Long Heads For Victory In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Earl Kemp Long, who served an unprecedented three terms as governor, appeared headed for Congress tonight from Louisiana's eighth congressional district. Long, 65, ill in a hotel room suffering exhaustion and ptomaine poisoning, swapped the lead several times with incumbent Rep. Harold McSwain, 34, an Alexandria attorney.

Decision

Thomas W. Miller, Jr., director of information, National Labor Relations Board, announces the board's decision that the Kohler Company of Wisconsin had refused to bargain in good faith in its six-year-long dispute with the United Auto Union. The board charges the company with a series of unfair labor practices after a strike in 1954.

Sen. Long's Marathon Talk Delays Vote On Medical Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (Sunday) (AP)—A weary Senate gave up efforts to pass a compromise medical care for the aged plan early Sunday under an agreement to vote about 1 p.m. EST Monday. Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.), who had held the floor for many of the more than 13 hours the Senate met, finally agreed to a proposal by Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) to fix a definite time for voting Monday. Earlier, Long, protesting because some of his proposals had been dropped from the plan after Sen-

U.S. Airmen Mistreated In Incident

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Rampaging Congolese army troops raided a United Nations office and attacked the crew of a U.S. Air Force Globemaster in Stanleyville Saturday, U.N. headquarters announced.

The United Nations made a strong protest to the Congo government. Eight U.N. airmen were taken to a hospital after the attack by Congolese soldiers. A U.N. spokesman said all eight had been "maltreated."

AF Names Victims Of Congo Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force Saturday identified the members of the C124 Globemaster crew attacked by Congolese troops in Stanleyville but had no immediate information on which ones had been hurt.

Dispatches from the Congo said eight U.S. airmen had been "maltreated." The Air Force listed the plane crew as: Capt. Ejvert L. Mott, Box 992, Glennora, La.; Lt. Kenneth Stickevers, 34 Holland Court, Valley Stream, N. Y.; Lt. Armand A. Kelsenberg, Pierz, Minn.; Lt. William M. Shaw, 7 Sheridan Road, Asheville, N. C.; T. Sgt. Kenneth E. 1,342 People Die On Texas Highways

AUSTIN (AP)—The Department of Public Safety Saturday reported 1,342 persons have died on Texas highways this year. The tabulation included all accident reports as of noon Friday. The figure is four per cent less than the 1,399 deaths recorded for the same period last year. Last Friday's figure was six per cent less than the comparable 1959 figure.

Marine Pilot Slightly Hurt In Jet Crash Over Odessa

A Marine pilot received only minor injuries when he was forced to bail out of his spinning jet fighter during a violent thunderstorm over Odessa late Friday afternoon. The jet crashed and disintegrated. First Lt. John W. Lounsbury was taken to Webb AFB Hospital where he was treated for scratches and bruises. He spent Friday night and Saturday recovering from the experience. Lounsbury and 1st Lt. C. R. Alexander, also a Marine pilot, were flying their F-8U Crusaders from the Dallas Naval Air Station to their home base, El Toro, Calif., when they ran into turbulent weather.

Lounsbury's craft went into a spin at about 48,000 feet and the pilot could not recover. He left the jet at about 20,000 feet, falling through the rain and electrical storm to earth on the Hurt Ranch about seven miles north, northeast of Odessa. The jet also crashed in the same area. Alexander made it through the storm and later notified local authorities that he was all right. He was later reported safely landed at the California air base.

Crash and rescue teams from Webb AFB rushed to the scene of the crash, making the preliminary investigation. Marine officials will make a complete investigation.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The way it skipped around, rain must have been falling on the righteous last week. Several areas in the county received showers, some several, aggregating as much as two inches. But these were relatively isolated. The cotton can still be helped — and feed tremendously — but it begins to look like the yield will be about average.

Incidentally, the first bale came to market during the week, and Lonnie Smith produced the 500-pound bale. This is one of the largest first bales on record here and earned the grower $500 in cash contributed by local merchants through the Chamber of Commerce. In Martin County Walter Nichols had the initial bale on his farm 5 1/2 miles southwest of Knott.

The State Highway Department announced that funds had been earmarked for the Interstate 20 loop here. This project, set up for the 1961-62 program, will provide $4,400,000 for 7.2 miles of structures, base, grading. Paving will come later. At Colorado City where most of the preliminary work is complete, $1,600,000 was set up for paving and completion of the loop.

Pre-registration last week turned up 826 new pupils for the schools. Of course this includes the first graders and the children who have moved into town. It is not necessarily a new gain for some pupils here last spring have since moved to other places. Teachers report Monday for a (See THE WEEK, P. 4-A, Col. 1)

Court Orders Davis To Unhand Schools, Cites Attorney General

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Three federal judges, ruling swiftly after a stormy court hearing, Saturday ordered Gov. Jimmie H. Davis not to interfere with public school integration in New Orleans.

And they slapped a criminal contempt of court citation on Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion, who stalked out in the midst of Friday's court session.

Huffing and pounding a table, Gremlion had roared the tribunal was a "den of iniquity" and a "kangaroo court." He thundered as he bolted outside: "The Negroes are running the country."

The special tribunal issued its decree in a temporary injunction prohibiting the state from blocking integration in this city of 620,000.

It ordered control of the schools back into the hands of the Orleans Parish — county — School Board and directed the board to comply with U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright's May 16 order to integrate the first grade this fall.

In Baton Rouge, the governor's office released the following statement from Davis: "I have not been officially advised of any action of the court. However, I intend to spend this weekend conferring with my staff to prepare to use all available legal remedies."

Gremlion, in Baton Rouge, was asked if the court order meant the public schools would be desegregated if they open next month.

"If they reinstate Judge Wright's decision as I understand they did," Gremlion replied, "then I assume that's the way it will be. But that's only speculation on my part as of this moment."

The attorney general said Saturday's school decision did not come as a surprise because he was prepared to look "for the handwriting on the wall" after the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday refused to halt integration of public schools in Houston, Tex., next month.

Wright, U. S. Dist. Judge Herbert W. Christenberry, and Richard T. Rives, chief judge of the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, comprised the tribunal.

The judges, in their eight-paragraph temporary injunction decre, said Davis had "illegally seized control of public schools."

The battled singing governor took over administration of the city's schools Aug. 17 in an effort to keep them segregated.

The court ruled all the state segregation laws at issue were unconstitutional on their face. In addition, the court ordered Gremlion and all persons working with him to keep from "interfering in any way with the operation of the public schools."

Drowning Victim's Rites Scheduled

Funeral services for Herbert Johnson, 23, Midland, who drowned while fishing at Lake J.B. Thomas Friday evening, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. in Midland and at 2 p.m. Monday in Plainview.

Services today will be held in the Thomas Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. W. T. Metzgar, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church in Midland, officiating. Monday services will be conducted at the Plainview First Assembly of God Church. Burial will be in the Plainview cemetery under direction of the Thomas Funeral Home.

Johnson was fishing near the east end of the dam, standing on a submerged rock, when he slipped off the rock into deep water. Rescue efforts by his companion Doyle Robertson, also of Midland, failed.

Robertson extended his fishing rod to Johnson but the victim could not catch hold. Robertson then plunged into the water after him but could not pull Johnson to shore.

The fatal mis-step off the rock was the second time Friday Johnson had slipped into deep water. Earlier Robertson had been able to pull his companion to safety when he slipped and fell in water over his head.

Johnson was pulled from 25 feet of water about 25 minutes after he went down.

The victim is survived by his wife, Sally, and two children, Linda Sue, 2½, and Herbert Michael, 1½.

Other survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Johnson, Plainview; two brothers, R. H. Johnson, Midland, and W. T. Johnson, Slaton; and five sisters, Mrs. Perry L. Hourbuckle, and Mary B. Johnson, both of Carlsbad, N.M.; Helen Irene Johnson and Lena Fay Johnson, both of Plainview; and Mrs. Troy Wayne Shields, Pampa.

Kidnaped Girl Believed Dead

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Hope for the safety of a teen-age girl dwindled Saturday, three days after a young gunman shot her fiance and carried the girl from a lovers' lane.

Federal, state and local authorities intensified their search through the southern reaches of Illinois for a trace of the 17-year-old waitress, Mary Lily Ellen Roberts, and the blond gunman who kidnaped her Thursday.

While investigators, including the FBI, said they were hopeful the girl would be found alive, most expressed doubt she would be.

The girl's parents, too, said they believe she is dead. "I think my girl may be dead," said the mother, Mary Lee Roberts. Her husband, Raymond, a farm worker, said he, too, believes his daughter was slain.

A young gunman abducted the girl from the automobile of her fiance, John Bryant Jr., 20, after shooting Bryant in the face and taking his wallet. The gunman appeared as the young couple was parked on the shore of Crab Orchard Lake in the Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge, five miles east of Carbondale.

More than 100 volunteers joined in the hunt in some of the state's roughest terrain. They combed fields and brush, searched abandoned houses and wells, and climbed down coal mine ventilating shafts in the 44,000-acre game refuge.

A torn white shirt was turned up and investigators tried to determine if stains on it were blood. The search continued for a green and white 1955 model car which Bryant reported the girl's kidnaper was driving. Some campers in the wildlife refuge also reported seeing the car.

Hardy, Dunn, Lloyd Named To Head United Fund Sections

Some of the people who will hold key jobs in the 1960 United Fund campaign have been selected, it was announced Saturday.

Appointments and acceptances for three division chairmanships opened the way for an early completion of a big organization which will handle a big job in October.

Randall Polk, president of the UF, and Floyd Parsons, campaign chairman for this year, said that Larson Lloyd will head the special gifts division of the drive. Bruce Dunn will be chairman of the public employes division, and James M. Hardy leads the men's section of the metropolitan division. Still to be named are chairmen for big gifts division, employes division, and women's section of the metropolitan division. Parsons said he hoped to have these posts filled this week.

Meanwhile, much clerical work has been going on at the Chamber of Commerce in setting up mechanics of the fund-raising effort. New prospect cards are being prepared, other details set up to expedite the solicitation.

The United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County will be seeking $98,210 this year, an increase of only a few hundred dollars over last year's sum. Twelve agencies will share in the UF distribution, and most of these will be getting more money than last year. The UF campaign is being set up for 1960 at considerable reduction in campaign expense, through Chamber of Commerce assistance.

Agencies to share in the UF monies are the Red Cross, YMCA, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Milk and Ice Fund, American Heart Assn., Texas Rehabilitation Center (Gonzales Warm Springs), Summer Recreation Program, Air Force Aid, West Side Youth Center, Texas United Fund (For USO assistance).

Leon M. Kinney, office manager for the Texas Employment Commission in Big Spring, reports during the month ending Aug. 25, the office received 214 new applications for work and had a total of 755 persons on active file.

During the month, the commission had 273 openings and filled all except 45. Ninety-seven workers were placed in the agricultural field and 251 were placed in non-agricultural work.

Of the 251 placements in non-farm work, wholesale and retail trade and domestic work accounted for the largest group. Fifteen workers were placed in contract construction which has been slow throughout the year. Last year at this time, the commission was placing between 75 and 80 workers in this field each month.

Forty-seven of the placements were people over 45-years-old while 45 were under 20. Fifty of the placements were veterans. Women accounted for 113, or almost half of the placements made.

Initial claims for unemployment benefits reached 130 and there were 744 continued claims.

Total Rigs Gain To 2,529 In U.S.

The total number of rotary and cable tool rigs in operation throughout the United States last week made a slight recovery from the preceding week, gaining from 2,421 to 2,529. The count is made by the International Oil Scouts Assn.

Texas, leading all states in the survey, lost from 793 to 776, however, and the West Central Texas area dropped from 102 to 101. Other top states in the country reported gains.

Louisiana increased from 369 to 377, New Mexico increased from 153 to 156, Kansas gained from 81 to 115, and California gained from 123 to 128.

Martinez Is Executed

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Eusebio Segalado Martinez, 27, died in the Texas prison's electric chair early Saturday for the sex slaying of a nine-month-old girl.

Observers reported the condemned man, although described as able to comprehend no more than a child of 8 or 10, appeared to realize he faced death and talked freely about the execution.

Once more he blamed drinking and marijuana for a sex urge which drove him to kill the Negro child, Cynthia Riggins, at Midland, Tex. She was taken from a car while her parents danced at a night club Oct. 14, 1957.

Martinez, speaking mostly in Spanish, asked a Roman Catholic priest, Father Arthur Kaler, to write a sister in Midland, Mrs. Lucy Gonzales. He requested that she urge her sons to attend church and pray "because it will keep them out of trouble."

His final word before guards strapped him into the electric chair was "gracias"—thank you.

Accompanied by a lawyer for Martinez, Executive Director Charles Meisger of the Texas Assn. for Retarded Children appealed Aug. 17 for the State Pardon Board in Austin to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Meisger told the board that Martinez, a former inmate of two state institutions, had the mentality of a child and barely could distinguish between right and wrong.

Two Science Film Courses Will Be Offered This Year

A trail-blazing new approach to instruction in physics and chemistry will be introduced in the Big Spring school system this year. For the first time in Texas, the local district will offer science courses on film.

Asst. Supt. Sam Anderson and Douglas Whitley, physics and chemistry instructor, were enthusiastic with the possibilities of the two courses. The school has about 80 miles of film and Whitley has spent considerable time screening the footage in the last few weeks. By Friday, he had previewed about 60 miles of the total.

High School principal John F. Smith announced that both courses will be available to students when school opens Wednesday.

NEW TECHNIQUE

Format of the new courses represents a departure from the traditional lecture-laboratory approach in teaching science as the entire classroom instruction is on film.

These filmed courses will be offered primarily as supplements to the regular physics and chemistry courses now being taught at the high school, but provision will be made for all students who wish to take only the filmed course.

As it would be impractical to schedule these additional courses during the regular school day, provision has been made for additional of an early morning session (7:55-8:35 a.m.) as well as a noon session (beginning at 12:10) for screening the films.

Whitley and Anderson previewing the new science films. On the screen is Dr. Harvey White demonstrating an experiment.

Anderson said he believes that with the addition of these films, physics and chemistry students will group themselves into three categories:

Students who do not plan to continue their science education after graduation from high school and who therefore will choose to take only the filmed course for a half credit.

Students who are planning to continue their science studies after high school but who are unable to schedule the filmed courses as supplements to their conventional credit courses in physics or chemistry.

Students who supplement their regular physics or chemistry courses with the filmed courses and thus earn 1 1/2 credits in each of these subjects. It is anticipated that this third group will be the largest.

162 LESSONS
The physics course consists of 162 separate but slightly overlapping filmed lessons alternating between laboratory examples and lecture demonstrations which lead the student step-by-step in logical sequence through an extensive study of physics.

Included in the course are 15 lessons concerning the study of heat, 11 lessons dealing with sound, 18 on light (optics), 24 on electricity and magnetism, nine treating on atomic physics, eight on electronics, four on quantum optics, seven on nuclear physics, 15 lessons on properties of matter, and 44 lessons on mechanics.

In addition to these there are four introductory lessons and three special lessons. The three special lessons are entitled "The Slide Rule," "Algebra and Powers of Ten," and "Trigonometry."

The teacher on film of the physics course is Dr. Harvey White, vice-chairman of the Department of Physics, University of California. Dr. White was chosen by the producers of the films, Encyclopedia Britannica Films Inc., after a nation-wide search.

The films, Anderson said, reveal Dr. White as a teacher with mastery of his subject and a flair for fluent presentation. With the laboratory equipment of the University of California at his disposal, Dr. White has been able to go beyond the experiments possible in the ordinary high school laboratory.

PLAN EVALUATED
Four major studies have been done to evaluate the filmed physics course as a classroom instrument. They involved the comparison of amount of learning between approximately 2,000 students who were being taught entirely by film and an equivalent number of students who were being taught in the traditional manner.

Although the two groups were made up of students of comparable ability, those taught by film had the greater gain in physics knowledge.

Anderson anticipates similar research at the high school here to determine statistically if there is a significant difference in learning accomplished by film-taught students, lecture-laboratory taught students, and those students taught by a combination of both methods.

160 FILMS
The chemistry course is similar to the physics course—it will consist of 160 thirty minute films dealing with all aspects of the subject. The course is expected to be of particular value because it explores some areas of the science that are not included in the textbooks now in use in most high schools.

The teacher of the filmed course is Dr. John F. Baxter, professor of chemistry, University of Florida. Dr. Baxter was chosen for the films because of his reputation as a teacher and because of his experience in teaching science at all levels.

Although there has been only one study done to evaluate the chemistry film series, there is evidence that a significant learning gain is possible for those using only the filmed course. Anderson said the local school hopes to make an important contribution to research in this area by its own statistical study of learning differences in its three different groups of chemistry students this year.

County Has Over Half Of Bond Quota

Howard County savings bond investors have bought 50.4 per cent of the quota of $740,000 set for 1960, Robert W. Currie, county bond chairman, announced Saturday.

The county is now fourth in District No. 5. Larson Lloyd is district chairman and the district, which comprises eight West Texas counties, has 52.2 per cent of its quota of $1,730,000 in bonds for the year. July bond sales in Howard County were $68,751. Total for the county in 1960 stands at $372,942.

Statewide, Texas has invested $2,875,670 in U. S. Savings Bonds so far this year. This represents 56.1 per cent of the year's quota of $5,100,000.

Andrews County in District No. 5 with C. W. Roberts as chairman, with a quota of $60,000 has already invested $60,494, or 100.5 per cent of its quota.

Martin County, James Jones, chairman, has reached 81.5 per cent of its quota with $32,588.

Dawson County, J. E. Dubose, chairman, has hit 45.9 per cent of its quota.

Gaines County, L. G. Daugherty, chairman, has 58.1 per cent of its quota.

Mitchell County, J. C. Pritchett, chairman has hit 49.8 per cent; Scurry County, H. W. Cargile, Cargile, chairman, 49.3 per cent. Borden County, Sid Reeder, chairman, has no sales credited to its quota of $20,000.

5 Texans Die in Plane Crash

ELGIN, Okla. (AP) — The shattered wreckage of a light plane was found near here Friday night with the mangled bodies of its five occupants—all Texans.

The victims were identified by the Comanche County sheriff's office as L. T. Brown, 56, Brownwood, Tex.; his son, Loy Brown, 25, Dallas; the younger Brown's wife Patricia, 23; Paul Krueger, 43, Denton; and his 4-year-old son, Paul Jr.

Krueger was professor of music at North Texas State College.

80 Miles Of Film

Douglas Whitley, physics and chemistry teacher, has previewed 60 miles of film during recent weeks, preparing for two new science courses. Both courses include 322 cans of film of which 22 are shown here. The total length is about 80 miles.

Five Schools Join Hands To Use Film

Five secondary schools in this vicinity have joined hands with Howard County Junior College for the first time in Texas, to use two master teaching films in physics and chemistry.

These films, partly in color, will be used to supplement the science instruction in Coahoma, Forsan, Sands, Garden City and Big Spring High School. HCJC, which is the custodial and coordinating agency for distribution of the films, may make use of the material in its adult education program.

STORED AT HCJC

Eighty miles of film are involved in the 162 film-lessons in physics and 160 in chemistry. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC, said Friday that storage facilities at HCJC had been completed and that the film, all on hand, was being catalogued. Paul Vagt, librarian, will be in charge of the dispatch of the film so that each participating school can make maximum use of it.

Based on a formula which gives heavy weight to enrollment and science facilities, the participating schools put up the $28,620 cost of the film series. This will be paid over a four-year period. If the series prove as successful as it has in other states, Sam Anderson, assistant superintendent, curriculum, is hopeful that one for biology can be added.

Doug Whitley, head of the BSHS science department, has viewed all of the physics films and about half of the chemistry series, getting oriented and also labelling the various lessons.

Representatives of the participating schools met with Anderson a week ago to coordinate schedules and to discuss means of making maximum application of the films. Some, including Big Spring, are planning on using a workbook which parallels the film series.

Anderson said that some copies of a textbook written by Dr. Harvey White, vice chairman of the department of physics, University of California, will be available for supplemental use. Dr. White is the instructor in the physics film series. Dr. John F. Baxter, professor of chemistry at the University of Florida, has written a text, and although it is not yet published, Anderson is seeking to get copies of the manuscript for reference use. He is the chemistry series instructor.

Acquisition of the science films is the most ambitious cooperative instructional program by the schools in this area. Administrators are hopeful that there will be enough interest in the films that a number of control groups can be set up to evaluate their value as a type of instruction, as a supplement, as use in lieu of complete lab facilities, etc.

TWO FULL CREDITS

Anderson thinks that in the Big Spring program, the films might eventually lead to offering of two full credits in physics and chemistry. Laboratory facilities have been expanded tremendously and Anderson believes the film may stimulate interest in making greatest possible use of the new labs.

The Big Spring Independent School District is serving as coordinator in the financial arrangements. Most of the schools are under the National Defense Education Act, hence will be in line for 50 per cent reimbursement of their share of the film's cost.

Atom Power Centers Sino-Russian Dispute

Chinese science and production capacity eventually would be able to create a nuclear weapons output of its own but aid from Moscow could speed the process tremendously. The same is true of atomic energy for peaceful uses.

Against this obvious Chinese need for nuclear might and for the rocket power necessary to give it real military meaning stands the Soviet unwillingness to cooperate. At least on the basis of all their contacts with Soviet leaders at many levels and in many conferences U. S. officials are convinced that the U.S.S.R. does not want mainland China to become a nuclear power.

NO BIG HELP

One obvious reason for this is that the Soviet Union's own military strength would not be enhanced by such developments as establishing of missile bases on Chinese territory. The Russians have sufficiently good takeoff points in their own huge lands to aim at the United States or any other country with which they might consider war possible.

Additionally the Russians, in spite of their constant talk about Communist solidarity in peace, well know they lack any guarantee against grave trouble with Red China in future years.

State Department officials who watch every move in the strange Communist contest say that the nuclear weapons situation is not necessarily the source of the argument although it is undoubtedly one of the central issues as things now stand.

Jealousies between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung are believed to play an important role.

UNEARTHED IN AFRICA

Oldest Man Battled Giant Foes 600,000 Years Ago

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Young Mr. Zinjantropus had excellent teeth. They were immense and gleaming white.

They still shone brightly in a remote sun-baked gorge in east Africa when a British archeologist discovered Zinjantropus' remains buried next to a crude camp site beside a lake some 600,000 years ago.

The National Geographic Society hailed the find Saturday as a sensation.

It said Zinjantropus, believed to have been about 18 when he died, is the world's earliest known human—some 100,000 years older than two other famed primitives, the Peking man and the Java man.

Zinjantropus—or "East Africa man"—lived in fantastic jungles in Tanganyika, in what the upheaving earth of the intervening centuries has now left as the Olduvai Gorge.

The young man had to battle giant animals—a prehistoric pig as big as a rhino; a sheep towering six feet at the shoulders, a fantastically huge baboon; and a bird seemingly larger than the extinct, 12-foot moa of New Zealand.

Fossils of these creatures were found near Zinjantropus.

The discovery climaxed a search of nearly three decades by Dr. L. S. B. Leakey, noted British archeologist and curator of the Coryndon Museum in Nairobi, Kenya. The work involved extreme hardship, heat, lack of fresh water, and constant danger from lions, giraffes, and rhinos.

Piecing the low-browed, long-faced skull together was like working a complex, three-dimensional jigsaw puzzle.

Leakey says there's no question over dating the discovery back 600,000 years. Archeologists know the age of the giant fossils found nearby. And Zinjantropus is 18 because his wisdom teeth show no sign of wear, yet skull growth shows he's over 16.

Leakey, long an expert on Stone Age Africa, is the son of missionaries and was himself born in an African twig hut.

Fabulous Imposter Takes Honest Job, Pays With Life

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Fabulous imposter who finally took an honest job was shot and killed Saturday—apparently dying as the hero he always sought to be in life.

Stanley Weyman, 67, who spent half a century posing as everything from a foreign diplomat to the man in charge of Rudolph Valentino's funeral, was slain by robbers while serving as a night motel manager.

He had taken the job only a month ago after an incredible career of fakery which saw him making presentations of royalty at the White House, receiving naval salutes as an "inspecting officer" and spending years languishing in jail for his fantastic flops as a phony big shot.

Weyman was gunned down by two robbers at the Dunwoody Motel. The bandits escaped with $200 grabbed from the cash register—evidently unaware Weyman had another $500 in his pockets.

Officers said Weyman apparently put up a fight. He was shot twice in the abdomen and once in the back of the head.

Aid Money Is Restored

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted Saturday to put into effect an $190 million dollars in foreign aid funds which President Eisenhower has called necessary to the nation's security.

This action moved the post-convention session of Congress another step toward adjournment this week—although this indirect method of meeting part of the President's request must be approved not only on the Senate floor but in the House where opposition to foreign aid spending has been stiffer than in the Senate.

The unresolved foreign aid question and an apparent Senate-House deadlock over minimum wage legislation remain the principal barriers to adjournment so

Seaton To Speak At Saline Plant

The plant will convert salt water of the Gulf of Mexico into fresh water for industrial use.

CONGO

mands that the U. N. forces quit the Congo, turning over the job of maintaining order to his army. Lumumba himself flew to Stanleyville, capital of Oriental Province in the northeast Congo. Stanleyville was his stronghold in his days as a nationalist leader under Belgian rule.

BEATEN

The five American members of the Globemaster crew were beaten up at the airport when they landed with communications equipment and Canadian technicians for Canadian forces in Stanleyville. The plane had flown directly to Stanleyville from Toronto.

Lumumba's forces were reported to have knocked off the capital of an ally of Katanga in adjacent Kasai Province.

Kasai rebel leader Albert Kalonji said 300 Congolese soldiers had captured Bakwanga, capital of his independent "provincial state" proclaimed two weeks ago. He charged three officers from Communist Czechoslovakia had led the invading Congolese force.

Kalonji, a political foe of Lumumba, was in Elisabethville, capital of Katanga Province, where he had gone to seek military help from Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe. He reported Congolese soldiers had captured a town about 20 miles from Katanga's frontier.

In Stanleyville, Lumumba was told of the Globemaster incident after he saw either an American or a Canadian walking across the field with a bruised face and torn overalls. There were patches of blood on the field.

Jean Finant, Congolese governor of Oriental Province, informed Lumumba he had succeeded in stopping a lynching of two U. S. pilots. Finant reported they were seriously injured.

An Ethiopian colonel named Waldayo intervened and succeeded in stopping the fighting at the airport, Finant said.

COHESIVENESS

So far Washington leaders are persuaded that, however violent the words may become, the forces which pull Moscow and Peking together in their common interests are much greater than the forces which push them apart.

Yet it is the central importance of their common interests which gives significance to the dispute that has slowly built up between the two Red powers over the last year or more. It is this element, indeed, which suggests that behind the denunciations and name-calling which both sides now employ are vital interests in solid issues which tend to split them apart.

ANGRY CROWDS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Fresh disorders broke out in Jacksonville's Negro district Saturday night and streets were blocked to automobile traffic.

Clashes between police officers and groups of Negroes were frequent as racial unrest seethed in the wake of a narrowly averted full-scale downtown battle between white persons and Negroes during daylight hours.

Officers were seeking a panel truck driven through the Negro area Saturday night by a Negro who was seen to be carrying a rifle. Five policemen were assigned to nothing but manning telephones at headquarters. They were jangling constantly with complaints of broken windows, potash thrown on cars and the like.

MANY JAILED

So far, 48 Negroes and 14 whites have been arrested, mostly on charges of fighting and inciting to riot.

Gov. LeRoy Collins alerted the Florida National Guard to stand by for action if necessary.

Jacksonville police, who normally travel by ones and twos in squad cars, were doubling up. There were at least two officers in each car and four in many.

At least 50 persons have been injured.

Most of the injuries were minor but a white youth was stabbed and two young Negroes were shot. A white man, Wayne Heidler, 42, suffered severe facial burns. He said four Negroes ran up to his car and one threw potash on him.

The stabbing victim is in fair condition and neither of the Negro youths are 12 and 18.

CARS DAMAGED

The gangs of fighters moved through streets crowded with weekend shoppers. Many cars were damaged by flying bottles.

Meanwhile, the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People called a mass meeting here Sunday to gain support for peaceful demonstrations against segregation.

All available city and county police officers continued to patrol Jacksonville streets after dispersal of Saturday combatants. Police said the situation still was dangerous.

Many of the white men were armed with ax handles. Some minor clashes were reported.

There was considerable shouting of one group at the other across a street near several stores which have been the scene of lunch counter sit-in demonstrations resulting in minor disturbances for the past 10 days.

During the morning about 50 white men who appeared to be farmers—some carrying Confederate flags and ax handles—paraded through the center of town. Police patrolled the area but made no immediate move to disperse the crowd.

THE WEEK

couple days of instruction, and classes begin Wednesday.

Violent deaths touched our area. Robert E. Stone, 28, of cotton dusting pilot, was killed in a plane crash near Welch in northwest Dawson. He was the third pilot fatality in four crashes in Dawson County this year. Previously L. T. Terry, Lamesa, had died in a car mishap near Brownfield. Herbert Johnson, 23, Midland, drowned Friday evening at Lake J. B. Thomas.

This also has been a year of snakebites. The latest to be on the receiving end of a rattlesnake's wrath was Shirley Fryar, 6, who was bitten on the heel at the parents' home, five miles east of Stanton. At latest reports, he was making satisfactory progress.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District board last week approved steps to set up 450,000 gallons of storage near the present Big Spring terminal storage. For reserves this cuts no particular ice, but it will permit the CRMWD in slack periods to drain the big terminal storage, repair and maintain it.

Mrs. Ken Williams said in Lubbock that her husband, who suffered a broken neck while performing as a clown in the Junior rodeo here, is deeply grateful for the benefit affairs held for them. Their square dance group raised $437 and another unit $60, for which Mrs. Williams expressed their heartfelt thanks. Ken, incidentally, is making encouraging progress.

Little Buddy Becker, 2 1/2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Becker, lost his fight to leukemia. Like most instances in the case of children, the disease took its toll relatively fast.

The Mitchell County board of trustees gave its approval to annexation of 1,850 acres of land south of Big Spring to the Big Spring Independent School District. Previously, 291 acres had been taken out of the Fort-Spanish district and attached to the local district as the result of petitions and action by the county board.

Twelve new colonels in the Air Training Command were given here last week to inspect operations at Webb AFB. The reason was a fluttering one. Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs, ATC commander, had pegged Webb as a model base.

Two polo cases, which thank heavens are now almost rarities, cropped up last week when Mrs. Joe McGowan and little Robert Allen Richard were struck. Mrs. McGowan apparently had a dizziness and Robert was coming along well.

The Cripples Children's Center got real substantial encouragement during the week when an anonymous donor gave $1,000 toward therapy equipment. The center received the equipment, acquired for over $3,000 and valued at twice that amount, and soon it should be able to start service to area youngsters. All of this has been made possible out of gifts of labor and money.

Nixon Talks As Kennedy Prepares

By The Associated Press

Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon called on Americans Saturday to quit worrying about national weaknesses but rely on superior U. S. military and economic strength.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic contender for the White House, meanwhile stockpiled energy and ideas for the campaign while spending a restful weekend at his Hyannis Port, Mass., summer home.

"Let's not run down the United States in pointing up the weaknesses we have," Nixon said in a speech delivered from Washington by telephone to the Amvets convention at Miami Beach. "But let us point out our strength and never lose our ideals."

In Washington, the Americans for Democratic Action, which describes itself as a liberal independent organization, endorsed the Democratic ticket but pointedly avoided mentioning Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Kennedy's running mate. The ADA has frequently criticized Senate Leader Johnson in the past.

Waxing enthusiastic about Kennedy, however, the ADA said the Massachusetts senator is "well qualified by record, by ability and by personal commitment for the presidency."

It was Johnson's 52nd birthday and senators took time out from trying to tie up loose ends to adjourn this week to pay him tribute. Republicans joining in.

Nixon in a message to the Zionist Organization of America convention in New York said that if elected he will assign Henry Cabot Lodge, the GOP vice-presidential nominee and retiring U. N.

Lakeview Teams To Launch Drive

Team captains and their workers will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at Mount Bethel Baptist Church for the kick-off of the Lakeview YMCA building fund appeal.

The campaign designed to get a fund going for eventual housing of the Lakeview Y program is to be conducted among the Lakeview constituents.

R. H. Weaver, past president of the Big Spring YMCA is to speak to the 10 team captains, who each have five workers.

Youth Jailed After Parking Lot Fracas

A fracas on the Ritz Theater parking lot early Saturday morning resulted in the jailing of a 19-year-old Big Spring youth on disturbing charges.

Police dispatched to the parking lot about 2:15 a.m. found several youths congregated there. Most of the crowd dispersed when ordered to do so, but one member of the crowd resisted the order, officers said. The youth was arrested, charged with creating a disturbance and released on $50 bond.

Solons Demand Cuba Get Same Paddle As Trujillo

WASHINGTON (AP)—A break in relations with the Dominican Republic brought a demand in congressional quarters Saturday that the United States take the same course with the "equally despotic" Castro regime in Cuba, which is Communist besides.

The United States, said Rep. Armistead I. Selden Jr. (D-La) was "sadly and badly outmaneuvered" at the hemisphere foreign ministers' conference in Costa Rica.

It was "a terrible blunder," he told a reporter, for those responsible for U. S. foreign policy to join the move against the Dominican Republic "without being absolutely certain that simultaneous action would be taken" against the Castro regime in Havana.

"They are both dictatorships, and bad ones," said Selden, chairman of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Latin America.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) of the House Agriculture Committee commented: "It seems crazy to me for us to break relations with a regime which has been friendly and cooperative in every way for years, in the hope of overthrowing this regime and creating a situation where a dictatorship worse than that in Cuba can move in."

OAS Skirts Cuban Slap, Draws Khrushchev Protest

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Western Hemisphere foreign ministers were said Saturday night to have drafted a "tough" resolution that would meet U. S. demands for condemnation of Soviet-Chinese intervention in Latin America through Cuba's alignment with the communist bloc.

Sources said the resolution "names some names but not others." Final language still had to be worked out before it was presented to the full, 20-member foreign ministers group for a final vote.

The resolution was expected to win the support of a two-thirds majority although an early strong opposition was predicted. A 10-nation group had been named to work out a compromise resolution in the interests of hemisphere solidarity after the United States demanded sharp repudiation by Cuba of Communist efforts to extend its influence in the hemisphere.

There was some doubt that Cuba would sign the resolution but the United States reportedly was indifferent to whether or not Havana agreed.

An earlier compromise resolution to avoid a direct shot at Cuba and instead condemn Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for threatening a rocket defense of Cuba ran into trouble.

Mexico was reported spearheading the idea of naming Khrushchev specifically in the proposed resolution brought before the 10-nation study session. Four of the

Woodward Has First Bale In Dawson County

LAMESA (SC) — Richard Woodward of Midway Friday was the owner of Dawson County's first 1960 cotton — a huge bale that tipped the scales at a near-record 630 pounds.

Woodward, who farms about 800 acres in the county, took the first bale from a 160-acre tract of land owned by R. S. Stanfield, also of Midway.

Unofficially, Woodward becomes eligible for the $250 premium offered by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce for the first bale.

Lamesa Gives Confidence Vote For Improvements

LAMESA (SC)—The Lamesa City Council this week received a vote of confidence on its capital improvements program as citizens at a "town meeting" indicated approval of bond issues in a straw ballot.

The open meeting drew almost 100 persons and 69 cast assenting votes on five propositions on the straw ballot.

No tax raise is contemplated for the bond issues. The additional revenue needed will be raised through increases in water, sewer and sanitation rates.

people rather than by hitting the taxpayers heavily. Although considerable discussion was made on whether to relocate or rebuild the present sewer plant, citizens voted 43-25 to move the plant about three miles south of Lamesa.

Good Start In School Is Important

Each year boys and girls across America slick down cow-licks, buckle gleaming leather shoes and set off for school.

Very important is the child's attitude toward this new phase of his life. Encourage him to talk about school. Ask him if he understands what it's "all about."

Even children who have been looking forward to starting school sometimes have a few last-minute misgivings.

A month or so before school starts, see that your youngster has a thorough physical and dental examination.

From now on you won't be with your child every moment. Be sure he knows how to keep himself safe by practicing basic good safety rules, especially going to and from school.

Teach your child his name, address and telephone number. Provide him with the information on a card and pin it inside the pocket of his everyday coat, or in his satchel or lunchbox.

See to it that the school has your phone number and that of your office or of your neighbor. Above all, prove to your child that he is not "being sent away from home." Show him more love than ever.

Contempt Gets Jail Sentence

Troy Bettis was found guilty of contempt of court Friday afternoon and ordered confined in the Howard County jail until he has paid $1,600 in back payments to his divorced wife, Dorothy Bettis Smith.

Judge Ralph Caton had issued a commitment of Bettis on May 26. He has been previously haled before court on other occasions for contempt citation and released on a promise he would make amends, the record shows.

Testimony at the hearing revealed that Bettis and his wife were divorced in Sept. 1958. He was ordered to begin paying $80 a month Oct. 1, 1958 for the support of his three minor children — at that time, aged 5, 3 and 1 years respectively.

It was stated that he had never made a payment. He has been previously haled before court on other occasions for contempt citation and released on a promise he would make amends, the record shows.

Other Martin County schools to begin Aug. 29 are Courtney, Grady, and Flower Grove.

Martin County Schools Open

Dozen Citizens To Testify At Lubbock Trial Of Wiley

A dozen Howard County citizens will be on their way to Lubbock Monday to appear as witnesses in the murder trial of Roosevelt Wiley, 28, Odessa Negro.

Wiley was arrested in Big Spring two years ago a few hours after he and Willie McDade, 17, another Odessa Negro, knifed L. H. Canada, middle-aged San Angelo milk truck operator to death and robbed him of his money and his truck.

The slaying occurred in Coke County south of Sterling City at a point where U.S. 87 cuts across the corner of the Wiley County.

Actions by Wiley and McDade were aroused suspicions of officers and residents. This led to their arrest and questioning. A confession of the crime was obtained here even before the body of the victim had been discovered hidden in the weeds beside the highway.

This is the second trial of Wiley. On March 7, 1959, he was found guilty and sentenced to death. The case had been transferred from Robert Lee to Lubbock on a change of venue. The verdict was appealed and the case remanded to Lubbock for retrial by the Court of Criminal Appeals. The court held there had been jury misconduct in the trial.

Members of the city police and sheriff's force, several merchants, as well as the district attorney and his assistant have been subpoenaed for the trial.

McDade pleaded guilty to murder and is serving a life sentence.

Remains Of Plane

All that remained of a crop dusting plane that crashed and burned, killing its young pilot, was this tangled steel skeleton. The light plane smashed into a cotton field 19 miles north of Lamesa Thursday evening killing Robert E. Stone, 26, of Brownfield. The aircraft caught fire apparently after the gas tank shattered upon impact. Stone was the third pilot killed in crop dusting crashes this year in the Dawson County area.

New Drug Hits Resistant Germs

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A new form of synthetic penicillin is capable of striking down some of the dangerous germs which have been resistant to other drugs, a pharmaceutical firm said today.

Bristol Laboratories said its new form of synthetic penicillin was effective against some strains of resistant staphylococcus responsible for some hospital epidemics.

Details of its clinical value will be reported at a Sept. 7 conference at the State University of New York's Upstate Medical Center in Syracuse, the company reported.

Some staphylococcus germs through a process of evolution have inbred resistance to regular penicillins and other drugs commonly used to combat infections. These drugs have killed those germs vulnerable to attack, and the invulnerable germs have escaped and propagated. They are now a considerable health hazard, especially in hospitals where they prey on persons weak from the stress of surgery or disease.

When Bristol first announced synthetic penicillin last year, the firm predicted it would be able to construct new types of penicillin tailored to attack certain now resistant germs.

A Pat on the Back

FOR MR. JONES LAMAR

"You know, Big Spring's Sewage Treatment Plant has had a lot of 'firsts' — to be as far behind as we are now," says Jones Lamar. He should know. He has been plant superintendent here for 24 years and has seen the system copied in cities as far away as Canada. The Class A State Certificate which he holds requires forty hours of training for renewal every five years. Twice he has completed the A&M College laboratory courses and received extra credit for attendance at Water Dept. meetings in other cities.

The Big Spring Sewage Treatment Plant was recognized in 1943 for having made more improvements than any other in Texas. In 1945, the State Health Department commended the plant for having the best quality effluent in the state, with Mr. Lamar receiving a plaque for having the "prettiest" plant at the time. It was also the first sewage plant in Texas to sell effluent for industrial use; the sale being to Couden refinery which still uses the effluent.

Mr. Lamar is proud of these awards but admits that time and the city's rapid growth has changed the situation. "Our present system was designed to serve 17,000 people—so you can see how inadequate it is now," he said. Actually, many Big Spring homes still require septic tanks due to lack of trunk lines. Many other lines are overloaded and some areas are completely without sewer service. The existing treatment plant represents a substantial investment. It can be rehabilitated—and Mr. Lamar is hoping to see an extended plant at the present site which could provide for an approximate population of 40,000 and increase the quality of effluent furnished to Couden.

Jones Lamar came to Big Spring in 1907 and met his wife, the former Hazel Underwood, through his interest in lodge work. His membership in the Odd Fellows Lodge goes back 37 years. He is a past grand conductor of the state and has served as local secretary since 1949. He also is a member of the Knights of Pythias and Elks Lodge.

The Lamars live at 604 Lancaster and attend the First Presbyterian Church. Their only daughter, Mrs. John Sanders, lives in Andrews. "The only hobby I have—and one I love," he says, "is entertaining my three grandchildren."

VA To Honor 61 Volunteers

A watermelon feast and certificate presentation will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Veterans Administration Hospital for 61 junior volunteer workers and their parents, who have contributed their time to the hospital during the summer.

The volunteers, all teen-agers, took an orientation course and worked throughout the hospital in such departments as nursing service, recreation, X ray, laboratory, registrar, occupational therapy, corrective therapy, social work service and others.

24 CERTIFICATES

Of the 61 volunteers, 24 will receive certificates of appreciation for having contributed 100 hours or more of service. Thirty-seven, who have worked up to 99 hours, will receive letters of recognition. Their devotion to the volunteer service is demonstrated by Jinx Whisenant, 16, Odessa, who has served over 100 hours at the hospital and has traveled 2,120 miles to do so.

The program will begin with an invocation by hospital Chaplain C. O. Hill, followed by a welcome from V. J. Belda, manager of the hospital.

Miss Bessie Love, chief of nursing service; and Tolford Durham, chief of social work service, will speak on "Junior Volunteer Contributions to Our Hospital Program."

Jane Harrington, Big Spring, and Lonnie McCracken, Odessa, will give a response on "What Serving The Hospital Has Meant to Junior Volunteers."

Following the speeches, Belda will present certificates to those volunteers who have worked 100 hours or more and Dr. Jack Margolis, acting director of professional services, will present letters of recognition to those who worked up to 99 hours.

The volunteer workers have been working at the hospital since June 1, and will continue through Tuesday. Members of the hospital staff felt they were due a recognition night.

"They have conducted themselves in a mature, dignified manner and have really done a beautiful service with no other reward except personal self-satisfaction," said Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of volunteers.

"Patients are lamenting all over the hospital because they won't be coming back after Tuesday," she added.

REFRESHMENTS

Following the presentation of certificates, watermelon and coffee and cookies will be served and parents will see and hear what the junior volunteers have been doing. The program will be held in the patio to the rear of the hospital. The patients dining room will be used in case of rain.

DEAR ABBY

DIAPER HIM

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday a policeman knocked on my door and told me I would either have to put a diaper on my baby or keep him in the house. He is only 14 months old and I see nothing wrong with letting him play outside in his play pen with nothing on. One of my neighbors reported me and I have a pretty good idea which one. Do you think it was right to report me for something like that?

ANGRY MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your neighbor should have spoken to YOU about it. Although the sight of a bouncing bare baby boy is likely to offend very few people it's those few whom you must consider. A small diaper, in the future, will prevent a 2-cornered fight.

DEAR ABBY: My wife sleeps with some deal on her head and I can't tell if she is going to bed or going to the moon. Not only that, but at bedtime she smears a lot of goop all over her face which has put an end to my giving her a goodnight kiss.

This morning he called and apologized. He asked me if I would please go out with him to give him a chance to prove, he could behave like a gentleman. Should I? DISAPPOINTED

Challengers Contemplate Conquest

Lawrence Bledsoe, left, brought three members of his team for the Couden Cup matches over Friday to sample the Big Spring Country Club course. Bledsoe's team is favored to measure an all-star

Bledsoe Completes List Of Heavily Favored Invaders

Qualifying play is expected to start today for the Big Spring Country Club Coronado Hills annual tournament. Advance inquiries promise a field as large or larger than last year's record 176.

Jack Wallace, captain of the local cup team, will not know until team qualifying rounds are finished Thursday just who will be on his team.

Three times and was two under par. He is assured a place and may rank next to Wright. Others who offer some promise at this stage are Jim Scott who was five over on two rounds; Bob Eisenhart, three over on one; Donald Lovelady 7 over on three rounds; R. H. Weaver, seven over on two rounds; Eddie Harris, even par on one; Charles Bailey five over on two. Paul Mosley five over on two.

Lawrence Bledsoe, San Angelo, captain of the invading team for the Couden Cup matches which are held as a feature prelude to the annual tournament, was here Friday with three of his teams. They crowded in 27 holes of familiarization. Bledsoe announced the other members of his team which will be favored heavily. They include C. E. (Red) Covington, Hezlie Carson and John Gandy, San Angelo; Roy Peden, Monahans; Red Roden, Odessa; Bill Craig and James Pritchett, Colorado

Others who have completed their qualifying rounds are Son Powell 293, or five over; Bernard Raines 295 or 7 over; Earl Reynolds 299; Daryle Hohertz 301, Red McCullah 301, John Pipes 301, Jack Cook 305; Jimmy Patterson 309. Bill Cheek had toured the course

Pinch Single Beats Phillies

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Thomas' pinch single in the eighth inning scored Ernie Banks with the winning run as the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 5-4 today to square their series at a game apiece.

Don Elston, working the final 2-3-3 innings in relief of kayoed starter Dick Ellsworth, picked up the win — his seventh against as many losses. Short was the loser, bowing to the Cubs for the first three straight.

Phillies' pilot Gene Mauch poured four pinch batters into the seventh when his team scored three times for a 4-4 standoff and chased Ellsworth in the process. Bobby Del Greco's single triggered the spurt. Before Don Elston finally ended the four-hit spree Tony Taylor singled for the first run, Tony Gonzalez delivered a pinch single for the second, and Tony Taylor scored the tying run on a wild pitch.

Philadelphia 001 000 300-4 10 1 Chicago 100 201 01x-5 9 0 Buzhardt, Short (7), Farrell (8) and Coker; Ellsworth, Elston (7) and Thacker. W—Elston (7-7). L—Short (5-9).

All-Stars Win, 16-3

Big Spring All-Star baseball team won the state teen-age championship last night at Fort Hood, defeating that team by a lopsided 16-3 score.

Randy Moore was the winning pitcher, holding the Fort Hood team to three hits. Big Spring clouted out 10 safeties and took advantage of six errors committed by their opponents. The Big Springers made three bobbles.

Big Spring started off badly losing its first hit to Killeen by blowing a ninth inning lead on Monday. The local came back to defeat Waco and went on to eliminate Killeen in a second game. Meantime, Camp Hood had surged into the lead by winning all of its preliminary tilts. Friday night, Big Spring crushed Fort Hood 18-6.

The team returns home today bringing with it the big trophy which was posted for the champions.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington's Senators, solidly in the first division for the first time in 14 years, whipped Detroit, 4-1, Saturday in their bid to cling to fourth place.

Seven-hit pitching by Don Lee and Ray Moore gave the Senators a sweep of the two-game series and ran their victory total to 63 against 60 losses—the wins now equalling the club's total for all of the 1959 season.

Harmon Killebrew got the Senators off winding with a first-inning homer off loser Bob Bruce. A single by Lenny Green and a double by Renno Bertoia in the fourth made it 2-0. In the fifth, the Tigers got their only run, off Lee, on a double by Chico Fernandez and a single by Ossie Virgil.

The Senators sewed it up off Detroit reliever Paul Foytack with two runs in the seventh.

DETROIT (AP)—The last of a Kansas City Athletics cooled Baltimore's heated run at the American League lead Saturday with a 5-3 victory over the Orioles.

Righthander Ray Herbert chopped off Baltimore's winning string at four as the As came from behind with a three-run burst in the seventh inning.

Kansas City jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the top of the third on a flurry started by Herbert's single to left.

Baltimore's big third inning featured singles by Mary Breeding, a double by Gene Woodling, and singles by Brooks Robinson, Jim Gentile and Gus Triandos.

Kansas City wiped out the one-run deficit and put the game away in the seventh as Han Hammen muffed Bill Tuttle's leadoff grounder to start the A's winning rally.

Tuttle moved to third on a single by Lumpe and scored on a double by Russ Snyder. Robinson fumbled a grounder off the bat of Norm Sherry, permitting Lumpe to score. Dick Williams came in as a pinch hitter and singled to score Snyder.

Miller Holds Milwaukee To 3 Hits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stu Miller, a last-minute pitching choice, handcuffed second-place Milwaukee on three hits Saturday while San Francisco whipped the Braves and Lew Burdette 3-1.

Home runs by Felipe Alou and Willie Mays provided the key Giant blows before a Candlestick Park crowd of 27,061.

Alou's fourth-inning homer marked the first run off Burdette in 32-23 innings.

Mays' 28th homer sailed over the right field fence in the sixth. Miller, now 4-5, kept the Braves buffeted with his slow stuff and struck out six while walking two.

The third Giant run came on singles by Orlando Cepeda, Willie Kirkland and Hobie Landrith in the seventh.

Burdette gave up nine hits in taking his eighth defeat against 15 victories.

The Braves' run came in the eighth when Adcock led off with the second hit off Miller and pinch-hitter Wes Covington singled. Adcock scored on the second of two infield groundouts.

Stan The Man Blasts Pirates

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan (the man) Musial—before the biggest St. Louis Cardinal home crowd in four years—blasted a two-out solo homer in the last of the ninth inning Saturday night, bringing the Redbirds a 5-4 victory over the National League-leading Pittsburgh pennant express.

Friday night Stan blasted a two-run seventh-inning homer off Bob Friend for a 3-1 St. Louis victory.

His victim Saturday night was the Pirates' ace relief pitcher, right-hander Roy Face.

Musial took two called strikes, then a ball, then pulled the next pitch onto the pavilion roof in right field.

It was Stan's 14th homer of the season — matching his total for all of last season—and gave him 52 RBIs.

Stan also drove in the third St. Louis run with a single in the third after Joe Cunningham's double.

The St. Louis winner was former Pirate Ron Kline, now 4-8. He stopped the Pirates in order in the ninth. Face now is 9-7.

The defeat kept Danny Murtaugh's club 8½ games ahead of second-place Milwaukee and put the third-place Cards within 6½ games of the top.

The paid attendance was 30,712, largest since July 22, 1956, when the Cardinals drew 32,750.

Yanks Swat Indians Twice, Boost Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Terry pitched a two-hitter today as the New York Yankees swept the second straight double-header from Cleveland, 7-4 and 3-0 and boosted their first-place margin over Chicago and Baltimore to 2½ games.

Vic Power and Johnny Temple got the only hits for Cleveland in the second game. Terry allowed only two other runners to reach base, both on walks. His season record is now 7-7.

Bob Cerv drove in the first two Yankee runs in the nightcap. He hit his 14th home run of the season in the first inning and singled home Bobby Richardson in the fifth.

Bill Stafford, recently brought up from the Yankees' Richmond farm club in the International League, gained his first major league triumph in the opener but he needed help from Luis Arroyo in the ninth when Cleveland scored two unearned runs.

The Yankees won the game in the fifth with a six-run outburst that sent southpaw Jack Harshman to the showers.

The defeat was the fourth for Harshman who has won only one game this season.

Seivers Slugging Paces Sox, 16-3

BOSTON (AP) — Chicago slugger Roy Seivers took over the American League batting lead as he and Sherm Lollar homered to aid a 9-6 victory over Boston Saturday.

The triumph coupled with Baltimore's loss to Kansas City boosted the Go-Go Sox by a mere .001 past the Orioles into the runner-up spot behind league leading New York.

Seivers' 26th homer — three short of the club record for one season—and Lollar's sixth, highlighted a five-run outburst in the fourth inning when the pennant-battling visitors took a 5-1 lead.

Seivers also doubled, singled, walked, reached on an error and scored three times to lift his batting average five points to .324—one more than previous leader, teammate Al Smith.

Chicago's 14th victory in its last 20 starts went to righthander Bob Shaw who needed late-inning help from relief ace Gerry Staley.

Coca Cola took a one-run lead in the eighth before Forsan tied it and then won with a 2-run uprising in the fifth.

Forsan jumped to a 2-run lead in the second tilt, saw it tied in the third before a 4-run rally in the fourth settled the matter. T. J. No Medals, But U. S. Athletes Set 2 Records, Win 3 Events

By TED SMITS By The Associated Press ROME (AP) — The first all-scale rhabarb of the Olympic Games erupted Saturday and the United States was right in the middle of it.

U.S. officials protested — and they claimed they had electronic devices to back them up—Australian John Devitt's victory over America's Lance Larson for the gold medal in the men's 100-meter freestyle swimming.

The protest had the entire Olympic community buzzing Saturday night and wondering what the final disposition would be when the International Swimming Federation meets to consider the case Sunday.

It also overshadowed gold medals won by Italy (its third in cycling, this one the tandem scratch event), Germany and England, and a world record by the U.S. men's 400-meter medley relay team.

While a fearsome Roman sun beat down and the temperature reached 90 degrees, Anita Lonsbrough captured Britain's first gold medal by shattering her own world record in the 200-meter breaststroke with a 2:49.5 clocking.

PAULA POPE UPSET — And blonde, 17-year-old Ingrid Kramer of East Germany shattered a 40-year U.S. monopoly by winning the women's springboard diving. Mrs. Paula Jean Pope of the U.S. finished second for the silver medal.

Devitt was declared the winner over Larson in an Olympic record time of 55.2 in a race so close that the naked eye could hardly separate them.

Said Max Ritter, U.S. member of the International Swimming Federation: "The first-place judges voted two to one for Larson. However, the second-place judges had Devitt, two to one. Thus, there was a disagreement and the judging canceled itself out."

Ritter said that all three electronic machines had Larson the winner. "They gave Larson times of 55, 55.1, and 55.1," he added. "The times for Devitt were 55.2, 55.2, 55.2." The U.S. position is that since the judges were in disagreement, they should have resorted to the electronic machines.

BEATS RECORD — Dawn Fraser, who holds the women's 100-meter freestyle world mark, eclipsed the day-old Olympic standard, in the semifinals of that event. She did 1:01.4, beating by a full half second the record time raced Friday by America's Chris Von Saltz, Miss Fraser and Miss Von Saltz led eight qualifiers, including America's Carolyn Wood, into Monday night's finals.

The big American news of the day was the world record time of 4:06.2 registered by the 400-meter medley relay team, and the United States' second straight basketball triumph, 125-66 over mismatched Japan. The United States also won in water polo, 10-4 over France.

In one of the big surprises of the day, Brazil defeated Russia in basketball, 58-54.

But the United States failed to win a gold medal on the first big day of finals.

brief fist fight marring the show in the Philippines 81-82 basketball victory over Spain. No one was hurt in the 15-second flareup touched off when a Filipino threw the ball at a prostrate Spaniard.

The death Friday of a young Danish cyclist, from sunstroke, echoed Saturday when the chief of the Danish delegation denied rumors circulated by Italian newsmen that the cyclist had taken stimulants before the race.

American hopes for beating Russia for a unofficial team honors were dealt a stiff blow when Mrs. Pope and teammate Patty Willard, who finished fourth, failed to keep the women's 3-meter diving title in the U.S. victory column.

MEN DIVERS — Counterbalancing the disappointment in the women's diving was the showing of Americans Sam Hall and Gary Tobian in the semifinals of the men's springboard. Hall led the field and Tobian was second heading into Monday night's final.

The record-breaking U.S. relay team, which topped the listed world mark of 4:10.4 held by Australia and a pending standard of 4:09.2 raced last month by another American team, was a patchwork quartet.

Each member swam 100 meters and the team was made up of Bob Bennett, backstroke; Paul Hail, breaststroke; Dave Gillanders, butterfly; and Steve Clark at the freestyle anchor.

U.S. Coach Gus Stager of Michigan said he would use Jeff Farrell, America's leading freestyler who failed to make the Olympic team in his specialty because of an appendectomy, and Larson, in the butterfly leg, when the final is held Sept. 1.

RUSSIAN ACE TIED — In a literal test of strength with Russia, American Greco-Roman wrestler Richie Wilson avoided elimination and shocked onlookers as he held world champion Ivan Kocherin of Russia to a draw.

U.S. cyclists and canoeists were eliminated in several events.

Bruce Hunter of the United States was fourth in the 100-meter freestyle final.

Germany took the silver and bronze medals in the women's 200-meter breaststroke as Wiltrud Urselmann and Barbel Goebel finished 2-3 behind Miss Lonsbrough.

Crappie Beginning To Bite At Lake

By BOB MARION

Crappie were beginning to bite again on Lake J. B. Thomas and catfish and bass continued to go last week.

Crappie, scarce since the rains of the July Fourth holidays, were being reported at the Lakeview Grocery and at the Sportsman Paradise. Both places reported good crowds, but many of the people engaged in water sports other than fishing. Mr. Burkett of O'Donnell caught a nice string of crappie and G. L. Loyd Luther, brought in a nice channel catfish at the Lakeview Grocery, while James McDonald, Big Spring, and his son had a nice string of crappie Friday at the Sportsman Paradise. They also caught a lot of channel catfish weighing between two and three pounds.

EAGER FISH

At Shady Grove Grocery, Willie Snow, Lamesa, reported a three-pound bass that couldn't wait for the bait to be dropped in the water. Snow said the fish jumped in the boat as he neared the shore. He caught 10 channel catfish weighing between one and two pounds in a more orthodox manner.

Jenkins Moreland noted fishing had been generally good during the week, with bass and channel cat biting with interest.

The lead in her carp contest, which closes Aug. 31, has changed. Last week Jack Anthony, Lamesa, was ahead with a six and a half pound carp. He was overtaken by Basil Hanks, Snyder, who caught a 7-pound 4-ounce carp on a trotline. Other catches reported were a 16-pound yellow crappie caught Thursday night on a beet heart by Calvin Dorman, O'Donnell, a 13-pound yellow crappie caught on cut shad on a rod and reel by Red Black, Brownfield, and a friend. Birdie Piper brought in a nice channel catfish while using Catfish Charlie for bait. She also caught a string of carp on dough bait. Her nephew, Don Reeves, Jal, N. M., used a dough ball and a rod and reel to catch a six pound blue catfish. J. M. Blakey caught 400 pounds of small carp in a two day period. Billy McMillin hooked a four and a half pound black bass during last weekend and Bessie Dawgar, Wofforth, caught several channel catfish and black bass as fast as she could bait her hook just before a rain during the week.

YOUNG FISHERMAN

Halley Browne at the Lakeside Grocery said there had been a lot of people on the lake, but that not many of them were doing much fishing. He said seven-year-old Sonny Anthony, Midland, brought in a nice string of channel catfish and that Melvin Kinnison and wife, Seagraves, had good luck with crappie.

Lance Hudgins, a six-year-old, caught a five pound black bass while fishing on Lem's Bait House pier. C. W. Chiles and family, Lamesa, caught 100 white bass on spoons, and the fish averaged a pound and a quarter. Sonny James and party, Sundown, also brought in a number of white bass. Billy Cumby, Lubbock, and his party hooked 11 channel catfish and a good sized crappie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Grant, Andrews, got two yellow catfish using perch on a trotline near

Fish To Catch A Fish

It took a fish to get these two fish caught by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. White, left, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Grant while using perch on a trotline. They are yellow catfish and weigh 18 pounds and eight ounces.

Boyd's Lodge. The pair weighed eight pounds and 18 pounds. John F. Thomas and party, Tahoka, brought in 100 pounds of white bass and a three pound catfish was caught in the fishing house.

Trotline fishing has been generally good around Boyd's and yellow catfish have been biting for the first time since the holiday rains.

T. W. Tilley, Colorado City, used shyster lures to catch three bass

Longshot Wins Featured Race

RUIDOSO, N.M.—Bull O'Val, a 13-to-1 longshot owned by Bernie Polvadore of Clayton, N. M., squeezed through on the inside at the head of the stretch and won a two-length victory in the featured "Skipper Rigdon Allowance" at four furlongs at Ruidoso Downs track here Friday.

The chestnut gelding returned $29.50 in its surprise victory, but had to take a back seat in the longshot department to Mad Poco, an outsider owned by William Ryan of Iowa Park, Texas. Mad Poco won the six-furlong sixth race to set up a pay of $32.70.

Sir Chief in the first race and Medic Post in the second provided a daily double return of $128.10.

Returning Bulldog Linemen

Bulldogs Look Fair In Tests But Injuries Plague Squad

COAHOMA — Guarding against more losses due to injuries, Coach Jimmy Spann is tapering off his Bulldogs this week in preparation for the opening game Friday evening at Hermleigh.

Hermleigh is rated to be double-tough this year, but then the Southeastern team has always proven a rugged opponent for Coahoma. One of the Hermleigh tackles is up to 260, so Spann figures he will have to find some way to get around and over the burly opposition.

Dewain Frazier, a sophomore, had been lost the first day of practice when he broke both bones in his arm while holding a tackling dummy. Friday Gorman Finley went out with a fractured bone in his foot. He had broken loose on the first offensive play during a scrimmage with the Snyder, B team, stumbled, and just as he recovered he got stacked. Spann is hopeful that Finley will be able to rejoin the club in a few weeks.

The Bulldogs looked dead in the first half of the scrimmage session, but in the last portion they came to life and managed to score four times. Tuesday the two teams had scrimmaged with a see-saw battle resulting.

Doc Reeves, a utility man who has been playing end, and half-back, was getting plenty of notice. He appeared to be picking his holes better than any of the backs. Royce Abernethy, quarterback, raised hopes by his improved passing.

Sammy Buchanan, at 185 which is about 20 pounds under his normal weight, continued to look good, and Maurice Cutright, a 190-pound sophomore, stamped himself as a regular and as potentially one of the better players.

Charles Linderman probably will inherit the kicking duties, but when it comes to a place kicker, there isn't any prime prospect.

The starting offensive lineup Friday promises to be Reeves and Nichols (or Fisk) at ends; Buchanan and Cutright at tackles; Bill Ford and Weldon Self at guards; Ronnie Cunningham at center; Royce Abernethy at quarterback; Aubrey Darden and Charles Linderman at halves; Dewain Richter at fullback.

Quarterback Club Meet Set Tuesday

Quarterback Club members were urged Saturday by Dr. Robert Johnson, president, to turn out for the Tuesday 8 p.m. meeting.

He said he hoped that as many as possible would take in the evening practice session of the Steers and then come to the meeting in the high school cafeteria.

This is an important session since plans for the annual barbecue honoring the football team will be completed.

Speaker for the barbecue program at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 6 is Don A. Rossi, general manager of the Dallas Texans pro football club.

A former chief of sports for the Air Force, Rossi is a graduate of Michigan State, where he played football and was captain of the boxing team. From 1931 through 1954 he ran the global sports program for the Air Force. Prior to that he coached at several places, including Dallas' Jesuit High School. He also was one of the best-known officials in the Southwest during football and basketball seasons.

He served as commissioner of the National Industrial Basketball League for the 1957-58 season before joining Spalding Sporting Goods Company as promotion manager in western United States. He also served as an official in the National Football League.

Barbecue tickets are on sale by QB Club members at $1.50 and 75 Quarterback memberships are also being sought at $2.

GRID DUCATS GO ON SALE

Season tickets for Big Spring High School home football games will go on sale Monday at the school business office, 602 E. 13th.

In the initial stages, previous holders of season tickets will have an option to renew their same seats by Sept. 6. On Sept. 6 the sale will be thrown open to the public on a first come-first-served basis.

The opening home game is against Snyder, a traditional arch-foe of the Steers, on Sept. 23. Other home games are against Lamesa, Abilene, Midland and Permian of Odessa.

Gunderson Is Repeat Champ

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — JoAnne Gunderson, daughter of a Kirkland, Wash., carpenter, hammered out a 6 and 5 decision over Jean Ashley of Chanute, Kan., Saturday and racked up her second national women's amateur golf championship within three years.

Miss Gunderson, a sturdy 21-year-old blonde physical education major at Arizona State University at Tempe, won the title in 1957 with an 8 and 6 victory over Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa.

Miss Ashley, another 21-year-old making her first start in a major tournament, captured the fancy of a gallery of 1,000 at the Tulsa Country Club course. It was her determined effort which sidelined former Curtis Cupper Polly Riley, Mrs. Johnstone and defending champion Barbara McIntire.

Tigers Go After Two Here Today

The Tiger baseball team goes after a double victory here this afternoon against Pecos in hopes of getting in range of a 30 game season.

By reason of a win at Brownfield last week, the Tigers are now 24-3 for the season.

Danny Valdes is due to get the starting assignment in the opening game at 1 o'clock. Valdes is carrying a 5-1 record.

Bobby Suggs (6-2) is ticketed for second game twirling duties, although Ronny Moser (9-0) may get the nod. Moser, who was in fine form last week when he was jumped ahead to the starting assignment, will be ready for relief in either game.

The first game is scheduled for seven innings, and the second is to go the regulation nine innings. Scene of the tilt is Steer Park, and admission is 50 cents.

Starting lineup (with batting average) of the Tigers is due to be: Jackie Thomas (.397), ss; McMahon (.000), 2b; T. Arencibia (.431), cf; B. Weatherall (.463) rf; G. Lara (.358), lf; R. Martinez (.415), lb; C. Fierro (.235), 3b; I. Rodriguez (.230), c; and Valdes. Weatherall is leading in home runs (7) and runs batted in (33). He also is the strikeout leader with 37 whiffs.

All Or Nothing At Garden City

GARDEN CITY—It's going to be all or nothing for the Garden City Bearkats in the District 4-B eight-man football chase. In a quandary as to which course to pursue, Coach Bill Richardson has decided to take his chances on rugged practice sessions although he has only 11 men on his squad.

A scrimmage session, which cost him Gary Seidenberger, a star guard, at least temporarily, Richardson was convinced the boys had to have contact practice. Five exes showed up to assist the thin reserves, thus putting two teams on the field for the first time. Richardson had his boys at it hot and heavy for an hour and a half. Bernard Seidenberger got a chipped tooth out of the deal, too.

NEW HELP

The Bearkats didn't look too good, and Richardson wasn't surprised because during the week the squad barely had enough to suit a team, with occasionally an extra man. Joe Carter bolstered prospects when he reported and could help immeasurably if he continues to show the same devastating results in his running and tackling.

Against the exes, the Bearkats scored four or five times while the former gridgers were getting three counters. The offense was erratic and spasmodic; the defense was too bulky. Gary McDaniel, a 3-year letterman at half, looked great at times, ripping off one to 15 yards and once scampering for 40. However, Richardson thought all of his boys did well considering they had had no scrimmage.

"We're either going to show up with some experience or we're not going to show up," the coach said in deciding on more contact drills.

The opening game will be here at 8 p.m. Friday against Loop. At ends will be Jamie Pagan and Dennis Cypert; at guards Gary Seidenberger (or David Harris, the utility man from guard to guard) and Bill Schraeder; at center Bernard Seidenberger; at quarterback, Tommy Grant; at left half Doug Parker and at right half Gary McDaniel.

NEW WATCHWORD

Steers Exhibit Good Attitude

It's far too early to tell anything about the 1960 Steer football squad, but the squad finished up its fourth vigorous workout Saturday evening in good spirits and free of serious injuries.

Most of the squadmen were up to their normal weights - and Coach Emmett McKenzie observed that "we'll be big enough."

The problem is whether the lads will be fast - or at least quick enough.

McKenzie, in talks with the team, left no doubt that the Steers were going to Pampa on Sept. 9 to win. The good word immediately became "Bent Pampa," and this sounded each time there was a general huddle.

PLENTY POPPING

The two workouts Friday were satisfactory for McKenzie and his staff, but Saturday morning the boys were a bit slow - probably due to soreness - in coming up to par. These drills stressed offensive play, but Saturday evening McKenzie put together some defensive teams.

Ostensibly there was no heavy contact, but plenty of leather was popping, enough to delight the railbirds. Now and then there were some sparkling blocks and break-throughs.

Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. Seminoles comes over for a scrimmage on the Steer Stadium turf. This may give some real pointers as to the Steers potentials.

TEAMS

Offensively the Steers stacked up with Red Schwarzenbach and Tommy Rutledge at ends; Gary Pickle and Tom Roberts at tackles; Johnny Case and Alf Cobb at guards; Richard Atkins at center. Tommy Whatley was at quarterback; Jerry Dunlap at fullback; Ronnie Clanton and James Gilbert at halves.

The other offensive combination had Eddie Everett and Mike Hughes at ends; Bill Gillespie and Chap Smith at tackles; Bobby Pryor and Ronnie Holland at guards; and perhaps Dexter Pate at center. Jerry Tucker was quarterbacking; Jack Irons was at fullback; Jimmy Madry, at left half and Johnny Freeman at right half. Emmett Morgan was dividing time at the two halves and was showing form as a utility back.

STAFF

The defensive setups are basically the same, although several of the boys will shift positions. Gillespie was shifted Saturday from center to tackle, and Dexter Pate was due to be shifted to center. However, Pate twisted his knee while turning to catch a pass and was disabled. Coaches thought that Pate's knee would come around all right.

Working with McKenzie are Don Robbins and Roy Baird, backs; R. C. Moore, ends and defensive line-backers; Joe Sibley, defensive and offensive tackles; Neal Morgan, offensive and defensive guards; Delnor Poss, centers and defensive linebacks.

Texas-Oiler Game Will Benefit Blood Research

When the Dallas Texans and the Houston Oilers meet in Dallas on Sept. 2, they hope that someone else wins.

The two powerful pro football clubs have in mind the 12,000 persons who lose a battle each year to leukemia and assorted other blood diseases.

This is why the tilt is being billed as the Blood Bowl game. Proceeds will benefit the J. K. and Susie Wadley Foundation's research program. Besides seeing a top-flight professional football game in the Cotton Bowl, fans may be spelling life for thousands of youngsters and others, it was pointed out.

The foundation was established with a $65,000 gift by Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Wadley of Texarkana in memory of their little grandson who died of leukemia. The institute, which operates in Dallas, is not endowed and depends upon gifts and research grants for its income.

Besides the doctors and research specialists, 22 graduate students are working toward the M.S. or Ph.D. degrees in various fields of the center's vast research. The center also processes 25,000 pints of blood a year and serves 22 clinics and hospitals in Dallas and 14 cities with blood.

The center has been responsible for discovery of cryoplagglutinins, a new and fundamentally important kind of antibody; discovery of a process for large-scale production of potent anti-Rh serum; identification of a "little d" factor in blood; development of a process for drying blood plasma from the frozen stage; a cure for the heretofore fatal thrombotic thrombocytopenic purpura.

Ricky Could Be The Winner

Ricky Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Koenig, Vernon, chals with Don Flynn, Dallas Texan halfback, and Darrell Laflite, member of the Dallas Jaycees backing the Sept. 2 Blood Bowl benefit football game. Ricky is a patient at Wadley Blood Center, and he could be the real winner.

Stanton Buffs Looking Sharp For Opener Against Merkel

STANTON—A superbly conditioned Stanton team will be ready for a tough opening test Friday at 8 p.m. in Merkel, Coach Harlin Dauphin predicted Saturday.

It's no cinch the Buffaloes can invade the Taylor County school successfully, but Dauphin isn't discouraged by his chances. Except for some erratic passing, his 53 boys have been looking pretty good in workouts. He was pleased with their conditioning at this stage, for one unit went two hours against Odessa Ector's 3-A outfit. The condition edge was apparent, too, against Iran in a Thursday scrimmage.

PASSING PICKS UP

Stanton looked good defensively against Ector. Offensively the running was average, but the passing was sour. However, Herb Sorley found a hot streak against Iran Thursday and Stanton connected on 6 of 7 passing attempts. The Buffs looked much better Thursday but then the opposition wasn't as strong.

This year Stanton can go for those short yards on quick openers, for Jerry Polson, rugged 200-pound tackle, demonstrated he can blast those holes. Tommy Davis, his running mate and a co-captain with Polson, went out with a knee injury and likely won't see action against Merkel. Bobby Sale, fullback prospect, also was lost for about 10 days. Bobby has a slipped disc.

BURNING SPEED

Tommy Newman, a 10-flat man, continued to look good at half as did Thad Koonce, who is rated only a tenth of a second slower on the century. In the line, the work of the Fincher twins, Arnold and Arvel, buoyed Dauphin's spirits. Their blocking was plenty sharp.

The starting offensive lineup Friday looks now to be Robert Turner and Lindon Huckaby, ends; Polson and Mike Sorley, tackles; Arvel and Arnold Fincher, guards; Weems Williams, center; Reggie Church, quarterback; Tommy Newman and Thad Koonce, halfbacks; Jimmy Sale, fullback.

No Open Season Set In Texas On Sandhill Cranes

AUSTIN (AP)—A Texas hunter can't take advantage on the 30-day open season on lesser sandhill cranes set by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the State Game and Fish Commission said Saturday.

It is still illegal under Texas statutes to kill the cranes, also known as little brown cranes, in the state, the commission said.

The federal agency set the season for West Texas and New Mexico after farmers in both states and Canada complained of crop damage by the birds. This is the first approved hunting season on the species, protected under the United States - Canada migratory bird treaty.

The season is set for January 1961.

The cranes nest in Canada, but their young so strongly resemble the whooping cranes that no season has been permitted there. Canadian Wildlife officials sought the season for West Texas and New Mexico.

Now, Look Here

Jerry Polson, left, and Mike Sorley, right, attempt to lift the spirits of Clinton Miller, halfback, and lifted Clinton in the process. Polson, a 200-pounder, looks like an all-district performer this year. Sorley, a reserve, is making a strong bid for the other tackle post and is due to play a lot of ball. Miller, the other party to this horse play, is a 110-pound freshman.

Soviet Export Boom Has World Guessing

HOUSTON (AP)—Russia's boom in oil exports has the oil world guessing.

Is the boom a matter of economics or is it strictly political? Exports from behind the Iron Curtain still are comparatively small but they are up 40 per cent in a year.

New barter and trade agreements, even with free world nations, have brought more gains this year.

The Russian oil has drawn part of the blame for the current round of price cuts on Middle East crude. Sharp discounts are moving much of the Russian oil at prices well below the world market level.

Discounts have become so common in the current world surplus of crude, however, the Russians cannot draw all the blame for the shaky Middle East price structure.

EXPORTS SMALL

Also, Russia exported only about 500,000 barrels a day last year. Such shipments were dwarfed by Middle East shipments of about 4.1 million barrels a day.

Whether they were caused by Russian pressure, the Middle East price cuts came at a time Arab leaders were beginning publicly to question the intentions behind Russia's export boom.

Russia apparently set her export objectives despite being in a weak position as to transportation.

Russia's oil tanker fleet of about 1.1 million deadweight tons is only 2 per cent of the world fleet of 60.3 million tons.

The world surplus of oil has strengthened Russia's transportation position. Over 10 per cent of the world tanker fleet—well over 6 million deadweight tons—is idle.

TANKERS WARNED

Tanker owners have received blunt warnings from major oil companies not to aid in the movement of Russian oil.

But the tanker surplus has eased the Russian problem despite the warnings. Some tanker owners refused to take Russian oil to Cuba but have agreed to other runs that release units of the Russian tanker fleet for that purpose.

Cuba's seizure of three foreign-owned refineries prompted the major company warnings.

By comparison with Russia's 2 per cent, tankers flying the United States flag account for 14 per cent or 8.5 million deadweight tons of the world fleet.

U. S. FLEET DOWN

This contrasts sharply with 1946, when 57 per cent of the world fleet sailed under the United States flag. During World War II

American shipyards built 525 tankers.

Since the war, tankers operating under the flags of Western Europe have increased from 8 to 21 per cent of the world fleet. Britain's share dropped from 18 to 16 per cent.

Western Europe last year imported 3.5 million barrels of oil daily.

The oil supply for Western Europe included 2,528,000 barrels daily from the Middle East, 260,000 from Russia and 41,000 from the United States.

Cosden Profits Off In First Quarter Report

Cosden Petroleum Corporation reported a 28 per cent decline in net income for the quarter year ended July 31, 1960, compared with the like period of last year. Cash flow decreased by 12 per cent.

In the quarterly report to stockholders, depressed prices for gasoline and asphalt were cited as contributing factors to the decline in earnings for the quarter. The earnings trend for the period turned upward; net profit for July slightly exceeded that for July, 1959.

"We are encouraged to believe that during this fiscal year we shall earn as much as or more than we earned during last year or the year before," said President R. L. Tollett.

Earnings were ample to assure the regular quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents a share, which has been declared payable Sept. 30 to shareholders of record Sept. 18.

No interruption in the company's record of paying cash dividends of 25 cents a share is foreseen for the present, commented Tollett.

Cosden is a subsidiary of W. R. Grace & Co., which acquired about 53 per cent of the outstanding stock of Cosden last January.

In the first quarter of last year, contrary to industry trends, Cosden had shown a 34 per cent increase in earnings on a 2 per cent increase in gross. This year the first quarter gross of $20,680,399 was down from $22,604,859 last year, but was near the first quarter total two years ago. The net of $1,708,817 compared with 2,332,483 last year and $2,165,996 two years ago.

TRANSFERRED

J. K. Lydecker, division geologist with Sinclair Oil and Gas Company's West Texas division at Midland, has been named exploration superintendent for the company's North Texas division at Fort Worth. Sinclair made the move to strengthen its North Texas exploration staff, according to Roy C. Williamson, vice president and division manager. Lydecker became division geologist at Midland in 1956. The change to the North Texas division is effective Sept. 1.

GAIN FOUR

Rotary Activity Tapers To 227

Rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin area tapered this past week to 227 turning rigs, compared to 234 the week before, according to a count made by the Reed Roller Bit Co.

The eight-county area increased its total of hole-making rotary units from 21 to 25, as five counties reported gains. One county lost a rig.

Dawson County climbed from six to seven to lead the area in active rotary rigs, and Borden gained from four to five. Garza County remained the same as the week before with five.

Howard County increased from two to three, Martin gained from three to four, and Sterling put one unit in operation during the past week.

Glasscock lost the one rig it had turning and Mitchell County is without an active rotary unit.

Lea County, N. M., lead the Basin with 29 rigs turning, followed by Andrews County with 18.

The county-by-county Basin survey, with last week's figures in parentheses, includes:

Andrews 18 (20), BORDEN 5 (4), Chaves 1 (3), Cochran 1 (1), Crane 7 (8), Crockett 3 (4), DAWSON 7 (6), Dickens 1 (0), Ector 13 (15), Eddy 17 (18), Fisher 3 (4), Gaines 12 (13).

Dawson Gains New Felken Pool Site

A new Felken (Spraberry) field project has been staked in northeast Dawson County at John L. Cox No. 1-A Gillespie.

The Midland operator has spotted the project on the southeast side of the Felken pool and will drill to 7,600 feet.

The new site is 330 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the J. Poitevent survey No. 1. It is about 15 miles northeast of Lamesa.

After a drillstem test in the Fuselman section failed to show either gas or oil Husky No. 2-X Futrell in northwest Dawson County has been plugged and abandoned.

The Dupree field failure is bounded at 11,798 feet. It was drilling 1,980 feet from south and 2,830 feet from west lines of section 40-M-ELARR survey, 10 miles northwest of Lamesa.

A Garza County wildcat has been plugged and abandoned after drilling to 3,660 feet in a search for pay from the Glorieta section.

J. Paul Karcher No. 1-X H. F. Whealey was drilling at a site 990

Texas Gains 254 Wells

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas drillers brought in 201 oil wells and 53 gas wells last week.

The Railroad Commission reported the week's activity brought the year's totals to 6,510 oil and 1,236 gas wells, compared with 7,803 and 1,278 for the same period last year. There were 111 dry holes last week.

Wildcaters brought in seven oil wells, two gas wells and 48 dry holes. Some 172 wells were plugged, including 111 dry holes.

There was one wildcat oil well each in Districts 2, 4, 7-C, 8, and 10, and two in District 7-B.

Average daily allowable last week was 2,612,318 barrels, up 5,620 from the previous week.

Col-Tex Gas Oil Unit Shut Down

COLORADO CITY—The gas oil cracking unit of Col-Tex has been closed indefinitely due to a market glut of refined products.

In a letter to Roy E. Sweatt, chairman of Local 825 at the Col-Tex refinery, Dan M. Krause, vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation (of which Col-Tex is a part), said that positions would be taken from the payroll. Due to the styrene expansion at Big Spring, they have been offered places there. Krause noted that the total employment of Col-Tex, even with the gas oil unit shut-down, was higher than at the time Cosden took over the facilities.

Rotary Rigs Increase

The number of rotary rigs actually making hole across the United States increased from 1,702 to 1,710 last week, a survey made by the Hughes Tool Co. shows.

Texas increased its total from 551 to 560, and the West Central Texas area dropped from 152 to 145. Last month at this same time Texas reported 534 rotary rigs turning, and West Central Texas had 160 units making hole.

Louisiana reported a slight loss, dropping from 299 to 291. The second-place state had 296 rotary rigs turning a month ago.

Oklahoma dropped from 163 to 157 in the last count. That state reported 160 active rigs last month. New Mexico remained steady with 112 rigs, an increase of five over last month.

Kansas gained from 100 to 112, a gain from 106 of a month ago and California lost one from 83 to 82.

The West Coast state reported 90 rigs turning on the same date in July.

$500 Bond Set

Alex Castillo has been charged with aggravated assault and was held in the Howard County jail Saturday in lieu of $500 bond. Also being held in the jail for lack of $500 bond was Gervasio Contreras, charged with possession of beer in a dry area.

D & D PERSONALITY

Mrs. Arch Ratliff Is Honor Member

The Desk and Derrick Club's nominee for August Member of the Month is Mrs. Arch Ratliff, the first president of the Big Spring Club.

Mrs. Ratliff is employed by Cosden, and has been employed by the Big Spring Petroleum Company since 1951 when she went to work as a stenographer in the steno pool. In 1953, after working in various departments, she was promoted to assistant credit manager, and in September, 1955 she was made secretary to R. M. Johnson, vice president in charge of sales. In 1958 Mrs. Ratliff was given the additional job of advertising coordinator, a job she still holds.

Mrs. Ratliff and several other Big Spring women originated the idea of a local Desk and Derrick Club in early in 1954 and the first meeting was held on April 22 of that year. Mrs. Ratliff served as temporary chairman at the meeting and was later elected president.

She has attended many regional and national conventions of the Desk and Derrick organization, including the regional meeting in Lubbock in 1955, the regional meeting in Wichita Falls in 1957, and the national conventions in New York in 1955, New Orleans in 1956, and Los Angeles in 1958.

Mrs. Ratliff has served on the board of directors, the social committee, and the field trip and transportation committee, of which she is presently a member.

Mrs. Ratliff was born in Valley Mills, graduating from grade school and high school there. She is a 1947 graduate of the University of Texas with a BBA degree in personnel management. She also completed a stenographic course at the 4-C Business College at Waco, and the secretarial training course conducted by the staff of the Bureau of Business Practice.

She and her husband met at the university and were married on November 19, 1950. Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Ratliff was secretary to the business manager of the State Board of Education. The Ratliffs live at 1903 Morrison.

Texas Oil Men Slate Meeting

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Representatives of all segments of the Texas oil industry will confer next month at the annual meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn.

The 3,000-member organization draws its membership from independent producers and representatives of the major oil companies.

The Sept. 19-21 sessions also will be attended by leaders of the major regional and national oil trade associations: Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn., Independent Petroleum Assn. of America and the American Petroleum Institute.

Rank Prospector Staked In Presidio

A rank wildcat search for pay from the Paleozoic section has been staked in Presidio County 12 miles southwest of Marfa.

Gulf Oil Corporation slates No. 1 H. J. Hubbard to drill to 10,200 feet, approximately 75 miles southwest of the closest production which is in the Toyah field.

MEET THE 'seniors'

OF THE COSDEN FAMILY...

W. W. MOESER

This is the 15th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valuable services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the company.

Baseball has been a major interest of W. W. Moeser for as long as he can remember. The Edmond, Oklahoma native, reared in Colorado City, played first baseman and center fielder for the team in our neighbor town.

It was no accident that he timed his vacation so as to watch the National League teams in Cincinnati, Ohio recently. The whole scheme worked out well because his daughter, Billie Lee, lives in Dayton. Her husband, Capt. George W. Botbyl, was Moeser's companion at the baseball park. Billie Lee stayed home with the youngsters, Gregory, 4, and Kathy, 2.

On September 5, Moeser will have completed fifteen years of service with Cosden. He started out as a yardman, becoming a pumper's helper. Most of the time, however, he has been employed in the Treating Department. His designation is Treator.

He has an aptitude for bookkeeping and had experience in the field prior to moving to Big Spring. He was named financial secretary for Local 826, International Union of Operating Engineers, when it was first organized here and retained the post for a decade. Moeser, a widower, lives at Apartment 7, 403 East Eighth St. His church is the First Baptist, and he is a Mason.

When there is no baseball around, Moeser spends his leisure time hunting or fishing, or watching football.

No Major Change In Cotton Outlook

No material change in cotton crop prospects has developed during the past week — with the exception that all fields are in dire need of rain.

The crop is holding well considering the long interval since general rains fell but each day of heat and drought takes its share of the ability to survive.

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said the only bright feature of the situation is the extremely low insect infestation in county fields.

There are some boll worms, some leaf worms and a few other pests. Some farmers are poisoning but there has been no need for wholesale attack. Fleahoppers and thrip have been pushed out of the picture by the advancing season and are no longer of significance.

The High Plains Area was subjected to hail, rain and wind during the past week but over the remainder of the area, including Howard County, dry weather continued to damage prospects.

Infestation of bollworms in degrees from medium to heavy has been reported in some counties in the area including Dawson and Midland. Cabbage looper infestation, classified as medium to heavy, also has been reported in a number of counties including Dawson.

'Mechanical Heart' Works For Kin Of Local Woman

A fellow out in Modesto, Calif., is living — actually — off a tiny 9.2 volt battery, it powers what is called a "Pacemaker" unit, a mechanical device which feeds small electrical impulses to his heart at virtually a normal pulse rate.

The man who is a living testimony to the new example of medical wizardry is Glenn V. Ridenour, 55, a brother of Mrs. T. A. Underhill, 1002 E. 12th St. Big Spring. Mrs. Underhill has received newspaper clippings which tell of the miraculous success doctors have had with the "mechanical heart" arrangement for Ridenour.

His heart trouble began in 1953 when he had a thrombosis. He was out of action for a few months, then returned to normal duties until he suffered another attack in 1953. Then, in 1959, he suffered a complete heart block, and hope was abandoned for his survival.

He continued to live but continued to suffer attacks — or "episodes" — and doctors there was nothing else they could do.

Ridenour went to the University of California Hospital, where — after another long series of episodes — all of them near-fatal — specialists decided that heart surgery was his only chance. The Pacemaker program was decided upon. His heart stopped during the operation, but doctors got the power unit in and got it going again.

Now Ridenour is recovering, and is performing light activities from this unit to the battery and a light control box strapped to his waist. A second wire from the outside unit is grounded just inside the skin.

Ridenour is a psychiatric technician at Stockton State Hospital. He has lived in Modesto since 1956.

Collision Sends Driver To Hospital

A two-car collision early Saturday afternoon at Benton and NE 10th sent a Big Spring woman to the hospital and caused extensive damage to both cars involved.

Elizabeth Mansfield, 615 NE 10th, was taken to Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital after her car collided with James Martini Coyle, 609 NE 11th. Her injuries were not considered serious, but she was being held at the hospital for observation.

A Nalley-Pickie ambulance took the injured woman to the hospital.

U.S. 180 Slated For Road Work

LAMESA (SC) — The Texas Highway Department has announced a reconstruction project on U. S. Highway 180 beginning at the Y intersection two miles south of Lamesa and extending to the Borden County line, a distance of 13.6 miles.

The construction will consist of lengthening and building culverts and reconstruction of old pavement. Construction should begin about Sept. 1 and conclude in May of next year.

J. O. Boswell of Lubbeck is the contractor.

Chamber Works For Boys Club

LAMESA (SC) — A proposal to start action on securing a Boys Club of America unit as a youth program in Dawson County was approved here by the youth development committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dawson County Youth, Inc., directors made the proposal to the committee and the Boys Club was selected over a YMCA organization.

Members of the group emphasized that the organization would not be a unit for juvenile delinquents, but would be serving the needs of all county youth.

Jig Saw, Mixer Reported Stolen

Theft of a carpenter's hand jig saw Saturday afternoon was one of two stolen items reported to police Saturday. An electric mixer also was reported missing.

C. E. Henry, Coahoma carpenter, told police the saw was taken from his pickup truck Saturday morning while the truck was parked in the 1400 block of E. 6th.

Agulla Johnson told officers a mixer was stolen from his car while it was parked in the 300 block of NW 3rd Friday afternoon.

Soviet Export Boom Has World Guessing

HOUSTON (AP)—Russia's boom in oil exports has the world guessing.

Is the boom a matter of economics or is it strictly political? Exports from behind the Iron Curtain still are comparatively small but they are up 40 per cent in a year.

New barter and trade agreements, even with free world nations, have brought more gains this year.

The Russian oil has drawn part of the blame for the current round of price cuts on Middle East crude. Sharp discounts are moving much of the Russian oil at prices well below the world market level. Discounts have become so common in the current world surplus of crude, however, the Russians cannot draw all the blame for the shaky Middle East price structure.

EXPORTS SMALL

Also, Russia exported only about 500,000 barrels a day last year. Such shipments were dwarfed by Middle East shipments of about 4.1 million barrels a day.

Whether they were caused by Russian pressure, the Middle East price cuts came at a time Arab leaders were beginning publicly to question the intentions behind Russia's export boom.

Russia apparently set her export

objectives despite being in a weak position as to transportation.

Russia's oil tanker fleet of about 1.1 million deadweight tons is only 2 per cent of the world fleet of 60.8 million tons.

The world surplus of oil has strengthened Russia's transportation position. Over 10 per cent of the world tanker fleet—well over 6 million deadweight tons—is idle.

TANKERS WARNED

Tanker owners have received blunt warnings from major oil companies not to aid in the movement of Russian oil.

But the tanker surplus has eased the Russian problem despite the warnings. Some tanker owners refused to take Russian oil to Cuba but have agreed to other runs that release units of the Russian tanker fleet for that purpose.

Cuba's seizure of three foreign-owned refineries prompted the major company warnings.

By comparison with Russia's 2 per cent, tankers flying the United States flag account for 14 per cent or 8.8 million deadweight tons of the world fleet.

U. S. FLEET DOWN

This contrasts sharply with 1945 when 57 per cent of the world fleet sailed under the United States flag. During World War II

American shipyards built 525 tankers.

Since the war, tankers operating under the flags of Western Europe have increased from 8 to 21 per cent of the world fleet. Britain's share dropped from 19 to 16 per cent.

Western Europe last year imported 3.5 million barrels of oil daily.

The oil supply for Western Europe included 2,522,000 barrels daily from the Middle East, 200,000 from Russia and 4,000 from the United States.

Cosden Profits Off In First Quarter Report

Cosden Petroleum Corporation reported a 28 per cent decline in net income for the quarter ended July 31, 1960, compared with the like period of last year. Cash flow decreased by 12 per cent.

In the quarterly report to stockholders, depressed prices for gasoline and asphalt were cited as contributing factors to the decline in earnings for the quarter. The earnings trend for the period turned upward; net profit for July slightly exceeded that for July, 1959.

"We are encouraged to believe that during this fiscal year we shall earn as much as or more than we earned during last year or the year before," said President R. L. Tollett.

Earnings were ample to assure the regular quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents a share, which was declared payable Sept. 30 to shareholders of record Sept. 16. No interruption in the company's record of paying cash dividends of 25 cents a share is foreseen for the present, commented Tollett.

Cosden is a subsidiary of W. R. Grace & Co., which acquired about 53 per cent of the outstanding stock of Cosden last January.

In the first quarter of last year, contrary to industry trends, Cosden had shown a 34 per cent increase in earnings on a 2 per cent increase in gross. This year the first quarter gross of $20,680,399 was down from $22,604,859 last year, but was near the first quarter totals two years ago. The net of $1,708,817 compared with 2,352,482 last year and $2,165,986 two years ago.

Texas Oil Men Slate Meeting

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Representatives of all segments of the Texas oil industry will confer next month at the annual meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn.

The 5,000-member organization draws its membership from independent producers and representatives of the major oil companies.

The Sept. 19-21 sessions also will be attended by leaders of the major regional and national oil trade associations: Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn.; Independent Petroleum Assn. of America and the American Petroleum Institute.

TRANSFERRED

J. K. Lydecker, division geologist with Sinclair Oil and Gas Company's West Texas division at Midland, has been named exploration superintendent for the company's North Texas division at Fort Worth. Sinclair made the move to strengthen its North Texas exploration staff, according to Roy C. Williamson, vice president and division manager. Lydecker became division geologist at Midland in 1956. The change to the North Texas division is effective Sept. 1.

GAIN FOUR

Rotary Activity Tapers To 227

Rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin area tapered this past week to 227 turning rigs, compared to 234 the week before, according to a count made by the Reed Roller Bit Co.

Dawson County climbed from six to seven to lead the area in active rotary rigs, and Borden gained from four to five. Garza County remained the same as the week before with five.

Howard County increased from two to three, Martin gained from three to four, and Sterling put one unit in operation during the past week.

Glassecock lost the one rig it had turning and Mitchell County is without an active rotary unit.

Lea County, N. M., lead the Basin with 29 rigs turning, followed by Andrews County with 18.

The county-by-county Basin survey, with last week's figures in parentheses, includes:

Andrews 18 (20), BORDEN 5 (4), Chaves 1 (3), Cochran 1 (1), Crane 7 (8), Crockett 3 (4), DAWSON 7 (6), Dickens 1 (0), Ector 13 (15), Eddy 17 (18), Fisher 3 (4), Gaines 12 (13),

Gulf Oil Corporation slates No. 1 H. J. Hubbard to drill to 10,200 feet, approximately 73 miles southwest of the close production which is in the Torah field.

Dawson Gains New Felken Pool Site

A new Felkeh (Spraberry) field project has been staked in northeast Dawson County at John L. Cox No. 1-A-Gillespie.

The Midland operator has spotted the project on the southeast side of the Felken pool and will drill to 7,600 feet.

The new site is 330 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the J. Poitevent survey No. 1. It is about 15 miles northeast of Lamesa.

After a drillstem test in the Fueselman section failed to show either gas or oil Husky No. 3-X Futrell in northwest Dawson County has been plugged and abandoned.

The Dupree field failure is bolted at 11,798 feet. It was drilling 1,980 feet from south and 2,030 feet from west lines of section 40-M-EL&RR survey, 10 miles northwest of Lamesa.

A Garza County wildcat has been plugged and abandoned after drilling to 3,660 feet in a search for pay from the Gloriaeta section.

J. Paul Karcher No. 1-X H. F. Wheatley was drilling at a site 990

Texas Gains 254 Wells

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas drillers brought in 201 oil wells and 53 gas wells last week.

The Railroad Commission reported the week's activity brought the year's totals to 6,510 oil and 7,203 and 1,278 for the same period last year. There were 111 dry holes last week.

Wildcaters brought in seven oil wells, two gas wells and 48 dry holes. Some 172 wells were plugged, including 111 dry holes.

There was one wildcat oil well each in Districts 2, 4, 7-C, 8, and 10, and two in District 7-B.

Col-Tex Gas Oil Unit Shut Down

COLORADO CITY—The gas oil cracking unit of Col-Tex has been closed indefinitely due to a market glut of refined products.

In a letter to Roy E. Sweatt, chairman of Local 825 at the Col-Tex refinery, Dan M. Krause, vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation of which Col-Tex is a part, said that positions would be taken from the payroll. Due to the styrene expansion at Big Spring, they have been offered places there. Krause noted that the total employment of Col-Tex, even with the gas oil unit shut-down, was higher than at the time Cosden took over the facilities.

Rotary Rigs Increase

The number of rotary rigs actually making hole across the United States increased from 1,702 to 1,710 last week, a survey made by the Hughes Tool Co. shows.

Texas increased its total from 551 to 560, and the West Central area dropped from 152 to 145. Last month at this same time Texas reported 554 rotary rigs turning, and West Central Texas had 160 units making hole.

Louisiana reported a slight loss, dropping from 299 to 291. The second-place state had 296 rotary rigs turning a month ago.

Oklahoma dropped from 163 to 157 in the last count. That state reported 160 active rigs last month. New Mexico remained steady with 112 rigs, an increase of five over last month.

Kansas gained from 100 to 112, a gain from 106 of a month ago and California lost one from 53 to 52. The West Coast state reported 90 rigs turning on the same date in July.

$500 Bond Set

Alex Castillo has been charged with aggravated assault and was being held in the Howard County jail Saturday in lieu of $500 bond. Also being held in the jail for lack of $500 bond was Gervasia Contreras, charged with possession of beer in a dry area.

D & D PERSONALITY

Mrs. Arch Ratliff Is Honor Member

The Desk and Derrick Club's nominee for August Member of the Month is Mrs. Arch Ratliff, the first president of the Big Spring Club.

Mrs. Ratliff is employed by Cosden and has been employed by the Big Spring Petroleum Company since 1951 when she went to work as a stenographer in the steno pool. In 1953, after working in various departments, she was promoted to assistant credit manager, and in September, 1955 she was made secretary to R. M. Johnson, vice president in charge of sales. In 1958 Mrs. Ratliff was given the additional job of advertising coordinator, a job she still holds.

Mrs. Ratliff and several other Big Spring women originated the idea of a local Desk and Derrick Club in early in 1954 and the first meeting was held on April 22 of that year. Mrs. Ratliff served as temporary chairman at the meeting and was later elected president.

She has attended many regional and national conventions of the Desk and Derrick organization, including the regional meeting in Lubbock in 1955, the regional meeting in Wichita Falls in 1957, and the national conventions in New York in 1955, New Orleans in 1956, and Los Angeles in 1958.

Mrs. Ratliff has served on the board of directors, the social committee, and the field trip and transportation committee, of which she is presently a member.

Mrs. Ratliff was born in Valley Mills, graduating from grade school and high school there. She is a 1947 graduate of the University of Texas with a BBA degree in personnel management. She also completed a stenographic course at the 4-C Business College at Waco, and the secretarial training course conducted by the staff of the Bureau of Business Practice.

She and her husband met at the university and were married on November 19, 1950. Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Ratliff was secretary to the business manager of the State Board of Education. The Ratliffs live at 1903 Morrison.

MEET THE 'seniors'

OF THE COSDEN FAMILY...

W. W. MOESER

Baseball has been a major interest of W. W. Moeser for as long as he can remember. The Edmond, Oklahoma native, reared in Colorado City, played first baseman and center fielder for the team in our neighbor town.

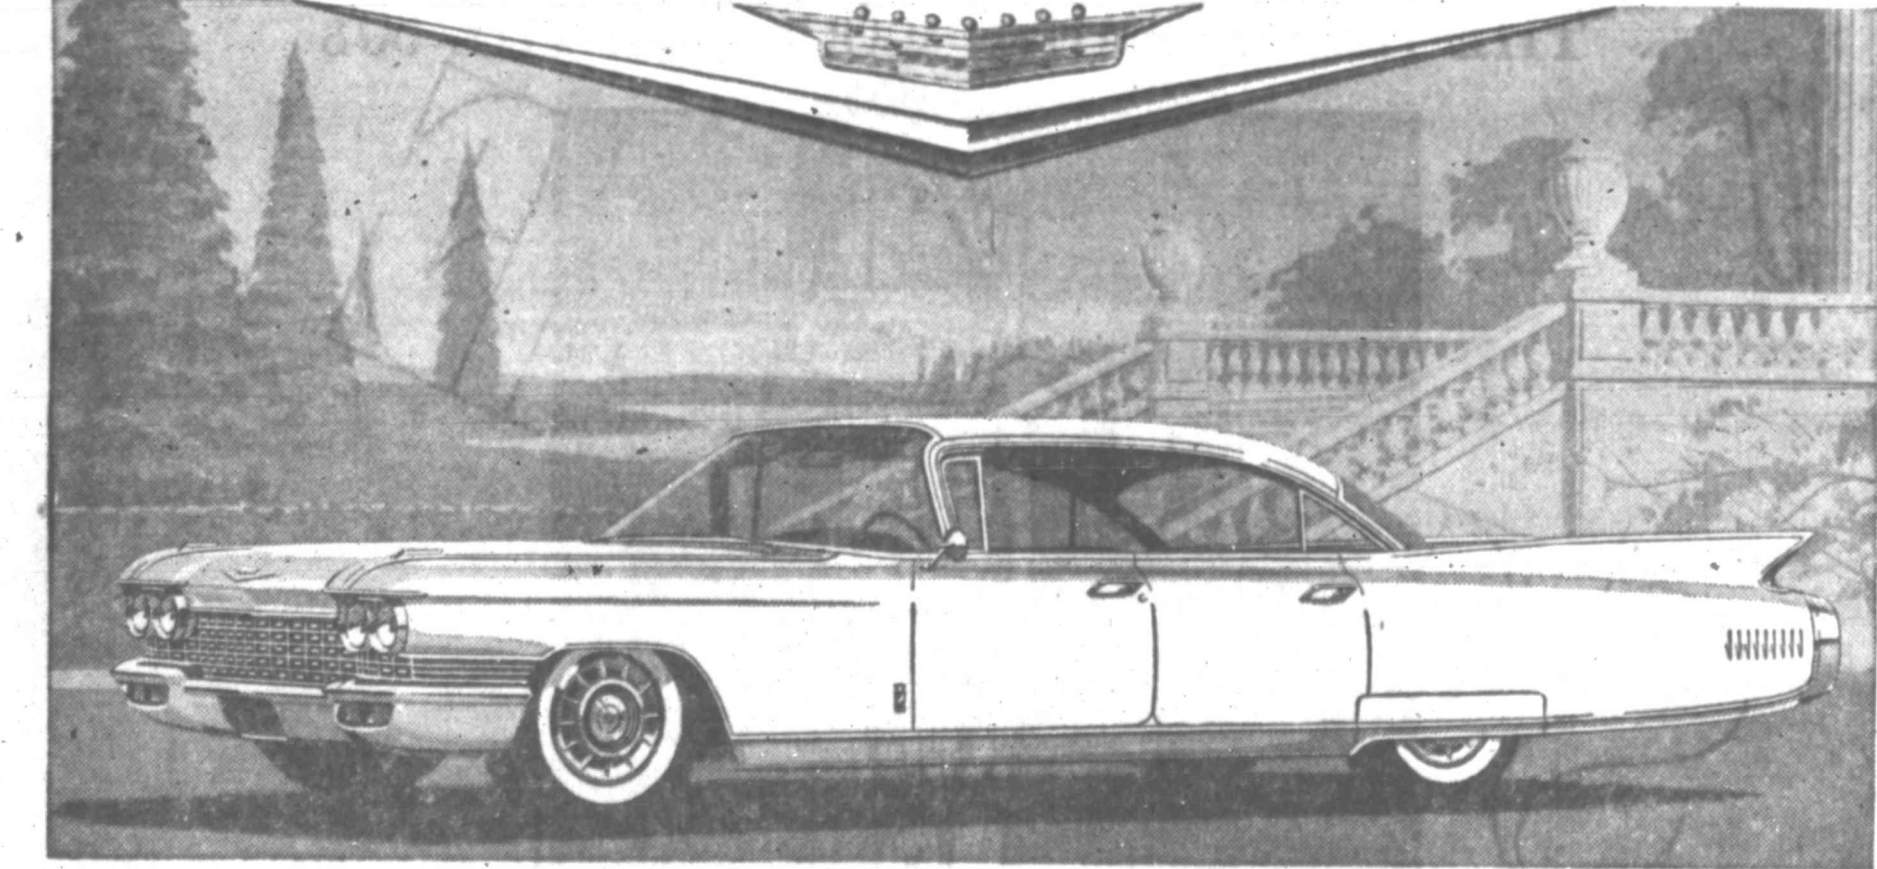

It was no accident that he timed his vacation so as to watch the National League teams in Cincinnati, Ohio recently. The whole scheme worked out well because his daughter, Billie Lee, lives in Dayton. Her husband, Capt. George W. Botbyl, was Moeser's companion at the baseball park. Billie Lee stayed home with the youngsters, Gregory, 4, and Kathy, 2.

On September 5, Moeser will have completed fifteen years of service with Cosden. He started out as a yardman, becoming a pumper's helper. Most of the time, however, he has been employed in the Treating Department. His designation is Treator.

He has an aptitude for bookkeeping and had experience in the field prior to moving to Big Spring. He was named financial secretary for Local 826, International Union of Operating Engineers, when it was first organized here and retained the post for a decade. Moeser, a widower, lives at Apartment 7, 403 East Eighth St. His church is the First Baptist, and he is a Mason.

When there is no baseball around, Moeser spends his leisure time hunting or fishing, or watching football.

No Major Change In Cotton Outlook

No material change in cotton crop prospects has developed during the past week — with the exception that all fields are in dire need of rain.

The crop is holding well considering the long interval since general rains fell but each day of heat and drought takes its share of the ability to survive.

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said the only bright feature of the situation is the extremely low insect infestation in county fields.

There are some boll worms, some leaf worms and a few other pests. Some farmers are poisoning but there has been no need for wholesale attack. Fleahoppers and thrip have been pushed out of the picture by the advancing season and are no longer of significance.

The High Plains Area was subjected to hail, rain and wind during the past week but over the remainder of the area, including Howard County, dry weather continued to damage prospects.

Infestation of bollworms in degrees from medium to heavy has been reported in some counties in the area including Dawson and Midland. Cabbage looper infestation, classified as medium to heavy, also has been reported in a number of counties including Dawson.

'Mechanical Heart' Works For Kin Of Local Woman

A fellow out in Modesto, Calif. is living — actually — off a tiny 9.2 volt battery. It powers what is called a "Pacemaker" unit, a mechanical device which feeds small electrical impulses to his heart at virtually a normal pulse rate.

The man who is a living testimony to the new example of medical wizardry is Glenn V. Ridenour, 55, a brother of Mrs. T. A. Underhill, 1902 E. 12th St. Big Spring. Mrs. Underhill has received newspaper clippings which tell of the miraculous success doctors have had with the "mechanical heart" arrangement for Ridenour.

His heart trouble began in 1952 when he had a thrombosis. He was out of action for a few months, then returned to normal duties until he suffered another attack, in 1953. Then, in 1959, he suffered a complete heart block, and hope was abandoned for his survival.

He continued to live but continued to suffer attacks — or "episodes" — and doctors felt there was nothing else they could do.

Ridenour went to the University of California Hospital, where after another long series of episodes, all of them near-fatal — specialists decided that heart surgery was his only chance. The Pacemaker program was decided upon. His heart stopped during the operation, but doctors got the power unit in and got it going again. Now Ridenour is recovering, and is performing light activities without difficulty. He has to go to the medical center every 17 days to have the Pacemaker battery recharged, hopes soon to get a new model which will permit him to recharge the battery himself.

His setup includes a unit in the heart shaped something like a large thumb tack. One wire runs from this unit to the battery and a light control box strapped to his waist. A second wire from the outside unit is grounded just inside the skin.

Ridenour is a psychiatric technician at Stockton State Hospital. He has lived in Modesto since 1956.

Collision Sends Driver To Hospital

A two-car collision early Saturday afternoon at Benton and NE 10th sent a Big Spring woman to the hospital and caused extensive damage to both cars involved.

Elizabeth Mansfield, 615 NE 10th, was taken to Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital after her car collided with James Royce Coyle, 609 NE 11th. Her injuries were not considered serious, but she was being held at the hospital for observation.

A Nalley-Pickel ambulance took the injured woman to the hospital. In a mishap at the City Park turn-off on the San Angelo highway Friday night, James Martin Collins, 431 Edwards Blvd., collided with a gale post. He was not injured.

U.S. 180 Slated For Road Work

LAMESA (SC) — The Texas Highway Department has announced a reconstruction project on U. S. Highway 180, beginning at the Y intersection two miles south of Lamesa and extending to the Borden County line, a distance of 13.6 miles.

The construction will consist of lengthening and building culverts and reconstruction of old pavement. Construction should begin about Sept. 1 and conclude in May of next year.

J. O. Boswell of Lubbock is the contractor.

Chamber Works For Boys Club

LAMESA (SC) — A proposal to start action on securing a Boys Club of America unit as a youth program in Dawson County was approved here by the youth development committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dawson County Youth, Inc., directors made the proposal to the committee and the Boys Club was selected over a YMCA organization.

Members of the group emphasized that the organization would not be a unit for juvenile delinquents, but would be serving the needs of all county youth.

Jig Saw, Mixer Reported Stolen

Theft of a carpenter's hand jig saw Saturday afternoon was one of two stolen items reported to police Saturday. An electric mixer also was reported missing.

C. E. Henry, Coahoma carpenter, told police the saw was taken from his pickup truck Saturday morning while the truck was parked in the 1400 block of E. 8th.

Agulla Johnson told officers a mixer was stolen from his car while it was parked in the 300 block of NW 3rd Friday afternoon.

Teachers Prepare For First Classes

Big Spring teachers will "hit the ground running" Monday preparing for the 1966-67 school year which officially gets started later in the week.

Monday and Tuesday are days set aside for teachers to get accustomed to school district policies and meet other teachers. And Wednesday, they will meet their new pupils for the first time.

Monday is orientation day for new teachers. A meeting is slated for 10 a.m. in the student union building at Howard County Junior College. All administrative personnel of the district will be on hand and Supt. Floyd Parsons will preside.

At 1:30 p.m. the new teachers will meet with their principals in the various school buildings to which they have been assigned. Teachers who have been transferred to new buildings this year will also attend this meeting.

In both meetings, teachers will be familiarized with various school policies as well as details of their school assignments.

A general faculty meeting has been called for Tuesday at 9 a.m. in the HJCJ auditorium. Asst. Supt. Sam Anderson will preside.

Rev. DeWitt Seago, First Methodist Church minister, will bring the invocation. Greetings to the teachers will be brought by A. K. Steinheimer, city manager; Cliff W. Fisher, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Col. D. W. Eisenhart, Webb AFB commander; Mrs. Buford Hull, president of the P-TA city council; and Clyde McMahon, president of the Big Spring board of education.

Supt. Parsons will give the response and introduce new teachers.

Other platform guests will include members of the school board, all school principals, Mrs. Hazel Lawrence, president of the local unit, Texas State Teachers Assn., George Rice, president of the local chapter, Classroom Teachers Assn.; E. S. Murphy, assistant superintendent in charge of business; Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College; and Joe Pickle, managing editor of the Big Spring Herald.

The principal address will be brought by Dr. James J. Jauncey, minister of the First Christian Church at El Paso. He will discuss "Toward Greatness or Decay."

Following a 10 a.m. rest break, teachers will attend various business meetings. Mrs. Lawrence and Rice, will preside over organization meetings.

Dr. Hunt will make a presentation of the city's capital improvements program and various announcements will be made.

At 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, all teachers will report to their respective school buildings and make preparations for the opening of school Wednesday. Final assignments will be made and teachers will receive classroom appointments.

On Wednesday, the new school year will officially open with a near record number of youngsters expected to fill the facilities of the Big Spring Independent School District.

14 Receive Y Certificates

Fourteen certificates were awarded Friday night to YMCA volunteer workers at the conclusion of a four-day adult leadership training program.

Those who completed the course and received certificates included Margaret Johnson, Artie Nell Ross, Ralph Ross, Tom Hammond, Johnny Johnson, Charles Peterson, Joe Compton, Roy Hill, Carolyn Sewell, Marilyn Bigham, Mrs. R. L. Heath, Mrs. Jess Coker, Ann Ratliff and Mrs. Pete Cook.

The course "was the best adult leadership training course we have ever had," James M. Hardy, YMCA director, said. Participants rated the course excellent in overall effectiveness in nearly all phases, Hardy said.

Those who completed the course are qualified group leaders in the YMCA program. They have all been assigned groups or clubs and will begin making plans immediately for the school year activities.

There were 117 in attendance over the four nights of instruction, Hardy said. All those attending were recruited through the Fishers of Men project several weeks ago.

Instructors were YMCA staff members Joe Leach, Everett Taylor and Hardy, and George Oldham and Betty Joyce Gray.

Knott Gins First Bale Of Cotton

KNOTT—The season's first bale of cotton ginned at Knott was ginned Friday noon at the Gular Gin and the $30 prize was awarded to W. A. Burchell.

Burchell's first bale weighed 2,030 pounds and made 545 pounds of ginned cotton, according to Willard Rogers, manager of Gular Gin.

Knott cotton growers are expected to get into full production this week, Rogers said. "We should have 15 or 20 bales ginned."

The cotton crop around Knott is said to be in top shape. "It is looking real good," Rogers added.

Brigance

DRAPED ACCENT

Simple Dress Can Be Dressy Or Not

Distinctive drapery makes an unusual accent on a dress by Brigance.

The border of the wide boat neckline is draped, as are the cuffs on the 3/4 sleeves, and the belt. The skirt is slightly gathered in front.

A very simple dress can be made from the basic pattern without the drapery.

Try crepe (wool or silk), silk, rayon, shantung or novelty cottons.

From this size chart select the one size best for you. Our measurements are comparable to ready-to-wear sizes:

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Neck to Waist	Waist to Hem
12	34	26	35	33 1/2	39 1/2
14	36	28	37	35 1/2	41 1/2
16	38	30	39	37 1/2	43 1/2

Fashion is getting around to acknowledging the existence of mature women.

And with recognition has come an appreciation of their good taste, their varied interests and their concern for a flattering fit even though they may have outgrown emaciated model silhouettes.

Women who are busy with home, community and perhaps a profession, need attractive, serviceable fashions that will take them from daytime through dinner, from winter through fall.

That may be one reason for the tremendous popularity of knits these days. They hold their shape, they can be dressed up or down with the right kind of jewelry and accessories, and they adapt themselves for comfort whatever the temperature.

AMERICAN SQUARE designed by Merton L. Gershur

We call it sophisticated contemporary... colonial-inspired designs in walnut finished soft as candle light.

American Square is sophisticated contemporary because it captures the essence, the familiar beauty of colonial craftsmanship... and yet is not "quaint." The feeling is there in the carefully reproduced planking with set-in keys, and in the cut out decorative motifs, the horizontal linefold of drawer fronts... and in the inviting gleam of the soft new finish, warm as a hearthside. Yet, American Square is at home in today's rooms, with today's accessories because the designs are contemporary-keyed, tuned, just so, to today's living.

Julie Rainwater, Delbert Shirey Take Communion, Wedding Vows

Partaking of communion was included in the double ring ceremony read Saturday evening at First Methodist Church for Julie Ann Rainwater and Delbert Neil Shirey.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dewitt Seago, administered the ritual and read the vows before a setting of large emerald fern fronds and white cathedral tapers in tall seven-branched candelabra, smilax-entwined.

The couple knelt on a white prie dieu which stood before a sunburst of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums flanked by smaller arrangements of the same blossoms.

Parents of the two are Mr. and Mrs. Champ Rainwater, 516 Hillside, and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Shirey of Midland.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Charles Schrader of Wichita Falls, presented the nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Don Newsom, soloist, as she sang. One of her selections, "Wedding Prayer," was sung as the couple knelt at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Rainwater escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage.

The bridal gown was fashioned of imported Chantilly lace and silk illusion over cloud mist taffeta. From the fitted bodice, which featured a Sabrina neckline, stemmed a bouffant skirt encircled by bands of lace, which cascaded over the chapel train. Tiny seed pearls and iridescent sequins sparkled on the bodice.

From a French cap of silk organza and pearls drifted a veil of silk illusion, and the bride carried a crescent bouquet of orchids and stephanotis showered with white satin ribbon.

WEDDING TRADITION
Bowling to tradition, she wore a strand of pearls belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. C. T. Schrader, as something borrowed and old.

Her wedding gown was new, and in her slipper was a sixpence brought from England by Mrs. Dee Jon Davis of Austin, who served as a bridesmaid. The friendship garter was blue.

Mrs. C. N. Rainwater of Houston was her sister-in-law's matron of honor; attending as maid of honor was Cookie Sneed of Seminole; bridesmaids were Mrs. Davis, Patricia Sands of Hobbs, N.M., a cousin of the bride; Helen Gray; Janet Druessow of Old Glory.

Attendants, all identically attired, wore white lace over pastel melon, made with bodice and skirt joined with a cummerbund of melon ending with a bow in the back and extending into streamers over the ballerina length skirts. They carried single large white chrysanthemums tied with satin to match their cummerbunds.

Bobby Shirey of Kingsville attended his brother as best man; groomsmen were Charles Rainwater of Houston, brother of the bride; Charles Draper of Amarillo; Ben Faulkner and Don Adams, both of Big Spring, and Bryan Adams of Ackerly.

Guests were seated by Charles Lovett of Muskogee, Okla., a cousin of the bride; J. D. Adams of Big Spring, and John Byram of Abilene.

In the church parlor, the bride and bridegroom received felicitations, assisted by their parents and the feminine attendants.

Guests were registered by Jill and Lisa Schrader of Wichita Falls, cousins of the bride, and Lee Zacharias of Lubbock.

Presiding at the bride's table were Mrs. David LaPaur of Lovington, N.M.; Mrs. Bobby Shirey of Kingsville; Mrs. Frank Long and Mrs. Walter Wheat.

BRIDE'S TABLE
The cloth, extending to the floor, was of white silk organza with flounces of silk embroidery making up the skirt; a fold of plain organza marked the edge of the table, which was centered with a large candelabrum, five-branched, entwined with smilax and white carnations.

Based in net was the bridal cake with the three tiers enhanced by white confection roses, touched with a bit of melon shade. Scalloped on the lowest tier, the cake was topped with a cluster of frosting roses.

Assisting in the house party were the K. H. McGibbons, the Charles Webbs, the Bruce Fraziers, Mrs. Nell Frazier, the A. Swartzes, Dr. and Mrs. G. T. Hall, Marie Hall, the Lloyd Wassons, the J. Gordon Bristows, the E. L. Powells.

Also, Kim Guthrie, the Horace Garretts, the R. W. Whipkeys, the M. M. Millers, Mrs. J. Y. Robb, and the E. V. Spences, the Don Newsoms, Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe Cooper, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Wood.

For a wedding trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado, the bride chose a suit of red silk shantung with which she used black accessories. To her jacket she pinned an orchid corsage.

When the couple returns, a home will be made at 2020 Fifth Street, Lubbock, where both will attend Texas Tech.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, the new Mrs. Shirey attended Howard County Junior College and has received her bachelor's degree at Tech; she will begin work on a master's in music education this fall. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

The bridegroom, who was graduated from the high school of Lovington, N.M., attended H.C.J.C. and is now a senior student in Tech; his major is industrial management.

REHEARSAL DINNER
Parents of the bridegroom were hosts for a dinner Friday evening after the rehearsal. About 40 attended the affair, given in Masters Cafeteria private dining room.

Places were marked with wedding bells tied to white cards with red ribbon and the center arrangement held flowers in the same shades.

The betrothed couple presented gifts to their attendants at the dinner party.

BRIDESMAID LUNCHEON
Friday at noon, Miss Rainwater and her attendants were honored guests at a luncheon given at the Desert Sands Restaurant with Mrs. M. M. Miller as hostess.

Tables were decorated with carnations in melon and white; napkins were printed in the same hue with the names of the couple. Place cards followed a bridal theme.

Attending from out of town were Mrs. Milton Aston of Dallas, Mrs. C. O. Shirey and Mrs. Bob Shirey, Mrs. George White, Mrs. Y. C. Gray, the Milton Astons, the J. P. Kenneses of Lubbock, Mrs. Marvin House, Nita Janak.

Karen Thomas became the bride of Mims C. Reed of Sterling City Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Ramsey, Dallas.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Sam C. Thomas of McKinney and the late Mr. Thomas. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Reed of Sterling City.

An improvised altar in front of the fireplace included an arrangement of talisman roses and tapers on the mantel; ferns were banked on the hearth. It was before this altar that Dr. Charles E. Myers, pastor of the First Baptist Church of McKinney, heard the vows.

Traditional wedding music was arranged and presented by Ramsey, and the bride's brother, Sam Wayne Thomas, gave her in marriage.

Brocade satin in champagne hue made her street length dress, with a bouffant skirt and V neckline. The bride carried a brown orchid.

Theresa Dunn of McKinney was maid of honor, and the bridegroom was attended by Dean Threadgill of Snyder as his best man.

A reception in the Ramsey home followed the ceremony. A tiered cake on a mirrored tray was encircled with talisman roses and in the center of the table was a silver bowl with the same kind of roses. This was flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra.

MARTHA RAE GRIFFIN

Miss Aldridge, C. R. Grimes Exchange Vows In Longview

A candlelight ceremony, read in Longview, united in marriage Frances Ruth Aldridge and Clarence Ray Grimes Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Christian Church.

Dr. Sloan Gentry, pastor of the church, read the double ring vows as the couple stood before an altar banked with emerald trees, interspersed with floor candelabra holding white cathedral tapers.

Tapers, tied with white satin bows and streamers, lighted the center aisle, laid with white which led to arches traced with fern and tied in the center with white wedding bells. A white satin prie die stood in front of a Swedish arch flanked by arrangements of white gladioli in fans.

Mr. and Mrs. George Grimes, 1108 Douglas, are parents of the bride; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Dodson Aldridge of Longview.

Selections from Bach were chosen by the organist, Roy Beal Thomas, for the pre-nuptial music and he played the traditional wedding marches. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Marshall sang "One Hand, One Heart" by Bernstein; the worship choir sang "Oh, Rejoice Ye Christians, Loudly".

ORIGINAL MODEL

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in candlelight silk organza over taffeta; the gown was designed and made for her by Mrs. Marshall.

The basque waist, coming to points at front and back, featured a Sabrina neckline scalloped along lines of the deep lace applique on the bodice and brief sleeves.

Pearls and crystal beads sparkled the applique and were repeated on the band of lace which bordered the full skirt. Two rows of lace marked the front panel and swept into edging for a chapel train.

Short white kid gloves complemented the sleeves, and the bridal veil of two waist length tiers was held in place by a crown of pearls.

The bride carried a triangle of white orchids and stephanotis flowers with satin ribbons in cascade. Saundra Hopper of Longview attended the bride as maid of honor; bridesmaids were Brenda Gordon of Big Spring and Mrs. Louie Mack O'Neill of Tyler.

Identically costumed, the attendants were in sea king nylon chiffon over matching taffeta. Tops of the fitted bodices were of white Chantilly lace with self-scalloped neckline and cap sleeves. Empire waists were encircled with narrow bands of matching chiffon ending with flat bows in front panels on the full street length skirts with deep hems.

Headresses were Dior bow hats with ribbons of royal velvet and clusters of crushed velvet leaves in variegated shades of blue. Matching pumps and wristlet gloves of white kid completed the ensembles. Flowers were white asters in triangle bouquets with ribbon showers at the base.

Richard Grimes was his brother's best man; groomsmen were his brother-in-law, John Edward Brown of Big Spring and Troy Guinn of Longview. Ushers were Tim Hayes and Gary Thurman, both of Longview, and John Scott Aldridge of Henderson.

Kay McGrede, frocked as were the bride's attendants, scattered petals from a basket of white lace and tulle. On a pillow of white satin and Chantilly lace, studded with seed pearls and white sequins.

BRONSON MARSHALL carried the rings. RECEPTION ON TERRACE. On the terrace of the church, guests were received by the parents of the couple, the bride and bridegroom and the feminine attendants.

At the guest register was Barbara Russell of Hawkins.

The bride's table, laid in tulle with underlay of white taffeta, held an arrangement of white stock and asters with blue carnations in a silver epergne. Spun sugar roses and wedding bells embossed the four-tiered cake, frosted in white and topped with a ceramic bride and groom.

In the house party were Patsy Gordon, Gloria Gentry, Dana Wilmoth, Janet Kerr, Judy Henry, Jourdene Henry and Jennifer Roberts, Margaret Toler, Mrs. James Bailey and Mrs. J. H. Stark, all of Longview; Judy Bryant of Oklahoma City.

Guests attended the wedding from Henderson, Big Spring, Shreveport, La., Sherman, Dallas, Marshall, Colorado City, Oklahoma City and Fort Worth.

For a trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride donned a silk linen suit of spice beige; the jacket to the pencil skirt closed with large bone buttons and the scooped neckline was accented by a wide collar. With the bracelet length sleeves, she wore brief gloves of beige kid. A contrasting hat of maline was studded with seed pearls and raised velvet bows and carried a short veil. Her corsage was of white orchids.

The couple will make a home in Denton where both will continue their studies in North Texas State College. The bride, a graduate of Judson High School, Longview, is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, honor society.

A Big Spring High School graduate, the bridegroom attended Howard County Junior College and Hardin-Simmons University before going to NTSC.

Shrimp Salad Is Choice For Summer

Shrimp salad makes an attractive main dish for a light summer meal.

SHRIMP SALAD
1½ pounds medium-sized shrimp (cooked and cleaned)
Salad greens
¼ cup cocktail sauce
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup finely diced celery
2 tps. lightly drained capers.

Arrange shrimp on salad greens. Mix together the cocktail sauce, mayonnaise, celery and capers; spoon over shrimp. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Old Fashioned

There's nothing like the old-fashioned mixture of cream, sugar, vinegar, salt, white pepper and celery seed for dressing a salad of shredded green cabbage.

Sunny Sauce

White sauce to go over cooked vegetables is benefited by the addition of egg yolk. This way you achieve silky texture and sunny color.

J. H. Parks Jr. Weds Patricia Ann Conway

In a double ring ceremony Thursday evening, James Harold Parks Jr. took as his bride Patricia Ann Conway of Kaufman.

The Rev. E. H. Dickerson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kaufman, read the wedding vows in the Kaufman church as the bridal party stood before a background of white gladioli in baskets with tapers lighting the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Parks, 1567 Runnels, are parents of the bridegroom; the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucy Cecil Conway, of Kaufman.

Nuptial music was presented by Ruth Ann Averitt of Kaufman, organist, and Rose Mary Holland of Belton, soloist, who sang "Because," "Day of Golden Promise" and "Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of re-embroidered lace and French silk. A sabrina neckline was formed of lace scallops, and cap sleeves were complemented by brief white gloves. A sprinkling of the lace cascaded down the front of the skirt of silk which extended into a chapel train.

Two full tiers of illusion floated from the half-hat of lace and beads, and the bride carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Diane Ivy of Baytown, in a blue lace sheath with cap sleeves and round neckline, attended as maid of honor.

The bridegroom's father served as his best man. Ushers were Ron Wooten and Kirby Brown, both of Big Spring.

Tapers were lighted by Paul Lester Shaffer Jr. of Big Spring, nephew of the bridegroom.

A reception was held in the education building of the church, where the couple was assisted by their parents and the house party.

Included in the group were Mrs. Paul Shaffer of Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Wallace Hanna Jr. and Beverly Blair, both of Dallas; Mrs. Robert Stanley Lane of Tyler; Mrs. Billy John Robertson of Lawton, Okla.; Marianna Harper of Kaufman.

Attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Parks, Laura and Lana, Paul Shaffer, Charles Clark, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Claud Sommers, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Mims and Margaret, all of Dallas.

Lake Murray Lodge in Ardmore, Okla., was chosen as the honeymoon spot, and when the couple left, the bride was attired in a suit of blue with bone accessories.

Upon their return, they will make a home at 6006 Parkdale, Dallas, where the bride will be a teacher in the public schools. She is a graduate of North Texas State College.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, the bridegroom attended Howard County Junior College and Texas A&M College; he has served two years in the U.S. Marine Corps. Parks will continue his studies at NTSC.

REHEARSAL DINNER
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Parks were hosts for the rehearsal dinner given Wednesday evening at the Kaufman Hotel. Included in the 20 guests were the wedding attendants and members of the two families.

New Marigold Is Named For Our 50th State

David Burpee seed grower of Lompoc, Calif., and Philadelphia announced today that he has named a new American Marigold with odorless foliage and sweet scented flowers "Hawaii" in honor of the first anniversary of Hawaii as our 50th state.

Hawaii Marigold, new for 1961, has delicately honey-scented flowers of a rich orange color. Plants are 15 inches tall and gaily covered with beautiful flowers with long stems for cutting.

To help celebrate the first anniversary of Hawaii as our 50th state, Burpee has sent two large boxes of "Hawaii" Marigolds by air to Governor Wm. Quinn in Honolulu.

Marigolds are known as the flowers of friendship, and the Hawaii Marigold, according to Burpee, is the biggest and best Marigold ever created with sweet scented flowers and odorless foliage.

Maturing Takes Time

Mamie Van Doren believes that it takes time to mature and find individuality so "Don't be afraid to copy or go along with someone who is on top." Mamie divides her time between film and TV and soon will star in Allied Artists' "Sex Kittens Go to College."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Says Individuality Is Better Than Copying

HOLLYWOOD—"When I came to Hollywood, I copied Marilyn Monroe," Mamie Van Doren exclaimed with refreshing candor. "I was just a kid and I hadn't found myself, so I went along all the way looking like her."

"I bleached my hair white, had a dressmaker copy some of her sexy dresses and studied her make-up. I used to get a kick out of it when I went to a party and someone said, 'When you came into the room, I thought for a minute it was Marilyn.'" Mamie said with a laugh.

Mamie recently finished a show at CBS-TV after completing "Sex Kittens Go to College," for Allied Artists. I commented on her rising success and she said:

"Yes, my career is going very well, and I feel as though I have found myself. And the only thing that I do like Marilyn is bleach my hair. I like it and so do men. 'I dress for men. You will never find me following a fashion that they don't like. There are many women who like the French fashions, so I guess they like being up to date more than looking their best."

"I love the new hair styles. I think the bouffant look is flattering and feminine. It is casual without being unbecoming. When Brigitte Bardot became the rage, I knew then I had developed my own taste for I had no desire to copy her."

"But maturing takes time. A girl has to start somewhere so she might as well go along with the actress who is on top."

Mamie has a four-year-old son, Perry, but she has retained her girlish figure.

"I worked hard to get my stomach flat, and as soon as the doctor would let me, I went to a ballet class. This was good for me because my measurements are in better proportion now than they ever were."

"Do you have to diet to stay in form?"

"If I'd let myself go, I'd be plump. I was born on a farm and was used to eating large meals. I'm cornfed and healthy. But I keep my weight at 110 by limiting myself to two meals a day. I tried many staying-thin diets, but the two-meal plan works best for me. I have an energy breakfast, no lunch, and dinner at five when my son eats.

"I find if I eat slowly, my appetite is satisfied with less. I made this discovery when I was working in Rome. I had a boyfriend who was always telling me to slow down and make a ritual of a meal. So now when I'm alone, I light the candles, play soft music and I seem to eat less and enjoy it more."

"Until you slow down, you never realize how much you are punishing your whole system by eating in a rush or under tension."

"I am a great believer in vitamins. When I take cod liver oil capsules, my hair is more glossy. And I know vitamin A helps my eyes. I don't have colds any more since I take vitamin C. It's one vitamin you can't take too much of because what your body doesn't use is thrown off."

"I think you should start caring for your skin when you are young," she went on. "If you don't, all of a sudden you'll notice lines have formed, and of course these will have been on the way a long time before they were noticeable."

"My skin would really be a mess if I weren't so careful about removing make-up. But now it is in good condition that I don't have to wear a base during the day."

"I have tried many cleansing creams, but I have discovered a creamy lotion that cuts grease but washes off with water works best for me. I like this so much—with most creams I felt I wasn't getting it all off."

"As I rose to go, I told Mamie how much she had matured since we first met."

"I am constantly working on improving myself. And you know what a terrible temper I used to have. Well, I rarely show it now," Mamie concluded.

O-o-o-o-oh, That Feels Good

Can't you just hear Tinker Bell purr those words as her chin is soothingly scratched by her young mistress, Angela Ward? Capt. Jarvis Ward has recently been transferred to Webb AFB from Anchorage, Alaska, and the family is getting settled in their home at 93 A Ent. Since he was detailed by his duties as club officer at the Officers' Club, Mrs. Ward, Angela and Peter paused long enough for the Herald photographer to snap their picture without him.

Wards From Texas' Size Replacement

By KAY LOVELAND
It's a long way from Anchorage, Alaska, to Big Spring but that's how far Capt. Jarvis Ward, his wife Ida-Lisa, Angela and Peter of 93 A Ent., Webb Village, have come.
Capt. Ward was transferred to Webb Air Force Base early this month to take over as club officer at the Officers' Club after being stationed in Anchorage for the past four years.
Actually, a fifth member of the family also made the journey—Tinker Bell, the Wards' Siamese cat. Mrs. Ward confesses that "no one ever tells her she's a cat. She is just part of the family."
The Captain is a career man, having worked his way up from a buck private; when he retires from the military in 10 years, he plans to move the family back to his home state of North Carolina where they have just bought property. He wants to raise cattle and indulge in his favorite hobbies of hunting and fishing while she plans to write, teach and collect antiques.

and weekly columns for Air Force wives publications. Someday she says she might try to write the "great American novel."
The family is half Yankee, half rebel, with Capt. Ward hailing from North Carolina and Mrs. Ward from the New York area. The children also followed this pattern. Angela, who is seven, was born in San Antonio; Peter, five and a half, can call Cape Cod, Mass., home. Tinker Bell, however, is in the middle. She came into the world in the Wards' closet in Anchorage a short time before Alaska became a state.
Angela will enroll in the second grade at Marcy next week, and Peter trots off to kindergarten. Little Miss Ward attended kindergarten and first grade in Alaska, but she will probably find going to school somewhat different in Big Spring.
The Wards can't really say which place they have enjoyed living in the most. "You find something good in every place," Mrs. Ward thinks.

ALASKA GARDENS
"Living in Alaska was quite different," she says. "Of course, the major difference between Big Spring and Anchorage is the temperature. Also, Anchorage is somewhat more modern, but I never really got used to having the sun shining at 10 or 10:30 p.m., or to the stars and moon being out at 10 a.m. Because of the long hours of sunshine in the summer time, the gardens in Alaska were magnificent. Flowers and vegetables grew to four and five times their sizes down here."
The family was in Alaska when it gained statehood, and in their estimation the people "who really cared about the welfare of Alaska were happy to be brought into the union. Those who only wanted to capitalize on many of the resources of the country wanted it to remain a territory."
Although they have found several differences between the two largest states in the nation, however, Capt. and Mrs. Ward have found one fundamental parallel—the friendliness of the people.

Miscellaneous Gifts Presented Miss Baker

Dorothy Baker of Ackery was the honoree for a miscellaneous shower Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Raymond Stallings on the Lamesa Highway.
Miss Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Baker of Ackery, will be married Saturday to Jerry Rogers of Wichita, Kan. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rogers, Knott Route.
Mrs. Landon Burchell, a hostess, registered guests as they were greeted by Mrs. Stallings, who presented Miss Baker and the mothers.
Serving was from a table in blue and white, chosen colors of the bride. On blue satin runners, the names of the betrothed couple were written in glitter, and this was centered with a tiny bride under an arch.
Hostesses joining Mrs. Stallings and Mrs. Burchell were Mrs. Charlie Nichols, Mrs. Lester Newton, Mrs. Troy Newton, Mrs. W. J. Ringener, Mrs. Jack Hatch.

Also, Mrs. R. C. Thomas, Mrs. Edgar Phillips, Mrs. Johnny Ray Dillard, Mrs. Wilburn Forrest, Mrs. Walker Bailey and Mrs. John Jones.

Have a School-Age Child?

Early school age children catch many more colds than their elders. Public Health experts do not know exactly why, but they note that the tendency to catch colds drops with increasing age. Vitamins do not prevent a cold, but they help build up resistance against them. Changes in a child's eating habits and tastes can easily result in vitamin deficiencies, which affect both health and school work. As a back-to-school special we are going to give free with each purchase of school supplies amounting to $4 a 24-day supply of Unicap Vitamins.

Weeks-Clepper Ritual Is Recited In Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — The marriage of Pat Weeks and Bob M. Clepper was solemnized at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Lamesa Church of Christ with Hardemon Nichols of Midland officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Weeks; the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. W. M. Clepper, Huntsville, and the late Mr. Clepper.

A choir harmonized the traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Nancy Peterson who sang "Whither Thou Goest."

An ivy-entwined trellis formed the altar background and was flanked by yellow columbs; oak leaves, yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and yellow candles in pedestaled candelabra completed the setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown of embroidered tulle over taffeta fashioned with Sabrina neckline etched with iridescent sequins and bridal pearls.

The bodice terminated in points at the center front and back, and accordion pleated tulle ruffles with panels of embroidered tulle in front and back formed the skirt which extended into a chapel sweep.

Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of Chantilly lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow Goldilocks roses and miniature English ivy.

The bride's sister, Mrs. H. B. Cox of Midland, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of toast organza over yellow cotton satin featuring brown satin roses accenting the back of the matching cummerbund which extended to form a hemline sash. Her hat of brown satin roses caught a nosegay veil, and she carried bronze chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Glenn Priddy of Odessa, sister of the bride; Mrs. Buddy Card of Van Horn and Billie Jo Wall of Greensboro, N. C., wore identical dresses to that of the matron of honor.

Bill Walton of Conroe was his brother's best man, and groomsmen were Woody Walton of Midland, brother of the bridegroom; Bob White of Midland and Carl Max Weeks, brother of the bride.

Candlelighters were Glenda and Gloria Walton, of Midland, nieces of the bridegroom, Carolyn and Mimi Walton, also his nieces, served as flower girls. Dan Walton, his nephew, was ring bearer.

A reception was held at the Woman's Study Club following the ceremony. Assisting at the reception were Jerene Crumley of Crane; Mrs. Bill Gregory of Lubbock; Mary Ruth Oswald of Hereford; Janice Vest of Alpine; Mrs. Iris Whitehead and Mrs. Rufus Pruitt of Lamesa.

When Mr. and Mrs. Clepper left on a trip to New Mexico, the bride wore a fed suit with black accessories. She is a graduate of Sul Ross State College, Alpine, and is a teacher in the Odessa Public Schools. Clepper is assistant manager of Community Finance and Thrift, Odessa, where the couple will make their home.

Wedding guests were present from Midland, Odessa, Huntsville, Alpine, Dallas and Greensboro, N. C.

Salary Hikes Earmarked In 1961 County Budget

By SAM BLACKBURN

The proposed Howard County budget for 1961 calls for expenditures of $294,224.41. The total is $6,730 greater than the budget for the current year.

Howard County Commissioners have slated a public hearing on the budget for Sept. 12. After that hearing, the final approval of the budget will be made. It is subject to possible revisions before it is finally approved.

SALARY HIKES

Included in the new budget are salary increases for all of the major elective officers and the county auditor. The annual increase authorized for each of these offices is $600. Salaries of all but one officer are scheduled to be $7,200 per annum.

Salaries of the Howard County Commissioners remain unchanged in the budget. However, they are allowed an increase of $600 per year in car expense. Their compensation, including the increased car allowance will be $5,414 as compared to $4,814. Their annual salary of $4,514 remains unchanged. They now receive $300 a year car expense allowance.

No salary increases are earmarked for any deputies or subordinate employees. Pay checks for the county judge, county attorney, county clerk, county auditor, district clerk and county sheriff and county tax assessor will be $600 monthly instead of $550. The pay of the county treasurer will be hiked $600 annually but salary of that officer has never been as high as the others. Her monthly pay check will be $490 instead of $440 as in the past.

COAHOMA DEPUTY

The budget provides for the establishment of a full time deputy sheriff in Coahoma. Salary for this job is set at $4,140 plus annual allowance of $300. The deputy must provide his own car.

Salary of the justice of the peace for Coahoma is cut from $1,200 to $600. Salary of the constable for Coahoma is reduced from $2,100 to $1,200.

Salary of the constable for Place No. 1, Big Spring is reduced from $4,500 to $3,630. However, this reduction results from the abandonment of a plan by which the constable had been doing extra duty as an aide to the sheriff. For this extra duty he was paid additional salary.

The budget, according to Lee Porter, auditor, is based on an estimated tax valuation of $55,500,000 which represents an increase of $166,669 over the present year. Tax assessments this year as in the past are based on 20 per cent of the true value of the property assessed. The tax levy for the ensuing year remains at $1.02 on each $100 valuation—the same as it was in 1959. The budget is figure on a basis of 90 per cent collection of taxes.

COLLECTIONS

Estimated total taxes assessed will be $56,100 and total collections are expected to be $509,490. Tax rates, by funds, are the same for 1961 as they were in 1960. These are operating fund $0.04 cents; road and bridge $0.15; road and bridge special $0.15; general $0.40; permanent improvement $0.05. (Total operating fund rates $0.79).

Interest and sinking fund rates are: Courthouse and jail $0.11; 1954 road bonds $0.07; airport $0.05, bonded indebtedness against the county outstanding is $1,312,000. These are the courthouse and jail, $471,000; courthouse and jail, $222,000; 1954 road bonds, $149,000; airport $470,000. During 1961, it is estimated the county will pay off $39,000 of this indebtedness and $17,325 in interest on the obligations.

Allocations by funds for the ensuing year, with 1960 figures shown in parentheses: jury fund $26,600 ($28,400); road and bridge, $342,600 ($342,000); general, $165,000 ($161,000); officer salary, $190,500 ($179,000); permanent improvement, $10,600 ($11,100); library, $17,100 ($17,460); law library $2,800 ($2,500); lateral road, $2,894.41 ($23,894.41); airport sinking, $27,000 ($27,550); courthouse and jail sinking fund, $58,700 ($58,400); 1954 road bond sinking fund, $39,400 ($42,100); courthouse and jail building fund, $10,000 ($15,000); airport operating fund, $0,040 ($10,000).

OTHER SOURCES

Of all the money set up for the use of the county in the 1961 year, $374,894.41 will come from other sources than ad valorem taxes. Of these extra funds $175,000 comes from the county share of automobile license funds.

Another $24,894.41 derives from the county share of the state funds. (This is automatically placed in the county lateral road fund each year. It is used to defray part of the expenses of paving county built roads.)

Other receipts derive from the collection of delinquent taxes and from the fees collected by the several offices where fees are required. Fines in county and justice of peace courts account for around $15,000 a year.

Road and bridge fund absorbs all of the $175,000—the county receives as its share of the car tag sales. It also gets a share of other revenue deriving to the county. The total allocation set up for this fund is $342,600.

ANNOUNCING

A PROGRESS PROGRAM FOR

The Opportunity Frontier OF TEXAS

Our Company is pleased to announce that we are launching a program of Area development advertising to attract new industries to this territory, which is truly THE OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER OF TEXAS.

These advertisements will tell what the area we serve has to offer industry — including stable citizenship, rich resources, agricultural wealth, growing industry, investment opportunities. They will appear in the publications used by American businessmen and industrial leaders who make the decisions in connection with the location of new plants, warehouses or branch offices.

As citizens of the communities we serve, we want to do our part in creating more jobs... more prosperity... more financial stability. We are fully appreciative of this fact: We can grow only if the area we serve grows.

Anderson Runs As Constitutionalist

Voters of the 19th congressional district will have a rare—if not unprecedented—situation as they cast ballots in the general election in November. There will be a candidate on the ticket in opposition to that of the Democratic party.

John R. (Rich) Anderson, Borden County rancher and well known in Big Spring, announces that he has filed for a place on the ticket as a candidate of the Constitution party. He will be opposing George Mahon, the veteran Democrat.

JOHN R. (RICH) ANDERSON

Anderson in recent months has been active in affairs of the Constitution party in Texas, and resigned some time ago as Borden County's Democratic committee chairman because of his new affiliations. He is appealing principally to conservatives, and has issued a statement taking a rap at the "spend-and-elect politicians."

STATEMENT

Anderson's statement said: "The United States of America faces a crisis of such major proportions as to threaten our very survival as a free nation. The very roots of our system of freedom are being attacked.

"On the one side we face the Communists who are intent on capturing the world for their godless philosophy. On the other side we have the spend-and-elect politicians violating the personal liberty of every person by trying to be all things to all people.

"The majority of our citizens who find that they cannot subscribe to this irresponsibility in government have no place to go with their vote. What good is a vote if you have only one choice for which to vote?

NEW PARTY

"I believe our only hope is through a new party with well enunciated principles that recognize the freedom and liberty of every individual in America instead of special privilege groups.

"If the people of this nation want to remain free, they must throw off this yoke of governmental control and let it be known that they depend on God—not government, for their salvation.

"I pledge myself, when elected, to do what I believe right for this country and district—not that which is politically expedient; 2) to work for the reduction in size and power of the Federal bureaucracy and for the return of freedom and responsibility to the individual; 3) to fight the threat of Communism in every possible manner."

O. U. GRADUATE

Anderson was born March 9, 1929 in Midland. He graduated from Lovington, N.M., high school. In 1950 he graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a B. A. degree.

He married the former Barbara Clayton in 1951. They have four children—Sarah, 7; Mary, 5; John, 2; and Martha, 2 months.

Anderson is a member of the American National Cattle Growers Association, the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, the American and West Texas Quarter Horse Association. He is senior warden of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Big Spring. He has been associated with the ranching business all of his life. After graduating from the university, he went to work as a cowhand for $165 per month, and furnishing his own groceries. He is now owner and operator of a large ranch in Borden County.

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Anderson, live on a ranch in Lea County, N. M., near Lovington where they raise registered Hereford cattle. The elder Anderson has been on this ranch for 45 years.

Anderson's wife is a member of an old West Texas family. Her maternal grandfather, W. K. Dickinson, owned and operated one of the first cotton gins in Lubbock County. Her paternal grandfather, R. M. Clayton was one of the earlier presidents of the First National Bank in Lubbock.

Open House Today For Blue Star Home

Pioneer Natural Gas Company's new demonstration home—the Blue Star Home—is holding an open house between 2-7 p.m. today in the Edgemere Addition southeast of Big Spring.

The house, which will sell for $24,500, was built by Jack H. Calhoun and decorated by his wife. The brick home is situated on a 112x175 foot lot and contains 1,700 square feet of floor space not including a 480 square foot double garage and a 240 square foot patio. All appliances in the house are gas. Installed in the wood-paneled kitchen are a gas dishwasher, washer-dryer combination, refrigerator and stove.

In the family room is a large wood-burning fireplace, a small bar and sliding glass doors looking out on the backyard.

The 22x14 foot living room is carpeted from wall-to-wall in pink with pastel pink walls, as is the rest of the house, except for the kitchen, family room and bathrooms. The living room features a brick planter and a tiled entrance way.

Large closets with sliding doors are featured in all three bedrooms. One bathroom showcases grey fixtures, a tub and dressing table. The other has pink fixtures and a shower.

All early American furniture displayed in the home was furnished by D&W Furniture Store.

The home also features a water well which pumps 30 gallons of water a minute and a patio with a rock barbecue pit.

Several Guilty Pleas Expected

There will be several pleas of guilty heard in 118th District Court Monday but the exact number of such pleas was uncertain Saturday.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that he understood some of the individuals indicted by the recent grand jury had expressed a desire to plead guilty to the charges against them. However, he was not certain just how many would do so.

Six of those under indictment, who are still being held in the county jail, were arraigned Friday. All but one told the court they had no attorney nor funds to employ one. Judge Ralph Caton appointed counsel for those who had no attorney.

One or two of those who appeared before the bench told the judge they desired to plead guilty.

Forgery Suspect To Be Returned

Buddy Wise, wanted here to answer charges of forgery, has been arrested in Crescent City, Calif. Sheriff Miller Harris has been notified. He has signed a waiver and is willing to come back to Texas.

Harris said the man is also wanted in Borger and the sheriff from that city is to make the trip to California to take custody of the prisoner. When his case has been settled in Borger he will be turned over to Howard County for prosecution.

For Aiding Hospital

Lt. Col. Robert A. Wiemer, Wing surgeon, at Webb AFB, hands S. Sgt. Donald R. O. Gable an incentive award check and commends him for developing an aid to lung medication.

Sergeant Develops Lung Care Device

A Webb AFB sergeant has devised an intermittent pressure-breathing apparatus for treating chronic lung disease patients. The new unit, constructed by S. Sgt. Donald R. O. Gable, answers the need at field hospitals, which have no authorization for equipment costing from $300 to $600.

Relatively simple in design, the intermittent pressure unit can be assembled at most Air Force bases at a cost of about $130. And equipment used for its structure was returned intact to the sections from which they were borrowed.

The necessity for building a unit arose recently when Webb AFB had to borrow one from the local VA Hospital. Upon its return, Sgt. Gable rigged up a breathing apparatus which was used effectively on a patient.

Items used to assemble the new device include: oxygen regulator, oxygen mask, a 30-inch oxygen hose assembly, a constant flow valve, nebulizer, glass atomizer tube, plus a required amount of rubber and metal tubings, couplings, nozzles and brackets.

"In cases of chronic lung diseases," Lt. Col. Robert A. Wiemer, Wing surgeon said, "medication is given to the patient in vapor form, along with oxygen—into the lungs. An apparatus of this nature is an acceptable substitute for the manufactured equipment. It can be assembled in a matter of hours, and there is no need to ruin other equipment in order to construct it."

For his suggestion Sgt. Gable received a $20 check from the Wing Incentive Board.

Sgt. Gable is a physiological training supervisor assigned to the Wing flight surgeon's section at the base hospital. He joined the Air Force in 1952 and came to Webb the following year. He attended a supervisor course at the school of Aviation Medicine at Gunter AFB, Ala., in 1957.

Actively engaged in the Air Force off-duty education program, Sgt. Gable has earned 56 semester hours' credit in the past five years at Howard County Junior College in Big Spring. He has completed specialized courses with the Air University's Extension Course Institute, Ala., and several college-level courses through correspondence studies with the United States Armed Forces Institute, Madison, Wis.

Police Request Curbing Action

By JACK RADER

Thefts of automobile accessories and parts and usable salvage have reached such proportions recently in Big Spring that definite curbing action is planned by city officials.

An ordinance is currently in the mill which would regulate to some degree the sale of car parts and accessories, junk metal and salvage.

Dealers who buy such items for re-sale are most frequently innocent recipients of stolen property. The ordinance would require dealers to keep a record of persons selling various articles.

AN 'AID'

The ordinance is to be an "aid to investigation," according to Police Chief Jay Banks. "Maybe it will help cut down on some of the petty thefts."

The ordinance is being pushed by the police department and has the backing of the city commission. The idea was presented to the commission Tuesday and City Attorney John Burgess is studying model ordinances from other cities before drawing up an ordinance for Big Spring.

As seen by Chief Banks, the ordinance is aimed at wrecking yards and other businesses where items are bought and then re-sold. Pawn shops, already under various regulations, are not included.

KEEP RECORDS

It is proposed that the dealer be required to keep a record of the name, address, and car license number of all persons he buys from. Police recognize that such an ordinance will not put a stop to all petty thievery. "We do feel, however, that it will be a big help to us in clearing some of it up," the chief said.

Especially numerous are thefts of car parts and copper and brass. The metal, usable when taken, is usually beaten into a mass or otherwise displayed as junk and then sold. As with most car parts, positive identification is nearly impossible.

When someone reports that his radiator has been stolen, a search of wrecking yards may turn up a dozen or more radiators of the same model. Dealers are usually at a loss to know who sold it to them or exactly when they bought the item.

PROMPTLY CHECK

The chief said that if dealers' records could be promptly checked after a theft is reported, a record which shows recent sale of that particular item could put officers quickly on the trail of the culprit.

The charge for a violation of the ordinance would not be connected in any way with receiving stolen goods, the chief said, but failure to keep adequate records. It would be a misdemeanor offense.

29 May Die During Holiday

AUSTIN (AP)—Homer Garrison Jr., Texas Department of Public Safety director, predicted Saturday 29 persons will die in auto smashups on Texas highways during the Labor Day holiday next weekend.

"We hope the driving public will help this Labor Day weekend to prove that we have over-estimated the number of traffic fatalities that will occur in the three day period," Garrison said.

Some 125 extra patrolmen from the department's other uniformed services will join the regular Highway Patrol force to attempt to curb traffic law violations during the period, he said.

Unique Class Begins Sept. 8

Sept. 8 is "opening day" for Class 61-F at Webb AFB. It marks a milestone in Webb and Air Force pilot training history, for 61-F is one of the last classes in which cadets will receive wings and commissions. Starting sometime in 1961, Air Force pilot training will be limited to commissioned officers.

Webb's part of Class 61-F was originally scheduled to consist of 30 cadets, but it has now been announced that the group will have more including 27 American officers; three Mutual Assistance Pact officers (1 Pakistani and 4 Iranian); 46 American cadets; and four Iranian cadets. (One Peruvian cadet, a member of 61-E, is already in training at Webb).

Class 61-F is scheduled to graduate on March 29, 1961.

Cadet training in the Air Corps began in October, 1951 at a newly established training center at Randolph Field, San Antonio. Academic and physical exams were rigid. The cadets received pre-flight, primary and basic flying training at Randolph, and won their wings in less than a year. The high caliber of graduates soon established Randolph as the "West Point of the Air."

Parity Is Meaningless Unless Market Is Found

By JOE PICKLE
Parity has no meaning unless products find a market, Harold West, Bishop, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, told a group of bureau representatives here Friday.

West spoke at a luncheon in the Wagon Wheel where members from Howard, Martin, Mitchell, a tri-Midland counties had gathered to pay their respects. He had addressed 1,500 at Ballinger Thursday evening and was en route to an engagement at Lamesa.

"We used to buy West Texas bred mules for $400 a span," he said. "Now what would the government be paying today if it had undertaken to save the mule industry by paying parity?"

DEMAND
The important thing to remember, he told the group, is that products must find a demand, and that supply is not necessarily related to demand. Prices, uses and desires are greater factors in demand.

Wheat production in this country is facing a tremendous crisis because it has ignored some of these facts and because it has got too deeply enmeshed in politics, according to West. And it affects every agricultural producer.

For instance, the government has sold India 750,000,000 bushels of wheat ("one ship a day for four years"). It accomplishes a great humanitarian objective, but it also pours into this nation's best grain sorghum market.

West said that under the various farm programs that "we haven't really had too much control, but that we stand in danger of having all of our decisions made for us." He flayed the idea of compensatory payments.

ONE PRICE
Rather to favored the direction cotton has pointed faintly toward in the past two years—a goal of one price for domestic and export markets. America can recapture some of its export market in this manner, but to do it, research must find new uses, promotion must find some way to hold down production costs.

One of the foremost problems facing this country today is fiscal soundness, he declared. The U. S. must save the dollar from further devaluation or great chunks of the free world will be handed to Communism on a silver platter.

SURPLUSES
"There is nothing anywhere to compare with United States agriculture," he asserted. "Here our problem is surplus; elsewhere it is starvation. Here one man on the farm supports 26 others—and has surpluses; elsewhere one man on a farm can't sustain two others."

"Our problem is living with our surpluses without wrecking our economy."

He thought it was significant that segments of agriculture which had had the least government help were today in the best condition. He objected to letting agriculture become the whipping boy for other programs, such as charging school lunchroom supplies, food in foreign aid, to agriculture.

Because Farm Bureau policies originate with the local units and are distilled into state and national policies representing the majority, he felt that individual responsibility in local units was thus underlined.

CONTRASTED
He contrasted this with national policies, including party platforms, which he said were not the product of farmers and ranchers but too frequently designed for vote catching.

West was introduced by C. H. DeVaney, state farm bureau vice president and who has greatest seniority of the board. Cecil Phillips, Howard County Bureau president, presided.

Sgt. Langston Retires But To Make Big Spring Home

M. Sgt. Jerome B. Langston of WAFB Headquarters retires from the U. S. Air Force on Aug. 31, after completing 23 years of active military service.

Highlights of the sergeant's career include WWII combat duty in Europe, an 18-month stint in the Pentagon, and a post-war tour in England.

Enlisting in the Army in 1937, Sgt. Langston took basic training at Fort Bragg, N. C., with the 1st Field Artillery Observation Battalion. He went to England in the fall of 1944 and stayed there until January, 1945 when his outfit, the 292d F. A. Obs. Bn., went to France.

The 292d controlled and directed artillery fire for Gen. Patch's U. S. Seventh Army—the sergeant's job being that of chief meteorologist. "We got in part of the Ruhr and Rhineland campaigns, Sergeant Langston said. "And when the shooting was over my unit was at Augsburg, Germany."

Reflecting his combat experience, Sgt. Langston remarked: "We were with the first outfit that broke through the Maginot Line. For several days there was a lull in fighting where we were—overlooking Kleinsiedersdorf, Germany. We were low on men and supplies.

The Germans knew it, but could do little about it. Then about 20 days or so reinforcements came and a whole corps of artillery batteries opened up. The breakthrough followed."

Aachen was pretty rough, the sergeant said. "I remember run-

Retired English Professor Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Laura Hibbard Loomis, 77, retired professor of English literature at Wellesley College, died Thursday. She was the author of books in collaboration with her husband, Roger Sherman Loomis, now professor emeritus of English at Columbia University. She had been on the Wellesley faculty from 1916 until her retirement in 1943.

Joining the Air Force in March, 1946, Sergeant Langston was soon assigned to Hq Air Weather Service at the Pentagon, as NCOIC of Long Range Plans & Manpower section. He worked directly for Gen. Donald N. Yates, chief of Air Weather Service. Gen. Yates is now at Cape Canaveral.

Sgt. Langston went back to England in November, 1950, and his wife joined him four months later. They came from there to Webb in January, 1954, and in September of that year they bought their home at 1605 Cardinal, Big Spring. They have one son, Daniel, 4.

The sergeant plans to settle down in Big Spring with his family.

Camera Heated For Cold Scenes

Special "winterized" camera equipment was used in filming snow sequences of M-G-M's new outdoor action drama, "The Law and Jake Wade," starring Robert Taylor and Richard Widmark. The equipment entails a simplified heating element, installed inside the camera. It keeps the camera operating in sub-zero temperatures which ordinarily freeze gears. The heating unit, no larger than ladies' lipstick, eliminates the need for bulky electrical or chemically operated protective blankets.

A Good Test For Proposed Bond Issues

News columnists have written about one member of Congress who, when confronted with an appropriation request...

This seems to be a pretty sound approach, and not an inappropriate one to take in the case of the $4.3 million bond issues...

As for question No. 1 - In our opinion, all programs listed in the five-year growth program will be good for our community.

The areas not now being served with water and sewer services certainly should have them.

While our supply of water from Lake J. B. Thomas has been ample, our filtration and treating system has not kept pace.

LET'S TAKE up question No. 2, relating to need. The technical people who deal with the water and sewer services...

THE RAPID growth of Big Spring has put tremendous property investments out of the safe range of our present fire stations. Protection is needed to the west and to the southwest. In fact, it will have to be provided, or the State Insurance Commission is going to alter key rates...

Parks? We haven't really had one (save for the city park far out of town). We have sites designated for playgrounds...

Paving? We're in a paving program right now, and by the time it is finished, there will be block after block needing surfacing.

CAN WE AFFORD IT? Competent financial men have laid down a program for the water rate increases...

MORRIS DOESN'T TWIST EASILY

J. A. Livingston You Might Call It High-Level Stagnation

STANFORD, Calif.—What's to spark a recovery? That was a major question at the annual meeting of The American Statistical Association here at Stanford University.

When all the highfalutin polysyllabic came to rest, there was only one answer: "You and I, the consumers. We've got to continue to buy, or else the United States is in for a recession or a depression."

ONE ECONOMIST, a vice president of a major West Coast institution, declared: "We're in a period of wishful thinking. The economy just has no buying oomph. The next move is down."

On this trip, no one I have run into, not even the redoubtable George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., waved the banner of high prosperity.

Romney looks for a good year. He told me at a press preview of 1961 Ramblers at Burlington, Wis., but he's not expecting the automobile industry to lead the country out of the economic lull.

HE SAYS compact cars will capture half the market by the end of 1961. He's rapturous (match) over 1961 Ramblers, especially the revamped American, but he's not banking on better sales for the industry as a whole in '61, not better than '60.

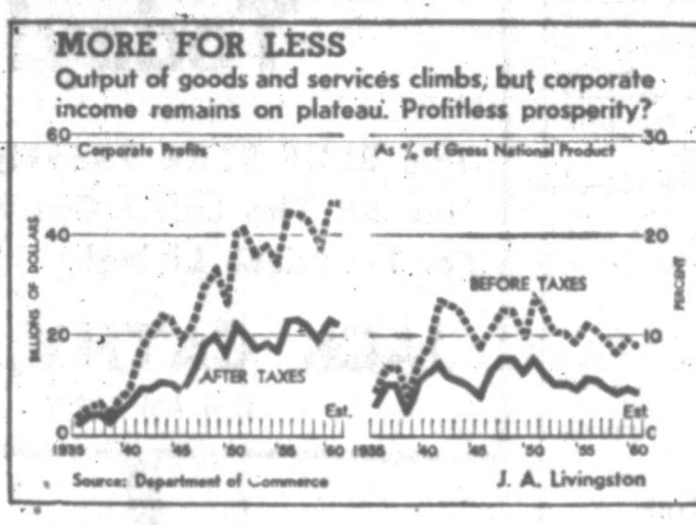

In Chicago at Sears, Roebuck & Co., Crowder Baker, a stocky 54-year-old Texan, who became president in May, smilingly offered the journey's understatement: "Business isn't booming."

NOWHERE did I find dissent. Yet Sears is budgeting for a 5 per cent increase in sales this fall compared with '59. How come? Sales were beginning to slip a bit last fall. But more important, Sears will be fighting for business: "We'll have to engage in close pricing. Initial gross markups will be lower. But volume will take care of a lot of evils."

ARTHUR Rosenbaum, manager of economic research at Sears, one of the few economists who called the 1959 upturn, seconded the motion: "People have to get used to the idea that we may not have either a boom or a bust. This is a rolling readjustment."

"I suggested, 'How about calling it 'high-level stagnation?'" Rosenbaum grinned assent.

On the West Coast, I ran head-

Output of goods and services climbs, but corporate income remains on plateau. Profitless prosperity?

into a postwar novelty—pessimism. about a year; nevertheless, it's still hard to get clerical workers at the bank—both in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

FOR THE first time in ten years, the percentage of unemployment here is higher than the national average. California, with about five out of every hundred workers seeking jobs, is about average. But the unemployment rate is higher in the State of Washington, hard hit by cutbacks in aircraft at Boeing in Seattle and by the lessened demand for lumber (due to the housing drop), and in Oregon, also a lumber state.

People here are not adjusted to high-level stagnation. Sterling Brubaker, an economist at the Bank of America, wondered, "What's to put business up?" Implication: If it doesn't go up, it's certain to go down.

THE BANK of America is a big institution in more ways than size. S. Clark Betts, president, said to me: "Business isn't as bad as it looks. 'Business isn't' as bad as it looks. 'Business isn't' as bad as it looks. 'Business isn't' as bad as it looks."

Beise (Buy, zeel) responded: "We have many different views at the bank and we're not afraid to have them come out in the open."

Beise could have been Romney. "A lot of people will be attracted by the new compact cars," he said. "I think this will be a good fall in autos because of this." He expects industrial expenditures on plant and equipment to be high. "Business men are under pressure to reduce costs."

HE NOTES that there are rental vacancies in housing, that there are "some unsold houses—a few not many." The West Coast has been in an "aircraft recession" for

Around The Rim Best Part Of School Is Recess

Newspaper writers being as trite as they are, the columns these days are carrying words "School bells will ring next week."

In this electronic age, school buildings (with colored doors yet) come equipped also with a buzzer system, so that when teachers want to summon their charges, they just press the button.

YES, SIR, WHAT we need is a return to the long-stemmed handle bell, one which a teacher can grasp firmly and shake like she was operating a hand pump, so that the clarion tones ring out across the school ground and impel the younguns to fall in line.

Now you might think that an old fuddy-duddy like me would proceed, at the school year starts, to point out how the old days in the little red schoolhouse were so much better than today. But I am not going to do this.

IF JOHNNY CAN'T read today, I might as well admit that there were some Johnnys and Marys in my class, too, who never quite grasped what it was all about. They got through school, largely because the teachers just shoved 'em on up to get rid of 'em.

No, I am not considered an authority on classwork, so must discuss a subject with which I am more familiar. This is the school recess, which is where we started, with the bell, remember?

WHEN THE BELL used to ring for recess in my day, pupils had to rise, stand in the aisle, and then march in order out of the building. Then ranks broke, and little boys broke for one out-house in the far corner of the yard, while little girls scurried toward a similar structure in the opposite corner.

AFTER ANSWERING Nature's call, kids poured forth on the ground for a few minutes of fast play. Seems like the little girls played jacks mostly. The boys, by season, would take up tops or marbles, or mumble pegs—and no playing for keeps in the marble game, either, at least during school hours.

When we got a little older, we had a game we called one-and-over, in which we ran, sprang off a mark, flew through the air and leap-frogged over the boy who was "it."

REGARDLESS OF the games, recess was definitely on a segregated basis. If the classrooms weren't, we to the boys who crossed the mid-ground line, to go over to the girls' side during recess.

He was due a healthy strapping. And this was back in the era when a licking in school meant another at home, and no nonsense.

I always thought recess was about the best part of the school day. After all, who minded a little whipping now and then?

Norman Vincent Peale Faith Sweeps Away Life's Troubles

Year in and year out I receive enormous numbers of letters from people all over this country whom I have never met, and they make me proud that I am an American.

I want to share with you the story of a woman who wrote to me recently. She says her life was a hard one both before and after an early marriage which finally ended in divorce.

WELL, EIGHT years after her divorce the lady married again. This was less than a year ago. But the first few months of her new life weren't too happy.

Then this one day I was laid off from work for four days. I was so depressed I didn't know what to do with myself.

SO, WHERE'S the spark to come from? From you and me, the consumers. I agree with Baker, Beise, and Rosenbaum. Householders have not been panicked by the fall; they've just been "whittling away" at inventories—doing what we've always done, consuming.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Advice can come from unexpected sources. Bill Jenkins returned home from a convention, parked his car and went indoors to kiss his wife. Then he went back out for his luggage. As he was about to re-enter the house, he heard an urgent "Ps—ps—!"

DAVID LAWRENCE, author of "The Conservative Coalition Still Here," says that he has had a "hard wall" around it made of brick, and if only I had faith, that wall would come tumbling down.

THE BIGGEST news of the presidential campaign happened this past week in Congress. A coalition of Democrats and Republicans in the Senate applied the brakes on unnecessary spending.

FOR MANY years now the Democrats have had majority control of Congress. But the Democratic party is split. Approximately 20 Democrats who are against inflationary spending usually join with 31 or more Republicans to make a majority against the "spenders."

ALTHOUGH this has happened several times, the most significant vote of all has just come on medical-care legislation. Because of its political importance, it was assumed that the Democrats would uphold Senator Kennedy's position.

THERE WERE two proposals offered to the Senate as substitutes for the Senate Finance Committee bill. One, sponsored by a Republican group, wanted to provide a larger program of medical care but outside the Social Security system. The cost would have been paid on a fifty-fifty arrangement between the states and the federal government.

THE OTHER PROPOSAL, sponsored by Senator Kennedy, would have required an increase in the social security tax. Every one retired under social security would be eligible for medical benefits at age 68, with no distinction made between those who need and those who don't need such benefits. The cost was figured at about $700,000,000 annually, but it was estimated that the additional tax on everybody's paycheck would total around $1,000,000,000 a year.

and I would see light instead of darkness. "Sure, I had always prayed. But it was always with doubt or saying, 'Give me this or else I won't believe.' Yes, that is how I prayed. I only wish I had known more about faith years ago."

"Now," she continues, "my husband is worried. He just started in business and is finding it hard. So remembering what you said and what I found out, I went to him this morning and I said to him, 'Don't worry, honey, take a day at a time. Have faith. Things will turn out all right.'"

"I KNOW HE was surprised to hear me talk that way, and he said, 'It is not as easy as you think.'"

"But I said to him, 'I know you believe in God, although I never heard you speak of Him. Just turn to Him and everything will be all right.'"

"This is the first time my husband and I ever talked together about God. My husband turned his face away from me. I noticed the tension in his face relaxed and in place of it I saw his eyes fill with tears. I knew then that I had said something which hit home. And this made us love each other so much more."

NOW THERE you have a story out of down-to-earth everyday life, where human problems are. Under the pressure of much trouble through the years this woman had developed such a negative way of thinking, so strong a worry tendency, that it was as if she had a brick wall around her mind. But through faith she became a changed person and the wall came tumbling down.

"Do you remember the great words in the Bible about faith moving mountains? Truly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, 'Be taken up and cast into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that what he says will come to pass, it shall be done for him." Marquis Childs Lincoln Vs. Douglas Days Are Gone

WASHINGTON.—With the way cleared for national televised debates the two Presidential candidates confront one of the major tests of the entire campaign.

With each of the three networks simultaneously giving an hour of prime time to several exchanges, Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy will be appealing to an audience of at least a hundred million Americans.

FOR THE NETWORKS as well as the two political parties this is an experiment. As passed by Congress the bill repealing the equal time provision applies only to the 1960 campaign. Without repeal of the provision requiring that the same amount of time be given to all candidates, it has been impossible, as Frank Stanton of CBS and other network executives have been saying for years, to give the Republican and Democratic nominees free periods to date the issues.

Equal time means "accessions" can be law demanded a nationwide forum. When the whole matter was first put forward the inevitable comparison with the Lincoln-Douglas debates was raised. But, as both the public and those engaged in this experiment should realize, a few changes have occurred since the Rail Splitter and the Little Giant met in those momentous debates.

IN 1858 the entire nation was caught up in the conflict over slavery. This was an issue involving the fiercest passions and the gravest concerns of citizens everywhere and Lincoln and Douglas debated with complete seriousness all its moral and constitutional aspects. In that simpler era there were few competing distractions and a large public followed the discussion with concentrated interest as it was reported in the press of the nation.

As every contestant for public office knows, the competing distractions today are relentless and unceasing and many of them come via TV. To deprive the mass audience for an hour of such fare as Gansmoke and The Untouchables will be a test not only of the speakers but of the audience itself. Will they listen to a serious debate or will the ratings show a number of sets blacked out?

THIS RAISES the question of the subjects to be debated. Today no single issue

Lobster-Size Shrimp

OCALA, Fla. (AP)—A fresh water shrimp big as a lobster was netted in crystal-clear Silver Springs near here.

The 26-inch monster was trapped after weeks of effort as it ventured out of a deep underwater cavity from which the huge stream flows.

Except in size, the fresh water giant looks about like the salt water variety.

To Your Good Health Hare-Lip Problem Should Be Met Immediately

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Dr. Molner: I found your articles on hare-lip most interesting. I have a hare-lip and cleft palate. Thirty-odd years ago they did things differently, and I had 12 operations, one each year.

"Seven months ago I had a little boy with a double hare-lip. He has had two operations already and his lip looks lovely. Do you have any pamphlets on hare-lip?"—Mrs. D. M.

No, no pamphlets, because I can say in a short space what ought to be said. And so can you—and so you HAVE. Your letter will be of great value to anyone having a child with the problem. Hare-lip has not received much public notice. It isn't as "dramatic" as heart surgery, the wonder drugs, and some of the other impressive medical achievements.

We ought to remember that medicine and surgery have been advancing steadily in a great many phases. Some advances are so sensational that they immediately capture the imagination. Others are so gradual that they don't lend themselves to startling articles.

Correction of hare-lip is one of the things that has improved gradually, and your letter tells very vividly how much progress has been made over 30 years.

When you were a child, Mrs. D. M., there were plenty of children who didn't have any operation at all on the lip. Others, like you, had to have a long series of operations.

Today surgeons know how to make a larger amount of correction with a single operation, and in many instances the first operation is performed when the baby is only a few weeks old, sometimes when you can just about measure their age in days!

Years ago, when proper technique was just developing, it was not surprising that some doctors didn't know what could be done about a hare-lip. These days every doctor is aware of the problem, aware of what can be done, and aware that it can, and in most cases should, be done as early in life as possible. And, of course, doctors know what a tragedy it is for a child to be allowed to grow up without having this corrective surgery performed.

Progress has been slow but steady, and it has done immeasurable good. I don't have a leaflet on the subject because, although people may not be aware of the facts (since nobody cares about a hare-lip until one of his children has it), there is scant risk that a parent will remain in ignorance when a child is born with this particular defect.

These days, if hare-lip occurs, the parents are told right off that the defect can be corrected and should be tackled at once.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am anxious about a strange set of symptoms which I try to laugh off, but they are not imaginary. My speech is jumbled and I feel in a hazy, sleepy mood. I mix the first letters of words like a 'cold day' instead of 'cold day.' I can't concentrate. Something important mentioned only an hour before, is out of my head unless it is written down. Please suggest something, if only a source of information on this."—L. B.

Ups And Downs

Shirley MacLaine has her ups and downs because, if you will pardon the ancient, wheezy and completely unpardonable pun, she's an elevator operator. That's Jack Lemmon with his hand, because he's in love with her. They both have their ups and downs, romantically speaking, in the comedy, "The Apartment."

'The Apartment' Is Pathos-Comedy

Billy Wilder's newest film, "The Apartment," is a comedy, but that description only skims the surface of the film's intent. It also contains pathos, near-tragedy, satire and a wealth of observation on life.

"The Apartment," which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre through United Artists release, is a biting view of deed and action in the aspirin age, with emphasis on the pursuit of money and sex. It stars Jack Lemmon, Shirley MacLaine and Fred MacMurray.

The supporting cast of "The Apartment" is headed by Ray Walston, David Lewis, Jack Kruschen, Joan Shawlee, Edie Adams (in her movie debut) and Hope Holiday.

A Mirisch Company presentation, "The Apartment" was produced and directed by Billy Wilder, who also collaborated on the screenplay with L.A.L. Diamond.

Joseph LaShelle was chief cinematographer, and the background score was written by Adolph Deutsch.

"The Apartment" was filmed in part on location in New York City, the high spot of which was the utilization of what the cast referred to as the $38,000,000 prop. The "prop" is a brand-new commercial building in the financial district, the exterior and lobby of which served as part of the main office of the huge insurance office in which most of the characters in the film work.

For the studio shooting in Hollywood, some ten major sets were constructed, at a cost in excess of $400,000. These included the exterior of a New York street, the interior of the huge insurance office, the lobby of the building, a saloon, a restaurant, and, among others, the apartment of the title.

Beauty Gets Witchy Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Karen Dolan is an 18-year-old singer and dancer who is beautiful enough to be a Las Vegas chorus girl—and was.

Her ambition, however, is to become a movie actress. She studied with drama coaches. Finally she was spotted by a talent scout who sent her over for an audition for "Jack the Giant Killer."

The director, producer and other executives raved about her beauty and signed her on the spot.

"I can't tell you how thrilled I was," she says, "until I arrived on the set."

No one, it seems, had told her she plays a witch in the movie. Her beautiful face and red hair is covered with a mask that would scare Boris Karloff.

A Private Set

Most of the furniture, including lamps, tables, bed and art objects used to dress the apartment in "The Apartment," were loaned to the production by Director Billy Wilder from his extensive private collection.

High Star

Dan Aykroyd plays a leading role in "The Crowded Sky," drama of a group of people on an airliner, showing Friday at the Ritz.

Land Of The Pharaohs

These Egyptian slaves are killing themselves (literally) to get the Pharaoh's tomb ready in time, and an assassin is hiding his time. It's designed as a thief-proof tomb, and the sounds of doom as the stones fall into place over the dead potestate may well give you a chill. In "Land of the Pharaohs," an unusually good movie starring the late Jack Hawkins.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

A study of the classics shows that the deepest laughter comes with a dose of pathos.

Billy Wilder's "The Apartment" is an excellent proof of the above statement, for it is, the finest comedy of the year, bar none. Wilder acted as producer and director, and collaborated with the brilliant L. A. L. Diamond on the script, with much better results than the two achieved with "Some Like It Hot."

Essentially, "The Apartment" deals with an ambitious young schmoe (Jack Lemmon) who finds promotions become easier when he lends the key to his apartment to adulterous-minded executives, and a mixed-up girl (Shirley MacLaine) as the object of Lemmon's affections whom he finds in his apartment at the wrong moment.

Out of this simple and rather sordid plot, Wilder and Diamond fashioned a tale that is cynical but moral, sophisticated but sentimental, tragic but warmly humorous, and handled with a deftness and compassion one finds all too seldom in Hollywood.

All four principals give remarkable performances.

Lemmon never falls into a cliché, yet manages an uneasy balance between pity and humor. He's a schmoe alright, but a likeable one. Miss MacLaine is basically decent, but has a weakness for men. She is touching and sensitive in her portrayal of a girl who chased one rainbow too many.

Fred MacMurray gives an unusually fine performance as a smooth but ruthless executive; and Jack Kruschen is excellent as the neighbor doctor who gets things straightened out between Lemmon and his playful girlfriend. "The Apartment," in lesser hands, could have been just another sordid and pointless comedy.

Chicago and other points are getting riled up over the showings of "Psycho." Some people have been claiming the Hitchcock masterpiece is sadistic and depraved. It is noted that "strong men rush from their seats in disgust, and parents drag their children by the hair from the theatre."

Well, this may be true of some people, but then it takes all kinds. Actually, "Psycho," aside from its entertainment interest, is an excellent psychological study. I daresay those "strong" men who rushed away in disgust also would turn purple upon visiting the back ward of a mental hospital, or upon attending with police the scene of a murder?

"Psycho" isn't half as bad as what one gets from B-grade movies, or from the TV detective and shoot-'em-up stories.

I think the trouble lies in the fact that any film of quality is bound to be misunderstood by those least capable of judging quality. A truly good film, perhaps, makes its story seem a bit too real to some people.

There are several good movies making the return circuit. Here's a run-down on two of the better ones:

"Land of the Pharaohs" tells an engrossing story of an early Egyptian ruler, the first to build a tomb for himself that robbers could never penetrate. His pyramid was destined to become the greatest, and here lies a deep moral that parallels our own time — the Pharaoh, in pushing completion of his costly monument, found it necessary to enslave his formerly free subjects. Jack Hawkins gives a notable performance as the strong-willed Pharaoh who is determined to gain immortality with all his earthly riches about him, and he has a good supporting cast.

One of the finest scenes in "Land of the Pharaohs" is near the end, with the final stones thumping into place to seal the doorless pyramid, and it is the sound of doom to those who have accompanied the deceased Pharaoh to his final resting place.

"Battle Hymn" will seem corny to a lot of people, but it has the kind of pathos of which real drama is made.

And its drama is real, for it is the true story of Col. Dean Hess, the killer pilot whose adventures led him to religion in an attempt to find "the answer."

Rock Hudson gives a sensitive interpretation of Hess, as he leads a pack of Korean orphans to safety, searching all the while for the elusive answer and finally finding it under his nose, so to speak. Some of the language may seem a bit stilted at times, but people actually do react that way under similar conditions, and they feel what they are saying.

The orphans, to anyone who has ever been in the Orient, will seem to be incredibly clean, but that is one of the few lesser points in the film. If you aren't ashamed of getting a lump in your throat, see "Battle Hymn."

No Set Shortage

The ten principal sets constructed for Billy Wilder's "The Apartment," contained enough lumber to build a dozen three-bedroom houses.

'Battle Hymn' Star Feels Hess Meeting A Bright Point

"There are a few experiences in each man's life which remain blazing beacons in his memory. 'Battle Hymn' is one of mine."

Rock Hudson speaking.

The big, handsome actor plays Col. Dean Hess, the famous flying parson, in "Battle Hymn" a Universal International picture in Technicolor and Cinemascope which opens Wednesday at the Sahara Theatre.

Rock is a man who thinks of his life in terms of milestones. His marriage to Phyllis Gates is the brightest, but career-wise there are two others which are equally significant.

The first happened in Portland, Oregon, on a night in 1952. As a minor player in "Bend of the River" with James Stewart, Rock has been sent north for the world premiere featuring personal appearances by Stewart, Julie Adams and other members of the cast. Suddenly he found himself on a giant grandstand in the middle of a heavy rain facing a drenched audience of 10,000 people who had gathered in the streets in front of and adjacent to the Broadway Theatre. There was tremendous applause, whistling, stamping.

Rock didn't know it then but that night a star was born. Studio executives present for the premiere festivities were amazed to see the public reaction to a young man who had appeared in only five pictures. The wheels began turning at U-I to build a ladder to the stars for Hudson.

The second milestone came with Rock's casting in "Magnificent Obsession" opposite Jane Wyman. Fifteen years earlier the same story had established Robert Taylor as Hollywood's ranking dramatic leading man. It made Hudson one of the top ten box office stars.

The third beacon shining on the path of Hudson's success is "Battle Hymn" and for the unusual reason that Rock has been intimately associated with the character he portrayed.

Col. Hess came to Hollywood as technical adviser on the story of his life and became close friends with Hudson.

"At first," said Hudson, "for a week after meeting Dean, I was afraid I'd never be able to portray him properly. Then I came to know the serene, understanding, almost mystic quality of the man. He has never been an actor, knows nothing about the theatre or about a camera, but, strangely, he has given me more confidence than any other individual I have ever known. To know him is an inspiration."

Out of the great strength and compassion that are Dean Hess, Hudson has forged a character which he believes is his most significant dramatic portrayal to date.

"And," he says, "I've gained one of the great friendships of my life. Dean Hess is the finest man I have ever known."

Circus Performer Becomes Electrician

By BOB MARION

Things are usually looking up for Roger Brown, a cheerful little man, who looks up at most things.

This is scarcely odd, because Brown stands only 48 inches high and has an optimistic outlook on life. He is probably the only man in Big Spring who, at 70 pounds, can complain of being over-weight.

The optimistic attitude probably stems from the years he spent in public entertainment as a trick rider and exhibition rider, gun artist, knife thrower and high diver with circuses and rodeos. He has also been a master of ceremonies, a tap dancer and a card dealer in Las Vegas, Nev.

19 YEARS

Brown said he spent about 19 years as an entertainer. He started as a trick rider and gun artist at 11 and quit at 22 to go into the aircraft industry when his family began to grow.

Now 46, Brown considers the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus and The 101 Ranch Rodeo as being the most outstanding with which he worked. He adds that he has forgotten most of the others. He never traveled with circuses.

"You can't settle down, save and raise a family when you are on the road all the time," Brown said explaining why he left the circus.

TOURED TOGETHER

The pair toured for awhile helping each other in their acts. "We had a mutual agreement that we wouldn't get rough with each other," Brown said with a twinkle in his eyes.

As the family began to grow, the Brown's left the entertainment world. They now have four sons and two daughters ranging from 15 years to eight months. Their last professional appearance was at a benefit in 1958. However, the act had been changed. Brown and his wife used their older children for assistants.

During his early years as a performer, Brown rode a Shetland pony and popped at gas filled balloons with a single action revolver. Sometimes he did western trick riding.

With rodeos Brown explained that he did exhibition riding. "I rode, or tried to ride, everything they had," he grinned.

ACCIDENT

One ride on a buffalo led to the most serious accident of his career. The buffalo ran into a rail and broke Brown's leg in five places. That didn't keep the little man down though. Both he and the leg cast were riding in parades two weeks later.

Brown began knife throwing, like many youngsters, by first practicing with an ice pick. Gradually he picked up the knack and another knife thrower, Sailer Harris, helped polish his technique.

A throwing knife must be well balanced, and the thrower must have a keen sense of judgment and timing, Brown explained.

"When you are in practice, you can tell exactly how many times the knife is going to flip before it hits the target," Brown said.

When Brown left show business he went to work in Wichita, Kan. as a general inspector for Boeing Aircraft. Brown came to Big Spring several weeks ago and is employed with C&M Electric Company where he does regular commercial wiring as a journeyman helper.

HAD LICENSE

"Electronics and electricity has always fascinated me," Brown explained, adding that he first became interested while attending Oklahoma University where he studied stage craft and production which included lighting and electricity. He once held a jour-

GARDEN TALK

Special Plant Food For Roses Is Being Tested

By BRUCE FRAZIER

We have instant coffee, and instant tea, and instant soup, and now instant rose food. I am trying a brand of instant rose food in my rose garden, and surely the roses need something to pep them up. The summer heat has been pretty rough on them.

I came across the produce which is manufactured in San Antonio and it looks like it may be pretty good for West Texas problems. It is an acid product which should be helpful in our alkali soils, though one would never use enough for it to make a great difference in a large area of garden. The best part I have found is the unusual combination of plant foods, it is a 9-56-8 fertilizer. In case you forgot what that is from a previous column on fertilizers, it means that there is 9 parts nitrogen, 56 parts phosphoric acid, and 8 parts potash per hundred.

The high phosphoric acid content should be exactly the thing to encourage fall blooms, and in addition to these standard plant foods it contains iron, zinc, copper, and manganese and magnesium chelates. The compounds are supposed to combat chlorosis (the yellow color) in roses. Well, I said all this is supposed to do this or that, and I am busy finding out how well it does these things in my own rose garden. I'll try to report on results before long. People are always interested in trying and testing any new products, and so am I.

I have found another handy thing around roses, and that is a hay or trash mulch over the soil between the plants. This mulch is just a covering of decaying organic material that helps keep the moisture in the soil and cut down evaporation. It also helps smother weeds.

Oh, another thing I have noticed about roses this time of the year. A great many of them have sent up sucker shoots from below the bud area on the rootstock. This means that the rootstock is putting up a competing bush, and it will not have the variety of flower you expected when you planted a fine rose.

So watch for these wild shoots coming from the ground line or just below it, and if you find single roses or rootstock type flowers on these branches, then cut them off as near the trunk of the bush as possible. They are easy to spot about this time of the year, and removing them now will allow the plant to continue to grow and develop its name-variety top.

If you have a garden question, write to Bruce Frazier in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Drunkenness, Traffic Crowd Police Docket

Moving traffic violations, 183, and cases of drunkenness, 178, made up the bulk of municipal court cases prosecuted during July, according to the monthly police department report.

The two most frequent offenses constituted more than half of the total 578 cases processed by police last month.

There were 33,632 in fines assessed for drunkenness, and $1,556 in fines assessed for moving traffic violations. All other cases brought total fines to $6,556.

Fines were handed out in 479 instances. Ninety-nine cases were either appealed, transferred to county authorities, dismissed, released, or turned over to the juvenile officer and the offender's parents.

The police report shows there were 22 cases transferred to the county, 35 appealed, 38 either released or dismissed, three turned over to the juvenile officer, and one turned over to the offender's parents. The 35 cases appealed constituted $846 in fines.

During the month there were $4,705 received as cash, $2,709 in fines served out in jail, $35 paid on fines previously pending, and $347 in previously pending fines which were served out in jail.

There were $475 in fines pending at the first of the month, $608 paid at the window on parking tickets, $167 paid on warrants, and $90 paid on continued cases.

A total of 1,488 overtime parking tickets, 241 moving violation tickets, and 72 parking violation tickets were issued during the month.

Other advantages: Then too, there are other advantages, he points out. "Midgets have a tendency to look young," Brown noted. "You have to have a lot of wrinkles before you begin to look your age. I've gone to the theatre for half price after I was 32-years-old—and with a mustache." Brown laughed.

Right now, Brown is staying with his sister, Mrs. Jo Palome who operates a beauty shop. He is looking for a house for his family.

His plans for the future include the possibility of opening an appliance fix-it shop.

He Asked For It

During the location filming of M-G-M's outdoor drama, "The Law and Jake Wade," Richard Widmark became known for his penchant for ice cream. When the company returned to the studio for interior sequences, Widmark celebrated his birthday with the largest ice-cream sundae ever created by the M-G-M Commissary. It was contained in a two-foot tall glass goblet, and was presented to the ice cream lover by his co-stars, Robert Taylor and Patricia Owens.
