Former Webb Man Nearing 'Space' Record

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Barring an unexpected hitch, two airmen will hang up a new record today for duration of a make-believe trip to the moon.

Data from their experiment should bring manned space flight a step nearer, scientists at the School of Aviation Medicine predict.

A pair of jet pilots—Capt. William D. Habluetzel, 36, and 1st Lt. John W. Hargreaves, 30, from Castle Air Force Base, Calif., started the latest test Aug. 15.

At 6:30 p.m. (CST) they will have spent 13 days, 20 hours and 41 minutes sealed in a steel space cabin—one minute more than the present record. T. Sigs. Hobart Craft, 36, of Wedowee, Ala., and William Henderson, 30, of Alice, Tex., posted that mark Feb. 18.

Dr. William Welch, project officer for the test at Brooks Air Force Base here, said Habluetzel and Hargreaves presumably are keeping track and will know when the moment passes.

There'll be no special observance outside their 8-by-12 foot chamber. Instead, scientists expect the pair to go right ahead with their mock cruise through space.

Researchers set up the test with a twofold purpose—to check assorted equipment which may be used in space ships and to study further the physical and mental reactions of men under conditions they would encounter outside the earth's atmosphere.

Dr. Welch reported men and equipment have come through "very satisfactorily." He said they should be able to continue until Sept. 1 at least, but scientists are ready to remove the pair at a moment's notice if there's any hint of danger.

Habluetzel is a native of Ingleside, Texas, and was stationed at Webb AFB in Big Spring from October, 1956, until February, 1959, as an instructor pilot and academic instructor.

He received his bachelor of science degree in biology at the University of Houston in 1959, and has had considerable training both in biology and in chemistry. Dr. Welch also is a Texan, and is a native of West. He attended Abilene Christian College in Abilene, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in chemistry, and Texas A&M in Bryan, where he received his master's degree and his doctorate in biochemistry.

Heiress Seeks Independence

NEW YORK (AP)—Gamble Benedict Porumbeanu, 19, an heiress who eloped last April, initiated court action today to remove her grandmother as guardian.

The grandmother, Katherine Geddes Benedict, has opposed the girl's marriage to Andrei Porumbeanu and also has opposed her efforts to get a larger allowance under an inheritance.

The acts of the grandmother "are inconsistent with my rights as an emancipated and married woman," the heiress said through her attorney, Louis Jay Brecher, in State Supreme Court.

As a preliminary move, Brecher applied for court authority to "break the seal" on papers whereby the grandmother was appointed guardian in 1951.

Justice Henry Epstein reserved decision. Mrs. Porumbeanu, who is expecting a child, is scheduled to inherit approximately $500,000 when she becomes 21 on Jan. 15, 1961.

Greene Honored With First Life Membership

West Texas chamber of commerce managers Saturday paid tribute to the "daddy" of professional chamber work in this region—James H. Greene.

Mr. Greene, retired manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, was presented with their association's first honorary life membership. He received a framed copy of the authorizing resolution together with a plaque at the hands of Bill Quimby, one of his successors as head of the Big Spring chamber.

Quimby cited Mr. Greene for 42 years in the profession of chamber of commerce work, 20 of them in Big Spring. His first experience dated back more than 50 years as a volunteer worker at Colorado City where he later put in 22 years as chamber manager.

Mr. Greene is a past president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association and

Ferry, Cargo Ship Collide

NEW YORK (AP)—A ferryboat loaded with office-bound passengers and a cargo ship collided today in foggy weather on the Hudson River just off lower Manhattan.

Police said at least nine persons were being taken to hospitals. The ferry, the Chatham, owned by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, was en route from Hoboken, N.J., to Manhattan's Barclay street pier.

The other vessel, the Seatrain Georgia, is a 508-foot, 8,225-ton vessel that carries loaded freight cars as cargo. The vessel was en route from Savannah, Ga., to Edgewater, N.J.

A tugboat nosed the ferryboat to a pier. An officer of the Moran Towing Co. reported the ferry "seriously damaged."

The Seatrain Georgia proceeded slowly after the collision for her berth in Edgewater, N.J. An official of the company which owns the ship said she apparently was not damaged.

He said Seatrain Georgia normally carries a crew of 45 men and a cargo of "around 85" freight cars.

Police Crack Down In Dixie Race Violence

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—After two days of racial violence, emergency police powers were in effect in Jacksonville today. Negro leaders called off sit-in demonstrations at downtown lunch counters.

A wave of vandalism swept through Negro sections Sunday night, climaxed by the throwing of fire bombs—glass bottles filled with kerosene—into a grocery, a curb market and an automobile. No one was hurt and damage was minor.

A gang looted a filling station and terrorized the attendants. Windows were broken in more than 15 stores as bands roved the city in cars throwing bricks and other missiles.

Police arrested 138 persons—twice the number for a normal Sunday. Asst. Police Chief W. A. Miller said gangs of Negro juveniles were responsible for most of the trouble.

JUST THUGS "This violence is the stuff they'd like to do all the time," Miller said. "The present situation has merely afforded them the opportunity."

Mayor Hayden Burns invoked emergency police powers at 10 p.m. Sunday. He banned any street gathering of more than four persons and unnecessary auto traffic.

A Negro mass meeting Sunday called for a federal investigation of the racial violence.

An estimated 1,400 at the meeting shouted approval of a resolution asking President Eisenhower and the Department of Justice to investigate. The group vowed to continue picketing "until we have accomplished our objectives."

But later the Jacksonville Youth Council of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People called off sit-ins.

FORCES OF REASON "We do not do this out of fear of physical injury but to allow responsible citizens of the community, colored and white, an opportunity to marshal the forces of reason and common sense so that peace and order may be preserved," the council said.

Rodney Hurst, council president, said, "If no positive effort to establish lines of communication between both races is forthcoming in the near future and no steps taken to redress our grievances we will have no recourse except to resume public demonstrations."

In the meantime, he said, Negroes will be asked to refrain from buying in downtown Jacksonville stores.

The resolution asking a federal investigation of disorders which began Saturday contended there was "failure of local officers to provide adequate protection for law-abiding citizens who were attacked by a mob with bats, ax handles and clubs in full view of law-enforcement officers."

STRANGERS A group of white men who police said were strangers in Jacksonville gathered near Woolworth's store Saturday morning and a group of Negroes gathered on the other side of the street. When the two groups started toward each other, police prevented a clash.

The groups then broke up into smaller ones and disappeared. Later a number of isolated fistfights was reported in various sections.

All available police in the city and county were called to duty and Sunday officers kept a tight watch on potential trouble spots.

More than a score of persons were injured Saturday but most hurts were minor. Three white persons required hospital treatment.

Those arrested—25 of them were white persons—were charged with a wide variety of offenses such as fighting, loitering, carrying firearms and inciting to riot.

Other guests will be school board members, school principals, Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC; Joe Pickle managing editor of the Herald; E. S. Murphy, assistant superintendent - business; Mrs. Hazel Lawrence, TSTA president; and George Rice, CTA president.

Supt. Floyd Parsons will introduce guests and new teachers. Dr. Hunt will speak on the city capital improvements program during the second session which starts at 10:45 a.m. with Supt. Parsons presiding. Business meetings and announcements will close the session.

Beginning at 1:30 p.m., teachers will disburse to their respective school buildings for faculty meetings with principals.

Faculty meetings will be held in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. Following the morning session, teachers were to report to the schools to which they have been assigned so that principals can familiarize them with their specific duties.

Parsons introduced each of the new teachers along with their principals.

Classes will begin Wednesday morning. Parsons welcomed the new members of the faculty, some of whom are returning members but assigned to different schools or different positions. He went into the fundamental policies of the system, talking about such things as pay checks, teacher retirement, credit union, professional organization membership, sick leave, personal leave, and line of authority.

Sam Anderson, assistant superintendent, curriculum, dealt more with the actual mechanics of the instructional program and the working relationship of teachers and principals, and philosophies of education. Pat Murphy, assistant superintendent-business, was present to answer questions pertaining to finance.

The orientation was held in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. Following the morning session, teachers were to report to the schools to which they have been assigned so that principals can familiarize them with their specific duties.

Way Is Clearer For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today sent President Eisenhower the much-disputed bill increasing federal grants to the states to help pay medical costs of needy persons over 65.

The measure, which also makes some changes in the Social Security system, was one of the major items that leaders declared must be disposed of before Congress quits. Final action marked a big step toward adjournment, probably some time later this week.

The medical care plan is expected to cost the federal government 202 million dollars the first year and the states $1 billion. In five years, the federal cost is expected to rise to $40 million a year and the cost to the states to 180 million.

The bill, as sent to Eisenhower, was a compromise of different bills passed previously by the Senate and House.

LONG DELAYED The House approved the compromise Friday. Senate action was delayed chiefly because of objections by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.).

Long held the floor through most of a marathon session Saturday, protesting Senate concessions to the House viewpoint in framing the compromise.

Eisenhower is considered certain to sign the bill. Top administration officials sat in on the Senate-House conference and approved the final version.

The plan for federal-state grants from general revenues to help the needy elderly with their medical bills follows the general form urged by the administration as opposed to a broader proposal financed by higher Social Security taxes that was argued by Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy.

Before the afternoon conference committee meeting, the House arranged to devote its time to legislation affecting only the District of Columbia.

Long's speech, which he denied was an attempt to filibuster, upset leadership plans to send the measure to the White House before the weekend. The House passed it Friday.

MEDICAL BILLS The bill liberalizes Social Security benefits somewhat, but its chief provision authorizes federal grants of about 200 million dollars a year initially to help pay medical expenses of persons on the old age assistance rolls or with incomes barely above that level.

Once it is acted on, the Senate planned to take up a catch-all appropriation bill carrying 190 million of 265 million dollars in additional foreign aid funds asked by President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower had protested that cuts made in a compromise $3,722,350,000 foreign aid money bill passed by Congress last Friday jeopardized the nation's security.

The House and the Senate went ahead and passed the bill, but on Saturday the Senate Appropriations Committee voted to give Eisenhower most of what he had requested. It acted after hearing testimony from Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon.

MONEY ADDED The committee added to the catch-all money bill 115 million dollars for foreign economic aid and administrative expenses and half of the 150 million dollars asked for the Development Loan Fund.

The vote was not announced, but the committee's action seemed certain to stir up a Senate floor fight and, if upheld by the Senate, to run into even stiffer opposition in the House.

But the key issue remaining to be resolved before Congress adjourns is the minimum wage bill. A bill passed by the Senate, sponsored by Sen. Kennedy, would increase the present $1 wage floor to $1.25 in several steps and extend the protection of the wage-hour law to four million more workers.

The House has passed a bill that would raise the minimum wage to $1.15 and limit the additional coverage to about 1,400,000 workers.

Kennedy said after a second meeting of the conference committee Friday that the House conferees apparently were unwilling to make any concessions. He has indicated he is determined to stand fast on what he regards as key coverage provisions in the Senate bill.

Mrs. Powers Heading Home

PARIS (AP)—Barbara Powers, wife of convicted U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, headed home today. She left Paris with a wave and a faint smile, in contrast to her worn and pale appearance when she arrived Friday from Moscow after the trial of her husband.

She was accompanied by her mother and her doctor. "I do enjoy Paris. Everybody has been very nice to me here and I am very grateful to everyone for their kindness," she said. "I feel much more relaxed after my four-day visit in Paris. It has soothed my soul."

Commissioners Deny Requests

A request from the City-County Health Unit for an extra nurse was presented to the Howard County Commissioners Court Monday morning. The court denied the request.

It also denied a request by Pauline Petty, county clerk, that an extra deputy she has had in her office for the vacation season be retained an extra three months. Mrs. Petty also asked that her expenses to a convention of county clerks and district clerks in El Paso be paid by the county. The court denied the request.

Officials Return From Convention

Wade Choate, district court clerk, Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, and Jerry Spence, court reporter, have returned from the annual convention of the County and District Court Clerks' Association held last weekend in El Paso.

Mrs. Edna Smith, county clerk of Ector County, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year. The next annual convention will be in Houston.

Torrents Of Rain Up To 10 Inches Bring Flood Threats

Torrents of up to 10 inches of rain touched off danger of floods in low areas along three streams in South Texas Monday.

The Corpus Christi Weather Bureau reported that 10 inches fell four miles south of Tilden, about 60 miles south of San Antonio.

At Pleasanton, 30 miles south of San Antonio, an unofficial 6 to 7 inches was reported by radio station KBOP and other sources said "nearly 5 inches fell in the Atascosa County town. Mrs. Tom Brito of Pleasanton said a gauge at her home caught nearly 4 inches in about 45 minutes.

Karnes City in the same general area got more than 3 inches and Palacios on the Gulf Coast measured 2.98 inches. The Weather Bureau at Corpus Christi predicted bankfull stages and some flooding along the Atascosa, Middle Nueces and Lower Frio rivers through Monday.

Forecasters warned of possible flash floods and rising water over some highways Sunday night. Similar conditions were predicted on some Gulf drainage streams.

Early Monday, scattered showers fell in the coastal sections. Two cars collided on U.S. 87 near San Antonio Sunday during a heavy rain killing Stephany Miller, 15, of Victoria, and Mrs. Loren N. Fryar, 42, wife of an Army major at Ft. Sam Houston.

Houston got .19 inch of rain

Sunday setting a record for prolonged precipitation in that city. The city received rain on 21 out of 22 days by Sunday, topping the previous record by one day and making Aug. 7-28 the longest rainy period in the history of the Weather Bureau in Houston. The total rainfall for the month so far is 4.02 inches. In August, 1959, it rained 6.99 inches.

A cold front moved into extreme northwestern Oklahoma Monday and covered the upper portion of the Texas Panhandle. Scattered showers fell along and to the north of the front but they were more numerous in Oklahoma than in Texas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 66 at Dalhart to 83 at Galveston.

The five-day forecast issued Monday calls for temperatures near or slightly above normal in eastern and central Texas and 1 to 3 degrees above normal in western Texas. Light to moderate rainfall is forecast.

Winds of up to 63 m.p.h. hit the Beaumont area Sunday but there were no reports of damage. Official rainfall totals for the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. Monday included Victoria 1.11, Texarkana .65, Beeville .38, Alice .48, Luling 1.18, Uvalde .68, Van Horn .33, Orange .56, Brackettville 3.50, Imogene 4.50, Pettus 4.50, Refugio .81, George West 2.05, and Taylor .80.

DEAR ABBY.

KEEP 'EM CLEAN

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen my problem in your column but I imagine other women have the same problem. First I want to state, I am no youngster. I am married with a family. We have our social life as other couples do, but I find myself thoroughly disgusted with the company if someone tells a dirty story.

I want to disappear. My husband says it's time I grew up and got over it, but I can't help it, Abby. I have sat through evenings—red-faced and tight-lipped. I don't want to break friendships by telling them off. How does a lady act under the circumstances?

DISGUSTED WITH FILTH
DEAR DISGUSTED: A lady educates her friends to keep the conversation clean in her presence.

She can be subtle, sweet and altogether charming in the way she lets folks know she doesn't "hear 'em" and doesn't care to "hear 'em."

DEAR ABBY: I started going bowling and to choir practice with a fellow my parents look a dislike to. They told me I couldn't go with him anymore, but I saw him anyway. Well to make a long story short, we lost our heads and now I am pregnant. I am 19 and he is 20. We love each other and want to get married. We know we can be happy, but my parents say if I marry him they will disown me. His parents are on our side and are willing to help us. What should I do?

IN A JAM
DEAR IN: If you love each other and he can support you and you want to get married, get married. Your parents will forgive you in time, no matter what they say now.

DEAR ABBY: I am 55 and my wife is 47. We've been married 29 years and have children and grandchildren. My wife is a very attractive woman for her age but lately she used so much gook on her face that I am ashamed to be seen with her. She looks false and cheap and foolish. If a man tried to pick her up while my back was turned I would not blame him for trying. She is a fine lady otherwise. How can I convince her not to put all that stuff on her face? She won't listen to me.

IGNORED
DEAR IGNORED: Women rarely listen to their husbands in matters of make-up—but they should. Enlist the cooperation of a few well-groomed women friends whose opinion your wife respects. Together you might be able to penetrate the gook barrier.

CONFIDENTIAL TO D. E.: Go back to school and graduate. An education is a collection of gems that will grow more precious with the years.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of The Big Spring Herald, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Crash Proves Fatal
MONAHAN'S (AP)—Neo Travis, 15, of Baton Rouge, injured in a car-truck collision four days ago, died Sunday.

Parents Summoned In School Case

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—School Supt. Z. T. Fortescue called in today Negro parents who tried to register their children at a segregated school last week.

Fortescue said he would remind the parents that Port Arthur schools could lose state funds and accreditation if integrated without approval by voters.

He said the parents of seven or eight Negro pupils sought to register them in the all-white Franklin grade school. Fortescue said he had no authority to register the youths.

That 1943 Copper Penny, It Just Neverwas, Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—You think you have a 1943 copper penny? And it may be worth $10,000. The federal mint says it isn't so.

Leland Howard, assistant director of the mint, said Sunday no copper pennies were made in 1943. That was the year the mint began turning out the wartime zinc-coated steel pennies because of a lack of copper. Howard said there are two con-mon ways of faking 1943 coppers: (1) by copper-plating one of the steel pennies of that year and (2) by changing the date on a genuine copper of another year.

In spite of the mint's denial, there have been many recent reports of 1943 coppers. The story goes that only 17 of them were made. A San Francisco bank teller claimed he was offered $10,000 for one.

MRS. LARRY GEORGEN

Mrs. Larry Georgen Honored at Coffee

Paintings by Mrs. Larry R. Georgen were exhibited Saturday in San Angelo when Mrs. Warren A. Farrow of Big Spring and Mrs. Nell Morgan of San Angelo honored the artist with a coffee.

The affair was held in the club room of the Town House Hotel in San Angelo. Feature of the exhibit was a life-size oil portrait of His Holiness, Pope John XXIII, which was formally presented to the new St. Mary's Elementary School at the close of the affair. Father Howard Meyer accepted the portrait for the school.

Other paintings were diverse in subject and technique, ranging from realistic to abstract. Many are decidedly Oriental in subject and style, inspired by Mrs. Georgen's years in Japan while her husband, Capt. Georgen now of Webb AFB, was stationed there.

Gift Shower Honors Two

FORSAN — Friends of Mrs. Lee Yarborough and Mrs. Charles Spurgin honored the two Friday evening with a shower of baby gifts at a party held in Fellowship Hall of the Forsan Baptist Church.

Each was presented with a corsage fashioned from yellow, pink and blue ribbons upon which were pinned rosebuds made from tiny socks. The tea table was covered with a lace cloth over green and centered with a doll surrounded in pastel shades of net ruffles. Miniature baby toys were used to further the theme.

Hostesses were Mrs. C. V. Wash, Mrs. T. R. Camp, Mrs. D. W. Day, Mrs. Bob Wash, Mrs. Charles Wash, Mrs. Henry Park, Mrs. Earl Beeson, Mrs. Doyle Whetsel and Mrs. Jesse Overton.

Many members of the Forsan Baptist Church attended the revival meeting in Eldorado Friday night which is being conducted by their pastor, the Rev. Darrell Robinson.

Pvt. Milton D. Bardwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bardwell, has completed his basic training in San Diego, Calif., and has reported to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for four weeks of advanced training.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Howard have been Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Collins and Elizabeth of Hawley and Mrs. H. T. Collins of Abilene. The women are sisters of Mrs. Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Overton and Lanella plan to be in Waco Tuesday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Mac Robinson and Tammy. The Robinsons have moved to Waco for him to attend Baylor University as an English major.

Diplomatic Corps Is Her Goal

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Statesmen who are used to tough talking diplomacy may be in for a change if 21-year-old Maria Cristina Solari Barrandeguy has her way.

The pretty blonde socialite is the first woman in Uruguay to get a "Doctor of Diplomacy" degree. She plans to use it too—and put for soft-soaping a husband.

While preparing for a law degree in 1957, Maria Cristina came across a 1918 law creating a diplomacy course in the University of Montevideo. When she applied for the job started university officials told her on such course existed.

After much debate, she proved her point and the course was opened. Only three enrolled—two girls and one boy. Maria Cristina finished the course in two years with high marks. The other two students are still studying.

So far Maria Cristina has had little luck in getting a diplomatic job with the Uruguayan government. Uruguayan diplomats are usually politicians appointed by the ruling party.

"I know it will be difficult to get a post in my country's foreign service," she says. "I have written to the United Nations, the Organization of American States and other international bodies applying for a job. I think I'll have a better chance there."

Maria Cristina is unmarried and plans to remain so at least for the time being. "Marriage may not fit into my career."

Mrs. Campbell Is Shower Honoree

A baby shower, given recently in Ackery, was in honor of Mrs. Bobby Campbell, who was presented gifts in the home of Mrs. Tommy Horton.

Several hostesses joined in giving the party, during which refreshments were served from a tea table covered in lace over pink. The center arrangement was a white bootee filled with pink rosebuds, which was also a gift to the honoree.

Relish For Meat

Canned applesauce and whole cranberry sauce mixed together make a twosome that tastes good with roast duck, chicken or turkey.

Spanish Note

Said to be Spanish: cooked green lima beans seasoned with nutmeg and parsley along with a good dollop of butter.

Spicy Basting

When you are making a meat loaf, try basting with a mixture of tomatoe juice, chili sauce, dry mustard and brown sugar.

Sallie Reed Feted At Gift Shower

Sallie Reed of Pine Bluff, Ark., was the honoree for a bridal shower Friday evening when friends entertained at the home of Mrs. Mark D. Lightfoot, 1509 Stadium.

Mrs. Reed will be married to Larry W. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Phillips, 1801 Mulberry, on Sept. 1, at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Bob Kiser, Mrs. Charles Wasson, Mrs. Doug Moody, Mrs. Kay Shaw, Mrs. James Brooks, Mrs. Don Bagwell, Mrs. Earl Brownrigg and Mrs. Lewis Garnett.

Linda Lightfoot registered the guests. Mrs. Kiser and Mrs. Moody served refreshments. The table was decorated to feature the bride's colors of blue and white; white organza was used over blue as a cover. The centerpiece was two hearts covered with blue net and centered with a miniature bridal couple.

Lamesa P-TA Board In Initial Meet Of Year

LAMESA (SC)—Members of the executive committee of the Lamesa High School Parent-Teacher Association have announced plans for five meetings this year following a meeting Tuesday afternoon in Turner's Caprock Room.

In addition to the programs, the committee will recommend that the unit hold its annual chili supper as a fund-raising project; to provide a future teacher scholarship; and to sponsor a social for all high school students after each home football game this fall.

In endorsing the various youth programs of the community, Mrs. Crump stated that representatives of the unit have been named to work with Youth Inc., the public library and the Citizens' Traffic Commission.

Sept. 27, the year's programs will begin officially with the annual Let's Get Acquainted Dinner in the high school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Teachers will be honored and introduced, and will then give highlights of the various departments of the school and the curriculum offered.

During American Education Week, parents of students will have an opportunity to go back to school. Plans are under way to feature a condensed schedule of a high school day at this meeting Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. Parents will follow their children's daily schedule and have an opportunity to visit their classrooms and teachers.

Jan. 12, the chili supper will be held; March 7 a youth and parent panel will be featured at the meeting during Public School Week in Texas. May 11, the unit will join other P-TA units of the city for a joint installation service in the auditorium when Mrs. Chesley McDonald of Sterling City, district president, will install officers, and the Lamesa High School Band will furnish the musical program.

Theme for the year is "Home Creates Community Strength Through Character Development." After classes start at the high school, two students will be elected by their fellow classmates to participate in all P-TA planning sessions and act as consultants for the P-TA executive committee for the year.

The following committee chairmen were named Tuesday: program and yearbook, Mrs. DeWitt Jordan; publicity and publication, Mrs. Horace Burger; membership, Mrs. Wayland Cox; recreation, Adolph Hollaman Jr.

Also, hospitality, Mrs. Harley Campbell; historian and library, Mrs. Jack Everett; character and spiritual education, Mrs. J. W. Kesner; attendance and telephone, Mrs. Bob Woodrum; Mrs. Willard McDonald, and Mrs. W. R. Tuttle.

Modern Fleet Of Mixers

Clyde McMahon operates a modern fleet of transit concrete trucks, all equipped with two-way radio to better serve this fast growing area. The concrete in your house was probably delivered in such a truck. And if you are planning a house in the future, chances are your contractor will call McMahon for the concrete. There is a good reason because McMahon's concrete is always a good mixture, with no rotten pockets. Either standard or special mixtures are available.

New Shipment Of Bikes Ready For School Term

A new shipment of bicycles received in time for the opening of school is waiting for you and your youngster at Cecil Thixton's cycle shop, 908 W. 3rd.

The bicycles are the finest in the famous Schwinn line and some of the models feature the spring front end which makes bicycling a new experience, as ordinary bumps and jolts are nearly ironed out of existence.

Cecil Thixton has all sizes and all price ranges in the Schwinn bicycles, available in many styles and color combinations. Thixton points out to parents that every Schwinn is completely guaranteed against all defects with no time limit.

In addition to the bicycles, Thixton has an extensive line of Harley-Davidson motorcycles and motor scooters.

Thixton's pride and joy is the Topper, a model with adjustable brakes, easy starting mechanism and a drive which resembles an automatic transmission and is very simple to operate. The Topper can go about 100 miles on one gallon of gasoline.

Smaller Harley-Davidson motorcycles Thixton recommends for transportation between school and home. These average up to 80 miles per gallon of gas. One has a five horsepower motor and the other has a seven and one-half horsepower motor.

Of course Thixton also carries a complete line of accessories for the cycle you may already have, and he maintains a complete shop for taking care of repairs.

Regardless of your needs in the bicycle, motorcycle or scooter line, there is no better place to go in all of Big Spring and the surrounding area than Cecil Thixton's Motorcycle and Bicycle Shop at 908 W. 3rd.

Demo Women Leave Today

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The wives of several leading Democrats start a four-day vote-seeking tour of Texas today.

In the group are Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the Texas senator running for vice president; Mrs. Price Daniel, wife of Texas' governor; Mrs. Sargent Shriver, sister of Sen. John F. Kennedy, democratic candidate for president, and Kennedy's sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Kennedy.

More than 5,000 invitations to the Houston reception today have been sent out.

The women, dressed in gay Kennedy-Johnson campaign outfits, include the wives of Texas congressmen Reps. Homer Thornberry of Austin, Albert Thomas of Houston, Clark Thompson of Galveston, Jim Wright of Fort Worth, J. T. Rutherford of Odessa and Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls.

The group leaves Houston at 7:15 p.m. today for Dallas.

About 5,000 women are expected for a reception at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in Dallas.

From Dallas the group goes to Wichita Falls for a 2:10 p.m. reception and a 3 p.m. tea with the Wichita Falls Women's Forum Club.

The group next stops at Amarillo for a 7:45 p.m. dinner Tuesday and a coffee at the Amarillo Federation of Women's Clubs at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

There will be a tea in El Paso Wednesday and a coffee at the Midland-Odessa Airport Thursday morning before the group files back to Washington.

Crowd Stops Nixon Parade

As well-wishers in Atlanta, Ga., greet Vice President Richard Nixon, his wife, Pat, hangs onto his arm for support during a downtown parade. The crowd, estimated by police at more than 200,000 persons, surrounded the car, causing a delay in the parade down Peachtree Street.

Frog, Live Wire, Fireman All Play Part In Dallas Boy's Escape From Death

DALLAS (AP)—A frog, a live wire and a fireman mowing his lawn all played a part in young Frankie White's narrow escape from death.

The 3-year-old boy's father, W. D. White, gave the boy a frog he found Saturday and the youth started across the street to show it to some friends. On the way he touched a wire dangling from an evaporative cooler in which there was a short.

Frankie fell unconscious to the ground.

Fireman Donald Whisenbunt who had been mowing his lawn ran to the boy and applied artificial respiration. The boy began to breathe after five minutes and was taken to a hospital. Five hours later he regained consciousness.

The youth was in good condition at the hospital.

Missing Waitress Is Found Murdered

HERRIN, Ill. (AP) — A pretty waitress kidnaped by a blond gunman from a lover's lane four days ago was found dead in a well at an abandoned farm house Sunday. She had been shot through the head.

The FBI, which took over the investigation from local authorities, apparently was without a major lead toward the identity of the killer.

The kidnaper fled with Mary Lily Ellen Roberts, 17, in a green and white car after seriously wounding her fiancé, John Bryant Jr., 20. The couple had been camped at a remote spot on Crab Orchard Lake in a wildlife refuge near Carbondale.

That was 18 miles southwest of the weed-choked farm where the body was found.

The FBI roped off the area, frequently used by picnickers, for a painstaking search for any articles the killer might have left. A spent cartridge and a bloodstained mattress found near the well were to be analyzed.

The body was brought out of the well in a wire basket after Police Chief Charles Edwards of nearby Marion, Ill., was lowered to the water level on a rope.

"Oh no, that's my Mary Lily," said Mary Lee Roberts, the mother.

Two men were cleared in the kidnap-slaying Sunday night after lengthy questioning. Both established alibis.

They were Joe Harry Milani, 32, an ex-convict of near Herrin who had been questioned in the case Friday, and Joseph Mattingly, 40, a St. Louis mechanic, arrested in nearby Murphysboro at the wheel of a bloodstained car.

Mattingly explained the blood was from cuts suffered when he smashed a car window with his fist after an argument with his wife. He proved he was at work in St. Louis at the time of the kidnaping.

Milani told investigators he was on a trip to Kansas at the time. An autopsy disclosed that Miss Roberts had been shot in the head just above the left ear.

Coroner Adolph Fluck said the pathologist had been unable to determine whether the girl had been raped. Her panties were not found with the body, otherwise fully clothed.

Bryant, a Carbondale barber, was shot through the face as he stepped from the car upon being accosted by a man he described as tall, blond and in his mid-20s.

Texas Violence Kills 25 Persons

By The Associated Press
At least 25 persons died in Texas during the weekend in highway accidents, shootings and drownings.

Car accidents took 14 lives. Five drowned. Six were shot.

Late West Texas deaths included:

Johnny Brothers, 15, of Rule, drowned in Stamford Lake in West Central Texas Sunday.

Mrs. Joe Ann Grizzle, 24, of Brownwood and her children, Jackie, 7, and Jamie, 4, died in a head-on car collision north of Lubbock Sunday. Her husband, the Rev. Joe Grizzle, 27, a Brownwood Baptist pastor, was injured.

Bobby Gee, 7, drowned in the Midland city swimming pool Sunday.

6th Antarctic Trip Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the sixth year a Navy task force will start south next month for a new season of antarctic exploration.

A new assault is planned by ice-breakers and other ships on the Amundsen Sea coast, where mountainous pack ice has kept out all previous expeditions. The navy calls it "one of the last unexplored parts of the continent."

Also planned is an overland tractor journey from the Byrd station to the South Pole itself.

Work will start this year on an atomic power station to provide electricity for permanent scientific installations at McMurdo Sound, the main base of American antarctic operations.

The plans, announced Sunday, call for using nine ships, more than 30 planes and about 3,000 men. The planes will start southward next month. The ships will follow in October.

Aboard them will be Navy and civilian scientists to replace the 196 Americans who stayed in the antarctic through the winter.

The National Science Foundation will spend about four million dollars to support antarctic research during the year. About 120 scientists will spend the summer here and 43 plan to stay through the next winter.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

It took some doing, but coach Emmett McKenzie of Big Spring finally obtained action pictures of Pampa's spring intra-squad game. Pampa's plays host to the Steers in the opening engagement of the season a week from Friday night.

Not long after McKenzie arrived here, he and Babe Curfman, the Harvester mentor, agreed to swap films of their spring contests. Neither eleven had scouted the other last fall and the spring engagements were unrec'd without an enemy spy having graced the premises.

Mckenzie sent along his films without undue delay. Curfman procrastinated. When it became evident that the Pampa movies weren't coming, McKenzie put in a call to Curfman.

Ebbes stammered through an excuse that "someone" he was not exactly sure who it was—had borrowed the films.

Mckenzie let the Pampa coach know in no uncertain terms that he didn't feel charitable about the one-way arrangement and that he either wanted the Pampa films or his own returned, pronto.

Curfman called back a short time later and stated that the pictures "had just come back."

He promised to get them on the next bus but added that he needed them returned "within a week."

The Steer coaches made use of them for the allotted time, then fired them back to Pampa.

At this writing, the Harvester coach still hadn't returned Big Spring's movies to McKenzie. Apparently, Curfman is having each of his players memorize every weakness the Steers might have betrayed in the films.

The Pampa films made one thing clear to the Longhorn coaches: The Harvesters, if not as big as the Steers, are quick and quickness is very important in modern day football.

The Harvesters aren't considered contenders in District 3-AAAA but most everyone agrees that Curfman has accomplished a lot toward getting the Pampans out of the woods.

A good performance against Big Spring would, no doubt, lift the stock of the Harvesters in the Panhandle.

For years, Pampa has been recognized as the basketball capital of Texas. Curfman was brought in to build up the football program and is doing just that.

Even the Armed Forces have copied the old water discipline routine was a lot of bunk.

Bert Coan, the footballer who switched from TCU to Kansas University, spent the summer working as a laborer on the Joperson Stadium project in Houston. His pay: $2.45 an hour.

Pecos High School, second football foe of the Big Spring Steers this fall, suited out only 26 boys when fall workouts got under way but head coach Ron Robbins has since enticed seven other boys to check out equipment.

Robbins, a brother to the Big Spring coaching aide, Donald, is singing the blues over his prospects.

Prizes For Tourney Are Displayed Here

A Louisiana Tech golfer named Don Goodspeed has arrived in Big Spring, with intentions of competing in the annual Big Spring Coronado Hills Invitational Golf tournament.

The 28th annual tournament gets under way Friday and continues through Monday, Labor Day.

Goodspeed, a native of Jacksonville, Texas, is visiting a brother, Clifford, here. He was invited to the local meet by Bobby Bluhm, who graduated from Lamar Tech in Beaumont this summer and who only recently came back to start tuning up for the tourney.

Bluhm, champion of the Colorado City Invitational a couple of years ago, will also try for a position on the local Cosden Cup team. He played his first 18 of the required 72 holes Sunday and fashioned a 74-over-par 78.

Bluhm has had little opportunity to practice in recent weeks due to the press of his school work. Don Goodspeed has won a couple of tournaments in Louisiana and is considered a definite title threat here, although he doesn't know the local course. He stands about 5-foot-10 and weighs about 140.

A total of 38 players registered for the tournament over the weekend and hopes are high within the tournament committee that last year's list of entries will be topped. In 1959, when Bill Craig of Colorado City paraded to the throne room, a total of 176 paid entry fees.

A half dozen of the early registrants are from Andrews and several are from San Angelo. Those cities have rarely sent players to the local meet in the past.

The tournament prizes, valued at more than $3,000 have arrived and are on display at the club. Flight winners will receive sets of irons, night runner-up sets of woods while consolation round winners get golf bags. The medalist, and he must qualify Friday in order to be eligible for the award, will earn a wristwatch.

Entry fee has been set at $15, the same as last year. The holder will be eligible to attend a Saturday night dance at the Cosden Country Club and a Friday night barbecue, as well as play in the tournament.

Craig will be back to try to win his third tournament here. Bill won for the first time here in 1955, at which time he defeated Bob Warrington, then of Midland, in the 36-hole final. Craig was also the medalist that year, with a 68.

Last year, Bill outlasted Luke Thompson of Big Spring in the final, 3 and 2. Thompson, who copped the crown here in 1956 and again in 1958, has since turned pro and is living in El Paso.

James Pritchett of Colorado City will probably fill out Lawrence Bledsoe's visiting team for the Cosden Cup matches, although that hasn't been definitely ascertained.

Local players have through Thursday to try for places on the local squad. Bobby Wright is already a certainty on the local contingent, having completed his 72 holes of medal play, Bernard Rains also appears to be a good bet on the contingent.

Jack Wallace, the tournament director, will double as the local captain.

R. H. Weaver of Big Spring leads early qualifiers with a three-over par 75. He is the only one among the 26 who toured the course to post qualifying scores in the 70's.

Others who played and their scores (entry from Big Spring unless otherwise designated): Glenn Dozier, Andrews, 66; Louie Madison, Andrews, 70; J. E. Turner, Andrews, 70; Leo Hulen, 102; T. A. Flowers, 92; Bob Bonnell, 94; Glenn Aaron, Midland, 94; Sam Thurman, 85; Dickie Cloud, Odessa, 88; Hudson Landers, 81; John Burgess, 82; Jack Irons, 87; R. P. Nicholson, 87; and R. E. Creek, 85.

Anti-U. S. Sentiment Noted In Rome Games

By WILL GRIMSLEY ROME (AP)—The Americans were getting openly edgy today over what they claim is a wave of "down with the Yanks" sentiment in the Olympic Games.

The situation was brought to a head over the weekend when Lance Larson, a young swimmer from El Monte, Calif., was ruled out of the 100 meter freestyle championship although he recorded faster times than the winner, John Devitt of Australia.

"That's the way it goes," said George Harrison of Orinda, Calif., Larson's roommate. "Any time they get a chance to throw one into the Americans they do it."

"If we win, we've got to win big. If it's close they'll give to some other guy. Everybody wants to knock us down."

"It looks like we have to win by a mile," said the disappointed Larson. "I was certain I won."

"Throughout the American sector—particularly among competitors in sports where judgement plays a role in determining winners—the complaint was the same: Judges go against the Americans when they can do so without making the decision look too ridiculous. Americans never get an even break."

"I noticed it in the 100 meter swimming finals," said Dan Ferris, honorary secretary of the American AAU and veteran of many Olympic campaigns. "The fans went wild when Devitt was named the winner although it looked to most people as if Larson won."

"It's the same old story. People regard the Americans as big, rich and powerful. They want to see them beaten by an underdog."

Dr. Sammy Lee, high-diving champion in the 1948 and 1952 games and coach with the current team, said prejudiced judges have been a barrier for U.S. athletes for years.

Lee, said the judges low-rated the United States' Paula Jean Pope badly in the women's springboard diving competition last week, won by Germany's Ingrid Kramer.

"The German girl deserved to win, but not by 15 points," the diminutive diving coach said. "Paula Jean never once got a good shake."

"We've been carrying on a running battle with the weightlifting judges for years," said barrel-chested Bob Hoffman, coach of the weight-lifting team.

"The referees are always giving us a quick signal and letting other teams, especially the Russians, get away with murder."

Boxing coach Julie Menendez of Santa Clara, Calif., said he and his aides make a study of the judging lineup before every match involving a U.S. fighter.

"When we see certain judges on our list—particularly Irvn Curtin judges—we tell our man he must try for a knockout," Menendez added. "We know if the nod goes the distance, the nod will go to the other side."

One U.S. Olympic official said the obvious anti-Americanism among the judges and some spectators was creating a giant psychological obstacle for the entire U.S. team.

"It's tough when you think you have to win by a mile or a knockout," he said.

Tigers Sweep Two Games From Pecos

Sterling mound performances by Danny Valdes and Chubby Moser propelled the Big Spring Tigers to two baseball victories here Sunday afternoon.

The Bengals rapped the Pecos Wildcats by scores of 12-1 and 3-2.

Valdes hurled the opener, setting the visitors down with six hits. Moser was on the mound in the afterpiece and also rationed out half a dozen safeties.

Billy Weatherall clubbed a home run in each game for Big Spring. In the opener, his blow came in the fifth with one on. Andy Gamboa also drove out a round tripper for the Tigers in the fifth with one on in that game while Oscar Martinez hit a round-tripper for Pecos in the second with the sacks deserted.

Luis Duarte was saddled with the mound defeat in the first game. Valdes' record is now 6-1.

Moser ran his season's record to 10-0 in the second game. He hurled a shutout ball until the seventh.

Weatherall picked a pitch thrown by Oscar Martinez with a mate up front in the fourth. It was his ninth four-master of the year.

Moser fanned seven and walked five. In the first game, Valdes struck out five and issued only two free passes.

Weatherall also had a double in the first game while Jackie Thomas accounted for three hits in that one including a triple.

The victories were the 25th and 26th of the season for the Tigers, against only three losses.

Helga Meyer, a secretary in the Los Angeles Dodgers' office, exhibited a model of the new baseball park. The new stadium, designed to seat 50,000 persons, will be built in Los Angeles' Chavez Ravine. Work is to start immediately, with construction expected to take 18 months. (AP Wirephoto).

Ellwillow Grabs Feature Event At Ruidoso Downs

RUIDOSO, N.M.—Ellwillow, 3-year-old gelding owned by A. P. Frazzini of Albuquerque, outgamed the challenging Macdon by a neck in a grueling stretch drive Sunday at Ruidoso Downs to win the $8,000 Ruidoso derby.

The brown son of El Drag was sent to the outside on the backstretch of the seven and a half furlong event, and although shaken up, took the lead at the head of the stretch. Macdon was held close on the pace and his drive, had him even with Ellwillow at the 16th pole, but he could never edge into the lead. Rita's Jet finished third, four lengths back.

The victory was worth $3,107.63 to the winner and returned $7.30 to Ellwillow's backers.

A total of $253,396 was wagered during the program by an estimate 4,600 fans.

NEWSPAPER

Like most women, she knows that scanning the advertising columns of her newspaper is the quickest way to get the most complete picture of who's got what for sale . . . and for how much. She knows that by pre-shopping many ads, comparing many values, she stands the best chance of getting the MOST for her money when she actually sets forth to buy. She saves time and steps, too, by STARTING her shopping in the pages of this newspaper!

When questioned by researchers for the American Institute of Public Opinion, 69 percent of women readers said that they consult the advertising in newspapers BEFORE they go to shop. Here is where readers eagerly seek news about merchandise and values. Here is where they look for up-to-the-minute buying guidance.

Aside to advertisers: If you have something to sell to women (or men either, for that matter) put your advertising where those who are ready-to-buy START their shopping: in this newspaper!

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

Slick Chick Makes Writer Feel Old

By JAMES BACON
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A slick chick of 19 greeted me the other day at the Beverly Hills Hotel and told me she is getting married Oct. 1. The news aged me a bit.

There was a time when I held Gigi Perreau on my knee while interviewing her. The onetime child star has been working steadily in front of the cameras since she was 2.

She is that rarity—a child actress who lives a normal life and grows up with no problems or egomania.

For that she gives credit to her mother.

"In all those years, I was never ordered to take a role. Mother always said: 'Do it, if you want to.' We have always lived in Hollywood but we always kept our movie life separate from our home life."

Gigi's brother and sister also are in the business. Gigi, in fact, got into the movies because her mother didn't have a baby sitter for her. Her brother, actor Peter Miles, was up for the part of the son of Greer Garson in "Madame Curie."

"Mother took me along and the director saw me. I was only 3 but could speak French and English. I got the job of Madame Curie's daughter and haven't been out of work since."

Recently she costarred with rock 'n' roll singer Paul Anka in "Look in any Window."

"I have never taken an acting lesson in my life, and we had a lot of New York-method actors in the cast," said Gigi. "On the first day's shooting, one of them, fresh from New York, kept giving me pointers on how to play a scene. I listened politely and then did it my own way."

"Hey, kid," he said. "How long you been acting?" I couldn't resist the squelch: "17 years," I answered.

Religious Snake Service Is Fatal

SPARKS, Ga. (AP) — A man who handled a rattlesnake at a church service, died proving his faith.

Officers said Lloyd B. Hill, 41, died Sunday, several hours after he was bitten by a snake at a Saturday night service of the New River Holiness Church. He was the father of four daughters.

Police said he apparently did not seek medical aid. Dr. J. F. Oliphant, Cook County medical examiner, said Hill died from rattlesnake venom.

Rings On Her Toe

Gen. Doolittle Hits Softness

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"We as a nation have had it too good for too long," Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle told a meeting of scientists today. "I am afraid we have almost lost our past willingness to work hard and our ability to think clearly," Doolittle said.

"Our unwillingness to work is indicated by our desire for security without effort. Our inability to think is indicated by our willingness to let others think for us."

The retired general, board chairman of Space Technology Laboratories, gave the keynote address to 1,000 at an Air Force symposium on Ballistic Missile and Space Technology.

"The investor must be willing to risk his money for a smaller return," he said. "Industry must produce more at a lower profit. The laborer must be willing to do a full day's work for a day's pay without featherbedding."

If License Chief Walks, You Flunk

TYLER (AP)—The driver license examiner said wryly: "When we have to walk back, the applicant can reasonably be sure his performance fell below the minimum requirements. In other words, you flunked."

The speaker was T. L. Grisham, an officer of the drivers license division of the Department of Public Safety in Tyler.

Grisham said walking is rare but has occurred.

"One day, we had three accidents," he recalled.

Grisham said the office's daily average is about 50 applicants. It's that first license that creates the problem. More than half the applicants flunk the first time out.

The written test consists of two parts. One covers road signs and the other deals with rules and statistics.

There are 40 multiple choice questions, each having four possible answers. "There are five alternate tests," Grisham said, "and the chances of taking the same test at a subsequent examining period would be slim."

Before getting behind the wheel for the driving test, the applicant must also submit to an eye examination, on which he must record a minimum of 20-40 vision.

The driving test takes 10 to 12 minutes.

An applicant can reasonably expect to execute three left and three right turns; he will also be subjected to a couple of traffic lights and a similar number of stop signs, and parking.

"Most downfalls come as a result of not observing safe driving rules and not knowing the proper lanes for turns," Grisham said.

Are some people "incapable of passing the tests?"

Grisham says yes, largely because of age.

"However, that's not always the case. We recently had an 85-year-old man take the test and pass it on the first try."

Gene Turman, another examiner, recalled an odd case.

A man of about 45 applied for a license and began filling out the physical description portion of the license application as if he were about 22 years old.

Turman noted the discrepancy and questioned the man.

The man confessed he wanted to get the license and give it to his son for a Christmas present.

A judge fined the father $20.50.

THE FRONT ROW

By Bob Smith

Pat Hingle's father-in-law has taken an important part (non-acting) in a new Elia Kazan movie.

Pat, who is married to the former Alyce Dorsey, is back on the boards after a hand-sawing accident removed him from the lead role in "J. B."

The film, "Splendor in the Grass," was written by William Inge who, along with Kazan, knows little about the oil industry. Pat wrote to Big Spring's Russell Dorsey, an independent oil man, for advice. The result has been, in Pat's words, a story that is "true to life and much better than anything we might have made up."

With oil industry in the background, the movie centers upon parental love that takes the form of domination—"Not out of domination itself, but out of love (parents) try to force their ideas on their children."

Pat Hingle is an old friend of Capt. Allen R. Robertson, Webb information officer who shared the same hometown of Weslaco, in the Rio Grande Valley. They both attended the University of Texas during the "golden days" between 1946 and 1949 when veterans flooded the campus.

That was the time of Bobby Layne, Slater Martin, Barefoot Sanders—and among the thespians, Fess Parker, Word Baker, Ell Wallach, Kathy Grant, Jayne Mansfield and Rip Torn.

Samuel Taylor's witty comedy, "The Pleasure of His Company," with Joan Bennett in the leading role, has been signed for a one night appearance at the Lubbock Auditorium Dec. 3 at 8 p.m.

DALLAS — Mail orders for tickets to 1960 Ice Capades, feature attraction of the State Fair of Texas, will be filled in order received at the Dallas Ice Arena, for performances Oct. 8-23.

Tickets are priced at $3.50, $2.50 and $2.00 and include admission to the fairgrounds.

Earl Long Rests After Big Victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Obeying doctor's orders for once, Earl Long rested today in a bed on the maternity floor of a hospital following his victory in Saturday's Democratic primary run-off.

The fiery old warhorse of Louisiana politics upset tradition in the 8th District and defeated incumbent Harold McSwain for the Democratic nomination to Congress.

Final tallies from the central Louisiana district—the smallest populated district in the state—showed that Long got 38,800 votes to McSwain's 34,302.

The three-time governor of Louisiana apparently will become the fifth member of the Long clan to go to Washington. First was Huey Long, the Kingfish of Louisiana politics. Huey's widow took his Senate seat after he was assassinated.

Russell Long, Huey's only son, is now the junior senator from Louisiana. Dr. George Long was the 8th District congressman until his death three years ago.

It was the first time in history that voters in the district failed to honor the Southern custom of re-electing incumbents to Congress.

Long was stricken election eve, his 65th birthday with exhaustion, pneumonia poisoning and a bronchial inflammation. He was taken to Baptist Hospital at Alexandria late Saturday after McSwain conceded defeat.

In the only other congressional race, voters in the 7th District gave T. A. Thompson of Ville Platte the nomination for a fifth term in Congress. Thompson got 49,795 votes to 34,718 for Arlene Stewart of DeRidder.

GOP Document Claims Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP)—A political campaign document said today, "The Republican administration has brought the nation to the highest prosperity in history."

It cited statistics designed to back up the claim—one that seems likely to be emphasized by party workers between now and the November elections.

300-Year-Old Hulk Good For Practice

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A ship that sank 300 years ago is providing practice for divers of the Swedish navy.

The 136-foot oaken hulk of the Wassa, once the pride of the navy, was rediscovered four years ago. Last year a cradle of 12 steel wires was used to lift the wreck out of its grave 100 feet down in the outer Stockholm harbor. The hulk now rests on a sandbank with its upper deck only 30 feet below surface.

The Wassa sank in 1628 with all her sails set and her flags flying. At least 50 persons perished.

Albrecht von Treileben went to work on the wreck with a diving bell in the 1860s. Treileben was a military officer who had studied salvage techniques abroad.

He managed to raise 53 of the ship's 64 guns to the surface. Some of the guns weighed 1,000 pounds.

Von Treileben's achievements have interested modern diving experts. An exact copy of his diving bell has been made. The diver stands on a small platform hanging below the bell with the water reaching up to his waist. Compressed air prevents water from filling the top part of the container.

Frogmen and helmeted divers have brought more than a thousand objects from the wreck since it was rediscovered in 1956 by a navy engineer, Anders Frøen.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynar)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Protoproct 25. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Powers' Parents Picking Up Threads Of Life After Trial

POUND, Va. (AP)—The parents of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers began picking up the threads of their once tranquil lives today after a mission to Moscow that brought controversy and tears.

For ruddy-cheeked Oliver W. Powers, 55, and his frail wife, Ida, the first effort at normal living was the shoemaker's return today to his little shop in nearby Norton.

Here, Powers said, he hoped to start recouping part of the life savings he spent in the long trip to the Soviet Union, where he saw his son draw a 10-year sentence to deprivation of liberty as a convicted American spy.

Though a magazine paid transportation costs for Powers and his wife to travel to Moscow, the cobler said he spent $1,700 of his own funds on the trip "and that's all I've got."

He said he and his friend, Sol Cury, who accompanied the Powers family to Moscow, would add up total expenses today—and "I'll probably be $200 to $300 in the hole."

Powers, Mrs. Powers and Cury arrived here late Sunday afternoon. It was a quiet homecoming—no crowds, no noise, few well-wishers.

Powers was greeted by reporters with news that a Soviet magazine, Ogonyok, had claimed that his pilot son was money-mad and that the Powers clan had exploited the pilot's troubles to make money.

"It made him good and mad. 'It's propaganda,' he said. 'They in Russia are as much for the American dollar, or more so, than here. They want to ridicule the United States. Soviets will do all in the world to throw sturs.'"

As for his son, Powers said, "money is the least of his worries. All he wants is to come home."

He said Life magazine paid $2,510 for the round-trip fares of himself and his wife to Moscow. But, he said, he had not agreed to provide the magazine an account of his impressions at the spy trial.

"That's up to them. We have no contract," Powers said.

Spokesmen for Life declined to comment.

Cury, said by Ogonyok to have "smelled out a way to make money" from the spy case, actually spent $5,000 of his own money "to get lawyers over there for me," Powers said.

The Soviet magazine also charged that Barbara Powers, wife of the convicted U2 pilot, sold letters from her husband to Newsweek magazine "for a big sum."

A spokesman for Mrs. Powers, who is in Paris, denied this.

"She hasn't taken a single cent from anyone—not even a postage stamp for a letter," said Dr. James Baugh, a physician who

Rites Today For E. B. Dickenson

STANTON — Funeral services were set for 2 p.m. this afternoon for Elbert B. Dickenson, long-time Martin and Midland County rancher and Hereford cattle breeder.

Mr. Dickenson, 70, died in a Big Spring hospital at 8 a.m. Saturday after a long illness.

Born in Centralia, Mo., on May 23, 1877, he had made his home in Martin County since 1900. He was a director of the First National Bank of Midland.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Sale, Stanton; Mrs. E. I. Hoyle, Plainview; and Mrs. Vina Beal, Midland; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Candidates To Sign Fair Practice Code

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon will get together this week on one thing—the signing of a fair practices code for their battle for the presidency.

Kennedy aides said today this will be done Wednesday in Washington. It will be their first appearance side by side since Kennedy won the Democratic nomination for the White House and the Republicans tapped Nixon.

Kennedy, winding up what likely will be his last full weekend before Election Day at his Cape Cod home, headed back to Washington by way of Boston and a money-raising luncheon of New England business men.

The senator will appear Thursday at another affair to fill party coffers. That will be a breakfast in Washington before he takes off for New England and a one-day bid for the nine electoral votes of Maine and New Hampshire, usually Republican.

Kennedy flies to San Francisco and on to Anchorage, Alaska, Saturday for the formal opening in the 49th state of a campaign that actually is in full swing. The topic of his Anchorage speech has been announced as the development of Alaskan and Western resources.

The Massachusetts senator may touch on another issue, civil rights at a news conference he has scheduled for Washington on Tuesday.

The fair campaign practices code is sponsored by a national committee headed by Charles P. Taft, brother of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, is expected to sign, too. His Republican opponent, Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, may be unable to be present.

Most of the big Kennedy family was here for a clear, pleasantly cool weekend at their homes in what has come to be called the "Kennedy compound" on the shore of Nantucket Sound.

The senator was able to get in some golf, boating, swimming, and plenty of rest in preparation for two months of hard campaigning just ahead.

He drove his wife, Jacqueline, to 10 o'clock Mass Sunday then played nine holes of golf. Afterwards they boarded the 53-foot family motor cruiser, ran out into the sound, had lunch and spent the afternoon.

Some 300 to 400 persons gathered at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church to watch the Kennedys leave and collect a few handshakes and autographs.

Fly there it's faster by far!

A Devotional For Today

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. (Psalms 104:24.)
PRAYER: Eternal God, who hast created and knowest all things, we come into Thy presence with reverence. How great and compassionate Thou art to consider our needs! May we accept Thy grace and sovereign will in our lives. We pray in Christ's name. Amen.

Step In Right Direction

City commissioners have given instructions that any applicant for a license to require the careful listing of all used automobile parts or accessory purchases. This strikes us as a step in the right direction.

There is no doubt that it will prove a certain burden on dealers who will be obliged to keep names and addresses and a listing on purchased parts, but there is no doubt, either, that it will provide a much better means of tracking the source of these items.

The commission has in mind a simple record that will be available to the authorities at all times. Something of this sort may be a means of discouraging petty thievery by juveniles and others who want to pick up a few dollars easy spending money.

This will not be a cure-all, for the items can be marketed out of town. This, however, knocks a lot of the handiness out of stealing a hubcap and turning it into cash. Being forced to cart it to some out-of-town dealer may make the effort hardly worthwhile.

The aggregate loss of hub caps, fender skirts, tires, wheels, etc. reaches astounding proportions over a period of time. Anything we can do to curb this loss by theft is all to the good.

Industrial Statesmanship

The message of a new economic frontier is being spread before businessmen of the nation by Texas Electric Service Company.

TESCO, serving the heart of the West Texas area, has announced a series of advertisements in publications read by American businessmen and industrial leaders who make the decisions in connection with locations of new plants, warehouses and branch offices.

"These advertisements will tell what the area we serve has to offer industry—including stable citizenship, rich resources, agricultural wealth, growing industry, investment opportunities," President J. B. Thomas notes.

These messages are describing this area as "The Opportunity Frontier of Texas."

And truly it is, but this condition will bear no fruit unless it is told and repeated time and again to those who can investigate it and make profitable use of what they find.

Mr. Thomas says that TESCO can grow only if the area it serves grows. He has said this before in modestly explaining far-reaching leadership. He said it when he fostered an idea that eventually became the Colorado River Municipal Water District. He would call it enlightened self interest; we call it industrial statesmanship.

Holmes Alexander Deliver Us From Political Hypocrisy

CHEMIN DE FER EN FRANCE—What disturbs the traveler in alien lands is not a dread that foreigners will rise up to smile America the Beautiful—but that the Lord God in His vengeance will.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder, but also more fearful that the sins of the left-behind country will find it out. Somewhere along the way, I had a meal with a lonely Army Colonel who had served 19 of his 25 service years abroad.

Amid reports from the Congo, the New York papers in Paris brought a report that Jackie Robinson, the superb Negro ballplayer of the 1940's and early 50's, might be selected to manage the San Francisco Giants.

Well, I hope it happens. Major League baseball is a community which has clearly accepted multi-racial performers. Branch Rickey had some trouble introducing Robinson to the postwar Dodgers, but nobody sent the 101st Airborne Division to enforce the experiment. Robinson was heroic on the field, and ambassadorial in his personal relations. Since then, Negro players by the dozens have proved themselves better in baseball as a race than Caucasians.

"I WILL MATCH any of your super-patriots," he said, "in love of my native land. There's no place where the heart beats harder for home than on some distant post or station."

We are surely the wickedest nation on earth. The annual uniform crime reports of the FBI testify to that. We must be the one nation which makes the most depraved use of its leisure. The television programs sponsored by the great American private enterprise system bear witness to this.

WHO WOULD deny it? Who would begrudge it? But since they are better in baseball, they are also different—and racial difference is what is inadmissible in public affairs these days. The danger is that our public men, seeking the bloc votes of minorities, will lead us all into falsehood—not merely in these matters but in many others.

Surely, the races can share the earth, and its blessings, but it takes real wisdom among leaders to bring it off. From crime, from depravity, from unwisdom, and especially from political hypocrisy, the Lord deliver us!

(Distributed by McLaughlin Syndicate, Inc.)

THE WORST of it is that we know better, and this puts the unparadise sin of hypocrisy upon our heads. Since my own field of criticism is politics, I perceive the hypocrisy in public life, and contemplate it, and am compelled to revile it—but I take no pleasure in it. The four men running for national office have treated me with open friendship. I have been the guest of two of them, another has written an introduction for a book of mine, the fourth has given me tele-tele interviews for many years, upon request. But I am bound to say that three out of the four are arrantly insincere in their professions of liberalism. If God looks into their hearts, as I'm sure He does, He will find a man's nest of hypocrisy and hypocrisy—the unparadise sin of hypocrisy—the subject of 1960—the subject called Civil Rights.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Secretary of State Herter may have had some of these problems in mind when he recently called for a new deal for diplomacy.

He would like to see simpler ground rules set up, preferably with the agreement or at least the understanding of other nations, to save some of the wear and tear of rigid formalities.

"Just the mere physical operation of going to airports," Mr. Herter observed, "seeing the people off at airports, accompanying them on visits, and then going through the protocol business of having to give too many dinners and return dinners, all of which are set by these protocol arrangements that have gone on over the years and years, is a very time consuming process and a very difficult process."

We think the secretary makes a persuasive case. The burdens of protocol obviously multiply with the emergence of a new "nation" practically every week.

Some of the newest are also the toughest about their prestige.

More broadly, the secretary's attitude looks in the direction of quieter diplomacy. The conduct of foreign affairs has become an almost ludicrously feverish business, with foreign ministers constantly dashing off hither and yon to meet their "opposite numbers." Finally, we get their "opposite numbers" in the craze for summit meetings.

After the recent non-conference in Paris, summitry is not likely to be a popular pastime for a while, for this country anyway. That is to the good, for it is a wise principle that the heads of government should be kept out of the diplomatic firing-line as much as possible.

It will also be well, if, as Mr. Herter suggests, the whole tenor of diplomacy is to be toned down. In the absence of the constant hoopla attending the constant visiting of big diplomatic names, it is just possible that the constant "crisis" might seem not so critical after all.

—WALL STREET JOURNAL

THIS IS WHY, I have been brooding in these travels, the Lord is more likely to chastise us with the race problem than with nuclear bombs. The hypocrisy in race matters is now being laid bare and shameless by the shining truth of current history. Despite the desegregation planks in both party platforms, the nation is spending $100 million, as a first payment, to support the U.N.'s segregated, almost exclusively non-white expeditionary force to the Congo. The few Irish and Swedish units are there as tokens, but the main body of troops is intentionally black-and-tan.

This is sensible. It recognizes facts of race which we insist upon denying in our national politics. Lamentably, virtually said, "Pale face stay away!" Mr. Eisenhower, who used to speak very frankly on military race-mixing, is saying the same thing. He knows better than to send our boys, even in integrated units, to the homeland of the Negro.

FORCE IS the catalyst. Voluntary acceptance in adult communities is the opposite of force, and is generally a fine

Police Get The Word

MORRIS

ONE THAT GOT AWAY James Marlow These Candidates Are Bragging

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy have one common campaign theme—that each is the man to lead the country for the next four years.

Neither has had actual experience in the presidency. So the voters will have to guess which might be better at leading the nation. Nevertheless, listen to what the two men said in their acceptance speeches—and they've kept bragging away at it ever since.

Kennedy: "It is time, in short, for a new generation of leadership—new men to cope with new problems and new opportunities."

Nixon: "It will indeed, take great leadership to steer us through these years (ahead)."

BOTH CANDIDATES stress the importance of decision-making by the next occupant of the White House. Still, neither has ever made, or had to make, a national decision. But listen to their acceptance speeches.

Kennedy: "I believe the times demand invention, innovation, imagination, decision."

Nixon: "Formidable as will be the diplomatic and military problems confronting the next president, far more difficult and critical will be the decisions he must make."

Kennedy, a member of Congress since 1946, hasn't been in a position to make any national decisions himself. But there was the possibility that Nixon, as vice president, might have done so.

BUT PRESIDENT Eisenhower said no to that last week. He said he alone has made the decisions since becoming president. He did say he considered Nixon a trusted adviser.

Asked if he could cite one major Nixon idea he had adopted, Eisenhower said: "If you give me a week, I might think of one. I can't remember."

Nixon keeps bragging away at one thing Kennedy can't deny although the Massachusetts senator might ask: What does it prove? That is that Nixon has had more experience than Kennedy.

Nixon, as vice president, has worn two hats, presiding over the Senate and sitting in on meetings of the Cabinet and the National Security Council. Also, as a representative of Eisenhower, he has traveled abroad a lot.

ON TV LAST Thursday night, when he was asked to explain the difference between himself and Kennedy, Nixon said "there is, first, the difference in our experience."

Friday at Birmingham, Ala., Nixon was at it again. He said "the overriding issue is—which candidate by experience, temperament, and background is best qualified to keep the peace without surrender."

To offset this, Kennedy has been trying to put across the idea the Nixon-Eisenhower years were a mess.

The leadership Kennedy has asserted since becoming a presidential candidate—by trying to get the heavily Democratic Congress to pass legislation promised in the Democratic platform—didn't get very far.

His biggest deficit was on the medical care bill when 19 of his own Democrats teamed up with the Republicans to beat him down.

But the only leadership Nixon asserted since becoming a presidential candidate—in trying to get Congress to pass the kind of medical care bill he wanted—also landed on its face.

To Your Good Health
Don't Put Up With Pre-Menstrual Blues

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

A letter asks, "Is there anything that can help women through the premenstrual period? About a week before the period each month it seems that a large number of women become depressed, irritable, or just unbearable."

The signature on this letter is such that I don't know whether it is from a man or a woman. It might be either, because when one member of a household is feeling miserable, it's quite likely that the rest of the household is miserable, too. Thus need for easing the misery is of importance to the whole household, rather than just to the sufferer.

Many women have no menstrual difficulty; some have moderate discomfort; a few are very miserable. They may have nervous instability, apprehension, headache, emotional turmoil, breast and back pains. They may gain weight—some as much as five pounds. I've known of extreme cases much worse, and I've heard of one in which the poor woman gained so much that she had to have different dresses to wear for a week.

This weight, (which is not fat, but just water) is quickly lost as soon as menstrual flow begins. Likewise, other symptoms then disappear. Pre-menstrual misery is not the same as menstrual pain or cramps.

There are plenty of theories about the causes of this pre-menstrual trouble, or "pre-menstrual blues." Some of the theories make sense, and some don't. They range from excess production of hormones to deficiency of Vitamin B to nervous instability. One interesting fact is that tests have shown that young women (since pre-menstrual tension occurs usually before the age of 35) who get regular exercise have less trouble than their less active sisters.

Anyway, what can you do besides get in the habit of exercise? Hormone treatment, plausible as it is, hasn't been particularly successful. Restricting salt in the diet, starting a week before the troubles start, can help. Drugs (ammonium chloride and the newer chlorothalidate drugs to release water from the body) sometimes help amazingly. Large doses of Vitamin B may help when started 10 days before flow begins.

Tranquilizers have helped some; drugs to combat depression also help some cases. Aspirin sometimes is enough to relieve pain, and sometimes laxatives have helped.

For women with this problem of pre-menstrual tension, I suggest writing for a copy of my leaflet, "Pre-Menstrual Blues." To get a copy just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 5 cents in coin to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald.

But also keep in mind this fact: A great many women, having menstrual trouble, take for granted that it is natural. The trouble comes and goes in cycles, so they feel that it is a problem that has to be suffered; that it isn't an illness; that hence there's no use telling the doctor about it. Well, your doctor may not be able to hit the right answer the very first try, because not all cases are the same, but it is a rare case indeed in which your doctor can't rather readily provide quite a bit of relief.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about the metatarsal arch? Can a person be operated on the feet, and will they get all right, or is it best just to get-arches for the shoes?"

Usually corrective shoes help defective arches—the metatarsal arch. Just any type of arch support may not do any good. Best see your doctor or a foot specialist on this. There are arch supports, metatarsal bars, lifts on shoes. Shape and position are important. There are different types of arches and degrees of arch weakness. So get the best advice available. The wrong support will do no good; the right one can do wonders.

NOTE TO G.S.: I can't go into your whole letter but these recurrent attacks of fever, chills, aches, etc., are reminiscent of malaria. Have you been checked for that? Copyright, 1960, Field Enterprises, Inc.

Around The Rim Are You As Careful As A Race Driver?

Ever wonder why our legislators don't do something to stop the carnage on the automobile race tracks?

Inhuman you say? A useless sport? The drivers would be better off working on the highway?

THE DRIVERS themselves, needless to say, don't feel that way. Some of the best of them will tell you they don't ride with fear on the race tracks, that the only time they tend to panic is when they're driving to and from the tracks.

When the average motorist drives down the highway at 60 miles an hour, he shows more nerve and daring than the race driver does when he takes a banked curve at 125 miles or scoots down a straightaway with the speedometer needle hung on 150 m.p.h. So say the men who make a living from fast driving.

"I CAN RELAX in a race, no matter how fast I'm going," a well-known speedster named Glen (Fireball) Roberts remarked recently. "That's more than I can do on a highway. On the track, I know I'm surrounded by pros who know their cars, and what to do in an emergency. And that's not all—I know the cars on the track are in perfect shape from top to bottom."

Rex White, who is in competition for the NASCAR driving championship, is another who heaves a sigh of relief when he quits the public traffic arteries for the all-out speed and competition of the racing strip.

Says he:

"YOU'LL FIND more courtesy on the road in a 300-mile race than in ten continental trips on the highway. Everybody is trying to win, that's for sure, but everybody is always trying to look out for the other fellow. Drivers who think only of themselves, who never protect the other fellow, just don't belong on a race track, and they don't stay there. We all know the dangers of high speeds so we work at keeping the dangers down."

WHEN THE drivers say they know their cars, they mean just that. They drive assured that their brakes have been adjusted, that their steering gears are not faulty, that their tires are not ready to give way. Too, they know that all riders in competition with them drive with skill and practiced hands.

Can you say the same thing of your car and your fellow highway motorists? —TOMMY HART

Inez Robb How About Some Honest Economy?

Both Presidential candidates are on record in their belief that the first priority in the national budget should be defense, or arms and armament second to none, even if it takes more taxes.

That's a noble sentiment that the vast majority of voters will endorse, even as they grimace and yelp in pain at the mere thought of a tax hike. But happiness can't buy peace and security at home or abroad, cut Castro down to size, keep communism out of this hemisphere, settle the Congo hash, or get a man into space.

SO IF UNCLE asks for more on the barrel head, I shall repress my moan and divvy up. However, in the interim left before election (and how shall we ever live through all that hot air?), I should like to see either or both candidates come out four-square for real economy in the expenditure of public funds, meaning the blood money you and I siphon off annually for Federal, state and local government.

There will be a lot of lip service on both sides about economy. But does either candidate have a program for the actual enforcement of economy in the spending of Federal tax money? Does either have a hard-and-fast program, to which he will stick, that will repeal the special interests, meaning every Congressional district with a vocal Congressman and a yen for a snoot in the Federal trough?

either one willing to pledge, and mean it, that one of the first orders of his administration will be not just a study but basic action to replace the whole crazy tax patchwork of today with a sound, modern system for a sound, modern nation.

THERE ARE MILLIONS of American voters who are convinced that if their tax money were wisely and economically spent by the Federal government, if the waste, the inter-service rivalry, the grab, the favoritism and the five-percenters were abolished, there would be all the additional billions the Defense Department could possibly need, without levying an additional cent in taxation.

THERE IS AN amazing unconcern in this country about any possible unemployment or starvation in the ranks of the lobbyists and five per centers who now swarm through Washington. They congregated in the national capital to the detriment of everyone who pays taxes.

It is not enough to make the lobbyist register. That is only the first step. After he is registered, I would offer him his choice of leaving town quietly under his own steam or riding out on a rail wearing a coat of tar and feathers, courtesy of the public.

WE AMERICANS may grumble a bit if we have to pay more taxes—the Constitution guarantees us the right to grumble, doesn't it?—but we will pay up to see the United States first in war and first in peace. But we will pay up a great deal more happily if the next administration does everything within its power to wring the water out of all departments of the government.

The taxpayer can do without waterworks, and it is imperative for the next administration to see that John Q. Sucker has no need for such equipment, taxwise. (Copyright, 1960, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

David Lawrence Nixon's Role With Eisenhower

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower may have unwittingly started the "ball rolling" on one of the most important issues of the campaign—namely, just how much experience Vice President Nixon has had in the development of national and international policies.

The President was asked at his news conference to say in what "decisions" he participated and Mr. Eisenhower's answer was that "decisions" are made by the President and not by anybody else. At the same time he said that he considers Mr. Nixon one of his "principal advisers."

THE DEMOCRATS in the Senate promptly thought they saw an issue, and seized upon this answer as meaning that Mr. Nixon's participation on the executive side of the government had been most incidental. But actually what the President said is in line with what Vice President Nixon himself had previously revealed in describing his own role. Thus, in an impromptu interview with Mr. Nixon last May, which was not widely published in the newspapers, the following colloquy occurred:

"Q. What role do you play in Cabinet meetings, for example? Do you have a chance to speak up?"

"A. Yes, I have always had the opportunity to express myself, not only at Cabinet meetings but at the other meetings over which the President presides. Usually it is his custom, once a matter is presented at any one of these meetings, to ask the various people around the table for their comments and suggestions."

"IN FACT, THE President always invites all of us who participate in such meetings to indicate our views before he, the President, reaches a decision."

"Q. Who makes the decisions in meetings? Are they 'committee decisions'?"

"A. I think one of the essential rules for any orderly government is that there can be only one man who makes the final decisions. I, for one, have never believed in government by committee, because what happens then is that the decisions made represent the least common denominator of what everybody will agree to, and this means leadership at its lowest level, rather than at its highest level."

"NOW, I KNOW that there have been those who have suggested that the President believes in government by committee, that he does not make decisions or overrule members of his official family on issues. Nothing could be further from the truth. The President is a very patient man. He always invites full and free discussion. He tries to bring about agreement among all of the members of his Cabinet and Security Council when important decisions are being made."

"But, in the final analysis," the President recognizes that the Cabinet and Security Council are advisory to him only."

"THE PRESIDENT, during the seven years that I have been with him, has never put a matter to vote of the Cabinet, the Security Council or the legislative leaders. I believe he is absolutely correct in following this practice because, in the final analysis, he, the President, should make the big decisions rather than pass the buck, in effect, to his advisers."

The big issue in the campaign is not the extent to which Mr. Nixon is responsible for Mr. Eisenhower's "decisions," but the knowledge of national and international problems that Mr. Nixon has gained during the last seven and a half years by his presence in top councils. In the same interview, which was published on May 16 in U.S. News & World Report," Mr. Nixon disclosed the time he has spent on executive work. He said:

"I HAD MY OFFICE do a tabulation of the meetings that I have attended since January, 1953, as recorded in my daily calendar. I have attended 173 meetings that the President has had with legislative leaders, and presided over two of those. I have attended 217 meetings of the National Security Council, and presided over 26 of those. I have attended 163 meetings of the Cabinet, and presided over 19 Cabinet meetings."

In the Senate debates quite a point has been made by the Democrats of the fact that Mr. Eisenhower in his news conference was asked to give an instance in which Vice President Nixon had influenced a particular "decision." The President parried the question by quipping that he might think of one "if you give me a week." One of the Democrats in the Senate debate said this made it "obvious that Mr. Nixon's contributions were so slight that the President could not recall a single one."

IT WOULD have been considered indecate for the President to have initiated a discussion of this kind, but now that the Democrats have opened the way, it gives him a full opportunity in the campaign to discuss Mr. Nixon's experience in government—after, after all, is one of the main questions in the minds of the voters. John Cardinal O'Hara Dies At Age Of 72

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Cardinal O'Hara, archbishop of Philadelphia and spiritual leader of 1,513,000 Roman Catholics, died Sunday at the age of 72.

The tall slender prelate, who received the red hat symbolic of his office in December 1958 from Pope John XXIII, succumbed at Misericordia Hospital. He had undergone surgery for peritonitis last Tuesday.

His death reduced to five the number of cardinals in the United States. They are Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Aloysius Cardinal Muench of Fargo, N.D.

All but Cardinal Muench who is in Rome, are expected at the solemn pontifical Mass to be celebrated at the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul.

The funeral service probably will be held on Labor Day, Sept. 5, an archdiocese spokesman said. The body will lie in state at the cathedral from Thursday until then.

Death came quietly to Cardinal O'Hara. He was unconscious as his three sisters, and priests and Sisters of Mercy, who operate the hospital, intoned prayers by his bedside.

FULL SCHEDULE

The six-foot, one-inch, 140-pound cardinal had enjoyed good health, except for occasional trouble with arthritis, until recent years. He continued to carry a full schedule of work almost to his death.

He came here from Buffalo, N.Y., eight and a half years ago to succeed the late Dennis Cardinal Dougherty as archbishop of a 10-county archdiocese in southeastern Pennsylvania, fourth largest in the country.

"I have no program to announce, nothing to preach but the love of God. If you will kindly tell me your needs, I shall do my best to meet them. I know of no other way to serve," he said when he came.

But the cardinal was outspoken on some issues. He decried communism among school teachers, racial discrimination and the formation of the Women's Army Corps in the early days of World War II.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

A new England inventor on this day in 1829 applied for a patent on the legendary "Walker Colt," the revolver which was to change the story of the West.

Samuel Colt had brought out an earlier model, called the "Texan," but Texans using them found several faults with the weapons. Samuel Walker, a Texas Ranger hero, is said to have met Colt in New York and to have suggested several changes, including a neat level rammer. Colt accepted the suggestions and manufactured the new Walker Colt.

Only in Texas was the inventor acclaimed. He went into bankruptcy in 1842 and for five years lived in poverty. Success came to him through the intercession of another Texan. When Jack Hays recruited a thousand Texas Rangers for guerrilla warfare in Mexico he requested that they be armed with Colt revolvers. The same Samuel H. Walker placed the order for one thousand six-shooters. Colt had no models and had to design another gun. These reached the Rangers soon after they landed at Vera Cruz and their exploits with them insured the success of the revolver.

However, the first Texas fighting force to employ the five-shooter was the Texas Navy, from whom the Rangers probably secured their first weapons.

Sennett Wants Chaplin's Name On Walk Of Fame

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Film pioneer Mack Sennett adds his distinguished voice to those who believe the name of Charlie Chaplin should be added to Hollywood's Walk of Fame.

The comic is missing from the 1,500 brass plates being embedded in the sidewalk of Hollywood boulevard. The reason is that merchants footing the bill object to Chaplin's politics.

"That's ridiculous," snapped Sennett, who can still rattle off a storm at 78. "This is a matter of art, not politics. Charlie was the greatest comedian we ever had on the screen. I might add that I don't know anything about his politics. I'm not a Communist; I'm an Irish Catholic."

It was Sennett who brought Chaplin to the screen. He was remembering about it at Motion Picture Country Hospital, where he's trying to push his blood pressure up after a siege of illness.

"I saw him in New York in an act called Karno's Comedians," Mack recalled. "He played the drunk in the box who climbed on the stage and got into the act. I said, 'That guy is funny. He makes me laugh.'"

Later, when Ford Sterling went on to greener pastures, leaving Sennett without a comedian for the Keystone company, he sent for the English comic, whose name he sketchily remembered. Chaplin was reached on tour in Pennsylv-vania and signed for $125 a week. After two duds, Chaplin caught on in "A Day at the Races." Sennett offered him a share of his profits, but the comic left after one year for Essanay Studios at $10,000 a week. The two most re- mained good friends through the years.

Noted Brooklyn Bridge Mixes Force, Beauty

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—If the 77-year-old Brooklyn Bridge can be called the queen of suspension bridges, then by all means the George Washington Bridge is the king.

There may be longer, newer, even classier bridges in the world, but for the majesty of its setting, the sheer naked power of its design and for the massive dead weight it sustains with its slender cables, this modern colossus of steel and concrete stands without equal.

It is an enigma of strength and frailty, of brute force and fragile beauty.

SPANS RIVER

Poised between the ancient enclaves of the New Jersey Palisades, great remnants of the ice age, and the jagged peaks of Manhattan's soaring skyscrapers, it bestrides the mighty Hudson.

To Le Corbusier, the great French architect, it is "the most beautiful bridge in the world. It gleams in the sky like a reversed arch. It is the only seat of grace in a disordered city."

To the millions of tourists, commuters, career seekers and casual visitors pouring over its gently sloping span each year, it is a gateway to a magical city.

To thousands of New Yorkers seeking weekend surcease from the city's cares and woes and stifling heat, it is a main escape route.

Now, nearly 30 years after it opened its toll booths for business, the George Washington Memorial Bridge is preparing to take on an even greater cargo of human dreamers and seekers.

For a year and a half workmen have been attaching a lower roadway that will carry six lanes of auto traffic, in addition to the eight lanes on the upper level, and increase the bridge's capacity by 75 per cent.

LOVERS HOWL

The bridge's many lovers have set up a howl that the lower level will destroy the graceful lines that have become a New York landmark, but the engineers have an answer.

Othmar H. Ammann, the engineer who designed the bridge, had made provision for a lower level, either for trains or automobiles, in his original plans. Ammann, who was making $30,000 a year as chief Port of New York Authority engineer when he designed the bridge in 1927, went on to even greater fame with such bridges as San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, the Delaware Memorial Bridge and New York's Bronx-Whitestone and Triboro bridges.

Now 81, he took time out from designing a huge new bridge across New York harbor to Staten Island to act as consultant to the lower deck project on his beloved George Washington Bridge.

Rites Pend For Mrs. Rhodes

Medical reports have confirmed that Mrs. Marjorie Ellen Rhodes, 23, wife of student officer 2nd Lt. Thomas Rhodes, died of a combination of factors described by doctors as an overwhelming systemic infection arising from extensive bilateral pneumonia—complicated by exhaustion and leading to a premature stillbirth delivery.

Immediate cause of death was attributed to irreversible shock. Preliminary findings by post-mortem examination confirm the presence of an overwhelming infection with extensive lung involvement, and agree with the clinical diagnoses of attending physicians.

Mrs. Rhodes first came to the Webb AFB Hospital at 2 a.m., Friday, and was hospitalized immediately with an acute infection. She had arrived in the community Thursday from Mission, where her husband, a member of Class 61-F, had just graduated from the primary flying school at Moore Air Base. She had traveled with wives of two other student officers, the party driving in advance of their husbands, who were engaged in administrative clearing of the previous base, to find living accommodations here.

Highway officers made unsuccessful attempts to get word of Mrs. Rhodes' illness to her husband while the three lieutenants were en route to Big Spring.

Mrs. Rhodes' body was sent by Nalley-Pickle Funeral home Sunday to Anderson, Ind., the home town of both Lt. Rhodes and his late wife. Burial arrangements there are pending at the Rozelle Funeral Home.

Seven Boys Get Special Awards

Seven boys received special awards and two were welcomed into pack No. 48 at its meeting Friday evening. The affair, a wieners roast, was held in the City Park.

Lynn Cauley and Jon T. Jones received their Bobcat awards as new members, and Joe David Moss was received as a transfer into the pack.

Gold arrow points went to Larry Perkins, Pat Gray, Ralph Stark and David Pickle; a silver arrow to Barney Gulley. Bruce Rutto got his Wolf badge and Mike Brady his Bear badge.

Business Is 'Hot' At Opal Capital

By LEY OUTRIDGE
ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—The world's opal capital is deep in the Australian desert and so hot that the people live underground.

Coober Pedy, the aborigines call it, and Coober Pedy is for the white man. It means "White Man's Hole in the Ground."

Coober Pedy is in the northwest of South Australia between Port Augusta and Alice Springs, and almost in the center of the continent.

History has not recorded who found the first opal there, but the mines have been operating since World War I.

The opal diggers of Coober Pedy form one of the strangest communities in the world.

Lack of transport, absence of building materials and the weather have forced the miners—or gougers, as they are called—to burrow deep into the sides of hills to make their homes.

The opal gougers fear most lack of water. They have built a large water tank which supplies the needs of the community and the horses, dogs and the few camels used in this desolate region.

When the water tank fails, and this happened in the 1954 drought, water has to be carted from Tara-coola, 125 miles away.

Although 350 people once lived at Coober Pedy, today there are only about 36 regular gougers. Some have their wives and families with them. Usually 30 or so aborigines also are around the mines.

Then there are the transients, from 20 to 50, of them. These are mainly people trying for a get-rich-quick strike, but include some elderly pensioners who have been told to live in a dry climate.

Using bars, spades, picks, and home-made winches, the opal gougers dig into the rocky ground. A stroke of the pick may uncover a valuable piece of opal matrix, or just another rock. Matrix is the opal in its rough state.

The gouger works his way through ironstone, limestone, gypsum, quartz and pebbles—the dull, cream-colored opal that is valueless but which indicates the presence of the real thing.

A few are rich enough to use mechanical diggers, but this is restricted by the high cost of transport and fuel.

Some lucky gougers have made as much as 10,000 Australian pounds—$22,400—with one strike.

Cliburn And Space Dogs

Pianist Van Cliburn makes friends with Belka, left, and Strelka, dogs which the Russians say survived a space journey. The American pianist, on tour in the Soviet Union, met the dogs at a television studio in Moscow where he performed.

Many Area Bills May Die When Congress Adjourns

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Special Service
WASHINGTON (AP)—Indications are that when this session of Congress adjourns a great many bills of regional interest will die.

Some are of particular interest to Texas. All unenacted into law will have to be reintroduced and start out from scratch with the opening of the 87th Congress next January. This is so regardless of the progress made through committees and on the floor of either the Senate or House in the two years of the 86th.

Among the bills now considered to have little chance of enactment this session is the one to establish a national seashore park on Padre Island.

Everyone concerned apparently is eager to get the park established while holding the 120-mile long island which skirts the Gulf coast between Corpus Christi and the mouth of the Rio Grande. But, acquisition of the now mostly barren land poses the problem.

TAKEN LEAD

Sen. Ralph Yarborough has taken the lead in the Senate in trying to get through the legislation. Reps. John Young of Corpus Christi and Joe Kilgore of McAllen are backing the project in the House.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson announced his support for the proposal after the Interior Department a few months ago officially came out for a park extending the length of the island, except the tip ends now
