Dixie Bolt Urged

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Gov. Ross Barnett has taken the lead in urging a Southern bolt from the Democratic party.

Barnett said Monday night, upon returning from the Democratic National Convention, he favored reconvening Mississippi's Democratic convention to support a third party movement.

The Mississippi governor, who bitterly opposed the Democrats' civil rights plank, said the Democratic platform was "so horrible, so repulsive, so obnoxious, and so contrary to our form of government, I don't see how the people of the South can accept it."

Although Barnett indicated he didn't think there was "any chance of Mississippi going along with the Republican nominees," some Mississippi Democrats will be following the Republican National Convention closely in hopes of finding a platform and candidate they can support.

THIRD PARTY

Some Mississippi Democrats appear willing to join with Republican conservatives. State Sen. W. B. Alexander of Boyle has suggested a third party headed by GOP Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

The Democrats moved to satisfy the South by nominating Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas as Sen. John Kennedy's running mate.

Many Southerners, however, think Johnson is too liberal on civil rights, although others have indicated his nomination for vice president will enable them to support the party's ticket.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia conceded today that the addition of Sen. Lyndon Johnson strengthened the ticket in his state but whether enough he declined to say at present.

"We were run over roughshod at the national convention," he declared. "Then they suddenly became frightened and named Sen. Johnson in an effort to carry the South. We are not happy about it."

MEANER PLANK

The Georgian spoke out vigorously against any shift to the Republican ticket, predicting that party will adopt a "meaner" civil rights plank than the Democrats. In the past he also has frowned on a third party movement.

Georgia's alternative, he indicated, would be to withhold its electoral votes from the Democratic nominees.

Police School

Police Lt. Stanley Bogard began the police traffic school for rookies Monday with a lecture on Big Spring traffic ordinances. Today, Bogard was to discuss accident investigation. The class will take up traffic law enforcement Wednesday and Thursday will be given over to searches, seizures and courtroom procedures, instructed by City Attorney John Burgess.

Fancher Injured By Gun Blast

LAMESA — An accidental shotgun blast caught Jack Fancher, 50, in the chest today and narrowly missed taking his life. At the Medical Arts Hospital, where he was taken for treatment, his condition was described as satisfactory. The pellets which struck him in the right chest emerged under his right arm and apparently skirted the rib cage, missing the lung cavity.

Fancher told Sheriff Henry C. Mayfield that he must have lain on the ground for an hour after a 16 gauge shotgun discharged when he was removing it from his pickup truck. He had arrived at his home, four miles southeast of Lamesa, about a quarter of an hour past midnight. No one else was home at the time. Finally, Fancher managed to crawl into the house and get on a bed, where he was discovered by other members of the family who returned about 2 a.m., said Sheriff Mayfield.

Soviets Claim U. S. Party In Congo, Demand Ouster

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today demanded that the United States withdraw a detachment of 20 armed men which it said had landed at Leopoldville in the Congo.

The only American soldiers known to be in the Leopoldville area are ground crews and technicians aiding in the unloading of U.N. troops and food and helicopter units on missions rescuing stranded whites.

The warning was issued by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to the charge d'affaires Edward I. Freers. Freers was called to the Foreign Office to receive another note protesting any delivery of missiles to West Germany. After delivering the missile note, Gromyko delivered the warning on the Congo verbally.

BULLETINS

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Patrice Lumumba said Tuesday night his ultimatum to the United Nations to get Belgian troops out of the Congo expires at midnight. He indicated he still is considering an appeal to the Soviet Union for help.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. announced today that Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld will leave Saturday for the troubled Congo. A U.N. press statement did not say why he was going.

Belgians Leave Congo's Capital; U. N. Takes Over

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Belgian soldiers began pulling out of Leopoldville today, leaving U. N. forces to keep the peace within the capital.

U. N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche told newsmen the withdrawal is scheduled to be completed by 7 p. m. Saturday.

Premier Patrice Lumumba had threatened to ask for Soviet aid if the Belgians were not out of the Congo by midnight tonight, but the commander of U. N. military forces said that "does not worry us at all." The U. N. Security Council in New York is taking another look at the Congo situation Wednesday.

The Belgian soldiers, called in to protect white residents from bands of mutinous Congolese soldiers, are pulling back to their Congo bases. It is not expected that they will return to Belgium. Congo bases were guaranteed to them by treaty with the Congo government.

Lumumba insists, however, the treaty became a dead letter when Belgian soldiers were flown into the Congo after the outbreak of the Congo army mutiny earlier this month.

Leopoldville is one of 20 urban centers taken over by Belgian forces after the Congo won independence June 30.

Even the Leopoldville Airport, an escape hatch for many of the 25,000 whites who have fled the Congo, will be taken over by the U. N. from its Belgian guards.

A communique on these arrangements was issued by Bunche after he had a long meeting with Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn, commander of U. N. forces in the Congo and the Belgian ambassador and Belgian army chief of staff.

'Don't Touch Cuba,' Russia Warns U. S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today gave the United States a blunt warning: "Don't touch Cuba." Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev said his country was not threatening the United States with its rockets, but he added: "Don't threaten Cuba with your might, because other countries have might."

Sobolev also declared in a U.N. Security Council debate that the Soviet Union will defeat alleged U.S. efforts to overthrow the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro by an economic war.

He said the Socialist countries are prepared to give Cuba economic help to make sure the Castro government can withstand any U.S. restrictions.

Sobolev strongly opposed a move to transfer the complaint of the Castro government against the United States to the Organization of American States. He said that organization was completely dominated by the United States and would handle the case as the United States wanted it to.

"The United States," he said, "is trying to organize an economic blockade to strangle Cuba and prevent the government from exercising its sovereign rights over its natural resources."

Sobolev attacked U.S. policy generally, but charged specifically that the United States had a long record of interfering in the internal affairs of Latin American countries.

Sobolev spoke as the 11-nation Security Council prepared to vote on an Argentine-Ecuadorian resolution to shift the Cuban-United States controversy to the Organization of American States. Nine members of the council spoke in favor of the resolution Monday.

Castro in a television appearance in Havana Monday night assailed the move to refer the dispute to the OAS, saying the United States had less influence in the United Nations than in the OAS. But Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa, representing the Castro regime in the Security Council debate, privately accepted the resolution.

NEW PROPOSAL
Because of Roa's acceptance, some delegates believed the Soviet Union would either vote for the resolution or abstain on the vote. But in case of a Soviet veto, Argentina and Ecuador were reported ready to substitute a procedural proposal that would have the same effect but would not be subject to the veto.

The original resolution noted that the Cuban-U.S. dispute is under consideration in the 21-nation OAS and called on the council:

1. "To adjourn the consideration of this question pending the receipt of a report" from the OAS.
2. To invite the OAS members "to lend their assistance toward the achievement of a peaceful solution."
3. To urge "all other states to refrain from any action which might increase the existing tensions between Cuba and the United States."

The Premier and President Joseph Kasavubu returned to Leopoldville today from Stanleyville, 775 miles northeast of the capital, where they went three days ago, after Belgian troops took control in Leopoldville.

The OAS Council in Washington voted unanimously to call a meeting of American foreign ministers to consider Caribbean tensions. The organization's Inter-American Peace Committee also has before it a U.S. memorandum accusing Cuba of false propaganda against the United States. This was considered directed at the Soviet Union, Premier Nikita Khrushchev having threatened a rocket attack on the United States if U.S. forces intervene in Cuba.

Damage Suit Lodged Against Gas Company

M. G. Bissey, Lamesa, filed suit for $203,000 today, naming Pioneer Natural Gas Co. as defendant. The suit stems from an explosion which shattered the ladies lounge of Guy's Cafe in the 3100 Block on Highway 80 last Jan. 6. Bissey's petition was filed in 118th District Court this morning—the fifth suit for damages to be filed in the court in the past three days.

He alleges that he and his wife, Vivian, 45, were in Big Spring on Jan. 6 and stopped at Guy's Cafe at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Bissey went to the ladies lounge. Almost simultaneously with her entrance, there was an explosion in the room. Mrs. Bissey, according to the petition, was severely burned about the face, arms, legs and hands. She had to be hospitalized for several weeks and her husband said skin grafting had to be used to heal the burned areas. He claims her face is permanently scarred and disfigured.

He alleges that the defendant corporation was at fault and that he should be paid $203,000 to compensate him and Mrs. Bissey for the accident.

Cantrell Takes Sterling Office

STERLING CITY—W. O. (Bill) Green, who has been sheriff of Sterling County for nearly nine years, has resigned from that office effective Aug. 1. Green plans to move to Everton, Ark., where he owns land and will operate a ranch.

Green will be succeeded in office by Jim Cantrell, Cantrell, who has lived in Sterling County about four years, was formerly a highway patrolman. He ran for sheriff in the primaries this year and was elected. Green did not seek re-election.

Cantrell has been appointed by the Sterling County Commissioners to succeed Green when the latter leaves office Aug. 1. He will fill out the remainder of Green's term and begin his own term of office next January.

During one scuffle between Catholics and pro-Castro youths Monday, an American woman and her two sons were dragged from a passing car, and the eldest boy was beaten on the head with steel bars after he had started to take pictures of the fight. It was the first known physical attack on Americans here since Castro took power.

Castro was visibly disturbed by the expected Security Council action leaving the U. S.—Cuban dispute up to the OAS. The United States, he declared, is "judge and jury" in the hemisphere because most of the nations are small and impoverished like Cuba, and "Cuba's disadvantage in a dispute with the powerful United States in the OAS is clear."

It would be therefore vulnerable to the same weapons the United States has used against Cuba. He defended his own acceptance of Soviet economic offers and indicated he would accept Soviet military aid.

"If you know you are going to be murdered and someone comes and tells you he is going to help keep you from getting killed, are you going to reject that help?" he asked.

Castro called the Monroe Doctrine "ancient and worn-out" and accused the United States of using it to "assume the right of piracy."

Delaware Loses School Appeal

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today struck down Delaware's grade-year school desegregation plan and ordered full integration of the state's public schools to begin in the fall of 1961.

The court also directed that 20 Negro students who had attacked the gradual desegregation plan should be admitted to Delaware public schools this fall.

In so doing, the court upheld an appeal by Louis L. Redding, Wilmington, Del., attorney for the children who contended segregation of the races is illegal and that the plan for total integration by 1972 did not comply with a U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

The Delaware Board of Education's grade-year plan went into effect last September with the approval of U.S. District Judge Paul Leahy.

Chief Judge John Biggs Jr., writing the majority opinion for the three-judge court, said Leahy's decision did not conform to rulings of the Circuit Court or the Supreme Court. Today's decision was by a 2-1 vote.

Last year, 20 Negro pupils were admitted to first grade classes in Delaware's school system. This fall, under the plan struck down today, Negroes would have reached the second grade. By 1972, Negroes would have been seated in all 12 grades.

Reading contended that none of the pupils he represented—there were 42 originally—would ever be integrated since all were above the first grade level when the plan went into effect.

Personal U.S. Income Increases
WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal income of Americans climbed to a record rate of $405,750,000,000 a year last month. The increase was a billion dollars over May.

The Commerce Department reported Monday that total wage and salary payments rose by about 300 million dollars in June despite a decline in factory payrolls due to a slowdown in the steel and automotive industries.

Dead Man Found Here
An elderly man, not definitely identified, was found dead on the southwest corner of the Big Spring State Hospital property shortly before noon today.

The man appeared to have been dead for four or five days. Sheriff's deputies and Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, were investigating the death at noon. It was believed death was due to natural causes.

The body, fully clothed and lying face down, was found by a youth who was working in a field nearby.

Prayer Marathon Held As Court Hears School Case
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A church youth group has launched a round-the-clock prayer marathon during a trial testing the constitutionality of Florida's law which requires reading of the Bible in public schools.

Thirty members of the Shenandoah Presbyterian Church are taking one-hour shifts reading the Bible while the trial, expected to be carried to the U.S. Supreme Court, progresses.

Circuit Judge J. Fritz Gordon is presiding over trial of two companion suits, one brought by a self-styled agnostic and the other by a group of Jewish leaders and a Unitarian.

Harlow Chamberlin, a radio advertising salesman who describes himself as an agnostic, is backed in his suit by the Florida Civil Liberties Union. Webster's Dictionary defines agnostic as "one who subscribes to the doctrine that the existence and nature of God are unknown and unknowable."

Three Jewish parents and a Unitarian woman filed a companion suit seeking to prohibit religious activities in schools, including Bible reading, baccalaureate programs, use of religious symbols, and observance of Christmas, Easter, Hanukkah and other religious holidays.

Asphalt is spread and tamped in holes along NW 12th today as the city patching crew continues where it left off Monday. Bernardo Garcia, shoveling a load of the patching material from the truck, and his partner, Juan Garcia, fill the holes and cracks in the street, then use a bar to pack it tightly. The patching operations, especially necessary after the rain, were started on the North Side where streets appeared to be in a worse condition. Dirt is being hauled in to fill unpatched streets that washed out. When work on the North Side is completed, the patching crew will begin mending damaged streets in the southern portions of the city. An asphalt distributor, which will enable the city to start resurfacing streets, will probably be ready for use next week.

Train Hits Truck

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A 17-unit Milwaukee Road passenger train slammed into a trailer-truck Monday. Dozens of passengers on the afternoon Hiawatha en route to Chicago suffered minor injuries; 10 were hospitalized overnight.

The truck driver, Robert Kensler, 31, St. Paul, escaped injury.

OIL NEWS

Midwest Stakes Howard Explorer

Midwest Oil Corporation of Midland has spotted a new wildcat in Howard County about 16 miles north of Big Spring. New field sites have been staked in Martin and Mitchell counties.

The explorer, No. 1 J. C. Haney, will drill to 10,000 feet in a probe for the Pennsylvania section. Pan American has staked No. 12-B F. D. Bredlove in Martin County for a test of the Bredlove (Devonian) field. It is slated to drill to 12,700 feet.

In Mitchell County, C. D. Turner will test the Westbrook field at No. 1 Jack McKinney, drilling to 5,200 feet.

Jack Hawkins Trustee No. 1-19 Glass, Sterling County wildcat, has been plugged and abandoned at 2,665 feet.

Amerada No. 1-A Moore, Lamesa, West field project, has been dually completed in the Mississippi and Spraberry sections.

Operator has finished the project in the Mississippi section for a calculated flow of 540.36 barrels of oil per day. The Spraberry section, completed two weeks ago, flowed 251 barrels of oil per day on initial potential.

Dawson Amerada No. 1-A Moore is a completion in the Mississippi section, flowing a calculated 540.36 barrels of oil per day on a one-half inch choke. Project flowed 270.18 barrels of oil, with no water, in 12 hours on potential. Tubing pressure is 150 pounds. Gas volume is 295,000 cubic feet per day, and gas-oil ratio is 546-1.

The open hole section is between 11,551-477 feet. This is a dual completion with the Spraberry section between 7,920-63 feet and 8,021-40 feet. It is 1,910 feet from north and 630 feet from west lines of section 14-36-5a, T&P survey.

Consumption At Low Ebb City water consumption remained relatively low Monday with 5,522,000 gallons pumped to Big Spring customers. The filter plant took 5,800,000 gallons out of the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir.

Last year on the same date, 3,912,000 gallons were taken from the CRMWD reservoir, with 2,552,000 gallons pumped out of the filter plant for residents' use.

Senate Panel Charges Border Towns Push Youth Trouble

By TEX EASLEY AP News Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee says the dubious attractions offered by three Mexican cities located near the U. S. border contribute to the rising tide of juvenile delinquency.

Juarez, on the opposite bank of the Rio Grande from El Paso, was one of the three Mexican cities mentioned in a report on juvenile delinquency recently made public by the subcommittee.

The other two are Tijuana, Calif., which the report termed "one of the vice capitals of the world," and Nogales, across from Nogales, Ariz., described as by far the cleanest of the three.

At present, the report said, the only restriction on unescorted juveniles attempting to cross the border is maintained by the San Diego police department. This serves to deter delinquent activity, the report said, but does not solve the problem.

With reference to proposals made in El Paso and elsewhere that the government forbid youths from crossing into Mexico unless accompanied by an adult, the subcommittee said objections have been voiced by some that this would be unconstitutional. And, some said, an insult to Mexico.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Sen. Roman L. Hruska (R-Neb.), commenting on this aspect, said: "The practice of local authorities denying permission to juveniles to cross the international border clearly raises problems of serious constitutional and legal nature so as to put this subcommittee on guard as to how sympathetically such practice should be regarded."

"At stake are fundamental civil rights of our fellow citizens, as well as the good relations with our neighbors to the south."

The committee doesn't make any specific recommendations as to what can be done about the situation, it notes that the Senate has passed a bill—now before the House—that would provide federal funds for aid to states.

Florida Governor Visits Lyndon JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Democratic nominee for vice president, was host today to Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida and his family.

The Florida family slipped into Austin unannounced Monday night after a long drive from El Paso. At first Collins declined an invitation to visit Johnson's ranch 84 miles west of Austin, saying he must get an early start today for Florida.

After a personal call from the Senate majority leader, Collins, his wife and three daughters, were flown to the LBJ Ranch late Monday night. A Johnson aide said Collins and the senator stayed up until after midnight talking.

Collins was chairman of the recent Los Angeles National Convention. The governor planned to fly back to Austin and resume the drive to Florida today.

Ike, Advisers Meet On Soviet Threats

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower conferred with key advisers today to deal with the Soviet Union's increasingly bitter propaganda attacks on the United States.

The President called to the summer White House for an afternoon meeting a strategy-mapping team headed by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Charles E. Bohlen, former ambassador to Moscow and now a State Department specialist on Soviet problems.

Also sitting in were Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary in charge of the United Nations matters. That array of officials whose top concern at the moment is the Kremlin propaganda offensive, underscores the administration's apparent decision that the time has come to get tough with the Soviet Union, to slam back at anti-American charges.

TOPICS GIVEN An Eisenhower spokesman said the conference today would deal with: 1. Shaping "the U.S. reply before the United Nations Security Council to Soviet charges that the American Air Force is engaged in aggressive activities threatening peace. That accusation is pegged specifically to the July 1 episode of U.S. RB47 plane.

The reconnaissance aircraft was shot down in the Arctic by the Russians, who claim the plane violated Soviet frontiers. Washington denies it, saying the plane was over international waters and by a curfew which prohibits their passage back into the United States from 12 midnight until 6 o'clock in the morning. Military police, working closely with customs officials at the border checkpoints, enforce this regulation rigidly.

Jap Premier Lines His Nation With U. S., West TOKYO (AP)—Japan's new premier, Hayato Ikeda, aligned his government firmly with the Western democracies today. He rejected a foreign policy of neutrality and pledged to work for greater prosperity at home.

In his first news conference since succeeding Premier Nobusuke Kishi, Ikeda also: 1. Criticized Kishi's tactics in winning parliamentary ratification of the controversial U. S.-Japanese security treaty; 2. Proposed interparty meetings to improve relations between his own Liberal-Democratic party and the Socialist opposition; 3. Advocated restoration of normal relations with Red China and more cultural and economic exchange with the Red mainland.

"I will not adopt a neutralist policy," he declared. "I will stick to the alliance of the Western three nations."

His criticism of the treaty ratification apparently was aimed at Kishi's summoning of police into Parliament to quell rioting by the Socialists. "The use of violence against violence must be avoided," he said but did not indicate what he would have done.

Ikeda's biggest immediate problem is the labor dispute at the Mike coal mines in southern Kyushu, where rival unions have been involved in frequent bloody clashes. The Sohyo labor federation and the extremist Zengakuren student federation, which played leading roles in barring President Eisenhower from Japan, are seeking to exploit the situation.

Sands FFA Sends Six To Meeting A delegation of six Future Farmers of America members, representing the Sands (Ackerly) FFA Chapter, will attend the 33rd State Convention of the national organization July 20-22 in Houston.

Headed by Bob Smith, the group will be accompanied by W. R. Jones, vocational agriculture teacher and FFA advisor. Others in the group will be Lonnie Taylor, Weldon Martin and Dean Newsum.

Five thousand Future Farmers are expected at the convention, which will be held in the Houston Coliseum.

In addition to business sessions, awards and honors, a tour of the Houston area is being arranged for Thursday and a "Fun Night" including the FFA talent contest, is slated for Wednesday.

Snyders Have Penn. Visitors Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Blake and daughter Lee, of Philadelphia, Pa., stopped here overnight Monday to visit with the R. H. Snyders.

Blake is Snyder's nephew. The Blakes are en route to Los Angeles where they will visit a son and his family. They will also see a seven-month-old grandson for the first time.

Security Council Issue. The regime of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has charged the United States with aggressive intent. Eisenhower has stated that the Castro government is deliberately hostile to the United States.

The Soviet Union fits into that picture by virtue of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pledge of full support to Castro and a threat to hit this country with Soviet rockets if it dares intervene in Cuba.

DEVELOPMENTS There were these related developments Monday as the U.S. Soviet tension mounted: 1. The United States formally accused the Soviet Union of illegally detaining the two American survivors aboard the American reconnaissance plane Soviet fighters brought down July 1. The State Department demanded immediate release of the two airmen.

2. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, accused the Soviet Union of lying in saying that the U.S. aircraft carrier Wasp and an American tanker were attempting to assist Belgian forces in the Congo.

The Russians had contended, Hagerty said, that the Wasp was anchored at the mouth of the Congo River and that the tanker was close by.

"Actually the carrier is almost 1,000 miles south of the Congo," Hagerty said Monday, "and the tanker is much farther than that."

3. Eisenhower urged the American people to analyze the plight of Soviet-dominated countries and "recommit themselves to support of the just aspirations" of those countries for freedom.

In a proclamation designating this as Captive Nations Week the President said many nations have been taken over by "imperialistic and aggressive policies of Soviet communism."

No Polio Cases Here No polio cases have been reported in Howard County this summer, according to Dr. Bowen, County Health Officer.

This compares with 19 cases of paralytic polio in Texas for the month of June. Texas reported 92 cases for the corresponding period last year.

Non-paralytic polio also showed a significant drop with a total of 14 cases in the state compared to 39 cases last year.

The series of three Salk anti-polio shots has proven successful, and parents are urged to have their children of pre-school age protected with the shots.

A fourth booster shot is recommended for added protection by the Texas State Department of Health.

Burglars Tap Drink Machines Two soft drink machines were burglarized of small amounts of change during the past 24 hours.

Sam's Lounge, 400 NW 3rd, and Vic Ames service station, 4th and Benton, were the victims.

Aron Goolsby, 1011 N. Gregg, reported that a wrist watch and pocket knife were taken from the glove compartment of his pickup truck while it was parked in front of his home.

Kennedy Attempts To Unify Democrats

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy is using the same methodical tactics which won him the Democratic presidential nomination in a state-by-state drive to mold bickering Democrats into harmony.

Kennedy, on vacation at his summer home here, planned more boating and swimming today along with his firm-handed behind-the-scenes peacemaking.

His forces were reported under instructions to move swiftly in trouble spots to produce the disciplined one-for-all sort of campaign organization he demands.

Kennedy disclosed Monday he will assign an executive campaign director to every state, choosing them in collaboration with the party's state organizations.

Aides said the idea is to pull into cohesive effort recognized Democratic groups, including those which don't get along together very well or not at all. There are several of them—in California and New York, for instance.

In a Los Angeles speech Saturday directed specifically to the Democratic National Committee,

Juvenile Board Organizes, Interviews Job Applicant

Bill McGuire, graduate of Sul Ross College in social science and recently a coach at Hermleigh High School, was interviewed by members of the County City-School Juvenile Board Monday.

McGuire is an active applicant for appointment as juvenile officer for the new agency which will begin functioning around Jan. 1.

The committee, comprising representatives from the county, city and schools, met primarily for the purpose of perfecting an organization. Bobo Hardy, YMCA director, was selected as vice president and Mrs. Roscoe Cowper was chosen as secretary.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, is president of the group.

The committee took no action on McGuire's application. Members said they hope to interview additional applicants. The board made it clear that it prefers a college

ET Banker Is Interested In Coahoma Bank

Organizing committee for the proposed new state bank at Coahoma was deeply interested in the qualifications of an unidentified banker whom they interviewed on Sunday as a possible president of the new Howard County institution.

Ed Carpenter, county judge and a member of the organizing committee, said that the prospect is now president of a bank in a town of 300 population in East Texas. In the time he has served as president, Carpenter said that deposits have doubled and earnings have been good. This man, the committee said, is interested in becoming president of the Coahoma bank, if it is formed, and is willing to invest $25,000 of his own money in the enterprise.

The committee made no decision on the matter of a president at its Sunday meeting. Meantime, Carpenter said more pledges to buy stock have been received and the sponsors are much encouraged by the interest being displayed.

Family Dead, Mother In Shock

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cooley Jr., had been married for 13 years. Their family grew to include two handsome sons and a pretty daughter. Now their family is destroyed. Only the mother lives, under hospital treatment for shock.

Her children—John, 11; Franklin, 9; and Elizabeth, 5—were dead, victims of bullets fired into their heads apparently as they slept. Her husband also was dead.

Police said it appeared John Cooley, 40, an unemployed television engineer, did the shooting. Six shots were fired from his German war souvenir automatic which was found at his feet.

The bodies were found by Mrs. Cooley when she returned from work Monday morning.

Charges Against Ex-Turncoat To Die

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Charges of driving while intoxicated brought by police against Claude Batchelor, a soldier imprisoned for collaboration with the Chinese Reds in the Korean conflict, will be rejected, Asst. Dist. Atty. Tony Ferro said Monday.

Batchelor, 28, formerly of Kermit, Tex., was arrested July 9. He was booked but formal charges have not been filed.

Ferro said tests administered by Police Lt. Joe Morales failed to show the concentration of alcohol necessary to support the charges.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get PASTETH at drug counters everywhere.

Violent Blast In Store Kills 8 People, Hurts 13

MERRILL, Wis. (AP)—A violent explosion turned the J. C. Penney Co. department store into a pile of twisted, charred debris Monday. Eight persons were killed and 13 injured.

"We don't know what caused it," said Mayor Ralph Voigt. "It's a terrible thing for us."

The identified dead were Einar Seger, 55, a customer in the store and former clerk for this village of 10,000 in northern Wisconsin; Mrs. Louis Hamilton, Mrs. Geraldine Wissen, and Mrs. Lawrence Barchardt, all employees; Mrs. George Erickson and her mother—Mrs. Amanda Evans; shoppers; Mrs. Carl Yorde and her son, 12.

I. S. Stats and John McHale, of the State Industrial Commission, began an investigation into the cause of the blast.

The one-story modern building was located on the same site where an A&P supermarket was destroyed by an explosion July 12, 1951. The blast was then blamed on an accumulation of gas in an adjoining building. Officials of the Merrill City Gas Utility said the Penney explosion "could not possibly" have been caused by a gas leak. They said none of their pipes are connected to the building.

6 Insurance Firms Slapped

AUSTIN (AP)—Six more companies in the W. L. Bridges organization have been placed in receivership.

Dist. Judge Harris Gardner granted Monday an application filed by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson for temporary injunctions. Five of the companies are mutual assessment insurance firms.

The sixth, Sportsman's Paradise Corp. of Dallas, was also turned over to state receiver C. H. Langdeau. Wilson charged it was operated by Bridges as part of his insurance holdings to extract money illegally from other insurance firms.

Placed in temporary receivership were Rains Service Insurance Co. of Marshall, with an alleged insolvency of $241,316; Rains and Talley Burial Assn. of Marshall, $5,646; the Palms Burial Assn. of Houston, $16,928; the Palms Life Insurance Co. of Houston, $14,731; and the Western Mutual Life Assn. of Sweetwater, $22,048.

Claude Meadows, San Angelo, Dies

SAN ANGELO (AP)—A former San Angelo city manager and a former member of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, Claude Meadows Sr., 76, died Monday.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

This day in 1876 was a banner one for the inhabitants of Fort Worth and West Texas.

For the first Texas & Pacific Railway locomotive chugged into town, stopping at what is now Boaz Street and Lancaster Avenue.

The engine's whistle cord was tied down and the local newspaper editor was frantically shoveling coal to keep up the steam pressure.

The coming of the railroad ended three years of economic panic for the new town. Fort Worth enjoyed something of a boom about 1870, when it was expected that the "iron horse" would link the frontier with older Texas communities.

But the rails stretched as far as Eagle Ford and then stopped, 26 miles away from the limits of the newly incorporated town, which had grown to boast a population of 5,000. The failure of Jay Cooke & Company, holding most of the liens against the new railroad and also against considerable Fort Worth property, brought immediate panic.

Then it was, according to most versions, that the Dallas "Herald" printed the statement that "Fort Worth was so dead he had seen a panther lying asleep and unmolested in its main street."

The Fort Worth fire department bought a panther cub for its mascot, and the "Panther City" has boasted of its nickname ever since.

Tired Feeling Causes Business Failure

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Every day many men fail to make a good living because they are not well.

Salesmen especially reap a jumbo-sized penalty when that "tired feeling" robs them of the vim, vitality and enthusiasm that is so very necessary to successful selling. A tired, "I don't care" attitude kills any hope of success and often drives an otherwise ambitious man to drink instead of searching for the cause of his trouble.

Men are too proud to admit illness. They stand with clenched teeth and brush off the suggestion of illness because they mistakenly associate illness with weakness. That's why apparently strong men collapse and die in their prime, that might otherwise have lived to enjoy the fruits of their labors.

It's much smarter to consider your body as a machine and as your most valuable money-making machine—an electrically driven machine that needs an ignition system over-haul just like any other piece of electrical equipment.

Consider this case as a good example of what can happen to this body machine of ours. A successful business man of 55 years came to the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic complaining of awakening tired in the mornings and severe dizziness when he stood up. He related he was extremely nervous, constantly "keyed up", easily upset and irritated, his employees caught the effects too. He had "noises" in his ears suffered a constant sinus drainage, often had a sick stomach, previously diagnosed as ulcers, previous jaundice, low blood pressure, difficult urination and under weight. Our routine spinal analysis located defective nerves and X-ray revealed misaligned vertebrae causing nerve interference. Corrective adjustments, after a period of time, removed the offending vertebral nerve disturbances and he was amazed as symptom after symptom disappeared. He comes in for his periodic spinal check-up all smiles and enjoys the best of health. Number 1639.

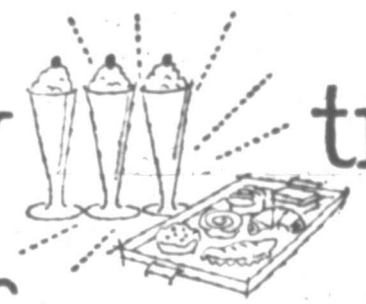

Millions of successful case histories such as this one have made chiropractic the second largest non-medical healing art in the world. Results speak for themselves. Because you have tried everything else is no reason to give up hope. There is a good chance that what chiropractic has done for others, it can do for you. But you must want to be helped! Investigate! What can you lose except your ill health?

A Devotional For Today

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. (Psalms 121: 1)
PRAYER: Dear God, we thank Thee for giving us a heart cleansed through the sacrificial death of Thy Son Jesus Christ. We thank Thee for the joy that comes to us as we serve and worship Thee. In His name. Amen. (From The "Upper Room")

New Housing Market From Oldsters

Climate is a consideration when old folks start looking for a place to retire to, if their economic status is such that they can be choosy.

The Arizona Development Board recently estimated that retired couples were moving into the state at the rate of one per hour. At the same time, it predicted that within the next three years, retirement will be Arizona's second-largest factor.

To a certain extent Arizona seems to have pioneered the idea of "retirement communities," designed especially for retired people, where they can get away from the bustle and bustle of urban life and be associated in a community with others in their age bracket.

There are several such developments, with more to come. Some feature low-priced, attractive homes ($9,000 to $11,000, with 90 per cent, conventional 25-year mortgages available to people of any age, with complete city services and facilities).

As for climate, Texas itself can offer any variety of the human heart may desire, and if Arizona is finding retirement communities attractive to people from other states, there may be some developers in Texas who'd like to try their hand at it. Some of our smaller communities have been most astute in appealing to the retired couples.

Catering to retired people clearly is getting to be a big business in this country. Their numbers are destined to increase rather than decline.

Driver Education Essential

As much as possible matters not pertinent specifically to the educational process should be kept off the curriculum and off the campus of the public schools.

This was the view of the State Board of Education in rushing up Gov. Daniel's request that the board back a bill to provide driving instruction at the same pay as classroom teachers. The governor's request was made through the director of the governor's Highway Safety Commission. No, said the board, overwhelmingly.

Now it is right and proper that children be given driving instruction; it has been carried on for years with pronounced success.

But school boards have been criticized for letting almost any subject any community request be inserted in the curriculum to be manned and paid for out of school funds. Some of these incidental subjects may be far-fetched indeed, and most school boards, we imagine, are tired of being criticized—justly in some instances no doubt—for neglecting the meat-and-potatoes of public school instruction—to take care of some or side courses of dubious value.

Driving instruction is important and valuable, but it should be possible to operate such a course with outside contributions without unduly burdening the school's budget. The kids get their reward by not having to take the customary examination—if they pass the course. The public gets its reward by having just that many more trained drivers on the roads and streets.

The San Antonio Express recently termed the average young male driver a national disgrace. His insurance is twice as high for the family, or on his own account triple the single adult rate. They figure in collisions which accounted for 8,400 traffic deaths in the last year. Driver training becomes essential.

Marquis Childs An Analysis Of Jack Kennedy

LOS ANGELES — The intellectuals around Sen. John F. Kennedy like to trace a parallel with Franklin D. Roosevelt. They see his rise to power, including his nomination and the selection of Lyndon B. Johnson as his running mate, following the pattern of F.D.R.

Roosevelt made a deal in the 1932 convention that nominated him to take a Texan, John Nance Garner, as his vice president. Roosevelt had a brains trust and at the same time he had shrewd politicians doing the necessary with the Democratic organization from the big city machines to the smallest counties. Similarly in the rich Kennedy stable there are horses for every purpose.

WHEN ROOSEVELT was inaugurated he faced a crisis such as few men in America's history have confronted. With the last of the banks closing their doors, the economy had collapsed. But if Kennedy is elected President he will have to wrestle with problems at least as grave as any man who has occupied the White House in the past century. From every side come reports of the swift deterioration of the orderly world the older generation has known.

How is Kennedy equipped to face the task ahead, first the campaign and then, if he is elected, the ordeal of the presidency? Like Roosevelt, he is self-contained, reserved, revealing what may be his inmost self to few, if any, of the hundreds who work with him and see him at firsthand.

HE IS A LONER, a student of history with a strong sense of his own role in the history of his times. Given this reservation—that he is something of an enigma and likely to remain so despite the fierce light of publicity beating on him—here is an effort to appraise the slender, almost boyish-looking man and the task he faces at the age of 43.

Youth and stamina: On the score of drive and ambition to carry him through the physical punishment that lies ahead, there can be little doubt. The issue of his wartime injury and his health was raised during the primary campaign and in the in-fighting leading up to the convention. But as he has proved again and again there is extraordinary endurance in that lanky frame.

LIKE MOST self-contained men he has a reserve he withholds even in the midst of the most clamorous crowd. It is one reason for the complaint sometimes heard that he is cold and withdrawn. But for Kennedy, no viable extrovert, this is a self-protective device.

THE FACT IS that he has had a diverse experience made possible in no small part by the wealth of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy. He was at his father's side in the American Embassy in London at the outbreak of World War II as an active participant in the fearful course of events that saw Hitler ravage Europe. At the age of 21 he published a best-selling analysis of Britain's tragedy called "While England Slept." His experience in the war and in Congress are well known.

While he is a Roman Catholic his education was almost entirely outside the church and this, too, is a subject of conversation. Many of his own faith feel that he is not a "good Catholic," that is to say, he has lived too much of his life outside the framework of the Church. His father sent both Jack and his older brother, Joseph P. Jr., killed in World War II, to London School of Economics to study under the late Harold Laski, a doctrinaire Socialist. The color of his mind is Harvard with the cool reservation of one who has always tried to detach himself from whatever crowd or group he happens to be in.

DESPITE HIS STRONG stand on the separation of church and state, the opposition will try to identify him with a Catholic background and with his father's philanthropies which have poured millions into Catholic charities.

Judgment and conviction: In this area, which bears most directly on the task ahead, there are doubts. Certainly he has shown in his many campaigns and in his career in Congress that he can make up his mind on practical day-to-day matters and on issues as they cut across voter prejudice. He has never been charged with the indecisiveness laid to Adlai Stevenson.

BUT ON CONVICTION—commitment to belief, the passionate espousal of a cause—James MacGregor Burns, who has written the best political biography of the campaign which is on the whole friendly to Kennedy, stops short. Is his appeal to the mass of voters simply glamour, youth, the romantic legend of the poor little rich boy who made good? Or is there back of this appeal the solid conviction that speaks from the heart as well as the mind?

The turbulent days ahead will tell. The romantic appeal of youth and his ability as a campaigner may be enough to elect him. But in that other and far greater ordeal which lies beyond November he will, if he must face it, need all the judgment and conviction he can summon up.

They Want The Buck

FAIRHAVEN, Mass. (AP) — The buck wasn't passed.

Selectmen recently opened a letter from the State Department of Public Works. It was official confirmation that a parcel of town-owned land had been taken for development of a beach.

"Enclosed are $1 and a map," it read. "Only one trouble, said a selectman: 'There was no map and no buck.'"

Selectmen demanded payment.

THE MORE HE THRASHES AROUND—

James Marlow Herter Successor To Have Big Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—The second most important job in the government, secretary of state, won't be in the hands of the voters at all when they choose their new president and vice president next November.

There is speculation now that if Sen. John F. Kennedy wins the presidency he will choose between Adlai E. Stevenson and Chester Bowles in naming his secretary. There is not even speculation on who'd be a new Republican president's choice.

For instance, there were the American U2 spy plane downed over Russia, the State Department's bumbling in handling that episode, the blowup of the summit meeting, the cancellation of President Eisenhower's trips to Russia and Japan.

In addition there has been the wretched deterioration in relations with Cuba, the Soviet efforts to get a foot in there, the debacle in the Congo, and the Communist maneuvering to edge into Africa.

These are probably only samples of problems to come but as yet unimagined.

HANDLING THEM will call for firmness and decision and, perhaps above all imagination in finding new methods of dealing with communism to prevent its expansion.

For most of Eisenhower's two terms John Foster Dulles was his secretary of state, and the President relied upon his judgment perhaps more than any president in this century has leaned on a secretary of state, and vice president.

Dulles was many things—tough, agile, tireless—but imagination was not one of his strongest points. He really initiated very little. Instead he took over from his predecessor, Dean Acheson, the policy of containment which is still being followed through a system of alliances and overseas bases.

While this system will probably be retained in the four years ahead, the most delicate tasks will probably lie elsewhere—in devising means of inducing the backward people of Africa and elsewhere to be neutral or friendly to this country.

Kennedy, the Democrats' presidential nominee, and vice president Richard M. Nixon, who seems certain to be the Republicans' presidential choice, are both strong-minded men.

Either as president would almost certainly be the dominant figure in foreign affairs in his administration, but each would have to rely to an enormous degree on the day-by-day and long-range judgment of his secretary of state.

Stevenson, while he has traveled widely around the world since first losing the presidential race to Eisenhower in 1952, has never held a high overseas government assignment.

Hal Boyle Bow For Honorable Bow

TOKYO (AP)—Tch! Tch! Everyone is going around shaking hands. The honorable bow is taking a beating.

When fellow political bigwigs meet, more often than not, they'll shake hands Western style.

When college student meets college student, businessman meets businessman, it's getting to be the same.

Traditionalists lament this challenge to the bow, meaningful and expressive gesture that has played an important part in regulating Japanese society.

Let's start with the condescending "nod"—the brief dip of the head plus an ever-so-slight forward body motion from the waist up. It is a greeting for superiors to inferiors.

The boss, for example, will nod to a subordinate who, in turn, will proffer a medium bend if he's not too far outranked, and the deep bow if he's the janitor.

But what if the boss is caught in a deep bow to the janitor? And this can happen.

Then you can be sure the janitor has done the boss a great favor—something like saving his life.

And the janitor will respond with an equally uncomfortable bend—not because he's the janitor, but as a gesture of abasement, as if to say, "It was nothing at all." Self-abasement is an important social virtue among Japanese.

Complicated, you might think, and indeed, more than one uninitiated foreigner has been caught in a deep and reverent bow to his maid.

But the serious bowster must ask himself these further questions: How long must I stay bowed? The theory is, the longer the bow the greater the politeness. The practiced low bender will glance out of the corner of his eye to time his rise with that of his partner.

How many times should I bow? Usually, after three or four bows, the parties agree on an unspoken signal to call-it-quit. But it can also turn into a subtle contest to see who can outbow the other.

How shall I bow so our heads don't bump?

It takes but one error to effectively remedy this fault. The participants usually prepare themselves by facing each other at a slight diagonal.

And there you have it, the complete etiquette of the bow and why it shouldn't bow out to the handshake.

Besides, add the traditionalists, it's much more hygienic.

To Your Good Health Let Doctor Decide On Birthmark Removal

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My wife and I would like your opinions on birthmarks, and information about them.—A.P."

While I like short letters that come to the point, this one may be a little too short for me to guess exactly what you have in mind.

There are several different types of birthmarks. We can divide them by color—black, brown, blue, red, purple, or even neutral-colored raised edges. Some are hairy, some not. Indeed, it is quite possible for an infant to be born with a comparatively large area of the body covered by dark or colored skin and the whole big spot having a rather heavy growth of hair. This isn't frequent, but it's an example of what a "birthmark" can be.

Calling such a blemish a "birthmark" probably isn't too good a choice of terms, because the mark has nothing to do with the process of being born. Likewise—and keep this in mind—"birthmarks" are not a result of the mother being frightened or anything of that sort. There are all sorts of wild stories which purport to "explain" birthmarks, but for every case in which somebody says a birthmark was caused because the mother ate strawberries, or "was frightened by thunder," or "was outdoors in the dark of the moon," you will find thousands of mothers who experienced exactly the same thing—except the babies had no birthmarks.

What is a birthmark? A minor flaw in development, just as a child may have a cleft palate ("hare lip") or six fingers, or a partial web between the fingers—all of which we can correct. A person may have a congenital heart deformity which sometimes the surgeons can correct, or other "errors of nature."

The birthmarks show up more prominently, at times, but they are not as a rule of any medical significance. If a birthmark is large, or if it is on the face or other area where it will be an embarrassment to the child later on, see about having it removed. This does not have to be done immediately. Some authorities think major birthmarks should be removed in the first year of life, and some prefer to wait a longer time.

In any event, there is scant chance of a birthmark showing cancerous tendencies before puberty, when the body goes through various glandular developments.

Therefore I would not be in great haste. Let your doctor guide you (in cases of large blemishes) to a specialist. Leave it to him as to whether to correct the blemish sooner or later. Also leave it to him whether it is a mere matter of pigment in the skin, or a "sebaceous hole" which is a clotting of sebaceous or oily glands in the skin, or, perchance, one of the red or purple "hemangiomas," which result from a tangle of small blood vessels near the surface.

The average birthmark, if located so it ought to be removed because of its appearance or size, can be removed with little scarring, and it is part of the doctor's job to decide whether plastic surgery, "freezing" with dry ice, X-ray or other radiation, or some other method will be the simplest and best.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is honey good to use for anyone with sugar diabetes"—C.S."

No. Honey has a high sugar content which, with diabetes, you must avoid.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write me in care of The Big Spring Herald requesting my booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins," enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Heard Him The Second Time

You should know Andrew Riddle to really appreciate this little yarn.

Andy is a veteran attorney who came into my former home town in the early days. He was a brand new law school graduate with great ambitions and little money. Riddle rented a cubicle in a downtown building, hung out his shingle and waited for clients to pour into his office.

They didn't pour very good, he recalls. Indeed, other than keeping spiderwebs from forming across the shelves on his small library of lawbooks, he had nothing to do for a long, long time. He was just about ready to throw in the towel and look for a job on a farm.

He was sitting despondently at his desk pondering the situation one morning when an elderly farmer walked in. This farmer was well-to-do, by the standards of that day, and Riddle gave him all of the welcome that would be accorded to visiting royalty.

THE FARMER was also extremely deaf, unusually irritable and distressingly blunt in his remarks.

It turned out that he wanted a divorce. After an hour's shouting, Riddle was able to draw up a sort of petition. In those days, it was possible, in a divorce case, to go for an immediate hearing before the court, as soon as the petition was on file, and if it was unopposed—as this one was.

Riddle marched his elderly client to the court house and filed the case. He then made his way to the court room, where Judge Thomas W. Champion was presiding. The judge was willing to take up the case right then.

The only witness was the plaintiff. On the witness stand, by dint of shouting on the part of Riddle and equally loud vocal assistance from the judge, some sort of a hearing was made out.

At its conclusion, Judge Champion turned to Riddle.

"Mr. Riddle," he said, "I am going to grant your client a divorce. I am not sure he is entitled to one, but I am convinced that if he isn't, his poor wife is."

AFTER THE HEARING, Riddle and his client went back to his office.

"Well," said the farmer, "what do I owe you, Mr. Lawyer?"

Andy said he took a deep breath, visualized the fertile acres and fat bank account of his client and said timidly: "Thirty dollars, Mr. Jones."

The old farmer eyed him bitterly for a few seconds.

"I ain't got but $80, Mr. Riddle," he snapped.

Riddle smiled placatingly.

He patting his first client on the shoulder gently.

"That will be just fine, Mr. Jones," he beamed. "Eighty will be just fine."

Riddle says that case was the reason he decided to stick to law. And it turned out that it was a good decision. Everything worked out just fine for him after that.

Inez Robb Youth And Charm Discounted

What follows is undoubtedly in the nature of a minority report. I find in John F. Kennedy none of the fabled youth or charm with which he has been associated in the public mind for years. It is odd, but he looks much younger in pictures than in person.

Democrats who have been leary of so youthful a candidate can pack their fears away in mothballs. Throughout the Democratic National Convention I carefully watched every appearance of Kennedy, whom I first met when he was 14 and I was sent to interview his father, Joseph Kennedy, on the subject of financial wizardry.

AND IF I EVER have seen a man from whom youth has been wrung by the powerhouse drive to achieve political prominence, that man is John F. Kennedy.

Throughout the convention, there was no more youthful spontaneity or exuberance in the Democratic nominee than in the convention's oldest delegate, Sen. Theodore Green, 92, of Rhode Island. Kennedy is an old young face, and not because of the 24-hour convention wheeling and dealing.

IT IS MY GUESS that two factors have made Jack Kennedy prematurely old and left their marks in his face for all to see: (1) physical suffering and (2) his race-without-leap to satisfy the political ambition.

As for the storied charm of the Democratic candidate, maybe he saves it for politically important conclaves and turns it on at will. But, his press conferences during the Democratic convention were in stark contrast to those of his chief rivals, Veep nominee Lyndon B. Johnson and Sen. Stuart Symington.

BOTH SENATORS, no less than John Kennedy, are widely acquainted with the press corps, particularly those who are stationed in Washington. D. C. Johnson and Symington press conferences were on a first-name basis—that is, the two Senators greeted their friends in the corps by name. There was a feeling of camaraderie and easy give-and-take.

But there was none of that malarky in the Kennedy press conclaves. The Boston street boy strode to the platform of the Biltmore Bowl, where such conferences were held, and greeted no one. He answered questions without seeming to recognize any friendly face in the crowd, quickly walked off the podium and was gone.

ONCE, WHEN IT was obvious that he had heard that the press was miffed because he had devoted all his attention to teevee, he held a 12-minute press conference. It was a dusty gesture. Even less time was wasted when he called the brief conference to announce that he had chosen Lyndon B. Johnson for his running mate.

On such occasions neither youth nor charm were visible in the candidate. If he has the latter quality in abundance, he probably felt it could be better used on a less captive audience. He was once a newspaperman himself. Immediately before World War II and afterward he worked for the Chicago Herald-American and the now-defunct International News Service. But those days doubtless seem but a prelude and far away.

CONVENTIONS ARE hell on wheels for everyone involved particularly for the contending candidates. Probably in the days to come, now that he has it made with the Democratic party, John Kennedy will seem less like one of the new products of automation—driving, driving, driving irrevocably toward the goal line.

I may have to eat my words about his charm. It may flood the country between now and November. I have not the slightest doubt about his intellectual brilliance, his executive ability or his political savvy. Having seen him in action and in person, I have no qualms about his youth, which has been traded for success. But now is the time for that storied charm to be unleashed and come to the aid of the party.

The Gallup Poll World Events May Decide Election

PRINCETON, N. J. — Democratic nominee Sen. John Kennedy went into his party's convention holding a slim lead over Vice-President Nixon among voters across the nation. Which man will have the edge next November, however, may depend more on the course of world events than it will on the type of campaign they wage.

In a nationwide Gallup Poll completed just prior to the start of the Los Angeles convention, Kennedy had 52 per cent of the vote to Nixon's 48 per cent.

THIS IS the same edge held by the Massachusetts Senator in a late June survey when—following the cancellation of Eisenhower's trip to Japan — Kennedy pulled slightly out ahead of the Vice-President.

This has been the trend of the Nixon-Kennedy vote in Gallup Poll tests since early June.

Twenty-five years of Gallup Polls have fully demonstrated that events have greater impact upon political campaigns than do campaign speeches and strategy.

One of the most dramatic instances of the impact of events came in the 1956 election. Throughout two months of intense campaigning by both Eisenhower and Stevenson, there was virtually no change in the electorate's division of sentiment.

THEN IN the closing days of the campaign, the Hungarian revolution and the Suez crisis caused a sharp upswing in the vote for the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. An estimated three to four million votes swung to the GOP ticket in the last 10 days of the campaign.

In the Nixon-Kennedy race to date, events on the world scene have sharply changed the fortunes of these two men.

Fall Fashions Presage Wide Range Of Styles

By JOY MILLER NEW YORK (AP) — What is the new fall look in women's fashions? New York designers are giving you a choice come autumn. Whatever your preference and personality, you will find something to please and flatter.

There's the soft, loose, low-waisted silhouette, with bloused bodices, skirts flaringly bias cut or full and folded in deeply at the sides. Scarfs or collars are popular. Dramatically, wide, full coats are definitely back.

You like the long, slim look? Then you're right in style. This season it has been adapted to a semi-fitted outline, the straightness often broken by tunics, tiered skirts and overblouses.

Another silhouette makes use of the always-popular molded bodice and full skirt. This fall it's brought up to date with elongation at the top and side-widening at the bottom.

Evening fashions take on a new elegance, with lavish use of beading and embroidery. Long evening dresses are making a determined comeback, usually with narrow or slightly full skirts.

This fall there's an accent on belongingness. The ensemble emphasis crops up in coats boasting their own dresses, dresses with their own jackets, evening dresses under their own coats.

Fabrics are rich in color and texture, with velour, vicuna, silk, silks, handwoven tweeds and Renaissance patterned brocades predominating — often trimmed with precious furs.

It's a season that will be welcomed by the woman who prefers her elegance subtle and her clothes cut for easy wearability.

Shofner-White Vows Are Taken In Lamesa

LAMESA — The home of the bride's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Oley Shofner, was the scene for a double ring wedding ceremony at 4 p.m. Sunday for Dee Oley Shofner and Don White.

Mr. and Mrs. Nuell Shofner of Fairbanks, Alaska, are the bride's parents; Mr. and Mrs. Bailey White, Route C, are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Giles Hankins, pastor of the North Side Baptist Church officiated for the rites before an archway entwined with greenery and white satin streamers flanked by baskets of gladioli.

For her marriage the bride wore a dress of white nylon chiffon over taffeta with satin cummerbund and waistline bow; the fitted bodice had a deep V back, and the graceful skirt was floor length. Her circular veil was attached to a crown tiara of lace outlined with pearls, and she carried a cascade of white carnations atop a white Bible.

The bride's only attendant was her cousin, Guinda Merck of Lubbock, and the best man was Weldon White the bridegroom's brother.

The reception for wedding guests followed the ceremony; only close friends and relatives were present. When the newlyweds left for a trip to Carlsbad, N.M., the bride traveled in a dress of brown and beige with bone accessories. She attended the Lamesa Schools, and her husband graduated here.

After Aug. 1 they will reside in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Crain were Sunday visitors of a niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parker, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Allie Crain in Lubbock. They also stopped by to see Mrs. Ollie Longley, who is in a Lubbock hospital.

Local ALA Members To Be Color Bearers

Mrs. Byron Hill and Mrs. H. D. Bruton will be color bearers during the convention of the American Legion Auxiliary slated for Dallas, Aug. 12-14.

This is the announcement made Monday evening at a meeting of the group in the American Legion Hall.

Following the convention, new officers of the local group will be installed. These include Mrs. Zella Rae, president; Mrs. Bill Teague, first vice president; Mrs. L. H. Steward, second vice president; Mrs. Tim Jones, secretary, and Mrs. Archie Segrest, treasurer.

Mrs. Johnny Broughton is sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Foy Dunlap, chaplain; Mrs. Carl Eason, historian.

Speakers for the evening was Nan Clawson, who was the representative to Girls' State, held in Austin in June. She reported on the activities at the gathering.

A guest at the session was Teresa Smith, who was the Girl's State representative in 1959.

The group was reminded of the family night supper planned for Thursday, when a potluck supper will be served and games of 42 will be played.

LAMESA — Mr. and Mrs. John S. Porter announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lynne Lee, to Jimmie Ray Shearer son of Mrs. Walter R. Shearer of Plainview.

Vows will be exchanged at 4 p.m. Aug. 6 in the First Christian Church here.

Overtone Will Make Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Overton are at home at 508 Nolan following their wedding in Andrews, July 7.

The bride is the former Lana Wren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wren, 700 E. 14th; parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Overton of Otis Chalk.

Double ring vows were exchanged in the home of the Rev. Ernest Clinton, who read the ceremony; he is pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, Andrews.

Attendants of the couple were Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Snead of Seminole, a trip to Carlsbad and Artesia, N.M., followed the ritual.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School; her husband, who attended school in Forsan, is an employee of Cosden Petroleum Corp.

Marriage Told At Evening Affair In Lamesa Home

LAMESA — A post-nuptial announcement tea was held Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Paul Hughes, 1401 North Ave. 1, to compliment Mrs. Bob Wolfe, formerly Martha Watson.

Sharing hostess duties were Mrs. Paul Hughes, Mrs. Wm. A. Stephens, Mrs. Cecil Pope, Mrs. Tom Cude, Mrs. Howard Westmoreland Sr., Mrs. Jess Westmoreland, Mrs. Les Campbell, Mrs. Gene Springer and Willie Belle Cleveland.

A figure of a bridal pair atop a winding staircase was the featured attraction at the tea table. Baby's breath was used along the staircase; an arrangement of blue spider chrysanthemums and blue streamers with the couple's names, "Bob" and "Martha", coming from the stairway completed the decorations.

In the receiving line were Mrs. T. W. Watson, the honoree, Mrs. Jimmy Hughes, Mrs. Sybil Westmoreland, Carol McKinzie of Quemado, N.M. and Mrs. Jess Westmoreland.

Mrs. John Paul Lawson of Lubbock registered the guests and Mrs. Helen Robertson presided at the serving table.

The gift of the hostesses to the honoree was an electric fry skillet.

'ROUND TOWN With LUCILLE PICKLE

If school age girls will take advantage of all the opportunities they have to learn about homemaking in junior high and high school, they probably won't have such a hard time meeting expenses when they set up housekeeping; not as hard a time as their mothers did, that is. Present day teachers of homemaking work hard on their course set-up; go to workshops at least three times each year; hear a different phase of the work discussed and include it in the curriculum the next session.

On August 1, three local homemaking department heads, MRS. W. L. WALKER, MRS. JACK ALEXANDER and MRS. FLORENCE LENOX, will go to Houston for the annual session of the Texas State Teachers' Meeting, homemaking division. This year the workshop will be on new directions in homemaking. The trend in the various meetings has been to make the younger generation better consumers.

Headquarters for the meeting will be the Shamrock-Hilton.

MR. and MRS. S. F. WALLING have received word from their son-in-law and daughter, DR. and MRS. FRANK K. MEANS, that they sailed from Brazil on July 13 and will arrive in Baltimore, Md., on July 27. Dr. and Mrs. Means have been working with the Baptist Foreign Mission Board in Brazil for the past seven months. They plan to be in Big Spring to visit her parents on Aug. 18 while en route to Glorieta, N. M., to attend the Baptist encampment Aug. 18-24.

Circle Program Is Given By Mrs. Couch

Mrs. J. G. Couch presented the program for members of the First Baptist Mollie Harlan Circle, Monday morning, when they met in the home of Mrs. F. A. Gibbs. Her topic was based on the missionary work as discussed in the Royal Service Magazine.

Mrs. J. C. Pickle offered the opening prayer.

The group voted to pay postage on the books collected by the YWA and destined for Hong Kong. Members will also buy supplies for a missionary in Mexico, it was decided.

Mrs. V. W. Fuglaar dismissed the session with a prayer; five members present.

Shoes Join Apparel In Trend To Dressy Casual

Casual shoes will step out with an air of elegance and ease this fall to complement the trend toward dressier, more graceful casual apparel.

Light on the foot, leather casuals will pick up fashion's interest in texture with suede and brushed leather finishes that complement slubbed fabrics. New low-cut boot casuals in soft russet brown, loden green or autumn red will make ideal mates for the popular slim, leggy wool plants in bright plaids.

The boot-inspired casuals show interesting detailing, back lacing, and combinations of leather finishes such as smooth mixed with suede leather.

Tailored casuals pumps in flight blue smooth or waxy leather with low curved stacked heels are made for the new wool coordinates in muted tapestry effects. Chamois jackets and short full skirts are wedded to the sleek lines of the new tailored casuals. Soft neutral leather casuals will blend easily with multi-color tapestry woolsens. There is to be eye interest aplenty in understated shoe detailing such as stitching or shirring.

This fall, casual shoes will have a sculptured look — from their more sharply, and shapely, pointed toes to their closely cropped leather soles.

Casuals can be found in flat heels, low heels or inch-high-heels in dressier versions. As the heel goes higher, the more pronounced the pointed toe becomes. Some, such as the low heeled moc-front casual effect a vamp shoeing tie, with the tapered toe nipped off square at the end.

Step-in, pump, tie, or spectator, all will appear in smooth leathers, lightly grained, suede or brushed leathers. There is to be a trend again toward the wedge heel, but this fall it is a slimmer, more graceful wedge created to go with the most elegant lines of the tapered toe.

Nat'l League Is For Expansion

By JOE MOOSHL
CHICAGO (AP)—The National League voted unanimously Monday in favor of expanding to 10 teams and, in effect, told the newly formed Continental League to put up or shut up.

After a long meeting of club owners and general managers, league President Warren Giles said, "If it develops that a new major league is impracticable, the National League has voted unanimously to expand its membership to 10 clubs."

"The standards for a new major league were set forth at Columbus, Ohio, last year and were accepted by the Continental League, which so far has not met them," said Giles.

The National League named a four-man expansion committee, headed by Walter O'Malley of Los Angeles, with orders to go to work immediately.

The committee, which also includes owners Lou Perini of Milwaukee, John Galbreath of Pittsburgh and Bob Carpenter of Philadelphia, sent a telegram to Branch Rickey, president of the Continental League, and to Joe Cronin, president of the American League, asking either or both to meet at their convenience with the committee on the subject of expansion.

Giles, claiming "expansion is inevitable," said his league had discussed two facets of "expansion," "expansion by a new league and expansion of the present league."

In New York, Bill Shea, founder of the Continental League, said he was hopeful the National League's action was a good sign. He said Rickey would be glad to meet with the committee "because we want to use every means at our disposal to be taken into organized baseball."

"My main objective from the very beginning has been to get another club for New York," Shea said. "I have been convinced for a long time and still am convinced that the only way to do that is by a third league. Perhaps Mr. Cronin's statement that he planned to remain in Cincinnati had something to do with the National League's action."

Powell Crosley, owner of the Cincinnati club, spiced rumors that he would move his club to New York by stating that the Redlegs would remain in Cincinnati during his lifetime.

Giles said no possible cities were mentioned in the discussion on expansion and no new standards were set for any cities desiring to become members of the National League.

In the only other major action taken at the meeting, members voted down a proposal to increase a visiting team's receipts from 27 1/2 cents per admission to a flat 20 cents per cent of the total gate.

The American League, which long has been in favor of expansion, was encouraged by the National League's action. The American League met last week and said it could not combat the problems of expansion alone and needed help.

Hank Greenberg, vice president and treasurer of the Chicago White Sox and a member of the American League's Expansion Committee, said he was "delighted the National League has taken this action, a decision which had to be taken sooner or later."

However, Greenberg expressed doubt that each league could expand to 10 teams in the event the Continental League fails.

SPORTS DICTIONARY:
TUG WILSON, Big Ten commissioner who doubles as a U.S. Olympic official.

"A lot of our coaches believe our strongest competition in the Olympics will come not from Russia but from Germany."

GEORGE BLANDA, former Chicago Bear quarterback, who signed to play with the Houston Oilers of the AFL.

"I had a better offer to play with the Los Angeles Chargers, but I wanted to play with Coach Lou Rymkus and in Houston. I played against Lou when he was in Cleveland, and against his teams he coached at Green Bay and Los Angeles. We've become good friends, talked a lot over the years. I know I'd be familiar with his system. But, honestly, I've wanted to play with Houston since the new league was organized. I know I wanted to play in warmer weather, and I like the town. Leadership is the greatest asset of any quarterback. I've been training for two months to get down from 235 to 215. You can't be a leader and run a ball club as quarterback if you're not really physically and losing around, or having to work yourself in condition."

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS:
 "There are reports that the Kefauver committee was hoping Gus D'Amato, manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, would testify on alleged under-the-table deals of certain sports writers. D'Amato refused—though some of the writers were among the guys who blasted him so steadily during his war with the International Boxing Club."

TED WILLIAMS, Boston hitting great:

"I never could have caught Babe Ruth in home runs, even had I been able to play what I spent in service. I could have hit 100 home runs in those three years I missed, maybe 125. It's hard to say. To be ahead of the Babe, I would have had to average 70 home runs a year in those three seasons. It just couldn't have been done."

CHICK EVANS, the veteran amateur golfer:

"Golf carts are here to stay . . . and I ride in them myself sometimes. But to me no cart can ever give a man the feeling he has when he walks alongside the bright-eyed 11 or 12-year-old boy who's carrying his bag. I'd say these heavy bags we play with were brought in against the wishes of 80 per cent of the golfers. I hate to see the heavy bags because I love the boy caddy so."

J. D. ROBERTS, former Oklahoma University football star, now a member of the Navy coaching staff, discussing his alma mater's 1959 season.

"Our 7-3 season might have been considered poor by some people, but if the coach had been anyone other than Bud Wilkinson we wouldn't have broken even. We just didn't have the material, and I can't see the picture brightening this fall."

Federal District Judge J. SKELLY WRIGHT of New Orleans, after granting Johnny Robinson the right to join the Dallas Texans of the AFL and thus pass up a contract he had signed with the Detroit Lions:

"It might not be amiss to remind Robinson of what a federal judge said in 1956 to Sam Elichverry, a player who became involved in a contract dispute. 'In four, five, six or eight years,' the first judge cautioned Elichverry, 'your passes will begin to wobble. You won't be able to find that receiver. If you keep playing around here, with the professionals and others, and jumping year contract, you might be all right this time, but someday your abilities will be such that your club won't even send a twice-disbarred attorney from Dogpatch to help you.'"

Cook Appliance Storms By Odessa Team In Tourney

ODESSA (SC) — Cook Appliance Company of Big Spring moved into the second round of the International Softball Congress State tournament here Monday night by defeating Crescent Baptist Church of Odessa, 8-0.

The Big Spring team was slow in getting starting. The invaders from Howard County were kept away from the plate until the fourth, when Pete Cook walked, advanced on a sacrifice by Oakie Hagood and surged home on an error.

Cook sewed up the decision by counting five runs in the sixth, however, he added two in the seventh.

Spec Franklin and Troy Wetzel, who divided time on the mound for Big Spring, set the Baptists down with two hits.

Cook plays Vine Avenue Baptist in the second round at 8:30 o'clock this evening. Vine moved up by outlasting Bethany Avenue church in its first game, 1-0.

Akron Course A Big Test

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Sam Snead took his first look at the remodeled Firestone Country Club course, where the PGA championship will be played Thursday through Sunday, and pronounced it "a tough test of golf."

Despite this estimate, Snead shot a 69 in Monday's practice round, becoming the first player to break par on the toughened par-70, 7,165-yard layout.

Snead, 48, who is bidding for a fourth PGA championship, matched par with 35 on the front nine then closed with a 34 despite bogeys on the last two holes.

"Weather conditions, high winds and rains could be a determining factor," said Snead, winner of the PGA crown in 1942, 1949 and 1951. He thought a par 280 would win the 72-hole medal play tournament.

But Alex Redl, professional at Firestone Country Club since 1946, guessed that scores would be a little higher. Redl said he thought a 283 or 284 would easily win the $9,000 top prize.

For the PGA, the course has been heavily trapped and lengthened and two artificial lakes have been added.

Arnold Palmer, favored to win the tournament, again had trouble in Monday's round, winding up with a 75. He carded 76 Saturday.

One Aussie Loses In Chicago Play

CHICAGO (AP) — One Australian Davis Cup player was on the sidelines today but a full, four-man U. S. team was ready for the second round of the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament.

Marty Mulligan, sixth-ranking Aussie, was eliminated in Monday's first round by Rudy Hernandez of Modesto, Calif., 10-8, 5-7, 6-2.

But this took a far back seat to the surprise that shook the River Forest Tennis Club. In one of the greatest first round upsets in the meet's 50-year history, 17-year-old Justina Bricka, a senior at University City High School in suburban St. Louis, ambushed top-seeded Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., 7-5, 1-6, 6-2.

Miss Bricka, National Girls indoor champion and recently winner of the Southern Girls crown in Atlanta, today faces another comparative youngster, Sue Hodgman of Kalamazoo, Mich., fresh from victory in the Western Tourney at Indianapolis.

U. S. Davis Cup players led by No. 1 seeded Barry MacKay, advanced with fair ease. They are defending champion Tut Bartzan, seeking a fourth Clay Courts title; Earl Buchholz and Chuck McKinley.

Liston KO's Folley, Eyes Floyd's Crown

By FRANK PITMAN
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The massive 14-inch fists of Sonny Liston thundered a tattoo today on the door to the heavyweight boxing throne room occupied by champion Floyd Patterson.

Liston's sledge-hammer hands smashed Zora Folley to the canvas twice in the second round and knocked him out in 28 seconds of the third round of their scheduled 12-round bout Monday night in the Denver Coliseum.

"I got him quicker than I expected," the unmarked 215 1/2-pound slugger from Philadelphia said in his dressing room afterward.

Folley, 198 1/2, of Chandler, Ariz., said he had made a mistake in trying to slug it out with Liston. "I fought the wrong type of

Top Talent Due In Midland For Junior Net Tournament

Tennis talent will assemble from all over the country to try to walk off with the impressive tennis trophies to be awarded at the tournament.

Defending Junior champion Bill Lenoir, of Phoenix, Ariz., has indicated he will be on hand again this year. Bill thrilled his hometown audience in 1959 with a dazzling display of tennis skill.

The 1959 Boys' Division champion, Rodney Kop of Honolulu, Hawaii, will return to the tournament this year, but will move up to the tougher Junior Division.

Another Phoenix, Ariz., participant will be two-time boys' winner Paul Palmer Jr.

Paul grabbed off the Boys' Division crowns in both 1956 and 1957. Palmer will also be competing in the Junior Division this year.

The talent and enthusiasm are both in Midland, all waiting to explode on Aug. 1.

Bears Boast Smart Backs

WACO (SC) — A "brainy" backfield, with all four members of his 1960 starting backfield of Ronnie Stanley, Ronnie Bull, Ronnie Goodwin and Jim Evans owning a "B" or better scholastic average is only one of the high points of the first year of the Baylor Academic and Athletic Scholarship Program for Baylor's Coach John Bridgers.

The too commonly tossed off "big dumb tackle" designation cannot apply to the Baylor athletic-scholarship group, for no less than five tackles, James Moore, Stanley Irwin, John Etheredge, Claude East and Bill Williams, all have a "B" average or better.

The over-all average for the 57 who were awarded these scholarships was from "B" to "B" which is above the school average.

The scholarship group was like any other average school group in that some were exceptional students, some showed no scholastic progress. Of the 57 scholar-athletes, 49 showed average progress or better. Only two in the original group fell below a "C" average, while 32 averaged "B" and up.

Three of the scholar-athletes ranked straight "A" averages—uncle being Larry Alexander and Eddie Curtis, both of the track squad, and David Young of the baseball team. Also very close to this average were Ronnie Stanley, Carl Choate, Burr Porter, Donald Trull, Bill Hicks and Jim Evans of the football team, Sam Terry of the basketball team, Sam Terry of the baseball team and Jack Stewart of the track squad.

Cosden Slams ABC, 12 To 5

ABC — The Cosden Oilers ran their best record to 9-4 in Teen-Age Baseball league play by defeating the ABCBU, 12-5, here Monday evening.

The Oilers struck for five runs in the first inning, added two in the third, two in the fourth and closed out with a three-run fifth.

Joe Airhart clubbed a bases-loaded homer run in the third for the losing team.

Louis Miramontes pitched the victory, setting the opposition down with five hits. Dickie Spier had a round tripper for Cosden.

Dodgers Could Be Making Big Move

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, like the Democrats who recently replaced them for a night at the Coliseum, are trying to make a comeback.

Unlike the Democrats, the Dodgers won't have to wait until November to find out how far back they can come. They may, in fact, get some significant clues in a three-game series they open tonight with the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

The fourth-place Dodgers, who have won 16 of their last 22 games, will go tonight with right-hander Don Drysdale.

Caddell Racks Up Y Crown

Jerry Caddell quickly disposed of Melvin Berman when they resumed their match at the City Park Monday to wrap up the singles championship in the YMCA City Tennis tournament.

The match was started Sunday and Caddell went ahead in the four sets played, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5. In what proved to be the final set Monday, Caddell prevailed, 6-1.

Those who desire to enter into competition in doubles play still have time to get their notices of entries in to Hugh Hamm of the YMCA.

Doubles competition will probably start later this week.

Pro Game Ducats Available Here

Reserved seat tickets for the first annual West Texas Shrine Bowl professional football game in Abilene Aug. 20 are now on sale in Big Spring at General Welding Supply, 605 E. 2nd.

The tickets are $5.00 each and are also being sold in Abilene at the Eagle Gym headquarters and in 26 other area cities. The Abilene Shrine Club officials, sponsors of that city's first pro football game, have distributed equally good tickets to each of the West Texas cities. Mail order tickets may be purchased by sending check or money order to P. O. Box 2334 in Abilene, adding 25 cents to each order for postage and handling.

The Shrine Bowl game matches the Dallas Texans against the New York Titans in an American Football League exhibition contest. The game will begin at 8 p.m. in the new Public Schools Stadium east of the city on the fair grounds. The stadium seats 15,042.

Many of the football players on both teams will be familiar to the West Texas football fans. Almost 60 per cent of the Texas squad is composed of Southwestern players while the Titans have close to 25 per cent of their squad from Texas.

Slingin' Sammy Baugh, former Hardin, Simmons University head football coach, is the coach of the Titans. He will bring with him eight former H-SU Cowboy stars as well as five former McMurry College athletes.

The Texans are coached by Hank Stram, former SMU coach, and are owned by Lamar Hunt, the organizer of the new American Football League. Among the Texans' stars are Jack Spikes of Snyder and TCU; Chico Mendoza of TCU and Ranger; Marvin Terrell of Mississippi; Jim Swink of TCU; and Abner Haynes of North Texas State.

HELP!

Just send $1⁰⁰ and we'll send you this unusual historical souvenir direct from the Olympic Games in Rome!

COLLECTOR'S ITEM. You'll treasure this unusual postcard souvenir of the 1960 Olympic Games. This exciting keepsake will bear a special Italian commemorative Olympic stamp. It will be mailed and postmarked direct from Rome, Italy, on opening day, and autographed by leading members of the U. S. Olympic team. Send for at least one of these special Olympic postcards. Just mail one dollar to the address below... and help the U. S. win the 1960 Olympic Games!

If you will remember, at the 1956 Olympic Games our aggregate athletic endeavor was not good enough to beat Russia. To prevent a recurrence of this second-best showing, this year we must send a team to the Olympic Games that has the talent and training needed to assure championship status.

To do this, money is needed! Funds must be made available to help seek out the top U. S. athletes. To train them. To transport them to Rome, Italy. And to feed, clothe and house them while they are participating in the 1960 Olympic Games.

Many other countries, like Russia, finance their Olympic teams with government funds. But here in the United States there is no government subsidy for the Olympic team. You and others like you are the sole support of the U. S. team. Your dollar is needed! It is needed to help the U. S. send a complete, fully-trained team to Rome. It is needed to help the U. S. win the 1960 Olympic Games!

Every dollar received will be used solely for Olympic team expenses. All the coaches, officials and other persons connected with the team serve without pay!

Arrangements are made to send an unusual, historical postcard to you or to anyone you may specify. Send for this souvenir and help the U. S. Olympic team, too! Just attach your dollar to the coupon below. Clip it now!

Monthly session of the Howard County lunacy court is in progress this morning at the Big Spring State Hospital.

The law says that the wheel shall be prepared between Aug. 1 and Aug. 15. In that interval some 14,000 or more cards, each bearing the name and address of a qualified citizen eligible for jury duty, must be prepared.

Lyndon Has A Busy Day At The Ranch

JOHNSON CITY (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, scheduled a busy work day today in his ranch house study with congressional plans at the top of the list.

After two days of rest following the Los Angeles national convention Johnson began devoting more and more time to preparations for the reconvening of Congress Aug. 6.

Following his nomination in Los Angeles Johnson said he and the presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, will work together in the coming congressional session.

Proposed legislation pending includes a liberalized minimum wage act, medical care for the aged, federal aid for school construction, and federal housing programs.

Johnson has not said when he plans to return to Washington. There have been several reports that friends are urging him to take a vacation away from the ranch, possibly to Acapulco, Mexico, where he conferred with Mexican President Lopez Mateos several years ago.

Informed sources in Mexico City said Johnson was thinking of revisiting the Pacific coast resort within the next few days. Asked about this, Johnson said through an aide: "There is still no decision on the Acapulco trip. It is still under consideration."

MAY NOT GO The aide added that Johnson may not go if the vacation trip was to be covered by reporters and photographers.

Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, who was permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention, spent the night in Austin while driving home from the convention.

Johnson offered to send a private plane here to take Collins and his family to the LBJ ranch near Johnson City to spend the night there.

Collins declined, however, explaining that he must get back to Florida and they planned to leave early today.

The nominee also will confer shortly with the Central Intelligence Agency on details of briefings on secret security information. President Eisenhower offered to supply the top secret information directly to the Democratic nominees and Kennedy accepted for himself and Johnson.

The White House directed the CIA to arrange with Kennedy and Johnson for the time and place of the briefings.

"Any arrangements made by Sen. Kennedy and the White House are perfectly all right with me," Johnson said. "The White House has always kept me informed on all developments and I do not anticipate any difficulty."

Milk Prices Up HOUSTON (AP)—Houston milk prices went up a cent a quart Monday to 26 cents.

A defeated candidate for the Legislature, Lothar Adams, asked the State Education Board to help the China Independent School District, Jefferson County, bring itself up to par.

Adams said the school board there has failed to work for the children, and he alleged some of the members dose through board meetings. He also claimed at least one board member cannot read or write.

"These children are not taken into consideration," Adams told the commission, and only a handful of the district's 400-odd voters cast ballots in the last school election, he said.

The commission said China's is a local problem and should be handled locally. Witnesses appeared in behalf of Era Independent School District, Cooke County; Pep Common School District, Hockley County; Thornton Independent School District, Limestone County; London Common School District, Kimble County; and Peaster Independent School District, Parker County.

Among the 34 schools and districts warned to bring themselves up to state accreditation standards was the Brownsboro Independent School District whose superintendent and school board recently resigned after a board member was killed in a melee.

The commission's recommendations will be reviewed by the State Board of Education in September. If a school loses its accreditation, its students cannot transfer work to an accredited school at full value.

Tornado Damages Ft. Worth Suburb

By The Associated Press A violent thunderstorm hit the Fort Worth suburb of Hurst Monday causing about $25,000 damage and injuring five persons who were trapped in an overturned house trailer.

Winds of 75 m.p.h. struck Vernon, 160 miles northwest of Fort Worth, smashing plate glass windows and blowing down a wall of a building near the court house. There were no injuries at Vernon, however.

More damage was caused by thunderstorms that flattened hundreds of acres of cotton crops at the Aiken community in Floyd County, and near Brownfield. Aiken is about 50 miles northeast of Lubbock and Brownfield is 40 miles southwest of Lubbock.

By early Tuesday the weather had calmed but a band of thundershowers covered portions of South Central Texas.

The twister that hit Hurst heavily damaged the post office and the city hall. A huge fire siren collapsed through the asphalt roof of the city hall building. Water ran four inches deep in the building causing damage to official records. Police Chief Joe Watson estimated damage to the building at $5,000.

One wall of the Hurst post office collapsed and the roof caved in. Mail and packages were damaged by water but no persons were injured. Damage to the post office was estimated at $20,000.

The tornado hit one block north of U.S. 183. It whirled through a trailer park, knocked out power lines and uprooted trees. Mrs. F. C. Brown and her four children were trapped in their trailer home when it flipped over. Police pulled them from the trailer and said they were not hurt seriously.

Winds of 65 m.p.h. were clocked at Amon Carter Field, just east of Hurst, and the field got 1.13 inches of rain in less than one hour.

A heavy thunderstorm at Fort Worth sent water rushing over curbs and into a supermarket. Cars stalled in water that reached a height of four feet in Arlington Heights and on Camp Bowie Boulevard. Sheriff's officers said the water was up to the hoods of cars in the Tanglewood section of Fort Worth.

The winds ripped the roof off a storage building at a lumber yard in Fort Worth sending it 100 feet into two houses. A boy was knocked down by a piece of lumber but he was not seriously hurt.

Almost all sections of the state had widely scattered thundershowers Monday. A severe thunderstorm forecast for the extreme northeast corner of Texas was cancelled when the forecast conditions failed to materialize.

Official Weather Bureau rainfall totals for the 24-hour period ending at 6 p.m. Monday included Beaumont 4.99 inches, Fort Worth 1.17, Victoria 2.71, College Station 1.03, Sherman 1.08, Austin .35, Dallas .05, El Paso .02, Galveston .14, Houston .58, Laredo .61, Presidio .55, San Antonio .28, Palacios .67, Cotulla .32, and a trace at Corpus Christi, Lubbock, Midland and Childress.

School Credit Board Fails To Pass 5 Rural Systems

AUSTIN (AP)—Five rural school systems apparently will be unaccredited when school starts in September, and a rural high school will no longer have accreditation.

Action Monday by the State School Accreditation Commission stripped accreditation immediately from Jackson Common School District, Marion County; Lone Star Common, Montague county; and Palo Duro Common, Moore County.

Rai Flies To Papeete, South Pacific To Tahiti

By VERN HAUGLAND WASHINGTON (AP) — There's trouble in a Pacific paradise—hard feelings between French and American aviation rivals in far-off Tahiti. If you should ask any of the South Pacific Air Lines people, "How are things in Borabora?" they would tell you in less time than it takes for a grass skirt to make a quick swish that things aren't exactly to their liking. Especially where Rai and Rai are concerned.

The airline told the Civil Aeronautics Board about the situation today in a request for elimination of certain restrictions on its operations.

South Pacific started once-a-week service between Honolulu and Tahiti in April. The French air line, Tai, also started serving Tahiti in May on a route to San Francisco.

South Pacific said that until the airport at Papeete, Tahiti, can be completed, it plans to operate to Borabora, an island off Tahiti. A flying boat operated by a local French air line, Rai, makes connections from Borabora to Papeete.

Rai is an affiliate of Tai. South Pacific said it was not anticipated that Tai would have Rai refuse to transfer South Pacific's passengers from Borabora to Papeete except during the middle of the week and that the French air line would preempt for itself the weekend operation which the South Pacific had planned. South Pacific said it based its announcement on an agreement by Rai to transfer South Pacific's passengers on the weekends.

Coeds Help Egg Parley

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Pretty Memphis State University coeds passed out some 10,000 hard-boiled eggs today as the 4,000 members of the American Poultry Congress and Exposition gathered for their 44th annual convention.

Top item for consideration by the APC&E is the problem of decline in egg consumption, down 3,600,000,000 last year.

The congress, sponsored by the American Poultry and Hatchery Federation, gives several reasons for the drop in egg eating. People get up too late to eat, they say, and some wives no longer get breakfast for their husbands.

To keep housewives from getting a guilt complex, egg men have produced new and easy methods of serving eggs. For example, frozen eggs in a metal foil package. Just plunk the package in the toaster.

Ike Completes Secret Data Arrangements

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower has completed basic arrangements for Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic ticket leaders, to receive confidential national security information for their exclusive personal knowledge.

The two political camps agreed, however, that this would in no way restrict full and free discussion of foreign policy in the campaign.

The vacationing President formally offered the top secret data late Monday. Kennedy, his party's presidential nominee, promptly accepted for himself and Johnson, his running mate.

All that apparently remains now is for Kennedy-Johnson representatives to work out with Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, procedural details as to just when and where the Democratic standard-bearers will receive personally the intelligence data throughout the campaign.

JIG TIME The agreement between Eisenhower and the two senators was nailed down in jig time after it had appeared briefly over the weekend that there might be trouble in getting together.

In first informally accepting Eisenhower's announced intention to offer security information, Kennedy had designated go-betweens to accept the CIA data for him.

The Massachusetts senator named Adlai E. Stevenson and Rep. Chester Bowles (D-Conn.) as his liaison men to deal with the administration on international affairs.

The President put out word that wouldn't do and that the information could be given only personally to Kennedy and his running mate from Texas. The Democratic candidates swiftly agreed to this Sunday night.

In making the official offer Monday, Eisenhower set forth conditions which appeared to rule out the possibility of Kennedy and Johnson sharing the confidential data with their foreign policy advisers.

WY OPEN But the President and Kennedy-Johnson spokesmen said the way was left open for wide-open debate of foreign policy in the campaign.

Eisenhower sent essentially identical telegrams to Kennedy and Johnson.

"I believe it to be in the national interest, and I hope it conforms to your desire, for you, as the duly designated candidate of one of the major parties for the presidency (or vice presidency) of the United States to have periodic briefings on the international scene from a responsible official in the Central Intelligence Agency," the President wired.

Acting on the assumption that you likewise believe such briefings to be in the national interest, I have already requested the director of the Central Intelligence Agency... to arrange procedural details with you or with some designated member of your staff.

Then Eisenhower indirectly ruled out Kennedy-Johnson go-betweens.

"Because of the secret character of the information that would be furnished you," the President said, "it would be exclusively for your personal knowledge. However, the receipt of such information would impose no restriction on full and free discussion."

At both the summer White House and Kennedy's home at Hyannis Port, Mass., spokesmen interpreted that as meaning that acceptance of the data would in no way limit foreign policy debate in the campaign.

In accepting the President's offer, Kennedy thanked Eisenhower and said he was happy to cooperate.

"I agree with you," the senator wired Eisenhower, "that the national interest is served by making such information available to the candidates of the major parties."

"I have asked my brother Robert, who knows Allen Dulles... to contact Mr. Dulles and arrange the procedure through which the briefings can be facilitated."

Eisenhower also plans to supply the same confidential national security information to the Republican ticket leaders after they have been named at the party's convention opening in Chicago next Monday.

Ex-Con Tries New Life In Seminary

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When Bill Sparks, 35, went to prison last October for fraudulent conversion, his self-image was shattered. He was shocked he felt dead. He was almost agnostic.

But Monday when the Purple Heart Army veteran came out on parole he was walking "a new road." In his own words, he had found a new life in prison.

Bill Sparks was paroled from an 11½ to 23-month sentence to enroll at the Princeton Theological Seminary in Princeton, N.J.

Dean Elmer G. Brommighausen of the seminary wrote the court: "This is our first experience with a man with such a background. We are most eager to do everything we possibly can to help Mr. Sparks to rehabilitate himself in society after this trying experience. We are also impressed with his potentialities."

Judge Leo Weinrott commented: "I think that maybe this is one of those storybook tales where someone has really surmounted a real heavy burden and shows the intestinal fortitude to come through."

In an interview today, Sparks freely admitted he had made a mistake. He also explained why he turned to religion.

We have grown accustomed to fighting the common German, Oriental and brown-banded varieties. We know they are all ugly and germ-ridden. And now this "resistant" roach has appeared.

CONCRETE

McMahon Offers Aid To Building

Nothing simplifies a construction job like having someone else mix your concrete for you. This is a remark often heard around construction sites. And Clyde McMahon has mixed concrete for many of the construction jobs that have been built in Big Spring during recent years. His firm allows the contractor to take concrete mixing out of his production schedule. McMahon prepares concrete like a fine pastry, using a scientific exactness with measurements, insuring a perfect batch of concrete every time. He can furnish the standard mix or a special batch. And he maintains a fleet of huge mixing trucks that carry the concrete right to the job site. All that is left for the contractor is to have his forms ready when the truck is due.

Sell Used Cars Too
Tom Guin stands near a row of the used cars on sale at the Jones Motor Co., at 1st and Gregg. Convenient to downtown (it's at the entrance of the West viaduct), Jones Motor Co. usually has a complete selection of used cars for your consideration. They are trade-ins for the Dodge and new Dodge Dart. Stop by the next time you are in the market for a good used car. Jones Motor may have just the one you are looking for.

Atlas Makes Safe Tires

You can't buy better tires than Atlas, you can't get a better tire deal than you will find at Charlie's Humble Station, with its Security. Before you buy new tires, be sure you talk to Charlie Minchew, the proprietor of Charlie's Humble Station. It will mean money in your pocket and a safer, better set of tires on your car. Charlie's Station, in addition to featuring those famous Humble Petroleum products, carries a complete line of batteries, tires and tubes. Solved — Carpet Cleaning Problem
Science finally has the answer to carpet cleaning. Blue Lustre, a new development, is mixed with water and brushed into carpet or upholstery. It's amazing the way forgotten colors spring out. The nap is left open and lofty. It's easy to apply. One-half gallon of Blue Lustre cleans three 9x12 rugs. Available at Big Spring Hardware, 115 Main St.

India Exports First Iron

NEW DELHI (AP)—India, a country that received its start on industrialization from Britain, has shipped its first order of pig iron to London.

A consignment of 2,000 tons recently sailed and another 6,500 tons have been ordered by Britain. India has exported iron to Japan and Pakistan in the past.

DEAR ABBY

OUT-TALK IT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a television widower. I enjoy television in the living room but I made the mistake of giving my wife a portable TV, which she lugs from room to room wherever she goes. My biggest complaint is that she sets it up in our bedroom. She watches it until she can't keep her eyes open and then she falls asleep. We are young people, Abby, (I am 32 and she is 29) and I am not ready to give up my love life. That TV in the bedroom is killing our marriage. Should I smash it to bits or find somebody who enjoys my company?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: A husband couldn't ask for a more ideal setting for romance. Don't let a mechanical rival (that can be switched off in a second) defeat you. Sharpen up your commercials and do a little selling of your own.

DEAR ABBY: We have four children and my husband has a 15-year-old son by a former marriage who has always spent two weeks with us during the summer. This year I was told he was coming to spend the whole summer with us as his mother couldn't manage him any more. I was neither consulted nor considered. I am the one who has to cook and clean for him, and do his laundry in addition to trying to discipline him, which is not easy. I feel that this responsibility is too much for me as the boy is ungrateful, unreasonable and mean. What should I do?

NOT CONSULTED
DEAR NOT CONSULTED: Tell your husband what you've told me.

DEAR ABBY: Five years ago Bob died and left me with three sons—then 6, 8, and 10. He had some insurance, but I was far from being a wealthy widow.

In all this time (five years) Bob's family did nothing for me or the boys. No one offered to take the boys to a ball game, a circus or to go fishing. Not even a Christmas dinner!

I met a fine man a year ago. He loves me and the boys and we love him. He is not of my religion but I am changing to his to marry him. We've told the boys they may choose their own religion and they are all changing so we can go to church together.

Suddenly Bob's family came to life. They are up in arms. They've been calling and coming over to "bring me to my senses". They say I have no right to do this to Bob's children. I'd like your opinion.

TROUBLED
DEAR TROUBLED: If you promised your first husband to bring up his children in his faith, you should keep that promise. If no such promise was made, disregard the protests of Bob's family. The family that prays together stays together.

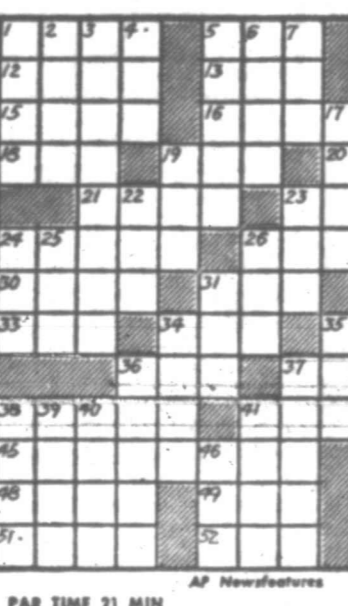

CONFIDENTIAL TO CHET: Have you ever noticed that all hard-boiled eggs are yellow inside?

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of the Big Spring Herald. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Beauty Gets Coed Plum Role

Majoring in physics in probably not the most promising way for a girl to start her career if she wants to become a screen star but Sylvia Koscina did it.

She was a co-ed at the University of Naples, and physics was her subject. She was also very beautiful, and was invited to present a bouquet to the winner of a bicycle race, the Giro de'Italia. Photographs were taken and widely published, and so it happened that physics took a back seat and Miss Koscina went into the movies, and she is now to be seen as Iole in "Hercules Unchained," presented by Joseph E. Levine and distributed by Warner Bros.

Hercules, is Steve Reeves, the muscular young American. Others in the cast are Sylvia Lopez as Omphale, the Lydian Queen who bewitches Hercules and is almost his undoing, and Primo Carnera, the gigantic former champion pugilist of the world, who (as Antaeus) has a mighty battle with Hercules in the picture.

"Hercules Unchained" was produced in Eastman Color by Paramount Pictures in Dynaflex. It continues the adventures of Hercules which were first displayed by Steve Reeves in the film "Hercules." Sylvia Koscina created the character of Iole, who by her beauty and courage won the heart of Hercules.

Good Rains Top Week's News For Texas Ranchers, Farmers

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Good rains fell in a widening area of Texas pushing more crops to maturity, reviving dry ranges and filling stock tanks.

Although some sections are still dry, and the deluges in parts of West Texas endangered some crops, director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service predicted today that the benefits will exceed damages. In the South Plains (Lubbock), where rains ranged upward from 4 inches, some damage was caused by flooding, erosion and hail. Some vegetables were lost but cotton and grain sorghums were helped. Full lakes will make lake irrigation possible for water needed in August. Ranges have been greatly benefited and stock tanks have been refilled.

The Rolling Plains (Vernon) counties all have adequate moisture but cotton and sorghums were washed out and in some spots hail caused extensive damage. Cotton, sorghums, ranges and stock water supplies were improved.

GOOD CONDITIONS
Panhandle moisture ranged from adequate to surplus. The bumper wheat crop was about 98 per cent harvested. From 85 to 100 per cent of the sorghums were planted and ranges were improving. Livestock were in good condition.

Moisture in the northern part of far West Texas around Fort Stockton was very good but it was still dry in the Edwards Plateau counties. Dryland crops and ranges were on the mend in the counties which received from 3 to 5 inches of rain. Cotton was fruiting well and livestock conditions were improving with the new grass growth.

Nolan, Taylor, Blanco and Kendall counties have received rain but other counties in Central West Texas are dry. Cotton was holding up well due to subsoil moisture but other crops and ranges were deteriorating rapidly. Stock tanks are low in the central counties of the area and livestock remain in fairly good condition but the market is in bad shape.

STILL NEEDED
Moisture ranging from showers to heavy rains had been spotted over North Central Texas but a general rain is still needed. All crops are in fair condition but are beginning to suffer from a lack of moisture. Cotton continues to make good growth but serious insect damage has been reported. Ranges, pastures and livestock are in fair condition.

Harrison, Gregg and Smith counties still need rain. Moisture is adequate in all other counties of Northeast Texas. Vegetables are plentiful. Sweet potatoes, cotton and corn are making good progress and prospects are improved for a second cutting of hay.

Soil moisture is very good in deep East Texas, but the top soil is beginning to dry. Cotton and peanuts are making good progress and an above average corn crop. The harvesting of watermelons and peas has reached the peak and the tomato harvest is about complete. The harvesting of an excellent quality peach crop is continuing. Pastures and livestock are in good condition, but pastures will deteriorate if the hot, dry weather continues.

Moisture is adequate in South Central Texas and the sorghum harvest is under way in the southern counties. Prospects for a good late hay crop have improved. Cattle have improved but screw-worms are bothersome.
