Demo Rules Written

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Democratic Executive Committee wrote today the rules for hearing convention protests and beat down a liberal faction effort to change them.

Procedure to give "full and adequate" hearings to both sides in any contest was adopted by an overwhelming voice vote. Contests are in prospect in the June 14 state convention from Austin, El Paso, Houston and Dallas.

The rules provide that the credentials-committee give five days notice of the date and place of hearing contests. They also require contests be filed 10 days in advance of the convention.

Mrs. Ed Ball of Houston proposed an amendment providing that the hearings begin three days in advance of the convention. She also suggested that members of the subcommittee on credentials must be persons named to the executive committee at the last Democratic convention after nomination by district caucuses. This amendment by Mrs. Ball, a member of the committee's liberal minority, was tabled by an overwhelming voice vote.

OBJECTION RENEWED
Earlier Mrs. Ball renewed her objection to the right of John Peace of San Antonio to serve on the executive committee on grounds that he was not nominated at the last convention by a district caucus.

Chairman Ed Connally overruled her point of order on Peace, who is chairman of the resolution subcommittee which brought in the report setting up contest procedures today. Peace was one of Gov. Price Daniel's personal selections for membership in a controversial action in which the governor overruled a caucus selection for the San Antonio committee member.

The state Democratic leaders met primarily to count votes and perhaps assert again that they plan to be loyal to the party's next presidential nominee.

The committee at its last two sessions bypassed proposed party loyalty resolutions saying its records demonstrate it needs to take no pledge.

Today's session is set by law to canvass formally the votes cast in the May 7 primary, and to certify winners already known from unofficial counts. The committee, controlled by friends of Gov. Price Daniel and Sen. Lyndon Johnson, also includes an outspoken liberal minority which usually produces some vocal fireworks.

Pretty Pat Shaw of Deer Lodge, Mont., was named "Miss Wool of America" for 1960 at the annual pageant held in San Angelo. The 20-year-old brunette is a journalism major at Montana State University.

First Step Taken In Federal Help

Wheels got rolling last night on Big Spring's application for a $250,000 federal assist in construction of a new sewage plant when first tests were made at the present facilities by health department officials.

Testing the city's treatment of sewage were W. D. Power, health department engineer, Troy Lowry, sanitarian, and Jim Williams, engineer. The crew took samples in a 24-hour test, according to A. K. Steinheimer, city manager.

Degree of treatment must be checked as one of the steps in approving the city's application for federal aid.

Battle Areas Set In Mosquito War

City crews are continuing the battle to keep down the mosquitoes, working a day and a night shift with fogging equipment.

Today, the crews were to spray in Settles Hts. and Airport Addition, moving to Douglas Addition and north, according to Bruce Dunn, director of Public Works.

Tonight the equipment will continue to spray on both sides of Birdwell Lane.

Dunn said the schedule calls for the day crew to work the west side of the city with the night crew concentrating on the east portions.

Light Voting Marks Race In Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP)—Light voting early today marked the Democratic presidential primary in which Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) was a heavy favorite to pick up Maryland's 24 nominating votes.

Even Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), his only major opponent, admitted he did not expect to stop Kennedy here.

Election officials in Baltimore said the vote was extremely light and at the present rate would amount to less than 30 per cent of the registered voters. Reports from the counties indicated the same indifference.

There is no one entered in the Republican presidential primary race.

With the same two candidates also entered in Friday's primary in Oregon, both sides watched the Maryland results for ammunition to use in the West Coast race.

"By running up a big vote here, we would get a psychological lift in Oregon," said Joseph Carnane, executive secretary of Kennedy headquarters in Baltimore.

How big a vote? Joseph D. Tydings, Kennedy's Maryland political agent, wouldn't go beyond predicting 55 per cent of the vote for his man.

"You've got to remember there are five choices on the ballot," he said. "There's the usual small percentage of the vote which even an unknown gets, and there are those who will vote for someone besides Kennedy because they'd rather see (Sens. Lyndon B.) Johnson or (Stuart) Symington nominated instead of Kennedy."

Besides Kennedy and Morse, the Maryland choices include furniture man Lar Daly of Chicago, Baltimore draftsman Andrew J. Easter and a spot marked "un-instructed delegation" for those preferring an uncommitted delegation to the national convention.

MOTHS PLAGUE THE PORCH OF THE L. J. DAVIDSON HOME Millions of millers plague area with record infestation

Epidemic Of Moths Swarms Into Area In Huge Numbers

By JOE PICKLE
Moths, candle flies, millers—call them whatever you will—have invaded this area like the locusts in Egypt.

Exterior walls of many places, particularly north and northeast of Big Spring, have been covered. On the Hilltop road, which goes eastward from the City Cemetery, the creatures have swarmed on bushes and trees in such fantastic numbers that they have broken off limbs.

There appears no success from the epidemic, and there appears no ready means of attack. Entomologists say that some may be killed by direct contact with spray, but this decimation would be a tiny fraction of the total.

Based on the general pattern for insects in this moth stage, the infestation could last a week to 10 days and then fade away into the next step of the life cycle.

NO IDENTIFICATION

No one has yet positively identified the predominant species. Bruce Frazier of Howard County Junior College says that they are the Lepidoptera order, and that probably they are Ciriopsis Unipuncta, the adult stage of an army worm. Some bollworm and leaf worms moths are mixed in.

A representative from a chemical company Monday told County Agent Jimmy Taylor that he was uncertain as to whether they were an army worm moth and sent a jar full of the fluttering creatures to his company in Dallas.

Weather Alert For Big Spring

Big Spring is included in the area warned for severe weather conditions between 3 to 9 p.m. today.

The prediction calls for violent thunderstorms with damaging hail and winds for the area 60 miles on either side of a line between Pecos and San Angelo.

Other cities included in the storm area are Midland, Odessa, Monahans, Pecos, San Angelo, Fort Stockton, Ozona and Sonora. Severe weather alerts also are given for the area 120 miles on either side of a line between 40 miles north of Ardmore, Okla. to 60 miles northwest of Childress.

The conditions call for possible tornadoes between 2 and 8 p.m.

Addison Friend A Former Resident

James D. (Bob) Scottons, who was indicted jointly with uranium promoter John Milton Addison in Fort Worth, is a former Big Spring resident.

He was for a time property and supply clerk at Webb AFB before transferring to Colorado. Later he became associated with the Addison interests and returned here. Authorities checked with him about alleged contacts here for loans to Addison.

Last year Taylor spent specimen to Texas A&M College for identification, and they stumped entomologists. In turn, a few were relayed to the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. but apparently no word has trickled down from there.

MANY REPORTS
Frazier, who writes a garden column for the Herald, said that he has had reports of these pest from a large area of West Texas. Mrs. Joe Boadle said that the moths kept her family up until 1 a.m. in the Courtney community in central Martin County. They were so thick they covered the television screen and obscured the picture.

"Mack Tate and Mrs. Bohannon, who lives on the C. R. Thompson place, reported the moths covered buildings and even balled on branches of trees. Tate said that if he could kill them all, the ground would be several inches deep with them. Mrs. Bohannon said that when she opened the garage door they were so thick she couldn't force herself to walk into the swarms. L. J. Davidson, who lives in the Center Point area, reported his walls were covered and moths packed under the eaves. They even swarmed like bees on trees, snapping small limbs. Dennis McClure, a HGJC student, reported a bad infestation 10 miles east of Lamesa, but Pat Neff, another student from Colorado City, said the moths weren't particularly bad there.

Most people want to know where they come from and what to do about them," said Frazier. "They come from the soil where eggs are hatched and then go through the worm stage, become a pupa (or cocoon) and eventually emerge again as the moth."

"It is this cocoon stage from which the adult moths have emerged. They are now breeding and soon will be laying eggs. Each female adult will lay 100 or more eggs, and if Nature did not step in, West Texas would be inherited by the little gray moths in a short time.

"Nature is against this epidemic of fluttering wings, and birds will take a large toll. Probably there will be a sharp increase in bird numbers with a few days, and even now I have noticed several species of birds that I don't usually see here. Other insects also will feed on the eggs and young worms; and heat, dry winds, a sudden cold rain shower all will cut into their number and swing back to Nature's balance.

HEAT, MOISTURE
"The recent hot days and moisture have been responsible for the sudden emergence from the pupal stages in the soil. This epidemic should run its course in a week to 10 days—but this is little consolation when your bedroom is vibrating."

"If your place is covered on the outside, most any cotton poison will eradicate them. A spray of cotton dust such as 3-5-40 is easy to apply and does not stain painted walls or injure most shrubbery. It can even be used on porches and under sheds in the garage."

"For the interior of the home, a Pyrethrum spray is probably the best. The Pyrethrum is harmless to pets and people and usually don't stain or damage furnishings."

"Spraying millers with water from a garden hose does little or no good other than to satisfy an urge for revenge. A flyswatter is slow but effective inside homes. It is a good idea to sweep up the dead bugs and remove them because they may soon attract other pests. The moths don't carry any diseases, so far as is known. They neither sting nor bite; but the flutter of wings about the face is intolerable and one fluttering down the open collar is disconcerting. For safety's sake, spray your car interior so you won't be distracted by moths when you drive."

Slipper Committed For Observation
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—An 18-year-old youth who has admitted nine recent sniping attacks, has been committed to a mental hospital for observation.

Judge Homer Weimar Monday ordered Howard Criswell sent to Central State Hospital after he was bound to the grand jury on nine counts of assault with intent to murder.

One of two persons wounded in the attacks, Mike Johns, 36, undergoes surgery today. He was shot in the stomach May 4.

Remains Adamant On Top Meeting

PARIS (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev suddenly announced today he was "ready to participate" in a Big Four discussion on holding a summit conference, but he repeated his demands for an American apology for spy flights over Russia.

In a statement at the Soviet Embassy, the Soviet leader said: "If the United States have really come to the decision to condemn the treacherous incursion of American military aircraft into the air space of the Soviet Union, publicly express regrets over these incursions, punish those who are guilty and give assurance that such incursions will not be repeated in the future, we would be ready on the receipt of such assurance to participate in the summit conference."

Khrushchev preceded this statement of his conditions with the following paragraph: "I am ready to participate in a meeting with President De Gaulle of France, Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain and U.S. President Eisenhower to exchange views on whether conditions have materialized to start the summit conference."

UNCONDITIONAL
His statement seemed to mean that his offer to attend a preliminary conference with the Western Big Three was unconditional but that his conditions for reviving the summit conference itself were unchanged. Eisenhower has already rejected these conditions, though he announced spy plane flights had been called off.

"We won't attend a conference as long as the Americans will not give us satisfaction," Khrushchev said.

He made his stand three times today—in two informal interviews and in a statement issued through the Soviet Embassy. The United States, meantime, showed no sign of meeting the Soviet leader's demands by going beyond President Eisenhower's disclosure Monday that U.S. spy flights over the Soviet Union are discontinued.

Khrushchev's formal statement sped the invitation to Seznane, about 75 miles from Paris, where Khrushchev had gone on a motor tour.

"Gen. de Gaulle knows my position," Khrushchev said then. "He knows very well that I attend a conference as long as the Americans will not give us satisfaction."

READY TO RETURN
A bit earlier in a sidewalk interview, Khrushchev said he was ready to return to Moscow if his demands were not accepted.

British Prime Minister Macmillan arrived first at De Gaulle's Elysee Palace for the Big Three meeting. He was six minutes early. Then Eisenhower drove into the palace courtyard.

Khrushchev—back from his trip—stayed at the Soviet Embassy. The Big Three waited a while, then went on without him. Khrushchev had stated his intentions in his formal morning news conference on the Rue de Grenelle near the Soviet Embassy.

Eisenhower was stern and unsmiling as he left the Elysee Palace. Macmillan looked grave.

Later Sergei Koudravtsev, minister counselor of the Soviet Embassy, called at Elysee Palace. The reason was not given but a Soviet delegation spokesman said Khrushchev might see De Gaulle later in the day.

Eisenhower met with De Gaulle and Macmillan this afternoon, and De Gaulle invited Khrushchev to sit with them.

The Western leaders adjourned after a two-hour session. Khrushchev scorned De Gaulle's invitation, but 45 minutes later issued his statement putting the issue up to Eisenhower.

Laughing as he talked with newsmen, the Soviet Premier said that unless Eisenhower apologized for U.S. spy flights over Soviet territory "and admits that America made an aggression against the Soviet people the conference will not start and I will return home."

KILLS LAST HOPE
Khrushchev's stand apparently killed off the last Western hope of reviving the conference, which collapsed at its opening session Monday in a Khrushchev-Eisenhower explosion over aerial espionage.

The decision to make a final try to restore the shattered pattern of East-West diplomacy was made by De Gaulle, Eisenhower and Macmillan in a meeting at the Elysee Palace. De Gaulle's residence, this morning, Macmillan suggested the plan of calling a conference to see whether Khrushchev would attend.

De Gaulle then sent invitations for a Big Four session in mid-afternoon at the palace. Eisenhower and Macmillan promptly announced acceptance.

De Gaulle sped the invitation to Khrushchev by motorcycle messenger. The Soviet Premier had driven to Seznane with his defense minister, Marshal Rodion Malinovsky for a tour of a World War I battlefield where a Malinovsky fought as a member of the Russian Expeditionary Force in France.

BACK TO PARIS
While Khrushchev rejected a Big Four gathering, he said he was willing to call on De Gaulle. Khrushchev then drove back to Paris.

De Gaulle apparently planned to try to bypass the bitter Soviet-American dispute over the spy plane which disrupted Monday's first Big Four session.

Instead he apparently planned to try to get discussion started on such topics as disarmament and the German issue.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty explained to newsmen that Eisenhower had agreed to a second meeting because it was to be held on the issues originally set for discussion at the conference.

A British spokesman said Eisenhower had made clear he would not "attend any more propaganda sessions" and wants to get down to business as Macmillan does.

Latest Radar May Not Be Enough For Soviet Rockets

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs Writer

THULE, Greenland (AP)—The most powerful rocket-detecting radar in the free world will go into operation here within the next six months.

But the possibility already looms that this ballistic missile early warning system (BMEWS) with its 3,000-mile range later may have to be given even greater capability to cope with the mounting technology of Soviet weapon designers.

Brig. Gen. John B. Bestic deputy director of communications and electronics of the U.S. Air Force, was asked by newsmen who visited this arctic site whether the three BMEWS stations being built could be improved later.

Bestic mentioned the Soviet missile firings into the Pacific early this year at ranges of more than 7,700 miles. Then he commented that "as time goes by we will have to think about longer range missiles" and how the operation of BMEWS might tie in with other systems such as the reconnaissance satellite Midas.

Divided Berlin A Wandering City

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—Suppose all of the United States east of the Alleghany Mountains were occupied by Soviet troops and run by an American satellite government.

And suppose free Americans still had a foothold in the western half of the city of Washington, surrounded by Communists. And they couldn't telephone from the White House to the Capitol because the latter was in Red hands.

That's a rough idea of the situation in Berlin, and what it means to the Germans.

Anna Schmidt, who lives in Communist East Berlin, can easily buy a summer dress in the Kadewe, West Berlin's biggest department store. But the material had to come through the Communist area. And she has to pay more than four times the price in effect, because her Communist currency isn't worth much in the West.

Anna cannot telephone from home about the alterations and she can't get it delivered.

If she's unlucky, some envious neighbor may mention it to the Communist police and get her into trouble.

Otto Mayer, who lives in West

Berlin, can go to a soccer match in the Communist sector if he likes. But to buy a sausage and a glass of beer during the game, he has to show his identity card and pay in Western marks.

If he grumbles too much about this he may find a green-uniformed "people's policeman" tapping him on the shoulder.

He won't be able to read about the game when he gets home. West Berlin papers don't print East German sports news, and East Berlin papers are not generally permitted in West Berlin.

To cross through Berlin's little Iron Curtain is easy. When you travel by subway or elevated, you hardly know where the line is. If you walk, the Communist police may not even check you.

None of this means that the Communists like the easy crossing from east to west in Berlin. On the contrary, their annoyance over it is one of the main reasons they started the current crisis over the city. They realize they cannot prevent free movement within the town.

Berlin is a big, sprawling town—more a collection of villages than a city. It has dozens of village churches within its borders. It wanders across swamps, woods, rivers, canals and lakes—the playgrounds of its 3½ million inhabitants.

Some skyscrapers have been built in West Berlin since World War II, but mostly it is a city of six and seven-story houses. Streets are generally broad, with many green squares and small parks.

Berliners love greenery. Scattered throughout the city are big groups of tiny allotment gardens totaling many acres.

The outlying sections are rural. The Communists even have a few collective farms within suburban Berlin.

This relaxed atmosphere seems to extend beyond the city line. At many points the frontier looks abandoned and unguarded.

Things aren't what they seem, though. Cross over a few yards and a grim, well-armed Communist patrol will appear and ask for your papers. In summer, West Berliners are arrested almost every day after crossing the line in wooded areas, where it is not clearly marked.

To Remain

Dr. Logan Wilson will remain at the University of Texas with the title of chancellor effective Sept. 1. The announcement of the change was made at the Board of Regents meeting in Galveston. Dr. Harry Ransom will become president of the main unit on the same date.

Students Protest Compulsory ROTC

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—An estimated 300 Lehigh University students, mostly freshmen and sophomores, Monday night staged their third demonstration in less than 24 hours against compulsory reserve officers training.

The students, some shouting "We hate ROTC," marched off the campus to the homes of President Martin Whitaker and Dean J. D. Leith.

The group also began circulating a petition urging the disbandment of compulsory Air Force and Army ROTC for freshmen and sophomores and reorganization of the program on a voluntary basis.

Asked for comment a university spokesman said he saw no need for a statement.

Forgotten Yank Sits In Red Prison

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young American is languishing in a Communist Czech prison after 11 years—and he seems to be a forgotten man.

Apparently he has no relatives in the United States, no community claims him, and nobody but the State Department seems concerned about his fate.

"So far as American public opinion is concerned, Jaromir Zastera might remain in prison for the rest of his term," a U.S. official commented.

This would mean another seven years. Zastera, arrested in September 1949, was tried, convicted and sentenced to 18 years in prison April 18, 1950. He was 19 years old.

Though born in Czechoslovakia, Zastera is acknowledged to be an American citizen. Nobody questions that—not even the Czech Communists. He was referred to as an American in the brief newspaper reports about his trial, and the Czech Foreign Ministry is granting him, though reluctantly, the "privilege" of seeing the U.S. consul in Prague from time to time.

Jaromir Zastera's father John, a naturalized American citizen, went back to his native Czechoslovakia in the late 1920s. Jaromir was born there in 1930. The boy was 10 when his father died.

Jaromir and his mother were living in Pribran, south of Prague, when the youth was arrested. His only "crime," so far as known, was that a piece of uranium ore from the top-secret Czech uranium mines was found in his apartment.

The young man was tried with 15 others, described by the Communist press as the Berida group. This group was named after Jan Berida, the No. 1 defendant and a former Defense Ministry official. Sentences ranged from two years in prison to death. The American got 18 years.

Zastera was held incommunicdo for almost four years. Though the U.S. Embassy in Prague immediately made representations, that Vice Consul Christopher Squire could visit him.

Similar visits were granted in the following two years, always in September. Vice Consul Harry Barnes visited the prisoner in 1954, and Consul Albert Sherer Jr. in 1955.

The latter brought Zastera some books—and a Bible he specially asked for. All the visits were strictly in accordance with prison regulations. A Communist interpreter assigned by the Czech Foreign Ministry was present and so were prison officials.

Sherer had to leave the books with the prison guard. Six months later they were returned to the embassy with the remark "the books were unfit for the prisoner. The Bible was returned, too."

During the following three years no American official had access to Zastera. The embassy's requests to see him were refused.

The State Department argued the consul had the right to see the imprisoned American. The Czechs said that to receive visitors was a privilege, not a right.

Anniversary Sees More Race Bars Fall

By The Associated Press

The ordering of desegregated classes in New Orleans schools highlighted today's sixth anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in the nation's public schools.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright directed public schools in the Louisiana city to desegregate next September.

The judge had advised the Orleans Parish School Board to submit a desegregation plan "or I'll have one for you."

Gerald Rault, school board attorney, told the court Monday the board had not prepared a plan because it believed "that it does not have the right to do so" under state law.

The judge then issued his order. In Atlanta, Negro student leaders were uncertain whether to go ahead with plans for an integration sympathy march on the Georgia Capitol in the face of a stern warning by Gov. Ernest Vandiver. The governor said he would not tolerate "demonstrations which might incite violence and riots."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, issued a statement in New York in connection with the anniversary of the Supreme Court ruling.

He said that six years after that decision only 6 of every 100 Negro children in South and border states attend integrated classes.

Another Negro integration leader, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., protested his being placed on trial in a segregated courtroom in Montgomery, Ala., would violate his constitutional rights.

That action and other pre-trial motions led to postponement until Wednesday of the minister's arraignment on charges of filing false state income tax returns.

Twenty-four Negro students—four of them girls—were arrested during a sitdown at a lunch counter for white persons at the S.H. Kress & Co. store in Chattanooga, Tenn.

In Detroit, the S. S. Kresge Co. said its policy is not to file complaints against sit-in demonstrators at its variety store lunch counters in the South. The company said it is obeying laws and customs in Southern cities where integration is prohibited.

Gerald Craig, dispatcher for the Texas Department of Corrections, said the boys were placed in the city-county jail on orders of Sam Houston Dean W. T. Creager. No charges were filed against them.

Craig said the dean ordered the boys placed in jail because they refused to obey his orders as an estimated 100 students went from dormitory to dormitory in what looked like the start of a panty raid.

The officer said none of the boys entered the dormitories. There was no violence and no property damage, he said.

Craig said it was just a usual spring weather prank by the college students.

Integration is prohibited.

Even His Friends Don't Really Know Powers, The Spy-Pilot

BY JAMES DEVLIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

A man the public never heard of two weeks ago was a key figure at the angry summit conference though he wasn't there.

Now the name of Francis Gary Powers, the U2 spy plane pilot, is known the world over.

Craig said the dean ordered the boys placed in jail because they refused to obey his orders as an estimated 100 students went from dormitory to dormitory in what looked like the start of a panty raid.

The officer said none of the boys entered the dormitories. There was no violence and no property damage, he said.

Craig said it was just a usual spring weather prank by the college students.

personality they just ponder and shake their heads:

"Francis was a quiet sort of boy, the kind you enjoyed talking to, never any trouble," commented John C. Mead, his high school principal in Grundy, Va.

"He just wasn't particularly outstanding."

The most a flight instructor could remember about him was that Powers once got lost on a night training flight—but that had happened to many pilots.

Powers ranked 22nd scholastically among the 69 seniors of his high school class. He played football, as a guard. He also was a member of a fire-fighting patrol. He also once was a lifeguard.

Powers spent four years in a pre-medical course in Milligan College, Johnson City, Tenn., and completed a B minus average. He again finished 22nd in his class, this time among 59 seniors.

But the unobtrusive Powers had one passion—flying.

He took his first flight at the age of 14 as a passenger paying a $2.50 fee to a woman pilot who was making short joy-riding hops from an airport at Princeton, W.Va.

His report on the flight to his father, Oliver W. Powers, a cobbler shop proprietor and former coal miner, has been described variously.

One report has the quiet youth exclaiming lyrically: "I left my heart up there, pap, and I'm going back to get it."

Another version has him saying more matter-of-factly: "Daddy, I like it up there. It does something to you. It gives you something. Someday I'll have to go back up there and find out what it is."

On graduating from Milligan in 1950, the year the Korean War broke out, he enlisted in the Air Force as a private. He advanced to second lieutenant as a jet fighter pilot. But he never saw action in Korea.

Powers resigned from the Air Force in 1956.

A short time later, personnel officials of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. were making a routine check of former Air Force pilots and looked over Powers' apparently uneventful record.

They were impressed by something—or everything—that they saw. They sent a routine questionnaire to him. He responded and was hired in May 1956, as one of 17 pilots in the company's U2 program.

There followed four more years of obscurity before his name showed in headlines.

Powers was assigned to a group that was to operate planes, ostensibly for weather research, and was sent to Adana, Turkey in August 1956.

With him went his wife, the former Barbara Moore, 24, of Albany, Ga. He made repeated flights. Then, last April 30, he remarked casually that he was flying again the next day. He asked his wife to help pack his bag.

The next day he was captured near Sverdlovsk, deep in the Soviet Union—shot down on a spy mission, the Soviets said.

College Sass Spells Jail

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Four students at Sam Houston State Teachers College spent Monday night in jail after they refused to obey orders from their dean during a demonstration outside girls' dormitories.

Gerald Craig, dispatcher for the Texas Department of Corrections, said the boys were placed in the city-county jail on orders of Sam Houston Dean W. T. Creager. No charges were filed against them.

Craig said the dean ordered the boys placed in jail because they refused to obey his orders as an estimated 100 students went from dormitory to dormitory in what looked like the start of a panty raid.

The officer said none of the boys entered the dormitories. There was no violence and no property damage, he said.

Summit May Have Effect On Races

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prospects heightened today that Democratic and Republican presidential nominees will be campaigning this fall during a cold war grown even more frigid.

The expected collapse of the summit conference seemed likely to force some extensive revisions in political plans by both parties. Although they had expected few concrete results at Paris, politicians generally had looked forward to campaigning in an era of relaxed tensions. The emphasis as they saw it would be on each nominee's qualifications to lead the world toward a brightening peace.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's wrecking tactics seem to have eliminated that prospect. If he pursues this course, the opposing candidates instead may find themselves debating which is more capable of modernizing and strengthening the nation's defenses and which can stand up to Khrushchev best.

Politicians naturally disagree on how the hard line currently adopted by Moscow would affect the outcome of the presidential contest.

Democrats think that the withdrawal of the invitation for President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union will damage the efforts of the Republicans to present themselves to the voters as the party of peace.

While Eisenhower can't run again, the Democrats privately have feared that he might generate such enthusiasm at home by a triumphal tour of the Soviet Union that the effects would carry over into the general election campaign.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon quite obviously had hoped that some summit conference agreements would be reached that would merit calling the Paris meeting a success. He had hoped Eisenhower would enhance the administration's position further by his now canceled Moscow visit.

Now he may be forced on the defensive by attacks on the administration's part in what the general public may well view as the fiasco of Paris.

Some Democrats already are suggesting that the administration was not properly prepared for Khrushchev's onslaught. Others have questioned the timing of the spy plane flight.

Some have wanted to know why Eisenhower waited until Khrushchev's explosion to let it be known publicly that there would be no more such flights—particularly after both he and Nixon had defended them as necessary.

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the Democratic nominee, said Monday Khrushchev "could hardly ignore these threats to continue to violate Soviet airspace and preserve his leadership at home."

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said in a statement that the spy plane incident "was extremely unfortunate." But he contended that Khrushchev exhibited "almost contemptuous indifference" to Eisenhower because the Soviet leader believes his country is more powerful militarily than the United States.

Modern Art, Janitor Style

VISALIA, Calif. (AP)—A fantastically snipped piece of sheet metal labeled "petrifid cat—$350" won a ribbon of merit at the annual sidewalk exhibit of the Tulare County Art League.

Nothing out of the ordinary about that: Well, there wasn't, until it was spied by Murrell Twibell, court house superintendent of buildings and grounds.

"Twibell thought he'd seen that hunk of sheet iron somewhere before.

He had. It was a piece of an old locker door from which his janitors frequently had snipped pieces to make sundry repairs. It looked something like the silhouette of a cat, so the janitors painted it black, labelled it and put it into the show.

The judges said the janitors were better artists than spellers. "petrifid" was supposed to mean "petrified."

Latest figures gave Alaniz 32,363 and Seeligson 32,271.

Reynolds Wins Divorce Suit

DARIEN, Ga. (AP)—Multimillionaire R.J. Reynolds won a divorce from his third wife by a jury verdict that gave her alimony of $12,500 a year. She had asked $200,000 annually.

Reynolds, heir to a tobacco fortune, also was granted a permanent injunction preventing the former Muriel Marston of Toronto from trespassing on his 12-mile-long Sapelo Island estate or from disturbing him there. Her attorneys filed a motion for a new trial.

The verdict in the two-week trial was returned Monday night. It provided monthly payments of $1,042 for a period of 24 years starting June 1.

Reynolds, 54, former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee and former mayor of Winston-Salem, N.C., is described as desperately ill from a lung ailment.

Mrs. Reynolds appeared surprised at the verdict.

"Oh, how terrible," she said. "He has no grounds whatever. His attack on me is the most scandalous thing of my experience."

Aaron Kravitch, chief of the tobacco heir's legal staff, said the verdict meant that Mrs. Reynolds left the court $300,000 poorer than when she came in.

A pre-nuptial agreement that gave Mrs. Reynolds $15,000 a year was waived by her attorneys in pressing her claim for $200,000 a year or a six-million-dollar settlement. Insurance policies on Reynolds with a cash surrender value of $210,000, naming her as a beneficiary, were impounded by the court.

Reynolds and his wife separated last August after seven years of marriage. Reynolds charged his wife with constant nagging, cruel treatment and extravagance.

Mrs. Reynolds countered that her husband was an alcoholic.

Prisoner Injured In Escape Attempt

ODESSA (AP)—An Ector County prisoner was severely cut Monday when he stumbled through a plate glass door in a futile attempt to escape.

He is Kenneth Jones, 27, a former Colorado convict held here on charges of burglary. As he and two other prisoners were being led to the courthouse to have their trials set Jones bolted and stumbled as he reached the glass door. He was recaptured a half block away.

Squabbling House Probers Call Back Witness On Gas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Squabbling House investigators called back Federal Power Commissioner Frederick Stueck today for an account of his private conversations with gas industry representatives.

Controversies over a record of those talks compiled by Robert W. Lishman, counsel of the House subcommittee digging into FPC's affairs, interrupted Stueck's testimony Monday.

The delay probably put off until Wednesday the appearance of Washington lawyer Thomas G. Corcoran, whose off-the-record chats with FPC members in behalf of gas company clients brought on the hearings.

Rep. Steven B. Derouanian (R-NY) ruffled Lishman's temper by saying the subcommittee attorney had "glossed over" a card file of names collected by Commissioner William R. Connoles. Derouanian said the list included a number of industry spokesmen and questioned laudatory references to Connoles as a champion of gas consumers.

Connoles, whom President Eisenhower has refused to reappoint to a new term, said he was proud to be described as a friend of the consumer. He also said he was never influenced by any outside contacts.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) said nothing had been glossed over. Lishman later cut short Stueck when the commissioner hesitated over an entry in a staff-prepared summary of his office appointments. Derouanian at that point blocked a move to place the summary in the subcommittee record.

Physician Dies

DENTON (AP)—Dr. Jessie Louise Herrick, 65, physician at Texas Woman's University from 1918 until her retirement in 1939, died Monday.

China Reds, Stalin Folk Corner Niki

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
PARIS (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev's performance at the summit meeting that failed to get off the ground indicates he is engaged in a struggle to maintain his claim to lead world communism.

Because of that, a new cold war freeze may be in prospect, comparable even to the dangerous 1948 Stalin days of the Berlin blockade.

Unless he got an apology from the President of the United States, Khrushchev insisted, he could not negotiate with the U.S. President. This, he added in an aside, was a matter involving the internal politics of the Soviet Union.

The implication is that Khrushchev is engaged in a three-sided struggle with (1) the Stalinists, (2) the military and (3) the Chinese Communists, who have been nagging him for what appear to them to be reckless adventures in peace making.

Khrushchev, destroyer of the image of Stalin as a demigod, seems to have bowed to the Stalinists.

The Soviet chieftain has been required to kick overboard all he has built with great care over the past three years. Apparently, in the Stalinist and Red Chinese view, his peace gestures went much too far and threatened communism as a constantly moving, dynamic force.

Khrushchev for years has been fascinated by the idea of a Soviet Union so powerful and so economically prosperous that it could turn the world toward communism without exporting revolution or supporting it by overt force.

This has been costly to Communists in various areas. In the Arab nation of Iraq, for example, Communists felt strong enough months ago to make a grab for the whole country. They lacked only the assurance of Moscow's support. Khrushchev not only withheld it, he advised them against moving.

In other backward, formerly colonial countries, where communism places its best hopes for expansion, what looked like fairly cheap victories were sacrificed to Khrushchev's long-range peace offensive. He did not disavow the world revolution, but he did not want it to be either expensive or dangerous to the Soviet Union.

In quest of his sort of peace—one in which the Soviet Union, after bringing about a degree of nuclear and other disarmament, would still be in a position to dictate terms to the rest of the world—Khrushchev also pared the strength of the Soviet army and ran into opposition there. This has increased the domestic pressure, apparently, on the Soviet leader. It is noticeable, Western experts say, in the ranks of the officers particularly. About 250,000 of them are marked for demobilization. Many are slated to move from the comfortable, caste-system life of the Soviet officer-class to jobs in still dreary farm or industrial areas.

The fuss Khrushchev raised about the American intelligence plane was far out of proportion to its importance unless he really was anxious to blow up the summit meeting.

Khrushchev, in a sense, may himself have been the object of an ultimatum. That is, he could carry on his peace campaign in the West only if he could come home with an apology from President Eisenhower and a promise never to use aerial intelligence near the Soviet Union again.

He may have won a round in his struggle at home if he can demonstrate that he put Eisenhower in his place, at least to the extent that the President suspended plans for future U.S. flights over Soviet territory.

But Khrushchev has suffered a severe reverse on the world stage.

Winners Of Peace Prizes May Meet

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Rev. Dominique Georges Pire, O.P., 1958 winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, advocates a meeting of Nobel and Lenin peace award recipients to promote world understanding.

Father Pire, a Belgian Dominican priest, was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by St. Louis University Sunday.

The 50-year-old priest said a meeting of Nobel and Lenin prize-winners would help destroy prejudice and promote understanding.

He said, "two things are necessary if world peace is to be achieved. First, it's necessary to arrive at a really common language in which words will always mean the same thing. Secondly, we must adopt common principals, including at least reciprocal sincerity, mutual confidence and the absence of egotism."

36 Schools Entered In National Meet

For the first time in history, Big Spring has been selected as host city for the national junior college track and field meet and 36 schools from 11 different states have indicated participation in this year's version of the two-day carnival.

Hutchinson, Kan., has been the host city for the past five years and since the five-year pact is customary, Big Spring is in line for the host's role four more years should the meet prove successful this weekend.

The cinder show is being sponsored by the Howard County Junior College and the American Business Club of Big Spring. Preliminaries to the meet will commence Friday, May 20, at 7 p.m. and semi-finals will be staged Saturday morning.

Finals will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 21. Memorial Stadium will be the site for the entire running of the meet.

Hardin-Simmons University will be represented at the attraction by the Cowboy band which will play at both evening performances. All coaches and sports writers covering the meet will be guests at a banquet Thursday, May 19, at 7 p.m. in the Webb AFB officers' club.

Joe Bailey Cheaney will be the official starter and Tarleton coach, Oscar Frazier will be the meet referee.

Among the latest colleges to file notices of entry were Boise, Idaho; Mesa College, Grand Junction, Colo.; and Northeastern Oklahoma J.C.

Coached by Gary Bonar, Boise has two boys. They are Lyle Smith, discus thrower and high jumper; and Curtis Fisher, sprinter and quarter-miler.

Mesa is bringing in three boys. It is coached by J. C. Davis. The Northeastern Oklahoma coach is Bob LaRue and he will be accompanied by one boy.

Other schools entered in the meet, besides HCJC, include Amarillo College; Lubbock Christian; Coffeyville, Kan.; Bacone Junior College, Muskogee, Okla.; Blinn College, Brenham; Okanite, Kan.; Flint, Michigan; Garden City, Kan.; and Hutchinson, Kan.

Also Cisco Junior College; Lamar, Colo.; McCook Junior College, Nebraska; New Mexico Military College, Roswell, N. M.; New York City Community College; and Northern Oklahoma Junior College, Tonkawa, Okla.

Also Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma City; Paris Junior College, Phoenix; Pratt, Kansas; Ricks Junior College, Rexburg, Idaho; San Antonio College; and Schreiner Institute, Kerrville.

Also Victoria Junior College; Odessa Junior College; Spring, Mich.; College of Southern Utah, Cedar City, Utah; Dodge City, Kan.; Tarleton State College, Stephenville; San Angelo College; and Scottsbluff, Neb.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: JIM OWENS, on pitching for the Philadelphia Phillies: "You just gotta go like hell all the way."

Singer POLLY BERGEN, after being invited by the Knoxville baseball club to help open the Southern Association season: "I'll do anything, sweep off home plate or sell hot dogs, but I can't sing the national anthem. I can't do a thing about it when it gets to that part about 'the rockets' red glare.'"

BOB FRIEND, Pittsburgh pitcher: "Those 19 losses last season taught me a lesson. The winter banquet circuit in 1958 ruined me. I couldn't reduce during spring training. This past winter I lost 15 pounds and reported at 190."

ART DEVLIN, three times an Olympic ski jumper: "Male figure skaters are nothing but ballet artists and not athletes. They have to have their private instructors along and their mothers to blow their noses."

FRESCO THOMPSON, Los Angeles Dodger executive: "If I had a son 15 years old, I'd either get him a union card or a catcher's mitt."

BOBBY BRAGAN, who took a coaching job in the big leagues this spring: "Why did I ignore my own vow that I would never again coach, that I would either manage or quit? It was the major league pension plan. If I stick out this thing a total of 20 years, I'll have a pension of $550 a month for the rest of my life, beginning at 65. If I only go another year or two, I can collect $300. Do you realize what an annuity like this would cost me from an insurance company?"

SATCHEL PAIGE, famed Negro hurler: "The way to stay young is to go very lightly on the vices, such as carrying on in society. The social rambles ain't restful."

TONY PENNA, veteran golfer: "When you're young, you don't worry about the other guy. Just like Rocky Marciano. That's what made him a great fighter. He didn't worry about anything, just went in and outpunched the other guy. When you get older, you start worrying about the other fellow. You don't like to take chances. Twenty years ago, I used to drive a car 100 miles an hour. But I don't do it now, and I get a better car."

DON JANUARY, comparative newcomer to golf: "Never play too cautious when you've got a golf stick in your hand. I've lost lots of tournaments when I had my golf three down and five to go. Then, you start trying to play the hole. And that's no good. That's what I don't like about match play."

The late KNUTE ROCKNE, Notre Dame football coach, in a speech to his football players: "There's been a lot of objections to spring football. And I object to it myself, because I can see where it would interfere with your necking and drinking. But your folks have written in and want you to play pretty much in the afternoon, so in the evenings you'll be tired enough to stay home and study."

PEANUTS LOWREY, former big league infielder: "Talk about flop hitters. I played with a guy once when five fielders chased his fly ball."

FRANK HOWARD, Clemson coach, addressing a group of alumni: "In my opinion, we are now in the big leagues. Clemson is just getting to the point when I want to see us. On the day we beat TCU in the Bluebonnet Bowl, we compared favorably with any team in the land. Now, I don't want you alumni to get as much pride as I got. Let me do all the bragging. You'll be supposed to expect the worst. I lined up a pretty good schedule for 1963—Georgia Tech, Oklahoma, Georgia, North Carolina and Duke. Now as athletic director I made that schedule and I expect to be around to coach 'em through it. I didn't make it to bring in another coach. . . . We brought in some good sturdy boys from Pennsylvania, whose dad-dies work in the coal mines. I haven't learned to pronounce their names. One of our assistants said he sneezed the other day and five of them answered."

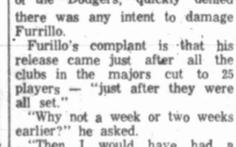

Furillo Enraged Over Pink Slip

By CHARLES MAHER LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carl Furillo, told to take a walk when he could no longer run, charges that his ball club betrayed him more than his aging legs.

"I think this is one of the loudest things they could have done," he says. "They just didn't have to do it that way."

He has been with the Dodgers 14 years.

The 35-year-old Los Angeles outfielder—renowned as the leading rifle in the days when his right arm was a deadly delight for Brooklyn—told The Associated Press it was not his release that really disturbed him. It was the time at which it came—the time he said made it impossible for him to get a job with another club.

Buzzie Bavasi, general manager of the Dodgers, generally denied there was any intent to damage Furillo.

Furillo's complaint is that his release came just after all the clubs in the majors cut to 25 players— "just after they were all set."

"Why not a week or two weeks earlier?" he asked.

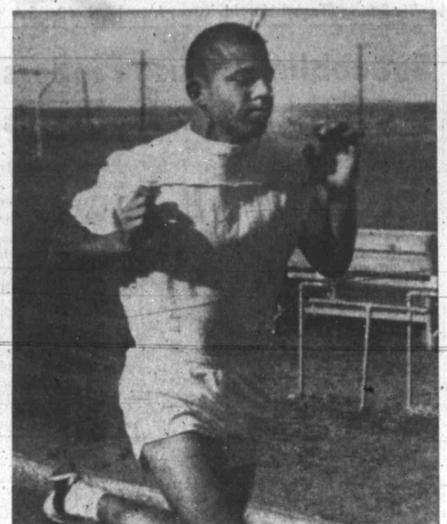

"Then I would have had a chance to do something. Everybody's set now, and I'm a dead duck."

"Maybe they didn't want me to hook up with some other ball club and come back for revenge."

Bavasi, apprised of Furillo's remarks, said: "He can have his release now and go with any ball club he wants to."

R. L. LASATER Turns 100 Yards In 9.3

R. L. Lasater Ties World Record In 100-Yard Dash

By TOMMY HART Observers who covered the annual Junior Olympics track and field meet at Garland last weekend are still marveling at the 9.3 hundred yard dash Big Spring's R. L. Lasater turned in.

The feat tied the world record at the distance. The 17-year-old junior did it with the aid of a wind clocked at 12 miles per hour, almost three times that allowed in recognizing records.

The time broke all records in the state AAU, which sanctioned Saturday's meet.

Lasater, crowned state High School AAAA champion in both the 100 and 200 earlier this year, also turned in a 20.8 clocking in the 220, a senior division meet record.

The fleet junior said he anticipated the starter and got an excellent start for a change.

Arlington Heights of Fort Worth, with 40 points, won the senior division championship while Henderson was second, with 25.

Grand Prairie, with 23 points, took the intermediate division crown while Arlington Heights was runnerup, with 16.

Lasater worked hard to improve his starting techniques the week prior to the state meet. He wore Elmer's Handicaps, manufactured locally, to strengthen a leg that has been injured.

In addition, he changed his start slightly through use of the Kick Gauge. In the words of his coach, Curtis Kelley, he "has always been a 9.3 finisher." Now that he has improved his start, there's no telling how fast he can run.

Lasater ran on his own in the meet. Kelley had planned to go but couldn't make the trip.

Thursday Last Day Golfers Can Enter Publinks Play

Thursday is the absolute deadline for entry into the Sectional Qualifying round for the National Public Links Golf tournament, tournament director John Pipes has announced.

The reward is big for the winner. The low shooter in the 36 holes of play gets an expenses-paid trip to the National tournament, which will be played in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Section Round takes place at the Midland Country Club Monday, June 6.

Pipes said 18 players had entered the meet up to Monday evening. All but one of those registered in Big Spring. The lone exception was Gordon (Moe) Madison, former Big Spring and now of Odessa.

Entry fee is a modest $5. Last year, 35 took part in the play. Three Big Spring players won the right to play in the Nationals at that time.

Most of the money which will be used to send the low qualifier to Honolulu will be raised through donations.

Those interested in playing can call Pipes by dialing AM 4-5866.

Sabres Decision Daggers, 6 To 1

Donnie Wiggins and Charles Richards combined to pitch the Sabres to a 6-1 victory over the Daggers in International Little League play here Monday night.

Wiggins was the winner. Together, they parceled out six hits to the Daggers, two more than their mates were able to get off two Dagger pitchers.

The Sabres are now 4-3 in the standings while the Daggers are 3-4.

Tonight, the Comets (3-3) oppose the T-Birds (4-2).

Don Jordan Is Shaded; Sugar Ray In Trouble

By GEORGE BOWEN BALTIMORE (AP) — Welterweight champion Don Jordan got a bloody nose and his second straight no-title licking by insisting on fighting in Baltimore Monday night, Sugar Ray Robinson is in hot water today for not doing any fighting at all.

Jordan was "outboxed and outpunched" by Candy McFarland in a non-title 10-rounder while Robinson—officials say—didn't even tell any one he wasn't going to show up for his scheduled 10-round co-feature with Pedro Gonzales at Rankin, Pa.

The Maryland Athletic Commission ordered Robinson and his manager, George Gainford, to appear for a hearing Thursday.

Jordan's next boxing date is May 27 in Las Vegas against Benny (Kid) Paret. His title will be on the line.

Jordan felt his fight with McFarland was close enough that he could have lost but not unanimously by. On a five-point for the round winner basis, referee Eddie Leonard scored it for McFarland 47 and the two judges 46-45.

"I'd like to fight him again and for the title," said McFarland, a 20-year-old Philadelphia winning his 17th fight out of 24. "I knew I had, him licked in the third round."

McFarland, who weighed a half pound less than Jordan's 149, drew blood from the champ's nose in the eighth round and almost knocked him down with a right in the next.

Jordan had insisted on going ahead with the fight even though the National Boxing Association and the Las Vegas promoters protested it was too soon before the title match.

The fights in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium originally were scheduled for Saturday night and postponed because of rain.

DEAR ABBY

FORCE OF HABIT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful man and have a happy marriage, with the exception of one thing. My husband's first wife is dead and he has the habit of referring to her as "my wife."

DEAR WIFE: Don't sit there and stew. When he refers to his deceased wife as "my wife," remind him ever so gently that YOU are his wife. You shouldn't have to do this any more than 20 or 30 times before he changes the need.

DEAR ABBY: As funeral directors we had the sad duty of caring for a beautiful little 16-month-old girl this week. She had swallowed dishwashing detergent. The ordinary powder type used in automatic dishwashers. After treating the child for two days, the doctors lost the battle to save her life.

The alarming fact about all this is that the doctor checked the supermarkets personally and found seven such powders on display. Only one carried a warning to the user and none suggested an antidote.

You have millions of readers, Abby. Won't you warn mothers to keep detergents out of their children's reach? If printed, this could save many tears. The kind I saw this morning. Thank you.

MRS. W. S.

DEAR ABBY: Our mother is tops but she has one bad habit. She enters every contest that comes along.

About two years ago she bought so much soap (she needed the wrappers) that we are still using it. (Nobody likes it.) Another time we had noodles in all our meals for about six months straight because she needed the noodle box tops. We never have what we like to eat any more, just the stuff that comes in the cans and boxes that are running some kind of a contest. So far she hasn't won a thing. How can we stop her?

DEAR VICTIMS: Suffer in silence. Mothers have been known to have worse hobbies. If she ever gets lucky, who do you think will cash in? You, of course.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who is 15 years old. Everyone makes cracks about my being fat, but my mother says I am just right. I am five feet four. How much should I weigh to be "just right?"

FAT OR NOT DEAR FAT OR NOT: You should weigh about 117 pounds.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of The Big Spring Herald. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of The Herald.

Daniel Presents Texas Tax Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel Monday handed his special tax study group five plans he says will solve Texas' money troubles.

The 34-man commission, mostly business and industrial leaders, recessed until June without comment or action on Daniel's estimated need of $125,054,042 in new taxes.

Daniel and his aides gave the State Finance Advisory Commission a four-hour cram course in the state's revenue shortcomings and prospects along with current and expected spending needs. A lunch at the mansion was the only break.

Commission members left with arm loads of charts, graphs, statistics and Daniel's demands on the Legislature during his first two terms.

The governor's suggestions for future legislation were built mostly around money demands unanswered by the 55th and 56th legislatures.

He repeated again and again his opposition to a general sales tax or income tax.

NEW TAXES "Your studies of our projected needs and projected income for the rest of this decade may reveal the need for bringing in new faces on a broader base of taxation, but I strongly recommend that this be considered and recommended only if and when the absolute necessity presents itself, or when you deem it necessary for a fair and equitable distribution of the total tax burden," said Daniel.

Daniel revealed his tax recommendations after State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert estimated the deficit at the end of the 1961-63 biennium as $68,800,708—in- stead of a surplus of $1,267,673 as Calvert estimated a year ago. Calvert said oil tax income is down an unexpected $33,300,000, another $14,400,000 is tied up in court action over gas pipeline taxes, cigarette tax collections are down $7,900,000, plus other decreases in estimated revenue.

The governor said present taxes will produce only $65,700,000 in the 1961-63 biennium while to continue present state operations alone will cost $83,124,576. To continue present services with recommended improvements would cost $190,754,042 for the two years.

Daniel estimated it would take $125,054,042 in new taxes to finance present state governmental operations with needed improvements through 1961-63.

The improvements listed included the first step of the Halcin school study, recommendations with $400 teacher salary in- creases, salary increases for college teachers, and matching state money for medical aid to welfare recipients.

Daniel's revenue raising projects included: Separate consideration of the $68,800,708 deficit with $9 million dollars of it to be erased by making franchise taxes apply to interstate operations, enactment of an abandoned property bill and a one year increase in the state franchise tax. Additional changes in present laws, to be detailed later, will handle the rest.

Daniel's No. 1 tax plan includes, in addition to the $25,140,000, an estimated $12,700,000 a year, by increasing the natural gas pipe- line (severance beneficiary) tax from 1 1/2 to 3 per cent; $6,300,000 by raising the various utilities gross receipts tax rates to a uni- tax from 1.5 to 2 per cent and increasing the motor vehicle sales form 2.3 per cent; $9,800,000 by $7,800,000 by increasing the liquor tax from $1.60 a gallon to $2.50.

This plan would bring in $61,700,000.

The No. 2 plan also includes an increase of 10 per cent on all items in the omnibus tax bill, ex- cept cigarettes, tobacco and fran- chise taxes. He estimated this at $3-million dollars a year.

The No. 3 plan also calls for a tax of one per cent per million cubic feet on processing of natu- ral gas. It would yield 47 million.

The No. 4 plan has a gas pipe- line tax of three per cent of the gross receipts of gas pipeline com- panies with special provisions for interstate sales. He estimated yield at 33 million dollars.

The No. 5 plan has a one cent increase in the present five cents a gallon state gasoline tax when the federal one cent tax increase expires.

Violent Storm Hits Electra

By The Associated Press

A violent rain and hail storm lashed the Electra area Monday night, flooding streets, destroying crops and closing highways.

The storm, accompanied by lightning and heavy hail, lasted more than two hours. Four inches of rain fell on the little North Tex- as city.

Dozens of cars stalled in high water on state highways and in the streets of the city. State High- way 25 north to Haydenville, Tex., and U.S. 287 west to Vernon were blocked by water for many hours but by early morning all roads were open. Damage to buildings was light and there were no in- juries reported.

A rancher east of Electra, Wen- dell Douglas, told police he saw "mattresses and everything else" floating down a creek that runs through his ranch.

More than 4 inches of rain fell 8 to 10 miles northeast of Electra and wheat and fruit crops, dam- aged by previous hailstorms this month, were reported wiped out.

Wichita Falls had a thunder- storm Monday but the rest of the state enjoyed summer-like weather. Temperatures climbed to 100 at Presidio.

A weak stationary front extend- ed from near Wichita Falls to Lubbock early Tuesday. Tempera- tures north of the front were in the middle to upper 50s while south of the front in West and North Texas readings were in the upper 60s. In south portions of South Texas the temperature climbed to the middle 70s.

The lowest temperature early in the day was 53 at Dallas and the highest 78 at Laredo. No rain was reported.

Addison Indicted On Fraud Charges By Ft. Worth Jury

FORT WORTH (AP)—Uranium promoter John Milton Addison was indicted by a federal grand jury Monday on charges alleging fraud, conspiracy and violations of federal securities regulations.

The 24-count indictment named six associates and three of Addison's corporations.

U. S. Attorney W. B. West III, in explaining the lengthy indict- ment, alleged the group had used untrue statements to obtain funds "totaling more than a million dol- lars from several hundred indi- viduals in various parts of the United States."

Addison has claimed he has "borrowed" over $1,250,000 from approximately 400 "creditors" in 44 states.

The indictment alleged Addison sold securities without complian- ce with the registration provisions of the Securities Act.

It charged that he and asso- ciates made false representations about a device Addison claims will upgrade low-grade uranium ore.

The indictment said other alleged false statements uttered by Addison and Co. to sell securi- ties were: That Addison owns valuable timber rights in Colora- do; that a large brokerage house had offered to pay $18,000,000 for 49 per cent interest in Addison's business ventures; and that one of the indicted companies, Murchi- son Ventures Inc., was affiliated with Murchison interests of Dal- las.

The six associates cited were Miles White, head of Addison's mining ventures; Robert Olson, right hand," W. B. Groom, a Denver attorney; Agnes Houston Carver of San Antonio; James B. Scoggins of Shreveport, La.; and John R. Metz, who resides in Denver.

Besides the Murchison Ventures company, the Trans-World Mining Corp., and White, Green and Addison Associates Inc., also were in- dicted.

Federal Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson of Dallas, who received the indictment, set bond for Addison at $15,000; for White, Olson and Groom at $10,000; and for Carver, Scoggins and Metz, $5,000.

West said the maximum penalty for each of the 24 counts is five years in prison.

Trial of the 10 defendants will be held in Dallas before Davidson but a date has not been set.

Morse Flings Buying Charge At Kennedy

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An accusation that Sen. John F. Kennedy is "trying to buy the White House" with "unconscionable spending" flung a harsh, one-sided note of acrimony today into Oregon's Democratic presidential primary campaign.

It was injected by Sen. Wayne Morse, who is battling hard to keep his home state Oregon delegation out of Kennedy's hands at the Democratic National Convention.

Kennedy campaigned blandly on, shrugging off all attacks. The political trails of the two senators crossed today at Eugene, Morse's home town. After that, it was back to Portland for evening rallies for each, with Kennedy stopping off en route at Salem, the state capital.

GOP IN THE ACT

Republicans were stirring the Oregon political pot, too. Vice President Richard M. Nixon, unopposed in the Friday election in the Republican preferential primary, was on display Monday night in a filmed television show.

"Today," he said, "the vice president is a man who participates in the making of policy in this country. He represents the nation abroad. He has an opportunity to be the president's right arm."

This year, Nixon predicted, more attention will be paid vice presidential candidates than ever before in history.

Perhaps the Oregon committee for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey listened and looked. It decided to stage a belated campaign for a write-in primary vote for vice president for the man Kennedy knocked out of contention for the presidency in West Virginia.

Morse and Kennedy are the only active candidates in the Oregon Democratic presidential primary, although Humphrey's name still is on the ballot. So are those of Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri, but neither has ventured into the campaign.

HEAVY SPENDING
Over and over, Morse is bearing down on the theme of heavy spending by a rival who is the son of a millionaire. He said Monday night that in Oregon Kennedy is spending hundreds of thousands to his $7,500. Just as often he is complaining that Kennedy is wrecking the Democratic party in Oregon.

But Morse said that if the Democrats make the mistake of nominating Kennedy, "I'll even hold my nose and campaign for him." Kennedy, he said, still would be 10 times better than Nixon—any Democrat would.

Kennedy refused to be drawn into any political slugging match with Morse. The nearest he comes to slashing back at Morse is to keep telling Oregon Democrats not to waste their votes Friday on anyone who isn't a serious candidate and who has no real chance for the nomination.

Bill Sims Gets County Agent's Post In Mertzon

Bill Sims, assistant county farm agent here for the past five years, is leaving this week to take a post as county agent of Irion County. He will be stationed at Mertzon.

Sims came to this county in 1955. He had served briefly as assistant in Tarrant County before taking the assistant's job.

He will be succeeded here by Lovell Kuykendall, who is to receive his degree in animal husbandry at Texas A&M College on Saturday. Kuykendall, a native of San Saba, will report to Big Spring June 6.

Sims' new duties in Irion County begin on May 23. He and his family will move there immediately.

Dumas Man's Appeal Quoted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court voted Monday 5-4 to throw out an appeal by George Lee Parker, 72, who in 1954 was sentenced in a state court at Dumas, Tex., to seven years imprisonment on a forgery conviction.

Parker, with time off for good behavior, completed serving his sentence last June. The Supreme Court majority said the case was now moot—that is, it no longer had a live legal issue.

Chief Justice Warren in a dissenting opinion said that if Parker's five-year search for justice had to end with a finding of mootness, "surely something is badly askew in our system of criminal justice."

Warren said Parker's trial was a sham, with the state's case consisting largely of "a potent mélange of assorted types of inadmissible evidence."

Justices Black, Douglas and Brennan joined in Warren's dissent.

Order For Monday's Alert Came From Gates In Paris

WASHINGTON (AP) — Monday's worldwide alertness test of U. S. armed forces was ordered specially from Paris by Thomas S. Gates, secretary of defense.

Word of Gates' order came from the Pentagon and strengthened belief that the test was linked to the tense atmosphere of the summit talks. Gates is in Paris as President Eisenhower's chief military adviser.

However, Gates' order came several hours before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev collapsed the Big Four meeting by denouncing the American U. S. plane incident and demanding an apology from Eisenhower.

The middle-of-the-night order started a quick check on the availability of key personnel. Many pilots were rushed back to their bases.

The Pentagon said Gates' order was general, leaving it up to the Joint Chiefs of Staff to decide which of several possible maneuvers to follow. It was officially described as a "worldwide communications readiness exercise."

The order was so secret that the Pentagon's top public information officers knew nothing about it when inquiring newsmen routed them out of bed.

The alert message was sent to command posts throughout the world. It left to local commanders how far they wanted to go in calling men to their stations.

Mail Carriers 12 Will Graduate To Take Census Of Livestock At Forsan Friday

Rural mail carriers of Howard County will double as livestock census enumerators starting June 1.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that on that date, the rural mail carriers will begin distributing livestock survey cards to rural families on the routes.

This mid-year livestock survey is the first of three made by the post office and the U. S. Department of Agriculture each year. The June 1 survey provides basic information to the Texas Cattle and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin. From this, the estimate on the 1960 calf crop, the actual number of the spring pig crop and the preview figures on farrowing intentions for fall are assembled.

Poultrymen provide information on chickens raised in the spring. These chickens will be the laying stock for the fall and winter season.

Boatler asked that each patron of the rural routes who receives one of these survey cards fill it out and replace it in his mail box.

The carriers who will work on the project are:

Ervin Daniel, Route 1; Earl C. Evans, Gail Route; Clyde L. Payne, Knot Route; J. E. Kennedy, Garden City Route; and Pat Duncan, Sterling City Route.

Miss Story will give the valedictory address and Miss Fields will present the salutatory address.

Incorrect Forms Can Bring Penalty

Many taxpayers in the Big Spring area subject themselves to a tax penalty by not filing a correct Form W-4 after a change in their exemptions, according to Ben Hawkins, administrative officer of the Big Spring Internal Revenue Service office.

Hawkins points out that the law requires each taxpayer who is an employe to file a correct employe withholding exemption certificate (W-4) within 10 days after the number of exemptions previously claimed decreases. Taxpayers who willfully file false or fraudulent forms subject themselves upon conviction to a $500 fine and one year in jail, or both. Taxpayers may, however, always claim fewer exemptions than allowed in order to fully meet their income tax liabilities or to get a refund.

Dr. Frank W. Wilson, Superintendent of Colorado City Schools, Will Give the Commencement Address

J. T. Holladay, Forsan school superintendent, will present awards and scholarships, and J. D. Gilmore, president of the Forsan Service club, will present the service club awards.

Graduation ceremonies for 14 eighth graders will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday.

Holladay will give certificates to Dena Parker, Betty Conger, Glenda Roberts, Linda Nichols, Jane Howell, Jeanette Strickland, Dean Woodard, Barney Scudday, Harry King, Mack Henderson, Donnie Gooch, Kenneth Sales and Bobby Estes.

Helen Joe Holladay was named highest ranking student. Dena Parker is second ranking student. Awards will be presented by Gilmore and Holladay.

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday night with Dr. R. Gage Loyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Big Spring, giving the baccalaureate address.

 (From The 'Upper Room')

Enforcement Likely The Key

We wonder what would happen to the traffic statistics if this was a totalitarian government and the supreme authority in the land issued a ukase to all auto manufacturers to build into each car, encased in bank-vault steel, a device that would make it impossible for any motor vehicle to travel faster than 50 miles per hour.

Of course nothing of the kind is apt to happen, and it is anybody's guess what effect it would have on traffic mortality and injury rates if it did.

It would be unrealistic to expect the accident rate to drop appreciably, for the simple reason that the slower traffic moves the longer individual vehicles are on the roads, and the greater would be the traffic congestion. The time element would be involved, and the longer an individual vehicle is exposed to normal traffic hazards, the greater would be the risk of getting involved in a smashup of some sort.

Everybody drives too fast as a usual thing, in town and in country. Well, not everybody, but most people. The best remedy for that is strict law enforcement, but our traffic enforcement officers — state, county and city — are too few. They have now increased to the numbers necessary to take care of the increase of motor vehicles, faster speeds, and general traffic congestion.

It is easy — and quite useless — to say that better law observance is the ultimate answer. Human nature is human nature, and a large percentage of otherwise moral and law-abiding people see no particular harm in cutting a corner now and then, or exceeding the speed limit by quite a few m.p.h. It is considered smart to waltz out of a traffic charge, and the attitude toward enforcement officers is hostile, or at best resentful.

The proliferation of highway signs and urban traffic signals probably has not contributed anything worthwhile to traffic safety. The markings on many of our heavily-traveled highways have increased in numbers and variety beyond all reason to the confusion of ordinary travelers and a further burden to taxpayers.

The Not So Tender Trap

In Peiping the People's Daily charges that the United States has committed crimes against China that could not be forgiven. It warned that "every drop of blood the U. S. aggressors owe the Chinese people must be repaid."

In Cuba, Castro dug up new charges against the U. S. and found some words to hurl at the North American Colossus. Press and politico in the Soviet Union kept up a drumfire of U. S. denunciation. We are, it seems, in bad odor almost everywhere. Not in memory have so many voices, from so many directions, been railing at us.

Much of it is coolly calculated to undermine our prestige — on the eve of the Summit Conference in Paris.

These savage attacks will increase in incidence and crescendo. If it fails to start or breaks up, the U. S. will be blamed.

Khrushchev had sought to bring the meeting about for many, many months, for one reason and one reason only — to give him another soap box from which to preach his hate. Regardless of how it comes out — he will use it for fresh lies and calumnies. The honor, the good name, the prestige of the United States will be further blackened and befouled by Communist agitators and their fellow-travelers and apologists.

Marquis Childs

Suspicion Dominates Summit Gathering

PARIS — In the memory of veteran diplomats no international meeting has ever begun under such a shadow as darkens the summit here in Paris where the four heads of government are meeting. The cloud cover of suspicion, fear and uncertainty is well-nigh impenetrable, and if it is broken even slightly by the time the conference ends it will be something of a miracle.

The climbers at the top — President Eisenhower, Premier De Gaulle, Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Macmillan — are all facing in different directions. So far as the American President is concerned, since the U-2 was shot down and the official American position is to uphold the right of penetration by espionage planes, the problem is to determine in which direction Eisenhower actually is looking. The familiar words of goodwill that he utters seem at complete variance with the policy.

SINCE IT IS the plane incident and Khrushchev's exploitation of it that has largely altered the climate on the eve of the conference, it is important to see what this alteration really means. In private it is being widely said here that the diplomatic-negotiating faction in the American government engaged in a long argument with the military-intelligence faction over the degree of risk that could safely be taken in trying to penetrate the barrier of Soviet secrecy.

If the debate were public the military-intelligence faction would surely argue that the mosaic of photographs said to have been put together in four years of espionage flights justifies any risk. The zeal of this faction, including several State Department figures in important positions, knows no limits and it is strongly colored by a conviction of the need to prosecute the cold war without abatement. Their argument has validity as a hard-boiled defense of an ugly necessity in a time of grave danger.

BUT WHAT THEY entirely overlook are the political consequences of their acts, and it is here that the recent events must be weighed in relation to the summit and to America's standing in the world. In the view of this observer the political consequences can be appraised as follows:

(1) The modest hope of agreeing at the summit on a new and limited objective in the disarmament talks, on a nuclear test agreement and perhaps even on an interim status for Berlin has been diminished. Whether hope has been eclipsed entirely we should soon know.

What's Khrushchev Up To?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shock was not only in Premier Nikita Khrushchev's insulting treatment of President Eisenhower at the summit in Paris, but in the way he did it and the question it raised: Why?

He may have exploited the whole episode of the American spy-plane downed over the Soviet Union — the point on which he torpedoed the summit meeting Monday — to prepare the world for some drastic Soviet action coming soon.

One such possible action would be a blockade of Berlin.

Eisenhower himself said after his meeting with Khrushchev broke up that the Soviet leader had come all the way from Moscow to Paris to sabotage the conference.

KHRUSHCHEV MADE three demands on the President: that Eisenhower promise there would be no more American spy flights; that the President apologize for letting the one spy-plane fly over the U.S.S.R.; and that he punish those directly responsible for that flight.

Eisenhower promised — there would be no more spy flights. He ignored the other two demands. He had to, and Khrushchev knew it before he made them, for a couple of very obvious reasons.

The State Department had previously reported the spy flights were being carried out with Eisenhower's general approval. So the President could hardly punish anyone for doing what he wanted done.

But since Khrushchev wanted no summit meeting at all, unless Eisenhower met his demands, why didn't he just stay home in Moscow, lay down his demands, and announce he wouldn't go to Paris at all unless Eisenhower did what he wanted?

Exercising 's Like Work

NEW YORK (AP) — "Get more exercise," the doctors say, "if you want to have plenty of vim and vigor — and live longer."

But this is easier said than done, particularly if you live in a big city.

The bigger the city, the harder it seems to be for most people to get an adequate amount of exercise.

For one thing, exercising is too much like work. If you like to play golf, for example, it's practically a two-day ordeal to drive out to the suburbs and find a course that will let you on.

One can always lift bar bells or do calisthenics in the privacy of the home, but these forms of exercise are too solitary, insipid and uninspiring.

However, if a fellow looks around him and has an inventive nature, he can find a number of ways in the city to keep in trim condition.

Here are a few possibilities: Lie on the floor and have a number of your friends lift the entire edition of a Sunday newspaper and place it on your chest. Grasping the sides of the newspaper firmly with each hand, see how high you can push it up. I know of one man who, after three weeks of effort, was able to muscle up the complete editions of three Sunday newspapers at once. Shortly after that he was operated on for hernia.

On the way to and from work, when the bus driver snarls, "Move to the back of the bus" — take him by his word. Shove your way through the mob. In a month you'll have 3,612 mortal enemies who will hate you on sight. But you'll also have shoulders like a fullback.

Pedestrian roulette. A good way to build up your leg muscles is to try to race back and forth across a one-way street before the green light changes. Before undertaking this one, be sure your accident insurance is paid up.

Let your wife stay home and you go alone to the supermarket late Saturday afternoon to do the weekly grocery buying. This is the ultimate test of rugged manhood in our civilization. By the time you get home, you'll be aching all over. You'll have done three times around this indoor track you'll make Ben Hur and the other chariot drivers of ancient Rome look like kids on scooters.

Exercising in the big city can be a game — if you go at it in the right spirit. With a little ingenuity you can build up a marvelous set of metropolitan muscles.

Borrow six of the neighbor's children, all under 4 years of age, and take them to the zoo. See how many of the children you can keep from crawling into the lion's den at once. This will not only give you plenty of health exercise — the lion will enjoy the game, too.

He already had the United States in one of its worst embarrassments in years because of its fumbling and lying over the plane. So the mildest conclusions which can be drawn from what he did in Paris are these:

1. He wanted to humiliate the United States — which is the chief defender of the West — in the most spectacular way.

2. He wanted to humiliate Eisenhower in a face-to-face meeting — he was really rubbing salt in a wound.

But Khrushchev's whole performance on the plane incident, from start to finish, has been one of rising fury. There's no reason to think all he wants is propaganda and humiliation for America.

He has now pictured the Soviet Union, in the eyes of the world, as a deeply injured party, the victim of aggression.

Thus he has laid the groundwork for some kind of Soviet retaliation which he probably would explain as necessary to protect the Communist world against further American arrogance and aggression. Blocking Berlin is the first prospect that comes to mind.

If it hadn't been for Berlin — meaning Khrushchev's threats to shut it off — there would have been no summit conference at all.

To Your Good Health

Some Mothers Lack Milk For Breast-Feeding

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Dr. Molner: Your column about breast feeding prompts this inquiry — how about young mothers who have insufficient milk?"

"I was able to nurse my first child for only 10 days. Then a supplementary bottle was necessary, and finally I relied entirely upon it as my milk supply diminished."

"The thought occurs to me that perhaps I gave up too soon. But it's difficult to listen to a hungry, crying baby. — V. B."

As is often the case, I cannot give you an absolute, all-inclusive answer. Medicine is not an absolute science. There are so many things we do not yet know, and there are so many variations from one person to another.

that there is some greater difficulty for some women in breast-feeding babies now. I do not know why, but over the years there seems to have been some change in this direction.

I still say, of course, that all mothers who can breast-feed their babies should do so.

After 10 days, however, it can be apparent that a nursing baby is not getting enough milk, and he must then receive supplementary feeding. I do not think you gave up too soon; there is no point in making a wee baby go hungry, and, for whatever reason, you cannot nurse adequately, you should have active glands; some large ones have inactive glands.

As you know, I believe, on the basis of studious evidence, that breast-feeding is best. But bottle-feeding certainly is not bad, and is far preferable to letting a child go hungry.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes brown spots on a person's face?" — L. P."

There are too many kinds of "brown spots" to answer this question without seeing them. If you mean the kind that sometimes come along as we grow older, the only known answer is that the skin pigment (coloring) tends to collect in clusters.

Now to get to your questions. New mothers should remember that in the first three days or so, a baby does not manage to get much milk. The sucking, or nursing, procedure comes naturally to the infant, but a little time is required before this activity results in releasing any substantial amount of milk.

These three things may be worth mentioning: First, lactation (that is, the formation of secretion of milk) does not depend on the size of the breast. Some small breasts have active glands; some large ones have inactive glands.

Afflicted with arthritis? You may find relief if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "Don't Quit Because of Arthritis." To receive your copy, write to me in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Second, difficulty in breast-feeding a first baby does not necessarily mean that a second baby may not be successfully breast-fed.

Third, there are reasons to think

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

You All Know Old Jim

This essay may sound a little bitter. It may be taken amiss by certain acquaintances of mine. I regret this. However, in view of all evidence, I still feel that what I plan to say should be said.

I am thinking of those fellows who happen to be program chairmen for civic clubs or for other public gatherings. And of their supposed responsibility of presenting a program to their audience — which is to say, introducing the speaker, musician or whoever, to the people seated out in front.

THERE ARE SEVERAL kinds of program chairmen. All I am sad to say, are the wrong kind.

There is one kind, for example, who has an aversion to making a speech himself. He suffers from stage fright. He stands nervously before the audience and hurriedly mutters something. No one, not even the speaker whom he is presumably introducing, understands a word he said. He cuts off abruptly and sits down. There is a faint splutter of applause in which one can detect the sense of complete confusion.

The speaker gets to his feet. He is worried and thrown off of balance. He does not know what the chairman said about him. He is doubtful whether he mentioned the subject of the talk.

THERE IS ALSO another type of program chairman, who in my books, is even worse than the type who wants to keep everything a complete and closely guarded secret.

This is the breezy, poised character who fancies himself a humorist and makes the best of his fleeting moment to project himself in that light. He seems to assume, that because he knows the speaker, but not one out of 16 of those in the audience has the slightest idea who he is. So this program chairman asserts blandly, "Of course you all know Old Jim. Everyone knows Old Jim. He's here today to talk to us about the same subject Old Jim always talks to us about."

Meantime, out in the audience, the fellows are asking one another "Jim who?" "Nobody knows. 'Where's he from?' No one knows. What does he always talk about. Nobody ever heard him before."

WHILE THIS IS going on, Old Jim is sweating blood. He has been looking the audience over and he hasn't seen a single face he recognizes. He can't remember ever making a talk before this club. He looks reproachfully at his betrayer — the program chairman — and timidly launches into his talk.

The audience is still whispering. The speaker may have had something worth hearing — his chance of close attention from his listeners has been shot.

A LOT OF THE GUYS out there do not know this man. They want to hear his full name, clearly and distinctly. They want to know where he is from or what he does and they'd like to know, in advance, what it is he plans to talk to them about.

It may not be as "entertaining" but it's a lot more effective for the chairman to bluntnly say: "Fellows, our speaker today is Joe Bloak. Joe lives in Austin. He has been with the Swill and Swab Office Supply Co. for 15 years. He is regarded as the state's best informed man on paper clips. He has consented to discuss this subject with us today. I want you to give him your close attention. Fellow members, Joe Bloak, expert of paper clips."

That's all for today's lecture.

We're Not Trying To Lure Tourists

LONDON. — It is far easier for most Englishmen and other Western Europeans to tour Russia today than to travel to and in the United States. It takes much less effort to get a visa to the U.S.S.R. than to the U.S.A.

That is one of the chief reasons that the "Visit the U.S.A. in 1960" campaign, a program initiated with the blessing of President Eisenhower, is limping along.

A British tourist who wants to travel through Russia with a group of his fellow countrymen can usually get a visa in 48 hours, by just applying for it and filling out a simple questionnaire.

BUT A TOURIST who has a yen to see the wonders of the U.S.A. must have a letter from his pastor and another, preferably from his banker, when he applies for an American visa. He no longer is fingerprinted, but he must sign a document swearing he has never been affiliated with the Communist party.

Now, as a great concession to tourism to the U.S.A., which could do with the foreign exchange it would bring in, a visitor to America who spends less than 30 days in our country does not have to go to the nearest Internal Revenue office just before he leaves and prove that he didn't earn any money while on his American holiday. But, if he stays over 30 days, he must go through that nonsense.

BUT THE VISA difficulties are only one of the major handicaps for the European who would like to visit America. One of the biggest difficulties is that the U.S.A. is the only major or minor country that has no national tourist bureau to promote travel to our shores.

"We spend about the same amount on tourism as does Singapore," I was told by a member of the American Embassy.

The result is that the American-British committee trying to push the "see America first in 1960" campaign has no government literature on travel in the U.S.A. It has had to pass the hat among American and British carriers and travel agencies and print its own travel list.

HANS THUNNELL, an American stationed in London as the European sales manager of the Greyhound Bus Lines, is chairman of the above committee. "America must establish a Federal tourist agency," he said yesterday, "if it really wants tourists. When a would-be traveler can't even get literature on the country he wants to visit, he goes some place else. All of us involved in this effort hope that the bills now before the Senate, to create an organization to promote travel toward America, will pass."

Another towering hurdle to travel in the U.S.A. for the average European is the fixed idea that the cost of travel within America is prohibitive.

"TALES OF HIGH LIFE in New York, Las Vegas and on the Miami strip have convinced Europeans only millionaires can travel in the United States," says Heather McConnell, an English woman who is acting as a voluntary secretary for the "Visit the U.S.A. in 1960" committee.

Mrs. McConnell, a frequent visitor to New York, who is P. R. O. here for the "American" hotel, the Westbury, said that the National Association of Travel Organizations has worked out a 15-day tour of New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Niagara Falls and back to New York for $190.14 per person on a two-room basis or $184.00 on a single-room deal.

That sum includes transportation, accommodations in good hotels and sight-seeing. Meals are extra. I must say this is a revelation to me. I didn't think you could get that kind of travel no more, even without meals, in the U.S.A. And the tour includes five days in New York. (Copyright, 1960, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

The Gallup Poll

'Big Business' Influence Is Noted

PRINCETON, N. J. — In both the U. S. and Canada, sentiment today is that big business exerts a greater influence on new legislation than labor does. In each nation also, the public would like to see labor have as much if not more say than it presently does in this respect.

With interest in an election year focusing on the respective roles which labor and business should play in government and politics, the U. S. Gallup Poll had its reporters ask the public two questions about the influence labor and management have on new laws. Identical questions were also asked by the affiliated Gallup organization in Canada.

"AT THE PRESENT TIME, which do you think has the most influence on the laws passed in this country — big business or labor?"

"Which do you think SHOULD have the most influence?"

Highlights of the two-nation study: Canadians are considerably more inclined than U. S. voters to believe that big business currently has the most influence on laws passed in their nation. A substantial majority in Canada hold this point of view; the vote is 4-to-3 in the U. S. that business is more powerful than labor in influencing law-making.

AMERICANS TEND more to the view that both labor and management should have an equal say than do Canadians. In Canada, the weight of sentiment is that labor should have a greater say than big business; in the U. S., the weight of sentiment holds that both should be equal.

In both nations, laborers themselves are far from convinced of the influence that labor presently has, and in both the U.S. and Canada, laboring groups would like to see labor have more say.

IN CANADA members of the executive class admit that big business currently has the most influence. Many actually would like to see labor have more say. In both the U. S. and Canada, farmers believe business now has the greater say.

Here is the vote in the two nations by the major occupation groups:

Learns Beauty Tip

Jo Morrow, recently returned from Madrid, brings back an unusual beauty secret for American women. She is soon to be seen in Columbia's "Our Man in Havana."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Facial Mask Sounds Like Possible Salad

By LYDIA LANE. HOLLYWOOD — The last time I saw Jo Morrow, she was on her way to Europe to work in "Our Man in Havana." When I was at Columbia studios the other day, I asked her if she had changed from living abroad.

"I thought I'd be changed," Jo confided, "but I feel the same inside. I guess sophistication is something you can't rust."

"But I did learn something important. You have to get enough rest or you'll set sick," she went on.

"I'm 19 and I felt strong enough to work in two pictures at once. I used to fly from Madrid to London for 'Gulliver's Travels' and back to Madrid for 'Our Man in Havana.'"

"In Spain we started shooting at noon and worked until eight. In London I had to be at the Studio by six in the morning. Finally I was hospitalized from complete exhaustion. That will never happen to me again, if I can help it," Jo declared.

I wanted to know if she had brought back any beauty secrets. "Yes!" Jo enthused. "In Madrid I met a wonderful character actress who is part Russian. She was really quite old but she had a beautiful, young complexion. She attributes it all to a very unusual facial mask which she uses once a week. This is what the formula consists of: You grate 1-3 cup of fresh cucumber and pour off the juice in a separate container. Then mix just enough vodka with the pulp of the cucumber to make a paste. If you need to thin the paste, use a little of the cucumber juice."

"Then you lie down and spread the mixture over your face, neck and chin areas. She said it has a tightening effect if you use it regularly."

"Keep it on about 12 to 20 minutes. Then you wash it off with lukewarm water and splash your face with ice water or rub it with a cube of ice wrapped in a cloth."

"Even though the actress has been wearing theatrical make-up for all these years, her skin has no enlarged pores," Jo observed.

Circles Plan Activities

Plans for serving at the YWA memorial Wednesday, placing a memorial gift book in the church library and beginning a new study course were highlights of Baptist-circle meetings Monday.

MOLLIE HARLAN Procrastination was the theme of a devotion brought for members of the Mollie-Harian circle of the First Baptist Church when they met in the home of Mrs. V. W. Euglaar.

The hostess brought the devotional thoughts using as her Biblical references Gen. 17:23. "In the self same day as God had said unto thee."

Books for the new study were distributed. Study was from Dr. R. G. Lee's book on prayer given by Mrs. J. C. Pickle. Mrs. Lee Jenkins offered dismissal prayer for the four who attended.

JOHNNIE O'BRIEN Members of the Johnnie O'Brien Circle, meeting in the home of Mrs. C. H. Yater, voted to place a book in the church library. This will be done as a memorial to the late Mr. J. B. Nelson, father of Mrs. Dean Dixon, a member of the circle.

Mrs. W. B. Younger read the missionary calendar, and Mrs. J. E. Hardesty offered a prayer for those listed. Mrs. Younger brought the study based on the topic, "Educating Youth for Missions." The next meeting is scheduled for June 13 in the home of Mrs. C. O. Hitt, 1301 Pennsylvania. The hostess offered the dismissal prayer and served refreshments to eight.

LUCILLE REAGAN Meeting in the parlor at the church the Lucille Reagan circle had five members present. The devotion was given by Mrs. C. T. Clay. The program was brought by Mrs. A. E. Underwood who spoke on the topic "Among the Royal Ambassadors" and Mrs. Horace Reagan, whose subject was "Migrant Missionaries."

Plans were made to serve refreshments Wednesday night at the YWA meeting.

Deep-Fat Frying Use a deep-fat thermometer when you are frying doughnuts or fritters. If the temperature is too high these good foods will brown before they are cooked through; if the temperature is too low they may soak up grease. A thermometer will enable you to keep the fat at a temperature of 365 to 375 degrees.

Lyndon Pushes Saline Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson Monday urged a vastly expanded saline water conservation research program that would cost up to 20 million dollars the first year.

He introduced a bill which would launch a full-scale research and plant construction program. The measure would provide federal aid to communities desiring to build plants to convert salt and brackish water to fresh water.

Noting that about 1,000 communities had to restrict water usage in 1957, Johnson added: "The water crisis is already widespread and severe in some areas. It is also plain that this crisis can only get worse unless we act."

Johnson said a 10-million-dollar saline water conversion program, authorized as a seven-year project by Congress in 1958, is too limited to be of any real use.

"Most technicians and scientists agree that the five plants being built under the 1958 law will be only a start," Johnson said.

Federal assistance to communities, he said, would solve the problem of those who "understandably hesitate to put money into plants which may, in later years, turn out to be high-cost operations."

Airstrip Improved

COLORADO CITY — Frank Deregis, manager of the J. H. Chastain Agency, reported that grading on the 3,500-foot north-south runway of the Elton Harrell landing strip was completed Sunday. The caliche topped strip is now adequate for the majority of twin engine planes, he said.

Chastain, general contractor and recently assigned the area dealership for Piper aircraft, donated men and machines to improve the strip which had been used by Harrell and others for months.

The City of Colorado City, stymied in an effort to obtain its own land for a landing strip, may assist Harrell in the maintenance of the field in order that it may be used as a public field.

Deregis said that as soon as hangars can be built along the Harrell strip, that Chastain's plane and others now being kept in Snyder and Sweetwater will be moved to Colorado City.

Morning Headaches—Plus

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.
Headaches occur with most all organic disorders. The eyes and eye strain are often blamed and as often found innocent.

Migraine is rare, though frequently mis-called because of the nausea. Almost any violent headache can, if the patient is severe enough, cause that sickish feeling about the stomach that is so common in migraine cases.

Nervous headaches caused by female disturbances, tension and the inability to relax is perhaps the most common. If you neglect these or stop them with a pain killer or tranquilizer, you are inviting trouble and future female surgery. Consider the following cause from our clinic files as a fair example.

Violent pains in her right eye and over the entire right side of her face and in back of her head and neck that lessened during the day but invariably greeted her upon awakening nearly every morning for as long as she could remember, finally brought this pretty 29-year-old mother to the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic asking for any relief we could give her. She was another previously diagnosed "migraine" case that had resisted all types of pain killers—and turned to chiropractic when all other doctors' efforts were fruitless.

We found that she had chronic constipation, a frequent nausea, extreme nervousness, no appetite and such a serious and painful ovarian disorder that former doctors had recommended an operation as her only hope. Our spinal nerve analysis and spinal X-rays located what others had overlooked—several vertebral misalignments interfering with nerve energy flow. This, of course, was responsible for her organic trouble which proved to be the underlying cause of her sick headaches. In due time our spinal adjustments corrected the offending nerve disturbances and her ailments gradually but naturally disappeared. Her appetite returned, her headaches are gone and she now has a healthy left ovary and pleasant periods. No. 1709.

If other doctors have made you well, you don't need us—but if other efforts have been fruitless, such as in this case, why not investigate as she did. We made her well again, possibly we can do the same for you. Besides, what have you got to lose except your headaches and ill health? 100 Eleventh Place AM 3-3324 Next Article Next Tuesday. Adv.

LETTERS TO EDITOR More Communications On School Annexation

Dear Editor:
In response to Mr. Marvin Miller's letter I have a few things to say. I firmly believe that the Howard County School Board was justly criticized in their recent action against Gay Hill and Center Point.

They made a surprise attack. I believe in a government for the people and by the people, but when three men's opinion is being forced upon two communities "by the people" and as for "for the people," who in the name of common sense is benefiting from this move? Certainly not Center Point and Gay Hill. Big Spring just sits back waiting to prey on small schools. I'm proud of the board member from my community, Mr. Fred Roman. He may be just an old country boy, but just look what the (other three) caused. All they can see is dollar marks on the ledger. Well, I'm glad there are a few people still interested in people... Mr. Miller are you sure you are interested in those children and their education? Or is it that you want to leave the children in the country and bring their money to town?

Sincerely,
JAMES JEFFCOAT
Knot.

To the Editor:
I think your paper has been lax on editing of the reports that should be made public. As I understand it there will be no more classes at the Gay Hill School. If this is true, the public should know how much has been spent to build the Gay Hill plant and what use it will be when there is to be no school.

I read Mr. Miller's letter in

Sincerely,
W. N. BLANSITT

Daily Average Oil Production Rises

TULSA (AP) — Daily average domestic oil production rose 8,010 to 6,799,560 barrels during the week ended May 14, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Production averaged about 7,039,000 barrels daily during April's last week.

The daily average for the year so far is slightly below last year's average for the same period. For 1959 it has been about 7,125,000 barrels compared with 7,215,000 in 1959.

Oklahoma, which normally has higher production rates in the first part of the month, rose 10,200 to 523,400.

The Journal estimated 1960 production at 961,960,000 barrels compared to 966,903,300 a year ago.

No Arguments, Baptists Told

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Southern Baptists have a hint from their president he doesn't want any arguments started for publicity purposes during their annual meeting opening tonight.

Dr. Ramsey Pollard of Memphis, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, told the convention's pastors conference Monday:

"Listen fellows, this can be one of the greatest conventions in the history of Southern Baptists. We don't have a lot of pesky problems to argue about."

"I don't know everything about the rules of order, but I am aware that the convention can hear messengers or not hear them."

The convention could be asked to take a stand on a Catholic in the presidency. A resolution against a Catholic in the presidency would be aimed at Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Other issues that could come up could include integration. There may be some objection Friday to a report of the Christian Life Commission of the convention. The report is understood to recommend that Southern Baptists help Negroes secure rights through peaceful and legal means and "to thoughtfully oppose any customs which may tend to humiliate them in any way."

Solve Everything
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A little girl was seen trying to coax her small puppy to cross a puddle which resulted from heavy rains. The puppy waded in to shoulder depth and barked. In disgust the girl waded back across, picked up the pup and muttered, "I wish you were a duck."

Lauds Press Coverage

To the Editor:
On behalf of the Texas Junior College Speech Association I want to express appreciation to you for the splendid coverage your paper gave to our State Drama Festival held in Big Spring. I am sure your excellent work has increased the interest of the citizens of your area in the activities of the Drama Department of Howard County Junior College. We are grateful to you for your support of speech and dramatic activities of the schools. Your interest must mean much to Mr. Fred Short (H.C.J.C. speech instructor).

Video Writers Defended Against Failure Charges

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AF Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—In the buck-passing world of television, it often seems to an outside observer that all successes are credited to producers, directors and stars. And that all failures are blamed on networks, advertising agencies and writers.
 David Karp, a part-time and successful free-lance TV writer (he also turns out novels, biographies, short stories and plays), insists that this is a rank injustice.

"If a show is bad," he says, "the last man to blame is the writer. It would make more sense to blame the prop man. Between the time the original script leaves the writer's hands, he may have to rewrite it on order a number of times, or it may be worked over by other people."

"In television, I've learned that the important person is the producer. If you have a strong producer, 80 per cent of the battle for a good show is won."

Karp says that sponsors and advertising agencies, however, do have a lot to say about subject matter.

Karp said that no show with a Revolutionary War theme will get past the sponsor of an expensive special series.

"The head of the company," he explains, "isn't very sympathetic to the revolutionists' view. If he'd been alive at the time, he'd have been for the redcoats."

Frank Sinatra's welcome-home-Elvis show, which had a generally dismal critical reception, picked up an audience voting which ABC proudly hails as the biggest since the first (1955) "Peter Pan" show with Mary Martin. With summer reruns just beginning, the three major networks have just about four-fifths of their fall shows all sold and set.

Recommended tonight: "The Wicked Scheme of Jebal Deeks," NBC, 8:30-9:30—a repeat of the Alec Guinness show, but a good one; Garry Moore Show, CBS, 10-11—with guests Alan King and Carol Haney.

Last Anti-Castro Newspaper Seized

HAVANA (AP) — Unions faithful to Fidel Castro have seized the last Cuban newspaper critical of his regime.
 Seizure Monday of La Prensa Libre left only two small independent papers publishing in Cuba, Information and El Crisol. Both avoid criticizing the government. The rest of the press is controlled by pro-government groups.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

THE AFFAIR, By C. P. Snow.
 Scribners, $4.50.

At last "Strangers and Brothers" has come as close as yesterday. Snow's series goes back to the 1910s; in this eighth novel (with three to come) Lewis Eliot is involved in a very sticky business that develops in a big English university's 1953 fall term and carries over into 1954.

A man named Howard, brought in from another university to teach, was accused of cheating on a research assignment. The masters led by Crawford sat in judgment; he was not after all one of them, but a stranger; finding him guilty of faking a photograph, they fired him.

Now he and his wife Laura demand justice through the help of Lewis and his wife Margaret. Howard is a stranger in several respects. With his outspokenness he exasperates even friends; he is all rough outside, rude and unmanly; he sympathizes with too many Communists and Communist causes. Here is in short a man the masters would be glad to prove guilty of something; and Lewis is disagreeably aware that he himself will have more reasons than ever for disliking Howard if he must work with him for the reversal of the conviction. Yet justice along matters, and Lewis reluctantly starts to build up a case; a majority of masters must ask for a hearing, to be followed by another academic trial. With many minds made up ahead of time, it begins to look like a Dreyfus affair.

One by one Snow pokes "and prods his men and women till they divulge their varying ideas of justice—the prejudices which influence them, the conservatism which colors their decisions, the rash adherence to a generality and the stubborn commitment to the narrowest principle which must all be reckoned with. One man is for Howard for the sake of youth; one is against him because he acts unlike a Christian; a third prefers to believe in his guilt rather than in that of another colleague, and so on fascinatingly. The oddly fragmented anatomy of Justice, who was never so blind before, is shown intriguingly in this eye-opening story. It's the most exciting and I think the most meaningful. Snow you've read yet.

By Bob Smith

The first time I saw Danny Lane, it was about four years ago on the stage of City Auditorium.

In stocking feet and oversized cowboy hat, he was busily winning an amateur show by beating out a simple rhythm on a set of drums and captivating his audience.

The second time I saw Danny Lane was last weekend out at Donald's No. 2, where he was playing with Tony Starr's combo, the Satellites. His drumming had vastly improved, and he again was captivating his audience.

This might not be worth this many sentences, except for one fact—Danny is 12 years old.

For a lad so young, his progression is amazing, although there is no way of knowing at present just how far his talent extends. It should be apparent by the time he is ready to graduate from high school.

He still has a long way to go—for example, Danny beats out some mean rhythms, but he hasn't had time to learn to mix them.

In any event, the sight and sound of a 12-year-old lad making like Krupa, and doing a pretty good job of it, is enough to draw praise and attention.

Danny's stars are Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Lane. They're mighty proud of him, but Mr. Lane doesn't think his boy will graduate into the big-name bands. It's just a childhood thing, he says, and Danny probably won't have any more to do with it after high school.

The boy isn't sure. Adulthood is still a long way off, and in the meantime, he's bent on improving his rhythm.

Right Flag, Wrong Day

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The red, white and blue flags fluttering on Tampa's downtown streets today are accompanied by a few red faces.

A special police department task force went out early Monday and set up the patriotic finery. Police Inspector J. L. Powell said a list furnished by a flag manufacturer showed Monday to be Armed Forces Day.

But Armed Forces Day isn't until next Saturday.
