Members of the Downtown Lions Club, co-sponsors of the event, were busy all morning making final checks on safety requirements of racers, and seeing that construction rules were met.

The races tonight run northward

Catholic Divorce Worries Churchman

By JOE BENHAM
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Contraceptive birth control and divorce are about as prevalent among Roman Catholics as non-Catholics, says a leader of the church, which disapproves both.

The Right Rev. Msgr. Irving DeBlanc of Washington also said Baptists raise larger families than Catholics.

He called the situation "alarming" in an article he wrote for the National Catholic Family Life Convention here.

"It is apparent that we are one generation from paganism," Msgr. DeBlanc wrote in the convention edition of the Alamo Messenger, official newspaper of the Archdiocese of San Antonio.

"From some of the studies that have been made, Catholics indicate they follow the influence of their neighbors and do not take their codes of behavior from a divinely inspired church."

One survey, the article said, "indicated that Catholic married couples were using contraceptive birth control in about the same number as non-Catholics."

A study of 14,071 families conducted by H. M. Bell of Maryland showed divorce ratios of 6.6 per cent for Protestants and 6.4 per cent for Catholics, Msgr. DeBlanc wrote.

"Paul Click of the U.S. Bureau of Vital Statistics gave evidence that Catholics have the largest families in the United States," he continued.

"We need a rediscovery of the family. The family is one of the greatest social problems of the times. I think it is a greater social problem than race, disarmament, industrial relations, politics and so on."

Youngster Admits Two Burglaries

Arrest of a 10-year-old boy Wednesday cleared up two burglaries committed at the Big Spring Auto Parts.

The boy admitted breaking into the establishment May 30 and taking $5.65. On June 2, he again broke in but did not take anything, although he attempted to open the soft drink machine.

Police turned the boy over to A. E. (Shorty) Long, county juvenile officer.

Baptists See Red

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—The American Baptist Assn. says it is convinced there are Communists and Communist sympathizers in both government and religious organizations in the United States.

In a resolution adopted Wednesday night, delegates to the association's convention urged "our state and national leaders to ferret out and expose Communists, Socialists and Communist sympathizers wherever found."

Mexican, Texas Baptists To Unite

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Mexican Baptist Convention, meeting here for its 50th anniversary convention, approved Wednesday a plan to merge with the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The plan must be approved by the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, and by messengers to the annual state Baptist convention in Lubbock, Oct. 31-Nov. 2.

Under the plan the Mexican convention would function as a department of the state Baptist convention.

More than 275 Latin American churches in Texas with a membership of 30,000 are affiliated with the Mexican convention. Most of the churches now maintain a dual affiliation with the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Instrument Trouble Trips U.S. Ear On Outer Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—Instrument trouble has interfered with the government's first systematic search for possible radio signals from "any intelligent beings on other planets."

As a result, what had originally been planned as a one-month project has been continued since April 11, and may go on for another couple of weeks, a National Science Foundation spokesman said today.

Designated "Project Ozma," the signal search is one of a number of scientific projects undertaken with a new 85-foot radio telescope at Green Bank, W. Va.

When the project was started, officials discounted the chance any intelligible outer-space signals would be received. None has

Dead Child's Mother Lifts Death Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Perhaps one in a million chance caused Douglas Beane's bullet that killed a gopher to ricochet on and kill a little neighbor girl, too.

The victim's mother who caused dismissal of a manslaughter charge against him is "probably one person in a million," says Beane.

"I don't know how I'd feel in such a situation," the 25-year-old auto repair shop owner told a reporter Wednesday. "I have children. Only a person who believes wholeheartedly in God would have an attitude like hers."

Beane fired a .30-caliber carbine at a gopher that popped its head out of a hole in his back yard in suburban Lynwood last Feb. 25. The gopher died.

The bullet ricocheted on, through a rusty, corrugated tin fence and through the tarpapered, 3-16-inch plywood wall of a house at the rear.

It struck 4-year-old Donna Sword in the back as she watched television at the neighbor's house while her mother was at work.

Several weeks later, after an operation and sufficient apparent recovery that she could play with Beane's two young sons, she died.

A coroner's jury disagreed on whether Beane was criminally responsible for Donna's death.

Superior Court Judge Eveille J. Younger dismissed the manslaughter charge Tuesday after reading a letter from her mother, Mrs. Frank Sword. It said in part:

"I do not believe any good purpose could be served by insisting that this case be tried. Douglas will punish himself 1,000 times more than any law could do."

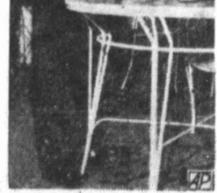

"For the good of everyone and for our own peace of mind, we feel that the case should be dismissed."

Judge Younger told a reporter he had dismissed the charge in the interest of justice because Beane is "a good husband, a good father and a good citizen."

"The greatest possible good can come from this tragedy only if it prevents similar accidents in the future," the judge added.

Beane told a reporter: "It's been a lesson; it's been terribly hard on me and my whole family. I'm relieved, of course, and happy I'm now able to go on raising my family. I'm the sole breadwinner."

His sons are Keith Douglas, 3, and Kirk, 18 months. His wife Lois, 24, expects another child.

DEAR ABBY

IT JUST COMES OUT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What happens to people when they get behind the wheel of an automobile? I have seen drivers (both men and women) behave in the rudest, most inconsiderate manner. (From crowding other motorists off the street to deliberately pulling into a parking space that someone is obviously struggling to back into.) I've seen them blast their horns at pedestrians and other drivers and cuss them out in vulgar language. Does something "psychological" happen to people when they get in the driver's seat? I am sure these same people in other circumstances would be charming, considerate ladies and gentlemen.

CONSIDERATE WOMAN DRIVER

DEAR WOMAN DRIVER: You are mistaken. One who is basically considerate and kind does not suddenly become rude, selfish and uncivilized when he gets behind a wheel. He is merely being his ugly self because he thinks he will never see those he offends again.

DEAR ABBY: What should a widow do with her rings? Does she transfer them to her right hand? Or does she put them away altogether? What if she has children? It doesn't look right for a mother to walk around without a wedding band. Yet, if I wear my wedding band and meet an eligible man he'll think I am married. And if I wear my engagement ring, he'll think I am engaged. There must be other young widows who are also wondering, so won't you please answer me in your column?

DEAR YOUNG WIDOW: Widows who are interested in re-marrying should put their rings away.

DEAR ABBY: When a person receives a greeting card for his birthday, anniversary, graduation, Easter, going-away or get well, is it necessary to thank the sender? I say it is kind of silly.

If you write to the person who sent you the card, what are you supposed to say? "Thanks for the card"? Then, by rights, the person who gets thanked will have to write back and say, "You're welcome." It is just too much trouble. I'd rather be left alone.

LAZY
DEAR LAZY: Hold that attitude and you WILL be left alone. A card is an expression of thoughtfulness and should not be ignored. A thank you by phone (if possible for his thoughtfulness (not card) is a common courtesy which, unfortunately, is becoming more uncommon every day.

DEAR ABBY: About that simple-minded young wife who waits until her husband falls asleep at night to pin up her hair, and then gets up early to comb it out so he won't see her in pin-curls: I wonder if he gets up in the middle of the night to shave so his wife won't see him with a beard?

First Star Hopper May End Up In Zoo

LOS ANGELES (AP) —All is not going to be as peaceful and skillful for the first space traveler who reaches the nearest star and returns to a ticker tape reception.

Dr. Edward Teller, noted physicist and father of the hydrogen bomb, said the space pioneer might find himself 30 years older, the world three million years older, "and instead of being a hero he might end up in a zoo."

"In concordance with the laws of physics, someone in this lifetime could go to Andromeda, but I recommend against it," Dr. Teller told a University of California extension series Wednesday night. "If there is life out there, then where is everybody? Is it possible that it's a form of life that we may not recognize as such, and isn't it even more possible that we in our galaxy may just be suburbs living in a god-forsaken outpost? There is a possibility that we may soon be able to tune in via radio on noises 20,000 light years away in the center of the galaxy, and if we hear what I think we will hear, then I will become an isolationist with regard to space exploration."

The scientist's mention of a space explorer's winding up in a zoo was a light reference to Einstein's theory of relativity and the possibility of a spaceman's becoming a modern Rip Van Winkle on his return.

Dr. Teller said that getting to the next star will be difficult if the rocket is powered with hydrogen fusion. So powered, 1-20th the speed of light would be its maximum, and that would require 80 years to get to Proxima Centauri. An alternate fuel more powerful than hydrogen, Dr. Teller said, is antimatter (a purely theoretical substance, the opposite of matter,) which, when put in contact with matter, could produce energy enough for rockets to approach the speed of light. He said a spaceship on its way to Andromeda could be annihilated by antimatter either in space or on arrival.

"The problem in using antimatter for fuel is that antimatter and matter destroy each other and produce violent radiation.

"I know I'm crazy, but if we could control the use of antimatter with magnetic fields, we might get far out enough and fast enough to realize our wildest dreams and go star hopping. Don't despair. Just think what has been accomplished in the past 300 years alone.

"Don't be premature and set for a purpose in our space research. After all, Columbus set out to solve a trade problem with China, and that still isn't solved. The by-products of his voyage were infinitely more valuable and it is the infinite itself we now want to solve. We will certainly get to the moon and the planets in this century alone."

Miss Tall America

ATLANTA (AP)—A statuesque 5-foot-10 brunette, who had to stretch to get into the contest, is 1960 Miss Tall America.

The judges selected Connie Adams of Atlanta over 15 other stately beauties Wednesday night. Miss Adams, a senior at Georgia State College, just met the minimum height rules. Elizabeth Schaeffer of Los Angeles placed second and Patricia Anderson of Dallas, Tex., third.

97 Teams Open Play In Odessa Pro-Am

ODESSA (SC) — Ninety-seven golf tandems, including four from Big Spring, began play this morning in the $15,000 Odessa Pro-Am Tournament.

Included in the gathering of professional and amateur linksters are 21 who have been playing on the pro circuit.

The first foursome was to get away at 7 o'clock this morning. The last quartet was to tee off at 1:56 p.m.

W. O. (Junior) Maxwell and Col. Donald Eislerhart of Big Spring were to start down the first fairway at 7:08 a.m. today. They were to play in a group that included

Harold Blaylock, San Antonio; and Rocky Thompson, Wichita Falls.

Next Big Spring twosome due off the tee were Luke Thompson and Bobby Wright, ticketed for a 10:04 starting time. Thompson has turned pro and now resides in El Paso but he grew up in Big Spring. Both are former champions of the Big Spring Invitational tournament.

W. E. Ramsey and Obie Brister, Big Spring, were to wait until 10:44 a.m. to get away. They were playing with Dick Chapman, Brownsville, and Eugene Byrd, Stephenville.

Last Big Spring twosome scheduled to leave the first tee were Jack Starnes and Bernard Rains, who were to get off at 1:32 p.m. They were to play with Lloyd Carter and Red Alston, both of Sweetwater.

Par for the Odessa course is 72. Jay Hebert, one of the 'name' pros in the meet, and his partner, Bill Hightower of Midland, toured the course in 62 strokes under a broiling sun Wednesday.

Other well known pros who are here include Billy Maxwell, J. C. Gossie, Byron Nelson, Bo Wininger, Doug Sanders and Ernie Vossler. The field will be reduced to the 40 low teams plus ties after the second round is completed Friday.

Linksters failing to make the top 40 will form second foursomes and play for the first place money of $500.

Defending champions are Doug Higgins of Fort Worth and Midland's Buddy Brannum, who copped the prize with a 255 last year.

That was two strokes better than any other duet was able to score.

Bobby Nichols of Midland, medalist in the Big Spring Invitational a few years ago, teamed with Sleepy Winn of Midland for the tournament.

Nelson won here with Wininger, then an amateur, in 1950.

Vossler has been a winner here twice. He teamed with Rex Baxter to cop the first prize in 1953 and repeated with the same partner in 1958. Baxter is now a partner.

Vossler's partner this year is Ross Brunner, Midland. Some observers are picking the twosome of Wininger and Bob French, Odessa, this year.

Billy Maxwell is again teamed with the veteran Bill (Red) Roden.

Tabbing Round Trippers

Baseball Clinic Begins Friday

Big Spring's Texas A&M Club begins its baseball clinic for local youngsters Friday and instructors for the clinic met at Coker's Wednesday evening for a dinner meeting.

James Tidwell, president of the Big Spring A&M Club, introduced Joe White to the group of local instructors. White is the director of the Southwestern Baseball Clinic in Waco and is to be in charge of the two-day school here Friday and Saturday.

After the meal the instructors discussed methods of tutoring the youngsters and decided who would handle various phases of the school.

White gave some professional tips on how to conduct a baseball clinic and how best to hold a group of youngsters' attention and get over to them the finer points of the game.

The clinic will be divided into three sessions for both Friday and Saturday. Little Leaguers will be schooled at the morning and afternoon sessions of both days and teen-age baseballers will be tutored at both night sessions. The morning schedules are from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. The afternoon card is set from 1:30 until 4:30 p.m. and the night sessions are arranged from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m.

Alvin Dark Goes To Milwaukee

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The second-place Milwaukee Braves, seeking bench insurance for the pennant run, have obtained veteran Alvin Dark from the Philadelphia Phillies in a waiver deal.

The Phillies asked waivers on the 37-year-old infielder Wednesday and the Braves were the only club to claim him. The price was not disclosed.

Wells Fargo Star Is Due At Downs

RUIDOSO, N.M. (SC) — Highlighting this weekend's racing card at Ruidoso Downs will be the appearance of the ever popular star of radio and television, Dale Robertson, owner of many fine horses, including the All American Futurity nominee, Rebel Cause, winner of the Pacific Coast Two Year Quarter Horse championship.

This versatile star of the current television series, Wells Fargo, has always been a welcome and popular visitor at the Downs. Bad luck kept his fine two-year-old hopeful from running in last year's All American, but this year he seems to have one of the finest two-year-olds in the nation.

The featured race on Friday's card, the Dexter Rain Queen Allowance, honoring Dexter, N. M., will find a bevy of beautiful girls from New Mexico on hand for the three-day weekend, but will also see three of the top thoroughbred sprinters at the track going the four furlong distance.

Top contender in this event would seem to be the hard hitting I'll Do It Too, from the racing stable of S. M. Bethune.

This four-year-old gelded son of I'll Do It—Breeze easy finds a world of early speed and will find the four panels to his liking. If he can handle the turns, he will be the one to beat.

The Quarter Horse event, fashioned at 400 yards for Grade AA plus horses will find Ida Hazelton from the stable of Richard Hazelton and Vandy Twist, from the stable of C. Edwards, both dropping down in class to go against easier company here.

Both of these have fared well against better company and may be the strongest contention here.

Verdie's Choice, with a win to his credit in the earlier outing this year, may also be a strong factor. Another factor may be Billy Bar, from the stable of Paul Oliver, Nominations.

FIRST RACE (4 furl.) — Vitis Kiss, Queen Beas, Noble Kin, Midland Miss, War, Roughish, Ezz, Siquent, Worby's War, Roughish, Ezz, Siquent, Worby's War, Roughish, Ezz, Siquent, Worby's War.

Bucs Making Big Team Effort In Nat'l Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who's getting the job done for the Pittsburgh Pirates in that National League race? Forget it. The question is "who ain't?"

They have the majors' top winner, Vern Law (11-2); Handymen Elroy Face and comeback guy Bob Friend on the pitching staff. And they have four of the top 10 hitters in the league plus the No. 2 man in RBI, Roberto Clemente, with 49.

Friend scattered eight hits and took the major league lead in shutouts with his fourth in a 5-0 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night. The Bucs had 11 hits—with Dick Groat (4-for-5) gaining the NL bat lead at .351; Clemente (.328) doubling home two runs and Bob Skinner (.323) bringing the clincher across with a first-inning single.

It was Pittsburgh's seventh victory in eight games protecting a 3 1/2-game bulge over second place Milwaukee. The come-alive Braves made it five in a row with a 7-4 victory over third place San Francisco's fast skidding Giants.

Philadelphia defeated the Chicago Cubs 9-3, after filing away a 7-6 decision in the completion of Tuesday's suspended game. Los Angeles and Cincinnati were rained out.

DiVeronica Wins Decision Over Champion's Brother

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Dickie DiVeronica, a protege of Carmen Basilio, took a split, 10-round decision from Jay Fulmer, younger brother of the 160-pound champion, in a televised bout Wednesday night that introduced professional boxing to Utica's new, four-million-dollar Memorial Auditorium.

After the fight, Angelo Curley, Fulmer's trainer, said the decision "will still box-ing-in-Utica."

"No manager with any sort of a prospect will take a chance boxing upstate after watching tonight's fight," Curley said.

Fulmer, of West Jordan, Utah, said only, "I like Utica but not the decision."

DiVeronica, 22, used Basilio's swarming, pressing tactics to defeat the stylist Fulmer, whose older brother, Gene, will defend his crown against Basilio Wednesday in Salt Lake City.

The defeat was Fulmer's seventh in 26 fights. Fulmer, 23, weighed 136 to DiVeronica's 135 1/2.

FIGHT RESULTS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
UTICA, N. Y. — Dickie DiVeronica, 135 1/2, Syracuse, N. Y., outpointed Jay Fulmer, 136 1/2, West Jordan, Utah, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10.

EDMONTON, Alta. — Willie Greaves, Edmonton, outpointed Dick Tiger, Glasgow, 15 (for British Empire middleweight title).

WOODSTOCK, N. B. — Yvon Durelle, Bule Ste Anne, N. B., knocked out John Ace Armstrong, Moncton, 4 light-heavyweights.

Moss Lake To Get Additional Bass

Fishing at Moss Creek Lake should be improving shortly with the stocking of 2,000-3,000 more bass planned by the State Fish and Game Department.

The project got under way today with members of the state department, assisted by the city, starting to catch the bass at overpopulated Lake Powell to put in Moss Creek Lake, according to R. V. (Skeet) Foresyth, superintendent of public works.

"There are enough fishermen at Moss Creek Lake to justify restocking it," Foresyth said.

The many fishermen who have been flocking to the city-owned lake have made a big dent in the number of bass, Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said.

The job of catching the fish at Powell and taking them to Moss Creek is expected to take two or three days.

Hennessey Winner

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Tom Hennessey outboxed his arch rival of the St. Louis, Mo., lanes early today to win the $21,000 National Professional Invitational Bowling Tournament.

Dempsey Is Still Champ To Many

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—The grandmother advanced hesitantly toward the table, leading a 10-year-old boy by the hand.

"Mr. Dempsey," she asked timidly, "could I . . . could we have your autograph?"

"I've watched your career for years."

Jack Dempsey gave her a Clark Gable smile, shook hands with the awed youngster, and, asking the boy's name, wrote a personal message on a menu.

And you had a fleeting image of that boy 60 years hence proudly telling his grandchildren how he shook the hand of the great Manassa Mauler, the man who became a legend in his lifetime.

He'll be 65 years old Friday, will this man who to millions still is "the champ," although it's 34 long years since the crown rightfully was his and a dozen champions of the heavyweight division have come and gone.

He still looks the part. Straight as a pencil, he appears taller than his 6 feet and one inch. A

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

After Big Spring High School's new coaching aide, O'Neal Moore, had put in one year of schooling at the University of Mexico, gotten his degree and applied for a job with Nederland High School, he was asked if he had ever studied Foreign Languages.

"Yes," quipped O'Neal, "when I was in the University of Mexico, I took English."

V. V. Shearburn has been promoted in the Snyder school system to replace Donald Robbins, who is coming to Big Spring as No. 1 varsity assistant to Emmett McKenzie.

A native of Kansas, Shearburn has been coaching in Snyder since 1955. He's been helping Jim Stehley with the Snyder B team, which compiled a 3-4-1 won-lost-tied record last season. V. V. is a graduate of Arkansas State.

He coached at Eureka and Madison in Kansas before moving to Snyder.

Don't sell Snyder short in football this fall. Although Sweetwater is the favorite to win it all in District 3-AAA, the Tigers are going to field a tough line and head coach John Conley always has his club ready for the Sweetwater game.

Is it generally known that the Detroit Tigers tried hard to swap Rocky Colavito for Mickey Mantle a few days prior to the big league trading deadline?

Apparently, Detroit offered booty in addition to Colavito for The Mick but the Yankees turned thumbs down on all proposals. When that failed, they tried to arrange a deal that would have involved up to nine players.

Cullen Cranfill, the one-time Coahoma who now resides in Abilene, led the Texas Public Links Golf tournament by three strokes after 54 holes of play but blew to a 77 the final day in the tournament at Abilene and finished fifth.

Gil Stratton, who at one time was an umpire in the Pacific Coast league, will help Doc Palmer do the commentary for CBS-TV at the Olympic Games in Rome later this summer.

Stratton had a brief acting career. He's appeared on "The Red Skelton Show" and was the son in "That's My Boy," a situation comedy series starring Eddie Mayhoff, the "Old Pro" voice of those beer ads you hear during the TV baseball games each week.

Into the 1960 football season, the University of Tulsa has played teams of 99 different schools and have compiled an all-time won-lost-tied record of 278-149-24.

The Hurricanes have won 12 Missouri Valley conference championships and have appeared in six major bowl games.

The Southwest Conference has lost five officials—two referees, an umpire, head line man and field judge—to professional football since last season.

One of the referees is Bob Finley, the SMU hero (along with Bobby Wilson) of the 1955 TCU game—the game that sent the Mustangs to the Rose Bowl game. He'll work in the American Football League.

Gil Barnett, the one-time Big Springer, is gaining quite a reputation as a golf tournament starter. He served in that capacity at Coahoma the past week.

T Birds Nip Rockets, 9-8; Gain Tie For League Lead

The T-Birds charged from behind in the final inning to defeat the winless Rockets, 9-8, in International Little League play here Wednesday night and thereby moved into a deadlock for first place.

The T-Birds now have a 4-1 won-lost record in second half play, as do the Sabres and the Comets.

No games are on tap in the league tonight, due to the Soap Box Derby. On Friday evening, the T Birds oppose the Sabres in a battle for exclusive possession of first place. The Comets oppose the Daggers Saturday night.

Steve Koums scored with two out in the sixth inning last night to break up the game. The bases were loaded when Bobby Bowers, the winning hurler, delivered a hit that enabled Koums to scoot home.

The losing hurler was Dan Ritley. Bowers led his team's attack with three hits.

Toby's Topples Campbell Nine

Robert Mendoza stroked three singles and a double and scored four runs Wednesday night to lead Toby's to a 17-8 romp over Campbell's in Texas Little League action.

Toby's took the left in the second inning on a four-run outburst then coasted home with the one-sided win.

Romah Rocha slapped a triple in the first inning to complete Toby's extra base hitting.

Chester Moreland was the kingpin at bat for the losers as he clouted two doubles and a homer and scored three runs. Junior Mendoza also had a round-tripper for Campbell's.

Luyen Flores gained the win for Toby's.

Los Angeles Seeks Floyd-Ingo Match

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—While Floyd Patterson banks in his new-found glory and Ingemar Johansson vacations in Florida, the battle continues over the site of their third fight.

Los Angeles weighed in Wednesday with a wire to Bill Fugazy, a director of Feature Sports, Inc., offering the huge Memorial Coliseum and full cooperation.

Fugazy, who wants to run the fight in late September or early October, replied to the Los Angeles proposition and sent similar wires to Chicago and Dallas. He said he was interested in further discussions if assured of adequate police protection for the fight.

The police protection item may result in the third Patterson-Johansson heavyweight title fight moving out of New York.

Stephen Kennedy, New York police commissioner, replied to Fugazy's criticism of inadequate police protection for the Monday night fight and said the police will diet ordered by his doctor to reduce high cholesterol, or what he terms "thick blood," has whittled off 30 pounds and left him a svelte 200.

His thick thatch of dark hair still is thick and dark, with only a trace of grey at the temples.

He spends much time now at his Broadway restaurant, where he is besieged by hero worshippers of all ages, from all walks of life, from crossroad villages and distant cities.

Dempsey has eased up on his living pace. At 65, he feels it is time to take it a little easier. So there is no more galloping across the country refereeing wrestling matches or fights, although he still do it for charity.

"I feel pretty good, pretty good," he said, chewing on one of the long cigars he consumes at the rate of 10 a day.

"Life has been good to me, and I am very grateful. I have five fine grandchildren, all girls—Barbara has three and Joan, the elder of my daughters, two. I have business interests, including a radio and television school in Chicago with an enrollment of 2,600 and 20,000 taking correspondence courses."

One of his cherished goals is to see boxing cleaned up and accepted as a good, wholesome sport.

"The small clubs should be brought back, and the rules and regulations be brought up to date," he says emphatically.

"They are 40 years behind the times. The sport now is a political football. There is no coordination in its government. The NBA rules have no teeth.

"I believe it should be a felony for a boxer not to show up for a bout without an adequate excuse. He should get two years in jail. And a man convicted of trying to intimidate a fighter should get five years and a $10,000 fine.

"Anybody connected with the game should be made to swear he had no underworld connections. And there should be no return-bout clause in contracts, or rather, it should be read 'if warranted.'"

Midland Hosts JayCee Meet

MIDLAND (SC)—Midland will be the site of the Jaycee International Tennis Tournament, scheduled for August 1 through 6.

Young tennis stars from all 50 states in the union and from several foreign countries will be vying for the championship. The tennis tournament is looked upon in tennis circles as one of the biggest staged in this country. Last year's event at Phoenix, Ariz., drew 169 entrants from just about everywhere. This year, the previous figure is expected to be passed.

Defending champion Rodney Kop, Hawaii, will be on hand to defend his title against the best that can be sent up against him. Several well-known personalities from the tennis world will be on hand to conduct tennis clinics and also to view the entrants with an eye to American Davis Cup hopes in the future.

The tournament will open in Midland on August 3 with a parade of states, a colorful spectacle featuring every state in the union, and after five days of matches, during which some of the finest tennis to be seen in the country, will conclude with an awards banquet at Ranchland Hills Country Club in Midland.

Scuba-Divers Meet Friday

YMCA's Scuba-Dive Club has rescheduled its Thursday meeting, according to Joe Leach, physical director of the Y.

Leach said that the club would have its meeting Friday at 7:30 rather than Thursday. All those who are interested in learning the art of water exploration are invited to attend the meeting.

Alexander Among Area Boys In Bowl Contest

CHILDRESS — After several months of hard work, Vernon Eubanks, chairman of the selection committee for the Greenbelt Bowl football classic and veteran Greenbelt Bowl worker, has announced the committee's selection of the East and West teams to meet in the eleventh annual classic on Saturday, August 13th.

More than a hundred towns submitted players for consideration, and the task of matching and cross matching the players became a very difficult task. The committee has to select the same number of boys to play on each team from each classification of school boy football played in the two states.

The limited time that these teams have to practice makes it imperative that they be as evenly matched as possible before they report for practice. Selected players will be expected to report on Monday morning and they will draw their uniforms and equipment and report to the coaches to have their pictures made for the souvenir program and will start two a day workouts on Tuesday morning.

The boys have been divided into the West and East teams. The committee still has one selection to make, but expects to make it before the week is out.

Trantham Cares For 900 Parking Meters

By JACK RADER
Spend a day or two hammering out a slug to save a nickel in the parking meter and what have you done? You've saved a nickel and cost the city as much as $5.
The man who knows all about this slug business is L. F. Trantham, parking meter repairman here since 1955, when he was transferred from the city water department.

METER IS SIMILAR TO A CLOCK
L. F. Trantham inspects the mechanism

Trantham said he brings in about 25 meters a week for repair. Sometimes this means replacing parts. The cost of parts and labor averages from $2.50 to $5, he said.
"About 95 per cent of my troubles here since 1955, when he was transferred from the city water department, are caused by slugs," Trantham said. "The rest is mechanical break-down."

SOURCE OF TROUBLE
The trouble comes either from people trying to beat the cost of parking or just trying to beat the meter. Some of the vandalism involves bashing the meter heads and breaking the glass or jamming the coin slots with all kinds of objects.
The methods some residents use to save a nickel or a dime is fantastic, Trantham said. I suspect some of them sit up at night thinking of ways to jam a meter," he said with a touch of humor.

Trantham, though not always a parking meter man, has worked with meters of various sorts since 1948 when he went to work for the Empire Southern Gas Co. at Andrews.
"I worked with meters on gas leases around Andrews until 1951 when the company transferred me to the meter shop in Big Spring." The shop was on the Old San Angelo highway and Trantham worked until 1953.

From 1953 until April, 1955 Trantham worked with the city water department.
When he got the job, and until about two months ago, his office and workshop was on the second floor of the Municipal Auditorium. "It was a little cubby-hole with barely enough room for one table, he said.

LARGER WORKSHOP
Trantham now has a much larger workshop in the department of public works in the 900 block of East 2nd. Here he repairs jammed meters, cleans those fouled by sand which attacks the clock mechanisms, and stocks replacement meters.
At the present time he is replacing about eight meter-heads a day for cleaning purposes. The meters must be run through a meter bath once each year to clean them of grime and natural accumulation of the West Texas air, Trantham explained.

The automatic meters (those without a handle), are gradually being replaced by manually operated ones, Trantham said.
"In the first place, the automatics are not good in West Texas. The clock mechanisms are more complex than the manuals and the dust and sand fouls a lot of them."

Trantham also noted that the simplicity of the manually operated meters makes them "nearly foolproof." "With fewer gears and springs, the manuals are a lot better for this part of the country."
In addition to repairing meters, Trantham is responsible for collecting the money. This usually requires two days per week.

He starts his collections around 4 a.m., winding up at mid-morning when he takes the collection return to the office of Perry Johnson, tax assessor-collector, at city hall. There the coins are fed into a machine that separates and counts the pennies, nickels and dimes.

AVERAGES $800
"Lately, the week's average take from the meters has been running around $800—a lot of change," he said.
Another regular weekly job is winding the automatic meters, some 225 of them. These are run by a mechanism very similar to a clock for cleaning purposes. The meters must be run through a meter bath once each year to clean them of grime and natural accumulation of the West Texas air, Trantham explained.

spring-driven alarm clock and must be wound about twice a week. "It's very important to keep them wound, especially with all the pennies deposited."
Every coin used unwinds the clock and the more coins deposited, the faster it runs down. A lot of pennies "really use up the clock," Trantham said.

The manual meters are wound when the motorist turns the handle after depositing his coin. This is another desirable feature of the manuals, according to Trantham. The city now has about 675 manual type meters, and a total of 900 of both types.

Trantham doesn't recommend the new meters which have warning flags that pop up when the meter is out of order. "This just tells people that the meter won't take money so they go ahead and use it. I can tell if a meter is out of order just by looking at it anyway."

And he looks at each of them—about 3,600 every week.

Irishman Hits Hiring Racket

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A young Irish newspaper man got his dander up over what he considered an unjust practice.
Result: a state investigation, still continuing, of charges that domestics are lured here from Europe and the British Isles with promises of little work and high living—but often work an 80-hour week and wind up broke.

The State Labor Commission says it's ready to file charges against one or more employment agencies.
The probe was sparked by three articles last April in the suburban San Gabriel Valley Daily Tribune by reporter Tom McCuaig.

Through a police captain he met an Irish girl who was working for a West Covina, Calif., family. When she left the job after completing her contract, her employer refused to pay her last month's wages.

McCuaig took the case to federal and state authorities and got payment for her. Through her he met two other Irish girls here on similar arrangements. He investigated further and developed the series.

Meter Maids Often Do More Than Just Write Out Tickets

By KAY LOVELAND
Children often greet Vivian Rasco and Lucille Thomas with, "Hi, lady parking meter."

The reason for this curious title is, of course, that they are the two policemen who make the rounds of downtown parking meters each day, issuing overdue parking tickets.

The two "lady parking meters" are frequently involved with children on their jobs. "I've done everything from changing diapers and wiping away tears to rolling down car windows and stopping fights," said Mrs. Thomas. And Mrs. Rasco tells of the time she took care of an infant that she found left alone in an automobile for an hour and a half.

LOST CHILDREN
While making daily rounds they sometimes encourage lost children, and they urge parents not to threaten their children with "if you're not good, I'll have that lady get you."

"People don't seem to realize that we are more likely to find lost children and the child should not be frightened of us. For that reason, when I hear someone make that statement, I always make it a point to let the child know that I have no intention of "getting him," Mrs. Thomas states.

Watching the approximately 900 parking meters downtown is no easy task. "In the summer we battle the heat and in the winter we fight the cold," laments Mrs. Rasco.

HOW FAR?
How many miles a day do they walk? They don't know, but consider they work eight hours a day, trying to make their rounds once each hour. Add to this the endless number of curbs they must go up and down all the mileage accumulates.

On their beats, Mrs. Rasco covers all the territory east of Main St. and Mrs. Thomas watches the meters on the West side. "Most of the time we get around in an hour, but it depends on the volume of traffic and how many tickets we write," Mrs. Rasco explains.

The number of tickets they write varies, but they average about 50 each per day. "We do not have a quota and we do not play favorites. Most of the excuses we get are probably valid, but we have a job to do and rules to follow," they explain.

COMMON EXCUSE
The most common excuse they hear is, "I had to get some change." And although they would like to accept that at times, they can not make exceptions to the rule. Mrs. Thomas' husband claims that she has given him a ticket without even knowing it because, "she doesn't look at the cars, only at the red flag on the meter."

There are other circumstances that often lead to overdue parking. Sometimes motorists misjudge the length of time they will be gone and put too little change in the meter. At other times, they get tied up and can't get away.

Aside from the majority of people who infrequently get tickets due to such circumstances, there are cases of chronic parking ticket collectors who, as Mrs. Rasco puts it, "battle the meter every day of every week." And they probably have accumulated a pile of over - parking tickets during their lives.

FIVE YEARS AGO
Both Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Rasco started on the job five years ago. Mrs. Thomas began in November and Mrs. Rasco in May. Previous to that time, men had handled the task. The only requirement for the job was having previous experience with people.

Mrs. Thomas had not worked in public for ten years when she applied for the job, but Mrs. Rasco had been working in a boot and shoe shop.

Although the city hired another woman to relieve them last year, she is now working in another part of the police department and there are no plans at present to hire an additional policewoman. This often works a hardship on one of them during vacations and on days off.

In the beginning, the job was difficult and the women had some trouble with townspeople concerning parking tickets. "I think they resented not only the parking meters, but having women on the job as well," said Mrs. Thomas. But today, they feel the great majority of people are understanding and in most cases, cooperative.

OVER-PARKED
Mrs. Rasco writes

"I love my job," Mrs. Thomas states. "I like people and being out among them." And Mrs. Rasco adds, "You have to be able to adapt yourself easily to sudden changes in attitude and outlook, but the work is interesting and that makes up for any disadvantages in may entail."

Cuban Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will visit Cuba some time in August, Soviet Ambassador Vladimir I. Bazikin said here Wednesday. He did not specify the exact date.

Bazikin said earlier the Soviet Union would open an embassy in Havana before Khrushchev's visit. The Soviet Premier announced June 3 that he had accepted Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's invitation to visit.

CHECKING NEW METER
Police captain works part-time

Hiltbrunner Helps Keep 'Em Working

Full-time police officer, part-time parking meter man—that's L. A. (Red) Hiltbrunner. Hiltbrunner is a shift captain on the Big Spring Police force on a full - time basis, but during his off-duty hours, the city often calls on him to assist in parking meter work.

"Actually, I'm sort of a full-time part-time meter man," Hiltbrunner said.
When Hiltbrunner lends a helping hand with the meters, it is nothing new at all, and city officials have good reason to believe he is just the man to do it.

TRAINED TRANTHAM
Hiltbrunner took the job on a full-time basis. In addition to his duties as a policeman, for about four months in 1955, then trained L. F. Trantham who has the job now.

"I had learned all about meters before ever coming to Big Spring in 1951 and I guess they figured I was a natural for the job," he said.
The city's meter man at that time, Tommy Malone, left the job in 1955 and a man was needed to fill in. Hiltbrunner filled the bill.

"I spent a month or so training Trantham for the job, showing him the routine in the shop (where the meters are repaired and serviced) and on the street. He learned real fast though and was easy to teach."
Hiltbrunner's meter experience dates back to 1949 "officially," although he said he doesn't remember exactly when he first started "monkeying" with them. "I was in Colorado City in the police department when I got my first real training in 1949. After that, until 1951 when I came to Big Spring, I helped install the meters at Colorado City and trained the meter man there."

Hiltbrunner's experience at Colorado City was with the "Car Park" parking meter, "a real dandy," meter men agree with a touch of sarcasm.

The "Car Park" is one of the older type meters, no longer used. It compares with the newer models, unfavorably.
Hiltbrunner had to agree with Trantham's estimation of the old meters: "If you can work on a Car Park, you can work on any kind of meter."

The old has - been a complicated mechanism and gave meter men many problems. Their passing was not lamented.
Hiltbrunner's meter work lately has not been too heavy, even on a part-time basis. A few weeks ago, however, he substituted for Trantham while the latter was on vacation.

"That meant working from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. at the police department, then hitting it for several more hours on the meters," he said. "It made a long day."
LEARNING TRICKS
Because of his experience and knowledge, Hiltbrunner, along with Trantham, makes a formidable foe for the foibles of our parking meters. Like Hiltbrunner so hard, "It's not that a meter is so hard to work on—it's just learning the little tricks of doing it."

Big Spring is well protected in this line however, and few cities this size can boast two skilled meter men.

Life Threat Told At Murder Trial

DALLAS (AP)—A mother testified Wednesday that her 31-year-old son's life was threatened shortly before he pumped five bullets into an attractive half-Indian woman.

Mrs. Lois Scarborough, 52, testified that Mildred Ott, 32, was on a mission to retrieve pictures of herself the night she was slain by Ike Scarborough.

The mother quoted Miss Ott as saying by phone "You dirty old man, we're coming out to get those pictures or we're going to kill you." Miss Ott's companion, Lionel Rothchild, was quoted as saying Scarborough, "Midge wants back those pictures I took."

Miss Ott was shot to death a half-hour later in the driveway of the Scarborough estate.

Defense attorneys claimed Scarborough fired in self defense.

Dawson Fair Barn Contract Is Awarded

LAMESA — The first of two phases of a county building program has been inaugurated here. The Dawson County Commissioners awarded a contract to Triangle Mfg. Co. of Slaton for a multipurpose, all-steel fair barn.

Triangle proposed the low bid of $29,965 for the building and the contract was awarded over other firms. Construction will start immediately under terms of the contract, and is to be ready for occupancy on Sept. 1.

The building will be used for the annual fair, livestock shows and repair and maintenance of county equipment. Work in particular sections of the building will be rented and proceeds will go to the erection of an adjoining concrete-block building.

The second building will house the county youth program and will also be utilized for ladies' fair exhibits. Estimated cost of the second building is $16,500.

The fair barn is to be 120 by 200 feet and will have a clearance of 30 feet at the highest point. Four doors, nine by nine feet, three on all sides.

The siding will be of corrugated steel and the entire building will be constructed in Slaton and erected here. Interior specifications and additional construction work is pending and will be completed prior to the opening of the Dawson County Fair, Sept. 21.

Kennedy Says Nixon Isn't Needed As Our President

By The Associated Press. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts says "I don't think we should turn this country over to Vice President Richard M. Nixon in this critical time."

Kennedy threw away a prepared speech at Camden, N. J., Wednesday night to launch his attack on Nixon, the probable Republican presidential candidate.

Kennedy said people on other continents quote men like Woodrow Wilson, Thomas Jefferson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. But, he said, they don't quote Nixon.

"We must elect a president who will make people get up in the morning and wonder what he did instead of what (Soviet Premier Nikita) Khrushchev did," Kennedy said.

One of Kennedy's strongest opponents for the Democratic nomination, Senate Majority Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas took the Senate floor Wednesday to lash at administration foreign policy.

"There is a depressing lack of vital new ideas in our foreign policy," he said. Johnson called for great international programs to stamp out disease, to move food surpluses to hungry areas, to break down communications barriers between people, and to harness water resources in arid regions.

At Sacramento, Calif., Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown spoke admiringly of both Kennedy and Adlai E. Stevenson, but left the impression that he leans toward Kennedy.

As a favorite-son candidate, Brown controls California's 81 convention votes, and he has avoided endorsement of any of the leading contenders.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India's chief of staff says reports indicate the Communist Chinese are massing heavy troop concentrations along some of India's border areas.

He said he felt there is little likelihood of trouble on the disputed border with Tibet as long as talks on the dispute continue with the Chinese.

AUSTIN (AP) — Rabies declined in May, but State Health Department authorities say infected wild animals may set off an outbreak at any time.

Health department technicians found rabies in 40 of the 409 heads they examined in May. Forty-eight cases were detected in April and 88 in March. Examinations were made on 591 heads in March.

The decline was attributed in a report released Wednesday to a seasonal drop and the effects of local rabies control programs.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Frank Davis, 51, member of a prominent ranching family, was re-indicted by a grand jury Wednesday in the death of attorney James L. Drought, 41.

A previous indictment for murder with malice was dismissed Monday on a series of technicalities. Davis was charged with fatally injuring Drought after their autos collided.

Dist. Judge James Onion dismissed the murder count in the first indictment because it failed to say whether Davis wore shoes when he allegedly stomped Drought after the collision. Counts charging commission of a felony and aggravated assault were thrown out because the grand jury failed to vote on them.

Johnson Won't Lose Any Power

Arthur Krock, for many years the top New York Times surveyor of the Washington scene, recently compared Senator Lyndon Johnson's character with that of Sam Houston, with whom Johnson's grandfather Baines was well acquainted.
As was said of Houston, Krock wrote in his syndicated column, Johnson is "intrepid and resolute and a legislator of rare foresight, cool discrimination and fearless candor." Also, added Krock, Johnson possesses another Houston quality: he is "wary, doubled in spades."
In spite of his boldness, his resolution, and his foresight, Johnson possesses the wariness that keeps him from rushing wildly around in all directions when other people are losing their heads.
Krock propounds a feeling about Johnson that is expressed in these words: Johnson will remain the most powerful man in Washington "whether or not he gets the party nomination." He based this on the fact that Johnson, who is a candidate for re-election in November to the Senate where he is majority leader, will be re-elected senator regardless of what happens to his presidential ambitions, and will be on the job as usual when Congress reconvenes in January.

Krock was apparently impressed with Johnson's popularity in Texas, together with the extent to which his native state is behind him in his presidential ambitions, by the 2,252 to 40 votes by which Johnson obliterated the last lingering opposition in the State Democratic Convention.

Senator Johnson himself exudes confidence in his chances at the party's national convention. He possesses the knack of making his followers feel the same way. It was noticed at the state convention that a large majority of the delegates attending were confident not only that Johnson could win at Los Angeles, but that if he did win there he would be the next president of the United States.

This feeling, it should be said in passing, is shared by many competent judges of such matters in many parts of the country. Respect for Johnson is reflected in many Northern and Eastern newspapers, contrary to what would be normally expected.

Democracy For South Korea

In South Korea President Eisenhower received a welcome that was both warm and from all appearances utterly sincere. More than two and a half million people turned out to welcome him on his second visit to the country, his first having been soon after the election of 1952.

It is possible the welcome might have turned to sour apples had it taken place before Syngman Rhee was ousted as President of the Republic of South Korea only a few weeks ago.

But the Koreans themselves cleansed their house of corruption and irresponsible power by kicking Rhee out and setting up a more democratic form of government. In his farewell to the Koreans, as he left for Hawaii, Mr. Eisenhower urged them to see to it that their form of government is made democratic and kept that way.

Had Rhee's power not been broken and that old man banished, and the U. S. government had tolerated his continued rule, Mr. Eisenhower's reception in Seoul might have been closely akin to what he would have received in Tokyo, had he made that port.

The reign of Rhee in Korea exemplified perfectly the thesis propounded long ago by Lord Acton: "Power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

The American people labored under the delusion that Rhee was giving the South Koreans a democratic government.

As it turned out the South Koreans knew more about democracy than Rhee or anybody else thought they did.

Marquis Childs The President's Fiscal Failure

WASHINGTON—At the last Cabinet meeting he held before he took off on his Asian tour, President Eisenhower started some of his Cabinet. He came down harder on the need for economy in government than at almost any time during his nearly eight years in the White House.

The meeting began with a statement by the President on the 1962 budget. Even though he goes out of office a few days later, the President is required to present in January complete budgetary proposals for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1961.

WARMING TO THIS theme, Eisenhower stressed the need for fiscal integrity and absolute economy in every area of government. Not one department, he said, looking around the Cabinet table, was to consider any increase in appropriations above the levels fixed for the fiscal year 1961 which begins at the end of this month. In fact, it was essential in some instances to make fairly drastic cuts. The budget bureau has estimated a surplus of $4.2 billion for fiscal '61. But this is based on approval by Congress of an increase in postal rates and other factors that are highly doubtful.

In the tragic defeats that he has suffered in recent weeks in the foreign field, Eisenhower's buoyant, optimistic temperament—the will to believe what he wants to believe—has come to his rescue. Communism is, moreover, a convenient scapegoat. But it is on the home front and with respect to the big deficits run up by his Administration that the President is deeply sensitive. This, as Cabinet members discussed it afterward, explained his stern visage as he outlined the '62 budget which will be his parting shot to Congress.

WITH "A LITTLE BIT O' LUCK," the current fiscal year will end with a hairline surplus of $200,000,000. But the record for the other years is, with two exceptions—'56 and '57—bleak indeed.

In 1953, it could be said that the commitments from the Truman Administration and the Korean War produced the deficit of $9.4 billion. President Eisenhower had inherited a budget that President Truman presented a few days before he left the White House, and from this many billions were whacked.

THE DEFICIT FOR '54 was $3.1 billion. For '55 it was $4.2 billion and for '56 it was $2.8 billion. In 1959, it was a thumping $12.4 billion. This makes the total for the President's two terms in the White House, granted he is correct on the current year, $31.9 billion. For one whose primary article of faith is fiscal integrity, this is a grim fact of life.

While it may be blamed on Democratic Congresses and on two unexpected recessions, there is one large factor in the Republican record that cannot be ignored. Eisenhower's first Secretary of the Treasury, the man whose influence was perhaps greatest of all on a President new to government and politics, George M. Humphrey, put through a tax cut in 1954 of $7 billion a year.

IT TAKES ONLY A little arithmetic to show that if that tax cut had not been put through, the Eisenhower Administration would have ended up with an overall surplus. Everyone was naturally very happy to get it, and few members of Congress voted against it. The cut contributed materially to the boom that reached its full flower in 1956 and lent a rosy glow to the Republican claim of peace and prosperity.

The budget presented by an outgoing President in his last days might be taken as purely an academic exercise. After all, the new President and his own budget-makers can do whatever they want to with it.

BUT IN THIS instance, the stern order of economy has sent literally hundreds of bureaucrats scampers in at least three or four government departments, according to one Cabinet source. They are under orders to find ways to make cuts or to hold the line of current appropriations. And this last is not easy to do in view of the rise in costs in almost every area in the light of new responsibilities the government must assume abroad.

The irony that this should be going on at the very moment when this country has suffered one of the gravest diplomatic-propaganda defeats in its history has not been lost on some of those who must do the scampers and scurrying in search of ways to save on candle ends and such. It may be that his experience in Asia will have worked a change in the President. But those reporting his attitude as he left do not look for it.

The New Summit Procedures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Summit conferences are over for President Eisenhower—whose term ends in seven months—but that doesn't mean the next president won't go to them.

He'll probably be pressured by Premier Nikita Khrushchev to get together with him as soon as possible. The Russian has already indicated that's what he wants.

One thing seems certain: no future president is likely to go to a summit meeting without much more detailed arrangement than preceded the meeting which blew up in Eisenhower's face.

Khrushchev, of course, has been a kind of diplomatic freak.

Compared with the sour, sour, introspective, aloof, isolated and nongregarious Stalin, Khrushchev is a clubby extrovert, an original, diplomatic do-it-yourselfer.

SO LONG AS Khrushchev lives and rules, that is likely to be his attitude. His successor, of course, may revert to the Stalin attitude. That's why it is too soon to say summit conferences are now a diplomatic way of life.

For the summit conference president will go to the summit, almost surely this will be his procedure:

1. The foreign ministers will have to meet first and agree not only on what the heavyweights will discuss but what they are apt to reach some agreement on.

For the summit conference which Khrushchev wrecked last May, there was agreement only on a few broad topics the top men should talk about. Nothing was worked out in detail.

2. Any summit meeting is likely to be held quickly after the foreign ministers agree it might be worthwhile to hold a summit meeting at all.

In the case of the ruined summit, agreement was reached in December not to hold it until May. At the time of the agreement relations between the United States and Russia were the best they had been since the war.

BUT THOSE FIVE months delay were fatal. They left too much time for talking—the kind of talking that three cold water on prospects for the summit before it ever began.

For example: The Western foreign ministers met and made it clear they didn't expect much from the summit. Khrushchev's mood changed, and he responded in anger. The result: Shouting back and forth.

No president ever again is likely to move one foot out of the United States—and expose himself to the kind of humiliation Khrushchev inflicted on Eisenhower—unless he's certain there will be no slow-ups or embarrassing moments before the meeting begins.

Khrushchev didn't expose his hand—his determination to ridicule Eisenhower and wreck the summit—until it was too late for Eisenhower to call the whole thing off. The President had reached Paris when Khrushchev began to act up.

With the benefit of hindsight, it can be seen now the United States, after Khrushchev's anger over the U2 incident, might have sought to find out from him if he was going to the summit in a hostile or cooperative mood.

4. Very careful preparation is certain to be made—before a summit meeting starts—that nothing is done to throw a cloud over it.

Troubles Of Middle Age

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you middle-aged? Do you feel worthless?

This feeling is very common to many people in their autumn years.

Even middle-aged women sometimes feel a sense of uselessness, once their children are reared.

But a woman is usually too smart—and has too much basic self-respect—to let that feeling linger long. She cures herself by taking off her shoes which is a feminine remedy for almost any ail, by eating a steak dinner, by buying a new hat, or by picking a quarrel with her husband. For some reason women always feel better after fussing at their husband.

It is the middle-aged man who is more likely to get the feeling he is no good—and to brood over it.

He may be a pillar of the community. He may never have gone to jail in his life. He may be doing well on his job, paying his debts, and abstaining from striking his children or dog in public. He may even remember to send a greeting card to his mother-in-law on Mother's Day.

Yet he is dissatisfied with himself. He is swept by recurring moods of black melancholy. He feels, unreasonably to be sure, that he and his life add up to a mutual zero.

This man, obviously, is in need of what psychologists call "ego satisfaction." He needs to build a better opinion of himself, to regain a feeling of virtue and an appreciation of his own worth.

How can a middle-aged man do this? If you have this problem, here are a few suggestions:

Buy yourself an automatic back-patting. When you come home from work, feeling low, you simply stand in front of the machine.

It pats you repeatedly on the shoulder with a firm hand while a tape-recorded voice booms in your ear, "you're the greatest."

Confess to your wife you feel like a bum. From then on the problem is hers—and she will fight it, too. She won't permit any husband of hers to feel like a bum. She has too much pride.

Move to a hut in the wilderness, and build a better mousetrap. The world will then beat a path to your door—thus making it at least easier for you to move back into town.

Read the Encyclopedia Britannica clear through. Anyone who does this always winds up with an almost insufferable sense of superiority over the common herd.

Lose yourself in a new and important cause. For example, why not start a League for Higher Taxes? There is no surer cause will tell you, "Get lost."

The main thing to do is not to give into this widespread feeling of middle-aged uselessness. Do something about it.

If all else fails, there is one final solution.

Grow old. Then, at least, you won't feel middle-aged.

Soft Drinks May Be Harmful To Babies

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it harmful to let a baby drink beer and soft drinks?"

"The parents think if a child is given beer when small it won't drink to excess when older. What do you think of this philosophy?" —E. M."

The philosophy is wrong, and these parents are pushing things to a ridiculous degree.

Alcohol is a depressant, a drug. Children—babies especially—need wholesome food and drink which will provide the "building materials" for their bodies. Alcohol is not a "building material."

Is there any guarantee that early use of beer will prevent excess later. I am old enough to have seen it tried, and have seen it fail.

Parents should set examples for what they expect their youngsters to do in later life.

That's the whole story on alcohol for infants.

Babies don't need soft drinks for their food value. (Who does?) And they will be just as happy with milk or fruit juices which will provide protein and vitamins.

The soft drinks will only provide water, sugar and flavoring. And bubbles. "Let us hope nobody will give the 'cola' type of soft drinks to a baby, as in that case there is the addition of caffeine, a stimulant, and a healthy baby doesn't need it. Indeed, there might be enough stimulation to interfere with sleep, and babies need sleep, and they need a calm, secure life.)

I'm no sorcerer when it comes to letting youngsters have a modest amount of soft drinks or other treats—but I'm talking about youngsters who are old enough to want "what the other fellas are having."

For babies, just stick to the good, nourishing foods. Babies don't demand these sweets. They don't miss them. They don't know they exist.

So why deliberately train a child to get used to such things?

"Dear Dr. Molner: I'm 52 and have been bothered with bursitis for over two years. Maybe it's because I'm overweight—5 feet 2 and weigh 188 pounds.—Mrs. W."

Bursitis is inflammation of a bursa—a sac on which a joint rides. Continued pressure can inflame a bursa, and it becomes known as "housemaid's knee," "tennis elbow," etc., depending on which joint is affected. Very decidedly, being overweight is a factor in bursitis, because it makes the joints carry more weight than they should.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing." For a copy, write to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Recently I have had slight pains in my stomach and wonder whether a tubal pregnancy could be the cause in spite of having normal periods each month?—Mrs. J.A. B."

This would have nothing to do with normal periods. A tubal pregnancy occurs when a fertilized egg, or ovum, lodges in the Fallopian tube instead of moving on to the uterus.

It does not cause periodic pain. Rather, when it has progressed to a certain point, it causes a first rate pain that sends you to your doctor forthwith, so I doubt that you have a tubal pregnancy.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing." For a copy, write to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Vacation Time Poses Problem

Vacation time is quickly becoming a problem around our house. Normally a time for getting away from it all, my good wife Joyce and I are finding it a problem to find the wherewithal to even stay at home.

A glance at the front yard, a peek at the backyard, and we are convinced we should stay at home and see what can be done with our acreage of caliche. Experience, however has taught us that very little can be done with caliche except build roads. And we are not in the road building business.

A CHECK OF THE family vaults reveals there is precious little to be used in taking long trips. But we hazard a chance that prices will be low and began investigating various vacation spots.

Yellowstone National Park appears to be an interesting place and we have never been there. But my good wife points out that earthquakes last year trapped many vacationers and more such catastrophes could be in the offing.

Florida is another place we have missed in other travels. But I told it takes a month to go there and back and really see anything. No use spending all the time riding in the car, Joyce tells me.

California lures millions annually. But the desert sun beams down pretty heavily this time of year. And comfort should be one consideration of a vacation, she points out.

One by one, we eliminate practically every place in the United States this way.

And then I mentioned the dogs. "The dogs don't go," I am told. "If they go, you'd better teach them to pack your clothes, cook, etc." So, the dogs must be boarded, another expense added to the trip.

THAT SUMS UP our vacation plans. We don't want to stay at home; too much work needs to be done. There is some disadvantage to every place we can think of to visit. And the expense involved may necessitate our taking out a third mortgage on the homestead.

Meanwhile, we pour over a double fistful of travel maps I picked up in the Chamber of Commerce office. Actually, we figure if we continue to count on a lavish vacation, the problems facing us will dissolve before the two weeks off get here.

One thing I haven't figured out. How is it possible to convert a paid vacation into a problem? I don't know, but we have.

Nobody Cares About Money

As one who swotted 10 days ago around up the quarterly income-tax payment owed Uncle Sam as well as a second tax on income owed the State of New York, I am drawing a wistful bead on one of the qualifications I regard as fundamental in any candidate for the Presidency next November.

My man will be the candidate who comes out four-square for (1) economic expenditure of public monies that you and I pour into the Federal Treasury, (2) a sane and watchful disbursement of public funds even by the Defense Department and (3) a complete overhaul of the jerry-built Federal tax system.

OF COURSE, the next Presidential test is to try and assess whether the candidate really means what he says, or is just talking through his campaign hat. And this applies equally to candidates of either party. I would love to see 'em running scared on the economy issue, but they aren't and they won't.

We Americans are so case-hardened to appalling expenditures on the part of the Federal government that we don't even care any longer when we read the U. S. Senators have secretly ordered a second nonpartisan swimming pool installed in the basement of the old Senate Office Building on Capitol Hill.

I'M AFRAID most of us taxpayers were amused rather than indignant over the extravagance and waste in the erection and equipment of the new Senate Office Building, including the fact that expensive tile flooring was so offensive to many senatorial nerves that much of it had to be covered by equally expensive wall-to-wall carpeting.

First off, I would like to vote for a candidate not afraid to espouse economy in government. I could love a candidate who would really show that he cares what becomes of your and my money once it flows into the Federal Treasury.

IT WOULD be swell to have a Chief Executive who would blow his stack when the U. S. Navy pays $21.10 for a small lamp socket that retails for 25-cents; when the Army pays $29 for a set of wrenches that can be bought for $3.89 and when the Air Force shells out $250 for a small electric relay line that can be purchased in volume for $25.

This voter is also going to carry the torch for any candidate, party immature, who promises that he will begin paying off the Federal debt, now temporarily pegged at $293 billion, even if he has to raise taxes.

Before the reader blows his stack, I don't want to pay higher taxes, either, unless it is necessary to put the nation's financial house in order. Only old economic fuddy-duddy believe in paying off the national debt, but I align myself with them.

BUT NO Chief Executive has the right to raise taxes until he has first made it his duty to see that all the water is wrung out of the Federal budget. I guess "all" is too strong a word. Utopia is not that close.

But it should be the duty of the next President to bring at least 90 per cent of the water and the waste out of public expenditures. That would probably give the defense force the extra $3 billion some critics say it needs in this parlous world. It might even supply an equal sum to apply to reduction of the national debt.

My candidate is the man who will promise care in the expenditure of public funds and a heroic effort to cut the public debt down to size. It'll take a lot of intestinal fortitude. And in the meantime, I plan to ask Dogones to lend me his lantern.

Soft Attitude Toward Red China

WASHINGTON — Human beings were actually slaughtered. The lives of innocent persons were crushed out by artillery shells. They were not Europeans or Americans. They were Chinese. Does this make a difference?

For there are no page advertisements in the metropolitan papers signed with the names of prominent persons denouncing such inhumanity.

There are no petitions proclaimed by organizations such as cry out against nuclear tests—usually on the basis of humane considerations.

THE FAMILIES on the 14 tiny islands of the Quemoy group were terrorized by 174,000 shells—an all-time record in the Formosa Strait hostilities. In fact, in three hours of the two days the Communists fired more shells than they did in the first two weeks of the 1958 crisis.

Yet the Communist government in Peking, which undertook the bombardment solely as a gesture of hostility toward President Eisenhower, and the United States, seems to be getting away with its barbaric act. Those British newspapers, for instance, which heaped coals of criticism on President Eisenhower for going to the Far East have not denounced the Red China government for its wanton behavior. One reason perhaps is that the British have extended diplomatic recognition to the Red China government. They did so largely to protect their commercial interests in Hong Kong.

IN THIS COUNTRY the pressure for recognition of the Peiping regime comes from the so-called "liberals" led by Adlai Stevenson, Democrat. Sen. Kennedy, of Massachusetts, Democrat, has indicated his belief that some understanding should be reached with the Red China government. To do so means abandonment of the cause of freedom in the Far East. It means the certain collapse of Korea and Formosa. The Nationalist government on Formosa is a symbol of freedom, yet "liberal" influence today is exerted toward breaking down this bastion of Western strength.

Recently the Korean government has been weakened, and so has the Turkish government. And there is a chance now, too, that the Japanese government will be torn by strife from within and will be a victim more and more of Communist infiltration.

WHEN THE RED Chinese began to shell the Quemoy islands and brazenly announced that they were doing it as a gesture of "contempt and scorn" for President Eisenhower—has the Peiping radio declared—it might have been supposed that the free world would react to such a maneuver with expressions of horror and disgust. President Eisenhower referred to the shelling when he spoke in Formosa. He regarded the action as cruel and barbaric, and said that it showed the typical Communist "disregard of human lives," and added: "I would think world opinion would characterize it as a deliberate and aggressive act."

But why, it may be respectfully asked, has there not been official condemnation from the governments at Paris and London? Curiously enough, when a few persons were killed in South Africa due to the panic that seized the police in trying to quell a so-called "non-violent" demonstration, the governments in Europe and in other countries, especially in Asia, immediately expressed their disapproval in no uncertain terms. Will any government in Southeast Asia now denounce the Red Chinese for what they have just done in Quemoy?

THE WESTERN ALLIES do not appear today to be united on Far Eastern policy. The United States bore the brunt of the resistance to the Communist invasion of Korea, even though the fighting was done in the name of the United Nations. It seems incredible that, even though the U.N. passed a resolution condemning Red China as an aggressor in Korea, there are so many governments inside the U.N. today ready and willing to reward the aggressor by ousting the Nationalist government on Formosa and giving the China seat in the U.N. to the Red regime.

The usual argument made—and it has lately been parroted by the misguided Gen. Montgomery—is that "China is a fact." So was Nazi Germany a fact, but the rest of the world recognized and carried on diplomatic relations with the Polish government in exile, and the Hungarian government in exile—all these governments being stationed in London—during World War II. The Korean War isn't ended yet. An armistice has been signed, but no peace treaty. The terms of the armistice are being repeatedly violated by the Red Chinese.

WHEN THE APPEASERS start talking about recognizing Red China and when prominent Democrats exhibit friendliness toward the Communist regime in Red China, it is natural that the Peiping barbarians should take a chance and inflict a bombardment of the civilian population of the Quemoy islands. Maybe they think that, if the Eisenhower administration is replaced by a Democratic administration next January, there will be a tendency to "let bygones be bygones."

Potent Pulque Disappearing From Mexico

By JOHN RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The potent native drink called pulque is slowly disappearing from the Mexican scene.

Pulque (pronounced pool-keh) dates back before the Aztecs. Made from maguey cactus juice, it ranks with tequila and mezcal as Mexico's contribution to the world of hangovers.

Centuries ago pulque was reserved for the highest tribal priests, sacrificial victims and old men who had led useful lives.

When the Spaniards conquered Mexico in the early 1500s they enthusiastically adopted it. Making of pulque became a thriving industry. It was once so popular large saloons concentrated on it alone. Some had curb service—special high bars to accommodate customers on horseback.

Several types of kaguey plants, much like the century plant in the United States, provide pulque, mezcal and tequila.

Pulque itself is from the sap of the cactus, the liquid being called agamiel or honey water. Mezcal is a further fermentation of this juice. Tequila is made from the roots, crushed, cooked and processed.

Pulque is a milky, foamy drink with, to many, an unpleasant taste frequently altered by adding fruit juices. Fans drink it straight, sometimes with salt, sometimes mixed with powdered maguey worms.

It is potent, but not as strong as tequila and mezcal. But fermenting goes on and on and is difficult to control. Consequently pulque is hard to bottle. It is sold by the glass, filled from varied containers.

As a result, officials say it is often unsanitary and can be watered down.

Mexico City officials recently clamped down on some pulquerias as trouble spots.

The popularity of the drink is fading, anyway, in the larger cities.

Pulque producers say consumption has dropped 65 per cent in the past seven years, causing a hardship for about 300,000 families directly or indirectly involved in growing, processing or selling it.

Jap Treaty Quickly Signed But Some Are Still Worried

EDITORS NOTE: Despite opposition from some Japanese, a new U.S.-Japanese treaty has become effective. John M. Hightower, veteran AP reporter of diplomatic affairs, herewith tells about the speed of the ratification and interprets the outlook ahead as seen by Washington observers.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was legally assured today of the right to maintain military bases in Japan for another 10 years. But the continuing Japanese political crisis rendered uncertain the future of the alliance between the two countries.

A new security treaty binding Tokyo and Washington in an anti-Communist partnership became effective with unprecedented speed.

Ratification documents were exchanged formally in Tokyo only seven hours after the U.S. Senate voted 90-2 Wednesday afternoon to approve the pact.

Japan had completed the necessary preliminaries last Saturday, despite riotous opposition within that country to continuance of U.S. bases there.

But the successful conclusion of the pact is costing Premier Nobusuke Kishi his position. He said he is resigning, and an aide said he will step out as soon as stability can be restored.

U.S. officials have expressed confidence that the violent opposition commands the support of only a minority of the Japanese people. They say they are sure that when the controversy is finally resolved, Japan will remain firm in its ties with the United States.

They expect democracy in Japan to survive the crisis.

But behind the scenes of official Washington there is nonetheless considerable apprehension about the course of events in Japan during the next few months. This anxiety seems certain to persist until, through new elections promised by Kishi, the Japanese people have made known their attitude toward the issues sharply posed in the last few troubled weeks.

The treaty was brought into force with extraordinary speed according to a secret plan, carefully guarded against any advance disclosure. The State Department said the arrangements were made in advance of President Eisenhower's departure for the Far East 10 days ago.

The department disclosed late Wednesday night that before Eisenhower left Washington he had signed the United States ratification paper and it had been properly attested by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Only the date of the document and the date of Senate approval were left blank. The paper was then dispatched to Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II in Tokyo for use following Senate action.

In Honolulu, it was announced that Eisenhower flashed a go-ahead to MacArthur within minutes after the Senate had acted.

"Our ambassador," the State Department said, "in accordance with instructions from the President, inserted those appropriate dates, thus completing the instrument."

The State Department statement said nothing about the riotous demonstration in Tokyo as being any cause for the speedy action or the secret plan of ratification. Instead, it said the advance arrangements were made because of the possibility that the ratification papers would be exchanged before Eisenhower's return to the United States and possibly while he was in Tokyo, it being assumed at the time the President left here, June 12, that he would go through with the Japanese visit which was canceled because of the riots.

For many years there has been strong Socialist and left wing opposition in Japan to the alliance with the United States. Some Japanese conservatives also have opposed the arrangement on the ground it could involve Japan in an East-West conflict it didn't want.

The native Japanese Socialist opposition is considered here to be based not upon any strong feeling of anti-Americanism but upon violent opposition to any arrangement which, as the Socialists see it, could involve Japan in future wars. Essentially the Socialists espoused the pacifist policy for their country.

But the hard core Communist opposition backed by money from Moscow and Peiping is regarded as quite another matter. The Reds are out to convert Japan into a neutralist country. American officials say, with the ultimate objective of tying it closely to Red China and roping it into the Communist bloc.

Their policy is totally anti-American and their efforts to wreck the treaty and to force the closing of U.S. bases are expected to continue in spite of Kishi's achievement in getting it ratified and put into effect.

Seaton Decries Space Politics

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Russia's apparent leadership in the world missile race is being used by "backers of every new socialist program in this country," Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton said Wednesday.

He made the comment in a speech at groundbreaking ceremonies for the Three Rivers dam and reservoir eight miles from here. They are the major features of the reclamation bureau's $32,434,000 San Angelo project.

Seaton said leaders calling for more social programs, more missiles and more arms are playing into Russian hands.

"The Russians like that, that's their own thesis," he said. Seaton called Sen. Lyndon Johnson, a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, "one of the greatest living Americans."

In a speech at Goodfellow Air Force Base prior to the groundbreaking ceremonies, Seaton called misgivings about U.S. defenses "political claptrap."

"Too many people are wailing like legendary Jeremiah-like minor Jeremiahs—and are derogating America's mental and moral strength."

He applauded the leadership which helped create the San Angelo water project but warned that some rivers have reached their maximum development.

Railroad Wage Dispute Settled

CHICAGO (AP)—The 14-month old wage dispute between the nation's railroads and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has ended with a settlement of a 4 per cent pay increase over 16 months.

This closely follows the pattern of settlements reached earlier this month between the carriers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

Under terms of Wednesday's settlement members of B. R. T. will get a 10.28 cents an hour increase, one half to go into effect July 1, 1960 and the other half March 1, 1961. The present wages range from $2.25 to $2.84 an hour.

Other terms of the agreement include incorporation of the 17 cents an hour total cost of living adjustment since May 1957 into the basic wage rates, cancellation of the cost of living escalator clause and a provision to keep the contract in effect until Nov. 1, 1961.

Lamesa Lions Elect Officers

LAMESA — The Lamesa Evening Lions Club, was challenged to greater heights by Carl Hyde, Lions International counselor from Midland, as he installed new officers here Tuesday.

Jimmy Edwards took over the reins of the club from Harry Bruner in the special "ladies night" installation banquet at Forest Park Community Center.

Other officers installed included: Billy Corbin, first vice president; Charles King, second vice president; Elgin Davis, third vice president; Bill Butler, secretary; Jack Lauderdale, treasurer; Johnny Jones, Lion tamer; Art Ayres, tail twister; and Frank Dennis, Weldon Moore, Leroy Gooseby and Olin Norris were installed as directors.

District appointments made recently by Governor J. D. Dyer of Lamesa, deputy district governor: Tim Cook, deputy district governor-at-large; Tony Aynes, zone chairman; and Ace Kincaid, district cabinet secretary.

Lamesa Jury Rules For Defendant

LAMESA — Harold Wilford, Lamesa received no award as a result of a damage suit trial which took two days to complete in 196th Judicial District Court here. Wilford requested personal injury damages for his wife, allegedly hurt as a result of an accident here on Dec. 28, 1959. Damages of $90,400 were requested.

A jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, G. S. Hughes of DeLeon and ruled that the mishap was an "unavoidable accident" and that no injuries were sustained in the accident and recommended no cash reimbursement.

Safety Winner Dies In Crash

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. C. J. Lightholder, 61-year-old grandmother who had been cited for safe driving, died Wednesday in her first car accident.

Mrs. Lightholder's car collided with a Santa Fe passenger train seven miles north of here. She was thrown from the car and struck a utility pole.

In 1952 the Lubbock Citizens Traffic Commission presented an award to Mrs. Lightholder for having driven a car since 1918 without having an accident or receiving a traffic ticket.

Former Member Of Eden Cabinet Helps Jack Movie

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood press agency today got a look at its newest—and certainly most distinguished—addition to the ranks.

The Rt. Hon. Anthony Nutting, former minister of state for foreign affairs in the Anthony Eden cabinet and onetime vice president of the United Nations General Assembly, is working now as a public relations aide for producer Sam Spiegel. Spiegel is making "Lawrence of Arabia" with Marlon Brando portraying the legendary World War I hero.

It's Nutting's first visit to Hollywood to help plug a picture. Previously, he came here as a university lecturer on the Middle East—a subject on which he is an expert.

"I suspect," said Nutting, "that my main job with Sam will be smoothing out things in the Arab world. As a public relations expert, I think my main asset—or perhaps it will be a liability—is that I have never done it before."

Nutting will tour the United States for the movie and then will go on location with it when it starts shooting next fall in the Arab world.

Asked whether his job had anything to do with gaining entry for a Jewish producer among the Arabs, Nutting replied: "Arabs, contrary to popular opinion, are not anti-Jewish. They are anti-Israel because they resent what they consider to be a Western state in an Eastern world."

"Elizabeth Taylor's movies are banned in the Arab countries not because she became a convert to Judaism but because she and Eddie Fisher contributed money to Israel."

Nutting has been an author and journalist since his dramatic resignation in 1956 from Eden's cabinet in protest of the British attack on Egypt.

Does he think his connection with Hollywood will hurt him politically in Britain?

"I think it will help," the 40-year-old diplomat answered.

"After all I am trying to publicize one of England's great heroes to the world."

TV Cheapens 'Star' Meaning

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The television branch of the entertainment industry, probably influenced by Madison Avenue's undisciplined use of the superlative, is cheapening that hard-won title, "star."

In the theatre a star means a Helen Hayes, Mary Martin or Rex Harrison. Star billing specifically means that the name of the performer appears above the title of the vehicle (i. e., Ethel Barrymore in "The Corn Is Green.")

But in television, the word star is applied to just about anybody with more than two lines in the script. In fact, there are so many stars in TV casts these days, that they have had to invent some new ways to set apart really big name performers from actors with walk-ons.

A TV variety show star, of course, doesn't get billing above the title: He is the title —The Steve Allen Show, the Perry Como Show, the Dinah Shore Show.

In dramatic series (the word dramatic here is used loosely to include westerns, private-eye episodes and situation comedies) the word star is used to identify the one or two people in the leading roles. These stars are created and receive such billing before the public even sees them.

Even more of a kicking around is taken by the word "co-star." TV often uses the word as a synonym for "featured player." But just the other night I noted that while Diana Lynn was billed as "star" of a mystery called "Dark Possession," the credits listed every other member of the cast, including the woman who played the maid, as co-stars.

Going To The Old Ball Game Becomes A Six-Hour Ordeal

By JESS BLAIR

RIVERSIDE, Calif.—The weather never did warm-up at Ventura. I don't know the exact temperature, but at noon the next day people were still wearing coats. I was out at the Taylor Ranch which sits on a hill overlooking the ocean and some of the cowboys had on leather jackets.

It was also nice in Los Angeles, particularly in the Hollywood hills and near the ocean, but over here in Riverside I ran into an eye-watering smog and enough heat to make people hunt for shade. The best year-around climate would be along the coast, where the days are pretty much the same. No wind, no real cold and except for certain times of the year there is no rain. This is in the southern part, of course, because it rains a lot along the northern coastal areas.

BASEBALL THRILLER

Last night I saw my first major league baseball game, which was a thriller. The Pirates were playing the Dodgers and it went 10 innings before the Pirates finally started hitting and won it by one score. I located a motel in mid-town Los Angeles and set out for the ball game at 6 p.m. which was two hours before game time. It was three miles from the motel so I made it in a few minutes, to find the parking lots filling up and people streaming in by the hundreds. I soon found out these things don't come cheap. It cost a dollar to park the car, since there is no free parking. The attendants place the cars bumper to bumper, so you don't get out until the line ahead or behind you is clear.

I decided to do the thing right, and told the ticket man at one of the 20 to 30 windows I wanted a reserve seat behind the batter. "Ha!" he laughed. "For $2.50 I can put you a hundred yards behind the left fielder. For $1.51 general admission you can sit back a quarter of a mile and see the game through binoculars."

My seat was on the 28th row just back of the left fielder, which was not too bad. I estimated there were at least 100 rows in the big coliseum, and some of those people above me really were using binoculars.

To get in you walk around until you come to a certain tunnel, then walk through it to find yourself about 40 feet above the playing field. The seats were 12-inch boards with a thin cushion, and the numbers were so close together that no one had any elbow or knee room and practically sat in someone else's lap.

63,000 PEOPLE

The big stadium filled up and filled up until 63,599 people were inside, according to an announcement over the public address system. It was the first time in my life I ever saw that many people at once, because by twisting the head, one could see every one of them.

Outside the Negro boys were hawking programs, souvenirs and baseball newspapers. Over at the dozen or more hot dog stands people were standing in long lines buying 15-cent coffee or a small hot dog which consists of only a wiener and cold bun. There was no mustard or sauce of any kind.

I got to see a lot of ball players I had read about for years. There was Duke Snyder, gray-haired and slow-moving in center field, and at third base Junior Gilliam, who walks stiff-legged like an old man. Only when a ball is hit his way does he move, then it's like chained lightning.

One thing about those big leaguers different from minor league kids is that they seldom talk it up or move around. They stay rooted like posts and are just about as lifeless until a play starts. They don't make many errors, though, and everything they do looks easy.

EXPERTS

These Dodger fans have learned a lot about baseball the last two years. They cheered a Dodger pitcher when he was left in after giving up two runs. When he was finally belted out, however, they began saying it was the manager's fault. I was surprised to find that except for myself nearly everyone out there was a baseball expert.

After the game, I picked my way slowly through the crowds to find that none of the cars had moved. It was 10:45 o'clock, so I sat in the car and listened to the radio. Exactly 35 minutes later I was allowed to leave. Then out in the street it was foot by foot and yard by yard, making a block on about every six light changes.

At five minutes till midnight I pulled into a cafe a few blocks from the motel and got some coffee.

For once I really needed it. So now I've seen my first and perhaps last major league ball game. After that six-hour ordeal my next game will be in front of the television set with Dizzy Dean. But for awhile I'm not going to be much interested in baseball.

PLENTY OF TV

Except for the congestion on all streets and highways, California is a nice place to visit, and living out here wouldn't be bad at all. The television fan has seven bright, clear channels to choose from. For two hours now I've been switching from one to another, afraid I'd miss something and end up by not seeing much of anything.

With its six million people, the area has hundreds of nice stores and shops. Many are highly specialized. On the coast I saw one that sells nothing but skin diving equipment. There are all kinds of fancy restaurants—Swedish, Chinese, Mexican, Italian, French and Jewish. Up the street there is one that serves 18 kinds of pan cakes, including chocolate and blueberry buttermilk.

But just like the ball game, all these nice things cost money. And unless a fellow has some of the thick folding kind, he will eat at hamburger joints and soon be sleeping in motels that specialize in roaches.

For that reason there may not be any more reports from California. A week's visit has proved that the man who first called it the Golden State couldn't have picked a better name.

Brink's Figure A Free Man

BOSTON (AP)—Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 51, who helped mastermind the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery, was declared a free man in Superior Court Wednesday—50 far as the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is concerned.

The dapper convict who has spent nine of the last 10 years in jail was given two concurrent terms of three to four years in jail for his role on the nation's biggest cash robbery. However, Judge Felix Forte found O'Keefe already had served more time than that and directed his discharge.

Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne told Judge Forte—who presided at the Brink's trial—it was his belief O'Keefe should not serve one more day in prison.

Federal, state and local law enforcers freely admit the Brink's robbery Jan. 17, 1950 might not have been solved without O'Keefe's help.

It was on the testimony of the Boston hoodlum that eight men were sentenced to life for the robbery. O'Keefe said 11 men took an active part in the fabulous haul.

Two died before the trial started in 1956. Still outstanding against O'Keefe is a Pennsylvania charge of possessing firearms. He was released from that state to testify as a state witness in the Brink's case.

Moderate Gains Expected In Push On Unemployment

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Jobs for a growing population will be a prime problem the rest of this year. It's the human side to the economic query: Will industry and trade turn smartly upward again after Labor Day?

Moderate gains are expected. It seems unlikely they'll be enough to solve the jobless problem.

Total employment has been rising. But the number out of work sticks stubbornly around 5 per cent of the labor force. Right now the number looking for jobs is rising because of the influx of graduates and students into the market.

But the longer-term problem is two-pronged: The number of Americans of working age is on the rise, while the number required to turn out a given supply of goods keeps dropping because of mechanization and automation and increased skills.

Wage scales continue to rise this year, but the rate of increase is lower than in the recent past. Also, many workers find paychecks smaller because of shorter work weeks in some industries.

What help for more jobs is in sight from a business pickup? Industrial output was at a record high in January. Then it dipped, but made a slight recovery in May.

The immediate outlook is for little change—the usual summer lull, an average fall quickening. Steel production seems sure to go lower before its hoped-for late summer recovery. Some appliance makers are cutting back to bring stocks in line with sales. Auto production will soon be dropping as the model changeover time nears.

The Gross National Product, which takes in all production of goods and services, has topped $90 billion dollars at an annual rate for the first time. But the rate of its growth has slowed. Two of its greatest bulwarks also have been losing some of their forward zing—consumer spending and business outlay for plant and equipment. A number of industries are still catching up with capacity already built higher than current demand.

And through all the surmises about business trends run the threads of election year turmoil and the still uncertain effects of cold war flareups on our defense spending and on our private planning.

Next: Will prices? Will the consumer go on shelling out his dough or call a halt?

We'd rather lose a few quick sales

If you have been reading the papers lately, you've seen some tire advertisements trumpeting a nylon cord tire for $12.95 or less in big, black type.

The tire, whatever the make, is described in the most glowing terms—"super-strong," "turpike-proved," "stronger than the tires on new cars," "top quality nylon," "extra safe," "premium-quality."

What the ads do not say is that these are third-line quality. Third-line means that the tire is not as good as a second-line, and a second-line is not as good as a first-line, the grade of tire all auto makers demand for their new cars.

Car No Safer Than Its Tires

These men know that a car is no safer than its tires. They put all kinds and grades of tires through rigid tests. All accept only first-line quality for their cars. They know that many new car buyers will be driving at high speeds on super highways . . . and that one tire failure is one too many.

Tire Needs Differ

The plain fact is that different people use their cars in different ways. A man who uses his car for cross-country business makes long trips, week after week, at turpike speeds. The family "chauffeur" makes dozens of short trips around town—shopping, taking Tommy to school, going to club meetings.

Your doctor depends on his car day and night, fair weather and foul, good roads and bad. A railroad commuter uses his station car only twice a day, for just a few minutes each way.

A Texas oil engineer drives 100 miles a day.

A New York City driver travels 20 miles to the beach on weekends.

Does it make sense that one grade of tire fills the bill for all these drivers? Does it make sense that each of them gets the safety he needs for the same price?

Three Kinds Of Tires For Three Kinds Of Driving

You get just what you pay for in tires, as in meat, clothing and furniture. Tire prices were recently forced up 3 per cent by rising labor and material costs. No tire maker has the secret magic to produce cheaper tires without cheapening quality.

Our advice is to buy the grade of tire that fits your kind of driving. The low-priced, economy-type tire is fine for people who do light driving on around-town errands. We sell two excellent economy-type tires and sell a lot of them to drivers like these. The all-purpose family car, used for normal driving, should really have first-quality tires. People who use their cars for heavy driving should pay a few extra dollars for the extra safety of premium-quality tires. Actually these tires cost less in the long run—mile for mile, dollar for dollar—because of superior design and materials.

Our Pledge To You

. . . is to always try to fit the proper tire to each individual customer's own personal needs, at not a dollar more or a dollar less than you need to pay.

It has always been our contention that a well informed customer is a satisfied customer. We had rather lose a sale than have you lose your life.

Seniors To Have Exercises Despite Drunken Brawl

SOLVAY, N.Y. (AP)—Seniors at Solvay High School, some of whom drank liquor at a class picnic that turned into a damaging brawl, will have graduation exercises, despite a recommendation to the contrary.

The Board of Education voted Tuesday night to allow the graduation to be held Saturday. However, a senior breakfast, scheduled for Friday, was canceled.

Mary Pirro, board president who had suggested that the graduation exercises be canceled, rushed out halfway through the meeting and burst into tears. School officials asked her to return.

"Everybody is blaming me," Mrs. Pirro sobbed.

Mrs. Pirro said she understood girls smuggled liquor in their handbags to the picnic at a county park near Syracuse.

P-TA, Little League Interest Mrs. Hull

By SHERI WEBBER
"In the winter it is P-TA and in the summer it is Little League," says Mrs. Buford Hull.

Janet Hull, new president of the city's P-TA Council, finds her family of a husband and two children a full-time job. Main diversion of the brunette homemaker is P-TA work.

"I have been in the P-TA five years," relates Mrs. Hull. For two years she served as president of the College Heights P-TA and another two years she was vice president.

Both of the Hull children, Vicki, 11, and 8-year-old Mike, attend College Heights, Vicki will be in the sixth grade next year, while Mike is starting the third.

Attractive Janet returned recently from a five day seminar in Austin. Two days were spent studying council leadership, the next three days were spent on education for family living.

"The purpose was to educate the parents to the needs of the children," says the council president. "Most people think homemaking isn't very important," relates Janet Hull, "but actually it is the most important job of all."

The mother of two believes it is important to have someone at home when the children get in from school or come in from playing. They need someone to tell their problems and disappointments to.

P-TA work has led to many adventures—like a living room filled with 2,000 cans of candy. For the past two years College Heights P-TA has sold candy as a money-raising project. Each year their goal has been 1,000 cans, and most of these cans spend part of their time in the Hull home.

"My husband isn't very patient with me when he can't get through the living room," laughs the leader. Buford Hull, a postal clerk, met his wife once before being shipped to Japan with the Army. When he came back to Big Spring he discovered the former Janet Hull working in a local drug store. The young lady, then in high school, made the best sandwiches in town—so he decided to marry her.

Hull is as wrapped up in Little League ball as his wife is in P-TA. During the summer the entire family moves to the ball park in the afternoons and evenings twice a week. Mike plays on a team that practices in the afternoon, and Buford manages a team that practices at night.

One of the family's favorite recipes, a stew, even adapts itself to the Hulls' interests. In the winter it is called "P-TA Stew" and in the summer "Little League Stew."

The Cake from England is an easy-to-make affair that will win the hearts of all chocolate lovers. The cake is very dark cocoa-brown, says Mrs. Hull.

Steak With Flavor is a hit with all guests to the Hull home. The family, who purchase their meat a

Add Wieners To Pea Soup

No hambone? You can make split pea soup anyway!

YELLOW SPLIT PEA SOUP WITH FRANKS

1 1/2 cups yellow split peas, water
1 medium-sized onion (cut in thin strips)
1 carrot (sliced)
Leafy tops of 3 celery ribs (chopped)
1 1/2 tpsps. salt
1/4 tsp. peppercorns
2 whole cloves
2 whole allspice
1 bay leaf
1/2 lb. frankfurters.

Wash split peas in cold water and drain; cover with 1 quart cold water and soak overnight. Next day drain and add enough water to soaking liquid to put 1 1/2 pints (6 cups).

Put water, split peas, onion, carrot, celery, salt, peppercorns, cloves, allspice and bay leaf in a kettle. Bring to a boil; simmer 1 1/2 hours. Put through a food mill or press through strainer.

Slice frankfurters into rounds; add to soup. Simmer about 10 minutes to blend flavors and heat franks. Soup will be thin.

If thicker soup is liked, refrigerate overnight and reheat next day. Makes 6 generous servings.

More salt may be needed but do not add until franks have been simmered in soup because they add seasoning.

Broil Slowly

Rock cornish game hens may be split and broiled. Allow plenty of time for the medium-slow broiling so the little birds will be deliciously tender.

Relish For Fish

Add lots of minced chives and parsley to mayonnaise and serve with fish fillets, fish steaks or fried scallops.

Strawberry Torte Is Heavenly

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
An inquiring cook's fancy turns to torten. What are they anyway? She has heard of Schaum Torte with fresh strawberries and would appreciate a recipe.

Irma Rombauer, America's famous cookbook author, puts torten under the heading of cake in her "Joy of Cooking." Webster, agreeing with Mrs. Rombauer, says a torte is "literally cake, especially a sticky cake made of nuts, fruits, white of egg, often crumbs, and very little, if any flour."

I take issue with this definition on one point, and I'm sure Mrs. Rombauer would support me: all torten are not sticky!

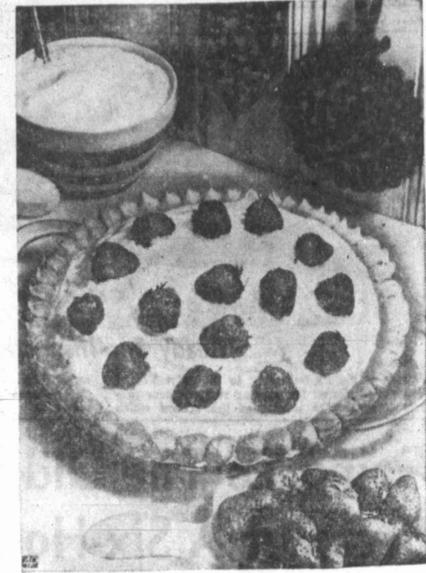

Schaum Torte is a meringue. When I was a little girl, my mother and her friends made it a toflopity affair, using at least six egg whites and baking it in a spring form pan. Nowadays cooks often make a small Schaum Torte with two to four egg whites, bake it in a pie plate and sometimes call it Angel Pie.

2 large egg whites (at room temperature)
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
3/4 cup sugar
1 qt. medium-sized strawberries
1 cup heavy cream.

Grease bottom and sides of a heat-resistant glass pie plate (inside dimension 7 1/2 by 1 1/4 ins.). Beat the egg whites with the salt and cream of tartar until they hold rounded peaks. Beat in 1/2 cup of the sugar, a tablespoon at a time, continue beating until glossy stiff straight peaks form.

Spread evenly on bottom and sides of prepared pie plate but not on rim; have sides come up about 1/4 inch above inner edge of plate. Bake in slow (275 degrees) oven 55 to 60 minutes—meringue will be tan color. Cool partly; loosen meringue from pie plate.

Hull berries; reserve half and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon of the remaining sugar; halve remaining berries and sprinkle with another tablespoon sugar.

Whip cream with remaining 2 tablespoons sugar; chill. Immediately before serving, drain berries; fill meringue with 3 layers of cream alternating with 2 layers of halved berries; begin and end with cream; garnish with whole berries. Makes 6 servings.

Note: For a fancy edge on the torte, spread meringue on rim of pie plate; force a little meringue through a pastry tube with rosette tip to decorate rim with line of rosettes. In this case gently loosen edges of meringue from sides of plate as soon as it comes from the oven.

Cool Refreshment For The Hot Summer Season

Porch parties coming up! What is for refreshment?

At these afternoon affairs wealthy watchers and other folk usually appreciate iced tea. One of the newer products, instant tea, is convenient and pleasant tasting in this cold drink. It's a blend of teas (including orange pekoe) with nothing else added and that's all to the good.

You can use cold tap water with this tea and add ice. Exact proportions? Try 1 1/2 teaspoons instant tea to 1 cup water. To fancy up things, serve lemon with whole cloves inserted in each slice.

And do offer finely-granulated sugar to those who like their tea sweetened. Even if you don't keep this variety of sugar in the house all year round, it's worth having on your shelves in the summer because it dissolves readily in cold beverages.

For a nibble with iced tea, serve these devastatingly rich trifles:

PRALINE PUFFS

1 pkg. (1 lb., 1 oz.) pound-cake mix
1/2 lb. butter
1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 egg whites
Salt
1/2 cup finely granulated sugar
1/4 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans

Make up pound cake according to package directions for baking in a 9-inch loaf pan. Cut 12 slices from the cake, each 1/2-inch thick. (Remaining cake may be served plain.) Cut 2 rounds from each slice with a 2-inch cookie cutter. (Raggle-taggle ends may be used in another dessert.)

Cream butter and brown sugar; spread cake rounds with mixture but not to edges.

Beat egg whites with a dash of salt until they hold floppy peaks. Gradually beat in sugar; then vanilla, until they hold stiff straight peaks; fold in pecans.

Pile meringue on rounds, spreading smoothly to edges to cover sugar-mixture. Bake, placed slightly apart, on foil-lined cookie sheet, in extremely hot (500 degrees) oven 5 minutes, until meringue browns; turn off oven but do not remove for 5 minutes.

Allow to cool somewhat before removing from foil. Serve warm or cold. Makes 24.
