Quake Reports Abound

New reports of earthquakes and tremors flooded news agencies this morning. Although most reports said the shakes were severe, no deaths or excessive damage reports have been made.

A series of earthquakes and tidal waves struck Chile last month, causing a death toll estimated as high as 5,000 persons.

Japan's central meteorological agency in Tokyo said it detected a faint tremor which it estimated to have resulted from a "large scale earthquake far away from Japan."

A spokesman said the tremor was recorded at 1:16 a.m. EST but he could not tell the direction.

He estimated the quake to be of magnitude 7 on a scale with a maximum of 8.5.

WESTON, Mass. (AP) — An earthquake described as almost as severe as the recent quake in Chile was recorded in the same general area today by the Boston College Seismograph.

A seismologist at the observatory said the record indicated the quake would be followed by another destructive tidal wave.

Two shocks were recorded at Weston, one last evening and another, the more severe one, about 1 a.m. EDT.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Carroll University seismograph recorded an earthquake 5,900 miles south of here today and in the area of Corcovado on the coast of Chile.

Father Henry Birkenhauer, director of the observatory, said the shock was recorded at 2:08.38 a.m. (EDT) with a second phase at 2:19.13. He said it was "as strong as the first two Chilean quakes, but not as strong as the third one which caused such severe damage."

Father Birkenhauer also said an earthquake was recorded Sunday night at 9:24.30, about 2,095 miles from Cleveland. The direction was not established, however.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Coast and Geodetic Survey recorded a major earthquake at 2:08.18 a.m. EDT today.

Seismologists described the tremor as comparable to the first of the series of quakes which did great damage in Chile, but below the level of the devastating third earthquake there.

The recording here was not clear as to direction and distance.

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — A strong earthquake jolted this northern California coastal area late Sunday.

The tremor began at 6:18 p.m. with a sharp shake and continued with a gentle rolling motion. The seismograph at the University of California at Berkeley recorded its shocks for 40 minutes.

The quake was felt from West, 50 miles south of here, to Crescent City, 65 miles to the north and eastward to Blue Lake, 15 miles from Eureka.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — An earthquake, probably on virtually uninhabited Wellington Island in Magallanes province in extreme southern Chile, was registered at 1:54 a.m. today by the seismological institute of the University of Chile.

Torrents Sweep Parts Of Texas

By The Associated Press
Torrential rains fell in the Weatherford area Monday after thunderstorms lashed North Central and Northeast Texas Sunday. The Sunday storms, accompanied by high winds, injured two persons and damaged trailer homes, a boat and a plane.

Andrew J. Wilson, 49, Midland, drowned at Moss Creek Lake at 8:15 a.m. Sunday.

He lost his life in an attempt to retrieve a minnow bucket which had broken its moorings and was drifting out into the lake.

The body was recovered in 30-foot water within 20 minutes of the time he disappeared. Prolonged efforts by the fire department rescue squad and volunteer workers failed to restore life.

Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, returned a coroner's verdict of accidental drowning.

According to Slaughter and Deputy E. W. York, who reached the scene soon after Wilson disappeared, the construction worker and his wife, Mrs. Johnnie Wilson, had arrived at the lake about an hour before the tragedy. They planned a day's fishing and

No Trick To This Shine

Leslie B. Clemmons finds no difficulty in putting a real shine to a section of plate glass at Jones Motor Co. at 1st and Gregg. It wasn't hard, for the section had been blown out by a blast from Sunday night's windstorm. Considerable damage was reported from the sudden bluster.

Hard Gusty Wind Causes Damage

A roaring wind, which swept in almost without warning at 10 p.m. Sunday, wrought damage to some property, gave residents an hour or two of anxiety and caused considerable injury to crops in parts of the county.

Webb AFB weather station said the wind gusts ranged as high as 46 miles an hour at times. However, it was agreed that greater velocity may have been attained in other parts of the county.

Two plate glass windows in the Jones Motor Co. on Gregg were blown in by the wind. A barn on the Walter Ross place back of South Mountain was destroyed. A four wheel trailer, loaded with bundled feed, which was standing nearby, was not damaged.

There were indications, observers said, that the gusts which caused the damage at the Ross place could possibly have been a twisting wind.

Arthur Stallings, pioneer farmer in the Lomax area, said that the wind and the clouds of sand which it brought did extensive damage to such crops as were up. He explained that not too many fields were in that stage but that in some of the more recently planted areas, the young cotton shoots were blown out of the ground.

South of Lomax, Stallings said that he was informed several sheds had been collapsed by the gale. No rain of significance fell. Stallings said it was one of the worst wind storms he had ever experienced.

Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said that he had not had opportunity to check the county as a whole for damage to crops. He did not believe that the loss would be extensive, however.

Ed Carpenter, who lives in Vincent community, said that no damage seemed to have resulted in this area. Ralph White, Coahoma, said that cotton on his farm was burned by the sand.

men Bill Thompson, Bill Kirkendall, Leo Sawyer were summoned and joined in the work. S.Sgt. B. T. Blakewell and Leo Sawyer were also lending a hand.

A River ambulance removed the body to the funeral home here, later it was taken in charge by Thomas Funeral Home in Midland.

Mr. Wilson was an employee of Locke Construction Co., Midland. He was born Oct. 10, 1910 in Oklahoma. He moved to Midland in 1950. Survivors in addition to the wife include three daughters and his father.

Two of the daughters live in California and the third is in Germany. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Thomas Funeral Home, but rites may be held Wednesday. Word is being awaited from the daughters.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Spaulding's Rose Avenue Funeral Home here with Dr. Fred Edgar, pastor of the Oaklawn Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be at Rosemount Cemetery in Commerce.

Mrs. Estes suffered a stroke Saturday.

She was born July 6, 1874, in New Market, Tenn., eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Loy, pioneer Tennessee settlers. She married Joseph Guinn Estes in New Market in 1892 and the family moved to Commerce where they reared their family. Her husband died in 1931.

Mrs. Estes had served in various capacities of local, state and national Parent-Teacher Associations and took a keen interest in government affairs. She was a member of the Highland Park Methodist Church, the Dallas Southern Memorial Assn., Dallas Woman's Forum, and other civic and community organizations.

Socialists Vote To Block Ike's Visit With Japan

OF ATLAS ICBM

Machinists Picket Firing Bases, Plant

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Atlas missile plant was picketed today in a work stoppage that accompanied a strike at Atlas firing bases from California to Florida by the International Assn. of Machinists.

Police were on guard against any violence.

The dispute is with Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., and also covers local aircraft plants of Convair, which make Air Force F102 and F106 jet intercepter planes and commercial jet airliners, and a plant at Pomona which makes Navy Terrier and Tarter missiles.

IAM officials said picketing at the plants was aimed at supporting the work stoppage for mass membership meetings.

The firing-bases strike was called by the IAM as an initial move in the threat of a general walkout at the plants.

The strike could affect firing of the Atlas, the United States' only operational intercontinental range rocket.

About 800 IAM members struck Cape Canaveral, Fla., missile test center. Picket lines were set up at midnight. Also struck was the midnight deadline moved across time zones to the West Coast where Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Warren Air Force Base, Cheyenne, Wyo., and four facilities of Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha, Neb.

Convair officials in San Diego said the strike definitely would affect firing of the big missiles. The Air Force, however, was mum.

IAM members, 330 strong, also struck the Holloman, N.M., Air Force Base, facility of Convair. But this strike stemmed more from a local issue than from the national negotiations that broke off Sunday in a deadlock.

After two hours of talks between union and Convair officials in San Diego, Federal Mediator E. Marvin Sconyers said no further meeting was expected until called by either side.

Negotiations by the IAM are in behalf of the Atlas base workers along with 22,726 at the San Diego plants and 2,869 at a plant at Pomona, Calif.

A one-day work stoppage, beginning with the midnight shift, was announced for the San Diego and Pomona plants that build the Atlas and several smaller missiles.

A union spokesman said a meeting is set for 10 a.m. PDT today for workers at these two plants.

The dispute is over wages and other benefits. Convair's last offer was an 11-cent hourly wage increase and a 3-cent cost-of-living raise which would be incorporated in the permanent wage. The union said the offer was inadequate.

Present machinists' scale ranges from $1.79 to $3.40 an hour. The machinists seek a 14-cent hourly pay increase over a two-year period.

Primary Elections Select Moderates

By The Associated Press

W. T. McDonald, district judge at Bryan, held the Democratic nomination Monday for the Criminal Appeals Court as the party completed its slate for the November general election.

McDonald polled 330,687 votes to 346,413 for Lloyd Davidson, who sought re-nomination for a second 6-year term for a position on the 3-man court.

Saturday's second Democratic primary also nominated a state senator and 35 House members.

A Legislature of moderates may be a shade toward liberal in political philosophy is apparently the result of the two Democratic primaries.

Political professionals in Austin count the defeat in the primaries of several top-flight conservatives as indicative of the trend. But the liberal candidates took a licking in Houston.

Another factor is an apparent setback suffered by Rep. Wade Spilman, McAllen, conservative candidate for House speaker, in the second primary.

Spilman concedes nothing to his chief opponent, Rep. James Turman of Gobe. Both claim they have the No. 1 House post for the 57th Legislature in the bag.

Other major results of the runoff election Saturday were the defeat of Judge Lloyd Davidson of the Court of Criminal Appeals and the landslide victory of liberal Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio in a renomination contest with Rep. R. L. Strickland.

Many seasoned politicians believe the real tone of the Legislature can not be determined until the next session begins voting on decisive points in such matters as taxation.

The judgeship race was the only statewide contest Saturday.

About 725,000 persons voted—considerably more than expected and about half the number which voted in the first primary May 7.

Robert Johnson, head of the unofficial but highly accurate Texas Election Bureau which counts the vote, said only about 7,500 ballots had not been reported.

Twenty-five of the state's 254 counties did not hold a second primary.

Midland Construction Man Drowns In Moss Creek Lake

Andrew J. Wilson, 49, Midland, drowned at Moss Creek Lake at 8:15 a.m. Sunday.

The body was recovered in 30-foot water within 20 minutes of the time he disappeared. Prolonged efforts by the fire department rescue squad and volunteer workers failed to restore life.

According to Slaughter and Deputy E. W. York, who reached the scene soon after Wilson disappeared, the construction worker and his wife, Mrs. Johnnie Wilson, had arrived at the lake about an hour before the tragedy. They planned a day's fishing and bought their permits at the gate. They were at the west end of the lake, more than half a mile from the dam and planned to fish from the bank.

Mrs. Wilson told investigators that the minnow bucket, which Wilson had placed in the water, had not been securely fastened and began to float away from the shore. He waded out in the water to recover it. He was wearing his trousers, an undershirt and no shoes. Apparently he stepped off a ledge into deep water. He could not swim.

Mrs. Wilson's screams were heard by other fishermen who raced to the scene. Included in the volunteers who hastened to the rescue were David Hodnett, Pete Sanderson, Lynn Bullock, and Red Sanderson.

Capt. A. W. Clawson of the Big Spring Fire Department, and Firemen Bill Thompson, Bill Kirkendall, Leo Sawyer were summoned and joined in the work. S.Sgt. B. T. Blakewell and Leo Sawyer were also lending a hand.

James Charles Simmons, 1000 Lancaster, and Wanda Lee Cole, Clovis, N. M., were in collision at 4th and Lancaster.

Summer Promotion Held As Unqualified Success

Big Spring's first annual Aquatennial, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce here June 1-4, was termed today an outstanding success by various merchants.

Most people would like to see the beauty pageant and the Aquatennial become an annual dual-attraction officials said.

The Skipper pins, which were sold to help pay advertising expenses, were sold mainly by the beauty contestants and final sales figures are due to be over 1,000. The girls with the top three sales will be awarded prizes.

Jerry Worthing, owner of the Worthing Construction Company, reported good attendance at the aqua-lung demonstration at the Mayo Ranch Motel swimming pool Wednesday afternoon.

During the three-day attraction the court house lawn was practically filled with displays of local merchants and they reported a steady flow of people around the square for the exhibition.

Dusty Randall said that the Friday evening dance was a rousing success. This was held between 3rd and 4th streets. Randall said there was excellent participation and added that a tremendous crowd watched the action which included waltz and put-your-little foot contests.

About 50 merchants participated in the Better Buys for Summer Fun promotion and they displayed banners and streamers offering special values for the three-day period.

Spot checks of local merchants revealed store traffic was much heavier during the Aquatennial than for the same period in 1959. All the merchants seemed pleased with the promotion and felt that it was worth while.

The Chamber of Commerce reported that 21 people went to the advertising caravan and all were warmly welcomed at the 12 towns they visited. In most places they were given a police escort into the city. This caravan, which included a good number of the beauty contestants, distributed between four and five thousand posters and hand bills advertising the Aquatennial.

B. F. Tubb Visits Scene Of Youth In Arkansas

B. F. Tubb, 405 Donley, has returned from Prescott, Ark., where he had an experience not many people can claim.

He sat on the same bench at the same dining table in the same dining room where he ate 70 years ago.

"I laughed and told them I'd be back when I get to be a hundred," Mr. Tubb said. He might make it at 82, although twice he has been paralyzed (once for two years and another time four), has undergone surgery half a dozen times and has been through a serious car wreck which crippled him for a time.

He was reared near Prescott, and when he returned recently he visited at the Old McMillan place now owned by Claude Loudermilk, a grandson of the original owner. It was there that he sat in the same surroundings as when a lad.

Mr. Tubb is a retired brickmason and contractor. He lived in Arkansas for 51 years before coming here 31 years ago.

Today marks the beginning of the Summer Fun program conducted by the YMCA.

Officials of the Y reported that 379 students have signed up for the special interest classes and 100 students has registered in both the boys' and girls' learn-to-swim classes.

The fun clubs have approximately 270 students enrolled and this figure does not include the youngsters at Bauer, Kate Morrison and Lakeview schools. The students will register at these places this week as they begin participation.

In the classes for YMCA members, about 236 girls have registered and some 204 boys have signed for action.

The special classes in which 379 have enrolled include archery, twirling, film festival, arts and handicraft, tennis, golf, chess, creative dance, and basketball. Most of these classes are still open for enrollment.

Theft Of Clothing Is Reported Here

A suitcase full of clothing belonging to a Ft. Worth couple and two hubcaps were apparently the only items taken in five reported thefts and break-ins over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rainey told police the suitcase was stolen out of their car in the 800 block of West 4th St.

Jerry Wayne Phillips, 3311 Drexel, reported the theft of the hubcaps.

Three break-ins were reported but apparently nothing missing. They occurred at Lee's Shoe Store, 323 Main, the Hill Top cafe and beauty shop, 408 N. Aylford, and the Air Castle cafe, 3rd and State.

Howard County Democratic Executive Committee will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Howard County court room to canvass election returns in last Saturday's runoff primary election.

Last Conventions Scheduled Tuesday

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The last three presidential primaries of the 1960 pre-convention campaign take place Tuesday in New York, California and South Dakota.

None of the aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination will pick up any pledged delegates in the final primaries. But Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, now leading with an unofficial total of 348 convention votes, is conceded heavy reserve strength in New York and California. Nomination requires 761 votes.

In weekend developments Ken-neddy picked up another 8 1/2 votes in a poll of Nebraska's delegates. New Mexico picked a 17-vote delegation expected to add to the totals of both Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, but the division has not been determined.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon gained full delegations in Hawaii, Colorado, and Washington to boost his unofficial delegate total beyond the 800 mark, with only 666 required for the GOP presidential nomination.

The tally of Democratic delegate votes, based on primary results, state convention actions, and Associated Press polls of first-ballot preferences of uncommitted delegates, now shows the following:

Kennedy 348, Johnson 135 1/2, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri 67 1/2, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota 51 1/2, Adlai E. Stevenson 23 1/2, others 176, uncommitted 229.

This adds up to 1,101 votes of the 1,521 total in the national convention.

Here is a brief outline of Tuesday's primaries:

New York — Each party will elect 86 district delegates with one vote each. Republicans later will name 10 at large to complete a 96-vote delegation. Democrats will choose 56 with a half vote each to complete a 114-vote delegation.

Both delegations in New York will be uncommitted. Carmine G. DeSapio, Tammany Hall leader and Democratic national committee-man, predicts Kennedy will have more than a majority of the 114 Democratic votes.

The Republican delegation, though unpledged, will be ready to back Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's long-shot approach. He has said he would accept a draft, but he believes one is unlikely.

California—Democrats elect an 81-vote delegation; Republicans 70. A slate of Democratic delegates pledged to Gov. Edmund G. Brown, favorite son, is opposed by a slate backing Los Angeles promoter George McManus. A slate tied to Nixon is unopposed on the Republican ballot.

South Dakota—Democrats elect an 11-vote delegation; Republicans 14. The Democratic slate of delegate candidates is unpledged, although it had been tied to Humphrey before his withdrawal. The Republican slate also is uncommitted, but is expected to back Nixon.

7,000 Attend Twain Dedication

FLORIDA, Mo. (AP)—About 7,000 persons jammed into this village Sunday for the dedication of a Mark Twain shrine.

The shrine is the two-room cabin where Samuel Langhorne Clemens was born 125 years ago. Writing as Mark Twain, Clemens attained world fame as a humorist.

"Mark Twain spoke a universal language," Gov. James T. Blair told the crowd. "He does not belong to Missouri nor to any other one place nor any one nation. He belongs to the world."

The cabin, moved a short distance from its original location, is housed in a $250,000 modernistic museum.

Lafayette Group Holds 1st Reunion

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Five of the eight surviving members of the Lafayette Escadrille of World War I break up their first formal reunion today. They plan another next year, perhaps in Paris.

The four-day gathering included toast drinking, testing their memory of 1917 French slang, and tale-swapping about the Kaiser's planes they shot down for France. Maj. Frederick H. Prince Jr. of Old Westbury, N.Y., gave his comrades bottles of champagne.

Also at the reunion were Rear Adm. Edwin Parsons, Osprey, Fla.; Col. Charles H. Dolan Jr., Vero Beach, Fla.; Col. Harold B. Willis, Boston; and Capt. Henry S. Jones, Largo, Fla.

DEAR ABBY

PEOPLE—NOT JOB

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress who works in a combination bar and restaurant. Many fellows have said to me, "What is a nice girl like you doing in a place like this?"

Abby, this hurts me very much. I am a nice girl. I do waitress work because I need the money. The tips are good and I have to support my little girl and myself as I am a widow. I never thought it was a disgrace to do waitress work, but lately I find I am ashamed of how I make my living. Please print something in your column on the subject, because a lot of girls have this problem.

WAITRESS: There are no disgraceful jobs—just disgraceful people. Waitress work has as much dignity as the woman who undertakes to do it. Anyone who stands on tired and swollen feet 8 hours a day, serving the hungry and thirsty (and often abusive) public, deserves respect.

DEAR ABBY: How can I improve my husband's memory? He brings home his boss' shirts every week for me to wash and iron. He remembers to bring home the shirts, and he remembers to take them back. But he forgets to give me the money.

DEAR ABBY: Two can play that game. The next time he brings home the shirts—keep forgetting to do them up until he remembers to come through with the money.

DEAR ABBY: What do you give a man who has everything?

DEAR LU: Encouragement!

DEAR ABBY: When I was 16 I made a mistake and had a baby out of wedlock. I paid for my sin and my sister is keeping my baby for me. She is a darling little girl almost 3 now. I am going to take her back as soon as I am married.

I met a swell fellow and he knows about my past. He is studying to be a minister so you know he is all right. We love each other very much and he asked to marry me. He took me to meet his parents, but before we went in, he asked me not to say anything about my little girl. I didn't say a word.

Now he wants me to keep it quiet until after the wedding. He said his parents are narrow-minded and wouldn't understand. They are going to have to know sooner or later and I don't feel right keeping it from them. Don't you think he should tell them before the wedding?

NOTHING TO HIDE
DEAR NOTHING: His parents should certainly be told before the wedding. Surely they know that only he who is without sin should cast the first stone.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-Ager", is on sale at all bookstores.

Running But Not In Race

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) addresses New Jersey's delegates to the Democratic National Convention in Newark. He said Americans should unite behind President Eisenhower until January and then unite behind a Democratic Party president. He said he had not entered the presidential nomination race thus far because he feels he has a duty as Democratic leader of the Senate. (AP Wirephoto).

Johnson Impressed, But Failed To Win Support

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson impressed but failed to win over south-central New York Democratic leaders in his unofficial quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Johnson, Senate majority leader, met with the leaders Saturday after he told the non-partisan Broome County National Dinner Club that:

"There would be little or no point in winning an election and losing a nation." He called upon all parties to avoid "internal warfare" during this election year.

The Texas Democrat, an undeclared rival of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the top nomination on the Democratic ticket, then spent some time with prominent Democrats from Broome and several nearby counties.

Donald McManus, Broome County Democratic chairman, told a newsman after the session: "I'm

California Primary Begins To Bristle With Controversy

By The Associated Press
The campaign in California's presidential primary suddenly is bristling with controversy.

Angry charges and counter-charges burst out in a busy week-end of politics that also found Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York acting like a Republican candidate and two Democratic senators hunting votes in Minnesota.

Democrats and Republicans vote in California's primary Tuesday. The Republican presidential preference ballot lists only Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The Democratic ballot lists Gov. Edmund G. Brown and a minor candidate, George H. McLain.

The campaign, dormant for weeks, livened after Brown called for a heavy Democratic vote to swamp the turnout for Nixon.

A former congressman, Patrick Hillings, wrote Los Angeles Republicans that such a vote would be interpreted by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev "as an indication that the administration's tough attitude toward communism is not supported by the American people."

Brown attacked the "old Nixon and 11th hour McCarthyism." Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential candidate called on Nixon to repudiate the letter.

Rockefeller returned to New York after two days of campaigning in North Dakota. He asked voters to support Gov. John Davis in the special Senate election June 28. But, at times, Rockefeller acted more like a campaigner seeking support for himself.

He shook hands, spoke at rallies and picnics, attended a high school graduation, put on an Indian headdress, visited a farm, and hopped over fences and posed with cows.

He scored a personal triumph but found no encouragement for his hopes to win the Republican nomination.

It is up to everyone of us to prove that they are wrong," he declared.

presidential nomination. In fact, at a television interview in Bismarck Saturday night, Rockefeller gave Nixon higher public praise than he had given him before.

Rockefeller said Nixon had served the nation well with great skill, great discretion and great courage. He said he would campaign for Nixon if the party nominated the current vice president as its standard bearer.

Both Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Stuart Symington of Missouri campaigned in Minnesota. They want support from the 31-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

At a news conference in Minneapolis Kennedy said he expected more than 600 votes in the early balloting at the convention. He would need 761 for the nomination.

The Minnesota delegation had been for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota but he dropped out of the race after losing to Kennedy in Wisconsin and West Virginia.

Kennedy, after talking to the Minnesota delegation, lunched in Eau Claire, Wis., with the 20 delegates Humphrey had won in the Wisconsin primary.

Strom Thurmond spoke at a Farmers Union picnic at Albert Lea, Minn., and said the country needs a new secretary of agriculture.

"Economic conditions of the farm are like a cancer in our total national economy," he said.

Another Democratic candidate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, was discussed today by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the head of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Goldwater said a Johnson-Kennedy ticket would be the toughest for the Republicans to beat. He said Johnson was coming up fast for the nomination.

Besides California, New York and South Dakota also have presidential primaries Tuesday.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

In a card to this window, Mitchell Malouf, the former Big Spring coaching aide, reveals he got a cotton crop out of the ground on his farm near Plainview, although "the farmers' odds were 10 to 1" against it.

"This has been a rough farming year," he adds. Malouf took time to watch Plainview in spring football training earlier this year. He says the Bulldogs looked "pretty good but have a shortage of boys" — something that reminded him of the situation in Big Spring.

R. L. Lasater of Big Spring won't be making a bid for a berth on the U. S. Olympic team this year but many observers are predicting he will be on the squad four years hence.

Ollie Matson, later a football hero, was one of the few high school boys to make the elite group. That was in 1948. Matson ran the 400 meters. A high school lad who has a chance to make this year's U. S. team is Don Webster of Philadelphia, who has already run the 440 in 47.8 seconds.

One of the football foes of DeFunak Springs, Fla., where the Big Spring coaching aide, John Mack Anderson, takes over as head mentor, is Marianna. Marianna's coach is Mack Rooks, Anderson's predecessor at DeFunak Springs.

Teams in Florida, incidentally, don't play toward a state championship. The sports writers invariably award the crown to some school in the Miami or Tampa areas, however.

In a poll taken among District 2-AAAA football coaches by Emmet McKenzie of Big Spring, Odessa Permian and Abilene were picked to run neck and neck in next fall's race.

McKenzie took the poll because he is to act as the district's official spokesman at the Texas Coaches Association school in August.

Ted Dawson, the Permian mentor, says his team will be long on desire but lacks the Panthers are held in too high regard by the pollsters.

There are those in Odessa who insist that the Odessa High Panthers will defeat Permian this fall and fare better in the 2-AAAA race.

Practically all states in the union declare high school football champions. Texas is one of the few commonwealths which play to the state championship, however, and on four levels at that.

The high school football season in Texas lasts longer than it does in almost any state. Some champions in other states inherit such titles with lackluster won-lost-tied records like 7-1-1.

Scholastic Coach magazine printed a 1957 record of all the state football champions, including the two highest classifications in Texas.

The Nederland team, then coached by McKenzie, compiled the best record (14-0) among all the teams listed. Stamford, Texas, won 15 straight games that year but wasn't included in the list.

Incidentally, in the May, 1960, edition of Scholastic Coach, a Southwest all-star basketball (high school) team, composed of 15 players, was named. Abilene living in any one of six states—Arkansas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas—were eligible.

The Texans selected were Mike Marsh, Midland; Craig Winborn, Pampa; Dave Somerville, Dallas Jefferson; and Spencer Carlson, Houston Al-dine.

It appears now the basketball-playing LeFevre twins, Jay and Zay, of Big Spring, may attend John Pepperdine College in California.

Unsung Hands Come Through For Veeck

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago White Sox boss Bill Veeck created a lot of excitement in the Windy City by landing such big fish as Minnie Minoso, Gene Freese and Roy Sievers in major trades since the close of last season.

There was hardly a ripple, however, when he hauled in a couple of nondescript pitchers, southpaw Russ Kemmerer, in minor transactions with rival American league clubs.

Yet it's just because of these one-time hapless hurlers that the defending champions are back in the thick of the AL pennant race today, only three games behind the first-place Baltimore Orioles.

Kemmerer, who rarely won for Washington and Baumann, oft-beaten with Boston, turned in back-to-back 2-0 shutouts in the White Sox doubleheader sweep over Kansas City Sunday.

The 28-year-old Kemmerer, purchased May 18, doled out three hits to win his second since joining the Sox. Baumann, obtained in a winter trade for first base flop Ron Jackson, limited the A's to seven hits in the nightcap for his second straight shutout.

The double triumph enabled the third-place Sox to climb to within one game of runner-up Cleveland, which split with Detroit. The Indians won 9-0 after the Tigers had taken the opener 7-2. Baltimore widened its lead to two games over the Indians with a 6-5 decision in Washington. New York slapped down Boston twice 5-4 and 8-3.

Chicago newcomers Freese and Minoso also were key operators in the White Sox first game victory. Freese doubled in the fourth and scored on Luis Aparicio's single to end a scoreless pitching duel between Kemmerer and Dick Hall. Minoso's seventh homer added an insurance run in the sixth.

Another comparative White Sox newcomer, Ted Kluszewski, scored the first run in the nightcap after hitting a double in the second inning. Sherm Lollar's single scored him. Ned Garver, who had to leave after two innings because of a knee injury, was tagged with his fifth loss.

The Sox have won six of their last 12. Baumann and Kemmerer have been responsible for four of the triumphs.

Two walks, a Texas League single and a throwing error prevented Baltimore from winning its 20th consecutive game which enabled the Orioles to overcome a 5-4 Washington lead.

With one out, Tex Clevelander walked Willie Tasby and Al Filarick. Marv Breeding blooped a single to short center. Outfielder Lenny Green, who had driven in two Washington runs in the eighth with a pinch single, then overthrew third in an attempt to catch Tasby and two runners scored as the ball bounced into the seats.

Ricky Colavito, whose two home runs for Detroit beat Cleveland Saturday, hammered another home run against his former mates Sunday. He also had a double and single, and drove in three runs as the Tigers won the opener behind Jim Bunning.

Cleveland came back to blank the Bengals behind Bobby Locke's 6-hitter in the nightcap. It was the right-hander's first start since he was recalled from Indianapolis Thursday.

Ted Williams, back in action after a virus attack that came on the heels of a leg injury, hammered his third home run of the season and 495th of his career but couldn't stop the Yankees from beating his Red Sox in the opener. Mickey Mantle's eighth homer and Roger Maris' 14th, with two on, were the big Yankee blows.

New Mystery Show May Be Summer's Best

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—It undoubtedly takes more than swallows to make a summer, but NBC's new Sunday evening mystery series promises to be the hot weather season's most exciting fare.

The series' second show, Sunday night's "Thunder of Silence," was a taut, well-acted police action tale. The locale and the situation were off the beaten TV path: a fire in a state school for the deaf and a superintendent who, investigators believed, was off his post.

The scenes with the deaf children were real and heart-tearing and the investigators were less super sleuths than men trying to do a tough job. It was a good show.

On Saturday night, NBC's World Wide 60 went over the now familiar but still shocking facts of narcotic addiction. There have been several of these on TV and radio, and the most recent followed the familiar format of interviewing addicts, parents and authorities.
I suppose this is a public service because one cannot be alerted and warned too often about such a situation. The networks should take a similar tack at the highway accident problem—speed has even more addicts than heroin.

If you don't think summer is already here, take a look at tonight's prime time network schedules. Out of 16 shows between 7-30 and 11, 10 are reruns. And they will increase in numbers as the days move on.

All times Eastern Daylight.
CBS has a present for the ladies: three new daytime shows for the summer. One is a dramatic series, another a new soap opera and the third a game show.

The oil company which sponsors radio broadcasts of the Metropolitan Opera has assembled its own network of radio stations so that it can bring the music live to listeners next season.

ABC has announced a new series for fall—"Expedition," which will feature accounts of expeditions to remote corners of the globe.

Recommended tonight: Steve Allen Show, NBC, 10-11—final edition of the venerable variety show, with Mort Sahl and Diana Dors.

Broadway Has Reopen Hopes

By GERALD MILLER
NEW YORK (AP)—A ray of hope waited in the wings today as the dismal drama, Broadway blackout, dragged on.

With the closing of Broadway's 22 stage theaters last Thursday, both sides in the fight between actors and producers predicted a lengthy and disastrous stalemate.

But as tempers cooled during the weekend recess in negotiations, optimism began breaking through the gloom.

Nobody was willing to be named, but spokesmen for Actors Equity and for the League of New York Theaters conceded that a settlement might be reached before the end of the week.

Behind the upbeat were informal overtures by both sides toward a compromise proposal on the crucial issue, a pension plan for actors.

A tentative proposal would parcel out the cost among producers and theater owners instead of leaving the full burden to producers.

"Both sides now want to see the end of this thing," declared a spokesman. "If the shutdown goes beyond this week, all of us may as well quit."

Since the marquee went black, theaters have had to pay back $400,000 in advance ticket sales.
The 731 actors involved have lost $100,000 in pay, and producers investors have lost $95,000 in net profit.

One show, "Finian's Rainbow," has been so hard hit it won't reopen.

The shutdown also idled 4,000
technical workers and affected thousands who work in the hotels, restaurants, clubs, bars and parking lots that serve the Times Square theater district.

Restaurant owners pleaded with Equity and the league for a quick end to the situation.

Equity President Ralph Bellamy said the total financial losses are too great for the shows to stay closed.

"It doesn't make sense," said
Bellamy, who arrived from Hollywood Sunday "to close shows that are drawing 50 and 60 thousand dollars a week."

Welch Baptist Church Is Setting For Nuptials

LAMESA — The Rev. C. R. Blake, pastor of the Welch Baptist Church, read the double ring ceremony which united Patsy Dan Fortenberry and Harley Don Harp in marriage at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Fortenberry and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Harp Jr., all of Welch, are the parents of the bride and groom.

The program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Eldon Vance, pianist, and Otis Roberts, vocalist. Roberts sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Fortenberry escorted his daughter and gave her in marriage.

She wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. Scallops of Venetian lace edged the collar of the portrait neckline, and the molded bodice of lace had long sleeves tapering to points over the hands.

An undershirt of nylon net ruffled in tiers was beneath a skirt of tulle enhanced with side apron panels of Chantilly lace edged in scallops of Venetian lace. Her fingertip illusion veil was attached to a cap of lace edged in pearls. She carried an orchid on a white pearl Bible.

of Welch. Ushers were the bride's cousin, Jimmie Britt of Topeka, Kans., and the bridegroom's brother, Ned Harp of Welch.

Debbie Rogers of Morton and Shelly Stanfield of Midland, the bride's nieces, were flower girls. They wore dresses of coral organza fashioned with puff sleeves, large collars and fully shirred skirts. Their headpieces were flat bows, miniatures of the attendants' headaddresses.

Jackie and Linda Harp, cousins of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

Guests attended a wedding reception at the bride's home where members of the house party included the couple's parents and the bride's attendants; Mrs. O. L. Harp Jr., Mrs. Kelton Russell, Mrs. E. L. Short, Mrs. Brownie Britt, Mrs. John Robinson, Sherry Howard and Susie Lindsey.

The serving table was laid with a cloth of coral net over taffeta, was crystal appointed and featured a wedding cake and the attendants' bouquets.

For travelling the new Mrs. Harp wore an apricot embroidered cotton satin sheath with matching accessories. She is a spring graduate of Dawson School, where she was class valedictorian, and cheerleader.

Harp, a graduate of the Dawson Schools, is presently farming in the Welch community. They will reside in Welch after terminating a wedding trip to, South Texas.

Let Safety Belt Dictate The Color Of Your Lipstick

If a chic leather belt can call the color cue for a girl's lipstick, why can't webbing of a safety belt, that straps you into your sports car, do the same?

It can. And it does, says the head of a cosmetic firm, citing all the dazzling colors that encircle women's waists today in the interest of highway safety.

Is your safety belt green or blue? Wear green or blue eye-shadow, matching eye-liner, ditto matching shade of mascara.

Or do you strap yourself into red, coral or pink safety-belt webbing? Match the color exactly to your lipstick shade.

Grey belt? If you want to really rivet glances, wear silver eye shadow with iridescent lavender mascara, used as tipping over the regular shade of mascara that you wear.

Mrs. McDaniel Is Honored At Dinner

Mrs. Ollie McDaniel, incoming worthy matron of the Laura B. Hart Chapter 1019 of the Order of Eastern Star, along with her officers and installing staff, was honored with a dinner at the Holiday Inn in Odessa Saturday evening.

Jack May, Mrs. McDaniel's brother from Midland, was host for the affair.

Red and white, Mrs. McDaniel's chosen colors, were used in the centerpiece and other table decorations.

Gifts were presented to the officers and staff by the incoming worthy matron, and she was presented gifts by the group and Mr. and Mrs. Jarrett. Jarrett is the worthy patron.

After the dinner the group joined Odessa's Friendship Chapter for installation services.

of the church, and the candles which were aligned before the choir loft were lit by the bride's cousins, Nancy McDaniel and Carolyn Esmond of Odessa.

Her cousin, Emilie Hedrick of Arlington, was flower girl. She dropped rose petals as she preceded Mrs. Smith and her father down the bridal aisle.

The bride was attired in a floor length gown of embroidered organza fashioned with moulded bodice with square neckline and short sleeves; three tiers of organza, fully shirred, formed the skirt. She wore a fingertip-length illusion veil which cascaded from a coronet of pearls and carried a bouquet of shasta daisies.

Her only jewelry was a lavender borrowed from her grandmother, Mrs. R. S. Spraberry; it was given to Mrs. Spraberry at the time of the bride's mother's birth.

Mrs. Ronnie Hamilton, sister of the bridegroom, was pianist, and Sue Barron, vocalist for the wedding music.

The bride's sisters, Sandra Esmond of Canyon, the maid of honor, and Elena Esmond, bridesmaid, were attired in lace trimmed dresses of mint green, and carried white carnation bouquets.

Wayne Smith of Waco was his brother's best man, and Robert Weaver of Oklahoma City was groomsmen. Ushers were Alan Taylor and Gene Lee.

Fellowship Hall of the church was the scene of the wedding reception. Members of the house-party included Mrs. J. D. Nix, Mrs. C. C. Beaird, Mrs. Leroy Holladay, Mrs. Roy Love, Mrs. Charles H. Roberts, Mrs. Bill Love, Mrs. C. R. Woodward, Mrs. T. L. Howard, Mrs. Gus Burkett, Mrs. Travis Dean, Mrs. Odie Williams, Mrs. A. J. Taylor, Mrs. Eva Gibson, Mrs. Garland Maxwell, Mrs. P. S. Stanfield and Mrs. Savoy Tennyson; Misses Eura Mae Reed of Canadian, Betty Pat Nix, Neva Jean Stovall, Wilma Honecutt, Jo Ann Howard, Barbara Campbell and Barbara Jo Jackson.

Sgt. Watts Rated High Among NCOs

Robert E. Watts, one of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron's "ten per centers," has been promoted to the rank of master sergeant. Unable to advance under the regular promotion quota (being in a non-critical career field), the veteran supply technician got his seventh stripe for being rated among the upper NCO bracket within the Air Defense Command. The sergeant, who is fast approaching retirement status, began his military career on January 1, 1941. He took basic with the 135th Medical Group at Camp Shelby, Miss., and went overseas with the unit early in 1942. He saw combat duty on New Guinea, New Britain and in the Bismark Archipelago. He rotated back home in June, 1944. His next overseas assignment came in March, 1945, when he joined the 73d Evacuation Hospital at Symbalang, Burma. Sergeant Watts did occupation duties in Germany, 1946-48, with the 33d Medical Group at Furth, near Nurnberg. He came to Webb in October, 1958. Sgt. Watt's wife is the former Ruth Busch of New Orleans. Their eldest son, Robert, 28, has completed a 4-year hitch with the Navy, and is now living in Los Angeles. Their daughter, Grace, 17, attends school in Fort Worth, and the other boy, Evan, 12, is a pupil at South High. Mrs. Watts and the children are living at 3610 Linden Avenue, Fort Worth.

Search Parties Find Crew Of Downed Plane

LUBBOCK (AP)—A helicopter, two light planes and a truck Sunday helped find the body of the third crewman of a B-56 supersonic jet bomber that crashed in a violent thunderstorm Saturday night. The three civilians floated to earth in parachutes but strong winds dragged them over rough terrain battering them to death. The men, all residents of Fort Worth, were Jack Baldridge, 44, the pilot; Hugh Coleman, 42, flight engineer - observer, and Charles Jones, 32, flight test engineer. All were employees of the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. which builds the $15 million plane in Fort Worth.

The bodies of Baldridge and Jones were found Saturday night on the A. D. Ivey Farm northwest of Roberson or about 6 miles from where the plane crashed in West Texas.

Ivey said he saw smoke, then noticed a parachute which he estimated about 6,000 feet up.

When the parachute touched ground, he said, the wind dragged it on the ground for at least one mile. He said the body was slammed into a house on his farm. Ivey and his companions cut the body loose.

The second body landed about 150 yards from the first body and was dragged about a quarter mile by the wind, Ivey said. The plane took off from Kirtland Air Force Base at Albuquerque, N. M., Saturday and crashed seven minutes before its scheduled landing in Fort Worth.

A Convair spokesman said the plane carried special equipment for test of a classified nature. Coleman's body was found about 7 miles south of Lorenzo. The area of the crash was about 40 miles east of Lubbock.

Newsman toured the crash scene and said there were a few parts of the big plane as big as a man's hand. Most were the size of a half dollar.

An investigating team headed by Brig. Gen. Walter Arnold of Norton Air Force Base, Calif., is due in Lubbock today to investigate the crash.

Asian Test

MANILA (AP)—U.S. jet fighters fanned out over Southeast Asia today in an exercise ostensibly planned to test the mobility of combat air units. The 120-plane operation is scheduled to last until June 15.

Huge Barbecue Held In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texas-style outdoor barbecue was held Sunday for 1,000 Texans.

The event, sponsored by the Texas State Society of Washington, was attended by most of the state's congressional delegation and other Texans in government service.

Gib Sandefur, former Abilene resident and now the concert tour manager for the Navy band, was master of ceremonies.

Durward Woodward, prominent Spur rancher, went to Washington to handle the barbecuing.

A special guest was Day Padgett of San Antonio—Miss Wool of Texas.

Joining with the society in sponsoring the event was the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Assn. Lucius Stephens of Lometa, president of the association, also attended.

Speaker Warns Of Smile, Snarl Soviet Tactics

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (AP)—A college commencement audience Sunday heard a sober warning from Canada's Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker against letting Soviet "smile and snarl" tactics knock the free world off balance.

Diefenbaker told DePauw University graduates Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is a past master "of the technique of carrot and stick"—that is, being affable to the West one moment and ferocious the next.

"No doubt the Soviet leaders would take pleasure," the Prime Minister said, "in the sequence and substance of their pronouncements they could induce the Western nations to lose their equilibrium. Let us resolve to deprive them of that hope."

Mother Of Three Returns To School; College Bound

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP)—Five years ago Alice McLeod would have been a poor bet for a college scholarship. She quit high school as a sophomore and got married.

Today she is 21, the mother of three, a high school graduate and possesses an all-expense scholarship to Michigan State University.

Alice said she decided soon after quitting school to finish her education. She said she was "bored with just staying home."

"I knew the stereotype that people had of teen-agers who got married," she added. "I was determined that the stereotype was not going to apply to me."

She wanted to become a teacher. So she attended night classes for three years, fitting them in with caring for a growing family. It now numbers Mary Ellen, 3, David, 1, and Raymond, 2 months.

Her husband, George, a water meter reader for the city of Royal Oak, in suburban Detroit, helped with the dinners and got the youngsters ready for bed, tucked them in and washed dishes on school nights.

He said he was "real proud" of his wife. "She does a lot of extra work for her classes, and an awful lot of outside reading, too. She's always studying," he said.

Since she went back to school in September 1957, Alice has made straight A's except for a B in typing.

Adult education officials encouraged Alice to take the test for the MSUO scholarships. She and nine others of 70 contestants won the all-expense awards at the school, which prides itself as being a modern, hard-study university, a branch of Michigan State University.

Going to college, Alice acknowledges, will present more problems. She is working part time in a department store to save money. She expects continuing help from George. Her mother, Shirley Gardiner of nearby Berkley, will help care for the children.

As a matter of fact, George is talking about going to college himself.

A Devotional For Today

Every day will I bless thee; and I will praise thy name for ever and ever. (Psalms 145:2.)
PRAYER: O Thou who art the great companion of all who seek divine guidance along life's pathway, grant to us the continued gift of Thy spirit. So may we be conscious of Thy presence each hour of the day. In the Master's name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Alerting The Alerts

U. S. military forces all over the world went on a global communications alert at 11 o'clock Wednesday night last, with the intention of staying on the alert for some days.

This was disclosed by Defense Secretary Thomas A. Gates Jr. in secret testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee inquiring into events relating to the break-up of the Paris Summit Conference. (One of the events presumably posed for Gates to explain was the worldwide alert of U. S. military forces at the time of Summit break-up. That never has been wholly explained — at least not publicly.)

This week's worldwide alert, Gates told the senators, as revealed later, meant "a little increase in the degree of alertness." As a matter of fact, he added "we are in an alert condition at all times."

Another Link In A Chain Of Design

A new "proposal" from Premier Khrushchev to President Eisenhower and other heads of government relating to nuclear disarmament came as a prelude to resumption of the 10-nation conference on that subject at Geneva next Tuesday.

First official comment was that K's latest suggestion offered no hope of breaking the deadlock at Geneva. Under K, the ten nations would concentrate on the first stages of a disarmament program on outlawing weapons, such as missiles capable of delivering nuclear bombs or warheads.

By no accident, K's plan closely follows the attitude of France on this very point. The French government for many months has been promoting the idea of preventing nuclear war by concentrating on control of the means of delivery—warplanes and missiles. Since France is just fresh out of both the materials of nuclear warheads and the means of delivery, it is only natural she would like to equalize herself with the other major powers by stripping the Big Three of nuclear capability, even if it left France's natural friends and allies helpless to confront the Soviet Union with conventional kinds of warfare.

So Khrushchev's latest "proposal" is just another in an endless chain of efforts to split the West by creating disagreement and jealousy among them. His play for French support is too simple to fool a child, but not the convinced and professional pacifists who seize on every straw to bolster their hope of disarmament.

Khrushchev's performance in the field of propaganda has been something to watch since he torpedoed the Summit Conference at Paris. He has not missed a trick. His crude attempts to lay the blame for the break-up on President Eisenhower exclusively have made little headway in the free world, but it wasn't aimed primarily at the free world, but at the Soviet Union and its associates and satellites.

He was lucky beyond his deserts, for the U2 incident provided a perfect setting for his climax.

The wily Russian, not handicapped by the necessity of being either truthful or honest in his dealings with others, has won almost every round in the propaganda cold-war ever since the break up in Paris.

David Lawrence

It's Time To Stand Up To Khrushchev

WASHINGTON—No candidate is going to be elected President of the United States this year who is willing to kowtow to Nikita Khrushchev by participating with him in a so-called "summit" conference.

No candidate is going to be elected who is willing to gloss over the insults flung at the President of the United States by the Soviet dictator at Paris last month.

These predictions can be made today because there is every evidence that the American people do not believe in appeasement, and do believe in the integrity of their own government.

INSTEAD OF the pettifoggery and carping criticism which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has allowed to become dominant in its so-called "inquiry," the American people would like to see some sign of American sturdiness and American forthrightness expressed by the same committee, and an exposure to the world of the utter hypocrisy of the Soviet government in its distorted concepts of international relations.

For the real issue today is not what measures, clandestine or otherwise, America took to protect itself against a regime that has threatened the people of this country with surprise attack, but why the United States should ever again participate in a "summit" conference.

TO RECOGNIZE and accept dictatorship and give it the prestige of decency, as a "summit" conference inevitably does, is to frustrate the regular channels of diplomacy and to compromise the historic idealism of a free people.

The argument that the United States must deal with Khrushchev, because he is the only man who speaks for the Soviet Union, is the same argument that caused British Prime Minister Chamberlain and French Premier Daladier to go to Munich in 1938 to deal with Hitler. It was, however, a form of appeasement that led to World War II because Hitler misconstrued willingness to go to the "summit" as the weakness of a suppliant begging for peace at any price.

FORMER SECRETARY of State Dean Acheson has consistently opposed "summit" meetings. He asks, in effect, what purpose ambassadors and ministers serve

No Help Needed

EAST ORANGE, N. J. — When this commercial window washer sets a squeegee to a pane of glass, all male heads start turning.

The window washer, Mrs. Grace Lake, an attractive blonde and mother of three children, got started in the trade when her husband was injured in a tumble and had to put his sponge and pail aside.

Mrs. Lake ignores the stares and the masculine offers of: "Hey Blondie, need any help there?"

Each Decade Opens Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 30 years the opening of a new decade has been like opening a can of devils. Each time American history was affected in a major way.

In 1930 the Great Depression started by the market collapse.

In 1940 the Germans, keeping the world guessing at the crushing of Poland in the fall of 1939, began World War II for real.

In 1950 the Korean War began.

In 1960 the summit conference collapsed. American Soviet relations reached their lowest point in years, the presidents of South Korea and Turkey were forced out, the world was uneasy, and changes seemed in the air.

The depression pushed the United States into isolation. It became so preoccupied with its own problems that it turned inward to solve them.

The result was a social revolution called the New Deal.

In 1940—when the Nazis turned on France, the Low Countries and Britain—this country began to arm, move out of isolation, take sides, and realize this is a small, interdependent world.

THIS COUNTRY finally got into the war, abandoned its isolation as a peace time policy afterwards, joined the United Nations, and developed a permanent sense of international responsibility and leadership.

Came 1950 and the Korean War. By entering the United States demonstrated it was willing to act to prove its international role.

Because it was the prime example of communism's determination to push where it could unless stopped, that war welded the Western allies together for mutual defense in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. All the alliances which followed sprang from that realization.

NO ONE is brash enough to claim he has the answer to what changes the events of 1960 will bring about.

But each of the big events at the beginning of each decade since 1930 has had an effect on American politics.

Just a few weeks ago the summit collapse and the Eisenhower administration's fumbling and lying about the U2 spy plane seemed certain to be a dominant issue in this year's presidential campaign.

Then Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev began his horrid personal attacks on President Eisenhower. Most Democrats and Republicans closed ranks against Khrushchev and rallied behind the President.

Attacking the President, it seems, is a right which Americans reserve for themselves. They want foreigners to keep out.

Some Causes Of Frequent Night Urination

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have to get up every night 10 or 12 times to urinate. I lose sleep. In the morning I am exhausted. What is wrong?" —Mrs. M. T.

Of course I can't attempt to say what the cause of your trouble is, but I can suggest several possibilities which are often seen by physicians.

I've written about this type of trouble as it affects men; in women, due to different causes, can be equally distressing. Certainly the loss of sleep is indeed aggravating.

Anyway, as to the more frequent causes, one is a sagging or relaxation of the bladder, called cystocele. It results in a pouching of the back wall of the bladder, so urination is not complete. A little fluid remains in the pouch. It tends to irritate the lining of the bladder, and Nature responds by urging the bladder to void again. That's why the urge comes so repeatedly.

Cystocele can result from tissue damage during childbirth, and if not repaired, it tends to become worse as one grows older. So the logical thing is to have it repaired by surgery.

Mrs. C. M. writes of a "slight involuntary discharge," which can be very embarrassing. Sometimes laughing, or a cough, or sneeze, or the strain of lifting something, is enough to trigger it.

This is another symptom of the same types of basic troubles, cystocele, and occasionally others. Disease of the kidney itself can be a factor, since the fluid in the body is not resorbed (that is, purified) by the kidneys and they recirculated through the body. The result is a continuous flow of urine into the bladder, day and night, with the urge to void coming frequently and repeatedly. This may not be one of the more glamorous aspects of medicine, but it is one of the important ones, and when the trouble develops, the sooner you have your doctor identify the exact cause and correct it, the better.

While we are at it, let's add that one of the factors in night urination is (obviously) the consumption of fluids late in the evening, whether coffee, tea, soft or alcoholic drinks, and especially beer in the latter category. Some people, whose systems are in good enough condition otherwise, fill themselves full of liquid in the evening and then wonder why they have to get up.

One other possibility, and not uncommon, should be kept in mind, and that is diabetes, since frequent night urination can be an early sign of diabetes.

"Dear Dr. Molner: A friend told me that recently you described a new type of operation for cataracts. Is this available as a pamphlet? —W. N. V."

No, sir, no pamphlet. And I would not like the idea to get around that it is "a new type of operation." It is merely a modification which seems to be helpful in some cases — a method of loosening the tissues chemically. Basically it is still exactly the same operation — removing the lens of the eye.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am expecting, and if it is a boy, I am wondering if I should have him circumcised. It seems to me God put that skin there for a purpose. —T. W."

Yes, the purpose originally was protective, but with the development of modern civilization—including such things as trousers—the need is no longer present. So today circumcision prevents many troubles later on, and hence is good practice. The operation is performed very easily in infancy, and with no discomfort to the baby. In older boys and men it is quite uncomfortable, so my advice is to have it done immediately.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

It's The Men Who Are Vain Creatures

One thing and another:

A female photographer who has dealt with the public for a long time says men are much more vain than women, when it comes time to have their picture made.

The most difficult men to photograph, she adds, are those who have reached middle-age.

"That is because they want the impossible," she says. "They want to look as young and handsome as they looked in their 20's. But they also want to have character in their faces."

"TAKE OUT THE lines that make them look middle-aged and you also take out the lines that give character and distinction to their faces. It's impossible to give them all they ask for."

Women are far easier to please, according to the woman who had made a living from snapping pictures. La femme doesn't look for character lines, if her likeness is snapped. She looks for beauty and attractiveness and if you've made her look better than she actually does, she's apt to triple the order for photos.

HEAR THE STORY about the research scientist who had a man-to-man talk with his eight-year-old son? He came away from the experience smiling, something that caused his helpmeet to ask:

"What makes you so cheerful?"

"It's Junior," the man explained. "I've just had a chat with him and I'm convinced he's going to follow in my footsteps. He feels the same way I did at his age."

"You mean he wants to be a scientist?"

"No, I mean he wants to blow up his school."

POLICE IN SOME of the larger cities are employing a new phrase in dealing with some crimes these days—"the no-reason assault."

It is used to describe violence without a motive. Obviously, the criminal uses violence for its own sake. It would apply to an individual who "just wanted to beat up on somebody."

Ever go into a restaurant, order a sandwich and have it prepared for you in such a way that you don't recognize it?

WHEN DOES A sandwich cease to be a sandwich? Some people insist that America's favorite snack can be called that only if it is between two pieces of bread. Open-faced sandwiches, they say, don't count. Call it a luncheon, if you will, but not a sandwich.

In other words, they're arguing that if you eat it with your fingers and not be stared at by the patrons at the next table, it's a sandwich. If you have to use a knife and fork to help get it down, it deserves another title.

Rare Delicacy Of Bygone Days

President Eisenhower poured such an unexpected volume of sunshine into my life recently that I feel I owe him, at the very least, a note or a vote of appreciation.

Thanks to the President's shopping expedition in a one-shop country store, owned by 80-year-old Ner Thomas at Biglerville, Pa., I have discovered the place to buy a delicacy that I feared had departed from my life forever.

THAT DELICACY, typically American, is dried corn, an ambrosia that has all but disappeared along with the American frontier that bred it. Among the goodies Mr. Eisenhower purchased at the Biglerville store was "a box of dried corn." When he discovered it, he exclaimed:

"I haven't seen any of that in years."

Neither have I; not, in fact, since my two aunts, Kittie Lee and Nellie Virginia, quit making this nectar 12 or 15 years ago. I suspect there are millions of Americans, used to corn on the cob, in the can and in the freezer, who have never heard of dried corn. In fact, I introduced my husband, a born New Yorker, to this home-bouche, when we were married just over 30 years ago.

IF I REMEMBER correctly, it was the Indians who taught the early settlers to dry corn against the lean winter months. It has a delicacy of flavor all its own, quite unlike that in the can or the freezer. And although the pioneer necessity to dry corn against the winter famine had long since ceased when I was a child, my Grandmother Callaway, for whom it had been a necessity, and my father were so fond of it that we never dried less than a 50-pound sack of it every summer.

And a 50-pound sack of dried corn meant goodness knows how many hundreds of dozens of ears of fresh corn. As long as I live, I shall never forget "the day we dried corn." It was always at the very height of the green-corn season and often on a day when Papa could stay home to supervise the job. He always sharpened the paring knives on the night before.

FIRST, THE CORN had to be shucked, a job we usually did out-of-doors. In the meantime, tremendous pots of water were put to boil, on both the wood and the electric stoves.

The corn was only allowed to boil a few moments, and then we went to the side porch, smothered in honeysuckle, to cut it off the cob. Grandma and Papa had a sharp eye for perfection. It must never be cut too close to the cob, nor yet so far from it as to waste the substance.

Dad had put up big trestles in the sunny back yard the day before. These were covered with clean sheets. The corn, as it was cut, was spread evenly over the sheets in a thin layer over which two thicknesses of mosquito netting were immediately laid. Every day Papa gently stirred the corn, the better to dry it from all angles.

"THE DAY we dried corn" was always long, hot and tiring. But in December, when we had dried corn for dinner with the fried chicken, hot biscuits and cream gravy, it seemed worth every ounce of effort. And how you cook this delicacy? First, it must be put to soak overnight in cold water. The next day, you drain it, put a little water in it and simmer it until tender on the back burner. Then you drain it again, add a tablespoon or two of thick cream and a good dollop of butter, together with salt and pepper to taste.

Then, I assure you, it is a dish fit for a king or a President who remembers the old ways.

Where Dealers Fight For Car Sales

If you are interested in the lowest price on a new car, go where dealers fight for business. Competition is the life of a good trade.

This is the conclusion Dr. Allen F. Jung leads up to in an article, "Prices of Falcon and Corvair Cars in Chicago and Selected Cities," in the April University of Chicago Journal of Business.

Dr. Jung, an assistant professor at Chicago, did his own market research. He discovered that Chicago dealers began to discount the new compacts almost immediately. By November, only a short time after its introduction, no Falcon dealer adhered to the recommended price of $2,370 for a deluxe four-door sedan with radio, heater and automatic transmission. The highest price was $2,350. One dealer shaved $245 off the recommended price, asking only $2,125. Another asked $2,140, another $2,150. Yet, at the time, dealers were short of cars.

AT FIRST, Corvair dealers were more stubborn. Two dealers wouldn't budge from the manufacturers' recommendation of $2,430; one knocked off a dollar to $2,429. In contrast, another dealer came down $280 to $2,150, or only $25 higher than the lowest Falcon price.

At the time, Corvair dealers could hold up their price. Corvairs were less plentiful than Falcons. Furthermore the rear-engine design appealed to automobile aficionados.

Once dealers had cars, discounts on Corvairs exceeded those on the Falcon. Perhaps the "bugs" which were quickly discovered made it necessary to put "price" into the "sell."

ONCE THE CORVAIR novelty wore off, its price to customers came down to that of the Falcon. It was only $8 or $9 more on the average despite the $60 higher recommended list.

In November, discounts on Corvairs averaged only 3.5 per cent (386), whereas the Falcon discount was 5.1 per cent ($122). By January, the Corvair discount had risen to 12.7 per cent ($308) versus 10.8 per cent ($257) for the Falcon. Naturally, competition of the Rambler, the Lark, and foreign cars also influenced dealer prices.

Dr. Jung found that discounts were lower in Denver than in Chicago and lower in San Francisco than in Denver, after allowance for freight differences. Principal reason: Fewer dealers—less intense competition.

ALTHOUGH THERE were 29 Falcon dealers and 28 Corvair dealers in Chicago, there were only six Corvair dealers in Denver and San Francisco and six Falcon dealers in Denver and five in San Francisco.

The average December price among Falcon dealers was $2,217 in Denver and $2,204 in San Francisco versus $2,192 for Chicago; among Corvair dealers, $2,233 in Denver and $2,350 for San Francisco versus $2,184 in Chicago.

Concluded Dr. Jung: "The common belief that prices are higher as one travels west, even after allowance for freight charges, seems to be borne out by the results. . . . There does not seem to be as much competition in Denver, and especially in San Francisco, as in Chicago."

"A HIGHER LEVEL of prices in Denver and San Francisco was (also) found for appliances. New compact-car prices in San Francisco were about as high as in Las Vegas, whereas there is one dealer for each make and little competition within in many miles."

Moral: Where you have many sellers, you're likely to have a price-cutter. And where there's a price cutter, there's a tendency for prices to drop. Competitors can't be above competition and remain competitors.
