JACK SMITH PINS ON AWARDS
On volunteers, Mrs. P. R. Hargrove, Mrs. Buddy Pulliam

Hospital Volunteers Make Awards, Elect Officials

Service awards went Thursday evening to two score people, including two who have put in more than 1,000 hours of volunteer service at the Big Spring State Hospital.

At the same time, members of the Volunteer Council of the Big Spring State Hospital elected D. M. McKinney to be the chairman for the next biennium. He succeeds Jack Y. Smith, who was warmly praised for his service to the organization. He was the unit's first chairman, then was recalled when the new chairman, the Rev. William Boyd, moved from the city.

FOURTH YEAR

The meeting of the council in the high school cafeteria marked the beginning of the fourth year for the coordinated program at the hospital, and for Mrs. Ira Thurman, who has served as the coordinator since the inception of the program. She said that last year there were 1,395 regular volunteers and 1,994 occasional volunteers, which is an outstanding record. Yet when this is divided into 12 months and then into 30 days, the number figures down to 3 1/2 regulars and 5 1/2 occasionals on a given day to serve 945 patients.

"Actually, we could use 945 volunteers," she said, "for psychiatrists recognize the value of person to person contact with patients."

U.S. Musters U.N. Aid Program Votes

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States moved today to muster U.N. support for two far-ranging American programs to help the world's underdeveloped areas.

The U.S. delegation circulated a draft to U.N. members containing points it believes should be embodied in any resolution dealing with President Eisenhower's aid for Africa program when it comes up for debate in the Political Committee.

The United States also sought solid backing for Eisenhower's "Food for Peace" plan after winning priority for committee debate on the proposal. The Soviets called a political trick to influence the U.S. presidential election.

Dr. Paul C. Young, chief psychologist, pointed out that the hospital here had a 100 per cent numerical turnover during a year's time. This doesn't mean that everyone who enters is discharged, for at least a third will never leave the hospital. If volunteers can help restore the new patients, it means a tremendous savings in anxiety and in money; if patients are not restored to reality within two years, chances are that they will stay for years more or perhaps a lifetime, he said.

FIRST RATE PROGRAM

The $3 per day per patient is not enough for a first rate program, he said, but volunteers have and can bridge the gap to help provide that first class program. He suggested the need for some sort of a fund to pay gratuities to patients for work they perform. This would help them earn cigarette, razor blade or cosmetic money, he said.

Dr. Young appealed to all who have talents in music, for reading, garden work or who are "a soul in love with other human beings" to help.

CHAPEL NEEDED

Chaplain Marvin Berkeland reiterated the need for a base chapel, for Sunday School space and for Sunday School teachers. In the latter event, he urged those who would volunteer to do so with the full intention of sticking, or else not start.

Tommy Porter explained the work of the vocational rehabilitation program and said that acceptance back on a job frequently meant the difference in complete cure or return to the hospital. Help of employers was sought.

Mrs. Ruby Rowe related the success of a mental health panel by local delegates at the State Business & Professional Women's Club in El Paso.

Volunteer service pins were given for the first time, and Jack Y. Smith, who also is a vice chairman of the state volunteer organization, presented them. Qualifying were 65 with 100 or more hours, five with 500 hours and two with 1,000 hours.

In addition eight men were presented with pins. Included in the top hour list were Mrs. Buddy Pulliam and Mrs. P. R. Hargrove, Midland, with 1,000 hours, and Mrs. Walter Ammon, Mrs. C. A. Clark, Mrs. R. L. Anderson, Miss Hope Leyva and Mrs. Robert Piner with 500 hours.

The tables were turned on Smith, who received a service pin also, after making many awards to others.

The Big Spring Police Department is the second section of the public employes division to become a quota - buster in the current United Fund campaign.

Bruce Dunn, chairman of the division, reported Thursday that the policemen reported in with $277.50. The department's quota was $275.

"This is also a substantial increase over the amount given last year," Dunn pointed out.

The first section of Dunn's division to make its goal was public school employes, who whipped past their goal in the early days of the drive.

Both sections have sounded a challenge for other workers in the campaign.

With only 10 days of the United Fund push gone, the campaign has reached 41.1 per cent of its goal. At Thursday's report meeting, a total of $40,432.29 was listed as the amount already in the till toward support of 12 local welfare and guidance agencies.

The 1960 goal is a little more than $98,000. Big Spring and Howard County have never failed to meet the needs of these organizations.

The current total is more than $2,000 above the top reported at Tuesday's report meeting. Leaders expect at least 50 per cent of the goal will be reached by the next report meeting Tuesday.

To date the big gifts division has collected a total of $27,827, or 66 1/2 per cent of the division goal. The special gifts division has $5,567 or 37.1 per cent of its goal.

The public employes division has brought in $5,910.79, 33 per cent of the division goal. The employe division has collected $1,127.50 and has five per cent of its goal in. The metropolitan division is the only division still inactive and will kick-off Monday.

UNITED FUND

Small Sum Aids Summer Program

The small sum of $4,000, provided by the United Fund, provides for the annual Summer Recreation Program in Big Spring—an activity that brings vacation entertainment and physical training to more than 1,000 boys and girls each summer.

The program, designed to serve the needs of Big Spring youngsters as an outlet for energy in the interval between school terms, is sponsored by the United Fund, the City of Big Spring, the Big Spring Independent Schools and the YMCA. The coordinating and directional agency in the big summer operation is the Y.

This past summer saw 1,064 individuals participating in the far-flung program of activities under the banner of the recreation program. It is interesting to note there were 531 girls enrolled and 533 boys in the programs. The program therefore reaches both sexes and provides a well balanced and carefully planned schedule of interesting activities of wide appeal.

Instruction and supervision of the several enterprises are in the hands of trained instructors and leaders. These are what the budget allocated to the program provides. These fulltime leaders are assisted by an army of adult volunteers who cheerfully give of their time to furtherance of the program.

Careful planning, selection of the best possible instructors and painstaking coordination of the entire program makes the summer recreation activity one which contributes immeasurably to a better community life for younger citizens.

Stanton Voters To Ballot On $90,000 Issue

STANTON — Propertied voters will ballot here Saturday on whether to issue $90,000 in bonds for paving and water system improvements.

City officials said that $90,000 would be marked as the city's share in an assessment paving program that would provide for a large number of permanent streets with standard curbing and gutter. The remaining $90,000 is for water system improvements, principally for larger mains and for lateral extensions.

Those who are qualified voters and who have rendered property for taxes will be eligible to vote in the election at the City Hall from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Officials said that no increase in the tax rate would be necessary to finance the issue, which will run for 21 years, since a recent revaluation program has boosted assessed values from $2,157,370 to $3,163,770 for this year. Stanton has virtually eliminated its outstanding general obligation bonds and has a balance of $18,000 in the interest and sinking fund.

73 Absentee Ballots Taken

Absentee voting, which opened on Oct. 18, is moving along at a brisk clip.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, Howard County court clerk, said that 73 absentee ballots had been supplied to voters to 5 p.m. Thursday. Forty-one of these were mailed to applicants who already had their requests for such ballots in the office. The others, for the most part, voted at the office.

Deadline for absentee voting expires on Nov. 4. Absentee voters may be cast by persons, who are qualified voters, if such persons are to be out of the county on election day, or if they are physically unable to go to the polls.

'Beat Abilene' Is Grid Spirit

"It's high time Big Spring beat Abilene," the signs said. And that's what the coaches, players, and student body of Big Spring High School said in two giant pep rallies last night and this morning.

The rally at the City Park amphitheatre Thursday evening drew a big and enthusiastic crowd. Then for 45 minutes Friday morning in the high school gym, students put up a deafening and almost constant din with band members not only furnishing music but setting a pace for the cheering.

Emmett McKenzie, head coach, and Roy Baird, one of the assistants, told the crowd and the squad that they could win if they wanted to. They had enough, and worked hard enough, long enough. Pep squad members pinned victory ribbons on the team members.

CAL Pact Approved

A contract granting Continental Airlines permission to use facilities of the Howard County Airport was formally approved Thursday by the Howard County Commissioners Court.

The contract, which is retroactive to March 17, the date the airlines moved operations to the airport, stipulates Continental shall pay $1.25 per landing for all landings made by its planes on the field and approximately $100 per month rental for 325 square feet of floor space which it occupies in the administration building.

Politics Spikes Newspaper Poll

FORT WORTH (AP)—Politics at the coffee levee Thursday killed off the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's poll of absentee voters in the presidential election.

When the poll ended, 131 voters had marked the Star-Telegram's ballots for the Republicans' Nixon-Lodge ticket and 74 had picked the Democrats' Kennedy-Johnson team.

Of the votes given Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, 57 were cast by Democrats who split the ticket and voted the Republicans' presidential and vice presidential candidates.

Tarrant County legal adviser Jesse M. Brown said it was perfectly legal to conduct the poll in County Clerk Mel Faulk's office. However, threats of political reprisal to Faulk began pouring into the county clerk's office Thursday and the Star-Telegram reluctantly abandoned the project.

EFFECTIVE MONDAY

Freight Rate Hike Approved By ICC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the nation's railroads to hike their basic freight rates effective next Monday, Oct. 24.

However, the commission temporarily suspended proposals for various increases in special rail service charges pending further investigation.

The railroads gave public notice of the proposed increases in late September, on a basis designed to yield $147 million additional revenue annually.

In approving the major part of these proposals, the commission made no immediate estimate of what yield will be involved to help the industry meet increased operating costs estimated to amount to $600 million since the last general rate increase in 1958.

Basically, the higher rates, which will go into effect Sunday midnight, will involve an advance of half a cent on rates of 65 cents per 100 pounds or under, and an increase of a cent in rates above 65 cents.

However, the ICC directed the industry to submit for examination lesser increases in combination rates, in which more than one form of transportation is involved.

Also, the ICC suspended any increase on fresh fruits or vegetables and on petroleum coke. The commission directed the filing of new proposals for fruit and vegetable increases which would not exceed $2 per car, and on petroleum coke limited to a hike of seven cents per ton.

The commission said it will permit rate increases to be made effective on bituminous coal and iron ore, and on switching charges subject to further review and possible revocation.

All of the increases were allowed on a pledge by the railroads that refunds will be made to shippers in any case where the hike is later found by ICC to be unreasonable.

The new switching rates involve a charge of $3 per car for switching inside a single industrial plant and $7.50 per car between plants or terminals.

Proposals temporarily blocked by today's order, pending further study, included:

A reduction to a uniform five days in the "free time" allowed for holding cars at the ports for loading or unloading import-export freight. At present, the railroads make an allowance of 15 days on the Atlantic seaboard, 10 days at Pacific and Gulf ports and 7 days on the Great Lakes before starting to collect demurrage charges.

A new charge of five cents per 100 pounds for stopping grain more than twice in transit, for inspection, grading or processing. Present rules allow three such stops without charge.

An increase in the charge for detention of cars at industrial plants.

Establishment of a new minimum charge for the use of a freight car, regardless of commodity or distance, which would have amounted to $60 per car in Eastern territory and $40 per car in Western and Southern territories.

First Private Enterprise To Enter Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—American Telephone & Telegraph Co. today asked authority to put up a space satellite as the first station in a proposed international communications system. It said it wished to do this within a year.

The first station, the company said, would provide experimental transmission of telephone calls, television and other types of communication between the United States, the United Kingdom and Europe.

This would be the first satellite launched under private, as distinguished from government, auspices and the first commercial application of satellites.

PAY OWN WAY

Henry T. Killingsworth, AT&T vice president in charge of long distance service, said: "We believe the commercial application of satellite communications is a job for private enterprise. This new project is still another indication of our readiness to take on that job and pay our own way."

In applying to the Federal Communications Commission for the necessary authorities, AT&T said it is now prepared to contract for the launching of the satellite and to proceed with construction of ground transmission and receiving stations.

The company made no immediate estimate of the total costs involved.

However, company officials said that after the satellites are "in production" it is estimated each will cost about $1 million to put into space. The contemplated eventual system would require a number of satellites.

BROAD POWER

The company said it expects to work closely with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on the project. NASA's authority is broad enough so that it could contract to launch the satellite.

In a recent speech, NASA Administrator T. Keith Glennan said NASA would make vehicles, launching and tracking facilities and technical services available at cost to private companies.

The initial U.S. ground station would be at Bell Telephone Laboratories' Holmdel, N.J., installation, where current Bell space communications work is going on.

The company said the project will help answer the growing demand for additional communications facilities. AT&T noted that it is also planning new ocean telephone cables with greater capacity.

Jake Pickle, Local Native, Joins TEC

J. J. (Jake) Pickle, who was reared here, was appointed today to the Texas Employment Commission.

Pickle, owner of an Austin public relations firm and prominent in state Democratic politics, will take the place of Maurice Acers, effective Jan. 9, 1961. Acers' term expires Nov. 21, but he will remain until Pickle assumes office. Pickle will be the employer representative of the three-man board.

In making the appointment Gov. Price Daniel said:

"The employers of Texas have had an able representative on the employment commission in Maurice Acers, and I am confident that Jake Pickle will also do an outstanding job in this important assignment."

Leon Kinney, local TEC manager, said he was delighted with the appointment.

As TEC commissioner, Pickle will receive $15,000 per year.

REARER HERE

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pickle of 1201 Settles, Pickle was reared in Big Spring, starting to school here and graduating from Big Spring High School in 1932. He worked his way through the University of Texas and took his bachelor's degree. He studied for law but this was interrupted when he took a district assignment with the National Youth Administration, a job that put him under a rising young public servant, Lyndon Johnson. Then came World War II and he saw 3 1/2 years of combat service in the Pacific and was aboard the old cruiser St. Louis when it was torpedoed and all but sunk.

After his return to civilian life with a reserve grade of Lieutenant in the Navy, he and four partners established station K-VET in Austin. He sold his interest in the station to Sykes, Pickle & Wynn, a public relations and advertising firm, from which he later retired actively to take the post of director of organization for the State Democratic Executive Committee.

BEST KNOWN

"Pickle has been one of the best known backstage men in Texas politics in recent years. He was often a controversial figure, particularly in Daniel's political battles with Mrs. R. D. Randolph of Houston, the Democrats of Texas (DOT organization), and Sen. Yarborough."

It was while he was with the advertising firm that he was accused by Yarborough of producing the "Port Arthur Story," a film which pictured Port Arthur as a ghost town after a union strike. Pickle steadfastly denied he had anything to do with the film.

As a professional worker in the field of politics, he came in for increasing barbs from his opposition, which appeared to change from time to time.

"Poor Pickle," said the Dallas News last April, "people pick on Pickle." The story went on to point out that Sen. Yarborough, as a liberal, had picked on him, and then Jack Cox, running for governor last summer as a conservative, took up the pastime.

Cox branded him a "hatchet man" and Mrs. Randolph had called him worse. But Pickle had no public reply for them.

"If you don't have a tough hide," he shrugged, "you don't belong in this game. Besides, they pick on me when they can't find anything else or any issue to attack. Splitter groups must have someone to fight or they die. They live on opposition, not advancement."

Look Under Rug, Lyndon Advises

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—Look under the rug, says Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, if you want the truth about America's strength and prestige abroad.

"The Republicans have hidden all the information there until after the Nov. 8 election. They want to keep out of sight the facts which might affect the votes of the American people," Johnson said Thursday.

Moves Into High Gear

Paving under the current assessment program moved into high gear today as warm weather and sunshine returned to Big Spring. The three blocks of Donley, 3rd to 6th, were nearly completed this morning, and the final layer of hot-mix was to be laid on the street this afternoon. This view, looking north, shows all but the east half of Donley between 5th and 6th remaining for the hot-mix surface. The paving crews will move next to Young between 2nd and 4th, and then to 6th, which is to be paved from State to Gollard, six blocks. About 100 blocks will eventually be paved under the assessment program. About 35 are now ready for the hot-mix surface with curb and gutter already constructed and base material laid.

Nixon Is 'Eager' For Video Debate

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon is "looking forward eagerly" to his fourth television and radio debate with Sen. John F. Kennedy, a Nixon aide said today.

Nixon was shuttled in his hotel suite preparing for tonight's encounter on international affairs. He had no public appearances or campaign appointments on his schedule in advance of the meeting with Kennedy.

Nixon did some homework Thursday and also plotted campaign strategy with Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton, Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming and other top GOP advisers. The Cabinet officers joined the vice president and Mrs. Nixon for dinner at a Manhattan restaurant.

Before going out, Nixon proposed Taft-Hartley law amendments designed to enable the government to help resolve major labor disputes before the time comes to order the present last-ditch 80-day cooling-off periods.

The vice president attacked Kennedy's labor recommendations as "federalizing of collective bargaining." He said his Democratic opponent, if president, "would settle major labor disputes himself."

Nixon said one of Kennedy's proposals would grant a chief executive power to seize an industry, and he declared such authority should be exercised only by Congress and only in a crisis.

He suggested first that a president be empowered to call a fact-finding board into service whenever a serious dispute develops, preferably before a strike actually occurs. This type of board could not make recommendations for settlement unless company and union consented. Its purpose would be to clarify the issues, he said, before a dispute assumed emergency proportions.

Further than that, he advocated arming conventional Taft-Hartley boards with the right to make settlement recommendations before it becomes necessary, in the fact-finders' judgment, to seek from the courts an 80-day strike ban.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, retired chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, visited the vice president for about 15 minutes and then issued a statement expressing thorough agreement with Nixon's stand on the defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

If Kennedy is elected president and doesn't change his position, Radford said at a news conference. "We might have a war on our hands" in the Pacific.

Radford heads an organization named Retired Servicemen's Committee for Nixon.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said the vice president has been encouraged by recent voter samplings in Texas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Illinois and the 11th Congressional District of Ohio, which includes Youngstown.

"We think we have the momentum and that our schedule of timing the big hit in the last three weeks is paying off," Klein said.

He contended surveys financed by party groups interested in testing public sentiment have shown Nixon behind in "very few" states. And these, he said, were not unexpected.

Cuban Economic Czar Sees Black Market As Embargo Aid

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's economic czar said Thursday night the U.S. embargo on most exports to Cuba will not seriously harm the island nation partly because black markets in the United States will deny it.

But National Bank President Ernesto Guevara conceded that Cuba faces difficulties. He said the nation "must have confidence in the solidarity of the nations that have offered to stand by us, extending economic aid and even volunteers and, figuratively speaking, rockets"—an obvious reference to Soviet Russia and the Communist bloc.

Guevara spoke on a two-hour TV program before leaving today with eight other officials on a trade-building trip to the Soviet Union, Red China, Czechoslovakia, North Korea and East Germany.

Black marketers in the United States have worked against Washington's trade bans in the past, and they will evade this one, Guevara declared.

Guevara said that "there is a serious threat" of what he called U.S.-financed invasion in the near future from Guatemala.

"I believe they'll come," he said, "but I also believe they will never get out."

The U.S. embargo on all shipments to Cuba except medical supplies and food forces Cuba to look for purchases in new markets where American influence is not felt, Guevara said. He warned that the new customers for Cuban sugar, the island's chief export crop, are not going to pay the premium price the United States paid when much of the Cuban sugar industry was American-owned.

But with a faint smile, he said the United States may have some difficulty in getting all the sugar it wants now that it has cut off Cuba's sugar quota.

One of Guevara's chief purposes in going to Moscow, it is believed, is to sell Cuba's entire 1960-61 sugar crop to the Communists.

Warm Weather Back In Texas

Warmer weather returned to Texas Friday following a day in which temperatures dropped to freezing in the Panhandle giving the state its coldest day of the season.

Temperatures were in the lower 40s early Friday compared to the lower 20s early Thursday. The Weather Bureau said temperatures would rise throughout the day in all sections of Texas.

The low Friday was 40 at Texarkana. Some other readings below 50 degrees were: Dallas 46, Fort Worth 44, Lufkin 43, San Angelo 45, Junction 44, Waco 45, Mineral Wells 41, Midland 45, Wink 45, El Paso 45, Wichita Falls 45, Longview 45 and Daltart 43.

Skies over Texas were clear except for some cloudiness along the coast.

Frost covered parts of the Panhandle Thursday morning as temperatures dropped to 32 at Pampa and Perryton. A bright sun and clear skies helped warm the state bringing maximum temperatures up to 57 at Big Spring and 75 at Presidio.

$1,000 Bonds Set

Bonds have been set at $1,000 each in the case of theft over $50 filed against Thomas R. Cox and Edwin D. Shuggs. They are accused of stealing two four-cylinder motors and some tools.

Assurance Of Salvation

Is there a "witness within" to assure a man that he has been born again? Some think that 1 Jno. 5:10 so teaches. It speaks of the believer having "the witness in himself"; but notice what this witness is. The very above reveals that it is the witness which God gave of His Son. Each convert is a witness to the world (John 1:18) that God told the truth about Jesus being His Son. Two verses below, the apostle says he writes the epistle that the people might know they have eternal life (1 Jno. 5:13). Hence, they did not know by an "inner witness," but by reading the inspired writings and promises.

The promise is to believers. This is not faith only; for another Scripture says that Christ is the Saviour of "them that obey Him" (Heb. 5:9).

When we put ourselves into the faithful-obedient class, then we know we are saved. This we know, for the Bible tells us so. Adv.

DEAR ABBY IN PAIRS ONLY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have asked different people this question and have heard all kinds of answers. I like Kennedy for President better than Nixon, but I would rather have Lodge for vice president than Lyndon Johnson. I don't want Lodge had enough to take Nixon with him. Can I vote a split ticket and cast my vote for Kennedy and Lodge?

A VOTER: Sorry, but you cannot split the ticket this way. It's either Kennedy and Johnson or Nixon and Lodge.

DEAR ABBY: I am a refined lady in my early forties. I neither smoke nor drink, have a good job and money saved. My problem is a man I have been dating for four years. He has a home, a good job, a wife and five children. He promised over two years ago he would leave his wife and marry me, but he hasn't done anything about it. I have learned that he isn't the boarder at home he said he was and he spends more time and money on his family than he claimed. Should I risk losing my job and self-respect and wait for this man? Or should I start looking for one who is free?

JANE DOE: A man who'd cheat on his wife would be a cheat on his wife. And if your friend should finally marry you, what would you have? A married man who cheats on his wife. Would you ever be able to trust him?

POLICE APPROVE, RECOMMEND FLARES
Chief Jay Banks, Dokies John Gregory and David Hopper

Dokies Hold Flare Sale Here Saturday

Flares which may save your life will be sold Saturday in downtown Big Spring to help persons who are suffering from serious and crippling diseases.

Members of the local Knights of Khorassan will put highway warning flares on sale to raise money for their humanitarian activities program.

This program, according to John Gregory, royal vizier, and David Hopper, satrap, Dokies of the local El Zimran Temple, has a goal of helping "human beings suffering from serious and most often incurable ailments, such as cerebral palsy." The program has been in effect nationally since 1953.

The flares will be sold for $1 in boxes of three flares each.

Police departments and officers at the county and state level have stamped their approval on the flares, an unanimous decision when highway emergencies arise.

Chief Jay Banks said that in West Texas, especially, where dust or sand storms can cut vision drastically at night, the flares are a good item to carry when driving.

The flares can be seen from a long distance and give approaching motorists plenty of time to see that there is "something" to watch for ahead, the chief said.

"Not only are the flares a safety measure but they are being sold for a worthy cause," Banks said, giving his complete endorsement to the Knights' Saturday fund-raising campaign.

The Knights will be wearing the identifying fez while selling the flares.

Lodge Sees Prestige Issue As Confused With 'Love'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Republican vice-presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge said Thursday night the question of U.S. prestige has been confused with a belief that powerful nations such as the United States can be loved.

"A nation as great and powerful as the United States cannot be loved," Lodge said in a nationally televised address. "But it can be respected."

And no nation has higher prestige than ours because people respect it, Lodge said.

As for U.S. military strength, the former ambassador to the United Nations said, there is no question the United States is the strongest military power on earth—and the Soviets know it.

Lodge called the United Nations the cornerstone of American foreign policy. Moral standards, the basis for pinning our hopes on the United Nations, also are the basis for keeping Red China out, Lodge said.

Lodge said the first U.S. veto in the Security Council would be justified to prevent Red China's admission.

Interlacing political jobs with his defense of the United Nations and U.S. participation in it, Lodge said Sen. John F. Kennedy six months ago supported President Eisenhower's Cuban policy but now attacks it.

"I have just about come to the conclusion that between now and Nov. 8 we simply cannot satisfy Sen. Kennedy," Lodge said.

Nixon, Kennedy Meet For Fourth TV Debate

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy meet tonight in their fourth television and radio debate. The program will be the same length as the others—one hour.

The debate goes on the air at 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time from the American Broadcasting Co.'s TV center on West 66th Street. It also will be broadcast and televised by NBC and CBS, and broadcast by the Mutual Radio network.

They will face a panel of four radio-TV newscasters: John Edwards of ABC, Walter Cronkite of CBS, Frank Singiser of Mutual, and John Chancellor of NBC. Quincy Howe of ABC will be moderator.

Negro Sees More Sit-Ins

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A Negro student leader predicts an intensification of the two-day sit-in campaign which has resulted in the arrest of 78 persons in Atlanta and the temporary closing of numerous downtown food counters.

Representatives of both presidential candidates finally agreed Thursday to limit tonight's debate to one hour. There had been talk of making the program two hours, with the final 60 minutes devoted to answering questions from viewers by telephone.

There will be no "live" audience except for three news photographers and three reporters.

Church Approves Book Depicting Jesus In Trousers

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The governing body of the Evangelical and Reformed Church gave its approval Wednesday to a new and somewhat controversial Sunday School book that pictures Jesus Christ wearing knee-length trousers rather than the traditional long flowing robes.

The issue of an extended program grew out of a proposal by Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, to hold a fifth debate as close as possible to the Nov. 8 election.

Nixon, the Republican candidate, turned Kennedy's proposal down and suggested instead that the fourth debate be extended to two hours.

He also predicted the movement "will spread to other cities in the hard core South soon." In addition, he said, students plan to extend operations in upper southern and border states with "such things as drive-ins at drive-in theaters and restaurants, and kneel-ins at churches."

However, Thursday night Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said "the door is slightly open" to a fifth debate. But other Nixon aides have said it would be difficult to revise campaign tour plans for the closing weeks and work in another debate.

Nixon will open the program with an eight-minute statement, after which Kennedy will be allowed a similar period. The next half-hour will be devoted to questions from the panel—with each candidate having 2 1/2 minutes to reply, and 1 1/2 minutes to comment on his opponent's answer.

The present drive to desegregate lunch counters was sparked by the fact that Atlanta is considered moderate on racial relations, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said in an interview.

While campaigning here Thursday, Kennedy, needing Nixon on the question of a fifth debate, said: "It is an interesting fact that he is willing to debate with a mimeograph machine that permits only one side, but is unwilling to make his answers and charges in direct TV confrontation with 70-million people watching."

The final 10 minutes will be divided equally between the candidates for closing statements.

Dr. King is in jail awaiting trial on charges of violating Georgia's anti-trespass law.

The Negro Baptist minister also said he and some other sit-in demonstrators plan to stay in jail for the time being.

It will be Nixon's first telecast from the New York ABC studio. Kennedy appeared there last week when he debated Nixon, who was in a California studio.

Stamp Leader Dies

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP)—J. Howard Watters, 42, former President of the World Philatelic Society, died Wednesday after a long illness.

Each candidate will have his own small, two-room cottage in the studio to ensure privacy before they go on the air. The cottages are equipped with desks, lamps, sofas, easy chairs, telephones, and wall-to-wall carpeting.

In recognition of tradition, the bride named her dress as something new, with her name embroidered in the hem in blue; she wore a pin which had belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Tom Sullivan; her tiara she had borrowed from her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. H. Carter Jr.

Charlotte Marstrand attended as maid of honor. She wore a dress of pink wool jersey in the sheath style. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Gordon Myrick. Candles were lighted by David Anderson, brother of the bridegroom.

For a wedding trip to points of New Mexico the bride chose a dress of brown wool tweed and brown accessories.

Upon their return, the couple will make their home at 794 Eleventh Place.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, where she was a member of the band and served as secretary of the group; she was a member of the Spanish Club and Shortland Club. She is now employed by Sunset Motor Lines.

Friends Invited For Anniversary Party

LAMESA (SO)—An open house on Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. will honor Mr. and Mrs. James L. Kidd of Ackerly on their golden wedding anniversary. Guests are invited to greet the couple at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Mae O. Lewis, who lives three miles north of Ackerly, a mile west of the Kidd home.

Mr. and Mrs. Kidd were married Oct. 23, 1910, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hunt Sr., and the ceremony was read by the one available pioneer preacher, J. G. L. Mitchell.

Kidd came to Dawson County in 1902, and Mrs. Kidd, who was Gussie Hunt, prior to her marriage, came to the county in 1907 from Comanche County. Both attended school at Sunset, 15 miles west of Lamesa; Jim Cleveland was their teacher.

Like most young men of his time, Kidd started his career as a cowboy. "Just a common cowboy and bronco buster," he recalls that he stayed atop his horse most of the time, but he did fall in the dipping vats more than once. The Kidds started with the Slaughters and worked on other ranches in the area until 1916, when they established a small ranch of their own near Caprock, N.M.

They came back to Dawson County in 1919 and farmed "Weaver's 969" until 1922 when they bought a farm home five miles south of Lamesa. In 1941 they moved to Ackerly and lived there until 1953 when they moved to Wilcox, Ariz., to help their son, J. L. Jr. and his family clear land and drill some of the first irrigation wells in Sulphur Springs Valley.

They again returned to Dawson County in 1956.

In addition to their daughter, Mrs. Lewis, they have a daughter, Mrs. H. C. Hamli in Odessa. There are 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

All friends are invited to the open house. Although there have been no formal invitations, a "no gift" request has been made.

The next meeting of the P-TA will be Nov. 10 at 7 p.m. and all members are urged to attend.

Hyperion Club Has Luncheon

A covered dish luncheon was given for members of the 1948 Hyperion Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. H. W. Smith. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Roy Reeder, Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Zollie Boykin.

Roll call was answered with a current event; the group voted to authorize the city federation to set aside 1961 dues for use by the YMCA on the north side of town.

Twenty-five dollars will be given for the Christmas party at the state hospital, it was agreed.

Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr. spoke on the subject, "The Remarkable Presidency," recounting the history of the office and its importance. She described the presidency as the most powerful in the world, the chief executive being head of a cabinet, the leader of a party and the symbol of unity.

She showed how a president governs in contrast to a king, who is a figurehead. He rules a percentage of labor and also of income.

The affair was held in the lodge hall and members of the families of both organizations were present. Entertainment was furnished by the Firefighters Combo and a drill was performed by the 1873 and 1900 Rebekahs. The evening's entertainment was concluded with an old-fashioned sing song.

More than 100 joined for the evening affair.

Elbow Club Hears Guest Speakers

Members of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club heard a discussion of a community welfare fund by representatives from the Forsan-Elbow Service Club Thursday afternoon.

Speakers were J. D. Gilmore, H. C. Tidwell and H. K. Elrod. Mrs. C. P. Sherman was elected representative from the club on the committee to plan for the fund.

Thought for the day was "Nothing holds a family together like owning just one car." Roll call was answered by members telling what attire a well-dressed woman should wear.

Fourteen were present, with two guests, Mrs. C. E. Lauder milk and Mrs. P. E. Printz of Post.

Mrs. Leroy Findley will be the next hostess.

Drying Gloves

When drying woolen gloves place a straight clothespin in each finger and spread them out flat to dry away from the heat. The clothespins hold the shape of the fingers.

Odd Fellows Host Rebekahs At Meet

The principles of Odd Fellowship were demonstrated at a family night observance Thursday evening when Odd Fellows were hosts to the Rebekahs of the John A. Kew Lodge.

The affair was held in the lodge hall and members of the families of both organizations were present. Entertainment was furnished by the Firefighters Combo and a drill was performed by the 1873 and 1900 Rebekahs. The evening's entertainment was concluded with an old-fashioned sing song.

More than 100 joined for the evening affair.

Hope Of Moslems Is In Sacred Cave In Iraq

By WILTON WYNN
SAMARRA, Iraq (AP)—A sacred hole in the ground in this quaint city gives hope to millions of Moslems that some day justice will fill the earth.

The sacred hole is a cavern inside the walls of the Mosque of the Two Imams. It was in this cave that the Twelfth Imam, or spiritual ruler, of the Shi'ite sect of Islam disappeared in the year 878 a.d.

Since the disappearance of Mohamed Elumuntzar, Shi'ites have refused to recognize another imam. They believe that El Muntazar is not dead, but only absent, and that some day he will return as the "mahdi" who will fill the earth with justice.

This tenet of Shi'ite faith provides a ray of hope to millions of poverty-stricken people living the drabdest of lives in this sun-baked desert land. And, symbolically, the Mosque of the Two imams rises above the filth and poverty around it to provide a glimpse of rare beauty in this dreary, weary pilgrim coming from afar.

Samarra is north of Baghdad across 70 miles of the dusty, colorless, flat plain of the Tigris Valley.

Behind the town there rises an even taller structure, a white, spiraling tower 150 feet high. This is the rare "Zigurat" minaret of the crumbling Great Mosque of Samarra. This is one of the few minarets remaining which was patterned after the pagan towers of ancient Babylon.

It was in 836 a.d., during the golden age of Islam, that one of the caliphs of Baghdad decided to build himself a new capital. He chose this site and built Samarra. Coming from Baghdad on a hot summer day, we understood why he picked this spot. Samarra is high enough to get a welcome cool breeze, refreshing after the oven-like heat of Baghdad.

Samarra of today is a simple town, with most of its mud and brick houses and buildings clustered together in disorderly fashion. One wide street pierces the town and takes you to the open square in front of the mosque where the late imam disappeared.

At the gate of the mosque, a bearded, turbaned mullah, or holy man, who spend their lives in this sacred place. They live off income from religious endowments and contributions from pilgrims.

"When will he return?"

"We don't know when, but we know he will come back," a holy man answered. "And we don't know where he will appear. But some believe the Mahdi will emerge from a cave. Perhaps it will be here in Samarra."

Catholics Have Added Appeal To Study Of Their Catechism

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Catechism classes, long regarded as a trying affair by many a Catholic child, today are taking on sprightly appeal.

The kids even enjoy them.

In a growing number of cases, the traditionally stiff theological indoctrination sessions are being made less difficult and more dramatic as a result of a 10-year project completed last week.

"It's absolutely sensational," says the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John P. Wodarski, of Hartford, Conn. "It's a dream come true."

It provides means for the staid old question-and-answer method of instilling church concepts to be enlivened with pointed vignettes and modern-life situations in sound and color films, geared to a child's ordinary associations.

The new series is called the St. John's catechism.

Its completion, involving the work of 24 church scholars and specialists and costing $300,000 over the last decade, came in the 75th anniversary year of the familiar Baltimore catechism.

The Baltimore catechism, first published in 1865, is the standard question-and-answer text on doctrine used in Catholic schools throughout the country.

Its content, setting forth church teachings about God, the creation, the Redemption, the Sacraments and the Commandments, is covered in the new catechism, but in the form of stories, illustrations and analogies.

"It's not a series of Bible stories, but genuine philosophy and theology for children," says the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles M. Walsh, of New York. "It translates doctrine clearly and memorably in terms of everyday life."

Portions of the new catechism, including altogether 30 film strips of 10 minutes each along with recorded voices and sound effects, already are in use in 10,000 of the church's 17,000 parishes.

Some adult classes also are using parts of it. So are a number of Protestant churches. Foreign language versions also are being turned out.

"It already has revolutionized the whole approach," says Msgr. Walsh, one of several diocesan doctrinal experts serving as advisors on the project.

Others, besides Msgr. Wodarski, include: The Very Rev. Msgr. Lawrence W. Lynch, of Chicago; the Rev. David J. Coffey, of Providence, R.I., and the Rev. Thomas Savage, of Manchester, N.H.

Scripts for the catechism were written by the Rev. Philip E. Dion, of Emmitsburg, Md., and the Rev. Lawrence A. Lonergan, of St. John's, who also supervised the art work Vincent Colabella, of Yonkers, N.Y., did the color drawings.

Sponsored by St. John's, the new catechism is not intended to replace the Baltimore catechism, but to supplement it, and add interest and clarity to the more formalized and difficult statements of belief.

Circulation Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—Roman Catholic newspaper and magazine circulation in the United States reached a new high in 1959 of 25,932,641—a gain of more than 1½ million over the previous year's total.

Our Need of God

MAN'S LONGING TO KNOW GOD, AND TWO BASIC WAYS IN WHICH GOD SEEKS TO REVEAL HIMSELF TO MAN

Scripture—Psalm 19:1-6

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AS AN introduction to today's lesson, the Rev. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith writes in his Psalms of Select Notes: "This is the first time that these psalms have been brought together as a unit of study in these lessons. The 19th Psalm is a record of God's revelation of Himself to man, that man might know Him through the universe He has created, and through the Word which He has inspired, whereas the 42nd Psalm is a record of man's longing to know God."

"The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth His handiwork."—Psalm 19:1. I often wonder if people generally notice the beauty of God's creation, the sun shining on a rainbow after of them there is great reward. Who can understand his errors? cleanse Thou me from secret faults. Keep back Thy servant also from presumptuous sins; let them not have dominion over me; then shall I be upright, and I shall be innocent from the great transgression."—Psalm 19:11-12.

"Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in Thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer."—Psalm 19:14.

The word "presumptuous" means bold and confident to excess, arrogant, wilful, rash—in case the younger classes do not understand the word.

"As the hart (the male of the red deer) panteth after the a storm, the mountains, valleys, flowers, the trees, all made beautifully in God's creation.

"The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul; the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart; the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes.

"The fear of the Lord is clean; enduring for ever: the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether; above to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold; sweeter also from presumptuous sins; comb."—Psalm 19:7-10.

"Moreover by them is Thy servant warned: and in keeping Thy word I have not erred."

Kennedy Calls Demos Best For Farmers

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy told a Democratic rally in Sikeston Thursday night that the "Democratic party is best for agriculture."

The presidential candidate spoke from New York City via a special telephone circuit.

Earlier, the crowd of about 2,000 heard former President Harry S. Truman claim that Vice President Richard M. Nixon was making reckless charges in an attempt to set urban consumers against farmers. He referred to Nixon's contention that the Democratic farm program would increase food prices.

"I am very much aware of the problem which the Botheel section of Missouri faces, particularly those who are engaged in the business of growing cotton," Kennedy said. "I can assure you if I am elected president I will consult with Sen. (Stuart) Symington and with the Missouri cotton growers in order to provide maximum benefits to this major cotton-growing section."

Kennedy said the present administration "has been indifferent to cotton growers and to the problems that face the rest of our agricultural economy."

"I think Mr. Nixon's proposals are merely a continuation of those that have been discredited by Benson" (Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson), Kennedy said.

Truman said the voters would recognize Nixon's criticisms of the Democratic farm plank "for what they are—desperate maneuvers by a frightened politician who knows he's being licked."

"Nixon has now made it official," said Truman. "If farmers want a better price for the products of their labor, Nixon has told them how to get it—vote Democratic."

Absentee Ballots In, Voters Still Wooed

By IRWIN FRANK
Associated Press Staff Writer

Hundreds of Texas voters cast absentee ballots in the presidential election Thursday but the great mass of voters still to make decisions were being wooed from one end of the state to the other Friday.

From Tyler in East Texas to El Paso in far West Texas and from the Red River south the battle continued to line up votes for the Republican and Democratic tickets.

Record turnouts were reported Thursday on the first day of absentee voting. The absentee voting periods ends Nov. 4—four days before millions of Americans will make their decisions.

Surveys of voters who cast absentee ballots provided interesting but inconclusive results of what will happen in Texas on election day.

MOST FOR NIXON

Of the 128 persons who told the Fort Worth Star Telegram how they voted, 76 said they went for the Republican ticket of Vice President Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge and 52 said they voted for Sen. John Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon Johnson. A Dallas News poll showed 11 for the Democrats and 9 for the GOP.

In Austin Friday Rep. Paul Kilday, a Democrat from San Antonio, said the election of Kennedy and Johnson was urgent because "as Americans we have been humiliated and embarrassed" before the world by the Eisenhower-Nixon administration. Kilday made the remark in a speech prepared for broadcast on radio stations in his district.

W. J. Durham, a Dallas Negro attorney, said in a letter that money raised by the Texas Council of Organizations will be "spent only for educational purposes and all efforts to get Negroes to actually vote."

ENDORSED KENNEDY

Durham said the organization can be divided into Republican, Democrat and independent voters. The new Negro political group endorsed Kennedy for president on Oct. 1.

The Republican candidate for Johnson's Senate seat, John Tower, spent Thursday in Dallas. He has toured 96 Texas cities so far in his campaign, visiting some as many as six times.

Two Democratic senators, John Stennis of Mississippi and Clair Engle of California toured Texas Friday.

Stennis was to visit Borger, Pampa, San Jacinto, Hereford and Amarillo Thursday or Friday and Saturday he heads for Mineola, Tyler, the Gregg County airport and Carthage.

Friday night Engle is to appear at El Paso and Saturday he will make other visits in the city before flying to Midland and Odessa. Saturday night he speaks at Big Spring.

LAY SERMON

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, in California boosting the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, returns to Texas in time to deliver a layman's sermon at a Dallas Methodist church Sunday.

Robert K. Gray, secretary of President Eisenhower's Cabinet, said in Houston that the Democratic platform would increase governmental expenses from 15 to 20 per cent.

Ex-Senator Dies

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (AP)—E. D. (Ted) Crippa, 61, former Republican U. S. senator from Wyoming, died Thursday of a heart attack.

Dodd, D-Conn., announced he would interrupt his campaigning in Connecticut to speak in Texas next week for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. He will appear at a luncheon and dinner at Corpus Christi Monday, a Tuesday luncheon in Dallas and a dinner in Houston on Wednesday.

Tower told the Park Cities Women's Republican Club at Dallas that a Democratic victory would mean what he called the "beginning of the end of our institutions as we know them."

He said Johnson was a "man consumed by only one desire—to advance his own political course; he seeks power for power's sake."

Tower said Johnson "allows himself to be used as a pawn for those who would socialize America."

Johnny Rebs The Best, Frank Broyles Says

By JACK HAND FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. AP—Frank Broyles, a soft-spoken charmer, has only the very best to say about the Mississippi football team. It happens that his Arkansas team is playing unbeaten Ole Miss Saturday night in Little Rock. "Mississippi is the best college football team I've ever seen," said Broyles in his modern office in the Arkansas fieldhouse. "And

Goliad Loses Ninth Grade Game To Sweetwater Club

Sweetwater's tremendous Ninth Grade football team trounced Big Spring Goliad, 42-16, here Thursday evening. The Colts led 24-0 at half time and didn't yield a score to the Mavericks until the final period. Tim Smith finally went over from six yards out for Big Spring at the end of a 60-yard drive, then boomed across for the two extra points. A pass from Benny Kirkland to John Homberg, good for 70 yards,

Houk To Run Team In His Own Manner

By JOE REICHLER NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Houk was a disciple of the "Old Perfectionist" but he is going to run the New York Yankees his own way. The self-assured former Army Ranger major made that plain Thursday shortly after he was named to succeed Casey Stengel as manager of the American League champions. "Casey was a great manager," said Houk, "a coach under Stengel. I learned a lot from him and I hope some of his knowledge rubbed off on me. But that doesn't necessarily mean I'm going to operate in every respect the way he did."

The statement was made in reply to a question of whether he planned to continue Stengel's patented two-platoon system as well as the constant parade of pinch hitters, pinch runners and defensive changes. "I won't two-platoon just for two-platoon sake," Houk said. "I have to operate the way I see fit. I don't feel I have to change my line-up every day, either. It all depends on the material I have on hand and on the opposing pitchers."

Houk, who never was more than a third-string catcher in eight years as a player with the Yankees, was signed for a reported $35,000 a year, less than half the $85,000 paid Stengel. The contract—at his request—was limited to a single year. "If my employers aren't satisfied with the work I've done after my first year," Houk said, "I want to be back the following year," he said. "Furthermore, I was told I'd have complete authority. That's the way it's got to be. You can discount any talk of front office interference. For your information, I'm no 'yes man' and I'm sure they don't want a 'yes man.' To my knowledge there never has been any front office interference. "I intend to run the ball club my way. I intend to make all the decisions. I'll decide who will play and nobody else. You can rest assured that's the way I'll manage."

Chatterly Is Out To Avenge Losses

EL PASO—E. T. Springer's Chatterly, second and third in his first two local starts, will be out to avenge himself here Sunday in the featured mile-and-one-sixteenth Jet Age Purse. The hard-hitting son of Grandpere appeared to have the Del Mar Purse field at his mercy in his last start but was collared right at the wire by Blanter in a thrilling finish. He raced well all during his summer campaign in Denver and La Mesa Park, and was second to the highly regarded Spicy at Albuquerque, which was the last he has tried over a distance of ground. The probable favorite, Chatterly will carry 112 pounds with the able George Adkins up. Five other middle-distance performers are set to challenge Chatterly. Highweight honors go to Proud Way, who will carry 116 pounds. The five-year-old gelding owned by J. W. Moore of Andrews, Texas, lost a close decision to Footfall last week at one mile and is expected to be at his peak for the mile and one sixteenth encounter. Trainer Jolly Driskill has given Bobby Scharnow the riding assignment. Proud Way, who loves a distance race scored in races up to a mile and one half at Denver. Serious consideration will be given Ginos Dream, who was third behind Blanter and Chatterly in the Del Mar. A. L. Petty's hard-hitting four-year-old grey hasn't been worse than third in three tries will be gunning for his first win of the season. The imported, Precioso 2nd, third in his first outing opening weekend, will be respected for the wagering as he is a proven router. The property of Dick Orr of Albuquerque, Precioso was one of the leading money winners at Ruidoso and should relish the distance. The improving Jet Plow, second to Spinney two weeks ago, will be handled by Ronnie Houghton and could prove hard to hold. He has been weighted at 114 pounds. Wish U Well with apprentice rider Billy Wilson, is the lightweight of the field at 107. The Jet Age carries a purse of $2,000 and has been named for American and Continental Airlines, which just inaugurated the first jet air service to El Paso. Stewardesses from each airline will make the winner's circle presentation. A field of nine will start in the co-featured National Flower week purse, which has lured such steady performers as Forgotten Love, a two time winner over the local strip, Diamond Plow 116, Labadions Gal 113, Onestep 112, Calamanco 112, High Spice 116, Call Call 112, Shadow Roll 11, and Tribal Tip 116. A half hour water ski exhibition by the Sunland skiers will precede the ten-race program at 12:30. The gates open at 11:00 a.m., with the first post at 1:30 p.m. Daily Double wagering is open on the first two races, a Quinella is available on the fourth and tenth races. Nominations: FRI (4 Sept.)—Diamond Mtn. Johnny Dark, Vix 8 Way, Owl George, Woodpecker, Brown Charm, New Isaac, Cole

Webb Winner By 24-0 Tab Host base Webb crushed Harlingen, 24-0, and Laredo ran over Randolph of San Antonio, 22-0, in the first round of the 1960 ATC Southern District Touch Football tourney. Webb tailback Hersh Wells, a product of the University of Texas, arched two touchdown passes to Doug Gilre and one to Guy Pulkin. Ron Ritchie and Jack Morrison each scored two-point conversions. Wingback George Dremann of Harlingen gave Webb two counts when chased beyond his own end by Jim Bergholt. Monty Williams, sticky-fingered end from the University of Texas, caught a 62-yard pass and hauled down one for 70 yards for Laredo's first TD. Hamby's over-the-shoulder catch from tailback Carlos Lerma (Texas Tech), netted six more for Laredo. Lerma's completions to Hamby and Ronnie Beezley were good for the extra tallies. Harlingen meets Randolph to night at 7 o'clock in a loss-column encounter. Webb faces Laredo in the nightcap.

Sorley May Get In Game At DC STANTON—Herb Sorley, a regular on the Stanton High School who suffered a sprained vertebra in the Buffs' last game, is still ailing but coaches hold out hope that he will be ready to play against Denver City next weekend. Home Made Of Beer Cans Fails Test

EVERGLADES, Fla. (AP)—Smuggling new in buildings—construction of a home with beer cans—has been rejected under a zoning law.

"They were stacking up beer cans and plastering them over with concrete for walls—I couldn't approve that," said Collier County Engineer Harmon Turner.

He didn't identify the builder or location of the structure.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Now, here's a switch. A Western that once was an Eastern. A prize-winning Japanese film a few years ago artfully told the story of seven brave samurai warriors who went after a gang of bandits that had been terrorizing a helpless village. Now, the Hollywood version tells of seven brave gunfighters hired to protect a helpless Mexican village from banditos.

Of course, Hollywood seldom comes up with film art to approach the Japanese, but "The Magnificent Seven" is not entirely lacking in the qualities that go into making a good movie. In fact, as a Western, the film is among the best.

There is a central theme in "The Magnificent Seven," seldom handled in movies, particularly Westerns. This is the theme of courage, what it is and what it means to a man.

Yul Brynner and Steve McQueen head up the seven gunfighters, and they give creditable performances. Eli Wallach makes a fine figure of a south-of-the-border bandit.

The theme of courage is well brought out, particularly when one of the gunmen assures a small boy that the child's father, a nervous villager, is not a coward—that it takes more guts to try to rear a family properly than to trade bullets with banditos.

Power Mower Has Part In New Series

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Critical reaction of ABC's new series, "The Law and Mr. Jones," has been mixed. But win, lose or draw on the series, it is undoubtedly one of the few television ideas in which a power mower played a creative part.

Actor James Whitmore and Sy Gomberg, for many years a writer of motion pictures, were good friends for many years and finally Gomberg moved into a house close to Whitmore's in Hollywood. They had been chewing over series ideas for some time, but nothing much came out of idea sessions until one day Gomberg, the new homeowner, borrowed Whitmore's power mower.

"When he returned it, the mower was broken," recalled Whitmore. "And that was the beginning of the argument. Sy said that it was my mower, that I was his friend and neighbor and that the neighborly thing to do was for me to take my mower and have it fixed. I maintained that the mower broke when he was using it and it was his responsibility to have it fixed. We were arguing from the background of principle, and we both got pretty excited about it."

Whitmore seems to think that the rock on which the series—produced by Gomberg—is built involves the nature of law and its meaning. Unfortunately, however, the first few episodes have been fairly routine with quite a bit of fisticuffs, so maybe these finer things will emerge later in the season.

If television played fair with the viewers, it would let the pitchmen selling bottled soft drinks and beer struggle with bottle caps and bottle openers the way the average mortal does. In TV these caps slip off without the use of any muscle at all, leading the nation's pop drinkers to believe that they are getting second-rate bottles.

CBS is getting around to taking a look at the minority political parties of the nation, with a special news report at noon on Sunday. Norman Thomas, six times Socialist candidate for president, will be interviewed. Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, of all people, will pop up on NBC's "Here's Hollywood" day-time show on Monday. She qualifies for a show-business interview because she had a brief acting career in Hollywood before her marriage.

Probe Ordered In Texan's Death

BUTLER, Ga. (AP)—An extensive investigation was ordered today in the death of a Texas sailor whose body was found in a ditch beside a highway the day after he left Charleston, S.C., on leave.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Young said Navy officials from Macon identified the sailor as Richard Lane Clark, about 20, El Paso, Tex.

His body was found Wednesday about 10 miles north of Butler. There were bullet wounds in the head and chest.

Ike Lashes Claims Of Prestige Loss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Eisenhower says claims that America is becoming a second-rate power with prestige abroad are an all-time low are debasement of the truth and irresponsible.

Retorting, Sen. John F. Kennedy's camp accuses Eisenhower of an attack on the Democratic presidential nominee in making such assertions and has demanded equal free television and radio time for a reply.

Roger Kent, Kennedy's California campaign chairman, contends that Eisenhower—on a cross-country speaking tour which the White House has billed as nonpolitical—made a partisan campaign speech Thursday night before San Francisco's Commonwealth Club. The President's speech was carried by radio and television stations in the area.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, declined comment on that charge but said Kent didn't know what he was talking about in declaring Eisenhower had asked for free TV and radio time.

The President, traveling on to San Diego, Calif., today for a mid-day speech, did not mention Kennedy by name in his talk to an audience of about 1,800 at the Commonwealth Club dinner.

There was a round of applause when Eisenhower said, "While maintaining a healthy critical insight, let us not be misled by those who, inexplicably, seem so fond of deprecating the standing, condition and performance of the entire nation."

"Surely we must avoid smugness and complacency. But when in the face of a bright record of progress and development, we hear some misguided people wail that the United States is stumbling into the status of a second-class power and that our prestige has slumped to an all-time low, we are simply listening to debasement of the truth."

Kennedy has contended that United States prestige abroad deteriorated during the Eisenhower administration.

The Democratic candidate has declared he does not regard this country as a second rate nation. He has said America is strong but needs to be stronger in the decade ahead because of the Soviet Union's gains in military might and in its economic growth. The President's speech was made public in advance of delivery. Even before he went before his dinner audience, the Kennedy camp was firing back. Kent said there was no question the address was a partisan campaign speech.

"It is a mockery of justice for any office-holder—including the President of the United States—to ask free radio and television time for an openly partisan, political speech unless equal free time is given to the opposition."

Hagerty replied the White House had not asked for free time or requested that the address be carried in TV and radio. It was carried in the area—voluntarily, Hagerty said—by four San Francisco TV channels, by one of the city's radio stations, and on radio by a Sacramento, Calif., station.

After the President concluded his speech, Kent issued another statement saying: "No one really believes that Mr. Eisenhower came to San Francisco or spoke tonight without political intent. He said as much himself upon his arrival at the airport."

On arrival in San Francisco Thursday, Eisenhower smiled in telling California's Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown: "This is a non-political tour, but I'll do all I can to see that Nixon is elected."

That was the President's reply when Brown, a twinkle in his eye, cautioned Eisenhower not to "do too much for Mr. Nixon on this trip."

Pays Fine, Costs

Francisco R. Lopez pleaded guilty to a charge of illegally transporting liquor Thursday. He was fined $100 and costs by Howard County Judge Ed Carpenter. Lopez paid the fine and costs and was released.

Lemmon Good, But Drama Is Lacking

By WILLIAM GLOVER

Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Lemmon switches from film comedy to stage dramatics in "Face of a Hero," a play switch from television to Broadway.

The resulting production, which opened Thursday night at the O'Neill Theater, is far from satisfying.

Lemmon, who recently explained his career needed an acting turnabout, emerges creditably from an emotional obstacle course that has everything from bewilderment to indignation, from petulance to pomposity.

The play's early scenes are cluttered, contrived and confusing. Some old-fashioned melodramatic fireworks polish off the third act in lively fashion.

Lemmon portrays an idealistic lawyer, out to clean up his community which is identified by the dialogue as somewhere in the South. Eventually he finds the meshes of machine politics tightening as he goes about pinning a murder rap on a rich man's disolute son.

The big complication of the Robert L. Joseph play (which is based on a Pierre Boulle novel) is that the prosecutor knows the purported homicide was actually suicide. The moral is, of course, that even heroes aren't perfect.

With Lemmon are Albert Dekker, a policeman of emotionally obscure motivation; Betsy Blair, the vignette of a neglected wife; James Donald, a political grasshopper; George Grizzard, the weakling waltz; and Frank Conroy, the kindly old teacher betraying his own sermons.

The Lester Osterman production is designed and lighted by Ben Edwards in a mood of brooding dilapidation.
