Navy Polaris Fires Again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy Saturday successfully fired another Polaris from a submerged submarine in its continuing drive to send the missile to sea as a powerful war deterrent by the end of the year.

Shortly after the launch, it was announced the missile achieved all test objectives in striking a pre-selected target area 1,100 miles down the Atlantic range. The rocket covered the distance in 14 minutes.

The squat missile was launched from the USS George Washington as the big atomic submarine glided beneath the Gulf Stream about 30 miles off Cape Canaveral. This is the same area from which the submarine successfully unleashed two Polaris in historic first launchings 10 days ago.

Compressed air ejected the 29-foot rocket from one of 16 vertical tubes burrowed in the broad deck of the George Washington. The missile drilled through more than 50 feet of water and popped to the surface a split second after launch. The first-stage engine ignited several feet in the air and the Polaris streaked toward a target area northeast of Puerto Rico.

Following the successful double underwater launching last week, Rear Adm. William F. Raborn Jr., director of the Polaris program, declared: "There is no question that we will meet our operational date this fall." But he emphasized that several more successful launchings must be made before the missile can be considered combat-ready.

The George Washington and a sister submarine, the Patrick Henry, are slated to go on patrol, each carrying 16 nuclear-tipped missiles, by the end of the year. They are the vanguard of a fleet of Polaris submarines the Navy hopes to have roaming the oceans of the world within five years.

The initial operational range will be 1,300 miles. Testing has started on advanced techniques designed to increase this eventually to 2,875 miles.

Red Leader Hints At New Sub Power

LONDON (AP)—The deputy commander of Soviet naval forces said Saturday the Soviet Union now has submarines "capable of dealing powerful blows not only against enemy navies but also against objectives situated on remote enemy territory."

Adm. Arseny G. Golovko, the deputy commander, issued the statement on the eve of the celebration of Soviet navy day. His statement was broadcast by radio Moscow.

The admiral's announcement may have been designed to counter the disclosure that the U.S. Navy last week successfully tested two Polaris missiles, which can carry atomic warheads, from the submerged submarine George Washington and hit a target area 1,100 miles away.

Golovko did not specifically claim, however, that the Soviet Union has a new weapon rivaling the U.S. missile.

American naval intelligence has reported the Russians are at work on three or more nuclear submarines and has an unknown number of submarines capable of firing guided, air-breathing missiles with an estimated range of about 350 miles.

Golovko said the advance of Soviet science had enabled his country to equip "the army and navy with the most advanced weapons, including nuclear and rocket weapons."

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

Violence laid a heavy and tragic hand on our community during the week. A rattlesnake bite at Moss Creek Lake, proved fatal to Carol Ann Clark, 18. At Monahans, a derailment piled box cars up and snuffed out the life of W. B. Grady, 55, TAP engineer. Friday, Curtis Miller, 23, was electrocuted while working on a rewiring job downtown.

One of the worst, if not the worst, traffic mishaps in West Texas history claimed nine lives—two mothers and seven children—at Odessa. The manner in which an oilfield service truck compressed a passenger car was reminiscent of several years ago when a refrigerator truck met a car head on just west of here, pressed the car into a pancake and took four lives.

City commissioners accepted more streets last week for the assessment paving program which is due to break ground this week. Virtually all of the utility lowering have been completed. Contractors now have work valued at some $103,000 lined up.

Korean Party Fussing Over Who's To Lead

SEOUL (AP)—The moderate Democrats, landslide winners in South Korea's freest election, were threatened Sunday with a revolt against leader John M. Chang's bid for the prime ministry.

Running on their record of struggle against ousted President Syngman Rhee, the Democratic party was handed a mandate in parliamentary elections to rule virtually as it pleased for the next four years. The question of the hour was: Who will do the ruling?

As titular head of the Democrats, Chang, 60, former ambassador to Washington, was challenged by a faction led by Yoon Bosung, a Scotland-educated conservative. Yoon said his group recognizes no claim by Chang and will insist the prime minister be designated by a poll of House Democrats. The two factions each won about the same number of seats.

Party Discipline

Chang said party discipline should prevail. Yoon retorted that "if Chang were more broad-minded toward our faction, we might support him, but he has not treated us fairly."

Either faction could gain the upper hand by getting a majority of the independents, the second most numerous bloc in the new House of Representatives. United, the party easily had the votes to carry out its platform pledges to put South Korea's economic house in order.

Two-Thirds

Returns from Friday's national election gave the Democrats more than a two-thirds majority in the ruling House of Representatives, more than the once-powerful Liberals had in the last National Assembly.

With the votes needed to amend the Constitution, the Democrats had the power to push through a program of economic reform to combat the rising menace of inflation.

As one anti-inflation measure, the Democrats propose a gradual, one-third reduction in South Korea's 600,000-man army. It's the largest fighting force in the Orient outside Red China.

The Democrats, like the Liberals, before them, are conservative in government.

Nixon Takes Up Farm Problem

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon aimed Saturday at a target date of three to four years to bring the nation's vast farm surpluses under control. He said a massive long-range program, including indemnity payments to farmers, is needed to turn the trick.

Dag Puts Curb On Impatient Congo Chiefs

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was reported Saturday to be meeting resistance from some of the Congo's leaders in his plan to move cautiously in settling the disordered affairs of this young nation.

Several ministers are insisting that U. N. forces move immediately into Katanga Province, which has declared its independence, to expel Belgian forces maintaining order there.

The U. N. view is that such precipitate action could only damage the country's future. Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga has told U. N. forces to stay out of the rich province.

The secretary general held two sessions with a restricted group of leaders in an effort to work out some agreement on the way to save the month-old republic.

Both U. N. and government officials were close-mouthed about the progress being made. But it was generally believed that the veteran U. N. diplomat had pulled no punches in telling the Cabinet how the massive U. N. effort here should be conducted.

Slaughter Named Head Of Old Settlers' Reunion

Jess Slaughter, former sheriff and currently a justice of the peace, is the new president of the Howard-Glasscock County Old Settlers Association. On his shoulders will rest the responsibility of organizing next July's 37th annual old settlers reunion and picnic.

W. L. (Squeaky) Thompson, who has served as president for the past year, relinquished his post to Slaughter on Friday—final feature of the 36th yearly get-together of the pioneers of the two counties.

Wearily but pleased with the celebration, Thompson estimated that 1,500 were fed at the big barbecue at noon Friday. He said that no accurate count could be made of the number served but he added "they were all over the park, under trees, sitting in cars."

The 2,000 pounds of beef and other accessories assembled for the big feed proved ample, he said. There was a wee portion of meat, a few beans, and a pickle or two left over when the crowd had finished eating.

LBJ Turns On The Heat For Southern Vote

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson said today in a biting attack on the Republican administration Saturday night and said Vice President Richard M. Nixon would have to campaign on his record.

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate, departing numerous times from his prepared address, attacked the Republicans' farm and foreign policies, and added: "We're going to talk about the record and he can't dodge it."

Speaking to an outdoor rally attended by close to 10,000 Democrats, he drew his harshest applause when he accused the Republicans of being a do-nothing party.

UP TO GOVERNMENT

"The farmer didn't create and isn't responsible for the box he's standing in," Nixon said. "The government got him to produce more during the war and now must face up to the responsibility of getting him out of that situation."

The vice president held a news conference after conferring for nearly four hours with senators, representatives and other political figures from farm states.

He plunged into the farm problem, which he regards as the most difficult domestic issue facing the nation, almost immediately after accepting the presidential nomination Thursday night.

He said Benson wasn't invited because of differences in their views on solution of farm problems.

The vice president made it clear the approach he will take on a farm program: Don't debate the mistakes of the past. Don't run against Benson, but run for the farmer and the country.

Nixon said if elected he plans to pick a man from the Midwest for secretary of agriculture but declined to say who was under consideration.

He said he expects to spell out his farm policies in detail in a major speech in the Midwest probably in September.

Nixon likened the indemnity payments he would give farmers to the payments the government gave war materials contractors after the war ended. They were reimbursed for the extra expense of doing a rush job on producing munitions.

The vice president said there is no single farm problem but several farm problems occurring in varying geographical areas and depending on the kind of crop grown.

GOP AFRAID

He also was cheered when he criticized what he called "the young men with old fears in the Republican party."

Johnson pledged himself to a hard hitting campaign but he said he would use neither his Southern origin, his Protestant religion nor any racial prejudice as arguments for turning votes.

"Wherever I may go, I will never speak as a Southerner to Southerners or as a Protestant to Protestants or as a white to whites," the nominee said.

Johnson's speech started a Democratic drive to recapture Tennessee and other Southern states the party lost in 1956.

Johnson accused the Eisenhower administration of failing to meet its responsibilities, and said the Republican standard bearers in the election campaign would do no better.

"America has not been served abroad by the party which Americans themselves have chosen to represent them at home," Johnson said. Nor, he charged, has the GOP done its job on the home front.

PAYING FOR IT

"We are paying a price for this—a price freedom cannot afford. We are paying it in the erosion of America's effective leadership in the world abroad."

"Before a world of farmers scratching the soil for a bare living for their families this administration has shown hostility to the family farm."

"Before a world of hungry men and hungry children, this present administration has manifested an unwillingness to distribute the abundance of America's agriculture."

"Before a world of men wracked by illness, this administration has clamped a brake on programs to assure better health for its own people."

"Before a world of men crying for enlightenment, this administration has held back on a commitment to education for this age."

"Before leaders of young nations, this administration has pleaded that the American system—and the American economy—can itself no longer afford the very works which these nations must undertake."

Four New Cranes

OTTAWA (AP)—Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton reports the whooping crane population has increased by four. He told the House of Commons this brought the known number of the birds to 43.

Welfare Issues To Get Priority

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee for president, pushed Saturday for enactment of key legislation at the resumed session of Congress Aug. 8 and put off his active campaigning until afterward.

Kennedy and his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, held a joint news conference in the Cape Cod beachfront home of the presidential nominee's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to London.

Kennedy and Johnson, who sat up until about 2 a. m. discussing the legislative program and campaign schedules, issued a joint statement.

"There are such key issues already on the calendar as medical care for the aged, housing, aid to education, mutual security appropriations, and minimum wage legislation," they said.

"We intend to devote our full energies to the enactment of this program, and we will leave our principal campaigning until the end of the session."

"We hope to have the cooperation of the Republicans and their candidate in the enactment of this program."

This was a reference to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, presiding officer of the Senate, who has just been nominated by the GOP to succeed Dwight D. Eisenhower as president.

"The short three-week period will not allow for partisanship. The American people will be quick to spot obstructionist tactics aimed at keeping us from enacting much of this legislation," the statement added.

Kennedy and Johnson said at their news conference that they had discussed at length the possibility of a supplementary appropriation for defense, which has been suggested by Democrats as a "larrying" answer to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's rocket threats.

Service Today For Victim Of Shock

Funeral services are scheduled for 4 p. m. today for Curtis Claude Miller, victim of electrocution in an accident here Friday afternoon.

Miller, 22-year-old electrician's helper, met almost instant death when he came in contact with a "hot" wire while at work on a rewiring job at Speck's Drive-in, 710 Lamesa Drive.

It was not clear just how the young electrician happened to make contact with the energized wire. He was working in the kitchen portion of the establishment, as an employee of the D&H Electric Co.

Nalley-Pickle ambulance took him to the Howard County Hospital, but he was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Mark Harwell Jr., his co-worker on the project and a cousin, was in the room at the time of the accident. He accompanied the ambulance to the hospital and, on hearing that Miller was dead, suffered emotional shock and was hospitalized briefly.

The service this afternoon will be at the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. C. W. Parmenter officiating, assisted by the Rev. H. D. Seago. Burial will be in the City Cemetery, under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

The victim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Miller of Stanton. He was born in Big Spring May 6, 1938, and had spent his life in this area. He had been associated with D&H for some time and was learning the electrician's trade.

He and his wife made their home at 203 Park.

Mrs. Miller was in North Carolina on vacation. Notified of the tragedy, she flew back to Big Spring, reaching here early Saturday night. She is the former Marilyn Merritt, and they were married July 21, 1956. They have a 15-month-old son, Scott.

Mrs. Sue Ann Born, Big Spring, is a sister of Mr. Miller, and Mrs. B. F. Miller and Mrs. Anna Vastine, both of Big Spring, are his grandmothers.

Miller attended Flower Grove school in Martin County where he was an outstanding student. He was active in all athletic affairs and in student activities. He was salutatorian of his graduating class. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Palbearers will be Vernon Holcomb, Wayne Webb, Robert Webb, Darrell Froman, Dugan Butchee, Daniel Cave, Travis Lillard and Red Sanderson.

Little Girl's Body Is Found

WHEELING, Ill. (AP)—The strangled body of Betsy Benham, 5, was found Saturday under a covering of mud and weeds in a shallow hole less than a block from her home.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron of Cook County said an autopsy showed cause of death was "definitely strangulation."

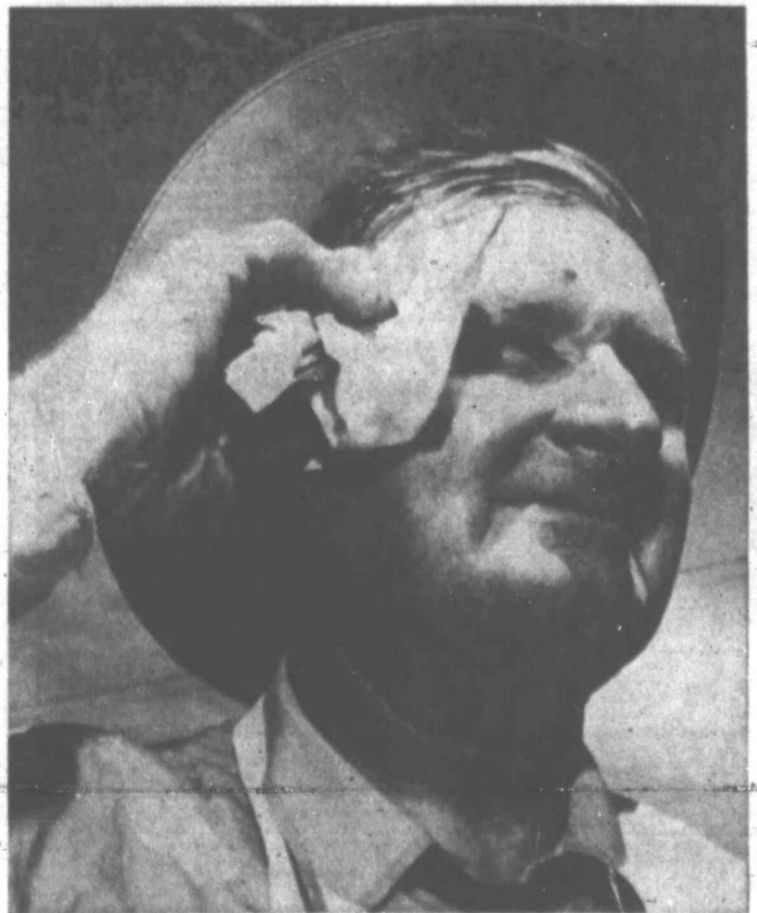

The coroner said there were definite signs the child had been sexually molested, but he said it probably would not be known from further studies until Monday whether the child had been raped.

The little girl was one of five children of Dallas Benham, 29, a motorcycle repairman, and his wife, Alberta, 28.

Betsy disappeared from the yard of her home about 7:30 p. m. Friday.

"Betsy was playing 'dress up' and I was working in the yard on a motorcycle," Benham said.

The girl's body was discovered Saturday morning during a search by police, sheriff's officers and volunteers.

British Bases For U.S. Subs Draw Red Ire

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio today termed "clearly provocative" the plan to provide British bases for American nuclear submarines equipped with Polaris missiles.

The Russian-language broadcast said the United States "forced Britain to assume more onerous commitments" in exchange for "the dubious promise of more detailed information" on reconnaissance flights.

"It is noteworthy that yesterday a spokesman of the British Foreign Office admitted that London and Washington are having a preliminary discussion on the question of the use of British ports by American submarines," the broadcast said.

"Thus, new bases, being created with aims clearly provocative toward the Soviet Union, are to be added to the already existing American bases on British territory."

Storm Dumps Huge Rains On Coast

NEW YORK (AP)—Tropical storm Brenda cloaked and buffeted its way up the East Coast Saturday carrying heavy rains, lashing winds and some thunder and lightning.

The storm swept the Middle Atlantic states, pushed across New York, and plunged deep into New England, moving at a steady 20 miles per hour. Little damage was reported.

Brenda's chief effect was rain.

Passport Bids Parallel Trend For The Nation

Big Spring residents are evidently wandering all over the world these days.

Wade Choate, district court clerk, said that he has filed 77 passport applications for the first half of 1960—a record number since his office has been assisting in this field.

Figures from the United States Passport office show the wanderlust is nationwide. There were 826,812 passports issued through June of this year compared with only 687,900 in the same six months of 1959.

Hardly a week goes by that Choate or his deputy is not called upon to help with a request for a passport. The majority of the passports requested here are by families of Webb airmen who have been given overseas assignments.

However, each year, the office helps a considerable number of civilian residents who plan trips abroad for vacations or business.

Lake Area To Be Treated

The Colorado River Municipal Water District this week will treat an area of Lake J. B. Thomas around the Big Spring-Odeasa intake.

O. H. Irie, assistant general manager-production, said that 2,000 pounds of copper sulfate would be applied to a section of the lake within about a quarter of a mile radius of the intake.

This was done earlier in the spring as it has been semi-annual for the past two years. Irie said that the treatment is experimenting with the application in the hopes of reducing a tendency at certain seasons, particularly in August, for the water taking on a brassy taste.

There has been a slight trend in this direction in the past week, and it is possible that the recent increase in the lake's level displaced or stirred up the waters around the intake. The copper sulfate results so far indicate help to control the growth of algae, the microscopic organisms which tend to impart some of the stumpy taste.

Father And Son Shot To Death

HOUSTON (AP)—A father and son were found shot to death Saturday in their apartment.

They were Jim Orme, 55, a retired used car dealer, and his son, Jimmy, 15.

A. C. Martindale, county medical investigator, said the body of the boy was found on a bed. The body of the father was on a bathroom floor. Martindale said a revolver and a rifle were on the floor of a hall between the two rooms.

Work On Carbon Plant Due Sept. 1

Construction crews for the new carbon black plant northeast of Coahoma refinery will begin arriving here around Sept. 1.

James L. Hines, representing Brown and Root, contractors for the Sid Richardson Carbon Company facility was here Friday making advance arrangements for the workers and their families.

He indicated that work might start on or soon after Sept. 1. Previously, Richardson officials had estimated that the plant costing a few million dollars would be completed by mid-1962. It will be an oil furnace (smokeless type) capable of producing 50,000,000 pounds of black per year.

Hines said that at least 10 of the families would require two and three-bedroom houses and something like two score, others probably would require lesser facilities. He also was interested in listings for trailer park accommodations either in Big Spring, Sand Springs and Coahoma. The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce invited home owners and trailer park operators to provide listings. These will be made available to the Brown & Root crew members being brought here for the work. Other workers will be employed locally.

Texas Building Holds Up Well

DALLAS (AP)—Texas Contractor, a construction magazine, says the Texas construction held its own in July with a total of $28,211,700 bringing the year total to $630,165,325.

The publication says that the Texas seven months total, while a little more than 10 per cent below 1959, stands well in comparison with other sections.

The magazine says signs promise a better volume of construction during the rest of 1960.

Objects To Rights Plank

To the Editor:

I have written to the GOP national convention relative to Rockefeller's blood money and also his civil rights plank which is rightfully termed a gesture and dictatorial slave plank. We recall very vividly that Gov. Rockefeller happens to be the grandson of the great money-baron, John D. Sr., who fathered the tragic Ludlow incident.

These dictatorial planks which are written by both parties will, if adopted, give freedom to everybody except the white race.

I thank you,
William N. Bannitt.

U. S. Has Sent Millions Of Tons In 'Food-For-Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States during the past 45 years has poured out millions of tons of farm produce to help foreign nations, including friends and former enemies, in various types of food-for-peace programs.

There's no hard figure on the over-all cost of this, including both governmental and private aid, it's in the scores of billions.

The Agriculture Department, in explaining America's role during these years, said this sharing was done not only in times when the United States had great surpluses, but also in war times when it required some belt-tightening in this land.

For many years, in the minds of Americans, the department said, food has been linked inseparably with peace.

In the World War II period, American food again played a key role in supporting an Allied victory and hastening reconstruction.

TO BELGIUM
The current food-for-peace program, based largely on the 1954 Public Law 480—permitting sales of surplus farm goods abroad for foreign currencies, donations and barter—carries on this tradition.

The first major food relief effort of the United States got under way in 1914 after the German invasion of Belgium and northern France.

This area, dependent on shipped in food, was cut off from usual sources of supply. Millions of lives were saved when American food was sent in through the Commission for Relief in Belgium, directed by Hoover.

After the United States entered the war in 1917, the food program was expanded to include the United Kingdom and Italy.

At the end of the war, some 200 million people in the liberated nations and former enemy countries were hard-pressed for food. More American food was poured in to help. The good 1919 harvest in Europe eased the situation. But famine struck in Russia in 1921 and, from then into 1923 large amounts of food and medical supplies were sent there.

23 COUNTRIES
The department said that during the World War I food relief program, 1914-1923, about 24 million tons of U.S. food and other relief supplies costing more than five billion dollars were delivered to 23 countries through organizations headed by Hoover. In addition, hundreds of millions of private relief dollars were spent.

In March, 1941, following passage of the lend-lease law, the United States began to procure large quantities of farm goods for the British government.

After the United States entered the war in December 1941, food procurement was greatly expanded, to meet needs of U.S. armed forces and help fill requirements of wartime allies, including the Soviet Union, World War II and postwar food programs fell into four categories:

These included:

1. Purchasing food for U. S. allies. Much of this was under lend-lease.
2. U.S. administered foreign relief programs. These included the Marshall Plan, Greek-Turkish aid, Chinese aid, and Korean aid.
3. Programs where food was turned over to international agencies such as UNRRA.
4. Overseas distribution of U.S. surplus foods through programs conducted by 26 U.S. voluntary agencies, primarily church groups such as Lutheran World Relief, and private organizations such as CARE.

Stanton Band To Start Practice

STANTON — Taylor Stephenson, band director, said the first band practice for Stanton High School will be held Tuesday, at the band hall, at 7:15 p.m.

Stephenson asked that all students who play an instrument attend, even if they did not pre-register for band. Those who are to participate are students from the seventh grade through the twelfth grade.

Damage Cases Are Filed

Three more damage suits, augmenting a half dozen already filed in July, were added to the records of the 118th District Court last week.

G. L. Ritter, Sand Springs, has brought suit against Greyhound Corp. for $50,380. He alleges that on March 24, 1959, Mrs. Neoma Ritter, his wife, was involved in a crash with a Greyhound bus five and a half miles east of Big Spring. He alleges injuries to his wife for which he seeks $50,380.

Bill Tune, filing as next friend for his young son, Tommy Wayne, 6, asks $12,000 for injuries he alleges his son suffered on June 29. He claims that on that date the boy was struck by a car as he rode his bicycle on Circle Drive. Harris Lee Denton is named as the defendant.

WHEN THE POTEETES LEAVE, COAHOMA'S COUNT WILL DIP

COAHOMA—Sometime in the not too distant future Coahoma's population will suffer a sudden decrease.

That will be when the Poteete family leaves for the Philippine Islands.

Wade Choate, district court clerk, assisted Mrs. Raymond Lee Poteete make her application for passports for her family last week. She listed herself and her seven children.

Raymond Lee Poteete is an airman at the Webb Air Force Base and has been assigned to duty in the Philippines. Mrs. Poteete and the children will join him.

Choate said he had never had quite so many names on one passport application in the time he has been assisting applicants in this field.

The application shows that Poteete is 20; Ruth Wilma, his wife, is 26. They were married in Aug. 1951.

The children are:

Francis Steven, aged 8 years; David Lawrence, aged 7 years; Mary Colleen, 5; Katherine Louise, 4; Thomas Russell, 2½; Rose Anne 1; and Anthony Lee who is just six weeks old.

So when the Poteetes depart, Coahoma's population drops nine units.

MOTHER TELLS STORY

Hidden Children 'Not Monsters'

TECUMSEH, Ont. (AP)—"People have the idea you are monsters, let them know you're not," a mother pleaded Saturday Saturday to three children she had hidden from the outside world for 11 years.

Then she told how the secret began and why she continued it.

"We hid the children when we moved to Windsor, Ont., from Detroit because no one would rent a house to a couple with six kids," said Shirley Leach. "When we bought our own home here we still kept the children inside. But by then it was because they were not like other children."

Doctors who examined the teenage boy and two girls after their case was discovered Thursday said they were normal except for their size. Gordon, 14, is 47 inches tall. Glenda, 13, is 38 inches, and Constance, 15, is 50 inches.

Dr. Walter Wren of Grace Hospital described the case as the "greatest medical mystery" he had ever seen. He said they were in good health and neither undernourished nor anemic.

Police learned the mother was hiding the children when Gordon sneaked out of the house while Mrs. Leach was at a dentist's. He went to a neighbor and told the strange story. The neighbor called police.

"LAST CHANCE"

"When I went out of the house," said Gordon, "I knew that if I didn't make it, it would be my last chance. I'd been waiting for a long time to get out. But there was never a chance. We just stayed in all the time."

The children had the run of the two-story frame house. They had toys, books, a TV set and 15 cats.

They were married and away from home, taught them reading, spelling, writing and arithmetic. They learned about the outside world from TV. Mrs. Leach's three older children led normal lives with outside contacts. They never revealed the secret. All the children were by a previous marriage.

"The children have never been neglected," their mother said. "They've never been sick."

"We love our children and always have," said Mrs. Leach's husband, Donald, a painter whom she married after she divorced the children's father, Donald Dickerson, of Detroit. "We want the best for them that we can give them."

Child welfare authorities have not decided whether any action will be taken against the parents.

Electricians Finish Job For Victim

Eighteen city electricians rallied to pay respects to the memory of one of their fellows Saturday morning.

They showed up in a body at the Speck Drive-in on Lamesa Drive and finished up a rewiring job in the place which had been interrupted by the tragic death of an electrician's helper.

Homer Ward, city electrical inspector, said that the death of Curtis Claude Miller, employed by Mark Harwell, D&H Electric Co. delayed the completion of the job. It was urgent that the task be completed without undue delay.

Harwell is an uncle of the young victim.

Ward contacted the city electrical firms and suggested they all report on the premises Saturday and finish up the job for their colleague.

At 8 a.m. all 18 of the men, including 11 master electricians, were on hand. Three hours later, they marched out the place, the entire job completed.

Ward said he called the electricians by phone Friday night. He was grateful at the response.

There was not a man, he said, who so much as offered an excuse.

The master electricians who volunteered are Joe Kitching, Art Latson, Raymond Tally, Buck Musgraves, Bud Petty, Doug Beams, Clyde Chesser, Troy Drinkard, Herman Taylor, Bill Reid, and Ward. Journeymen electricians who were on hand were George Williams, Jan Tally, W. D. Fisher, William Thomas, Jim Nelson, Harold Martin, and Gene Foster.

Union Services On Northside Set This Week

OPEN HOUSE TO BE HELD TUESDAY IN NEW REEDER-HUFF-ESTES AGENCY BUILDING
New plant climaxes more than a quarter of a century of service in Big Spring

New Office Home Climaxes Reeder's 26 Years In City

On Sept. 10, 1934 at 4 p.m. a young couple rolled into Big Spring, convinced that this was a good place to go into business.

It was in the depression and an early autumn sandstorm had filled the air with dust. Nevertheless Roy B. and Lola Reeder had made up their mind to put their roots down here.

Together, with their associates, they will observe open house Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Reeder-Huff-Estes Agency's new home at 506 E. Third Street.

The attractive, modern building, surrounded by a large amount of paved parking area, supplies nearly 2,000 square feet of office space for the agency and for the Reeder Loan Company. Of masonry construction, the plant contains separate offices for agency principals, plus a separate department for accounting. There is space for exansion so that in time there will be a separate department for life, real estate and mortgage insurance.

All of the east walls, and those of the offices, are in mahogany paneling, while the west wall is in natural brick finish, broken with acoustical panels, and the illumination is by ripple light, a multi-colored diffusion of fluorescent lighting. The building is mechanically air-conditioned and heated and the colors are light and pleasant.

Reeder, founder of the business, is associated with J. K. Huff and Bill Estes in the operation of the agency. Huff has been manager of the loan department for half a dozen years, and Estes has headed the insurance department for the past three years. Bill Johnson is chief of the accounting department. The staff has the assistance of three secretaries. The loan company operates under the State Banking Commission.

TRANSFERS CAREER

A native of Howard County, Ark., Reeder simply transferred his career to Howard County, Texas. There's more to the story, however. When he completed business college in Fort Smith, he took a job with a big plantation at Little Rock and for two years got an education in everything from work, to expert, to farm management. En route to Tulsa, Okla., to look for another job, he bumped into a former associate who told him Draughon's College at Abilene was looking for an accounting instructor. He applied and was hired sight unseen. When the head of the college crowded him for an instant decision on going to Dallas to operate the school there, he balked and decided to go into the automotive business.

He took a job as accountant and salesman for a Chevrolet dealer in Baird, a development which led to the most important event of his life. He got interested in a pert young lady who walked by the office—"always late"—on her way to her job in the county clerk's office. He and Lola Johnson were married in 1930. Later, when they moved to Big Spring, her partnometry offices. It was so small that when Dr. Wilke examined a patient, Reeder vacated his office. In time, his business grew and he joined with the late A. C. Walker in 1937 to build a stone building on the west side of the courthouse square, a location which served until the current move to the new quarters.

CIVIC LEADER

Reeder has been active in civic affairs. He was one of the organizers of the American Business Club in 1935 and held all its offices, including president and district governor (for part of a term). He also was an organizer of the Citizens Traffic Commission and the Industrial Foundation, which he serves as a director. Reeder put in several terms as a Chamber of Commerce director and was its vice president. He was Red Cross chapter chairman for three years, and he served as chairman of the Association of Big Spring Insurance Agents. He is chairman of the board of deacons of the First Baptist Church and past president of its Brotherhood and a past president of the Gideon Camp. He also is a Mason and past commander of Big Spring Commandery (Knights of Templar). He has been a leader and worker in innumerable civic and fund raising campaigns. He is on the board of directors of the Texas Automobile Finance Association.

Three Youths Admit Thefts

Burglary of the Big Spring Hardware on June 22 was cleared up Saturday with the arrest of three young Latin-Americans, according to Fern Cox, chief deputy sheriff, and Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney's office.

The two officers spent most of Friday night working on the case and arrested Ismael Valdez, 17, Ismael Flores, 19, and Rudy Baldaras, 19, all of Big Spring. Bonds have been set in their cases at $3,000. None has posted bond.

Cox and West said that two of the suspects have made lengthy statements admitting the burglary in which seven pistols and a record player were stolen.

One of the pistols has been recovered and the officers believe that two or three others can be found.

Baldaras is already under a two-year probation sentence for burglary, West said.

ents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, were transferred here by the T&P.

PICKED BIG SPRING

But first the Reeder moved to Amarillo where he was office manager for the Plains Chevrolet Company. The sales manager there was a dynamic young man who later became an outstanding dealer here—C. D. Wiley.

Later he took a position with the Olney Chevrolet dealer and established a small insurance agency. He and Mrs. Reeder were looking around for a place to make their permanent home and they decided on Big Spring.

It wasn't exactly a bowl of cherries, for he didn't have one prospect for an insurance policy, nor a client for accounting. Moreover, he met with some discouragement when he first announced he was open for business, but from his desk in the family apartment at 601 Main, he set up shop. Nell Hatch was his first customer.

Later he took office space in the rear of Dr. George Wilke's op-

Cast Needs Tall Girls, To Heck With Eye Color

The "five foot two, eyes of blue" idea of womanhood is all right, but the Big Spring Civic Theatre Group is looking for women five foot seven or over and to heck with the color of their eyes.

The group is casting "The Warriors Husband," a three-act comedy scheduled for presentation this fall and needs some stately women volunteers NOW.

The cast requires 37 people on stage and approximately 10 backstage. Most of the roles call for women well over 5 feet. Speaking parts are none too lengthy.

Readings were held Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon. Another reading will be held today at 2 p.m. in the Play House in City Park.

Sgt. Dewey Magee, club president, believes the comedy will make an excellent opening presentation for the Big Spring Play House. Few clubs as young as the BSCT have a play house and few cities the size of Big Spring have a going community theatre group, he noted.

Play Director James Marlin will announce the cast after today's reading. The readings are conducted in private for newcomers and Marlin will hear private or small group readings on request. Marlin feels the director cannot tell the real ability of an actor who is reading a "cold" or "unfamiliar script."

Desert Sands Put In F Zone

A commercial F zone was approved for the Desert Sands Restaurant Friday afternoon at a public hearing called by the planning and zoning commission. There was no opposition.

The commission also approved a plat for the first 100 acres of Kentwood subdivision annexed by the city commission, and approved a re-plat of Hank McDaniel's residential property north of the Cosden Country Club road.

The Sands restaurant and motel, recently annexed to the city, has been operating under the A residential zoning. Herb Vinson, restaurant manager, has applied for a city permit to sell beer, necessitating the re-zoning to commercial.

The planning and zoning commission, in approving the re-zoning, ing, noted that the area of the restaurant will soon be zoned commercial under the proposed master plan zoning ordinance being presented by Marvin Springer, master plan consultant.

New Paint Job Adds To Reputation Of City Pokey

By JACK RADER
Big Spring city jail is a far cry from being a country club but it is undergoing a face-lifting to uphold its reputation as one of the finest pokeys around.
Already counted as one of the most well-kept jails in the country, the $47,877 cellblock is getting a new coat of paint, its first since construction in April, 1957.
Pale pink paint is going on the walls of all 13 cells on the second floor of the police building, replacing the light green color put on three years ago.
In addition to giving the cells a new look, the pink color, which has nearly a light beige tint, will brighten the interior of the cellblock considerably, according to Capt. L. A. Hillbrunner, who, with the approval of Chief Jay Banks, began the re-painting.

The painting is being done by prisoners working off the time they must spend in jail.
The renovating is just another step taken in maintaining Big Spring's reputation among law enforcement officers as having one of the country's finest jails.
While no city jail is really a nice place, Big Spring's jail comes "closer to than most."
A look down the cellblock reveals spottish, shining floors and clean cells, not at all a typical sight throughout the country.
Striking is the absence of piles of dirt, rubbish and other eyerosses common in many city jails, and there is none of the reeking odor usually found in a jail.
"We try to keep the jail spotlessly clean and as sanitary as possible," Chief Banks said.

BATHS REQUIRED
The prisoners are required to bathe at least once a day—that is, if they want to sleep on a mattress. Otherwise, they must sleep on the bare steel bunk. Needless to say, most prisoners prefer to bathe. They must also wash their clothing if it needs it.
"We have plenty of hot water and soap available," Hillbrunner said. "They may come in dirty but we see that they don't leave that way."
The hold-over cell, on the first floor of the building, is mopped every day, usually as soon as corporation court is over, and the last drunk and vagrant processed out.
Keeping the 13-cell, 50-bed capacity jail in tip-top condition might seem a pretty big chore, but Capt. Hillbrunner said there's nothing to it.
"We have plenty of labor, and by tending to it every day it is just a routine job," he said.

Gets Award
A.I.C. Ronald Gaydos (left) demonstrates for his Group Commander, Col. H. Loy Weber, a gadget that netted him a $20 cash award at Webb last week. The innovation, invented by Airman Gaydos, is a simple flange protector to be used around the fuel filler hole on a T-Bird tip tank to protect the paint from the hose and nozzle. The glowing paint used on the tanks as a safety factor is expensive and easily chipped. Airman Gaydos also received a $25 cash award for another device which speeds up work on the jet trainers.

First Counseling Workshop Slated At Y This Week

The first counseling workshop conducted at the Big Spring YMCA will be held Monday through Saturday, according to J. M. (Bob) Hardy, director. Ten YMCA staff members, professional and volunteer, are enrolled for the six courses to be given from 8-11 a.m. daily, Hardy said.
The director said he hopes that techniques of counseling will be learned during the workshop which can be applied not only to individuals but also at the group level. Hardy said he plans to set up a similar counseling-workshop for volunteer group leaders.
The workshop will be coordinated by Dr. Paul C. Young, chief clinical psychologist at the Big Spring State Hospital and volunteer YMCA counseling consultant.
In addition to Dr. Young, guest speakers include Dr. Floyd Mays, M. D., Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent at the state hospital, and Tolford Durham, chief of the social services department, Veterans Administration Hospital.
Monday's session will cover the physical aspects of emotional disturbances by Dr. Mays. Tuesday Dr. Harrison will discuss behavior problems, and Wednesday Durham will take up interview techniques.

Dr. Young will be in charge of the final three days of the workshop, including mechanisms of character formation, on Thursday, techniques of counseling on Friday, and personality and testing on Saturday.
YMCA staff members slated to participate include Hardy, Joe Leach, Everett Taylor, Cornelia Childs, Mrs. James Duncan, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Pete Cook, W. R. Daves, Mrs. Ira Thurman and Mrs. Moree Sawtelle.

Six Teachers Are Needed At Stanton

STANTON — Six more teachers are being sought to round out the faculty of the Stanton schools for the 1960-61 term.
L. M. Hays, superintendent, listed a social studies instructor, biology and general science for high school and a science teacher for junior high, and teachers for the sixth, seventh and eighth grades at Stanton and the seventh and eighth at Courtney among the current vacancies. School starts Aug. 23.

SEPARATE UNITS

Separate facilities are maintained for juveniles. These cells and cells for women prisoners are on the west end of the floor, isolated from the main cellblock.
A day room is also maintained where the prisoners eat. The tables in this large cell are also due a new paint job, Capt. Hillbrunner said.
Prison labor is also used for keeping the cells in the spottish condition. Rules governing prisoner behavior also counts toward the overall appearance of the second floor.
The cells are mopped twice a day, once during the morning and once in the afternoon, Capt. Hillbrunner said. Disinfectant is also used during the mopping to maintain sanitary conditions. Once a week, scalding water is used in hosing down the cells.
The floors throughout the cell-

DEAR ABBY

THOSE TONSILS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I love to sing for the fun of it and everyone says I have a terrific voice and sound just like Bing Crosby. I have come up against a problem. Some people say if I have my tonsils and adenoids taken out I will sound even more like Bing Crosby, but I am afraid to take the chance. Can you find out for me if Bing Crosby ever had his tonsils and adenoids taken out?

Your mother's relatives have no right to stand in the way of the wedding you want. Fulfill your dreams, and if your mother's relatives don't like it, let them stay home.
DEAR ABBY: There is a couple we know (notice I did not call them "friends") who come to our house quite often and bring their three children. I shouldn't call them "children" as they are more like juvenile delinquents.
These parents just sit there and watch their kids take my house to pieces and they never say a word.
Would I be out of line to take the matter of discipline into my own hands and handle those wild animals like I'd handle my own if they did the same thing?

DEAR ABBY: My parents were divorced when I was nine. Neither has remarried. My father supported us well. Mother never had to work and he put me through college. I am being married soon. My father said he would pay for a large church wedding and is looking forward to the thrill of walking me down the aisle. I've always dreamed of a big church wedding and walking down the aisle on the arm of my father. Well, here's my problem. My mother's relatives say if Dad walks me down the aisle, they will not come to my wedding. Mother will come—but not her relatives. I love my mother's family, but I want the lovely large wedding. I can't make up my mind.

UNDECIDED

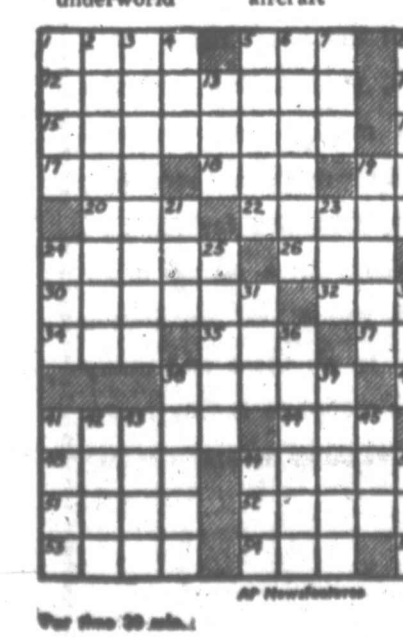

DEAR UNDECIDED: Your first thought should be for your intended, your mother and father (divorced or not) and in that order.

DEAR HAD: Don't attempt to "discipline" anybody else's children. Direct your protests to the delinquent parents.
DEAR ABBY: I have a message for "THE OTHER WOMAN"—I have offered my husband his freedom so that he could marry you, but he refused. Another thing, we haven't been married 20 years. It was 20. He lied about his age. 100. THE WIFE.
"What's your problem? Write to Abby in care of The Big Spring Herald. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send 25 cents and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of The Herald.

WHY ARE YOU ILL?
IF YOU ARE NERVOUS and irritable, you probably have many different symptoms of illness. Nerve irritations disrupt the harmony of all the functions of the body — and the body is sick.
TO CORRECT this illness, you must look to the CAUSE of your nervousness. You should be examined to determine the existence of nerve irritations in the spine. Your doctor of Chiropractic is a specialist in this work. He will massage your spine and enlighten you as to your need. Correction of "no cause" will result in renewed health.

Teacher Is Found Shot In The Head

YORKTOWN HEIGHTS, N. Y. (AP)—A pretty, red-haired young teacher was shot to death in a lover's lane area late Friday. A passing motorist apparently missed seeing the killing only by moments.

The victim, Carol Sgritta, 24, of North Troy, N. Y., was found sprawled across the front seat of a car, half in and half out of the vehicle, blood still streaming from her wounds. She had been shot four times in the head.

She was fully clothed except for her brown sandals, which lay nearby. Her purse was on the seat of the car. Police said she had not been sexually attacked, and her handbag showed no attempt at robbery.

Wallace Tompkins, a Yorktown garage owner, said he was driving on the Taconic Parkway when, just off the road, in a lover's lane, he saw a tall, slim man lifting the girl into the car. Tompkins said he was about to halt to investigate when he spotted a gun butt protruding from the man's pocket. He said blood streamed from the girl's head.

Tompkins raced half a mile to the nearest house and telephoned state police.

When they arrived the thin man was gone and Miss Sgritta was dead in her blue and white car. Police said the girl, a teacher on Long Island, was driving from her parents' home in Troy to visit friends at Mt. Kisco, N. Y.

A note included with the money said: "Sorry. My conscience won't let me keep this." There was no signature. This package bore 54 cents worth of stamps.

"I'm glad his conscience is clear," said Witt last week. "He's done real good to redeem himself."

A most unusual thief," said police Capt. E. C. Wilson. "I'd like to tip my hat to him."

Thief Returns Stolen Money

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Five days after discovering about $100 missing from his cafe, Buford Witt got a package in the mail with $99.63 enclosed.

A note included with the money said: "Sorry. My conscience won't let me keep this." There was no signature. This package bore 54 cents worth of stamps.

"I'm glad his conscience is clear," said Witt last week. "He's done real good to redeem himself."

A most unusual thief," said police Capt. E. C. Wilson. "I'd like to tip my hat to him."

On Police Force

Aubrey Page Hurley, criminal investigator in the Tarrant County sheriff's office at Ft. Worth, will start to work here Monday as an apprentice detective, according to Police Chief Jay Banks. Hurley has had seven years experience in criminal investigation with the sheriff's office, and has also conducted investigations and performed guard duty for the Covair Air-Craft Company in Ft. Worth. He was one of six new patrolmen hired earlier this month.

Meat From Packer On Just One Day

CHICAGO (AP)—The meat packing industry, once concentrated on rail heads in a half dozen major cities, now lies within an overnight truck run for almost any livestock shipper in the nation.

Indeed, for many livestock producers the market may be no farther away than the pasture or feed lot gate or an auction pen in the nearby town.

No longer must a steer, hog or lamb be shipped hundreds of miles to get their T-bones or chops on sale to housewives a few blocks down the street from the railroad station.

No longer do purchasing agents for a few major packers dominate buying of livestock for slaughter. For example, in Chicago which still is the largest U.S. cattle market, there are more than 225 livestock buyers for about 400 packing companies in 38 states.

More than 2,200,000 head of cattle cleared through Chicago last year, but the volume was a small per cent of the total marketings for the nation. Millions of other animals were sold through hundreds of auction pens throughout the country, or sold directly to buyers in feed lots or pastures. This change in the packing industry and the marketing of livestock has taken place mostly in the years since the end of World War II. It is ascribed mainly to population growth which created expanded and more widespread metropolitan centers for meat distribution and to improvement in highways.

Beef consumption in the United States 30 years ago was about 50 pounds a year for each person. This year for a much larger population it is estimated at about 80 pounds.

Consumption of pork and lamb has increased at about the same rate.

The nation's meat supply was processed 30 years ago by about 700 packers. Now there are about 2,400. Such names as Swift, Armour and Wilson still are top ranking among companies in the industry maintaining more plants than ever in their history. But in the decentralization of operations to move into developing new markets they finally abandoned entirely their slaughtering operations in Chicago.

In closing down the Chicago plants, all three companies said the facilities had become obsolete and could not be restored profitably to modern processing requirements. The outmoded facilities were more than 30 years old.

There still are 20 smaller packing companies in Chicago. The three major concerns still supply their meat trade here from other modern installations in the Midwest. They had gradually taken over smaller areas of a broad distribution formerly handled from the single Chicago plant.

The 20 smaller companies here buy about 25 per cent of all cattle and sheep and about 30 per cent of all sheep shipped into Chicago for sale.

Big Spring Tops Similar Cities In Police Ratio

Big Spring has the highest ratio of policemen of any city in Texas in the population bracket 25,000 to 99,999.

Dr. Woodworth G. Thrombley and Wendell M. Bedichek of the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Texas announced their findings after a study of police departments of the cities of the state.

Their study shows that Big Spring, with 36 policemen, has 7.1 police officers for each 5,000 persons. Big Spring, with Snyder and Odessa, are at the top of the state city list in the number of policemen they have, the study discloses.

The results of the study are based on answers to a questionnaire sent to 227 cities in the state. Statewide, the average number of policemen per 5,000 population is 6.4.

Odessa, the survey shows, has the greatest number of policemen—95—of any city in the 25,000 to 99,999 population bracket. Snyder is tied with Lufkin and Groesbeck for the largest police force in the 10,000 to 24,999 bracket. Each of these cities has 24 policemen.

Statewide average expenditures for police protection on a per capita basis is $5.31.

WELL, IT'S HOT ANYHOW

Friday's high temperature reading of 108 failed by one degree to reach the year's high of 109 registered June 21.

It did, however, set a new high for the date. The previous top for July 29 was 104 in 1912 and 1944.

The hottest temperature ever recorded in Big Spring was 117 on June 30, 1907.

Early Saturday morning showers of .03 brought the July rainfall total to 4.32, about twice the normal, according to Grady Randel of the U.S. Experiment Station.

Cap Rock To Fill 6 Places

STANTON (SC)—Six directors, instead of the customary three, will be elected at the annual meeting of the Cap Rock Electric Co-operative in Big Spring on Sept. 1.

The session, marking the silver anniversary of the Rural Electrification Administration, will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College auditorium. One of the highlights will be the presentation of scholarships to H.C.J.C. Another will be the awarding of eight $25 cash prizes, plus a membership prize of $100.

O. B. Bryan, manager, will present the cooperative's annual report on the completion of 21 years of operation by Cap Rock in six counties of this area.

In addition to naming directors to the places now held by Glenn Cantrell, Arah Phillips and Douglas Cauble, the membership also will fill those held by Bill Howell, Edgar Phillips and J. C. Sals. The latter three places are carried over from last year since there was not a quorum present at the 1959 annual meeting.

Hold-over directors are Mrs. Lee Castle, D. W. McDonald and Paul Adams.

Co-Op Meets On Tuesday

COLORADO CITY—Members of the Lone Wolf Electric Co-operative Inc. will elect three directors in their annual meeting Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the Lone Wolf Co-ops auditorium.

Two candidates, including an incumbent, are nominated for the three vacancies on the nine member board.

They are Forrest Porter, incumbent; F. Finley, Ed Roach, incumbent; W. P. (Parker) Jarman; Sam Williams, incumbent; and Othal Ellis.

Other members of the board are W. H. Cooper, president; Martin Murphy, vice president; Gwan C. Strange, secretary-treasurer; Raymond Althoff, A. K. McCarty Jr., and Lindon Solomon.

The board directs a $2,000,000 membership-owned cooperative. Lone Wolf was chartered Aug. 2, 1939 and has installed 1,100 miles of lines to serve a multi-county area centered on Colorado City.

A total of 2,800 connections and 175 irrigation wells within the area are served by Lone Wolf electricity. Included in the total are some 1,600 oil well connections in half a dozen fields.

A Pat on the Back

For Capt. William J.
and Alyce Boudreaux

Captain and Mrs. Boudreaux are leaving Big Spring today.

Twelve times since World War II, they have received transfer orders—and each time they have faced the move with mixed emotions. In joining the U.S. Air Force, Jay chose both a career and way of life for his family that suited them all. His wife, Alyce, and their three handsome boys, Jay K., Allen and Ed Roy all love to travel—which in part, compensates for leaving so many good friends.

"We have never regretted leaving any town more than we have this one," said Mrs. Boudreaux. Here, as in other towns, they have entered into community life as though it would be their permanent home. At the Goliad Junior High P.T.A. meetings, Jay and Alyce served as president and vice-president respectively during the past year. As an active Toast Mistress, Alyce was elected secretary of that club where Jay also held the office of treasurer.

The welfare organization for base personnel known as "Family Service" has been Mrs. Boudreaux's special interest. She was the first person to put in over 500 hours in this volunteer service at Webb. Its purpose is to give aid to service families in any way it is needed. Numerous civic clubs have heard her lecture on Etiquette and Air Force Protocol or enjoyed the demonstrations of tap and ballet given by her dance students. The entire family enjoy good music and all three boys study piano.

Their hobbies are many. Capt. Boudreaux golfs, bowls and does extra-curricular flying in the Aero Club. Alyce likes to paint and has done professional modeling for a number of years.

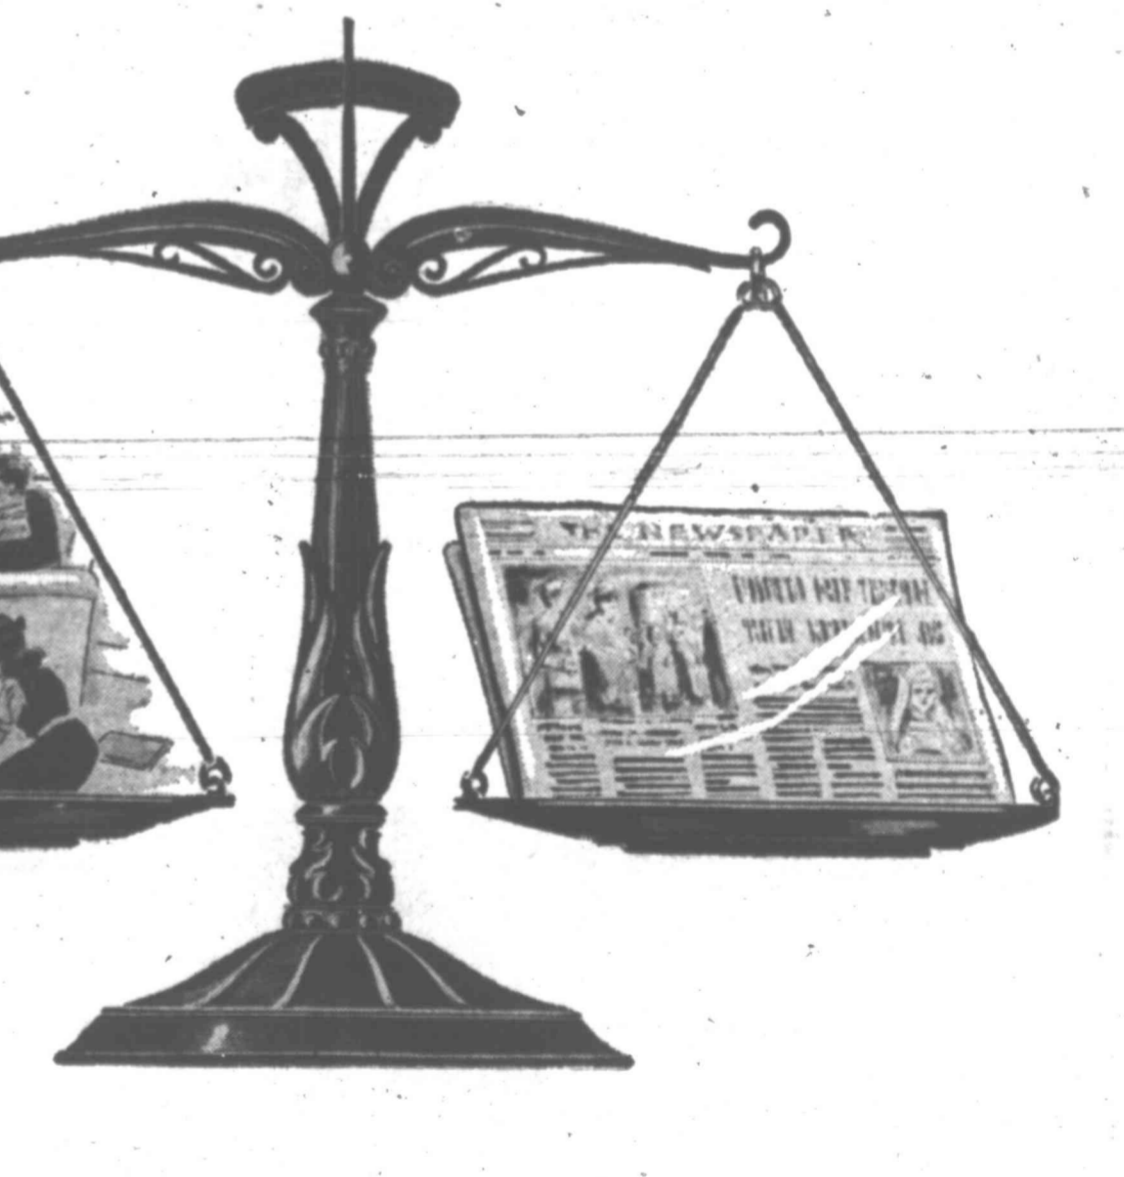

Though he would be eligible for retirement in only a few years, Jay says they have made no definite plans since there is still a lot of the country they want to see before deciding where they'll settle down someday.

Captain Boudreaux is the assistant operations and traffic officer for the Pilot Training Group. After three years in Big Spring, their new home will be Castle Air Force Base, Merced, California.

Ackerly Receives Brisk Downpour

A brisk shower early Saturday morning dropped .70 inch moisture on Ackerly, according to Mrs. Bruce Crain. She said there were reports of an inch to an inch and half in the south part of the town. There was no rain west of Ackerly.

A thundercloud rolled in the early hours of Saturday and a light sprinkle fell in Big Spring. The U. S. Experiment Station reported .03 inch rain.

How to Judge the Value of Your Newspaper

Have you ever judged the value of your newspaper? What it actually means to you and your family? Then, let's pause a second and analyze its true value.

Right from the very first page to the last, your newspaper is packed with all the latest news about your community, your state, your nation and the whole world. Also, there's market and financial news and sports coverage. For mother, there are features that appeal to her whether it's fashion... social events... homemaking or a dozen other feminine interests. Too, both young and old always find the comics entertaining. In all these and many other fields, you'll find this a complete family newspaper... a newspaper that becomes a family affair the minute it arrives.

Col-Tex Club Gets Addition

COLORADO CITY — The Col-Tex Club at Lake Colorado City is getting an extension. This parallels a major addition to the Couden Country Club in Big Spring.

Plans are to add 4,000 square feet to the Col-Tex Refining Co. recreational facility which is owned by Couden employees. The addition will be a 40 by 100 foot insulated fabricated steel structure. Immediate construction costs will be $22,000 according to Trevor Crawford, Couden engineer at Col-Tex.

The new wing will contain rest-rooms, a ballroom, TV and party rooms and a kitchen.

The present club building will be remodeled and the present kitchen will be replaced by a pool and dining room.

Foundation for the addition will be poured next week. Main construction is expected to take four to five weeks.

More Bees

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas beekeepers had an estimated 272,000 colonies of bees July 1, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said Saturday. This is a one per cent increase over the 269,000 a year ago.

Ball Of Fur—And Fire

This tiny ball of fur is cute as a button—from a distance. Only a month-old, the bobcat is all fierce snarls, bared teeth and sharp claws, and has a strong dislike for people. It was caught in the hills around Lake Thomas Lodge this week and lodge manager Wayne Dawson hopes to domesticate him for a pet. So far Dawson, by exercising caution, has managed to scratch the kitten behind the ears as a friendly gesture, but the object of his affection has yet to reciprocate.

Technical Handbooks Are Now Flourishing Industry

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Back in 1950, Chester Lytle's electronics company began doing research engineering and development in the nuclear weapons field.

He found out that many of the items needed accompanying technical handbooks. So the company began producing those, too, and the result is a flourishing space-age industry.

Its job is explaining ideas and gadgets so clearly that the people who work with these gimmicks of the future can do quick, sure jobs.

The work amounts to putting an idea into plain English. It takes a lot of doing, says Lytle, to transmit information from people who generate complex ideas for the fabulous things of these fantastic times to the people whose job is making those ideas work.

His principal customers are the Defense Department and defense contractors, and much of his business is related to nuclear weapons. On his full time professional staff are more than 500 engineers, engineering writers, illustrators, photographers, graphic artists and draftsmen.

They produce things like handbooks which tell how to fire missiles, movies to show workmen how to put a new gadget together and displays to show how scientific instruments operate. Because of the nature of their work, 90 per cent of the firm's employees have top secret or secret clearances.

As an example of the need for such work, Lytle says, "a significant number of U.S. missile failures have been traced to faulty procedural data," as opposed to hardware malfunctions.

If the men who handle the shipping of a Titan ICBM to Cape Canaveral and those who handle it when it gets there don't know correct procedures, it's hardly worth setting one of the multi-million dollar missiles on a firing pad.

Lytle, 47, who played center on his high school football squad, is the son of a mathematics professor. His father died when Lytle was 8.

After college in 1939 he joined Zenith Radio Co. and became executive engineer. He remained with the company until 1943 when he started his own business.

Lytle has other plants or offices in Chicago, Los Angeles, San Diego, Hollywood, Washington, D.C., San Antonio, Tex., and Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

But his big one is in Albuquerque because it is a hub of nuclear and space research.

Ike To Have Limited Role In Republican Campaign

CHICAGO (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently is going to play only a limited role in Richard M. Nixon's election drive as the GOP presidential nominee.

Nixon's associates hope he will not confine himself merely to defending the record of his own administration. They hope he will endorse the liberalized platform put through at the Republican convention last week by the team of Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

In modified words, that platform calls, among other things, for an accelerated defense program. Eisenhower has been inconsistent that the present program is adequate. He has opposed speed-up proposals made by Democrats in Congress. Whether the President will change his stand remains to be seen.

Crash That Killed Nine

Witnesses Tell Of Receiving Cash To Kill Texan's Wife

AUSTIN (AP)—A young Negro woman testified Saturday that Joseph Selby slipped her $1,500 in an envelope to send his wife a box of poisoned candy.

The testimony of Lilly Tillman, 24, highlighted the second day of the trial of the wealthy Houston accountant on charges of murdering his wife.

Patra Mae Brown, 31, earlier testified about the night Mrs. Selby, 48, was shot in her home. The bounds woman is charged with murder but has turned state's evidence. Her testimony aided the state in obtaining the death sentence of Maggie Morgan, Negro woman, for her part in the fatal shooting. She repeated her story Saturday to the all-white jury of five women and seven men. Mrs. Tillman did not testify in the Morgan trial. The defense did not ask a single question on cross examination. The young woman said Selby first came to her apartment in November 1958 and made six or seven trips there during the next several months. It was not brought out how Selby first met her.

"He said he had a job he wanted to be done. He said he wanted to get rid of someone. I asked him who he wanted to get rid of and he said his wife," said Mrs. Tillman. She said she agreed to do it. She said she had found a person

Texas Visitors Get Warm Reception From Kennedys

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Texans, noted for open-handed hospitality, found on a visit to Sen. John F. Kennedy Saturday what supposedly cool and aloof New England has warmth, too.

The Democratic presidential nominee gave free run to his father's 15-room beachfront home to 30 Texas newspaper men and women who accompanied his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, on a trip.

Kennedy noted at the outset of a news conference with Johnson that all present really were guests of his sister, Mrs. Eunice Shriver.

Mrs. Shriver is occupying the home of her father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former Ambassador to London, who is vacationing with his wife on the French Riviera. The Texans, some of whom arrived in the traditional 10-gallon hats of their state, expressed some surprise privately at the simplicity and courtesy of the millionaire Kennedys.

made available to them—including those in bedrooms where the beds still were unmade. Kennedy made a point of meeting all the Texans individually and posing for pictures with any of them who wanted to stand alongside.

Earlier this week, some 25 newspaper, radio, television and newsreel people gathered outside the house for possible comment by Kennedy when the Republican National Convention adopted its platform and nominated Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president.

Youth Charged In Box Car Burglary

Charges of burglary have been filed against Joe Ramirez by the district attorney in connection with the burglary of a T&P railroad car here July 10.

Three cases of beer were taken from the car which was parked on a siding behind the Standard Sales warehouse, 106 Lancaster.

Ramirez was arrested by Sgt. Jack Hackney and Capt. Walter Eubanks, Big Spring Police Department.

Adenauer Ends French Talks

PARIS (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer returned to West Germany Saturday night after two days of meetings with President Charles de Gaulle, during which they decided on "new and strong moves" for European and Atlantic policies.

A German source, giving a brief outline of what happened at the talks, hinted that top-level meetings in some disfavor after a breakdown of the Paris summit meeting—were going to be resumed.

This informant said British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be visiting Bonn Aug. 10-11 at the invitation of the German government and indicated other high level meetings would follow. Premier Michel Debre of France will visit Germany in the late summer or early fall.

"Everything went off so well we did not need all the time we had set aside," Adenauer said at the airport on departure. Concrete moves were outlined by Adenauer and De Gaulle, an informant said, but nothing is to be divulged until allies are informed and give approval. Presumably the ideas that were thrashed out here will be submitted to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council and the council of ministers of the six-nation Common Market.

Flier's Mother Asks To Attend Moscow Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ailing mother of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers has joined the flier's father in planning to go to the Soviet Union for her son's spy trial next month if Moscow will allow it.

So far, only the father, Oliver Powers of Pound, Va., has been granted the necessary visa and he has not disclosed when he will go.

An attorney said Saturday he feels he is being "purposely put off" by the Russians in his efforts to obtain visas for the wife and three attorneys who want to help defend Powers. The wife also expressed anew her feeling that the State Department is not doing enough in her husband's behalf.

Powers, 30, was shot down in the U.S.S.R. May 1 and is to go on trial Aug. 16 on espionage charges.

Texan Calls For Third Party

DALLAS (AP)—Frank Bezon, Midland attorney and chairman of his county's Democratic Executive Committee for almost a decade, told the Constitution Party's interstate convention Saturday a third political party is needed.

Bezon said he would resign as Democratic chairman of Midland County.

He added he was not joining the Constitution Party but was hoping to weld "splinter groups" from ranks of the Republicans and Democrats into a new party. He said such forces were lacking only a leader as presidential nominee.

At the second day of the convention closed, the Constitution Party still was without candidates for president and vice-president—the convention objective.

Former Resident Of Mitchell Dies In Neosho, Mo.

COLORADO CITY — Funeral services for Leonard Marvin Hallman, 51, former Mitchell County resident who died in Neosho, Mo., Friday, will be held Monday at 10 a.m. at the First Methodist Church in Colorado City.

Rev. H. L. Morris, pastor of the Coahoma Methodist Church will officiate, assisted by Rev. Darris Egger, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Colorado City. Burial will be in Rest Haven Memorial Park cemetery, Midland, under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral home, Colorado City.

Asking Dismissal Of Challenge Against LBJ

HOUSTON (AP)—A Houston attorney said Saturday he will ask for the dismissal of the suit challenging Sen. Lyndon Johnson's right to be a candidate for both vice president and senator.

Leon Jaworski said he is one of three attorneys representing Johnson in the case. He named Edward Clark and John Coker, both of Austin, as the other lawyers.

San Antonio Would Be A Nixon Stop

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—San Antonio will be the first on the list of Texas cities Vice-Pres. Richard Nixon will visit during his presidential campaign.

That was the assurance Saturday from Joe Sheldon, Republican state committee man, as he stepped from the train bringing San Antonio delegates to the National Republican Convention back home.

New Look At The World

Gordon Dickerson, 14, smiles from his hospital bed in Tecumseh, Ontario, after he had been removed from his home where he had been confined with two sisters for 11 years. The plight of the children was discovered when Gordon wandered from the house and talked with neighbors. Police said the boy was only 47 inches tall and that all the children were suffering from malnutrition. Police also found 15 cats in the house. Nurse with Gordon is Frances Newman. (AP Wirephoto)

Omer William's New Operators Of Day School

Big Spring Christian Day School, southwest of town, is now under the management and supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Williams. They have taken over the operation of the school from Mr. and Mrs. Gene Combs, who founded the school in 1955.

No changes will be made in policy or personnel in the school. Mr. and Mrs. Combs have moved to Midland where he is entering the automotive parts business. Mrs. Williams will act as principal of the school.

Rubber Firms In Wage Agreement

Hardesty Accepts Nolan Challenge

Howard County Democratic Chairman Frank Hardesty has taken the challenge of his Nolan County counterpart, Ocie Hunt, to see which of the two counties will have the highest percentage of registered strength vote Democratic in the November general election.

paid a surprise business visit. Then Maj. Gen. Wendell W. Bowman, commander of the 33rd Air Division (SAGE), flew in for an inspection at Webb, followed a couple of days later by a visit by Maj. Gen. John S. Hardy, commander of the Air Force training center at Keesler Field.

Our weather pattern contained a little bit of everything. First there were spotted but intense showers in the area; then balmy calm; then sizzling heat up to 108 degrees; then more light showers; then stiff breezes.

The Old Settlers Reunion had its 36th round Friday and despite terrific heat there was a big turnout—as there always is for an old-fashioned barbecue. Some of the old timers, who have been doing the work, got more than a little out—as there always is for an old-timer who managed to show up too late to help but just in time to eat.

Symptomatic of the times, there were several burglaries and a safe-cracking during the past week. There was a rash of raids on cigarette and other coin machines. When the economic cycle slows, vultures step up their tempo for an easy buck.

Residents in the Coahoma area rallied in a very substantial way to the support of an application for a bank bond for a proposal for linking U.S. 80-east SH 350 (Snyder Highway) by a 3.9 mile loop. It will be the next lateral road project for Howard County, our county commissioners were told, and will become an extension of FM-700.

From New York Ellis went to Mexico City where he was seen some years later by a Cuero resident, Joe Wiley. Wiley related he was standing on one of the main streets watching a parade when Ellis rode by in a victoria pulled by two black steeds. He went on to relate that Duke was dressed in high style, complete with silk top hat. What part he played in the parade Wiley never learned because the Negro vanished in the crowd and the Cueroite never saw him again. Enterprising Negro Launched Fabulous Ethiopian Career

By NINA H. SCARBROUGH
Written for the Associated Press

CUEVO (AP)—Around the turn of the century a Cuero Negro named Duke Ellis launched a fabulous career which took him to Abyssinia, where he earned his title which eventually led to his downfall.

As Thornton Hamilton, a Cuero pioneer, relates it, the late Otto Buchel Sr., pioneer resident of Cuero, operated several businesses in the town. He employed Ellis at his hide house. The Negro was a good worker and above the average in intelligence.

This was during the era when millionaire playboy E. H. R. Green, staunch Republican, was very much in the limelight, and Ellis became interested in politics. He dabbed in a small way in the beginning, but possessing an aggressive personality, soon wended his way to Washington, D.C. President McKinley was in office.

Duke secured a prominent position with the State Department, and in due time gained access to circles patronized only by Top Brass at that period. When the United States appointed an ambassador to Abyssinia, new Ethiopia, Ellis was sent along as his assistant. However, during the voyage the ambassador very conveniently disappeared. His body was found a month or so later washed on the shores of France. Emperor Menelik II, who claimed to be a descendant of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, was ruling Abyssinia.

With the post of ambassador unfilled by the untimely death of the appointee, the necessity for appointing another became imperative. Ellis succeeded in attaining the position.

The newly-appointed ambassador became popular with the emperor and his court, and in time was given the title of "Duke."

Unfortunately Ellis' rapid rise to position, coupled with his extreme popularity, caused him to become pompous and overconfident, and he sought to overthrow the government.

Sensing subversive activities were underfoot and that Ellis was at the bottom of them, Menelik issued an order for the ambassador's arrest. But Duke escaped, barely making it across the border to safety.

The fugitive took up residence in New York City where he set up luxurious office quarters in one of the more exclusive business districts, at the same time posing as a Cuban.

While in the City Ellis became seriously involved in some questionable ventures, and his true identity was revealed. He was told to move on. From New York Ellis went to Mexico City where he was seen some years later by a Cuero resident, Joe Wiley. Cantaloupe King

Who says king-size cantaloupes have to be imported? These whoop-ers are grown Texas-Style, big and delicious, right here in Big Spring. Jack Hackney, city police officer and part-time farmer, raises the melons in a garden next to his house just northwest of the city. With a gasoline-driven garden tiller, Hackney has transformed his side yard into a lush cantaloupe haven from which he has picked around 300 melons this season. Keeping them picked before they spoil is the biggest problem, he said. "I've given a car-load away picking them every day. One day last week I picked 25." A new one ripens up just as soon as one is picked from the vine. Hackney isn't complaining, however. He just picks and rejoices.

Finding Of Relic Made An Historian

By CHARLES STAFFORD

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—N. E. Warinner never cared much for history. Then he found a cannon ball. Now he digs into Civil War history like Huck Finn going after fishin' worms. Literally. With a shovel. And it's made an historian of him. Warinner has become executive assistant of the Virginia Historical Society, a member of the Richmond Civil War Round Table, and an expert on Civil War battlefields, uniforms and armament, all because of his hobby.

He's a relic hunter, a scavenger of old battlefields. The battlefield relic hunter is a recent breed, a stepchild of the revitalized interest in the Civil War. Armed for the hunt, he's a sight to behold. He stands firm in his clodhopper shoes, earphones bracketing his head and a metal detector—first cousin to a mine detector—clutched in his hands. His belt sags under an old Army entrenching shovel, a snakebite kit and a lost bag. His expression is a round-robin debate between excitement, suspicion and cunning.

Relic hunters are men in search of treasure: Minnie balls, uniform buttons and buckles, swords, pistols, cannon balls, and maybe one day the treasure supreme, a cannon. Collectors pay dearly for these things. And it's a fact to gladden the hearts of sons and daughters of the Confederacy how much better they pay for Rebel items—$65 for a Confederate belt buckle compared with $25 for a Union buckle. The new find numbers from every Civil War battleground. But Richmond is the capital. There was a lot of fighting here, and much of it was done early in the war before the gear of the armies had been standardized. This increases the chance of a rare find.

There are perhaps two dozen relic hunters in Richmond, many of them youngsters. "Kids around here buy metal detectors instead of bicycles says Warinner. He finances many of their excursions, putting up money for gasoline in return for first refusal on their loot.

One boy, Glenn Payne, helped earn money for his education at the University of Richmond by hunting relics. "I bought about $300 worth of stuff from him myself," says Warinner. For his research, he uses Civil War maps and the "official record"—the 128-volume "The War of The Rebellion: A compilation of the official records of the Union and Confederate armies"—which he got in a swap for 1,500 minnie balls.

Relic hunters, as some have learned to their sorrow, are not permitted to hunt on battlefields within the National Park system. Digging there can result in a stiff fine and confiscation of the hunter's equipment. Probably 90 per cent of the battlefields are privately owned, however, giving the hunter ample room for his search.

Although Warinner says it would be impossible to make a living hunting relics, it is possible to make a little money. He keeps any valuable items, but sells the rest to souvenir shops. Many items from Virginia battlefields are shipped to shops near the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., where they are offered for sale as "battlefield relics." "They just don't say which battlefield," says Warinner.

Children To Have Their Own Hotel

AUSTIN (AP)—A "hotel for children" whose parents become ill or must go out of town without them opens here Monday. It is called the first of its kind in the nation. Mrs. Inez Jeffery, owner of a kindergarten, will run the hotel.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., July 31, 1960 9-A

She says it will maintain 24-hour care for children 2 to 7 years old. Children may stay as long as their parents care to leave them, she said.

Summer Program Closes Saturday

The Citywide Recreational Program closed out its annual summer session Saturday with a staff appreciation luncheon and the Fun Club Olympics.

Two score volunteers, plus regular staff members, were on hand to hear expressions of thanks from Randall Polk, president of the United Fund, Clyde McMahon, president of the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees, and John Taylor, mayor pro tem. The schools, city and United Fund join with the YMCA, the administrative agency, in making the coordinated summer program possible.

James M. (Bobo) Hardy, general secretary of the YMCA, also voiced appreciation to the workers for what appears to be the most successful program to date. In an incomplete statistical report, he said that June registrations indicated that upwards of 2,000 might be listed as participants in the various aspects of the program. These include the Fun Clubs for elementary age youngsters, learn-to-swim programs, archery, trampoline, tumbling, crafts, basketball, softball, chess, tennis, golf, teen-age socials and other events.

Along with Everett Taylor, youth secretary, and Joe Leach, physical education director, they introduced staff members. Joe Pickle, chairman of the citywide Recreational Program, presided at the luncheon held at the YMCA Saturday at 8 p.m., the annual Fun Club Olympics were held at the old football stadium and the Fun Club queen was crowned.

Search On For Texan's Killer

CASTROVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A manhunt centered Saturday in the border area around Eagle Pass for a ranch hand accused of shooting a man here Friday.

Sought is Paul Cole, 24, charged with murder and robbery in the death of E. L. Gilliam, 51, of nearby San Antonio. Gilliam was slain on his brother's ranch just south of here. The brother, A. L. Gilliam, 40, also of San Antonio, told officers Cole and Cole's wife, 22, fled in a ranch pickup truck after robbing the two brothers.

Papers bearing Gilliam's name were found on the edge of Eagle Pass on the old Eagle Pass-Uvalde highway. A Border Patrol plane joined a ground party under Sheriff M. F. Stevenson in combing the rugged country.

Nixon Made A Real Job Out Of Vice-Presidential Chair

By SAUL PATT
CHICAGO (AP) — Under the Constitution of the United States, the only prescribed duty of the vice president is to preside over the Senate—and, according to an old joke, inquire each morning about the health of the president.

Richard M. Nixon has made much more of the job.

He has proved one of the hardest working vice presidents in history and, according to Dwight D. Eisenhower, no man in the job has had such "careful preparation for the presidency."

He has traveled widely and spectacularly for the president abroad, relieved him of much ceremonial burden at home, served as troubleshooter between Congress and the White House, helped settle the steel strike and, during presidential absences, presided over meetings of the Cabinet and National Security Council.

TACT DIGNITY
During President Eisenhower's three illnesses, it was generally agreed, Nixon showed tact and dignity in helping to run the government.

Additionally, in the past four years Nixon has done much to win new friends.

In 1956, he began to soften his campaign tactics and even displayed a fresh charity toward old and new opponents. He found occasion to praise Harry S. Truman's "courage" in sending troops into Korea. Earlier this year he defended his Democratic Rival Sen. John F. Kennedy against the charge of being soft on communism.

And in 1958, many observers thought they saw a new level of statesmanship in Nixon when he told a London audience that the Western world should "speak less of the threat of communism and more of the promise of freedom."

NEW NIXON
All these factors help highlight the widely discussed picture of the "new Nixon"—a phrase, incidentally, which the vice president's friends don't take kindly to.

"Of course, he's changed," said his press secretary, Herb G. Klein, during the Republican convention this week. "But to speak of a 'new Nixon' seems to imply he went out to get a new personality like a new suit."

"He didn't. But he has changed since I first met him in 1946. He has grown with experience, maturity and confidence."

Whether this is the "old Nixon" or the "new Nixon" now running for president may prove academic, anyway. Most people see what they want to see.

This, one can reasonably assume, is especially true of the vice president. Almost from the beginning of his career, he has caused a high pitch of emotion, both for and against him. Unlike most vice presidents, who were scarcely seen and rarely heard, this one played the leading role in a long series of highly dramatic scenes.

HIS BEST
The last two were clearly his best, politically. They brought him more undiluted praise than anything else in his career.

In the one case, Richard Nixon seemed to be taking it on the chin for all Americans. In the other, witnesses agree, he did well.

He showed courage and control in May 1958 when a Venezuelan mob turned a routine goodwill tour into a nightmare. They attacked the Nixon cars with clubs, pipes, stones and spit. At one point, the howling mob even tried to overturn the vice president's car.

He showed skill and poise in the summer of 1959 in Moscow when Nikita Khrushchev suddenly opened a fantastic running debate. The scene was the U.S. National Exposition in Sokolniki Park, and the whole thing was on television.

Khrushchev: "We are telling you not to be afraid of ideas. We have no reason to be afraid."
Nixon: "Well, let's have more exchange of them, then."

US, TOO
Khrushchev: "You Americans think that the Russian people will be astonished to see these things. The fact is that all our new houses have this kind of equipment."
Nixon: "We do not claim to astonish the Russian people. We hope to show our diversity and our right to choose. We do not want to have decisions made at the top by one government official that all houses should be built the same way."

Khrushchev mentioned washing machines and Nixon said: "Isn't it far better to be talking about washing machines than machines of war, like rockets? Isn't this the kind of competition we want?"

Khrushchev: "Yes, this is the kind of competition we want. But your generals say they are so powerful they can destroy us. We can also show you something so that you will know the Russian spirit."

Nixon: "You are strong and we are strong. We are both so strong, not only in weapons but also in will and spirit, that neither should ever put the other in a position where he faces in effect an ultimatum."

It was a debate heard around the world.

Richard Milhous Nixon had come a long way from Whittier, Calif., to Moscow, Russia.

But it is still a long way to the White House.

Hungry Fish Biting Good At Lake J. B. Thomas

By JACK RADER
Good fishing was reported at Lake J. B. Thomas during the past week, with anglers finding plenty of bass and catfish susceptible to a well-baited hook. The most notable catch of the week was reported at Harold Browne's Lakeside Grocery where Harold Holmes, Lamesa, weighed in a 25-pound channel cat. Fish were not only catches reported at the lake. Two bobcats were hauled in. A full-grown cat was captured near H. D. Smith's Shady Grove property by Edd Oatis, Jake Harry and Terry Dill Brown, of Ackery, Sunday morning. Wayne Dawson, manager at Lake Thomas Lodge, is attempting to tame a month-old kitten caught near the lodge this week. Throughout the week the wind was almost non-existent, according to reports, and the water-skiers have been flocking to the lake in droves. The water is clearing up since the heavy rains of early July and most lodge owners are predicting top fishing conditions this fall. A report from lodges around the lake includes:

String Of Nifties

CLYDE MONTGOMERY'S GROUCEY - Fishing has been reported good with a lot of catches of cats, crappie and white bass. G. L. Montgomery, Vealmoor, hauled in a 5-pound channel cat, along with four other nice size cats. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Peach, Big Spring, landed a 5-pound blue catfish and six nice channel cats. Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Shaffer, Big Spring, reported a string of 25 crappie, 10 white bass and one channel cat. A Mr. Burkett, of O'Donnell, landed the biggest catch of the week here, an 18-pound yellow cat. CLAUD HODNETT'S SPORTS-MAN'S PARADISE - Russ Boykin, Big Spring, and party brought in 18 white bass, weighing from 1 to 2 pounds apiece. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Bobbitt, Baird, night fishing all week, were landing a lot of white bass. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Myers, Odessa, spending the week at the lake re-

Giant Coaching School Gets Under Way Today

DALLAS (AP)—Thousands of brawny fellows in sport shirts will come rolling into Dallas Sunday for the twenty-eighth annual Texas coaching school. A new record enrollment appeared certain for this the world's largest coaching clinic. Already 1,274 have signed up and officials predicted freely that the 3,000 that turned out at Fort Worth last year for an all-time high would be exceeded. Registration opens at 1 p.m. Sunday and L. W. McCouch, executive vice president of the Texas High School Coaches Association, said he thought 2,700 to 3,000 would sign up in that period. That would leave little to do Monday to exceed the record.

Keith Wren Hurls Cook To 7-0 Win

Cook Appliance kept its record unblemished in the ASA District 6 Softball tournament Friday by brushing Charley's Package Store, 7-4, at the City Park here Friday night. In the evening's other game, Corner Drug of San Angelo eliminated Phil's Raiders of Big Spring in a 3-2 thriller and earned the right to oppose Charley's Package Store in the Saturday night semi-final. Keith Wren pitched Cook Appliance to victory, setting Charley's team down with one hit. That was a fifth inning single by Jim Ward, the only man to reach base. Wren fanned 16.

JayCees' Tennis Tourney To Open

MIDLAND (AP)—The Junior Chamber of Commerce International Tennis Tournament will be held here next week with entries from all 50 states and several foreign countries. The tournament opens Monday and ends Saturday. There will be a clinic Aug. 1 and an exhibition match between two of the nation's top players will follow it. They are Ham Richardson and Billy Talbert, former Davis Cup players. There will be an opening parade Monday at 3 p.m. Actual play starts Tuesday. The winner and runner-up here will be added to the United States Junior Davis Cup team. Talbert is the non-playing captain of the squad.

Leukemia Victim Selected As Mascot Of Grid Eleven

Pretty little Joan Walker will be six years old in October—if she lives. In September of 1958, Joan was diagnosed as having acute myelogenous leukemia, a uniformly fatal disease commonly known as "cancer of the blood." Blood research scientists at the Wadley Research Institute and Blood Bank, 3600 Gaston Avenue, are seeking the answer that will assure Joan's reaching her sixth birthday, and slash holidays. Joan has been treated at the Wadley Institute since October, 1958. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Walker, 2306 Lolita Drive.

Texans Oppose Oakland Club In Exhibition

DALLAS (SC)—Phase one—the intrasquad phase—completed, the Dallas Texans begin a second phase—exhibition games—today in a Kellar Stadium contest with the Oakland Raiders.

The Texans, who drew nearly 25,000 fans to three intrasquad games, including 18,000 in Dallas, will be playing the first of six exhibition games and of 20 games all told. The East Bay Children's Hospital of Oakland will benefit from the Sunday afternoon contest. The Texans' intrasquad season was an eventful one, both from an attendance and performance standpoint. The first contest drew more than 1,500 fans in Roswell, N.M., site of the Texas training camp, and a more enthusiastic crowd Hank Stram could not have asked for. Halfback Abner Haynes, who looks sensational even when he goes for the water bucket. Cotton Davidson, the old pro among the Texan quarterbacks, and TCU gits Hunter Enis and Jack Spikes were standouts that evening. Davidson, besides leading his unit to a pair of touchdowns, won three of the special contests held.

There was more of the same in Dallas. Davidson again was the quarterbacking standout and Enis, until he was sidelined by a shoulder injury, was giving him a run for his money. And just a sprinter's stride from Enis and Davidson were the Texans' other two signal-catchers, Fran Curcio and Huston Patton. Haynes again had the crowd oohing and aing as old marmoth tackle Buffalo Napier, a 292-pound behemoth from tiny Paul Quinn College in Waco, Texas, Wichita Falls was the site of the final Texas intrasquad and some 5,000 citizens of the North Texas city saw the Texans' star quarterback, Abner Haynes, in action. He was the star of the game, leading the Texans to a 21-10 victory over the Oakland Raiders. Haynes, who was the star of the game, led the Texans to a 21-10 victory over the Oakland Raiders. Haynes, who was the star of the game, led the Texans to a 21-10 victory over the Oakland Raiders.

Stram hasn't officially decided on his starting alignment for the Sunday game, but an educated guess would have Chris Burford of Stanford and Max Boydston of Oklahoma at offensive ends, Jack Stone of Oregon and Charley Diamond of Miami at offensive guards, Jim Barton of Marshall College or Charley Bennett of Baylor at center and Davidson at quarterback. Haynes at left half, Johnny Robinson of LSU at right half and Jack Spikes of TCU at fullback. Defensively the Texans might stack up thashy Miller and Branch at ends; Ray Collins of LSU and Napier at tackles; Sherrill Headrick of TCU at middle guard; Bob Hudson of Clemson and Arlen Dunham of Texas Lutheran at linebackers. David Webster and Charley Brackins of Prairie View at safeties and Charley Jackson of SMI and Don Flynn of Houston at halfbacks.

Kansas Futurity Scheduled Today

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC)—Three feature races have been carded for Sunday, including the annual running of the Kansas Futurity, set for the first time at Ruidoso. In previous years, the Kansas Futurity, carded at Mead, Kansas, Denver, Colorado, and Raton, N. M., was a small event, attracting a minimum of entries and contested for only a small token purse. This year, with the moving of the race to Ruidoso the estimated purse has been set at nearly $100,000 and next year, it is expected to exceed the $200,000 mark. This year's Kansas Futurity has attracted some of the finest two-year-olds in the nation with the possibility of a new world's record more than a half a mile. Diamond Charge from the stable of Oklahoma's John Askew, equaled the world's record for two-year-olds in the trials and set a new world's record for two-year-old colts and geldings. With much more competition expected here than in the trials, this fine sprinter might well turn in a new world record, or at least force another entry in the race, to do so should he fail to win. The race has been carded at 330 yards, a distance seldom run in present day quarter horse racing and a world record here might stand for a long time. The co-featured quarter horse event, named The Peter McCue Stakes, in honor of one of the great quarter horses of all times, has drawn a short but well balanced field of six of the top sprinters at the track. The race, restricted to colts, horses and geldings, has failed to attract the sparkling field The Bright Eyes Stakes drew, however, the race appears to be the type to attract pairing their cabin damaged by a storm, in early June, have also reported good catches of white bass. Hodnett reported that several anglers were having good luck with channel cats, being regularly during the week. HOMER SMITH'S SHADY GROVE - Not too many fishermen during the week, according to Mrs. Smith, but Wayne Clements, Lovington, N. M. hauled in 18 channel cats, each weighing up to 1 1/2 pounds. JOHNNY BROWNE and W. D. Harris, Lamesa, landed eight channel cats, weighing up to 2 1/2 pounds. JINKINS MORELAND GROCERY - A lot of pan-size channel cats are being reported at this point on the north side of the lake, along with a lot of crappie.

Giants Shade Reds In 10th

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jim Davenport's two-out 10th inning single after a throwing error by Roy McMillan, scored Andre Rodgers with the winning run Saturday in a 2-1 San Francisco victory over Cincinnati.

Jim Brosnan relieved in the seventh after the Giants mustered only one hit in six innings off Cal McLish. Brosnan walked Rodgers. Two outs later, Don Blasingame beat out a grounder that McLish advanced to second through into the stands.

The lone hit off McLish was Orlando Cepeda's double leading off the fifth Cepeda moved to third on a groundout and scored on Bob Schmidt's sacrifice fly.

The Reds tied the game in the seventh when pinch hitter Willie Jones scored pinch runner Billy Martin with a sacrifice fly.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's home-bred horse swung into the home stretch of the Sorority race with a 1/2-length lead over Princess Leeward. But it needed one of Broussard's best rides to get Apatontheback home in front for a net purse of $67,890.

Little Tumbler, the favorite faded through the stretch and finished seventh.

Apatontheback was clocked in 1:11 3/5 over a sloppy course.

Both Party Planks Endorse Fuel Policy

By MAX R. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Democratic and Republican platforms agree on one plank that would be a bitter pill to the oil industry. Both platforms endorse a national fuels policy.

Oil and coal spokesmen have exchanged bitter words over such a proposal the past year. The national coal policy conference is plugging for a congressional resolution that would set up a special committee to make a national fuels policy study. The resolution currently is deadlocked in the House Rules Committee.

Last month the coal conference ran page ads in New York and Washington newspapers saying the United States, "unlike most other great nations, does not have a planned national fuels policy." Oil spokesmen replied by repeating earlier charges the coal industry is advocating end-use controls that would prevent consumers from selecting the type of fuel they desire to purchase. Oil leaders contend coal is not seeking an impartial study but establishment of an agency that would limit coal's competition from oil and gas.

The platform actions on the proposed plan were somewhat surprising in that most oilmen had concentrated pre-convention speculation on planks pertaining to depletion allowances and imports.

Democrats set the trend July 12 by adopting a plank that said: "We support the establishment of a national fuels policy . . . We pledge immediate efforts toward the establishment of a realistic long range minerals policy . . . long-range planning of the nation's resource development is essential. We favor creation of a council of advisors on resources and conservation, which will evaluate and report annually upon our resource needs and progress."

Republicans replied with this language: "Minerals, metals, fuels also call for carefully considered actions in view of repeated failure of Democratic-controlled congresses to enact any long-range minerals legislation. Republicans, therefore, pledge: Long range minerals and fuels planning and programming, including increased coal research . . ."

As expected, the two platforms disagree sharply on the maximum 27 1/2 per cent depletion tax allowance held by the oil and gas industry.

Republicans pledged continued support of incentives to encourage "exploration for domestic sources of minerals and metals, with reasonable depletion allowances."

The Democrats had earmarked inequitable depletion allowances as among the more conspicuous loopholes under which "certain privileged groups legally escape their fair share of taxation."

Both platforms made reference to oil imports in indirect and general terms. Both said just about the same thing:

"We shall support practical measures to ease the necessary adjustments of industries and communities which may be unavoidably hurt by increases in imports."

The Republicans replied: "We advocate effective administration of the (Reciprocal Trade Agreement) act's escape clause and peril point provisions to safeguard American jobs and domestic industries against serious injury."

Republican platform drafters argued 45 minutes while defeating three amendments favoring greater protection against imports.

Oil and gas operators had hoped the 1960 GOP drafters would pick up a 1956 plank that gave indirect endorsement of a controversial proposal gas producers be freed from federal utility-type controls.

After endorsing reasonable depletion allowances, the 1956 platform had said "We favor freedom of mineral producers from unnecessary governmental regulation . . ."

No such language was in the document adopted this week.

Hents Company

Gulf Oil Corporation has announced the appointment of Raymond D. McGranahan as president of Wihstro Oil Company of Los Angeles, an independent marketer and refiner recently acquired by Gulf. He was elected a vice president of the company in April, 1954, responsible for the direction and coordination of all forms of transportation for the company. In September, 1958, he became administrative vice president.

Johnstone No. 1 Dunn, Mitchell County wildcat, is still waiting on cement. Operator expects to perforate the Pennsylvania reef lime section Monday.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 64-20-Lavaca Navigation Co. survey.

In Martin County, at Hammond and Texas Oil Corp. and Pan American No. 1 Hates, the 7-inch casing is being set at total depth of 12,010 feet. Location is 650 feet from south and east lines of labor 21-263-Kent CSL survey.

Texaco Project Finaled In Borden

Texaco Inc. No. 12-B A. M. Clayton, Good, southeast (Fusselman) field project in Borden County, has finished for an initial flowing potential of 295.05 barrels of oil per day.

Production is on a 10-64 inch choke. Gravity of the oil is 43.3, and gas-oil ratio is 512-1.

Total depth is 9,779 feet, plug back is at 9,778 feet, top of the pay is at 9,741 feet, the 5/8 inch casing goes to 9,779 feet, and perforations are between 9,741-61 feet. Tubing pressure is 400 pounds and for casing pressure operator used a packer. Operator acidized with 1,000 gallons.

The new well is 660 feet from south and 1,250 feet from west lines of section 33-32-T&P survey, about 13 miles southwest of Gail. Elevation is 2,519 feet.

Sawnie Robertson has completed No. 3 John Scott in the Howard-Glasscock field in Howard County for initial pumping potential of 41.09 barrels of 29 gravity oil per day, with five per cent water.

Total depth is 2,314 feet, top of the pay is 2,126 feet, the 4 1/2 inch casing is at 2,314 feet, and perforations are between 2,126-314 feet. Operator fraced with 40,000 gallons.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 67-29-E&W survey, nine miles north, east of Forsan. Elevation is 2,327 feet.

Rotary Activity Increases To 223

Rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin area increased this week with 223 rigs making hole, compared with 208 the previous week. The count is made by the Reed Roller Bit Co.

The eight county area picked up three active rigs, increasing from 19 to 22.

Dawson County leads the area in number of active rotary operations with eight. Martin County reported seven at the end of the week, a gain of one.

Garza County lists three turning rigs, Borden has two, and Howard and Mitchell counties one each. No rotary rigs were reported in the following counties:

The Basin area was led this week by Andrews County, with 30 active units. Lea County, N. M., fell to second place with 28.

The Basin survey, county-by-county, with last week's figures in parentheses, includes:

Andrews 20 (25), BORDEN 2 (1), Chaves 2 (2), Cochran 2 (2), Cole 1 (0), Crane 7 (7), Crockett 5 (5), Crosby 1 (1), DAWSON 8 (6), Dickens 1 (0), Ector 10 (14), Eddy 22 (24), Fisher 4 (0), Gaines 7 (7), GARZA 3 (3), GLASSCOCK 0 (0), Hale 1 (1), HOWARD 1 (1), Ison 0 (1), Kent 1 (0), Lamb 1 (1), Lea 28 (30), Loving 1 (1), MARTIN 7 (6), Midland 6 (7), MITCHELL 1 (0), Nolan 3 (0), Pecos 11 (10), Reagan 2 (1), Reeves 2 (2), Roosevelt 4 (3), Runnels 4 (2), Scheiwe 0 (1), Scurry 3 (4).

More Coverage In West Texas

The territory assigned to the Western Division of the Exploration and Land Departments of Standard Oil Co. of Texas, at Midland, has been enlarged as the result of the elimination of the concern's Western Division at Dallas and the distribution of the counties it has handled among three other divisions.

The San Angelo district of 28 counties was in the Northern Division. As a result of the closing down of that division the San Angelo office also has been abolished.

The Western Division in Midland has been assigned 24 of the former San Angelo district counties. The other four have been placed in the Ardmore District of Pasco Petroleum Co., the Oklahoma affiliate of Standard of Texas.

The Western Division exploration department is divided into the Lubbock, Ozona and Pecos districts. Each of those units also operate from Midland office.

The 24 counties added to the division have been split between the Lubbock and Ozona districts.

The division now supervises Standard of Texas exploration and land, leasing and scouting activities in 70 West Texas counties.

R. C. Mills Jr. is division exploration superintendent and J. W. Gill is division landman. J. P. Jones at Midland is the concern's division production superintendent.

Cosden Finals Queen Project

Cosden has completed No. 3-T University McFarland (Queen) field project in Andrews County, for an initial pumping potential of 132.17 barrels of 32 gravity oil per day.

Total depth is 4,942 feet, top of the pay is 4,878 feet, the 5 1/2 inch casing goes to 4,942 feet, and perforations are between 4,878-917 feet. Operator fractured with 21,000 gallons.

The well is located 2,173 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of section 26-4-University Land survey.

Petrofina Posts Crude Increase

DALLAS (AP)—A 19 cent a barrel increase, effective Aug. 1, for crude oil purchased in 11 North Texas counties was announced Saturday by American Petrofina.

R. I. Galland, president, said the increase is uniform across the board for all gravities of crude, restoring a price scale starting at $3.01 for 40 gravity and above, with 2 cents a barrel reduction on a gravity basis.

Counties affected are Archer, Baylor, Clay, Jack, Knox, Stephens, Throckmorton, Montague, Wichita, Wilbarger and Young.

Street Oiling To Begin This Week

Heavily traveled dirt streets are due a single-shot penetration of oil beginning the middle of the week, according to Bruce Dunn, director of public works.

Dunn said the new distributor would be put to its first use laying the road oil probably Wednesday. Asphalt seal coat for paved streets is not scheduled until sometime in September.

Areas slated for the oil treatment include the football stadium, the area south of Eleventh Place and west of Settles, and the Owens and 8th St. area.

Gain Three Rotary Activity Increases To 223

Rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin area increased this week with 223 rigs making hole, compared with 208 the previous week. The count is made by the Reed Roller Bit Co.

The eight county area picked up three active rigs, increasing from 19 to 22.

Rotary Drilling Tapers To 1,706

The number of rotary rigs actually making hole across the United States, dropped from 1,730 to 1,706 this week, according to a survey conducted by the Hughes Tool Co.

Texas, the leading state in the survey, lost 16 active rigs, falling from 570 to 554. West Central Texas gained four, from 156 to 160.

Louisiana, in second place, lost from 392 to 396. Oklahoma dropped from 187 to 160. New Mexico gained from 108 to 107. Kansas lost from 110 to 106, and California gained from 83 to 90.

Gulf Stakes Wildcat In Borden County

Gulf Oil Corporation has spotted a new wildcat to seek pay from the Ellenburger in the east central portion of Borden County.

No. 1-A Alice Askins is slated to drill to 8,000 feet, 330 feet from south and west lines of section 315-97-H&TC survey, about eight miles east of Gail.

Johnstone No. 1 Dunn, Mitchell County wildcat, is still waiting on cement. Operator expects to perforate the Pennsylvania reef lime section Monday.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 64-20-Lavaca Navigation Co. survey.

In Martin County, at Hammond and Texas Oil Corp. and Pan American No. 1 Hates, the 7-inch casing is being set at total depth of 12,010 feet. Location is 650 feet from south and east lines of labor 21-263-Kent CSL survey.

Reagan Wildcat Completed As Dual Producer

Kewanee Oil Company No. 1 Stiles, Central Reagan County wildcat, has been completed as a gas and distillate discovery in both the Ellenburger and the Fusselman.

The Ellenburger, producing from open hole at 10,441-10,557 feet, finished for a calculated absolute open flow potential of 4,200,000 cubic feet of gas and 349.50 barrels of 58.3 degree distillate per day. The gas-liquid ratio was 12,300-1.

The Fusselman finished for a potential of 22,000,000 cubic feet of gas and 952.35 barrels of 56.6 - degree distillate, flowing from perforations at 10,373-10,382 feet. The gas-liquid ratio was 23,100-1.

The discovery also had good shows in the Spraberry at 6,576-6,802 feet.

It is 3 1/2 miles southwest of Fusselman and Ellenburger production in the Stiles (multipay) field, 10 miles north and slightly west of Big Lake and six miles west-east of Stiles.

Tank battery construction is complete at the well site and operator expects to make pipeline connections within a few weeks.

The dual producer is 660 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 1,209, block C, D&SE survey.

1,134 Road Deaths

AUSTIN (AP) — The Department of Public Safety said Saturday that 1960 traffic deaths in the state now total 1,134. There were 1,232 at this time last year.

State Gains 197 Wells

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas drillers brought in 197 oil and 37 gas wells last week, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

The year's oil well total stands at 5,786, compared with 6,907. Some 2,199 gas wells have been brought in this year, against 3,587 in the same 1959 period.

Wildcaters hit 8 oil wells, for a total of 223. They drilled 1 gas well, and 74 dry holes, for totals of 96 and 1,811. By this time last year wildcaters had brought in 251 oil and 40 gas wells, and sunk 2,063 dry holes. Some 232 wells were plugged last week, including 141 dry holes.

The daily allowable averaged 2,645,205 barrels, an increase of 8,769.

MEET THE 'seniors'

OF THE CODSEN FAMILY . . .

T. A. PROCTOR

This is the 15th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the men and women of our company who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the company.

It was a memorable day in May, 1945, when the battle-weary soldier received his discharge from the U.S. Army. Four years, four months and four days had passed since he had entered the service, and he had earned his share of campaign ribbons in the 2 1/2 years he had been in the Pacific.

T. A. Proctor's thoughts turned to coming home and settling down. Two months later, on July 20, he began his first day's work for Cosden, as a truck loader. He moved into billing clerk duties at the refinery in a couple of years and was promoted to senior billing clerk, Refinery Sales, on October 1, 1956. He is a member of Local 826, International Union of Operating Engineers, and formerly served on its executive board.

The Cosden 15-year man, who is a native of Runnels County, and his wife, the former Louise Reese of Malakoff, like to remember that they first met aboard a commercial bus bound for San Antonio. At the time, he was stationed at Camp Fannin in Tyler and she was working in Athens. Courtship culminated in marriage January 1, 1949, at Malakoff. Mrs. Proctor is a teller at the State National Bank.

Little League is a summertime interest of Proctor and their son, Cooper Lee, 10, who will be a sixth grader at Washington Place School this fall. The two are companions on fishing excursions and hunting trips, which include an annual deer hunt.

Phillips Memorial Baptist is the church home of the family. Sandy, a three-year-old Beagle, shares their residence at 1402 Sycamore. There Proctor, who was born on a farm, expresses his yen for agriculture in caring for the fruit trees.

Feed, Water Are Principal Attractions For Bird Life

By BRUCE FRAZIER

There was a very attractive bird feeder pictured in the Herald. Would you please give some suggestions on attracting birds, other than sparrows, that is, I have a feeder and sparrows by the millions, but I would like something else. Also my petunias are stunted with thick, sticky leaves. I wonder if you can help me out? Thank you.

Mrs. C. M. Lewis

The petunias probably have aphids. This is the main cause of sticky leaves, though it could be from other causes. The aphids secrete a honeydew that is like syrup, and it may collect on leaves. If this is the case, use nicotine sulfate, (Black-Leaf 40).

For attracting birds, plant pyracantha. They seem to love these berries. They also like heavy foliage and water. Try putting out a birdbath. You need not attach it to the plumbing, but remember to fill it with water whenever you water your flowers. As for food, try the grain you usually use in bird feeders, and stale crusts of bread. They also like suet. The white fat from the beef in a butcher shop is especially attractive to birds in the winter months.

I have attracted many nests of birds in my large yucca plants. They also like most shade trees. There is a nest in a cedar just outside my bedroom window, and for two years now we have watched the young family feather and learn to fly. We have a quail nest in the back yard, a wren in an open pipe, a dove in a hackberry tree, and one family of cardinals in the Chinese elm. These are just a few of the present bird tenants at Cedar Ridge.

There are a lot more that just drop in for a visit. The sparrows also share our hospitality. It seems that birds have territories of their own. A mockingbird's song is not just to show he is happy, but it also protects his territory, and any invasion of his boundaries may result in a fight. He protects it from other mockingbirds, but often attacks other animals, birds, and sometimes, at our house, the family cat.

Appeal To President Gets Young Wife Her Husband

DENVER (AP)—A pretty young Air Force wife from Texas, who went all the way to the top to President Eisenhower, had what she wanted Saturday. Lowry Air Force Base gave Airman Norman Steed, 20, permission to live off the base after Steed's 17-year-old wife tearfully asked the President for help.

Elsie Hogg versus James Hogg, suit for divorce.
Loretta Smith versus Johnston Oil Co., et al, suit damages.
Bobby Jo Bell versus Sandra Jean Bell, suit for divorce.
Bill Tunn versus Harris Lee Denton, suit for damages.
O. L. Miller, versus Greyhound Corp., et al, suit for damages.

Mrs. Betty Steed, who found Denver strange and lonely, went to the Brown Palace Hotel Friday in the hopes of seeing President Eisenhower.

She said Saturday she didn't plan it that way, but when the President left the hotel she rushed up to him weeping. Eisenhower patted her on the shoulder and asked Secret Service agents to find out what was troubling her. She told them her husband, as a new trainee, was restricted to Lowry and he was unable to share a newly rented apartment with her.

At the President's request, his personal pilot, Col. William Draper, took the problem to Col. Ladd Skridge, Lowry's commanding officer. He granted Steed permission to live off the base.

The permission would have been granted routinely in a few days, Draper said. Eisenhower's intercession just speeded it up, he said. Steed said at first he didn't believe his wife when she said she had asked the President for help. But as he moved from the base to the apartment he said "I sure do believe it now."

The young couple come from Mesquite, near Dallas.

Crops Responding To Good Moisture

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Moisture conditions this late in the summer are the best in many years and crops and pastures are responding, Director John Hutchinson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says.

Dry spots were reported by only two district agents. Rain has held up harvests in south central, Coastal Bend and upper coastal counties, especially grain sorghums, and also stopped or slowed field work.

The favorable moisture situation has improved the outlook for late hay crops. Grazing prospects for late summer are the best in years.

Counties in the north part of the far South Texas district were still drying out and land preparation and planting of fall vegetables in the Winter Garden area had been delayed. Pastures materially benefited. The cotton harvest is approaching its peak in the Lower Valley and Coastal Bend.

Rains held up the sorghum harvest in the south central district. Peanuts, livestock and ranges were doing good.

Sorghums mostly are ready for harvest but this and other field work was slowed by showers during the week along the coast. Cotton is fruiting well; corn is in the hard dough stage; early rice is heading and blooming; and most crops look good. Pastures are green but some are weedy. The condition of cattle is improving.

All crops, pastures and ranges are responding to excellent North Texas rains. Everything is green and growing and livestock are in good condition. Cotton is setting a heavy crop but insect control will determine profit or loss.

Scattered showers and cloudy weather improved the moisture situation in Central Texas but spots are still dry. Cotton is making progress but insects are increasing. Peanuts improved. Late hay crops and livestock looked good.

Rains ranging from 2 to 10 inches greatly improved the moisture situation in Central West Texas. Ranges, row and hay crops all got a boost. Some stock tanks are still low. Livestock are in good condition but the market is weak.

Light to heavy rains in far West Texas caused ranges to green-up fast. Livestock are in good condition and a few lambs are moving out of the area. Cotton was making good growth.

Cotton is two weeks late in the South Plains (Lubbock) but is growing and fruiting and some is blooming with very little insect damage. Rains of the past two weeks have been just right; sorghums were in the foot or bloom stage; and onions and potatoes were being harvested.

Moisture is generally adequate over the Panhandle and range and livestock conditions are good. Grain sorghums were making good progress and the potato harvest was on.

Seek Bureau Queen Honors

Four more entries in the Farm Bureau's annual queen contest were announced Saturday. The county winner will participate in the district contest, which sends a nominee to the state contest. Latest entries are Gwen Proctor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Proctor, Vealmoor Rt. (top left); Judy Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brooks, Coahoma (top right); Sandra Crow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Crow, Lathier (lower left); and Sue Lockhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lockhart, Gail Route.

Boards Have Few Tax Adjustments

Howard County Commissioners Court, sitting as equalization board on Wednesday and Thursday, had relatively few adjustments to make. Most of the applicants who appeared before them were in search of information rather than a change in their tax evaluations, according to Ed Carpenter, county judge.

He said around 175 persons appeared before the county board and before the city-school board during the two days. He added that the citizens were cooperative and that he deeply appreciated their attitude. The city-school board, composed of Bill Sheppard, George Elliott and Lawrence Robinson, had about the same report to make. Some adjustments were made where inequities were revealed. Some corrections in descriptions of property had to be listed.

In general, however, the two boards said that the bulk of the taxpayers seemed to be satisfied with their tax assessments.

Novis Womack, who is tax evaluator for the county, said that in a few cases, the cards in his file showed errors in descriptions of property and in the nature of improvements on this property. These, he explained, will be rechecked and corrections made in the records.

Narrow Strip Bars School From Stanton City Limits

STANTON (SC)—For two years the Stanton High School has been trying to get inside the city limits, but practically no progress has been made in the annexation. The school has no city police protection, inadequate fire protection and is paying high rates for fire insurance.

The city has two fire trucks, but only the small one is allowed to go outside the city limits. It holds only 300 to 400 gallons, and is not able to cope with a large blaze.

This state of affairs is about by a narrow strip of pavement—the west one-half of Highway 137 that leads from U.S. 90 north toward Lamesa. The State Highway Department owns this west half, and property owners have the mineral rights. The highway department will relinquish its rights, but thus far, said officials, the property owners have not agreed.

City Secretary H. M. White says the school cannot be annexed to the town unless this narrow strip is also taken in.

"The property owners are afraid that all the area will be annexed and bring an increase in taxes," said White, "but the law forbids any town under 5,000 population from doing this. The people in Stanton are not allowed a vote on it, and the only way it could ever be annexed is for those property owners out there to bring it in by a majority vote among themselves or by a petition which the majority signed."

White says the city is interested only in this narrow strip of highway. It is not interested in raising tax valuations on the strip, because the small increase in tax money wouldn't pay for the extra amount of bookkeeping.

Dirty Dog Was A Costly Canine

DETROIT (AP)—It was a dirty dog indeed that took a big bite—$7,500 worth — from its owner's pocketbook because it tracked across a white rug with muddy paws.

Mrs. Nora Rogers suffered a broken hip when the frisky miniature French poodle knocked her down as its owner, Mrs. Ruth Henly, tried to chase it off the rug.

Mrs. Rogers, who was visiting Mrs. Henly, received a $7,500 settlement in a $25,000 damage suit against the owner, charging the injury kept her from working as a beauty operator.

Wool Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimates wool shorn and to be shorn in 1960 at 265,261,000 pounds. This is 3 per cent above the 1959 total and 35 per cent higher than the average for the past 10 years.

Outdoor Comfort

ZANE NEAL, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neal, admires the flowers in the backyard of the Neal home on Allendale Road. Growing in the planter-type flowerbeds are butterballs, petunias, daisies, roses and moonflowers. Also set out in the yard are several types of trees, among them flowering crabapple, box elder and poplar. A spacious patio makes for relaxing summertime living.

ENJOYING THE SHADY COMFORT of his modern patio is Roy Rogan, 1313 Lincoln. The deep pink patio with its black wrought iron lawn furniture is designed for comfort as well as for beauty with the shade of a giant American elm, and light provided by an electric lamp. Surrounding the patio is a Virginia creeper. For even more leisurely living, Rogan has installed in the elm a speaker connected to a phonograph in the house. (All photos by Keith McMillin).

ALTHOUGH HANK ADAMS, age 10 months, likes his miniature swimming pool, he seems to think that the large 16x30 pool in his grandmother's backyard is really his size. Grandmother, Mrs. Cecil McDonald, right; mother, Mrs. H. G. Adams, and uncle, Bill McDonald, don't quite agree with him. The pool was installed about a year ago, and during these hot summer days, it is the most popular spot around the McDonald home at 608 Washington Blvd.

A September Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Baker of Ackerly have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Lou. Miss Baker will be married to Jerry Rogers of Wichita, Kan. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rogers, Knott Route. The couple will wed Sept. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ackerly Baptist Church.

Pre-School Children Like Companionship

By DOROTHY WHIPPLE, M. D.

A pre-schooler will play happily with almost any child of about the same age as himself. It matters very little if the children are of the same sex, and it matters not at all what their family backgrounds are. They all like to dig in sand, build with blocks, run toy cars, shout, jump, run and dance. And they like doing it with any others who also enjoy it.

But as a child matures and reaches the elementary school grades he becomes more choosy about his friends. Just anybody won't do. He wants some one special friend. And that friend is always of the same sex as himself. Boys and girls have little use for each other during these years.

This buddy period is sometimes trying on parents. It's an important part of growing up and needs to be encouraged and not interfered with, even if you as parent are not too enthusiastic about the special person your child has selected as his inseparable companion.

SHARE PROBLEMS

Children talk together and compare notes. Chuck discovers that his chum has problems, maybe even the same growing up problems he has himself. This is a valuable discovery, because many a youngster feels there is something wrong with him because he gets angry at his mother or because Dad is disgusted with the way he plays ball. The knowledge that another is faced with the same thing gives him confidence that maybe he isn't so no-account as he feared.

The two children often feel that together they can face the world. Each is concerned not only about his own welfare, but about that of his chum.

They feel that together they are an invincible unit. This may take on some pretty undesirable aspects from time to time. They may want to wear the same clothes (quite regardless of differences in shape and size); go to the same church, or subscribe same books. This causes relatively little trouble, but when they begin wanting their parents to go to the same church, or subscribe to the same magazines or have Sunday dinner in the evening instead of at noon, there is likely to be impatient ridicule from the parents and sulking and rebellion from the child.

Up until this chum relationship, the child was protected by his parents; he loves them as a source of safety and comfort, but he also considers them as powerful giants who can take care of themselves and their welfare is not his concern.

PALS IMPORTANT

When the buddy comes along, a new feeling arises in the child. He cares about his chum's happiness, and will go to no ends of trouble to help this pal of his. This is real love—love on an equal basis, and it's the first time in the child's life that he has experienced anything like it.

Caring about someone else, sharing one's inmost thoughts and feelings with a trusted friend, these are qualities of adulthood that we cherish. It's in the buddy phase of childhood that these adult emotions have their beginning.

The child who skips this stage has a hard time getting close to people all his life. The buddy stage is a great rectifier of early personality troubles, and a great preparer for the mature adult emotions to come.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Folks from Big Spring won't be lonesome for people from their town if they go to Red River, N. Mex., within the next two weeks. It appears there will be particularly a Big Spring village at the mountain resort. Leaving today are MR. and MRS. D. G. HARRIS and their children, Debbie and Grady Lynn. Tomorrow MR. and MRS. BUEL FOX and their little 5 year old granddaughter, VICKI FOX of Midland will leave for an eight day stay. Other families expecting to be at the resort include the MERRILL CREIGHTONS, the WAYNE BARTLETTS and the LUTHER McDANIELS.

MRS. HUGH M. COMPTON called to tell about grandson CHIP COMPTON'S planned trip with an Explorer Scout unit of Austin. Chip has spent most of each summer here with his grandmother since his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Munson Compton, moved from here to Austin. His unit leaves Monday for a three week trip into Canada. They will enter at Detroit and go over to Niagara Falls. The boys will spend several days in New York City and three and a half days in Washington, D. C. En route back home they will visit many of the Civil War battle grounds.

MRS. ROY LASSITER, is en route to Newport, Calif., where she will join other members of her family for a two week stay at the beach cottage of her sister. She joined MR. and MRS. FRANK BARTON of Wink in El Paso for the automobile trip. Mrs. Barton is a niece of Mrs. Lassiter.

MR. and MRS. A. E. REED and their sons, William and Jimmy, have returned from Carlsbad, N. Mex., where they toured the famous cavern.

ARTHUR LEONARD left Saturday for a vacation at an apartment with an eye specialist. If the interview is satisfactory, it may lead to subsequent surgery for a corneal transplant.

W. H. CARDWELL missed the Old Settler's reunion Friday again due to illness. He was discharged from the hospital only the day before and was too weak to attend. Mr. Cardwell, who is 95, came here in 1908, lived in Big Spring briefly before renting a farm three miles north. A few years later he bought it and operated the farm until he moved to town in 1928.

EDITH GAY is back from Van Nuys, Calif., where she visited with Hila (Stormy) Weathers, former resident, and a favorite of West Texans in general. Mrs. Weathers is a former Chamber of Commerce manager at Stanton. She also is facing eye surgery on Aug. 3 for cataracts. None of this seems to have slowed Stormy in the least.

MRS. OMAR JONES and Jon Taylor are visiting her mother in Sulphur Springs.

In Atlanta, Ga., this morning are MR. and MRS. LEON WEST who are to spend several weeks with their daughter, JO NELL, based there by Eastern Air Lines as stewardess supervisor. The Wests left Big Spring Friday by air and were joined by their daughter at San Antonio. As this was the couple's first trip on a Prop-Jet Electra, Miss West wanted to make the trip with them.

After spending some time in Atlanta sightseeing, which will include a ride down historic Peachtree St., the three will fly to Eddyville, Ky., for a visit. It was here that Mrs. West's parents lived before moving to Texas. The party will spend some time in Bowling Green and Louisville before returning to Atlanta and Big Spring.

Home from Plainview are the H. H. McPHERSONS and the BOB ROEVERS, who have been visiting the former's son, MR. AND MRS. H. C. McPHERSONS, and family. He is a ministerial student in Wayland College.

The H. H. McPHERSONS and his brother BROCK McPHERSON, have been vacationing in the mountains at Big Lake, Ariz., where they were guests of another brother and family, MR. AND MRS. WOODY McPHERSON. The local people are all off now to visit relatives in Ballinger.

Ackerly Women Are Visiting Family In Washington Home

ACKERLY — Mrs. Millard Knowlton, local resident, and Mrs. Floyd Newsom of Vaalmoor are spending about two weeks in Washington as guests of Mrs. Newsom's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arlyn Roberts.

Mrs. Myrtle Sikes and L. C. Mc. and Mrs. Wilson Sikes and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mashburn of Stanton left Friday for Mineral Wells to attend the reunion of the Sikes and Nip families. Three brothers of Mrs. Sikes are expected to meet them.

Guests of the John Rudeals have been her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hannah of Bakersfield, Calif. The couple is returning home from a trip to Arkansas.

The B. O. Springfields are entertaining his mother, Mrs. Lida Springfield of Weatherford, who has been visiting a son in Kermit.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Smith are grandparents of the daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Seals of Lamesa Friday; the baby has been named Peggy Lynn.

Ansel Harry of Big Spring was a guest of his parents, the Jake Harrys, Wednesday.

Mrs. Rodney Peterson and three daughters of Lamesa are guests of her parents, the J. C. Nibletts.

Storing Cold Cuts

Ready-to-eat foods such as cold cuts and cheese tend to lose quality quickly if not properly handled in the home. Before storing in the refrigerator, it is advisable to cover them with a transparent paper so they won't lose moisture or absorb flavors from other foods. They should be stored in the porcelain-covered meat storage drawer of the refrigerator.

C. Polson Engaged To Arizona Girl

STANTON — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kavis of Coolidge, Ariz., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Rae, to Clifford Gariand Polson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Polson of Stanton.

The bride-elect, a 1959 graduate of Coolidge High School where she was a member of GAA, pep club, and secretary-treasurer of Pom-Pom, is employed at the Coolidge office of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Polson is a 1958 graduate of Stanton High School and attended Howard County Junior College in Big Spring. He is associated with the Paramount Packing Co. in Casa Grande.

The couple plans to be married Aug. 27.

Terri Graves of Coahoma visited in the Walter Graves and G. A. Bridges home Thursday.

Couples Class Has Progressive Dinner

A progressive dinner entertained members of the Wesley Methodist Couples Class and their families Friday evening.

Meeting at the church, the group journeyed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davis for appetizers and salad.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Forrest were hosts for the main course. The Rev. Royce Womack, pastor of the church, brought a devotion at this time.

The group of about 85 gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Smith for dessert.

Committees Named

STANTON — Mrs. Lela Shankle, noble grand of Stanton Rebekah Lodge 287, has appointed the following committees: Refreshment, Mrs. Clayton Burnham, Mrs. Walter Graves, Mrs. Henry Louder, Mrs. C. S. Bevers; flower and sick, Mrs. Lillian White, Mrs. Graves and Mrs. Sammie Laws; entertainment, Mrs. Frances Butcher, Mrs. Leman Henson, Mrs. Leroy Fincher and Mrs. Mason Coggins; finance, Mrs. Charlie Christopher, Mrs. Loyd Hastings and Mrs. Roy Linney; Mrs. Walter Graves, reporter.

Easy Supper Dishes

Pork sausage has always been a breakfast favorite. It is equally delicious for other meals, too. Sausage patties with rice will make a quick luncheon or supper dish. Toss pineapple chunks and some curry powder into the rice and serve a sausage patty on each mound. Cooked noodles seasoned with garlic salt and Romano cheese makes an interesting accompaniment for sausage. Pork sausages should be cooked slowly. Start the patties in a cold skillet over medium heat. Fry 15 to 20 minutes, draining off the fat occasionally.

Maturity Has Points

Myrna Loy feels it is regrettable that Americans put such a high premium on youth. In today's Hollywood Beauty, she tells her point of view on staying young.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Keep Interest In Present Happenings

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—We were watching Myrna Loy on a June Allyson show when a producer at CBS remarked, "She seems to have changed very little since the 'Thin Man' days, but you never have the feeling that she works at staying young."

I told this to Miss Loy later and asked to what she attributed her youthfulness.

"I have always been interested in contemporary life—in what is happening now. I am from Helena, Montana. My father was a rancher there, my mother a student of music, and as a family we were aware of what was going on in the world. I feel that no matter when you are born, you begin to be old when you cease to live in the present."

"My work in UNESCO, which is concerned with all fields of communication, emphasized the importance of understanding another point of view. When you close your mind, when it sets with ridges of prejudice, you are closing the door on youth."

"Some people are troubled when reaching a certain birthday, which they consider the end of youth. Because they are old, they want to be reassured that they are still attractive to the opposite sex and sometimes they do foolish things to satisfy their vanity. Many marriages in the United States break up because of this fear, but in Europe no such crises exist because they do not share our fetish for youth. They find maturity attractive. I think we should re-examine our worship of the 'young girl' image. In France a woman is considered most fascinating at 40 and young girls rarely compete."

"A youthful point of view doesn't keep you thin," I said, admiring Miss Loy's figure.

She smiled. "That falls under the heading of discipline. I love good food, the richer the better, but I have no intention of indulging myself. I have a scale and I weigh every morning. I allow myself a fluctuation of three pounds and anything over that calls for immediate action."

"What do you do?" I asked.

"Eat less," Myrna replied. "If you cut down immediately, losing weight is no problem.

"I believe in assisting nature all you can with nutritional foods and good cosmetics. I am a natural redhead and my skin is very sensitive, so I've had to stay out of the sun and I sleep in a cream."

"I used to dance and I started my career as a dancer so I feel best when my body is limber. I enjoy swimming but I don't care for setting-up exercises. I am lazy about doing them."

"Seeing myself in films was a great teacher, but you can get this same objectivity even from a photograph. The worst part of making a mistake in clothes is that you are faced with having to wear them anyway, unless you can afford to give them away. The first point in fashion is learning what is good for you."

Miss Loy has an unhurried way of speaking. I wanted to know if she is as relaxed as she seems. "I used to be a victim of tension," she admitted, "but on searching to find the cause of this, I discovered that I was trying to do too many things too closely together. Rushing, feeling the pressure of not having enough time, is hard on your nervous system and a drain on your energy. You become so tense you don't have a relaxed sleep, and you wake up tired."

"Was tension the most difficult thing you had to overcome?" I asked in parting.

"No, shyness was," Miss Loy revealed. "It was a deep thing in me. I had to teach myself a way of communicating. This came with confidence. So often many fine qualities are not projected because of shyness."

MRS. JIMMY WAYNE TUCKER

Double Ring Ceremony Read For Becky Gebert And Jimmy Tucker

In a wedding ceremony read before the two families and close friends, Becky Sue Gebert and Jimmy Wayne Tucker exchanged vows Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Donald Hungerford, rector of the church, heard the vows.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Gebert, 1601 Sycamore, are parents of the bride; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Tucker, 1407 E. 18th.

Snowmass gladioli and Supreme pink daisies with lemon leaf and leather leaf in baskets were a background for the bridal party.

The bride's father gave her in marriage; her bridal dress, street length, was of white embroidered organdy. Three tiers of organdy made the full skirt, and the bodice was off-shoulder with tiny cap sleeves.

Embroidery edged the veil of tulle which floated half the length of the skirt from a small crown of seed pearls. She wore a single pearl on a chain.

Something old was the veil, which had been worn by the bride's sister, Mrs. Ollen Leon Randolph; something new was the wedding dress; she had borrowed the pearl pendant from Pat Johnson, and the friendship garter was blue.

On a white prayer book, the bride carried a white orchid nestled in pink rose petals.

Blue nylon dotted swiss was the choice of the maid of honor, Betty Merrell; she wore a white hat, and gloves and carried a white purse. Her flowers were pink sweetheart roses in corsage.

Billy Gage attended as best man.

Following the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents.

blossoms made a centerpiece for the serving table, where a three-tiered cake was frosted in pink and white with wedding bells on the top.

For a trip to Denver, Colo., the bride chose a full-skirted frock of pink cotton with white hat, bag and gloves. The orchid from her bridal bouquet was her corsage. When the couple returns to Big Spring, their home will be at 707 1/2 E. 12th.

Both are graduates of Big Spring High School and both attended McMurry College. The bridegroom is employed by the Big Spring Grain and Commission Company.

Vacations Are Top News Among Employes

Mr. and Mrs. J. Eric Burns and daughter, Becky, are in Oklahoma on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thorburn and Janet have been in Rock Springs visiting Mrs. Thorburn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Corder. They also were in Laredo. For the weekend they are in Possum Kingdom for a reunion of the Thorburn family.

The Warden Mayes family is vacationing in Red River, N. M. Joe Collins, landman in the Midland office, is in the Lea County Memorial Hospital in Hobbs, N. M., recovering from a fractured skull sustained in a fall. He is reportedly doing nicely.

Jerry Jenkins, Jerry Allen and George Grimes were in Pampa, Thursday, on business.

Karen Thomas is spending the weekend in McKinney with her mother, Mrs. Helen Thomas.

Mrs. Tommy Weaver reports that her husband has been released from Malone & Hogan Foundation Hospital where he underwent surgery Monday.

Thirteen co-workers attended a birthday luncheon honoring Mrs. John Yates, Tuesday at Master's. Jack Y. Smith attended a highway hearing in Austin this week. Mrs. Peggy Harton is moving to Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coleman have had as guests his brother and family, the Tanto Colemans, of Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hale are vacationing in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Don Fresno was in Fort Worth the latter part of the week. Mrs. Robert Beal is on vacation.

Coahomans Are Grandparents

COAHOMA — A seven and a half pound girl was born this week to Mr. and Mrs. David Stoker. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Stoker, are also residents of Coahoma.

Guests this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Shive are her sister and family, Dr. and Mrs. V. E. Atkinson and family of Lufkin.

Lamb For Beef

You can substitute lean ground lamb for beef in a regular meat loaf recipe. Nice for a change.

Fan For Kitchen

If your range is located on an outside wall, a good place for an exhaust fan is 12 inches above the cook-top. This eliminates the need for duct work in your kitchen. A fan can also be placed above the burners, in the ceiling. However, this requires duct work to the outside. The use of a hood will increase the efficiency of the exhaust fan in either position.

Table Setting

For casual meals use matched sets of paper cloths, cups, plates and napkins. Not only can you set a very attractive table in this manner, but it gives you a break from the dishwashing and laundering.

Cleaning Hint

On the back of floor length draperies or curtains sew small snaps on the lower corners and partway up the sides. Then on cleaning day, snap them up out of the way to save them from being soiled by the floor cleaning.

Fall Shoes Come To The Point

Shoes with needle-sharp toes shape a graceful exclamation point to the newest fall fashions.

Needles — shoe fashion's word for pointed toes — run from single (moderately pointed) to quadruple (very pointed). The single point is most often found in casual and walking shoes, while the double needle — what we used to call "the pointed toe" — is widely seen on tailored and dressy shoes for day and late day wear.

This year's addition to the "narrow as an arrow" silhouette are triple and quadruple points. The former will be seen in late day, cocktail and evening pumps, while the sharpest point of all will be reserved chiefly for evening and formal wear.

The slimmer, smarter silhouette of pointed toe shoes was achieved by a device which pleases both the eye and the foot. The shoe was lengthened throughout the forepart — making it look sharper but providing adequate toe room for the longest foot.

Thinking you point — wearing autumn colors is a rich variety of brushed, suede, smooth, waxy, printed and grained leathers. More popular than ever are two-textured blendings, such as brushed and smooth, or lustered leather and suede. Lustered leather is used as a rich fashion frosting to trim shoes for 'round-the-clock wear.

There's a whole new range of hues such as red browns, greened browns, browned and grayed greens, graphite grays, and deep charcoal. Because the new shoes provide high fashion interest in symmetry and color, detailing is more subdued. The soft leathers are draped, pleated, and tucked to provide eye interest. Applique effects, cutouts, and perforations form many of the new shoe designs.

Knott Lodge Installation Is Held

KNOTT — Installed as noble grand of the Rebekah Lodge Thursday evening was Mrs. Herschel Smith; Mrs. M. R. Gladson will be vice grand.

Mrs. James Jeffcoat was placed in office as warden; Mrs. Gerald Willborn, conductor; Mrs. Joe Myers, inside guardian; Mrs. P. E. Little, right support to noble grand, and Mrs. Alton Chapman, chaplain.

Mrs. Iris Greaves of Lamesa district deputy president, assisted by a group of Lamesa lodge members served as installing officer. She was presented with a corsage.

Refreshments were served following the ceremony.

Mrs. R. H. Unger of Big Spring was a Thursday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Roman. George Chapman has returned from Dallas where he underwent a physical examination. He was accompanied by Mrs. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Chapman and Mrs. Gerald Willborn.

Mrs. J. D. Nichols is receiving treatment in a Big Spring hospital.

SIMPLE SEAMS

Cummerbund Crosses For Unusual Effect

The simplest sewing can make the greatest dress, designed by Charles LeMaire. It has a high stand-up collar and raglan sleeves. Bodice is gathered into a wide skirt. The waist is nipped in by a tapered cummerbund that crosses in back and ties in front.

Have A Treat With Unpopular Food

Instead of disguising unpopular foods and leftovers, include compensation or reward foods in the same menu.

For instance, if the family does not like spinach, serve it as attractively as you possibly can. If your family likes hot bread, mold- ed salad or crispy fried chicken, include at least one of their favorites in the menu with the spinach and you'll reduce complaints.

Garnishes such as slices of hard cooked egg, slivers of ham and pieces of bacon will give more appeal to many vegetable dishes without disguising them.

Store Ice Cream

New refrigerators feature zero-degree freezer space that allows you to keep several flavors of ice cream on hand. To prevent ice crystals from forming on the surface of the ice cream, place a piece of plastic film over the ice cream and be sure to close the carton securely each time.

Ackerly Family Returns After Work In Harvest

ACKERLY — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hambrick and children have returned home after spending some time in Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma during the wheat harvest.

Keith Rudeseal has left for Camp Ord, Calif., he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rudeseal. A guest in the Rudeseal home is their grandson, Stanley Myles of Ogden, Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cook recently attended funeral services for his brother, Clarence Cook, in South Texas.

The Cartis Whites entertained their daughter, Mrs. Fred Clemmitt and son of Lamesa this week. Other Lamesans were Mrs. Rodney Peterson and daughters, who were guests of her parents, the J. C. Nibletts.

Miss Parker Feted At Tea In Coahoma

COAHOMA — Dolores Parker, of Otischalk, bride-elect of Marco Westmoreland, was complimented Friday morning at a coffee in the home of Mrs. Ernest Garrett.

Meeting the guests with Mrs. Garrett and the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Leo Parker, and Mrs. J. A. Westmoreland, mother of the bridegroom — to-be. Forty-two guests called; Mrs. C. C. Williams and Mrs. V. R. Hingley alternated at the register.

The refreshment table was laid with ecru linen cutwork and cen-

Exotic Rice

For rice that will draw praise from lovers of good food, heat 2 tablespoons salad oil in an aluminum skillet. Add 1 cup uncooked rice, 2 1/2 cups boiling water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 3 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce. Cover the skillet tightly. Cook 45 minutes over medium heat without lifting the lid. Turn off the heat and let the rice set for 5 minutes. Then add 1/4 cup chopped ripe olives, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley and toss well with a fork. Serve with chicken a la king or curried lamb.

the Sikes were her daughter and grandchildren, Mrs. Elmer Mashburn, Jimmy and Mickie of Stanton.

The Tommy Hortons were in Garden City recently as guests of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner.

Ancel Harry of Big Spring was a recent guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Harry.

The George Schaeffs of San Antonio have returned to their home after a visit with her parents, the Bruce Crains. The two families visited the Crains' other daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cannon of Friona, Saturday.

Guests in the J. Archer home have been Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Rogers of Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Buster Walton of Abilene, Mrs. Lucy Britton and Mrs. Lula Mae Watts, both of Big Spring.

Other hostesses assisting in the house party included Mrs. P. F. Sheedy, Mrs. H. B. Beard, Mrs. M. E. Tindol, Mrs. W. A. Wilson and Mrs. Ed Carpenter.

Out of town guests present were Mrs. P. P. Armstrong of Big Spring, Mrs. M. M. Fairchild and Dena Ray Parker of Otis Chalk, Mrs. Gray Birkhead of Hobbs, N. M., and Mrs. Witt Hines of Colorado City.

Swimwear Should Have Beauty Bath

AP Newfeatures

Florence Chadwick, only woman to conquer the English Channel from both sides, has had years of experience with swimsuits. And she has her own special way of taking care of them.

Here's how she goes about washing a suit:

1. Add about a capful of liquid cold water soap to approximately two quarts of cold water, running the water to work up lots of suds.

2. Soak the suit about three minutes, squeezing the suds gently through it.

3. If there are spots or deep-set dirt, remove them with an undiluted application of the soap, rubbing carefully with a soft brush.

4. Rinse thoroughly.

5. Roll the suit in a towel to remove excess moisture, then lay out flat to dry. If it's convenient, Miss Chadwick prefers to hang it up to dry at dusk and avoid direct sunlight.

Monkey Fur For Winter

There's monkey business in store for winter hat fashions. French designer Pierre Balmain displayed these hats of monkey fur at a Paris showing, with models posed representing the three legendary monkeys who see no evil, speak no evil and hear no evil.

Individual Pizza

Cut English muffins into 3 thin slices each and toast on one side under broiler to produce individual pizza pies. Spread the other side with canned spaghetti sauce with mushrooms and add cubes of mozzarella cheese, pieces of peppery salami and sprinkle with oregano. Broil under medium heat until cheese is melted and the pizzas are lightly browned and bubbly.

Forsan People Will Entertain Guests; Others Plan Travel

FORSAN—During the coming week, the Frank Shannons will entertain their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson of Seguin, and his father, Leonard Johnson of Chicago, Ill. The younger Johnson has completed his tour of duty with the U. S. Army as a member of a band and is now a student in Texas Lutheran College, where he is a music major.

Mrs. W. M. Roman and Mrs. H. H. Story have returned from a visit in Lampasas. Mrs. T. E. Roman came home with them to visit her son and family.

Visitors in the home of the S. C. Cowleys have been the John Clouds of Brownfield; the Ned Robersons of El Centro, Calif.; the D. O. Robersons and S. Roberson, all of Kermit, and Martha Cowley of Abilene. She left Friday after spending about two months with her grandparents. Here for the weekend are the Cowleys' daughter and family, the Jimmy Hagars of Pecos. Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Camp have been visiting in Fort Worth and Granbury.

Carigiana, Dallas and Rice are included in the towns where the J. H. Cardwells will visit before returning home.

Happy Occasion

That's what it is for the boys and girls at the Westside Recreation Center since the arrival of records which they had requested. Donors of the gift are members of the Alpha Chi Chapter, Sigma Alpha Epsilon Sorority. Receiving the most welcome gift is Mrs. James A. Duan, left, supervisor of the center; Mrs. Bill Davis, center, and Mrs. Robert Hamilton delivered the group of records.

ESA Sorority Assists Center

As another phase of the work done at the Westside Recreation Center by members of the Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority a group of records was presented to the center Friday afternoon.

Among the records are types which had been requested by the youngsters who frequent the center. They have previously been entertained by a magician as part of the sorority's project for assistance at the center.

Other work of the organization has included parties given for the children, movies shown at various times and refreshments served on special occasions.

One of the first gifts from the sorority to the center was a television set which is still in use.

Another part of the welfare project is the trip made to the three rest homes of the city, when birthday cakes are taken at regular intervals.

Plans for the sorority's fall program include a civic project, it has been announced.

Baby Boom Is Spur To Business

By DOROTHY ROE

Babies keep coming faster every year. Four and a third million are expected to arrive in the United States this year, and by 1970 census experts predict a birth rate of six and a half million. That's a lot of babies, by anybody's standards.

This means more demand for diapers, bottles, baby foods, nursery furniture, baby carriages, toys and baby clothes. And more and more manufacturers are turning their attention toward this vast market of brand new citizens.

The effect of the baby boom is felt in many fields. It means a demand for bigger homes, bigger cars, more schools and playgrounds.

With a bigger family, Mom needs more automatic appliances such as washing machines, dryers and vacuum cleaners to make her job easier.

Real estate brokers, builders, automobile salesmen and furniture dealers all get into the act.

It looks as if the country is on the way to a new prosperity peak, and much of it may be credited to babies.

New Hair Dryer Boon For Shampoos

Now you can talk on the phone or listen to the radio while drying your hair—thanks to a newly introduced home hair dryer with a blower as quiet as it is powerful. The comfortable, adjustable bonnet fits over your freshly shampooed locks, and waits your choice of cool-to-hot air through 72 tiny openings.

This device represents a real boon to the fastidious woman who shampoos her hair faithfully once or twice a week. Incidentally, the bonnet is hand washable, too!

Expert's Scentsibility Aids Him In Business

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Gilbert J. Hackforth-Jones developed his sense of smell as a chemical expert during the second World War. Now he invents fragrances for one of England's leading perfume manufacturers.

He was stationed at a chemical defense experimental station while serving in the Royal Engineers, and was required to undergo smelling tests of various gases.

Intelligence and objectivity are the requisites for a perfumer, he says on a visit here. Chemical training and artistic interest and ability provide a suitable background, although he considers himself primarily as an artist.

Perfumes are not made by accident. A perfumer creates a fragrance in his mind, then attempts to produce it. This is no easy task.

"Any fine perfume will have at least 100 ingredients," Hackforth-Jones says.

The type of skin as well as the sort of person you are should guide the perfume you buy.

People with oily skins can wear much heavier perfumes. So can a person who can successfully wear exotic clothes and a lot of jewelry, he says.

He recommends that women choose two or three scents they personally like—"certainly two, a daytime fragrance and one for evening."

And perfume should not be overwhelming, he says. The best effect may be obtained by using a matching range of powder, toilet water and cologne, and perfume.

Most fragrances go together well so that the perfume in lipstick, face powders, soap and other cosmetics blends into the predominant fragrance of the perfume of the wearer.

However, he says, a strong perfume should be put over an earlier application of a different strong perfume.

Brand New Newcomers

So recently arrived in Big Spring are the Neal Morgans that the Herald photographer caught them as they were beginning the task of unpacking their household goods, which were brought from Nederland. Morgan will assume his duties as assistant football coach and Mrs. Morgan will teach in one of the fifth grades in the local school system. As anyone can see, young Lance is a great help at this unpacking business.

Teachers Arrive To Make Home

Week-long residents of Big Spring are Neal, Marilyn and Lance Morgan.

The Morgan family moved from Nederland to teach in the Big Spring School system. Neal will instruct in social studies and be an assistant football coach. Marilyn will teach the fifth grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are graduates of Stephen F. Austin College. She is originally from Henderson and was a home economics major in college.

Nederland was the hometown of Morgan, and after college, he returned there to teach. Neal loves sports and has already tried Lake J. B. Thomas out. He is convinced the West Texas sun is hot from his sunburn.

Lance is a towheaded 4-year-old with an abundant supply of energy and a bashfulness around strangers.

The Morgans attend the Methodist Church.

Birth Day Dinner Is Given Dena Parker

FORSAN — Dena Parker was honored Friday evening at a party in celebration of her 18th birthday. Hosts for the affair, an outdoor supper, were her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild. About 10 were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Park and Stevie are in Dallas today where they took Bruce Park, who has been visiting his grandparents.

Leaving Friday for Conway, Ark. were W. M. Romans, Russell Howie, Bob and Kenneth Cowley and Roy Walraven, who will drive new school buses back here. Joe Holladay accompanied the group.

The L. M. Hayhursts left Friday for San Antonio upon receipt of a message telling of the death of their daughter-in-law's father. He was Joseph Pasquier of Saumer, France. The Stanley Hayhursts live at 2355 Austin Highway, San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bardwell and Hubert have been in Monahan as guests of the Bob Honeycutts. They were also in Abilene recently to see the all-star football game in which their son, Jerry, played.

Sam Starrs Leave For California Trip

FORSAN—The Sam Starrs left during the week for Ventura, Calif., where they will visit her mother; they were accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, the Don Davises of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Oglesby of Denton have been here to visit the A. P. Oglesbys and the Sammy Porters before he leaves for two years in the armed forces. Mrs. Oglesby will go back to Denton and resume her work in Dallas.

The P. P. Howards have had as their guests their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard of Big Lake.

Jesse L. Overton, Lee Yarrow and Kenneth Gressett are in training at Camp Chaffee. Bob Berry of Midland was a recent guest in the Roy G. Klahr home.

Kenny House Visits

Kenny House, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin House Jr., is a guest in the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Marvin House, 1504 Main. He came from LaCrescenta, Calif., with a stopover visit in El Paso.

Pat Saunders Winner In 4-H Dress Contest

Pat Saunders, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Saunders of Garden City, won a first place in the District 4-H dress contest Friday at Andrews.

Together with Genora Thornton of Ward County and Julia Hoton of Winkler County, Pat will take part in the state dress revue contest in October.

Pat won her place with a red wool suit she had designed and made. She has been active in 4-H work for several years under Mrs. Mildred Eiland, Stanton, Martin-Glasscock home demonstration agent. In addition to her home projects, she has carried on livestock feeding demonstrations. Mrs. Eiland described her as an outstanding 4-H girl.

Also competing in the district contest Friday were Linda Wilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florence Wilde, of Garden City, who competed in the junior division; Lawana Froman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Froman of Brown, and Mary Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Albert Wilson, Courtney.

Bags For Fall To Offer Wide Fashion Variety

Slim, elegant clutches, envelopes, totes and boxes lend fashion a helping hand this fall. Handbags preserve the svelte look by minimizing showy metal clasps or buckles, and depend upon color and tailoring to create the lean and lovely look. A bright fashion note to daytime suits for business wear or shopping trips to town can be found in the new box and pouch bags in smooth or grained leather that show artful scalloping on fasten-over flaps. Shirring adds a smart touch to one golden brown calf pouch bag—a smart fashion mate to dressy late-day suits and coats.

The feminine favorite — roomy soft tote bag — retains its popularity for casual wear this coming season. Many show convenient side pockets that snap or zip closed to hold car keys, grocery lists, lipstick or memo pad and pencil. Grained leather bags swinging at arm's length strike a casual note with walking suits or knee-length coats.

The selection of casual bags this year is virtually unlimited. In shape, bags come tall and slim, short and round, elongated, barreled and boxed. In size they run from a diminutive envelope to a huge feedbag, but even the smallest is made to expand gracefully to accommodate extra items.

For the theater, or special evening wear, silky suedes and brilliant luster leathers continue to spark fashions in dainty clutch bags, and elongated slim pouches. Rich plum, crimson and gold envelopes with matching pumps give evening accessories new importance this year.

Pair your newest handbags to day and evening shoes to give night and day elegance to your wardrobe. Choose a slim beige box or pouch bag, and match it to beige walking shoes. Worn with shorty kid gloves, your accessories are ready for a day in town or business. The same handbag, worn with a pair of smart slim-toed beige high-heeled pumps and bracelet-length gloves, goes glamorous for evening.

Moonwatch Items Now Gather Dust

By SAM BLACKBURN
FOR SALE — Nine nearly new Moonscopes, especially designed for observation of man-made satellites. Original cost $34 each; will sacrifice. Apply Moonwatch, Big Spring.

How many man-made moons are now circling the world? The Russians have their quota in orbit; the United States has its own satellites in operation. Complicated scientific apparatus over the face of the world checks the travels of these gadgets, records the transmissions of their radio and television equipment and chronicles their life of service. And these same scientific gadgets have spelled the end of a highly exciting but extremely brief volunteer experiment of a little over two years ago.

The enterprise was a part of the United States participation in the observation of International Geophysical Year. This IGY began on July 1, 1957 and ended on Dec. 31, 1958.

It was happily anticipated that the U. S. would be the first nation to get a man-made satellite in the air and the volunteer sky-watchers were wanted to keep an eye on this device. Unhappily, the first nation to get a satellite circling the globe was the U.S.S.R. Its initial moon went into orbit on Oct. 4, 1957. A month later, on Nov. 3, it fired another — this time with a dog on board.

Anyway, a nation-wide appeal went out for volunteers to man observation posts to spot the journeys of these speedily moving satellites and report observations to the national IGY headquarters. Big Spring rallied quickly and enthusiastically to the appeal. In no time at all, 100 volunteers had signed to stand watch at pre-arranged times to scan the skies for the moons.

Webb Air Force Base was drafted into the movement and airmen were part of the organization. Cosden Petroleum Corp. enrolled a large quota of watchers. Howard County Junior College contributed others and the public came forward generously to add its strength.

E. B. McCormick, chief engineer for Cosden, was the president of the local Moonwatchers. J. T. Clements, professor of science at HCCJ, was the director of the teams in action.

In accordance with carefully designed plans, an observation post was set up on the campus of the college. A high pole formed the center and radiating away from the pole at stated intervals were the observation points.

INSTRUMENTS ACQUIRED
To supplement visual study of the heavens, nine optical devices called moonscopes were bought. The college bought three of these; Cosden and Webb provided others and volunteers paid for two. These are low-power, wide-field simple telescopes which are rigged to focus on a plane mirror. By placing the observation post in exactly the

Labor Handbook Beamed To Small Businessmen

LUBBOCK — Businessmen who operate small or medium sized businesses in Texas now have a guidebook on Texas labor law available for handy reference.

Written by two Texas Tech business administration professors, the booklet is entitled "Texas Labor Law for the Small Employer." "It is not intended to replace the need of an attorney," says Dr. William G. Cain of Tech's management department. He co-authored the booklet with Charles E. Dale, Tech assistant professor of finance who is also an attorney. "The purpose of this handbook is to serve as a reference for the many thousands of employers who operate small or medium sized businesses within the boundaries of Texas," Cain said. "It attempts to point out the framework of Texas State Law which governs relationships between the employer and his employees."

The handbook is essentially written for application to the smaller company engaged in what is right manner, the observer was in a position to view a pre-determined span of the skies. With nine in operation swinging across the heavens along the pre-announced course of the satellite, a careful recording of the time it first appeared until it vanished from sight could be kept. Clements with a stop-watch stood by to measure the passage of the object.

Moonwatch volunteers gathered at the post on numerous occasions in response to telegraphic instructions from the head office. On many nights, the observers saw nothing. On other nights, they had the thrilling experience of a fleeting peep at the speeding spunk satellite as it plunged on its circular journey.

MOONWATCH DIES
Meantime, scientists were designing electronic trackers. As rapidly as these were perfected they were put in use and almost as quickly as it had appeared on the scene the need for Moonwatch volunteers ended.

There was no ceremonious termination of the operation. The telegrams notifying the volunteers to be on the watch ceased. "Then," said McCormick, "I received a letter. In it I was told to thank the volunteers and compliment them on a job well done. There would be no further need for our services."

Thus ended Moonwatch. Today, the tall pole and the observation posts still stand on the east side of the college property. And stowed away in their original cartons are the nine moonscopes. They occupy a high shelf in the apparatus room of the science laboratory.

What will become of them? College officials do not know. They just shake their heads. Moonwatch was fun while it lasted; it's all over now.

Hospital Volunteer Work Continues On Even Keel

Despite vacations the volunteer program at the Big Spring State Hospital is continuing to play an active part in patient activities this summer.

During the month of June 147 regular volunteers devoted 1,384 hours to work at the hospital, and 113 occasional volunteers worked 331 hours. The volunteers represented 66 of the 70 organizations belonging to the Volunteer Council at the hospital.

Among the activities being conducted by volunteers are dancing lessons, swimming, bowling, bingo and a charm school. The dancing lessons are taught by six instructors from the Arthur Murray School in Midland who visit the hospital every Saturday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Forty specially selected patients are taking the lessons.

Texas Employment At All-Time High

AUSTIN (AP)—Employment in Texas reached an all time high in June—even though unemployment increased 25,000 over May. The Texas Employment Commission last week said 3,522,800 Texans were employed in June, an increase of 45,700 over May. The previous high was July 1959 with 3,506,000.

June unemployment was 188,000. The TEC explained the increase over the May figure of 163,000 as the result of a record number of summer job hunters and graduates entering the labor market.

A special group of volunteers from Midland conduct a charm school each Friday in which they give women patients tips on care of nails, hair and other points of good grooming.

Another special group are the Latin American volunteers who perform varied services for Latin American patients.

According to Mrs. Ira Thurman, volunteer coordinator, the volunteer program has increased greatly in importance since its organized beginnings three years ago.

R&H Hardware Planning To Close Out Business

One of Big Spring's well-known businesses of recent years, R&H Hardware, is to close out, and, beginning Monday, is engaged in a store-wide stock liquidation sale.

F. D. Rogers, who has managed the business since its organization eight years ago, said he and his partner, John Hodges, had decided simply to step down from active business affairs. Rogers said he intended to "take things easy" for some time, before deciding on any new activities. Hodges has not been active in operation of the store.

The close-out of R&H Hardware terminates a business association that dates back to 1936, when Rogers first went to work for Hodges when the latter operated a grocery store. They later went together in opening the Ideal Food Store on Gregg Street, moved it to 504 Johnson (where Hodges formerly had operated his own store) and then closed out of the food business in 1952, to organize the R&H establishment in its place.

Hodges, a resident of Big Spring for more than 40 years and identified in many commercial activities, opened his first grocery store in March, 1933, the day of the ill-famed national bank closings in the depth of the depression.

Rogers is a native of Howard County, worked for Cosden and with other food concerns for a time before joining Hodges.

Rogers said the entire stock of hardware, gift items, home and garden supplies and various appliances will be offered at liquidation prices. In announcing the close-out, he voiced the concern's appreciation for the fine patronage we have enjoyed and the many friends we have made in a business way.

STORK STYLE—Necessity dictates baby boots for stork trying to walk after accident cut it part of a foot at English zoo. It'll get steel-supported boots later.

A FARMER'S FANCY—Ernest Bures adjusts harness on his team of straw horses at Ravinia, S. D. He fashions farm floats for parades by using corn stalks, oats, rye and sweet clover. A mechanism driven by power takeoff of tractor "animates" the team.

SHE LIKES PARADES—A 7-year-old's eagerness to get a closer look at the band produces a chain of restraining reactions from her brother and father during parade in Williston, N. D. All retired in good order without incident and the band played on.

GOING STRONG—Sculptress Grace Turabull, now 80, uses hammer and chisel to fashion a new work at her studio-home in Guilford, Md. She believes in keeping active.

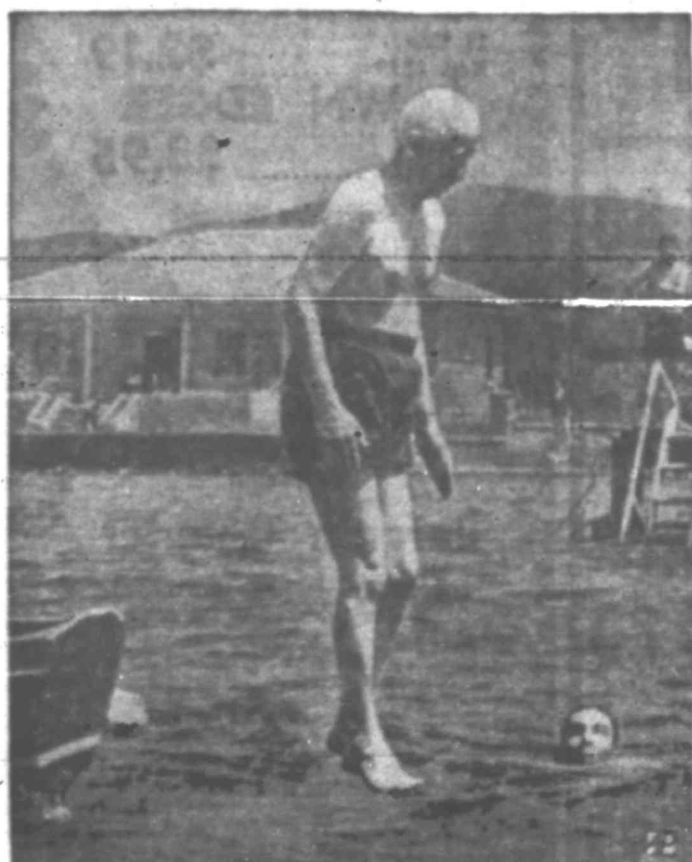

NAMED ENVOY—David B. Karrick, District of Columbia commissioner, has been nominated by President Eisenhower to be the United States Ambassador to Ecuador.

COMING INTO PORT—The luxury liner Leonardo Da Vinci is escorted by a helicopter as she steams up New York harbor to complete the maiden voyage from Genoa, Italy. The 33,000-ton, 761-foot long turbo vessel is the new flagship of the Italian Line.

HAT PREVIEW—Fur hats will be a popular fashion in the fall. Here's one formed of alternating pieces of white and ranch mink as seen at New York millinery show.

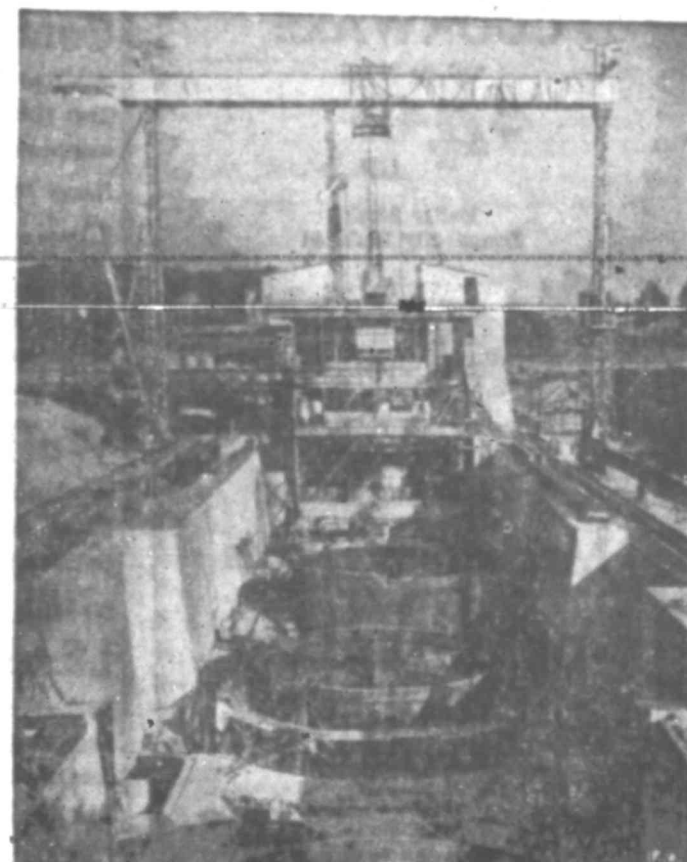

EASY ENTRY—Ismet Inonu, 76-year-old former Turkish president, steps off from a rowboat into waters of the Marmara Sea for a swim during his vacation at Yelshah.

FIELD AND GAME—Farmers release flock of ducks into Formosa rice paddy as they let marshy field serve a double purpose. The rice grows, the ducks swim and eat minnows and also grow. Both crops are then gathered up for the traditional Chinese dinner.

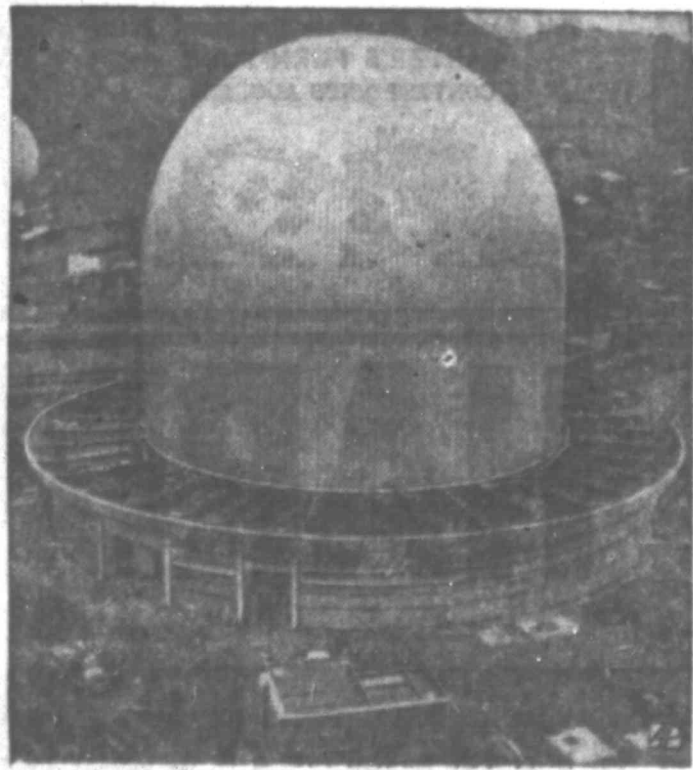

LIONS' LEADER—Finis E. Davis of Louisville, Ky., was elected president of Lions International at the service organization's annual convention in Chicago.

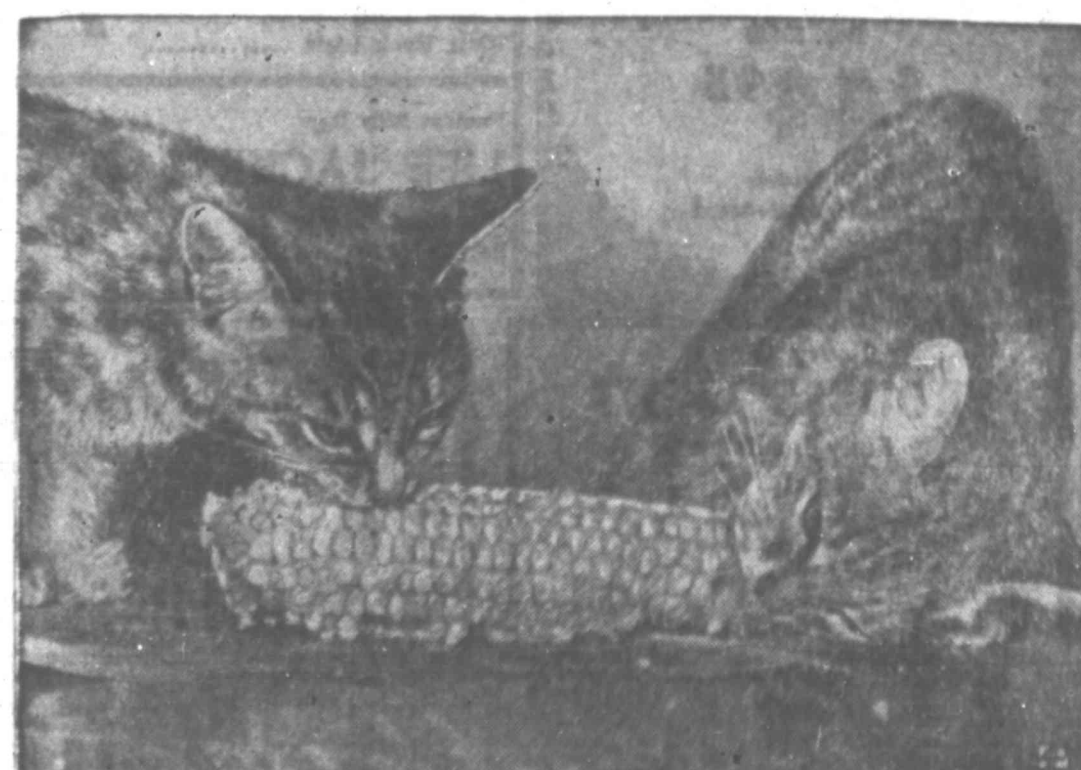

SHIP LIFT—Two huge 180-foot cylinders, capable of hoisting a 1,350-ton ship, are part of the renovation of the Dortmund-Ems canal at Henrichsburg, West Germany.

TITANS ON THE MOVE—Candidates for the New York Titans of the new American Football League take their turn at the line sled in team training camp at Durham, N. H.

ATOM DOME—India's second research reactor is housed at Trombay in structure resembling a giant collar button. It is one of largest producers of isotopes in world.

KITTENS ON COB—Fuss and Boots, pair of three-month-old kittens, indulge their annual liking for an ear of corn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Collins of Tampa, Fla.

A. Ze. U. G. Powell, second from left, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Powell, of 605 E. 4th St., Big Spring, has been selected by the Air Force to complete his college education at Arizona State University in Tempe under the airman education and commissioning program. Powell, who qualified for the program by achieving a top score in Air Force officer qualifying tests, is majoring in engineering in the ASU College of Applied Arts and Sciences. Pictured with him in an ASU laboratory are Dr. George Regalby, S. Sgt. Eiden DePorter, Oakdale, Tenn., and Richard Pavlek, Binghamton, N. Y.

MEN IN SERVICE

Darrell Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wilson, Ellis Homes, has completed his basic training in guided missiles at Fort Hood. He will be stationed with the 12th Artillery Group, McCormick Hospital, Pasadena, Calif. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Allan Vassar, also lives in Ellis Homes.

Albert P. Oglesby, 23, Denton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby, Forsan, left last week for two years in the Army. He was to report to Fort Ord, Calif. Oglesby is a 1955 Forsan High School graduate and completed his graduate work at North Texas College. He finished his masters degree on July 14, majoring in physical education for both his bachelors and masters degree. During the past year he served as a part-time basketball coach.

Army Pfc. Larry G. Lingo, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Lingo, 1111 S. 1st St., Lamesa, recently participated with other personnel from the 4th Armored Division's 54th Infantry in an infantry-armor combat field training exercise in Germany.

Pfc. Lingo, assigned to the infantry's Company B in Heilbronn, Germany, entered the Army in November 1958 and received basic training at Fort Hood, Texas. He arrived overseas in May 1960. Lingo attended Pecos High School.

Receiving refresher training from the 95th Division at Fort Chaffee this summer are 11 men from Big Spring and Coahoma. The 11 citizen-soldiers are among 2,200 Army Reservists called to active duty for two weeks in a "practice" mobilization to test the ability of the nation's reserve forces to process, equip and train large numbers of soldiers in a short period of time.

The reservists attending the training session from Big Spring are Charles C. Howell, Earnest Byrd, Jesse L. Overton, John N. Little, Elmer Lee Yarbrough, Travis L. Bowden, William K. Gressett, and Alfredo M. Diaz.

Attending from Coahoma are Apolinio Hernandez, Thomas D. Wyrick and William L. Read.

Army Specialist 4 C. Kenneth D. Glascock, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Glascock, Rt. 2, Lamesa, recently was named Soldier of the Month for the 2nd Surgical Hospital at Fort Bragg, N. C.

A personnel specialist at the hospital, Glascock was selected for his soldierly appearance, knowledge and performance of duties and military courtesy.

He entered the Army in September 1958 and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo. Glascock is a 1952 graduate of Lamesa High School and was employed by Geophysical Integrators, Inc., in San Angelo before entering the Army.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Hi, Spook

Jo Morrow seems to be saying something to the gentleman in this scene from '13 Ghosts,' a mystery thriller and monster yarn showing this week. She's probably saying something like 'Hi, Spook!'

This Rebel Breed

Rita Moreno gives comfort to an injured Mark Damon in this scene from 'This Rebel Breed,' a drama of youth in revolt.

Argentine Star Acts Like Actress In This Comedy

Luscious Linda Cristal, the raventressed Argentine import, was being arbitrary, temperamental, whimsical and fey—and her director, instead of bowing to the brass, was only inclining her to even greater emotional excess.

absolutely nothing to me—well, that look real acting."

All, however, for her co-starring role with Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh in Universal-International's spicy Army comedy, 'The Perfect Furlough,' in which she plays the part of a movie glamour queen the way the average person thinks such a specimen behaves.

On the set Linda upstaged her dearest friends, chewed the scenery to fragments, flounced, instead of walking across a room, sported a dazzling assortment of glittering baubles and dragged an $18,000 mink coat across a rug as if it were a bundle of dirty laundry.

The sultry charmer, a product of Buenos Aires, reported that she was even permitted to make a lavish production of such a minor piece of theatrical business as sitting down on a bed-size hassock.

"Ordinarily," she says, "I'd just walk up within reasonable range and contrive to plop myself down with a minimum of fuss."

"But not in 'Furlough.' I draped myself over the hassock in the grand manner, stretching out like a Cleopatra sitting on that boat floating down the Nile, and all the while puffing a cigarette in a long, bejeweled holder."

Miss Cristal, who came to Hollywood from Mexico where she had starred in more than a dozen pictures before being signed to an exclusive long-term contract by U-I, says there was only one piece of business she had to steel herself to bring off.

"I've never owned a mink coat of my own, or even a mink stole," she said, "but naturally, like every other girl, I've always dreamed about getting one some day."

"So when they went out and found one of the most magnificent minks in Hollywood for me and then told me to pretend it meant

Lana Turner Star In Mystery Film

Lana Turner returned to Universal-International when she accepted producer Ross Hunter's offer to star in 'Portrait in Black.'

It was at that studio over a year ago that Miss Turner had starred in 'Imitation of Life,' a movie that was destined to become one of the highest-grossing in the studio's 44-year-history. For Lana it represented the most rewarding performance of her entire career.

'Portrait in Black' is a modern-day suspense story set in San Francisco. Based on the Broadway play by Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts, it was adapted for the screen by the original authors.

Contrary to accepted Hollywood customs of presenting suspense dramas in black-and-white, low-key photography 'Portrait in Black' is a vivid presentation of lush, expensive settings and beautiful clothes and jewels photographed in color.

Sharing the roster with Lana Turner are Anthony Quinn, Richard Basehart, Sandra Dee, John Saxon, Lloyd Nolan, Anna May Wong, Ray Walston and Virginia Grey.

Director is Michael Gordon, who guided Rock Hudson and Doris Day in their comedy hit, 'Pillow Talk'; photography is by Russ

LANA TURNER

Metty, who photographed 'Spartacus'; and Richard Reidel, who won an Academy Award nomination for his 'Pillow Talk' settings, is art director.

Stylist Jean Louis was brought to design 14 gorgeous costumes for Lana as well as whipping up the first glamour wardrobe for film's number one teen-aged star, Sandra Dee.

David Webb Jewelers of New York was called upon to provide Lana's luxurious jewelry, and they specially designed and created $1,175,000 worth of jewels.

Dual Role

You can have twice as much Kim Novak in 'Vertigo.' Alfred Hitchcock thriller making its return this week. Miss Novak, who co-stars with James Stewart, portrays two women who look alike, except for hair color. Incidentally, Stewart loves her both.

Zsa Zsa Has All Ga-Ga Over Book

By JAMES BACON AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor has mailed friends copies of her life story. The way she tells it, life is just one romantic problem after another.

Like when she was honeymooning in 1942 with hotel tycoon Conrad Hilton when he was trying to buy the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago.

"That night Connie and I were truly husband and wife. In the darkness and in utter peace, I rested in his arms. I whispered softly, 'Conrad, what are you thinking?' And I waited dreamily to hear him murmur, 'Oh, my darling, I love you, I love you.'"

"By golly," came his voice at my ear. "I'm thinking of that Blackstone deal."

Or when, she says, Porfirio Rubirosa took time off from his honeymoon with Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton to woo the Hungarian beauty.

She says the dashing Dominican diplomat left Barbara's $10,000-a-month Palm Beach house and flew a $200,000 plane — a wedding present from Barbara — to visit Zsa Zsa in Arizona. There, during a moonlight picnic, she says a reporter approached her and asked if Rubirosa were there.

"How dare you? Mr. Rubirosa is happily married to Miss Barbara Hutton," Zsa Zsa said.

Rubi, nearby, she relates, "vanished into the bushes with all his continental dignity and savoir-faire."

The book, simply entitled "Zsa Zsa Gabor," details her rise from Hungarian beauty contest winner to wife of a Turkish diplomat to Mrs. Hilton to Mrs. George Sanders and to her present single status.

Along the way she became an actress earning $200,000 a year. Also along the way she had a host of amours of which she speaks with remarkable candor.

Suave British actor Sanders, she reports, once crashed through her bedroom window with three other men, surprising her and Rubirosa.

Sanders urbanely apologized, she says, adding: "My dear, I'm an old man—I have no business climbing ladders."

As he left, via the stairs, she called: "George, I have your Christmas present under the tree."

"This visit," he is quoted as retorting, "is my Christmas present to you."

Speaks No Nip Producer-director Mervyn LeRoy cast New York comedian Tommy Nishimura for the featured role of "Private Jimmy Hanigawa," the Japanese-American G.I. with the Brooklyn accent in "Wake Me When It's Over."

Born and raised in Brooklyn, the comic doesn't speak a word of Japanese but is a fluent conversationalist in Yiddish!

Writes Score Famed bandleader and composer Duke Ellington penned the musical score for Otto Preminger's "Anatomy of a Murder." Ellington also appears in the film which is based on Robert Traver's best-seller. Starred are James Stewart, Lee Remick, Ben Gazzara, Arthur O'Connell, Eve Arden and Kathryn Grant with Joseph N. Welch as Judge Weaver.

Plays Judge Arthur O'Connell plays the bibulous, down-at-heels attorney who is James Stewart's associate in Otto Preminger's "Anatomy of a Murder." Starred are Lee Remick, Ben Gazzara, Eve Arden, Joseph N. Welch as Judge Weaver.

Plays Lawyer Joseph N. Welch, the noted attorney who served as the U. S. Army's counsel and was a nation's applause, wears a judge's robes in Otto Preminger's "Anatomy of a Murder." Starred are James Stewart, Lee Remick, Ben Gazzara, Arthur O'Connell, Eve Arden and Kathryn Grant.

Dana Uses Nelson's Tailor

Film star Dana Wynter used the same tailor for her uniform in "Sink The Bismarck" that Lord Nelson, winner of the battle of Trafalgar, and Captain Bligh, master of the Bounty, used in their time.

The famous firm, Gieves, Naval Outfitters, even suited up Charles Laughton when he played the horrendous Bligh in "Mutiny On the Bounty."

Dana, who co-stars with Kenneth More in the film, plays the part of a WREN officer, and producer Lord Brabourne decided that nothing less than a uniform made by this famous firm was good enough for her in this part.

No wonder that he made this choice. Gieves supplies uniforms for the navies of countries all over the world. They hold contracts for the Royal Thai Navy, the Imperial Ethiopian Navy, and several South American navies. The firm opened its doors in the year 1785, when the famous Captain Bligh was one of the first, if not the first, customers.

Summertime Jobs Scarce, But Regular Openings Better

By KAY LOVELAND
Recent high school graduates and other young adults under the age of twenty had a hard time finding employment in Big Spring this summer, according to the Texas Employment Commission. Approximately 150 eager young people placed applications for summer jobs with the Commission in the first months of the summer, but only a handful obtained full time summer employment. Several took on part-time work, but the majority were out of luck. "There were several reasons for this," said Leon Kinney, manager of the TEC. "One is the decreased economic status due to the rising cost of living and the shrinking dollar. Another is that most places either wanted fulltime help or already had enough employees." The ratio for placement of young people who were seeking year-round jobs is much better. In May, 34 applicants to the TEC, and there were 42 placements. In June 53 applied and 48 were placed, and in July 49 applications were received and 39 found jobs.

time basis were Iva Nell Cole at Commercial Credit Corporation; Linda Hickson at KHEM; Jan Fields at the Herald; Pauline Graves White at Pioneer Natural Gas; and Joyce Franks at the Texas Employment Commission. Mary Jane Engstrom received part time work at the court house. Average starting salary for most high school graduates is $175-200 a month, although a few places do start as high as $200.

In looking for a job, it is wise to apply early to the Commission, Kinney advised; but he added young people should look for jobs on their own.

"The Commission can't possibly have a listing of every job available in town," he said. "For every 50 we know about, there are probably another 50 we don't know about. So it would pay the young person to get out and hunt, a job."

For several years Kinney has wanted to set up a program for teen-agers seeking summer employment, but as yet interest on the part of the community has lagged. He hopes that next year may be the year, however.

"A coordinated community effort, worked through various civic clubs, and centralized through the TEC, would be of great help to young people seeking employment. Such programs have been successful in a number of communities across the nation, and one could be successful here," he said.

YMCA's Fishers Of Men Project Starts Monday

The YMCA Fishers of Men project to recruit 50 new volunteer leaders for the coming school year program will get under way Monday, according to J. M. (Bob) Hardy, superintendent. An adult training course will be conducted Aug. 22-26 at the Y to orient the leaders and outline duties connected with leadership of the clubs and activities. Hardy called leadership the most important cog in the YMCA machinery and pointed out that the proper carrying out of the Y program depends on getting the best possible leaders. All prospects whom the recruiting teams will be contacting have been nominated by committees at the Y, Hardy said.

Sears Catalogue Points To Levelling Of Prices

The trim-it-yourself cashmere coat is a feature of the newest edition of the famous Sears catalogue now being distributed. This is but one of the glimpses of the new-look in fashions along with a multitude of items, said Dean Tomlinson, manager of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. store here. Moreover, the famous book furnishes an economic index — one that points to a stabilizing of price trends.

Tomlinson said average prices in the new catalogue are nearly 1 per cent lower than those in the 1960 Spring and Summer general catalog, and are virtually unchanged from prices in the fall-winter book last year.

He said the Sears catalog, regarded as a barometer of price trends, is an indication of what consumers will pay for living necessities in the last half of 1960. The catalog contains more than 135,000 consumer items of all types, and its prices will be in effect for the next six months.

A price study of more than 2,100 items in all categories, Tomlinson said, "shows how general merchandise prices have held the line against inflation." The Sears price index now stands at 103 based on 1947-49 average price equalling 100, he pointed out. The index represents a composite of the prices of the company's broad merchandise lines, and is weighted according to their importance.

Some price lines are slightly lower than in recent years, and this does not even take into account new features and improvements which make today's goods better buys, he said.

The catalogue contains nearly 1,600 pages, some 300 devoted to women's fashions. Style features include bulky hand-loomed sweaters and flat-knit dresses. Other new items are accessories for compact cars, anti-freeze with a stop-leak, galvanized metal fence in assorted colors, and a motorized ice scooter.

Helicopter To Survey River

When a helicopter hovers along the Colorado River in Mitchell and Coke counties this week, residents needn't get the idea that prospectors have taken to the air.

This happens to be a modern way of conducting a geological investigation. The Colorado River Municipal Water District has been actually engaged in developing additional water supply to meet the demands of the area, and it holds a permit to impound a new lake on the Colorado River. However, there is a problem of local mineralization, and studies of the river channel and watershed must be solved.

The Texas Electric Service Company, which has pioneered in studies of West Texas water problems, is cooperating with the Colorado River Municipal Water District in these studies.

Much of the area to be investigated is not readily accessible by normal means. Due to this difficulty, a helicopter will be utilized to carry personnel and equipment to and from the study area.

Officials hope that the investigation will help to solve some of the problems connected with the projected lake development. The use of the helicopter is a part of the efforts to provide an adequate supply of good quality water to this area.

Railman Charged In Train Cutting

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A 63-year-old railroad fireman has been arrested on a charge of train chopping.

R. L. Barbee, an employee of the Cotton Belt Railroad, was accused by special agent L. K. Barney of the Kansas City Railroad of cutting a KCR freight train in two.

Barney said the freight stopped in Shreveport so a trainman could throw a switch. During the halt, Barbee maintained Barbee uncoupled a portion of the train and the remainder was left in the adjoining county before the engineer discovered he had left 17 cars and the caboose behind.

Barbee was released from jail under a $150 bond.

Color Film Slated For Royal Pageant

LONDON (AP) — For the first time in Britain's history a color movie will record the age-old pageantry when Queen Elizabeth II opens parliament Nov. 1.

"We feel a vivid record in this form of one of our great occasions will be welcomed not only in this country but by our partners in the Commonwealth," said Home Secretary Richard A. Butler.
