Russians See Need For Better Defense

Incident Worries Citizens

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, today called Francis G. Powers' jet flight over Soviet territory further proof of the necessity for the highest Soviet vigilance against attack.

Though officials gloated over the shooting down of the American spy plane, some citizens seemed disturbed that it managed to get so deep into Soviet territory.

Pravda denounced the U.S. State Department's explanation as impudent and cynical and denied that other "nations engaged in aerial espionage."

"It is certainly no secret that, given the state of the world today, intelligence collection activities are practiced by all countries, and postwar history certainly reveals that the Soviet Union has not been lagging behind in this field," the U.S. statement said.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev announced that the plane, before it was rocketed down, reached Sverdlovsk, some 1,400 miles northwest of the Pakistani border. The average Soviet reacted like Americans world-at-arms a Soviet plane had been intercepted over Kansas.

'Proof Of Spying'

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev holds up what he says is a map made by Francis G. Powers, pilot of the jet plane shot down over Russia. Khrushchev displayed the map during his speech before the Supreme Soviet in Moscow as he told his listeners that Powers had admitted that he had been spying.

OTHER PLANES?

Anger and uneasiness were heightened by the suspicion that other American high-level planes had penetrated Soviet air space without being intercepted.

In an attempt to reassure the people of the invincibility of the Soviet armed forces, the top military brass blanketed the papers with articles proclaiming the nation's ability to crush any aggressor.

The fact that the plane got deep into the Urals before being shot down boosted America's military reputation, but it had about the same effect on America's moral standing on a smaller scale as the Suez invasion had on French and British prestige.

The Soviet press poured out fresh details of the capture of pilot Francis G. Powers and lampooned the United States in cartoons and articles.

The papers told how workers on a state farm near Sverdlovsk came to Powers' aid when he parachuted from his plane on May 1 but turned him over to the authorities when they found he carried a pistol with silencer, dagger, foreign money, gold watches and women's gold rings, a survival kit, fishing net, pliers and a saw-edged knife.

IMPUDENT ENEMY

"Our suspicions were more and more confirmed," said Vladimir Surin, a former sergeant. "An enemy was in front of us, an enemy cunning and impudent."

Komsomol Pravda related that Surin and his family were getting ready for their May Day dinner when they heard an explosion. Surin thought at first it was a holiday rocket, then he saw a cloud of dust rising from a nearby field and a parachute coming down.

"We rushed over to him with only one thought in mind, to help him," Surin said. As they helped remove his gloves, helmet and oxygen mask, they noticed the pilot was carrying a gun.

"Even then we couldn't think we saw an enemy in front of us," Surin said. "It just couldn't fit our holiday mood."

They took the pilot to a car to drive to the State Farm office and, as they were seating him, asked whether Eisenhower still intended to hold the news conference, Hagerly replied he would answer that Tuesday morning. He declined to elaborate when asked whether he was suggesting that plans for the news conference were being canceled.

SUSPICIONS UP

"He pretended he did not understand Russian, but when Farm Director Mikhail N. Berman said 'no smoking here' he immediately pushed an ashtray away. Our suspicions were more and more confirmed."

Khrushchev has indicated that Powers will be tried and said he might hold a news conference on the case. U.S. Embassy officials said so far Ambassador Lelievrelyn E. Thompson had not tried to see Powers. It is probably the first time in his 31 years in diplomacy that Thompson has been faced with the possibility of intervening on behalf of an admitted spy.

Powers, a former U.S. Air Force lieutenant from Pound, Va., became a test pilot for Lockheed in 1956. His U2 jet, which was based in Adana, Turkey, was one of a fleet ostensibly used in weather research by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Apparently Powers actually was an agent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

The Soviet Premier charged that Powers was crossing the U.S.S.R. from Peshawar, Pakistan, to Bodo, Norway, to photograph Soviet military and industrial installations.

The U.S. State Department admitted the jet was on an intelligence flight but said it had not been authorized by Washington.

Ike's Guests Silent About Spy Incident

Water Usage Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fourteen Republican House members had breakfast with President Eisenhower today and, by prearrangement, not one asked him about the American spy-plane episode.

Rep. Robert Wilson of California told newsmen that Eisenhower did not bring the matter up.

The breakfast session was one of a series that the President has been giving for GOP members of Congress.

The first question reporters put to today's group afterward was whether there had been any discussion of the incident, which was capped over the weekend by U.S. admission that the pilot of an American plane shot down over the Soviet Union was on an espionage mission.

"We purposely agreed in advance to stay away from that subject unless the President brought it up, and he didn't bring it up," Wilson said.

Asked why there had been such an agreement, Wilson replied: "We just thought it would be better that way."

School Case Set Today

Judge Ralph W. Caton, 118th District Court, will hear an application for a temporary restraining order at 3 p.m. today to prevent the Big Spring Independent School District from taking over operation and control of Gay Hill and Center Point School District.

Attorneys for the two school districts filed the application for the order today, asking that the city schools be prevented from any action until appeals which the two boards have filed are aired before the proper authorities.

The school boards of Gay Hill and Center Point filed an appeal from the action of the Howard County Board with the Texas Commissioner of Education today. Joe Mangum and Howard Lloyd, members of the Center Point board, and George Archer, principal of the Gay Hill School, flew to Austin with the appeal.

APPEAL PLANNED

Hartman Hooser, attorney for the two embattled boards, informed the court that he and his brother, Harvey Hooser, will file an appeal from the county board's action with the 118th District Court this afternoon.

The school districts' petition for a temporary restraining order was aimed at members of the Howard County School board, and at the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District.

Judge Caton, in announcing that he would hear the application at 3 p.m., made it clear that any action he may take in regard to the order has no part in the ultimate solution of the differences between the school boards.

Gas Station Man Choked And Robbed

A Big Spring service station operator was choked into unconsciousness and the station apparently robbed of an unknown sum early Monday morning.

R. E. McClure, operator of McClure's Texaco service station at 4th and Douglas, was found lying unconscious on the floor of his office about 4 a.m. A short length of cotton cord was wrapped around his neck.

Police had not determined how much money was taken in the robbery. McClure's wallet was found on the floor beside him empty. No bills were in the cash register but over $20 in change remained.

Capt. Lindy Oldfield, investigating officer, reported that there were no signs of a struggle and McClure was unmarked.

McClure was taken to Cowper Clinic for observation but was discharged at mid-morning today. His attending physician said there was no serious injury discernible.

McClure reportedly said he did not see anyone and did not know what happened.

In other thefts in the past 24 hours, a car, four hubcaps and an evergreen plant were reported taken.

Capt. Paul E. Salonen, 4-B Chanute, reported the theft of his car. Articles of clothing, including his flying helmet, were recovered in a lot where they had apparently been thrown out by the culprit.

Wesley Phillips, 1702 Harvard, reported the theft of his hubcaps.

An evergreen plant in a five gallon can was stolen from the residence of E. V. Spence, 508 Dallas.

Only Undecided Statewide Race

By IRWIN FRANK
Associated Press Staff

Jerry Sadler held a lead over incumbent Land Commissioner Bill Allcorn Monday in a new count on their race, the only statewide contest in Saturday's Texas Democratic Primary still undecided.

But a 10 a.m. count from the Texas Election Bureau showed a slight reduction in Sadler's lead. The new figures were 656,751 for Sadler and 640,369 for Allcorn, a margin of 16,382 for Sadler.

The last previous count, made Sunday night, was Sadler 635,139, Allcorn 616,068—a lead of 19,071 votes for Sadler.

Incumbents, headed by Gov. Price Daniel and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, generally swept to victory in the Saturday vote.

Today's count gave Daniel a 672,021 to 595,533 margin over Cox with the count complete in 196 of the state's 254 counties. The count included returns from 252 counties.

The only statewide run-off election to be held June 4 will be between Dist. Judge W. T. McDonald of Bryan and incumbent Judge Lloyd Davidson for justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The 10 a.m. count showed Davidson had 480,053 votes, McDonald 459,119 and the third man in the race, Temple attorney Jim Bowmer, 299,283.

Senator Lyndon Johnson won renomination to the U. S. Senate without opposition. In precinct conventions held along with the election he won near-unanimous endorsement for his unannounced candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In the attorney general race, Wilson lead Waggoner Carr of Lubbock 720,392 to 563,021. The third candidate, Bob Looney, had 88,893 votes.

Supreme Court Justice Robert W. Calvert won the post of chief justice by almost two to one in his race for the Texas Supreme Court.

The count: Calvert 882,978; Robert Hughes 441,698.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert swept back into office 887,216 to 400,491 for Bo Ramsey.

The Election Bureau said that its morning count included substantially complete figures from Tarrant county, which had been lagging Sunday night. Votes were in from 149 of the county's 150 precincts, with 143 of them complete.

Cox conducted an aggressive campaign and based much of his platform on a 2 per cent sales tax to end the state's debt.

Daniel won in every section of the state. He got 68 per cent of the votes in the Rio Grande Valley area, 63 per cent in South Texas and 60 per cent in East Texas and the Panhandle.

Cox got his biggest vote in West Texas but he failed to get a majority in that area.

Daniel called his nomination a victory for progress and good government.

Sadler Considers Race In The Bag

AUSTIN (AP)—Jerry Sadler of Palestine considers his election as land commissioner in the bag.

"I am most humbly thankful to everyone for the tremendous vote of confidence given me," Sadler said.

"It makes me feel that I will have to work that much harder to represent the people of our great state as commissioner of the general land office."

"I will always look on this office as a sacred trust you have entrusted to me for your benefit, and the benefit of Texas. My wife, Laura, and my sons, Bill and Sam, join me in conveying our heartfelt thanks to our fellow Texans."

Totals Confirm Legislative Runoff

Complete, unofficial totals Monday confirmed that David Read and Angy Glenn of Big Spring will be in the runoff primary for the Democratic nomination as state representative, 101st district.

Glenn picked up strength on late returns from Reagan County to finish close to Read. Final figures showed Read with 2,890 and Glenn with 2,837. Next was Frank Goodman with 2,399, followed by Al Milch with 1,245 and A. M. Ripps with 420.

Read, young cotton buyer, led in Howard, Irion and Martin Counties, while Glenn, credit manager for Coden Petroleum Corp., captured Reagan, Glasscock and Sterling Counties.

Monday, both were preparing to get their down-the-stretch campaign under way. The second primary is on June 4, and with only one state race on the ticket, the legislative campaign looms as the hope for a good turnout at the polls.

The only other runoff face facing voters in Howard County will be at Coahoma where Tom Birkhead and Grover C. Coats will vie for the constable's job. Birkhead collected 202 votes Saturday, but Coats had 143 and Otis West polled 71 to force the runoff contest.

Howard County Democratic Executive Committee, headed by Frank Hardesty, will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday to canvass votes cast in Saturday's primary election.

Meantime, no changes were reported from totals published by the Big Spring Daily Herald on Sunday morning.

The county board will meet in the county court room.

Here's the way 101st legislative district voters went Saturday by counties:

Humphrey Borrows 'Can't Win' Argument As W. Va. Vote Nears

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) declared today that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.)—if he is the presidential nominee—cannot beat a Republican in November.

He borrowed the same argument Kennedy has been using in stumping the state for Tuesday's West Virginia primary—that West Virginians would be wasting their votes by supporting Humphrey, for he can't be nominated.

"If people will look at the voting record, instead of clever advertising propaganda, they will see that it is Kennedy, not I, who can't win for the Democrats in November," Humphrey said in a statement issued as he pumped hands at plant gates in the Charleston area.

Kennedy got an early start in Huntington, greeting workers at a glass plant and nickel mill before breakfast, then hitting more industrial sites.

Humphrey's statement was another example of how bitter the campaigning has become between the two presidential hopefuls in the last hours of the contest.

Tuesday about 350,000 of the state's 670,000 registered Democrats will have much to say about the political future of both.

Sunday night Kennedy openly discussed what probably is the biggest single factor in their vigorous, month-long contest: his Roman Catholic religion.

He told a television audience: "I have not been able to convince, apparently, the people that I have the same convictions they do: The belief in the Constitution, and the separation of church and state."

"If any Pope attempted to influence me as president," he added, "I would tell him it was completely improper."

West Virginia has 4.9 per cent Catholics. The rest can be considered Protestants, even though only 28 per cent have formal church ties.

This is the first time a Catholic has been entered in a presidential

Eisenhower Plans Pre-Summit Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House indicated today that President Eisenhower might make a television-radio address to the American people before he leaves this weekend for the Paris summit conference.

Asked about this possibility, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said, "I can't answer that at the present time."

On other occasions, a reply of that kind by Hagerly sometimes has foreshadowed an announcement that Eisenhower was going on the air. It has been the President's custom to make a nationwide broadcast on the eve of trips abroad.

Hagerly also raised some doubt in a meeting with newsmen as to whether Eisenhower would go ahead with a news conference which he has scheduled for Wednesday.

Asked whether Eisenhower still intended to hold the news conference, Hagerly replied he would answer that Tuesday morning. He declined to elaborate when asked whether he was suggesting that plans for the news conference were being canceled.

Building Rate Doubles In April

Residential building was doubled in April, compared with March, to help boost the year's construction over the $1 billion mark.

Fifty-five building permits for houses totalled $302,750 during the past month, according to Tom Newton, building inspector. In March, 26 permits totalled $194,500.

The total for the year, all types of construction, through April is 338 permits for $1,137,918.

Four permits for commercial buildings totalled $49,600 in April, compared with two for $47,000 in March.

For all other type construction, there were 62 permits for $343,000, compared with 91 for $281,603 in March.

The total building permits for April amounted to 121 for $513,103, compared with 119 for $319,454 in March.

Sadler's Margin Narrows A Little

Only Undecided Statewide Race

By IRWIN FRANK

Associated Press Staff

Jerry Sadler held a lead over incumbent Land Commissioner Bill Allcorn Monday in a new count on their race, the only statewide contest in Saturday's Texas Democratic Primary still undecided.

But a 10 a. m. count from the Texas Election Bureau, showed a slight reduction in Sadler's lead. The new figures were 656,751 for Sadler and 640,369 for Allcorn, a margin of 16,382 for Sadler.

The last previous count, made Sunday night, was Sadler 635,139, Allcorn 616,068—a lead of 19,071 votes for Sadler.

Incumbents, headed by Gov. Price Daniel and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, generally swept to victory in the Saturday vote.

Today's count gave Daniel an 872,021 to 595,533 margin over Cox with the count complete in 196 of the state's 254 counties. The count included returns from 252 counties.

The only statewide run-off election to be held June 4 will be between Dist. J. W. T. McDonald and Bryan and incumbent Judge Lloyd Davidson for justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The 10 a. m. count showed Davidson had 480,993 votes, McDonald 459,119 and the third man in the race, Temple attorney Jim Bowyer, 299,283.

Senator Lyndon Johnson won re-nomination to the U. S. Senate without opposition. In precinct conventions held along with the election he won near-unanimous endorsement for his unopposed presidential nomination.

In the attorney general race, Wilson lead Waggoner Carr of Lubbock 720,392 to 563,021. The third candidate, Bob Looney, had 88,800 votes.

Supreme Court Justice Robert W. Calvert won the post of chief justice by almost two to one in his race for the Texas Supreme Court. The count: Calvert 862,973; Robert Hughes 441,698.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert swept back into office 887,216 to 400,491 for Bo Ramsey.

The Election Bureau said that its morning-count included substantially complete figures from Tarrant county, which had been lagging Sunday night. Votes were in from 149 of the county's 150 precincts, with 143 of them complete.

Cox conducted an aggressive campaign and based much of his platform on a 2 per cent sales tax to end the state's debt.

Daniel won in every section of the state. He got 68 per cent of the vote in the Rio Grande Valley area, 63 per cent in South Texas and 60 per cent in East Texas and the Panhandle.

Cox got his biggest vote in West Texas but he failed to get a majority in that area.

Daniel called his nomination a victory for progress and good government.

Sadler Considers Race In The Bag

AUSTIN (AP) — Jerry Sadler of Palestine considers his election as land commissioner in the bag.

"I am most humbly thankful to everyone for the tremendous vote of confidence given me," Sadler said.

"It makes me feel that I will have to work that much harder to represent the people of our great state as commissioner of the general land office.

"I will always look on this office as a sacred trust you have entrusted to me for your benefit and the benefit of Texas. My wife, Laura, and my sons, Bill and Sam, join me in conveying our heartfelt thanks to our fellow Texans."

Eisenhower Plans Pre-Summit Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House indicated today that President Eisenhower might make a television-radio address to the American people before he leaves this weekend for the Paris summit conference.

Asked about this possibility, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said, "I can't answer that at the present time."

On other occasions, a reply of that kind by Hagerty sometimes has foreshadowed an announcement that Eisenhower was going on the air. It has been the President's custom to make a nationwide broadcast on the eve of trips abroad.

Hagerty also raised some doubt in a meeting with newsmen as to whether Eisenhower would go ahead with a news conference which he has scheduled for Wednesday.

Asked whether Eisenhower still intended to hold the news conference, Hagerty replied he would answer that Tuesday morning. He declined to elaborate when asked whether he was suggesting that plans for the news conference were being canceled.

In reply to other questions, Hagerty said he knew of no plans for Eisenhower to go on the air specifically for discussion of the sensational American spy-plane-over-Russia episode.

Yet obviously any Eisenhower address regarding the summit conference would be in the context of the impact of the plane incident.

The Wednesday news conference — which it appears now may be called off — was scheduled before the plane incident.

Any meeting of Eisenhower with newsmen undoubtedly would bring a barrage of questions about the incident.

Hagerty parried with a barrage of "no comment" replies almost all questions dealing with the shooting down of the plane by the Russians and admission by this country that it was on an espionage mission.

Hagerty did repeat a White House denial of a published report that Eisenhower had ordered a halt to all flights over or near Communist frontiers, pending investigation of the government's intelligence operations.

Building Rate Doubles In April

Residential building was doubled in April, compared with March, to help boost the year's construction over the $1 billion mark.

Fifty-five building permits for houses totalled $392,750 during the past month, according to Tom Newton, building inspector. In March, 26 permits totalled $104,500.

The total for the year, all types of construction, through April is 338 permits for $1,137,918.

Four permits for commercial buildings totalled $49,660 in April, compared with two for $47,000 in March.

For all other type construction, there were 62 permits for $343,000, compared with 91 for $281,603 in March.

The total building permits for April amounted to 121 for $613,103, compared with 119 for $319,454 in March.

Texas Cotton Crop Estimate Undergoes Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department cut by 84,000 bales today its estimate of the bumper 1959 Texas cotton crop. The department's final report estimated the Texas crop at 4,416,000 bales, down from the last previous estimate of 4,500,000 bales made last Dec. 8. The national crop was estimated today at 14,551,000 bales which also was a reduction from the Dec. 8 national figure of 14,701,000 bales. The department estimated the national crop's value at $2,281,300,000. The department said Texas harvested cotton from 6,350,000 acres in 1959 and achieved a per-acre yield of 334 pounds. The 1959 Texas crop is larger than the 1958 crop of 4,308,000 bales and well above the 10-year average of 3,956,000 bales. It was the final estimate for the national crop. This estimate compared with the 1958 crop of 11,512,311 bales with a farm value of $1,913,311,000 and 14,046,000 bales for the 1948-57 average. Last year's crop was grown under a new federal control program which permitted some expansion in production. Today's estimate took into account gains which carried over into 1960. The department reported last year's crop produced 5,989,000 tons of cottonseed with a farm sales value of $232,039,000 compared with 4,798,000 tons and $210,262,000 in 1958. The average price growers received for cotton was reported at 31.4 cents a pound compared with 32.22 for the 1958 crop. The average price received for cottonseed was $38.30 a ton compared with $43.80, the year before. The acreage harvested for 1959 was reported at 15,090,000 acres compared with 11,849,000 in 1958 and 21,076,000 for the ten-year average. The average yield per harvested acre was 462 pounds compared with 466 in 1958 and 329 for the ten-year average. The production of American-Egyptian type cotton was put at 70,600 bales compared with 83,600 in 1958 and 57,300 for the ten-year average. The harvested acreage, the average yield per acre and the production, are reported by cotton by states, last year included: Mississippi 1,460,000; 514 and 1,568,000; Arkansas 1,300,000; 568 and 1,544,000; Louisiana 490,000; 481 and 492,000; Oklahoma 625,000; 232 and 381,000; New Mexico 198,000; 782 and 323,000; and California 875,000; 1,051 and 1,922,000.

Yates Formation Checks High In Sterling Venture

Amity No. 1 R. Foster, shallow wildcat southeast of Sterling City, has logged shows in the Yates and somewhat higher than in other tests in the area. Amity is a joint operation by Ted O. Groehl of Big Spring and O. L. Johnson. No. 1 Foster, 990, from the south and 330 from the east lines of the east half of section 21-12, SPRR, tested the Yates from 509-522. After bailing dry, it shut down for an hour and then bailed five gallons of oil. The Yates was logged at 509-26 and correlations show it 20 feet high on the structure to other ventures in the area. Nearest producer is approximately half a mile to the west. Operators are drilling ahead with the Clear Fork at 1,700, the target depth. Stallworth No. 1-A Neal, a Carter field project, is still pumping new oil from the San Andres open hole section in Glasscock County. Latest testing is about 15 barrels of oil per day. The section is between 2,615-60 feet. Forest Oil Corp. is preparing to plug and abandon No. 1 L. Painter, wildcat venture in Howard County. The hole is bottomed at 8,455 feet in lime. Amity No. 1-Dennis is making hole below 4,530 feet in lime and sand. This project is C NW NW of section 11-30-5a, T&P survey.

Dawson Trice No. 1 Nichols is drilling below 8,714 feet. Project is 440 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 3-01-W. H. Godair survey. Husky No. 1 Futrell is drilling below 9,760 feet in lime. It is C SW SW of section 40-M-EL&RR survey.

Army Band To Play Here

The 42-piece Fourth U. S. Army "Concert in Khaki" Band, directed by Chief Warrant Officer John R. Parratt, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in City Auditorium. Featuring three groups of soloists, the band contains a 17-piece show band which plays many styles, two jazz combos which render both Dixieland and progressive selections, a woodwind and a brass ensemble, a precision marching band, featured vocalists, and two comedy acts. Past performers with the band include such entertainers as Vic Damone and Guy Mitchell. Peter Palmer, star of the Broadway production "Lil Abner," played trombone with the band and handled vocal arrangements. Approximately one-third of the band members are college graduates with degrees in music education. Many have had teaching and arranging experience and have played with name dance bands and symphony orchestras. At least eight former members are now music educators in the Texas public school system. Sgt. Billy Allen will be present at the concert to answer questions about a special Army enlistment program which allows qualified musicians to be assigned to the band of their choice.

MRS. DAVID WADE DAVIDSON

Edwards - Davidson Vows Are Repeated

LAMESA — The bride's home was the scene for the marriage of Jimmie Kaye Edwards and David Wade Davidson at 2 p.m. Saturday. W. T. Hamilton, minister of the Lamesa Church of Christ, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Edwards of Route A are the bride's parents, and Davidson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Davidson of Route 1, Ackerly.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta designed with Sabrina, peckline terminating with a deep V in back. It had short puff sleeves and fully shirred street length skirt. She wore a tiny white flower hat and carried a colonial bouquet of white gardenias surrounded by shaded blue rosebuds.

Willie Edwards was her sister's maid of honor and Barbara Davidson of Midland was bridesmaid. The duo wore identical dresses of blue dotted swiss over blue cotton styled similarly to the bride's dress. They carried single long stemmed white roses.

The bridegroom's brother, Robert Davidson of Big Spring was best man.

Forsan Seniors Back From Trip

FORSAN — Members of the senior class returned Sunday from their annual trip to Colorado Springs, Colo. They were accompanied by their sponsor, W. M. Romans and two class mothers, Mrs. J. D. Gilmore and Mrs. D. M. Bardwell.

Mother's Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Fairchild and children from Odessa.

B. L. Griffith of Oiden has visited recently with his brother, J. W. Griffith.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patton and children were her mother, Mrs. W. A. Rowlett of Crane and a sister, Mrs. Joe Law, Joe Don and Rodney, of Artesia, N. M.

Mrs. D. L. Knight was hostess to a home decorating party at her home Friday with Mrs. Phyllis Graumann of Big Spring in charge. Twelve attended.

Midland Girl Bride Of C. C. Aaron Jr. In Friday Nuptial

Johannie Fay Davis became the bride of Claude C. Aaron Jr. Friday evening in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. John White of Northside Baptist Church, Midland.

Before an altar decorated with fern and white gladioli the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Davis, Midland, and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Aaron Sr., 1304 Park, exchanged vows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white lace that featured an organza tulle. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Attending the couple, were Mr. and Mrs. John Ward. Mrs. Ward, sister of the bride, wore a beige brocade dress.

At the reception held in the Waards' home a white lace cloth covered the reception table that was appointed in silver. The two-tiered wedding cake was topped with a bride and groom.

For their wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the new Mrs. Aaron selected a two-piece beige suit with white accessories.

Aaron is employed by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. in Midland. The bride is completing her senior year at Midland High School. The couple plan to make their home in Midland.

Attending the wedding was Mrs. Audrey Gibson of Big Spring, the bridegroom's grandmother.

Meeting Is Shower For Mrs. Jackson

Combining the regular business meeting of the First Church of God-WMS with social activities resulted Thursday night in a pink and blue shower for Mrs. V. Ward Jackson, wife of the church's pastor.

Mrs. A. L. Holley hosted the event in her home. Other hostesses who served at the refreshment table were Mrs. Clifford Draper, Mrs. J. E. Parker, and Mrs. George Dyer.

Red roses in a milk glass bowl were surrounded by various sizes of stalks on the serving table.

The meditation during the business session was given by Elzada Herring.

Lutherans Complete Plans Of June VBS

Plans for the summer Vacation Bible School at St. Paul Lutheran Church are complete, announced the pastor, the Rev. Clair Wiederholt.

Registration for the course, to be conducted from June 6-17 at 9-11:30 p.m., may be made by calling Mrs. Carl Schafhauser or Mrs. Elmer Lyster. Parents not affiliated with the church should contact one of the registrars to help in the ordering of instructional material.

All children who have reached their fifth birthday by March 1 through those in the ninth grade are eligible for summer school, states Mrs. Gilbert Pachall, general superintendent.

"God's Children Pray" will be the theme of this year's course. It is designed to develop the prayer life of children and teach them that prayer is both a duty and a privilege.

The staff will include Mrs. Lee Axtens, kindergarten leader; Mrs.

Robert Magnusen, primary leaders; Mrs. Orrid Allard, junior leader; Rev. Clair Wiederholt and Mrs. John Foster, junior high school leaders; Mrs. Frank Long, music director; Mrs. Boyce Hale, recreation director, and numerous teachers.

Hendrix Students To Play Tuesday

Fourteen pupils of Jack Hendrix will audition in the National Piano Tournament now in progress at the HJC auditorium on Tuesday afternoon.

Malinda Crocker will be working toward a diploma in music. Others playing will be Kathleen Wood, Avelene Greenwood, Robby Allen, Paul Peterson, Carole Willingham, Mary-Kay McNallen, Mary Row, Myrna Richardson, James Beckham, Barbara Baker, Kenny Nance, Jean Watson and Jerry Younger.

Furniture Shopping Is Threat To Women's Ego

By EDWARD KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman is sure of herself when it comes to cooking or buying a hat, but furniture frustrates her.

A sample survey of 400 housewives by Pierre Martineau, manager of the research and marketing bureau of the Chicago Tribune, shows furnishing her home leaves a woman in a quandary.

"The purchase of furniture is continually delayed by the homemaker because she views the furniture shopping situation as a potential threat to her ego," he said.

Martineau and his staff sought to solve the secrets of a woman's thinking when she looks for furniture.

"Why," they asked, "does a person or family take a trip to Europe, buy a car every two or three years and yet their furniture is 25 years old?"

Making the selection and finding a theme for furnishing her home fills her with anxiety, the survey found.

As a result, furniture shopping is continually delayed. Throughout life, people find reasons for putting off purchases. Three out of four persons give one of the following reasons:

"We can't afford it" or "We don't need it" or "We'll wait until the children get older."

Martineau believes these reasons are not valid when compared with what the average family needs and can afford.

Because they are uncertain about what furniture to choose, most women tend toward the middle of the road in their choice of furniture style.

Most people buy modern because their friends have modern, and they can feel relatively secure that it will be accepted.

Extremes of ultra modern or period furniture are avoided because they may subject her to criticism.

After making the choice, the housewife goes through a period when she is not sure she made the right choice. In time she becomes "used to" the furniture but remains somewhat indifferent to it.

Newlyweds often feel that "this will do until we get on our feet," then they will furnish.

During the first four years of housekeeping, only 15 per cent of the housewives considered durability as a factor in furniture purchases. During the fifth and ninth years 32 per cent said durability was an important consideration.

A woman hesitates to call in outside help of an interior decorator. She says in so doing that she can't afford to do what she believes a decorator would want to do.

But Martineau suspects that she declines this aid because she fears she will be admitting her own failure.

Instead she likes to dream a Cinderella dream of how she would like to furnish her home by looking at homemaking magazines.

Furniture is seen as an aesthetic good. In order to appreciate this good, the housewife believes that one must possess a faculty called taste. Few women believe they have this gift. But they feel they should.

Despite this handicap 64 per cent buy furniture on their first trip to one store. Those who shop around and return number 36 per cent.

The search ends in a neighborhood shop for 44 per cent. Martineau found that 58 per cent of the women interviewed said they didn't like the furniture they have. They tend to keep a stiff upper lip when hearing friends discuss their furnishings.

Martineau says this attitude is obviously a definite pose rather than an objective reality.

She knows that furniture is the symbolic evidence of her taste, her income level and her ability to create a home rather than a mere house.

"There is a pathetic quality about all these responses which indicates just how deeply the woman is involved in the situation where she is helpless," Martineau said.

"For these women, furniture is indeed an Achilles heel."

It Seems To Me

By DON RIDDLE

Big Spring's teen-age baseball program gets started this week as team registration begins today.

The biggest problem facing the workers, is the most efficient need for improvement to the teenage park.

In order for boys of the 13-15 year old bracket to play the caliber of baseball which they are capable, they need a park which at least resembles a baseball diamond, rather than a glorified cow lot.

The most glaring deficiency at the park is the status of the infield. Ball games this summer are due to be error-filled, not because the boys aren't talented enough to field the ground ball, but because the infield is all but unplayable.

With a few loads of red clay dumped out on the field, the boys themselves would be more than glad to spread and properly arrange it. Thus the park would not only look like a baseball field, but the performance of the players would contribute to better play and more interesting ball games.

The dilapidated outfield fence offers another problem. As the fence is now, ground rules will have to be injected which will allow for the holes and vacant areas in the outfield wall.

With just a little lumber and paint, once again the boys could put up a decent fence, and also provide a good dark background for the hitters to face.

These improvements, if taken on by more than one or two individuals, could be economically arranged and they definitely would increase interest and performance of Big Spring's teen-age baseballers.

Today is registration day for all boys who live south of the railroad tracks and east of Gregg Street.

The registration site will be at the Piggy Wiggle store from 5:30 until 6:30 p.m.

Boys who live south of the railroad tracks and west of Gregg Street will register Tuesday at the Park Hill School.

Plans for this year's participation in the Texas Teen-Age baseball Association include one six-team league of boys from 13 to 15 years of age.

Each team will consist of 25 players and no team can have more than six 15-year-olds on the roster.

Each team must carry at least four 13-year-olds.

In the Little Leagues in Big Spring last year, there were 136 boys in the 12-year-old bracket.

This means that there will be approximately that many 13-year-old boys who will be competing for a place on a teen-age team.

Since most of the teams will carry the minimum number of "rookies", only about 25 of the 136 Little League graduates will get to play this summer.

Now if another park were available, another teen-age league could be formed and possibly all the boys in the city could continue their baseball ambitions.

The local Little League program can certainly be termed "efficient", so with just a little effort, the coaching and experience in the Little League, can be put to further use by every boy in the city in another teen-age baseball league.

G. Staley Is Again Proving His Mettle

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Gerry Staley not only is making a monkey out of the American League hitters, he's making the experts eat humble pie. He's also the reason the Chicago White Sox are in first place today.

Staley pitched in 67 games last year. His earned run average was 2.25. The experts acknowledged he was the best relief pitcher in the

Coals To Newcastle

When the Little Leagues here gave away a Go-Kart as a contest prize prior to the 1960 season, the winner was Billy Weaver (above), age 8. Billy's father is Buster Weaver, who operates a Go-Kart track west of Big Spring. The lucky youth is pictured with the diminutive vehicle and, judging from the look on Billy's face, the contest couldn't have had a more appropriate ending.

Alston Promises Additional Lineup Changes For Team

By CHARLES MAHER LOS ANGELES (AP) — Walter Alston faced his audience like a man who had mislaid his notes for a speech he didn't want to make in the first place.

"I don't know what to tell you," said the manager of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers. "I'd like to say something, but there's just nothing new to say."

"We must be hitting about .027 with men on base. I don't know what the exact figures are, but they're not damn good."

"It's not just one or two guys. It's the whole club. They're all bad a chance."

Alston's mumbled monotone drifted almost inaudibly out of his cubicle and into the Los Angeles dressing room — a chamber of despair where it was quiet enough to make the drop of a shoe as deafening as a pistol shot.

The Dodgers had just suffered their 11th loss in 16 games, had just lost a series to Philadelphia — a team they beat 14 straight here last year.

Alston told newsmen there will be more lineup changes. But he seemed to suggest there is no real magic in any method of arranging a batting order. The certain success he is looking for comes through base hits.

Meanwhile, another voice in another room was suggesting the Phillies are scarcely as futile as the forecasters figured.

"If we're an eighth-place club," said Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch, "then seven other clubs are going to have to knock us there. I'd say we're not an eighth-place club."

"When you walk into a town like this, and the other club isn't hitting, you're lucky. But don't forget they were facing some good pitchers, like Don Cardwell and Dick Farrell and Jack Meyer and Robin Roberts. Those are good arms. They must be. Everybody in the league wants them."

Tigers Batter N. Mexico 9

LOVINGTON, N. M., (SC)—The Big Spring Tigers ran up their biggest score in modern history by slamming the Lovington Dragons, 32-1, here Sunday afternoon.

The two teams went into the game with identical 3-0 won-lost records in New Mex-Tex Baseball league play but the Dragons were no match for the Texans.

Big Spring scored in every inning, starting with a three-run first.

Bobby Suggs pitched the win, yielding only four hits to the beleaguered Lovington team. He fanned nine and walked five. Joe Cadenhead took over for him after the fifth inning and gave up one hit while striking out three and walking none.

League play will be terminated before August 1, and regional and state playoffs will not extend past the middle of August. This guarantees that no part of the teen-age program will interfere with school activities.

Jordan insists on going through with his non-title match against Candy McFarland of Philadelphia despite warnings from National Boxing Assn. President Tony Macaroni that he will take "drastic action." Macaroni has hinted he might withdraw title recognition from the champ.

The trouble stems from the timing. Jordan is due to risk his world title against Benny Paret of Cuba, May 27 at Las Vegas. The Las Vegas promoter claims he was assured Jordan would not fight for six weeks before the championship match. Naturally, he is afraid some type of injury might knock out his big fight.

Jordan has warned that if anybody attempts to stop the Baltimore show, he won't go through with the Las Vegas fight. In the other half of the main event, Robinson will tune up for his June 10 middleweight title (New York and Massachusetts) bout with champion Paul Pender. Sugar Ray's Baltimore opponent will be Pedro Rodriguez of Rankin. Pa. As Robinson's big fight will be 27 days off, nobody appears to be worried about the chances of an injury in his match.

Hawks Rehearse With LCC Friday

In preparation for the national junior college track and field meet which will be staged here on May 20-21, the Howard County Jayhawks plan a dual run Friday afternoon, with Lubbock Christian College.

The two schools will only run a few events, and Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis says that the session is merely for practice.

"No points will be kept and we don't even know what or how many races we'll run," says Lewis. Howard County finished second in a five-way meet Saturday behind the Abilene Christian freshmen. The Hawks won the discus throw and the high jump and took a tie for the pole vault honors.

Bobby Shirey has been disabled for the past two weeks with a bad leg, but indicates that he'll be ready for the national meet.

Friday's practice session will get started about 2 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

Dale Marchant Wins Sunday

Dale Marchant won first place honors in the Women's Division of the rifle tournament held in Snyder yesterday.

She, along with three other members of the local Archery Club attended the tournament. Two field rounds, one hunters' round and one novelty round were shot at the meet.

Club presidents held a conference after the tournament in order to make plans for the Area Rifle Association. Big Spring and Abilene were admitted into the association which formerly consisted of Snyder, San Angelo, and Roscoe.

Vice presidents of each club will serve as board directors for the association and Snyder's Gerald Pulig will be the secretary.

Staley gave a demonstration of his excellence to 19,505 Yankee stadium spectators Sunday as the White Sox wrestled first place from the New York Yankees in 10 innings, 8-3.

It was the only game played in the American League. All the others were postponed because of rain.

The White Sox were leading 3-1 and Billy Pierce was a four-hitter as the Yankees came to bat in the last of the ninth. The veteran southpaw was clipped for a quick run when Mickey Mantle doubled and Roger Maris singled. In came Staley.

Bill Skowron hit Gerry's first pitch for a double and Elston Howard was given an intentional base on balls.

Bases full, nobody out and pinch-hitter Hector Lopez hit the batter. The count went to 3-1. Staley served his specialty, a sinker. Lopez hit it on the ground into a force play at the plate. One out.

The dangerous Yogi Berra hit the first pitch on the ground, and another force at the plate resulted. Two out.

Still another pinch hitter, Kent Hadley sent a slow bouncer to the right of Ted Kuszewski. The first baseman chose to cover the bag. Nellie Fox, at second, slipped on the wet turf, bobbled the ball and the tying run scored as Hadley was credited with a scratch single. Tony Kubek filed out to end the inning.

In the 10th, White Sox rapped losing left-hander Fred Kipp and right-hander Jim Coates for five hits and scored as many runs to wrap up the victory, their fourth in succession and 10th in their last 12 games.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, 54, is the new president of the Soviet Union, succeeding Klement Y. Voroshilov, 78, who resigned. Brezhnev is a secretary of the Soviet Party Central Committee and an alternate member of the party presidium.

Lyndon Happy Over Results Of Primary

JOHNSON CITY (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson returned to Washington today obviously pleased with Texas' warm endorsement of his presidential possibilities.

Some of his close advisors felt Johnson's easy leap over the first hurdle toward the nomination brought him considerably closer to a formal declaration that he is a candidate.

That would not be possible, they said, without hearty approval from Texas Democrats as a favorite son and a first team contender for the nomination.

"I am deeply grateful for this generous expression of confidence. I will do everything that I possibly can to justify it," Johnson said in comment on his sweep of the Texas precinct conventions Sunday.

This led to immediate speculation that his deeper meaning was that he will follow up with an intensified bid for party favor between now and the national convention at Los Angeles in July.

Conventions in 254 Texas counties Saturday are expected to confirm the action of the precinct meetings where unexpected unity pleased the Johnson forces. They were quick to note that the liberal party element led by Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph, Houston, Texas' national committee woman, had not made much progress in the grass roots sections where they had been regarded as a threat.

The state convention June 15 is now expected to be an enthusiastic Johnson rally. It will name him as the delegation chief and give him any other weapons they have to offer in the battle of Los Angeles.

"I know that we will be able to select a delegation of able, prudent, progressive and forward-looking men and women who will give our state the effective voice that it should have at the national convention," Johnson said. "And I know it will be the kind of delegation that will not only be an effective force, but will return to the state and work for the Democratic Party."

"It is important to Texas that we unite the Democratic Party and march forward with closed ranks for our state and country."

He flew in at dawn in a chartered plane after a heavy schedule of speeches in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and brought a group of Eastern news writers with him. Most of them had never seen the LBJ spread with its cattle, sheep and herds of white tail deer.

Calm Weather Is Menu For Texas

By The Associated Press
Calm weather and moderate temperatures covered Texas Monday morning.

Temperatures ranged from the upper 50s to 70 at Galveston. No rain was reported early in the day.

The only moisture reported to the U.S. Weather Bureau Sunday was a trace at Dalhart. Temperatures Sunday climbed to 102 at Presidio and the low maximum was 76 at Galveston.

Other highs included Wink 97, San Angelo 94, Midland 93, Cotulla 92, and 91 at Del Rio, Big Spring, Laredo and El Paso. The five-day forecast issued Monday calls for temperatures near normal in eastern and central Texas and 1 to 3 degrees above normal in western Texas. Little or no precipitation is indicated.

Reporter Tries His Hand At Russian Auto

by FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet cars drive just like American cars—or will when the American model comes out.
I have just taken a spin at the wheel of a perky little Soviet model called the "Moskvitch," and it developed into something of a small cold war between the two of us.

This had nothing to do with international tension—just my tension at trying to drive in Broadway traffic with a gearshift system I never met before.

The Moskvitch had four forward speeds on the shift, none of them where you would expect. But the Soviets will put in the standard capitalistic type of shift for American sales.

Anyway, once the Moskvitch and I got to know each other better, it went rolling along as cockily as Khrushchev on tour. Unlike Khrushchev, though, the little Moskvitch didn't blow a single gasket along the way.

Still, I had a few other edge moments. The crowds along Manhattan streets began to eye me warily when they spotted the name on the front of the car. Probably figured I was a Soviet spy.

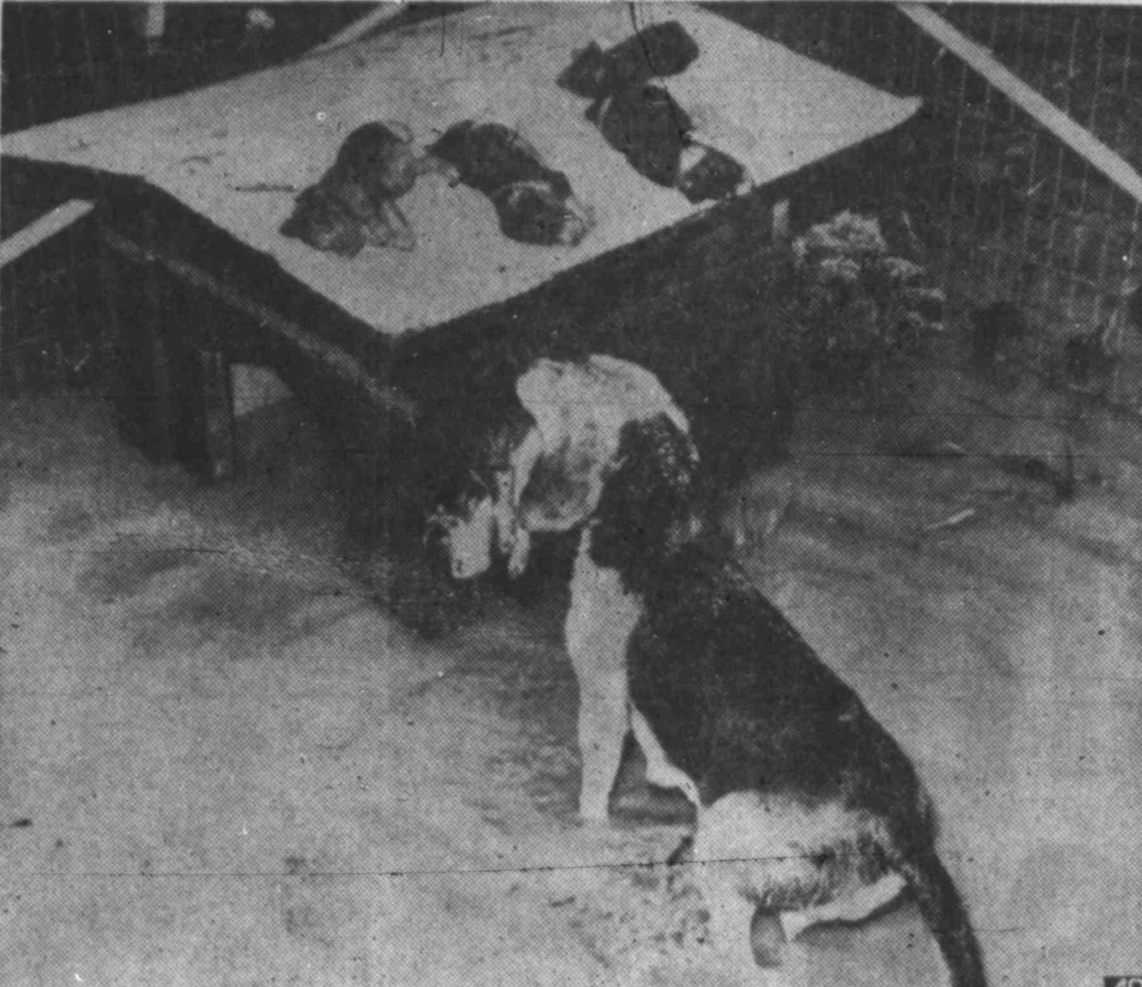

Then there were times when I thought both car and I would get trampled by the pedestrians, neither of us being very big.

Aside from all that, the Moskvitch is the first Soviet car ever to be imported for sale in this country. An enterprising—and most certainly courageous—automobile dealer, Robert J. Casle of Syracuse, N. Y., made a deal in Moscow to take a whack at peddling them here.

He is now setting up dealerships and giving demonstrations. First deliveries are expected in about two months.

An aide to Castle said there has been much public interest in seeing the Soviet cars and some orders have been placed. He declined to say how many.

The Moskvitch is a four-cylinder, four-door sedan about the size of comparable small American and imported cars, and looks pretty much like some of them. It is said to get 30 miles per gallon of gas. It sells for $1,685 in New York, including radio and heater.

Ike To Follow Spy Plane Row With Plea To End Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower reportedly plans to follow up the U. S.-Soviet spy-plane row by calling on Premier Nikita Khrushchev at next week's summit conference to join in scrapping military secrecy.

While top administration officials privately deplored the way in which the whole fantastic episode has developed, they ruled out any inclination toward a defensive approach by the President or his advisers at the Paris summit meeting.

The President is represented as feeling rather that the sensational incident dramatizes as possibly nothing else could the U. S. view that the Soviet Union's "iron curtain" system of concealment is a major source of tension and fear of war throughout the Free World.

Eisenhower conferred with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at the White House late Sunday for 75 minutes after he returned from a weekend at Gettysburg, Pa. Herter is just back from Allied conferences in the Middle East, and it was his first meeting in 10 days.

The New York Times said in a Washington dispatch today that it was stated on responsible authority that President Eisenhower has ordered a halt to all flights over or near Communist frontiers pending an executive investigation of the entire intelligence apparatus of the government.

Eisenhower is due to leave Saturday for Paris and the summit conference opening next Monday. In advance of the Big Four session with Khrushchev, he will confer with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The key question now in the pre-summit conference opening next Monday. In advance of the Big Four session with Khrushchev, he will confer with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The key question now in the pre-summit speculation of official Washington was how Khrushchev would react to the U. S. admission. The State Department officially acknowledged Saturday that a high-flying American jet aircraft had "probably" made an information-gathering flight over Soviet territory a week ago, but said the trip was not authorized from Washington. Khrushchev said the plane was shot down and the pilot captured.

Europe Thinks Plane Incident Hurts West

LONDON (AP)—West European observers today considered that the downing of an American spy plane over the Soviet Union strengthens the hand of Premier Nikita Khrushchev and puts President Eisenhower in an embarrassing position for the Big Four summit talks opening in Paris May 16.

While recognizing that both East and West engage in intelligence activities, many observers felt that the United States blundered in its timing.

"The most disturbing feature of the incident is how the Americans came to authorize a flight of this kind on the eve of the summit meeting," said the influential London Times.

"Whatever the reason, there ought now to be a stringent tightening up in the control and coordination of the Central Intelligence Agency's activities."

The conservative Paris newspaper Le Figaro said that "history offers few comparable examples of clumsiness." It said the incident gives Khrushchev "arguments with which he can cover his intransigence if the adventure of the summit conference runs into difficulties."

London's leftist Daily Mirror declared the Powers flight was "sheer insanity." The liberal News Chronicle called it a "crass blunder." The Western leaders will start the summit conference with the knowledge that their "most powerful member has been outwitted with painful ease."

The State Department's explanation of the flight brought mixed reactions. Konnie Zilliacus, a leftwing member of the British Parlia-

Pioneer V Tries Bigger Radio At 8 Million Miles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly two months after its launching, the Pioneer V space probe has a new voice.

Radio signals sent more than eight million miles switched on Sunday the 150-watt transmitter which had been silent since Pioneer's March 11 launching from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Until Sunday a five-watt transmitter had been sending back a wealth of detail on cosmic radiation, charged particle energies and magnetic field phenomena. More than 100 hours of broadcast data had been received.

But as distance increased, the smaller radio's signals became harder and harder to pick up, and the long-planned changeover was made as Pioneer reached a point 8,001,000 miles from the earth.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the new radio provided "a good, clear transmission, lasting about a minute and a half." But because it drains the space probe's batteries so much faster, it will be used only sparingly.

NASA officials declined to predict how long the more powerful radio will work. They said some mechanical troubles have turned up in the space probe in recent weeks which could cause increasing difficulties.

For one thing, NASA said there has been some slight deterioration of the sun-powered batteries, "possibly the result of leakage in the vacuum of space." It noted also that a minor component failure had been reported earlier.

DEAR ABBY DON'T HESITATE

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a little lady in our town who has a fine husband and five adorable youngsters. The eldest is 9, and then on down like stair steps. The three older children come to school unwashed, with their clothes on backwards, inside out and their shoes on the wrong feet. It is all too apparent that their mother was not up to help them dress. I don't know what kind of breakfasts they could have had with their mother sleeping.

When anyone drops in on her, she is "napping" with the TV going full blast, the children climbing the walls, and the house in a shambles.

Is it the business of the community to look in on this situation? Or is it a private affair? My husband says to mind my own business. I say she needs to be talked to. What do you say?

SCHOOL TEACHER: Someone should look in on this home — and the sooner the better. The mother appears to be physically ill, mentally incompetent—or both. Where the welfare of children is involved, an investigation is in order. First, talk to her husband (privately). She needs help.

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago a good friend of mine celebrated her 35th wedding anniversary. Last night I saw her husband get out of his car and go into the same apartment building I went into. I went there to visit my brother and his wife.

After telling them I saw Mr. So and So, my sister-in-law said that he had been visiting a certain unmarried woman for a long time. She said it was the talk of the laundry room. The man's wife is a good woman. How can you tell a woman who loves and trusts her husband a thing like that? I can furnish the wife with name and address. If you were I, Abby, would you?

FRIEND OF THE WIFE: DEAR FRIEND: I would not.

DEAR ABBY: I have a bad case of "mother-in-law-itis". She gets my husband in a corner and finds out how much we paid for our curtains, how much he made last week and if he ever sends my folks any money. She doesn't want to know for herself, but just so she can tell everyone else, and that old busy-body gets more coverage than this newspaper. She opens my mail, goes through my dresser drawers and looks in my medicine cabinet. So far I have held my tongue, but one of these

Trotsky Killer May Not Escape

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Jacques Mornard will probably not escape the wrath of Leon Trotsky's discipline and friends all over the world, Gen. Leandro Sanchez Salazar, former Secret Service chief said today.

Sanchez Salazar, who captured Mornard after he killed Trotsky 20 years ago, is the author of "Crime in Mexico," a book translated into seven languages in which the whole case was revised. Sanchez Salazar said he thinks Mornard will not return to Russia, but will try to avoid dangerous publicity.

Sleeping Driver Cause Of Death

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—An auto, whose driver police say fell asleep, crashed into a Greyhound bus Sunday, killing one of the car passengers and trapping most of the 45 bus passengers for an hour.

Killed was PFC. Janos Nemeth, 22, of Walkkill, N.Y.

The driver of the car, PFC. Robert A. Guidaboni, 19, of Middleboro, Mass., and another passenger, William Braniff, 18, of Bogota, N.J., were hospitalized along with Elizabeth Fink, 69, of Justice Ill., a bus passenger.

Braniff was reported in critical condition today.

The bus was en route from New York to Chicago when the accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near the Valley Forge interchange. The soldiers were en route to their Fort Campbell, Ky., base.

World's Biggest Patent On Sale For Just 25 Cents

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you like odd souvenirs, Uncle Sam will sell you a copy of the biggest patent ever issued—620 pages—for the bargain price of 25 cents.

The patent office paid $13.52 for each copy printed. What's more, the 25-cent price tag doesn't even cover the cost of mailing which the government also pays.

The bulky patent, No. 2,925,957, was issued Feb. 23 to Amos E. Joel Jr. of South Orange, N. J. It covers an automatic telephone billing system developed for the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York City.

Joel has invented a device which automatically keeps track of all calls made from individual telephones, together with the charges. At the end of each month, it produces a carefully tabulated bill for each phone.

A Devotional For Today

Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. (Philippians 4:6.)
PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the privilege of prayer. Teach us how to pray and help us to keep in close contact with Thee today. May Thy love be shed abroad in our hearts so that we may represent Thee aright. In the name of Jesus Christ, our blessed Redeemer, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From The "Upper Room")

Something Should Be Done—But What?

Our generation has seen the art of politics undergo an almost complete revolution in method and practice, and especially in costs. The costs are now simply out of this world.

In the old days a man with a yen for office simply invested a few dollars in campaign cards to hand out to voters and a few more dollars in posters and perhaps handbills to get his name and mug before the public. He was prepared to ante his share of the cost of putting on a primary, never more than a few dollars in those days at most, and he was in business.

There might be some incidental expenses down the line, such as kicking in for a barbecue or picnic, or to hire a brass band for a joint rally. Running for constable, justice of the peace, public weigher or any other precinct office might set him back as much as a hundred dollars. His principal expense was in the form of sweat and loss of time from his regular employment, but by and large the pursuit of office was a more leisurely and agreeable affair than it is now.

Nowadays running for office is a much more complicated, costly and demanding enterprise. Merely getting one's name on the primary ballot can run pretty high—in some counties several hundred dollars or more. The cost of publicizing one's merits for a county or precinct office have multiplied perhaps tenfold, as both the mediums of publicity and the number of people to be reached and impressed have gone up and up.

There are certain forms of polite hold-ups in behalf of worthy enterprises to which a candidate is subjected. He can turn them down at his peril.

All in all, the pursuit of public office, from bottom to top, is no bed of roses. Why do men do it? Well, their motives are their own; maybe, no more than a dream of rising steadily to dizzy heights. We have been watching the political scene for more than a half a century, and we never cease to be amazed at the never-ending crop of men who become possessed by the ambition to get elected to some office. Mind you, we do not criticize or belittle them; a desire to be of service is a natural and withal a creditable one. It is just that we can't understand it. It is just that we can't understand it. It is just that we can't understand it. It is just that we can't understand it. It is just that we can't understand it.

Something should be done to simplify and reduce the cost of seeking public office, but who could say what? It has been proposed many times in recent years that government units contribute to campaign expenses, but this it seems to us would be just piling Pelion on Olympus and Ossa on Pelion. Any such funds would be supplemental, and drive the cost of campaigning higher and higher.

Sen. Johnson Firmly In The Saddle

Saturday's Democratic primary and its precinct conventions settled one thing—there is no doubt that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson will be firmly in the saddle as a choice for the Democratic presidential nomination. He won overwhelming endorsements, and in many cases where there were divergent liberal and conservative elements, the senator's candidacy was the one point on which they got together.

So Lyndon Johnson will go to Los Angeles with a backing from his fellow Texans that will be more than on a favorite son basis. It will give him a lead in the primary that is almost unassailable. His chances appear to improve steadily.

The implications on other issues appear less pronounced. The very fact that he won a third term handily in the face of spirited and high-powered opposition will within itself strengthen the position of Gov. Price Daniel. Although the summation of legislative results is not totally clear, it is significant that a number of the governor's bitterest opponents in the last legislature will not be on hand when the new legislature meets.

The moderate approach as against extreme liberalism or arch-conservatism seems to be indicated. Perhaps the next big question will come over the fate of Mrs. R. D. Randolph, national committee-woman from Texas in the Democratic party. Although liberal-labor elements gave her scattered endorsement in precincts over the state last Saturday, she has been acrimonious critic of both Gov. Daniel and Sen. Johnson, and with both firmly positioned, her own position becomes awkward if not untenable.

The Texas Poll Religious Issue Hurts Kennedy In Texas

By JOE BELDEN

Two years ago U. S. Sen. John Kennedy could have carried Texas as Democratic presidential nominee by a comfortable margin over Nixon. Today, mainly because of the build-up of the religious issue, he probably would face defeat.

That the religious issue has hurt Kennedy's chances in this predominantly Protestant state is clearly reflected in surveys by The Texas Poll. The latest state-wide survey of voters, conducted in mid-April, shows him trailing Nixon. A comparable survey in August 1958, when his Catholic background had not received so much publicity, showed him to be a two to one favorite over Nixon.

IN BOTH SURVEYS, voters were asked to choose between Kennedy running as Democratic candidate for President and Nixon as the Republican candidate. The marked trend against Kennedy is reflected in the comparative measurements below:

	Aug. Apr. 1958	1960
Kennedy	55	39
Nixon	28	43
Undecided	17	18

Totals were 100 100
Voters were questioned by the latest survey, after making known their preferences, whether they happened to be aware that one of the major presidential aspirants is a Catholic. Kennedy was identified as the Catholic by three of every four voters—76 per cent—in the state-wide cross section. Significantly, the results disclose that these voters who have been likely to favor him than the uninformed voters.

Each Texas Poll report is based on face-to-face interviews made in all sections of the state by a permanent staff of 150 trained interviewers.

Things Look Up For Him

MILLBURN, N.J. (AP)—Professional astronomy has been the fulltime job of James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer at the Hayden Planetarium in New York, for only eight years.

Pickering worked 24 years for a big department store, rising to credit manager. But astronomy was something he steeped himself in since boyhood. He quit his store job eight years ago to make the stars his career.

He won a national award for his television series, "Astronomy and You," and has written two books about the heavens.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—A motorist trying to catch a speeding ambulance was in turn pursued by police at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

After his arrest Julius Moore explained he was trying to overtake the ambulance, which was making an emergency run, because the driver was his cousin and he wanted to talk to him.

Moore was charged with five traffic violations.

WHILE THEY'RE AT IT—

James Marlow We Walked Into Khrushchev's Trap

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was just the beginning when the Soviet Union, with the world watching, booby-trapped the United States on the American spy plane it said was shot down over the Soviet Union.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev—if he wishes—has proposed the way for embarrassing this government and President Eisenhower before, during and after the summit meeting which opens in Paris next Monday.

Without condemning Eisenhower at all, Khrushchev has already projected an image of himself as a leader much more alert to what's happening than the President.

HE LET IT BE known he was the one who gave the order to shoot down the plane while it was over his territory. Up to this moment the American government has insisted Eisenhower didn't know about the plane or its mission.

Since Khrushchev is shrewd, a fine actor and a superb propagandist he could easily pull a switch that would present him to the watching world as a man of vast good will.

He could do it by ordering the release of the captured American pilot—30-year old Francis G. Powers—just before the summit conference begins.

The American government walked into Khrushchev's trap with about as much sophistication as a 10-year old who lost his mama.

IT WAS CLEAR Khrushchev wasn't telling the whole story Thursday when he announced an American jet was shot down while traveling over the Soviet Union. For instance: He didn't reveal the fate of the pilot.

There was a chance he didn't know any more than he said. But he left so much unsaid, it could be suspected he knew much more than he revealed. In view of this uncertainty, the United States could have played smarter.

It could have clammed up, asked Khrushchev for details, and waited. Instead, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration came up with a theory that the pilot had suffered loss of oxygen, became unconscious, and the plane, unguided, flew over Soviet Union territory by itself.

To Your Good Health Excess Weight Distributed By The Body

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: If a person consumed all the calories his body needed in one day, and he wanted to gain one pound, how many more calories would he need? Would the fact that the extra calories were coming from foods made up of fats, sugars or carbohydrates determine where the extra pound would be deposited?"
—MRS. L. C.

Well, theoretically (the book says!) it would take 3,500 extra calories to add that pound. In practice, it's something else again. It would depend on how active you are. It would also depend on how fast your digestive system, and how thoroughly you absorbed them. So in practice, there would be a lot of variation.

Question 2: We'll assume that you have added one pound, no matter how many calories were in the food you ate. You've got the pound.

Hereditarily governs this distribution to an extent: Some people have fat legs, others don't. We follow similar patterns but not identical ones. There is no way I know to steer added weight to any particular part of the body.

The KIND of food you eat does not determine where you will put on fat. The body will take what it requires for muscle, for energy, for replacement of cells in tissues (skin, pancreas, etc.) and other needs.

The remainder will be converted into fat for storage purposes. It's nature's idea that then stored fat can be withdrawn again to use for heating the body and for energy if someday there is a shortage of food—such as when we go on a reducing diet. Then the body begins withdrawing and using up the reserve fat.

Fast Talker

Generally speaking there are depots where we store the greater part of our excess fat. The abdomen, breasts, buttocks. Those are the areas where we find the principal accumulations of fatty tissue. Therefore when we add excess fat, that's where most of it goes. But some will distribute itself rather generally over the body.

"Dear Doctor: I have coronary insufficiency. Is this serious?"
—R.C.R.

It depends on the degree. It can be mild or severe. In any event, it boils down to the fact that your heart has suffered some damage and is not pumping as much blood as it should. So you must (with your doctor's guidance) discover how much you can exert yourself without exceeding the heart's capabilities, and then remain within those limits. By being sensible, people can live for decades with coronary insufficiency.

R. E.: Yes, thumb-sucking is a habit. If it persists, it can be hard to break, like any habit. Usually it's a hangover from some feeling of worry or insecurity. To a little child it apparently is comforting. When it continues to the age of 12, it has gone on much too long. I'd have the dentist take a look to see if the teeth are being forced out of position, and discuss with your physician whether a psychiatrist can help. The boy should be convinced that he must stop.

Around The Rim Be Careful What You Tell Psychologist

This and that:
One of the favorite parlor games in some sections of the country is a guessing contest in which this question is asked: "If you were suddenly endowed with the power to un-invent a single thing, what would it be?"

Most everyone will think first of the atomic bomb and its potential but some of the answers might surprise you.

The idea is to stick to a mechanical thing, so those playing are "out of bounds" if they mention something like the income tax or racial bias.

twice before you buy a dress with a zipper up the back.
Side zippers are infinitely more suitable.

TWO RESEARCHERS, Dr. Robert A. Schneider and Dr. Stewart Wolf, both of the University of Oklahoma, are authorities for the statement that your scent-detector (the nose) works best when you have a slight cold.

The poorest smeller, they insist, is one whose nose has dry, pale and shrunken membranes.

IF YOU PLAY the game in the presence of a psychologist, be careful, though. He may analyze you in a manner which you might not think is very flattering, judging you solely off your answers.

An expert on the matter, Mayo Clinic, supplies the information that many women have developed an arthritic arm or shoulder after straining muscles to close a spine-length zipper.

In other words, if you're a woman and are at the age to become arthritic, think

IT IS ONLY WHEN a cold becomes so severe as to plug up the nose that the faculty of smell is dulled.

The swollen lining of the nose, caused by a slight cold, brings a greater blood flow to the nose. The blood flow makes the membranes warmer than usual.

The warmer environment volatizes the tiny odor particles, dispersing them over a wider area of the nose and enhancing the ability of the odor to stimulate the "smell organ" to the roof of the nose.

Inez Robb London Press Goes On Chessman Binge

LONDON—Last week, in the midst of reporting the royal wedding, I did not have time to blow a gasket over the coverage of the Caryl Chessman execution by the London press—although my blood pressure shot through my hat at the time and has not yet subsided.

The execution was the excuse for the most deliberate and inexcusably vicious, anti-American binges I have ever seen in my misfortune to encounter abroad. Granted that 90 per cent of London papers practice a type of yellow journalism unknown at home, it was still a remarkably gaudy demonstration.

AND ON THE DAY of the execution, what loving details of Chessman's "agony," what slandering over his "torture" as appeared in London's press! Unfortunately, the sensational libel suit against the Duchess of Argyll broke at the same time, and the London press had a hard time deciding which story would sell the most papers, Chessman or chess.

But Chessman won the round in the first editions.

"I am glad tonight I am not an American," brayed reporter Jeffrey Blyth of The Daily Mail, who was at San Quentin, weeping his heart out on the day Chessman was executed.

FOR 48 HOURS before the execution, the vast majority of London papers all but forgot the royal wedding in maudlin, sensational accounts of the last hours of this tortured, harried innocent whom we depraved American torquemadas were about to tie to the stake.

Any unformed reader of nine out of 10 London newspapers would have presumed that the American gestapo was executing an innocent Boy Scout who had been convicted of nothing more serious than pinching a cherry pie off a kitchen window sill. And, certainly, one got the impression that we savages were delivering this cherub Chessman to the auto-da-fé solely for our own pleasure and diversion.

ONLY ONE BRITISH newspaper that I saw, The Manchester Guardian, carried a dispatch pointing out that Chessman was guilty, by fair trial, of hideous crimes.

"In any Western country that inherited Roman law," wrote its correspondent, Alistair Cooke, "the just penalty for his (Chessman's) frightful crimes is death."

Cooke continued, "He is also a man with a ferocious record of crime, whose final act is punishable by death according to the strict laws of the state. As such, the case of Caryl Chessman is not a miscarriage of justice or an affront to the law. It is simply a natural tragedy."

AT NO TIME were any facts, relating to Chessman's unprintable sex crime, the kidnaping charge or the tragedy that one of his victims, a young woman, was driven insane as the result of his unatural sexual attacks upon her, ever printed or allowed to sully his purity. Perish forbid that there be any hint of the poor victim condemned to life in an insane asylum!

No, Chessman was the victim throughout. No mention was made of the fact that he had fought with the strength of a tiger and the skill of Blackstone to postpone his just sentence time after anybody can make his own estimate.

IN ENGLAND, ONE of the polling organizations went wrong last year in predicting that the Socialist-Laborites would get a much heavier vote than they did. The victory by the Conservatives was a surprise. What really happened? It is true there are more Socialist-Labor voters than Conservatives, but the pollsters neglected to find out accurately what proportion of those they polled intended to vote on election day. Also, included in the poll were many who were not eligible to vote due to residential or other requirements of law.

David Lawrence Pros And Cons Of Public Opinion Polls

WASHINGTON—Vice President Nixon says he was surprised by the big vote he got last Tuesday in the Indiana primaries and that it shows the unreliability of public opinion polls.

The polls themselves are taken honestly and in accordance with scientific principles of sampling. What's really wrong is that the correct interpretation of polls has sometimes been neglected and that the public hasn't been told the true limitations of polling.

Thus, how many people know that neither Dr. Gallup nor any other pollster for that matter, so far as this writer knows, has ever taken a state-by-state poll prior to a presidential election? The reason is that it costs too much.

ALSO, NO POLLING organization has ever made a poll by congressional districts. This is also too expensive and takes too much time.

Yet before both presidential and congressional elections there have been many polls based on percentages of population taken as a whole across the country or by major regions.

Under our present electoral system, it wouldn't really matter if more persons voted Democratic in an election for the presidency, as a Republican could still win a majority of the electoral votes. Thus, there is a preponderance of Democrats in the country as a whole because there are so few Republicans in the South. If merely a percentage of the population nationally is taken, a poll would always show a Democratic victory, but the pollsters introduce compensating factors based on various types of samples and on regional groupings. In the end, they come up with percentages from which, on the basis of past experience, they make estimates that generally are correct within a few points.

THE REASON, THEREFORE, is a mixture of prediction and correlation of current data with past statistics. The public, on the other hand, sometimes overrates these predictions. In Indiana, for instance, Vice President Nixon says the advance polls showed Senator Kennedy as taking 55 to 60 per cent of the total vote. Actually, the vice president received more votes than did the Massachusetts senator, who got about 42 per cent of the total, cast for all candidates.

This has led Mr. Nixon to say that he agrees with former President Truman that "the only poll that counts is the one that takes place on election day."

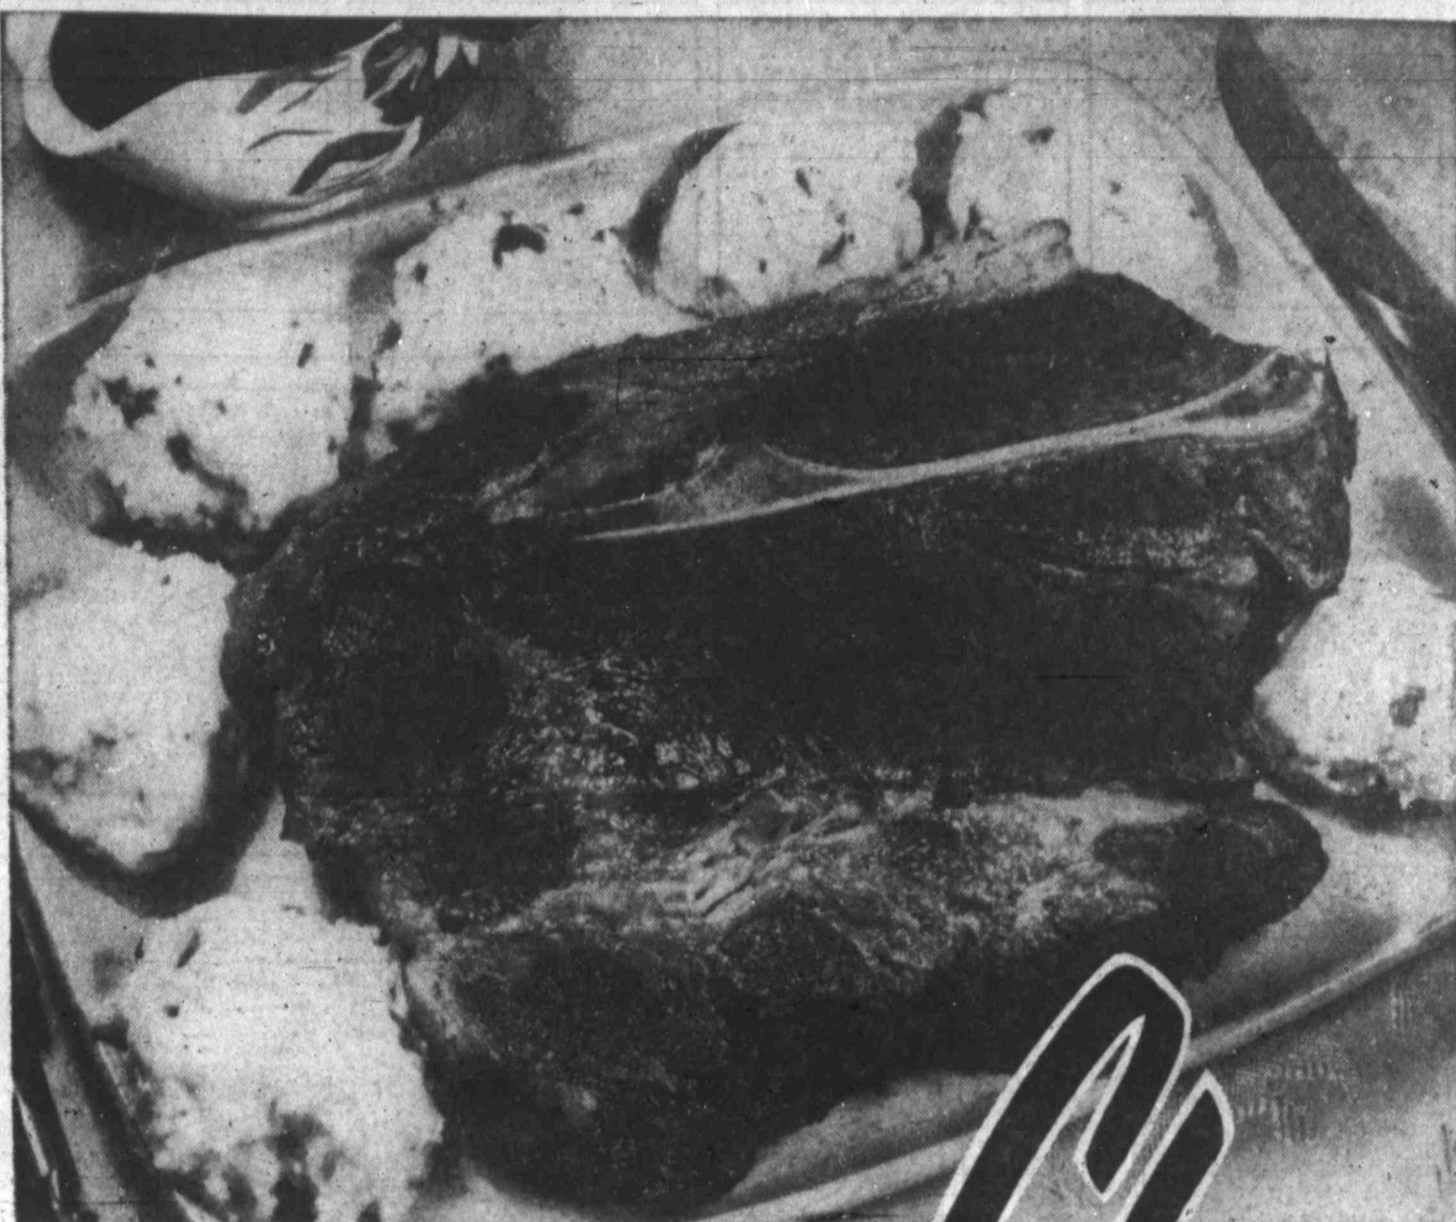

But the public doesn't want to wait till election day. It likes to talk about a coming election and to make guesses and perhaps bets. So the pollsters furnish a lot of significant information on which

THEY THERE'S THE QUESTION of personality. It is still true that people express themselves as liking or disliking a particular candidate but, when they get in the voting booth, they may be influenced by party considerations or by a desire not to see a change or they will vote finally for a personality about whom, months before, their feelings had been unfavorable.

The pollsters cannot, in the nature of things, get to the bottom of each individual's reasons or be sure that even the things said in answer to the questions will be dominant in the voter's mind on election day. A safer rule of prediction is to base it on the amount of economic contentment or discontent that prevails in each state, rather than on personalities. The pocketbook motive counts far more than prejudice for or against a particular haircut or mustache and the "look" of a candidate.

Taylor Schedules YMCA Summer Camp Programs

Day camp sessions, sponsored by the YMCA, will begin on June 6 and will be held near the original "big spring" in City Park, according to Everett Taylor, youth director.

The first session will be held from June 6 until June 17, and is for youngsters in the first three grades. The second session, for youngsters in grades 4-6, will be held from June 27 until July 9. Classes will be held on Mondays through Fridays, 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Activities include swimming, games, crafts, camp building, hikes, devotions, riflery, and archery. An overnight camp-out, along with a family supper at the park, will conclude each session. Fees for YMCA members is $13 for the two-week course and fee for non-members is set at $16.50. Fee for non-members includes a summer membership in the YMCA.

Camp fees guarantee the child transportation from the YMCA to the park each day, swimming each day, a day camp shirt, two soft drinks and one glass of milk daily, a noon-meal dessert, complete crafts supplies, and insurance for the entire session. Taylor as counselor will be assisted by 10 high school students.

Fire Hits Dupre Home

Fire which apparently began in a hot water heater destroyed the bathroom and bedroom of a Big Spring residence and caused heavy smoke damage to other parts of the house early Saturday. Flames swept the home of H. F. Dupre, 504 E. 14th St. The couple was out of town at the time.

According to A. D. Meador, fire marshal, the house incurred severe smoke and water damage in the living room and hallway, in addition to the loss of all furnishings in the bedroom and bathroom. Considerable damage to the roof was also noted. Dupre reportedly has sufficient insurance to cover the loss, Meador said.

FBI Agent To Hold School For Policemen

A five day police school was to begin today in the Big Spring police station. The school will be held through Friday, 2-5 p.m. each day.

Basically for the new men on the force, the course will also be a refresher for veteran patrolmen, according to Leo Hall, assistant chief. Signed up for the course are rookies Weston Myrick, Fred Pace, Larry Gorum and Walter Johnson, as well as Doyle Williamson and Jimmy Ellison. Leo Robertson, FBI agent from Dallas, will conduct the school. Instruction will be given in investigation, patrol methods and reports. Hall said he expects to brief the men on state and city laws.

Texan Charged In Mexican Murder Awaits Sentencing

MONTERREY, Mex. (AP)—A Fort Worth, Tex., mechanic charged with killing two teenage sisters and their brother has made his "final defense" and is waiting sentence which probably will not come for many months. Dykes Astew Simmons, 31, could receive a death penalty, although a more likely sentence of 20 to 30 years, as capital punishment is frowned on in Mexico. He is charged with killing Marta Perez Villagomez, 14, her sister Hilda, 18, and their brother Juan Manuel, 21, on the Nuevo Laredo-Monterrey highway Oct. 12. Simmons' major plea is that he suffered mental lapses and can't remember nothing of the incident. The .22 pistol used in the slaying has never been found. The victims were in a car which had broken down. An older brother had gone for mechanical aid. Simmons drove up, tried to start the car, and then ordered the girls to get into his own, officers said. They refused, and Simmons is said to have fired wildly into their car, killing Marta and Juan Manuel instantly. Hilda was alive when found. She lingered on in a hospital where she died Oct. 29. Most of the evidence against Simmons is based on her hospital bed testimony. The murders stirred anger in the Monterrey area, where the family was well known. In an unusual move citizens donated funds for a reward which totaled $8,000. Simmons was arrested Oct. 15 at Allende, Coahuila, trying to return to Texas by way of Pedras Negras. He was rushed to Monterrey, where the dying girl identified him. State Police Chief Jorge Sarquiz said a paraffin test of the man's hands showed he had shot a gun in the past few days. Simmons, as a result of military confusion, and did not admit or confess to the crime. But the state offered evidence he had entered Mexico at Nuevo Laredo on the night of the killing.

He told police he was a war veteran, and had been treated at mental institutions several times. It was later brought out he had been charged with car theft. Simmons told the district attorney: "I don't think I have committed any crime, nor that I have carried a pistol. I admit that I have mental lapses sometimes. There are occasions when I cannot remember what I have done." "I admit that I could have done it. But if I did, I remember nothing about it."

AP Reporter Held In Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—U. S. Embassy officials continued efforts today to see Richard Valeriani, Associated Press reporter held incommunicado since Fidel Castro's military investigation agents picked him up Saturday night. Also held was Tony Ortega, Cuban photographer. They were picked up after they had covered a riot at Havana Airport in which pro-Communists and anti-Communists clashed it out. Up to the morning neither Valeriani nor Ortega was allowed to communicate with the U. S. Embassy or the Associated Press, and no explanation was given for their detention. A number of other photographers and newsmen seized after the airport riot were released a few hours later. Valeriani, of Burlington, N. J., said just before he was picked up that telephone calls to his office were being monitored. A U. S. Embassy official went to investigation headquarters Sunday to see Valeriani. He was told to come back later because the person who could authorize a visit could not be located. When the embassy man returned Sunday night, he got the same answer.

Shepherd's Pie Recipe
2 lbs. lamb stew meat, boned and cubed
2 Tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. chili powder (optional)
3 Tbsp. pure vegetable oil, such as Wesson Oil
2 8-oz. cans Hunt's Tomato Sauce
2 cups water
1/2 tsp. salt
1 bay leaf
4 carrots, quartered
8 small onions
1/2 lb. cut string beans
5 cups mashed potatoes, homemade or instant
* You may substitute beef
Wipe meat with damp cloth. Mix flour, 1 tsp. salt, pepper, and chili powder, roll meat in this mixture; brown in hot oil. Pour off excess oil. Mix Hunt's Tomato Sauce, water, 1/2 tsp. salt and bay leaf. Pour over meat and simmer, covered, for 1 1/2 hours. Add vegetables, cook 30 min. longer, or until vegetables are tender. Pour stew into 3-qt. casserole. Spoon mashed potatoes around outside rim. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 15 min. If you make Shepherd's Pie a day ahead, add mashed potatoes before final heating. Follow with a light dessert such as fruit or Jell-o.
