Nixon Claims Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)— Vice President Richard M. Nixon's camp put out figures Saturday showing that in eight state primaries he polled over a million votes more than Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

The summary took no account of Kennedy's major opposition in two of the states, Wisconsin and West Virginia. Nixon has had only fringe opposition in any of the primaries.

The Nixon staff totals showed 2,669,000 for the vice president and 1,477,000 for Kennedy in the primaries held in New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Illinois, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Indiana, West Virginia and Nebraska.

These are the figures, with X denoting exclusively write-in votes: March 8, New Hampshire, Nixon 65,000, Kennedy 43,000. April 5, Wisconsin, Nixon 340,000, Kennedy 35,000. April 26, Massachusetts, Nixon 54,000, Kennedy 96,000. April 26, Pennsylvania, Nixon 954,000, Kennedy 175,000. May 3, Indiana, Nixon 402,000, Kennedy 352,000. May 10, West Virginia, Kennedy 219,000, Nixon 78,000. May 10, Nebraska, Nixon 71,000, Kennedy 78,000. Totals, Nixon 2,669,000, Kennedy 1,477,000.

Demo Leaders Credit Kennedy With 13 States

WASHINGTON (AP)— Democratic leaders across the country Saturday credited Sen. John F. Kennedy with strong support in 13 states which will cast over half the votes needed to nominate the party's 1960 presidential candidate.

These 13, embracing the Massachusetts senator's solid New England but also including New York, Ohio and others as far away from home as Arizona, will have a total of 294 votes at the national convention. It will take 761 to nominate.

In addition, Kennedy was considered by the party leaders to have less than outright support, ranging from slight to considerable, in 17 other states with 528 convention votes. He shared these 17 with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, whom the front-running Kennedy describes as his chief opponent; Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and others.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

The census verdict is in — nearly 31,000 for Big Spring and almost 40,000 for Howard County. The entrance signs on the highway had been remarkably accurate in claiming 30,433. The percentage of gain was 78 for the 10-year period. In other areas the reports were erratic.

Speaking of the census, Mrs. M. L. Lawrence guessed 30,578. May be our arithmetic is faulty, but that's getting it down to an infinitesimal portion of one percentage point of error. In other words, about as near perfect as you can get.

The State Board of Water Engineers announced June 20 as the date for a hearing on the application of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to impound a new lake on the Colorado River in southern Mitchell County. Revised figures show that a lake

New YMCA Building To Be Dedicated This Afternoon

The people who made it possible will get their first look at the new Young Men's Christian Association building this afternoon. Brief dedication rites at 2:30 p.m. today will signal the opening of the structure erected and equipped at a cost of approximately $330,000. Then, for three and a half hours before the building is closed to avoid conflict with early evening church services, board members and H-Y and T-H-Y leaders will conduct visitors through the sparkling and functional plant at Owens and 8th Streets. This is just west of the old high school stadium and immediately north of the fire drill tower.

'RESOUNDING'

Texas Demos Vote To Endorse LBJ

By IRWIN FRANK Associated Press Staff Writer

Sen. Lyndon Johnson's forces Saturday claimed a "resounding victory" in Texas Democratic county conventions even though vote-heavy Harris County failed to endorse him.

Backers of Johnson's unannounced drive for the nomination for president at the National Democratic Convention said "we believe Texas has demonstrated that our party can win with Sen. Johnson as its standard bearer."

Larry Blackmon, president of the Johnson-for-President clubs said in Austin "the race has just begun."

Battles over loyalty pledges to support any candidate named by the Democrats at Los Angeles July 11 caused liberals to stomp out of the huge Harris, Dallas and Travis county conventions.

But while the Dallas group split both the liberals and conservatives passed resolutions backing Johnson for president.

Harris County, divided over the loyalty pledge, failed to pass any resolution concerning Johnson.

Delegates selected at the county conventions will go to the state convention at Austin June 14. Texas' 61 delegates to the national convention will be picked in Austin.

Johnson headquarters in Austin claimed a "clear majority" of Johnson delegates out of the 2,312 state-convention delegates.

"Out of 140 counties reporting by early Saturday night Sen. Johnson won sweeping endorsement from 138."

Denton County, with 11 votes, also did not pass a resolution backing Johnson. Democrats in Denton, however, passed a resolution supporting Mrs. R. D. Randolph, national Democratic committee woman from Houston, for a second term. She is a long-time political foe of Johnson.

Conservative forces bypassed a Johnson-for-president resolution. They selected an uncommitted delegation bound to the unit rule.

Krause, president, is in Harvard for a special seminar and is unable to attend. The response will be made by Jane Cowper on behalf of the youth groups.

The plant is of haydite block and brick masonry and steel frame. Colors carry out a subdued but bright scheme, and in the pool, gym and locker rooms, windows are so arranged as to provide effective illumination.

Among the principal elements of the facility are the lobby, the pivotal point for all activities; the office, lounge, snack bar, the all-purpose room which can accommodate 200 for meetings, offices, meeting rooms; a craft room, chapel, kitchen, men's and women's locker rooms and exercise rooms, an indoor heated swimming pool, and a large gymnasium. Key areas are air conditioned, and there is a central address system. A terrace is to be developed on the northwest side of the all-purpose room.

Besides being designed as a program tool, the building also is arranged so that a minimum of personnel can operate it and supervise activities. For instance, one basketball attendant can serve both the male and female members; the physical director can oversee the swimming pool from his office; the swimming pool windows can be opened to provide cross ventilation and eliminate mustiness; the service center can be operated by one person; the desk, by means of an electric switch, controls admittance to the basket and locker rooms.

For the first few weeks, an orientation type of program will be operated in the hope of attracting as many members of the Y as possible to make use of the facilities. By mid-June, the regular scheduled program may be instituted with more specific times for various groups such as classes, families, leagues, etc.

In charge of operations is James M. (Bob) Hardy, general secretary, assisted by Everett Taylor, program director; Joe Leach, physical director; Mrs. Glenn Coates, secretary. Several part-time employees and a host of volunteers round out the staff. The plant was designed by Puckett and French and was built by J. D. Jones.

See Page 8-A in today's Herald for picture of the new YMCA facility.

Howard Democrats Will Back Johnson; Name 32 Delegates

By JACK RADER Howard County Democrats Saturday night unanimously endorsed Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for a presidential nomination and, after a minor hassle, agreed on 32 delegates and alternates to the state convention.

Including a resolution endorsing Sen. Johnson, the county convention adopted nine resolutions. Two resolutions, one calling for support of an amendment to repeal the poll tax and one calling for use of public funds to finance party primaries, raised a few dissenting votes.

Frank Hardesty was re-elected county chairman and Mrs. L. A. Griffith was elected secretary.

HIGH READING SETS RECORD

Saturday's high temperature in Big Spring broke all records for May 14, as the mercury soared to the 102 level.

The previous high for May 14 was set in 1945 and the mark was a mere 98 degrees.

Predictions indicate no significant drop in the temperature and the mercury will likely rise above the 100 barrier again today.

World Leaders Gather For Showdown Meeting

Nikita Arrives But Cautious

By WILLIAM L. RYAN PARIS (AP)— Nikita Khrushchev arrived Saturday for a showdown summit meeting on world tensions and tarty—but cautiously—accused unnamed influential circles of trying to preserve a cold war atmosphere.

Western officials at once detected signs of an attempt by the Soviet Premier to drive a wedge between the United States and its Western allies.

Khrushchev's tone was cautious in an airport address. One highly placed Westerner said it seemed Khrushchev, while anxious not to wreck the summit meeting in advance by playing too heavily on the U2 plane incident, still was under severe pressure from his own politicians at home to continue talking tough.

At the same time Westerners regarded "as" highly significant Khrushchev's prompt move to arrange a meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who arrives Sunday morning, two hours after President Eisenhower. A Khrushchev meeting with President Charles de Gaulle of France already had been arranged.

Both these meetings were arranged upon Khrushchev's initiative, and observers found in this an indication that Khrushchev was attempting to divide the Western allies. There was no Khrushchev request for a meeting with President Eisenhower, and there was no indication that any such request was going to be made.

Eisenhower, Macmillan and De Gaulle are scheduled to meet with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany Sunday afternoon for a Western summit huddle. By that time De Gaulle will have had his meeting with Khrushchev and will be able to fill in his colleagues on what took place.

In his airport speech, Khrushchev appeared to choose his words with caution. It was a moment when an ill-chosen phrase might wreck in advance the meeting Khrushchev anxiously sought for more than two years.

There was some indication that Khrushchev originally had intended not to use any harsh accusation at all in his airport speech and that he inserted it as an afterthought in a prepared text. Informed sources said the official Soviet news agency Tass was required to substitute the amended version later.

TALK STOPPED Russian Radio Broadcasts Statement By F. G. Powers

LONDON (AP)—Radio Moscow broadcast Saturday extracts of what it called an interrogation of Francis G. Powers, American pilot of the U2 plane shot down May 1 over the Soviet Union.

The text as received in London by the British Broadcasting Corp. Q: Is the accusation brought against you clear? A: Yes it is.

Q: Do you plead guilty? A: I plead guilty to the fact that I have flown over Soviet territory and over the points indicated on the chart, turned on and off the necessary controls of the special equipment mounted

Officials Stop Spy Plane Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times reported today that government officials have been ordered to stop talking in public about the American spy plane lost over the Soviet Union.

A Washington dispatch by William J. Jordan said that new policy was marked by President Eisenhower's cancellation of plans to make a farewell statement before leaving for the summit meeting in Paris.

aboard my plane that I consider was being done with the aim of collecting intelligence information about the U.S.S.R. Q: Tell us with more details what you plead guilty to. A: In accordance with the contract which was signed by me with the CIA (Central Intelligence Agency) of the U.S.A., I am pilot of the special air detachment of the U.S.A., dealing with the collection of information about operational radio stations and radar on the territory of the U.S.S.R. and, as I suppose, about locations of rockets. Our air detachment is permanently located at the U.S. Turkish air base, Incirlik, near Adana City, Turkey. I have been serving in this detachment since August, 1956, and each year for several times flew in special high altitude plane E2 along the borders of the U.S.S.R. with Turkey, Iran and Afghanistan. Besides, in 1956-57 I performed three or four flights over the Black Sea without crossing the state borders of the U.S.S.R. It is difficult for me to recollect the numbers of such flights, but I flew repeatedly.

During these flights the special equipment mounted in my plane took bearings of the signals of Soviet radio stations and radar.

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller again rejected Saturday the vice presidential nomination and said he would not attend the Republican National Convention in any capacity.

The New York governor said his mere attendance at the convention could be misconstrued by delegates that he would be willing to accept the vice presidential nomination.

NEW YORK (AP)—Violent street fighting between pro and anti-Castro sympathizers broke out Saturday in front of the Cuban Consulate. At least nine persons were injured, including three policemen. No one was hurt seriously.

More than 250 persons—some wielding clubs, pieces of board and umbrellas—were involved in the 10-minute clash on Madison Avenue in the heart of Manhattan.

Dr. Rogelio Guillot, the consul general, was pushed back into the building by police when he tried to rush into the street.

He called the anti-Castro force "murderers," and said they unsuccessfully tried to invade his office.

The fracas started shortly after noon as a group of about 50 members of the Cuban Nationalist Assn., a group opposed to the regime of Premier Fidel Castro, picketed the consulate to demand press freedom in Cuba.

Soviets Launch 'Space Ship'

LONDON, Sunday (AP)—Moscow radio reported that the Soviet Union Sunday launched a space ship into orbit around the earth.

The Tass announcement said: "The Soviet Union orbited a space ship around the earth.

"According to the available information, the satellite ship was put into a precalculated orbit, which is close to circular and some 320 kilometers above the surface of the earth, where it separated from the carrier rocket's last stage.

"The satellite ship's initial period of revolution around the earth is 91 minutes.

"Its inclination to the equatorial plane is 65 degrees.

"The satellite ship weighs 4 tons 540 kilograms without the last stage of the carrier rocket.

"The ship has a pressurized cabin on board, which contains a dummy spaceman, all the necessary equipment for a future manned flight and, moreover, various instrumentation weighing 1,477 kilograms."

First May Primary Draws Near-Record

By The Associated Press

The first May primary in Texas Democratic party history drew a near-record vote of more than 1 1/2 million.

This rebuffs old-timers who said May was too early for a full voter turnout—that it took July heat, shirt-sleeves and sweat to get the public interested.

The final report Saturday from the Texas Election Bureau showed a total unofficial vote of 1,519,257 in the May 7 primary. Robert Johnson, manager of the bureau, said the count was complete in 251 of the 254 counties and not more than 600 votes remained uncounted.

The record primary vote is 1,378,670 set in a July primary of 1956.

There were no surprises in the final report of the election bureau, the unofficial vote-counting agency supported by newspapers, radio stations and television stations. Nor is any surprise likely in the formal canvass by the State Democratic Executive Committee in Austin Tuesday.

Rep. Jerry Sadler of Palestine, in the only upset of the election, was nominated for land commissioner even though he lost big cities such as Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and Austin.

Sadler ousted incumbent Bill Allicorn by an unofficial margin of 19,102. The totals were Sadler 686,735, Allicorn 667,633. Sadler ran strong in rural areas and carried such cities as San Antonio, Texarkana, Galveston, Beaumont, Lubbock, Waco, Corpus Christi and Tyler.

Gov. Price Daniel carried all but 38 counties in his landslide victory over Jack Cox. Breckenridge oil drilling contractor. The count, Daniel 902,355, Cox 616,902.

Most of Cox's strength was in West Texas.

The widest margins—almost two to one—were won by two men named Calvert. Comptroller Robert S. Calvert kept his office by a 924,668 to 416,865 margin over challenger V. L. Ramsey of Beckville. Associate Justice Robert W. Calvert won his race for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court by 898,951 to 464,686 over Robert Hughes.

Clawson said the fire was apparently started accidentally by railroad section hands, since the path of the fire began at the Texas and Pacific track south of Interstate Highway 20. Railroad officials told Clawson that a crew had been at work in that area.

Starting at a point about three miles west of Westbrook the fire swept for about one and one-half miles to the southeast, burning a strip nearly a mile wide, Clawson noted.

Clawson said the firemen were seriously hampered by high winds in bringing the blaze under control. He added, however, that it was fortunate the fire took the course it did. "It had at least another mile to go before possibly reaching a house," he said.

The fire took a lot of Buffalo grass and scorched numerous mesquite trees, Clawson said, but did not damage anything else.

Two fire trucks from Colorado City and one from Westbrook had been fighting the fire since 1:30 p.m. when the Big Spring crew arrived. Clawson added. The fire was brought under control about 5 p.m.

Eisenhower Cancels Public Talk, But Smiling

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower took off Saturday night for the Paris summit conference and a face-to-face meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev under tensions heightened by the U. S. spy plane affair.

Eisenhower smiled broadly and waved a cheerful farewell as he stepped aboard the military jetliner carrying him on the nine-hour trip to Paris.

The weather was chilly and the skies were gray—there was a smattering of rain—as the chief executive left for the historic Paris conference between East-West heads of state slated to get under way Monday.

The President remained publicly silent right up until departure time instead of issuing the usual farewell statement. He canceled a previously planned farewell message and bypassed microphones waiting at the Air Force base.

There was an absolute minimum of ceremony at the departure and only a few officials were on hand to bid Eisenhower farewell. Church bells pealed in Washington to wish him Godspeed, but at the airfield only a few onlookers attended although earlier thousands had been at the sprawling base to watch Armed Forces Day demonstration.

The top administration official to wave Eisenhower off was Asst. Secretary of State Loy Henderson. Also on hand was Eisenhower's aide, Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Parsons.

In a surprise move Friday, the President abandoned plans to give the nation a farewell message. This seemed to be part of an administration policy of silence in advance of his long-awaited meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the leaders of Britain and France.

5 Trucks Fight Westbrook Fire

Five fire trucks were needed Saturday afternoon to bring under control a prairie fire that burned off about a section of grassland just southwest of Westbrook.

A truck from Big Spring and one from Westbrook rushed to the scene of the fire after receiving the call for help about 2:30 p.m., according to Fire Chief H. V. Crocker.

The blaze missed starting a possible oil fire by about 300 yards, Capt. Hubert Clawson said. The fire started about that distance east of oil storage tanks in the vicinity and continued burning in a southeasterly direction.

Clawson said the fire was apparently started accidentally by railroad section hands, since the path of the fire began at the Texas and Pacific track south of Interstate Highway 20. Railroad officials told Clawson that a crew had been at work in that area.

School Board Looks Toward More Growth

With the realization of three-fourths of projects laid out less than three years ago, the Big Spring School Board is looking forward to possible growth within the next five years.

The board last week reviewed the accomplishment of a number of objectives in expanding physical facilities, then examined some potential areas of further need if growth trends continue.

A target laid out at the Nov. 12, 1947 meeting included these items: A 15 to 20-room addition to the senior high school (done), remodeling program for Runnels Junior High (done), increased dressing room facilities for athletic teams (done), 12-classroom unit adjacent to Webb housing unit (a 16-room unit built), six-room addition to Park Hill School (done), site selection and purchase for an elementary school in eastern Big Spring (done). Not accomplished were the construction of a central administration building, and a three-room addition to Kate Morrison (deemed not practical).

FUTURE PLANS

Included in the tentative proposals for consideration are: Five all-purpose rooms (cafeteriums) for elementary schools which do not now have them; enlargement of kitchen facilities at three schools; construction of a 12-room unit on the College Parks site; 10 additional classrooms, possibly at Goliad Junior High; additional classrooms (possibly as many as 50) at other areas or schools as needed; central administration building; 10-classroom building at Lakeview to absorb present elementary school; complete renovation of Runnels, including music and shop facilities; conversion of South Ward into a special education center; landscaping, sidewalks, paving, etc.

LAKEVIEW

In terms of urgency, subject to changing conditions, the proposal puts the Lakeview improvements at the top; a central administration facility; the 12-room Moss (College Parks) structure; and possibly four or more portable classroom units to absorb overflows where they might occur until permanent provision can be made. These priority projects could be accomplished on new capital funds of $650,000 to $700,000.

A five-year plan, or realized in its entirety, might run as much as two and a half million. Some study has been given to finances, and Carter Johnson, fiscal agent, conferred with the board on this matter. Under present conditions he suggested three increments of $400,000 each could be scheduled over five years and still leave the district well within the 7 1/2 per cent ratio of funded debt to assessed valuation.

Except in certain spots, the housing problem is not pressing. In fact, the average of pupils per classroom has been brought down to 24.2 during the fifth six-week period, which is 1.4 less than the same time a year ago. The rate ranges from a peak of 29.7 in one school to a low of 19.3 in another.

Much of the potential development is in the study stage, but some preliminary planning has been done toward providing better facilities for Lakeview elementary children.

A. C. Rawlins Appointed To Air Academy

A. C. Rawlins III, 18, son of Mrs. Zolie Mae Rawlins of Rankin and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dodge of Big Spring, has been appointed to the United States Air Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. The announcement was made by Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa.

A 1939 graduate of Rankin High School, Rawlins is completing his freshman year at Texas A&M College. He is due to report at the Academy on June 27.

He was born in Big Spring and attended school here through the eighth grade, being active in school, church and Scout affairs. At Rankin he was president of the Student Council, vice president of the National Honor Society, President of the Science Club, class reporter and photographer. He received the American Legion award and a scholarship from the Rankin Study Club.

Since moving to Rankin, he has been active in the Concho Valley Council, serving two summers as water front and canoeing instructor at Camp Sol Myer. He is an Eagle Scout and holder of the Silver Award, and he served three years as assistant scoutmaster of troop No. 56 in Rankin.

Khrushchev's Expression May Be Key To Conference

By RELMAN MORIN

PARIS (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev wore the expression of a man with badly ruffled feathers when he walked up the long red carpet on his arrival at Orly Airfield Saturday. He was dour, jut-jawed, unsmiling.

What he really felt may be something else again. For the Soviet leader is a master actor, a man of many faces, capable of swift-changing expressions.

But if his visage Saturday was any criterion of his mood, the outlook for the summit hardly seems bright.

It reflected angry words he has been voicing for the past week about the American spy-plane case and the repercussions to it in Washington. It may be the face he presents to President Eisenhower Monday in the first session of the conference.

Khrushchev's reception at Orly was something less than overwhelming.

Neither President Charles de Gaulle nor French Prime Minister Michel Debre was at the airport to greet him. A deputy prime minister, Roger Frey, officially represented the French government.

Applause came primarily from a group of Russians—men, women and children—who are residents of Paris.

As he came up the carpet toward a microphone, the Russians applauded more fiercely. Then he waved—three times.

Two little Russian girls and a boy handed him large bouquets of flowers. Khrushchev patted the boy on the head, hugged one of the girls, then handed the flowers to a bulky, broad-shouldered Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, a former-able figure in full uniform.

At that point, and for the first time, he broke into a big grin. The crowd laughed.

But when he began reading his prepared arrival statement, Khrushchev's face went dour again. His words were more or less the stylized words of a statesman arriving for a conference, except when he said: "Nobody can deny that in certain countries... influential circles are trying to go back to the cold war and prevent improvement of the international atmosphere."

He looked then pretty much as he looked on that dramatic night in Los Angeles last autumn when he became annoyed by some statements from the city's mayor, Norris Poulson. He strongly implied that night that he might break off his tour of the United States and go home.

For much of the time, as he arrived Saturday, Khrushchev was wearing his "Los Angeles expression" as contrasted with his "Washington expression" of watchful waiting and his "San Francisco look" of impish pleasure.

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — The Police Board decided to have the elevator at police headquarters repaired.

He explained that during the 25 years he has been on the force, he has never seen the elevator move.

Howard, Glasscock Counties Increase

As more census figures were announced last week, it began to appear that only Howard and Glasscock counties in this area had increased population figures over 1950.

Latest counties to get reports were Borden and Martin counties and both had losses since 1950. Glasscock had a small increase.

1950 and ending up with 1,076 in 1960.

Glasscock County had 1,089 persons counted in 1950 and came up with 1,119 in the latest census. Garden City lost eight, from 270 in 1950 to 262 this year.

Stamps In The News

AP Newswriters

By SYD KRONISH

Once a battle ground of World War II, but now a peaceful group of coral atolls in the South Pacific, the British colony of Gilbert and Ellice Islands have celebrated the Diamond Jubilee of the discovery of phosphate by issuing three special new stamps.

Lying 2,400 miles southwest of Pearl Harbor, the islands leaped into prominence in 1943 when the U. S. Marines drove out the Japanese in the Battle of Tarawa.

There are only 37 islands but they are spread out over an area covering 369 square miles.

The 2 pence green and pink show a waterfowl scene. The 2 1/2 pence green and grey black depicts a piece of phosphate. The 1 shilling blue and grey black illustrates a mining scene. Each adhesive bears a profile portrait of Queen Elizabeth II.

New World Refugee Year stamps are arriving on the philatelic scene daily. The stamp from Eire is based on the Flight of the Holy Family. The denominations are 3 pence and 1 shilling 3 pence.

Collectors desiring first day covers of these issues may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 East 32 St., Brooklyn 10, N. Y. The cost per cover with the complete set is 80 cents.

Belgium's set shows a man refugee and a child refugee. The surtax on these stamps will be given to the Belgium National Committee for World Refugee Year.

Ceylon reports that the emblem over the uprooted tree on its issue of World Refugee Year stamps is the heraldic Sinhalese lion with a sword in its right paw.

France has issued two new stamps to honor the 100th anniversary of the return of Nice and Savoy. Also reported from that country is a five value set addition to the Heroes of the Resistance series.

Yugoslavia has issued an eight value set commemorating the Olympic Games in Rome. Designs feature general athletics, swimming, skiing, wrestling, cycling, horsemanship, yachting and fencing.

The Netherlands will issue its 1960 Summer Charity Stamps on May 23 in connection with the opening of the international agricultural exhibition "Florade 1960" at Rotterdam. The 4 plus 4 c grey, green and red show the tulip "La Princesse." The 6 plus 4 c rose, grey and yellow depict the whin. The 8 plus 4 c blue, green and yellow green illustrate the poppy. The 30 plus 10 c yellow, green and blue show the thistle. The designs were by Piet Wetselaar.

Couple Arrested For Bogus Checks Passed Here

A man and wife suspected of passing about 20 checks here under a bogus name were arrested Friday afternoon at their home in El Paso.

Howard County Deputy Sheriff Fern Cox said that a woman using the name Mrs. Shirley Yox left a stream of checks throughout the city Thursday. The total will amount to between $250 and $300, Cox said.

A merchant noted the license number of the car the woman was driving. The car was identified as belonging to an El Paso man, Cecil Schaer. He and his wife are alleged to be the couple who wrote the checks here, in El Paso and Alamo, N. M.

Cox said the couple came to Big Spring Thursday morning. The woman opened a $15 account at State National Bank using the name Mrs. Yox. The checks were cashed with the aid of an Air Force identification card, Cox said.

Charges of forgery against the pair have been filed here in justice of the peace court.

The couple is alleged to have passed checks amounting to about $300 in El Paso and $250 in Alamo.

Lucky To Forget

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Tucson service station operator Julius Smith says he seldom forgets anything, but recently left his glasses in the office after locking up for the night.

For Smith it was a lucky break. He returned to the station to get his glasses, found the office filled with smoke and called the fire department. Firemen snuffed out the blaze which started when a cigarette fell from an ash tray and landed on a grease rag.

Judge Suggests Whipping Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Judge Vincent Carroll of Common Pleas Court recommends a whipping post to reform young hoodlums.

"If we had a whipping post here, we could take them down and degrade them in the eyes of their friends," Carroll said Friday in sentencing three gang members to terms up to 14 years.

The three, 16, 17, and 18 years old, had been convicted of aggravated assault and battery in the knifing of three other boys.

Two of the three had been in Juvenile Court 19 times, and had been sent away with "slaps on the wrist," Carroll said.

"They only became greater heroes in the eyes of their comrades," he declared.

Texas Vet Land Program Still Popular, Lacks Funds

By ED OVERHOLSER
AUSTIN (AP)—Texas veterans still apply at the rate of 60 a day for state loans to buy ranches and farms. A shortage of funds plagues the land program.

A veteran who sent in his application two years ago finally will reach the top of the stack this month. The program permits veterans with 90 days service between 1940 and 1955 to obtain a $7,500 loan, payable over 40 years at a low interest rate. Some 22,261 veterans are in the multi-million-dollar program.

HIGHER INTEREST
Land Commissioner Bill Allcorn, chairman of the 3-member Veterans Land Board, said Saturday he hopes the constitutional amendment permitting the state to pay a higher interest rate on bonds will pass in November. This will enable the state to sell $2½ million dollars in bonds it has authority to sell but cannot because of the unfavorable bond market. The last issuance sold was June 18, 1958. The bond market is well above the 3 per cent maximum interest rate the state now can pay. The amendment would push the limit to 3½ per cent.

The state has sold 137½ million dollars in bonds but has only $5,365,337 left to keep the program running. Until last July 29, the Land Office sent out 275 applications a week to veterans who had sought a state loan. To prevent the program from expiring the mail was cut to 50 a week but on Jan. 1 the office increased its output to 100 a week.

Allcorn said the remaining balance in the program will keep the program alive until January 1961. If the amendment passes, Land

Officials estimate the number of applications processed would go up to 300 a week, provided the Legislature restores some of the 20 employees cut out last year. This would sharply reduce a veteran's waiting time.

A total of 71,592 veterans have sent in applications and the office mailed out No. 34,075 this week. Executive Secretary Arthur Scharlach said the healthy condition of the program is reflected in the slash in number of veterans behind on their payments.

He said under the administration of former Commissioner Bascom Giles the rate of delinquencies ranged up to 20-24 per cent. On April 30, 1958 there were 94 delinquencies totaling $192,611, or 5.9 per cent of the total purchases.

On April 30, 1960, the number of delinquencies had been reduced to 771, representing $109,939, or 3.9 per cent of the total purchases. In addition two years ago there were 81 accounts which were as many as three or more payments in arrears and now there are only 10 of that length.

ONLY BONUS
The plan of the state buying farms and ranches and reselling them to GIs is the only bonus Texas offers to veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict. Voters gave the go-ahead to the board to sell 200 million dollars in bonds.

At the end of the 40 years, the state should show a 25 million dollar profit, Scharlach said, adding, "with an efficient administration as we have now."

The state has bought 2,099,199 acres and has invested $134,680,556. Of land which was ordered forfeited, only 158 of the 1,005 tracts remain to be disposed of. Some 322 tracts were reinstated and 525 were resold to other veterans. The 158 tracts "includes some real 'dogs' that should have been declared fraudulent transactions," Scharlach said.

The veterans land scandals of the 1932-54 era produced 47 fraudulent block deals. All but five have resulted in judgments to the state in civil action for a total of $3,403,479.

Already $1,724,104 has been paid in full by the promoters.

PAYMENTS CURRENT
"For the first time since the state began winning those judgments, all payments on these deals are current," Allcorn reported. Of the five transactions still hanging, the largest is the 10,000 acre Rosenow Ranch deal in Kinney County promoted by L. D. Ruffin and E. R. Sheffield which was used to send Giles to prison. Sheffield was convicted on criminal charges but his sentence was reversed.

The transaction involved 54 veterans and reportedly now has a new lead on the last remaining veteran. Trial of this case may come by this fall.

Three other deals are in Dimmit County and one other in Guadalupe County.

Cohen Gets Cash For Conversion

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A $5,000 investment aimed at the religious conversion of ex-convict Mickey Cohen has backfired.

Businessman W. C. Jones Friday told reporters outside a closed federal grand jury investigation of Cohen's finances that he loaned Cohen the money three years ago in a vain attempt to persuade Cohen to accept Jesus Christ.

Jones said he financed a trip to New York for Cohen to confer with evangelist Billy Graham. Jones is a member of Graham's board of directors.

Jones said, "I now feel sorry for him (Cohen). Sometimes he acts as though he does not believe in God."

The jury is probing Cohen's mysterious means of livelihood.

2nd STRAIGHT WEEK Stock Market Advances On Record Heavy Volume

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced this week on the heaviest volume in two months.

The market, which has been in a "double bottom" since the 1960 low of 599-10 reached March 8. This level was "tested" the previous week and the market rebounded in chart language, this formed a "double bottom" and this week the bottom began to look sturdier than ever to market technicians. The Wednesday market recovered well before it touched the year's low. This brought in buying by many who are guided by chart formations.

In addition, there were encouraging words about the economy. President Eisenhower announced that national output of goods and services was now at a half trillion dollar rate and that employment was at a record for mid-April.

Presidential economic adviser Raymond J. Saulnier and other experts saw 1960 as a good year. The conviction was spreading among Wall Streeters that this would be a "no boom-no recession" year and that there were plenty of rewarding aspects to business and industry.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.50 to 213.00. Of the 1,426 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 744 advanced and 323 declined. New highs for the year totaled 130 and new lows 288.

Most active issue this week on the New York Stock Exchange was NAFTI Corp., up 5¼ at 44 on 258,100 shares.

The most active issue on the American Stock Exchange was Hydrometals, up 6¼ at 35¼ on 156,900 shares.

U.S. government bonds drifted lower, while corporate securities marked time in slightly more active trading. Trading volume increased to $26,147,000 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $24,256,000 a week ago. A year ago turnover was $30,000,000.

Considerable investment and speculative money which had been lurking on the sidelines again became committed to common stocks, according to brokers. Turnover increased every trading session.

Volume swelled to 15,420,970 shares from 13,955,505 the week before and was the biggest since the week ended March 12 when 15,960,064 shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 8.41 to 616.03.

The market declined Monday and Tuesday and was sinking early Wednesday when the turn came. The Dow industrials were once more sinking toward the 600 level and some analysts believed this indicator would fall through the 1960 low of 599-10 reached March 8. This level was "tested" the previous week and the market rebounded in chart language, this formed a "double bottom" and this week the bottom began to look sturdier than ever to market technicians. MIDLAND (AP)—A Negro maid is back in the home in a predominantly white neighborhood from which she moved last Tuesday night when a crowd of whites gathered.

She is Mrs. Willie Mae Turner, who had paid $20 rent on the duplex apartment owned by a white man. Area residents said Friday she moved back in "sometime during the last day or so."

The Tuesday night incident has resulted in charges of disturbing the peace against Ed Bowman, white man whose home is nearby. Bowman said he advised Mrs. Turner to move out and that she did. Bowman said he will plead innocent Monday on the disturbance charge.

Castro Gives Cubans New Case Of Invasion Jitters

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro gave Cubans a new case of invasion jitters Saturday with his dramatic announcement that one of his coast guard cutters had used gunfire to drive off a U.S. submarine operating without lights near the Cuban coast.

Castro's Friday 13th television speech to the nation spelled bad luck for the slim hopes of relaxing tension between Washington and Havana.

As usual, he ran on past midnight. He retrained himself from shouting, but he reeled off half a dozen naval, air and diplomatic incidents and blamed them all on the United States.

The 2 1/2-hour speech seemed to give the green light to an anti-American campaign raging in Cuba all week.

The Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union, whose leaders are among the most extreme and most powerful in Cuba, demanded Saturday the expulsion of U. S. Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal. He was accused of ties to counter-revolutionary groups. It was the strongest direct attack on him recently.

Castro put his stamp of approval on charges that the United States is plotting an armed attack on Cuba. Ignoring previous assurances by U.S. officials, he called on Washington to issue a non-aggression statement.

Citing a navy report, Castro said the coast guard cutter Oriente had spotted a U.S. submarine five miles off the coast of Matanzas on May 6, chased it about 30 miles and taken several shots at the undersea craft, until it gave an identifying signal, CrC.

He added that two U.S. warplanes and a destroyer marked USN49 were spotted off the coast on May 7; the destroyer the Sullivan, another submarine and three U.S. planes were sighted May 8; and the destroyer Norfolk crossed Cuba's 75-mile limit near Cayo Blanco 75 miles northeast of Havana May 11.

"In no case did they have permission to navigate in our waters, and, moreover, they did it with lights out, violating all internationally approved rules and regulations," Castro said.

U.S. Navy officers in Washington said a USN 49 submarine was probably the Sea Poacher. They said the skipper noted something that looked like red flares but at the time had no idea his ship was being fired on. Officers displayed logs to support their claim that the sub was not inside Cuban territorial waters and was running on the surface with proper lights.

U.S. sources in Havana gave their version of the Norfolk incident. The light cruiser—not a destroyer—was heading through normal sea lanes toward the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, on the eastern tip of Cuba, when it picked up a small craft on radar, they said. The small vessel approached. The Norfolk challenged by searchlight, and identities was exchanged by blinker.

The sources insisted the Norfolk was sailing under normal lights and proceeded to Guantanamo without further incident after reporting the sighting through channels to the U.S. Embassy.

The sources insisted the Norfolk was sailing under normal lights and proceeded to Guantanamo without further incident after reporting the sighting through channels to the U.S. Embassy.

The government demanded an explanation of the incident, while at the same time vigorously disputing accusations by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro that the United States has aggressive designs against Cuba.

The U.S. view was conveyed to Cuba by Lester D. Mallory, deputy assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs. He called in the highest ranking Cuban diplomat in Washington and delivered the dressing-down in person.

A State Department announcement said Mallory had demanded an explanation of why "an armed vessel of the Cuban navy fired, without provocation, on the USS Sea Poacher while the latter was pursuing a peaceful passage on the high seas."

The Navy earlier had displayed ship logs and navigation charts to refute Castro's charges that U.S. warships violated Cuban waters.

The navigation track of the Sea Poacher at the time of the disputed incident indicated she was more than five miles from the nearest rock or point of land ever claimed by Cuba.

The incident occurred May 6 and until Castro made his charges about it Friday night, the U.S. Navy apparently had been unaware that its sub had been fired upon. Both the Navy and the State Department disputed Castro's contention that the craft had been chased from the area by the Cuban firing.

The government obviously had shown no previous concern over the incident, but officials were obviously disturbed about the overall situation as it has developed through Castro's drum beating.

The bearded Cuban in his latest harangue denounced the United States again instead of showing what U.S. officials feel is the temperance required in order to ease tensions between Cuba and her big neighbor to the north.

The department expressed regret that Castro should continue to follow such a course.

Sports fans will have a rare treat this weekend when the National Junior College track finals are held here Friday and Saturday. Some three dozen teams are expected from all parts of the country.

From what they say out at Webb AFB, Lt. John M. Roper is entitled to the nomination for the steadiest hand in this region. With the landing gear jammed on the plane which he and 2nd Lt. Gerald J. of some 403,000 acre feet, almost twice the size of Lake J. B. Thomas, is contemplated. The importance of this application to all this area of West Texas hardly needs emphasizing.

Another date which may be watched closely is Aug. 1, for this is the outside date fixed by the court for a determination of the status of litigation over annexation of the Gay Hill and Center Point districts to Big Spring.

The House came through with $731,000 authorization for Webb AFB construction, and Friday the Senate added about $100,000 to this figure. No-one can say for sure what it is, but it may be for runway extensions. Such improvements were slated for this year, then ostensibly got shoved back to the next fiscal year.

Professionals Blamed For 'Frisco Riots

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police Chief Thomas Cahill went to barricaded City Hall Saturday and told a House subcommittee on Un-American Activities that Friday's riot by 250 demonstrators was the work of professional agitators.

"The group of students here had been infiltrated by some older individual agitators who whipped the group into mob frenzy," said Cahill in explanation of disorders which injured 12 and brought 66 arrests.

One of Cahill's inspectors, Michael J. Maguire, told the committee that two of these agitators were Merrill Brodsky, an unemployed tile setter, and Archie Brown, a longshoreman.

Brown was dragged, red-faced and shouting, from the hearing room Saturday when he balked at questions about Communist affiliation and tried to read a statement.

This was his third ejection. Brodsky twice was ejected as a hostile witness Thursday.

Some 200 placard-carrying demonstrators marched outside the city hall Saturday. They were kept at a distance by 130 uniformed and plain-clothes police and by barricades set up at the foot of the steps. Three got unruly and were arrested.

Every one of the 200 who filled the hearing room Saturday had to show a police or subcommittee pass before being allowed inside the city hall.

Friday's riot began inside. A policeman closed the hearing-room door on the mezzanine floor and said there was no more room. The officer was knocked down and struck with his own police club.

The crowd, which had surged up a stairway, tried to storm the closed door. Fire hoses and police clubs drove them back while 400 officers assembled and started hauling away demonstrators in 15 patrol wagons.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La) said in an interview Saturday: "A large percentage of the demonstrators were students. They are not Communists. But they have been duped into taking drastic action."

Car Seats Get Soap, Soaking

An act of vandalism and one they were reported to police Saturday afternoon.

Leon Cowan, 200 Scurry, told police that someone put powdered soap on the seats of his car then soaked them with water Friday night.

Joe Patton, age 32, 1509 W. 8th St., reported the theft of his bicycle from the State Theater.

Mayor Proclaims Special Day

Today has been proclaimed as Shrine Hospital Crippled Children's Day by Mayor Lee O. Rogers.

The local Shrine Club, headed by George Baer, is joining with others across the nation in the special observance. The Shriners operate 17 hospitals in the United States and Canada for the benefit of crippled children. The best medical and surgical skill obtainable is provided for the youngsters.

Mayor Rogers noted that the Shriners had one most impressive rule for the hospitals, namely that if a child can afford the treatment he doesn't belong in a Shrine hospital, but if he can't afford the treatment, or he or she is welcomed as a patient.

Schools Get Good CD Score

Reports from the Civil Defense organization reflect perfect coordination and cooperation of all Big Spring schools during the recent CD alert.

Typical of the effectiveness were the reports from Rannels Junior High where children and teachers all filed to their places along corridors in less than three minutes; at Goliad, where this was accomplished in less than five; and the special education building where the children were seated along the corridor walls in two minutes.

Other schools moved with comparable speed in carrying out the assignments when the "red" alert sounded. The score of volunteers who served as observers reported that during the "yellow" stage of the alert, preparations were carried out methodically so that when the "red" alert sounded, protective measures were carried out with precision.

Public address systems were not used in order to enable teachers and pupils to deal with a situation even if power were off. Observers lauded administrators and teachers for the efficiency of their alerts and commented on the fact that there was no horse play and that everywhere there was an air of seriousness connected with the drills.

Midland Reports Huge Increase

Preliminary census figures continued to pour in Saturday to the accompaniment of anguished wails from Texas cities that claim they are getting a short count.

Paris, in Northeast Texas, was told it had lost population. Victoria, in South Texas, was told it had gained more than 100 per cent in the decade between 1950 and 1960.

Midland, often described as one of Texas' fastest growing cities, lived up to its reputation in preliminary census figures released Saturday night by Jerry Glenn Bixler, regional census director at El Paso.

Bixler said Midland's 1960 count was 59,552, a whopping gain of 174.26 per cent over 1950's 21,713 persons. There were no figures released immediately for Midland County.

Now Is Time To Save On Many Food Items

Housewives who want to save on the family budget will find lower prices in several food items. Eggs are already starting their summer-price dip—while many other items are more plentiful and lower-priced.

Both these foods, however, are consumed less in hot weather than during the cool months, according to George Smith, market manager at Hull & Phillips' new store. He says people eat more of the non-greasy meat during hot weather.

People are buying forequarters and chuck roasts for barbecue pits, and they are also on a hamburger binge. The barbecue pits, outdoor cooking, picnics and fishing trips have all helped make hamburger more popular.

Broilers which formerly were eaten only in the summer are now a year-around seller in Big Spring. Prices are up slightly, but will likely drop when farm fryers hit the market along with the commercial chickens.

With The Building Contractors, Lloyd Curley and C. A. Ross are pouring concrete for five new houses on East Fifth Street, which will complete this group of homes. They are also pouring foundations for six more in East Park. But have planned a total of 31 for that area.

One reason for the delay, according to Ross, is that no electricity was available. That problem is solved now, so the buildings will be going up on scheduled time. All units will likely be completed by autumn. The streets will all be paved and the homes are three-bedroom, brick veneer buildings.

The E. C. Smith Construction Company is finishing up some houses in the Douglas Addition where they have built a total of 130 homes. These are all brick veneer and have three and four bedrooms.

his Casual Shoppe from 1003 Eleventh Place one block east to a new building being erected just east of the new Wacker Store. The move will take place about the middle of June.

"The new place will provide parking for 25 automobiles," said Fisher, "and has just twice as much floor space as our present location."

The hub cap racket in Big Spring costs motorists hundreds of dollars a year, but there is almost no way to stop it. This information comes from a man who should know—Chief C. L. Rogers of the city police department.

He says there are several reasons why the thieves are hard to catch. First, not one owner in 20 can positively identify his hub caps when they are found. They way to make sure would be to put some kind of small identification mark on them, but hardly anyone does this. And sometimes a fellow who reports his hub caps stolen is simply faking.

Hungry Bandit Steals Chicken

Three thefts were reported to police Friday night and Saturday morning.

Mrs. R. M. Langston, 514 Dallas, told police a chicken which was left cooking on her back-yard barbecue pit was taken Friday night.

Ham Rigs Trap For Burglars

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Michael Krasner heard a signal on a ham radio in his car, leaped out and telephone police that somebody was breaking into his father's store.

Police captured Jessie Ashby, 45. How did Krasner do it? He had rigged a micro-switch to a window so that if the window were broken or opened it would broadcast a signal on a 400 cycle tone. He tuned ham radios in his car and home to the cycle.

One local builder says the easy credit terms for FHA and similar type houses has lowered the demand for the big time homes. He says that when a family can move into a new house for $350.00 $400.00, they are reluctant to build a large house which requires a much higher down payment.

He also says the housing situation is quite spotted in West Texas. At Midland, for instance, despite the big increase in population, there are over 1,600 homes for sale.

DEMAND
Smith says four bed-rooms are much in demand, but buyers are not accustomed to paying the prices that a contractor must get for such work.

Suggs Construction Inc. is completing some work at the Air Force base. Suggs says a lot more work is scheduled when the base gets its July appropriation, which will amount to about three-quarters of a million dollars.

INSURANCE BLAMED
"The insurance payments are partly to blame," said Rogers. "Some kid needs money to take his girl on a date, so he hides the hub caps then reports them as stolen and collects the insurance. Then a few weeks later he puts them back on his car."

Rogers says boys of all ages from 12 to 20 are involved. There is also a sort of rivalry between gangs in different cities. The Big Spring hub cap snatchers are extremely jealous of visiting rivals and look upon them as poachers.

about a year ago some Big Spring boys were caught with hub caps they had stolen in Midland. When asked about it, one boy replied indignantly: "We decided to get even with those Midland guys. They didn't have any right coming over here working in our territory."

Rogers thinks there are two things which would reduce such losses. The insurance companies should stop paying for lost hub caps and fender skirts, and owners should mark the items so they can be identified.

Walls, Memories Come Tumbling Down On Goliad

By JOE PICKLE
The walls of the Birdwell place will soon come tumbling down. And with it a lot of memories for many Big Spring people who once knew this as the center of good fellowship and gay times.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars post recently decided upon demolition of the building as a safety factor. The building itself was reasonably sound structurally, but juveniles were constantly breaking into it and post officials were fearful that some might turn on the gas stoves and produce an explosion or fire, or that the invaders might otherwise harm themselves. After prolonged discussion and several polls of the membership, it was decided to clear the site and offer the tract for sale.

This has been a hard spring for old landmarks, for almost coincidental with the beginning of demolition on the Birdwell home at 8th and Goliad, the old Ben Eddins home at 5th and Runnels was razed as were the Johnson home and the old Baggett and Zinn places in the 500 block of Scurry.

EDDINS HOME
The Eddins home, a big two-story affair, was located originally where the Settles Hotel now stands and was built with the idea of serving as a rooming house. Mr. Eddins, a car inspector for the T&P, was killed by a switch engine. The house was sold and moved to make way for the hotel back in 1928.

The T. H. Johnson home at 6th and Scurry was leveled recently, and along with it a house once occupied by Jim Baggett, an almost legendary early-day sheriff of Howard County and who married one of the Zinn girls. Also falling before the razing crews was the old two-story homestead of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Zinn. Mother Mary Zinn lived here well past her 100th birthday.

But it was around the once stately home of Mr. and Mrs. John Birdwell that most of the memories turned, for the Birdwells were gregarious people who just naturally wanted their home to be a center for the activities of the younger set.

Mr. Birdwell had been a Texas Ranger and later an astute businessman, saloon-keeper, hotel operator and trader. He also became sheriff. He was the reason that Hennecke Finch, the Earl of Aylesford, picked out Big Spring as the base of his operations in the early 1880s.

John Birdwell had been recommended to the British nobleman as the best possible hunting companion, and their friendship was almost instantaneous from the moment the Earl stepped off the train first in Colorado City and was directed to Mr. Birdwell. He introduced himself with a long name and title, whereupon Mr. Birdwell advised: "Looky here, Earl, that stuff won't go around here. We'll just call you Judge."

MOVED HERE
When the T&P pressed on westward, John Birdwell moved his family to Big Spring and established the T&P Hotel, an elongated two-story hotel where the T&P passenger terminal now stands.

Most of the veteran residents agree that the Birdwell home was built after Joseph Potton, then superintendent for the T&P, had built his home of Pecos red sandstone at W. 2nd and Gregg. The stone seems to have struck the fancy of John Birdwell, also the general pattern with its steeply pitched roof. The Birdwell home must have been built around 1905-06, for it was completed before the old Howard County Courthouse (also of red sandstone) was raised in 1908.

Mr. Birdwell was a wiry type of individual and Mrs. Birdwell, a cultured, jovial woman, was on the plump side. They had two boys, Dan and John, and four daughters, Lillian (whom many stoutly maintain was the most stylish young lady in West Texas), Annabelle, Maedell and Johanna.

The younger set gravitated to the Birdwell home, which dominated half a section. Mr. Birdwell had retained out of what was first known as the Birdwell section. The tank (now a detention dam and site for Birdwell Park) furnished a perfect backdrop for it. The house was excellently finished and was elegant in its day. There were something like a half dozen fireplaces in it, including one massive one in the main hallway which opened by great sliding doors to adjoining rooms. Thus, most of the downstairs could be converted into one vast room for parties.

Mrs. Birdwell had seen to it that her daughters played the handsome piano, and other girls in the set were adept too. So many a gay dance unfolded in the home and the porch which encircled the house from the north side to the south side became a spot for some sly billing and cooing. There were Whist games, dominoes, and other recreation. If the young men wanted to smoke, they had to slip outside to do it—never in the presence of the young ladies.

The house took a lot of abuse, but the Birdwells didn't mind; in fact they encouraged it, for almost every time anyone mentioned a party, the Birdwell girls volunteered their home. If the party was too large, it moved down to the Opera House (where J. C. Penney Co. is located).

In the home were many of the treasured firearms which Mr. Birdwell accumulated from buffalo hunters, frontiersmen and even a priceless set of engraved, matched revolvers the Earl had given him.

BECAME HOSPITAL
Mr. Birdwell died in the home which had brought so much happiness, and later Mrs. Birdwell and Maedell moved to San Antonio. An order of Catholic sisters took over the home and converted it into what was the city's first full-fledged hospital, Dr. G. T. Hall, who joined the late Dr. M. H. Bennett in building the Big Spring Hospital in the late 1920s, practiced in the Sisters of Mercy Hospital. A number of Big Spring residents were born in the bulky red sandstone home.

Modern trends passed the old place by, and nearly a score of years ago the VFW purchased the tract as the post home. Gradually it deteriorated and, became a problem.

The other day a Big Spring lady told her sister: "Let's drive by the old Birdwell place once more." They looked at it wistfully and almost misty-eyed.

"My," she said, "didn't we have some wonderful times there."

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

On this day in 1839 a construction crew pitched camp on the banks on the Colorado River and made ready to launch an impressive project.

They were going to build a Federal city which would be called Austin.

There were 160 laborers under the supervision of Edwin Waller. Behind them came six wagons loaded by 38 head of oxen and pulled with supplies valued at $504.

Timber was no problem; trees were leveled and logs floated downstream from the rapids which ripped at the foot of Mount Bonnell. Lumber was also brought from Bastrop.

The valley selected as the Texas capitol site has changed considerably in these 121 years. The Rio Bravo, for instance, no longer flows a stone's throw from Congress Avenue and Waller Creek is a drainage ditch rather than a full-flowing stream. Nor does any of the original buildings thrown up hurriedly by this first wave of workers still stand.

Waller selected the locations of the government buildings himself. The first capitol was on the hill now occupied by the municipal building.

RAYMOND LEE STARK

New ID Officer On Duty Monday

New policeman on the Big Spring force is Raymond Lee Stark Sr., slated to go on duty Monday in the detective-identification division.

Stark, 45 years old, is a former identification officer with the Abilene, Odessa and Monahans police departments and the Ector County sheriff's office. He has also served as assistant steward at Huntsville penitentiary.

Police Chief C. L. Rogers said Stark will start here as a patrolman assigned to the identification division to work with Detectives Lt. Bob Bronson. He will also assist Detective-Sgt. Jack Jones.

Sheriff To File Charges On Two Men

Howard County authorities are planning to file theft charges against two men already wanted in California for check forgery and car theft.

In custody are James McDonald, 26, and Vincent Holiday, 24, apprehended in Coahoma Friday afternoon after they allegedly broke into a rural residence and stole a high-powered rifle, according to Deputy Sheriff Fern Cox.

Cox said the pair was seen leaving the house by the owner Mrs. R. J. Echols as she drove up. Mrs. Echols followed the two into Coahoma where she notified authorities.

A .30-06 rifle belonging to the Echols was found in the car the two men were driving, Cox said.

A check with Orchard Valley, Calif., officers revealed that the pair is wanted in connection with forgery. Also, the car they were driving was stolen, the California authorities told officers here.

Police Find Two Stolen Autos

Big Spring police arrested a young city man for the theft of a Webb AFB captain's car following recovery of the car Friday afternoon. Police also reported recovery Saturday morning of a car stolen Friday night.

The 18-year old son of a Webb technical sergeant reportedly signed a statement admitting stealing Capt. Paul E. Halonen's car last weekend, police said.

The car was found in the brush area just west of Osage Rd. north of FM-700. Capt. Halonen's parachute and flight boots were also found in the vicinity.

Webb Airman Richard G. Taylor's car which was taken at a package store on West US - 80 was recovered Saturday morning abandoned in the 300 block of Andre St.

Westburg Fears Loss Of Job

EDINBURG (AP) — Dr. John Westburg says Pan American College plans to fire him as "an act of political vengeance."

College officials denied recommending the discharge of the professor who lost his bid to become a congressman.

Dr. Westburg, professor of history and government, was beaten about 5-1 in the Democratic primary Saturday by incumbent Joe Kilgore of McAllen.

Westburg asserted that Dr. Lawrence White, dean of arts and sciences, told him after the election that he would not be rehired in the fall because he "was a controversial figure and did not fit."

Leading Soprano Dies At 72

A Pat on the Back

For BOBO HARDY

Over his strong objections, we pat James Monroe (Bobo) Hardy on the back today. Bobo insists that the volunteers are the ones who deserve praise for the YMCA's wonderful record as exemplified in the opening of the new building today. However, we have a suspicion that the energetic, gifted and dedicated hand of Bobo Hardy has played no small part.

Bobo Hardy was born in Big Spring in 1929 to Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardy and was fullback and captain of the football team. Graduated from Southwestern University in 1951, he went on to earn his master's degree from the school of business at Harvard in the field of human relations. Joining the U. S. Marine Corps as a private, he was tapped for officers training and survived to make first lieutenant before separation for service.

He was discharged from the Marines on a Friday and went to work for the YMCA here as youth secretary under Grover Good the following Monday. It was not an entirely new connection for he had worked in the summer recreation program under Lee Milling and Mr. Good for five years. In January of 1956 Mr. Good retired and Bobo Hardy was the unanimous choice to be his successor.

Growth of the program has been almost phenomenal, climaxed by great membership gains and the new building. Aside from his Y duties, Bobo Hardy has been a Sunday school teacher, secretary of the pastors association (which would please his late grandfather, the Rev. Ben Hardy); member of the AB Club; president of the West Texas Association of Y Secretaries; president of the Secretaries' Section of the Southwest area council; on the Estes Park National training commission; sectional leader at the national training session of secretaries.

With his wife, the former Betty Gray to whom he was married in August 1952, and their children Heather, 5, William Patrick, 4, and John Michael, 3, they live at 1702 Morrison.

No Texas Probes Foreseen In Highway Irregularities

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional investigation now centered on alleged irregularities in Oklahoma highway construction may spread to several other states, but probably not to Texas. That's the opinion of Rep. Jim Wright (D), Fort Worth, vice chairman of the House Public Works subcommittee that is conducting the probe.

The group has heard testimony, some of it sensational, concerning construction of the Skelly by-pass, near Tulsa.

"It is evident that the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has not perfected adequate machinery for detecting such glaring irregularities in the vast federal aid highway program which has cost American taxpayers more than 15 billion dollars in the past four years," Wright said.

The Tulsa project repeatedly received a clean bill of health by a bureau inspector, who works out of the southwest division headquarters in Fort Worth.

Wright emphasized there was no intimation of wrongdoings by federal officials, but under the present system he said, they simply accept statements of state highway authorities as to whether construction contract specifications are met.

One way the taxpayers were bilked in the Tulsa project, testimony brought out, was in the weighing of truck loads of asphalt. The scales were not large enough for the entire truck at one time, so the front wheels were weighed first, then the rear axle load.

By having the drive in front of the scales sloped at a sharp grade, the brakes would always have to be set and this would throw an erroneous heavy weight reading on the rear.

The committee has received hundreds of complaints from all over the United States, Wright said. He revealed that investigators for the committee are presently digging into situations in five states. Texas is not one of them.

"In fact," Wright said, "we have received only one charge of corruption regarding the highway program in Texas. We checked and learned that State Highway Engineer DeWitt Greer had already heard of the matter and put an end to it."

He said this was a case of the state being billed for more than the true weight of road materials on a project in North Central Texas, a situation brought to the attention of proper officials by an honest truck driver.

Judge Tires Of Women Criminals

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A federal judge, saying he is weary of "an epidemic of women committing crimes," has sent a former woman bank teller to jail for 90 days.

U. S. Dist. Judge Waldo Rogers sentenced Mrs. Marilyn R. Stein, 25, Albuquerque, to 2½ years but suspended all but 90 days. She pleaded guilty to changing a depositor's record to show a balance of $50 less than it should have been.

Judge Rogers told her, "I am tired of women coming in here as criminals, embezzling money and sending forged checks through the mails and attempting to hide behind their sex and motherhood."

The attorney for the mother of three told the judge Mrs. Stein took the money for an operation.

DEAR ABBY

THE SHORT OF IT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why do short fellows ask tall girls for dates? Sometimes a girl just doesn't know how to say no.

I am a tall girl and it seems that every shrimp I know wants to date me. Not wishing to hurt his feelings, I accept. Then I feel so foolish when we dance. Other people point at us, nudge each other and snicker.

Please print this, Abby, and tell short boys not to ask a girl who is taller than he is for a date. Thank you.

LONG TALL SALL: Not all tall girls share your point of view. Furthermore, a short fellow (please, not a shrimp) who asks a taller girl for a date is paying her a compliment. He assumes that she has the intelligence to measure a man for what he is — not how much of him there appears to be.

DEAR ABBY: Is there no justice for an innocent widow? I am 32 and have two children, 10 and 11. About six months ago I met a man who told me he was divorced. I fell for him hard. We started to make plans for marriage. Then one night he came over here with his suitcase. He said his wife had kicked him out of the house and he was moving in with me. I was stunned to learn that he was still married. I told him Oh, no, he wasn't, because although I loved him, I wouldn't live that way before my children. He left and his wife called me. She said she was divorcing him and naming me. I got in my car and went over there. Her story and his didn't jibe. She doesn't believe me, and if she names me, I will lose my job, and maybe my children. Can you help me, Abby? DESPERATE.

DEAR DESPERATE: If you can't afford a lawyer, get in touch with your local legal aid society. And the next man who tells you he is divorced, ask to see legal proof. If he's on the up and up, he'll respect you for your good sense. And if he isn't, the sooner you know it—the better.

DEAR ABBY: Our 24-year-old son has recently returned from the service. I realize that he is no longer a child, but a grown man and what he does is none of my business. Yet while he is under my roof, isn't it my business where he goes, what he does, and what time he comes home?

I have other children (younger) and he is setting a very poor example by his conduct. He has gotten to be the talk of the town because of an affair he has been carrying on with a woman 15 years his senior.

Don't tell me to have his father talk to him. His father says he is a man and can do as he pleases. How can I keep him in line? Or can I?

DEAR HELPLESS: While your son is under your roof (at any age) it is your business how he conducts himself. If he is not willing to live more discreetly, you should ask him to headquarter elsewhere.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JENNIE: Of course the circumstances are important, but I would say that a man who has been married and divorced four times was a very, very, very poor risk for marriage.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of The Big Spring Herald. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of the Herald.

Average Reader Is Hard To Please

FORT WORTH (AP) — The average newspaper reader is a frustrating person who is very difficult to please, says editor J. Q. Mahaffey of the Texarkana Gazette and News.

"You can write it but you can't make the average reader read it," Mahaffey told the annual TCU Journalism Department awards dinner Friday night. "Also, you can't make him read it like you write it."

He said a good citizen can be judged by whether he reads his daily newspaper and knows what is going on in the world. He urged young newspapermen not to lose the Christian touch because "the history of man shows that problems arose when he tried to divorce himself from God."

Students who will intern on various Texas newspapers this summer were introduced at the dinner. Sigma Delta Chi awards were presented to top students.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

More Readers Comment On Aspects Of School Move

To the Editor:

We are writing this letter to clarify two points of mistaken information that has been discussed in connection with the Center Point-Gay Hill annexation.

First is the accusation that we are sending our junior high and high school students to Big Spring without paying for them. This is not true. Center Point has 21 students in the Big Spring schools. The Big Spring School is paid $214 per student per year for these transfers. Does $4,494 a year for educating 21 students sound free?

The other mistaken idea is that approximately half of our students go to Big Spring to school. Our scholastic census is 147. Twenty-one (21) is not quite 50 per cent of 147.

These figures are not hearsay or gossip. We were interested enough to find out the facts from a board member of our school district.

Sincerely yours,
Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Brooks
Route 11

When all the children of these two districts are forced to ride buses to school in Big Spring, it will mean that those on the northern end of the district will be riding approximately 40 miles a day to school and 40 miles more home. They will have to board the bus at least by 7 a.m., which is before daylight during most of the school term. Tell us, parents of Big Spring, would you be overjoyed about such prospects for your small children?

There is a genuine interest in the schools of these two districts, and to many families it is their way of life. School activities such as ball games, P-TA meetings, carnivals, etc., constitute the sole entertainment for a great number of families. We are all convinced that scholastically these students will rate with any of the children from Big Spring schools, and we welcome the challenge to prove it. They are not being deprived of a good education and they are very proud of their schools. To prove this, you should attend some of their ball games and see the fine school spirit and good sportsmanship exhibited.

Tuesday night an open meeting was held at Gay Hill for residents of the two school districts to ask any questions that were in their minds. Our county board was invited, but only two members were present. The absence of Truman Jones, James Lewis and Jack Cook was obvious. Our invitation was a very sincere one, because we wanted to give them a chance to make a statement concerning their reasons for making this move so that perhaps we might better understand. Also we wanted to offer them an opportunity to explain to us why, if they felt they had to take this action, it was necessary for them to do it in such an undemocratic way. I know if they had come to our meeting to answer our questions, they would today be held in much higher esteem by our residents.

Too, we all want to express our sincerest appreciation to members of the Center Point and Gay Hill School Boards for all their diligent work and unrelenting efforts in fighting this action. And to members of the Howard County and Big Spring School Boards we say that if we are sometime in the future forced to concede, you will know that you have been through a battle, because to us this means that not only our school districts are at stake, but our whole democratic way of life as well.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Kilpatrick

To the Editor:

The statement that the Big Spring district lost $250 on each Gay Hill high school student gives the impression Gay Hill paid no tuition. Actually in 1958-59 Gay Hill paid $307.50 on each high school pupil going to Big Spring, and this year it is slightly higher. Borden High School, which has 17 from here as against 12 for Big Spring, does not require tuition.

MRS. O. R. CROW
Luther

To the Editor:

It must be quite clear to the public by now how not the majority, but ALL the residents of the Center Point and Gay Hill school districts feel about the aggressive move made by three members of our Howard County School Board last Wednesday in annexing our school districts. We will not believe until proven to us that this arbitrary action is representative of the majority of Big Spring residents, and if it is so proven to us, our faith in humanity will be badly shattered.

Our children are taught democracy in our public schools, but it is their way of life. School activities such as ball games, P-TA meetings, carnivals, etc., constitute the sole entertainment for a great number of families. We are all convinced that scholastically these students will rate with any of the children from Big Spring schools, and we welcome the challenge to prove it. They are not being deprived of a good education and they are very proud of their schools. Mr. and Mrs. Winston Kilpatrick

To the Editor:

What is our future in our city, our county, our state, our nation? It lies in our children we are educating right now, right here. Where can we invest our money to a better advantage than in the ones who will take over after we have gone?

This is the age of higher education.

Plane Hits Cow

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—An Argentine airline reports one of its passenger planes collided with a cow. Aerotransportes Litoral Argentino said the plane had bumped the cow while taxiing on the Santiago del Estero Airport around dusk. Nobody was hurt, but the flight was canceled. The line did not say what happened to the cow.

BEFORE you call... THINK for yourself.

If you have thought about which funeral director you'd call, the chances are there are many questions which remain unanswered in your own mind... such as this one:

"What's the best thing to consider when selecting a funeral director, anyhow?"

What's the best thing? That's a difficult question to answer. We do know this: According to the comments we've received from the families we've served, the completeness and the quality of the services provided are often mentioned about River service.

Government Role Is Farm Issue Crucial

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The role of government in the determination of the farm production pattern and of farm product prices appears most likely to be the crux of the farm issue in this year's elections.

A Democratic Advisory Committee on farm policy will urge the party's convention in Los Angeles in July to adopt a farm plank promising to put the government back into the position of guiding farm production. That's where it was under Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

This, of course, is just opposite the role which the Eisenhower administration has sought — and with a degree of success — to assign government. This administration says government should get out of the business of controlling farm production and of fixing prices. Government efforts in behalf of farmers, it argues, should be confined largely to research, market development and instruction.

The Democratic advisory group — which met here earlier last week — would restore the controversial 90 per cent parity price supports for basic crops in effect from the early days of World War II into the early years of the present administration. It also would reestablish rigid production and marketing quotas of the same era to halt the production of surpluses.

Most of the supports now are at 75 per cent of parity or less and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson wants to lower some of them even more.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, as the likely GOP presidential nominee, has indicated he is not in full agreement with present policies as evolved by Eisenhower and Benson.

Nixon could take a position between the Democrats with their high supports and controls and the Eisenhower administration with its opposition to high supports and controls.

The Democrats favoring a return to the old farm programs may have some difficulty, however, in convincing all party leaders that would be a politically wise course.

Gov. Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa, chairman of the Democratic Farm Advisory Committee, conceded to newsmen that some Democrats in Congress oppose controls and higher supports. But he said they have been away from home too long to know how farmers feel about the matter. Farmers may have favored retreat from controls a few years ago, he said, but the rising pile of farm surpluses and public criticism have changed this.

Missionary Is Lone Searcher

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (AP)—A lone plane piloted by a Protestant missionary searched today for two gold prospectors missing in rough and deserted "Headless Valley"—which got its name because so many have vanished there.

The search is regarded as nearly hopeless. The men are without supplies.

The prospectors, Tom Pappas, 41, and Orville Webb, 35, have been missing since April 12 when they set out on a 110-mile hike for help.

Left in an isolated cabin were John Richardson, 25, and Dean

Rossworn, 55, two members of a five-man prospecting team that had been there all winter.

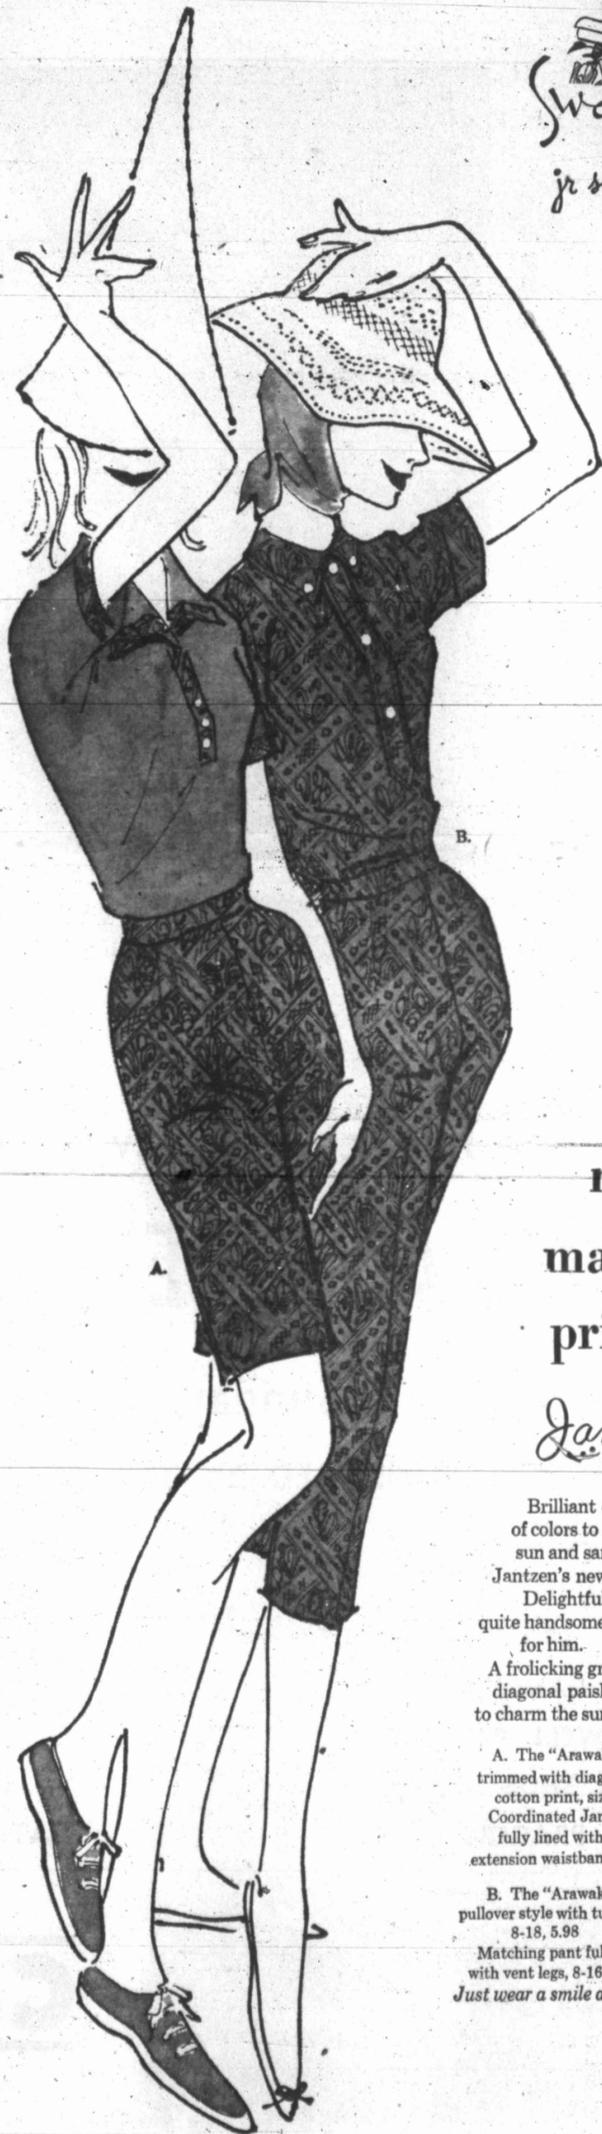

Alex Meiskonen, 60, took his own life by dynamite when a plane scheduled to take them out failed to arrive.

Richardson and Rossworn were rescued last Saturday after nearly two months with little food. Two pilots had landed at their cabin by chance. It lies about 600 miles north of Edmonton, Alta., and some 300 from here.

Only one light aircraft, piloted by Protestant missionary Jack Norcross of Nahanni Butte, is taking part in the search. The Royal Canadian Air Force has declined to participate on the ground that it is a job for the mounted police.

Littler, Nagle Tied For Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Gene Littler shot a par 70 Saturday to pull into a tie for first place with slumping Kel Nagle in the $30,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

Nagle, the big Australian, started the third round leading by two strokes over Littler, from Singing Hills, Calif., but took a 72 to wind up with 209 for 54 holes and a deadlock for the top with Littler.

Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, one of the tournament favorites, had his worst round—a 5-over-par 75 and fell virtually out of contention. The other top favorite, Arnold Palmer, Masters champion from Ligonier, Pa., had a 73 and fell down to 214.

YMCA Softball Schedules Planned

Softball schedules have been arranged for the summer in the church and industrial leagues, according to Joe Leach, athletic director at the YMCA.

Six teams compose the church league and 11 teams are entered in the industrial league. Play begins Monday, May 16 and the first month schedule is as follows:

McMahan Holds Devil Nine, 8-1

Pat McMahan pitched a one-hitter at the Devils Friday night to lead the Veterans of Foreign Wars to an 8-1 victory in National Little League play.

A last-inning single by Lewis Moss robbed McMahan of a no-hit game. He struck out 10 and walked five.

The VFW collected four hits, including doubles by Jackie Thompson and Gregg Pate.

In Thursday night play, the Dodgers clobbered the Braves, 22-2, behind the two-hit elbowing of Van Tom Whitley.

In minor league competition, the Red Caps moved down the Cubs, 19-9.

Cornell Heavies Upend Harvard

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Cornell's varsity heavyweights, who were promoted overnight from the junior varsity ranks, upset Harvard's defending champs and Navy's husky crew for the Eastern College Sprint Rowing Championship Saturday.

Cardinals Paste Yanks Saturday

Four runs in the first inning and four more in the next two, helped boost the Cardinals to a 9-6 win over the Yankees Saturday night in National Little League action.

Jimmy Winn collected two doubles and a single to lead the Cardinals. Winn was also the winning pitcher and Sammy Mims was the loser.

In minor league action, the Hawks pounded the Ramblers, 22-4.

Baylor Wins SW Cinder Crown

FORT WORTH (AP)—Baylor won its first Southwest Conference track and field championship Saturday in a meet that saw three varsity records broken and two tied.

The Bears upset the Texas Longhorns by scoring heavily in the relays, dashes and field events, piling up 79 points to 56 for Texas.

Baylor also won the freshman division, nosing out the Texas Shortorns by winning the mile relay, 69 points to 67.

The Longhorns stayed close in the varsity division until sprinter Ralph Alspaugh pulled a muscle at the 150-yard mark in the 220-yard and pulled up. He was ahead by three yards when the injury struck.

Alspaugh, who had set a new conference record of 8.4 in winning the 100-yard dash, also was unable to compete in the mile relay and the favored Longhorns, fell to fourth in that event.

Even with him, however, the Longhorns would have been outdistanced by Jack Patterson's Bears, who won first places in both relays, the shot, javelin and broad jump and tied for first in the 220.

Ray Cunningham, thin Texas sophomore hurdler, lowered the 20-year old high hurdles mark to 13.8. Fred Wolcott of Rice held the old mark.

Cunningham came back to tie the low hurdles record at 22.6. Roy Thompson of Rice set the mark in 1957.

A gusty wind blew during most of the afternoon, but fortunately died to 4 m.p.h. on Alspaugh's dash, to 3 m.p.h. on Cunningham's highs and to 4 m.p.h. on his low hurdles.

A favoring wind of 4.475 m.p.h. is allowed in recognition of records.

The other varsity record was made by pole vaulter Dexter Elkins of Southern Methodist, who cleared 14 feet 5 1/2 inches. Bayliss Bennett of Texas also broke the old record with a mark of 14 feet 11 inches, but Elkins' performance showed him to second place.

The old record was set at 13 feet 11 1/2 inches by Stephen James of Rice.

Quarter-miler Mickey Hollingshead of Rice got the record, a come-from-behind 46.9 effort in the 440. Another Rice quarter-miler, Tom Cox, set that record in 1950.

Tommy Minter, who won the broad jump, ran third in the 220, fifth in the 100 and ran a leg on the spring relay team for the Bears, was next with 11 1/2.

Cunningham was the only double winner in the varsity division. Alspaugh got off fast in his record-breaking 100 and led all the way to win over Ray Knub by two yards. He was running smoothly with a three-yard lead over Hollis in the 220 when he suddenly pulled up. After that Jones closed fast to tie Hollis.

By DALE BURGESS Associated Press Sports Writer INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Eddie Sachs, fastest talker in auto racing, announced he was going to drive the first official 147-mile-an-hour lap on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Saturday, and then did it.

The Center Valley, Pa., tavern owner, won the pole position for the 44th 500-mile race May 30, and an incidental $1,200, by breaking two records set only 90 minutes earlier by Jim Rathmann of Miami.

Sachs wheeled his new Deauville Special around the track for a 10-mile qualifying average of 146.593 miles an hour and a best lap of 147.251.

Midland 'Dogs Win 2-4A Title By Trimming Broncs

Hawks' Chances In Meet Lessen

Howard County's chances in the National Junior College Track and Field meet, which starts here Friday night and continues through Saturday night, experienced what was probably a death blow the past week when high jumper Willie Carter was checked out of school.

Carter, who has cleared 6-foot 8 at his specialty, was considered to be the favorite in the high jump. The Negro youth from Yuma, Arizona, was dismissed for failure to attend classes.

Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis, who had little liking that Carter was on the verge of being lost to his squad, is also pessimistic that Bob Shirey, ace broad jumper, will be able to compete in the big cinder show.

Shirey has been favoring a bad leg for some time now and had to pass up the State Meet recently because of his physical miseries.

At the present time, 34 schools located in 11 states have forwarded lists of athletes they intend to send here. More are expected this weekend. Last year, 41 registered for the meet, held at Hutchinson, Kansas, but only 33 showed up.

Schools which have entered teams include: Amarillo, Texas; Bacone, Muskogee, Okla.; Blinn, Brenham, Texas; Chanute, Kansas; Cisco, Texas; Coffeyville, Kansas; Flint, Michigan; Garden City, Kansas; Hutchinson, Kansas; HJUC, Big Spring, Lamar, Colo.; Lubbock Christian, Lubbock, Texas; McCook, Nebraska; and NMMI, Roswell, N. M.

Also NYC Community, New York City; Northern Oklahoma, Tonkawa, Okla.; Oklahoma Christian, Oklahoma City; Paris, Texas; Phoenix, Arizona; Pratt, Kansas; Ricks, Rexburg, Idaho; San Antonio, Texas; San Angelo, Texas; Texas; Scottsbluff, Nebraska; Tarleton State, Stephenville; Dodge City, Kansas; Southern Utah, Cedar Creek, Utah; Spring Arbor, Mich.; Odessa, Texas; Victoria, Texas; Mesa, Grand Junction, Colo.; and Otero, La Junta, Colo.

Victoria is a past champion of the meet while Hutchinson is the defending titlist.

Hutchinson, which entered a team of ten boys, is one of the favorites in this year's show. The Kansas face strong competition from such schools as Phoenix, Arizona; Coffeyville, Kansas; Blinn; and perhaps NYC Community, however.

A half dozen of the colleges are entering only one boy each. They are Amarillo, Chanute, Cisco, Flint, Northern Oklahoma, San Antonio and San Angelo.

The coaches will gather here early for a banquet to be held by the co-sponsors, the American Business Club, at the Officers Club, Webb AFB, starting at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The track meet itself is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Friday. Semi-finals and some final field events will be staged Saturday morning while the finals are on tap for 7 p.m. Saturday.

Oscar Frazier of Tarleton State and Stephenville is referee of the meet. Tom Conway of the ABC and Nelson Sorem of Hutchinson, representing the NJCAA, will serve as directors. Joe Bailey Chaney will be the starter.

The HSU Cowboys and Cowgirls, a famed musical organization, will be here both nights of the show to provide musical entertainment.

Season tickets for the meet are available for $1.50 each. That's what anybody will pay for a single performance.

Few meet or national junior college records appear to be in danger, although some of the future senior college greats will be on hand.

Arlington, Texas, and HJUC finished among the top four teams in last year's meet. Arlington is no longer a two-year school.

RAMIRO JAIME Tiger Manager

The Big Spring Tigers, now boasting a 4-0 won-lost record in New Mex-Tex Baseball league play, play host to Andrews in a 3 p.m. contest at Steer Park today.

The Bengals ran up one of their biggest scores in history last week, at which time they thrashed Lovington, N.M., 32-1.

Andrews recently accepted the franchise of the Hobbs entry in the league and has yet to win a game in three starts.

Little is known of the team, however, since many new faces are due to appear in the lineup today.

Big Spring will probably go with a lineup composed of Charles Bolen, second base; Jackie Thomas, third base; Tito Arenobia, center field; Marion Tredaway, shortstop; Ramiro Jaime, left field; Pat Martinez, first base; Preston Daniels, right field; Billy Paul Thomas, catcher; and Danny Valdes, pitcher.

Boggy Suggs and Joe Cadenhead will also be available for mound duty.

The Lamesa Red Sox are now offering the chief competition to the Tigers in the league race, having won three games without a loss. The Sox are the only team above the 500 mark.

Bolen is leading the Tigers in hitting with a .562 average. Tredaway is blasting away at a .542 mark while Arenobia is hitting an even 500.

Chubby Moser, Valdes, Cadenhead and Suggs each have one mound victory to their credit.

Robert (Sonny) Dutchover started this season as manager of the Bengals but Jaime, former Sul Ross College player, is now manager.

SWC Raises Limit On Spring Football Drills To 30 Days

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Southwest Conference raised the limits on football spring training Saturday but left them short of NCAA allowances. That was the only important development at the annual spring meetings.

The new limits allow 20 practice sessions in 30 calendar days. The old limits were 18 sessions in 28 days, and the NCAA standards are 20 sessions in 36 days.

The coaches and athletic directors had recommended the NCAA limits be adopted, but the faculty apparently felt that generally good spring weather in this area made the shorter limit practical.

The faculty men put in a stipulation calling for spring training at six of the eight schools to be completed by April 1. Excused from this deadline were Arkansas and Texas Tech because of their harder weather.

Behind the terminal limit apparently was the idea that athletes would have a chance to turn to spring sports after finishing football drills.

Executive Secretary Howard Grubbs said he reported on investigations made into two alleged recruiting violations, but that the faculty men found no grounds for action.

Grubbs also said the faculty men concurred in a statement from the coaches and athletic directors Friday that college athletic officials would not be perturbed over invasion of two league cities by pro teams as long as the pros restricted their play and television programs to Sundays.

Fishing Mushrooms As Warm Weather Arrives At Thomas

Warmer days have encouraged a flurry of fishermen to break out the tackle, load up the boat, and try their skill at Lake J. B. Thomas. Lakeside operators report a burst of activity, however, high winds have kept many people away.

The lake is about 8 1/2 feet lower than its peak about three years ago and is causing some worry at a few of the camps. At least one, Smith's Grocery, has been left high and dry by receding waters.

But those fishermen who have taken to the waters with line and bait, are coming back to shore with good strings.

Clyde Montgomery's Lakeview Grocery.

Good crowds have been reported this week, except when high winds kept them away. Cecil Kizer, O'Donnell, reported a catch of nine channel cat, Doyle McGuire, Big Spring, caught two channel cat, weighing 1 1/2 and two pounds.

RUIDOSO, N. M., (SC)—Opening day at Ruidoso Downs Race track looms just over the hill. They are off and running on May 20th with a $3,000 "Mr. Bar None" Allowance and the Thoroughbred Inaugural Handicap spotlighting the weekend racing card.

The caliber of horses and races at Ruidoso Downs has now begun to take definite form, and with last count, there were over eighty of the top thoroughbred allowance and handicap horses in the western United States already checked in at the Mountain track. Thoroughbred Racing Secretary, Russ Sanders, states there are over 400 top claiming horses and one of the greatest array of two-year-olds ever assembled. At this time Sanders' job has the enormous task of making room for all of these fine thoroughbreds to run.

Thoroughbred hopefuls include Sing N' Cat, owned by Carl De-vidson of Albuquerque; B F Spring, Texas; J. T. Dillard's Merry Bo; and Yes More, owned by H. W. Cathey of Mertzon, Texas.

On the quarter horse side of the picture Virgil Bond, Quarter Horse Racing secretary, says a total of some sixty of the finest AAA quarter horses in the nation are expected to arrive in time for opening day—with graded horses standing head and shoulders above the claimers. The two-year-olds nominated for the New Mexico Futurity, the Ruidoso Futurity and the All American Futurity stack up for a great year at Ruidoso Downs.

Great AAA quarter horses include such famous names as Ava Dial, belonging to F. R. Williams of Lovington, N.M. Crawford Oklahoma's Walter Merrick's Lena's Bar; and Explosive owned by L. R. French Jr. of Odessa, Texas.

Hoped-For Goal Is Now Big Problem

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Just 15 years ago the United States hoped some day to have a surplus of oil.

The goal was nearly one million barrels a day in reserve capacity but today's surplus has become a major item of concern to the domestic industry.

CAPACITY IDLE

About one-third of the nation's current productive capacity is idle.

Production last week averaged 6,771,000 barrels a day. Idle capacity could have turned out another 3 1/2 to 4 million barrels.

The surplus that developed after World War II has become worldwide. Barring an international crisis, the end is not in sight. Bright prospects for such new production areas as Libya and the French Sahara in North Africa may aggravate the situation even further.

Domestic oil refiners also are faced with idle capacity problems.

The nation's refineries the week of Jan. 8 processed a record 8,396,000 barrels of crude a day but were operating at only 86 per cent capacity. Last week's crude runs averaged 7,788,000 barrels a day, current domestic capacity is about 9,800,000 barrels daily.

Domestic refiners were reminded this week the situation they face currently probably would have developed earlier had it not been for three international emergencies.

M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), said the Korean War, the oil shutdown in Iran, and the closing of the Suez Canal came at times when American refiners faced similar situations.

PROBLEMS

Rathbone's remarks before the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Refining meeting at Detroit were confined to the problems of that phase of the industry but they could have applied to oil producers as well.

The Korean fighting and the Suez crisis brought abrupt ends to pleas by independent producers seeking federal curbs limiting oil imports.

Rathbone, API board chairman, said current conditions may continue for some years, barring an other emergency or crisis.

Executive For W. R. Grace Dies Friday

Marlin G. Geiger of New York, executive vice president and director of W. R. Grace & Co. in charge of chemical divisions, died unexpectedly Friday evening. He was stricken while en route from Baltimore to Newark on his company plane.

R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation, a Grace affiliate, has been notified that the funeral has been scheduled tentatively for Monday in Westfield, N. J. The body will be sent Tuesday to Baltimore for interment.

After graduation from Pennsylvania State College in 1921, Mr. Geiger began an association with Westvaco Chlorine Products Corp., which continued until 1947. He then joined Davison Chemical Company as a director and executive vice president, six years later assuming the presidency of Davison which became a division of W. R. Grace & Co. In September of 1956 Mr. Geiger was placed in charge of all Grace chemical divisions. He had become a member of the Grace board of directors in June, 1954, and the following October was elected a vice president.

Mr. Geiger was born in Harrisburg, Pa. in 1897. His directorships included the National Plant Food Institute, Washington, D. C.; Manufacturing Chemists' Association, Inc., Southern States Industrial Council and Fidelity Baltimore National Bank. He was a member of the American Chemical Society, Newcomen Society, the Merchants and Rotary Clubs. He also held memberships in the Baltimore Country Club, the Maryland Golf Club and the Maryland Club.

Mr. Geiger maintained residences in Westfield and in New York City. He is survived by his wife, and two children, Dr. Marlin George Geiger, Jr. and William Thom Geiger.

268 TURNING Basin Loses 20 Rotaries

The Permian Basin lost 20 rotary rigs during the past week to lower the active rig count from 288 to 268, according to a survey conducted by the Reed Roller Bit Co.

Lea County, N. M., remained the most active in the Basin with 41 rotary operations. This was a drop of six, however, since last week's count.

In this eight county area, Borden and Mitchell each gained an active rig. Borden increased its total active rig count from four to five, while Mitchell's rig took it off the inactive list.

Howard County lost two active rigs to put its count at six this week. Martin, Garza, Glasscock and Dawson counties remained the same as the week before with a count of two, five, one and four active rigs, respectively. Sterling County still has no rotary rigs operating, according to the survey.

The Basin count, with last week's figures in parentheses includes:

Earnings, Revenues Show Increase For 75 Firms

DALLAS — Earnings for 75 oil companies were up 9 per cent in 1959 over the previous year, according to the Petroleum Engineer, which makes an annual survey of financial and operational figures in its May issue.

In the same period revenues increased 5 per cent in face of declining prices, due generally to petrochemical and natural gas sales.

Rate of return on income was 8 per cent and on investment was 9 per cent, both fractionately higher than 1958.

This latter study shows slightly higher budget for capital expenditures that was planned last year. Present estimate is that U. S. companies will spend $7,850 million here and abroad for capital investment. Approximately $1,850 million is earmarked for foreign operations, 6 per cent above 1959 and the largest amount ever allotted by the industry in one year. Indications point to a 4 per cent increase in domestic outlays.

Refining and petrochemical investment shows the largest proportionate rise—up 34 per cent. Drilling and producing will remain about the same; transportation and marketing will use 15 per cent more capital.

Clear trends of industry operations were marked last year and appear to be deepening. Six are defined by the survey as:

1. Growth of research is widespread. Research funds are up 12 per cent for 1960 with estimated industry total of $410 million.
2. Petrochemicals are helping oil companies to hold together during softened products prices. Sales volume for 11 large companies increased 11 per cent in 1959.
3. Natural gas sales are growing and kept several companies in the black. Efforts to find intrastate markets show that firms regard Federal Power Commission control as expensive and uncertain.
4. Foreign investment is a broad trend attracting a large number of companies. Finding costs in the U. S., imports, and low cost natural gas competition sends in crude oil.
5. Companies are working toward balanced operations in these directions: More oil reserves to meet refining capacity; more refining capacity to meet marketing outlets; more marketing outlets to handle production; mergers or purchases to acquire facilities in certain areas.
6. Diversification has gained some heft. One oil company owns a food concern and steamship lines; another has four small manufacturing firms. These have been successful financially and have taken up administration surplus.

Most top management in the petroleum industry is cautious about the immediate future but highly optimistic about long-term prospects. Although mergers have been popular, there is healthy growth from new companies. Twelve firms in the list of 75 in the survey began less than 10 years ago.

Nation Has 1,787 Working Rotaries

The number of rotary rigs actually making hole throughout the United States this past week was 1,787 compared with the 1,809 drilling the previous week. The count is made by the Hughes Tool Company.

The total for Texas was slightly higher for the week, however. The survey showed an increase from 629 to 632. The West Central Texas count was also increased, going from 188 to 196.

New Treasurer

T. R. Harrison has been named assistant treasurer of Dowell division of the Dow Chemical Co. The announcement was made by A. C. Polk, executive vice president and general manager. Harrison succeeded E. W. Smith, who has held the position since 1956. Smith has been transferred to Europe as foreign accounting representative.

New Post Created

Election of Paul Kayser to the newly created post of chairman of the board and chief executive officer of El Paso Natural Gas Co. has been announced by the board of directors. The board also announced the election of Howard Boyd as president and Arnold R. LaForce as executive vice president. Boyd was formerly executive vice president, and LaForce was financial vice president.

Increased Oil Activity Seen For The Decade

NEW YORK — The current upswing in oil exploratory work points to increasing activity in this decade, declares Petroleum Week, McGraw-Hill publication, in a special report on exploration.

The immediate future for domestic oil and gas exploratory work, while something less than rosy, is looking up for the first time in several years. And several trends and developments point to renewed strength.

Some geophysical contract companies said that they have been putting idle crews back into the field since the first of the year. These reports are borne out by major companies.

The survey of the industry found no companies planning significant cutbacks in 1960, but did uncover many whose budgets showed increases of one to five per cent. And recent heavy expenditures by many companies for offshore acreage will, in almost every instance, be plus-values in exploration budgets.

In the coming decade domestic exploration will be increasingly influenced by worldwide operations. Moreover, exploration policies of U. S. companies abroad will be influenced for the next few years at least, by both politics and world market conditions.

But when all factors are considered, the long-range outlook for earth scientists in oil exploration has seldom, if ever, been better. According to one oil executive: "More rather than fewer geologists will be needed in petroleum exploration and development during the next 25 years."

Pioneer Declares 22 Cent Dividend

AMARILLO — The board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, at a meeting declared a quarterly dividend of 22¢ per share on the outstanding common stock, payable June 3, 1960 to stockholders of record on May 20, 1960.

This represents an increase of 10% over the amount of dividend paid on the common stock prior to the recent two-for-one stock split.

C. I. Wall, president, stated that the net income for the first quarter of 1960 amounted to $1,955,037, or $1.17 per share on 1,674,897 shares outstanding on March 31, 1960. These earnings compare with $1,666,028 for the first quarter of 1959, or $1.01 per share on 1,649,472 shares outstanding on March 31, 1959.

Howard County Has Two Field Finals

Two field projects in Howard County have been completed, one by Cosden and the other by Moss Petroleum Co. A Texaco field project in Garza County was also finished.

Cosden No. 12 M. M. Edwards completed in the Snyder field for 61.49 barrels of 32 gravity oil per day, initial pumping potential. Well was acidized with 500 gallons and fraced with 10,000 gallons.

Top of the pay zone is 2,560 feet where the operator has set 5 1/2 inch casing. Hole is bottomed at 2,663 feet.

The location is 990 feet from north and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 32-30-1s, T&P survey. Elevation is 2,305 feet. C. D. Turner originally filed the project.

Moss No. 16-A-J. J. Hooks is a

Howard - Glasscock field completion with initial pumping potential of 67.72 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil per day with 50 per cent water.

Operator is pumping oil from perforations between 3,071-74 feet and 3,086-97 feet. Top of the pay is 3,071 feet with 5 1/2 inch casing at 3,286 feet. Total depth is 3,280 feet.

The well is 330 feet from north and 400 feet from east lines of section 14-0-29-W&NW survey. Elevation is 2,737 feet.

In Garza County W. B. Yarborough and L. E. Windham have completed No. 2-A James R. Kiker in the Threeway (San Andres) field. Initial pumping potential is 71.99 barrels of 37.7 gravity oil per day with 50 per cent water.

Top of the pay is 3,461 feet with perforations between 3,461-69 feet. The 5 1/2 inch casing is at 3,627 feet. Well is at total depth of 3,618 feet. Gas-oil ratio is 150-1 and operator acidized with 650 gallons.

Location is 872 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 3-A-SF 8370 survey. Elevation is 2,922 feet.

Mitchell, Howard Gain New Explorer Locations

The eight county area gained two wildcats this week when new locations were staked in Mitchell and Howard counties. A wildcat also was staked in Crane County.

W. D. Jones of Midland has staked the No. 1 M. M. Edwards for pay in the Glorietta at 2,300 feet in Howard County about six miles southeast of Coahoma.

Drilling on 320 acres, the site is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 30-30-1s, T&P survey.

In Mitchell County, Carl Johnson Jr., Longview, slates No. 1 Dunn for 7,700 feet five miles northeast of Vincent.

This project is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 64-20-Lavaca Navigation Company survey on 320 acres.

Gulf Oil Corp. has staked No. 1-A C. W. Edwards in Crane County to drill to 8,000 feet.

Located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 27-B-17-PSL survey, the site is one mile south of the discovery well in the Edwards Ranch field and two and one-half miles northeast of the Crarar North field. It is 11 miles southeast of Monahans on 1,920 acres.

Well Completions Lag Behind 1959

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil and gas well completions lag behind 1959, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

For the year, 3,645 oil and 676 gas wells have been drilled compared with 4,384 oil and 756 gas wells a year ago.

During the week drillers brought in 203 oil and 13 gas wells. Oil wells completed on unproven territory totaled 13. No wildcat gas well was reported.

For the week, 182 wells were plugged, including 110 dry holes. The daily oil allowable increased 8,331 barrels to an average allowable of 2,396,408 daily. Texas now has 195,279 wells, an increase of 164 during the period.

RR Commission To Set June Allowable

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission will meet here Wednesday to set the June oil allowable. Indications point to an increase.

Both the nominations submitted by the major oil buying companies and the forecast of demand by the Bureau of Mines were higher.

Major purchasers estimated they would take 2,532,247 barrels daily during June, an increase of 74,788 over May. The Bureau of Mines forecast of 2 1/2 million barrels was up 100,000 barrels.

In nominations by districts, only District 5, East Central Texas, and District 10, Panhandle, showed drops. District 5 was down 1,728 barrels daily and No. 10 was down 735.

Increases by districts include Dist. 1, Southwest Texas, up 1,642 barrels; 2, Southwest Texas, up 953; 3, Gulf Coast, up 10,816; 4, Southwest Texas, up 1,313; 6, East Texas (outside), up 4,216; 6, East Texas Field, up 2,724; 7-B, West Central Texas, up 46,724; and 9, North Texas, up 7,362.

Arabia, Venezuela Will Try To Control Prices

NEW YORK — Saudi Arabia has entered a close working relationship with Venezuela to promote plans for controlling international oil prices by prorating production among oil exporting nations, Petroleum Week, McGraw-Hill publication, reveals.

Abdullah Tariki, director general of Saudi Arabia's Office of Petroleum and Minerals, disclosed that technical personnel already have been exchanged between the two countries, and revealed details of the prorating plan for the first time.

Prorating would apply only to "net exporting countries." Tariki said, allaying fears of federal prorating among domestic producers in the U. S., which is a net oil importer.

Prorating would be geared to market demand. Each nation's percentage of the market would depend primarily on the size of its proven reserves. "Uniform methods of reserve estimation" would be used by technicians administering the program.

Each country would control and operate its own fields, Tariki said, while "encouraging good conservation practices."

The plan also makes provision for future oil discoveries in participating nations or in new oil producers. Finally, it includes a sort of "grandfather clause" which would introduce a correcting factor in the formula to prevent or minimize a country's loss of revenue.

Tariki said the prorating plan had not been discussed with any of the international companies. "They do not want the government to have anything to do with the oil business in their own countries," he declared.

The program would be directed by a policy group made up of representatives from participating countries, and a permanent technical staff would execute its orders.

Tariki hinted that Iraqi and Iranian support for the plan is growing, saying Saudi Arabia and Venezuela are "working closer" with those nations and "hoping to improve those relationships."

To LULAC Board

E. J. Golaz, Gulf Oil Corporation's district manager of marketing in Houston, was elected to the board of the LULAC Educational Fund, Inc., according to Felix Tijerina, National President of the LULACs, or League of United Latin American Citizens.

THANKS A MILLION

It is with no little regret that I leave the automobile business. I have built many fine friendships in the five years I have been serving the public that, I trust, will endure for a lifetime. I am sure R. W. Andrews, who purchased my interest in the Tarbox-Gossett Motor Company, will dedicate his every effort toward giving the motoring public the ultimate in service.

I am now, as most of you know, devoting my time to the athletic supply business and shall continue to make my home here. I shall continue to work toward a bigger and better community.

Increased Sewer Rates Will Be Charged On June Billing

Increased sewer rates which will effect residents and business firms with a general raise will go into effect with the June billing.

The rate was approved at Tuesday's City Commission meeting as a means of balancing the budget and building a reserve to issue needed water and sewer improvement bonds.

Houses which have been billed on the basis of the number of fixtures will, with the June billing, be charged on a per bathroom rate.

Under the old rate a house with one bathroom and three fixtures and a kitchen with one fixture paid 60 cents. A washing machine outlet cost an additional 10 cents and if the house had a garbage disposal an extra 25 cents was charged. The total for such an arrangement was 95 cents. Additional fixtures were charged at 10 cents per fixture.

Under the new set-up, residences are charged a flat rate, $1.25 if the house has one bathroom, and $2.25 if there is more than one bathroom. This is more than a 100 per cent increase in some cases. Houses without garbage disposals or washing machines will be charged from 65 cents to over $1 more under the new rate.

The one bathroom house is charged 80 cents and if there are two bathrooms, a similar house pays only 90 cents. The increase, in this situation, is 65 cents for a one-bathroom house and $1.35 for the two bathroom house.

Gail Teachers Are Honored

On May 3, the members of the junior high school classes surprised Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sweatt, Marcus and Butch, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Coates with a farewell party in the school cafeteria. Refreshments of cakes and cookies were served and the honorees were presented with many beautiful gifts.

On May 10, the members of the Methodist Church honored Mr. and Mrs. Rob Goodwin and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Mather Owen and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Coates, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sweatt, Marcus and Butch with a fellowship supper in the Posse Building. Each family was presented a beautiful handmade picture made by Mrs. Edna Miller.

Mr. Goodwin will attend Morticians School in Dallas. Mr. Owen will enter the Methodist ministry and attend Southern Methodist University. Mr. and Mrs. Coates will retire and return to Covington, while Mr. and Mrs. Sweatt will teach in Big Spring.

buildings will be billed a minimum rate plus a charge per room.

Under the old rate schedule, hotels were charged $2.50 for the first 20 rooms and 10 cents per additional room. The new rate is $1.25 plus 10 cents per room. A 60-room hotel would pay $8.50 under the old rate. When the new rate goes into effect the same hotel will pay $7.25, a 75 cent increase.

Office buildings are in an identical situation although the rate schedule is different. The old charge was 75 cents for the first six rooms and 10 cents for each additional room. The new rate is $1 plus 10 cents per room. An office building with 40 rooms has been paying $4.15. Now it will pay $5, 85 cents more.

Irregularities In Voting Charged

MARSHALL (AP) — Eight indictments charging voting irregularities in last Saturday's Democratic primary were returned by the Harrison County grand jury Friday.

Names of the accused were withheld until their arrest. The grand jury reported finding evidence of bloc voting and said that "by this system the individual wishes of the voters of Harrison County have not been expressed."

Truitt Given Award For Conservation

LAMESA — E. A. Truitt, Key community farmer, was presented the "Outstanding Conservationist" award donated by the Lamesa Noon Lions Club this week.

Truitt farms approximately 800 acres in the Key area and owns a 200-acre plot of the section. He is a cooperation member of the Dawson County Soil Conservation District and the award was presented by Bill Meeks, chairman.

Truitt applied the following principles to his acreage to win the award: Conservation crop rotation, 89 acres; cover crop rotation, 89 acres; fertilized 70 acres; contour farming, 39 acres; crop residue use, 80 acres; laid 1,800 feet of underground pipe and had 159 acres of irrigation water management.

Forsan Club Plans New Welfare Fund

Twenty-six members of the Forsan Service Club attended the club meeting Thursday night when discussion centered around the Forsan welfare fund.

Plans for the welfare project were begun and the committee is to have one member from each of the three clubs in Forsan, including the Service club, the Parent-Teacher Association and the Study Club. The Elbow Home Demonstration Club and Elbow P.T.A. will furnish the committee for the Elbow-Forsan school districts.

Committee members will be announced by J. D. Gilmore, service club president, at the next club meeting.

Plans were also taken up to organize an Explorer Scout unit at Forsan.

Boston Drenched In Inky Rain

BOSTON (AP)—Said one resident of south Boston: "The cleaning bill is going to be terrific."

He referred to a trick of the weather which caused heavy deposits of soot to cover a wide area.

Health officials described it this way: A heavy two-day fog trapped rising chimney soot and then a heavy rain Friday brought it down in south Boston.

The inky rain streaked people, cars, houses, streets and sidewalks.

A city cleanup squad helped matters later by hosing down streets.

Dawson Jurymen Decide Beckwith Was Insane

LAMESA — A Dawson County jury deliberated seven minutes here Friday before returning an insane judgment against Allen R. Beckwith, 22-year-old former Midland resident charged with rape.

Only two witnesses were required by Defense Attorney Willis Gresham to obtain the verdict in a hearing that required only 35 minutes of proceedings.

A judgment against Beckwith will be drawn by District Attorney George Hansard and he will be committed to the state institution for the criminally insane at Rusk. This action is expected on May 16.

Mrs. Dorothy Bell Beckwith of Midland, mother of the defendant, and Dr. Marvin E. Grice, neurosurgeon of Odessa, were the only two witnesses to testify. A statement from Dr. Richard K. O'Laughlin, psychiatrist from Lubbock, was introduced as evidence in the hearing by Hansard, who did not contest the hearing.

Both physicians testified that the defendant was mentally unstable and would require lengthy hospital care. Grice indicated that full recovery chances were limited.

Beckwith was arrested here on Jan. 5 after he allegedly raped an aunt, who resided here. The accused allegedly appeared at her home for a visit and forcibly raped her.

He has been in the Dawson County jail since that time in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Burglary Haul Amount Revised

A complete check of records at the Big Spring Finance Company shows the amount of money taken in a recent burglary amounted to $57.75 rather than the $400 originally reported.

T. B. Atkins, whose office files were ransacked last Monday evening, gave the revised report to police Friday afternoon.

In addition to the cash taken, $285 in checks made payable only to the Order of Eastern Star bank account was included in the haul.

Runoff Election Set In Dawson

LAMESA — The full expense of a second primary election will be shared by Dawson County candidates in the previous balloting, and all of the activity will be for one office—that of Justice of the Supreme Court.

All other offices were decided here in the May 7 primary but the state position and the county Democratic Executive Committee has decided to comply with the state law and stage a runoff.

All 17 county boxes will be operative and four-man crews will be assigned to each precinct.

Officials estimate it will cost an additional $850 to hold the runoff. Normally, this portion is unused when a runoff is not required it apportioned back to the candidates.

Elegance In Living-- The Elmo Wasson Home

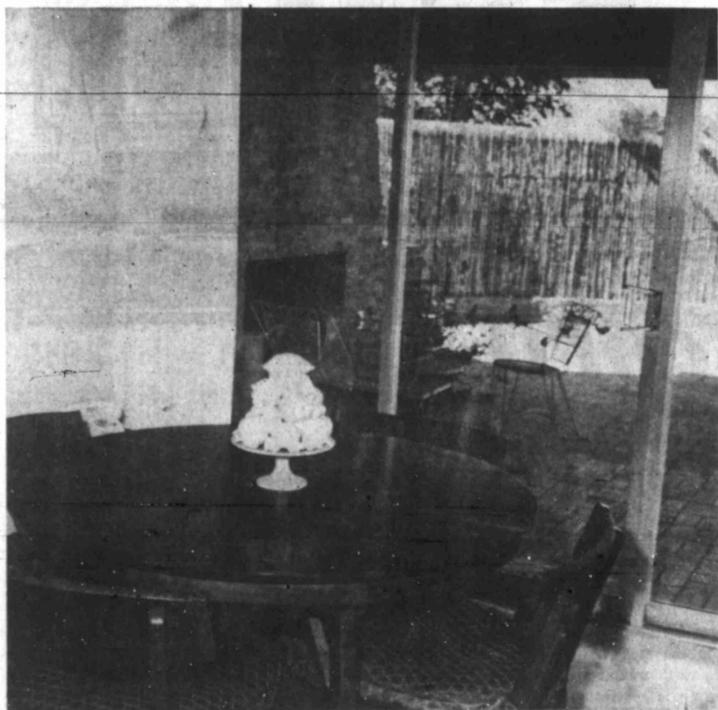

REPEATING THE DESIGN of the hand turned posts on the divider are the open sections of the unique doors that lead to the dining room which is a step down from the entrance hall. Antique brass loops lift to open the locks. The crystal chandelier illumination can be turned from bright to candlelight affording a soft glow in the room that looks out over the front of the house through a clear window.

GUESTS ARE WELCOMED through these handsome doors of the Country English styled home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, 508 Edwards. The upper sections of the doors are of opaque leaded glass. On either side of the entrance are brass and black ornamented coach lamps. Exterior brick is manufactured antique; the roof is of shake shingles.

ATTRACTIVE TREATMENT for the garage area facing the street is achieved by the striking bay window of leaded glass in the Wasson home. The house, which was built on the site of their former home, has one exterior decoration left from the original plantings. It is the moraine locust tree shown here which was transplanted from a spot where the driveway is now located.

FAVORITE SPOTS for Mrs. Wasson are the breakfast room from which she has a full view of the back yard and terrace, and the fireplace in front of which her grandchildren, Debbie, Dave and Sue Duncan, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan, have their tea parties. The fireplace is arranged with a portable grill that can be removed when a big fire is called for.

COMFORT SETS THE keynote for the living room (pictured above) in the Elmo Wasson home. This area in the split level house is divided from the street level entrance hall by the half wall completed by the attractive hand turned posts. The divider is topped by insets of marble in martini shade which is used throughout the house in the silk wall paper and carpeting with accents of pale cranberry and deep powder blue. Chairs at lower right are blue; the other is in cranberry. The 11-light sconce over the fireplace is an Italian import in gold leaf.

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Leaving the location of the old home place is sometimes a sad occasion, but in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Wasson they have a new house and never had to leave home.

When the couple decided to build a new house, the place they wanted to live was where they have lived for years, 508 Edwards. The solution came by tearing down the old house and replacing it with a charming Country English dwelling. The background is furnished by a peeled chestnut sapling fence based on a stand of red brick. Exterior brick is manufactured antique with a roof of shake shingles.

Driveway, front and approach walks are of washed concrete that blends beautifully with the architectural design. Leaded windows across the front add to the attractiveness.

The entrance hall is on street level as are the sleeping rooms. A step-down takes one into the living room to the east or on the north to the dining room. This area is papered with silk wall covering in martini shade; matching carpeting is a combination of washed wool and nylon. Accent colors are pale cranberry and deep powder blue, taken from the floral pattern on the off-white sofa in the living room. This sits in front of the glass wall that can be opened onto the terrace. Drapes are of textured fortisan and silk.

A wall sconce over the fireplace holds 11 lights and is an Italian import in gold leaf. This is the sole decoration for the living room which is divided from the upper hall by a half wall completed with ceiling-high hand turned posts.

Off the hall is a delightfully feminine powder room papered in pink silk with a flocked fleur de lis design, a pattern that is repeated in gold in the wash basin. Gilded fixtures add to the elegant accessories as does the mirror that is framed in ornate gold. A hanging light, still on its way here from Italy, will complete the decor.

The east bedroom, that also looks out on the terrace through glass sliding doors, has apricot and copper as pickup colors. The drapes are in apricot nylon that blends with the spread.

In the dressing room off this bedroom is a mirrored wall feature that catches the eyes of the feminine folk. The center mirror is the door to a huge walk-in closet while the doors on either side open from linen and general duty shelves. When the side doors are open a three-way mirror is complete. The dressing table is topped with marble and has a special feature in the jalousies of shirred apricot nylon on either side of the mirror. The dressing stool is covered in the accent color.

Off the master bedroom is a more masculine designed bath featuring paper with knights in armor. The lowered blinds open to the side over the leaded glass windows.

Outstanding in the dining room are the specially designed urn wall murals. The urns are painted in tones of deep powder blue, maroon and cranberry to gather the accent colors used throughout the major part of the house. The room may be entered from the reception hall through the beautifully designed doors that repeat the pattern of the hand turned posts. A crystal chandelier over the dining table may illuminate the room with bright light or candlelight.

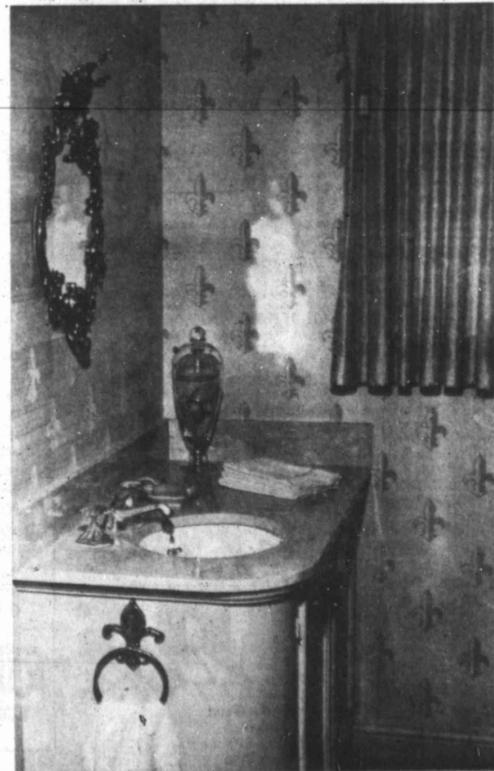

The only deviation from the martini shade is in the breakfast room and kitchen. Here Mrs. Wasson has chosen to use bright white and shades of blue and gray. Taking the theme from wall paper that has prints of various flowers in shades of blue, the kitchen woodwork is a blend and has a distressed finish. This is a decorator's way of having the wood appear to be quite old. It is most effective with the white wall behind it. A pass through from the breakfast area to the kitchen has white louvered doors that may be closed.

To add to the brightness, the floors are laid in white vinyl tile flecked with black. The breakfast room opens onto the terrace where much entertaining is done by the Wassons and their little grandchildren.

The terrace is covered and extends across the larger part of the back area of the house. A basket weave is used in the brick flooring. The fireplace is the center of attraction and it is here that many tea parties are held. The grill may be removed for times when a roaring fire is needed.

Storage space is plentiful throughout the house and into the garage where the space provides for locked closets as well as those for general storage.

A WOMAN'S DELIGHT is the pretty pink powder room (picture at right) that features a flocked fleur de lis pattern in the silk wall paper and is repeated in the wash basin. The table top is of marble and is enhanced with gilded fixtures. A mirror with an ornate gold frame makes a pretty place for reflections.

Better Take Stock

Shelley Winters believes that insecurity is the cause of many beauty problems, and she advises scanning your attitude toward life, if you don't enjoy making the most of your appearance. She is soon to be seen in Columbia's "Reach for Tomorrow."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Mental Side Of Diet Important To Success

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Shelley Winters kept her promise to visit me after she finished "Reach for Tomorrow." And one afternoon at tea time, she arrived wearing a black Italian-made suit, her hair exquisitely coiffed and looking so chic that I immediately commented on it.

"You really have developed a fashion sense," I said, reminding her of how she used to dress when she first came to Hollywood.

"I was a beatnik before they had a name for it," Shelley laughed. "I was consciously sloppy. Except for my job or a definite party, I never dressed. I used to go around in slacks and a sweater or anything that was comfortable. A sense of insecurity makes you do strange things," she mused. "The beatnik philosophy is a preparation for failure. I used to feel that everyone was against me. When I was unpleasant, I used to feel, 'We aren't going to get along so why try?'"

"The big change came when I worked in Europe and tried to adapt myself to a new country. I found it was easy to get along with people. The feeling I had for them was projected and returned."

"I took an interest in fashion and learned to do my hair. Now I dress well for the impact it has on me as much as on others."

"It isn't easy to break old habits," I observed.

"Discipline," she exclaimed. "The lack of it causes all kinds of problems. I am trying to give plenty of it to my little girl. An example has to be set by the parents."

I congratulated her on the awards she had for her performance in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

"Was it padding or did you really have to gain weight?" I asked.

"It was real," she replied. "I had to gain 30 pounds, but I never would do it again! Eating it on was fun. It took three months. Tony (her husband is Anthony Franciosa) and I tried all the fancy restaurants in New York. I had lots of bread and butter, rich desserts and snacks before going to sleep. I went from a size 10 to a 16. I told the studio that they would have to lend me clothes because I didn't want to own a thing in that size."

"I didn't realize when I accepted the part that the shooting time would last so long. Including time for retakes, it was nine months before I was allowed to reduce. I didn't feel well fat, and it had an awful effect on my personality. I didn't go anywhere or want to see my friends."

"When it was over, I started dieting immediately and I lost 10 pounds in one week. But," Shelley added, "the second week I hardly lost a pound. So I went to a doctor. He told me that because I had been overweight for so long I had reached a plateau of resistance and that my body had to make a metabolism adjustment."

"So I would diet strenuously and then ease off and wait for a couple of weeks while my body adjusted. It is far wiser to have a more gradual decline but a permanent one. If you press it, the pounds you lose with drugs won't stay off."

"I learned a great deal from this experiment," Shelley confessed. "about myself and about my appetite. It took me almost a year to wear my old clothes comfortably."

"I didn't ruin my health and my body didn't get flabby because I had lots of exercise. I concentrated on exercise and went to a gym four times a week. There is great satisfaction in looking well and feeling well. It helps to keep a slender image in your mind. You have to have incentive."

"I know myself to be an emo-

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

There will be a number of activities going on today. Don't settle down too long after lunch because if you do you'll miss something.

You'll want to be on hand for the dedication of the new YMCA building at 3 p.m. This is a major step ahead for all the folks in our town and is a feather in the cap of these men and women both young and old who have worked so diligently for the consummation of this dream.

Don't feel sorry tonight you didn't make the effort this afternoon. Show everyone how proud you are that we have a place for this Christian organization to be housed in.

Another event today is the tea being given by the Big Spring Chapter 67 of the Order of Eastern Star for their worthy patron and matron, MR. AND MRS. D. D. DYER. Calling hours are from 3 until 5 at the H.C.J.C. Student Union Building. Friends of the Dyers and OES members are invited.

Friday 13 was a lucky day for MRS. L. A. PICKLE. She became the great grandmother of HARLAN MAX PICKLE, who was born in Lubbock early Friday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Don Pickle. The little red haired boy weighed 8 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Pickle of Lubbock are paternal grandparents.

Here to visit MRS. THEO ANDREWS, who is hospitalized, are her daughter, MRS. IRENE DANIELS, of Pecos, and Mrs. Daniels' daughter and her family, MR. AND MRS. RICHARD HODGES, Ann Elliott and Joan Elizabeth, of Dallas.

Houseguest of MR. AND MRS. LEROY TIDWELL is MRS. MORRIS TIDWELL of Kilgore, who will be here for a week or 10 days.

MR. AND MRS. JOE GOODMAN, Pat and Molly are spending today in Brownwood with relatives.

MR. AND MRS. J. D. LEONARD and MRS. ROBERT LEONARD with their little five week old son, David Michael, are in Big Lake today with the REV. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. LEONARD.

ARD. The Rev. Leonard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will baptize the little baby. The Robert Leonards are en route to a new assignment in Lincoln, Neb. They are to leave Monday morning after visiting here several days, arriving from their former assignment in Lake Charles, La.

Sentiment can make such a pretty decoration. Two new homes in Big Spring have the most attractive old china cabinets that are used with other new furniture and make it appear more attractive. In the new home of the ELMO WASSONS a china closet that was about to be discarded by Mr. Wasson's late mother 30 years ago was retrieved by the couple for use in their home. When the decorator was looking for a piece of furniture for accent color the china closet was chosen and was painted a pale cranberry. Against the white wall it makes the prettiest piece in the breakfast room.

MRS. BERT SHIVE has a treasured china closet that was part of the home furnishing of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Zack Mullins. She has used it in her new home in Western Hills with mahogany dining room furniture and it is a real show piece.

Miss Moore Honored At Bridal Tea

Shirley Moore, bride elect of Oscar Lively, was complimented with a bridal shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. A. L. Cooper. The couple will be married on June 3 in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. R. J. Barton.

Sixteen hostesses joined for the courtesy and decorated the refreshment table with a cutwork linen cloth. This was centered with miniature dogwood trees set on a reflector surrounded with blue net ruffling and dim blue lights. The little bride doll in the center was dressed in blue net. Forty-five friends called during the evening.

European Travels Add To Desire To See World

By SHERI WEBBER

Wanderlust had captivated Mrs. Ray Clark when she was a child—but it wasn't until her two sons and one daughter had married and she became a widow that she was able to let it lead her.

Eight months wandering through southern Europe has only increased Mrs. Clark's desire to see the world.

"I don't know when it will be, but I am going back," says the silver-haired lady.

For six months Mrs. Clark lived in Madrid, Spain. She went over there with the hope of finding a job, but was unable to. "If I had been able to take shorthand or had some kind of a specialty I might have been able to get a job, but my experience had only been three years as a clerk typist in civil service," relates Wilma.

So her six months in Spain were spent taking Spanish lessons, visiting museums, art galleries, and enjoying the scenes of Spanish life.

Spain was chosen as the home base country by Mrs. Clark because she already knew a little Spanish and she had heard that it was cheaper to live there.

"It cost only $45 a month for my room, three meals a day, maid service and my laundry," says Wilma. The pension where she stayed did not offer ironing service, however.

At first the Texan had trouble adjusting to the hours kept by the Spaniards. Getting up about 9 each morning was pleasant enough, but the American stomach was hungry before lunch was served at 2:30 p.m. Siesta follows lunch, and everything in town—including department stores and government offices—close down. In the summer, siesta lasts three hours and in the winter two hours. Dinner is always served after 10 p.m. Theaters open at 11 p.m. and the plays usually finish about 2 in the morning.

"The Spanish people are like children in some ways," found Mrs. Clark. "They have no conception of time." She found the country to be a nation of very kind, thoughtful, and emotional people.

"There really isn't much difference in the Spanish homes and ours," observed the traveler. She found middle class homes as nice as those in America, although they don't have the electrical equipment ours do.

All the home have maids, who are paid $12 a month plus room, board, and clothing. It is beginning to become difficult to find maids now, however, for many are going into industry.

"I had heard all sorts of things about the food in Spain," recalls Wilma. But the lady, who is now employed at Webb AFB, as civilian payroll supervisor found that she liked the meals.

"They use a lot of olive oil in their cooking, but I didn't notice the food being particularly greasy," says the Texan. Wine is served with most meals, and at one pension where she stayed good dry red wine cost only 15 cents a quart. White wine is rare in Spain.

MRS. RAY CLARK with Spanish street scene

The trim mother of three found that Spaniards have a tendency toward plumpness. "Probably because they eat so many courses right before going to bed. Eating there was an endurance contest for me!"

Many Spanish friends were gained when Mrs. Clark began attending a Spanish Episcopal Church. The pastor there was the bishop of Spain.

Two months were spent traveling in the friendly countries of Portugal, Italy, France, and Switzerland. Although she liked Spain best, Wilma thought Switzerland the most beautiful.

The trip to Spain was made by a freighter that sailed from New Orleans. The cargo ship, loaded with tons of wheat for Israel, army tanks for Spain, and an airplane for Gibraltar, took three weeks to cross the Atlantic.

Coming back to North America, (in Spain, if you say you are from America, you must explain whether you mean North or South, according to Mrs. Clark) the Big Springer took the "United States".

Billed as the fastest ship to cross the Atlantic, the "United States" took four days. "And I was sick all the way!" said Mrs. Clark in disgust.

Spain will live on in Wilma Clark's memories. She will be able to hear the trash collectors whose donkeys pull little two-wheeled carts over the cobble stone streets early in the morning and smell cooking olive oil each time she receives a letter from one of the many friends she made during her wanderings.

Friday 13th Program Given Modern Forum

Members of the Modern Woman's Forum reviewed old superstitions and learned new ones Friday when they met in the home of Mrs. Carl South. Mrs. Ed Carpenter was cohostess for the covered dish luncheon.

Roll call was answered by the favorite superstitions of the group. Mrs. Dewey Martyn was welcomed as a new member.

Reading a paper, which had been prepared by Mrs. E. T. O'Daniel, Mrs. Hugh Duncan reviewed the basis of superstitions. The speaker noted the use of the number seven in the Bible and brought out the fact that three, seven and nine are numbers most often used in games of chance.

The legend built around the magical powers of the seventh son of a seventh son was recounted by Mrs. Duncan, who also spoke of the influence of the moon in surgery and dental work for some who take it into consideration.

It was announced that a Forum member, Mrs. M. A. Cook, will be hostess for the city federation meeting at 7:15 p.m. May 23. Another Forum member, Mrs. Harwood Keith, will be her cohostess.

The Friday luncheon was the final meeting of the club year for the group.

Activities For April Reviewed For UCCW Board

Reports of April activities were heard at the meeting of the executive board of the United Council of Church Women Friday at the First Christian Church.

During the month, 95 patients were entertained at a party given at the state hospital by members of the St. Paul Presbyterian Women of the Church. The same group entertained 80 children at an Easter egg hunt at the Westside Center, members were told.

The devotion was brought by Mrs. Bob Simpson from the book of Romans.

Eager Beavers Plan A Trip To Odessa

An all-day trip to Odessa is in the plans for the next meeting of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club; members made the arrangements Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. E. Freeman.

The group will gather at 8:30 a.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Dick Hooper, 1703 Owens, and will leave from there for Odessa.

Seven members and a guest, Mrs. Carl Franklin of Sweetwater, were present for the session on Friday, for which the diversion was sewing and chatting.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. McMahan of Westbrook are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Faye, to Glenn Edward Wallace of Coahoma. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wallace. Wedding vows will be taken June 26 in the Westbrook Baptist Church.

Baby's Kingdom

This modern nursery uses soft yellows, simple furnishings and accessories of matching polyethylene plastic—diaper pail, baby bath and training seat—for convenience, beauty and ease of insuring cleanliness.

Modern Nursery Is Triumph Of Science

By VIVIAN BROWN

Baby's happiness depends on little things—not those that thrill his mother, such as the imported christening dress and his sterling silver rattle. Even where there are large families these days, the custom is to keep a nursery going until baby is old enough to want the companionship of other children in the home. When planning baby's room, give him a break. True, he looks angelic on a frilly pillow in a lacy bassinet but it is better to put him in a larger crib with bumper protection and a good mattress, from the start. His room should be away from the hustle and bustle of the home. Plastic nursery equipment makes a good deal of sense from baby's standpoint. It may be kept sanitary by frequent dunkings, and it comes in attractive baby-appeal colors. Such items as polyethylene hampers, wastepaper baskets or king size bath tubs can become his toy bins later. Baby's plastic training chair can convert into a youth chair, and it is easy to keep clean. Baby's room can be attractive, even though planned with a purpose. It may be decorated inexpensively with objects that serve to beautify it while he is a baby, yet will appeal to toddlers. A lamp may be made with an unusual base such as a teddy bear, Humpty Dumpty, rabbit or a toy train. Take an ordinary flat wooden base, run a rod up the side or back of it and fasten the toy to the base. Change them from time to time. Walls may be decorated with designs two or more feet tall. Giraffes, pigs, elephants, chickens or A-B-C's may be cut out of wall paper and then colored to suit your fancy. Paste them up with rubber cement or tack them up for easy removal later. Smaller felt cut-outs are attractive, too, and these may be removed later also. (Do not put tacks in wall area around baby's bed. Ditto heavy pictures.) Baby is aware of his hands and feet at an early age, so large foot and hand patterns on the wall may amuse him even as a small child. Other suggestions include these: king-sized blocks out of plywood, painted in gay enamels. A little clothes tree may be made out of a plywood cut-out of a toy soldier, a base and some pegs.

Baptist Temple WMS Entertains At Banquet

Stars decorated the hall of Baptist Temple Friday evening for the junior-senior banquet given for the church's young people by members of the WMS.

Hitch Your Wagon to a Star was the theme of the Banquet, for which place cards were tiny dolls in senior caps and gowns. A mural of the senior group on the road of life marked one wall.

Master of ceremonies was A. C. Faulkner; the invocation was given by Bill Montgomery. The class prophecy was delivered by the Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor of the church. Response to the welcome was expressed by Ann Robinson.

Ed Wittner of Lamesa, accompanied by Tawana Boatright, also of Lamesa, sang two selections and was the principal speaker. He used the topic carrying out the theme of the affair. As a climax to an attendance contest held by the hostess group, Mrs. Bill Sandridge was crowned queen for having the most of her circle members in attendance at general meetings.

Delicious Mixture

Cooked leftover rice, after chilling, may be used in a salad with such other cooked vegetables as peas, snap beans, carrots. Add a little diced celery for crispness and dress with mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing.

Delicious Garnish

Ever dip orange slices in light brown sugar and broil? Good with French toast!

For No Onion Tears

If you cover small white onions with boiling water and allow them to stand for several minutes, you'll probably find—after dipping them in cold water—that you can peel them without tears.

Improvements Planned For Girl Scout Camp

LAMESA—Delegates to the West Texas Girl Scout Council meeting and the board of directors authorized several improvements for Camp Boothe Oaks, the council's established camp located 10 miles south of Sweetwater.

The purchase of a dishwashing unit for the mess hall was authorized along with other kitchen improvements which will be necessitated by the installation of the unit. It is believed that the dishwashing unit will be in operation by the time camp sessions open in June.

A discussion of the erection of an entrance-way to the camp property was held and Hez Hawley of Sweetwater, chairman of the camp committee was authorized to bring cost estimates and other information on this work to the board at its next meeting.

Funds for the camp improvement will come from the proceeds of the annual cookie sale, which this March netted the council around $9,000. The mortgage on the council's headquarters building was also cleared with funds from this year's cookie sale, and a mortgage burning ceremony was staged during Thursday's program.

The feasibility of adding additional kinds of cookies or changing the type cookie for sale next spring was aired with the executive board to make the decision at a later date.

Delegates were named to the national convention to be held in St. Louis, Mo., Alene Adcock of Lamesa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Adcock, was named as an alternate senior girl scout delegate for the council.

Delegates also voted the approval of a plan for registration of troops to be made by districts at a specified time, and Margaret McAdams presented the plan of work for the coming year as prepared following a council-wide survey of troop and leader needs.

Smaller Sizes For Grown-Up Girls

As America's girls now grow slimmer, dress sizes grow smaller. Newest to hit the national ready-to-wear market is size 3 - for grown-up girls.

The new size is for girls or women under five - feet - two, with the following measurements: bust 32 to 33, waist 20 to 21, hips 32 to 33 1/2.

This petite section of the population has had great difficulty up to now finding clothes to fit without extensive and expensive alterations. The new size range will solve their problems.

A few years ago the smallest junior size dress was 7. Then came size 5 and now size 3. What's next? Maybe size one.

Cap Rock Co-op Marks 20 Years Of Service

The Rural Electrification Administration passed its 25th milestone this week, and with it the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc. is in its 20th year of service. On May 11, 1935, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed an executive order that brought the REA into being. Before the end of the year, 16 applications had come from cooperative groups in as many states, and May 20, 1936 the Norris-Rayburn Act put into law a 10-year program of rural electrification. In the ensuing 25-year period more than 1,094 borrowers have granted loans of $3 1/2 billion, on which $1 1/2 billion has been paid in principal, advanced payments and interest. In 1955 about 11 per cent of the nation's farms had electric power; today the figure is 97 per cent. Instead of lighting a 50-watt bulb, operating a radio and an electric iron as some had prophesied, the availability of power touched off a wave of heavier appliances and machinery purchases that boosted consumption rapidly. REA officials now estimate that by 1963 the average farm will require 5,600 KWH per year and by 1975 the figure will be up to 10,800.

While reaching out into the unserved areas, REA picked up numerous other customers such as small industries, purups, churches, stores and even some municipalities. However, 55 per cent of its current membership is still in farms. Although it was four years after the executive order that the Cap Rock Cooperative was organized, the growth of this unit is even more amazing than that of the national organization. Less than five per cent of the farms in Martin and Howard counties had electric service when volunteers began to sign their neighbors in 1939. By July, 1940, they had enough to secure the first loan. O. B. Bryan was chosen that same month to be the general manager. The initial section of line covered 138 miles and served 325 members. A portion of this line was completed and energized in mid-December of 1940 when a lineman climbed a pole and threw a switch that turned on a light in the P. F. Cantrell home north of Big Spring. This same act sent power to Fairview, Knot, and Gay Hill. Soon Courtney and Lenorah in Martin County and Germania (a community east of Midland) had power. Construction boomed rapidly until World War II when shortages halted work. End of the war produced another surge and by 1951 service by the cooperative had extended into 10 counties and practically every farm and ranch in the area had electric service. The use of heavier appliances, irrigation pumps, and in some cases oilwell pumps, etc., created such demands that a considerable portion of the lines had to be "heavier" to care for the load. From 325 in 1941, the number of meters grew to 2,000 in 1949 and 4,300 today. The system has 2,100 miles of line in 13 counties. Capital reserves have been accumulated for emergencies, depreciation reserves set up, half a million dollars paid in advance, all loan and interest requirements met on time, and $150,000 capital credits returned to members. At the end of 1941 there were 276 farm and home consumers and 52 commercial ones using 199,001 KWH over 129 miles of line. At the end of 1959, there were 2,723 home and ranch consumers, 683 commercial ones and 727 irrigators using 41,386,561 KWH over 2,092 miles of line. On the first board were Herman Deavenport, Denorah, president; Reese Adams, Ackery, vice president; Riggs Sheppard, Stanton, secretary; treasurer; Arsh Phillips, Glen Cantrell, Mrs. Lee Castle of Big Spring, Mrs. Wiley Clements, Lenorah, Jim Jones, Tarzan, and C. F. Gray, Stanton. Today, Glenn Cantrell heads the organization. Mrs. Castle and Miss Phillips are the only remaining members of the original board, but Paul Adams, a son of one of the founders, is on the board. Cap Rock has 28 employees and 14 vehicles in use to service lines and other operations. Each of them is equipped with two-way radio. Currently, a major extension to the headquarters at Stanton is being launched. Out of Cap Rock Electric have come two other ventures, the Cap Rock Refrigerative Cooperative, and more recently, West Texas Telephone Cooperative, which serves approximately 1,000 rural homes, principally in Howard and Martin counties.

Officers Search For Bad Check Passer; File Charges

A young woman, who claimed to be Shirley M. Yox, wife of S-Sgt. D. K. Yox, clipped nearly every downtown store with a flood of worthless checks Thursday. Fern Cox, chief deputy, said that 16 of the checks have been turned in to his office and that there are others yet to be reported. The checks range in amounts from $5 to $40. The average check is for $20, a favorite amount.

The deputy said the woman deposited $15 in the State National Bank and was provided with a checkbook, code number and account. She then systematically began a tour of the stores in the business area. In each store she would buy a small item of merchandise, display the check book and an Air Force ID card. She would write the check for a sum larger than the purchase. It is assumed there was a man with the woman, but Cox said he had not actually been seen. She bought a watch band for a man in one store, for example, and had "extra holes punched in to make it large enough. She also bought him a size 28 bathing suit. A car she was driving was spotted and the license plate noted. It was from El Paso.

A Devotional For Today

Train up a child in the way he should go, and even when he is old he will not depart from it. (Proverbs 22:6. ASV.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the glory and beauty, the power and victory of Christians. We praise Thee for salvation in Christ Jesus. May we influence others to accept the glorious gospel of Christ. In His name we ask. Amen.

Settlement In Court, Not In A Forum

In an agreed order the school annexation case has been stabilized at status quo until about Aug. 1 through the medium of an injunction.
This will provide time for such legal preparation as both sides may deem advisable, and we trust a period for a cessation of verbal broadsides.
It is apparent many residents of the annexed districts feel deeply and strongly about the matter; that they feel they were summarily and capriciously annexed; that they were not heard in their past and present status; that they contended ulterior motives were at the root and impelled three men to adventure wholly on their own into this undertaking; that the act represents a seizure, etc. One can appreciate their pride in their schools and understand their feelings.
The other side of the coin hardly is as simple as that, nor has it been so vigorously stated. The three members of the county board who have been vilified and even threatened were well aware that the action would produce a tempest and that they would be singled out for attack. Their position, however, was that numerous studies, including those which led to the enactment of the state statute under which the action was taken, all had pointed to a progressive regrouping of districts into fewer and larger units. Several local-commissions had reached similar conclusions, one as recently as the early part of this year when 125 on a special education study reiterated a need for combination. Thus, the board majority interpreted its election as a mandate to proceed in this direction. Through a joining of the three districts they indicated they were convinced that a broader, stronger program could be perpetuated for years and years through a still larger combine.

As, as observed in the beginning, the matter is now in the court's determination; not in a forum.

Time To Heal A Few Of The Street Sores

A start was made recently toward maintenance of our paved streets through an experimentation with mass application of emulsified asphalt as a sealer. Perhaps it will prove effective; we hope so for this method doubtless would prove more economical.
However, there are many streets which do not lend themselves to this sort of treatment, and some of them are in bad shape. In fact, some of them are rapidly deteriorating to the point that they are fast getting into terrible shape.

Now that we are long since past the last frost date and are on the threshold of summer, it would seem that the time is ripe for doing something about these flaking patches which daily take on the appearance of greasy cancers that eat larger and larger holes in the streets.

Upturn Going Sidewise - But It's Moving

An astrologer, analyzing the state of business, would describe the present as the period of Cancer, the crab. The economy is moving clumsily sidewise. And so is the stock market.
To be sure, there are favorable signs—retail sales, for example, set a record high in April. And President Eisenhower announced a drop of 550,000 in unemployment and a rise of 1,900,000 in employment.
Yes, the stock market doesn't respond with any vigor to promises of a recovery this year. The hesitation can't be ascribed to the war-bluster and counter-bluster over the spy plane. This isn't a war-scare market. Not enough feverish selling.

The explanation, I think, is narrower and simpler. An upturn in business could be a boon to stockholders—in the form of higher dividends—only if it lasts into 1961. That "if" is now becoming significant.
The Federal National Mortgage Association (Fanny Mae) was a big buyer of mortgages last year; a reflection of the tightness of money. In January, 2,900 mortgages were offered; in September, 11,445; the year's high; and in January this year, offerings came to 10,800. Now, a good sign—offerings are declining, as follows:
February ..... 9,900
March ..... 7,000
April ..... 7,600
This implies that holders of FHA and VA mortgages need money less desperately. They're not converting mortgages into cash because they can't get funds elsewhere. Such a turnaround is a prelude to an upturn in housing starts (see chart), and prompts J. Stanley Baughman, president of Fanny Mae, to say that "a more favorable climate for home financing has developed."

IMPLICATIONS FOR '61
Nathaniel Rogg, economist for the National Association of Home Builders, has observed a "lag correlation" between interest rates and housing starts. An easing in the money supply, he figures, usually precedes by five or six months an upturn in home building. Since interest rates turned down in January, this implies a rising demand for building materials and workers about now.
The excitement died down when the Museum of Northern Arizona identified the bones as those of an Indian, buried about 1200 A. D.

and a record high in personal income.
Housing may provide a favorable one. Tight money hit builders last year. From a high annual rate of more than 1,400,000 homes last April, starts fell to 1,100,000 this year.

Buzzards Return

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—One of Ohio's most intriguing natural mysteries is the annual return, always on March 15, of more than 70 turkey buzzards to Hinkleley Ridge.
They roost in trees in the northern Ohio area, just below Cleveland. The legend of their return goes back a century and a half and never has been disproved in recent years. The Cleveland Metropolitan Park District now discourages any disturbance of the roosting trees.

Old Crime

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—Workers laying a sewer pipe dug up a skeleton in the backyard of a Flagstaff residence.
The excitement died down when the Museum of Northern Arizona identified the bones as those of an Indian, buried about 1200 A. D.

Acid In Citrus Fruits Is Not Harmful

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been eating a half a grapefruit at breakfast, but a friend now advises me not to eat it in the morning as she says it is too acid.—M. L."
The friend knows not whereof she speaks. A half grapefruit is an excellent start for breakfast. The juice itself is a weak acid, but the residue after it has been digested is alkaline. So if you like grapefruit, keep on eating it for breakfast. The same is true for orange juice, oranges or other citrus fruits.

stand this type of thing is not uncommon, and your answer should be of interest to many readers.—M. G."
Right. It isn't uncommon. I've had so many inquiries on this topic that I no longer write about it in the column. Instead, I've combined the material from quite a few columns into a booklet called "Ear Noises, Their Causes and Cures." Whether you call them "head" or "ear" noises, they are the same thing. (For the booklet, write to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 10 cents in coin, and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.)

Well, I guess your biggest trouble is that you are "shy and have a slight fear of doctors." Because you had a discharge from the nose. It could be a cold, sinus trouble, flu, hay fever or a number of other things. A doctor, after years of training, decides which—and then prescribes the right treatment. So please, don't be shy and above all don't be fearful. To get to the answer, I can't decide what particular cause may be present, from your letter, but if I were a wagering man I would offer generous odds that rather simple treatment will solve the trouble. True, I can conceive of cases in which surgery might be called for, but these are rare, unusual cases stemming from uncommon causes. At your age, the treatment is ordinarily very simple.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Are fruit juices advisable in cystitis (bladder irritation)?—Mrs. F. V."
Fruit juices are not harmful. If, however, your doctor is trying to keep the urine on the acid side, too much fruit juice conflicts, as the ultimate residue is alkaline. And alkali, of course, combats acid.

Leg cramps and foot pains? Both can be stopped! To learn how, write to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, requesting my pamphlet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," and enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

False Alarm

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Three squad cars were at the scene in less than two minutes after a burglar alarm sounded at the Northern City National Bank here—just in time to surround three men wheeling a safe out the back door.
But the trio turned out to be members of a contracting firm remodeling the bank building. The safe was an old one being hauled away as junk. A janitor had accidentally tripped the burglar alarm.

This Never Happened In The Census

They say the census work is over, but let's take an imaginary enumerator and put him into an imaginary home, just for kicks:
"Good morning, madam. I am taking the census. May I have the name of the head of your household?"
"My name is Sama—"
"No, madam, I mean your husband's name."
"Oh, I thought you said head of the household. My husband's name is Samuel Jefferson Smithsonian."
"YOU DON'T MEAN Smithsonian?"
"No, I mean Smithsonian, just like the institution; and do you want to make something out of it?"
"Oh, no, Madam. It's just that the name was a little unusual. And now may I have your name, please?"
"My name, as I tried to tell you at the proper time, is Samantha Jane Smithsonian—I mean Smithsonian."
"Thank you. And are there any children?"
"Oh, yes. There's our son Simpson Jackson Smithsonian. And our daughter, Sara Jean Smithsonian."
"Thank you again. It seems all your names are of the same initials. Is this by determination or coincidence?"
"OH, MY HUSBAND thought that if he was ever nominated for the presidency, it would be a clever stunt to have all the family with initials like S.J.S. You know, so he could have a slogan like 'Let's all say yes, with S.J.S.' Don't you think that is just dandy?"
"Oh, indeed, Madam. It's a great deal like 'Say hay, Willie Mays.'"
"But that doesn't rhyme well. You would have to say, 'Say hays, Willie Mays.' You wouldn't expect people to go around saying 'Let's all say yeses with the S.J.Ses,' would you?"

"Oh, certainly not, madam. But I cannot discuss politics with you. May we proceed with the questions? Do you have a dog?"
"CERTAINLY NOT. What you saw out in the yard was from our neighbor's big beast—and can you imagine people who would let him run loose like that? And barking all night, too. I have half a mind to turn them in right this minute. If you federal people would do what you ought to, you would have these people haled into court this very day, for the damage that big beast does in this neighborhood. Did you ever try to keep flowers with a dog like that running loose?"
"Just a minute, madam. I am only an enumerator for the census—and have no authority at all over the handling of domestic animals. I sympathize with you completely, and I will enter on the blank here that you have no dog."
"WELL, THAT'S CORRECT, and you can tell the neighbors that they shouldn't have a dog, either."
"Yes, Well, now, madam, another question. Do you have a bathroom?"
"What! Oh, well, just go down this hall and it's the first door on the right—"
"But, madam, please! I'm only trying to get information for the census. Perhaps I'd better come back when the head of the household is at home. Meanwhile, I thank you, the Census Bureau thanks you and your government thanks you. Yes, yes, Mrs. S.J.S."

There's A Way To Let The Light In

Recently my wife dragged me to a flower show "Dragged" is the word for it. She had been patiently reminding me each day that this show was on. Finally she said, "This is the last day." And I thought to myself, "Well, I guess I'm hooked."
So I went to the flower show, and I am glad that I did. I really wouldn't have missed it.
What interested me was the play of light on the flowers. A magnificent lighting device simulated the gradual increase of sunlight from sunrise to noon and the decline to sunset—repeating this over and over again. And when the light was at its fullest it seemed as if the myriads of bright flowers would fairly burst with life and radiance.

THE THOUGHT STRUCK me that light is the most dramatic fact of the universe. Light dispelling darkness. Light victory over obscurity and shadow. And I reflected that this fact of light is the all-important thing to remember when we get discouraged. What is discouragement, actually? It is darkness of the mind? When it comes, upon us we simply need to let light into our darkness.
But just how is a person to go about letting light into mental darkness? When discouraged, the first step should be to take the attitude of doing something about it, instead of just giving in to it as an accepted state. Next, seek spiritual illumination through prayer.
LOOK FOR WHATEVER positive good there may be in your difficulties. They are always there, you know. And constantly bear in mind your blessings, the bright and hopeful things that surround you. As you think along this line, your mental condition will gradually change. Light will begin to flood your mind. The darkness of discouragement will fade. Light will have dissipated your darkness.

One day while on a European tour we sailed down the Lake of Lucerne on one of those romantic old paddlewheel steamboats.
One thing you can always be sure of on the Lake of Lucerne is that sometime during the day you will encounter a storm. That is in the nature of the great Alpine gorges among which the lake is set. As we proceeded, we ran into a dark storm. It happened that my state of mind was dark that day. I had a problem that I had carried from home. I didn't know how to handle it and was feeling deeply discouraged. The dismal weather made me feel even worse.

AS WE ROUNDED the great shoulder of the Burgenstock, suddenly the clouds parted and like a shining sword down from the noble heights of the Alps came a tremendous shaft of light, pinpointing the little church at Siskon across the lake. An instant later a vast rainbow spanned the sky.
I shall never forget that triumph of light over darkness, and somehow light drove through the darkness of my mind. At once I seemed to realize that light in the thoughts can always drive off the glooms of discouragement. And it did just that for me.
The God who rules the physical universe, where He demonstrates triumph and again the triumph of light over darkness, is the same God who lights up our minds. If we turn to Him when we become discouraged and earnestly seek His light, He will help us find chinks in our darkness through which the light of hope and faith can shine.

Should Our President Go To Russia?

WASHINGTON—Do the American people want President Eisenhower to go to the Soviet Union next month as planned?
This question will be asked again and again as news dispatches telling of the insults flung at the President by Soviet Premier Khrushchev are widely read. For the Soviet premier has just about announced that the President would not be welcome in the Soviet Union. Under such circumstances, self-respect and the dignity of the nation would seem to require a polite statement postponing the visit till some day when the climate is better and there is a true understanding between people of the issues in controversy.

sions of the "cold war." The President said:
"NO ONE WANTS another Pearl Harbor. This means that we must have knowledge of military forces and preparations around the world, especially those capable of massive surprise attack."
"Secrecy in the Soviet Union makes this essential. In most of the world no large-scale attack could be prepared in secret. But in the Soviet Union there is a fetish of secrecy and concealment. This is a major cause of international tension and uneasiness today. Our deterrent must never be placed in jeopardy. The safety of the whole free world demands this."
"As the Secretary of State pointed out in his recent statement, ever since the beginning of my administration I have issued directives to gather, in every feasible way, the information required to protect the United States and the free world against surprise attack and to enable them to make effective preparations for defense."

"I WOULD NOT LIKE," said the Soviet premier, "to be in President Eisenhower's shoes when he comes to the Soviet Union. People will have a lot of questions to ask and they will be right, too. But there will be no excesses."
"The Russian people are open-hearted. Can I expect them to welcome him as a dear guest? I would be made to say to the Russian people to welcome as a host a man who sends espionage planes here."
But the converse is also true. The President of the United States would be going to Russia to fraternize with a ruler who has for years sent thousands of espionage agents to America and other countries. Mr. Eisenhower has been ready to go to Russia despite the fact that Mr. Khrushchev gave the order in 1956 to shoot down in cold blood the men, women and children of Hungary, and even today maintains slave-labor camps where thousands of Russians who have dared to speak up on public affairs are imprisoned.

Even while Mr. Khrushchev was adopting a holier-than-thou attitude in Moscow, news dispatches from Switzerland at the same moment were telling the world that two officials of the Soviet embassy in Bern were arrested there for spying and for bribing an agent to obtain planes of the Swiss army radar establishments and plans for rocket bases in West Germany. Yet Mr. Khrushchev in his Moscow interview had said:
"I am responsible for the acts of this (the Soviet) government."
If so, then it would be as "logical" for President Eisenhower to begin wondering whether he should stay home lest a visit to Russia would seem to imply approval of the Soviet acts of espionage against countries in the free world.

THE PRESIDENT, in the interest of finding some basis for a better understanding between the Soviet Union and the United States government, has been willing to put aside all personalities. But Mr. Khrushchev now injects personalities. Asked whether the plane incident had changed his opinion of the President, he said: "It has, of course. I was not aware of the fact that the plan of air espionage over the Soviet Union was not the caprice of an irresponsible officer. I am responsible for the acts of this government and I was horrified to learn that the President had endorsed these acts."
But the interview with the Soviet premier, which several newsmen had in Moscow, happened before a press conference was held in Washington on Wednesday in which Mr. Eisenhower formally explained American policy toward Soviet threats and arbitrary acts that have led to the ten-

MAYBE MR. KHRUSHCHEV, who blows hot and cold, may tomorrow be in another mood. Asked in Moscow if he really wanted Mr. Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union, the premier replied: "We can exchange views with the President on that in the 'summit' conference may unexpectedly have on its informal agenda the same question—does the Soviet premier really want the President to visit Russia, and do the American people really want their President subjected to the indignities which Mr. Khrushchev hints at as he describes the doubtful role of an unwelcome guest?

Only four strings! But these four strings offer endless possibilities of tone and harmony. They open to man new horizons of beauty and happiness.

And yet, improperly played, these four strings can bring forth unbelievable discord!

There are four strings in life — with similar possibilities. Mind ... Character ... Courage ... Faith!

The truths that fill our minds, the ideals that mold our character, the purposes to which our courage is given, the realities in which we believe; these can fill our lives with rich beauty and happiness or drab ugliness and sorrow.

For centuries the Church has been the maestro of these strings of life — helping men to bring from their own souls the harmony and beauty God has put there.

You can find music in everyday living through participation in the work of the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible, daily.

BB's Mate Has Nerve Troubles

PARIS (AP)—Jacques Charrier, Brigitte Bardot's husband, is back in the hospital for his nerves. His doctor indicated he'll probably be out in a couple of weeks.

The handsome, 24-year-old actor was released from Army duty some months ago because of nervous depression. His doctor said he had not completely recovered from his previous illness.

Charrier was hospitalized after a jealous outburst during a movie scene between Brigitte and her leading man, Sany Frey. The director of the film, Henri-Georges Clouzot, barred Charrier from the studio.

'Samson & Delilah' Makes Its Return

One of Cecil B. DeMille's film accomplishments, "Samson and Delilah," an undertaking that saw 14 years elapse between the time the original treatment was written and the final editing completed, plays Sunday and Monday at the Ritz. The Paramount spec-lacle, in Technicolor, stars Victor Mature and Hedy Lamarr in the title roles, plus George Sanders, Angela Lansbury and Henry Wilcoxon heading a cast of many thousands.

"Samson and Delilah" is a dramatization of Old Testament lore. DeMille staged many spectacular scenes in his motion pictures, including the destruction of the Philistine Temple by the blinded Samson, his furious, single-handed assault on a thousand Philistine soldiers, his bare-handed struggle with a lion, the murderous wedding feast brawl.

Basically, "Samson and Delilah" tells a story of a man's fight to free his enslaved people, his betrayal by the woman he loved and his ultimate retribution. It offers the special kind of entertainment for which DeMille had the formula.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An alimony dispute has brought William Conrad into court—but not as the Marshall Matt Dillon he portrays on radio.

Mrs. Conrad contends that the $1,250 monthly alimony agreed upon when she got an interlocutory divorce last year does not now meet her needs. She wants $2,000.

Conrad, a radio actor-producer-director, wants the alimony reduced to $750 monthly.

The hearing opened before a Superior Court commissioner.

Mick's Girl Held For Contempt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mickey Cohen's 19-year-old lady friend is in jail today because she refused to tell a federal grand jury where her diamonds came from.

Sandra Hagen was jailed Thursday for contempt, when she declined on grounds of possible self-incrimination to tell whether the pudgy ex-gambler gave her an expensive watch, ring and bracelet.

The jury is investigating the mysterious finances of Cohen, who lives high while reporting a low income.

No Nudes, Strip Tease In Reverse

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Reno's first bare-bosomed night club act got off to a false start last week with what might be called a reverse strip tease.

A hotel had promised 10 chorines—bare from the waist up. Four girls showed up, scantily clad but not bare bosomed.

In the first act they were covered with strategically placed ornamentation. In the second act, their bosoms were covered with gauze.

And, as a grand finale, they appeared fully clothed.

Wreck Of The Mary Deare

Charlton Heston and Gary Cooper struggle to save the ill-fated freighter, Mary Deare, in a storm-tossed sea in "Wreck of the Mary Deare," returning to the Sahara screen Friday and Saturday. It is the film version of the Hammond Innes novel, and was shot on location in the British Channel.

Sandra Dee Is Bright New Star In 'A Summer Place'

Not since Lana Turner was discovered at a soda fountain has there been such a storybook discovery and overnight success as that of Sandra Dee. Only a few years ago orchestra leader Vaughn Monroe saw the eye-catching teen-ager walking through New York's Radio City with her equally beautiful young mother, Mary Douvan.

Monroe stopped the pair and asked Sandra whether she'd be interested in appearing on his TV show. Without any previous experience Sandra was set to play Monroe's daughter and this was to zoom her to stardom.

Sandra is currently starring in Warner Bros. film adaptation of the novel, "A Summer Place," at the Jet Sunday through Wednesday.

Sandra says she loves being a star. "I like acting, having a lovely home, a swimming pool, a white Thunderbird and a closet full of beautiful clothes. Some mornings I grouse about having to get up early, but I don't really mean it.

No Furlough For The Stork At This Studio

The stork has come to wink a pleasant eye at Universal-International studio.

Within a scant 12-month period, four feminine stars finished pictures at U-I, then retired to have babies. Shirley Jones revealed she was an expectant mother immediately on completion of her role with James Cagney in "Never Steal Anything Small." Likewise Mara Corday, after "Girls On the Loose." Ditto for Debbie Reynolds after she had completed "This Happy Feeling." For Debbie, in fact, it was an encore, as similar circumstances surrounded the birth of her first offspring after she made "Tammy"—also for Universal.

The latest in the group was Janet Leigh, who announced the expected arrival of a newborn on completion of her role in "The Perfect Furlough" at Universal. Appropriately enough, Janet stars with real life husband, Tony Curtis in "The Perfect Furlough," at the Sahara Sunday through Tuesday. A spy Army comedy whose cast also includes Linda Cristal, Keenan Wynn and Broadwayite Elaine Stritch, "The Perfect Furlough" is in color and CinemaScope.

Battle Hymn

Rock Hudson and Martha Hyer star in "Battle Hymn," Sunday through Tuesday at the State, the true story of a minister turned jet pilot in the Korean War.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Victor Mature, being the handsome critter that he is, is either disliked or adored, depending on one's sex and/or disposition.

This is the penalty he must pay for being the central figure of a personality cult, whether he meant to be or not.

Mature, however, if all emotion-based opinions be ignored, is really a good actor, when he wants to be.

He is an expert interpreter of inner emotion through facial expression, and would have made a top-notch silent film star.

Now, one of his better films returns to "Samson and Delilah." His co-star is Hedy Lamarr, who was quite a girl in her day.

"Samson and Delilah" suffers from the usual ailments that afflict Biblical epics — overacting, too much sex, too large proportions of glamor, too much glitter in the settings. But these are elements that the public likes, and even those who say they don't like these elements will usually back down if you corner them. So let's hear no more about it.

"Samson and Delilah" does afford an insight into the nature of man, how even the strongest of us has a weak spot, how even the lowest-fallen may arise again — and woman — her cold and calculating cruelty, which often may turn to love.

The film has spectacle aplenty, and this it would be hard to overdo. Among the many feats of Samson is included his defeat of a barbarian army in which his only weapon is the jawbone of an ass.

And, of course, his destruction of the pagan temple — and himself — in which the special effects men were on their toes in all but one scene, in which a "stone" is seen bouncing off the actors, instead of vice versa.

In summation, it may be said that "Samson and Delilah" offers something for everyone, and it's a delight to see it again.

"Tall Story" is a mixture of many elements, but chiefly those of young love, honesty versus payola, comedy, and basketball.

Anthony Perkins is the tall young man who — naturally — plays basketball, and he is offered a bribe to throw a game.

Jane Fonda, Henry's daughter, portrays the player's girlfriend, and she is a sparkling newcomer with a bright future.

"Tall Story" is based on the Broadway comedy, and was written by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, noted for their "Life With Father." Director Joshua Logan had fun all the way, and you will, too.

Otto Preminger Fires Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Controversial screen writer Dalton Trumbo has been fired by producer-director Otto Preminger, the New York Journal-American reports. Trumbo had been working on Preminger's production of the best-selling novel, "Exodus."

Trumbo was blacklisted in 1947 after he refused to answer questions at a congressional hearing about his feelings on communism. The Writers Guild of America reinstated him last March after Preminger had signed him for "Exodus."

No reason was given for Trumbo's dismissal.

Trumbo became the second blacklisted author to have been hired and fired in recent weeks. Frank Sinatra hired Albert Maltz to write "The Execution of Private Slovik." Later, Sinatra let him go.

ANTHONY PERKINS & JANE FONDA

'Tall Story' Is Entertaining Film

"Tall Story," combining laughs with romance, and starring Anthony Perkins and Jane Fonda, plays Tuesday through Saturday at the Ritz.

Ray Walston, Marc Connelly, Anne Jackson and Murray Hamilton co-star in famed producer-director Joshua Logan's first Mansfield production for Warner Bros.

The screenplay by former Academy Award winner Julius J. Epstein was adapted from the Broadway play by Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse, authors of "Life With Father" and "State of the Union."

The comedy is about a series of crises at a West Coast college when a matrimonially-minded girl enrolls there. Being a tall girl, she selects a college noted for its outstanding basketball teams as the logical place to snare a tall husband. There are amusing complications when she wages a persistent campaign to entrap the studious star of the team, even using the unwitting aid of two professors.

Superior treatment of the entertaining story is assured by the fact that Joshua Logan was in charge of operations. He has one of the most distinguished records ever attained in the dual media of stage and screen. His stage hits include "South Pacific," "Mister Roberts," "Picnic" and "Middle of the Night." In motion pictures he has directed "South Pacific," "Sayonara," "Bus Stop," and "Picnic."

Anthony Perkins is cast as Ray Blent, the basketball player who unerringly shoots field goals by the application of a scientific principle. The versatile young man was an Academy Award nominee for "Friendly Persuasion."

Jane Fonda, the talented daughter of Henry Fonda, debuts as June Ryder, the coed who makes Ray girl-conscious. Her refreshing beauty has made Jane one of New York's most popular models. In a two months' period she graced the covers of four leading national magazines and was modeling when Logan tested her for motion pictures. He immediately placed her under a five-picture contract.

Ray Walston, a gentleman with a rare talent for comedy, is cast as Leo Sullivan, the highly ethical professor of modern ethical theory. Twice he won best actor awards on the stage for "Damn Yankees" and "Summer and Smoke." In films he has starred in "Damn Yankees," "South Pacific" and "Say One For Me."

Marc Connelly, one of the greats of the Broadway Theatre as a playwright, producer and director, is performing with distinction as the science professor, Osman, a role he previously did in the play. Connelly is a Pulitzer Prize-winner for his play, "The Green Pastures."

Anne Jackson, one of Broadway's finest actresses, is now also winning recognition in Hollywood with her amusing portrayal of Myra, wife of Professor Sullivan. Murray Hamilton, so impressive as James Stewart's buddy in "The FBI Story," is cast as the basketball coach, Sandy Hardy.

MONEY

Does it seem to slip through your fingers? Make you wonder if prices must sky-rocket? Many others wonder too. Just recently 64 of them—all leading representatives of labor, education, business and government—got together at the American Assembly. They considered, the evidence and came away convinced that America can experience dynamic growth while keeping prices reasonably stable and unemployment low. How? By a serious effort on the part of all Americans to create a steady rise in productivity.

Plant Pathologist Being Asked About Willow Ill

The other day I became aware that there was a serious threat to our weeping willow trees. Several people have reported their trees are turning dark to black under the bark and the leaves withering away starting at the tips of the branches. Since my first studies into this wilting, several of these trees have completely died, and others appear to be recovering.

I received cards and letters and calls from Mrs. Ulysses Hall, Vincent Route, Coahoma; R. A. Fuller, 308 Willa Street; Mrs. H. H. Tanner, who lives north of the Experiment Farm; Mrs. Coy Nalley, Jack Cook and Mrs. Lyndell Ashley. Besides these and the people whose names we published in the first story about the willow wilt, I have talked to a number of people (whose names I forgot to write down) about their problems with their trees.

All this serves to indicate that a problem exists and since all the symptoms seem to be the same I have done some further reading into the matter and finally have consulted a plant pathologist. He is now looking into the matter, and I hope that in a few more days we can at least accurately identify the organism that is causing the trouble.

If the damage is bacterial, a virus or a fungus it may be very hard to control, but until it is definitely identified, control is guesswork. There are many diseases of plants and little is known about most of them. We usually practice sanitary measures or preventative measures like cutting the affected plants down and burning them. This may prevent spreading, but it is rough on valuable shade trees or plants that are highly prized for their places in our landscape plans.

40 Expected For TML Meet Here

Big Spring will host the regional meeting of the Texas Municipal League Friday. About 40 officials from 30 cities are expected.

Big Lake Mayor W. W. Munn, president of the Permian Basin region, will preside at the meeting, according to A. K. Steinheimer, city manager.

The meeting will be held at the Cosden Club beginning at 7:30 p.m. with a dinner. A short program will be presented by the 31st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron from Webb AFB, with the business meeting to follow, Steinheimer said.

I have seen homes with huge shade trees or key plants that made them outstandingly attractive. Real estate appraisers tell me that the value of these plants may be very high and in some cases running above a thousand dollars each, so it is understandable that home owners are concerned when an unknown disease attacks any basic plant in their yard.

If you have any garden questions, write me in care of The Herald. — BRUCE FRAZIER.

Moss Creek Lake Re-Opens Monday

Facelighting at Moss Creek Lake has been completed and facilities are ready for sportsmen when the lake re-opens Monday.

Picnic tables, barbecue pits and garbage cans have been repainted, most toilet facilities repaired where needed and the grounds are clean and in good shape, according to Skeet Foreyth, street and sanitation superintendent.

Two new picnic shelters are planned which will house four to six persons. Present shelters will accommodate up to 12 persons, but one family generally uses a shelter and the large size is unnecessary.

All roads around the lake have been graded and some have been re-routed. One main road around the north side of the lake has replaced the many trails and turnouts to the shelters.

The main gate has been moved in front of the concession stand by the caretaker's house. Cars must stop at the gate and either buy a recreation permit or show their permit unless the occupants are going to picnic only.

An annual permit for an individual or man and wife is $10. Daily permits are 50 cents. A permit is necessary for all activity except picnicking.

The new boat loading ramp and the floating loading dock are ready for use.

Regulations on the lake will be enforced by a patrolman in a boat. The patrolman will go on duty as soon as arrangements can be made. Purchase of a boat is anticipated.

Winner To B'way

NEW YORK (AP)—The Alan Drury novel, "Advise and Consent," which won the Pulitzer Prize this year, is being adapted for the stage by Loring Mandel. Broadway premiere is scheduled next November for the Cort Theater, but may be hurried up in view of the Pulitzer award.

Annual Legislatures Gain

CHICAGO (AP)—Three more states have voted to hold annual state legislatures instead of biennial meetings, the Council of State Governments reports.

Delaware, Nevada and Pennsylvania approved annual meetings last year. This brings the number of legislatures meeting annually to 19. The other 31 state legislatures meet every two years.
