Johnson Winds Up Tour; Prepares For Another

BY ELMER KELTON
Special Correspondent
STONEWALL—Flying home after a three-day tour of the midwest, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson said he was well pleased by the reception he received in the traditional heartland of the Republican party.
 The Texas Vice Presidential candidate had hoped to cultivate farmer discontent and make a good crop of political hay. Wherever he could see farmers in the audience, he hit Ezra Taft Benson with the force of a bulldozer ripping up Texas mesquite.
 Johnson's tactic in his farm speeches was to discredit Republican performance and leave it to John Kennedy to push the details of the Democratic farm plan. In effect, the Senator was running interference, trying to knock out the opposition while Kennedy carries the ball.
NEW SCHEDULE
 Weekending on his Stonewall ranch, Johnson is preparing another full schedule for the coming week. He is to speak in the Great Lakes area, principally Illinois and Indiana.
 Today at the ranch he will tape a television interview with Walter Cronkite to be presented nationwide Monday night on the CBS special, "Presidential Countdown."
 In the five-state midwestern tour, Johnson's best reception came in the smaller cities and towns. Easily the most enthusiastic audience was a mixture of farmers and small businessmen in Mankato, Minn. Next warmest welcome was from a predominantly farmer audience Friday night in wheat-growing Garden City, Kan., where millions of pounds of surplus wheat lie in government storage.
 In both Mankato and Garden City, substantial crowds waited in the rain to cheer the Senator and Mrs. Johnson as they stepped from their plane.

Khrushchev Links UN Plan To Disarmament

Offers Rebuttal To United States

By LEWIS GULICK
GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said Saturday night that unless his plan for revamping the United Nations is adopted "we will likewise be unable to solve the disarmament question."
 The Russian leader tossed these new conditions in at his international conference held outside the Russians' palatial mansion here.
 Khrushchev, in what amounted to a rebuttal to the U.S. claim that his proposals are a "declaration of war" on the U.N., launched into an extended review of his views.
ATTACKS DAG
 The Soviet Premier bitterly attacked U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.
 Then he proceeded to link his U.N. proposals for a three-member executive body to the question of disarmament.
 He said if disarmament is reached, the negotiations so far indicate it would be administered by an international army.
 But he said such an international force is impossible under the command of a single man like Hammarskjold.
 He called the secretary-general a lackey of the "imperialist powers."
 Therefore, he said, the U.N. should have three secretaries general as he proposes — one chosen by what he called the "imperialist, capitalist, colonialist powers," one picked by the "socialist," or Communist powers, and one chosen by the neutrals.
 "If we are unable to solve this question we will likewise be unable to solve the disarmament question," Khrushchev said solemnly.
NOT SPELLED OUT
 He did not spell out, however, what he would do about disarmament if his U.N. reorganization proposal is not accepted.
 To have a U.N. force commanded by Hammarskjold, he said, "would mean creating the armed forces who would destroy us, (the Communist powers) and anybody who would entertain that idea would be completely mad."
 He said it would be all very well if Hammarskjold could represent all three interests, those of the West, the Communists and the neutrals.
 "But it is practically impossible to find a person who would combine three," he added.
25 NEWSMEN
 "It is said it is God alone who could combine three persons, so let him remain in the imagination of those who thought him up," the Soviet leader added.
 Khrushchev had 25 newsmen and photographers admitted to his spacious Long Island estate at the conclusion of an 80-minute meeting with U.S. Ambassador G. M. Abel Nasser in late afternoon.
 The newsmen assumed the sun-down affair would be a comparatively routine picture-taking of the two foreign leaders as Nasser was departing.
 And things started out that way, with the customary goodby handshakes and Khrushchev jovially exchanging pleasantries with newsmen.
 "But suddenly, when the talk turned to matters beyond Khrushchev's immediate weekend plans, the Kremlin boss' manner switched to one of seriousness.
 And he launched into a quarter-hour speech.
 Khrushchev went into what he portrayed as the impossible situation which would arise if a disarmament agreement were reached and an international force were set up under the United Nations in its present form.
SUGGESTS LEADER
 He suggested that the Russians would propose their defense chief, Marshal Malinovsky, to head the U.N. force, the United States would nominate Gen. Lauris Norstad, the NATO commander, and the neutrals would propose Marshal Amer (Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer of the U.A.R.).
 "I ask you, gentlemen, can we agree on any of these three?"
 Khrushchev gestured as he put the question to the newsmen. He answered himself: "I submit in advance we will not do it."
 "You will not accept our candidate, Malinovsky. We will not accept Norstad . . . and I don't suppose you will agree to Marshal Amer, either."
 In that case disarmament will become impossible altogether.
 "Under the United Nations today the forces will be governed by Hammarskjold and we see from what happened in the Congo that this cannot be."
Worker Evades Serious Injury
 A Sand Springs oil field worker escaped serious injury Saturday morning when the rig on which he was working came in contact with an electric power line.
 George Becker, employed by the Chapman Well Service Co., received minor burns on his hands and feet and suffered from electric shock, according to attendants at the Howard County Hospital Foundation. Becker was knocked unconscious when the electric current passed through his body.
 Becker was working at a well servicing job about 15 miles southeast of Columbia when the mishap occurred. He was brought to the Big Spring hospital in a River ambulance.

3RD TIME Shivers Gives Support To GOP

AUSTIN (AP)—Former Gov. Allan Shivers' Saturday for the third straight time called on Texans to support the Republican presidential ticket, promising tart comment on the Democratic platform.
 Shivers, a political precedent-smasher who served as governor longer than any other man, coldly defied party lines in 1952 and 1956 to lead other "Democrats for Eisenhower" to a joint victory with the Republicans.
 This presidential year he favors the Richard Nixon-Henry Cabot Lodge ticket and renews an old, bitter, personal feud with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice presidential nominee.
 The balloting will be in the details of his latest rebellion against the Democratic party in a 30-minute television broadcast from Dallas Wednesday night.
 Shivers' announcement topped the day's political developments that included:
 1. Refusal by the State Supreme Court to consider an effort to bar Johnson's name from the ballot as a candidate for re-election to the U.S. Senate and as Democratic vice presidential nominee.
 2. Final certification of the Nov. 3 general election ballot by Sec. of State Zolie Steakley. He mailed the sample ballot to county election officials after the Supreme Court ruling cleared the dual printing of Johnson's name in line with a law passed by the last legislature.
 "Delegates to the state Democratic convention in Dallas last Tuesday were not given an opportunity to discuss the platforms (of the Democratic and Republican parties)," Shivers said.
BEEN TOLD
 He added that "a great number" of Texas Democrats have told him they can not support the Democratic national platform or ticket this year.
 "In my remarks Wednesday night I will try to summarize some of their reasons, and my own, for supporting Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge," Shivers said.
 The announcement brought a sharp rejoinder from Gerald C. Mann, director of the Kennedy-Johnson Texas campaign.
 "Mr. Shivers' endorsement of the Republican ticket comes as no particular surprise," Mann said. "This is the third time he has chosen to turn his back on the party that honored him many times in Texas. It's now just a habit with him."
 "The Republican plan to let Mr. Shivers head up a so-called 'Democrats for Nixon' is a continuation of the subterfuge the Republicans have been using in Texas for years. They will go to any extreme to keep from admitting to Texans that their candidates are Republicans and the people who support them are Republicans."
WHAT WEIGHT?
 The former governor's decision led to immediate speculation on how much weight he now carries in Texas politics. He left office in

BIBLE FUND IS $500 SHORT

Big Spring pastors were to observe Bible Class Day today in an effort to pull the annual solicitation out of the doldrums. Special collections are planned in some churches.
 Despite a few handy jumps, the Bible Class Fund is lagging behind its goal of $2,000. This money is needed to support the Bible Class as taught in the Big Spring schools. Tax money cannot be used for this purpose.
 Gifts may be left or mailed to the Herald office (Box 143) for acknowledgment and will be turned over to the Big Spring Pastors Association, the administering agency.
 An earlier error in addition indicates the fund is still short of the three-quarters mark, despite a Saturday collection of $82. The previous total was $1,367.50, setting the fund total to date at $1,449.50. Latest donors include:

Western Leaders Map Strategy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Western leaders are mapping a counterattack intended to beat back Nikita Khrushchev's assault on the structure of the United Nations and to turn his offensive into a defeat for Communist policy.
 The historic 15th General Assembly, in recess for the weekend, resumes debate Monday under clouds of crisis and amid speculation the Soviet premier aims to paralyze the world organization's peace enforcement machinery unless he can get his way.
SPEARHEADS
 The counterattack may be spearheaded in the assembly by Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who arrives Sunday and sees President Eisenhower Tuesday.
 Western leaders are mapping a counterattack intended to beat back Nikita Khrushchev's assault on the structure of the United Nations and to turn his offensive into a defeat for Communist policy.
 The assembly also will await with eager interest what Prime Minister Nehru of India, a leading spokesman for neutralist nations, has to say. Nehru also arrives Sunday.
Prime Minister Nehru said Saturday he opposes Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposals for abolition of the U.N. secretary-general's post for a three-member commission.
 Talking to newsmen before taking off for New York, Nehru rejected any suggestion the United Nations is facing a crisis.
 The battle over U.N. structure was not the only one shaping up. The vigorous diplomatic activity of this weekend reflects the struggle over the future of emerging, independent nations of Africa is the center of the burgeoning conflict.
 Heavy emphasis on Africa was underscored by U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's activities. Herter invited a group of African leaders to a Sunday luncheon giving him a chance to learn their reaction to Khrushchev's bid for their sympathy.
 Khrushchev proposed Friday that the assembly discuss immediate independence for all colonies, trust territories, leased territories and dependencies.
NASSER
 Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic and a leading spokesman for the Arab and Moslem world, talked in New York with President Tito of Communist-ruled Yugoslavia, who has pictured himself to the assembly as a spokesman for neutralist buffers between the Communist powers of the East and the Western alliance.
 Khrushchev invited Nasser to a conference Saturday night at the Soviet delegation's Glen Cove, Long Island estate. Khrushchev got State Department permission to spend the weekend there after having been originally restricted to Manhattan during his stay as chief of the Soviet U.N. delegation.
 Revolution, Castro's Havana newspaper voice, went down the line Saturday for all Khrushchev's U.N. proposals. Castro's regime has just emphasized its support for the Red bloc by recognizing Communist China and North Korea.
GLOOMY
 The session will open in an atmosphere of gloom, imposed by Khrushchev's attacks on the structure and location of the U.N. Herter characterized that as a "declaration of war" on the U.N. machinery.
 The West is seeking ways of bringing about a resounding vote of confidence in the main target of Khrushchev's attacks, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle
 If you are one of those who have been intending to help on the Bible Class Fund but have delayed in sending in your gift, please don't put it off any longer. Around $500 more is needed to meet the goal of $2,000 the Big Spring Pastors Association hoped could be met today.
 Cosden directors met here last week for the annual stockholders meeting and heard a forecast of normal (since the oil pinch) earnings for this year. R. L. Toilet president, said that barring a depressed fuels market, the outlook was reasonably good. There was double good news in the production end, for as stockholders met Cosden completed its No. 1-C Federal in New Mexico for 1,128 barrels per day in the Pennsylvanian. Later in the week it took dual tests in its No. 1 McKamie in San Patricio County for an aggregate of 17,000,000 cubic feet of gas and 175 barrels of distillate per day. Cosden has another well in Matagorda County which shows much promise of production.
 For the first time in half a dozen years, a touch of football fever appears to have infected the local populace. By a pins and needles finish, the Steers made it three straight in defeating Snyder here Friday evening. Although the wins are all non-conference victories, they have stirred the embers. The Steers' desire mounts with each game and their pursuit is definitely better, their tackling more secure. They can win some more games.
 Another organization which puts in long hours of practice also made a good showing. This was the high school band, which is showing a lot of sparkle and precision, with good routines and twirling to back it up. (See THE WEEK, Page 8-A, Col. 4)

ONE HOUR Kennedy, Nixon To Debate On TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new, hybrid speech-interview debate will make political campaign history Monday when the major presidential candidates meet face-to-face in the first of four TV-radio broadcasts.
 Domestic issues will be the subject as Republican Richard M. Nixon and Democrat John F. Kennedy hold forth for an hour, 9:30-10:30 p.m. (EDT) from Chicago over the three major television networks and the four principal radio nets.
 On Oct. 7 and 13 there will be hour-long, all-subjects news conferences. The meeting on the 7th will probably take place in Cleveland, although final arrangements haven't been made.
NOT FACE-TO-FACE
 On the 13th, the candidates will be face-to-face only through the magic of electronics. Nixon will be in Los Angeles and Kennedy in New York, but they'll appear together on a split screen.
 The final broadcast, also from New York on Oct. 21, will repeat the pattern of the first but with foreign affairs as the subject.
 The Monday program originates in Studio 1 at WBBM without a studio audience and with the candidates unattended by any advisers and unadvised on the exact nature of the questions they'll be asked.
 Howard K. Smith of the Columbia Broadcasting System will open and close the program. At the outset, each candidate will be given eight minutes to state his case, with Kennedy speaking first.
 Then, for about 38 minutes, there will be questions from a panel of TV newsmen made up of Sander Vanocor, National Broadcasting Co., Stewart Novins of CBS and Bob Fleming, American Broadcasting Co., and Charles Warren of the Mutual radio network.
FIRST QUESTION
 Kennedy will be asked the first question and allowed 2½ minutes for his reply. If Nixon wants to

Agrees To Speak

RED WING, Minn. (AP)—President Eisenhower will speak at ceremonies here Oct. 18 dedicating a new interstate bridge linking Minnesota and Wisconsin. It was announced Saturday.
 The Martin County estimate stands at 12,575 bales and 5,041 bales have been ginned to make seven per cent of the estimated yield.
 Howard and Glasscock counties have harvested 12 per cent of their estimated cotton yield, according to figures from the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission.
 Howard County is estimated to produce 30,620 bales of cotton. To date 3,891 bales have been ginned. The estimate for Glasscock County is 10,295 bales, and 1,224 have been ginned to date.

 Pictured above is a part of the big crowd, estimated at 7,500, which witnessed the Big Spring-Snyder football game here Friday night. The facilities of the 10,000 seat stadium have rarely been taxed.
 Friday's turnout of fans approached the all-time record here. Big Spring won the game, 14-12, scoring in the fourth quarter to snatch victory from defeat.

Police Arrest Four Youths For Theater Lot Vandalism

Police arrested four 15- and 16-year-old boys early Saturday morning in connection with vandalism at the Ritz Theater parking lot. All four were later released to their parents.

Patrolman Sherrill Farmer arrested the quartet after reports were made of vandalism to cars and parking meters in the theater parking lot.

Damage to cars ranging from broken mirrors to pouring dirt into engine parts was reported by three persons. Plastic domes were broken out of two parking meters, according to Capt. L. A. Hiltburner.

The vandalism took place during the midnight movie feature. George Archer, Gail R. Big Spring, was the first to report any damage. He told officers the rear-view mirror and radio antenna were broken on his car.

Bill Coats, 1023 Bluebonnet, reported that dirt had been poured into the battery and engine parts of his car, and that the flexible brake-cable had been cut. Wires

Paris Newspaper To Back Demos

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—The Paris News in an editorial prepared for Sunday's editions announced support for the Democrats' Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

"We do not agree with everything John Kennedy or Lyndon Johnson have said," the Northeast Texas newspaper said. "We do not approve of some things in the Democratic platform. But there are many things on which we disagree with Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, and the Republican platform.

"The Democratic objections are only differences of opinion. They can be resolved. The Republican objections are deep-seated differences of basic principle and belief. We cannot accept them."

The News, describing itself as an independent Democratic newspaper, also said:

"We need and must have fresh and courageous American leadership in the critical years to come. We believe the Democratic party has offered such leadership in the combination of John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson."

Modern Club, Ancient Theme

Not for Saint George and merrie England, but for the Gra-Y and Big Spring is the motto of Russ McEwen (right) and David Krause, two of the some 300 Big Spring boys who are members of the YMCA Gra-Y. The club members make their own equipment as part of the theme of the club and for advancement in rank. The club is for grade schoolers in the 4th through 6th grades.

About 300 Local Youngsters Practice Knighthood Theme

Every youngster gets a thrill out of reading and hearing noble tales of the knights of old and many of them enjoy pretending they are Sir Lancelot, Galahad, Roland or some other famous man of iron.

The YMCA Gra-Y, a program for boys in the 4th through 6th grades of school, uses the theme of knighthood to inspire the youngsters with the courtliness, spiritual values and tenacity of knights.

Presently there are 10 Gra-Y Clubs of about 30 boys each. The schools having clubs are Airport, Park Hill, Marcy, Cedar Crest, College Heights, Boydston, Washington Place, Bauer, Kate Morrison and Lakeview.

Club meetings where the boys plan trips, hikes, outings are held at the schools. Discussion programs, the election of officers and the basic rules of club meetings are also part of the program as is athletics such as rag football, basketball and track.

A lad enters the club as a "page" and advances in rank according to his accomplishments. To be a page, the boy must complete a shield and recite from memory the purpose and platform of knighthood.

To become a "squire" he must complete a sword and helmet, and then he must complete two quests to become a "knight." The final step is to the rank of "lord" and for this the boy must have completed all the other requirements and make a tunic emblazoned with the Gra-Y emblem.

Quests may consist of making chain mail or other parts of a knight's equipment, or by visiting three places of civic interest, or by being able to discuss library books dealing with knighthood. The achievement of the quests are noted on the shields. The young knights hold tournaments for jousting and chariot racing as part of the knightly theme.

This Dog Has Worms

Terry Dale Butler of Christoval and his bulldog, "Johnny Ringo," are shown in a tomato patch where Ringo has kept the plants free from horned tobacco worms that ordinarily plague the growers. The dog makes sure they are destroyed, because he eats the pests.

Pup In Tomato Patch Is A Real Chow Hound

CHRISTOVAL (AP) — This is the story of a bulldog that gets his fill every day of chlorophyll. Ordinarily he looks as green as a tomato plant because of his unusual taste for worms—those big horned tobacco worms that ordinarily would plague the growers to death.

Johnny Ringo, the bulldog that someone lost last year, ambled into the area of the tomato patch just south of Christoval and attached himself to the families of W. R. Lester and Harvey Butler.

As he followed helpers through their tomato patch as they picked the big worms off the plants, the dog got the habit. He'd smell out, see or hear a worm and he got to nabbing them more effectively than the human helpers. He eats them, thus making sure they are destroyed. Not only that but he digs into the ground and destroys the cocoons from which butterflies come.

No more effective poison than this dog has been found, and the result is that a three-acre patch of tomatoes, now getting into the picking stage, is as clean of worms as the growers and Ringo can make it. The Lesters and Butlers think the dog may have been lost from the car of a tourist or have been dumped by the flotsam of humanity that is forever leaving cats and dogs in the area to fend for themselves.

But now the Lesters and Butlers love the dog. When someone asked the price for the land recently, the owners set a steep price. Undeterred the man said: "I'll take it if you throw in that dog." There was no sale.

Kennedy Takes One-Day Rest

By STERLING GREEN

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy Saturday took a one-day breather from his airborne, city-hopping presidential drive which seemed to have picked up momentum as it rolled over the Great Plains and Rocky Mountains.

The Democratic nominee landed here before dawn after a 1,200-mile jump from Salt Lake City. He spent the day in a skull session with a few advisers, boning up for Monday's television duel with the Republican candidate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Part of Kennedy's homework was the "Nixonpedia," a six-inch-thick compendium of Nixon's statements, speeches and votes since his first successful campaign for Congress in California in 1946.

Kennedy's aides said the Massachusetts senator was giving scant attention in his studies to the art of TV performing, which Nixon long ago mastered.

STUDIES NIXON

Instead, he focused on his rival's record in Congress and his position on key issues as stated in the last few days of the GOP nominee's campaign.

Kennedy Sunday will make a vote-hunting dash to Cleveland and back. On Tuesday, the morning after his face-to-face debate on all national networks, he will head his aerial cavalcade into four days of campaigning in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Upstate New York.

The candidate's staff was elated over the size, enthusiasm and response of the crowds which greeted Kennedy in the mountain and northern plains states—most of which are generally considered to be leaning to Nixon.

BIG CROWD

In Denver Friday, Kennedy had an overflow crowd in the Civic

Echo Visible Again By Mid-November

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Echo satellite will be back in full sunlight and visible on all its nighttime passes about the earth from mid-November to early January.

However, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Friday, Echo will be making most of its nighttime passes in the Southern Hemisphere for the next few months. It will be seen in the Northern Hemisphere only occasionally.

At present the satellite is in the earth's shadow for about 22 minutes during each orbit. This period of darkness will increase until mid-November, when it will be in full sunlight for 50 days.

The 100-foot balloon sphere had completed 813 trips around the earth by Friday, traveling more than 14 million miles.

FOR LAWRENCE ROBINSON

The little figurine sits unobtrusively to one side of the desk with the simple inscription, "Lawrence Robinson 1940-1958." The bronze statuette is the coveted award — perhaps the highest — which girl scouting can bestow on a citizen. In the 21st year of association with the organization, Mr. Robinson is quietly but intensely proud of being presented with the trophy in appreciation of his long and consistent service to the Girl Scouts of America.

Seven hundred and fifty girls comprise the 50 local troops which are aided and guided by 125 adults. "Mrs. H. H. Rutherford started it all with the lone troop she organized in 1940," says Mr. Robinson. As other troops formed, the Lions Club assisted the growth by sponsoring the local council. Through efforts of the Big Spring organization, the West Texas Area Council covering 13 counties was established — the first anywhere to embrace so large a territory. It is divided into seven districts, each having a representative on the Area Board of Directors.

Brownies, Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts are aged from 7 to 17. They can earn approximately 100 badges, though the usual is 15 or 20. Efforts of the area girls in cookie sales have resulted in the establishment of the summer camp at Sweetwater, "Booth Oaks," valued at $100,000.

Mr. Robinson's duties have been with both the area and local councils — the latter which he served as president. His civic pride and interest have benefited projects of the Chamber of Commerce, United Fund, and Red Cross, where he was a member of the disaster committee. He has also held the office of president in the Lions Club. "I'm not so active anymore," he says, "taking it a little easier these days."

Two hobbies have held Mr. Robinson's interest. For years he was fascinated with keeping bees until a growing allergy to stings forced him to abandon it. A consistent Democrat, he says, "I LIKE elections," and has been a local election judge for many years.

A member of the Methodist Church, he lives at 602 E. 17th (and is busily engaged in remodeling) with his wife, the former Charis Olsen. Their daughters are Jean, now living in Arizona with her Air Force husband, Edward Hart, and Jane, now Mrs. Harold Hicks of Borger. They have four grandchildren, Nathan, Kathy Ann, Jeffrey and Ben.

DeMolays Pick New Officers

The Big Spring Order of DeMolay held a public installation meeting Saturday in the old Howard County Junior College Student Union Building.

Refreshments were served by the DeMolay's Mother Club and there was a dance after a short speech on the organization. Masters, Rambovs, DeMolays and prospective members and their parents were invited.

Cancer Clue May Be Near

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A medical expert says natural resistance in the bodies of some patients may provide a clue to controlling cancer.

Dr. Murray Copeland of the M. D. Anderson hospital and tumor institute in Houston discussed this hopeful outlook while here to address a hospital institute on cancer nursing.

"Cancer does not thrive in certain persons under certain conditions," he said. "There was something there that fought it. What it was and what the conditions or types of persons that resist cancer are are not yet known."

"A number of cases have been discovered where the patient has had a spontaneous regression of cancerous tumors."

"The search is on to discover some unique thing in the body to bring about resistance to cancer or to find something in cancer tissue which might be used to enhance the body's resistance."

Scientists have found that one of three persons with cancer may be cured, Dr. Copeland said, and research now centers on palliative treatment—designed to suppress the disease so a patient may go on leading a useful life without discomfort.

He listed X-ray therapy, use of hormones and chemotherapy as the three means of palliative treatment being explored. Chemicals are receiving the most attention, he added.

Flames, Smoke Sweep Kopperl

CLEBURNE, Tex. (AP) — The small town of Kopperl in Bosque County was enveloped in flames and a terrific smoke Saturday as 5,000 bales of green hay burned in a downtown warehouse.

The fire broke out during a thunderstorm. It was not immediately determined whether it started from lightning or spontaneous combustion.

The blaze was confined to two adjoining buildings, one the warehouse and the other occupied the Lloyd Needham service station. The hay was owned by Pinky Waller, Kopperl farmer.

Flames and smoke were so intense that more than a dozen fire units from surrounding towns were called to help local fire fighters.

Kopperl is a community of 250 in the Lake Whitney area, about 20 miles south of Cleburne.

Stock Market Breaks 'Floor,' For New Low

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market this week sank sharply below its previous 1960 lows, breaking an important support level.

The support, represented by the lows reached in March, May and July, had previously been a kind of "floor" from which the list rebounded to recovery movements lasting some weeks.

This week the market broke through the "floor," represented roughly by the 600 level in the Dow Jones industrial average.

The Dow industrials fell 16.98 to 585.20.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 3.10 to 209.50, still remaining a bit above its low set in March.

Based on the decline in the AP average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange fell by an estimated $7 billion dollars to around $288 billion.

It was the largest drop in the AP average since the week ended March 5 when it fell 7.1. Volume totaled 14,930,330 shares compared with 12,071,740 in the preceding week.

This was the market's fourth straight weekly decline. The principal cause for the retreat of stock prices has been the disappointing business news. The economy has not picked up as many expected it would after Labor Day.

Easing of money by the Federal Reserve Board has had no noticeable stimulating effect, as yet. The squeeze on corporate income has continued. Third quarter profits were predicted this week to be around the levels of the like period a year ago, when industry was dampened by the long steel strike.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

American Motors, off 1/4 at 21 on 212,000 shares; Standard Oil (New Jersey), off 1/4 at 40 1/4; Studebaker-Packard (when issued, up 1/4 at 11 1/4; Benguet, up 1/4 at 14; and Studebaker-Packard Common, up 1/4 at 12 1/4.

U.S. government bonds scored their second straight advance this week after six weeks on the downside. The gains ranged up to half a point.

Corporates were almost unchanged except for foreign bonds which Friday hit a 1960 low and equaled the 1959 low.

Volume improved to $23,436,900 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $18,725,000 the previous week, the slowest non-holiday week of the year. A year ago volume totaled $44,631,000.

Merchants Endorse One-Way Streets

Downtown area merchants expressed approval of a proposed one-way street plan which was presented Friday by the Big Spring Traffic Commission. The plan was discussed at a special meeting in the police building.

The merchants, members of the Chamber of Commerce retail committee, and the thoroughfare committee, agreed that the system would help ease traffic congestion and parking problems which residents now face in the downtown area.

The area effected is bounded by 1st and 5th, Gregg and Johnson. Proposed one-way streets are Scurry, north-bound from 5th to 1st; Runnels, south-bound from 1st to 5th; 2nd, east-bound from Gregg to Johnson; 5th, west-bound from Johnson to Gregg.

Parking on most streets would not be changed, but the proposed changes would add eight parking spaces within the area, according to Bruce Dunn, secretary of the traffic commission.

In areas where a parking change is proposed, spaces would be redesigned at 25 degrees. Parking is now either parallel or at a 60 degree angle.

The 25-degree angle parking is considered safer because the motorist does less backing directly across a lane of traffic, as in the case of 60-degree parking.

The 25-degree angle also is more convenient for motorists than the 60-degree by providing more space between cars for opening car doors.

The one-way streets proposal, combined with the new parking procedure, was termed a good step forward toward easing the driving problems in the downtown area.

A public hearing will be held on the proposal by the traffic commission Oct. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Rosy Picture Painted For Texas Building

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Bureau of Business Research predicted Saturday a rosy future for Texas building, no matter which political party wins the November election.

"The abnormal seasonal gains registered in August show that this state is indeed in an enviable position pending the completion of a healthy adjustment which has been taking place over the past seven or eight months," said the University of Texas agency in a special report on construction activity.

"This solid foundation will be a valuable asset to all Texans as we enter into the start of a new presidential term and the policies of that administration. Both parties are pledged to liberal spending which has caused the entire economy to assume a political wait-and-see attitude rather than acting in this current period."

The report said favorable weather and an excellent economic environment combined in August to give Texas home builders a pleasant, but unexpected, advance.

Residential building in August totaled $46,683,000.

Non residential building reached $45,961,000, the highest August in Texas history and 73 per cent over August of 1959.

America Needs God!

"A Gallup poll of 7,600 middle class homes revealed that 40 per cent of them do not own a Bible. It is easy enough to appreciate the fact that many homes that do possess Bibles do not use them. Is it any wonder that approximately one marriage in three is ending in the divorce courts?"

"Again, Walter S. Albear made a survey which shows that 70 per cent of our youth exist from infancy to maturity without any continuous systematic training in morals of religion. No wonder that 90 per cent of the major crimes of our nation are committed by youths less than 25 years old, that crime has increased 500 per cent in 30 years, that a major crime is committed every 22 seconds, that J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI pleaded for religious training!"

No Easy Task

The resignation of Walter Parks as the Howard County engineer creates the problem of replacement, and it won't be an easy one.

During his tenure as engineer and chief executive officer of the county's road program, Mr. Parks has directed a commendable program. More than anyone else, perhaps, he is responsible for making the unit system of the county function in such a way that roads have been maintained satisfactorily while miles upon miles of new permanent roads have been built. His predecessor had pulled some kinks out of the organization, but in the process, other problems had been created. While administering the program in keeping with accepted practices, Parks also maintained good relations with his policy makers—the commissioners court.

As a result, Howard County has become something of a model for the remainder of the state for road administration. We would like it to continue that way for we

Great Opportunity Awaits

The Texas Highway Department has prepared a brochure detailing plans for improvement of U. S. 87 Highway as an arterial highway during the next decade.

This means that the route will be largely divided highway through much of the state. At least, this will be the case for the highway from San Angelo to Dumas.

The net effect of this is that U. S. 87 will have two lanes one way traffic over the bulk of the sector, and except for some grade separations and network of access roads, will be able to move traffic about as rapidly as the Interstate system.

Incidentally, it will be a link between Interstate 20 at Big Spring and Interstate 20 at Amarillo, and between Interstate 20 at Big Spring and Interstate 35 and Interstate 10 at San Antonio.

Marquis Childs Khrushchev's New 'Diplomacy'

UNITED NATIONS—In that ancient recipe for rabbit stew the first necessity is to catch the rabbit. It had been hopefully assumed in the State Department that Premier Khrushchev would run true to his recent form. He would imitate Samson in the temple of the United Nations with a wild tirade, showing his weakness as a confession of the defeats the Soviets have suffered in the Congo.

BUT, AS HE IS demonstrating all over again, KHRUSHCHEV is a completely unpredictable quantity. He may yet be goaded into playing the role of a blind and desperate Samson. But in this beginning stage he shows no signs of accepting the role prayerfully assigned to him.

That the volatile Mr. K. would behave again as he did in Paris last May was perhaps too much to hope. Then, in the aftermath of the confusion, bumbling and uncertainty over the shooting down of the U-2 espionage plane, he did put on a show of such violent anger and contumacy as to convince most opinion that he wanted to sabotage the summit conference and welcomed the plane episode to that end. His performance at his press conference in the Palais De Chaillot was an appalling exhibit of irresponsibility.

WHAT APPEARS valid in the State Department assumption is that Khrushchev in his contest with the Red Chinese must prove his leadership of the Asian-African nations within the framework of the U.N. He has chosen to do this by the boldest and most direct challenge and thus far it must be admitted that he has succeeded. This extraordinary congregation of heads of state is here for only one reason, and that is because he engineered their coming.

The peace-with-total-disarmament theme is worn threadbare. Moscow's threat to loose rockets against the United States if there is any intervention in Cuba made it sound pretty hollow. So did the determined effort to supply arms to the inflammable Patrice Lumumba in the Congo. That was like throwing lighted matches into a can of gasoline.

BUT THE MISTAKE made so often in the past must not be repeated this time. Khrushchev should not be underestimated. He is playing the game by his own rules, which means no rules at all.

That is the heart of the matter. The United States and the other Western powers are either unable or unwilling to break

Bankers Careful Not To Use Word 'Recession'

NEW YORK — If you're confused by business thusses and that, by Castro, Khrushchev & Co., and by the stock market and the election campaign, you have distinguished company.

At the 96th annual convention of the American Bankers Association, such phrases as "slightly declining plateau," "high level stagnation," "rolling readjustment," "election uncertainty," "international confusion," were used to describe the first year of the "golden sixties."

THESE SUBDUED expressions were in keeping with the toned-down convention entertainment. Last year at Miami Beach, lavish into-the-night parties distracted from the convention program itself. Leading bankers decided on retrenchment this year. Yet, by no means were the doings at the Waldorf-Astoria, Park Lane, Sheraton East, and other hotels and clubs in New York austere. But neither were they Lucullan.

Beryl W. Sprinkel, vice-president and economist of the Harris Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, was one of two bankers willing to say, "This is a recession." The other was Arthur W. Kincaid, president of the Fourth National Bank and Trust Co., Wichita, Kansas. Sprinkel thought we might be working out of it after next spring. Not Kincaid: "I don't think we'll get out of it in 1961."

KINCAID, no doubt, is influenced by his environment. Curtailment of demand for Boeing combaters had cut employment in the Wichita plant from a peak of 32,000 to about 15,000, and even this number is being phased down. Industrially, Wichita is a depressed area. The readjustment will take time.

Most of the bankers were not ready to throw in their optimism. To them, recession was a "naughty word." Instances:

HAROLD H. HELM, chairman, Chemical Bank, New York City, said: "I don't consider this a recession, and I don't think we're going to be in one. I look for money to be in good demand and banks to take care of their customers."

S. Clark Beise, president, Bank of America National Trust & Savings Association: "I haven't changed my opinion from four weeks ago when I saw you in San Francisco. A person loses perspective if he permits himself to be swayed by each week's statistics. I think we will have an industrial upturn in the last three months and that nothing destabilizing will take place in the first quarter of 1961. I do not think we're going to have what most persons refer to as a recession. This is a leveling-off period."

FRED F. FLORENCE, chairman of the executive committee, Republic National Bank of Dallas: "There are indications of softening—more than has taken place for some time. Nevertheless, I don't see any abandoning of major plans by business men—only postponement. The international situation and the election are causing hesitancy. People want to know what the policies of the next administration will be."

Dale E. Sharp, president, Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York: "We're rolling along on a slightly declining plateau. If there is such a thing. There's no exuberance in the economy. There's likely to be a somewhat less than seasonal demand for loans this year. But by this time next year business will be moving up again."

JOHN W. REMINGTON, president, Lincoln Rochester Trust Co., Rochester, N. Y., and president of the American Bankers Association, at a press conference: "I rather expect we will have a sideways movement, but I don't look forward to a major decline."

"You wouldn't call this a recession?"

"No, I would not. I think 1961 will be a satisfactory year. I don't think it will be down 5 per cent from 1960."

L. M. SCHWARTZ, president of the Citizens State Bank, Paola, Kansas: "We're on pretty firm ground. Business is keeping closer control of inventories and this has slackened the pace of industrial activity."

Ben Schiffman, enterprising financial editor of the Kansas City Star, made this interesting observation: "Presidents of smaller banks in Kansas seemed a good deal more confident than those of larger banks. Perhaps that's because agriculture in Kansas has been stronger than industry this year."

FEW BANKERS expect layoffs to compound layoffs. They expect retail buying to continue high in this they're supported by the latest University of Michigan survey of consumer intentions to buy: "Recent deterioration in sentiment has been arrested."

Bankers now wait for lower interest rates to lift construction volume, as in previous periods of declining industrial activity (see chart). In some ways, this period is akin to 1926-27—the sideways interlude in the long post-World War I upturn. To be sure, the recent drop in the market could be the harbinger of an industrial tailspin in 1961. But it also could be an over adjustment to lower corporate earnings. This last gets my vote.

Around The Rim Culture Is On Its Way Again

DEAR RUFÉ:

Well, partner, you're always wanting to know what we're doing around here in a culture sort of way. I ain't reported lately, and some friends of yours said I oughta let you know, account of maybe you would want to partake of some of this yourself.

What I mean is, maybe come to the shows instead of expecting me to write you every time, for free.

TRUTH IS, we're a-gettin' ready for another year of culture that will ooze out of the uppy people around town have got their program worked out. You might as well know about it.

First off, we're gonna have a git-tar player. Now, I know this don't sound much like culture to you, or to me neither, when I get to thinkin' about all the musical crimes that have been committed on a git-tar.

BUT THIS FELER—he's a furriner, as you might have knowed—goes at it different. He don't swing his hips, for one thing, and don't have to plug the git-tar into the electricity, neither. Seems like he just plays it, lovin'-like. Culturrists say this is so purty that it will make the back of your neck sort of prickle up.

Well, then we got a Indiana joke teller coming. I don't think he fits into the culture picture much, but he is bringing some musicians with him. I figure this joke teller would be about what you would appreciate, but the uppy people got to sell some tickets somewhere besides in their own crowd.

BUT, MAN, just wait till the other shows. There's gonna be one of them big symphonies. You know what that means: Fellow in a forked-tail coat, waving a little stick, people on one side sawin' fiddles, people on the other side sawin' horns, people on the other side sawin' bigger fiddles, and way off in the corner that loafs with them drums who only hits a couple of licks the whole evening. I still don't see how he gets paid as much as the others.

THIS OUTFIT IS all the way from Washington. That would make it bigger, and probably more expensive, than one from anywhere else. Anyways, you couldn't hardly afford to miss that kind of music.

And then, there's another one of them bunches of tippy-toe dancers. They're furriners, too, I think, but as I get it, tippy-toe dancin' is about the same in any language. Only thing is, the fellers show off their legs same as the girls do, with not nearly as good results.

ALL THESE SHOWS are put together, Rufe, for us folks who appreciate the finer things of life, if you know what those are.

Dag-nab it, Rufe, you're always pesterin' me to write you about how the culture shows come out. Why don't you buy a ticket this year and see for yourself? Git-tars, joke-tellers, forked-tail coat or chestras and tippy-toe dancers. Don't see how you could beat it, even at the Fair.

Yore friend,
ZEKE
(Bob Whipkey)

Norman Vincent Peale Reflections On The Passion Play

Today I witnessed the famed Passion Play at Oberammergau. Once before I had attended a performance of the play. That was back in 1934, which was the 300th anniversary of the pledge by the villagers of this little Bavarian community to portray every ten years the Passion of our Lord in gratitude for deliverance from the plague.

THE PASSION PLAY is staged with skill and this seems to annoy certain critics. But should not Jesus have the best in talent and technique? Some critics seem to think that a primitive, amateurish performance would possess more sincerity and piety. Why should mediocre acting and staging be expected in presenting the greatest drama of all time?

As to commercialism, nothing appears here that is in any way improper, unless there is something wrong about selling souvenirs of a sacred experience which people keep for a lifetime.

What is shown, and very dramatically, is that certain evil forces crucified Jesus physically. And the same forces are crucifying Him spiritually and practically in our time.

WHAT CRUCIFIED Him then? Greed for material gain, established privilege, political power, all of which His preaching threatened. These evil forces are in men, all men, irrespective of race, and they ganged up against Jesus Christ on the assumption that if they could only kill Him they would perforce destroy the dynamic forces of good for which He stood.

This just happened to take place in Jerusalem and it just happened that some Jews (only a very few) and some Romans were the agents of these forces. Precisely the same thing, given equivalent circumstances, would have happened had the setting been in London, in Berlin or, yes, in New York City.

AS I WATCHED this play, a sense of tragedy overcame me. It was clearly brought out that the disciples did not understand Jesus Christ. They loved Him devotedly, but they did not grasp what He was trying to teach them. They were bewildered by the great thing He was attempting to get over to them, namely, love—the love of God, love between people, love as a way of life.

BUT THEY ARE not the first or the last to fail to get it. These five thousand people among whom I sat today also love Jesus. There is no doubt about that. One can sense it in the spirit of all. But do we understand Him really, or do we follow Him? Do we not also forsake Him when the going gets a bit hard or when a conflict with self-interest arises? I only know that I came out from the performance with a greatly reduced opinion of myself as a disciple.

BUT DO YOU KNOW, there is something else about it that keeps me from being overly discouraged; and that is the faith that Jesus Christ had in His disciples, even though they let Him down. He still believes in them and us and maybe, in the long run, that profound faith that there is something good within us is the hope of the world.

I wish that everyone might come to Oberammergau and sit as I did for seven hours under this soul searching experience. This is the message that has brought into this world whatever we have of decency, of love and brotherhood, and salvation as well.

WASHINGTON—There is really only one underlying issue in the presidential campaign, and neither candidate seems to have come to grips with it yet. It is whether the United States is going to get into a war that will make necessary tremendous sacrifices of life.

Judging by the speeches and essays that emanate from certain quarters, the United States has "lost prestige" throughout the world. Everything is said to be the fault of the Eisenhower administration—whether it's the antics of Lumumba, or the erratic behavior of Khrushchev, or the crafty maneuvering of Nasser, or the crude outbursts of Castro, to say nothing of the student riots in Japan.

THE CHARGE IS made that, if a Democratic administration had been in power in Washington, none of this presumably would have happened, or else, if there is a chance of administration now, such episodes would not occur again. But how are they going to be prevented? Those in Congress, for instance, who argue that American "prestige" has never sunk lower, or those who wrote the Democratic platform at Los Angeles and said the same thing, must have some idea of how that "lost prestige" is going to be recovered.

FROM EVERY SIDE the chorus of critics cries out that the President is responsible for every advance made by the Communists in Africa, in Asia and in Latin America. Even if this were true—which nobody who really examines the facts would concede—what is being proposed to send our "prestige" upward again? Is the United States to order an army of its own into Cuba to deal with Castro? Is that the way to "win friends and influence people" in Latin America?

The Eisenhower administration lately has proposed to lend or spend around $500,000,000 in Latin America, and there's a plan to spend another such sum in Africa. Yet the critics say this is "buying good will." They go so far as to say that America should give the money to the U.N. or some other international organization to distribute, so it will not have the onus of being known as American money. This isn't likely to be a very convincing argument to the average taxpayer in America, but, if that's what is to be done, it is desirable to let the American stance, would have happened had the setting been in London, in Berlin or, yes, in New York City.

AS I WATCHED this play, a sense of tragedy overcame me. It was clearly brought out that the disciples did not understand Jesus Christ. They loved Him devotedly, but they did not grasp what He was trying to teach them. They were bewildered by the great thing He was attempting to get over to them, namely, love—the love of God, love between people, love as a way of life.

BUT THEY ARE not the first or the last to fail to get it. These five thousand people among whom I sat today also love Jesus. There is no doubt about that. One can sense it in the spirit of all. But do we understand Him really, or do we follow Him? Do we not also forsake Him when the going gets a bit hard or when a conflict with self-interest arises? I only know that I came out from the performance with a greatly reduced opinion of myself as a disciple.

BUT DO YOU KNOW, there is something else about it that keeps me from being overly discouraged; and that is the faith that Jesus Christ had in His disciples, even though they let Him down. He still believes in them and us and maybe, in the long run, that profound faith that there is something good within us is the hope of the world.

I wish that everyone might come to Oberammergau and sit as I did for seven hours under this soul searching experience. This is the message that has brought into this world whatever we have of decency, of love and brotherhood, and salvation as well.

WASHINGTON—There is really only one underlying issue in the presidential campaign, and neither candidate seems to have come to grips with it yet. It is whether the United States is going to get into a war that will make necessary tremendous sacrifices of life.

Judging by the speeches and essays that emanate from certain quarters, the United States has "lost prestige" throughout the world. Everything is said to be the fault of the Eisenhower administration—whether it's the antics of Lumumba, or the erratic behavior of Khrushchev, or the crafty maneuvering of Nasser, or the crude outbursts of Castro, to say nothing of the student riots in Japan.

THE CHARGE IS made that, if a Democratic administration had been in power in Washington, none of this presumably would have happened, or else, if there is a chance of administration now, such episodes would not occur again. But how are they going to be prevented? Those in Congress, for instance, who argue that American "prestige" has never sunk lower, or those who wrote the Democratic platform at Los Angeles and said the same thing, must have some idea of how that "lost prestige" is going to be recovered.

FROM EVERY SIDE the chorus of critics cries out that the President is responsible for every advance made by the Communists in Africa, in Asia and in Latin America. Even if this were true—which nobody who really examines the facts would concede—what is being proposed to send our "prestige" upward again? Is the United States to order an army of its own into Cuba to deal with Castro? Is that the way to "win friends and influence people" in Latin America?

The Eisenhower administration lately has proposed to lend or spend around $500,000,000 in Latin America, and there's a plan to spend another such sum in Africa. Yet the critics say this is "buying good will." They go so far as to say that America should give the money to the U.N. or some other international organization to distribute, so it will not have the onus of being known as American money. This isn't likely to be a very convincing argument to the average taxpayer in America, but, if that's what is to be done, it is desirable to let the American people know whether that is being planned by Mr. Kennedy if he wins.

THEN THERE'S the matter of military strength. One big group in the Democratic party, calling itself "liberal," says we are spending too much money for armament and are overemphasizing the military side. They say that more should be spent for classrooms and teachers' salaries and welfare programs. Another large group, also boosting the Kennedy cause, wishes to spend more money to become militarily stronger, claiming we are weak in deterrent power. All these criticisms are widely publicized and are reprinted in the Moscow press or quoted over the Soviet radio. There's no harm in this, either, unless it encourages the Communist dictators to think America is really weak and lacks the courage to fight. That's what caused the second world war—a miscalculation as to the firmness and courage of the Allies.

BUT, AFTER ALL, what the voter wants to know now is by what magic device America is going to beat Khrushchev and his gang without emphasizing the "military sector" or actually going to war to force the Communists out of the areas they have invaded—from Laos to the Middle East, and from Central Africa to Cuba and other Latin-American countries. To plunge the United States into war to recover "lost prestige" is unthinkable. Yet, rightly or wrongly, the impression is being given that some military force will be employed to put the Communists in their place if Kennedy is elected.

MR. EISENHOWER'S formula has been patience and restraint, and it would be easier to make gains by that process if some political party spokesman would stop giving aid and comfort to the common enemy. They usually react to such criticism by crying out that their "loyalty is being impugned," or that they're being asked to muzzle their criticism and give up the right to free speech. But the unanswered question still is: How is the "lost prestige" to be regained by America without going to war? The party candidates should soon begin to answer that question.

To Your Good Health Children Can Have Unusual Traits

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a five-year-old son who takes the cap off the gas tank of our car to smell the gasoline. He has been drunk several times as a result. Will this affect his health? What can we do to stop him? I have punished him awful, but he still does it.—R. M."

This is an odd sort of thing—but all the millions of children in the world, thousands possess unusual traits. I hear my share of them, but there are lots I have not heard of before, and this is one.

A casual sniff of gasoline isn't going to hurt anybody. But when you can see signs that make you say the child is "drunk" from inhaling the fumes, it is quite obvious that the little fellow's notion is decidedly harmful—or will be, if he keeps it up. What you describe as a "toxic (or poisonous) reaction," and it is dangerous.

It could be, of course, that punishing him so hard may have, by some quirk of the childish mind, made him think that there is something highly desirable in smelling the gasoline tank.

My advice is this: Don't let him do it any more. Not at all. Don't punish him. Don't tell him not to. Ignore it—except for one thing: Buy one of those locks for the gas tank, which costs only a few dollars, so he CAN'T get the cap open. In a few short weeks he'll forget about the whole business. And so can you.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a perfectly healthy six-year-old child who two weeks after recovering from measles began having seizures, about a week apart, lasting from 3 to 5 minutes. Could measles be the cause?—Mrs. M. D."

Measles can, sometimes, be a factor in initiating seizures, but the important question isn't what touched them off, but what can be done to correct them. Examination may very well include an electroencephalogram, or "brain waves" test to disclose what the situation is. Depending on the results, treatment is available, perhaps with the use of the fairly new and very successful anticonvulsant medications.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Restaurants that serve iodized salt are an abomination. What does iodine do for salt, outside of making it sickeningly sweet?—R.H.D."

I disagree with you utterly. The amount of potassium iodide (which is what they use to iodize the salt) is so slight that neither you nor anyone else can detect it by taste.

For some reason, you are just hunting for something to complain about. Why don't you have a friend get some non-iodized salt and some iodized salt, and give you tastes of each, to see whether you can tell which is which? You won't be able to.

On the other hand, the tiny trace of iodine in the salt has saved unnumbered people from goiter. So, sir, stop fussing.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me anything about the merits or otherwise of a treatment for obesity by injection with human chorionic gonadotropin, as announced by a doctor in Rome?—D.L.C."

I'm not familiar with it—but I want no truck with the use of hormone preparations for reducing. Too many side effects.

Most overweight people don't really want to reduce—they want to eat as much as ever, but also to have some easy method of eating without getting fat. Why believe in magic or fairy stories when the real answer is so obvious? I heartily enjoy eating, myself, and—against my own good advice—sometimes pack on too many extra pounds. But I tell you this: I can take 'em off again! And I do it in the simplest, most effective way ever devised: Cut down the calories. No "easy" ways of reducing for you, because "reducing without dieting" is in the same class with "get rich quick."

You wish the statements were true, but you know they aren't. Copyright, 1960, Field Enterprises, Inc.

Bids Due On 2 AF Projects

Two Webb AFB projects totaling more than a million and a quarter dollars in estimated cost are due for bid evaluations this week.

One is a runway extension project costing a million dollars, and the other is for a shop armament and electronics building, estimated at $300,000.

The U.S. Army Engineers district office at Fort Worth previously announced the bid opening date on Tuesday for the runway extension, and that of the shops armament unit for Thursday.

No announcement has been made concerning a lesser project for an aircraft weapons structure due for bid opening during the past week.

This was a $50,000 project and consisted of a masonry building, approximately 1,797 square feet, with surrounding paving, utilities and electrical apparatus.

The runway project, which would extend one of the parallel runways and thus increase the training capability of Webb as well as expediting spontaneous take offs by the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron, calls for 22,550 cubic yards of concrete paving, 13,400 cubic yards of flexible base, 7,100 tons of hot mix asphalt, 14,167 square yards of stabilized material, 9,300 feet of fence and several other items.

The proposed shops building would contain 12,401 square feet of space in a masonry structure, together with paving and utility services.

HCJC Ready To Kick Off Adult Program

Howard County Junior College is well under way with its adult education program for the fall semester.

At least six fields are covered in current proposed offerings, but W. L. Walker, who is supervising the adult education program, said that the college would seek to offer any sort of legitimate course for which there was a sufficient demand.

Among the courses contemplated now are drivers education, ceramics, art (both beginners and advanced), accelerated reading, marriage and the family (a counseling type of program), and mechanics of organic chemistry (credit in organic chemistry is a requisite for this).

In addition, the vocational nurses course is to begin Oct. 17, and Mrs. Johnnie Amos will again be the instructor. This course covers the full scholastic year and upon its completion the participants receive their Licensed Vocational Nurses certification.

Registration for this course, which involves almost full time academic work at the start and graduates into an increasing amount of hospital service, may be made with Mrs. Amos at AM 2-2006 or at the college. Information on all other offerings may be had at the college.

5 Die Violently In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Five persons died violently in Dallas Saturday, three in traffic mishaps and two in shootings.

Two Negroes were killed when a car plunged into a water-filled ditch shortly before dawn. They were Levi Adkinson, 27, and Henrietta Hall, 21.

A Grand Prairie man, Charles L. Brunson, 46, was killed when he was thrown from a truck in a traffic accident inside the Dallas city limits.

Billie Don Tyler, 16, who suffered amputation of his right leg last June, was found shot to death, the victim of a shotgun blast. Justice of the Peace Dave Johnston returned a verdict of suicide.

The other shooting victim was Willie Bullock, 49, Dallas Negro. Police questioned a Negro woman.

Iowa Park Fair To Honor Solons

IOWA PARK, Tex. (AP) — The Texas-Oklahoma fair here Sept. 26-Oct. 1 will honor Reps. Frank Icard of Texas and Carl Albert of Oklahoma.

Icard and Albert will be on hand for the dedication and official opening.

Judging of livestock and other agricultural exhibits are scheduled for each day of the fair.

The Jettison Handle

S.Sgt. Jesse Williams of the 420th Field Training Detachment at Webb AFB shows Chief Jay Banks and Captain Walter Eubanks the external canopy jettison handle on a F-102 Delta Dagger. Over half of the local police department visited Webb-ABF last week.

Police Officers Take Webb Rescue Class

Knowing how to rescue an Air Force pilot trapped inside an F-102 Delta Dagger could well be included in a Big Spring policeman's job description.

This training was given to a score of local lawmen last week and included necessary orientation in emergency crash-rescue procedures.

The brief course, given by technicians of the Webb-based 420th Field Training Detachment, is aimed not only at saving the pilot inside the aircraft, but also at protecting the lives of civilian rescue parties.

The policemen were shown the proper way of approaching the F-102, how to blow the canopy from the outside—without harm to themselves in the event of a sudden explosion—and the various points of access to the aircraft's interior.

The course started last Wednesday when the policemen attended a lecture at police headquarters, given by S. Sgt. William C. Sharp, on normal and emergency rescue procedures. Sgt. Sharp used an Air Force training film and color transparencies as training aids.

Sgt. Sharp gave a similar talk to Big Spring firemen at their headquarters. The local firefighters, who are already versed in aircraft crash-rescue work, had not been fully oriented on the new Delta Dagers which replace F-86 Sabres.

Thursday, the policemen visited Webb AFB and were shown F-102 aircraft belonging to the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron. Lt. Col. Dick M. Crowell, FIS commander, gave them a guided tour of the squadron area.

Fire Department members also have been invited to a Webb AFB visit for a look at the aircraft. M. Sgt. James P. Scales, training detachment commander, said.

Algeria Off Limits

PARIS (AP)—The French government has put Algeria off limits to retired Gen. Raoul Salan, the man who played a decisive role in the 1958 Algiers uprising against the Fourth Republic. It obviously was punishment for Salan's recent criticism of self-determination for Algeria.

Fair Weather Aids Harvest In All Areas

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Continued fair weather speeded the harvest in all sections of Texas this week, director John E. Hutchison, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reported. Cattle-men, however, are hoping for rain to revive slowly deteriorating rangeland.

Cotton harvest and stalk destruction is complete in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, according to Joe Rothe of Weslaco. Livestock continue in good condition, but screwworm infestations are becoming serious.

Cotton trailers are swamping gin-yards in the upper coastal area. Silver Whittsett reported from Rosenberg. The rice harvest is progressing rapidly and driers are busy.

The Austin area needs rain, but dry weather has been ideal for crop harvesting in South Central Texas. Joe Glover of Gonzales reported. Livestock and pasture conditions are generally good.

MOISTURE SHORT

From Mt. Pleasant in Northeast Texas, John Surovik said moisture is very short and pastures are badly in need of rain. The dry weather has speeded cotton and corn harvest and some sweet potatoes are being dug.

To the south, similar conditions exist in deep East Texas. Walter Scott of Nacogdoches reported heavier than normal stocker calves are moving rapidly to market. Rapid progress continues in the harvest of good crops of corn, hay and peanuts.

The corn harvest in Central Texas is complete, R. G. Burwell of Stephenville reported. Peanuts must have rain to mature a good crop. Pastures are very dry and grass fires are reported.

Stockwater is also a critical item in the San Angelo area. Roy Huckabee reported. Top moisture is gone, but farmers are "dusting in" fall grains. Cotton harvest is well underway and grain sorghum harvest is nearing completion.

North Texas weather is perfect for cotton harvesting, but soils are too dry for fall seeding, reported Ted Martin from Denton. Farmers delayed dry-sowing of small grains because of heavy armyworm infestations.

NEED RAIN

In far West Texas, ranges are in good condition, but beginning to need rain. Livestock also are in good condition. Lambs and calves are moving to market and goat shearing continues. Ray Siegmund of Fort Stockton reported a good pecan crop in the Del Rio area.

James Simmons of Vernon said rain is needed in 20 of the rolling plains counties. Some ranchers are hauling stock water. The wheat crop is only 10 per cent planted with most areas too dry to continue.

Scattered showers over the Panhandle left ranges in good condition, W. W. Grisham of Amarillo reported. Harvesting of good crops of lettuce and carrots is underway. Wheat is 95 per cent planted with good stands reported from most sections.

Southward on the High Plains, W. H. Jones of Lubbock said rain would be of much benefit to ranchers, but farmers need continued dry weather. Cotton harvest is underway from Big Spring northward to the Lamesa area.

No Extension Seen For Cotton Plowup

AUSTIN (AP)—There will be no extension of the Sept. 25 plowup deadline for 13 South Texas and Coastal Bend counties. State Agriculture Commissioner John White says.

White said a survey showed it is necessary to destroy cotton stalks in the area to prevent pink boll worms from further infesting cotton acreage.

The counties are Aransas, Brooks, Duval, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kleberg, Nueces, San Patricio, Webb, Zapata and the northern portions of Hidalgo and Starr.

Held In Theft

Marilyn Stewart, 24, of Worcester, Mass., is being held by police in connection with the disappearance of $100,000 from the finance office of a U. S. Army base at Fontenot, France. Police said they seized about $50,000 in a raid on the French home of Miss Stewart, a teacher employed in the base school. Police also arrested a man identified as Barney L. Butler, 34, of Los Angeles, who has been working as a defense department civilian at the base. (AP Wirephoto)

DEAR ABBY

NAKEDNESS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The other day you helped a lady whose husband came to the table in his shorts. I have a similar problem. My husband sleeps in the nude. We've been married 32 years and while the children were home we slept in the same room, he wore pajamas. But now we each have our own bedroom and when I go to make his bed in the morning I find his pajamas have not been slept in. I talked to him about this and he says it is more comfortable that way.

This worries me because he has a heart condition and if he should die some night in the nude this would be very embarrassing when the undertaker comes. Can you help me?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Man comes into this world naked and there is no embarrassment, so why should there be any if he goes out the same way? Let him sleep the way he wants to.

DEAR ABBY: I have a son, 19, who has just gone back to college for his second year. His girl friend, who is 18, has enrolled in the same college as a freshman. They went together all last summer. When she went on a vacation she wrote to him every day.

I was cleaning out my son's bureau drawers and came upon a pack of her letters. I was shocked to learn that they had been intimate. Now that they are out of town attending the same college I am worried sick about what might happen. The girl's parents live in this town, but we don't have enough in common with them to discuss anything like this. I haven't even told my husband yet. I don't know where to turn for help.

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: You and your husband and the parents of the girl have a great deal in common. Namely, the welfare of your children. First, tell your husband. Then meet with the parents of the girl and tell them. YOUR son and THEIR daughter need some guidance. And fast!

DEAR ABBY: What would you do with a husband who buys clothes or shoes for his wife and children every day but never buys anything for himself?

I guess I am lucky to have a husband like this, but I actually feel guilty. If I take the money and buy something for him, he has a fit. He's down to his last shoes, socks, shorts and trousers. And he doesn't have a decent suit to his name.

"FASHION PLATE"

DEAR "FASHION PLATE": Let him know how much you appreciate his generosity, but tell him you take no pleasure in looking like a fashion plate while he looks like a poor relation. Dress him up and keep him dressed up.

DEAR ABBY: I thought your advice to "STRAIGHT UP AND DOWN" was literally straight up and down. To put it still another way: "What Nature has forgotten Stuff with cotton."

NLRB Issued Complaint In Odessa Strike

The resumption of work at General Tire & Rubber Company's plant here was the result of a complaint issued by the National Labor Relations Board, D. A. Brazel, district representative of the International Union of Operating Engineers, explained Saturday. Reports left the impression it was the result of filing of charges by the union. Brazel, explaining NLRB procedure, said that the union had filed charges of unfair labor practices some six weeks ago, and that the NLRB Thursday issued a complaint incorporating 10 points in the charge.

The next step is to have a formal hearing on the complaint, and this has been set for Oct. 11 in Midland. If, however, the parties reach agreement prior to that time—and they are encouraged to seek to do so, the hearing will be cancelled.

Brazel said that the union had agreed to meet with Walter White, federal mediator, in an effort to reach an understanding with the company, but that as of Saturday he had no word of an agreement by General Tire to meet with the mediator.

Workers returned to the plant Thursday and Friday when a hearing date was set and work is due to continue until the results of the hearing are known or an agreement is reached.

Spence To Be On ASCE Program

E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, will be on the program of the southwestern sectional meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers at College Station on Sept. 29-Oct. 1.

He is president of the Southwest Water Research group and will make observations about progress in evaporation control research. On the panel with him at 3:30 p.m. on Sept. 30 will be Dr. Archie M. Kahan, Texas A & M research director, who is heading up the continuing study on evaporation control.

Bryan's Old Farm Market On Block

By BOB STEWART
Bryan Daily Eagle Staff
Written For The Associated Press
BRYAN, Tex. (AP)—An era ended recently here when the city commission sold the Farmers' Market, and stipulated by restrictions that the property be turned into a parking lot.

In the near future the old green building which was built in the middle 1930s as a joint project of the city, Brazos County and the Chamber of Commerce will be razed and the area will be filled with store workers' cars.

Mrs. Carl Jones, a truck farmer, can remember when the lot once was the parking space for wagons.

It was 1930, and the depression spread across the land. Farm products in the Brazos Valley were plentiful—but money wasn't. Farmers needed cash to make their "city buys" and the townspeople needed bargains in groceries.

Wednesday and Thursday mornings they came to the lot just off the business district. Farmers and their families came bearing their products, sacks and baskets filled with potatoes, roasting ears, onions, greens and a variety of other items. Makeshift booths groaned under the weight of the farmers' crops. Many of the stalls took on a festive air as some of the farmers' wives, like Mrs. Jones, decorated them with wild flowers.

Shoppers strolled from stall to stall. Many edged in a little bargaining to get a few pennies off their purchase.

The nation struggled through the depression and still the farmers' market flourished. Noticing the activity on the lot, someone suggested that if farm products were going to be sold there, they should be sold in a big way.

So the city, county and Chamber of Commerce got together and Farmers Assistance Inc. was officially created Nov. 20, 1936, with each agency chipping in $1,000 to erect a building.

Business continued to boom through the war years and into the late 1940s. But then the country began to get back on its feet and memories of war shortages faded. Supermarkets sprang up and practically everyone owned a refrigerator.

"And the parking," Mrs. Jones sighs. "People would park all around and go off and leave their cars so that our customers couldn't get in."

So things combined to make the Farmers' Market no longer practical, and the Bryan City Commission sold the property for $4,308.

DAV Chapter Meets Monday

Election of officers will be accomplished at a meeting of the Disabled American Veterans chapter Monday.

The affair is scheduled at the Phillips 66 Cafe at 7:30 p.m.

R. K. McKinney, adjutant of the chapter (No. 47), pointed out that the DAV national commander this year is William O. (Bill) Cooper, Dallas, and that the local chapter is anxious to honor him with as large and active a membership as possible.

This is not a dinner affair, but coffee or other refreshments will be available.

YOU HEAR STRANGE THINGS ABOUT CATHOLICS

Yes, you do hear some strange things about Catholics. You hear it said that Catholics believe all non-Catholics are headed for hell . . . that they believe non-Catholic marriages are invalid.

Some think Catholics believe the Pope is God . . . that he can do no wrong . . . that they owe him civil allegiance and that he should have the political power to rule America.

It is said that Catholics want religious freedom only for themselves . . . that they oppose public schools and separation of Church and State as evils which should be destroyed.

The claim is made that Catholics pay the priest for forgiveness of their sins . . . that they must buy their departed relatives and friends out of Purgatory . . . that they adore statues . . . are forbidden to read the Bible . . . use medals, candles and holy water as sure-fire protection against loss of a job, lightning or being hit by an automobile.

But what is worse, some say, Catholics corrupt the true teachings of Jesus Christ with the addition of pagan superstitions and practices that are nothing less than the inventions of the devil.

If all these things or any of them were true, it would be a pity. For at least one out of every four Americans is a Catholic and it would be a national tragedy if one-fourth of all Americans entertained such erroneous ideas.

If you have heard and believed any of these false claims, and want the truth, we will gladly send you a free pamphlet explaining the true teachings of the Catholic Church. This free literature will be sent with the compliments of the Knights of Columbus of this area. Address:

Skeet Foresyth, Long Time City Employee, Is Promoted

By JACK RADER
R. V. "Skeet" Foresyth, for 20 years the city street and sanitation superintendent, will officially assume the duties of assistant director of public works Monday.

Foresyth Promoted

The new assistant director of public works, R. V. "Skeet" Foresyth, matches the budget with what is needed to keep the city in top physical shape. The position of assistant director was created this week by Bruce Dunn, department director. Foresyth assumes his title officially Monday and will be responsible for all divisions within the public works department.

Things were not always so, however. "When I first went to work for the city there were three of us in the public works department," he said. "That was on Nov. 23, 1928, and my first job was driving a pair of black mules pulling a street sweeper."

Two years later, Foresyth moved up a notch, about the time J. R. Smithman took the reins here as city manager. "He gave me a piece of advice I've never forgotten," Foresyth said. "He told me to never be satisfied with how you are doing your job. Always try to improve on it."

HAD 16 EMPLOYEES
Foresyth has been improving ever since. In 1934 he became street foreman and six years later, when the sanitation department was begun, Foresyth was named superintendent of both it and the street departments. "At that time I had 16 men working under me," he said.

The consolidation of departments is expected to improve the overall operation of city maintenance. Authority to dispatch crews and equipment where needed will be Foresyth's, who will be responsible for field work, while Dunn handles the department's administration.

Nixon Takes Fifth Swing Into South

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)
—Vice President Richard M. Nixon swung into Louisiana and Mississippi Saturday, contending that a blow against prejudice and discrimination is "a blow against the Communists."

The Republican presidential candidate dipped into race-conscious Dixie for the fifth time in his campaign, for speeches at Lafayette, La., and Jackson, Miss. He sounded a salute to President Eisenhower for what he said was "wise and seasoned leadership in action" at the United Nations.

SLAPS RIVAL
Nixon combined this with slaps at his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, and work to the South that the issue of discrimination and prejudice "has intimate ties with the overriding issues of peace and the extension of freedom."

"I suggest," Nixon said in his prepared remarks, "that President Eisenhower's sober and confident example at the United Nations points the responsible way for the candidates in this campaign."

"Let us contrast and compare rival plans and programs that concern America's tomorrow. "But let us do this without misrepresenting America's today."

Neither political party nor any administration, Nixon said, can expect to solve at once all problems for all time. But America will move forward if it tries, he said, confident of its great strengths although aware of shortcomings.

CASE IN POINT
"The age-old problem of discrimination and prejudice is a case in point," he added. "This is an issue that concerns not just ourselves. It has intimate ties with the overriding issues of peace and the extension of freedom."

"Wherever and whenever we contribute to the elimination of prejudice and discrimination, we strike a blow against the Communists and their propaganda, ridiculing our moral values. And personally, to the extent that we are unable to present to the rest of the world the image of an America in which all citizens have equal opportunity, to that extent we weaken our battle for freedom everywhere."

Furthermore, Nixon put the South on notice. "We will continue to push forward on all fronts to bring ever near to reality our ideal of equality of opportunity."

NEW REGION
In Lafayette a Roman Catholic area in southwestern Louisiana, Nixon was in a region where no presidential candidate had appeared in several years.

Hundreds greeted him at the airport. Several thousand were strung out along the main street. Police estimated the total turnout at 7,500.

Waving overhead in crowds listening to his speech were scores of signs, some proclaiming, "The South is for Nixon."

Eisenhower carried Louisiana four years ago.

Bat Boy Plans To Buy Pirates, But Is Caught

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—Michael Godula, former Pittsburgh Pirate bat boy, has convinced his jailers that he really believed he could steal enough money from cash drawers to buy the ball club. "Sure, I believe him," said Deputy Sheriff R. J. Stanton. "I've talked to a lot of guys, but this one is a real character."

Godula, 30, was caught stealing $300 from a clothing store in Benicia Thursday. In a suitcase he carried officers found $40,000 in cash and $1,000 shares of mining stock.

The FBI reported finding $70,000 worth of securities Friday in Godula's rented room in Los Angeles.

PLEADS GUILTY
Brought into court, Godula calmly pleaded guilty. He will be sentenced Monday.

Godula claims he tended bats for the Pirates in 1950. He said Branch Rickey took an interest in him and let him try out at shortstop. But the club learned he had a criminal record and dropped him.

Godula wrote an open letter in his jail cell explaining he then started dreaming of acquiring enough money to buy 51 per cent of the Pirate club.

"It has broken my heart that I have not contributed to their winning the pennant," Godula wrote.

Police said Godula claimed he took some of his accumulated stake from banks and the rest from stores.

He said he would walk into a bank, dressed as an employe, walk around the tellers' cages as if he belonged there, stuff his pockets with money and walk away.

"Banks are lousy with dough," Godula observed.

$500 PER WEEK
Police estimated he netted an average of $500 a week.

In Miami police reported Godula was arrested there in 1957 with $10,000. He pleaded guilty of grand theft and urged that the $10,000 be distributed to his victims.

Miami Judge Ben Willard gave him an indefinite suspended sentence on the promise of restitution of the stolen money.

Miami police rated him then as an "erratic genius and financial wizard."

Harlow Wilcox Dies Saturday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harlow Wilcox, 60, former radio announcer for the Fibber McGee and Molly comedy series, died in a hospital Saturday after a lengthy illness.

Wilcox had no immediate survivors. He was divorced from socially prominent Mari Virginia Wilcox in 1951.

Ike And Mateos To Meet Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will make a nine-day, cross-country trip next month to deliver five speeches and confer in Mexico with the president of that country.

The president's schedule was announced Saturday by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, who said the trip will cover an estimated 6,500 miles and take Eisenhower into six states.

Hagerty said "this is not a campaign trip" and none of the speeches will be political.

Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos and Eisenhower will meet on the border one month from Saturday, it was officially announced.

The meeting will take place Oct. 24 in Villa Acuna, across the frontier from the Texas border town of Del Rio. The site is close to the spot where Mexico and the United States have planned to build an international dam.

The meeting will be the third between the two chiefs of state. Eisenhower came to Acapulco to greet Lopez Mateos soon after his inauguration, more than a year ago. Then the Mexican president returned the visit in a trip to the United States and Canada last October.

The President will leave Washington Oct. 17 and will address the annual banquet of the National Automobile Show in Detroit that night.

On Tuesday, Oct. 18, he will fly to the Minneapolis-St. Paul area to participate in dedication of the Hiawatha Interstate Bridge across the Mississippi River. The President then goes to Abilene, Kan., to inspect the Eisenhower Museum, from Abilene he will fly to Denver, Colo., remaining there all day Oct. 19.

From Denver, the President flies to San Francisco to address the Commonwealth Club on Oct. 20. The following day he goes to San Diego to speak at a luncheon meeting of the Pan-American League honoring delegates to the Inter-American Congress of Municipalities.

ELECTROCUTED
BEAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—John McCurdy, 50, of Dillsburg, was electrocuted when he tossed a bucket of water on a burning television set Saturday. The fire began when an antenna outside McCurdy's daughter's home toppled over high tension wires.

Funeral Set For J. W. Anderson

Funeral services for J. W. Anderson, former Big Spring and area resident, who died Saturday afternoon at Lovington, N. M., will be held in Lovington at the Smith-Yarborough Funeral home at 2 p.m. Monday.

Mr. Anderson is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eura Anderson, two sons and a daughter, of Lovington.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. John Coleman, Big Spring, and Mrs. E. G. Cauble, Big Lake; four half-sisters, Mrs. Clyde Dooley, Mrs. Noble Reed, and Mrs. Sol Bledsoe, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. Alfred Cook, San Angelo.

TOUR

Republican administration and a Democratic Congress, hopefully deadlocked. He recalled how a handful of hostile senators virtually wrecked Woodrow Wilson. He said Nixon would face a far more formidable array of adversaries. Such a deadlock in a time of international tension could place the nation in peril, he believes.

NEED ADMINISTRATION
"Give us an administration we can work with," he asked of his listeners.

Again and again Johnson pointed to the one-third decline in farm income during the Republican administration, coupled with a 50 per cent increase in farm debt and the exodus of three million farmers from the land. He pointed to increases in the cost of price support programs at a time when the surplus themselves were reduced.

"Benson" he declared, "has spent more money in eight years than were spent in the previous 80, and with less results."

He said the Republicans in their effort to capture a farm vote are presenting "hashed-over, warmed-over Democratic proposals."

He hammered at the theme of religious freedom and denounced those who would say John Kennedy is not fit to be president because of his religion.

"The mask wearers are not in the majority," Johnson declared at Garden City. "The bigotry of the Al Smith days of 1928 is gone. If a man is good enough to die for his country (in war), he is good enough to serve his country (as president)."

FOR PEOPLE
In virtually every talk he made, he stressed his conviction that "The Democratic party is the party that cares about you."

"Look around you," he said once, "and see who the people are that vote Republican. Ask yourself if they are interested in your welfare. Ask yourself if their interest is your interest."

He hit at "fiscal responsibility" claims of the Republicans. Several times he pointed out that higher interest rates are forcing the government to pay almost twice as much interest on the national debt as it paid when Truman left office.

"The money-lenders are getting that extra money, and the taxpayers are paying it."

Also, he said repeatedly, the public debt has increased by 19 billion dollars under Eisenhower. Johnson confined himself to issues rather than personalities. He criticized Nixon and Benson on the basis of their policies, conceding all along that they are sincere.

QUESTION JUDGMENT
"We don't question the Republicans' motives or their patriotism," he said. "We just question their judgment."

With a southern states whistle-stop tour slated early in October, Johnson sought and received advice from old trooper Harry Truman.

In a nutshell, Truman's advice was this: Keep a tight schedule; stop in the little towns the other candidates ignore because people in the small towns will turn out to see celebrities and they have time to listen and think; and finally, "give 'em hell."

Truman has made it clear he would like to see both Kennedy and Johnson get together with their opponents. But neither Kennedy nor Johnson are naturally inclined toward the Missourian's favorite hard-slugging technique.

On Monday morning, Oct. 24, Eisenhower will fly to Laughlin Air Force Base near Del Rio, Tex., where he will cross the border to meet with President Mateos.

After the meeting in Mexico, the President will fly to Houston on Oct. 24 to address a special convocation at Rice University. He spends the night in Houston and returns to Washington on Tuesday, Oct. 25.

The meeting will take place Oct. 24 in Villa Acuna, across the frontier from the Texas border town of Del Rio. The site is close to the spot where Mexico and the United States have planned to build an international dam.

The meeting will be the third between the two chiefs of state. Eisenhower came to Acapulco to greet Lopez Mateos soon after his inauguration, more than a year ago. Then the Mexican president returned the visit in a trip to the United States and Canada last October.

Atomic Carrier Is Largest Ship

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The world's first atomic-powered aircraft carrier, designed to range the seas for several years without refueling, was floating off her building blocks Saturday and christened Enterprise.

At the moment the ship became fully afloat in her building dock, Mrs. William B. Franke, wife of the secretary of the Navy, smashed a bottle of champagne against the towering bow.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, told several thousand spectators that the 1,101-foot, 85,500-ton flat-top, largest ship ever built, "is a mighty symbol of our determination to preserve liberty and justice and a clear sign of our nation's ability to do so."

The Enterprise will cost about $435 million.

Burke said the new carrier's eight powerful nuclear reactors will enable her to cruise 20 times around the world without refueling.

The Enterprise, whose keel was laid 2½ years ago, will join the fleet about one year from now. She will be manned by a crew of 3,100 officers and men and will carry 1,500 officers and men in her air group.

UT Development Program Is Aimed At Brains, Not Bricks

AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas regents Saturday approved a 10-year development program designed to put it into the highest bracket of state universities.

Top priority is given "brains rather than bricks," said Chancellor Logan Wilson of the program.

Improvement in teaching quality and stepped-up research throughout the system is at the heart of the plan.

Teaching and research will get twice as much money as building from the university endowment fund. Getting and holding superior teachers is a major objective.

NO TAX MONEY
Buildings and equipment included in the 1960-70 development program, however, will be added at an estimated cost of $80 million from all sources. No state tax money is involved in the projected building expenditures.

The regents will finance buildings through part of the endowment income not needed for program development, plus $49 million from private gifts and federal government matching grants.

The development plan is partially dependent on legislative action. The regents said it is predicated on general revenue fund appropriations "which will provide for a sound level of operation" for all-state supported colleges.

"Our chief purpose is to show how the university can discharge its important role in higher education," the regents said. "We are aware of the obligations enunciated by the Committee of 75."

Dr. Merion Minter, San Antonio, chairman of the board.

The Committee of 75 is a group of citizens working toward raising all standards at the university.

SUMMARY
This is a summary of the plans for the various branches of the university:

Southwestern Medical School, Dallas: Envisioned as one of the nation's outstanding centers for medical education and research.

Significant additions to the physical plant costing $5,400,000 are also incorporated.

Galveston Medical Branch: A

With only two weeks left in the fund drive for the Lakeview YMCA building committee was still $420 short of their goal after the report meeting Saturday night.

During the past week the group collected $48,777 in cash and $31,313 in pledges for a total of $80,090. Rev. Sammie Davis was the team captain bringing in the most cash donations. His team collected $30,100. G. Bauchman brought in $20,000 and was the team captain with the most pledged money for the week.

CALGARY, Alta. (AP)—Skip, a 4-month-old black-and-white kitten, topped 34 competitors at the Calgary Cat Club's mouser contest.

Whipping through the five-stage maze to a cage containing live mice in 37½ seconds, the performance knocked 2 seconds off last year's record.

Wins In Maze

Autumn arrived officially fast Thursday, and by Friday evening we had a slight cold snap move in to give respite from a season of withering heat. Another sign of autumn was in the appointment of three more United Fund division chairmen. John Currie will head the out-of-town business firm contacts; Clyde Hollingsworth the auditors, and Jack Davis the evaluation committee.

THE WEEK

youngsters are doing a fine job, and they deserve recognition for their effort.

School enrollment is edging toward that 7,000 mark. Authorities had estimated that we would reach that point by November. If some pending construction contracts are let within the next week or so, we could reach the mark a lot sooner.

Mrs. Martin Binder was named as the 24th senatorial district's women's member of the State Democratic Executive Committee at the state convocation last week.

She is the first local woman to serve in that capacity since Mrs. Norman Read held the post a number of years ago.

Walter Parks resigned last week as county engineer, and this creates a real problem in securing a qualified successor. Under Parks, as the administrative agent of the commissioners court, the county unit system has enjoyed its longest period of uninterrupted service and productivity.

Federal census figures released last week showed Big Spring with an 84 per cent increase in housing during the past decade. The 10,251 shown this spring was 4,665 more than 10 years ago, producing one of the heavier gains of the state.

It's time to get those memberships in the Big Spring Concert Association. This series this year includes such notables as the National Symphony "Pops Americans" featuring Herb Shriner, the famous guitarist Carlos Montoya, and National Ballet Guild of Canada. There will be no single admissions for these. That's why it is important to obtain memberships now.

The Crippled Children's Center was dedicated last Sunday with an all-too-small crowd present, and it immediately launched its program of therapy and training. This sturdy, attractive building is a monument to the warm-heartedness of the workers, builders, businessmen and others in the Big Spring area.

Representing the Credit Bureau and the Retail Credit Granters Club are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Apple. Also attending are Kenneth Huff, past president of the club, and R. E. Hickson, vice president. Hickson is a district director of the conference.

Joining the group from Big Spring will be Mrs. Loyd Wooten, who is to attend today.

City Represented At Credit Meeting

Several Big Springers are attending the West Texas Regional Credit Conference in Midland this weekend. Members were expected from a territory from Fort Worth to El Paso.

Representing the Credit Bureau and the Retail Credit Granters Club are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Apple. Also attending are Kenneth Huff, past president of the club, and R. E. Hickson, vice president. Hickson is a district director of the conference.

What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own.

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done. From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Vaccination Requirement Scored By Chiropractors

To the Editor:

Your Sept. 14th paper on the front page carried news of great concern to me when you told of action by the trustees of the school requiring that we have our children vaccinated for five diseases. The humor of your headline to the article fell flat after reading the first line because as a freedom loving American I cannot feel light-hearted when free choice and free thinking are taken from me.

I shall not attempt here to discuss for or against the vaccination portion of the article. This can be done by professional people more qualified than I to point out the dangers and the pitfalls of such a program.

I would like to take issue with the compulsory portion of the program on the basis that I am being forced to give in to the dictates of an organization with which I disagree without giving me a choice in the matter. Whenever freedom of choice is taken away on this or any other issue, political or otherwise, you come one step closer to the communist way of life. One step closer to the subjugation of your thoughts to conform to the dictates of the state.

In order to enroll my children in the public school system to get the education which is theirs by law, I must first conform to an arbitrary regulation placed by our local board which has acted without first letting the people know what is to be decided. Had there been prior knowledge so that an open discussion could be held, it would not have been as bad. However this was not the case. Certain members of the board have given advice in this matter to the extent that they are saying they know more about how to raise my children than I do and then made it so that I have no voice in it. It would seem not only in this issue but also in certain problems which were voted in the school system this last spring that our Boards of Education and Trustees have an arbitrary power which is second to none.

In this case I find that there is no law which requires this vaccination thing, but that it is a ruling of the local board. If this rule is in the public interest and for the good of the children then why should we be half way about it? Should we not go the whole mile and require a complete physical examination and not leave out any special interest? Let's have a certificate from the Eye Doctor, the Dentist, the Foot Doctor, the Spine Doctor, and all the branches of the healing arts without prejudice.

Better yet it would be if we should use our own good common sense in these things and not be too quick to force people, by compulsory acts, against their will. After all the article stated that about 90 per cent of the children get these shots. Also that they were free at the health department, paid by tax money. Requiring the children to have the shots will not make them more free at the health department. Also if 90 per cent of the children are protected by the shots, that is if the shots are effective, then they are not in danger of being exposed to anything by the 10 per cent unvaccinated.

As I see it this regulation serves only the minority group, which in my opinion is against the vaccination program. It does not really serve them since the shots are already free. It does not serve the majority of the children, they are already protected according to the article. What possible benefit can this regulation serve?

I fail to see the need for our trustees to take such actions as these unless some very definite purpose can be served.

GARDEN TALK

Protect Birds That Are Friends Of Gardeners

By BRUCE FRAZIER

A wounded night hawk came limping into my patio recently. He had been hit with bird shot, probably by a careless hunter. Now that bird hunting season is beginning, more and more of our beneficial birds will be in danger of careless extermination.

This particular night hawk is one of our especially helpful birds in that he destroys many thousands of mosquitoes and small night flying insects. He looks larger than he really is because of his fluffy feathers, but his tiny beak really opens up to be a rather huge mouth, and the whiskers that protrude in front of his head help scoop flying insects into his oversized mouth.

We have all heard the noise these birds make as they come down in a power dive from somewhere above us in the evening sky. Sometimes we call them bull bats, or whippoorwills. At any rate, it would be hard to estimate the amount of good they do in controlling harmful insects. If you are hunting, spare helpful birds.

I have seen hawks decorating fence posts and wire fences for years where people have been killing "chicken hawks." Most hawks are friendly rodent exterminators. If some of them do kill chickens, it is not their daily bill-of-fare. I have seen them flying over cotton and grain fields swooping down to kill a field mouse or a rabbit.

Once when I was plowing, a shadow crossed my face, and I looked up to see one of these hawks hovering over me. It gave me an uneasy feeling, but hours of his following back and forth across the field ended when I jumped a rabbit, which the hawk quickly killed and carried away.

Gardeners and farmers alike should make every effort to help our helpful birds survive the increasing demands of progress. There are "bothersome birds of course, but somehow they seem to be the ones that need the least protection. English sparrows and starlings seem to thrive on rough treatment.

Here is a tip on sparrows. I installed a gas light next to my English ivy vines where the sparrows always nest and make a clutter. The gas light seemed to eliminate the sparrow colony. I wonder if this would help at Webb Air Base where the sparrows have taken over several hangars?

For answers to your garden questions, write Bruce Frazier in care of the Herald.

They had to be good to become the managers of our dealership. And a great deal of their success is due to the emphasis they place on your satisfaction. You see, aided by the suggestions of Chevrolet's unique Department of Customer Care, these managers are largely responsible for the prompt and courteous treatment you always receive from Tidwell Chevrolet — whether you come in to try out the new Chevrolet or to simply have a minor mechanical adjustment made on your car. So meet the men behind the scene. And if you're not already a member of our "family," we invite you to stop in soon and get a taste of this really competent, personal care.

On Stage This Week

As the first presentation of the new season, members of the Civic Theatre Group have selected "The Warrior's Husband", a three-act comedy to be given Thursday and Friday evenings in the Howard County Junior College auditorium. Time for the performances is set for 8 o'clock both evenings. Costumes for the cast were made by Mrs. Thomas Seebo with the assistance of Mrs. James Marlin, L. Marlin, who directed the play, is a newcomer to the group. T-Sgt. Dewey Magee Jr., president of the organization, is producer and drama coach. A.I.C. Walter Bernadyn has been in charge of the sets, designing and helping make them, and M-Sgt. Howard A. Brown's responsibility is the lighting and special effects. James Tibbs is stage manager. Members of the cast are to serve as stage crew and will apply their own make-up.

Taking roles are Mrs. Brown as the queen of the Amazons, Hippolyta; Airman Bernadyn as her lover; Mrs. William Bodine, Princess Antiope; Sgt. Magee as Hercules; S-Sgt. Arthur T. Clonts, Theseus, god of war. Others are Diana and Leadia Brown, A.I.C. Joe Ploudre, Mrs. Seebo, who will portray Capt. Buria, and Chaplain Lewis H. Dunlap, who will appear as Gaganius.

GAY TIMES amuse the Amazons and their guests in the tent of Theseus, god of war, as they frolic through "The Warrior's Husband"; the Civic Theatre's production, a three-act comedy, will be presented Thursday and Friday evenings at Howard County Junior College. From left to right in picture above, are A.I.C. Joe Ploudre, Leadia Brown, A.I.C. Lindsly Brock and Diana Brown.

A ROYAL DRESSING DOWN is delivered to two members of the Royal Guard, played by Diana and Leadia Brown, by their queen, Hippolyta of the Amazons, portrayed by Mrs. Howard A. Brown. In the heavy role of queen in "The Warrior's Husband", Mrs. Brown wears a costume which is just as heavy—being formed of metal discs for the breastplate worn over a tunic of royal purple satin.

COLORFUL COSTUMES are worn by the Amazon queen, Hippolyta, and her lover, A.I.C. Walter Bernadyn, (pictured at right), as well as all the other members of the cast of the comedy, "The Warrior's Husband". The direction was done by Lt. James W. Marlin Jr., a newcomer to the organization; lighting and special effects are under the supervision of M-Sgt. Howard A. Brown; James Tibbs is stage manager.

WINE, ANYONE? — Sapiens, at left in picture below, and Capt. Buria refresh Gaganius and Princess Antiope in the tent of Theseus, an important setting in the comedy, "The Warrior's Husband". The play is the first to be produced this fall by members of the Civic Theatre. Pictured are A.I.C. Walter Bernadyn as Sapiens; Mrs. Thomas Seebo as the captain; Chaplain Lewis H. Dunlap will portray Gaganius, and Mrs. William Bodine, the princess. (All photos by Lee Bernard).

KNOW, FAIR AMAZON, that he is Hercules, strongest man in the world, exclaims Theseus, (center), as the strong man stands trembling before Princess Antiope. The trio is composed of Mrs. William Bodine, S-Sgt. Arthur T. Clonts, center, and T-Sgt. Dewey Magee Jr., all a part of the production, "The Warrior's Husband".

Lively Household

New Family Settling In Big Spring

Five lively children ranging between the ages of one-and-a-half and ten years make up the busy household of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mitchell, who are making their home at 1808 Monticello following their recent move here from Abilene.

Mitchell is assistant manager of Cizon's Jewelry.

The family is made up of Mitchell, his wife, Kitty; Debra one-and-a-half; Cameron, three years; Suzanne, seven years of age and a second grader; David, a lively nine-year-old third grade student; and Robert, who is 10 and in the fifth grade. All three children attend Washington Place Elementary School.

Mitchell, who lists his home town as Frederick, Okla., has been in the jewelry business for 12 years; his hobbies include golf, fishing and Boy Scout work.

Mrs. Mitchell's home town is Fort Worth.

The Mitchells are members of the First Methodist Church.

Duplicate Bridge Play Is Held At Old Country Club

Players in the weekly duplicate games gathered at the old Big Spring Country Club Friday afternoon due to construction work being done at Cosden Country Club, where they usually meet.

The meeting place for Friday is to be announced.

Winners in the games included Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. George McGann, first in north-south position; Mrs. Fred Lurting and Mrs. T. A. Thippen, second; Mrs. Jack Irons and Mrs. Malcolm Patterson, third; Mrs. J. J. Havins and Mrs. Riley Foster, fourth.

In east-west play, winners were Mrs. Fred Kasch and Mrs. Bill French, first; Mrs. Ben McCullough and Mrs. John Stone, second; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, third; Mrs. Hudson Landers and Mrs. Morris Patterson, fourth.

Breakfast Is Given For Modern Forum

A breakfast served in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass Friday morning, began the club year for members of the Modern Woman's Forum.

Mrs. Harwood Keith and Mrs. Bob Eubank joined Mrs. Bass in the hospitality.

Autumn blossoms decorated the dining table and the foursome tables where 20 were seated. Mrs. C. D. Martyn and Mrs. V. E. Jones were introduced as new members.

Theme of the yearbooks, presented at the breakfast, is "State of the Nation."

Mrs. H. H. Tanner was elected to fill the treasurer's office, due to the resignation of Mrs. E. R. Wood, who will make a home in Hobbs, N. M.

"Woman's Influence in Politics" was discussed by Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, who told the group that since women voters greatly outnumber the men who vote, the feminine element can control the election.

Convincing facts should rule the voter rather than custom, Mrs. Sawtelle stated, and voting should be from a standpoint of knowledge, not prejudice.

Mrs. Sawtelle also recommended that women be present at precinct meetings as much as possible.

The next hostess is Mrs. Ira Driver, 1206 Johnson, who will entertain Oct. 14.

Midway P-TA Plans Homecoming Affair

Members of the Midway P-TA met for a called meeting Friday morning at the school. The group made plans for the Midway Homecoming festival to be held on Nov. 18, in the Midway gym.

A king and queen contest will be held. Two contestants for each class will be elected and the winners will be crowned on festival night. Votes for the candidates will be made from the sales of candy and personal donations taken in the coming week.

A barbecue supper will be held and tickets for the meal are on sale now. There will only be 300 tickets sold. Prices of the tickets are: high school students and adults, $1.00; elementary school children, 50 cents; and preschool children will be admitted free.

ed that women be present at precinct meetings as much as possible.

The next hostess is Mrs. Ira Driver, 1206 Johnson, who will entertain Oct. 14.

Keep Toys Clean

It's important to choose washable stuffed toys for babies. And it's equally important to give these down-through-dusk and bedtime animals a sudsy bath at the first sign of soil. Not only will a beloved creature last long, but it will be clean for baby's affectionate nibbles.

Miss Vondall Is Bride Of Lt. William E. Hunt

MRS. WILLIAM E. HUNT

A double ring ceremony performed Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church united in marriage Lt. Connie Louise Vondall, daughter of Mrs. Lydia Vondal of Neche, N. D., and Lt. William E. Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hunt of Chandler, Ariz.

The Rev. Dewitt Seago, pastor, read the vows as the couple stood before the communion table lighted by four candelabra each containing seven candles. The table was decorated with two arrangements of white mums. The couple knelt on a white kneeling bench; satin bows decorated the pews.

Mrs. Jimmie Cribbs, organist accompanied Mrs. Don Newsom as she sang "Ruth's Song" and the "Wedding Prayer." Mrs. Cribbs provided the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by Harry Monson, was attired in a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over silk organza. The gown featured a fitted bodice and square neckline accented with original lace scallops. Scallop sleeves were also featured in the short sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a crown of pearls and sequins. The traditional bridal custom was carried out; something old was her pearl earrings; she wore a new veil and a borrowed dress and a garter of blue. Birthdate pennies were worn in her shoes. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Lt. Joyce Monson, of Volley City, N. D., attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a waltz length dress of dark green silk organza over tulle. The dress featured a rounded neckline and elbow length sleeves. Lt. Ellen Yodes of Lancaster, Ohio, was bridesmaid. She was dressed similar to that of the honor attendant except in a dress of forest green.

Both attendants wore headpieces of veiveteen leaves with short veils and carried one large yellow mum tied with a yellow ribbon.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Capt. Carl Schaffhauser, of Pittsburg, Penn. Groomsman was Capt. Phillip Broom of Monroe, N. C.

Guests were seated by Lt. Murray Denton, of Lockhart, and Lt. Raymond Bomkamp of Noperville, Ill.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Guests were greeted by the bridal couple, their parents and Mrs. Harry Monson.

The bride's table was laid with a white cloth accented with a floral design. White mums surrounding a revolving miniature bride and groom centered the table.

The three tiered wedding cake, which was made by Mrs. Nelson Clemow, was decorated in white, yellow and green.

Mrs. Thomas Straub of Sweetwater served the cake. Capt. Martha V. Erb of Blonsville, Pa. and Lt. Marie Scoglio of New York, N. Y., poured the punch and coffee.

Lt. Elizabeth Cunningham of Ogden, Utah, was in charge of the guest register.

As the couple left for a wedding trip to points of North Dakota, Mrs. Hunt was wearing a two-piece dress of black and white check cotton, with black accessories and a corsage of white mums.

The bride is a graduate of Neche High School and St. Luke School of Nursing, Fargo, N. D. She is now stationed at 3560th USAF Hospital, Webb Air Force Base.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Chandler, Ariz. High School, attended Arizona State University and is a pilot at the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Webb Air Force Base.

The couple will make their home at 1115 Mulberry.

Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Abernethy of Coahoma are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Brenda, to Eldon Ray Amnett. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Amnett of Haskell. The couple will be married in the Northside Church of Christ in Big Spring at 7 p.m., Oct. 8.

Maybe We'll Require Dark Glasses At Night

Glitter, glitter and more glitter will light up the evening sky this season as fashion takes off on one of the most sparkling, extravagant orbits for evening clothes in many a moon.

This new glitter — achieved through sequins, embroidery, paillettes and brocades—is guaranteed to lift any woman out of the fashion doldrums and pose a whole new accessory problem. The Fashion Coordination Institute reports.

But the answer is as simple as it is glamorous: glitter plus glitter. Only this strong-minded approach to accessorizing new evening fashions will succeed, warns the Institute. It maintains that any woman who attempts a conservative jewelry approach to these sparkling clothes will end up looking as though she had changed her mind half way through the act.

A sequined dress calls for the strong glitter of as many diamonds or rhinestones as you can afford. The pairing of big, bold, glittering earrings with glubs of sparkling bracelets is an effective approach, the Institute suggests.

The low-necked sparkling dress calls for a glamorous necklace to carry the sparkle story to the face. And with this combination, the Institute suggests a hair ornament to carry the glitter to the top of the head.

No discreet approach will work with these fashions, according to the Institute. Instead pull out all the stops and sparkle from head to toe to achieve one of the most exciting fashion looks of the decade: glitter plus glitter.

Women's Crafts Hit Record In Fair Entries

LAMESA (SC) — Entries in the women's division of the Dawson County Fair swelled to what may be a record high as the displays were judged Thursday in the new women's building on the Dawson County Fairgrounds.

Highlighting the first day's events for women was the style show, sponsored by the clothing committee of the extension service and held at the Lamar Forest Community Center.

The Welch Home Demonstration Club topped top honors in the class open to HD clubs in the educational exhibits.

Titled "What You Can Do With What You Have," the exhibit had in the foreground individual displays of dried okra, cotton burs, wheat, broom weed, corn tassel, millet, maize heads, castor beans and treated leaves, while the focal point was an artistic arrangement using these dried materials.

The Central Home Demonstration Club's exhibit on home business centers took second place. McCarty Club, third place and Spartenberg HD Club, 4th place.

The McCarty club exhibit was on prevention of farm accidents, and Spartenberg women used a picture framing project for their exhibit.

First place in educational exhibits prepared by FHA chapters went to the Sands High School Future Homemakers. In a red and white display, the girls stressed careers under the theme "Golden Gateway to the Future." The Lamesa FHA was second and Welch FHA third.

"How Adequate Is Your Home's Electric System?" was the theme for the exhibit of the Klondike 4H Club, which won a blue ribbon in the class of educational exhibits for 4H Clubs. The Lamesa Girls 4H Clubs topped second place honors in this class.

Entries in the art division of the fair exceeded all expectations with 100 more entries than last year. It was necessary for many of the pictures submitted for judging to be displayed on the floor of that section of the building devoted to the art division.

Also staged in the woman's building was the annual fall flower show of the Dawson County Garden Club.

Milk Stains

Soak baby's milk stained garments in cold water before washing them.

Shorter sleeves and even coat sleeves mark the new clothes, and they pose both a beauty and accessory problem for the average woman who is conscious of her unaccustomed wrist exposure.

Bulkier bracelets, more of them, bracelets worn on both wrists, bracelets sporting color accents, flexible ones that move with the new clothes, are the new accessory notes with the shorter sleeves.

Newest of the new are the big chunky "slave" chain bracelets, smartest when worn on each wrist. Wide cuff bands, sporting colored stones, also are true fashion accents to any outfit. Soft, easy, flexible links or chains, often dangling a single big, bold charm are in the mood of the new clothes.

Shorter Sleeves Bring Glamour Of Bulkier Bracelets

Wrist are out in the open this fall and winter and their exposure points to some new fashion needs for bracelets.

Bake A Ring

If you have 2 1/2- or 3-inch ring mold, bake an upside down cake in it, using half a package of cake mix (enough to fill a regular 8- or 9-inch layer-cake pan) for the topping.

CD Study Of Forum

LAMESA (SC) — "A Time for Protection" was the theme for a program on civil defense at the home level staged at the Tuesday night meeting of the Junior Woman's Study Club.

Mrs. Louis Davis was leader. After displaying a large chart on fall-out protection at home, she stated that three agencies are in charge of home protection, the Civil Defense organization, the American Red Cross and the National Guard.

Emotional control is essential to survival in a disaster and the responsibility for maintaining this stability rests mainly with women. Two factors necessary to emotional stability in case of disaster are faith and knowledge of how to survive," Mrs. Davis said.

Hostesses for the meeting, held in the home of Mrs. W. E. Akin, were Mrs. Art Johnson and Mrs. Akin.

At the meeting of the club Oct. 4 at the Woman's Study Club building, Mrs. Charles Busby will be leader for a program on "Timely Tips for Travel." Hostesses will be Mrs. W. A. Markum and Mrs. Glenn Matthews.

New Lipsticks Hold Three Shades Of Red

Red is the only lipstick shade that never goes out of style. But the right red for you has always been the most difficult one to choose. Now, for the first time, with a scientific formulation that attunes red tones to individual hair color, the riddle of red is resolved.

Your hair color is the key to your overall color impression, since it reflects in your skin tone and sets the pattern for your choice of make-up colors. Carrying this theory ahead in three giant steps, a color authority now presents three new red lipsticks, each in a distinctive tone that is fashion and beauty-right for your hair coloring, be it natural, rinsed or tinted.

With the aura of brightness to enhance the delicate beauty and lightness of a blonde, Chiffon Red is flavored with persimmon to emerge a true and flattering red. Red sparks in your hair are ignited on your lips with Velvet Flame a bold stroke of red to match the intensity and fire of a redhead.

With the vibrant red-red quality that reaches the warmth and depth of a brunette, Scarlet Satin is a dramatic red made to the order of the dark-haired damsel.

Tweed Suit

Opulence translates to fur in a textured green and black boucle tweed walking suit with a long evoe brown dyed fitch shawl collar. In wool and deer hair blend, the jacket has inverted vertical pleat pockets, wide top and bottom self bands, bracelet length sleeves and three button closing. The slim skirt has an inverted back kick pleat. Also in royal blue with black, or white with black.

Advice On Diet

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Actresses' Advice May-Assist You

HOLLYWOOD—(Editor's Note: Lydia Lane receives many letters from her readers requesting help on various beauty problems. Some of these problems are solved in her column today with the help of top Hollywood stars. Miss Lane invites your letter but regrets that a personal answer can not be given. From time to time in the question and answer columns will cover subjects suggested by readers' letters.)

DEAR LYDIA: I feel I need desperately. I used to be good looking, but it seems that overnight, lines formed around my eyes and in my cheeks. I am 24 but look older. What can I do? Do you think the sun could have caused this? I spent a great deal of time this summer around my neighbor's pool. Please tell me something I can do.

Mrs. B. N. of Oklahoma City DEAR MRS. B.N.: Your skin has been dried out by the sun, but there is no cause for alarm. Jean Simmons lives on a ranch in Arizona when she is not in a picture. She has had much experience with the damaging effect of the sun. She says, "The answer to keeping a good skin when you are in the sun is to use lots of softening oil. I bathe with oil in my bath water; I soak my nails in oil, and I use oil on my face at every opportunity. At night before going to bed, I apply a thin film of moisture lotion." Try the oil treatment and good luck.

DEAR LYDIA: For a long time I've been reading about the fabulous Gabor family and their irresistible attraction for men. I have never been married and I'm in my thirties. I am writing to find out if you can tell me what they do to attract a man?

Miss T. O'H. of Chicago DEAR MISS O'H.: Eva Gabor says: "Women should never compete with a man or challenge him. We were taught by our mother to be feminine above everything else. And I can't think of any better way to enhance femininity than with perfume. I spray it on my body from my toes to my hair. Even when they don't remark about it, men enjoy perfume."

And another thing is grooming—always be sure that everything you are wearing is immaculate from the skin out. And hair is important—so be sure that it is always clean and free from cooking odors. Listening to what a man has to say will build up his assurance and he will like you for it."

DEAR LYDIA: Recently I saw my husband out with another girl. We had a big fight and he told me to take a good look at myself in the mirror and I would know why other girls attracted him. My sister told me I didn't take enough care of myself. I have two children and housework to do, but please help me to be better looking.

Mrs. S. W. of Seattle DEAR MRS. S. W.: When Joanne Woodward first came to Hollywood, she was criticized for her appearance. "It is very easy to get absorbed in other things and neglect your grooming," she said. "Hollywood has made me conscious of the importance of my appearance. I have found that making myself look attractive is now a habit. When you dress more carefully and give more attention to what you wear, it gives your whole personality a lift."

Try to organize your time so you can have a clean dress, fresh make-up and a neat hair-do when your husband comes home. Make good grooming a habit and you'll notice a change in others as well as yourself.

DEAR LYDIA: Before I was married, I used to work in a factory and I was very active. Now I don't get much exercise and I have gained so much weight that none of my clothes fit me. I'm 32 years old, five-four and weight 152 pounds. I would like to keep my weight at 130. I have lost before but I always gain it back. What can I do?

Mrs. B. C. of Washington D.C. DEAR MRS. B.C.: Gisele MacKenzie went from 155 to 120 and she kept it off. "I had been plump from a child and when I wanted to lose 35 pounds I decided to try a slow but sure method. My doctor gave me a whole year to lose. What made it possible for me to diet for this length of time was that one meal a week—my Saturday night dinner—I was allowed to eat whatever I wanted. All during the week I held off temptation knowing that before Sunday came, I would be eating the thing I was so craving during the week." Gisele tells the whole story and gives her menus and basic rules for keeping off weight in Leaflet M-73, "Long Pull Diet."

DEAR LYDIA: I am twelve and not bad looking but I am on the chubby side. My father told me not to worry about this but I am afraid I will have a bad figure. Can you recommend a diet?

Carla S. of Birmingham DEAR CARLA: Sandra Dee says "I didn't eat right and I paid for it. A teen-ager is building a body and needs more food when she is growing. I lost my strength and became anemic by foolish dieting. If you want to lose weight, cut out sweets, chocolate, anything fried and snacks. Don't take your good health for granted. Eat balanced meals but limit your calories."

Gisele MacKenzie's diet M-73, "Long Pull Diet," is available by sending 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Light Fit

Subtle shaping hints at a good figure in a lightly fitted, nubby wool tweed suit fashioned in gold flecked beige. Rounded notched collar; two very shallow, low set pockets; long sleeves. The slim skirt has an inverted back kick pleat. Companion wool plaid top coat is beige, gold, black and a touch of white. Large rounded notched collar, long sleeves and L shaped tab trim which looks like pockets. The three piece suit also comes in dark brown or green combinations.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

When you think of how much that two points on our football score Friday night meant to our team and our town it's hard to realize that some places in these United States don't even care. As long as there was a slight difference in the points, we're mighty glad they were on our side of the tally sheet even though one of the Snyder players is almost as our own. LARRY MCNAIR and our No. 2 boy grew up together and played together as next door neighbors until several years ago when the family moved to Snyder. The past two years they have definitely been playing against one another. Seeing the game with much enthusiasm was former backfield coach, MITCHELL MALOUF, who now lives in Plainview. Also here from his Arizona radio work was J. N. YOUNG who worked for KBST for many years. RONNIE CLANTON'S grandparents from Ralls were here to see the game and were yelling with the rest of us. The people were so delighted over the win they just stood in their spots after the final play and gloried in the victory, and the exciting game. One group decided that games that ended like this one should have the last two minutes cut off out of respect to fans' nervous systems. Another reason they stayed as long is that the ramps at the stadium are so narrow only a few can get out at a time. But we do have lots of seats which we someday hope to fill.

Lots of people celebrated some way or another Friday. MRS. JAMES ETHERIDGE, who broke a toe several weeks ago, was happy to get a shoe on again. MRS. G. C. GLENN was looking forward to receiving movie film from her daughter in California where the Glenns spent their summer vacation. The two families swap their film and get to enjoy one another's trips and, of course, the grandbabies. MRS. ELY JACOBS was buying creper overalls for her seven-month-old twin grandsons, RON AND DON ROBERSON, sons of the Robert Robertsons of Lubbock. The Jacobs are there today for a visit.

Ford-Madry Vows Said In Double Ring Rites

Betty Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ford, Vincent Route, Coahoma, and Airman 2. C. Jesse E. Madry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Madry, 809 E. 14th, Big Spring, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony performed Friday evening in the West Side Baptist Church. The Rev. Cecil C. Rhodes, pastor of the church read the vows.

The couple stood before an altar arranged with a sunburst of white gladioli and white asters on a tree of emerald fern, flanked by seven-branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers.

Mrs. Robert Heinz, organist, provided the wedding music. She accompanied Joe Dunn who sang, "Only You," "Because" and the "Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown made by her mother. The ballerina length dress of white brocade satin was princess design. Chantilly lace covered the jacket. The gown featured a rounded neckline and short sleeves with lace ruffles accenting the sleeves.

The bride wore a fingertip veil of tulle held in place by a tiara alternating pearls and tulle leaves. She carried a cascade bouquet of white French carnations surrounding pink sweetheart roses on a white bible.

TRADITION
 Bridal custom was carried out with the bride naming her dress as something new; a family heirloom handkerchief as something old and borrowed; she wore a blue garter and birthdate pennies in her shoes.

Matron of honor Mrs. Isaac LaRue of Loop, cousin of the bride, wore a rose taffeta gown and carried a wicker basket of yellow and lavender pompon chrysanthemums.

Linda Perry and Dorothy Pearl Bryant, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore dresses of lavender taffeta and carried baskets of yellow and lavender pompon chrysanthemums.

Doyle E. Ford, brother of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man.

Ushers were Ren B. Madry, brother of the bridegroom, and Gerald Sanderson.

Candles were lighted by Nancy Sue Brooks and Glenn Perry, cousins of the bride. Miss Brooks wore a dress of rose taffeta and a wristlet of white carnations.

TRAVEL ATTIRE
 As the couple left for an undisclosed destination, the new Mrs. Madry was wearing a fall suit with black accessories and a corsage of roses taken from her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Madry will make their home in Dover, Del., where he is stationed with the United States Air Force.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and was employed by Cosden Corp. for three years before going to Denver, Colo., where she was employed with Argo Oil Corp.

The bridegroom attended Big Spring High School.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony.

Guests were greeted by the bridal couple, their parents and attendants.

The bride's table was covered with a lace table cloth over yellow, and centered with attendants' baskets interlocking and forming an arrangement.

Rose Ann Kelton was in charge of the guest register.

Alternating the serving were Glenda Williams, Diane Pullen of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Billy Harkrider of Mount Pleasant.

Out of town guest attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Miller, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Davis and family, and Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Graham, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brooks of Loop; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cotten, Mr. and Mrs. Britt Hassell of Seagraves; Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melton F. Davis of Ira; Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Barr of Vincent; Mr. and Mrs. Ed May of Waco and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wilkerson of Brownfield.

Four Different Looks

Jewelry sparks the difference in fall's fashions look with the same basic black dress. From left to right, the new daytime look of the longer, more flexible necklace, dramatized by a sparkling pin worn through the necklace strands and matched to button earrings. Second from left, after-dark glamour is shed on the same dress with a jeweled collar set, sparkling stones keyed to the glittering earrings, hair ornament and bracelet. Third from left, a breath of the '30s touches the same outfit by means of jewelry that features long drop pearl earrings under the sleek short hairdo and the new 45-inch graduated necklace with its matching bracelet. Trim and tailored is the effect of the same dress when worn (extreme right) with gold jewelry in the new brightened, polished textures. A beautifully fashioned gold pin marks the waistline; a satiny gold collar with matching earrings and big, bulky slave bracelets on each wrist give a whole new look.

Brushed Wool

The vertical look is expressed in teal blue and camel in a matching brushed wool, blanket plaid cropped top and skirt. The top has a shallow scoop neck, fringed edge and buttons at the back. The slim skirt has a front panel. The ensemble comes also in a red and

Wood Chips Make Good As Mulch

Don't knock wood as a superior mulch material!

Wood chips are one of the new and rapidly expanding sources for humus-forming materials in tree and shrub culture.

This is the finding of an eight-year research project. Homer L. Jacobs, research director of the Davey Tree Expert Co., reports the project shows criticism that wood chips are "toxic" to trees and "sour the soil" is unfounded.

At the center and on private properties as well, wood chips have been used experimentally on trees and shrubs. Results showed the chips served all customary uses of a mulch and, in addition, encouraged remarkable root growth in fairly large-sized tree transplants.

According to the research director, wood chips, shavings and sawdust, supplemented with sufficient nitrogen, improved most soils when worked in like peat moss. The mildly acid wood chips actually are beneficial to the plants, he says.

Wood chips used as mulches are said to prevent extremes of soil temperature in the upper soil; to assist the flow of moisture and prevent compaction; to conserve moisture by preventing surface evaporation and to discourage weed growth.

It is important, however, that nitrogen be added to the chips to prevent depletion of this element in the soil.

Candidates' Wives Are To Be Reckoned With

By JOY MILLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Politicians totting up the vital factors in electing their man to the presidency linger over such things as party, platform, personality.

If they're shrewd, they add the candidate's wife.

A charming woman, good-looking enough to attract men's interest, yet with the unassuming domesticity to win over the more critical, feminine voters, is an asset not to be underestimated.

Now that women outnumber men at the polls, the potential first lady might seem an even more important consideration.

Women cast their ballots for a man, but they understand all about petticoat power in the privacy of the home. They've got it figured that after the shouting and the tumult die, the leader who's larger than life goes home to become a human-sized father and a husband who listens respectfully to his wife's opinions.

In the almost-forgotten days before woman suffrage, human nature wasn't noticeably different on any social level.

Even the meekest little wife who was scandalized by the bonnet the candidate's spouse wore, or by what she'd heard about her gay parties, could wheedle her voting mate to her unfriendly persuasion.

But what about the nominee's better half? Did she ever hit the campaign trail in behalf of his candidacy?

Back when women were ladies and left political issues to the menfolk—at least publicly—candidates' wives mostly stayed home, kept the roof patched over the children's heads and pondered with mingled delight and dread the prospect of living in the presidential mansion.

Some exerted influence in quiet ways. Abigail Adams never took to a soapbox, but she probably did more than anybody to get John Adams elected the second U.S. president. Considered by many a better statesman, she gave him the benefit of her keen intelligence in private.

Abigail was practical too, and not easily overawed. The first first lady to live in the White House, she hung out her washing in its great unfinished audience room.

About eight decades later, Lucretia Garfield worked by the side of her husband, James, all that summer before he was elected.

Telegraph linemen ran special wires to the shed that Garfield had made into an office. Their farm in Mentor, Ohio, became a little city of reporters, political leaders and well wishers.

While Garfield gave out interviews and wrote letters, Lucretia fed, entertained and provided lodging for the troops of visitors.

Forty years after that, another Ohioan, Warren G. Harding, was elected president. His wife, Florence, who had made a financial success of his newspaper, also was credited widely with moving him into the White House.

Absentee Voting To Begin On Oct. 19

By SAM BLACKBURN
Although it still 44 days until the general election and nearly a month before absentee ballots can be accepted for that election, Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, is already receiving ballot applications.

She said that nine applications are already on hand and others are arriving almost daily. These are being carefully filed and when Oct. 19 arrives, ballots will be dispatched to the applicants.

Absentee voting opens for the general election on Oct. 19. It closes on Nov. 4.

Mrs. Petty said she cannot recall an election in many years when so much advance interest is being displayed.

The applications which have arrived are, for the most part, from distant points. The first to be received was from a former Howard County resident, now in the Philippine Islands. Others are from England and other European points.

Some are not officially complete. Some lack poll tax receipts which must be included with the application.

INTEREST HIGH
Mrs. Petty anticipates a flood of absentee vote requests as Oct. 19 nears. A heavy absentee vote is generally regarded as an accurate indication of high election interest.

Meantime, preliminary preparations for the big election are under way. An order has been dispatched to the printer for ballots to be used in the Howard County voting.

Mrs. Petty said it has been planned at first to order 15,315 ballots—the total number of qualified electors plus 50 per cent. This has been the general practice in the past. The law specifies however that the minimum number of ballots ordered be 10 per cent more than the number of qualified electors.

So the order, as it was dispatched to the printers, is for 11,963 ballots.

There are 10,730 qualified voters as shown by the poll tax receipts issued. To this number can be added a comparatively small number of over-age citizens who are not required by law to pay poll tax in order to vote. The number of these is difficult to estimate, since it has been the requirement of the law that only those over-age voters who live in Big Spring need to obtain exemption certificates before they can vote.

If the rural areas no such exemption certificates are required. However, the number of actual voters eligible to ballot in the election will no exceed the number of ballots ordered.

OTHER OFFICES
In addition to the names of county officials, who are unopposed in the election, there will be the names of state legislators, congressmen, senators, district and state officials whose offices are at stake, and the presidential and vice presidential races. There will be three parties on the ballots—Democratic, Republican and Prohibitionist. It will be the initial appearance of the latter as a party on the local ticket.

The Democratic ticket will list all of the county officials and they have no Republican opponents. Some of the district and state officials have Republican, and in a few cases, Constitutional party opposition.

As usual, Howard County voters will ballot at 16 voting places.

VOTING STRENGTH
The boxes, with the number of poll tax receipts credited to each are as follows:

No. 1, Big Spring, 1,846; No. 2, Big Spring, 1,396; No. 3, Big Spring, 1,523; No. 4, Big Spring, 2,394; No. 5, Vincent, 59; No. 6, Gay Hill, 128; No. 7, R-Bar, 44; No. 8, Big Spring, 1,197; No. 9, Coahoma, 576; No. 10, Forsan, 184; No. 11 Center Point, 135; No. 12, Moore, 67; No. 13, Knott, 148; No. 14, Velmore, 44; No. 15, Big Spring, 928; No. 16, Big Spring, 981.

In a general election, the decision of the voter on the individuals and the parties is his own choice. Unlike party primaries, where the choice is restricted to partisan lines, it is up to the voter how he wants to vote. He can vote for a Democrat in one column, a Republican in the second and a Constitutional in the third, if he wants to.

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—In its lead editorial Sunday, the Denton Record-Chronicle will formally endorse the Richard M. Nixon-Henry Cabot Lodge ticket in the November presidential election.

The editorial mentions the "vast experience in foreign relations of Nixon and Lodge" and says the Republican party platform is the only one that would prevent further moves toward socialism.

The newspaper also says that Texas and the nation would better be served by Sen. Lyndon Johnson's remaining as Senate majority leader rather than as vice-president.

"Sen. Kennedy's record makes it clear that he and Sen. Johnson rarely have agreed on major issues," the editorial points out in citing 95 votes between 1953 and 1960 in which the senators were in direct opposition.

In the student division, Lynn Morris, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Q. Morris, captured best-of-show with her oil still life. Second and third places went to Bobette Patterson and Karen Holmes, respectively, for their

Largest Steer Is Special Fair Exhibit

The world's largest steer weighing 3,140 pounds will be a special exhibit feature at the Panhandle South Plains Fair, Cimarron, known as a Brahmallo is a cross between a Brahman cow and a Buffalo bull. This animal is owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis of Scottsdale, Ariz., it is the only such hybrid in existence.

Cimarron is 20 years old, stands six feet tall and is 10 feet long, has 18 foot horns and 6 inches in diameter at the base. It takes five gallons of oats and a bale of hay each day to serve his appetite and in addition, he gets candy, soda water and other goodies from the spectators.

The Panhandle South Plains Fair, including many other attractions, such as Ice Capades, L. Q. Zoo, Children's Baryard, Louisiana Hayride and many other features will run from Sept. 26 through Oct. 1.

Avoids North

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Princess Alexandra, representing the British crown at Nigeria's independence day Oct. 1, will avoid northern areas where recent riots have led to over 1,000 arrests. Although the situation now is under control, even a minor incident during the royal visit would mar the reputation of the entire province, the government said.

LEADER OF WEEK

Daniel Flynn, Versatile Fellow, Is Born Leader

By MICHAEL STERLING
You meet the nicest people when you visit the Boys' Club of America in Worcester, Mass. The place is a beehive of activity; the sound of voices and laughter is friendly and heart-warming. We were attracted to one young fellow in particular, Daniel Flynn, by name. He's long and lean and surprised us when he told us that he was 17 and headed for college within a few days. "I'm just cleaning up odds and ends around here before I take off," he said. "I'm going to miss this place. I've spent many happy hours here."

Daniel is one of those refreshing people with a love and understanding of others. He is deeply religious and completely without prejudice. He mixes easily with others and, consequently, understands their problems as well as his own.

Girls, too, find Dan very appealing. He likes casual clothes and wears them with handsome ease. "Clothes, to me," he said, "are functional. What I wear is determined by the weather and not by the social standards."

Robert C. Cole, top executive of the Worcester Boys' Club, said: "Daniel is a natural leader and gains the respect of others through an innate love of the art of conversation and interest in the ideas of others."

Dan's hobbies include ping-pong, softball, pocket billiards, volleyball and debating. "He engages in all of these wholeheartedly, almost as if his life depended upon it," Mr. Cole said. "And yet when he loses, as he often does, he accepts the loss as just another phase of living."

Daniel's special talent is poetry.

Not only does he write it, but he has the greatest respect of his headmaster who has recommended him to represent his school at the State House on Youth Government Day in Massachusetts. Dan at 17 has a fine future ahead of him if he puts to good advantage his intelligence, his warm personality, his curiosity about the world, and his basic understanding of people.

Is there a boy or girl in your city who deserves this recognition? Write Under Twenty, care of the Herald, telling us why. The Leader of the Week receives a $25.00 Treasury Bond, and you'll get the satisfaction of seeing achievement recognized.

They agreed, emphatically, that a school bus ride is a learning experience.

"It's a basic extension of the school program," they said. "It develops the democratic processes. Children learn certain arts on a school bus, like the art of conversation."

To one bemused observer on the sidelines, the discussion didn't seem realistic. As the educators themselves might put it, their judgments were not based on a life experience within their peer group.

Trouble is, these folks never drove a school bus. I did, for three never-to-be-forgotten weeks. Against the nightmarish background, here are some statements made during the discussion, and some day to go back to a farm life, the husky six-foot-two performer gives a vehement no. "Farm life is definitely not for me. If I lived on a farm it would be solely for the purposes of hunting and fishing, which I love. The only good thing about farm life is that wonderful feeling of freedom you get. Otherwise, it's a lot of drudgery and hard work."

Mark is quick to point out, though, that he has no regrets about growing up in the "slow, easy life of a farm boy." "We had a very close family at home. It was just wonderful. Of course, there were the usual family squabbles; I guess they're inevitable with nine children."

The other eight still reflect the musical background they received on the farm. Of Mark's three brothers, two are bandleaders, the other is a real estate man who confines his singing to stall showers. The three Dinning sisters quit show business at the height of their success when two of them fell in love and married. One of them, Dolores, still records with another girl, under the name "The Blondets."

All his sisters write songs. Says Mark: "They don't write all my songs but they write all the hits!" Mark married three years ago after leaving the army. His wife, a tall red-head, hails from Kentucky. "She had to be a Southerner," Mark laughs.

While not too far from being a teen-ager himself, Mark has some pretty thoughtful observations on teens today. They are definitely a lot different from what they were 15 years ago," he says. "They're far more learned at an early age."

"The kids start their careers at an earlier age today, too, and therefore they are more aggressive and take more interest in their work. There are more opportunities for them today."

"There will always be rock 'n' roll," says Dinning of the music which seems to be dominating the country right now. "It was here when my sisters were recording, and the beat will remain so long as there is time."

They're Angels At Home, Terrors On Bus

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (U)—Is a school bus ride a learning experience? Now there's a question that begs for an answer, and maybe one of the big foundations could sponsor some nation-wide research. Until then, we'll have to go along with about 100 school superintendents who batted the question around at an education convention earlier this year.

They agreed, emphatically, that a school bus ride is a learning experience.

"It's a basic extension of the school program," they said. "It develops the democratic processes. Children learn certain arts on a school bus, like the art of conversation."

To one bemused observer on the sidelines, the discussion didn't seem realistic. As the educators themselves might put it, their judgments were not based on a life experience within their peer group.

Trouble is, these folks never drove a school bus. I did, for three never-to-be-forgotten weeks. Against the nightmarish background, here are some statements made during the discussion, and some balancing comment from one who knows:

Statement—Children learn respect for adults in their dealings with the bus driver.

Comment—Like the time I flung open the bus door with a cheery "good morning, kiddies." And caught a frozen snowball right on the kisser.

Statement—The monitors are democratically chosen by the children from among their peers on the bus.

Comment—The democratic way to do it is for the driver to pick out the biggest bully on the bus, and threaten to make him walk home if he doesn't keep the other little monsters quiet.

Statement—The bus ride gives the children an opportunity to talk to each other, and they learn the art of conversation.

Comment—A mere babble of words, of which 49 per cent are "fabulous" and 51 per cent are "Fabian."

Statement—In some schools, the teachers develop units of training with the children, role-playing such as getting off and on the bus, monitoring it, etc.

Comment—And there are such untaught roles to be played as ponytail pulling, tantrum throwing, paper bag bursting, chewing gum in the hair of the kid ahead of you putting, and notebook hurling.

Statement—Riding a school bus is a seminar in human relations.

Comment—None of the kids on my bus had any human relations.

Don't String Two Boys Along—Play The Field!

By BESSIE LITTLE
Publisher Teen Parade
DEAR BESSIE: I am 17 and have been going steady for 3 months with a boy who is 20 years old. I like him very much and he also likes me. We have even talked about marriage.

Within the last month I have become interested in another boy. I know if I try to date this boy, my steady will get mad. We'd break up and I'd never get to date him again. Should I try to date this boy without my boyfriend knowing it, or should I try to explain it and cause a big fuss?

I'd like to date this boy very much.
CLARA A.

DEAR CLARA: It would be a cozy arrangement to have two boys dangling on your dainty string, but would it work? The answer is no. Strings have a way of snagging. You're too nice a girl to pull a problem indicates one vital fact: you're not ready for marriage or steady dating. Explain to your "steady" that, though you are fond of him, you have come to the conclusion that it is unwise to be an "unofficial fiancée" for the time being. Tell him that you do not want to give up his friendship, but hope he will see the advantages of dating others.

DEAR BESSIE: My parents are forever saying, "Why don't you invite your friends to the house and have parties like other young people do?" There's a good reason why I don't—my parents try to be "one of the gang." It's embarrassing to me and my friends I don't want to hurt them, but I also don't want them to put a damper on my parties. What to do? EM R.

DEAR EM: You do have a bit of a problem. Tell your parents that your friends' parents don't join in their parties; that adults put the damper on the fun and inhibit the kids. Suggest, as kindly as you can, that they go to a movie, visit their friends or watch TV in the living room. As for their trust and confidence and promise that you will do nothing that will compromise you or embarrass them. Remind them that your friends are well-behaved and don't need chaperones—not in the same room, at any rate.

DEAR BESSIE: I can't seem to hold a boy's interest. I am 15 years old and attractive. I don't have any difficulty in getting dates, but I'm hardly ever asked out more than once. BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: It's hard to tell from your brief letter what is wrong with you. I can only surmise and guess. For instance, are you ladylike in your behavior? Do you giggle too much? Talk too loudly? Tell off-color jokes? Are you "easy"? Do you use too much perfume? Do you need a deodorant? Should you see your dentist? I know these are delicate questions, but maybe you offend in one or more of these categories. I hope not. It could be that you talk too little, or what you say isn't of interest to anybody but yourself. Another thought? Do you gossip? Examine these questions and answer each one honestly. If you can't find the answer to what ails you personally, perhaps you should talk it over with some older member of your family or best friend.

DEAR BESSIE: I like to be with Jimmy but he objects to the way I dress (I like sheaths) and he doesn't think I should wear make-up. I'd feel naked without powder and lipstick and just a touch of mascara. Should I dress to please him? Mildred T.

DEAR MILDRED: You've got to make one of two decisions; dress to Jimmy's taste or dress to please yourself. Personally, I think it is a good grooming habit to use a little makeup, and if you have the kind of figure that can wear sheaths—well, all I can say is that Jimmy doesn't appreciate typographic. However, you can be over-sheathed and perhaps it might be a good idea to give your figure the once over just to make absolutely certain that you aren't in need of a good girdle.

Forsan Plans Homecoming For Oct. 1

By DARLA DUNAGAN
FORSAN (SC)—Forsan High School will hold its annual homecoming ceremonies on Saturday, Oct. 1. All ex-students of the local high school are expected to meet at the school Saturday at 2 p.m. At 6 p.m. a meal will be served in the school cafeteria and on the patio.

This year, for the first time, a Homecoming Queen will be elected. Each high school class has nominated a candidate for the honor, and during the week, students are to vote on their choice. At the gathering Saturday, each candidate will give a short talk to the ex-students before the alumni make their choice for queen.

After the meal, introductions, entertainment and presentation of candidates, a short business meeting will be held. Climax of the activities will be a football game between Forsan and Bryson. During the half-time activities, both the Homecoming Queen and the Football Sweetheart will be presented. A special program has been planned by the Forsan pep squad for the half-time show.

During enrollment week, school authorities were carefully screening out any children under six because of overcrowded conditions. One youngster looked particularly young to be starting school.

"Let me hear you say some words," said a skeptical teacher. The tot looked up at her and asked: "Purely irrelevant words?"

PLATTER PATTERN

Elvis Does It Again On National Scale

By JEANNE HARRISON
Whether you call it "O Sole Mio" or "It's Now Or Never," Elvis Presley has the hottest record in months. His first big smash record since giving up the Army crewcut for the guitar, is in first spot in the "top ten" for the fifth consecutive week. "Walk, Don't Run" by the Ventures remained in second position, with Chubby Checker's "The Twist" moving into third. Connie Francis, who just made it in tenth spot last week with "My Heart Has A Mind Of Its Own," rocketed into the fourth spot. Here's the rundown:

1. "It's Now Or Never," Elvis Presley
2. "Walk, Don't Run," Ventures
3. "The Twist," Chubby Checker
4. "My Heart Has A Mind Of Its Own," Connie Francis
5. "Volare," Bobby Rydell
6. "Chain Gang," Sam Cooke
7. "Theme From Apartment," Ferrnata Teicher
8. "Dreamin'," Johnny Burpette
9. "Mr. Custer," Larry Verne
10. "Yogi," Ivy Three

Larry Kert, Star of the musical about juvenile delinquency, "West Side Story" has a new album, "Larry Kert Sings Leonard Bernstein." His is a fine show voice and his readings are clear and brilliant. It's an album for listening and, in spots, for finger snapping. Outstanding is his "Maria" and "Something's Coming"—both hits from "West Side Story."

Here are some "Quickie Reviews" on some 45's to spin the next time you shop the record store:

"I Want To Be Wanted" and "Just A Little" by Brenda Lee—disc will be wanted for lyrics aimed at Under Twenties.

"Boll Weevil" and "When It's Lamplightin' Time In The Valley" by the Gays—"Boll Weevil" swings, while the flip's a flop.

"No, No, Nevermore" and "I Only Know I Love You" by Toni Arden—great voice does a pop Puccini.

"How High The Moon" and "Smooth Sailing" by Ella Fitzgerald—"Morn" is a classic but "Smooth Sailing" is the swinging-est.

"I Got A Woman" and "Mess Around" by Sammy Davis Jr.—"Woman" is a great blues with a beat while "Mess Around" does just that with jazz.

Dinning Destined To Become Singer

By JOHN LARSEN
It was probably inevitable that Mark Dinning became a singer. The die was cast one morning in 1933, when he was born into a musical family on a farm in Grant County, Okla. The youngest of nine children, he was brought up on a steady diet of song and music by his father, who was an evangelist minister and song leader. This same environment produced the famed Dinning Sisters trio, popular recording artists of the forties.

Encouraged at home, Mark soon began to broaden the scope of his vocalizing, from yodeling in the washbasin to singing at school functions, church socials and on any occasions which presented themselves.

"I always wanted to be a singer," says Mark today, "and I still do." Asked whether he wouldn't rather be on TV or in the movies, he says, "Well, I won't rule them out entirely. In fact, I'm considering doing a western series on television this winter. But my real love is recording songs and touring the country. And," he adds, "making money."

"Touring the country is not new to Mark. 'I'm the road type,' he says, with an easy smile. "My wife's the home type." During the past three years since leaving the army, he's done plenty of roadwork, and it finally paid off with his recent smash MGM hit record, "Teen Angel."

"I sweat when I think of how I almost turned down that song," he says with a wry smile. "My sister wrote it, and I automatically figured that since she was my sister, she couldn't write a song. Besides, it had to do with a girl whose car got stalled on a railroad track, and she runs back to get her boyfriend's ring, and is killed. And I just didn't think anybody would do a thing like that." He laughs as he recalls, "Boy, was I surprised!"

Encouraged by the tremendous success of "Teen Angel," Mark continues to cut records. His newest, "The Lovin' Touch," is already on its way up the popularity charts. And Mark's future looks very bright indeed.

Cast For Fall Play Starts Rehearsals

By KAY LOVELAND
Much news on the campus this week as college life gets into full swing.
HCJC enrollment hit 638 Thursday afternoon with one more day to go. Figures showed 335 part-time students and 303 fulltime students. We sophomores knew we were outnumbered. The statistics listed only 100 sophomores, not including Webb AFB, while there's 199 freshmen.
Fred Short, speech and drama teacher, has chosen the cast for the college's fall production "The Solid Gold Cadillac." The play is a comedy centered around a battle of wits between four corporation directors and a little old lady who starts out with only 10 shares of stock in their company, but ends up with control of it. Playing the lead role is Mrs. Parkinson is Sherry Coates. Cast in other leading roles are Doug Davis, Ronnie Bingham, Robby Allen, Joe Collins and Roy Cebik.
Taking smaller parts in the play will be Sylvia Holoff, Patsy Greenfield, Ken Clearman, Kay Loveland, Charles Smith and Charles Knotts. Helping with the directing chores will be Patsy Greenfield and yours truly. Other production chiefs include Ed Burke and Mrs. Virginia Lile.
Mr. Short hopes to have the production ready by the last week in October. Rehearsals are set to begin Monday night at 7 p.m.
Speaking of plays brings mention of the Big Spring Civic Theatre's presentation of "The Warrior's Husband" next Thursday and Friday night. The play will be presented in the HCJC auditorium, and all college students will be admitted on their activity cards.
Beginning Monday, Oct. 3, individual student pictures will be taken for the Jayhawk. A photographer will be at the college every day through Oct. 6, and annual staff members are urging all students to have their pictures taken. Boys are asked to wear ties; coats will be furnished.
A yearbook meeting was held Saturday by Colorpress, the company which makes our book. Staff members attended various workshops, learning new techniques to improve the Jayhawk. Editor of the annual this year is Judi Shields. Other members of the staff include Bobby Overman, Gloria Coker, Carolyn Sewell, Priscilla Flordon, La Vern Carter, Sherry Coates and Kay Loveland.

An assembly Friday morning, Dr. W. A. Hunt welcomed the student body to HCJC and gave students tips on how to succeed in college. Dean Johnson introduced the faculty.
At the time this was written plans had been made for the

FHA Sponsors Supper, Rally

BY DARLA DUNAGAN
The FHA held a watermelon supper Thursday night at 7 p.m., with watermelon for everyone. Even though every person was full of watermelon the pep rally which followed was lively and loud. Students journeyed to Gail Friday night to see the Buffaloes play the Coyotes.
The Forsan community and ex-students are looking forward to the homecoming game Oct. 1 with Bryson. There will be two queens crowned this year. Mums are still being sold by the members of the FHA. They will be distributed Saturday afternoon, Oct. 1.
Girls' basketball training started Tuesday afternoon. Many worked out for more than an hour after school. Because of the calisthenics they have been taking, the girls were hobbling around on sore legs and blistered feet.
The junior and senior magazine sales are continuing. Deadline for reaching their goals is next week.

dance and party in the SUB Saturday night. Mrs. Mary Seewald, student director, coordinated plans and supervised the affair. I'll have a report on it next week along with one on a hayride planned by Mrs. Seewald for next Friday night.
An assembly is planned for activity period Monday morning, at which time nominations for class

Goliad Has Quiet Week

By NANCY HEDLESTON
This has been a quiet week around Goliad. Nothing very newsworthy has happened.
Runoffs for FHA officers were held, and Gwyn Davis was named treasurer. Nancy Hedleston, his torian, and Virginia Wilson, song leader, installation for the newly elected officers was held at the senior high school on Tuesday night. Sponsor for the Goliad chapter is Mrs. Fern Alexander.
On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week a school-wide test, entitled "Pupil Record of Educational Progress," will be given to all students. Our school was selected by SRA to take part in this testing program because we supposedly have a large percentage of students who plan to attend college. In addition to our school, the six elementary feeder schools of Goliad will give the test to their sixth graders.
Next week promises much excitement when our class officers are elected. Offices to be filled include president, vice president and secretary. Nominees will be elected from each home room. Students, please take careful consideration in selecting these officers, for they will be the leaders of our school.

Ronnie Anderson, Gary Anderson and Baxter Moore, as representatives for the 7th, 8th and 9th grade football teams, gave pep talks at our Thursday morning pep rally, followed by Carolyn Carlson, Bitsy Engstrom, Jeannette Bogard, Linda Hall and Arnold Gibson, who demonstrated their twirling ability. The yells were backed up by our band under the direction of Bill A. Jones.
Good news this week is that our 8th grade team won their game over Sweetwater by a score of 18 to 6. The 7th grade, which played at Snyder, lost their game 22-0; and the 9th grade lost to Edison of San Angelo, 14-8.

Election Week Held

By JUDY ENGLE
Excitement buzzed around Runnels when at last class officers and seventh grade student council members were elected last week. The voting was done Tuesday.
Officers elected from the ninth grade are Don Osborn, president; Suzanne Smith, vice president; Cheryl Whittington, secretary; and Lynda McDonald, treasurer.
Eighth grade officers are Gus Hernandez, president; Judy Forshoe, vice president; Pam Vines, secretary and Gwen Hughes, treasurer.
The seventh grade was perhaps the most excited of all about the election. Since this is their first year in junior high, they are excited about everything! Officers elected are Cindy Jones, president; Shirley Taylor, vice president; Barbara Hutchinson, secretary and Brenda Piles, treasurer.
Seventh grade student council members are Susan Baker, Susie Engle, Sherril Gambill, Jimmy Johnson and Linda Long.
Everyone seemed pleased with the election and everyone was wishing the new officers the best of luck on their new jobs.
Thursday a pep rally was held in the gym. More enthusiasm was shown than in any of our other pep rallies. Yells were led by the 7th, 8th and 9th grade cheerleaders. Pep talks were given by Dee Roby Gartman, John Roden, Felix Hilario, Johnny Hughes and the 9th grade coach, Dan Bustamante. The school song and the fight song were sung.
Both the 8th and 9th grade played in Snyder last week, and both teams were defeated.
Thursday was Mr. Newell's, our principal's, birthday. During the assembly Thursday morning, "Happy Birthdays" was sung to him by the student body. The faculty had a birthday cake for him at noon.
The Round Up staff announced that the first edition of the "Round Up" would go on sale next Thursday, second period. Julie Schuenger is the editor; Jerry Belem, assistant editor; and Larry Smedley, staff artist.
The Library Club has been organized. Officers this year will be Paq Winterhalter, president; Nora McCallum, vice president; Sandy Perryman, secretary - treasurer; La Nell Meredith, reporter; Susie Engle, historian; and Josh Sullivan, sergeant at arms.
Remember, students, annuals are still on sale for $3.50. Buy yours as soon as possible.

FHA Leaders

Rip Patterson, Gary Pickle Head Seniors

By LYN CLAWSON
This week the class of '61 chose Rip Patterson, Gary Pickle, and Freda Norfield to be their leaders. Rip will act as president while Gary and Freda will serve as vice president and secretary respectively.
Bob Moore was chosen president of the junior class. Katherine Heppner will hold the position of vice president and secretary will be Karon Koger. Presiding officer of the sophomore class will be Freddie White. Assisting him will be Vice President Ronnie Crowover and Secretary Brenda Cowper.
Last Tuesday the Vocational Industrial Club elected Roger Parker to be president. Joe Ewing was elected vice president; Connie Fair, secretary; Nancy Green, treasurer; Gretchen Briden, reporter; Tommy Burleson, sergeant at arms.
Saturday Colorpress, a company which prints yearbooks, held a one day clinic at HCJC for their customers in this area. BSHS as host school sent several annual staff members. Attending were Judy Foster, Janie Harrington, Kathy Johnson, Sharon Gary, Sara Manual, Pat Armstrong, and Kay Crowover.
Every Thursday afternoon at 4:45 Zale's Jewelry presents a BSHS news program on KBYG. Locke Crosland and Kay Crowover are commentators for this program.

Thursday the BSHS choir elected officers. Gary Dunnam was elected president. Suzanne Compton will serve as vice president, Barbara Bahn as secretary, and Kathleen Soldan as social chairman. Senior representative will be Nan Rankin; junior representative will be Chester Smith and Sylvia Cole will act as sophomore representative.
Bernice Waggoner and Mrs. Pat Drake, PE teachers at BSHS and Runnels Jr. High, journeyed to Odessa this week to observe the PE program in Odessa High School and Hood Jr. High School. They were interested in the activities offered in PE and in the method of scheduling classes.
Thursday afternoon the Court Jesters had an installation of officers and an initiation of New Thespians.
The Steer Pep Squad is selling decals for car windows. These decals may be bought from any Pep Squad member for thirty cents.
Next Saturday the Chi-Rho Tri-Hi-Y is planning to have a car wash to raise money. If your car needs washing, the car wash will be at Sixth and Main.

Excitement reigned at BSHS this week. Everyone was excited about the first home football game. Thursday the DE Club sold "Stomp Snyder" tags. Thursday night a large crowd gathered on the Court House Square for a pep rally.
The high point of the week's activities was the pep rally Friday morning. The cheers of the student body "raised the roof" of the BSHS gym. This pep rally was proclaimed to be the best pep rally ever held at BSHS. A record number of tickets sold for this game. By the end of the week everyone was thoroughly convinced that the Steers were going to "Stomp Snyder."
Friday night the football boys weren't the only ones who performed well out on that field, but the band and pep squad did a good job also. This was the first time the pep squad had marched in Memorial Stadium.
After the game everyone gathered at the high school cafeteria for a Victory Hop sponsored by the Journalism department. Then many went to a midnight show at the Ritz. This was a wonderful way to end a wonderful week, I'd say.

Council Discusses 'Boy And Girl Of Month'

By PHYLLIS ANDERSON
Student Council members discussed this week a method of choosing the boy and girl of the month. It was decided on having each member of the council place names in nomination. They will then bring the matter before the members and the complete council will make the final choice. Those who nominate the winners will be given points, which will be used in deciding who goes to the State Student Council Conventions.
Also discussed was a National Honor Society. The constitution has been written and will have been discussed by the faculty by next meeting. Students having an 85 or above average will be eligible for membership in the society. These will include students in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, chosen by the faculty.

We would like to extend congratulations to two FFA members on winning district president and district sentinel. They were President Bill Reid and Sentinel Ronnie Lindsey, who were elected by the district FFA members at the meeting on Sept. 19.
Attention all students! The Bulldog annual is now on sale. The price is the same as last year, $4. Freshmen may purchase theirs from Elaine Carpenter, sophomores from Jon Ellen Ford, juniors from Joe Adams, and seniors from Glenda Haney. Don't forget to buy yours real soon.

This Friday night the Bulldogs met the Lorraine Bulldogs here. Our boys played with great enthusiasm and showed their best sportsmanship.
The young people of the Church of Christ are planning a monthly social for the young people of the community. They will be held in the school cafeteria and will be open to all who would like to come.

Glenn Miller Story

James Stewart and June Allyson co-star in "The Glenn Miller Story," playing Sunday and Monday at the Jet. The film story of the late, great handsman features most of the melodies he and his orchestra made famous.

Negro Athlete Plays Key Role

Six-foot, 200-pound Woody Strode, the Negro athlete, doesn't think it's the least bit unusual to step from the wrestling ring into film stardom. "After all," he says, "they're both show business." Strode plays the pivotal role of a cavalry sergeant accused of rape and murder in Warner Bros. "Sergeant Rutledge." Technicolor suspense drama opening Wednesday at the Ritz theatre, Jeffrey Hunter, Constance Towers and Billie Burke co-star.

The story of the manner in which he won the assignment in the latter picture is illustrative of the unique approach Strode brings to his acting chores. He had heard that Cecil B. De Mille was looking for someone to play the role of the mighty King of Ethiopia and had interviewed scores of candidates. Strode arranged for an interview with the late film genius, and was admitted into De Mille's inner sanctum. Making use of his athletic prowess, he crossed the distance from the entrance door to the director's desk in no more than a few strides. Only he didn't stop. With a leap he jumped atop the desk. Before De Mille could get his breath Strode shouted down in stentorian tones: "I am the King of Ethiopia."

Well Coached

Ex-gridiron star Woody Strode had two separate mentors in his role in "Sergeant Rutledge." He was directed by John Ford but also keeping an eye on his performance was fellow cast member Juano Hernandez, in whose private drama school he has been enrolled.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures Gen. George Catlett Marshall, World War II architect of victory and resurrector of a fallen Europe at war's end, is honored by West Germany with a new 40-pennig postage stamp. It commemorates the first anniversary of his death, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Marshall's plan for rebuilding and reconstructing European economy helped millions of starving and destitute peoples, especially in Germany, and gave them hope for the future.

Japan commemorates the 50th anniversary of aviation in that country by issuing a new 10-yen stamp. On Dec. 19, 1910, Captains Yoshitoshi Tokugawa and Kumazao Hino succeeded in flying, for the first time in Japan, the biplane "Henri Farman" and the monoplane "Grade" respectively on the parade ground at Yoyogi, Tokyo. The design of the new stamp features the Henri Farman biplane overshadowed by one of today's huge jet airliners.

Australia has issued a new 5-pence stamp honoring the Northern Territory Centenary of Exploration. Early exploration is symbolized on the new stamp with Sir Daryl Lindsay's drawing "The Overlanders." In 1860 John Stuart reached Central Mount Stuart, the center of the Australian continent, and subsequently pushed further north to complete the South-North crossing when he reached the Indian Ocean.

Ghana has issued a set of three new stamps marking the first celebration of "Founder's Day." The stamps, honoring President Kwame Nkrumah, have values of 3 pence, 6 pence and 1 shilling 3 pence. Although the Olympic Games have been completed, Liberia has just issued a four value set commemorating the 17th Olympiad held in Rome. The 5-cent green and brown shows weight lifting, 10-cent magenta and brown—rowing, 15-cent orange and brown—walking, 25-cent airmail blue and brown—javelin throwing.

Film Maker Seeks Quality In Productions

A producer who made two top-grossing movies for the screen before he ever saw the inside of a Hollywood sound stage has now embarked on a one-man campaign to restore science-fiction films to the status of family entertainment. Jack H. Harris, who made "The Blob" and "4-D Man," has poured the profits from these productions into "Dinosaurs," opening Friday at the Ritz Theatre.

How does he plan to do it? "By cutting down on sex and violence," Harris explains. "Over-emphasizing these two elements has been the main cause of a decrease in popularity of movies about science-fiction, horror, and rock-and-rollers, too. Film producers have tried to outdo each other in the field of sensationalism, adapting the raw approach to love and engulfing the scene with the blood of overdone scenes of violence. The former makes a movie unacceptable for children; the latter makes it unpalatable for adults."

Harris, who confined his movie-making to the East before coming to Hollywood to make "Dinosaurs," has been making films for only two years, but 25 of his 41 years have been spent in show business, beginning with his trouping at the age of six as a member of the Gus "Ukelele Ike" Edwards' Kiddie Revue, and maturing via a successful career in film exhibition. "I believe I know what folks want on a movie screen," says the producer. "I've been listening to their comments in theater lobbies for more than twenty years."

To give "Dinosaurs" that much sought-after family flavor, Harris has conceived some unusual approaches to the characters of such prehistoric hairraisers as the caveman, the tyrannosaurus rex and the brontosaurus, who share star billing with his two stars, Ward Ramsey and Kristina Hanson. The film, directed by Irvin S. Yeaworth Jr., is a Universal-International release.

BURT LANCASTER In his most controversial role

'Elmer Gantry' Is Controversial Tale

The film version of Sinclair Lewis' controversial novel, "Elmer Gantry," will open Sunday at the Ritz Theatre, through United Artists release. Burt Lancaster and Jean Simmons are starred in "Elmer Gantry" with Dean Jagger, Shirley Jones, Patti Page and Arthur Kennedy. The film is a Burt Lancaster-Richard Brooks production in Eastmancolor.

Lancaster portrays Elmer Gantry, the itinerant evangelist minister. Miss Simmons co-stars as Sister Sharon Falconer. The set of "Elmer Gantry" was closed during the filming of the entire production, the screenplay, full scripts being issued only to the principal players and top production personnel.

Lancaster and Brooks adopted the policy of secrecy just as Sinclair Lewis did when he wrote the novel in 1927. The Nobel Prize-winning author, before he submitted the completed manuscript to the book's publisher, Harcourt and Brace, insisted that only the partners be allowed to read the novel, and then place it under lock and key until publication.

"Elmer Gantry" brings to the screen Patti Page in her motion picture debut as the choir leader of the traveling Evangelical troupe. Shirley Jones was chiefly known as the sweet young singing star of such musicals as "Oklahoma," and "Carousel," until she was cast in "Elmer Gantry" as a lady of easy virtue. Arthur Kennedy plays a reporter covering the activities of a revival group.

United Artists urges moviegoers to check the time schedules carefully and not enter theaters during the last seven minutes of "Elmer Gantry."

Shirley Jones had to seduce Burt Lancaster. That is, Shirley Jones, as a lady of easy virtue, had to seduce Burt Lancaster, the spellbinding evangelist, in "Elmer Gantry." This role was a far cry from the one which first brought Shirley to Hollywood. For as she made the transition from calico dress to seersucker slip, it was difficult for one to believe that this was the girl who played sweet Laurie in "Oklahoma" and whom clean-living Pat Boone declined to kiss in "April Love."

"The change of pace feels just fine—now," Shirley relates. "At first, well, I really don't wear much except what you see. A slip, these shoes with the green frills, and slinky black silk wrap-around that's transparent."

"Usually I walk onto a movie set wearing my bustle and petticoats and some of the boys turn around as I go by and say 'Hiya, Shirl!' But when I walked in dressed like this the fellows all just turned around and didn't say anything."

She paused, rereferencing the moment. "They never turned around like that before," she emphasized. "Did she find that reaction embarrassing?" "Well, not really. It did take some getting used to after provoking the big brother reactions for so long. But I guess every girl dreams of being a conversation stopper some day. This is my chance."

"Of course, I am embarrassed sometimes or maybe it's inhibited. Like not wanting my husband today," she pointed to the phone. "But that's something else. With the role I'm playing, a husband waiting in the wings wouldn't be appropriate."

"Actually, my feeling about walking around here dressed this way often goes beyond embarrassment," Shirley confided. "When they don't shut all the doors, I'm cold."

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Sinclair Lewis hated Elmer Gantry. Indeed, he despised him. Gantry represented everything in humanity that made Lewis gag. He was mean, crazy, lewd, grasping, and spoke with a forked tongue.

Gantry also was a traveling evangelist, one who made a profitable racket out of organized religion. He was the despicable character created in venom by Lewis in his controversial best-selling novel of 1927. "Elmer Gantry" sold a record number of copies, and brought the wrath of the pulpit down on Lewis' head.

The filmed Gantry is still a despicable man, but more understandable, more human, and therefore more pitiable. Burt Lancaster is marvelous in the role of Gantry. The viewer feels that here is one actor who understands deeply the character he is portraying, and Lancaster makes of Gantry a venal and exceedingly dishonest man who nevertheless finds a salvation of sorts in the end.

The rest of the cast is superb, under sensitive direction: Shirley Jones as the prostitute whom Lancaster earlier had seduced; Jean Simmons as the highly spiritual lady evangelist whose carnal appetites, stirred by Gantry, prove stronger than her resistance to temptation; Dean Jagger (a friend of Lewis') as the slow-moving but honest promotional expert for evangelistic teams; Arthur Kennedy as the newspaperman who follows Gantry with the intent of exposing him.

The film lacks the bitterness of the Lewis novel, an acid that ate at the vitals of the Pharisee element in Christianity, but this lack is made up for by the incredibly eloquent scenes inside the tents. The faces of the worshipping crowds, mostly the ignorant and the poor, are hopeless and pitiable, as they place their trust in a wolf in sheep's clothing. Anyone who writes a book critical of any part of organized religion is bound to get the axe. Yet it must be noted that Lewis was defended from the pulpit as well as attacked. Some of his defenders pointed out the Biblical warning that ravenous wolves would find their way into the flock.

The movie does not miss this point—there are saintly preachers, as well as the Gantry type; there are promotional experts who use every commercial gimmick, but are not necessarily ungodly. Nor does the movie miss Lewis' other fine point—that, as the Scripture said, the spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak. All Lewis wanted to do was knock down an American myth that the men of God were as sinless as the angels, and in his other novels he did the same for scientists ("Arrowsmith") and businessmen ("Babbitt").

"Elmer Gantry" even as a watered-down movie, is strong stuff, but not irreverent. It has something of importance to say. The weatherman can be wrong, and critics can miss the boat, too. Our forecast for "House of Usher" was way off. The film's producers butchered the Edgar Allan Poe story of all its poetic content and relied upon gimmicks to frighten their audiences. Vincent Price acted, and Richard Matheson scripted. With such a combination of talent—Poe, Price and Matheson—the newest version of "House of Usher" was inexcusable.

Not So, Dumb

Screen veteran Gregg Martell, who plays his role as a prehistoric cave man in "Dinosaurs" in complete pantomime, says the most noise he makes in the film is when he gets to kiss the girl. Martell co-stars with Kristina Hanson.

His 40th Year

Guinn "Big Boy" Williams completed his 40th year in motion pictures and plays his 40th year role in "Home From the Hill." The veteran has played with every big-name star. In the new picture he appears with Robert Mitchum and Eleanor Parker.

You Have To See The Signs

Howard County's network of hard-surfaced roads includes 210 miles of highways comprising the county and Farm-to-Market systems. The roads are identical in construction and if not for official markers, the motorist would never know when he left a Farm-to-Market constructed road and changed to one constructed by the Howard County road and bridge department.

County Pursues Expanded Road Building Program

By SAM BLACKBURN

Howard County is expected to produce some 35,000 bales of cotton this year and nearly every bale of that big crop will make its way from the fields—at least in part—to the gin over paved roads comprising the extensive and growing county network of farm-to-market and county-built highways.

The county is crisscrossed with 140 miles of FM roads and 73 miles of county-paved highways. The network of roads is so designed that every section of the county has access to one or both systems.

It is noteworthy that you can't tell the county-built roads from the state constructed FM highways unless you see the signs which mark them. The county road and bridge department, which builds the county roads, uses the same specifications and standards employed by the state. The result is that county roads offer identical roadbeds and appearance presented by the FM highways.

RECENT WORK

And all of this spread of hard-surfaced roads has been provided within the past 20 years; most of the roads have come into being since 1949. The bulk of the county roads date no further back than 1955.

In the early days, the county, like all western areas, was a land of no fences, few towns, isolated settlers and only trails to connect the scattered elements. When a settler had to make a journey, he set out across country. He followed the smoothest terrain he could locate; he skirted hills and evaded valleys by long detours. In the less-eroded areas, the road to town or to a neighbor's house was cross the country.

As more people moved in, the need for roads developed. The first crude routes were chopped out. Rocks were rolled aside where they blocked passage, tree roots grubbed up. The road generally meandered—its course governed by the condition of the land over which the traveler had to pass.

IMPROVED

Still later, roads improved. Fences were built and bridges were laid across creeks and ravines. The surface was roughly leveled off but there was no attempt to surface the routes and make them safe for travel in all weather.

The motor car became increasingly popular and the old rutted roads which had been adequate for the wagons and horseback riders had to be replaced with smoother, straighter pathways.

Nevertheless, it was a long time before any consideration was given to the matter of connecting farms and ranches with towns and shopping centers by specifically designed roads. There were a few major roads which were given a little additional attention. The bulk of the highways, those narrow little lanes which serve the rural areas were accorded little care.

In 1949, the Texas Legislature inaugurated the Colson-Briscoe plan. This was a plan to provide the state with good roads and was the answer to the plea heard thirty years ago "to get the farmer out of the mud." A fund was set up in 1949 to allocate $15 million a year to build—but not maintain—farm-to-market roads.

PLAN EXPANDED

This plan, broadened and expanded, today provides Texas with 33,000 miles of FM roads. Nearly all of these are paved. Howard County has 140 miles of such highway. It formerly had additional FM mileage but some roads, built as FM roads, have become state highways in some instances. State Highways 350 and 176, according to the records, were originally FM roads.

Some early-day county roads, too, have been absorbed as parts of the state, FM and federal systems. Other county built highways have left the system—having been taken over by the city as streets. Expansion of the town has brought this condition about. Roads which five years ago were in the country are now urban thoroughfares.

The longest FM road in the county is No. 82 which loops through the southeast portion of the county for 24 miles. FM 669, known popularly as the Gail road, is second longest extending for 18 miles.

NEWEST

Probably one of the newest, and yet one of the most important of the FM roads, is the shortest in miles. FM 700 which loops around Big Spring from U. S. 80 east to U. S. 80 west is only six miles long.

The county has two federal highways. U. S. 80 (now officially IS 20) cuts east and west across the county for 33 miles. U. S. 87, north-south route, is 34 miles in length. State highways provide 35 miles of the county road system.

FM roads, add up to 140 miles. Two other important FM roads are in the hopper and waiting action by the State Highway Department. One is the Hartwell road west of town which is slated for construction in 1960. It will provide a north-south connection between U. S. 80 and the Andrews Highway.

Another road for which easements are now being obtained and which will make a paved route across the county from the west to the east and on to Lake J. B. Thomas is also booked for 1961. It is called the Hamlin road—completion of which will extend the paved roadway through the north half of the county.

ACCELERATED

In the past five or six years, the county has been pursuing an accelerated and long-range road building program. Under this plan, approximately 20 miles of paved roads are set up for each year.

Weather, right-of-way difficulties, construction problems and other factors generally prevent the realization of this goal but over the period from 1955 through 1960, the program has added extensive mileage to the county's all-weather road pattern.

A program of road building is on the table for 1961. Projects launched in 1960, which have not been completed, will be continued. Roads which were calendared two or three years ago, will have been finally completed in the present year.

The commissioners court drafts its tentative road building program for each year setting up projects in each of the four commissioners districts. Much study is given to this task. The importance of the roads under consideration is carefully evaluated before they are put on the list.

TRAFFIC COUNT

The state employs a traffic count as a starting rule in fixing the location of FM roads. It takes 400 vehicles to generate enough gasoline tax revenue to pay for the maintenance of a road, and that point is often used as a starting point in determining the need for a road.

However, since it is obvious that the purpose of farm-to-market roads is to serve the land and stimulate its use and value, the traffic count on a road is not always the determining factor. Often roads which are currently serving as few as 50 cars a day are developed as FM roads. School bus routes, mail routes and other elements also go into the final decision.

Equitable distribution of FM funds to all Texas counties is carefully preserved. The forecast is that by 1975 the state will have a network of 71,000 miles of FM roads. At that time $71 million a year will be earmarked for this type of road building.

MORE PLANNED

If this holds true, Howard County, at that time, will be allocated considerable additional mileage of FM roads.

Already, the county has a number of requests before the Texas Highway Commission in this field. One which is sure to be pressed strongly is an extension of the west leg of FM 700 to improve traffic movement around town to the south.

In the meantime, the county will continue its own program of road building on routes which are of importance to the farmers, ranchers and land owners in all parts of the county. All things holding equal, there is no reason to assume that by 1965, nearly every road in the county will be hard-surfaced—either as a state provided FM or as a county built highway.

Foundations Grow

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Assn. of Baptist Foundation Executives reports Baptist foundations now have assets of more than $6 billion.

Sex Segregation

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—The Greenville Public Library has substituted segregation by sex for racial segregation. Three of the seven tables used for reading and study "reserved for women." Four are reserved for males. The library recently was opened on an integrated basis after several Negro sit-in demonstrations.
