Papers Give Data On Prestige Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times and the Washington Post have disclosed what they said was a confidential government survey made last June reporting a U. S. loss of prestige with the French and British public.

The Post said Wednesday night it obtained a copy of the summary, compiled by the U. S. Information Agency's office of Research and Analysis. The newspaper said the summary was prepared for the National Security Council, of which Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, is vice chairman.

The Times, today publishing the full text of the summary as well as a story, pointed out that the survey is not the opinion analysis referred to last week by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright had been seeking copies of a prestige report dated Aug. 29 as well as what he termed a later "barometer survey" by the U.S.A.

Sen. John F. Kennedy Democratic presidential nominee has charged that America's prestige is declining.

Kennedy, arriving in New York by plane today, declined to comment on publication of the survey. He said he had not seen the newspaper stories.

Nixon has contended our prestige is at an all-time high. He said last Friday in his television debate with Kennedy that he has no objection to release of USIA poll findings.

The report disclosed by both newspapers still is classified as secret by the Eisenhower administration.

In a speech last Thursday night in San Francisco, President Eisenhower said reports of U. S. loss of prestige among European powers is debasement of the truth.

There was no immediate White House comment on publication of the report.

SAME FIGURES
The survey percentage figures published by both the Times and the Post are the same.

The Times said the survey, based on an opinion sample of 1,150 British residents and 1,000 French residents made late in May, gave these major conclusions.

1. "Though the U. S. S. R. is blamed most for collapse of the (mid-May) summit conference, a majority blamed both sides at least in part."

2. "Favorable opinion for the United States as a country and for President Eisenhower has declined in the wake of the summit collapse."

3. "Particularly in Great Britain, current confidence is low in America's capacity for leadership in dealing with present world problems."

4. "There is little support in the present survey for any supposition that the story of the U2 overflights, however adverse in other respects, strengthened judgments of America's military standing vis-a-vis the Soviet Union."

QUESTION
Both the Post and Times reported this question was put to French and British citizens:

"How much confidence do you have in the ability of the United States to provide wise leadership for the West in dealing with present world problems—very great, considerable, not very much, or very little?"

The answers in England: very great, 8 per cent; considerable, 27 per cent; not very much, 35 per cent; very little, 16 per cent; no opinion, 14 per cent.

The answers in France: very great, 5 per cent; considerable, 38 per cent; not very much, 24 per cent; very little, 15 per cent; no opinion, 18 per cent.

The pollsters also asked whether "You personally think your country should side with the United States or Russia, or neither."

In Great Britain: 42 per cent with the United States, 2 per cent with the Soviet Union, 46 per cent with neither, and 10 per cent with no opinion. In October 1959, a similar poll showed 58 per cent with the United States.

CHANGING TIDES
In France, 29 per cent favored the United States in October 1958, and 30 per cent in 1960; 61 per cent said "neither" in 1958 and 51 per cent said "neither" this year.

The 1960 poll also asked whether the United States or the Soviet Union was ahead in space developments. In Great Britain, 81 per cent said the U.S.S.R. was ahead, and 7 per cent said the United States was ahead. The rest had no opinion.

In Britain, 55 per cent believed the Soviets were ahead in military power, 12 per cent believed the United States was ahead, and the remainder had no opinion or felt both were equal.

In France, 40 per cent felt the Soviet had military supremacy, 25 per cent favored the United States and 35 per cent had no opinion.

Judge Moves Priest's Rape Trial To Austin

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Dist. Judge S. M. McWhorter today signed an order transferring the trial of a young Catholic priest charged with attempted rape from Edinburg to Austin.

The Rev. John B. Feit, 27, was charged with assault with intent to rape a Pan American College coed last March.

Miss Maria America Guerra, 20, the complaining witness, said she was seized as she knelt to pray in a Catholic church here.

Feit was charged in peace justice court here Aug. 4 and indicted by the grand jury Aug. 10.

Lake Loses An Inch

The level of Lake J. B. Thomas dropped Thursday morning at exactly the same rate as the day before.

Elevation was 2,258.38 today, a decline of .09 of a foot for the 24-hour period. This accounted for spilling of another inch of the surplus water and left about 7 inches of water going over the service spillway. At this rate, the excess water could require as much as another week to drain out the overflow.

School Signs Delay Seen

The signs signalling motorists to stop for children in crosswalks around Big Spring schools will be installed as soon as possible, but may be delayed until the one-way street system downtown is put into effect.

Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said no date has been set for installation of the school zone signs. Immediate attention is being focused on readying the one-way system, scheduled to take effect the week of Nov. 13.

The new signs to be erected in school zones will be mounted directly beneath the present Safety Sign caution signs which are placed at the intersections around the schools. Motorists will be warned to stop for children in the crosswalks, regardless of where the crosswalks are. Dunn said.

In some instances, the crosswalks will be in the center of the block, while in others the walks will be at intersections. Some crosswalks are already painted, but many others will have to be planned.

65 Per Cent Goal Nearer

Preliminary reports for the united fund this morning indicate that its goal of 65 per cent of the total goal will be reached and it is expected that four of the divisions will top the 50 per cent mark for their individual goal and a fifth division will be close to that mark.

Today all divisions were to report at 5 p. m. in the conference room of the Chamber of Commerce. The metropolitan division, which has been in operation four days, was conducting an all day report meeting. The Chamber was a beehive of activity as the division workers began reporting in at 9 a. m. Coffee and doughnuts were being served the workers.

The greatest percentage increases are expected to be in the metropolitan and employes divisions.

This year the fund is approximately $15,000 ahead of last year's total at the same point in the campaign.

200 Have Cast Absentee Votes

More than 200 Howard County voters have cast absentee votes for the Nov. 8 general election. Only five more days remain in which to cast absentee votes. The deadline is Nov. 4. The clerk's office will be closed Saturday and Sunday.

This year, no special ballot box for the absentee votes is specified in election laws. In other years, the clerk has prepared a ballot box in which the absentee votes were deposited. This year, the ballots are in two envelopes, one inside the other.

Mrs. Petty has made space for the ballots in one of the filing cabinets in her office. Presumably, on election day these envelopes will be turned over to the judge of the special canvassing board. The canvassing board will have to open the envelopes and remove the ballots before beginning tabulation.

'Smear' Charged In Nixon Report

Sen. John F. Kennedy perches atop the windshield of an overheated auto carrying him through the campaign swing at Joliet, Ill. The Democratic presidential candidate leaped from the steaming car with an assist by Judge Otto Kerner, right, Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois.

Frankie Takes Spotlight At Democratic 'Rally'

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A show of humanity estimated at between 25,000 and 40,000 persons massed at the Democratic rally into near-panic on Wednesday night as political figures took a back seat to Hollywood celebrities.

Dozens of policemen held their hands full controlling a surging mass of humanity estimated at between 25,000 and 40,000 persons. Fifteen women fainted. One man was carried out above the heads of the crowd. Cars crawled slowly along streets, looking for non-existent parking places.

The cause of the hubbub was not Adlai E. Stevenson, the featured speaker, but Frank Sinatra of Hoboken and Hollywood.

An ear-splitting shout came from the crowd as the singer and other celebrities were brought in to the hall past girls trying to touch their idol.

Almost the entire crowd of 14,000 inside the armory—some in formal gowns and evening dress—stood on chairs to get a better glimpse of the Hollywood stars. Flash bulbs popped with machine-gun rapidity.

Sinatra tried to talk, but few could hear him. Peter Lawford, brother-in-law of Sen. John F. Kennedy, introduced Janet Leigh, who dazzled the crowd in her glittering silver dress.

Then it was time for Tony Curtis, Janet Leigh's husband. Noting that Vice President Richard M. Nixon had said on the fourth television debate that the United States couldn't stand Pat Curtis, said, "I can't stand Pat either." There were cheers.

Sinatra made his way to the dance orchestra stand. Introduced as "the next ambassador to Italy," he sang seven popular songs.

The affair was supposed to be the annual governor's ball. No one could dance in the mob.

HCJC Students Hear Eisenhart

Highly educated minds are a requisite of a well defended democracy, Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, wing commander at Webb AFB, told the Howard County Junior College assembly Tuesday.

The military and weaponry advance ushered in half a century ago by lighter-than-air machines has turned on technical advance, Col. Eisenhart pointed out. This will be even more so in the aerospace program.

He pointed out that the Air Force offered young men substantial advantages in the field of training, both technical and academic. The Air Force now has its own academy which provides a top all-around program as well as engineering and scientific training and offers a B. A. degree.

After his address, Col. Eisenhart projected colored films on progress in astronautics.

3 Million To Die Of Cancer Disease

NEW YORK (AP)—In the next 10 years three million Americans will die of cancer.

That prediction, based on present mortality rates, was made today by Harry McEnery Jr. of New Orleans, a director of the American Cancer Society.

Pearson Hints Interest Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charging a political smear, Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager has challenged basic points of an article linking Nixon's name with a possible conflict of interest.

The article, by columnist Drew Pearson, said "the family of Richard M. Nixon" four years ago received a $205,000 loan from the Hughes Tool Co., owned by industrialist Howard Hughes. After that, Pearson said, Hughes got better treatment from some government agencies.

"Whether the improvement was connected with the loan is not known," Pearson's article stated.

Robert N. Finch, Nixon's personal campaign manager, said that "any suggestion that we in any way had anything to do with the Hughes tool Co. receiving any so-called government benefits is pure libel."

POLITICAL SMEAR
He called Pearson's report "an obvious political smear in the last two weeks of the campaign."

Nixon, campaigning in Ohio, had no comment. Hughes could not be reached for comment.

Finch and Pearson agreed the loan was made for use by Nixon, Inc., a restaurant chain then headed by Nixon's brother, F. Donald Nixon, but since taken over by creditors. The loan was made to Hannah M. Nixon, the vice president's mother, who put up collateral in the form of a lot she owned.

Finch said the loan came not from Hughes or his company but from Frank J. Waters, a California attorney whom he called a friend of the family.

Pearson said Waters was a long-time attorney for Hughes and, in advancing the money, "was actually acting for Hughes with the approval and knowledge of the vice president."

NO BASIS
Finch said Nixon had nothing to do with the loan and knew nothing of it at the time. He said he knew of no basis for any claim that the money originated with Hughes.

First Attempt To Orbit New Rocket Is A Fizzle

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The first attempt to orbit a new satellite rocket—one planned as the workhorse of a series of key space tests—fell to failure in the Pacific.

Discoverer XVI blasted off Wednesday with a burst of flame from its big Thor booster. Atop the Thor was something new in the Discoverer series—a powerful, maneuverable and roomy new Agena B rocket.

The Thor was supposed to burn out and drop off, letting the Agena push itself into a polar orbit. But the stages failed to separate and the Discoverer plunged into the ocean.

Agenas B is scheduled to carry Sams and Midas spy-satellite instruments into orbit. It is roomy enough to take monkeys into orbit in tests preliminary to manned space flights.

Agenas A, orbited by earlier discoverers, was 19 feet long and weighed 8,500 pounds fueled. Agena B is 25 feet long and weighs 15,000 pounds fueled.

The entire new rocket was to go into orbit and then, on the 17th pass, eject a capsule of instruments. The capsule was to parachute into the sea near Hawaii, where Air Force planes and ships waited for a recovery try.

Two previous Discoverer capsules have been thus recovered, one by plane and one by ship. The Agenas B's increased maneuverability may help in the ejection process. Unlike earlier Agenas, the B-model's engine can be started and stopped in flight.

Negro Leader Ordered Freed Pending Appeal

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—Negro integration leader Martin Luther King Jr. today was ordered freed from the state penitentiary under bond of $2,000 pending an appeal from a traffic violation sentence.

The bond was set by Judge Oscar Mitchell, who earlier had sent King to prison for four months on the ground that his participation in Atlanta lunch counter sit-ins violated probation on the traffic count.

Mitchell granted attorneys for King an appeal from his revocation of part of a suspended sentence for failure to have a Georgia driver's license.

Mitchell set the bond after citing a law he said made it mandatory for the court to grant a stay of sentence during an appeal in misdemeanor cases.

King drew the sentence as a result of his participation in sit-in demonstrations in nearby Atlanta. He was arrested during the demonstrations and charged with violating a state antitrespass law, thus violating provisions of a suspended sentence he received on the traffic charge last September.

King, leader of the successful Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott, pleaded guilty to the traffic charge last September. He paid a $25 fine and was given a one-year jail term which was suspended. One of the terms of the suspension was that he not violate any state or federal law.

The court held that King violated the suspension by participating in the sit-in demonstration and getting arrested on charges of breaking the state antitrespass law.

King and 38 other Negroes were arrested but never tried on the charge. The other 38 were released after signing their own bond.

Webb May Use Strips In Area

Webb AFB officials are investigating the possibility of using auxiliary landing strips in the area within the coming months while present runways are enlarged and extended.

With the new training program and repairs to one runway underway, the base will require a temporary runway somewhere in the area. The Sweetwater municipal airport has been under study as a possible site, as have other airfields in the general area.

Webb officers are conducting a study of the problem, however, no definite locations have been picked out.

Conservation Officers Named

LAMESA (SCB)—Bill Meeks was elected chairman and M. R. Stewart was named vice chairman of the board of supervisors of the Dawson County Soil Conservation District here this week Harold Vogler was named secretary.

The new slate was elected at a regular meeting, during which plans for five conservation projects were approved. They include: Oscar J. Simpson, 330 acre farm east of Welch; A. B. Coburn, 266 acre farm west of Patricia; C. R. Foster, 386 acre farm north of Patricia; H. H. Miers, 120 acre farm at Mungerville and D. E. Franklin, 320 acre farm east of Mungerville.

Soil conservation practices to be used include building of level ridge type terraces, planting of perennial grasses and crop residue use.

Nixon Sends Greetings To Midland School Meet

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Midland High School's mock political convention today had an acceptance from a real presidential candidate—Richard M. Nixon.

The mock convention, sponsored by the Midland Reporter-Telegram as a political awareness project and participated in by social studies classes, was held Tuesday.

Nixon received the most votes. In second place was Henry Cabot Lodge. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was third and Sen. John F. Kennedy fourth.

Today the chairman of the mock meeting, 16-year-old Jim Gannon, received this telegram from Nixon:

"No one has a greater stake in the future of America than our young people, and for that reason I am particularly pleased in receiving the presidential nomination of the Midland High School mock political convention.

"To know that I have your support and confidence will be a source of inspiration and strength during the final crucial period of our drive to victory on Nov. 8, I can assure you.

"With every good wish and the hope that all of you will continue to take an active interest in your government and politics as there is no better preparation for the responsibilities of adult citizenship which you will be assuming in a few years.

"(signed) Richard Nixon."

Flood Control Plan For City Presented

The solution for a flood control program for Big Spring was placed in the hands of local residents today by representatives of the Soil Conservation Service who just completed a field survey here.

Although retention dams are seen as a possibility, it was recommended that a soil conservation, or land treatment program be started north of the city to control flooding conditions.

Representatives of the Soil Conservation Service, as well as the Army Corps of Engineers, met with city officials today at the conclusion of their survey to make the report.

Local soil conservationists, headed by Ben Day, aided in the survey and will begin planning extensive land treatment to protect the soil on the watershed north of Big Spring.

Day said that he will seek cooperation of farmers and ranchers for the construction of such things as terraces, waterways, and proper planting of cover crops, all designed to hold and protect the soil.

The Corps of Engineers, interested in a drainage ditch through the city, will continue its plans,

A typographical error in Wednesday's Herald listed the number of students in the top three grades at Lakeview High School as three. The number, of course, should have read 35. The story concerned the action of school trustees in deciding to eliminate these grades in the school and educate the youngsters in the Senior High School.

Vast Road Program Has Quota Of Error

Editor's Note—A million-dollar road failure, a grand jury investigation, and an administrative mishap—these are an unfortunate byproduct in some states of the vast program to build a $1-billion network of superhighways. They are examined in a third of a four-part series on progress and problems of the program.

By BEM PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the problems encountered in the nation's huge highway construction program may be illustrated by a look at experiences in New Mexico, Missouri and Ohio.

New Mexico has had a series of investigations and scandals, including a $1-million road failure. In submitting claims to the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads for reimbursement, the state's paperwork was deemed so inadequate that the federal government is withholding payments of nearly $6 million.

In Missouri, a federal grand jury at St. Louis has begun an inquiry into alleged collusion among suppliers of highway steel. The investigation followed complaints from contractors that certain steel suppliers refused to bid against each other and that prices appeared to be rigged. Nine companies are involved.

In Ohio, the construction program under its present director, Everett Preston, seems to be leveling out toward an orderly $300 million-a-year business—but it was not always quite so orderly.

LATE CONTRACTS
When Preston took office in February 1959, he discovered that the previous administration had let 21 last-minute highway contracts. He discovered that the contractors couldn't go to work because the state had failed to acquire rights-of-way.

Work was delayed three to six months. No one has yet analyzed whether the land for these 21 projects cost more than it would have cost under normal procedures. Like many states, Ohio also has a land problem. Right now there are over 1,000 cases pending in court. Under the previous administration, the state made offers to purchase land on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. Many land owners left it and went to court where juries have proved generous. Another factor apparently has complicated Ohio's land problem. Ray J. Glaze, Highway Department attorney, said in an interview some evidence exists that a few attorneys had been soliciting land suits from disgruntled owners.

TOO SUBTLY
Glaze added, however, that the solicitation—a violation of American Bar Association canons—was done so subtly it would be almost impossible to prove. Some Ohioans are still grumbling over the 11-month delay in opening a leg of the Interstate route between Columbus and Cleveland. The delay has been at tributed to a contracting firm which was over-extended financially but was nevertheless permitted to complete the work.

In New Mexico, a wide variety of problems arose. It has had a $1-million road failure. At least four other roads in the state are what the engineers call in a state of distress.

The State Highway Department is not under civil service and, therefore, there is little job security. Who gets what job is often a matter of politics. Over the past 10 years there have been 61 occupants in the department's 11 top appointive jobs.

RESIGNS
On July 15, 1959, L. D. Wilson resigned as chief engineer, complaining the highway commissioner had asked him to "do things bordering on the dishonest." Wilson, now in Alaska, has offered to testify under oath.

A state legislative committee hired the management consultant firm of Booz-Allen and Hamilton of San Francisco to study the highway department. Among other things, it reported: "Contractors who object to state-employed project engineer decisions carry their appeals direct to the highway commissioner or chief engineer—and people at the top have often overruled the project engineers."

On July 24, 1959, Commissioner H. E. Leonard requested the transfer of an assistant district engineer, John Roberts, from Albuquerque. Wilson, then chief engineer, said the transfer was made because Roberts was too tough on contractors. Leonard denied this.

NO DEMOTION
Last August, Paris Jordan, assistant district engineer at Roswell, resigned rather than accept a demotion. He said he had been put under pressure to approve payment of $6,000 to contractor Jack Adams for extra work performed. Jordan said he didn't think Adams was entitled to the money.

The present chief engineer, D. B. Dixon, says Jordan was not put under any pressure, that he was demoted because of his "inability to supervise construction properly."

Adams built the road at Lordsburg, N.M., which is now classed as a failure. On this project, the federal government is withholding payment of more than $300,000 until the road is brought up to federal standards. The state has paid Adams in full. Involved was a $1,036,000 contract—a stretch of four-lane highway running nearly 4 1/2 miles through the town of Lordsburg which began settling, cracking, and developing potholes before it was half completed in 1958. Concrete sidewalks, gutters and curbs settled or buckled. MORE MONEY The state estimates another $477,000 will be needed to put the road in shape. (The federal government says a highway should be trouble-free for 20 years with normal maintenance.) There were other headaches on New Mexico's part of the big highway program. Stretches of U.S. 85 at Belen and Glorieta suffered early loss of stone chips mixed into the top coat to provide traction. Slick pavement resulted. Projects at Santa Rosa and Top of the World, near Grants, have developed cracks and potholes. Those roads are less than three years old. Some New Mexico roads are so slick that speed limits are reduced in wet weather. In their report on Lordsburg, Booz-Allen and Hamilton said the material used was "borderline." On other jobs, the consultants declared, the material was either too coarse or had been improperly applied. What caused the Lordsburg failure is still unclear. Adams says he built the road to state specifications. In June 1959 a New Mexico legislative committee began an investigation. After two days of hearings, the attorney general declared the committee was not properly authorized, and the probe collapsed. During the brief hearings Leonard Doty, state supervisor at Lordsburg, told the lawmakers his work diary had been stolen from his car. This was the day-to-day record showing weather, material delivered, and construction problems. Testimony brought out that during the asphalt-laying period at Lordsburg there had been 14 inches of rain, and that concrete was laid in subfreezing weather. Both Adams and Doty testified that to the best of their knowledge, no asphalt was put down when it was either too wet or too cold to do the job properly. Friday: Inspection systems.

Kennedy Claims A Third Depression

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today the country apparently is entering "our third recession in six years. And I say we can't afford another recession."

The Democratic candidate, campaigning for the second straight day in areas where the labor vote is strong, has been accusing Vice President Richard M. Nixon of "getting increasingly disconnected from reality."

As Kennedy took his campaign back to New York he challenged his opponent to talk about bread-and-butter issues. He said the objections Republicans always raise against Democratic programs is: "America can't afford it."

Kennedy, in a talk prepared for a garment manufacturing center rally, said the things America cannot afford are poverty, slums, overcrowded schools and waste of people because of racial and religious discrimination. Kennedy said he thinks the country's needs can be met without either higher taxes or inflation; by expanding the economy and increasing efficiency in government.

Kennedy flew here early today after campaigning in and around Detroit.

Predominantly labor audiences in the automobile capital cheered his increasingly sharp needling of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, and his stand that "we must do better."

He said Nixon avoids mentioning continuing unemployment and "this is the party that wanted to stand pat with McKinley, return to normalcy with Harding, keep cool with Coolidge, repeal Social Security with Landon—and say you never had it so good with Richard M. Nixon."

Kennedy's return to New York continued his pattern of campaigning in the big state, with the top prize of 45 electoral votes, on the average of once a week. After his day here, he heads for Pennsylvania.

He sought to ridicule the Republican candidate's contention that Kennedy's economic program fostered gold speculation by raising fears of inflation and devaluation of the dollar.

He suggested Nixon might instead talk about such things as handling government contract cancellations "without leaving thousands jobless on the beach."

Wednesday night Kennedy said Nixon keeps asserting "that in 1960 all is well." But the Democratic nominee said it is time to "think in terms of 1970," of jobs for a population of 208 million, with automation far advanced, requiring a gross national product of three-quarters of a trillion dollars.

"We are not meeting that responsibility when our economy is slipping into its third recession in six years," he said.

He said Nixon avoids mentioning continuing unemployment and "this is the party that wanted to stand pat with McKinley, return to normalcy with Harding, keep cool with Coolidge, repeal Social Security with Landon—and say you never had it so good with Richard M. Nixon."

Brush With Law Snags Cop's Pants

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Commercial artist Gloria Pereira had a brush with the law, police say, and ended up with her sports car snagging the seat of one officer's pants.

Patrolman Edward F. Neville testified at Miss Pereira's trial on charges of drunken driving and hit and run Wednesday that he was giving another motorist directions on busy Wilshire Boulevard when Mrs. Pereira, 33, drove by. He said he realized it had been more than a near-miss when he put his hand to his hurting hip and found the seat of his trousers was no longer there.

Neville took Mrs. Pereira into custody a mile away, he said. The case is continuing.

Reporter Guilty Of Contempt In Source Case

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The Colorado Supreme Court convicted a woman reporter of contempt Wednesday for refusal to disclose a news source.

Vi Murphy, 35, was released under $1,000 bond and ordered to report to the Denver County Jail Nov. 5 to begin serving a 30-day sentence.

The brunette mother of four is a staff writer for the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph. A daughter, 11, is to undergo surgery this week for a suspected malignancy.

Mrs. Murphy said she believed her refusal to name her news source in testimony before the court was justified by the U. S. Constitution's First Amendment, which guarantees freedom of the press.

Defense attorneys and Publisher Harry Hoies said they will appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Sixth Man Injured In Explosion Dies

FREEMONT (AP)—The sixth man injured in the Dow Chemical Co. explosion and fire Monday, died Wednesday. He was J. W. Wade, 31, Sweeney.

P. L. Jordan of Freeport, C.L. Palmer of Lake Jackson and E.C. West of Brazoria are still in critical condition. Company officials issued a statement saying the explosion and fire, which was localized in the chlorine unit of the plant, was caused by a rupture in a vapor feeder to a distillation column at the glycerine No. 1 plant.

Blinding Fog Settles In State

By The Associated Press
Blinding fog settled over Texas Thursday closing airports at Dallas and Fort Worth to all aircraft. The early morning fog covered much of the state. Only in the northern portion of the Panhandle, extreme West Texas and a small area of extreme South Texas had clear skies. Zero visibility closed Dallas Love Field at 2:45 a.m. and Fort Worth's Carter Field at 3 a.m. Temperatures ranged from 45 at Dalhart to 73 at Brownsville. No rain was reported early in the day. Older temperatures were due Friday in Northwestern Texas, North Central Texas and extreme Southwestern Texas. Showers or thundershowers were forecast for sections of the state. Thunderstorms hit along the coast Wednesday night and the Weather Bureau reported funnel clouds near Beaumont and Lake Charles, La. There were no reports of the tornadoes touching ground.

Most of the 800 persons forced to flee their homes in the Kennedy area of South Central Texas early in the week when an eight-inch rain fell returned to their homes Wednesday as flood waters drained away. Schools in the city were closed Wednesday and the Red Cross rushed in supplies and workers. Damage to the city has been estimated at about $250,000. In the past week Kennedy has received 18 inches of rain while Nixon, 30 miles to the north, has received only 14 inches. There was no flooding at Nixon.

Worship In Truth

... They that worship Him, must worship Him in spirit and in truth." Jno. 4:24. The right attitude of worship is referred to in the phrase "in spirit"; but what is meant by worshipping "in truth"? Christ said "to the Father."

They word is "truth" (Jno. 17:17). That is, when one worships in truth, he worships according to the Word.—he worships Scripturally. Authority for doing what we do in worship comes either from God or man. Does it matter which? Jesus said, "But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." (Mat. 15:9).

We must worship in truth. We must have Scriptural authority for all we do. The New Testament authorizes five acts (or avenues) of worship.
1. Prayer
2. Vocal music
3. Communion
4. Study of the Word
5. Giving. See 1 Cor. 14:15; Acts 20:7; 1 Cor. 16:1, 2.

Nixon Vows He'll Consider A Summit

WITH NIXON IN MICHIGAN (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon came into politically doubtful Michigan today promising voters that if he's elected, his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, will go immediately to Geneva to negotiate with the Soviet Union on a nuclear testing ban.

Should the Soviets agree to fool-proof inspection under which military tests would be banned, Nixon said, he would be willing to meet in a summit conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain to make the agreement final.

Should no agreement be obtained by Feb. 1, and he is then president, Nixon continued, he would order resumption of underground shots designed to open possibly fantastic vistas for peaceful use of atomic power.

The Republican presidential nominee's virtual ultimatum to Khrushchev was made with full White House approval. It came Wednesday night in Toledo, Ohio, between speeches in which Nixon called on voters to support him Nov. 8 because, he said, he had sat in on and supported Eisenhower's vitally important decisions on foreign policy.

Nixon's growing emphasis on his backing of the Eisenhower actions and policies paid off in the Republican nominee's ability to announce that the Soviets probably have been cheating during the nuclear testing moratorium.

He disclosed for the first time that in the last two years, while the United States has not fired any shots, the Soviets have set off at least one underground explosion and several smaller ones.

The vice president, who has access to information in this field that his opponent does not, said that only a few days ago a new seismic station in Fort Sill, Okla. had recorded a disturbance in the Soviet Union which might have been an earthquake or a large underground explosion.

Nixon's campaign blast seemed calculated to invite division among the Democratic supporters of Sen. John F. Kennedy. Some of them favor resumption of underground testing. Others are against any atomic firing while negotiations with the Soviets still are possible.

Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, said he is willing to make one more try at negotiating with the Soviets. He said with some emphasis that he had not appointed present U. S. negotiators. He indicated he would start from scratch with new representatives if elected.

Nixon told a small local meeting of members of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, that because the Soviets have been "filibustering," Kennedy's proposal would delay a final showdown too long, "far beyond any margin of safety."

The Republican nominee said underground tests might open the way for tremendous engineering projects, for creation of underground heat which would run electricity-producing plants cheaply and for the extraction of oil from shale deposits which now won't yield it.

Nixon pointed in his whistle-stopping tour toward a major night speech at Muskegon, Mich. where Kennedy got a rousing reception in September.

In his Ohio sendoff, Nixon told a crowd which overflowed the 6,400-seat fieldhouse of the University of Toledo that he had "the greatest day of campaigning of my life" in Ohio.

"Something very significant is happening as we enter the final phase of campaigning," he said. "The American people finally have caught up with the campaign of our opponent. They don't like it, and they are supporting ours." Nixon was having some trouble with his throat after a day in which he stood bare-headed in the rain to talk at several whistle-stops. He conceded his voice was husky, but said he was not worried about it.

GARDEN TALK

Great Progress Is Being Made In Parks Of Texas

Gordon Hickman was watering the rose garden of the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs at the City Park the other afternoon when I was out that way, and we spent about a half hour talking about the rose garden and the city parks in general. I remarked that I have never seen the park looking nicer than it has the past year. Here in Big Spring there have been many improvements in the parks with the painted playground equipment and the tables and shelters in the different park areas over the city. I recently visited the Dennis-the-Menace park in Midland and was astounded at the wonders I found there for the children and their parents to enjoy. All these parks have not come about by accident. They are the result of many people planning and working for many years to provide these out door living areas for our citizens. I visited in the park, zoo, botanic gardens, and cultural strip in Fort Worth the other day, and here again I was profoundly impressed by progress in the past two years. Even in Tatum, N.M., I found a friendly park waiting when I wanted to stop with the family for a picnic lunch. The state operated roadside parks have been overnight camping places for students from schools and travelers wherever Texas Highways go. My fondest childhood memories were in the city parks in Belton and Hillsboro with the Belton bandstand concerts and the river with its swans.

4-H Cites 2 Lads From Martin County

COLLEGE STATION — Two Martin County 4-H boys, Carl Wright and S. F. (Porky) Britton, made the exclusive list of state 4-H winners for 1960. The State 4-H Club office announcement said they were tops in community relations and leadership for the state. Wright will receive a certificate of recognition and his record will be submitted for consideration in sectional and national competition. Eight all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago are offered on the sectional basis and two $400 college scholarships on the national level. Donor for the awards is the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co., Chicago.

Britton will receive a fountain pen and pencil set and his record will also be submitted for sectional and national judging. The awards at both levels are the same as for the community relations program. Donor for the leadership awards is Edward Foss Wilson, Washington, D. C. Wright, now a freshman student at Baylor University, and the son of Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Wright, Stanton, is no newcomer to the exclusive listing. In 1958 he was a state winner in citizenship. He also holds many county and district awards. He was a member of the fourth place cooperative result demonstration team in the state contest in 1959 and three times has competed in the state public speaking contest.

Community relations cover the development of personal talents by 4-H Club members in bringing the ideals, purposes and values of 4-H to the attention of the community and general public. This may be done through speaking, writing, acting and producing for radio or television, preparing exhibits, membership on a team demonstration, and by other means. Martin County Agent Bobby Johnson, who has supervised Carl's 4-H career, sums up how well the job has been done by the new state winner. Johnson says, "Carl and in Hillsboro the watermelon suppers beside the merry-go-round. After a little reflection on first one park and another, Cameron park at Waco, the Houston parks and the San Jacinto Battlefield park area, and so many others, we began to talk about the hundreds of people who make parks possible. The Landscape and Horticulture Department of Texas A&M and Texas Tech have contributed immeasurably to the state's public parks over a few short years. This is especially wonderful to consider when one can remember back over 30 years of growth and development and see the vast progress made. It is most exciting to think ahead another thirty years or so to what can and probably will be in time to come. As Gordon Hickman and I talked about problems of park development and maintenance, cucumber beetles in the roses, and how to water grass and not over-water the roses near by. I thought what a miracle of development has happened since the few years ago when Nat Shick and people like him in every town and hamlet had the vision of spots of beauty out of doors for generations yet unborn to enjoy.

Remember these people of vision and determination when next you enjoy a public or private park. Don't every be guilty of making their work harder by carelessness. If you have a garden question write to Bruce Frazier in care of the Herald.

New York Times Supports Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times today editorially endorsed Sen. John F. Kennedy for president.

The newspaper, which is politically independent, endorsed President Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

The Times said two considerations carried special weight in determining its judgment in endorsing the Democratic nominee—"a matter of foreign policy" and "a question of assuring a unified, direction of the nation's affairs at a difficult moment in history."

Lyndon Joins Secrecy Critics

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson swung into the Pacific Northwest Wednesday night and picked up the rhythm of criticism running-mate John Kennedy has been beating on the administration's suppression of a U.S. prestige report.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate told diners at a $25-a-plate fund-raising affair that the administration suppressed the report "because it told the truth about the fix into which this Republican administration has led us."

Johnson, who flew here after touring California and claiming the state is "in the Democratic column," said the U.S. Information Agency report was kept secret "because it gave the lie to Mr. Nixon when he said to you that the prestige of this country was never higher."

Some 500 at the dinner were told by Johnson that the report was paid for with taxpayers' money and they should be entitled to know its contents.

Johnson was scheduled to fly to Great Falls, Mont., today after spending the night here.

Early morning flying weather has been practically nil around Big Spring this week, but clear skies in the afternoons have enabled local pilots to log a lot of flying time.

Howard County Airport personnel report a good week as far as traffic is concerned, with the heaviest day, Saturday, catching a total of 61 operations. The days are averaging about 20 operations, however.

Big Spring was the cross-roads of the nation, it seemed, for several fliers this week as they passed through "en coast to coast flights."

Monday, celebrity Herb Shriner landed in his twin-engine D-18 for a guest appearance at Municipal Auditorium, and this week Robert Cloutier gassed up a helicopter on his way to California. Cloutier, a Fort Worth pilot, was taking the helicopter to the West Coast where it will be used as an air taxi.

An Upper Darby, Pa., couple, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. McCauley, both holding private licenses with instrument ratings for the past 20 years, touched down here on a cross-country flight.

Other out of state pilots landing here included Mr. and Mrs. John E. Aldeborgh, Hyde Park, N. Y., on their way to California; Charles M. Holt, Evanston, Wyo., and L. N. Hand Jr. of Greensboro, N. C.

Big Spring pilot David Sims logged a lot of time and miles with two trips to Hobbs, N. M., and a jaunt to El Paso, and Wednesday Howard Lloyd made a round-trip to St. Louis, Mo.

Making trips over the weekend were Garland Sanders, who took a phone-led-to-Waco-for-the-Baylor-Texas A&M game, and Clyde McMahon who made flights to Austin and Galveston.

Roy Neil, Lubbock pilot, made a stop at the county air terminal; a Mr. Moore and his family touched down on their way home from a trip to Dallas, and Jack Goldsberry, Lubbock, recorded a stop at Big Spring.

Jack Hodges and George Glenn flew in from Stanton, and Big Spring flier Ted Snider logged more than an hour's flying time Wednesday when he flew to Rotan.

Dr. M. A. Lemmons, Orono, landed with his Big Spring passenger Charles Neefe this week after a week's hunting trip near Durango, Colo.

A couple of flying physicians made business stops here this week. Dr. V. H. Shultz, Abilene X-ray specialist, made his regular reading of X-ray plates at the Veterans' Administration Hospital, and Dr. C. J. Rulliman, Austin, flew in for a visit at the state mental hospital.

Additional pilots, students included, who logged flying time this week included Bill Edwards, Winston Harper, J. W. McClendon, Wayne Burns, Eddie Pierson, Bert Andries, J. A. Wright, Pete Fuglaar, Ted McClung, J. D. Jones Jr., Clayton Bette, J. D. Carter, who flew to Oklahoma City, and Roy Merworth, a new student at the county airport.

A look at the records shows that the world's speed record for a propeller-driven plane is 469.22 miles per hour and was set in 1939 in Germany.

Flight Capt. Fritz Wendel established the record in a modified Messerschmitt BF-109-R on April 26 of that year, over a three kilometer course at low altitude. The aircraft was a stripped-down version of the German's standard ME 109 fighter, and Wendel was chief test pilot for Messerschmitt when he flew the record course.

Many Allied nations during the war released "record" speeds, including that of the heralded P-38 Lightning, but these speeds were generally recorded at high altitudes. Most of the competitive fighters flying at low altitude, straight and level with full throttle, would have been lucky to hit 300 miles per hour.

In Crucial Test Friday

Junior Circuit Adds 2 Teams For 1961

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baseball League is going into Los Angeles next year, with Hank Greenberg as the owner, and Calvin Griffith is moving his Washington Senators into Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The American League expanded to 10 clubs for 1961 Wednesday with a new franchise to be set up in Washington. The ownership of the club in the nation's capital will be announced later.

The surprise expansion move beat the National League to the punch by one year. The older circuit only 10 days ago expanded to 10 teams for the 1962 season by granting franchises to Houston and New York. The American will operate under a 162-game schedule in 1961.

The American League has only six months in which to stock the Los Angeles and Washington teams, which will start from scratch. Minneapolis-St. Paul will inherit a seasoned club that includes such sluggers as Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison and Jim Lemon, and such pitching stars as Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos.

Ft. Worth-Dallas Backers Miffed

DALLAS (AP)—Backers of Dallas-Fort Worth's bid for a place in the American League felt let down today.

High hopes of the two cities of making it were smashed Wednesday in New York when Minneapolis-St. Paul got the spot and Dallas-Fort Worth was given only the consolation of possible membership if the American League should expand again.

Mayor Tommy Vandegriff of Arlington, the man who spearheaded a drive to get major league baseball for the area, was miffed. He accused American League club owners of "late scheming and swaggers."

Arnon Carter Jr. of Fort Worth and J. W. Bateson of Dallas, co-owners of the Dallas-Fort Worth club in the American Association, hinted they might pull out of baseball.

Mixed Reactions Greet The News

By The Associated Press
"The more the merrier," said a newspaper hawker in Los Angeles.

"I checked our schedule this year from April 12 through September and counted 80 open dates. With a very little give and take, 11 American League games might be arranged," Nicholas said.

"Our plan is more practical," said National League President Warren Giles.

"They'll run into problems in Los Angeles," said Walter O'Malley, president of the NL's Los Angeles Dodgers.

"Who do we get?" said Washington's man on the street. That's an example of the reaction to the American League's expansion move that adds Los Angeles and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The league also has left the Washington franchise for a new owner and a new club, moving the Senators to the Twin Cities. Wednesday's action, while expected, was surprising in that it becomes effective next season.

The National League, which last week added Houston and New York, doesn't play on an expanded basis until 1962.

"I am surprised that they decided to expand in 1961," said Giles. "They know what's best for their league of course, but I believe a more practical job can be done for the present eight clubs and the two new ones by waiting until 1962 and making the proper preparations."

"Surprised" wasn't the word for O'Malley. Try upset.

"Another ball baseball schedule would wreck havoc," said O'Malley of the Los Angeles sports picture.

Baylor Seeks 6th Straight Win Saturday

By The Associated Press
The last time Baylor won its first five games—1953—it made Texas Christian the sixth victim. The Golden Bears hope this is a good omen because they're in the same situation—they have won their first five and TCU comes up Saturday at Fort Worth.

While Baylor is the only unbeaten, untied team in the Southwest Conference, this is the most crucial game of the campaign—it puts the Bears past the half-way mark in the race and forces them to blast a jinx of six years standing.

Baylor hasn't beaten TCU since 1954. The Bears were working hard Wednesday, with a grimness that indicated they had no thoughts of overconfidence or cockiness despite their fine record.

TCU stepped up its work for the Baylor clash but had quarterback Donald George out with illness. The Horned Frogs have to beat Baylor or write off the campaign as a failure. Another defeat will definitely eliminate TCU from even a possible share of the conference championship.

Rice, making one of the finest comebacks in conference annals, seeks its third straight victory when it takes on Texas Tech at Houston Saturday. The Owls will be ready for anything without an injury on the roster.

The Owls worked against Tech's pass patterns and tried to devise a defense that might halt the wild-running Coolidge Hunt, who leads the conference in rushing.

Rice expects trouble aplenty from Tech in view of the Red Raiders' 20-7 victory over Southern Methodist last week. It wasn't as decisive as Rice won over SMU but it was decisive enough to show the Owls will have no easy time with the Raiders.

Tech wasn't in too good shape for the game with guard Charles Edgemon, defensive fullback Charles Harrison and quarterback Glen Armeron unable to do contact work because of injuries.

Arkansas and Texas A&M meet at College Station in another important conference game—for Arkansas. The Razorbacks have to stay in the championship race.

Cochran Frank Broyles of Arkansas worried about injuries, Joe Alberty, the fullback will miss the game because of a sprained foot. End Steve Burier is doubtful because of a knee injury and Les Letsinger, may be out with a back hurt.

But A&M also had its injury trouble. Babe Craig, the conference's leading punter, won't be able to play because of a back injury. Back Jack Estes also will miss the game because of a bruised kidney.

Longhorn Gridders Have Best Workout

Members of the Big Spring High School football team basked in the hopes of their coaches by engaging in perhaps their best practice session of the fall Wednesday afternoon.

The Longhorns, now 3-3 on the season, play Odessa High in Odessa Saturday night in the battle for survival in the District 2-AAAA race. Each team has lost a game in conference play.

The gridgers engaged in team drills yesterday, toiling against dummies as the mentors sought to get their timing down pat. They also concentrated a lot of assignments in punting plays.

Last week against Abilene, the visiting Eagles ran back two punts for touchdowns against the Longhorns. Those plays helped to break the game wide open. Abilene eventually won.

More of the same type of work is on tap for today. The Longhorns will not work on Friday.

Several B teamers are being brought up to fill the void left by the departure of four boys who have left the squad. Among those who are gaining promotions are Clinton Gambill, offensive tackle; Gene Lamb, quarterback and defensive halfback; and Buster Barnes, defensive linebacker and center.

Those who checked in their equipment included Jimmy Madry, halfback; John (Red) Schwarzenbach, guard; Tom Roberts, tackle; and Bill Gillespie, center.

Madry was alternating with Ronnie Clanton at the left halfback spot. Johnny Freeman will fill in the gap there.

Ernie Samples has moved up to replace Roberts at the left tackle position; Richard Atkins takes over in place of Schwarzenbach. Gillespie hadn't seen much action in recent games.

In all, about 48 boys are now playing A and B team ball here. The B teamers are not scheduled to play this week.

MAKING A SELECTION ... from a wide variety of fine carpets

Satisfaction Is Watchword At Carpet Store, 1307 Gregg

Satisfied customers is more than a watchword for the Carpet Store, 1307 Gregg. It is a fact.

For example, in the picture above, Mrs. C. Meek, 490 Dallas, is the third member of her family to contact the Carpet Store. After two other members of the family had purchased carpet from the store, Mrs. Meek discussed quality and colors with Mrs. Lucille Jay (right).

A small portion of the 500 samples of carpet may be seen in the background, along with rolls of quality carpet from the copious stocks. Bill Jay, owner, pointed out that carpeting is a sole business of the firm, and not a sideline.

Twenty-four hour service is another feature—you make your selection today, the Carpet Store begins installation the next day. The store has the largest and finest carpet selections in Big Spring, he said, and the easiest terms with no hidden charges involved.

For those who wish quality economy carpet, the range starts at $4.95, wools at $5.95, and the weight, quality and durability of materials and craft extend upward to superlative patterns at $24.95 a yard. The particular pattern Mrs. Jay is showing to Mrs. Meek is a duPont 505 Nylon, a remarkably effective and beautiful pattern which is rated as being the equal of many much more expensive conventional carpets.

Jay insists so much that customers be satisfied that he makes it a guarantee of the Carpet Store. Besides, all carpet is installed over 50-ounce pad at no extra cost. The store is kept open until 9 p.m. on Thursdays as an added convenience.

Get Ready For Christmas

Sportsman-Toyland Center, 1608 Gregg, famous all over West Texas for its wide selection of toys, is really ready for the Yuletide. It's not too early to do your Christmas shopping. As suggested by the sign above the desk, why not shop now before any rush develops, select the toys you want and put them on layaway. It's a happy experience to visit Toyland and see the many unusual toys which are on display.

Reno Short Skirts Bring Comments

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A ruling discouraging girls at Reno High School from wearing above the knee skirts brought two comments Tuesday.

David Rush, bachelor principal of the high school and author of the rule, said: "There was no edict to the students, only a statement to faculty members to watch for girls wearing short skirts. We felt that short skirts could lead to serious difficulties."

The other comment came from

Robert Clogher of San Jose, Calif., a spokesman for the National Nudist Council.

"What is surprising to me is that a state which permits bare bosoms in Las Vegas should become perturbed about bare knees in Reno," he said.

33 People Killed

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A bus plunged into a ravine and caught fire Monday, killing 33 people and injuring 12, reports said Wednesday night. The bus was en route from Siantar to Balige in North Sumatra.

Prosecutor, Cop, 4 Youths Charged In Sex Offenses

CHICAGO (AP)—Police in suburban Skokie said Wednesday the village prosecutor, a policeman and four youths have been charged by the mother of a 15-year-old high school girl with sex offenses against her daughter.

Irving Bronstein, 35, married and the father of two children, and three of the youths, police said, were charged with statutory rape.

Policeman Robert Lindner, 25, and a fourth youth were charged with contributing to the delinquency of the girl.

Police declined to identify the girl or the four youths.

OUR NEIGHBOR

Mexico's 'Mestizo' Economy Forced By Capital Shortage

By J. A. LIVINGSTON
MEXICO CITY—Mexico's seeming approval of Fidel Castro can be easily misunderstood. It is not so much an anti-American policy as "pro-revolutionary"—pro-revolutionary in an economic sense, reflecting Mexico's battle-scarred history.

Mexicans do not forget the loss of more than half their land area to the United States following the war that ended in 1848. They remember with pride President Cardenas' expropriation of foreign oil enterprises in 1938. And they feel that land reform—redistributing great tracts once owned by the church or individual landlords—has helped in the struggle against poverty.

The Mexican government reflects the viewpoint of the dominant political party—Partido Revolucionario Institucional. It is revolutionary in the sense of continued social and economic reform—improving living standards, lifting levels of literacy, and fostering increased participation of Mexicans in Mexican economic affairs.

EMOTIONAL "SI"
Therefore, when Castro seizes American property in the name of the Cuban people, he gets an emotional "Si" from Mexicans. They're not approving his wisdom. They're "simpatico" with a course which, superficially, resembles theirs.

There's this difference. When Mexico expropriated American oil properties, a settlement was worked out. The oil companies thought they received too little but, at least, they received something. Recently, the Mexican government negotiated the purchase from American and Foreign Power of its electric power properties and then bought from Sofina, Belgian investment company, controlling stock in Mexican Power & Light Co.

Daniel James, in How to Invest and Live in Mexico, (Carl D. Ross, Mexico City publisher), observes that the Mexican economy is "neither socialist nor capitalist." It is "mestizo"—a blend to suit Mexican needs. It is more centrally planned and directed than is the American economy.

PRACTICAL REASON
For this there is a practical reason: Capital requirements.

The United States industrialized during the 19th and early 20th centuries. Through ploughed-back earnings or merger, successful American companies developed the capital to keep pace with technological growth. General Motors, Commonwealth Edison, Standard Oil (New Jersey), American Tel. & Tel., United States Steel, and so on, possess resources to install costly modern facilities.

But Mexico—like most underdeveloped nations—had no enterprises of its own big enough to cope with the capital requirements of modern industry. At first, foreign corporations took on the task. Today, more and more, government policy is designed to foster internal capital expansion.

NATIVE FUNDS
Nacional Financiera, a government investment trust similar to our depression-born Reconstruction Finance Corporation, provides funds for Mexican companies in industries which the government wants to develop. To raise money, it sells to investors bonds that pay as high as 10 per cent.

Mexican trade and tariff policies are frankly protectionist. Foreigners are encouraged to go into non-competitive industries—those which Mexico now lacks—but are discouraged from competing with already established businesses or industries.

Mexico is short of capita. The government prefers to direct new capital to fill vacuums—the satisfaction of existing wants—rather than into competitive production of what already is available.

The fundaments of economic policy in modern Mexico are: (1) Co-partnership, whenever possible of foreign and domestic entrepreneurs, (2) direct government intervention in and control of basic industries, (3) tariff and import license policies which foster Mexican development, (4) encouragement of new industry, rather than competing industry.

U. S. PARALLELS
These policies have U. S. parallels. Alexander Hamilton fostered a U. S. tariff to protect infant industries. In later years, the federal government extended aid to railroads to engender national growth.

Today, the government owns and operates the Tennessee Valley Authority. Cities own transit facilities. States build toll roads, bridges, and tunnels.

Ours is a "mestizo" economy, too—but in different proportions from Mexico's.
(This is the second of four articles on the Mexican economy. The third will appear tomorrow.)

Baptist Editor Unhappy With Nixon's Stand

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. E. S. James, editor of the Texas Baptist Standard, said here Tuesday that a telegram from Vice-President Richard M. Nixon on the subject of tax support for public and private higher education was "vague, evasive and ambiguous."

Nixon reiterated his previous stand that "any assistance which the federal government wants to give in the field of elementary and secondary education should be given to the states. It will then be up to each state to decide whether federal funds given to each state should be used for both public and private schools."

"We do not believe he has stated the Protestant concept of this issue," said Dr. James. "This is not the clear, unequivocal statement Protestants had a right to expect from him, and we do not believe they will be very happy with his statement."

Red Revolt?

LONDON (AP)—El Salvador's ambassador to London said Wednesday night the overthrow of President Jose Maria Lemus could lead to a Communist revolution in the Central American nation. "I feel that we are too near Cuba for comfort," said Ambassador Jose Antonio Melendez Prado in an interview.

DEAR ABBY

HIS PROBLEM

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This problem is not mine. It is the problem of a man who is as devoted and decent as they come. His wife told him four months ago that she was carrying another man's child. They have two of their own. Surely by a man can't be expected to support another man's child? He has considered divorcing her, but that would mean separation from his own two children unless he publicly declared their mother unfit to raise them. Where would that get him? Is there any way out of this, Abby? I am more than casually interested in this man because he is my son.

CRUSHED
DEAR CRUSHED: You are correct. The problem is not yours—it is your son's. If he wants to divorce his wife, he has grounds. If he reconsiders, for the sake of keeping his family together, help him by never mentioning the incident again.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13, fairly attractive and well-liked. I just found out that I am going to have to have braces. How can I look nice with a mouthful of hardware?

TIN GRIN
DEAR TIN: Better to have a "tin grin" and a beautiful smile all your adult life than a mouthful of crazy mixed-up teeth.

DEAR ABBY: What does a man do when his wife never goes to church with him and the children? She likes to sleep late on Sunday morning and I haven't the heart to wake her. People ask me if she is sick or out of town. It is very embarrassing. When I ask her please to go to church, she says she doesn't have to go to church to save her soul. How can I get her to go?

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: If she won't go to save her soul, maybe she'll go to save your face. Try a little tenderness.

IGNORANT AND ASHAMED
CONFIDENTIAL TO "IGNORANT AND ASHAMED": Your question is one that troubles many people, and it is nothing to be ashamed of. I cannot print the answer in my column, but will mail you a personal reply if you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Book Available On Union Rules

DALLAS—To explain in simple terms the requirements for electing union officers in compliance with the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959, the U. S. Department of Labor has just issued a 60-page illustrated booklet on the subject.

Area Director Oscar P. Welsh of the Department's Bureau of Labor-Management Reports here said free copies of the booklet, Technical Assistance Aid No. 5, are available upon request to his office in the Rio Grande Building at 251 North Field Street in Dallas.

Island Governor, Clerical Target, Cheered By 3,000

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, target of a Roman Catholic pastoral letter, was cheered by 3,000 persons during a campaign trip into mountainous southern Puerto Rico.

Munoz Marin told the gathering that the bishops' letter forbidding Catholics to vote for his Popular Democratic Party is "the gravest danger to liberty on this island since Christopher Columbus discovered Puerto Rico." He is running for re-election.

Puerto Rico's three Roman Catholic bishops issued the pastoral letter Sunday, accusing Munoz's political party of being un-Christian because it passed laws allowing the teaching of birth control and sterilization of mental defectives.

Guillermo Arbona, government health secretary, said the law on birth control teaching has not been applied for 10 years and that the sterilization law was repealed this year.

For Those Who Have Everything

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Do you have a couple on your Christmas list for whom it is "utterly impossible" to buy a gift?

Try "his and her airplanes," suggests the new Christmas gift catalogue just released by Neiman Marcus, the Dallas specialty store. His is a seven-place Beechcraft Super G18 priced at $149,000. Hers is a four-place Beechcraft Bonanza, priced at $27,000.

WHEN YOU PAY FOR THE BEST... BE SURE YOU GET IT! (Buy Borden's)

It's easy to tell which is the best ear of corn. If the price is the same your choice is an easy one. Did you know there's a difference in the quality of milk even at the same price? It's all good milk, but some dairies take extra steps to make sure you get a fresher, better-tasting milk. That's Borden's. You can't see the difference in quality, but when you buy Borden's you know you are getting only the best.

Work Of An Artist

Admiring the work of their mother, Mrs. Donald O. Coakley, 1518 Vines, are Donald Jr. and Cathy. The unusual table of mosaic tile has recently been finished after a year of hard work. Since Mrs. Coakley is an art major, she is especially interested in activity of this nature.

Recipes With International Flavor Offered By Artist Today

Coming to Big Spring three years ago were Capt. and Mrs. Donald O. Coakley and their two children, Donald O. Jr., who is now 3 1/2, and Cathy, 5 1/2. The Coakleys came here from France where they were stationed for three years.

Both the Coakley children were born overseas. Cathy was born in Bitburg, Germany, and Donald arrived in Chambley, France.

Mrs. Coakley, who is an art major from the University of California, lists her hobbies as all painting, sewing, cooking and decorating. She makes most all of her own and Cathy's clothes. She is also planning to learn the art of hat making and to play golf.

She has recently taken over the duties as publicity chairman for the Officers' Wives Club for the year.

Both Capt. and Mrs. Coakley are natives of Richmond, Calif. They are members of the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, where Mrs. Coakley teaches the Nursery Sunday School Class.

The Coakley home is decorated with several paintings done by Mrs. Coakley.

The busy homemaker and mother sends along these three recipes and suggests that you try them. They are among the family favorites.

Vary Flavors, Textures Of Fall Meals

Include something sweet and something sharp, something crisp and something soft, if you are planning a special dinner soon.

That's the basic pattern for the ideal menu:

After planning the main courses of your dinner, which might include a clear consommé, baked ham, fresh asparagus with hollandaise and sweet potato puffs, be sure to consider the crunchy relishes and tangy salads that best round out a festive meal.

Often, these are the extras that make the main part of dinner most satisfying.

Don't neglect dessert, however. Nearly everyone will agree that it is the high point.

It might well be a refreshing fruit concoction served with steaming coffee.

Casserole Dish Is Good Standby On Busiest Days

Doesn't it seem that as days grow shorter, the list of things you'd like to do grows longer? Getting school clothes ready, getting the youngsters off to school, and yourself organized for social and club affairs, all these activities take time.

Times like these an oven dish, which is almost a meal in itself, which is easy to put together, and which needs little watching during cooking, is a big asset.

A casserole dish featuring the convenient-to-use luncheon meat falls in this category, according to Reba Staggs, home economist. She suggests a combination of luncheon meat cut in cubes, with cream-style corn and slightly beaten eggs. To add to its flavor, minced onion and dry mustard are used, as well as salt and pepper.

The mixture is baked in a moderate oven.

A salad of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers on lettuce, and fresh peaches and cream for dessert would make a satisfying meal, easy on the cook and easy on the budget.

MIDWEST CASSEOLE
1 12-ounce can luncheon meat, cut in 1/2-inch cubes
1 cup coarsely crushed cracker crumbs
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten.
2 cans (16 ounces each) cream-style corn
1/4 cup minced onion
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. dry mustard.

Combine crushed cracker crumbs and milk. Add beaten eggs, cream-style corn, minced onion, salt, pepper and dry mustard. Mix well and fold in cubed luncheon meat. Pour into a 2-quart casserole. Bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven (350) degrees F. 1 hour.

Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Lamb And Herbs--They Make A Luscious Meal

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeature Food Editor

Lamb goes hand in hand with herbs. Want to read and taste? Leg of lamb with one of the best sauces cooks ever dreamed up—made from fine vinegar, sugar and fresh mint that usually grows in gardens but nowadays may come from the corner market.

Lamb steaks (those good first slices cut from a "long" leg of lamb) anointed with rosemary plus freshly-ground black pepper.

Classic lamb kebabs, after an overnight stay with olive oil, onion and oregano, skewered and broiled over charcoal.

Then there are rich brown lamb chops for a quick main dish from the broiler. Fresh green peas with scallions, a little mint and a dollop of butter with these. What could be better?

But those chops can be juicy and tender or dry and tough. To have the first, you need to follow the French cooks who serve their lamb a trifle pink. We know this suggestion goes against American culinary folkways. But do yourself a favor and just once try it. If you're not convinced, you can put the chops back under the broiler! Like rice with lamb? Then sometimes add butter (plenty of it), curry powder (to suit yourself) and grated orange rind to the rice. Or take a leaf from Armenian cookery and add pine nuts and currants.

And now's the time for the famous duo—grilled lamb chops with broiled tomatoes. The French usually add sprigs of water cress to this for a crisp green garnish.

SAVORY LAMB GRILL
TOMATO GRILL
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. white pepper
1 tsp. finely grated onion (pulp and juice)
1 small clove garlic (crushed)
4 loin lamb chops (3/4 to 1 inch thick)
2 medium-sized tomatoes (cut in half crosswise)
1 tsp. butter
Paprika

Mix the salt, pepper, onion and garlic. Spread a little of the mixture over one side of each chop; broil several inches from source of heat until browned.

Turn chops and spread other sides with a little of the seasoning. Spread cut sides of tomatoes with remaining seasoning; dot with butter. Sprinkle top sides of chops and tomatoes with paprika.

Return chops to broiler with tomatoes and finish broiling; by the time chops are done tomatoes should be cooked through.

Count on about 12 to 18 minutes broiling time for the grill. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

October Plentiful Abundance Of Cheese

Food shoppers of this area will find generous supplies of cheese at retail food stores during October. Cheese heads the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for the month.

Other items on the official list are beef, lamb, potatoes, cranberries, broiler-fryers, turkeys and rice. In addition, onions will be especially abundant in Colorado; sweetpotatoes in Louisiana and Arkansas.

These items are cited because October supplies are expected to exceed normal trade needs. Many grocery stores, in cooperation with producers and the food trade, will be running specials to promote extra sales during the month.

Impressive displays of the whole family of cheeses will proclaim the abundance of this nutritious and versatile food during the dairy industry's October Cheese Festival. Most plentiful will be American cheddar and other whole-milk cheeses.

Consumers are assured a lot of beef this month. Marketings of both fed and "grass" cattle are running considerably larger than a year ago. Lamb prices are much lower than last spring.

The fall potato crop that provides our winter supply is estimated at 172 million 100-pound bags. That's 4 per cent more than last year; 10 per cent more than average.

Harvest of the largest cranberry crop on record is now in progress. The economy of frequent chicken and turkey meals has become legend in recent months. Supplies are large.

Rice production this year likely will be just a shade less than last year's huge crop. October is Rice Harvest Festival time.

Blueburgers Are Simple Yet Special

Here is an exciting way to perk up those Saturday night hamburgers when friends drop in. Prepare meat patties as you usually do. But just before the cooking is completed, crumble American blue cheese over them, and continue cooking till the creamy cheese is slightly softened.

The resulting "Blueburgers" are just as simple to make as they sound. Yet the subtly sharp flavor of the blue-veined cheese produces a delightfully different everyone.

Plus factor in their favor, too, is that the pungent cheese eliminates any need for lots of other seasonings.

For an easy-preparation meal fit for an informal gathering, complement the Blueburgers with a salad featuring tomatoes, cucumbers and greens, accompanied by warmed potato chips, fresh pears and grapes and your favorite beverage.

With a speedy meal such as this, you'll have one Saturday supper you can put together with a minimum of work, both before and after.

Anyone for a Blueburger? If so, give these a try.

BLUEBURGERS
(Makes 8-10)
2 lbs ground beef
1 1/2 tps. salt
2 tps. milk
1/4 cup crumbled American blue cheese

8-10 sliced hamburger buns
Combine ground beef, salt and milk lightly. Shape into eight or ten thick patties. Make a depression in the center of each by pressing meat with the back of a tablespoon.

Place in buttered hot griddle or skillet, indentation side down. When nicely browned on this side, turn. Fill depressions with crumbled cheese. Continue cooking until browned on second side or to desired degree of doneness. Meanwhile toast halved buns. Place a Blueburger in each toasted bun.

COFFEE EGG NOG
Here is a new egg-nog treat.
COFFEE EGG NOG
2 eggs
1 quart milk
1 cup instant non-fat dry milk (not liquefied)
1/4 cup sugar
2 tps. powdered instant coffee.
Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored. Add regular milk, dry milk, sugar and coffee; beat to combine. Chill or serve over ice cubes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
NOTE: Less sugar or more coffee may be added to suit taste.

Ground Beef Is Versatile, Economical

Ground beef can be served in so many easily prepared dishes that it is no wonder it maintains its popularity season after season. The familiar hamburger or beef patty and the various kinds of meat loaves come to mind at once as good ways to serve ground beef. Another tempting way is in meat balls.

Reba Staggs, home economist, proves this point with a recipe for meat balls in which curried tomato sauce has a part. These meat balls are so tasty you'll be proud to serve them as party fare as well as in family meals.

Meat Balls In Curried Tomato Sauce
1 1/2 lbs ground beef
1 can (1 lb. 12 oz.) tomatoes
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 tps. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/4 cup flour
3 tps. hard or drippings
1/2 tsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. curry powder
1/4 tsp. paprika

Drain 1/2 cup juice from tomatoes, reserving the remaining juice and tomatoes. Pour 1/2 cup tomato juice over bread crumbs. Add beef, onion, salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Mix thoroughly. Shape mixture into 24 balls, using a rounded tablespoon for each. Coat meat balls with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add remaining tomatoes and juice, sugar, curry powder and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Simmer for 20 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Here's Why Cheese Is Nutritious

Most of us love succotash—that wonderful combination of lima beans and corn—but we do get tired of it served in the same way.

But here's a different recipe which enriches the natural flavor of the two vegetables and brings them to the table in an appetizing, cheese-dressed casserole.

Because of its company airs, the recipe was developed for eight servings, enabling you to serve six to eight portions generously.

SUCCOTASH SPECIAL
(Eight servings)
2 10-oz. packages frozen succotash, cooked
1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup flour
1 tsp. salt; dash pepper
2 cups milk
1/2 tsp. soy sauce
1 cup grated process American cheese

8 tomato slices
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs
1/4 cup chopped parsley
Place succotash in a buttered 12 by 7 1/2 by 2 inch baking dish. Melt butter; stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk and soy sauce gradually; cook until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly.

Add 1/2 cup grated cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Pour cheese sauce over succotash. Place tomato slices over casserole. Top with bread crumbs and parsley. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes.

Yield: 8 servings.

Cooler Days Call For Heartier Meals

In fall months the problem of the homemaker isn't to find food to tempt indifferent eaters but rather to serve good, substantial fare to satisfy her hungry brood.

"Better Meals Build Better Families," for good food plays a vital part in keeping each member in the best of health.

For a hearty main dish full of health-giving food elements, individual lamb pies are suggested by Reba Staggs, home economist, who points out that economy meat cuts can be used and that vegetables are cooked with the meat, a convenient and time-saving feature.

INDIVIDUAL LAMB PIES
2 pounds boneless lamb for stew
2 tps. flour
2 tps. lard
2 cups diced potatoes
1 cup peas
10 or 12 tiny onions
Salt and pepper
Water
Biscuit dough

Have lamb breast or shoulder cut into 1/4 to 1-inch pieces. Dredge in flour and brown well in lard. Place browned lamb, dice potatoes, peas and onions in individual casserole dishes. Season. Rinse pan in which lamb was browned with hot water and pour over pies. Cover and cook in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) until lamb and vegetables are done, about 1 hour. Fifteen minutes before serving, place baking powder biscuit rounds on top of meat and vegetables and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 12 to 15 minutes or until biscuits are browned.

Peaches Make Cream Pie A Glamor Dessert

Here's a suggestion for using this tempting fruit in really elegant style. It's a cream pie, described by Reba Staggs, home economist, as a "glamor dessert."

It's fine for a company meal, but don't wait for guests. The family will love it.

PEACH CREAM PIE
PIE CRUST
1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup hard
4 to 6 tps. cold water

Mix flour and salt. Cut lard into flour until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Roll to about 1/8 inch thickness and line 9-inch pie pan, allowing 1/4-inch crust to extend over edge. Crimp edge. Prick pastry with a fork before baking. Bake in a very hot oven (450) degrees F. for 8 to 10 minutes.

PEACH CREAM FILLING
2 cups milk
6 tps. enriched flour
1-3 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
3 egg yolks
1 1/2 tps. vanilla
2 pounds peaches, sliced and sweetened
2 cups sweetened whipped cream

Heat milk in double boiler. Mix flour, sugar and salt in pan. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Cool. Beat egg yolks and add to cooked ingredients. Return mixture to double boiler and cook, stirring frequently, about 15 minutes. Cool and add vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell. Top with drained sweetened peaches and whipped cream.

1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. butter or margarine

The basic step is this: brush your left foot forward into kick; step on left foot. Touch the right toe behind your left foot; side step to the right. Rock backward on the left foot, then forward on the right foot. The basic slide step goes like this: Brush left foot forward into kick; step on your left foot. EDIBLE SPOOKS FOR HALLOWEEN

Halloween Favors Can Be Made By Youngsters

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
"WHOLLY BE" present on All Hallows' Eve? Call the roll! Edible jack-o-lanterns, spoons and black cats are all ready and waiting to be conjured up by young folk.

corn candy are used for hair; licorice candies coated with sprinkles make eyes, nose and mouth. For a lollipop effect, insert a candy stick in each doughnut.

JACK-O-LANTERNS
Provide each small guest with a red apple, a large darning needle and a teaspoon. With the needle youngsters outline jack-o-lantern's features—eyes, nose and mouth—on the apple, breaking through the peel. Next skin and pulp are scooped from the features with the teaspoons. First jack-o-lantern ready was a prize!

SPOOKS
For these you'll need to have on hand large plain cake doughnuts, a bowl of thick white frosting, small spatulas or wooden tongue depressors and an assortment of candies. First the children spread one side of the doughnuts with the frosting, covering the holes, then they add spook features.

Junta Takes Over Power In El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—A six-man military-civilian junta held power today in this tiny Central American republic after a swift and bloodless coup.

Strongarm President Jose Maria Lemus, 49, had vanished. There were reports the soldier-president was seeking refuge in neighboring Guatemala or the United States.

Clerks at the Biltmore Hotel in Guatemala City said a reservation had been booked for Lemus and "we are still waiting for him." Guatemalan officials said they had no official knowledge of the fleeing president.

The little coffee-growing country had been seething for months with demands for social and economic change. The great majority of the 2½ million people are impoverished peasants dominated by a small number of wealthy, plantation-owning families. The army traditionally controls politics.

The coup came after two months of student-led demonstrations. Lemus said the demonstrations were the work of Communists and retaliated with a police crackdown in which about 200 persons were jailed. The government proclaimed a state of siege—a modified form of martial law—on Sept. 5. The Salvador University faculty accused the police of brutality and for a time went on strike.

Thousands gathered outside as the new Cabinet was sworn in Wednesday night at the presidential palace. The junta of three army officers and three civilians pledged to abide by the constitution, guarantee the rights of citizens and hold free elections in 1962, when Lemus' term was due to expire.

Dr. Rene Fortin Magana, one of the civilian members of the junta, charged Lemus used communism as a political weapon to crush all opposition.

"His lies harmed the cause of liberty throughout the hemisphere," Fortin said.

The coup was carried out swiftly after members of the 1st Artillery Regiment in the capital fired a half dozen rounds at the presidential palace.

Lemus, a lieutenant colonel in the army, was elected without opposition in 1956. He paid a visit to the United States in March 1959. He was given a ticker-tape parade up New York's Broadway and met with President Eisenhower in Washington.

Speed Limit 'Outdated'

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' present 60 mile-an-hour speed limit law is outdated, a director of the National Safety Council says.

Don Hill, district director of the council, said Wednesday the speed limit should be replaced by a modern law that would take note of the judgment of engineers and types of highway in setting the limits.

The Texas driver license law is weak, cumbersome to administer and easy to evade, said Hill. "In driver licensing, Texas faces a vivid manifestation of its basic choice—whether to go through the motions of traffic safety or to really mean it," he said.

Hill said the number of withdrawals of driving privilege based on violations and accidents was less than half enough to compare well with other states.

Texas rated well (82 per cent) in police traffic supervision, despite having less than half the highway patrolmen it needs, he said.

He recommended a state aid for driver education plan, a chemical test law for drinking drivers and more adequate traffic courts which would have jurisdiction in serious traffic cases which now are heard in county and district courts.

A Devotional For Today

He is the head of the body, the church. (Colossians 1:18.)
PRAYER: Teach us, O God, that the church is not an art gallery for exhibition, but a place where we can express our adoration of Thy power and majesty and love. Grant to us pure hearts that we may worship Thee in spirit and in truth. Help us to make our faith dynamic. In Christ's name we ask all this. Amen.
(From The 'Upper Room')

Learning A Good Lesson Early

You may have noticed the story the first of this week to the effect that school children had raised $1,217.87 for the United School Fund.
Approximately $400 will go to the county United Fund as a measure of support from nearly 7,000 boys and girls, a like amount for relief work for needy school children, and $100 each for four other agencies.
As welcome and helpful as these funds will be, this is not the important thing about the United School Fund.
This chance to give in a united campaign for humanitarian projects is part of an educational process for a free people. One of the hallmarks of our society is that we raise funds voluntarily for the worthwhile agencies which help make our communities the sort of places in which we can take just pride.

Oftentimes we get discouraged when some people and a few business operators seem to be able to afford money for just about anything that satisfies them personally but don't have anything left to share with others. But we must remember that it is their right to do this if this is the way they feel about it. Thus the most encouraging thing about an United School Fund is that it inculcates into youngsters the gift of being concerned about others and the habit of sharing.

Transferring Penalties

The sentencing of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader, to serve four months on a suspended traffic sentence is an unpleasant spectacle. He was arrested in Atlanta, Ga. in connection with a sit-in demonstration, and it was in reality for this offense rather than a traffic violation that the boom was lowered on him.
Atlanta officials have recognized the impropriety of this course of action against the minister by hastening to point out that the sentence involved a charge that he drove without a license in an adjacent community, not in Atlanta.

The arrest during the past weekend was under a new trespass law passed in Georgia. A question of constitutionality has been raised, and thus this is headed for a judicial determination. Such is a proper course, for if it is upheld the state and all other principals will be well aware of the consequences if the law is transgressed. To punish an individual for one alleged offense by imposing the penalty for another is not the correct approach. It only serves to inject an element of martyrdom into a delicate issue.

Marquis Childs Hoffa's Men Don't Go Along

WASHINGTON (AP)—While most of organized labor is for Sen. John F. Kennedy and is performing an important function in the registration drive and in getting out the vote a segment, including the largest union in the country, the Teamsters, is violently opposed to the Democratic candidate.

James R. Hoffa, the president of that union with complete and total power over its membership of more than a million and a half, has stopped short of endorsing Vice President Richard M. Nixon. But he is doing everything he can to defeat Kennedy who challenged his power through the Senate committee investigating unfair practices for which the candidate's brother, Robert, served as counsel.

IN ONE OF America's largest cities the taxi driver, having first established that this reporter was not an agent either for the union or the taxi company, passed back to him a copy of the October issue of the International Teamster, the official magazine of the union published at the Teamsters' handsome headquarters here. I'll let you have it, the driver said, if you tear my name off the cover so nobody can know that I gave it to you.
"Can you beat it?" He was full of a wry, half-humorous indignation. "Four bucks a month, $48 a year, that's what I pay in dues. And they put it into that kind of stuff."

THE OCTOBER issue of the union's official publication is devoted almost entirely to an attack on Kennedy, his brother Bobby, and the Kennedy family. The lead-off is an editorial signed by Hoffa headed, "Will you keep what you have fought for?"
"If there was ever any doubt about the 'police-state mentality' of Jack Kennedy and his brother, Bobby," the editorial begins, "those doubts were laid to rest in the first national debate between Kennedy and Nixon last month."

"SPEAKING ON major domestic issues facing our country, Kennedy showed his deep-seated hatred for this union and his utter disregard for this country's heritage of civil liberties and personal freedom when he blurted out: 'I'm not satisfied when I see men like Jimmy Hoffa, in charge of the largest union in the United States, still free.' Kennedy's 'police-state mentality' raises the image of Khrushchev, Hitler, Mussolini and others who took freedom away from those who dared to disagree."

"WHAT DO YOU know about that?" the driver said. "But I'll tell you something. There's 55 day drivers in my garage and I took a poll of them the other day, me and another fellow. And you know how it came out? There's 53 for Kennedy and two for Nixon."

"That's right, that's how it came out. And I'll just bet you, that if we took a poll of the night drivers, there's about 45 or 50 of them, it would come out the same."

Adlai's Not Completely Forgotten

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, who entranced millions with his eloquence in the presidential campaigns of 1952 and 1956, is not the completely forgotten man of 1960.
But although he is still diligent with his sentences, he is hardly more than a minor voice on the outer fringes of the campaign.
The Democrats, after twice making him their presidential choice, this year swept him into the backwater of history along with all the other also-rans when they brushed him aside none too gently for Sen. John F. Kennedy.
Now he is doing what he said he would do although, when he said it, what he thought he might be doing was running for president.

LAST JUNE, still thinking he might get a third nomination without asking for it, he said: "I will serve my country and my party whenever called upon."
He has been called upon—to stump for Kennedy. He has been pursuing that task gracefully with many fine and pleasant things to say about the man who beat him and many unpleasant things to say about Vice President Richard M. Nixon.
Self-conscious Stevenson used to exasperate newsmen with his fidgety fussing over sentences and phrases and his endless writing and rewriting of his speeches on plane hops between stops.

The result used to be that newsmen often got his speeches late—which meant newspapers and the public got them late—and even then had to watch every word he spoke to check any last-minute changes.
KENNEDY, LIKE Nixon, talks off the cuff. Stevenson was a literary dancing master. Kennedy gives the impression of a young man who hardly has time to say hello.
Kennedy, like Nixon, harps on the same theme day after day with small variations until covering both men sometimes develops a painful monotony.
Listening to Stevenson often became painful for people who might admire his sentence structure but wish for more force and less gentility.
Still, Kennedy as a phrase-maker isn't in the same league with Stevenson who even at this late date, and despite his minor role, is fastidious about his adjectives.
But Stevenson, despite the grim impression he made, was rougher on President Eisenhower than Kennedy is on Nixon.
To a man like Stevenson, who hovers over the English language like a nursemaid tucking a baby in bed, it may be sometimes distressing to see Kennedy, who bubbles out words like a gun, running ahead in the polls against Nixon.
This was something Stevenson never could do against Eisenhower.

Remarks About The Wives

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks of one political candidate's wife gets tired of hearing.
"I can see what she sees in him—but what does he see in her?"
"Don't you find campaigning with your husband real exciting?"
"Put your shoes back on, Effie. We hit the next town in five minutes."
"Today you act as judge at the county fair apple pie baking contest. You'll have to sample each of the 87 entries, so if I were you I'd skip breakfast."
"Your smile has been slipping a little lately, honey. Can't you try just a bit harder? Remember, a cheerful look always inspires confidence in the voters."
"Now that you've met the common people, what do you really think of them?"
"I wonder where she got that hat—at a Salvation Army rummage sale."
"We know you must be awfully tired of chicken and peas, so we fixed up a real luncheon surprise for you—lamb and peas."
"At the next stop, Effie, tell them about how hard your grandfather worked as a coal miner—but don't mention about him abandoning his wife and nine children."
"She reminds me of someone in public life, but I can't decide whether it's Mary Todd Lincoln or Lizzie Borden."
"They say only the election is keeping their marriage intact once the votes are in, it'll blow higher than Vesuvius."

"I like the other candidate's wife much better. At least she knows how to dress."
"That looks like a Paris original all right—let's over from the French Revolution."
"Better put away the mink and wear your old cloth coat at the next city. Effie, they got a lot of unemployment there."
"Maybe she can come up with a solution for farm surpluses. I hear all she ever cooks for her husband is leftovers."
"I hate to mention this, honey, but you keep squirming all through my last speech. If your giraffe is that tight, get a looser one."
"I'd like to get a new angle for this interview. Tell me, frankly, what do you think is your husband's biggest defect as a human being?"
"If you really liked those raspberry popovers, I can give you the recipe. You take two quarts of fresh raspberries and..."
"She must have got the inspiration for her hairdo from her dad's mop."
"She couldn't dress that well on his salary. Maybe we ought to investigate him instead of electing him."
"Is that his wife or his mother? Public life must be hard on wives. They usually look older than their husbands."

Pennies' Worth Of Trouble

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A batch of thin pennies brought plenty of trouble for three Toledo men. Secret Service agents said Robert D. Miller, 21; his brother, Charles, 23; and Stanley Smith, 22, admitted using a grinding machine to file down pennies, which were used in dime-operated vending machines.

Money And Stamps

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Peveall, a clerk in the traffic bureau, opened an envelope and found a parking ticket with the usual dollar fine—and 10 green trading stamps.

To Your Good Health No Cause Yet Found For 'Spider Veins'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: I am a woman in my early 30's, 5'5" tall, and weight consistently 130. For several years small veins have been breaking in my legs. At first they were hardly noticeable, only hairlike blue lines on thighs and lower legs. Many of the places have now ruptured—they look like bruises the size of a half dollar. Could vitamins help?—C. M."
"These are called venous spiders, blood vessels spiders or spider veins. By any other name, they would look as blue, and to the doctor, they would also look as baffling.
Naturally, I like to give as much helpful advice as possible. But when there are matters which I can't explain, or which medicine in general can't explain, I think it's only fair to say so. Readers are entitled, to the best of my ability, to be told the dividing line of knowing and not-knowing.
As to "spiders," we are aware of them. Dr. William Bean (to mention one) has made a very considerable study of them. They occur more often in women than in men, but men don't mind them as much.
Sometimes the spiders appear and then remain unchanged. Sometimes they disappear again. Then they may or may not appear.

They can appear in young people as well as older ones.
The cause simply is not known. There seems to be some relationship with mechanical pressure—that is, pressure on the system of veins, as occurs in pregnancy. Or when tight garters are worn. In addition, since women more often have these spiders, hormone or glandular factors are suspected. But the fact remains that we haven't pinned down the basic factors. And the observation that sometimes these spiders come and go is evidence that we must be lacking an understanding or recognition of some factor or other that must be involved. There must be some physical factor which favors development of spiders, and some other one that retards or reverses it. But what? I don't know.
It is worth remembering that healthy people have these spider veins. Likewise you can have spiders without having varicose veins. And vitamins and diet have no effect so far as we have been able to show or suspect. Weight? Lean as well as chubby people can have spiders.
Most authorities believe, at the moment anyway, that nothing of practical importance can be done to remove the venous spiders. Injections to shrivel them—as is sometimes done with some varicose veins—are difficult to administer with these little vessels, and besides that effort is futile anyway, because it may cause irritation that is worse than the spiders themselves.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been trying to find out something about my tear-less crying baby. He does not shed any tears even though he cries to the point of sobs. His eyes slightly water, but he has shed very few tears.—E. W."
Tiny babies as a rule do not shed tears. Since you now are seeing the appearance of some tears, I wouldn't worry.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Are there hormone shots, creams or pills that can help increase the size of the breasts?—Mrs. R. M."
As a general rule, the exception to this is in rare cases in which the hormonal system is seriously disturbed and a woman acquires mammary characteristics. For normally feminine women, I know of no medication which will enlarge the breasts.
Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Law Of Amortization And Deterioration

As they grow older, many folks begin to complain of various real and imagined ills. But I doubt that people have near the number of ills that beset the average family bus.
I know my good wife Joyce and I are constantly trying to keep our vehicle in running shape and sometimes it seems impossible. And I'm sure that the deterioration rate of the car increases as the mortgage decreases.
At any rate, I've found that modern cars are far removed from the days when a patch of gum and little ballin' wire would get them running again. Even the names of the parts sound like some movement in a ballet.
AND PLIERS and a screwdriver are practically useless when it comes to doing a little of the work to save on labor costs. I've found that these tools will fit nothing on our bus. It takes about $2,000 worth of equipment to check the tire pressure.
At one time, the hood could be lifted, check the oil and water, and that was it. But our bus has at least a dozen little reservoirs of various liquids which must be checked and filled. Instead of the old time fan belt, which could be replaced with an old pair of gallouses, there are about six belts now, and every one of them must be made of gold threads, judging by the price.
ON A RECENT TRIP to Dallas, we replaced the water pump. The week before that, the brakes were out of adjustment. This week, the power steering hose broke. And it turned out that new brake bands also were required.

It was only a week or so ago that we found out the paint is wearing away and that new seat covers are a must.
From that resume, you might imagine the car to be ancient. It probably is, but it was made in 1958 and has only 20,000 miles registered. Despite our coddling the car like a babe, it shows little indications of being able to bear up to the strain of being a car.
We were proud when the last payment was made. But I'm beginning to believe the payments were cheaper than the repairs.
IT WOULD SEEM in this modern day of mechanical contrivances, that manufacturers could build a car that would last longer than two years—without constant and costly repairs.
The usual talk that every car has a slip once in a while doesn't faze me. I've had three different makes, one after another, and they all followed the same pattern. Surely, I can't be unlucky enough to get the lemon every time.
Actually, I think there is a little doodad somewhere on the car that automatically, and ingeniously begins to wreat it apart once the last payment is made. That's the part I'm trying to pull like a troublesome tooth.

Billboards As A Political Issue

Never have so many been promised so much by so few (Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy). Whoever is elected next month, we should all be as happy as kings, and as well-heeled, too.
Let's see now: What are the goodies in store for us... Well Mr. Eisenhower is going to his "round the world as America's roving ambassador (you mean Louie Armstrong is going to lose that distinction)", medical bills will vanish, hospitalization costs will disappear; it will be all play and no work with 250 per cent of parity for the farmer, and as for the farmer's daughter, WOW!
SILVER THREADS among the gold will herald the most joyous time of life, the little-business man will become the big business man. Johnny will be reading "Pilgrim's Progress" and for fun, teacher will rate the public esteem and salary of Marilyn and Brigitte. Khrushchev will be deprived of his other shoe and there will be two Jaguars in every pot.
So far, so good. But who does not remember that superb election story of that great raconteur, the late Vice President Alben Barkley, that ended, "Yes, but you ain't done anything for me lately."

matter of fact, I don't even go as far as that. I don't want to share their riches. All I ask is the same tax break for myself and the rest of us hard-working stiffs.
Every time I write a column, I deplete my store by just that much. And, alas, oil wells aren't the only gambles in life that come up dusters. It isn't the thesis of this plea to the candidates that any future administration should deprive oil men of their 27 1/2 per cent tax gift; it is simply my contention that the rest of us ought to be allowed to get in under that tax tent. Just give the rest of us taxpayers parity with the panhandlers! That's all, and it's only fair.
AND WHILE I am about it, how do the candidates stand either on abolishing the tax on women's handbags or taxing each pocket in a man's suit, vest, sweater and overcoat? How about it, gentlemen? Women have had to submit to this unfair and dastardly tax far too long. Do you prefer to repeal it or tax your own pockets?
As for billboards—let us have a clear-cut, unequivocal stand (perish forbid!) I am beginning to sound just like one of them a candidate, that is! on this issue. Gentlemen, do you side with the rich, powerful and ruthless billboard lobby that America, the Beautiful, was made simply that it might be despoiled for the profits of the few who deface it with advertisements of their wares?
DO THE TWO candidates for the Presidency believe that nothing, not even the nation's rocks and hills, her woods and temples, hills, is sacred except money, no matter how earned? Do they believe the bigness put out by the billboard lobby to the effect that nothing is so dangerous to the motorist as the undiluted beauty of American scenery? That billboards made for safe driving?
Gentlemen, do you stand for the continued desecration of your country, or will you back legislation to throw out these modern carpebaggers?

Holmes Alexander The Cost Of Prior Administrations

WASHINGTON—On a slow train through Illinois awhile back, your correspondent encountered a perceptive small city editor who ogled him and said:
"You're having a tough time making up your mind to come out for Nixon, aren't you? Want to know why?"
"Yes, Why?"
"Well, it's because deep down in your innards you believe that John Kennedy would make the better president—isn't that the trouble?"
NO—NOT EXACTLY, but it raises a good point. Would John Kennedy make a better president than whom? Not better, I think, than Richard Nixon, though he might. But the country plainly needs a Republican victory. At home and abroad, on Capitol Hill and in the executive departments, it is far better for the nation and the free world if we have a government which will not toss whole hog on spending and will not toss inconvenient islands and populations to the Communist wolves.
BUT KENNEDY a better president than some of his predecessors? Yes—quite likely. The perils of 1960, while disturbing, need not become so full of calamity as were some other presidential elections. It will be said that we lived through Mr. Truman's upset victory in 1948—but at what a cost! It's hard to recall when a major nation had a worse government than that which the Fair Deal gave us in 1949-53. We suffered a loss of more than 30,000 lives in Korea, where we settled nothing at all. We cringed from vulgarities and scandals around the White House. We finished Mr. Truman's term with a sinking economy in the land and unresolved problems almost everywhere in the world.
IT IS THE SENTIMENTAL habit to applaud Mr. Truman as a fading public figure—but not many Americans would want to live through such an administration again.
Mr. Roosevelt's tricky and arrogant flaunting in 1940 of the "gentleman's agreement" against third terms is now shrugged off as a small matter. But was it? Shortly after FDR carried 46 States in 1936, one of my journalistic heroes, H. L. Mencken, told me, "That man will never be an ex President."

WELL, FDR NEVER was. He won a third and fourth term. He had such control of the majority party machinery, such authority from the Supreme Court, such a spell over Congress, such foreign entanglements for global power that it's conceivable he might have slid, as the Caesars did, from emergence-to-empire.
It is questionable if the country has ever recovered from the disaster of the 1940 election. From it flowed our atomic inheritance and our agricultural, glut, the incredibly gerrymandered zone of East and West Berlin, the loss of bulwarks in Europe and Asia against the Communist hordes, the false friendship with Russia and the Red elements of China, and finally the Atlas role which finds us shouldered with a world of woes.
THE ROOSEVELT-TRUMAN mortgages on our freedoms and sovereignty have been only a little lifted by President Eisenhower. He has liquidated the Korean War, put a brake on inflation, ended economic controls, restored a balance between labor and management, and presided over a lucky period of prosperity and nominal peace. The indications are that the Vice President is a more experienced person than was Gen. Eisenhower four years ago. There is every reason to hope that Nixon really will, as he says, "build on" the Eisenhower record—making a better president, if he gets the chance, than I do.
AND ON THE other hand, Kennedy, should he win, can hardly be worse for the country than his immediate Democratic predecessors, Presidents Roosevelt and Truman. The mischief which FDR found to do with our economic system is already largely done. There is some educated opinion around town that our only salvation is to perish in the ashes and pray for a phoenix-like rebirth. The quagmires of calamity into which HST took us are now fairly well marked, albeit with our own fairly well. Senator Kennedy ought to do better—and many of us who know him believe that he is too intelligent, patriotic and careful to do any worse.

Russian Pianist Makes Long-Awaited Appearance

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Sviatoslav Richter, the one Russian pianist the music world of the West has longed most to hear, has made his first New York appearance in Carnegie Hall.

He gave an austere, demanding program of five Beethoven sonatas, the first chosen from the early Haydn-like Opus 2 but moving up for the emotional and technical climax to the "Appassionata."

There was a rare excited buzz in the capacity audience before he walked on stage—a tall, deep-chested man with red hair thinning on the crown but bushy in the neck.

Right off, in the first notes of the allegro in the Sonata No. 5, in C major, he sounded tops, and the audience was sure no man could play better. But in the second half of the evening, he did.

He is a consecrated, a dedicated musician. He has some mannerisms in his walk, reminding you of his American colleague Serkin, and in his work at the keyboard. But his playing itself is completely free of them, with no eccentricities at all. As an artist, he is a conservative and a perfectionist.

There was an obvious communion between him and his composer, and to an extent it even excluded his audience. Indeed in beginning the andante of the No. 23 in F minor, the "Appassionata," he gave you the feeling that there were, in his mind, only two people in the vast hall: Richter and Beethoven.

But he got noisy reminders to the contrary after each number, when the public made itself heard with clapping, whistles and cheers; and when this reviewer left, the eminent visitor was sitting down to encores.

New Musical 'Tenderloin' A Good Blend

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP)—"Tenderloin" is a new Broadway musical frolic blending those favorite box-office hues, purple passion and rosy nostalgia.

All about the wicked, wicked ways of Little Old New York when grandpa was a tot, the show has arrived on the stage of the 46th Street Theater.

It has zip, sparkle, and most of all an infectious score filled with new melodies of Gay '90s vintage to set listeners humming and chuckling.

The performance, led by star Maurice Evans and newcomer Ron Husmann, has the polish expected from director George Abbott, engaged here on his 96th White Way production.

Evans lets the orchestra provide the melody when he lines out lyrics, moves with stylish aplomb through his role of a sin-busting clergyman who is determined to close up the Fancy houses of vice.

Husmann, a handsome, lusty-voiced baritone from Rockford, Ill., who arrived on Broadway just last season, enacts the brash lad who double-deals his way through cleanup of the juicy "tenderloin" district.

In the feminine division, Eileen Rodgers stands out with ringing vocal vigor as one of the damaged damsels; Wynne Miller is able as the social betress; and Margery Gray does a comic turn of added singing.

Among the songs, produced by the team of Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, special cheers belong to "Little Old New York," "Artificial Flowers," "The Picture of Happiness" and "My Miss Mary."

You Want Your Daughter To Marry A Computer?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Although I listened and looked hard Wednesday night at "The Thinking Machine," first in CBS' new "Tomorrow" series, I still don't understand how electronic computers work. But I do have a suspicion about where many of this season's crop of TV scripts are coming from: The mechanical brain at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The hour-long program set out to show us what wondrous things these electronic brains can do today—write original Westerns, all named "Saga"; play checkers with humans and beat them; translate from one language to another.

Much of the program was concerned with the question of whether these machines could be made to think. Among the professors there was a wide range of opinion, including one that ultimately they would be perfected to a point where they could actually do creative work.

It was an interesting program but it was hard to see why interviewer David Wayne kept asking if these "artificial intelligences" were not frightening. He seemed reassured when Dr. Jerome Weisner replied that if things got rough, one could always pull out the plug.

I was reassured by the professor, who remarked thoughtfully, that he didn't think his daughter "will marry a computer." Anyway, the program makes tomorrow sound interesting.

Forsan Election Supplies Arrive

Election supplies for the incorporation election to be held at Forsan on Dec. 12 have been received by the Howard County clerk, Mrs. Pauline Petty, the county clerk, said she would set up absentee voting arrangements for the Forsan residents.

A petition signed by the proper number of residents of Forsan was laid before the county judge some weeks ago. This petition asked that an election be called on the question of incorporating the community.

Judge Ed Carpenter called the election for Dec. 12 and instructed officials to post the proper election notices.

Three hundred ballots have been prepared for the election. They simply state the proposition and provide for the voter to either approve or disapprove the proposal.
