Chile Is Due No Respite

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—No respite appeared in sight today for southern Chile, wrecked by five days of continuing earthquakes, tidal waves, avalanches and volcanic eruptions.

The official death toll so far was 2,829 dead or missing, 2 million—a fourth of the nation's population—homeless and 300 million dollars property damage. And the count was mounting steadily.

The U.S. Air Force joined in flying relief through the smoke billowing from volcanoes.

With countless communities still cut off and the upheavals of nature continuing, officials could not even predict the final toll. Low-lying clouds and rain hampered aerial rescue operations. Smoke and ash from volcanoes hung over much of the southern part of the mountainous land.

The Interior Ministry listed the known dead at 1,706 and 1,123 missing and presumed dead.

The face of the country itself was altered by the disturbances which began Saturday. Three new earth tremors were reported Wednesday. Tidal waves up to 15 feet high still pounded along 750 miles of the southern coast. Many islands along the coast could not be reached for word of their inhabitants.

In Cautin Province the earth's surface dropped as much as 1,000 feet over a 25-mile stretch. Two new lakes formed in the Andes near Lake Rinihue. Avalanches filled valleys with stone and earth.

The U.S. Air Force summited planes from bases in New Jersey, Delaware and South Carolina to airlift two fully equipped, 400-bed field hospitals to Santiago. Thirty-four planes were to transport the 426 medical personnel and 350 tons of equipment.

Other Air Force units in the Panama Canal Zone already were rushing to the stricken areas with tents, blankets, field radios and litters for evacuation of the injured.

Other relief supplies were sent by Argentina, Cuba, Ecuador, Haiti, Peru, the Netherlands and Norway. The Chilean Red Cross appealed for more, for food and tents for the homeless particularly.

Ashen-faced refugees flown here from battered Puerto Montt said the city of 20,000 on the south-central Chilean coast was a shambles.

"There is little water and almost no food," said Antonia Ugarte.

After The Tidal Waves

People of Hachinohe, on Japan's northern island of Honshu, proceed with clean-up following the tidal waves that swept across the Pacific. The giant waves, resulting from earthquakes in Chile, caused extensive damage and a high toll of dead or missing along the Japanese coastline.

Friends, Enemies Aim At School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sponsors of a $75 million dollar school construction bill face a battle in the House today from both friends and foes of federal aid to public schools.

The determined opponents mainly Republicans and Southern Democrats, are expected to join forces in an attempt to throttle the bill.

The ardent supporters could achieve the same result by building it up until it is practically certain to draw a presidential veto.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (D-N.J.), author of the bill, told the House frankly in the opening of debate Wednesday that it had been carefully tailored to attract the maximum number of votes and the least risk of a veto.

The threat of a veto was raised anew, however, by Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Following a White House conference Flemming released a letter to Rep. Carroll D. Kearns (R-Pa.) hinting strongly at a veto unless the bill is altered.

He said the administration insisted on making states match all federal funds and allocating a proportionately greater share of the money to poorer states. The Thompson bill would authorize outright grants the first year and require matching funds for the final two years of the three-year program. Allocations to states are based on the number of school age children, regardless of the needs of individual states.

Voting on both proposals was expected today.

The big effort by those favoring a broader bill was directed toward a proposal by Rep. Lee Metcalf (D-Mont.) to authorize the states to use the money for teachers' salaries as well as school construction.

This provision is in a $1,800,000 bill passed by the Senate but has been termed unacceptable by both the Democratic House leadership and President Eisenhower.

Another proposal that could touch off a bitter debate is sponsored by Rep. Clement J. Zablocki (D-Wis.). It would set aside 15 percent of the money for low-interest, long term loans to private and church schools.

Daniel Calls Water Panel To Rush Plan

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel today called a special meeting of Texas River Authority leaders in an effort to rush through a statewide water development plan for the 1961 Legislature.

"Our goal is to have a framework statewide water plan ready to present some time while the 57th Legislature is here," Daniel said. "The main reason I want to speak is to encourage them to complete their work promptly."

Daniel said he met recently with the State Water Development Board and talked about the long-discussed statewide water development plan. He said he has met twice in the last 10 days with the State Board of Water Engineers.

"The Water Board has been working with the federal group—the U.S. Study Commission—almost continuously and they are coordinating their work," he said. "I think the relations between state and federal water leaders are the best in many years."

Daniel was asked if he had anything to say about a possible special legislative session before the regular 1961 session.

"Mum, and that's all I want to say," Daniel said. "I'll be glad to talk about anything except a special session and taxes."

'He's A Skipper'

Rockefeller Okays Self As A Reserve

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was offering himself as a reserve candidate for the Republican nomination for president today but there was no discernible sign he would be called to active duty.

Rockefeller said Wednesday he would accept a draft to run as GOP candidate for president, a development possible only if the party rejects Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

But Rockefeller agreed with the almost unanimous view that Nixon's nomination "obviously is to be expected."

Nixon remains the party's only declared candidate. He has more than enough votes, by unofficial count, to win nomination on the first ballot.

BACKED BY IKE
Nixon also has the backing of President Eisenhower.

Rockefeller's current assets as a contender for the nomination consist of the assumption he would get all 96 of New York's convention votes plus one Arkansas vote pledged to him and a New Jersey vote promised if a floor fight developed.

A majority of 666 of the 1,331 delegates will be needed for nomination at the convention which opens July 25 in Chicago.

Basically, Rockefeller's entire strategy is keyed to the possibility, however remote, that something might happen between now and convention time to turn the party away from Nixon.

"These are very fast changing times," Rockefeller told a news conference he held after explaining his position to a meeting of Republican county chairmen and the state party's executive committee.

Rockefeller sees himself as a candidate the party could turn to if Nixon were forced to drop out of the running. The governor will not speculate on what he considers possible developments that could affect Nixon's position. And, the governor said, he will neither encourage nor authorize any campaigning in his behalf.

A LONG SHOT
The state's 96-vote delegation to the convention will back the governor's long-shot approach. It will go to the convention uncommitted, Republican leaders decided after hearing the governor. Rockefeller vetoed a proposal that he allow himself to be nominated as a favorite son. He urged instead the "wait-and-see" approach.

There is a good chance Rockefeller himself will lead the delegation, despite his announcement he would not attend for fear he would be drafted to run for vice president.

He told the GOP leaders he would go to the convention if he had firm promises from GOP national leaders that he would not be put under pressure to accept the vice-presidential nomination.

Latest absentee voting for the June 4 runoff primary expires at 5 p.m. May 31. Technically, this leaves only two days for voters who wish to vote by this method to act.

The office of the clerk is closed on Saturday and Sunday. May 30 is Memorial Day, an official holiday for the court house.

Voters have Friday and Tuesday in which to apply for absentee ballots.

The primary election will be on Saturday June 4. For nearly all of the precincts in the county, only two contests will be at stake—selection of a new member of the state Legislature from this district and the designation of a judge for the court of criminal appeals.

Ike Pledges Cooperation In Probe Of Summit Failure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today pledged full cooperation with congressional inquiries into the summit conference collapse.

The President talked with the leaders of both parties at a White House breakfast. After the session Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas quoted Eisenhower as saying the planned investigations at the Capitol have his full approval.

Eisenhower called in the Democratic and Republican chiefs for a briefing on the background of the Paris summit collapse. The congressional leaders provided no immediate detail but presumably the general outline was much the same as the President's radio-television report to the nation.

Other breakfast guests seconded Johnson's report of a promise of cooperation and the White House chimed in later.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said in a statement that Eisenhower discussed various aspects of the Paris meeting and the U2 plane incident.

WELCOMES INQUIRY
"The President told the leaders that he personally welcomed the bipartisan inquiry," Hagerty said. "In turn the entire group agreed that the inquiry should be conducted on a completely non-partisan and truly bipartisan basis."

"The President said that administration officials concerned would cooperate fully, and added that, of course, he would consider any recommendations such an inquiry might make."

"There was a frank and general discussion lasting over an hour," Hagerty, who sat in at the session, called it "one of the best meetings I have ever attended."

Referring to the Democrats and Republicans present, he added: "They were there as Americans and not as party members."

Hagerty said there was some discussion of the American intelligence program. He added he could go into no detail about that.

Back at the Capitol, Johnson released a statement praising Eisenhower's "open skies" stand. Johnson said he feels it was the most important part of the speech the President broadcast.

"The open skies proposal would go a long way toward building a world of real peace and freedom," Johnson's report that Eisenhower pledged full cooperation with congressional inquiry committees was echoed by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the GOP leader.

Dirksen added that the President appreciated the bipartisan backing he has received and made "a plea for unanimity of spirit and feeling."

Some of the other legislators who attended, who asked not to be quoted by name, described the discussion as friendly and general.

Johnson called the breakfast session a very enjoyable meeting. He said those present were invited to ask questions, and did so.

OUTLINES PLANS
Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, outlined for the President the plans for his group's inquiry, which will start Friday. Johnson also referred to investigations planned by other congressional committees.

"We are all in this together, and we are treating mistakes as errors," Johnson said.

"Our big objective is to bring about American solidarity," Eisenhower invited 10 senators and 13 House members to a breakfast of oatmeal, scrambled eggs, ham and bacon.

In addition to Johnson, Dirksen, and Fulbright, those invited were: Sens. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.); Styles Bridges (R-NH); Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.); Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.); Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.); Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.); and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.).

OTHER GUESTS
House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.); and Reps. John McCormack (D-Mass.); Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.); Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.); John Taber (R-NV); Carl Vinson (D-Ga.); Leslie C. Arends (R-Ill.); Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.); Robert B. Chaperin (R-Ill.); John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.); Charles B. Hoeven (R-Iowa); Carl Albert (D-Okla.); and Leo Allen (R-Ill.).

Also on hand were Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., and Undersecretary of State Livingston T. Merchant.

In the broadcast Wednesday night, Eisenhower called for "reason and common sense." He defended the flight of the U2 spy plane as essential to national security.

There were those—like Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn)—who said Eisenhower's speech "raises more questions than it answers."

But Gore went along with the view of Mansfield, assistant Senate majority leader, who called it "a frank report and a realistic appraisal." Rayburn said Eisenhower "gave a fair explanation of why the conference at Paris failed."

VOICE BEAMED
Eisenhower's address was beamed throughout the world by the Voice of America in the hope the Soviet Union would permit its penetration behind the Iron Curtain.

Eisenhower took some comfort from the fact that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, upon whom he laid blame for the collapse of the Paris summit meeting, "did not go beyond invective—a time-worn Soviet device to achieve an immediate objective."

Some senators, like Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) contended there was little prospect for having "business-like dealings with the Russian leaders" in view of their failure to live up to earlier agreements.

And others, like Gore, contended Eisenhower "failed to face up to the extremes of ineptitude that led to the worst diplomatic debacle that human experience affords."

Gore said Eisenhower left the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in hearings starting Friday "no choice but to probe deeply into the failure of policy and lack of coordination and acts of national humiliation."

Schools Near End Of Year

Big Spring schools are rapidly nearing the finish line of another year.

Elementary schools in the system complete their schedules this afternoon.

Today Senior High and both of the junior highs are having the last of final examinations. Friday at 2 p.m. pupils will report to their home rooms to receive report cards.

Another rehearsal for seniors has been called at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Municipal Auditorium by Roy D. Worley, high school principal, to prepare for the baccalaureate at 8:15 p.m. Sunday and commencement at the same hour on Monday.

The Rev. Frank Pollard, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church, is to deliver the baccalaureate. Melinda Crocker will play the professional, Delores Howard the recessional, Wayne Williams will word the invocation and Jeanne Hammon the benediction. Mary Jane Engstrom will read the Scripture and James Kinman, accompanied by Sally Adair, will sing.

One-Sided Vote Backs America

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council rejected by a one-sided vote today a Soviet attempt to brand the United States as an aggressor for sending spy planes over Russian territory.

Despite a vigorous last-minute attack on the United States, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko failed to win any Western or neutral support for his tough resolution.

The vote was 2 in favor, 7 against and 2 abstaining. Only Communist Poland joined the Soviet Union in voting for the proposal. Tunisia and Ceylon abstained.

The vote was two in favor, seven against and two abstaining. Only Communist Poland joined the Soviet Union in voting for the proposal. Tunisia and Ceylon abstained.

The vote came after a last-minute clash between Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Lodge accused the Soviet Union of distorting U.S. policy and bringing the spy plane case before the U.N. in a deliberate attempt to renew the cold war.

Lodge charged the Kremlin with maintaining a vast spy ring, and he dramatically displayed a listening device which he said the Soviet authorities had managed to plant in the office of U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow.

Earlier Gromyko had blasted President Eisenhower's address to the nation as confirmation of "a dangerous policy." Gromyko declared the speech could only aggravate the situation.

Lodge denied that the United States had committed any aggression against the Soviet Union by its intelligence flights. He said, in fact, it would be impossible under the U.S. Constitution for the United States to commit aggression.

Then he asked: "Why is the Soviet Union, after sponsoring friendship and co-existence, suddenly beating the drums of the cold war? I do not know, but surely the peoples of all the world must be asking this question."

Gromyko bluntly rejected Eisenhower's bid for an international aerial surveillance system. He called it a scheme to spy on the Soviet Union. He also warned that any new flights over Soviet territory would be "duly repulsed."

The Soviet foreign minister gave his initial reaction to the Eisenhower speech in a statement to newsmen just before beginning his council speech.

Gromyko said: "The statement of the President is not satisfactory. It does not change the situation. I would say in reality that it only aggravates the situation because it is the confirmation of the dangerous policy of the United States in regard to the Soviet Union."

In the council debate Wednesday the Ceylonese delegate, Sir Claude Corea, urged Gromyko not to push his resolution to a decision.

Corea asked Gromyko to accept Eisenhower's assurance at the summit conference that the flights had stopped. To insist on a condemnation, he said, would only "impair good will" between the two big powers and make it more difficult for them to better their relations.

At the same time Corea rejected the U.S. argument that reconnaissance flights over the Soviet Union were necessary to prevent surprise attack. He said this was no justification for violating another country's air space, but that Eisenhower's announcement the flights had been stopped "must be recognized as the policy of the United States government."

Mongi Slim of Tunisia deplored the mistrust that prompted the U2 flight on May Day but said the resultant Soviet interruption of the summit conference was "still more serious."

Congress GOPs Like Rocky Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans in Congress generally agreed today it's fine to have Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller call if Vice President Richard M. Nixon unaccountably stumbles in his run for the GOP presidential nomination.

Nursing Home Seminar Concludes On Discussions

Dr. Helen B. Campbell, nutrition consultant for the Texas State Department of Health in Austin, spoke at the seminar for nursing home operators this morning, discussing several ideas on how to better feed patients of the homes.

The seminar, held Wednesday and today in the police building, featured various lectures on different phases of care and nursing home operations.

Dr. Campbell also gave some tips on how to buy and prepare food more economically and yet maintain a better diet for patients.

Following the lecture, Dr. Campbell held a group discussion of diets and menu planning.

At 1:30 p.m. today the seminar was to have begun its final session. John T. Warren, field worker for the State Health Department in Austin, was to speak on food service and sanitation.

Following his talk and some films on food preparation, Warren and Lige Fox, senior sanitarian of the Big Spring Health Department, were to lead a group discussion on all the areas covered during the Seminar.

Fox indicated that about 10 more registrants had been signed up this morning, running the approximate total of registrants to 60.

Fox said that the classes, sponsored jointly by the Howard County Health Department and the Texas State Department of Health, could be considered an overwhelming success.

"Probably the most contributing factor to the success of the seminar," said Fox, "is the group discussions in which everybody present took an active part."

The seminar was to continue through 4 p.m. today.

Plan For State Secretary As Chief Aide Presented

WASHINGTON (AP)—A plan to make the secretary of state the president's chief officer for all national security affairs — including overseas military matters — was offered to the Senate today.

George F. Kennan, former ambassador to the Soviet Union, said this proposal would give the United States "a better coordination of military policy with national policy generally than we have had in recent years."

His testimony was prepared for the subcommittee on national policy machinery headed by Sen.

Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash). The hearings are aimed at finding and eliminating the causes of lapses, delays and rigidities in the government's decision-making process.

Kennan avoided reference to any specific cold war decisions, including the handling of the U2 spy plane incidents and other events preceding the collapse of the summit meeting last week.

But Kennan said "organizational deficiencies" and "cumbersomeness of our governmental machinery" have been important factors in "hampering our performance as a world power."

Bishop Urges Devotion In Personal Work

AMARILLO (AP)—Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas Wednesday night urged a deeper devotion on the part of Methodist ministers and laymen in personal evangelism.

Bishop Martin, speaking at the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference, noted that an increasing number of churches in the conference had reported no additions on profession of faith during the past year.

He said that in the previous year 48 churches and 31 charges reported no additions on the profession of faith and that during the year just ended the figure had increased to 57 churches and 35 charges.

The conference was told that churches in the nine districts comprising the Northwest Conference now have membership totaling 105,872, a gain of 942 the past year.

Reports of district superintendents showed that last year 2,769 members were received on profession of faith or by restoration; 5,297 were received by certificate from other Methodist churches, and 855 were received from other denominations.

The conference approved a proposal for the reorganization of the administrative council for the new 4-year period.

Under the new plan the council, which oversees and coordinates the overall program of the conference, will consist of the bishop, district superintendents, one minister and one layman from each conference board, all members of the Commission on World Service and Finance, the conference president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, the president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, the conference promotional secretary of the Women's Society of Christian Service, the secretary and treasurer of the conference and five pastors at large.

MASTER PLAN

Thoroughfare Planning Closely Tied To Growth

(This is the fourth article in a series on the first phase presentation of Marvin Springer's Master Plan recommendations.—Ed.)

An expanded area with more people and more housing calls for more streets. Additional population and area would be self-defeating if residents could not travel through the city with relative ease.

Thus, Marvin Springer's next recommendations concern thoroughfares. The city planner points out that "nearly as much land is devoted to space for the accommodation of the motor vehicle as is occupied by all types of residential development." Thus, streets are an important feature of the city.

He emphasizes the importance of an overall thoroughfare plan, and its part in the complete planning of the city.

PAVING NEEDED

Beginning with the present street system, Springer notes that recent street development has included paved surfaces varying between 30 and 56 feet. However, older sections are largely unpaved. "The unpaved streets often constitute a serious and costly maintenance problem, particularly in areas of sandy soils and steep grades."

Springer said paving of short streets is costly and often an excessive burden to adjacent property owners. He suggests such streets be eliminated from future plans. He also suggests abandoning some such streets now, returning them to private housing or play areas.

He points out that major arteries are presently in a variety of sizes. He recommends a standard-size for various types of major thoroughfares. He emphatically recommends that all unpaved streets be surfaced as quickly as practicable, with particular emphasis on streets connecting major parts of the city.

NO PLAN

"It is obvious that no overall plan of thoroughfare development... has guided the street development in Big Spring." He suggests that a new pattern of thoroughfares should take advantage of what exists, but that a development plan should be devised to follow in the future.

The planner calls the two bridges over the T&P railroad inadequate. He recommends they be widened or additional crossings be installed.

Turning to cars, Big Spring compares with Dallas and California in the number of persons per automobile registered in the county. And this ratio has steadily increased since 1930. At that time, there were 3.2 persons for every registered vehicle. By 1940, there were 2.7. In 1950, the ratio was 2.1 and it was estimated at 1.9 in 1960. This latter figure is based on 14,687 passenger cars and 3,976 trucks for a total of 18,663 vehicles registered in this county.

MORE CARS SEEN

Springer estimates this increase will continue and that by 1960, there will be 1.75 persons per vehicle. Based on his population estimates, there would be 35,000-45,000 vehicles operating on city streets within the next 20 years. With so many vehicles in operation, where do our residents go? Springer has figures to answer this question also. He estimates that 44 per cent of all trips made in Big Spring are residents going home. This is the largest percentage of all trips made in the city.

The rest of the trips, and their percentages of the total, include: To work, 23.9; for business, 7.9; for medical, 1.5; to school, 1.2; for social, 8.4; to change transportation, 0.1; to eat a meal, 2.9; to shop, 8.6; to serve passenger, 1.5.

41,400 TRIPS DAILY

In an average day, Springer said 41,400 trips are made in the city. In addition, there is an equal number of trips being made into, out of, or through the city.

Regarding trips within the city, the downtown area generates the heaviest volume of traffic. That is, most of the trips are going to or leaving the center of Big Spring. Webb AFB is the next most important generator of traffic.

Regarding trips outside the city, an average of 27,330 are made daily on U.S. 80, going in both directions. However, only 12 per cent (3,290) passed through without making an essential stop.

In other words, most of the highway traffic is either destined for Big Spring or leaving Big Spring, with a small percentage merely passing through.

With projected growth in mind,

Springer estimates there will be 233,000 trips daily made within and through the city by 1960.

ELEMENTS OF PLAN

Turning to our planning, he lists six elements required in the thoroughfare plan. They include increased capacity to the downtown district; at least one east-west thoroughfare connecting Webb AFB to residential areas on the east; connecting streets to the top of South Mountain; improved streets to the Cosden refinery area; adequate interchanges on Interstate 30; and major thoroughfares should avoid schools.

Next, Springer lists eight proposals to be included in his major thoroughfare plan. He suggests that Gregg and Scurry should be one-way streets with a new viaduct across the T&P railway tracks to connect Scurry.

Baylor Blvd. should be extended from 3rd and 4th Sts. to the top of South Mountain. He recommends extending Benton through the city and on top of South Mountain, via Owens, Donley or Young. A widened bridge on Benton is also recommended.

REMAIN ONE-WAY

Springer points out that 3rd and 4th Sts. (U.S. 80) should remain one-way streets, even though Interstate 20 will take most of the through traffic. Eleventh Place should be a major east-west artery, although he points out that an overpass will be necessary over Main.

The planner recommends that FM-700 be extended north of East U.S. 80 to connect with SH-350 and it be connected with Eleventh Place on the west side. Access roads to South Mountain are recommended as mentioned in other parts.

He suggests that plans should be made for a north loop around the city which would be used as a route to Webb AFB from that area.

Once a plan is formulated, Springer recommends that all projects should be in accord with the plan or the plan changed to be in accord with the projects. All new subdivisions should follow the thoroughfare plan also, he said.

ZONING AFFECTS PLAN

Any changes in land use or zoning should be considered in light of the thoroughfare plan. The planner said traffic movement should be a determining factor in zoning changes.

Front yard lines and adequate parking are other points he suggested as important to the thoroughfare plan. He suggested that the city, county and state should work closely together in planning thoroughfares.

And although the city now has a variety of street widths, Springer recommends these be standardized in just six types. Three of them, with paved surfaces of 30, 36 and 44 feet, would be similar to many existing streets. The other three, with 24, 30 and 33 feet paving on each side of a median, would be major thoroughfares.

Springer said a median of less than 14 feet is practically worthless. This width allows enough room at intersections for a protected turning lane.

Cotton Trade At Its Peak

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Cotton production, consumption and trade all are at peak levels this season and there has been a recovery in cotton prices, according to the annual review of the International Cotton Advisory Committee. The review was presented Wednesday at the 19th plenary meeting of the committee here.

The general tenor of the report was optimistic but it warned that it would not be prudent to ignore many problems that remain to be solved.

The review was given by J. C. Santly, economist of the committee in Washington.

The report says exports to the Communist countries, amounting now to 1.5 million bales annually, has been of mutual benefit to participating countries and a major factor in the reduction of the cotton surplus.

However, the report adds, it introduces a further element of uncertainty into any realistic appraisal of cotton's future.

Talking about U.S. cotton exports, the report said an increase was "inevitable" owing to reduced availabilities in other countries but it goes on, price developments have also been important.

"Exports are expected to exceed 6.5 million bales which will result in a further liquidation of stocks" in the United States.

The heartening fact about the cotton situation this season, said the report, is the upsurge in consumption, "for here is the ultimate and only satisfactory solution to the world cotton's problems."

Total consumption was estimated at 30.8 million bales compared to 29.1 millions in 1958-59, the largest single increase in any one season since the Korean crisis.

The key factor in the price outlook is demand, the report said. "Given the maintenance of the present level of consumption and continued active interest on the part of the Communist countries, the price outlook is far from discouraging."

All things considered, the report ends, the outlook for next season seems to be a reasonably optimistic one. "Problems there will be, but the mere awareness of these is surely a step in their ultimate solution."

Army Dissention In Korea Reported

Gen. Carter Magruder, the U.N. commander, called for new unity in the army, which he described as "one of the greatest forces for stability; for law and order in Korea."

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

On this day in 1933 the federal courts finally upheld the Texas Railroad Commission's authority to regulate oil production, and field prorations became an actuality.

A three-judge court confirmed the Commission's April proration order, which based production on a well's potential as determined by key wells in the various fields. The decision brought to a virtual end the long series of injunctions which had stripped the Commission's orders of their full effect.

Almost all previous high court reviews had gone against the state's efforts to control oil output. In June, 1931, the Commission filed the daily maximum withdrawal of East Texas oil at 400,000 barrels, a figure based on expert advice from engineers and geologists. A federal court ruled this order was based on market demand rather than physical waste and was therefore illegal. Late in 1932 a federal court enjoined Governor Sterling from enforcing oil regulations in East Texas with National Guardsmen under a proclamation of martial law. Still later federal investigators were denied access to refineries suspected of violations.

Actually it was 1935 before control really became effective.

Dallas School Board Follows Race Plan Ban With New Idea

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas School Board came up with a new integration plan Wednesday night just hours after U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson rejected a plan he said would cause "amalgamation of the races."

School Board President Franklin Spafford said the plan will be filed with Davidson this week.

Basically, the plan says pupils and parents who wish integrated schools will be provided such schools starting September, 1961. Those not wishing to attend integrated schools may attend segregated schools. The plan involves all grades.

"We had considered salt and pepper ideas before," Spafford said, "so it wasn't difficult to put the plan down on paper."

R. L. Dillard Jr., board member, said the plan depends on a favorable vote in an election demanded by Texas law before schools can integrate.

Spafford said the only difference between the plan outlined Wednesday night and the one rejected by the judge was the way in which the schools integrate—individual choice or one grade at a time.

More than 31,500 signatures have been obtained on petitions calling for a referendum on school integration. Another 10,500 are needed.

Davidson rejected attorney's plans for integration of Dallas schools because of what he called "the experience—that integration has undergone in the District of Columbia."

The 83-year-old jurist, turned down a plan calling for the integration of one grade at a time starting in 1961.

Davidson talked for nearly two hours and left attorneys so confused that Thurgood Marshall, chief lawyer for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, commented: "I don't know what the ruling is... let me out of here."

Davidson later told a newsman that "the effect of my remarks were that the school board will be given 30 days to reform their plan and submit it to the court, or tell the judge they cannot come up with a better one."

School integration has been ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court and the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans has ordered the school board to integrate "with all deliberate speed."

In a recorded interview with Eddie Barker, news director of KRLL in Dallas, the judge said another reason for rejecting the school board's plan was that it would lead to "an amalgamation of the races."

Soviet Seaman A Grateful Man

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Soviet seaman Ivan Baluk leaves today, grateful for the American medical care that nursed him back to good health.

The Soviet trawler Masalsk, fishing offshore, got permission to return to pick up its 26-year-old crewman, the Coast Guard said. The trawler brought Baluk here last weekend after he became ill at sea.

Doctors pronounced the ruddy-faced Kalingrad seafarer recovered Wednesday from his sickness, an upper respiratory infection complicated by adverse reaction to sulfa drugs administered at sea.

The trawler, with its crew of 26 men and 2 women, docked here Saturday through Monday, attracting great attention. Although the trawler was south of the normal fishing waters, a State Department search turned up nothing suspicious.

Final Phase Of Controversial Gas Tax Case Set In 3 Weeks

AUSTIN (AP)—The final phase of the controversial gas tax at the District Court level will be presented three weeks from today when the state and the protesting pipeline companies make oral arguments.

At stake is 15 million dollars a year in revenue for the state with a long range aspect that the Legislature may increase the rate if the tax is finally held constitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. concluded a 2-day attack on the tax Wednesday before 12th District Court Judge Jack Roberts.

The company presented Jack

Furman, of Foster Associates, Inc., Washington, D.C. as the final witness. His company furnishes clients with various types of field price data and other reports filed before the Federal Power Commission.

Furman, an attorney, said it would be "a tremendous task" to determine the market value and that any two experts taking on such a task would invariably come up with different figures.

He said many prices exist in a field for the same type of gas delivered in the same form by the same method of transportation. Furman said there are 314 rate schedules for three counties, Jim Wells, Kleberg and Nueces, which Tennessee Gas Transmission serves. He said the price ranges from 1.72 cents to 18.23 cents a 1,000 cubic feet.

He explained the prices vary depending on the type of contract entered into. Some are based on the life of the field, others have fixed escalator clauses based on various factors, and others provide for higher prices when the buyer pays higher prices to other sellers.

"No matter what is in the contract, the final price depends on what is approved by the FPC," he said, adding that the price being paid does not necessarily reflect the market value of gas.

Furman admitted under cross examination that the section of the act was not unconstitutional.

The "severance beneficiary" tax is based on a rate of 1/2 per cent of market value per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. The tax is aimed at the person or company who has the use or benefit from the production of gas dedicated over a number of years.

William Witmer, senior vice president of the company from Houston, had testified that the company cannot control the flow of gas it receives from the producers and thus has no assured benefit from any dedicated gas. The state contended if Witmer is right the burden of the tax will fall entirely on Texas gas producers.

Asst. Atty. Gen. W. V. Geppert said, "I think, however, that the producers are going to have a little something to say about that."

Garland, Storm Victim, Suffers Heavy Damage

By The Associated Press

The full force of a thunderstorm that hit Dallas and Fort Worth smashed into Garland Wednesday night causing an estimated $25,000 damage at the city's airport.

Violent winds destroyed one plane, damaged six others and blew a 6-ton hangar door across Northwest Highway onto a vacant lot. Garland is just northeast of Dallas.

Three tornado funnels passed over the storm area but none touched ground.

Harry Rutledge, a farmer two miles southeast of Gilmer in East Texas, said a tornado ripped the porch off his home Wednesday night and carried it more than 100 feet. He said the storm also ripped the roof off an outbuilding. Rutledge was not hurt. Rain and wind hit Upshur County but no other damage was reported.

Early Thursday the line of thunderstorms that formed just west of the Fort Worth-Dallas area had swept through Northeast Texas into Louisiana and spread southward over most of Central and East Texas. A few showers fell around San Antonio early in the day.

Skies were clear over the northern and western sections of Texas and temperatures ranged from 78 at Brownsville to 54 at Dalhart.

Light hail fell with rain at Fort Worth Wednesday night but no damage was caused.

One plane at the Garland airport was blown 400 feet onto Northwest Highway. The damage estimate was made by Airport Manager John Hewitt.

The winds damaged trees and disrupted power and telephone service at Garland and unroofed a warehouse.

Hail three-fourths of an inch in diameter fell at Lancaster, south of Dallas, and at Carrollton, on the north edge of Dallas.

Waco was hit by winds of 70 m.p.h.—greater than those of a hurricane—and more than one inch of rain fell in less than an hour. Some hail fell in Waco and in the surrounding area.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

Togo helped celebrate its full independence on April 27—after a long history of colonial rule by Germany, Great Britain and France plus a United Nations trusteeship—by issuing a set of nine new stamps.

Prime Minister Sylvanus Olympio appears holding Togo's new flag on the 20 F, 50 F, 1 F, 10 F, 20 F, and 25 F regular postage stamps. He is attired in native Kente cloth. The two airmails show the modern Hotel LeBenin. The highest value depicts an eagle flying past the map of Togo on which are the main Togo postmarks.

The ceremony hailing the announcement of independence was witnessed by representatives of 100 nations. Among the onlookers was Count Adolf Frederick of Mecklenburg, last German Governor of Togoland, known to stamp collectors for having almost successfully hidden the stock of German Togo stamps from the British-French occupation troops in 1941.

Collectors of the World Refugee Year stamps will be interested in the announcement that Minkus Publications has just issued its World Refugee Year Stamp Album. The contents contain spaces for the stamps, souvenir sheets and first day covers representing 65 nations which have issued stamps for this occasion. Future supplements will contain later issues not included in the current edition.

The U. S. Post Office Department will release a new form of the 5-cent airmail postal card at Minneapolis on June 18 in conjunction with the ninth national convention and exhibition of the American Topical Assn. This group, which is the third largest philatelic organization in the United States, will meet in Minneapolis on June 17-19. There will be two essential differences in the new airmail postal card. The stamp design will be printed in a darker red with alternating red and blue parallelograms forming a border around the address side of the card.

Giuseppe Garibaldi, Italy's patriot, will become the seventh person honored by the United States through its stamps as a "Champion of Liberty." The 4 and 8 cent adhesives will be first placed on sale at Washington, D. C. on Nov. 7.

The Post Office Department has announced that Ignace Jan Paderewski will be honored in the series later this year.

Special Texas Panel Looks At 4 Sales Tax Proposals

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Commission on State and Local Tax Policy began consideration Monday of four general sales tax studies designed to solve Texas tax troubles.

The commission got a preliminary research report on the sales tax studies from James W. McGrew, research director of the Texas Research League, a privately financed organization.

The nine-member commission and the league are making their joint review of state and local tax powers and sources at the direction of the 56th Legislature.

McGrew said the league also would make taxation data available to the 34-member State Fiscal Advisory Commission, which had its first meeting last week in appointing members. Gov. Price Daniel asked them to look for new tax sources other than a general sales or income tax.

McGrew said the tax policy group planned first to study re-evaluation of present tax laws, then make a study of the state valorem or property tax.

He presented charts and data showing that a selected family of four persons would pay lower state taxes in Texas than in any other state except New Jersey and New Hampshire. He said the selected family would pay $55 in non-compulsory general taxes in Texas while the average in other states is only $33.

"No other state depends as much on personal habits of taxpayers as does Texas," McGrew said in reference to the state's selective taxes on tobacco, beer and distilled spirits.

McGrew gave the Tax Policy Commission preliminary figures on four sales tax proposals based on taxation of 65, 57, 50 and 33 per cent of a person's income. He said in many instances a two per cent sales tax would cost Texas businessmen more than the present state franchise tax.

The preliminary studies on a 2 per cent sales tax showed a net

Folder Available Explaining Law

If you employ a maid, a gardener or other domestic help around your home and they earn more than $50 a quarter, you are required to withhold Social Security tax from their salary and file a report. Ben Hawkins, administrative officer of the Big Spring Internal Revenue Service, pointed out.

Employers of such help are invited to make inquiry on whether they are required to file such reports. Hawkins suggests that any person who has such employees would do well to contact the Big Spring office, phone AM 4-2612, or write to P. O. Box 1471, Big Spring.

A circular, Circular H, Household Employers Social Security Tax guide, is available from the IRS free of charge. This pamphlet explains in simple language whether a household employer is required to file quarterly tax reports on their domestics.

Mrs. Shipp installed the new officers using the rosebud as a symbol of office, and quoting a New Testament verse applicable to each officer's necessary qualifications.

Mrs. Bruner, as president, received the rose of love; Mrs. G. Bowen Cox, first vice-president, sincerity; Mrs. Glenn Jones, 2nd vice-president, charity; Mrs. Elmer Cope, third vice-president, faith; Mrs. Hubert Nelson, corresponding secretary, courtesy; Mrs. Bill Britt, reporter, generosity; Mrs. Wade Alverson, recording secretary, unselfishness; Mrs. C. W. Tarter, parliamentarian, kindness; and Mrs. O. H. Sires, federation counselor, patience.

Completing the program hour, Mrs. Arlie Williams gave the vocal solo, "I Can Find Him Anywhere", and a former member and past president of the club, Mrs. Buster Reed of Monahans spoke on the 1960-61 Federated clubs theme, "New Dimensions."

She dealt principally with means by which new dimensions may be used in coping with the ever present "cold war", the population explosion in underdeveloped and less privileged countries and new dimensions in the space age.

Mrs. Reed described discouragement as the devil's main tool—"a wedge to tear the world apart." "The chief support of an educated people is their faith and courage to form a free world", she concluded.

During the business meeting which preceded the installation, Mrs. Frank Liddell, chairman of the community calendar, reported work on the project is in full swing and that all workers are to have their sales completed by June 10.

Mrs. Joe Spikes, chairman of the scholarship committee, announced the annual scholarship award of the club is to be presented to Moddie Jo McAllister, a Blackshear student.

Mrs. J. V. Blaylock of Houston was a guest. Welcomed as new members were Mrs. L. B. Vaughn, Mrs. Vernon Logan and Mrs. Maggie Hamilton.

Improved Diction

Pippa Scott learned much while attending a drama school in England. In today's column, she shares voice lessons with Hollywood Beauty readers. Pippa is a regular member of the "Mr. Lucky" cast on CBS-TV.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Actress Has Tricks To Improve Diction

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Pippa Scott's father wrote musicals for Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers and her mother was in the theater, so this attractive young girl never thought of being anything but an actress.

I was first attracted to her by her voice, and when I told Pippa, one afternoon in her dressing room on the "Mr. Lucky" set, she said:

"My mother will be pleased to hear that, for she has always been after me to speak distinctly. She says, 'Good diction is a part of charm too many people neglect.'"

"I think one reason my family wanted me to study at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London is because the English people speak more precisely," she added.

"What are some of the things you learned?"
"Here is an exercise to help you enunciate. Ka-tee, Ka-tay, Ka-lah, Ka-toi, Ka-too. Then, Bay, Bee, Bah, Boh, Boo.

"Another exercise to help you have full vowel tones," she went on, "is to puff out your cheeks as much as you can and then tap hard enough to force out some air. Do this to a rhythm of five."

She illustrated with little popping sounds.

An exercise to give mobility to your lips is to put. Bring your lips out as far as you can, pursed in front and then holding them together, try to rotate them first in one direction and then the other. At first you will find them stiff, but as you practice, all the muscles surrounding your lips become flexible and this will improve your speech," Pippa said earnestly.

As we were chatting I was pleasantly aware of a scent that has been a great favorite in France for half a century. When Graduation time is an exciting one regardless of the level, but college completion brings a greater satisfaction than the others, especially to parents.

A special thrill came this week for the ROSCOE NEWELLS whose son, Truett, received his degree from West Texas State College at Canyon. This was the first year the Truett K. Newell award had been presented to an outstanding senior of the college. The award was given Truett's name as he was the first president of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at the school. The fraternity sponsors the award.

Buddy Newell and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Newell and sons of Midkiff were also present for the ceremonies.

MR. AND MRS. GRANVILLE GLENN will be in College Station Saturday for graduation exercises at A&M when their son-in-law, Dewie Stevenson, will receive a degree in chemical engineering. Stevenson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Stevenson of Abilene. The Glens plan to go on to Kingsville and Corpus Christi before returning here at the end of next week.

MR. AND MRS. ROY BROWN returned Wednesday from Rails where they attended funeral services for his mother, Mrs. Charlie Brown, that were held Tuesday.

PAUL PETERSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Peterson, 1711 S. Monticello, will leave Monday morning for Gorieta, N. Mex., where he will spend the summer as a member of the staff at the Baptist Encampment.

There's going to be a spring house cleaning in the files of the Herald's Women's Department. There are many pictures of brides, feature photos and food page pictures that have been held for some time. It's about time now to get a clean start. If you have left a picture with us and failed to pick it up—do it now. Come June 15 there's going to be fewer faces in the files.

MR. AND MRS. ROB ETHRIDGE and MRS. PAUL ALLEN are visiting in Fort Worth and Dallas.

MRS. BROOKS SULLIVAN of Austin is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. P. Cauble, and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Petty. Also a guest in the Cauble home is Billy Sullivan who is at present working with a repair crew at Webb. He is stationed at Kelly Field.

Spy Incident Forces Switch To Old Ways

By C. YATES McDANIEL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The suspension of U2 plane flights over the Soviet Union has forced the United States to fall back on more conventional espionage practices—until still-untried space spies can take up the slack.

Until that time—and it could be many months away—U.S. officials probably will have to do without the flow of clear photographs which could help them know what is going on within the Soviet Union.

A satellite system designed to provide such photographs is in the works. But the first test firing of the Samsos isn't scheduled until September and much longer time will be needed to get a series of them in orbit and operating satisfactorily.

Photographs, though taken from great heights, provide important clues to where the Soviets are getting up missile bases, how they are placing their manned bombers and what they are doing with their other military forces.

Such information is important in determining the chance of a Soviet surprise attack, as this country noted in publicly defending its use of the U2 planes.

With the U2 flights abandoned, information will have to be pieced together painstakingly from refugees, observant travelers, published documents and various other intelligence sources including, where they are used, said agents.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) during the weekend called for a crash program to develop the Samsos spy satellite. But Air Force officials only recently told Congress that the Samsos project had the highest national priority and was moving ahead as fast as science could make it go.

The Air Force launched this week a test model of the Midas satellite, which quickly was dubbed a space spy. It isn't designed only to detect the actual launching of ballistic missiles.

The VA, which is observing its 30th anniversary in July, has 173 hospitals and is the largest hospital system in the world. Each of these buildings is a city within itself.

Along with the remainder of the country's hospitals, the VA is experiencing a new problem, that of elderly patients. Little more than three decades ago only 10 percent of patients were 55 years or older.

Big Spring has been helpful to the VA ministry here, he added, through its friendliness and willingness to take part in the volunteer services program.

People said they expect other Negro students who sought admission to Central Hall or still-white Technical High to ask for reassignment under state pupil placement laws.

Guilty Plea Entered In School Theft

STANTON — Robert L. Tipton, former Flower Grove high school teacher, pleaded guilty to embezzlement in 118th District Court here Wednesday afternoon. Judge Ralph Caton accepted the plea.

Tipton was sentenced to five years and the sentence probated. A stipulation in the probation was that he repay $707 he admitted taking from the Flower Grove senior class fund Oct. 31, 1959.

Tipton, who vanished from the Flower Grove campus on Halloween night 1959, was later arrested in Arkansas and returned to Martin County. He has been in the Martin County jail since that time. He was indicted by a Martin County grand jury for embezzling the senior class funds.

Gil Jones, district attorney, recommended the probated sentence provided the former teacher make restitution of the money taken from the class funds. As class sponsor, Tipton had the money in his custody.

J. D. McNamara, Midland, was defense attorney.

School board members at the Flower Grove school personally made up the $700 missing from the class fund in order that the graduating class might not be deprived of its class annual. The stolen money, raised by various class activities, had been earmarked to provide the annual.

Navy Probes Ship Collision

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Navy Board of Inquiry had before it today the question of why the mighty aircraft carrier Saratoga and a West German ore ship collided in clear weather off the Virginia coast early Wednesday.

There were no injuries or casualties among the 35-man crew of the merchantman, the Bernd Leonhardt, or the 2,400 men and 160 officers on the Saratoga.

The 60,000-ton carrier, one of the world's largest, was due to enter the Norfolk Navy shipyard today for repairs which a survey team estimated would take two weeks.

Naval spokesmen said there was no immediate explanation of the cause of the collision.

Husband Admits Wife Death Plot LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police say a young husband admits he hired a youth to kill his estranged wife—because he didn't want to pay her child support payments.

Both were arrested Wednesday and booked on suspicion of conspiracy to commit murder.

Police said Collins J. Williams, 21, hired Larry E. Butler, 18, for $400 to kill Linda Williams, mother of his son.

A motel manager reported Butler to police because he thought his girl companion was underage.

Police arrested Butler and a 14-year-old runaway girl, and in his room found a letter describing the plot.

Williams' wife was reported in Las Vegas, Nev., getting a divorce.

Happy Reunion CMS Richard J. Wallace says so-long to two Thailander friends at Webb's flight line this morning.

Thailand Visitors Hold Reunion With Airman An official inspection turned into a personal visit yesterday, with pleasant reminiscences for two of Webb's three visiting Royal Thai Air Force colonels, and for CMS Richard J. Wallace, non-com-in-charge of Maintenance Standardization Branch.

Hearing that Thailanders were at Webb's flight line this morning, they are (left to right) Col. Singh Siricupta and Col. Chanya Chulajata, both of whom commanded the Royal Thai Air Force squadron to which the sergeant was assigned, in Bangkok, as technical advisor, in 1952-54.

The sergeant and Colonel Chulajata continued their reminiscing into the night, at the Wallace home. The sergeant's wife, Eleanor, and daughter, Sue, had been with him in Thailand and also knew the colonel there, where he had presented the family with one of his country's Siamese cats.

The colonel reported that a 30.06 rifle which he had obtained from Wallace he had been put to good use—in bagging one of the huge wild bulls (weighing upward of two tons) which make Thailand famous among big-game hunters of the world.

Describing his overseas tour, Wallace pointed out that Thailanders prefer to be called "Thais" instead of the Chinese-derived "Siamese". They always refer to their country as Thailand ("Free-Land") instead of Siam, which in Chinese means "Land of Gold".

The Thais' dislike of things Chinese will become increasingly apparent to Americans as more and more new maps are printed in this country. Krung Thep is replacing the long-familiar Bangkok on Western maps and charts. The reason is Bangkok is also a Chinese word.

The Thai language, Wallace pointed out, is rooted in Sanskrit and Hindustani. Only the numerals, as in all other major Asiatic languages, are derived from the Chinese.

Wallace accompanied the party through the final part of their base tour today and saw them off at the flight line. Other Thai members of the party is Col. Choey Khambanonda.

The group came here from Washington, D. C., and went on to Sheppard AFB, Texas, as next stop in their itinerary.

Tidal Alert Cares Hiloans

HONOLULU (AP)—A sudden wave alert sent Hawaiians high ground for more than two hours Wednesday and Thursday, already shattered by Monday's giant waves, and panicked.

But all was calm by mid-afternoon when a wave expected by the Hawaiian Islands failed to materialize. Christmas Island and the Hawaiian main, is on the Pacific coast, and the storm-torn Chilean coast.

Residents of Hilo, still searching for bodies in the debris from Monday's disastrous wave, fled to areas by foot, auto and any other available transportation.

Residents returned to their homes after the all-clear. In Hilo they returned to the task of assessing their Monday toll: 45 dead, 53 injured and at least 15 missing.

A brief alert was signaled on the California coast Wednesday coincident with the one in Hawaii but no tidal wave developed.

Cities' Growth Boosts Texas To 9.5 Million

Texas' major cities—growing bigger all the time—boosted the state's population to about 9½ million people.

An unofficial tabulation by The Associated Press Thursday showed that while big cities helped increase the state's population by about 2 million from the 1950 figure of 7,711,194, the wide open rural areas have lost residents in the past 10 years.

Official preliminary figures are still out for such large counties as Dallas, Harris, Grimes, Fort Bend and Galveston.

But reliable estimates place Dallas County's 1960 figure at near 944,513 and Harris County, which includes Houston, is expected to be close to 1,214,000. Houston itself expects to bring its figure up to 950,000.

Galveston is one of the few big cities to lose population. The city fell from 66,568 in 1950 to 65,662 this year while Galveston County should show a sizeable increase. Fort Bend County also is expected to show an increase.

Some counties showed decreases in population even though major cities within the counties had increases.

LOSS OF ONE
Loving County in far West Texas had 227 persons in 1950 but this year showed only 226 people. It has long been the nation's least populous county.

The Amarillo Chamber of Commerce Wednesday proposed a federal census every five years instead of every 10 years. They cited the needs among business and professional people for up-to-date figures.

Figures from El Paso showed that city ranks fifth in the state with an increase of 108 per cent in population in the last 10 years. In 1950 the city had 150,485 persons and now has 271,903. The county had a 59 per cent increase during 10 years growing from 194,968 to 310,338.

The new figures puts El Paso ahead of Austin with 87,000 more residents than the capital city.

A preliminary census total puts the East Texas City of Kilgore above the 10,000 mark with 10,047 residents for a gain of 409 over 1950.

Here's how the 9½ million total was arrived at:

Figures formally announced for 294 counties show a population of 7,158,134. The "official estimate" for Dallas County is 944,513 bringing the state total to 8,102,647. Harris County's expected 1,214,000 brings the total to 9,316,647 and the 1950 figures for three missing counties raises the total to 9,475,888.

INCREASE SEEN
To this 9,475,888 total can be added the "substantial increase" forecast for Galveston County and the increase expected in Fort Bend County. Figures announced so far are preliminary and in many cities campaigns are on to find the uncounted.

Figures announced Wednesday showed good growth in most instances.

Palestine was up from 12,503 to 13,947, Jacksonville from 8,607 to 9,532, Athens from 5,194 to 7,045, Comroe from 7,298 to 9,169, Huntsville from 9,839 to 12,037, Nacogdoches from 12,327 to 12,660.

Victoria more than doubled, from 16,126 to 32,706, Bay City grew from 9,427 to 11,580, Freeport from 6,012 to 11,492, and Port Lavaca from 5,599 to 5,694.

But these figures didn't compare with some of the big city figures of West Texas: Midland from 21,713 to 59,532, Abilene almost doubling in growing to 89,428, and Amarillo climbing from 74,246 to 137,063.

An incomplete report gives Dallas 672,116 compared to 434,462 in 1950. San Antonio is up from 408,442 to 584,471. Fort Worth from 278,778 to 356,149. Austin grew from 132,459 to 184,850 and Corpus Christi by nearly 54 per cent to 166,717. Lubbock in West Texas climbed from 71,474 to 128,068 and Wichita Falls got into the 100,000 class, growing from 60,042 to 101,040.

Hospital Is Dedicated

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Delegates to the Southwest Texas Methodist Conference attended ground-breaking ceremonies Wednesday for the Southwest Medical Hospital.

The ceremonies before the churchmen included a simulated A-bomb blast that followed a count-down by Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston.

The hospital is designed to function even though an A-bomb is exploded nearby.

Activities for the delegates attending the conference meeting today included business sessions, reports from commissions, and an ordination service. Appointments for the coming year are on tap Friday.

Dr. Monroe Vivion told delegates Wednesday that the Methodist Church has made "outstanding progress" in Texas since Col. William B. Travis wrote in an 1835 Methodist paper:

"In sending your heralds to the four corners of the earth, remember Texas."

Travis a year later commanded the garrison at the Alamo which met defeat from Santa Anna's Mexican forces.

Vivion, executive secretary of the Texas Methodist Foundation, said the denomination has a statewide membership of about 750,000 and a constituency of almost 3 million.

Salvation Army Celebrates 80th Birthday This Week

This week the Salvation Army is observing its 80th birthday in the United States. In Big Spring, the anniversary date would be something less than 30 although the Salvation Army came here first in 1929. There were a few years that the work was suspended until Maj. and Mrs. L. W. Ganning re-established it in the mid-30s.

Today the post is busier than ever. Economic displacements of the past two years have set a new wave of transients in motion, and Big Spring has had more than its share of these appeals. With them have come an increase in local family service requests, etc.

DORA ROBERTS CITADEL

Largely through the beneficence of Mrs. Dora Roberts, in whose memory the citadel is named, the Salvation Army carries out much of its ministry from Fourth and Ayford Streets. Capt. and Mrs. James Jay are the commanding officers, having come here from Lufkin a year ago.

Because the charity load mounted faster than budgetary support, the Salvation Army literally went into the red, but gradually it is whittling away its deficit.

Because the citadel, which contains a church auditorium as well as offices, basement storage area, etc., the center here also contains a transient dormitory provided by the Dora Roberts Foundation.

ASSISTS TRANSIENTS

Last year, the post here assisted 4,638 transients, supplying 9,068 meals and 4,480 lodgings. A minor amount of transportation was supplied along with 6,529 garments. Some 300 were assisted in finding work.

There are more than 300 local family service cases in the field, and during an average month, 80 to 90 will be assisted in one way or another. Last year 59 emergency grocery orders were issued, 26,494 garments supplied and 2,483 new and used shoes issued. Local people provide most of the clothing and used shoes, and some shoe stores have been cooperative in helping provide other shoes.

227 BASKETS

At Christmas time 1,416 persons were assisted with 227 baskets.

Through the help of the Big Spring city firemen, who carried out their annual good turn of repairing toys, a total of 1,758 playthings were supplied.

Besides this type of work, the Salvation Army carries on its religious ministry which includes Sunday School, adult Bible classes, morning and evening worship services together with youth leadership training classes on Sunday, and a mid-week prayer service each Wednesday. Periodical street meetings are part of the program, as well as counseling with individuals on emotional and spiritual problems.

INCLUDES GUIDANCE

The program includes recreational activities for youngsters and teen-agers together with special guidance in spiritual matters, Biblical history, etc. These include the Young People's Legion for teen-agers, the Sunbeams, small girls group; Girls Guards, older girls group; and a Boy Scout troop. Mothers join in the home league which meets weekly to study home management and child care as well as for spiritual fellowship.

The Salvation Army also stands ready to help in case of disasters, to assist stranded families, help work out marital problems, cooperate in parole matters and assist unwed mothers in a variety of ways.

GARDEN TALK

Some Ways In Which You Can Beat Drought

Drought is the enemy of all gardeners of this area. There is the prolonged drought and the short acute drought—that brings the hot dry searing winds. Either one is serious.

As I write this we are experiencing a little of both types. I understand that the water in Lake Thomas is falling rather steadily. Farmers tell me daily of young crops that are suffering, or of the inability to get started with any crop at all. All these things are symptomatic of drought and more problems likely to come.

I have several requests to write about ways to combat these drought problems, and there are several things that can be done. First the soil can be protected with a mulch of organic matter, peat moss, cane litter, straw, cotton burs, or any convenient mulch. This will help hold that moisture there is in the soil. Then the elimination of the competition of weeds helps. Keeping beds mulched and free of weeds may be varied by keeping beds covered with gravel.

The Truman Jones home and the Delbert Stanley place both have been landscaped with native plants and desert shrubs. This is one way to solve the problem of droughts. The Stanleys have a cactus landscape job that is truly beautiful. You may drive by their place on Philips St. on the south end of Birdwell Lane.

Walls and fences help protect plants from the hot dry winds that damage gardens. You will notice that the desert landscapes feature patios that are protected. The protection from wind is most important in making the best use possible of dry area plantings.

Choice of plants helps make droughts less of a problem. For example, mesquite, cenizo, and yucca work well in a landscape plan. These are desert plants and in the event that water is in short supply next summer, they will surely survive better than those which require more water.

For a patio, try a fountain. It may not really cool the place but watching the water flow will make you think it is cooler. These fountains may be run by a pump from an air conditioner, and the effects possible with them are unlimited. These are just a few of the ways you can beat the drought and heat.

For answers to your garden questions, write Bruce Frazier in care of The Herald.

LT. COL. H. J. TILLMAN

Tillman Will Command ROTC

Lt. Col. Herman J. Tillman will take command of the ROTC Summer Training Unit from Lt. Col. Leland A. Younkin who has recently taken over as commander of Pilot Training Group. Approximately 200 cadets are due to arrive in June for a four week stay at Webb. Most of the future Air Force officers are from Texas colleges and universities.

Special Exam Set By IRS

Second annual examination for special enrollment to practice as a taxpayer's agent, before the Internal Revenue Service, has been slated for Sept. 8 and 9.

These written examinations, Ben Hawkins, administrative officer of the Big Spring IRS office, said, are to test the technical competency of persons who seek enrollment as agents and who are neither attorneys, CPAs nor ex-IRS employees.

The first of these special enrollment examinations was in June, 1959, Hawkins said. Approximately 2,500 applications to take the examination were received throughout the country.

Of that number, 2,158 were qualified and allowed to take the exams. Of those participating, 1,264, or 58 per cent, made passing grades.

Application blanks to try for qualification can be obtained from M. O. Tesson, assistant chief, audit division of the IRS, 2101 Pacific Ave., Dallas. Potential applicants should request Document 5145 for complete information on the examination. No applications will be accepted postmarked later than June 30, 1960.

Ike Talk Calls For Dealings With Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States bombarded the Soviet Union today with a broadcast appeal from President Eisenhower to forget the failure of the Paris summit conference and join in "business like dealings" for East-West peace.

"The path of reason and common sense is still open if the Soviets will but use it," Eisenhower declared Wednesday night in a radio-television broadcast from the White House.

Translations of the speech, carried throughout the world by the Voice of America, were being beamed to the Soviet Union today in 22 separate broadcasts in seven languages spoken in that area.

Eisenhower asserted his intention to seek improved relations with the Soviet Union "despite our recent disappointment" and said specifically that the United States will continue to take part in conferences at Geneva on disarmament and on prohibition of nuclear weapons tests.

At the same time he made emphatically clear that—in spite of cancellation of U2 spy flights—he intends to continue gathering intelligence information about the Soviet Union's military developments by all practical means.

NEW TECHNIQUES — Obviously referring to spy-in-the-sky satellites, he said "new techniques, other than aircraft, are constantly being developed" to do this.

But Eisenhower stressed that he would much prefer that the United Nations undertake the task of keeping watch on the military efforts of all the great powers.

He reaffirmed his intention to propose a new open skies plan to the U.N., and announced that the United States would supply "part of the aircraft and equipment required." Press Officer James C. Hagerly said this offer would include the high-flying U2 jet planes used by the United States in aerial espionage of the Soviet Union for the past four years.

At this point in his speech Eisenhower dramatically turned away from his prepared text, as it was released in advance, and displayed a photograph of the North Island Naval Station at San Diego, Calif.

Explaining that it was taken from an altitude of more than 70,000 feet — about 13 miles — he said that some of the lines shown in the picture were only six inches wide.

PHOTO EVIDENCE

The photograph provides an example of "what could be accomplished through United Nations aerial surveillance," the President said. He did not mention the fact but it also provided an example of the kind of detailed photographic information which the United States evidently collected with the U2 photographic missions over Soviet territory.

Eisenhower went into some detail on the May 1 U2 incident Khrushchev cited as a reason for breaking up the summit meeting.

He said Khrushchev knew of similar flights when the Soviet Premier visited this country last year and "he did not then see any reason to refuse to confer with American representatives."

Replying to Democratic and other critics who have said such flights should not have been made just before the summit meeting, Eisenhower said:

"As to the timing, the question was really whether to halt the program, and thus forego the gathering of important information that was essential and that was likely to be unavailable at a later date. The decision was that the program should not be halted."

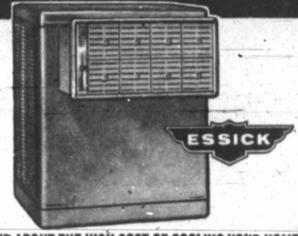

NOT SPECIFIED

He did not specify what information was being sought at the time.

The President again defended the security of the United States and its allies because it provided information on Soviet military developments. But he said that U2 missions were only "one of many methods we have used to keep ourselves and the Free World abreast of major Soviet military developments."

Eisenhower said Khrushchev's action at Paris last week perhaps had "turned the clock back in some measure." But all that happened in Paris must not be written "in red ink," he said, for some of the things should be "written in black."

'Girl Of The Year' Award Is Deserved By Mrs. Rankin

By SHERI WEBBER
 "Girl of the Year" might be a recent official title for Mrs. Horace Rankin—but to her family she has been the most outstanding girl for some time.
 LaRue Rankin, who recently acquired her new title from the Beta Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, is the mother of two energetic blonde-haired daughters.
 Valencia—who got her name because she was born the day before Valentine's Day—and the name somehow reminded me of the day—she is 7 years old and will be a second grader at Washington Place School next year.
 Pint-sized Teresa, 3½, eyes visitors with a bashful expression.
 Newest member of the family is Sarah Lou Jean. Don't be fooled by the long name—for Sarah is a Siamese kitten. The playful feline, who hides behind corners to jump on unsuspecting feet, was named after her little mistresses' best friends.
 Interests outside her daughters lie in the field of sorority, club and church work. She was recently project chairman of her Beta Sigma Phi chapter when the group selected the special education school as their specific project. The group was able to provide a radio and record player for the children, as well as entertain them with parties on different occasions during the year. Next year she will serve as president of the Beta Sigma Phi city council.
 As a member of the Junior Woman's Forum, LaRue was also project chairman this past year. This group worked with the county health nurse, Bo Bowen, in helping needy families in the area.
 "It is really a pleasure to take toys and food into a home where they are needed—especially if there are children," relates the active young woman. "Children are always so appreciative and excited."
 At College Baptist Church the dark-blond housewife leads the Women's Missionary Society and teaches a Sunday school class of pre-school 6 year olds.
 Mrs. Rankin is a native of the Big Spring area. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Brown, still live in the Vincent community where she lived as a child. It was while attending high school that she met another West Texan, Horace Rankin. Her husband, a personal equipment specialist at Webb AFB, has a hobby that engrosses the entire family.
 "I don't ride horses any more," says LaRue, "but we all watch Horace." Rankin, who owns three horses, is active in rodeos where he participates in calf roping events. Valencia is starting to enjoy riding, but little Teresa is fond of it only when her daddy's in ... three women in the household—Mrs. Horace Rankin, Valencia, and Teresa.

 LaRue's hobbies follow a little more sedate line. She enjoys reading, and is especially fond of non-fiction articles. As a switch from most seamstresses, Mrs. Rankin doesn't make her own clothes but likes to remodel the ones she buys.
 "My husband says I have to change everything—just a little—from clothes to food," admits the charming Mrs. Rankin. Many of the recipes she offers are based on those she has picked up from miscellaneous sources, but all have been changed to suit her family's taste.

EASY ONE-DISH DINNER
 2 lbs. ground steak
 3 slices bacon
 2 medium potatoes
 2 medium onions
 3 carrots
 Cut bacon into small pieces and put into a heavy skillet or electric frying pan.

Salt and pepper the ground meat. Form large patties and put them on top of the bacon.
 Slice the onions and put slices on top of each meat patty.
 Slice the potatoes and put a slice on top of the onion. Salt them and put a pat of butter on them. Top with carrot slices.
 Cover and cook at a low heat about 40 minutes.

ORANGE PUNCH
 1 pkg. orange gelatin
 2 cups orange juice
 1 cup sugar
 2½ cups pineapple juice
 1½ cups water
 2 tbsps. lemon juice
 2 small bottles of carbonated water (or ginger ale can be used)
 Mix sugar with water and cook five minutes. Add gelatin to hot syrup and cool. Add all other ingredients, plus 3 cups of water.

QUICK COOKIES
 (Uncooked)
 8 oz. pkg. cream cheese

1 oz. square chocolate or 1 chocolate candy bar, grated
 ¼ tsp. almond extract
 3 cups powdered sugar
 Dash of salt
 2½ cups flaked coconut
 ½ cup finely chopped pecans, optional
 Stir cream cheese until creamy. Add all ingredients except coconut. Form into balls and roll in the coconut. Keep in refrigerator.

LIME GELATIN SALAD
 1 9-oz. can crushed pineapple
 1 pkg. lime gelatin
 1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese
 1 cup whipped cream
 ½ cup finely chopped pecans
 ½ cup finely chopped celery
 Place gelatin in one cup boiling water; add cream cheese. Cool. Mix in pineapple, pecans, celery, whipped cream. Pour into a flat pan and chill.

This is attractive when cut in squares and served on lettuce leaves. Garnish with maraschino cherries.

VANILLA ICE CREAM
 (For 4-quart ice cream freezer)
 2 cups milk
 1 tbsps. flour
 1 cup sugar
 3 eggs, beaten
 ¼ tsp. salt
 1 tbsps. vanilla
 1 pint of half and half
 ½ cup white corn syrup
 Mix flour, sugar and salt; add eggs and milk gradually. Cook mixture over double boiler about 10 minutes. Cool.
 Add vanilla, half and half, and syrup. Pour in freezer, and finish filling the 4-quart freezer ¾ full with milk.
 A delicious variation is to mash 4 or 5 ripe peaches. Mix these with 1 tsp. lemon juice and 1 tsp. almond extract. Put this in the ice cream mixture.

Ham, Turkey Are Specials

By The Associated Press
 Ham and turkey will usher in the summer holiday season this weekend at many American dinner tables, judging by the "specials" offered by supermarkets and neighborhood groceries.
 These two, of course, are favored over long weekends because they are readily adaptable to more than one meal. One chain combines this feature with the growing trend toward outdoor cookery by offering small Beltsville turkeys which, it is claimed, can be roasted, fried or barbecued.
 Other specials aimed at backyard barbecues are steaks, ground beef and frying chickens—all favored by charcoal chefs. Steaks are down 4 to 6 cents a pound in some areas this week. Veal, pork and lamb quotations generally are about the same.
 Heavy shipments have made lettuce an outstanding bargain, along with other bargains in celery, cucumbers, green onions and radishes.
 Beans, carrots, corn, kale and spinach also are rated as outstanding buys, while the good buy list includes asparagus, beets, broccoli, cabbage, collards, eggplant, escarole, new crop onions, peas, peppers and potatoes.
 Tomatoes, still an expensive, despite the arrival of skimpy early spring crops. Other vegetables in the same category are best quality endive, okra, parsley and sweet potatoes.
 Fruit counters boast of bananas, pineapples and oranges, while watermelons, avocados, strawberries, limes and lemons are close behind. Fairly expensive fruits are best quality apples, cantaloupes, honeydew melons, peaches, cherries, raspberries and first arrivals of Perlett grapes—a green, seedless variety from California.

Coconut Pie With A Big Difference

For a different coconut custard pie that will be popular in your family, try:

SLIPPED COCONUT CUSTARD PIE
 4 eggs
 ¼ tsp. salt
 ¼ cup sugar
 1½ cups evaporated milk
 1 cup water
 1 tsp. vanilla
 ½ cup flaked coconut
 1 9-inch baked pastry shell
 Beat together until blended the eggs, salt, sugar, undiluted evaporated milk, water and vanilla. Stir in coconut. Pour into buttered 9-inch pie plate; place plate in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 to 50 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean; cool.
 Loosen custard edge with spatula; gently slip custard into pastry shell; serve at once for crisp crust. Garnish edge of filling with whipped cream, if desired.

Cheese, Fish Combination

Cheese lovers will really go for this tasty open-face sandwich.
OPEN-FACE CHEESE-SHRIMP SANDWICHES
 ½ pound cheddar cheese (grated)
 ¼ pound (½ cup) butter or margarine
 1 pound shrimp (cooked and cleaned and coarsely chopped)
 2 tbsps. finely chopped onion (pulp and juice)
 ¼ cup lemon juice
 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 ½ tsp. paprika
 Sliced bread
 Small tomatoes.
 Mix together the cheese, butter, shrimp, onion, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and paprika.

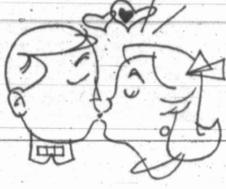

Toast bread lightly; spread mixture over one side of each toast slice covering edges. Place a tomato slice in center; sprinkle tomatoes with salt and dot with a little extra butter.
 Broil several inches from heat until shrimp mixture bubbles and tomatoes are warmed through. Refrigerate any leftover spread in covered container and use next day.

Tasty Lunch

Add a little tomato catsup to a cheese sauce to be served over crisp toast for a lunch.

If we made Gladiola Flour for Kissimmee, Fla...

we could get by with lower quality

...but we make it for you

We make just enough Gladiola Flour for our near neighbors—in Texas and a little bit beyond. These ladies are the best home bakers in the U.S.A.—and the sharpest judges of flour quality.

That works out fine for us. We know precisely what our customers want, and precisely how to make it. That's why snow-white Gladiola Flour outsells every other brand, every day, every year.

The women-folk in Kissimmee, Fla., just can't bake biscuits, cakes and pies like yours. They don't have Gladiola Flour. Only you and your neighbors can buy it. And, for the average family, it costs only about ½¢ a day more than the cheapest flour made.

Bake and be Glad—with GLADIOLA FLOUR

The best-selling flour in the Southwest

(17 miles south of Orlando a highway sign says "Kissimmee," but it's more fun if you say it.)

Cheese-Cake Deserves A Try

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor.

Let who will take credit! Various grateful cooks have attributed the world's best cheese-cake pie to the friends from whom they borrowed the recipe. We can't track down the genius-originator, but one thing we know—filling a graham-cracker crust with cream cheese, eggs, sugar and vanilla and topping it with sweetened sour cream that is allowed to set in the oven results in a supreme dessert.

We tasted this cheese-cake pie for the first time almost a dozen years ago when a friend's cook offered it as a surprise at a New York party. About this time, too, the recipe began to appear in printed form in various versions—the same basic ingredients in slightly varying amounts.

In recent years this dessert has been manufactured and turns up all over the country in frozen-food cabinets. Be that as it may, we strongly advise you to try this version; you'll get a lot for your money and that extra bonus of homemade flavor.

Two innovations of our own go with this rule. Walnuts are added to the crust and our tasters agree they should never be omitted. Second, we make the dessert ahead of partytime, cover it with transparent plastic wrapping and freeze it. Before serving time we let it thaw briefly at room temperature, then put it into the refrigerator to chill so it will cut firmly.

BEST CHEESE-CAKE PIE
1 cup finely-crushed graham crackers crumbs
1/4 cup chopped (medium-coarse) walnuts
1/4 cup butter (melted)
2 eggs
3 packages (3 ounces each) cream-cheese (at room temperature)
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint commercially prepared sour cream
5 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Mix together the crumbs, walnuts and melted butter. Press evenly over bottom and sides of a 9-inch heat-resistant glass pie plate; have crumbs come up to rim. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 5 minutes; remove. Beat eggs until thickened and lemon-colored. Without washing beater, beat cream cheese, 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla together; add eggs; beat until blended. Turn into crust; return to slow (325 degrees) oven for 20 minutes. Meanwhile stir together the sour cream, 5 tablespoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Remove pie from oven; spread top with sour-cream mixture; return to slow oven for 5 minutes. Cool and chill. Before serving finely chopped or grated walnuts may be sprinkled over edge of topping. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Chicken Curry

This dish benefits from any array of condiments—hard-cooked egg, crisp bacon, coconut, chutney, and even peanuts.

Learn Art Of India's Favorite Dish: Curry

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor.

Entertaining ladies choose their menus to suit their guests' tastes. One of the best buffet dishes is a chicken curry—if you are sure that your friends really like this choice from India's cuisine.

We beg you to make the curry sauce with stock, not milk. Simmer a whole little bird (2 1/4 or 3 pounds ready-to-cook weight) in water to cover with bay leaf, celery tops, parsley, carrot and onion; add some generous pinches of salt and a few peppercorns, whole allspice and cloves. When the chicken is tender remove it from the stock and strip the meat from the bones, separating the white from the dark; cut it all in good-size pieces, discarding the skin.

Strain the stock through several thicknesses of cheese cloth or a couple of layers of muslin. Refrigerate this broth and remove the fat after it has risen to the top and hardened.

The sauce for the chicken is made as you would a medium white sauce—2 tablespoons butter or margarine and 2 tablespoons flour to 1 cup clear stock. When you stir the melted butter and flour together add curry powder, ground cumin and ginger plus crushed garlic, salt and cayenne to taste. We think the sauce also benefits from thin crescents of celery and thinly sliced onion (separated into rings)—these cooked lightly in the butter before the flour is added.

Into the curry sauce toss all the white meat from the chicken and as much of the dark meat as you need; then reheat just before serving. You'll probably want 3 cups of sauce to serve four generously.

One cup of converted-type rice, prepared according to package directions, will be needed as an accompaniment. So will an array of condiments—hard-cooked egg (chopped); flaked coconut; mango chutney; roasted peanuts (whole, halved or put through a hand-operated rotary-type grater). Crisp French-fried onion rings are also a fine addition—yes, even if the stock is flavored with onion and sautéed onion rings go into the sauce!

The rest of the menu? Watercress and orange salad, dressed with olive oil and wine vinegar, will taste refreshing. Boston Cream Pie (of all things!) will make a delightful dessert.

DEAR ABBY

GET RID OF HIM

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and everyone says I am pretty enough to be in the movies, on TV or on Broadway. I date a lot. I don't like to hurt men, so I tell them from the start I don't want to get serious for a long time.

One young man (26) won't accept this. He keeps talking about marriage. We argue about this all the time. No matter how I treat him, he won't break up with me. The dirtier I treat him, the better he likes me. He always wants to know who else I date and where we go. I never lie to him. He has even gone out looking for me when I'm with someone else. And if he finds me, he will sit in a corner and sulk. How can I get rid of him?

PESTERED

DEAR PESTERED: The next time he calls, tell him you do not want to go out with him any more. And don't feel sorry for him, no matter what he says, because if you date him again, you will be back where you started from. This man sounds possessive, jealous and childish. And people who react favorably to being treated "dirty" are also a little sick.

DEAR ABBY: The wife and I are in our late fifties and she is getting on my nerves so bad I can hardly stand it.

We have five grandchildren. I think they are cute—but my wife thinks there are no five-children in the world to compare with them. She carries about 300 pictures everywhere she goes. When she runs into someone on the street, she hauls out these pictures and you can see the bored expressions on their faces as they try to get away. All she ever talks about is her grandchildren and the cute things they said. It is sickening! People are starting to run when they see her coming. I am ready to run myself. Is there any cure?

GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: There is no cure for the doting grandmother.

Pray for the day she meets her match head-on.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a man who refuses to let his wife get sick. Whenever I get sick he gets twice as sick and I have to get up and take care of him.

I took to my bed Easter Sunday with a fever of 102. An hour later he had one of 103. He wasn't putting on an act either, because I saw—the thermometer. The only time he ever has been sick is when I have given him the idea. Does any other wife have this trouble? What can I do about it?

DOROTHY ELAINE

DEAR D.E.: Many wives have this problem and there is nothing you can do about it. Stay well and you'll probably both live to be a hundred.

DEAR ABBY: Because you reach so many people, I am writing this letter in hopes that you will print it, if you do, you could be indirectly responsible for saving many lives.

Recently I was in an automobile accident. Only because less than a month ago I donated blood to a friend of mine did I know my own blood type. I had it printed on a card and tucked in my wallet. It saved my life.

Men carry pictures of their wives, sweethearts, children, grandchildren and dogs; credit cards and membership cards by the dozens. But I wonder how many men reading this know their own blood type? And have sense enough to write it down and carry it with them? "TYPE O"

C47 Pilot Tells Of Forced Landing

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The pilot of a U.S. Air Force transport forced down in East Germany last Friday said today that six Soviet MIG jet fighters fired in a chin-gun bursts to make him land.

Capt. James Lundy of Findlay, Ohio, who was grounded by the Air Force after his return Wednesday, told a news conference:

"There was no indication that we were off course until the MIGs appeared. There was no doubt in my mind but that they wanted us to land."

He added that the plane was not hit by the Soviet machine-gun fire.

The battered old Air Force C47 with eight men and a woman aboard strayed 22 miles into East Germany while on a flight from Copenhagen to Hamburg. The Soviets released the plane and the nine Americans Tuesday but bad weather prevented their flying to the West until Wednesday night.

The Air Force, in grounding the 41-year-old pilot for investigation, said he "clearly had violated pertinent flying directions."

Lundy blamed a false wind report for his getting off course and said that he realized, when the Soviet fighters appeared, that he had strayed over Communist territory.

The pilot said weathermen in Copenhagen reported an easterly wind but it actually was blowing from the west. Lundy said the weather was good with visibility of 5 miles as his twin-engine plane flew over the north German coast. He added there were some thunderstorms but they presented no problem.

Of his grounding, Lundy said he expected the investigation—"It is routine in the Air Force on occasions like this." He said, however, that as far as he knew, he did not violate any flying procedures.

"In my opinion," he added, "everything was satisfactory."

Lundy said he landed his plane in a "sod" field—about 15 miles north of the East German town of Grevesmuhlen.

"I don't know whether it was a pasture or a cropped field," he continued. "I'm afraid I'm not a farmer."

As soon as the plane bumped over the field and came to a stop, Lundy went on, the five crewmen and four passengers jumped out and waited in an adjoining field for about five minutes until East German police arrived.

The East Germans searched all except the woman passenger, Barbara A. McCash of Atlanta, Ga., who was on a leave trip with her doctor husband, Capt. Paul K. McCash.

I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him. (II Timothy 1:12.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we give Thee thanks for Thy ever-present, loving nearness. Grant us the faith to believe that in Thy strength we can face any situation and come out victoriously. In the name of our blessed Redeemer we pray. Amen.

Ministry Of Love In Action

Eighty years ago this week a small group of Salvation Army officers landed at the Battery in New York City and won a foothold for a movement which has been blessed, and which has blessed.

It has been some 30 years since the Salvation Army first established a post in Big Spring. Except for a brief period in the latter stages of the depression years, the Salvation Army has carried on a useful ministry here.

Some have the mistaken idea that the Salvation Army is a brass band on a street corner, or a lassie beating a tambourine, or people wearing blue uniforms with red piping.

To be sure some of this is the Salvation Army, but it is vastly more because the Army does what it does from a sense of dedication to its concept of Christianity. Simply stated, it is an emulation of the statement that Jesus went about doing good.

This is the Salvation Army in all sorts of roles such as aiding the stranger within the gates, the poor families who have no other means of help, the basket of cheer at Christmas time, the helping hand to unwed mothers, the rehabilitation of the derelict, the proclaiming of the Gospel.

In a practical world, it is necessary for the Salvation Army to exercise judgment and discretion in the administration of its help. If this were not so, the old pros of the charity circuit would live well and comfortably off the bounties of mercy. To the degree that human beings err, the Salvation Army may sometimes make mistakes in giving or denying aid. These may be noisy, but they are few, for happily, most Salvation Army mistakes are those of the heart.

For Your Own Protection

The law in Texas, as we recall, is that anyone who operates a motor vehicle must have a driving license. No one under 14 years of age, under any circumstance, may be issued a driving license. From 14 to 16 he must have permission of the county judge, except, as we understand it, the applicant may qualify if he has completed the high school learn-to-drive course.

Law enforcement officers have shown concern about the growing number of children who drive cars without having a license to do so. Many of them are too young to get a driving license, so they drive without—and every time they do, they violate the law.

So a campaign against it is being laid out, and the courts are cooperating with the law officers.

There is no doubt that the minimum driving age of 14 is widely disregarded.

One sees mere children at the steering wheel, unaccompanied by an older person.

Now, a motor vehicle is not simply a means of locomotion. In unskilled or inexperienced hands it can be a lethal weapon.

No doubt many parents feel their children, though too young for licensing, are competent and dependable drivers—a lot safer drivers than many of the old fogies who fuss about children's driving.

That could be, but that isn't the way the law says, and it isn't the way the law looks at it.

For your own protection, if your sub-14 youngster has been allowed to drive, or is under 16 and doesn't have a legitimate driving license, you'd better ground the former and see that the latter gets a license.

Putting Politics Above Patriotism

WASHINGTON—Many of the Democrats in Congress, as well as the Democratic Advisory Council, are trying to make a campaign issue out of the charge that President Eisenhower gave Soviet Premier Khrushchev the "opportunity" to blow up the "summit" conference. But the issue may boomerang against them.

For, as the "New York Times" pointed out in a recent editorial, Mr. Khrushchev at Paris "used the U-2 incident as a pretext" and admitted in his Berlin speech a few days later that "his primary reason was the firm Western stand on Germany and Berlin indicated in what he termed the 'sharply and arrogantly provocative' speeches of Secretary Herter, Under Secretary Dillon and Vice President Nixon."

ON THE SAME PAGE appeared also a Paris dispatch from C. L. Sulzberger, the eminent commentator on world affairs, who writes that "Moscow has never objected to unmanned reconnaissance by our Tirois photographic satellites, and with the General de Gaulle tried to argue with the Soviet premier, 'the new Soviet 'space ship' was crossing France 18 times a day' even while Khrushchev was clearing in Paris about the U-2 affair. Mr. Sulzberger reveals also that Russia has known for four years about the U-2 flights and that the Soviets 'knew at least since June, 1959, that in West Germany we had put together, from U-2 pictures, a topographic map of Russia.'"

The implication of the Democratic Advisory Council's statement that, if the plane episode hadn't occurred, all would have been sweetness and light at the Paris "summit" conference is hard to believe.

EVEN MORE BAFFLING is the reasoning of Adlai Stevenson, who, in his Chicago political speech the other day, said that "when Mr. Khrushchev gave the President an out by suggesting that he was not responsible for ordering the flight, the President proudly asserted that he was responsible."

But the record of what the President actually said does not bear out any charge that Mr. Eisenhower said he was responsible for ordering this particular flight. What the President did say was that he was responsible for the general policy to "gather, in every feasible way, the information required to protect the United States and the free world against surprise attacks." This included the U-2 reconnaissance flights, authorized four years ago.

Little attention, moreover, has been paid to the text of the message sent by the President in the last few days to the heads of governments in various allied countries. Referring to the plane incident, he wrote:

"I NEED NOT ASSURE you that this activity was not intentionally provocative and certainly not aggressive. It constituted one phase of an intelligence system made necessary for defense against surprise attacks on the part of a nation which boasts of its capacity 'to bury' us all, and one which stubbornly maintains the most rigid secrecy in all its activities. "At the least, this incident, while regrettable in the extreme, could not by any stretch of the imagination be of such magnitude as to justify the polemics and the abuse which Mr. Khrushchev saw fit to heap upon the United States. By so distorting and exaggerating this incident, he of course put an end, for the time being, to any hopes of progress."

BUT NOTWITHSTANDING the published words of the President of the United States in his message to our Allies, the Democratic Advisory Council said three days later that "the integrity of the word of the United States has been put into doubt," and that "the shortcomings" of the administration "tend to weaken the confidence of our Allies not only in our strength but also in the wisdom and competence of our government."

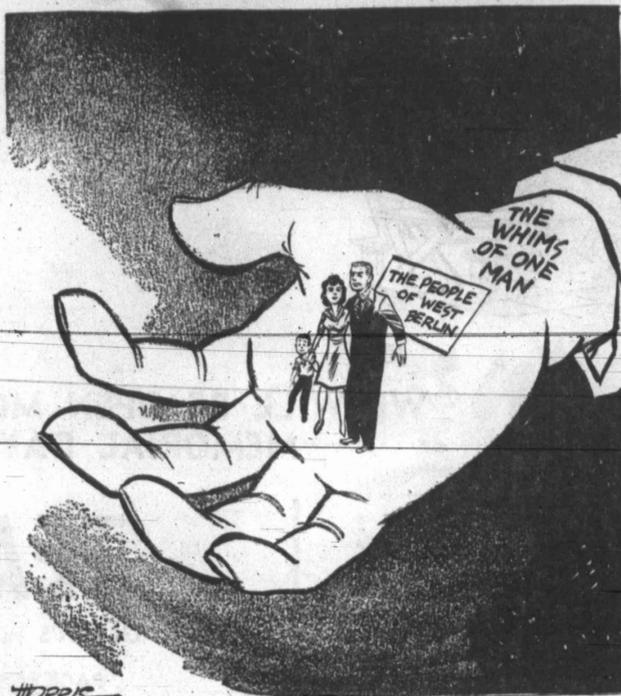

A full discussion will, of course, inform the American people on matters they may not have noted deeply before. Thus, when Adlai Stevenson says Khrushchev gave Mr. Eisenhower an "out" by affording him a chance to say the flight of Francis Powers was "unauthorized," what would the same Democrats have said about Mr. Eisenhower when a congressional inquiry subsequently revealed that he had actually given a general authorization for such flights four years earlier?

BUT MR. EISENHOWER preferred to tell the truth to the whole world. For this he is being pilloried, and, instead of rallying behind their government, many of the Democrats, including the Advisory Council, are encouraging Mr. Khrushchev to believe that the United States is divided and that the President, to whom the conduct of foreign relations is specifically delegated by the Constitution, does not speak today for the government of the United States. This is hardly the way to win elections. It could turn out that the abortive attempts to play politics with the "summit" conference fiasco, and to blame Mr. Eisenhower for something Mr. Khrushchev did, will put the Democrats on the defensive when they get on the stump. Patriotic feeling in America runs deeper than political partisanship.

Behind Rockefeller's Statement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was taking out insurance—just in case miracles can happen—when he finally said Wednesday he would accept the Republican presidential nomination if it is offered.

It was nothing for his friends to throw their hats in the air about.

At this moment Vice President Richard M. Nixon still seems to have the nomination sewed up.

The New York governor conceded his chance of being drafted by the Republican convention next July looks slim.

This seems to be his only chance; if something goes badly wrong for the Eisenhower administration between now and July, such as a foreign crisis.

Then the professional Republican politicians might give up on Nixon, so long a prominent part of the administration, and turn to Rockefeller. There is nothing to indicate this will happen.

BUT, SINCE IT is a possibility, it was probably Rockefeller's only reason for putting in his bid now.

That this might be in his mind could be read into his otherwise enigmatic statement:

"These are fast-changing times. No longer ago than the beginning of May it made sense for Rockefeller to stick to his Dec. 26 decision not to be a candidate. Technically, he still isn't. He says now he'll accept the nomination if drafted.

At the beginning of this month all signs pointed to President Eisenhower's finishing out his term in a burst of glory which, of course, would be reflected beneficially on his administration and Nixon.

There was to be a summit conference which, if it didn't solve anything, at least would melt the cold war a little more; then, a hero's welcome on his visit to the Soviet Union, then, thunderous ovations on his trip to the Orient.

Republicans in the campaign could point to all this and say: Look, we kept the peace.

BUT IT DIDN'T turn out that way.

Instead, there was the administration's bungling of the U-2 spy plane episode and the insulting roughhouse inflicted on the President by Premier Nikita Khrushchev when he blew up the summit conference and called off Eisenhower's trip.

It was the greatest humiliation ever suffered by an American president in modern times.

Now, instead of a triumphal last eight months in office, Eisenhower will be lucky if international problems, particularly with the Soviet Union, don't get worse.

All of these things—the plane incident, the summit wreckage, the humiliation—have given the Democrats campaign ammunition and none of them has helped the Republicans or their chances.

In view of all this, Rockefeller's statement and his emergence from the coy cavern in which he has been staying since last December, can be considered simply as a piece of political insurance, just in case.

Stenosis, or partial closing off, of a heart valve naturally interferes with the heart's efficiency. The mitral valve lies between two chambers of the heart; the aortic valve is in the aorta, or main artery leading the heart. The difference, then, is in the place at which the stenosis has developed.

Major surgery, is, of course a heart operation; whether to have such an operation would depend on your general physical condition as weighed against the need for the surgery.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to me in care of The Big Spring Daily Herald requesting my booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Master Plan Is Up To Us

The current preliminary reports on the city's Master Plan represent one of the biggest steps Big Spring has taken, perhaps in its history. The city is endeavoring to guard and plan for the future; it is a wise and necessary step.

But the money we pay for our Master Plan is not the complete answer. Marvin Springer, city planner, and Forrest and Cotton, Master planners, cannot give us all the answers. They can make surveys and studies, then project recommendations.

BUT IT IS UP TO US to take this material and devise a plan that will work in Big Spring. These men we have hired recognize this fact. In every meeting they have attended here, they have requested criticism of their findings. And in some instances, this has been given.

But all too often, the meetings have moved from the general plan to specific problems. Some folks attending the meetings have attempted to burden the planners with their personal problems and requested solutions.

This, in my opinion, is unfair to the planners and even more unfair to the taxpayers. Tax money is buying the Master Plan recommendations. The work of the planners should be limited to problems that affect the city as a unit.

I READILY ADMIT IT is cheaper for individual property owners to have their problems worked out free by expensive planners who are on the taxpayers payroll. But I don't think it is proper, or the intended course.

The rare meetings with our planners should be limited to the general topics under discussion. Let the individuals hire their own planners or engineers to work out specific problems.

Eventually all of us will be asked to go to the polls and vote on a bond issue or issues to put various phases of the Master Plan into operation. Probably the first one will be water and sewer extensions and improvements.

I CAN THINK of no time like the present to become familiar with these plans and be prepared to vote when the time comes. All the planners in the world cannot improve our city for us.

When it gets down to the last analysis, it is up to all of us to build a better city at the voting booth and by our own initiative. And the only way we will know how to vote is to be informed on the issues.

The Soviet System In Propaganda

WASHINGTON — On the day the summit blew up the London Times had in its Letters to the Editor column a communication with some wise things to say about this business of reacting to the Russians. The writer, William Sargent of the Department of Psychological Medicine of St. Thomas Hospital in London, pointed to the way in which the Soviets succeeded in keeping the West off balance by taking first one line and then another by shouting peace one moment and aggression the next. He suggested that this was a deliberate technique patterned after the discoveries of the great Russian scientist Pavlov, showing how animals can be broken down by conditioning them to one set of signals and then deliberately altering those signals.

PAVLOV'S DOGS went berserk when the lights flashed on and off in a different pattern than that to which they had become conditioned at feeding time. We in the West took the Russian soft line on peace and now there is evidence of frenzied reaction to the hard line. The analogy is too close for comfort.

The stress from the Eisenhower Administration has been almost entirely on the production of more goods for a consuming public engaged in the pursuit of happiness through gadgetry. Western Europe seems to be following the American lead. With the spread of installment buying a consumer-goods boom is developing that resembles the American boom. While many in the older generation wring their hands over the "Americanization" of Europe it is proceeding apace, with snack bars and hot-dog stands and traffic jams rivaling ours.

IN WASHINGTON the pressure will certainly be great to begin weapons tests, looking to the smaller nuclear arms that are the goal of those arguing for pushing on with the program. There should, however, be no illusions about the consequences if the decision is taken to go on with military testing. The Soviets will immediately follow suit.

The tests have been massive and dirty and they will be massive and dirty again, with no nonsense about "clean" bombs. Because of the pattern of air currents from Siberia the fallout will again be greatest over Canada and the Northern tier of states.

THE OUTLOOK for the 10-nation disarmament conference is even more certainly failure—just possibly the nuclear test talks can be kept flickeringly alive for the next six to eight months while disarmament is bound to grind to a dreary propaganda halt. Let us resume on June 7, the conferees had expected that they would get from the summit a new directive, limiting the objectives in the first phase to what might be at least remotely possible. Without such a directive they will take up where they left off, which was nowhere. That is to say in a propaganda stalemate, with the Soviets demanding sweeping overall disarmament and the West insisting on a step-by-step approach with controls applied as each step is taken.

A Plague On Paris For The Beehive

PARIS — And now, as I bid a fond farewell to this ravishing City of Light, let it be recorded that all the horrors were not fixed in amber at the summit.

There is a peripheral abomination here that only added to the political savagery, and that is the beehive hairdo. Alas, no decent policy of containment has kept it within the borders of France, and one sees its disorders both in England and the United States. But, to date, it is not widespread.

Here, however, in this metropolis supposedly dedicated to the elegance of woman-kind, the beehive is ubiquitous. It is also unbecoming, untidy, and unraveled. The general run of beehives in Paris strongly resembles a haystack swept back from the forehead and swelling dangerously from the crown.

JUST TO ADD to the confusion of the mass of hair swept up in a vertical line, there is usually a swatch swept horizontally across the brow. This lowers the forehead dangerously and imparts a distinctly anthropoid look, and no offense meant to the primates.

Unlike the ragged or motherless-child coiffure that came out of Italy five or six years ago, and — incredibly — made the Harpo Marx look fashionable among women, the beehive must be laid at the door of Paris.

Furthermore, it had its origin not in Montmartre, or in jest, but in a coiffure for a queen. It was designed for the present and third wife of the Shah of Iran when she came to Paris some months ago to buy her trousseau. It is just possible that on her it may look good.

BUT I HAVE YET to meet a woman anywhere on whom the beehive looks like anything but a wretched practical joke.

Without doubt the beehive is the ugliest fashion that spineless women have permitted fashion "authorities" to foist on them since the sack. A combination of the two would be even more than Dogpatch could stomach.

Goodness knows, I am sympathetic with the universal belief that one is stuck with the same face for life. And I am well aware of those desperate moments when a new hairdo, or cut, or color, can coax the pulse to skip again. I am all on the side of change, but only change for the better. And the beehive does not come under this heading.

IT MAY SOUND frightfully old-fashioned, but I would like to see some new hair styles that encourage a woman to comb her hair two, three or four times a day instead of (1) just running her fingers through her hair semi-occasionally or (2) building it up into a hive once a week, spraying it with liquid concrete and then letting nature take its course.

At the summit there was no time for any real snooping into what Paris has in store, sartorially, for women come autumn. But there was one fashion note at the summit that delighted all the hundreds of dashing foreign correspondents who were preoccupied day and night with matters of great international moment.

But not too preoccupied, I noticed, to observe that the shortest skirts worn by any woman at the Palais de Chaillot, the summit press headquarters, were on the West German lasses of press, radio and teevee. Their skirts came barely to the knee. This meant that in the peek-a-boo sweepestakes, we American, French, English, Italian and Scandinavian belles lost by inches — about three to four.

Students Sound Off

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A teacher from Lee High School was excused from class so a group of visiting educators could question the teen-agers without embarrassment.

The youngsters let fly, saying their worst problem was a lack of books in the school library. They said they often had to go to the public library; then often the public library didn't have what they wanted; so they had to go to Jacksonville University; and finally, some said, they had to drive to the University of Florida at Gainesville 70 miles from Jacksonville. They said, too, that teachers limit them too much: "We're seniors; we should be able to think for ourselves."

Better Ways For Thespians To Learn

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—When ambitious actors and actresses have some time to spare, they scurry back to school. They take acting lessons, voice lessons, diction lessons, dancing lessons, fencing lessons—all designed to make them better craftsmen.

Better, I say, they should take sewing lessons, knitting lessons, driving lessons, cooking lessons. It's their lack of skills in these homey areas which are often more distracting than the fact their voice is pitched too high or too low.

Just take the business of knitting in this age of the television closeup. The actress is rocking comfortably, plying her needles and carrying on a neighborly chat. But usually, although the needles are flying, it is obvious that they aren't really knitting anything. One wonders often, too, how long the button would stay on when the heroine is sewing—or rather only making gestures with a thread and needle.

Often the viewer can't listen to the dialogue because of fascination with the way the heroine is whipping up a meal in her kitchen. She gives the cake batter a stir and a half. She pours it into an ungreased pan. And she certainly doesn't really wash dishes clean enough to suit me.

I think it's nice when a fast gun wins the Arthur Murray dance contest with his jitterbug, or when a private eye truns a figure eight on an ice rink or when a dramatic heroine carries a tune publicly—but first, lets get some of these every day skills nailed down convincingly. Please.

If you've wondered whatever became of Hal March since the collapse of the big quiz shows, he'll turn up as a dance contestant on next week's Arthur Murray show. Ted Collins, Kate Smith's manager-partner, took an eight-foot fall from the terrace of his Lake Placid home and injured his spine.

Alaskan Makes It To U. S. Meeting

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An Alaska schoolteacher who set out by automobile 12 days ago for the National PTA convention finally made it Wednesday—on the last day of the four-day meeting.

Mary Hawkins is a voting member of the Alaska delegation, but she got here too late to vote on anything.

She and her two sons, Charles, 14, and Richard, 10, left Ninihchik, on the Kenai Peninsula, on Friday the 13th. But she said on arrival it wasn't bad luck which delayed her—"We didn't have so much as a flat tire"—it was just 4,500 long miles of driving.

The trip wasn't wasted. Her girlhood home is in Carlisle, Pa., and she plans a long visit there before heading back to her log cabin in late June. That log cabin, incidentally, has a full basement, oil heat, running water, electricity and television.

3 School Bands Join Forces For Last Concert Tonight

Tonight is the big night for Big Spring's school bands. The concert groups of the high school, and Runnels and Goliad Junior high schools, will combine for a three-part program, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in City Auditorium.

Admission will be 50 and 75 cents, with proceeds going into the band fund. Special guest soloist will be Lawrence Wiehe Jr., brother of the high school band director, and solo trombonist with the U. S. Navy Band in Washington, D. C. The high school band will be under the baton of Doug Wiehe, the Runnels group under Jimmy Yancey, and the Goliad musicians will be led by Tommy Frye.

Band Extends Its Thanks For Help On Enid Trip

The Big Spring High School band today extended its thanks to those organizations and private individuals who helped defray expenses for the band's annual trip to the Enid, Okla., music festival, in which the local group won praise for its playing.

U.S. Rushes Tidal Relief

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. military boats and helicopters rushed relief to 4,000 persons stranded on Yagaji Island off Okinawa today as the Far East cleaned up after the tidal waves exploded by the Chilean earthquakes.

Walloping waves washed away the lone bridge connecting Yagaji with the main island of Okinawa and the isolated residents were left short of food and without drinking water.

The Philippine News Service reported 16 dead in the wake of the tidal waves that battered the eastern Philippine coast Monday night and Tuesday.

Wiehe's group will feature selections from the contest numbers that brought honors at the Enid, Okla., festival, where the Big Spring High School band was classed as outstanding.

These numbers will include "Folk Songs of Somerset," "Jubilant Overture," and "March of the Herald." The "Jubilant" piece was featured by the 4th Army band in its recent contest here, and was heard by the soldier musicians in Enid.

Also on the high school band's program is "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," the solo trombone piece scheduled by Lawrence Wiehe.

for carrying instruments, Howard County Junior College for use of a bus, and the Band Boosters Club for sponsorship of a car wash and cake sale, among the helping organizations.

"It is not possible," the statement added, "to know or thank each person individually who took part as helper or customer" in the car wash, cake sale and other money-raising activities; therefore, "we take this means of a public announcement to extend our thanks."

The statement was authored by Kay Crowover, band student, as a one-man "thank-you" committee authorized by Doug Wiehe, band director.

$9 Million Lopped Off State Deficit

AUSTIN (AP) — Another nine million dollars has been chopped off the deficit in the state's general revenue fund.

The state treasurer's office reported Wednesday that the deficit now reads $45,736,868 as against $54,226,244 the date of the last call, May 9.

Late corporation tax filings helped reduce the deficit.

Dallas Negro Dies For Rape

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Howard Draper Jr., 28, Dallas Negro, died in the electric chair at the state prison early this morning for the Feb. 18, 1959 rape of a white teenage girl.

Before he was strapped into the electric chair Draper said: "I have made my peace with the Lord. I am leaving with joy. I have accepted Christ as my savior."

A Dallas jury sentenced him to death for beating and raping the girl after breaking into her house. The girl said a neighbor entered the house and beat Draper over the head with a shovel after she had been raped.

Draper said he was drunk at the time and did not know if he was guilty.
