Oklahoma Tornadoes Kill 25, Injure 200

More Dead May Be Uncovered

WILBURTON, Okla. (AP)—Ugly black tornadoes killed 25 persons and injured an estimated 200 in slashing attacks on eastern Oklahoma Thursday night. Torrential rains followed the twisters and hampered rescue efforts. Most of the affected areas were without power and communications. Eleven victims were counted in this college town and officials feared they would find more bodies under the rubble today. The best estimate of injured, taken to hospitals in several towns, was about 75. The reported toll in the other tornadoes was five dead and 16 injured in the Moffett-Roland area next to the Arkansas border near Fort Smith, three killed and six hurt near Keota, two killed and possibly 7 hurt at Sapulpa, two deaths in rural areas near Sallisaw and Checotah, two dead and 12 injured near Bristow, and 13 hurt in the Hoffman community near Henryetta. Of the 11 persons killed in Wilburton, 5 died and scores were injured in the Calvary Baptist Church. Some 57 members had gathered there for a church supper honoring students at Eastern A&M College here.

Early Birds

EFFORTS HAMPERED
Darkness, rain and lack of power and communications hampered search efforts during the night and early morning. Eighteen blocks of the downtown and east side residential areas were smashed and battered. Most of the brick and masonry buildings stood, but minus glass. The college, on the west side of town, escaped damage. Dr. G. R. Booth said he saw the twister form in the valley below this town of 1,900. Biggest town hit by the twisters was Sapulpa, an industrial city of 15,000 just southwest of Tulsa. Killed there were Lillie Wright, 62, and Lee Birmingham, 54. Birmingham's stepson, Henry Bruner, 21, said he heard a report of a tornado. "I went to the back of the place, where we have a heavy fan, and the fan just took off," he said. "It lasted about three minutes but it seemed like an eternity." He said he told his mother, "Pray to God and hang on." FOUND DEAD
The stepfather, who had been standing outside, was found dead beneath a pile of bricks. Hardest hit area in Sapulpa was the northwest portion, which is occupied mostly by Negroes. More than 30 homes were destroyed or damaged. The most concentrated casualty list came from the rural area near Roland. Killed when a tornado struck their farm home were Mrs. William McGuire and three of her children, a son and two daughters. Six other McGuire children were hospitalized with injuries at a Fort Smith hospital.

French Firm Rents Patent From Cosden

Cosden Petroleum Corporation announced today that it has granted license for the use of its technique for manufacturing polybutene (polyisobutylene) to Naphtachimie, a concern operating in France and based in Paris. Under terms of the agreement, Cosden will provide process and technical know-how. This is a marked advancement in Cosden's position in the field of petrochemicals where the company has gained much stature in the last decade. It now holds strong positions not only in the manufacture of polybutene but of other kindred products. Its initial break into the field came in 1952 with the completion of a plant for the extraction of nitration-grade benzene, toluene and xylene. A steady course of diversification has continued. Naphtachimie was organized ten years ago by Pechiney, of France and Societe Francaise des Petroles BP (S. F. BP), a subsidiary of the British Petroleum Company. The formation of the company was the result of a study group founded in 1945 to promote the development of a Petroleum Chemical Industry in France and to accelerate developments which had been slowed down by World War II and the occupation. The industrial complex is located in the South of France near the oil port of Lavera, where Naphtachimie has built a large chemical works adjacent to the S. F. BP-owned refinery. The basic operations involve the cracking of naphtha, the separation of ethylene, propylene and C4 olefins and the manufacture of a variety of bulk chemicals. Under construction at present is a plant which will extract butadiene from the C4 stream which will then be used to make polybutene. Upon completion of its polybutene production facilities, Naphtachimie will be the only producing source of this material in all of Europe. The license granted to them by Cosden will be an exclusive manufacturing license for the European common market, which includes France, Belgium, Italy, West Germany, Holland and Luxembourg. Polybutene, a chemical specialty, is used to make caulking and sealing compounds as well as pressure sensitive adhesives, but principally in making lubricating oil additives. Since 1956, Cosden has produced it in significant quantities which it markets under the trademark "Polyvis." Its experience with the polymer, however, dates back as early as 1953, when small development batches were manufactured as an experimental operation in a semi-commercial unit. An enlarged new PIB unit, capable of producing one-fourth of all the polybutene in the United States, went into operation last July at the Big Spring refinery. By utilizing low-concentration isobutylene contained in the butenes produced by catalytically or thermally cracking other stocks, Cosden's unique process avoids the expensive olefins, a concentration step involved in other processes which require high purity isobutylene. The unit also has versatility since Cosden's product, classified as a low molecular weight polybutene, can be manufactured in a complete viscosity range of liquids.

Board Names Choral Director

LAMESA — The approval of a new choral director for Lamesa High School, appointment of a board of equalization and acceptance of a tax collection report topped actions by the Lamesa Independent School Board here this week. Henry Sellers, 26, recent graduate of Trinity University, was hired as choral director. He will replace Orland Johnson, who resigned to assume a post at the University of Texas. Appointed to the board of equalization were Vernon Bratcher, Sam Richard and Joe Green. Edgar Taylor of Snyder, delinquent tax collector, presented a list of some 250 names to the board for approval of tax suits. The board authorized the suits to be filed in local courts.

Funnels Cause No Deaths In N.E. Texas

By The Associated Press
Tornadoes menaced Northeast Texas Thursday night as a violent thunderstorm lashed the area. The funnels caused little damage and no injuries. The storm brought hail and rain to the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Twisters were sighted over most of a 20-mile wide section of the state north of Dallas. A few minutes after one weather alert ended the Weather Bureau issued a severe weather forecast for Northeast Texas, most of Arkansas and parts of Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee. The forecast warned of possible tornadoes between 1 a.m. and 7 a.m. Friday. The Weather Bureau cancelled the forecast at 5:15 a.m. SEVERE STORMS
It said thunderstorms moving eastward promised to be locally severe. The storms were apparently connected with those which hit North Central Texas and tornadoes which killed 22 persons in Oklahoma. Weather Bureau observers expected the storms, including large hail, damaging wind and a few tornadoes, in an area along and 200 miles east of a line from Waco, Tex., to 50 miles northeast of Flippin, Ark. Dallas County sheriff's officers received at least two reports of tornadoes north of the city but patrolmen were only able to find one building damaged. There was an unconfirmed report that a tornado touched ground between Lewisville and Carrollton late Thursday night. Another report said a funnel passed between Garland and Wylie on the northeast side of Dallas. Winds gusted at 80 m.p.h. in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. One light Army plane was turned upside down and another plane flipped over when the winds hit Meacham Field on the north side of Fort Worth. POWER OUT
Two inches of rain fell at Carrollton and electrical power in the city was knocked out briefly. Wind and rain hit Mineral Wells toppling several trees which damaged a car as they fell. Lightning hit a house and set it afire. Dust blew over Lubbock and light rain fell at Amarillo earlier Thursday. Official rainfall measurements for the 24-hour period ending at 6 p.m. Friday included Childress 48 inch, Sherman 32, Mineral Wells 17, El Paso 34 and Dalhart .02. High temperatures Thursday ranged from 100 degrees at Laredo to 69 at El Paso. Early Friday skies were partly cloudy with a few scattered showers over Southeast Texas. Temperatures ranged from 40 at Dalhart to 77 at Laredo. A cool front extended from near McAlester, Okla., south to San Antonio early in the day. The five-day forecast issued Friday calls for temperatures 2 to 5 degrees below normal over the state with light to moderate precipitation in western Texas about Monday and moderate to heavy rainfall in eastern and central Texas Tuesday or Wednesday.

Local Voters Show Apathy On Election

8 TO STATE

Precinct Meets Slated Saturday

Howard County precinct conventions will pick 98 delegates to send to the county convention, during meetings scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday. Frank Hardesty, county Democratic executive committee chairman, said Howard County will be allowed eight delegates at the state convention. Delegate strength is measured against the vote cast for governor in the 1958 election. A light vote that year saw only 2,376 casting their decisions. To the county convention, precincts get one delegate for each 35 votes previously cast. To the state convention, Howard County will have one delegate for each 300 votes polled. Hardesty pointed out, however, that probably 16 delegates will be sent to the state convention with a half-vote each. The delegate counts at each of the 16 polling places include: Precinct 1, North Side school, 4; Precinct 2, Washington Place school, 12; Precinct 3, Main Street Fire Station, 14; Precinct 4, City Hall, 18; Precinct 5, Vincent, 1; Precinct 6, Gay Hill school, 3; Precinct 7, Salem-Bar, 1; Precinct 8, West Ward school, 8; Precinct 9, Coahoma, 7; Precinct 10, Forsan, 4; Precinct 11, Center Point, 4; Precinct 12, Prairie View, 1; Precinct 13, Knott, 2; Precinct 14, Vealmoor, 0; Precinct 15, Runnels Junior High school, 7; Precinct 16, Park Hill school, 8. Hardesty urged all voters to participate in the precinct conventions.

Only Part Of 10,000 May Turn Out

There could be more than 10,000 votes cast in Saturday's primary election but there is very little probability any such monumental total will be reached. Speculation on the vote turnout ranges widely. Veteran observers of political campaigns are puzzled by the general evidence of disinterest on the part of the lay voter. They feel that a lack of competition in the county races may be in a sense responsible for the attitude of the electors on the eve of the primary. Poll tax receipts and exemption certificates issued for this year's voting total 10,839. However, this does not represent the potential total vote. In rural boxes, elderly citizens are not required to present exemption certificates. It is only in the incorporated towns where older voters have to apply for exemption certificates. Polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. All supplies, ballots and materials needed for the election have been assembled. Judges in the voting precincts were picking up their boxes today.

Candidates In Dawson County File Expenses

LAMESA—Candidates for Dawson County offices, included on the May 7 primary ballot, expended a total of $7,685.68 for campaigns through April 30, the deadline for filing accounts. Fifteen candidates filed expense accounts but Bill Hollingsworth and W. L. Hancock, candidates for county constable, did not. None of the candidates listed any donations or borrowed cash to finance their respective campaigns and Leland C. Miller, unopposed candidate for tax assessor-collector headed the list with expenditure of $1,178.75, but $1,134 of the total was filing fee. Individual expenses filed in the county clerk's office, filing fees listed in parentheses include county commissioner—(Filing fee $313.20 for first two candidates)—Raymond Holley, $438.64; Alton Addison, $436.25; J. E. Airhart, unopposed, $658.90, filing fee $626.40. Sheriff (filing fee $283)—Henry Mayfield, $597; Earl Calhoun, $1,090.80; Roy Burdett, $520.47; Roy King, $477. County attorney (filing fee $567)—Vernon D. Adcock, $714.40; Ralph Kinsey, $949.84. Justice of the Peace (filing fee $81.88)—Houston Glasston, $135; Arthur Standerfer, $224.60; J. V. Schaefer, $171.10; F. A. Kille, $115.75. Constable (filing fee $23.89)—R. T. Hill, $79.28. The chairman of the Democratic executive committee and county committee are not required to file expense accounts.

Thrift Reports Flood Police

Two thefts and two acts of vandalism were reported to police during the past 24 hours. Roy Robinson, 101 Mesquite, reported theft of a tire and hub cap. Culprits who broke into the soft drink machine coin box at the service station at 601 E. 3rd St. made off with between $5 and $6 in change. Vandals tore the coin box off a soft drink machine at the service station at W. 4th and Douglas but no money was stolen. A. L. Harkrider, 1201 Barnes St., reported juvenile had destroyed shrubbery at his residence.

House Approves Defense Moneys

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has passed and sent to the Senate a huge defense appropriations bill that differed in many ways from the military planning suggested by the administration. The $39,337,967,000 measure was approved Thursday 377-3. Those voting against it were Reps. Randall S. Harmon (D-Ind.), Ken Hechler (D-W.Va.) and Byron L. Johnson (D-Colo.).

Rankin Play Wins In TIL

AUSTIN (AP)—Rankin's one act play, "The Twelve - Found Look" won first place in the interscholastic League Conference B one act play contest. Eddie Hunt of Dodson was selected best actor while Annette Craig of Rankin was named best actress. The Samuel French award for the outstanding actor or actress went to Miss Craig. Members of the all-star cast were Darleen Workman, Miss Craig, and Larry Simpson of Rankin, Kent Dickie of Woodson, and Eddie Hunt. Last night's one act play contests formally opened the 50th annual Texas Interscholastic League competitions.

Annexed Districts Hold Strategy Meet

Gay Hill and Center Point school districts, annexed to the Big Spring Independent School District by the Howard County School Board Wednesday, will probably decide today what action, if any, they propose to take in contesting the annexation. At a joint meeting of the two school boards Thursday night in Gay Hill School, the members reviewed the sudden development and conferred with John R. Black Jr., Abilene attorney. Walker Bailey, county superintendent, was present and the board members heard a tape recording of a telephone conversation Bailey had with Chester Ollison, legal advisor to the Texas Board of Education. In this conversation, Bailey proposed 10 questions relative to the annexation action. In general, the legal advisor held that the county board had acted within its authority. Black informed the board members that he would immediately begin a study of the situation and would advise the boards this morning whether there are any courses open for the matter to be pursued further. Ollison had said in his talk with Bailey that the law provides the boards of the annexed districts must act within five days of the time they were apprised of the action of the county board. Bailey was waiting word from Black at 11 a.m. Several of the school board members from the two districts were in his office during the forenoon discussing the situation. The joint meeting was attended by the three Center Point members—Ralph Neill, Howard Lloyd and Joe Mangum—and by the seven members of the Gay Hill board. The Gay Hill members are Ulysses Hall, H. L. Moates, Jeff Painter, Jimmy Felts, Jack Buchanan, T. A. Norman and Weaver Brown.

Farm Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee decried the plight of the farmer and rapped administration farm policies today as it approved a $3,994,781,500 money bill for the Agriculture Department.

Ask Explanation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States formally asked the Soviet Union today for the "full facts" behind Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's boast that an American aircraft was shot down over Soviet territory Sunday.

Youngster Not Injured In Wreck

Two minor traffic accidents were investigated by police Thursday. One accident involved a pedestrian. Arnold Smith, age 11, 312 Willow, escaped injury when he collided with a car at 4th and Main Sts. Driver of the car was David Paris Mitchell, Webb AFB. The boy was taken to Big Spring Hospital for examination. John Lawrence-Lebleu, 100 Jefferson, and Hortencia C. Valdez, 1300 Blackmon, collided at 300 Curry.

New Sewer Law Effective Monday

The new ordinance calling for a $42.50 sewer tap permit with the city doing the work goes into effect Monday, Homer Ward, plumbing and electrical inspector, reminded today. The city will make all taps from trunk lines to the property line. The $42.50 permit includes all labor and material for this job. Taps from the property line to the house are done by private plumbers. The permits will be issued in Ward's office at City Hall.

CENSUS MISS YOU? CALL THIS NUMBER!

Have you been missed by the census in Big Spring, or any other part of Howard County?
Or, do you know of someone who hasn't been counted?
If so, will you please phone AM 4-4641—immediately!
That's the Chamber of Commerce phone, and that organization will have people ready to respond to your call, bringing you a Census form that can be completed for mailing. These people will be at your service Friday afternoon and Saturday.
The local census is right at the completion point. Enumerators have counted everybody they could find; but they suspect they have missed some people.
It's important that EVERYBODY be counted in the federal census. This is our official population count for another 10 years. If you haven't been counted, please call AM 4-4641, today or tomorrow.

In Soviet Shakeup

This quartet is involved in sweeping changes in top ranks of the Soviet government in Moscow. From left, right, was relieved as first deputy premier and made secretary of the Soviet Communist Party central committee in a move regarded as a promotion. Mrs. Ekaterina Furtseva, left, top ranking woman in the Kremlin hierarchy, was dropped as a central committee secretary and made minister of culture. Nikolai Bolyaev, second from left, and Alexei Kirichenko, second from right, were ousted from the party presidium.

United Fund Here Lauded For Help

J. M. Haynes Jr., director of educational services at the Texas Rehabilitation Center at Gonzales, extended public appreciation to the Big Spring and Howard County

United Fund for donations for the rehabilitation program.

Haynes commended the city and county for their support of the center where Texans of all ages are helped, regardless of their ability to pay for treatment.

The center is open to visitors and tour groups each day of the week.

Agging Group Organizes

Ed Carpenter, county judge, who is serving as chairman of the Howard County committee, as a part of the National White House Conference on Aging, said that his subcommittee chairmen have organized for their study of the subject.

The chairmen met at the county courtroom on Thursday and will prepare reports which they will turn in to the judge early next week. These reports will be sent to the state committee and eventually will reach the national conference.

Attending the meeting on Thursday morning were Leon Kinney, with the Texas Employment Commission; Bill Quimby, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Hazel Ogg, with Judge Carpenter's office; Miss Mary Cantrell, county welfare officer; Tommy Compton, with the state welfare office; and Marvin Miller, a member of the state committee. Miss Bo Bowen, County Health Unit and Dr. Marvin Baker, HCJC official, were unable to be at the meeting but will join in the studies and submit recommendations later.

Mrs. Box Speaks To Credit Club

Business letters should reflect the personality of the writer, according to Mrs. Marshall Box, commercial teacher at HCJC. She was guest speaker for the Credit Executive Club Wednesday at Coker's.

Business letter writing is important because six billion letters are written each day, according to the speaker. Mrs. Box pointed out that a person should write a letter in the same manner as he would make a business contact, approach a client, or apply for a job. Neatness is of prime importance as is completeness, clarity, conciseness and correctness.

Complaints to a business should be handled immediately, said the speaker, who also admonished writers not to let letter content hide behind store policy. Writers should be natural and the letter content should be considerate, friendly and courteous.

Jack Davis, newly elected president, presided at the meeting which was attended by 28 members.

Borden School Gets Beta Group

A chapter of the national Beta club has been organized at Borden High School, according to Paul E. Sweett, principal. The club is a leadership service organization.

Officers chosen for the club are Nancy Beal, president; James Telchik, vice president; Susan Davis, secretary; and Patti Harrell, treasurer. Sweett is faculty sponsor.

Additional members are Junior Brewer and Bobby Burrus.

Medic Says Corrective Breast Surgery On Increase

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP)—A New York doctor says more and more women are turning to surgery to get a shapely bosom.

And, says Dr. Morton Berson, a better-looking breast often improves a woman's frame of mind as well as her looks.

In a paper prepared for delivery today before the Pan American Medical Assn. Congress, the plastic surgeon said:

"The professions of women in the public eye, for example, may require breast correction if they are not to suffer constant social embarrassment, and others, too, may undergo a type of emotional disturbance which can definitely impair their effective functioning in life."

"These women have a very real problem, and no physician can afford to ignore it."

But he warned that the operation is not simple and that "a woman with not unusually small breasts whose demands for reshaping are exaggerated might better in some cases be discouraged."

Berson said that a new dermal-fat-fascia graft, true skin underlying the epidermis and fibrous tissue, is considered best and safest today.

He said the old paraffin injection is considered a thing of the past. It leaves uneven contours, he explained, and may have side effects. And the implanting of plastic sponges turns "hard as a baseball" and can cause irritation and infection, he reported.

Transplanting of free fat grafts is not recommended, he added, because it often is reabsorbed by the body and loses a third to a half of its volume.

Speaking of face-lifting, Berson said it wasn't unreasonable that "the modern woman refuses to accept the verdict that she must grow old, wrinkled and flabby while her mental equipment is young and active."

He said face lifting can be "appreciably dangerous" when performed by unqualified doctors, but in the hands of experts it achieves the desired goal.

He cautioned that it is a costly operation and that results are not permanent. But he said a good job would last "many years."

Wasp Causes School Bus Crash

CHARLOTTE, Pa. (AP)—A school bus driver took a swipe at a wasp Thursday and the vehicle crashed into a utility pole. Flames consumed the bus within minutes, but all 36 children aboard filed out safely.

Said driver Eugene Pritts: "If it wasn't for that emergency door, a lot of the kids would have never gotten out."

A few of the children suffered minor bruises.

The crash occurred on a narrow road about 15 miles northeast of this western Pennsylvania community.

Unwed Mothers Said Numerous

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The founder of Mexico's women's college said Thursday that there are two million unmarried mothers and four million fatherless children in the country.

Mrs. Adela Formosa de Obregon Santacilia, founder and director of the Universidad Femenina de Mexico, said this totals six million humans or a fifth of Mexico's total population.

Since my high school days I have wanted more than anything else to serve my fellowman in public office. I believe that good government is one of the most important things today, so I have trained in school and college with that thought in mind.
Reared in this area and associated with my grandfather, Andy Brown, in cotton raising and buying, I have come to know this area and its people. Although I am the youngest of the field, I am mature enough to be in business and am energetic enough to give the job all I've got. As your legislator I'll be as experienced as any others asking and I feel that I will be in a position to work harder and longer than others. Being your representative will not be a sideline or retirement for me, but a foremost responsibility. I'll work hard to justify your confidence in me and in our future.

I pledge you the best service and hardest work I know how to give if you honor me with this office. In working my way through school and college and in serving in the Marine Corps I learned things worth having are worth digging and fighting for.

I will be frank with you; I cannot be all things to all people. No group will dominate me, but I will lean heavily on the advice of the progressive people who have built this area of West Texas.

My years in education convinced me of the vital necessity of good schools, and I will work for a fair increase in state support of teachers.

As a home and farm owner, I realize the problems of rising costs. I am against a general sales tax and opposed to a state income tax. I believe we can do most of what needs to be done by overhauling our present tax structure. No one will appreciate your support more than I.

Symington Praises Own Arms Program

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri said Thursday night he believes his economic disarmament plan is the surest way to permanent peace.

Symington, who seeks the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke before the 21 Jewel Square Club, a Masonic organization after receiving the club's "Man of the Year" award for his efforts in the cause of international peace.

Earlier he told a news conference he feels the campaigns of his rivals for the Democratic nomination — Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota — in West Virginia were not helping the Democratic party.

"I'd rather see the Democrats hold their fire," he commented. Symington also denied that he was part of any "stop Kennedy" coalition in West Virginia. He added he would disown any of his supporters who participated in such a move.

In his speech to the Masonic club, Symington said his economic disarmament plan would put a limit on the proportion of key resources, particularly steel, a nation could use for arms.

There would be a periodic review and revision of the ceiling on military use of the resources to provide balanced security and to increase progressively the ratio to be used for peaceful purposes, he said.

The plan, he continued, would be linked with elimination of nuclear testing, adequate mutual inspection, gradual reduction of existing nuclear weapons and enforceable and realistic reduction of forces by all nations.

At his news conference Symington said world peace is the chief issue of the presidential campaign in November. He said he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination because he believes he is the man best qualified to advance the United States' effort toward world peace.

"I'll appreciate all the support I can get from Pennsylvania," he added.

He said he had talked with both Democratic Gov. David L. Lawrence and Rep. William J. Green Jr. of Philadelphia, one of the state's most influential Democrats.

They didn't endorse his candidacy, but they didn't reject it, he told the news conference.

Presidential Assist

President Eisenhower lends a hand as India's Minister of Food and Agriculture, S. K. Patil, signs his signature after penning his name to a United States-India wheat agreement at the White House. The agreement, largest deal of its kind in history, calls for the U.S. to supply India with 17 million tons of surplus grain over a four year period.

U. S. Strategists Take Grain Of Salt On All-Missile Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev's statement that the Soviet Union has no bombers on duty, only missiles, is taken with a grain of salt by strategists here.

After telling the Soviet Parliament Wednesday that a United States plane had been shot down over Soviet territory last Sunday, Khrushchev said the Soviet Union has the right to guarantee its security. Then, rhetorically addressing U.S. leaders, he added:

"We have no bombers on duty, but we have rockets on duty. They are more accurate and trustworthy than your bombers."

Some of those who studied his remark believed he was saying only that the Soviet Union has no manned bombers on a 15-minute ready alert such as is maintained by the USAF's Strategic Air Command. They refused to believe that Khrushchev has moved to the point where he has laid away all bombers and relies only on missiles.

They point to recent public statements and reports by top military officials of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

These make evident the belief that the Red air force's bomber fleet remains a definite threat.

Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, chief of the Continental Air Defense Command, takes note of Khrushchev's previous assertion that Soviet bomber production would soon cease. "But even if that proves true, Kuter said a couple of weeks ago, 'the many hundreds of first line Soviet bombers now in their inventory will pose a significant threat for years to come.' Even with normal attrition 'this force could deliver in 1970, if unopposed, many megatons of destruction on North American targets' without ever making another bomber, Kuter said.

In January, Gen. Thomas D. White, USAF chief of staff, said of the Soviets that "their striking force at the moment is very much greater in bombers than in anything else."

And last December, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization issued a "letter" which summed up Soviet strength.

The NATO letter said that the strategic bomber force of the Soviet Union consists of about 200 Tupelov jet-prop Bears, 500 four-engine jet Bisons and 500 twin-jet medium Badger bombers.

This strategic air force, said the NATO summary, generally is based along the Arctic Coast where it is supplied by planes of the air transport force.

In addition, the Soviet Union has a tactical bomber force of about 5,000 planes, the most modern of which are twin-jet light bombers.

They seemed no disposition however, to discount Khrushchev's assertion that the Soviet Union has missiles "on duty."

The NATO summary estimates the Soviets have made notable progress in the missile field and now have ready for use "quantities" of missiles with nuclear warheads, in short, medium, intermediate and long range.

Students Resume Sit-Ins In Austin

AUSTIN (AP)—Negro and white students resumed their sit-in demonstrations in the capital city Thursday in an effort to gain integrated service at cafes and restaurants.

About nine students were refused service at the Greyhound Bus Lines and Continental Bus Co. There was no reported violence and apparently the sit-ins created little interest from spectators.

Tax Trial Is Postponed

BOSTON (AP)—The tax evasion trial of industrialist Bernard Goldfine, scheduled for May 24, has been postponed until Sept. 6.

U.S. Dist. Judge George C. Sweeney changed the date Thursday without giving a reason but his action came soon after withdrawal from the case of three Goldfine counsel—E. Bennett Williams of Washington and Edward D. Hassan and Burton L. Williams of Boston.

Goldfine is under indictment charged with evasion of $450,961 personal income taxes. His secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman, is charged with evading $25,589 and the two together, as officers of Strathmore-Woolen Co., are charged with evasion of $340,784 allegedly owed by the company.

We're bending over backwards right now to make Valiant an even better money-saving proposition than usual. But any day would be a great day to buy Valiant. Because Valiant happens to be a great car. And not just for looks and pinching pennies. Valiant has a hefty inclined engine that whips up 101 hp and nurses gas to boot. A ride that's as great cross-country as it is around town. Plus room for a family of six and their luggage, too (the only place Valiant packs people is into our showrooms!). Yep, Valiant's the one economy car you don't need two of. Unless you just can't decide between a Valiant sedan and a Valiant wagon. So you might want to buy two Valiants. You'll save lots more money—not to mention lots of arguments between the drivers in your family! Come see us, won't you?

Ike Signs 1960 Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed today the 1960 civil rights bill key to new progress for the voting rights of Negroes.

Eisenhower called the law "an historic step forward in the field of civil rights" although Congress failed to include some of his recommendations.

After such a finding, court-appointed referees could hear complaints from persons discriminated against. If the referee found such persons qualified under state law, he could order that they be permitted to register and vote.

The new voting procedure may be tested in this fall's elections, although the law is expected to be challenged in court, delaying a showdown.

Rogers said he hopes responsible state officials will voluntarily act to eliminate discrimination, but that if not, the Department of Justice will promptly investigate all complaints and "proceed vigorously."

Election records must be preserved for 22 months and shown to Justice Department representatives on demand.

Other sections of the law provide obstruction of U.S. court orders by threats or force is a federal crime, punishable by up to $1,000 fine and one year's imprisonment.

Flight to avoid prosecution for bombing a religious or educational structure, home or other building, or the interstate transportation of explosives for such a purpose are federal crimes. Penalties range up to death if the explosion causes loss of life, otherwise up to 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

The commissioner of education is authorized to set up school facilities for children of servicemen, if public schools in their areas are closed to avoid desegregation orders.

Treaty Warning
MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko warned again today that the Soviet Union will sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany if the Big Four powers fail to agree on an all-German settlement.

George Foster and Garrett Paton, Ringmasters include Fred Beckham and Dalton Johnston. Narrators and sound men will be Carlisle Robinson and Jerry Cadell.

The carnival will be staged at the Big Spring High School stadium and 15 events will headline the attraction. Scouts will display camping scenes, canoeing, dancing, skills, races, and exercises which are designed to make boys physically and socially strong.

The scouts will also show how they carry out the "Be Prepared" motto, by demonstrating first aid for tornado and other disaster victims.

A rematch between Custer and the Indians is scheduled as a tribute to the men at the Battle of Little Big Horn. Star gazing and various types of signaling will also be demonstrated by the scouts and cubs.

Kiwanis Have Music Program

Music Week was observed by the Big Spring Kiwanians at their Thursday noon luncheon.

Mrs. J. R. Hensley, representing the Big Spring Music Club, presented the program. Featured were her three children, Bill, Randy and Kandy. Also on the program was Delores Howard.

Bill Hensley and Miss Howard were featured in a duet. Miss Kandy Hensley danced a number and Miss Randy Hensley played the piano. Mrs. Hensley sang a solo.

Ernest Welch was program chairman for the day.

Announcement was made that the Kiwanis club would meet with the Salvation Army at the Dora Roberts Building for a luncheon on May 19. It will be the club's recognition of Salvation Army Week. The week, actually, will not be observed until the following week but the club agreed to move its observation one week early.

U.S. Plane Incidents

Soviet Premier Khrushchev said an American plane has been shot down over the U.S.S.R. In Washington, the Evening Star said a jet research plane, symbol at left, is missing near Lake Van, Turkey. Khrushchev also charged U.S. plane, symbol at right, crossed the Soviet-Afghan border.

Niki Trying Summit Trap

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in the judgment of authorities here, is trying to force President Eisenhower into a summit conference trap where he must either make important concessions or take the blame for failure.

Alongside that assessment of Khrushchev's current blusterous outburst against the United States and Eisenhower personally stands this additional view: There is some danger Khrushchev may overplay his hand and wreck summit conference plans completely.

Eisenhower has repeatedly said he would not go to the summit under threat or duress. While Khrushchev has not carried his present and American campaign to that point, his present tactics suggest the possibility that he could do so.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the President has not to his knowledge changed plans to visit Russia. Hagerty parried all other questions on the plane incident with "no comment" or non-committal answers.

The follow-up salvo fired by a Khrushchev lieutenant before the Supreme Soviet in Moscow today reinforced the impression, based on Khrushchev's opening blast Thursday, that the Soviet leader has embarked on a deliberate campaign.

BIG SURPRISE
The suddenness of his action caught everyone here from the President down by surprise. Hence official reaction has been slow and cautious, its development hampered by the fact that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, together with almost all the top officials of the State Department, has been in the Middle East for Allied conferences. They are due home tonight.

But the White House and State Department were withholding any definitive reaction pending a report from U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow of the facts behind Khrushchev's spectacular announcement that Soviet forces had shot down a United States aircraft last Sunday.

A U.S. plane is missing in the Soviet-Turkish border area and officials here assume it is the same plane but are not certain. It was officially stated Thursday to have been an unarmed weather plane.

The second round in Khrushchev's offensive was fired today by Marshal Andrei A. Grechko. Speaking before the Supreme Soviet as Khrushchev had, Grechko said the U.S. aircraft was destroyed by a single shot of a "remarkable rocket" and that the decision to fire was made by Khrushchev personally.

MAIN ARGUMENT
For the outside world the Grechko speech carried forward side had told reporters that the President had not to his knowledge changed his plans to visit the Soviet Union.

"I know of no change in plans," press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters who asked whether the trip might be called off because of the Soviet shooting down of a U.S. plane and Khrushchev's bristling speeches.

Hagerty parried all other questions on the plane incident with "no comments" or noncommittal answers.

Hagerty declined to comment on whether the incidents might affect the summit conference in Paris.

Asked whether any protest had been included in a State Department note asking more information on the plane, Hagerty referred reporters to the State Department.

At the White House earlier, an

Bitter Political Campaign Coming To A Final Head

By IRVIN FRANK
Associated Press Staff Writer
The long and oft-times bitter campaign for votes in Texas' Democratic Primary rolled toward its finale Friday.

Tens of thousands of Texans will go to the polls Saturday between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Issues in the campaigns ranged from taxes to loan sharks to public lands to pay raises for teachers to contributions of money to candidates.

In the more heated contests Breckenridge contractor Jack Cox is opposing a third-term bid by Gov. Price Daniel and House Speaker Waggoner Carr is seeking Atty. Gen. Bill Wilson's office.

Gov. Ben Ramsey is opposed by Houston lawyer Don Yarborough and Palestine's Jerry Sadler is campaigning against Land Commissioner Bill Altcorn.

Cox, who used a helicopter to cover the state in his campaign, spent an hour Thursday in downtown Huntsville shaking hands and making a short talk on the courthouse lawn.

He said Daniel has failed to present a realistic plan for solving the state's financial problems.

PLAN HIT
"Gov. Daniel talks about his five secret plans. He is actually taking the Fifth Amendment in not letting the people know what he plans to do," he said.

Cox said he did not believe in a third term and if elected promised "to present a program that will pay the state's debts and balance the budget."

He told his audience he is not advocating a general sales tax for Texas, but an educational improvement tax which would exclude a tax on food and medicine.

Daniel spent part of Thursday in Dallas where he said the big issue in the governor's race is whether the tax burden is going to be borne just by the people of Texas or if those who benefit by the state's products are going to pay their share.

At a press conference the governor said "excuse for a few tourists, the sales tax proposed by my opponent would be paid by the people of Texas."

He said he had "urged a tax on the users of Texas natural gas in other states and equalization of the state franchise tax so that out-of-state corporations pay, as much as Texas corporations."

LOWER COST
A gas pipeline tax would attract new industries to the state because of the lower cost of domestic gas, Daniel said.

Daniel denied that he was holding back any secret tax plans as charged by Cox.

He said he presented his tax views four times to the last Legislature and that they were well known.

When asked why former Gov. Allan Shivers had backed Cox, Daniel replied:

"When he was governor, Shivers felt very much about taxation as I do now and have always felt. He was opposed to both a sales tax and a state income tax as I have been. But his views have changed since he became president of a gas pipeline company."

"Price Daniel has deserted those who elected him; he has joined those who condemned him—and now he has a secret program that he is afraid to submit to the people's judgment before the election."

In the race for attorney general Carr said that "excuse for a few tourists" on the three-member State Banking Commission to throw a Houston state bank charter to his political ally, Billy Goldberg of Houston.

CALLED BRAZEN
Carr said the bank episode was "brazen, willful and deliberate misconduct of office" by Wilson. Carr spoke over a Corpus Christi television station.

"His refusal to disqualify himself, when asked to do so as a matter of fairness, reveals that he was determined to make sure the Goldberg group got the charter," Carr said.

Wilson campaigned in Wichita Falls, Dallas and Fort Worth.

He said he was "extremely enthusiastic" over the response he is receiving in his campaign.

In Dallas Wilson said states' rights was "at the heart" of his bid for a third term.

"First, we took the tidegates case to the Supreme Court and are awaiting a verdict. We also have asked the Atomic Energy Commission to prohibit dumping of nuclear wastes in the Gulf of Mexico," he said.

Wilson said Carr was running with the backing of loan sharks. Adequate financing of essential state services within the capacity of the taxpayer is the main issue in state government, Ramsey said in Fort Worth.

Texas voters "know this is no time for immature political experiments and reckless experiments in our government," he said.

His opponent, Yarborough, toured South Texas by plane and said he would make 40 speeches Friday from the plane.

Yarborough said at Harlingen that "I believe I have succeeded in bringing to light tremendous power—the present lieutenant governor has amassed during his five terms in office."

Allcorn's office said the land

Princess Weds
Her Commoner

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret married the man of her heart today — commoner Antony Armstrong-Jones, who wooed and won her without crown or coronet.

It was an electronic wedding, with television cameras and spy-microphones dangling above the high altar of Westminster Abbey, but the ceremony was an age-old ritual of the Anglican Church.

The day was golden, the sky blue, the weather warm. Hundreds of thousands outside the Abbey, in the old streets of London, gathered shoulder to shoulder in hushed silence as the man-made magic of the loud-speakers brought them the words and music from Westminster.

Inside the Abbey, beneath the stone figures of Shakespeare and Dryden, Gladstone and Disraeli, more than 2,000 guests and the royal family gathered in a fairytale setting of medieval splendor.

Of the bachelor princess who has lived in the headlines of the world for the last five of her 29 years, the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, asked:

"Margaret Rose, will you have this man to be thy wedded husband, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy estate of matrimony?"

DEEP VOICE

"Will thou obey him?" The word obey seemed to hang there by itself—and serve him, love, honor and keep him in sickness and in health, and forsaking all others, keep thee only unto him, so long as ye both shall live?"

"I will," she answered, just as Tony had answered "I will before her."

The princess' response brought to a climax 68 days of a steadily building 20th-century fairy tale.

For it was on Feb. 26 that Queen Mother Elizabeth announced her younger daughter's engagement to a surprised world.

The romance of the princess and a 30-year-old professional photographer was the best-kept royal secret of the decade.

And the marriage meant a great deal to the people of Britain. Some didn't like the idea of her marrying a commoner. A few others griped that the wedding cost too much. But the vast majority shared her joy.

Joy and the festive spirit of celebrating a happy event prevailed in the carnival-like atmosphere of the festooned streets.

MEG CHEERED

The people turned out by the thousands to watch their princess glide by in a glass coach. They cheered her to the spring skies. They showed again that the Monarchy means much to them.

And they showed that Margaret means much to them. Many shared her heartbreak five years ago when she renounced divorced Peter Townsend, putting duty to the church, throne and nation before her personal love.

The ceremony at the Abbey closed that era of Margaret's life, a happy ending in a historic spot. Arriving at the Abbey, she stepped on to a long blue carpet leading to the altar, and her measured walk wove another thread into the Abbey's time-hallowed pattern of history.

The light through the windows sparkled on a glittering scene—jewels on the stylishly gowned women guests shone amid a background of gold and red uniforms, formal morning coats and striped pants, and a liberal sprinkling of dark business suits, the first time such attire was sanctioned for such a wedding.

The music of Bach, Handel and Purcell swelled through the old stone structure.

ROYAL COLOR

The rich tones of ecclesiastical vestments blended with the latest fashions, saris from the Far East, the formal gowns worn by the Queen and other ladies of the royal family.

Margaret was the center of all eyes. A fanfare of trumpets sounded her in.

Her white organza wedding gown was simple and traditional, high necked, untrimmied, long sleeved, with a voluminous skirt and only a blazing diamond tiara to mark it as a royal outfit. The skirt formed a train behind and the tulle veil fell to the floor. She carried a small bouquet of white, pink-fused orchids and white lilies of the valley and Stephanotis.

Eight little bridesmaids — including Princess Anne — preceded her.

Margaret was on the arm of her brother-in-law, Prince Philip, who gave her away.

The guests sang the hymn "Christ Is Made The True Foundation."

At the sanctuary steps the princess paused to hand her bouquet to her niece, Princess Anne. She and Philip were joined by the bridegroom and his best man, Dr. Roger Gilliat.

TOOK PLACES

Together they ascended the short flight of steps. With the precision of a ballet in slow motion, Margaret and Tony took their places at the two pink-cushioned kneeling desks.

The archbishop and the dean of Westminster, the Very Rev. Eric S. Abbott, stood before them.

The Queen and other members of the royal family sat on golden chairs to the wedding pair's right. To their left were Tony's relatives. In the front row sat his father, Ronald Armstrong-Jones, and his mother, the Countess of Rosse.

The archbishop began the ceremony. Finally he came to the ring ritual, handing it to Tony, who put it on Margaret's finger. Then Tony said:

"With this ring I thee wed, with my body I thee worship, and with all my worldly goods I thee endow. In the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, Amen."

The archbishop took their two right hands and folded them in his stole.

KNOT TIED

This was the symbolic "tying of the knot."
"I pronounce that they be man and wife together," he intoned. "In the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen."

The marriage was now official. But the service was hardly half over. There were prayers to come and Psalms and the reading of the Beatitudes from the Sermon on the Mount, chosen by the Princess instead of a sermon.

Then more prayers and the piercing, dramatic fanfares of the silver trumpets.

And outside in the sunlight waited the thousands to cheer the procession back to Buckingham Palace, to call them again and again from the wedding breakfast to the palace balcony, and to cheer Margaret and her bridegroom once more as they drove to board the royal yacht Britannia for a Caribbean honeymoon cruise.

The weatherman predicted a clear, warm night for the start of the voyage, a "pretty calm" sea and a bright yellow moon.

DEAR ABBY
SEE YOUR LAWYER

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband picked our eleventh anniversary to tell me he wanted a divorce. He said he was in love with another woman. I asked him to think of our two children (3 and 5) and he said they were young enough to forget him, and besides, HE grew up without a father and so could they.

He left his clothes, golf clubs, camera and everything he owns behind. All he took were the clothes on his back. He just deserted me. I have no idea who the woman is.

He's been gone twelve days. I had one postcard from him from a motel near Pontiac, Michigan. I think he's lost his mind. I don't want to report it to the police because I don't want a lot of publicity. (I still have my pride.) How can I get him home quietly?

DESERTED

DEAR DESERTE: Your husband has legal responsibilities to you and the children even if he cares nothing about the moral ones. He can be located and brought home quietly "without a lot of publicity." Your best friend at this time is your lawyer. From what you say, your husband could be emotionally disturbed so don't jump to any conclusions.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother begged us to sign a loan so he could have a large wedding reception. We signed, then we didn't even get invited to the wedding. Their excuse was that it was going to be a fancy church deal and they hated to put us to the expense of renting or buying the get-ups. (They suggested we put the money into a wedding gift instead. HAVE YOU EVER HEARD OF SUCH NERVE?)

My husband says he doesn't need an invitation to go to his own brother's wedding and we are going! I say he will have to drag me by the hair to get me there. Who is right?

NOT GOOD ENOUGH
DEAR NOT: I think you are right, but please don't insist on that kind of entrance. Tell your husband that everyone who is invited is invited to a wedding, including brothers. These people appear to be so rude and inconsiderate, I can't imagine why you would want to bother with them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOOKING FOR MONEY": You're wrong. Money buys everything but love, personality, health, freedom and integrity. What else is really important?

"What's your problem? Write to Abby in care of The Big Spring Herald. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Oil Case Delayed Until Sept. 15

LUBBOCK (AP)—Texas firms and individuals accused of "hot oil" violations under the Connally Act have until Sept. 15 to file briefs in the case.
U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph Dooley fixed the deadline after hearing oral arguments yesterday. He said he will rule on all phases of the case at the same time.
Judge Dooley overruled a defense move for a mistrial after several days of testimony. Defendants are Thompson-Powell Drilling Co., Thompson-Powell Derrick Drilling Co. and their successor, Claude J. Thompson, Inc., Palmer G. Powell of Abilene; Leslie P. Morgan and R. B. Ware of Snyder, and Claude J. Thompson, who died before the trial.

Candidates In Capital Over Pending Bill

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Both Sen. John F. Kennedy and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey were in Washington today because of a bill that means a lot to West Virginia—and their campaigns in the state.

They announced almost simultaneously Thursday night that they would break off their scheduled appearances to be in the Senate for consideration of the area development bill.

Both senators are for it, and have made much in their campaigns of President Eisenhower's veto two years ago of one version of the bill. Since there is provision for loans and grants to depressed areas, West Virginia, which has more than its share, is looked upon as one of the areas that would benefit most.

"I want to get the depressed area bill on his (the President's) desk at the earliest possible moment," Humphrey said just before leaving Morgantown.

At about the same time down in Charleston, where he interrupted his campaigning, Kennedy said, "This is one of the bills I have been talking about which would do something concrete for the depressed state of the West Virginia economy."

The two men expected to get back to the state later. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. meanwhile, was substituting for Kennedy, and Lt. Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag of Minnesota for Humphrey.

For Kennedy, the sudden return to Washington was nothing new. He had left off campaigning once before—last week—to get to Washington to vote for the small mines safety bill, which like the redevelopment bill has a great deal of political potency in these parts.

His campaign headquarters left another round at the Teamsters Union Thursday night, one of many since the state organization endorsed Humphrey. The statement said the endorsement was made "on direct orders from James R. Hoffa," president of the national organization. It went on that Kennedy had learned this "from a source high in the ranks of the International Teamsters leadership."

E. A. Carter, president of the State Teamsters Council, labeled these statements "deliberately false." He said the endorsement decision had been made here.

Nixon Sees W. Va. As A Starting Point

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon expects the presidential campaign to get under way immediately if Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) wins the West Virginia primary.

Nixon has told friends he thinks Kennedy will have the Democratic nomination in the bag if the Massachusetts senator beats Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in the May 10 balloting in a state where the voters are overwhelmingly Protestant.

Kennedy is a Roman Catholic and the religious issue has become a major one in West Virginia. He is making no advance claim to victory in that state. He said Thursday he thinks he'll be lucky if he gets 40 per cent of the West Virginia vote.

In Nixon's view, victory would put Kennedy in about the same position in the Democratic party that Nixon now occupies as the prospective Republican presidential nominee.

With that in mind, it would be Nixon's disposition to thrust Kennedy as his certain November rival and to begin making plans for the general election campaign on that basis.

On the other hand, if Kennedy fails to top Humphrey in West Virginia, Nixon thinks Adlai E. Stevenson may win the prize at the Los Angeles convention. Nixon doesn't believe that Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas can muster sufficient support from labor and Negro leaders to get his party's nomination.

He discounts the chances of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), feeling that while Symington has some of the party leaders for him, his showing in primary write-in votes indicates a lack of popular support.

Like many Democrats, Nixon does not believe that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) will have much chance for the nomination even if he whips Kennedy in West Virginia. This would leave only Stevenson, twice the Democratic nominee, or some dark horse. And Nixon doesn't look for the extended balloting that would give a rank outsider much opportunity to walk off with the prize.

Johnson, meanwhile, prepared to leave on a speaking trip to address Democratic rallies in East Liverpool, Ohio, tonight and in Clarksville, W. Va., Saturday—the weekend before the voting in the Picture Of U. S. Plane Printed

MOSCOW (AP)—Red Star today published a photograph of the wreckage of the U. S. plane shot down May 1 in Soviet Armenia. The defense ministry newspaper also gave some details of the incident but made no mention of the pilot.

Red Star said an anti-aircraft defense unit was alerted by an alarm signal just at dawn on May 1.

"When radio operators received the first reports about the course of an unknown plane which had entered Soviet territory from the south, it became increasingly clear with every passing minute that the plane was an alien machine and that its intentions were hostile," the paper said. The plane was flying at a "very great altitude" and at a speed of approximately 540 miles an hour, it added.

"The engagement was brief and it was soon learned that the intruder was brought down. The population of nearby villages helped to locate the wreckage quickly."

Fans, Menus Affected By Royal Wedding

LONDON (AP)—Among thousands who camped out overnight to ensure a good vantage point on Princess Margaret's wedding route was a 71-year-old Londoner, Alice Gascoyne.

She did the same for the Duchess of Kent's wedding, Queen Elizabeth's and the coronations of George VI and the Queen.

The Daily Herald published a royal wedding souvenir edition with full color photographs, the first ever printed by a British newspaper.

The Cunard liner Queen Mary, one day out from New York, today offered its passengers a "Princess Margaret Special"—a cocktail of Red Burgundy, Curacao and Benedictine.

At Mayfair's swank Westbury Hotel the chef served up Timbale de Fraises Princess Margaret—a special sweet served in a small bowl of spun sugar resting on a saucer made of nougat.

Each bowl was filled with rich sponge cake sprinkled with Grand Marnier with fresh strawberries on top, then a coating of cream mixed with red currant jelly. What a strawberry shortcake!

Six enlisted men aboard the royal yacht Britannia had to postpone their own weddings because of Princess Margaret's honeymoon cruise to the Caribbean. Two of the couples were invited to Westminster Abbey for the royal wedding.

Big Five In Big Spring's Track Hopes

Big Spring's track hopes in the state meet are riding heavy on these five locals. They are members of the sprint relay team which is consistently running the event in 42.6 seconds. Only four men can run the relay but Coach Curtis Kelley likes to keep a spare for emergencies. Besides R. L. Lasater, the four are practically equal in speed. They are Kenny Kesterson, Freddy Brown, Lasater, David Abree and Roy Burklow. All but Brown and Abree are back next year.

Cincy's Bill Henry Is Paying Dividends

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's Reds finally have themselves a winning streak, now that reliever Bill Henry is pitching as effectively for them as he did against 'em.

The Reds, who hadn't been able to win two in a row through their first 15 games, beat the San Francisco Giants 4-3 Thursday for their fourth straight victory.

The lean lefty, who beat the Reds seven times out of eight before they got him from the Chicago Cubs last winter, fanned two of four batters in a 7-1-3-inning snip-up Thursday as the Reds swept a two-game series at San Francisco and dropped the second place Giants two games behind Pittsburgh. The Pirates, who open a three-game series at San Francisco tonight, won 9-7 at Chicago, ruining Lou Boudreau's debut as Cub manager. Los Angeles beat Milwaukee 4-3 in 10 innings but the St. Louis Cardinals blew a chance to take third place from the Braves by losing 3-1 to Philadelphia.

The Reds were shut out on one hit for five innings before southpaw Johnny Antonelli tried in his first start of the season, then came from behind and beat reliever Stu Miller with two runs in the eighth.

Henry struck out pinch-hitter Jimmy Degenport with the tying run on second in the Giants' eighth, saving the decision for Bob Purkey (1-1), who earlier gave up a two-run triple by Mays and a homer by Orlando Cepeda.

Bill Virdon's two-out pinch triple gave the Pirates two runs in the ninth against reliever Glen Hobbie (2-3) after they had tied it 7-7 with five runs in the seventh. Bob Clemente, who drove in three runs, hit a two-run homer in the rally. Fred Green (2-0) won it in relief for the Pirates.

The Dodgers ended their slump at four on rookie Bob Aspromonte's fourth consecutive hit — a two-out, two-strike single with the bases loaded. Larry Sherry (2-3), never a loser against the Braves, beat them for the third time with four frames of two-hit, shutout relief after starter Johnny Podres had given up homers by Mel Roach and Hank Aaron. Don McMahon (1-2) lost it in relief of Lew Burdette.

Rookies Pancho Herrera and Ken Walters hit fourth-inning homers for all three runs as the Phillies beat Vinegar Bend Mizell (1-2) for the first time in six decisions. Jim Owens (2-2), put away his second nine-inning job with a five-hitter. The Cards scored in the fifth on a walk, Leon Wagner's single and a doubleplay.

Bally Ache Needed A Longer Nose In '59

By ORLO ROBERTSON
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The secret of how Bally Ache overcame runner-upitis and became one of the two strong favorites for Saturday's $125,000 added Kentucky Derby was revealed today as 14 three-year-old horses wound up their training with light workouts at Churchill Downs.

The smooth striding bay with bull dog-like tendencies for holding on in face of defeat has been getting special exercises and training routines to make him taller, heavier and longer.

Although winner of more than $305,000 in 1959 and out of the money only once in 18 starts, the son of Ballydam lost five $100,000-plus races by a total distance of less than 1¼ lengths. To say the least that was frustrating to Leonard Fruchman of Toledo, Ohio, who paid a mere $2,500 for the colt, and trainer Jimmy Pitt.

"If his neck and nose had been a little longer he would have taken at least three of those rich races," said Pitt as he watched Bally Ache graze outside Barn 42.

"But this year it has been a different story. He's grown from around 15.3 hands to about 16.1. He's much heavier in the right places. And look at that neck. He can really stretch it."

This year Bally Ache has been out seven times for a record of five victories, two seconds and earnings of $211,800. Not once has he bowed in a rich stake as he chalked up victories in the Flamingo at Hialeah Park and the Florida derby at Gulfstream Park.

The two Florida triumphs plus a romp over Venetian Way in last Saturday's stepping stone at Churchill has established Bally Ache as the second choice at 5-2 to C. V. Whitney's Tompton, 7-5 favorite. And Bally Ache could well go postward as the co-favorite of the crowd of 100,000.

Tompton, although an easy winner of the Santa Anita derby and even more impressive in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland eight days ago, can't match the won-lost and money-earned record of his rival.

Bally Ache and Tompton clashed three times at the close of the 1959 season. In the three races — the Cowdin, Champagne and Garden state stakes — they both bowed to Warfare. But in horse-against-horse rivalry Bally Ache holds a 2-1 edge over Whitney's son of Tom Fool.

Sabbato Hurls Pirate Win

Gary Rogers collected three hits and scored four runs Thursday night as the Pirates whacked the Jets, 10-3, in American Little League action.

Frank Sabbato gave up only two hits and four walks as he struck out 16 Jets in gaining the victory.

Buddy Smith stroked a double for the losers and Donny Baker added a single for the only Jet hit. Bruce Bellamy homered in the fifth for the Pirates.

DALLAS (AP)—Frank Klein and Norman Denny of North Texas State College have signed football contracts with the Dallas Cowboys, the club announced Thursday.

Steerettes, Pampa To Meet For 4A Volleyball Crown

Two defending champions are among 25 girls volleyball teams who will compete in the fifth annual invitational state-wide tournament, which started in Hardin-Simmons University's Rose Field House this morning.

The two-day meet is sponsored by the Texas Volleyball Association, with Hardin-Simmons University as the host. Director of the tournament is Miss Billie Shirley of the H-SU health and physical education department. The meet is open free to the public.

Included in the 25-team field are Imperial, last year's Class B champion, and Big Spring, the Class AAAA title. The tournament is divided into five classifications — Classes B, A, AA, AAA and AAAA — and trophies will be presented to the winners after the 5 p.m. finals Saturday.

Big Spring, boasting a 31-6 win-loss record, plays Pampa in the Class AAAA championship game at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Lamesa was to play New Braunfels in AAA competition at 10:45 a.m. today for the right to appear in the 5 p.m. finals Saturday. Andrews has drawn a bye all the way to the finals in that class.

Cosburn is one of five teams entered in Class A and meets Hale Center at 1:30 p.m. today. Should Mrs. Jean Wynn's team win the opener, it plays in the finals at 4 p.m. Saturday.

The entries by classes include:
Class B — Buffalo, Imperial, Woodson, Rochester and Baird.
Class A — Hale Center, Cosburn, Ozona, Plains and Waller.
Class AA — Caldwell, Duncanville, DeLeon, Quanah, Gilmer, Bowie, Fort Stockton and Tulia.
Class AAA — Stephenville, Sillsbee, Andrews, Lamesa and New Braunfels.
Class AAAA — Big Spring and Pampa.

Brewer Best Bet For Buff Honors

Stanton's Buffaloes, with five qualifiers in the state schoolboy track and field meet in Austin, begin competition today in the race for Class A honors.

Buzzy Brewer will be heaving the discuss as the finals in the field events get under way. Brewer walked off with first place honors in the district and regional meets and his best throws this year have been around the 150 foot mark.

Norman Donelson will be legging the quarter mile for the Martin County crew in addition to his chores on the qualifying Stanton sprint relay squad.

Donelson's best time in the 440 was a 49.9 at the district meet, April 9. He was nosed out of a berth in the 220 yard dash at the regional eliminations.

Donelson's team mates with Thad Koonce, Tommy Newman and Dwayne Thompson to form the Buff sprint relay team.

Brewer is Stanton's best hope for a first place in the carnival.

Weiss Criticizes Kefauver's Bill

NEW YORK (AP)—Most baseball officials took up the cudgels against Senator Estes Kefauver's anti-boarding bill, but the bitterest reaction today came from the usually reticent George Weiss of the New York Yankees.

"This is one more evidence of the Continental League's desire to acquire major league status in the same cheap manner which has characterized all the other moves," the Yankee general manager said.

How to Judge the Value of Your Newspaper

Have you ever judged the value of your newspaper? What it actually means to you and your family? Then, let's pause a second and analyze its true value.

Right from the very first page to the last, your newspaper is packed with all the latest news about your community, your state, your nation and the whole world. Also, there's market and financial news and sports coverage. For mother, there are, features that appeal to her whether it's fashion... social events... homemaking or a dozen other feminine interests. Too, both young and old always find the comics entertaining. In all these and many other fields, you'll find this a complete family newspaper... a newspaper that becomes a family affair the minute it arrives.

Wildkittens Favored In Cinder Show Here

Howard County Junior College, fresh from its convincing victory at the state junior college track and field meet in San Antonio, is the host team for a five-way meet at Memorial Stadium Saturday.

Webb AFB will also be entered in the meet as will Lubbock Christian, New Mexico Military Institute, Odessa and freshmen from Abilene Christian.

Howard County will likely be without the services of versatile Bobby Shirey due to a leg injury which kept the sophomore out of competition at the state juco meet last week.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

When HCJC and five other area schools decided to pull out of the Texas Junior College Conference and organize their own circuit, they agreed to go by National Junior College Athletic Association rules.

That means athletes will be required to pass only ten hours of work per semester. The TJCC stiffened its requirements last year, forcing each athlete to pass 12 hours in order to remain eligible.

R. D. Ross, the Hawks' fine miler from Lamesa, has scored 42 points in meets involving the Hawks this season.

R. D. probably would have broken his own TJCC record last Tuesday in San Antonio, had the track not been slow. As it was, he ran a 4:32.5, which is 3.2 seconds slower than he covered the distance last season when he set the mark.

HCJC athletes own or share six of the 14 TJCC track and field records, by the way.

Tiffen Stone of this year's Hawks set a record in the discus in this year's meet. Tommy Black set a pole vault mark of 13 feet 1 1/2 inches in the 1956 meet that still endures.

Freddie Stuart of the 1957 HC team ran the low hurdles in 23.6 for a mark that still stands. Millard Bennett of the '58 Hawk team negotiated the quarter mile in 49.8 seconds and that record still stands. John Dale Curtis of the 1955 HC team covered the 220 in 21.5 seconds for still another record. His time was equaled two years later by Bruce Land, then of Cisco and now of McMurtry College.

Lubbock Christian College should offer HCJC strong competition in track and field, as well as other sports, in future years. The school is emphasizing all sports and, from all indications, its enrollment will boom.

A California school district the past fall made compulsory the wearing of mouth guards and helmets in all contact sports.

The results would recommend the rule. An estimated 750 school boys just finished a year with a tooth injury or brain concussion.

Big Spring High school championships in the State Track and Field meet have come few and far between.

Bobby Jack Gross, a dedicated weight tosser and Leon Leopard, a half miler, have been the only Steers in modern times to earn gold medals in the show at Austin.

With a little luck, the Longhorn team running in Austin tomorrow could win three first places.

R. L. Lasater is capable of winning first places in the 100 and 220 and of anchoring the local team to victory in the sprint relay.

Quite probably, had Bob Andrews elected to run track rather than play baseball, no team in the state—even Andrews—could have outrun the Steers in the 440-yard relay. Andrews is only a step slower than Lasater.

David Noble, a top member of the Howard Payne College track team, has come up with an idea on how the school can have a cinder track, but the brainstorm, unfortunately, came 41 years too late.

"Cap Shelton began coaching track at HPC 41 years ago," Noble pointed out. "If every member of every track team he has coached had brought home one shoeful of cinders from every meet Howard Payne has entered, we could build two cinder tracks."

VFW Edges Dodger Nine By 7-6 Tab

VFW rallied with two out in the sixth, to push across one run and take a close 7-6 win from the Dodgers Thursday in National Little League play.

The Dodgers had tied the count with three big runs in their half of the fifth but singles by Gregg Pale and Simon Terrazas and an infield error gave the VFW team the winning margin.

Terrazas also collected two other safeties, a double and a single and Pat McMahon clouted a round-tripper for the winners.

Larry Harp banged out three singles and Van Tom Whatley had hits including a homer for the Dodgers.

In minor league action Thursday the Red Sox came from behind in the final stanza to rally for six big runs and topple the Red Sox, 11-8. Gary Johnson was credited with the win and Charles Crowell suffered the setback.

ACC Hurdles Star

Russ Vail, a 5-foot-10 160-pounder from Plains, Kansas, will represent the Abilene Christian College freshmen in Saturday afternoon's six-way track and field meet here. The cinder show is being staged by Howard County Junior College. Vail was Class B champion in the low hurdles on three occasions in his native state.

Longhorns Wind Up Season At 2 P.M. On Saturday

Roy Baird's Big Spring Steers will wind up their 1960 baseball season in a 2 p.m. game with Odessa Permian here Saturday. The two teams will be playing for the exercise, since Permian was eliminated from the title race Tuesday and Big Spring cannot hope to finish out of the conference cellar.

Big Spring has won only one of eight 2-AAAA starts. That was a 2-0 triumph at the expense of Odessa High School, which is still in contention for the championship.

Zay LeFevre, who beat the Bronchos, will be on the mound for Big Spring tomorrow. Permian is apt to counter with Jerry Tyson, who curve-balled the Steers into defeat, 13-4, the last time the two teams met.

Baird is apt to go almost exclusively with boys who will be eligible again here next year.

Jerry Tucker will probably start somewhere, if not behind the plate then in the outfield; Baird was very impressed with Jerry's hustle in the Steers' game against Midland earlier this week.

The Longhorns will carry a 7-1 5 won-lost record onto the field tomorrow.

Some of the Steers haven't worked out much this week due to the start of spring football drills. However, they will be available tomorrow.

Permian now occupies fourth place in the standings and is assured of finishing at least that high. The Panthers are coached by Carl Cook.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Willie Pastrano, who claims he has picked up speed afoot to go with a nice jab and fast hands, aims for revenge tonight in a nationally televised (NBC) 10-round fight with Alonzo Johnson.

Johnson, an aggressive puncher, nipped Pastrano in a unanimous but close decision here last summer but since has fallen from among the top heavyweight contenders.

Pastrano now is a light heavyweight and figures to come in around 177 pounds. The 24-year-old New Orleans fighter has a 52-8-5 record.

Johnson, 25, from Braddock, Pa., is 18-4. He is expected to weigh in around 163 pounds. The fight is slated at 9 (EST).

WACO (AP)—Baylor University Thursday signed Charles Curtis from Pharr-San Juan-Alamo to a football letter of intent.

Cleveland Youngster Felled By Line Drive

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was three years ago Saturday that a line drive ended Herb Score's effectiveness as a pitcher, and almost cost him his sight. Now the Cleveland Indians, denied at least one American League pennant with the loss of Score, await a medical report on a second youngster hit by a line drive while on the mound.

Wynn Hawkins, 24, a right-handed rookie, won his third in a row, 11-6 at Baltimore Thursday night, but had to give way in the seventh inning when a ball hit by Jim Gentile struck his pitching shoulder. The ball hit Hawkins with such force it bounded high into the air to the outfield.

Hawkins didn't appear seriously injured, but was taken to a hospital for precautionary observation. Only one other game was scheduled in the AL and the Chicago White Sox won it, 5-3 at Washington, for a virtual tie with the idle New York Yankees.

Ragan, Whitt Low With 67's

By BOB MYERS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Led by Dave Ragan and Don Whitt, two capable but relatively unknown professionals, the field of 21 select players headed into the second round of the $42,000 Tournament of Champions today.

Ragan, 24, from Orlando, Fla., and Whitt, 29, from Borrego Springs, Calif., whacked five strokes off par 72 Thursday.

As play resumed over the 7,000-yard, par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course, the two were one stroke ahead of Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and veteran Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La.

Arnold Palmer, the ruling Masters champion and pre-tournament favorite here, was at even par 72, along with defending champion Mike Souchak and Eric Monti of Los Angeles.

U. S. Open champion Billy Casper Jr. shot a 73, as did Tom Niepoorte and George Bayer. Gene Littler, who won this rich event three straight years, had a 75, highest of the round.

Four players were tied at 69. They were Art Wall Jr., Ken Venturi, Jack Fleck and Jerry Barber. Three strokes behind the leaders were Julius Boros, Dow Finsterwald, Doug Ford and Bob Rosburg.

Wiffi Smith Hot At Spartanburg

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—The Peach Blossom Golf Tournament, inaugurated seven years ago in honor of Spartanburg golfer Betsy Rawls, could be renamed for Wiffi Smith if the St. Clair, Mich., golfer keeps shooting the way she's become accustomed to here.

Wiffi, seeking her third straight victory here, shot a three under par 69 Thursday for a two stroke first round lead.

Tied for second place at 71 were Beverly Hanson of Apple Valley, Calif.; Mary Smith, Tequesta, Fla.; and Betty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

The 54-hole tournament ends Saturday.

Five Contests In Eight Races

Over half the county and district offices on the ballot in Dawson County are contested and candidates were making final bids for public favor throughout the area today.

Dawson voters will elect eight of these candidates to public posts, five of which are heavily contested. With Republican opposition practically non-existent, success in the Democratic primary Saturday is tantamount to election, except for run-off possibilities.

In the sheriff's race, four candidates are requesting the voter's mark on the ballot. They are Earl Calhoun, Roy Burdett, Roy King and Henry Mayfield.

George Hansard of Dawson County is running unopposed for district attorney.

Two men are vying for the county attorney's office. They are Vernon D. Adcock and Ralph Kinsey.

Leland C. Miller has no opposition in his bid for the tax collector-assessor's office.

There are three in the balloting for the constable's post. They include W. T. Hancock, Bill Hollingsworth and R. T. Hill.

Four hopefuls are asking for the unexpired term of justice of the peace, Precinct 1, Place 1. They are F. A. Klie, J. V. Schaeffer, Arthur Standefer and Houston Glasston.

Alton Addison and Raymond Holley are contesting the Precinct 2, county commissioner's seat. J. E. Airhart is unopposed for the Precinct 1, county commissioner's place.

Mrs. Sattie Parcelle is the lone candidate for the chairmanship of the Dawson County Democratic executive committee. W. T. Webb has no opposition for the precinct committeeman's position.

Wesley Roberts of Dawson County and Bill Sanderson, Gaines County, are making a race of it for the Legislature from the 90th District. Preston Smith, Lubbock County, has no opposition for the State Senate.

Outdoors Cage For Infant Is Called Healthy

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—A one-time New York model who kept a baby in a wire sleeping cage outdoors today defended her notions of health and clean living.

Mrs. Randolph Glover, 48, who wears her hair in a blonde ponytail down her back, said she believed in "fresh air and vegetables and nitrogen from legumes. It happens to be that my ideas are beyond the average person's. Maybe back in the middle ages they'd have called me a witch."

The six-month-old baby was not hers. He was Carl F. Hairfield Jr., child of a couple who came last fall to live as tenants on Mrs. Glover's 120-acre rural spread near here.

Police found the child at 1 a. m. Wednesday while looking for Mrs. Glover's husband on an assault charge. The baby was asleep in a roomy cage-like structure made of heavy woven wire fencing, suspended about five feet above the ground. Mrs. Glover herself habitually slept in a bed in the meadow in front of her house.

Made a ward of Montgomery County Juvenile Court, the baby was examined at a hospital. Doctors said "the child was perfectly normal and very clean. It looks as if he had been well kept."

Mrs. Glover added, "he was all wrapped up and happy." She added "for a policeman to come along and unwrap him was cruel. I'd been looking after him with great success until those policemen came along."

She said she had taken over care of the baby from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Hairfield, shortly after he was born. She said she had put the baby in the outdoor cage to sleep at night through most of the winter, except when it rained or snowed.

The baby will be placed in a foster home pending a hearing on his future.

Sen. Kefauver Defends Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) says the doctor who charged that Senate drug hearings were frightening diabetic patients away from medical care was underestimating the intellect of the average American.

Kefauver, in a letter to Dr. James M. Moss, director of the Georgetown University hospital diabetic clinic here, said: "Speaking frankly, I think you have overstated your views and that they are without merit. He added "I think you as a doctor underestimate the intellect of the average American citizen."

Moss had contended in a letter to Kefauver that some diabetic patients have been so frightened by disputed testimony in the drug hearings that they have abandoned all medication, and may become invalids as a result.

Kefauver, in his letter of reply made public Thursday, contended the drug hearings have produced "vital information."

Juvenile Held For Forgery

A. E. (Shorty) Long, county juvenile officer, has returned a 16-year-old boy to Howard County jail to answer charges of forgery. The boy was arrested in Abilene and Long took custody of him there. Long said the youth wrote at least five forged checks which he cashed in Big Spring. The checks ranged in amounts from $5 to $30.

Long said the boy would be held in the juvenile ward of the county jail until his case can be brought before Juvenile Judge Ed Carpenter.

Old Man Texas Not As Broke As He Seems At First Look

AUSTIN — This is the season when candidates speak leareedly of state finances, and use figures with a lot of zeroes on the end in talking about the state government's money problems.

These general fund deficits are nothing new to Texas. Naturally, candidate Jack Cox of Breckenridge tries to blame the deficit on Gov. Price Daniel.

Now this particular deficit developed this time works out this way: LEGISLATURE BALKED When the Legislature adjourned last August, it had levied enough taxes to pay the state's running costs and to retire the general fund deficit by Aug. 31, 1961, the end of the present fiscal year.

A Devotional For Today

Take therefore no thought for the morrow; for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. (Matthew 6:34.)

PRAYER: O Father, teach us to be calm, trustful Christians, not anxious over something that may happen in the future. Help us to be busy in doing Thy will today. Sustain our faith that we may use every moment as a shining one for Thee by doing good in the Master's name. Amen.

Make Good Use Of Your Voting Right

If the skies are reasonably sunny come Saturday, anywhere from 1,200,000 to a possible 1,600,000 Texas voters will turn out to the polls for the first Democratic Primary.

Texas skies haven't been notably sunny for some weeks now, and in times past rain and mud have seriously interfered with elections. There is less mud to contend with now, thanks to a fine network of statewide and rural roads, improved communications and other factors.

But the increase in the ratio of actual voters to potential voters hasn't noticeably improved in recent decades.

In fact, Texans' voting record is very poor compared to that of many other states.

This is not as it should be, but as it is. Part of this situation is due no doubt to the lopsided nature of Democratic strength in this state, not so pronounced as it once was but still normally overwhelming.

It takes an awfully hot campaign, with three or four vital issues at stake, to bring out the Texas vote in spite of weather and high water. People can think of a dozen reasons why they wish to stay at home on election day, instead of thinking up reasons why they should go to the polls in spite of inconvenience and some small trouble.

Too many people fail to appreciate that voting is not only a right and privilege, but an obligation of citizenship.

After all, as a citizen of Texas, you are a stockholder in a corporation with a budget of $2 billion dollars, and it's your money that's at stake.

You have a direct concern in electing state, district, county and precinct officers who will administer your business affairs for the next two or four years, depending on the length of the term of office your favorite candidate holds.

If you think one man will do a better and more honest and efficient job than his opponent or opponents, you should go to the polls and vote for him. It isn't likely, but your single vote could mean the difference between defeat and victory.

Indifference to the obligation of ballot-casting is nothing to brag about or to be proud of. It marks the careless or perhaps only the lazy voter.

Why not make a special effort to go to the polls and vote on Saturday? After all, it's your verdict that counts—and if your verdict is in favor of absencing yourself from the polls, you fall short of your obligation of citizenship.

Your right of suffrage is a sacred one, and it should be treated as such. It is the essence of that democracy that we Americans love to boast about. Make good use of it.

For The Party, Not President

Many people have raised the question of whether a vote cast in Saturday's Democratic primary binds them to vote Democratic in the presidential election in November.

Legal opinions thus far indicate that such participation does not bind the voter, except as he or she may construe a moral obligation. In the past, many have taken the view—and courts have so held—that presidential electors are not nominees of the primary, hence the party pledge (whatever its status) to support the nominees of the primary is not applicable to the presidential election.

Purpose of the new law is, in brief, to keep Democratic and Republican voters out of each other's primaries, and hence out of precinct, county and state conventions of the other.

A person who considers himself a Republican Saturday may have a change of heart and vote for the Democratic nominee in November, or Democrat Saturday might prefer the GOP nominee for president in the general election. The new law apparently does not concern itself with this eventuality, merely that those offering to participate in the primary Saturday say—by their participation—that they consider themselves Democrats. Thus, only those who have their poll taxes stamped Democrats can take part in Saturday evening's precinct conventions.

David Lawrence Communist Influence In World Riots

WASHINGTON—Is it just a coincidence that mob violence and militant demonstrations are occurring against governments in Korea, Japan and Turkey, which happen to be strategic outposts of the West from a military standpoint?

There is ample testimony from former Communists that mob violence is a form of pro-Communist warfare for which students from all parts of the world are specially trained in Moscow.

The tendency of public officials in the West is to minimize or poo-poo this type of contrived violence and to assume it is entirely spontaneous or that Communist participation is incidental. This Communist infiltration exists and that the demonstrations are merely the result of popular feeling, especially where a government's policies have been restrictive. But this is a superficial view due to the inexperience, if not gullibility, of some diplomats.

by the committee's staff are the following:

"In some Latin American countries, Communist parties controlling an insignificant minority of the total votes cast, have resorted to the policy of manipulating and inciting mobs to accomplish political and diplomatic objectives in the interest of Soviet foreign policy.

"Despite the numerous examples of worldwide Communist imperialism and brutality, there have been few cases of mob violence against Communist embassies or agencies.

"FOR THE MOST PART the Communists operate behind the scenes making use of uninformed and excitable teenagers, students, and illiterates.

"As a rule the Communists wait for a suitable issue to arise on the basis of which they can successfully provoke mob excitement and violence. If the issue does not exist, they create one.

"In large measure the Communists exploit economic difficulties and nationalistic emotions.

"The Communists' standard practice is to employ nonmilitary weapons, easily accessible to the mob, such as stones, poster sticks, clubs, gasoline, kerosene, homemade bombs, etc. These have been supplemented by the looting of guns and ammunition from hardware stores.

"THE TECHNIQUES followed by the Communists parallel those taught in special schools for international Communist agents in the Soviet Union.

"By allying themselves with political groups in power, the Communists have succeeded in minimizing police action and interference against the mobs they have incited.

"Communists make adequate preparations far in advance for their inspired riots, through provocative mass meetings, leaflets, broadcasts, cartoons, newspaper articles, and even assassinations.

"As a rule the Communists and their Moscow mentors have disclaimed all responsibility for mob violence in the face of clear evidence to the contrary.

"Leaders of the Communist parties of Colombia, Venezuela, and Bolivia have been in Moscow where they have received instruction and directives, including the handling of mobs and military techniques.

"THE SUCCESS achieved by the Communists in manipulating mobs for anti-American incitement will encourage them to further efforts of this kind on a larger scale.

"The immediate reaction in official quarters here to the recent riots in Korea was that they were 'spontaneous.' So also has been the trend of comment with respect to riots in Turkey, and only some of the demonstrations in Japan have been openly attributed to Communist agitators. But just as the facts are slowly emerging now to confirm suspicions of Communist infiltration of the Castro government in Cuba, which is persistently hostile to policies of the United States, so with respect to the other countries will it be conceded in due time that Communists had more than an incidental part in what has happened in the past few weeks in Korea and Turkey.

LAST AUGUST IN THE Senate of the United States an special report was issued under the title "Communist anti-American riots—mob violence as an instrument of Red diplomacy." It was prepared as a result of a staff study authorized by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, and was ordered printed at a meeting of the committee. It is singularly prophetic. It said in part:

"The traditions of American diplomacy are predicated upon peaceful negotiation with duly authorized representatives of other nations on the basis of solemn agreements and treaties, in accord with international law and usage. Our international relations do not contemplate and seldom anticipate efforts to force the hand of governments through mob action manipulated by trained Soviet agents. It is with this new and serious feature of the present 'cold war,' which must be faced by the United States, that this study deals."

OKAY TO HELP—BUT WATCH OUT!

James Marlow Nothing New On The Summit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev has poured a dose of cold water on any optimism that the summit meeting in Paris 10 days from now may accomplish something.

But that's what the Western leaders have been doing for weeks anyway. There have been two extraordinary features about the Western preparations for the summit, preparations which began last September:

1. They haven't produced a new idea to hit the Soviets with.
2. They are rooted in a let's stand still and see what happens attitude.

KHRUSHCHEV HAS never given up on the demand he started making in November 1958: That the West get its troops out of West Berlin; and that it sign separate peace treaties with West and Communist East Germany.

The West refuses to do either. And recently Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon made a speech saying the West wouldn't budge. It wasn't new. The Western leaders had already said that much.

But Dillon made it sound, for whatever his reason, very fiery. It wasn't really very fiery for Dillon said 'the West would be glad to settle for just not rocking the boat awhile.

When you put these various Western positions and statements together it's easy to understand—particularly if you're Soviet—why Khrushchev blasted the West in a speech Thursday.

It's almost as if he were saying: "What do you think I am, a patsy?"

HE DID SOMETHING else, too. He laid the groundwork for blam-

NEW YORK (AP)—Mother is queen for a day Sunday.

In a world of dispensable men, she remains the indispensable woman.

The role of motherhood has fascinated the sages and scientists of the ages, and they have had many wise and witty—and sometimes "snide"—things to say about it.

Such as:

"He is bare of news who speaks ill of his mother"—Irish proverb.

"God could not be everywhere, so he made mothers"—Yiddish proverb.

"Despite not thy mother when she is old"—Old Testament.

"Mother knows best"—Edna Ferber.

"The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world"—W. R. Wallace.

"You may deduct $600 for the support of a dependent mother"—U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

"The mother's heart is the child's schoolroom"—Henry Ward Beecher.

"No bones are ever broken by a mother's beating"—Russian proverb.

"A spoiled child never loves its mother"—Henry Taylor.

"It was a great fight, Mr. I'll be right home"—any U.S. boxer.

"The female of one of the emus, as soon as she catches sight of her progeny, becomes violently agitated, and notwithstanding the resistance of the father, appears to use her utmost endeavors to destroy them"—Charles Darwin.

"Get up from your knees, Mother—the crap game's over"—Fred Allen.

"A father is proud of those sons who have merit, and puts the rest lower. But a mother, though she is proud too of the former, cherishes the latter"—Confucius.

"Men are what their mothers make them"—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"The angels singing unto one another, can find among their burning terms of love, none so devotional as that of 'Mother'"—Edgar Allan Poe.

"Youth fades; love droops; the leaves of friendship fall. A mother's secret love outlives them all"—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

To Your Good Health Stroke, Or Apoplexy, Centered In The Brain

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss 'strokes.' What causes them? Do they all come from high blood pressure?"—Mrs. R. G.

A stroke (or apoplexy, which is the same thing) is a shutting down of the fresh blood supply to some portion of the brain.

While the results may be at some remote part of the body—anything from paralysis of a limb to slurred or lost speech—a stroke is centered in the brain. The paralysis elsewhere is merely a sign that the "signals" which tell the muscles how to act.

Three are three main types of strokes:

- 1—A sudden hemorrhage in the brain. That is, a blood vessel breaks. Of the three types, this is the one which high blood pressure is usually the cause. (There are exceptions; there may be a weak point somewhere which breaks down even though pressure is normal. I have in mind the case of a little girl of about 9 who suffered such a stroke. She since has recovered nicely.)
- 2—A second type results from a thrombosis, or plugging of an artery, but without hemorrhage. The artery itself does not rupture. This is more likely to come on slowly, with a gradual loss of function of whatever part of the body is controlled by the particular portion of the brain.
- 3—Or, finally, the third type, rather closely related to the second, comes about because an artery is narrowed so that it restricts the flow of blood, but the artery is not completely plugged.

Hardening of the arteries (rather than high blood pressure) is the main cause of this, although obviously some abnormal condition which results in squeezing an artery at some point can do the same thing. In either event, this may be in the brain, or may be in the arteries of the neck (carotid arteries) since they furnish circulation to the brain.

Such cases more generally bring transient dizziness or faintness, or passing disorders in speech, vision, hearing.

As you can readily see, the second and third types may come about even though the blood pressure is essentially normal.

There can be "little strokes," involving some relatively unimportant part of the brain, usually leaving no aftermath. Or there can be massive strokes snuffing out life at once.

But in between are all degrees of severity. These are the ones we must learn to understand and care for. I do not mean, of course, that we should not seek to avoid or prevent strokes; but for practical purposes today, we should all be familiar with what can be done after a serious stroke has occurred. We'll discuss that tomorrow.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any way to remove dark freckles from the face? They are more like moles but do not stand up from the skin."—N.C.

First find out whether they are freckles or moles. If freckles, there's no way to remove them, although cosmetics can do a pretty good job of concealing them. (Many very attractive women have freckles and don't mind 'em.) If they are moles, and are seriously objectionable, consult a skin specialist or plastic surgeon as to the advisability of removal.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "The Lost Secret Of Reducing." For a copy, write to me in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 5c in coin to cover handling.

Around The Rim Will We Never Learn?

MANY YEARS AGO, The Manchu Dynasty collapsed. Rulers over China for several centuries, the government was hammered down by the insurgent armies of Sun Yat-sen.

This was China's first introduction to democracy. It was also her first brush with international Communist subversion, for the Chinese Communist Party rebelled, seeking to take advantage of the confused state of the country before the new regime could bring order.

It was a formula that had worked in the Russian Revolution.

Dr. Sun called on the Western democracies for help, and he was refused. He had no choice but to compromise. He called in Soviet advisors to help build his new army and new nation, and he made peace with the Chinese Reds, erecting a united front regime.

The Reds, in their turn, took over the Kowmintang's military school—the equivalent of our West Point—and started turning out pinko officers. They trained such men as Chou En-lai, now premier of Communist China, and Gen. Lin Biao, the Chinese commander who gave us so much trouble in Korea.

REPUBLICAN SPAIN was ruled by a coalition government in which the Communists were a minority. In the elections of 1936, the Communists (and the Fascists) lost even more ground, and the Fascists revolted. The rebels got help from Mussolini and Hitler. Republican Spain turned to the Western democracies for help, and we replied with an arms embargo.

Soviet Russia sent arms and troops; but they were only token forces. Mexico, because of the resemblance of the Spanish government to its own, sent troops. But it wasn't enough.

Now, a Fascist government still rules in Spain, and the surviving political opposition is thoroughly riddled with Communist influence.

IN THE YEAR 1917, Imperial Russia fell, and a coalition government under Kerensky took over. But we were still fighting the Germans, and the Western democracies insisted that a mortally wounded Russia stay in the war. The Communists seized this opportunity to take over a prostrate Russia. Kerensky pleaded for help, and we sent only token forces.

It was Communist Russia, not democratic Russia, that we later saved from starvation. Today, our very existence is under some doubt.

A few years ago, we had the opportunity to help (and greatly influence) the Cuban revolution, but it turned out we didn't even know what was going on. Now, we have Castro to deal with.

WE DID NOT HESITATE to take Cuba from Spain, nor to keep our promise of freedom for the Philippines. Neither did we hesitate to help overthrow a Communist regime in Guatemala, although we seem reluctant to undermine Fascist-type governments.

Have we forgotten that we were born in revolution? And what's to keep us from doing something about Castro? Already, there are anti-Communist and anti-Fascist rebels in the hills, mostly former followers of Castro. People we could help.

—BOB SMITH

Inez Robb A Little Home For Honeymooners

LONDON.—It ain't Buckingham Palace, where she was reared. And it ain't Clarence House, where she has lived as a young woman.

But it is FREE and even a Princess would be proud to call it home. And home it will be, rent free, this 10-room "house" with six servants' rooms in Kensington Palace to which Princess Margaret Jones and her Tony will return when their leisurely Caribbean honeymoon in the royal yacht "Britannia" is ended.

Ever so many vocal persons (Golly! Who ever called the British "strong and silent?") feel this "grace and favor" house, given the young couple by Her Majesty, is too small for a royal residence. But in most honeymoons, it would be heaven, and I hope it will be for Princess Margaret and her bridegroom.

and a beautiful crystal chandelier. The second floor contains three bedrooms and baths. The top floor is divided into six rooms for servants, as if any one, even royalty, could lasso six servants in London today!

Kensington Palace, and its gardens are ravishing at the moment, is sometimes called "the world's most select village." Its inhabitants at the moment include the Princess's aunt, the Duchess of Kent and her daughter, Princess Alexandra, whose "grace and favor" residence has 20 rooms. It is three times the size of Margaret's future home. Another relative, Princess Alice, the Countess of Athlone, also has an apartment in the palace. If ever the bride needs to borrow a recipe or a cup of sugar, she can keep it in the family.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, what is a "grace and favor" residence? Well, the British sovereign owns about 100 such apartments and houses of varying sizes in Hampton Court, Kensington Palace, St. James's Palace and elsewhere. These the sovereign can graciously bestow rent free upon relatives or, very often, upon men and women who have given distinguished service to the crown.

The apartments and houses that comprise sprawling Kensington Palace, set in beautiful gardens in the heart of fashionable London, are much more desirable, for instance, than the drafty splendors of Hampton Court, on the outskirts of the city.

NOT ONLY IS THE young couple getting a chic residence rent free, but they do not have to worry about getting up the scratch to furnish it. It is no secret that the wise bride let it be known that wedding gifts of Georgian silver would be welcome, as well as mahogany furniture of Regency and Chippendale design.

Silver has poured in in such quantities that recently Princess Margaret asked some municipality to swap its generous gift of Georgian tableware for a set of dining-room furniture. So that took care of that.

PRINCESS MARGARET and Armstrong-Jones will live in the three-story, 18th Century house that was vacated only weeks ago by the death of Lord Carisbrooke, a grandson of Queen Victoria.

In truth, the house consists of a basement kitchen, and, on the first floor, a tiny dining room and a large drawing room, with a handsome marble mantel

IN ADDITION, she has received so much other fine furniture, as well as raids upon the royal storehouses at Buckingham and Clarence House, that her home will be a dream of period furniture.

The only problem now, as after the wedding of her sister, Queen Elizabeth, is where to find storage space for all the articles she cannot use, such as the crocheted pillowcases, tea cozies and egg beaters from her admirers in every corner of the empire.

J. A. Livingston How To Go About Buying A Bank

Mrs. Esther Jackson Krewson, assistant vice president of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co. of Philadelphia, had all but put down place cards. As director of advertising and public relations, a unique job for a woman, she wanted everything to go just so.

Newspapermen had been invited to lunch to hear "an important policy announcement."

The crucial day arrived. An attendant ushered newspapermen into a small dining room in the bank. A secretary took their names. But no Mrs. Krewson, no William F. Kelly, president of the bank, no William B. Walker, executive vice president, William L. Day, chairman, greeted newspapermen like a bridegroom left brideless at the church.

NERVOUS CHIT-CHAT. One newspaperman had figured out. The bank would make an announcement on lending policy to small borrowers.

Mrs. Krewson popped in once, then popped away. Shortly, Day said, "Let's eat."

Kelly and Walker arrived — flushed, tense, but gaining composure. Kelly, hardly touching his food, explained that the First Pennsylvania had embarked on what for it, was an epoch-making departure: It was buying the Virgin Islands National Bank. A newspaperman ran for a telephone.

THIS WAS THE BANK'S first overseas venture, Kelly explained.

At that point Leif H. Olson, vice president of M. A. Schapiro & Co., New York bank stock firm, entered, looking preuder than the canary who'd swallowed a cat. He was offered lunch. "No, I've already eaten," he said.

Olson had come to Philadelphia for the luncheon. But when word from the Virgin Islands didn't come, it was decided he'd better vanish. A newspaperman might recognize him. Since the Schapiro firm specialized in bank mergers, his appearance would generate speculation.

The story unfolded. In 1959 New York's Chase Manhattan Bank had purchased the other Virgin Islands commercial bank, West Indies Bank & Trust Co.—This worried D. Victor Borna, president of the Virgin Islands National. Would the competition be too much for his bank?

HE CONFIDED to Schapiro, who asked: Would you consider selling out to a mainland bank? Borna said yes. Schapiro phoned Day on March 25. Numerous telephone calls followed. On April 12, Kelly was in the Virgin Islands talking to Borna. On April 19, Borna and his counsel met Walker in Washington. Then Borna came to Philadelphia. Thirty-three days elapsed between the first call and the signing.

Meanwhile, Schapiro had to buy up 31,000 shares of First Pennsylvania stock to be exchanged for 5,000 shares of Virgin Islands National. Although this represented only 1.3 per cent of the First Penn's 2,369,850 shares, stock was scarce. Schapiro bought some stock from other dealers at around $48 a share, moving the price less than a point.

THE FIRST PENNSYLVANIA will pay Schapiro for the stock he purchased—about $1,500,000—plus an underwriting commission of 5 per cent.

Schapiro also was the intermediary in the Chase Manhattan purchase in the Virgin Islands. He didn't have to go into the open market for the 22,300 shares of Chase that were needed. He had the stock in inventory.

Oh, yes. The signing had gone off as planned. But when Alfred C. Graff, First Pennsylvania senior vice president, and Harry Spregel, counsel to the bank, tried to call in their okay to Kelly from the Virgin Islands, the circuits to Philadelphia were busy. Kelly stewed. Mrs. Krewson... That's the kind of thing that turns hostess' hair gray.

Joke Comes True

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP)—A set of phony orders, drafted as a gag, convinced a Navy man assigned to the Military Air Transport Service that he was being reassigned to Antarctica.

Before he learned it was a joke, Chief Journalist Leo G. Loftus spent a week assembling cold weather gear.

His real orders arrived—assigning him to the Navy's Antarctic task force.

Style-Right Fashions Are Designed For Tiny Tots

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Nobody is better-dressed than today's babies.

The top brains of the scientific and designing worlds have concentrated on producing clothes combining all the best elements of fashion, comfort and functionalism for his nubs, the baby.

Grown-ups may suffer in too-tight girdles, dresses that pull and bind, coats too heavy or light for the season, shoulder straps that cut and collars that choke. Not so the youngest set.

Every garment that goes into a modern baby's wardrobe has been given more tests than a college graduate.

To make the grade it must allow the baby freedom of movement; must be soft and comfortable next to his tender skin; must be germ-free, completely washable, innocent of any harmful dyes, easy to put on and take off; designed for a specific purpose—and of course it must also have fashion.

This is a large order, but the baby wear manufacturers are rising handsomely to the occasion.

The heavy, cumbersome baby clothes of a generation ago are no more. Gone are the scratchy starched dresses with their ruffles and lace, which took Mom hours to launder. Gone are the too-fussy coats and bonnets.

Instead are soft, little cotton-and-dacron or plain cotton-knit garments that cannot irritate a baby's skin; that can be tossed in the washing machine and worn without ironing, that give a baby freedom to kick and crawl and make life easy for his mother.

For dress-up occasions there are gay little sets of shirt and plastic-lined pants in no-iron cotton, with colorful appliques or embroidery, with appropriate legends for boys or girls.

Baby has a soft life today—and so does Mom.

New Look For Sailors

Crib set for the junior sailing gentry in blue no-iron cotton, designed by Nannette. Shirt has brass buttons and epaulets, plastic-lined pants are embroidered "Rear Admiral." For baby sister, there's a similar set with embroidered "Chief Petty Officer."

Fashion Leaders

These one-year-olds are dressed in the newest baby fashions, designed for a carefree life for both babies and mothers. Little sister has her first walking dress in soft pink cotton-dacron knit, with a bit of embroidery trim. Brother is wearing a two-piece terry-knit suit with checked edging and fish motif. Both designed by Carter, all dunkable in automatic washers and dryers.

Mrs. L. C. Gibbs Marks 70th Birthday

May 8 will serve a double purpose for celebrating for Mrs. L. C. Gibbs. Not only will this be Mother's Day but it is also the anniversary of her 70th birthday.

Another good reason for celebrating is that on this day three years ago she became the great-grandmother of little Rodney Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sanderson, 1203 College.

An early celebration was held Thursday evening when a daughter, Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, and Mr. Sanderson entertained at their home, 819 W. 7th, with a birthday anniversary dinner. Mrs. Gibbs' children and grandchildren were guests.

Local members of the family are Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Heflin, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gibbs Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Ponder. A son lives in Mesquite and two other daughters live in Dallas and Grant, N. M. Twin grandsons, Pete and Gerald Sanderson, and their families were present as were the J. O. Sandersons.

Delphians Have Last Meeting, Installation

LAMESA — Lamesa Delphian Club had for the theme of its final meeting of the 1959-60 club year, "Leadership Commencement." Club members enjoyed a covered-dish dinner at 7 p.m., preceding an officer installation. Mrs. B. B. Taylor assumed the duties of president. Other officers installed were Mrs. J. D. Hines, vice president; Mrs. O. I. Nance, second vice president; Irma Sprawls, recording secretary; Mrs. Edwin Olson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sam Richardson, treasurer.

Mrs. M. C. Lindsey installed the new officers in a unique manner, using a commercial product to depict the duties of each officer. During an informal hour Mrs. J. P. White led games, and Mrs. Ed Lauderdale led group singing.

A Japanese atmosphere permeated the clubhouse where lanterns and parasols hung from the ceiling. The serving table was enhanced with a white linen cloth and silver appointed; its featured arrangement was a miniature tree of multi-colored umbrellas flanked by lotus blossoms and a Japanese figurine. On the mantle an antique fan display was mounted in flowers and the Japanese ricksha on the coffee table was filled with blossoms. Opened umbrellas on the stage carried out the theme for the evening.

OWC Hears Book Review At Luncheon

"Travel" formed the theme of decorations at the Officers Wives Club luncheon Thursday. The theme was related to the book review given by Mrs. Clyde Angel, "Mrs. Arris Goes to New York," written by Paul Gallico.

Centerpiece on the head table was a red toy car pulling a trailer that held an arrangement of carnations, irises, and daisies. The other tables were decorated with a miniature highway, toy cars, and tiny traffic signs.

Another guest on the program was Mrs. J. R. Hensley who sang "It Is Morning" and "White Rose." Mrs. Robert Heinze was accompanist.

The luncheon was sponsored by the 31st FIS with Mrs. Karuban Carnahan as chairman.

Winner of the centerpiece was Mrs. Sherrod Osbourne, who was awarded the prize for having the most children. Mrs. Osbourne is the mother of six.

Monologue Entertains

"Definition of a Nice Customer" entertained members of the Credit Club at their luncheon in Coler's Restaurant Thursday.

The monologue, written by Mrs. J. B. Apple, was a satire on rudeness to customers.

Pauline Sullivan presided at the meeting which heard reports of a successful credit week.

The capsule fund was won by Dorothy Reagan. Sixteen attended.

Elbow HD Study New Techniques

Techniques of gathering and arranging cut flowers were studied by members of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Earl Bell was in charge of the program.

The hostess, Mrs. Jack McKinnon, brought a devotion based on 2 Tim. 2:15. The council report was given by Mrs. Russell Christensen.

Twelve members answered roll call with the name of a book they recently enjoyed.

On May 19 the club will meet with Mrs. Glen Earhart, 310 Mesquite, for a crafts demonstration of molding plaster figurines.

Troop 317 Makes Mother's Day Cards

Mother's Day cards were made by Brownies of Troop 317 Thursday afternoon when they met at the Girl Scout Little House.

The girls practiced fly-up ceremonies. The event will be held at 7:15 p.m. May 20 on the patio of Mrs. Cleo Thomas' home, Old San Angelo Hwy. Parents will be the special guests.

Mrs. M. O. Oppegar assisted her daughter, Jane, with the refreshments.

Leader of the group is Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales.

Class Has Mother's Day Luncheon Meet

Susannah Wesley Class of the First Methodist Church held its Mother's Day luncheon Thursday in the fellowship hall.

Each class member brought a guest, and attendance totaled 47 present.

Mrs. Lina Flewelling brought the devotional—thought, "While—Dr. Jordan Grooms talked briefly on the significance of Mother's Day.

Hosting groups were led by Mrs. Logan Baker and Mrs. R. L. Warren.

Mrs. Roy McMullen Is ESA President

New officers were elected at the Thursday evening meeting of Alpha Chi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha. Mrs. Roy McMullen will succeed Bo Bowen as president.

To serve with Mrs. McMullen are Mrs. Robert Hamilton, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Utley, treasurer; and Mrs. Tommy Hammond, corresponding secretary.

Plans were completed for the pledge service to be held at 7:30 p.m. May 14 in the home of Mrs. Bill Davis, 1506 Bell. The ceremony will be followed with a dance at the Webb AFB pavilion. Records and dominos will be purchased by the group, it was decided, for the Westside Recreation Center.

Mrs. Charles Carter was accepted as a transfer from Fort Worth. On May 26 the sorority will meet with Mrs. Robert Hamilton at 1810 Goliad.

Mrs. Tolford Durham hosted the meeting in her home. Barbara Ann Eye was cohostess.

Make A Toy For Baby

One of the brightest ideas on the home sewing front is a giant Humpty Dumpty doll, which may double as a pillow or a punching bag for small fry.

With the rising cost of toys, wise mothers and grandmas will be delighted to know that a leading pattern company has put out a standard pattern for making this impressive and whimsical toy, which should lend tone to any nursery.

Local sewing center experts suggest selecting a sturdy fabric such as corduroy, denim or felt for Humpty Dumpty, and stuffing him with shredded foam rubber or kapok.

The pattern envelope contains two sizes: a foot high and 31 inches around, or 20 inches high and 49 inches around. Directions are easy to follow, even for an amateur seamstress.

Humpty Dumpty's face may be embroidered on your sewing machine. Yellow yarn hair makes an amusing toy; and a red yarn pom-pom makes a pullable nose. A ribbon bow tie on his collar adds the finishing touch.

Sports Set

Meal for active sports is this neat play suit that requires little fabric. Add the front-buttoning skirt for street wear.

No. 1472 with PHOTO-GUIDE is in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Bust 31 to 40. Size 12, 32 bust, playsuit, 2 1/2 yards of 35-inch; skirt, 3 1/4 yards.

Church Apparel Is Minister's Concern

By TOM HENSHAW, Associated Press Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How well do people dress for church? Do they still wear their "Sunday best" to worship? How do clergymen feel about confronting congregations in sports clothes?

The American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear recently polled some 200 priests, ministers and rabbis in the New York area and found that three out of four have few if any complaints about church dress.

In fact, a number of clergymen expressed regret that people are overly conscious of their church-going clothing. Said the Rev. George D. Younger and Rosenwald C. Robertson of Mariners' Temple Baptist Church:

"We feel strongly that the concept of 'Sunday best' is a travesty on the Christian gospel. God beholds not the externals but the hearts."

"People should feel that they must be neat and clean when they come to church," said the Rev. Bradford W. Ketchum of St. John's Episcopal Church, Pleasantville, "but they should not be clothes-conscious."

The chief complaints stemmed from the dress-or-lack-of-it during the summer season now approaching. Chief offenders: Women.

"Warm weather is no excuse for coming to church improperly clothed," said Msgr. Francis Cagnina of the Church of St. Clare in the Bronx.

"Sleeveless and backless dresses are never to be worn in church. Nor should anyone attend mass in shorts. This is a matter of respect to God and to parishioners. We urge the ladies to come to church properly clothed and with reverence and modesty."

Women who dress improperly, added a Manhattan rabbi, should be educated to know "that they should wear long-sleeved dresses to religious services and hats, that décolleté dresses are in bad taste."

With men, he said, "ties and jackets should be worn even in warm weather."

"Although God looks at the heart," said the Rev. John A. Gibbs of Alliance Church, Mount Vernon, "it is a sign of reverence and respect to dress properly when attending public worship."

"A wrong idea of God can affect our manners at worship. One church encouraged people to 'come as you are' during the summer months. Dress for the beach or golf course became dress for church."

"This creates a familiarity which takes lightly sacred things. Again a wrong idea of God and of true worship does lead to this lowering of standards."

The clergymen also offered some guidelines for church dress:

"A person who has an audience with a president, a governor or some other great person takes care to look his best," said the Rev. Wesley D. Osborne of Searing Memorial Methodist Church, Albertson, L.I.

"When we are entering into the presence of the Most High, we should make our best appearance."

PRAYER POWER

Protection Afforded Midst Hail Storm

On Thursday night, April 28, 1960, Professor and Mrs. Foster Harris decided to drive a visiting friend back to her home in Oklahoma City. Hail warnings were out, but there was no severe weather alert. Jill Harris was troubled, however.

In spite of the clouds, she decided to chance the twenty mile drive, but before she was in the outskirts of Oklahoma City, she knew their coming had been a mistake. Clouds were heavy, dark and ugly. Lightning forked across the sky. The wind whipped the trees and large hail stones began to spatter the car.

Anxiously she sought a service station with a roof that offered some protection from the large hail stones beginning to fall. Finding one at last, she drove under its awning as a tornado swooped down upon the city.

Inwardly praying, thanking God for his care, she watched the plate glass windows of the service station as they snapped like match sticks. Neon lights twisted off and flew down the street. The car in which the Harris' sat bounced up and down like a rubber ball. The broken glass flying about them hitting the closed car windows. If the car windows broke, the flying glass made death seem certain. Only God could keep them protected in such a storm.

As suddenly as it started, it was over. Around them houses were flattened to the ground; streets were filled with broken glass and debris. Slowly, Jill got out and examined her car. Was it hurt? Only one tail light had been broken by the pounding glass!

"A thousand shall fall at thy side and ten thousands at thy right hand, but it shall not come nigh thee!" Psal. 91:7.

Persecution Brings Christianity's Light

Missionaries left the island of Madagascar in 1836 and in July 1857 the native African queen decided that the Christians on the island should be destroyed. She ordered the soldiers to seek them out, bring them in for punishment which would be captivity or death.

Accordingly the Christians were brought in. Some were chained around the ankles and neck, some were stoned and many were put in prison. Any native helping a Christian to escape who was caught was also punished.

One Christian was found in a grass hut quietly going about his business. A soldier entered and commanded him to come with him to the queen. The native straightened up, looked the soldier in the eye, and objected.

"What is my crime?" he asked calmly. "I am not a traitor. I am not a murderer. I have wronged no one."

"It is not for any of these things I take you," the officer blocked the single doorway. "I take you for praying."

"Praying," the native repeated. The thought of that filled him with the remembrance of his love for God; he laid down his work. "If that is what I am charged with, it is true. I do not refuse to go with you."

"For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it." Luke 11:24.

It was not long after the queen of Madagascar imprisoned the Christians that she became sick and in spite of all her seeking of aid, died. Her son, Radama II, succeeded to the throne.

Immediately a widow whose husband had been stoned during the capture of the Christians under the queen's command, came to the king and laid her case before him. Not only had her husband been killed, but the small plot of land upon which she and her husband made their living had been seized by a powerful chief. She spoke pleadingly, revealing the ache in her heart.

"Is this true?" demanded the new king.

His ministers laid before him the facts. He listened gravely, then turned to the widow.

Govt. Owned Island Churches

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under a 1917 treaty, the U.S. government was given title to all Danish crown property in the West Indies, including three churches. But the government wasn't aware it owned them until the United Lutheran Church recently petitioned Congress to relinquish title.

Divine Therapy

NEW YORK (AP)—Noted theologian Dr. Paul J. Tillich told a meeting of the Academy of Religion and Mental Health that psychotherapy has helped bring back to Christianity "the doctrine of the Divine acceptance of man."

"The therapist begins with his acceptance of the patient, which then helps the patient to accept himself. Divine acceptance of the person who has been unable to accept himself is the core of pastoral counselling."

Job Of Presentation

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—The Rev. Philip A. Johnson, head of the National Lutheran Council's public relations division, says the case for Protestantism is being "badly presented."

"Feeling secure in its traditional strength, Protestantism has neglected to come to realistic terms with the amazing development of the techniques of mass communications"—press, radio, movies and television.

"What is my crime?" he asked calmly. "I am not a traitor. I am not a murderer. I have wronged no one."

"It is not for any of these things I take you," the officer blocked the single doorway. "I take you for praying."

"Praying," the native repeated. The thought of that filled him with the remembrance of his love for God; he laid down his work. "If that is what I am charged with, it is true. I do not refuse to go with you."

"For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it." Luke 11:24.

It was not long after the queen of Madagascar imprisoned the Christians that she became sick and in spite of all her seeking of aid, died. Her son, Radama II, succeeded to the throne.

Immediately a widow whose husband had been stoned during the capture of the Christians under the queen's command, came to the king and laid her case before him. Not only had her husband been killed, but the small plot of land upon which she and her husband made their living had been seized by a powerful chief. She spoke pleadingly, revealing the ache in her heart.

"Is this true?" demanded the new king.

His ministers laid before him the facts. He listened gravely, then turned to the widow.

"I hereby order that your land,

Persecution Brings Christianity's Light

Missionaries left the island of Madagascar in 1836 and in July 1857 the native African queen decided that the Christians on the island should be destroyed. She ordered the soldiers to seek them out, bring them in for punishment which would be captivity or death.

Accordingly the Christians were brought in. Some were chained around the ankles and neck, some were stoned and many were put in prison. Any native helping a Christian to escape who was caught was also punished.

One Christian was found in a grass hut quietly going about his business. A soldier entered and commanded him to come with him to the queen. The native straightened up, looked the soldier in the eye, and objected.

"What is my crime?" he asked calmly. "I am not a traitor. I am not a murderer. I have wronged no one."

"It is not for any of these things I take you," the officer blocked the single doorway. "I take you for praying."

"Praying," the native repeated. The thought of that filled him with the remembrance of his love for God; he laid down his work. "If that is what I am charged with, it is true. I do not refuse to go with you."

The Peacemakers

A TRUE DISCIPLE OF CHRIST DOES ALL WITHIN HIS POWER TO AVOID QUARRELS, NOT ONLY TO MAINTAIN PEACE, BUT TO CREATE PEACE WHERE QUARRELS HAS PREVAILED.

Scripture—Matthew 5:9, 21-26, 38-48; Mark 10:35-45.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

PEACEMAKERS; how badly we need more of them in our discordant world. Christ blessed such, saying that "they shall be called the children of God."

—Matthew 5:9.

"Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment; But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment; and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council; but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.—Matthew 5:21-22.

The dictionary says that Raca meant "worthless; a term of great contempt among the ancient Jews." I well remember when I was a child hearing my two brothers quarrel; I makeh His sun to rise on the eye and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust. For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye?—Matthew 5:43-45.

Very briefly we can mention the brothers James and John who asked the Lord if when they died they might sit one on His right hand and one on His left in glory. Jesus rebuked this selfish request, saying: "Ye know not what ye ask." They told Him that they were willing to suffer as He was to do but He said, "To sit on My right hand and on My left hand is not mine to give; but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared." — Mark 10:40.

When the other disciples heard what the two had requested, they became displeased with them. Serving others, not serving self, was what Jesus demanded of His followers, all of us.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I Samuel	2	1-11
Monday	Ephesians	5	1-2
Tuesday	II Corinthians	12	9-10
Wednesday	Psalms	39	1-7
Thursday	Psalms	31	1-3
Friday	Psalms	46	1-11
Saturday	Psalms	48	9-14

A Mother's Prayer

Dear God... help me to live up to the faith I see in my child's eyes. Help me to be the person she thinks I am. I am so very human... yet to her I am wise as a sage. I am so very frail... yet to her I am a tower of strength.

I can bind her cuts and bruises... I can soothe her small hurts, both physical and mental... I can give her love... I can protect and cherish her. Yet I can never be half of all I must be, without You to guide me.

Help me... and watch over her. In Your Church, teach her the things that are beyond my power... so that she will one day be a better woman than I; and in her turn, a better mother.

SHOW CASE

Lucky Man!

Diving comedian Eddie Rose, featured in Sam Snyder's Water Folies 1960, is surrounded by members of the "Aquabiles"—the water ballet which accompanies the show. The Water Folies, scheduled May 18-23 at the Ector County Coliseum, Odessa, is presented in the world's largest portable swimming and diving pools.

Firestone Scion Is Ruled A Suicide

HAVANA (AP) — Harvey S. Firestone III, crippled scion of the wealthy rubber family, crawled to the balcony of his 20th floor hotel suite Thursday night and plunged to his death.

Cuban authorities ruled him a suicide. He left no note in his room.

Harvey, who had powerful arms and shoulders, apparently crawled to the balcony of the room, pulled himself up on top of a chair and plunged over the 3 1/2-foot-high aluminum grill barrier around the balcony. Death was instantaneous.

Police said David Firestone told them his cousin two months ago in Florida had tried to jump from a speeding car.

The dead man was the grandson of the founder of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and the only son of Harvey S. Firestone Jr., now head of the firm.

The father is in Paris to lay the cornerstone for a new tire plant.

The son, although crippled from birth and unable to write, was a brilliant student. He graduated magna cum laude from the University of Miami, Fla., and finished third in his class at Stetson University Law School in 1959, only two places behind his tutor, Everett E. Cushman of Gulfport, Fla. He and Cushman had been making plans to enter law practice together.

Firestone is survived by his wife, the former Beverly Lou McFarlan of Brecksville, Ohio, whom he married in 1956, and a 19-month-old daughter, Diane Elizabeth.

Other survivors besides his parents include three sisters, Mrs. William C. Ford of Detroit, wife of the vice president of the Ford Motor Co., and Mrs. Charles S. Willis Jr. and Mrs. John F. Ball, both of New York City.

Cuban authorities said an autopsy would be held as required by law before Firestone's body is released to the family either late today or Saturday.

David Firestone told newsmen the body then probably will be shipped to the family home in Akron, Ohio.

Zoo Tiger 12 Years Old

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) Shasta the liger, the most famous animal at the Hogle Zoo here is 12 years old today.

Shasta is the daughter of an African lion and a Bengal tigress—hence the name, "liger." She is one of the few living hybrids of those two species.

Shasta has the 300-pound body of a lioness and the faint, partial markings of the tiger.

Since she was born May 6, 1948, about two million visitors have seen her.

"All the tourists want to look at her," says the zoo director, Gerald Debery.

Shasta never has been sick and eats the same diet fed to the other big cats at the zoo.

TV Semantics Are Fascinating To Follow

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's as hard to keep up with the rapidly changing use of words in television as it is to follow the meandering meanings of teen-age talk. However, there are some semantic developments on which the viewer should be briefed.

Herewith a few:

"Fresh, New Talent": The producer's budget is running low and he can't afford stars, so he must settle for inexpensive unknowns.

"An Original Comedy": "Wagontrain" turned it down, so they decided to move the locale to Madison Avenue and play it for laughs.

"An Original Tragedy": Ann Sothern, turned down this sparkling comedy, so it was rewritten into a soul-searching drama about a neurotic divorcee for Geraldine Page.

"Leading Middleweight Contender": Who?

"Creative Programming": Let's rerun some of those early Martin Kane shows—no one's seen them since 1950.

"Repeated By Popular Demand": The sponsor won't spend another cent.

Variety Show: New faces, old jokes.

Situation Comedy: Old faces, old jokes.

There will be more, of course, and we'll try to keep the lexicon up to date for you.

Post-midnight viewers of Wednesday night's Jack Paar show heard some of the most uninhibited anecdote yet. Marie Wilson's tasteless and pointless story, by comparison, made Alexander King's tall tales sound like the prattle of a choir boy and Paar's own unfortunate "W. C." story, something out of a Girl Scout manual.

An NBC spokesman, however, said that the Paar show is "reviewed" each evening by a member of its Continuity Acceptance (censorship) department.

"The story was one of three items considered for editing," said the executive; "and NBC decided that in view of the adult nature of the program it could remain."

Since the W.C. furore raised in February, the show has been edited a couple of times—each time because of something a guest, not Paar, said or did. Once it was cut during Paar's visit in London when Arlene Francis was presiding over the program.

Chessman 'Fans' Attack Americans

COATZACOALOS, Mex. (AP)—Two unidentified North Americans were attacked on a downtown plaza Thursday by two drunks who said they were "seeking justice for the execution of Cary Chessman."

Several witnesses came to the aid of the Americans, who were only slightly injured.

Because I believe that all men are created equal, I, M. L. Kirby, would like to be the next Sheriff of Howard County. The duties of sheriff are defined by law, so the office requires, first an able and experienced administrator, and second, a man who can enlist the qualified and dedicated staff to carry out the many details.

M. L. Kirby will bring dignity of office, devotion to duty and pride of service to the sheriff's office. I am asking that you accept this statement as my personal request for your vote and support Saturday.

FASHION FINDS FROM FISHER'S

LOUISIANA... STOCK GIRL AND VICE PRESIDENT in charge of unpacking all things pretty... invited me to join in the fun of unfolding the tissues on a treasure of new costume jewelry.

JEEPERS... YOU'RE SO RIGHT. IT WAS LIKE inviting ants to a private picnic! Pastel pearls in every hue keynote the new arrivals with three-row necklaces... matching bracelets and cluster ear clips. We tagged each at $3.30 and they're already on display for Mother's Day gift buying. Gypsy bangle ear-bobs in gold also came in and they're made with multiple circlets holding miniature coins and charms. They're priced at $3.30, also.

BEST BUY FOR MOTHER'S DAY... OR ANY DAY IS Fisher's solid brass gift items slashed to half-price (while they last). Heavy, solid brass candlesticks... have been marked down to half-price. Solid brass cigarette boxes (lacquered to retain the glaze) are re-priced from $4.95 to only $2.

WHETHER YOUR SHOPPING LIST IS HEADED WITH MOTHER'S DAY... or graduation, you'll find excellent gifts... all on sale. And while you're in Fisher's, see the Spring and Summer collection of hats... wearing one-half price tags, too.

PERSONAL ACCESSORY ITEMS ARE WONDERFUL GIFT suggestions, and this week you can get them at budget prices, too. Included are flower-sprinkled, plastic containers for facial tissue, lotions, and powder... plus spun glass apothecary jars of sweet-scented bath powder and bubble bath... all bearing Fisher's exclusive cosmetic seal.

KAYSER'S WISER... TO MILADY'S LIKING FOR FINE things at moderate prices... so they're saluting Summer with lush... crushed-cuff gloves at only $2.95. Easy to care for and so pretty with every ensemble, they're available in mint green, petal pink, black, three shades of blue, yellow toast and persimmon.

LEADING THE LINES OF PRETTY LINGERIE for Mother's Day is a-precious peignoir in filmy nylon tricot. Full push up sleeves add interest to the fullness of a beautiful sleep coat.

GIRL GRADS AT BIG SPRING HIGH SCHOOL ARE selecting their special frocks at the Casual Shoppe, and dotted Swiss is the favorite for Summer. See the size 7 featuring horizontal tucks on cap sleeves and full skirt, and choose it in either snow white or lime at $17.95.
