight terminal warehouse building at Big Spring. The big freight depot will be cleared of all freight shipments and especially decorated for the occasion.

A characteristic Western dinner in tribute to the Western Division will be provided by the nationally-famed Jetton Catering Service of Fort Worth.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Reader Says Water Wrong Place To Raise Revenue

To The Editor:

I have read carefully your news article of Sunday, March 13, 1960, under the heading, "City Budget Hike Calls for Garbage, Water Increase." Considerable coverage was given to the hours of work done by the Commission, its income, etc. I have no complaint about the increased costs. In fact more could possibly have been justified if further investigation had been made as to other needs to make our city more attractive and conducive to growth.

I am very much concerned about the source from which our City Commissioners seek to derive the income to finance these costs. I am firmly of the opinion that had your article of March 13 appeared prior to the deadline of filing for the office of the City Commission there certainly would have been opposition. Your article revealed that at present 40 cents of each city income dollar is derived from water. You have not specifically provided information as to what portion of the city income dollar comes from charges for garbage collections since it is not listed in the photo diagram as such and is probably covered under another name. Now the article says the Commission proposes to increase the water rate and increase the minimum water rate and increase the garbage collection rate. Such thinking only places the burden of carrying more than their share of the cost of city government on those least able to pay.

Every family regardless of how increased, have to pay the same in the minimum water rate and the increase in the garbage collection. Is it fair to make the poor pay the same increase in cost of city government as those better able to pay? If you increase the water rates other than minimum costs, you are certainly going to make our city less attractive. Few families can now afford to have a nice lawn or shrubs due to the high cost of water. It is a certainty that increasing water costs will not add to the beauty of our city but only detract from it. The poor who now cannot afford to have a lawn and who may not use in excess of the minimum because of the present costs would, if the minimum rate was increased, have to pay the same increase as the wealthy or those more able to pay. Such an approach to raising city finances is a disgrace to this city.

You speak of the time and hours spent in preparing the city budget by the commission which is probably correct but in my opinion not excessive in relation to the responsibility and obligations they must assume that are the duties of the office for which each of them sought. It is quite evident that very little time was spent by these same people in determining what was the most fair way to raise this needed money. Their proposal is quite consistent with the supporters of a general sales tax wherein a tax would have to be paid on every loaf of bread bought. There are many sources of deriving income based on ability to pay rather than making everybody pay equal amounts. The poor and lower wage income groups make up the greatest segment of our community and to take such action as is indicated is only going to require those least able to pay to accept the greatest load and is the most selfish means of increasing the city income that could be devised.

I am personally able to pay this increase and would not object to paying an equal or greater amount as some other revenue raising procedure. I hope you will give this letter publicity. I feel the people of our community are sleeping at the post and not examining the effect these proposed increases being sought will do to your community.

Watch Words, Club Is Told

"Talking — the most distinguishing mark of the human animal," was the theme of an address delivered by Rev. P. D. O'Brien to members of the American Business Club at their regular Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel.

Dr. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, described the human tongue as a vehicle designed to carry ideas but warned his listeners to use caution in their speech.

"It can be used to say the worst as well as the best things," he stated.

The Holy Bible, he said, referred to the human tongue as the only part of the body that hasn't been tamed.

"A wound caused by an ill spoken word doesn't heal soon," he told his listeners. "How fearful it can be if the right words are used at the right time."

"I've known people who could say complimentary things in the most uncomplimentary way. Some of us have forgotten how to talk and sometimes people who talk the most say the least."

Dr. O'Brien also pointed to the poverty of language, on occasions. He said some things cannot be described by the human tongue "like a raging storm, a sunset, Carlsbad Caverns."

The Rev. John Black was introduced as an honorary member of the club while Fred Collins became a new member. Guests included Gene Odell, Buster Holland and Ed McComb.

Special Session On Teacher's Pay

WACO (AP) — The president of the Texas Teachers Assn., says a special session of the Legislature to act on pay raises for teachers is still under consideration by the group.

Mrs. Mary Alexander told the association's District 10 meeting Friday that several business and industrial associations are among those blocking the proposal. She told teachers to study closely the candidates for public office and vote for those who have teachers' interests at heart.

Soap Box Boys Called to Meet Tuesday Night

First of a series of special events for boys entered in the 1960 Soap Box Derby is on the calendar for Wednesday.

All Soap Box lads and their Dads have been invited to an ice cream supper, to be at Tidwell Chevrolet Co. Tuesday evening beginning at 7 p.m. Ice cream and cookies will be available in ample supply.

Boys will hear a discussion of vital points in the Derby rules, and will be able to examine cut-away models of Derby coasters to get an idea of how to start building their own racers.

Every Derby entrant is urged to attend, and to bring his father.

A record entry list of 101 boys, including several for the first time from other Howard County communities, will compete in the June race. Their sponsors are now encouraging boys to make a quick start on car building, to have a speedy racer ready. Exclusive Soap Box Derby wheels — required on ever coaster — have been ordered and should be here soon.

Rabbit Drive Is Continuing Today

STANTON — A rabbit drive begun Saturday in the Tarzan area, will be continued there today.

Hunters who wish to participate are asked to assemble at 1 p.m. at the Planters Gin for instructions as to the area in which jack-rabbits will be hunted. Only shotguns are permitted on these drives, and every adult is welcome. Tarzan is on the Big Spring-Andrews highway about 30 miles west of Big Spring.

Phone Vet Dies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James Crump, 74, president of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. until his retirement in 1951, died Friday.

MEN IN SERVICE

Pfc. Bennie D. Bennett, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bennett, Sterling City Route, Big Spring, participated with other personnel from Mortar Battery of the 1st Division's 7th Cavalry in Army training tests in Korea. The tests were conducted under realistic combat conditions.

A member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Bennett is a 1954 graduate of Big Spring High School and a 1959 graduate of Baylor University in Waco.

Army 2nd Lt. Burley R. Polk, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Polk, Fourth St., Stanton, Tex., has been assigned to the 2nd Armored Division at Fort Hood.

Polk, a platoon leader in Company D of the division's 51st Infantry, entered the Army last November. He was graduated from Stanton High School in 1955 and Hardin-Simmons University in 1959. His wife, Mary, lives in Killeen.

Army Pfc. James L. Childs Jr., 26, whose parents live in Big Spring, recently arrived in Korea and is now assigned to the 7th Infantry Division.

Childs, a member of Mortar Battery of the division's 17th Infantry, entered the Army in March 1959 and completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark. He is a 1951 graduate of Steubenville (Ohio) High School and a 1958 graduate of Texas Technological College in Lubbock. He is a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity.

Milton Dean Bardwell, track star of Forsan High School, enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps on March 14 at U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station in San Antonio.

Milton will complete his high school education under the 120 day delay program which allows high school seniors to enlist now and upon graduation report for active duty in the USMC and be transferred to the recruit training center in San Diego, Calif., for basic training.

Dean lettered two years in track, football and basketball and was a member of the All-Tournament track team of Forsan High which won the district tournament in 1959. As captain of his track team in 1959, he set a new district record for the 100 yard dash and ran all track events in regional competition that year. Dean was vice president of Forsan Student Council in 1958, president of junior class of 1958, and was selected as sweetheart of America in 1958. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Bardwell of Forsan.

Baptist Minister Pushing Hard For Congress Office

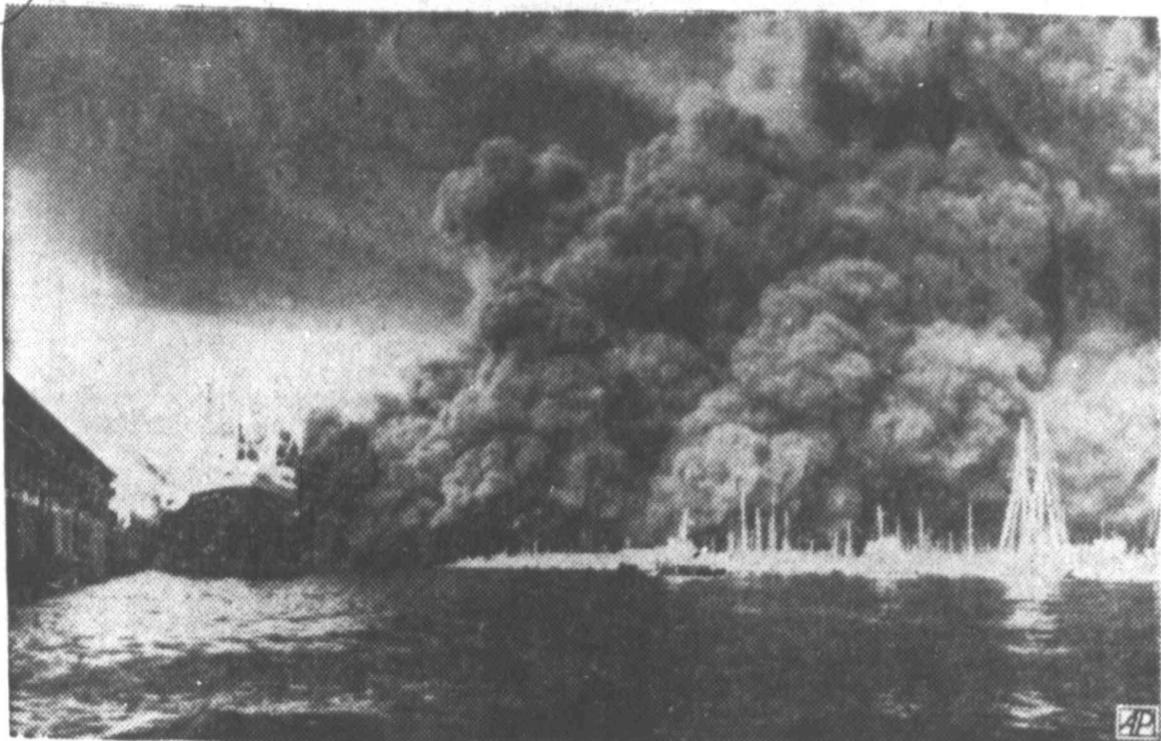

By ROBERT E. FORD NACOGDOCHES (AP) — "Nobody ever asked me during World War II: What's a preacher doing behind a machine gun in a bomber?" That's one answer handsome, vigorous Bill Crook, a Baptist minister, is giving voters in the 7th Congressional District when they ask him why he jumped into big-time politics.

But he is no hell and brimstone speaker. Intellectual or not, he refers to himself always as a "preacher," not by the more elegant title of "minister."

He is a little under average height. Already he is thickening around the middle and his hair recedes although he is only 34. He grew up in Aransas Pass, attended Corpus Christi's Del Mar Junior College and Baylor University, received his doctor of theology degree from Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth and attended the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, for a year.

FHA Borrowers Plan Programs

A total of 24 farm families using Farmers Home Administration credit in Howard and Glasscock counties have completed a series of individual meetings with Fred Ross, the agency's county supervisor. These were to take a careful look at 1959 operations and to make 1960 plans.

Ross said this year-end analysis is a service given by the agency which makes loans to eligible farmers to operate, improve, or enlarge family-type farms.

As a result of this study of their farm operations, Ross said some of the better practices that farmers are working into their 1960 plans include adding beef type cattle and improved pastures to their farming enterprise, filling trench silos, farrowing stalls to save more pigs per litter and planning two litters per year, culling herds and flocks, testing soils, terracing, better gardens and canning and storing, and using adequate equipment.

Farm families in Howard and Glasscock counties now using FHA credit include 72 with operating loans, three with loans to build or repair houses or other farm buildings, and four who have soil and water conservation loans.

Loans totaling $268,550 have been made to farmers in this area in an eight-month period since June 30, 1959. All of this money has been used for acquiring equipment, livestock, seed, feed, fertilizer and paying other operating costs, and paying for labor and materials in connection with housing and other improvements. This money, and the extra money from increased incomes, circulate through local trade channels.

Good farm planning and record keeping are carried on throughout the year and play an important part in operations financed with FHA credit. As proof that good practices pay off, Ross pointed out that during the 1959 crop year 26 borrowers repaid their loans in full.

Mrs. E. A. Martin Dies Saturday, Rites Set Monday

Mrs. E. A. Martin, 86, mother of Mrs. Eva Pyeatt and Mrs. James Etheridge, died early Saturday at Longview.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Martin, who had made her home here with Mrs. Pyeatt, went to Longview to visit with another daughter, Mrs. Porter Brandon. While there she became ill and was unable to return here.

CHURCH PROTESTS

Mr. K. Won't Visit French Cathedrals

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev starts his once-postponed visit to France Wednesday under a boisterous schedule that omits the original plan for a tour of several cathedrals.

Several Roman Catholic Church leaders had shown open hostility to the Khrushchev trip. He wants to see and be seen as well as to hold ground-laying talks with President Charles de Gaulle before the May summit conference.

Back in traveling trim after an announced attack of influenza, Khrushchev will spend about three days in Paris, visit a dozen provincial cities, and deliver a TV-radio address to the French people before returning to Moscow April 3.

Final details were announced Saturday after long negotiation between Paris and Moscow that apparently ran into several snags. The 65-year-old Soviet leader originally planned to fly in last Tuesday for a two-week stay. His illness was announced only 48 hours in advance of his scheduled departure from Moscow. The arrangements have now been compressed into 12 days.

Among other things, a projected helicopter trip over Paris and a visit to the French Air Force School at Salon were canceled. Khrushchev reportedly wanted to speak to Parisians from the City Hall, as President Eisenhower did in September. The schedule made no mention of such a speech.

However, Khrushchev is making a six-day tour of the provinces, where some Frenchmen fear he will reap propaganda hay. When he travels by car, 120 motorcycle policemen will guard the way.

Chaplain Hall To New Base

Maj. Wilbur C. Hall, Webb's base chaplain since September of 1958, departed last week for duty at Holloman AFB, Alamogordo, N. M. He will serve in a similar capacity at Headquarters USAF Missile Research and Development Center.

Part of the Air Research and Development Command, Holloman used the White Sands Testing Area of New Mexico, site of the first atomic bomb explosion during World War II.

The major's 12 years' military experience includes duty in the Aleutians, Alaska, France and Germany. He is also credited with 3 1/2 years of AF Reserve time.

While at Webb the chaplain was active in the Flying Tumbleweed Toastmaster Club. Last year he and Chaplain (Capt.) Verlin E. Mikesell were third-place doubles winners in the base ping-pong. His sports activities also included tennis and golf.

His wife, Mrs. Harriet E. Hall, directed the junior and senior Protestant choirs at the base chapel, and taught Sunday school. She was also an active member of the Webb Officers' Wives Club. The Halls' only daughter, Rosalyn, is 12 years old.

Apparently, Saturday's local government project for the high school a joint venture of the Chamber of Commerce education committee and the BSHS student council was a success.

CITY BUDGET

Water-Sewer Operations Involve Greatest Costs

(This is another article in a series on the proposed 1960-61 city budget.—Ed.)

A large section of the annual city budget is devoted to water and sewer revenues and expenditures. And it is from these departments that the city commission will turn to find additional money to balance the budget.

Nineteen cents of every dollar the city spends will purchase water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District. In the new budget, this expenditure is $404,314.53 or almost one-fifth of all the money that will be spent.

To maintain the city's water wells, the commission will spend $7,355 during the year. Of this, $2,310 will be paid out in rents on well fields.

Roy Hester, superintendent of the water filter plant, was given a salary boost from $450 to $475 per month. Total payroll at the plant will run $32,972 for the year and the total cost is $78,037.

Purchases include a new pump at $325 and chemicals to treat water will cost at $20,000.

Lee Nuckels, superintendent of water distribution, was given a raise from $450 to $475 per month. Total cost for the department will pay half the cost of a backhoe for digging water line trenches, and purchase a pipe locator and a hydraulic crane.

NEW METERS R. H. Castle was raised from $340 to $350 per month in the water meter department. New meters costing $12,000 build up the total expenditures to $43,381 for the department. The payroll cost is $27,321.

In the sewage collection department, costs are expected to reach $32,101, of which $17,711 will go into salaries and wages. Sewer line extensions are expected to cost $5,000 and this department will pay half the cost of the backhoe and crane.

Jones Lamar, superintendent of the sewage treatment plant, was granted a salary hike from $355 to $375 per month. All three plant operators were given five cents an hour increase, from $1.25 to $1.30.

Sewage plant operations are expected to cost $42,753 of which $23,343 will be payroll costs. The city will spend $3,000 in new equipment at the plant, and another $5,000 was allocated for various repairs.

The city garage will end the year with a balance of $66,185, according to the budget. Revenues from all other funds will be $130,325, added to a beginning surplus of $50,900, is a total of $181,225. Costs are estimated at $115,030, leaving the surplus. Small hourly pay increases were approved, in this department none more than three cents per hour, however.

WORKING SPACE Parking meters will earn the city $19,932 during the year. Estimated revenues are $45,000 and expenditures are set at $25,208. L. F. Trantham, meter repairman, was given a pay increase from $312.50 to $320 per month. Four new meters will be purchased at a cost of $200.

The commission also authorized Police Sgt. L. A. Hiltbruner to work part time, assisting Trantham on parking meter collections and repair. This cost will be $1,456 per year.

The commission decided to move a building from Section 17 into the city garage yard for use as a meter repair shop. Trantham currently has a cubicle in the attic of the city auditorium. Electrician Roy Rogan will share the building with Trantham.

Y Adult Class Signup Near

Deadline for enrolling in four of the YMCA adult program classes is nearing. Bobo Hardy, general secretary said Saturday.

Four of the classes hold first meetings this week and Big Springers intending to join should sign up as quickly as possible.

The Human Growth program for teen-agers and their parents, will meet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. The first of three meetings. Several Big Spring physicians will act as instructors.

The Beginner's Bridge class will meet Thursday at 8 p.m., the first of eight sessions. Mrs. Tompkins is instructor.

Law for Laymen is scheduled to meet Thursday at 8 p.m. for the first of four lessons. Grover Cunningham and other Big Spring attorneys are slated to speak during this course.

The Fine Arts Workshop will also meet on Thursday at 8 p.m. There will be eight sessions. Monday is the enrollment deadline.

All interested adults are encouraged to enroll in the various YMCA courses. In most cases, there is no charge to Y members.

The Big Spring City Commission will open bids on three different items during the regular meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. in city hall.

Bids for one garbage packer body, a new automobile, and oil and grease service for a year, will be opened.

The garbage packer body was in the current budget and approved last year. The new car will be one of the smaller type cars to be used by the paving inspector.

The city annually takes bids for the purchase of engine oil, transmission and differential greases to be used in the city garage. The bid will cover 12 months beginning April 1.

In other business, the commission will give second reading to an annexation ordinance taking in the Worth Peeler subdivision in southeast Big Spring.

Water-Sewer Plan Ready March 31, Application Filed

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer said a tentative date for presentation of the master plan for water and sewer has been set for March 31.

The city manager returned Friday from consultation with Forrest and Cotton, master planning firm in Dallas. The date will be firm after consideration is given by the Big Spring City Commission.

Steinheimer also met with officers of the Corps of Engineers concerning the city's drainage problems. He said no definite information was given, but work on the program is progressing.

There is a chance that Big Spring may receive federal help on the sewage disposal plant expansion, Steinheimer submitted the city's application.

Two of 10 "ifs," plus the biggest "if" of all, may determine whether you want to call AM 4-2885.

This happens to be the phone of a member of Alcoholics Anonymous who will put genuinely interested persons in touch with one of a few AA members who are anxious to discuss the problem of alcoholism with anyone in its clutches.

The 10 "ifs" which may help a person diagnose his own case are these: If you drink to build up self-confidence or "get up nerve"; if you drink alone; if you can't stop drinking after the first drink; if you have an unquenchable thirst for alcoholic drinks; if you go to any lengths to get a drink while "on one"; if you crave a "hair from the dog that bit you"; if you drink to escape from worry and troubles; if you get into financial difficulties from drinking; if you drink while blue; if you drink between servings of drinks to other guests.

AA's have found from experience that when an individual honestly answers two or more of these 10 "ifs" in the affirmative, he or she is an alcoholic. The first step toward help is the realization that one is an alcoholic.

MRS. CHRIS WATSON DELVES AMONG HER SOUVENIRS
Once a gifted pilot, now a mother and college instructor

Young Mother Swaps Wings For Apron, Teacher's Role

By SHERI WEBBER
A decade and a half ago she was piloting every type of plane the Army had during World War II. Today she lives the sedate life of a housewife, mother and teacher.

Mrs. Chris Watson of 519 Hillside was one of the first women to enter the WAF and later the WASP (Women's Air Service Pilot) after the bombing of Pearl Harbor in 1941. She served as WASP commander at Love Field in Dallas. Attached to the Ferry Command, the WASP flew planes from the factory to overseas shipping points.

Flying first interested Florine Miller Watson when her father, the late T. L. Miller of Odessa, purchased a Luscombe 60 h.p. metal plane. The entire family learned to fly during the summer of 1940.

APT PUPIL
Flo was ahead of her father in getting her private pilot's license. She soon earned her commercial and instructor's ratings, and all of the ground school ratings.

Her father and an older brother were killed in the family plane when it crashed in the mountains of New Mexico during July of 1941. The other Millers continued to fly.

Florine Miller began teaching a CPT (Civilian Pilot Training) program to men and women in the Odessa area. One of the students in the 20-year-old instructor's class was a young employe of Phillips Petroleum Co., Chris Watson. Watson liked her engaging personality as well as her teaching, and three years later, in 1944, they were married.

Mrs. Watson's service with the Army interrupted romance, however. It was her first flying instructor, Don Teel, who was at that time owner of the Odessa Flying Service, who heard that the WAF was being organized and encouraged her to join.

HIGH ADVENTURE
Exciting adventures, ranging from close calls to appearing with Bob Hope and Jerry Colonna, marked her career. Along with other women fliers, she was the subject of a national magazine feature article.

"By the end of the WASP's tenure I had flown almost every type plane that the Army used, and many of the Navy's. I particularly like to fly the fighter planes, but the P-51, P-52, and the A-29 were my favorites. The B-25 and B-17 were my favorites in the heavier planes," related the brunette pilot.

The Army's women pilots did not leave the United States, but Mrs. Watson flew from coast to coast, border to border. Flying conditions were often difficult, for the girls would ferry one plane to its shipping point and there pick up another kind. Hopping from one to another was not only confusing, but dangerous. The slightest forgotten might mean disaster.

FLYS NO MORE
Other interests have taken the place of flying since the war, and the attractive flier is now the busy mother of two daughters, 13-year-old Gail, a student at Goliad Junior High, and Jean, 11, who attends Park Hill School.

Teaching at Howard County Junior College occupies much of Mrs. Watson's time. She took her place on the staff at mid-term, after the family moved here from Houston when Chris became district superintendent of Phillips Petroleum Co.

The teacher received her Bachelor of business administration from Lamar State College of Technology in Beaumont, then was awarded her master's degree at the University of Houston. For two years she taught in that school's college of business.

Flowers are a hobby that both Chris and Florene Watson enjoy. While living in Houston they specialized in camellias, with Chris pampering the plants and doing the grafting. Among 70 plants they had 50 varieties. Mrs. Watson is a national flower show judge.

OTHER TALENTS
Entertaining is fun for the usual housewife, and cooking is a pleasure. For the past 14 years she has tested recipes for the Betty Crocker kitchens of General Mills before they are published.

Teaching is another field besides flying and business. Florene Watson has been a swimming instructor from the Red Cross and YWCA.

Mrs. Watson doesn't fly much any more — and sometimes she misses it.

"To be good at it you should fly frequently. And since that is not practical for me now, and for fear of being a sloppy or dead pilot, I think the smartest thing to do is to leave it alone for the present time," says the versatile Mrs. Watson.

CARD OF THANKS
We sincerely thank all the kind friends, neighbors, and relatives for the many courtesies, expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes that were given at the passing of B. H. Settles. The family of B. H. Settles

Roadway Being Secured For North Highway

Negotiations are moving slowly on right-of-way needed for rebuilding U.S. 87 north of Fairview, according to Ed Carpenter, county judge.

While only a mile and quarter of the 10 miles of right-of-way needed has been actually acquired, the County Commissioners have the assurance of a majority of the landowners along the road that there will be no difficulty in getting the easements signed.

A representative of the Slaughter Estate has promised that the easements will be granted but asked more information on just what the state and county plans to do about fences which have to be moved. It is expected that this agent will be in Big Spring soon for a conference with the commissioners. However, it will be several months probably before deeds can be filed for the property because many of the individuals who must sign live in widely separated sections of the United States.

The two easements obtained have been allowed by C. O. Jones and J. W. Middleton. A number of other property holders, some of whom have extensive holdings along the road, have signified their willingness to make deals for the needed land.

The county is charged by the state with acquiring 100 foot additional right of way on U.S. 87 County line. About half of the distance, the right-of-way will be taken from land on the west side of the present road and the remainder from the land on the east.

Little Rock Police Chief, Wife, Slain

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Little Rock Police Chief Eugene Smith and his wife were found shot to death in their home here today.

The bodies of Smith, a central figure in the Little Rock integration controversy, and his wife were found by a neighbor in the kitchen.

Dr. Howard A. Dishongh, county coroner, ruled the deaths a murder and suicide but said he could not be certain who did the shooting.

A pistol was found near the bodies. No motive was established immediately.

Officers said the Smiths' son, Raymond, 20, had been trying to call his parents, but got no answer. He then called the neighbor, who went to the house and found the bodies, authorities said.

Dr. Dishongh said a neighbor told him she heard what sounded like shots about 9:30 p.m., Friday.

Smith, wearing trousers and a T-shirt, was in a sitting position on the floor. His wife, fully dressed, was lying across a chair.

Smith has been the target of segregationist attacks since police under his leadership broke up a demonstration near Central High School when it opened with token integration last Aug. 19. He was assistant chief during the integration battles in 1957.

Last week police under Smith broke up a Negro sit-down protest at a downtown lunch counter.

Smith's son was fined Friday in nearby Searcy, Ark., after pleading guilty to charges of burglary and petit larceny. The son is a student at Harding College at Searcy.

Singer Slain

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—A night club singer, Agnacio Preada Alvarez, 36, died of a shotgun blast Friday. Richard Rowland, 46, was charged with murder.

Famous Choir To Be Here For Concert On April 7

The Concert Choir of Sterling College, Sterling, Kan., will present a full-length program of great choral music in the auditorium of Howard County Junior College April 7 at 8 p.m. The program will be open to the public.

The choir numbers 37 selected singers and is under the direction of Professor Leon Akin, Sterling College choral director and teacher of voice. The choir travels very extensively every year, their itinerary covering several thousand miles. This year's tour will last almost three weeks and will cover four states.

The Big Spring appearance of the Sterling College Choir is being co-sponsored by the choirs of St. Paul Presbyterian Church, First Methodist Church and Howard County Junior College. Mrs. Amy Percy is director of the St. Paul Presbyterian choir and Ira Schantz directs the choirs of First Methodist Church and Howard County Junior College. Both Professor Akin and Mr. Schantz were members of the All-America Choruses, which toured several European countries in the summer of 1958, and were roommates during the tour.

Young Demos Ask State Candidates To Visit Sessions

Candidates for state office have been invited by the Young Democrats Club at Howard County Junior College to address that group.

The club also is planning on a membership drive, and Lefty Morris, president, named Carol Galbraith, Buddy Barnes, Doug Eastham and Robbie Allen as the committee to head up the campaign.

At Thursday's meeting Tommy Buckner gave an outline to Robert's Rules of Order, and members voted to order booklets on parliamentary procedure. The club meets the first and third Thursday evenings and all interested persons are invited to attend the meetings. Morris said that the group would be happy to hear from community leaders.

Mrs. Harry Middleton, president of the newly chartered Social Order of the Beauceant, wives and widows of members of the Knights Templar, pours coffee for Mrs. Karl Gutwein, Mrs. Gutwein, supreme worthy president, came from Pasadena, Calif., for Saturday's activities.

Knights Templar Auxiliary Has Its Initiatory Rites

Wives and widows of Knights Templars of Big Spring became the 19th assembly of the Social Order of the Beauceant on Saturday.

In ceremonies attended by 37 guests from all over Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and California, the initiatory rites were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 in the Masonic Temple.

A banquet was held at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building of Howard County Junior College, and at 8 p.m. officers of the new assembly were installed.

Mrs. Karl Gutwein, supreme worthy president, of Pasadena, Calif., conducted the installation ceremony. Taking the office of president was Mrs. Harry Middleton.

To serve with Mrs. Middleton are Mrs. Jack Alexander and Mrs. Ladd Smith as first and second vice presidents, respectively.

Preceptress will be Mrs. T. E. Helton; recorder, Mrs. John Stanley; treasurer, Mrs. J. S. Owens; orator, Mrs. O. L. Nabors.

Mrs. R. V. Middleton will be organist; Mrs. C. R. McClenny, marshal, with Mrs. Albert Davis as assistant marshal.

Color bearer will be Mrs. R. H. Boren, while Mrs. J. C. Douglass Jr. will be standard bearer. Mrs. Joe Lemon is the chaplain.

Installed as daughter of the household was Mrs. Ed Fisher.

Swallows Welcomed Back Home

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—Swallows came back to this sleepy mission hamlet right on schedule this St. Joseph's Day.

Flights of the birds swooped down into the crumbling old mission grounds just at daybreak. About 500 tourists were on hand as bellringer Choppe Valenzuela pealed a welcome from the lower chimneys for the swallows returning from winter haunts in South America.

Later in the day, a large throng of tourists crowded the old mission grounds as the birds, somewhat annoyed at the disturbance, soared and swung in the ruins looking for likely nesting places.

Strolling Mexican guitar players further added to the annoyance of the birds, who traditionally return to the picturesque mission every St. Joseph's Day.

The village put on its best fiesta face to welcome the birds. Store owners decorated their windows and shops. Strolling bands strummed gay Mexican tunes. Ranchers polished silver-decorated saddles for the annual mounted parade. A grey-haired gardener took special pains raking the grounds of the crumbling mission.

For the day-long festivities, a crowd of 10,000 was expected. And villagers were certain the swallows wouldn't disappoint the throng.

The 184-year legend of the swallows goes back to the founding of the mission by a wandering Franciscan padre named Junipero Serra—the same year that across the country a group of patriots were drafting the Declaration of Independence.

The swallows build their nests and hatch their young in the ancient adobe of the mission. Then in October—traditionally on St. John's Day (the 23rd)—they wing off for another sunny winter south of the border.

Political Primer On How To Get Convention Tickets

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—If you're planning to go to the Democratic National Convention in July start now.

This is not addressed to professional politicians. It is for citizens who might like to be on hand for what is always one of the great shows on earth.

This year it holds special interest for Texans because a Texan, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, could come out of it as the Democratic nominee for the presidency.

Not many Texans have ever had even a slim chance at that.

Win or lose, Johnson and his friends will put on a battle that will be worth watching. It will be thrilling and educational for young and old.

How do you go about getting in? There is one sure, quick way. Contribute $1,000 cash to the Los Angeles local committee on arrangements. That will nail down two box seats for each daily performance starting at 5 p.m. July 11 and running on into the night until the business is done or everybody is exhausted.

That means in effect that the convention managers are giving priority to the paying customers, something like a carnival or circus.

ONLY THE FITTEST

Non-cash-paying customers get what's left. The scramble for these free tickets will be won by the most resourceful, alert, energetic and persistent among the thousands of would-be spectators.

The number of available tickets for those ordinary citizens who would like to be there when it happens will also depend partly on how good each show promises to be. Plenty of seats for the dull days when the routine business is being ground out. But none, or almost none, when they get down to the passionate business of voting on the nominee.

The trading, dealing, knifeing and kneeing may take place in the smoke-filled rooms you have read about, but the results break out on the floor of the convention hall.

That's what everybody wants to see and hear.

The once-daily meetings late in the afternoon were set up that way to get the maximum television viewing time, especially in the East. Maybe it would be better for you ordinary Texas citizens to stay home and watch it that way.

CUPLE OF TIPS
But if you must go, here are a couple of tips:
1. Get in touch with your district Democratic committeeman or woman.
Let them know your plans and desires conventionwise. There will be some available tickets and they might be able to help. If you write a letter add a P.S. saying "Enclosed please find my check as my contribution to the Democratic party." Perfectly legitimate and often helpful. Politics is politics.
2. Don't say who told you, but write your congressman. You ought to write him every now and then anyway. In this case, you might try a soft approach by sending him several letters approving of his recent vote on some issue. Follow up with something like this:

"By the way, we are planning a trip to Los Angeles early in July. Just my wife, her mother, my father, our six children. We thought we might drop in on the Democratic convention and would appreciate seats for July 13, 14, 15 and 16 if it lasts that long. Balcony would be okay. P.S. There are six paid poll taxes in my family."

CALL A FRIEND
Where to stay out there?
The convention managers are busy right now sewing up every hotel, motel, rooming house, flophouse and park bench on the lower West Coast. This correspondent has meager and probably useless tips on this problem. If you have a friend or relative in LA, see if they will let you put up a cot in the kitchen.

Take a tent, or a sleeping bag. That's how bad it is.

It isn't going to be easy on the official party from Texas at the new Memorial Sports Arena where the convention will be held.

Texas has 61 votes in the convention.

Counting officials, alternates, etc., the official party will be made up of 182 people.

This group will be formally designated at the June 14 state convention in Austin. There is already cut throat competition among the Democratic pros for these choice spots.

Their seating on the floor of the convention and their allocation of guest tickets for friends and relatives is in official hands. So are their housing arrangements.

A final word to the average citizen: watch the papers.

If you have a friend among those selected as delegates or alternates, you still have a chance to get in for at last part of the show if you press the matter as late as the closing days in June.

But if you have no connections now, get busy or forget it.

Fire Rages In Range Lands

BOERNE (AP)—A spectacular brush fire attracted hundreds to this Southwest Texas area Friday night.

The fire started on the Ralph Bowers Ranch, 6 miles west of Boerne, and at its height could be seen at Kerrville, 40 miles away.

About 200 acres were burned over. A hunting cabin was destroyed. Firemen from Boerne, San Antonio, Bandera and Comfought fought the flames from 3:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

An increase in the wind spread the flames as cedar brush was being burned on the ranch.

For Johnson

Elliott Roosevelt, Jr., whose grandfather, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was quite a campaigner, has taken leave of absence from Ambassador Oil Company in Fort Worth, Tex., to work as administrative aide at Lyndon Johnson's headquarters, in the Texas' unofficial campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. Electrified Cat Help In Research

LUBBOCK (AP)—A cat with an electrical connector implanted in his skull is contributing to psychology research at Texas Tech.

Dr. James M. Whitehouse, assistant professor of psychology at the college, emphasized the connector causes "no pain, no deviation from most normal cat activities."

The plain old alley cat called "Honey" got wired for electricity about 18 months ago in Salt Lake City, Utah, where Whitehouse was conducting neurological research at a Veterans Administration Hospital.

"The purpose of the experiment is to learn more about how the brain works in the learning process through measurement of its electrical activity."

The device is known as a "pedestal."

"It's actually a standard electrical connector," Whitehouse explained. From it 14 tiny wires extend into portions of the cat's brain.

"One of the surprising things about it is that behavior disturbances from making the implant were so small we couldn't measure them," the doctor said.

The cat is a healthy 15-pounder who rubs affectionately against the legs of visitors and doesn't mind having its pedestal touched.

"Other than being a little dopey from the anesthetic for two or three days after the operation, he showed no ill effects," Whitehouse said.

The implant operation took about 13 hours. It was done by Whitehouse and an assistant.

The shaved off fur has returned, and the pedestal looks almost as if it might have grown from the skull.

Whitehouse's plan is to connect the pedestal to an electroencephalograph, a machine which provides a graphic record of electrical potential changes in the brain.

The psychologist will induce the cat to respond to certain stimuli. One method would be a "leg flexion" response caused after an electrical shock.

Through the repetitive conditioning process, the cat eventually would flex one leg before the shock in order to avoid it. This would be a step in learning.

Lamesan Heads Wayland Board

PLAINVIEW — Wayland Baptist College board of trustees has approved a budget of $838,014.02; elected J. B. McPhaul, Lamesa, chairman; announced that Paul Harvey, ABC news analyst, and the Rev. Mori Hiratani, president of the Hawaii Baptist Convention, will be commencement speakers.

The $838,014 budget for 1960-61 shows an increase of $85,374 over the current budget, according to E. M. Osborne, Plainview, finance chairman. Some $36,000 of the amount represents salary increases for Wayland faculty.

KENNEL KILLING

Enraged Dog Slays His Mistress; Defies Cops

NORTHVALE, N.J. (AP) — A 50-year-old woman was killed today by her pet Doberman pinscher. Police Chief John Gavales said the woman had been chewed to death.

The body of Frances Tetreault, owner of the Augdenberg Kennels, was found badly mauled in front of her house. Northvale is in front Jersey near the New York State line.

Gavales, summoned by an employee of the kennel who discovered the body, found the dog in a state of uncontrollable wildness. Gavales shot the animal with a 12-gauge shotgun.

The body was discovered by Aldo Lulo, 16, of Dumont, who worked at the kennels on week-ends.

Mrs. Tetreault had lived alone in the house with the dog since her husband, Albert, died six months ago. The dog was a full-grown male and a prize winner at dog shows.

Police found the house in complete disarray, with the furnishings overturned and torn. They said the struggle must have started inside the house and ended just outside the front door.

Ballot Place Draw Monday

Howard County Democratic Executive committee meets at 10 a.m. Monday in the Howard County court room to draw candidates names for places on the primary ballot, Frank Hardesty, chairman, said Saturday.

The meeting is open to the public and all candidates are invited to be present.

The executive committee is comprised of the county Democratic chairman and the precinct chairmen from each voting precinct. Generally, executive committee meetings are attended only by a few of the precinct chairmen, Hardesty said.

Names of all contenders in any race are placed in a hat and then drawn one at a time. The order in which they are drawn determines what position the candidate's name will occupy on the May 7 primary ballot.

When the names have been drawn, the committee will prepare the ballot and arrange for its preparation.

There are contests in relatively few races.

The greatest number of candidates is in the race for state representative from this legislative district. There are five candidates seeking this office. Three candidates are in the race for sheriff. Two candidates seek the tax assessor post. Three are asking election as constable Precinct 1, Place 1 and three for Constable Place No. 2.

There are two candidates for each of the two county commission posts to be filled.

Patient Leaps To His Death

ODESSA (AP) — A hospital patient plunged to his death from a medical center here today.

He was identified as Fred Lovorn, 47, who had undergone a major operation about two weeks ago.

A nurse said she heard a noise in the man's hospital room, and asked if anything was wrong. She said the man replied, "No, everything is just fine. Thanks."

About 10 minutes later, at 5:45 a.m., three hospital patients saw the man plunge from his window. Justice of Peace E. E. Nobles ruled suicide. A widow and a child survive.

Firemen were called to extinguish the flames before they got beyond control.

Oldest Cowpoke Has Had A Long And Interesting Life

DALLAS (AP) — When Russell Thorp was a kid he wanted to be a stage coach driver like his dad. By the time he grew to young manhood the train had replaced the stage coach and Thorp became a cattleman instead.

At 82 he is the oldest member of the American Cattleman's Assn.

His career parallels a romantic era of cowmen versus homesteaders, cowman versus sheepman and frontier justice against the rustlers.

He made his first roundup when he was 15 and for more than 50 years he was a rancher and working cowboy.

The Texas trail hands he met in his early days, he says, laid the foundation for the cattle business in Wyoming. He believes it so much that he headed a campaign which resulted in five monuments being placed along the Texas Trail as tribute to the Lone Star cowpokes who ran their herds to Wyoming in the 1880's and 1890's.

But he kept his father's stage coaches and gave one armored treasure coach to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

The early days of the cattle business in Wyoming were filled with cattle rustling and frontier justice. In 1867 in Cheyenne vigilantes hung eight rustlers, shot four trying to escape and sent several others to prison, the leathery cowman recalls.

But the Wyoming Stock Growers Assn. never condoned such tactics as "dry gulching" suspected evil-doers, which was the custom of the time.

Thorp ran cattle in the Black Foot Indian Reservation of Montana and operated two ranches in Wyoming, one of them the Damfino Ranch, with an unusual name as can be found in Western history.

Thorp says he drew out a new brand in the dust one day just after the turn of the century and asked some of his cowboys what to call it.

"Damned if I know," was the same answer he got from all of them, so Damfino was its name.

One of the Wyoming rancher's favorite stories concerns a cowboy going by the name of James Murray in Wyoming in the early days.

The cowpoke wrote Thorp, who then was an official of the Wyoming Stock Growers Assn., and said he wanted to marry a schoolteacher but that he had shot a man in Texas and his real name wasn't Murray. Would Thorp help him clear his name?

Thorp contacted Texas Gov. Hogg, who cleared the cowboy of blame so that he could take back his real name and marry his schoolteacher.

The man, said Thorp, was James Dahlman, who was later to nominate William Jennings Bryan for the presidency and who served as mayor of Omaha longer than any other man.

SHOW CASE

LOOKS AT BOOKS
By Sam Blackburn

Old timers know it by taste as well as by name, but for those who have heard of sourdough without ever knowing what it really was, Edward Everett Dale's "Frontier Ways" (University of Texas Press, Austin 12, $4.50) will clear up the mystery.

The book will shed a lot of light on whimsical pioneer talk which has trickled down through a twilight of modern ways.

Mr. Dale's contribution is in reality a collection of articles he has done for various publications and historical societies. For this reason occasional passages are clearly repetitious.

REAL COWBOYS

This should not deter the reader interested in absorbing more of the real flavor of the frontier, for the author speaks authoritatively. To a heritage of early life on the plains he has added painstakingly accurate and complete job of research on a variety of pioneer modes. He paints the cowboy as he was — a hard-working and generally solid citizen who often fought loneliness with a song and who thrived on meals which would shock a nutritionist but stuck to the ribs.

His chapter on cowboy cookery, with everything from ubiquitous sourdough to slum-gullion, from syrup and bacon grease to coffee that would fatten a horseshoe, will be a delight to those who can still remember how a chuck wagon box lid let down into an efficient table.

STRANGE COUNTRY

Sod houses take on meaning, too, as Dale explains the functional logic of such a shelter. The problem of water and wood (it wasn't the Indians but these twin scarcities which temporarily balked settlers at the edge of the prairie) explains how one stranger, observing a cowhand dig up a mesquite root for a fire and turn a windmill by hand to get water, said he'd never live in a country where you had to dig for wood and climb for water.

In this same rustic humor, another settler from the wooded country gave his uncertain impression of the plains: "I don't rightly know... but it looks to me like the Lord or somebody else has done the best job of clearin' I've ever seen."

Dale furnishes a background, too, for a good old frontier philosophy about land — "While you're gittin', git a-plenty."

BUDDING CULTURE

The chapter on cowboy cookery is matched by another which recalls the home fare of the early days. Dale takes the reader into the close-fellowship of social activities among a people who were starved for company. He also dispels the idea that all pioneers were uncouth bumpkins. Frontiersmen had the good sense to see that the teacher fitted into their scheme of things even if they had to organize a "subscription school."

As for culture, the literary society — frequently with its clear-cut rule — was the backbone of a brave determination to promote the finer things and sharpen the mind. And the pioneer doctor, an intuitive soul who mixed psychology with medicine, is brought to life. So is the old camp meeting with the preacher clapping his hands to accentuate the invitation: "Yes Come! Everybody come!" Or presiding over the mourner's bench: "Glory Hallelujah! The Lord is mighty to save!" And in his book Edward Everett Dale has saved a lot of our heritage in clear, flavorful style.

SC Trojans Steal Show
In West Texas Relays

By DON RIDDLE
ODESSA—Southern California's mighty Trojans stormed to the winners circle with 102 points in the University division of the West Texas Relays in Odessa Saturday.

USC furnished seven of the 17 track and field records broken during the relay meet, breaking performances: USC furnished seven of the 17 track and field records broken during the relay meet, breaking performances:

The mighty Trojans, any times national collegiate champions just now returning to contention after a probationary period, made it the most decisive triumph in the 17 years of this big track and field carnival. They won the university division title by 36 points. Baylor was second with 66 points, Houston third with 55 and Ohio State last with 29.

Discus man Gary Walker didn't make the trip for the Steers due to illness. Walker was due to take the discus crown for Big Spring. Steer 440 yard relay dropped the baton in the preliminaries and didn't even qualify for finals competition. Coach Kelley's 880 yard relay quartet ended second to a speedy Andrews crew. It was the first time the Steers had run the event this year.

Stanton Grabs Fourth Place At Sonora

SONORA (SC)—Ozona won first place in the Sonora Track and Field Meet here Saturday, scoring 111 1/2 points to 92 for Mason, 72 for Sonora and 69 for Stanton.

John Bailey's Stanton team won first places in the low hurdles and discus throw. Norman Donelson copped the hurdles run in 20.4 seconds while Buzzy Brewer was first in the discus with a toss of 132 feet 3 inches.

In the 400-yard run, Roberts of Bula won in the time of 52.4 while Stephenson of Stanton was fourth, having been clocked in 53.9. A team mate, Thompson, finished just back of him.

In the 100-yard dash, Tommy Newman of Stanton finished fourth. Shook of Menard won it in ten second flat, Doran of Ozona was second and Roberts of Bula third.

Stanton's Polson was seventh in the discus with a toss of 109 feet 3 1/2 inches. McMullins of Ozona won the high hurdles in 15.4 while Resor of Eldorado set a record in the mile, winning it in 4:42.0.

Fifth in that event was Church of Stanton, clocked in 5:14. Valles of Sanderson set another record in the 800 when he covered the distance in 2:01.8, another record. Robertson of Stanton was seventh in that race, having been timed in 2:10.3.

Love of Big Lake won the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet 9 inches. Ozona won the sprint relay in the time 4:56. Mason was second, Richard Springs third and Stanton fourth, in the time 4:59. Meard finished back of Stanton.

In the 220-yard dash, Roberts of Bula was first in the time 22.7 seconds while Donelson finished second in 23 second flat. McKissick of Ozona won the pole vault with a leap of 11 feet 6 inches.

Boatman of Mason set a record in the shot put with a toss of 30 feet 4 inches. Brewer of Stanton was third, with a 45-2 effort while Polson of Stanton was fourth, with 44-4 1/2.

Sonora won the mile relay in 3:41.8, followed by Rochelle, Mason and Ozona. Ozona won the sprint medley in the time 1:40.0. Mason was second, Rochelle third and Sonora fourth.

St. Louis Hawks Triumph, 93-89. MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan rescued staggering St. Louis in the fourth period Saturday and the Hawks whipped Minneapolis 93-89 for a 2-1 lead in the National Basketball Assn.'s Western playoffs.

Jayhawks Win Fifth Place In Nationals

HUTCHINSON, Kansas (SC) — Led by Harold Henson, who bucketed 32 points, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks defeated Pueblo JC of Colorado, 75-60, to win consolation laurels in the 1960 National Judo Basketball tournament here Saturday afternoon.

The Hawks in the process of winning their third straight tournament game, jumped into a six point lead and were never headed. They boasted a ten-point bulge at half time.

Henson, who staged a consistently great show in the tournament, wound up with 32 points. Dean and Coulter each had 17 for Pueblo.

The Hawks won a big trophy, one of a dozen given away during the meet. Tom Garrison tossed in 13 points for the Texans while Jimmy Evans and Ronald Weeks each counted ten.

The Hawks hit 46 per cent of half and a sensational 72 per cent of the last half. For their shots from the field the first meet as a result of the defeat.

Doug Pendergraft of Lindsey Wilson JC, Kentucky, scored a sensational 63 points as his team defeated Grand View of Des Moines, Iowa, for fourth place in the tournament. Grand View ended Friday with an 85-69 victory over Broome Tech of Binghamton, N. Y., while Pueblo was turning back Henry Ford JC of Dearborn, Mich., 62-59.

In the Friday contest, Henson tossed in 30 points for Howard County while Tom Garrison had 17, Bob Shirey 12, Kenneth Day 11, Ronald Weeks seven and Bill Edwards and Ken Clearman four each.

HCJC ended its season with a 34-4 won-lost record, greatest in the history of the season. In the consolation finals, Curtis Jimeron, former El Paso Austin star, scored 14 points for Pueblo.

Coach Buddy Travis planned to have his team leave Hutchinson at 6 a. m. today and drove all the way home today. HCJC ended its season with a 34-4 won-lost record, greatest in the history of the season.

Morrow Suffers Double Defeat

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Olympian Bobby Morrow suffered a surprising double loss in the San Angelo Relays Saturday as Texas captured the university division crown and Abilene the schoolboy title.

Morrow, former Abilene Christian College sprinter bowed twice to Jimmy Weaver, formerly of North Texas State, in special 100- and 200-meter dashes.

Weaver ran the 100 meters in 16.5 and the 200 around one curve in 21 seconds. Morrow finished 2 yards back in the 100 meters and a yard behind in the longer race.

Texas scored 69 2-3 points against 47 1-3 for second-place Abilene Christian in the university division. North Texas State tallied 29 1-3, Texas Tech 24 1-3, Southern Methodist 11 1-3 and Texas Christian 2.

Seven records fell in the university division and four in the high school division. ACC and Texas tied for first in the mile relay, running a dead heat in 3:12.2, and John Cooper of North Texas hit the tape at 4:14.9 in the mile. These were new records.

North Texas raced to a new standard of 3:21.7 in the sprint medley. Three collegians, David Clark of North Texas, Dexter Elkins of SMU and Bayliss Bennett of Texas shared a new pole vault mark of 14 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Ray Cunningham of Texas posted a record of 14.1 seconds in the 120-yard high hurdles. Another hurdles mark of 14.4 was set earlier in the day by Bob Swafford of Texas Tech, running in the preliminaries.

ACC ripped off a 40.3 in the 440-yard relay to break the 40.5 set by Texas here last year, and Jimmy Allison of Texas broke his old discus record with a toss of 153 feet, 3 inches.

High school records were posted by Abilene in the sprint medley relay, Jimmy Maroney of Snyder in the 100, Stanley Woolver in the

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Harold Davis, the former HCJC cage mentor, is seeing the country. He's now in San Francisco, attending the NCAA convention, and watched the finals of the NCAA basketball playoffs this weekend. Davis has cancelled out that proposed trip to the West Coast for his Texas Western team next season, because he couldn't get the kind of games he sought. Bob Rogers, the present Texas A&M basketball coach, was once an applicant for the head coaching job at Hutchinson High School in Kansas. Mel Seelye was chosen for the job. Sonny Liston, who fights Cleveland Williams in Houston Monday night, finds it next to impossible to hire sparring partners, even at $25 a day. Big Spring's Wilson Bell, who played first base on the Steer baseball team, is trying out as an outfielder with the Texas Tech freshmen. He's one of four District 2-AAAA products out for the Picador team and one of 37 boys issued uniforms at the Lubbock school. There's a move in the National Football League to change the name of the Cardinals, now that the franchise has all but been moved from Chicago to St. Louis. One observer wants to call them the Mudcats, because their stadium will be located near the Mississippi River. Miami, one of the nation's fastest growing cities, has but one municipal golf course. My information is that the ex-Big Springer, Billy Maxwell, must win one of the next two pro golf tournaments or be ineligible for the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, Nev., which takes place May 5-8. Every entry at Las Vegas is assured of a $1,000 purse, plus free accommodations. Odessa High School will play non-conference football games with Amarillo High, Tom S. Lubbock, Port Arthur, El Paso Austin and Wichita Falls this year while Odessa Permian will meet Pasadena, Amarillo Tascosa, Lubbock Monterey, Snyder and Sweetwater. After landing the head football coaching job at the University of California, Marv Levy remarked: "It seems like California fans were expecting Jayne Mansfield and Ma Kettle showed up." Levy was an alternate choice.

Williams in Houston Monday night, finds it next to impossible to hire sparring partners, even at $25 a day. Big Spring's Wilson Bell, who played first base on the Steer baseball team, is trying out as an outfielder with the Texas Tech freshmen. Barrera To Try For Olympic Team

Big Spring's W. O. (Junior) Maxwell recently teamed with Berger's Joe Houck in a one-day pro partnership golf tournament at the Lubbock Country Club. Together, they shot a 78 on a wind-swept course, finishing five strokes off the winning pace. It goes without saying that Texas Tech picked up quite a foothold recently when it signed Lamesa's Howard Westmoreland. Howard is the young man who spurred Lamesa to a 35-0 win over Big Spring last fall. Westmoreland scored a total of 183 points in 1959, despite the fact that he was injured part of the season. Vernon Harton, who recently was named high school basketball coach, figures he can supplement his income to the tune of about $3,000 annually if he decides to become a full time cage official. Lefty Barrera, the lone Texan to win a Golden Gloves championship in the Tournament of Champions at Chicago this year, wants to win a berth on the 1960 U. S. Olympic team. The Olympic boxing trials will take place in Pocatello, Idaho, next month. He has a scholarship offer from the University of Wisconsin. Bear Bryant, the former Texas A&M football coach, is driving a new automobile, the gift of Alabama football fans. Gus Triandos, the splendid catcher for the Baltimore Orioles, was charged with 28 passed balls in American League games last season, 24 of which came in games in which knuckleball artist Hoyt Wilhelm was on the mound. Bally Ache, the champion race horse, fell to that name because his trainer was peeved at the Jockey Club for rejecting five other names suggested for him. "It's a belly ache over getting a name for a horse," the trainer moaned. The horse's owner, Leonard Frechman, overheard him and decided to capitalize on the remark, making it Bally Ache because Ballydam was the animal's sire.

How About New Clock For Stadium?

When the veteran local bowler, Luke LeBlau, observed his 65th birthday during the City Tournament here recently, he and Noble White were leading in doubles competition with a 1258. American League (baseball) owners are not overly pleased with the reception the fans have given the Kansas City Athletics since the franchise was moved there from Philadelphia. There's some talk the club will eventually be moved to Los Angeles but Houston can probably obtain the team, if the people there will quit their squabbling and start their stadium. The Baltimore Orioles are becoming disenchanted with Miami as a training base and may move their base of operations. Miamians simply won't turn out to see the O's. The Chamber of Commerce in Odessa will sponsor that Dec. 1-3 junior college basketball tournament proposed by Larry McCulloch, the former Big Springer. Dickie Moegle, the former Rice Institute football great who was traded recently by the San Francisco 49ers to Pittsburgh, is currently managing a new motor hotel in Houston. Ward Yee, who fought bantamweight boxing champion Jose Bocerra in San Antonio last week, has now lost five of his last six bouts. Frank Clause, whom you've seen on your TV screen several times lately, is a former high school history teacher. I wish that some organization here would follow the example of the Midland High School senior class of 1960, which is providing the school with a new basketball scoreboard. And, while I'm at it, Memorial Stadium here will never look like a first class arena until it has an up-to-date clock. The one now in use does not work a good portion of the time. Mitchell Malouf, the retiring coaching aide here, says he thinks the BSHS golf team is capable of winning the district championship by 1961. The Steer linksters have come a long way since last season. One stroke behind the leaders was white hatched Joe Campbell of New York, with Ted Kroft of Sarasota, Fla., playing his first golf since last November, alone at 68. Twenty-one players bettered the par 36 - 36 - 72 of the 6,329-yard Lakewood course and 16 more in the field of 150 equaled it. The weather was ideal and the course in surprising good condition considering the beating it took from the storm. Gary Middlecoff of Hollywood, Fla., who won last year with a

BUSTER WEAVER ABOARD GO-KART

Weaver Opens Go-Kart Track West Of City

If Go-Karts are the coming things in sports, then Big Spring is going to be well equipped for the endeavor. B. G. (Buster) Weaver has built a circular asphalt track of between 650 and 700 feet in length, located approximately three miles west of the city, just off Interstate Highway 20. Weaver figures the track cost him between $2,000 and $3,000 and he will invest more in it, if the expected interest shown in it comes up to expectations. The track is across the highway and west of the Sahara Drive-in theatre and beyond the Halliburton plant. The track formally opens at 12 noon today. Present plans call for it to be open on Sundays only but Weaver indicated he might install lights, contingent on the business he has at his regular sessions. The Go-Kart track ranges from 14 to 18 feet in width. It is wider and banked somewhat on the curves. Weaver said he probably would sponsor regular race programs during the spring and summer. A Go-Kart—a trade name for a popular little vehicle that boasts a motor, four wheels, a stripped-down frame and not much else—generally can be geared for speeds up to 25 and 30 miles per hour. Some can be made to go much faster but excessive speeds aren't recommended. One of the purposes of the Go-Kart has been serving as a teaching youngsters the art of safe driving. Manipulation of the little vehicles isn't difficult to learn and Weaver will soon offer driving lessons to those who do want to try the sport. The sport appeals to anyone from six years to 60 and more and more adults are taking to it. It's estimated that about 20 persons here already own Go-Karts. They cost anywhere from $149 to $700. Those who drive the vehicles—on Weaver's track, at least—will be required to wear goggles and helmet for safety reasons. Weaver himself plans to open an agency for Go-Karts. The vehicles are already being sold here by one other concern. Earlier this year, a meeting was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Porter for the purpose of organizing a Go-Kart Club in Big Spring. An election of officers was held and the following officers were named: President: Jerold Cox; vice president: Mr. Pat Porter; secretary - treasurer: Mrs. Pat Porter. A meeting day of Tuesday was selected with the meetings to be held weekly. However, since that time an amendment has been made which will have the meetings to be held at 7:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month. The meetings, up to date, have been held in the homes of the members and will continue to be so until a definite place has been established at which to meet. Charter members of the "Two-Strokers" are: Jerold and Betty Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Porter, Rex and Joyce Kennedy and Gordon Myrick. Junior members are Vickie Cox and Richard Kennedy. The name of the club, "Two-Strokers", was chosen as being representative of the fact that only two-cycle engines are eligible for competition and racing under the national rules. The National Go-Kart Club of America headquarters in Azusa, California, and has published a full set of rules and regulations to be followed by all race tracks that operate under the auspices of the NGKA. The United States has been divided into regions under these rules, and Big Spring is included in the Permian Basin Region. Howard Reed of Odessa is the regional advisor for this area. As yet, the "Two-Strokers" are not affiliated with the NGKA, but plans to make application for membership in the near future. For any information that is desired concerning the club or Go-Karts in general, Jerold Cox, either of the Pat Porters or any member of the "Two-Strokers" can be contacted.

Everett's Seventh Inning Smash Sinks Plainsmen

LUBBOCK (SC)—Donnie Everett's two-out home run smash in the seventh inning broke up a scoreless deadlock and propelled the Big Spring Steers past the Monterey Plainsmen here Friday afternoon. Final score was 1-0. The LeFevre twins, Jay and Zay, teamed up to hurl the win for Big Spring. Between them, they yielded only two hits, a third-inning single by Ronnie Ayers and a fourth inning single off the bat of Gerald Mowery. Jack Irons had popped out and Coy Mitchell took a third strike before Everett came to bat in the final inning for the Longhorns and drove the ball past the right and center fielders. It was his third home run smash of the campaign. Between them, Jay and Zay struck out 14 of them in his five-inning stint on the hill. Zay received credit for the victory, because he was in the game when Everett smashed his decisive blow. Jay retired the opposition on strikes in two different innings. Outside of Everett, Jimmy Roger, Coy Mitchell and Bob Andrews collected hits for Big Spring off Moose Dudley, the Lubbock pitcher. Dudley fanned nine batters himself.

Pirates Dissolve Detroit, 7-4

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates turned loose a seventh inning home run barrage off Tom Morgan and beat the Detroit Tigers Saturday 7-4. Dick Stuart dissolved a 3-3 tie with a booming blast over the center field fence after Bob Skinner's single. Bob Oldis followed with a towering fly over the left field fence. M. Marion Sings Blues At Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—The rangy ballhand the St. Louis Cardinals called M. Marion. Shortstop for so many years is taking his lumps as a front office man. Public sentiment admits Marty Marion, has turned against the American Assn. Houston Buffs in the wake of Buff dealings with Continental League franchise holders. Marion is president of the Triple A club which set some kind of a record in losing 104 games last year, its first in the expanded loop. Continental owners have unsuccessfully sought the Buff baseball territorial rights. "It is difficult to sell season tickets, radio and television rights and fence and scorecard advertising," Marion observed. He says the club has called in a publicity outfit to help. "But we feel the best way we can convince the people that we are sincere in our operation is to have a winning ball club and we feel we are going to have that type of team this year," he said. The Buffs have a working agreement this season with the Chicago Cubs. "In the meantime," Marion said, "Our stockholders are prepared to lose money this season if things turn out that way." The club dropped deep into the red last season. Marion and Milton Fischman of St. Louis bought the club for $100,000 from the Cardinal organization in 1958. Late last season they sold 80 per cent interest to a 16-man Texas syndicate with terms calling for Marion to continue as president under a $25,000 a year contract. Syndicate spokesmen have said they bought in in hopes the club would gain a berth in either the American or National League via the expansion route. Marion first placed a price tag of about $400,000 on the Buffs when they opened merger talks several months ago with the Houston Sports Assn., owners of the local Continental franchise. Continental operators termed the figure ridiculous but the two groups admittedly had reached terms when the Buffs broke off negotiations.

Closed Circuit TV To Get Test

HOUSTON (AP)—An experiment in televised closed circuit boxing in Texas begins Monday night with a 10-round heavyweight scrap between Sonny Liston and Cleveland Williams. The San Houston Coliseum main event also will be shown by closed circuit at 10 p.m. as part of boxing cards in Dallas and San Antonio. The sponsoring Texas Boxing Enterprises Inc. of Houston hopes eventually to extend the closed circuit network to other Texas cities such as El Paso, Austin and Fort Worth. Liston, the No. 2 heavyweight challenger, is to receive at least $25,000 for his rematch with Williams, the No. 10 contender.

Abilene Eagles Triumph, 5-4

ABILENE (SC)—The Abilene Eagles defeated Dallas Hillcrest, 5-4 in a baseball exhibition here Friday afternoon. The Eagles trailed, 4-2, going into the fifth inning but rallied to tie the count then and scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth when catcher Rip Thomas scored on a fly ball hit by Jim Ogden. Bradley Wins NI Cage Title

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Classy Bradley, trailing by 12 points with 10 minutes left, swept back with a brilliant rally Saturday and won its second National Invitation Basketball Tournament in four years with an 88-72 victory over Providence. Utah State won third place, whipping St. Bonaventure 99-83 as Jerry Schofield had 32 points and Cornell Green 26 to steal the play from the Bonnies' sharpshooting pair of Tom and Sam Stith. A badly beaten, sour-shooting team until the closing minutes, with Chet Walker playing only sporadically, the Braves outscored Providence 38-10 in the last 10 minutes. With 5:21 left, Walker came back into the game after having played only 11 minutes until then. Providence, an underrated gang of opportunists, still held a 66-63 lead after blowing a 62-50 advantage with 10 minutes remaining. Big Chet, a 6-foot-7 sophomore who has been ill since shortly after he drank a glass of orange juice Thursday, was just the shot in the arm Bradley needed. Within the next 3 minutes he grabbed four big rebounds and scored on a three-point play while the Braves started their rush. Two free throws by Johnny Egan made it 70-67 for Providence with 4:23 to play and then the Friars from Rhode Island wilted. Four free throws by Al Saunders pushed Bradley into its first lead of the game 71-70 and the seed-seeded club quickly made it a rout by outscoring the Friars 21-3 the rest of the way. Walker scored only nine points but he played no more than 17 or 18 minutes and got 7 of those 9 points in the late drive. Before that, it was the sharpshooting of soph Mack Herndon that kept the Braves even close against a Providence team that gets its drive from a dazzling backcourt pair of Egan and Len Wilkens. Wilkens, voted the tournament's most valuable player award, had 25 points before fouling out in the late minutes. Egan had 20, and between them and the good board play of 6-foot-10 Jim Hadnot, it looked for a long time as if Bradley was going to be a beaten finalist for the second straight year. The Braves, after winning the NIT in 1957, were top-seeded last year when they lost to unseeded St. John's (N.Y.) in an overtime final. Bradley, the only team to beat top-ranked Cincinnati during the regular season, wound up with a 27-2 record. Providence, which had won 11 in a row, finished at 24-5. In the consolation game Utah State fell 9 points behind St. Bonaventure before discovering a big opening in the Bonnies' close-in defense. Then Schofield, a 6-foot-3 senior from Columbus, Ind., and Green, a 6-foot-4 soph from Richmond, Calif., went to work. The Bonnies got 29 points from Tom Stith and 19 from brother Sam. Utah State finished with a 24-5 record and the Bonnies with 21-5.

Announcing ... OUR OLDS-GMC SALES & SERVICE Management Team
Introducing Mr. H. W. (Jobey) Jobe who has recently joined our organization as New and Used Car Sales Manager. 'Jobey' came from Lamesa, Texas, where he has been associated with the Nix Motor Co. as sales manager for the past nine years, selling and servicing Oldsmobile and Cadillac automobiles. We feel fortunate in securing Mr. Jobe for our Sales Manager since he is so well qualified, and is no stranger to a great number of the people in this part of West Texas. We invite you to see 'Jobey' for the best deal on a new Olds or GMC.
Mr. Justin Holmes, who has been with Shroyer Motor for the past 17 years, has had the opportunity to learn every phase of the business, having served in all departments at one time or another. His knowledge has grown through years of training, experience and personal contact with our many friends and customers. Automotive training at the General Motors Institute came early in his career and helped prepare him for numerous special schools conducted by Oldsmobile and GMC which he attended. With this background he has acquired all the necessary qualifications to fill the most difficult position in the automobile business—that of an expert Service Manager. Mr. Holmes has, therefore, accepted this position full time due to popular request from his many friends and customers. He invites you to come in soon!

331st Has First Dining-In Since Coming To WAFB

A formal banquet at the Webb Officers' Open Mess last week marked the first Dining-In held by the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron since it moved from Newburgh, N. Y., to Webb nearly two years ago.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Vernon N. Vannett, an F-106 production test pilot for Convair Corporation. Wing Commander, Col. Donald W. Eisenhower, Deputy Wing Commander, Col. James A. Johnson, Lt. Col. Beverly A. Pearson, installations group commander, and Maj. Asa Adair, commander of the 3561st Flight Line Maintenance Squadron, were among the honored guests.

Vannett was no stranger to Webb. His four years service as an Air Force pilot, 1949 to 1953, included a year of duty here as an instructor pilot in the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron.

He gave an illustrative talk on the F-102, dealing with its capabilities and its characteristics.

Vannett also spoke on the F-100 Delta Dart, and showed two films on both planes.

In the absence of the squadron commander, Lt. Col. Dick M. Crowell, Maj. Willard A. Mason Jr., acting CO for the 331st, served as Dining-In president. First Lt. William E. Hunt was vice president and Capt. Florence G. Riley gave the invocation.

Methodist Men Install Officers

Wesley Methodist Men installed officers for the new year when they met Thursday evening for a dinner in the recreation room of the church. Wives were guests at the affair.

Ray Eckler was installed as president. Serving with him will be J. D. O'Barr, vice president; A. D. Meador, treasurer; and Charlie R. Richards, secretary. The Rev. Royce Womack conducted the installation ceremony.

The Rev. C. W. Parmenter, former pastor, led the devotion. Past president Frank Arner was presented with a pin for his service to the group.

TRADE WINDS

Cattle Move, More Farm Jobs Offered

Livestock truckers have been busier than in several months, as cattle move to feedlots and to market. Homer Wilkerson of the Wilkerson Trucking Company says the firm has a lot more business than a few weeks ago.

He says many ranchers have held cattle about as long as they need to, and are now moving them. The company has been taking some livestock to the Los Angeles market.

Wilkerson doesn't get much of the hauling to feed lots up north, as most of this is done by rail.

New Compacts

A couple more new cars came to Big Spring recently. Bob's Imported Cars on West Fourth unveiled the Peugeot, a French wagon that has been well known in Europe for several years but had not been sold over here.

One difference between the Peugeot and several other imports is that it comes fully equipped with such things as a clock, reclining seats and the more standard features found on American cars. It is a bit heavier than the Renault, which has been the main item at Bob's Imported Cars.

The second car, which made its appearance this week, is the Comet. It's a brand new model, made by the Mercury Division of the Ford Motor Company, and is sold locally by Truman Jones.

In appearance it looks like a slenderized version of the Falcon, but is slightly larger bodywise. Jones sold one the first two days and has orders for others. The Comets are already getting in full production, according to Donald Denton of the Truman Jones Company, and dealers are assured of getting all they can sell.

Farm Jobs

These jobs won't appeal to many people, but plenty of common labor openings will be available in April. Sugar beet farmers in Colorado are scouring the country in search of field hands. They have agents at Lubbock and are also working through the local Texas Employment Commission. Jack Hatch, farm labor representative at the office, says these agents will even pay a family's car license now, and then advance money for the trip north when the time comes.

"They want all the workers they can get," said Hatch, "and are eager to contact crew leaders. The biggest demand is for workers to go to Northern Colorado, but there are also jobs in Nebraska, Wyoming and Montana. After the sugar beet hoeing is over, workers can find other farm work and likely stay on until cold weather." The sugar beet growers will hire both men and women, and may work children 14 years or older. Most of the work is paid for by the acre. One quotation says the grower will pay $14.50 for hoeing and finger-thinning an acre of beets.

Sunset Sells

The Sunset Motor Lines of San Angelo has been sold to the Consolidated Copperstate Lines of Los Angeles for a price of $2,885,000. The purchaser got all the hauling franchises, 647 pieces of equipment and will use the same employees.

Sunset has been coming through Big Spring for 20 years, and most of that time has had an office in the south part of town. Local manager is Jack Pearson, who has been here 14 years. He said there would likely be no change in methods or personnel.

Sunset Motor Lines was started by W. J. Crowley in the early 1920's. From a few bob-tailed trucks, it grew to be one of the major trucking firms of the state, and is now operating through 300 Texas points.

Its total gross in 1959 was $7,900,000.

TESCO Assures Fuel

Texas Electric Service Company last week announced the awarding of a contract to H. B. Zachary Company of San Antonio and the O. R. Burden Construction, Tulsa, Okla., for a 370-mile natural gas pipeline from the Gulf Coast to Fort Worth and Graham.

Cost of the project, in the name of TESCO's wholly-owned subsidiary, Old Ocean Fuel Company, is $25,000,000. Ultimately the price will scale up to 29½ cents CFM. Reason for the investment, according to J. B. Thomas, TESCO president, is to assure adequate supplies to meet the anticipated growth in West Texas areas and growth means TESCO will need to come up with more power.

In order to make power, the company must have a dependable supply of natural gas, because it takes energy to produce energy. For instance, when the line is carrying its capacity of 250,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, that will represent $53,750 of gas at the lowest rate every 24 hours. If this seems like a lot of gas, consider the fact that the Fort Worth plants and the new plant at Graham alone will gobble up $15,800 worth of natural gas every day.

Blind Businessman

The shoplifter is no respecter of persons. He or she will steal from the rich or poor — or even the blind. One of the blind men in business here says people will steal from him quicker than from anyone else because they can get by with it.

This is Courtney G. Davies, who has kept a shine parlor and news stand since 1929. He has operated Courtney's on West Fourth since 1939, and before that had a place on Runnels.

"I've really been in business since 1923," he said, "when my father put in a confectionery on Second Street." Courtney was born blind, 57 years ago, but at the age of seven he was carried to Scotland by a Dr. McReynolds, where surgeons restored one-third of the boy's eye sight. This lasted until about four years ago when he became ill and was prescribed some medicine.

That, he believes, caused his eyes to worsen, and now he can see very little — mostly distinguishing between light and dark. Even though people take advantage of Courtney, he has not lost his faith in humanity. He is an avowed Christian and works for the blind associations of Texas. For the last two years he has had Thomas Lee Butler with him, where Butler helps run things and keeps an eye on shoplifters.

Business has dwindled somewhat, and partly because of the street changes. Fourth Street is now a one-way artery where west-bound traffic takes off from the Fourth and Gregg traffic light with a roar and speeds by his place. "I'm making a living, though," he explained, "and can still put a good shine on a pair of shoes. It doesn't take much to keep a blind man. Many things that other people spend money on wouldn't be of much use to us."

GARDEN TALK

Simplest Way To Start Lawn Is Still The Best

A question most often asked me is: "How can I start a lawn?"

There are many ways to do this and most of them are good, just as there are many ways to go to another town, but there is one direct way that is shorter and faster than all the rest. It is the method I use whenever I can.

First, to get bermuda grass to make a lawn you have to have five consecutive days of 80 degree weather, spread the seed broadcast over the soil, and then keep it moist until the grass is growing.

That is all there is to it with a couple of possible exceptions. It is good to plant on firm earth, and then rake the surface after the seed is planted. This covers the seed lightly, removes rocks and trash, and leaves the area neat in appearance.

Now because this is so very simple, most people prefer to go to great lengths of digging, fertilizing, packing and extra raking. All these things serve some purpose, but the end result is the same. The best time to fertilize is after the grass begins to really grow, and it should be applied during watering to prevent burn. Both seed and fertilizer can be best broadcast by hand, and should be spread sparingly. Both seed and plant food go farther than one realizes.

The best month to begin a lawn is June, but I have had good results until mid-August. Don't ever rake a lawn after the seed begins to sprout. An entire lawn can be destroyed very easily by raking just after seed germinate. There will be many weeds coming up along with the grass, and the larger of these can be cut with a hoe just before the first mowing, but usually mowing the grass will also control the weeds if there is a solid stand of young grass. Spot seeding of the bare spaces helps give a quick even cover.

James H. Stephens Eligible For UT Honor Fraternity

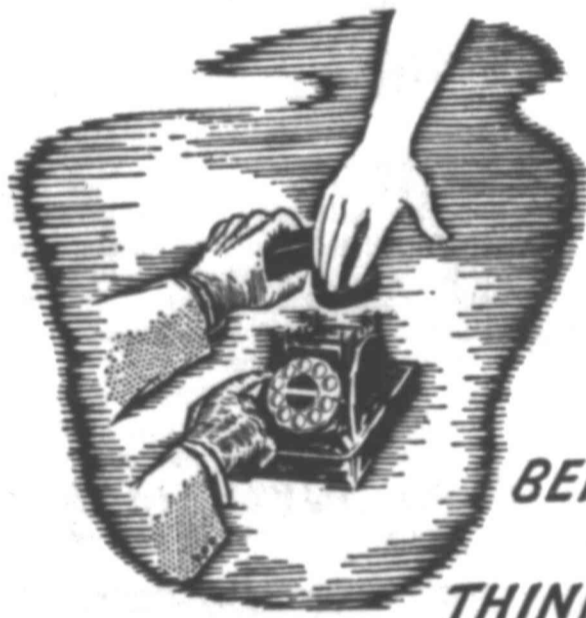

James Howard Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stevens, 1507 Eleventh Place, has been declared eligible for the honorary fraternity Psi Eta Sigma. He will be duly installed as a member on April 21. A banquet at the Driscoll Hotel in Austin will precede the installation. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens plan to attend.

James Howard was one of 128 freshmen in the school architecture eligible for the fraternity. In order to be eligible the students must average 2.5 in all his subjects for one or two semesters. James Howard graduated at B. J. Spring high school in 1959. He was an honor student in his high school career and 8th in his class at graduation. He won much recognition for his outstanding work in Hi-Y activities and was president of the organization for two years.

He was also president of the student body in high school in 1959 and at one time was president of four organizations in the school.

CARD OF THANKS
So many cards, letters, flowers, personal calls and other expressions of concern for the recovery of our mother have come our way that we shall be eternally grateful. We are happy to report that she is able to be back home and is making satisfactory progress. Thanks for every thought and prayer in her behalf.

The family of Mrs. T. S. Currie

BEFORE you call...
THINK for yourself..

If you're undecided as to which funeral director to call, there are probably various questions which you've been unable to answer for yourself. For one thing, you may be wondering:

"How many people are on the staff, and what is their training, their ideals, their experience?"

There are six people in our organization... trained, licensed and experienced men and women always ready to serve at any hour of the day or night. The people here are your friends and neighbors who serve as friends would serve, at a time when friendship means the most.

Suddenly It's Spring

NOTHING SMARTER FOR SPRING than black and white checks such as the tiny ones which make the suit chosen by Mrs. Arch Carson, above. Smoked pearl buttons highlight the cropped box jacket topping the slim skirt. A white chiffon scarf softens the high neckline and a bright modified cloche with a perky feather adds just the right touch of color. Note the tiny pearl buckle that decorates the patent pumps worn by Mrs. Carson to accompany her patent bag.

AN UNUSUAL COMBINATION OF COLORS is to be found in this full-skirted frock of tie silk, which Mrs. Hilton Sherrad, at right, wears. Of handkerchief print, the dress is a mixture of blue, green, white and orchid. The flattering stand-up collar shows a blue band that extends down the entire front of the costume. Orchid velvet forms the band around the very small white straw hat, which is topped with tiny grape clusters and leaves.

A LARGE RED ROSE AND GREEN LEAVES are the sole ornamentation on the textured silk after-five dress which Mrs. James Duncan chose. In off-white, the frock is simple in the way that makes it the most eye-catching. A low scoop neckline in front is repeated in the back of the sheath. Accessories are the jewels of crystal and white and the brief mink stole for early spring evenings.

Photos by Keith McMillin

DUSTY TAN AND PALE BEIGE—a lovely twosome shade for this sport outfit of cotton. Woven dots brighten the beige blouse with its open collar, worn with the tapered ankle pants of dusty tan. Watch pockets adorn the slender pants and the flats repeat the beige of the blouse. A straw hat is just the thing for wear in the garden or on the lake for fishing, says Mrs. Raymond Hale, at left.

A TEXAS FASHION is the full-skirted frock of Mrs. Gene Moore, at right, which she wears with a most flattering bonnet type hat. The smooth straw is puffed in folds to make a high crown which joins the easy-to-wear brim. In black, it emphasizes the black ric-rac braid trim on the cuffs and medium wide belt. The brick red print of the dress is interspersed with small figures of pale yellow; a white vest is inset with a ric-rac border, making a flattering note for the brunette beauty of Mrs. Moore.

BLOCKS OF PRINT on a gray background make this very crisp cotton for wear now and for carrying over into the warm summer months. A pretty detail is the gathering at each sleeve, giving it a fullness to be tucked into the wide cuff, which is fastened with two tiny smoked buttons. Pleats in small clusters make the full skirt, and a demure touch is added by the black ribbon tie at the collar. Black and white patent pumps, white shortie gloves and black patent bag with a black straw beret complete the ensemble worn by Peggy Darrow.

Secret Of Dieting

Patti Page tells how she went down from a size 12 to a size 8 in today's Hollywood Beauty. "Exchanging bad eating habits for good ones is the secret of successful dieting," she says. In "Elmer Gantry" for Columbia Pictures, Patti plays her first straight dramatic role.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Patti Page Discusses Dieting, Good Styles

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — One of the greatest pleasures in life is the joy of accomplishment, and it is understandable that Patti Page smiles contentedly when she confesses that her problem with her weight is a thing of the past.
 Some people go through life talking about the diet they never go on and carry a wish for a good figure that is never realized.
 "What is your secret for staying slender?" I asked Patti, as we chatted on the set of "Elmer Gantry."
 "I suppose you could sum it up as resolving not to make the same mistakes twice," Patti revealed. "Overeating is what makes you fat, and that was a habit I decided to break. My stomach shrank while I was on a rigid diet and I didn't intend to stretch it again.
 "I manage to enjoy what I eat but I am a calorie counter. Each person has to discover what maintains his weight—mine is 1500 calories a day. I have counted calories so long that I can almost estimate a meal by looking at it.
 "You can't fight a diet. You have to experiment until you hit on a plan you are happy following. What works for me is having a light breakfast, for I'm never hungry in the morning. A healthful but light lunch such as cottage cheese, ground-round patty or a salad and then a really nice three-course dinner with a highball first."
 "Do you weigh every day?" I asked.
 "No. I feel that a more accurate way is to go by my waistline. If my skirt feels slightly snug, I cut down on my eating."
 "Do you think the mental side of dieting is important?"
 "Of course," Patti exclaimed. "If too many relatives or friends are trying to get you to lose weight, it can build up a block. I know I was awfully stubborn. Until you want to be thinner, you won't deny yourself the things you like to eat. One of the big pitfalls is the snacks, soft drinks—the things you nibble on when you watch TV. Now if I feel hungry between meals, I take consomme on the rocks or a glass of skim milk.

 "My husband (Charlie O'Curran) was the first one who inspired me to lose weight," she confided. "He didn't stress the point but said that he thought I would photograph better if I were thinner. When I saw myself on TV, I agreed with him and that was the beginning. I wore a size 12 then and now for three years I've worn an 8.
 "I had hoped to wear gorgeous clothes in this picture, but I'm in a Salvation Army uniform all the time," she added.
 We chatted about clothes and I asked her opinions on fashion.
 "I think you are on the road to being well dressed when you learn the difference between a plain dress and a simple one," Patti observed. "It takes an experienced eye to know why an untrimmed sheath costs hundreds. The secret lies in the tailoring, fit and the way it holds its shape."
 "Another important thing to learn is to choose clothes that are suited to you. Until I saw myself on TV, I never fully appreciated how unflattering the wrong length sleeve or the shape of a neckline could be."
 Patti gives the impression of being a very relaxed person, but sometimes a calm exterior is a front that conceals a nervous nature. When I asked about it Patti replied:
 "I'm not a worrier, and I try not to get upset over trifles. You learn to get along with people at an early age when you are one of 11 children. You can't live peacefully under one roof unless you have an appreciation of another's point of view."
 "I've been told that you are very easy to get along with."
 "I try," Patti admitted. "I work at being prompt and patient, as I find impatience very rude. It stems from lack of consideration.

WEBB WINDSOCK

MUCH MERRIMENT was evident at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Bill Semler Friday night. Members of "H" Flight were being entertained at a buffet supper. Baked ham with all the trimmings was served.
 MRS. CHARLES HUGHES recently had her mother, Mrs. Frank Schane for a visit. Nancy's mother is from Pittsburg.
 MRS. CURTIS WESTPHAL was hostess at a bridge party given in her home for the members of "E" Flight and other guests. High score for the evening was awarded to Mrs. Walter Fink Jr., Mrs. Robert Evans won second high.
 CAPT. AND MRS. ALAN Boughton gave a going-away bridge party for Capt. and Mrs. Kenneth Nellermeo. Capt. Nellermeo will be attending Instructor Pilot Instrument School at Waco, for the next 10 weeks. Dee will be joining him this weekend to spend the remainder of the time in Waco.
 THE WEDDING OF Lt. Jeanmary Kocher to Lt. Tom Straub was a high point in the month for the Medical Group and the 331st Fighter Squadron. It was a very beautiful wedding, and we wish them both many many years of happiness. We advise the Medical Group not to think of it as losing a nurse but rather as gaining a fighter pilot.
 FIRST LT. AND MRS. PAUL IVES are spending two weeks in Palestine, with Paul's family while awaiting their orders. We will be really sorry to see them go—we'll miss Carol volunteering for all kinds of jobs—but we hope anyway that they enjoy their next station.
 LT. AND MRS. KURT BEHRENDT will be leaving us, too, for GCL School. They haven't been here very long and we have enjoyed their friendliness so much, and now we are going to miss them. They have just spent a few weeks visiting family in Nebraska and Florida.
 CAPT. AND MRS. SHORT and Lt. and Mrs. Donald Thiel are "thinking ahead" which is something more of us should do. They made a trip down to the Magic Valley in South Texas where they have decided to buy some land. It will be an investment now and maybe the start of a home in the future.
 LT. AND MRS. HENRY LACKEY had a glamorous vacation in Phoenix and Las Vegas. They had a delightful time even though they didn't win any money — not even enough to pay those

NSA Seminar Attracts A Local Group

Local members of the National Secretaries Association were in Lubbock Saturday where they attended a seminar, sponsored by the Caprock Chapter.
 Included in the group were Mrs. Billy Mac Sheppard, Mrs. Camille Patterson, Mrs. Leslie Green, Mrs. Bobby Asbury, Helen Hurt, Marguerite Cooper, Mrs. George Thorburn, Mrs. Leon Kinsey, Mrs. Bill Horne, and Mrs. J. E. Smith.
 Based on the theme, "Learn a Better Living," the session was held at Lubbock Christian College. Assembled for the program were such studies as an improvement in letterwriting, better living and the right ways to conduct an interview.
 Exhibits of various types were viewed by the visitors.
Rook Club Meets
 Mrs. A. C. Bass was hostess to the Rook Club Friday afternoon when two guests joined the 10 members for games. Mrs. J. E. Brown and Mrs. Loyd Harp were the guests. Daffodils were used in the table decorations. Mrs. Loyd Branon will be hostess at the meeting on April 15.

Yellow, White Theme Used For Baby Party

A yellow and white color scheme was noted in decorations for the baby shower given Friday evening for Mrs. Delbert Simpson and her six-week-old adopted son, Gary Don.
 About 60 guests called at the home of Mrs. Monroe Gafford for the tea, where gifts were presented to the honorees.
 Refreshments were served from a table covered in a white organdy cloth with tiny yellow bows scattered over it. In the center was a small lamb nestled in yellow daisies.
 Joining Mrs. Gafford in the courtesy were Mrs. Leoland Edwards, Mrs. James Gammon, Mrs. Newell Derryberry, Mrs. Raymond Underwood, Mrs. Joe Connally, Mrs. Grady Harlan, Mrs. R. G. Dunnam and Mrs. Cromwell Rhoton.

MRS. D. L. DANNHEISER
... with tools of her new talent

Amateur Cobbler Says Cover Your Old Shoes

By SHERI WEBBER
Want a new pair of shoes? Mrs. D. L. Dannheiser did, too — so she made them.
Out of the scraps of a jacket the talented homemaker covered a pair of old shoes. Now she has a complete matching outfit — a sheath dress of deep pink topped with a reversible Chanel jacket that is solid pink on one side and print on the other. From the left overs of the beige, brown, red and pink-toned print, Mrs. Dannheiser covered a pair of shoes she was no longer interested in wearing as they were.
In the beginning the shoes were black suede of the springolater type. Virginia Dannheiser didn't care for the style of the shoe, so she took the strap going across the arch off. Finding a pair of old moccasins around her home on Goliad, the energetic lady cut two straps from the leather. She then covered these with the bright print material to make back straps for the new sling pumps.
"It takes about a quarter of a yard of material to cover a pair of shoes," relates Mrs. Dannheiser.

Place the tape pattern on a piece of paper. This paper will be the backing for your pattern, holding the tape in place.
Cutting your material on the bias, allow 1/4-inch for the edges bordering the shoe sole and 1/2-inch for the sides that go inside the shoe.
Clip the curves for smoothness when putting the material on the shoe.
Slightly pry the sole of the shoe loose around the edges. Starting at the toe of the shoe, use a blunt instrument (such as a small screw driver or the wrong end of a fingernail file) and gently push the cloth into the crevice, gluing with a strong glue as you go.
To cover the heels, cut a square piece of cloth, planning to use it on the bias.
"It's easier to take the caps off the shoe heel and have a cobbler replace them later," says Mrs. Dannheiser. She peeled the lining off the inside of the heel, then glued the material on.
This was the only place the housewife had trouble. While glue-ing one side of the heel she discovered that the other already-glued side would slip around. She finally discovered a firm grip would eliminate this, and finished the job. At the top of the heel, where it joins the main body of the shoe, the material (the widest part of the square) will have to be trimmed and pushed into the crevice between the heel and body.

Mrs. Dannheiser nailed the new back strap onto her shoe, then delivered the finishing touches. She put a bright pink innersole in with glue, and finished the rough edges of hidden material with tape. Electricians tape, available in many colors, is recommended.
Ambitious Virginia Dannheiser not only covers her own shoes, a trick she picked up at a meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club, but makes most of her own clothes.
Other forms of handwork interest her, and Mrs. Dannheiser makes smocked pillows and is now in the midst of crocheting a bedspread.

The first problem is a pattern. To make her pattern Mrs. Dannheiser used masking tape, overlapping it as she ran it lengthwise over the top of her shoes. When one piece is lifted, because of the overlapping, the other pieces of tape come up also — thus making a solid pattern.
Virginia explained that on shoes with an enclosed heel the tape must be stopped at the seam places on the side. On this style shoe the pattern will be in two pieces — heel and toe. When later cutting your material, be sure to allow for the seam that must be sewed on a machine, she warned.

Lamesa Woman THDA Chairman Of Dawson County

LAMESA—Mrs. M. G. Riggan was elected Dawson County THDA chairman at a Wednesday afternoon meeting of home demonstration club workers in the Chamber of Commerce office. Also named were three delegates to the district THDA meeting to be held in Littlefield, April 21. They include Mrs. Otis Peterson, Mrs. L. B. Jones and Mrs. C. V. Ball.
Mrs. Riggan was elected the stration Clubs' nominee for Club-woman of the Year. She will be entered in competition with other club leaders for the honor in the contest, an annual project of the Junior Woman's Study Club.
Making their club reports were Mrs. Lynn Corbin, McCarty; Mrs. J. B. Gibson, Welch; Mrs. C. B. Grissom, Sparenberg; Mrs. Bill Archer, Punkin-Woody; Mrs. Trice Lee, Sand, and Mrs. Riggan, Central.
Jo Crabtree, Dawson County home demonstration agent, announced that Mrs. Frank Liddell will conduct a hat workshop, for all club members and others interested, at Lamar Forrest Community Center Monday. Information regarding the workshop which begins at 9:30 a.m. may be obtained at the home demonstration agent's office.

Keep 'Em Bright
Brass household ornaments may be difficult to keep bright. Keep them gleaming by cleaning the brass and drying, then spraying the surface with shellac.

All-Woman Staff Serves Hospital

CHICAGO (AP)—Asked what he wanted to be when he grew up, a young patient at March Thompson Hospital replied sadly. "Well, I wanted to be a doctor, but I'm a boy."
Mary Thompson is one of the few hospitals in the United States in which all doctors are women. That's the way it has been since 1865 when Dr. Mary Harris Thompson founded the hospital—she later recalled—"with opposition from every man doctor in Chicago."

Records kept by Dr. Thompson at that time show Chicago had only a hospital for Civil War soldiers and a Catholic hospital. Dr. Thompson founded her institution to care for widows and children of Civil War veterans. She wrote into the articles of incorporation that all the doctors should be women.
The hospital, at 140 N. Ashland Ave., on the West Side, is now at its third location.
The first was destroyed in the great Chicago fire of 1871. Diaries show that as the fire came toward the hospital, Dr. Thompson put her patients in a wagon and a buggy, tied a cow behind and started north.
She stopped at a barn long enough to deliver a baby then pushed on north of the Chicago River. There she rented a house for $35 a month, which she believed was twice as much as she would have paid had there been no fire.
Dr. Thompson had to go East to raise money to build again and when she returned she brought with her a second woman doctor.
The hospital now has 53 women doctors on its staff, 112 beds and 20 bassinets. The hospital also sponsors a diagnosis center, mental hygiene clinic for working girls, asthmatic aid clinic for children and a cardiac kitchen.
Twenty per cent of the present patients are men.

BONNIE JEAN ARRICK

Betrothal Is Revealed At Party

Guests gathered at the C. H. Arrick home Saturday evening for a party and were told during the evening of an approaching wedding.

The engagement of their daughter, Bonnie Jean, to L. Darrel Gene Burris, was revealed by Mr. and Mrs. Arrick. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Burris, Springfield, Ill.

A centerpiece of a white wedding bell and streamers on the refreshment table gave the names of the betrothed couple and the date, set for June 25. A pink sat in underlay and white cloth covered the table, with white tapers to flank the bell.

The couple will be married in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

Duplicate Players Fill Twelve Tables

Twelve tables accommodated the duplicate bridge players at Cosden Country Club Friday afternoon. This is the weekly gathering which is sponsored by members of the Big Spring Country Club's Ladies Golf Association and which is open to anyone wishing to play.

First place in north-south position was won by Mrs. Bert Badger and Mrs. George McGann; second, Mrs. Winston Harper and Mrs. R. E. McKinney; third, Mrs. Tom South and Mrs. Fred Lurting; fourth, Mrs. E. G. Patton and Mrs. J. D. Robertson.

Mrs. Henry Stafford and Mrs. Wright Boyd, both of Lamesa, took first place among the east-west players; Mrs. Leroy Bruford and Mrs. M. O. Ruhl, second; a tie for third and fourth places joined Mrs. Ben McCullough and Mrs. Ben Stone, Mrs. Loyd Nalls and Mrs. Fred Haller.

Deanery Meet Slated Tuesday

St. Thomas Altar Society will serve as the host group for the spring meeting of the Big Spring Deanery of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, which will meet here on Tuesday.

Sessions will be held at Cosden Country Club beginning with registration at 9:15 a.m.

Morning workshops will include discussions of the Committee on Cooperation with Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, which will be led by Mrs. Herman Bauer, and "Catholic Charities," to be led by Mrs. J. E. Healy of Odessa. Afternoon workshops will be based on spiritual development, with Mrs. Lawrence Hanson of Odessa as leader, and legislation, which will be led by Mrs. J. E. Beakey of Midland.

The installation of new officers will follow a business meeting.

Committee heads include Mrs. Bernard Huchton, general chairman, and luncheon committee, Mrs. John Krauter, program; Mrs. C. W. Deats, credentials, and Mrs. Bill Sneed, coffee arrangements.

Theme of the day was announced as "The Dignity of Womanhood—How to Promote the Catholic Ideal."

Gray Lady Course To Start At Webb

Open to military dependents will be the Red Cross Gray Lady course that will be held April 4, 5, and 6 at the Webb AFB Hospital.

Free nursery service will be provided for those wishing to attend. The class starts at 9:30 a.m. and is held just during the morning.

After completion of the course 10 hours of probationary work must be completed at the base hospital.

Those interested in attending should call Mrs. Thomas Casey, 4-2977, chairman of the Webb Gray Ladies.

Recent Bride Honored With Nuptial Shower

A miscellaneous shower given Thursday evening was a courtesy for Mrs. Freddie Graham. She is the former Judy Hammon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hull, Andrews Highway. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Graham of Ackerly.

The couple, attended by Joan Durham and Gene Blake, was married in Villa Acuna on March 3.

Now living at 113 E. 16th, the Grahams plan to move to Ackerly, where he is employed in a hardware store. Mrs. Graham was a student in the local high school at the time of the marriage.

Joining in the shower Thursday evening were Mrs. Marvin Gourley, Mrs. Arthur Tamplin, Mrs. Rufus Tuckness, Mrs. James Turner and Bertha Schuchert.

At the guest register was Jean Hammon, sister of the bride; Mrs. Tommy Brown served refreshments from a table laid with a silver and white cloth and centered with an arrangement of tallisman roses.

Mrs. White greeted guests and presented the bride and her mother along with the mother of the bridegroom and his sisters.

Trainmen Ladies

Members of the Trainmen Ladies met Friday morning for a called session at Carpenters Hall.

Purpose of the meeting was to elect Mrs. Effie Meador delegate to the Texas Joint Railway Legislative Boards meeting; she will replace Mrs. W. C. Moore, who will be unable to attend the convention. Eleven attended the meeting.

Joyce and Marie of Ackerly. About 40 were included in the invitation list.

Rebekah Meeting Attracts Members

In Fort Worth this weekend is a group of Rebekahs attending the Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Lamar, Mrs. Homer Petty, Mrs. Gertrude Wason, and Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Burns are included in the group. Mrs. Burns is delegate and Mrs. Petty, alternate from the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge. Mrs. Jones is a member of the state per diem committee.

Local Store To Feature Style Show

"Watercolor Pastels" a fashion show of the new spring trends, as forecast by Vogue Printed Patterns, will be presented by Hemphill Wells, on March 23 in the fabric department; at 3:00 p.m.

Especially interesting to women who sew, the fashion show will describe the new fabric shades, as well as the season's interesting textures and weights. Mrs. Mildred Porter, Vogue Fashion Representative, will be commentator and will answer questions on wardrobe planning and sewing problems.

Costumes for daytime through evening are included. All illustrate that the important look for spring and summer is supple and soft, achieved with buoyant fabrics and muted, almost misty colors.

Voiles and silk organzas have an important place in the spring fashion news. They are to be seen as overskirts, as part of coordinated prints in ensembles, and in wide-skirted designs for afternoon and evening.

Pretty Awnings

Gay and elegant trimmings will give canvas awnings a new look this spring and summer. Scalloped valances will be a graceful feature of both window and terrace awnings. Fringe and tassels also will be used as added decoration. Prettier than even in design and color, awnings of heavy cotton canvas still have all of their practical values. They'll help you outsmart the sun by blocking solar heat before it enters your house.

Improves The Flavor

Try adding celery seed to hot potato salad!

Council Postponed

The meeting of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs, originally scheduled for Wednesday, has been postponed to March 30. Mrs. W. F. Taylor, 609 W. 15th, will be hostess at that time.

MRS. RAY GLENN DEEL

Local Couple Is Wed On Saturday

Bobbie Hollingsworth and Ray Glenn Deel exchanged double ring vows before members of the two families at the First Christian Church in a mid-morning ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hollingsworth, 1500 Morrison; parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Avery Deel, 909 E. 16th.

White gladioli and pompon chrysanthemums in vases on pedestals formed the altar decorations before which the bridal party stood as the Rev. John Black, pastor of the church, read the ceremony.

Carolyn Wilson and Rayford Harrison attended the couple. After a trip to Carlsbad, N. M., the Deels will return to make a home at 302 E. 6th.

Both are seniors in Big Spring High School and plan to finish their studies.

Shower Is Honor For Miss Lankford Friday Evening

Joyce Lankford was honoree at a bridal shower Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Jim Bennett.

Miss Lankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lankford, will be married April 9 to James Robert Merrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Merrick of Ackerly.

A white lace cloth over a blue underlay covered the refreshment table. Surrounded by a blue net ruffle was a bride doll. The tiny bride, who centered the table, stood upon a music box.

Hostesses for the come and go affair that entertained 40 guests were Mrs. A. W. Page, Mrs. Ross Hill, Mrs. Bob Wren, Mrs. Rex Greenwood, Mrs. Modena Wyatt, Mrs. Stuart D. Nilsen, Mrs. Bennett, Jeanette Wyatt, Avelene Greenwood, Lana Wren, Ann Robinson, and Pat Arnold.

Laundry Often Frequent laundering will help your cotton draperies and curtains wear longer and look better. Rotating them from sunny windows to the shady side of the house also will give them longer life.

Jewelry In Two Trends

Fashion has taken its first bright step into a new decade and the newest spring and summer jewelry gives a woman two dazzling directions to take, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute.

The delectable prettiness of much of the new jewelry stems from new colors, new designs and new effects that lay the stress on beauty. Mouth-watering colors—candy pinks, golden jonquil, soft blues, crisp leaf greens, delicate lacy gold and fresh, ladylike white—spell beauty magic and complement any dress color.

Further flattery comes from the new nested necklace lengths which start at the base of the throat and bring the color magic of the jewels close to the face. Flattery also rests in the touches of enamel that give a delicate look of beauty to pins, earrings, bracelets and necklaces, and in the charm of pins that use whimsy, flowers or sentiment for their inspiration. The strong note of drama and excitement in spring jewelry is reflected in some important trends. The high-rise "dog collar" necklace, in a myriad of forms, gives a striking touch to the simplest ensemble.

Bold bracelets fill a fashion need on arms newly bared by the short sleeves. New effects in gold, often combining muted finishes with a shiny accent, or accented with enamel, pearls or brilliants, spark simple clothes to new fashion heights.

Lamesa Girl Is Bride Of David Allen Giger

LAMESA — In a double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. Saturday, Andrea Jinkins, daughter of Mrs. Jean Jinkins, became the bride of David Allen Giger, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Giger of Milton-Freewater, Ore. The Rev. J. Lloyd Mayhew, pastor, officiated for the service in First Methodist Church.

The bride was given in marriage by Dr. J. P. Puckett. She wore a dress of blue and silver tulle over taffeta with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt, made entirely of narrow ruffles. Her bouquet was of red roses.

Honor attendants were Rita Luemas, maid of honor, and Dick Fitzpatrick of Albuquerque, N. M., best man. Ushers were the bride's cousins, Matt Lee of Amarillo and David Robertson of Lubbock.

Miss Lumus wore a white taffeta dress with blue chiffon trim. Her flowers were red carnations.

Jo Frances Lee of Amarillo and Joyce Robertson of Lubbock, the bride's cousins, were candlelighters. Wedding guests were registered by Mrs. Howard Garner.

For traveling the bride wore a two piece beige linen dress with blue accessories. She is a graduate of Lamesa High School and attended Draughon's Business College in Lubbock and Albuquerque, N. M.

Her husband attended Milton-

MRS. DAVID A. GIGER

Freewater High School and Oregon Tech, and is a nuclear expert in the U. S. Army at Sandia Base, Albuquerque.

The newlyweds will reside in Albuquerque after March 28. Wedding guests were registered from Lubbock, Snyder, Ira, Amarillo, Midland, Big Spring, Clovis, Brownfield, Meadow, San Diego, Calif., and Hot Springs, Ark.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

With a few more days of good warm sunshine, the spirit of spring is going to be really down deep in our bones. This should bring on an even greater wave of yard raking and flower bed cleaning than ever. Friday was a day for inspiring out of door work and all over the city one could see the housewives walking about the premises with folded arms as though they were deciding what they wanted done when the yardman was available . . . in some rare instances the lady of the house had her yard working clothes on and wasn't waiting for the yardman.

MRS. MARVIN WOODS, whose home is on Washington Boulevard, was turning out a good job of finishing work after her rosebeds at the front and down the walk of her home had been worked. Each year the bushes reward the owners with a glorious profusion of red blooms. So many pretty rose gardens in Big Spring are hidden from the public view because they are enclosed in a high walled yard.

I am hesitant to mention this, but something beautiful and yellow, probably forsythia this time, but maybe a new round of jasmine, is blooming like mad again. Whatever it is, I like it and it certainly adds to the beauty of the town.

MR. AND MRS. JACK EDWARDS of Olton were here over the weekend visiting relatives. day for the track meet in which their son, Jarrell, an ACC senior, ran in the sprint medley. Jarrell's specialty is the 800. MR. AND MRS. CHESTER CATHEY accompanied the Edwardses to the meet. The Olton couple were house guests

They were in San Angelo Saturday of another of Edwards' sisters, MRS. MERRILL CREIGHTON.

MR. AND MRS. T. B. ATKINS visited in Brownwood Friday and then went to Hamilton for a weekend with their daughter and her husband, MR. AND MRS. AL SCOTT. Mrs. Scott is the former ARLISS ATKINS.

Guests of MR. AND MRS. BILLY JOE KILPATRICK have returned to their home in Onida, S. D. They were Mrs. Kilpatrick's parents, MR. AND MRS. LLOYD CLARK who spent two weeks here.

In Lubbock today for the honors ceremonies for Texas Tech's outstanding students are MR. AND MRS. LUCIAN JONES and MR. AND MRS. HENRY CARPENTER. DENNIS JONES is one of the honor students.

Guests in the R. W. THOMPSON home are his mother, MRS. T. M. THOMPSON, and his brother and wife, MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND THOMPSON of Vega. The elder Mrs. Thompson plans to extend her visit here.

LOU ANNE PARSONS and MISS HOWARD who is associated with the business department of Baylor University have spent the weekend here with MR. AND MRS. FLOYD PARSONS. They will return to Waco this afternoon.

MRS. L. A. PICKLE spent Saturday in Midland with MR. AND MRS. CHARLES FRASER and Chuck.

The decoration of chivalry, highest award made by the Rebekah lodge to its members will be presented to MRS. H. F. JARRETT this afternoon at the Majestic Theatre in Fort Worth. The ceremonies are part of the Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly now in session. Jarrell accompanied his wife and other local lodge members attending are MRS. L. S. BONNER, MRS. TED BROWN, MRS. T. F. HORTON and MRS. D. G. HARRIS.

The meeting is to continue through Tuesday but most of the Big Spring delegation plans to return here tonight.

DR. ROBERT O'BRIEN and DR. RICHARD O'BRIEN barely escaped with only the clothing on their backs when their home in Houston was destroyed by fire early Thursday, their parents, Dr. and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien have learned. The young physicians did manage to get most of their valuable Japanese collection of the flaming house, but everything else was destroyed.

In their great excitement at becoming grandparents for the second time, MR. AND MRS. BILL MCGREE forgot to ask the name given to their new granddaughter. The little girl was born Friday to MR. AND MRS. CHARLES DOWALBY of Albuquerque, N. M. The baby missed being born on her brother Mark's third birthday, Saturday.

Sixth District To Reorganize April 12

COLORADO CITY — The Sixth District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs closed its two day session Friday at Colorado City with the knowledge that the convention was the final for the Sixth District as presently constituted. The state TFWC will be reconstituted in the near future.

A reorganization meeting was set for April 12, in San Angelo. Special recognition was given to Mrs. Archie Nichols of Baird, teacher of the year; Mrs. Mae Sheen of Mertzon, mother of the year, and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Elliott of Colorado City, family of the year.

Final registration was 270, according to Mrs. L. H. Rudd, publicity chairman for the convention.

Jack Y. Smith, director of industrial relations, was re-elected vice chairman in charge of the mental hospitals at a meeting Thursday of the Volunteer Service Council for the Texas State. The meeting took place in Austin.

Nine of Mrs. Bill Horne's co-workers met Wednesday for a luncheon in her honor at Smith's Tea Room. The gathering was in celebration of her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Quigley are returning to their home in Glenwood, Colo., after having enjoyed an extended visit here with their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Quigley. The guests were driven to Clayton, N. M., where another son, Jim Quigley, met them for the return trip.

Marguerite Smith took part of her vacation Friday.

Ben Hale, grandfather of Mrs. Jo Dell Gregory, died Thursday. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Trinity Baptist Church in Midland.

Terry Lowery's father died Tuesday night in Henderson.

Stanton HD Club Has Study Of Making Pie, Tarts

STANTON — The Stanton Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday at the county agent's office with Mrs. Sam Wilkerson serving as hostess.

The program on pies and tarts were discussed by Mrs. W. T. Wells, and she served them to the members. Mrs. Wilkerson also demonstrated making custards which she served to the members. Roll call was answered with each member telling of a cooking problem.

Mrs. Leroy Fincher, noble grand, presided at the weekly meeting Monday for the Stanton Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Jim McCoy was appointed to be team captain for practicing draping the charter.

Mrs. Virgie Johnson received the traveling gift.

Spring Bags Feature Variety Of Leathers

The handbags for spring feature white, neutral greige, bone and barley in smooth and grained leather. Others are in sunny pastel suede and smooth leathers such as Paris rose, yellow tulip, lilac and coral, as well as in brilliant scarlet, red coral and light blue. On the subtle side are indigo, royal navy, olive green and pewter gray, rich spring brown, cobbler tan and thrush.

Vertical bags reach new heights in platform-based satchels and side-flared satchels in smooth and lightly grained leathers. Many sport simple polished brass name plates, brass-and-leather closures or small heraldic emblems in shiny or antiqued metal to bring out the beauty of the leather.

This spring the pouch bag will be seen in every type of leather and every color, from crackproof black patent leather to coral crushed leather or the luxurious suede leathers in pastel shades. American calf leather bags for practical or daytime wear and smart late-day occasions can be color-matched to your leather shoes and blended with your tailored walking suit or light spring topper.

White leather, due for its biggest season in spring shoes, will be just as popular in handbags. White is the easiest accessory color to match up, whether your interest is in the new washable white grained or smooth leather, or brushed or suede leather.

Flower pastels are not only soft in color but are used in soft leathers such as capeskin or softened calf, usually with a grainy surface. These are extremely feminine bags, draped and gathered, or blown out and bloused.

Silky suede highlights delicate grab-bags for evening in rose, lilac and pure white, as well as in always - right black. Some are strictly clutch types, but many have tiny, strong gold chains for carrying over the wrist. Continuing the trend started last fall, suede and luster leather clutches are longer than before to accommodate cigarettes, lipstick, mascara and other items of date-bait.

Dawson Gardeners Plan An Exchange Of Plants

LAMESA — Members of the Dawson County Garden Club made plans for the annual spring plant exchange, selected the fall flower show theme and chose their nominee for Clubwoman of the Year at the March meeting of the club Thursday. They met in the home of Mrs. O. E. Dunlop.

Cohostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Everett Turner, Mrs. J. A. Hilton and Mrs. C. O. Welmer.

April 9 is the date set for the spring plant exchange, an annual event of the club which will be cosponsored by the Tender Bud Garden Club this year. Mrs. O. H. Sires is chairman, and the exchange headquarters will be between the Chamber of Commerce Building and the Public Library on North Houston. Plants may be brought to the location at 10 a.m., April 9.

Mrs. John Banta was elected as the club's nominee for Lamesa's Clubwoman of the Year; rounding out the business meeting, Mrs. O. C. Kellum reported that the flower show theme this fall will be "Book Title Interpretation."

Mrs. J. H. Adkins, civic project chairman reported that 11 rose bushes have been planted in the club's plot at Medical Arts Hospital.

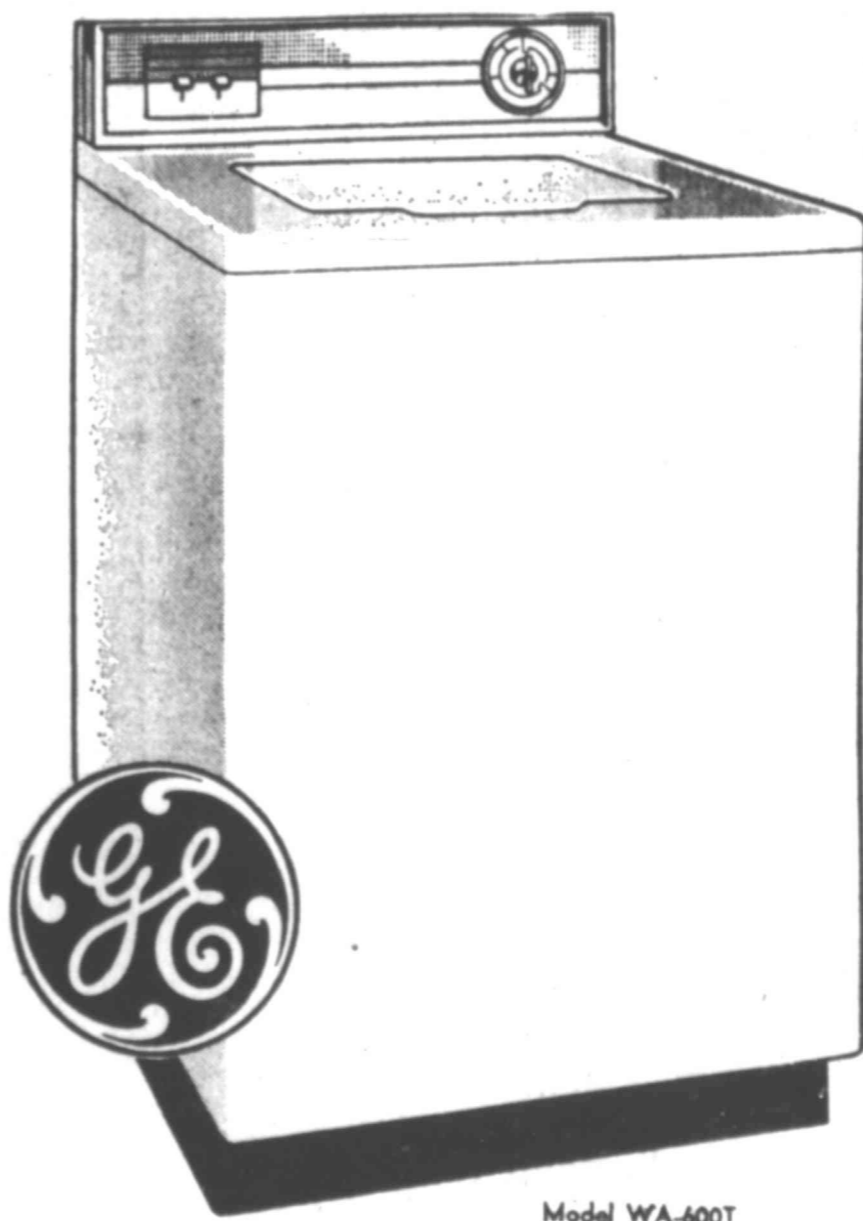

Mrs. Ben Dopson, program chairman, presented Mrs. Kellum who talked on preparation of flower beds and Mrs. C. O. Weldmer who told about planting bulbs, corms and rhizomes.

Decorations and refreshments carried out the St. Patrick's Day theme. There were 20 members and two new members, Mrs. L. B. Vaughn and Mrs. E. H. Dobbie, present.

Mrs. G. L. Monroney of Vealmoor, Mrs. Cowley's mother, was present to help her daughter open gifts. Approximately 20 attended.

All Hues Are Good News In Spring Shoe Picture

Leather hues are good news this spring to the woman who wants to color-coordinate her new shoes with her apparel.

White is seen in dazzling all-white and two-tone spectator pumps and casuals. Washable white leather, one of the newest achievements of American tanners, can be wiped clean with a soapy cloth. It is usually seen in a striking leather grain in daytime walking shoes, with either self heels or stacked leather heels. White brushed and suede leather is combined beautifully with black patent leather or with sparkling blues, olive greens and other colors in soft, waxy finished leathers.

Bone and barley are the lightest members of the high-fashion brown leather family. Bone is a pastel which bestows a feminine barefoot illusion that stretches the leg line from knee to toe. Barley is a neutral beige that fits in with any one of the spring and summer fabric groups.

The flower pastels in this season's shoes are more than a footnote to fashion—they're a keynote in many cases. Some of the best-known designers are keying their most feminine dresses, skirts and cocktail and evening gowns to such new pastel leathers as Paris rose, yellow tulip, coral and lilac.

Paris rose is a vivid, frosted, rose in smooth or suede leather, it's ideal with a flower print dress where pink or rose predominate. Yellow tulip is a cool yellow for both casual and dress shoes, equally effective with either a white or black costume.

Olive green is a favorite for leather "fun" shoes. You'll also see it in usual twisted, crushed and draped leathers in elegant latticed sandals and downy soft suede or buttery smooth leather daytime pumps. The college and high school set is rapidly adopting as its own olive green in casual flats with little Queen Anne, Louis or oval heels, in black, white or stacked leather.

Pewter gray is the season's new luminous gray inspired by early American pewterware. Like olive, it is a youthful color with many purposes—for town, for late-day, for the casual slip-on and for the functional oxford. Pewter gray leather handbags will be tremendously popular and these, of course match perfectly the same color in leather shoes.

Archery Is New Sport For The R. Botelhos

There might not be a Sherwood Forest around Big Spring, but there is an archer, Richard Botelho. His name is Richard Botelho and he and his family have just moved to Big Spring.

The staff sergeant took up archery while stationed with the Air Force in the green mountain state of Vermont. There they have a two-week hunting season for archers. This kind of hunting is still on an experimental basis in Texas.

The Botelhos are among the 106 families who have been assigned to Webb AFB since the installation of a new plane, the 102.

"Vermont was like our second home," says dark-eyed Doris Botelho. During the four and a half years they were stationed there, the couple acquired a son, Scott Alan, a daughter, Donna Lee, and a German Shepherd dog named Heidi.

This is the second time Botelho has been in Big Spring. He was at Webb AFB in 1954 for four months, leaving here to marry Doris in their hometown of Fall River, Mass.

After a week-long honeymoon, Richard was shipped to French Morocco in North Africa. During the next 14 months Doris remained in Fall River working for a clothing manufacturer and writing letters to her bridegroom.

Mrs. Botelho is interested in learning archery since her husband is so enthusiastic, but she intends to leave the hunting and fishing up to him.

Three-year-old Scott and two-year-old Donna Lee, who both celebrate their birthdays in November, keep the young housewife busy.

"They act like mortal enemies most of the time," says their father, but because of the closeness in their ages, Scott and Donna are able to entertain each other when they want to.

New Clan For The Cages

A different clan will be climbing on the site of the City Park monkey cage. With demise of the monkeys, city workmen dismantled the cage and converted it into a jungle gym. Painting was completed Friday and Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said that the contraption was ready for the kiddies. It is another

"new look" in the city park since last summer. Picnickers this year will also find a multi-colored one-family picnic shelter and multi-colored teeter-totters. Members of the garden club have started the formal rose garden, southwest of the swimming pool area.

Return Of Spring May End Respite Of Rabies Threat

County health officials and veterinarians are bracing themselves for the possibility of a heavy outbreak of rabies this spring and summer. They expect the disease to make itself most prevalent in wildlife — skunk, fox and similar animals.

Statewide, the Texas State Department of Health reports that rabies in wildlife is already running two to one ahead of the disease in domesticated animals. In February, the state laboratory checked and confirmed 69 cases of rabies. Of that total only 17 were dogs and cats. The remainder were skunk and fox.

Last summer, Howard County had numerous instances of skunks infected with disease. Twenty-one skunk were tested and proved rabid. In the same interval, one house cat and one cow were shown positive in tests. Two rabid foxes were killed.

Dr. Akin Simpson, veterinarian, said he had heard of no new cases in Howard County but there were reports several rabid skunk had been seen in Borden County. Lige Fox, with the city-county health unit, reported one rabid skunk has already been found in 1960. This was in January.

DANGER IN SPRING
It was pointed out that now that spring is at hand, skunk which are extremely numerous, will abandon their winter semi-hibernation. This will tend to increase the number of animals likely to fall victim to the disease. Skunk, in this area, never actually hibernates but they do slow down their activities in the colder months.

Mating season is now at hand and they will become increasingly active and migratory. Last year, many were seen and killed in the city limits. Rural areas reported more skunks than in many years. Conditions are favorable for a repetition of this situation.

Wildlife contamination offers a grave menace to domesticated animals and to livestock, state veterinarians say.

There is not a heavy enough percentage of immunization in pets to seriously dent the threat of epidemic spread of the disease. A rabid skunk or fox would not hesitate to attack a dog or a cat and such attacks would offer grave danger of the animal becoming infected.

VACCINATE ALL PETS
Veterinarians recommend that all dog and cat owners have their pets vaccinated against rabies ahead of the season when the disease is most rampant.

That rabies can be controlled is the wandering wild victims of the disease. At least one cow was killed in 1959 in this county because she had fallen prey to rabies.

Three counties in the state, Milam, Washington and Dallas, are operating emergency rabies control programs at this time.

That rabies can be controlled is proven by the steady decline of the disease among domestic pets due to immunization, while wildlife infection is climbing steadily.

Plush Spa Draws Unwelcome Set

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—This plush desert spa, winter playground for movie stars and millionaires, is attracting a new, unwanted set: polished professional thieves.

Their haul so far this season totals more than $350,000 in jewelry and furs. And police say they're helpless to stop it—unless people of wealth become less casual with their trappings.

The 65 thefts since last October average more than $5,300, not a bad day's work in any business.

Tighter enforcement has resulted in one killing and numerous arrests. But there still are only three officers assigned to hotel and residence burglaries.

Besides carelessness of wealthy tourists—business leaders, politicians and many entertainers winter here—officers blame failure of resort hotels to cooperate with an ordinance requiring fingerprinting of servants.

They say temptation is considerable—fortunes in jewelry left lying in dresser drawers, even in automobile glove compartments. Police Chief August Kettman says a thief can get more from a "car clout" here than he can in a carefully planned burglary in most cities. "Car clouts," in police jargon, are thefts from automobiles. One such theft from a car parked on the street netted $25,000.

Palm Springs has a law that domestics and others serving resort visitors must be fingerprinted by police, but Detective Lt. Robert White says too many employers regard it as a nuisance.

In one recent investigation police found the chauffeur of the victim had a criminal record—as a burglar—but he had never been made to comply with the ordinance.

Police figure most of the jobs are pulled by experienced professionals, drawn here by the double inducement of fun in the sun and easy work at night.

For the inexperienced, however, the work has its hazards. A youth identified only as Terry Terrell was shot to death in December as he fled from a luxurious home with two mink stoles draped on his arm.

BSHS Finishes 3rd Nine Weeks Period

By TERESA SMITH
Dead week is over! Three down and one more to go! Seniors, this means the last nine weeks must be devoted to really getting down and studying. Exams were over for Longhorn. Exams were over and everyone really kicked up their heels. At the high school there was a "Bunny Hop" for all the gang. All the proceeds went to the Howard County Eastern. A program for crippled children.
Saturday all those students who were elected or appointed in the Government Day program had breakfast at the Settles Hotel and then went to a big day. They were all in the same line for the purpose of becoming more acquainted with our government. Girls, you have a double chance

NTSC Band Begins Its 12th Seasonal Tour

Friday night, March 25, Big Spring will host the North Texas State College Concert Band, which is on its annual spring tour. These spring tours have been for the past 12 years the highlight of the band's season. The band appeared on the Victoria Music Festival program as exhibition band playing each year before a massed audience of more than 40 high school bands.

The Concert Band appeared on the program of the Texas Music Educators Association in Galveston in 1949 and toured the state in 1950 and 1951. The band was presented at the Music Educators Association National Conference in St. Louis before an audience of approximately 8,000.

During the 1959 tour, the band visited 14 Texas cities, with the final concert of the tour played at Galveston. The band was presented at the Music Educators Association National Conference in St. Louis before an audience of approximately 8,000.

Government Day Held

By TERESA SMITH
Many Big Spring High School students have been engaged in educational and governmental duties to coincide with Government Day held Saturday.

Revising a custom held several years ago, the boys and girls a closer insight into how city, county and district government is run after paying poll tax, filling for office and campaigning, the "off-duty" citizens were ready for action. The day was held at the Settles Hotel dining room, kicked off the activities Saturday morning. The keynote address was given by Eldon Mahon from Colorado City.

Following the breakfast, officials and their programs continuing through the day, the student had a chance to familiarize himself with all phases of the job.

Student officials for the day were: Benny Edwards, mayor; Barbara Edwards, city clerk; Harold Curtis, chief of Police; Jack Ed Irons, chief of Police; Mary Locke Crossland, city engineer; and Mack Green, city engineer.

County government officials were: Roy Hillbrunner, county judge; Judy Pierce, Al Marip, Wayne Griffith, David McClanahan, county commissioner; Jack Pickle, county commissioner; Jane Harrington, county assessor; Geron Dickerson, county treasurer; Allen Bryant, county clerk; Tim Williamson, county juvenile officer; Billarvin Cumbs, county engineer; Gerald Harrison, county agent; Kim Law, county agent; and Pat Johnson, justice of the peace.

District officers were: Jodelle Worley, district attorney; Delores Wadkins, district court reporter; Ann Horman, county auditor; Ben Anderson and Don Dorsey, highway patrolmen.

'Teachers Not Bad Off': Auto Maker

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Teaching is a collective bargaining technique of character," are not professional in character," as they often maintain, a Detroit automobile manufacturer told school superintendents of the nation last week.

"The fundamental status of teachers is better than they themselves believe it is," George M. Conroy, told a packed convention of Detroit citizens' committee on that city's public school needs.

"When teachers engage in public debate about whether they should be in school a few minutes before the bell rings and remain a few minutes after the bell rings, they are as 'dedicated' as many of us remember our teachers to be," Romney said.

RUNNELS Track Team Is 4th In Meet

By PAT LOUDAMY
Nine weeks' tests are over (April 1), but I guess everyone will be holding his breath until report cards are issued Wednesday. The ninth grade track boys who participated in the track meet at Wink last Saturday came out with flying colors. The junior mile relay was won by the team of Gene Lamb, Tony Pardo, Dickie Spiers and Ricky Wisner. Winning the 400 yard relay was a team composed of Jerry Bethel, Dickie Spiers, Tony Pardo and Ricky Wisner. In the junior mile relay, the boys lacked 1:10 of a second to tie the record. We came out with fourth place in the tournament. Saturday, they participated in another meet. grade volleyball girls had a game with Forsan Monday night. Forsan came out on top with a score of 35-30. We do everything but kiss the bride!

The newspaper is an important force in the community, any young woman about to be wed will tell you!

If it weren't for the newspaper, thousands of brides would walk down church aisles without fanfare . . . without attracting any attention outside their immediate circle of friends.

Everyone knows that only in the newspaper will you find reports on the announcement of the engagement, the marriage license application, the picture of the bride, the details of the wedding, itself, the identification of the principals – and equally important information about where the couple will live – where they are spending their honeymoon

Stop and consider the many services you would expect through the years from your newspaper should you be starting a new home tomorrow. Just for fun, make a game of this the whole family will enjoy. Who can name the great number of services expected from the newspaper? Now, let's see . . .

- It tells Bud when his athletic team plays a game.
- The newspaper helps Mother plan her shopping.
- It keeps Dad informed about developments that affect his business.
- It alerts Susie to the newest teenage fashions and the latest movies.
- It names the new neighbors across the street.
- It lists thoroughfares to be repaired.
- It gives warning when banks and public offices will be closed on holidays.
- It describes new merchandise now available in stores.
- It brings glad tidings of births of babies.

Already the list is long and we've just started! Any medium able to demonstrate such impact, usefulness and alertness naturally earns the good will of those served. The newspaper quite naturally finds a place in the new home where it may continue to serve day after day, year after year as a friend of the family.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

An Old Joke

"Who Was That Lady?" is the film version of an hilarious Broadway play. "What Was That Lady I Saw You With?" which in turn was based on that hoary old joke, "Who was that lady I saw you with last night?" "That was no lady, that was my wife." Seen here are two stars of the film version, Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis, who co-star with Dean Martin. The comedy starts Saturday at the Ritz.

"Solomon and Sheba" has been drawing good crowds, and for good reason. It glitters with all the factors that DeMille invented, including color, spectacular orgies and battles, famous stars, sex, extravagant sets—everything to draw interest except the Bible.

Of course, it's not the fault of the script writers that minimum mention was made of the Queen of Sheba in scripture. The screen writers did their best with what they had, and unless you're going to be cantankerous, it must be said that the story of Solomon and his lady love is reasonably well written.

Another drawing card may be in the fact that Tyrone Power started this film, in the role of Solomon, but died in mid-production. Yul Brynner took over, and the film was started all over again.

Director King Vidor is an old hand at this sort of thing. He makes the most of his more spectacular scenes, but he and script writers Anthony Veiller, Paul Dudley and George Bruce take time to inject a subtle undercurrent of ethical values. The script has its moments of beauty, but there is some rather ridiculous horseplay, too.

There is some excellent acting in "Solomon and Sheba." Brynner looms large over the screen in his portrayal of the wise but troubled ruler of a troubled land. Finlay Currie, as a worn-out King David, and Marisa Pavan as an adopted daughter of the House of David are more than up to the demands of their roles.

George Sanders, who obviously was bored by his role, makes the least of it; and David Farrar, as Pharaoh, is anything but the character he portrays.

Gina Lollobrigida, as Sheba, is not much in the way of acting, either. But considering the costume department's creations, who cares? Vidor has kept the film moving along at a good pace except for some rather tedious love scenes.

But perhaps the finest achievement in the film can be credited to builders of the set, especially the scene depicting the Temple of Solomon, and in the color photography, which is some of the best. The musical score is well adapted.

Yes, the immortal judgement of Solomon in which a baby is to be sliced in two and given to two claimant mothers, is included. And it's dramatized rather effectively.

Several years ago, a new character appeared on the movie screens, marking a new departure in cartooning. Since then, the inimitable Mr. Magoo has won several awards and he's still going strong.

Magoo cartoons are especially liked among patrons of art theatres, mainly because of the semi-abstract art method and the wry wit of the bumbling, near-sighted and thoroughly lovable central character.

Now, UPA, the studio responsible for Magoo, has created a full-length cartoon feature, titled "1001 Arabian Nights," and starring who else?

Both the wit and the artistic method have been watered somewhat, obviously as a sop to the non-artistic mass audience UPA is aiming at, but the old spirit is still there. Purists may be a bit disappointed but not too much, and the so-called common man will get a bigger charge out of Magoo than he ever did from Bugs Bunny or Tom and Jerry.

As you might surmise from the title, "1001 Arabian Nights" is centered in legendary Baghdad, and Mr. Magoo is decked out in a fez and a refurbished pillow case. Everything is there, including a flying carpet, Aladdin and his lamp, a beautiful princess and an evil wizard.

UPA has created a new character for Magoo. He's Bowser, Magoo's prize pointer—a beast who's actually a fat and cowardly tomcat, but Magoo can't see the difference.

Jim Backus, of course, is the voice of Magoo.

There are a couple of cartoon shorts and a newsreel listed on the playbill with "1001 Arabian Nights." They are "Stork Raving Mad" and "Mr. Magoo."

Got a letter from Mrs. Amy Freeman Lee, a top Texas artist who was in Big Spring for a series of lectures recently, and whose one-man show is now hanging in the H.C.J.C. library.

I had some nice things to say about Mrs. Lee and her work in my column, and I also had a couple of criticisms. Judging from the tone of her letter, she took both in good stride, without the wild reaction so often associated with "artistic" people.

Which may be why she's such a good artist.

Her letter, postmarked from San Antonio, follows:

Dear Mr. Smith,

I want you to know how very much I appreciated your attending my recent lecture in Big Spring on such a cold and icy night.

I am also grateful for the excellent coverage which you gave my talk as well as for your gracious comments. Last, but not least, I thank you for your accuracy in reporting the gist of my thoughts.

My visit to Big Spring was a pleasant experience, and I send my every good wish for the continued success of the artistic growth in your community.

Date for "The Petrified Forest" has finally been settled. Fred Short has announced. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. the nights of March 24, 25 and 26.

It was a big night for the high school's thespians. Friday evening, 10 new members were inducted into the National Thespian Society, and the high school's Court Jesters, dramatic club, handed out awards for outstanding achievements during the first part of the year.

Friday's event was not the annual "academy" awards, instituted last year by Phil Wayne.

Magoo Goes Arab In '1001 Nights'

A truly magic carpet of love, thrills and laughter sails straight into the fabulous world of the Arabian Nights in UPA's first full-length Technicolor feature production for Columbia release, "1001 Arabian Nights" at the State Sunday through Wednesday.

The cartoon feature is rich in 1001 wondrous and entertaining sights and sounds, a dazzling and delightful wonderland of fantasy, beauty and romance.

Starring one of the screen's most popular cartoon characters, the nearsighted Mister Magoo, "1001 Arabian Nights" is inhabited by other other fabulous characters as the Sleepy Jimi, the Wicket Wizard, Aladdin and the Princess Yasmina, the Three Little Maids from Damascus, the Magic Flame, the Enchanted Lamp and the Terrible Executioner.

Jim Backus is heard as the voice of Uncle Abdul Aziz Magoo; Kathryn Grant as the Princess; Dwayne Hickman as Aladdin; Hans Conradi as the Wicket Wizard; Herschel Bernardi as the Jimi; Daws Butler as Omar the Rug Maker; Alan Reed as the Sultan, and Clark Sisters as the Three Maids.

The delights of "1001 Arabian Nights" are enhanced by a tunefully tinkling special score that includes "You Are My Dream," "Three Little Maids from Damascus" and "Magoo's Blues."

Dancer Loses Name Plea

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lea DeLea Anscott, 21, a burlesque dancer billed as "Baby Doll," has lost an attempt to have her professional name legalized.

Court Commissioner A. Edward Nichols said: "I am very reluctant to lend the dignity of the law and the courts to such a request from a mature person—this is a term of endearment usually reserved for infants. How would 'Baby Doll' look on a deed to real property or on a driver's license?"

Several years ago, a new character appeared on the movie screens, marking a new departure in cartooning.

'Ride Out For Revenge' Rip-Roarin' Western Tale

A rip-roaring adventure of the west, "Ride Out For Revenge," starring Rory Calhoun, Gloria Grahame, Lloyd Bridges and Joanne Gilbert, plays at the Sahara Sunday through United Artists release. The picture tells through action and drama, the hate between white man and red man on the Great Plains in the 1880's, and how some people did their best to erase that hatred.

The story is set in the Dakotas some 90 years ago when the Army attempted to move all the Cheyennes from their ancestral hunting grounds in Oklahoma. Some resisted with a violence that exploded throughout the tinderbox west.

"Ride Out For Revenge" was written and produced by Norman Retchin and directed by Bernard Girard.

Rory Calhoun plays the role of a rugged man of the west who believes one has to understand the Indians, and is willing to fight to prove his point.

Gloria Grahame returns to the screen in "Ride Out For Revenge" after two years in Europe, to play the part of an embittered woman who has been a widow by an Indian raid.

Joanne Gilbert is an Indian girl whose brother wants only one thing — death for the white man. And Lloyd Bridges is the terror-stricken Army commander who covers his fear with bluff and hatred for the Indians.

2 Classic Western Films Show Again

Two classic Western movies return for a local showing at the State Thursday through Saturday. "Westward Ho, the Women" is the story, based on fact, of one man who leads 200 women through the dangers of the frontier trails on a husband hunting expedition.

THE FRONT ROW

By Bob Smith

Got a letter from Mrs. Amy Freeman Lee, a top Texas artist who was in Big Spring for a series of lectures recently, and whose one-man show is now hanging in the H.C.J.C. library.

I had some nice things to say about Mrs. Lee and her work in my column, and I also had a couple of criticisms. Judging from the tone of her letter, she took both in good stride, without the wild reaction so often associated with "artistic" people.

Which may be why she's such a good artist. Her letter, postmarked from San Antonio, follows:

Dear Mr. Smith, I want you to know how very much I appreciated your attending my recent lecture in Big Spring on such a cold and icy night.

I am also grateful for the excellent coverage which you gave my talk as well as for your gracious comments. Last, but not least, I thank you for your accuracy in reporting the gist of my thoughts.

My visit to Big Spring was a pleasant experience, and I send my every good wish for the continued success of the artistic growth in your community.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC

Women Faithfully Serve As Jurors

Are Texas women becoming weary of serving as jurors?

Some metropolitan newspapers report that court officials say women are becoming increasingly unwilling to be jurors.

Howard County court officials have not observed any particular change in the attitude of women toward this duty.

Gull Jones, district attorney, who has served in that office ever since the amendment to the Constitution qualified women for jury duty, thinks that the situation here is basically unchanged.

Metropolitan papers say that at the time the amendment to the Constitution was adopted, women were enthusiastic and showed up in numbers for jury duty. Jones says that he saw no high enthusiasm here for the new assignment when the amendment was first put in force. He believes that women in Howard County accepted their new responsibility as a matter of fact. They did not hail it as a particularly joyous event.

MATTER OF DUTY

"When they were summoned for jury duty, they accepted the summons, reported to the court and did their best," Jones said. "They showed no visible enthusiasm for the job but they recognized it as a civic duty and fulfilled it."

Women became eligible for jury duty on Nov. 19, 1954. An amendment to Article 16, Section 19, of the Texas State Constitution was voted on Nov. 2 that year. The State Supreme Court commented on the matter in this language:

"The section imposes on women as a class the inescapable duty of jury service."

Jones and others who have had occasion to note women as jury panel members made this observation about Howard County:

KNOW EXEMPTIONS

"They are prone to avail themselves of the standard legal exemptions when such exemptions apply to them. A woman, for example, who has children under the age 15 years does not have to serve as a juror. Most women who have such children claim this exemption when it arises."

"On the other hand, women are less prone than men to evade jury duty for technical reasons. They will take their legal 'outs' but but they seldom plead illness, press of business or other of the more common excuses submitted by male jurors."

Wade Choate, district court clerk, pointed to a special jury venire to report on Monday morning for service in a murder trial in 118th District Court. There were 15 women and 85 men on the panel.

el. An ordinary jury panel comprises 60 persons in the district court. Choate says that an average of 10 women are on the regular panels called by the court.

There is seldom a jury in 118th District Court that does not have one or more women members. Generally the number is small. Frequently there will be 11 men and one woman. Court officials recall one jury which wound up with 5 women and seven men. They term this situation most unusual.

GOOD JURORS

Jones and other officials say women in Howard County make good jurors. They are conscientious in their efforts and pay close attention to the testimony and the law.

It is uncommon, however, for a woman to be selected as member of a jury panel trying a murder case. Generally the state and defense work together in such matters to insure an all-man jury. There have been one or two murder case juries, however, in Howard County district court with women in the box.

Women jurors serve in all other types of trials. They are present in most felony matters; they serve in civil cases. They do duty in the county court where misdemeanors are handled.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, says that nearly all of the jurors he has in county court include women. However, it is his impression from talking with women panel members, that Mrs. Big Spring, if she had her choice, would rather not serve as a juror.

631 Die In Mass Traffic Accidents

AUSTIN (AP)—Department of Public Safety records show that 631 persons have been killed in 84 traffic accidents where 6 or more died in each mishap.

The only 1960 addition to the list is a 2-car collision near Edna in which 6 died.

There were 7 such accidents in 1959 in which there were deaths of up to 10 persons.

The worst traffic mishap in the DPS files was the March 14, 1940, train-truck crash in Hidalgo County when 29 died. On Oct. 4, 1952, in McLennan County 28 died when two buses collided.

DEAR ABBY

HOMework

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school and so is Clyde. We've been going steady for five months. Clyde tried out for the senior class play and got the lead. His leading lady is a very stacked girl. He is supposed to kiss her in the last act. I realize he has to, but my friends tell me that Clyde has been going over to this girl's house every night and they practice the last act.

Should I break up with him if he doesn't quit seeing this girl? The play isn't until June.

CLYDE'S STEADY

DEAR STEADY: Tell Clyde you think maybe YOU'D like to break off because of the rumors you've heard. If the rumors are false and he is still all yours, he'll have an excellent opportunity to say so. But if you lose Clyde, you'll have salvaged your pride.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister-in-law who is five feet ten and very stunning. She is married to my brother, who is six feet three. Do you know she makes him wear elevated shoes so he will look even taller than he is? I think she is nutty, but don't you think he is nuttier?

KEEPING QUIET

DEAR KEEPING: I'm five feet nothing so I couldn't top either one of them.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago my husband stepped in at a hotel bar and picked up some woman who had her bags at the bus station in a locker. She talked him into getting her bags. Then she gave him a big song and dance about how she was a nurse, married to a doctor, but she was on a spree to teach him a lesson for stepping out on her. Like a dope my husband swallowed her story. Then she talked him into checking her into a hotel room.

Somehow or other she got into his wallet and all he knows is that it was empty when he got home. He had over $200 in it. Is there any way he can catch up with her? He doesn't even know her last name.

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Since your husband is so easily "talked into" things—why don't you talk him into going to the police station? He might be able to identify her from pictures they have on file of women who have been booked for this sort of thing. Without the police, it would be pretty futile.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SIDE DISH": You will never get away with it. "The sins we do two by two we pay for one by one."

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of the Big Spring Herald, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Artist Places In Angelo Show

Mrs. Bill Unger placed in the San Angelo College area exhibition, according to an announcement by judges.

Her oil painting, "Bottles," was second in the professional category. In addition, a casein, "Rainswept City," and another oil, "Design," won honorable mention.

Entries were sent in from as far away as Coleman, and the competition was stiff.

Judge was Miss Coreen Spellman, art instructor at TWU, Denton.

CONTINENTAL HAS SMOOTHER OPERATIONS AT NEW PORT

Although finishing work continues at the Howard County Airport terminal, Continental Airlines operations at the new port are moving satisfactorily.

Bill Cheek, manager, said that CAL boarded four passengers the first day and four the second. To Sam Hefner of Cosden went the honor of being the first passenger to fly CAL from the new port. One passenger somehow got by the gate at Webb AFB, where CAL formerly operated, and waited for the plane that was landing northeast of town instead. The plane held while the hurried passenger was hurried to the new port.

Cheek says that operating from the civilian airport avoids delays of fitting into the military pattern and that operations move substantially faster now.
