124 Die As Airliners Collide In N. Y.; Crashes Loose Fire, Terror In City

Brooklyn Block Is Set Ablaze

NEW YORK (AP)—Two big airliners, probing for a landing in a snowstorm, collided with a roar today, and plunged like flaming rockets into the city. At least 124 died, and possibly many more.

The crashes loosed fire and terror on the ground. Extent of casualties among residents could not even be guessed, for the time being.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr., said, however, at 12:45 p.m., about two hours after the accident, that no dead had been found in 10 apartment houses and a church in Brooklyn involved in the crash or fires resulting from it.

Major Catastrophe On The Ground

Today's disaster set off a holocaust in Brooklyn. Streetside morgues were set up as bodies, charred and broken, were carried out of an entire block of horror.

Police, fire departments and hospitals rushed equipment to the crash areas. A seven-alarm fire was sounded in Brooklyn. Mitchell Field Air Force Base on Long Island was asked for help.

10 Buildings Afire In Brooklyn

Ten buildings were reported afire. For the DCB, it was the first crash in America of a pure jet carrying passengers, although a Boeing 707 jet with only a five-man crew aboard crashed on Long Island last year.

Tail Gunner Hurt In Bomber Crash

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP)—A tail gunner, injured when he jumped 15 feet to a concrete runway, was the only casualty as a B52D jet bomber with 10 men aboard exploded and burned on landing Thursday.

Jack Flowers Dies In Tyler

A former resident of Big Spring and one of a family of football "greats" in Big Spring School sports history, Jack Flowers, died Friday morning at his home in Tyler. He was 49.

HUMAN BOMB

Kennedy Death Plot Is Uncovered

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A 73-year-old little man with wavy white hair was held in $100,000 bond today on a charge that he intended to turn himself into a human bomb aimed at the life of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Richard Paul Pavlick, retired postal worker from Belmont, N.H., was given a hearing before U.S. Commissioner George L. Pink Thursday night. Pink said the bond was one of the highest ever set in this city.

Pavlick was arrested Thursday in Palm Beach and officers said they seized several sticks of dynamite, blasting caps, wiring and other paraphernalia in his automobile and motel room.

Assistant U.S. Dist. Atty. Robert Rust of Miami requested the $100,000 bond. John Marshall, a Secret Service agent from Miami, said Pavlick probably would be taken to Miami today.

Pavlick's arrest by Patrolman Lester Free for a traffic violation ended a nationwide hunt for the little ex-postal clerk. Agents would not divulge how they found him but indicated a general alert was out for him.

At the hearing, Rust said Pavlick had let them inspect his car Thursday afternoon and that they found seven sticks of dynamite in it. Marshall said Pavlick told him he had been treated at a mental hospital.

The charge Pink read to Pavlick said he "indicated that he was going to make himself a human bomb and destroy himself and the president-elect, and further that he disposed of and gave away all his real and personal property in Belmont, N.H., prior to coming to Palm Beach for this purpose.

An official said Pavlick denied the accusation and said he planned to kill himself.

"In a way, I am glad it turned out the way it has, but I don't like the publicity," Pavlick said.

It was reported that the complaint was based on information from Secret Service agents in Belmont, Washington and Boston.

Pavlick, dressed in a business suit, described himself as single and a resident of Belmont. He said his only relative is a sister in Boston. Her name was not given.

Before he was taken from the commissioner's office, Pavlick talked freely in the waiting room. He complained of how rough his job as a postal clerk had been, said the post office was drafty and he had to wear long underwear. Then he began to discuss the condition of his esophagus.

Pavlick, about 5 feet 7, and of gentle appearance, read a travel magazine while sitting in the waiting room, turning pages with his right hand which was minus two fingers. There was no immediate word on how he lost the fingers.

He discussed the Palm Beach traffic charge at length with Lt. Richard A. McDonald of the Palm Beach force.

Pavlick said he was accused of driving over the center line. Marshall said Pavlick never made contact with the president-elect, but the ex-postal clerk's tour included Hyannis Port, Mass., where the Kennedys have a home.

Asked if he had any particular interest in politics, Pavlick replied, "no." He said he thought he was registered in New England as a Republican.

Low Bid Is Submitted On Runway

Peter Kiewit Sons of Omaha, Neb., submitted the apparent low bid here Thursday for a major runway extension project at Webb AFB.

The actual award is expected to be made by the Fort Worth district office of the Corps of Engineers within a few days.

Kiewit was lower by about $33,000 than the nearest bidder in a field of six. His proposal compared with $1,022,885.65 for the government's estimate.

The contracting firm bid in a major runway job a year ago and currently is starting on a quarter of a million dollar extension.

Others who submitted proposals opened here Thursday afternoon at the Settles by Lt. Col. W. H. Mathis, representing the district engineer's office, were:

Worth Construction Company, Fort Worth, $921,515.04; L. C. Lacy Company, Dallas, $974,939.04; Texas Bitulithic Company, Dallas, $942,510.40; F&C Engineering Company, Houston, $1,024,842.01; H. B. Zachary Company, San Antonio, $1,058,469.55.

Among other government representatives on hand for the bid opening were Maj. R. C. Rawiston, Dallas, USAF Regional Civil Engineers office; Arthur Brown, assistant chief of contracts for the Fort Worth district engineer; and L. W. Davis, Big Spring, head of the West Texas office and the supervisor for the job.

The project is for extension of one of the parallel runways and calls for 22,550 cubic yards of concrete pavement, 13,400 cubic yards of flexible base, 7,100 tons of hot-mix asphalt, 14,167 square yards of stabilized treatment, storm drains, border light, installing cables and culverts, painting strips, erecting fences and barriers.

Mail Volume Still Growing

Postmaster Elmer Boatler said that the total number of pieces handled Thursday rose to 145,634, easily the biggest day of the season. This compared with 122,783 on the comparable day a year ago.

Phone Rate Hike

Jack Names Brother, Dillon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today named his brother, Robert F. Kennedy, attorney general in his administration, and chose Douglas Dillon to be secretary of the Treasury Department.

Robert F. Kennedy, 35, was the president-elect's campaign manager. He was counsel of the Senate rackets investigating committee.

This is the first time in U.S. history that a president, or president-elect, has chosen a brother to be in his Cabinet.

Kennedy also announced the appointment of Byron (Whizzer) White, Denver, Colo., attorney, to be deputy attorney general.

White, a former All America football player, will serve under Kennedy's brother in the Justice Department.

Dillon, 51, is now undersecretary of state, and is a Republican. His appointment is one the financial community will likely view as assurance there will be no radical fiscal experiments in the Kennedy administration.

With these appointments, Kennedy completed the selection of his Cabinet except for postmaster general. There were reports that this job would go to J. Edward Day, a Los Angeles insurance executive.

Firemen Still Need Assistance

A healthy supply of toys for Big Spring's needy children has been stocked by city firemen who are turning their attention to the job of dressing about 200 dolls.

Women volunteers are being requested to get the dolls dressed in time for the annual Christmas distribution. Chief H. V. Crocker has asked that all women who want to help in the project come to the central station Saturday and pick up as many dolls as possible.

Patients Enjoy Venison In Fete By Aggie Club

Patients at the Big Spring State Hospital got their fill of venison barbecue Thursday, and there could be no doubt as to how they enjoyed it.

Dr. Preston Harrison, hospital superintendent, said that more than 850 were served barbecue with potato salad, beans and all the trimmings by the host Texas A&M Club.

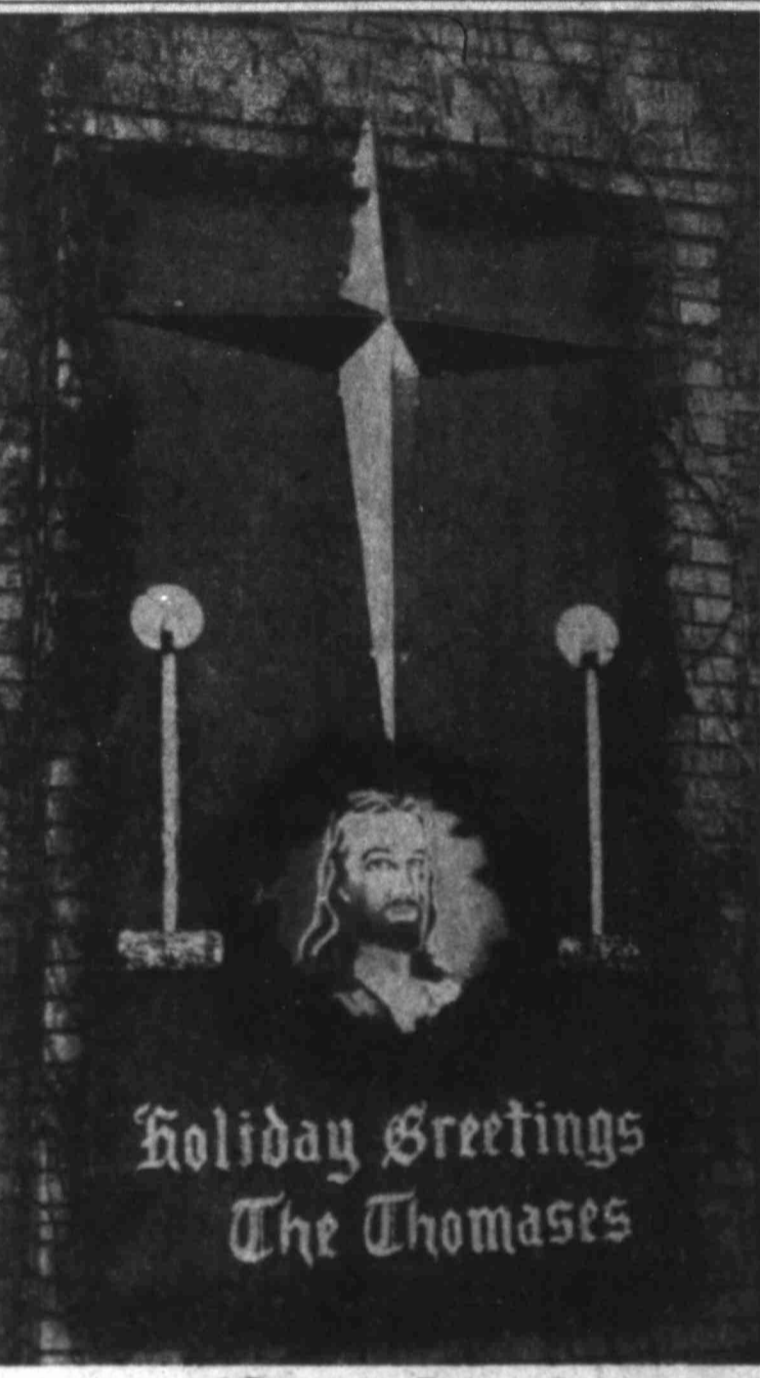

"Everyone had all he or she wanted," said Dr. Harrison. "Some came back for seconds, and then there was enough left over that many patients enjoyed bedtime snacks."

Aggie Club members, under the direction of James Tidwell, president, spent the day preparing the barbecue from deer donated by local residents who joined the club in providing the venison.

The volunteers began unloading the food at the central kitchen at 4:30 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. assisted in the serving. In the later phases, there were almost enough A&M members to take over all the serving.

The Big Spring High School Choir, directed by Bill Bender, sang a program of Christmas music in the last portion of the serving period.

"This was a fine thing," said Dr. Harrison, "and something that will be long remembered by the patients. Many of them took occasion to thank the club members in person for this expression of hospitality."

One of 16 entries in the annual Home Decoration Contest is this entry in the yard division. Located at the George Thomas residence, 118 Lincoln, the display is built on the fireplace. The Thomases and other entries are competing for three prizes—$25, $15, $10—in this division plus a $50 overall prize for the most artistic entry. Deadline for entries is Dec. 21 with judging slated Dec. 22.

Federal Court To Rule On School Issue

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A three-judge federal court went into session today on the Orleans Parish School Board's request that four New Orleans banks be enjoined from refusing to honor its checks.

The banks have frozen some $728,000 in board funds. The board says that unless it receives such funds it will have to close New Orleans public schools, integrated Nov. 14 by federal court orders.

The judges were also due to hear two requests for temporary injunctions against creation of a new school board for New Orleans by the State Legislature. The suits were filed by the U. S. government and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The act creating the new board was restrained last week by the federal court, but, in the meantime, the Legislature has established still another new school board for this embattled city.

A fourth attempt to replace the Orleans School Board received final legislative approval Thursday as the legislators wound up a 30-day special session. Another 30-day session starts Saturday.

Two earlier attempts to set up a new school board were thrown out by the federal courts, which has issued injunctions against the Legislature, Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and various state officials telling them to keep out of the school situation here.

Attendance at the two integrated schools remained about the same. Three Negroes attended McDonough No. 19, while seven whites—a drop of one from Wednesday—and one Negro attended William Frantz.

Ronald Goforth Mishap Victim

A Big Spring service man, Airman 3.C. Ronald Jay Goforth, 18, was killed Thursday in a mishap occurring while he was on duty in the aircraft tire maintenance shop at Westover AFB, Mass.

Also killed when a tire from a B52 jet bomber exploded as they were working on it in a tire shop was Airman 3.C. Jack D. Jackson of Cannon, Ky.

Young Goforth's body will be returned to Big Spring, and funeral services and interment will be here, under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. The time had not yet been determined.

Airman Goforth had lived in Big Spring for nine years before entering the service. He was born Sept. 19, 1942, in Shawnee, Okla.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. LaWanda Yager of Big Spring, a waitress at the Coeden Club; his father, G. C. Goforth of Oklahoma City; two sisters, Tawanna Yager and Deborah Sue Yager, and two brothers, Donald Keith Yager and Dennis Wayne Yager, of Big Spring. There are also the maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. G. Tripp of Shawnee, Okla.; the maternal grandfather, Glen Lewis of Avondale, Ariz.; and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Goforth of Oklahoma City.

CHEER FUND IN A LULL

The Cheer Fund hit a lull today. If all children in Big Spring are to have a share of Christmas happiness, many more people must help this big-hearted program.

There's just about a week left for you to participate in the real spirit of Christmas by helping those less fortunate than you are. Remember, every penny of your gift goes to see that usable toys and holiday food gets to the children who deserve them. And, any reserve buys medicine and food through the year in extreme emergency cases.

Doesn't this appeal to you? If it does, send your check, made to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, to the Herald, or hand to any city fireman. Do it now.

Prince Divorced

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Prince Alfonso Hohenlohe and his estranged Italian-born wife, Ira Von Fuerstberg, were legally divorced here Wednesday. The couple were involved three months ago in one of the loudest social scandals of the year.

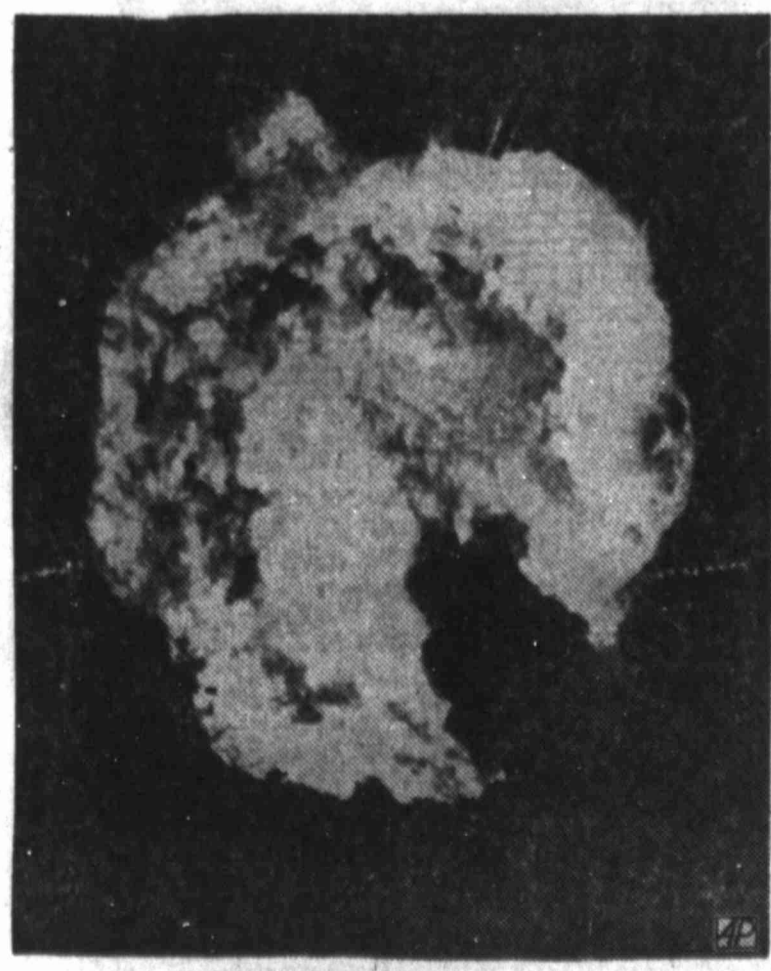

Mail Volume Still Growing

Postmaster Elmer Boatler said that the total number of pieces handled Thursday rose to 145,634, easily the biggest day of the season. This compared with 122,783 on the comparable day a year ago.

This pushed to 1,385,031 the number of pieces handled in December, narrowing the gap between the 1,439,679 for the same number of days a year ago.

Boatler reported the biggest increase at the moment was in Christmas cards. Some patrons, in their haste, are not getting the cards addressed properly. One batch showed up with Christmas seals, carefully addressed, but no return—and no postage.

Oak Cliff Voters Ballot Again In Liquor Election

DALLAS (AP)—Oak Cliff voters head for the polls today to decide once again whether they want legal sale of alcoholic beverages returned to their community.

The third local option election in four years is expected to pull 80,000 voters to the polls.

Residents will decide whether to legalize sales of all types of alcoholic beverages in Justice of the Peace Precinct 7. Hard liquor hasn't been legal in the area in modern times and the drys voted in 1956 to ban beer sales. They staved off an off-premises consumption vote on beer in 1957.

The drys, staging a relatively mild campaign, contend the return of alcoholic beverages is "immoral and deteriorating to our family neighborhood." The wets claim that "prohibition has hurt Oak Cliff economically."

Nixon Loses In Isles Recount

HONOLULU (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's popular vote margin over President-elect John F. Kennedy in Hawaii was reduced to 61 Thursday.

A recount of 34 of Hawaii's 240 precincts shaved the edge from 141, the figure which gave Hawaii to Nixon a month ago when the vote was certified. Hawaii has three electoral college votes.

Democrats here are expected to try for a total recount, although the electoral college meets Monday.

Nixon's total is now 92,408, Kennedy's 92,342.

DEAR ABBY

KING-SIZE BED

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After living with this 300-pound walrus for nine years I am almost ready to call it quits. He refuses to have anything but a double bed. I mentioned twin beds to him once and he put his fist through the screen door. His side of the bed is swayback, like a regular hammock. My side is all right, but I keep rolling over on his side. My back aches so bad in the day time I can hardly stand it. I know it's from that broken-down mattress. A new one wouldn't help because he'd break it down in no time. How do I get twin beds without causing the first divorce in my family? It's not the money. We can afford it.

ACHING BACK
DEAR ABBY: Haven't you ever heard of a king-sized bed, featuring a single headboard and two separate mattresses? Go shopping, lady. The furniture people have news for you.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has to have a cigarette in her hand every minute or she's not happy. Worse yet, she's careless and we have cigarette burns in all our furniture. She is always "missing" the ash tray. I could bring home the Grand Canyon for an ash tray and she'd miss that. When we go to visit friends, the hostess doesn't like to take her eyes off my wife for fear she'll burn the furniture. Can you say a few words in your column to let the missus know I love her and hate to nag but Oh, how I wish she'd quit smoking! She's not kissable any more.

DISCOURAGED

DEAR DISCOURAGED: You've said it all. See that "the missus" doesn't miss this column.

DEAR ABBY: Last week we moved into a new home and I've been working like a horse to get it in order. Yesterday I was down in the basement uncrating boxes when my doorbell rang. I couldn't have looked worse. In came five of my friends, all painted, powdered, hatted and gloved.

I was annoyed and had all I could do to hide it. I had to stop my work and fix coffee and visit with them all afternoon. When I asked why they didn't wait a little time to bathe and comb my hair, they said, "We didn't want you to go to any bother." Is it considered good manners to surprise a hostess this way or not?

SURPRISED AND ANNOYED
DEAR SURPRISED: I am surprised at the number of people who "surprise" hostesses with social calls. It's very poor manners.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SO IN LOVE": He may mean it when he says he loves you, but that doesn't mean he intends to leave his wife.

Labor Aide Has A Steel-Trap Mind

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even his opponents agree that Arthur J. Goldberg, the new secretary of labor, is a man with a steel-trap mind.

Goldberg, as general counsel of the United Steelworkers Union, argued labor's case last year before the Supreme Court in a dispute over a Taft-Hartley injunction to halt the marathon steel strike.

The court allowed the injunction to stand, and Goldberg lost his case. But after it was over, a steel company lawyer came up to him and said: "Of course you were all wrong, but you argued it so brilliantly."

And some of the Supreme Court justices themselves have been quoted as saying privately that they had never heard a more brilliant presentation in the great marble chamber.

But Goldberg is not a calculating machine. He smiles easily and for 25 years has gotten along well in the top echelons of big labor. He also is special counsel to the AFL-CIO and was one of those who implemented the merger of the two labor organizations.

At 52, Goldberg has graying hair, wears thick-framed black spectacles and dresses impeccably.

He was the youngest of eight children born to near-penniless immigrant parents in Chicago. He remembers what it is to be poor. He can be expected to play a leading role in the Kennedy administration's drive to raise minimum wages.

Goldberg worked his way through Northwestern Law School and made a scholastic record that stood for many years before it was matched. He was admitted to practice at the age of 21. From the beginning he was a labor lawyer.

The late Philip Murray brought him into his Steelworkers Union as counsel and later as general counsel to the CIO when Murray became its president.

During World War II Goldberg played a behind-the-scenes part in the Office of Strategic Services. He organized an espionage network of anti-Nazi labor union officials throughout Europe. By all accounts it was very effective.

Goldberg is credited with persuading Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Labor Secretary James F. Mitchell to step in actively to end the deadlock of the record 116-day steel strike that started last fall.

Goldberg is married to the former Dorothy Kurgans, a well known abstract painter. They have two children.

Chaplains Boost Guest Program

A successful Operation Christmas Guest will enable many single and unaccompanied persons at Webb AFB to spend an enjoyable Christmas Day at their "home away from home," announced Chaplain Benjamin F. Meacham, Wing chaplain.

Operation Christmas Guest is a program promoted by the base chaplains to get all single or unaccompanied Airmen, NCO's and student officers into private homes as guests for the day.

Families who will host one or more guests for Christmas dinner, or for the day, are urged to call the chaplain's office at their earliest convenience. Persons who desire to be guest of these families are also asked to call the chaplain's office.

Chaplain Meacham stated that all names should be in by Dec. 21.

City Officials Lower Tax Rate

WOLFFORTH, Tex. (AP)—City officials in this small West Texas town decided Thursday the city was getting more money than it needed.

Mayor E. R. Haskins, acting on the advice of the aldermen, announced that as of Jan. 1 the tax rate would be decreased from $1.10 to 80 cents per $100 valuation. The move was taken after aldermen found the city of about 800 persons had a surplus of funds.

Haskins said the new tax rate is about the lowest in West Texas.

Swift, Dry Norther Brings State Chill

Temperatures plunged below freezing across Texas early Friday in the wake of a swift, dry norther.

The cold front smashed into the Panhandle, moved rapidly across the state Thursday and carried on into the Gulf. Temperatures dropped sharply as the cold mass of air swept through the various sections of the state.

At 4 a.m. Friday Dalhart and Lubbock in the Texas Panhandle recorded 22 degrees. Temperatures, generally in the 20s and 30s, ranged to a high of 49 at Brownsville.

The norther cleared the turbulent skies which earlier in the week dumped rain, sleet, drizzle and snow over wide sections of the state.

Freezing temperatures were widespread Friday morning, ranging from the Panhandle to Texasiana in the northeast, San Angelo in the southwest, Abilene in the west, El Paso in the far west and other areas in between.

The early morning lows received by the U.S. Weather Bureau showed Lufkin with 32 degrees, Beaumont 38, Laredo and Houston 40, San Angelo 28, San Antonio 35, Austin 35, Waco 33, College Station 35, Dallas 31, Fort Worth 30, Mineral Wells 28, Abilene 27, Midland 28, El Paso 28, Amarillo 24, Wichita Falls 27, Childress 24, Longview 36 and Texarkana 29. Corpus Christi reported 44, Galveston 43.

Monkeying Around

Zoo foster-mother Sue Ross (left) turns a baby gorilla over to her successor, Sherry Elliott, but the little jungle tyke doesn't seem to want to go.

'Mother' Advises On Rearing Apes

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—How do you play foster-mother to an ape? "You learn his moods," says Sue Ross. "When he laughs, laugh with him. When he cries, comfort him."

mother to three baby gorillas at a San Diego zoo. But now she has out to get married. She passed the advice on how to be nurse and companion to the little jungle creatures to her successor, Sherry Elliott, 20.

Dog Finds His Family

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP)—Miles didn't mean a thing to Rudy when the Christmas season rolled around this year.

Rudy, a fine looking German shepherd dog, was turned over to a man at Tyler, in East Texas, two years ago by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Mrs. W. D. Skidmore said the family couldn't afford a strong fence for Rudy and had to give him to the SPCA.

But Tuesday, up early, Mrs. Skidmore saw a dog in her yard. "The dog looked just like Rudy," she said, "but it couldn't be. He was supposed to be in Tyler."

Tired and happy, it was Rudy all right, after a 100-mile hike from Tyler. "When I spoke his name, he made one big bounce up on the porch and jumped right up on me and started licking my face and carrying on something awful," said Mrs. Skidmore.

Rudy was home for Christmas and, the Skidmore's say, home to stay.

Other recommendations: Don't let him think he's boss. Young male gorillas like to feel they are. He'll act pretty tough for 10 minutes, then lose confidence and become despondent.

When thousands of people stare, laugh, jeer and make faces at him, he turns to his nurse for security. Give it to him.

Don't let him get bored. Keep him well oiled. Apes' skins dry up sitting on concrete all day in the sun.

Keep a diary of things he does. Inform the veterinarian if he appears sick.

And be extra friendly in the morning. Little apes wake up sometimes and think they are back in the jungle.

Christmas Has Haunting Notes For Fliers' Families

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP)—Tortured dreams, empty longings, a child's question unanswered. These are the haunting notes of Christmas this year for the families of seven American airmen imprisoned in the Soviet Union, missing or dead.

Their words, their plans, their letters are poignant with a sadness strange for the season but also vibrant with its hope. "May God bless and keep you." "We haven't given up." "How can you tell a child her daddy is missing?"

"It can't be like other Christmases for us." Yet, they're striving to recapture the spirit of the holiday. They'll gather around trees and dinner tables, with seats vacant and familiar voices gone. They're sending packages wrapped tenderly and mailed hopefully, far away.

THREE IN PRISON

Of the seven men three are known to be in Soviet prisons. One is dead. The remaining three were reported missing and presumed dead, but their wives and parents still cling to the thought that somewhere they live.

"I still dream about Oscar," said Maria Goforth of Topeka, Kan., wife of one of the missing, Lt. Oscar L. Goforth.

"Sometimes I see him in prison, sometimes he is starving and sometimes I dream that he is being beaten with a stick. I refuse to believe he is not alive. But I am afraid for what he is going through."

She plans to go to Puerto Rico to spend Christmas with relatives and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sola of Aguada.

Goforth, from Sardis Okla., was one of a six-man crew whose unarmed RB47 weather reconnaissance plane was shot down by the Russians over the Barents Sea north of Soviet territory last July 1.

SAID GOODBYE

They had said good-bye to their families early last June before going overseas.

Two of the others, Capt. Eugene E. Posa of Santa Monica, Calif., and Lt. Dean B. Phillips of Inwood, N. Y., are missing.

One, Capt. Willard G. Palm, the chief pilot whose widow lives in Topeka, was found dead.

One of the six, Capt. John R. McKone of Tonganoxie, Kan., and Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead of Plainfield, N. J., were captured and are in Moscow's Lubyanka Prison, awaiting trial on espionage charges.

The seventh airman, Francis Gary Powers of Pound, Va., also is in prison, serving a 10-year term for spying after his American U2 reconnaissance plane went down in the Soviet Union last spring.

"Christmas has always been such a joyful occasion for us, but it will not be this year," said his wife, Barbara Gay Powers, at her home at Millidgeville, Ga.

PLANS VISIT

"It will be very sad both for me and my husband. I really do not know what I shall do. Perhaps my mother and I will visit my sister in Albany, Ga., exchange gifts there and do what we can to dispel the sorrow."

She has sent Powers two gift packages, despite the high Soviet customs duty, which amounts to about $40 for each $10 valuation, she said. The gifts?

"Mostly warm clothing." On Christmas Day, Olmstead's parents will reread once more a cherished letter they recently received from their imprisoned son.

"I almost hesitate to write our traditional greetings in the light of all that has happened. Dad, you asked if you can do anything for me. Yes, there is—and I ask it from the bottom of my heart that you and mom will have a truly merry Christmas."

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Olmstead of Elmira, N. Y., have sent him a package—a box of Christmas candy, a new shirt, a parka and a Bible with his name embossed on the cover in gold.

WITH PARENTS

His wife, Gail, and their daughter, Karen, 19 months, are staying with her parents in Plainfield, N. J. They will attend a Baptist church there on Christmas day and then have a family dinner.

She has sent her husband a dark brown pullover sweater for Christmas, and a new photograph of Karen, but the distance leaves a desolate gap.

"Something more should be done," she said, "to get him home."

In Topeka, Mrs. John McKone plans the usual turkey dinner and gift giving for her three children, Cathy, 5; Lori, 2; and John II, 7 months. Her parents will be there and possibly her husband's parents, too, from Tonganoxie, Kan.

McKone wrote recently from prison: "Tell Lori that daddy said since he is gone she must be mom's good helper." And his wife is yearning for another letter—by Christmas.

PICTURES, RECORD

She has sent him an album of pictures and a seven-minute record of voices of their three children.

On the record, Kathy sings "Jesus Loves Me," occasionally ad libbing, "Jesus loves you." Lori half sings half says "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star," using her own pronunciation, "Twinka Twinka."

At one point, there is silence as Mrs. McKone tries in vain to get John to say something, then there is a yell, and the mother's voice comes in, "Lori just busted Johnnie on the nose with the milk."

"We are thankful you are alive and well and pray you will be home soon, very soon," Mrs. McKone says on the record. "Christmas won't be merry this year without you here."

Mrs. Willard G. Palm, of Topeka, whose husband was found dead and his body returned to this country, said she and her children, Michelle Marie, 11, and Timothy, 4, will have Christmas dinner at home with her mother.

NEW HOUSE

Patricia Phillips, wife of one of the missing, has just moved into a new house of her own in Sacramento, Calif., and will cook Christmas dinner there for daughter Roxanne, 20 months, and other relatives.

It will be a "partial" family reunion, she said, adding, "We have hopes, very high hopes that he's still all right."

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Phillips Jr., of Inwood, have no special plans for the day. "It's been a hard thing for them to live through," said an aunt.

Goforth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Goforth, a farm family in a remote mountain section of southeastern Oklahoma, refuse to talk about the situation to newsmen. A family spokesman says they have no plans for Christmas.

The Santa Monica parents of Posa, another of the missing, still are unaware of their son's fate. A brother said they are in their late 60s, and it is feared the information might be dangerous for them.

One of the wives, Mrs. Olmstead, is expecting a child in February, the second for her and Olmstead, and they're celebrating that, too, even though half a world apart.

DONALD H. CARR

Carr Family Is Transferred Back For Third Time

Three times in twice as many years marks up the score for Airman I.C. Donald H. Carr, who is now sitting behind his desk in Wing headquarters for the third time since 1954.

Airman Carr married his wife, Eunice, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Lee Hall, 1503 Main, in January, 1954 while on his first assignment at Webb. Ordered to Hawaii that year, he stayed three years, before being transferred back to Big Spring in 1957.

The couple now live at 304 W. 11th with their children, William, Michael, Steven, and Tommy.

Hodges Faces High Rent Spook

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Gov. Luther H. Hodges has glanced at personal considerations regarding his appointment as U.S. secretary of commerce and has made these observations:

1. It will mean a financial sacrifice.
2. Apartments are expensive in the nation's capital.

The governor told his news conference Thursday the prospect of a financial sacrifice does not disturb him. He said he would not have sought the job, "But you just don't turn it down when you know that your country needs the job done and the president-elect asks you to do it."

Hodges said jokingly, however, rent on a Washington apartment suitable for the position of commerce secretary costs "almost exactly what we will have left after taxes." The Commerce Department post pays $25,000 a year.

Romney Bares Bond Gimmick In Auto Sale

By BEN PHEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—The auto industry today studied with official comment George Romney's newest gimmick to sell more American Motors cars by offering buyers rebates of government savings bonds.

Romney announced the plan Thursday with a flourish in a news conference in a plush New York hotel. He called it sharing progress with the neglected consumer and invited the rest of the auto companies to join him.

Apparently there will be no mad rush to do so.

Privately, various auto men expressed the opinion that Romney's plan will create considerable interest and probably help his sales.

Romney is highly regarded by his competitors, both personally and as a shrewd business man. He is credited with singlehandedly selling the American public on the idea of a compact car—the size which currently is accounting for at least 30 per cent of all automobile sales.

Basically the program calls for a rebate of one $25 bond to each customer for each 10 per cent increase over last year's sales which American Motors accomplishes in the four months dating back to Dec. 1.

If sales increase 10 per cent, every buyer gets one $25 bond. If the increase is 20 per cent, $50 in bonds; 30 per cent means $75 in bonds; 40 per cent means $100 in bonds and 50 per cent or more means $125 in bonds.

The plan applies equally to buyers whether they purchase the tiny imported Metropolitan or the much larger Ambassador V8. But there are certain restrictions.

These include: Delivery must be made between Dec. 1 and March 31. The maximum payment is $125 in bonds. The program applies only in the United States. The rebate is not applied to cars bought by the government.

Kennedy Just Squeaked By

WASHINGTON (AP)—The complete official vote for the nation showed today that Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy squeaked through to victory with a popular plurality of only 111,987 in a record turnout of 68,833,254 voters on Nov. 8.

Kennedy's electoral vote margin stood, however, at 300 compared with 223 for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Republican, and 14 for Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., the choice of some Southern electors who ran unpledged. Majority needed for victory is 269.

Rhode Island turned in its official vote today to complete the national total, which divides this way:

Kennedy 94,221,355
Nixon 94,109,398
Others 902,501

Kennedy polled 50.1 per cent of the major party vote. Nixon got 49.9.

Kennedy's percentage of the total vote, however, was only 49.7. Nixon's was 49.8 and others 0.7.

Kennedy's plurality in popular votes is the smallest since 1984 when Democrat Grover Cleveland won by only 29,209 over Republican James G. Blaine.

Kennedy will be the 14th president to poll less than 50 per cent of the total vote.

Nepal King Ends Experiment In Democracy; Leaders Jailed

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—King Mahendra today pressed his purge of politicians in taking over strong-man powers with reports of widespread arrests including right wingers as well as Communists.

The monarch, 39, declared his primitive Himalayan Hindu kingdom, sandwiched between India and Communist-occupied Tibet, would maintain a policy of strict neutrality in world affairs.

Gurkha troops guarded the royal palace and government buildings, including the government station. A handful of soldiers patrolled the narrow streets which wind between Katmandu's ancient temples and ramshackle houses.

CAPITAL CALM

The capital was outwardly calm. But all Katmandu daily newspapers, except one, suspended publication today to protest the king's coup in arresting popular Premier B. P. Koirala and 10 of his 11 Cabinet ministers and suspending the constitution.

The young monarch's blow ending the experiment in parliamentary democracy he launched himself 18 months ago came with such suddenness that both the Nepalese and foreign diplomats were stunned. Nepal has a population of about eight million.

He charged the Koirala government with "failure to maintain law and order" and "harboring undesirable activity"—but did not spell out the charges.

RED, RIGHTIST

There were reports that Communist leader Pushpamal and Bharat Shamsler of the right-wing Gurka Parishad party had been rounded up along with other leaders of the ruling Nepali Congress Party. They were reported being held in the Army Officers' Club.

The king, who visited the United States earlier this year, returned only last month from a European tour.

(In Washington, U. S. State Dept.)

Body In Sack

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The body of a baby girl several days old was found in a sack by a road-side Thursday.

partment officials said the king's seizure of power appeared to be due to purely domestic issues. A spokesman said there was no indication that the mountain kingdom's foreign policy was involved, including its relations with Red China or the Soviet Union.

In New Delhi, Nepalese Ambassador S. J. B. Daman told reporters the king was forced to act because of popular discontent against the Koirala government. Daman said there had been popular resentment against taxes and land take-overs imposed by the Koirala government.

KEPT RIGHT

Under the constitution which he himself promulgated in February 1958, the king reserved the right to dismiss the government any time he felt it essential to maintain the country's law, order and sovereignty.

But there had been little advance notice that he felt these were in danger under Koirala whose Congress party held more than two-thirds of the seats in the Nepalese Parliament.

In the absence of specific charges the most likely appeared to be the uprising in September by a religious leader who headed a sect which traditionally advises Mahendra, a devout Hindu and the world's only ruling Hindu monarch.

The uprising took place at Gurkha, the ancient birthplace of Nepalese kings in West Nepal.

LOCAL FORCE

A holy man named Narharinath raised a local force to protest taxes imposed by the Koirala government. Narharinath's followers, armed only with sticks and stones, were easily put down when Koirala called out the militia.

Narharinath himself was arrested Oct. 29. He claimed at the time he acted with the king's support, but this was denied by the government. After Thursday's proclamation some observers tended to reassess Narharinath's claim.

Koirala was generally considered an energetic, progressive premier who sought to modernize his country's medieval economy with assistance from the United States, India, Communist China, the Soviet Union and anybody else who would contribute. He imposed new taxes and sought reform of land ownership in a country where, traditionally, this was the privilege of an aristocratic few.

But many of his ideas were new. Taxes met popular resistance and land reforms aristocratic resistance. Some observers whispered, too, that the king—who until last year held absolute power in his own hands—was disturbed, both by the authority Koirala had acquired and by the manner in which it was exercised.

BS Hosts Defending State Titlists At 8

Delnor Poss seeks to make giant-killers out of his youthful but ambitious Big Spring Steers here tonight.

The Longhorns, 4-4 on the season, challenge the mighty Lamesa Tornadoes at 8 o'clock in the local gym. The Tornadoes, coached by O. W. Follis, are not only defending state titlists in their class but are favorites to win the whole thing again.

The Lamesas have virtually their entire team back from last season and have been making it rough on all foes since play began. Follis' team brings a 5-2 won-lost record here but even that is deceptive. The Tornadoes have played some of the state's finest AAAA outfits.

Derby Day At Sunland

Seven hopefuls for the second renewal of the historic Texas Derby eye the old-fashioned bowler, and lush $5,000 prize money. The Texas Derby had five previous runnings at the old Arlington Downs Race Course near Dallas before being revived at Sunland last year. The Sunday classic is exclusively for three-year-olds and will be contested at a flat mile.

Texas-Owned Malaysia May Be Derby Choice

EL PASO—It's Derby Day at Sunland Park and nine top three-year-olds are ready to face starter Dean Turpitt for a $5,000 reward in the historic second renewal of the historic turf feature Sunday.

The race, exclusively for three-year-olds, will be contested at a flat mile. Ironically, a Texas-owned horse, Malaysia, is the probable favorite.

Property of the Lone Star Stable, which is comprised of 25 prominent El Paso and West Texas businessmen, Malaysia raced against top three-year-olds on the New York and Chicago circuit, including John Williams and Prince Blessed.

Attempting to emulate her two distaff predecessors, Go On is probably one of the sharpest horses in the contest. A five-time winner this season, she defeated a good field of three-year-olds, including Macdan, in her lone Sunland appearance two weeks ago. She has been asked to carry 114 pounds. Claud Davis will be in the irons.

E. T. Springer has made Darrah D a late supplemental entry by paying a $200 fee. The vastly improved daughter of Drumhead will be the second filly in the race and would be given a royal chance to win it all if the track conditions come up muddy.

A superior stretch runner, Darrah D is the lightweight of the field at 107. She is one of two New Mexico bred, in the derby. She will be guided by apprentice rider Billy Wilson.

Finals In Sands Tournney Set For Saturday Night

ACKERLY — Championship finals in the annual Sands Union High School Basketball Tournament get under way at 7:30 and 8:45 p.m. Saturday.

Union with 15 points, Lemon led Flower Grove with four; Ira 22 Knott 11, Calvio led Ira with 24 points. Alexander led Knott with eight; Wellman 24 Dawson 24, Rodriguez led Wellman with nine points, Baty led Dawson with ten.

MacDan, winner of the New Mexico Futurity last year, has been rounding to form slowly but appears to be reaching his peak. Owned by Dan L. Williams of Las Cruces, the handsome roan, a New Mexico bred, was second, behind Go On, in the El Paso Times purse at 5 1/2 furlongs and should find the added distance to his liking. He scored at seven furlongs at Ruidoso last summer.

Today's schedule: KNOTT GYM—Hobbs vs Ira (girls), 5 p.m.; Hobbs vs Ira (boys), 6 p.m.; Coahoma vs Vealmoor (girls), 7 p.m.; Coahoma vs Vealmoor (boys), 8 p.m. SANDS GYM—Flower Grove vs Wellman (girls), 5 p.m.; Loraine vs Wellman (boys), 6 p.m.; Loraine vs Sands (girls), 7 p.m.

Girls Bracket—Ira 20 Sands B 15; Wellman 37 Dawson 13; Vealmoor 32 Klondike 24; Flower Grove 24 Loraine 17; Coahoma 26 Hobbs 15; Union 30 Center Point 20; Sands 28 Garden City 26.

Trainer Archie Morgan is sending Fligh Piece after his third straight victory with Don Lewis at the helm. The fast-improving chestnut gelding arrived at Sunland a maiden and now looks a possibility to win the Derby and the three-year-old championship of the meeting.

Here are the results of Thursday's games: BOYS BRACKET—Union 27 Flower Grove 13, Douglass led the overtime Miller hit a long two-handed set shot from the corner with just two seconds left.

Jayhawks Seek 9th Victory

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks seek their eighth basketball victory in ten starts Saturday night, at which time they play a return game with Cisco JC in Cisco.

Bill Edwards and Charles Knotts playing the post positions and Kenneth Clearman, Larry McElyea and Ronald Weaks, outside.

In the previous game against the Wranglers, HC won by the score of 95-57. HC's only two losses this season have come at the hands of San Angelo College and the Hawks get a chance at partial revenge Tuesday night, at which time they host the Rams.

The game against San Angelo Tuesday will be the last one for HCJC before the annual Howard County Tournament Dec. 29-30-31.

Her's HCJC's record to date: HCJC vs Lubbock 44-48, HCJC vs Odessa 59-39, HCJC vs San Angelo 74-44, HCJC vs Cisco 57-45, HCJC vs San Angelo 77-41, HCJC vs Del Mar 61-52, HCJC vs Victoria 62-48, HCJC vs Lee 71-40, HCJC vs Allen Academy 60-48.

McMillan Is Traded To Milwaukee Cub

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, Milwaukee Braves and Cincinnati Reds have completed the biggest inter-league trade of the season in deals involving three front-line pitchers and two infielders.

In midnight telephone negotiations, 24 hours before tonight's inter-league trading deadline, the clubs made these switches:

1. The Braves sent hurlers Juan Pizarro and Roy Jay to the Reds for infielder Roy McMillan and a minor league player to be named later.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Clifford Goodspeed of Big Spring was pulling for Jacksonville over all other teams in the high school football playoffs.

Goodspeed, employed as a draftsman by the Wacker stores, was a member of Jacksonville's last championship team—the 1952 outfit. He played guard.

Mrs. Goodspeed performed on some championship girls' basketball club at Gallatin, which is right outside Jacksonville.

Clifford's brother, Don, took part in the last Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament.

When Memphis State knocked off Baylor University in basketball recently, the ex-Big Spring, Harold Henson, scored four points for the Bears. The final tab was 74-58.

Duke hasn't played the kind of ball that catches the imagination of the football-going public. And Duke officials are threatening not to let their students off for the Jan. 2 game. There will be no school at Durham on that Monday but students are supposed to be on campus the following morning and no one reasons he can make it back from Dallas in time. Duke was allotted 3,500 tickets for the game.

Of course, Duke's defeat at the hands of UCLA in its final game didn't help. Some say the loss by the Blue Devils (their third in ten starts) was the biggest blow to Texas pride since Alaska became a state.

The Dallas people may wind up selling tickets to each other, just as they did when TCU played in the Cotton Bowl a few years ago and no one in Frogville took the trouble to purchase decals for the game.

The visiting writers reacted more favorably to the treatment they were accorded in the press box at Memorial Stadium here during the Denver City-Anson playoff game than at any time since the stadium has been built.

The local schools, which handled the chore of hosting the press, are deserving of praise for the job they did. The undertaking is professional in every respect and is sure to pay dividends.

Anti-Reds Push Drive Against Leftists in Laotian Capital

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Gen. Phoumi Nosavan's anti-Communist forces today to expel remaining leftist troops from the embattled capital of Laos. Artillery fire was reported ranking the city, Vientiane.

The right-wing high command at Savannakhet broadcast a declaration that it will take two more days to clean out pockets of die-hard leftist resistance in Vientiane. The broadcast said retreating pro-Communist are using private homes as hideouts from which to harass Phoumi's forces.

The pro-Communist Pathet Lao radio claimed, however, that Capt. Kong Le's leftist forces were holding their positions against Phoumi. But the Pathet Lao broadcast conceded that its latest information was as of Thursday morning.

More than 300 foreigners, including 135 Americans, arrived in Bangkok after a dramatic flight from the embattled Laotian capital across the northern Thai border. The refugees ran a gauntlet of shellbursts and sniper fire to cross the Mekong River into Thailand.

The group included several American women.

American informants claimed Communists or Communist North Vietnamese were serving the guns, laying precision fire across the center of the city.

"I have helped train Laotian artillerymen and have never seen them shoot like this before," one American said.

The U. S. State Department pledged Thursday full support to the new Laotian government of Phoumi.

4 Road Jobs Ahead For 1961 Program

Four culvert and widening jobs are ahead for Howard County in the State Highway Department's 1961 program of safety and betterment work.

Announcement of Highway Commission approval of $194,000 expenditures in the county was made by J. C. Roberts, district engineer in Abilene. The work will be under supervision of Joe Smoot, resident engineer in Colorado City.

Projects listed for Howard County are:

- FM 700—Construction of culvert in Big Spring, between Grafa and 11th Place, cost $10,000.

Prince Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi and promised assistance if necessary for Laos to maintain its freedom.

Fragmentary radio reports from British and American diplomats holed up in the battleground capital indicated Phoumi had consolidated his hold on the southern section of the battered and burning city.

Phoumi's troops were reported driving on the northwestern sector where pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas and paratroopers under the command of Capt. Kong Le kept a foothold. Pockets of resistance slowed mopping up action.

Dispatches from Savannakhet, the rightist headquarters, said Phoumi had surveyed the city by helicopter and reported that troop-laden trucks were leaving the airport, a few miles outside the city, a possible indication that the leftists were retreating to the jungle.

Phoumi claimed his 1st Paratroop Battalion had spearheaded troops to the airport, where the main body of about 2,000 leftists is concentrated.

Phoumi's army is estimated at about 2,000, but all his forces may not be engaged.

As the battle for the Laotian capital went into its fourth day, hundreds of American, Filipino, Thai and Vietnamese refugees fled across the frontier into Bangkok.

Americans, including women, crawled on their stomachs from the burning U.S. Embassy Thursday to escape a hail of small arms fire, the U.S. Operations Mission in Vientiane reported. It said the fire came from Kong Le's red-beretted paratroopers in a nearby graveyard.

The embassy was razed by shell fire and by flames which spread from a nearby building. Ten or more other buildings were damaged or gutted by shellfire in the center of the city.

Move To Break Congo Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—India and Yugoslavia moved today to break the Congo deadlock here with a plan that would place Congolese troops under U.N. Command and free Patrice Lumumba. The scheme was given little chance of winning support from East or West.

The resolution was slated to go before the General Assembly when it meets to give a full airing to the explosive Congo question.

The Indian-Yugoslav proposal closely resembled the peace plan which Ceylon and Tunisia tried to put through the Security Council earlier this week but pulled back when they failed to muster support from either side.

One new feature in the current resolution is the recommendation to place Congolese troops under the United Nations. The Western Powers are expected to oppose this on the grounds that it would constitute interference in the domestic affairs of the Congo. The Russians are against giving any more authority to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's Congo operation.

The plan also would:

1. Take immediate steps to release all political prisoners, including Lumumba, deposed Congo premier. The West also would oppose this.
2. Take immediate steps to reconvene the Congo Parliament. The United States has insisted that it is only a rump Parliament and that many of the deputies won't come out of hiding because they have been terrorized.
3. The Congo debate is expected to touch all phases of the thorny issue and dredge up all the East-West cold war charges that dominated the Security Council session which wound up in deadlock Tuesday.

Informed Western sources said the Soviet Union will try to keep the assembly's Congo debate going right up until Christmas, if it can, then demand that it be tossed back into the lap of the Security Council.

However, many African nations, including most of those in the French Community, are said to have a stomach full of Soviet tactics on the Congo issue. Delegates believe they will throw their considerable weight against any further attempts to make the question a cold war football.

A possible showdown neared on the disputed Congo financing question.

The United States has warned it will pull back its voluntary contributions of about $14 million to this year's Congo bill, unless all U. N. members are legally bound to pay.

The Budgetary Committee defeated a Polish move to delete a paragraph in the Congo financing resolution which would make the Congo costs a legal obligation. The Polish amendment was defeated in committee—40 against, 27 for and 17 abstentions.

This raised a question whether the West could muster the necessary two-thirds to kill it in the assembly.

Delegates are watching closely to see whether the United States pulls back its voluntary contribution if the Polish amendment goes through the assembly.

Move To Break Congo Deadlock

LONDON (AP)—A broadcast over the Addis Ababa radio claimed today the rebel government set up in opposition to Emperor Haile Selassie has been overthrown.

The broadcast, heard in Nairobi, Kenya, said the announcement was made on orders of Maj. Gen. Merid Mengesha, who had been deposed as a traitor Thursday by a rebel-controlled station.

The exact situation in Addis Ababa still was obscure. Resident correspondents had been unable to get news out.

But Haile Selassie himself, ready to fight for his throne and blaming "irresponsible persons" for the rebellion, apparently was in or near Addis Ababa, his capital.

A loyalist "Voice of Ethiopia" broadcast reported his back. A similar broadcast earlier from Mengesha, then transmitting over a clandestine station, had reported the "Lion of Judah" back in Ethiopia.

In nearby French Somaliland French News Agency monitors heard the "Voice of Ethiopia" say army units faithful to the emperor had routed the insurgents.

The Ethiopian Embassy in London said the emperor, hurrying home from a state visit to Brazil, had left Khartoum, in the Sudan, adjacent to Ethiopia.

Before leaving Liberia to continue his flight homeward, Selassie expressed confidence peace will soon return to his northeast African country.

"The confused situation in Addis Ababa," he said in a statement, "is something that will soon pass. Such confusion is caused always by irresponsible persons and we believe that this is the case in Addis Ababa."

6 Traffic Mishaps Leave No Injuries

No injuries were reported in six traffic accidents, including a hit-and-run, a one-car accident and another involving three cars, investigated by police during the past 24 hours.

A car owned by Raymond G. Robertson, 404 Birdwell, was struck by an unknown driver during the night. The car was parked in front of the Robertson house.

Thomas P. Bankston, 206 NE 12th, rammed the east viaduct, at the north end.

A three-car collision in the 200 block of West 4th involved Irma Myrick Raney, 1505 1/2 Main, Herbert Ward, 605 Nolan, and Juanita Manchi, Orangeburg, S.C.

Jaime Morales, 2402 Alabama, and Leslie Steward, 1516 Sumner, were in collision at 10th and Owens.

Billie McWilliams, Webb AFB, and Raymond Joseph Junion, 3312 Auburn, collided at Avion and FM 700.

William Louis Vaughn, 220 Mobile, was in collision with Kenneth Wayne Cook, 903 Burnells, in the 200 block of West 4th.

Cake Sales Go To Town

Members of the Big Spring High School band are carrying their fruit cake sale downtown.

The trailer, which normally houses the supply of stadium pillows which Band Boosters rent at ball games, has been parked on the west side of Zales Jewelry. Band members will be on hand from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m. today and all day Saturday.

It is possible that the project may be continued part of next week. Net proceeds from sale of the quality cakes ($3.70, $5.25 and $8.25 for 2, 3 and 5-pounds) go to the Band Boosters fund for uniforms, band trips, special activities, etc.

Ethiopian Emperor Back To Rally Aid

The Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie returned to his capital, Addis Ababa, today after a long absence. He was seen in a public square, surrounded by cheering crowds. The Emperor's return is seen as a significant event for the Ethiopian people.

cast over what appeared to be a secret radio station, reported the emperor had returned but did not say where.

The Ethiopian consul general in Nairobi, Kenya, said he had a report from Addis Ababa that the emperor had returned to the city and called on the rebels to surrender to avoid bloodshed.

The Ethiopian ambassador-designate at Lagos, Nigeria, also claimed that Selassie had arrived in his homeland Thursday night.

Neither Mengesha nor the Ethiopian diplomat said where Selassie landed, and their reports were unconfirmed.

Similar reports Thursday attributed to the Ethiopian Embassy in Rome proved false.

A dispatch from Port Lamy, Chad, in central Africa, made it seem possible that the emperor was back in his kingdom, however. The dispatch said Selassie had landed at Fort Lamy Thursday night and continued his journey eastward, intending to land in Asmara, Eritrea, where forces loyal to him apparently are in control. There is a large air base there.

Cairo dispatches said radio communications with Asmara airport were suddenly cut today.

Selassie landed briefly at Roberts Field in Liberia late Thursday on a flight from Brazil, after cutting short a state visit to that South American country. He took off again.

Violent gun battles raged Thursday in the narrow streets of Addis Ababa, the capital, and the Ethiopian radio said several civilians had been killed or wounded in an "inhuman massacre."

Reports trickling through broadcasts and from foreign diplomats in Ethiopia said there also had been hand-to-hand fighting in Asmara, capital of Eritrea, and Harar, capital of the country's largest province.

FIGHTING BEGAN

Ethiopian Ambassador Tefari Chareou in Stockholm, who said the revolutionary government was "non-Communist and neutral," reported that the fighting broke out when word spread that the emperor was hastening back home.

Gen. Abiyeh Abebe, governor of Eritrea, messaged the London embassy that his province remained under control and loyal to the emperor.

He claimed the rebellion was confined to Addis Ababa and that an infantry battalion and a squadron of planes stationed at Asmara were ready to act in behalf of the emperor.

The London embassy said troops in Harar city also remained loyal to the emperor.

A rebel broadcast claimed, however, that cadets at Harar's Military Academy had revolted and imprisoned their officers.

ROME (AP)—The Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie returned to his capital, Addis Ababa, today after a long absence. He was seen in a public square, surrounded by cheering crowds. The Emperor's return is seen as a significant event for the Ethiopian people.

Rahm May Take Stand Today To Tell His Own Story

ORANGE (AP)—Dr. Charles C. Rahm is expected to take the stand in his own defense today to give his version of the June 16 Brownsboro School Board free-for-all which ended in the death of Thurman Jackson.

In testimony Thursday, School Board President Ivan Long said he and Dr. Rahm, charged with shooting Jackson, each bought a gun before the meeting because they expected trouble.

Long said when Rahm attempted to adjourn the meeting and was met with opposition, someone grabbed him (Long) from behind and knocked him to the floor.

Another witness, Thomas Walker, said a Brownsboro man, Bill Barton, hit Long and then someone struck Rahm over the head with a chair. "Three men went for him and there was much fighting, but when the gun went off all the fighting stopped," Walker said.

Under cross examination, Clarence Jackson said he could not recall whether he hit Rahm. He said also he could not remember whether Henderson County Deputy Sheriff Charles Majors told him "If you kick Dr. Rahm again I'll shoot you."

Jackson gave this account of the shooting of his brother Thurman.

"I heard two shots and my brother say 'I am shot. I am shot.' I saw Rahm standing in an unbalanced position, gun in his right hand. I grabbed him, hitting his body with mine, and grabbed his right arm so he couldn't shoot me."

Jackson, under cross examination, denied any ill-feeling toward Rahm because the osteopath had charged his son, William Richard

Jackson, with disturbing the peace.

A spectator at the school board meeting, George Rash, showed the court how he struck Rahm on the back of the head with a walking cane after the shooting.

Deputy Sheriff Truman Whitehead testified that Rahm was at the door of the board meeting when he asked deputies to help him get out of the room safely.

The witness said Rahm turned and went back into the room after remarking, "I asked for protection and I didn't get it."

Judge Homer E. Stephenson earlier overruled a motion by defense attorney Charles Tessmer for an instructed verdict of innocent and mistrial.

Webb Hospital Gets Donation

An improved method of cancer detection will soon be in use at the women's ward of the Webb AFB Hospital, thanks to a $350 gift from the NCO Wives Club.

The equipment is a fluorescent staining device which will enable the hospital to examine women quicker and more accurately than present techniques permit.

"It will benefit all dependents at this base," said Lt. Col. Robert A. Wiener, hospital commander, in accepting the cash donation from Mrs. Foster L. Kemp and Mrs. H. J. Groves. According to Col. Wiener, equipment of this kind is not standard, therefore is not available through supply channels.

With 'Merry Christmas' And Wink, Meets Death

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—With a "Merry Christmas" and a wink, Ray Allen Young went to the electric chair Thursday night for slaying a highway patrolman.

Young, 34, of Altus, was electrocuted for shooting John Barter Jan. 23, 1959. Barter had gone to investigate gunfire on a country road.

Just before he sat down in the execution chair at 10 p.m. Young paused and told warden Robert Raines in low tones: "I wish you all a Merry Christmas and I have no ill feelings toward anyone."

Then, just before the first shock of electricity, he winked at the Rev. Joseph Boucher, Catholic chaplain at the prison, and smiled faintly.

Young's final plea for clemency was rejected earlier this week. Young later said, "I am not afraid to face the electric chair. I would rather die than waste my life away inside these walls."

Most of Young's last 30 minutes were spent in prayer in his cell with Father Boucher.

Tax Bill Fell Short

AUSTIN (AP)—The 1959 tax bill fell far short of producing the $96 million it was expected to yield in its first year, the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy says.

The collection of increased levies and new taxes brought in only $73.9 million in usable money during the 1959-60 fiscal year, the commission said in a report.

The new tax law included new selective sales taxes, a new tax on tobacco products, a hotel tax, a severance beneficiary tax on natural gas, and increases in cigarette, wine, liquor, motor vehicle, franchise and utilities tax rates.

The gap between spendable income from the 1959 tax bill was widened by the $7.8 million collected under protest from the natural gas tax. The tax is now being tested in the courts and the money cannot be used until the tax is finally held legal.

Another disappointment item in the new tax law was the three cent hike in the cigarette tax. The increase brought a raise in revenue of $26.5 million. The legislature estimated it would yield $33.4 million.

The tax report said the increase in the cigarette tax from five to eight cents caused more people than anticipated to cut down on smoking.

'Little U. S.' Colony Finds Itself At Home In Britain

EDITOR'S NOTE: A recent presidential directive trimming the number of servicemen's dependents overseas has caused a stir in both military and marital circles and poses the question: What's life really like for these displaced Americans? Here's a report from England.

By RONALD THOMSON
ALCONBURY, England (AP)—A jet plane screamed through the sky and set glasses drumming in the little pub where the sign read: "American Spoken Here."

Not a man at the bar stirred. Outside, a plowman scarcely bothered to look up. His horse plodded on, too unmoved.

This is East Anglia—a sort of Little America on the rich, dark soil of rural England.

The whine of a jet is as familiar as the chug of a tractor. And the accents of New England and the Deep South are as common as the rough dialect of the local country folk.

A network of U.S. and British air bases, many equipped with deadly rockets, runs through the flat, bleak and marshy countryside.

Just outside the city of Huntingdon, near a place called Upper Stukeley, stands one of the most important bases in Little America—Alconbury, headquarters of the 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing of the U.S. Air Force in Europe.

CHILLY PLATEAU
More than 7,000 American men, women and children live on or around this chilly plateau where the Stars and Stripes waves in a howling wind.

Alconbury, an oasis of the United States, radiates the American way of life. Its influence has in many ways changed the surrounding countryside.

One of England's few motels operates within a mile or two of the base. Shops in nearby towns price their goods in British pounds—and the equivalent in dollars.

The quaint old pubs now stock ice—something of a revolution in a land where beer is taken tepid.

"Not that we want the English people to change just because we're here," says Capt. Robert M. Bussjaeger of St. Joseph, Mo.

"As a matter of fact, I like the English beer just the way it is—kind of warm."

LANGUAGE
Most of the Americans found the English a little hard to understand at first.

"Their reserve used to puzzle us," says Lt. Thomas W. Armstrong of Dallas. "You know, this business about having to be introduced before you get talking."

"I'll never forget the first time I went into an English pub. There were three or four of us Americans and, from outside, we could hear people talking and laughing."

"But when we went in the door, the noise just snapped off. Nobody spoke. When we walked up to the bar we felt as if we were throwing out waves of silence all around. It wasn't very comfortable and we didn't stay long."

"Well, the next time we went back things seemed a little easier. It took us three visits to get accepted, but it was worth waiting for. Now the regulars gather round whenever we go in and everybody has a lot of fun. One of the boys goes down there Saturday nights to keep bar."

FRIENDLY
There is little or no anti-American feeling in East Anglia, where the free-spending Yanks have done a lot to make the area prosperous.

"There is absolutely no personal hostility," says Capt. Bussjaeger. "Even when someone writes a letter to the papers criticizing the United States, it's nearly always another Briton who replies for the defense."

Alconbury is the nerve center and control headquarters for the wing, which occupies other bases at Chelveston, Molesworth and Bruntingthorpe, 60 miles away. It's a widespread operation that costs upward of $12 million a year.

At Alconbury, you find the bowling alley and the barber shop, the stream of big American automobiles, the stores and movie theater, the handsome school, the gymnasium and library, the chapel and the cafe.

A REAL TOWN
For hundreds of families, the base is like a real town—the place where they have their own house, where Dad goes to work, the kids go to school and Mom does her shopping.

But there are only a limited number of American-style houses on the base so about 1,500 men and their families have to rent houses and apartments in nearby towns and villages. Rentals range from $50 to $150 a month and base authorities make sure no one gets taken by unscrupulous landlords.

Most American families live a considerable distance from the base—an average of 22 miles away. On the winding, narrow English roads that can often take more than an hour to cover.

LEFT SIDE
And, of course, you have to get used to driving on the left side of the road. With 1,500 American cars covering an estimated 60,000 miles a day around the base, it's small wonder that accidents occur.

Councilmen in nearby Cambridge recently expressed concern over the accident rate to Col. James D. Kemp, cigar-smoking commander of the wing.

"We're taking strong action to cut the number of driving offenses by our personnel," Col. Kemp says. "Every accident is specially reviewed by our own traffic advisory board. And we can be tough if we want to."

Attractive, dark-haired Mrs. Phyllis Conway of Huntington Park, Calif., who lives with her husband and three children on the base, has been surprised and pleased by her experience of living in England.

STILL STRANGE
"Of course," she says, "some things still seem very strange. How the English people get along without central heating in their homes amazes me.

"But life here is different in many pleasant ways. There isn't the same frantic rush—the whole pace of life is more relaxed. I like that."

Mrs. Conway's oldest child, 15-year-old Kathleen, goes to school at the U. S. Lakenheath base, 40 miles from Alconbury. It means rising soon after 6 a.m., leaving home at 7 and getting back at 5 p.m. each night—a wearing schedule for a teen-ager.

But that is nothing unusual for American children in this part of the world.

A fleet of buses brings them from their homes to the schools at Alconbury and other bases.

For many of the kids it means up to four hours traveling a day.

U. S. TEACHERS
The children, more than 1,250 of them, are taught exclusively by American teachers. Most of the 51 teachers live in Cambridge and commute by car to and from the base schools.

One of the most striking demonstrations of local Anglo-American understanding was spurred by Maj. Noah M. Dixon, commander of the 10th Tactical Hospital.

Early this year, Maj. Dixon—who was born in Springfield, Ill., and had a medical practice in Monroe, Wis., before joining the Air Force in 1954—invited a handful of British and American physicians to his home for an informal discussion of medical problems.

The meeting led to the formation of the Anglo-American Medical Society, which now has more than 200 members and recently held its first formal meeting in Cambridge.

It's only to be expected, however, that Alconbury and its sister bases have prompted some local complaints. The chief one is noise.

Col. Kemp—a powerfully built man who was born in Spring Ranch, Neb., and raised in Roman, Mont.—has developed a way of handling noise complaints from the local folk.

His officers make a personal call on the sufferer and explain what is being done to deaden the din—and why some noise is unavoidable.

"Usually this approach is welcomed by the complainant, who just wants to be sure we are not ignoring his troubles," Col. Kemp says.

WELL HANDLED
At one local meeting attended by Col. Kemp, a heckler jumped up and denounced the U.S. Air Force for inventing jets and bringing them to his once-peaceful part of England.

Kemp chuckled as he recalled how the English chairman of the meeting handled the interruption. "My dear fellow," the chairman told the heckler, "I am sure you must have forgotten that Sir Frank Whittle invented the jet engine just down the road from here."

It was a crushing reply that at the same time stimulated the pride of the audience—reminding them of England's own responsibility for the initial development of jet flying.

Reasons For Failure

1. Some fail in the Christian life because they do not worship, either at home or in the services. Men must live close to the Lord to succeed. (Jas. 4:7, 8.)

2. Some fail because they neglect the Word. Without study, one's faith cannot grow (Rom. 10:17). Do not fail to attend the Bible classes and preaching services, nor forget to study at home!

3. Some are half-hearted about following Christ. No man can serve two masters (Matt. 6:24). Christ will occupy only one position in our hearts—the first position.

4. Others fail because they get discouraged, and do not get up once they have fallen. Peter once denied his Lord; but he repented. If you have fallen, simply get up and start over. The first thing is to start coming to the services to hear the Word. The power to save is in the Word (Rom. 1:16).

Sermons today at West Highway 80: "The Earnestness of Others" (10:30) and "Seeking Godly Pearls" (7:30). Welcome. —Adv.

A Devotional For Today

This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 3:13, 14.)

PRAYER: Lord God Almighty, Father of all men, give us victory over all things that hinder us in our faith. Grant us the courage to maintain our reliance upon Thee. In our Redeemer's name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Meritorious But Unlikely

Noting that a merit system of paying teachers will be proposed to the next Legislature, Richard Moseley, writer for the Dallas News, observes that it is highly doubtful that anything will come of the idea. The influential Texas State Teachers Association is not opposed to the idea, but it is not much hotter than lukewarm for it, either. The association's position is that it is necessary to get teachers up to a living level before a merit plan can be established for additional pay.

H. B. Zachary, San Antonio contractor, thinks one can. Charlie E. Simons, Dallas member of the Hale-Aikin Committee, which recommended a teacher pay hike two years ago, sees the idea as impractical because administrators believe it won't work, either for superior teaching or for teaching tougher subjects.

There will be more talk of this, because of its incentive values, but its realization is a long way off, if ever. The thesis that the local district can use its funds to give that extra incentive pay for merit teaching is full of holes, for that money is now being used and will continue to be added to whatever base the state provides to bid for teachers. The most merit at the moment seems to be in obtaining a complete, qualified faculty.

Welcome Measure Of Relief

While a long way from desired levels, the continuation of the nine-day oil production pattern will afford a measure of relief to most operators. The margin is so close for many small independents that even one day can make a lot of difference in their ability to meet that note at the bank.

improvement continues. However, in the main, the petroleum industry may be seeing the gradual dawning of a better day. The sheer statistics of our national growth argue for an eventual recovery, but the road up will have its dips as well as its inclines.

Chairman E. O. Thompson observed that there was a demand for Texas Oil and that Texas should supply it. "If we do not... other states will promptly fill it."

"It is high time that some other states show some restraint in production," he added. True, very true. Texas has too long carried the brunt of seeking to maintain a stable oil industry.

The Cost Of Changing Government

WASHINGTON — This seems to be a period of hesitation.

The United States government is hesitating because one administration is going out and another is coming in.

The other governments of the world are hesitating, too—they wonder what Washington will do.

President-elect Kennedy has been hesitating also—he has sought to keep peace in his political family and yet get some advisers who will be team players.

BUSINESS IS hesitating as it wonders what the future will bring by way of governmental regulation or legislation, and what the impact on the purchasing power of the dollar will be if a new administration in Washington embarks on fiscal policies involving heavy expenditures and restrictions on the export of gold.

Unemployment appears to be increasing. Calling the present decline in business a "recession" or a "readjustment" does not help matters. What is important is whether something definite showing an upward movement of business will appear soon on the horizon to start "recovery."

THERE IS PLENTY of discussion as to what caused the stagnation in various businesses. There is, of course, an interrelationship between different parts of the economy. The steel strike hurt the economy and threw it out of gear. But there are in the background other serious factors that have long been developing. Foreign trade, for instance, is a big percent of American business nowadays, and to upset it causes a hesitation all along the line.

THE ERTWHILE critics are already beginning to sibil. They say that gold exports have been a problem for some time and that the administration should have "done something about it before." The truth is the American government has been pressured by the same critics into more and more spending abroad and an outflow of gold on the theory that this would gain friends and preserve peace by giving us bases or by assuring us of allies who have potential bases to put at our service. The idea has been that this was one way to halt the march of Communism and to win the "cold war." But Moscow is today getting a ghoulish comfort out of the economic troubles of the United States and the far-reaching effect it may have on world policy.

ALREADY the school of thought which believes in financial "gimmicks" is urging a tax cut or more money for "depressed" areas. The idea that a balanced budget is an "obsession" is voiced by many a pro-

Changes And Challenges For Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—In his inaugural address on Jan. 20, 1961, the new president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, spoke of "this century of trial."

It has been more than a time of trial. It has been a century of fantastic changes and of challenges without precedent, even in Eisenhower's eight years in the White House.

No one has more reason for concern about them than President-elect John F. Kennedy, since he must face both the changes and the challenges. Just to note a few, in the first 60 years of this century:

THE RISE OF communism in Asia and Africa, the disappearance of almost all the monarchies, the emergence of dozens of new nations from colonialism in Asia and Africa, the changing concept of war to missiles with hydrogen warheads that can be fired across oceans or from under them.

This is the world Kennedy inherits and must cope with. The changes came in a rush in Eisenhower's prominent years.

As Allied commander in Europe in World War II he could have smashed Nazi Germany in a couple of weeks if he had had an atomic bomb. But he didn't.

Yet within a few weeks after Germany gave in the United States developed enough atomic bombs—two of them—to end the war with Japan. At war's end this country was the richest and thanks to the bombs, the most powerful.

MOST OF THE rest of the world was broke and prostrate. Yet, by the time Eisenhower took office

IN THE UNITED NATIONS the African section in 1946 had only three members: Egypt, Liberia, and Ethiopia, plus the white-ruled Union of South Africa. Now it holds more seats than any other area: 25. Sixteen African nations have been admitted to the United Nations in the present session alone.

So the problems facing Kennedy abroad will be vastly more complex than those confronting Eisenhower when he first took office.

For Ronald launches into a saga of one man's struggle against Nature. He tells of the lonely two-wheeled trudge through snowdrifts, the epic wait at the rail port for a train, when shivering suburbanites set fire to their newspapers to keep warm, the ordeal of being stuck in a tunnel later, and the final dash to the office.

Despite all this padding, Ronald enters the office blue-cheeked with cold and with a nose that resembles an overripe tomato.

"Where did you park your sled dogs?" a comfort-loving city dweller asks him.

Ronald may not heed as, with shaking hands, he removes his top layer of Y.M.C.A. gym socks, then peels off a sweat shirt bearing the insignia, "Fort Dix Stockade," a poignant reminder of his war with the Army.

Methodically he removes his red hunting cap, and silently massages his frozen ears.

"How is life out in the wilderness?" the city dweller inquires.

Around The Rim

Alexander's Mad Whirlpool

Alexander the Great was really a sharp cookie, as his cool strategy at the battle of Arbela proves.

Already, he had defeated Darius, the Persian emperor, in a prior battle, and his army now wended its way along the Middle Eastern coastline of the Mediterranean occupying the Greek colonies and Egypt. Then Darius, drawing upon the entire might of his empire which had extended from Ethiopia to India, advanced upon Alexander's line near Arbela.

With Darius were one million infantry, 40,000 cavalry, 200 chariots with scythes appended to their wheels, and 15 armored elephants. Alexander met the Persians with 40,000 foot soldiers and 7,000 horsemen.

THE MACEDONIAN studied the situation and then slyly withdrew his forces into a narrow strip of beach protected on one side by the sea, on the other by an impassable range of rocky hills. The opening into the strip was narrow and rocky. He formed his phalanx across the middle of his strip, and ranged his cavalry at the flanks and in reserve center. Darius and his armies surged into the strip en masse.

Alexander's strategy was based on a shrewd evaluation of the makeup of Darius' force, the quality of Darius' generalship, the nature of the weapons involved—and human nature.

ONLY A FRACTION of the Persian force was actually Persian, for Darius had drawn contingents from all portions of the empire—and each contingent fought under its own commanders, using its own weapons, and wearing its own distinctive uniform and speaking its own native tongue.

It was a whirlpool strategy. Alexander sent his infantry forward as a solid wall of spears which the Persians could not penetrate, walking slowly, veering slightly to the right. The Persians' only chance to break up the Greek center was by a flanking maneuver. The Thracians, light cavalry, kept the Persians busy on the left, near the sea, and Alexander bided his time, waiting for that moment when his angled pressure should cause the polyglot enemy units to mix.

WHEN THAT TIME came, he unleashed his heavy cavalry to the right, backed by his center reserve. The Greek horsemen, by sheer weight of their momentum, penetrated far into the Persian flank while, on his left, Alexander had allowed his Thracians to be driven back. Now, he unleashed his phalanx and its wall of spears. The foot soldiers pressed forward as fast and as hard as they could go.

The effect was like putting your hand in a pool of still water, stirring. The Persians were now waded with units hopelessly mixed, commanders lost in the shuffle amid a confused babble of varying languages.

THEY FELT THE pressure, saw the Greek standards smashing their flank—and they panicked. From that point on, with the mob of men, horses, chariots, elephants—all madly storming the narrow exit, the battle became a slaughter. The Persians killed more of each other than the Greeks did.

There was never again a major Persian army to resist Alexander, and he occupied Darius' empire with no further trouble.

The Humane Kind Of War

Would you rather be dead Of a dose of hot lead (As old-fashioned, my dear, As an egg in your beer) Or cash in your chips, When an H-bomb rips, (More moderne, old thing, With a classier ring)

Or go out in a flash From a chemical gas Or give up the ghost To a bacterial host? (They're newer, more precise, Make war really nice.)

Well, enough of that. However, these are the sentiments of the U.S. Army, which is struggling gallantly to persuade the knuckle-headed public that "Gas, Germ War More Humane Than A-War," as one headline puts it.

DURING THE PAST six months the Army has been waging an uphill fight to convince the American people that germ and chemical warfare is more merciful than bullets and nuclear bombs. I gather that the Army, which seldom endorses a poet, is on the side of T. S. Eliot, author of what is possibly the most famous lines in modern poetry.

Eliot prophesied that the world would end not with a bang but a whimper. To be precise:

"This is the way the world ends Not with a bang but a whimper."

FURTHERMORE, I am given to understand that with kindly chemical compounds, such as nerve gas, even the whimper is removed from war. Man is kayoed silently, painlessly. Indeed, he is only kayoed (I am now speaking of nerve gas) for the count of 10, just long enough for the enemy to take over and get the barbed wire strung around the concentration camps. He, the victim, wakes from a dreamless sleep ready to be lined up for the march to the gas chamber.

In mid-summer, the Army's Chemical Corps began its educational program to persuade civilians that war is more "merciful" when waged with bugs, bacteria, viruses, fungi, protozoa and lethal chemicals than when fought with nuclear bombs, bayonets and bullets.

AT THE TIME, I felt the Chemical Corps had a tough fight on its hands. Millions of Americans have a feeling that it isn't nice, no matter who does it, to poison wells or drop viruses on anyone. It may be cockeyed but it is an understandable prejudice. Dropping bugs on the civilian enemy doesn't seem the sporting thing to do.

I don't clearly remember that nothing so infuriated the American public during the Korean "police action" as the Communist charge that we Americans had resorted to bacteria and chemicals. We thought the charge heinous, malicious and a downright lie, and proved it to be.

BUT NOW THE ARMY has a tag for people who are revolted by the thought of bug and gas warfare. We are "nice but completely unrealistic." That's the way Col. Serge Tonetti of the Army Chemical Center describes us. I don't argue with him. His estimate is probably correct.

However, the Chemical Corps cannot dismiss us, even if, as it infers, we suffer from crazy, mixed-up consciences. If I can have my bang, I'd rather go out with a bang than a non-whimper. I don't want to be drugged or bugged; just plugged or slugged.

Rusk Appointment Well Received

WASHINGTON — There is widespread agreement here that President-elect Kennedy has made a wise choice in Dean Rusk for Secretary of State.

The selection is based on the premise that the new President will have a far more important voice in the direct formulation of foreign policy than President Eisenhower or former President Truman. The latter relied heavily on Dean Acheson and President Eisenhower gave to the late John Foster Dulles almost total authority over foreign policy.

War — Rusk played an effective part while keeping clear of the damaging public controversies.

He will unquestionably give Stevenson all possible latitude as Ambassador to the United Nations. That task is in itself an overwhelming one as it becomes more and more evident that the very existence of the U.N. is at stake in the cold war and its spreading complications in the Congo and throughout Africa. Stevenson can assume a very important part of the burden of foreign policy and with the sanction of the President and the Secretary of State give full play to his notable talents.

SINCE HE IS, within the inevitable limits of the wide range of demands on a President, determined to be his own Secretary of State, it is best to have at his side a skilled and able expert rather than a prominent national figure who might overshadow the President himself. Rusk has the ability, the background, the quiet authority, the stamina and the endurance to succeed, if anyone can succeed, in an office that has become almost as impossible as the Presidency itself.

The many admirers of Adlai Stevenson who worked hard and long, as did Stevenson himself, for Kennedy's election will be disappointed. They had continued to hope that the man to whom they have given such loyalty and devotion would show the scope of his abilities and the breadth of his understanding in an office second only to that of the Chief Executive. Many heads of government and foreign ministers in every part of the world had cherished the same hope for Stevenson, whom they had come to know and respect.

BUT STEVENSON in the office would have precisely the handicap of being a figure of world stature with well-advised views on almost every aspect of the foreign policy. There would always be the question of whether decisions taken were his or the President's. It seems less than justice to Kennedy to suggest, as some commentators have done, that it was picnic over Stevenson's behavior at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles which led the President-elect to pass him over for Secretary of State.

RUSK IS FAR from being a prima donna. He has shown again and again that he can work with others in quiet cooperation. One of his outstanding qualities is his quiet and effective workmanship in whatever task he undertakes. In his most critical governmental role to date — Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs during the Korean

Hail To The Suburbanite

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the season of the year when the suburbanite earns his Good Conduct medal.

He emerges as America's true citizen hero, the pioneer of its last frontier.

In winter weather good old Ronald Halface, the typical U.S. suburbanite, could well be mistaken for Daniel Boone himself—except that he doesn't pack a squirrel gun.

He takes Ronald from two to three hours to get to the office, and after he arrives it takes him another hour to undress down to his ordinary work garb.

He looks like a walking inventory of an Army and Navy store—from his khaki muffler to his reconditioned Korean combat boots. When the temperature plummeted toward zero, Ronald becomes civilization's worst dressed man.

To protect himself during the long pilgrimage from home to work desk, he dons anything—and everything—in the closet that fits him.

Despite all this padding, Ronald enters the office blue-cheeked with cold and with a nose that resembles an overripe tomato.

"Where did you park your sled dogs?" a comfort-loving city dweller asks him.

Ronald may not heed as, with shaking hands, he removes his top layer of Y.M.C.A. gym socks, then peels off a sweat shirt bearing the insignia, "Fort Dix Stockade," a poignant reminder of his war with the Army.

Methodically he removes his red hunting cap, and silently massages his frozen ears.

"How is life out in the wilderness?" the city dweller inquires.

This is an error. Nobody within hearing distance now can get any work done before lunch.

For Ronald launches into a saga of one man's struggle against Nature. He tells of the lonely two-wheeled trudge through snowdrifts, the epic wait at the rail port for a train, when shivering suburbanites set fire to their newspapers to keep warm, the ordeal of being stuck in a tunnel later, and the final dash to the office.

Changes And Challenges For Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—In his inaugural address on Jan. 20, 1961, the new president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, spoke of "this century of trial."

It has been more than a time of trial. It has been a century of fantastic changes and of challenges without precedent, even in Eisenhower's eight years in the White House.

No one has more reason for concern about them than President-elect John F. Kennedy, since he must face both the changes and the challenges. Just to note a few, in the first 60 years of this century:

THE RISE OF communism in Asia and Africa, the disappearance of almost all the monarchies, the emergence of dozens of new nations from colonialism in Asia and Africa, the changing concept of war to missiles with hydrogen warheads that can be fired across oceans or from under them.

This is the world Kennedy inherits and must cope with. The changes came in a rush in Eisenhower's prominent years.

As Allied commander in Europe in World War II he could have smashed Nazi Germany in a couple of weeks if he had had an atomic bomb. But he didn't.

Yet within a few weeks after Germany gave in the United States developed enough atomic bombs—two of them—to end the war with Japan. At war's end this country was the richest and thanks to the bombs, the most powerful.

MOST OF THE rest of the world was broke and prostrate. Yet, by the time Eisenhower took office

IN THE UNITED NATIONS the African section in 1946 had only three members: Egypt, Liberia, and Ethiopia, plus the white-ruled Union of South Africa. Now it holds more seats than any other area: 25. Sixteen African nations have been admitted to the United Nations in the present session alone.

So the problems facing Kennedy abroad will be vastly more complex than those confronting Eisenhower when he first took office.

For Ronald launches into a saga of one man's struggle against Nature. To Your Good Health

TB X-Ray Checks Should Be Made As Needed

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: How often are X-rays required for tuberculosis? Will they, in time, affect a person in any way? There is no evidence of TB in my case, but it has been in the family. Is there such a thing as TB of the bone?—Y. C."

Tuberculosis remains one of the important health menaces in our lives. It's not as common as heart disease, but far more prevalent than a great many of the other diseases to which we pay so much attention these days.

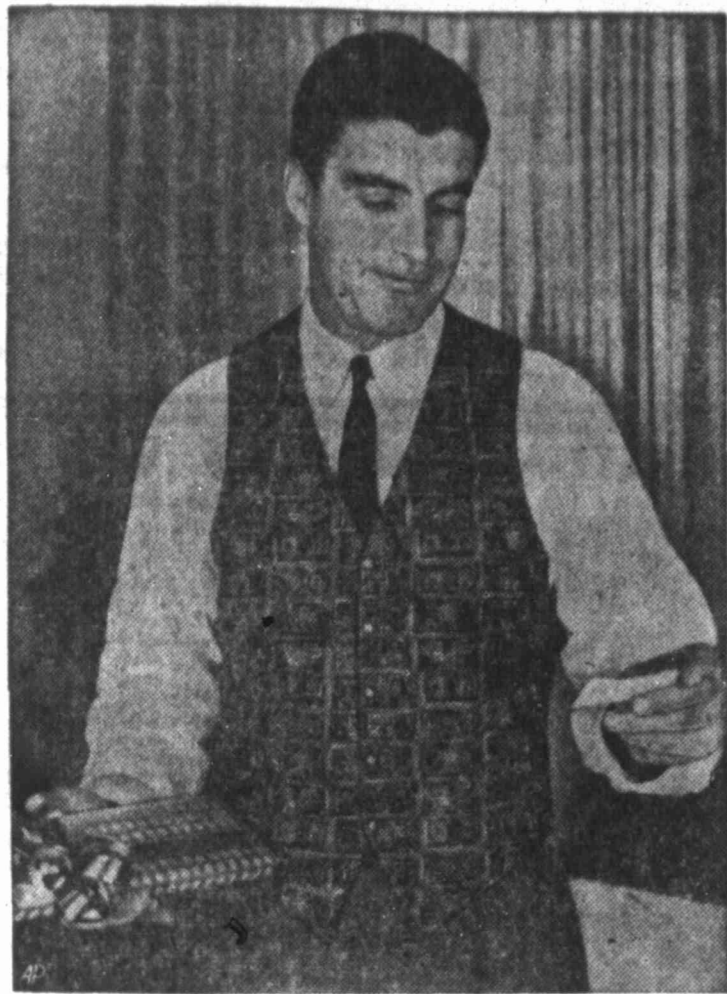

For example, many people are fretting about cholesterol although we don't, at this stage of the game, know nearly as much as we wish we did about cholesterol what good or harm it does, and how to control it. Nor as much as, quite surely, we will know about it after a few more years of study.

But cholesterol is relatively new and intriguing matter, and TB is an old and familiar one. So we get interested in the new, and sometimes forget that the old pills are still dangerous.

ing is in order. If someone in the household, or a girl or boy friend, or a business acquaintance, or somebody who works at the next desk, or at the next machine is found to have TB, check for it.

In such instances, a person should have a chest X-ray every four months for about a year; then at six-month intervals for a time; after that, once every year.

These X-rays are of a "low-exposure" type, and nobody should worry over any damage from them. As I've said before, and repeat now, never have exposure to radiation unless there is a reason; never fear exposure if there is a sane reason. That rule will answer 99 per cent of our worries over medical X-rays.

Philathea Class Has Annual Yule Banquet

Airport Grades Give Program Of Christmas Music

Music and a skit in the Christmas spirit were the entertainment of the Airport P-TA Thursday evening at the school. The program was presented by the fourth grades under direction of Mrs. Bryson Averett, Mrs. Ima Jean Echols and Mrs. Everett Taylor.

Early Christmas Celebrated By Westbrook Family

WESTBROOK (SC) — An early Christmas was celebrated Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish. Those attending were Airman I.C. and Mrs. Kenneth Parrish of Biggs AFB, El Paso; HM2 Hazelwood, who is serving on the USS Boxer and his family who are making their home in Coahoma while he is away; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray Parrish and children of Coahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Parrish, Barbara Parrish, Margaret Ellis and Mrs. D. Dear Santa...

Big sister takes the dictation for her precocious sibling. While pondering the momentous decision of what to ask for, they wear their holiday party dresses of no iron cotton with a jumper effect. The skirt is full with snow white eyelid and black velvet banding, three-quarter sleeves and tiny pearl buttons accenting the bodice.

Fur hat with continental silhouette has slightly higher crown and a close narrow crease with small front dents.

Do You Always Have To Give Him A Tie?

Many a woman who can manage office, offspring and others with enviable ease, falters at the critical shopping point. She ends up buying HIM a tie. One way to avoid this Christmas cliché is to list specifics about the man or boy involved: interests, idiosyncrasies, what he needs at work or at school, what he likes to wear (besides ties). Then follow through in a store, checking merchandise against your listed suggestions. You'll surely find something different you know he'll like.

In shopping for clothing, be sure you have the correct size. Men are shy about exchanging gifts, and you don't want to have to do it either. And if you have a list in mind, you might consider a gift certificate. Men are fussy about what they put on their heads, unless they're clowning at a party with YOUR hat.

Offbeat clothes gifts are fancy vests, golf jackets, patterned shirts, raincoats and suburban coats. Dad, granddad and the youngsters would all go for these. For the boy in high school or college there's always a bicycle, especially important now for on-campus transportation.

Cater to his hobbies, even if it means a kind of fancy drill that sets your teeth on edge. Or maybe Fischer's Guests. Here to spend the holidays with their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fischer and Jo Anne, are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fischer of Austin. They will also visit another son and family, the Rev. and Mrs. George Fischer and Becky of Lamesa.

To Santa... Letterwise

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN, AP Newsfeatures Writer. Miss Jones, take a letter. "Santa Claus, Toys Unlimited, North Pole, Arctic Ocean. "Dear Mr. Claus... No, scratch that. Make it, "Dear Santa." Market surveys show the familiar approach at management level stimulates more meaningful action. Better still, make it, "My Dear Santa." A tasteful compromise between the formal and the familiar, don't you think? Well, never mind, put it down anyway. Let's see now, where were we? Oh, yes... "My Dear Santa, "Owing to the long standing cordial relations that have always existed between our establishment and yours, we trust you will not be offended if we approach you again on the subject of Christmas deliveries. "Not that we have any complaints from the past, mind you, but just to be sure that everything will be conducted according to... eh... eh... eh..."

"What's the word I'm groping for? Hoyle? Yes, Hoyle. Thank you, Miss Jones. "... that everything will be conducted according to Hoyle. "Please arrange to have your shipment arrive as close to midnight as possible on the 24th or in the early hours of the 25th. Adequate parking facilities have been provided for your reindeer on the roof, and you will be happy to know steps have been taken to assure that there will be no repeat of last year's chimney incident. Take our word for it, there will be no fire in the hearth. "As a matter of fact, the chimney has been cleaned out re your complaint of last year. Be a good fellow and try not to track any soot on the carpet. "The stockings, as you know from past experience, will be in a descending scale according to age group, starting with Baby Sister on your far left and winding up with Mom and Dad on your far right. "Un, better make this a new paragraph, Miss Jones. "We trust there will be no mix-up in the consignment this time and that everything will be properly labeled. Just to refresh your memory, Baby Sister gets the hooby horse; Junior, the science laboratory; Older Sister, the doll with hair you can dye; Older Brother, the football and helmet; Dad, the smoking jacket, and Mom, the fur stole. "In the event you are fresh out of stock in any of the above mentioned items, you are hereby authorized to make substitutions of comparable size and quality at your discretion. "Our policy always has been that a gift which must be exchanged later is better than no gift at all... "Let's see now, what else? Oh, yes. "According to the terms of our agreement, you will find a collection of cookies and hot chocolate set out for you in the kitchen. Have yourself a ball... "No, no. Scratch that. Too slangy. Instead, make it: "Enjoy yourself and don't spare the hot chocolate carafe. "Thanking you in advance for your courteous attention to these matters, we close by sincerely wishing you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. It's always a pleasure doing business with you, Yours truly, etc., etc." Miss Jones, prepare the letter for my signature and make a duplicate for the files, will you? And when you get finished, take the afternoon off for your Christmas shopping.

Christmas Programs Fill City's Church Schedules

Christmas programs, some featuring music and others, play or pageants, highlight the news in Big Spring churches this week. With few exceptions, almost all the churches plan a special music program centered around the various church choirs.

The youth fellowship of the First Church of God, under the direction of Cleo Carlile, will present a three act Christmas play-pageant which is entitled "Angel On A Step Ladder" Sunday evening.

A Christmas pageant for all church groups is planned at the YMCA next week. Over 50 persons are involved in a program that features animals, special costumes and set design, and a script that uses only the text of the Bible. This program will be presented Tuesday and Thursday nights, with two performances each evening.

ON CARDS

'Peace On Earth' Is Most Popular

By JULES LOH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Peace on earth," the message of the angels at Bethlehem, is more popular this year than ever before as a theme for Christmas cards.

"I think it must have something to do with concern over world tensions," said Stephen Q. Shannon, executive director for the Greeting Card Association which studies such trends.

"And if there's no let up in the cold war," he said, "it wouldn't surprise me if the trend assumed major proportions."

Already assuming major proportions is the popularity of cards with a religious motif. This year more than 750 million cards—about 30 per cent of the total—stress the religious significance of Christmas. The trend has been growing steadily the past decade.

Shannon observes there is added emphasis this year on the idea of continuing peace, rather than just a repetition of the familiar "On earth, peace to men of good will."

Many cards, for example, have some variation of, "May the peace of Christmas remain with you forever." One says, "Peace on earth is here to stay if we live Christmas every day."

The latter example is typical of the spirit but not the meter inside this year's religious cards. Unlike most of the nonreligious type, the religious messages generally avoid sing-songy couplets in preference for simple, meaningful phrases.

"May the blessings of Christmas be with you today and always," says one. Other examples: "May the spirit of Christmas bring joy to you and yours." "May the beauty of Christmas be an inspiration to you throughout the year."

All except one of this year's top 10 favorites were in last year's top 10 but not in the same order. The one exception is church windows, which dropped from ninth place last year to 11th this year.

Here are this year's 10 favorite religious designs in order of their popularity, with the way they ranked last year in parentheses: Madonnas, 1; manger scenes 5; cherubs 6; churches 4; holy family 3; wise men 2; shepherds 7; children 15; angels, 10.

The association put the remaining nine in this order: church windows, miscellaneous, choirs, illuminated script, Bibles and rosaries, church bells, classical art, religious text and star and cross.

While many reproductions of classical art works are of the ever popular madonnas, they generally are higher priced, which may help explain their position close to the bottom of the list.

Greeting card companies have gone to great lengths this year to make their position close to the bottom of the list.

Greeting card companies have gone to great lengths this year to make their reproductions as close to the originals as possible. One company imported its classics from Italy where they were reproduced in excellent color on the delicate silk. Another put out a "fine arts collection" of 50 Renaissance masterpieces reproduced by a Swiss printing house using special paper and links

The Compassion of Christ

HOW CHRIST IN HIS EARTHLY MINISTRY FULFILLED THE PROPHECIES SETTING FORTH THE MERCY OF THE MESSIAH TO COME

Scripture—Isaiah 61; 11:27-30; Luke 7:18-23.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
"OUR LESSON begins with a chapter which has never been assigned previously in this series; and even these words from Luke's Gospel have not been assigned for many years. This will then mean receiving some new light, to the blessing of our own hearts as we respond to these truths"—Dr. Wilbur M. Smith.

"The spirit of the Lord God hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; He hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound."—Isaiah 61:1.

Jesus Christ said: "All things are delivered unto Me of My Father; and no man knoweth the Son, but the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whom the Father will reveal Him."—Matthew 11:27.

"Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you, and learn of Me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For My yoke is easy, and My burden is light."—Matthew 11:28-30.

Christ also healed many who were sick. John the Baptist called two of his disciples to him and sent them to Jesus to ask,

"Art Thou He that should come? or look we for another?"—Luke 7:18-20.

Jesus answered, "Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the Gospel is preached, and blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in Me."—Luke 7:22-23.

Christmas Tree, Santa Claus Have Strangest Backgrounds

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Staff Writer
Most traditions are children of strange ancestry, and the two most popular Christmas customs—Santa Claus and the Christmas tree—may have the strangest heritage of them all.

Witnesses Plan January Assembly In Carlsbad

Local Jehovah's Witnesses will attend a three-day circuit assembly in Carlsbad, N. M., Jan. 20-22, according to the governing body, the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York.

Upwards of 900 delegates from 24 congregations in West Texas and New Mexico are expected to attend the sessions.

J. W. O'Shields, presiding minister of the local congregation, said "The assembly is not a revival, but is held primarily to advance Christian Bible education."

The three-day program includes a variety of talks on Bible subjects. Groups of ministers will discuss ministerial problems and demonstrations will teach how to conduct Bible studies. A baptism of new ministers on Saturday afternoon.

The convention theme is "Be Taught By Jehovah." The featured speaker will be E. L. Anderson, from world headquarters in Brooklyn, N. Y. He has been active in the ministry 20 years, serving six years on the headquarters staff, and presently serving as supervisor of District No. 16, which includes parts of Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico. Anderson will deliver the principal address of the assembly Jan. 22, on the subject "Is God Interested in the Affairs of Men?"

Does it come as a surprise that the lighted tree is entirely Christian in origin while the jolly figure sometimes called St. Nick was born of pagan parents?

True, the name Santa Claus is derived from St. Nicholas—or Sinter Klaas, as the Dutch called him. But the saint and the elf have nothing in common except the name.

This is how they came to be: For years the feast of St. Nicholas, Dec. 6, was observed in Europe by giving gifts to children. He is their patron saint, and the custom still is practiced in some European countries.

Few historical facts are known about the saint. He was bishop of Myra in Asia Minor and died about the year 350. He was an orphan, and a generally accepted legend is he often helped poor children by slipping coins through their windows at night.

Dutch immigrants to America brought the traditional Dec. 5 "visit from St. Nicholas" to their colony of New Amsterdam. They had clung to the custom even after the Reformation.

Later, when the English founded the colony of New York in the same territory, their children liked the idea of a nocturnal visitor coming to their homes, too. But the idea of a bishop was disagreeable to the New Yorkers, many of whom were Presbyterians. Also, they did not celebrate feasts of saints.

In the withered pages of Germanic folklore, familiar to these Anglo-Saxons, was the pagan god Thor.

He was the god of the peasants; an elderly, jovial man with a long white beard. His color was red, his element was fire, and the hearth was sacred to him. On the occasions when he left his home among the icebergs of the Northland, he frequently would come down chimneys into his element. He rode in a chariot pulled by two white goats, Cracker and Gnasber.

Exchanging gifts at Christmas was traditional with the English-Americans, and it was not surprising the jolly old elf now familiar to us all, should emerge as the new delivery boy.

Santa Claus is strictly an American citizen.

The source for this Christmas lore is the Rev. Francis X. Weiser, S.J., of Weston College, Mass. He is one of the nation's foremost authorities on the subject, and also gives the derivation of the Christmas tree.

In medieval days a favorite pre-Christmas pageant was the "Paradise Play," depicting the fall of Adam and Eve, the promise of a Savior and the ensuing birth of Christ.

A fir tree hung with apples represented the Garden of Eden, and the symbol soon found its way into homes on the feast day of Adam and Eve, Dec. 24.

Germans also had the custom of erecting in their homes during Advent a candle-bedecked wooden pyramid topped by a star, signifying the "light of the world" which shone from the stable at Bethlehem.

During the 16th century they began combining the two symbols, usually adding beneath the tree the Christmas crib which formerly stood at the foot of the pyramid.

Trees began appearing in American homes after the first big wave of German immigration in about 1700.

Adults Must Learn
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"It is futile to attempt to educate the children and the youth of the church unless the adults with whom they live and by whose lives they are powerfully influenced by are also continuing to learn," says the annual report of the United Presbyterian Board of Christian Education.

Diligently Pray For The Work of Your Church

DECEMBER PARADE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	39	6-7
Monday	Ecclesiastes	1	13-16
Tuesday	Psalms	103	1-2
Wednesday	Ecclesiastes	2	24-26
Thursday	Isaiah	31	6-7
Friday	Isaiah	53	10-12
Saturday	Isaiah	55	1-5

Market Street! Just a handful of shopping days before Christmas! The best-organized parade of the year!

Every marcher has been summoned by advertisements . . . elated by the music and decorations . . . inspired by the joy of giving. Each has a destination, an objective, a mission. And there's a kind of desperate dedication in it all: everyone searching for something someone else needs!

But never confuse the December parade with the real dedication of Christmas.

What every soul needs is not displayed in windows. And Christmas means nothing unless it means:

ALL WE REALLY NEED . . . GOD HAS GIVEN!

In the church of your choice, dedicate your life anew to the Christ Child.

Lakeview Grades Abolished, High School To Absorb Students

The last class to graduate from Lakeview High School will be the 1960 senior class. By action of the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District Thursday, the top three grades at Lakeview will be eliminated effective Sept. 1, 1961.

These students, about 35, will be absorbed in the senior high school. The decision came after studies by the administrative staff and trustee discussion regarding the academic program at Lakeview. It was pointed out that a sound program for so few students is difficult to provide without excessive costs.

FACILITIES SHORT
Also, there is the problem of facilities. The Lakeview elementary building is "woefully inadequate and needs to be abandoned at the very earliest date," Supt. Floyd Parsons said. His opinion is backed up in the current Howard County study of education by Dr. W. E. Barron. Dr. Barron urged that the building's use be discontinued.

With a new addition currently planned, the Lakeview High School building probably will accommodate the remaining nine grades after the top three grades have been moved.

Parsons reported that community reaction has been favorable to the plan. He said he had discussed the move before various groups, including parents, students and faculty members and that no criticism had been voiced.

MUST CLOSE GAP
Academically, Parsons explained that the Lakeview program does not measure up to the senior high school program and further delay will widen, rather than close the gap.

In other business, during Thursday's special session, trustees gave Parsons the green light to set up specifications for portable classrooms.

The district is currently faced with the problem of near overcrowding. A bond issue for new facilities cannot be proposed until the district is free of court litigation, brought about by the annexation move of the Gay Hill and Center Point common school districts. Thus, trustees are looking for portable classrooms which could be purchased out of operating funds, to fill the gap until a bond issue can be planned for new structures.

PRE-FAB STUDY
No architect will be employed as trustees intend to investigate purchase of prefabricated steel buildings. Parsons reported on such buildings now in use at Mesquite, Greenville, Terrell and Arlington. Mesquite purchased 11 of these buildings for classrooms at a cost of $3,925 each. They are 24 by 32 feet in size containing 768 square feet of space, and can handle about 30 to 35 students.

The school district would add electrical equipment, blackboards, and heating equipment boosting total cost to about $4,500 each. These buildings could be moved throughout the district to ease crowded conditions wherever they were approved. Parsons was asked to contact various builders for recommendations and proposals to be presented at a future board meeting.

CAR OKAYED
A contract with the Acme Rental Co. for the superintendent's car was approved. The company furnishes the car, maintains it, and furnishes insurance at a cost of $100 per month. Another contract with Tidwell Chevrolet Co. for the driver education car was also approved. This cost is guaranteed not to exceed $175 annually and can be less.

A request of the Cedar Crest P-TA to furnish grass seed and fill dirt for the school campus was approved. Minor changes in the request concerning labor for the project was pointed out and Parsons was named to negotiate the problem.

Dan Conley was appointed census trustee for the 1961 enumeration.

DATE MOVED
Date for the trustee meeting in January was moved from the regular time of Jan. 10 to Jan. 12. On Jan. 10, a general faculty meeting has been scheduled to hear Frank Jackson, executive secretary of the Texas Teacher Retirement System.

Trustees reaffirmed the decision to allow the Texas Little League ball park to be located on the Bauer school campus. Permission was originally granted two years ago.

City Okays Zoning Law, Sets Hearing

After months of discussing, revising and planning, city officials Thursday accepted a proposed city-wide zoning ordinance and set the first public hearing for Jan. 23 in the city auditorium. Some 9,000 city property owners within the next two weeks will receive post cards as notices of the hearing to be held by the planning and zoning commission. A second hearing, held by the city commission, will probably be held in February.

Publication of the 48-page ordinance will constitute giving notice prior to the city commission's public hearing, required before the ordinance can be adopted. Marvin Springer, Dallas, the city's master plan consultant, presented the final draft of his ordinance Thursday night to members of the city commission, planning and zoning commission, and master plan steering committee. Springer had met with officials periodically in the past to iron out kinks in his ordinance as originally conceived. The final draft was the complete revised edition, containing recommended changes.

The ordinance defines requirements for land use in 12 categories or zones, and a map spells out where the 12 zones are located. The map will probably be on display in city hall prior to the public hearings. Springer said that the map will probably draw most attention from property owners. City Manager A. K. Steinheimer agreed that the map was important. "Very few will digest the entire ordinance," he said.

Along with defining what businesses are allowed in commercial zones and what type of buildings can be constructed in residential zones, the ordinance establishes lot sizes and restrictions on height of buildings, and parking requirements. The zones in the proposed ordinance include two one-family dwelling districts; a two-family district; general residence; multi-family district; parking; neighborhood service; retail; central business; or downtown; commercial; light industry; and heavy industry.

A planned district, not a zone, is included in the ordinance and includes shopping centers, housing developments, etc. According to the ordinance, a plan of building would have to be submitted to the planning and zoning commission before development could begin.

Plane Crash Results In Suits

LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. Geneva Heimer of Spur, widow of Herbert Heimer, 24-year-old agronomist who was killed in a plane crash about 15 miles north of here last year, has filed a damage suit in 10th Judicial District Court against the estate of the deceased pilot of the aircraft. Mrs. Heimer is seeking damages of $151,218.25. Heimer was killed when the plane, piloted by the late J. R. McNeill, mayor of Spur, who was also killed in the mishap, crashed near Welch on Dec. 31, 1959.

The two men had been on a business trip to Nogales and Phoenix, Ariz., and were en route home when the accident happened. It was attributed to bad weather. Heimer was an employee of McNeill's in a feed and seed business in Spur at the time.

Mrs. Florence M. McNeill, the executrix of the estate, is named as the defendant. The suit alleges that the pilot was negligent and cites 11 specific instances supporting the claim. No trial date has been set by Judge Truett Smith.

U.S. Income At Record Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The total personal income of Americans kept at a record rate in November, but there were several signs reflecting a business slowdown.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the rate for November was $409.5 billion a year, the same as in October. But the department also reported: Wage and salary payments dipped by a half-billion dollars; factory payrolls declined for the sixth month in a row; total employment and average hours worked decreased more than usual for this season; and contract construction payrolls dropped.

The department also said that unemployment compensation and other transfer payments jumped by $400 million during November. There also was a small increase in the payrolls of the retail trade and service industries.

Rights Problem In Northern Cities

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Chairman John A. Hannah of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission says he is "convinced the most difficult civil rights problem is in the larger cities of the North."

Hannah said he is convinced of this because Northern cities "sweep it under the rug or run" to the suburbs. "So far," he said, "there hasn't been a willingness to recognize that this is a major problem and something must be done about it." He suggested a solution will come when "one more than half" demands it.

Hannah, who also is president of Michigan State University, expressed his views at a news conference after two days of commission hearings in Detroit, where a series of witnesses related incidents of what they termed discrimination against Negroes in housing, employment and other fields.

Wins $20

Thursday's Secret Santa had a short reign. Around noon, Mrs. Neil Frazier, 205 E. 19th, shopping in a downtown store, popped the right question. "Are you the Secret Santa?" and the masquerade was over. By identifying the Secret Santa, Mrs. Frazier won the daily jackpot of $20. Only one jackpot remains and will be given away today, final day of the contest. If the Santa is identified, the Santa is some salesperson in one of 26 local stores.

'Science,' Not Gambling, Wins Income Tax Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A dapper German from Hamburg, who calls himself the roulette king of Europe, won acquittal on an income tax charge by convincing a judge he's a scientist, not a gambler.

There was just one reason his "sure-fire" system for winning at roulette misfired, Benno Eitel Winkler - Liechenstein, 37, says: American roulette wheels have one more digit than those he's used to.

Time Changed

Time for the Christmas program, which will be given Sunday by children of St. Thomas Church, has been changed from 7 p. m. to 7:45 p. m. The program will be held in the Howard County Junior College auditorium.

First The Snow, Now This!

Carl Heller, 46, of Philadelphia, has been battling the deep snow that clogged the streets of Philadelphia and now has new woes. A snowdrift caused by a water main break engulfed his car, shows here as it started settling to the bottom of a 15 by 20 foot hole. As spectators watched, water filled the hole and covered the car.

Furness, Crocker Victims Of Policy

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In a shift of corporate advertising policy, the faces of two of television's best known saleswomen are missing from the nation's screens: Betty Furness and "Betty Crocker."

Actress Betty Furness recently wound up 12 years of selling refrigerators, ranges and other equipment for Westinghouse. She is almost a TV landmark, and during recent political conventions was almost as familiar a figure as the chairman of the gatherings.

"Betty Crocker" is a fictitious name created by General Mills many years ago for a voice which sold its various food products. For the past 10 years, "Betty Crocker" on television and on radio has been Adelaide Hawley, a well known broadcaster and commentator.

Although both companies have decided to dispense with their Bettys as television figures, Betty Furness continues on in a consultative capacity with Westinghouse. Adelaide Hawley will continue to be the voice of Betty Crocker, even if we never see her.

Both women, for the first time in years, are free to accept other broadcasting work — commercials or otherwise. And both are expecting to run into some problems in picking up the threads of the careers they left to become company "spokeswomen."

"It's too soon to go firmly on the record about this," said Miss Furness, "but there's no question that I'm meeting some resistance. Obviously I don't leave Westinghouse to do the same thing for somebody else—at the same time I wouldn't turn my back on all commercials. But I did feel that if I were going to be able to do anything else, I would have to make a clean break. In the past couple of years I haven't been able to clear enough time ahead to take any acting job."

Miss Furness says that there has been some interest in her doing other commercials but nothing definite.

"The reason for the resistance is that people who might hire me feel that every time the audience looks at my face it would be a plug for Westinghouse," she continued. "But I'm not worried because I know that somebody will come along who doesn't feel that way and who knows that I have proved that I can sell or who knows I can act."

"It won't be easy, and it won't be fast. But I've got a couple of years in which I can make this shift comfortably."

Very few companies have an exclusive spokesman or spokeswoman these days. Experience has proved that while it may be advantageous to the company, it ties down and types the person involved. Their agents won't let them sign on an exclusive basis, no matter how fabulous the financial rewards.

Smith Funeral Held Thursday

COLORADO CITY (SC) — William A. E. Smith, 71-year-old retired farmer, died Wednesday in a local rooming house. Smith died unexpectedly during the night and was found Wednesday morning by one of the patrons of the rooming house.

He married Clara Mimms, Dec. 2, 1908 in Frost. She died Dec. 31, 1958. He was born Nov. 3, 1889 in Mississippi but had lived in Mitchell County since 1919.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 3 p.m., from the Kiker and Son Chapel. The Rev. Cal Wright, retired Methodist pastor, officiated. Burial was in the Colorado City Cemetery.

He is survived by a son, Darrell Smith of Ackerly; four sisters, Mrs. Minnie Lambert, Dallas; Mrs. Zodie Mitchell, Stratford; Mrs. Walter Farris, Hillsboro; Mrs. Nanny Lou Ragsdale, Barry; and one grandchild.

Uphaus Claims Vendetta Cause Of Imprisonment

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Willard Uphaus says "a personal and political vendetta" against him was responsible for his year's imprisonment in New Hampshire.

Uphaus, 70, a lay preacher in the Methodist Church, made the charge at a news conference Thursday.

He was released Sunday from serving a sentence for contempt of court in refusing to turn over to New Hampshire Atty. Gen. Louis Wyman a list of guests at the 1954 meeting of his World Fellowship summer camp in Conway, N. H. Wyman said some of the guests were Communists.

Uphaus, who says he is a pacifist but not a Communist, has denied that anyone at the camp was a Communist.

He told reporters his imprisonment was due to the efforts of Wyman, The Manchester (N. H.) Union Leader, and the political organization of Styles Bridges, long-time Republican senator from New Hampshire.

At Concord, N. H., Wyman commented that Uphaus is "contemptuous of our courts and disrespectful of our state." Neither Bridges nor the Union Leader commented on the charges.

Uphaus told about 1,000 persons at a meeting of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee Thursday night that he "never for a moment felt the purpose for which I was in jail and for which we are fighting wasn't right."

Appearing at the Civil Liberties Committee meeting with Uphaus was Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize-winning chemist who has come under official fire for refusing to reveal the names of other scientists who helped circulate a petition to ban nuclear weapons.

Both Pauling and Uphaus urged the abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Abortion Law Changes Asked

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A grand jury here has recommended that California law be changed to allow abortions where "pregnancy results from forcible rape, incest or moral irresponsibility or in girls under the age of 14."

The state now permits abortion only where necessary to save the mother's life.

Manager Quits

FORT STOCKTON (AP)—E. B. Ligon, city manager here for 14 years, has resigned to become superintendent of public works here at $8,000 per year.
