Pickup In Which Two Persons Died

Wreckage of the car in which Mrs. Lewis Forgas and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Lee Stewart, were fatally injured Sunday afternoon is shown above. Herbert Lee Stewart, son of Mrs. Forgas and husband of Mrs. Stewart, is in critical condition at the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Two Killed Here In Auto Accident

Two women were fatally injured and a man critically hurt at 3 p.m. Sunday in a collision between a pickup truck and a passenger car. The accident occurred 1.2 miles north of Big Spring on the Snyder highway.

Dead as a result of the accident are Mrs. Lewis (Mildred) Forgas, 48, 811 San Antonio and Mrs. Herbert Lee Stewart, 21, Mrs. Forgas' daughter-in-law.

Gravely injured and in critical condition at the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital is Herbert Lee Stewart, 24, son of Mrs. Forgas and husband of Mrs. Stewart.

The tragedy occurred when the pickup, in which Mrs. Forgas, Stewart, and Mrs. Stewart were riding, collided with a car driven by J. K. Matthews, 30, Enid, Okla., salesman. Matthews escaped injury. Both cars were demolished in the collision.

Jimmy Parks, state highway patrol officer, who investigated the accident, said that Stewart and his passengers were traveling south and Matthews was going north. Parks said it appeared the pickup turned into the path of the Oldsmobile.

Mrs. Stewart was thrown through the windshield. Stewart was tossed into a ditch. Mrs. Forgas was still in the wreckage of the pickup when rescue workers reached the scene.

Mrs. Forgas was taken to the Howard County Hospital Foundation by a River ambulance. She died at 6:56 p.m. Sunday.

The Stewarts were taken to the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital by Nalley-Pickle ambulance. Mrs. Stewart died at 7 a.m. Monday.

The deaths represented 10th and 11th traffic fatalities in Howard County during 1960. Three of these have occurred in the city of Big Spring and the others on rural highways.

Most recent traffic fatality, prior to Sunday's tragedy, was on Oct. 16, Hermino Altamirano Castegon, a 22-year-old bracero, was run down and killed by a driver not as yet apprehended.

This accident occurred in the 1100 block of Gregg.

Funeral services for Mrs. Forgas will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Nalley-Pickle funeral chapel. Officiating will be Rev. Cecil Rhodes. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include three sons, Bobby Ray Stewart, Herbert Lee Stewart, and W. L. Nowell, all of Big Spring.

Martinez is under indictment for the murder four years ago of Taylor Garrett, filling station operator, who was shot during a robbery attempt.

Martinez, a juvenile at the time of the incident, was committed to the state training school for boys at Gatesville for attempted robbery by assault.

Spring, a daughter, Mrs. Stella Mae Marshall, Big Spring; her father, A. J. Lloyd, Big Spring; mother, Mrs. H. A. Lloyd, Comanche; two brothers, Arnold Lloyd, Knott; and Judson Lloyd, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Jesse Reed and Laverne Lloyd, both of Comanche, and four grandchildren. Mrs. Forgas was born March 26, 1912, in Comanche and came to Big Spring in 1933. She was a member of the West Side Baptist Church.

Funeral for Mrs. Herbert Lee Stewart (Joyce Lawanda) Stewart, 21 will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Nalley - Pickle chapel. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

She and her husband resided at 202 Warren Street in Big Spring, but were in the process of moving to the Floyd Hill place north of town.

She was a bride of about four months. She was born in the Moore Community on Sept. 12, 1939.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Rice and two brothers, Franklin and Jerry Don Rice, all of Big Spring, her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Vida King, Big Spring; and her maternal great-grandfather, P. D. Hale, Decatur.

She was notified Friday that his motion for a rehearing in the court of Civil Appeals at Eastland had been overruled by the court. He had sought rehearing before the court after an appeal taken by the school boards of the two annexed school districts had been upheld by the appeals court some weeks ago.

Jones now will take his case to the Texas Supreme Court on a petition for a writ of error.

The county board lost the first round in the litigation over the annexation of the two school districts to the Big Spring Independent District when the appeals court held that the 118th District Court had been in error in refusing to hear the case on its merits.

The county board is seeking to force the annexed common schools to take their appeal to the education commissioner at Austin rather than through the local district court.

The board authorized Jones to proceed with an appeal to the supreme court when the appeals court upheld the appeal of the two annexed districts.

and recited the efforts made to locate the defendant and bring him to trial.

The state contended that lack of diligence had been indicated; that Gomez had more than ample time to make certain his lawyer was in the court and the case ready for trial. He has employed or contacted numerous attorneys to represent him, the district attorney argued.

Judge Caton then dismissed the motion for continuance, upholding the state's motion to strike it, and ordered Gomez to be in court at 10 a.m. Tuesday ready to go to trial.

Joe Nunez, charged with possession of narcotics, announced through counsel that he was not ready for trial. The state was ready. A ruling on this matter is due later.

George B. Anglin, DWI second, was announced ready.

Ponciano Lopez, possession of narcotics, announced ready.

Leslie Mae Wesley, assault with intent to kill, announced ready.

Grady Rhone, DWI second, is in jail in Sweetwater. The state asked for a bench warrant to bring him from the Sweetwater jail to Howard County for trial.

Marshall Butler, charged with assault with intent to murder, announced ready with the statement that the case would probably be tried before the court.

Eladio Zubiate, Jr., possession of narcotics as a repeater offender, announced ready.

News Report Halt Asked By Morrison

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison has appealed to news media to take a 3-day holiday from on-the-scene school integration coverage, beginning today.

The mayor said he thought demonstrators would not show up at two integrated schools if the press did not appear.

Morrison suggested a press pool—where one reporter and one photographer would cover the school scene and share coverage with all others. Another suggestion was that police photographers supply all media with film and a report.

In a letter to news media representatives dated Friday, Morrison said the people who are demonstrating are principally the same ones. They number not over 200 persons, he said.

Morrison said newsmen have told him "if they (photographers and reporters) were not on the scene each day, the demonstrators would not be there."

Jones Prepares Next Step In School Case

Gil Jones, attorney for the Howard County School Board, said Monday morning that he would proceed at once with preparation for filing a petition for writ of error in the Gay Hill-Center Point school annexation case. He has 30 days in which to file his petition.

Jones was notified Friday that his motion for a rehearing in the court of Civil Appeals at Eastland had been overruled by the court. He had sought rehearing before the court after an appeal taken by the school boards of the two annexed school districts had been upheld by the appeals court some weeks ago.

MAY TAP UDALL Symington Report Would Make Sweeping Changes

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today got a report recommending sweeping Defense Department reorganization — including elimination of the civilian secretaries of Army, Navy and Air Force.

The goal would be to give the secretary of defense instantaneous control in event of nuclear war.

The report was submitted to Kennedy by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., head of a committee which the president-elect set up to plan streamlining of the vast Pentagon operation for the nuclear-space age.

Symington told a news conference after conferring with Kennedy that in his opinion his committee's recommendations would cut present military spending by about 20 per cent or $8 billion annually. But he said this money likely would have to be plowed back for such things as new weapons development and an arms control program.

While the Symington committee would abolish the civilian secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force, those services would be retained as separate entities in the defense establishment.

The plan of Symington, who was secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration, also would eliminate the undersecretaries and the assistant secretaries—all civilians — of the three services.

In all, 15 civilian offices would be wiped out in the three services. The committee also would abolish seven assistant secretaries of defense, bringing the grand total of offices abolished to 22.

Kennedy reportedly has decided on his plan for secretary of the interior—Rep. Stewart L. Udall, D-Ariz.

Kennedy arranged to fly back to Washington during the afternoon, after a session on revamping the Pentagon, for a busy week of gearing up his new administration.

The president-elect took one step in that direction Sunday night in creating an 11-member committee to map what he termed a desperately needed program of federal aid for areas of chronic unemployment. The committee headed by Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., plans its first meeting in a few days.

Joblessness in some sections of the country was an issue in the presidential campaign, and Kennedy said he was naming his study group to fulfill a pledge made during his bid for election.

Sources who asked not to be named said Kennedy has decided to name Udall, 40, to the $25,000-a-year interior post in the Cabinet.

These sources said the president-elect's present plan is to announce selection of Udall, a member of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, while in New York Wednesday. Udall, it is understood, has been asked to be on hand for the announcement.

Kennedy headquarters had said the president-elect will disclose his choice for another Cabinet post in New York Wednesday.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, wouldn't specify the position to be filled, but he ruled out one Cabinet position—secretary of state. An announcement on that may come later in the week.

Kennedy and his daughter Caroline, 3, arrived in Palm Beach for the weekend Friday evening.

Caroline and her governess plan to stay on for a few weeks.

Over the weekend, Kennedy picked the second member of his Cabinet—North Carolina Gov. Luther Hodges to be secretary of commerce. The president-elect earlier had named Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut as secretary of health, education and Welfare.

At the White House Tuesday Kennedy will meet for the first time since his election with President Eisenhower. They will discuss the problems of transfer from a Republican administration to a Democratic regime.

Kennedy then will fly to New York for a series of conferences to continue through Wednesday. The only one Kennedy headquarters announced over the weekend is a breakfast meeting Wednesday with Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations.

A Kennedy aide said the president-elect had made no decision regarding his choice for secretary of state or ambassador to the United Nations.

Kennedy's study committee for the planning of federal aid for areas of chronic unemployment is made up of business, labor, government and civic leaders. Most of the members are from West Virginia, which the president-elect says may be the hardest hit of any state with a problem of joblessness.

The committee will concentrate on the situation in West Virginia. But Kennedy said the group's recommendations will be the basis for an aid program for other areas with the same problem. He said these include southern Illinois, Eastern Kentucky, Southern Indiana, Pennsylvania, coal and steel areas, and the Minnesota iron range country.

Four women walked out of services conducted by the Rev. Lloyd A. Foreman at the Church of the Redeemer. One told an usher "He's a nigger lover."

17 White Children Show Up

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The boycott of an integrated elementary school weakened a bit more today with 15 to 17 white pupils turning out for classes.

They showed up at the William Frantz School where one Negro girl is enrolled in the first grade. The previous high white attendance, since the school was integrated by federal court order, was the 10 who went to classes Friday. There are 500 enrolled.

Jeers and taunts from women demonstrators greeted the white children and the Negro girl met a chorus of boos when she arrived.

"You're as black as they are," shouted one woman at the white children.

"Nigger lover," yelled another. At McDonogh No. 19, the other school integrated on Nov. 14, only the three Negro girls in the first grade entered the building today. Its enrollment was 500.

However, police patrols at the school were enlarged amid reports that white pupils would break the McDonogh boycott today.

The Louisiana Legislature gave quick approval Sunday to a bill providing state aid for pupils who prefer to attend private schools. The legislature, despite a federal court order not to interfere with the operation of New Orleans schools, is bent on preserving segregation.

Moving quickly to meet the expected demand for private schools, volunteer workers rushed repairs Sunday on a building in suburban Arabi to be used for some of the white students boycotting the two schools.

A Methodist minister who has ignored screaming cursing white women to accompany his daughter, Pamela, 6, and other white children to the Frantz School, was jeered again Sunday by a small group as he conducted services at two churches.

TURNED AWAY C. E. Vetter, businessman, said so many workers showed up at the building that some had to be turned away. Registration at the private school was scheduled today and Tuesday. Classes were expected to start Wednesday.

A Methodist minister who has ignored screaming cursing white women to accompany his daughter, Pamela, 6, and other white children to the Frantz School, was jeered again Sunday by a small group as he conducted services at two churches.

Four women walked out of services conducted by the Rev. Lloyd A. Foreman at the Church of the Redeemer. One told an usher "He's a nigger lover."

Services The minister conducted services later in the morning at St. Mark's Methodist church. A man standing outside the building was led away by companions after he shouted, "I'll challenge that louse, the rat."

Foreman did not mention the school demonstrations in his sermons. At the evening service he prayed for guidance for state and city officials in "these days of crisis."

In addition to providing an alternate school system the legislature approved resolutions designed to prevent banks from handing over school funds to the New Orleans School Board.

The lawmakers earlier tried to oust the board but U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright overturned that action and numerous segregation measures.

HEARING Wright set a hearing for today for the banks to show cause why they should not be enjoined for refusing to honor school board checks.

One of the latest legislative resolutions sets up a new school board with authority to borrow the annual $12 million needed each year until school tax money becomes available. Gov. Jimmie H. Davis signed the resolution Saturday. Two citizens immediately obtained a restraining order, alleging the new attempt to oust the school board is unconstitutional.

The provincial governments of Kasai, Oriental and Leopoldville provinces probably would have backed Lumumba. Equator, Mobutu's native province, and the lower Congo area of Kasavubu would have been behind the present pro-Western regime, probably gaining support from President Moise Tshombe's secessionist Katanga government.

Mobutu told newsmen he plans to extend the life of his provisional government of college graduate commissioners until the Congo's feuding politicians can agree on a stable government.

When he installed the commissioners on Sept. 14, he said they would act as a caretaker government until the end of the year.

Whites Face Reprisal Move

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Henchmen of Patrice Lumumba clamped a Communist-style dictatorship on the city of Stanleyville today.

Angered at the capture of the deposed premier, they let loose their fury on whites trapped in his northeastern stronghold as a reprisal. Whites were barred from entering or leaving Oriental Province.

MISTREATED U. N. reports said numerous white residents of Stanleyville were being mistreated by the military police under control of the local government headed by Antoine Gizenga, vice premier in Lumumba's defunct Cabinet and a strong leftist.

Diplomats in Leopoldville were convinced that if Lumumba had succeeded in reaching Stanleyville he would have split the Congo in such a way that a Korea-type war would have followed with the Communists on Lumumba's side. Lumumba, dismissed by President Joseph Kasavubu Sept. 5, escaped from his guarded residence in Leopoldville a week ago and headed for Stanleyville.

CAUGHT Caught 500 miles east of Leopoldville by Congolese army commander Col. Joseph Mobutu's troops, he has been brought back to face trial on charges of inciting the army to mutiny during the chaotic days after independence.

Western diplomats said they had definite information that the Soviet bloc and several Asian-African nations were planning to recognize a Lumumba administration in Stanleyville as the Congo's rightful government had he got away out of reach of Mobutu's troops.

The diplomats think civil war would have followed, with many of the troops in Stanleyville supporting Lumumba and the Soviet Union supplying them through Egypt and the Sudan, which borders the Congo on the north.

SPLIT The provincial governments of Kasai, Oriental and Leopoldville provinces probably would have backed Lumumba. Equator, Mobutu's native province, and the lower Congo area of Kasavubu would have been behind the present pro-Western regime, probably gaining support from President Moise Tshombe's secessionist Katanga government.

Mobutu told newsmen he plans to extend the life of his provisional government of college graduate commissioners until the Congo's feuding politicians can agree on a stable government.

Two Local Women Hurt In Wreck

BAIRD—Mrs. Lee O. Rogers and her sister, Mrs. Galen Shelly of Big Spring, were seriously injured about 6:45 p.m. Sunday in a one-car automobile accident eight miles east of here.

Callahan County Hospital attendants this morning said Mrs. Shelly's condition was fair, and Mrs. Rogers' condition was listed as good.

Mrs. Shelly has shoulder and leg fractures plus multiple contusions and abrasions. Mrs. Rogers was thrown through the windshield, receiving a serious face laceration. Attendants said she also has five rib fractures and possible internal injuries.

Highway patrolman Donald Smithson, who investigated the mishap, said Mrs. Rogers was driving the car. He said she lost control of the vehicle when a wheel slipped off the pavement onto loose gravel. The car hit an embankment and came to rest in a dry creek bed. It did not overturn, he said.

Mrs. Rogers said lights from an oncoming car had blinded her immediately before the crash.

Dr. Rogers and Big Spring friends were in Baird this morning. They report both women may be moved to a Big Spring hospital Monday afternoon.

The injured were returning home from Dallas where they had attended the Southwest Area YMCA Young Adult Committee meeting. Mrs. Rogers is chairman of the group. She is the wife of the mayor of Big Spring.

Court Prepares For Bond Sale

Date for the sale of the $100,000 bond issue, approved by voters Saturday, will probably be set this afternoon, Ed Carpenter, county judge, said Monday morning.

He said that an agent of the bonding company, which has been assisting the commissioners in technical details relative to the election, was to be in Big Spring Monday afternoon to confer with the commissioners court on the details of the sale.

The commissioners canvassed the election returns on the bond vote this morning. They were found to be correct as announced.

The court is eager to proceed at top speed with the sale of the bond issue in order to provide funds to buy right of way on U.S. 87 from Fairview to the Big Spring City limits.

The commissioners were pleased at the heavy majority accorded the bond proposal by the electors of the county.

Lodge Denies Newspaper Offer

BEVERLY, Mass. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, unsuccessful Republican candidate for vice president, said Sunday he would wait until next month before making decision on several job offers.

Lodge returned home after a vacation with his wife Emily in the Virgin Islands. He declined comment on reports that he was offered the editorship of the New York Herald Tribune.

Miller Harris, sheriff, told of efforts extending over nearly three years from Oct. 1957 through July 1960 to find Gomez. In one of his petitions, Gomez has insisted he was never a fugitive.

Jones testified as to the long series of negotiations he has had with numerous attorneys over the three years since the first indictment was returned against Gomez

Martinez Trial Set For Feb. 7

The trial of Mike Martinez, 17, charged with murder at Sterling City, which was slated to get under way today, was rescheduled for Feb. 7 at the request of the defense.

Attorney George Thomas, Big Spring, presented a motion for either continuance or delay to allow the defense time to prepare its case. Judge Joe L. Mays, presiding in 51st Judicial Court, granted the motion as a delay, and reset trial date.

Martinez is under indictment for the murder four years ago of Taylor Garrett, filling station operator, who was shot during a robbery attempt.

Martinez, a juvenile at the time of the incident, was committed to the state training school for boys at Gatesville for attempted robbery by assault.

Dead To The Law

In Romans 7:1-7, the apostle pictured God's people as having been, in the past, married to the law and bound by it, like a woman is bound by the law to her husband. But as the woman is bound to her husband only while he lives; so we, as Christians, "also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ, and have become married to another, who is Christ.

Thus it would be spiritual adultery for us to be married to Christ and under the law at the same time.

"But now we are delivered from the law . . . (verse 6).

The apostle goes on to identify this law as being that which in Old Testament times said, "Thou shalt not covet" (verse 7). So we search the Old Testament and find that this statement is found nowhere except in the Ten Commandments. Thus we know the Ten Commandments are included in the law that died in the body of Christ, and no longer has dominion over God's people. —Adv.

Gasoline Tanks Blaze

Giant flames roar from high-octane gasoline storage tanks after an explosion at the Rothchild Oil Co. plant in Santa Fe Springs, near Los Angeles. More than 700 persons at a drive-in theater about 500 yards away were evacuated as a precaution. Firemen said the tanks contained from 30,000 to 100,000 gallons of gas. (AP Wirephoto)

Indian Government Renews Controversial Civil Law

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian government is renewing a controversial law that permits the government to hold a man for a year without trial.

This preventive detention act is defended by officials as a necessary weapon against those who would stir up internal disorder. Officials say it is only used sparingly to avoid serious trouble.

Its opponents include most opponents of Minister Nehru's Congress party government, from militant rightists to the Communists. They contend it violates the basic principles of fair trial. Therefore, they say, it dishonors India's title as the world's largest democracy.

Under the act a person may be detained to prevent him "from acting in any manner prejudicial to the defense of India, the relations of India with foreign powers, or the security of India; or the security of the state or the maintenance of public order; or the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the community."

An advisory board, composed of three high court judges or persons of equal rank, has to pass in secret on the government's action within 30 days after a person has been detained. But the person does not have the right to appear before the board and it is not required to disclose facts which it considers to be against the public interest to disclose.

This means, says the Indian Civil Liberties Bulletin, that "per-

Atom Bomb Pilot Escapes

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The pilot who led U.S. atomic bombers to Hiroshima and Nagasaki has escaped from the Waco Veterans Administration Hospital, where he was a mental patient.

Hospital officials said Claude B. Eatherly, 44, a former Air Force major, escaped from the institution Nov. 22.

Eatherly was acquitted of burglary two Texas post offices after pleading innocent by reason of insanity. A grocery store robbery charge at Dallas against him was dropped after he was committed to the VA hospital here last year.

A psychiatrist testified at his trial on the burglary charges in 1957 that Eatherly had a guilt complex and said he felt responsible for killing 100,000 persons at Hiroshima.

On First Day

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—More than 20,000 motorists tested the new 51-mile superhighway between Bologna and Florence Sunday. Police said there were so many collisions no one counted them; dozens of injured motorists were treated at hospitals in three cities, and more than 100 cars ran out of gas or over-heated.

FASCINATING GIFT

Flashlight Guides Boy To Refrigerator Death

NEW YORK (AP) — A little boy's curiosity, a flashlight, a vacant apartment.

This was the anatomy of a neighborhood tragedy in the Bronx Sunday night. Not long ago Robert Ingraham, 8, the son of a building superintendent, received a handsome gift from a family moving from the neighborhood.

The present—a shiny flashlight—became a near-obsession with the boy. For hours, as boys will, he explored the dark places in the neighborhood — murky basements, gloomy stairwells, store-rooms and odd corners.

Friends accused him of taking the light to bed with him. During most of his waking hours he kept the flashlight fastened to a string tied around his waist.

For three days Robert hit every unit nook and cranny in the area. When Robert didn't come home Sunday night, his frantic father, John Ingraham, called police and a widespread search began.

For nearly four hours searchers combed the neighborhood, talked to the lad's friends and looked in most places a 60-pound could hide. It wasn't until detective Christopher Kelly learned of the boy's fascination with the flashlight that police came up with a clue.

Kelly went to the basement apartment recently vacated by the neighbors who had given Robert the flashlight and began a thorough search.

His fears were realized when he finally opened the door of a refrigerator. Robert's slight body was curled up inside.

suspected of prejudicial activity can be thrown into prison on the say-so of a district officer or a Cabinet minister."

Others charge that the law is applied in cases too weak for the government to win a court test or is used to hold a person while legal charges are framed to regularize an arrest. Petty officials are accused of excesses when abiding by the letter of the law.

The basic concept came from the days of British rule. The British used preventive detention to fight the Indian independence movement. Jawaharlal Nehru and other leaders were jailed repeatedly in the 1930s for their efforts to obtain freedom.

After independence in 1947, the tradition of civil disobedience continued and was turned by some Indians against an Indian government.

Home Minister Govind Ballabh Pant reported that 106 persons were being held under preventive detention on Sept. 30. The figure has remained around 100 in recent years but once went as high as 3,001.

12 Injured In Bus-Truck Crash

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (AP)—A truck and Greyhound bus collided on icy U.S. Highway 30 east of Rock Springs Sunday night, injuring 12 of the 20 passengers. Seven were hospitalized.

State patrol Sgt. Art Reese said Dan Ellingford of Evanston, Wyo., was attempting to turn his truck around on the highway but it stalled. The bus, westbound, was unable to stop and crashed into the truck. Both vehicles slid off the highway into a ditch. Ellingford was not injured.

The injured, several with broken bones, were brought to Rock Springs by ambulance and cars.

Churchmen Favor Wide Reunion Plan

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, Associated Press Religion Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Leading churchmen today registered a somewhat bedazzled but firmly favorable reaction to a proposal for a wide reunion among American Protestants.

The plan, said Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord, of Boston, "is as shocking as it is Christian."

"It overcomes with stark simplicity many of the problems that have perplexed the separate communions over the years."

The plan, at the outset, would embrace the Episcopal, United Presbyterian, Methodist and United Church of Christ with other denominations subsequently invited to join.

The provocative formula was offered Sunday by a top-ranking Presbyterian, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, of Philadelphia, shortly before the start of the triennial General Assembly of the National Council of Churches.

More than 3,000 representatives of 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 40 million members joined Sunday night in the stirring opening services.

Although not formally a part of their program, the proposal generated keen interest among delegates.

"It is the opening of a very significant move," said the Rt. Rev. Arthur C. Lichtenberger, of New York, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church.

"Out of this might come a plan that would be acceptable to all the people involved," he added. "It is a good approach. I hope it will lead to a reunion of the church."

He, like others, however, em-

Patman Makes Two Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., today proposed two moves for stimulating the economy—especially small business.

In an address prepared for the National Association of Small Business Investment Companies (NASBIC), the chairman of the House Small Business Committee said he would introduce measures during the next session of Congress to:

1. Establish a new banking agency to raise funds needed by small business investment companies.
  2. Permit a business firm a one-year tax write-off of up to one million dollars for the amount spent for new tools and equipment.
- He predicted "a large business expansion" during 1961.

Sabre Jet Kills Two In Crash

STRASBOURG, France (AP)—A Canadian Sabre Jet fighter plane went out of control at 10,000 feet today and plunged into the village of Lichtenberg, killing two people and setting several houses afire.

The pilot, Flying Officer Harry Schoner of Alix, Alta, bailed out when the plane suddenly went out of control. He was not hurt.

phazied it will take time, and careful examination.

Dr. Blake, in a sermon at Grace Episcopal Cathedral, detailed steps for combining creedal, liturgical churches with the more informal, non-ritualistic churches into a body "both reformed and Catholic."

Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, of California, called the plan the "most sound and inspiring" ever offered in this country.

The plan is patterned on the precedent-shattering establishment of the United Church of South India in 1947, uniting Presbyterians, Methodists, Episcopalians and Congregationalists.

Dr. Blake proposed specifically a merger of these four groups in the United States. He included the United Church of Christ, a presently evolving union of Congregationalists and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Altogether, the combined body would have more than 20 million members. Other churches accepting the principles, Dr. Blake said, would also be invited to join, with the ultimate aim of reuniting "the whole of Christ's church."

The Rev. Dr. James E. Wagner, of Philadelphia, and the Rev. Dr. Fred Hoskins, of New York, co-presidents of the newly created United Church of Christ, voiced "great interest and appreciation" for the plan.

They said they felt sure that if the Episcopal and United Presbyterian conventions next year issue calls for such a union as proposed by Dr. Blake, it will receive "careful and thoughtful consideration."

However, they expressed hope that the plan would not be limited to the four bodies named even at the start, since their own merger already was planning unity negotiations with the Disciples of Christ Church.

The proposed reunion would include a joint consecration service, in which all clergy took part, so as to bring them into the apostolic succession—a heritage valued by the Episcopal and other catholic-rooted churches.

This is a line of authority considered handed down from the apostles.

The plan also would provide for "truly democratic government," with congregations free to name their own pastors, and "a wide diversity of theological formulations of the faith and a wide diversity of worship and liturgy."

Other measures would incorporate distinctive features of both Catholic and reformed types of Protestant churches, Dr. Blake said. He said he used the word, "catholic," as it applied to ancient Christian concepts and practices.

"The reunited church," he said, "must have visible and historical continuity with the churches of all ages before and after the Reformation."

He estimated it would take at least 10 years to effect the initial union, if the designated denominations act on it favorably. He suggested as a possible name: "The Reformed and Catholic Church in the United States of America."

DEAR ABBY

WRONG ROLE
 By Abigail Van Buren

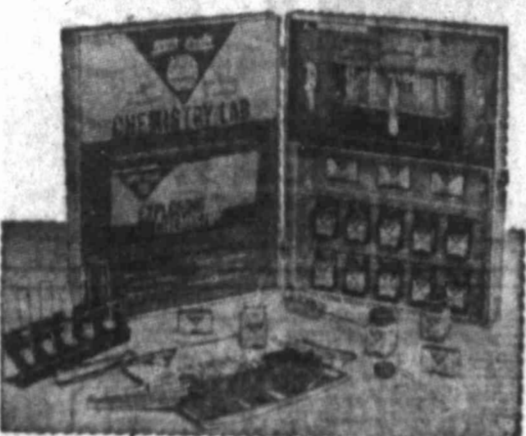

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a minister who would direct a play and take a leading part in this play in which he portrayed a drunk who cursed and took the name of our Lord in vain?
 The play was "The Caine Mutiny" and was open to the public to raise funds for the Church. The cursing this minister did in this play was fierce! If he hadn't been our clergyman I wouldn't have minded so much. How can he justify breaking the Third Commandment? I'd like your views and also those of other clergymen, please.
WITHHOLD MY NAME
 DEAR WITHHOLD: Your clergyman should have realized that first and foremost he is a minister—not an actor. If he wanted to act in a play, he should have selected one in which his role would have been in keeping with the dignity of his office. Ministers, too, are human, and sometimes err.
 DEAR ABBY: How do you get rid of a boyfriend you don't care for?
HELEN
 DEAR HELEN: Introduce him to a girl you don't care for.
 DEAR ABBY: Recently my mother-in-law, who has been a widow for six years, became "engaged." She is in her late forties and he is in his middle fifties. He gave her an "engagement ring" of all things. I have always been under the impression that it was poor taste for a woman who has been married before (and owns one engagement ring) to accept another. Please enlighten me and others who have this question in mind.
DISGUSTED
 DEAR DISGUSTED: There is no limit to the number of engagement rings a woman may accept. It is simply the "taken" that accompanies a promise to wed. If

Integration Is Advancing
 NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The number of Negroes attending public schools with white children in Southern and border states has increased more than 14,000 this year over last, the Southern Educational Reporting Service (SERS) said today.
 The 195,625 Negroes attending desegregated classes represent 6.3 per cent of the Negroes enrolled in the 17 states and Washington, D.C., SERS said.
 The figure was contained in the service's semi-annual statistical summary of developments arising from the U.S. Supreme Court's 1954 decision on school segregation.
 SERS said the proportion of Negroes attending bi-racial classes in the region this year was about the same as in the 1959-60 school year. Total Negro enrollment was reported at 3,020,727 and white, 10,165,246.
 Most of the desegregated Negroes, 194,849, live in Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia and Washington, D.C., SERS said. The remainder, 778, reside in Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.
 With the start of segregation in New Orleans, SERS said, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina remained the only states with complete segregation extending from elementary grades through college. Thirty-six per cent of the South's Negroes live in the four states, the service stated.

Stock Price Rally Doesn't Always Happen

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The yearend rally in stock prices is a tradition in the market. But like so many other Wall Street traditions it doesn't always happen.

This year may be one of those exceptions. And if a rally does come in the next couple of weeks the reasons may be other than seasonal.

One thing that makes this December different is that today there actually are stock traders and experts who will say—mostly privately—that they honestly don't know what's going to happen in 1961.

NOT SURE

They aren't sure about business, about policies in Washington, about the course international problems will take.

If in the next few days President-elect John F. Kennedy's selection of his team gives a hint of what's coming in Washington after January 20, traders may respond to whatever their interpretation of this may be—bearish or bullish.

But this will be different from other yearend rallies—or the less common yearend declines. True, political speculation plays a stock market role in most Decembers, even if rarely the biggest part. Usually it revolves around guesses on the upcoming federal budget, the attitude of Congress toward business, or the jockeying of politicians for position in the next election.

EASY GUESS

In previous presidential election years, it has been pretty easy to guess what lies in store in Washington.

This year they are still guessing. As a tradition the yearend rally ranks along with the summer rally to usher in Labor Day, or with the notion that stocks are always upset by the uncertainties of election years. The cold statistics show many exceptions to all these traditions.

The exceptions seem to be increasing in recent years. Some think this is because more persons have been buying stocks since the war. And the institutions—pension funds and the like—are huge buyers who put more story by business prospects than market traditions.

INCREASE STOCK

The increase in individual stock owners and in the volume of institutional buying gives the in and out trader a smaller proportion of total sales. Tradition has it that these traders were more inclined to follow the old saws. With individuals studying the market more, the seasonal factor is given less weight than when the general public was less sophisticated.

The reasoning behind the tradition of a yearend rally runs this way:

Selling of stocks to establish losses for income tax reporting usually runs its course in late November and early December. This leaves the sellers with some cash to put in other stocks if they choose—and such buying pushes up prices and gives the over-all list a lift.

Also the tax selling may have forced some good stocks down to price levels where bargain hunters snap them up, giving prices a shove again.

CHRISTMAS

One school of thought in Wall Street holds that the Christmas spirit must be reckoned with—that it tends to make even stock buyers more optimistic, less fearful of the economic future, or maybe more prone to wishful thinking.

But this December a lot of people in the boardrooms or the family parlors could turn out to be just perplexed.

Two Brewing Firms Merge

SAN ANTONIO—A merger of the Pearl Brewing Company of San Antonio, and the M. K. Goetz Brewing Company of St. Joseph, Missouri, has been approved by a vote of stockholders of both companies. The Pearl Brewing Company will be the surviving concern.

Results of the action by stockholders approving the merger were announced by Otto A. Koehler, president and chairman of the board, and Datus E. Proper, executive vice president and general manager of Pearl.

Under terms of the merger agreement which will become effective January 1, 1961, the Goetz plant will be operated as the M. K. Goetz Division of the Pearl Brewing Company. The present Goetz executive and sales management will be retained for the M. K. Goetz Division operations.

Three members of the Goetz Company will take places on the board of directors of the Pearl Brewing Company. They are: Frank L. Goetz Jr., president, who will become a vice president of the Pearl Brewing Company; Byron C. Means, Goetz executive vice president, who will become a vice president and assistant secretary on the Pearl board and J. M. Ford II, president of the First National Bank of St. Joseph, Mo. and a Goetz director, who will become a director of the Pearl Brewing Company.

Pearl and Goetz, two America's largest and most modern regional breweries, have a combined total production capacity of 2,300,000 barrels annually. The Pearl brewery has a production capacity of 1,500,000 barrels and Goetz has a production capacity of 800,000 barrels.

Decoration Contest Set

The annual Christmas home decoration contest, sponsored by the Big Spring Garden Club Council and Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, was announced this morning.

Spokesmen urged all residents to join in the contest with a chance to win one of 10 prizes as well as an overall prize. Besides giving the city a Christmas atmosphere, the decorations lend a cheery note to the spirit of the holidays.

Officials estimate 200 or more will enter the annual competition. There are four divisions in the contest, including doorways, lawns, windows and multiple living units. Three cash prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be given in each class with a prize of $25 being awarded in the multiple units class.

In addition, a $50 award will be made to the most artistic overall decoration and will apply to all three divisions.

Residents are urged to make entries at the chamber offices by Dec. 21, the deadline. Judges will visit each site on Dec. 22.

Professional help is not permitted and judging will be on the basis of originality, distinction, color, design and suitability.

Judges and sponsors may not enter the contest. Residents are asked to keep lights on decorations until midnight Dec. 22, to be sure the judges have seen them.

TUESDAY

Oil Operators Discuss Pollution

Oil operators in the Sharon Ridge and Coleman Ranch pools will meet with Colorado River Municipal Water District officials here Tuesday to discuss salt pollution studies.

Control of salt pollution of the Colorado River will determine whether or not a second lake is impounded on the river in southern Mitchell County. A permit has been granted for the lake, provided salt water pollution on the upper Colorado River can be cleared or controlled.

The oil operators, members of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas Operators Association, will be guests of CRMWD officials at the Couden Country Club for the meeting and luncheon.

Prior to the luncheon, CRMWD board of directors will meet to formally approve the 1961 operating budget, a report on bids for a headquarters building sit here, and a report on prospective dam sites for the proposed second lake.

Castro, Church Strife Critical

HAVANA (AP) — Relations between the Roman Catholic Church and Prime Minister Fidel Castro today were at the most critical level yet after the church angrily denied Castro's charge that priests took bribes to preach against his revolution.

Adding to the increased tension among Catholics were persistent but unconfirmed reports that Archbishop Enrique Perez Serantes of Santiago was detained briefly by authorities in Camaguey Saturday and told to leave Cuba.

The 77-year-old archbishop was returning from a meeting of Catholic prelates in Havana. The reports said he replied firmly that he would stay in Cuba and take the consequences.

Archbishop Perez Serantes, who once saved Castro from a Batista firing squad but now is his most outspoken critic in Cuba, said by telephone from Santiago: "I am an old man and suffer from loss of memory. I do not recall any such thing happening to me."

Camaguey military officials said they had not detained the archbishop.

In an open letter to Castro read Sunday in Santiago's cathedral, nine Catholic bishops, including Manuel Cardinal Arteaga, asserted that the government's revolutionary indoctrination program preaches communism.

The letter also denied Castro's charge that "henchmen in cassocks" accepted bribes from sugar industry interests to preach against the revolution.

There has been no official reaction to the letter, which was read in Catholic churches without incident.

Ophelia Swings Away From Japan

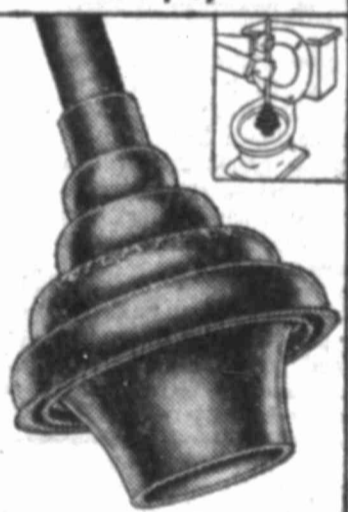

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Ophelia, apparently sparing Japan from its 115-mile center winds, swung back into the uninhabited north Pacific today on a northeast course.

The off-season typhoon, which killed two persons on Ulithi Atoll in the central Pacific, caused heavy snow and rainfall in Japan.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Groups from six countries have been invited to Acapulco for that Pacific resort city's first International Jazz Festival early in 1961. Americans invited include Louis Satchmo Armstrong.

A Devotional For Today

He healthe the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds. (Psalms 147:3.)
PRAYER: Eternal God, nearer to us than breathing and closer than hands and feet, we commend ourselves anew to Thy keeping. In all the experiences of life, we pray for Thy continuing favor and the consciousness of Thy presence; through Jesus Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.
(From The 'Upper Room')

We Can't Afford Luxury Of Failure

Unless there is some sudden revival of generosity, it now appears that the United Fund will end up some $4,000 short of its goal.
This can mean one thing, for sure, namely that the participating agencies will likely have to readjust budgets (to which many already are committed) to get along on less resources during the year.
As distasteful as this prospect may be, the other implication is even more depressing.
It is simply that Big Spring and Howard County will have failed to attain a goal that was purposely kept conservative to keep it well within reach.
Failure is not a pleasant word, nor an easy medicine. We might think that it was a strong word were it not for other facts which support the belief that we should have attained the goal.
For one thing, the federal census shows us with a population in excess of 31,000. In recent years, while our population has grown, the per capita giving has declined. For another, several segments of the campaign showed excellent results; for instance, the metropolitan division, the public employees division, groups such as Cosden and Webb AFB, and perhaps others.

The failure so far has come from the major divisions which had previous donors who just plain didn't give this year, or who cut their giving way below previous averages. Of course, business had something to do with this, but in all too many cases this does not appear to be the sole underlying reason. And this is the disturbing part of the matter, for it has in it the seeds for future refusal to take a fair share of community support. Out of such an experience comes a habit we simply can't afford — a habit to accept failure.

Where We Can Excell, If We Will

The recent Pravda editorial demanding that Communists everywhere rally behind the Soviet premier may underscore the belief in a cleavage between the top international Communist leadership.
It is well known that Liu Shao-chi, Red China's chief of state, fortified by some other Asian and Latin American Communists, has demanded a more militant line, even risking war.
But Moscow manifestly is convinced that the battle will have to be won economically and politically rather than violently for the very realistic reason that nuclear war would destroy the capabilities of all, if not obliterate all.

Khrushchev is standing firm in his contention that Russia can win the ultimate victory short of war. The Russian claimed rate of growth of 8 per cent against that of 24 for the United States is cited as proof that they will equal and then surpass us.
The economic battleground certainly would be more desirous for us as for all the world. If we understand the forces at work here, we can meet the challenge successfully for it is an area in which we can excel if we but have the will to excel. We can't turn our backs nor let up for a minute.

David Lawrence One-Sided View Of The U-2 Affair

WASHINGTON—The National Broadcasting Company did an extraordinary and unprecedented thing last Tuesday when it put on for an hour an editorial in the form of a television program called a "white paper," which denounced the Eisenhower administration's record in the U-2 episode.
The NBC has a right to editorialize, just as does any newspaper or magazine. The rights of radio and TV are fully protected by the "free press" provision of the Constitution.
BUT HOW WILL the tens of millions who watched the show ever get the other side? Will "equal time" now be given on television to members of Congress to analyze and explain the controversial issue itself and, indeed, to point out how in some respects at least the NBC report did not give the whole story to the people?
The NBC said that "now that the passions and partisanship of an election year have subsided," the decision had been made to "re-tell and re-examine the story." But unhappily the "passions and partisanship" as between the United States and the Soviet Union in the "cold war" have by no means "subsided." The NBC editorial becomes a document from which the Soviets can get considerable help in their attempts, by radio and otherwise, to discredit the United States before the world.

means of protecting the American people against "surprise attack." All members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in their report last June, unanimously agreed that the Soviet government "had been aware of these overflights during this time" and had never made a protest.
IT IS ALSO a fact that the Soviet government debated for a week after the Powers incident whether to make an issue of it and refuse to attend the "summit" conference. The NBC says the United States implied in the week after the plane was forced down that the U-2 flights would continue. There was, however, no official statement to that effect but only the "impressions" gained by reporters and inferences drawn.
Indeed, the Soviet premier was told officially by President Eisenhower at the very first meeting of the "summit" at Paris on Monday, May 16, that flights of the U-2 had been ordered suspended the previous week for an indefinite period. If Mr. Khrushchev had really wanted to continue the conference, he had ample justification. If he had wanted to negotiate, he had plenty of opportunity to accept President Eisenhower's action in suspending the flights as a signal victory for his viewpoint and go ahead with the negotiations. But, as Senator Wiley pointed out, Mr. Khrushchev had other reasons for wanting to wreck the "summit" conference.

FOR THE NBC did not give an adequate defense of the United States government's viewpoint. It merely stressed to a large extent what the partisan political critics in this country had said. Thus the NBC gave the views of most of the Democratic party's members on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on certain aspects, but omitted all mention of what Senator Frank Lausche of Ohio, Democrat, and Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, ranking Republican on the committee, said in their minority report defending the action of the President and his decision to tell the world the truth.
In its editorial "conclusions," the NBC—which in the past has had a fine record of objective analysis and reporting—is open to criticism for the following statement:
"NOBODY EXPECTS the United States, or any other nation to stop intelligence activities, but by justifying the U-2 flights and implying they would continue, we manifestly affected the 'summit' conference. If Khrushchev intended to wreck the conference beforehand, we gave him a ready-made excuse. If he intended to negotiate, we made it difficult for him to do so."
Now the fact is that the U-2 flights had been going on for four years as a

MANY GOVERNMENT officials here have expressed amazement at NBC's one-sided account of what happened in the crisis. They mentioned the criticism expressed on Wednesday by Jack Gould, television critic of the New York "Times," who, after describing the excellent pictorial display, wrote in part:
"But the larger purpose of the presentation manifestly was to exorcise the Eisenhower administration. . . . Rarely, in fact, has a TV network been so specifically critical of Washington officials."
WHAT THE NBC and others, moreover, have claimed to be "lies" were in certain respects merely the usual diplomatic equivocations about a delicate subject. Thus, to this day, law experts insist that when a press officer at the State Department said "There was no deliberate attempt to violate Soviet air space and there never has been," he was not telling a "lie," as the NBC "white paper" insists.
The truth is that the United States government has long been urged to take the position that over flights at great heights are no more a violation of sovereignty than are the journeys of the "spunkies" and satellites. The U-2 was an unarmed plane. It did not intend to land in the Soviet Union but to fly over it.

NOWHERE IN the NBC report given to the television audience was there any mention of the opposing view, which was quoted at length in these dispatches on August 18. The quotes were from a speech by Spencer M. Beresford, special counsel for the House Committee on Space and Aeronautics, delivered on August 16, 1960, at Stockholm before the annual Congress of the International Astronautical Federation. He said:
"There are persuasive reasons for challenging the view that the U-2 flights over Soviet territory were violations of international law."

Census Mishap

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (AP)—Most census takers go out looking for other people. But with Mrs. Tom Sneedon it was just the other way around.
While counting noses in a remote area about 38 miles east of here, her car got stuck in a mud hole.
She spent the night in the car before a posse of sheriff's officers, highway patrolmen and game wardens found her next day.

Hal Boyle Grateful For Illness

NEW YORK (AP)—You rarely find people who are grateful for a long illness.
Actress Joan Fontaine is. She thinks a long illness is the best way to cure anyone with a success fetish—and teach him true values.
"My illness led me to grow up at last," she said. "It was my diploma to life."
Miss Fontaine is fully recovered now from a two-year bout with ailments ranging from energy-draining mononucleosis to hepatitis and undulant fever.
Looking as lovely as a yellow primrose, the blonde film star radiated health and a hazel-eyed vitality as we lunched in the old-fashioned elegance of the Ed-wardian Room at the Plaza. The eyes of nearby lady diners showed envy of her fresh charm.
"I hate to talk like a Pollyanna about a thing that can be as devastating as illness," said Joan, "but it's the way I really feel."
"Everyone should be so lucky—to have a pause in your life for an appraisal, and to see clearly for the first time what life really has to offer."
"It's a great, great thing. All the minor worries people fret about, the problems that haunt most of us—success, financial security, personal popularity, growing older—all become so terribly unimportant."
"When the time comes again when you can dress yourself, when you can get up and walk about supported once more by your own backbone—well, it's like being born again. But better."
"I wish my illness could have happened to me when I was 12. I wasted so much of my life."
"I accomplished a lot, but I didn't enjoy it."
Miss Fontaine has made 45 films, and thrice was nominated for academy awards. She won an Oscar in 1941 for her performance in "Suspicion." She had three husbands.

But she feels now that, like many stars, she let herself be trapped on the treadmill of Hollywood success, a treadmill of many lost values.
"I spent too many years in smog, tinsel and the second rate. Now I want primarily to live."
Joan acts as hostess on the CBS-TV monthly show, "The Break Family Classics," and is looking for a Broadway role. But she said she never again means to let the success treadmill be her main goal.
"I am in a fortunate position," she remarked. "I have saved my pennies. I am not afraid of the bill collector, or the wait at the door."
"It is lovely to accomplish something in life. It is a delicious feeling."
"But the trick is not to keep wanting more. If you do, you are never satisfied."
"To be content with what you are . . . to be satisfied to like yourself . . . not to want to scrap it all and try to be somebody else . . . that is the victory of living."
"We all need to go into a decompression chamber. We are all so ambitious to succeed—and yet we destroy ourselves."
Her recovery has given Joan a new appreciation of the role of energy in a healthy outlook.
"You need energy for any creative thing," she said. "It is the extra vigor that makes a performance stellar rather than pedestrian."
"You even need proper energy for good manners—to write a thank-you note, to say hello across a room to someone."
"I think that people who have a negative point of view probably lack energy and vitality, and when this is true they start failing friends and family."
"To spend one second on this planet being unhappy—it's incredible!"

of allergy, and so many degrees, that hundreds and thousands of different diets may be required to fit everyone.
In this particular case, in the list of bothersome foods, only two are very common ones—wheat and eggs. Eggs (useful mainly for their protein values) can easily be substituted with cheese, poultry, fish, meat (except pork in this case) and milk.
The wheat allergy obviously means avoiding ordinary baked goods, since most of them use wheat flour and a lot of them also include eggs.
Yet from the standpoint of nutritional diet, there are plenty of other cereals (either as breakfast food, bread or some cookies, as the little fellow grows older) which will give him the cereals (or grains) that he requires. A few examples are corn and corn products, rice, oatmeal and soy bean.
Avoid the things to which he is allergic. As he grows older, if he is protected from them, he may gradually build up a tolerance to them. Protect him now.
For instance, I once knew a pair of twins—one was allergic to wheat, the other to oats. Separate and special baby formulas had to be prepared for each of them. But they eventually outgrew the allergies, and now they can eat the foods that used to cause them to itch and scratch.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can angina pectoris be detected only by means of the stethoscope?—K. G."
No, you're on a false track. Angina pectoris is a symptom, a pain in the heart region, sometimes extending into the shoulder and arm. It's a symptom resulting from a heart deficiency. (Naturally there are plenty of other causes for pain in these regions, but the angina pain is usually severe and unmistakable.) Anyway, angina is not detected by the stethoscope. Indeed, the heart sounds (which are heard by the stethoscope) can be very normal in patients with angina.
Hemorrhoids can be cured! ### To Your Good Health Some Children Outgrow Allergies

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: I know a three-year-old whose face and body are terribly scratched and bleeding from allergies. He is allergic to eggs, wheat, rye, buckwheat, pork and cottonseed.
"Further tests will be made for other possible allergies.
"The problem is to get a proper diet without any of the above foods. (Two other children in the family have no diet problems.) What can you suggest?—Mrs. D. F."
This poor three-year-old, I presume, is your youngster. Or am I wrong? Anyway, you don't have to write to me as though it's somebody else's child. If, for any reason, you want to be extra sure that your identity will not be revealed—just sign your real name but write under it, "Please use initials 'F. T.', or whatever. You will then know I'm answering your question, but nobody else will recognize you.
Now for allergies. It's not impossible, and certainly not unusual, for one child to have a much more severe allergy than another. In the same family, I mean.
Two of the children have little or no trouble; the third is allergic to various foods. Well—it happens that way.
When it comes to choosing a particular diet for a child (or adult) who has such troubles, there are so many different combinations

For quality—the U. S. A. So much so that NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) has ordered and re-ordered several miniature electronic "timers" from Bulova for a purpose that the boobs of the world would never regard highly.

The Bulova people have developed a fly-sized time piece called Accutron on the principle of a microscopic tuning fork, which keeps accurate time for a year without maintenance.
In sum, the U. S. A., with the aid of private industry, is simultaneously increasing its 31 satellites now in orbit while pruning them to smaller numbers and greater efficiency.
This is sound scientific practice—but of no "prestige" value whatever.

Around The Rim When You're In A Child's World-

I'm going out and buy me a pair of those knee pads cotton pickers use. I'm also planning on the purchase of a corset. I'm getting away-back from serving as a horse at home and my knees get very tender from going around on all fours.
Every time I so much as bend over to tie a show lace, one of my daughters sprints to climb on my back. Of course, the younger one, Phyllis (age 1 1/2 years) can't quite make it upside without a little help, so, sort of getting things going her way first, she tries to bulldoze me.

I'M AGREEABLE to serving as a horse, mainly because I'm motivated, but I draw the line when it comes to eating hay. We haven't actually seen any of the ingredient around our place, though I think the older daughter, Carol (just turned four), has suggested they buy a bale or two of the commodity when she and her mother mosey by the feed store.
Sometimes, I wonder if football is here to stay. Carol accompanied her mother to a high school game here the other night and sat through two quarters of what most everyone reasoned was more than a passably good game.

FINALLY, THE daughter turned to her maternal parent to question:
"Haven't we seen this?"
Carol takes great delight in washing her teeth herself and then having someone else in the household admonish her for failure to do the teeth-cleaning chore. With the proper voice inflection and a smile that can't be repressed, she invariably replies:
"I've already done it!"
Baby Phyllis also thinks tooth paste is the greatest invention since the wheel, and insists on practicing oral hygiene daily. The only trouble is, she doesn't care whose tooth brush she uses.

THE WIFE BAKED Carol a cake on her fourth birthday anniversary recently and the daughter looked upon the delicacy with unbounded enthusiasm. She did not eat much of the pastry, but it gave her an opportunity to lead a chorus of the "Happy Birthday" song and to blow out the candles.
The two of them retired to the bathroom one evening recently for the purpose of washing their dolls' hair. The mother tippy-toed by just to see that nothing was amiss but made the mistake of going on in with them.

PHYLIS EVIDENTLY resented the intrusion, or had a sneaking suspicion that the hair-rinsing was going to be halted, because she scolded her mother and bodily pushed her out of the room.
Phyllis sometimes likes to entertain herself by trying to stick her finger in the mouths of some of the singers and politicians who adorn the TV screens, if the cameramen elects to do a closeup of the individual.

I'M TRYING to get used to the rolling screen, too. Seems her favorite (and most accessible) dial is the one which controls the roll.
At her stage in life, Carol knows better. She entertains herself at times, instead, by sitting in the chair planted within three feet of the screen, the one that faces the TV set obliquely, and watching the proceedings through a pair of field glasses.

Inez Robb Putting The Heat On The British

This column honestly yields to no one in its lifelong admiration of British superiority in all things, living or dead.
So the Briton's modest assessment of his own worth and that of his civilization has never irked me. But occasionally I must discipline myself to accept some British quirk or eccentricity. Occasionally discipline boggles, as at the moment.

WITH DISCIPLINE temporarily off the leash, I make so bold today as to suggest a tiny reform in the faultless British educational system. What I have in mind is an addition to the curriculum that could make for better international understanding and a firmer handclasp across the sea.
(Let us grant at once that all of Britain's wars have been won on the playing fields of Eton. Who knows? Some American historian may someday decide the United States owes its victories to the humble sandlot.)

TODAY'S COLUMN is prompted by an article in LONDON'S Daily Telegraph. That pillar of the press obviously sent one of its staff, Winifred Carr, to do a series of articles on the Mayo Clinic. It is impossible for me to diagnose Winifred's sex, since the name is as masculine as feminine in England.
It requires a good many introductory paragraphs for Winifred to get down to the clinic itself. It should come as a surprise to no one who reads British newspapers, magazines or novels that Winnie devotes the lead or opening stanza not to the clinic but to establishing the fact that working conditions for the British citizen in America are unbearable.

NOR SHOULD it come as any surprise, after 150 years of identical complaints, that Winnie darned near "stiffed" (that is his-her word) because of "the constant steam heat in my hotel."

That, after decades of such gripes, is news? It seems to me that the British have long since made their point, proving to the world at large that America's is an inferior civilization precisely because of central heating and, as a direct and ignominious corollary, that our dwellings are shamefully comfortable in cold weather.
The British have been tirelessly pointing out the error of our ways for ages, undeterred by the obvious fact that we Americans are deaf to reason and refuse to abandon central heating.

BUT THEN, it was Winston Churchill himself who pointed out in the first volume of "A History of the English Speaking Peoples," that the Romans introduced central heating to England almost 2,000 years ago. And even then the English had the fortitude to resist such a barbarous and debilitating novelty.
So it is obvious that an improved system of central heating or comfort offered by upstarts in the New World isn't going to affect or sway the Spartan English, to whom chibblains and chapped hands are the red badge of courage.

IT MAY WELL occur to some citizens in the Western Hemisphere that, after 2,000 years, the British might quit flexing their frostbite and stop talking about their hardihood amid general steam-heated decadence.
But now, obviously, we are approaching fantasy. So my solution for the problem is quite simple. It would, please God, save the British more repetition on the subject and spare American ears. Let the British add three new how-to subjects to their general school curriculum: (1) How to raise windows, (2) How to turn off radiators and (3) How to regulate a thermostat. Granted, all three subjects are difficult. But, given time, I have every confidence the Winifreds could learn.

Holmes Alexander Quit Worrying About 'Prestige'

WASHINGTON—Notice should be taken, with approval, that the President's Commission on National Goals dismissed by the silence of contempt the inaccurate yardstick called "prestige," of which we heard too much during the campaign.
Commission Chairman Henry M. Wriston indicated in an interview that "prestige"—which, in its public relations context, means popular esteem—cannot be regarded as a national goal. Dr. Wriston could, with justice and wisdom, have carried this idea one step further. He could truly have said that it's no compliment whatever to have "prestige" among ignorant, open-mouthed, child-minded foreigners.

or moonshot missiles, carried respectively 800, 858 and 614 pounds of instruments. The American Tiros I, Echo I and Explorer 8 carried only 270, 136 and 90 pounds of instruments. For bigness—Russia. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

DR WRISTON might have added, with severity and good effect, a reprimand on the subject. The grown-up men who run the State Department ought to have better sense than to send people around the streets and jungles of other countries to ask uniformed, incompetent persons which country was "ahead" in space science—the U. S. A. or the U. S. S. R.
It happens that I acquired this slow burn by reading Dr. Wriston's statement while flying to Long Island to do some she leather research at the Bulova Watch Company plant on "micro-miniaturization." It is a subject which would never impress the minds or win the hearts of men-on-the-street in Europe, Africa, Asia and Latin America.

INDEED, to win the meaningful approval of the ignorant, a nation should never bother about reducing the size of precision instruments, power cells and navigational devices. The nation seeking to impress the boobs of the world should do exactly what Russia has done. It should go in for the gross spectacles, hurl hunks of steel, bearing dogs and their masters, into orbit.
But the nation with sensible national goals should do exactly what we have done and for which we have achieved the worthwhile acclaim of the knowledgeable few. Such a nation should forever seek improved performance and more accurate instrumentation.

Know What Toys To Buy For Certain Ages

The toy you give with joy in mind may instead cause frustration, tears, even injury.

So claims Dr. Emma Shepley, professor emerita of child development at Teachers College, Columbia University.

"Play is the serious business of childhood," says the doctor who heads the Toy Guidance Council's advisory committee.

The right toys at the right age level are a child's tools of learning and play a major role in his development.

The first requisite for playing Santa Claus to the youngsters on your gift list is to double check their ages.

TOYS FOR INFANTS A baby puts everything in its mouth. Toys should be safe to suck, easily cleaned, and without loose parts that might be swallowed.

He is developing his sense of touch, likes to feel different textures. Toys to squeeze, balls, bank, bite, shake and hear.

ONE TO TWO The toddler has gained control over his hands and fingers. He enjoys nests of blocks, simple take apart toys, push and pull.

When the child has learned to walk, toys on wheels or rockers stimulate further muscular development. Shortly before the second birthday children develop a joy in rhythmic sounds. They like toy musical instruments and picture books with bright pictures.

This age group has gained proficiency in using muscles. The two-year-old will build a block tower and place pegs expertly in holes. He loves to screw and unscrew simple things; likes toys he can manipulate. The two-year-old usually prefers to play by himself, loves to imitate grown-ups by using miniature house-keeping equipment, and doctor and nurse sets. Western costumes, rocking horses and bolsters have appeal at this age.

Girls love to put dolls to bed, shampoo doll hair and put doll clothes on and off. Wheel toys are popular.

FOUR TO SIX Interest in playing together begins. Simple games are popular. Kitchen equipment, furniture and miniature tools have great appeal.

Creative play activities are of interest, such as finger paint, crayons, and paper dolls.

Roller skates, a coaster wagon, a sidewalk bike or scooter will be welcomed.

SIX TO EIGHT Boys show a tendency to play with other boys; girls with girls. Dramatic and imitative play are popular. Sports equipment is favored now; electric trains, miniature racing cars, simple scientific toys, carpentry and model building all are popular.

A wide variety of crafts is now within their scope of interest. More elaborate doll accessories are highly prized. Both boys and girls enjoy playing board games.

Enhance Ice Cream With Gala Topping

Vanilla ice cream rates first as the preferred ice cream for day to day enjoyment at snacktime, it is reported in a recent ice cream survey.

But for company occasions when a fancier ice cream is wanted, the nut and fruit specialties are most often purchased. For this reason, leading ice cream companies now offer a wide variety of flavors.

Most families like ice cream served with a complementary sauce too, the survey reports. For example, here's an ice cream sundae that teams Toffee ice cream with a honey sweetened pineapple sauce. The butterscotch flavored ice cream contains pecans and candy pieces.

PINEAPPLE TOFFEE SUNDAE

(Four servings) 1/2 cup fresh or canned crushed pineapple, undrained 3 tbsps. water 4 1/2 tbsps. honey 3 tbsps. sugar 3 pints Toffee ice cream Combine pineapple, water, honey and sugar in saucepan. Simmer slowly for 10 minutes. Cool. Fill chilled sherbet glasses with heaping scoop of ice cream. Top with pineapple sauce.

Danish Beauty

Inge Sand, ballerina of the Danish Ballet, tells Lydia Lane her impressions of American women and also some old-fashioned beauty treatments from Denmark.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Danish Ballerina Has Simple Aids

NEW YORK—It was a pleasure to have Inge Sand of the Danish Ballet come to my suite for tea. I had admired her performance in "Coppelia" at the Greek Theater in Hollywood and as we sat talking, I mentioned her beautiful, slim figure.

"It is true that the Danish woman doesn't pay nearly as much attention to her weight as the American woman. We are becoming more conscious of beauty every day. But in the United States the women have more time to spend on themselves because so much of their housework is done by machines," said Inge.

"This is my sixth visit to the United States," Inge said in fluent English. "Each trip I buy as many clothes as I can."

"What do you think of American women?" I asked, and then urged her not to give compliments out of politeness.

"I think the people are nice and friendly, and I like them, but I was startled that the women make so many decisions for the men. The women seem very dominating by our standards," she replied.

"I've heard that many times; it must be true," I admitted. "And is there anything else?"

"Sometimes when I'm going to a rehearsal early in the morning, I'm surprised to see women dressed in clothes that I would wear in the evening. And some of the women have their hair in curls.

Why we would even hide curls from our husbands!"

"Do you have any Danish beauty secrets?"

"We do not have the choice of cosmetics you have here. Many of our creams we buy from a pharmacy. And there is very little in the way of home permanents, lacquers and shampoos that you have here. I like to wash my hair in the yolk of three eggs and set it in beer. And I use just plain mineral oil for removing my makeup."

"And what beauty trick have you learned in America that means most to you?" I wanted to know.

"That little thing you curl your lashes with," Inge said with a smile. "I use it every day."

MORE BEAUTIFUL LEGS Have you ever watched a beautiful ballerina and wished that your legs were as beautiful as hers? It is true that there is nothing like a ballet class to help you improve your legs, but the same warming up exercises can also be done at home.

It is the consistent workout that keeps a ballerina in shape, not the few hours she appears on stage. If you want to improve the shape of your legs, send for Leaflet M-77, "Reshaping Your Legs." For your copy of this important leaflet, send only 10 cents (ten cents) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Christmas The Old Way

think of, covered with frostings colored by the children.

"Hey Mom! Anne's eating the Christmas tree decorations!" is answered with, "Well, just hang up some more." She doesn't eat paper or wood, and the rest is edible.

There are a few Christmas gifts in our house, but they are always gifts well within the past year's means. Mid-February does not find us paying for last year's Christmas or beginning to save for the next one. We give as we can afford to give, and although the children look forward to receiving these gifts, they first and foremost look forward to the celebration of Christmas. It is a refreshing day, full of peace and contentment and the joy of living. It's full of Christmas carols and having all the time in the world for each other.

Our Christmas is not spent looking skyward for Santa's reindeer. It is spent having an "on earth" celebration that involves only the truth of things that exist. There is beauty, wonder and mystery in the winter life around us. There is the laughter of deep pleasure and contentment in our Christmas celebration; there is not the false glitter of tinsel and time payments.

There are other signs in the snow: marks of my husband's large boots going directly to a clump of pine trees, and prints of our four small children struggling to keep up with him.

From the house, I love to watch this search for just the right tree about a quarter-mile from the kitchen window. When the tree is chosen the sounds of its being cut down echo across our country hollow. It is a Christmas sound and a Christmas scene: beautiful, peaceful, and unharmed. Because we live in the country we do not see bright lights strung out over dirty lots and jostle each other to pick out a tree we really can't afford to buy.

The tree is decorated as it was chosen, from whatever we have and whatever we make. It is without a commercial look.

Hanging from the tree are gingerbread men, stars, and whatever shape cookies any of us can

New York's Madison Square Garden has been the scene of many a boxing match, but this heavy-weight fist-swinging came during a basketball game. ## Five Former Champs And Six Unbeaten Teams In Finals

By The Associated Press
Five former champions and six unbeaten teams are left as the Texas schoolboy football race enters its four-way semi-finals this week.

One of those ex-champs, also boasting an undefeated, untied record, is the big favorite to capture the Class AAAA title. That would be Wichita Falls, which has one of the winningest records in Texas schoolboy football—four state championships in 19 years. Wichita Falls meets Fort Worth Paschal at Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon, the same time Fort Arthur, another former champion, is clashing with Corpus Christi Miller at Corpus Christi. Wichita Falls is the lone unbeaten, untied team left in Class AAAA. Paschal has dropped three, Miller two and Port Arthur one.

The Coyotes forged into the semi-finals for the third straight season last week as they knocked over luckless Yeleta 51-0. Paschal got there with a 28-0 triumph over Lufkin. Port Arthur with a 27-15 decision over Houston Bellaire and Miller with a 26-6 strapping of San Antonio Jefferson. Cleburne is the only team left in Class AAA that can boast of championship glory. The Yellow Jackets tied for the title in 1920 and last year. But Cleburne isn't the favorite for the AAA championship this year. Jacksonville, unbeaten but once tied, still is rated the team to lick. Jacksonville beat Greenville 13-6 last week while its foe in the semi-finals, Brownwood, was taking out unbeaten Monahans 37-16. Jacksonville and Brownwood play at Waco Saturday afternoon.

Cleburne, which edged LaMarque on penetrations in a 6-6 tie last week, meets Port Lavaca, 49-14 victor over Seguin, at Port Lavaca Friday night. Class AA offers the only game in the state matching undefeated, untied teams. Olney, long the favorite to capture the state title, meets Denver City's point-scoring team at Snyder Saturday night in the clash of teams with unblemished records.

The other AA semi-final matches undefeated, untied Bellville with Devine at Austin Friday night. Bellville lashed Gatesville 41-8 and Devine eliminated Seely 12-12 last week. Denver City is given a good chance of upsetting Olney but Bellville is a heavy favorite to take down Devine.

In Class A Stinnett, the favorite, is the only undefeated, untied team left. The Rattlers, who whipped Plains 57-8 in an awesome show of power last week, take on Albany, the team that lost only to Olney. They play at Childress Friday night. Albany beat Mt. Vernon 28-6 last week. Stinnett is a former Class A state champion.

White Oak, which tied for the title three years ago, and Crosby, a four-time loser, clash in the other semi-final. They get together at Liberty Saturday night. White Oak is unbeaten but has been tied. Sites and dates of Texas schoolboy football semi-final games (team records in parentheses):

CLASS AAAA - Fort Worth Paschal (9-3) vs. Wichita Falls (12-0) at Wichita Falls Saturday, 2 p.m. Port Arthur (11-1) vs. Corpus Christi Miller (10-2) at Corpus Christi Saturday, 2 p.m. CLASS AAA - Brownwood (11-1) vs. Jacksonville (11-0-1) at Waco Saturday, 2 p.m. Cleburne (10-2) vs. Port Lavaca (11-1) at Port Lavaca Friday, 8 p.m. CLASS AA - Denver City (13-0) vs. Olney (13-0) at Snyder Saturday, 7:30 p.m. Bellville (13-0) vs. Devine (12-1) at Austin Friday, 8 p.m. CLASS A - Stinnett (13-0) vs. Albany (12-1) at Childress Friday, 7:30 p.m. White Oak (12-1) vs. Crosby (9-4) at Liberty Saturday, 7:30 p.m.

Texans Spoil Houston's Clincher By 24-0 Upset

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Oilers and Los Angeles Chargers of the American Football League are within one game of clinching the Eastern and Western division titles today. Houston missed a chance to wrap up the Eastern championship Sunday, when the Dallas Texans pulled a 24-0 upset.

With two games remaining, Houston and Los Angeles have won eight and lost four games and can get no worse than a tie for the championship. Los Angeles came from behind with four touchdowns Sunday to subdue the Oakland Raiders 41-17.

New York, holding second place in the Eastern division, boasted a 6-6 record after the Titans edged the Denver Broncos 39-27. Dallas has a similar 6-6 won and lost record. Playoff plans will be completed during the AFL meeting opening today at Dallas. The playoff will be during Christmas week.

In a fourth game Sunday, the Buffalo Bills broke a 14-14 halftime deadlock and went on to trim the Boston Patriots 20-14.

Hawks Meet Cisco JC Here Today

Sporting a 2-1 record for the young season, Howard County Junior College will entertain Cisco Junior College here at 8 p.m. today in the Jayhawk gym.

The B team will meet Goodfellow Air Base at 6 p.m., and this is rated to be a fast tilt.

The Hawks came within an eyelash of winning the Odessa tournament, finally getting edged in the last seconds by San Angelo Junior College, 54-52. Coach Buddy Travis was not on the bench for this one, having been called to Gallup, N. M., due to the death of Mrs. Travis' father.

This evening's starting lineup is due to be Charles Knotts, Bill Edwards, Ken Clearman, Ronald Weeks and Larry McElyea.

Cisco has looked to advantage and is expected to give the Hawks a run for the money.

HCJC will go to San Angelo Wednesday evening instead of the date originally scheduled. Coach Travis reported today.

Fast Chase But Man Gets Deer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The cheetah is the fastest animal alive but its speed couldn't match the 90-mile-an-hour chase it took to run down James Thomas Wright's dead deer.

Wright, 28, telephoned police Sunday and said someone had stolen his deer while he was having coffee at his restaurant here. He had tied the 10-point buck to his car after shooting it earlier in the day.

Two officers nearby spotted a car speeding by with a deer on the seat beside the driver. They gave chase, firing three warning shots into the air.

The vehicle turned a corner, went out of control, and hit a parked car. The deer plopped onto the street.

The driver, Earl Snell, 26, of Louisville, was charged with reckless driving and grand larceny.

Yugoslavs Work On Trade Problems

BELGRADE (AP)—Yugoslavia hopes to work out a monetary reform by the end of this year as a first step toward meeting foreign trade problems posed by the two West European economic blocs.

Nearly 75 per cent of Yugoslavia's foreign trade is with countries of the West. This has been endangered by the six-nation European Common Market and the seven-nation Free Trade Association.

Yugoslav trade experts believe that to meet this competition Yugoslavia must become a full member of the General Agreement of Trade and Tariffs (GATT). At present it is an associate member.

For full membership, GATT experts have informed Yugoslavia, a regular customs system must be introduced to replace the present arrangement of "coefficients"—actually a state subsidy on imports and exports, and Yugoslavia's monetary system must be reformed.

Plans are well along to accomplish both changes.

There is an official rate of 300 dinars to the dollar. The rate for tourists is 400-1. Yugoslavs receiving money from relatives abroad are given 600 dinars to the dollar. The free market exchange rate ranges all the way from 1,000 to 5,000 to the dollar.

Financial experts hoped at first to be able to introduce a flat exchange rate of 750-1 under monetary reform.

To do that, however, would require Yugoslavia to set up a reserve fund of about $350 million. Yugoslavia hoped to obtain $60 million from the International Monetary Fund and to raise the rest from several Western nations.

Yugoslav sources said they had been given to understand that the United States was agreeable to the plan. But with the change in administration new soundings may have to be taken.

Another problem: West Germany broke off diplomatic relations with Yugoslavia when this country recognized the East German government. Now officials are wondering how they can find a way to enlist West German aid toward monetary reform.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Don't expect to be titillated by "Girl of the Night." It is simply a dramatization of a psychologist's factual report on prostitution, and there is nothing pornographic and very little of sensual excitement in it.

For what it actually is, however, the film showing through Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre is an important addition to the layman's understanding of what has come to be classified as a criminal occupation but is in reality more of a psychiatric problem.

The message in "Girl of the Night" is that girls who grow up without love will quite often seek that love in the only way they can understand, without knowing what it is they seek.

The book, "The Call Girl," by Dr. Harold Greenwald, clarified the message; the film, adapted from the book, is not too deep psychologically, but correct, and is simplified for the layman.

The story is told partly chronologically and partly in flashbacks. Anne Francis, as the girl, is gradually made to realize that her life is wrong, and moreover that it is possible for her to escape it, as psychologist Lloyd Nolan gently leads her to an understanding of herself.

Both direction and screenplay were sensitively done, and the entire production was handled in good taste. Nolan is subtle and artistic in his characterization, and has good support from Kay Medford as a madame and John Keer as a parasite who lives off Miss Francis' earnings. Miss Francis herself is a study in confused emotions.

There are many startlingly life-like vignettes—the two visiting buyers who pretend their dates are real and normal, and who exultantly believe they have made a conquest; the parasite's snake-like domination of his woman; the neophyte hedonist feeling fear on her first "job." And, most of all, Miss Francis' repugnance and revulsion at the world's oldest profession.

The background New York scenery is wonderful. About the only jarring note in the film is the musical score—there are times when silence would serve better to emphasize a point.

"Girl of the Night" is restricted by the management to those over 15 years of age, unless accompanied by an adult.

There were many teen-agers in evidence opening night, but it probably would achieve more of Dr. Greenwald's goal if more parents would see the film. Or, better, read the book. For it is in parents without the quality of love that the call girl, in her childhood, is created.

The message might be summed up in the quotation which leads the film's titles and credits: "It is better to light one candle than to curse the darkness."

Wounds Four During Siege

UNION, S.C. (AP)—A former mental patient wounded a young girl, then shot three policemen superficially during a 13-hour farmhouse siege before surrendering meekly Sunday on the plea of his father.

"What's all this shooting for? I'm a good boy," said the 39-year-old Negro, James Freeman Gregory, as he came out of the bullet-riddled frame house into which officers had fired 1,000 rounds of buckshot and dozens of tear gas cartridges. Gregory fired a rifle only sporadically, when he thought policemen were about to close in on him.

He first shot into a neighboring house where 14 persons live, wounding Willie Glenn, 8, in the cheek.

Gregory was taken to the state

(mental) hospital in Columbia. Gregory has been on his father's 150-acre farm since last May after nine years in Philadelphia, where he spent some time in a mental hospital.

F102 Falls, Pilot Killed

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Air Force Capt. Lawrence R. Reeves, 29, of Sterling, Colo., was killed Sunday when he ejected from his disabled F102 jet fighter 100 feet from the ground—too low for his parachute to open.

His plane crashed north of Buckley Field and burned.

Reeves had just taken off for a return flight to Portland International Airport, where he was assigned to the 49th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, when his plane developed engine trouble.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.
