Goose-Stepping Guards

Take a gander at this bunch of goose-stepping guards watching over millions of dollars worth of scotch whisky. The "goose police" are a special guard at the world's largest scotch whisky distillery at Glasgow, Scotland. They're absolutely reliable in warning of any raid, and they never touch a drop of the stuff themselves.

White Boycott Nearly Full At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The four Negro girls who pioneered integration in the city's public elementary schools attended segregated schools today for all practical purposes with a white student boycott nearly 100 per cent complete. White students from the two schools flocked to segregated schools in nearby St. Bernard Parish (County). Newsmen said they spotted only seven white children entering the William Frantz School. Mothers of students at McDonogh No. 19—the other school integrated by federal court order—said the three Negro first graders "had the school all to themselves."

appeared to be no letup to the boycotts at Frantz and McDonogh No. 19. White men stationed themselves at all four entrances of McDonogh No. 19. They said no white children entered the building. U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright ordered integration of first grades Nov. 14. The panel considering the school board's petition includes Judge Richard T. Rives, chief judge of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, U.S. Dist. Judge J. Herbert Christensen, and Wright. The panel also had before it a state suit asking that all school integration orders be tossed out, and a federal petition that the state be permanently restrained from interfering with public school administration. The conflict left a legal tangle that caused New Orleans public school teachers to miss last Wednesday's monthly payday. The school board said the legislature had stripped it of funds to meet the $2,525,000 payroll. The legislature then appropriated funds, and teachers were told they would begin receiving their paychecks today. Then, Sunday night, House Speaker J. Thomas Jewell said it would be Wednesday before the payroll could be processed.

Most of the 90,000 public school pupils who had a week-long holiday last week because of teachers' strike returned to school today. Close friends of Shivers said they thought the former governor will take himself out of the race in view of Blakley's announcement. Blakley and Shivers are close friends with similar conservative political views. Shivers had been mentioned as a possible candidate for the post, as well as John Tower, the Republican who ran strong against Johnson Nov. 2. Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth is already in the race. Liberals are looking for a strong candidate and Blakley's entrance into the race is expected to intensify that search. Among the liberal possibilities are former state Rep. Maury Maverick of San Antonio, who was active in the Kennedy campaign. Outspoken liberal state Sen. Henry Gonzalez has also been mentioned as a possibility for the special election race.

Charges Levelled In Shooting Case

Tomas Carreno, 24, has been formally charged with assault with intent to murder. He is accused of shooting and seriously wounding Andrew Garcia Perez, 22, Saturday afternoon. The shooting occurred in the El Rancho tavern at 305 NW 4th. Perez, in the Cowper Hospital and Clinic, was making satisfactory progress toward recovery. It was reported Monday morning. He was shot in the left side with a .32 calibre pistol. Carreno was arrested two hours and a half later by Capt. W. E. Eubanks of the city police and Sonny Buzbee, deputy sheriff, on a country road near Luther. Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney's office, said a charge had been filed against Carreno this morning soon after he was transferred from the city to the county jail. Records show that Perez was released from the state penitentiary last week. He had served a two year sentence for shooting at Tomas Carreno on Sept. 30, 1959. In that episode, no one was wounded but the windshield on Carreno's car was perforated by a bullet.

Youngsters Have Chance To Brief Santa On Gifts

Youngsters in the Big Spring area will have a golden opportunity to brief Santa Claus on their Christmas wishes while on a gaily sleigh ride Tuesday and Wednesday, starting at 10 a.m. Special word from old Saint Nick on Monday noon was to the effect that his helpers would arrive during the evening to install a special depot on the south side of W. 4th Street at Main. This will be the leading point for Santa's king-sized sleigh—a handsome 30-foot glider. Parents are urged to bring their kiddies to the depot starting at 10 a.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. Sub-school children will have the show to themselves during the hours from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., but after school those in the lower grades are expected to throng the depot area for a ride. Santa is making this pre-Christmas visit here just to talk with area children through arrangements made by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce retail committee.

While the weatherman is promising nippy weather, there likely won't be snow, so Santa is substituting six prancing Shetland ponies, all rigged in fancy harness and colorful plumes. The ponies will pull the big sleigh, which will accommodate 60 youngsters at a time, on Main to 5th, west to Scurry, north to 4th and back to the depot. Santa has his sleigh outfitted with a public address system and can talk to boys and girls as they make the trip. He has a couple of his helpers aboard to make sure that the youngsters are visited. Parents are urged to bring their kiddies to the depot starting at 10 a.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. Sub-school children will have the show to themselves during the hours from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., but after school those in the lower grades are expected to throng the depot area for a ride. Santa is making this pre-Christmas visit here just to talk with area children through arrangements made by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce retail committee.

Street Signs For New Additions To Be Put In Place

All new housing additions in the city should have street signs by today's end, according to Bruce Dunn, director of public works. About 80 signs will have been installed when the project is completed by the traffic engineering department. The traffic division will next begin work standardizing all city signs, Dunn said. This will involve putting the poles in concrete and seeing that the height of all signs is seven feet, except where obstacles make this impossible. Another public works crew will follow the sign crew, painting the poles a standard black and white. Also due new paint are curbs, parking stripes and street stripes.

Rep. Rankin Dies, Services Today

TUPELO, Miss. (AP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for former Rep. John Elliott Rankin, D-Miss., who helped map the GI Bill of Rights after World War II. Rankin, who was elected to Congress in 1920 and served for 32 years, died at his home Saturday night. He was 78. Rankin, a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, was noted for his white supremacy and states rights stands. He was outspokenly anti-Negro, anti-Jewish, anti-Communist and anti-unions.

Governors Back

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Twenty-eight American governors flew here today after a 19-day goodwill tour of South America. They appeared enthusiastic about the trip and reported unusually friendly receptions everywhere.

Conservative-Liberal Senate Fight Shapes

Former Governor Still A Potential

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Gov. Allan Shivers said today William Blakley's plans to run for the Senate would have no effect on his own plans — whatever they are. Gov. Price Daniel, expressing "some surprise" that Blakley will make the special election race as well as accept his proffered interim appointment, said that he thought Blakley will "make Texas a good senator."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy, reporting progress on shaping his new administration, keeps digging today at the job of filling high level positions and charting a policy course. Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, promised what he called a "hard news" announcement during the day but would provide no clue as to the nature of it.

Ballot Boxes Are Readied

Ballot boxes for the Dec. 3 county bond election are being readied by the county clerk's office. Election precinct judges are asked to pick their boxes and supplies up later this week. All 16 of the county's precincts will be in operation for the bond election. The county commissioners have asked that $150,000 in bonds be issued by the county, the money to be used in acquiring right of way needed to further four major state highway projects scheduled for Howard County in 1961-62.

Walk Lights Considered

Plans are being considered for walk lights at 3rd and 4th streets intersections with Scurry and Ruppels to help ease pedestrian traffic. City Manager A. K. Steinheimer said today that Roy Rogan, city electrician, had taken the problem of pedestrian congestion at the four intersections under advisement and come up with a proposed plan of walk lights. Steinheimer said the cost of installation would run about $1,000. The leading light at 4th and Gregg, allowing south-bound traffic 12 seconds to turn left before north-bound traffic gets the green light, has been installed, Steinheimer said.

Faces Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge ruled today that Igor Y. Melekh, Soviet United Nations employe, is not entitled to diplomatic immunity and ordered him removed to Chicago to face spy charges.

Alone In The World

A two-month-old baby boy was found on steps of a rectory in Queens Borough, New York, by a priest who answered the doorbell. The baby was in a cardboard box along with a note saying "Please find a good home and take good care of him." Holding him at New York Foundling Hospital is nurse Rosemarie Sealy.

DALLAS (AP) — Former Sen. William A. Blakley said today he will accept appointment to the U.S. Senate seat which will be vacated by Vice President-elect Lyndon Johnson, and also will be a candidate in the special Senate election. Gov. Price Daniel earlier said Blakley is his choice for the Senate. Daniel will appoint the interim senator.

Afro-Asian Bloc Spikes Soviet Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Asian and African nations, suspicious of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan to end all colonialism at once, came up today with their own proposal for an end to foreign control of territories. The clash promised to highlight a General Assembly debate on colonialism unless the Asian-African representatives change their proposal to meet the Soviets' at least halfway. The Soviet Union has been wooing the newly independent nations of Asia and Africa since Khrushchev visited the assembly during its opening weeks. The Soviet delegation asked for the debate so it could sound off against colonialism in terms it hoped the new nations wanted to hear. Khrushchev, in a declaration to the assembly Sept. 23, sought independence for all colonies "forthwith."

Hale Center Lad Gets Scholarship

CHICAGO (AP)—Dale McEachern, 15, of Route 2, Hale Center, Tex., was named winner today of a $500 college scholarship and one of the six national field crop winners at the 39th national 4-H Club Congress.

McEachern has specialized in raising certified grain sorghum, corn, and soybean seed. During his six years of 4-H field crop projects, Dale has participated with his father in a number of college experiment station research projects in cooperation with the Lubbock Experiment Station.

BACKACHE & NERVE TENSION

SECONDARY TO KIDNEY IRRITATION
Thousands are discovering how much stronger and better they can feel by eliminating ordinary kidney or bladder irritations. These irritations often occur after 24, and may make you tense and nervous from the frequent burning or itching irritation both day and night. Fortunately, you may now sleep and suffer from headaches, backaches and feel the depression. In such irritation, OTCHEK usually brings fast, reliable comfort by curbing irritating germs in the urine, acid urine and by giving a gentle pain relief. Safe for young or old. Get OTCHEK at drugstore. Post better fast.

A Sectarian Spirit

A sectarian spirit may be a bigoted spirit, or a stubborn and selfish spirit, that causes men to hold out as a separate group through self-will, thus perpetuating division. Such a spirit foreign to the spirit of Jesus Christ and the teaching of the Bible. Christ, how ever, did not advocate "unity at any price"; but once said, "Suppose ye that I am come to give peace on earth? I tell you, Nay; but rather division." (Luke 12:51). Loyalty to Him and His Word is more important than keeping peace with men. Taking the Word of God as the standard for determining right and wrong, the Christian is required to separate himself from that which is sinful. See II Cor. 6:14-18; Rom. 16:17; Eph. 5:11; II Jno. 9-11. Hence, unity is not to be gained at the sacrifice of truth and righteousness.—Adv.

Rustic Joker Also Known As 'Most Famous Barber'

By JULES LOH
HEARNE, Tex. (AP)—Cayce Moore leaned close to the ear of a stranger in his barber chair recently and whispered, ominously stropping his razor: "They say you can't get blood out of a turnip. But some say I could—if I shaved it."

The stranger snatched the towel from his face and shot upright; hometown in the shop merely grinned and shook their heads. They have come to expect such carryings on by The Nation's Most Famous Barber.

The townspeople weren't the ones to give Cayce Moore the title, however. Cayce gave it to himself. He feels he deserves it.

His fame is not so much for his tonsorial skill or chairside shenanigans as for his ability at the delicate and often abused art of after dinner speaking.

His reputation as a humorist is widespread, especially in the South and Southwest, and four-digit fees are not uncommon for his services at some big industrial conventions. Cayce considers himself one of the few real experts on humor. He spends every spare moment polishing his repertoire of jokes, which he keeps at about 1,000, adding new ones, discarding worn ones.

Bank tellers who cash his checks have asked Cayce more than once why he continues barbering. "I like barbering," he explains. "Besides, I'm so good at it I just get fascinated watching myself cut hair."

to "barber, humorist, philosopher, columnist."
"Somehow that didn't catch on," Cayce said. "So I threw that 'raconteur' at them. Some folks didn't know what it meant, but rather than admit it they just 'Raconteur' belongs, because more than anything else it is Cayce's skill as a story teller—plus his keen perception of humanity's foibles—that makes him a master at the art of humor.

His backwoods East Texas background adds additional spice to his anecdotes. His patter is embellished with colloquialisms which provoke snickers even before he gets to the punch line.

This Cayce comes by naturally. He was reared on a 70-acre river bottom dirt farm at the nearby Village of Marquez under circumstances that make his middle name, Wellborn, somewhat ironical.

Recently Cayce was recounting an episode from his youth for a New York salesman who had stopped in the shop for a trim. The salesman said he doubted there were three people in New York who ever heard of Marquez. "Probably true," drawled

Cayce. "And I doubt there are three people in Marquez who ever heard of New York."

At 14 Cayce went to work in the Marquez barber shop and picked up many a salty East Texas tale while putting in his daily stint. Five years later he got a job at the shop in Hearne (pop. 5,500) and began re-spinning all the old Marquez yarns, attaching his own embroidery to them.

He discovered his customers liked them, liked him, and business was good.

Editor Ted Rickenbacher soon persuaded Cayce to write some of his yarns for the weekly Hearne Democrat.

"Some of those early columns were terrible," Cayce shudders. "Pretty soon I got the hang of it, though, and occasionally I even fancied them up with a few semi-colons."

He also fancied them up with a picture of the author—taken when he was ill.

To Cayce's dismay, his readers refused to take him seriously a decade later when he waged a political campaign through the column for a seat in the Texas House of Representatives.

"Ain't gonna worry folks much

Cotton Maid
Miss Joan Weinke, 19, the girl with the pony tail, was named Maid of Cotton for the South Plains in Lubbock. She is a Texas Tech sophomore, daughter of an area gas owner and fiancée of a college football player. First alternate is Miss Lynda Elmore, 19, right, also a Tech student and second alternate is Miss Ethel Ann Glascock, 19, a bank employe.

about voting for me," he wrote. "If the race looks close in July, I may kiss a few babies. Right now it looks like I'll win in a walk."

After the election: "Never knew so many people wanted me to stay on as a barber. It makes a man feel good to know his friends appreciate him."

Whereupon Cayce organized the Defeated Candidates Club.

The DCC was—and is—a ludicrous success. Cayce's defeat was in 1948 and the club has held biennial banquets since, welcoming new members to its ranks after each major election.

Cayce appointed himself the first DCC president, and each president appoints his successor. "No voting in this organization," explains Cayce. "Makes the members jittery."

Other than its banquet, the DCC's aim is to do nothing. "We figure if people wanted us to do something they wouldn't have made us eligible for membership in this outfit," says Cayce.

Cayce seems to have a penchant for doing things opposite from everyone else.

Recently he and editor Rickenbacher went into the real estate business. Each week their ad appears in the Democrat with the current offerings.

Samples: "For sale—400 acres of poor land. It's so poor you can't raise your voice above a whisper. That's the kind they hit oil on."

"For sale—300 acres near Hearne. No house. Water—when it rains. Priced a little high."

Cayce is a lean 6-footer, plain faced and bald, with black horn-rimmed glasses. His temples and tuft of gray mustache are impeccably manicured, and his clothes are well tailored and expensive. He wears a tux on speaking engagements, which sometimes seems whimsically incongruous with his rustic delivery.

Because of his dry style, enthusiastic reviewers frequently describe as a modern day Will Rogers. Cayce idolizes Will Rogers, and abhors the comparison. "In the first place," he says, "it's ridiculous. There never will be another Will Rogers. And can you imagine the spot it puts me in when I have to follow a build-up line like that?"

"The Nation's Most Famous Barber," he said, "is enough distinction for me."

Coldest Norther Of Season Coming

By The Associated Press
The coldest norther of the season roared into the Texas Panhandle early Monday and sub-freezing temperatures were predicted for most of the state by dawn Tuesday.

Snow flurries were expected Monday in the Panhandle and widely scattered showers and thundershowers were predicted for the southern part of the state as the fast-moving front swept southward.

The mercury plummeted to 27 degrees at Dalhart and to 32 at Amarillo when the cold front hit that area. A low of 12 degrees was predicted for the Panhandle Monday night.

Cold wave warnings were issued as far south as the northern portions of South Central, Southeast and Southwest Texas where freezing or sub-freezing temperatures are forecast.

The new front blew in from Colorado and Wyoming where heavy snows whipped by winds up to 60 miles an hour stalled traffic.

Another cold front—a milder one from the Pacific—moved into Texas from the west Sunday with gusty winds of more than 50 miles an hour and blinding dust.

The two fronts were fast erasing the mild, moist autumn weather which the state enjoyed Sunday when afternoon temperatures ranged from 73 degrees at Amarillo and Dalhart to 85 at Presidio and Wink.

The approach of the two blustering cold fronts prompted the U.S. Weather Bureau to issue violent thunderstorm warnings with possible tornadoes for sections of Texas but the danger periods passed Sunday with none reported.

Beach Study

U.S. Senator Ralph Yarborough, left, and State Sen. Robert M. Baker look over reports on Padre Island at a meeting of the Texas Legislative Beach Study Committee of which Sen. Baker is chairman. Yarborough told the committee he plans to reintroduce his bill to make Padre Island a national park at the beginning of the next session of Congress. "This would be one of the greatest potential drawing cards to tourist traffic in Texas," he said.

'Col. Hunger' May Overthrow Castro

By HAROLD K. MILKS
SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro's Cuba is filled with disillusionment and dread. Yet the prospect of an armed overthrow of his Communist-orientated regime today appears more distant than ever.

This is indicated in a quick tour of four of this island's five provinces.

Many Cubans, both big and little, predict a relatively early end to Castro's revolutionary government. But most agree the end will come through economic collapse, rather than by an invasion or an uprising from within.

Cubans talk openly and privately against his rule, from Havana eastward to Santiago, Cuba's second largest city and capital of Oriente province, where the Castro revolution was born.

Most complaints are based on two factors — economic hardship and communism.

NOT FOR REDS
In Santiago, a longshoreman whose union had just been told by the government that workers no longer will receive overtime pay, told this correspondent:

"We have been asked to pull in our belts, to work more and eat less. We can do that, but I won't work for the communists and my companions won't either."

A businessman who has lived in Santiago all his life and now watches militiamen giving orders in the establishment he built, declared:

"You could expect people of my class to oppose Castro and his regime even though I and many like me helped it grow. But here in Santiago it is the little people who are feeling the pressure as much or more than we are."

"I give Castro six months more. Then not even his Communist-armed militia and his army of informants can control a hungry people."

OPTIMISTIC
Castro officials in Santiago insist their bearded leader is solving all economic problems in eastern Cuba rapidly and that soon this part of the island will become a worker's paradise. Many kinds of food that have vanished from the markets will again be available in plenty, they say.

A Cuban rancher, who watched his own and other ranches taken over by Castro's agrarian reform program, disagreed.

"At one time, Oriente had some of the finest herds in Cuba and we were able to supply other parts of Cuba with good meat and still have some left for export," he said. "Today, I believe not more than 50 per cent of the number of cattle we had in Oriente at the beginning of 1959 is still in the fields."

The rancher bitterly blamed government seizure of private ranches and the inexperience of the men Castro brought in to run them.

TROUBLE
A sugar man, who looked back over his shoulder before he spoke, predicted that not even an excellent growing season would save Castro from trouble when the sugar harvest begins in December.

"There is the problem of when to sell sugar once it is harvested and milled," he said. "But an even bigger problem is getting the harvest in. And I don't think Castro's appointees can do it."

"Running a sugar mill is a skilled job which calls for coordinated effort. That is why American sugar mill managers were among the best paid people in Cuba before they were ousted."

The sugar man predicted Castro's regime will close some sugar mills in Oriente and cannibalize their machinery to keep other mills running. One of Castro's engineers said workers at Moa Bay Mining Co. are cannibalizing that $75-million nickel and cobalt plant closed down by its American owners. Dismantled Moa Bay machinery is being brought to Santiago and elsewhere in eastern Cuba to keep other equipment, especially electric company power plants functioning, he said.

FEW HUNDRED

Only a few hundred desperate men are carrying on the counter-revolutionary struggle in the Sierra Maestra, the mountains where Castro launched his revolution. Yet when Castro visited Santiago recently to address the newly armed people's militia, he never left the heavily guarded airport. Castro's foes in Santiago feared he was afraid to enter this city that once lent his movement powerful support.

"Castro knows what will happen if he comes here," said a worker. "He knows he no longer is welcome in Santiago."

"It will be slow, but it will come," said a Santiago worker. "We can wait until more people are hungry."

And a gray-haired farmer whispered: "Fidel is a commandante (major) but hunger is a colonel and outranks him."

Kennedy Shows Slight Signs Of Harrassment On Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP)—The John F. Kennedy—father who's president-elect, mother, newborn son and small daughter—all appear to be doing splendidly, thank you, after quite a weekend.

for reports the infant had developed a respiratory or breathing ailment. "I'm very satisfied—I'm not worried about the baby, and I haven't been," Brooks said.

As for mother Kennedy's condition, Dr. John W. Walsh, who performed the Caesarean section, said she was feeling bright and chipper and that "everything is really going beautifully."

Father from time to time, however, did show some slight signs of harassment. The job of preparing to take over the presidency Jan. 20 is enough to keep any man extremely busy, but Kennedy's chores have multiplied rapidly since John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr. arrived early Friday, three weeks ahead of schedule.

INCUBATOR The infant was placed in an incubator at birth, normal procedure in the case of premature babies, and Brooks said it probably would remain there at least another day.

TO HOSPITAL Sunday night the president-elect was accompanied to the hospital by a brother and sister-in-law, Robert Kennedy and his wife Ethel. Robert's word for his new nephew: Terrific.

Dr. Edward B. Brooks, a pediatrician, said there was no basis for reports the infant had developed a respiratory or breathing ailment.

One new statistic was provided—John Jr. is 20 inches long. It was announced earlier he has brown hair. In the interest of as little handling as possible there has been no check on weight, the doctors said, since birth when he weighed in at 6 pounds 3 ounces.

Over the weekend, the president-elect solved one problem—how to tell Caroline about the addition to the family. He informed her that her mother was away getting her a brother.

Minuteman Program Near Buck Rogers Era

By HOWARD BENEDICT CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Within a few weeks a sleek Minuteman missile will stab skyward from this test center, signaling the start of a development program designed to give the United States a revolutionary weapons system bordering on the science-fiction concept of push-button war.

Once Minuteman is perfected, the Air Force plans the fastest missile buildup in U.S. history. The buildup, scheduled to start in mid-1962, will mark the beginning of an era when rockets rather than manned bombers will be the combat force in the Strategic Air Command.

Present plans call for at least 600 Minutemen to be deployed by late 1964. About 450 of these will be spread across the Western United States in hardened underground silos built to withstand a near-miss by a nuclear bomb.

2,000 MISSILES Defense planners are talking of eventually having 2,000 Minutemen.

THREE STAGES The Air Force will fire all three stages of Minuteman right from the start. Previous multistage military rocket programs began with the testing of just one stage.

BIG PUNCH "Atlas and Titan will still carry a bigger hydrogen warhead," he said, "but Minuteman's payload will provide a pretty big punch."

SECURITY If a detection alarm indicates unauthorized persons are in a silo area, security guards will be dispatched by helicopter.

10,000 MISSILES Officials say an enemy would have to launch more than 10,000 missiles against U.S. railroad tracks to immobilize the Minuteman train fleet.

When Minuteman reaches its present planned force of 600 missiles in 1964, there will be about 250 Atlas and Titan missiles on station.

Goals Panel Bares Costly U.S. Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's commission on national goals has outlined a program for America in the 1960s that would cost billions of dollars more of government spending.

This could mean a tax increase, the commission of 11 distinguished Americans concluded in a 30-page report made public by the White House Sunday. A copy was sent to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Specifically, the commission urged the nation to arm adequately no matter what the cost and to spend billions of dollars more on education, foreign aid, research and cities.

The national goals proposed by the commission also included the elimination of racial segregation, the reduction of unemployment, and a foreign policy that preserves the United Nations while remaining ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union on any reasonable basis.

The commission and its report stem from President Eisenhower's State of the Union message almost two years ago. In it, the President said the nation should define its national purpose and goals.

The report now serves as a legacy from the Eisenhower administration to the incoming Kennedy administration. In several respects, the recommendations resemble the "New Frontiers" program outlined by Kennedy in his campaign.

Eisenhower created the commission last January, naming Dr. Henry M. Wriston as chairman. Dr. Wriston is president-emeritus of Brown University and president of the American Assembly, an educational institution.

Frank Pace Jr., chairman of General Dynamics Corp., and a former secretary of the army, is vice chairman. On the NBC radio-TV program "Meet the Press" Sunday, Pace said efforts would be made to distribute the report widely and to promote discussions of its recommendations.

Members of the commission did not agree on all goals. Among them, AFL-CIO President George Meany dissented from several recommendations.

The commission said racial segregation should be wiped out by 1970 and barriers in education, voting, housing and other fields should be sharply lowered by that date.

The commission said the United States should maintain and strengthen the military alliances of the free world. But nuclear disarmament should be the ultimate goal.

Foreign aid, the report said, should be increased and shared by all major free nations.

Tax revision also was proposed. The commission said this would include more liberal depreciation allowances for industry and the closing of tax loopholes.

Winds Slash Plains Areas

By The Associated Press
Tornadoic winds, thunderstorms, blinding dust and swirling snow drove across the Great Plains as autumn's most severe storm moved eastward into the Mississippi Valley today.

The storm center whirled out of the Rocky Mountains into northern Kansas Sunday.

South of the front, gusty winds from the Gulf of Mexico sent the mercury to record heights for the season. Shirt-sleeved citizens enjoyed Sunday outings.

As the front advanced, icy winds from the northwest tumbled temperatures and drove blinding snow from Colorado into Nebraska and northwest Kansas. Snow depths had reached four inches early today.

The sharp contrast kicked up severe thunderstorms in Kansas, where a tornado flicked across the edge of Concordia, a town of 7,100. Several buildings were damaged, power lines and trees were knocked down.

Forty miles northwest of Concordia, as much as rain fell in 10 minutes, the Weather Bureau said.

'E' For Effort

Kathleen Soldan, the Booster Girl, decided she'd try baking her own composition for the annual Band Boosters fruit cake sale, instead of leaving it up to the band mothers, and selling the cakes like the other students. Neither she nor the kitchen, to say nothing of the cake, survived the experiment, as a glance at this picture will show. Kathleen (and Mrs. Soldan) decided the young miss henceforth will sell the cakes. Proceeds of the sale help the Boosters buy uniforms and pay for band trips.

Theatre Organist Has A Busy Time

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK
DALLAS (AP)—For the 21 minutes of glory a theater organist has each day at the dazzling, spotlighted console, there can be hours and hours of work in behind-the-scene maintenance.

Take it from Weldon Flanagan, who realized a youthful ambition the hard way—completely rebuilding the Palace Theater organ in Dallas in exchange for the job as organist—and has spent a good part of 10 years keeping the huge musical instrument in working order.

The organ—a Puxib No. 1 model—was one of the largest theater installations during the golden era of theater organs in the late 1920s and is one of the few in the nation still being played regularly.

Yet if it had not been for Flanagan's enthusiasm, persistence and two years of hard work, the Palace organ probably would have suffered the same dust-and-oblivion fate of many great pipe organs across the country.

The blond, bespectacled Flanagan, now 26, is not a member of the elite corps of old-time theater organists of the Jesse Crawford era—he was born too late for that. In fact, he is nearly five years younger than the Palace Theater organ.

Flanagan was fascinated by the old and seldomly used pipe organ at the Palace and he obtained permission to try it. A theater official who heard him at the console told Flanagan, then 14, that if he would get the organ into good working order, he could have the job playing it.

The organ cost $65,000 back in 1930 which would be but a fraction of its replacement price today. But it had long been neglected and a leaking roof above one of the organ lofts had done considerable water damage.

During the next two years Flanagan spent most of his available time and an estimated $2,000 of his own money replacing or repairing pneumatics, bellows, electrical contacts and other intricate fittings of the 1,500-pipe instrument with its elaborate and complicated percussions.

Several years after he started playing the Palace organ in 1950, Flanagan gave three performances daily, seven days a week, every week in the year.

"Although I love to play the organ, after a couple of years I began wanting a day off," he recounted.

The theater was agreeable but it made the mistake of failing to tell the public. The first day that Flanagan took off the theater had proof of his popularity—the box-office was besieged with patrons wanting refunds.

Now Flanagan plays three seven-minute performances four days a week and he takes an annual vacation.

New Foundry For Monterrey

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP)—The Monterrey steel mills will put into operation a new foundry costing $80 million in about two weeks, a spokesman said Sunday.

With the new installations, the mills will be able to double their steel production in 1961. Currently they are producing 225,000 tons a year.

Famous Knitter For Needy Dies

HANCOCK, N.H. (AP)—Lilla Upton, 86, widowed many years, who may have set a record with knitting needles, died Sunday at her home.

Throughout World War II Mrs. Upton knitted new sweaters a week for war relief. Since the war she sent 400 shawls to needy women in England through an aid group.

More Evidence In Collins Trial

HOUSTON (AP)—The defense offered more evidence today for Clarence (Sack) Collins in the third week of the Negro's murder trial.

Collins, a 300-pound longshoreman, is accused of being the trigger man in the murder-for-pay death of Mrs. Wilma Selby last year.

The defense has been trying to prove Collins was terrorized into signing a statement during the 35 hours police questioned him.

Joseph Selby, husband of the victim, was sentenced to life and Maggie Morgan, a Negro fortune teller, was sentenced to die in earlier trials.

Miss Patra Mae Bounds, another Negro defendant, has yet to be tried. She has been the state's best witness in the three trials.

Texas Republicans, Rebuffed On Recount, Will Try Again

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Republicans, rebuffed in earlier attempts to obtain an investigation and a recount of the Nov. 2 election, will challenge officially Friday's official canvass which certified the Democrats as the winners.

Thud Hutcheson, state GOP chairman, said Sunday after a Republican conference that the party's lawyer, Hardy Hollers of Austin, will ask to argue the appeal before the Texas Election Board Tuesday.

The Texas Election Board—composed of the governor, attorney general and secretary of state, all Democrats—declared Friday the state's 24 electoral votes went to the ticket of John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson by 46,233 votes.

The board rejected the Republicans' demands for a recount.

had not shown enough evidence of criminal fraud in vote counting to justify an attorney general's investigation.

The Republicans claim that more than 100,000 Texas voters were disfranchised in the election and their votes not counted due to a statewide inconsistent theory by election judges on which ballots should be counted and which should not.

"What is needed is for all votes that were thrown out to be judged alike," Hutcheson said. "When that is done, the people of Texas can be satisfied with the results. And only when that is done will we know who carried Texas."

Hutcheson and other top Texas Republicans have claimed that election judges followed inconsistent and erratic practices in judging whether paper ballots were marked legally or illegally. The State Election Board said Friday it had no authority to go behind voting results reported by each county.

Secretary of State Zollie Zateckley, backed by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, said state laws and interpretations by the Texas Supreme Court gave the board no authority to go behind returns submitted by county election officials.

Hutcheson said Sunday the board which certified the returns automatically becomes the state's board of canvassers in case of an election contest.

"Among the causes that are available to Texas Republicans is the right to contest before this board," he said. "What we are doing now is giving this board a chance to handle the matter, which includes our insistence on a statewide recount."

"It is their duty to hear, to try and to determine fairly any contest. We have asked previously for investigation. Now we are contesting."

Sparks Set Fire To Cotton Trailers

CROSBYTON, Tex. (AP)—Fire started when 50 mile winds carried sparks from a cotton burr incinerator Sunday destroyed 11 big cotton trailers at an estimated loss of $40,000.

The fire, which caused rerouting of U.S. 82 traffic, was at the Co-op Gin. Firemen and gin workers removed 40 other loaded trailers, although all suffered some fire damage.

Right Out Of Shakespeare

This Elizabethan period costume was fashioned from a bed spread, a pinned up coat, an old stole, a ruff from a Halloween costume and costume jewelry from a neighbor. Bolsters under the skirt are some large bath towels, but the improvisation is all part of the costuming game enjoyed by Mrs. George Moench, who is a professional costumer and designer.

Designer's Ingenuity Is Low-Cost Costume Aid

By LUCILLE PICKLE
There are many things in the professional life of Mrs. George Moench in which she takes much pride, but the biggest thrill was to make 87 costumes for a cost of $12 and a few cents—and that included the cleaning.

Mrs. Moench is the wife of Capt. George Moench, a doctor at Webb Air Force Base and the mother of two sons, Jeff and Michael. Professionally, she is a costume and scenery designer and a teacher of creative dramatics.

Her life has been a busy one since she finished high school in Stamford, Conn., in 1950, immediately went to radio station, an affiliate of CBS, and announced she wanted to do a program. When she was asked what type program she had in mind she promptly answered, "One for Young People", although that was the first inkling she had of what she had in mind. She was accepted and worked up an "accent on youth" presentation, with special emphasis on good music, good speakers and interviews with people known in the various fields of the arts.

At the end of the summer, she enrolled in Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, where she was planning to major in radio work. She became a licensed radio engineer. Her course schedule included zoology which was, strange as it seems, a very romantic part of her young life. Dissecting frogs in a zoo lab, our lady became faint, and the best place to become faint was very near the handsome pre-med student George Moench. He assisted her out of the lab that day, and she returned the favor by assisting him with expenses after they were married in 1952.

LOW FINANCES
The couple was strictly on their own, financially speaking, and they did many things to keep the home fires burning. They lived in a third floor walkup room in a building that housed many struggling young college couples, all in the same boat.

During her junior year at the University of Michigan where the two had transferred, Mrs. Moench took a costume course and was called on to pinch for a costume with the play "A Summer Place" that was presented by the University of Michigan's drama department, and starring Miriam Hopkins.

The university drama school sponsored five Broadway shows during the year, and with the first taste of costuming, our heroine was definitely a bar way as a costumer and designer. She worked in the costume lab for three years and had many rewarding experiences.

She remembers the graciousness of Faye Emerson, who starred in a play costumed by the company for which she was employed. She also recalls the 48 hours of straight work when the company of "Gentlemen, the Queens", an ill-fated presentation starring Helen Hayes, made some wardrobe changes. The play was given in four sets; Catharine the Great, Mary of Scots, Lady McBeth, and Queen Victoria. The McBeth costumes were already being made by the university group and they were bright and beautiful. In fact, they took all the luster from the costumes rented from a New York costuming house. The university workers got the job to do all the costumes and they did it—working two days without letup.

Mrs. Moench got her BA degree in speech and drama in 1954, and in 1955 Jeff was born. Daddy got his MD in 1958 and interned at Mound Park Hospital in St. Petersburg, Fla. In 1959, Michael joined the family. On July 7, Dr. Moench became Capt. Moench and was sent to the Aero-Space Medical School in San Antonio.

Professionally Mrs. Moench worked with the Tobin's Lake Studios in Ann Arbor, Mich. The biggest challenge was to costume and stage the auto shows out of Detroit each year. She traveled with the eastern tour and encountered many problems. The greatest one was to costume a show with an automobile as the star. Other problems were presented with moving from one city to another with stages of various sizes and inadequate space. She found that no two stages are alike. The cast of the shows were musical comedy stars, and these she worked with beautifully.

If Mrs. Moench had her choice, she would costume all Elizabethan shows. She likes the variety in the dress and playing up one costume against another, as in the fops' costumes in the Shakespearean plays.

ATTIC SEARCH
The big thrill of costuming the children's play, "All Baba and the Forty Thieves" for $12 came in Ann Arbor. This feat she accomplished by issuing a plea through the newspapers for the privilege of going through the attics of the homes of the city and taking what she could use. She found beaded flapper dresses, old curtains, feathers and what-have-you. She used everything available and dyed the curtains to achieve the gay effects she wanted to establish. Mrs. Moench still has one of the curtains which she used to help dress the form in the picture accompanying this article. When the costs were in, she had spent $12 and a few cents and the cleaning bill was included. This play was part of her creative dramatics class for children.

She would like to find time during the stay here to start such a class that would include lessons in art, drama, ballet and modern dance. And this petite, blonde charmer is just the lady to do it.

Derrell Fromans Will Make Home In Alpine

Mr. and Mrs. Derrell Wayne Froman will make a home in Alpine while the bridegroom is attending Sul Ross College; they were married Nov. 25 in the Methodist Church of Ravenna.

The bride is the former Leta Naomi Cave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cave, Ravenna; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Froman of Stanton.

The Rev. T. R. Hawkins, pastor of the church, read the double ring ceremony.

Nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Jimmy Norris, pianist, and Mrs. Kenneth Hall, vocalist.

Attired in white Chantilly lace over satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father; she carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink roses.

Lawana Froman, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor; bridesmaids were Mrs. John P. Cave, sister-in-law of the bride, and Margaret Donohue. All were dressed in pink brocaded taffeta with satin cummerbunds, and they carried bouquets of pink pompon chrysanthemums.

William Cave, brother of bride, was best man; ushers were Bobby and Billy McGough of Lubbock, cousins of the bride. Groomsman were John Paul Cave, brother of the bride, and their cousin, Daniel Leon Cave.

The couple's parents and their attendants assisted in receiving guests at the reception which followed the ceremony.

A graduate of Fannin High School of Ivanhoe, the new Mrs. Froman attended Draughon's Business College in Dallas and has been employed by the Lone Star Gas Company in that city.

The bridegroom graduated from Flower Grove School and is now a senior student in Sul Ross College, Alpine.

Club Opens With Dance

An overflow crowd danced Saturday evening at Cowden Country Club to celebrate the opening of the remodeled clubhouse.

During the afternoon, guests had called at an open house, at which wives of the directors formed the receiving line. Tours of the remodeled and redecorated building were made, and refreshments served.

At a later hour, hors d'oeuvres were served to members and their guests who assembled for the dance. Music was by The Down Beats.

Quick Sauce

Quick lunch: quarter hard-cooked eggs (freshly cooked and still hot) and arrange on buttered toast; pour mushroom sauce over and sprinkle with minced parsley or paprika for a bit of color.

DEAR ABBY

FORBIDDEN FRUIT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been wanting to write you for over a year but just couldn't get up the nerve. I am in love with my best girlfriend's husband. I am married, 23, and have two small children. I know he loves me for I see the love in his eyes when he looks at me. Call me silly if you want to, but I love him even though I have never kissed him. I have nothing against my husband, but I know I am in love with this man. What should I do?

FORBIDDEN LOVE
DEAR FORBIDDEN: What you feel is not "love"—it is a physical attraction you had better learn to fight it or it will destroy your marriage. If necessary, terminate the friendship with your girlfriend so that you will not be in this man's company. Forbidden fruit may taste sweeter, but it rots fast.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a teen-age sitter is advocating a "sitters' union." I think her proposed $3.00 an hour for "sitting" with one ill-mannered child is too high. I am a school teacher and earn about $2.00 an hour for "sitting" with 35 ill-mannered children. Ordinary sitters are not required to teach, grade papers, do lunch-room duty or playground duty, confer with 35 sets of parents or attend P-TA meetings. Nor are they asked to handle insurance money, lunch money or savings-stamps. I think ordinary sitters are overpaid at 50 cents an hour, especially when the child sleeps, leaving them free to raid the ice box, talk on the phone and watch TV.

SCHOOL TEACHER

(Please withhold my name or I would be fired, and we would find it impossible to hire a sitter while I look for a new job.)

DEAR ABBY: I hope someone who has had experience with a problem like ours can tell us if we are out of line or not. Our daughter is 19 and is out of high school and living at home. She is employed full time and is earning over $200.00 a month. Our disagreement comes when we ask her to give us $10 a week toward living expenses. She sleeps and eats at home. I do her laundry and never ask her to help in the house. Are we asking too much? We have four younger children and could use the money. She says nobody else does it.

JUST WONDERING
DEAR JUST: The amount you are asking for seems reasonable enough to me. If your daughter tried to rent an apartment and stock her refrigerator and get her laundry done on ten dollars a week, she'd soon find out that she's getting a pretty good deal.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DAVID: In 1962 King James said: "The Tobacco habit is filthy novelty—loathsome to the eye, hateful to the nose, harmful to the brain and dangerous to the lung."

Getting Married? For Abby's new pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, BOX 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of The Herald. She answers all letters.

Famed Composer Scores Churchill

EDITOR'S NOTE—Richard Rodgers has finished the musical score for a new TV series based on Winston Churchill's memoirs. No ordinary mood music, Rodgers explains his themes will help viewers smell the cigar smoke and hear with twice the impact the famous Churchillian prose.

NEW YORK — "I think that if we had just had Richard Burton read Winston Churchill's prose without the background, it would have been dull," said composer Richard Rodgers. "In fact, I think that the only person who wouldn't have seemed dull would have been Churchill himself."

Rodgers, a musical giant of the entertainment industry, was explaining the part music is expected to play in a documentary series, "Winston Churchill — The Valiant Years," which has its premiere performance on ABC Monday night (10:30-11 p.m.). It is based on the six-volume memoir of World War II by the former British prime minister.

"The problem is to project the essence, the texture of the man," continued Rodgers. "And this can only be done by a combination of three elements—the words, the pictures and the music."

"And the whole thing would fall if any one of these elements is out of proportion or out of whack. Each is important to the whole."

Rodgers, although perhaps best known for the fruits of his long collaboration with the late Oscar Hammerstein III in "Oklahoma," "Carousel," "The Sound of Music," "South Pacific" and other Broadway productions, is a veteran and skillful hand in this highly specialized area of "scoring" a television documentary.

It was Rodgers who composed the score for one of TV's first documentary classics, "Victory at Sea," produced with the cooperation of the U. S. Navy and first shown in 1953—and still being rerun on stations all over the country. His music for the series is the longest symphonic work ever written—13 hours of music. Some of the themes were recorded that year and recently volume one passed the quarter-million mark in sales.

"The basic truth about music and its importance in all of life is that there is no mood existing which cannot be heightened by music," the composer said. "A boy with his girl in a canoe on a moonlight night can do better if he's brought a radio along with him. A mood of fright, of anticipation, of romance, of whatever is sought for the audience in theater seats or living room armchairs is immensely heightened by the correct use of music."

Sometimes the music is carefully designed to be so unobtrusive the audience is almost completely unaware that it is an ingredient. At other points it swells to dominate the mind and ears.

Advertisers and producers of television programs are lavish users of "mood" music, increasingly so through the past few years. Advertisers long since have learned that music can be used very successfully for identification—they used it in that way far back in the days of radio.

Key Man

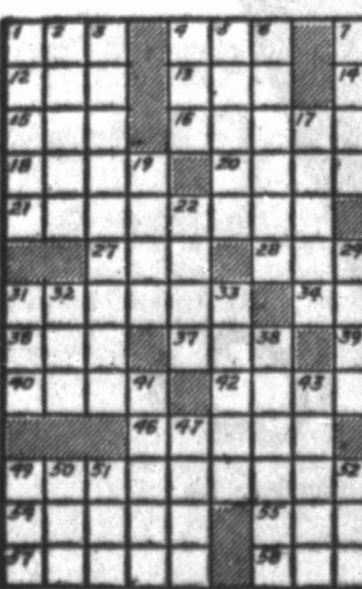

GAFFNEY, S. C. (AP)—Cherokee county officials had some bad moments when Roy Spencer, a prison trustee assigned to the courthouse, decided to walk away to freedom.

Spencer had the courthouse keys with him.

But someone found a spare set of keys—and officers also found Spencer.

Denver City And Anson To Tangle Here

Denver City's Mustangs and Anson's Tigers will tangle at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Memorial Stadium in a crucial Class AA quarterfinal tilt.

Denver City, 12-0 for the season, crushed Olton to advance to the quarterfinals, while Anson (7-4-1) showed a staunch defense as well as a cash-in offense in turning back Coleman last Saturday at Abilene to advance in the championship round.

Moore Favored Over Turner

DALLAS (AP)—Archie Moore, who had his first fight when his opponent of tonight—Buddy Turman—was just two years old, is favored to win the non-title 10-round bout.

Old Archie, who has been deprived of his world's light-heavyweight championship by the National Boxing Association for failure to defend it, is more concerned with winning over Turman tonight than what the NBA does.

He lost his last fight, to Italian Giulio Rinaldi, and wants to make up for that. Turman, the Tyler, Tex., heavyweight, also has some making up to do—he was knocked out by Canadian Bob Cleroux his last night out.

Turman, 26, is a little more than half as old as Archie admits to. The Moore-Turman fight is the second 10-rounder on the program being promoted here by Ralph Hall, a Dallas attorney. The other will send Donnie Freeman, Texas light-heavyweight champion, against George (Scrapiron) Johnson of Oklahoma City.

chamber of commerce, together with Robert Currie and John Currie, conferred with representatives of the two schools at Abilene after Saturday's game and invited them to play their game here. Big Spring is almost ideally situated, being 107 miles from Denver City and 114 from Anson. Sponsoring the arrangements here are the Quarterback Club and the chamber in cooperation with the local schools.

If Saturday's turnout at Abilene is any criteria, the game should draw a large crowd. More than 7,000 saw the Anson-Coleman game.

Froehling, Newman Junior Net Champs

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Frank Froehling and Butch Newman of San Antonio won the National Junior Indoor Tennis doubles championship Sunday.

They beat Arthur Ashe Jr. and Jimmy Parker of St. Louis, 10-8, 6-3.

Ashe defeated Froehling 6-4, 16-14, 9-11, 3-6, 6-1 for the singles championship.

Martin Schaed of Louisville and John Pickens of Tuscaloosa, Ala., won the boys doubles title by defeating Bill Bane of Odessa, Tex., and Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., 4-6, 12-10, 8-6.

Ozona Team Paces Bowling Tournery

The Flying W. Ranch team of Ozona took the lead in the initial weekend of the second annual area bowling tournament here. The event is being sponsored by Pinkie's.

The Ozona women bowlers rolled a total of 2,316 to outdistance the Cactus Petroleum No. 2 team of Midland, 2,703.

Fifty-one teams have entered from nine West Texas towns, including Midland, Odessa, Andrews, Colorado City, Ozona, Big Spring, Graham, San Angelo and Abilene.

Tempo Quickens For Cup Team

MELBOURNE (AP)—The United States Davis Cup Team was put on a war footing today 10 days before the crucial match with Italy in the interzone finals.

At the same time, captain David Freed gave instructions that youngsters Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif. and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis be whipped into top competitive shape.

Ralston and McKinley shot themselves solidly into Uncle Sam's Davis Cup doubles picture today by beating Australia's number two team, Bob Howe and Rod Laver, 12-14, 7-6, 6-2, 7-5, in a quarterfinal match of the Victorian Tournament.

America's top players, Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, also moved into the semi-final round by defeating Bob Mark and Robert Hewitt of Australia 6-2, 6-2, 2-6, 9-7.

MacKay and Buchholz, as well as McKinley are in the singles quarter-finals scheduled Tuesday. Buchholz faces Laver and McKinley meets Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy.

Only Unbeaten Major Teams Meet In Class AAAA Playoff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wichita Falls, making its bid for a second state championship in three years, meets Ysleta this week in a clash of the only unbeaten teams left in the Class AAAA division of Texas schoolboy football.

Down in Class A there's another struggle of undefeated teams as Stinnett takes on Plains. The latter has been tied but Stinnett hasn't even been pressed in its drive to the quarter-finals.

Port Worth Paschal meets Lufkin. Houston Bellaire tackles Port Arthur and Corpus Christi Miller engages San Antonio Jefferson in Class AAAA quarter-final games. Lufkin, the East Texas upstart that has upset about everything, gets a mild nod over Paschal on the basis of comparative scores. Lufkin beat Longview 14-7 and Longview trimmed Paschal 20-12.

New Mexico Wins Border Title And Perfect Record

By BOB WOOD
Associated Press Sports Writer
Three years ago New Mexico State decided to rebuild its struggling football fortunes and called on veteran Coach Warren Woodson to handle the chores.

A year later the University of Arizona followed suit and picked young Jim Larue to direct the reconstruction program.

HCJC Frosh Look Good At Lubbock

Howard County Junior College freshmen battled the C. & I. Insurance team to a standoff for three quarters Saturday at Lubbock before losing 78-70.

The Lubbock team, including several Texas Tech stars, is one of the stronger AAU teams in that area. It pulled away to a 15-point lead after a nip-and-tuck tilt, but the Jayhawks frosh closed part of the gap in a late rally.

S'west Conference Attendance Has Substantial Season Gain

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
Except for bowl teams in four camps the tumult and the shouting have died in Southwest Conference football, leaving Arkansas the champion and an attendance increase over which to mull.

Arkansas became the undisputed champion for the third time Saturday when Baylor showed off for its Gator Bowl sponsors by clipping Rice 12-7. It left Arkansas on top with a 6-1 record while Rice, Baylor and Texas tied for second with 5-2.

Arkansas already was in the Cotton Bowl, where it will oppose Duke Jan. 2. Baylor was in the Gator Bowl, where it will clash with Florida Dec. 31. Texas was in the Bluebonnet Bowl, where it will meet Alabama Dec. 17, and Rice got into the Sugar Bowl despite its loss to Baylor and will tackle mighty Mississippi Jan. 2.

Bowl Games Lucrative For Southwest Teams

DALLAS (AP)—Arkansas will get $100,750 and Texas, Rice and Baylor $97,750 for bowl appearances. They'll have to work some for their money, however. The Southwest Conference schools that stay at home and watch the games on television will receive $37,750.

The Southwest Conference will reap its richest harvest from bowl games this time, pulling down $545,000 before any spitting is done.

Arkansas meets Duke in the Cotton Bowl, Rice plays Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl, Baylor takes on Florida in the Gator Bowl and Texas tackles Alabama in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

CONROE (AP) - Dennis Duane Goolsby, 14, ninth grade student at Conroe High School, died almost instantly late Sunday in a hunting accident at a deer lease near Anderson in Grimes County.

He was hunting with his father, Duane Goolsby, a Conroe butcher, and Darrell Prant, Conroe policeman. The father said the three were hunting separately when Goolsby and Prant heard Dennis' gun fire.

They thought the boy had shot a deer, and then they heard him cry out. He was still alive when his father found him under a tree, and it was assumed he dropped his shotgun and it discharged.

'The Valiant Years' Finest Half-Hour

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Movie - TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Broadcasting Company has achieved its finest half hour with its new "Valiant Years" which made its debut Sunday night.

Based on the six volumes of Churchill's memoirs, the 26 programs will tell the story of World War II, largely through the former prime minister's words and from his viewpoint.

This reporter had a preview of the first and third programs in the series and found them dramatic, thoughtfully and lovingly constructed and deeply moving. Researchers must have worked endlessly selecting the old news-reel clips and still photographs of the troubled times and the prime minister, but they were perfect.

Richard Burton, a fine English actor, was an excellent choice to read Churchill's prose—he did not try to imitate the old man, (whose own voice was used for some of his memorable speeches) but gave it richness and flavor. Gary Merrill did the narration, smoothly and convincingly.

A magnificent score by Richard Rodgers welded the bits and pieces of the giant jigsaw into an emotion-tapping whole. In a way, it is reminiscent of the 1952 "Victory at Sea" series, but is more gripping because it is more personal.

The initial program—"The Gathering Storm"—is not the most effective of the series, but it was essential in starting the project, to run through the events leading up to Britain's declaration of war. Even so, with the use of charts, maps, and re-enactments—and the score—it was concise and interesting. The third program, telling the story of the rescue of the British army at Dunkirk by the "mosquito fleet" was a sample of what a stunning series it will be.

Don't miss this one, even if it is on pretty late Sunday night.

A professional bowler, J. Wilbert Sims of Chicago, will have a chance tonight to hit one of the first big money jackpots since last season's quiz show scandals. During a seven-minute period on Milton Berle's live bowling show on NBC, Sims can win $50,000 if he rolls six consecutive strikes. He will have two opponents, but neither of them has rolled up enough credits to take home that kind of cash if they win the match.

New Deal Planner Dies

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA. (AP)—Donald R. Richberg, 79, who helped plan the Democrats' New Deal in the 1930s but became a self-described "repentant politician" in his old age, died unexpectedly Sunday.

The lawyer and author had complained of feeling ill in the morning. Shortly afterward he was found dead by his wife.

A funeral service will be held at 11 a. m. Tuesday at St. Paul's church in the nearby village of Ivy. Burial will be Wednesday in Ft. Lincoln Cemetery, Washington.

Richberg helped write the Railway Labor Act that passed Congress in 1926, but his chief fame stemmed from his part in shaping President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal in the depression years. He was co-author of the National Industrial Recovery Act in 1932 and later became general counsel and board chairman of the National Recovery Administration.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Elvis Presley's fans are gloating these days, and one can hardly blame them.

Ever since the singer's star first began to shine, the great majority of critics and other experts have decried his singing and his contortions. Perhaps these critics may have been justified to the degree that Elvis' contortions resembled the bumps and grinds of burlesque, or that his earlier musical selections could hardly be called musical.

Yet, these same critics had the opportunity on several occasions to note that Elvis Presley did have a considerable potential, but most of them ignored the fact.

Now, Elvis was no great shakes in his first movie, "Love Me Tender," yet he wasn't as bad as he was panned. I am glad to say that I was not numbered among Mr. Presley's detractors—in my review of "Love Me Tender," I noted that he could sing when he really wanted to, and that he showed good potential as an actor.

Well, he's out of the U.S. Army now, and in his first picture since then, "G.I. Blues," Presley finally is beginning to show his potential. It's a swinging cool comedy about GI life in Germany that will appeal to adults as well as teen-agers. In fact, Presley's career so far could be compared to that of Frank Sinatra, if one leaves out the latter's interim between singer and actor when he was almost forgotten.

The plot of "G.I. Blues," swiped apparently from a Milton Caniff "Miss Lace" cartoon strip from World War II, finds Presley reluctantly agreeing to melt the cold-cold-heart of a German nightclub dancer so that his buddies may win a bet.

As it turns out, his pals win the bet because he spends the night with the dancer in her apartment. But they lose the bet, because all Presley and the girl were doing was baby-sitting for a couple of friends who had left to get married. But they won because—oh, go see it yourself.

Presley reflects a growing maturity in his acting. Like the famous Brando one did, he seems to be getting away from the juvenile delinquent typing and into some real dramatic acting. We hope to see him grow still more.

But the greatest news is in his singing. There is rock-n-roll, of course, but there are other, quieter songs, such as a ditty he sings with a puppet and a lullaby during his baby-sitting chore. It is this quieter type of song that reveals a singer's real talent, and Presley shows that he has talent in large degree, although his voice could use some more training.

Presley's co-star, in the role of the nightclub dancer, is Juliet

Prowse, the same dancer who made a great hit in "Can Can." She acts well, but with her piquant face and her amazing dancing, who cares? I find all I can say about Juliet is: Wow!

Busiest Actor Pegged As Young Gable

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Stuart Whitman, ex-boxer, ex-football player and ex-bulldozer, is the busiest actor in Hollywood because his bosses long ago pegged him as a young Clark Gable.

Studios for years have been looking for a young successor to the famed star. Now that death has taken the king, the search will be intensified.

A 20th Century-Fox executive explains Whitman's current work schedule, a throwback to the early 1930s.

"When you have someone who has the potential," says the executive, "there is only one way to build a major star—and that is by exposure. And we don't mean TV exposure—that's overexposure and usually a casting rut."

"About a year ago we decided Whitman had a little of the early Gable appeal in him, so we put him in movie after movie without a day off. Watch what happens to this boy in the next year."

It's true. Whitman finished "Murder, Inc." in New York City, came home and kissed his wife and four kids goodby and left for Ireland to make "The Mark."

That was his first trip overseas. As the picture neared its 11-week schedule, he bought a new English car and cabled his wife to join him for a continental vacation. She did, but she, like Whitman, saw only Ireland.

He finished work on a Friday and was told to report back to the studio on Monday to start "The Fiercest Heart." The last week of that picture he was told to start packing again. Now he's in Italy making "St. Francis of Assisi."

He plays the fun-loving and disbelieving playboy friend of the saint.

"Stu doesn't know it," says the Fox executive, "but we may give him a week off between this one and his next—provided 'St. Francis' doesn't go over schedule."

Exposure plus a variety of roles—some of them heavier—is the Whitman program. It parallels that of Gable's 30 years ago.
