Storm Alert In Area

By The Associated Press

Towering thunderheads built up in West Texas Tuesday and the U.S. Weather Bureau placed a wide area under a severe thunderstorm alert.

The bureau said a few severe thunderstorms are expected to develop between 3 and 9 p.m. in an area 60 miles either side of a line from Wink, Tex., to 60 miles northeast of Roswell, N.M.

This includes portions of southeastern New Mexico and the South Plains of West Texas.

Jess Wilbanks, Oil Operator, Dies In Phoenix

Jess Wilbanks, 63, independent oil operator and widely known resident of Big Spring for more than three decades died Monday at 2:15 p.m. (CST) in Phoenix, Ariz.

He had suffered a ruptured ulcer while in Phoenix on business and entered the Good Samaritan Hospital two weeks ago Monday. Complications followed, and in the wake of these he sustained a severe heart attack during the week-end and he could never rally from it.

Mrs. Wilbanks and his partner brother, Grady (Red) Wilbanks, were at his bedside.

The body will be returned here aboard the T&P train at 11:30 p.m. today and will be in state at the River Funeral Home until time for the services at 10 a.m. Thursday in the First Christian Church. Rites will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. John Black, assisted by the Rev. Donald Hungerford, pastor of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park.

BOOM TOWNS

Mr. Wilbanks was born in Gloucester on March 27, 1897, after service in the U. S. Navy during World War I, he entered the oil business as a driller. Operating a cable tool rig, he "yo-yoed," as he described it, through the celebrated booms at Ranger, Eastland, Moran and Breckenridge.

At one time a contractor got so far behind on his wages that he offered to settle with Mr. Wilbanks for half the rig. The offer was accepted and soon he had acquired the other half of the rig.

After operating the spudder by himself for a time, he was joined by his brother, Grady, and later they formed the Wilbanks Bros. partnership.

In 1929 he came to Big Spring and drilled in several fields, among them the East Howard where he obtained interest in some production. The brother team frequently swapped interests in wells or took acreage for part of their pay on wells. When the Spraberry Trend development suddenly unfolded, their investments began to pay off more substantially than ever.

WAR OPERATIONS

During World War II when Grady Wilbanks was in the Seabees, Jess Wilbanks operated the business. They set up two concerns, Wilbanks Bros. Drilling Company and Wilbanks Drilling Company in 1943, but in 1951 these were dissolved and a partnership was formed as Wilbanks and Rutter.

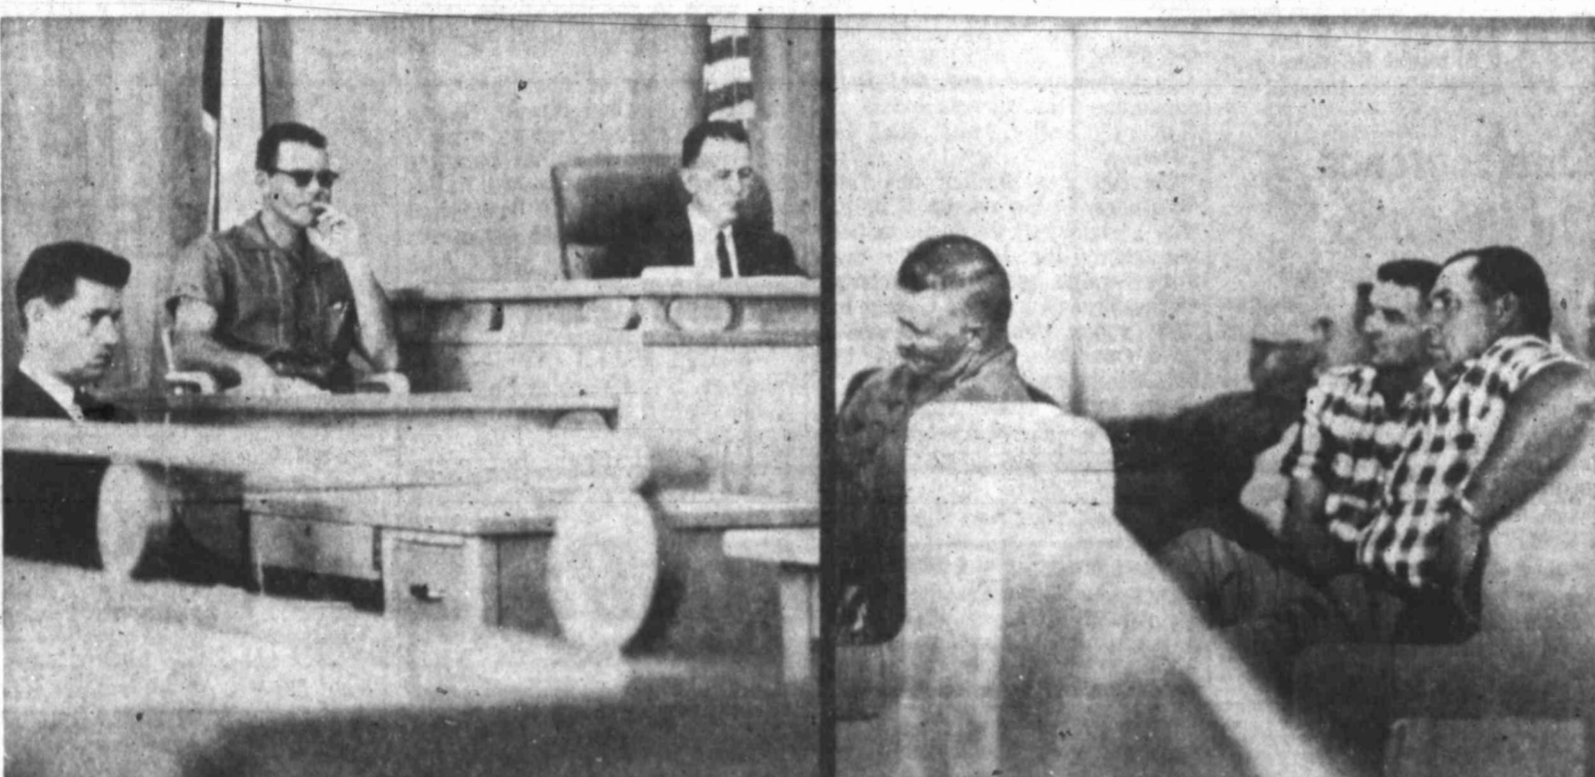

An avid sportsman, Jess Wilbanks in recent years had a small stable of thoroughbred race horses.

He was married March 4, 1933 to Mrs. Beth Rice, who survives him. Other survivors include his mother, Mrs. L. E. Wilbanks Sr., Cleburne; three brothers, Grady Wilbanks, Putnam, and L. E. Wilbanks Jr., Cleburne; a sister, Mrs. Dolly Martufi, Broussard, La.

Pallbearers will be O. F. Clark, Billy Rutter Jr., B. E. Casey, M. Casey, Jerry Worthing, M. F. McMechen, Doyle Vaughn, and Robert Currie. All friends will be considered honorary pallbearers.

Ulysses Hall, president of the Gay Hill School Board, on the Stand at restraining order hearing Monday. Members and patrons of Gay Hill and Center Point districts absorbed in the proceedings.

3 Major Steps Taken In Annexation Battle

Three important steps in the fight that the Gay Hill and Center Point school districts are making against being annexed to the Big Spring Independent School District were taken Monday.

Judge Ralph W. Caton, 118th District Court, granted the two districts a temporary restraining order against the Howard County School Board and the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District Monday afternoon.

This temporary order will be in effect only for three days; the court set a hearing on the order for Friday. It must either be extended as a temporary injunction or dismissed at that time.

A delegation of school officials from the two annexed districts laid notice of appeal from the action of the county board on the desk of the Texas Commissioner of Education in Austin earlier in the day.

'Fraud' Claimed In School Action

Allegation of "fraudulent action" by two members of the Howard County Board is included in the petition filed Monday afternoon by the boards of Gay Hill and Center Point schools protesting their annexation to the Big Spring Independent School District.

The "fraud" complaint is set up of half a dozen allegations one of which is the petition filed in 118th District Court from the County Board's action.

Styling of the suit is Ralph Neill et al versus Robert J. Cook et al. In the preamble, the suit lists the plaintiffs as Neill, Joe Mangum and Howard Lloyd as members of the Center Point board; Ulysses Hall, Jimmie Felts, Jack Buchannon, H. L. Moats, Weaver Brown and Jeff Painter, members of the Gay Hill board. The defendants are Truman Jones, Robert J. Cook, James G. Lewis, Fred Roman and J. D. Gilmore, members of the Howard County School Board; Harold Talbot, Wendal Parks, Red Womack, Dr. Floyd Mays, Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, Clyde McMahon and Dan Krause, members of the Big Spring School Board.

The contention set up by the attorneys for the two districts allege that the action taken by the county board was at a meeting not specified in the statutes and not held in accordance with Article 2687 of the state school laws.

The action, the petition alleges, was "arbitrary, capricious and an abuse of discretion by the county board." This is defended with the statement that both Gay Hill and Center Point schools own and operate adequate school plants, modern teaching staffs and facilities that would better serve scholars than the district as they have in the past. They also argue the Big Spring schools are overcrowded and inadequate.

The petition, in support of its contention that the county board was "guilty of a fraudulent action," stated that the county board could not express the views they might hold on what course is to be followed in connection with the newly annexed districts.

DEFENSE ARGUMENT

In summing up for the defendants, Jones insisted that no threat of interference with the two districts existed and there was no need to restrain the Big Spring board or the county board from taking action. He contended the petition itself was invalid in that Felts, as a party to the suit, was ineligible to attest to it as a notary public.

Hooser argued that the possibility of sudden seizure exists and the defense had failed to prove that there was no intention on the part of the Big Spring board to do so.

Judge Caton finally announced that he would grant the restraining order. However, he warned the litigants, a temporary restraining order cannot prevail for longer than 10 days. If its provisions are to continue, a temporary injunction must be substituted and such an injunction could be ruled upon at a hearing. He urged that both sides agree on speedy action on this injunction. He suggested a hearing for Friday.

READY NOW

"We are ready now" said Jones. "Indeed, we would like to get at this matter by tomorrow. In view of what Superintendent Bailey said, it is evident that he does not feel that the court order properly empowers him to do his routine duties in the matter of paychecks for teachers and school expenses. We would like to have a hearing soon."

After some discussion, Judge Caton stated from the bench, "I do not imply there is any irregularity by the county board or by anyone in this matter. This procedure today is but a means to get to the bottom of this problem. I think it most advisable to move with the matter of whether a temporary injunction be issued as quickly as possible."

late Monday, attorneys for the two school districts, filed a combination appeal and petition in 118th District Court aimed at setting aside the action of the county trustees. This case was filed at the conclusion of the hearing on the restraining order. No date has been set for the trial of the issues outlined in this lengthy document.

The petition for a temporary restraining order asked that court restore "status quo" to the two districts until such time as the final decision on the validity of the county board's action could be determined. This term, "status quo," was a bone of contention in the 14-hour hearing. Bill Jones, who announced at the opening of the case that he was appearing as counsel for the County Board and for the Big Spring Independent School District Board, attacked it as vague and meaningless. Harvey Hooser, one of the attorneys for Gay Hill and Center Point, argued that it was meant to keep in effect the operational procedures which were being followed prior to last Wednesday's action by the county board.

TWO WITNESSES

The school districts presented Ralph Neill, president of the Center Point district, and Ulysses Hall, president of the Gay Hill board, as witnesses. These men testified they had been empowered by their boards to go to court and to the commissioner of education in opposition to the action of the county board. They said they wanted the temporary restraining order to prevent the Big Spring District from taking over their two schools.

On cross examination by Jones, both men said they had received no word from any member of the Big Spring board or from Floyd Parsons, city school superintendent, that such a seizure of the districts was contemplated. They said that their schools should be safeguarded until such time as the final decision on the county board's action was reached.

Neill said that he was one of the signers of the petition for the restraining order and that he and his board wanted control of the school until such time as a final adjudication of the appeal was found.

SAME PERSON

Jones asked if the Jimmy Felts who signed the petition as one of the school board members was the same man who acted as notary public in the affidavit attached to the petition. The witnesses said the man was the same person in both instances.

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, whose responsibility it is to issue and sign vouchers for teachers salaries and school expenses for the common schools, was called as a witness by the plaintiff. He identified the original motions adopted by the county board annexing the two districts.

He was subjected to extensive questioning on just what his present attitude would be in the matter of issuing vouchers against the funds of the two schools. He said that he would have to have a specific order from the court instructing him to make such payments before he would feel free to do so. He implied he did not feel satisfied with the simple statement in the proposed restraining order and that it did not delegate specific authority to him to spend the funds.

TESTIMONY ATTACKED

Floyd Parsons, president of the Big Spring School Board, and Jack Cook, chairman of the county board, at the defense table, told the court that he had no plans nor desire to summarily demand possession of the two annexed districts and had no intention of so doing. He said he had talked to three members of the Big Spring board and that they held the same views as himself. The plaintiff's attorneys, Harvey and Hartman Hooser, attacked this reply, contending that testimony from Parsons was of no value and that he was merely an employee of the board; did not establish the board's policies and was charged with merely carrying on the orders of the board. They argued that he had not talked to a majority of his board members and

Crash Kills 4 Persons

GREENVILLE (AP)—A car carrying two mothers and their children crashed today into the side of a train. One of the mothers and three of the children were killed.

The women were en route from their homes north of here to a washateria in Greenville. Their nine-year-old car smashed into the second unit of a Katy passenger train.

Killed were Mrs. E. L. Bush, 38, wife of a Greenville garage mechanic; their two children, Emily Denise Bush, 5, and Michael Bush, 3; and Randy Lee Ward, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lloyd Ward of Rt. 3, Celeste, Tex.

Mrs. Ward, 34, was brought to a Greenville hospital in poor condition was critical. The Highway Patrol said she was the driver. Ward is an employee of Temco in Greenville.

There is no mechanical warning device at the farm road crossing. Wreckage was scattered 50 yards down the tracks. The engine was torn from the car.

The five-unit train was en route from Greenville to Denison. Conductor Burke Thompson said the car hit the second unit of the diesel engine. He said his first knowledge of the accident was when he felt the impact.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. nuclear-powered submarine Triton completed today an underwater 36,000-mile trip around the world.

The historic 84-day voyage traced much of the route of the first trip around the globe by the surface ships of Ferdinand Magellan. The Magellan expedition took more than three years in 1519-22.

The history-making submerged cruise by the world's biggest submarine was partially broken twice as she girdled the globe.

Once off Montevideo, Uruguay, the Triton thrust her superstructure above the surface to transfer a critically ill chief petty officer to the cruiser Macon. She added 2,000 miles to her cruise to make the rendezvous for the crewman, suffering from kidney stones, and fell several days behind schedule.

The vessel, sometimes described as a submerged cruiser or underwater island, came up again on May 2 of Cadiz, Spain, to honor Magellan, who sailed from there on his epochal first round-the-world journey of exploration.

But both times the main part of the ship remained sealed as it submerged.

The skipper of the Triton, Capt. Edward L. Beach, was picked up by helicopter off the Delaware coast today and flown to the White House to receive the Medal of Merit from President Eisenhower.

The 42-year-old Beach served as Eisenhower's naval aide for four years.

The smiling captain stood, hands on hips on the deck of his ship with some of the crew when the helicopter came overhead to fly him to Washington.

The huge, gray hull of the Triton was rust-streaked and slimy from the long voyage.

As the helicopter made the one-hour flight back to Washington, Beach talked with newsmen who had ridden the helicopter. He seemed a little pale from his many days out of the sunlight and atmosphere, but he said "none of us really noticed it until we came topside this morning in the bright light for the first time."

At the White House, Eisenhower personally pinned the Legion of Merit decoration on Beach's blouse.

Glowing with obvious pleasure, the President warmly shook the hand of his former aide.

In brief, this was the route and time schedule for the Triton's voyage:

- Dived Feb. 16 off the tip of Long Island.
- Arrived at St. Paul's Rocks, midway between the tips of South America and Africa Feb. 24.
- Crossed the equator Feb. 24.
- After sailing almost to the Falkland Islands near the tip of South America, the Triton backtracked to a point near Montevideo, to transfer the sick crew member.
- Rounded Cape Horn March 7.
- Observed Easter Island through periscope March 13.
- Passed south of Hawaii March 20.
- Passed Guam March 28.
- Left Lombok Strait in the East Indies April 5.
- Rounded Africa's Cape of Good Hope April 17.
- Reached St. Paul's Rocks once more April 25, completing the trip around the world.
- Observed Canary Islands April 30.
- Paid homage to Magellan off Cadiz, Spain, May 2.
- Surfaced off Rehoboth, Del., May 10.

On the voyage, the Triton traveled 41,519 statute miles submerged, of which 3,708 represented the circumnavigation of the globe.

The Triton was submerged 83 days, 10 hours and 15 minutes—far exceeding the record in 1958 by the nuclear submarine Seawolf.

Aboard the Triton for the historic circumnavigation cruise were 183 men, including a number of extra technicians and scientists. Her normal complement is about 150.

Today the 7,790-ton giant, designed as a radar warning submersible, was headed for her home port of New London, Conn.

Districts Set Public Meeting

An open meeting to discuss the annexation problem of Gay Hill and Center Point school districts will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at the Gay Hill School.

The two districts are making a vigorous effort to set aside an action by the Howard County Board in annexing them to the Big Spring Independent School District.

Leaders in the two communities said the meeting is open to all interested persons and that the county board members are invited to attend.

The two districts have obtained a temporary restraining order against the Big Spring Independent School District to prevent it from taking over control of the districts and have an appeal from the county board's action pending in the District Court.

Errors Won't Change Vote

Three minor errors, none of which changed the final outcome in any race, were found in the canvass of primary election votes by the Howard County Executive Democratic Committee Tuesday morning.

All of the errors were in the tabulations of Box 8, West Ward School, according to Frank Hardesty, county chairman. Revised tabulation of the vote gave Robert E. Looney 45 additional votes; Viola Robinson 10 more votes and cost Lyndon Johnson four votes.

The executive board also drew up the ballot form for the runoff primary on June 4. In the drawing for names, David Reed will lead the list for state representative. Amey Glenn will be in second place on the ballot. Lloyd W. Davidson drew top billing and W. T. McDonald second place in the contest for judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

In the only other race on the ticket, that for constable at Coahoma, Tom Birkhead will be first on the list and Grover Coates, second.

Soviets Protest Incident; U.S. Asks To See Pilot

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today delivered a stiff protest to the United States about spy flights over Soviet territory.

At the same time the United States requested permission to interview the pilot of the Lockheed U2 shot down near Sverdlovsk on May Day.

Although the Soviet protest was emphatic, it was understood to be polite in tone and not calculated to raise the temperature over the incident.

The American request to see the pilot, Francis G. Powers of Pound, Va., also was calm in tone. Officials said all that was contemplated was to ask about his welfare, how he was treated and if he has legal assistance.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned Monday night that Soviet rockets will shoot down any other intelligence planes that venture over Russian soil and will be turned against bases in any foreign nations that allow American planes to take off on such spy missions.

U. S. Admits Sending Aircraft To Prevent Surprise Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has acknowledged sending spy planes inside the Soviet Union occasionally as part of "extensive aerial surveillance" designed to protect the Free World from surprise attack.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter reported the practice Monday after briefing congressional leaders on developments since the Soviet claim to have shot down a U.S. plane deep in Soviet territory May 1.

"The United States has not and does not shirk this responsibility," Herter said, leaving the implications—not discouraged by the State Department—that such flights might be continued until Soviet secrecy is relaxed.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev took note Monday night of an earlier State Department statement which mentioned Soviet secrecy in explaining the May 1 flight.

Khrushchev called it "a very dangerous explanation" because he said it tries to justify and does not denounce such flights.

Khrushchev's talk at a Czechoslovakia Embassy reception in Moscow was regarded as a further muscle-flexing by the Soviet Premier in riding his new propaganda advantage and maneuvering for the summit gathering starting next Monday.

But it was noted that Khrushchev and the Kremlin's propaganda organs generally, Monday played on the plane incident as only part of their broader and more familiar theme that the Soviet Union wants disarmament, a Berlin settlement and peace.

Talking about the plane, Khrushchev threatened to launch rockets at bases of U.S. allies who allow them to be used for spy flights over the Soviet Union. At the same time he spoke of U.S. Soviet friendship, praised U.S. Ambassador Lewellyn Thompson and avoided linking President Eisenhower to the plane incident.

Washington awaited an official Soviet response—not propaganda utterances—to its note of last Friday asking for full facts from the Soviet inquiry into the incident.

Then the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was expected to follow up by asking to see Francis G. Powers, the downed American pilot who Khrushchev claims has confessed to a planned spy flight across the Soviet Union from Pakistan to Norway.

U.S. officials watched to see whether the Soviet boss would try to stir the incident to a crescendo—perhaps by a spectacular show such as a press conference with Powers or a public trial— and

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has informed the United States that the captured American spy pilot will be brought to trial under Soviet law.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States said today it would uphold its defense commitments with its allies if Russia should strike at their bases.

98 Delegates Meet Saturday

Howard County Democratic Precinct Delegates, 98 strong, will meet at 8 p.m. Saturday in the District Court room. Their principal business will be to select delegates to the state convention, Howard County will be allowed eight delegates to the state meeting.

Frank Hardesty, county Democratic executive committee chairman, said it was probable the county convention would select 16 delegates to the state meeting, each to have one-half vote.

He anticipated a harmonious meeting. He pointed to the previous conventions of last Saturday night in which no dissension arose and said that they forecast a routine session for the county.

Legislative Tone Awaiting Runoffs

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

Reports of runoff races resulting from Saturday's balloting on Texas legislators show that the tone of the 1961 Legislature won't be decided until the June 4 second primary.

Complete unofficial results announced by the Texas Legislative Service show 15 House members were defeated in their reelection bids and 32 House seats are tied up in runoff campaigns.

Three prominent senators were defeated and another has a runoff. The casualty list includes such prominent veteran legislators as Sens. Bill Fly, Floyd Bradshaw, and Bill Wood and Reps. Max Smith, Frates Seeligen, Tony Genoglio and Louis Anderson.

Here are the unofficial and sometimes incomplete, results of the contested Senate races by districts:

5. Sen. Neville Colson, Navarro, defeated Rep. J. C. Zbrank, Liberty, by a vote of about 28,000 to 18,000. Colson, a liberal leader in the House, carried only his home county.

7. Sen. Bill Wood, Taylor, apparently lost his reelection bid to Galloway Calhoun Jr., Tyler, by about 1,500 votes.

10. Sen. Doyce Willis, Fort Worth, contested in an easy victory over liberal Claude Latham, Fort Worth.

11. Sen. Jarrard Seibert, Temple, won reelection over Godfrey Sullivan Jr., Waco.

18. Sen. William Fy, Victoria, lost almost 2 to 1 to Winslow.

22. Sen. Floyd Bradshaw, Weatherford, lost to Thomas Criglish, Mineral Wells, by about 2,000 votes.

25. Sen. Henry Gonzalez, San Antonio, apparently headed for a runoff with conservative R. L. (Bob) Shrickland.

Late counts showed Gonzalez with 27,889, almost 4,000 shy of a majority. Shrickland had 22,882.

27. Sen. Robert Hudson, Brownsville, led former Rep. Jim Bates, Edinburg, by less than 1,000 votes in incomplete totals.

House returns by districts showed these results:

1-2: W. W. Bann, DeKalb, defeated Rep. L. C. Terrell, DeKalb.

3: James Elder, Naples, defeated Rep. A. H. (Boss) Patten, Naples.

4: Runoff between Rep. James Adams, Mt. Pleasant, and Billy Russell, Pittsburg.

5: Runoff between Rep. Beasie Huffman, Marshall, and Nelson Cowles, Hallsville.

7: Rep. Sam Collins, Newton, defeated George Allison, Jasper.

8: Runoff between Rep. Louis Dugas Jr., Orange, and Clyde Haynes, Yellow Springs.

9: Runoff between Rep. W. T. O'Brien, Fort Worth, and J. D. Walden, Fort Worth.

10: Runoff between Rep. Don Gladden, Fort Worth, and David Finney, Fort Worth.

11: Runoff between Rep. Don Kennard, Fort Worth, and Henry Nyegaard, Fort Worth.

12: Runoff between Rep. Scott McCook, Fort Worth, and Tommy Shannon, Fort Worth.

13: Runoff between Rep. A. H. Edmonson, Fort Worth, and Rep. Howard Green, Fort Worth.

14: Runoff between Rep. Warren Cowen, Fort Worth, and Marjorie Brown, Fort Worth.

15: Runoff between Rep. J. E. Ward, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Vera Casey, Keene.

16: Runoff between Rep. H. A. Leaverton, Evans, and Karl Segrat, Stephenville.

17: Runoff between Rep. J. E. Johnson, Temple, and Rheel Bergan, Killam.

18: Runoff between Rep. John Cox, 65-1, Rep. Wilson Foreman, Austin, defeated Christian Card, Austin.

19: Runoff between Rep. Charles Sandahl Jr., Austin, and Jack Ester, Austin.

20: Runoff between Rep. Henry Fletcher, Luling, and Rep. Max Smith, San Marcos.

21: Runoff between Rep. E. L. Valdez, San Antonio, and Rep. Franklin Spears, San Antonio.

22: Runoff between Rep. Merl Huebner, San Antonio, and Rep. Arthur Dittler, San Antonio.

Teller Urges Atom Shelters

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—"If we build appropriate shelters, the largest numbers of our people may be saved even in the worst kind of nuclear war," Dr. Edward Teller said Monday night.

The University of California nuclear physicist, popularly known as the father of the H-bomb, told the Midwest Research Institute that for a majority to survive nuclear attack, "we must build underground shelters that are within walking distance of all of our citizens."

The notion that nuclear war would mean the end of civilization is a false one, Dr. Teller said, and serves only to hinder preparations for defense.

"There would be great and widespread suffering in an all-out nuclear war but I do not believe the human race would be exterminated," he said. "I do not believe that it would be done with the weapons available today."

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A 39-year-old woman charged with stabbing her boyfriend Tuesday was free of the charge. She married her victim.

Judge L. A. Grayson last week gave Patricia Lee Coppenhaver a choice—face sentencing for aggravated assault or get a marriage license with Cecil E. Barry, 49.

When she went before Grayson Monday it was to be married, not sentenced. Barry, who reported his stab wound wasn't serious, said he had forgiven Patricia.

Absentee Votes Give Parr Candidates Election Edge

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Absentee votes Monday gave victories to several Old Party candidates in Duval County who were running behind their opponents in Saturday night reports on the state Democratic Primary.

The tabulation of 637 absentee votes caused changes in the outcome of several races.

Political boss George B. Parr, who leads the Old Party, won the office of Democratic county chairman while three anti-Parr candidates won county-wide offices.

Parr trailed until the absentee votes were counted. The final tally gave him 2,706 votes and 2,140 for his opponent, Santiago Cantu, the incumbent.

CREATIVE URGE

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who, at age 50 thinks she is a writer? She lets the dishes pile up in the sink and sits up until two and three in the morning typing. She has been writing a "romantic novel" for three years. She let me read some of it, and Abby, it is positively filthy! She says that's what it takes to get a book sold these days.

This novel of hers is full of grammatical errors, but that doesn't worry her. She doesn't even have a high school education. I told her if she had so much spare time she should get herself a set of eighth grade school books and begin her education where she left off 38 years ago. How can I get her to give up this foolishness and do something useful with her time?

LONG SUFFERING HUSBAND

DEAR LONG SUFFERING: No wife should pursue a hobby at the expense of her family, but if she is interested in writing professionally, she should take a course in creative writing and learn the fundamentals. Only a mountain of shocking pink rejection slips will discourage a budding writer, and sometimes it's easier to move a mountain.

DEAR ABBY I disagree with the answer you gave "CURIOUS" who wanted to know what the churches did with all their money. I am personally acquainted with a minister who makes $10,000 a year. He pays no rent, and his congregation provides him with a new automobile every year. He gets a discount on everything he buys because he is a clergyman.

And people consider it an honor to invite him for free meals. I know of many small country churches where they can't keep a minister over a year because "The Lord" is always calling him to go to some larger church where there's more money." NO FOOL

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "CURIOUS" was perfect and covered every phase of church needs. "CURIOUS" must be one of those people who attends church on Christmas and Easter and thinks the dollar bill he puts in the collection plate will keep the church going all year.

FAITHFUL READER

DEAR ABBY: My friend and I were discussing something and I turned into sort of an argument, and we want you to settle it for us.

If a man and a woman were married and then divorced, and then they married each other again, which wedding anniversary should they celebrate? Their first or their second?

ARGUING

DEAR ARGUING: If they have children, they should celebrate the anniversary of their first wedding. Otherwise, celebrate the anniversary of the marriage that "look."

DEAR ABBY: Write "What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of the Big Spring Herald. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25c and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Trouble? Don't Blame Your Job

By ALTON BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Is your job getting you down? Well, a psychiatrist said today, people are usually very quick to blame their jobs for unhappiness, insomnia, depression, heart pains and other ills.

But more often their troubles stem from home or social life, or something within themselves, which then interfere with their work, he said.

Several studies indicate about 10 per cent of people have symptoms severe enough to interfere with their work. Dr. Alan A. McLean, International Business Machines Corp., New York, told the New York State Medical Society's annual convention.

"We have heard that 'overwork' caused Mr. Jones to develop an acute schizophrenic reaction."

"We read that 'your next promotion can kill you.'"

"We have read the recommendation made by skilled physicians that Mrs. Smith needs a medical leave of absence to overcome her feelings of anxiety and inadequacy."

And many times, McLean added, we hear that job pressure and tension has "caused" insomnia, loss of appetite, high blood pressure, anemia or heart pains, and brain strokes.

But psychiatrists acting as consultants to industry report only a very small percentage of employees with psychiatric symptoms are actually sick because of their jobs, he said.

McLean reported a small study of 24 men, ranging from skilled craftsmen to corporate officials, who became emotionally ill. They were in their early 50's on the average, had been with their firms—seven different firms in the study—an average of 25 years.

All became ill after some change in their jobs, including promotions, change of a boss to whom the man was accustomed.

But in each case, the man had been under some other stress three to six months before the job change, McLean said. Some had been physically ill, others under emotional stress at home, in social life, or financially.

Each man was the kind who was dependent upon his company, who seemed to need a strong guiding hand, and appeared to be looking for emotional support from his company, he said. Then the job change came along when they were under stress.

McLean concludes that factors connected with the job don't seem to trigger most symptoms of emotional disturbances which are seen on the job.

Found Dead

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Grace Burgher, 82, was found dead Monday in the swimming pool of the apartment where she lived. Police were investigating the cause of death.

'Poor Boy' Campaign

AUSTIN (AP)—Dist. Judge W. T. McDonald of Bryan says he will put on another active "poor boy" campaign for judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals in the Democratic runoff.

McDonald, 48, got into the runoff with Judge Lloyd Davidson of the court. Third man in the race was Atty. Jim Bowmer of Temple.

McDonald said news stories which asserted he had not campaigned actively were wrong.

"I'm not complaining," he said, "but nothing could be further from correct. I lost 15 pounds visiting almost every section of the state in my old 1955 Buick. I just didn't have a press agent."

McDonald issued very few press releases, statements or schedules during the first primary campaign. Often his name was not mentioned in news roundups on campaigning.

"I put on a poor boy campaign with no help except the able assistance of my wife and my secretary," McDonald said. "I didn't have time or the means to keep the newspapers informed of where I was or what I was doing."

Earl Long Already Plans His Return As Governor

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Earl Kemp Long—rumbled rebel of the pea patch—leaves the throne room of Louisiana politics today. Already he's planning his return as governor four years from now.

Until then, the 64-year-old retiring governor will divide his restless waking hours between the upstate farm he calls his pea patch and an apartment within sight of the capitol.

It's the turn of Jimmie H. Davis, singer and businessman, to be governor of the land of the bayous.

In this land of uncertain and devious politics, one thing seemed certain: Gov. Davis would not equal in color and calamity the term just completed by Earl Long. Hardly anyone could do this.

Remember a few days back when President Charles de Gaulle of France paid a sentimental visit to New Orleans, the Paris of the South. In a few hours, Gov. Long managed to walk out before De Gaulle spoke at a luncheon, steal some of the spotlight by riding in a parade in his white convertible and give the reception committee falling hearts with assorted attention-getting antics.

Now there were some who saw Gov. Long's performance at the De Gaulle affair as the misguided and aimless act of a man who was a patient at mental hospitals in two states last summer. Other observers saw there as the beginning of the governor's program to run again in four years.

He didn't deny the latter view a week ago during a brief talk with newspapermen en route to a race track meet outside New-Orleans. A lot depends on his health during the next four years. It is evident the fiery brother of Huey (Kingfish) Long is taking no special precautions.

His actions are nearly as unpredictable as in the 12-week stretch last summer when he fought his family and political enemies to emerge triumphant from mental hospitals, only to cut across country in pursuit of pleasure.

Just before his estranged wife, Blanche, had him taken to a Galveston, Texas, hospital at the start of the frantic week, Gov. Long harangued the Louisiana Legislature like it had never been talked to in history.

And, from time to time, this master of the country caustic crack came up with a bit of philosophy that elevated his stature in the midst of disaster. Like the bit that really signaled his intention to run for governor of Louisiana again:

"There's a lot of good reading in an old book," he said.

Crushed To Death

DALLAS (AP)—A heavy equipment worker died Monday when a huge scoop machine he was operating slid into a gravel pit in southeast Dallas and crushed him. He was W. H. Kimbrell, 46. He was working his first day at the pit.

Thanks For Your Help

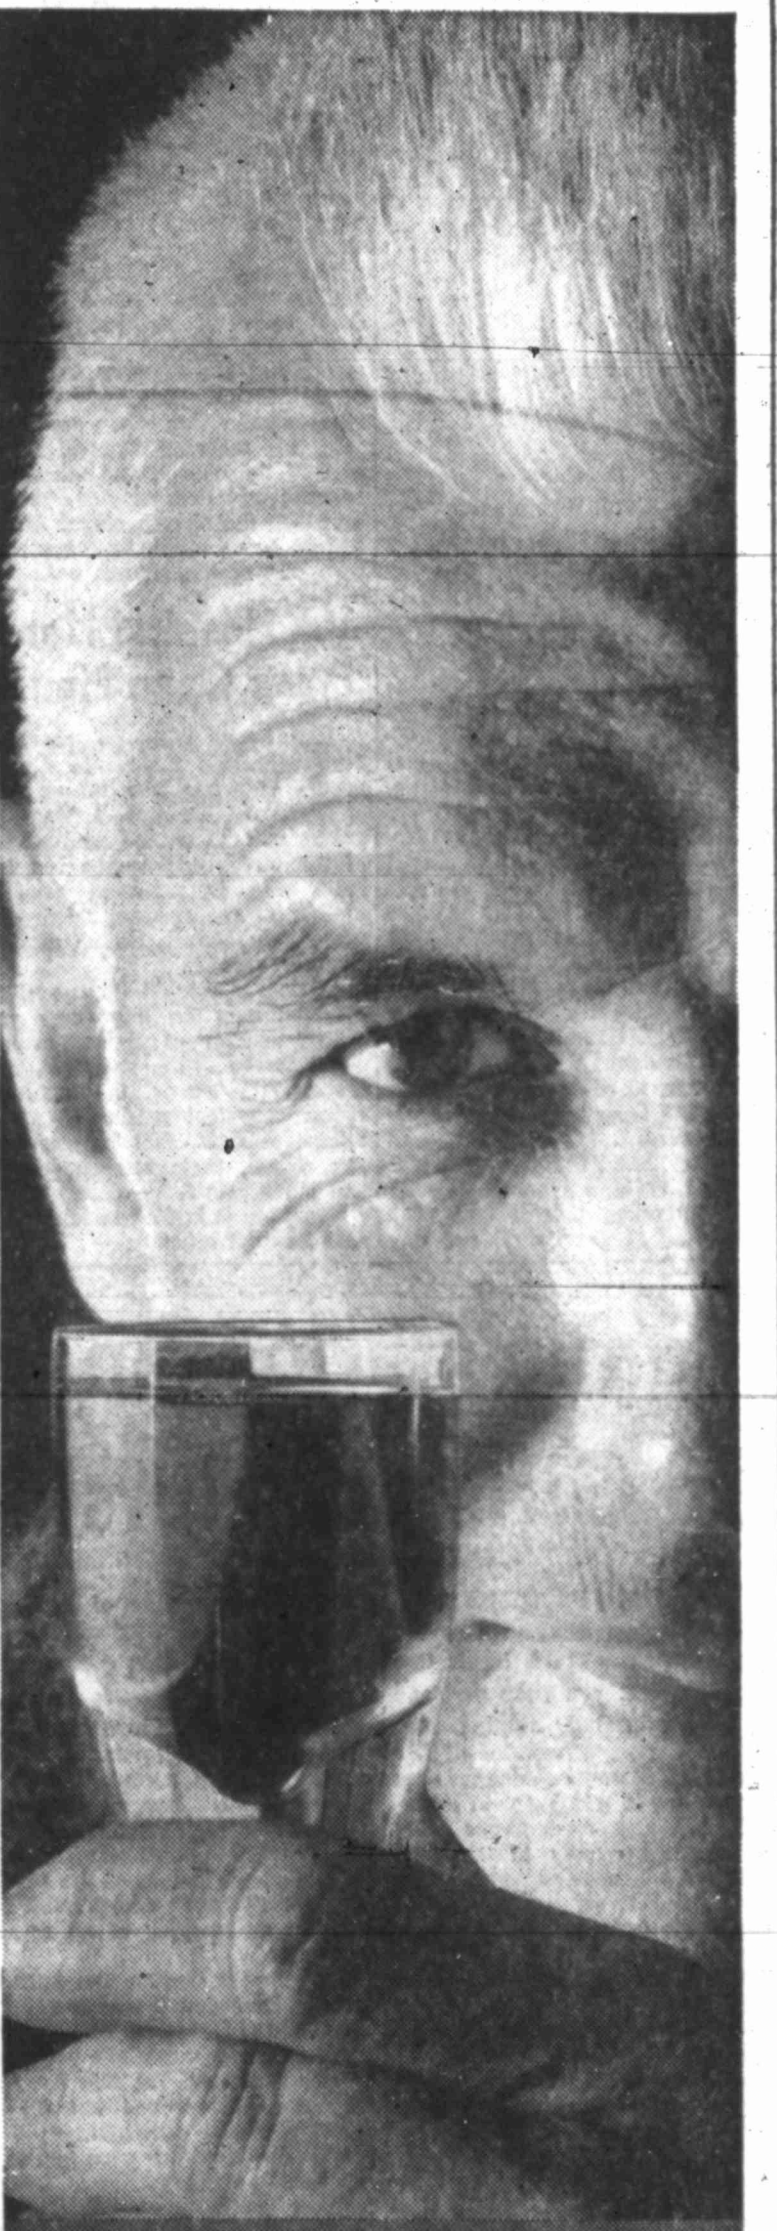

It is impossible to say how grateful I am for the support of friends who have honored me with a place in the run-off primary for the Democratic nomination as your state representative.

I realize how dependent a man is on others, and I hope that those who worked for me and voted for me Saturday will continue to do so.

With other good men in the race, naturally they were the first choice of many voters. I respect those preferences and now I hope that I can become your first choice. Thanks for every word you have spoken and will speak in my behalf.

Big Spring Band Places In Top Three At Festival

The Big Spring High School Band placed among the top three in its class during the Enid, Okla., band festival last weekend.

Band director Doug Wiehe reported the local group placed with two other bands from Oklahoma and Florida. There were some 10,000 people and 115 bands from all over the U. S. involved in the festival.

The Big Spring band was given first ratings in concert and parade marching and second in sight-reading. Wiehe reported the sight-reading competition was especially difficult, and that the only band to rate a first in that category was in a classification above that of Big Spring (from a larger school).

Three Big Spring students were given chairs in the Tri-State Band, formed from the top students among those attending the festival. They were Wayne Griffith, Durwood Rutledge, and Carolyn Thompson.

The Tri-State Band was heard in concert Saturday evening from Enid, and the program was carried locally by radio station KBST. A fourth member of the Tri-State Band, Doug Davis, became ill before the concert and could not take part.

Winning places on the Tri-State double record ensemble were Phyllis Palmer and Lida Piveash.

In addition, many local soloists and ensembles won first ratings.

The Big Spring band received praise from one of the judges, the noted conductor Edward Franko Goldman. He noted that the local group was vastly improved over last year, when it received mostly second ratings.

The band left Big Spring Wednesday and returned Sunday. A concert featuring many of the Enid selections is tentatively scheduled for 7:30 p.m., May 19 in the City Auditorium. Featured soloist in this concert will be Lawrence Wiehe, trombone soloist with the U. S. Navy Band in Washington, D. C. He is a brother of Doug Wiehe.

Winning first divisions in solos at Enid were Herman Hodges, French horn; Ray Young, French horn; Wayne Griffith, cornet; Doug Davis, tuba; Don Mitchell, tuba; Durwood Rutledge, trombone; Mike Bishop, tuba; and Eric Brewster, bass clarinet.

Second ratings were won by Carolyn Thompson, alto sax; Joe Reed, cornet; Edward Lovless, baritone sax; Wayne Williams, French horn; Kathleen Soldan, clarinet.

A trombone quartet winning first division was composed of Durwood Rutledge, Jerry Younger, Sammy Waters, and Joyce Horn. First place for a brass sextet went to Wayne Griffith, Charles Dunaque, Wayne Williams, Doug Davis, and Durwood Rutledge.

First for a clarinet trio was won by Mary Jane Engstrom, Kathy Soldan and Carolyn Lewis.

Second division was won by a French horn quartet composed of Wayne Williams, Herman Hodges, Doreen Kennedy, and Bill Edwards; a clarinet quartet including Mary Jane Engstrom, Kathy Soldan, Mike Bishop, and Jean Fitzpatrick; a saxophone sextet including Carolyn Thompson, Joe Ed Crawford, Farrel Smith, Chad Black, Paula Faubion and Edward Lovless; and a saxophone quartet including Joe Ed Crawford, Don Bynum, John Black, and Farrel Smith.

300 Students To Tour Runnels

Approximately 300 sixth grade students, primarily from Bauer and Boydston schools will visit Runnels Junior High School Wednesday for an orientation tour of the junior high system.

Tom Ernest, principal at Runnels school, said the visitors will come to the school at 1 p.m. and stay two hours. Ernest said about 30 senior students at the junior high will help conduct the tour and attempt to familiarize incoming students with teachers and facilities.

After the tour through the school, the students will go to the gymnasium for refreshments and a social visit with some of the seventh grade teachers.

Principal Ernest and Student Council President Bobby Williams will speak to the group. Ernest said that probably a few other students from Washington Place, Airport, and College Heights schools would also visit Runnels Wednesday.

UF Trustees Meet Thursday

A special meeting of the board of trustees of the United Fund has been called for Thursday afternoon. It will be at 5 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce office.

A new vice president is to be elected. Randall Polk, current vice president, steps up to the Fund presidency to replace K. D. Heston, who has moved from the city.

UF trustees also will be asked to approve policies and procedures for handling the fund campaign in the fall. An arrangement has been worked out whereby the Chamber of Commerce staff will handle the office details, and be paid a fee by the United Fund.

Polk called for a full attendance at Thursday's meeting.

McClure Estimates Theft At $500

R. E. McClure, who was choked into unconsciousness Monday morning and his service station robbed, estimated Tuesday that the robbery cost him $500.

The robbery, committed in the early morning hours, was the third in a year and a half at the Texaco station at 4th and Douglas.

McClure, back on the job today, recalled the last previous robbery was on April 14, 1959. The culprit hit him over the head and made off with about $250.

The night of Jan. 7, 1959, McClure's 20-year-old attendant, Gerald Dee Limer, was shot to death in a robbery in which $200 was taken.

Gunman Fires At Russell's Place

An unidentified gunman, armed with a .22 calibre rifle, fired a shot through a north window at the J. E. Russell residence two miles north on the old Gail road sometime last night.

The occupants of the house were asleep and did not hear the shot nor the shattering glass. When they awoke today, they found the window broken, a scar on a chair and the badly battered slug on the floor beneath the chair.

Fern Cox, deputy sheriff, investigated the shooting.

He said that the nearest road from the north side of the house is a half-mile away. Whether the shot was fired from that point is not known.

Burglars Hit Finance Office

Three thefts were reported to police during the past 24 hours, including a $400 burglary of a Permian Building office.

T. B. Atkins, of the Big Spring Finance Company, whose office was burglarized Monday, estimated the culprit made off with about $400 in cash.

Police found the office door unbarred and filling cabinets pried open. The money which was taken was kept in one of the cabinets. Damage to the cabinets and door was heavy.

The thief overlocked nearly $150 in bills which was in the cash drawer covered by a check.

The burglar was discovered by the janitor who noticed the damaged door shortly before 7:45 p.m. Four hupcaps were reported stolen from an auto belonging to Jimmy Ashcraft, 307 Galveston.

Robert Rogers, 1108 Mulberry, reported the theft of the breather cap off his car's carburetor.

Downing Is Speaker For YMCA Vocational Banquet

Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker tonight at the YMCA sponsored Vocational Banquet.

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y students will be the honored guests at the banquet which will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

The banquet marks the end of the year's vocational guidance program which is sponsored by the YMCA. Each student will be escorted by a representative from the field of business or industry which that student is planning to enter.

Bill Quimby, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, will give the introduction and the Rev. Frank Pollard is to be the master of ceremonies. Mrs. Jones, Business and industry represent-

N. B. Davidson, Trinity Baptist Leader, Dies

Nathaniel B. Davidson, 97, senior deacon and one of the founders of the Trinity Baptist Church, died Monday at 4:45 p.m. at his home at 306 NE 11th St.

Mr. Davidson became ill in March and could never seem quite to get over it, and in recent weeks his condition worsened.

He had made his home in Howard County for more than half a century and with Mrs. Davidson had reared a large family, who like himself, was active in church and community affairs.

His funeral has been set for 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Trinity Baptist Church with his pastor, the Rev. L. J. Power, officiating. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Had he lived another year, he and Mrs. Davidson would have observed their 70th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Davidson was born April 6, 1863 in Guntersville, Ala.

He moved to Johnson County, Texas, and was wed to Miss Agnes Todd on March 22, 1891. It was in 1908 that they moved to Howard County and carved out a farm in the Center Point community where he continued active until his retirement in 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson then moved to Big Spring. All his adult life he had been active in his church.

He leaves five sons, Walter E. Davidson, Rufus N. Davidson, J. Davidson and T. B. Davidson, all of Big Spring, and Henry Davidson, San Antonio; five daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Morton, Mrs. Ada Knightstep, Mrs. Pauline Hamrick, Mrs. Maude Hood, and Mrs. Mae Edwards, all of Big Spring.

Mr. Davidson also leaves 24 grandchildren, 32 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. Two sons and a daughter preceded him in death.

Palbearers will be Jack Edwards, Otton, Harry Hurt, J. G. Hammack Jr., Robert Curt, Ben Nix, Ross Hill, Clarence Todd and T. W. Butler. Deacons of the Trinity Baptist Church will serve as honorary palbearers, as will all his many friends.

Burglars Attempt To Force Doors Of JP Offices

Amateurish attempts were made to break into the offices of Jess Slaughter and Walter Grice, justices of the peace, and into the Howard County Court Room on Monday night.

Jess Slaughter discovered the marks on his front office door and similar marks on the second door to the rooms. In Grice's quarters, the marks were on the door leading from the justice court room into the office.

Apparently a chisel had been placed between the doors to the county court room and a faint-hearted effort made to pry the double doors apart.

Entrance was not gained into either of the places.

Sheriff's deputies are checking the matter.

Last Rites For Mrs. Roberts

Services for Mrs. Vergie Roberts, 77, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home chapel. Interment will be in the Garden City cemetery.

Mrs. Roberts died at 5:30 a.m. Monday in Comstock, Calif. She remains here to arrive here Wednesday. She was a resident of Garden City until moving to California 12 years ago. She had been ill two years.

She was a member of the Eastern Star and of the Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include three sons, Russ Roberts, Big Spring; John W. Roberts, Fort Stockton; and Dan Roberts, Gardena, Calif.; one daughter, Mrs. J. T. Bell, Gardena, Calif.; 13 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Mason Thanks Friends For Help

A great outpouring of help, particularly with money gifts, was being acknowledged by Oney Mason of Forsan, who lost his wife and small daughter in an automobile collision about two weeks ago.

Mrs. Doris Laverne Mason and Dora Rhea, 6, were victims of a crash on U. S. Highway 77.

Friends and business associates in Big Spring and Forsan have been most generous. Mason said in requesting The Herald to voice his deep gratitude.

"I have received several hundred dollars from people who wanted to help me," he said, "and it has been a tremendous help. I just can't find a way to say thanks enough, and I hope all the good people who have remembered us will always know that I am grateful from the bottom of my heart."

Mrs. Miller Is New Employee

New employe at Big Spring city hall is Mrs. Dorothy Ray Miller, secretary for building and electrical inspectors Tom Newton and Homer Ward.

Mrs. Miller has held several secretarial positions, her last being with the Reef Oil Co. in Sand Springs. She is a graduate of Brownwood Business College.

Mrs. Miller lives with her three children at 102 Madison.

C. G. Brinkley Services Pend

COLORADO CITY—C. G. Brinkley, 72, died about 11 a.m. Monday following an apparent heart attack.

He was born in Williamson County Nov. 11, 1887 and married Earnest Coe in Peacock, Texas, on Oct. 20, 1909. They came to Colorado City Dec. 25, 1926 and he was an employe of Col-Tex Refinery until his retirement seven years ago.

Funeral services are pending and will be held in the Kiker and Son Chapel with the Rev. G. W. Pendleton, Dallas, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Bob Fabens, and Francis, Dinuba, Calif.; three daughters, Mrs. A. T. Caffey and Mrs. Pnyus Shurtieff, both of Colorado City, and Mrs. J. D. Tucker, Eucine, N. M.; five brothers, Blake, Waco, Foster, Dean and Grady, all of Brownwood; and Jesse, Eastland; 16 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Methodists Sell $10,000 In Bonds

Members of the Wesley Methodist Church opened their bond sales program with a successful bang Monday and reported half of the $20,000 issue already sold.

The money will be used to defray costs of furnishings. The bonds will pay six per cent interest and are in $250, $500, and $1,000 denominations.

Spokesmen for the campaign said this morning that all members of the church and others interested in purchasing the bonds may call the church office. An effort is being made to contact all members of the church.

VA Hospital Here Plans Open House

Open house will be observed Thursday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Veterans Hospital as part of National Hospital Week.

This will be on the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, who is regarded as the mother of the modern nurse and who made such a contribution to hospital care.

Several tours will be taken, all originating in the lobby as a sufficient number of visitors arrive. Volunteers will show them through the wards, the auxiliary rooms, physical medicine, recreational therapy, dental section, X-ray rooms, main kitchen, chapel and other points.

Everyone is invited to take part, said hospital officials.

Chamber Directors Hear Committees

Directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce heard reports from eight committees during the regular meeting Monday. No definite business was conducted other than a general discussion on the various committee projects.

Reporting Monday were committees on civic development, aviation, highways, recreation, conventions, retail, industrial and base-community relations.

Mamie Carlos An Inspiration To Girls For Nursing Careers

Young women bent on a career in nursing can take inspiration from the first girl ever to leave Big Spring to study nursing.

Mary Carlos, known to all her friends as Mamie, completed her three years of training with a formal education background that had taken her only through the first half of the first grade. But she wanted to be a nurse more than anything, and she made it. Only the lack of a $5 filing fee deprived her of her registered nurse status.

Now Mrs. Roy Hageman of San Pedro, Calif., she has recently returned to her home after visiting relatives and friends in Big Spring. She is sharp-minded, witty and full of fun at the age of 73 and every day offers a new challenge to her.

Mamie Carlos came to Big Spring as a young girl to live with an aunt, Katie Holmes Barry, after her mother passed away in Springfield, Ohio. To help earn a little money she was a baby nurse for the John Birdwells when their Johanna was small.

"TOO YOUNG"

In 1905, she decided she wanted to study nursing but Dr. John Hurt said she was too young. At 18, Mamie thought differently and when Dr. Hurt wouldn't examine her for a health certificate, she went across the street to Dr. Wright, got a clean bill of health, paid him a dollar and was on her way to Hotel Dieu in El Paso.

Hotel Dieu, which is still operating but has been remodeled since these early days, had only graduated three or four classes of nurses when Mamie Carlos finished in 1906. Dr. Felix Miller, a brother of the late Mrs. V. Van Giesen, was in charge of the hospital and took an interest in Mamie, reporting her progress to Dr. Hurt. The class text book was Clara Weck's "Book of Nursing" and included about everything that was considered the best information for nurses. There were six young ladies in the class and they did general floor duty. That included taking care of typhoid, tuberculosis, and surgical cases.

NO FEE

When the class received their diplomas they were invited to take the state board examination to become registered nurses. The only thing that kept Miss Carlos from becoming a registered nurse was a fee of $5, which she didn't have. But she did have the training, desire and dedication that went in the making of an excellent nurse.

Back in Big Spring she nursed for Dr. Hurt and the newest doctor in town, Dr. G. T. Hall. When she was on a case, she was on 24-hour duty and for this special care she paid (remember) $25 a week. She still remembers those people who used her care but forgot about paying her. In fact, she left her class pin on the dresser of one of her patients who never paid her or returned the pin.

Ingenuously along with her training made her a good assistant to the young surgeon, Dr. Hall. When he came on a case that needed immediate surgery he called on Nurse Mamie, told her what he had to do and said he would send Negro Charlie to help her prepare for emergency. The two went to the home of the patient, vacated the rooms, scrubbed the walls and floor with a solution of bi-chloride of mercury; took down the shades and covered the windows with Bon Ami. Negro Charlie removed a slab door and Mamie scrubbed it vigorously, making the first operating table in Big Spring. The crude made the set-up was, the patient made a good recovery. Dr. Hall later purchased the first collapsible operating table, which made the going easier.

In addition to the bi-chloride, Lysol was used liberally and dressing was done with iodoform gauze which, according to Mrs. Hageman, smelled to the high heavens. When business got too rushing and she couldn't get to herself, Nurse Mamie drew her aunt into the act and many a night

Stanton Rites For G. B. Minton

George Burton Minton, 73, died unexpectedly Monday at 3 p.m. in his Houston home.

He operated a hotel there and had been living in Houston for the past 18 years.

Minton was born in San Augustine County on April 30, 1887. He moved to Martin County in 1926 and lived there until his move to Houston in 1942.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, at 5 p.m. in the Arlington Funeral Chapel, Stanton. The Rev. W. C. Wright, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Stanton, will officiate. Burial will be in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Survivors include three sons, George Minton, Stanton; James Minton and Henry Minton of Odessa; three daughters, Mrs. H. B. Turner, Odessa, Mrs. I. D. Ridgway, Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. L. A. Odum, Stanton; one brother, Otto Minton, Beaumont; nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Chamber Directors Hear Committees

Directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce heard reports from eight committees during the regular meeting Monday. No definite business was conducted other than a general discussion on the various committee projects.

Reporting Monday were committees on civic development, aviation, highways, recreation, conventions, retail, industrial and base-community relations.

Mamie Carlos An Inspiration To Girls For Nursing Careers

Young women bent on a career in nursing can take inspiration from the first girl ever to leave Big Spring to study nursing.

Mary Carlos, known to all her friends as Mamie, completed her three years of training with a formal education background that had taken her only through the first half of the first grade. But she wanted to be a nurse more than anything, and she made it. Only the lack of a $5 filing fee deprived her of her registered nurse status.

Now Mrs. Roy Hageman of San Pedro, Calif., she has recently returned to her home after visiting relatives and friends in Big Spring. She is sharp-minded, witty and full of fun at the age of 73 and every day offers a new challenge to her.

Mamie Carlos came to Big Spring as a young girl to live with an aunt, Katie Holmes Barry, after her mother passed away in Springfield, Ohio. To help earn a little money she was a baby nurse for the John Birdwells when their Johanna was small.

In 1905, she decided she wanted to study nursing but Dr. John Hurt said she was too young. C. G. Brinkley Services Pend

COLORADO CITY—C. G. Brinkley, 72, died about 11 a.m. Monday following an apparent heart attack.

He was born in Williamson County Nov. 11, 1887 and married Earnest Coe in Peacock, Texas, on Oct. 20, 1909. They came to Colorado City Dec. 25, 1926 and he was an employe of Col-Tex Refinery until his retirement seven years ago.

Funeral services are pending and will be held in the Kiker and Son Chapel with the Rev. G. W. Pendleton, Dallas, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Bob Fabens, and Francis, Dinuba, Calif.; three daughters, Mrs. A. T. Caffey and Mrs. Pnyus Shurtieff, both of Colorado City, and Mrs. J. D. Tucker, Eucine, N. M.; five brothers, Blake, Waco, Foster, Dean and Grady, all of Brownwood; and Jesse, Eastland; 16 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Methodists Sell $10,000 In Bonds

Members of the Wesley Methodist Church opened their bond sales program with a successful bang Monday and reported half of the $20,000 issue already sold.

The money will be used to defray costs of furnishings. The bonds will pay six per cent interest and are in $250, $500, and $1,000 denominations.

Spokesmen for the campaign said this morning that all members of the church and others interested in purchasing the bonds may call the church office. An effort is being made to contact all members of the church.

VA Hospital Here Plans Open House

Open house will be observed Thursday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Veterans Hospital as part of National Hospital Week.

This will be on the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, who is regarded as the mother of the modern nurse and who made such a contribution to hospital care.

Several tours will be taken, all originating in the lobby as a sufficient number of visitors arrive. Volunteers will show them through the wards, the auxiliary rooms, physical medicine, recreational therapy, dental section, X-ray rooms, main kitchen, chapel and other points.

Everyone is invited to take part, said hospital officials.

Modernistic Structure Folds 'Petal By Petal'

DALLAS (AP)—A new $90,000 filling station collapsed Monday night.
No one was injured.
The building looked "like a big square funnel with one lone pillar in the center" before it fell apart, said patrolman W. B. Broehm.
"It was like watching a big concrete flower wilt, a petal at a time," said fireman B. W. Brown. Jim Meyers and Vance Thomas scurried out of their service station minutes before about a quarter of the umbrella-like roof fell.
Half an hour later another quarter of the steel and concrete roof dropped slowly to earth.

"For 20 minutes there was a crack, then a ping, then a pop," patrolman B. E. Barnes said.
"Then aluminum sills around the plate glass bulged, glass cracked, then flew, and the big roof bent right down to the ground."
Brown said the owners, Windsor Properties, told him 100 tons of concrete and 25 tons of steel were used in the building.
The station is in the Brook Hollow industrial district near the downtown area.

S. African Women Demand Release

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Twenty-one white women, held in jail under emergency regulations, today threatened to go on a hunger strike unless the government releases them before Friday or files formal charges against them.
The women are among more than 1,700 persons of all races arrested since racial unrest took a violent turn in South Africa last month. Under the state of emergency invoked by the government, those arrested can be held indefinitely without being charged or arraigned.

Church Ground Breaking Uncovers Treasure Trove

LA PUENTE, Calif. (AP)—They broke ground for a new church—and struck money.
The site of the Glengrove Assembly of God congregation's new church, it turned out, was a five-acre trove of buried treasure—almost $5,000.

found in the lot to do just that—hold it. The congregation's $850, earmarked for the building fund, is in a safe deposit box.

It started last February when a bulldozer blade tipped over an old orange tree, and uprooted a mason jar. Three children following the bulldozer pounced on it. Inside was $3,840 in currency and coin.
A few days later another searcher found another jar containing $300.

The congregation then held an impromptu treasure hunt—and, in two days, found eight jars containing $850.

"Now," said Arthur Jensen, secretary of the congregation, "we're just waiting to find out if we can keep it."
The church, it seems, can lay claim to the $850 found by members of the congregation. And the other finders, including the children's parents, are claiming the remainder, neither the children nor their parents are members of the church.

"The daughter of the previous owner of the land also has claimed it," said Jensen. "She says it was buried by her father."
The sheriff's office has advised all claimants who hold money

My Humble Thanks

I am both humble and thankful that the voters in Howard County and the 191st legislative district gave me a lead in Saturday's first Democratic primary.
Because of the confidence friends have bestowed on me, I am determined to work all the harder between now and June 4 to justify their faith and to tell other voters how much I would appreciate their support.
I know that no matter how hard I try, I must have the help of friends who gave so much encouragement and assistance in my first race. I appeal for their continued support and pledge that I will do all I can to see as many people personally to ask their consideration. Again, my deepest thanks for all you have done.

MY APPRECIATION

I want to thank all the voters of Precinct No. 1 for their consideration of me Saturday. Whether they voted for me or not, I want them to know that in honoring me with the Democratic nomination as their commissioner that I will do my best to serve everyone in the precinct as well as the county to the best of my ability. To those who were so actively engaged in my behalf, I want to say a special word of thanks. I will be always grateful.

Humphrey, Kennedy Wind Up Turbulent W. Va. Campaign

By ARTHUR EDSON
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—West Virginia's turbulent primary campaign has ended, and today Democrats decide whether they prefer Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts or Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota as a presidential candidate.

The polling hours: From 6:30 a.m. until 7:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.
The weather: Cloudy and cool with occasional rain.

It will probably be early Wednesday morning before the winner is known.
Ballots are incredibly long here, where everyone seems to be running for something. Only five of the 55 counties have voting machines. And in most of the 2,750 polling places the counting will be done by hand.

Most of the opinion polls—and we have them by the dozens—have guessed that Humphrey would win, with Kennedy moving up fast at the finish.
Neither candidate seems impressed by these findings.

"My own feeling is that we may feel them," Kennedy said.
"I feel that it will be a very close race," Humphrey said. This fits in with an earlier Humphrey observation: "I don't trust polls."

The campaign ended as it began, with both candidates going full speed ahead.
Humphrey lectured local labor leaders for not giving him more support.

"I had hoped," he said, "I might find one union after another endorsing me."
And then Humphrey turned to a favorite theme: That it's tough in these costly primaries, to run against the well-to-do Kennedy.

"I have been trying to campaign in West Virginia with a shoestring cut in half," Humphrey said. "I haven't got one penny from labor in this state."

If Humphrey has fretted about money constantly, Kennedy has worried about religion. He's a Catholic, running in a state predominantly Protestant.

Kennedy again expressed hope in his windup Monday that this wouldn't make too much difference.
"I can't believe," Kennedy said, "that West Virginia, with its great tradition, is going to make its judgment on the basis of religion."

Both candidates used a similar negative appeal: My opponent can't win, so why vote for him?
This has been a repeated refrain by Kennedy, particularly in his paid political advertisements. The Kennedy ads have said that Humphrey can't win the Democratic nomination, so a vote for him is a vote thrown away.

Monday Kennedy put it this way:
"If Mr. Humphrey wins (the West Virginia primary), the chances of somebody being nominated who doesn't understand the problems of West Virginia would be greatly enhanced."
Humphrey's return jab:
"If people will look at the voting record, instead of clever advertising propaganda, they will see it is Kennedy, not I, who can't win for the Democrats in November."

And at another point he said:
"Do you think a candidate like Kennedy who voted 27 times for the Benson-Eisenhower farm program can be strong in the Midwest?"

It has been a curious campaign. For in spite of all the shouting, not one of the 25 West Virginia delegates to the Democratic convention in July has to pay any attention to this popularity contest between Humphrey and Kennedy.

Reporters who have tagged along with each candidate are convinced that not a bill nor a holder to use the local term, has been missed by these eager campaigners.

And notebooks have been filled with all sorts of useless, interesting information.
For example, a song entitled, "Well Win With Hubert Humphrey," seems like a tune only a candidate could love. But a Humphrey supporter eagerly reported it's No. 1 on the juke box in the Knotty Pine Club in Iceana, W. Va.

New Mexico Voters Stage Primary Today

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—New Mexico voters were expected out in record numbers today to nominate Democratic and Republican candidates for governor, two U.S. representatives, a U.S. senator and a host of lesser offices.

Bulging slates of office seekers and several heated contests indicated a vote of 130,000 to 150,000. Polls were open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. (Mountain Standard Time.)

U.S. Rep. Thomas Morris' lone Democratic primary opponent is Calvin Horn, Albuquerque businessman. The other Democratic race for U.S. representative involves incumbent Joseph M. Montoya, T. E. Lusk of Carlsbad, and David R. Branch, Eloy Pino and Santa Fe.

Lusk was considered Montoya's biggest threat. Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.) who is not up for reelection this year, has endorsed Lusk, a young attorney and state senator.

U.S. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson expected little opposition from three opponents in his bid for Democratic renomination. Others on the ballot are Mac J. Feldhake, Santa Fe businessman; N. Tito Quintana, Albuquerque attorney; and James P. Speer, Santa Fe securities dealer.

Republicans seeking nomination for U.S. senator are Frederic Airy, Albuquerque public relations man; William F. Colves, Santa Fe businessman; and Joseph Rendon of Albuquerque, a businessman.

Unopposed for the GOP nomination for the two U.S. representative posts are John D. Robb and Edward V. Balcomb, both of Albuquerque.

In the Democratic gubernatorial contest Gov. John Burroughs, seeking a second term, is matched against Joseph A. Bursey, former director of the State Tourist Bureau, and Thomas E. Holland, retired Air Force colonel. In 1958 Burroughs beat Bursey by 13,000 votes to win nomination.

Edwin L. Mechem, Las Cruces attorney, who has been governor three terms in recent years, is trying for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Paul W. Robinson, Albuquerque district attorney, is his opponent.

CARS magazine reports The Lark is the best overall-buy among all 23 American automobiles ...including all other compacts.

BEST... After judging The Lark—"the Best of the Compacts"—the editors of CARS enlarged their enthusiasm and declared The Lark, "The Best Overall Buy."

Here's how they summed up their expert opinion in the June issue of CARS:
MANY REASONS... "There are many reasons for this choice, but the primary one is that The Lark will do anything and go anywhere the larger cars will, at a lower cost. . . . The Lark is styled for both today and tomorrow, and engineered for hard, economical use. . . . On any basis, this is a tough car to beat."

Haul With Care Everywhere

That's the motto used by Byron's Storage and Transfer. A big van used by the local concern is pictured in front of the establishment's spacious quarters, located at 106 E. 1st Street.

Byron's is licensed to van goods anywhere in the nation. It is the local agent for United Van Lines.

Byron's Transfer Is Good Place To Store Valuables

Are you on the verge of moving and haven't decided what to do with your household belongings? Why not store them at Byron's Transfer and Storage, located at 106 E. 1st Street in Big Spring?

If you do business with Byron's, employes of the concern carefully pack away your furniture and appliances. Byron's boasts clean, palletized storage facilities where goods cannot be damaged, no matter how long they are left there. If you plan to move out of town, contact Byron's and let them take all the worries of transporting your furniture off your shoulders.

You might think you can save a little money by moving the goods yourself. Consider your loss, however, if you should break or damage some of your goods. Expert movers hired by Byron's move items with the utmost care, whether you are transporting the goods down the block or across the nation.

Byron's is the local agent for United Van Lines, one of the nation's best known drayage concerns. For that reason, the local establishment is prepared to move you anywhere in the country. Contact Byron's by dialing AM 4-4351. You'll be glad you did.

Jones Motor Can Service Your Auto Air Conditioner

With the hot summer months beginning to show their wares, it's the logical time to start getting your auto air conditioners in shape, and Jones Motor Co. at 101 Gregg has the most capable and efficient personnel to service or install your cooler.

Finch Foe May Have Hurt Voice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The prosecutor's scathing final summation of the case against Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carol Tregoff may have hurt him worse than it did them.

The trial of the doctor and his mistress on murder charged ended in a hung jury. Not only did the fall to win the case, but Dep. Dist. Atty. Fred N. Whichello is afraid he may have hurt his vocal cord Feb. 25 by "talking too long and too loud, forcing voice," in his summation.

Whichello filed because he said he might later seek compensation for it. He had been previously ordered replaced on the district attorney's team which will re-try the couple May 23.

State Preparing Insurance Cases

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Insurance Department prepared today for "show cause" hearings Friday against 12 more of the insurance enterprises promoted by W. L. Bridges Jr.

State Insurance Commissioner William Harrison put under state supervision Monday two of the Bridges firms—Hughes Imperial Funeral Insurance Co. and Hughes Burial Assn., both of Dallas. Three others already have been placed into conservatorship.

The 1959 annual statements of the 17 companies show $3,314 Texas policyholders, Don Cornell, chief examiner, reported. Another Bridges company, State National Life Insurance Co., which faces an insolvency hearing in District Court next week; has 4,010 policies on its books.

David McCord, of Dallas, who described himself as "figurehead president" of Hughes Imperial, said about 85 per cent of the checks he signed for the company were blank and he had no idea what amounts or for what purpose the checks were drawn. He said he "had no reason to doubt the integrity or honesty of anyone connected with the management of any of the Bridges companies. He reported he had signed the firm's annual statements but could not determine by examining its figures if there was anything wrong in it or not."

Harrison told McCord he intends "to do what I can to eliminate some of these figurehead officers." But he said it is not the state's responsibility to manage the 1,800 insurance companies in Texas.

McCord complained he never saw a copy of the state report transmitted to the company's home office concerning the impending investigation.

He described Bridges Jr. as a "young millionaire businessman." He said W. L. Bridges Sr. had a "demeaning" personality. He served as judge and jury on all transactions. Anything concerning investments or money was held closely to themselves.

Testimony during the series of hearings reflect an intermingling of authority by the two men in the operations of the companies. Several notes have been introduced pledging portions of the rights to Pega Palo, an alleged health tonic and sex stimulant, as collateral on loans to Bridges Sr. by the companies.

The state claims Bridges Sr. has $391,000 in such notes in his possession.

The principal assets of both companies were limited to one note pledging 18 per cent of the rights to Pega Palo in Illinois and another note for 12 per cent in the same state. Both notes are non-admissible assets and are considered as a deficit by the state.

But Daddy, I Wanted Little Fish

When Dallas Morning News photographer Jack Beers returned to Dallas from a fishing trip at Lake Texoma he asked his son, Jon, 2, to pose with these black bass. Jon broke into tears and told his father he wanted little fish. The fish weighed 5 3/4-pounds at left and 4 1/4-pounds.

K Threatens Spy Planes And Bases

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned Monday night that Soviet rockets will shoot down any more spy planes that venture over Soviet soil and his government will take "appropriate counter measures."

The Soviet Premier also warned that Soviet rockets will be turned against bases in any foreign countries that allow American planes to take off on spy missions over the Soviet Union.

If intelligence missions are continued over Soviet soil, the Premier said in a speech at a Czechoslovakia Embassy reception, "We shall bring down the planes, just bring them down. If such flights are repeated, we shall take appropriate counter measures."

Khrushchev issued a general caution against use of foreign bases for spy missions. After his speech he called over Norwegian and Pakistani diplomats and told them if the United States continues using bases in their countries for operations against the Soviet Union, "We will have to aim our rockets at your bases."

Khrushchev told the Soviet Parliament last week that American flier Francis G. Powers, who was shot down and captured May 1 at Sverdlovsk while on a spying flight, took off from Peshawar, Pakistan, and was heading for Bodo, Norway.

The United States at first said the plane was based in Turkey. Both Pakistan and Norway have denied any knowledge of Powers' flight, and Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange said he was seeking clarification from Washington. Lange told his Parliament Norwegian air fields are not open to foreign planes which violate the air space of foreign countries.

Khrushchev charged that Powers' flight was timed deliberately to affect next week's summit meeting in Paris.

Scattered Rains In North Texas

By The Associated Press
Scattered thundershowers fell over the north portion of North Central Texas early Thursday. Partly cloudy skies covered the state and temperatures ranged from 60 at Laredo to 61 at Junction. Gentle breezes and mild weather covered Texas Monday. The high temperature was 102 at Presidio and the low maximum was 77 at Galveston. Dahlart received .02 inch of rain by 6 p.m. Monday and Amarillo, with a trace of moisture, was the only other city to report precipitation.

Jimmie Davis, New Louisiana Governor, On A Serious Path

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
BAYON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Deep in the moss-hung bayous a rain-lashed placard lacked to a cypress tree proclaimed: "Jimmie Davis for governor."

In the scraggy red hills at the opposite end of the state, foot-tapping teen-agers gathered around a juke box to write to the rhythm of selection S-J. "You Are My Sunshine," written and sung by Jimmie Davis.

Both the Jimmie Davis of the campaign poster and the Jimmie Davis of the juke box label take office this coming Tuesday as the new governor of Louisiana, succeeding sulphur-tongued Earl K. Long, younger brother of the late Kingfish Huey P. Long. Both the Frenchmen in the bayous and the rednecks in the hills will be interested in seeing what happens.

A Decca recording artist, a onetime star of grade B cowboy movies and a former governor—

1944-1948—lanky, drawing Jimmie Houson Davis is once again out to convince scoffers that he is more of a statesman than an entertainer.

JUST A HOBBY
"Singing is my hobby, the way some folks play golf or go fishing," Davis insisted for the thousandth time over a glass of goat's milk, which he guzzles by the gallon to maintain gubernatorial energy. "You know, I thought for a long time before taking the band along on this campaign and doing a little singing."

"Some said it wasn't dignified. They kept calling me a backwoods hillbilly singer, which I'm not. I sing hymns mostly. Singing has been good to me and I'm not going to let a thing like a political campaign stop it. When you get right down to it, I'm not really much of a singer but folks seem to like it."

The best-selling Davis album last year was "Supper-time," a hymn collection that sold 50,000 copies. Nearly 10 times that many people voted for him in the runoff election against New Orleans Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison, giving him a margin of better than 70,000 out of a total vote of 900,000.

A HARMONIZER
The man who wrote "You Are My Sunshine," "Nobody's Darling," "It Makes No Difference Now" and some 200 other songs can't read or play a note of music, but he sure has a knack for harmonizing at the polling booth. Davis has never lost an election.

Part of this popularity is due to the Davis personality: homespun, taciturn, friendly in a bashful way that appeals to rural voters without alienating city dwellers. "He's got sincerity," say his admirers. "Country cunning," answer his foes.

Part of his popularity is due to his own life story: up from a sharecropper's cabin, where he was one of 11 children, to a master's degree in education and psychology, a varied career as a country school teacher, college instructor, singer, song writer, movie actor, then the final triumphs in politics.

Now a handsome, well-preserved 58, Davis can step before chambers of commerce as a well-heeled businessman with a tree farm at Jonesboro, a cattle ranch on the delta and a seat on the board of a Nashville, Tenn., insurance company. Quick as he can knot the bow in a string tie, he can appear before his country cousins as a farmer who still plows his own land, a hunter with the reputation of being the best squirrel shot in Tensas Parish (county) and a familiar guest on "Grand Old Opry."

HE'S JUST JIMMIE
But the greatest part of the Davis appeal, at least to professional politicians, stems from his unique role in Louisiana politics. He is not a reformer; he is not a tax-and-spend. He is not a Long; nor is he anti-Long. He doesn't bother to build a machine, seldom browbeats the Legislature, never has an unkind word for anybody, particularly the opposition.

Most politicians try to be all things to all people. Davis just tries to be Jimmie Davis. Out on the stump, he'll talk a little, sing a little and promise next to nothing. Davis will smile shyly at the crowd and say, "I'm not promising to do everything you ask because I don't know what you will ask. But I will promise an honest, businesslike administration."

In a state where campaigns traditionally are conducted on a flagrant promissory note, only Jimmie Davis could play that kind of a tune and expect any voter to dance to it. He offered a platform all right—an industry inducement plan, more money for schools and institutions, continued segregation, some welfare increases—but from the tenor of his speeches it sometimes seemed as if he were running for a vacancy in the hereafter.

"I look beyond this election. I look to the time when they're going to take me, just like they're going to take you, to some silent city on a hill. And that's the last ride. We're not coming back. And when they take me there, I want people to say that I was decent and honorable and respectable and I did the best I could to serve all the people. That's the only reward I want for being governor."

House Probers Take Look At Possible Rate Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators set out today to determine whether backdoor talks involving the Federal Power Commission have had any effect on the public's gas bills.

FPC members have denied that they were influenced by favors in fixing rates charged by gas pipeline companies, but the hearings could provide political fireworks.

FPC Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall was expected to be the lead-off witness before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee.

A subcommittee source said Kuykendall would be followed by FPC Vice Chairman Arthur S. Kline and Commissioners William R. Connoles and Frederick Stueck. Kuykendall, Kline and Connoles have acknowledged talking privately with a gas pipeline attorney just before granting the attorney's client permission to import natural gas from Canada last October. At the time, the commission left open for later determination the rate of return to be allowed the firm.

All three commissioners have denied any impropriety and have insisted they were not influenced by the private talks with the attorney, Thomas G. (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran.

The inquiry centers on the Corcoran talks, but the subcommittee reportedly plans to go considerably deeper into the FPC's relations with the gas industry and possibly with electric power companies.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1960 SEC. B

Water Case Set June 20

The State Board of Water Engineers has set June 20 as the date for a hearing on the application of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to impound a second lake on the upper Colorado River.

Durwood Manford, chairman, ordered the hearing for 10 a.m. in the offices of the board at Austin. E. V. Spence, general manager for the CRMWD, said that a meeting of the board of directors had been called for May 26 in Big Spring, and among other things plans will be developed for attending the hearing.

Location of the proposed dam is in section 10, block 15, SPRR survey in southern Mitchell County. This puts it about 21 miles south of Colorado City and 1 1/2 miles north of the Coke County line.

Directors of the district authorized the application on June 11, 1959 for a water permit to impound the new lake, but the CRMWD concurred in a decision to delay the hearing until the state board cleared out other major hearings then pending.

If granted, the project would give the CRMWD two years in which to make a concrete start toward the project, or show ample cause for an extension of time. S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, consulting engineer for the CRMWD, estimated that the CRMWD would be utilizing the full capacity of Lake J. B. Thomas this year.

This is 3,000,000 gallons a day. This is far ahead of the original estimates which could not foresee the phenomenal growth of the member cities, particularly Odessa.

According to projections by the engineers, the proposed lake would have a daily yield of around 75,000,000 gallons. Several cities in the area, including Stanton, Midland, Lamesa, Mitchell County (Colorado City and Lorraine) have asked the district to keep them in mind in its planning. This does not carry any obligation on their part or the district, but this has been taken into account in the planning.

The proposed lake would have about 2,500 square miles of effective drainage area to contribute 20,530 surface acres when the lake is at capacity of 553,000 acre feet.

The earthen embankment dam with concrete spillway would be 80 feet high and water would be 65 feet deep at the spillway. The structure would back water 12 miles up the channel of the Colorado River.

For several months the CRMWD has been making intensive studies on the project, including an analysis of the salt problem on the watershed of the Colorado River immediately below Lake J. B. Thomas. Spence said he was confident that this problem could be solved so as to assure top quality water for the proposed lake.

Native Gives Advice

MARYKNOLL, N. Y. (AP)—Julius Kambarage Nyerere, who is expected to become the first prime minister of Tanganyika, has a couple of tips for Christian missionaries in his East African land. Emphasize the social apostolate and, above all, don't be condescending, he told a recent meeting of future Catholic missionaries at the headquarters of the Maryknoll Brothers.

"The clergy should spend more time on the people's social needs," Nyerere, a Catholic, advised.

"If a priest discovers that his mission area is being held back by a problem—say, lack of water—then he should try to organize the whole community toward a practical solution.

"The church would gain great prestige because it would be considered really African, truly interested in helping people."

But, he added, "do not approach them as a priest who is condescendingly kind to Africans. Make friends with them naturally."

Early Traditions

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Veneration of the dead was an important part of Christian community life as early as the Third Century, when the shrine of St. Peter was set up on Vatican Hill. Prof. Richard Krautheimer, an authority on early Christian architecture, said in a University of Michigan lecture.

Zoning Board Okays Change

The Big Spring Planning and Zoning Commission Monday approved one zoning request, tabled another and gave informal approval to development plans for the Edward's estate area.

Ike Robb's request for re-zoning his property at Marcy Dr. and South Gregg St. from A, residential, to F, commercial, was approved. Commercial zoning for the area, it was pointed out, is in line with the city master plan.

The commission tabled for further consideration John Little's request for re-zoning of two and one-half blocks in the College Park Estates. None of the property owners involved were at the meeting for the scheduled public hearing.

Harold Talbot, real estate agent representing the Edwards estates, presented a master plan for development of that addition which met with the approval of the commission.

The overall plan appeared to be a good one, commission members agreed.

Mixed Marriage Statistics Noted

NEW YORK (AP)—A survey reported in the current Catholic Digest finds that six out of every 10 children of Catholic-Protestant marriages eventually reject all religions. The survey also found that children whose parents have different religions "are much less likely to finish high school than those whose parents are of the same faith."

By CURTIS BISHOP

On this day in 1839 M'sieur T. C. LeCompte, a hair cutter from Paris, advertised his emporium just opened in the capital city of Houston. There is no record of any earlier barber in the Lone Star domain.

M'sieur LeCompte advertised his Houston shop as follows: "Being the first barber of Houston and of this Republic—I am sure the good people will not pass by one of their fellow citizens and a soldier. My price is 25 cents for shaving—75 for hair cutting—and no charge off the person is not well please."

The spelling and grammar is that of M'sieur LeCompte. The first barber seems to have arrived in Houston by steamer earlier in the spring and his first customer, according to legend, was President Sam Houston. However, it is quite possible that the Frenchman varied from the absolute facts in his story in order to gain advertising for his establishment.

Drivers License Check Irks Driver

DALLAS (AP)—Robert Hillhouse has been stopped 13 times by police checking driver's licenses and he wishes they wouldn't stop him on his way to work.

His temper grew thin Monday when police stopped him the 13th time since the spot check of licenses started several weeks ago. He explained that the 45-minute delay made him so late getting to work that he lost a day's pay he valued at $26.85.

"I still believe in the traffic check and I believe any man driving should have a valid license in his pocket. But it looks as though the police could check through the day, instead of stopping people going to work," he said.

A Great Civic Improvement

Those who reside in the southwestern outskirts of Big Spring undoubtedly are grateful for the recent improvements wrought by the city, the county and the state along the Old San Angelo Highway.

In the first place, Howard County has widened this important and heavily traveled thoroughfare and has converted it into a paved artery that can handle traffic easily, efficiently, safely—and if needs be—speedily. The road is well engineered and well constructed, and when the process of absorbing the rock aggregate into the asphalt topping has run its course, it will all the better.

An interchange at the intersection of the road with Marcy Drive (FM-700) will greatly facilitate the infusion of traffic at that point and diminish the chances of bottle-necking and of collisions. While it appears that in one respect the design may have created a clogging on the west-bound and the south-bound traffic, it is really too early for an accurate and fair appraisal. All in all the interchange will be most beneficial.

The installation of lights at the interchange is an excellent development. Where turning was largely guesswork at night, now it can be done with perfect illumination. And when one is on the once dark and dismal nighttime drive over the Old San Angelo, the long line of mercury lights all the way to the Webb Village entrance will brighten the journey. This has effected one of the most marvelous transformations of all. Those sharing in the development are due great praise.

It's Embarrassing To Get Caught

Before our blood could come to a proper boil out of indignation over one of our planes being shot down over Russian territory, it develops that the plane was indeed on a reconnaissance.

When you do reconnaissance over enemy territory in wartime it is a military operation. When you do it in peacetime, it is, in the common vernacular, spying. Hence, our top officials, including the president, are more than a little red-faced about the incident in which an American civilian was wigged while traversing Russian skies.

This will come as a shock to those who have led a sheltered existence in international affairs or have clung to the naive belief that only the other countries spy on each other. Of course we spy on other countries as they most assuredly spy on us, for this is, to use a four-bit word, intelligence. Without dependable intelligence we should be planning, training, appropriating and preparing blindly. That would be fatal.

Among official circles, the spying is like crime (in the eyes of a few). It is wrong and embarrassing only when you get caught at it.

Perhaps the worst thing about the incident is that we blundered into a propaganda bonanza for Khrushchev almost on the eve of the summit conference. He has something to wave before his people, and the world, to re-enforce his contention that the Soviet is simply worried about the sanctity of its borders. However, at home this can't be pushed too far, for his people may ask "how come our borders can be penetrated so easily?"

The Texas Poll

Without LBJ, Texas A Doubtful State

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

Texas may be a doubtful state in the November presidential election unless favorable son Lyndon Johnson is the Democratic nominee.

Of the top three Democratic hopefuls, only Johnson has a comfortable majority lead over Nixon in the current structure of Texas opinion.

Adlai Stevenson, who twice failed to carry Texas against Eisenhower, is now a slight favorite over Nixon. But his margin in this traditionally Democratic state is not large enough to classify him as a sure bet.

AS OF NOW, indications are that U. S. Senator John Kennedy would be weakest of the top three Democrats because of his Catholic background.

These findings are based on the latest state-wide survey of voters by The Texas Poll, conducted in mid-April. Results of personal interviews with voters all over the state indicate Stevenson and Kennedy would be hard-pressed to defeat Nixon, while Johnson would be about a three-to-one favorite.

The comparative standings are reflected in voters' responses to these questions:

"SUPPOSE THE ELECTION for President were being held today...
"If Richard Nixon were the Republican candidate and Lyndon Johnson the Democratic candidate, which one would you favor for President?"

The Planes That Got Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — But what about the ones that got away?

This must be on Premier Nikita Khrushchev's mind at the very moment he is patting himself on the back with the claim of shooting down an American spy-plane over the Soviet Union.

It was an event which, for various reasons, shocked the world. But this event, because of Khrushchev's propaganda genius and our own State Department's clumsiness, has been blown far out of its true proportions; and for this reason: Soviets spy on this country, this country spies on the Soviet Union. This time an American plane was caught doing it. Other times Soviet agents were caught here.

THE ONLY REAL achievement in all this was the propaganda use Khrushchev made of it. Yet, if the truth were known, he probably suffered a shock himself.

Monday Christian A. Herter, secretary of state, admitted this country for years has been sending spy-planes along the edges of the Communist world and sometimes deep into it, too.

This doesn't make the Soviet military look good. While Khrushchev can boast of one American plane knocked out of the skies, others for years were able to fly in over the Soviet Union, fulfill a spy mission, and get away untouched.

Monday night Khrushchev revealed "we took to task" some of the Soviet military who, he said, let a chance slip by to shoot down another American plane which he said was over Communist territory April 9.

BUT IT WAS the American government which presented Khrushchev with his propaganda chance for catching just one spy-plane on the job.

In the first place, the timing of the plane's mission over the Soviet Union was appalling. It was sent on its mission just a few days before President Eisenhower was to meet Khrushchev at the summit in Paris. They met Monday.

There was the chance the plane would be nailed, with all that involved. It was nailed and it enabled Khrushchev to point to this country as a treacherous antagonist at the moment Eisenhower was getting ready for the summit.

Then Khrushchev ran into a better bargain: This government, apparently assuming the pilot was dead and Khrushchev couldn't prove anything, put out a feeble explanation: That maybe the pilot had lost consciousness for lack of oxygen and was carried over the Soviet-Union by his judgment.

The State Department also tried something else which, as the department itself demonstrated later, was a lie. It said there was never any "attempt to deliberately violate Soviet air space."

Khrushchev was waiting for something like this. He moved in. He announced the spy-plane pilot, Francis G. Powers, had been captured and admitted spying.

Caught flat-footed, the State Department tried to alibi its way out. It admitted Powers might have been spying but that "insofar as the authorities in Washington are concerned there was no authorization for any such flight described by Mr. Khrushchev."

This raised immediate questions here and abroad: What goes on here? Doesn't Eisenhower know? Were military leaders or others carrying out spying without his knowledge or approval?

An Anniversary No One Noticed

NEW YORK (AP) — How did you observe the 15th anniversary of the ending of the second World War in Europe?

Did you beat on a tin pal? Did you blow a whistle or toot the horn on your car? Did you stay up all night celebrating?

Nobody did any of these things in our neighborhood. Nobody even mentioned the event which only a decade and a half ago caused such global joy.

Somewhat, 15 years later, there didn't seem so much to cheer about. The earth has spun on in the intervening decade and a half to new worries and fresh perils.

The occasion only pointed up anew an old truth: There is as yet no final safety or security for anyone in this troubled world.

We live at such a dizzy pace now that today seems almost obsolete before tomorrow dawns.

The first World War has all but disappeared into the oblivion of history; the second World War rapidly is doing the same thing. All the great captains of that second mighty conflict have passed from political power except President Eisenhower and Charles de Gaulle of France, and Eisenhower retires this year.

This September will mark the 21st anniversary of Adolf Hitler's invasion of Poland. A new generation has arisen since then, a whole new generation of young men and women who have no really active memory of that war—although they must pay the yet unpaid price of its aftermath, and solve its yet unsolved problems. What has happened in the 15 years since the German armed forces put down their arms in unconditional surrender?

We have seen the creation of a United Nations dedicated to the task of universal peace.

We have seen the death throes of colonialism in many parts of the world, and the rise of rampant nationalism on most continents.

We have seen the building of two great political power blocs—the free world and the U.S.S.R. and its satellites—both of which suffer severe internal strains.

We have seen the improvement of atomic and missile weapons to such an extent there is no really safe place left for man anywhere on his planet.

We have seen the beginnings of a human population explosion the final impact of which we can only guess.

In a way the mushroom cloud that rose over Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945, still palls us all. It is the big problem for which we have as yet found no big answer.

Even on the eve of one of the greatest political summit meetings in history no answer is clear.

But men in all countries have gone on for so long living on the edge of possible chaos they have lost their fear of the brink. And so we go on, from day to day, improvising the hopes we need to help us get through until tomorrow.

We have become dulled to the panicky possibility of almost universal extinction that a third World War might bring. The attitude of the average man is pretty much a flat-rejection of responsibility.

Steel Or Fabric?

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel with polka-dot or multi-colored patterns?

It's likely in the near future, according to "Steelways," publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, which predicts that steel researchers also will devise a surface that will have the feel of fabric.

The magazine says the development could create a new world of steel designs for household appliances, offices, buildings and automobiles.

"Steelways" predicts that it may become impossible in the future to identify steel at first glance or touch.

Bottle Bungalow

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Nearly 10,000 bottles of all sizes, shapes and colors are built into a one-room structure near here which now serves as a cabin at a motel.

The little house was built in 1935 by the late Addison McMurray, who collected bottles as a hobby. A fireplace mantel is decorated with a design of small medicine bottles implanted in concrete.

In Running Mood

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—On the day New Mexico candidates filed for office, an unshaven, shabbily dressed little man slid up to one of the windows in the Capitol where officials were accepting forms from the candidates, and asked:

"Is there anything open where an unemployed man like me can run against a couple of people?"

Kitchen Sink, Too

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Edward Gabbell told police thieves were carrying away an unoccupied house he owned—piece by piece.

Gabbell said within six months thieves removed all the locks from the doors, regulators from cooler ducts, covers from electric outlets, light switches, a gas water heater, two wall cabinets—and a kitchen sink.

Around The Rim

More Exciting Than The Election

Usually we'd block off the street in front of the office from one corner to another. We knew it was a national highway and probably would inconvenience through traffic but what the heck? Election returns parties were more interesting than watching a few belated tourists drive past.

Across the street, there was a two story building. We would drape a big wagon sheet across the second story across from the second floor of the office.

On a mezzanine floor on that floor level, we'd rig up a projector focussed on the wagon sheet.

For days before the election, we would ballyhoo our big election party. We'd rig for some band to be on hand to fill in the dull minutes when no returns were being received.

RETURNS WERE A little slow, sometimes. If the ballot was long (and usually it was) counting was tedious. Rural boxes were numerous and sometimes it was a real chore to find out how things went in these boxes.

By the time the polls closed, the crowd had begun to gather. By dark, the street would be jammed from one end of the block to the other. Usually we'd lock the front door to keep the more eager beavers from invading the office.

The Associated Press wire would be operating and early returns from state boxes would begin to come in. We'd wait until we had a half dozen or so of these. Then we'd take a grease pencil and a stack of glass slides and those of the staff who were more adept at printing would fill in the facts in the slides.

UPSTAIRS, one of us would man the projector. The thing had to be properly focused. The square of light on the wagon sheet had to be maximum in size but kept where the lettering would be the most legible. To supplement action, we'd have some leather lunged citizen in another second story window with a megaphone. Since the street was too narrow for all of the crowd to have a clear view of the screen, this vocal supplement had to be offered.

Simultaneously with the flashing of the first returns on the screen, he would yell out the results.

Crowds took their elections seriously. We always had a suitable force of the city cops on hand. Usually their services were needed from time to time during the night—particularly when local races began to come in. There were sure to be a few fist fights over the sheriff's race, for example. The county commissioners contests were usually good for some brawls.

ALTHOUGH THE state was supposedly bone dry, there were always ways and means to obtain intoxicating liquors. A lot of our audience would have bolstered their strength against the cold if it was in November or against the heat if it was in the summer. Sometimes I think this tended to stir their enthusiasm a little higher than would ordinarily the case.

When the local boxes began to report the excitement would reach its peak. If there was one or two races in which the outcome was close, we would be besieged with howls to repeat reports from earlier boxes.

The party continued until the last box was in. Then we'd project the final results in all races. If the state contests were far enough along, we'd screen these.

The crowd wouldn't go home until the last greasy thumbprinted slide had been run.

Even then, they left reluctantly. They milled around the front of the office, some trying to get in to hold post mortems with us over the results.

EVENTUALLY we'd turn out the office lights. The ropes which had blocked off either end of the block would be removed. Then the last stragglers would walk slowly away.

We'd go home bone-tired. It seemed some election nights I must have climbed the steep stairway to that projection machine a million times. The office would be a shambles of adding a machine tape, crumpled copy paper and paper coffee cups.

It was not nearly so efficient, I realize, as today's method. The radio, television and other mediums make it possible to reach many, many more persons than we could jam in that single block in front of our newspaper office.

Nevertheless, there was a big thrill to the old time parties; when they were abandoned for more modern methods machine a million times. The office would be a shambles of adding a machine tape, crumpled copy paper and paper coffee cups.

A Good Word For The Barbarians

LONDON — Today I strike the lyre in praise of the virile and muscular American "vulgarity" that so offended two famed English visitors to the U.S.A. more than a century ago, Mrs. Trollope and Charles Dickens.

Long may it wave — this red-blooded "uncivilized" approach to life. I crave a country where men are men and women are women and both rejoice in the fact. I don't want any confusion among the birds and the bees.

IT HAS TAKEN me a long time to come out on the side of the barbarians, but hereafter count me in their ranks. For centuries history has shuddered that the barbarians swept down on and overwhelmed the Roman Empire, inheritor of the Greek civilization.

For countless generations, historians have wrung their hands over the fate of Rome and given the barbarians a hard time. Their table manners were uncouth, they didn't wash their necks. They didn't even have linen to change, and they piled their firewood in the Roman baths. In short, a bunch of squares from Squaresville.

Granted that the barbarians who took the Roman Empire and laid the foundations of modern Europe didn't smell of Chanel No. 5, or stop at kissing ladies' hands, still on one thing we can bet our bottom dollar. They weren't decadent. They weren't a rotten peach ready to fall at the first shake of the tree.

THEY WERE TOUGH, rough and hearty, those barbarians. They didn't even eat their peas with a knife—they ate 'em with their paws. At table, they probably made even Henry VIII look like a pansywaist.

What, aside from inexorable manners—or so the historians say—did these barbarians who overran "civilization" have? Well, ladies and gentlemen, they had what it took! These were no foreheads, Cro-Magnon men. These were men of sharp intelligence, physical endurance and hardy discipline, no matter how deplorable their grammar or their manners.

Now Mr. Dickens and Mrs. Trollope are only the most famous explorers who were repelled by American crudity. And the most vocal. For at no time have Europeans, in missionary spirit, ever hesitated to point out our blatant vulgarity.

FOR YEARS, I took all these lectures to heart, curled my pinkie and tried to do better. But no more. I'm a free woman at last, and one who sees the strength and beauties of barbarism in this terrifying time of transition in the 20th Century.

I don't favor the return of the spilt milk in home decor, or side arms for informal dress. Or tossing chicken bones on the dining-room floor. Or the abandonment of syntax.

But in recent weeks I have come to see the great beauty and virtue in the spirit, vulgar or not, that pushed the American frontier to Hawaii and Alaska. Give me a people virile, dynamic, hardy and adventurous, a people bright-eyed, bushy-tailed and intelligent, and you can have the languid hand-kissers, the canape-pusher and the best-dressed.

WHAT MADE the Romans pushovers for the barbarians? Because they had lost their own barbarism to an overcivilization of lavender togas, and tolerance, in the name of "civilization," of any vice.

From now on I am an intolerant woman, intolerant of the "civilization" that is the excuse for low-thinking and high living—as high as game hung long.

Count me with the barbarians. Let us cling to the frontier, "vulgarity," that made us great and that is our ace in the hole to beat communism at its own game. What in heaven's name, is wrong with men with hair on their chests?

Stresses And Strains On Western Alliance

LONDON—The Western alliance is like Humpty-Dumpty, an uncertain bird perched on a wall and fully aware, behind all the brave words about unity, of the threat of a fall and what that fall can mean. It is seven years since the end of the Korean War, which scared the day-lights out of the Western powers and pushed them into planning for victorious measures of collective defense. Now in the piping times of peace, with prosperity casting a more and more rosy glow over all the West, it would be idle to conceal the grave stresses and strains within an alliance that within a few days may face a profoundly serious test of its intentions.

The threat to the alliance falls roughly under three classifications. While they cannot arbitrarily set apart, since one impinges on another, here is an appraisal of the snares and traps in the path of unity and therefore on the perilous road to peace.

(1) POLICY—The likelihood of a sharp divergence is on two scores, Berlin and nuclear testing. Prime Minister Macmillan has recently indicated his conviction that a settlement with the Soviets is so important that he might be willing to go considerably further than the United States in accepting an alteration in the status of Berlin.

All his considerable powers of persuasion, relating the isolated problem of Berlin as he sees it to the more menacing aspects of the world picture, will be bent toward its accommodation. This arouses Chancellor Adenauer's direct suspicions and it stirs a strong current of distrust in America, particularly among those who feel that any yielding on Berlin will imperil the whole West.

Although the final terms of a nuclear test agreement must be agreed to outside the framework of the conference in Paris between the three nuclear powers—Great Britain, United States and Soviet Russia—it could provide an even sharper breaking point. Opinion in Britain is virtually unanimous that a test agreement which means the beginning of inspection inside Russia, even though this is at the risk of some minor cheating on the test ban, is highly advantageous to the West.

(2) ECONOMIC RIVALRY—Here the conflict between the European community of the six led by France and Germany and the trade group of the seven other European powers led by Britain is rapidly approaching a crisis. The six are due on July to accelerate the process of knitting their common trade area and at the same time of raising the tariff barriers against outsiders.

(3) DEFENSE AND NUCLEAR WEAPONS—Britain's abandonment of the Blue Streak missile, after spending nearly a half-billion dollars on it, is reviving the old political bogey of total dependence on American weapons and American bases. The Conservatives say this is not so, insisting that they can create their own nuclear warheads in the megaton range while buying delivery systems such as Skybolt and Polaris from the United States. But fear of this dependence helps to explain Labor's growing neutralist-pacifist trend.

To Your Good Health

An Uncontrollable Tendency To Sleep

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: We have a 30-year-old son who weighs from 195 to 205 pounds and is 5 feet, 7 inches tall. He just can't stay awake. He has to fight sleep when driving a car. Recently he was driving to work, stopped at a traffic light, and fell asleep. We don't know which way to turn.—L. H."

This type of problem crops up occasionally in letters to this column, and strongly suggests a condition known medically as narcolepsy—an overpowering urge to sleep.

It is not, of course, to be confused with the sleepiness that comes to people who try to burn the candle at both ends. If you don't get the amount of sleep your system demands, then nature takes a hand.

But there are, indeed, individuals who are victims of a tremendous urge to sleep at the slightest opportunity.

This is thought to be related to some disease or injury involving the brain—encephalitis, meningitis, or possibly the presence of cysts. A head injury in the past may be a factor in this condition.

You might well keep this in mind: Inflammation, such as that from encephalitis, may be sufficiently mild as not to be noticed, or at any rate not to be taken as a severe illness, at the time it occurs, yet afterward lead to this condition of narcolepsy.

Another possibility is a disorder of the body's metabolism—severe underfunctioning of the thyroid and related endocrine systems. Hysteria, a certain type of nervous condition, also can be at the root. (Remember that medically and psychologically "hysteria" does not necessarily mean a wild outburst of emotion. It can mean tightly repressed emotion, with the outward manifestation taking unexpected forms.)

In any event, narcolepsy affects men more often than women, and usually males at the age of adolescence through young adulthood.

Treatment, as always, starts with finding the cause, if possible. A thorough neurological examination as well as tests for any disorders in metabolism should be the first steps. These may provide the exact cause needed.

In other cases, stimulants of the amphetamines and ephedrine groups sometimes are helpful.

Education Of Youth Theme

Varied and interesting programs highlighted meetings of First Baptist Church WMS circles Monday morning.

Studies on educating youth in missions occupied many of the circles. One circle heard two YWA members tell of their organization.

MARY WILLIS
A missionary round table will be incorporated within the Mary Willis Circle. The group decided at their meeting Monday morning in the home of Mrs. Charlie Upton.

Mrs. Harold Farquhar was elected mission study chairman prior to the program "Education of Youth in Missions" that was led by Mrs. Leonard Coker. Participating in the program were Mrs. E. E. Bryant, Mrs. W. F. Taylor, and Mrs. Farquhar. They were given corsages of red roses.

Mrs. V. H. Cowan based her devotion on scriptures in Psalms, Proverbs, and Matthew. Crowned queen for the morning was Mrs. Bryant, who is active in the Sunbeam department. Mrs. Clyde Angel, 706 Hillside, will host the meeting next week.

JOHNNIE O'BRIEN
Mrs. W. B. Younger was hostess Monday morning for the Johnnie O'Brien Circle. After the opening prayer by Mrs. Della K. Agnell, the hostess brought the lessons "The Rewards of Pioneering" and "Who Is My Neighbor."

Plans were made to serve coffee and cookies May 20 to the laundry workers at the State Hospital. Mrs. C. H. Yater, who will host the group in her home at 1006 East 15th next week, gave the dismissal prayer. Mrs. Younger served refreshments to seven.

MOLLIE HARLAN
"Abraham Stood Yet Before God" was the topic of Mrs. V. W. Fuglaar's devotion for the Mollie Harlan Circle Monday when it met in the home of Mrs. C. T. McDonald.

Mrs. D. D. Dyer, who gave the opening prayer, led the open discussion on "Educating Youth in Missions." Mrs. Lee Jenkins and Mrs. J. C. Pickle told of the work among the Sunbeams and GAs.

The six were dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Jenkins. LUCILLE REAGAN
Members of the Lucille Reagan Circle were asked when they met in the home of Mrs. Horace Reagan to let Mrs. B. T. Faulkner know if they were planning to attend the conference in Glorieta. Mrs. Faulkner will make reservations for those planning to attend.

The session was opened with prayer by Mrs. C. T. Clay. A report on enlistment was given by Mrs. M. F. Ray. Mrs. T. B. Atkins reported on the cookies that have been taken to the State Hospital. "Who Are and Why the YWAs" was given by two of the group members, Mrs. Luther McDaniel and Mrs. Yvonne Miller. The benediction was given by Mrs. Ray.

Yvonne Geray Is Wed To Jerry A. Hayes

Yvonne Geray and Jerry Arnold Hayes exchanged vows Monday evening at Sacred Heart Cathedral in Dallas.

Miss Geray is the daughter of Mrs. Frank Joseph Geray of Gainesville, and Mrs. R. L. Hayes of Fort Worth, formerly of Big Spring, is mother of the bridegroom.

Before an altar decorated with baskets of white stock the couple exchanged rings as the rite was read by Father Littlekan. Paul Schaeffers played the organ and sang "Ave Maria" and "O Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her brother James E. Geray of Gainesville, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie with a molded princess lace bodice. The bouffant skirt featured a short train. A veil of illusion fell from a seed pearl tiara.

Miss Geray carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, and lilies of the valley. Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Billy Jack Lewis of Waco. Bridesmaids were Sandra Shaw and Mrs. W. W. Steele Jr. of Dallas. All three were dressed in aqua sheath dresses with an overskirt of matching silk organza. Their pill box hats were covered with short veils of aqua tulle, and their shoes matched in color. All carried white stock colonial bouquets.

C. W. Womack Jr of Wichita, Kan., was best man and groomsmen were W. C. Blankenship Jr. of Dallas and Kenneth Cox of Garland. Guests were ushered by Bud Fichte of Arlington and Don Glover of Dallas.

Following a reception in the church hall the couple left for Boulder, Colo., where they will make their home.

The new Mrs. Hayes chose a powder blue silk suit-dress with light blue pearlized shoes and bag for her wedding trip. She wore a blue chiffon hat and white rose corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Gainesville High School, Gainesville Junior College, and St. Paul's School of Nursing. Hayes graduated from Big Spring High School and Texas A&M.

Gay Hill 4H Meet
Gay Hill 4H members met at the school this morning for programs on clothing and gardening. Twenty-eight girls joined in a discussion on making wearing apparel and a forthcoming workshop while 20 boys studied gardening and farming practices.

Home Meetings Held By Women Of Church

Women of the First Presbyterian Church continued their study course at meetings held in homes of members Monday and announced plans for the June sessions.

RUTH
Mrs. Albert Davis was hostess for the Ruth Circle when they met Monday at 3 p.m. The group made plans for the observance of Church Extension Week. Daily programs will be held by the church starting May 15.

The Bible lesson, "Christ, the Unifying Center of Christian Home Life," was given by Mrs. Arthur Pickle. Mrs. W. G. Wilson led the discussion topic "Church Extension Work."

Seven were present at the meeting which was opened with prayer by Mrs. A. A. Porter.

FRIENDSHIP
A covered dish dinner highlighted the evening meeting of the Friendship Circle. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Margaret Pitt and Elizabeth Daniel.

The program was brought for the 14 present, including one guest, Mrs. Walter Harrell, by Mrs. Earl Mathis. Her topic was "Church Extension." Mrs. Pitt brought the study on Christian home life.

Mrs. Sam McComb will be hostess at the next meeting.

KING'S DAUGHTERS
Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach led the study on "Christ, the Unifying Center of Practical Christian Living" when the King's Daughters Circle met at the home of Mrs. Earl Stovall Monday afternoon.

Eight members repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison as the opening ceremony before the study that was taken from the book of James. Mrs. Florence McNew read the "Let's Learn About Christian Extension" message.

Methodist Guild Gives An Installation Skit

"A Match With A Candle" was the title of a skit for members of the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church Monday evening in the church parlor.

The skit set the theme for the installation service directed by Mrs. H. M. Rowe. Participating were Mrs. Lavie Hill, Mrs. Oma Anderson, Twila Lomax and Mrs. Rowe. The theme was expanded as each participant lighted a small candle encircling a world globe that made a light around the darkened room.

Lucile Hester gave the invocation. A single white taper, based in greenery was the focal point of the worship center. As Mrs. Merie Stewart, co-ordinator, installed the officers for the new year, each took a candle of red, green, blue, yellow and violet color that designated the office, and lighted it from the central flame.

Installed were Mrs. S. Gorman, president; Mrs. M. R. Turner, vice president; Edith Gay, secretary; Mrs. Ruby Martin, secretary of promotions; Twila Lomax, treasurer.

Other officers are Mrs. Marie Affleck, spiritual life; Mrs. H. M. Rowe, missionary education; Mrs. W. D. McDonald, Christian social relations; Mrs. Oma Anderson, local church activity; Mrs. W. E. Wren, literature and publications.

The couple will make their home at the Chandler ranch near Vincent.

CLUBWOMAN

Mrs. S. Applegate Wins Lamesa Award For Clinic

LAMESA — The coveted silver loving cup awarded annually to the community's outstanding club woman last night went to Mrs. Stanley Applegate for her work in staging the city's first diabetic detection clinic last fall.

Mrs. Applegate was honored at a tea following her presentation at 7:15 p.m. Monday in Woman's Study Club Building. Mrs. Bobbie Woodum, president of the Junior Woman's Study Club which sponsors the club woman of the year competition, announced Mrs. Applegate's selection from a field of six candidates.

Now serving her second year as president of the Lamesa Business and Professional Women's Club, Mrs. Applegate played a leading role in the community when she undertook the club's project of the year, the diabetic detection clinic.

Volunteer workers from various women's clubs and civic groups tested 4,144 persons for diabetes during the clinic which operated Nov. 15-22 from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily at the South Plains Health Clinic and in the school of the city. Of the more than 4,000 tested, 126 were notified they should contact their family physicians.

For her work as chairman of the clinic, Mrs. Applegate received special citations from both the state and national health and safety chairmen of the Business and Professional Clubs.

She was also active in the organization of a Business and Professional Women's Club in Brownfield this winter, which now has 19 members.

Mrs. Applegate is secretary of the Lamesa High School P.T.A., third vice president of the Medical Arts Hospital Auxiliary, active in the Friends of the Dawson County Public Library organization, and serves as a pianist in the Primary III Department of First Baptist Church where she and her family are members.

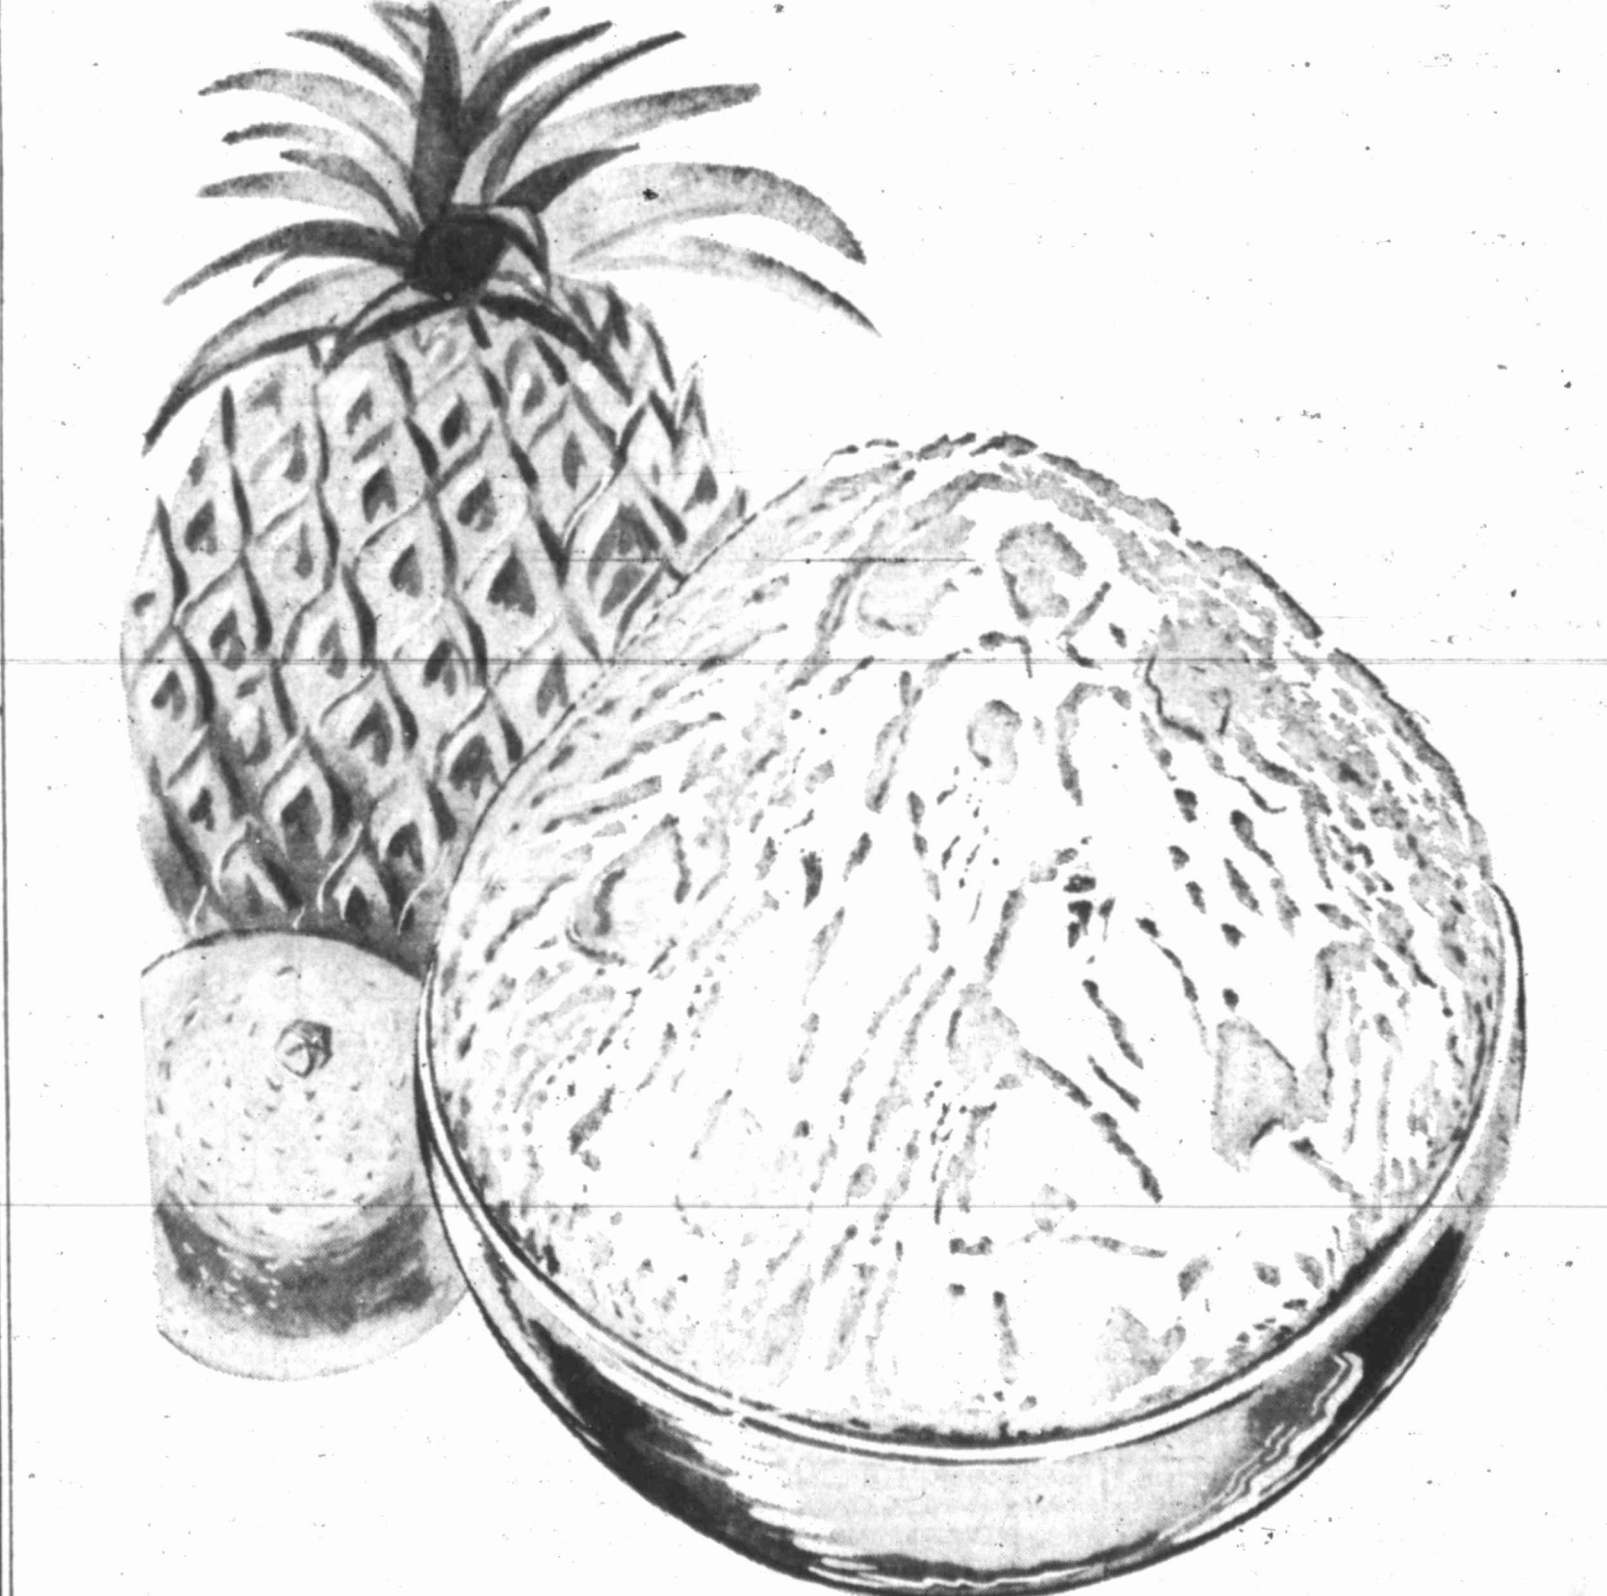

Other nominees for club woman of the year were Mrs. Henry Stafford, Mrs. John Bania, Mrs. Edwin Carnes, Mrs. M. G. Riggan and Mrs. Jeff Shipp.

Donald Wilton Receives Sousa Award At Banquet
LAMESA—Donald Wilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wilton, was presented the John Phillip Sousa award as the most outstanding student in the Lamesa High School Band at the annual banquet staged Saturday in the school cafeteria.

Band Director Edward J. Burt made the presentation of the annual award, and announced three other medal winners. Julia Durham received the annual musicianship award; Kay Campbell, most improved student; and Bill Petteway, award for service to the band organization.

Elaborate decorations for the banquet carried out the Hawaiian theme. Guests were presented leis as they entered on a ship's gangplank.

Hula dances were staged by Sissy Patterson, Claudia Swann, Nancy Nutt, Tondi Ree Williams, Alice Kinsey and Becky Barnett. A quartet composed of Don Roberts, Charles Darwin, Don Lumus and Tony Graves sang "There's Nothing Like a Dame."

Headaches Can Be Corrected!

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.
Headaches come in such a variety of types that it is difficult to write about them. Some indicate a liver-gall bladder ailment, others a bad stomach, or kidney disease while others are the result of nervous or emotional tension. It is advisable that you investigate the persistent headaches, but to the average sufferer it's easier to reach for a sedative and forget the cause. Forget it, that is, until one day the body breaks down into a general illness to plague us for our short sightedness. Then you come to realize that all the pills and potions only temporarily deaden the headache—they don't correct it!

The commonly overlooked basic key to this entire problem is in the central nervous system which controls, correlates and integrates all body processes, the reactions, and the adjustments of the body to its environment. Therefore, your nerves, serving as the life lines of communications in the body may suffer interferences that cause your symptoms. We search for such disturbances in this system and when found they can usually be corrected with amazing results as the following actual case from our clinic files illustrates:
A forty-nine-year-old ex-GI returned home in not as good health as when he left. He couldn't relax, felt nervous and tight all the time. He complained of an aching stiff neck, low back pains and a tired, worn-out feeling. For years he has been constipated and had frequent indigestion, heartburn and dizzy spells. But this was only part of his bag of woes—this sergeant had suffered his entire service career of fifteen years with severe sick headaches. He was hospitalized in Japan and while in Germany for alternate periods, his condition diagnosed as "migraine headaches". He said the Army medics literally saturated his body with drugs, potions and pills—but he continued to have those hot, searing pains that started in his neck and shot up like a ball of fire that nearly "tore my head off." He continued to suffer almost a year after discharge before his sister and mother, both of whom were our former patients, talked him into letting us examine him.
Our spinal analysis and spinal X-rays located the offending mis-aligned vertebrae causing his sickness and pains, which responded to our corrective adjustments.
At the end of our prescribed services his report reads—no headaches, normal elimination, no indigestion, no back aches, thanks to mom, sis and the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic. This was almost two years ago. He comes in periodically for a check-up all smiles and has gratefully sent us many patients who now owe their regained health to him, No. 1631.
All branches of the Healing Arts get some people well and fall on others. If failure has been your lot, our method may succeed. For your health's sake, try it.

Mass Production Of TV 'Impossible'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Montgomery, once the most debonair of Hollywood film heroes and more recently a TV producer and actor, has a very simple explanation for the current low state of television programs.

"You can't mass-produce entertainment," he says. And although Montgomery professes the greatest admiration for the medium itself, he's postponing a return to TV. "I'd be interested in coming back," the slim graying actor admits. "But only if I have the right—the freedom—to produce shows, sponsored or unsponsored over a network. That means a network now in existence—or in existence in the future on a subscription basis—and without being discriminated against by being placed in a competitive position with shows produced by the networks themselves."

Montgomery feels that the networks control television too tightly and that shoddy quality results because they are unable to produce good hour-long dramatic shows. "Large organizations are not keyed to producing good material," he says. "In the half hour shows, of course, no quality is required or given. But the good, live hour-long shows—Kraft, Philco, Studio One and the others—started to disappear at the time our show did. That was when the networks decided to produce and control their own shows. Today there are practically no dramatic shows left—and significantly, most of the small producing units are gone, too."

Montgomery has turned to motion pictures—as producer and director of "The Gallant Hours." And it is as a moviemaker that he suddenly is popping up all over the TV screen—from Jack Paar to next Sunday's Ed Sullivan Show. Why? To plug his movie of course.

Meanwhile, he hopes that subscription TV will come and come soon. "I think it will be terribly healthy," he adds. "And I think the reason the commercial networks are fighting it so hard is that they are afraid it will be successful."

Television, while quietly stocking up on next season's supplies of Westerns and action tales, is noisily underwriting a little culture, too. CBS has ordered a new opera from Gian-Carlo Menotti and NBC will present the world premiere of "Brigham Young," by Leonard Kastle as the first of four NBC Opera productions next season. CBS also has asked for a "contemporary ballet," based on the story of Noah from Igor Stravinsky and George Balanchine, the choreographer. The NBC Opera Co. will also do "Boris Godunov," Montemezzi's "The Love of Three Kings," and, as usual, Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

Recommended tonight: "Tennessee Ernie Meets King Arthur," NBC, 8:30-9:30 (Eastern Daylight Time)—based on A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court; Garry Moore Show, CBS, 10-11—with Ed Wynn and singer Patti Page.

U. S. Violated 'Cardinal Rule'
LOS ANGELES (AP)—"We're on your side, right or wrong," Britain's information chief in the United States Monday told Newsweek who asked about the capture of a U.S. flier by the Soviets. Leslie Glass then added: "But you chaps broke the cardinal rule, you know—never get caught." Glass, official spokesman for the British Foreign Office in this country, is visiting British information specialists here.

Traffic Mishaps Increase In April

Traffic accidents in Big Spring increased slightly in April with 85 reported, compared with 81 in March. Total number of accidents for the year, through April, is 325. Nine of the April accidents produced 10 injuries. In March, there were nine injured in nine mishaps. There were no fatalities in either month.

Two hit-and-run accidents were reported in April. There were none in March. Most number of mishaps occurred on Gregg St., where there were 12, including two injury accidents. Third St. had four mishaps but two of them injured three persons. West U. S. 80 had six mishaps and FM 700 had five, none with injuries.

State Convention Looking More Like Lyndon Pep Rally

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP)—It better look as if the June 14 Democratic State Convention will mainly be a pep meeting in the Johnson-for-president drive. Hopes of a liberal faction to stir up contests, perhaps a rump convention and a challenge to Sen. Lyndon Johnson at Los Angeles faded Saturday when Texas precinct conventions gave Johnson the endorsements he wants. The precinct sessions also formally put Mrs. R. D. Frankie Randolph, Houston, on the skirts as Democratic national committee-woman from Texas. Statewide reports on the hundreds of precinct sessions showed only a few where there was even a little anti-Johnson static, and a scattering where Mrs. Randolph was endorsed as national committee-woman. Johnson and Mrs. Randolph have been bitter political foes since 1956: She was nominated from the floor and elected by acclamation on concession by Johnson's moderate and conservative Democrats to the liberals. At that point, the liberals took the convention away from the moderates, and Johnson remembers it. He told this correspondent, however, that naming the national committee man and woman are an internal party affair and he is taking no part in what may happen to Mrs. Randolph at the June 15 state convention. But his friends said they will take care of it for him. The endorsement by the precinct conventions, expected to be undeclined in the county conventions Saturday, gave Johnson just what he needed to make a better-than-favorite-bid for the nomination at Los Angeles. And it nailed down his top-level leadership of the party in Texas. That covers such matters as the national committee jobs in which Johnson will not take a public stand. He will not need to. The state convention's nominations for the committee posts are automatically approved by the national convention and will be this year if precedent is followed. The heavy Johnson endorsement also puts an end to talk of a serious

Stamps In The News

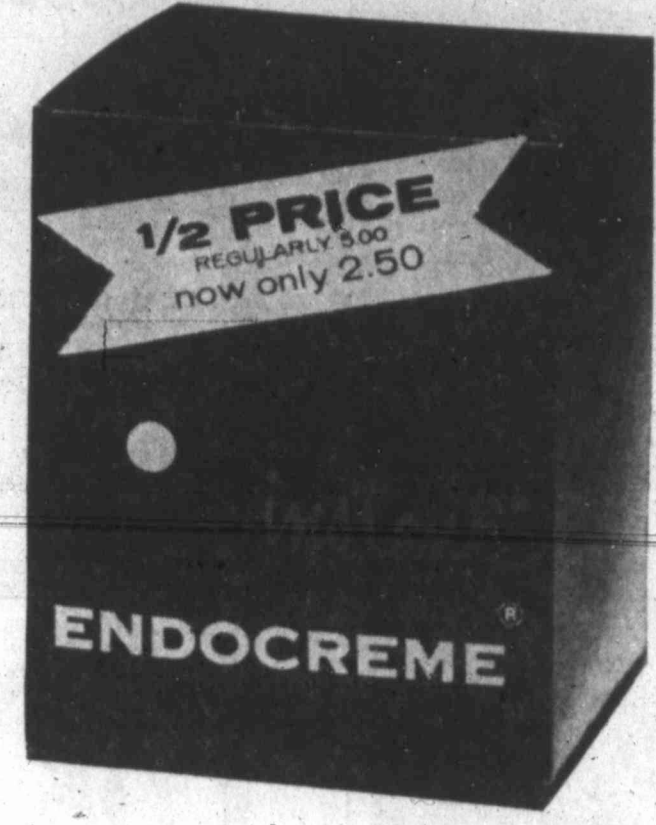

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Switzerland, A Country rich in historical lore, has just issued its first regular postage set in 10 years. The new issue consists of 18 stamps depicting motifs from its postal history plus ancient architectural structures, reports the Swiss Philatelic Agency in America. The 5 centimes shows a cantonal messenger from Fribourg, 10 c a messenger from Schwyz, 15 c a pack animal driver with mule, and the 20 c a mounted postman. The 14 higher values, from the 25-c to the 2.50 fr., illustrate the ancient architectural edifices such as the Cathedral of Lausanne, Abbey Church of St. Gall, Town Hall at Fribourg and the Grossmunster of Zurich.

The 4 lowest denominations also will be available as a short set since these small denominations have a particular concern to collectors who are interested in the postal history of Switzerland. For the second time this year the Post Office Department has announced the handling of an all-time record number of first day covers. The new record was established on March 7 when 1,710,726 covers were cancelled for the 4 cent and 8 cent Masaryk "Champion of Liberty" stamps. A total of 3,666,612 stamps were sold in Washington, D.C., that day. The first record set this year was the cancelling of 1,419,955 first day covers bearing the 4-cent Boys Scouts of America Golden Jubilee commemorative, released Feb. 8. If initial enthusiasm and official support are any indication of success, then the World Refugee Year stamp program can be termed successfully launched. In various cities throughout the United States, special ceremonies were held to help launch the sale of the stamps. In New York City, for example, Mayor Robert Wagner signed a proclamation designating April 7 as World Refugee Year Stamp Day. Reports from stamp dealers reveal that the sales of these issues are being sold out as quickly as they are received. The Miami (Fla.) Stamp Club will be host to the June 10-12 Stamporee to be held in that city. The exhibition at this Stamporee for competition will be limited to those who have never won an award previously for stamp displays. The U. S. Post Office Department announced that first day cancellations will be applied to the 10-cent Liberty Bell air mail at Miami June 10 and will feature the Seal of the Florida Federation of Stamp Clubs.

Losses Drop Oil Average

TULSA (AP)—Big losses in leading producing states dropped daily average U.S. oil production 227,605 to 6,811,550 barrels during the week ended May 7, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. The Journal said the average, lowest since Sept. 5, 1959, reflected recent cutbacks in state oil allowances. Highest level this year was 7,332,540 barrels daily the week ended Feb. 27. The biggest decline was in Texas, which is on an 8-day producing schedule for May compared to 9 last month. The daily average there fell 135,275 barrels to 2,415,900. Louisiana dropped 53,500 barrels to 1,049,500. Oklahoma declined 31,200 to 513,200 barrels. The Journal estimated 1960 production at 916,403,900 barrels compared to 916,316,200 a year ago. New Mexico was down 12,000 barrels to 300,000. Colorado was up 400 to 129,400.

Many Thanks

To The Voters Of Precinct 3

I sincerely thank you for electing me your County Commissioner. Your vote of confidence, extended me in the Democratic Primary May 7, is greatly appreciated and will be honored.

I want to thank all my friends and well-wishers throughout the County for their splendid support and keen interest shown during my campaign and election night. I also want to thank my opponent and present Commissioner, Hudson Landers, for conducting a clean campaign.

Thanks A Million, Folks
