Monroe Doctrine Still Stands, Russians Told

DEMO NOMINATION

Jack's In, And He'll Pick His Running Mate Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, said today he hopes within a couple of hours to pick his running mate for the election campaign. The Democratic presidential nominee gave this word to reporters shortly after 10 o'clock when he arrived at the Biltmore Hotel where he had a conference scheduled with Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania and Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago. Purpose of their conference obviously was to talk over the No. 2 place of the party ticket.

and in tireless campaigning for more than two years he had forged a crushing machine. Kennedy didn't get a single convention vote from Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas or Virginia. He harvested only 3 1/2 in Alabama and 6 in North Carolina.

Reds Warned To Keep Out Of Hemisphere

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, solemnly reaffirming the Monroe Doctrine, warned Russia today to keep its hands off Western hemisphere countries.

At the same time, the State Department denounced as a "naked menace to world peace" Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's implied threats that Soviet rockets might fly to help Cuba repel alleged American aggression.

In a sternly worded statement, the State Department accused Khrushchev of seeking to supplant the 157-year-old Monroe Doctrine with a "new doctrine" involving the use of Soviet military power in support of Communist movements anywhere in the world.

Khrushchev's threats, the department said, "revealed the hypocrisy of his protestations in behalf of peace."

President Eisenhower personally approved the department declaration which was read to newsmen by a department spokesman at a press conference.

A separate action underscored U.S. criticism of Soviet attitudes. The United States suddenly postponed talks with Russia on civil air service, on the grounds that recent Soviet actions and utterances have worsened the international atmosphere.

The aviation talks were due to start Monday. A Russian delegation led by Col. Gen. E. F. Logunov was due to arrive this afternoon.

But the State Department called off the talks "until a more suitable time," setting no date.

The Soviet-American delegations were to have worked out direct air flights by commercial planes from each country between Moscow and New York. No such scheduled routes exist now.

Meeting Called To Air Coahoma Bank Proposal

COAHOMA—An open meeting at which a proposal to establish a state bank in Coahoma will be offered, is slated for 8 p.m. today. The meeting will be in the Coahoma High School cafeteria and all persons in the area are invited to be present. Lee Loper, president of the People's State Bank, Clyde, will be the guest speaker.

There would also be $50,000 reserve and $30,000 surplus. Rayburn Foster, vocational agriculture teacher in the Coahoma schools, has been serving as chairman of the organizing board. Members of the board are Carl Bates, grocer; Eugene O'Daniel, rancher; Ed Martin, rancher; Joe Nixon, farmer-businessman and Ed Carpenter, county judge and farmer.

Foster will preside at tonight's open meeting. An organization conference was held Wednesday afternoon at Coahoma. Speaker was John Polous, First National Bank of Dallas. Also in attendance at the organization meeting was E. G. Garrett.

The meeting is the climax to a campaign which has been quietly under way for more than two months. A group of Coahoma businessmen and ranchers, who feel that a bank is needed in their town, has been working out preliminary details. An application for a state bank charter has been prepared for filing with the Texas Banking Commissioner. The committee has pledged of half of the capital needed to establish the bank. The bank, if established, would have a capitalization of $100,000.

The sponsors of the plan to set up a bank in Coahoma, point out that merchants and others in the town have a problem in the matter of handling their banking business. A heavy oil field payroll usually results in the stores having to carry large sums of cash or hand over the weekend.

The growth and expansion of the town is also a contributing factor to the need for a bank, its sponsors feel. They point out that Coahoma is the center of a 265 square mile school district and banking service in such an area would be of much convenience to the residents. Coahoma formerly had a bank but it was closed during the depression. This bank, it was said, operated successfully for more than 25 years.

2 Airliners Fail, Only One Is Killed

MANILA (AP)—Two airliners carrying a total of 88 persons crashed almost simultaneously in Philippine waters at opposite ends of the island chain before dawn today. An Ohio woman was killed. All the others survived.

Philpot, 30, convicted Negro rapist-slayer scheduled to be executed in the electric chair shortly after midnight, says he is ready to die. "I have accepted Christ as my Savior. I am ready to go. I don't want to stay here and suffer," he said in an interview in his cell on death row at the state prison Wednesday night.

Philpot, of Dallas, was sentenced to death for the murder and rape of Joyce Goff, 10, a Negro of Longview. He also confessed that he threw Mrs. Janis Hunter, 25, from a Dallas hotel window to her death and attempted to slay Mrs. Trella Joy Carter, 18, in a Dallas office building. Philpot contended he was denied due process of law during his trial at Longview because his attorney was unable to find two persons who would sign affidavits that Philpot could not receive a fair trial in Gregg County. For his final meal he ordered fried chicken, banana pudding, strawberry ice cream and lemonade.

Col. Taute Is New Deputy Wing Chief At Webb AFB

A new second-in-command took office at Webb AFB today as Col. August F. Taute became Deputy Wing Commander, replacing Col. James A. Johnson, who signed out for Amarillo AFB, his new duty station. Col. Taute, a veteran of 21 years' service, has most recently been commander of the First Flight Training School at Lackland AFB, San Antonio. He has made several trips to Webb in recent months and has been here for several days preparing for his new assignment. A native of Tolley, North Dakota, Colonel Taute attended high school and South Dakota State College at Brookings, South Dakota. He is a graduate of the Air Command and Staff School and the Air War College, Maxwell AFB, Alabama.

Five and one-half years of the colonel's military service have been on overseas assignments — on Okinawa from 1947 to 1949, and in Lima, Peru, from 1953 to 1956. Mrs. Taute is the former Virginia Neome Chester of Brookings, South Dakota. Children are August F. Taute Jr., 18, and Annette, 9. The family will remain in San Antonio until Aug. 1, when they will join the colonel here at Webb.

At Amarillo, Col. Johnson joins the Amarillo Technical Training Center as Commander of the 3320th Retraining Group.

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Willie Philpot, 30, convicted Negro rapist-slayer scheduled to be executed in the electric chair shortly after midnight, says he is ready to die. "I have accepted Christ as my Savior. Fanatic Stabs Jap Premier TOKYO (AP)—A rightist fanatic stabbed Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi six times in the left thigh with a hunting knife today. Doctors said Kishi would be out of the hospital in 10 days, and his ruling Liberal-Democratic party went ahead with plans to accept his resignation and elect Trade Minister Hayato Ikeda Prime minister Friday. Kishi was attacked at the Prime Minister's official residence as he drank banza champagne toasts with party leaders in celebration of Ikeda's election earlier today to succeed him as party president. The party election was a preliminary to the government change which Kishi had promised after the controversial U.S.-Japanese security treaty took effect last month.

200 People Burned

GUATEMALA (AP)—More than 200 persons were burned to death Wednesday night in a fire in a Guatemala City insane asylum.

119 Sign Up At HCJC

Registration at Howard County Junior College edged upward Thursday with the deadline for enrolling a couple of days away. The total at noon stood at 119, including registrants from Webb AFB. This was considerably less than the 168 in the first six weeks of the summer session, but the difference is entirely normal. The first period set a record for summer registration.

104 1/2 votes on the line for the Massachusetts senator. Pennsylvania chipped in with 68, Ohio 64, Illinois 61 1/2, Michigan 42 1/2, Massachusetts 41, Indiana 34, and California 33 1/2.

LYNDON FIRST

But there were some among the Kennedy strategists who urged that first refusal of the vice presidential nomination be given to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. With Kennedy's guidance, the convention is expected to name the vice presidential nominee tonight. In a demonstration of power that surprised even his own leaders, Kennedy swept to a smashing first-tally victory as the first Roman Catholic to be nominated for the presidency since Al Smith. He rolled over Johnson, the South's choice, who collected only 409 votes. He left Adlai E. Stevenson, the darling of the sentimental and excited galleries, far behind with 79 1/2 scattered votes. To win, Kennedy didn't need any of the 43 Gov. Robert B. Meyer of New Jersey kept in his corner, nor any of the 41 1/2 that were cast for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

U. N. Troops Due In Congo Shortly

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche said today the first of the United Nations troops being sent to help restore order in this troubled republic are expected here within 48 hours.

ENTERED HOUSE

Child Recovering From Snake Bite

Candace Middleton, 2 1/2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Middleton, was much improved Thursday morning after suffering a near-fatal bite from a rattlesnake Wednesday. The tot was struck, probably twice, by a 4 1/2-foot rattler which somehow had made its way into the family ranch home, 17 miles north of Big Spring on the Ventnor Road. Her parents snatched her away from the snake and fairly raced her to the Medical Arts Hospital where her condition was considered extremely serious. Recovery hopeful. Today, doctors were hopeful that she would recover. The calf of her left leg bore angry wounds and the leg was swollen twice its normal size. Candace, however, had passed her extreme nausea and appeared perky under her oxygen tent. The first inkling of trouble for Candace came at noon when her mother heard screams and ran to the living room. The baby apparently had crawled on a little stool she frequently used to climb or sit upon, when suddenly the snake buried his fangs in her leg and then struck again.

The snake was described as long and pale green, indicating that it had been in the house a long time. It may have gotten into the basement during remodeling and eventually made its way upstairs. At any rate, it had a full store of concentrated venom. The Middletons rushed to the car with the baby and neighbors in the Seaboard camp, across the road, were attracted. One of them helped the father with first aid while Mrs. Middleton floor-boarded the accelerator. Others went into the house and killed the snake. At the hospital, three ampules of anti-venom were administered to the child as doctors fought to keep her from lapsing into shock. It was not until Thursday morning that they were able to concern themselves much about treatment of the leg. Meanwhile, Leonard Sampson, 14, who was bitten by a rattler on June 25, has virtually recovered. Leonard, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. McMurtrey, was bitten on the leg at Moss Creek Lake on June 25 when the family was starting on a weekend fishing junket. He was rushed to the Howard County Hospital Foundation.

Rejected Suitor Kills Coed, 21

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The quiet of the University of California's main library was shattered Wednesday by two shots. One killed a 21-year-old coed, one blinded the girl's slayer in a suicide attempt. Sonja Lillian Hoff looked up from her book to see a fellow senior from Long Beach, Calif., who had changed his name from Bertran Joseph Hawk to Mohammed Abdullah, 21, stride directly at the blonde Berkeley girl, pulled a .38-caliber revolver from his pocket, and fired point-blank at her forehead, killing her. Abdullah fired a second shot into his own head. He was taken to a hospital in a critical condition, blinded in one eye. Hospital attendants said he was expected to live. Friends of the dead girl said there had apparently been a one-sided love affair and that Miss Hoff had told Abdullah to leave her alone.

Returns Friday

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer expects to return Friday from Dallas, where he is working with members of the First National Bank bond department and Forest and Cotton, engineering firm, attempting to outline a suitable plan for financing Big Spring's water and sewer improvements. No date has been set for Steinheimer to make a report to the city commission, although a special session is anticipated.

Rescue Fails

DALLAS (AP)—Gene Keetley, 17, drowned in Lake Arlington Wednesday while his girl friend tried to save him. Sharon Carr, 18, went to his aid but was unable to pull Keetley to shore.

Dawson Judge Raps Court On Road Matters

LAMESA — In a pointed letter which accused county commissioners of indecision on road matters, County Judge R. F. Spraberry asked to be excused from an appointment with the State Highway Commission. Judge Spraberry addressed the commissioners in an open letter mailed Wednesday afternoon. The court had asked him to make an appointment for July 26, 1960, in Austin. The judge said that the State Highway Department and district engineer had asked the nature of the commission's business, but that repeated efforts to get an answer had not been successful. He added that he had attempted unsuccessfully for 15 months to get the court to adopt some sort of long range road program. Each of his proposals had received only criticism, and he added that "I therefore have no plans." This applied to the Lynn Street project, for which the State Highway Department had set aside funds. Lynn is the U. S. 87 alternate route through Lamesa and is one block east of the regular U. S. 87 route. The court had declined to make any decision about Lynn Street, or any other programs, the judge noted. "I beg to be excused from this (July 26) meeting," he told the court.

Urban Renewal Hearing Slated

Possibilities for an election concerning urban renewal in Ackery will be discussed at a meeting Friday, July 15, at 8 p.m. in the Sands school auditorium. City officials urge all those interested to be at the meeting where the program will be explained and the possibilities of urban renewal fully discussed. The meeting is basically for the purpose of determining whether or not an election should be held on the matter.

Cool Weather Slows Usage

The cooling effects of overcast skies and occasional sprinkles of rain were reflected in Wednesday's water consumption figures which show 4,716,000 gallons used. The city filter plant pumped 4,788,000 gallons from the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir Wednesday. On the same date a year ago, the city took 3,922,000 gallons from the reservoir and pumped 4,114,000 gallons for residents' use.

Scattered Showers Fall Across County

More scattered rains fell over Howard County Wednesday. Knott Community in the extreme north west corner had more than 1.5 inches in showers which began around noon. Ralph White said he estimated 2 inches additional moisture had fallen south of Coahoma in a series of showers. There was some hail in this area. Spotted showers all over the county were reported. Some were light and hardly measurable. A heavy shower fell early today between Big Spring and Elbow. So far, the additional rains continue to be beneficial, particularly those which have fallen on the ranchlands. Cotton farmers need a little dry weather to battle weeds which have sprung up in the past 10 days. Where heavier rains have fallen in the wake of the heavy showers

DEAR ABBY

FORMAL DRESS?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband I have been married almost forty years. We raised five children who are all married and have families of their own. I have a great problem with my husband. He comes to the dining room table with only his shorts on.

I believe in respecting the place where we eat. When a man asks the Lord to bless his food, he should have more than his shorts on. I don't approve of this and want to know if I am wrong or is my husband? He keeps saying, "A man's home is his castle."

DEAR GERTIE: A man's home is his castle—but if the "King" came to the palace dining room with only his shorts on, the "Queen" would have every right to crown him.

DEAR ABBY: I am at a loss. I divorced my husband six years ago after 16 years of a very bad marriage. We decided that rather than bring up our children (we had three) in an atmosphere of fighting and quarreling, it would be better to call it quits.

Two years ago our daughter was married. She was 19 and the boy was 20. They had a baby the first year. Now my daughter comes to me saying she wants to divorce her husband. She says he isn't ready to settle down and their love is "dead."

I tried to talk her into trying to make a go of her marriage for the sake of the baby, but she throws it in my teeth that I divorced her father, so how can I tell her to stick to her husband. Can you help me, Abby? She is so young.

STUCK FOR WORDS

DEAR STUCK: Your daughter needs marital counsel from a clergyman, family counselor or some happily married person who has shown by his own example that marriage problems don't always have to be solved in the divorce courts. A very wise man once said, "Example is not only the best way to teach—it is the only way."

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago you printed the sad story of the baby girl who died from eating ordinary dishwashing detergent. I was surprised to hear how many people had this story on their lips after reading your column. Many mothers, including myself, have silently thanked you.

However, we almost lost our three-year-old boy last week. He drank ORDINARY NOSE DROPS! The label on the bottle did not state what would happen if taken internally. Not realizing how serious it was, we waited until it was almost too late before getting him to a doctor. Please find room for this in your column, Abby, so many people leave nose drops around where children can get at the bottle. Many thanks. SUNNYVALE

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MY OWN PSYCHIATRIST." Do not send anything only yourself. Even a PSYCHIATRIST isn't his own psychiatrist.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of The Big Spring Herald and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Sheriff Was Faster On Draw

CORSICANA (AP)—An escaping prisoner and a veteran sheriff traded gunfire Wednesday and the convict wound up second best. The prisoner, Melvin Riley, 23, of Corsicana, suffered critical bullet wounds.

Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse was not injured. The sheriff and Jaller Emmett Word gave this account: Riley and another prisoner, Ernest Massey, 25, Corsicana, jumped Word as he started to put a third prisoner into their cell. Word, Riley and Massey struggled down a flight of stairs to the reception room.

Pevehouse stepped from his quarters just as Riley pulled a pistol from a desk drawer. Riley fired once at the sheriff and was knocked to the floor by Pevehouse's return fire. Massey surrendered.

The two prisoners were indicted Monday for forgery and passing forged instruments.

Capt. Barr Discusses FAA Role In Lions Club Program

The role of the Federal Aeronautics Administration is safe air traffic was outlined for the Downtown Lions Club on Wednesday by Capt. Donald L. Barr, assistant operations officer, Webb AFB. The FAA, which represents a combining of different aeronautical agencies in 1958, has the responsibility of separating air traffic for its safest and most efficient movement, he explained. With modern jets having a closure speed of seven seconds within line of vision, it is imperative that air traffic move within certain channels and levels.

The FAA has divided its function into five bureaus. One is for flight standards such as aircraft and airman safety; another is for research and development; another for facilities and material (for operation and navigational aids); still another for air traffic management; and a final one for national airports.

Methodist Youth Week To Open

Methodist Youth Activities Week opens Sunday at 6 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church.

The week will combine a balanced program of worship, recreation and study for youth from the junior high level up.

The theme for the week, July 17-22, is "Where Do We Grow From Here?" and each night's theme stems from it. Sunday, the theme is "Growing." Monday, it will be "Growing Within."

The Tuesday night theme is "Growing Away." Wednesday, "Growing Out"; Thursday, "Growing Together"; and Friday, "Growing Upward."

Each evening's activities will begin with a supper at 6 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. Following the supper, classes for junior high, senior high and older youth will be held. The senior high class will discuss the "Methodist Way of Life," taught by Rodney Shepard, and "Men Jesus Made," taught by Bobby McMillan.

The junior high group is to discuss "My Church in My Life," taught by L. William Hunt.

The older youth group has not as yet decided upon a teacher.

Lt. Stan Grant of Webb Air Force Base will be one of the resource people for the week.

Speakers and special worship programs have been scheduled for several nights. On Monday and Thursday, Bobby McMillan, pastor of churches at Ira and Camp Springs, will speak.

A special feature of Tuesday's program is a film, "Crossroads." Foreign students from Webb Air Force Base are scheduled to give the program Wednesday, and a highlight of that night's activities will be a Christmas in July. A Christmas tree will be decorated and the young people will participate in a pinata. Gifts brought by each individual will be given to the local Latin American Methodist Church.

All young people junior high age and older in the Big Spring area are invited to take part in the activities of the week.

Soldier Charged With Murder

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP)—A young Ft. Hood soldier was charged with murder Wednesday in the shooting death of a roomer in his grandmother's home.

Mike King, 17, was charged with the murder of Charles Lewis, 29, and ordered held without bond.

County Atty. Harry Pitchford called the Tuesday night shooting "the most callous" he had ever heard of.

Lewis was shot in the back on the porch of Mrs. Hanna Clark's home. Pitchford said King, of Tulsa had been A.W.O.L. from Hood since June.

Sheriff Ellis Holly quoted King as saying he shot Lewis because he "made me mad when he turned his back on me."

Bitter U. N. Battle On Planes Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bitter United Nations battle between the Soviet Union and the United States seemed assured today over the issue of which of the two great powers is responsible for threatening world peace.

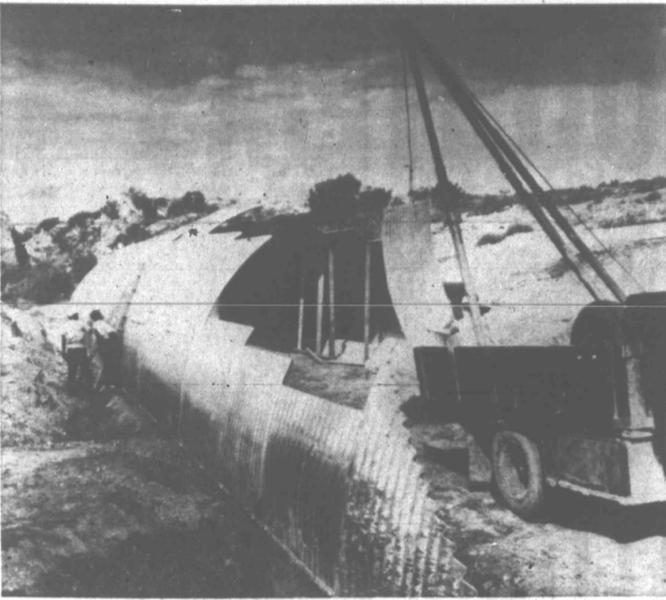

The issue was sharply drawn Wednesday night when President Eisenhower accepted a Soviet challenge on U.S. aircraft flights and declared his determination to make a case "on the lawless actions and reckless threats of the Soviet government."

The challenge was hurled by the Soviet government when Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko a few hours earlier demanded an emergency session of the U.N. Security Council. In a cable to U.N. headquarters he charged the U.S. Air Force with aggressive activities against the Soviet Union and said they constitute a threat to the peace of the world.

In a statement from his vacation headquarters at Newport, R.I., Eisenhower declared the United States is "ready and willing" to discuss the matter in a full and open manner. He called the "wanton shooting down" by the Russians of an RB47 plane July 1.

The United States declared in a note to Moscow Tuesday that the plane was shot down over international waters at least 30 miles from the Soviet coast on the Barents Sea.

The Soviet Union had charged the previous day that the jet reconnaissance bomber had violated Soviet air space. A Soviet note to Washington linked the RB47 flight with the May Day Beginning Of A New Bridge Sandhog's services not required, but even so, that's a big "tunnel" being erected across Big Spring draw as the basis of a new, high-water bridge for the extension of Gollad Street. The bridge, on Gollad just off of Marcy Drive (FM 700), is being constructed by ARMO Multiphase, under a contract from Highland Acres, Inc., developers of the new residential section on the shoulder of South Mountain, Highland South. The higher bridge replaces a low-water structure which had been put in by Howard Coupley. Picture of truck and men indicates size of new installation. The bridge will be 150 feet long, measures 12 feet at height of the tunnel, and the span is 24 feet wide. Gollad will be regraded so that its intersection with Marcy will be level.

Air Force Offers 6 Month Duty Plan For Young Recruits

Although there is a six-month active duty program offered by the Air Force, the only volunteer program for the recruit is the four-year plan. The six-month active duty plan, set up by the Air Force, is obtainable only through a reserve unit and the waiting list is quite lengthy. The recruiting stations have no authority to enlist anyone for this plan. The four-year enlistment plan entails eight weeks of basic training at Lackland AFB in San Antonio. If the recruit chooses to take special training in a technical school, he only goes through five weeks of basic training and then spends three weeks in school. All others go directly to on-the-job training after their eight weeks. The volunteer has no choice of location but he can choose the major field of work in which he is qualified. After serving four years of active duty, the volunteer is required to spend two years in the ready reserve. This reserve necessitates weekly meetings and two-week summer camps. No stand-by reserve is required. There are three programs set up by the Air Force for those who wish to become officers. The Officer Training School is offered for all college graduates. The volunteer signs for two years in the Air Force and after going to school for three months, he is either commissioned for a mandatory four years, or he is required to serve the remainder of his two years as an airman. All those who pass the requirements are commissioned. Another plan for the potential officer is the Aviation Cadet Navigator School. This is open to all high school grads. The volunteer must enlist for two years and attend 14 months of school. If he passes the requirements and is commissioned, he is required to serve as an officer for four years.

Ex-WAC Among GI Land Buyers

AUSTIN (AP)—A former WAC was among the 51 Texas veterans who bought property during June under GI Land Program administered by the Veterans Land Board. Land Commissioner Bill Allcorn said Wednesday 51 transactions totaled $318,925 in state money. The program permits veterans to buy property over 40 years at 3 1/2 per cent interest with a low down payment. Mrs. Bonnie Green, an El Paso housewife who served 11 months as a medical aidman, bought 108 acres in Hamilton County for $7,500.

GARDEN TALK

Herbicides Effective, But Use Very Carefully

I have had quite a number of requests to explain about herbicides. Just the other evening, Mrs. H. D. McClrath on Robb Dr. wanted to know if it would hurt young grass to be sprayed with weed killer. There are several weed killers, or herbicides on the market these days, and they usually have different trade names but about the same active ingredients. They either contain 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T. These are the names of weed-killing agents. They both work on broad leaf plants but usually don't harm the grasses. I say usually, because sometimes when as with Mrs. McClrath, young grass on a starting lawn may be injured by the poison.

Herbicides were discovered while trying to isolate the growth regulating factors in plants. It was ironic that the chemicals that cause plants to grow large, also are the very ones used to kill the plant by using in overdoses. Nature has many such regulator chemicals, and in tiny amounts they cause many things to happen. They cause plants to bloom, fruit to grow to proper size, or a shortage can cause plants to be stunted or dwarfed. Still they are potent regulators, and a small over-supply can cause the plant to grow itself to death, and so we have what we call herbicides.

The reason they usually are called weed killers and are recommended for lawns is because we have two quite different plants involved. There are the grasses, or monocotyledonous plants and the broad leaf plants called dicots. These two terms just mean that one group of plants emerges from the seed with one leaf like corn and the other group comes out of the seed with two leaves like cotton or beans. This difference is important enough to make the poison selective. In other words you can spray a lawn of grass with the herbicide and it will not normally harm the grass, but the weeds in the lawn will be affected, because they are a different form of plant. Be very careful when using any weed killer. It is quite strong, and even a small amount left in a sprayer, or drifting on the wind may damage plants months later when you again use the sprayer, or may hurt plants in adjoining yards through drifting. There are some weed-killers that may cause cancer if eaten. Most herbicides damage cotton and beans, so by all means read and follow the directions coming with each herbicide that you use, and observe all the precautions stated. If you have a garden question, write to Bruce Frazier in care of the Big Spring Herald.

WT Press Group Slates Convention For Aug. 4-6

Informality will be the keynote of the 30th annual West Texas Press Association convention at Pecos, August 4-6, Jimmy Allison of Midland, program chairman, said this week.

A casual "shirt-sleeve" affair is planned, opening with golf and entertainment Thursday evening, Aug. 4, and closing with a luncheon Saturday.

Brandon Hotel will be convention headquarters. Portions of the program and entertainment will be at the Community Center, Pecos Valley Country Club, and Foster's Cafe. Golf will be available at the Pecos municipal golf course.

Francis E. Perry, publisher of the Ballinger Ledger and association president, will preside for the opening session at the Community Center Friday morning and for the Saturday luncheon at Foster's Cafe. Other presiding officials will be Jimmy Allison, Midland, first vice president and program chairman; James Roberts, Andrews, second vice president, and Joe Bell, Colorado City, a WTPA director.

Visiting speakers will include Dr. Alan Maxwell, director of the Radio Astronomy Station of Harvard College Observatory, Fort Davis. Among others will be C. L. Kay, vice president of Lubbock Christian College, and Dr. James H. Jauncey, minister of the First Christian Church, El Paso.

Perry will lead a panel of Pecos citizens on "The News in Newspapers." George Baker of Fort Stockton will lead a panel on "Promotion and Public Relations." Taking part in this panel will be Jim Cronin of Post, Pecos.

Gene Dow of Monahans, and Jim Glasscock of Alpine.

Other newspapermen slated for special spots on the two-day program are Cal Snyder of Denver City; James C. Watson, Midland; Joe Pickle, Big Spring; Fred Barbee, Seminole, and others. Texas Press Association report will be given by L. B. Smith of Brady, New TPA president.

J. Carter King of Albany, president of West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will speak at the annual press breakfast which is hosted by that organization Saturday. Community service plaque will be presented at that time to the newspaper which has won the outstanding community service award.

Trophies in the Better Newspaper contest will be awarded by Virgil Moore, Eastland, contest chairman, at the awards luncheon, hosted by Carpenter Paper Co. Friday.

New officers will be elected and the 1961 convention site will be chosen at the Saturday morning business meeting.

Los Angeles (AP)—Following is the text of Sen. John F. Kennedy's remarks to delegates after being voted the Democratic presidential nomination:

Gov. Collins, Chairman Butler, Gov. Brown and my mother and my sister:

Under the official procedures of this convention, it is not possible for me to give you an answer to your nomination until Friday night, but I think you can guess what the answer will be.

Four years ago, in another great city, on the occasion of our 1956 Democratic convention, I came to the platform and moved that the name of our vice presidential nominee, Sen. Kefauver, be made unanimous. Therefore, I have some recognition of the feeling of my friend and colleague Sen. Johnson, and my friend and colleague, Sen. Symington. Their generosity and the generosity of the other favorite sons in moving that this nomination be made by acclamation, I think, gives us promise of going to the people of the United States in this election as a strong and united party in all parts of the United States.

I hope that those who have so loyally supported them will join with me. This is an important election. In many ways the most important election in the history of this country. All of us in this room and across the country are united together in our devotion to this country.

We wish to keep it strong, and we wish to keep it free. It requires at this critical time the best of all of us, and I can assure all of you here who have reposed this confidence in me that I will be worthy of your trust. We will carry the fight to the people in the fall, and we shall win.

Barton Gets 5 Boys Complete Red Cross Lifesaving Course

Frank Barton, former Big Spring resident, has been named superintendent of schools at Wink.

Wink served as principal of Wink High School from 1957 until the present. He was high school football coach from 1955 until 1957. He went to Wink following graduation from Sul Ross College in 1949 and was junior high school coach from that time until 1955.

He and his wife, the former Kathryn Travis of Big Spring, have one son, Jimmy Frank Barton, 14.

Barton is the son of Mrs. R. J. Barton, 405 State.

Five boys received their Red Cross lifesaving certificates last week after completing a 10-day course at the city pool.

They were Charles Clay, Don Anderson, Tommy Ramey, Robert Clark and Jerry Bumgarner.

The class was taught by Phil Puckett and Mrs. Daniel D. Kessler, authorized Red Cross instructors.

Included in the rigorous course was instruction on the mouth-to-mouth technique of artificial respiration.

Water Carnival Is Scheduled Saturday

Don Foglesong, former outstanding collegiate diver, is to be the featured attraction Saturday at the water carnival, sponsored by the YMCA.

The water carnival will be the second half of a dual aquatic attraction which begins Saturday at 1:30 p.m. The first half of the program will be a swimming meet held at the YMCA. Two divisions are planned for both boys and girls.

The senior division includes all entrants 15 years and older. The junior division consists of all under 15 years of age.

Boys and girls in the junior division will compete separately in a 60-yard free style, 40-yard back stroke and 40-yard butterfly.

Senior division entrants will compete in a 60-yard free style race, 100-yard free style, 60-yard back stroke, and 40-yard back stroke.

Medals will be awarded the first and second place winners in all events and ribbons will be awarded the third and fourth place winners.

A special event will be held for boys and girls 10 years or younger. It will be a 20-yard free style swimming race.

As a part of the water carnival which begins at 8 p.m. at the City Pool, there will be a junior and senior diving contest.

Senior contestants will compete off the high board and juniors will be confined to the low board.

Each contestant will be required to do one forward dive and one backward dive. Two additional dives will be allowed for higher scoring. As in the swimming meet, boys and girls will compete separately.

Also on the ticket for the water show will be three water ballet teams. Swimming instructors from the YMCA have a team along with Webb personnel wives and the YMCA Synchronized Swim team.

Don Yates, Don Morton and Bob Chambers will put on a clown exhibition, all as a sidelight to Foglesong's performance.

Both the swimming meet and the water carnival are free to the public. Competition is open to everyone and entry blanks should be filled out immediately at the YMCA.

The Alabama-Georgia football game will be the first on the nation's TV screens this fall and it could be one of the best on the fall schedule.

There is still some reason to hope that the video games will be made available to area viewers, even though ABC and not NBC will handle the collegiate games.

Pampa, first football foe of the Big Spring Steers this year, lost 18 lettermen from last season.

One of the Harvesters who could be a thorn in the side of the Steers is a 200-pound sophomore named Randy Watson.

Glen Selbo, the Midland High School baseball manager, says now he may have a better team in 1961 than he did last spring, and he carried the Bulldogs all the way to the state meet this year.

Miller Harris, the present sheriff of Howard County, spent time in the farm systems of both the Philadelphia Athletics and New York Yankees.

He was on the roster of the A's, Jersey City, Chambersburg, Penn., Martinsburg, W. V., Baltimore, Hazleton of the NY-Pennsylvania league and Selma, Ala., at one time or another.

Miller's career in pro ball was shortened when he injured his throwing arm. His hitting style was often compared to that of Babe Ruth.

He performed for the old T&P team here as early as 1926.

Inspired by Gene Sarazen's early showing in the British Open, Texan Jimmy Demaret says he'll be an entry in the "meest next year. Demaret has been out of competition since the Houston Open, plans to resume play in the PGA in Akron, Ohio.

Bob Kurland, the former All-American cager at Oklahoma State University, recently was named manager of the Phillips 66 sales division at Wichita, Kansas.

Some observers who profess to know say that John David Crow, the former Texas A&M grid great who is now in pro ball, is as tough to tackle as Jimmy Brown of Cleveland.

He may not hit quite as fast or as hard as the former Syracuse ace, they point out, but he's a shifter runner.

One keeps hearing the report that Dizzy Dean won't be back as an announcer on CBS-TV's Game Of The Week next baseball season. Diz signed a ten-year pact with CBS last year but it obviously was the kind that either party can break.

Bill Brown, Midland High School's big, all-round athlete, is held for the University of Arizona on a baseball scholarship. The Wildcats play upwards to 70 games a season.

In eight years of coaching, San Angelo High School's new head mentor, Emory Bellard, has had only one losing season. That occurred in 1956, at which time his Breckenridge club won four while losing six times.

On two occasions, he guided teams in Ingleside to perfect won-loss seasons.

At Lopez, Chicago White Sox Manager who skipped the AL All-Stars, said he couldn't see a great change between the Nationals of today and the Nationals of yesterday, when he was NL All-Star catcher.

"They had a few sluggers then, too," he said. "But if there is a change, I'd say the American League has gone more for pitching lately and the National has gone more for sluggers.

"And our hitting just wasn't as good as theirs in these two games."

If you had to pick out just two of the NL sluggers, you'd have to go with Willie Mays and Stan Musial.

Mays, the San Francisco Giants' brilliant center fielder, whipped AL pitchers for six hits in the two games — his second All-Star homer, a triple, a double and three singles.

Musial, the old guy of the St. Louis Cardinals, beat out an infield hit and swatted his sixth All-Star home run in two pinch-hit appearances while playing his 18th and 19th games, a record.

Musial, at 39, put one of Gerry Staley's pitches deep in the third deck at Yankee Stadium, just inside the foul pole. "And I really wasn't trying to hit one," he said. "The way I've been hitting lately, I just swing for base hits."

"It must have made him quite happy," said Williams, tongue in cheek.

The District 19 American Legion Junior baseball tournament has been transferred from Plainview to Lubbock.

Decision to move the meet was made at a meeting of district officials held last night in Lubbock. Jack Pearson of Big Spring attended.

The tournament, in which six teams will be involved, gets under way Friday.

Big Spring, runnerup in its zone, drew a first round bye and does not play until 2 p.m. Saturday. The locals oppose the winner of the Lubbock-Austro-Plainview game.

Big Spring's first annual Tournament of Champions gets under way Saturday at the Bowl-A-Rama and the handicap tournament is a benefit gesture favoring the Howard County Crippled Children's Treatment Center.

Team entries in the meet are restricted to those that finished either first or second in the 1959-60 league play and to the city tournament champions.

Bowling competition will be held the weekends of July 16-17 and July 23-24. Mixed league team entries are to be composed of the members of the first and second place teams plus one member or sub of that league. Subs used must have bowled a minimum of 15 games in the league from which that team is entered.

At least 75 cents of every $2 entry fee will go toward the benefit of the Treatment Center.

Texas Links Stars Paired In Tourney

CINCINNATI (AP)—If there are any complaints about the 30th annual women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament, they must be coming from Texas.

The Lone Star State qualified three girls for the championship flight, but the pairings placed them so close together only one will be left when today's third round is finished. They will have killed each other off.

Wanda Sowell of Tyler, Tex., eliminated Sandra Palmer of Fort Worth Wednesday. Today she faced another foe from her own state, tiny Sandra Haynie of Austin, who was the hottest shooter in the field in Wednesday's second round. Miss Haynie was five under par Wednesday in crushing Mrs. Bert Craig of Cincinnati, 7 and 6.

Miss Haynie, a high school senior, is twice Texas state champ at the age of 17. Miss Sowell is the current Texas public links champ. Wednesday's second round brought the elimination of the defending champion, Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa. She was a 3 and 2 victor over blonde Barbara Slobe, 20, a typist from Waukegan, Ill., the 1958 Illinois women's champion.

That left Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, Md., as the only former winner of the Trans-Mississippi. Miss Downey, who won in 1951, had to go 19 holes to win from Diana Hoke of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Today Miss Downey met Jo Anne Gunderson of Kirklind, Wash., one of the hot favorites for the title. Miss Gunderson, the national intercollegiate champ and a 1960 Curtis Cup team member, was a 4 and 3 victor over Mrs. James Pickens of Dayton, Ohio.

Another top favorite, Curtis Cupper Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., also stayed in the running with a 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. R. E. Mueller of Cincinnati. She was three under par for the safety.

Miss Eller figured to have her work cut out for her today, however, as she met Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., of Indianapolis, a 1960 Curtis Cup alternate. Mrs. Dye, a tournament veteran, beat Mary Patton Janssen of Charlottesville, Pa., Wednesday, 4 and 2.

Two 18-hole rounds were to be played today to bring the field down to four for Friday's semifinals.

Liston Bids For KO

DENVER (AP)—Sonny Liston says his sleep potion is prepared for Zora Folley who's scheduled to fight the Philadelphia knockout artist for 12 rounds Monday night in the Denver Coliseum.

"Folley talks about going 12 rounds," Liston scoffed at a training session Wednesday. "I'll see that he don't go 12 rounds—I'll give him the sleep potion."

The slumber drug is a knockout punch embraced in Liston's 14½ inch left fist. The potion, usually applied with a left hook, has sent to dreamland 20 of Liston's opponents in 30 bouts. He's lost only one.

Folley, a slick boxer from Chandler, Ariz., says little about the approaching bout that may give the winner a title shot at heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson. Liston is rated No. 1 and Folley No. 2 in the latest Ring magazine.

"I never look at the record book," Folley said of Liston's impressive knockout performance. "I just fight my fight when I get in the ring."

Ex-Steer Back At Fort Bliss

PORT BLISS, Texas — Specialist Fifth Class Tommy G. McAdams, Big Spring High School football letterman in 1953 and 1954, is at Fort Bliss, for two weeks' summer training with the 490th Civil Affairs Company of Abilene, an Army Reserve unit.

The 490th, commanded by Lt. Col. Frank W. Meyers Jr., arrived at Fort Bliss July 9 and will return home July 23.

McAdams, a 1960 graduate of McMurry College, Abilene, was a defensive halfback on the 1953 Steer team that lost to Port Neches, 24-13 in the state finals. As a senior in 1954, he quarterbacked Big Spring to a first place tie in district with Breckenridge.

He also was a three-year baseball letterman at BSHS, from which he graduated in 1955.

At McMurry, he was quarterback for the Indians in 1957 and 1958.

Desperate Father Invents Way To Keep Shoes Tied

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—An East Lansing man thinks he has solved the knotty problem caused when children's shoes come untied.

Charles S. Ruffing, an educational television specialist at Michigan State University, found necessity the mother of invention.

He and his wife have four small children and the shoe laces just wouldn't stay tied.

Ruffing perfected a small clip-like gadget that snaps over the top of the shoes and holds the laces securely.

A dime store chain and a large drug organization placed sizable orders after a shoe firm ran consumer tests showing the gadget was well received in Detroit.

Civic Leaders Discuss Plans

COLORADO CITY—Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, the Colorado City Industrial team, the City Council and the Mitchell County Commissioner's Court met Tuesday night in the conference room of the City National Bank to discuss possible community projects.

A principal topic was the city's need for an airport site, and Councilman Buzz Majors reported that the biggest snag has been acquiring suitable property. Majors pointed out that the Air Force landing strip northwest of Colorado City kills the possibility of a site near Colorado City and north of U.S. 80, since the Federal Aviation Authority forbids airport construction in that area.

City Manager Earl Keaton reported the city as planning further improvement at the Lake Park, including the planting of more trees.

A committee formed of Rex Felker, Eldon Mahon, Buzz Majors, Elmer Martin, Max Caddell, Don Benson and Joe Bell was formed to study the possibility of building a replica of "Colorado" as Colorado City looked in the 1800s.

Methodists Slate Bible School

Vacation Bible School will be held at the First Methodist Church July 18-23.

Classes for four years olds through sixth graders will be from 9 to 11 a.m. each morning during the two-week period.

Overall theme is "The Church," and each department has a theme which ties in with it. "Together In Our Church" will be the theme for the Kindergarten or Pre-School classes.

Primary children will study "Everyone Needs a Church," and the Junior Department's study course is "The Story and Work of the Methodist Church."

Mrs. Martin Staggs is supervisor of the entire program.

Some Delegates Came, Others Had To Be Pushed To Kennedy

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—State by state, they were swept up by the Kennedy tide. Did they jump in? Were they coaxed? Pushed?

Many leaped to Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic nominee for president. He won them over. He was energetic. He gave the appearance of a brave young man, willing to take on all comers in primary elections.

He spoke readily, if not eloquently, on any subject. He had looks, the appeal of a handsome leading man to girls, of an engaging lad to mothers.

He had experience, six years in the House, eight in the Senate. He was a war hero. He wrote books, received a Pulitzer prize. Most of all, he drew votes. He won seven primaries.

Many were cajoled by a skillfully devised and deployed organization. They had to be persuaded. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic. He is only 43-too young, some of his detractors said. Among other belittlings, they said he hadn't entered all the primaries. He shifted position over the years on major issues. He was too rich. He was the son of Joseph P. Kennedy, once called an isolationist and an appeaser.

SOME SHOVED

Some delegates had to be shoved by that same relentless Kennedy organization. The candidate himself could not convince them, not until pressed to stay in line or shown that the Kennedy parade was passing them by.

Jack Kennedy arrived in Los Angeles last Saturday the obvious front-runner. He had campaigned. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson won most of the year, running the Senate. Sen. Stuart Symington had divided his time between seeking votes and voting new laws. Adlai E. Stevenson had waited for others to beat his drums.

With four days to go, Kennedy claimed over 600 of the necessary 761 convention votes. Cold figures, obtained independently, credited him with 546, Johnson with 235. That was on Saturday.

CHICAGO VOTES

On Sunday, Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago unwrapped his package for Kennedy, 50% of 69 Illinois votes. Gov. Edmund G. Brown of 81-vote California declared for Kennedy. So did Govs. Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa and George Docking of Kansas. At nightfall Kennedy had 620%, Johnson 27%.

On Monday, Gov. David L. Lawrence steered 64 — the number would increase—of Pennsylvania's 81 votes to Kennedy. New York, with 114 altogether, started adding to the 91% it brought to town for Kennedy. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota turned loose his 63% votes, not to Kennedy but to a stream into which Kennedy dipped his net. At this point, Kennedy had 688%, Johnson 304%.

On Tuesday the pace slowed. Rivals said it had stopped. California delivered only 39% to Kennedy, 31% to Stevenson, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota and New Jersey, among others, didn't come across as expected. Still the total rose: Kennedy 743, Johnson 335.

STOCKS DOWN

On Wednesday, in the morning, Kennedy had slipped to 741% because a few minds changed in Nebraska's delegation. Humphrey declared for Stevenson.

But by the time the convention opened a few hours later, Kennedy was assured the magic 761 votes he needed, and he got them Wednesday night.

During the week Kennedy roamed Los Angeles, recommending himself. He concentrated on farm and defense policies. He said youth was no calamity, except for those who lacked it. He said he wanted to be president in order to be in the center of things, which he thought could be improved.

At night he secluded himself, an occasion for dinner with the Kennedy clan, on occasion to work from his hideaway apartment in Hollywood.

And both day and night his organizers worked, in public and private.

... WHERE SERVICE AND DEPENDABILITY MAKE THE DIFFERENCE

That Extra Touch

... is added by Mrs. Frank Gibson as she places an arrangement of flowers in a giant brass stiller in her living room. The picture in the background is of the same material as the rich draperies that are hung across the room.

Gibson Home Has A 'Do It Yourself' Motto

By SHERI WEBBER
"Do it yourself" projects have real champions in Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson.

This ambitious couple have just completed painting every room of their house—two bedrooms, living room, bath, kitchen and utility room.

Actually, the couple didn't have to paint one of the bedrooms, for their daughter, Janette, painted her bedroom as a home economics project last spring.

"It took us a month," recalls Ruth Gibson. "We worked just on the weekends and the Fourth of July."

Mrs. Gibson has some tips to offer other do-it-yourself painters: be systematic and organized! When they painted their house before, the entire home was messed up because they would try to do as much as they could—all of one room and as much of another as they could manage. Now the couple take one room at a time and finish it completely before moving to another, on another day.

"I don't like for things to be messed up," says the dark-haired housewife, "and it always was the first time we painted."

The Gibson family still laughs about their mother's first decorating scheme. An interior decorator had once told Mrs. Gibson that it would make the house look larger if all the rooms were painted the same color, but different shades. "So every room in the house was a different color of green! My husband can't stand green to this day!" admits Ruth.

Not only did Mrs. Gibson play an active part in re-decorating her home, but she designed it. The only thing changed was the width of the hall—"I was a little narrow, so we had to..."

... explains the designer. Mrs. Gibson is the mother of four children. Her two oldest sons, Vernon and Arleigh McCree, are in the Navy. Janette is 16 years old and the youngest is 4-year-old Gary Lynn.

The busy homemaker has been employed at Webb AFB since 1952. In the winter she is active on a bowling league and all year around she is busy sewing. Ruth and Frank, who is the assistant manager of Big Spring Hardware, have a mutual understanding when it comes to yard work. "He takes care of the lawn and I take care of the flowers," relates the gardener.

In the Air Force Government Employees organization, Mrs. Gibson serves as steward. She holds the highest local office, senior regent, in the Warden of the Moose.

Combining two worlds—home and business—Mrs. Gibson has learned a lot of short cuts in cooking. The Baked Pork Chops are simple and relatively quick. Lemon Pound Cake is one of the easiest recipes she has found, and one of the best-liked by her family. English peas get boring to many eaters, but the recipe for Italian

CREAMED BROCCOLI AND MUSHROOMS

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon finely diced onion
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1-16 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms
- 1 package (10 ounces) quick-frozen chopped broccoli

Melt butter in top of double boiler over direct moderate heat. Add onion and cook about 1 minute. Stir in flour, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Add milk and mushrooms, including liquid in can; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils. Add partially thawed broccoli.

Cook, covered, over boiling water until broccoli is barely tender, about 30 minutes. Stir occasionally to distribute the broccoli. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Frying Chicken

Whether you fry chicken in deep fat or in a skillet, a uniform frying temperature of 350-375 degrees is important. When the temperature is too low, grease soaks into the chicken. An automatic top burner heat control on a range provides accurate frying temperature. When cold pieces of chicken are added to the hot oil the flame increases quickly to keep the temperature even. To avoid splatter be sure chicken is dry before frying.

peas will give new life to this old vegetable-dependable. It is one of Frank Gibson's favorites. The Fruit-Marshmallow Salad is rich, but delicious.

BAKED PORK CHOPS

ITALIAN PEAS

- 1 No. 2 can of English peas
- 1 medium sized onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 small can of tomatoes
- 4 tbsps. of bacon drippings

Place onion and fry chopped onion and minced garlic until browned. Pour in tomatoes and let simmer for 5 minutes. Add English peas and bring to boil; salt and pepper to taste. Makes 6-8 servings.

FRUIT-MARSHALLOW SALAD

- 1 cup pineapple chunks, drained
- 1 cup halved orange sections
- 1 cup pitted white cherries, drained
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 2 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1/4 cup salad dressing
- 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine the fruit, pecans, marshmallows and salad dressing. Fold in the whipped cream. Chill in refrigerator about two hours. Serve each portion in a lettuce cup. Makes 6-8 servings.

LEMON POUND CAKE

- 2 sticks of margarine, room temperature
- 6 eggs
- 2 cups of sugar
- 2 cups of flour, sifted
- 1 tsp. lemon extract

Combine sugar and margarine, blending until smooth. Add eggs to the mixture one at a time, beating until fluffy; add flour gradually, blending smoothly. Next add lemon extract.

Pour mixture into a greased angel food cake pan or loaf pan. Bake in a 350 degree pre-heated oven for 1 hour, or test with a tooth pick in center to see if well done.

Rich Variation On French Theme For This Main Dish

French culinary terms often are used on restaurant menus in this country. They also appear frequently in our cook books.

Have you noticed that one of these terms, Florentine, is sometimes coupled with fish, sometimes with eggs? This method of preparation means that the fish or eggs are combined with chopped spinach, Sauce Mornay and grated cheese.

The Sauce Mornay called for in Florentine dishes is a well-seasoned cream sauce with grated Swiss and Parmesan cheese added. When coupled with the spinach and fish, usually fish stock is used as part of the liquid in preparing the sauce.

This basic French method allows a cook to create many dishes a la Florentine. We did just that, using canned salmon. The result is a rich affair for a foursome at lunch or supper.

SALMON FLORENTINE

- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach
- Boiling water
- 2 tps. lemon juice
- 3 tps. butter or margarine
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 can (7 1/2 oz.) salmon
- Milk
- 3 tps. flour
- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- 2 tps. grated dry Swiss cheese
- 1-3 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese (or a combination of the two)

Cook spinach according to package directions using the amount of boiling water and salt called for; turn into a strainer to drain, pressing out liquid—1/4 cup will be drained off.

... canned salmon, Mornay Sauce and grated cheese.

Turn warm spinach into a deep heat-resistant glass pie plate (8 by 1 1/2 inches) and mix in lemon juice. 1 tablespoon of the butter and the pepper.

Drain salmon; add enough milk to the salmon liquid to make 1 cup. Melt the remaining 2 tablespoons butter in the bottom part of a small double boiler; stir in the flour over low heat. Add salmon-milk mixture; cook and stir constantly until thickened; place over simmering water, cover and cook 10 minutes, stirring a few times.

Remove from heat but leave over hot water. Gradually stir in the cream. Stir in the Swiss cheese and 2 tablespoons of the Parmesan.

Spread half the sauce over the spinach; arrange salmon over the sauce. (Bones do not need to be removed from salmon.)

Stir 2 tablespoons of the Parmesan into the remaining sauce; spread over salmon; sprinkle with remaining Parmesan.

They'll Applaud Dessert Souffle

Can you beat eggs? Then you can make a high and puffy, feather-light and fabulous dessert souffle. What more glamorous ending for a company dinner?

Sweet souffles come in various flavors—the best known among these the vanilla, the chocolate, the lemon and that golden beauty—the orange.

Although many recipes for orange souffle call for some milk along with the fruit juice, this procedure produces a two-layer effect. Use all orange juice and the texture and flavor are the same throughout the souffle; you'll enjoy its rich citrus taste.

ORANGE SOUFFLE

- 3 tps. butter or margarine
- 3 tps. flour
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. grated orange rind
- 5 eggs, separated
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. cream of tartar

In a medium-sized saucepan melt the butter over low heat; stir in the flour. Add orange juice; cook and stir until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice and orange rind.

Best egg yolks until lemon-colored and thickened; beat in sugar and salt. Stir a little of the hot sauce into the beaten yolks, blending well. Stir back into saucepan and again blend well, cool.

With clean beater, beat egg whites until foamy; add cream of tartar; continue beating until whites stand in soft peaks. Carefully fold cool sauce into whites so the two are blended.

Turn into a buttered 1 1/2-quart souffle dish; fasten a foil or waxed paper collar around top of dish so it stands a couple of inches above top.

Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 35 minutes. Serve at once with Clear Orange Sauce and, if desired, whipped cream.

Note: Have collar ready to put around dish so souffle mixture does not have to wait before going into oven.

CLEAR ORANGE SAUCE

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tps. cornstarch
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. grated orange rind

Put in a 1-quart saucepan stir together thoroughly the sugar and cornstarch. Gradually add the boiling water, orange juice and lemon juice, stirring until smooth after each addition. Stir in orange rind and a dash of salt. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until clear and thickened—5 to 6 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in diced orange. Serve hot or warm.

Color, Flavor Blend To Tasty Goodness

A pretty combination of colors and good flavor are found in this salad.

STUFFED TOMATO SALAD

- 4 medium-sized tomatoes
- 1 can (8 1/2 oz.) king crabmeat dressing
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise-type salad dressing
- 1 tsp. catchup
- Lemon juice
- Salt
- Capers
- Salad greens
- Cucumber

Remove a thin slice from bottom of tomatoes so they will stand straight. Cut out centers from tops in plug shape; remove seeds with fingers; turn upsidedown to drain.

Drain crab; remove cartilage. Mix salad dressing and catchup and mix with crab; add lemon juice and salt to taste. Stuff mixture into tomatoes; garnish with capers.

Arrange on plates with greens and sliced cucumbers. Makes 4 servings.

Fix Veal A Tasty Way For Guests

A delicious and easy way to prepare veal cutlets.

EASY SCALLOPINE

- 1 large egg
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- Pepper
- 8 large paper-thin slices (about 1 1/4 pounds) tender boneless veal (from leg)
- 3-3 cup prepared bread crumb mix
- 1-3 to 1/2 cup butter
- Tomato sauce

Beat egg until foamy; beat in lemon juice, salt and a dash of pepper to combine. Dip each veal slice in the egg mixture, then in crumbs.

Heat half the butter in a large (about 12-inch) skillet and add as many veal slices as will fit in one layer. Over medium heat brown on both sides—about 4 minutes. Cook remaining veal the same way adding butter as needed. Keep hot in a 250 degree oven until all pieces are ready for serving. Makes 4 servings.

Note: The prepared bread crumb mix called for contains toasted crumbs Italian cheese, spices, herbs and monosodium glutamate.

Use Fresh Grapes In Jellied Salad

Use seasonal grapes in a cool jellied salad.

JELLIED GRAPE SALAD

- 2 cups lightly packed halved seeded Tokay grapes
- 1/4 cup onion - flavored French dressing
- 1 package (3 ounces) lemon-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup lemon juice

Cover grapes with French dressing and refrigerate overnight. Put gelatin in a bowl; pour boiling water over and stir until dissolved; stir in orange and lemon juice. Chill until it mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon.

Sweet Corn Has Nostalgic Taste

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Who wants to rush the season by wearing a straw hat in January or a fur stole in July? But when fresh sweet corn on the cob comes to market early, it's a different story. America's attachment to the good eating that lies beneath those green wrappers and silky brown tassels is one no other country knows.

Years ago, were corn feeds one of the high spots of your young life? Those were the days when a country house had a summer kitchen. This was an unheated room, lonesome and closed-off in winter with its dark green blinds pulled down. But when the warm days came there was a great excitement and commotion while it was opened, scrubbed and aired. Then the blinds stayed raised part way—just enough to let in golden flickers of sunlight and keep out waves of heat. It was here untold delights were prepared. Here sat the extra stove needed for the lengthy old-fashioned summer-vacation visits of hordes of relatives and friends.

In that cool and inviting room, fruit preserves and spicy relishes were simmered and stirred, tasted and tested to be ladled into glasses and jars. Here a whole fresh salmon was poached in the huge oval-shaped steamer with its outside surface of gleaming copper. And here dozens and dozens of ears of fresh sweet corn were boiled for a wondrous feed.

This event was often scheduled for a Saturday or Sunday when carloads of guests came just for the day—the more mouths to feed the merrier! As the water began to bubble in the copper boiler, all hands shucked the corn. While it turned tender everyone was occupied in setting himself up. This might be in the long dining room or at a picnic table under the trees. Each person made sure he had an ample plate and a case knife. Huge salt shakers, stacks of paper napkins and pounds of butter were ready and waiting.

As a batch of corn was cooked and drained, it was heaped onto a large white ironstone platter. In one second teeth sank into sweet kernels, cobs piled up on another platter. That is all but the children's. Theirs stayed close to their plates—the better to count and boast how many ears eaten. We can still hear our mother say, "Don't gobble, children, chew each mouthful before you swallow!"

These days the chances are a corn feed will take place on the new-fangled patio. Wrappers will be turned back, silks removed, then husks turned back again over the kernels. Next the ears will be lined up on the grill over the hot coals and cooked until the husks are dry and browned—maybe 20 minutes if the fire's right. Who volunteers to turn the corn so every row of kernels gets even cooking? At last it's ready. Husks are broken off, small fry and older folk spread the ears with butter and sprinkle them with salt. Now to the age-old pleasure of eating!

A Devotional For Today

If we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another. (1 John 1:7)
PRAYER: O Father, direct us today to speak some word that will unite us in fellowship with another follower of Christ. Strengthen us together in faith and love, in Christian joy and fellowship. In Christ's name. Amen.

The International Shell Game

Although the reams of copy and the unprecedented time monopolized on the radio and TV coverage of the Democratic convention overshadow it, the most pressing question of the moment is: "What is Russia up to?"

In the larger sense, of course, the answer is clear. Universal domination is the ultimate objective, but the immediate maneuvers are the more puzzling and pressing matters.

Russia shot down one of our reconnaissance planes over open waters, according to President Eisenhower. He bluntly denied that the plane had ever been over Russian land or waters, that it was on a peaceful mission of mapping magnetic belts in the Arctic. The whole thing, he said, was a savage and deliberate effort by Russia to create another of those hot incidents.

Now Russia counters by accusing the United States of aerial aggression and appeals to the United Nations to take up the matter at once. This is the "best defense is an offense" maneuver.

But in the Belgian Congo where the government of the world's newest republic appealed for a United States mission to help stabilize its situation, Russia has loudly claimed U. S. and Belgium "aggression." Again loud complaints have been directed to the U. N., and veiled threats toward the United States.

It is this in with the recent prima donna torpedoing of the summit, and you get the uneasy feeling that the Russian bear is building a distraction for some impending coup.

A Welcome Illness

Fidel Castro has been hospitalized with what is described as a pulmonary disorder of some kind, and the doctors are giving him what the old folks used to call a "through" of medicine, in this case antibiotics.

He had told a TV audience it was just a case of "getting some rest." He promised to be well and full of vim, vigor and vitality by July 26, first anniversary of his revolution.

His illness, however, could be tactical. He has gone to extremes in his antagonism and hatred of the United States too many times lately not to have put a strain on the goodwill that his neighbor Latin states may bear him—not because they don't have their own problems, but because the Soviet Union has no particular profit available at the moment from kicking the Colossus of the North in the teeth. So Fidel may figure an interval of quiet would be wise.

Even the most uncertain of our Latin-American friends would hesitate to go so far as Castro has gone in libeling and lying about the U. S., mostly to the enhancement of communism in this hemisphere.

But any time a prominent Mexican political leader declares flatly that Mexico will back Castro to the hilt against the U. S., without drawing a rebuke or a demurrer from anyone of consequence in Mexico, it is time we take stock of our relations below the Rio Grande.

Perhaps the most hopeful sign is in a later tendency by high Mexican officials to hedge discreetly. This may have encouraged Castro's hopes, since a realistic appraisal of the ultimate economic chaos his policies are bound to bring down on Cuba.

Dictatorship In Civil Rights

LOS ANGELES—It would require a dictator in the White House to fulfill some of the provisions of the platform recommended to the Democratic National Convention by a majority of its platform committee.

Not only does the platform impose on the president-to-be the task of reversing the national "mood," whatever that is, but it proposes, in effect, that employment practices and social customs be changed irrespective of the legal rights of private citizens.

"We have drifted," says the platform, "into a national mood that accepts payola and quiz scandals, tax evasion and false expense accounts, soaring crime rates, influence-peddling in high government circles, and the exploitation of sadistic violence as popular entertainment. For eight long, critical years our present national leadership has made no effective effort to reverse this mood."

JUST HOW ANY administration can set about to change the national mood in every field, from entertainment to crime rates, is a little hard to understand. But platforms are noted for their promises of Utopia.

The most alarming section, however, of the platform—and one which could cost the Democrats plenty of electoral votes in the South—could perhaps be the North—is a provision which practically tells employers they must adopt some system of equality of race, religion and color in choosing their employees. It also tells the private schools they, too, must not discriminate in matters of race or religion or color. Maybe there will be no more exclusively white social clubs in the North if the Democratic platform means what it says and if laws are to be passed to remove all forms of discrimination. The platform plank on this reads in part as follows:

"THE TIME HAS come to assure equal access for all Americans to all areas of community life, including voting booths, schoolrooms, jobs, housing and public facilities."

The clause "equal access to all areas of community life" is the most sweeping ever proposed in a political platform. There are no exceptions, nor is the word "schoolrooms" qualified by the word "public."

It is not clear yet how the platform writers came to the conclusion that the Constitution gives Congress the right to pass a law telling a private employer whom he may employ, especially when he isn't engaged in any government contract work. Yet the platform plank says:

"The new Democratic administration will support federal legislation establishing a Fair Employment Practices Commission effectively to secure for every-one the right to equal opportunity for employment."

DOES THIS MEAN that, unless an equal number of Negroes and whites are employed or if someone thinks he should have a job for which he isn't really qualified, the employer can be hauled before a commission and made to prove that no discriminatory motive is behind his hiring practices? Does it mean that there must be a proportionately equal number of Protestants, Catholics and Jews in every plant or business establishment in order to fulfill the requirements of "equal access"?

It is clear from the way the platform is written that the authors are not talking only of federal services or work on government contracts. This latter field is separately provided for, and there is, in addition, a broadly phrased paragraph which says:

"A NEW DEMOCRATIC administration will broaden the scope and strengthen the powers of the present (Civil Rights) commission and make it permanent. Its functions will be to provide assistance to communities, industries, or individuals in the implementation of constitutional rights in education, housing, employment, transportation and the administration of justice."

There are neighborhoods in many American cities where racial discrimination prevails. The United States Supreme Court has said the federal and state authorities have no power to enforce "integration" against the wishes of private-property owners. This could become a big issue in the coming campaign.

Already the Southern leaders have announced openly that they repudiate the platform. They say in a public statement:

"WE EMPHATICALLY repudiate those provisions, do not propose to be bound by them, and respectfully request that the statement of repudiation be entered upon the minutes of the convention and read to the convention upon the presentation of the platform."

The desire of the platform-makers to win the votes of Negro and other minority groups will create new conflicts with other groups which have hitherto supported the Democratic ticket. Sen. Kennedy, as the party nominee, would be on the spot if asked whether he supports wholeheartedly the provisions of the platform quoted above. If he does, it could cost him the South and some Northern states as well. It may be doubted whether the Republican platform will invade the field of private rights as the Democratic platform has done.

Honey, Anymore?

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP)—Mrs. Antoinette H. Snow has a honey of a problem. Nine years ago, bees settled in her attic. Last fall she had the attic sprayed because the bees were stinging workmen putting on a new roof.

The bees were killed. That left an awful lot of honey they normally would consume during the winter.

Now warm weather has loosened the excess honey, and it's dripping from the attic into Mrs. Snow's living room. She's all abuzz about it.

The Contradictory Conventions

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 1960 political conventions are not only old-fashioned. They're contradictions.

Here in the sixth decade of the 20th Century they retain all the corny, long-winded, disorderly tradition of the 19th Century.

But they are nominating presidential candidates who are thoroughly modern.

Neither Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who got the Democratic nomination Wednesday night, nor Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who seems assured of the Republican nod, exudes much personal warmth. Neither is a moving speaker.

AND JUST BECAUSE both lack the power to excite they may put on a dull campaign.

Neither has the personal charm of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the fire of Harry S. Truman, or the easy geniality of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But both are superb technicians

Getting the nomination is for them no accident. They have worked for it for years, not only in person but by surrounding themselves with excellent young staffs, taking care of minute details, and planning ahead.

They are so expert in modern political techniques—from how to handle themselves on TV to lining up support far ahead of time—they have to be careful not to look too slick.

The one thing Kennedy and Nixon have in common is a thorough knowledge of national issues and the problems facing the country, although their stand on issues and solutions for the problems are not the same.

EITHER MAN AS president would do far more homework, firsthand, than Eisenhower ever did. They've been doing it for years.

Eisenhower depended so much on staff work—on his advisers for information about issues and events—that he cheerfully admitted he does most of his newspaper reading on Sunday.

Nothing illustrates better the old-fashioned flavor of the 1960 conventions than the fact that the Democrats almost eight hours of nominating speeches and banner-waving Wednesday before voting on a candidate.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Kennedy's closest rival for the Democratic nomination, disclosed at this week's convention he belongs to the old school of politicians.

One example was the arm-waving, stem-winding speeches, the clichés and literary flag waving in his TV appearance with Kennedy, who finished in a few minutes without flourish.

To this writer, who has seen every political convention since 1944, Wednesday night's nomination of Kennedy seemed the least enthusiastic of the past 16 years.

The answer may be that it is difficult to get emotional about a technician. Why then was Kennedy chosen, aside from the fact that he and his supporters had worked for months lining up delegates?

Perhaps because the convention felt, consciously or not, that the accumulating problems of today call not only for a hard-working, well-informed candidate but one who acts and thinks in modern terms.

The Hic Heard Around The World

NEW YORK (AP)—A thirsty world receives with a mixture of trepidation and delight the news that a British brewery has come up with a formula for instant beer.

Leave it to peripatetic Albin to put a bead on the 20th century's scientific development. While scientists most everywhere else in the world were mucking about with rockets and missiles, her majesty's laboratory legions, in true Alec Guinness fashion, were busy trying to extract a presto pint from their test tubes.

After many a long night and many a longer morning after, the breakthrough finally came at Burton-on-Trent, one of England's oldest foam factories.

It is still too early to tell whether the brewmaster will be knighted for his efforts and thereby become history's first bona fide beer baron.

However, now that the staff has sobered up from the hic heard round the world, it is time to consider what this singular achievement means in terms of our civilization and our way of life as we know it, or used to know it.

What, for instance, is to become of the venerable custom of going on the water wagon? Armed with a pail of sudden suds, the reform-minded souse certainly would fall off before he ever really got on, thereby dooming a perfectly usable expression to early obsolescence.

And think what will happen to the office hush. He won't even have to wait for the lunch whistle to wet his whistle. Right under the boss's nose and on company time, he can get a beautiful bun on simply by making periodic trips to the water cooler. If that arouses too much suspicion, he can always lap up the leavings in the saucer beneath the window plants.

The country's myriad "closed" drinkers could at last come out of the closet and get their kicks with the garden sprinkler.

Season Of Poison Ivy Is Here—Stay Away

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
It's a dull person who doesn't learn by experience—and my experience tells me that along about now the mail will be fairly well stuffed with inquiries about poison ivy and what to do now that you have the itch.

It is, in fact, a cinch that quite a lot of these letters will be written between the time I write this column and the day it gets into print. Of readers in areas untroubled by poison ivy, I beg indulgence. Other readers elsewhere are having miseries.

Of course the best way to avoid itching from poison ivy is to avoid contact with it. But you can't always do this. You brush against it when you aren't looking. The leaf, stem and root of the plant all contain the poison. Even "out of season" poison ivy can bother you. Or if somebody has grubbed the plant out and is burning it, the smoke can be irritating.

For that matter, since the poisonous sap is sticky, it can cling to the fur of a dog or cat, or somebody else's blue jeans, and if you are sensitive, you can get the poisonous itch on the first bounce.

Of course, some people are more sensitive than others. But anybody can become sensitive to poison ivy if sufficiently exposed to it. Yes, I know that as a boy I saw some others who were more or less immune chew poison ivy leaves and get away with it. It's a risky business. Because sometimes somebody gets too much, and becomes sensitive, and then he's in a peck of trouble.

Not only stay away from it, but learn to recognize the typical three-leaf design of the shiny plant. Even if you aren't sensitive, maybe you have your boss out for a weekend, and he or his wife, or children may be sensitive. He itches—but you'll suffer with him.

So in spite of precautions of this sort, what else can you do? If you know you are sensitive, lotions containing zinc oxide give some measure of protection, if you apply them before going out in the woods and fields. Or, if you've been out and think you've contacted the plant, prompt washing with a thick layer of soap will help by getting the sticky but invisible juice off your skin. Naptha soap is best for this as a rule.

If, in spite of all, the itch has broken out, easing it until the attack subsides is the only course left. Starch baths are good. Soaking hands, arms or legs in a weak solution (1,000 to 1) of potassium permanganate can also help. This is a poison, so avoid getting it in or near the mouth. It also leaves a dark brown stain on skin, towels, or clothes. Compresses soaked in Burrow's Solution are good. Calamine lotion is soothing.

In severe cases, your doctor may give injections (or oral doses) of the steroid drugs—cortisone or ACTH. Or, if you know in

Around The Rim

Why Sacrifice Even One?

I read a story the other day proclaiming the good record of July 4, in regards to deaths due to fireworks. This story said only one person died as a result of the explosives.

Relatively speaking, I suppose it was a good record. It was good compared with the number killed in accidents or murdered.

But I would hesitate to call any record good where a youngster is killed in the pursuit of entertainment.

Despite stringent law enforcement across the nation, fireworks are still sold. And despite the warnings of fire marshals and other safety officials, parents continue to buy them and hand them over to youngsters for play.

IN THIS MODERN age of entertainment, it seems impossible that it is necessary to risk a child's life in order to amuse him. The fact that one boy was killed is a senseless waste of life.

The Big Spring City Commission last year enacted an ordinance that makes explosives illegal within the city limits. It has long been illegal to sell them here. And each year, the city is ringed with stands selling the explosives. During the holiday, explosive reports could be heard throughout our neighborhood and, I suppose, throughout the city.

To really make a safe city, it requires more than a safe ordinance; it requires citizens who will enforce it by obeying it.

I know few parents who would allow their children to play with a pistol. Yet they will buy that child an explosive charge that could damage a hand, put out an eye, or even take a life. Firecrackers are normally not considered powerful enough to do that damage. But they are that powerful and often do those things.

I KNOW OF NO ONE more opposed to fireworks than A. D. Meador, Big Spring fire marshal. In his many years of experience, he has seen the often tragic results of children playing with explosives. And he is, in part, responsible for much of the safe legislation in the city in this regard.

His concern, and the city commission's action, will never be enough, however. It is going to be up to the rest of us. Either we sent a safe, sane holiday, or we don't. —V. GLENN COOTES

Women's Rights (?) In Conventions

SPORTS ARENA, LOS ANGELES.—Powerful politicians of both parties are of the Bourbon strain, incapable of remembering and powerless to forget.

So any words of wisdom pointed at the Republicans, even before the Democrats ended their convention, are doubtless written on the wind. But if the G. O. P. stalwarts now arranging the convention to open in Chicago on July 25 could and would remember how much they owe to the hard-working women members of their party, they would not only be giving credit where credit is due but might even fend off a feminine rebellion.

NEVER FOR A MOMENT, at any time in my life, have I believed that this is anything but a man's world. All this constant hokey about women owning 90 percent of everything and holding a lien on the other 10 percent, all this propaganda that we spend 47 per cent of the national income, is just so much eye-wash—put out by men.

In no other national phenomenon is it more apparent that men rule the roost than at a national political convention, every one of which I have attended since the Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia in 1936.

ANY MALE politician will tell you that in today's political picture, women form the majority, the base and the indispensable worker at the precinct level, in both parties. In a changing world, she has more time and often more zeal to devote to her party.

But I have never attended a political convention of either faction that, for all intents and purposes, didn't look like a stag party as far as the official program and the smoke-filled rooms are concerned.

The boys seem to feel they have acted big when they permit a woman to sing the Star-Spangled Banner, to make the official roll call, and semi-occasionally, read the report of some minor committee.

ON THE OFFICIAL program of the Democratic convention only one address by a woman is listed. The boys couldn't very well crowd out Mrs. Katie Louchheim, Vice Chairman and Director of Women's Activities in the Democratic National Committee.

But it was surely no surprise to any old hand at political conventions to note where the program committee had scheduled Katie's address. She was the first speaker at the interminable opening night ceremonies. In such a spot it does a woman no good to have the last word. By the time Katie got up to speak, the hall was emptying rapidly of those who had not finally grown to their seats. Katie was left speaking to the backs of those hurrying out of the Arena, trying to beat the traffic back to their hotels.

THE DEMOCRATS had a minor battle of the sexes on their hands at their $100-a-plate Harmony Dinner, as harmony went out the window when it was discovered that on the two-tiered dais, the seating committee had found not one single place for a prominent Democratic woman worker.

The only woman seated on the dais in the beginning was Judy Garland, who came to sing and remained to vote by crowd. In the next hour Paul Ziffren, California national committeeman and former chairman, took a classic chewing-out from various rightfully irate women leaders.

After two hours, he eventually seated Katie Louchheim on the dais among a clutch of hungry Democrats who hadn't done one-fourth as much for the party. When Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt arrived from New York at the dinner was half over, he had the grace to bow her to the dais when Sammy Davis Jr. got up and made room for the former First Lady.

FINALLY, when the dinner was all but over, the woman who had arranged it, Mrs. Edith Seron, was put on the dais. But the easy way to get on the dais, it was discovered, is not to be a party faithful, but to be the girl friend of Mort Sahl.

A young woman, toward the end of the evening, suddenly appeared from nowhere on the dais. When reporters asked her who she was, Mrs. Sahl, with the hauteur usually reserved in this region for Frank Sinatra, snarled, "She gets here because she's with me!"

Of course some bystanders may wonder how Mr. Sahl got on the dais, but that's another story.

And in the meantime, let the above story be a lesson to the gals who fight, bleed and die for their respective parties. (Copyright, 1960, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

The Democrats Have To Be Convincing

LOS ANGELES—You are here a while and you come to understand that the Democratic Convention has a double duty—not just to nominate a national ticket, but to restore the nation's faith in this procedure of finding a leader.

After absorbing the convention atmosphere, you also are apt to feel the onset of humility. Who is to judge the convention and its choice? How soon will we know whether wisdom has triumphed? By what token will we be told that the successful seeker of the nomination is the best available collection and combination of talents? I doubt if any of us observers will know at the end of this week if the convention has lived up to its enormous responsibilities. And I doubt if it's important that the snap judgment of observers be justified. Of transcendent importance is the previous question: Has the gathering of over 5,000 Americans, acting for the whole nation, affirmed the integrity of the convention system? Have we been given the right man? It will take awhile to tell.

BUT I THINK We can make some preliminary and tentative assessments. First, there is this: The Democratic Party is marvelously fecund and variable. It is reassuring to see that the oldest of American political parties has, after so long an existence (from 1800-1960), produced four down-to-the-line competitors who are astonishingly unlike and yet unmistakably of the same political family. These candidates can be judged this week, not on their pedestals, but in the heat and fury of action, where all the weaknesses of flesh and ambition are put to the test in public.

LET SOMEBODY SAY for Senator Jack Kennedy that his January to July campaign earned respect that was grudgingly and covertly given by his rivals during the convention week, but it should now be expressed without restraint. Kennedy showed himself to be an organizer in depth and detail, and showed himself and his followers to be able to pressurize, threaten and cajole without losing what is of most value to a gallant young campaigner his white plume of knighthood. I am writing without certainty of the Kennedy fortunes at this convention, but I am certain that knowledgeable Democrats who opposed Jack think better of him than they ever did before.

Senator Lyndon Johnson gave us a display of duty first before he came, an immensely refreshing outburst of honest anger against two powerful newspapers which he felt were doing him wrong, and an enviable ability at working under difficulties which a lesser man would have found unsurmountable. When all is over, and Congress reassembles in August, I hope good people will remember that Johnson, in the crucial January to July period, was a Majority Leader first and a candidate for the presidency afterwards. It will be easier to perceive, after the hard knocks of the convention, that Johnson could not have effectively run the huge Democratic majority of 65 Senators if he had been competing openly with two or three of them for the party nomination.

SENATOR STUART Symington ran as a dark horse without casting any sinister shadows. He judged many months ago that the Democrats would come down to the last few days of decision without seeing either Kennedy or Johnson as a clear and obvious choice. It was not an indication of weakness among the Democrats. The ambivalence was born of party richness and strength in candidates. Symington was able to stand and wait for something to break, but he did so without detracting from the prestige of the front runners or of himself.

AS FOR ADLAI Stevenson, he had the fortune to be his indecisive, self-doubting but intelligent self. It would have been unwise for him to have tried any earlier or to have restrained any longer. Adlai had to be the man he was—lacking Kennedy's ambition, never matching Johnson's leadership, failing in Symington's broad appeal, but still the enduring egg-head to the last—and proud of it.

This convention's double task is to make a wise choice—and on top of that, a convincing one. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Says Diet Is Easy

Ina Balin, a new contract player at 20th Century-Fox, tells how she lost eight pounds in one month on her favorite, easy diet. She will soon be seen in "From the Terrace."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Actress Gives Diet For Only Four Days

HOLLYWOOD—Ina Balin's performance in "From the Terrace" has pleased the executives at 20th Century-Fox that they have put her under a serious contract. She is a quiet, dark, serious young girl from New York. An acting product of the Broadway stage, she discovered that the wide screen made her look about 10 pounds heavier than she really is. "Everyone told me this," Ina said one afternoon as we sipped a fruit ice, "but I couldn't believe it. I wear a size 10, and I thought this wouldn't happen to me. "When I did, I was fortunate in finding a diet that worked. It's so discouraging to count calories without results. With my temperament, I prefer a short but severe diet. I can stay on this one four days, stay off for 10 and then repeat the diet another four. At the end of one month I had lost eight pounds. "For breakfast you are allowed two eggs, fixed any way but fried, half a grapefruit and coffee or tea. "Two eggs, one sliced tomato, four prunes and coffee or tea make up the diet lunch. "Dinner is two strips of baked, crisp bacon with all the fat dried out, two more eggs, four prunes and coffee or tea. "You don't alter this diet for the four days, but you may re-range the way you eat it. I like a good breakfast," Ina revealed, "so I had just two hardboiled eggs and coffee for lunch and balanced out the rest for the evening meal. "It helps to eat slowly and to take a vitamin supplement which your doctor can prescribe. And don't weigh yourself until after the third day. This diet often has a delayed reaction, and there's no use getting discouraged the first couple of days. "If you don't feel well on a diet, then it is not the one for you," Ina cautioned. "I happen to like eggs. You can do so many things with them—make omelets, scramble them in the top of a double boiler, poach them or boil them. "A point to consider," she told me, "is that raw or soft-boiled eggs are not as filling."

Travel, Vacation Can Be Carefree By Plans

This summer, according to travel authorities, some 80 million Americans will embark on a myriad of trips to all parts of the universe and spend around 11.5 billion dollars getting away from it all. Chances are three to one that you will enjoy a more carefree vacation by taking a few precautions. For foreign travel, begin your immunization at least two months before the start of any trip; then you won't have a sore arm during the hectic period of packing. Acquaint yourself with the required shots needed and keep your immunization register handy. If you do any driving, remember that the National Safety Council recommends that you drive no more than 350 miles a day. Arrange your trip schedule so that you arrive at your destination in daylight; stay at approved hotels, inns and pensions. When it comes to clothing, the main thing to prepare for is a change in the weather. Wear sensible shoes for sightseeing or walking on rough ground.

Holland, Belgium and Switzerland. Of course, ice cream, butter and fresh cheese are also taboo if the milk in the country is unsafe. As a safety rule, drink only refrigerated bottled water in these same areas. For some of us, exposure to the sun is an easy natural process but a frustrating problem for most of us. Regardless of your inherent ability to take the sun, overexposure may be dangerous. Also, don't be fooled by a cloudy day. Even though the sun is not visible, its ultra-violet rays filter through the clouds and can cause a severe burn. Burning can be kept to a minimum by gradually increasing exposure and by using a chemical which screens out most of the burning rays of the sun. TRAVEL ABROAD Of course, remedies should be intended only as preventives or as treatments for minor ills. The cardinal rule—if you get sick, call a doctor—holds true overseas as it does at home. Your travel agent office, airline, hotel, American consulate office or local medical society office can direct you to adequate medical attention almost anywhere. Make sure, however, if you are abroad, that the physician speaks and understands English. If you wear glasses, take an extra pair along, or carry the prescription for your lenses with you as an extra precaution. In addition to motion sickness remedies, your travel health kit should include ointment for sunburn, insect bites and skin irritations; adhesive bandages; foot powder to serve as an athlete's foot preventive; tablets for headache and muscular pains; a laxative and anti-acid and anti-diarrhea drugs for stomach upsets; and any other remedies suggested by your physician. Do not let needless health worries spoil your trip. With proper precautions you can make your vacation pleasant and memorable experience.

Rail Plea Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission heard a request Wednesday from the Texas & New Orleans Railroad seeking authority to abandon eight miles of track in the northern portion of Beaumont, Tex.

By Bob Smith

Jim Wade has exchanged his motorcycle for a desk, and the chasing of speeding motorists for the catering of food.

In short, the former motorcycle cop has gone into business as Herb Vinson's manager in the leasing of the Desert Sands Restaurant property. And this development may mean further expansion of Big Spring's entertainment field.

I dropped in on Jim two days ago to get the story and a free cup of java, and this is what he told me:

"Yes, I'm thinking of having entertainment . . . there's no place to go and nothing to do . . . the Desert Sands is in a perfect spot for local citizens, base personnel and tourists. . ."

Jim said he's working on enlistment of local talent and is thinking of bringing in professionals of the Southwestern circuit which passes through, but doesn't stop at, this city.

"There's room for the more intimate type of floor show or combo in the present Derrick Room which Jim is planning to turn into a lounge, and there's plenty more space in the dining room.

As for the art exhibitions, Jim plans to keep those for awhile. "In fact," he told me, "I may even set aside part of the front section, clear away one wall, and hang all the paintings there under special lighting."

Jim is married to the former Patsy Morton, whom you may remember as the "witch" in the local production of "Bell, Book and Candle."

Adele Josephson is the latest artist whose works hang in the Sands exhibit. Her paintings went up July 10 and will remain for one month.

A Snyder woman, Mrs. Josephson is a member of Big Spring's Las Artistas, and is recognized as a leading area artist. She has won many prizes, including first place in last September's Las Artistas exhibition.

The Sands exhibitions were arranged several months ago through the efforts of Terry Patterson, and local or area artists are featured each month.

Just received an envelope full of material from Dr. P. W. Malone from Aspen, Colo.

Aspen is the site of the summer music festival that draws from among the best in musical talent and the most appreciative of music lovers. A summer music school is held in conjunction with the festival.

Music isn't the only activity, however. An art movie, Alec Guinness' "The Prisoner," was shown, and lectures were presented on such subjects as "Racial Aspects of Economic and Social Change" and "Can the American Labor Movement Be Revitalized?"

Dr. Malone is well known locally as a music lover, and he may be seen setting up tape recording equipment before numerous Concert Association performances here. Some of his tapes can be classified as priceless, and he looks forward to hearing some of the Aspen recordings.

Amputates Own Foot

HILO, Hawaii (AP)—A 19-year-old Hilo man calmly amputated his own right foot Wednesday after he had slipped and a tractor-operated fertilizer agitator mangled his foot.

Police said Bernard R. Pacheco applied a tourniquet to his leg and limped about 100 feet for help.

Tummy Ache

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—A 13-year-old Pueblo girl, Cynthia Johnson, toppled in a faint and was taken to a hospital. When she was revived, she told a doctor: "I ate 15 bananas."

Today Is Doomsday For Religious Cult; 'Mercury Bomb' To Tilt World Off Axis

COURMAYEUR, Italy (AP)—This is doomsday for 100 people huddled in a building 7,150 feet up Europe's highest mountain, waiting for someone to set off a "mercury bomb" and tilt the world off its axis.

The followers of Dr. Elio Bianca, a bearded Milan pediatrician, were sure that the bomb, to be set off accidentally today but by whom they don't know, would send the seas boiling in over the lowlands of the earth. That's why they headed for Mt. Blanc at the start of the month.

Instead of a bomb, the blast may come from a big fireworks display. The police said they had been told that "certain gay young spirits" planned to set off the fireworks at the predicted hour of doom to scare the daylight out of the cultists.

Bianca and his followers were dug in at a "survival" pavilion nearly half way up the 15,780-foot peak in the Alps. They sealed the windows of the lower floor with concrete in case the waters got too high. Cracks in the walls were plugged with cotton to keep out radiation.

There was one hitch in their plan—10 boots they ordered to navigate after the deluge had not arrived from a sporting goods house in Genoa.

Bianca also took along food reserves and even some television sets, although no one could explain what he would do with them with all TV stations under water.

The police followed Bianca and his cultists up to their stronghold, but not because they believed his predictions. They were there to control any traffic jam and stop the antics of scoffers.

Bianca sternly announced he had no more room for last-minute believers. He had provisions for only 100 persons. Anyone else would have to camp some place else on Mt. Blanc or find another mountain.

Some Italians were highly upset at being left behind in the lowlands.

In Milan, girl workers at a textile factory refused to work and asked for a holiday during the cataclysm.

In the Alpine valley below "Survival Island," people took the whole thing calmly. A dance hall proprietor announced a contest tonight to elect "Miss End of the World."

Famous 5 Newscasters Made Selves Known At Convention

'Paul Drake' Likes Role As 2nd Banana

Editor's Note — The author of the following guest column plays Paul Drake, "Perry Mason," presented Saturdays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., over the CBS network.

By WILLIAM HOPPER
Written for The Associated Press
I guess I'm what you might call a dramatic second banana in television, and I think it's the best spot in the bunch.

As Paul Drake, the detective who acts as a kind of runner for Perry Mason, I can enjoy two great acting fulfillments—I'm creating a personality, and I'm needed. By that I don't mean that I'm indispensable, either as Bill Hopper or as Paul Drake. But the second banana is a necessary ingredient of a show like ours. If there weren't a Paul Drake, there'd have to be a character like him.

In less than an hour of show time, we have to tell a full story, and sometimes a pretty complicated one. Obviously there isn't time to include all the action that is necessary to the story and to full understanding of the details by the audience.

So, they have to be explained with a different device. In the "Perry Mason Show" you will notice that many of the necessary details—too minute to be presented in action but too important to the solution to be ignored—come out in conversations between the regular characters.

In one short phone conversation, Drake and Mason can let the audience in on story details that might take many minutes to enact on the screen. That's why, I say that I, or somebody like me, am a needed element in the show.

with the warm tones and fluent diction of the famous fivesome, if you "had" a pocket of credentials and if your arches could stand it, you could see them doing their cool work at the Democratic National Convention, Come along.

We climb the west side of the Sports Arena to ear-popping height until we reach the ABC booth hugging the ceiling. There we find John Daly, just as calm and unruffled as if he were joshing panelists on "What's My Line."

"This convention hasn't been so bad," he says with a genial grin. "Only five or six hours at a clip. I can remember one convention when I sat in this chair for 16 hours."

The heart of the ABC operation is to his right. Engineers and executives are lined up before screens that show the operations of the network cameras. Daly keeps in touch with them and also listens to a headset that gives him different messages in each ear. "A torture instrument," he calls it.

Come along for another rugged hike down the stairs and up on the east side of the arena, facing the rostrum. In this quiet height is an insulated booth where work Chet Huntley and David Brinkley. Only it doesn't look like work.

The NBC twins sit calmly at a table that places them 18 inches apart. Their curly heads untoussed, they glance at the TV screen and then out the window to the convention floor.

Is The Shootin' All Over Now?

The jittery are hanging on for this jaguar at the Dallas Zoo, but he finally ventured out of his corner after a hectic Fourth of July weekend. Zoo officials believe the jaguar is still unnerved by the crowds of yelling youngsters, all the firecrackers in the distance, and generally the spirited commotion that accompanied the long holiday weekend.
