Final Stage

The final stage of work at the football stadium parking lot was under way today and a top-notch parking area is promised Steer fans for next week's game. A city crew began laying the asphalt today, rolling the large lot in preparation for the coating of rock which will be applied as the final step in construction. The paving should be wrapped up Saturday, according to Bruce Dunn, director of public works. The asphalt and rock mixture is being laid atop a sub-surface layer of asphalt and dirt.

Light Used In Fantastic Measuring

WASHINGTON (AP)—Using reflected light rays, government scientists reported today they have measured 50-mile distances to an accuracy within "the width of a toothpick" per mile. The work was done by the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey in locating a network of nine missile-tracking camera stations over an area of 4,000 square miles around Cape Canaveral, Fla., where the missiles are launched.

Students Have Real Blast; Chem Lab Rocks-N-Rolls

Chemistry proved an exciting subject Wednesday afternoon when a demonstration inexplicably got out of hand, causing an explosion which inflicted cuts and burns to the instructor and minor cuts to a few students.

Arnold Oates, instructor, was back at his post Thursday morning after being treated at Howard County Foundation Hospital for painful burns and minor cuts. Lynn Campbell, 15, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. William H. Campbell, 46A Chanute, was released from Webb AFB Hospital after being treated for a cut on her forehead. Others near the demonstration table had minor nicks. Oates was demonstrating the violent chemical reaction when sulfuric acid comes in contact with zinc. He had exploded minute amounts of the material to caution pupils, when suddenly flames crawled up the beaker containing acid. The contents of the beaker then may have spilled on the zinc particles, at any rate an explosion ensued, shattering the beaker and other glass apparatus, and billowing smoke.

Spence Discusses Saltation Problem

E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, Wednesday appealed to operators in the Sharon Ridge area of southwest Scurry and northwest Mitchell counties to voluntarily attack the salt water pollution problem.

In an address to the Big Spring Downtown Lions Club, Spence said that the district's plans for impounding a second lake on the upper Colorado River could not be completed until the saltation of the low flow of the stream is overcome.

OILFIELD AREA

He said the investigations had proven beyond doubt that the source of the pollution was from the oilfield area, largely in the form of salt water disposal in pits. Studies have shown that this water percolates through sands into the river channel. In one instance, an abandoned well was uncovered and was found to be unplugged and full of salt water.

The problem is formidable, he said, for there are approximately 1,500 oil wells in the area belonging to 200 operators.

Wage Rate Is $1.50

According to Tracy C. Murrell, regional director for the Texas Employment Commission, the wage finding rate effective Sept. 27 for Howard County is $1.50 per hundred pounds for the first pulling on dry land farms. A rate of less than $1.55 per hundred pounds for pulling is not applicable to Mexican contract workers.

"The normal flow of about 300 gallons per minute shows by tests that some 28,000 pounds of salt are going downstream daily," he said. "Obviously, we couldn't finance a new lake under these conditions, we couldn't even entertain the idea."

Carr Sees Challenge As Making Good Texas Cities

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Speaker Waggoner Carr said today that Texas' challenge of the future is to make our big cities into good cities. Carr, who made an unsuccessful bid for state attorney general in 1958, spoke at a combined meeting of the five San Angelo Lions clubs. There have been reports Carr is considering a race for governor in 1962.

He said Texans need to give more attention. "Direct, vigorous and earnest efforts to eradicate these environments and living conditions (in blighted neighborhoods) which breed crime among the young. . . . Prompt, sure and equal justice. . . . every community ought to have a committee of laymen, as well as lawyers, devoting attention to the problems of both law enforcement and judicial administration to assure at all times the highest standards of quality. . . . Fuller opportunities of education to a broader segment of our young. . . . careful consideration to the desirability of pioneering in the field of providing free public education through the junior college level for all our young people."

Dixie Chiefs Eye Schools In Rights Fight

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Southern governors have chosen the classroom itself for a new battleground over segregation and states rights.

They adopted a resolution at the closing session of their conference Wednesday calling for the teaching of the Constitution and its principles in the schools to "counter federal invasion of states rights."

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond of Virginia, retiring conference chairman, brought up the almost-taboo conference subject. He called on David J. Mays of Richmond, chairman of the Virginia Commission on Constitutional Government.

Mays told the governors that education was the only dignified way to fight for states rights. He said Virginia taught constitutional law in its grade and high schools to "black and white alike."

Conference officials said it was the first time integration had been brought up at the conference since the Little Rock controversy in 1957. Then the conference named a committee to confer with Gov. Orval E. Faubus and President Eisenhower on the possibility of withdrawing federal troops from Central High School there.

Both Almond and Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina said the educational program should be carried on at a national level. Hodges said states rights was a matter of concern for all states.

The governors elected Gov. Price Daniel of Texas as their new chairman and Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia as vice chairman. They decided to meet in Tennessee next year, probably at Gatlinburg.

Gov. Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi said the way to curb "irresponsible and revolutionary decisions" of the Supreme Court was to crystallize public opinion. Then he said Congress would stop it.

Daniel in accepting his post said that if the governors stood together they could influence Congress to change Supreme Court decisions just as they had done in insurance, tidelands and other matters.

The governors supporting Sen. John F. Kennedy for president spent a lot of their time at news conferences whipping up enthusiasm for their candidate.

But a survey of the governors indicated Vice President Richard M. Nixon has a chance of carrying 11 of 15 Southern and Border states in the November election.

States where Nixon was given a chance were Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and West Virginia.

Only Alabama, Arkansas and Georgia were regarded by their Democratic governors as completely safe for Kennedy.

Water Remedy Action Topic At State Meet

Does a water supply have to be actually polluted before state agencies can force remedial action?

This is the question posed at a conference Tuesday in Austin. The State Board of Water Engineers called it to consider the case of the Reagan County Water Supply District which contends that salt water from the Sprerry Trend is gradually closing in on its well field in northeastern Reagan County.

In the conference were Arthur Barbeck, representing the Texas Railroad Commission, and officials from the State Health Department, the Texas Game and Fish Commission and the Red River Authority, an interested observer.

Barbeck at first said that the railroad commission would not hold a hearing unless actual pollution is to be shown. Later, however, he somewhat softened his stand but said no "shotgun cases" covering the whole county or a part of it would be considered.

Ed Reed, Midland ground water hydrologist, and Robert W. Spence, attorney presented the case for the district and testified that stock wells and ponds in the area had become polluted with salt water discharged from the oil wells. The increasing brine content in these wells had progressed within a mile of the well field from whence Big Lake is to obtain its water supply. They said the district wanted to act before its wells actually became polluted with the salt water.

Reagan County Judge told the conference that pollution of the stock wells and ponds was within itself a serious matter.

Africa Gets Top Billing For Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Africa was assured top billing in the U.N. General Assembly today as the Assembly Steering Committee moved to place 10 African issues on the session's bulging agenda.

The 21-nation committee voted in quick succession Wednesday night to schedule Assembly debate on the explosive Congo issue and rival proposals by the United States and the Soviet Union designed to win the friendship of the new African member states.

The committee earlier approved debate on such perennial items as the race situation in South Africa, Algerian independence and a number of trusteeship questions. With 15 new African nations already taken into the U.N. fold and Nigeria slated to become the 99th member, probably next week, 25 African members will have a voice in the debates.

CALL FOR DEBATE

After a surprise turnout by the West, the committee decided in 10 minutes Wednesday night to call for debate on the Congo question over which it had wrangled for more than an hour the previous night.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said he was not opposing the Congo's inclusion on the agenda since the Soviet Union had agreed to a suggestion by Ceylon to modify the title of the item, to "The Situation in the Republic of the Congo." Previously it had carried the Soviet title "Threat to the Political Independence and Territorial Integrity of the Republic of the Congo."

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin in introducing it had accused Belgium of aggression and continued colonialism.

Wadsworth said that with the moderate title suggested by Ceylon, agreeing to its consideration no longer meant agreeing to a Soviet indictment of Belgium.

Britain's Sir Patrick Dean also withdrew his objection.

Zorin twitted Wadsworth and Dean, declaring they had thought it over and decided they had better agree to discuss the Congo question.

Wadsworth retorted that he had never opposed inclusion of the item on the agenda but merely questioned the sense of a debate now on an issue that had been hashed over thoroughly in the recent special Assembly session.

A new East-West clash was foreseen in the Assembly when the rival U.S. and Soviet items on Africa reach the floor.

The U.S. proposal puts before the Assembly the five-point program for aid to the new countries of Africa outlined by President Eisenhower in his Assembly speech last Thursday.

It would curtail a Soviet item calling for granting of independence to colonial countries and peoples. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev called for this in his speech before the Assembly last Friday.

The Steering Committee also agreed to debate on the question of Mauritania, to which France is granting independence. Morocco charges this will rob her of the territory rightfully hers.

Other African items marked for Assembly consideration include treatment of persons of Indian origin in Southwest Africa and the future of Ruanda-Urundi, a trusteeship territory administered by Belgium.

2 AF Men Die In Highway Crash

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—Two Air Force lieutenants were killed three miles east of here Wednesday when their automobile and a truck collided on U.S. 40.

The Ohio Highway Patrol identified the men as Lt. Kenneth C. Zernitzis, 32, of Rego Park, N.Y., and Lt. Ralph W. Sheaffer, 24, of Biglerville, Pa. The patrol said they were stationed at James T. Connally Air Force Base, Waco, Tex.

'BIG SPRING' BOOK FOR THE SECRETARY Mayor Pro-Tem John Taylor presents Shine Philips' volume to Air Force Sec. Dudley C. Sharp

Sec. Sharp Lauds Mahon

High praise for Congressman George Mahon as having "a working knowledge of the country's military affairs such as few men in Congress possess" was voiced here today by the secretary of the Air Force, Dudley C. Sharp.

Secretary Sharp was an overnight visitor here, and while in Big Spring had a briefing and a first-hand inspection of Webb Air Force Base.

The secretary was honored at a breakfast at the Webb Officers Club this morning, attended by a group of local business men and ranking officers at the Base.

In brief remarks addressed to the Big Springers, Secretary Sharp lauded Mahon as being a thorough student of military matters, and one of the members of Congress who is held in high esteem throughout the government. Mahon, chairman of the House subcommittee on military appropriations, works closely with the Air Force secretary as well as other military department chiefs, in budget matters.

Secretary Sharp departed about 9 a.m. for Vance AFB, Enid, Okla. where he was scheduled for a noon address. From there, he was to go on to Washington. He had been in California on official business, came back through Texas, and made a side trip Wednesday to Fort Davis, to see his mother.

Sharp is a native Texan, whose home is at Houston. Before his tenure in government service, he had been in the oil well supply business. He still has interests in this field.

A 15-year-old girl was being held for observation today at the Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital following a one-car accident Wednesday. Her physician said, however, that there appeared to be no injuries.

Donna Kaye Fulton, 1615 Cordial, driver of the car, struck a wire fence along the right of way on FM 700 near the National Guard Armory. Damage to both the fence and car was reported light. There were no passengers in the car and the girl was taken to the hospital in a Nalley-Pickle ambulance.

In an accident this morning, Bobby Gene Moore, 122 Lindburg, and Margaret Monroe Abbe, 210 Algeria, were in collision at 4th and Brown.

Showdown Looms Over Cuban Base

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro made clear at a welcome home celebration Wednesday night that a legal showdown is coming over the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. The homecoming was interrupted by two bomb explosions that did no damage.

Within three hours after returning from the U.N. General Assembly session in New York, the prime minister was renewing his threats against the naval installation and flailing away at the United States as "the most aggressive, most warmongering and most stupid of imperialisms."

The first bomb exploded in Zayas Park behind the Presidential Palace about an hour after Castro started his 2 1/2-hour balcony speech to a crowd of about 150,000 massed in front of the palace. The second went off 40 minutes later at the same place.

Militiamen seized a man accused of throwing the first bomb and hurried him away as the furious crowd shouted "pardono" to the execution wall.

Castro dismissed the explosions as "the little bombs of imperialism," but announced the government would establish a system of

Top British Leader Urges Calmness

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan urged the United Nations today to make a new, reasoned start on disarmament. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev heckled and interrupted the Briton in angry, shouted demonstrations of protest.

The Soviet premier leaped to his feet, scowling as the British leader discussed the problem of controls for a disarmament program.

"We are always in favor of controls—of disarmament," Khrushchev shouted in Russian, and the Assembly president, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, gaveled him down. Macmillan interrupted his speech to remark he wanted a translation of what Khrushchev had said.

A short time before, as Macmillan was discussing the blowup of the Paris summit meeting last May, Khrushchev wagged a finger at the speaker and exclaimed: "Don't commit aggression!"

PLANE INCIDENT Khrushchev evidently referred to his contention that the American U2 plane incident caused the Paris explosion.

When Macmillan defended the office of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold against a Khrushchev proposal to eliminate it, Khrushchev led his Communist bloc delegations in a new demonstration of table-thumping. The Soviet premier was visibly outraged.

Macmillan was presenting a three-stage program designed to prepare the way for political action toward an arms agreement. The British leader, ranking Western statesman on hand for the U.N. General Assembly, won an ovation with a defense of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, whose office is under Soviet attack.

And at this point Khrushchev led his bloc in the table-thumping smiling momentarily but the most part scowling angrily. A similar table-thumping demonstration had greeted a Hammarskjold address Monday.

SOVIETS GLUM Macmillan received the biggest ovation thus far in this historic 15th Assembly session. Khrushchev and the Soviet bloc sat glumly and silently throughout the stormy applause, conspicuously not joining in it.

Khrushchev and Macmillan are to meet later today in a private conference. Macmillan, in a major Western pronouncement, asked the Assembly to set up a board of technical experts—scientific, military and administrative—to prepare a report within a reasonable brief period to provide the basis for a calm approach to the arms problem.

While Khrushchev glowered angrily, Macmillan told the delegates "the strongest of public opinion is almost saturated with the persistent flood of propaganda" and could tolerate little more.

MAJOR POINTS Macmillan's proposal on armaments contained three major points for getting negotiations started. The first stage would be the appointment of the board of experts.

This board would handle specific aspects of the arms problem. First, he said, is the problem of preventing "extension of armaments of preventing the situation from becoming worse." He referred specifically to use of outer space for military purposes—recalling President Eisenhower's warnings in this respect—and the need to halt manufacture of nuclear materials for military purposes.

Second, he said, is the problem of guarding against surprise attack. Third, he said, is the task of gradually "reducing to a minimum all forms of armaments."

Khrushchev's lieutenants lost three more important and bitterly fought skirmishes in the Assembly Steering Committee.

The Steering Committee voted to bring before the 96 nations in the General Assembly the questions of Soviet actions in Hungary and an airing of Communist China's operations in Tibet. The 114 vote came after a long and determined Soviet effort to kill both items.

The Steering Committee also voted down Soviet proposals to open the General Assembly immediately to disarmament debate, bypassing debate in the Political Committee and interrupting the general policy statements now being given by representatives of each U.N. member.

ZALE'S JEWELERS

Newest Of The Compact Cars

The 1961 Lancer, Dodge's new entry in the compact car field, is being shown, and is on display locally at Jones Motor Co., 101 Gregg. It has sharp styling, yet puts emphasis on economy. The Lancer is available in a variety of two and four door sedan, hardtop and station wagon models. This is the four door sedan.

Dodge Offers Lancer As New Entry In The Compact Field

A new entry in the compact car field—the Lancer by Dodge—is making its debut in 1961, and currently may be seen at Jones Motor Co., 101 Gregg. The Lancer is called a "small car with a big ride." It is nearly two feet shorter and 700 to 800 pounds lighter than conventional cars in the low price field.

The Lancer features wide use of aluminum to reduce weight. It also offers two highly economical, six-cylinder, front-mounted engines and a host of under-the-hood mechanical refinements. Favorable weight distribution a low center of gravity, combined with famed torsion-air suspension, gives the new small car its big-car ride. The Lancer new compact is offered in seven models in two series—taxi model, 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan and 4-door station wagon in the lowest-price "170" series; and 2-door hardtop, 4-door sedan and 4-door station wagon in the deluxe "770" series. Eight basic colors are offered—medium blue, green and gray in metallic enamel, and red, light blue, light green, black and white in non-metallic enamel.

NEW HARDTOP MODEL
The stylish 2-door hardtop—one of the first hardtop models to be introduced in the compact car field—is available in both solid colors and 14 two-tone color combinations.
More big-car features are available on the Lancer than on most compact cars. These include air conditioning, power steering and brakes, pushbutton automatic transmission, heater, radio and luxurious paneling, upholstery and floor carpeting.

CLASSIC DESIGN

The grille, hood and bumper thrust forward in a "V". The grille is composed of fine, horizontal lines of rolled stainless steel that extend outward to form a background for the dual headlights. The car has wrap-around front and rear bumpers. Circular parking lights are recessed below the front bumper. The design is functional, clean and classic.

The doors of the Lancer are large and reach into the roof line. They open wide to provide easy entrance. The windows are large, extending well down the door sides. Interior head and leg room dimensions exceed many of the larger, standard-size models. The rear of the car features clean uncluttered styling. The deck lid, hinged just below the base of the rear window, has a sculptured windsplilt in the center.

The Dodge name appears at the lower edge. The large, circular tail lights resemble those featured on the 1960 Dodge Dart.

OVERALL ECONOMY

The makers emphasize that the Lancer's economy was achieved by creative engineering throughout the car—not simply through a reduction in size and weight. They list the following money-saving economies offered by the new compact:

Both of Lancer's spirited 6-cylinder engines deliver top performance on regular grades of gasoline. One has 101-horsepower and a displacement of 170 cubic inches; the other has 145-horsepower and a displacement of 225 cubic inches. Both are advanced design, inclined engines with a compression ratio of 8.2 to 1. A special four-barrel carburetor power package for the 170-cubic-inch engine is a dealer-installed option. The Lancer is equipped with an alternator instead of the conventional direct-current generator. Unlike the standard generator, the alternator charges the battery even when the engine is idling.

331st Sergeant Receives $25.00

T. Sgt. Ronald M. Kaler received a check for $25.00 from Col. Dick M. Crowell, 331st commander, for his recent suggestion on a new improvement in the handling of liquid oxygen which is used in the Squadron's F-102 all weather interceptors. Sgt. Kaler's suggestion is an example of how the Air Force improves its methods of operations by suggestions from its members. The award was presented at the September Commander's Call.

The Church And Money

We should not be ashamed to preach what the Bible says about giving; and no one has the right to resent such preaching. But there are some unscriptural and unhealthy things taught and done for the sake of raising money. This we oppose. According to the Bible, church finances are to be raised by the free will offerings of the members when they come together on the first day of the week for the Lord's Supper. (I Cor. 16:1, 2; Acts 20:7; II Cor. 8 and 9.)

The church should not get in competition with the business houses by raising money through selling cakes, clothing, etc. Nor should she become a beggar by soliciting the business houses for funds to help erect church houses.

It is not right for church leaders to tell any individual just how much he is to give; but "every man according as he purpoeth in his heart, so let him give..." (II Cor. 9:7.)

We invite you to all our services, not because we want your money, but because we are interested in your soul. Mid-week preaching service tonight, 7:30. Subject: "THE GOLDEN TEXT." —Adv.

Neo-Politician Trounces Vets In Primary

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Socialite-businessman Claiborne de Borda Pell of Newport bowed into Rhode Island politics with a bang Wednesday night, trouncing two seasoned campaigners to win the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

In his first bid for elective office, Pell, 41, was nominated to succeed Sen. Theodore Francis Green, 92, who is not seeking re-election.

He upset two former governors vying for political comebacks. Pell polled 83,184 votes to 45,196 for four-time Gov. Dennis J. Roberts, who had the backing of the Democratic State Committee. J. Howard McGrath, who served as governor, U.S. senator, U.S. attorney general and Democratic national chairman, was far behind. McGrath got only 7,925 votes, despite a television-radio address by former President Harry S. Truman in his behalf.

U.S. Rep. John A. Notte Jr. defeated former Lt. Gov. Armand H. Cote for the Democratic nomination for governor.

In the 1st District State Rep. Fernand J. St. Germain easily outdistanced four other candidates for the nomination to succeed U.S. Rep. Alime J. Forand, sponsor of a controversial Democratic plan for medical care for the aged, who did not seek re-election.

U.S. Rep. John E. Fogarty was unopposed for Democratic re-nomination in the 2nd District.

A record 135,000 Democrats turned out for the rainy-day balloting. That vote was more than 40,000 over the previous high of two years ago.

Pell, who keyed his campaign to the youth and new ideas theme of Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, has held minor posts in the Foreign Service. His father was a diplomat under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. took the stump for Pell last week.

Roberts conceded the election with about 200 of the state's 357 voting districts reported. He and McGrath both pledged to support the ticket.

Christopher Del Sesto, first GOP Governor in nearly 20 years, is seeking re-election. Raoul Archambault Jr., former assistant director of the U.S. budget, is the Republican candidate for the Senate; and Theodore Martin is GOP nominee for the 1st District seat. The Republican held their primary Sept. 19.

Officials Protest Rights Hearings

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A strong wave of protest from state and parish officials surged through Louisiana today in the wake of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission's two-day hearing on voter discrimination.

"In my opinion, this hearing is nothing but a national publicity stunt," State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion told newsmen. "We have investigated these stories and found no merit."

Mrs. Doud, Mother Of Mamie, Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Ellvera Doud, 82, mother of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, died early today in her sleep at her Denver, Colo., home.

Another daughter, Mrs. G. Gordon Moore, was in Denver with her. She had been ill for some time. The White House, announcing Mrs. Doud's death, said Mrs. Eisenhower would go to Denver directly.

Webb AFB, TEC Plan Observance

Webb AFB personnel will join hands with the Texas Employment Commission office in Big Spring between Oct. 2-8 to emphasize National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

President Eisenhower has proclaimed the observance. A working committee headed by Leon Kenny, TEC manager, and Eugene Smith, Webb AFB, civilian personnel officer, will place posters and signs at various business houses.

The Air Force program has received a number of commendations from state and local organizations all over the country.

In 1959 the Air Force received the Citation for Outstanding Service — the highest given by the President's committee for the Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

Last month, Webb received the Employer's Merit Award from Austin, signed on behalf of the President and Governor Price Daniel. The plaque is on display at Wing Headquarters.

Denton Aims At Annexation

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—The first step in annexation aimed at adding a total of 81 square miles to the City of Denton has been taken by the City Council.

If all of the area is finally annexed Denton's corporate area would cover 90 square miles or ten times its present size.

The council passed on first reading Tuesday a motion to annex 9 square miles surrounding the city and set Oct. 30 as the date for public hearings and for the second and final reading of the ordinance.

This annexation would double the size of the city and has been under consideration for two years. Final approval is expected.

The City Council also passed on first reading the annexation of another 72 square miles surrounding the city and set Dec. 15 as the date for public hearings.

Mayor Fred Barrow said this second annexation move was taken to protect Denton and Denton County from neighboring annexation-minded towns.

The City of Irving recently annexed 38 square miles of Denton County. Last week in an avowed move to protect Collin County from such action the City of McKinney annexed a strip of territory bordering the Collin County line.

 TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP)—The Brazos Presbytery, representing 83 Presbyterian churches in 29 Southeast Texas counties, ended a two-day meeting Wednesday.

Hardeman Lashes GOP For Incident At Little Rock

AUSTIN (AP)—State Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman said Monday night the Republican party should be retired to repent in sackcloth and ashes for the Little Rock school integration incident.

The Democratic senator from San Angelo spoke over a local television station (KTBC-TV) immediately preceding an address over 27 TV stations by former Gov. Allan Shivers. Hardeman urged support of the Democratic nominees.

Hardeman said Republican vice presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge unsuccessfully introduced the first school integration bill in the Senate. He said Vice President Richard Nixon, the presidential nominee, supported the sending of troops to Little Rock.

If Lodge and Nixon should win, Hardeman said, "shall we expect another military offensive against our Southern states or cities which refuse to surrender their constitutional prerogatives to the NAACP? The possibility and the threat remain . . ."

Local Pilots Plan To Join All Texas Air Tour Oct. 10

By BOB MARION
 People were up in the air around Big Spring during the past week in airplanes, of course. And even more will be in the air when the All Texas Air Tour arrives here Oct. 10 for an overnight stay. Several Big Spring flyers have indicated interest in accompanying the tour on part of the 3,000 mile tour. The group will be making 44 stops throughout Texas.

A fledgling flyer, Mrs. Frank Nix, soloed last week at the Nix air strip in an Aircopter. Mrs. Ben Nix made her solo flight Wednesday afternoon.

Another student flyer has signed up to learn flying David Warren, Coahoma, has resumed flying lessons after being inactive for a while. Mrs. Frank Hughes, who has to tailed up some 50 hours of flying time is planning to take a check ride for her private pilot's license within the next two weeks. Mrs. Hughes flies a Tri-Pacer.

The Howard County Airport is still averaging around 35 takeoffs and landings a day. The airport has had two planes passing through from California en route to Michigan and Dallas.

A helicopter from Pennsylvania flying to California stopped briefly and several flying ambulances came in. One, from Houston brought a patient to the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

Roy Ted McClung has received authorization for a check ride with the District Federal Aviation Agency examiner to obtain a waiver for his private license. McClung is a one armed pilot, who already has more than 50 hours.

Among those persons flying during the past week were Garland Sanders, Wayne Burns, John Jones, Pete Fluglaar, V. E. Best, Wendell Stacy, David Warren, Ed Pearson, Vernon Smith, Mrs. Frank Hughes, L. W. Remshaw and R. T. McClung.

Kennedy, Pounding Hard At Nixon, Ranges N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, pounding hard at his Republican opponent and drawing great crowds in areas that went to the GOP in 1952 and 1956, ranges upstate New York for votes again today.

The Democratic presidential candidate lined up another punishing day and evening of campaigning after jamming big auditoriums Wednesday night in Rochester and Buffalo.

He arrived in Albany after midnight, was greeted by thousands, and made his 13th speech of a long day.

In Buffalo and Rochester he fired a barrage of criticism at the Eisenhower administration generally and at Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for the White House, specifically.

Today's renewed quest for New York's 45 electoral votes starts with a morning rally at the state Capitol.

Then Kennedy goes off on an 175-mile motorcade to a dozen communities.

The foray will end in Syracuse close to midnight and Kennedy then will fly on to his home at Hyannis Port, Mass., for a day of rest Friday.

In remarks prepared for a rally at Amsterdam, Kennedy said the city was typical of older American communities suffering from "economic hardening of the arteries." He blamed this on Republicans running the executive branch of the government.

"For eight years, the Republicans have turned a deaf ear to the crying need to revitalize these areas," Kennedy declared in saying that President Eisenhower's vetoes of legislation in this field were responsible.

The uproarious receptions Kennedy got in Rochester and Buffalo, both of which Eisenhower carried in 1952 and 1956, surprised even some party workers.

Police estimated about 20,000 persons jammed the area of Kennedy's Rochester hotel.

Additional thousands were along the route from the airport. The 10,000-seat War Memorial Auditorium, the din was deafening as Kennedy came on the scene. That hall seats 15,000 and its manager, Thomas Timlin, figured that somehow almost 21,000 had squeezed in. Timlin called it the biggest crowd ever to assemble in the auditorium.

In his Buffalo speech, Kennedy accepted a Nixon challenge that he (Kennedy) "correct" his campaign statement that "17 million people go to bed every night hungry in the United States."

Nixon, Kennedy noted, had asserted that his Democratic rival should put out a correction while Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev still was in this country.

"I am going to speak up while Khrushchev is in this country," Kennedy declared to wild applause. The senator then revised his original statement somewhat, saying the 17 million "may not go to bed hungry every night, but they don't go to bed very well fed."

Sgt. Phillips Signs For Three

T. Sgt. Rudolph Phillips, dietician at the Webb AFB Hospital, has re-enlisted for three years in the U. S. Air Force. He will be eligible for retirement at the end of his current enlistment.

On active duty since January, 1942, the sergeant has spent most of his military career in food service. Assigned to the 901st Air Base Infantry Security Battalion in the South Pacific, he operated combat field kitchens on several islands from January, 1943 until February, 1944, when he was evacuated from a hospital in the New Hebrides — due to a tropical infection.

Sgt. Phillips served in Japan and in Korea from 1949 to 1952, and was stationed in Bermuda, 1953-57. He arrived at Webb in October, 1957.

Sgt. Phillips is a native of Chattanooga, Tenn.

DEAR ABBY

DO IT YOURSELF

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just received a letter from my sister telling me her son is marrying a high-class girl in November and a formal wedding invitation will follow. We have a brother, Charlie, who lives on a farm. Charlie's wife works the soil and runs the tractor like a man. She is a good woman, but she doesn't go to beauty parlors and keep herself up like some women who have more time. My sister said she was counting on me to see to it that Charlie gets a haircut for the wedding and his wife washes herself up real good and dresses right. I am no good at getting so personal with people. How can I handle this?

DEAR ABBY: My daughter went to a dance with a girl friend, but they didn't come home together. They each met a boy at the dance and hooked rides home that way. My daughter got home at 1:30 a.m., as she said she would. Her girl friend got home at 5:30 a.m. She lied to her mother and said she was with my daughter all that time. Should I tell the girl's mother? My daughter is 19 and her girl friend is 18.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from the mother who was tired of picking up after her 18-year-old daughter who kept her room a mess. You told her to quit nagging the girl about it, to close the door to her bedroom and let her waste around in the mess until it became so hopelessly inconvenient that the girl would decide to clean it up herself. Having the identical problem myself, I followed your advice. Abby, I could kiss you! After living in complete disorder for six weeks, my daughter "lost" two shoes (unrelated), four belts, three sweaters, a book and her good evening purse. I went into my room and laughed until I cried because she spent all day Saturday cleaning up her room. Thanks a million. GRATEFUL MOTHER

Having the identical problem myself, I followed your advice. Abby, I could kiss you! After living in complete disorder for six weeks, my daughter "lost" two shoes (unrelated), four belts, three sweaters, a book and her good evening purse. I went into my room and laughed until I cried because she spent all day Saturday cleaning up her room. Thanks a million. GRATEFUL MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from the mother who was tired of picking up after her 18-year-old daughter who kept her room a mess. You told her to quit nagging the girl about it, to close the door to her bedroom and let her waste around in the mess until it became so hopelessly inconvenient that the girl would decide to clean it up herself. Col. Mobutu's Regime Called Legal Rulers

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Republic of Congo at this stage is the dream that didn't come true.

Three months of independence have brought 14 million Congolese only bloodshed, misery and aching frustration.

Black men sit in the fine mansions of the old white rulers but they do not rule. Rifles and machineguns in the hands of Congolese soldiers and United Nations troops are the scepters of power and order.

The republic, born so solemnly June 30, has never known anything but dictatorship—first by Moscow-supported Premier Patrice Lumumba, and more recently by Col. Joseph Mobutu whose nature is idealistic but rarely practical.

Arbitrary rule by the colonialist Belgians has been replaced by the arbitrary rule and decrees of the black man. There are more empty stomachs and more unemployed.

Lumumba's military adventures against political opponents, together with ancient tribal conflicts, have uprooted thousands of Congolese. There are 250,000 refugees in the Bakwanga region of Kasai province alone.

The Soviets with their planes and trucks helped to move the Congolese army to remote parts of the country. Incredible confusion was created.

With both President Joseph Kasavubu and Lumumba claiming ultimate power, there is no government. Normal channels of commerce have been disrupted. Food staples have run short in rural areas. The United Nations is doing its best with its planes and a creaking internal transportation system. Tons and tons of dried skim milk were contributed by the United States. But Congolese children do not like the taste. The United Nations invented a Soviet-American cocktail, 40 parts American milk to 12 parts Soviet sugar.

Prices up The prices of food and other consumer goods creep up. The Congolese franc has lost a fifth its value.

The nation's income from exports has plummeted. To get the economy moving, credit is needed, but there is no credit for a country which cannot pay its bills.

A sad and tragic truth is coming home. Jobs, except for the chosen elite of the new republic, were made by the white man. His railroads, ships, mines, factories, stores and homes provided the jobs that kept the Congolese in the cities alive.

When Lumumba began preaching his hate of white oppressors, and particularly those he called the Belgian imperialists, he drove out the hands that fed the nation.

Leopoldville is a city of contradictions. One must hate the Belgians or he is not in tune with the future. But each day a wizened Congolese appears at the imposing sta-

Honeymoon For Jailbirds

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Nancy L. Arendt, 20, and Clyde L. Long, 38, probably will spend their honeymoon in the place where they met—Pulaski County Jail.

Their romance blossomed in cells eight feet apart, with only limited communication through a wall separating the men's and women's sections.

Most of the courtship was through the jail's "grapevine" with fleeting glimpses in hallways, head jailer Joe Borghett said. He took them to apply for the marriage license Wednesday and they expect to be married next Tuesday.

Long, a parole violator, has 10 months to serve, plus a one-year sentence on a grand larceny charge. Miss Arendt, an expectant mother, is scheduled for a hearing Oct. 10 on an overdraft check charge.

Circuit Court Judge William J. Kirby said, however, he might suspend the sentences of both prisoners "as a wedding present."

Ike To Speak Via TV To GOP Fund-Raisers

CHICAGO (AP)—President Eisenhower returns to the 1960 presidential campaign limelight tonight for the first time since the Republican National Convention here in July.

Eisenhower will speak via closed-circuit television to GOP fund-raising dinners in 36 cities. Vice President Richard M. Nixon, making his White House bid in the East, will join the speaking from Boston.

The Republican National Committee estimates 40,000 to 50,000 of the party faithful will shell out nearly $2 million for tonight's dinners.

They also will hear: Henry Cabot Lodge, GOP vice-presidential candidate, from Los Angeles; New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, from New York City; Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, from Houston, and Republican National Chairman Thruston Morton, from Philadelphia.

The live broadcast portion of the closed-circuit program will begin at 9 p.m. EST. In Oregon and Washington state it will be broadcast via video tape at 10:30 p.m. EST.

Dinner rallies in 24 states and the District of Columbia will be tuned in. For the first time in these Republican electronic get-togethers, six Southern cities will be included.

Eisenhower will speak from the grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel. He and Nixon have been allotted eight minutes of the TV time. Lodge ranks next with six minutes.

At 8:40 p.m. EST Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois will introduce the President to 2,000 persons who will pay $15 each into the United Republican Fund for the privilege of watching him broadcast.

The President will begin his address to the other rallies—some of them $100-a-plate affairs—at 9:25 p.m. EST.

Eisenhower will stay overnight in Chicago and will address a convention of the Polish American Congress Friday morning before returning to Washington.

Every Citizen In Illinois Town Becomes A Ford User

FLORA, Ill. — Some 6,000 people in this southern Illinois city have enjoyed a complete town-wide transformation this week.

Their city has been "Ford Town," through a distinctive promotion of Ford Motor Co., which delivered new 1961 models to every vehicle owner in the town for use for a week.

Keys to more than 1,500 Ford cars and trucks were delivered to Flora citizens. So, in Flora, it has been just about impossible to do anything but watch the Fords go by. They were all the more distinctive because all the Ford, Falcons and Thunderbirds distributed here are white, all the 200 trucks brought into the city are blue.

The creation of "Ford Town" was accompanied by a mass immigration of news media representatives from all over the country. They have come by special plane and by private train. In addition to serving as a national press preview of the 1961 models, the gigantic project is providing Ford Motor Co. with an unprecedented pre-introduction consumer evaluation of its new models by typical users.

With city-wide cooperation, the new Fords have been not only in every driveway, but have been in use by business firms and stores. The replacement of vehicles by Ford has included taxis, police cars, school buses and the city's garbage truck and fire engine.

The "Ford Town" promotion has been in the making since May. Flora, did a lot of civic work

Terminal Man Asks Service WASHINGTON (AP)—The director of aviation for the Midland, Tex., air terminal Wednesday told the Civil Aeronautics Board that its decision in the Southern transportation case would either speed or retard development of the Permian Basin in Texas.

In urging that Midland and Odessa be given direct air transportation to the Southeast and the West Coast, Eric A. Taylor said the development of the area would depend on the quality and adequacy of air transportation that is provided.

Taylor told the board that Midland ranks fifth in the nation as a major oil center. Odessa is the largest oil well supply center in the world, and that the area is becoming a major chemical center.

All of this, he said, adds up to a compelling need to increase transportation services. Taylor said that Midland has built a modern air terminal, is rebuilding two runways and making other improvements for the jet age.

Lodge Gets W. Texas Welcome At Terminal

MIDLAND (SC)—Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican nominee for vice president, got a big West Texas welcome Wednesday afternoon, at a 30-minute stop at the Midland-Odessa airport.

A crowd estimated by newspaper observers at 3,500—including several Big Springers—greeted the former U.N. delegate warmly, and cheered almost his every phrase.

He was told by Midland County Republican Chairman Payton Anderson who presided at the rally that "this is the most Republican district in Texas."

Payton introduced Republican candidates for state offices who were on hand to give evidence of party strength: John Tower, for the U.S. Senate; Gordon Treadway of Lubbock, for attorney general; Jim Leonard of Pecos, for state senate; and Ford Chapman of Pecos, for state representative.

Mrs. Lodge also was on the platform with her husband, and was the recipient of a massive bouquet. She acknowledged cheers with a wave and a smile.

Lodge hammered at the GOP theme of experience in office, and cited Richard Nixon's government career. He referred to his own work in the U.N., and used this as a take-off point for blasting at the dangers of Communism.

He referred to rising Republican strength in Texas and said the growth of a two-party system is a good thing for the state. He also voiced the wish that the presidential electoral system could be changed so that minority votes in the several states could have some weight in the final selection of a president. Lodge was devoted to the U.N. and its position in combating the Russians. "Nobody is going to take over the U.S. and nobody is going to take over the world. The reason is that the U.S. and the U.N. are not going to let them."

CHEERED Lodge was cheered repeatedly. He had difficulty in getting himself heard. When he first started to talk, the public address system went out. It was repaired, then a turbo-jet airliner started up a mighty whine during the course of his talk. But he stayed happy, and so, apparently, did most of the crowd.

The candidate was on a chartered Constellation. He and his party came in from San Antonio, went on to El Paso.

Emphasis of the program is on boys and girls taking leadership roles and considers areas such as induction service, worship service, group leadership activities in swimming, gymnastics and other activities.

Several pro football stars will be present for inspirational talks, and the group will see the Dallas Cowboys and Pittsburgh Eagles play Friday night.

Attending from here are Chester Smith, Billy Mesker, Joe Graves, Wayne Beddoe, Wiley Woodard, Neil Robinson, Dick Ebling, Tim Smith, Terry Smith, Cliff Cook, Bill Schwarzenbach, Mike Irons, Coy Mitchell, Jake Glickman, a Butch Vaughn, Floydene Moss, Michi Lynn Lawson, Linda Fields, Alice Coker, Margaret Gary, Karen Kee, Sharon Smith, Sara Beth Hoaman, Ronnie Ward and Elaine Sanders.

Bridge Class Starts Friday An eight week intermediate bridge class starts Friday, 8 p.m. in the YMCA under the instruction of Mrs. Elmo Wasson and registration is open in five other adult education classes which begin next week.

The classes include beginning bridge, mosaics, art, holiday decorating and a course on the life of Christ.

Complete information on the time, length and fees of the courses may be obtained by calling the YMCA.

Services Slated For Richard Doty Richard S. Doty, associate secretary of the Southwest Area Council of YMCAs died Tuesday in a Dallas hospital following a heart attack.

He was to lie in state at Coy Memorial Chapel, Highland Park Methodist Church, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. today. Services and interment will be held in Saginaw, Mich.

Mr. Doty is survived by his wife, Charlotte, and two children, Carolyn Doty and Richie Doty. The Doty home is in Dallas.

Private Clubs Hearing Target AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Liquor Control Board today ordered an Oct. 24 hearing on proposed new rules governing the serving of liquor in private clubs.

The proposed rules include an annual licensing act. A spokesman at the Liquor Control Board, who refused to be quoted by name, said the changes were proposed after wholesale protests from all parts of the state over "fly-by-night" private clubs that are nothing but open saloons.

The spokesman estimated there may be as many as 5,000 so-called private clubs operating in the state now.

Hi-Y District Officers Meet Seven officers of the West Texas District Hi-Y will meet here Saturday to plan future activities.

Everett Taylor, local YMCA youth secretary, said the conference would be held at Lake J. B. Thomas for the seven officers. Emmett Kent Morgan is president.

On the agenda will be discussion of objectives for the year, promoting Hi-Y activities, determining quotas for conferences, setting up the Hi-Y council spring conference, and determining discussion groups for the spring conference.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

Steers One Of 18 4A Teams Still Unbeaten

By The Associated Press
Intersectional and inter-class games feature the Texas school football schedule this week although conference play will be under way in almost a fourth of the state's districts.

rated teams of Class AAAA, meets fellow class member Fort Worth Arlington Heights in a battle of the undefeated and untied in the AAAA division.

Class AAA finds Phillips visiting AA Perryton but the big feature will be the collision of Killgore, rated No. 1 in the division, and Huntville. Both games are between undefeated, untied teams.

Chances are that a half-dozen will take the plunge this week. In addition to the games sending unbeaten, untied teams against each other El Paso Astoria will be playing powerful Odessa, Big Spring will be tackling Sweetwater, one of the mighties of AAA; Waco will take on Corpus Christi Miller, a most dangerous foe, and other teams with perfect marks could whittle the list.

Ted's Last Performance Bordered On Uncanny

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams has made an early exit from a brilliant playing career on the wings of his 52ist home run and a bolsterous goody.

Park appearance in the eighth inning. The 10,000-plus customers stood for a minute and half in demonstration.

"I'm convinced I've quit at the right time," Williams said. "There's nothing more I can do."

With that one last swish of the bat, Williams released himself from 22 years of major league competition, the pent up emotion of those who came to say farewell and all but erased from newprint the end of Jackie Jensen's retirement.

It was the triumphant moment which had been Williams' final goal.

As he had done for more than two decades, Williams dug a hole in the batter's box with his right foot, steadily swung his bat—and got a count of one and one.

For three minutes after the homer, the crowd stood shouting: "We want Ted."

Class AAA has 24 undefeated, untied teams but only a few run risk of losing this week. Jacksonville might find Corsicana hard to handle, however, and Conroe could tumble before Bryan.

Paid tribute before the game and greeted by volley after volley of cheers during it, Williams came to bat for his final Fenway game.

The Red Sox immediately announced the retirement of the uniform number 9 Ted wore, killing the last faint bit of speculation Williams might pinch hit after serving as team batting instructor at spring camp next year.

Signing off with a 345-lifetime batting average in an interrupted career, Williams finished third in the home run derby behind Babe Ruth (714) and Jimmy Foxx (534).

Olney, the acknowledged kingpin of Class AA, doesn't appear in much danger, playing Iowa Park.

BOSTON (AP) — Here's how Ted Williams, who ended his American League career Wednesday after 19 seasons with the Boston Red Sox, ranks on the all-time major league records:
Home runs — third, 521.
Runs batted in — sixth, 1,839.
Batting average — tenth, .344, tied with Tris Speaker and Billy Hamilton.
Hits — 30th, 2,854, tie with Lave Cross.
Long hits (doubles, triples, home runs) — sixth, 1,117, tie with Jimmy Foxx.
Extra bases on long hits — fifth, 2,230.
Total bases — eighth, 4,884.
Doubles — 14th, 525.
Runs scored — eighth, 1,798.
Bases loaded home runs — second, 17, tie with Foxx.
Games played — 26th, 2,292.
Williams had 7,706 at bats and hit 71 triples. Neither total is within the top 30.

Bicycle Built For Two

Don Bohannon, standing, local distributor for Falstaff beer, was all smiles when presented with a bicycle built for two. Bohannon was winner of Falstaff's second quarter contest and showed the largest percentage of increase of Falstaff sales in the state during the period. Bringing the bike to Big Spring for the presentation were Dana Kestenbaum, right, distributor from Cameron, and his territory manager, Harold White, also of Cameron.

Claims Easterners Are Red Apologists

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Residents of the eastern United States are rapidly becoming apologists to the Communists, Robert C. Hill, the U. S. ambassador to Mexico, says.

Hill, accepting an honorary degree of doctor of humane letters from the University of Dallas, threw away a prepared speech Wednesday and lashed out at "those Americans who have become ashamed of their past and afraid of the present."

Hill neither called names nor cited instances.

"But here in the Southwest there are still people who believe in the Bill of Rights and the Constitution," he said.

The ambassador said the United States is not in jeopardy "for there are still states that are proud of the Republic. They will drive the fuzzy-headed thinkers from positions of power." He did not elaborate.

Hill told the Founders Day ceremony he was glad to be in Dallas "and out of New York so I wouldn't have to witness any more of the nauseating extravaganza of (Soviet Premier Nikita) Khrushchev and his fellow gangsters parading around the United Nations and New York City."

"It was sickening to see him (Khrushchev) performing. But his antics should awaken the American people to the dangers that lie ahead, to the fact that Khrushchev and the other gangsters are here for propaganda purposes only," he continued.

He expressed the desire that Khrushchev's "show" would awaken the world's neutral nations and newly created states to the threat of communism.

Others who received degrees of doctor of humane letters were Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gen. Patrick J. Hurley.

Fatally Injured

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Eight-year-old Spencer Hayes, of nearby Vidor, was fatally injured Wednesday as he waited for a school bus. The boy was waiting on the side of the highway for the bus when he decided to cross the road, investigators said.

Nixon Takes Campaign To Rival's Area

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon—cheered by big receptions in New York's Nassau and Suffolk counties—carried his campaign today into his opponent's New England home territory.

Speeches in Burlington, Vt., and in Manchester, N.H., were to precede a major address tonight at a $100-a-plate Republican fundraising dinner in Boston, seat of the political power of Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Nixon's Boston speech, like one from Chicago by President Eisenhower, will be carried by closed-circuit television to party fund-raising banquets across the country.

Sparse crowds welcomed Nixon in the New York City Borough of Queens Wednesday in his quest for New York's big block of 45 electoral votes, but in Nassau and Suffolk counties on Long Island it was a different story.

The day was climaxed at Com-mack by one of the biggest, noisiest receptions of his campaign.

PARTISANS CHEER
Upwards of 9,000 screaming, yelling partisans whooped it up for Nixon in the Long Island Arena, while more than 3,000 vainly sought admission.

An ovation that lasted 6 1/2 minutes followed the introduction of Nixon and his wife Pat.

He had told his audiences in Queens that he intends to campaign New York "as it has never been campaigned before."

To the enthusiasts in the Arena, he said, "It isn't the last time I'm coming to Suffolk County."

He added that he expects a tremendous majority in Suffolk to "help carry New York State."

"This is like the Republican National Convention," he enthused. "You've really outdone them."

Then he launched into a speech in which he said he hopes to provide the country with leadership "that will keep the peace without surrender."

BEST METHODS
Good jobs, better pay, housing, medical care and other things are important, he said, and he said Republican policies offer the best methods to provide them.

But, he said, they won't mean anything "unless you are around to enjoy them."

Nixon said that if elected he would keep the United States "stronger militarily and economically" than the Soviet Union.

He said the country must have leaders—like him and Henry Cabot Lodge, his vice-presidential running mate—who "knew the man Khrushchev" and understand how he operates.

Nixon pursued that line, too, before a crowd of several thousand which jammed the Mid-Island Shopping Plaza in Nassau, another normally Republican county.

Thin crowds met the nominee at Long Island City, Rego Park and Jamaica, all in the Borough of Queens which normally has proved an important factor in New York elections. They ranged from several hundred to about 1,000.

There were more at Forest Hills, Queens, where Nixon unveiled a seven-point housing and urban renewal program before an enthusiastic group of Republican women.

Yates Speaks

John P. Yates, counselor of the Big Spring school district, spoke to members of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron at their September Commander's Call on "safety habits while driving in the vicinity of our school children." His talk was in conjunction with Air Defense Command's Life Saving Campaign now in progress. The 331st FIS at Webb, is well along in the Life Saving Campaign, and results can already be seen overall. The first prizes will be awarded Oct. 1.

Cable Sliced

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—Telephone service and radio and television network programs were disrupted for a time in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Wednesday when a cable was cut by a ditching machine in Kingsville, telephone company officials said.

Largest Enrollment

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP)—Austin College's largest enrollment in its 111-year history, 932 students, was announced Wednesday by the college registrar J. Forrest Bryant. The previous record attendance of 897 was set last fall.

Shivers Invites Disgruntled Texans To Join Nixon Ticket

DALLAS (AP)—Former Gov. Allan Shivers Wednesday night invited Texas Democrats who don't like the party's candidates and platform to join his "Democrats for Nixon and Lodge" organization.

It marked the third straight presidential campaign in which Shivers has bolted the Democratic party to support the national Republican ticket.

Shivers leveled most of his attack at the Democratic national platform when he addressed a crowd of 300 persons at a dinner here last night. His address was carried over 27 Texas TV stations.

"The Democratic platform of 1960 advocates and promises socialistic measures that socialist Norman Thomas never dreamed of," he said.

He also lashed Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, and fellow Texan, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the vice-presidential candidate.

Shivers said that he had no desire to renew his political feud with Johnson and said he was throwing his support to Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican standard bearers, in spite of and not because of Johnson's presence on the Democratic ticket.

Johnson is a creature of the party, a captive of the liberal wing, a participant—willing or not—on a cynical calculating attempt to throw the cloak of Southern conservatism over the naked liberalism of John Fitzgerald Kennedy," he said.

Shivers told the cheering partisans that the Democratic platform could not be ignored and that they should not be reassured by the statement "don't worry about the platform; Lyndon and Mr. Sam (Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House) will take care of us."

"Now, I have a great deal of respect for—and some personal experience with—the way Senator Johnson and Mr. Rayburn can 'take care of things.' But let me remind you that they did not 'take care of things' at Los Angeles—not even themselves," he said.

"In summarizing the experience of Texas conservative Democrats in this year 1960: rigged in June—fixed in July—gagged in September—thank God for November," he said.

Shivers urged listeners to "let me hear from you" by writing him in Austin as volunteers for "Democrats for Nixon and Lodge."

"I consider myself a Democrat. I want to remain a Democrat. But if the time comes when I must choose between the Democratic party and the best interest of Texas—I'll take Texas," he said.

Referring to the Los Angeles convention, Shivers said Harry Truman "said it was rigged. Lyndon Johnson said it was fixed. Mrs. Roosevelt said it was terrible. Everyone except the Kennedy clan that was running the show seemed to think there was something wrong with it."

"And then, in utter amazement, I saw the senator from Texas—two days after he had denounced John Kennedy and his family and his platform and his tactics—I say, I was amazed to see Lyndon Johnson embrace John Kennedy and say: 'This is a great leader I can follow...and a platform I can accept with enthusiasm.'"

Shivers said he had no desire to renew his political feud with Johnson and said he was throwing his support to Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican standard bearers, in spite of and not because of Johnson's presence on the Democratic ticket.

Johnson is a creature of the party, a captive of the liberal wing, a participant—willing or not—on a cynical calculating attempt to throw the cloak of Southern conservatism over the naked liberalism of John Fitzgerald Kennedy," he said.

Shivers told the cheering partisans that the Democratic platform

Availability Key To Successful Feeding

By BRUCE FRAZIER
For any mature tree that seems to be unthriving, I would suggest treating it with plant food in small concentrated feedings spaced over the entire root area.

To do this, make a hole with an iron bar or a pick and place two or three tablespoons of chemical fertilizer in each hole. Ten to 20 such feeding spots should help the tree get what it needs. Of course, watering the tree after the feeding is very important.

The plant food is available only in solution, so frequent applications of water is part of the treatment. If the tree is important to your landscape it would be wise to get a tree expert to attend to it every few years. Pruning, bracing, feeding, and repair work such as bridge grafting or tree surgery can prolong the lives of trees for years, but this work should be done by a trained person.

A dendrologist or tree surgeon may cost a little more to hire than a handy man, but his services are the only satisfactory ones where the health of a tree is important to the owner.

Once in Bryan, a real estate appraiser said a certain oak tree added $5,000 to the general value of a piece of property. Another place in that same town is called "The Oaks," and each tree is valuable enough to warrant insuring its health and safety in any way possible. Such trees are worth the care of specialists.

Mrs. Virgil Smith of Chanute, Kan., writes in a recent article in the paper you mentioned a product called Vita-Spikes to be used in supplying trace elements in trees or soil—would you please tell me where I could obtain some of these spikes? I have a giant old elm tree with thinning foliage and a sick look and would like to try this gadget on it.

Charlie Staggs in Big Spring gave me six spikes as a sample, and the address of the company making them is 8624 Guadalupe in Fort Worth. You may be able to get them through your seed dealer or local nurseryman, but since they are rather new, they may not stock them yet.

If you have a garden question, write to Bruce Frazier in care of The Herald.

MRS. PETE COOK serves delicious orange roll.

Cook Family Growing Calm With Cool Weather

Things are growing quiet around the Pete Cook home with the coolness of the days, since their main hobby is water skiing; it has become a bit too chilly for that. Something else that has calmed things down a bit is the fact that two lively children are back in school. Cliff, who is almost 10 and Cynthia, who is six-and-a-half, started off with a bang at College Heights Elementary.

Mrs. Cook stays busy with her volunteer services at the Y, working with the crippled children, and serving as leader to a group of Goidad eighth grade Tri-Hi-Y girls. She also takes an active part in the 1961 Hyperion Club where she serves as vice president and the Xi Delta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Pete is a native of Big Spring but Annabelle lists her home as Fort Worth. She met Pete while in college at Texas Tech.

Annabelle says she especially likes to cook and you might see why with the lovely pink kitchen she has to work in.

Annabelle sends along a very good, as well as interesting recipe for a Tamales pie.

This is an original recipe from a family in Mexico City that they knew in college. When they visited the family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim D'Acosta, they were served this tamales pie and Annabelle acquired the recipe. She serves it with tossed salad and French bread.

TAMALE PIE
 24 tamales (real, not canned)
 1 whole chicken, boned and cut-up
 1 cup olives
 1 cup corn
 1 cup tomatoes

1 cup grated cheese
 1 tsp. olive oil
 1 tsp. sugar
 1 cup chili sauce
 Combine all ingredients and mix well. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake for about one hour in slow oven (about 400 degrees).

ORANGE ROLL
 3 eggs
 1 cup sugar
 1-3 cup orange juice
 1 cup cake flour
 1/4 tsp. baking powder
 1/4 tsp. salt

Beat eggs until lemon colored. Add sugar gradually, and beat until thick. Add orange juice and mix. Fold in sifted dry ingredients. Pour in wax paper lined pan (10x15). Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes. Turn out immediately on a clean cloth covered with powdered sugar. Cool; spread with filling and roll up in a towel.

ORANGE ROLL FILLING
 1/4 cup orange juice
 1 egg yolk
 Salt
 1/4 cup sugar
 3 tbsp. corn starch
 2 tsp. butter

Put in 1 cup juice in double boiler. Beat yolk and add 1/4 cup juice, corn starch and sugar and stir until blended. Add to hot juice and cook until thick. Add butter and salt; cool and spread on cake.

HAWAIIAN SALAD
 1 cup green grapes
 1 can mandarin oranges
 1 tall can pineapple tid-bits
 1/4 can coconut
 1 carton sour cream
 1 cup marshmallows

Drain juices from the fruit. Combine and let stand in refrigerator overnight.

Low Calorie Cottage Cheese Is Favorite

Cottage cheese or smearcase is the most widely known and simplest of cheeses the homemaker buys. And its popularity is becoming even greater as weight-watchers have learned that this delicately flavored, creamy cheese is made of skim milk. It's doubtful, however, if cottage cheese's number of calories was considered by homemakers of many generations ago. In fact, it may have been made from whole rather than skim milk. What the Bible refers to as butter is thought to have been simply curdled milk or cottage cheese.

Not too many years ago the farm wife made her own cottage cheese from soured milk merely by letting it stand at room temperature for several hours.

Today, of course, much more highly refined, sanitary methods are used in making the cottage cheese. Some are made in the store or have delivered by their dairymen.

Pasteurized skim milk is used. A lactic acid starter is added and the temperature maintained during the curdling period is constant. The whey is drawn off the curd which is formed. This curd is heated again and finally salted.

In many of the better grades of cottage cheese, fresh cream is mixed with cheese, creating the highly palatable product with which we are now familiar.

Today's cottage cheese is an extremely nourishing, healthful food. It contains considerable amounts of essential protein and calcium.

Because of its soft, easily digested curd, it is a favorite for children and for adults on special diets, as well as among persons who simply enjoy its bland, delicate flavor.

Adds Flavor
 Currant jelly added to red cabbage that is being cooked not only gives delectable flavor but adds good color.

Here's Old-Fashioned Recipe For Sweet Buns

Nearly 200 years ago, spicy sweet raised buns were making frequent appearances on family and festive tables in Virginia. Today the same buns still rank as a favorite—not only in Virginia, however. Visitors to historic Williamsburg have taken the recipe back home with them; and now Williamsburg Buns are known and enjoyed in every section of the country.

The modern homemaker will find the recipe easier to make than did her colonial counterpart. Today's version is a batter bread, requiring no kneading and no shaping by hand.

For early morning breakfast, the buns may be baked, cooled and wrapped in foil the day before; then heated in the same foil wrap for 15 to 20 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven.

WILLIAMSBURG BUNS
 1/2 cup milk

1/4 cup soft shortening
 1/4 cup sugar
 1 tsp. salt
 1 egg, beaten
 1 pkg. or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
 1/4 cup warm, not hot, water
 3/4 to 4 cups sifted enriched flour
 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
 1/4 tsp. mace

Scald milk. Add shortening, sugar, salt; cool to lukewarm. Add egg. Sprinkle or crumble yeast into water (warm for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed). Add to milk mixture. Add half the flour; beat until well mixed. Stir in enough more flour to make thick batter; add spices, beat well. Lightly brush top of batter with melted margarine. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Then beat well; turn into greased muffin pans, filling them 2-3 full. Let rise in warm place until dough rounds slightly above tops of cups. Bake at 400 degrees F. 15 minutes, or until done. Makes 1 dozen.

CINNAMON PUFFS
 Remove hot buns from pans; roll in 1/4 cup melted margarine or butter, then in 2-3 cup sugar combined with 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Gold Glassware
 Use a mild soap on gold decorated glassware since strong soap may remove the gold.

Avocados Vary

Avocados vary in color—from a bright green to a greenish black; they may weigh as little as 5 ounces or as much as 2 pounds.

Upholstery Nails

Place a wooden spool over the head of an upholstery nail and hammer the spool. This protects the nail head.

Orange Salad

Here is a new idea for an orange salad.

ORANGE SALAD
 2 medium-sized oranges
 2 cups bite-sized pieces romaine (pack down lightly)
 1/4 cup paper-thin red onion rings
 Salad dressing (made from a dry mix designed for Caesar salad, flavored with cheese and garlic)

Pare oranges so no white membrane remains; cut sections away from dividing membranes. Cut each section in half crosswise. Arrange over romaine in salad bowl. Add onion rings.

Cover and chill until serving time; then toss with a little of the salad dressing, adding it sparingly because it is strong. Makes 2 servings. If rings are cut from a large onion, halve or quarter them.

Fresh Mushrooms

Ever try slicing fresh mushrooms and adding them to a green salad?

Better Breakfasts Are Prepared With Foil

With a better breakfast, the new "you" will emerge. Get yourself out of the orange juice, toast and coffee rut, and on the healthful road to breakfast variety.

The old standby excuse—"no time for a big breakfast"—no longer holds true. With the help of the handyman of the American kitchen—aluminum foil—it is now possible to keep foods fresh and tasty, even though they are prepared the day before serving.

A breakfast menu can be prepared the night before, sealed in foil to preserve the food's natural flavors and juices, and stored overnight in the refrigerator. You can do the preparation just ahead of the supper dishes if you like, then clean up all china and utensils.

Just a bit of advance effort the day before, produces a royal feast in the morning. All you have to do is take the food from the refrigerator and place it in a heated oven. While the coffee is dripping and the food is heating, you can be dressing for the day.

And—it is well worth the bit of effort it takes. For the foods you eat for your morning meal—fruits, eggs, cereals, milk—put a brighter light in your eye, clear your skin, give a new sheen to your hair, improve your mental outlook, and give you a brand new vitality.

There's no better time than now to start. It's September. It's Better Breakfast Month. Give it a 30-day trial. By next month at this time, see if you don't feel younger, happier, and more relaxed. You will realize that the half hour's sleep you get while your breakfast time melts away doesn't mean half so much.

Here are some samples of what's possible:

Broiled Grapefruit
 French Toast Canadian Bacon Coffee Tea Milk

This may sound like an hour's work to you, but it can all be done in 15 minutes.

Broiled Grapefruit
 Grapefruit halves
 Honey
 Butter

1. Core, cut around sections of each grapefruit half.
 2. Spread each half with 1 tablespoon honey.
 3. Place 2 or 3 dots butter on each half.

4. Place each half in center of a square of foil; bring up sides; press together over grapefruit.
 5. Place in refrigerator overnight.

French Toast
 2 eggs
 1 cup milk
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 9 slices day-old bread

1. Combine eggs, milk, salt, sugar; beat.
 2. Add flour; beat until smooth.
 3. Cut bread slices in half diagonally. Trim off crusts if desired.

4. Dip each piece of bread into mixture, allowing excess to drain.
 5. Fry a few pieces at a time in deep, hot fat 375 degrees F., about 2 minutes or until golden brown.

6. Drain on absorbent paper.
 7. Sprinkle each piece liberally on both sides with a mixture of confectioner's sugar and cinnamon.

8. Yield: Six servings.

Salad-Sandwich Duo
 Makes Good Lunch

Here's a salad sandwich combination the girls will like.

SALAD-SANDWICH COMBINATION
 1 cup grated cheddar cheese
 1/4 cup mayonnaise
 8 slices bread
 Soft butter

1 quart salad greens
 1-3 cups seedless grapes
 French dressing
 Salt

Mix together the grated cheese and mayonnaise. Make four sandwiches, using the cheese mixture as filling between the bread slices. Spread outside of sandwiches with soft butter.

Just before serving, toast sandwiches on both sides under broiler. Mix greens and grapes with dressing and salt to taste. Serve sandwiches with salad. Makes 4 servings.

Sour Cream Substitute May Be Used

A delicious way to use sour-cream substitute.

HERRING WITH ERSATZ SOUR CREAM
 1-3 cup buttermilk
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 1 container (8 oz.) creamstyle cottage cheese, small or large curd

Salt
 1 jar (about 8 oz.) marinated herring fillets
 Salad greens
 Pimiento strips or green pepper

Turn buttermilk, lemon juice and cottage cheese into the container of an electric blender. Blend until smooth—about 1 minute; scrape down sides; blend again until smooth.

Turn into a pint jar. With a fork remove herring fillets and onion rings from marinade; dry fish and onion on a paper towel; discard marinade.

Cut fish and onion into smaller pieces; turn into cottage cheese mixture in jar; fold in. Cover tightly and refrigerate. (Creamy mixture will thicken when chilled.)

At serving time, serve mixture on salad greens; garnish with pimiento.

Any of the herring mixture not used may be stored for as long as a week, if tightly covered, in refrigerator.

Main Dish That's Quick To Cook

A main dish that's quick to cook on the range-top.

BEEF WITH BEAN SPROUTS
 1 lb. flank steak
 2 tbsps. cornstarch
 2 tbsps. soy sauce
 1/4 tsp. sugar
 1/4 tsp. sugar
 3 tbsps. peanut oil
 1/4 cup chicken bouillon
 1 can (1 lb.) bean sprouts

Slice steak across grain so pieces are about 1/2-inch thick and 2 inches long. Stir together until smooth the cornstarch, soy sauce and sugar; add beef and coat evenly.

Heat oil in iron skillet (about 10 inches) until very hot; add meat; brown both sides, turning only once, over fairly high heat. Add bouillon, stir constantly until sauce is slightly thickened and glossy.

Drain bean sprouts and add; mix and reheat rapidly. Makes 4 servings.

Keep Meat Moist
 When wrapping hamburgers or chops or steaks for the freezer, brush the meat with Spanish olive oil first. This helps to keep the meat from drying out when it is frozen.

A Devotional For Today

God commandeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. (Romans 5:8.)
PRAYER: O God, let Thy love be shed abroad in our hearts, for we are too weak to help ourselves. Give us faith in Christ who loves us even more than He did His own life in the flesh. In His blessed name we pray.
Amen.

(From The "Upper Room")

Big Lie Versus Big Truth

East Germany has made left-handed threats against Billy Graham, the evangelist, because Dr. Graham pitched his revival tent too close to the Red border. West German authorities were warned to see that the tent was moved on pain that East Germany would not be responsible for the consequences.

Billy Graham, of course, was not perturbed, explaining that he had faced tougher situations than this before, and that it would be impractical if not impossible to move the tent which accommodates 20,000.

He continues to deliver his direct Gospel messages, seeking to relate them to the current needs of young people and adults.

If this makes him an "American agent," an imperialist, or "a representative of Wall Street," then America and Wall Street are on mighty good moral grounds.

The rub, of course, is that Billy Graham stands as a symbol of what is right and decent and what is a Christian attitude for the peoples of different nations and political systems as well as between the people of one nation. Naturally the Godless Communist society will resist this. It is a case of the Big Lie against the Big Truth, and you know which would be the one to complain.

Some Problems Still Remain

The defeat of three bond proposals at the hands of Lamesa voters may or may not have been surprising, but the record turnout for a bond vote was. It is an encouraging sign when citizens take the time to go to vote on any issue.

Evidently the point at issue was not wholly the proposed improvements in water and sewer systems and in street improvements. The focal point of attack was upon the method of financing, a rate increase which would have hiked water by approximately 30 per cent and sewer charges by 50 per cent.

If the impressive margin by which the issues were defeated is a gauge, then there is considerable opposition to rate increases, at least in these amounts. Probably a combination of this opposition together with that against the issues themselves contributed to the decision.

But since there was little or no frontal attack on the program of improvements per se, it may be assumed that these were accepted as needs of the community. If this is the case, they still exist. Hence, Lamesa seems to have given an answer but no immediate solution to the vexing problems which face growing communities.

When The Voters Make Up Their Minds—

WASHINGTON — Now that the first of a series of so-called "great debates" between the two rival candidates for the presidency can be sized up, what is the effect upon the relatively small number of voters who are "undecided"?

For, so far as the "decided" voters are concerned, they have their minds made up to such an extent that in all probability what they have heard thus far confirms their judgment. This is mostly because their decision has already been influenced by issues or prejudices about personalities or other factors in the presidential campaign.

It has often been argued that the "undecided" voters, while in the minority, do hold the balance of power and can swing an election. But what is it that ultimately "decides" them? Is it a liking for the face of a candidate or his manner of speaking or what he says on the stump that appeals to the individual voter? All these factors have their influence, but there is also the fickle voter—the man or woman who shifts from one nominee to the other as something is said, or on television now, as some grimace or expression of the face in answer to a question creates a doubt or a liking.

IN MANY CAMPAIGNS the remark is heard, "He looks like a president to me" or "He just doesn't look like a president." Younger voters tend to be impressionistic and judge by looks. The more mature voters look at things a little more carefully and tend to ask basic questions: "What will the election of a Democrat or a Republican mean to me? What kind of times will we have? Will I keep my job? Will things cost more? Will my son be drafted and have to go to war? Which candidate seems to have more experience and will know how to deal with the Russians?"

Previous canvasses of the electorate tend to show that most voters have decided on the answers to such questions long before the campaign begins. Post-election surveys reveal that things which were often regarded as spectacular issues during a campaign did not really amount to very much in influencing the voting except perhaps in certain localities.

Although October 1 is approaching and the final stretch is likely to be filled with dramatic exchanges of view between the candidates and their lieutenants in the battle for votes, the biggest single issue doesn't seem to have been focused upon thus far as sharply as it probably will be in the closing weeks of the campaign. Fundamentally, it is whether this is the time for a change in administration.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, the candidate for President on the Democratic ticket, is getting a lot less criticism and opposition in Texas from the Coke Stevenson-Towers sympathizers and supporters than in Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

We can understand the bitterness of Coke Stevenson in losing to Sen. Johnson by a narrow squeak in which the defeated candidate and his followers believe there was skulduggery.

We can understand why ex-Gov. Shivers supported Dwight Eisenhower for President against Adlai Stevenson and thereby stamped himself as a Republican for life. But it is difficult to understand why some Texans seem to prefer to send an inexperienced and poorly qualified man to Washington to replace Sen. Johnson in the event that the Nixon-Lodge ticket wins in November.

It appears that the anti-Johnson people are really not interested in qualified candidates as they claim to be, but in getting Lyndon Johnson completely out of Washington. In gaining revenge.

It is doubtful that such a hue and cry would have been raised about a Texan being a candidate for both senator or congressman and for vice president if Bruce Alger, the darling of the Dallas Republicans, were that candidate. There was no such furor when John Nance Garner did with the liberal Mr. Kennedy is rather the same. There would be none should it have been any of the favorites of the so-called "independent Democrats" who are actually Republicans and who should stop hiding behind a false front and declare themselves as Republicans.

Calling Johnson a turncoat because he accepted the vice presidency and teamed ridiculous when you consider that Mr. Nixon crawled into the political tent with Gov. Rockefeller of New York. Ten years ago the New Dealers would have labeled Rockefeller as a radical and shied away from him. The New York governor is every bit as liberal as Mr. Kennedy, if not more so.

And when we talk of "socialistic trends," little effort has been forthcoming from Republicans or even from President Eisenhower to stop spending billions. He and Mr. Nixon favor foreign aid, social security, medical assistance to aged, subsidies, etc. No agencies have been workers and bureaus as ever and the dropped. There are as many government budget gets bigger every year.

Why Is This A Dull Contest?

WASHINGTON (AP)—So far the unfringed 1960 presidential campaign is like a Sunday stroll in the park compared with some blazing campaigns of the recent past, for instance: 1952 and 1956.

Until now Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy have battled each other on a fairly high—and often dull—plane, pretty much free of personal assaults and recriminations.

There are some good reasons for the difference. Issues are less exciting, circumstances are different, and in the past others besides the presidential candidates got mixed up in the contest in a red-hot way.

IN SHEER VOTER excitement today's issues—like teachers' pay, medical care and better defense, which can't be visualized—don't compare with such 1952 spots as McCarthyism, the Korean War, corruption and Reds in government.

Even the 1956 campaign, easier on the blood pressure than 1952, erupted in crashing climax when the Hungarians revolted and President Eisenhower had to interrupt his speech-making to get the British-French-Israeli troops out of Egypt.

That 1952 campaign was a hulu. Before it even began Eisenhower had a knockdown fight with Sen. Robert A. Taft for the nomination. And Adlai E. Stevenson, who didn't want the Democratic bid, had to be drafted to take it.

Events, some of them under and some beyond Eisenhower's control, kept throwing dramatic logs on the fire.

He had a reconciliation with Taft, he backed McCarthy, he banged his old boss, President Truman, and Truman, never a political patsy, banged him back. The campaign sizzled all the way through.

AND THE MAN Eisenhower was to pick as his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, got him into a jam—which Eisenhower had to explain away—by suggesting the Republicans would encourage the Communist satellites to revolt.

In the end—with the most dramatic gesture of all—Eisenhower do enough things for the country and Nixon saying things are pretty dandy.

Customarily the vice-presidential candidates are so overshadowed by the No. 1 men that a year after election most voters probably can't remember who the unsuccessful vice-presidential candidate was.

This year the vice-presidential candidates are running true to form. The Democrats' Sen. Lyndon Johnson is beating the bushes away off on the fringes of Kennedy's campaign trail, almost out of sight.

Nixon's partner, Henry Cabot Lodge, is kicking up a bit of a fuss, getting on TV and getting around, but his greatest publicity came from visits to the borscht belt in the Catskills and bathing beaches on a Sunday.

The dullness lingers although before this 1960 campaign is over Kennedy or Nixon, depending on which one thinks he's losing, may trot out the bare-knuckles technique.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—A total of 368 colleges and universities participated in the American College Testing Program's first year. Jean Paul Mather, ACT president, reports.

More than 125,000 high school students participated. Mather, who came to ACT from the presidency of the University of Massachusetts, hailed the participation as "amazingly rapid confirmation of the needs met by the program." It tests college-bound high school seniors.

ACT, initiated by an agency of the State University of Iowa, is to be incorporated as an independent, non-profit agency.

Around The Rim

Exacting Labor Of Love

Of all avocational pursuits, probably few demand so much of their participants as a "little theatre."

A theatre organization must put forth all the effort to stage its play as a producer on Broadway. The sets must be constructed, rehearsals must be held, and the cast must be coached into a lively, entertaining portrayal of their parts.

The fact that it is only an amateur group, has no bearing in the minds of the audience. A first-rate professional production is expected.

THIS AIM IS many times achieved. Despite the fact that the players and stage hands pursue normal working hours and duties and have only a few hours in the evening to get the play suitable for an audience. Many times this requires that other evening plans must be set aside in order to get the play properly prepared.

Tonight, the Big Spring Civic Theatre opens with "The Warrior's Husband," a comedy. As a case in point, the cast has been at work almost two months in getting the production ready. Due to a shortage of help, the cast built their own sets in the midst of rehearsal.

MANY HOURS HAVE been spent in whipping the play into shape. This includes Sundays and most evenings until midnight. Few of the cast have found time to be at home with their families for any length of time.

Why do they do it? What makes a play production worthy of so much time, effort and personal expense for many of them?

I don't know, except that the play is a challenging art form. The actors get one shot to create a part in a play. They are either successful or not. There is no going back. A painting, a piece of music, a statue or a building can be corrected before the audience hears or sees them.

BUT ONCE A play is presented, that's it. It's good or it isn't. The players remembered all the lines, or they didn't. The actors added something to their parts, or they didn't.

It is a challenge that must hold considerable fascination for members of little theatre groups, as well as their audiences.

Dance Music Is For The Old Folks

Ordinarily, I feel au courant with my world, in tune with the times and kinda frisky.

But I have been feeling decrepit, mighty decrepit, since a chance encounter with Maynard Ferguson, the jazz impresario band leader, and the Benny Goodman (and does this date me!) of the trumpet.

"I HAVE NOTICED recently that college kids are again going to dances to dance," said Mr. Ferguson, who was chief soloist four times last season with the New York Philharmonic, under the baton of Leonard Bernstein.

"But what would they go to dances for except to dance?" asked this puzzled square.

"WHY, THEY GO to listen," said Mr. Ferguson, whose big jazz band is busy a good part of the year on the college prom circuit. Seeing the look of incomprehension on my face, the young man, whose band is the current jazz sensation, tried to explain.

"It's this way," he said. "For some time now college kids have gone to dance chiefly to listen to the band. They stand around and just listen. Ballrooms today really ought to have seats in 'em for the listeners."

"IT'S THE JAZZ music they like," he continued patiently. "On a college engagement we get more requests for jazz concert numbers than for dance music. But I've gotten canny; now I bargain with the kids. I tell 'em I'll play a certain number of jazz concert numbers if they will dance to the ballad-type stuff."

"But when I went to school, we went to dances to dance," I said, still puzzled. "And what about the mamba and the samba?"

"Gee, that's for old people who go to El Morocco," said Mr. Ferguson, landing one in the solar plexus. "Most college types don't dance too well, except in the South, and there they take their shoes off and really enjoy it."

Symbol Of Hope For World Order

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—With the news roaring with hurricane force from every quarter—the political debate, a new upheaval in the Congo, a man in space or not in space—it is a measure of this international civil servant that he should nevertheless still stand well to the center of the crowded stage. From a small neutral country where he had an expert's status and a relatively unimportant position in his government, Dag Hammarskjold has become the symbol of decency and reason and the hope that world order may yet evolve out of revolution and chaos.

HE HAS SAID again, as so often before, that it is not the man who is at issue in this bitter quarrel but the office of Secretary General—the independent, impartial, objective director of the United Nations executive branch. The very fact of his success as an independent, impartial, objective servant of the Security Council has made him the target of the Soviet Union.

Hammarskjold, as he would be the first to acknowledge, could not conceivably resolve the intrigues of East and West in the Congo. Those intrigues, however they may be glossed with the color of good intention, go to the roots of power over the great mineral wealth of Katanga Province and the strategic position that the government finally dominating Central Africa will occupy.

BUT HE COULD, and this is what he has done, deny the use of the U.N. force to either side. He has undertaken to enforce a standstill until the conflict is somehow resolved. It must never be forgotten that he interposed the U.N. force at a moment when bloody civil and tribal warfare was about to spread with wild incitation from the inflammable Patrice Lumumba and with the Belgians recklessly determined to hold actual, if not nominal, control over their wealth in Katanga.

AND THAT tribal-civil war could rapidly have become an international conflict with East and West each stoking the fires with their own military. In this dangerous and difficult endeavor "success" for the U.N. was bound to be qualified. A check-mate would bring the hostility of one certainly and in all probability both of the parties to this subterranean struggle.

During a wartime conference of Allied leaders a question about the Pope and the position of the Vatican came up and Stalin is said to have demanded to know how many divisions the Pope had. It expressed his cynical disregard for everything but sheer force. Hammarskjold has no divisions at his disposal but he has a power and a prestige that are immeasurable.

INFORMED OPINION here is that he will survive the attack directed at him by Premier Khrushchev. There is, of course, an unhappy precedent in the way in which the Communist bloc succeeded in driving out his predecessor, Trygve Lie. They did this by calculatedly undercutting him in every possible way.

But Hammarskjold has more stature and more tenacity than Lie and the lines this time are more clearly drawn. He will not surrender. He has the confidence of most of the Asian and African nations as well as the Western Powers. If he is destroyed it is hardly too much to say that the U.N. itself will have been dealt a crippling blow.

HIS IS FAR FROM an enviable position. He must surely be one of the most lonely of men. His whole life is the U.N. and he gives to it virtually every waking moment of his time. While the present attack is more virulent than most, he has been calumnyed by the extreme right, opposed not so much to Hammarskjold himself as to the Secretary General as a symbol of the effectiveness of the U.N.—by the extreme right here in America. Interestingly enough, it is for this same reason that Moscow has set out to destroy him.

HE HAS DEMONSTRATED in one situation after another that he can be independent, impartial and objective. For the implacable partisans of either-or, black or white, this is in itself a crime and must be made to pay for it.

Of late the Eisenhower Administration has rested heavily on its love for the U.N. But it has stopped short of the really far-reaching support that could move it forward to a new dimension. And while some effort is being made to rally support for Hammarskjold and the office of Secretary General, which the Soviets would wipe out, this is neither very vigorous nor impassioned. Secretary of State Herter is returning to Washington at a time when his influence might be important with foreign ministers and heads of state.

ON THE 38th FLOOR of the Secretariat Building it is a little before midnight. The last visitor has gone, the last telephone call has been made, the final memorandum has been dictated. The lonely man who presides there has closed another 17-hour day in the service of the institution to which he has dedicated himself.

To Your Good Health

The Human Body Isn't Supposed To Be Goaded

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Doctor Molner: My 10-year-old son has been troubled with constipation since birth. The only food that helps, other than a laxative, is bran. Would eating this as a cereal every day be harmful?"—Mrs. D. C.

Bran (which can be different varieties, of course) is the outer covering of grain in its type or other—the various cereal sources.

It has little nourishment value, and is used primarily as a form of "bulk" or "roughage" which the digestive tract needs. However, experience indicates that some of the less scratchy types of roughage are better for steady use.

I don't intend to frighten you, or to imply that something bad is going to happen because of eating bran foods that contain some bran. I'm no extremist.

There's an enormous variety of foods we can eat, and I can't join with the alarmists who say you "shouldn't eat" this, or you "must eat" that. If we are half-way sensible and don't distort the instincts we were born with, we'll manage to eat the things we need.

However, when a child of 10 has to have a certain type of scratchy breakfast food to keep his bowels operating, something's wrong. What's wrong? Maybe habit. Or maybe you think he is "constipated" because his normal cycle isn't as rapid as you think it should be. Or maybe he doesn't drink enough liquid (fluid is necessary to keep the system operating properly). Or possibly he doesn't eat enough fruit and vegetables to provide the bulk or roughage that he needs.

He may also have slipped accidentally into a habit of fighting off nature's signals, to the point at which he doesn't react until the demand for bowel action is overwhelming.

Examine and study enough children, and you'll find all of these elements occurring in a certain proportion of youngsters—and you'll also find that most of 'em, with a little sound sense and a lot of patience, can be put back on the normal track again.

A day-in and day-out diet that includes a morning modicum of scratchy hulls of grain makes the child dependent on such a diet, and may leave him, after a few decades, more or less, with a colon that won't work unless it is scratched—like a horse that won't run unless whipped.

The human innards aren't supposed to be goaded. They are supposed to work with the least amount of reasonable good care. If, in a youngster's case, reasonable fruit and vegetables, and enough fluid (milk, water, soup, etc.), and the acquiring of a habit of having the bowels work at some particular time of the day, don't solve the matter, then it might be a good idea to have the colon X-rayed, to see if something is wrong. But by all means give the simple rules a chance first, because they're usually the answer.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I had plebitis in one leg after the birth of a child seven years ago. My doctor says I still have a residue of it. The leg measures about an inch larger than the other. Is there a chance it may get larger still?"—S. Y.

The leg is larger because the return flow of blood is hampered. Whether it gets larger cannot be predicted.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.
