Christians May Fail

It is possible for Christians to fail in the Christian life and not get to heaven. Paul realized it was possible for him to fail. He said, "But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by a n y means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway." (1 Cor. 9:27). Paul also realized it was possible for other Christians to fail; and that those who think they are in no danger, are in the greatest danger of all. "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." 1 Cor. 10:12. So let us watch and pray, lest we enter into temptation (Mat. 26:41). Let us not neglect our duty to be at the services of the Lord's church, nor rob ourselves of the help and strength the services afford.

Judge Enjoins Stamp Traders

DALLAS (AP)—A district judge has enjoined two Dallas men from trafficking in S&H trading stamps after the Sperry & Hutchinson Co. complained that their activities defeated the purpose of the stamps.
 The suit was aimed at Charles R. Hinds and C. B. Wiley, doing business as Trading Stamp Exchange.
 They told Judge Dallas Blankenship they swap trading stamps issued by various companies for 50 cents a book. They said this was a service for housewives who want to specialize in one type of stamp.
 Officials of Sperry & Hutchinson said a housewife does not get ownership of the stamps when they are given her at a store, but only get the right to paste them in a book and exchange them for merchandise.
 Blankenship's ruling does not affect other trading stamp activities the two men have.

Diphtheria Major Health Problem

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Health Department said Saturday diphtheria is one of Texas' major health problems.
 "Almost 77 per cent of the 114 reported cases of diphtheria this year had not been immunized. All eight of the fatal cases that had been reported through September were among those who had not received any immunization," the department said.

DEAR ABBY

HE AIN'T GUILTY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What can I do about my best friend's husband? He talks about me in his sleep. I swear I never even thought about this man as anything but a friend. And he never once got out of line with me since I have known him. My friend has told me that she has heard him talking love talk about me in his sleep, so I can't blame her for getting suspicious. I haven't mentioned this to my husband because I don't want to stir anything up. This bothers me a lot and is affecting my friendship with this woman. How should I handle it?
 NOT GUILTY
 DEAR NOT: The husband of your friend is a victim of his subconscious . . . and so are you. A man can be held responsible only for what he says when he is awake. If your friend doesn't realize this, there is nothing you can do.
 DEAR ABBY: When we are out socially and my husband happens to leave the room and someone says, "Gee, he's a great guy," what do I say? "He sure is," or "You should be around him at home."
 DR. JEKYLL'S WIFE
 DEAR WIFE: Don't say anything. Just smile and nod. If you say, "He sure is," while thinking otherwise, the message you'll probably convey is, "You should be around him at home."
 DEAR ABBY: At the age of 19 I was trapped into marrying a girl I did not love. A child was born six months after we were married and I am almost certain that this child is not mine. But I have no way of proving it. We

Water Usage Meeting Estimates

The city is anticipating no budgetary difficulties from water consumption estimates.
 So far the daily water take is staying close to estimates. The first five days of the month yielded 3,050,000 average consumption against an estimate of 3,100,000 per day. This does not include raw water sold to Cosden.
 In November consumption was about four million gallons or about three per cent over estimates.

18 Vietnam Officers Seek Safe Place For An Exile

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Eighteen young Vietnamese military officers, who fled from Saigon when their Nov. 11 coup d'état failed, are shopping for a safe place to live in the world. Thailand has officially refused to accept them. Other countries appear to have given them a cold shoulder as well.

The Cambodian government has not replied to a request from the South Viet Nam government that the rebels be extradited. Cambodia arrested the officers for alleged violation of its air space when they landed a two-engine American plane at Phnom Penh on the pretext of engine trouble. The defeated insurgents said they had sought to eliminate government corruption at Saigon.

Cambodia maintains only token diplomatic relations with South Viet Nam's pro-Western government. It is reported disinclined to put the coup d'état leaders, mostly parachute officers, at the mercy of the government they failed to overthrow.

But there is a feeling here that it would be to the comfort of all concerned to remove the 18 rebels to some country as far as possible from South Viet Nam, which has frontiers with Cambodia, Communist North Viet Nam and Laos.

State Auto Insurance Law Worries Some Legislators

(Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of stories discussing Texas controversial automobile insurance law. The effect and outlook of the so-called safe driving program has been considered from the viewpoint of the Texas motorists, the state courts, and the upcoming 57th Legislature. This final article is based principally on answers received in an Associated Press survey of state senators and representatives.)

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN (AP)—An Associated Press survey of state senators and representatives shows that the so-called safe driving insurance program is a big worry to a good many of them.

The legislators were asked if they favor the present mandatory merit rating system, proposals to allow insurance firms to base premiums on competitive merit rating systems, or a return to the state-prescribed rates of 1959 which were not based on a driver's record of traffic violations and accidents.

Incomplete answers from almost a third of the legislature show 11 flatly against the present mandatory system and seven for it. Another 12 would favor the mandatory system if certain changes are made. Thirteen favor the optional rating system and 12 were against it. Only four favor a return to 1959 rates and 12 voted against it.

NOT ALL ANSWERED
Some legislators did not answer all three questions. Several did not answer any of them saying they first wanted to see what legislation will be presented.

About three months ago the Texas Legal Reserve Officials Association took a look ahead to the next legislature.

"Campaign promises of those elected to the 57th Legislature indicated the House and Senate insurance committees may spend most of their time looking into the pros and cons of the new merit plan auto insurance, crowding the time available for other insurance matters," said the association's monthly publication. It noted that auto insurance was mentioned in the platforms of at least 18 would-be lawmakers.

The present system of letting the number of moving traffic violations or accidents set the size of insurance premiums paid by each motorist became effective

Gable Estate Gives Million To Widow

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Clark Gable left a fortune estimated at more than a million dollars to his widow Kay, now awaiting the birth of their first child.

The actor's will was admitted to probate Friday. It left a home in North Hollywood to his first wife, Josephine Dillon, 75, whose coaching in dramatics started him on his career.

Gable, 59, died Nov. 16 of a heart attack. He married actress Kay Williams July 11, 1955. The will was signed Sept. 19, 1955.

Jan. 1, 1960. A driver with a clean driving record gets a 20 per cent discount from the average rates paid in 1959. Most moving traffic violations bring a 20 per cent increase in premiums and most accidents a 40 per cent premium hike.

CHANGES POSTPONED

Recently the State Board of Insurance, after long controversy, decided to postpone any big changes in the merit rating plan until Jan. 1, 1962. A few minor changes are effective Jan. 1, 1961.

The Texas Safe Driving Insurance Plan — that's the official name — was not put into effect by any direct act of the legislature. The plan was ordered by the State Board of Insurance and

Changes Affect SS Payments

Many Big Spring residents are probably affected by the major changes made in the Social Security Act by the 1960 Amendments.

For instance, disability insurance benefits may now be paid to workers under 50; less work is needed to qualify for old-age and survivors benefits; and retired persons may now have less benefits withheld because of part time work.

Several changes in the law affect a limited number of people. For instance, under the old law, a child could not receive benefits on his deceased father's account if his father had not been contributing to his support, and his stepfather had.

Under the new law, a child may receive benefits on his deceased father's account regardless of whether he was being supported by him. Of course, as before, the father must have had sufficient credit for work under social security to be insured.

The new law also changed the way a child's benefit payment are figured. Before, each child received one-half of what his father received. Another one-fourth of what the father would have received was divided equally among all the children eligible on his account. Now, all children will be entitled to three-fourths of what their father would have received.

Many children's benefits will be higher when they receive their next check as a result of the change. Others will continue to receive the same amount because the family maximum is already being paid.

The family maximum in the most that can be paid on a person's account, regardless of the number of people eligible.

er a provision of the Texas Insurance Code of 1951 (Art. 5.01-5.12) that gives the board authority to fix premiums on auto insurance "including fleet or other rating plans designed to discourage losses from fire and theft and similar hazards and any rating plans to encourage the preventing of accidents."

The legislature probably could not change the present merit rating plan without changing the authority of the board to make such a plan.

PLANS AMENDMENT

"I plan to introduce legislation amending the so-called safe driving insurance plan," said Sen. Grady Hazlewood, Amarillo. He has been an arch foe of the plan from the beginning. He gave no more details of his legislative proposal.

Before resigning recently from the State Board of Insurance, Chairman Penn Jackson, tried unsuccessfully numerous times to get the board to adopt a so-called optional merit rating plan. Under it different companies could offer competitive auto insurance plans based on driving experience, and customers could choose between them.

Here's how some of the legislators feel about the auto insurance situation:

"I favor the present mandatory plan," said Rep. J. Charles Whitfield Jr., Houston. "The mandatory plan has kept accident rates down in Texas. Compare them with other states."

ANOTHER PLAN

"I favor an alternative plan similar to the present plan," said Rep. Joe Cannon, Mexia.

Rep.-elect Paul Floyd, Houston, said he does not favor the present mandatory plan. "I particularly question using traffic tickets in the rate base," he said. "I favor a return to 1959 rates under the present mandatory plan," said Rep. Robert Hughes, Dallas. He is against an optional rating plan.

Rep.-elect D. Emmett Lack, Kountze, said he favors an optional rating plan.

Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, wants either a "limited" mandatory plan or a "limited" optional plan.

"No." to the present plan, said Sen. Preston Smith, Lubbock.

"Yes, with a couple of changes," Rep. John Allen, Longview, said about the mandatory plan.

"Yes," with modified traffic ticket provisions, said Rep. Tony Koriath, Sherman, about the mandatory plan.

"I favor a return to 1959 rates if the present law cannot be amended," said Rep. Jack Conell, Wichita Falls.

NEA President To Talk Here Monday

Miss Clarice Kline, president of the 700,000-member National Education Association, will be here Monday to spend a day in contact with local schools and to address teachers and patrons.

Virtually all school districts in district IV of the Texas State Teachers Association are expected to have representatives here for her address at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

A staunch defender of public education and teaching, Miss Kline will speak on "Those Who Can, Teach."

Although she is devoting a full year of her life to a busy schedule as NEA president, Miss Kline is a classroom teacher by choice. She is on leave from Waukesha (Wis.) High School where she is head of the social studies department. She also teaches history and Spanish and is an instructor in special methods for teaching social studies in secondary schools at Carrol College.

Miss Kline points to four basic beliefs, namely that teachers must like to teach, they must realize that they are trained to teach, that they must have a strong commitment to public education, and that they must feel a real and individual responsibility toward the teaching profession.

From the beginning she wanted to be a teacher, and when she left Waukesha high school to enroll in Carrol College, she had this goal in mind. She earned her M.A. at Northwestern University and has done graduate work at other colleges.

Besides being active in Wisconsin teacher groups, she has held many responsible places with the NEA. For the past two years she has been a member of the NEA's national commission on teacher education and professional standards. She has been on committees for the NEA defense commission, the NEA classroom teacher department, and a member of the NEA council for social studies.

CLARICE KLINE

She is past matron of the Order of Eastern Star, a member of the Presbyterian Church, and is listed in "Who's Who of American Women."

Miss Kline is to be met at Midland this evening by Supt. Floyd W. Parsons, and other representatives of the Big Spring school system.

Admiral Wins Bongo Battle

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The admiral couldn't sleep, so the judge ruled: No more bongo drums at night.

The long and legal sounding order written by Municipal Court Judge Frank H. Nottbusch Jr. wound up with this admonition: "Let us be quiet from 9 p.m. until 8 a.m. each day, or else."

For retired Rear Adm. Harold H. Tiernoth this constituted a victory of no mean proportion. At stake, said he, was his sleep.

Every night, said the admiral, the bongo drums drummed until 2 a.m. in Rudy Schoenbeck's La Jolla restaurant across the alley.

The judge visited the scene. Then he convicted Schoenbeck of disturbing the peace and gave him a one-year jail sentence, suspended. The moratorium on drums is effective for one year.

Airman Wins A Nice Present

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Each year enlisted men at 6th Army headquarters in the Presidio of San Francisco choose a patient in Letterman Army Hospital to receive their Christmas gift—a visit from his mother.

This year the man selected is Airman John E. Uterbeck, who has been a patient since June 1959, suffering auto accident injuries.

The soldiers collected enough money among themselves to fly his mother, Alice E. Cook, from Coeur D'Alene, Idaho. She will arrive Dec. 22 and stay until Dec. 28.

Tragedy Is Barely Missed

LAMESA (SC)—A tragedy was narrowly averted Saturday morning when Mrs. Wayne Travis awakened with a severe headache and nausea.

With her husband and 10-year-old son, Mike, she had been asleep in their small home at 706 S. Austin with a gas stove burning and all the windows closed. She is a vocational nurse and realized what had happened; the house's oxygen had been used.

She called police, who rushed the three to the Medical Arts Hospital. They were considered in fair condition by hospital attendants Saturday at noon.

Midland Cook Is Found Dead

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Police Friday found Harry M. Cawley, a cook in a downtown hotel, dead in his rented room.

Ocean City Hosts The Ocean Scittis

OCEAN CITY, N. J. (AP)—When Mayor Nathaniel C. Smith of this resort town heard of a newly-wed couple in Spring Mills, Pa., by the name of Mr. and Mrs. Ocean Scittis (pronounced Ocean City), there seemed to be only one thing to do.

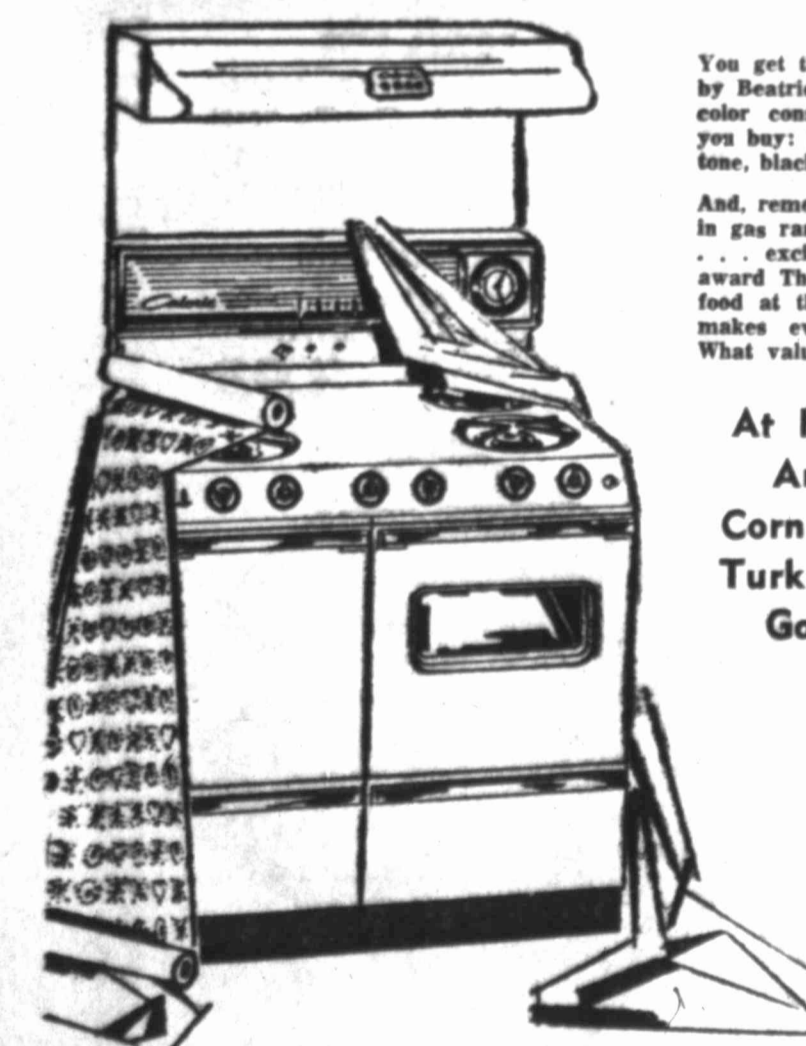

So, he did it. He invited Mr. and Mrs. Scittis to spend a Spring honeymoon here, on Ocean City, of course.

The Scittis accepted.

Commented the mayor Thursday: "People named Ocean Scittis just couldn't go anywhere else for a honeymoon."

Award Winner

Simon T. Correa, left, is presented an award as the most outstanding craftsman of Big Spring. Making the presentation is Arthur Febr, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Society of Architects from Austin. The occasion was a joint meeting of the Associated General Contractors and the American Institute of Architects held at Odessa. Correa is a job foreman for Pioneer Builders, Big Spring.

Chairmen For Hospital Volunteer Panels Named

D. M. McKinney, chairman of the Volunteers Council of the Big Spring State Hospital, has announced chairmen for the various standing committees. Mrs. H. W. Smith will be chairman and Roy Rogan will be co-chairman of the Christmas party committee. Mrs. Bob Bright will be chairman and Roy Rogan will be co-chairman of the education and publicity committee, and Ted Snyder chairman of the finance committee. R. W. Whipkey and Obie Bristow will be co-chairmen of the legislative committee. Junior volunteers will be directed by the Rev. Donald Hungergard, and Jack Y. Smith will be chairman of the special projects committee. There is no assignment for the latter committee as yet, but it is likely that a chapel may become the next object of major concern. Mrs. Ernest Nelson has been named liaison with the Midland volunteers.

Chamber Plans Yule Contest

STANTON (SC)—A $30 award for the best holiday decorated home and business house has been announced by the Martin County Chamber of Commerce. The Stanton Garden Club will assist in establishing rules and judging. The contest was announced during the meeting of the chamber Thursday.

Six new members were received into the organization. Membership chairman F. O. Rhodes reported Oscar Fanning and Byron McCracken of Big Spring; and D. B. Cross, J. D. Poe, Homer Schwabe and Johnnie Myrick had joined the organization.

In other business, three retiring directors were named to the nominating committee to select candidates for the board next year. The committee includes James Webb, O. L. Snodgrass Jr., and W. W. Williams.

The board of directors set their next meeting for Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the chamber office.

Springer Sets Zoning Hearing

Marvin Springer, Dallas, the city planner engaged under the master plan, will be here Thursday evening for a final report on the planning and zoning ordinance.

He was here several weeks ago to meet with the members of the master planning panel to get their ideas on a tentative draft he had made. Springer took the suggestions resulting from the meeting and has sought to reconcile them in his final reports. He will have maps to illustrate the various zones.

As a result of his report this week, it may be that a date will be fixed for a public hearing on the proposals. If this is done, the matter might go on the city commission's schedule for around Jan. 16 or Jan. 23.

Evening Lions To Host Wives

Members of the Evening Lions Club will entertain their wives at a Christmas party set for 7 p.m. Monday in the Wesley Methodist Fellowship Hall.

W. L. (Squeaky) Thompson, president, urged all members to be on hand. The program for this ladies' night affair is in charge of a committee headed by Lonnie Coker.

WEATHER FREEZES AGGIE HOSPITAL VENISON PLANS

Weather forced Texas Aggies to hang out the SOS sign Saturday on their venison barbecue project for the Big Spring State Hospital patients.

So far they have 10 deer carcasses; they need at least 20. Members of the Texas A & M Club had counted on going hunting during the past week and turn over their kill to take up the slack. They went hunting for black-tail deer in the Davis Mountains all right, but all they got was weathered-in. An unprecedented snow and ice storm prevented any hunting.

So if anyone has a deer, or part of a deer, or even venison already cut up, the Aggies would be grateful for the gift. They need the meat by Tuesday evening in order to prepare for the big feed Thursday evening. More than 950 patients are expecting this treat.

Has K Traded On Meeting Jack? Officials Wonder

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev apparently has won reluctant Red Chinese support for his plan to try to arrange a summit conference with President-elect John F. Kennedy and other Western leaders sometime next year.

But in striking the bargain he also apparently has had to agree to follow a much tougher and more belligerent Communist policy line toward the United States and the other Allied powers as advocated by Red China.

Officials here wonder whether that may produce new tensions in East-West relations which would make a summit meeting less desirable from the U. S. point of view.

Officials at the State Department and in other government agencies have been studying all week a new Communist party statement which was issued Monday near the end of a month-long international Communist conference in Moscow.

Their present conclusion is that on the face of the statement Khrushchev has succeeded in getting Communist China's adherence, for the time being at least, to his policy of "peaceful coexistence." The statement recognized that negotiation is a part of the coexistence doctrine, but did not emphasize the point.

The officials also found much evidence in the statement that the Red Chinese had succeeded in putting across their argument that if war is not inevitable it is at least a serious possibility.

The new statement was read here as meaning that the Soviets and the Red Chinese leaders have succeeded for the time being in "papering over" their differences with patchwork agreements, but that the differences themselves actually remain.

When Khrushchev wrecked the Paris summit conference last May, following the U2 spy plane incident, he said he wanted to meet later on with a new U. S. president. Following Kennedy's election last month, Khrushchev sent him a relatively friendly message which offered negotiations on outstanding problems in very general language. This message was regarded here as his opening move for negotiations looking to a summit meeting in Berlin, disarmament and perhaps other questions.

Kennedy Quarters Are Latest Prank

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strange red-and-silver quarters featuring George Washington dressed as a Roman Catholic cardinal are being widely circulated in some parts of the country—and there's no law against it.

The coins are known as "Kennedy quarters" and represent an elaborate post-election prank. They are named, of course, for Sen. John F. Kennedy who on Jan. 20 will become the first Roman Catholic to serve as president.

Mint officials said the coins are standard 25-cent pieces doctored to disguise Washington as a prelate.

The doctored is done in any of several ways. Some of the coins are painted with red enamel.

Washington's shoulders are covered with a red cassock, a clerical garment which has an ankle-length skirt.

The mint has no evidence that "Kennedy quarters" are being mass produced by any particular group or organization. However, officials are fearful the gag might sweep the country and botch up the supply of quarters.

Leland Howard, assistant director of the Bureau of the Mint, said Treasury lawyers can find no federal law against this type of coin trickery.

"I don't know how to stop a thing like this," Howard added. "I guess you just let the people have fun and hope it doesn't go too far."

Variety Of Items For Commissioners

City commissioners won't lack for business when they convene Tuesday evening.

A variety of items such as final readings on two ordinances, a second reading on another; accepting paving and giving the green light to more; rezoning a half a block; present paving estimates for two segments connecting with FM 700; hear reports from the traffic and from the zoning and planning commissions.

The traffic commission has met during the past week and the planning and zoning group meets Monday.

Tip for a third and final reading Tuesday will be the salvage ordinance, which requires operators of such shops to maintain and make available to police officers records on purchases, etc. The ordinance, which would change a portion of the block immediately south of the Phillips station on Eleventh Place into a parking area, also is due a final reading.

Approximately 12 blocks of complete paving will be presented for acceptance. In accordance with the contract, paving must be presented for acceptance in blocks of $50,000 or more. At the same time, another group of streets which have been signed up will be presented for paving under the current assessment program.

State Seeks A Tax Plan

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas legislature looked Saturday for a financial Moses, Smith or Brown to lead it out of the tax wilderness.

With a crucial session just four weeks away, the "tax help wanted" sign is still hanging on the big double doors leading to the House and Senate chambers on the second floor of the Capitol.

There is no shortage of ideas on how to dissolve the state's $75 million deficit and find the $200 to $300 million in new money needed to run the state government in the next two years.

Legislators polled in an Associated Press pre-session survey came up with a dozen different suggestions — none new and none urged with real enthusiasm.

Thus far no leader has said he will pick up the ball and run with any tax proposal.

NOT READY

Gov. Price Daniel made it clear to newsmen that he is not ready to throw the weight of his office behind any big-revenue measure — including the payroll tax suggestion of his finance advisory commission.

On the lobby side of legislative operations, two powerful groups have spoken out.

One is the Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) which denied it is opposing the payroll tax plan, but which also strongly criticized the teacher pay and other educational improvement ideas of the commission.

President D. Richard Bowles of the TSTA said it has not taken any position "for or against the tax proposals made by the governor's state finance advisory commission." He said his statement last Wednesday did not mention taxes.

SHORT OF NEED

Bowles did not deny saying that the association thought the $400 a year teacher pay raise suggested by the finance commission is far short of what is needed. The association wants an $800 yearly raise along with other changes suggested by the Hale-Aikin Committee with which the finance advisory commission did not agree.

Another potent lobby group voiced stern opposition to the payroll tax plan.

It is the Texas State AFL-CIO, which hit at the plan as one that would be a burden on citizens in the low pay scales and which would benefit people financially able to "own their own swimming pools."

It goes easy on corporations, said AFL-CIO leader Fred Schmidt. He said those who urge it and those who want a general sales tax want to get needed new revenue "without taxing wealthy and profitable corporations and individuals in accordance with their ability to pay."

AGAINST PLAN

A growing number of legislators also came out against the payroll tax plan, including some openly advocating a general sales tax.

Gov. Daniel said he would submit the payroll tax plan and the alternative excise levy revision to the legislature, permissively along with other alternatives and some positive suggestions for finding new revenue.

He would not flatly answer a question on whether or not he would veto an income tax or general sales tax if either general sales or income levies.

Pressed by newsmen who wanted to know when and where he might center his influence during the session, the governor said he would wait until it appeared that some tax plan had a practical chance of enactment.

The governor emphasized that the time has come for passage of some kind of an adequate tax law to meet public school, college and other state service needs, but that it is up to the legislature to do it.

He also emphasized that such tax should be one that will care not only for present needs but be of a type that would produce revenue in keeping with the state's growth.

Working Plans Moving Along

Work on plans for additions to the city's filter plant and for extensions of water and sewer mains are progressing satisfactorily, A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, reported Saturday.

He said he had checked with Freese & Nichols in Fort Worth on the water treatment plant plans and that it appeared they would be completed late in January or early February. Agreement has been reached on the sort of installation desired, within limits of available funds, for a carbon unit to be installed in connection with the enlargement. (Activated carbon is used in treating water to reduce or remove organic odors resulting from late summer algae, etc.)

Forrest and Cotton, Dallas engineers, are due to have the plans and specifications for some major dimension extensions of the water and sewer lines ready by mid-January, Steinheimer said. The water plant and the water and sewer extension jobs may be let at the same time, he said. Both are part of the long range improvement program provided for in the September $4,300,000 bond issue.

Explorer Hints Snowman Disbelief

TOKYO (AP)—Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mt. Everest, said Saturday all evidence to date tends to indicate fairly clearly that there is a rational explanation for most of the stories about the "Abominable Snowman" or yeti.

"The yeti certainly doesn't exist as such," he said. A Sherpa headman at his side disagreed.

Sir Edmund stopped in Tokyo en route from the Himalayas to the United States carrying what has been described by Tibetan villagers as the scalp of the legendary snowman.

Sir Edmund did not show the scalp to newsmen.

As he departed for the United States, Sir Edmund said the scalp would be studied by experts at the Chicago Museum of Natural History and then be taken on to London for additional study. He said the scalp was one of the factors connected with the snowman's story that required expert investigation.

He was accompanied by a Sherpa village headman, making the trip to look after the scalp, which must be returned to the Himalayas within six weeks.

Volunteers

Volunteer housewives conduct physical therapy treatments in the YMCA heated pool every weekday. Handicapped and mentally retarded children enjoy a relaxing swim under supervision of interested civic workers and YMCA personnel.

Women's Groups Assist In Swimming Therapy

Physically handicapped and mentally retarded children, ages 6-19, have been undergoing unique therapy treatments at the local YMCA, according to Joe Leach, physical education director.

Since Sept. 12, the Y, in conjunction with the Howard County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, has made available its heated pool for use by volunteer and professional workers to aid in the treatment of the handicapped.

The Big Spring Junior Woman's Forum conducts swimming classes for approximately 12 handicapped children, each Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning. This group of volunteer workers speeds the development of strong limbs through controlled exercise under these proper conditions.

Mrs. Pete Cook leads another group who give their time and services in working with the mentally retarded Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Using the whirlpool bath facility, the mentally retarded enjoy swimming under constant supervision, year around. About 22

Ceremonies May Change

After the 1961 commencement, Howard County Junior College may go in for a more traditional type of graduation ceremonies. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, advised the board that the faculty committee recommended that the baccalaureate and commencement be held on the same day, and that cap and gown exercises replace the current traditional banquet for students and parents. He said this policy likely would be favored by the administration.

At Thursday's board meeting, the board approved expenditure of a little less than $1,000 for replacement of seven electric typewriters in the commercial studies department and another in the business office.

A budget adjustment was made in the amount of $100 per annum on one of the maintenance salaries. Approval of $105 for installing hand rails in the auditorium and $250 for a press box in the gymnasium was given by the board. Dr. Hunt also reported that the city was installing rip-rap along the north slope of the stadium parking area as a water erosion preventative.

He also asked for initial plans for attending the Feb. 13-14 meeting of the State Junior College Board and Administrators meeting in Austin. The HCJC board has been asked to put on a model meeting for one of the sessions.

take advantage of the program at the present time. The Special Education Department of the Big Spring School System runs a bus to transport these children to the classes and Bo Bowen, nurse for the Big Spring Howard County Health Unit, makes her services available to counsel and aid in the therapy program.

Barry Mackay Gives U. S. A 2-0 Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
PERTH, Australia (AP)—Fighting staggered odds, stout-hearted Barry Mackay of Dayton, Ohio, won a five-set victory over Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli today and sent the United States into an imposing 2-0 lead in the Davis Cup interzone tennis finals.

match points go up in smoke in a heart-breaking two-day marathon, left the court in tears after Mackay had hammered out an 8-6, 3-6, 8-10, 6-4, 13-11 triumph. The U. S. Davis Cup captain, David Freed, said he felt so sorry for the beaten Italian star that "I could not stand up and cheer. I wanted to cry with him."

The triumph which followed the final singles round postponed until Monday sends Buchholz against Pietrangeli in the first match and Mackay against Sirola in the final.

The winner of the best of the five match series qualifies to meet Australia in the challenge round starting Dec. 26.

Voted Best In History

Donk Walker of SMU (left) and Bobby Layne of Texas recently were voted by the sports writers as the most valuable all-around players ever to perform in the Cotton Bowl football classic, which marks its 25th anniversary with the 1961 game Jan. 2 in Dallas. Walker nosed out Layne by 1 1/2 points. Walker played in two Cotton Bowl games, against Penn State in 1948 and Oregon in 1949. Layne starred against Missouri in the 1946 game. Arkansas will be the host team in the 1961 Silver Anniversary game, meeting Duke.

John Bridgers To Lecture At Next Coaching Clinic

DALLAS (AP)—John Bridgers, builder of Baylor's dazzling offense, will be one of the lecturers at the 1961 four-day Texas Coaching School at San Antonio. He was the only instructor for the big clinic to be selected Friday night by the board of directors of the Texas High School Coaches Association. Another football instructor, two in basketball, one in track and one in baseball are to be picked. They probably will be announced next week. The association restored baseball to the curriculum of the school when it was found there was sufficient interest to warrant it. Baseball was dropped several years ago because of lack of interest. The school at San Antonio will be the first four-day affair since the big clinic was started in 1933. The school will be Aug. 6-9 with a day being cut off because many high schools begin fall practice the following week and the coaches wanted more time to prepare.

Five Abilene Boys Honored

Abilene failed to win the District 2-AAAA football championship for the first time in many years. It placed more individuals than any other club on the all-star squad selected recently by coaches and sports writers within the conference. Five Abilene players were honored and one of them, David Winkles, was named on both the offensive and defensive platoons. Other Abilene players selected included Paul Tidwell, defensive linebacker; Gerald Williamson, safety; Fred Allen, offensive tackle; and Richard Putnam, offensive center. Odessa Permian, the league champion, had four boys honored and two of them, back Gary Crain and end Mike Payte, were picked to go both ways. San Angelo and Odessa High each had three boys picked for the first platoons while Midland placed two. Big Spring failed to land a player on the mythical eleven, although Alf Cobb, a line-backer, gained honorable mention. Only unanimous choice was Melvin Simmons, picked as an offensive right tackle. He lacked one vote of being a unanimous choice as a defensive guard. Seven boys on the defensive unit and eight on the offensive group honored are seniors. The team was assembled by Spec Gammon, Odessa scribe.

I Didn't Err; KU Alumnus

HOUSTON (AP) — Bud Adams, wealthy owner of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, said today he did nothing wrong when he took Bert Coan to the College All-Star game at Chicago in 1959. The Big Eight Conference thought differently, however, and ruled Coan ineligible, forfeiting Kansas' championship. The Big Eight decided it was excessive entertainment. But Adams said while he was a Kansas alumnus, he had not taken Coan on the trip in order to attract him to his alma mater. "If I hadn't run into Bert on the street I never would have taken him to Chicago," Adams said. He added that Coan had told him he was unhappy at Texas Christian and planned to transfer to another school. But, said Adams, he never would have even gone to Chicago had there not been an AFL meeting. Also, he said, "if I were really cheating do you think I would have invited Sidney Latham to go back with us?" Latham is a member of the TCU board of trustees.

Forsan Church Enters 1961 BGCT Achievement Plan

FORSAN—The Forsan Baptist Church has entered the 1961 Texas Baptist Church Achievement Program, pastor Darrell Robinson said last week.

Sponsored by the Baptist General Convention of Texas, the program is designed to stimulate interest in small-church work by providing growth incentives. Outstanding achievements by pastors and churches in areas of church, community and world improvement are recognized locally and at the annual BGCT convention.

More than 790 Texas Baptist town and country churches entered the program last year. Some of the churches recorded twice as many baptisms per member as the Southern Baptist Convention average. Others recorded outstanding increases in Sunday school attendance and gifts to missions.

Goals for advancement are adopted by each participating church for the three improvement areas. An inventory questionnaire furnishes suggestions for projects, such as health education, community recreation programs, citizenship training, race relations studies and world missions.

Pastors recognized in each of the denomination's 17 geographical districts receive parchment scrolls and the churches receive achievement certificates which may be displayed in a prominent position.

Churches in the open country and in towns of up to 2,500 population, and all Latin American churches and missions are eligible to enter the program. About two-thirds of the denomination's 3,876 churches are classified as town and country congregations.

Records and scrapbooks of program progress are made under the direction of three special committees. The scrapbooks are the basis for judging on the associational, district and state-wide levels.

Darwin Farmer, direct missions associate for the BGCT, Dallas, is in charge of the program. He said "the enlistment of a church's total membership in active service" is the program's primary value.

T&P Dividend

DALLAS—The board of directors of the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. at its meeting here Friday declared dividend on the common stock in the amount of $1 per share on the common stock, payable Dec. 22, 1960.

234 FAMILIES ON SA LIST

Capt. James Jay, Salvation Army, asks that all churches, welfare organizations and individuals contact his office prior to giving aid to needy persons. Since most indigent families request aid through the local Salvation Army office, this agency is equipped to act as a clearing house. Preventing duplication, it insures against anyone being overlooked.

Jay has a list of 234 needy families at present and asks others not registered, to do so before Tuesday.

The Salvation Army gets listings from other welfare agencies and makes a thorough investigation in each case. This activity is particularly helpful with the year round transient flow through the city, and Jay urges all agencies to cooperate, especially during the Yuletide season.

Officers Elected

Officers were elected at the Thursday meeting of the Garden City 4-H Club in Mrs. Billy Clement's home. They included Sharon Cypert, president; Mrs. Clements, vice president; Mary Alice Houston, secretary; Frances Cypert, treasurer; and Brenda Dobbs, reporter.

GARDEN TALK

Dormant Season Is Best Time To Transplant Trees

By BRUCE FRAZIER

Mrs. Barney Gibbs of Knott writes asking when to transplant paradise, plum and cottonwood trees. The answer is right now—and on until the trees put out in the spring. Transplanting season is usually considered to be the winter months because at this time the plants are made dormant by the cold weather. It is possible to move plants at other seasons of the year but the risk in losing them is greater than during the cold months.

If you are ever faced with the problem of moving a tree during the warmer seasons, it can often be done by removing all the leaves from the tree before digging. When the leaves are all off the branches, dig a ball of earth and roots, and then bind burlap bagging around the ball to hold it firm. Let the tree cure for several days in the shade, and during this time be very careful to keep the roots moist. After this curing time of about two weeks to a month the tree may be safely transplanted. This curing time is a standard practice where these trees are being held in a nursery.

At this season of the year, the trees may be dug and moved with bare roots. It is better to take a ball of earth with the roots, but some varieties and including those mentioned by Mrs. Gibbs may be moved bare root with good success. In transplanting trees it is always a good idea to wait for at least a month or longer before you add fertilizer of any kind to the area of the roots.

When a plant is moved the tiny feeder roots are damaged and so they have a hard time performing the function of feeding, just as a person would have trouble eating after an operation on the digestive system. Give the tree time to get over the shock of moving before feeding. On the other hand watering the plant does benefit the newly transplanted tree. Always make it a rule to settle the earth around the roots of any plant you move with plenty of water as soon as possible after transplanting.

Spreading Christmas Cheer In Local Hospitals

FROM FOOTBALLS TO DOLLS TO TOWELS TO SWEATERS—that's the variety afforded patients at the VA Hospital by the gift shop sponsored by members of the American Legion Auxiliary. Gifts are sent from units of the auxiliary to be assembled in the shop from which patients may select presents for their families. J. B. Utsey of Odessa, who has chosen a football, looks over the doll held by Mrs. H. D. Bruton.

TAKES A HEAP O'WRITIN' to get all the Christmas cards addressed for family and friends, but a helping hand is given by Mrs. Fred Hyer as a representative of the local registered nurses group. Stamped envelopes are furnished by girls of the district Future

Homemakers of America, and patients at the State Hospital are assisted by various groups of volunteers in preparing the cards for mailing. (Photos by Keith McMillin).

WRAP AND TIE, WRAP AND TIE—so it goes at the Big Spring State Hospital during these busy days when volunteers are bending every effort to prepare a happy celebration of the holidays for patients. Gifts are made ready by groups of women working as individuals or as clubs and are presented at the large party given annually at the hospital. In picture above, Mrs. L. A. Griffith completes a bow on a gift while Mrs. J. L. Skalicky prepares to store the packages already wrapped.

GOOD USE for discarded hoola hoops is to serve as Christmas decorations, as these garden club members have found. Mrs. C. B. South, left, and Mrs. James Duncan were two of the volunteers at the Big Spring State Hospital who found that the hoops, wrapped in colorful ribbon and hung with bells, were attractive in the recreation room at the hospital. Local garden club members took various spots for decorating in time for the party, slated for Dec. 20, at the hospital. Mrs. South is a member of the Oasis Garden Club; Mrs. Duncan is president of the Green Thumb Garden Club.

GAILY-WRAPPED GIFTS will be distributed to patients in the hospital at Webb Air Force Base through the thoughtfulness of the Red Cross Gray Ladies. Preparing the remembrances of cards and candy are Mrs. Roy Madglin, at left in picture at right, and Mrs. Sam Parker. As a regular activity, the corps members serve doughnuts and coffee during the year and distribute comfort articles; at the Christmas season, they add a bit of extra cheer.

IT'S NOT A CHRISTMAS STOCKING, but on Christmas morning, a patient at the VA Hospital will have just as much fun opening it. Plastic bags are filled with fruit, candy and nuts and are given to all patients in the hospital as part of the yuletide pleasure of Gold Star Mothers.

ers. Mrs. Alfred Moody, left, and Mrs. S. R. Nobles have started filling ever so many "stockings" with supplies bought with proceeds from the sale of those aprons and cards which are always kept handy.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE ALFRED MOORE
... to hold open house

Moore's Will Observe Wedding Anniversary

"It was her Christmas present," chuckled George Alfred Moore of Sand Springs as he remembered the day, Dec. 24, 1910, when he took Ruby May Penn as his bride in Cisco.

The two had met a year before at a school play, and he was immediately attracted to the petite young lady. Her father was Ross Penn and it was in the family home that the couple was married.

Cisco was their home until 1929 when the couple and their children moved to Laramie, where Moore was engaged in farming as well as the grocery and ice business.

After his retirement in 1959, the Moores moved to Sand Springs, where they found "just much except sand" at that time. In this rapidly-growing little community, the two are called "Grampa" and "Gramma" by neighboring children and their parents—and with good reason. They have 26 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Of the 10 children born to the couple, nine are living and are expected for the weekend when the Moores will hold open house. Friends are invited to call between the hours of 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 24, when granddaughters will be hostesses for the anniversary party.

Sons and daughters in Sand Springs include: V. E. Allen, Lee, Mrs. Flossie Hair and Mrs. W. E. King in Colorado City; Mrs. J. L. Ferguson and Martin Moore; Mrs. D. E. King lives in Burlington.

Bermuda Was Meeting Place Of Newcomers

First Lt. and Mrs. John R. Lowry are making their home at 1300 Tucson following their arrival here from McAllen. He has been stationed for the past six months at Moore Air Force Base in Missouri.

Mrs. Lowry's home town is New York City, and her husband hails from Winstonsboro, La. She is a graduate of the State University of New York located in Corland where she received her BS degree in education. Her husband is a graduate of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston, La., and holds a chemical engineering degree from that college.

Prior to their marriage, Mrs. Lowry taught school in Long Island, N.Y., for two years before going to Kinley Air Force Base in Bermuda where she taught for one year. Lt. Lowry was employed with National Paper Co. in Ruston, La., before entering the Air Force three years ago.

The Lowrys met in Bermuda shortly after her arrival there. He was stationed at a field maintenance office at the base.

Before going to Bermuda Mrs. Lowry spent the summer months touring parts of Europe.

The wedding date of the couple has a lot of sentimental value as they chose the date of Saturday, February 26, knowing only that it was his parents' anniversary. His parents were married on a Saturday, Feb. 26 in a leap year, the date is also his father's birthday, and it was the first time it had occurred on a Saturday since he had been married.

Hobbies of the Lowrys are golf, reading, cards, sports and swimming. He has recently completed the making of a h-d set and she especially enjoys sewing, sketching and oil painting.

Lt. Lowry is a student officer at Moore Air Force Base and is studying pilot training. He plans to make the Air Force a career.

Mrs. Lowry has taken over teaching duties at the Kate Morrison School fourth grade.

The club members will be hostesses for a Christmas party Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Washington, Alendale, when husbands are to be guests. Gifts will be exchanged at the time. It was announced Friday's gathering will be the last for December. It was decided, Mrs. D. D. Johnston will be hostess for the session on Jan. 6, 1961.

Yule Lingerie Lexicon

It is one of the anomalies of the Christmas season that strong, grown men flinch at the prospect of shopping for their lady loves. When it comes to intimate apparel, their timidity is pitiable. For those shrinking stalwarts we offer, in the spirit of helpfulness, a brief course in lingerie lingo. The cooperative model is the charming Parisienne chanteuse, Lilo (5-2, 36-19-34, dress size 7 or 8.)

SHIFT (pronounced as in football) . . . A short simple gown, feminine and practical. You'll need to know height as well as dress sizes. Here in blue wash and wear satin (nylon, dacron polyester fiber, silk.)

GOWN AND PEIGNOR (pronounced pan-war) . . . Since gown is waist-length, height important. Comes as matched set. Here in white nylon tricot satinetto appliqued with ecru nylon lace. (If you don't remember the fabric, salesgirls are very understanding.)

BIKINI (pronounced like beachwear) . . . Demure women who wouldn't think of wearing them under the sun. love them under cover. Bust, waist and hips measurements helpful in getting the right size. Here in black nylon tricot.

BABY DOLL (pronounced like it's spelled) . . . A brief pajama that appeals to the young in heart and especially in figure. Wonderful for warm climates. Here coat and baby doll is Santa Claus red, with detachable maribou trim.

All Aboard For A Merry Dinner

Elegance for grown-ups and children! Glitter and nonsense for children and grown-ups, too! A toy railroad track with a battery-operated toy train on it circles about on the sky-blue linen cloth of this dinner table set for Christmas Day. In the center of the circle, varicolored Christmas tree ornaments—presided over by a tiny Santa Claus—are stacked about tall white candles. Metallic stars on the chins complement the silver pattern, and slim-stemmed glasses complete the picture.

Pear Dessert Is Quick, Easy, Good

One of our best quick desserts, from pantry shelf and freezer.

PEAR DESSERT

1 can (1 lb. and 14 oz.) pear halves
1-3 to 1/2 cup moist mince-meat
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Drain pears; place, cavity sides up, in a small shallow pan. Fill each pear cavity with about 1 tablespoon mince-meat. Cover tightly with foil.

Bake in very hot (450 degrees) oven about 8 minutes. Place scoops of ice cream in dessert dishes, pressing down so stuffed pears may be arranged on top.

Rush to table so ice cream will melt only a little from the hot fruit. Makes 6 to 7 servings.

Fruit, nuts and candy will be supplied by the American Business Club; decorations for the tree and the work of trimming the tree will be done by Girl Scout Troop 147, under the leadership of Mrs. James Prindahl.

The January party at the center will be given by members of the Modern Woman's Forum and the Fire Ma'ams, it was stated.

Alexander who had been stationed at Leon for the past six months. Mrs. Alexander and the children had been here with her parents until they got their port call. They left here Monday.

The major is stationed at the same base as COL. KYLE RIDDLE, and they were also at Webb AFB at the same time. Mrs. Alexander is the former Joyce Beene.

MRS. D. W. RICHESON (Dorothy Clayton) and her two sons are visiting here from Fort Worth. They are guests in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Clayton, and another grandmother, Mrs. C. L. Nummy. The Richesons plan to stay in Big Spring over the Christmas holidays, as the husband and father has recently returned to his military duties in the Far East.

Looking forward to Dec. 20 are MR. and MRS. L. W. CROFT, who are expecting their daughter, MRS. DAKIN WILLIAMS, CAPT. WILLIAMS, their three-month-old daughter, FRANCESCA, and Capt. Williams' mother, Mrs. Edwina Williams, all of St. Louis, Mo., here to spend the holidays.

Mrs. Williams wrote her parents that they had just recently returned from New York where they saw the opening of Tennessee Williams' "Period of Adjustment." The former Big Spring woman said she enjoyed the play very much, as West Texas and, more specifically, Big Spring, was mentioned several times in the dialogue. The play's author and Capt. Williams are brothers.

Incidentally, the Williamses invited GEN. and MRS. FRED DEAN over from Washington, D. C., to join them for the opening and for a visit during their New York stay. Gen. Dean is now at the Pentagon. He was commanding officer of Webb AFB while Capt. Williams was stationed here, and Mrs. Williams, then Joyce Croft, was his secretary.

People are friendly all over these United States according to MRS. HORACE GARRETT who returned during the past week from her first visit to New York City. She and Mr. Garrett had joined a group of friends in Dallas for a jet trip to the Big City to see the Dallas Cowboys play the New York Giants. According to Mrs. Garrett, people sitting next to them at the game were from Connecticut and they yelled enthusiastically for the Cowboys. When the party attended a performance of "Sound of Music" the lights came up after one of the acts to find Mrs. Garrett and a Californian seated next to her drying their eyes. He missed his boys, who were in California, and she missed her daughters in Texas... and the stage had been filled with children.

MRS. FAYE JOHNSON is in Dallas this weekend to be with her brother, N. C. PETTY, who has recently undergone major surgery. With him are his wife and a brother, W. L. Petty.

Christmas came a little early for MR. and MRS. ROY SMITH who have just recently moved into their new home on the old San Angelo highway. Mrs. S. D. Vinson, Mrs. J. T. Gross, Mrs. J. R. Roberts, Mrs. C. L. Kirkland and Mrs. John W. Ray were hostesses for a housewarming for them last week.

You will enjoy seeing the Friendship Wreath in the windows of The Kid's Shop. It is an original idea of MRS. EVA PYEATT who took her last year's Christmas cards and fashioned them into a holiday wreath that makes a pretty and happy greeting; also adds to the decor of the store. Old Santa is peeping through to add a friendly gesture.

Each time I pass the old Big Spring Country Club location and see the naked remains of the former club building, I am filled with memories of the time when the women of the club worked so hard to get their club building in good condition. MRS. J. Y. ROBB was reminiscing at the Wednesday morning coffee in the new building, about the times the ladies carried sandwiches out for their lunch as they took turns painting the walls. They worked hard to get linens, china and silverware, also.

New faces, to me, at the recent affair to welcome the new club members were MRS. FRED TROTTER, whose husband is on the medical staff at the Veterans Hospital, MRS. R. E. HICKSON, and MRS. REG HYER.

In New Orleans for a vacation are MR. and MRS. W. G. WILSON JR. Mrs. Wilson writes that Canal Street is all dressed up in the gayest Christmas decorations, as are all the large New Orleans stores. The Wilsons plan to visit relatives in Texas before returning here.

Speak of frustration... The W. C. COLES got their first Christmas card last week and it was unsigned.

Fools For Fashion!!

By JOE MOREFIELD

Since hair coloring has become so well developed, the Fashionable woman desires it. Colors to match shoe, gloves, dresses, and colors even to match their poodles. Since colors are chemicals, the little lady should have professional consultation as to their natural basic hair color and how much processing and time it takes to get the desired shade without damaging the hair.

Take my advice, put your hair in professional hands, close your eyes and when you open them, you'll wake up a NEW YOU. It's the greatest morale and beauty booster in the 20th Century. Be seeing you!!!

Too Busy To Pose

Vivian Lee, woman's editor of the Lamesa Reporter, at right, was caught so busily wrestling with a homemaking test that she had no time for photographers. Her forthcoming resolution? "Never to have such a hare-brained idea again!"

Homemaking Test Shakes Up Lamesa Woman's Editor A Bit

By VIVIAN LEE
LAMESA (SC)—If the questions included in the Homemaking of Tomorrow tests are criteria for determining the intelligence and abilities which homemakers must have, I shall soon relinquish my claim to any such title.

Tuesday, at 9:30 a.m., I entered Room 101 at Lamesa High School and joined eight senior girls who had decided to match their wits and knowledge against each other and some 400 other American high school senior girls in the knowledge and attitude test which will help determine the All-American Homemaking of Tomorrow.

This test serves as the basis for judging done by Science Research Associates, and the girl with the highest score in each school is named Homemaking of Tomorrow for her school. Her test paper is entered in competition to name the state winner and each state winner is eligible to compete for the All-American Homemaking of Tomorrow. Scholarships are awarded on both state and national levels.

I have written news stories about this test for several years. Motivated by natural curiosity, which is abetted by my chosen profession, I decided to find out if I might take the test, just to see what it contained.

The homemaking teacher granted my request but told me my paper would not be graded. This didn't mean much until the test period was over; then I realized how embarrassed I might have been had my paper been rated with the others.

After all, I had considered myself a homemaking of rather long experience, and this test should have been a breeze. It turned out to be a full-scale hurricane.

Each of us was handed an answer sheet, a piece of scratch paper, a test book and a special pencil which had to be used since the tests (all but mine) are to be machine-graded in part.

MULTIPLE CHOICE

This test book had 150 multiple choice questions, that deceiving type which have proved disastrous for me more than once. And Tuesday's test questions were no exception.

I began my test bravely, without an inkling that one needed to be a student of psychology, math, foods and nutrition, clothing, home management and child care to find the answers.

The first snag was Question No. 2:

"Kay likes to stay up late and is a slow starter in the morning. Ed is at his best in the morning and likes to go to bed early. Which of the following is the most realistic approach to the problem?"

A. They should compromise; both should adhere to a rising and going to bed schedule; B. Kay should follow Ed's schedule, taking a cold shower or exercising to help "get started"; C. Ed should nap after dinner so that he can stay up with Kay; D. No solution will be entirely satisfactory to either Kay or Ed.

I marked the "A" answer. But if Kay wants to be a good wife, maybe she should get up and cook Ed's breakfast—that is, if he has to go to work early and isn't getting up before the crack of dawn just for the fun of it. That would make "B" the right choice. If Ed doesn't have to work or go to school or have other demands on his time, maybe he should take that nap. Then "C" would be the right answer. But maybe there is no solution; that puts "D" in the winner's column.

After muddling through a dozen questions or more and answering them with my own peculiar brand of reasoning, I hit this one:

Question: Connie and Jim borrow $1,000 to remodel their house. The sum is to be paid back in 12 equal monthly installments. In all, they will pay back $1,356. What is the average monthly rate of interest?

A. 3 per cent; B. 2.6 per cent; C. 2.6 per cent; D. 13 per cent.

Although my common sense (or years of experience) told me that 13 per cent was high, I made use of the scratch paper and my knowledge of arithmetic and settled for D. Right?

Then came the child care questions. Take this one for example: Question: Johnny has misbehaved and must be disciplined. Which of the following actions is likely to be most effective?

A. A firm reprimand; B. Taking away a privilege; C. A spanking; D. Not enough information given to make a decision.

I can't remember how I answered that one. I figured that if the new child psychology books would say to take away a privilege, but depending on the specific incident, a reprimand or a spanking might be the good old-fashioned cure.

The experts who designed this test must feel that tomorrow's homemaking should be good at arithmetic. There were questions regarding kilowatt hours and the electric bill, savings accounts, figuring yardages for draperies, square feet in a patio, and a dozen other things. I merely grappled momentarily with each and picked a number that sounded logical; it may or may not have been an educated guess.

I tackled question No. 83 at the same moment the bell sounded, signifying this part of the test was over.

It was time for the essay questions. "Factors such as age, religious preference, educational background, etc., often affect a marriage relationship because of the differences in goals or values which result. Discuss specific decisions with regard to marriage that should be made by couples who have such differences in goals and values."

I tried to think about this question, and wondered if I were temporarily brain-washed, or just plain tired? Besides, no one was going to grade my test, so I just went back to those multiple choice questions for the rest of the period.

Roommate Placement Is Job Of Real Estate Man

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If you're a working girl who isn't completely sold on living alone, you may be tempted to exchange your privacy for a roommate who will help you face the landlord on the first of every month.

Yet if you're not the roommate type, you may live miserably ever after. And so might your roommate.

Just as some personalities are happier never getting married, certain singletons are better off not sharing their domiciles.

This comes from an enterprising young real estate agent, Lloyd Baum, who operates a roommate placement service.

His own frustrating search for a compatible man to share the high cost of his big city apartment led the handsome 32-year-old bachelor into business last spring.

Since then he has found a suitable tenant for himself, and he has also evaluated apartments, interviewed, investigated and eventually matched up hundreds of applicants. Baum says he has had almost 100 per cent satisfied clients.

During an applicant's interview he gathers personal and financial information and makes notes about appearance and personality traits. He follows up by questioning past landlords, acquaintances and creditors.

If the professional roommate-finder does not like what he discovers, or if a woman hedges about her age or balks at certain questions, Baum becomes wary. Or, if he notes in conversation that his applicant is extremely emotional, strongly opinionated, or unduly withdrawn, he politely suggests she would be happier living alone.

However, for those who are the types who can sacrifice privacy without suffering, there are other advantages besides shared expenses. Two can divide cooking and housekeeping chores and two can multiply friendships.

Baum offers these rules as a guide to being a better roommate:

1. Make up your mind that nobody is going to see eye-to-eye all the time.
2. Be considerate of the other person's sleeping habits.
3. Keep reasonably neat about belongings, but don't be so fastidious that you are nerve-racking to live with.
4. Reach a common agreement about house rules. Avoid being bossy.
5. Hire someone to clean the apartment at least once a week, if possible. The expenditure will prevent battles on the homefront.
6. Work out an equitable agreement for sharing food bills according to the average number of meals eaten at home.
7. Don't borrow your roommate's clothing or toilet articles.
8. Be quiet but don't be too quiet. Nobody likes to live with a vegetable.
9. Entertain and expect your roommate to entertain. But keep each other advised as to expected guests so that each may or may not join the party as he likes.
10. Respect each other's desire for occasional privacy.

Flowers That Bloom In Spring Millinery May Get Frost-Bite

By SHIRLEY GALLINA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Spring hats will ride high on milady's tresses this coming season if the California Millinery Guild styles are any indication.

The guild, comprised of a baker's dozen of California's millinery firms, unveiled spring collections for the fashion press and buyers from all over the country this week.

"Hi-tilts" is the theme. Height is the keynote, and is found in all shapes from soaring turbans to tall toques, high pillboxes to high-crowned sailors.

houette, taking on new dimensions with extremely high crowns in the forms of a bubble, balloon, beehive, and a slightly pointed "sugar loaf."

The tilt comes either from wearing the hat at a jaunty angle, or is intrinsic in the design via asymmetric brims, profile lines, or trims set off center.

A profusion of flowers in improbable size blooms on some hats. A few are completely covered with giant silk roses or poppies. Others feature giant cornflowers, lilac, violets, and lilies-of-the-valley.

Flower hats are built on delicate frameworks of net, rose stem trellises, or raffia lattices. Incredibly light, even the largest weighs mere ounces. All the spring hats are notable for lightness, in straws as well as fabrics.

Some frothy turbans and toques look as if they were made of meringue or spun sugar. Maline and net or veiling are swirled around these tall shapes, or they may be made of fragile-appearing straw-lace.

The more tailored hats follow the high and mighty trend, but trims are either smart grosgrain ribbon often worked in three tones, wide taffeta ribbons, or smashing big bows. Veils, more often than not, cover the hat rather than the wearer's face.

Color characterizes the spring line—beige, burnt sugar, coffee and gold, vivid tones of hot pink, sapphire blue, emerald green, and pure flaming orange.

Louisiana Guests

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Shelton of Shreveport, La., are guests of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hurt, 1511 Runnels, and their sister-in-law, Mrs. Clifford Hurt, Helen and J. C., 500 Scurry. The visitors will be here for several days.

Cutting Tip

You will get a clean cut with your cookie cutter every time if you dip it in slightly warm salad oil.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McCrary, Route 3, Tahoka, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joan, to Melvin Ray Lobstein, son of Mrs. Lucy Lobstein, Route B, Lamesa. The couple will be married Jan. 15, 1961, in the First Baptist Church at O'Donnell.

Mrs. Taylor Speaker For Modern Forum

Mrs. W. F. Taylor, a former member of the Modern Woman's Forum presented a review for the group at their Christmas dinner Friday in the home of Mrs. M. A. Cook.

The reviewer chose "Our Christmas Story" by Mrs. Billy Graham, and recounted the various family traditions discussed by Mrs. Graham.

Another guest along with Mrs. Taylor was Mrs. C. E. Talbot; 20 members were present for the covered dish luncheon.

Hostesses who joined Mrs. Cook were Mrs. Clyde Thomas and Mrs. V. E. Jones. On the serving table, they used a red cloth with pine cone decorations. A silver tree was the centerpiece with a circle of snow babies formed of marshmallows.

Foursome tables where guests were seated were laid in red and centered with snow men. Snow babies were individual favors at the tables.

Members were reminded that the forum will give the monthly party at the Westside Recreation Center in January. A discussion of plans for entertaining the district meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs was held.

Gifts were exchanged by the group. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. E. T. O'Daniel, 1704 Harvard, Jan. 13.

No Money? Give A Laugh

When you don't have money, give laughs for Christmas. When you want to show spirit without being sentimental, wrap a ribbon round a rib tickler.

The nation's shelves this year are stocked with smiles. For example:

Blackheads. The faces on these ceramic nogginis depict gloom or glory. Can be used on closet shelves as hat holders. Hollowed area could conceal family jewels. Priced for less than $3.

Brush for Baldheaded Man. Downy soft, it caresses stray hairs on a destitute pate and smooths fringe around the ears gently into place. Prices vary.

Bottle Warmer. Raccoon skin encircles holiday cognac, a skin from the usual cooler. Less than $5.

Stone-face. This flat, gray, fist-sized rock with silly sad eyes is a paperweight. Costs $1.

Ice Cream Tooth Brush. Brush handles have aromas like vanilla, chocolate, orange, strawberry, lemon or lime designed to lure kiddies to the brushing routine.

Mermaids. King Neptune's daughter bats her long lashes from the floor where she is a bathroom rug. Same witty carpet manufacturer produces a cowardly lion, choo-choo train (each rug a car) and face cards. Priced up to $10.

From linen shops to notions counters you will find plenty of revelry on tea towels, aprons, throw pillows, cocktail napkins, drinking glasses, bar accessories.

But chose your witty gift carefully, buyers advise. What may be one person's joke could very well be somebody else's insult.

Stanton Lodges To Gather Monday At Christmas Party

STANTON (SC) — Members of the Stanton Rebekah Lodge and the Oddfellow Lodge will have a Christmas party Monday evening, at the IOOF Hall.

All members and their families are invited to attend the affair, which will begin at 7 p.m. Each person is to bring a $1 gift to exchange. Women are to bring women's gifts; men should bring men's gifts and children should bring children's gifts.

The Friendship Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church met Thursday night at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Waymon Etchison, for the annual Christmas party.

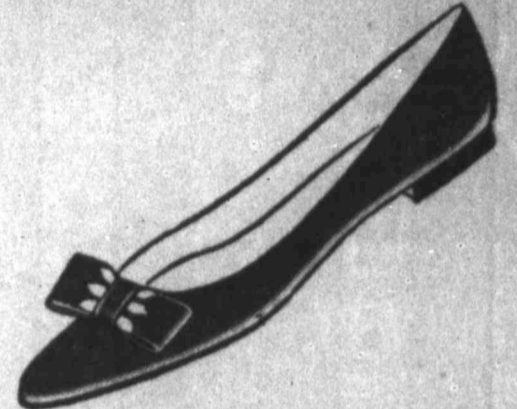

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Graves, Terri and Craig of Coahoma visited Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graves.

Recent guests in the G. A. Bridges home have been their granddaughters, Delene Bridges, who is a student at Baylor University, and Mrs. Johnny Campbell of Amarillo.

Mrs. Kenny Strickland, the former Cherry Lou Woolsey, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday at the home of Mrs. Claude Kelly. Hostesses were Mrs. C. E. Christopher, Mrs. G. Petree, Mrs. Eddie Butler, Mrs. Howard Reed and Mrs. Claude Kelly.

Christmas Toy Program—A Long Time Ago

The repair of toys and distribution to needy youngsters at Christmas has been a project of Big Spring city firemen for 29 years. Here's a photo of the first collection of such toys, along with firemen, city officials, and others who assisted in the welfare project. It was made in 1931, in the old fire station located on the courthouse square at Third and Scurry. Standing, left to right, are J. B. Pickle, then mayor of Big Spring; Ole Cordill, chief of the seven-man department; John Hildreth, H. V. Crocker (present chief), Curtis Gaylor and Boyd Carpenter. The Salvation Army officers are believed to be Mr. and Mrs. Otto Grief, although this identification is not positive. Next to them at right is E. V. Spence, then the city manager. On lower row are officers of the Lions Club who assisted in the toy distribution that year: Bob Preatt, Tracy Smith and Bob Henry; then two more firemen, Tommy Morris and Bob Fields. The two Boy Scouts are J. J. (Jake) Pickle and Steve Ford Jr. The city firemen have not missed a year since 1931 in devoting long hours of skillful work to re-new playthings to delight the hearts of children. In recent years, The Herald has joined the firemen in setting up the Christmas Cheer Fund, which finances purchase of spare pieces and tools for the toy repair, makes available food, and even helps destitute families throughout the year in cases of immediate emergency. The 1960 Christmas Cheer Fund is in the midst of its appeal right now, and hopes that big-hearted people will be prompt with gifts. Checks may be sent to The Herald or handed to any fireman, for acknowledgment.

Green Wins $150 Award

Leroy Green, 1609 Cardinal, has been paid $150 by the Webb AFB Wing incentive board for sustained superior performance. He maintained this rating during the first six months of 1960 to win the award.

Green, a civil service employe at Webb for over six years, is a jet engine tester in the 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron's power plant section. He drew special recognition a few months ago when in the absence of James G. Crenshaw, shop foreman, he supervised the J-33 Test Cell for 30 days. He is now serving as a crew leader.

Green is a graduate of the advanced jet engine mechanic school, Sheppard AFB. As a Navy frogman during the war, he did underwater demolition duties on an LST from 1944 to 1946.

He and his wife, Billie, are natives of Brownfield. The couple moved to Big Spring in 1954 with their four sons, Leroy, 13; Lonnie, 8; Thomas, 7; and Bobbie, 6.

LEROY GREEN

No Red Spots For Rose Fete

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Color is the very essence of the Tournament of Roses, but its sponsors don't go for red spots on the royal court's faces.

That's why they got out the needle when they learned Princess Cynthia Gillette was down in bed with the measles. Queen Carrie Washburn and four other princesses—all exposed to their colleague's ailment—received shots of gamma globulin. A fifth princess, Mary Lou Thomas, was declared safe. She had measles herself not long ago.

Miss Gillette, blue-eyed, 18 and covered with blotches, will be back in circulation this week and will be able to take part in the Jan. 2 New Year's activities, her mother said.

Sgt. Roe Gains Fifth Stripe

Sgt. Robert W. Roe, 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Webb AFB has received his fifth stripe, promoting him to tech sergeant.

Sgt. Roe is a member of the 331st quality control section, whose job is to insure the many different parts used in the squadron's F-102 aircraft are on hand when needed.

Father, 84, Asks Social Security For His Son

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A man 84 years old has applied for Social Security benefits for his son.

L. L. Pettus, who draws Social Security himself, explained that the son, soon to be 65, is recuperating from an illness.

Chemists Hear Dr. Seymour

New officers were introduced and members of the Permian Basin section of the American Chemical Society heard Dr. Raymond B. Seymour speak on modern polymer chemistry Thursday.

The organization met in the Corden Country Club for its regular meeting.

"The first developments in plastics such as the fabrication of billiard balls from colloidal and camphor were milestones in technological achievements. Such achievements and future applications are of great practical importance, but they are unrelated to chemical science," Dr. Seymour said.

He pointed to the work of Dr. Leo Baekeland and Dr. Wallace Carothers. He suggested that the production of polyethylene and butadiene rubber by the hot process were acceptable during the war, but the product was far from satisfactory.

"Today, the chemist can control structure of the end product through the use of polymer chemistry," Seymour said. He discussed the chemical relationship of fiber, rubber and plastics.

He noted that this process is comparable to that in other fields. He said U.S. plastics production this year will exceed six billion pounds.

"And with new knowledge of polymer chemistry, an annual production in excess of 10 billion pounds may be anticipated," he explained.

Dr. Seymour is chairman of the chemistry department at Sul Ross State College. He has been a long time member of ACS, has written five books, holds 60 patents and serves in many professional organizations. He holds degrees from the University of New Hampshire and the University of Iowa.

The 1961 officers of the local ACS chapter include Jesse Looney, Big Spring, chairman; Thomas L. McGinnis, Odessa, chairman elect; Roy Hendrichson, Big Spring, secretary; Jim Hudson, Odessa, treasurer; Lawrence Spenberg, Odessa, councilor; and Birt Allison, Big Spring, councilor.

Research Promises

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Current research promises a cure for leukemia in "one, two, three—maybe five years," says Rutherford L. Ellis, chairman of the American Cancer Society.

"There is no question that the first breakthrough will come in leukemia," he told interviewers.

THEY WORK HARDER BECAUSE THEY RIDE EASIER!

Ordinary I-beam type front axle. A stiff beam design that transmits shock from the road right through the truck.

Chevy Independent Front Suspension. Wheels flex independently, minimize tire abuse as well as body stress.

Because they ride easier they last longer, too. They take better care of payloads and they make a long day's work a lot more pleasant for the driver. All that—primarily because of Independent Front Suspension (I.F.S.). If you think it's stretching a point to attribute that many advantages to a suspension system, you haven't driven a new Chevy with I.F.S. Take the wheel and feel its road-leveling ride, its almost total absence of shimmy and wheel fight, its ease of steering even in the big rigs. Spend hours behind the wheel and you're not nearly as tired. You're not and neither is the truck. That independent suspension soaks up the worst shock and vibration—the kind that can twist sheet metal and loosen joints and increase your maintenance costs. That's why Chevy trucks keep on working and saving for extra thousands of miles. Try one.

A Pat on the Back

FOR MRS. THEO ANDREWS

"Perhaps the facet of character that we will remember longest about Mrs. Andrews is her calm and optimistic spirit, never quick to judge! always ready to show mercy."

This was part of the tribute written in the Sunday bulletin at the First Baptist Church on January 26, 1959 for "Emily Andrews Day."

The former Emily Holman was born in San Angelo in 1882. The Holman family moved to Monahans when Emily was sixteen. It was there she met and married Theo Andrews, who was an official with the T&P Railroad for many years.

When her husband was transferred to Big Spring in 1935, Mrs. Andrews recalls that they moved here on a Friday—the pastor came to call on Saturday—they attended services on Sunday, and she has been known as a loyal and devoted member of her church ever since.

For many years she was the teacher of an Adult Sunday School Class, a position she resigned to become Superintendent of the Adult IV Sunday School Department. She also was president of the Mary Willis Circle for about 12 years and is an Eastern Star and Past Matrons member.

Although arthritis has curtailed her activities to some degree, many of the hours she spends at home at 505 Lancaster are still used to help others. The encouraging letters she writes to the sick and lonely reflect her cheerful spirit and outlook.

Mrs. Andrews was widowed in 1951. The mother of two daughters—Mrs. Irene Daniels of Pecos and Mrs. J. A. Casey of El Paso—she is very proud of her three grandchildren and five great-children.

They, no doubt, were just as proud of her when they read the words, "The flowers for the Silver Urn today were given by our church in honor of Mrs. Theo Andrews, a lovely and gracious lady."

LIFT A CHILD

...and hold him above you.

You don't expect a child to stand toe to toe with a man. You lift a child... and hold him above you.

You don't expect a child to understand fully what is right and wrong.

You don't expect a child to comprehend every spiritual ideal.

You don't expect a child to sense instinctively the constant concern of God in his life.

You lift a child... you give him the opportunity in his Church and in his Christian home to gain moral and religious insights.

And you hold him above you... dedicating your own time and strength to your Church so that you and your child can find together the spiritual foundation on which men should build their lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fliers Hangar Over 30 Aircraft Here

More and more private airplanes are taking hangar space with the increased interest in flying and local airports are no exception.

Private pilots here own a wide variety of about 30 airplanes, from small two-seaters of early war days to late model twin-engine planes carrying up to 10 persons.

The Howard County Airport is not the only place planes are kept, although there are about 25 quartered there. Hamilton Field houses several aircraft and the Ben and Hoyle Nix ranch, north of Big Spring, is equipped with a landing strip where three planes are kept.

COSDEN'S PLANES

Two large planes and a smaller craft owned by Cosden put the oil company at the top of the list of privately owned planes.

The company has two deHavilland capable of transporting a total of 17 persons. A large deHavilland, the "Heron," is a 10-place model, and the smaller "Dove" carries seven.

Actual age of the Cosden planes is not indicative of their true age. Parts are periodically replaced in the British crafts to keep them continually "new."

Cosden also owns a Cessna 172 which is used for pipeline patrol work.

Ben and Hoyle Nix are the owners of four airplanes, including a 1954 Piper Tri-Pacer, a four-passenger plane; a 1946 Piper Vagabond, a two-passenger plane; a 1947 Air Coupe, and a 1949 Swift.

WEBB CLUB

The Webb AFB Aero Club owns three planes, a 1957 Tri-Pacer, a 1958 Champion Tri-Track, and a T-34, formerly used for training military pilots.

A trio of residents, Gene Nabors, Dr. M. W. Talbot and Clayton Bettie, own a 1954 Cessna 170, and another 1954 170 is owned by Cotton Henderson. The Cessna 170's are four-passenger planes.

Cessnas are also owned by Jimmy D. Jones, who flies a 1956 model 182, a four-place airplane, and by Bill McClendon, who has a 1960 model 150, a two-seater.

Vernon Smith hangsars a 1958 Mooney, a four-place aircraft constructed of wood and fabric, with a low wing silhouette.

The only other privately owned twin-engine plane, in addition to Cosden's, is a 1958 Piper Apache registered to the First National Bank.

Big Spring Aircraft, operators of the county airport, owns two Pipers, a 1960 Comanche and a 1960 Tri-Pacer. Clyde McMahon also owns a Comanche, a 1959 model.

Several residents own Tri-Pacers, including Frank Hughes, 1956 model, and Roy Merworth and Charles Simpson, both of whom have 1954 models.

Two Bonanzas are in private

Walnut Shells Help Sick Jets

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A jet engine will swallow almost anything, and as a result often suffers from that tired run down feeling.

There are numerous cures, but the cheapest so far is a dose of walnut shells.

Jet doctors have found they can restore a patient's zip by feeding shells through the air intake. Once inside, the shells prove just abrasive enough to clean out the accumulation of jet fuel grease, bird feathers, sand and old newspapers.

Previously a sick jet engine had to be torn down, cleaned and hand polished, a lengthy and costly operation. Now the cure can be effected in four minutes with a $9.90 sack of walnut shells.

Schools Ban Easter Programs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Portland public schools has banned future Easter programs.

Supt. Jack Edwards also said that baccalaureate services no longer will be held in Protestant churches, but in the school buildings.

Objections from those of the Catholic and Jewish faiths brought the change, Edwards said. He added there also has been some objection to Christmas programs in the schools, but these will be continued.

The baccalaureate services will include speakers from Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths, Edwards said.

hands here, including a 1957 model owned by Tidwell Chevrolet, and a 1951 model flown by Dr. B. Broadrick.

Earlier model aircraft are also owned here and in use by local private pilots.

Bert Andries has a 1949 model PA-11, which is a smaller member of the Piper Cub family, and a two-seat plane.

Gene Barnaugh, a student pilot, is the owner of a 1941 Aeronica L-3, a two-place fabric covered airplane, and Webb AFB Lt. B. A. Boggs flies his own 1946 Luscomb, also a two-seater.

Let grounded residents become apprehensive about the seemingly old age of some aircraft flying around, owners say, with the backing of mechanics, that age does not make much difference in the performance of an airplane.

AGE

The number of hours the engine logs, rather than the age in years, is the real factor in determining the craft's age. With proper maintenance a plane can be kept in the air for thousands of hours and many are.

Several days of inclement weather and a couple other days of high winds cut sharply into the daily operational figure at the Howard County Airport last week.

Operations, which had been averaging from 45 to 60 daily, numbered about 25 per day this week, with most of the flying restricted to licensed pilots. Most students were timid about solo flying, although some ventured dual instruction.

LONG FLIGHTS

Those local pilots counting long flights during the week included Leroy Tidwell, who returned from Los Angeles; Cosden pilots Winston Harper, flying to Houston, and Bill Edwards, to Chicago; David Sims, to Abilene; O. D. Landrum, Fort Worth; Roy Merworth, El Paso, and Dick Standifer, to Lubbock and Ft. Worth.

Pilots logging local flights included Betty Ray, Clifton, Pete Fuglaar, Vernon Smith, Larry Nix, Ben Nix, Frank Sabbato, Frank Hughes, Ona Mae Hughes, Ted McClung, Howard Loyd, Bill McClendon, Bert Andries, Dr. M. W. Talbot and Dr. B. Broadrick.
