Fidel Calls Big Rally

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro roused Cubans to a giant rally today celebrating the second anniversary of the triumph of his revolution against the background of charges that an American invasion is imminent.

The biggest armed forces display in the nation's history was planned for the celebration in the civic plaza amid speculation Castro might unveil Communist-made jet fighters, bombers and heavy tanks.

The prime minister is scheduled to make the main address at the rally.

The invasion fever started last week with Cuban press reports that the U.S. Marines plan a landing before Jan. 18. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty branded the reports a lie.

Castro himself supported the press claims in a New Year's address and rushed Foreign Minister Raul Roa to New York to protest to the United Nations.

The U.N. Security Council has been called into a session Wednesday to hear the Cuban charges. Roa said the United States planned to "perpetrate" within a few hours "direct military intervention in Cuba and gravely endanger international peace and security."

This island nation has gone on what amounts to an 18-day military alert in a frenzy of jitter.

Havana and its suburbs bristled with newly emplaced anti-aircraft guns.

A forest of light artillery pieces sprouted in surrounding areas. Many militiamen spent the weekend digging trenches.

The giant Confederation of Cuban workers Sunday distributed a handbill urging a massive turnout at the Civic Plaza rally "against imperialist aggression."

Announcers and labor leaders poured out invasion alarms on the government radio and television stations all day Sunday—a day of normal news blackout on the airwaves.

Orators harangued crowds of jittery but defiant Cubans in the central park.

While the New Year's Eve celebrations carried on at full blast into the early hours jeeps loaded with militiamen and hauling rocket-launchers streamed through the suburbs.

U.S. Moves Cautiously Toward Military Intervention In Laos

Now They're Officially In
New county officers can now officially take command after taking their oath of office this morning in the courthouse. They include, from left, Tom Birkhead, Pct. 2 constable at Coahoma; Miller Harris, sheriff; Zerah L. LeFever, tax assessor-collector; Joseph Hayden, Pct. 2 commissioner; and Rufus Stallings, Pct. 1 commissioner. County Judge Ed Carpenter, right, administered the oath.

U.S. officials here assumed their purpose was to reinforce native leftists and Communist forces striving to crush the pro-Western government at Vientiane.

President Eisenhower kept in close touch with State and Defense Department chiefs through the New Year holiday. Officials of the incoming Kennedy administration were informed of developments.

U.S. Planning Attack On Cuba, Niki Claims

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev claimed tonight there are indications "aggressive U.S. monopolists" are preparing a direct attack on Cuba.

The Soviet Premier spoke at the Cuban Embassy in Moscow at a reception marking the second anniversary of Fidel Castro's revolution.

Radio Moscow quoted him as describing reports from that region as alarming.

In an apparent change of tone from his friendly new year greeting to President-elect John F. Kennedy, Khrushchev said U.S. circles sought to give the impression that Soviet rocket bases had been or were being set up in the Caribbean area.

"It is well known that this is a foul slander," Khrushchev declared. "There are no Soviet military bases in Cuba in the same way as there are no such bases in other countries."

Khrushchev asserted that, in contrast, "the present U.S. government is mad" on the policy of creating military bases on overseas territories.

"This is not a policy of peace but a policy of war, a policy of aggression," the Soviet leader said. "We are against such a policy and condemn the actions of all governments pursuing this policy."

"The present U.S. government," he said, "has revealed itself in the eyes of the world as a government pursuing an extremely reactionary policy in the interests of belligerent monopolists and colonialists."

Khrushchev said the Eisenhower government, "now in its last days, is pursuing an extremely

Plane With 4 Aboard Crashes

MULESHOE, Tex. (AP)—Four Texans were found dead today in the wreckage of their private plane, down four miles south of Fort Sumner, N.M.

The spot is about 65 miles west of the Texas border at Clovis in open ranch country.

The plane had been missing since late Wednesday after taking off from Socorro, N.M. for Farwell, Tex., 9 miles east of Hobbs.

The craft left Hatch, N. M., about 3 p.m. Dec. 28.

Piloting the plane was Don Taber, a former Texas highway patrolman from Farwell. Taber and a passenger, Charles Burks of Seymour, owned the four-place plane. Others aboard were D. C. Looney of Bovina and Scott Gergren of Farwell.

Life Is Calm In Tent City

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Protected by federal court orders and apparently feeling little pressure from landlords, Negro sharecroppers remained through New Year's Day in their Haywood and Fayette counties homes.

The day had been foreseen earlier as the beginning of a sharecropper exodus from the cotton-growing counties because landlords refused to renew yearly leases.

The white farmers continued to insist the 700 sharecroppers are not needed in an age of farm mechanization. The Justice Department says the threatened evictions resulted from Negroes registering to vote.

Although both counties are predominantly Negro, few of that race voted until this year.

U.S. Weather Cold, Snowy

By The Associated Press

It was cold and snowy across the northern two-thirds of the nation today.

Stormy weather which hammered sections of the Northeast on New Year's Day diminished during the night. Up to two feet of snow was reported in the Pulaski-Pineville and Fulton areas of New York, near Lake Ontario. Upstate New York was hardest hit by the storm which sharply curtailed travel on highways and by air.

The snow storm moved out of New England during the night but fairly heavy snow was reported in Maine. Lighter amounts hit northern Vermont but skies appeared clearing in southern New England.

Light snow continued during early morning over the northern Rockies, the northern Plains, parts of the upper and middle Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region and the Appalachians.

Severe cold weather stung the eastern Dakotas and Minnesota with below zero temperatures. It was 23 below in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. It was 93 degrees warmer in Miami, a mild 70. Another cold spot was Fraser, Colo., with -20.

Killed By Car

SAN PABLO, Calif. (AP)—Virgil Wells, 58, of Catarina, Tex., was killed by an auto here Saturday night.

3 Bodies Found On Sunken Tug

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—Salvage crews raised the sunken tugboat Phillip Arthur today and recovered bodies of three of the men who drowned on the vessel in the Intracoastal Canal Saturday night.

The tug, owned by the Alamo Barge Line of Houston, was believed to have been rammed by three empty oil barges she was towing and sank in 35 feet of water near U.S. 87 between Port Arthur and Sabine Pass.

A bridge tender whose name was not announced said he heard something hit the bridge as the tugs and the barges were passing through and a man cry for help.

He notified the Coast Guard at Sabine Pass. Two rescue craft sent to the scene found some butane tanks afloat and the barges adrift.

W. W. Holmes of the Alamo Barge Lines said currents are swift at the scene of the accident and it was possible the tug swerved sharply and the barges rammed her.

The tug was en route from Texas City to Lake Charles, La.

The barge line identified members of the crew as Captain Paul Roquemore, 34, of Texas City; first mate Lee Phillips, 42, Houston; engineer Dalvadore Marino of New Orleans; cook Buddy Gamiell of Houston; oiler Roy S. Davis, 46, Houston; and Manuel Media, 34, of Texas City.

Beloian Union Rally Called

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The head of one of Belgium's biggest unions today urged strikers to pour into the streets Tuesday for a massive demonstration of strength against the government.

Arthur Ualkeners, secretary-general of the Union of Public Service Workers, told a meeting of 1,200 at Socialist party headquarters: "We want 10 times as many as are here today. We'll show the country that we are determined to defeat the single law."

The single law has been proposed by Premier Gaston Eyskens' coalition of Social Christians and Liberals as an austerity tax and social security reform measure to balance the budget, speed up production and offset losses from the independence of the Congo. The Socialists claim the tax burden will fall unfairly on the working man.

Demonstrations are planned to coincide with the opening of Parliament, which will resume debate on the law. In hopes of crushing the 14-day strike, the government has been rounding up trade unionists. The Socialist mayor of Vervin was among those arrested.

Most of the Catholic trade unions have refused to join the Socialist walkouts. The Socialist unions claim membership of 700,000, the Catholic unions about 800,000.

Policemen patrolled the streets of Brussels today. In industrial areas outside the capital they made new arrests.

Three strikers were taken into custody at the big port of Antwerp. At Namur, police held three strikers suspected of sabotage.

At least 50 persons have been arrested in the last two days. The crackdown came after Eyskens warned he was determined to go ahead with his belt-tightening economic program. A government spokesman said no conciliatory moves are under consideration.

Victims Of Riots

A wounded man tries to crawl away from the scene of a riot in Chilpancingo, Mexico, while bodies of another man and woman lie on the pavement and other demonstrators take cover behind a wooden box and cart. At least 12 persons were killed and 37 injured in the troop clash with the crowd.

Oilman Dies

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Cipriano Andrade III, of Dallas, Tex., internationally known oilman, died Sunday of a heart attack.

2-MAN TEAMS CAN HANDLE NEW WEAPON

Atomic Bazooka Developed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has made public a picture of a new battlefield weapon that fires an atomic bomb small enough to be lifted by one man.

The bulbous bomb has four fins and is about the size of a wastepaper basket. In the picture it is perched at the end of a launching tube mounted on a jeep.

The Army said the weapon, called the Davy Crockett, also can be launched from a tripod that can be carried by two or three soldiers.

The weapon's power is secret, but it is understood to be something less than one kiloton—the equivalent of 1,000 tons of TNT. The first atomic bombs had a power of 20 kilotons and hydrogen bombs can be the equivalent of more than 15 million tons of TNT.

The Army said the warhead packs a tremendous force yet has a small, enough effective radius that troops firing it, nearby troops and civilian population are not endangered by blasts. Radioactive fallout danger is minimized.

Experts said soldiers can stand only two miles from a Davy Crockett explosion without danger.

Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker said "the Davy Crockett dwarfs in firepower anything we have ever known in the immediate area of the battle line." He said it can be carried to any trouble spot in the world in a matter of hours.

Red Forces Take Strategic Area In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The pro-American government of Premier Prince Boun Oum said Communist forces made advances over the weekend and seized Laos' strategic plain, creating a threat to the royal seat of Luang Prabang and this administrative capital.

In a three-pronged attack, the Reds captured the plain, its airfield and the northern provincial capital of Phong Saly. The Boun government announced. Army defenders were driven back to Xiengkhouang, about 100 miles northeast of Vientiane and about the same distance southeast of Luang Prabang.

At a news conference today the information minister said he had no fresh news on the military situation.

But Diplomacy Hopes Hold Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States moved cautiously today toward possible Allied military intervention against Communist forces in Laos. But top U.S. officials hoped the spreading civil war crisis could be checked by diplomatic action.

President Eisenhower kept in close touch with State and Defense Department chiefs through the New Year holiday. Officials of the incoming Kennedy administration were informed of developments.

Eisenhower delayed final decisions on intervention, pending more complete information on the reported invasion of Laos by Communist forces from North Vietnam. Officials here assumed their purpose was to reinforce native leftists and Communist forces striving to crush the pro-Western government at Vientiane.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was called to the White House to confer with Eisenhower on the situation. Earlier he had talked twice with the President by telephone.

Herter also arranged a conference with his Kennedy administration successor, Dean Rusk.

Preparations for possible U.S. military action appeared to be under way:

1. The aircraft carrier Lexington was reported sailing south from Hong Kong, where it visited last week, to the Southeast Asian crisis area.
2. Two troop transports, Paul Revere and Monticello, it was learned here, are also within easy sailing distance of Laos with a landing team of 1,000 Marines aboard.
3. Troop-carrying planes of the Tactical Air Command "are being repositioned for any eventuality," the Air Force said in Washington. This word came Sunday night after disclosure that Shaw Air Force Base in South Carolina and Sewart AFB near Nashville, Tenn., had been ordered on alert.

Just a few hours after Cheryl Lee's arrival, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Mason, 1405 Stanford, became parents of a seven pound, 5 1/2 ounce girl, who arrived at 10:12 a.m. at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

The third New Year's Day baby came at 9:40 p.m. at the Webb AFB hospital. She is the daughter of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Charles L. Fox and weighed seven pounds.

RESIDENTS LEAVE

Many Vientiane residents who could afford to do so were leaving the city but there were no apparent signs of panic. Streets were almost deserted.

CONFER WITH RUSK

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was called to the White House to confer with Eisenhower on the situation. Earlier he had talked twice with the President by telephone.

MAUZEY PRESENTS GAVEL TO MAHON As County Judge Martin Looks On

Judge Mauzey Swears In Six New Officeholders At C-City

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Retiring District Judge A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater swore in six officeholders Sunday afternoon, including District Judge-elect Eldon Mahon of Colorado City.

About 50 turned out for the ceremony in the district courtroom as Mauzey presented Mahon with a gavel.

Three other newcomers included Mose Allen, constable, precinct 1; Marcus Vest, commissioner, precinct 1; and Montie Hardgrove, Mitchell County tax assessor and collector.

Re-elected and sworn in Sunday were: J. C. Northcutt, commissioner, precinct 3, and Mitchell County Attorney Frank Ginzle.

Sheriff-elect Lewis Claxton and deputies Bob McGuire and Roy Richards were sworn in Saturday night by County Judge Elmer Martin. Lawrence Graham of Lorraine, incoming constable of precinct 5, was sworn in at the same time.

Other officials taking office this year include: J. W. Plummer of Westbrook, re-elected constable of precinct 2; L. R. Messimer of Westbrook, elected as Justice of the Peace, precinct 2—an office which had not been filled for more than 30 years; and Lynn Hamilton of Lorraine, public weigher, precinct 5.

Messimer's election came in the general election, when seven voters wrote in both the office and the candidate. The last Westbrook JP served in 1928 or 1929, according to County Judge Elmer Martin, and the office was not listed on the ballot furnished to voters of precinct 2. However, even though a county office is not in use or is unfilled, the office is not eliminated, Martin added. In a similar case in Mitchell County several years ago, Constable Plummer was elected by two write-in votes. The office of constable had not been filled in precinct 3 for many years, but Plummer's votes reactivated the office. In at least one instance, prior to Jan. 1, 1953, the office of constable precinct 1 (Colorado City) had been vacant for more than two years.

Following the Sunday ceremony, the Mitchell County Bar Association honored retiring Judge Mauzey—who has served as district judge since 1952—with a coffee at a downtown hotel.

Sherman Manley, 1017 Johnson, told police his watch, valued at about $100, was stolen from the Wyoming Hotel.

Jim Raoul reported the money box was taken from the drink machine at his service station, 1301 S. Gregg. It contained about a dollar, he said.

A burglary at the El Rancho Cafe, 307 NW 4th, netted the thieves between $65 and $70. The money was taken from the music machine.

Police jumped from one investigation to another during the New Year's weekend, as the blotter was filled with thefts, shootings, and burglaries.

Officer W. L. Lenson and Sheriff's deputy Tommy Cole arrested a Negro man about a mile west of the city Sunday after he had fired a pistol at a woman in the Northside flats area. Police said he attempted to shoot Ida Ross, 219 NE 9th, but the bullet missed and entered the house at 304 NE 9th. He is being held pending charges.

James Barritt, 1208 Mesa, reportedly someone threw a smoke bomb into his house.

An 18-year-old youth is being held on suspicion of attempted armed robbery and burglary. He was arrested near the U. S. 87 truck stop Sunday, armed with a shotgun and wearing a mask.

H. L. Glover, Ravens, told police the tags and title for his car were stolen while parked at the Big Spring Motel.

Fighting Starts In Congress Today In Power-Curb Moves

WASHINGTON (AP)—The skirmishing starts today in the Senate and the House on moves to curb the power of conservatives in the 87th Congress that will convene Tuesday.

In the Senate, a caucus of liberal Democrats was called to map strategy for a fight directed primarily at making it easier to shut off filibusters against civil rights and other controversial bills.

In the House, prior to a caucus of all Democratic members, a group of liberals was angling for the support of Speaker Sam Rayburn for action to weaken the Rules Committee's grip on legislation.

Sponsors of the moves in both branches of Congress contended they were necessary to clear the way for the kind of legislative program urged by President-elect John F. Kennedy in his "new frontier" campaign.

Kennedy recently said he favored congressional procedures that would permit the majority to work its will—a position he supported as a member of the Senate.

However, he also indicated he believed it was a matter to be worked out by Congress without executive interference. In the absence of his direct intervention, any far-reaching changes in Senate or House rules appeared unlikely.

About 40 of the 65 Democratic senators were invited to today's liberal caucus in notices sent out by Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.,

Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

One of their chief goals is a change in Senate rules so that filibusters can be halted by the votes of 51 senators, or a majority of the 100 members. It now takes the votes of two-thirds of the senators present and voting.

They also would like to bring about changes that would give them a stronger voice in policy-making machinery and whittle away some of the power of legislative committee chairmen, many of whom are conservative Southern Democrats.

The liberal Democratic group in the House has an identical objective in its maneuvering against the powerful Rules Committee, which in the past has bottled up some measures of the kind advocated by Kennedy. It is dominated by Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Democratic leaders have made plain their desire to avoid as far as possible any party-splitting fights even before Kennedy submits his legislative program after his inauguration Jan. 20.

In the House it appeared possible that a ruckus might be averted, but a scrap over the Senate's filibuster rule at the outset of the new Congress was accepted as inevitable.

Traffic Toll Near Estimate

By The Associated Press

Traffic	275
Fires	55
Miscellaneous	58
Total	388

Deaths on the streets and highways rose at a faster rate today, the last day of the long New Year weekend.

Fatalities numbered 275 in traffic, 55 in fires and 58 in accidents of other kinds for an over-all total of 388.

Scattered areas of snow and ice on roads increased the hazards of motoring in the North while thousands of travelers began the homeward legs of their holiday trips.

Officials of the National Safety Council expressed concern over the quickening speed of the traffic death rate's climb. They said the toll was running ahead of their advance estimate. If the rate held that pace, they added, it would threaten the record of 374 for a three-day observance of the New Year, set a year ago.

A week ago, for the comparable period for the Christmas weekend, there were 338 traffic deaths, 55 fire deaths and 60 in miscellaneous accidents. The final Christmas weekend count showed 408 traffic fatalities, 77 in fires and 82 in miscellaneous mishaps for a total of 647.

The council said traffic deaths

Texas Tally Stands At 43

By The Associated Press

The New Year holiday weekend violent death toll climbed to 43 persons Monday with traffic accounting for 24 fatalities.

Six men drowned when a tug sank near Port Arthur and two small children died in a Fort Worth apartment fire. Shootings, stabbings and accidents accounted for the other deaths.

The Associated Press tabulation covers the period from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Monday. The deaths included:

Louis Ruskin, 35, of San Antonio was found dead in his car Sunday night. Police say he wore a pilot's oxygen mask which was attached by a hose to the car's exhaust pipe.

Louise Schoolcraft, 25, of Fort Worth was found shot to death Sunday in a Houston motel. Police arrested a girl, 17, and sought two men.

Frank Rigdon, 41, of Houston was killed Sunday when his auto plunged into White Oak Bayou in Houston.

Three persons died in a two-car collision on Farm 107 near Oglesby, 26 miles southwest of Waco, Sunday. Guy Etheridge, 70, and his wife, Jenny Lou, 60, of Oglesby died at the scene. Jarrell Netherland, 16, of Gatesville, died later.

Two Negro children burned to death Sunday night when a fire swept through their duplex apartment home at Fort Worth. They were Eddie Williams, 3, and Janice Williams, 5, children of Mrs. Ruthie May Berry.

Killed when the tugboat Phillip Arthur sank late Saturday were Capt. Paul Rothmore of Texas City, first mate Leo Phillips of Houston, engineer Salvadore Marino of New Orleans, cook Buddy Ganiell of Houston, oiler Roy Davis of Houston, and Manuel Mendia of Texas City.

John William Sauer, 21, a Texas A&M student, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound at his home in the Houston suburb of Bellaire.

Matt Hood, 35, an oilfield worker of New Caney, died in an accident at a well site in Tyler County Sunday.

L. C. Winder, 42, of Las Vegas, Nev., died in a traffic collision 13 miles south of San Antonio Monday.

Mrs. Maude Zumwalt Massey, 58, of San Antonio died Sunday night in a traffic collision just inside Boerne. Injured were her husband, Dallas Massey, about 53, and a passenger in the other vehicle, Robert Wayne Ferguson.

City Has Eight Weekend Wrecks

New Year's weekend drivers piled up eight automobile accidents in Big Spring, three of them classified by police as hit-and-run.

Donald Way, 502 State, reported his car was struck while parked at 1701 Gregg and Charlie Sweeney, 1209 Douglas, said his car was hit while parked at 104 E. 3rd. Other vehicles involved left the scenes. The third hit-and-run mishap was reported by Helen Jones Davis, 1104 Blackmon, who was involved in a collision in the 900 block of Lamasa Dr.

Queen Gets Wrong Number

A Man Of Purpose

"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls: who when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it."

The man in our Lord's parable was a seeker. He does not picture a Christian; nor necessarily, a person who is seeking to be one. He does not value a Church of Christ know of its value; but when he finds true Christianity, he will recognize its great value.

Man should be a seeker. They should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after Him and find Him, though He is not far from everyone of us." Acts 17:27.

Dear reader: don't drift aimlessly. Don't waste your life drinking and gambling; nor just accumulating worldly goods. Have a higher aim in life than to live to amuse yourself. There are goodly pearls to be found. Yes, there is one pearl of great price; and it may become yours.

8 Children Killed In Ohio Inferno

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Flames, like a giant brush fire, were shooting out the front door and window of the Cowan house. Then I heard awful screams from a woman and I saw a man standing near a tree about 20 feet from the house, yelling: 'Get my kids out of that house! They're burning up!'"

This was the description given by Lawrence Calloway, 60, a neighbor of James Russell Cowan, 36, whose eight children perished Sunday in a pre-dawn fire that swept the Negro family's two-story frame dwelling.

Calloway said he saw Fannie Cowan, 29, running around the back of the house, screaming, "My children are in there! Help! Get them out!"

But, said Calloway, "nobody could get in that house." The victims were Connell Foster, 14, Reuben Johnson, 8, and Frank Lee Steple, 12, all Cowan's steps, and all five of the couple's children—James, 5, Druesella, 4, Robert, 3, Lawrence 18 months, and Judith, 7 months.

"All we found were eight pitiful, charred bodies," said Asst. Fire Chief Glenn Barr.

Mrs. Cowan received severe burns over half of her body and was reported in fair condition at a hospital. Cowan was treated for minor burns on his head, neck and hands.

"I had laid down on the bed in the front room with my wife and our 18-month-old son, Lawrence Eugene, who was asleep beside her, and it seemed only minutes before I felt my wife shaking me by the shirt."

"Get up, get up, the house is on fire" she screamed. It was like a dream, a nasty dream. I got up, confused. I saw flames licking at the bed. It looked like somebody was shooting a flame thrower through the house.

"Through smoke I saw my wife across the room. All I could think of was to get her out of there. I was so excited I couldn't think or I would have grabbed my son off the bed."

"I turned to the front door. I had a rug over it to keep out the cold—and a lock. Frantically, I tore the rug down, broke the lock off and pushed the door open."

"Then I ran across the room, lifted my wife up and carried her out of the house. I dumped her in the snow."

"When I went back to the door, flames puffed out and knocked me down."

"When I couldn't get back into the house, the first thing I thought of was to get my wife out of the cold. So I carried her two blocks to my mother's. Then I ran back to the house."

"By the time I got back the firemen were there and they told me to stay away."

Daily Reading Can Take One Through Bible In Year

Many people set for themselves a goal of reading through the Bible during the year.

Not a few of our great men in national life have advocated reading the Bible because they have realized its value through personal experience. Woodrow Wilson said "the Bible is the Word of Life. Read long passages that will really be the road to the heart of it. When you have read the Bible you will know that it is the Word of God because you will have found it the key to your own heart, your own happiness, and your own duty."

Here is a simple suggested schedule of reading which will take you all the way through the Bible during 1961. It works like this: On Jan. 1, read from Gen. 1 to Gen. 4; on Jan. 2, read from Gen. 4 to Gen. 8, etc.

Schoolboy Admits Cousins' Deaths

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — The New Mexico state police today said a Taos High School junior had plotted to kill his two cousins for two weeks.

Emilio Martinez, 16, signed a statement Sunday admitting the shooting deaths of his cousins, Bonifacio Mondragon, 20, and his brother, Dan, 18, Friday as the two hunted coyotes.

The slight youth told police his cousins had teased him about him getting married.

U.N. Troops Kill 10 Congo Rebels

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Nigerian troops of the United Nations killed 10 rebel Baluba tribesmen who attacked a stranded rail wagon on the line outside Albertville in Katanga Province.

A U.N. spokesman said today the Nigerians were escorting a gang of rail workers. The Balubas attacked with old shotguns and bows and arrows and the Nigerians shot 10 of them down in machinegun fire. They believed several more were wounded.

Cured Insomnia

Rose Marie believes that well-being depends on natural sleep. In today's Hollywood Beauty column, she gives her secret for curing insomnia. She believes in old adage of stitch in time.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

She Guards Against Increasing Tensions

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Rose Marie, who was famous as a child performer, is still going strong in CBS-TV's series, "My Sister Eileen" and other shows.

"I've worked so long in night clubs and slept all day that my new schedule means a complete change in my life," Rose Marie declared.

"At first it was very difficult for me to fall asleep at night. I was determined not to form the sleeping pill habit, and so I tried everything anyone told me about.

"Hot baths, that put other people into a relaxed state, only simulated me. Try drinking a cup of hot milk," another friend told me.

"Sip it before you turn off the light and you'll sleep like a baby." Well, it didn't do the trick for me.

"A tranquilizer won't hurt you," someone else told me and gave me a few of hers. I went to sleep right away, but in a few hours,

I was wide awake and stayed that way the rest of the night.

"Sleep is the foundation of good health, and I realized that I could not go on without it, so in desperation I went to a doctor. He gave me a routine that has worked like magic.

"Now my biggest problem is solved!" Rose Marie looked at me from across her dressing room and exclaimed, "I hope it works as well for others as it has for me. It is so simple. I lie across my bed with my head falling over the side. I can feel my back and chest stretching and I find I start to breathe deeply as the blood flows into my head. Soon I can feel myself losing tension, and by the time I put my head on the pillow, I'm half asleep.

"But I'm careful not to get overly tired during the day," Rose Marie added. "I try to keep relaxed and not allow tension to mount too much. When it comes to relaxation, that stitch in time adage really works."

New Year's Day Tea Given In Bass Home

The home of Mrs. A. C. Bass, 106 Washington Blvd. was the scene Sunday afternoon for a New Year's Day tea honoring members of the Susannah Wesley Class of First Methodist Church and their guests.

Guests calling between the hours of three and six were greeted by Mrs. Bass.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. J. C. E. Shive, Mrs. A. D. Franklin, Mrs. W. A. Miller, Mrs. Felton Smith and Mrs. Alice Riggs. They poured punch from a crystal bowl placed on a table covered with a cloth of pink decorated felt. Centering the serving table was an arrangement of pink pompons set in a bowl of roses. Other appointments were of silver. At each end of the table were triple branch brass candle holders which held pink tapers.

Organ music was furnished by Jack Hendrix who also accompanied Hubert Murphy who sang two solos.

Among the 44 guests who called during the afternoon were Mrs. C. P. Gary and Mrs. Dera Winn of Colorado City, Mrs. Banda Martin of Lorraine, and Mrs. Chapman of Fort Worth.

A Year For Doris Day

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Woman of the year in the film capital is a litling, sunny blonde who refutes the notion that you have to be a headlined sexpot to make the grade in Hollywood.

Doris Day is her name, formerly Dodo Kappelhoff of Cincinnati, Ohio.

After a dozen years in films, she is just about the most sure-fire female offering in the movie market. She has won all of the box office awards in sight. In 1959, she also drew the nod of her fellow craftsmen for earning an Academy award nomination for her performance in "Pillow Talk."

Nary a scandal has aided her climb to the top. She lives quietly in a modern Beverly Hills manse with her husband-producer Marty Melcher and 18-year-old son Terry by a previous marriage.

BELLS AND RINGS

The more publicized film queens were active, too. Elizabeth Taylor was in the news with her various ailments, which combined to postpone "Cleopatra."

Her onetime friend, Debbie Reynolds, made the headlines in late November by marrying shoe tycoon Harry Karl, thus squaring up Hollywood's most famous triangle.

It was wedding bells for Lana Turner, too. She took her fifth husband, rancher-businessman Fred May.

Two other famous marriages hit the rocks amid much public notice. Lucille Ball's long idyll with Desi Arnaz came to an end, both professionally and domestically. To save the hurt, she plunged into work, making a movie with Bob Hope and embarking on a Broadway musical, "Wildcat."

MILLER BOWS OUT

Another of Hollywood's fabulous invalids, Marilyn Monroe, allied through two films, including one written by her husband Arthur Miller. As soon as the film was over, she broke up housekeeping with him.

French Girls Lead A Sheltered Life

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Are French teen-agers more sophisticated than American young people?

"They are worlds apart," says Parisienne, Annie Farge, who is star of a television series, "Angel," about a French girl who marries an American boy.

"At 14 a French girl is just a little girl, but many American girls at that age are wearing makeup and dating boys."

French girls do not date boys until they are about 17. Then the dates are limited to Sunday afternoon house parties, when records are played and they drink coffee. Large parties are for special occasions such as birthdays and Christmas, she explains.

"We were kept too busy to get into mischief when I was a teenager," recalls Annie, now 24. "School hours are long, from 9 to 6 with a two-hour lunch break. There is no school Thursday afternoon, but there is school Saturday morning. Homework is an enormous project, and there is no time for anything else in the evening."

"How can you get into trouble with a schedule like that," asks Annie. "If time is organized before and after school there is no time to panic or plot. I think schools should take up more of the time slack of young people, because the behavior of any teen-age group seems to be influenced by school routine."

She thinks it would cut down on steady dating, and early marriages in the best interest of young people.

"French girls used to marry at an early age, but so many mistakes were made, and it was difficult to dissolve the marriages, so now they take their time in choosing the boy, and the average girl doesn't marry until she is 20 or 21, unlike your girls who marry in their teens."

French girls are not fascinated by American boys, she says. "American boys are too kind," Annie explains. "If they were a little tougher or the tough French boys were a little kinder, you would have an ideal man."

French girls are mad for American clothes, however. "They adore little boy shirts, sweaters, skinny pants, Bermuda shorts, knee socks, and American hairdos. It seems strange that this is so in Paris, considered the fashion center of the world," Annie says.

actress married choreographer-dancer, Dirk Sanders, a few years ago, and they have a 7 months old girl, Leslie.

It was not a fast romance, she explains. "I had known him since I was a drama student."

Annie is an exception to the rule that French girls stay sheltered until they become engaged. She was playing in the Comedie Francaise at 17.

Saved From Leap In River

A Boston police officer holds an unidentified man by the collar (left photo) as he attempted to jump into the Charles River. Other police officers came to his assistance and pulled the man to safety and into a police van. Police said the man was an outpatient in a veterans hospital and would not disclose his name.

Gail Not Far From Lake, But Has Water Shortage Problem

GAIL — After a water shortage of half a century, this town is now seeking ways to find a supply that will serve its need. Although Gail has only about 100 population it has never had enough water to attract businesses or new residents.

At present there is no city water system, except for a small reservoir, which catches rainwater to be used by the courthouse. Last summer this reservoir almost dried up and the county had to haul water. Several residents have joined together to place a small pump in the reservoir and now have water piped to their homes.

"We have only a few water wells in town," said County Judge C. C. Nunnally, "and they are mostly seep wells. They are drilled into a sand formation and must be recharged by heavy rainfall. During dry periods, some of them fail."

The school has seven small wells but they seldom supply as much water as is needed. Some private homes have no wells at all, but must haul water for domestic use.

There is some hope that Gail may eventually get water from Lake Thomas. This will depend upon whether Lamesa should decide to go to the lake and the kind of contract that CRMWD and the city of Lamesa might sign. At present there are tentative negotiations between the two governing bodies, but the deal will be determined by whether Lamesa feels it would be more economical to secure water from Lake J. B. Thomas or from the Canadian River. Lamesa is a member of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

"If Lamesa ever lays a water line from the Lake Thomas, it will pass about 16 miles south of us," Nunnally said. "At present the county has no authority to make any kind of a deal, and the people of Gail are not financially able to sponsor a costly project. However, if we had a chance to get water this way, we might get the Legislature to help us."

Nunnally says nobody has actually gone thirsty. The situation has always been about the same, but unless a plentiful supply of water can be found, the future growth of Gail will be seriously impaired.

One or two other studies are being considered, but none are far enough along to mean anything at present.

Fireman Beats Brain At Checkers

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The Dallas fire department's champion checker player battled an electronic brain to a draw this weekend but he won't fool the $1,400,000 electronic data processing system again with the same play. After losing the first game to the IBM 704, Capt. O. G. Sartain came back with a new approach that stumped the machine. When the machine had a king and four players left while Sartain had a king and five players the printer announced "704 concedes defeat."

"But it will never be beaten again that way," an IBM expert said. "Now the series is recorded on tape and the machine will counteract the play if anyone tries that method again."

New Year Brings Usual Fun And Woe

By The Associated Press

That little boy in diapers the cartoonists use for the new year has arrived again, bringing with him the usual package of fun and frenzy, wonder and woe.

As housewives swept up the last of the confetti today they faced a year in which many of the troubles would be just continuations of 1960's problems.

In the Asian kingdom of Laos, Communist-led rebels captured important ground in the heart of the country. The United States considered the situation so grave that it called for the earliest possible meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Council to consider the crisis.

In Algeria, bitter guerrilla warfare dragged on between the Moslem nationalists and the French, and death did not take a new year's holiday.

In the Congo, chaos and civil war raged. The first day of 1961 saw opposing factions of Congolese troops clashing in an inconclusive small-arms battle.

Those were only a few of the world's trouble spots.

Perhaps to arm themselves for the problems ahead, many millions of people in many parts of the world chose New Year's Day as a time for prayer and meditation.

President-elect John F. Kennedy attended Mass Sunday in West Palm Beach, Fla., and joined in a prayer for divine guidance of the nation.

He and Soviet Premier Khrushchev exchanged messages expressing the hope that peace and goodwill might replace the long-standing tensions between the two countries.

Khrushchev's subjects, enduring another frigid Russian winter, got another message that must have warmed many a Muscovite heart in a quite different fashion.

French actress Brigitte Bardot sent an autographed picture to the mass circulation magazine Ogoniok, which printed it along with her greetings to Soviet fans.

In Italy, Romans and Neapolitans were still recovering from their custom of setting off firecrackers and throwing old crockery into the street at midnight. An estimated 200 persons were injured in the frolic. The street cleaners went on emergency duty to tidy up.

Europeans in general concentrated on forgetting their troubles, even if the price sometimes was high. At Monte Carlo, 1,500 celebrities and others paid $50 each—not counting the champagne—to celebrate at the Hotel de Paris.

One of the minor wonders of the new year happened right in the staid New York suburb of Bedford Hills. Early new year morning, police got a call from a motorist who said there was a lion shivering on a snowbank on route 117.

They wondered about the motorist's sobriety. But they checked up anyway, and found a genuine lion—actually a baby lioness.

Richard Hall, an employee of a local pet show, had brought the tame lion to a children's party—and it got away.

Police finally chased it off the snowbank into Hall's waiting arms.

Mansfield Urges Bilateral Troop Reduction In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., has urged that the United States offer to withdraw some of its troops in Europe if the Soviet Union will cut its forces in the Eastern-European satellite countries.

This would reduce the drain on American gold and still maintain the symbol of U.S. commitments to defend Western Europe if it is attacked, Mansfield said.

His statement Sunday emphasized that Mansfield was making a personal proposal rather than one to which the incoming president, John F. Kennedy, is committed. Mansfield becomes majority leader of the Senate this week.

The Mansfield idea got immediate support from a key Republican, Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee and ranking GOP member of the Armed Services Committee.

"This is a proposal that I think has some merit to it," Bridges said in an interview. "I think very definitely we should explore the possibility of making an offer of this kind."

Mansfield said five U.S. divisions now in Western Europe are up against more than 25 Soviet divisions in East Germany, Poland and Hungary.

"The numerical imbalance as between the Russian forces and our own committed in Europe is overwhelmingly weighted on the side of the Soviet Union," Mansfield said. "From this it is clear that the U.S. divisions in Europe, as such, have lost real meaning in terms of the shield concept of NATO."

"Protestations to the contrary, their significant meaning is a symbol of our commitment to join in the defense of Western Europe with all our strength and all our weapons if that area is invaded.

"A symbol of this kind would be no less a symbol if the U.S. commitment were to consist of two or three divisions rather than five."

He suggested the United States should offer to withdraw two or three divisions if the Soviets agreed to cut their forces proportionately in East Germany, Poland and Hungary—probably by about 10 divisions.

Mansfield said he has reason to believe the Soviets are anxious to reduce their armaments.

If European nations feel their security would be weakened by a reduction of American forces, he said, "they are in a financial position now to strengthen their own military forces and should do so."

He said it costs $1,600,000,000 a year to maintain the five U.S. divisions now in Europe.

Tropical Fruit In Dead Of Winter

It may seem strange that a tropical fruit like papaya should be growing in this icy nation, but really it is not, because this happens to be in the southern-most tip of Texas, the Rio Grande Valley. Frances Johnson of Hartlingen is checking over the tree for a ripe papaya for breakfast.

U.N. Opposes Base For Congo Attacks

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The United Nations is expected again today to warn Belgium against letting Congolese government troops use the Belgian-administered trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi as a base against rebels.

Congolese troops sent by Col. Joseph Mobutu were beaten off in a four-hour battle with rebels Sunday when they attempted to march into Kivu province from the neighboring Belgian territory. Mobutu's troops had been flown to Usumbura in Ruanda-Urundi, and were transported 90 miles to the Kivu border in Belgian army trucks. They retreated into Ruanda-Urundi when defeated by the rebels who pledge loyalty to ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold had warned Belgium against permitting the territory to be used as a jump-off point for Congolese army action against rebels in Kivu.

The Indian U.N. military adviser, Brig. Indarjit Rikhye, told newsmen in Leopoldville such action would be tantamount to aggression and would violate all U.N. resolutions banning unilateral military aid to the Congo.

In Brussels, Belgian Foreign Ministry sources said Congo President Joseph Kasavubu asked permission to land troops in Ruanda-Urundi because no landing fields in Kivu were adequate.

The troops were escorted to the border by Belgian troops to avoid incidents, the sources said.

A U.N. spokesman said the Belgians reported Kasavubu's request was not received in Brussels until after the troops had already landed in Usumbura.

About 50 Mobutu soldiers marched across an international bridge linking Kivu and Ruanda-Urundi, bearing white flags and apparently intending to negotiate with the rebels. They were met by violent bursts of gunfire.

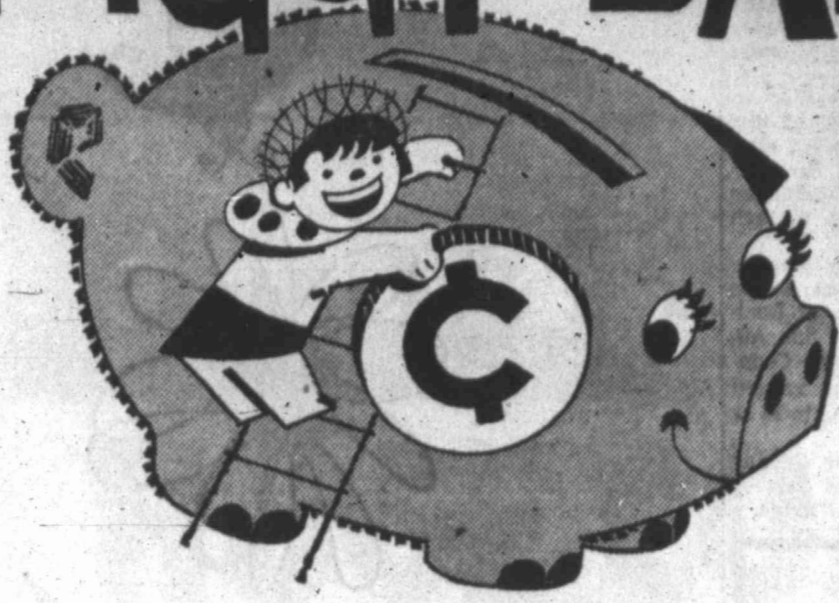

Nigerian U.N. troops in Bukavu, capital of Kivu, had orders to prevent any Congolese soldiers from crossing the international bridge. But they apparently stayed out of the gunfight. They reported rebel troops were "in complete control" of Bukavu.

At United Nations headquarters, Hammarskjold announced he will delay his trip to Africa one day because of developments in the Congo.

Bridges Sees Independent Action By GOP In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Styles Bridges R-N.H., forecast today that congressional Republicans, cut loose from White House ties, will adopt a new independent attitude toward many legislative proposals.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said this was likely to result in increased opposition to foreign aid and other spending proposals in the session of Congress opening Tuesday.

"In the past our policy largely has been made at the White House," Bridges said. "It was a process of agreeing at the White House and then agreeing in Congress. But there are going to have to be some changes made."

"I think the Republicans in the two Houses are going to work much more closely together than they have in the past. I think there is going to be a new, independent attitude on foreign aid and some other matters."

In the last eight years, President Eisenhower has plugged consistently for larger foreign aid spending than many Republicans favored. But many of them went along with the President's program as a matter of what they regarded as political necessity.

Bridges made it clear in an interview he does not believe Eisenhower's views on such matters will have much influence on congressional Republicans after he leaves the White House. By implication, he applied this also to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the party's losing presidential nominee.

DEAR ABBY

THOSE PARTIES!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every year countless wives sit home while their husbands are out drinking and dancing with other women. This is called "The Annual Christmas Party." If people want to disregard the bonds of holy matrimony, must it be done in the name of our Lord, Jesus?

A WIFE WHO SAT

DEAR ABBY: Can't you do something about putting a stop to these Christmas parties for employees only? Every year I go through the same thing with my husband. He says if he doesn't go, his co-workers will think he thinks he's too good to party with them. He stays out practically all night and is hung-over for two days. We fight about this months before and months after, and I know other couples who have the same problem.

"HATES HOLIDAYS"

DEAR ABBY: An office romance broke up my home. And do you want to know how it started? Someone dared my husband to kiss a divorcee at the Christmas party. He not only kissed her, he took her home and that was the beginning of the end of our marriage.

"ALONE"

DEAR ABBY: Those hypocrites who are the first to recite the evils of the Christmas party give me a pain in the neck. Nothing happens there that couldn't happen a hundred other places.

NO HYPOCRITE

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago my wife came home and told me they were having a Christmas party at her office and husbands and wives were not invited, I told her where she went. I went. She didn't go to the party, and neither did any other respectable married employee. Now they invite husbands, wives and sweethearts, which is the way it ought to be.

STARTED SOMETHING

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it a little unfair to blame the "Christmas Party" on employers? We want to please our employees, so each year we let them vote secretly for a party with or without husbands and wives. And every year they have voted a party WITHOUT. So get off our backs.

Jack Attacks Job Problem

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy has stamped a top priority label on a program recommending an arsenal of weapons for attacking the problem of chronic unemployment in depression areas.

The program, outlined by a study committee headed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., calls for crash basis action to provide swift relief for the needy, and for long-term measures aimed at wiping out the problem.

At a joint news conference Sunday with Douglas, Kennedy called the report of the committee he created an excellent one, and added, "It is a problem which I think deserves the most important domestic priority."

"I think that in a country of which we are so rightfully proud, that the federal government, working with the communities, working with the people, working with the states, ought to take affirmative action."

ONE IN TEN

In a statement in advance of the news conference, Kennedy said the problem is especially critical because today "one out of every 10 persons in the United States lives in an area that now feels the impact of chronic unemployment or underemployment."

In its unanimous report, the 22-member Douglas committee called for the fastest possible action to provide food, funds, public work and other relief for the stricken areas.

The committee's long-term program for elimination of depression pockets is a broad-based blueprint for encouraging new industries.

fulfill a campaign pledge that he would send Congress a relief program shortly after he takes office Jan. 20. In running for election he time and again criticized the outgoing administration's policies in this field. President Eisenhower vetoed two depressed areas bills, saying they would have channeled help to regions which did not need it as well as to those which did.

MOST IMPORTANT

At the New-Year's Day news conference at Kennedy's home, Douglas singled out two recommendations as the most important. One calls for nearly doubling the amount of surplus food the government is supplying to destitute families. The other urges speedy new enactment of an area redevelopment bill — patterned after the two Eisenhower vetoed — to provide mainly for low interest loans to attract new industries and permit expansion of old ones in depression regions.

As for food, the report says that in September the surplus supplies distributed to 3.2 million persons had an average retail value of $9.36 a month for families of four persons.

Douglas told reporters the committee believes this amount could be almost doubled by presidential order, without having to get an authorization from Congress.

Douglas said there are about 15 million people living in areas where there is high and persistent unemployment—even when times are good in the rest of the country. In these areas, Douglas added, more than 600,000 are out of work. He said a very large proportion of those have been unemployed for a long time.

FARM INCOME

In addition, the senator went on, there are from four to seven million people living in rural areas where there is underemployment and low farm income.

Speaking of both groups, Douglas said: "So we have over 10 per cent of the population of the nation in these pockets and it is a very serious situation."

"In many cases it (chronic unemployment) has been going on for 10 years. In many of the communities, such as sections of West Virginia and southern Illinois, the percentage of unemployment is over 16 per cent and in some cases 20 per cent, so action is needed."

Kennedy said the area redevelopment bill the Senate passed last year would have cost about $369 million, with $300 million of the total in loans repayable to the Treasury.

The redevelopment program is only one segment of the committee's proposals. In Washington, private estimates put the total cost of the proposals at a half billion dollars or more.

FOUR STEPS

The committee outlined four steps it called imperative to ease immediate hardship.

1. Presidential action to provide more surplus commodities for needy areas — such additional items as butter, oatmeal and peanut butter; presidential and congressional action to permit purchase of non-surplus food needed to provide a better diet.

2. A temporary emergency program to give unemployment compensation benefits for hundreds of thousands of wage earners who have exhausted benefits under current state programs. This additional compensation would be through federal grants rather than loans.

3. Enactment of legislation to provide grants to states to help finance relief payments to needy who cannot obtain further unemployment compensation benefits.

4. A program of emergency public works projects.

Garza's Wet Spot Eases Borden Load

GAIL — The creating of a wet precinct near Post has lightened the load of the Borden County sheriff's office considerably. Before that precinct voted for the sale of whisky and beer, the highways of Borden County were well-traveled by bootleggers hauling from Big Spring to points north of Gail.

"We used to have more bootleggers coming through Borden County than any other county in West Texas," said Sheriff Sid Reeder. "When we got busy and caught a few, they would start detouring through Dawson and Scurry counties. Then if we let up for a few weeks, the word would get around and the night haulers would be with us again."

Reeder says he has caught only one bootlegger since the Garza County precinct became wet about three months ago. One difficulty in stopping the illegal booze is because the drivers had several paved roads to choose from, and there are only two officers in the county. Reeder says the liquor control officers are co-operative and are of tremendous help.

Though the vigilance required to intercept liquor loads is time-consuming, it is seldom dangerous, he said. Bootleggers might try to outrun an officer, and sometimes do, but they seldom resist when arrested. They know it will be less painful to pay a fine than to be charged with a more serious crime.

Kennedy set up the committee a few weeks ago in a move to

A Devotional For Today

I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. (John 8:12.)
PRAYER: We thank Thee, our Father, for Jesus Christ, the light of the world. We praise Thee that through Him we have the hope of eternal life. Teach us more of His wonders and help us to teach them to others. We offer Thee our praise and ask these blessings in the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From The "Upper Room")

An Urgent Need Here

The Board for State Hospitals and Special and Gov. Price Daniel have laid out budget proposals for the Big Spring State Hospital and other Texas eleemosynary institutions. While we are interested in all, we are most intimately concerned with those proposed for the hospital here.
One of the items is a $300,000 request for a medical and surgical hospital. Another is a $288,000 item for a rehabilitation building. The third substantial amount is $100,000 for renovation of two of the original ward buildings. A lesser amount is requested for expanding the laundry and storeroom facilities.
There are two other links in this chain of events which will determine to what extent hospital facilities may be improved. One is the Legislative Budget Board, which has shown a tendency in the past to be vastly more reticent than boards or even the governor, in recommending funds. The other is the legislature itself. We realize that the legislature faces grave responsibility in providing for all the needs of the state without burdening the taxpayer any more than absolutely necessary. Yet, we can vouch for the urgency of the needs at the Big Spring State Hospital. For practical purposes, the institution is without anything like adequate medical and surgical facilities; part of the original area has been required, for geriatrics. The ward remodeling is almost imperative. The rehabilitation building is good business, for it promises to get the patients back into society as useful, productive citizens.

The Virtue Of Work

Can we survive with a goal of less and less work?
Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, rephrased this critical question in addressing the 65th National Association of Manufacturers Congress in New York recently.
"I ask you the question of whether a culture of working less and less, preaching the social goal of less and less work, has much prospect of victory in a competition for survival," he inquired.
Dr. Litchfield was not attacking the work week, wider use of automation, or other tools and advances which have freed men from time-consuming methods. He was attempting to beget a recognition that freedom from long hours at the factory or office calls for channeling energies in other useful, creative or productive activities.

"We cannot marshal the strength of a culture for postulating leisure—that is freedom from engagement—as a national goal," he said. In other words, leisure is an empty thing within itself, even destructive.
In a somewhat different vein but pinpointing another fact about work, R. L. Tollett, Cosden president, had some remarks to make in announcing a five percent increase to the salaries workers (and an offer of a like amount to hourly wage earners). The record of earnings do not justify the increase at this time, he said, hence he appealed to members of the Cosden family to make their work more productive. After all, productivity is a fair gauge of the effectiveness and fruitfulness of work.

David Lawrence The Readjustment Is Under Way

WASHINGTON — Many people are asking what the impact of the new administration is going to be on business. This is the season when economists, businessmen and market analysts are making forecasts of the outlook for the new year.
Predictions and forecasts are often unwittingly the result of wishful thinking. The tendency is to see the brighter side of things and not to be too grim in looking at the facts of life.

BUT THE FACTS of international as well as national economics are staring the world in the face. History tells us that after every major war there is a readjustment. Sometimes it comes within a few years after the end of hostilities, and sometimes it takes a decade or more. It was ten years after World War I, before the 1929 crash and the ensuing depression affected country after country. It was not until the second world war broke out that a substantial recovery developed.
Now the readjustment of economic conditions growing out of wartime expansion is under way again. The changes are sometimes referred to as "mild" or "severe" depending upon the extent of the unemployment or the decline in profits.

THE FIGURES do show, however, that, while recession in the last two years has affected adversely a number of businesses, the country as a whole has taken the readjustment in its stride. It is because of this over-all capacity of the nation to absorb declines in particular industries that much encouragement is derived for the future.

But the basic fact which cannot be glossed over is the extent to which both the national and international situations are influenced by artificiality. The theory that a free market exists in America, for instance, is widely held, but it has to be conceded that governmental intervention again and again prevents the natural law of supply and demand from operating.

THUS WHEN the government of the United States is spending more than $40 billion a year for armament—largely for unproductive purposes—it is obvious that any change in the war or peace picture has a direct or indirect influence on business conditions.

Although this country has experienced many a recession, nobody has come forward with any answer as to how to prevent such a disruption. Plenty of remedies are suggested as to what might be done when a recession does come—such as federal appropriations for more housing projects or other ways of stimulating growth through federal expenditures. But the trouble with all these devices is that they last only a little while and, when they have exhausted themselves, the country is back again to where it was before the remedies were applied.

TODAY, FOR INSTANCE, there is much talk about unused plant capacity. But only a few years back new dealers were crying out that industry was not expanding fast enough. Many of the present-day idle plants would be used if natural laws were allowed to operate and if artificial measures were not constantly interjected into the economic situation by the politicians.

The enactment of lower and lower tariffs by this country, moreover, has resulted in great benefits to foreign countries but, on the other hand, it has also caused American companies to put up plants abroad where they can produce more cheaply than they can in this country. Indeed, there are many instances in which goods produced abroad by both American and foreign companies are underselling in this country products manufactured on this side of the ocean.

BUT THE TARIFF situation is only one of many factors that brings about adverse business conditions. Perhaps the most serious single factor is the arbitrary way in which labor-management disputes are handled. The labor-union leaders demand the maximum in wage increases irrespective of the capacity of industry to absorb these in a given year or even over a period of several years. Whenever labor chiefs overplay their hand, they bring about such a maladjustment as inevitably results in a recession. The country today is still suffering from the ill effects of the steel strike of 1959.

THE NEW administration will have a number of top economic advisers, some from the "right" and some from the "left." But the new President will have to make a basic decision as to whether he will go in for a lot of experiments that could produce an even greater dislocation in the economy, just as happened in New Deal days. The new administration must of necessity try to cure the recession and bring an early recovery, or else face an adverse verdict in the congressional elections of 1962.

PERHAPS the biggest single improvement that could be made in the whole business situation would be to find a way to encourage the replacement or renovation of old plants. This could be brought about by a revision of tax laws on depreciation allowances. Higher allowances of this type over a short period of time now would tend to bring in more tax revenue in the long run.

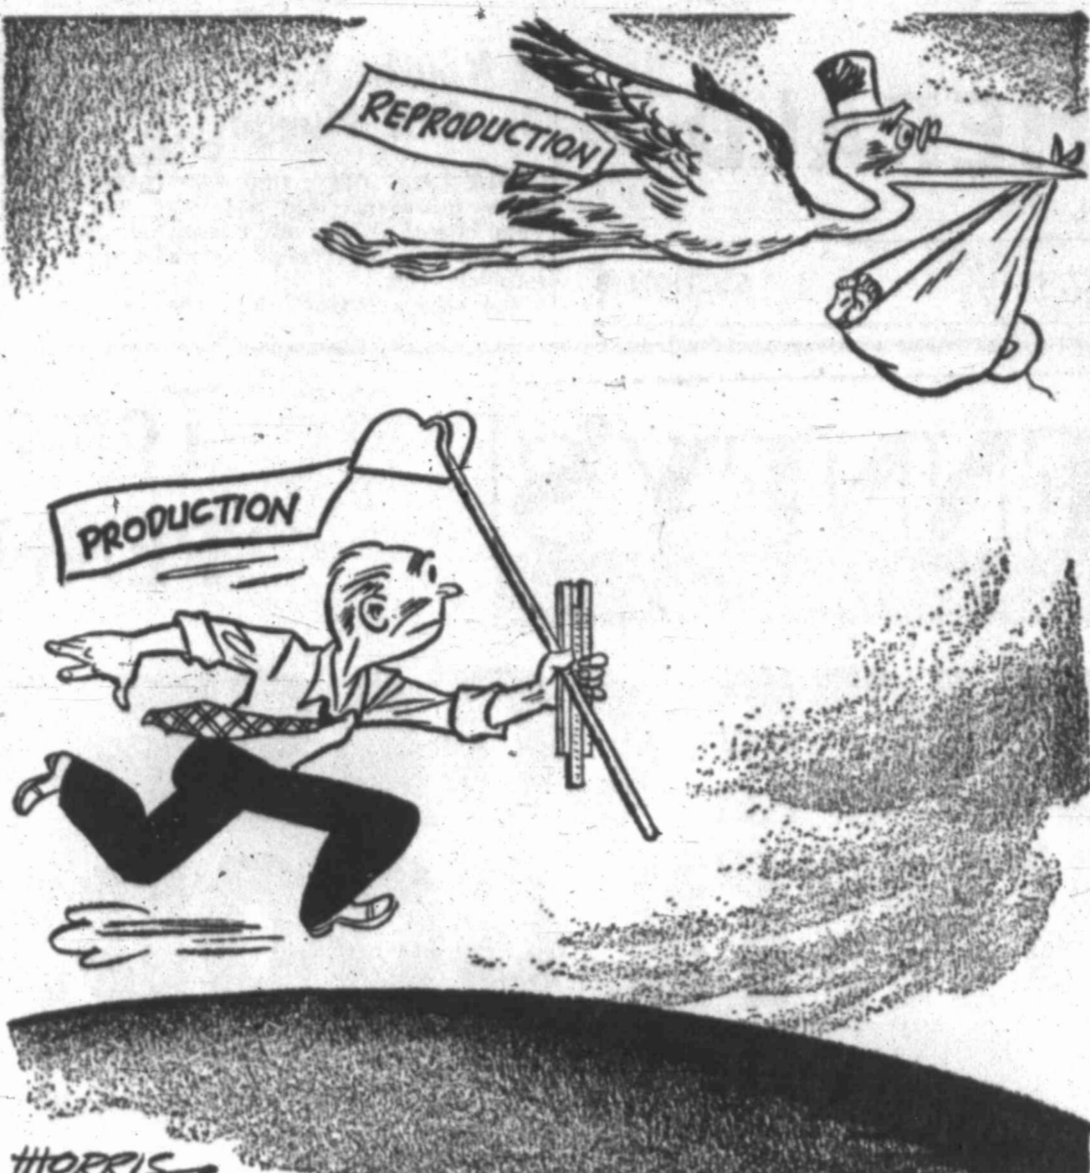

The American economy is basically strong and will be able to weather the current storm. The big question is: Can it also fortify itself against a series of storms in the 1960's?

He got good marks for almost everything except respecting authority.

'Show Me' Attitude Kennedy Answers Niki's Bid

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH — although polite—attitude toward Soviet Premier Khrushchev's bid for new and reasonable relations

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy appears to be taking a "show me" attitude toward the United States and the Soviet Union.
Such an attitude seems evident in Kennedy's New Year's Day reply to the Kremlin leader, as well as in his remarks at a news conference Sunday.
Kennedy expressed hope that relations between the two nations, now gravely strained, will be marked by good will in the months ahead. But he had no comment on Khrushchev's offer to bury the hatchet over the U2 spy plane episode.
He also refused to say whether the Soviets have been using private channels to put out feelers to him regarding Soviet-American relations.

Hal Boyle Fuzzy Forecast

NEW YORK (AP) — It is time for our annual fuzzy forecast of what lies ahead, and a peek into the crystal ball shows:
You'll have plenty of fun in 1961—that is, if you like excitement.
It promises to be a stirring year for all, full of adventure for anybody who doesn't take off his hearing aid when opportunity knocks at the door.
Just in case, here are a few predictions:
Ten-thousand Americans will write and ask the new president, John F. Kennedy, if they can have as a souvenir the silk topper he'll wear at his inauguration on Jan. 20. But Kennedy with typical New England thrift, will keep it handy on a White House shelf—just in case he needs it for a repeat performance of the ceremony in 1965.

Caroline Kennedy, 3, the President's photogenic daughter, will receive a $100,000 offer to act as moderator on a TV panel show featuring the views of prekindergarten age children on world problems.
Harvard University will move to Washington, D. C., so its students can attend classes in the same city where most of Harvard's faculty is employed.
The accent on youth, so evident in U. S. politics, will have some odd repercussions as every one tries to keep in step with the trend.
Nikita Khrushchev will buy a toupee. Jack Benny will issue a statement saying that a check of his birth record shows that he is really only 38, not 39—and Lassie, who has been showing a few wrinkles around the eyes lately, will undergo a secret face lifting.

Sophie Tucker will change her act, and come on stage rolling a hoop and wearing Mary Pickford curls. Women's fashions will feature "the high school look," and stenographers will come to work wearing bobby sox.
The sailing economy will be bolstered by a $2 billion boom in the hair-dyeing business. Anyone with gray hair will be tabbed an exhibitionist.
Casey Stengel, ex-manager of the New York Yankees, will consider starting his baseball career all over again as a rookie outfielder for the Kansas City Athletics.
A few other developments:
On the international scene, the U. S. Air Force will pull the blooper of the year. It will send up a plane to snag the capsule of an American missile and come down instead with a Soviet capsule. This capsule will contain three Soviet dogs, an autographed portrait of Khrushchev addressed "to the president of Mars," and an unsigned note from a Soviet engineer saying, "Help!"
The United Nations will publish a cook book in an attempt to get out of debt.
Throughout most of the world college students will demonstrate against their governments with banners, rocks and home-made grenades. In this country students will demonstrate vacuum cleaners to earn tuition money.

On the home front look for these things:
Science will develop a palatable new food that can't be canned or frozen but has to be kept and cooked in the old-fashioned way. Housewives will immediately boycott it.
Some remorseful woman will start a campaign to give equal rights back to men.
Medicine will develop a marvelous new wonder drug to cure all the ailments caused by the marvelous new wonder drugs of 1956, 1957, 1958, 1959 and 1960. Unfortunately, it too will have side effects.

In an attempt to hold the line against rising prices, some bars again will feature the five-cent beer. It will be served, however, in a shot glass.
A producer will startle Hollywood by a radical idea—a picture costing less than $75 million and running less than five hours.
All in all, we face an interesting and adventurous year.

To Your Good Health Mother's Emotional Attitude Affects Baby

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. — or both has some allergy, too. In addition, this type of colic is often accompanied by some other sign of allergy, such as eczema.
Still another factor, and one of great importance although I do not pretend to know just how it works, is the emotional attitude of the mother. Regularity of feeding is important in such cases. Perhaps, if mother is tense and jittery, baby absorbs this idea and becomes tense and jittery, too. As adults, we've all noticed that in the company of a calm person, we are calm; in the presence of a tense person, we become tense and nervous. How come? I don't know, but it's the way we are.
So here are some rules that will help in the majority of cases:
Calm, comfortable, regular feeding is always best.
Overfeeding (with the idea of stuffing more food into the baby to keep him quiet) just overloads his tummy.
But underfeeding, leaving him hungry, can bother him, too.
If the basic problem is something more serious—intolerance to certain foods, allergy, or possibly some organic trouble, the pediatrician may have to do some adjusting of the diet. But this isn't usually the case.
In the case of "Worn Out Mother," I get the impression, since she has had the same trouble with three babies, that perhaps her own approach may need some changes—haste, frustration, worry, irritability on her part may be communicating itself to the child.

I don't mean to be critical or pontifical—but to mothers of colicky babies: Please take an honest look in the mirror. ARE you over-tense impatient over-worried, rebellious at having to take care of the baby, over-worked, uncertain, unsure? If so, baby's nervous colic may be a reflection of your own worries. It's happened a good many times before. So—please—consider it.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Do you think apple cider vinegar and honey, in place of sugar, is beneficial to health?—J.F."
In three words: No, no, no.
"Don't Quit Because Of Arthritis" is the title of my leaflet designed to help all who suffer the aches and pains of arthritis. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.
Dr. Molner is always happy to hear from his readers, but he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters due to the great number received daily. Whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim Have You Tried The Sleep Cure?

One thing and another:
A small machine, built like ear phones, shortly to hit the market, can be used to put one to sleep for several days at a time.
The Russians already employ the device extensively for their citizens at Crimean health resorts.
It has already been proven that nothing is better than a "sleep cure" to restore mental and nervous equilibrium to the human body.

SOME ARTISTS in this country are using shoe polish rather than oils to paint pictures.
The ingredient is easier to wipe off, too, in event the artist decides to correct something he's been doing.
There are reportedly about 600,000 college scholarships available today, valued at about $100,000,000.
Only a small percentage of those go to athletes, too.
A EUROPEAN who obviously dotes on this sort of information reported not long ago that in the last 5,559 years there have been 14,513 wars in which 3,640 million people have died.

They say any young father who has played baseball can pin a diaper properly. All he needs to do is fold second base over home plate, place baby on the pitcher's mound, then pin first base and third base to home plate.

THE WORLD'S most powerful towboat, something that would, no doubt, have brought a gleam to the eye of Mark Twain, is now working in the Mississippi River around St. Louis.
Its diesel engines boast 9,000 horsepower. The boat, named the America, is capable of pushing 40,000 tons of cargo in one tow — the equivalent of eight 100-car freight trains.

IN A RECENT opinion poll, Frenchmen revealed they liked Americans second best of all foreigners — no doubt, on account of the loot the Yankees take with them.
Guess who were the most popular tourists of all in the eyes of the French — the Germans, hereditary enemies of the Parisians.
The British rated third place in the poll, followed by the Italians.

Inez Robb Keeping Our Heads Above Water

On this second day of the new year—and happy, happy to you—I am full of admiration for all the brave men and women who have rushed into print with predictions about 1961 and what it holds for you and me.
La, the only thing about the future I can predict with any certainty is that tonight, in the form of Turkey Tetrazzini, we are going to polish off the last of the Christmas turkey. And any domestic uprising against same will be put down ruthlessly.

OH, YES, and I can peer far enough into the mists of time to make one more flat prophecy: Never again a 28-pound turkey! What this country needs is not a good five-cent nickel, but more "left-over" recipes. Eventually the novelty even wears off turkey hash.
Where the next Castro is coming from—and he'll come, all right—is a closed book to me. Where the next Congo will develop is beyond my powers of divination. What Richard Nixon plans to do in the future, deponent knoweth not. The same situation prevails as to what power Joseph P. Kennedy has or hasn't in the coming Administration.

THE FACT IS, I can scarcely see a day ahead of me. I just buckle on my armor every morning and hope for the best. We live in the finest of all possible worlds. Of this, I am certain. But it is kind of tricky, and thus advisable to be on guard against those unexpected rabbit punches.
As the years pass, I become more and more understanding and tolerant of Abbe Sieyes, who, when asked at the close of the French Revolution what he had done during that cataclysmic event, said, "I lived."

WHEN I FIRST read that as a school-girl, even though I knew he had played an active part in the Revolution up to the Reign of Terror, I felt the Abbe wasn't such-a-much. After all the preliminary spade work he did for the Revolution, it seemed shameful—once the time of terror began—that he faded into the wood-work to survive.

The heroes and villains then, as now, were larger than life-size. It, too, was an age for greatness. So when I first made the Abbe's acquaintance I felt he ought to have rushed about saving innocents from the guillotine, helping Mme. Lafayette and doing something constructive about the Dauphin, poor child.

BUT AS THE YEARS go by and each one brings new complications that seem both menacing and insoluble, my feeling for Abbe Sieyes grows more kindly. Perhaps he wasn't so much ignoble as unable to grapple with the magnitude of the forces he had helped unleash.
It is said that survival is an art, consisting chiefly of not sticking the neck out. This may not be an admirable solution to the times, but it has the mark of sensibility. And who can say the Abbe wasn't sensible in his will to survive?

I WOULD STILL like him better if he had organized an underground to help the Sydney Cartons. But at least I don't despise him any longer. Because I have a hunch that when I am 90 and my great-niece yells into my ear trumpet, "What did you do during the time of troubles, Old Aunt Inez?" truth will force me to answer:
"I trod water."

Probably the only persons who will understand the situation and forgive will be other old gaffers who somehow managed to tread water during the Great Depression, World War II, fusion and fission, and the international political turmoil that followed.

WHO DOES NOT long to be heroic, slaying the dragons of the 20th Century, restoring law, order and peace of mind? How simple seem the days of World War I when man merely looked for a better "ole and not one with wall-to-wall concrete!"
So, in 1961, I hope to continue treading and to keep the noggin above water. And the same to you, too.

J. A. Livingston A Look At The New Economic Adviser

Despite news reports, John Kenneth Galbraith, author of The Affluent Society, professor of economics at Harvard and prospective Ambassador to India under President-elect John F. Kennedy, did not refuse the chairmanship of the Council of Economic Advisers.
"I have no talent for anonymity," said Galbraith. "I'd not be the person for the post. The President-elect knows that."

YET, WALTER W. HELLER, Kennedy's choice for the position, is no wallflower. He's outgoing, talkative, competent on the speaker's platform or in the witness chair before Congressional committees. The 45-year-old six-foot-three chairman of the economics department at the University of Minnesota is a specialist in taxation, who'd restore conscience in our tax laws. He'd do away with "most-favored taxpayers" by closing loopholes, reducing exemptions, Simultaneously, he'd reduce income tax rates.

Heller's role—whether anonymous or as the new President's economic spokesman, is yet to be worked out. He will have wide scope. He won't be "layered" in the White House. President Eisenhower had an administrator for economic affairs who came between him and his Council of Economic Advisers. Kennedy is doing away with that post.

UNDER EISENHOWER, Arthur F. Burns, as chairman of the Council, hesitated to appear before Congressional committees. His conception of the job was "silent adviser" to the President.

Heller is a "federal activist" among economists. Along with Galbraith and Paul A. Samuelson, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, another Kennedy adviser, he believes that the Eisenhower administration has not pushed economic growth or devoted enough attention to the public sector of the economy—aid to education, research, etc.

HE HAS A GIFT for the quick phrase, and the capacity to see economists as "iters see" 'em. Examples:
"To prescribe the complex therapy that will simultaneously stimulate growth, provide full employment, and prevent inflation calls for the knowledge of the specialist, the judgment of the general practitioner and the confidence of the patent medicine man."

"The trick is to find a combination of measures that will press down on prices while pressing up on employment and productivity."

"We should not shrink from selective controls over consumer credit, mortgage credit or depreciation allowances."

"WHAT WE NEED is an economic overdrive that will slow the engine of inflation while it speeds up the wheels of production and employment."

"The greatest single contribution Congress could make to the multiple objective of full employment, growth, and stability would be a thorough recasting of the Federal Income Tax, both corporate and individual."

Heller prefers "light budgets" to "tight money." He'd use fiscal policy—a surplus in times of prosperity—to prevent inflation. But he considers it an "obsession" to cut expenditures when plant and people are idle.

HE WOULD USE America's affluence to build up human resources—education, health, welfare—rather than "fritting it away in indulgences, luxuries, and frivolities." There's a touch of Galbraith in this.

Among fellow economists, Heller is looked upon as an "idea man" who wears his own collar. He's a good researcher who gets out of the ivory tower. He likes to be in the thick of things.

In addition to service in the Treasury, he was fiscal consultant to the Military Governor of Germany after the war, and more recently tax adviser to former Governor Orville L. Freeman, of Minnesota. Kennedy's appointee as Secretary of Agriculture.

ALTHOUGH HE is a friend and admirer of Galbraith (and vice versa), he does not accept the Galbraith thesis in The Affluent Society that the country has done away with poverty and therefore can afford sales taxes.

One fellow economist said: "The most notable fact about the appointment is that Walter isn't from Cambridge"—meaning Harvard or Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was educated at Oberlin and Wisconsin, but he'd not be lost at either Harvard or MIT.

Outstanding Players

Ronnie Weeks, center, whose performance in the semi-finals and finals figured prominently in the HCJC Hawks' championship, won the outstanding player award in the HCJC tournament which ended Saturday evening. Also named to a list of 10 outstanding players were Bill Edwards, left, and Ken Clearman, right.

Hawks Win Tournament

Howard County Junior College repeated as champions of its invitational tournament Saturday night before a jam-packed gymnasium, but not until after San Angelo pulled a spine-tingling rally. The Hawks prevailed 86-70.

At one point midway in the third quarter, HCJC eased its advantage up to 19 points. Suddenly, San Angelo began to click with a full-court press. The Hawks were tabbed non numerous fouls, and long shots began falling for San Angelo until the lead had been whittled to a bare two points.

SWC Cagers Open Season

By The Associated Press

Defending champion Texas meets one of the favorites Arkansas, and another top-rated team, Southern Methodist, takes on Arkansas, too, in opening games of the Southwest Conference basketball championship race.

Unable to break even against outside foes and winding up with an inter-sectional record of 28-33, the teams will be happy to start playing each other.

Texas and Arkansas clash at Austin Wednesday night in the first feature game of the week. Saturday Southern Methodist goes to Fayetteville to tangle with Arkansas.

There are eight conference tests on the week's schedule with well-ranked Texas A&M moving against Texas Christian at College Station and Southern Methodist hosting Texas Tech Tuesday night.

Baylor meets Rice at Houston Wednesday night while Saturday night finds Texas A&M and Baylor clashing at Waco, Rice and Texas Tech getting together at Lubbock and Texas Christian taking on Texas at Fort Worth.

Spirited Play

Here's an example of the hard play which went into the final game of the HCJC tournament here Saturday evening. Tillman, who played a brilliant game for HCJC, makes contact with Bubba Bailey, an all-tournament choice, as he seeks to dribble around the San Angelo men.

Coahoma Wins Its Invitation Tournament

COAHOMA—The Coahoma Bulldogs capped the championship of their invitational tournament here Saturday evening, defeating Garden City 53-39.

Big Spring B team won the consolation honors, edging Highland 36-32, and Coahoma made a sweep of top honors by clipping Forsan 39-32 in the girls' division of the tourney.

Coahoma eased to a 11-8 lead in the first quarter of the title game and stretched it to a 23-19 halftime lead. At the three-quarter post it was 36-28 as the winners gradually pulled away.

Highland led the B Steers 13-11 at the quarter but had dropped behind 19-23 at the half. In the third quarter however, Big Spring was ice cold as Highland went ahead 29-25. The tables then turned for the last quarter.

Named to the all-tournament team were Wright (Highland), Boecking (Bronte), Reeves (Coahoma), Cypert (Garden City), and Menzies (Sands). Those on the second team were Richters (Coahoma), Rowe (Robert Lee), Hallman (Coahoma), Carter (Garden City) and McClood (Roscoe).

Forwards on the girls all-tournament team were Barbara Richters, Claudine Bales (Coahoma), Pat Saunders (Garden City), Betty Conger (Forsan), Miss Eubanks (Bronte), Jo Calverly (Garden City), Jane Nichols and Lanell Mason (Coahoma), Judy Banks (Forsan), Miss Pierce (Highland), D. Overton (Garden City) and Carla Hughes (Forsan).

Warren was a standout guard on a couple of the Hawk teams in the early '50's and later performed for the University of Texas. During his basketball-playing days, he made a trip to South America with a team organized by Jackie Robinson, the former Baylor great who now is minister of a church in Augusta, Ga.

Robinson was and is a man with high Christian principles. He was also a great competitor, Warren recalls. Perhaps the two go together.

At any rate, Robinson took pride in wearing some U.S. Olympic loggery he had earned onto the court against a Brazilian team. One of his opponents ripped the gear in a mix-up. Jackie took note of who his antagonist was and later raked up the Latin in a maneuver under the basket, as only a man with experience and know-how could do.

The victim limped away and had time to reflect upon the errors of his ways.

Warren still keeps his hands in the game, when he has time. His studies in dental school keep him pretty busy, however.

One of the senior college scouts who sat in on the Howard College Tournament here last week was Bill Scott, the head cage mentor at Hardin-Simmons University, who has his Cowboys rolling this season.

Scott is the fellow who recruited Delnor Poss, the present mentor at Big Spring High School, after Poss departed San Angelo High. Delnor went on to become one of the HSU cage greats.

Bill got a good look at the New Mexico State University football team the past season and reasons that the Aggies could have beaten any team in the Southwest Conference, Arkansas included. He said the Aggies simply had too much firepower for the SWC teams.

Scott gives Big Spring's Charley Johnson, who quarterbacked the NMS team, a good change to make the ripple in pro ball. In his opinion, pro ball is always in need of talented quarterbacks. Speed isn't especially a factor at that position. Bill contends, and adds that Johnson has all the other requirements—including a great passing arm.

Johnson has been drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL but some AFL teams might outbid the Red Birds for his services. And there's always Canadian ball, Scott reminds. A quarterback with ambition and talent can always find a job in pro ball, according to the HSU coach, and Johnson has both.

Rene Huckaby, the coach of the Sayre, Okla., JC team that lost to San Antonio in the first round of the local meet, also coaches the high school football team in Sayre.

As if that weren't enough, Huckaby teaches five subjects.

Ex-Big Spring B. B. Lees, now backfield coach at Eastern New Mexico Junior College, also in for the holidays, says his team needs ends next season. The Greyhounds won four of nine starts in 1960.

Lees thought he had Big Spring's Wayne Fields lined up to attend his school last September but Fields, an all-state fullback, backed out at the last minute.

Leaders Open Drive For Title

By The Associated Press

Four members of the six-team Border Conference basketball race open the drive for the championship this week.

The first crack out of the box the top-rated teams, Arizona State and New Mexico State, get together. They clash at Tempe Saturday night.

At the same time Arizona and Texas Western will be lifting the lid on the title race. They meet at Tucson.

Records Set At Sunland

EL PASO—A crowd of 5,537, the biggest in the two-year history of Sunland Park, established an all-time betting high by pushing $283,459 thru the mutual machines. This eclipsed the previous high by more than $13,000.

As far as the races were concerned, the high spot of the program was Call Hy's one and one-quarter length victory in the featured "New Year's day allowance" over five and one-half furlongs.

Call Hy, ridden by Jerry Vinson, saved his power for the stretch and moved up briskly over the soft footing. A winning ticket was worth an excellent $16.30.

The favorites generally had a tough time reaching the winner's circle. Seven longshots scored. They include Burquette's Nahar in the first $17.00, Dakota Bill second $12.50; Hy Adventure third $41.20; Silver Stick fourth $25.30; Half Share sixth $18.30; Vindh seventh $18.20. The daily double composed of Burquette's Nahar and Dakota Bill returned $139.80.

Results by races include:

Steers Take Third Place At Odessa

Big Spring High School took third place in the Odessa invitational tournament Saturday evening, defeating Ector 61-52. This gives the Steers a 9-4 record for the season.

The Steers go to Snyder Tuesday evening for a return engagement with the Tigers. Earlier in the season, Snyder romped on the locals, then had a tough time edging Big Spring out in the Del Rio tournament.

George Ryan, a diminutive package of dynamite, made the all-tournament team at Odessa. Although he was held off in the semi-final game against Odessa, he broke out in a race of scoring against Ector and accounted for 22 points.

Odessa upset Midland to win the title 65-61.

Four Bowl Games Wind Up Season

By The Associated Press
Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri and Arkansas were the favorites today in the four bowl games that wind up the college football season.
National champion Minnesota takes on Washington, the defender, in the Rose Bowl at Miami. It will be televised starting at 1 p.m. (EST) by NBC.
Mississippi, the Southeastern Conference ruler, plays Rice in the Sugar Bowl. This one will be televised starting at 2 p.m. (EST) by NBC.
Missouri, which won the Big Eight title—the first time in a dozen years that Oklahoma hasn't come out on top—has a date with Navy in the Orange Bowl at Miami. It will be televised starting at 1 p.m. (EST) by CBS.
Arkansas, the Southwest Conference titleholder, tangles with Duke in the Cotton Bowl. Television time is 3:30 p.m. (EST), by CBS—or whenever the Orange Bowl game ends.
Minnesota never has played in the Rose Bowl and will be seeking revenge over the Huskies who last New Year's Day clobbered Wisconsin, another Big Ten outfit, 44-8. Washington was the underdog then, too.
The Gophers, who managed to win only two games in 1959, compiled an 8-1 record in rolling to the national title. Washington ran up a 9-1 mark.

Minnesota will depend on a rock-ribbed defense plus quarterback Sandy Stephens, workhorse Roger Hagberg, and swiftly half-back Bill Munsey.
Washington won three games by one point and another by two points. Bob Schloredt, who missed most of the season because of injuries, is available again and will share the quarterbacking with Bob Hyner.
A crowd of 100,000 is expected in clear weather at Pasadena, Calif.
Jake Gibbs is the backbone of the Mississippi offense that was stymied only in a 6-6 tie with LSU. In 10 games, Ole Miss ran up 266 points. Rice, which finished with a 7-3 mark and second place in the Southwest Conference, will depend on a defense that yielded only 5.8 points per game during the season. Signal-caller Billy Cox is the Owls' top offensive threat.
Missouri (10-0), which never has won a bowl game, has been installed a 6½ point choice over Navy (9-1), which never has lost one. Missouri has a crushing ground offensive, to match All America Joe Bellino of Navy. The Tigers also will have to stop passer Hal Spooner.

Arkansas is a one-touchdown favorite over Duke in Dallas. The razorbacks have a balanced attack, having scored 12 touchdowns passing and 11 running during the season. George McKinney does the passing and Lance Alworth handles the running. Duke's attack is keyed to the Don Altman to Tee Mormon passing combination.
The annual end-of-the-year bowl hoopla started last Friday when The Citadel defeated Tennessee Tech, 27-0, in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.
In major games Saturday, Florida eked out a 13-12 decision over Baylor in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla.; the East, defeated the West, 7-0, in the Shrine game in San Francisco; the North All-Stars trounced the South All-Stars, 35-7, in the Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, Ala.; New Mexico State whipped Utah State, 20-13, in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex.; Texas A&I toppled Arkansas Tech, 45-14, in the Great Southwest Bowl Grand-Prairie, Tex., and the National All-Stars turned back the South-West 27-8, in the Copper Bowl in Tempe, Ariz.

COPPER BOWL Nationals Take 27-8 Victory

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Clever play calling by Illinois' Johnny Easterbrook and fast recovery of fumbles put the National All-Stars one up on the South-West in the annual Copper Bowl football game.
Easterbrook's outstanding performance sparked the Nationals to a 27-8 victory over the fumble-plagued South-West team Saturday before a disappointing crowd of 8,000. The Nationals now lead the series 2-1.
Three South-West fumbles in four minutes were recovered by the Nationals who converted them into a commanding 20-0 lead at the end of the first period.
Easterbrook got the first National score on a five-yard run rapping a 48-yard drive that took nine plays. He later passed 30 yards to halfback Cal Bird of Kentucky for another score.
Other National touchdowns came on short plunges by fullback Sam Sobczak of Penn State and halfback Marshall Starks of Illinois.
Harold Stephens of Hardin-Simmons finally got the South-West rolling in the fourth period. He completed three passes for 44 yards and carried three times for 22 in sparking a 75-yard touchdown drive. The payoff came when he passed 18 yards to halfback Randy Sims of Texas A&M.

Charles (Rip) Engle of Penn State, co-coach of the Nationals for the second straight year, said his team got a couple of early breaks and then played "real rough football."
"We knew the South-West would fill the air with passes. All week I told our boys if we could intercept at least four passes it would wrap up the game. That is just what we did," he added.
The South-West completed 11 of 29 attempts for 143 yards. The Nationals gained 91 yards on eight completions. They passed 21 times.
Easterbrook was named the game's most valuable player and the Nationals' outstanding back. The outstanding National lineman award went to Pittsburgh's Dick Mills.
Stephens and Mike Quinlan of the South-West's outstanding back-end Bob McLeod of Abilene Christian was the team's top lineman. He caught six passes for 83 yards.

Oilers Win AFL Title

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers are the first champions of the American Football League, thanks to the third-down passes of George Blanda and an out-of-character pass defense.
Blanda threw three touchdown passes and the Oiler pass defense was amazing Sunday as Houston took the championship with a 24-16 victory over the Los Angeles Chargers before a crowd of 32,183.
All of Blanda's touchdowns came on third down, as did 11 of his 16 completions. The completions were good for 301 yards.
Kemp had thrown six touchdowns in two regular season games against the Oilers, who won the Eastern Division title despite the leakiest pass defense in the league. Kemp's 21 completions Sunday were good for 171 yards but this was well below the 278.7-yard average Houston had allowed in 14 regular season games.
Blanda did not get the Oiler offense under way until the second quarter, by which time Los Angeles had grabbed a 6-0 lead on field goals of 38 and 22 yards by Ben Agajanian.
Drives of 83 and 50 yards put Houston in front, 10-6, with Blanda passing 17 yards to Dave Smith for a touchdown and then kicking an 18-yard field goal. With nine seconds left in the half, a 19-yard punt by Houston's Charlie Minstead went out of bounds on the Oiler 31. Agajanian returned for a 27-yard kick that cut the Oiler halftime edge to 10-9.
Billy Cannon, the Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State, returned the second half kickoff 42 yards to the Houston 45. It took the Oilers 10 plays to move in front, 17-9, with Blanda passing to Bill Groman for the final seven yards.

Kemp then teamed with Paul Lowe, the league's No. 2 rusher, for Los Angeles' lone touchdown. Lowe carried over from the two, where Dave Kocourek had been knocked out of bounds after taking a 33-yard pass from Kemp.
This cut the Houston lead to one point a third time and it was not until early in the fourth quarter that Blanda threw his third strike of the day. Facing third down and 10 from his own 12, Blanda dropped back to his goal line before passing to Cannon at the 35. Cannon completed the 33-yard scoring play by outracing Jim Sears, the Charger defensive back.
Cannon, whose three pass receptions totaled 123 yards, was voted the game's outstanding player. He received eight votes to seven each for Lowe and Kemp.

East's Victory Called 'Lucky'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Big E. J. Holub of Texas Tech, known as "The Beast," stormed into the East dressing room and shouted: "You guys are just lucky!"
Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame, one of the East's assistant coaches, snarled back at the West's great center: "Yeah, we were lucky all right. But you were lucky we didn't beat you guys worse!"
Then they grinned and shook hands after the East's 7-0 victory in the 8th annual Shrine game for the benefit of crippled children before 59,000 at Kezar Stadium.
Jerry Mays, a Southern Methodist tackle, was a West hero when he blocked a field goal attempt by Ed Dypas of Auburn. Dypas, the nation's leading collegiate field goal kicker, was booting from the 6.
Some players expressed regret at not getting to play more than they did but big Bob Lilly, the All-America tackle from Texas Christian, said, "I liked playing one way (defense). That's the first time in my life I didn't have to play both ways."
The gate receipts and television money netted the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children an estimated $250,000.

Buckeyes On Road To National Title

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Buckeyes of Ohio State, national collegiate basketball champions last season, may well be on the way to another title this year.
They are 9-0 to date, with 15 more regular season games to go before the NCAA tournament warfare begins. Perhaps Coach Fred Taylor's outfit led by All America Jerry Lucas can repeat. There are 14 Big Ten conference games ahead for the Bucks, plus one date with Evansville Jan. 9.
Indiana and Purdue of the Big Ten are supposed to provide the main opposition to Ohio State in the conference struggle but Purdue and Indiana both are 5-3 for the young season after the holiday skirmishing, and Ohio State rides high after winning the Holiday Festival Tournament in New York. Ohio State was rated No. 1 in the nation a week ago.
Lucas and mates knocked off St. John's (N.Y.) 70-65 in the semifinals and then St. Bonaventure 84-82 in the tourney final. In a first-round game, the Buckeyes clobbered Seton Hall 97-57. The two later victories were over a St. John's outfit ranked No. 7 nationally in the weekly Associated Press poll, and St. Bonaventure with a lofty No. 3 rating.
In the Los Angeles Classic tournament in which Iowa whipped UCLA for the title 71-65, Indiana started off by beating Stanford, but then was drubbed 94-72 by UCLA, and 90-71 by Southern California for third place.
Purdue dropped openers to Pittsburgh and Penn State early in December, won five straight over not too impressive opposition, then was beaten last week by Butler, 65-63.
St. Bonaventure, with Tom Stith piling up 35 points, gave Ohio State all it could handle, but Lucas steered the Bucks to a hard-earned victory. He got 32 points, had seven assists and snared 21 rebounds, and was voted the most valuable player.
Duke finally dropped its first game as North Carolina came from behind to whip the Blue Devils 76-71 in the finals of the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N.C. Duke had won nine straight and enjoyed a No. 6 national ranking in last week's balloting.

Richardson Wins Bowl Tourney

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Veteran Hamilton Richardson, once the top-ranked U.S. tennis amateur but now a weekend player, won the singles and shared in the doubles titles in the 1960 Sugar Bowl tourney.
In singles, he routed Ronald Holmberg, a Tulane University alumnus like himself, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

Calf Ropers Set Records With Identical Times

DALLAS (AP) — A pair of calf ropers set records Saturday for the National Finals Rodeo by tying their calves in identical times of 10.3 seconds.
The fast pace was set by Sonny Worrell, Fredonia, Kan., and Harry Charters, Melba, Idaho.
Charters earlier broke the 11.3 record of the two-year-old National Finals by tying a calf in 11.1 in the fourth go-round of this year's series. The 11.3 mark was set by Lee Cockrell, Panhandle, Tex., in 1959.
Larry Kane, Big Sandy, Mont., rodeo "Rookie of the Year," snapped back from apparent beginner jitters for a spectacular ride in a saddle bronc in the seventh go-round.
Kane, 22, and a crowd favorite, received a score of 187—the highest ever made in the National Finals.
Kane reached the finals only as a replacement for the veteran Casey Tibbs, Brackettville, Tex., who broke a leg in the first go-round.
The seventh go-round found no change in the battle for the all-around world championship, Harry Tompkins, Dublin, Tex., and Bob A. Robinson, Rockland, Idaho, failed to gain any points, which helps Tompkins, since Robinson must gain a hatful of points to catch Tompkins.
Neither was there any change in the red-hot steer wrestling title in the seventh go-round. The leaders failed to win points.
Individual titles already have been decided. Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, wrapped up the calf roping championship before the finals began.
Tompkins has a lead in bull riding that no competitor can catch. The National Finals match the 15 leading performers in each of five major events during the season. A dollar won in a rodeo is a point toward the title and the all-around rodeo championship of the world.
Attendance through seven go-rounds has been 30,965, a pace that is about the same as last year.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

It's rather complicated—you see, Bob Hope is married to Ruth Hussey and Lucille Ball is hitched to Don DeFore. They, plus a third couple, make up one of those unbreakable neighborhood klatches.

They go everywhere, do everything together. They're nice people, but sometimes one or more of them gets the notion that it would be refreshing to go off somewhere along with one's own spouse.

This time, they're headed for Acapulco and deep-sea fishing. One husband and another wife can't make it, so it leaves Hope and Lucille nearby by themselves—the third couple is down with a bug that keeps them abed during their entire vacation.

Well, Bob and Lucy fall in love—and from then on it's even more confusing. Troubles pile up on one another as the two innocents bumble their way through their first affair.

I won't tell you any more of the plot, since you may want to see for yourself. As might be expected, however, the story follows the customary lines with no particularly surprising developments.

The situations, however, are laugh-provoking, reaching climaxes at a rained-out rendezvous in a mountain cabin and in the meeting of mutual friends at an airport following a clandestine tete-a-tete.

The jokes are mildly funny, and Hope seems less flexible with his gags.

A bit of drama is inserted, and the situation in which the two lovers find themselves hopelessly caught in a whirlpool of emotion is convincing enough. What happens to these two happens to a lot of ordinary people.

The moral seems lost, however—the story obviously tries to say that married folks with children just shouldn't lose their heads and go galavanting off with the wife of one's friend and neighbor, but about all it succeeds in saying is that amateurs in such matters are likely to get caught.

"The Facts of Life" is a new movie, one of the first for Miss Ball in some time. It shows through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

5 Champions In Rodeo Finals

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Five new champions, including Texan Harry Tompkins as the world's all-around cowboy, were crowned in the national finals rodeo that came to a rousing close Sunday night.

The only repeater was Jack

Buschhorn, the 32-year-old Cassville, Wis., star of bareback bronc riding, who took a stranglehold on this championship as he posted his third in a row.

Tompkins, also 32 and from Dublin, Tex., clinched the world's title on the seventh of ten go-rounds and wound up with total winnings of $32,522 for the year.

Bob A. Robinson of Rockland, Idaho, won the steer wrestling title over veteran Harley May of Oakdale, Calif.

Enoch Walker, 27, of Cody,

Wyo., also was a first time winner—he came in front in saddle bronc riding.

Dean Oliver, 30, of Boise, Idaho, had the calf roping championship in the bag before the national finals began.

Three records were set as Robinson, May and Don Huddleston of Sardis, Okla., each posted 4.2 seconds in steer wrestling; Harry Charters of Melba, Idaho, roped a calf in 10.1 seconds, and Larry Kane of Big Sandy, Mont., scored 187 in saddle bronc riding.

Rides To Work

TOKYO (AP)—Carpenters and bricklayers are getting so scarce in Japan that construction companies are offering skilled men taxi rides to work. The construction ministry estimates the country needs 30,000 more bricklayers and 100,000 more carpenters.

Suspect Admits Cabbie Slaying

TULIA, Tex. (AP) — Donald Carlson, 28, of Johnstown, Pa., Sunday signed a statement in which he admitted the fatal shooting of James Tricker Jr., 35, Muncie, Ind., cab driver Dec. 22.

Carlson is one of the three Indiana jailbreakers now being held here on charges of murder in the death of Tulia's Assistant Police Chief Robert Potter early Christmas Day.

Carlson said that one of his companions was with him at the time of the shooting while the other was asleep in their car. However, both companions denied any part in the Muncie slaying.

The three men—Carlson, Heston B. Winnett, 20, of Sparta, Tenn., and James R. Groover, 31, of Elwood, Ind.—escaped Dec. 17 from the Madison County jail at Anderson, Ind.
