Storm Threat Is Ignored; Tumbleweed Fete Success

2,000 See C-City's Festival

By DON RIDDLE
COLORADO CITY—Threats of storms and tornadoes didn't dampen the attendance of the Tumbleweed Festival here Thursday night, as approximately 2,000 people crowded the high school gymnasium for the kick-off festivities.

The opening night ceremonies included presentation of the 27 candidates for Festival Queen, along with the songs and comedies of the Sons of the Pioneers. Miss Marsha Kay Majors, Colorado City High school student, was declared the Thursday night beauty winner in the bathing suit division and Miss Anna Root, another local student, was named the winner in the evening gown division.

Two more winners were to be named at the matinee presentation Friday, and a Festival Queen is due to be chosen from the 27 candidates at tonight's finale.

THE NINE TEENS
A female choral ensemble from Haskell High School, The Nine Teens, sang three numbers to begin the evening's entertainment.

Master of Ceremonies Mack Caddell introduced the 27 beauty contestants and each entry toured the length of the platform which extended out among the main-floor spectators. They first appeared in bathing suits and then later came on dressed in long, formal evening gowns.

Karl Farr, Lloyd Perryman, Dale Warren, Tommy Doss, and Pat Brady, who compose the famous Sons of the Pioneers, gave a 45 minute appearance which included the singing of their bonafide theme song, Tumbling Tumbleweeds.

COMIC COWBOY
Pat Brady, who is now back with the Pioneers after spending a couple of years as jump-driver for Roy Rogers in Roy's TV and movie productions, gave young and old a few laughs with his comical renditions.

The group sang such favorites as Cool Water, Ghost Riders in the Sky and This Ole House.

They also sang at the matinee performance Friday afternoon and will appear again tonight when the Festival Queen will be announced.

The queen nominees include Sharon Redwine, Linda Spratt, Sylvia Sue Blackard, Peggy Humphries, Gayle Williams, Marsha Kay Majors, Carol Fox, Gloria May, Nattie Lynn Smith, Marilyn Root, Marie Putman.

Other candidates are Charla Warren, Kathy Ann Smith, Marilyn Russell, Sue Jarman, Linda Sue Jones, Bertie Herring, Janet Stone, Patricia Roberts.

Also on the list are Vickie Adams, Bertie Doren, Gayle Stone, Marilyn Godwin and Barbara Ann Mahon.

Last Airport Funds May Be Given County

Bob Allen, Federal Aviation Agency chief, Fort Worth, has asked for a meeting with the Howard County Commissioners for Monday afternoon. County Judge Ed Carpenter said he would arrange for the commissioners to be present.

Allen told the judge Thursday afternoon that all papers in connection with the Howard County Airport and the financial share the FAA still has in the project are in order. He did not amplify his statement on what he desired to discuss with the commissioners.

The FAA still owes the county about $25,000 on its participation in the construction. The county has filed all required papers in connection with the case but so far the money has not been received.

Carpenter said he understood that an inspector for the FAA recently visited the Howard County Airport and stamped it as "accepted."

The county commissioners are eager to get the money which the FAA has promised since the county, in turn, owes it to the contractor who built the administration building and hangar at the airport.

Festival Division Winners

Miss Marsha Kay Majors, left, and Miss Anna Root were named division winners in the Tumbleweed Festival beauty contest in Colorado City Thursday night. Miss Majors took the honors in the bathing suit class and Miss Root won the evening gown title. Two more entries were chosen Friday afternoon and one of the 27 candidates will be chosen tonight as the beauty queen of the Tumbleweed Festival.

Sales Tax Would Lead To Income Tax, Says Daniel

By JACK RADER

COLORADO CITY — Gov. Price Daniel today hit at a general sales tax and said that it would lead to a state income tax.

Addressing a capacity crowd gathered in the Civic House for the Governor's Luncheon of this city's big Tumbleweed Festival, he said that a general sales tax would "open up a Pandora's Box that will do a great deal more harm than the good that can result from the revenue it would raise."

The governor also predicted that a general sales tax would be a deterrent to industrial expansion. "A general sales tax will amount to an income tax on 90 per cent of the people who spend all they make," he declared. He added that it would lead to an income tax in fact as it has in other states where it has been levied.

Not only would the sales tax hit most families hard and produce another spiral in the cost of living, but sales taxes on replacements of industrial machinery as well as new industrial machinery would slow down expansion, he predicted.

The governor and his party were delayed about an hour arriving here and he did not get to the Civic House until 12:15 p.m. A number of other dignitaries were on hand, including Attorney General Will Wilson, Land Commissioner Bill Alcorn, and E. B. Germany, president of Lone Star Steel Co.

Gov. Daniel and other officials were to ride at the head of the big parade, with 29 colorful tumbleweed floats, at 2:30 p.m. From here he was to go to Lubbock for a meeting. The Texas Tech choir furnished the music at the luncheon.

Coahoma Students To Be Evacuated To Moss Creek

COAHOMA — All students in the Coahoma public schools will be evacuated from their classrooms to Moss Creek lake Monday as this community's part in the Civil Defense tests slated for that date.

Roy Black, with the civil defense organization, will be in charge of the evacuation. The school officials of the Coahoma schools are cooperating in the project and will have buses available for the prompt removal of all school children from the buildings at 11:15 a.m. Additional transportation supplied by private citizens will be on hand.

The children will go to Moss Creek Lake and remain there through the alert. They will not return to their schools until after 12:30 p.m.

BULLETIN
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A farm family of three was killed by an isolated tornado that spun in on their home Thursday night, Seminole County officers said today.

Neighboring Cities Hit By Rain And Hail

Colorado City and Garden City were buffeted by rain and hail on Thursday night. The storm by-passed Big Spring, travelling to the south and east of the town.

Garden City's share of the storm was less forceful than that of Colorado City. An inch of rain fell in Glasscock County accompanied in some sections by light hail. There were reports that the precipitation in the St. Lawrence area was heavier than in other parts of the county.

At Colorado City, sizeable hail stones, some reported as big as golf balls, buffeted the town for a time. Insurance adjusters here said they had reports of considerable glass breakage.

Worst of the hail ended after 10 minutes. Neon signs were battered; a window in a service station on the east side and another in a service station on the west side of town were broken.

The official gauge was .75 of an inch, but in the Seven Wells area south of town the amount eased off to half an inch. West of Lake Colorado City gauges showed .9 of an inch up to an inch of rain. The storm, with violent electrical display, struck about 10:15 p.m., but before the crowd at the Tumbleweed Festival was leaving the high school gym. Many of them had to wade in water to get to their cars.

In Glasscock County, there was no report of any hail damage from the storm which swept in with abrupt suddenness. It came from the southwest and travelled northeast around 9 p.m. Rumors of twisting winds could not be confirmed.

Tyler, Midland Win Traffic Note

CHICAGO (AP) — The Texas cities of Tyler and Midland have the best traffic safety records for cities of 25,000 to 50,000 population, the National Safety Council said Thursday, Yakima, Wash., had the same rating.

In the first three months of 1960 the three cities had no traffic deaths. Rankings are on the basis of deaths for each 10,000 registered vehicles.

Hoffa Trial Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph R. Jackson today ordered a trial beginning Tuesday of civil proceedings aimed to oust James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union.

BULLETIN

Vicious winds and rains up to six inches lashed the mid-section of Texas Friday and threatened flash floods along the Colorado, Brazos and Bosque Rivers.

The Department of Public Safety said a small tornado hit west of LaGrange and uprooted trees. There was no other damage and no casualties.

Methodists In Racial Tangle

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Methodists were entangled today in stormy conflict over what to do about their racially divided church structure. They've indicated they want to get rid of it but not under a fixed time limit.

After a tumultuous, late-hour session of the church's quadrennial General Conference Thursday night, however, a decision still was wide open.

Under the church's organization, it is divided into five regional jurisdictions, virtually all white.

Negro Arrested After Girl Slapped In Traffic Battle

By The Associated Press
A husky Negro who slapped a white girl's face after their cars brushed bumpers was in jail in Miami, Fla., today charged with nearly touching off a race riot.

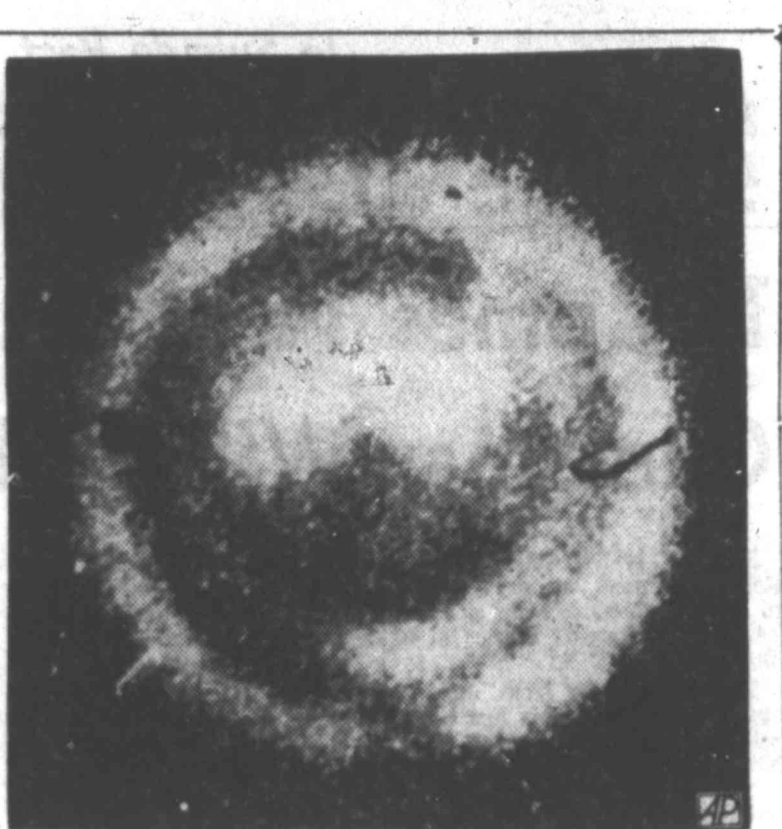

More than 20 carloads of police armed with riot guns and tear gas rushed to the scene, where white and Negro neighborhoods meet, to disperse a crowd of 200 persons.

Police said the 200-pound Negro, Morgan Junior King, 25, slapped the face of Theresa Mahoney, 19, fought with her escort and then tried to flee when two unidentified white men leaped from another car and fired two shots at him. The white men sped off. Others in the crowd grabbed King.

King was charged with inciting a riot, reckless driving, vagrancy and aggravated assault.

In Nashville, Tenn., Charles Edward Wright, an 18-year-old Negro, was arrested for breach of peace on a charge by a 16-year-old white girl that he tried to date her. And three Negro students at Fisk University said four over-all-dad white men threatened them when they sought and were refused service at a bus terminal lunch room.

Clark Denies Payola, Admits Knowing Of It

This X-ray photograph of the sun was obtained through "shoebox camera" techniques employed aboard an Aerobee-HI rocket launched April 19 from the Navy's Missile Test Facility at White Sands, N.M. It was released in Washington, D.C., by Dr. Herbert Friedman of the Naval Research Laboratory.

House Panel Adds To Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee revised many sections of President Eisenhower's 1961 defense budget today in a $33,337,867,000 bill to finance the Defense Department for the year starting July 1.

Adding here and cutting there, the committee came up with a total $129,167,000 more than Eisenhower had requested in a revised program submitted in March, but only $2,867,000 more than he sought in the January budget message.

The committee voted extra money for more attack and Polaris submarines, more National Guard and reserve forces than the President proposed, a greater airlift capacity, more fighter planes to replace trouble-plagued Bomarc missiles, and an expanded airborne alert capability.

The $129,167,000 added by the committee to presidential requests was largely offset by reductions totaling $1,407,800,000. Larger cuts included a 400-million-dollar slash in general procurement funds to force "more economical practices," denial of 293 million sought for a new conventional supercarrier, 294 million cut from the Bomarc program, and a reduction of about 10 per cent in civilian payrolls.

In a 79-page explanation of its action written by Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.), the committee said "better defense for the dollars expended" should be the result of the budget shake-up.

"The additions made will unquestionably add greatly to our defense," the committee said. "The reductions were made to effect economies wherever possible . . . The fatal mistake of too little and too late must not be made. . . . We should maintain our armed forces in such a way and with such an understanding that should it ever become obvious that an attack upon us or our allies is imminent, we can launch an attack before the aggressor has hit either of us or our allies. This is the element of deterrence which the United States should not deny itself. No other form of deterrence can be fully relied upon."

The committee's recommendations are subject to House action next week.

If approved by Congress, the funds would provide for 2,489,000 military personnel during the coming year, 31,880 planes in the active aircraft inventory, and 217 commissioned ships in the fleet, including 382 warships.

Retailers Urged To Attend Credit Clinic This Evening

All merchants in the city and their credit managers were urged today to attend a special credit clinic tonight. It will be an informal discussion of various credit problems procedures and policies, and sponsors feel that it can be helpful to all.

The session will be in the ballroom of the Settles Hotel, beginning at 7:30. A special panel of credit executives, plus representatives from Webb Air Force Base will answer questions which will be invited at the door.

A special feature will be a discussion by Capt. Harry G. Hon, procurement officer at Webb Air Force Base, on volume of business Big Spring businesses get from the Base, and the potential of getting more.

The clinic is a highlight in local observance of National Credit Week, and is sponsored by the Retail Credit Executives Club, Credit Women's Club, Retail Merchants Association, and Public Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Smaller Down Payments OKd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Smaller down payments were authorized today for people who use FHA mortgages to buy houses costing $15,000 or more.

Julian H. Zimmerman, federal housing commissioner, told a news conference the cut is being put into effect immediately. Congress gave permission for it last Sept. 20.

Zimmerman said the Eisenhower administration had not used the authority earlier because of tight money conditions. He said a recent easing of credit now holds out a promise that the lower down payments will "serve a useful purpose" in stimulating home-building.

On a $15,000 home the new minimum down payment is $800 compared with the old level of $850. The down payment on $18,000 is now $900 instead of $1,400.

Zimmerman said FHA's experience has been that easier mortgage terms have little effect on actual construction levels when money is tight.

Idol Reveals His Own Firm Made Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dick Clark, king of America's disc jockeys, swore today he never received payola but admitted knowing that a record company in which he had an interest made payments to other platter spinners.

He acknowledged, 500, receiving gifts worth $4,500 from a record manufacturer who subsequently charged the cost of the gifts to promotional expenses.

He said he insisted on giving the donor a check for $300 for a fur stole which later turned out to have cost $1,000.

Clark, handsome youthful idol of the nation's teen-agers, gave his testimony quietly before a packed hearing room as House payola investigators continued their inquiry into under-the-table payments for plugging of records.

Answering questions by Robert W. Lishman, subcommittee counsel, Clark agreed that he knew the Chips Distributing Co., a Philadelphia record firm in which he held a one-third interest, had distributed $20,000 in payola over a 20-month period.

NO DETAILS
Clark insisted he knew nothing about details of the payments, which he said were handled by Harry Chipetz, one of the partners in Chips Distributing.

Pressed by Lishman, he said Chipetz told him at one time that payola was being distributed.

Clark also acknowledged under questioning that he had done nothing to stop the payments by the Chips company.

He said he received the $4,500 in gifts in 1958 from Lou Bedell of Era and Dore Records.

In a lengthy statement read to the committee about his activities, Clark said that in addition to the fur stole for his wife, Bedell also presented her with a necklace and him with a ring—both worth a total of $3,400.

"I emphasize that these items were given to us as presents. I did not receive them because of any agreement or understanding that I was to give Mr. Bedell's records any special treatment. Nor did I give . . . any special treatment because of these gifts."

Clark, making a long-awaited appearance before a House investigating subcommittee, complained at the outset that he had been condemned before getting a chance to testify.

In a 34-page prepared statement, Clark declared: "Gentlemen, I feel that I have been convicted, condemned and denounced even before I have had an opportunity to tell my story. Further, there has been printed in the press what appears to be a prejudgment of my case."

Clark had been turned down on his requests that he be permitted to testify as the first witness at the committee's inquiry into his activities.

In swearing that he had never taken payola, the 30-year-old idol of the teen-agers asserted: "In brief, I have never agreed to play a record or television show in return for a payment in cash or any other consideration."

Clark told the Legislative Oversight subcommittee that he had cooperated fully in investigations of his affairs and "I have given your staff complete and unlimited access to all documents, accounts, books and papers which they have requested."

NOTHING TO HIDE
"I point this out only because I want to make it clear that I have nothing to conceal."

Tracing his television and radio background and explaining his successful TV career which has won him a following of tens of thousands of teen-agers for his two nationally televised disc jockey shows, Clark said:

"I seek to provide wholesome recreational outlets for these youngsters whom I think I know and understand."

As Clark testified his wife, Barbara, her silver blonde hair bound by a wispy of a feather hat, sat in the hearing room audience at Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clark of Utica, N.Y.

In addition to his nationally televised (ABC) weekday American Bandstand and Saturday night shows, Clark reportedly once had an interest in 17 record and music companies. He is understood to have severed those connections some months back.

The subcommittee this week has received conflicting testimony from witnesses on whether Clark showed a tendency to favor songs in which he had a stake.

Baptist Cleric Believes Old Cities Found

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A Baptist missionary believes he and three other American divers have found the wicked Biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah on the bottom of the Dead Sea.

Dr. Ralph E. Baney of Kansas City, Mo., in an interview Thursday night told of finding extensive underwater remains of a civilization that flourished 4,000 years ago and then was inundated, apparently after an earthquake.

He said he and his divers found a levee 15 feet wide and 8 feet high under the waters of the inland sea between Jordan and Israel. The levee ran from a south-western point of the Lisan Peninsula due west for two miles.

The levee, he continued, in Biblical times kept the salty waters of the sea from flowing into the fertile plains to the south. He believes an earthquake collapsed the levee, and the sea unrolled the plains behind it.

"We have located two cities under the Dead Sea water which are believed to be the two lost cities of Sodom and Gomorrah," Baney said. "One of these cities we have located in the Lisan Peninsula Bay. The other is due west of the northern point of the Lisan Peninsula."

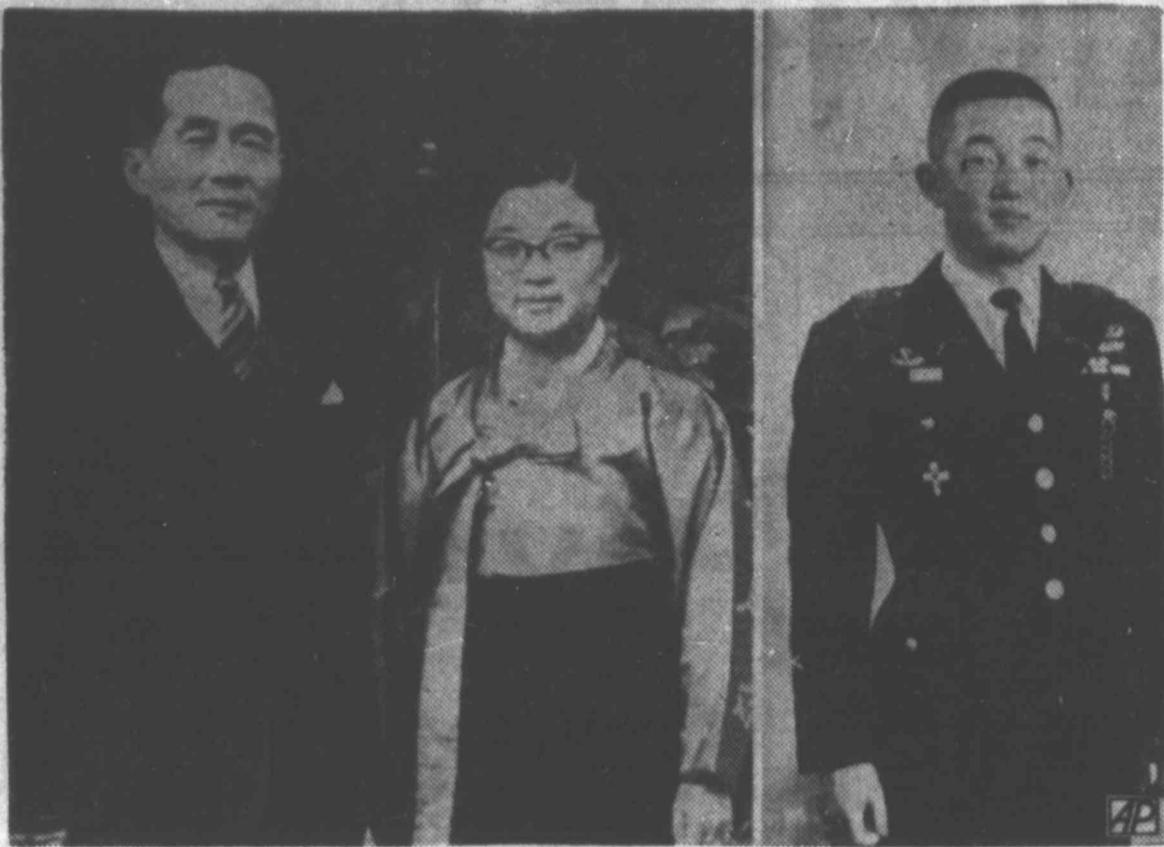

The Bible says the Lord rained down fire and brimstone to destroy Sodom, Gomorrah, and the neighboring cities of Adama, Seboin and Bala (later called Segor) for the vices of their inhabitants.

Angels led Abraham's nephew, Lot, his wife and two daughters out of Sodom to spare them, but Lot's wife looked back and was turned into a pillar of salt, according to the Bible story.

Baney has been exploring the sea bottom since early February with Viola Conway of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ryther of Kansas City, Kan.

Baney is executive director of the Christian Approach Mission, which runs an orphanage in Bethesda.

17 Crimes Total Count But Chessman Will Die For 2

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Caryl Chessman, under sentence to die next Monday, was convicted of committing 17 crimes in 20 days.

The period was from Jan. 3, 1948—26 days after his fourth parole from prison—to Jan. 23, 1948, his last day of freedom.

Only during the last five days did the bandit use a red spotlight which marked him as the "Red Light Bandit."

Two of the offenses for which he was sentenced were considered especially revolting.

The time was 8:30 p.m. on Jan. 19, Jarnigan Lea, 34, a widower, and Regina E. Johnson, a polio victim out of the Plintridge Hills looking at the view. Lea was an old friend of the Johnsons.

A red spotlight flashed on, a man walked up—and shoved a .45 in the open window. He ordered the young housewife out "or you'll both go home in a casket."

"She's got polio," Lea appealed. "She can't walk. For God's sake, can't you let her alone?"

The bandit grabbed her arm and forced the weeping woman to his own car—the same stolen car used in all the red light robberies. He took Lea's keys and threatened to kill them both.

Lea heard a scream, a slap, repeated commands, low masculine laughter, sobs. Mrs. Johnson was freed when a third car came in sight. She was near shock from pervasions the bandit forced on her.

Both she and Lea identified Chessman as the gunman.

Three hours later the red light bandit took $2 from a young man and his girl but did not bother the girl.

Then about 1 a.m. Jan. 22 he forced strictly-raised Mary Alice Meza, 17, from Frank Hurlbert's car parked on a hill overlooking the San Fernando Valley. They had been to a parish dance.

The bandit told Miss Meza he would kill Hurlbert unless she accompanied him. Forcing her escort's car into the ditch, he drove five miles away. For three hours he tormented her.

Miss Meza testified she cried and begged for mercy. "Why do you do this to me?" she pleaded. "I never did anything to you."

"What did he say?" the prosecutor asked. "He just sat there and waited until I was finished."

"He compelled her to engage in a series of degrading acts of perversion, first in the front seat, then in the back, she said. She entered a mental hospital within a year and is still there."

All but one victim of the 17 crimes positively identified Chessman as the gunman. Hurlbert said he did not get a sufficient look at the man's face to identify anyone.

The death sentences—recommended by the jury—were on conviction of kidnaping for the purpose of robbery, with bodily injury to the victim—two counts, involving Miss Meza and Mrs. Johnson.

Chessman was arrested Jan. 23, 1948 driving a car stolen Jan. 13. All told the 17 counts included eight counts of robbery, four of kidnaping, two morals charges, one count of attempted robbery, one count of attempted rape and one auto theft charge.

Earlier entries on Chessman's criminal record: 1937—At 16, convicted of three car thefts, burglarizing a service station; escaped from Juvenile Hall, next day burglarized a drug store. Committed to Forestry Camp, escaped, sent to Preston School of Industry. (pre-1937 juvenile records have been destroyed).

1938—Paroled from Preston; arrested with stolen car after tried to force open a drugstore door, admitted using stolen credit card to buy gasoline and other items. Sent back to Preston.

1939—Paroled from Preston. 1941—As one of "boy bandit ring" involved in at least 30 robberies, sluggings of gas station attendants and shooting scrapes with police, plus at least eight car thefts; sentenced to three five-to-life prison terms and one 1-to-10 year term—all consecutive; plus a five-to-life to run concurrently; a total of 16 years to life imprisonment.

1943—Transferred from San Quentin to honor farm at China, escaped and recaptured several weeks later after more armed robberies. Dec. 8, 1947—Paroled from San Quentin.

Chessman, Aides Hold 'Final' Talks

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Caryl Chessman prepared for a "final" talk with two of his attorneys today on what more can be done to prevent his execution in the gas chamber, scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday.

The attorneys, A. L. Wirin and Rosalie Asher, got nowhere with G. Brown in Sacramento Thursday. They will meet with Chessman at 1 p.m. today.

Brown told them that he stood firm on his statement of last Tuesday—that he is powerless to act unless there is some unexpected development of a critical nature. None is in sight.

Nevertheless, Wirin told reporters, "We are confident that when all the chips are down the governor will do the same thing he did last time." The last time was Feb. 19, when Brown granted Chessman a 60-day reprieve.

The governor said nothing to give him that impression, Wirin admitted.

Plans for the execution went ahead. Warden Fred Dickson of San Quentin said no visitors but attorneys of record for Chessman would be allowed on the prison grounds Sunday night, the eve of the execution. Newsmen had been admitted in the past.

Helpful Driver Wasn't Helpful

DETROIT (AP)—A motorist offered to lead Ruddy Maxwell to the Ambassador Bridge Thursday. He was driving a truck from Edmonton, Alta., to Toronto by way of Detroit.

The helpful stranger zipped under a railroad underpass. Maxwell didn't. His truck was 12 feet, nine inches high. The underpass was 12 feet high.

Several hours later he was able to resume his trip. He took a different course to the bridge.

Traffic Death Toll At Low Ebb

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic death toll in March was the lowest for any March in 11 years.

The 2,400 highway deaths in March this year, the National Safety Council said, represented a 16 per cent decrease from the total of 2,860 in March 1959. The council said the decrease was the greatest for any month since 1947.

Howard Pyle, president of the N.S.C., called the statistics encouraging and interpreted them as equivalent to saving 400 lives.

The sharp drop in March also placed the 1960 first quarter toll 5 per cent below that of the first quarter of 1959.

Thirty-seven states showed decreases in fatalities last March compared with March 1959.

Dirty Old Box

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Joseph," asked the baby-sitter, "how did you get your hands so dirty?" "It's that awful dirty fire box," four-year-old Joseph Metzler answered Thursday as speechless officers tried to unseat a traffic jam caused by the false alarm. Joseph stood on the seat of his brother's tricycle to pull the alarm.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Tornadoes churned straight as a string down a 50-mile stretch of central Oklahoma Thursday night, destroying or damaging dozens of homes and causing at least 31 injuries.

One death was attributed indirectly to the twisters which were first spotted over Anadarko before sundown and last reported over Oklahoma City. Loyde Walters, an Oklahoma City man, died early today of a heart attack he suffered when his house was damaged by the storm.

The sprawling Oklahoma capital city was hardest hit. "It's impossible to make an estimate of damage at this time," said City Manager Sheldon Stirling early today. "Right now we are most thankful there were no deaths."

Most of the damage here was from roofs torn from buildings and homes by the twister, which apparently passed over at rooftop level. Two homes were destroyed and trailers in a trailer court overturned.

In the tiny farm community of Pocasset, 50 miles southwest of here, two homes were flattened by a tornado and two others heavily damaged.

Haskell Shipp and his wife, Mildred, both 48, were slightly injured when the storm damaged their home at Pocasset.

At Tuttle, 10 miles northeast of Pocasset, a twister clipped a side off the high school gym, wrecked a cotton gin, a school bus garage and three houses.

Ironically, the U. S. Weather Bureau bore the initial impact of the storm here. The last message transmitted over its teletype printer told the story: "Severe hail and damaging winds is moving across Oklahoma City at present."

The rest was silence. The Weather Bureau wire was dead. Wind and hail shattered windows at the bureau at the buildings at Will Rogers Airport.

The tornadic winds lifted the roofs from the Hillcrest Country Club house and a fire station in Southwest Oklahoma City. Windows were shattered, homes unroofed and big signs twisted by the wind and golfball sized hailstones. Countless cars were stranded in suddenly flooded streets during a torrential rain.

Most of the 13 persons hospitalized here were treated for cuts and bruises. Fifteen others were treated and released.

Just south of Oklahoma City backwash winds from the passing tornado destroyed two unoccupied homes at Moore and damaged four others.

FREEMONT (AP)—Two men were burned severely Thursday at the Dow Chemical Co. plant in what a Dow official said was a "gas flash" in a unit where hot magnesium is poured from tanks.

Titan Test Is Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force has successfully fired the last of its limited range Titan missiles and now shifts to tests on a more advanced model of the intercontinental range weapon.

The last of the "C" series Titans flew more than 3,000 miles down the Atlantic Missile Range Thursday. The Air Force announced the 98-foot missile achieved all major test objectives and dropped a dummy nose cone in the intended impact area. It was the ninth successful flight in 14 Titan launchings.

Testing now will concentrate on the "G" series Titan, which covers a range of 5,000 miles or more and carries a tactical-type nose cone.

The first of 14 Titan squadrons, each with 10 missiles, is scheduled to be operational in June, 1961, at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Kentucky Blue Laws Enforced

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—In the first legal move against Sunday business here, a warrant charging an illegal sale has been obtained against a suburban department store.

Family Fair was named in the warrant, sworn to by Mrs. Charles F. Draggoo.

Charles E. Keller, attorney for Citizens for Sunday Closing, said Thursday there are plans for additional warrants.

An old Kentucky statute prohibits Sunday business with a few exceptions. It calls for fines ranging from $2 to $50 for the illegal employment of each person.

Housing Bill Threatened By Veto Senate's Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—A billion-dollar housing bill threatened with a presidential veto was the Senate's problem today.

The House passed it Thursday, 214-163, a substantial vote still below the two-thirds that would be needed to override a veto by President Eisenhower.

Much of the debate was on partisan lines, foreshadowing efforts to make a presidential campaign issue of housing and mortgage costs.

Republican House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana has predicted a veto, saying the bill will never become law in its present form. Its major feature is authorization for the use of as much as one billion dollars to purchase at par mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration or Veterans Administration.

Proponents said this would increase the mortgage money supply, giving both home owners and building industry a break.

Opponents said there was no shortage of lending money. They contended only some builders and lenders would be helped by the legislation, while the government would be set back in its budget-balancing efforts.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-I.), senior GOP member of the Senate Housing subcommittee, said the bill would be considered at hearings his group has scheduled to start May 9 on a huge general program.

The subcommittee's chairman, Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), was out of the city and unavailable for comment.

The House defeated 136-83 an amendment to deny benefits of the bill to housing subject to racial discrimination. No other major changes were proposed in the House.

Ex-Convict Held For Extortion

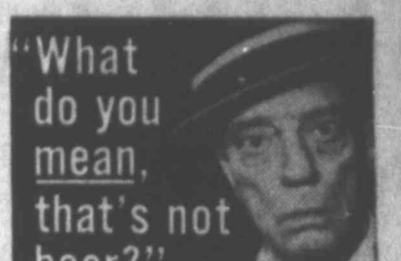

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—An ex-convict was in jail today charged with trying to extort $11,000 from three families with the threat he would gouge their children's eyes out with a barbed hook.

Frank W. Brooks, 47, was arrested by FBI agents Wednesday night in a payoff rendezvous set up by one of the persons he threatened.

Mrs. Otis Tennant, mother of six children, told the FBI she received the first letter April 12. Inside the envelope was a 1 1/2-inch long metal barb — "something like a fish hook" — plus the message demanding cash.

"The note said our children's eyes would be stuck with something just like this if we didn't pay," Mrs. Tennant said.

"What do you mean, that's not beer?"

U. S. Flier Gets Death Sentence In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Alan Lawrence Pope, American flier of fortune, today was sentenced to death for fighting against the government in Indonesia's 1958 rebellion.

An Indonesian air force judge convicted the 31-year-old pilot from Miami, Fla., of carrying arms for the rebels, killing 17 members of Indonesia's armed forces and flying bombing and strafing missions in the uprising against President Sukarno.

Pope showed no emotion as Lt. Col. Sardjono, the judge, pronounced the death sentence.

The judge gave him a week to accept the verdict or appeal to a higher court. If the flier accepts the verdict, the judge may ask Sukarno for a pardon.

Pope admitted flying for the rebels but insisted he flew only one attack mission — "The others were test and patrol flights."

Pope's World War II B26 bomber was shot down near the government-held port of Ambon on May 18, 1958, at the height of the revolt. He bailed out, injured his right leg on landing and was captured.

Pope was held 19 months before being brought to trial last December. The Sukarno government had quashed the rebellion, although isolated rebel units have been reported holding out in remote areas of Sumatra and the Celebes.

The military court rejected defense pleas that Pope be regarded as a prisoner of war.

The American testified his main motive in joining the rebels was to fight communism because he had heard that Communists controlled the Indonesian government. He said he got no pay.

"Since I was 22 I have been fighting Communists," he declared.

Pope said he fought with the U. S. forces in Korea, where he won the Distinguished Flying Cross. Afterward, he became a civilian pilot and helped fly military supplies to the besieged French forces at Dien Bien Phu in Indochina among other jobs.

The Indonesian army charged the American flier was responsible for most of the rebel air raids on ships, ports and airfields in East Indonesia during the rebellion led by dismissed army elements. The army claimed the rebels paid him $10,000 a mission.

Pope was born in South Dade County, Fla., where his parents are well known growers. He attended the University of Florida for two years before joining the U. S. Air Force in 1950.

His wife, Yvonne, and two sons, Stephen, now 3, and Allan, 2, live in Florida. She is a former Pan American Airlines stewardess. Pope was married before and his ex-wife and one child live in Texas.

Police investigated five minor traffic mishaps Thursday, reporting no excessive damage or injuries.

Adjusters Check City Hail Damage

Adjusters were busy in nearly all parts of Big Spring today checking inquiries and claims resulting from Tuesday's hail and rain storms.

Adjusters offices continued to get reports of damages today. Early checks of some houses and automobiles indicated considerable damage.

Exact number of claims was uncertain. General Adjustment Bureau 502 Gregg had more than 200 on hand ready for inspection Friday morning. It had opened a temporary office for seven inspectors who had been moved in to make a survey of the losses.

This office has been set up at 1709 Gregg. Most of the reports brought by this agency are on houses.

Older roofs seem hardest hit. In certain sections of town, the damage will be heavier than others. Out to the west, in the general area of Webb, the hail may have been heavier than in most parts of the town. Numerous reports of damage from this section have been received.

The fact that relatively few examples of broken windows either in cars or houses is a good sign, the adjusters feel, that the town may have escaped with less punishment than might have been the case.

R. D. Batjer Claims Service said that it had more than twice as many claims to check out today than it had on Thursday. Additional claims are continuing to be received. Batjer's also said it had a sizeable number of car complaints which are being checked. The agency plans to add two or more adjusters to its staff to cope with the situation. This agency has reports of broken windows in some trailer houses and also of shattered glass in some automobiles.

Insurance agencies have also had their share of claims and some of these will eventually reach the professional adjusters.

General Adjustment Bureau has divided the town into districts and had men out in the field this morning making check of those addresses on which claims have already been processed.

Apparently shingled roofs and newer composition roofs bore the brunt of the storm better than older composition roofs.

Sam Blackburn, Big Spring newspaperman, was the speaker. He traced the origin of government by law through the Magna Carta on down to the U. S. Constitution. He pointed out that the protection Americans have in their lives, property and opportunity is based on law and warned that constant nibbling at the foundations on which this nation is built could ultimately destroy it.

Two members of the Circle K Club at the Howard County Junior College—Buddy Barnes, president, and Bobby Overman, vice president—made brief reports on their recent attendance at the Texas-Oklahoma Circle K Club convention in Bagnadoches.

Hi Bernon, lieutenant governor for the Kiwanis District of which Big Spring is a member, was in attendance at the meeting. He was accompanied by four fellow Kiwanians from Colorado City. He invited the Big Spring Club to attend the Turnbieweed Festival which is being staged in that city.

Seven new members were installed Thursday evening at a special meeting of the Optimist Club at the 66 Cafe.

La. Gay Harrell, Odessa, addressed the meeting.

New members of the club are Reginald Hyer, Rex Hutchinson, Everett C. Taylor, Donald D. Green, Jimmie C. Shouls, James Calmes, Norman Campbell. Guests included Keith Bailey, president of the Odessa club, Wayne Lynn, incoming president, and Harold Simpson, past president of the Odessa club.

The Big Spring Optimist Club recently changed its meeting time to 7 a.m. breakfasts at the cafe each Wednesday. The club specializes in boys work. Next week the club will participate in a joint meeting of service clubs Tuesday at Big Spring State Hospital.

Disabled American Veterans and the DAV Auxiliary held a regular joint meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fiveash and discussed various business and social activities.

Protection Of Law Stressed

Big Spring Kiwanians heard of Law Day to be celebrated over the nation on May 1, at their Thursday noon program. Law Day is the American answer to the military rallies which are usually staged on this date in the Communist countries.

San Angelo Tar Held In Death

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A Navy man from San Angelo, Tex., was held today in the slaying of another sailor in Tijuana, Mexico. Raymond B. Woodward Jr., 19, a fireman apprentice, was brought here in a Navy plane Thursday from San Francisco. The Navy took him into custody Tuesday night when he reported from leave to Treasure Island, in San Francisco Bay. Woodward was taken to the brig at the naval station for questioning in the slaying of Mitchell Alexander Ferreira, 20, of Camp Elliott, San Diego. A picture of Woodward was identified by operators of a Tijuana motel as that of the youth who was with Ferreira when they registered at the motel. Ferreira, whose home was at Hayward, Calif., was found beaten to death with a piece of pipe in a motel room Saturday, Tijuana police said.

Legislators Toss Barbs At Candidates

By IRWIN FRANK
Associated Press Staff Writer
Members of the Texas Legislature threw barbs at the two candidates for governor Thursday. Two representatives said Jack Cox of Breckenridge is a registered lobbyist with an admitted interest "in all legislation pertaining to oil and gas." They were Rep. Joe Cannon of Mexia and Rep. George Hinson, of Mineola. Eight other representatives said Gov. Price Daniel made "unwarranted, unfounded and unfair" comments about the Legislature in a television speech Monday. The critics said Daniel has "not offered proper solutions to the many problems, financial and otherwise, which confront our state."

They said Daniel's attack "upon public servants who dared to oppose you" is beneath the dignity of the office.

In his talk Daniel said critics trying to blame him for the state's general fund deficit probably were among the special interest groups which were responsible for delays and deadlocks in the legislative session last year.

SIGNERS LISTED
The statement from the group was released by State Rep. Scott McDonald of Fort Worth, Tarrant County co-chairman for Cox. Other signers were Reps. Frances Seeligson of San Antonio, Bob Johnson of Dallas, W. N. Woolsey of Corpus Christi, Bill Jones of Dallas, Ben D. Sudderth of Comanche, John L. Crosthwait of Dallas and Joe Burkett Jr. of Kerrville.

Cannon and Hinson said Cox registered as a lobbyist May 4, 1959 and in 1955 appeared before a House committee to oppose a bill sought by Texas independent oil producers.

"Other lobbyists for the gas pipeline companies are raising huge campaign funds to put their fellow lobbyist in the governor's chair," they said.

Daniel predicted at Fort Worth that he would defeat Cox by a 2-1 majority if a heavy vote turns out for the May 7 Democratic Primary.

Li Gov. Ben Ramsey said in Midland that "as an added safeguard to the taxpayer, I advocate that a two-thirds majority in each legislative house be required for passage of any tax bill."

NO SELFISH TAX
Ramsey said "this would prevent minorities committed to serve selfish interests from imposing a tax on the people and would separate essential from non-essential spending."

Don Yarbrough, Ramsey's opponent, told an Odessa audience he would win by 50,000 votes. He said Ramsey has "tried to saddle the people of Texas with a general sales tax."

In Midland he said "the answer to the financial problems of our state lies in greater state economy, not in greater taxes."

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said in Lubbock that House Speaker Waggoner Carr is "throwing one wild charge after another." He said, "apparently my opponent has lost his head and is throwing one wild charge after another."

H. J. Blanchard, chairman of the Texas House General Investigating Committee, said the committee had done nothing about a requested probe of the State Banking Commission.

Carr, opposing Wilson, said Wednesday night he would ask for an investigation of Wilson's conduct as a member of the commission.

Blanchard said "I understand that a transcript and some papers are coming for me to study but I haven't received them."

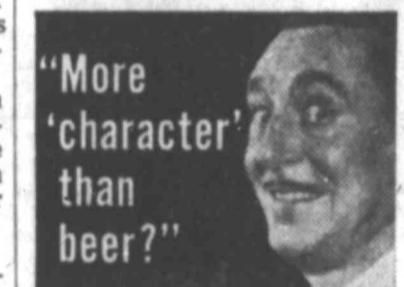

Another candidate for attorney general, Bob Looney, of Austin, said in a Houston radio talk that Wilson and Carr "are ridiculous when they say they want to clean up crime in Texas. If they wanted to clean up they could start in Austin and clean up crime under the Capitol dome."

DEAR ABBY

IN AGREEMENT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps you can settle a family controversy. My uncle, who lay unconscious for 22 days from a mining accident, passed away the morning of the day my sister was to be married. She was his eldest and favorite niece. Although she was truly heart-broken, she went ahead with the wedding.

Many relatives thought she should have called it off until a later date. The church was full of flowers and all the out-of-town guests were here and she didn't feel like sending them home and changing her plans. Do you think my sister did the right thing? Or should she have called off the wedding until a future date?

DEAR ABBY: I think your sister did the right thing. And I'll wager if her uncle could have whispered into her ear, he would have told her to go ahead with the wedding as scheduled.

DEAR ABBY: Are we raising a bunch of cream puffs? I read that in different parts of the country they closed the schools because of snow. Honestly, when I was a girl (some fifty years ago) I walked three miles to school every day. I had to cross an icy creek and railroad tracks and go through woods. The snow was waist-deep and I really knew what cold was.

Today you hear youngsters say that if they can't get a ride to school, they will just have to stay home. Isn't it pitiful? Maybe if you print this, Abby our young people would thank God for their strong legs and use them.

OLD-TIMER

DEAR ABBY: I am the wife of a career Army officer. It has taken me almost 20 years to accumulate nice china, silver and household appliances. Some of our Army friends have spent their money on expensive vacations and heavy drinking, but I did without temporary pleasures because I wanted nice things. My problem is that I have been asked for the loan of everything from my crystal goblets to my electric mixer. Some people don't care what they ask for. (I have false teeth, too, but I've never told anyone for fear they'd ask to borrow them). Invariably my things are returned broken, bent or out of order, so I have taken to telling everyone, "I don't borrow and I don't lend."

ARMY WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It's not what you say, it's the way that you say it. It's possible to refuse requests with diplomacy, finesse, and finally without once using the word "no." A little tact can preserve your worldly goods AND friendships from breakage.

CONFIDENTIAL TO INTERESTED READERS: At last! The author of the wonderful piece, "OPEN LETTER TO TEEN-AGERS," quoted in my column, wrote to claim the credit. She is Mrs. Doris S. Burville of Hibbing, Minnesota. Congratulations, Doris, and thank you for solving the mystery.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-Agers Want To Know," send 25c and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

The conference ends Saturday.

DWI Called Big Cause Of Crime

AUSTIN (AP)—Disrespect for traffic laws is responsible to a large extent for the rise in Texas crime, Brad Smith, assistant to the governor on traffic safety, said at the Annual Traffic Courts Conference Thursday.

"When people think they can thumb their noses at the law on little things, it is one small step further to begin to thumb their noses at the law on bigger things, like burglary, assaults on police officers and other crimes," Smith said.

"If a man is driving while intoxicated, let's charge him with that and let's prosecute him for that. Let's stop this business of reducing the charge to 'drinking in an automobile' or 'drunk in a public place' or just plain 'drunk.' It is legal to drink in Texas but it is not legal to drink and drive," Smith said.

Negro In Office

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The first Negro ever to hold class office in the 214-year history of Princeton University is treasurer of the freshman class. He is Edward White, 18, of New Haven, Conn.

Little Rock Man New Head Of Presbyterians

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The new moderator of the Southern Presbyterian Church is Dr. Marion A. Boggs of Little Rock, Ark.

He won a close election over Dr. R. Matthew Lynn of Midland, Tex., 260-251 Thursday night. Two other nominees—Dr. James Sprunt of Staunton, Va., and Dr. Henry E. Russell of Memphis, Tenn.—were eliminated in a first ballot.

Boggs, minister of the Second Presbyterian Church in Little Rock since 1939, is a former moderator of the Synod of Arkansas. He is a graduate of Davidson College, Union Theological Seminary and Arkansas College.

He succeeds Dr. Ernest Trice Thompson of Richmond, Va., whose final action as moderator was to place in the minutes of the opening session of the 100th General Assembly a joint "Message to The Nation" with the leader of the United Presbyterian Church USA (Northern), Dr. Arthur L. Miller, and six other Presbyterian churchmen.

Although included in the minutes, the message was not read at the general session nor distributed to the 511 voting commissioners.

The message endorsed birth control and said racial discrimination has no place in the church.

"The bringing of children into the world is a privilege not to be lightly or selfishly evaded by married couples," the statement said. "On the other hand, the responsibility of prospective parents obligates them to consider well how their children are to be provided with that which will make for their best physical, cultural, moral and spiritual development."

"If man and wife are not to be denied mutual fulfillment in the sexual relation, and if society is not to be penalized by the unplanned and irresponsible production of children, it will follow that access to information regarding the best methods of birth control is the right of all married couples and the provision of this information the duty of a responsible society," the statement said.

On segregation the message said, "No human differences such as the color of men's skins can annul the fact of their essential equality or justify any discrimination based on denial of it."

It also called for an end to the armaments race between the United States and Russia and urged every effort to reduce the possibility of war.

Thunderstorms, Cold Front Hit; No Damaging Storms

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms and a cold front hit Texas early Friday as a Weather Bureau alert expired without any damaging weather reported.

The alert warned of possible tornadoes and vicious thunderstorms between 11 p.m. Thursday and 4 a.m. Friday.

A weak cold front edged into the northern portion of the Texas Panhandle and early Friday was along a line from Gage, Okla., to just south of Dalhart.

Scattered thunderstorms fell in an area bounded by Kaufman, southeast of Dallas, to Sulphur Springs, northeast of Dallas, to Sherman, north of Dallas.

Another small area of thunderstorms was centered about 30 miles west-northwest of San Angelo. Drizzle was reported at San Antonio.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 46 at Dalhart to 76 at Laredo.

Hailstones as big as golf balls smashed windows in two service stations in Colorado City Thursday night and 58 inch of rain fell in the city.

Marble-size hail also hit an area 35 miles northwest of Wichita Falls and around Del Rio in South Texas.

College Station and Waco were the only cities getting measurable rainfall in the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Thursday. College Station got .48 inch and Waco received .03 inch.

The five-day forecast issued Friday by the Weather Bureau calls for temperatures 2 to 4 degrees below normal in the north portion of eastern and Central Texas and near normal in the south portion. Precipitation is expected to be moderate in widely scattered thundershowers.

In Western Texas temperatures are to be 2 to 3 degrees below normal in the north portion and near normal in the southern portion. Precipitation will be moderate in widely scattered thundershowers.

Church Council Lashes Summit

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The American Council of Christian Churches says the forthcoming summit conference is part of Communist strategy to destroy the free world.

The council issued a statement that, "It is morally wrong to trust the godless Communists and to enter into agreements with a power whose word has proven worthless."

"Our tragic concessions and losses at all previous summit conferences should tell freedom-loving nations that the road to peace and freedom is a different path to peace from one dealing with the most diabolical force the world has ever seen."

Jayhawks Face Rugged Task In Exes' Contest

Buddy Travis' Futures have their work cut out for them in their basketball exhibition with the HCJC Exes, scheduled to be played in the Jayhawk Gymnasium at 8 o'clock this evening. Starting positions on the Exes team will be manned by players on last season's great team, which won state and regional honors and the National Junior College tournament.

The contest is being unveiled to provide the Athletic Department of the college with funds to purchase a washer and dryer. The public can gain admittance to the gym for 50c and 25c cents.

DERBY FAVORITES ARE SLATED TO RUN IN PREPS ON SATURDAY

By ORLO ROBERTSON Associated Press Sports Writer
Bally Ache and Venetian Way get their chance Saturday to show that the May 7 running of the Kentucky Derby will not necessarily be a one-horse show by Tompkins. They are scheduled to start along with several other derby hopefuls in the 7-furlong of the Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs.

There'll be a preliminary attraction. Girls' volleyball attractions featuring HCJC and Abilene Christian College clash at 7 p.m. Starters for the Exes will be Harold Henson, an All-America performer for the Hawks last season; tall Tom Garrison, Jimmy Evans, Bob Shirley and Larry Cruise. Coach Travis will probably go with a lineup composed of Ronald Weeks, Charley Knotts, Bill Edwards, Kenneth Clearman and either Preston Hollis or Kenneth Day.

Abilene Eagles Slam Resident Nine, 7-3

By DON RIDDLE
Teddy Hamilton banged out two big triples and John Marshall and Frank Ray curbed the Steers with only six hits Thursday, as the Abilene Eagles shaved the Big Springs farther into the district baseball cellar, 7-3.
Hamilton, hitting second in the lineup, tripled with one down in the first, but was tagged out by catcher Jimmy Roger when he tried to score.
Big Spring thus got past their usually damaging first inning, but the visitors tallied for two in the second. Two walks and a single by catcher Bill Fuhs accounted for the pair.

Abilene used an error and a double by George Rockwell in the third to chalk up another run. In the fifth stanza, Hamilton and Jimmy Mallon led off with back-to-back triples and Mallon later scored an infielder's wild throw to the plate.
Big Spring rallied in the fifth for two runs as Jack Irons walked and scored on Roger's double. Roger scored moments later on a single by Tommy Whalley.

With two away in the sixth, Abilene put together a walk, a single and a triple by Billy Monk, to mark up two more runs.
Big Spring scored its final pointer in the sixth on a walk, an error and a sacrifice fly.
Dexter Pate and Zay LeFevre teamed up on the hill for the locals and allowed Abilene eight hits, including four triples and one double.
Abilene avoided the cellar themselves with the victory, and now they post a 2-5 record. The Steers took a firm grip on the league basement with the loss and now own a 1-6 mark.
The locals journey to Odessa Saturday to battle the Odessa High Bronco's. Big Spring's only district win was over the Bronco, here earlier this year.

Fighter In Third Comeback New To His Pretty Manager

By BOB MYERS
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The place was a training gym and it had all the earmarks of one. Kenny La Salle, a pretty fair fighter out of Texas in his day, runs it, and there is the usual equipment.
There's a ring, punching bags, a steam room for tired tycoons from Santa Monica and Beverly Hills and a few guys hopping around skipping rope.
There was another fixture this particular day that no other gym in the world could claim.
This one, cute as a trimmed poodle, stands about 5-4 and weighs in as a flyweight at 108. Can't fight a lick, though.
The name? Anna Maria Alberghetti. She's a fight manager. She is also very well known as a singer—in super-plush joints in New York, Las Vegas and elsewhere.
"Yes, it's true, I'm a manager now," said Miss A., "but my brown eyes shine. That's him over there. He's a young prospect, they say."
"Him" is Seaman Glass a heavyweight.
Miss Alberghetti happily explained that her manager, Pierre Cossette, figured she ought to invest a few dollars in something other than real estate or banks or the entertainment business.
"So we got him. Isn't he wonderful?"
Glass came over and offered a huge paw to shake. He's 6-4 and boxes at 198. What about his manager? "Well, she's certainly the prettiest I ever had," said Seaman.
"He's had two fights. Won one, lost one," Miss A. continued as Seaman drifted away to spar with another giant, Charley Powell.
"He's fighting this week. Sure, I'll be there. But not in his corner, of course," said Anna Maria. "I'm so excited."
She posed for a photographer, with Seaman pressing a glove against her cheek. Later, Anna Maria whispered, "Those gloves do smell, don't they?"
Soon the session ended and Miss Alberghetti departed. She left one admonition. "Remember, this young man has had only two fights. Won one, lost one."
It just wasn't time to mention that Seaman was boxing around here long before she wore pigtail, and that in 1955 he retired after getting flattened in a preliminary on the Art Aragon-Vince Martinez card.
And now, at the age of 34, Glass was attempting a comeback. True, though, at this stage he was 1-1. "Yes, I'm 34 but I like to box," said the good-natured Glass. "But somehow I get tensed up in the ring."
Well, Seaman now has had his third bout in his comeback. He got knocked out in three rounds this time.
But in Miss Alberghetti's book, he's won one and lost only two.

Jets Kayoed By Stars, 15-1

Base hits were as scarce as hen's teeth in last night's American Little League game here between the Jets and the Stars.
The Stars, benefiting from the no-hit hurling of Bobby Thomas and Richard Staggs, won the game, 5-1.
The winners managed only four hits and those came in the same inning, at which time the Stars counted three of their runs.
Staggs, who labored 2 2/3 innings on the hill, emerged as the winning pitcher. He fanned six in his stint on the rubber.
The Jets managed their lone run in the fourth when Buddy Smith walked, after which free passes were given to Tommy Lawson, Mike Green and Buddy Bruton in that order.
Staggs, Rusty Kimble, James Parker and Larry Coker collected the hits for the winners.

Smith Unsure Of His Post

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) - Al Smith is hitting at a fantastic pace as the Chicago White Sox new leadoff man, but the 32-year-old outfielder doesn't know from day to day if he will keep the job.
Smith was given the No. 1 spot in the batting order Tuesday night at Kansas City. He hit a homer, a single, another single, a double and a single in five trips as the Sox won 8-0.
He was in the leadoff role again Thursday night, smashing three consecutive singles and scoring all of the Sox runs before being stopped in the seventh on a foul fly to the catcher. The Sox trimmed Cleveland 3-1 behind Billy Pierce's route-going five-hitter.
In two games, Smith has upped his batting average from .136 to .355.
"I'll go along temporarily with Smith leading off, but I want to get (Luis) Aparicio back up there as soon as I can," said Manager Al Lopez. "Lopez continued, "When I managed Cleveland, Smitty was in the No. 1 spot most of the time. In 1955 when he was leading off he had his best year, batting .306 with 22 homers and 77 RBI."

TEXAS LAWMEN
GEORGE W. ARRINGTON, SHERIFF
The Panhandle's Ironbanded Peace-man
The Panhandle is proud of George W. Arrington, its first and fightin'est peace officer. As the early-day Indians said it... "Que hombre!" Born in Alabama, 1844, he was one of Mosely's (Confederate) guerrillas before his whiskers sprouted. At 23 he had served with the Emperor Maximilian in Mexico and toured Central America, no restful region then. By 1878 he was Captain of Co. C, Frontier Battalion, Texas Rangers. And no outlaw was safe. One party of horse thieves he chased to the New England states and fetched back to jail. In 1879 Arrington established the first Ranger camp in the Panhandle in Crosby County. There he charred the high plains, located the legendary Lost Lakes, rode herd on warring Indians and tangled with the U. S. Army. During that disagreement the Indians gave up... vanquished. "Texas soldier no bueno." Two years later Arrington retired to ranching and was promptly elected Sheriff of Wheeler and 14 attached counties, serving for 8 turbulent years. He seems to have proved conclusively that tranquility is not necessary for longevity. He lived 79 un-peaceful years, one of Texas' greatest peace-men.
Just as we have always needed the fearless courage and integrity of our lawmen, so do we need industry and commerce. When an industry provides a whole community with payrolls and revenue, relaxation and the pleasure of moderation... it "belongs" in Texas. "Beer Belongs". The United States Brewers Foundation constantly works with brewers, wholesalers, retailers and local authorities to assure the safe and sound and under pleasant, orderly and law-abiding conditions.

Dick Clark, As MC, Gained Top Popularity

By NOAH HALPER
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Richard Wagstaff Clark is not a musician, entertainer or disc jockey. Strictly speaking he is a master of ceremonies. As such he has become perhaps the most influential person in the popular music field.

"Communication is the word that Clark, a 30-year-old native of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., once used to describe his success. And it is this communication with teenagers that started him toward the top.

Clark is a 1951 graduate of Syracuse University. He worked in upstate New York TV and radio until he came to Philadelphia in 1952 as a staff announcer with WFIL and WFIL-TV.

For four years he was an unknown. In this period WFIL-TV had a show called Bandstand. A master of ceremonies chatted with teen-agers, delivered a few commercials and then watched the kids dance to recorded music. Clark was thrown into the breach when the MC was fired.

A year later the American Broadcasting Co. decided to televise the show nationally as American Bandstand. This show was very successful and soon Clark had his second network show.

GIVEN AWARDS
Clark reportedly began to earn half a million dollars a year from his shows and various music businesses.

In one public address Clark urged parents to sit down "and talk with teen-agers, instead of talking down to them." For his interest in youth he has received several awards.

Clark says some of his understanding comes from his own childhood. As a teen-ager he was bothered with a skin disease that gave him an inferiority complex. "I thought I was peculiar looking and generally odd," he says. Now he is described as boyishly handsome, good looking or sharp.

By his senior year at A. B. Davis High School at Mt. Vernon he had overcome his complex somewhat. He was elected class president. From there he went to Syracuse, taking a business course and doing a lot of work in university radio. In summers he worked in commercial radio.

Clark did not serve in the armed forces. After the death in World War II of his only brother, Brad, a fighter pilot, he received a surviving dependent deferment.

COURTING TIME
In his university days he began courting of his high school sweetheart, Barbara Mallery, who was attending Columbia University's Teachers College. Clark worked at odd jobs during college to pay his tuition and maintain the jolopy he drove on his courting trips.

Dick and Barbara were married in 1952 and had their first and only child, Richard Augustus Clark, a year and a half later.

Evidence of his reported wealth are few. An associate notes that his suburban home is worth "only about $35,000 and that's not too uncommon. Bobby still does a lot of the housework. They do have some part-time help.

"And Dick is a real devoted father. He has a special time set aside for his son every morning. By the time he gets through work every day the boy is asleep. Dick worked hard to get here and he still works hard."

When he does have a period of leisure, Clark and family are likely to take a trip to the Maryland shore where his in-laws live. Neither the in-laws nor Clark's own parents are wealthy. Clark's father was a salesman and now is a radio executive in New York State.

If he's at home, Clark may be listening to his personal record collection, featuring the soft strains of the late Glenn Miller contrast with the more raucous music featured on the Clark shows.

Another favorite recreation is walking. That gives him time to reflect on his position as the center of interest for a congressional committee and perhaps on the words of advice he once had for a group of Boy Scouts—expect adversity in pursuit of a career. Clark told the group his own success came too easily and is not typical.

Officers Hold White Minister

MARSHALL (AP)—Officers carried a white preacher to jail Thursday after he brought his campaign for integration to this East Texas city.

The Rev. Ashton Jones, 63, was charged with vagrancy and was held under $200 bond.

Jones lay down on the grass outside Wiley College, a Negro school, and was carried to the officer's car. He was carried from the car to the sheriff's office after refusing to walk.

He is from Los Angeles and said he had been arrested 17 times for demonstrations against segregation. He travels in a bus decorated with pictures of a black and a white hand clasped.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Don Rives said an official of Wiley asked that Jones be removed from the campus.

Jones was in Dallas earlier this week and accompanied a Negro preacher to lunch rooms in three stores. The Negro became the first of his race to be served at the previously all-white facilities.

Army Missile Uses Most Powerful Solid Fuel In Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—A solid fuel rocket engine producing 480,000 pounds of thrust was used in the launching of an Army Nike Zeus antimissile missile from an underground site Thursday.

This is the most powerful rocket engine used to launch the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile. William Dick, director of special weapons development in the Army's Research and Development Branch.

Reporters noted that the power of the Zeus main booster rocket engine was greater than the 360,000 pound thrust of the liquid fuel booster used to launch the Atlas.

Dick agreed that the thrust delivered by the Zeus booster was greater, but explained that the burning time was less than that for the Atlas.

The Zeus booster engine is made by Thiokol Chemical Corp., which operates a laboratory at Huntsville, Ala., the headquarters for the Army's missile programs. Prime contractor for the Zeus project is the Western Electric Co., with Douglas Aircraft Co., a major subcontractor, making the missile itself.

Dick wouldn't say at what range the Army expects the Zeus to be effective. The Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile has a range of about 75 miles and defense officials have said the Zeus was designed for ranges substantially greater than that. This would be required to make possible the interception and destruction of an enemy ICBM while still well away from a target and still high in its trajectory.

The Zeus test firing was from a square-shaped pit 60 feet deep and nine feet square at the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico.

Dallas Adopts Integration

By The Associated Press
The Dallas School Board met late Friday to approve a grade-a-year school integration plan, The Dallas News said.

The Houston Board of Education—with the largest segregated school system in the nation—may adopt a plan similar to Dallas', the Houston Post said.

Dallas school trustees will ask for Federal Court approval of the plan which would start in the fall of 1961, the News said. The plan provides for a liberal student transfer policy.

Because of the transfer rule and because Negroes and whites generally live in separate areas, only a small number of first graders will actually attend mixed classes, the paper said.

The school board called integration of Dallas schools a "revolution in social mores and traditions."

Houston will start sifting desegregation plans Tuesday night. A plan must be submitted by June 1 to U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Conally who ordered the district to integrate with all deliberate speed. He did not set a date for integration.

The Dallas board is expected to file its plan Monday with U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, as ordered by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Fifty-Four Pilots Graduate Tonight

Graduation exercises for Class 60-G will be held at the Webb Chapel, today at 7:30 p.m.

Speaker for the occasion will be Col. Jack W. Hayes Jr., Commander of the 31st Bombardment Wing, Dyess AFB, Abilene, Texas.

Col. Hayes, a native of Tucson, Ariz., has been flying since 1940 when he departed the junior class of San Diego State College, Calif., to become an aviation cadet.

COL. JACK W. HAYES

In 1943, he was assigned to B-17 bomber training and before the year was out he was in England on combat missions over Europe. He completed 27 missions over the continent, including the first shuttle run from England to North Africa via Regensburg as a target. Subsequently he participated in England - to - Russia raids, striking Polish targets en route.

For deep penetration missions such as these Col. Hayes was awarded the Silver Star and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

FIGHTER PILOT

Before the European war ended Col. Hayes, at his own request, was back in fighters, completing 35 missions with the 355th and 337th Groups of the Eighth Fighter Command. In the course of this duty he became one of the relatively few American pilots to bring down an ME-262 new German jet. On cessation of hostilities in Europe, he joined the Occupation of Germany as commander of the 55th Fighter Group.

After World War II, Col. Hayes attended the Air University Command and Staff School, and from 1949 to 1952 he again served with fighter units in the Air Defense, Tactical and Strategic Air Commands, plus duty in 1951 and 1952 in Korea where he flew 35 missions in F-51s, F-84s, and F-86s at a time when the Russian MIG-15s were most active.

Col. Hayes was commanding the 78th Fighter Group in Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif. in 1952 when he was selected for duty with the U. S. Military Advisory Group in Turkey, where he served from 1953 to 1955. From 1955 to his assignment to Dyess, the colonel served with the Joint Strategic Plans Group of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, Col. Hayes became a command pilot on December 20, 1955.

Enumerators Nearing End Of Taking Decennial Census

Eight enumerators are still counting noses in Howard and Borden counties in the decennial federal census.

Matt Harrington and Louis Stallings, crew chiefs, said the final, somewhat tedious cleanup drive is under way. Most of the enumerators are nearly through with their work.

One enumerator is still at work on the north side of town and one on the west side. One is still busy in the Capehart area and three are working in the rural districts. There is still some work to be done in Edwards Heights District. Borden County has one enumerator still on the job.

"We hope to wind it all up Saturday afternoon," said Harrington. There will be some final work even after the reports of the enumerators are sent on to Lubbock to the district office. These will be persons who have been missed in the regular enumeration.

Under the system employed, such persons will turn in the forms sent out in advance and these will be sent directly to Lubbock. They will be checked against the reports and, if they have really been overlooked, they will be added.

A preliminary figure on the population of Big Spring, Howard County and Borden County should be released by the Lubbock office soon after May 15.

The preliminary figure will be just what it is called. The final official totals will probably not be available until late fall.

Seven Teen-Agers Held In Burglary

Police arrested seven Latin American teen-agers Thursday and were holding them the house at a charge of burglary. Three of the boys are juveniles.

Detective Sgt. Jack Jones said the youths entered the house at 902 N. Gregg, taking a portable air conditioner, some canned food, a suitcase and silverware. There was also damage to the door of the house.

Jones recovered all the missing property. He explained that the house and contents are part of an estate and no one, at present, occupies it.

VISITING VOTARIES

Knights Of Khorassan To Have Ceremonial Here

Visiting votaries from throughout West Texas are expected for the annual spring ceremonial of the Dramatic Order, Knights of Khorassan here Saturday. The festivities begin at 1:30 p.m. in Castle Hall, 1407 Lancaster.

Initiation of tyros is the first order of business. The eighth Order is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. and the ceremonial follows at 6 p.m. The banquet is set for 7:30 p.m. in the Settles Hotel ballroom. A dance for votaries and wives will be held in the ballroom at 9 p.m. J. V. Gregory, royal vizier, said votaries from temples in Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene and Brownwood are expected for the event. He urged all local votaries to be on hand for the ceremonial and to welcome visitors.

He explained that the spring and fall ceremonials each year enable the local Temple to continue its support to the educational fund and the National Rehabilitation Foundation.

Antique Auto Owners To Meet

If you see some unusual looking motor cars chugging about town on Sunday afternoon, do not be alarmed. They are the prized possessions of members of the Antique Automobile Club of America, West Texas division, Midland.

They are in Big Spring to grace a meeting at 2 p.m. in the Big Spring City Park and on Scenic Mountain. Some 15 or 20 members of the club, from Midland and from other towns where members reside, are to attend.

Several active antique car enthusiasts live in Big Spring. They are acting as unofficial hosts to the meeting. The old-timer cars will be at the park at 2 p.m. and the public is invited to inspect them.

There is one stern admonition however:

"Look all you want but please do not touch!"

Leonard Short, Big Spring, proud owner of a smooth-running 1916 Halmes, said that the club members are happy to show off their relics but they do not want to have them damaged by indiscriminate handling. This was echoed by Sam Frazier, who has a 1932 Packard, and Dr. Houston (Jack) Zinn, who has a 1938 Rolls-Royce. Donald W. Frazier will be on hand with his 1932 Chevy. His 1931 Ford Model A is in Missouri.

If all goes well, one of the elderly motor cars will be a 1904 Schacht. Model T's and other veterans of the motoring field will be on hand.

Climax of the day will be the journey to the top of Scenic Mountain where the club will hold its meeting. This will follow the 2 p.m. rendezvous at the City Park.

The local club members say there are a number of other antique cars in the area. Steps are being considered to form a local club here. Meantime, the Big Spring enthusiasts are members of the Midland chapter.

Most of the cars which will be seen will not come to town on their own power. They will ride in state to Big Spring on trailers. However, those which can do so, will make the drive up Scenic Mountain.

GS Leadership Session Set

An urgent appeal for Girl Scout leaders to turn out Monday for the Skill Day training session was voiced by district officials today.

Whether the district is able to operate the day camp scheduled for June 6-10 depends upon the response to leadership appeals.

At least one leader for each eight Girl Scouts will be required, hence a good response to the Monday meeting is almost a necessity.

At the training session which will start at the Girl Scout Hut at 9:30 a.m., there will be instruction in lashing, knots, use of tools, compass and fire building. Each leader is asked to bring a "nosebag lunch." Sessions will continue until 3:30 p.m.

Day camp plans call for operating the camp at the Boy Scout Round Up grounds southeast of the City Park, starting each day at 8 a.m. and continuing until 3 p.m.

City Policeman In Critical Condition

Frank Glasscock, Big Spring policeman, is in critical condition at Malco and Hogan Hospital. He was admitted to the hospital Saturday.

Glasscock received a severe whiplash last autumn when his patrol car was struck from the rear by another motorist. He was from his post over a month during which he had a spinal operation.

A Devotional For Today

As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord. (Joshua 24:15.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for homes in which Christ is known and loved. Help us to live that Christ will be honored in our home. Enrich our devotional experiences as families. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Your Legislator Is An Important Man

There is evidence that voter apathy may be worse than usual this year. Most of the voters in Texas apparently have not quite realized that Democratic primary day is right upon them. It is not a July affair this year, but occurs on May 7.

This means that a quickening of interest is necessary if there is a representative turnout at the polls. Of course, a representative turnout—indeed, 100 per cent turnout—is essential if the people's will is to be followed.

There is no unimportant public office. Texans are filling the office of governor, lieutenant governor, of attorney general, of places on the highest courts, among others. They are also electing a number of local officials.

Every candidate for every office ought to be under study: his qualifications, his record, his platform, if any. The privilege of the vote ought not to be thrown away lightly.

Particularly do we feel that the selection of members of the Texas Legislature is a vital matter before the people of the state. The men in the Legislature are the ones who are going to set the pattern for the state's progress—or lack of it—for another couple of years. They will be men who carry tremendous responsibility. They ought to be responsible men.

Admittedly Texas is in dire straits financially, and an entirely new program of taxation is going to have to come about. While the governor will offer his financing plan, it is the Legislature which will finally determine legislation to collect the taxes; and to say where the money will be spent.

This is no time to turn important office over to people who take it lightly, who do not inform themselves of its responsibilities and its challenges, who cannot consider its problems with the background of proven experience.

If the people of Texas do not put men of business ability, of sound thinking, of mature judgment, in the Legislature, they will be the losers. And the loss can be disastrous.

Working Together For A Vital Highway

Two events of the past week have focused interest upon U. S. 87 Highway, both in our immediate area and West Texas in general.

Jake Roberts, district engineer for the State Highway Department, told the commissioners court here Tuesday that the department was ready to proceed with the improvements north from Fairview to the Martin County line as soon as right-of-way can be provided.

This will be the first leg of a series of projects which will provide divided highway on the route from Big Spring to Lamesa. The highway is double laned from Lamesa through Taboka.

By the time we complete this job and attack that of a divided highway from Fairview into Big Spring, perhaps the Peace district will carry the work across the northeast corner of Martin County, and the Lubbock district from the north to the Martin line into Lamesa. And by that time, too, perhaps Lynn and Lubbock Counties will have moved to close the final gap to take the divided highway all the way into Lubbock, from which it will be double laned to Amarillo, and on to Dumas.

Construction is now under way on widening of the road south from here to the Glasscock County line. We had hoped for divided highway on this stretch, too, but we have a feeling that from the juncture of U. S. 87 with the Midland highway north-west of Sterling City there will be sufficient traffic to justify divided highway on south: If Brady, Mason, Fredericksburg and Boerne can keep up the good work, now that Texas has more or less agreed to master plan work, in time the route will be divided highway all the way to San Antonio. Meantime, New Mexico is aiming at similar improvement from Raton over to the Texas line.

At the U. S. Improvement Association last week, Texas Highway Department officials indicated that they would engage in master planning for U. S. 87 through the state. This is an encouraging development which can not only correlate efforts but actually expedite them. The main thing for us is to keep our pace at such a tempo that we'll be abreast or ahead.

Unrest And Violence Over The World

WASHINGTON—Showmanship seems to have replaced realism. The emphasis now is on spectacular visits by leaders—both the elected and the self-appointed. Parades and fanfare, addresses in the august atmosphere of legislative assemblies, banquets and ceremonies, high-sounding communiques and statements written in unctuous phrases—all these are considered by a busy, if not bewildered, populace as signifying a trend toward peace and well-being.

Wishful thinking and the art of make-believe have always obscured the unpleasant facts of life, particularly on the international scene.

FOR WHEN HAS THE world been more disturbed in time of so-called "peace" than it is today? From almost every part of the globe come the dispatches telling of human violence.

In many countries, as the "big men" are welcomed on visits of "friendship" and "good will," there is underneath a feeling of insecurity. In France, where General De Gaulle has assumed virtually dictatorial powers, 200,000 Frenchmen demonstrated a few days ago demanding a special meeting of Parliament. In French Algeria, there is revolution and disorder, and Tunisia, supporting the rebels, masses troops on its borders to meet alleged French army violators of its territory. The French president is nevertheless acclaimed in America as a symbol of peace and progress.

In Italy, mobs instigated by Communists seek to grab power in certain cities and towns.

IN VENEZUELA, open revolt is threatened, as the government bans public meetings after street rioting in two of the country's largest cities.

In Cuba, a dictator is ruining his country's economy while his Communist-riden regime conducts a violent anti-American campaign.

In the Middle East, there is friction and an uneasy peace.

In India, there is apprehension over the aggressive behavior of the Red Chinese.

In Africa, there is turbulence as the white man, outnumbered, strives to maintain economic as well as political power less untrained and inexperienced natives take over and alienate foreign capital and retard economic development.

IN SOUTH AFRICA, the crisis as between white and black has produced a sensation throughout the world, which knows little of the intricacies and complexities of the problem but applies pressure just the same to drive the white man from political power in a huge continent of smoldering warfare.

In Tokyo, a mob of 9,000 students, shouting anti-American slogans, riots against the U. S.-Japan security treaty. Similar demonstrations by 200,000 persons occur throughout Japan.

In Korea, encouraged by the U. S. Department of State, factional strife has reached a climactic point, and there is today danger of military action by the Communists in North Korea who may take advantage of the disturbed political conditions in South Korea to start another war. Conferences between the United States and her 14 allies in the Korean War have just been called to discuss the dangers of such a contingency.

WHILE THESE TROUBLES are sweeping the so-called "free world," what's going on behind the Iron Curtain. Why is there no demand for free elections in the Soviet Union and in Poland and Hungary and the other captive states? How can there be open intervention in the affairs of a sovereign nation like the Korean Republic and yet no move toward free choice in elections in the various countries of the Soviet bloc? Do freedom's leaders recognize the Iron Curtain boundaries as "off limits"?

Is Tibet's tragedy already forgotten? There is pressure now even from prominent churchmen in America for recognition of the Red China government—which would amount, of course, to a desertion of the anti-Communist allies of the free world in the Far East.

WHERE SHALL ONE look for hope that a troubled world may somehow compose its difficulties? The germ of unrest is to be found in the grass roots of the farm and in the ugly basements of city slums in Latin America, Eastern Europe and parts of Western Europe. Tens of millions of people are living in poverty in Asia and Africa. Mr. Khrushchev has been diverting attention from his own neglect of Soviet internal problems. A "summit" conference—the beginning of a series—is to open on May 16 at Paris, at which there is to be more and more fraternizing with the evil dictator of an oppressed nation.

World opinion still is the most potent force for good, but world opinion that lazily worships, as it did in the days of czars and monarchs, the trappings of high office isn't going to accomplish much for freedom. It recognizes truth and reality once more.

Monkey Doesn't Count

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Add to tales of the census: Mrs. Phyllis Hagen, taking the count at a trailer park, knocked at the door of a monkey's rolling home and was admitted by a monkey. She duly counted the six people who lived in the trailer while the family's pet monkey sat on her shoulder.

Nixon Will Unhand Ike's Coattails

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon will try to run as an individual—selling himself—if he gets the Republican party's presidential nomination.

That's how acquaintances say his thinking goes. It is not a position he has taken publicly. And it might indicate he is not going to depend too much on the record of the Eisenhower administration to win for him.

He wouldn't be the first who tried it that way. Nelson A. Rockefeller won the governorship of New York in 1960. He didn't tie himself too tightly to the Eisenhower administration.

Nixon has plenty of critics. But none has ever called him a political chump. So possibly he hasn't confided all his thinking to acquaintances or is only telling them what he is willing to have them say he thinks, or wants them to say.

BUT THIS IS WHAT they say he has in mind:

By his own calculations he can't win on the Republican vote alone because there are not enough Republicans. He figures about 40 per cent of the voters are pretty solidly Republican, about 45 per cent pretty solidly Democratic.

So he has to dip into that remaining 15 per cent—which would include independents and Democrats and Republicans who sometimes switch—for his margin of victory, providing he can keep the regular Republicans with him.

He hopes to keep Republican support by campaigning as a conservative—a stand he thinks will also appeal to Democrats if there is still prosperity at election time next November.

Nixon thinks Thomas E. Dewey, former New York governor, ruined himself in the 1948 presidential campaign by taking the Republican vote so much for granted that he didn't even bother talking to them.

But the vice president attaches a lot of importance to the condition of the economy next November. If there is a downturn by then, he doesn't think the Republicans have a chance.

He's banking on continued prosperity and the idea that if the voters feel they're doing pretty well they won't have much interest in Democratic promises that cost a lot of money.

NIXON BELIEVES the Democrats will be so liberal in their platform promises—with various kinds of programs—that by presenting himself as a conservative he can win in this way.

He'll figure out how much the Democratic promises will cost—if they won and tried to make good on them—and tell the voters what the total Democratic bill cost them.

To put it another way: He will agree with the goals of the Democratic "extremists" but have his own much more moderate and less expensive programs.

There isn't much else Nixon can do but follow the middle of the road. The Democrats will pretty much stake out their position on the liberal side.

On foreign policy Nixon expects to sound like a statesman. What that means is anybody's guess. One guess is that in foreign affairs he'll follow President Eisenhower's pleasant but stiff arm the Communists line.

The vice president expects to do well on domestic issues, provided the country remains prosperous. For instance, he thinks he can offer something to attract farmers.

He believes the Eisenhower administration made a mistake telling farmers how well off they are. Only this week the President came out against any increase in government-backed price supports for farm products.

Nixon, pretty fast on his feet, thinks he can so handle himself that he will have all shades of Republicans with him, ranging from Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey and Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, both liberals, to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, one of the most conservative Republicans in the Senate.

Cats And Dogs

NEW YORK (AP) — When a man's wrong, he might as well admit it.

And I can't think of a better time than the eve of National Pet Day to confess that all my life I have been wrong about cats.

When it comes to pets, most folks divide into "dog people" and "cat people." If they keep a dog, they usually don't keep a cat—and don't like cats. If they keep a cat, they usually don't keep a dog—and don't like dogs.

It is only human to be suspicious of anything we don't know well. And that probably explains why in the past most Americans have preferred dogs and been distrustful of cats.

That's the way I felt until Lady Dottie joined our household as a kitten a year and a half ago. She was black and white and had a black dot on the tip of the nose. Strictly alley cat. No more, no less.

As a life-long dog lover, I would have bet Lady Dottie wouldn't last out the month in our home. But now she owns us and everything in it.

At first I would have nothing to do with her, and she showed an equal lack of ardor toward me. As we got more used to each other, however, I learned a basic difference between dogs and cats. A dog tends to be everybody's pal. He wants the world to like him. But a cat selects her own society, and doesn't worry about public opinion.

Our cat has at least two distinct personalities. By day she is a sleek, plush-footed Grover Whalens, greeting visitors with all the dignity and calm of an ancient Chinese mandarin.

But at night she roams the house like a dozen clumsy burglars, pushing over wastebaskets, tumbling books from the shelves, knocking expensive table lamps to the floor. The furniture she breaks costs more than the food she eats.

She doesn't know cats have an invisible way of inflicting their sense of ownership over you.

And sooner or later they'll probably own the country. They are gaining a steady victory over their old enemy, the dog.

The last pet census showed Americans have 28 million cats, only 26 million dogs.

Lymph Nodes Can Come From Bad Tonsils

"Dear Dr. Molner: My nephew, 14, has swollen glands of the neck, described as 'lymph nodes.' He is not uncomfortable or in any pain. He has had all sorts of tests and I am assured that his condition generally is excellent.

Mrs. C. M.

Then why be unduly alarmed? Such swelling most often comes from infected tonsils. Another possibility is mononucleosis, or "glandular fever." A blood test will identify it. If "all sorts of tests" have been made, then obviously some of the less common possibilities have been eliminated, too.

If tonsils are not at fault, and the swelling continues, then it may be necessary to remove one of the swollen glands for special examination of the tissue. But in a case such as you describe, a bit of watchful waiting is preferable.

of the palm which gradually pull the fingers into a bent position.

Surgery remains the correct treatment if the trouble progresses so that the hand cannot be used. Vitamin E has been thought to be helpful in early stages; massage and splinting also have been used.

However, I doubt that anything other than surgery will be satisfactory when a case is such that it has been suggested. As to this gentleman's heart: The degree of heart trouble must be weighed against the urgency of restoring use of the hand. But keep this in mind—many "not too good hearts" are better than we think, and stand up well under surgery. Besides, anesthesia is so much improved that these days the strain on a surgical patient is only a fraction of what it was some years ago.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My father, 70, has Dupuytren's contracture on both hands. We are afraid of an operation since his heart is not too good. Is there any way to arrest his trouble?" Mr. B.K.

This condition consists of a thickening and drawing together of tissues (tendon sheath thins) of Causes range from psychological factors, anxiety, tension, etc., through heredity patterns, and on to specific diseases such as thyroid trouble, intoxications (whether from tobacco, alcohol or other items) and deep disorders of the nervous system or brain.

It depends on the type of tremor and physical findings.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am 42 and had a hysterectomy three years ago. Someone told me my nerves would get awful bad as a result of this operation. Now I have a lot of headaches. Could it be my nerves?—Mrs. R. D."

For some reason (and I know it's human, but I don't exactly know why) people would rather believe the bad news than "someone" tells them, than the true (if undramatic) good news that a doctor tells them.

There is no reason for a hysterectomy to cause headaches. But the worry over "someone's" advice can upset you, and give you a case of nerves. It happens so very often—and I wish I knew some way to make people realize that they worry themselves into troubles that don't exist.

Around The Rim

A Matter Of Life Or Death

The issue of the death penalty raises quite a few emotions. The celebrated Chessman affair is but one example.

As with most any issue, there are extremists who keep the tempers boiling. On the side favoring death sentences, there are arrogant people with an un-Christian vengeance in their hearts, who exult or murmur approvingly at every execution. These people refer to those who do not agree with them as soft-headed or chicken-hearted.

And on the other side of the issue are some soft-headed and chicken-hearted individuals who not only would halt all executions, but would turn murderers and rapists loose upon us. These people refer to those who do not agree with them as vengeful or arrogant.

Most people are normal. They may have taken sides on the issue, but they are not extremists. Left alone, they might be able to work something out.

I do not think of myself as either arrogant or chicken-hearted. Because of some reasons which have been carefully thought out, I do not approve of capital punishment, but that does not mean I shall grow a beard, don white robe and sandals, and go down to Huntsville to form a picket line.

These are my reasons:

1. I have been executing our fellow man since the beginning of time, and it has not stopped crime, nor will it. A man in the mood for murder is in such a state that he does not stop to think of the consequences. Psychologists have discovered that, like a child, the criminal is incapable of thinking about the consequences of his acts.
2. It is true that most arrested persons probably are guilty of the crimes they are charged with—the police not being so stupid as many citizens seem to think. Yet, simply because the police (and the courts) are only human, some arrested and convicted persons are innocent. Death forever ends a man's chances for clearing his name, and his family must suffer. History will know such innocents not as victims of a miscarriage of justice, but as executed criminals.

3. If it's punishment for the guilty you're after, prison is much worse than death. This is true even though the victim, through fear of death, may prefer life in prison. Penal statutes with teeth in them, plus stringent paroling, will remove criminals from our midst without also permanently removing that tiny fraction who may be innocent.
4. Supporting the point above is the vision of pitiful, beaten old men no longer capable of violence being paroled to spend their last few years in the society they violated. If it's an example for the punks you want, the sight or knowledge of such men would strike a deeper chord of fear than the thought of sudden death at the hands of the executioner.
5. Finally, there is the question of morality—that the state, although it has the right of self-defense, does not have the moral right of a deliberate and planned killing. Members of a violated family might be forgiven for taking the law into their own hands, but the state is supposed to be above emotion and vengeance.

These are my reasons, in brief form, for opposing the death penalty. And I wish the soft-heads would join the other side and stop embarrassing the rest of us.

That Western Violence Really Happened

TUCSON. — As a daughter of the West, I have always contended that the great open spaces were never as violent as teevie makes out.

Well, I am about to eat a tasty dish of words today, although I am still correct in contending that slaughter on the teevie scale — every hour on the half hour — would have prevented the winning of the West through depopulation of the prairies by lead poisoning. Every day teevie shoots up more wagon trains than ever left Fort Dodge in any given month.

HOWEVER, the sovereign states of Arizona has just pardoned two old brothers who were involved in 1918 in a shooting fray as wild and wanton as any devised for bloodthirsty teevie audiences. After 43 years in the state prison, John 79, and Tom Power, 68, have been pardoned for their part in a gun fight that cost the life of their father, Jeff Power, and those of the county sheriff and two of his deputies.

John and Tom are old men now, and presumably they have paid their debt to society. But I would find it in my heart to be more sympathetic with them if their gun fight had not been precipitated by the fact that the brothers were draft dodgers during World War I.

EVER SINCE THE two men were arrested, old-timers in Arizona have argued long and fruitlessly about who fired the first shot, the sheriff and his men or the Power men. The Powers brothers always claimed that the lawmen ruthlessly killed their father without warning and thus started the battle.

On the other hand, the only lawyerman to survive the gun fight, U. S. Deputy Marshal Frank Hayes, testified at the trial that the first shot came from the old log house in which the Powers had holed up in desolate Kilburn Canyon in the Galiuro Mountains in southeast Arizona.

WHEN THE GUN fight ended, four men were dead and the Power brothers wound.

ed. But they were not so badly injured that they couldn't escape. For 26 days they managed to stay out of the clutches of a posse of 3,000 men scouring the mountains and the desert for them. Finally, in Mexico, they surrendered and were brought back to Arizona to stand trial. In May, 1918, they were sentenced to life imprisonment.

But if their punishment stemmed from a violent page out of the old wild and woolly West, their successful plea for pardon is a dramatic chapter out of the new West. It is a chapter that I hope television, which inevitably will re-enact the story, won't omit.

When the pardon board met, the two brothers found confronting them the 83-year-old brother of one of the deputies they had killed, as well as that deputy's son. The son of the dead sheriff also faced them.

BUT THE MOST dramatic moment came when Lorenzo Wright, former warden of the penitentiary and once president of the Maricopa Stake of the Church of Jesus, Christ of Latter-Day Saints rose to speak in behalf of the Tom and John Power.

"I spoke for these boys," said Wright, facing the brothers. "But if they are not men enough to ask for forgiveness and to forgive, then I withdraw my support."

"Are you men enough?" he demanded of the brothers.

"We are," said Tom. "We are sorry it ever happened."

JOHN, THE OLDER brother, got up slowly. He looked quickly at the table where the brother and sons of the dead officers sat. Then he lowered his head and said softly, "We beg their forgiveness."

That conclusion may not be sufficiently dramatic for teevie. But to me it was a moment of power and inspiration when a good man, Wright, demanded that two murderers at least be men enough to stand up in public and ask forgiveness.

For More Efficiency On The Campus

An eminently stimulating article, "College Shouldn't Take Four Years," appeared in the March 26 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University, would eliminate "intolerable social and economic waste" by processing students in three years.

He proposes a trimester (instead of the two-term) system. Students would have seven weeks off per year instead of the customary 20. Yet, over the three years, the students would have 135 weeks of learning instead of the present-day-128.

DR. KIRK WOULD apply the principle of optimum plant utilization to college classrooms, laboratories, libraries, recreational facilities, and business and administration offices. In the summer, many campuses resemble resorts in the off season. A few gardeners putter about the lawns. Only the admissions offices are open. Yet, education can be an all-year-round activity. Dr. Kirk would make it so.

Adroitly, Dr. Kirk and Stanley Frank, who did the actual writing, answer objections. Yes, students would be deprived of summer earnings. But students would be able to get jobs a year sooner. Since the median starting salary for a college graduate is $5,200, and since rarely do students earn much more than $800 a summer, if that much, there'd be a cash gain of about $2,400. (Dr. Kirk obtains an even higher figure—$4,100—by applying only the estimated savings of students during summers against first-year earnings.)

TO FACULTY MEMBERS who value summer for leisure, research, or extra earnings, Dr. Kirk offers a redistribution of free time.

If the college speeds students to degrees in three years instead of four and charges the same tuition per degree, gross income will be boosted by one-third. This would permit higher professional salaries. Moreover, the plan would permit frequent "sabbaticals"—say, every three or four years—for professors.

Intensive use of college facilities is a social-economic must. More youngsters are college-minded. The college-age population will boom in the next five to 10 years. We haven't begun to feel the full push on admissions offices yet.

To construct new buildings would require an enormous expenditure of capital. To utilize the present structures more efficiently would reduce the cost of capital outlays.

IN THIS REGARD, I'd like to ask, Why don't colleges "keep school" longer? Rarely are classes held after 3 p.m. A longer day would accommodate more students per trimester or semester. Since more students would be on campus, this would demand more housing and more professors. But this demands far less investment than building entirely new colleges, which would require added professors anyway.

Some professors argue that long summer vacations give students time to absorb what they've been taught. And professors who have taught summer school argue that not only are they, the professors, tired, but so are the students.

However, if professors have frequent "sabbaticals," they'd be up to year-round teaching. Summer students are less tired than put upon. Their more fortunate friends are on vacation.

AT THE UNIVERSITY of Pittsburgh, the trimester plan has just been innovated with unexpected success. This month half of the 10,000 students eligible to take a third "semester" elected to do so, double the number planned for. Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, chancellor, said that the plan attracted the "better" students.

A longer school year has real life to commend it. Twenty weeks of vacation per annum is a luxurious delusion in an industrial environment. The standard lot of the college graduate on his first job is two weeks' vacation. Besides, in an era of early marriages, getting on with the career is sensible economics.

Altrusa Club Furnishes Lounge In New YMCA

A report on the completed project of the Altrusa Club was given for members at the luncheon Thursday at Wesley Methodist Church.

The group raised $1,000, which was used to furnish a lounge in the new YMCA building. Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle described the colors used and the kind of furniture bought; she read a letter of thanks from Bobo Hardy, executive secretary of the organization.

Obie Bristow was guest speaker for the Altrusans, and as physical education chairman for the Y, he commended the members on the worthwhile project.

HERE'S HOW:

Time To Spruce Up Outdoor Furniture

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

It's time to refurbish outdoor furniture.

If it has weathered the winter outdoors, fine. But, don't be fooled by its ruggedness. When summer sunshine hits it, if it is wooden, chances are it will experience a breakdown. Then it will sag with nails pushing out and wood splitting and rotting.

Pine and redwood chairs should be inspected for places that "give." Smooth any cracks or rough spots by sanding and filling holes with commercial filler. Countersink nailheads. Metal fittings on wood and metal furniture can be freed of rust with steel wool or sandpaper. Use good quality varnish, shellac or other sealer that your paint man recommends. Spar varnish or one of the natural inexpensive finishes may be used on redwood or cedar. Varnish or pigmented finish should be applied by brush.

The inexpensive peel chairs that are used outdoors and on screened-in porches, and wicker chairs, look handsome when painted white or pastel colors. Peel chairs should be repaired if needed, by winding loose peel around the areas where it is missing. If more of the bamboo-like peel is needed and not available, substitute raffia or twine, gluing it as you go. It is particularly important to wind peeled sections of legs and arms before painting them.

Wicker furniture takes best to spray paints—easier on the back, also. Use a spray gun or the vacuum cleaner spray attachment.

Aerosol spray enamels are good for small pieces.

SAND CHIPPED PIECES
Metal, like wood, should be prepared before you clean it. Remove dust, dirt, oil and grease with a cloth saturated with turpentine or paint thinner. Sand away any chipped or peeling paint and roughen highly glossed areas to provide good adhesion for your new treatment. Dust and soot can be washed away with detergent. Whatever the cleaning method used, be sure to dry the furniture thoroughly before you go on with your project.

Metal furniture should be free of rust before it is repainted. Spots of bare metal and unpainted metal furniture should be primed with a rust-inhibiting primer such as zinc chromate. The recommended finish for outdoor metal furniture is a good exterior enamel, tough and durable, providing protection against the elements. If the furniture is to be used only indoors, a regular enamel can be used. Either enamel can be applied by brush or spray.

metal furniture as it keeps the metal surface at a comfortable temperature, reflecting the sun's rays. Peel, wicker and metal chairs are especially gay painted white and cushioned in blues, turquoises, deep greens, yellows, lavenders, reds. Corduroy or sail cloth are good fabrics to use for cushions.

PLACE UPSIDE DOWN
When painting summer furniture, place chairs and tables upside down on a bench or table that is covered with newspaper. It's much easier to paint the undersides and legs at that comfortable height. When these areas are coated, place the pieces right side up and finish. If you are spraying, allow yourself a good amount of space, protecting nearby areas with newspapers or drop cloths. When applying the enamel by brush, put it on smoothly, and use a nearly dry brush to brush it out evenly. Remove excess which can cause runs.

If you plan to paint outdoors, select a day with little wind so that debris will not adhere to freshly coated surfaces. Do not paint in the direct rays of the sun, for the sun can cause the paint to blister.

If you paint indoors, provide adequate ventilation in your work area. Indoors or outdoors, choose a day with little humidity so that the drying time will not be prolonged.

Piano Pupils To Present Recital

FORSAN — Piano pupils of Mrs. F. Shannon will open National Music Week with a recital at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Community Club. Eleven students will perform.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Mahan and children visited his parents in Gatesville recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Griffith and children of Midland visited in the home of their parents, the J. W. Griffiths and Mrs. J. D. Gilmore. James Skeen, stationed in Washington, D. C., with the USAF, had a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Skeen, recently when he was flown to Goodfellow Field at San Angelo with a volley ball team.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cowley and Mrs. Amy Reid plan to be in Mt. Pleasant this weekend to visit relatives and friends.

May Baskets

May Day baskets were prepared by member of Brownie Troop No. 317 when they met at the Little House Thursday afternoon. Other activities included work on the program for Fly Up which will be held the latter part of the month according to the leaders, Mrs. Y. Clinkcales and Cleo Thomas. Refreshments were served by Jill Lewis to 12.

Games and puzzles were bought by the club and will be taken to patients at the Big Spring State Hospital. At the next meeting, the group will bring quilt scraps and costume jewelry.

Guests at the luncheon included Mrs. Maude Bennett of Amherst and Mrs. John Whitmire of Gail.

Different Taste Seasoned Steak

A little different is this recipe for steak seasoned with onion and peppers. For the family that enjoys highly seasoned foods, this will be a delight.

STEAK WITH ONIONS AND PEPPERS
3 pounds sirloin steak (1 to 1½ inches thick)
Butter
Salt
Pepper

2 cups thin strips onions
1 large green pepper (cut in thin strips)
2 tbsps. dry or medium sherry

Remove most of fat from around steak. Slowly heat a heavy skillet (just large enough to hold meat) until very hot; coat bottom and sides with butter held on the end of a fork. Add steak; brown rapidly over high heat on both sides; reduce heat if necessary to cook to desired doneness. Sprinkle with salt and freshly-ground pepper; remove to hot platter and keep warm.

Pour off any fat in pan but leave a good coating—1 or 2 tablespoons along with drippings. Add onions and peppers; cook and stir rapidly until they take on brown of drippings; add salt and sherry; reduce heat and cook until as limp as desired. Serve with steak. Makes 4 servings.

Casseroles taste differently when two vegetables are mixed to get the best taste from both.

POTATO AND TURNIP CASSEROLE
2 cups packaged sliced potatoes
4 cups water
1 tsp. salt
4 medium-sized white turnips (pared and thinly sliced)
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
¼ tsp. white pepper
¼ cup grated (medium-fine) cheddar cheese.

Boil potatoes with water and salt in a medium-size covered saucepan about 10 minutes; add turnips and continue cooking 5 to 10 more minutes or until both vegetables are tender.

Drain; mix in butter until it melts, and pepper.

Turn into an 8-inch oven-proof glass pie plate; sprinkle with cheese; broil several inches from medium heat until cheese is melted and slightly browned. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Ten Tables Play Bridge

Ten tables joined in the bridge games held Thursday at the Officers Wives Club.

Winners in first place were Mrs. Leroy Bruffat and Mrs. Murli Ruhl; in second place were Mrs. A. A. Lindsley and Mrs. L. J. Bellantoni. Mrs. Joseph Lyons and Mrs. William Hugo were low placers.

Mrs. Richard Hickenbottom was awarded the travel prize. The door prize went to Mrs. Lindsley.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Joseph Lyons, Mrs. Howard Below, Mrs. Andrew Terpening, and Mrs. L. J. Bellantoni. Mrs. Glenn Stell was chairman.

Mrs. Jack Lightfoot was given a birthday anniversary remembrance Thursday by members of the Sew and Chatter Club when they met in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Robinson.

Refreshments were served to 14 who were told of the May 11 meeting at the home of Mrs. Hubert Johnson, 1102 E. 19th St.

Young Couple Has Wealth Of Ministerial Experience

By SHERI WEBBER

During 15 years of marriage the Joe McCarthys have pastored 17 churches.

The young minister, now pastor of Park Methodist Church, can actually claim the pastorate of 21 churches. Joe started into the ministry a year before he married Pat.

All these numbers are really tricky, however—for many of the churches were pastored on the circuit system. The couple have pastored from two to five at the same time.

"Joe took his first circuit of four churches when he was 18 years old," says his brunette wife. The McCarthys were married a year later. Pat, still a student, finished high school after their marriage.

Life in a minister's family is nothing new to Mrs. McCarthy. Her father, the Rev. John E. Brown, is a Methodist preacher. It was while her father was pastoring a small church outside of Breckenridge that Pat met her future husband.

After their marriage the McCarthys went into the ministry full-time earning the top salary of $1,500 a year as they pastored four circuit churches. The couple found it increasingly difficult to support themselves on the salary paid student ministers, and Joe went to work in Fort Worth.

At the same time the student was attending Weatherford Junior College from 8 a.m. until noon. He would rush home for a bite to eat, then join a car pool that went to Fort Worth. It was usually 2 in the morning before he arrived home again.

Soon the couple was given other circuits of churches, and the Rev. McCarthy went to school at Tarleton State, then to Daniel Baker, a college that later became Howard Payne in Brownwood. He attended the school during the transition period, and was a student while it was an Episcopal college and a Baptist college.

McCarthy in Abilene was the preacher's next stop. It was here—after seven years of attending school whenever possible, and after commuting 120 days a year—that the minister received his degree: Bachelor of science in history.

Irony played its part in the situation, though—as the proud father of three children walked off the McMurphy platform in his cap and gown, diploma in hand, he sat down to study his prized possession. As he opened the diploma it became apparent something was wrong—it was a blank piece of paper! A teacher had failed to get all the grades recorded in order for the students to get their diplomas. It was nearly a year after his graduation that the long sought-after sheepskin arrived.

Mrs. McCarthy's life has been an active one, too. Her four children keep her busy. "Especially right before church."

The two youngest ones, Mark, 2½, and John Wesley, 5½, love to make their little faces look like clowns with their mother's lipstick. The duo's escapades usually take place at 9:15 Sunday morning. Their brother, 7½-year-old Mike, is an ardent collector of rocks, bird nests and soda pop bottles. Connie, 10½, is now occupying her time with becoming a young lady.

As a minister's wife dark-eyed Pat finds much of her time actively engaged in church affairs. She is a "pinch-hit Sunday school teacher" and secretary of missionary education this year in the church's W.S.C.S.

One of her enjoyments is the old pump organ given Mrs. McCarthy by a family in one of their churches. Ten months of work and "gallons of paint remover" went into taking off five or six coats of ivory paint. The couple had to order bellows cloth from Boston, and Joe had to make a new front board. The organ is now in playing shape, although the family still have other improvements in mind.

Mrs. McCarthy enjoys the life in the ministry, although she dreads the many moves that are necessary. "But you find when you do move that there are good people in that place too," the preacher's wife relates.

"Sometimes, of course, you get discouraged in the ministry. But the bright spots always make you overlook the dark ones." Mrs. McCarthy has discovered.

PRAYER POWER

Scientists Study The Prayer's Effectiveness

The scientist, Dr. N. Jerome Stowell, tells an experience where science measured the wave lengths of the power and intensity of thought. These varied according to the intensity of the individual in concentration. It was also used to measure the intensity of thought in prayer.

The device was an instrument with a needle pointing at the 0 in the center. To the right of the scale, there was calibrated up to 500 points positive; to the left 500 points negative. To check the power they tested a 50 kilowatt broadcasting station in sending a message around the world. For the radio station, the needle moved to the 9th point on the positive dial. The prayer tested was that of a dying woman. They were anxious to check what took place in the brain at the moment of transition from life to death.

"We chose a lady whose family had sent her to a mental institution, but she had been discharged. The doctors could find nothing wrong with her," Dr. Stowell explained, "her mind was completely alert, also exceptionally brilliant. She had cancer of the brain and knew she was going to die."

"We arranged a tiny pick-up in her room to ascertain what would take place in the transition from life to death and also put in a very tiny microphone so that we might hear what she had to say. Five of us scientists—perhaps I was the most atheistic of the group—were in the adjoining room with our instruments.

"As the last moments of the woman arrived, she began to pray and praise the Lord. She asked God to be merciful to those who had desperately used her, thanked Him for her knowledge of His reality and told Him how much she loved Him.

"We scientists had been so engrossed with her prayer we had forgotten our equipment. We looked at each other and saw tears flowing down scientific faces—I had not shed tears since I was a child. There was a clicking sound in our instrument. We looked and the needle was registering a positive 500, trying to go higher. It was 55 times the power of the radio broadcasting station sending a message around the world."

Celibate Priesthood

NEW YORK (AP)—Rules prohibiting Roman Catholic priests from marrying date from 1123, and the church "is not likely to make any notable changes" in them, says the Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. D. Conway, a prominent Catholic theologian.

He writes in the March Catholic Digest: "Unmarried priests can work more efficiently for God, for the church and for the souls of men."

The Pure In Heart

THE LAW OF GOD REGARDING INNER PURITY OF LIFE, WITH SOME SUGGESTIONS AS TO HOW SUCH A LIFE MAY BE LIVED

Scripture—Matthew 5:8, 27-27; 23:25-26; Luke 2:52; 9:61-62; Philippians 4:8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE LESSON opens with the words of Christ in His Sermon on the Mount: "Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God."—St. Matthew 5:8.

Most of all of us have evil thoughts in our minds at one time or another—thoughts of anger, perhaps, or revenge for someone who has slighted or wronged us. If we ask Christ's help to banish such thoughts, however, and we do banish them, we will be forgiven.

"In these modern times marriage is often entered upon," writes the Rev. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, "and young people seem to be swept into it by some temporary emotional experience of the hour, some superficial attraction, or, worse, a state of asunder."—J. Oswald Dykes (1835-1912), Scottish Presbyterian clergyman and educator.

About swearing, which is altogether too often indulged in by men, and even women, Christ said: "Swear not at all, neither by heaven; for it is God's throne; nor by the earth; for it is God's footstool. . . . But let your communications be, Yes, yes; nay, nay; for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil."—Matthew 5:34-37.

"Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away. Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven."—Matthew 5:42-45.

"And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man."—Luke 2:52.

He rebuked the Pharisees as hypocrites, saying that they were deceivers, pretending to be what they were not.—Matthew 23:25.

Very briefly we must mention the men who said they would follow Jesus, but they must postpone doing so because of other duties. Jesus said: "No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."—Luke 9:61-62.

God must love beauty, to use it so lavishly. The Master Artist dapples the soft green leaves with golden sunshine, turns the brook to flowing crystal, and puts a song into Spring itself.

There is beauty in us, too . . . because He put it there. In His sight, none of us are ugly, none of us are forsaken, none of us are "lost."

But sometimes, in the busy process of day-to-day living, we turn blind eyes upon the world's loveliness, and take for granted the gifts which should brighten the hours and years. We need a faith that gives us vision to find again the inner beauty He gave us in the beginning . . . a gift which He never takes away. Let us go, then, to His Church. Let us "enter into His gates with thanksgiving . . . for the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His Truth endureth forever."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

U. S. Battles Phony Ads

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today announced a campaign to help protect the public against phony and misleading advertising of guarantees and warranties.

The FTC published a seven-point guide which tells business and the public exactly what kind of advertising in this area is legally acceptable.

Private enterprise was urged to abide by the new rules voluntarily. The commission said firms which refuse will be charged with using unfair methods of competition and deceptive practices.

In general, the guides require that all advertising of guarantees spell out any strings which are attached. Also, if the guarantee makes an implied claim, this must be a truthful one.

For example, if a battery manufacturer advertises a "36-month guarantee" his batteries must have a normal life expectancy of at least 36 months.

Robert T. Secrest, acting chairman of the FTC, said in a statement that the agency "constantly receives complaints from trusting purchasers who later discovered the actual guarantee was not what the sweeping and unqualified advertising statements implied."

Secrest said it isn't enough merely to describe an article as guaranteed.

'My Three Angels' Humorous Comedy By High School Group

The Court Jesters, high school drama group, had its best audience in two years last night during presentation of the three-act comedy, "My Three Angels."

Viewers were quiet, attentive and responsive. There just weren't enough of them—competing activities cut down on attendance, and the high school auditorium was less than half full.

"My Three Angels," one of the funniest plays on Broadway a few seasons ago, drew appreciative laughter from the local audience, and the laughter was well earned. The humor is based on a ghoulish situation involving three convicts and murder, but the plot is treated with a chuckle in the Alfred Hitchcock manner.

The three convicts are trustees who have earned the right to work on the mainland, in Cayenne, French Guiana, just off the notorious Devil's Island. They stumble onto an unjust situation in their host family and, with the obvious help of Providence plus their own idiosyncrasies, they set things straight.

It is the convicts who carry the show, other characters being in the nature of supporting roles. The convicts are well and humorously characterized by Doug Davis, Wayne Vaughn and Johnny Cone. Davis was the superior actor, followed closely by Vaughn.

Davis was sly and subtle in his characterization of the convicted forger, a feat he accomplished by underplaying his role, and he was the spark for his two compadres.

Jim Skinner, as the tyrant uncle who meets a fatal and hilarious kind of justice, gives a certain meanness to his role that is hard to achieve. Lida Fivesash, as the wife of Skinner's store manager, had some good moments, particularly in a flirtation with one of the convicts. Both Skinner

This One Will Slay You

These three convicts are busy with a big joke—writing out the last will and codicil (forged, of course) of a deceased tyrant, so that some unjustly treated innocents might inherit the tyrant's fortune. This is a scene from "My Three Angels," and the "angels" above are Johnny Cone, Doug Davis and Wayne Vaughn.

and Miss Fivesash, however, were guilty of a bit of overacting in spots, along with a few others.

Edward Day portrayed the store manager, and he was at his best in his quieter scenes, especially at the first when he discovers Skinner is to audit his books.

Playing it cool with good results was Bob Pierce, as Skinner's handsome nephew, who changes his character before the plot is fully unfolded, just like the tropical sun as he meets changes his skin. His dying scene is one of the more humorous parts of the play.

Deniece Nicholson, an inexperienced actress, did well by her first role; she had a certain innocent appeal that the audience liked, in portraying Day's daughter who is in love with Pierce, and whom the three convicts decide to help, like Cupid.

Nelson Clonow also achieves a certain air of innocence as a young naval officer during his few moments on the stage. Jonita Daniels was good in her role of a non-paying customer who gets tricked into paying what she owes.

The set was well arranged and appointed, with good color and weight balance, and the costumes were to be complimented. Other stage work went off well.

To sum it up: "My Three Angels" was not quite as good theatre as the brutally dramatic "The Bad Seed," but as comedy it is perhaps better fitted for high school production. And, as comedy, it compares well with previous Court Jesters productions and is, in all, quite entertaining.

"My Three Angels" runs one more night, with curtain time at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium. Prices are 50 and 75 cents.

It's Pilot Show Time On TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—These lengthening days, as viewers' thoughts turn to lawn mowers and vacations, are the most turbulent and ulcer-making in the television year. It may be tulp-time for the audience, but it's pilot time for the industry.

Before many weeks are past, there will be more disappointment than elation. Television producers—independent and network, big and small—have planned some 300 or more new show series. Many of them have gone to the big expense of making a sample show.

Michael Dann, CBS vice president in charge of programming, estimates that out of these 300 ideas, producers have filmed or taped more than 100 pilot shows. But only about 35 will achieve network air come September.

There's more to it, however, than being picked by a network. A show must have a sponsor—and a sponsor's choice can influence importantly the fate of a show.

(For instance, after all these years CBS' "The Millionaire" is expected to wind up its run, replaced by a new series—new to TV, that is—based on "My Sister Eileen," the durable Ruth McKenny saga that was converted into "Wonderful Town.")

Dann says that one curious aspect of this year's crop of TV ideas is that fewer pilots are being made than ever.

"One reason," he says, "is the cost. Another is the trend toward hour shows. It has been found that even if a pilot isn't very good, a show can be improved as it goes along, and after a few weeks it catches on. So there's not so much emphasis on the first show."

At the moment, it looks as if Ed Murrow's "Small World" is definitely doomed—a combination of low ratings, expensive production and the producer's expanded "CBS Reports" schedule. "Person to Person" still is pencilled into that network's Friday night schedule, but its position is definitely shaky. The smash success of the new Broadway musical, "Bye, Bye Birdie," means that Gover Chapman, who directed it, will retire as a performer. And his dancing partner, Marge, also will hang up her dancing shoes—in favor of housewifery and an occasional dramatic part. Sibban McKenna has the feminine lead and Walter Slezak the male starring part in the next Hour of Great Mysteries show, "Wilkie Collins' "The Woman in White," on NBC May 23.

At the moment, it looks as if Ed Murrow's "Small World" is definitely doomed—a combination of low ratings, expensive production and the producer's expanded "CBS Reports" schedule. "Person to Person" still is pencilled into that network's Friday night schedule, but its position is definitely shaky. The smash success of the new Broadway musical, "Bye, Bye Birdie," means that Gover Chapman, who directed it, will retire as a performer. FASHION FINDS FROM FISHER'S

EVEN THOUGH WE'RE ALREADY OFF THE LAUNCHING PAD on an Atomic Age that's dubbed the 'Sonic 60's,' it's reassuring to know that a hurrying-scurrying nation of jet-propelled people, pause now and again to remember some of our dearest traditions.

I'm referring, of course, to Mother's Day, and it appears that on May 8, we'll continue to be as wonderfully old-fashioned as Grandma's tea cakes in pausing to pay tribute to Mothers. Whether you remember HER with a gift from Fisher's, a telephone call . . . or a Sunday visit, it's remembering that's important.

IF YOU ARE SHOPPING FOR A GIFT . . . AND NEED SOME HELP . . . here are some suggestions . . . and "Mom's" the word of course!

LOVELY LINGERIE FROM FISHER'S IS ALWAYS A welcome gift. Comfort and beauty are fashioned into Gotham's summer gowns . . . thanks to a blend of dacron, cotton and nylon. It's breezy, sleep-easy night wear styled with an overlay of satin embroidered butterflies across the bust line. The tag . . . $5.95.

SHORTIE GOWNS . . . LONGER, FLOWING LENGTHS AND pajamas are also popular gift picks. Tommies are the big talk in PJ's . . . and they're available at Fisher's Downtown and at the Casual Shoppe. See the two-piece cuties with treader pants at $6 . . . and others in batiste, broadcloth and seersucker tagged $3.95 and up.

PERSONAL GIFTS GUARANTEED TO BRING PLEASURE ARE included in boudoir accessories for HER dressing table. See the excellent buy in a gold hand mirror ornamented with raised flowers and pearl and rhinestone trim. It's priced at only $4.50. For milder's handbag, Fisher's has matching sets of slender cigarette boxes and lighters in jewel-studded twosomes or in enameled finishes with flower trim. Buy these at $2.75 each or rhinestone varieties at $4.50.

SOFT AND WISPY SUMMER SCARVES MAKE WONDERFUL Mother's Day remembrances along with gloves and becoming costume jewelry.

MOST OUTSTANDING IN FISHER'S COLLECTION OF costume jewelry is a turquoise trio of ear clips, pin and matching bracelet. By De Mario, each hand-set piece is fashioned of minute corded silver and studded with sparkling stones. Buy the pin at $16.95, ear clips, $11.95, and the bracelet at $14.95.

SHE'LL REMEMBER HER SPECIAL DAY ALL THROUGH SUMMER if you choose a sun dress from Fisher's wonderfully complete selections at both stores. Out at the Casual Shoppe they're showing captivating cotton sun dresses in bold carriage prints. Wide straps button at the shoulder on these frocks that are made with full pleated skirts. They're budget priced, too . . . at only $9.95.

FISHER'S IS ALSO FEATURING MOTHER'S DAY GIFT CERTIFICATES . . . beautifully wrapped in special boxes, and in choosing these, you give Mom the opportunity of selecting her very own gift.

Sincerely,
Helen Wilson
