

Domestic Cotton Sign-Up Lags But Feed Grain Sign-Up Fairly Brisk, Says ASCS

Bailey county farmers are flocking to the ASCS office, here in goodly numbers to sign up for the feed grain program, but they are in no hurry to sign for the domestic cotton program, Charles Daniel, ASCS manager here, said Saturday. Only 16 have signed up for the domestic cotton program, while 455 have signed for the feed program.

However, the ASCS office is not particularly worried about the lack of interest. Farmers have until March 26 in which to sign up, and a lot of them are waiting to see what the moisture outlook is going to be before they put their names on the dotted line," he concludes. A much nearer deadline is facing farmers on another program, Daniel pointed out. Farmers have only through next Wednesday in which to sign up for additional cotton acreage. Daniel explained that the additional cotton allotments are "turned-back" acreage from not used up all their original allotments. Again, however, farmers are waiting as late as possible to sign, trying to figure out just what kind of a year it's going to be moisture-wise, as based on winter conditions up to that point. With a slightly lower '65 cotton allotment — 95,000 acres. Last year's total allotment was 150,000 acres and domestic acreage was 70,000. However, 10,000 acres were added to the total last year when "released" acres were re-assigned to this county. It that same sign-up of unused acres that faces farmers on a March 3 deadline. Between 1100 and 1200 farms are expected to be included in this year's feed grain program. The feed grain base for the county, Daniel says, is as follows: 1349 acres of corn, 199, 431 acres of grain sorghum, and 2357 acres of barley. The feed grain program is basically the same this year as last. The voluntary program combines corn, grain sorghum and barley in a single base with participating farmers qualifying for diverted acreage payments and price support payments. Farmers who comply are also eligible for price support loans. Daniel said farmers in this county already have been paid more than $260,000 in advance payments since Feb. 8, thus putting more in circulation in this county. One of the chief differences in this year's program, ASCS officials pointed out, is a provision which allows the substitution of wheat for feed grains or feed grains for wheat. However, wheat producers in the predominant winter wheat areas may take advantage of the provision only if they have signed up for the wheat program last autumn, it was pointed out. Wheat, however, is a minor crop in Bailey county. Farmers signing up for the 1965 feed grain program must make a mandatory 20 percent reduction in their feed grain acreage in order to comply with the program. However, the diversion may be increased voluntarily to 50 percent of the allotment. Diversion payments have been set up under a two-payment system. The lower rate is 20 percent of the county total support rate, while the higher rate is 50 percent of the support rate. The lower payment will be made on the minimum diversion with the higher payment made on diversion up to 40 percent of the allotment. If a producer agrees to divert more than 40 percent of the feed grain cropland under the 1965 program, the entire diversion payment will be at the 50 percent rate. According to the local ASCS office, national average support rates established for the crop year are as follows: Corn, $1.25 per bushel; barley, 96 cents per bushel and grain sorghum $2 per cwt. Daniel says castor beans or sesame may be planted as "non-surplus" crops in 1965 diverted acres and payments, however, are reduced if either crop is planted.

FARMERS SIGN-UP — Farmers are signing up for the feed grain program in good numbers and already $260,000 has been paid to county farmers who are in the program. But cotton sign-up is slow as the sign-up period goes into its final weeks. Here are James Diering and Tommie Gaston signing up with Lou Ann Black at the ASCS office while Charles Daniel, ASCS manager here, watches. (Journal Photo)

Passage of Governor's College Reorganization Program Boosts Junior College Prospects Here

Passage of the governor's plan to place all Texas colleges under a central 18-member board of control, heightened the prospects for a junior college here, Muleshoe backers of the junior college idea said Friday on their return from Austin. Five Muleshoe men had conferred with legislators and school officials in Austin Wednesday presenting preliminary proposals for a junior college. The Muleshoe group met with State Sen. Andy Rogers, Rep. Bill Clayton and Dr. C. C. Colvert, junior college consultant for the University of Texas. Dr. Colvert, who is called "Mr. Junior College of Texas," made arrangements with the group to visit Muleshoe sometime after March 15 to conduct a survey of junior college prospects here. "We were highly encouraged by the meeting and with the prospecting which our proposal seemed to receive," a spokesman for the group said Saturday. Going to Austin were Alex Williams, chairman of the junior college committee; L. B. Hall, Jimmy Crawford, D. B. Lancaster and Roy Davis, Chamber manager. The group also learned that major colleges will start restricting freshmen enrollments, thus creating a greater need for junior colleges to care for recent graduates. "We found out," Davis said, "that when Junior finishes high school in the next two or three years, he may find the major colleges already have filled their freshmen quota. Then Junior will have the choice of either giving up the idea of college altogether, or he may go to a junior college. Thus the junior college idea is bound to blossom into a major movement soon, and we believe we are exactly in the right spot to profit from such a movement." The group learned, for example that out of 22,000 students who attend the University of Texas, freshmen will be limited to around 2000. This meant that hundreds of recent high school graduates will not be able to enroll at Texas. Rep. Clayton was squarely behind the Muleshoe area junior college idea. He expressed his full support to the program at the meeting with the Muleshoe representatives left the meeting with the belief that the legislators from this area will back the idea if Dr. Colvert's report is favorable. Dr. Colvert was enthusiastic about the proposal, and said he will be here sometime "soon after March 15" to conduct his survey. It was pointed out that West Texas offers no junior college. (See COLLEGE Page 5)

Firemen Contain Compress Blaze; Damage Small

Mulshoe's Volunteer Fire Department was able to contain a cotton bale blaze early Friday at Union Warehouse & Compress before damage was extensive.

Fire Chief Earl Ladd said 26 bales were damaged but the total loss probably will run to no more than two bales. Other bales in the area were water soaked and must be dried before they can be re-stored.

The chief said he believed the blaze was started when a band around a cotton bale broke, striking another metal band and creating a spark. He said such occurrences were not uncommon. Ladd said the fire could have been much more disastrous. Some 18,000 bales of compressed cotton, all part of the 1963 carry-over crop, was being stored in the warehouse.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE REGULARLY

GOD'S REMEDY FOR A DOUBTING FAITH.
Herbert F. Peiman, Pastor
St. John Lutheran Church
Lariat, Texas

"After six days Jesus taketh Peter, James, and John, and bringeth them up into a high mountain apart, and was transfigured before them; and His face did shine as the sun, and His raiment was white as snow" Matthew 17, 1-2.

Have you ever wished that you might have an experience like that? Do sires like that come to all of us, especially "When the woes of life o'er take us, Hopes deceive and fears annoy."

When such thoughts assail you, then remember the promise of your faithful God. "In Christ we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins according to the riches of His grace." If you can live day by day in the assurance of that forgiveness, what more do you want? What more do you need?

But that is just my trouble. I can't always live in that assurance. At times my doubts almost overwhelm me. What is the answer to that?

Perhaps you are not saturating your mind, heart and life with God's life-giving, faith-inspiring word. Perhaps your prayer life is at a standstill; your private and family devotions are zero; your worship is only in spurts, and you cry to God only when you are in trouble. Perhaps a radical change here would do much to drive away your doubts and fears.

Although God will perhaps never give the same breath-taking demonstration of His power and glory which He gave to Peter, James and John on the Mountain top, He does give you a visible demonstration of His grace and mercy in your baptism and in the Lord's Supper. The oftener you remember your baptism, and the oftener you in faith receive the Holy Supper, the more your doubts will disappear and the less often you will be tempted with a desire to see a special revelation of God's glory.

And there is a third remedy for overcoming doubts suggested by God himself in Romans 10, 10 "With the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation". Perhaps you do not talk enough about your spiritual blessings in the family circle, among your friends, and with the people with whom you work and associate. Every confession of what the mercy of God has done for you will be a mighty boost to your faith. Try it. Won't you?

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm apparently is not very travel-minded, his letter this week indicates.

Treider's grandmother, Mrs. James Sneed, 85, at Bremmer, Mo. The services were held there last Wednesday. Mrs. Sneed was the mother of Mrs. Charlie Neeley, formerly of Lazbuddie.

Mrs. Claud Blackburn was in Lubbock the first of the week helping care for the children of the Raymond Lesters. Mrs. Lester, the Blackburns' daughter, is ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Burnet, Bart and Laura were in Plainview Sunday visiting his brother and family, the Neil Burnets.

Recent visitors in the John Littlefield home were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wesley, Pettit, and Mr. and Mrs. Kim Westly and children, Morton.

Birthday greetings this week go to Mrs. Paul Templeton, Charlie Garvin, Bobby Redwine, James Miller, Ronald Mayfield, Terri Scott, Evasilo Willard, Fonda Wilkens, Leon Watson, Marlene McDonald, Sandra Lou Farley, Jonny Broyles, Larry Hodges, Leslie Barber, Bob Blackburn, Mary Ellen Herrera, Deward Ivy, Ellinda Romiz and Rickie Flores.

Dear editor: According to a news item I read last night, Washington officials are suggesting we put a sort of tariff on tourists leaving this country every summer, in the amount of $100 a head.

As I understand it, American tourists are spending over a billion dollars a year visiting abroad, and apparently on the theory that they're going to spend everything they have on them. Washington has suggested we tax them $100 just before they leave, which would be $100 they sure wouldn't spend over there. At least we'd keep some of the money in this country.

I don't have an opinion on this proposal, as that's one tax that sure wouldn't hit me, as I ain't going.

Understand, I don't quarrel with anybody who wants to visit abroad, let him go if he wants to, but my theory is that it's time the Europeans came over here and looked at us. After all, when you come to think of it, the land holding up Buckingham Palace in London is not one year older than the land in this Johnson grass farm. I estimate they were constructed at about the same time. One is just as ancient as the other, and both are equally favorable toward government support.

And while I can't imagine any Englishman spending money to come over here and look at me and this farm, neither can I imagine me going over there to look at him and his. Of course I know travel is supposed to broaden a person, enlarge his horizon, but I have seen Americans who have traveled abroad and I can't always tell that the job was accomplished.

Another purpose of the proposed $100 head - tax on tourists going abroad I understand is to encourage more Americans to travel in this country, but I don't know about this. Nearly every state is now promoting itself as a tourist attraction, and if it works, won't the thing balance itself out? If Texas lures 100 million dollars worth of tourist money from New Mexico won't New Mexico lure the same amount from Texas?

Who's going to come out ahead on this deal, outside of filling stations? Wouldn't it be like everybody in town trying to make money by taking in each other's washing?

Yours faithfully, J. A.

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

COTTON SIGN — UP
Cotton producers who wish to participate in the domestic allotment program for 1965 are given from February 8 through March 26 to make their intentions known to County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services offices.

Loraine Mangum, Acting Office Manager of the Lubbock County ASCS, says: "This sign-up is a new development for cluding whether or not to participate.

Farmers have the choice of planting within their domestic allotment — thereby qualifying for a payment of 4.35 cents per pound on the farm's established normal yield times the acreage planted for harvest in 1965 in addition to the price support of 29 cents per pound basis, including one — inch at average location — or planting within their effective allotment. Effective allotment is total acreage allotted after any release and reapportionment, and farmers, electing to plant their total effective allotment qualify for the 29 cent price support only, without the necessity for signing up.

Domestic allotment on most High Plains farms is 65 percent of the 1965 effective allotment.

on small farms for which 1965 allotments are not released to the County ASC Committee, domestic allotment is the smaller of 15 acres or the 1965 effective allotment. Farms on which the domestic and effective allotment are the same are not required to sign up for participation in the domestic allotment program, but all others must sign up prior to March 26 in order to participate.

Those who elect to plant within their domestic allotments may grow other cash crops on the remaining part of the effective allotment, but if the effective allotment is over 15 acres they cannot plant feed grains in excess of their feed grain base and still qualify for supplemental payments.

The economic outlook for U. S. cotton and a wide range of production practices affecting yield and quality will be under discussion when the Western Cotton Production Conference gathers in Lubbock on March 2 and 3. The two — day conference, keyed specifically to the interests of cotton growers in the western section of the Cotton Belt, is to be held at the Koko Palace, Lubbock, and will open at 9:15 a. m., March 2.

The affair is jointly sponsored by the Southwest Five State Cotton Growers, Inc. and the National Cotton Council, with Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock serving as the local host. Roy Forkner, PGC President, is general chairman of the event and has emphasized that all interested persons are (See COTTON, Page 3)
