

Another Queen

Another pretty queen of the Mexican Independence Day Celebration, Rosaria Morales, smiles as she appears in the downtown parade held Friday. The other queen, Lida Gonzales, appeared in the Thursday parade.

Latin Independence Fete Draws To A Close Saturday

The celebration of the Mexican Independence drew to an end Saturday night with dancing in the streets and speeches.

Friday the fiestas held a parade in which another queen, Rosaria Morales and her court appeared. At the same time there was horse racing and free barbecue at 12th St. and Snyder Highway.

Friday night activities included dancing and variety shows. Music for the fiestas was furnished by the Caporales from Mexico and the local band of Frank Marin. Records were played when the musicians rested. Big Spring Police blocked off two streets on NW 4th for dancing during the fiesta.

The fiestas began Wednesday and lasted through Saturday. There were few incidents to mar the holiday note.

Sponsors of the events were well pleased with the heavy attendance.

Losing Business

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A Railway Ministry spokesman says Indian railroads lost $10.5 million in revenue last year because nine-million people grabbed train rides without buying tickets.

5 Youths Die In Road Crash

SPRING VALLEY, Wis. (AP)—An automobile carrying six youths home from a high school football game crashed into a bridge Friday night, killing five of the occupants and critically injuring the other.

Three of the victims died in the crash, another on the way to a hospital, and the fifth in a hospital early Saturday.

Pierce County Undersheriff Roy Simonsen said the 1953 car was traveling at a high rate of speed when it left the right side of the road and crashed into the bridge on Highway 29, four miles west of here.

Found dead in the wreckage were Lawrence Guise, 17; Thomas Reis, 18; and Dennis Wollan, 18, all of River Falls, about 20 miles west of the crash scene in northwest Wisconsin. Charles Dopkins, 17, died on the way to a Menomonie hospital. Dennis Rye, 17, identified as the driver of the car, died early Saturday at the Miller Hospital in Minneapolis. In critical condition at the same hospital was Lynn Gelo, 16, also of River Falls. Simonsen said the six had attended the River Falls-Spring Valley high school football game at Spring Valley.

New Addition Almost Open

Ike Robb, developer of the new Highland South subdivision, reports lots are available now in the area south of FM 700. The subdivision is on the east side of Gollad, as it is being extended. Robb said sewer lines would be installed, beginning Monday, and water lines were being installed all last week. Plans are to pave the streets as soon as sewer line work is completed. Robb installed the sign recently to mark the area. Eventually, this subdivision will feature a lake and a shopping center.

Lyndon Kin Okay After Operation

MARSHALL (AP)—Physicians said Saturday that T. J. Taylor, 51, father-in-law of Sen. Lyndon Johnson, was in satisfactory condition following surgery. Mrs. Johnson and her two daughters arrived Thursday night to be with him.

Nearly Reaches 103

GARDEN TALK

Results Mostly Negative In Botany Experiments

By BRUCE FRAZIER

Over the weeks I have mentioned a number of different experiments in this column, and with summer drawing to a close, I think this is a very good time to make a report on several you may remember. First off, we had trouble with willow trees dying from some unexplained cause. I am sorry to say I struck out on this problem. We studied and studied the problem, even going so far as to dig up a complete tree and send it to the Extension Plant Pathologist at Texas A&M College. He was unable to find the cause. Our best bet is that the late frozes damaged a number of the younger trees and the damage killed some trees and injured quite a number of others. Still, that is just a guess.

The Vits-Spikes, the little nails containing trace elements which are driven in tree trunks to provide mineral supplemental feeding, are still being studied. So far no noticeable results are evident. It is possible the trees tested had no trace of mineral deficiency. It is evident that they did no damage; and I'll get some more and look for ailing plants to try them in next season.

The (Carl Pool) instant rose food seems to be doing a very good job of bringing color back into some chlorotic roses. It is still a little early to see if it stimulates late blooming in the plants, but it did put the color back in a very short time where the leaves were yellowing badly. I notice that a large quantity is being used on the Garden Club Rose Garden at the city park.

If you have a garden problem, write Bruce Frazier in care of the Herald.

Another Eclipse Is Due Tuesday

Old Lady Moon is moving steadily toward her date late Tuesday afternoon with Mr. Sun.

At 3:09 p.m. the moon will cross the path of the sun's rays on their way to earth. And while the passage is underway, part of the sun's bright shining face will be obscured with a smudged, circular disk.

The eclipse, second for 1960 and final one of this year, will be visible here, assuming, of course, that the skies are clear. The coverage will be only about 61 per cent of the sun's face. The path of the moon on this occasion is not quite in line to block out the sun entirely. Neither of the two solar eclipses this year have been total.

The maximum coverage of the sun's face should be reached by 5 p.m. The sun will be well down toward the western horizon before the end of the passage is reached.

Visually, the area of the moon appears to be about equal to that of the sun. Of course, this is an illusion created by the relative distances of the two bodies from the earth. The moon is only 240,000 miles away while the sun is 92,900,000 miles from the earth. The diameter of the moon is only 2,160 miles whereas the sun has a diameter of 864,000 miles.

The eclipse should provide an interesting opportunity to observe one of these regular celestial occurrences. It will not be as spectacular, of course, as a total eclipse but with 61 per cent of the sun blacked out, it should offer some of the interesting phenomenon associated with such events.

Observers are warned not to attempt to watch the eclipse with naked eyes. Use heavily smoked glass or several sheets of exposed photographic film.

One possible curiosity of the eclipse may be noted where the sun's rays pass through foliage. There will be projected on walls images of the sun with a portion of it blacked out giving it the appearance of a crescent.

The Beginning

The Crippled Children's Center began with this vacant lot at 8th and Owens. The old section house in the background was to be the new center. But more ambitious plans were made and a modern masonry building was constructed. From left, Daryl Haberz designed the building, E. C. Smith coordinated construction, Charles Campbell coordinated foundation work, and Bruce Dunn brought city crews in to prepare the area. Dedication of the building is slated this afternoon.

New Center Is Product Of Whole Community

It started with an idea. Crippled children in Big Spring had to be housed in a makeshift building for therapy. Why not have facilities here? The Howard County Society for Crippled Children and Adults made arrangements to use the swimming pool at the YMCA as part of this work. But a building was needed. George Zachariah, president of the society and a city commissioner, requested and was granted a lease from the city for a plot of ground across the street from the Y, at 8th and Owens. Next, Cosden Petroleum Corp. offered the group an old section house, formerly T&P Railroad Co. property. Arrangements were made and the old house was moved to the site. Bruce Dunn, the city's director of public works, suggested that the building be rehabilitated in conjunction with the annual city clean-up campaign. This was endorsed and plans were made to get the project under way. E. C. Smith was named project chairman. He suggested that a new building of masonry be constructed, using all volunteer materials and labor. Roy Watkins, president of the International Union of Operating Engineers, agreed and offered to coordinate labor forces. And the project was kicked off. With no public solicitation, the building began to take form. Various clubs and organizations gave money, labor groups sent workers, construction firms gave materials, cafes donated food for the workers, decorations and furniture were given, and all this without solicitation. The project is probably without parallel in the history of the city. The building's erection has been called a miracle by some. And others have called it a project given from the heart of the city. At any rate, Big Spring now has a Crippled Children's Center. The Society has engaged a therapist who will visit here weekly. Later, it is hoped to have him more often. Expensive equipment has been obtained at a fraction of the original cost to completely equip the center. Dedication of the building is slated for this afternoon. First therapy will be given in the building Tuesday. And it is made possible by:

Mercury Down In 30-Day Outlook

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau says its 30-day outlook for mid-September to mid-October calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals from the Continental Divide eastward to the Appalachians.

The greatest departures from normal will be over the Southern Plains and lower Mississippi Valley, the bureau said. Above normal temperatures are indicated west of the Continental Divide and near normal east of the Appalachians.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the eastern half of the nation, but subnormal amounts are predicted west of the Continental Divide. In the remaining area near normal amounts are indicated, the bureau said.

Debt Ceiling Is Extended

Big Spring Country Club members have voted to increase the debt limit to finance the new facilities now nearing completion.

Stockholders approved a proposal to set the debt ceiling at $200,000, which is $40,000 more than previously established. It is contemplated that the additional $40,000 allowed will be in the nature of temporary financing, leaving a residue of $80,000 for long term coverage.

An assessment of $10 per month per member was approved. Members, however, have the option of recovering this amount in food service each month, otherwise the funds will go into the club operational funds.

The rule limiting the visitor privilege to four times per year was rescinded and hereafter members can have guests as often as they wish, but this naturally will be the financial responsibility of the individual host.

The out of town membership category was eliminated from the club's by-laws.

The amount of notice for called meetings was extended from five to 10 days to conform with state law.

Officials are planning on occupying the new facilities by Oct. 1. The building is nearing completion and other facilities are shaping up well, although it is a touch-and-go proposition as to whether the golf greens will be ready by that time.

DEAR ABBY

WRONG SET

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have the reputation for being a pretty smart guy in my field (electronics) but when it comes to the fair sex I must be a real square. I always thought women were supposed to be cherished, cared for and trusted. Now I find that all my bachelor friends are slipping around with married women and the married men are stepping out on their wives. Aren't there any nice girls left who are interested in a good honest man who is on the level?

DEAR SQUARE: You aren't "square"—you need a new circle of friends. There are plenty of nice girls who would go to the moon for a man who's "on the level."

DEAR ABBY: I have wanted to be a nurse ever since I was a little girl. I will graduate from high school this mid-year and want to go into nurse's training. My father says it is a childish dream and it's time I grew up and got over it. He says he doesn't want his daughter giving dirty old men baths and carrying bedpans. I tell him I want to serve humanity and he says, "So be a waitress!"

I am so heart-broken, Abby. How can I get my father to see it my way? Or is my decision childish?

LOVES NURSING

DEAR NURSING: Your decision is far from childish—it is mature, admirable and completely unselfish. There should be more dedicated young women like you in this world.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to put in my two cents' worth about the lady who complained about her neighbor across the hall burning the toast every morning because her husband liked it that way. Well, I like burnt toast, too. And the more it's burnt, the better I like it. I've been married for 36 years to a man who works in the stock yards, and burnt toast smells like Chanel 5 to me. I say, the smell won't kill her, and as the old Portuguese saying goes, "Quen ta mal e que se muda"—which means, "If you're uncomfortable—move."

LOVES BURNED TOAST

DEAR ABBY: I come from a rather poor family but I was taught manners. I am going with a boy who has had all the advantages, but he has no manners at all. Tell me, Abby, how important are manners?

PONYTAIL
DEAR PONYTAIL: Polished

How and why smart people call station-to-station

Remember now, sonny . . . station-to-station calls SAVE YOU 1/3

Station-to-station? The term really means from telephone to telephone—from yours, for example, to one in a distant city, instead of to a particular person.

Advantages? Each call is a real bargain, savings of more than one third. And when you call by number, you reach the other phone twice as fast.

Anything more? Well, you might try it tonight . . . and have a nice chat.

Salvation Army Requests Clothing

The Salvation Army is in urgent need of children's clothing. The start of school has exhausted the supply of used clothing which the Salvation Army had, and there are numerous requests from families for clothing to enable youngsters to go to school.

Capt. James Jay, in charge of the Salvation Army work here, appealed for families to check their closets for serviceable used clothing which might be put to good use.

Good used shoes also can be utilized. Call the Citadel at AM 4-6141 and Capt. Jay will have the material picked up if it is not convenient for you to bring it to the Dora Roberts Citadel at 308 Ayford.

Berserk Gunman Kills 2 Citizens

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A berserk gunman turned loose with a shotgun from a second floor bedroom window today and killed two men. One other man was critically wounded. The gunman then shot himself. The gunman was identified by police as Oswald Zambon, 57, an unemployed mason. Police said he had been feuding with his neighbors in Pittsburgh's East Liberty section several weeks. Lt. Stanley Maske said Zambon had lost an eye a couple of years ago and seemed to have a phobia that everyone was against him. Touch Of Fall, Open Weather Speed Harvesting Of Crops

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—A touch of fall and a week of open weather sped harvesting of crops in Texas. Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said several district agents reported a need for moisture to mature growing crops and to keep range vegetation producing. The upper coastal area speeded the cotton harvest. The rice harvest is continuing rapidly and corn nicking is increasing. Some hay is being baled. Cattle were in fair to good condition. In South Texas, cotton, corn and hay harvests were delayed by rain. Ranges are in excellent condition and land is being prepared. Conditions are good for fall vegetable planting. Showers along the coast and in the Lower Rio Grande Valley have also delayed the finishing of the cotton harvest. The Winter Garden-area needs moisture. Ranges are generally in good condition and vegetables are doing good. Some fat calves are being shipped. Sunshine was welcomed by East Texas farmers and they made rapid progress in harvesting excellent corn and hay crops and a fair cotton crop. Peanuts are looking better since the rains stopped. Cattle are in excellent condition. Some stocker calves are moving to market.

Livestock conditions are good and the lamb movement is heavy around San Angelo. Range conditions over West Central Texas were excellent but grass needs moisture. The harvesting of cotton and sorghums is well underway with good yields and conditions. The cotton harvest is underway with good yields in far West Texas. Range conditions are good. The deliver of feeder calves is on. The sorghum harvest is in full swing and livestock are in good condition. Cotton in the southern counties of the South Plains is maturing rapidly. The sorghum harvest is picking up steam. A good general rain would benefit this dryland area but yield prospects for cotton and sorghum are favorable. Ranges are in good condition. The tomato harvest is underway and some wheat is being planted. Prospects for late cotton and sorghums are excellent; barring early frost. Eighteen of the 22 counties in the Rolling Plains around Vernon need rain. Only Childress, Hall, Fisher and Wilbarger counties report adequate moisture. Ranges, late cotton, sorghum and recently planted grain need moisture. The cotton harvest is slow. Planting of grain, alfalfa and winter legumes went on. Slow rains from one to three inches over most of the Panhandle will permit wheat planting to continue. Good stands are reported on that already planted. Livestock conditions were excellent. Sorghum is maturing and prospects are excellent. Cotton prospects will be greatly improved by a late frost, he added.

Today's Turkeys Little Like Those Taking Part In First Trot

CUERO (AP)—The turkeys that will gobble and strut down Cuero streets Nov. 11-12 in the world famous Turkey Trot will bear little resemblance to the birds that took part in the first one 48 years ago. When Jack Howerton thought up the idea for the event almost half a century ago, he plugged it through the columns of his newspaper, turkeys were long, lean and speedy, like the wild forebears from which they sprang. At that time Cuero was Texas' chief marketing center for the birds, but transportation was a problem, and the turkeys had to walk to the shipping point. Local buyers would start in at distant points in DeWitt County, purchasing turkeys from farm to farm, and adding them to their growing flock. Oak trees along the roads provided roosting places at night. The drives which covered from 20 to 30 miles in some instances lasted for days. The birds fed along the way, and by the time they reached Cuero, where buyers were waiting from the north and east, the flocks often weighed 12,000 to 15,000. They were racy and of doubtful tenderness. However, as turkeys became more and more important on thousands of farms and ranches, the various breeds were improved. S. J. Wallis and his son Jack, whose ranch is near Westhof, were among the leaders in building better turkey flocks. Largest raisers of the birds in DeWitt County, they have developed a short-legged, heavy-breasted bird known as the Wallis strain. This breed matures a month earlier than the stock from which it was originally bred, and birds from this strain are as little like earlier ones as are modern beef cattle like longhorns. As a result, their turkeys are in great demand for breeding stock. Back in 1910, Wallis saw some turkeys at the Luling Foundation. Known as the baby beef bronze, the foundation stock came from the Wagon Wheel Ranch in California's Valley of the Moon. "In those days," Jack said, "eggs of this strain were selling at 85 cents each. Breeding toms brought $35 to $50. "Dad bought 80 eggs from the Luling Foundation and we hatched them under chickens. Out of the bunch we got about 16 laying hens, our 1940 laying flock. We won the grand championship at the Turkey Trot that year." The next year they had 365 birds hatched from eggs laid by those hens, which was more than they had counted on or had room for. Jack solved the problem by keeping the babies in his room until quarters could be provided. That little foundation flock has grown until the present laying flock is about 7,000 hens, and the feed bill runs well over $100,000 a year. Besides the eggs, the Wallis ranch produces turkeys for breeding stock and others to go to market at Thanksgiving and Christmas to furnish dinners for 5,000 or more Texas families. Since the introduction of the broad-breasted bronze, turkey breeders have continually sought to improve the quality of their flocks. They are particularly interested in increasing the percentage of meat to bone. The Wallis birds are kept less than 200 yards from the big Wallis ranch house under glaring floodlights, for Texas has something new—the turkey rustler. Watchdogs, some of which have been trained to herd the turkeys like sheep dogs herd sheep, help ward off rustlers. With so many birds around, do the Wallises eat turkey often? "Only once or twice a year," Jack says, with a twinkle in his eye. "They're too high!"

Eyes Of Business On Auto Makers

NEW YORK (AP) — Automakers started rolling in high gear this week as other segments of the economy waited anxiously to learn whether motor industry activity will spark a general business upturn. The car industry holds a vital key to prospects for the balance of the year. If the 1961 models go over well with the public and production is high, the output of steel, copper, glass, tires, automobile textiles and other materials would be stimulated.

Kennedy Building Brain Trust In Case He's Next President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy is tapping an academic "brain trust," heavily favored with Harvard professors and other Ivy League talent, to help chart the "new frontier" program he would pursue if elected to the White House. The Washington Post says the loosely knit coterie of campus intellectuals is united on one central theme: they tell Kennedy that "if he wins he must be a strong president, in the image of either Roosevelt." Most of them, says the Post, believe Kennedy would make the kind of president they want. Of the current advisers, 11 are listed from Harvard, 10 from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and one each from Yale and Princeton. Kennedy himself is a Harvard graduate, class of 1940. DIFFERENT AIR The Post, which interviewed many of the unofficial advisers, says the group functions in an atmosphere different from that in which the original "brain trust" flourished during Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal regime. FDR's early advisers included such once familiar names as Rer-ford Guy Tugwell, Raymond Moley, Benjamin V. Cohen, Thomas G. (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran, Harry Hopkins and Samuel L. Rosenman. All held comparatively minor government posts, below cabinet rank, but exerted powerful influence on the nation's affairs. The Kennedy advisers for the most part are newcomers to the political scene, though quite a few of them held federal jobs in Washington during FDR's New Deal or Harry S. Truman's Fair Deal administrations. LARGEST GROUP Describing the new Kennedy setup as "the largest group of American intellectuals ever brought together in one political campaign," the Post says: "This collection of advisers, which Kennedy started putting together two years ago, is not a brain trust in the old meaning of the term. Its members are young and brilliant, but not many are well known to the public. "With some exceptions, they are outside of the tactical direction of the campaign and of the final formulation of Kennedy's positions."

While the professors pump their ideas to Kennedy in a voluminous flow of memos, position papers and telegrams, the Post indicates that for down-to-earth campaign strategy Kennedy relies chiefly on his own staff and on such Democratic bigwigs as Adlai E. Stevenson, Chester Bowles and W. Averell Harriman. OFFER ADVICE As for the 30-odd professors in the brain trust, they offer advice on problems in foreign affairs, defense, labor, economics, civil rights, urban affairs, and so on. Much of it may be politically impractical, the newspaper says, and may never become a part of Kennedy's plans, but "their ideas may set the orientation of the Kennedy campaign." Referring to Prof. Archibald Cox, Harvard law expert who is "chairman" of the brain trust, the Post says: "Sometimes when a major subject like defense is to be developed, Cox and Kennedy will meet with a squad of scholars at Harvard or in Washington." Cox, 48, a full-time worker on Kennedy's campaign staff, served in the Justice and Labor departments in World War II and was chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board for a brief period during the Korean War. He quit the wage board after four months, in 1952, resigning in protest when President Truman overrode the board's recommendation to cut a pay increase won by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers. TALKS CLEARED The Post says all of Kennedy's speeches are cleared through Cox, who "directs a steady flow of inquiries on public policy to Harvard, MIT and other points in Kennedy's Ivy League circuit." The Post says Kennedy "made gestures at the academic world as early as 1953," and the brain trust has been growing since 1958. Last January, the newspaper says, a dozen professors from the academic community around Boston met with Kennedy at a Harvard Club breakfast in Boston and urged him to campaign for "a strong presidency." At this time, the advisory group, led by Cox, included Prof. Earl Latham of Amherst; Paul A. Freund, Abe Chayes, Mark De Wolfe Howe, Ernest May and Dr. Dean A. Clark, all of Harvard; Walt Whitman Rostow, Max F. Millikan, Paul A. Samuelson, Robert C. Wood, Walter Rosenblith and Jerome B. Wiesner, all of MIT, and Larry Levy of

Nebraska Surprises Texas Steers 14-13

By ED OVERHOLSER AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Nebraska's converted quarterback, Pat Fischer, galloped 76 yards for one touchdown and scored another on an end sweep to lead the spirited Nebraska Cornhuskers to a 14-13 upset of Texas Saturday night. Texas, stopped almost completely by Nebraska in the second and third periods, fought back with a score late in the final quarter but missed on an all-or-nothing play for two points. A Texas field goal from the 17 with one minute left was short. Fischer, a left half last year, churned 76 yards on a punt return and then directed the Cornhuskers 34 yards for a second score following a Texas quick kick good for only 30 yards. His pass to fullback Bill (Thunder) Thornton got the two points that meant the difference in the game.

No Doubt About It

Jimmy Lasater (with ball) of Pecos ran all the way to touchdown-land on this play, snapped by Keith McMillin, Daily Herald photographer, but the play was called back for obvious reasons.

Lasater had stepped out of bounds. Pecos never came close to scoring again and Big Spring won a 13-0 decision. The game was played in Pecos.

Texas Tech Surges By West Texas In Opener

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Texas Tech scored first and never was headed Saturday night as the Red Raiders opened the season with a 38-14 victory over West Texas State. Quarterback Glen Amerson and halfback Dickie Poison put on a big offensive show. A crowd of 30,000—largest ever to see a Tech opener—turned out. The Raiders built a 21-6 halftime lead and coasted from there.

They rolled up 457 yards rushing and passing. Amerson scored the first touchdown with a 12-yard run, threw two touchdown passes and kicked a 25-yard field goal.

Jake Gibbs Pitches Rebs To 42-0 Win At Houston

HOUSTON (AP)— Jake Gibbs broke open a tough Houston defense with three touchdown passes Saturday night as powerful Mississippi opened its season with a 42-0 victory over the University of Houston.

The Rebels, ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press preseason poll, gained only 21 yards rushing the first half, but the passes by Gibbs built the way for a second half runaway.

All six Rebel touchdowns came on passes as Mississippi worked against a Houston line that held a 13-pound per man weight advantage.

Ashburn's Blow Kayoes Dodgers

CHICAGO (AP)— Richie Ashburn's three-run double capped a five-run, eighth inning rally and gave the Chicago Cubs a 7-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday.

Shorthorns Edge Snyder B, 16-8

A late half rally paid off for the Big Spring High School B team in a Saturday night engagement with the Snyder reserves here. The Dodgers won by a score of 16-8.

Snyder scored in the first period and Big Spring showed little in the way of an offensive punch until after the intermission.

Danny Coats put the Shorthorns back in contention with a third period touchdown, after which Gene Lamb tied the count with a run for the extra point.

In the fourth, Rickey Wisener gathered in a Snyder punt and raced 70 yards across the double stripes for the tally that put Big Spring into the lead for the first time. Lamb again added two points to the Shorthorns' aggregate with a run.

Beman Winner Over Gardner

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Deane Beman, a compact little guy who loves pressure, brought the course, par and Bob Gardner to their knees Saturday and captured the 60th National Amateur Golf Championship with a relentless 4 and 4 triumph.

Brilliant iron play and clutch putting when he needed it the most spun the 22-year-old Maryland senior around 32 holes at the sun-drenched St. Louis Country Club course in a spectacular 5 under par.

Beman, 1959 British Amateur champion winning his first U.S. Amateur, had a 3-under-par 68 in taking a 3-put lead over the 30-year-old New Yorker in the morning 18 holes of a title duel scheduled for 36 holes.

After lunch, the compact collegian was a bit more conservative — content to match Gardner's steady drone of pars until the chance for a birdie came up.

Then, sensing the kill, he hammered in an 18-foot putt on the 28th hole to go 4-up and hit an approach shot 4 feet from the pin at the 31st. He got another birdie before wrapping up the match with a par 4 to Gardner's bogey 5 at the 32nd.

Cheered on by his wife Minnie, who is expecting their second child in January, the kid with the cherubic face and confident air never gave Gardner a chance after the first nine holes of the morning round. Beman's parents also were in the gallery.

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Tony Curry doubled with the bases loaded for three runs in the 10th inning Saturday to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 5-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

LSU Blanks Aggies In Season's Debut

By JACK OWENS BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)— Halfback Wendell Harris jumped into All-America Billy Cannon's vacated shoes Saturday night and powered Louisiana State to a 9-0 football victory over stubborn Texas A&M.

The Tiger defense punctured the powerful Aggie punting game for the break that led to their touchdown.

OVER TCU, 21-7

John Hadl Leads Kansas To Win

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas University scored two touchdowns in the first quarter, played solid defense, then added an insurance touchdown in the final period to hand Texas Christian University a 21-7 defeat in a nonconference football game Saturday.

The victory, earned in 93-degree heat, was only the third for the Kansans in the 18-game series. Junior quarterback John Hadl

Smyer Winner Over G. City

SMYER — Smyer muzzled the Garden City running power and won an eight-man football decision here Friday night, 36-12.

Smyer crowded all its touchdowns into the first three quarters while Gary McDaniel counted for the Bears in the first and Doug Parker bruised across on a keeper play in the fourth.

Lamesa Skips Past Ector

ODESSA — Lamesa rebounded from its opening defeat at the hands of Midland, beating Ector by a score of 20-8 here Friday.

was the key man in the triumph, scoring touchdowns on runs of 52 and 16 yards. Sophomore halfback Bert Coan, who only a year ago transferred to Kansas from TCU, ran a yard for the only Jayhawk touchdown and fullback John Suter kicked three conversions.

McDaniel went 47 yards on his jump while Parker galloped for 20 yards.

Smyer outgained the visitors by 330 yards to 168.

Garden City threatened to score on two other occasions but couldn't muster the necessary power.

Bill Richardson's Kats will play host to powerful Jayton next Friday night.

Steers Decision Eagles, 12 to 0

By TOMMY HART
PECOS—While a rock-ribbed defense inspired by the play of Bobby Pryor, Richard Atkins and

All Cobb contained every Pecos threat, the Big Spring Steers cashed in on two scoring opportunities in the second quarter

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Perhaps the foremost reason for Brownwood's shocking football win over San Angelo recently hasn't been brought to light . . . A local friend of Gordon Wood points out that Gordon considered himself a front runner for the San Angelo coaching job until he read in the paper that Emory Bellard had been hired . . . Seems he had been assured by someone close to the San Angelo school system that the two of them would be called in for a final interview and given a chance to present their credentials . . . Wood understandably felt considerably "let down" when he got the news second hand that he had been passed over in favor of Bellard . . . He started conditioning his Brownwood troops to humiliate San Angelo almost from the instant he arrived on the scene and the results speak for themselves . . . Wood, by the way, is building quite a gridiron machine at Brownwood, using sophomores in a lot of key spots . . . His club may become the dominant team in District 4-AAA, a conference that includes Breckenridge . . . Incidentally, Gordon placed his application for the local position at the suggestion of some local people, before Emmett McKenzie was hired, but probably was lightly regarded because the school board never reasoned he'd seriously regard any overtures directed his way . . . It's universally agreed that Wood is one of the really great schoolboy coaches in Texas and the school is extremely lucky that has him under contract . . . Some of the assistants who worked under Bob Harrell at San Angelo, by the way, aren't admirers of Bellard . . . They tell intimates Emory informed them he would look favorably upon their continued employment within the system, yet never called them in for interviews . . . Bellard has a mammoth job in trying to equal Harrell's record at San Angelo . . . It's going to be interesting to see if the anvil chorus in the Concho City will give him time to mould a winner.

and played conservatively the rest of the way to win a 12-0 football verdict here Friday night. The win was the second in two starts for the Longhorns. Pecos is now 1-1.

The Steers scored seven seconds deep in the second round when halfback James Gilbert scooted around left end from three yards away. The touchdown culminated a drive of 29 yards, set in motion when Pryor recovered a Pecos fumble.

Ronnie Clanton tried to power across for the two extra points but was thrown to earth behind the line of scrimmage. It appeared that the two teams would go to their dressing-rooms at the intermission with the Longhorns leading 7-0.

James Gilbert (24) of Big Spring, who scored a touchdown during the game, is shown picking up short yardage in the above picture. About to put the clamps on him is Scott Medaniel of Pecos. The game took place in Pecos Friday night and was won by Big Spring, 12-0.

Richardson's Blow Defeats O's, 5-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Richardson, the smallest Yankee of them all, got his biggest hit of the year Saturday. It was a bases-filled single that drove in two runs in the eighth inning, giving New York a 5-3 victory over Baltimore and a two-game lead over the second place Orioles in the stretch run for the American League pennant.

Richardson's game-winning blow was a line drive back to the box that pitcher Chuck Estrada managed to get his glove on but could not hold. The ball, hit hard, sped past second baseman Billy Klaus into short right center and before fielder Jackie Brandt could retrieve it, Yogi Berra scored the tie-breaking run from third and Bill Skowron followed him home from second. Estrada, who went all the way in sustaining his 10th defeat against 17 victories, walked Bill Skowron intentionally to set up a possible double play. The 22-year-old right-hander, however, walked pinch hitter John Blanchard unintentionally, leading the bases and setting up Richardson's decisive blow.

Mistakes Hurt As SMU Loses

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Tigers, with end Danny Larose leading vicious line play, overpowered the Southern Methodist University Mustangs 20-0 Saturday for their first season-opening football victory since 1947.

Each Missouri touchdown, in the first third and fourth quarter, followed a mistake by the big Southwest Conference team, but it was rugged defensive play of the Tigers that softened the way for victory.

Fullback Ed Mehrer smacked over from the one for the first touchdown after teammate Skip Snyder's 15-yard return of a pass interception gave the Tigers possession on SMU's 27.

Abilene Eagles Topple Ponies

SWEETWATER—Abilene's Eagles took on added stature in Texas high school football circles by edging Sweetwater, 20-6, in a football game played before 10,000 here Friday night.

Fumbles were costly to the Class AAA Mustangs, who out-gained the Eagles in the air and on the ground and made 18 first downs to only 13 for Abilene.

The Eagles counted first in the second quarter when they recovered a Sweetwater fumble on the Mustang 18 and drove for the score with fullback Wylie Newman bucking over from a yard out. Jack Middlebrooks kicked the extra point.

Track Outlook Darkens At HCJC

Here's the probable bowl alignment for the post-season games: COTTON — Alabama vs. Texas; ROSE — Washington vs. Texas; SUGAR — Ole Miss vs. Texas; CHRISTIAN — Orange — Georgia Tech vs. Kansas; GATOR — Clemson vs. Georgia; LIBERTY — Pittsburgh vs. Tennessee; BLUE-BONNET — Arkansas vs. Air Force Academy . . . The Big Ten may send a team to the Rose Bowl again but it's doubtful because few of the top ranking teams in the Western Conference, Ohio State and Illinois, voted against renewing the pact . . . The stock of the Howard County Junior College track and field team suffered a slump when pole vaulter Cecil Bryant of Kermitt, who has cleared 13 feet 9 inches, decided to return to Texas Tech rather than come here . . . Another pole vaulter who was supposed to attend here, Terry Dow of Wink, went instead to North Texas State College . . . Buddy Travis the HCJC cage instructor, got practically all the athletes

Attendance Record Possible Here

If all conditions are favorable, a new attendance record for a Big Spring home football game could be set here next Friday night, at which time the Snyder Tigers visit Memorial Stadium . . . In November, 1954, the Steers met Sweetwater before 6,400 paying customers here and that record still stands . . . In 1956, the first year Big Spring occupied its new stadium, Abilene—with such horses as Glenn Gregory and Jim Carpenter in the lineup—played before 5,066 here . . . The biggest throng ever to see a local team in action, in all probability, turned out in Breckenridge in 1954, at which time 6,949 watched the Buckies flog the Steers and win their way into the state playoffs.

he went after, including Nelson Gilbreath of Sulphur Springs, who stands close to 6-feet-8 . . . The Jayhawk eagles have already started light workouts . . . Travis, by the way, says now it will probably be 1961 before he markets his Notebook, a scoring chart that will prove to be of great help to coaches who put it to use . . . Many of those who attended the Olympic Games as spectators were heavy smokers, with the result that the hotel people and restaurant operators claim they lost money during the two weeks of activity . . . Gambling on soccer games will help to pay the Italians' investment in the Games . . . The Midland High School football team has drawn five home crowds of more than 10,000 each in the past five seasons and three of them have been when Lamesa was the guest team . . . The Bulldogs have attracted more than 10,000 only once away from home—on a 1955 outing with Corpus Christi Miller.

hadn't graduated . . . He's only 18. . . Some members of the Big Spring High School B football team say the aggressiveness and confidence of the A squad probably rubbed off THEM rather than the other way around, as this writer suggested recently . . . The B leaders reminded that they (as Ninth Graders) were beaten only once as a unit last fall.

2 Jury Panels Drawn For County Service

First two jury panels for duty in Howard County Court, since the wheel was installed to replace the jury commission in Howard County, were drawn Friday afternoon.

Judge Carpenter is following the plan adopted by the district court of drawing a larger number of panel members than was usually required when the commission selected the jurors.

Unruly Wind Injures Girl

Henrietta Perry, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Perry, 1207 18th, had a demonstration Friday noon that it is not always safe even when one does nothing careless and abides strictly by all the rules of safety.

She was the luckless victim of a sudden whirlwind which picked up a loose piece of plywood siding, blasted it into the air and slammed it against her as she stood on the curb waiting for a car to take her home from school.

Mrs. Virgil Long, 1800 Dixie, said that Henrietta and Mrs. Long's daughter, Kandia, 12, got out of school at noon Monday. They were waiting at the corner of 16th and Goliad for Mrs. Long to pick them up and give them a ride home.

mothers took the girl to the hospital. She was X-rayed and given treatment for abrasions and bruises.

Labor Leader Hits Sales Tax

AUSTIN (AP)—A union labor leader said Saturday that adding a general sales tax to what he called the present disproportionate state tax structure would be an outrage.

Fred Schmidt, member of the Governor's State Finance Advisory Commission, wrote his views to Dr. George Hester, chairman of the subcommittee on sources of additional revenue.

Holiday For Bing

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—The Moomba Mardi Gras Festival, to be held next March, has offered Bing Crosby a free two-week holiday if he'll sing at an open air concert. They decided they could not afford his fee, thus told him he can have a vacation on the house.

Ballet Has Been Tops With Concert Members

Over the years that concert series have been presented here, one of the most popular fares with audiences has been the ballet.

There have been several presentations, and twice the Chicago Civic Art Ballet has been booked. This year, the Big Spring Concert Association is bringing a fresh troupe to the scene, the exciting National Ballet Guild of Canada.

Boasting an almost unlimited repertoire, backed by lavish scenery and orchestra, the ballet features Lois Smith as the prima ballerina and David Adams as the premier danseur. Their collection of reviews by critics is little short of lavish.

Other programs on this season's series include "Herb Shriner in 'Pops Americana'" with famous orchestra leader, Gustav Haenschen, and George Alexander, baritone; the peerless Carlos Montoya and his Flamenco guitar which his artistry at times almost transforms into orchestral effects; and the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington D.C., rated by some as among the five greatest orchestras in the world today.

Season memberships (no single admission tickets are sold for these performances) are now being offered ($8 and $3.50). They may be obtained from any concert board member, at Hanson's and Zack's downtown, or by calling Joe Pickle at the Herald.

Miss Smith is declared to be a dancer who excels in feats of poise and security, one gifted for ease of action and beauty, an artist of appealing feminine grace. Of Adams, the Los Angeles Times critic observed that "it did not take him long to exhibit a brilliant assortment of leaps and entreaties and the kind of elevation that makes for audience excitement."

Among other artists are Cecilia Franca, who is the director of the ballet, Betty Pope, Beverly Banfield, David Scott and Joanne Nisbet, the latter two more recently of the London Festival Ballet.

TESCO Tells Nation Of Opportunities In Texas

The nation's leading business executives are being introduced this month to "The Opportunity Frontier of Texas," which is the basic theme of an area development advertising program by Texas Electric Service Company.

Announcement of the program was made recently in a newspaper advertisement signed by J. B. Thomas, president of the electric company, setting forth the program's objectives. The first of a series of area development messages sponsored by the company is appearing this month in Business Week, Wall Street Journal and The New York Times.

"We want to do our part in helping attract more business and industry to the area we serve," said Thomas. "This area has enjoyed great growth because of the advantages it offers industry; advantages that include growing markets, favorable climate, rich natural resources, a variety of agricultural and industrial products and progress-minded people. Our program is aimed at publicizing these advantages."

The program also includes printed material for use by the electric company, by other local groups working to attract new industry to this area. Kits containing reproductions of advertising and a brochure are being made available to chamber of commerce officials and others.

"The Opportunity Frontier" already is getting wide publicity. The September issue of Texas Parade magazine carries a four-page story and pictures describing "The Opportunity Frontier" and the area development advertising program of Texas Electric Service Company. It points out that "in the area of the frontier, total population has increased by 300 per cent since 1940, industrial employment is up by 236 per cent, personal income has grown by 325 per cent, and every barometer indicates growth."

Mexicans, U.S. Solons Make Up On Cuban Issue

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexican government leaders offered a champagne toast Friday night to make amends for a Mexican critic who had implied that the United States was meddling in Cuban affairs.

Mexican parliamentary leaders, led by Senate President Manuel Moreno Sanchez, met in the Senate building and exchanged toasts with three American congressmen who had protested recent remarks made by Deputy Emilio Sanchez Piedras.

As a result of the deputy's remarks the Americans had boycotted a luncheon marking Mexico's 150th anniversary celebration.

Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., and Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz., boycotted the luncheon after Sanchez Piedras told a special session of the Mexican Congress that "Justice assists the noble people of Cuba."

The Americans protested that Sanchez Piedras' remarks had implied that the United States was exerting a sinister influence on Cuba.

2 Greenville Men Killed In Crash

Amazing Surgery

SERVE A NEED

Former Students Attest To Value Of School Bible Class

Three former students in the high school Bible Class have added their testimony as to the value of the course.

In statements furnished to the Herald, Charles Dunagan, Linda Hickson and Alvin Hiltbrunner told why they believe the classes serve a need.

Currently the Big Spring Pastors Association is appealing for funds (note page 1) to support the program because under state law, tax funds may not be used for this purpose.

"The classes are strictly non-denominational and approach the Bible for its great moral and ethical teachings, and acquaint the pupil with its materials and how to use the Bible more effectively. Here are some of the statements from the three former students:

"To me, this is one of the most interesting and educational classes in school. Bible is a subject that needs much study, and the rewards are tremendous. The Bible Club, which is composed of the members of the Bible Class, is one of the most active clubs in high school. This really is a worthy class and one that needs the support of everyone. God bless you."—Charles Dunagan.

"We could not have a better qualified person to teach the Bible than Mrs. J. O. Johansen. Her life has indeed been a blessing through the Bible course—as a result of her teaching, I have a much deeper understanding of the Bible and what it has to say to me and the world. The course covers the Bible as thoroughly as possible in the short nine months of the school year, with no denominational teachings whatsoever. "My older brother was fortunate enough to have this course under Mrs. Johansen, and partly through her guidance he has been very active in church work since—as State Youth President and presently as a state director (in our church). I would like to say thanks to the Big Spring Pastors Association and the Christian people of Big Spring for making this course possible."—Linda Hickson.

"The Bible Club meant a great deal to me. It has brought me closer to the Lord and the people around me. Through this course I found the purpose in my life. Through the Bible class I came to a better understanding of the Bible and how to use it in my everyday living. The Bible is not a one-time book, but is a book for everyday of our lives. The Christian fellowships were magnificent in the Bible Club. "Mrs. J. O. Johansen is an excellent teacher and a fine Christian lady. Many students have taken this course and have found a new and brighter outlook on life and have turned to God for guidance in their lives. I think every student in high school should take this course.—Alvin Hiltbrunner.

"All of the gins in Howard County are operating but so far the cotton harvest has not reached the point where these establishments run the clock around. Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said that cotton fields over the county show an amazingly spotty character. Some are fully open and ready for picking. He estimates fields in certain parts of the county at 90 to 95 per cent open.

Others are not more than half opened; still others are just beginning to open. The hot dry weather of the past week has popped bolls in many fields. Cotton picking should be at peak with in another week or 10 days. Ranchers are worried about the parching of pastures. Long delay in the arrival of badly needed rain is playing havoc with the grass. Eracoras are reaching town in increasing numbers. Picking is building up daily. Most recent report of the Texas Employment Commission shows Howard County credited with 374 bales ginned. The report is six days old. Possibly more than 500 bales have been processed by this time.

The TEC estimated on that date that 1,500 workers are needed in the county. Martin County had ginned 287 bales as of Sept. 12. Borden had 35; Dawson, 360, and Mitchell, 344. Glasscock County had ginned 50 bales.

With 24 years of active military service to his credit, M. Sgt. Leroy Mullen signed up for another three-year Air Force hitch last week at Webb AFB.

Sgt. Mullen has been a line chief in the 3560th Flight Line Maintenance Squadron for two years.

The veteran aircraft mechanic began his military career in 1936 when he joined the Army Air Corps. Going overseas in 1943, he served in England with the 438th Troop Carrier Wing until his unit went to France. In the early stages of the building of the Distant Early Warning (DEW) Line in 1947, Sgt. Mullen was stationed at Fort Churchill, Canada, where he did pioneer work in flying in initial equipment for the two-nation project. Sent to Germany in 1948, the sergeant was engaged in the Berlin Airlift operations, for which he was awarded the Medal for Humane Action.

SEATTLE (AP)—Rep. Don Magnuson, D-Wash., forfeited $20 ball Friday on a charge of being drunk.

Magnuson, 49, was held in jail several hours. The ball was forfeited when he did not appear for a hearing.

In Washington's primary last Tuesday Magnuson won the Democratic nomination in the 7th District.

He told the Seattle Times "I had been working hard on the campaign and was celebrating winning the election."

TRAINING STARTS EARLY in leadership of the student body in the local schools. This executive board, at Runnels Junior High School will be added to soon, with the election of more representatives. Two officers and two class representatives are, at left in picture, left, Tony Carrillo, vice president, and Eugene Pennington, president; seated is Jan Anderson, ninth grade representative, and Andrea Askins, eighth grade representative.

IT'S THEIR RESPONSIBILITY (right) to direct the activities of the student body at Big Spring High School, not only along fun lines, but in civic and welfare projects. With vice president, Larry Moore, at left, Janie Harrington, recording secretary, and Ross Reagan, president, as planners, the students carry on drives for food and clothing to be given to needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas; in keeping with holiday decorating, doors at the school are decked in a contest with winners receiving prizes in varying amounts of money, and other ideas are constantly in the making. # Miss Stuteville-R. Pope United In Home Ritual

In a single ring ceremony performed Thursday evening Edith Carol Stuteville, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Stuteville, 1806 Pennsylvania, became the bride of Roy D. Pope, son of Mrs. Maggie Pope of Bay, Calif., and the late Mr. Pope.

The Rev. C. W. Parmenter read the vows in his home, 712 Birdwell Lane.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Ruben E. Steadman, was attired in a white length dress of white brocade taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scooped neckline under a short jacket. She chose white accessories. The bride carried a Bible topped with pink and white roses. Birthdate pennies were worn in her shoes.

The traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue were carried out, with something old being a wedding ring belonging to her great grandmother; a new dress, gloves borrowed from her cousin, Donna Steadman, and a blue garter.

Mrs. L. A. Owens attended the bride as matron of honor and Quana Hydun was bridesmaid. They were dressed in white and corsages of pink carnations.

Joe Land served as best man. Leaving for a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the bride wore

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Only the sweet taste of victory could take the discomfort from the extreme heat in Pecos Friday night. The calendar says it's time to play football but the weather hasn't looked, apparently. People in the stands were counting the breezes; there were three, during the course of the game. The hard working cheering section, caught with their high necked sweaters on, were turning into a sweating section . . . the temperature was more in line with a swim meet or tennis. Besides the heat the candleflies were terrific. In fact, it would have been a terrible night to lose a game . . . the ride home was pleasant, though.

LT. (i.g.) AND MRS. PAT DUNCAN have visited here with his parents, MR. AND MRS. D. C. DUNCAN, en route from Norfolk, Va., to their new assignment at Albuquerque, N. M. Their son, Bobby, who has been in Big Spring with his grandparents since Aug. 1, has enrolled in Rannels Junior High School and will remain here until his parents get settled in Albuquerque.

In Rotan for the weekend are MR. AND MRS. RAY RACKLEY and Mike who will visit the MARTIN RACKLEYS on their farm.

The weekend saw a great exodus of A&M students from Our Town. Beginning their sophomore year are JOHN E. FUCKETT, BENNY WADSWORTH, FRANK TATE, BUDDY ADCOCK, ADRIAN DEFRANFRENRI, DAVE MONTGOMERY, DONALD DORSEY will be a freshman and GEORGE LOWKE is in his third year.

DEE ANN SWEENEY is all set at Tech—was delighted to see former resident, SUE BOLES, who now lives in Cortez, Colo. Sue is registered at Tech also.

U. G. POWELL JR. is studying nuclear engineering at the University of Arizona in Phoenix. U. G. is a graduate of HJCJC and is going to school under the Air Force Plan. He is stationed at Tempe when not in school.

MRS. J. M. OWENS was returned to her home in Fort Worth after visiting in the home of her daughter, MRS. J. D. THOMPSON, and her granddaughter, MRS. PASCHALL ODOM, and their families.

Back from a short stay in Fort Worth are MR. AND MRS. DEWEY PHILLIPS JR., and her sister, MRS. OZELLE MILLER of Midland.

Former residents who were here with friends during the past week were MR. AND MRS. BERNIE FREEMAN of Fort Worth. They visited in the ELMER BOATLER and with other friends.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY HOUSTON have left for Austin after visiting in the home of her grandparents, MR. AND MRS. S. V. JORDAN. Mrs. Houston is the former Paula Martin. During their visit here, Houston spent a day at the observatory in the Davis Mountains and will write his thesis on his findings. He is to complete his work in architecture at the University of Texas the fall semester. Afterward he is to be associated with a firm in Houston.

a navy blue suit with white accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and the bridegroom attended Stanton Schools. He is employed in Big Spring by Taylor Implement Company. The couple will make their home in Big Spring.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Steadman, 2908 Cherokee.

Guests were greeted by the bride couple, the bride's mother and Mr. and Mrs. Steadman.

The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth over pink. Centering the table was an arrangement of pink and white carnations accented with silver foliage.

For Beauty In Spring Garden Plant Evergreens

Evergreens come in assorted shades of green, "blue," "silver," "gold" and even lavender and can lend a happy color note to drab winter landscapes.

Now that the evergreen planting season is in full swing, every home owner can be a color maestro, "orchestrating" attractive foliage harmonies for desired effect, declares L. E. Yarbrough, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Most home grounds have the dark green of the popular taxus to begin with, but from there on in a wide range of color harmonies is available. Junipers, pines, spruces, firs and arborvitae—all can be used for color dynamics.

Junipers in themselves offer wide range. They come from ground cover specimens to the high eastern red cedars of many forms and with color ranging from deep green to silver blue and even lavender tints. Pines run from black greens of the Austrian pine to the light blue-green of the white pine group. The lace bark pines has exfoliating bark, which sheds to create varied patterns. Spruces vary from the somber tones to high blues. Firs are particularly versatile. Many have bicolor needles, dark above and silver below. Such trees seem to change color when viewed from different angles. Firs such as the Concolor are usually classed as "blue". Cedars, although suitable only for mild climates, have a delightfully soft appearance and come in several shades of blue-greens. Arborvitae include all shades of green plus some that are definitely golden, such as the Douglas Hoveyi.

Your neighbors may turn green with envy when they see the other colors you can coax from your evergreens.

Some cooks like to add a halved clove of garlic to the water in which they cook green snap beans.

You know what precision it requires to build a bridge, or an engine, or a watch. The same exactness goes into the construction of a pipe organ.

But the men who make pipe organs, like all others who build, have a feeling for the USE of their product.

An organ will lead hundreds in their worship of God. It will support a talented choir in the rendition of a sacred cantata. Or it will blend with a host of untrained voices to raise a stirring hymn to God. It will sing softly while Christians commune, or thunder majestically a great recessional.

And yet this valuable organ whose creation requires such skill and precision is secondary in the life of the Church. It is simply an instrument, like this weekly advertisement, to help the Church fulfill its Mission. That Mission is to lead you, and your family, and your world, to the Lord.

When the organ calls men to worship — be there!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Collector Of Antiques

Mrs. Stella Merrill, displays an antique tea pot, several more antiques in her collection, including 100 years old. In the background may be seen 13 early American pressed glass goblets.

Mrs. Stella Merrill Is Collector Of Antiques

Mrs. Stella Merrill, is making her home at 706 Tulane following her retirement in Washington, D.C., where she was secretary to Congressman Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls for seven years.

After his retirement she stayed on as secretary to Congressman Frank Icard, also of Wichita Falls. Mrs. Merrill, a collector of antiques, finds herself with a very fascinating hobby. In the living room of her home may be seen a gold carved grape basket which was used in the grape vineyards of either France or Italy. Also in the living room is a mirror which is over 60 years old and on the wall are two French plaques of fleur-de-lis. Standing in one corner is an original teak wood wig stand.

In the bedroom of the house is a brass poster bed about 65 years old. This is one of her most treasured possessions.

Mrs. Merrill, who once attended a tea in the White House, with Mrs. Harry Truman as hostess, has two antique frames from Rome containing alabaster angels that were blessed by the Pope.

Another interesting, as well as beautiful, piece in Mrs. Merrill's home is a Chinese camphor chest, which was brought out of China before the communists took over that country.

The tea pot which Mrs. Merrill is holding in the picture is about 160 years old. She bought it at an antique shop, and inside may still be found the note written to a newly married couple from their grandparents; it states that in 1917, at which date it was written, the pot was 117 years old. Mrs. Merrill is the sister of Mrs. L. E. Coleman, 211 Union. They are the only living members of their family of six brothers and sisters.

The newcomer was born and reared in Smith County. She took part of her schooling in Tyler. She taught in a one-room school in Starville not far from the place where she was born. In 1923, after taking a business course and working for a while in a Tyler office, she moved to Sweetwater to work with the board of City Development. For 16 years before going to Washington she worked for a savings and loan firm in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and her sister-in-law, and Mrs. Morris Patterson, ran up a score of 78 per cent, which is the highest recorded in the local games. Considered excellent is a percentage of 65.

The pair was tops in the games played by east-west, with Mrs. Glenn Riley and Mrs. Arliss Ratliff, both of Garden City, second; Mrs. C. A. Jones and Mrs. George McGann, third, and a tie between Mrs. Harvey Williamson and Mrs. J. Y. Robb, Mrs. J. H. Holloway and Mrs. J. D. Robertson.

In north-south play winners were Mrs. Wright Boyd and Mrs. Henry Stafford, both of Lamesa; first; Mrs. R. E. McKinney and Mrs. Floyd Mayes, second; Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. R. R. McEwen of LaJolla, Calif., third; Mrs. Don Newsum and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, fourth; Mrs. Carl Benson and Mrs. D. A. Brazel, fifth. Fourteen tables were needed to accommodate the players.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Hall have had out of town guests.

Returning from a fishing trip near Brownwood were Mr. and Mrs. Mason Coggin, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Christopher, Elmo Reed and Jerry Henson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wells have had guests visiting in their home. The group made a tour to Cloudcroft, Ruidoso, Carlsbad Caverns, N. M., El Paso and Juarez, Mexico.

Use Camouflage

There's magic in every little container of rouge. Used as shading on spots other than the cheeks, rouge can play down features that are not quite what you'd like them to be. Make puffy eyelids look less so—and give the eyes greater sparkle—by touching a bit of rouge just under each eyebrow and blending it into the surrounding area. A long nose, too, can be made to look shorter with a shading of rouge just under the tip.

Welfare Rolls Show Fewer Get Checks

By SAM BLACKBURN
Despite increase in population in the past two years, there are fewer Howard County individuals on the payroll of the local State welfare department now than in either 1958 or 1959.

Part of this development stems from a tightening down of restrictions on people who claim dependent children assistance. Stricter check is being made now of applicants for this sort of aid than formerly.

As a result, the overall total of individuals who receive monthly checks from the State Welfare Department is smaller.

In August, according to the records of the State Welfare office in the Howard County Courthouse, 673 local individuals were sent benefit checks for a total of $90,458. This is an average payment per person of $134.41.

For August 1959, checks were sent to 713 persons. The total amount was $90,554. The average was $127.00.

In August 1958, the welfare department sent checks to 675 individuals. The total was $26,490. The average was $39.09. However, since 1958, there has been one blanket increase in monthly payments, which accounts for the sharp variance in average payments.

The number of persons receiving checks are those in the old age bracket. The number of such beneficiaries on the county list does not change materially from year to year or from month to month. It is explained that deaths among the older people account for a part of this stabilizing effect; the number of new applicants for old age assistance just about offsets the number who die.

Others, who might be included in the lists, are receiving Social Security checks. There is no question but that this latter program absorbs a great many older citizens who otherwise would have to rely on the Old Age Benefit program of the welfare department.

McMillon Elected To High Post

WASHINGTON — An Abilene resident has been elected vice president of The National Association of Life Underwriters, the world's oldest and largest life insurance organization of its kind. He is R. L. McMillon, district manager for the Business Men's Assurance Company.

An Abilene native, McMillon attended Tarleton State College, during World War II he served in the Army Air Force for 3½ years. He is a past president of the West Texas Association of Life Underwriters and of the Texas State Association of Life Underwriters.

This source, it is pointed out that there were 482 on the rolls for August, 1960. For August, 1959, the total was 478 and for August, 1958, the number was 466. There are only 16 more old-age clients now than there were in 1958.

The average payment to OAB clients for last month in this county was $53.01. In 1959, the average check was $52.01. In 1958, (before the $5 per month blanket increase) the average was $46.14.

Total payments made to the OAB clients last month was $25,549, compared with $24,857 for the August last year.

Assuming that the August total was an average month's figure, the OAB payments to the 673 clients in the county for a year, would be slightly less than $320,000.

Statewide, there are 221,894 on the OAB rolls, who received August payments of $11,745,699. The state average per person is $52.95. In 1959, there were 223,365 on the rolls. One year earlier, the total was 224,836.

Seven blind persons in Howard County got checks averaging $49.43 for last month. In 1959, the number of beneficiaries was the same but the average check was 14 cents greater. In 1958, there were six on the rolls.

Statewide, there are 6,376 persons currently receiving aid for the blind. The state average is $59.52 per person.

Fifty-one Howard County families, with 18 children, received $3,865 in aid to dependent children benefits last month. This is an average per child of $21.47; per family payment average was $75.78.

To show how the tightening of requirements for such aid has made itself, there were 70 families with 219 children on the rolls in August, 1959 and 64 families with 197 children in the same month of 1958. Statewide, there are 19,402 families with 61,617 children on the Aid to Dependent Children rolls. This compares with 23,585 families and 74,594 children in August a year ago and 25,146 families with 82,064 children in August, 1958.

One of the newer programs—now about three years old—under the State Welfare Program is aid to the totally disabled. Here, it is said, requirements to qualify for such assistance are particularly stern and as a result there are only 14 recipients now in this county. In 1958, there were six and only nine in 1959.

Average payment to these individuals for August was $53.57. Statewide, there were 6,449 totally disabled persons on the state rolls as of August, 1959. This is nearly double the number of recipients on the rolls in August, 1958. Total payments last month to these persons in Texas was $350,464. In the same month, 1958, the total was $138,183.

Offices for Area 53, including a large number of West Texas counties, are in the basement of the Howard County Court House. Area director is T. J. Compton.

Odessa Makes Plea To FCC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission granted these applications for radio stations: Odessa, Tex.—James F. McCubbin, FM on 96.9 megacycles. The commission authorized KDWT, Stamford, Tex., to change from specified hours to unlimited time, using 250 watts power around the clock.

Africans Suspect Aid From America

LUBBOCK — The whole African world is looking to the U. S. for leadership, a Texas Tech faculty member who has just returned from the tumultuous continent declares.

But if the U. S. doesn't provide that aid with no strings attached, Africans will seek help elsewhere, Charles Wendt of Tech's agronomy faculty said.

Wendt said he spent five weeks in the Sudan as a consultant in ways to improve cotton production. The Sudanese government paid his expenses.

So far there have been no strings attached to Communist aid and that is why the independent-minded Africans are willing to consider help from Russia although they still would prefer it from us, he continued.

Wendt said U. S. government aid is looked on with suspicion because it is withheld in economic areas that might increase competition with the U. S. On the other hand, the Russians have offered aid in any area desired.

In Wendt's opinion, the U. S. must help the Sudanese modernize their cotton industry even though the product will compete with ours. He recommends sending some qualified Americans with production experience to work with the Sudanese, helping them to help themselves.

Wendt found interest high in racial problems at Little Rock and in the Negro sit-in demonstrations through the South.

We Surrender

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—On the desk of a Des Moines advertising executive is a sign which reads: "They said it couldn't be done—so we didn't even try."

Sudan is a new and undeveloped country with very rich soil, he reported. The vast potential, production-wise, seems unbelievable. Of 106 million acres of dry land, only five million are in use and that primarily by hand cultivation.

Wendt said the country could furnish food and fiber for a population equal to that of Europe. Sudan was once under British rule but is now independent.

VA Sponsors Film Showing

The general public is invited to attend a short film dealing with mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, Monday, in the Recreation Room on the second floor of the Hospital.

Showings of the film, "50,000 Lives," will be at 7:30 p.m., 8 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. All are open to the public. A special showing for Boy Scouts will be at 7 p.m.

The 19½ minute color sound film demonstrates the various steps in giving mouth-to-mouth respiration and the use of the resuscitator. It also demonstrates the proper procedures for adults and children.

Artificial respiration is used in many instances other than drowning. The film was made by Johnson and Johnson with the cooperation of the Baltimore Fire Department and the Department of Anesthesiology of the Baltimore City Hospital.

A showing is also being held for hospital personnel.

BISHOP R. HEBER GOODEN

Visiting Bishop To Address Episcopalians Wednesday

The Missionary Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese, comprising the Panama Canal Zone, Republic of Panama, and the Republic of Columbia, will visit St. Mary's Episcopal Church Wednesday, Sept. 21st.

Bishop R. Heber Gooden, who directs the extensive Spanish and English ministry, has been bishop in the Canal Zone since 1945. His jurisdiction has been described as the crossroads of the world. This district is one of the largest in the world-wide Anglican Church.

The communicants include thousands of American military personnel, as well as, Panamanian and West Indian peoples.

Bishop Gooden, himself the son of the late Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles, was educated at Harvard Military Academy, Stanford University, and the Berkeley Divinity School. Before becoming a Bishop, he was Rector of St. Paul's Church, Camaguey, Cuba, 1935-39, and Dean of the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity in Havana.

On his Missionary staff, he has some 25 native West Indian clergy who minister to the descendants of those who came from the West Indian Islands to dig the Canal and to build the Panama Railroad.

St. Mary's Parish members will welcome Bishop Gooden at a potluck parish supper at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. He will address the group at an 8 p.m. meeting.

Visitor Looks At Us

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—During his third visit to the United States, Ashok B. Singh, a Calcutta, India, high school principal, offered this conclusion:

"I find that man is still the master of the machine here, and woman the master of man. It is well with this country."

Officers Urge Safety Sticker Compliance

Too many Howard County cars are operating without current year safety inspection stickers.

State Highway Patrol Officers say that a check has shown a large number of vehicles which do not bear the required sticker. They agree that in many cases, the sticker was probably originally in place but that through the months which have passed, it has become detached and lost.

This, according to the law, is no excuse for operating the car without a sticker. The motorist who does so runs a risk of being picked up and perhaps fined for his oversight.

The new 1961 stickers are now on hand. If the 1960 stamp is missing from your car, the advice of the patrol is that you go to one of the numerous stations and have your car cleared for the ensuing year. If you have either a 1960 sticker or a new 1961 model attached to the lower left hand corner of your windshield, the law is satisfied.

Former Circus Attraction Dies

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A former circus attraction who traveled for many years billed as America's smallest woman died Thursday at the age of 76.

The 40-pound, 3-foot-8 Miss Jennie Reynolds retired seven years ago after travels with the Ringling Bros. Circus that took her to every state and Canada. Until her death, she lived here with a sister.

A Devotional For Today

Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you. (Matthew 5:44.)
 PRAYER: Many things in our lives we would see changed, O Father. We cannot change them ourselves. Answer our prayer that they may be changed by Thee. In the name of Christ. Amen.

(From The "Upper Room").

Blessing Of Spontaneous Generosity

The dedication of a new home for Crippled Children in the Big Spring area is set for this afternoon, and we take great pride in this new facility.
 Many cities much larger and much more richly endowed with material goods than our community do not have such an institution.
 The real reason for pride, however, is not the building, but the people who care about helping youngsters who suffer from some physical impairment or limitations, and second because the building and its equipment resulted from the spontaneous generosity of our people.

 The various crafts of organized labor gave time while businesses, organizations and individuals contributed materials and money to make the facility possible.
 The result is something which possesses great utility and permanence and which is a civic asset to the community. Surely such a generosity will be honored with the blessings of God in its ministry to this area's crippled children.

Good Time To Start Right

Church activity is in the air, and it's all to the good of our community.
 Last evening the St. Mary's Episcopal Church held its Loyalty Dinner as a prelude to an intensive stewardship campaign. The St. Thomas Catholic Church is in the midst of a new plant at the south edge of the City. Recently Wesley Methodist occupied a lovely new sanctuary. East Fourth Baptist is on the threshold of resuming its new sanctuary project.
 Elsewhere congregations are stepping up the tempo of their activities, including a new Methodist Church.
 This fits into the pattern of settling down to normal routines of operation after the displacements of the summer season. The modern church faces fierce competition what with so many diversions, the fast automobile and good roads. As a practical matter, the necessity of stabilizing the home center during the school year works happily to the advantage of the church program.

 Perhaps the church shouldn't be crowded out in the first place, but accepting things as they are and working from there, we suggest that every congregation in the city would do well to be alert to its opportunities at this particular season. The habits of a year may be established now if workers are diligent, faithful and consecrated. Moreover, if all are pushing at the same time, the overall results will be greater.

Why Was There A Strike?

WASHINGTON—Neither presidential candidate will discuss the problem—because both are afraid to antagonize one side or the other politically—yet it's of paramount importance to the country. It involves a simple question: Why was there a strike on the Pennsylvania Railroad?

Everybody knows who lost the strike—the public. Untold millions of dollars of damage was done to the business of countless bystanders who were not parties to the dispute. Hardships were imposed on individuals who were unable to travel because the railroad was shut down.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT stood by helplessly. Not a single law on the statute book authorizes the executive branch of the government to act. Congress was in session when the strike was threatened and knew that there were no laws available to take care of the public interest. Yet nothing was done.

Now, when the strike is over, Michael Quill, the union leader, claims victory, and the board chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad says "this strike should never have happened" and that Quill "finally made an agreement that he could have had without a strike."

But when a devastating strike of this kind happens, there usually is no post-mortem. The public never finds out just who is to blame and whether the strike really could have been avoided. Efforts to get at the truth are usually blocked by the desire of both parties in a strike to let bygones be bygones and not to stir up new antagonisms. This time the management side has issued a statement which plainly says that whatever was wrong will not cost the railroads more than a million dollars a year and that what was offered before the strike amounted to approximately the same figure.

THE RAILROADS had strike insurance financed by other railroads to help them cut down their losses during the strike, while the union members had strike benefits of their own awarded them from a federal fund financed by a special tax levied on the railroads.

Under the circumstances, it is amazing to find that the labor leaders of the country have been silent. They have not denounced the failure of the union to accept arbitration or fact-finding boards that would come up with binding recommendations for settlement. Yet this is one of the few procedures still available to bring into play the processes of reason.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, although previously opposed to compulsory arbitration, was willing in the months preceding the strike to accept the verdict of an impartial judge and to be bound by the settlement. Michael Quill refused. Yet when two citizens are involved in a dispute as to compensation under a contract, they go to court and find themselves bound by a form of compulsory arbitration.

THE RAILROADS are a "regulated monopoly." The rates for passenger and

A Fresh Report On Atmosphere Of The Holy Land

I have just returned from my third summer trip to Jerusalem, Jordan. People ask in surprise, "Why go in the summertime? Isn't it terribly hot?"
 Actually Jerusalem, being 2,000 feet above sea level, has a delightful summer climate. It is indeed hot in the direct sun, but it's a dry heat with minimum humidity, perhaps three per cent. Step into the shade and at once you feel cool and refreshed.

BLUE CLOUDLESS SKIES feature every day. It never rains in summer, one radiant day following another in endless charming succession. And the nights are extraordinarily pleasant. Not one night did I fail to sleep under a blanket. I brought back memories of balmy summer nights sitting in the courtyard beside the tinkling fountain, stars overhead, a bright moon shining into tall trees and a breeze stirring the flowers. This is Jerusalem in summer. It's fascinating, incomparable.

Of course, when you go down to Jericho and the Dead Sea it is really hot, but to me it's a healthy heat, not at all enervating. As a matter of fact, I found the hot dry air quite therapeutic in its effect. I felt good the whole time I was there.

But it is the exalted beauty of the land of Jordan that gets you. Late afternoon merging into twilight over the mountains of Judea is one of the most beautiful sights in this world of beauty. One pastel shade blends into another as the long shaft of the setting sun spotlights the Mount of Olives and moves over the most famous landscape of this earth. It was such scenes that Jesus saw as with His disciples He walked the hills when the day was far spent. Such a scene must have inspired the Psalmist to write, "I will lift up my eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help."
 And that glorious evening when I watched the moon rise from behind the mountains of Moab to send a long silvery pathway across the Dead Sea, that was the moonlight experience of a lifetime.

There in the misty light of the moon loomed mysterious Mount Nebo from which Moses gazed upon the promised land and on what summit somewhere known only to God sleeps the mighty lawgiver.
 To Nebo's left, brooding in the moonlight, towered the Mount of Temptation, on the heights of which the Devil offered to Jesus the Kingdom of this world in exchange for his fealty, which offer was of course repudiated. Beyond the Dead Sea darkly stood the cliffs of Qumran—where were found the Dead Sea Scrolls hidden for nearly 2,000 years in earthen jars within the caves where Essene scholars had placed them against the destruction of Jerusalem in A. D. 72.

Great characters of the Bible walked about that moonlit night on the Dead Sea shore.
 But the Holy Land is not alone moonlight and history and climate and beauty. It is modern life pulsating with new vitality and growth. I was amazed by the building going on in the Old City of Jerusalem, revealing a developing prosperity. Excellent merchandise is in the stores. I purchased a tailor—made three piece suit of superb English cloth for only $65.

In the rural districts one is astonished by the vast groves of olive and citrus fruits. Cultivation of the soil shows remarkable improvement, and a general spirit of industry is more obvious than anywhere. I was especially impressed by the growth of educational facilities—the many fine new school buildings. The clean, bright-eyed children quite win your heart. And the roads of Jordan are generally equal to most highways in Europe or America in engineering and smooth driving comfort. They carry an ever increasing weight of traffic.

But the crowning experience of all in Jerusalem was to revisit the hospital for children which I mentioned in this column one year ago. It's just inside the Old City wall and is presided over by a stately, white-haired, gentle woman, Mrs. Bertha Spafford Vester. With the aid of generous-hearted friends she is still ministering to little children whose sweet faces and wonder-filled eyes completely capture your heart.
 Not only does Mrs. Vester receive no compensation for her service, but she raises the funds, gets milk and medicine and equipment wherever she can find people who love little children enough to help them.

I have known doctors all my life but have seldom watched a physician work quite as impressively as Dr. Mahmood Dajani. He sits in a receiving room where a long line of anxious Arab mothers clad in their native colorful dress wait to have their little ones examined. His kindness puts the mothers at ease and takes away fear from childish eyes. Each case may be a different trouble. The kindly doctor explores the trouble with skillful hands, admits to the hospital or prescribes other treatment.

The Need For National Grandeur

WASHINGTON—The great overriding issue, above all domestic issues, is to keep the peace, without surrender, and to extend freedom around the world," said Vice President Nixon in his kick-off campaign speech at Friendship Airport at Baltimore.
 "Confidentially, I'm a war-monger," said a high-ranking Democrat in the privacy of his office.

HERE, I THINK, we behold the Great Divide between the two major parties. On one side of the ideological watershed, we have this emphasis on "peace." Mr. Nixon added to peace "the greatest prosperity America has ever enjoyed... progress." Seated near the Vice President were President Eisenhower and Ex-UN Ambassador Lodge, as well as National Chairman Morton, Senate Minority Leader Kirkson and three cabinet members. All were nodding in approval—peace, prosperity, progress, but first of all—peace.

On the other side of the Great Divide, we have a contrasting idea. The outspoken Democrat whom I have quoted above was not advocating a preventive attack upon Russia. The dictionary definition of "to monger" is "to barter" or "to traffic in."

WELL, THIS is a warlike world. The Democrat meant that he favored some old-fashioned diplomacy, which once served us better than this new-fangled kind. Maybe we ought to do some judicious saber-rattling, show the flag in earnest, brandish the big stick as if we meant to use it. To back this up, of course, we must attain supremacy. Parity won't do. A nominal, quibbling condition of "second to none," as the Republican orators are careful to phrase it, isn't what this Democratic leader had in mind. He had in mind, if I understood him, a muscled-up, don't-tread-on-me America in a new age when it could no longer happen with impunity that:

OUR PRESIDENT is insulted, our Vice

Impressions Of A Candidate

WITH THE KENNEDY CAMPAIGN—The old political clichés fall short with the Democratic candidate for President, Sen. John F. Kennedy. Less perhaps than any nominee in recent times does he fit conventional patterns.
 Following him for ten days, watching him in 50 or more appearances, formal and informal, this reporter has yet to see him use any of the obvious crowd-catching devices. He comes into a hall with a wildly cheering audience—as in Los Angeles, Dallas, St. Louis—and he stands before them with a smile on his face that is shy, diffident almost. As the roar of cheers and applause mounts to a crescendo he swallows nervously and raises one arm in a half salute.

IT IS AS THOUGH he were surprised that all this fuss and bother should be for him. None of the expansive gestures—the hands raised above the head in the prize-ring greeting that President Eisenhower has made familiar. None of the hearty embraces with the local politicians who adorn the platform.
 When he gets into his speech he is earnest, impassioned, intense. But again his style is almost entirely devoid of the oratorical flourishes and ruffles that are the stock in trade of the stock politician.

The effect is sometimes abrupt almost to the point of rudeness. At El Paso, Texas, a big enthusiastic crowd of 4,000 or 7,000 had come out to the airport to welcome him. They had been waiting for more than an hour. Yet when he arrived to rousing cheers he spoke only a few minutes, with hardly a reference to the tribute paid him. It was, as one observer noted, like a burst of machine-gun fire.

BUT FOR ALL HIS seeming detachment—shyness, reserve self-containment, however it may be described—Kennedy has a deep appeal for the people who see and hear him as he moves across the country. This reporter has often heard the comment, "He seems so sincere." And that may be it—the desire to communicate, to try to say the things he believes to be profoundly important and leave out the flimsies.

THE WORD THAT COMES to mind in attempting to sum him up is this: fatalism. He is putting everything he has into the contest in which he is engaged. But he recognizes, and in this is his essential maturity, that profound forces are at work in American life and in the world that may shape the decisions ahead beyond the power of any individual to alter them. It is with this view of life that he will make his judgments.

And that may be it—the desire to communicate, to try to say the things he believes to be profoundly important and leave out the flimsies.

THE WORD THAT COMES to mind in attempting to sum him up is this: fatalism. He is putting everything he has into the contest in which he is engaged. But he recognizes, and in this is his essential maturity, that profound forces are at work in American life and in the world that may shape the decisions ahead beyond the power of any individual to alter them. It is with this view of life that he will make his judgments.

Herb Shriner has that natural hominess that's comfortable as an old sock. His natural dry wit is dipped in the Indiana background that produced such greats as George Ade, Ken Hubbard, Whitcomb Riley and Booth Tarkington. Members are in for a delightful evening with him as narrator for "Pops Americana." Much of the folksy and favorite music is handled by the orchestra under Gustav Haenschen (Remember the "American Album of Familiar Music"?). George Alexander, with his rich baritone, adds a delightful touch.

The "world's greatest" is a term loosely conferred, but Carlos Montoya comes close to this accolade as a master of the classical guitar. Millions who have heard him on the stage, on radio and television attest to the wizardry of Montoya as he cradles the tenderest notes or makes the guitar sound like an orchestra. No wonder they call him the Incredible Montoya!

Ten years ago Canada decided to establish a national ballet guild, and the result is a company that is little short of amazing. Successive tours of Canada drew doubled and quadrupled bookings and attendance, and at the Jacob's Pillow Festival in Lee, Mass., in 1953, the troupe was held over by popular demand. Since then tours of the United States and Mexico have brought increasing acclaim, not alone for the mastery of the prima ballerina and premier danseur and company, but for a remarkable repertoire and a delightful freshness in approach and beautiful costuming and settings.

In the United States there is no "official" symphony, but the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D.C., holds that role unofficially. Called the "Orchestra of the Presidents," it frequently plays for official functions and for visiting heads of state. Last year, sponsorship by President Eisenhower, it won the heart of Latin-America on a 12-week tour. Under the baton of Howard Mitchell, this tightly knit group of virtuosos has won the rating by several critics as one of the five greatest orchestras in existence today.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures
The United States honors its automotive industry with a 4-cent "Wheels of Freedom" commemorative stamp to be first placed on sale Oct. 15 at Detroit in conjunction with the opening of the National Automobile Show in that city.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, Detroit 33, Mich., with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, prior to Oct. 15. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Cover Wheels of Freedom Stamp."

Nineteen nations are issuing a EUROPA stamp to honor the founding of the European Conference of Postal and Telecommunications Administrations. The stamps are of the same design to express the idea of mutual cooperation. Each however has different denominations and country designations. The international stamp design by the Finnish artist P. Rahikainen depicts a rolling wheel with 19 spokes symbolizing the cooperation of the participants. Among the EUROPA stamps received here is a 4 c one from Switzerland, Ireland,

Price, Poe Combine For Terror Tale

When you see American International's "House of Usher" you will be viewing the combination of two masters of the macabre. Actor Vincent Price star for the first time in an Edgar Allan-Poe classic.

As Roderick, last male in the ill-fated line of Ushers, Price brings big suspense to the picture: Haunted by the crimes and degradations of his ancestors, Roderick is obsessed by the idea that only through the complete destruction and annihilation of himself, his sister Madeline, and the very house of Usher itself, can the tainted Usher evil come to an end.

Price has become the master of the macabre in motion pictures and he animates every such role with a special brand of authoritative menace. His power lies in the sincerity which he projects into every characterization. In "House of Usher" Vincent Price is Roderick Usher and although you are shocked by his deeds, nonetheless you feel pity for the distorted reasoning behind them and the tortured man he has become.

To the tall handsome actor, theatrical terror and death are not new. He has met cinematic death a number of times and he has meted it out. He has shot his victims, poisoned them, sent them into a state of shock. He has been drowned in a vat of wine, been shot dozens of times, been stabbed, shot by arrows, hanged, sent to the electric chair. "But," says he, "this is the first time I ever had a house fall on me."

Directed with Price are Mark Damon as Philip Winthrop, Myrna Fahey as Madeline Usher, sister of Roderick and fiancée of Philip, and Harry Ellerbe as Bristol, the Usher's butler. The film is in CinemaScope and color and the musical score was written by Les Baxter. Roger Corman produced and directed the film, thus producing a longtime aim. Script was by Richard Matheson.

"House of Usher" will be seen starting Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

FRONT ROW

By Bob Smith

Fred Short is raring to go with a new play season at H.C.J.C. He's planning to take advantage of the interest in politics by putting a political comedy on the boards before election day. It will be one of these three: "Solid Gold Cadillac," "Affairs of State," or "January Thaw." He admits it most likely will be "Solid Gold Cadillac."

This year, Delta Psi Omega, national honorary drama fraternity, will sponsor all plays. The local thespians, the College Players, will continue to exist and to work in the productions, however.

Short is going to be busy through the year. He will stage a Biblical play, "Noah," around Christmas time, and a classic (probably "Antigone") in connection with an upcoming speech tournament; and will finish the season next spring with "Ladies in Retirement."

The classic play will be presented at the Texas State Junior College Speech Festival to be held at H.C.J.C. April 9 and 10. The contest will include debate, oratory, dramatic readings, and other individual speaking methods. "These methods in Short's madness in selecting "Ladies in Retirement," a mystery starring six women and only one man. Short figured on a play that would have no conflict with the basketball season, when athletics is more important than acting in a play.

Ramon Navarro Jailed For DWI

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Actor Ramon Navarro was sentenced to five days in jail for drunken driving. The veteran actor, now 61, also was fined $250 after a jury brought in a guilty verdict. He was arrested May 30 after his car struck a parked car in nearby North Hollywood.

Carnera Rattles Again, And Proves Acting Talent

Herman Hickman, the late nice guy, was quick with a retort. Once, when queried as to the fate of aging rasslers, he shot back "They rassle."

But not always. Some turn out to be actors—as opinion rasslers, booing critics have expounded since the days of Francis Muldoon. What is meant here, however, is the sort of acting done on the stage and in the movies. A really big example is Primo Carnera, ex-rassler and once the heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

Carnera plays a strategic role in Joseph E. Levine's production, "Hercules Unchained," which opens at the Jet Theatre. Specifically, "Da Preem" flexes his bulging muscles and flashes his butchered grin as Antaeus, a giant son of some Earth goddess who extracts a toll from unwary travelers forced to pass through a valley he dominates. Naturally he gets cheeky with Hercules, played by American musclem

Buck Schwetz Art Collection Masterful Mirror Of Texas

The game Edward Muegge Schwetz may not register with many, but the signature of E. M. Schwetz in the lower left hand corner of superlative sketches of the Texas as a cavalcade is familiar to thousands.

For three decades his deft fingers have moved restlessly and unceasingly to capture the flavor of Texas and the Southwest. Buck Schwetz has prowled into out-of-way places, along the forgotten trails of Texas history, among the workmen and in the midst of mighty industries. Into his portfolio have gone a matchless record of Texas as it was and is.

The University of Texas Press has put a collection of nearly 100 of his architectural sketches together, along with a dozen and a half color plates representative of the Schwetz mastery in water colors. This volume, designed much like a sketchbook, is to be published Oct. 10 by the UT Press ($12.50) at Austin. The printing, as are the sketches, is superb.

perb. Walter Prescott Webb has written an excellent preface, and Schwetz an annotation.

Buck Schwetz makes no apology for capturing on paper buildings that capture his imagination. Occasionally he moves in auditory structure or imports a few birds or perhaps a wagon, but his reproductions are done with flavor and fidelity although he makes no effort at photographic duplication. Those who move about Texas will instantly recognize many of the courthouses or famous Texas homes done by Schwetz, and it is a tribute to the artist that they will have the feeling that this is exactly as they saw it. The special gift of perspective gives to all Schwetz sketches and paintings; that peculiar depth and form that conjures familiarity, even nostalgia. Those who have faithfully followed Buck Schwetz over Texas in the Humble Way magazine for a generation probably have a lot of examples of his work stored away in scrapbooks or pinned on the wall, or framed for a special place in the living room.

"Buck Schwetz' Texas" leans heavily to building sketches, for this is a phase of Texas life that the artist has sought to preserve. Training for architecture — although he never practiced it — eminently qualified Buck Schwetz for the calling. Reared in Cuero and graduated from Texas A&M College, the artist took his lumps in training under John Doctoroff, a genius with the pencil, and with Guy Cahoon, an advertising artist. He did some work for architectural firms and after a brief period of free lancing in commercial work, he set off for New York. It was tough, but finally he cracked the skepticism of art commissioners, and having achieved this, he came back to Texas—broke but happy.

He joined with two other young men to create the advertising firm of Franks, Wilkinson and Schwetz, Inc., which landed two lucrative accounts. This fortunate circumstance provided time for Buck Schwetz to poke around in oil fields, along the loading docks, out in the Gulf, out in the immense stretches of West Texas, into the piney woods of East Texas. In the process he gathered much of the material in the collection. Perhaps the University press will collect and reproduce some of his geographic works someday.

E. J. Mann Establishes Print Shop As A Hobby

By SAM BLACKBURN

He prints for the fun of it. There are all sorts of hobbies. Some men play golf, others go in for boating and fishing, and others collect guns or stamps. There are even ardent hobbyists who collect matchbooks.

Lots of fellows invest large sums and install power woodworking machinery. Some go in for photography. Nearly anything, which to one man is a business or a profession, is adapted by another man as a pastime occupation.

Few, however, turn to printing as a hobby.

E. J. Mann, on the staff of River Funeral Home, is one of those few. He doesn't print commercially; he prints just for the fun of it.

There's an old saying around newspaper offices that once you get printers ink on your hands, you can never get entirely rid of it. Always, say old time followers of the craft, if you have had even just a touch of type, presses and printers ink, you'll always look back on the occasion with nostalgia.

Those who come in fleeting contact with the craft and go other ways seldom do anything about this hankering to dabble with cases, chases, quoins and galleys. They merely observe on every possible occasion, "I worked for a newspaper (or a printshop) once upon a time." And a sad sort of look comes into their eyes.

Mann never really worked for

E. J. Mann And Presses

A fellow who prints for the fun of it and makes printing his hobby is E. J. Mann, who has accumulated a fair-to-good country print shop. The press in the foreground, operated by hand, was the one that started the fun.

either a newspaper or a shop. Once, however, he was exposed briefly to the allure of typography. That was a long time ago—around 1927, perhaps—when he was a route carrier for a small daily paper in Lamar, Mo.

He wandered into the composing room one day. The Linotype fascinated him. The operator was a kindly woman, Mrs. Grace Wilson. Day after day, he was in the shop, hanging around the Linotype watching Mrs. Wilson's skillful fingers on the keyboard. He often became so engrossed that he pushed up almost against the operator.

Finally Mrs. Wilson said: "Well, if this is the way it's going to be, I might as well get up and let you sit down at the machine."

LEARNED TO OPERATE
So she placed the 10-year-old boy in the chair and for two happy months, she devoted all of her spare time teaching him the rudiments of typesetting on a machine. The upshot, in all likelihood, would have been that Mann would have developed into a linotype operator. However, Mrs. Wilson and her husband moved away from Lamar after two months. Their successor had no time to teach curious young boys how to set type.

A lot of things happened to Mann between 1927 and 1946 when once again, more obliquely, he came in touch with type and printing. He was then a licensed embalmer and he went to work for a funeral home in Clovis, N. M. The operator of the funeral home decided to print his own memorial folders to be distributed at funerals.

He bought a small handpress, the essential equipment and type. All of the men associated with the funeral home were drafted as printers, Mann showed the most aptitude. Indeed, printing the memorial folders was not enough for him. He spent all of his idle hours in the storage room, where the press was kept, printing this and that, experimenting and seeking to improve his skill.

TO BIG SPRING

Eventually, he moved to Big Spring. The man for whom he had worked in Clovis sold to another funeral director. On a visit a few years ago, Mann found his old friend, the handpress, with all the type, collecting dust. The owner told him:

"You seem to be the only guy who ever got any fun out of that thing. Why don't you take it home with you?"

So Mann loaded press, type, chases, furniture and all into his car and hauled them back to Big Spring.

There's a big storage room in the rear of the River establishment. Mann set up his press and his handfull of type in this room. And back he went to printing.

Sometime later, in Stanton, he found an old job press, complete with the motor, a stack of ancient type cases, two imposing stones, a paper cutter and several other printing devices rusting away in a furniture store. He bought the lot and brought them home. He worked hours getting rid of the rust, repairing broken parts, painting dingy metal. He spent other hours painfully sorting out individual type faces from the dusty old cases. When it was all done he had a fairly complete printing shop.

So he spends the long hours of the night shift at the Funeral Home printing. He prints envelopes, letterheads, Christmas cards, fraternal stationery. When he wants to give a friend a gift, the present is likely to turn out to be a box of neatly printed letterheads.

PRINTS FOR FUN

"I print for fun," he says. "Nothing I print is what one might call commercial. I don't want to go in to the printing business. That would take all of the kick out of it."

What does Mrs. Mann think of her hobby?
"Well," she says, "E. J. could have taken up boating or golf. Or a lot of other things. Every man needs a hobby. He gets a lot of satisfaction out of printing. I am happy he does."

So it's likely Mann will go on printing and printing for a long time to come.

15 Felony Cases Slated For Court

Fifteen felony matters, including one charging murder by an automobile, are slated for disposition this week in 118th District Court.

Judge Ralph Caton has notified a panel of jurors to report to court Monday. The panel originally comprised 90 members but excused already accepted had diminished its total to around 60 Friday.

Gil Jones, district attorney, was not certain Friday afternoon which of the cases would be called first. Nor, he said, did he know how many of the defendants, if any, would plead guilty rather than go to trial.

Five of the cases slated for trial charge burglary. There are five DWI, second offense, indictments on the list.

Billie Leon Owens, refinery worker, alleged to have been the driver of one of two cars involved in a collision south of Big Spring in which a Forsan woman and her young daughter died, is slated to go to trial for murder by an automobile.

Felix Dominguez, indicted as a habitual criminal, is also docketed to face a jury. Under the law, Dominguez, if convicted, could receive a life sentence. He will be represented by Wayne Basden, court appointed attorney.

The docket as it stood Friday: Ralph Junior Wilson, burglary; Fred B. Connell, DWI second; George B. Anglin, DWI second; C. D. Camp, theft by bailer; Billie Leon Wilson, murder by automobile; Howard McCadden, DWI second; Elvin E. Jackson, DWI second; Juan Lopez, DWI second; Albino Ortega, possession of a concealed weapon; Felix Dominguez, habitual criminal; Elmer J. Strobel, DWI second; Ismael Valdez, burglary; Rudy Balderas, burglary; Joe Ramirez, burglary, (two indictments).

Walton Morrison Is Guest Speaker

Walton S. Morrison, attorney, will be the guest speaker at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Big Spring Real Estate board Monday noon at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

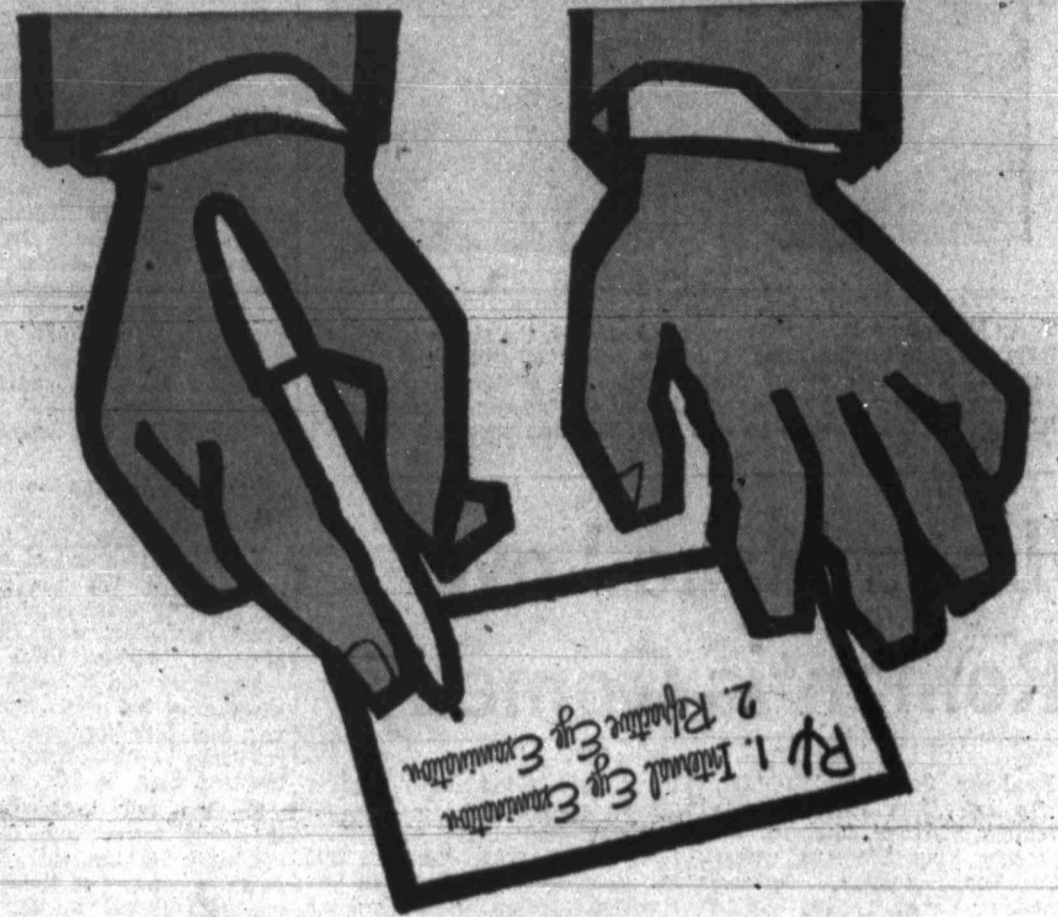

Morrison will discuss how to attain efficiency in closing real estate transactions. All board members are urged to attend.

Ft. Hood Marks 18th Anniversary

FT. HOOD (AP)—Ft. Hood, a sprawling military base that has trained tens of thousands, marks its 18th anniversary today. The fort has 3,100 buildings, covers 232 square miles and represents an investment of about $120 million. When construction plans are completed in 1974—at a cost of an additional $127 million—the fort will be a permanent post for 23,000 men. As many as 115,000 men at a time were trained here during World War II. It is now a base for an armored division plus many schools and special functions. Part of the base is devoted to the summer training of Army reservists and National Guardsmen.

In a TSO eye examination you get...
JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR WOULD ORDER
if your eyes were his!

For a scientific diagnosis of the true condition of your eyes, two important steps must be present in your eye examination. First, the interior of each of your eyes must be examined for evidence of disease. This is accomplished with the ophthalmoscope, an instrument used by doctors of optometry and medical doctors.

Second, your eyes should be examined for any visual abnormalities such as astigmatism, near or farsightedness and muscle imbalance.

At TSO you receive these important steps so necessary for clear, comfortable vision. Finest quality single vision glasses are as low as $14.85 complete with examination, frame and lenses. Precision-fitted contact lenses, the finest money can buy, are only $65 complete. Convenient credit terms are available.

Varsity Town

... brings a glorious relief this fall from dark, drab-tone men's suits. Again it is possible for well-dressed men to put refreshing variety into their wardrobes with suits that are decidedly different from each other... and all equally styled and in best taste. To view this welcome new trend at its best, see the wide array of new living-color olive hues, grey hues, black hues and brown hues in Varsity-Town suits... also widely varied in patterns of cheerful checks, subdued stripes, plaids and solid tones. All this can be found in Varsity-Town's distinctive, wonderfully comfortable, figure-flattering, style-expressive lounging model... a very distinctive detail for fall is the flip-flap side pockets that become neat welt-type pockets, when the flaps are flipped in. See these superbly-smart Varsity-Town suits for fall now... $55.00; 65.00; 69.50 and 75.00

Just flip-in the flap of Varsity-Town's own Flip-Flap pocket and you have a different-looking welt pocket
