

DEAR ABBY

BOY'S PROBLEM

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is in my neighborhood a 15-year-old boy who is as nice a young man as you would care to meet. He comes to "talk things over" with me because his father died when he was small. (I am a 62-year-old man.)

Abby, this boy's mother is a fine, intelligent woman (an executive secretary) but she is ruining her son's life. She tells him he is "the man of the house." She still picks out all his clothes. She cuts him off from all young people—especially girls. He once asked her why she didn't try to find a nice man and remarry and she told him she was devoting her life to him and she didn't need a husband.

This boy is bright, mannerly and handsome. He yearns to be a normal 15-year-old boy but is cast in the role of his mother's private property. Would you, if you were I, talk to his mother about it?

lose and the boy has so much to gain. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: What would you think if every time you went to visit a certain friend, she put up her ironing board when you got there and said, "I'll iron while we visit." Don't you think it is rude to treat a friend like that?

TIRED OF IT
DEAR TIED: Your friend isn't ironing for the fun of it. Obviously her ironing is a pressing matter. A "close" friend wouldn't complain. She'd help.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 22 I started dating a married man. We fell in love. I stuck with him for 16 years because I always had the feeling he would divorce his wife. He never did. I am now 38. I have no friends and no outside interests. My own family won't have anything to do with me. Please, Abby, tell those nice little single girls for me that if a married man shows an interest in them to RUN THE OTHER WAY!! All I have for my sixteen years is a broken heart, broken promises and a few presents.

TOO LATE

DEAR TOO: I will print your letter with the hope that some young woman will read it and profit from your very expensive lesson. It's here for the price of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY, May we say a word in defense of the girls who get a bad reputation because the boys they date stay out almost all night? The parents of these boys should check and find out if their sons are staying out with the girls they date. It is a well-known fact that boys will take their dates home at a reasonable hour and meet somewhere afterwards to talk among themselves.

JOYCE AND BARBARA

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of The Big Spring Herald and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Polaris submarine missile was successfully launched over an 1,100-mile course Thursday, the Navy announced. The rocket achieved all test objectives in smacking a water target northeast of Puerto Rico, it said.

Mark Barron Services Held

NEW YORK (AP)—Services for Mark Barron, drama critic of The Associated Press, were held Thursday at the Campbell Funeral Home. Attending were many press and theatrical world associates.

Barron, 55, died Monday after lengthy illness.

Officiating was the Rev. Arthur Goodhand, of Christ Church Methodist, who paid tribute to Barron's "great career" and to his qualities as a "generous, kindly man who helped others."

Interment was at Long Island National Cemetery, Pineslawn, N.Y.

Barron is survived by his widow, Belle, and a son, Simeon, 9.

N.M. Allowables Remain The Same

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico oil allowables for September will be the same as in July and August.

The State Oil Conservation Commission Thursday approved recommendations of its engineers, James Kapteina, for 33 barrels a day as the basic allowable per unit in southeastern New Mexico fields and 70 barrels a day in the San Juan Basin of northwestern New Mexico.

Kapteina estimated this would permit production 299,413 barrels a day in the southeast and 50,330 barrels a day in the northwest.

General Decker To Top Army Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. George Henry Decker, a non-West Pointer with a solid background in military high finance, has been nominated as chief of staff of the Army.

President Eisenhower announced his selection late Thursday.

Decker, 58, now the Army vice chief of staff, would succeed Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer. When Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining retires later this year, Lemnitzer is slated to succeed him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Decker was the Army's budget officer from 1950 to 1952 and its comptroller from 1952 to 1955. He received a degree in economics from Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., in 1924.

Only six other generals who were not West Point graduates reached the top of the Army command. The latest was Gen. George C. Marshall who was Army chief of staff during World War II.

Decker saw no service outside the United States or Hawaii until 1943 when he went to New Guinea to become deputy chief and later chief of staff of the 6th Army under Gen. Walter Krueger. The 6th Army was the major field command through which Gen. Douglas MacArthur operated from Australia back to the Philippines in World War II.

In addition to his finance posts since World War II, Decker served as a division and corps commander and as deputy commander of U.S. and U.N. forces in Korea after the cease-fire. He has been vice-chief of staff for 13 months.

His decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal, Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and Distinguished Service Star of the Philippines.

He is rated as a good golfer and likes to bowl and hunt. For indoor pastimes, he enjoys stamp collecting and chess.

Decker was born Feb. 16, 1902, at Catskills, N.Y. He is an Episcopalian.

The general and his wife have a daughter, Jane, and a son, James I. Decker.

Town Rallies To Aid 38 Orphaned By Auto Crash

By JOHN A. LUNDQUIST
WILMONT, Minn. (AP) — The town is beginning to heal. But Wilmont will wear the scar for a long time.

Six days after a highway crash that killed five women and one man from this area, this town of 437 persons in southwestern Minnesota is coming out of its haze. The seven persons who were married left a total of 38 surviving children, 23 of whom are under the age of 20.

Now, the Wilmont orphans fund has been launched by the Worthington Daily Globe and the Wilmont Tribune, a weekly, and donations are coming in steadily.

By Friday night, the fund had grown to $1,700. It included an anonymous gift of $500.

Aid is coming, too, from the Catholic parish where all Wilmont victims were members. Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. The Rev. A. T. Ferrizo, pastor, is serving with the president of the local bank, E. L. Meyer, to decide how the orphans fund will be administered.

The Voss children, all of school age, are certain to need help running the 160-acre farm which includes about 30 head of cattle. The oats and hay are in this summer, but corn and soybeans will have to be harvested.

Two miles farther along the road is the 160-acre farm of John's brother, Ted Voss, who lost his 48-year-old wife, Martha, mother of seven.

Of the children, two are adults and live elsewhere. Donald, 26, of Des Moines, Iowa, and Shirley, 24 (Mrs. Edith Reisdorfer) of Magnolia, Minn., are home to help now. But the five younger children, Judy, 16, Diane, 14, Billy, 12, Wanda, 10, and Jeanie, 7, are a sprightly and willing crew who know that on a farm everyone has his chores.

Meanwhile Ted Voss is spending much of his time resting the left leg he broke two weeks ago while cutting grain.

Voss said, "We're going to stay just as we are at the farm. This is bad. But I say my brother and his wife's family is a lot worse off. It's all cleaned out."

Another neighboring farmer whose wife was killed, Larry Bunkers, 43, also farms 160 acres. All the neighbors have been graciously helpful since the accident, he says, and the oldest of three children, Sandra, 17, will be "mother" from now on. But Bunkers insists she will finish her high school education next school year, LaDean, 12, and Charlene, 11, go to elementary school.

house of John Schroer, 44, whose 39-year-old wife was in one of the cars.

All nine children were home for the funeral except John, 19, who is a Marine serving in the Pacific, Pfc. 17 (Mrs. Billy Brooks) lives in Huron, S.D. But Sonya, 20 (Mrs. Alfred Hebig) is two houses away and will help as she has in the past.

"I'll be here all the time," said the pretty dark-haired Sonya who has two youngsters of her own.

"They need me. I've always been doing the washing and ironing because mom was working."

Schroer, who works at a grain elevator in Worthington, has six children at home ranging from Henry, 16, to Connie, 3.

The veteran member of the Wilmont workers who rode into the canning factory was Mrs. Matt Gerber, 57.

12 CHILDREN

She left as survivors her husband, a tavern owner, and 12 children. Most are adults and have made their homes elsewhere, but all got back for the funeral including the youngest, Dennis, 18, an Airman stationed at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Those killed in the second car were Mrs. James Buckner, 21, of Worthington, mother of a year-old baby whose husband is in the service in Germany; Robert Buchman, 21, Sibley, Iowa, who worked at the canning factory and who authorities said was driving, and Jack Clark, 17, Worthington high school student who wanted to be a journalist. The orphans fund will be for the Buckner child, too.

Senate OKs Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed the Kennedy minimum wage bill 62-34 Thursday night with its major provisions largely intact, but the legislation faces uncertain House prospects.

Sen. John F. Kennedy told a reporter he was quite hopeful the House will agree to most of the Senate provisions. But experience on differences between the two branches involving labor legislation in 1958 and 1959 cast doubt on this.

The Democratic presidential nominee was named to head the seven Senate conferees on the bill. He was chief sponsor of the Senate version.

The Senate bill would increase the present $1 wage floor to $1.25 an hour and would bring under the fair labor standards act about four million workers not now covered.

The much less comprehensive House bill would fix a $1.15 minimum and cover about 1,400,000 additional employees.

Kennedy headed Senate conferees who dealt with House delegations on a pension and welfare control measure in 1958 and the broad labor regulation bill last year. In both cases it proved difficult for the senators to get the House to do any compromising.

Since then he has been chosen as the Democratic presidential nominee, a status which may or may not affect House members' attitude toward his requests.

The House Rules Committee also may be a hurdle to any conference on the wage bill this year. It has blocked for weeks efforts to get a conference on a school aid bill; in this case, too, the Senate passed a more far-reaching measure.

Two of the Republican Senate conferees on the wage bill will oppose the version passed by their branch.

One of these, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), said he doubted that any legislation on the subject would get through. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who also will represent the Senate, said that if he were president he would veto the Kennedy bill.

Kennedy and his supporters were able to beat back all amendments he opposed except one concerning a relatively minor provision.

But the Massachusetts senator did have to make an important concession to defeat the amendment he considered the most serious threat to his bill.

In order to get the votes needed to reject this amendment, sponsored by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), Kennedy agreed to elimination from the bill of coverage for about 900,000 workers. Originally his measure would have brought almost five million new employees under the act.

Those eliminated from the bill were employees of hotels, restaurants, motels, auto dealers and farm implement dealers.

The most important coverage provisions of the Kennedy bill would bring retail stores and service establishments under the law for the first time.

Under the measure, these would be covered if they work for enterprises doing a million dollars worth of business in a year.

The Monroney amendment would have covered such enterprises only if they had outlets in two or more states. Kennedy insisted this would have destroyed the basis of his bill. The amendment was turned back only by a 50-46 margin.

BENEFITS

Several organizations are talking about benefits to raise money, and a Worthington supermarket will hold an all-day luncheon for that purpose. Worthington, a city of 10,000 persons 14 miles away, feels a close kinship to its sorrowful neighbor.

The six Wilmont dead worked at a soup canning factory in Worthington, the driver of the other car was employed there, and his two passengers were Worthington residents.

The impact of Wilmont's heaviest blow has fallen mainly on close members of the families.

The deaths of John Voss, 43, and his wife, Lolita, 33, orphaned six children ranging from Dennis, 16, to Marveena, a winsome 5-year-old.

Several relatives have helped the children to run the farm in these first few uncertain days. They've arranged for a lawyer to handle the estate and guardianship matters.

STAY TOGETHER

But Dennis and brother David, 15, are determined to hold the kids together in spite of adoption offers.

"We've just got to keep things going and stay together," said Dennis firmly.

Probate Judge Vincent Holler who will appoint a guardian in the same way. "It is always the wish of the court to keep a family together," he said.

Sherman Paper Supports Dems

SHERMAN (AP)—The Sherman Democrat declared its support Thursday for the Kennedy-Johnson Democratic party ticket in a page one editorial.

The newspaper said that it concurred with House Speaker Sam Rayburn that Lyndon Johnson's acceptance of the No. 2 spot on the ticket after losing the top nomination was "best for everyone."

The Sherman newspaper noted that the platforms of the two parties are so similar on key issues that they virtually "cancelled each other out" and that it believed the Kennedy-Johnson team can "get things done."

Johnson was praised as a man of great ability, "a level-headed leader who will insure a stable and effective Democratic administration."

The editorial notes that the Sherman newspaper supported Johnson for the presidential nomination and now gives full support to the "Kennedy-Johnson team."

Many Newspapers See Trial As All-Out Propaganda Try

By The Associated Press
The Powers trial is viewed by many U.S. newspapers as an all-out Soviet propaganda attempt to sway world opinion against the United States.

The Louisville Times terms the trial a "propaganda sounding board" used by the Soviets to divert attention from their own spying.

The Washington Post: "It is pretty clear that the (defense attorney) had been given leave to build up a good case for leniency or even clemency, in case the Kremlin should decide that either would better serve its propaganda interests."

The Chicago Tribune: "One thing it will not prove is the fairness (or lack of it) in a Soviet propaganda trial . . ."

New York Mirror: "The Soviet Union may not be milking as much propaganda profit . . . as had been hoped for . . . The world public is capable of separating the propaganda from the truth."

New York Herald Tribune: "The pattern appeared to be one of presenting Powers as a man exploited by his government, rather than as a villain in his own right."

Philadelphia Inquirer: "Young Powers was condemned long ago. (The Soviets) may not yet have made up their minds as to the course that will reap the greatest propaganda advantage."

Wilmington (Del.) Journal-Evening: "Little by little we can expect to see him (Powers) pictured as an innocent pawn in the imperialist chess game."

Atlanta Constitution: "The Russian heritage of justice is so scant that most Soviet citizens today probably could not understand our horror at what is happening."

Miami Herald: "(The trial's) purpose is double. Half is to make propaganda against the United States . . . The other object is to make propaganda for the Communists by the way they handle Mr. Powers."

Miami News: "No matter how we justify spying . . . We still cannot deny the right of the Soviet Union to try him. All of us are standing in the dock with . . . Powers."

Atlanta Journal: "The Russians have us in a bad corner and know it. If Washington has a defense other than blustering indignation, it has yet to reveal it."

Washington Evening Star: "At this stage . . . the proceedings, when all the circumstances are considered, have been marked by relative fairness and restraint."

Richmond (Va.) Times - Dispatch: "The Kremlin propagandists slanted the script of this melodrama to appeal . . . to intellectuals in potentially neutral nations . . . The mummery of this trial is transparent."

Worcester (Mass.) Telegram: "Moscow propagandist . . . effect is minimized by the fact that the United States had the courage to admit its ties to Powers . . ."

GARDEN TALK

Try Sulfur, Feed And Water To Beat Yellow

Have you noticed how yellow the lawns and shrubs have turned lately? This is the end of the summer let-down for plants, and it results from a number of causes. Our water and soil are both on the alkaline side, and lack of rain has been compensated for by using the sprinklers week after week. This usually brings on the yellows.

The heat and insect and bacterial damages also add to the late summer decline in our yards.

There are a couple of things that can help a little, but they are no substitute for fall rains. A dusting with sulfur will control any red spider infestation, and it is also helpful against certain bacterial diseases. Sulfur is an acid producing material which may help neutralize the alkali in the soil and water. It won't hurt a thing at the very least, and if any of these things are problems in your yard, then it could help.

A late summer feeding helps a lot in most problems of chlorosis. Chlorosis is the word that describes the yellowing of plants. Often nurserymen say a plant is chlorotic. What he means is that it is turning yellow. There are even descriptions of chlorosis of different plants, and what to do about it. One gets the idea that chlorosis is a disease, when really it only means the plants are yellow. What causes the yellow tinge is another story.

Well as I said, late summer feeding helps a lot on most problems of chlorosis. It is just about time to try this to bring your yards to a better greener color.

Later feeding may cause the plants to go into a late growth, and this is not desirable as it may weaken the plant for the winter dormancy. Plants, like bears, go to sleep in the winter, and like bears they are better on a full stomach, though of course plants make it on stored starches. A late season growth period may deplete the stored starches and thus weaken the plant over winter.

For this reason, it is wise to feed plants now while they have time to still store food for winter, hence making them stronger. Much of the plant activities are directed toward this process at this time anyway. This is only true of the plants that will live through the winter of course. Annuals are putting on seeds and flowers, and after that's over the coming of frost ends it all.

In feeding plants this late, be sure you use well rotted humus, or chemical fertilizers, or some other quick acting chemical plant food that is immediately available to the plant. Slow acting foods or humus that still has to break down will compete for the nitrogen in the soil and cause even more yellowing of adjacent plants.

So, if you are worried about your yard and want to try to bring back the green color, dust with sulfur, feed with quick acting plant food and of course . . . water.

If you have garden questions write them in to Bruce Frazier in care of the Big Spring Herald.

"Malt Liquor? That's a crazy name!"

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

On this day in 1886 the editor of the Albany "News" expressed his resentment at derogatory editorial comment in the East and North about his section of Texas.

The worst drought in the history of Texas had gripped the western section of the state, descriptions of the area voiced by writers outside the state aroused strong feelings among those on the scene.

The "Bourbon News" in Kentucky was particularly a subject of Texas as ire. "The drought in Texas is so intense," reported the Kentucky publication, "that potatoes are cooking in the ground and all the people have to do is dig and eat them. The workmen carry salt in their pockets and don't have to go home for dinner."

But Texas papers waxed as eloquent. "The weather is so dry," reported the "Taylor County News," "that the fish in the creeks are carrying toadstools for parasols. Water is so scarce that the Baptists and Campbellites are beginning to favor baptism by sprinkling . . . a prominent prohibitionist has ordered a case of beer as evidence that he wants rather to shave himself."

It was that dry. It did not rain in West Texas between 1884 and 1887.

World Trade Unaffected By U2 Case, Figures Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — New trade figures indicate the U.S. government has not stiffened its attitude toward American business dealings with the Communist bloc since the U2 plane incident and the summit conference collapse.

The Commerce Department approved nearly 90 per cent of all requests for permission to sell goods to the Soviets during the April-June quarter. Only 83 per cent of such requests were approved in the preceding three months.

Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller sent a report to Congress late Thursday on East-West trade during the second quarter of 1960. It was during this period, on May 1, that the Soviets downed the U2 plane piloted by Francis Gary Powers. The pilot is now on trial in Moscow, charged with espionage.

The dollar value of goods licensed for export to the Communist bloc during the second quarter dropped to $24,472,000 from a first quarter total of $35,420,000.

U.S. School In Iraq Gets Official Nod

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The honor guest at the graduation ceremony was Prime Minister Abdel Karim Kassem, the army general who two years ago led a violent revolution that threatened to wipe Western influence out of Iraq.

It was the first commencement of Al Hikma University, the American university in Baghdad.

Kassem's personal appearance at the graduation put the final stamp of approval on the university, which has blossomed into full four-year academic status during the two years following the revolution. In a country which veered close to the Communist bloc last year, this American institution is the only foreign university in Iraq.

The school is operated by Jesuit Fathers from New England, headed by the Rev. John Banks of Boston.

Al Hikma University was founded in 1956, under the old regime in Iraq. The upheaval of 1958 scarcely affected the progress of the school. By September 1959, the university had moved to its new campus, a dusty, windswept tract of land south of Baghdad.

Al Hikma is an outgrowth of another American Jesuit venture, Baghdad College, a high school on the north side of Baghdad with an enrollment of 740. It was founded in 1932.

Four cabinet ministers have sons enrolled in the school.

Students of Al Hikma and Baghdad College include Christians, Moslems, Hindus, and Jews.

Angry Husband Kills Himself As Wife Leaves

FORT WORTH (AP)—An angry husband, caught in the sunlight of a veteran policeman, put a bullet into his brain Thursday night shortly after his wife said she was leaving him.

John Ray Smith, 35, died a few minutes later in a hospital emergency room. Peace Justice Jim Boorman ruled the death a suicide.

The dead man's 35-year-old wife, her brother, Guy Booth of Woodbridge, Va., and her mother, Mrs. Henrietta Ennis of Fort Worth, witnessed the shooting.

Booth said he called police headquarters to ask for help because he felt there would be trouble after his sister and mother agreed to return to Virginia with him. Smith and his wife had argued earlier in the day.

Policeman H. D. Edmondson was sent to aid Booth. The two men and women went to Mrs. Ennis' residence to get her belongings.

Edmondson said he parked his squad car behind an auto containing Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Booth. The officer said Smith ran from the house and tried to grab his wife who jumped from the car and ran. He said he saw Smith reach into his shirt and take out a small pistol.

"He (Smith) pointed his pistol at me... but he saw I was in a position to take him. He put his gun to his head and fired," the officer said.

Killed By Train

CAMERON, Tex. (AP)—S. W. Wilson, 31, of Cameron, died Thursday when hit by a Santa Fe Railway train at a crossing inside this South Central Texas town.

Safe On The Ground

Capt. Joseph Kittinger, 31, of Orlando, Fla., lies happily on the ground in the New Mexico desert after jumping from a balloon 162,000 feet above the earth. Officials said Kittinger's historic leap set at least four records in America's space probe program.

Woman Pilot Passes Tests Set Up To Find Space Men

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Jerrie Cobb once said "I'd be standing in line" for a chance to probe outer space. She may get her wish.

The trim, blonde pilot was named Thursday as the first of 12 women volunteers to pass the rugged tests that America's seven male astronauts passed more than a year ago.

The announcement came in Stockholm, Sweden, from Dr. Randolph Lovelace, the top medical expert in Project Mercury, designed to send a pilot into outer space—and get him back again. He said in a lecture to the Space and Naval Medicine Congress that the first female into space is still far away.

But he added: "We are convinced that also women in due time will take part in space travels and we have already started to compare the test results of prospective female space pilots with those of the men."

"We are already in a position to say that certain qualities of the female space pilot are preferable to those of her male colleague."

"She weighs much less, consumes less oxygen, needs less food and has proved herself to be better capable of standing psychological strains in certain stress situations."

Miss Cobb, 29, executive pilot and sales manager for an Oklahoma City plane manufacturer could not be located for comment.

But recently she told a friend here, "This isn't negative thinking, but I'd want to do it even if I didn't come back. God has always been my pilot and I'm not at all afraid, just eager."

Dr. Lovelace said 20 women volunteered, 12 were examined, and Miss Cobb was first to pass the 87 different physiological and psychological tests.

The attractive Oklahoma native stands 5-7, weighs 121 and has flown everything from crop dusters to jets. She has authored altitude, distance and speed records in recent years, is only the fourth American ever to receive a gold medal from the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, and is one of only eight American women pilots with a multi-engine rating.

She started flying at 12 with her father, retired Air Force Col. W. Harvey Cobb, a Ponca City, Okla., auto dealer. She got her CAA license at 16 and has been flying most of the time since.

Her boss, zero design and engineering general manager Tom Harris, said Thursday night, "She's a great person and a great pilot. I don't know what they've got in store for her, but if women are good as astronauts, I'm sure she will be great."

When the Women's National Aeronautic Assn. presented her with its "Woman of the Year" award in Washington last February, Miss Cobb said, "I haven't been contacted for space flights, but I'd be standing in line."

Lad Who Stabbed Mom Ruled Insane

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A jury deliberated five minutes Thursday before deciding that Jimmy Glenn was insane. He stabbed his mother because she refused to let him use the car.

The jury ordered the boy, 18, sent to Rusk State Hospital. Mrs. Blossom Glenn, 43, is convalescing after being stabbed three times.

Fliers Ready For New Try At Air Catch

VANDERBILT AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Air Force Flying Boxcars left from Hawaiian runways today to try to make a flying catch of the falling space capsule of Discoverer XIV.

The latest Discoverer satellite, launched Thursday is circling the globe every 94½ minutes, whirling toward what the Air Force hopes will be a new space-age first.

Last week the capsule of Discoverer XIII was plucked from the sea near Hawaii by the Navy for the first recovery of an item from orbit.

Today the Air Force hopes to make the first aerial recovery of such an object. The transport-trailing trapeze-like rigs — tried and failed to snag the capsule of Discoverer XIII.

They lost it, like baseball outfielders with the sun in their eyes, because they couldn't get a radio fix on the capsule's beeping transmitters.

As before, the capsule will pop loose from the orbiting rocket on its 17th pass across the North Pole. Forward-firing rockets will slow the falling capsule and then, once in the atmosphere, a parachute is to lower it toward the target area in Hawaiian waters.

There are only instruments in the capsule — nothing alive. Air Force officials have mentioned the possibility of putting a monkey in an early Discoverer shot.

"We don't know if it will go in the next one, or the next one after it, or the next one after that," said an Air Force spokesman. "A lot depends on how this shot goes."

Some of the instruments aboard the new satellite are so secret the Air Force won't talk about them. Some, it said, are to provide information to help two upcoming series of surveillance satellites. Others are to gather data for the Navy's transit navigation satellite program.

It was fired here at 12:57 p.m. Thursday — 15 minutes behind schedule, because of a space traffic jam. The rocket from Discoverer XIII was overhead at about the same time, and the Air Force waited for it to hustle past so it wouldn't interfere with tracking of the newest Discoverer.

Radiation Pills No Good In Attack

DENTON (AP) — Anti-radiation pills will not save the lives of persons exposed to nuclear attack, Welcome Wilson, regional Civil Defense director, said Thursday. He said it is unlikely that any effective anti-radiation pill for general defense purposes will be perfected in the immediate future. Recent reports about possible developments of these pills and their effectiveness have caused public confusion, Wilson said.

Have Your Children's Eyes Examined Thoroughly and Scientifically at TSO

1. An Internal Eye Examination. When your child's eyes are examined at TSO, first, the interior of each eye is examined for evidence of disease or defect. Blood vessels and nerves are observed with the ophthalmoscope, an instrument used by Ophthalmic Doctors and Medical Doctors.

2. Examination for Vision Abnormalities. Such as astigmatism, near or farsightedness and muscle imbalance. If your child's visual diagnosis shows the need for glasses, they will be accurately prescribed for the clearest, most comfortable vision possible. Or, if preferred, contact lenses will be fitted.

If glasses are not needed, you pay only $3 for the eye examination.

Transportation is no problem for Lilian Blewitt. Her girls carry the wheel chair from classroom to classroom. She hopes to spend the rest of her life in the missionary work in Africa.

Polio-Crippled Woman Serves As Missionary In East Africa

By FRANCES FAIRHALL

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Miss Lilian Blewitt has been in Kenya eight months, and she's decided to devote the rest of her life to missionary work in East Africa.

"I shall never return to America unless God calls me back, and I am prepared to finish my life here," says 45-year-old Miss Blewitt of Bellerose, N. Y.

Stricken by polio when only 3 years old, she is confined permanently to a wheel chair. But despite her handicap, Miss Blewitt didn't think twice when she received a letter last October from family friends, the Rev. and Mrs. John Taylor Ludwig, urging her to join them. They run a mission school for African girls at Ruuraka, in undulating, dusty bush country some miles north of Nairobi.

"The Ludwigs had been asking me to come to Kenya for the last 20 years, but this time I knew I must go," she says. "I had no money for the fare, no means of support when I got here and had no teaching experience or qualifications—but nevertheless, here I am."

GIRLS' SCHOOL

The Ludwigs, who have been missionaries in East Africa since 1927, when Nairobi was a shanty town, have been extending their school for African girls for the last 10 years.

Before this they were attached to the Church of God Mission in the humid heat of Kisumu on the shores of Lake Victoria. But when Mr. Ludwig, now 78, reached retirement age, he was advised to go home.

The Ludwigs' answer to this was to accept 10 acres of land offered by a wealthy Nairobi hotelier, and to start a school for African girls, independent of any financial help from missions or the government.

Over the years the Ludwigs and their friends both in America and in Africa have given enough to take care of about 70 African girls

Prayer For The Next President

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A minister and newspaper editor here launched a "Prayer for the Next President" movement. The Rev. Robert W. Young, pastor of the North Presbyterian Church here and Editor Andrew Bernhard, called for concentrated private prayer between now and election day that "the man of God's choosing may occupy the White House."

Isaiah Denounces Social Evils

THE AMAZING SINFULNESS OF ISRAEL IN SPITE OF THE ABUNDANT LOVE THAT THE LORD HAD DISPLAYED TOWARD HER

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AS JESUS CHRIST did many years later, Isaiah begins today's lesson with a parable.

"My well beloved hath a vineyard in a very fruitful hill; and he fenced it, and gathered out the stones thereof, and planted it with the choicest vine, and built a tower in the midst of it, and also made a winepress therein; and he looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes."

Isaiah 5:1-2

So disappointed was the man who planted the vineyard that he said that he would "take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten up; and break down the wall thereof, and it shall be trodden down. And I will lay it waste: it shall not be pruned, nor digged; but there shall come up briars and thorns: I will also command the clouds that they rain no rain upon it."

—Isaiah 5:6

MEMORY VERSE

"The Lord of Hosts shall be exalted in judgment, and God that is holy shall be sanctified in righteousness."—Isaiah 5:16

"For the vineyard of the Lord of Hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah His pleasant plant; and He looked for judgment, but behold oppression; for righteousness, but behold a cry."—Isaiah 5:7

"Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night till wine inflame them! And the harp, and the viol, the tabret, and pipe, and wine, are in their feasts; but they regard not the work of the Lord, neither consider the creation of his hands."—Isaiah 5:11-12

"Therefore my people are gone into captivity, because they have no knowledge; and their honorable men are famished, and their multitude dried up with thirst."—Isaiah 5:13

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hardest fact for the adult mind to comprehend is that a teen-ager stands at the threshold of life.

When you enter a strange door you are uncertain. You don't know what's in store for you. You aren't sure which way to turn.

There may be familiar, welcoming voices — but even these now have the ring of uncertainty. For when your whole world is changing, can you be sure that the people around you are not changing also?

For boys and girls in this time of uncertainty the Church is the fulcrum of strength. Its truth is unchanging. Its teaching is clear. Its promises are worthy of hope, trust, endeavor, sacrifice.

The problems of the teen-ager are tremendous. But in the night of his God. The character, the certainty, the charity of the Church, inspires his ideals... challenges his courage.

Space Experts Set New Try For Courier

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Disappointed space scientists will try again soon to orbit a Courier military communications satellite.

The first effort ended 2 1/2 minutes after launch when the Thor-Able-Star carrier rocket exploded in a tremendous flash of fire and smoke Thursday.

The blowup occurred at an altitude of about 15 miles, sending the 600-pound payload and flaming wreckage of the rocket spiraling into the Atlantic several miles offshore.

The 51-inch spherical satellite, called Courier 1A, was designed to be capable of both receiving and transmitting 60,000 words a minute as it spun over a ground station. It was to be the forerunner of a global communications network for all United States military forces.

The Defense Department said the explosion resulted from premature shutoff of the first stage Thor engine.

Project officials are studying telemetry tape in an effort to learn what caused the cutoff to occur about 30 seconds too soon. They were puzzled by the failure of the Thor rocket, the booster for 18 of 24 earth satellites and one of two satellites launched successfully by the United States in recent months.

One minute before the ill-fated Courier launching, another Thor successfully hurled the Discoverer XIV satellite into orbit from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Officials declined to say how much the failure will delay the Courier program—whose goal is a space-age military communications satellite system by 1964. They said the experiment will be repeated, probably within a few weeks.

In other missile activity, a 47-foot Bomarc-A defense missile launched by remote control intercepted and destroyed a giant drone bomber 172 miles out over the Gulf of Mexico.

The QB47 converted stratojet bomber was knocked from the skies at an altitude of 35,000 feet while making a simulated bombing run toward the northwest Florida coast at 500 miles an hour.

The Air Force said the objective of the test—the 18th success in the last 19 attempts for the Bomarc-A—was to check the performance of recent modifications to the ground-to-air missile's target seeker system.

New Robert E. Lee Book Could Soften His Image

By CHARLES STAFFORD
AP Newsfeatures Writer

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A book is in the making that could soften the image of the greatest Confederate of them all, Gen. Robert E. Lee.

But it probably won't, because it's not the kind that makes the best seller lists. It's simply a collection of Lee's wartime papers and letters.

The book is being compiled for the Virginia Civil War Commission by novelist-historian Clifford Dowdley and research historian Louis Manarin. It will be released by Little Brown & Company next April 23, the 100th anniversary of Lee's acceptance of the command of the Confederate forces of Virginia.

Revered in the South and admired in the North, Lee in the popular concept is a white-bearded man on a high horse, the great military strategist, aloof, the embodiment of his own expressions of duty.

LEE IS 'HUMAN'

The Lee letters will do nothing to disturb the reverence or admiration, but they will present another facet of the great commander.

"In his letters Lee is human," says Manarin, a 28-year-old candidate for his doctorate at Duke University. "He is not on this pedestal—status—where some people try to place him."

The letters show his piety, his attachment to his family, how he liked his trousers tailored, the affectionate way he bantered his wife, his great diplomacy and tact.

In a letter to "My dear Mary" on Christmas day, 1861, Lee told his wife, "This place is too exposed to attack for the residence of a person as dear to me as you are. You would be captured while you were waiting a moment."

In a letter to one of his daughters...

ON THE SHELF

THE CONSPIRATORS. By Geoffrey Bailey. Harper, $4.95.

One reason why Hitler's armies swept so deadly far and fast into Russia was, some people used to argue, that Stalin had purged the Red Army of its only able and experienced generals, in particular Tukhachevsky. That was taken as a sign of Stalin's stupidity, for shouldn't he have known that he was coming, and didn't he sacrifice essential generalship to what was by his own statements to his people a piddling little conspiracy that constituted no real threat to his position?

Not so, says this author, who uses a pseudonym. There was a major plot to oust Stalin, who had only recently suffered two serious setbacks to his headlong climb to dictatorship. Hitler, who was having troubles with his own generals, was only too glad to get Stalin involved with his. While the Army purge alone amounted to a horrible slaughter, there was method in the Communist's madness. And it climaxed the between-the-wars struggle for power among Russians in and out of Russia as revealed in blood-curdling detail in this book.

Bailey's story begins around 1929 with a well-to-do Russian's trip from Petrograd to Revel, Leningrad, on what might have been an indiscreet affair with a married woman. He was Yaku shev, and the Cheka, or OGPU, or NKVD, put pressure on him till he doubled his role, serving as White Russian emigre leader but also as Red spy.

It was his "Trust" that betrayed two of the chief anti-Communist generals—the 1920s, Boris Savinkov and the Englishman Sydney Reilly, and may have contributed to the disappearance of Maria Schultz after a Moscow bombing attempt.

This Trust worked closely—too closely for the White Russians' good—with Wrangel's ROVS in Paris, which was headed by General Kutlyepov and Miller. Both were kidnapped, right in the middle of the capital, and smuggled out of the country right under the noses of a police force somewhat indifferent. Bailey suggests, to the fate of White Russians—the Quai d'Orsay later came stoutly to their defense. Gen. Nikolai Skoblin, who put the finger on Miller, as Miller revealed in a note he left against the chance of his disappearance, also seems to have told Heydrich of the Red Army conspiracy, though as Bailey confesses the motivation is baffling.

There are many familiar names in this complex tale of a mammoth underground—Plevitzkaya the glamour actress, Yagoda and Yezhov, Radek the brilliant journalist, Commissar Gamarkin who began the hazardous negotiations with the Nazis, Zinovyev and Kamenev, Dzierzhiski, Kirov, Vyshinsky. This is a remarkable chronicle of diplomatic double-talk and blood-and-thunder melodrama, all played for the highest stakes—the world we live in.

Cold Front Is Stationary Over Texas

By The Associated Press

A cold front that moved into West Texas Thursday accompanied by a dangerous looking tornado became stationary over much of the state early Friday.

The front touched off rains of up to 3.5 inches in the Panhandle. And near Pecos, in far West Texas, the Texas Electric Service Co. reported a number of power poles knocked down by strong winds.

A tornado funnel was also reported near Beaumont in Southeast Texas but neither of the funnels caused any damage.

Early Friday the front was stationary along a line just north of Paris, Fort Worth and Abilene and just south of Big Spring, Wink and El Paso. A few scattered thunderstorms hit in the area north of Abilene between Lubbock and Wichita Falls.

Rainfall totals in the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Thursday included Van Horn 1.17 inches, Sherman 1.10, Childress .60, Wink .50, Amarillo .35, El Paso .40, Mineral Wells .36, Wichita Falls .25, Port Worth .24, Lufkin .20, Presidio .13, Dallas and Longview .09, Beaumont .06, Houston and Tyler .03, and Lubbock .01. Numerous other points received a trace.

Residents of the West Texas town of Marathon watched the funnel as it stayed on the ground for about 30 minutes. It was followed by hail and heavy rain.

At Alpine, 25 miles west of Marathon, telephone operators said all circuits to the east failed for a time.

Temperatures Thursday afternoon ranged from 77 at Childress and Lubbock to 104 at Presidio. Early Friday the low was 59 at Amarillo and the high was 81 at Galveston.

The five-day forecast issued Friday calls for temperatures near or a little below normal in Texas with moderate rainfall.

Found In Water

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP) — The body of Willie Potter Jr., 16, of Freeport, was found in the water here Thursday. He fell from his father's shrimp boat Wednesday.

Texas Senators With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough of Texas voted with the majority Thursday at the Senate House a bill to increase minimum wages and broaden coverage of the wage-hour law. The vote was 62-34.

The Texans also voted successfully to table an amendment by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) to limit retail and service coverage to firms operating in more than one state.
