Incumbents Have Field Day In Area School Elections

Talbot, McMahon Re-Elected

Clyde McMahon and Harold Talbot were returned Saturday to the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees.

The usual sprinkling of write-in votes—except in Big Spring where it was heavy—kept judges busy.

McMahon, who like Talbot, was seeking his first elective term, led the ticket with 757 votes, while Talbot garnered 587.

The other two men on the ballot, and a write-in candidate, were more than 100 votes behind.

Other write-in votes were cast for Jim Lewis 2, Roy Worley 4, Luther McDaniel 1, Clyde Thomas 4, and Walter Stroupe 1.

Paul Adams, Tom Barber and Dr. C. W. Deats polled over 1,000 votes each in their uncontested bids for re-election to the Howard County Junior College board of trustees.

Adams received 749 votes in Big Spring and a total of 1,036 votes. Barber's tally was 744 in Big Spring and a 1,012 total.

Incumbents in uncontested races for the county board of trustees were also swept into office.

Truman Jones, in his bid for trustee-at-large, polled 921 votes in nine polling places.

Jim Lewis received 344 votes and re-election in Precinct No. 3. R. J. Cook was voted back into his Precinct No. 4 seat with 220 votes from four voting boxes.

In the Big Spring boxes at the senior high school, a total of 634 voters participated in the county board election and 783 cast votes in the HCJC election.

The district-by-district election went this way:

VEALMOOR — Dwain Williams was re-elected to the school board with 16 votes. There was one seat to be filled and no candidates announced.

The community gave Truman Jones, county board at large, five votes, and Robert J. Cook, in precinct 4, seven votes. A total of 25 votes were cast.

STANTON — James N. Biggs and Tommy Newman were elected to two vacancies on the school board from a field of four.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

Music has been and will be in the air around here. The Senior High and Rummels and Gollad Junior High band members did themselves proud in district solo and ensemble competition.

Derby Wheels Here

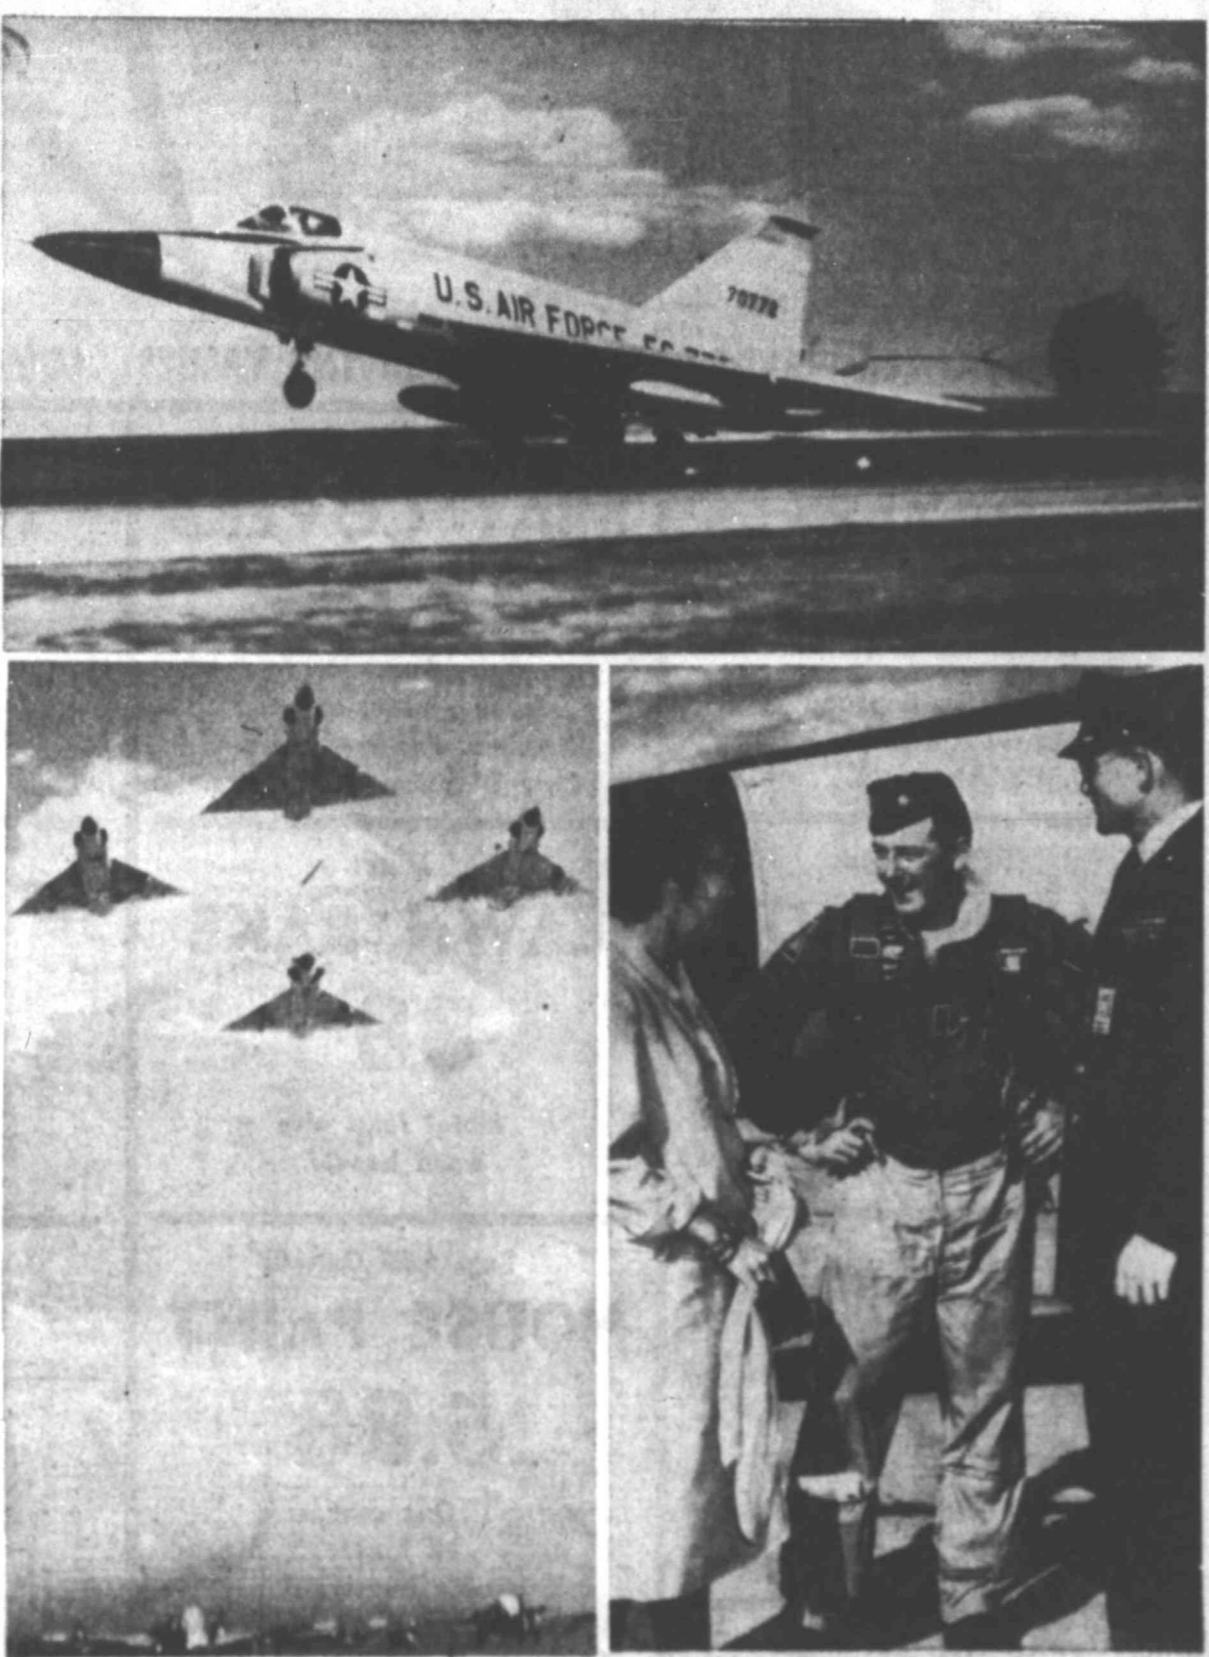

Official wheels which are required on Soap Box Derby racers have arrived, and a couple of boys were on hand to get theirs Saturday.

Tuesday afternoon the Texas Tech Choir will present a concert at the Senior High School. Then on Thursday evening the Sterling (Kans.) College Choir will be heard at HCJC's auditorium.

Of course music wasn't all that was in the air, for a lot of the local soil, plus a few hundred tons of it from the west, helped color the atmosphere.

Some new "residents" roared in Friday afternoon. These were two flights of the F-102 Delta Daggers which are replacing the old F-96L Sabrejets of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Webb.

The big rush for automobile tags proved about as anticipated. Something over $160,000 was taken in the five days of the week before (See THE WEEK, P. 10-A, Col. 1)

Delta Daggers Come Home To New Roost

Friday the first elements of F-102 planes out of Ethan Allen AFB, Vt. arrived here for their new home—the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron.

331st Receives New Jets As Part Of Its Defensive Arm

Weather and mechanical difficulties played tricks, but by Saturday Webb AFB had part of the F-102 Delta Daggers which will constitute the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron's defensive arm.

Twelve of the super-sonic interceptors took off from Ethan Allen AFB, Vt. early Friday morning, but four were delayed by unexpected maintenance problems.

Tiros I Sends Back Pictures Of Earth Clouds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pictures of cloud formations over all parts of the world were radioed back Saturday by the new American weather-eye satellite.

The high success of earth-orbiting Tiros I was encouraging news for military men who are trying to perfect a spy-in-the-sky space vehicle system.

All of the satellite's instruments—cameras, tape recorders, clocks, altitude and sun sensors—were functioning properly as Tiros whizzed along in one of the most perfect earth orbits ever achieved.

The temperature inside the satellite was 62 degrees, climbing to 74 degrees when receiving stations triggered it to relay photos.

Snapping its pictures from 450 miles up, Tiros may be the forerunner of a system that could forecast major storms all over the world. It was fired into orbit Friday morning from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration late Saturday released copies of pictures taken by Tiros' "high resolution" camera at 2 p.m. Friday from 450 miles above the eastern coast of the United States.

The narrow-angle camera is designed to permit study of cloud structures in greater detail than is possible with Tiros' wide-angle camera.

Details in Saturday's pictures were about 10 times greater than in the first set made public. The pictures were relayed from the satellite to the receiving station at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., and showed two different kinds of clouds.

The earth below them showed mostly as a dark mass. Tiros' success in sending back broad-scale pictures of land and sea areas and vast cloud formations can contribute to data being compiled for the Air Force's Project Samos.

Samos has replaced the original Project Sentry in the military's space program. It is intended eventually to enable the United States to maintain a constant reconnaissance of much of the surface of the globe in detail which would show airfields, missile-launching sites, fleet movements and military construction.

To do this, television cameras capable of much more detailed coverage than those used in the Tiros satellite of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration would be needed.

Big Dish Keeps Eye On Satellite

By HAL McCLEURE FT. MONMOUTH, N.J. (AP)—A motor suddenly whirred into action and the giant antenna started slowly rotating.

"She's tracking now," said a technician. Somewhere above the low, gray clouds Tiros I—Uncle Sam's new weather-eye satellite—was making its 19th pass around the earth since its launching Friday.

While the big 60-foot diameter "dish" antenna continued to track the satellite, a 10-man crew inside a long, low building nearby worked quietly, methodically.

They stood and sat before banks of instruments and electronic equipment, pushing buttons, twisting dials.

Their task: to relieve the satellite of its pictures and to give it new instructions. The Tiros I control center was opened for the first time to newsmen Saturday. It is one of two such installations; the other is at Kaena Point, Hawaii.

Pictures of the earth's cloud cover taken by the satellite are transmitted to the ground stations by radio command.

On ground, the signals are converted into television pictures, which can then be photographed on film.

LAST WEEK FOR ENTRIES IN CITY'S $100 CENSUS CONTEST

This is your last week to have a try at $100 cash, simply by figuring out what the official 1960 census figure will be for the corporate limits of Big Spring.

All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight of next Sunday, April 10. So prepare your entry right away.

The "How Big Is Big Spring" contest, sponsored by The Herald and the city's three radio stations, simply requires that you make your estimate as to the city's official population in the current census; enter it, with your name and address, on a U. S. postcard, and mail it to Box 1381.

The figure closest to the official census (to be announced probably early in May) will win $100 cash. In case of ties, the earliest postmarked entry wins. Anyone can enter (except radio and newspaper employes and families, and census workers), but only one entry per person will be accepted.

There couldn't be anything much simpler, could there? Make your census estimate today! And be sure you are counted in the official census.

Helping Hand For The Heart

Mrs. Larson Lloyd, chairman of the Howard County chapter of the American Heart Society, Saturday evening handed Dr. Hugh E. Wilson, Dallas, a check to the AHS for $750.

Medics Urge Aid In Heart Research

Dollars pumped into research may mean hearts that will go on pumping with renewed vigor, two renowned heart specialists declared here Saturday evening.

Speaking to a dinner affair for laymen as well as physicians at Cosden Country Club, Dr. J. Willis Hurst, Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Hugh Edward Wilson, Dallas, told how research had opened up exciting new vistas in heart treatment and surgery.

Yet the surface has hardly been scratched, and both looked forward to the day when possibly even whole hearts may be transplanted.

Mrs. Larson Lloyd, president of the Howard County chapter of the Texas Heart Association, presented Dr. Wilson with a check for $750 as a research contribution.

BETTER HEALTH Just as research in industry assures better products for tomorrow, so research in medicine means better health ahead, Dr. Hurst told the group.

It was not so long ago that most heart disease was termed indigestion, and even when recognized it called for a regimen of six months or more in bed plus retirement. Now 80 per cent of those with cardiac attack survive. Most of them do well and in many cases the patient becomes more active than ever before.

Research led to preventive steps which have sharply reduced the chance of rheumatic fever and resultant heart damage. Dr. Hurst said, and in other fields results have been equally impressive. Yet in the most common types of heart attack, such as the blockage of the artery which serves the heart itself, little is known. There are many ideas and clues, but research will have to unravel the riddle of "why."

CELL REPULSION Transplantation of heart is no longer a technical problem for physicians, he reminded, but tissue of one individual is incompatible with that of another.

Hence, research in the chemical laboratory may someday overcome the revulsion of one body against tissue from another, and good hearts may be transplanted to take the place of ailing ones. Where will the hearts come from? Our highways will furnish a good supply if traffic fatalities continue as now.

Research is a never ending problem, he added, for a lung disease in which air cells rupture and coalesce is on the increase. This ailment places a burden on the heart and Dr. Hurst predicted that it would get to be a major problem.

It is only within the last 12 years that there has been such a thing as heart surgery, Dr. Wilson reminded the group. The residue of ancient belief that the heart was the seat of the soul may have held back surgeons who were terrified at the mere thought of putting a knife into the heart.

Yet today hearts are cut open and repaired with an increasingly (See MEDICS, Pg. 10-A, Col. 4)

City Election Due On Tuesday

Tuesday is election day for three seats on the Big Spring City Commission.

The incumbents, Mayor Lee O. Rogers, John Taylor and George Zachariah, have no opposition, except for a possible write-in campaign.

Voting will begin at 8 a.m. in the central fire station at City Hall, and will continue until 7 p.m. City Secretary C. R. McCleary, referring to newly annexed residents, said they could vote in the city election if they are qualified county voters.

He pointed out that they are not eligible to hold office unless they have been residents of the city for two years, a special requirement of the city charter.

Lively Balloting Is Due At Lamesa

LAMESA — Spring politics move to the second, and perhaps warmest, stage with the city commission election on Tuesday.

Six men are seeking three places, and all of them are fresh in the city political arena. Candidates for place No. 1 on the council are Jack Mitchell and S. A. Debnam. Seeking place No. 2 are J. R. Earnest and Guy Weeks. Opposing candidates for place No. 3 are Frank Liddell and Charles King.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Symington-for-President Committee leaped into the Democratic presidential primary campaign Saturday on the side of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

A spokesman for the committee said Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri knew nothing about this maneuver. But it sparked immediate repercussions in an already blazing battle between Humphrey and Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Sen. Symington, in Akron, Ohio, Saturday night for a speech, said he was "aware that there is a Symington club there—Wisconsin—but I haven't campaigned in Wisconsin, and if such a club wants to support Sen. Humphrey or Sen. Kennedy, it's all right with me."

Sen. Humphrey, when advised of the committee's action, said at La Crosse, "It could be that Sen. Symington's people think Sen. Humphrey is the better candidate. I didn't know they had a committee in the state."

MAKES A JOKE "Maybe the Kennedy people will be the next to come out for Sen. Humphrey," he added with a wide grin.

Humphrey said that the psychological effect of the committee announcement should be good.

Mayor Ivan Nestingen of Madison, chairman of the Kennedy-for-President Club in Wisconsin, however, rushed out a statement protesting that the Symington committee's action was "in exceedingly poor taste."

"It is an open manifestation," Nestingen said, "of the all-out effort being made to beat Sen. Kennedy in Wisconsin by candidates who have been unwilling to meet the people themselves."

That was an allusion to the fact that Symington, an announced candidate for the residential toga, failed to enter the Wisconsin primary.

In Washington, Stanley R. Pike Symington's administrative assistant and executive director of the Symington-for-President Committee, said there was no official Symington committee in Wisconsin.

KNOWS NOTHING Fike said he knew nothing about the Wisconsin action "in the name of a Symington committee" and added he was sure Symington knew nothing of it.

How much influence the Symington fans may have in the outcome of the primary election next Tuesday is a debatable question.

Census Office Opens In Settles

Offices for the federal census will be opened Monday in the Settles hotel lobby.

Matt Harrington and Louis Stallings, crew leaders, said that the telephone for the office would be AM 3-3982. Enumerators are due to make telephone checks with the office Monday.

Both Harrington and Stallings said that cooperation with the enumerators has been excellent, even beyond expectations. Rain Saturday slowed counting on the second day, but workers are due to be back in the field Monday.

Inspect The New Cars Today

Whatever the weather, you can well afford to take a little time today to join the parade to the New Car Open House, being observed by seven dealers in Big Spring.

Rain or shine, windy or not, showrooms will be open, and you won't be worried by the elements.

You'll learn much more details about the cooperative Open House on Pages 1 to 6, Section D, in today's Herald.

You'll want to join in this special observance of National New Car Dealer Week, and to see the appalling array of automotive values.

3 Student Pilots Write Air History In Flight To Dyess

Friday, three student pilots made a cross-country flight solo, from Webb to Dyess AFB at Abilene, to establish a precedent for pilot training at Webb Air Force Base.

"To my knowledge," said Col. Charles H. Pierce, commander of the 3560th Pilot Training Group, "this is the first time in the history of the U. S. Air Force that any student has gone on a cross country flight in a jet all by himself and has landed on a strange field."

The men, pioneers of a new training concept, were: 1st Lt. Larry Waller, Coldwater, Kans.; 1st Lt. Vaughn H. Martin, Dallas; and 2nd Lt. Gerald J. Smith, Philadelphia, Pa. All are assigned to "Q" Flight, Section IV, 3561st Pilot Training Squadron.

"Q" Flight was the experimental flight, Col. Pierce said. The group plans to follow this practice in the future, but Col. Pierce added that at the present "we consider using only our best students for solo flights to strange fields."

Col. Pierce and Lt. Col. Herman G. Tillman Jr., commander of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, flew to Abilene to monitor the landings.

On a normal ride students go out to the transition area, do a few aerobatics or fly formation, return to Webb and shoot a few landings. The Abilene run was different.

"We had to get out of the rut, and we had to 'listen,' said Lt. Waller. "Out there the traffic pattern is different, and the size of the runways and field elevation are things to contend with."

The three students took off 10 minutes apart, and each one reported new experiences as they entered the Dyess area. There were quite a few B-47 jet bombers in the landing pattern and each man had to wait for an opening in order to land.

On the return trip low ceilings forced the men to fly at a lower altitude than anticipated. Lt. Waller was the first man to land at Webb after the "historic" flight. He touched down at 5:35 p.m. Lt. Martin followed 10 minutes later; and Lt. Smith, who had to change aircraft at Dyess due to a malfunction in the directional gyro, landed at 6:25 p.m.

Capt. Richard Hickenbottom, Q Flight commander; and Capt. Charles O'Brien, assistant flight commander, also flew to Dyess to help the students out in case they encountered any difficulties.

Summer Sales Displays Set For May 26

A summer sales kick-off program, complete with a water carnival and beauty queen, was approved Thursday by the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Slated for May 26-28, the committee approved a program that will enlarge and combine the "summer fun days" and "better-buy days" of former years. One attraction of the festivities will be a queen contest, climaxed by an "aquatennial ball" with crowning a queen, featuring a name band.

The committee will call on dealers to build displays of summer merchandise, such as boats, motors, outdoor furniture, swimming equipment, etc. on the court house lawn. Pennants and posters will be used to attract crowds and entertainment on the square is planned.

Five committees will be named to continue planning for the program. They will work on court-house displays, better buy days, queen contest and ball, swimming and boating promotions, and advertising and publicity.

Gilbert Gibbs is chairman of the retail committee. Oliver Cofer is board coordinator.

Depression Theft Record Cleared

CALGARY, Alta. (AP)—The Supreme Court of Alberta has erased a 1930 theft conviction against a Windsor, Ont., truck driver. He served a 90-day sentence for stealing $6 worth of pork and beans in depression times, and U.S. immigration officials refused to let him drive across the border because of his record.

Stamps In The News

Switzerland, noted for its beautiful postage stamps, has issued another interesting set — the 1960 "Publicity Series." These annual stamp sets honor various Swiss national endeavors.

The 10-centimes 60cp green, light green and red stamp pays tribute to the international fight against cancer. The word "fight" in three languages appears as the basic design. The 20-c in four colors commemorates the 500th anniversary of the University of Basle. The 50-c ultramarine, yellow and blue honors World Refugee Year. The 75-c blue, grey and red is for Swissair's jet service overseas and continental routes. Highlighted on this stamp is a jet aircraft.

The proceeds derived from the sale of the World Refugee Year stamp will be donated via the United Nations for construction of refugee homes in Austria and Greece, and for food supplies to aid Algerian refugee children, reports the Swiss Philatelic Agency in America.

The United States Post Office Department reports a new record for first day covers established Feb. 8 at the Washington, D. C., Post Office when 1,419,955 covers bearing the 4-cent Boy Scouts of America Golden Jubilee stamp were cancelled. This far surpassed the previous record of 894,867 for a single stamp on May 30, 1959, for the 4-cent Lincoln Sesquicentennial commemorative. It also bettered the 1,207,933 first day covers bearing the 4-cent and 8-cent Ernst Reuter "Champion of Liberty" stamps also released at Washington.

Latest reports indicate that more than 70 nations of the free world will be issuing stamps honoring World Refugee Year. From Togo comes word that it will issue only two values in its World Refugee Year set instead of its originally announced five stamps. Their postal officials claimed that time was insufficient to allow the other three values to be completed.

Revenue Stamps Reflect Brisk Trading Tempo

Total revenue stamp purchases by Pauline Petty, county clerk, amounted to $2,206.05 for the first quarter of the year. Converted to approximate values, this would reflect something like $2,200,000 of real estate and similar trading during that period.

This is not necessarily a complete figure, however, since instruments sent in from out-of-county might already have the tax paid on them. During January Mrs. Petty's office bought $649.65 in revenue stamps, $666.80 in February and then $891.60 in March. The biggest single day was $174.90 on March 8.

Activity Up For Clerk

reported total fees of $1,865.75 as compared with $1,755.85 during February.

Recording fees of $983.23 were up by a little over $100. Other receipts in March included $165 for chattel mortgages, $271 for certified copies, $42 for 14 marriage licenses, $148.25 in probate fees, $56.20 in state hospital fees, $44.05 in misdemeanor court cases, $22.75 in civil cases, $75.50 in vital statistics fees, $40 in beer permits, $9 for filing of wills, $1.55 for miscellaneous and $7.50 hunting and fishing licenses.

One order for 316 certified copies came in from an oil company and will show up in the April business. This is the largest single such order since Mrs. Petty has served as clerk, she said.

Band Boosters Will Meet To Raise Band Trip Funds

The Band Boosters Club will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the Big Spring High School band hall to lay plans for financing the band's trip to the Enid contest.

Rex Bishop, president of the Boosters, said the NTSC Band concert, sponsored here by his organization, failed to bring in sufficient profits to defray the band's expenses. The annual contest is held in May in Enid, Okla., with representation from bands all over the country.

Bishop said various plans for fund raising will be discussed, including a cake sale.

Entertainment will be provided by the high school band's solo and ensemble groups. The band recently copied a record number of first places in a regional contest in Odessa.

AIA To Study Unit Changes

A plan for reorganization of the national structure will be the province of the American Institute of Architects at its regular meeting Monday night at the Lincoln Hotel in Odessa.

Charlie Taylor, Odessa, president of the chapter, has announced that the chapter will instruct its convention delegates on voting procedures at the national convention in San Francisco later this month.

The West Texas Chapter is composed of architects in Midland, Odessa, Big Spring and San Angelo.

Liberals Await Convention Chance

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' liberal Democrats are carefully planning to take full advantage of any break their way at the national convention in July.

Prospects of any total or part seizure of long-lost power by the liberals are interesting, but the road to that is strewn with "ifs."

The biggest "if" is Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, his power and hopes. He is loaded with both.

Should he win the nomination at Los Angeles, the Texas party machinery would stay where it is in the hands of the moderates: Johnson, Gov. Price Daniel, Speaker Sam Rayburn, national committeeman Byron Skelton, state chairman Ed Connally.

Suppose Sen. Kennedy wins? In that event, the liberal Texans now headed by national committeewoman Mrs. Frankie Randolph would be in their strongest position since 1944. This would be almost equally true if some other liberal wins, but less true if a Johnson-backed moderate wins.

In 1944, a liberal group of Texas Democrats ousted conservative, party-bolting leaders.

BITTER FIGHT
The battle this year could be as bitter—in fact almost is now—and perhaps as divisive as the fight in 1944. That year the liberals ousted conservative electors who refused to pledge support to the national nominee for President. They were replaced with electors who would, and did.

The recurring question of party loyalty and stated or implied threats of a southern bolt is at the root of the conflict. It now seems only a remote possibility that the present party leadership in Texas would let itself be maneuvered into a hole on this question.

National Chairman Paul Butler's statement that loyal Democrats from six Southern states should seek to be seated at the Los Angeles convention if regular delegates refuse to take the pledge does not apply directly to Texas. The six states Butler referred to were Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina

S. Africa Banned

LONDON (AP)—The musicians union is banning performances by British orchestras in South Africa. A union statement said its members are barred from playing there until "the pernicious apartheid segregation policy of the South African government has been abandoned."

Webb Youth Center Opened

James Kemp and Nancy Pearson were among the more than 75 teen-agers enjoying the music of Howard County Junior College's Bel-Airs Friday in the pre-opening dance of the base Youth Center. Mrs. D. W. Eisenhart, wife of the Webb AFB wing commander, officially opened the center Saturday. Guests for the Friday dance were the Eisenharts, Deputy Wing Commander Col. James H. Johnson, and Col. and Mrs. Charles H. Pierce, commander of the 3500th Pilot Training Group.

Texas delegations. One was liberal, the other conservative. Each delegate got half a vote. When the conservatives stormed angrily out of the convention, the liberals gleefully moved into their seats and cast all the votes.

and Arkansas. Conservative Democrats there have adopted rules that will set up a bolt if they don't like the national convention's civil rights plank.

"RIDICULOUS"
Texas Democratic leaders, including Speaker Rayburn, called Butler's suggestion "ridiculous." Texas has not adopted bolt rules like those six states have. But at the last State Executive Committee meeting, a loyalty resolution was turned down when leaders said the organization has already demonstrated its party fealty.

At the last two committee meetings, almost identical loyalty resolutions were brought up by the lonesome liberal minority on the state committee. Both were defeated.

Those were two important foundation stones in the liberal's hopes for a future break. They were for the written record. Butler, it will be noted, said that if unpledged delegations to the national convention should be challenged by delegates who will sign written pledges, he hopes the Credentials Committee will favor the pledgers.

In that connection, an important factor is that Butler, although under fire, is and will be national chairman in the vital pre-convention maneuvering. His influence is strong.

COULD WIN
Suppose a group of Texas liberals walks out at the state convention, organizes its own rump session, and sends a signed, sealed and fully pledged delegation to Los Angeles? Suppose the regular convention brushes off the loyalty requirement and sends its own delegation?

A hearing before the Credentials Committee in advance of the national convention could go in favor of the liberals and the convention could accept a recommendation throwing out the moderates.

That seems inconceivable at this time.

It would be a complete repudiation of Johnson, not only as a presidential possibility but as his party's leader in the Senate.

It also seems that the Johnson-Daniel-Rayburn moderates would have the foresight to make some definite gesture of loyalty, on paper, that they could take to Los Angeles to back their claim to seats in the convention.

The moderates are planning carefully, perhaps more carefully than the liberals, to go to Los Angeles not only 100 per cent for pick up the pieces if disaster hits them.

In 1944, the Credentials Committee equivocated and seated two

Not All Serve On Grand Juries; Many Hand-Picked

How do you get to be a grand juror in Howard County? Or, perhaps, how do you get off being a grand juror in the case you are summoned for that duty?

Or, for that matter, how does it happen you are called or not called for petit jury service?

Service as a grand juror usually attracts more public attention than service as a petit juror.

Now that the Howard County grand jury has been called back for a second session in the present term of court, interest in this arm of the county's law enforcement agencies has stepped up.

"HAND-PICKED" BODIES

Grand juries in Howard County, contrary to the system employed in some larger cities, are largely "hand-picked" groups. That is to say, the jury commissioners, appointed by the district court to draw grand and petit jury members, take considerable pains in selecting the panel from which the county's grand jurors for a court term will be selected.

It has been the practice in Howard County for some time to draw the names of 20 persons to report for grand jury duty. This particular procedure is different from the law. The law says that a grand jury panel shall consist of 16 persons. However, observers who have watched activities around the court house think that the 20-member panel was designed to insure that from the group reporting 12 will be available for duty.

A grand juror in Howard County and in Texas has one additional qualification that a petit juror does not need. The grand juror must have paid his poll tax. The petit juror is not required to have fulfilled this obligation. Both grand and petit jurors must either be property owners or householders. This latter word simply means they are qualified to serve as jurors if they are married. A single man, who does not own real estate in Texas, is ineligible for jury duty.

In selecting a grand jury, it is generally the procedure to take the jury list, after those who have been excused for legitimate reasons (illness, overage, absence from the county, etc.) and name the first 12 left. After a grand jury is selected, nine of its members can perform its functions.

In the case of a petit (trial) jury, all 12 jurors in the box must be on hand for a decision. If 12 grand jurors are in session and a matter is presented to them for action, and as many as nine agree, the decision reached is effective. A petit jury, on the other hand, has to reach its decisions by unanimous vote.

GRAND JURY'S DUTY

Generally speaking a grand jury is a special committee, selected from the citizenship, to look into matters, generally criminal in nature, and ascertain if there is justification for someone being prosecuted in the courts for the offenses under investigation. It can take one of three actions on any matter before it — return an indictment (which means the person concerned must go before the proper court) refuse to bring an indictment, which nullifies the complaint against the individual, or in rarer instances vote a "no bill." Lawyers say that a "no bill" action by a grand jury is of little importance legally and is rarely employed. Failure to approve an indictment has the same basic effect as a formal "no bill" report.

The 12 persons named to a grand jury serve throughout the term of court for which they are selected. Usually their work takes only one to three days immediately after they are selected. During the January term—the long term of court—it is customary to recall the grand jurors a second time to act on accumulated complaints which have been filed since their initial session.

A petit juror, on the other hand, is called for a specific week in court. He may have to serve one day or perhaps throughout the week. He will not be recalled during that term of court.

One member of the grand jury is designated by the court as foreman. Any member of the grand jury who finds he cannot be present at a session of the body must advise the foreman. If enough grand jurors are on hand—nine is the minimum—the work will go ahead. If more than three are absent, the grand jury has to recess its work until the absent members are back in their seats or at least enough to bring the number to nine.

HOW IT WORKS

The district attorney or his assistant presents the cases to the grand jury. Witnesses come before it and, under oath, testify as to their knowledge of the matter being considered. When all pending cases are presented, the grand jury lock themselves in their room on the third floor of the court house and vote on what action is to be taken on each case.

Until recent years, only men served on petit and grand juries. Now women are eligible for duty on both and most grand juries in Howard County have feminine members.

Since it is a well established fact that most grand jury panels have been carefully hand-picked—which is to say selected by the jury commission from the poll tax rolls and the property tax listings for their qualifications as good citizens—the qualification examination of the panel before the court is usually brief. It takes much less time to qualify a grand jury panel than to qualify a petit jury panel. Other than for an occasional emergency, very few grand jury panel members ask to be excused from their duty.

FEW ARE CALLED

What are your chances of being called as a grand juror?

Statistically poor. Only four grand juries are empaneled each year. Thus only 80 individuals are ordinarily called for duty in a year and of these only 48 actually serve. As said before, the fact that the grand jurors are carefully selected further reduces the chances of any lay citizen being called. It is also fairly well established that over the years, experienced veterans of other grand juries are prone to get recall summonses.

Your chances of being called for ordinary jury duty are much brighter.

In 1959, the jury commission drew the names of 1,200 persons for petit jury duty. In addition to these, the County Court used perhaps a hundred more. Percentage wise, therefore, the odds are that you will get a letter from the sheriff, sooner or later, notifying you to report for service as a juror.

Your pay, grand juror or petit juror, will be $3 for each day you have to report. However, if during the year there is a special venire drawn, and you are on it, your pay will be only $2 per day. A special venire is used in capital cases and is provided by dumping all of the jury panels for the entire court term into a box and drawing out whatever number is required. The number ranges from 75 upward. Occasionally the bailiff (sheriff) may be instructed to go out on the street and summon jurors to complete a panel.

Recovered Loot

Police detectives Varnell Johnson (left) and Jack Jones list the large pile of loot they recovered when two teen-agers were arrested here last week for car burglary. The arrests ended several months of car stripping in the area and Jones said most of the loot had been recovered. It included 14 tires and wheels, most of them new, two carburetors, a battery and a large number of hub caps. Johnson said some of the stolen equipment was on the car of one of the men.

Bullfighting Going To Dogs

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Bullfighting is going to the dogs in Mexico City.

Once the favorite sport here, it has steadily declined in popularity, and this year reached an all-time low without a formal season in any local bullring.

True fans say the sport has dropped to bush-league level. Bulls are poor, matadors are as bad. Could the Yokum Tigers fill Yankee Stadium?

The Plaza Mexico, world's largest bullring, has been closed because of difficulties including high taxes, poor management, controlled ticket prices too low to permit profits, and uncomprising labor demands.

Contempt Prisoner Says His Inner 'Witness' Is Clear

BOSCAWEN, N.H. (AP) — Dr. Willard Uphaus, who has served 3½ months of a one-year jail term for contempt of court, said Saturday that "the inner witness is still clear."

"In a world of relativities, compromise and opportunism, it is still good to feel solid moral foundation under our feet," the 69-year-old New Haven, Conn., pacifist declared.

In a statement issued from his cell at the Merrimack County Jail here, the Methodist layman said he and Mrs. Uphaus were "deeply disappointed" when the State Supreme Court rejected his bid for freedom Thursday.

But, he added, "we have long since fortified ourselves against temporary upsets. . . . The time will come when the courts will restore the Bill of Rights to the people. . . ."

Uphaus was jailed last Dec. 14 after defying on grounds of conscience a court order to disclose the names of guests at his World Fellowship Summer Camp in Conway.

The names were demanded by Atty. Gen. Louis C. Wyman for use in a state probe of subversive activities. Wyman described Uphaus' claim of conscience as "a pretense and a sham."

Odessa Held In Wife's Death

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A man who came here from Odessa, Tex., is under arrest on a charge of killing his estranged wife in Los Angeles, the FBI announced Friday.

John Sonnenberg, 30, was held under $25,000 on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder. He was accused of stabbing his former wife Sept. 5, 1957.

Sonnenberg was living here with his present wife, whom he married in Odessa in February.

Water Usage Lags Behind Last Year

Despite a late upsurge last month, water consumption in Big Spring is lagging behind last year totals.

During the first quarter, Big Springers have opened their faucets to 278,878,000 gallons of Lake J. B. Thomas water. Last year, during the first three months, there were 313,868,000 gallons used.

The daily average has been running between three to four million gallons per day. But last Wednesday, the consumption leaped up to 6,039,000 gallons.

Residents used 96,968,000 gallons in January, 90,841,000 gallons in February and 109,169,000 gallons in March. Consumption is expected to continue to climb as residents begin lawn and garden work during the spring and summer months.

Water used by Cabot Carbon Co. brought the consumption for the first quarter up to 335,628,000 gallons. The two firms took 106,965,000 gallons during the quarter.

March Brings Lift In Home Building

More building permits for new homes were issued in March than for any month in over a year-and-a-half.

Tom Newton, building inspector, said he issued 27 permits for new homes during March, total value listed at $198,500. This is the highest number since August, 1958, when 90 permits for homes were issued.

There were 120 building permits issued during the month for total value of $321,500. Two of them were for commercial buildings, totaling $47,000. The remaining 91 were for additions, remodeling and moving, valued at $76,000.

March, last year, had 78 permits for $211,162. Only 13 new residences were planned.

First quarter figures peg construction in Big Spring at $626,681 for 218 permits. March totals were higher than the January and February totals combined.

This year lags behind 1959 construction figures. The first three months total was $1,093,238, for 157 permits. A school building permit boosted the figure last year.

Newton said warm temperatures have encouraged Big Spring do-it-yourselfers out of the house and into the yard, accounting for some of the increase in construction for March.

A significant development in March was 20 new homes planned in the Stardust Addition and the first residence in the Coronado Hills subdivision.

Finley and Jim Horn, doing business as H&H Homebuilders out of Abilene, purchased property from E. C. Smith in the Stardust Addition and took out 20 permits. Each permit lists the house at $7,000.

Developments Unlimited Inc., Odessa, filed a building permit of $14,000 to build the first house in Coronado Hills. This firm is developing the land formerly owned by the Big Spring Country Club.

R. E. Collier, took out three of the new home permits, all in the College Park Estates area and listed at $9,000 each.

On the commercial side, C. D. McDonald was issued the permit for the building at 1103 11th Pl., valued at $35,000. The other new commercial structure is being built by Arthur Madewell at 308 Young, listed at $12,000.

Men Added To Lamesa Force

LAMESA — Seven new patrolmen and two additional dispatchers have joined Lamesa's police department and two other officers will be hired in the near future to augment the force.

Addition of the new patrolmen was required by a new law which instituted a 40-hour per week work schedule for municipal police forces. Most of the local officers had been working about 54 hours per week and nine new men were needed to establish the system according to the new state directive.

Patrolman Travis Long has been advanced in rank to Sergeant and he will assume control of one of the three shifts. Sgt. Earl Allred and Captain Tom Finley will control the remaining two shifts. Chief H. Morris Zimmerman said.

New officers selected include: Albert McPeak, Bill Edwards, Delmar Wooten, William R. McNulty, G. F. McGuire, Billy Roberts, and J. D. Parker.

The city police force now has 17 patrolmen.

Bob Suggs and Dixie Malsberger have also been selected as police dispatchers and that force now totals four.

One group of business firms who have always kept busy are the

Juicy Prices

The three old houses being torn down on the 500 block of S. Scurry could settle a few bets on business conditions two score years ago. On some of the wide wall boards are still pasted newspapers dating back to 1894.

Also a pile of Fort Worth Star Telegrams dating back to 1925 were found. In the automobile sections a brand new Overland car was offered for $575, and there was a new Model T Ford truck for $500. One firm also had a sale on 30x3 1/2 tires.

There was some important oil news too. One item claims a deep test had been staked in Jack County. The well would go down 2,200 feet, which nowadays is not much deeper than some water wells out in the Trans-Pecos.

The old houses were sold to L. W. Elliott, who is tearing them down board for board. This is not too easy, because the lumber on the inside is still well preserved, and nailed together with those old-fashioned square nails.

Elliott kicked one of the boards and said: "I'll bet this was put here 50 or 60 years ago, but it's still as good as some lumber you buy today."

More Compacts

Automotive News (national) — Practically all the American automobile companies are getting into the small car act. The latest figures show the compacts are commanding a sizeable part of the business, so there will be more of them.

A Dodge compact is due next fall, and will likely be called the Vanguard. It will be first cousin of the Valiant, but will be sold by Dodge dealers.

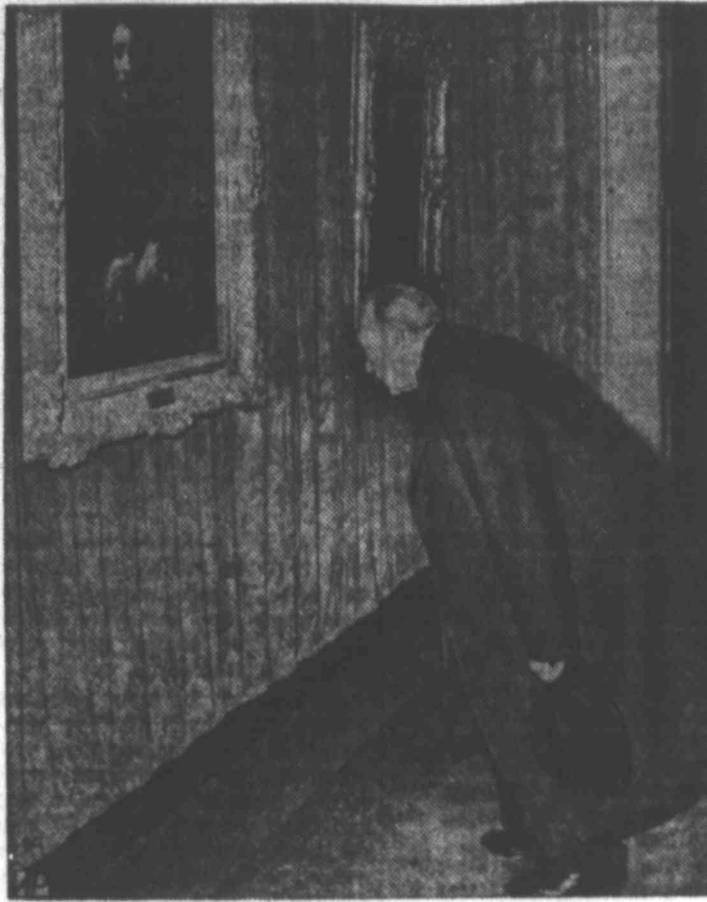

Buick will also hit the autumn market with a small car, though all details have not been released yet. And Ford is coming out with another car, even smaller than the Falcon or Comet. This one will weigh only 1650 pounds, and may be slated for the foreign market.

A leading car analyst says there will be more models than ever, but luxury cars will not be hurt. There are plenty of people in the higher income brackets who will demand even more luxury in their automobiles, and price will not be the main factor with them.

Young Deputy-Bavarian Model

Holger Bernitt, shown above complete with cowboy hat, pistol and western vest, holds a Howard County deputy sheriff's commission. This is unusual in view of the fact that Holger lives in a suburb of Munich, Bavaria, and speaks no English. He was provided the hat, gun and commission by Sheriff Miller Harris, Howard County. In response to the gift, Holger has sent the sheriff an elaborate Bavarian beer stein, complete with lid. On the back of the photo sent Sheriff Harris is a message which informs the officer that his young deputy thanks him for the gifts and sends his love.

Contempt Hearing Ends In Warning

Mrs. Edith Morgan, housewife and babysitter, escaped Friday from being held in contempt of court.

Instead, Judge Ralph Caton, presiding judge of the 118th District Court, delivered her a stern lecture for failing to heed a writ of habeas corpus.

Mrs. Morgan contended that she misunderstood the writ, which commanded her to bring two children into court. Because she did not have the children in her custody, she said she did not think she had to answer in person.

The hearing was the aftermath to one conducted Thursday night after the court learned that the habeas corpus writ had been refused.

DENIES DEMAND

Attorney Wayne Basden had petitioned for the writ in an effort to learn the whereabouts of Mrs. Billy Jean Smith's two young children. The petition alleged that Mrs. Morgan was keeping the children for Mrs. Smith's estranged husband, Carlos Smith, and had refused to surrender the children until a $15 payment for their care had been made. Mrs. Morgan denied that she made any such demand.

Judge Caton ordered Mrs. Morgan brought into court Thursday night after he was informed the writ had been ignored. In the heated hearing that continued until almost midnight, the court accused the object of the writ of an "impertinent and arrogant attitude."

She was not represented by counsel at that session, but at the Friday hearing to show cause why she should not be held in contempt, Mrs. Morgan was represented by John Richard Coffee. She also brought Mrs. Lois McCristian and Mrs. Ruby Waters neighbors, who testified they had not seen the Smith children at her place for several weeks. Mrs. Morgan again testified she had not had the children since March 12. On that date a man, whom she believed to be Carlos Smith, came for the children. At first she declined to yield them but when police advised that the father had a right to them in the absence of a divorce decree, she turned the babies over to him, she said.

Mrs. Morgan told the court that the reason she did not answer the writ of habeas corpus by coming to court was because she did not have the children. She denied that any remarks she made at the Thursday hearing were in disrespect for the court.

According to Basden, the Smiths are separated. The two children are Deborah Kay, 17 months, and Curtis Smith, 2½ months. They were presumably left with the babysitter about a month ago when the parents parted.

Judge Caton acquiesced to Basden's suggestion that the woman not be held in contempt. Basden pointed out that the information sought—whether or not Mrs. Morgan had the children in her custody—had been obtained.

PROMPT ACTION

Judge Caton said that he would comply with the suggestion, but he delivered a lecture on the importance and value of the habeas corpus.

"This court will require any writ of habeas corpus be respected and obeyed. Failure to do so will get whoever is guilty into grave trouble. This court will sit on a habeas corpus petition at any hour of the day or night and will demand that the principals involved respond to its orders without delay," the judge declared.

"This defendant, I believe, did not fully understand the gravity of the situation. She probably did not comprehend in full the urgency of a writ of habeas corpus. Therefore, she will not be punished for contempt."

Prof Says Computer Use Brings Industry Revolution

AUSTIN (AP)—A University of Texas professor said Saturday the increasing use of mathematical analysis and computers in Texas is leading to a new industrial revolution.

Alfred Dale, asst. professor of business statistics, discussed consequences of the changes in a report from the Bureau of Business Research at the university.

Dale said the changes "may eventually be as far-reaching as the first industrial revolution that, 200 years ago, transformed existing processes of industrial production and organization."

Until recently, the report said, management made its decisions on the basis of intuition and experience after studying the relevant information.

"As companies have grown larger and more complex, the difficulties of making good top-level decisions have enormously increased, and the penalties for making bad decisions have increased also," Dale said.

"In many organizations," he noted, "it is quite impossible for any single individual to take into account all the factors that should be considered in making a major policy change, or all the consequences that might flow from a given policy action."

New techniques of decision-making began to be used on a large scale for the first time during World War II when "problems of this kind were of great concern to the military," the report said.

Major applications in industry, Dale said, are in three fields—Suboptimizing procedures, corporate simulation and operational gaming.

Crowded Program For Feeders Day

LUBBOCK — Economical methods of feeding livestock on the plains will be emphasized at the annual Livestock Feeder's Day at Texas Tech April 25.

Dr. Ralph M. Durham, animal husbandry department head at Tech, said seven research reports on feeding of beef cattle, lambs and pigs will be made by animal husbandry graduate students and seniors who conducted the feeding experiments.

For the first time, carcass information on about half of the cattle which were fed during the experiments will be available at the Feeder's Day, Durham said.

"Our emphasis this year will be on the economy of utilizing plains-grown feeds," he said.

"Many of the rations used in the experiments used no alfalfa hay, but all of the rations utilized various forms of milo, silage and cottonseed by-products."

REPORTS AVAILABLE

All of the feeding reports will be available in brief form for those attending the meeting. On exhibit will be some 270 Angus and Hereford yearlings and calves, approximately 200 lambs and 50 pigs.

Research reports slated to be given between 10 a.m. and noon include "Mineral Studies at Pan Tech" by Henry Urban, graduate student from Miles; "Methods of Preparing Milo for Swine" by Richard Ligon, graduate student from Loving; "Lamb Feed Trials—High vs. Low Grain, High vs. Low Roughage and Cottonseed vs. Cottonseed Meal" by Henry Elliott, senior animal husbandry student from Rankin.

Also programmed are research reports on "Energy Protein Relationships in Rations Using Cottonseed and Cottonseed Meal" by James Neill, senior animal husbandry major from Merkel; "Replacement Rates of Seed for Meal and Silage" by Dallas Powell, senior animal husbandry major from Plains; "Pelleting Different Feeds for Cattle, Including High Roughage and High Cottonseed Meal Rations," by Don Watson, graduate student from Miami; and "Feeding Bull Calves and Implanting Bull and Steer Calves," by Tom Koger, animal husbandry senior from Lamesa.

TRANQUILIZERS

Paul Marion, superintendent of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Spur, will report on "Studies on Implanting Tranquilizers."

In the afternoon session, J. H. Baumgardner, Tech associate professor of animal husbandry, will discuss nutritional problems and Dr. O. D. Butler of Texas A&M will talk on "Meatiness in Beef Cattle." The new experiment station at Throckmorton will be discussed by Harry Matthews, TAES superintendent there.

A noon barbecue will be provided by the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, the Lubbock Cotton Oil Mill, and Western Cotton Oil Mill.

McGregor Heads News Hall Of Fame

AUSTIN (AP)—Stuart McGregor, Dallas Morning News editorial writer and editor of the Texas Almanac, Saturday became the first contemporary journalist named to the University of Texas Journalism Hall of Fame.

Samuel Bangs, pioneer Texas printer and newspaperman, was the other initial selection. A contemporary newspaperman and a deceased member will be named each year.

The selections were announced at a meeting of journalism students during the university's roundup observance.

McGregor, the first graduate of the journalism school, gained a bachelor's degree in 1914 and a master's degree in 1915.

Bangs came to Texas in 1917 and published newspapers in Corpus Christi, Galveston, Houston and the Mexican states of Tamaulipas and Coahuila.

'Scrrrrruggghh,' Said The Tires

No, the typewriter didn't stutter, and neither did Frank Dunlap, when he showed our photographer how to imitate the screeching of tires on a hot pavement. Dunlap's artistry with sound effects will be a non-essential part of the entertainment to be had at the annual talent show to be held in City Auditorium Tuesday evening. Dunlap is producer and emcee for the show.

Talent Show Filled With Fun For All

Lists of judges and contestants in the annual Big Spring Talent Show were announced today by Frank Dunlap, producer.

Dunlap is director of distributive education for Big Spring High School, and the DE Club is the sponsor for the event. The show will be held Tuesday evening in City Auditorium.

Judges will be Eric Burns, high school English teacher and former night club entertainer; Jack Hendrix, chief of the HCJC music department; Doug Wiehe, high school band director; Frank McDonald, high school government teacher and patron of the theatre arts; Bob Lindley, program director for KEDY-TV; and Bob Smith, Herald critic.

Dunlap has developed a point system for the judges to follow, so as to keep the decisions as unbiased as is humanly possible. Factors which will count in the judging will include personality, characterization, stage adaptation, tempo and general talent.

Emcee chores will be taken by Dunlap, and DE Club members will act as ticket agents, ushers and backstage hands. Dunlap also will participate as a non-contestant, in a skit featuring his sound effects talents with a microphone.

He started his hobby three years ago when, as a drama student at HCJC, he used the college auditorium's mike to reproduce odd sounds aimed at unsettling Fred Short, his instructor. Soon, he worked out a skit woven around the sound effects, and was requested to present the skit several times.

Later, at Sul Ross College, Dunlap won the All-College Talent Show, later copping the top award at the Lone Star Conference show, attended by several colleges. His method has been described as very much like that of the prize-winning cartoon character, "Gerald McBoing-Boing."

Dunlap gave this listing of entries:

J. W. Turney, vocal; Mike Bishop, fire baton; L. Emil Bodo and "Babe" Bryan, instrumental duet; Karen Utley, dance; Marjorie Harkrider of Lamesa, dramatic reading; Ronnie Phillips, vocal;

The Continentals combo, with Randy Hensley, Lefty Morris, Doug Eastman; and with Tony Starr on vocal; "Julius Caesar" skit, with Pickle, Tim Williamson, Ross Reagan, Wayne Griffin, Jake Glickman, Tommy Wilkinson, Carl Sullivan and Rip Patterson; Marilyn Bigham and Jane Cowper, pantomime; U. L. Cuthbertson, guitar and vocal; Linda Williams, vocal; Jonita Daniels, vocal;

The Dream Tones vocal group, with Jerry Gilmore, Ronnie Hamby, Rip Patterson and James Faris;

The Dancing Angels, of Snyder; Lida Fiveash, dramatic reading; Nancy Goolsby of Lamesa, dance; Bessie Smith group vocal; Marjorie Newman of Center Point, accordion and vocal; Benny Pitzer, guitar and vocal;

And the Devil Rockers, with Johnny Cone, Don Cariole, Jerry Gilmore and Robert Phelan.

Lady Bird Had 3 Careers But Dropped All For Lyndon

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Lady Bird Taylor had three careers ready. She scrapped them all for Lyndon Johnson.

Now, as the wife of the busy Senate majority leader, she has so little time she considers things like bridge playing "a self indulgence."

"I'd adore to go to plays—read a murder mystery—get a massage, but there's rarely time," she reports.

Even an evening together for a social gathering is hard to come by with a husband who once said only half-jokingly that he thinks politics 18 hours a day.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, 47, a petite, trim, attractive brunette with dark eyes and a Texas drawl, has two daughters, ages 15 and 12, a radio-TV station and a husband hankering for the presidency.

The idea of Lyndon for president came up as long ago as the 1936 convention. "I regard the job with awe," his wife said then.

She's as good a press agent as Johnson could get, admires his "never say die spirit" and predicts "the last thing he's going to do is stand still."

Lady Bird should know. After one date in 1934, Lyndon Johnson asked her to marry him. "I thought it was some kind of joke," she recalls. But they were married two months later.

She was 21 then and Lyndon, 26, was secretary to a Texas congressman. Lady Bird had studied journalism at the University of Texas, had taken enough education courses to qualify as a second-grade teacher, and was prepared with shorthand, typing and business courses to go to work as a secretary as well.

But Lyndon changed all that. Today, as they commute between the Johnson ranch in Texas and their three-story, white brick home in northwest Washington, D.C., it's a hectic life for Lady Bird.

Like many another politician's wife, she readily admits: "I'm not deeply informed on political issues." But she's pretty much a part of Lyndon Johnson's political life, campaigning with him because in Texas "people feel they can get the measure of a man by taking a look at him and his family." Besides, she says, "I love it."

Calm and unruffled is the way most people describe Mrs. Johnson. Yet often there is a hint of tension.

She can't help worrying about Lyndon's health—not only because of his 1955 heart attack but, as she puts it, "simply because he works too hard and too long."

Ordered to keep a strict diet and stop smoking, Johnson "is wonderful about not smoking" but lacks dieting discipline, his wife says. Right now he's a bit overweight and is trying to reform by cutting down on fats.

The daughter of a wealthy Texas rancher, Lady Bird invested some of her inheritance in a debt-ridden radio-TV station in Austin, Tex., in 1943. The price has been reported at $67,000 and Lady Bird says "I did not complain" about that figure.

Station KTBC, then operating daytime only, with no network affiliations and just nine employees, has blossomed under Mrs. Johnson's ownership. It is about to get new quarters, has 163 employees and operates in the bigtime.

Asked just what she does, Lady Bird said "I sign all the checks," which are sent to her via airmail along with bank statements and sales records for her to study.

Sterling College Choir Slated For HCJC Concert

The Sterling College Concert Choir will appear here at 8 p.m. Thursday, at HCJC Auditorium under sponsorship of the St. Paul Presbyterian, First Methodist and HCJC Choirs.

The 36-voice Concert Choir is directed by Leon Akin, professor of voice and choral activities. The choir makes an annual tour, having sung in Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico last year. In previous years they have traveled to both coasts and sung to servicemen stationed in Iceland.

Appearances have been made on radio, television, in churches and before civic audiences and in high schools and junior colleges where the audience response has been enthusiastic.

Akin holds degrees from Sterling College, Colorado State College and has had special study in the Christiansen Choir School and Fred Waring Music Workshop. He has also had private study under J. Allen Grubb of Denver, Colo.

The repertoire of the Concert Choir includes such sacred numbers as "Lift Every Voice" and "Sing" by Johnson, "If Christ Came Back" by O'Hara, "Concerto in A Minor" by Grieg, "Achieved is the Glorious Work" from "The Creation" by Haydn and "Lonesome Valley," a white spiritual.

In addition, the choir has a special selection of musical numbers that they sing during regular week-night programs which include "Ain't - A That Good News," "Hail to Sterling," "The Musical Trust," "Think on Me" and "Waters Ripple and Flow."

Many of the Concert Choir are music majors, but the largest number are majoring in other departments of the college, and sing because they enjoy it.

The concert will be open to the public without charge.

Pistol Shooters

Police arrested four Latin American teenagers Friday for discharging a pistol within the city limits. The boys fired a bullet, from a .25 caliber pistol, into the house of J. H. Garcia, 410 NW 7th, while driving by in a car. Police said the boys would be turned over to juvenile officer A. E. Long.

Bulk Of Area Water Needs Satisfied By Lake Thomas

The Colorado River Municipal Water District exceeded its estimates in water deliveries during 1959 and at the same time cut under its estimates for operating and maintenance expenses.

These facts are revealed in the annual operating report, as required under the trust indenture. E. V. Spence, general manager, lauded O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager, production, and the entire staff in submitting the report prepared by Ivie.

During the past year the district delivered 8,967,290,000 gallons of water, or 8.29 per cent more than was delivered the previous year. Of the total water produced, 85.45 per cent was pumped from Lake J. B. Thomas, 9.73 per cent from the Martin County well field, and 4.82 per cent from the City of Odessa well field.

The actual expense of operating and maintaining the system was 3.68 per cent below the budget estimate, Ivie pointed out. There was a slight increase in the amount allocated to electric power, and this was brought about by the pumping of more water from Lake J. B. Thomas to the City of Odessa than was anticipated. This was done in order to conserve the underground water both in the Martin County and the Odessa well fields. As a result, Ivie explained, the static water levels in both fields as of Jan. 1, 1960, was approximately the same as of January 1959.

One interesting development was the installation of automatic pumping equipment at the McWhorter booster station 20 miles west of Big Spring. This unit now operates from the Martin County pump station some 15 miles to the west.

RECREATION GAINS
All properties are in good condition, Ivie said. No unusual maintenance work is anticipated. Spence noted that revenues from recreation had grossed $66,160 last year, or $11,943 over 1958. After deducting all operating expenses from this department and costs of added facilities, a transfer of $27,982 was made to the general revenue fund. This department has drawn many inquiries from all over the state.

said Spence. Delivery of water to various customers during 1959 showed 3,660,398,000 to Odessa, 2,111,026,000 to Big Spring, 945,857,000 to Snyder, 1,630,927,000 to SACROC repressuring, 545,760,000 to Sharon Ridge, 339,721,000 to Lion Oil and 33,601,000 to Texas Gulf Producing.

AVERAGE PER DAY
Average daily consumption was 24,568,000 gallons per day during 1959. Of this 21,091,000 was average daily production from Lake Thomas, 2,389,000 average daily production from the Martin County field and 2,403,000 average daily production from the Odessa Wells. Neither the Big Spring nor the Snyder wells were required to meet peak demands.

Total power costs for the year were $283,598.56. This figures out slightly over 3.16 cents per thousand gallons for power costs, which, of course, was only part of the expense picture.

Among the additions was an 80,000,000 gallon terminal storage reservoir at Odessa, giving that city two of these facilities and a safety storage of 160,000,000 gallons. Spence pointed out that the additional 33-inch supply line from Martin County to Odessa was now operative and that summer peak demands could be met during 1960.

Five Mishaps Are Reported

Five automobile accidents were reported in Big Spring Friday and early Saturday, however no serious injuries or major damage were reported.

Dorothy Clemons was treated and released at Cowper hospital following an automobile crash in the 1500 block of Gregg. She was a passenger in a car driven by Lafayette Sills, Webb AFB. The car was involved in a wreck with a parked car owned by Ardis McCasland, 1707 Alabama.

Jackie Wayne Owens, 1606 E. 16th, was driver of the car involved in a crash with a parked car belonging to Lt. Phil Brignell, Webb AFB. It occurred at 1604-A Virginia.

At 2nd and Main, Beverly Pearson, 1609 Avion, and Vincent Burke, Webb AFB, were involved in a collision.

Zula Cobby, Hamlin, was a driver involved in a wreck with Edward Brumley, Sterling City Rt., in the 100 block of West Third. A three-car collision was reported at 3rd and Galveston. Kenneth Brown, El Paso, collided with two parked cars. They were owned by Allen McDonald, 1606 Lancaster, and Kenneth Gulley, 601 E. 13th.

HERE'S WHAT SOME OF OUR PATIENTS TELL THEIR FRIENDS ABOUT TSO...

TSO provides dependable eye care at reasonable cost for PARTICULAR people...

Hotel Secretary in Beaumont, Mrs. Ginger Hudler says: "For the past five years, I have worn TSO glasses. At TSO, I found the service to be both prompt and courteous. I would recommend TSO to anyone who needs dependable eye care."

Young Dallas athlete, Bill McKiernan says: "I've worn TSO Contact Lenses for some time, and they have been very comfortable from the beginning. I find them a great improvement over glasses while playing basketball. They have, also, put a stop to any further weakening of my eyes. I only regret that I never got them sooner."

Miss Kay Schramm of Houston says: "I was thrilled with the lovely frames and wonderful glasses I got from TSO. Their Doctor of Optometry gave me a thorough eye examination, and I was impressed with the professional manner in which I was treated. I am glad to recommend TSO to all my friends."

Students Take School Trips

By TERESA SMITH
The dist seemingly drove many Longhorns to foreign parts this week. Many were gone because of the Annual Spring Conference in Austin bound to attend Bound-Up.

Mr. Roy Worley received the honor of being asked to attend a curriculum studies meeting in Austin this weekend. The eight principals invited will meet with Dr. Truett Vreese, vocational teacher, and with the eleven commission chairman Friday and Saturday.

Some of the students are delegates to the TASC Conference in Amarillo which lasts from March sentative at each church in Big Spring. Each day, some major event will be planned for the girls during the week.

Monday positions for next year's Student Council officers will begin to be filled in the coming week. It is hoped that you would like to see put in office for him, April 20 will be the political rally and election.

The laboratory in the foreign language department is really "top notch." It consists of thirty booths with sound-proof partitions, tape-decks and recording machines. This enables the student to listen to a tape and then repeat after the speaker on the tape. He then can play-back the tape and compare his own recording with the original. English may be a dead language if they keep improving the foreign language department.

Thursday, April 7, the Student Council will entertain the faculty and all campus groups in a supper and dance in the gymnasium. It will be held in the coming week with the council members acting as hosts. Members will be dressed in accordance with the theme which will be a secret until the night of the event. Guests will include the blue cord guests will include the blue cord.

It has been so long since the library that we don't know how to react to it. Because of the move into the new wing, the library is being rearranged. This means that the library will be simple room for anyone who wishes to go to the library and work on a theme or use the reference books.

Don't forget the midnight show on Friday night. The "thriller-diller" horror show is to be the "coolest," so like, man, buy your tickets now.

That's it for this week. See you in church.

Attend Meet
Glen Reid, Linda Saunders, Marsha Briscoe and Neena Langley (individual picture) attended the student council convention in Amarillo this weekend. They were Stanton's representatives.

Goliad Band Wins 26 Firsts

By DE MASON
The Goliad band, being by far the best in the area, has more weeks of school left. The one just past has been a busy one because we have been setting down to work on our new music. The ensemble contest in which the band took part last Saturday were quite heartwarming. The band brought home 26 first division medals, 23 second divisions and six third divisions. The band for a fine job.

Saturday the band went to Big Lake where it participated in the Reagan County Band Festival. The band competed against Runnels and San Angelo junior high schools.

The ninth grade isn't the only one with a going track team; the 7th grade has a mighty good one, too. It is composed of Cliff Creighton, Steve McComb, and Donnie Hall, Woody Gressett, Donnie Hall, Rocky Heston, Billy Homberg, Steve McComb, Dub McMeans, Larry Miller, David Proffitt, Gary Richardson and Skipper Sabatto. All three track teams went to Spotswood on Saturday.

On Saturday, March 26, the 9th grade track team went to San Angelo. George Archer placed 2nd in the 600-yard run; Jeff Brown was 2nd in the 900-yard dash and 3rd in the 1000-yard dash. They were 2nd in the 800-yard relay.

The volleyball teams played their last games Friday with Concho. The 8th and 9th grade teams both lost, but the 7th grade team won. The 7th grade team was eliminated in a banquet April 11. It will be held at Morales. The girls are also looking forward to receiving their volleyball medals in an assembly.

Friday the homecoming girls played volleyball. The girls were both out, but the 7th grade team won. The 7th grade team was eliminated in a banquet April 11. It will be held at Morales. The girls

Runnels 7th Tri-Hi-Y Holds Dance

The Runnels 7th Grade Tri-Hi-Y entertained their members of the Goliad 7th Tri-Hi-Y and their dates at a sock hop Saturday evening at the Y. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. James Vines.

The Chi-Bho Tri-Hi-Y completed plans for the homecoming dance at school year at their last meeting. A Do-It-Yourself Cookout has been set for April 11 in the park. Plans for the Spring Conference and the Fire of Friendship were discussed, and the meeting was adjourned with a devotional given by Freddie Bonifield.

The sophomore girls' Tri-Hi-Y meeting was opened with a devotional by Carolyn Lewis. The president of the club then read Thank-You notes from Mrs. Pheban and Mrs. Morgan.

Kadio Bess Morgan and Kaddy Johnson were placed in charge of the radio program conducted on the radio program.

The group heard a talk by Everett Taylor on "Being a Better Y Member" before concluding the meeting with the "Lord's Prayer."

The long-awaited Dean's List made available last week by Registrar B. M. Keese and Dean Ben F. Johnson. It was revealed that enough semester hours and earned grade points to qualify.

Sands Jr.-Sr. Banquet Held

The Junior Class of Seneca High School held the 1960-61 Sands Jr.-Sr. Banquet Saturday evening at the Student Union Building at HCJC. They carried out an Oriental theme. Guests entered the dining room by waiting over an archway of bamboo curtains formed the entrance. Bright palm trees and two Japanese lanterns were hung from the ceiling. From each ceiling light hung a Japanese lantern. At the back of the banquet room hung multi-colored streamers from the ceiling to the floor. Book and hostesses for the night were Weldon Martin and Jeanette Ray. They greeted the guests at the bridge and presented each an Oriental fan.

The centerpiece for the speaker table was a large arrangement of colored gladioli and white lilies with three fans worked in with the flowers.

The Junior Class President Weldon Martin was toastmaster. Mr. R. N. Pierce gave the invocation. Mr. Roy Worley was the speaker of the evening. Sandra Adams read the senior will and Brenda Woods gave the prophecy. The benediction was worded by Martin Ruckelshaus.

Seventy-two attended. Roland R. Lewis is the juniors' sponsor.

We do everything but kiss the bride!

The newspaper is an important force in the community, any young woman about to be wed will tell you!

If it weren't for the newspaper, thousands of brides would walk down church aisles without fanfare . . . without attracting any attention outside their immediate circle of friends.

Everyone knows that only in the newspaper will you find reports on the announcement of the engagement, the marriage license application, the picture of the bride, the details of the wedding, itself, the identification of the principals - and equally important information about where the couple will live - where they are spending their honeymoon

Stop and consider the many services you would expect through the years from your newspaper should you be starting a new home tomorrow. Just for fun, make a game of this the whole family will enjoy. Who can name the great number of services expected from the newspaper? Now, let's see . . .

- It tells Bud when his athletic team plays a game.
- The newspaper helps Mother plan her shopping.
- It keeps Dad informed about developments that affect his business.
- It alerts Susie to the newest teenage fashions and the latest movies.
- It names the new neighbors across the street. ● It lists thoroughfares to be repaired.
- It gives warning when banks and public offices will be closed on holidays.
- It describes new merchandise now available in stores. ● It brings glad tidings of births of babies.

Already the list is long and we've just started! Any medium able to demonstrate such impact, usefulness and alertness naturally earns the good will of those served. The newspaper quite naturally finds a place in the new home where it may continue to serve day after day, year after year as a friend of the family.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

Booktime For Local Youngsters

This crowd of youngsters, loaded with books, typifies the high popularity of the Howard County Library. Boys and girls find much to help them in the school work at the library. This scene is repeated nearly every afternoon.

County Library Adds New Books, Broadens Service

Howard County Library plans to emphasize use of its facilities as its contribution to the observation of National Library Week, which opens today.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that while no cooperative city-wide observation of the week is contemplated by the libraries of the city, that she plans to make use of radio, television, the newspaper and other mediums to call attention to the services the library has to offer.

Howard County Library now has 14,981 volumes on its shelves—an increase of about 1,000 books since last year. The number of borrowers is steadily increasing. She said 385 new names have been listed since January. There are 7,540 cards now in circulation in Howard County.

Demand for books holds high in the county. January circulation was 3,947 volumes; February 5,376. In March, the number of volumes jumped to 5,621.

New books are being added to the stacks almost daily. Included in new titles now available for patrons are such popular numbers as "Hawaii" by Michener; "Advise and Consent" by Drury; "The Devil's Advocate" by Caldwell; "Dear and Glorious Physician" by Caldwell; "War Lover" by Hersey and "Ugly American."

Many other important new books are also on hand and the library welcomes visitors at all times.

An extensive addition of children's books has been placed on the shelves as well as a large selection of mystery stories and new westerns. The library has a new edition of the Britannica and the Junior Britannica. A complete file of Year Book in Facts with index dating back to 1946 is available.

One important addition to the equipment is a copying machine which will reproduce any page from a book or magazine for 15 cents per page.

The library grounds are now in the process of being landscaped. In the near future, attractive neon signs identifying the building will be erected.

"We hope that all of our old friends will take advantage of National Library Week to visit us," said Mrs. McDaniel, "and we particularly invite any new residents who have not heretofore made themselves familiar with our library and its facilities."

Easter Seal Response Hits $1,300, Benefits Planned

The 1960 Easter Seal Appeal has reached the $1,300 mark, according to George Zachariah, county chairman.

The campaign to secure the year's budget for the organization is being spearheaded this year by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Need to maintain the operating budget is emphasized by some 20 handicapped children receiving regular or periodic treatment. Funds provide transportation to the treatment center in Midland and for the county's share in its expense. The Big Spring chapter depends solely on volunteer workers who take the patients to the center twice weekly.

Additional funds are needed this year to activate a Howard County center. The Texas & Pacific Railway, Coaden Petroleum Corporation and the City of Big Spring have cooperated in providing a building previously used by the railroad. It is to be moved to city property near the new YMCA.

Members of the chapter are urging support of the fund by mailing in the Easter Seal donations. To date $970.95 has been received in response to the 8,000 envelopes mailed by the Auxiliary.

In addition benefit coffees and a teen-age benefit dance have swelled the total.

The Legion Auxiliary also has planned another dance, this one for adults at the Settles Hotel ballroom for this Friday night. Max Alexander and his Hi-Fi Combo will furnish the music. Admission will be $2 per couple.

Other groups are asked to have benefit coffees and one bake sale is planned. The campaign will continue through Easter.

Do your bills seem to be getting bigger and bigger? Are we to be the victims of soaring inflation? Or, can we hope to have economic stability without stifling national growth? Yes, we can! So say 64 representatives of education, labor, business and government who met recently at the American Assembly. They agreed that America needs all three; dynamic growth . . . low unemployment . . . reasonably stable prices. But to assure this, we must all strive together for these goals and must achieve a steady rise in productivity.

You'll want to know more about America's economic future. After all, it vitally affects your future, your savings, your pension. Write today for free booklet, "Prosperity, Growth and You", to: American Assembly, Columbia University, New York 27, N. Y.

Hawaiian Highlights

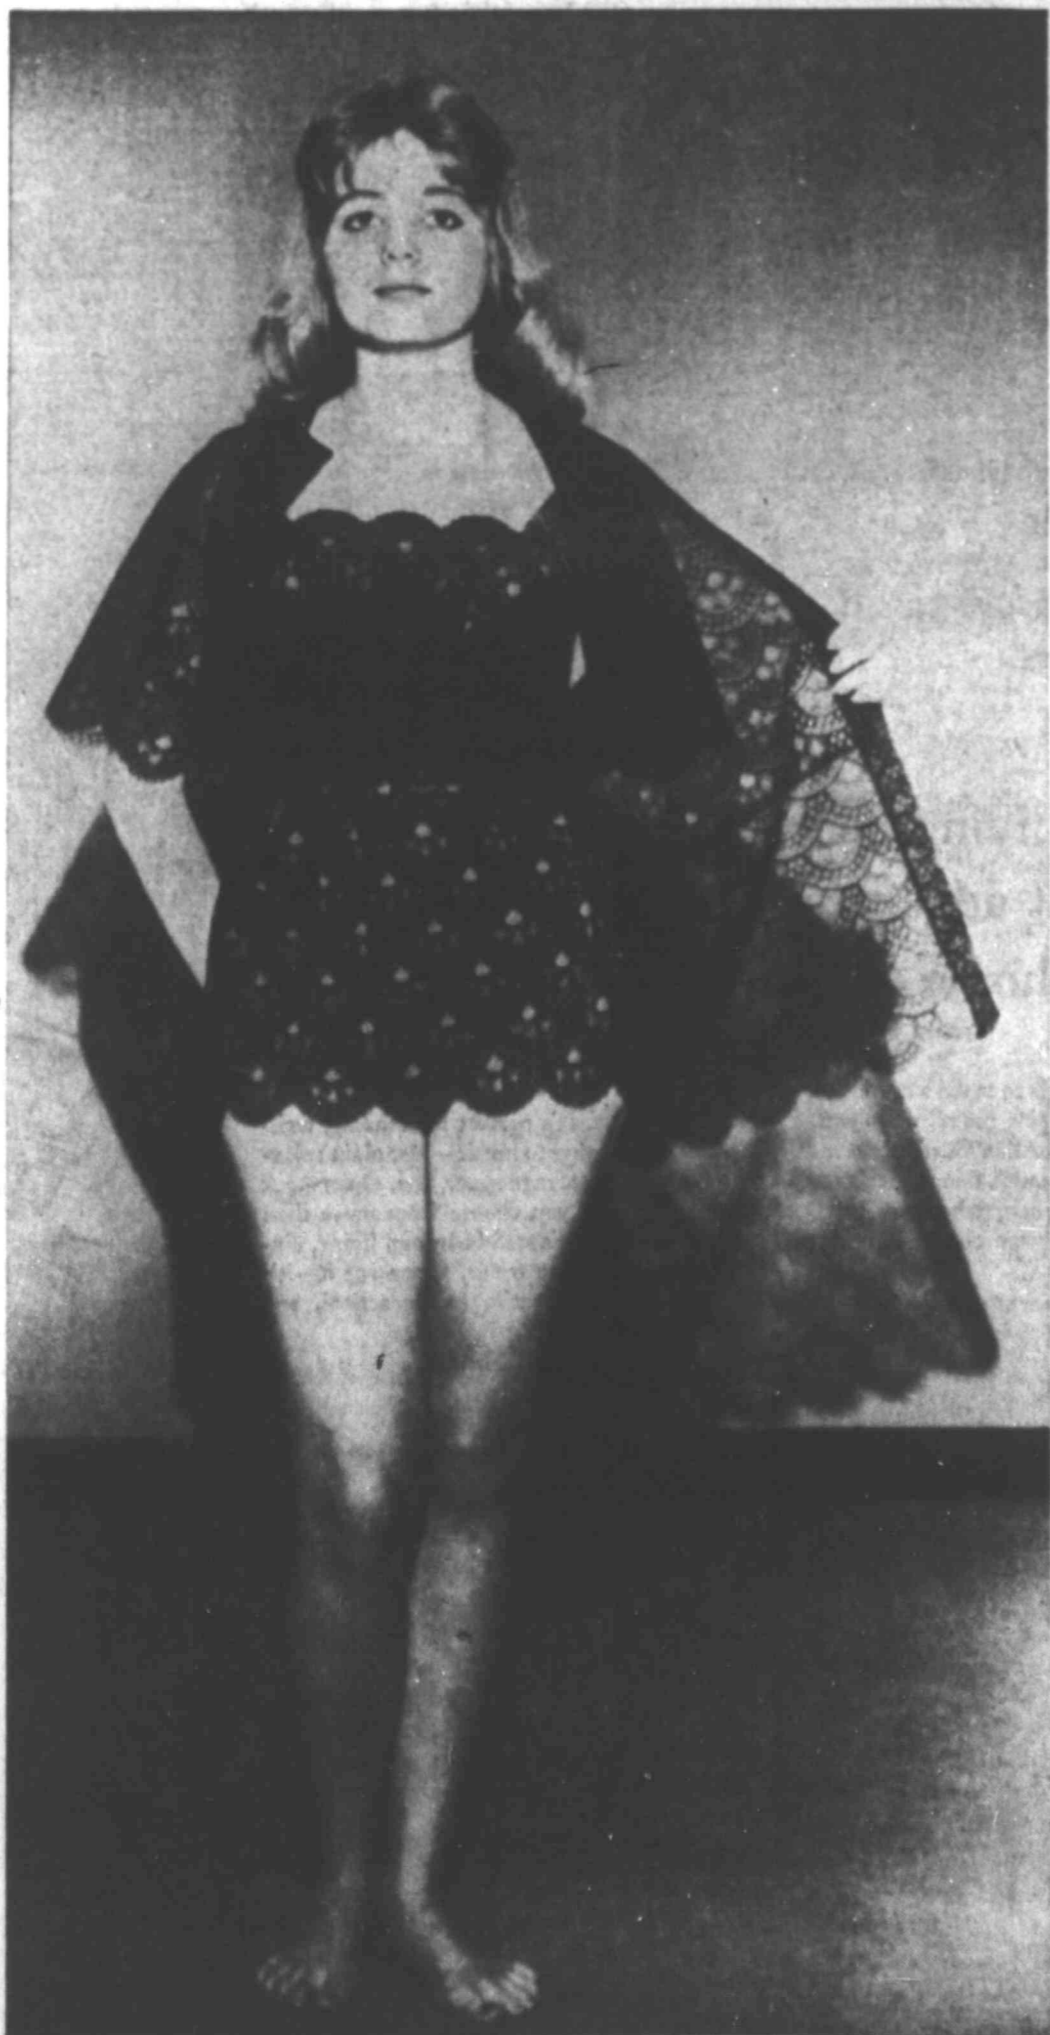

"On The Beach" is the theme for the annual fashion show to be given Wednesday night for Cosden Women's Club at the Cosden Country Club. Carrying the theme throughout the show will be authentic fashions from Honolulu arranged for by Swartz. The show will be preceded by dinner at 7.

THE TWO PIECE SWIM ensemble shown above by Mrs. J. C. Armistead Jr. is made from the fabulous Luau print that combines various shades of blue with a brilliant turquoise predominating. The drape on the suit is drawn through a self-covered buckle affording a sarong effect. The top may be worn strapless or with halter. The Happi jacket is designed with set-in sleeves that allows loose fitting comfort.

Bennett-Wooten Repeat Vows In Home Ceremony

In a ceremony in her parent's home Saturday evening, Bobbie Bennett became the bride of Gerald L. Wooten.

Thomas E. Cudd, minister at the 14th and Main Church of Christ, performed the double ring rite that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bennett, Cedar Ridge, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wooten, San Angelo Hwy.

An altar was decorated with green foliage and white flowers. As soft organ music played, Mr. Bennett gave his daughter in marriage.

A white brocade satin gown was worn by Miss Bennett. Lace covered the bodice and made long, pointed sleeves; in the back it fell into a chapel train. The satin dress was designed on a sheath style.

Gardenias carried upon a white Bible was the bridal bouquet. Pat Wiley served as maid-of-honor. She wore a green polished cotton dress and carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

The brother of the bridegroom, Ronald Wooten, was best man. A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Members of the houseparty were Joan Durham, Deania Jungman, Carol Monroe, and Elena Patterson.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Boyce, and Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Plapp of Midland; Mrs. C. S. Taylor and Mrs. I. N. Paynor of Gorman; Mrs. Claud Neaves, Spur; and Mrs. J. P. Williams, Eastland.

For her wedding trip to Del Rio, Mrs. Wooten selected a navy blue linen suit and pink accessories.

The bride is a junior at Big Spring High School where she belongs to the Tri-Hi-Y and Rainbows. Wooten is a freshman at Howard County Junior College where he belongs to the Rodeo and Aggie club. He is employed by Wooten Transfer.

A rehearsal dinner was given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wooten at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Upside Down Change

Upside down cakes do not always have to be made of pineapple and white cake batter, delicious as that combination is. Canned pears and gingerbread make another fine team.

Better Flavor

Some good cooks like to crack a ham bone before adding it to the kettle in which they are making split pea or lentil soup.

Don't Overcrowd

Don't overcrowd the kettle when you are deep-frying doughnuts or other food.

Eager Beavers Make Tentative Trip Plans

Tentative plans for an out of town trip were made by the Eager Beavers Sewing Club when they met Friday in the home of Mrs. J. L. Swindell.

Nine members joined in sewing and visiting and discussing plans for the trip that will be made before the Easter holidays.

Mrs. A. E. Reynolds, 1812 Owens, will be hostess for the next meeting.

Clam Cream Soup Is Quick, Easy Meal

A hearty soup put together in jigtime for a short-order cook.

QUICK CLAM CREAM SOUP
2 cans (13 ounces each) vichyssoise soup (ready-to-eat style)

1 can (7 1/2 ounces) minced clams
4 slices bacon
1/4 cup thinly sliced scallions (some green tops included)
Salt and pepper

Turn soup into a medium-sized saucepan; add liquid from clams; heat soup gently, whisking several times, but do not boil.

Meanwhile cook bacon in a skillet until crisp; remove to absorbent paper to drain; crumble. To bacon, fat in skillet add scallions and brown lightly; remove with slotted spoon; add scallions to soup with drained clams and crumbled bacon.

Reheat but do not boil. Add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 4 servings.

Italian Mushrooms

Soak dried mushrooms in water, then lift out and add to a tomato sauce for spaghetti. Wonderful flavor!

New Plant

The "friendship plant" from Peru is similar to the African Violet with striking reddish leaves and masses of small ivory flowers, a comparative newcomer to the U. S. indoor flower pots says Purdue University horticulturists.

Tomatoes In Chili

Like tomato flavor in your chili con carne? You can add plain canned or stewed tomatoes, tomato sauce or paste or catchup.

Sauce It!

Once you develop your own favorite barbecue sauce, you can use it with spareribs as well as chicken.

Good Advice

Beginning Boat Builder

Joe Talley holds the radio-controlled boat that he is building, while his wife, Shirley, holds Terry and Heidi. Heidi is more interested in chewing off Shirley's finger than in posing for the photographer.

Talley Household Is Going To The Dogs!

Newest addition to the Joe Talley family is white, black and brown—it's a dog. Actually, Heidi can't yet be classified as a dog, for she is only 10 weeks old. Joe and Shirley got the playful pup for their 2-year-old son, Terry, since moving to Big Spring from Los Angeles. Hughes Air Craft sent the Talley's to Big Spring with the installation of the 102 at Webb AFB. Joe's job is to train radar people for the new airplanes. A graduate of Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., Talley majored in electrical engineering. While working one summer, the young man, a native of Hohenwald, Tenn., spent his vacation working in Louisville, Ky. One of the people he met in the Kentucky town was a brown-eyed girl named Shirley; she became his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Talley moved to Los Angeles soon after Joe graduated from college. "We acted like sight-seers while we were there," says Shirley. They lived there only nine months before they were transferred to Big Spring. Electronics even interests Joe in his off-work hours, and he is building a radio-controlled boat about three feet long. This is his first attempt, and he is thoroughly enjoying it. "Golf is my real love, though," says the strawberry blond. Talley is looking forward to nice days when he can be on the links. Horseback riding and swimming interest Shirley, and she is now trying her green thumb at indoor gardening. Both the Talleys are in the process of trying to conquer the game of chess. On their way to Big Spring they stopped in El Paso. While visiting Juarez they purchased an unusual chess board with large carved men. Terry, a brown-eyed, robust little boy, has one main interest right now—Heidi. He picks her up, puts her down, squeezes her, turns her upside-down, and she loves it all from the look of her wagging tail.

Adventure Kit Helps Gardening Youngsters

If you have ever been a beleaguered parent trapped by the bright, inquiring mind of your youngster into trying to explain just what makes a plant grow, you can relax. Help is at hand. A new Adventure Kit on Growing Plants has recently been published which answers most of the questions that youngsters can think up regarding plants and gardening. But this kit doesn't stop there; it then provides the material for experiments to illustrate and prove the unbelievable wonders of plant growth.

The first part of the kit is an excellent "Adventure Book of Growing Plants" by Frances Miner, Curator of Instruction at the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, with a foreword by Paul Young, District Supervisor, School Gardens, Cleveland Board of Education, both of whom have had years of experience working with children on gardening programs.

The gardening book is in big, easy-to-read print with plenty of interesting explanatory illustrations. It contains all the basic information needed for a beginner gardener and it tells WHY, which is even more important to a child.

The second part of the kit contains actual equipment for plant growing experiments. It has six small peat pots for starting plants, a bag with radish, marigold, morning glory, bean and tomato seeds, as well as a nutrient in it. A small box of vermiculite and a medicine dropper for measuring the exact amount of water needed are also included. In order to watch the plants grow, there are color dyes, a plastic seed holder, test blotters and a magnifying glass. A plant log is included for recording the experiments in a scientific way.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Betty Hutton Reveals Sources Of Energy

HOLLYWOOD — When Betty Hutton started her career in pictures, she was called "the blonde bombshell." And that title still holds now that she's starred in her own CBS-TV show, which she helps write, direct and produce. "There are lots of actors who run their own shows but they are more subtle about it than I am. That's one lesson I still haven't learned," Betty said with candor, "to put the velvet glove on the iron hand."

"I don't know how you have the energy to do all that you do," I commented.

"I have always had drive and the energy to go with it—let's say that was a gift from nature. But you can't take gifts for granted or you lose them. When I was on Broadway no one thought I was overweight but that's the first thing they told me at Paramount. I went on a crash diet got thin but I stayed on it too long. It wasn't a balanced diet and I almost ruined my health."

"I went to a doctor Gloria Swanson told me about—doesn't she look wonderful — anyway, he gave me my first lesson in nutrition. I began with steamed vegetables—you steam them to preserve the vitamins. I ate natural foods—as much as I could—honey in place of bleached sugar, whole-grain breads instead of bleached flour and lots and lots of raw fruits and vegetables. I soon felt like a million," she bubbled.

We were chatting in Betty's bungalow in the Culver City, Calif., studios where they are filming her TV series. Her maid, who has been with her for 19-years, brought in our lunch of broiled lamb chops, tender steamed squash and sliced tomatoes, Betty knew the exact calorie count.

"The big mistake people make is to try to work all day on a nothing breakfast and a snack lunch. Then they eat a great big dinner, stretch their stomachs and go to bed without burning up the calories. It's just about as sensible as living in a cold house all day and lighting a fire before you go out. Because that's what food is—fuel—and that's where energy comes from."

"What about relaxation?" I asked.

"I am too keyed-up. I know."

Betty admitted. "And often I have trouble falling asleep at night but I'm not about to become dependent on sleeping pills. I prefer to lie still and stop thinking, because you must relax your mind to relax your body. It takes discipline to stop the wheels from turning and I am working on that one."

"It helps me to lie in a tub of warm water until I'm drowsy, and I find a good massage is relaxing. But you have to have someone who is well trained. A good masseuse is priceless."

Betty explained that even as a child she was not relaxed.

"We were very poor and I hated the social workers for acting so superior when they brought baskets of food. I was not easily downed, and I was determined to get my mother and my sister out of poverty. At nine I was singing in beer gardens for the coins tossed at me and at 15 I was supporting them," Betty confided.

"Now when things start piling up around me, I feel the best therapy in the world is to help others. I try to find someone who is in trouble, and when I come with a basket of food, I make jokes to cheer them up, and," she said seriously, "I always end up cheering myself."

As she spoke about this, such a lovely expression came into her face that I exclaimed, "You are prettier than you've ever been."

"Thank you," Betty replied. "As a child I felt I was an ugly duckling, and my insecurity made me develop a kind of brash personality. It would have been a lot easier for me if someone had tried to make me feel I could be pretty. "Everyone has something good to play up. My eyes are my best feature, and although I'm a natural blonde I discovered that by dyeing my eyebrows and lashes black, I could accent my eyes without looking artificial. Regular features can be boring if you aren't born beautiful, but don't let it get you down. Personality, vitality and enthusiasm mean much more."

QUICK RECIPES FOR ENERGY

There are many contributing factors to maintaining a healthy body. Foremost on the list are eating nutritional foods, exercising and getting plenty of rest. But in the fast pace of living we often lack time during the day to eat a full course meal—so in order to keep our pep we can substitute with quick, energy cocktails, soups and salads, vitamin-plus cocktails, all easy to prepare and delicious for daily pick-me-ups. Also included are breathing exercises for vitality. RIDICULOUS, AIN'T IT?

Space Age Glamour Girl Will Be Riot Of Color

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Lines for a poet of the Strange Sixties:

"Your eyes are like rubies, your lips are like grass, your skin is like violets, my rainbow lass."

This is the new beauty prescription for glamor girls of the space age, and no fooling. Already on the market, and highly touted by experts in these matters, are colored contact lenses, violet or green face powder and lipsticks in tradition-shattering shades of green, blue, violet and yellow as well as the old-hat rosy hues.

Eyes to match your costume color are the latest to hit the fashion spectrum, introduced at a full-dress fashion show in New York this week. Colors available in the standard line of contact lenses include: yellow, red, pink, orange, tangerine, tiger gold, three greens, lavender, orchid and jet. More than 100 other colors may be had by special order.

It may be confusing if a girl has blue eyes in the daytime and shows up with red eyes at night, but you must admit that it will be interesting. Even more startling, and recommended only for daring types, would be the mix-match trend—one red eye and one green, for instance.

Just to make things more confusing, there are the new face powder and foundation shades of green and lavender, currently promoted by some of the country's top cosmetic houses, and the off-beat lipstick colors, also off and running.

When it comes to hair, of course, the solar spectrum is the limit.

Add to the picture the current widespread use of colored eyeshadow, mascara and eyebrow pencil, and the new style American beauty can stop traffic anywhere in the world.

Artificial Flowers Are Now Washable

Thanks to synthetic materials, you can enjoy nature inside your home at any season of the year. The new artificial house plants, foliage, and flowers are more life-like than ever; some of them are even perfumed.

Fortunately for the budget—as well as for beauty—these modern blooms can be kept dewy clean simply by washing them with a soft cloth wrung out of soap or detergent suds. Follow by rinsing, and your artificial flowers will last almost indefinitely.

Travel Made Easy By Synthetic Fabrics

Planning a trip or vacation soon? Fabric designers are with you all the way—as far as your clothing is concerned, that is. From tennis to teatime, the latest fashions are lightweight, packable, and washable, too. Just immerse them in soap or detergent suds in your hotel lavatory, then rinse and let them drip dry.

This will keep your wardrobe as crisp at the end of your trip as when you ventured forth.

'Open House' Today Features New Cars

Come Spring, and what does the average family's fancy turn to? Well, chances are, there's a renewed desire to improve the transportation situation.

Spring traditionally is a time when new car sales look up, and no wonder. People are thinking about vacation trips, more pleasure motoring, and are made aware that the present old bus in not quite filling the bill.

So, dealers all over America are observing National New Car Week, just to let the public know that this Spring of 1960, is an ideal time to think about getting a new car, or perhaps adding a second one to ease the strain of family demands.

Seven dealers in Big Spring mark the New Car Week with a joint "Open House" this afternoon. Hours are from 1 to 6 p.m. and somebody will be on hand at each of the seven locations to welcome callers.

There's no obligation involved, and callers are invited to take as long as they want, to ask all the questions they want, to look at every feature of every car.

The local Open House is, actually, a return to the leisurely method of shopping for new transportation. Dealers are urging that the whole family come in, so Mother and Dad and the kids as well can see what these 1960 models are really like.

It's an informal affair, and everyone is invited. This is to put a new car into your Spring planning—or at least your Spring dreaming.

2 Cars Per Family Now Commonplace

If the hopes of the auto industry materialize, Americans will be demanding bigger garages—not for bigger cars, but for more cars.

A recent Associated Press report indicates the number of 2-car families in the United States has been growing steadily during the past decade, increasing from less than 4,000,000 in 1950 to about 8,000,000 early this year.

And now, according to AP, families with three or more cars are becoming a significant factor in the car-buying economy.

A survey two and a half years ago figured this group at 750,000 families. It was up to almost one million last summer. These figures became a major factor in the final decisions of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler to go ahead with their new, compact cars.

The big companies had watched American Motors, Studebaker-Packard and the import models grab a sizable share of the market. Much of the success of the smaller cars came on appeals pitched to owning a second car.

With the big boys of the business in the showroom with their own smaller cars, the public can expect to hear even more about the virtues of adding that extra car.

A survey of 10 years ago showed the biggest percentage of two-car families were farmers, who had a beat-up jalopy on the farm and a "dressed-up" car to drive to town.

But the big rise in 2-car ownership came with the population shift to the suburbs. Even if the man of the house used public transportation for part of his trip to and from work, he often needed a car to get to the nearest train station or bus stop. The housewife needed a car for shopping and hauling the kids to their ever-growing list of activities.

The most recent breakdown on car ownership shows 17 per cent of suburban families own two or more cars.

It is nothing new for high-income families to own two cars, but the recent figures show that one-fourth of the 2-car households are in the $5,000-$7,000 income bracket.

The 3-car group still tends to be in the upper income levels. It often breaks down this way: a family car, a second car (possibly a station wagon) for mother and third car for a high school or college-age child.

If money allows, this group may expand to a fourth car which becomes transportation to and from work for the man of the house.

The trend to multi-car ownership helps explain predictions of 7,500,000 to 8,000,000 annual car sales in the late 1960s. The record to date is just over 7,000,000 in 1955.

The big three manufacturers are counting on economy of operation and slightly lower prices of their new, smaller cars to influence even more families to buy a second car.

Spring Brings Advantages To Car Buyer

The spring buyer of a new car enjoys a double advantage, according to a spokesman for local new car dealers.

1. New cars offered in the spring market have the advantage of the thorough testing that rugged winter use provides.

Minor corrections and adjustments for better performance, more economical operation and driving free from small irritations have already been made.

2. The early spring buyer gets the longest season of new car enjoyment during the best driving months of the year. Particularly on vacation trips the new car can bring greater driving pleasure.

And purchase of a new model now will give the owner more months before the depreciation charge-off which comes with model changes in the fall.

Secret Admirer

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A University of Arizona coed told police a secret admirer used a novel way to ask for a date.

She parked her car at a restaurant, went in for a bite to eat, and when she returned found a $130 pair of custom-made roller skates missing.

Under the windshield wiper was this note: "I took your skates. You can pick them up tonight, you know where. All my love. Guess Who? Come formal."

But, the coed told officers, she had no idea who the secret admirer may be.

Has A Complaint

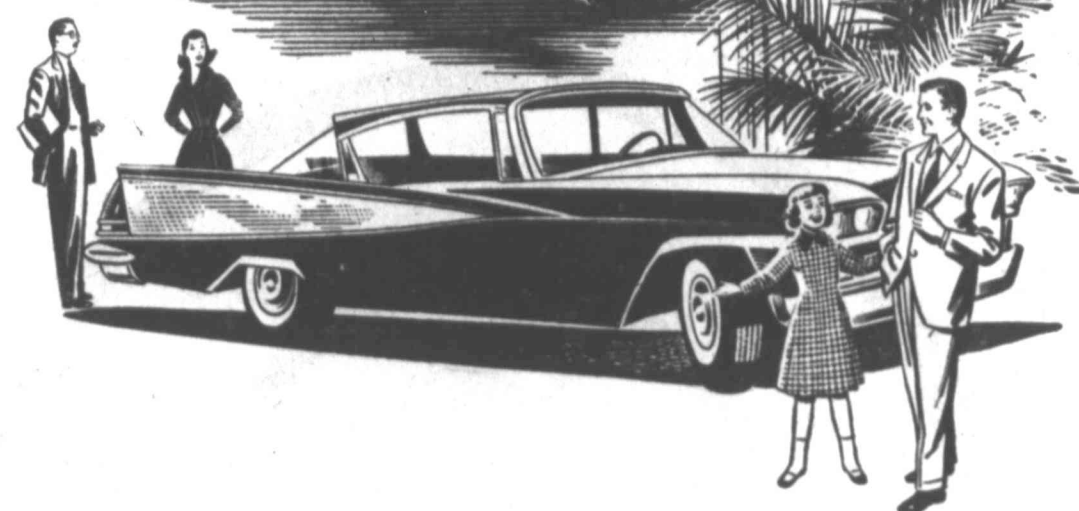

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Susanna Madora Salter, America's first woman mayor, complained that a picture in the paper made her look too old. The photo was taken on her 100th birthday.

DEAR ABBY

IT'S DOUBTFUL

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and have done modeling and been in show business, so you know I am no witch. An executive where I am presently employed wants to marry me. He is in his late 40's and is getting a divorce. Everyone thinks I am the cause of it, but his marriage was on the rocks when I met him.

He asked me to sign papers stating that I am not entitled to any money if he should die, or if our marriage breaks up. This came as a shock to me because when I asked him if his first wife signed such papers he said no. I am beginning to wonder if I love him enough to marry him under these conditions. What do you suggest?

PRETTYPUSS: I am glad you are wondering if you love him enough to marry him under these conditions, because it is apparent that he is wondering, too. A husband who really loves his wife wants to provide her with a secure future in the event of his death. Your friend is looking for a "pay as you go" proposition. I doubt if there is enough mutual trust between you to make a decent marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl 12 years old and my problem is my mother. She can't stand to see me have any peace. If I am listening to the record player, or talking on the telephone or just doing nothing, she says to me, "Linda, don't you have any homework?" If I don't have any, or have it all done she will say, "Then go clean your room."

I will admit that I don't keep up my room very well, but my brother keeps his room in the same condition, if not worse, and she never yells at him. Please tell me what to do.

LINDA: DEAR LINDA: Go clean your room.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend named Sophie who is sweet, kind and pure. She doesn't have an evil thought in her head and that's where the problem comes in. Her husband is tall, dark, handsome and human. He's 43 and she's 41. When he asks her to go to a movie or a drive with him, I've heard her say, "I'm tired, honey — why don't you take Agnes?" (Agnes is her younger sister. She is cute, vivacious and divorced and I wouldn't trust Agnes as far as I could throw her.) There's been a little talk around town about Agnes and I'm pretty sure she'd take her sister's husband if she could get him.

I've hinted to Sophie but she doesn't seem to be getting the message. Would you come right out and tell your best friend that she is being a fool?

BEST FRIEND: DEAR FRIEND: Without naming names tell Sophie that a wife who is too tired to accompany her husband anywhere — and suggests a substitute — could find herself permanently replaced.

Quite a thrill — building a new home! Day by day you watch it take shape. And somehow, you have the feeling that this new house will bring new life for you and your family.

But building a new life isn't as simple as building a new home. One just can't move out of the drab past into a sparkling future.

The life to which conscientious men and women aspire is built on foundations that cannot be laid in a week or two. Character, courage, consecration — these are concrete evidences of faithful years in the worship and service of God.

Today, where there are new houses there are new churches — and where there are old houses there are old churches. And through the portals of all the churches pass the millions of earnest families who are serious and happy about building a new life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Grand Jury Back Monday

Howard County grand jury will convene Monday to consider 24 matters which have been filed since its initial session earlier in the year.

Ten members of the original jury will be present. Two additional members will have to be recruited to complete the body. These will be selected from talesmen drawn from the body of the county. The two vacancies are caused by the death of one of the original jurors and the serious illness of a second.

Bulk of the cases which are to be considered are for such offenses as forgery, DWI and worthless checks and other "mill run" complaints. However, the list of matters Gil Jones, district attorney, intends to present includes the name of John Tindol, Tindol and his brother James, are already under indictment for murder in the Feb. 14 beating of William Walter Gatlin. The grand jury list released Friday afternoon shows John Tindol under consideration for reinvestment. James Tindol is under a 15-year conviction assessed 10 days ago by a district court jury.

R THE PRESENCE OF A DOCTOR IS THE FIRST PART OF A CURE

When using home remedies or patent medicines it is important to understand their benefits and limitations. Taken at the first sign of a headache, stomach-distress, muscular pain, etc., relief sometimes comes quickly from an uncomplicated condition.

But, if any of the symptoms return, then self-treatments though giving temporary relief, may be masking an accumulating problem that may eventually endanger your life. To cure, a physician's diagnosis of the cause is essential. One should be consulted as soon as possible.
