Rocky, Nixon Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said after meeting with Vice President Richard M. Nixon today there is no struggle for power in the Republican party.

Rockefeller said he and the vice president have agreed they must cooperate to make the party a "positive, progressive force in America."

The governor, however, did not back down from statements he has made in the last few days which question the role of Nixon in the party.

Rockefeller again agreed that Nixon is the titular head of the party. But he said that National Chairman Thruston B. Morton is the actual head of the GOP because the national committee is the vehicle through which the party operates.

PASSES UP Rockefeller passed up an opportunity to give Morton full endorsement for re-election as chairman.

But, when asked if he thought another man should be national chairman, Rockefeller merely said it was not his position to name the chairman—the national committee does that.

The meeting between Nixon and Rockefeller was their first since early in the campaign.

Rockefeller had been a rival for the Republican nomination before the GOP convention, and the two possibly could battle for the nomination in 1964.

They met in Nixon's Capitol office today for an hour and a half. After the session, Rockefeller answered questions by waiting newsmen.

AGREED He said both he and Nixon recognized the magnitude of the international and national problems faced by the country and agreed that the party must take a positive rather than a negative position.

He added that in working to keep the party united he and Nixon will keep in touch through the national chairman and other channels of party communication.

Rockefeller parried several questions about his plans and proposals for the national scene in the next few years. He repeated that he will seek re-election as governor in 1962.

Rockefeller's reiteration that he considers Nixon the party's leader in name only continued a disagreement with President Eisenhower who had indirectly taken issue with Rockefeller's earlier statement.

Eisenhower said at a White House dinner Wednesday night that Nixon should be regarded as head of the party the next four years.

Asked for comment on Eisenhower's view after visiting the President at the White House Thursday, Rockefeller told newsmen: "I wouldn't want to debate with the President on that subject."

VOTING BEGINS SATURDAY ON COUNTY ROAD BOND ISSUE

The absentees have cast their ballots and Saturday at 8 a.m., the rest of the county electorate will begin casting decisions at 15 polling places on the $150,000 county road bond issue.

Citizen backers of the proposal are urging a big turnout at the polls, as a two-thirds majority is necessary to approve the bonds. The bond money will be used to purchase right-of-way for four major highway projects in the county during 1961-62.

Proponents point out that the State will build the roads if the right-of-way is furnished by the county. Although a considerable amount of such right-of-way has been purchased with regular tax funds, the county commissioners have exhausted money which can be used for this purpose.

The first of the four road projects will be conversion of U.S. 87, north from Big Spring to the Martin County line, from a two-lane to a four-lane highway.

Another project is construction of the Hamlin Road, FM 846, in the northern part of the county. The other two projects will be east and west extensions and improvements to FM 700.

The polls will remain open through 7 p.m. Voters who do not have transportation, may call the Yellow Cab Co., AM 4-2541, anytime during the day for a free ride to their voting box, according to Manager George Russell.

Congo Troops Nab Lumumba

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu announced today that his soldiers arrested Patrice Lumumba and had threatened to shoot the premier. Mobutu said he sent strict orders that Lumumba was not to be harmed.

Relaxed and smiling, the Congo army leader received reporters at his home to tell about the capture. Mobutu said a plane is en route to bring Lumumba back here from Port Francqui, where he was arrested.

Six companions also were taken into custody just four days after Lumumba fled his guarded residence in this capital, presumably to head for Stanleyville and an effort to seize power.

Mobutu said soldiers holding Lumumba threatened to shoot him "as a traitor" if he was not collected from them by 2 p.m.

IT ISN'T DONE "I told them a commander does not accept that sort of ultimatum from his subordinates," Mobutu declared. "They have been warned that any man who harms Lumumba will have to answer for his acts."

"Lumumba will be brought back to Leopoldville to face trial," he said. Mobutu said a plane has been sent from Leopoldville to Lubumbashi to collect Lumumba and the four persons arrested with him. There is no airfield at Port Francqui large enough for this plane to land, so a smaller plane probably will deliver Lumumba and the other prisoners to Lubumbashi tonight or Saturday.

Among those arrested with Lumumba was Anicet Kashamura, Communist-leaning information minister in Lumumba's deposed government.

Mobutu said Lumumba would be tried for inciting the army to rebellion and other "common law crimes."

BOOED AND JEERED He said he had received information that the population of Port Francqui booed and jeered Lumumba as he was escorted through the town and called him "Judas and traitor."

The arrest, he said, was made by a company of 180 military police stationed at Port Francqui. Lumumba reached the Kasai River port by automobile after a desperate four-day flight across the wild bush country east of the capital. Port Francqui is some 500 miles in a straight line from Leopoldville, but the distance of the tortuous jungle tracks is much greater.

Mobutu claimed the area is completely under the control of his men. He expressed confidence his orders would be obeyed to the letter and that Lumumba would arrive in the capital within a day or two.

He said he would call off the nationwide hue and cry for Lumumba's followers, issued after Lumumba's flight Sunday.

ALL HE NEEDS "Now that I have Lumumba and Kashamura, that is all I need," he said. "The others are no longer any danger."

After Lumumba was ousted as premier by Mobutu in mid-September he remained in the official premier's residence. The United Nations gave him a protective guard but this was withdrawn after he slipped out of the house Sunday night. He eluded Congolese soldiers assigned by Mobutu to keep the ex-premier from escaping. Mobutu held a warrant for his arrest.

The U.N. spokesman said Lumumba could expect no United Nations protection outside of the capital.

Initial reports from the Howard County Tuberculosis Association reflect about one-fourth of the year's Christmas Seal sale attained.

The first tabulation showed that $1,560 had been mailed in by residents purchasing seals.

Approximately 7,000 envelopes containing a supply of the seals were mailed out in mid-November. The local association retains 84 per cent of the funds raised through seal purchases, and this is the principal source of income for financing the program of work for the year.

The association has been active for many years in providing patch and tuberculin tests for school children, and has cooperated in follow up X-ray and other studies where positive reactions have resulted from the skin tests.

U. S. Officially Labels Cuba Red-Controlled

Canines Calm As Satellite Moves In Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's newest space ship—bathed by Premier Khrushchev as "a step to man's flight into space"—was reported zipping around the earth today with its two canine passengers taking the trip calmly.

All is working well in the 5-ton satellite, Moscow radio said, and the two dogs aboard, Pchelka (Little Bee) and Mushka (Little Fly), are under television scrutiny "making it possible to note the calm behavior of the animals in conditions of weightlessness."

If the pattern set down by the Soviets' August space ship, which also carried two dogs, is followed by a Soviet scientist they may try to bring the satellite back to earth after 24 hours aloft.

The satellite, described by the Soviets as their third space ship, was launched Thursday. Signals from its transmitters were monitored at various laboratories in the United States and elsewhere.

While attending a diplomatic reception Khrushchev told newsmen the scientists probably would try to bring the space ship back to earth "but the scientists know better than I do." He did not add much detail on the vehicle but said "it's big enough for a man to eat his dinner inside."

Also aboard are plants, insects and other small animals.

Archbishop, Pope Confer

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury conferred with Pope John XXIII for more than an hour in the pontiff's private study today.

The archbishop left Vatican City at 1:16 p.m., an hour and nine minutes after entering the study.

Pope John, who has just passed his 79th birthday, is the supreme pontiff of the world's 900 million Roman Catholics.

It was the first such meeting since King Henry VIII of England broke away from papal authority in the 16th century.

The archbishop, 73, who suggested the meeting, came here from visits to Orthodox Church patriarchs in Jerusalem and Istanbul.

Arrangements for the archbishop's visit were simple, unmarked by the fanfare that accompanies official visits of heads of state to the Vatican.

The archbishop, when asked before the meeting what would be discussed, said simply: "We shall talk about nothing and about everything. We will talk in terms of Christian friendship and courtesy."

Mrs. Ferguson Spends Fair Night AUSTIN (AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson spent "a fair night," a local hospital reported today.

The former governor suffered a heart attack Wednesday night. Her doctor said she will remain in the hospital several days.

Mrs. Ferguson and her husband, James Ferguson both were elected to two terms as governor.

OTHERS TO BE APPOINTED

Jack Names Prof As Budget Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today named Harvard professor David E. Bell as his budget director and said he is hopeful of completing, or nearly completing, his Cabinet by the end of next week.

So far, Kennedy's only Cabinet appointment has been that of Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut to be secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

That came Thursday, a few hours after Kennedy had tabbed Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan to be assistant secretary of State for African affairs.

Those were the first major selections by Kennedy except for some members of the White House staff.

Bell, 41, secretary of Harvard Littauer Center for Public Administration, stood by the president-elect's side as Kennedy made the announcement.

The first job for Bell, who served as an administrative assistant in the administration of President Harry S. Truman, will be to serve as liaison officer for the incoming Kennedy administration in discussions with Eisenhower's budget director, Maurice E. Stans.

KENNEDY PATTERN After that he will have to start laboring Eisenhower budget recommendations to the Kennedy pattern.

The post to which Kennedy appointed Bell is a key one in any administration.

The selection of Bell is the third top-level assignment made by Kennedy outside of his immediate White House staff.

Kennedy said Bell will start work next week, at the Budget Bureau "if this is agreeable to the President." (Eisenhower) but in any event will start his tasks at the beginning of the week.

The president-elect said Mike Feldman, a member of his Senate office staff, will serve as an assistant to Bell until the start of the Kennedy administration, then shift over to become a member of the White House staff.

Kennedy and Bell had never met until they conferred at length at the president-elect's home Wednesday evening. Bell had been highly recommended by Truman administration officials.

Bell, 6 feet 4, is a native of Jamestown, N.D., who grew up in California and was graduated from Pomona College. Later he received his master's degree in economics at Harvard and then won a one-year fellowship at the Littauer center.

He joined the Budget Bureau in 1942 as an analyst in the war organization school, but left shortly to enlist in the Marine Corps.

In 1945 he returned to the Budget Bureau and quickly became top economist in the fiscal division. He came to the attention of Truman's special counsel, Charles Murphy, who had him transferred to the White House for work on presidential messages and other legislative and executive assignments.

Eventually he was appointed an administrative assistant to Truman.

Kennedy, hatless in the chill, stood before his front door to make the announcement today with Bell at his side.

In reply to questions, he said delinquency before it occurs.

The council had adopted a $13,605,636 budget for the two years beginning Sept. 1, 1961, up about $2.5 million from the current biennium. Included in the budget are $2,635,750 for new buildings and a home for neglected Negro children.

The proposed juvenile parole system would cost $168,300 the first year and $303,300 the second year.

The value of such a program has been proven beyond question both to be economical to the state and to be sound practice. Constructive restraining and rehabilitation of delinquent children, even under ideal institutional conditions, must be followed with close, active supervision after release on parole," Truman says.

Gov. Price Daniel and the Texas

G. MENNEN WILLIAMS To important African post

he does not intend to raise the Budget Bureau to cabinet status.

"No," he answered this question. "The relationship is satisfactory the way it is."

Asked whether Bell might sit in at the Budget Bureau from now on to Jan. 20, the president-elect said Clark Clifford, his liaison man will discuss this at once with the Eisenhower administration.

Kennedy said the nation and the administration are fortunate to have a man of Bell's experience.

"I am delighted he has been able to arrange his affairs so he can come with us," Kennedy said. Bell's salary will be $22,500 a year.

After announcing the Williams appointment Thursday, Kennedy met with Robert A. Lovett, a Republican who was secretary of defense and under secretary of state in the Truman administration.

ADLAI FRIEND On a busy morning, before taking off for a weekend at Palm Beach, Fla., Kennedy had an engagement with John Sharon and George Ball, close associates of Adlai E. Stevenson. The subject for discussion was a report Stevenson, the two-time Democratic nominee for president, has submitted to Kennedy's request on possible trouble spots around the world.

Earlier, Kennedy had a breakfast conference with Hy Raskin, Chicago lawyer, former Stevenson aide and one of Kennedy's top campaign advisers, especially in the West.

Raskin told reporters afterward

UF Campaign Stalls Out As Workers Fail Of Goal

The annual United Fund campaign stalled out Thursday as workers tried to push the drive over the goal.

Although more than $1,000 was collected during the one-day cleanup push, the campaign was $5,300.50 short of its goal this morning. The campaign committee had set a goal of $6,310.

A special committee visited Coshona this morning to assist Joe it was his first visit with Kennedy since the election and they spent most of the time talking about it, discussing particularly "states we thought we should have carried."

NO CLUE Beyond saying he hopes to have the Cabinet virtually complete by the close of next week, Kennedy gave no clue as to when other appointments may be coming along.

He said he will have a major announcement Saturday in Palm Beach.

Kennedy will return here Monday and confer with President Eisenhower Tuesday. Mrs. Kennedy and their week-old son will go to Palm Beach next week. Kennedy will follow later and remain over the Christmas holiday.

Kennedy strongly indicated he had tried unsuccessfully to persuade Lovett, now a New York investment banker, to serve in the new Democratic regime.

"I would love to see him come back," Kennedy said, adding that "it is a great regret to me that he has retired" from further government service.

SOUGHT ADVICE Kennedy said he had sought Lovett's advice on defense and fiscal policies—possibly a tip that the president-elect had hoped that Lovett would agree to be secretary of defense. Kennedy said Lovett had expressed willingness to serve from time to time as an adviser.

Ribicoff likewise was present when Kennedy announced he would head the Welfare Department—an agency which will have a key role in preparing for Congress the new administration's programs in the fields of medical care for the aged, social security generally, and aid to education.

Ribicoff's term as governor has two years to run. He plans to resign when his nomination to the $25,000-a-year Cabinet post is confirmed by the Senate.

Ribicoff is the first Jew to be elected governor of Connecticut—a predominantly Protestant-Roman Catholic state.

POLITICAL CREED Ribicoff says his political creed is to travel the middle of the road—that it's the way to get things done in politics and government.

The son of poor immigrant parents, Ribicoff before becoming governor served two terms in the U. S. House of Representatives, was a member of the Connecticut Legislature, and was a city judge in Hartford.

Refugee Aid Fund Is Tip-Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today officially labeled the Cuban government of Fidel Castro as Communist-controlled.

It did so by releasing $1 million for aid of Cuban refugees under a provision of the Mutual Security Act which permits such spending to assist refugees from Communist-controlled countries.

President Eisenhower released the money for aiding Cuban refugees in Florida.

In announcing the action, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said, in reply to a question, that it means this country regards Cuba as Communist-controlled.

Tracy Voorhees, who has been looking into the Cuban refugee situation for Eisenhower, today was given formal status as the President's representative.

He told a news conference in Hagerty's office that he did not expect to use all of the money released by Eisenhower. Voorhees said he thought large amounts of aid money should come from charitable organizations, foundations, corporations, and individuals.

He said he thought what federal money was used would be largely for transporting refugees to find work.

Voorhees said there are about 30,000 Cuban refugees in Florida. He said the problem is being aggravated because more and more children are arriving without parents. He explained that each refugee can bring in only $5 in American money.

Court Decides Crow Is Blackie

ARTESIA, N.M. (AP)—Blackie is doing the crowing today. That's because Justice of the Peace Elmer Perry ruled that a pet crow is Blackie and not Aloysius.

The court action to determine the ownership of the crow was started by Mrs. Paul Mathew, who claimed that the crow was Blackie and belonged to her family.

Mrs. H. S. Guinan counter-charged that the crow was Aloysius, her family's pet.

Some 20 witnesses appeared in the case, but their testimony was inconclusive.

The crow added little help by answering to both names.

Highways For Progress

Your vote is doubly important, in the highway bond election Saturday.

This is literally true, because under a specific state statute governing this type of bond election, the proposed issue must carry by a two-thirds majority, or two-to-one. Advocates of the proposal thus must gather wide support at the polls.

THE PROPOSITION Saturday is whether or not Howard County is to issue $150,000 in bonds, the money to be used to purchase right-of-way for various road projects which the State of Texas is ready to build. These have been described in earlier articles.

Every person who has property rendered on the county tax rolls, and who is otherwise qualified under Texas voting laws, may cast a ballot.

Polling places are in the 16 precincts, where Democratic-primary and general elections were held. Polls are open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

THE BONDS would be issued on a 7-year basis, and be retired under a special tax levy of 4c. This means about 80c per year for the owner of a $10,000 home. The tax automatically goes off when the bonds for which it was authorized are paid out.

The Herald urges a resounding vote in favor of this bond issue. The highway projects involved are vital to the county's continued good growth. They will serve a sound need. They will stimulate commerce and traffic, and they are part and parcel of progress.

THE COST to the county is inconsequential, when it is considered that construction outlay by the state will run well over two million dollars on the projects. And the state is ready to go.

This is another beckoning opportunity to keep Howard County in the upper brackets with good, profitable highways. This is a bargain. This is a "must."

Be sure and vote Saturday.

Delinquency, Other Youth Problems Among Items Awaiting Legislature

By LEE JONES AUSTIN (AP)—Juvenile delinquency and other youth problems are among items the legislature will be asked to remedy.

Texas Youth Council Director James Turman says: "I see no decrease in juvenile crime in this state. I see nothing but an increase."

Dr. Turman says the crime rate for Texans under 17 increased 104 per cent between 1952 and 1959. The state population rose only 23 per cent.

The lawmakers will be asked for more than $13.5 millions for the next two-year state financing period.

Another problem will be special laws setting up a juvenile parole system to keep young offenders from plunging headlong into a life of crime, and to prevent juvenile delinquency before it occurs.

The council had adopted a $13,605,636 budget for the two years beginning Sept. 1, 1961, up about $2.5 million from the current biennium. Included in the budget are $2,635,750 for new buildings and a home for neglected Negro children.

The proposed juvenile parole system would cost $168,300 the first year and $303,300 the second year.

The value of such a program has been proven beyond question both to be economical to the state and to be sound practice. Constructive restraining and rehabilitation of delinquent children, even under ideal institutional conditions, must be followed with close, active supervision after release on parole," Truman says.

Gov. Price Daniel and the Texas

as citizens committee of the National Probation and Parole Association have endorsed the idea of a juvenile parole system.

Five area supervisors would be hired the first year along with 20 parole officers. The number of parole officers would be increased by 45 by 1963. The last legislature rejected a prior youth council request for a parole system.

The lawmakers also will receive a lengthy list of remedies prescribed by Youth Council Chairman W. C. Windsor Jr. of Dallas.

Robert Kneebone of Houston, and other two members of the council, disagreed with Windsor, but the chairman said in March he plans to take his ideas to the legislature window.

Windsor's plan would make broad use of public school and state hospital facilities in programs to furnish delinquents or potential delinquents with care, training and supervision.

The Youth Council chairman indicated he would suggest to the legislature these methods to curb juvenile crime:

Twelve years of compulsory education, expanded school health services, extension of school closing hours until 5 p.m. to provide care for children with mental or social needs which cannot be met during regular hours and for children whose parents work; addition and expansion of counseling services in all schools; elimination of the practice of expelling or suspending students; special schools for children with academic or social adjustment problems; and a parental training course to teach high school fathers the "legal and moral responsibilities of parenthood" and identification and study of child development during the first six years.

Windsor also believes state hospital and special schools facilities should be expanded to provide care for children with intelligence quotients below 70.

The Youth Council is seeking funds for a new training unit for 240 boys at the big Gatesville State School. Three new dormitories are needed at the Gatesville State School for Girls, the council says.

The state home for Negro children is marked down in the budget for $1,123,000.

The Youth Council recommendations are being studied by state budget officers. What the legislature must decide is whether Texas can pay the bill.

DEAR ABBY

CALL HIM DADDY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has not used my first name for 18 years. He calls me "Mama." He's a good provider, a good father to the children, doesn't drink or go out on me, but this one fault is getting me down. He calls me "Mama" all the time. Even in front of company. I feel more like a mother to him than a wife. I've tried to tell him, but it doesn't help. Please let me know how I can handle this, as it is beginning to affect our marriage. "MAMA"

DEAR "MAMA": It's easier to change your attitude than to change your husband's habits. There's nothing wrong with being called "Mama." It's a "little" that outranks Darling, Sweetheart . . . or even your first name. It's his way of telling you what a wonderful "Mama" you are to his children. Enjoy it, and call him Daddy."

DEAR ABBY: For a 16-year-old girl this is going to sound pretty stupid, but here's my problem. I had a girlfriend sleep over, and just for the fun of it I started to make a list of all the boys I necked with. I went way back to when I was 13 and included everybody, even the guys I kissed only in games. (I almost ran out of paper.) Well, we laughed and joked about it, but here's the part that worries me. She took the list home with her and I am afraid she is going to show it around. I asked her for it and she said she didn't have it any more. I think she's keeping it. How can I get it back?

ALL IN FUN BUT WORRIED

DEAR ALL: Forget it. It's ancient history. But don't make that mistake again. What was, was!

DEAR ABBY: Please do a humane service and put something in your column about these inconsiderate women who perfume themselves up so heavily that everyone in the office practically chokes when they come in. I want to cut it out and post it on our bulletin board.

Killian Questions Man In Space Cost

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower's former scientific adviser questions the value of spending billions of dollars a year to put a man in space.

Dr. James R. Killian, chairman of the Corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said Thursday Americans must ask themselves: "Will several billion dollars a year additional for enhancing the quality of education not do more for the future of the United States and its position in the world than several billion dollars a year additional for man in space?"

He was here for dedication of the Alfred P. Sloan Laboratory of Mathematics and Physics at the California Institute of Technology. He expressed his views in a lecture beforehand.

"The image of America may be shaped by the quality of its inner life more than by its exploits in space," he said.

Maverick Wins Another Skirmish

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Maverick has won another spirited skirmish.

Actor James Garner, television's Bret Maverick, won a superior court fight with Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., Thursday.

Judge Arnold Praeger held that Garner's contract ended last March 3 when the studio stopped his $1,750-a-week salary. This was as Garner had contended.

The judge declared the studio lacked sufficient cause to suspend salary because of a writers' strike. Warner Bros. plaintiffs in the suit, had sought to compel Garner to resume work on the Maverick series.

The court took under submission Garner's claim for $106,000 damages.

Traffic Toll On Upward Trend

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic toll is on an upward trend.

The National Safety Council reported Thursday that fatalities totaled 3,680 in October, the highest number for that month since 3,918 were recorded in October 1955.

October's deaths showed an increase of 7 per cent over the total for October of last year. The toll for the first 10 months this year rose to 31,120, a gain of 2 per cent over the corresponding period of 1956.

But the rate of fatalities in relation to miles traveled through the first 10 months of this year was at a record low of 5.3. That means 5.3 persons were killed for every 100 million miles of travel by motor vehicles.

Italian Solons Riot Over Censorship

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—Shouting Communists and Christian Democrats shook their fists and lunged at each other again Thursday night in the Italian parliament — this time in an ideological row over sex and censorship.

Ushers rushed in before any blows could be struck in the uproar in the Senate where debates get so rough that desks were thrown around until someone thought to nail them down.

Italy's Christian Democrat government is seeking a new law for stricter censorship of such advertisements as posters of scantily clad, leggy girls publicizing movies.

Communists, already up in arms over recent censoring of Italy's realistic and often raw movies, say the new law on advertisements is just another attempt to do away with freedom of expression.

Sen. Umberto Terracini led the Communist attack. If Italian youth can be corrupted by posters, he said, it's all the fault of the Christian Democrats who have ruled the country since the war and

"set the tone of national morals." "I must declare," Terracini said, "that in the Soviet Union there is a very profound moral health."

This was a little too much for the Christian Democrats to swallow. One of them called Terracini a "buffoon." "Shut up," cried a Communist. Sen. Onofrio Jannuzzi, a Christian Democrat, said Terracini was speaking "like a rascal."

By this time all the Communist senators were on their feet shouting. At least two Reds charged toward the Christian Democrat benches waving their fists. Ushers intervened. "Apologize," the Communists cried at Jannuzzi. "We're not in a tavern."

Finally Jannuzzi and the Christian Democrat senators walked out of the hall, leaving Terracini to finish his speech.

Jury Indicts 2 In Bomb Incident

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A Travis County grand jury Thursday indicted two University of Texas students in a bombing that disrupted a student integration meeting.

William Harvey McKnight, 20, Kerrville, Tex., and John Hunter Winborn, 19, Dallas, were charged with "injury to property belonging to another." The charge is a felony.

A meeting of 20 students, including eight Negroes, was started Tuesday night when the bomb struck a window at the university YMCA and fell into a basement stairwell.

It Was Big Month For Remarriage

November was a big month in Howard County for remarriage. A check of the records in the office of Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, disclosed that 35 marriage licenses were issued during the month and that in 15 instances, the bride-to-be wore the title "Mrs." before her name.

There were 41 marriage licenses issued in October but in only eight cases were the ladies listed as "Mrs."

A Devotional For Today

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. (Psalms 46:1.)
PRAYER: Our Father, teach us to trust in Thee at all times and in all circumstances. Strengthen us in faith until our trust becomes unshakable. Be for us the light of our lives; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (From The 'Upper Room')

Eight Good Reasons

After viewing a show based on the U-2 incident with the summation by the presidential press secretary and the secretary of state that getting caught was the cardinal offense, one of readers points out that this evidences the decadence of our moral philosophy.

We would not say that the U-2 flights were unnecessary, most evidence points to the contrary. However, it would seem that it would have been better to observe that having a plane and pilot downed behind the Iron Curtain was part of the risk — one of the expendables of so hazardous an undertaking. Getting caught had nothing to do with its rightness or wrongness.

Unhappily, the theory that a thing is right or wrong, depending on whether or not you get caught, is a damning sin of our time.

We see some few in public life who operate on the theory that public funds may be used for private gain so long as no one gets caught with his hand in the public till.

In business we sometimes see dealers palming off shoddy merchandise or short measure or funneling business into minor companies owned by those in high places with the firm placing the business.

Sometimes we see workers deliberately dodging it on the job on the theory that it is all right to rest when the boss is looking the other way; or that it is all right to put a hand in the cash register so long as no one catches you at it.

We have also the spectacle of adults using double — standards of conduct — husbands cheating on wives, wives cheating on husbands — under the thesis that the only thing wrong is getting caught at it.

Small wonder then that sometime students do a little cheating themselves in the physical, scholastic and other realms. They're not fools — they also can justify it on the grounds that little is really wrong unless you get caught.

Of course this is a deadly fallacious line of reasoning. Right is not just nice — it is still right. We do not mock God in this, for the immutable moral laws still exist. We simply deaden and poison our conscience to the point that anything goes. And in time our nation could go, too.

Right And Wrong

Here are some of the salient reasons we believe that the $150,000 road bond issue deserves approval Saturday:

1. This will assure the construction of a four-lane divided highway from Big Spring northward (eventually as far as Dumas).
2. It will open the way for state highway construction in the amount of more than two million dollars.
3. It will open the way for construction of an adequate overpass for U. S. 87 inside of Big Spring.
4. It will mean the completion of an east-west bisector of the north part of the county with construction of a link from U. S. 87 to Luther.
5. It will open the way for extension of FM 700 northward to the Snyder Highway, and perhaps eventually the widening of this same road from U. S. 87 to IS 20.

6. It will relieve the burden of major roadway purchases from the road and bridge fund and permit it to accelerate its program of permanent lateral road construction and road maintenance.
7. It will stimulate the modernization of our highway transportation system, and of our strategic position, increasing traffic and thus the opportunity for more business.
8. It will yield benefits far, far in excess of the costs.

Whether you agree or not, we urge you not to let anything keep you from the polls Saturday. Your vote will be mighty important.

How The Commies Use Mob Violence

WASHINGTON—When are the American people going to be given the full story of Communist infiltration inside the United States?

Just because the late Sen. McCarthy went to extremes—due to his excess zeal and his passionate devotion to the anti-Communist cause—the tendency now is to belittle the Communist menace altogether or to brush off references to it as just a "hysterical" manifestation of "McCarthyism" in a misguided era. This same trend has been noticeable in Britain and France, where many writers continuously refer to "McCarthyism" as a means of pool-pooling Communist infiltration to-day.

THE COMMUNISTS, on the other hand, benefiting by indifference and complacency in Western countries, have been making hay, particularly in the United States. The newspapers generally, for instance, printed brief stories of the student demonstrations at San Francisco when the House Committee on Un-American Activities was meeting there a few months ago, but this correspondent recently saw a half-hour movie, compiled from the reels of news photo staff men covering the tragic event, which reveals that it was far more sensational than the news dispatches indicated. It shows the brazen behavior of persons, known to have been active in Communist party affairs, who boldly sought by mob action to interfere with the committee's public sessions. The movie contains comments by Democrats and Republicans in the U.S. House of Representatives. The reels have become available for showing to public and private groups, and information concerning them is obtainable at the offices of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. This is the movie which a so-called "liberal" group of Harvard students boomed when it was shown to other students a few days ago.

IT SEEMS INCREDIBLE that such a demonstration as occurred in San Francisco could be organized inside the United States, but it is not surprising to those who have been pointing out that the Communists have not for a moment relaxed their "cold war" efforts.

The only way to fight this kind of insidious warfare is to bring it out in the open. In such a movement, the people naturally must depend on the committees of Congress. Here, for instance, are some of the conclusions recently presented by the staff of the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security in an exhaustive study entitled "Mob Violence as an Instrument of Red Diplomacy":

"IN SOME LATIN American countries, and in Japan, Communist parties controlling an insignificant minority of the total votes cast, have resorted to the policy of manipulating and inciting mobs to accomplish political and diplomatic objectives in the interest of Soviet foreign policy.

"These operations are directed primarily against the American government, to defeat its objectives and humiliate its spokesmen and representatives.

"Latin American Communists succeeded in seriously interfering with the 1948 Bogota Inter-American Conference. In 1950, they subjected Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his wife to a most humiliating experience.

"ATTACKS ARE concentrated upon American property and personnel.

"The (United States) resort to international financial aid, no matter how generous, has not of itself furnished an adequate preventive against anti-American, Communist-inspired mob violence.

"Despite the numerous examples of worldwide Communist imperialism and brutality, there have been few cases of mob violence against Communist embassies or agencies.

"For the most part the Communists operate behind the scenes making use of unformed and excitable teen-agers, students, and illiterates.

"As a rule the Communists wait for a suitable issue to arise on the basis of which they can successfully provoke mob excitement and violence. If the issue does not exist, they create one.

"IN LARGE MEASURE the Communists exploit economic difficulties and nationalistic emotions.

"The Communist standard practice is to employ nonmilitary weapons, easily accessible to the mob, such as stones, posters, clubs, gasolene, kerosene, homemade bombs, etc. These have been supplemented by the looting of guns and ammunition from hardware stores.

"The techniques followed by the Communists parallel those taught in special schools for international Communist agents in the Soviet Union.

"COMMUNISTS MAKE adequate preparations far in advance for their inspired riots, through provocative mass meetings, leaflets, broadcasts, cartoons, newspaper articles, and even assassinations.

"The Communists have utilized their control of labor unions, to augment the mobs operating under their direction.

"Leaders of the Communist parties of Colombia, Venezuela, Bolivia, and Japan have been in Moscow where they have received instruction and directives, including training in handling mobs and military techniques.

"The Communist party of China has rendered valuable assistance to Communist parties in Latin America and to Japan which have organized mob violence. This assistance has taken the form of training of leaders, financial aid, broadcasts and propaganda. This is, no doubt, the result of an agreed-upon division of labor and the U.S.S.R."

We Might Yet Win The African Battle

President-elect John F. Kennedy focused national attention at a critical moment upon the battle ahead in Africa.

His appointment of Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams as assistant secretary of state for Africa comes amid indications from the huge continent that the Congo situation has aroused fear and suspicion of Communist intentions. This is detectable even among leaders who consider themselves leftist and who are loud in their condemnation of the West.

If this is so, there is a chance that black Africa soon will simmer down, at least sufficiently to give its leaders a chance to assess cautiously what may lie ahead.

THIS BY NO means softens the warning by Sen. Kennedy that "the fate of Africa, which is now the object of a giant Communist offensive, will affect vitally the security of every citizen of the United States. There is no easy solution in store for black Africa's problems. It will remain the arena for a grim cold war struggle."

But it will be important for Americans if African leaders realize that there is more than one kind of outside domination. The Africans are familiar with the sort which came from Europe and which has just about been consigned forever to history. Africans have had no experience with modern Communist colonialism which surrenders none of the vast territories it has conquered.

THE CONGO remains a key to Africa's immediate future. There is little hope for stability while superimposed African leaders look upon Red interference in the Congo as an instrument to further their own ambitions.

But Westerners who know Africa say what has been going on among its new nations has been a sort of flexing of muscles in a contest to determine which will emerge as the leading influence in the continent.

About Milk And Tea

NEW YORK (AP)—The quickest way to be thwarted in America is to insist on a proper cup of tea.

The man you ask is likely to doubt your order.

"Coffee, did you say, sir?"

"No, I said tea."

"Yes, sir."

"Lemon?"

"No, sir. I have been among tea drinkers everywhere in the world. Always they are asked whether they would have lemon. Those I have thought most responsive to the further responsibilities of an obligated mankind uniformly said no."

"Nothing seems to unhinge the giant efficiency of America further and faster than to ask a waiter to bring you a cup of properly prepared tea—or for that matter a glass of milk."

Here is another approach: "Did you say coffee now or later?"

"No, I did not say coffee now or later, nor did I say coffee now or then."

"What I really would like is either a cold glass of fresh milk now when the day and the meal are both relatively young. Or later, as a consolation for all time's sorrow, an honest cup of hot tea."

"No coffee at this table?"

"No coffee? We may be quaint. We may be old-fashioned. We may be different in our own odd way. But actually it isn't a question of whether drinking coffee makes us fall asleep during afternoon business conferences or keeps us awake during those vital hours when TV has its most virile commercials.

"We simply happen to like the taste of cold milk with a meal, or the taste of hot tea afterward. This is not a new thing in our family. It is hereditary. It is part of our coat of arms.

"It isn't that we are against coffee. There are times when we love coffee. There are days when we even write letters to mutual friends who love coffee.

"But right now we would like a glass of cold milk—or a cup of hot tea later."

"Yes, sir, coming right up."

What comes up? A big hot steaming cup of aromatic coffee.

If you want a glass of cold milk with your meal, or a cup of tea afterward, you had best call up the day before. Even then it isn't a bad idea to show up with your own tea bag.

You can always borrow a cup of boiling water.

To Your Good Health

Don't Fear Sensible Use Of X-Ray

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I was recently X-rayed to see whether there was a possibility that I would have twins. Later your column stated that X-raying the pelvic region of pregnant women is not good. What are the dangers?"

—Mrs. D.R.

Madam, this is one of the hardest questions that I am called upon to answer. Most decidedly, I don't want any reader to be frightened of an X-ray. And at the same time, I don't want anyone, patient or doctor, to assume that radiation (X-rays, fallout, and natural) is to be ignored.

Could it put it this way? It's like drops of water. If you were to be subjected to the constant drip of water, it would in time do damage. Dripping water, as simple as that, can wear away the hardest stone. Yet this doesn't mean that I would oppose the idea of taking a shower. Or being caught in the rain.

This isn't an exact simile, but I think it gives the general idea that I have in mind.

Now let's consider it in a slightly different way. Are you aware that there is a slight but all-pervasive thing called "natural radiation"? This is a very small but ever-present stream of rays emanating from the earth itself. Let's say that by the age of 30 or so you have absorbed enough of these rays to be represented by the number of 10 units. (That's just an arbitrary figure for illustration.)

Well, in addition, let's say that the average amount of radiation we receive from medical X-rays is 5 units, or half as much. That's an average. A cancer patient, for example, may receive 1,000 times as much radiation as the person who has the usual X-rays of teeth, chest, or other areas. And beyond that, let's say we all receive, from fallout, an amount represented by another 5 units.

Total: 20 units. This represents an amount which will cause no demonstrable harm to anyone.

If we increased this total to twice that—much—40 units—we would find some people being harmed, although not to the extent that a distance to be exposed, at a distance, to an A-bomb blast. For people survived after quite substantial exposure, and even had healthy babies afterward.

I hope this gives you some feeling for the proportions involved. The reason for being particularly careful about pelvic X-rays is (a) to avoid exposure of the genital organs because of the desirability of keeping at a minimum any unpredictable change in the genes, or chromosomes, or "pattern" for future children; and (b) that the baby-to-be is totally exposed to the X-ray, instead of being exposed only in the teeth, chest, etc.

The duration of exposure is brief for a medical X-ray—say a tenth of a second. The natural radiation and fallout, while very faint, continue all the time.

So my answer is this: Don't worry about being X-rayed for a tenth of a second by your doctor. But let's not have any radiation without a definite reason.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have lost considerable weight and would like some lotion that will shrink the tissues under my chin to avoid flabbiness.—Mrs. M.B."

I don't know of any such lotion. Massage might help.

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," write Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Judging The Jury, Too

There seems to be a trend of late that bodes no good for our legal future, in this writer's opinion.

I note from the news that judges are beginning to eat out jurors for "bad" verdicts—which may be another way of describing verdicts the judge doesn't agree with.

This may not be a trend—it could be a rare but long-extant occurrence which I am just beginning to notice. But whatever it is, I don't like it—our system of trial by jury may not be perfect, but it is the most humanly perfect system yet devised, and is certainly superior to a star chamber judicial system.

This is not meant as an indictment of judges in general, but only of those who tend to think of themselves as judge and jury combined.

BUT BACK TO THIS trend of judges to ream out the juries—it would seem the magistrates would like to take away the jury's traditional right to free anyone it believed hadn't been proven guilty.

The second jury in the Fitch murder trial was unable to reach a decision after more than a week and several trips back into the court room to re-hear evidence and ask questions. It is obvious the state had failed to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt, else the jury would never have deadlocked. But the judge kept the jurors locked up anyway—and then criticized them severely for failing to come up with a verdict.

A DEFENDANT supposedly is innocent until proven guilty. Lack of a verdict can only mean the state's case was not convincing enough. Under these circumstances, the judge's reaction could only infer that the jury should have found the defendants guilty.

In a recent trial resulting from a sex slaying, the jury was not convinced the killer acted deliberately—another way of saying he was insane—and the defendant got a life sentence. The judge was dissatisfied with this, and lambasted the jury, telling the seven women members he hoped the killer, should he be paroled, never met any of the ladies in some dark place.

IN THIS CASE, the judge's motives are unmistakable. The only sentence that goes further than a life term is the death penalty, and the judge thought a life sentence was not enough. Because the jury failed to return a penalty of death, the judge angrily chewed the members, even though they were completely within their rights in considering the defendant's motives.

There are, certainly, cases of jury misconduct, when the judge should lecture a bit harshly. But isn't there a danger of overdoing it?

The Mayor Of New York Eats Well

The perquisites of politics and political office, Virginia, are not only manifold and beautiful beyond compare but a real incentive for the selfless individual to step up and offer himself on the altar of public service.

So today I, as selfless a candidate as ever came down the pike, wish to announce my availability for the mayoralty of New York City, an office up for grabs next year. The good Lord knows I am at least as well qualified, as if that mattered, as any of the Tammany hacks who have served in that office in my 30-odd years in the metropolis.

WHAT YOU may well ask, has caused this great metamorphosis in an individual who has always been vitally interested in politics but who, heretofore, never had the slightest hankering to run for public office?

Well, sir, the answer is quite simple. Since I read that the grocery bill of the mayor of New York is paid for by the city, i. e. by the blood, toil, tears and sweat of the taxpayers, I have been seized by an uncontrollable itch to get my feet in the trough, too.

BEYOND THAT, what really bugged me and filled me with political ambition is the announcement by the city itself that the food bills for Mayor and Mrs. Robert Wagner and a staff of five servants (plus the two Wagner sons when they are home from boarding schools) run as high as $2,000 per month.

Mind you, this does not include additional food for any kind of an official gathering or entertainment. That is an extra charge, over which the city to date has mercifully drawn a curtain. New Yorkers must first absorb the fact that it costs around $24,000 annually to feed a mayor and his wife, who eat out a great deal of the time, two boys who are away at school, and five servants.

WHAT YOU MAY well ask, have they been eating up at Gracie Mansion, the beautiful, rent-free home the city provides for its chief executive.

(Not only is Gracie Mansion rent-free, but it is unique in New York in that it is set in a small park, with lawns rolling down to the banks of the East River and a gorgeous view of Hell's Gate, which is a lot purtier than it sounds. This residence alone, without the free feed-bag, is enough to make a mayoralty candidate drool.)

What have they been eating, indeed? Caviar for breakfast? Pate de foie gras for snacks? Hummingbird tongue for luncheon? Filet of beef a la mode with French lamb chops? Are the servants addicted to pheasant or guinea hen under glass? To crepes suzette? To strawberries Romanoff out of season?

IS HAMBURGER ever allowed to sully Gracie Mansion? Or lamb stew? Or good, filling vegetable soup? Or that old reliable stretch-out, when the grocery money runs thin toward the end of the week: macaroni and cheese? But obviously, with New York footing the bill, the grocery money never runs out at Gracie Mansion.

Month after monotonous month, when the U. S. government announces that the cost of living index has gone up another notch, the increase is always blamed on the soaring cost of food. To any housewife who does the family super-market bill as I do (trying nobly to keep the head of the clan out of the place lest he wreck the budget entire), the high cost of eating comes as no surprise.

BUT $2,000 per month for a family of seven, even augmented occasionally by two hungry school boys! Who wouldn't hanker for this job where the bicarb is on the house and you can have your political plums and eat 'em, too!

The American Miracle

WASHINGTON — There was the somber but triumphant red brick house on N Street, fronted with short, bare trees, watched by uniformed and plain-clothes guardians, fringed on the opposite red brick sidewalk with curious sightseers and serious-minded pilgrims—with boys skinning the cat on iron railings, with modest little girls silently staring, with I've-seen-everything sophisticates who looked embarrassed to be caught among these gawkers, with a little Negro lad leading his urchin of a sister right past the guarded flowers, literally the last roses of summer, breast-high, two red and one yellow, and all three of them gallant but mighty durned tired.

YOU GUESSED IT! There I was last weekend, out in front of the Hon. John F. Kennedy's home. I had a press card in my pocket, and I could have crossed the street where the photographers waited to catch him coming out with Caroline on the way to church. But I stood behind the limp hemp rope that supposedly (but not really) kept people from crossing over to the President-elect's side of the uneven, fashionable, old-fashioned village street in the unique Washington residential area of Georgetown.

I WATCHED as a very recent neighbor. Only on November 1st had I bought a house a few blocks away. A country boy by birth and preference, a lucky boy from Princeton and Trinity College, Cambridge, a privileged youth of the hunting shires and steeplechase courses, a fortunate round-trip rider in the fiery skies of the European Theater of Operations, I don't think I thrill too easily—especially after passing the great half-century mark of life.

But I stood there—trying not to show it—ripping betwixt the shoulder blades and in the midriff.

THIS WAS the American miracle. It is comparable to the consecration of saints, the birth of kings, the coming of the Messiah, the cresting by fire of the prophets. The American people had done the wonderful thing of choosing one of their sons as their President.

It is an action of impenetrable mystique. It is 60-odd millions had done the street prosaic, heavy-handed thing of marking and depositing their ballots. The counting and the calculation had taken place, the giggling and the quibbling of the partisan quarrelers had duly occurred. It is not the dashing victory of the swiftest horse, or of the twisting, striving high-jumper who clears the bar. It is too dragged out to be wholly dramatic.

BUT WHEN the time is right—not necessarily when the result becomes official—the miracle begins to find its shape. An ordinary mortal becomes godlike. A fellow who seemed unfinished, rather in the formative state, achieves perfection. The crowds gather. Eyes are upturned. Cheeks are wet. Voices become hushed and hoarse and reverent.

The man himself takes majesty. This is a transfiguration not merely, I believe, in the eye of the beholder. It is visible and true. The President-elect has wider shoulders than he did last month. He has a firmer jaw, a more level eye, a prouder step, and a broader brow to contain the challenged brain.

THOSE OF US on the rough, brick sidewalk—and many others across the land — become instinctively aware that there is truth and righteousness in the election process. The people's voice is the voice of God. The right man was chosen for deep reasons of destiny that need not have been apparent to us at the time.

This was how it should be. A king is dead—long live the king!

Pleads Guilty To Murder Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ex-film producer James R. Howlett, 64, has pleaded guilty to a charge he tried to hire a man to kill his rich wife, Leone, 73.

Henry Lucero, 26, had told officers Howlett offered him $2,000 to murder Mrs. Howlett. Lucero, who earlier advertised he'd consider anything legitimate for $1,000, went to police instead. Howlett will be sentenced Dec. 23 on his surprise plea of guilty to a charge of soliciting another to commit a crime. He wife said she would stand by him.

Republicans Challenged On Vote Fraud Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, Democratic national chairman, today challenged the Republicans to submit to a Senate investigation their charges of vote frauds in the presidential election.

Republican Chairman Thurston B. Morton announced Thursday the formation of a national recount and fair elections committee to check unofficially "on every suspicious state."

Jackson told reporters the Senate Privileges and Elections subcommittee, created to handle election contests, has received not a single Republican request to investigate the election in any state.

This, he said, showed "their aim is not to prove their allegations" that fraud figured in the apparent election of Democrat John F. Kennedy as president.

Kennedy holds a slim popular vote edge over Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon but has an Electoral College margin of 300 to 223, with 14 unpledged Electoral College votes.

Jackson charged the GOP is raising the fraud charges in the hope of achieving "one of two things" and maybe both, which he listed as:

- 1. Through "dilatory court proceedings" to delay the certification of Electoral College votes from key states "so as to reduce the electoral vote for Kennedy below the constitutional majority" needed for election.
- 2. Cast a cloud on Kennedy's right to assume the presidency.

Nixon To Join L.A. Law Firm

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon plans to join a Los Angeles law firm after he leaves office Jan. 20.

Robert Finch, campaign director for the defeated Republican presidential candidate, said the name of the firm will be disclosed after the Christmas holidays.

Finch also told a news conference Thursday:

1. Nixon will assume an active role in California politics when he returns home after the Jan. 20 presidential inauguration.

2. Whether Nixon will run for governor or again seek the presidency depends on what happens during the first 18 months of President-elect Kennedy's administration.

3. The possibility of vote recounts in several states reversing the election of Kennedy "is not in the cards." Finch said the purpose of the recount was primarily to bring to light archaic laws and voting procedures in some states.

Warm Trend Is Spreading

By The Associated Press

Temperatures dipped below freezing in several sections of the state early this morning but the warming trend continued over most of Texas today.

Temperatures this morning dropped as low as 25 at Texarkana with freezing temperatures extending southward along the eastern border to Beaumont.

Freezing temperatures also were reported at Junction, Lufkin and Mineral Wells and in the Delhart area. But with southerly winds over the western part of the state Amarillo reported 34, Lubbock 35 and Wink 33.

Temperatures ranged from the 25 at Texarkana to 49 at Laredo and Brownsville. Other early morning low temperatures were 37 at Houston, Palacios had 37, San Angelo 33, San Antonio 37, Austin 36, College Station 35, Waco 37, Dallas 35, Fort Worth 34, Abilene 35, Wink 33, El Paso 39, Lubbock 35, Amarillo 34, Wichita Falls 38, Tyler 33, Dalhart 31, Junction 28, Mineral Wells 32, Beaumont 32, Longview 25, Midland 35 and Childress 33.

High, thin clouds partly covered many sections of West Texas this morning while thicker clouds were prevalent around Laredo. In most sections, however, there were only thin, scattered clouds. There were no reports of rain.

The entire state today was expected to bask in 50 to 60 degree weather with a possibility of temperatures in South Central Texas climbing into the 70s.

Other feelings expressed by Douglas:

1. Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson helped the Democratic cause "very noticeably" in the South.

2. A recount of Illinois votes would increase, rather than diminish Kennedy's margin of victory in that state.

3. The electoral college should be abolished and presidents elected by popular vote, but this probably could never be done because of resistance of smaller states.

4. There are now in the nation the "usual signs" of a recession. The senator stopped short of saying that there actually is a recession now.

5. The Defense Department wastes tremendous amounts of money through "negotiated contracts." He cited a case in which the Navy paid $21.10 each for light sockets you can buy wholesale for 11 cents each.

Earlier, talking with reporters, the senator said the rough and tumble grilling a president faces in White House press conferences may be dangerous in today's world.

The reason, the senator said, is that the president may accidentally say something about foreign policy that ought not to be said. He suggested it might be better to have reporters submit questions in writing to the president.

Sen. Douglas Thinks African Post Too Tiny For Williams

FORT WORTH (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said Thursday night that Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan should have been given a Cabinet post instead of the one he received in the Kennedy administration.

Douglas expressed the view during a panel discussion before about 1,000 persons at Texas Christian University here.

Douglas said the job as assistant secretary of state for African affairs does not measure up to Williams' talents.

In announcing Williams' appointment, Kennedy said he considers the post "second to none in the administration" because Africa has developed into a major battleground in the cold war.

While criticizing the Williams appointment, Senator Douglas praised another that Kennedy made public, the choice of Connecticut Gov. Abraham Ribicoff as secretary of health, education and welfare.

Asked who he thought would make a good secretary of state for the new Democratic administration, the senator laughed.

"We just ooze with talent. Unlike the Republicans, who have just one or two, we have a whole trunk full."

He mentioned a few—Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson, Averell Harriman, Dean Acheson and others. He refused, however, to rank them in order of preference.

Papers Protest Vatican Ban

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers today protested a Vatican ban on photographs of the meeting between the Pope and the Archbishop of Canterbury.

There were several press suggestions that Roman Catholic authorities viewed the meeting with a degree of coolness.

The "no photographs" edict "gives the impression that the ecclesiastical authorities here are curiously nervous," reported the Daily Telegraph from Rome.

"There has been a good deal of comment here on the coolness which seems to have developed at the Vatican and in particular from strict observance of the protocol applicable to any ordinary private audience of the Pope."

Roman Catholics, who were almost suppressed in Britain during the Reformation, viewed the meeting of the archbishop and the Pope as a great move forward toward their acceptance in this Protestant kingdom.

There are 27 million baptized Anglicans in Britain. The Roman Catholics claim 3,553,000.

After the Reformation the Roman church was extinguished in England and Wales, and eventually in Scotland. It nearly died, but not quite, in Ireland.

England did not allow the Catholic episcopate to arise again until 1850. Scotland restored it in 1878.

Kelly Services Set Saturday

DALLAS (AP)—A pioneer West Texas oil operator, Sol Kelly, 62, of Midland died Thursday in a local hospital. He was victim of a heart attack suffered three weeks ago while on a hunting trip near Coleman.

In 1921, Kelly was a member of a group which completed a discovery well in Westbrook oil field in Mitchell County, the first commercial production in West Texas.

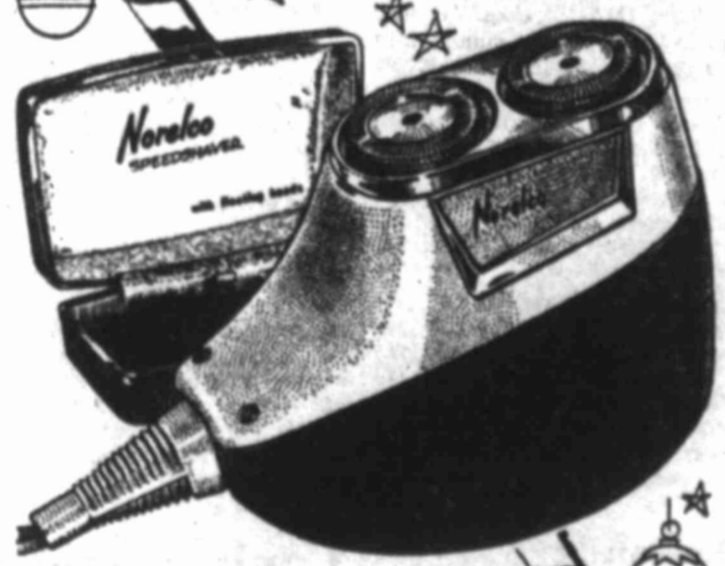

Services will be held in Midland Saturday.

Choirs To Sing 'Messiah'

The first presentation of a famous Handel oratorio in nearly two years will be sung at 4 p.m. Sunday in H.C.J.C. Auditorium.

"The Messiah," by Handel, will be under the direction of Ira Schantz, H.C.J.C. choir director, and will include the combined choirs of H.C.J.C., the First Methodist Church and the First Christian Church. The combined choirs will number approximately 65 voices.

Not all of the hours-long composition will be rendered, but only the so-called Christmas portion. Soloists will be Mrs. Carl Bradley, Mrs. J. R. Hensley and Mrs. Don Newsum, sopranos; Mrs. T. J. Lovett of Lubbock, contralto; Don Ford, tenor; and Vernon Moody of Abilene, bass.

The three soprano soloists are well known in Big Spring. Mrs. T. J. Lovett has been one of the leading soloists in Lubbock for a number of years and is a member of the First Methodist Church choir there. Don Ford, tenor, is the new minister of music at the First Methodist Church in Big Spring and this will be one of his first appearances as an oratorio soloist here.

Vernon Moody of Abilene will be remembered as the bass soloist in a performance here last spring of the Brahms "Requiem" as presented by the choir of the First Methodist Church. He is choral director of Abilene Christian College and head of the voice department.

Special instrumentalists will be Mrs. Douglas Wiehe, pianist, and Jack Hendrix, organist. Mrs. Wiehe is the wife of the Big Spring High School band director and is a private piano teacher. She also is an accomplished oboist and often plays with the Midland Symphony. Hendrix is the head of H.C.J.C. music department, teaching piano, organ and theory. He is organist of the First Baptist Church and is often a guest organist for other musical performances in the West Texas area.

Schantz is H.C.J.C. vocal instructor and choir director, and is leader of the adult choir of the First Christian Church. He often fulfills numerous solo engagements in the Southwest and formerly sang professionally with such groups as the Robert Shaw Chorale, the American Concert Choir and the Cantata Singers.

Rest Of Family Saved, But 7 Killed In Flames

LA PLATA, Md. (AP)—"Throw out the children, then jump yourself," called the trapped wife of a tenant farmer to her 21-year-old daughter.

The daughter—Rose Ella Powell—threw nine brothers and sisters from the second story of the frame house before searing flames swept through the entire structure. Seven members of the family, including Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dana Powell and five children, died in the fire.

The entire frame building had become "one big torch" by the time firemen arrived, and two fire companies stood by helplessly. Flames were so intense that the seventh body was not recovered until three hours after the alarm sounded this morning.

The burning house, which was in a tobacco-raising area of southern Maryland's Charles County, was spotted by several neighbors who called the alarm. Authorities believe the blaze may have started with an over-heated wood-burning stove on the first floor. Rose Ella and the nine surviving children she rescued lived first aid for sprains and bruises. The Negro girl told firemen she had been awakened by her mother's call to save the children. Mrs. Powell and all the other victims but one were sleeping on the first floor.

Alvin, 43, and his wife Viola, 45; their four children—James Henry, 12; Barbara Regina, 10; John Allen, 8; and Joseph, 3; and an 11-year-old cousin of the Powells, Phillip G. Yates.

Monday Funeral Scheduled For Mrs. Johnson

Funeral for Mrs. Mary Johnson, who died here at 6:05 a.m. today, will be held Monday in Berger.

Formerly a resident of Berger since 1924, Mrs. Johnson had lived in Big Spring two years. She had been a member of the Church of Christ for 60 years.

Born Aug. 15, 1874, in Missouri, she married Marshall Johnson, July 13, 1894 at Cooper.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. in the Church of Christ, at Berger, with the River Funeral Home in charge. The remains will lie in state at River Funeral Home here until Saturday. Interment will be at Amarillo.

She is survived by a son, Herschel W. Johnson, Brigham City, Utah; two daughters, Mrs. E. L. Hanson, Big Spring, Mrs. Maxine Eberhardt, Tampa; three brothers, B. G. Maness, Herman Maness, Lanauca, Ark., Douglas Maness, Ft. Smith, Ark.; two sisters, Mrs. Maudie Graham and Mrs. Anna Johnson of Lanauca, Ark.; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Photographers Guild Schedules Monday Meeting

The Freelance Photographers Guild of Big Spring will have its regular meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the John H. Lees service center.

Robert Johnston, president invited all interested in photography to attend the meeting. Many activities are planned both for amateur and professional photographers, he said. At the Monday meeting, Joe Pickle, managing editor of the Herald, is to be a guest speaker on news photography.

Recently at the guild's first social meeting, a pot luck supper, an exhibit was held. Awards were presented in the following subject fields: Statue of Liberty, Sam Horey, John Horey and Lee Bernard; old house, Pat Johnston, Bob Johnston, and Lee Bernard. Other participants were Mr. and Mrs. Nap Green, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Abrams, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stratton, Mrs. Lee Bernard.

Motorist Hits A Gas Meter

Two traffic accidents, one of them involving a gas meter, were reported.

Mrs. Palmer's Rites Saturday

Funeral for Mrs. George Thomas Palmer Sr., 75, will be held Saturday afternoon. She died in a local hospital Friday morning.

Born Aug. 25, 1885 in Benton Ark., she came to Howard County with her husband in 1927. They moved to Big Spring from the Ackery community in 1946.

The couple was married at Emmett, Ark. on Nov. 9, 1902. She was a member of the Northside Baptist Church and Rebekah Lodge No. 284.

Services will be in the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home chapel at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. The Rev. R. B. Murray will officiate and interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Survivors, besides her husband, include three sons, Earl Palmer, Irving, John Palmer, Big Spring, George Palmer, Ackery; two daughters, Mrs. Virgil Lou Winters, Mrs. Bob Lewis, Fort Worth; two brothers, Millard Coppock, Phoenix, Ariz., Corbit Coppock, Muskogee, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Fincher, Englewood, Calif., and Mrs. Ella Mae Reddick, Benton, Ark.; 15 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Palbearers will be grandsons, Robert Palmer, Truett Palmer, Billy Wayne Palmer, Martin Palmer, Johnny Lee Palmer, Charles Williams and Dean Bliss.

Bud Turner Rites Slated

Pleas (Bud) Turner, 58, a 40-year resident of Coahoma until he moved to Mt. Vernon four years ago, died there Thursday.

He was born May 12, 1902 in Franklin County and moved to Coahoma from there.

Services are slated for 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church at Coahoma with the Rev. W. M. Irwin, pastor of the Sand Springs Baptist Church, officiating. The Rev. H. L. Morris, pastor of the First Methodist Church at Coahoma, will assist. Interment will be in the Coahoma Cemetery under direction of the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Sheppard Praises Scouting As A Builder Of Character

The home is still responsible for the future of the nation, but in the Boy Scouts of America it has been a greater helper in preserving national virtues, John Ben Sheppard told the Lone Star District Boy Scout meeting Thursday evening.

Approximately 200 gathered in the Coden Country Club to hear the former Texas attorney general, and to receive a report from several Eagle Scouts on activities for the year.

HEAVEN HELP US

Sheppard, a former Scout himself, said that parents were prone to turn responsibilities over to the schools and other agencies, and frequently without corresponding support. He urged backing of Scouting as one means of undergirding boys for their critical battle against evil forces, including communism.

"Our children can flunk biology and perhaps still get by," he said,

10 Students Return, Undermine Boycott

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ten white students returned to classes at integrated William Frantz school today, sharply undermining the boycott backed by mothers of the area.

A small foreign car with two girls drove up in the sunny, but near-freezing weather, catching reduced picket lines by surprise, apparently.

No one jeered until the two little girls mounted the school steps. Then the same make car sped up with five children, and the Rev. Lloyd Foreman arrived by car with his daughter, Pamela Lynn, and two boys.

The one Negro first-grade girl brought total attendance at William Frantz to at least 11. Only three Negro girls attended the city's other integrated school, McDonogh No. 19, at the normal opening hour.

MERCURY DOWN
Temperatures that dipped during the night into the low 30s cut the number of picketing mothers to about a dozen. One of these mothers told a reporter:

"You don't know how we are suffering. Our feet are freezing." The reporter said: "You can go home."

"You think we don't have to stay?" the woman asked. "We're working too; we can't leave."

The catcalls and jeers didn't meet the volume of Thursday at William Frantz, and at McDonogh only about 10 women booted as seven U.S. deputy marshals escorted three Negro girls into school.

The William Frantz pupils were driven to school by drivers enlisted by Save Our Schools, an organization dedicated to keeping public schools open despite token integration.

TIGHT GUARD
Police tightened an around-the-clock guard of the two integrated schools today, after angry women set upon bystanders during protests Thursday.

Temper flared Thursday in the wake of a federal court order knocking out more than two score of legislative acts aimed at keeping schools segregated.

Failure to effect a complete boycott of white pupils of one of the schools added to the ire of picketing women. Screaming and cursing, they manhandled a Tulane University student, a local attorney, a cameraman and a newspaper reporter.

The women were so aroused they set upon the reporter when he accidentally bumped into one of them while taking notes about an attack on the attorney.

An act to set up a system of private schools, with parents given a choice between private or public schools, was started through the legislature in Baton Rouge.

QUICK APPROVAL
Also expected to be given quick approval was a new act aimed at displacing the New Orleans School Board. A three-judge federal court

Wednesday held that previous legislation to oust the board was unconstitutional.

The court said any legislation aimed at defeating what it called the constitutional rights of Negroes to attend desegregated schools will fall for the same reason.

Police swept a four-block strip near the William Frantz School clear of demonstrators and spectators Thursday. The action permitted parents to safely escort six white children from the school.

Parents of the six had out-maneuvered pickets to slip the children into the school. Only two white children were in attendance at the Frantz school the previous day.

Two U. S. marshals picked up the lone Negro student at Frantz and escorted her home.

FIFTH DAY
A white boycott of the McDonogh No. 19 elementary school was complete for the fifth straight day. Only three Negro girls, all first-graders, are enrolled there. U. S. marshals accompany them daily.

Attendance at other schools was normal.

At the outbreak at the Frantz school police came to the aid of Sydney Goldfinch, Tulane student, who was being pummeled by the irate women. They said he was one of the leaders of a Negro sit-in demonstration a few weeks ago in downtown New Orleans.

Also rescued was George Drey-fous, attorney and president of the American Civil Liberties Union in Louisiana. He opposed segregation bills before the legislature.

About 60 hecklers, including a few men, yelled taunts as the white parents hurried their children into rear entrances at the Frantz school.

GETS SUPPORT
The Rev. Foreman, who escorted his daughter and two other white children to the school, received a telegram of support signed by 32 members of the Association of College and University Ministers of the Methodist Church, now meeting in Nashville.

Both the School Board and the state plan appeals on the federal court ruling. Sam I. Rosenberg, School Board attorney, said he has been so busy trying to free school funds in frozen bank accounts that he has not had time to prepare the board's appeal.

The court ruling reaffirmed the board's control over the schools but an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court is aimed at a final judgment on the board's powers.

The private school measure would replace a 1958 law, bringing it in line with recent court decisions. It would grant public funds to parents who want to send their children to private, nonsectarian schools and make attendance to such schools voluntary, instead of compulsory as the 1958 law required.

No Ruling In Gomez Request

No ruling has been handed down by Judge Ralph Caton on the motion to continue cases set for Monday against V. A. Gomez, north-district Big Spring figure billed on five counts of embezzling property from the Saunders Company.

Judge Caton had the matter under advisement Friday but indicated that it would so remain until Monday.

Bernard Golding, Houston lawyer, filed the motion for continuance on the grounds that he was to be in New York on Monday to try another case. He had entered the case a month ago when he advised the court that he was the "sole attorney" for Gomez.

District Attorney Gil Jones opposed the motion for continuance on the grounds that Golding well know that the Gomez case was set for Dec. 5 when he accepted it, and that Gomez had either contacted or changed attorneys deliberately and frequently since his original indictment in October of 1957.

In this connection, one of those mentioned as having been contacted was Clyde Thomas Sr. but Mr. Thomas pointed out that he had refused to represent Gomez. He said that overtures had been made through a relative, but that he flatly declined to represent the defendant.

Area FFA Sets Contests Here

The area II association of the Future Farmers of America will hold its annual area leadership contest at Big Spring High School, Saturday.

Under the sponsorship of the Texas Education Agency and in cooperation with schools offering Vocational Agriculture, this area is represented by 92 schools and approximately 3,000 members.

As a part of the FFA leadership program, contests are held in demonstrating, farm skill demonstrations, FFA quiz and radio broadcasting.

Winners in each of the contests will attend the State meeting at Sam Houston State College, Dec. 10.

Joe Dan Penn, FFA state president, will counsel with the various teams here Saturday.

OIL REPORT

Strawn Flow Is Diminishing

Oil and gas recovery at Texas National's Strawn wildcat in Martin County, No. 1 Jim Tom, continues to diminish daily.

Oil flow which started at 72 barrels daily 12 days ago, has dropped to 32 barrels, and gas which was flowing 218,000,000 cubic feet a day is now flowing at the rate of 75,000,000 cubic feet.

Operator is testing the perforations between 10,147-62 feet, gauging flow through a 12-64 inch choke. The hole was treated with 2,500 gallons of acid to kick off flow.

Conoco No. 1 Adams, Dawson County outpost to the Ackery, Northwest (Ganyon) pool, flowed 250 barrels of load oil without getting water during the latest reported 24-hour test of the Dean sand.

Operator fractured three perforations between 40,000 gallons of oil, and has flowed load oil for the past three days.

Conoco No. 1-B Featherstone-Federal, Roosevelt County, N.M., project, is bottomed at 9,885 feet and operator is taking down the rig.

Dawson

Conoco No. 1 Adams flowed 250 barrels of load oil, no water, through a 14-64 inch choke during the latest reported 24-hour test of Dean sand perforations. Intervals under test are between 8,496-519 feet, 8,524-41 feet, 8,550-60 feet, and 8,616-24 feet. Project is 669 feet from north and east lines of section 4-34-30, T&P survey.

Conoco No. 1-B Brennan is drilling below 4,465 feet in an unreported formation. Site is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 124-M-EL&RR survey.

Garzo

Shell No. 1 Davis is bottomed at 2,508 feet, waiting on cement to set the 9 1/2 inch casing at 2,505 feet. Site is 330 feet from north and west lines of section 28-2-T&NO survey.

Shell No. 1 Kirkpatrick is bottomed at 230 feet, preparing to set the 13 1/2 inch casing. Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 3-2-GH&H survey.

Shell No. 1-A Swenson is drilling

Hot Cuban Protest On Rocket Planned

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Bitter anti-American hostility in the government-controlled press and radio suggested today that a heated protest is being planned on a shower of U. S. space rocket fragments that landed on Cuban soil. The case may reach the United Nations.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government has already charged the United States with aggression before the world organization. Debate on this is due during the current U. N. General Assembly session, and may be raised then. Pieces of the rocket—some reputedly as heavy as 40 pounds—were taken to Oriente Province military headquarters at Palma Soriano for close examination by government officials.

Authorities at nearby Holguin reported the rocket pieces plummeted onto a hillside near the city about 3 p.m. Wednesday. This was about 10 minutes after a rocket was fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., in an attempt to put two satellites in orbit. The rocket was blown up in flight, by remote control after a malfunction developed.

An Air Force spokesman in Washington said the serial numbers reported in the Cuban press make it likely that the fragments came from the defective rocket.

If Castro follows his usual pattern, the rocket pieces will be brought to Havana for the prime minister to give grimly realistic emphasis to a televised diatribe against the United States. In the past he has used blown-up airplane fuselages, unexploded flares and shell fragments to dramatize his speeches.

In a graveside eulogy Thursday for his slain personal physician, Maj. Manuel Fajardo, Castro made no mention of the rocket. He did accuse Washington of being behind the nighttime shooting earlier this week in south central Cuba. Fajardo apparently was caught in the crossfire of his own militiamen while commanding them in pursuit of anti-Castro rebels.

Cuban newspapers and broadcasts—which seldom bother to report U. S. rocket successes but play up the failures to the hilt—called the rocket incident a "provocation" and "new aggression."

In another development, church sources said Cuba's leading Roman Catholic prelates are gathered in Havana to draft a reply to one of Castro's strongest attacks on the church. The Cuban prime minister charged a student rally Monday that the clergy had accepted bribes from sugar companies to preach counter-revolutionary sermons.

One Doctrine

The Bible demands real unity. All are to speak the same thing. "Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you..." I Cor. 1:10.

The Lord does not recognize many different faiths. "O a e preaching member Lord, one faith, (Church of Christ, West Highway 88), one baptism, one God and Father of all..." Eph. 4:5, 6.

When one message is heard from one pulpit, and a different message from another pulpit, then God is not the author of both messages. "For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace..." I Cor. 14:33.

Don't conclude that men cannot agree upon the Bible. The Old Book was not given to us to confuse us, but to set us right. II Tim. 2:15. Let us study it diligently!

Hear Don Sweeney, visiting speaker, Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Bible classes are at 9:30. Everybody is welcome! —Adv.

Push And Shove

Getting to work in Buffalo, N.Y., was the toughest job many of the city's residents had to do all day. A storm blanketed the city and some of its suburbs with up to three and one-half feet of snow and tied up thousands of persons trying to get to their jobs. Many schools were closed and snow plows were hampered by cars stuck on the wet, snow-clogged streets.

Goals Panel Sees Government Costs Rising By The Billions

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Though some have criticized it as vague, the report of the President's Commission on National Goals was coldly specific on one point: The cost of government will rise by billions and billions of dollars in the 1960s.

Taxes probably cannot be lowered and "may even have to be increased," the bipartisan commission told President Eisenhower this week. Can a free economy stand still higher taxes? The commission says it can, if national output reaches the commission's target—a rise of 3.4 per cent a year.

"A moderate increase in tax rates need not, if its necessity were understood, materially impair the incentive or the morale of the American people, nor alter the primary reliance of the economy on private choice," said the report.

LOWER RATES

But it added that the rise of living standards would be "perhaps at rates below those of the recent past."

The commission's chairman, Dr. Henry M. Wriston, told the National Press Club Thursday no increase in federal taxes may be needed, but "I don't believe the needs of the next decade can be met without some changes in city and state taxes."

He said the commission did not propose a greater concentration of responsibility and power in Washington, but rather a greater responsibility for the cities, states, private organizations and individuals.

The White House advisers indicated total costs will be fairly high.

1. Military costs must rise, by unguessable amounts, to provide a "secure deterrent" against Soviet aggression and Red China's "blatant hostility."

2. Foreign aid must go up. U.S. investment, public and private, in the underdeveloped countries must rise from the 1960 rate of $3.4 billion a year to as much as $5.5 billion, within five years.

3. To combat city decay, "further urban renewal programs costing as much as $4 billion a year are needed." Presumably this means combined federal, state and local outlays; if so, the new figure means at least doubling the total spending of the three levels of government.

4. Over-all outlays for education must be doubled in 10 years. The state, local and federal government share by 1970 would be $33 billion.

That the proposals will add up to even more billions is clear from this partial listing: More federal aid to higher education, direct grants for school systems to low-income states and matching funds for richer states, higher teachers' salaries—in total, says the commission, a "large additional sum";

U.S. LOANS

Federal and state loans and grants to help depression-ridden cities and towns build up their payrolls, and to provide retraining for factory workers who are replaced by machines;

"Much-increased retirement of farm land, with emphasis on whole farms" — presumably by public purchase of the land;

More government money for new medical facilities, training of doctors and scholarships for medical students; and Strengthening of U. S. information activities overseas. Only in the farm program does the commission see a possibility of some future lowering of government costs, through a gradual withdrawal of federal subsidies.

Some other trimming may be possible.

"Economies can and must be made but these savings cannot be counted on to offset rising expenses," the report says.

"We therefore face the prospect, though by no means the certainty that aggregate tax rates will continue at something like their present level through the decade, and may even have to be increased."

Whether tax rates go down or up, or stay the same, the report went on, "a substantial reform of the tax systems is essential" both to capture revenues which now escape the tax collector, and to give incentive for the launching and expansion of job-producing enterprises. (Last of a Series)

Texas Railmen To Seek Bill For Low Rates

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Association says it will seek a bill in the 57th Legislature to permit lower rates on freight hauled for cities, counties and other Texas governmental units.

The federal government already has such an agreement with common carriers, the association said Thursday. The proposed legislation would apply to rail lines, truckers and other forms of transportation.

The association said the state can save money through such a measure. It pointed out that the city of El Paso recently placed a huge pipe order with an Alabama company instead of an East Texas steel mill.

The delivered price of the pipe was cheaper from the Old South even though the material moved twice as far as it would have from East Texas," the association said.

Another bill the rail group is pushing is a measure to cut the time the Railroad Commission takes in setting freight rates. The shippers want the time reduced to a maximum of seven months.

"Ninety per cent of the rate applications by all carriers are merely minor adjustments which are unopposed. Yet the commission is bogged down on them," said Walter Caven, the association's chief counsel.

The press statement said the Railroad Commission has not fully processed some applications filed as far back as 1954.

Testimony Heard In Girl's Slaying

HOUSTON (AP) — Dist. Judge Ed Duggan continued today to hear testimony in the case of Howard Eugene Hultin, on trial for the April 21 slaying of a 13-year-old Houston girl. Two witnesses testified Thursday they saw Hultin stab Linda Fay Ruble as she walked home from a grocery store.

Hultin, 17, has pleaded innocent. He was 16 at the time of the slaying so if convicted the maximum sentence would be life in prison. Dr. W. W. Coulter, Harris County pathologist, said the girl was stabbed six times.

U.A.R. Reacts Quickly, Seizes Belgian Property

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Reacting quickly to the Congo's diplomatic break with the United Arab Republic, President Gamal Abdel Nasser has seized all Belgian commercial properties in Egypt. The U.A.R. has accused Congo President Joseph Kasavubu of being a Belgian agent.

Nationalization orders were shipped on the Belgian-owned Cairo electric railways and the suburban Heliopolis Oasis Co. Thursday, only hours after Kasavubu severed relations with the U.A.R., whose ambassador in Leopoldville has supported deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Sources in Brussels estimated the value of the seized Belgian assets at the equivalent of $10 million. A number of small concerns also were seized, but the Belga News Agency and Sabena Airlines, with little property here except office and mechanical equipment, were left untouched.

Compensation to Heliopolis shareholders will take the form of state bonds payable over a 12-year period with 5 per cent interest. Value of the bonds will be based on the price of Heliopolis shares as they closed on the Cairo stock exchange Thursday.

The Heliopolis company is worth an estimated $6 million. It now owns most of the swank Heliopolis residential area. When Baron Edouard Empan bought the barren desert land in 1905, he paid $8 an acre. Today the area is a booming suburb with 20,000 inhabitants. A square yard is worth about $68.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The driver of a municipal bus, No. 71, splashed by knots of San Franciscans standing in a downpour Thursday, waiting to go to work.

Angry commuters could see the driver, William T. Johnson, 43, drinking from a bottle.

Men cursed. Women gritted their teeth. Some hammered at the windows with their umbrellas and pleaded when the bus slowed. Johnson refused to stop.

What they couldn't see inside was a teen-age hoodlum with a 45-caliber automatic forcing the driver to down most of a half-pint of vodka as he drove his route. Later he robbed Johnson of $48 and fled.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Anderson Co-Authors Article Telling Of Consultive Tests

Experimentation with three plans of consultive service designed to help troubled children is outlined in the current issue of the Texas Outlook by S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent-curriculum. The Outlook is the magazine of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Co-author with Anderson is Sylvian J. Kaplan, professor and head of the department of psychology at Texas Tech. In addition to serving as consultant at the Big Spring State Hospital and several other institutions, he also has been a consultant to the Big Spring school system.

Anderson explains how three plans were tried in an effort to gain maximum benefit from the consultant's services. The first year the consultant tested as many as possible of the cases which had been referred to him by teachers

Charge Awaited In Murder Trial

HOUSTON (AP)—Dist. Judge Langston King was expected today to read the charge to the jury in the murder trial of Clarence (Sack) Collins, on trial for the slaying of Mrs. Wilma Selby.

Collins, 34-year-old longshoreman, faces the possibility of the electric chair if convicted of the Nov. 16, 1959, slaying of Mrs. Selby in her fashionable Houston home.

Her husband, Joseph F. Selby, already has been given a life sentence for hiring someone to kill his wife. Mrs. Maggie Morgan, a Negro fortune teller, was sentenced to die for being the go-between in the case.

Miss Patra Mae Bounds, who in three previous trials has been the state's star witness, is charged with murder but a trial date has not been set. Miss Bounds testified Tuesday that she turned state's evidence and picked out Collins as the trigger-man only because she was tortured and threatened.

A psychologist testified Collins has the mental capacity of a child and can't stand stress. Collins' brother, Richard, 26, testified that he was drinking beer with Collins and Elijah Davis, 28, when Mrs. Selby was killed. Davis confirmed this.

Before the defense rested, counsel for the defense had called 32 witnesses in an attempt to shake the state's case.

Linkletter Gives Up Stores Plan

DALLAS (AP)—Television personality Art Linkletter said Thursday he had abandoned a plan to establish a chain of discount stores.

Linkletter, in Los Angeles, told the Dallas Times Herald he had cancelled plans for the stores—one of which was to be built here—for two reasons. They are:

1. He felt the project had grown so big and complicated that he did not wish to carry it through without having seen a test of at least one store.

2. He had received more protests and complaints from independent retail service groups than he had anticipated.

Jury Eyes Police Brutality Charge

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Allegations of police brutality may be turned over to the Bexar County Grand Jury, Dist. Judge Archie Brown said Thursday.

Judge Brown made the statement after a conference with two men who claimed a pair of patrolmen kicked them during robbery interrogation.

Police Chief George Bichsel expressed doubt at the accusations. C. J. Steed, head of the Internal Affairs Bureau of the department, has been directed to make a full investigation, Bichsel said.

Bill Kerr, Abilene public schools' art supervisor, is general chairman of the exhibition. There will be displays of decorations for trees, doors, mantles, stockings, candles, etc., and centers for gift wrapping, Christmas cards, Christmas cooking, centerpieces, classroom ideas, and decorations made by students from kindergarten level through college art classes.

The display is open to anyone wishing to attend. Donations made at the tea will go to help finance the building for the national headquarters of the Association for Childhood Education.

WT Congressional Forum To Meet

FORT WORTH (AP)—The annual West Texas Congressional Forum starts today with attendance expected from some 70 towns.

Six Texas congressmen — Jim Wright of Fort Worth, W.R. Poague of Waco, Omar Burleson of Anson, Frank Icard of Wichita Falls, George Mahon of Lubbock and Walter Rogers of Pampa — will attend the forum, jointly sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

The WTCC Board will meet preceding the forum.

A 28-member delegation from Hereford will leave today by plane for Fort Worth to appear in the interest of legislation befitting the sugar beet production industry.

God's Covenant of Love

GOD'S PROMISE OF EVERLASTING LOVE TO THOSE WHO ARE HIS, AND SOME OF THE TRUTHS THAT ARISE FROM THIS FACT

Scripture—Jeremiah 31; Luke 1:67-69; 76-78; Romans 8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS LESSON begins with God's assurance of His love for His people and His promise concerning Israel's ultimate state.

"Yes, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee. Again will I build thee, and thou shalt be built, O virgin of Israel; thou shalt again be adorned with thy tabrets, and shalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry."

Jeremiah 31:3-4. "Thou shalt yet plant vines; the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah; not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which My covenant they brake."

Jeremiah 31:31-32. "But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel: After those days, saith the Lord, I will put My law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and they shall not be My people, and I shall be to them a God, and they shall be to Me a people."

Jeremiah 31:33. "I will be to the fatherless a Father, and to the widow a Mother, saith the Lord."

Jeremiah 31:34. "I will give them an heart of flesh, and they shall not have a heart of stone; and I will give them a right heart, and they shall fear Me, and shall be My people."

Jeremiah 31:35. "I will be to the fatherless a Father, and to the widow a Mother, saith the Lord."

Jeremiah 31:36. "I will be to the fatherless a Father, and to the widow a Mother, saith the Lord."

Jeremiah 31:37. "I will be to the fatherless a Father, and to the widow a Mother, saith the Lord."

HCJC Choir Presents Musical Program At Tea

A seated tea, given Thursday evening at the Forsan School, was a courtesy of the Forsan Study Club and served as a benefit for Boys Ranch near San Angelo. Members and their guests heard a musical program presented by the choir of Howard County Junior College, directed by Ira Schantz, who introduced the various selections.

Shakespeare's "O Mistress Mine" was followed by "Pain Would I Change That Note" done in the style of a 18th century madrigal. A male quartet, recently formed and named the Jay-Squawkers, sang "Autumn Leaves," "A Log on the Fire" and an old French Christmas carol, "Bring a Torch, Jeannette, Isabelle."

Hostesses were Mrs. Hamlin Elrod, Mrs. Walter Gressett, Mrs. W. M. Romans, Mrs. L. T. Shouls, Mrs. C. B. Long, and Mrs. C. V. Wash. Assisting with the hospitality were Susan Elrod, Mary Fields, Dena Parker and Joyce Shouls.

Rita Gale Is Honored

Rita Gale, bride-elect of Oliver Kollock Jr., was honored with a personal shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. O. E. Elmore, with Barbara Elmore assisting with hostess duties. The serving table was covered with a white cloth and was decorated with red candles. Centering the table was an arrangement of pine cones and foliage. Parents of the bride couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gale, 1405 Eleventh Place, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Kollock of Plainfield, N.J. The wedding date has been set for Jan. 14 in the St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Mink's The Word

Party plans are the topic of discussion between these two models, Mrs. William Osborne and Mrs. James Gehrig. Mrs. Osborne, at left, is wearing a mink cabachoned elench, while Mrs. Gehrig models a Cerulean cabachoned stole.

Fur Fashion Parade Given For OW Club

The Christmas theme was emphasized in decorations for the December luncheon of the Officers Wives Club held Thursday afternoon in the Officers Club of Webb Air Force Base. During the business session, Mrs. Thomas Sebo announced the holiday schedule of the club. On Dec. 18 the annual Wives Club cocktail party will be given at the club from five until seven in the evening. Following the cocktail hour a buffet will be served. The Christmas formal is slated for Dec. 16.

The new constitution of the club was presented and read by Mrs. W. L. Hugo. Guests were introduced by Mrs. Thomas B. Casey, Jr. A fashion parade of 29 furs was presented. Commentator for the parade was Mrs. John Z. Groves. Modeling the furs were Mrs. Edward Moore, Mrs. William Osborne, Mrs. James Gehrig, Mrs. Sebo, Mrs. H. V. Lindsey, Mrs. W. E. Overacker, Mrs. S. T. Howter, Mrs. A. E. Tautz, and Mrs. Norris Kroese.

Westside Baptist Notes Prayer Week

Members of the Westside Baptist WMS met Thursday morning at the church to hold the Week of Prayer study.

Mrs. Jake Trantham read the prayer calendar and spoke on the topic, "Seeing the Multitudes without a Shepherd." She concluded with a poem, "When Jesus Saw the Multitudes." Others taking part in the program were Mrs. Sallie Sanderson, Mrs. Leroy Minchey, Mrs. L. O. Smith and Mrs. C. C. Easter. The meditation was brought by Mrs. Cecil Rhodes, and Mrs. J. O. Murphy dismissed the group with a prayer.

Open House Slated

Open house will be held at the new Methodist parsonage in Garden City Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock; all friends and members of the church are invited to call. The Rev. and Mrs. James E. Merrell will be the host couple.

A Beauty

Mrs. Thomas Sebo will be the center of attraction anywhere she models a floor length dress of embroidered gold, which she modeled at the Thursday luncheon of the Officers Wives' Club.

Ready For The Party

Mrs. Edward Moore is prepared for all the holiday parties as she models a floor length dress of embroidered gold, highly accented by a mink stole of autumn haze.

Double Rings Are Exchanged By Pair In Gladewater

LAMESA (SC)—Phyllis Maxwell became the bride of Buddy Maxwell in a double ring ceremony Nov. 24 at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Cobb Jr. of Gladewater.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Maxwell of the Midway community; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Maxwell of Gladewater.

Mrs. Jim Barr of Levelland attended her sister as matron of honor, and best man was the bride's brother-in-law, C. D. Cobb Jr.

The bride's dress was of ice blue lace over taffeta and she wore a tiny veiled white hat. Her flowers were white carnations.

Members of the immediate families who attended the ceremony were guests for the reception in the Cobb home. The newlyweds are at home in Gladewater where she is an associate of J. C. Penney Co., and he is assistant manager of Wacker's Variety Store. Mrs. Maxwell is a graduate of Lamesa High School, and her husband attended the Gladewater schools.

Forum To Present Students

Members of the Piano Teachers Forum will present several of their students in recital Sunday afternoon at 2:30, and the public is invited to attend.

The program will be given in the auditorium at Howard County Junior College. About 25 instructors are included on the roster of the forum.

Piano selections will be played by Ellen Miller, Debbie Gressett, Alison Miller, Barbara Burkett, Nancy Jo McEvers, Kendall Miller, Sandra Covert, Donna Wood, Cindy Gressett.

Credit Club Donates To United Fund

A donation was made to the United Fund by members of the Credit Women's Club when they met for lunch at the Wagon Wheel Thursday.

The group also planned to join with the Business and Professional Women's Club in giving a ward party at the state hospital Dec. 22. In 1961, the club will serve as hostesses for a Lincoln banquet slated for patients of the VA Hospital in February, it was decided.

A Christmas party is planned for members, who will meet at 7 p.m., Dec. 12. Fern Wells, 1508 Rannels, will be hostess for an informal gathering before the club goes to the Wagon Wheel for dinner at 7:30 p.m.

During the Thursday session, 18 members took the final examination over the course of study which has been presented at the regular meetings.

Mrs. Judy Kuykendall offered the invocation, and Pauline Sullivan, past president, presided for the meeting.

Holiday Guests Return To Homes

KNOTT (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sturdivant have returned to their home in Stephenville after spending the holidays with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stephenson and daughters spent the holidays with his father in Henrietta, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Motley visited their children in Colorado City Sunday.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Key of Vealmoor were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Clay. Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Long are their daughter, Mrs. Jim Green and children.

Welsh Rabbit

Welsh Rabbit may be topped with drained sardines, strips of pimiento or green olives or paper-thin onion rings.

Mrs. Robertson To Direct Bridge Play

Mrs. J. D. Robertson will become the new director of the duplicate bridge group at Webb AFB Officers Club, it was announced at the meeting Thursday evening.

Seven tables accommodated players, who were reminded that Dec. 8 will be master point night.

Winners in north-south position were Mrs. E. G. Patton and Mrs. Robertson, first; A. E. Lynch and Marshall Garrett, both of Midland, second; Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. J. H. Holloway, third.

East-west winners were Mrs. Mrs. Muriel Ruhl and Mrs. Leroy Bradford, first; Mrs. Glenn Riley and Mrs. Arliss Ratliff, both of Garden City, second; Mrs. J. J. Havens and Mrs. Riley Foster, third.

December Shoppers To Find Variety In Fruits, Vegetables

By The Associated Press
The first December shopping weekend finds Texas food markets loaded with a wide variety of fresh fruits and vegetables, the USDA Marketing Service says.

Shipments of cabbage, carrots, celery, citrus, lettuce, greens and green onions were large this week. All rates best-buy mention. Also selling at attractive prices are dry yellow onions, sweet potatoes and purple-top turnips. Potatoes continue reasonable, with the price edge to round reds in most areas.

Many stores are featuring apples, bananas, cranberries, Texas grapefruit and oranges, Emperor and Tokay grapes are in good supply.

Priced lower are avocados, snap beans, Texas oranges, Emperor grapes, iceberg lettuce and Texas sweetcorn.

Items slightly higher include bananas, lemons, California navel oranges, and squash. Tomatoes and eggplant are sharply higher.

More Florida tangerines are available than last week. New crop nuts and dried fruits are at their best at reasonable prices. Supplies of all meats are large. Both broilers and turkeys are on USDA's December plentiful foods list, indicating that stocks are more than ample.

Spaders Club Sees TB Film Thursday

A film dealing with the treatment of tuberculosis was shown for members of the Spaders Garden Club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Don Grantham. Mrs. Bob Carlile was cobhostess.

Mrs. Zack Gray presented the film and led a discussion of the disease. Plans were announced for the Christmas party, slated for Dec. 13 in the home of Mrs. Dave Dochester, 1740 Purdue. Members are to bring gag gifts to be placed on the tree, it was decided.

Thirteen were present for the gathering.

Tawa Jo Wood Is Honored At Party

Tawa Jo Wood was honored on her fourth birthday Wednesday morning with a party given in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Wood.

The party cake was iced in pale pink and was inscribed with "Happy Birthday" in yellow. Four yellow candles were placed on the top. Eleven children attended.

Vivien Leigh Gets Divorce

LONDON (AP)—Actress Vivien Leigh was granted a divorce today from Sir Laurence Olivier on grounds of Olivier's adultery with actress Joan Plowright.

Miss Plowright's husband, actor Roger Leonard Gage, was given a divorce in the same court on the same grounds.

Neither Sir Laurence nor Miss Plowright defended the suits against them. Neither was present in court.

Olivier was ordered to pay the costs of both his wife's and Gage's suits.

Gage said his wife—now appearing in New York in "A Taste of Honey"—and Sir Laurence committed adultery in London last June.

Miss Leigh, 47, won her divorce on grounds of the same adultery. Sir Laurence, 53, and Miss Leigh married in 1949.

Gage and Miss Plowright, 28, married in 1953.

Joan's Daughter Carries On Name

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Another glorious movie name is being carried on by Christina Crawford, making her first Hollywood movie at 21.

Christina is the eldest adopted daughter of Joan Crawford, the screen's most durable queen. The girl has a role in "Wild in the Country" at 20th Century-Fox, where mama is getting ready for a "Return to Peyton Place." But Christina got the job on her own.

"When I was younger, mother had many offers for me to appear in movies," Christina said. "She wouldn't let me, because she said that I had to want an acting career myself; she wouldn't decide it for me.

"That was all right with me. I wanted to attain what I could; I didn't want anyone to pave the way for me. Mother has been a big help in giving me advice on individual problems. But as far as the direction of my career, I'm on my own."

Christina purposely avoided a frontal assault on Hollywood. She studied a great deal with the better schools and coaches in New York, then got some seasoning in summer stock. She played everything from "The Moon Is Blue" to Shakespeare to "Our Town." She also did an independent film in Florida.

The question always arises with second-generation performers: Does bearing a famous name prove an asset or liability?

"I think it's definitely an asset," Christina remarked. "I'm proud of my mother and what she has achieved. I'm sure that having her name opens the door to many opportunities. And it is wonderful to sense the reaction that I get from people who have been fans of mother and are therefore interested in me. It is a very warm feeling."

"On the other hand, I'm also on a spot. Although I have the opportunities, I have to prove myself—perhaps more than other performers. I have to produce, or else."

IT IS REQUIRED THAT YOU SEE PSYCHO
FROM THE VERY BEGINNING—

Surely you do not have your meat course after your desert at dinner. You will therefore understand why we are so insistent that you enjoy PSYCHO from start to finish, exactly as we intended that it be served.

We won't allow you to cheat yourself. Every theatre manager, everywhere, has been instructed to admit no one after the start of each performance of PSYCHO. We said no one—not even the manager's brother, the President of the United States or the Queen of England (God bless her).

To help you cooperate with this extraordinary policy, we are listing the starting times below. Treasure them with your life—or better yet, read them and act accordingly.

Julie Glows In 'Alban'

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP)—Julie Harris, the star with a delicate air, brings a luminous glow to Broadway's version of "Little Moon of Alban."

The play, expanded to stage dimensions from prize-winning exhibit on TV in 1958 (also with Miss Harris), opened Thursday night at the Longacre Theater.

A large cast, directed by veteran Herman Shumlin with sure taste, surrounds the star. But the measure of the production's triumph is the shining skill of thin-faced Julie as she interprets the tumultuous inner struggle of a young girl in search of faith.

Since the theme is largely a discussion—relieved with melodramatic moments and a melody snatches-of spiritual values and other abstractions, "Little Moon of Alban" casts a fragile beam in the stern commercial Broadway spotlight.

Playwright James Costigan has augmented his video version with generally successful results.

The action transpires against the lurid backdrop of Ireland's battle for freedom in the 1920s. Having lost her father, brother and sweetheart to the Dublin ambushes and skirmishes of England's Black and Tan forces, Miss Harris enters a religious order. Instead of finding peaceful escape, she is ironically assigned to nursing the wounded foe.

John Justin, a performer from Britain in initial White Way assignment, is crisply incisive as a cynical soldier who finds redemption from their meeting.

In supporting roles, Nora O'Mahony contributes effectively as a stern Celtic mother; Robert Redford and Stefan Gierasch are spirited rebels. Neil Fitzgerald and Eric Christmas etch telling vignettes as a man of faith and a skeptic scientist.

Tomcat Turns To Show Business

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Herman the tomcat, loser in a first round court battle over his freedom, turns to show business today, billed as the Casanova of the Cat Kingdom.

Herman's rise to fame grew out of a $3,500 suit charging in part that Herman was far too friendly with some neighboring female Siamese cats.

A preliminary injunction ordered Herman's owner, Russell Bowlers, to keep the cat on a leash when he is out of doors.

Tonight Herman will appear in a gold colored cage at a theater here. The theater said there would be a marble throne with a red carpet leading to it and spotlights to dramatize the scene, in the theater's lobby.

The arrangements were made by the manager—Herman Kersken.

Darin, Dee On Honeymoon

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Singer Bobby Darin and Sandra Dee, who have a flock of teen-age fans, were honeymooning in seclusion today.

Darin, 24, and the 18-year-old actress spent most of their wedding day Thursday in airports and aboard planes from New York City.

They were married in a hurry-up affair after midnight at the Elizabeth, N.J., apartment of music publisher Donald Kirshner. Sandra put adhesive tape around her finger to make a borrowed wedding band fit.

They met last September in Italy while making "Come September," a movie also starring Rock Hudson and Gina Lollobrigida.

Advances Minor At Red Summit

MOSCOW (AP)—The accomplishments of communism's summit conference apparently have been minor.

No major manifesto on Communist aims and tactics was announced after the breakup of the meeting Thursday, indicating little progress was made in settling fundamental issues revolving about the policy of coexistence.

A final communique claimed, however, that harmony prevailed.

(Red China, whose leaders have disputed Soviet Premier N. Khrushchev's theories on coexistence, also presented a front of harmony. A Peiping broadcast said the conference was held in a cordial atmosphere and ended in complete understanding, unity and solidarity.)

This outer show of unity had been expected by Western diplomats regardless of whether the Communist leaders reached any fundamental agreement.

The communique, however, was mostly devoted to listing the Communist parties from 81 countries represented.

What went on in more than three weeks of secret discussions, believed to have been sharp at times, was covered in these two terse paragraphs. "The participants in the conference exchanged experiences and acquainted themselves with the views and positions of each other, discussed the current questions of contemporary international development and the Communist movement, in the interests of the mutual struggle for common aims of peace, democracy, national independence and socialism, and unanimously adopted a statement of the Communist and workers' parties and also an appeal to the peoples of the whole world.

"The discussion of all questions took place in an atmosphere of fraternal friendship resting on the foundation of the immutable principles of Marxism-Leninism and proletarian internationalism."

By Soviet interpretation, proletarian internationalism means Moscow leadership of world communism.

Red China's delegation at the conference was led by president Liu Shao-Chi. Reports in the Peiping press have indicated he contested the Khrushchev view that communism is now so strong that it can win out against capitalism without war, and that war can and must be avoided. The Red Chinese view is that war is inevitable as long as capitalism exists.

There have been indications that the Red Chinese were supported by Albania and possibly some Latin-American leaders. Recent statements in Pravda indicated, however, that the Kremlin leadership has not retreated from its policy.

Science Academy Receives Grants

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Texas Academy of Science Thursday received grants for scientific lectures and consultations and career days at state high schools. The Grass Roots Education League of Texas gave $1,000 and the Aluminum Company of America granted $500. The academy begins sessions today on Texas Christian University campus.
