Crime Probers Leave Coastal Towns With Question Of Conscience--'Just Where Do We Draw The Line?'

By FINIS MOTHERHEAD
BEAUMONT (AP) — Inquisitive legislators left residents of Beaumont and nearby Port Arthur wrestling with their community consciences Saturday.

David Witts, Dallas lawyer who presented much of the involved evidence before the five-man House committee, said the record afforded clear proof of "a situation which should be intolerable."

PUBLICLY AGREES
Elected officials, subjected to sharp examination about records indicating some of them enjoyed unusual prosperity, publicly professed agreement with Witts.

Beaumont Police Chief Jim Mulligan and several other law enforcement officials gave the committee credit for bringing much criminal activity to current standstill, simply by conducting the inquiry here.

"I intend to keep it closed down," testified Mulligan, 64, a ruddy faced and stocky police veteran. "If I can't I will resign in a few days."

Port Arthur's assistant police chief, D. P. Moore, 49, when asked his intentions, told the lawmakers he proposed to "keep the lid on as long as the public wants it."

Moore takes a major role in directing his department because the Port Arthur chief, Garland Douglas, 57, is in poor health.

Renewed pledges of cooperation toward the same end were made to the House committee by ruggedly handsome Jefferson County Sheriff C. H. Meyer, 48, Dist. Atty. Ramie Griffin, 47; and others.

Reaction from private citizens was mixed. The majority told newsmen they want further steps taken to assure the stamping out of criminal operations. They said this was essential to provide wholesome circumstances for raising families.

Hard-headed business men didn't overlook an estimate by the legislators that organized vice has been diverting $5 million to $10 million a year away from legitimate trade in this seaport center of oil and chemical industry.

Some persons, however, took a view that "You can't police human nature." Several, declining to be quoted by name, contended that Beaumont's oldtime red light district — abolished on military demand during World War II — was preferable to a widespread scattering of unregulated bawdy houses.

OVERHEARD
Random eavesdropping on coffee shop and store counter conversations indicated Port Arthur and Beaumont residents literally buzzed with interest in disclosures at the House committee hearing. Television and radio stations carried much of the testimony into homes, offices and business houses throughout several neighboring counties.

Hundreds listened by transistor radio to broadcasts of the hearing as they walked along downtown streets.

The final session Friday, in which the legislative probers said they particularly sought clues to protection payoffs, appeared to draw the widest attention.

Two witnesses gave information about cash payments which they said went to prevent official interference with bookmakers and with both private clubs and houses of prostitution selling liquor by the drink.

SHERIFF'S FINANCES
The House committee delved deeply into financial affairs of Sheriff Meyer, the Beaumont and Port Arthur police chiefs, the district attorney and two constables.

The probers showed particular interest in closely similar accounts about unmarked envelopes filled with cash turning up on the desks of Meyer, Douglas and the constables — Reagan Baker of Beaumont and O'Neil Provost of Port Arthur.

Questions about 1955-56 income tax reports of Meyer and Douglas listing what they said were political campaign contributions brought out information about the envelopes.

In every instance Meyer, Douglas and the two constables said they did not know who sent them the money or how it was delivered, except in some instances when it arrived in the mail.

For income tax purposes, Meyer reported receiving a five-year total of $84,481 in such gifts. Douglas said donations to him added up to $65,594 in the same period. Each said the figures represented cash in excess of what they spent on political campaigns.

—Meyer in seeking re-election and Douglas in working to elect city commissioners he counted on to keep him as police chief.

LOST TAX RECORDS
Baker said he had lost income tax records. He estimated his annual income at $15,000 to $17,000, including $8,000 county salary, revenue from farms and cattle trading, and an unstated amount of campaign gifts.

Provost testified he had received as much as $5,000 a year in campaign contributions.

Using bank records to reinforce questions put to Mulligan, the Beaumont police chief, the lawmakers established that he and his wife have bank and savings association deposits aggregating about $50,000, held $4,000 in interest-bearing real estate mortgages, and own a $15,000 home and two lots valued at $5,000.

Asked how he acquired these assets while never reporting more than $9,000 earnings for one year, Mulligan said:

"For years I have had help from my sister, who is wealthy. She has given me lots of money." He did not name the sister.

CARD WINNINGS
In the case of Dist. Atty. Griffin, the committee was told a $9,000 (See CRIME, Pg. 4-A, Col. 5)

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Deposits in the three Big Spring banks gained a half of a percentage point at the end of the year, reflecting a more stable picture than had been assumed in some quarters. The year-end figure was $33,997,466 and would have been slightly higher had the Dec. 31 call date come on a day (Saturday) when local banks were closed. Loans were pared by about 3 per cent during the year, and liquid assets increased substantially.

Speaking of banks, the application for a state bank at Coahoma got the old stall again last week. The decision was put off in December until Jan. 5. When commissioners got embroiled in a discussion on another application, they put off a decision again on Coahoma's request. The new date is Feb. 1.

Almost like money in the bank was more moisture during the week. Slow rains around the turn of the year had added to the excellent moisture reserves, and then at the end of the past week, another quarter to a half inch of seasoning fell just right to soak in. Already rescue grass, wild oats, Indian mustard, flares, tallow weed and other forage is beginning to pop up. We're better off for moisture than we were at this time last year—and it was pretty good then.

The State Highway Department (See THE WEEK, Pg. 4-A, Col. 4)

Highway Department Calls For Bids On Area Project

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Highway Department Saturday called for bids on 481 miles of road work, of which 15.5 miles will stretch across Martin and Howard counties.

The bids will be opened Jan. 20-21. Low bids are estimated to total about $17 million dollars. Of the total mileage, the department said 403 miles are farm roads and 78 miles are U. S. and state highways.

The paving in this section will be on U. S. 87 from the Dawson County line south to eight miles north of Big Spring. The How-

County's All Wet

Howard County was all wet Saturday but instead of everybody smiling as welcomed rainfall covered practically all the county. Rainfall was reported a little heavier to the south and southeast, while only a trace was registered around Knott and Ackery.

Heaviest rainfall Friday and Saturday was around Big Spring and Coahoma, with both reporting around an inch. Other areas reporting were Luther with .40; Vincent, .35; Wilkinson ranch northwest of Lomax, .75; Forsan, .50.

At Sterling City to the south, Mrs. Sandra Cleveland reported 1 1/2 inches, one inch to the east, and from one inch to an inch and a half to the west.

Texas Electric Service Co. reported rainfall at Odessa and Crane was .78 and .75 inch; Colorado City, .46; Eskota, .49; Sweetwater, .51.

Frank Covert reported that 25 of an inch of rain had fallen at Moss Creek lake in southeast Howard County at mid-morning Saturday. This was on the heels of a light drizzle Thursday. He said that water was puddled everywhere but there was no runoff. The rain continued Saturday morning, turning to soft sleet for a time as the weather cooled.

Rain was falling slowly but steadily during the day Saturday and added considerably to some of the measurements which came in early.

By late afternoon Saturday the rainfall had let up in Big Spring, and clouds were beginning to rise. Colorado City reported .93 of an inch from 5 p.m. Friday until late Saturday afternoon. The fall came in a steady drizzle with accompanying cool temperatures, but no sleet or ice was reported.

Texas Business On High Plateau

By The Associated Press
Texas business operated on a high plateau in 1960 and resisted the downturns in the national economy, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said Saturday in its annual report.

Marines Search Workers

Marines make a daily body search of Cuban workers as they leave the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. Workers are searched again on the outside by Cuban officials. This picture was made by George Sweers of the St. Petersburg Times. (See story, picture on Page 4-A.)

Cubans Charge U. S. Airdrops

HAVANA (AP) — Supplementing its claim that a U.S. invasion threatens, the Cuban government announced Saturday it has seized two airdrops of weapons originated in the United States and destined for insurgents here.

The invasion scare Prime Minister Fidel Castro started nine days ago is beginning to strain Cubans and their industries. The big sugar harvest is at hand, but the workers are busy at other things—putting on militia uniforms and manning the Soviet and Czech weapons that bristle everywhere on this Caribbean island.

A defense spokesman said Castro's militia grabbed one arms collection of pistols, rifles, machine guns, mortars and bazookas dropped west of Havana in Pinar del Rio Province.

U. S. BEGINS OBSERVANCE OF CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
Associated Press Staff Writer
At a revered spot on the upper West Side of Manhattan, in the early Sunday afternoon, hundreds of uniformed figures will stand solemnly at attention.

The scene will be Grant's Tomb on Riverside Drive, not far from Columbia University. At a fixed time, the heavy silence will be broken by the roll of a chorus of drums. Then a military band will play the Star Spangled Banner.

Many experts doubt, however, that women and children can effectively make up in the harvest for their missing men. The nation's future depends on a fast and efficient sugar harvest.

Dr. McFarland To Be Guest Speaker At Chamber Banquet

"The big problem today is selling America to Americans." That is a familiar statement to many Big Springers who heard Dr. Kenneth McFarland several years ago when he was speaker for the local Chamber of Commerce banquet. Cliff Fisher, chamber president, has announced that Dr. McFarland will be the Chamber of Commerce banquet speaker again this year.

The program is scheduled for Feb. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building of Howard County Junior College. Complete details will be worked out by a special committee to be appointed Monday during the director's meeting at noon.

Dr. McFarland, who makes his home in Topeka, Kan., is educational consultant for General Motors Corp. and the American Trucking Association. He formerly served as guest lecturer for the Reader's Digest.

He has built his reputation as a speaker on the conviction that effective public speaking is the best way to sell basic truths. "Look them in the eye and tell them."

Dr. McFarland has repeatedly said, "Any man who helps another man to live more abundantly is doing the work of God."

His speeches are drawn from his experience in education and practical work. He received his bachelor's degree at Columbia University and his doctorate was awarded from Stanford University. He has received numerous honorary degrees.

Dr. McFarland served as a school executive for 24 years. He designed and built the McFarland Trade School at Coffeyville, Kan., which includes instruction by mail.

As a result, he has been dubbed "the teacher who has made the whole continent into a personal classroom."

He is also a farmer and rancher, living on the family farm near Topeka. He raises Hereford cattle and Tennessee walking horses.

Due to the many miles he has traveled on speaking tours, he was awarded a plaque as the "Nation's No. 1 Air Passenger." In a poll conducted by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, he was voted "America's Foremost Public Speaker." Active in the field of sales, the National Sales Executives picked him in 1957 as America's outstanding salesman.

Fisher summed up his announcement urging all Big Springers to attend the annual banquet. "Ticket sales will begin next week," he said, "and I hope everyone takes this opportunity to hear Dr. McFarland."

Nearly All Texas Gets Rain; Big Spring Area Is Soaked Heaviest Falls Dampen Coast

By The Associated Press
Rains of almost five inches drenched the Southeast Texas and heavy downpours hit the rest of the state Saturday, slickening highways on which five persons skidded to their deaths.

Both Beaumont and Port Arthur received 4.82 inches of rain in the 24-hour period ending at 4 p.m. A half dozen other points got more than two inches.

Intersections and underpasses at Beaumont overflowed Saturday night and the outer reaches of the city were flooded.

The rain threatened flooding of a number of houses but there were no reports of any damage. The Neches River began to fall slightly as the rain turned to a light sprinkle.

A mass of cool, dry air was moving in from the west, promising an end to the moisture, which frequently was unwelcome to ranchers and farmers. Cattle throughout the state were being fed, because fields of young grains were too wet for grazing.

Rains were heaviest in Southeast, South and Central Texas, but were general and soaking throughout the state. By early afternoon, El Paso was about the only place in Texas where people could see the sun.

Far to the east, heavy rain kept falling on Beaumont and fog hampered travelers by land, sea and air in the Houston and Galveston areas.

The rains tapered off Saturday night. Houston for instance had 1.10 inches in an hour and Beaumont had .80 of an inch in the same period.

Some of the heaviest downpours in the 24 hours to dawn Saturday measured 3.60 inches at Orange and 3.42 at nearby Port Arthur. The Houston airport had 2.16 inches. Beaumont 2.25, Bay Harbor 2.78, Port Bolivar 2.80, Galveston 2.07, Kirbyville 2.06, Jasper 2.30 and Buffalo 2.41. Gatesville 2.94, Pidocke 2.25, Morgan Hill 2.30, Proctor 2.00 and Hico 2.07.

Rains of one to two inches were common.

Snow fell in the Big Bend county, measuring from a half to an inch, but all melted by mid-morning.

The moisture made temperatures seem colder than the actual afternoon readings, usually in the 40s and 50s.

GAIL—It has been 54 years since northwest Borden County has had a local option election and it has been legally dry in all those years.

After Saturday's election, it will stay dry. The two boxes in Precinct 1 went about two to one against the sale of alcoholic beverages for off-premises consumption.

The Gail box showed 31 voting for the issue and 45 against, while the Plains box went 31 for and 79 against. One absentee vote was cast and it was against, making the totals 62 for and 125 against.

County Judge C. C. Nunnally said Friday that there were around 250 eligible voters in the precinct and he expected about 175 votes to be cast. There were 187.

The last local option election was held in September, 1907, and the county has been legally dry since that time.

Nunnally said campaigning had been comparatively quiet in the precinct but that there was speculation about the prospect of a similar election in the southeast part of the county, if the precinct voted wet.

Mrs. F. J. Cantrell, county clerk, said the weather was not a contributing factor in holding down the vote. "It has been misty all day, but very little rain has fallen."

Local Banks Near $34 Million Mark

Big Spring banks lacked less than $3,000 hitting the $34,000,000 mark in deposits at the end of the year.

A good harvest took up some of the earlier business slack as the three banks here aggregated $33,897,466 on deposit, a gain of $130,146 over the Dec. 31, 1959 totals.

Actually the figures here are for Dec. 30 because banks here were closed on Dec. 31 which occurred on a Saturday. Had they been open for that day's deposits, the $34,000,000 mark likely would have been exceeded.

Loans and discounts declined to $10,415,868.65, a drop of $338,253 for the year. Cash, however, jumped up by a whopping $1,377,335 in amounting to $12,545,194 in the three banks.

Total resources of the banks hit $36,939,580, which was $278,700 more than a year ago.

The First National, State National and Security State banks held an aggregate of $8,998,229.14 in United States government bonds and $6,388,135.75 in other bonds, or a total of $13,386,364.89. This gave a bond and cash total of $25,931,559.31.

Conditions by individual banks included:

FIRST NATIONAL—Loans and discounts $6,350,091.11, deposits $16,425,450.80, cash $5,136,716.43, total resources $18,012,203.22. In addition the bank carried $2,380,642.51 in U. S. government bonds, $3,722,449.91 in other bonds. The loan figure included approximately $22,000 in CC cotton notes.

STATE NATIONAL—Loans and discounts $2,110,660.02, deposits $12,742,375.25, cash $6,273,018.63, total resources $13,631,999.25. The bank also held $2,812,109.00 in U. S. government bonds, $2,418,689.92 in other bonds. The $58,470.76 in cotton CCC notes is shown in the loan total.

SECURITY STATE—Loans and discounts $1,955,117.52, deposits $4,829,640.13, cash $1,135,459.36, total resources $5,289,358.48. In addition the bank had $1,905,477.63 in U. S. government bonds and $246,996.92 in other bonds.

Pay Off

For maintaining sustained superior ratings for a 12-month period, John A. McDuffitt (left) and William A. Armstrong receive $150 checks from L. Col. Beverly V. Pearson, commander of the 3560th Civil Engineering Group. Both men are work crew leaders assigned to the Capehart maintenance.

2 Webb AFB Civilian Employees Win Awards

Two civil service employees assigned to the Capehart maintenance branch of the 3560th Civil Engineering Group at Webb AFB recently collected $150 checks for sustained superior ratings earned over 12-month periods. Col. Beverly V. Pearson, group commander, presented the checks to William R. Armstrong and John A. McDuffitt.

Armstrong is a maintenance crew leader and responsible for complete renovation of dwellings when occupants move. Between August, 1959 and August, 1960 he displayed versatility in various maintenance problems without calling on other work crews. He worked at Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo, before coming to Webb in 1958.

McDuffitt, who is also a work crew leader, takes care of such items as washers, dryers, dishwashers, and furnaces. In many instances, it was reported, he found short-cut methods of repairing appliances on the spot, without having to bring them to the shop. McDuffitt's rating covers the period from September, 1959 to September, 1960. He joined Civil Engineering Group in February, 1956 and worked in the electric shop before transferring to Capehart last May.

Crops, Economy Up Bank Deposits

San Antonio: $680,138,167 last month, compared with $654,114,468 a year ago.

Austin deposits last Dec. 31 were $278,321,779, compared with $253,872,424, making an all-time high.

Abilene: All-time record of $105,594,965, compared with a year ago figure of $100,150,360. For the entire county, deposits were $112,684,432, compared with $106,983,013 a year ago.

Wichita Falls: $176,364,605 this year and $177,362,537 a year ago. Wichita County deposits were $189,198,602, compared with $189,998,004.

Corsicana: $27,239,968, up from $27,186,463 the year before.

Denton County: $32,820,263, down only slightly from $32,996,082 a year ago. City of Denton deposits were $24,072,260, compared with year-ago figure of $24,381,494.

Orange County: $40,837,251, compared with $34,304,702.

Grayson County: $78,152,934, compared with $74,457,755 a year ago. Sherman deposits were $35,251,658, a drop of $260,000 over the 1959 total.

Midland: $135,372,812, compared with $122,474,186, and a record high.

Lubbock: $250,743,109, against $242,597,854 last year, a year-end record.

Edinburg: $14,407,202, against $14,377,091 a year ago.

Some of the other reports by cities or counties:

Tarrant County (Fort Worth): $229,513,465 as of last Dec. 31, and $765,142,038 a year ago, a major increase of $64 million.

Marshall: $24,203,807 this report and $23,945,149 a year ago.

Greenville: $21,719,562, against $21,541,832 in December, 1959.

Hunt County $31,297,511 and $30,093,161.

Tyler: $91,164,839 and $88,505,632.

Brownwood: $16,243,776 in 1960 and $15,164,276 a year ago. Brown County banks outside Brownwood showed $1,709,025 and $1,567,471.

Mount Pleasant: $11,969,765 in December 1960 and $11,877,590 a year previous.

Odessa: New high of $67,844,244, compared with $63,480,663 a year ago.

Amarillo: $196,927,561 on Dec. 31, and $184,886,741 a year ago, which itself was a new high.

Now It's First Name Basis For Robber

FORT WORTH (AP)—A thug has held up a Seven-Eleven Food store here so many times he is now on first-name terms with the manager.

The robber stuck up the store for the fourth time in recent weeks Friday night, telling manager Hubert Hendon:

"Hello, Hubert, sack it up."

Hubert did and the thief ran with $160.

A Full Agenda Is Being Readied For City Fathers

The Big Spring City Commission will hold final reading of an ordinance, third reading of one, and the second reading of another at the regular meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m.

The final reading and adoption of an ordinance governing the buying and selling of junk and used auto parts, and regulating pawn brokers, will put the new ordinance into effect.

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer said some action may be taken on the relocation, elimination, and addition of parking meters, and on the parking lot south of the Ritz Theater on Main Street. The continued use of this lot for parking under the supervision of the city will be determined by the interest of businessmen who formerly agreed to pay the lease on the three pieces of property being used. "Failure to contribute the cost of the lease on this property," Steinheimer said, "has caused the city to consider termination."

Other ordinances up for a reading are, one prescribing rules and regulations governing plats, plans and subdivisions of land within

Shot To Death

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Louis Carmina, 27, was shot to death early Saturday during an argument outside a West Side tavern.

Explorers To Install Officers

Members of Explorer Post No. 1, sponsored by the Rotary Club, are planning an elaborate, impressive installation program for its officers Tuesday.

Advisors Capt. Gerald T. McMillan and Lt. Stanley C. Grant urge all friends of scouting to attend the ceremonies. Both point with pride to the fact that the Post was organized only two months ago and already has 28 members, a meeting house, a calendar of planned activities, and strong support from its sponsor.

The Tuesday meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Academic Auditorium at Webb AFB. In addition to officer installation, new members will be initiated and Nancy Thomas, the Post's "little sister," will be introduced. Citations also will be awarded.

To round out the program, Capt. McMillan said, a briefing on the Santa Fe, N. M., skiing trip planned for Jan. 20 will be given. This will include two color films on skiing.

Refreshments will be served.

Russian Church Celebrates Christmas In Cheerless Rites

By PRESTON GROVER
MOSCOW (AP) — Archbishop Alexei, patriarch of all Russia, celebrated the Orthodox Church's Christmas Saturday by officiating at midnight Mass in Moscow Cathedral in an atmosphere of mingled majesty and melancholy.

Only a few young persons attended the services.

Most of the congregation was made up of older persons, mostly women. Many of them were married under the Czar more than 43 years ago before the Communist revolution struck down the wealthy church and reduced it to an almost pitiful remnant.

Other midnight Masses were celebrated in scattered city and country churches throughout the Soviet Union to mark Christmas, which under the old calendar comes 13 days after the Western world's Christmas.

Thousands walked through a fresh snowfall to crowd into Moscow Cathedral, ornate in gold and white.

Archbishop Alexei, past 80 but sturdy, stood in his golden robes and a glistening bejeweled crown, in the center of the cathedral. Around him were rows of metropolitans, bishops and priests also wearing gem-studded crowns.

Czars worshipped in this cathedral before the revolution and Archbishop Alexei has come down through the years from that early day when the church was rich, when its leaders spoke on even terms with the Czar and all Russians lived under its mantle.

But years of Communist domination has changed all that.

Enamel cups, not the old crystal or silver glasses, were used to dip holy water from fountains to pass out among worshippers. Royalty was long since gone, replaced by about 2,000 workers and peasants. Old women in shapeless black garb kept changing slender brown candles used in the service as they sputtered out.

Despite this, Archbishop Alexei preserved a certain amount of grandeur as he presided over the Mass. His congregation showed pleasure at singing the old religious songs, hearing the old ritual, seeing the old service.

At Novodevichi Monastery, on the outskirts of Moscow, the financial battering the church has sustained was even more evident. The monastery resembles a warehouse more than a house of worship. The rich lands it once owned on all sides are now owned by the state.

Legislature Faces Decade Challenge

AUSTIN (AP)—The state's first regular legislature of the 1960s meets at noon Tuesday under the stern challenge of providing for a decade of growth and progress in Texas.

The biennial session will be an exacting test of the wisdom, vision and political know-how of Gov. Price Daniel, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, the still-unnamed speaker of the House and other legislative leaders.

There is agreement over the obvious need for huge new revenues in determining whether the state will not only meet its barebone obligations, but advance beyond them. There is almost universal disagreement over how much should be spent and where the money will come from. Estimates of new money needs range from $200 to $300 million.

The legislature starts with a general revenue fund deficit of $91 million. The comptroller, however, estimates this will shrink to $63 million at the end of the current fiscal year, Aug. 31, 1961. Before the lawmakers can appropriate a nickel under the usual spending processes, this deficit must be retired.

Thus the almost overwhelming quest for new money will cast a shadow over virtually every act of the session.

For the first time in history, the legislators meet as a body on a set yearly salary plus a specified scale of various expenses. This plan was adopted by constitutional amendment and is regarded as a directive for improved service from the voters.

How the lawmakers will respond depends on the performance of the 57th session.

Legislators polled by The Associated Press on the problems they must try to solve agreed that the basic one is taxation and spending.

In second order of importance many listed legislative and congressional redistricting to meet Texas' increasing and shifting population.

Many other possible issues competed for third place in the order of importance, including:

Higher teachers pay and Hale-Aikin school changes; improved water use and conservation laws; changes in the auto liability insurance rules; problems of the cities; new methods of coping with crime and especially juvenile crime; activation of the loan shark control amendment with a law that works; activation of the medical aid to the aged amendment; election law changes especially the confusing method of ballot-marking; a new assault on the traffic deaths; and what to do about state college tuitions.

This list is not all-inclusive, but it is typical of the variety and volume of work waiting. An early start seems out of the question again this time.

A rough-and-tumble contest for the House speakership will be determined on the opening day Tuesday. Members will choose by secret ballot between Rep. James Turman of Gober in North Texas and Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Funeral For Douglas Moore Set In Alaska

Funeral for Douglas Moore, 33, former Big Spring man who was in mission work at Wrangell, Alaska, will be held at Wrangell either Monday or Tuesday.

Mrs. Moore, the former Juana-lee Nance, telephoned her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Nance, Friday evening that last rites and burial would be at Wrangell. Mr. Moore was killed in the crash of his private plane 60 miles south of Wrangell and north of Ketchikan. Reports indicate that it may have been caught in a downdraft in a mountain pass, crashed into the canyon and burned. Mr. Moore and Mickey McDougal were burned with the plane, and Bill Churchill escaped with a severely burned foot and is in the Ketchikan hospital.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. Fred Frewer, pastor of the Lamar Baptist Church in Greenville, and the Rev. White of Anchorage, Alaska. The two will remain in Wrangell to assist Mrs. Moore in closing out her affairs and assist her in starting on the trip back to Big Spring. A memorial service may be held here later.

Mr. Moore was reared in Big Spring, served in the U.S. Navy and six years ago responded to a call to do mission work. He is survived by his widow, one daughter, four sons, and by his mother, Mrs. Lloyd Spraggins, Ft. Worth.

Gift To Hospital

Mrs. Haskell D. Beck, acting volunteer co-ordinator for the Big Spring State Hospital, looks over the television set donated by Leon P. Moffett chapter of the DeMolays for use by hospital patients. From left, Kenneth Gafford, Denise Brewer and David McClanahan, members of the DeMolay chapter, presented the set to the hospital. It was given to the DeMolays by the Stereo Shop for donation to some charitable organization.

Dallas Loses Long Battle Against School Integration

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas School Board Friday lost a last-resort effort in its six-year-old battle to avoid compliance with a federal court order to integrate its schools.

Attorneys for the Dallas School Board were notified by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans that it has denied their Dec. 27 motion for rehearing.

No opinion was rendered in connection with the decision.

The court's denial leaves in effect its order that Dallas schools begin integration on a grade-a-year basis in September, 1961. But it prevents the board from transferring pupils on a racial basis. The board's plan would have permitted transfer of any student attending a school where a majority were of a different race.

Atty. Mark Martin had charged the court with two errors in his motion. He contended that it erred in striking "important transfer provisions" from the stair-step integration plan proposed by the school board. And he argued that it erred in failing to uphold the "salt and pepper" plan previously approved by U.S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

Martin said the court's action this week puts an end to further appeals through the New Orleans panel.

"Naturally, we are pretty happy that the motion has been denied. . . lawyers are always pleased to get such a decision," said W. J. Durham, attorney for Negro plaintiffs in the case.

Durham had previously described the court-approved stair-step plan as "not as objectionable" as that proposed by the school board. He said he wouldn't seek a rehearing inasmuch as the transfer provision that he found wanting in the board's plan was tossed out by the court.

Accountant Seeks U. S. Senate Seat

AMARILLO (AP) — A 44-year-old Amarillo accountant, Art Glover, said Friday he will be a candidate in the special U.S. Senate election called to name a successor to Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson.

Glover, who was defeated for U.S. representative in last year's Democratic primary, is a graduate of the University of Texas, a World War II veteran, and father of two children.

His platform calls for invasion of Cuba if that country moves into the U.S. naval base on the island.

Telling its own story...in silence!

Here's a man who's learning the story of the 1961 Cadillac in the best of all possible ways.

He has taken an hour out—put himself in the driver's seat—and he's letting the car tell the story in its own inimitable way.

And what's the report?

Well, that new Cadillac is making the most eloquent statement on quality and goodness in all motordom—the tribute of silence!

Even on the by-lanes, it is virtually impossible to detect the sounds of a Cadillac in motion.

And implicit in that ever-present silence is a story well worth the retelling.

It speaks, first of all, of magnificent craftsmanship . . . of care so intense that it has eliminated vibration as a necessary accompaniment to motoring.

It testifies to extraordinary soundness of engineering—with a precision in performance that keeps even that great new Cadillac engine down to a hushed whisper even at throughway speeds.

And it tells of truly remarkable styling . . . with a sculptured grace of shape and form that tames the rushing wind to a soft lullaby.

Of course, there are some things which a new Cadillac—with becoming modesty—won't tell about itself. There's its wonderful dependability, for instance, and its unrivaled resale value.

But your dealer will be happy to round out the story after your demonstration drive—and to explain how easily the car could be yours.

Shouldn't you lend an ear to a Cadillac—and a Cadillac dealer—soon?

Jets On Ready Line At Guantanamo

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
New Bedford Standard-Times Staff Writer

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—There will be no "Pearl Harbor" at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, Fidel Castro cannot take it with the military power at his disposal. And those who are inclined to aid him, Communist China and the Soviet Union, are not willing to take the risk that such an attack would involve.

These facts do not stop the American personnel there from accepting the possibility of serious trouble.

As one combat-experienced officer put it, "How do we know how many launching pads they've got behind the ridge back of the one we can see? How do we even know he's going to be logical enough to know he can't win?"

Actually, if Fidel Castro has launching pads aimed at Guantanamo and the United States does not know it, it would be surprising indeed. Castro has accused Americans of flying U-2 planes over Cuba to spot military activity; frankly, nothing as superlative as the U-2 is required and the air thereabouts is bustling with faster-than-sound American aircraft.

At Guantanamo's leeward point, on the southwest corner of the base, are the lean young men in orange coveralls and flight jackets who take aloft the amazing American jets. These aircraft are both carrier and land-based; they are capable of nuclear assault and are designed variously to support surface craft and to attack ground targets.

At leeward point at any given moment, there are more planes than there are in the whole Cuban air force.

The Cubans have 8 to 10 Soviet MIG 15 fighters that they don't know how to fly yet. But they probably are getting Soviet instruction on this. They also have a handful of B-26's, U.S. medium bombers given to Cuba in pre-Castro days.

For a navy, Castro has a half dozen frigates and patrol craft, a single ancient cruiser and a dozen wooden launches. Trusting neither the army nor navy, however, he has jailed many officers from each to thwart possible insurrection so he might not even be able to get his fleet to sea.

This is not to suggest the Castro military strength is of the musical comedy variety. His 26th of July revolutionary movement numbered 8,000 men; they captured arms and equipment sufficient for a force of 25,000. His militia, a tough organization of men and women who train evenings with Czech rifles, now totals 200,000. At least 12 Soviet ships have delivered arms and ammunition to Cuba since last July. Most recently the freighter Posud unloaded 6,000 tons at the port of Preston.

Castro now has 93,000 late model automatic rifles, 11,000 sub-machineguns, 55 tanks, 40 of which are from the Soviet bloc; 60 armored personnel carriers, 25 Soviet model rocket launchers with 8,000 rockets to match.

Mindful of all this, the U.S. Marines—there are 400 here, although Castro has charged 10,000—the 24-mile fence around the base 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Cactus and brush have been bulldozed from the faces of hillsides next to the fence to cut down concealing cover for anyone trying to sneak in.

INTERNAL SECURITY
A Naval emergency ground defense force, composed of base operating personnel, is charged with the internal security job in emergency. In daylight and dark they go through regular war games; the object: Learn how to round up and kill if necessary, infiltrators and saboteurs.

What happens if there is trouble in a two-phased program. The Marines, supported by tanks the number of which is secret, dig in and hold until the ground defense force rounds up the infiltrators. Air support, both offensive and defensive, immediately is available.

This doesn't begin to count the help that will come from outside: "Grimo" has no heavy artillery; the "fleet" is just over the horizon—and that's where the big guns will come from.

The important thing is that the U.S. Marines don't have to contact anybody higher up for the "big decision" policy. Now it is shaped so that when "conditions A, B and C" are met, as one officer put it, "the button is pushed." Guantanamo then launches its defense program and the support from outside—the air and sea strength from Norfolk to Key West—including missiles, cruisers and carriers arrives "within hours."

submit his resignation as national chairman, John M. Bailey, Connecticut state chairman, is expected to be elected his successor. Bailey was among those who participated in the discussion of appointments to be made by the new administration. Others present included Robert F. Kennedy, the President-elect's brother and attorney general designee, and Lawrence F. O'Brien, who is to be the new president's special assistant for personnel and congressional relations.

YOUTH TO THE FORE
The report from Millikan on establishment of a peace corps of talented young men and women to assist in the development of newly emerging nations was one of a series Kennedy has been receiving on a variety of subjects.

Millikan said that in his report, to be made public Tuesday, he suggested such a corps be set up initially on a test basis with the enrollment of a few hundred young men and women.

He told newsmen it would be unlikely and unnecessary to provide that service in the corps would exempt young men of draft age from military duty.

Kennedy, in proposing the peace corps in a San Francisco campaign speech, said three years of service in it could be an alternative to the peacetime draft.

Kennedy spent most of his day here discussing with political advisers appointments for the many jobs being the Cabinet level that still remain to be filled.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, the Democratic national chairman, said after nearly 3 1/2 hours at Kennedy's Georgetown home that "we went over a long list of names below the Cabinet level."

He told newsmen a lot of progress was made but expressed doubt all the job openings could be filled before Kennedy's inauguration on Jan. 20.

LABOR AIDE
Before Kennedy left for New York, aides put out a statement announcing Kennedy's selection of William Willard Wirtz of Chicago, a law partner of Adlai E. Stevenson, as the object of labor.

The appointments of five other officials to serve in the Labor Department under Arthur J. Goldberg, Kennedy's choice for secretary of labor, also were announced.

Jackson disclosed that Kennedy will address the Democratic National Committee at a meeting here on Jan. 21, the day after he takes over the White House.

At that time Jackson plans to submit his resignation as national chairman, John M. Bailey, Connecticut state chairman, is expected to be elected his successor.

On the military front further south, Information Minister Bonavan Norasing claimed the rebel base of Vang Vieng, 65 miles north of Vientiane, was captured by government forces Thursday.

Vang Vieng has been a major receiving point for Soviet airdrops to the rebels. Soldiers under Capt. King Le, a Laotian paratroop commander, retreated to the mountain-ringed Vang Vieng valley Dec. 15 after Bou Om's men drove them from Vientiane. King Le later was reported to have moved northward with his forces and joined in the major rebel offensive that seized and now holds the strategic central Plaine des Jarres.

800 investment in a High Island fishing pier on the coast returned him about $10,000 within nine months last year. Griffin said $6,087 of the income he reported in 1955-59 represented winnings in gin rummy games with friends.

Beaumont's city detective chief Jim Stafford, 50, was the only individual accused by name of taking protection money payoffs.

Casey Revia, 34, a Beaumont truck driver, swore—and Stafford vigorously denied after the hearing ended—he saw Stafford receive money-filled envelopes nearly every week for three months in 1957. Revia said the payoff took place at the Texas Club, where he was working at the time, and either William or Walter Sekaly handed over unspecified amounts to Stafford.

Walter Sekaly identified himself before the legislators earlier as owner of the Texas Club, one of seven spots hit by Texas Rangers in Dec. 3 gambling raids.

PAYOFFS MADE
Jack Greer, 32, a Beaumont car salesman, said two monthly payments of $500 were made to prevent raids on the Ritz Club, which he and a partner leased from George Salhab, owner of a Beaumont lounge. He said Salhab took the money for delivery to unidentified persons. Greer said the private club, serving mixed drinks, was raided and closed after he was unable to raise a third $500 because of poor business.

Witts said a Port Arthur prostitute had promised to repeat testimony given the committee in closed session about protection payoffs at a bawdy house, but at the last minute refused to take the stand.

Witts said, "he told us she had been warned 'You'll wind up dead in the shipping canal if you go in there and squeal.'"

A new county grand jury, empaneled the same day the lawmakers started their Beaumont hearing, gave public assurance it will demand "that all public officers live up fully to their oaths of office."

OPENED PUBLIC'S EYES
"I think the hearings have opened the eyes of the general public to conditions they did not know existed," said grand jury foreman Samuel B. Landrum, who is vice president of the Beaumont State Bank. "Perhaps they had heard about them, but they had no idea that they existed to the extent that the hearings indicated."

Forceful action by civic groups and individual citizens is dictated because "so much has been uncovered and brought up," said Mrs. Robert Wolff, immediate past president of the Beaumont Council of United Church Women.

The new president of the Beaumont Ministers Association, the Rev. J. W. Hardt of the First Methodist Church, declared:

"The ultimate value of the hearings will depend upon the reaction of the community. I hope and believe that the public will not take it as a laughing matter, or as one about which nothing can be done."

NOT ALL AGREE
Views of those demanding a continuing city group were not shared by all, although they definitely represented a big majority of "citizens polled at random by the Beaumont Enterprise."

One owner of a small store, who would not permit use of his name, asserted:

"I feel it is a dirty shame to kick Beaumont in the teeth with this type of hearing, and also its being carried out in this manner. The gambling, the payoffs exist in all cities of the state and will always exist. Why fight it? The basis of the hearings is political."

U. S. Peace Corps Idea Gains Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy rejected a report Saturday backing his proposal for a peace corps to assist underdeveloped nations but rebuffing his suggestion that young men serving in it be exempted from the military draft.

The report was submitted by Max Millikan, director of the Center for International Studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Millikan undertook the study at Kennedy's request.

Kennedy spent most of his day here discussing with political advisers appointments for the many jobs being the Cabinet level that still remain to be filled.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, the Democratic national chairman, said after nearly 3 1/2 hours at Kennedy's Georgetown home that "we went over a long list of names below the Cabinet level."

YOUTH TO THE FORE
The report from Millikan on establishment of a peace corps of talented young men and women to assist in the development of newly emerging nations was one of a series Kennedy has been receiving on a variety of subjects.

Millikan said that in his report, to be made public Tuesday, he suggested such a corps be set up initially on a test basis with the enrollment of a few hundred young men and women.

He told newsmen it would be unlikely and unnecessary to provide that service in the corps would exempt young men of draft age from military duty.

Kennedy, in proposing the peace corps in a San Francisco campaign speech, said three years of service in it could be an alternative to the peacetime draft.

Kennedy spent most of his day here discussing with political advisers appointments for the many jobs being the Cabinet level that still remain to be filled.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, the Democratic national chairman, said after nearly 3 1/2 hours at Kennedy's Georgetown home that "we went over a long list of names below the Cabinet level."

He told newsmen a lot of progress was made but expressed doubt all the job openings could be filled before Kennedy's inauguration on Jan. 20.

LABOR AIDE
Before Kennedy left for New York, aides put out a statement announcing Kennedy's selection of William Willard Wirtz of Chicago, a law partner of Adlai E. Stevenson, as the object of labor.

The appointments of five other officials to serve in the Labor Department under Arthur J. Goldberg, Kennedy's choice for secretary of labor, also were announced.

Jackson disclosed that Kennedy will address the Democratic National Committee at a meeting here on Jan. 21, the day after he takes over the White House.

At that time Jackson plans to submit his resignation as national chairman, John M. Bailey, Connecticut state chairman, is expected to be elected his successor.

On the military front further south, Information Minister Bonavan Norasing claimed the rebel base of Vang Vieng, 65 miles north of Vientiane, was captured by government forces Thursday.

Vang Vieng has been a major receiving point for Soviet airdrops to the rebels. Soldiers under Capt. King Le, a Laotian paratroop commander, retreated to the mountain-ringed Vang Vieng valley Dec. 15 after Bou Om's men drove them from Vientiane. King Le later was reported to have moved northward with his forces and joined in the major rebel offensive that seized and now holds the strategic central Plaine des Jarres.

800 investment in a High Island fishing pier on the coast returned him about $10,000 within nine months last year. Griffin said $6,087 of the income he reported in 1955-59 represented winnings in gin rummy games with friends.

Beaumont's city detective chief Jim Stafford, 50, was the only individual accused by name of taking protection money payoffs.

Casey Revia, 34, a Beaumont truck driver, swore—and Stafford vigorously denied after the hearing ended—he saw Stafford receive money-filled envelopes nearly every week for three months in 1957. Revia said the payoff took place at the Texas Club, where he was working at the time, and either William or Walter Sekaly handed over unspecified amounts to Stafford.

Walter Sekaly identified himself before the legislators earlier as owner of the Texas Club, one of seven spots hit by Texas Rangers in Dec. 3 gambling raids.

PAYOFFS MADE
Jack Greer, 32, a Beaumont car salesman, said two monthly payments of $500 were made to prevent raids on the Ritz Club, which he and a partner leased from George Salhab, owner of a Beaumont lounge. He said Salhab took the money for delivery to unidentified persons. Greer said the private club, serving mixed drinks, was raided and closed after he was unable to raise a third $500 because of poor business.

Witts said a Port Arthur prostitute had promised to repeat testimony given the committee in closed session about protection payoffs at a bawdy house, but at the last minute refused to take the stand.

Witts said, "he told us she had been warned 'You'll wind up dead in the shipping canal if you go in there and squeal.'"

A new county grand jury, empaneled the same day the lawmakers started their Beaumont hearing, gave public assurance it will demand "that all public officers live up fully to their oaths of office."

OPENED PUBLIC'S EYES
"I think the hearings have opened the eyes of the general public to conditions they did not know existed," said grand jury foreman Samuel B. Landrum, who is vice president of the Beaumont State Bank. "Perhaps they had heard about them, but they had no idea that they existed to the extent that the hearings indicated."

Forceful action by civic groups and individual citizens is dictated because "so much has been uncovered and brought up," said Mrs. Robert Wolff, immediate past president of the Beaumont Council of United Church Women.

The new president of the Beaumont Ministers Association, the Rev. J. W. Hardt of the First Methodist Church, declared:

"The ultimate value of the hearings will depend upon the reaction of the community. I hope and believe that the public will not take it as a laughing matter, or as one about which nothing can be done."

NOT ALL AGREE
Views of those demanding a continuing city group were not shared by all, although they definitely represented a big majority of "citizens polled at random by the Beaumont Enterprise."

One owner of a small store, who would not permit use of his name, asserted:

"I feel it is a dirty shame to kick Beaumont in the teeth with this type of hearing, and also its being carried out in this manner. The gambling, the payoffs exist in all cities of the state and will always exist. Why fight it? The basis of the hearings is political."

submit his resignation as national chairman, John M. Bailey, Connecticut state chairman, is expected to be elected his successor. Bailey was among those who participated in the discussion of appointments to be made by the new administration. Others present included Robert F. Kennedy, the President-elect's brother and attorney general designee, and Lawrence F. O'Brien, who is to be the new president's special assistant for personnel and congressional relations.

Patrol Wins Trophy

Lloyd B. Murphy, vice president, and Eddie Owens, president of the Big Spring Mounted Patrol, proudly display the trophy they won for second place in the parade inaugurating the Odessa Sandhills Livestock show last week. There were 11 riding groups competing in the event, and first place went to the Martin County Sheriff's posse.

Holleman Gets Labor Dept. Post

AUSTIN (AP)—Jerry Holleman, a tall, graying and husky Texan, has been tapped for appointment shortly as an assistant secretary of labor.

The president of the Texas State AFL-CIO was notified that he will be named to the federal job by President-elect John Kennedy. He will fly to Washington Wednesday to talk over his duties with Labor Secretary-designate Arthur Goldberg.

He was the second Texan to be named to a post in the incoming Democratic administration. John B. Connally, Fort Worth attorney, was named last month as secretary of the Navy.

Holleman, 41, worked his way up to the top state labor job through the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) and labor federations and West Texas labor groups. Starting work as a union electrician in Borger, Holleman became president of the Lubbock Central Labor Union and the Lubbock Building and Construction Trades Council.

He was elected president of the Texas State AFL-CIO in 1957 when the old organizations of the AFL and CIO merged. At the time he was executive secretary of the Texas State Federation of Labor. The state labor organization actively campaigned for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, but backed no one for the Democratic nomination. Holleman said he talked with Kennedy in June about legislation, the presidential campaign and other matters.

Holleman said he is uncertain what his exact job will be, but "indications are that it will be in the area generally called employment security."

The government post carries with it an annual salary of $20,000.

Order Reducing Service Dependents Due Change

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's order to reduce by 215,000 the number of service dependents overseas may be modified or even repealed by the next secretary of defense.

The order last Nov. 25 was part of a series of efforts to cut the U.S. deficit in the balance of international payments. It raised a storm of protest from servicemen and their families.

The unofficial but authoritative Army-Navy-Air Force Journal said Friday Secretary of Defense-designate Robert S. McNamara is seeking other ways to ease the balance of payments problem. The publication said McNamara wrote a letter to Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee which suggested men might be encouraged to leave their families home by further shortening tours of duty overseas for those unaccompanied by dependents.

Thompson Pays Record Price For Top Hereford

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mitchell County Hereford Breeders held their annual sale here Friday, netting $15,835 from the sale of 59 animals—with the 39 bulls averaging $290 and the 20 heifers averaging $24.

Top price was paid by banker-rancher Charlie Thompson of Colorado City, who bought Noble Lamp 42 for $1,000—a record price in the 12 year history of this sale.

Noble Lamp was judged the grand champion bull in Friday morning's judging by Bill Reid, Sterling City. He was sired by Noble Lamp 14 and his dam was Pretty Maid 62. He was bred by S. F. Buchanan, Big Spring.

Spirited competition from Sam Baugh of Rotan contributed to the record price brought by Noble Lamp.

Baugh paid second high money for Super Diamond 12, bred by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Howe, Roscoe. Baugh paid $510 for the 16-month-old bull.

Baugh also bought the reserve champion bull—Super Diamond—for $420. This bull, also a product of the Howe Ranch at Roscoe, was sired by Super Diamond. His dam was Donna Anna 143.

The champion heifer, R. S. Regina P., bred by Roy Henderson, sold for $300 to Charley Thompson.

The Reserve champion heifer, R. S. Miss Gwen Model, bred by Henderson was purchased by Thompson for $280.

Other buyers included: O. C. Roberts, Colorado City; Perry Matthews, Sterling City; Spring Creek Ranch, Clairmont; Bob Spence, Trent; W. E. Strain, Colorado City; Tom Russom, Merkel; Homer Jamison, Silver; D. M. Smith, Lorraine; J. H. Humphreys, Colorado City; Mrs. Dee Bassham, Colorado City; Bill Thompson, Colorado City; J. C. Barkley Jr., Colorado City; James Cox, Colorado City; W. E. Stockton, Big Spring; Leo Thompson, Colorado City; W. H. Jones, Ft. Wagon; John Russell, Matador; W. C. Harlow, Colorado City; J. D. Gibson, Colorado City; E. T. Strain, Colorado City; J. Jamison, Silver; A. A. Hackfield, Lorraine; Douglas Barber, Westbrook; Charles Williams, Colorado City.

Walter Britton, College Station was auctioneer. Officers of the association are: Tom Glover, president; Jack Burkhalter, secretary; and Gus Chesney, who pioneered Hereford sales in Mitchell County, treasurer.

$63,116,954 State Deficit Forecast

AUSTIN (AP)—The state comptroller officially estimated Saturday that the Texas general revenue fund deficit will be $63,116,954 by Aug. 31, the end of the fiscal year.

This amount must be raised by the legislature before new spending bills can be approved to conform with the state's "pay-as-you-go" policy.

Comptroller Robert Calvert's report went to Gov. Price Daniel and members of the legislature. His estimate is required by the Constitution.

Calvert estimated net revenue for the general fund for 1962 and 1963 at $269,278,851, which will leave $206,161,897 for appropriation when the deficit is erased.

Estimates were based on present tax laws.

Increases in the school program and welfare payments will cause a drag of nearly $60 million dollars on the general fund. Tax credits of nearly $2 million from the old gas gathering tax, held unconstitutional and still not refunded to gas companies, will further reduce spending money.

Gross revenue for the fund for 1962-63 is $330,441,512. The cutback in oil production is reflected in the estimate. The report figures the tax on oil will produce $120 million in 1960 and $122 million in 1961. Two years ago the estimate for revenue for the upcoming two years was about $38.5 million higher.

Burglars Break Vending Machine

Police investigated a broken cigarette machine at the Jet Theatre Saturday morning. This was the third time the machine had been broken open and the money taken.

Police said the same procedure was used each time to get a sliding door of the building open. No cigarettes were missing and the amount of money taken was not known. Iva Spencer, janitor, reported the break-in to Ike Robb, owner.

Police are also investigating the theft of a tire and wheel from a GMC pickup between 7:30 and 12 p.m. Thursday while the vehicle was parked at the Ace of Clubs. C. M. White, owner, reported the theft Friday.

DEAR ABBY

A LUCKY DOG?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am a snooty person, but I see canned dog food in my sister-in-law's cupboards and they don't have a dog. She feeds my brother lots of hamburger, chili, steaks and meatloafs and I am wondering if maybe she isn't using some of this canned horsemeat in her cooking.

My brother hasn't looked well lately, so if she is using that stuff on him, could it do him any harm?
JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: While dog food was not meant for human consumption, many have eaten it (accidentally) and suffered no ill effects. The next time you spy dog food at your sister-in-law's, ask her who the lucky dog is.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and can't let any boys come to my house because there's no place for them to sit. You see, my father has been in poor health for a long time and now he is home all the time. He sits in the living room watching TV from the time he gets up until he goes to bed. That's Daddy's only pastime.

We don't have a dining room or den. Mamma sews in the kitchen at night and uses the table to cut patterns. I don't want to start slipping around to meet boys on street corners like some girls I know. What should I do? Sign me.

DISCOURAGED
Perhaps your mother could cut her patterns in the bedroom one night a week? Or your family could save up and buy a portable TV for Daddy's bedroom. It's very important for a girl your age to entertain her friends at home. Your parents will cooperate when they understand your problem.

DEAR ABBY: I have a slight hearing defect. At times I am unable to hear the telephone at the first ring. My fellow employees treat me like a deaf person. They shout when they talk to me. And when they come up behind me they tap me on the shoulder, instead of calling me by name.

This is very unnecessary and is becoming most annoying. I like these people otherwise. How can I let them know how I feel?

CAN HEAR
DEAR CAN: Confide in the person with whom you are friendliest at your place of work. Tell her (or him) that you would appreciate it if the word were passed around that your hearing is only slightly defective. By the way, have you visited a specialist in this field lately? You would be wise to try to solve your problem at its source.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOW OR NEVER": It isn't possible to answer all letters in the paper. Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I will send you a personal reply.

"Who pays for what?" Send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. for Abby's Pamphlet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding."

Funeral Pends For T. D. O'Steen

Funeral services are pending for Thurman Dean O'Steen, 22, of Sheridan, Ark., who died Friday morning near Rosebud, Ark. when a bridge scaffold on which he was working collapsed. Mr. O'Steen attended Big Spring schools before moving to Arkansas. Two aunts, Mrs. J. D. Walter, and Mrs. J. L. Smith, are residents of Big Spring. Other survivors are his father, Tom O'Steen, Sheridan, Ark.; mother, Mrs. J. L. Senn, Bernice, La.; three sisters, Mrs. M. L. Morris, Sheridan, Ark.; and Mrs. Zack Dalby and Mrs. Elmer Boon, Fordyce, Ark.; two brothers, T. W. and Bryan O'Steen, Sheridan, Ark.

County Road Crews Tackle Three Projects

County road crews are busy on three projects, two in actual construction work and the third on preparing right of way.

Heavy machinery has been moved in on the north extension of Birdwell Lane to close a mile gap from the T&P tracks northward to a point where the road was paved previously from the Snyder highway south. When completed, this will extend Birdwell for an intersection not only with the Snyder highway but also the Gail road.

Caliche base is being hauled on the Sinclair road in eastern Howard County. This 2 1/2-mile stretch leaves 15 20 about four miles east of Coahoma near the point that that route turns to make the T&P overpass. It continues southward from that point through the oil field.

County workers are moving back fence and preparing right of way on a 2 1/2-mile stretch from the present terminus of a paved road northward to the Borden County line. Borden is due to carry the pavement on north to an intersection with the loop around Lake J. B. Thomas. When completed, this route will save about four miles of travel to those going to the north side of the lake or to the bridge on the west end. It also will serve numerous farms and ranches enroute.

Saturday Fines Total $130

Ten fines, totaling $130, were assessed in city court Friday, with three drunkenness charges accounting for $75 of this amount. One person was found guilty as charged and fined in each of the following amounts: Vagrancy, $3; exceeding safe speed, $10; expired driver's license, $5; parking in prohibited zone, $2; failure to yield right of way, $10; improper backing $5, and no driver's license, $20.

U.S. Reveals Estimates Of Farm Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's investment in farm price support programs, as of last Nov. 30, was estimated Saturday at $9,150,067,000. Of this, the Agriculture Department said, $7,513,855,000 was the cost value of farm commodity inventories and $1,636,232,000 was in outstanding loans. Biggest items in the Commodity Credit Corp.'s crop surplus inventories were wheat and corn. There were 1,145,776,556 bushels of wheat valued at $2,973,497,640 and 1,472,038,597 bushels of corn valued at $2,443,539,235. Next highest was cotton—5,436,677 bales valued at $924,066,232.

Danger Explained

Young boys, playing with lighted flares inside empty tanks near the Cosden Service Station, 300 W. 3rd, have given Big Spring police considerable worry recently. Patrolmen fear that one or more of the boys may become suffocated in the tanks because of the lighted flares using up the oxygen inside.

THEY GREW HAIR

Tomorrow Only, P. L. Starkey In Big Spring, Texas, Will Show How To Save Hair And Stimulate Hair Growth

Mr. Mellon's complete recovery from hair loss is typical of the results possible thru Erickson's modern methods.

Mr. Barnes, the same as any woman, is proud of this lovely hair which was restored thru a prompt application of the famous Erickson methods.

They gave only 20 minutes of their time for a FREE consultation with the Erickson representative and re-grew their hair in only a few months with the exclusive Erickson home treatment. Neither have male pattern baldness.

ARE YOU IN THE DARK how to Combat Hair Problems

No need to be in the dark, it's really very simple. YOUR HAIR WANTS TO GROW.

Now in its eighth year, Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists have proven this with the exclusive Erickson method, which checks dandruff, and scalp itch and makes conditions just right for normal hair growth. We do this by removing artificial barriers to healthy scalp and make it possible for the positive Laws of Nature to again take over and let you once again grow hair.

Monday, Jan. 9, at the Crawford Hotel, in Big Spring, Texas, Staff Director P. L. Starkey will give FREE hair and scalp consultations to men and women between 1 P.M. and 8:30 P.M. They are conducted in private to avoid any embarrassment whatsoever.

WHAT CAUSES HAIR LOSS
Actually there are several scalp disorders that can cause hair loss and baldness. Only a close examination can actually determine the cause and best method for your individual problem.

That's why Erickson guarantees satisfaction on a prorated basis. This remarkable guarantee is given even though the great majority of cases of excessive hair loss and baldness are the beginning of Male Pattern Baldness which cannot be helped. No method can help if you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead. But even if baldness may seem to "run in the family", this is certainly no proof that you can't be helped. No matter what the cause of your hair loss, if you have just a little hair, Erickson's exclusive process may help you. But you must act NOW. NOW is the only time to act.

SATISFIED USERS HAVE SAID
"Am very well pleased with treatments... Bald spot is completely covered."
"My hair is coming in real good on the top and sides where it is thin."
"My hair is getting thicker. I want to thank you for the wonderful treatment."
"My hair is becoming thicker and many new small fine hairs are appearing and growing longer."
"More than satisfactory."
"It doesn't seem possible the good results I have received in such a short time."
"The treatment has eliminated the dandruff and the itching of the scalp."

RESULTS GUARANTEED
We don't ask you to take our word. You are given a written guarantee, guaranteeing satisfaction with our products from beginning to end.

PLAN NOW
See Mr. P. L. Starkey at the Crawford Hotel in Big Spring, Texas, Monday, Jan. 9, at your convenience. He will give free consultations between 1 P.M. and 8:30 P.M. in private at no cost or obligation to you. The complete examination will take only a few minutes of your time. SURELY YOUR HAIR IS WORTH AT LEAST THIS MUCH TO YOU! ADV.

Carmen Basilio Wins Over Gaspar Ortega

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Carmen Basilio overcame a sluggish start and won an unanimous 10-round decision over Gaspar Ortega at Madison Square Garden Saturday night with a two-fisted attack reminiscent of the form that once earned him the welterweight and middleweight boxing titles. The 33-year-old battler from Canastota, N.Y., in a comeback attempt after his knockout defeat by NBA Champion Gene Fullmer last June, showed little effects of his long layoff as he closed with a rush. His younger and lighter foe from Mexico was hanging on at the final bell. The referee and Judge Leo Birnbaum voted six rounds for Basilio and four for Ortega, who spotted his opponent 10 pounds. The other

Judge, Joe Eppy, had it 5-4-1, the same as the AP card, in favor of Basilio. Ortega weighed 140 1/2 to Basilio's 159 1/2. Carmen came in four pounds over his contracted weight of 155 and was suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission for this infraction.

Oilers Finish $710,000 In Red, Owner Reveals

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers of the American Football League won $710,000 in the hole, the club's owner said Saturday. "We spent $710,000 more than we took in," K. S. (Bud) Adams said casually.

"Our operating loss was $490,000 when the $230,000 for stadium expansion is deducted," the oilman said. Adams financed the enlargement of Jeppensen Stadium—owned by the Houston School District—so it would seat 35,000. "Our crowds averaged 26,000 for the last two home games, and I think Houston is going to be one of the great cities in pro football when we get the new stadium built," he said. Adams earlier said he expected to lose about a million dollars when he first decided to field a pro team in 1960. "The Oilers won the AFL's first championship game before about 33,000 persons New Year's Day," The Billy Cannon case, Adams said, cost the oilman $70,000 above the huge salary for the former Louisiana State All America draws. Cannon was center of a court battle between the Oilers

Captains Named By Baylor Club

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The Baylor football team Saturday elected quarterback Ronnie Stanley, center Bill Hicks and end Bobby Lane tri-captains for the 1961 season.

Head Coach John Bridgers announced 29 lettermen from the 1960 team that compiled an 8-2 season record and finished second in the Southwest Conference. The Bears lettered 9 seniors, 12 juniors and 8 sophomores.

Durocher's Pact To Be Announced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers are calling a press conference next Monday afternoon, presumably to announce that Leo Durocher has signed as third base coach.

Senior lettermen were end Bobby Lane; tackles John Frongillo and Pete Micklas; guard Herby Adkins and Bobby Manasco; centers Bill Hicks and Kenneth Hayes; quarterbacks Ronnie Stanley and Bobby Ply; halfbacks Ronnie Bull and Tommy Minter and fullback Sonny Whorton.

Las Vegas Gets Bout Rematch

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The rematch between NBA World Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer and ex-champ Sugar Ray Robinson was officially set Saturday for Feb. 25 at the desert gambling resort.

The announcement was made at a news conference by Norman Rothchild, Syracuse, N.Y., promoter, Fullmer's manager, Merv Jensen, and the two local promoters, Jack Doyle and Mel Greb. Fullmer kept his title in his last meeting with the aging Robinson in an action-packed draw in the Memorial Sports Arena in Los Angeles Dec. 3.

The rematch will be a regularly televised Saturday night fight. It will originate from the convention center, a dice roll or two from the gambling strip.

Armin Hary Is Banned For Year

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — German gold medal sprinter Armin Hary, considered the world's fastest human, was banned from track for a year Saturday on several charges—including padding of expense accounts.

Bonnies Triumph Over Duquesne

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Third-ranked St. Bonaventure spotted Duquesne an 11-2 lead at the outset, then stormed back in a second half blast to whip the Ducks, 89-78, as sophomore Fred Crawford pumped in 32 points and Tom Smith 23.

Expansion May Be Talked By AFL

DALLAS (AP) — There will be talk of expansion to whether the American Football League will take in some new members at its annual meeting in Houston next week is quite problematical, Commissioner Joe Foss said Saturday.

Foss said despite the expansion of professional football from 12 to 22 teams within the past year there remains a strong backlog of U.S. cities still bidding for an AFL franchise. "Expansion will be discussed," said the commissioner, "but its place on the agenda will not be higher than any of a half dozen other items."

Paul Harney Leads Los Angeles Open

By BOB MYERS Associated Press Sports Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) — Long-hitting Paul Harney took the lead at the midway mark of the $45,000

Los Angeles Open Saturday with his second straight 3-under-par 68 as the big name of the tournament, Arnold Palmer, fell out.

Palmer, the National Open and Masters champion of 1960, failed to qualify for the final two rounds as the ranks were cut to the low 90s and ties.

Whatley, Cobb And Pickle Win Football Awards Here

The Big Spring High School football team won commendation from Coach Emmett McKenzie Saturday night as the Downtown Lions Club honored the boys with their annual dinner.

"It's easier to play on a winning club," said McKenzie, "but I feel like our boys have learned something from their experience—something that will stay with them."

That horrendous 12 strokes on the final hole for a 77 Friday wrecked Palmer's chances in this, his hard-luck tournament.

He also paid his respects to the coaching staff, observing that "there is no such thing as a good coach — it's a case of a good staff helping make the coach."

Special guests were the staff and wives including Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Delnor Poss, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sibley, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Moore. Roy Baird was unable to attend.

Harney, former Eastern collegiate champion from Worcester, Mass., posted a 36-hole score of 136 to take a precarious one-stroke lead.

Tommy Whatley, quarterback, was revealed as the choice for best backfield man.

Alf Cobb, guard, repeated as the winner of the outstanding lineman award.

Ted Kroll, the first-round leader from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with a 66, fell back with a 72 for 138. Knott in the runner-up spot at 137 were Ken Venturi of Palm Alto, Calif., 69-68; Bob Goaly, Crystal River, Fla., 67-70, and Los Angeles' Eric Monti, 67-70.

McKenzie also announced the winners of the outstanding player awards.

Scores of 148 or better qualified for the third round.

Tommy Whatley, quarterback, was revealed as the choice for best backfield man.

Alf Cobb, guard, repeated as the winner of the outstanding lineman award.

This was the first time Palmer had failed to survive the cut since the Indianapolis "500" last year, and that was at the 54-hole mark.

McKenzie also announced the winners of the outstanding player awards.

Tommy Whatley, quarterback, was revealed as the choice for best backfield man.

At 138 tied with Kroll after Saturday's round over the 7,000-yard, par 36-35-71 Rancho municipal golf course, were ex-national PGA Champion Lionel Hebert, 68-70; Bill Collins, Crystal River, Fla., 67-71, and Tommy Jacobs of Palm Springs, Calif., 69-69.

Tommy Whatley, quarterback, was revealed as the choice for best backfield man.

Alf Cobb, guard, repeated as the winner of the outstanding lineman award.

The 140 group included Billy Casper Jr., Bob Rosburg, Gardner Dickinson, England's Eric Brown and 23-year-old Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., whose 66 was the low round of the day.

Larry Shields On All-State

By The Associated Press
Larry Shields, Wichita Falls' mighty fullback, led the Class AAAA all-state schoolboy football team on which two Negro players were selected.

For the second year in a row Negroes landed on the top Class all-state team one made it. This time two were picked—Johnny Roland, the hard-running half-back, and Willie Adams, the big tackle, of Corpus Christi Miller's state championship team.

Shields polled 81 of a possible 85 points as the most popular choice. Roland had 65 points as runner-up among the backs to Shields. Adams had 49 points to top the tackles.

There's a familiar name among the first team ends—George Sauer Jr. of Waco. His father was formerly coach and athletic director of Baylor.

Baytown, which failed to get outside its district, landed the team—three. Miller was next with two while Waco, Houston Austin, Amarillo, Galveston, Wichita Falls and Bryan came up with one apiece.

Pairing with Sauer at end was Osborne Knudson of Baytown. Dennis Medley of Houston Austin was the other tackle.

Doug Sanders of Amarillo and Wayne Bertsch of Baytown made the guard positions.

Vernon McManus of Baytown was the center.

Walter McReynolds of Galveston was picked at quarterback. He was moving up from last year's second team.

Shields, Roland and Tommy Meeks of Bryan were the other backs.

All are seniors except Shields, who has another season.

Sanders was the top point-getter among the linemen, polling 78.

Bill Stevens, the one-time Big Spring coach who visited here recently for the reunion of the 1930-31 Steer basketball team, has fond memories of this place. "Bill couldn't find his way around town, however. "Too many one-way streets," he commented.

One of Bill's basketball players back on those days was Paul Smith, who once pulled a Roy Regals on the court by shooting at the wrong goal on a couple of occasions, then was called to the bench by Stevens and remarked to Bill: "Coach, those guys are all mixed up out there. They're all shooting at the wrong goal!"

Stevens' last coaching job was at Nacogdoches. Bill Flowers, the one-time football captain here, couldn't make it to the reunion because he was ordered to duty in Africa by the Air Corps a couple of days before he was to take off for Big Spring.

The Orange Bowl is looking for a conference hook-up, similar to that maintained by the Cotton Bowl. It would like to get the Southeast Conference champion to commit its champion or runnerup to play at Miami every year, now that it is free of contracts with any league for the first time since 1954.

The SEC likely will turn a deaf ear to the plea. The Cotton Bowl, incidentally, would have a lot closer filling its saucer last Jan. 5 had it been the State, rather than Duke. NM State, it was generally agreed, fired the imagination of the public (whereas Duke never did, after that dismal TV showing in Los Angeles) and the Aggies had the responsible sports journals and magazines pulling for them.

Tommy Young, who could be a splendid back, may come out for high school football here in the spring. Incidentally, the Steer athletes are showing up better than was expected in the physical fitness tests being given by the coaches, so the outlook for the 1961 football season is improving.

Brewer Is Making Good At Houston

The playing field at the last Cotton Bowl game was practically devoid of turf. Last year, a similar situation occurred but the entire area had been painted green to fool the color TV audience.

The Arkansas players had huge numbers painted on the sides of their helmets in the game, something the high schools could do and please both spectators and the working press alike.

Joe Bellino, who was stopped cold by Missouri in the Orange Bowl game, said the pressure wasn't as great in the classic as it was against Army and Duke in regular season play.

He was inclined to look upon the Miami trip as a bonus for the job Navy did all year. Buzzy Brewer, the former Stanton grid great, reportedly has come along fast at the University of Houston and is due to play regularly before the graduation.

Jimmy Evans, the former Big Spring High School and HCJC cager, reportedly will go to Texas Western College in the spring. There he'll be playing under his former coach, Harold Davis.

The Miners, by the way, broke even in their first 12 games. They beat San Ross and New Mexico Western twice each, University of New Mexico and Wayland.

Their losses came at the hands of Oklahoma University, Oklahoma State, Tulsa, Centenary, Louisiana Tech and Northwestern Louisiana State.

The defeat by the latter team was by one point. Arlen White, a Forsan product who made good at both HCJC and Howard Payne College, is out of the Marines now and hopes to land a coaching job somewhere.

He'd be a credit to any school system. Wiley Brown, another HCJC ex, now coaching basketball at O'Donnell High, says his team is largely composed of sophomores.

He hopes to field a winner in a year or two. The Professional Golfers' Association is set to drop its controversial "race" clause this year.

The clause restricts professional membership to members of the white race.

Writers Would Change Playoff Rules

The Big Spring football press box is being commended officially by the Texas Sports Writers Association because of the job it did in one game, that playoff between Denver City and Anson here.

The association, by the way, is going on record as favoring a neutral site for all football playoff games when competing schools cannot seat as many as 7,500 at their games.

Right now, the Texas Interscholastic League forces officials of the schools to flip for a game site when they cannot reach an agreement where to play.

The Big Spring Steers, gifted with so many fine sophomores and juniors, should be able to more than hold their own in District 2-AAAA basketball play next season.

Coaches Delnor Poss and Jimmy Marcus are doing wonderful jobs with the Steers.

Young Jeff Brown, a sophomore who would have been a whole of a football player had his doctors permitted him to play, is coming to the front fast as a varsity player and Dick Ebling, a junior, should be tremendous in another year.

Incidentally, Ebling lost touch with football in a touch football game, not basketball.

Odessa Junior College's Wranglers have won consolation titles in three invitational basketball tournaments this season.

Steve Cosgrove, a Houston-Belaire athlete, who beat Odessa's High's Bronchos with a last second field goal in the Dallas Dr. Pepper Tournament recently, is the same boy who pitched Belaire to an 11-2 baseball victory over Midland in the state baseball tournament last spring.

When the Big Spring basketball team journeyed to the Dallas Dr. Pepper Tournament recently, they defeated Rio Grande recently, they counted 90 deer between Sonora

Ralph Love's classy Mr. Vale goes through his paces in early morning workout preparing for his engagement in the $15,000 Sunland Park Handicap to be run at the Sunland Park today. The handsome grey will carry 121 pounds in the mile and one furlong class.

Sunland Park Winds Up Meeting Today

EL PASO—Sunland Park presents its final stake of the current 45 day fall-winter meeting today, the $15,000 Sunland Park Handicap, which lured a full field of ten.

The race is at a mile and one furlong and the largest crowd of the season is expected as the Temulac Stables' Winsham Lad goes postward to defend his newly-won honors as horse of the meet.

Sternest opposition for the hearted little gelding is expected to come from Ralph Love's vastly improved Mr. Vale, who displayed his sharpness by scoring an impressive wire-to-wire victory at a mile-and-one-sixteenth two weeks ago.

By virtue of his four consecutive victories here this season, Winsham Lad was voted Horse of the Meet by a poll of sportswriters, radio and TV sportscasters covering the meeting. His triumphs included the Texas Society of Architects Purse, the TRA Allowance Purse, the Pan Zareta Handicap and the Toys-for-Tots Purse. The last three races he carried top weight.

Racing secretary Harvey Foster has assigned the dark-brown son of Faubourg 2nd 121 pounds for the "biggie," second only to Mr. Vale who must pack 122.

Trainer Herb Claggett, who was voted trainer of the meet, has given the track's leading rider, Gale Mower, the mount. Mower has piloted the lad in all four of his wins here.

Owned by 14 El Paso sports-women, Winsham Lad was purchased for an undisclosed sum at a dispersal sale in California from the former Liz Whitney, mistress of the famous Langolien Farms at Upperville, Virginia.

Laddie, as he is affectionately referred to by his owners, was Horse of the Meet at Turf Paradise in 1959 and was top money winner at that meeting. He earned $16,240 during his 1960 campaign and during the early favorite to haul down first money of $8,775.

Winsham Lad Is Honored

EL PASO—The Temulac Stables' Winsham Lad has been voted the Horse of the Meeting and best handicap horse by a poll of sportswriters, radio and TV sportscasters covering the current Sunland Park meeting.

In four starts this season, the newly-turned five-year-old has yet to lose a race, winning at distances from six furlongs to one mile, despite the fact he is considered a true route horse.

His victories include the Texas Society of Architects Purse, the TRA Allowance Purse, the Pan Zareta Handicap, and the Toys-for-Tots Purse in the last three he carried topweight.

Owned by 14 El Paso Sports-women, Winsham Lad was purchased for an undisclosed sum at a dispersal sale in California from the former Liz Whitney, mistress of the famous Langolien Farms at Upperville, Virginia.

Laddie, as he is affectionately referred to by his owners, was horse of the meet at Turf Paradise in 1959 and was top money winner at that meeting. He earned $16,240 during his 1960 campaign.

Ralph Love's Penrock was voted the best two-year-old, Field Piece the top three-year-old.

In all categories below the following were voted "bests":

South Edge North In Mobile Classic

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Rifleman Norman Snead of Wake Forest passed for four touchdowns in directing the South All-Stars to a 33-26 victory over the North in the 12th annual Senior Bowl game Saturday.

Snead's final touchdown strike, a 42-yarder to back Fred Brown of Georgia, came with seven seconds of play remaining and provided the margin of victory in the widest of all Senior Bowl games. The 6-foot-4, 208-pound Snead ended Stanford's Dick Norman in a stirring aerial duel that saw the South pick up 328 yards passing to 311 for the Northerners. Norman, who rallied his club time after time, was voted the game's outstanding player.

Norman had pulled the North into a 26-26 tie with three minutes to go on a 29-yard touchdown pass to Don Smith of Missouri. But an attempted conversion by Skip Face, also of Stanford, was blocked by defensive back Bobby Laurier of Auburn.

This set the stage for the fabulous finish in the final seconds. Snead and the great Bobby Cremino of Mississippi, who took in two long touchdown passes from Snead, tied for the South's most outstanding back. One of the scoring plays by the two covered 70 yards, the other 47.

Guard Mike Zeno of VPI was chosen outstanding lineman for the South, and another guard, Joe Dean of Ohio University, was picked as the North's top lineman.

Number Of Deer Shows A Gain

AUSTIN (AP)—The Game Commission check station at Llano tallied 10,753 deer during the 1960 season, a year-end report showed Saturday.

The station checked 9,220 last season.

Summer Play May Be OK'd

PITTSBURGH (AP)—College coaches think they may have the answer to organized baseball's minor league problem — summer varsity competition.

Lee Eilbracht, Illinois baseball coach who both played and managed in the minors, said Saturday, "There are empty minor league parks all over the country. Many communities are without good hard ball competition. The colleges can fill that void."

"Pro baseball is dead in New England," said Henry Butova of American International College in Springfield, Mass. "I find my boys berths on industrial teams in the summer so they can get experience. Three-quarters of a million people are without organized baseball in the Springfield area."

Wally Rabb, coach of North Carolina's Atlantic Coast Conference champions, sees summer baseball as a coming thing in the ACC as soon as the schools go on a trimester (year-around) academic undergraduate system, a growing trend stemming from crowded campuses.

"Summer baseball could be the great equalizer in college competition," said Frank Sancti, whose University of Arizona teams are perennial national powers. Arizona, because of its weather conditions, plays more than 30 games a season and has the opportunity to develop standout major league prospects.

Virginia, Tarheels Drawing Attention

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two colleges and two-platoon football provided the chief conversational gambits Saturday as the vanguard of more than 2,000 college coaches, athletic directors and other leaders gathered for their annual week-long session of business and talk.

Conversation was the day's biggest activity as only a couple of committee meetings and coaching clinics were on the schedule.

The colleges mentioned most frequently were Virginia, which is seeking a football coach to end its near-record 26-game losing streak, and North Carolina, which hopes to end an NCAA investigation of its basketball recruiting without incurring any penalties.

Moves toward a return of platoon football, tossed out by the rules makers eight years ago, was one of the favorite subjects of hotel lobby debate as the rules committee of the American Football Coaches Association met to decide what changes, if any, to recommend to the national rules body.

There has been some agitation, especially from the smaller schools, for further liberalization of the present "wild card" substitution rule.

Virginia is one of the few major colleges which has an opening for a head football coach. The talk here is that veteran George (Lefty) James, ousted by Cornell at the end of the 1960 season, holds the No. 1 place on the list of prospects but is undecided whether to take the job.

North Carolina's plight came to light when it had been learned that Basketball Coach Frank McGuire and Athletic Director Chuck Erickson were scheduled for another meeting with the NCAA council Sunday or Monday. They have come before the council previously during the past year.

The matter reportedly concerns recruiting of basketball players. Since moving from Brooklyn to North Carolina, McGuire has had spectacular success, largely with players from the North.

Hunting Seasons Draw To A Close

AUSTIN (AP)—The Game Commission warned hunters Saturday that it is now illegal to kill ducks, doves, deer or turkey.

The state's goose season closed Saturday and the quail season west of the Pecos closed Dec. 31. The over-all quail season under general laws will close Jan. 16.

Glass Or Wood?

Plastic boats, such as this outboard runabout, will be featured at most boat shows this winter. But the Comet sailboat, made of wood, still has its place in boating.

Desk & Derrick Officers

D&D Club Installs Officers

New officers of the Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club were installed Friday evening at a dinner meeting held at Cosden Country Club. Mrs. Kathleen Isbell, Region 5 Director, Abilene, was the installing officer.

The theme, Hues of the Rainbow, was used by Mrs. Isbell to install Mrs. George Thorburn as president, Mrs. Sam Thurman, vice president, Mrs. Ray White, recording secretary; Pat Murphy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Doryne Hefer, treasurer; and Mrs. Leon Kinney, director.

Special guests were introduced including Irma Cline, composer of the installation ceremony and past president of the National Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America. Also welcomed were 13 members from Midland and eight members from Abilene.

Mrs. Thorburn presented Mrs. Kinney a Past President's pin from the Big Spring group.

Committee chairmen announced for 1961 were: bulletin, Mrs. W. A. Boeckel; field trip and transportation, Billie Bauer; hostess, Mrs. Ed Black; house, Mrs. J. F. Neece; membership, Mrs. Joe Roberts; program, Marguerite Cooper; publicity, Mrs. Paul Sheedy; scrapbook, Mrs. Bill Goodwill; Nina James; ways and means, Mrs. Earl Hughes; and parliamentary, Mrs. Hal Mabry.

Approximately 65 attended the meeting.

188 New Wells Are Reported

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission reported Saturday 188 oil well completions for the first week of the year, compared to 255 last year.

There were 29 gas well completions reported and 140 dry holes. Wildcats drilled included three oil and two gas wells.

Little Congressional Action Expected For Oil Problems

HOUSTON (AP)—Congress probably will take little action this year on oil problems.

The second session of Congress next year, however, may be a different story.

Many industry spokesmen believe any recommendations on oil problems will not be placed before Congress by the new administration until late this year or early in 1962.

Gasoline taxes, however, will be a definite exception in that a temporary one-cent tax is to expire June 30 unless Congress authorizes an extension. The industry is campaigning vigorously against an extension.

Another exception may be the depletion tax allowance. President-elect John Kennedy is not expected to act quickly but senators opposing the full 27 1/2 per cent probably will make another effort to obtain a reduction. Efforts to tack graduated reduction riders onto Senate bills have failed the past three years.

Kennedy voted for a graduated reduction as late as last June but his presidential campaign included repeated statements an over-all study of the matter should be made. Such an approach would require considerable time.

Otherwise, Washington began the new year with the same oil problems that received little or no action from the 86th Congress of the past two years—natural gas legislation, oil imports, and the controversial proposals calling for a national fuels policy study.

A new version of a bill that would remove or minimize federal regulation of natural gas wellhead prices has been drafted by a task force that includes representatives of all segments of the industry, producers, pipeliners, and distributors. Similar bills were vetoed by Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. Many industry leaders and many members of Congress believe any effort to get a third bill through Congress would require strong support from the White House. The natural gas controversy did not figure prominently in the presidential campaign but Kennedy, in the House and Senate, voted against both the bills that were vetoed.

Picket Lines Affect 600

HOUSTON (AP)—A picket line was placed around the ship channel plant of Phillips Chemical Co. by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union Saturday after contract negotiations broke off Friday.

About 600 workers are affected by the strike, said Local President W. L. Simpson.

Simpson said the negotiations, which had been carried on since October, were for increased wages, insurance, and other benefits.

Congress Looks At Oil Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—The opening of Congress brought bills favored or opposed by the oil industry.

A new natural gas bill—which would write into law provisions long sought by the industry—was offered promptly by chairman Owen Harris, D-Ark., of the House Commerce Committee. The bill, which would exempt natural gas producers from utility-type regulation by the federal government, is identical with a bill Harris submitted unsuccessfully in the last Congress.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, introduced a bill that will draw the industry's determined opposition. This measure would knock down to 15 per cent the industry's 27 1/2 per cent tax depletion allowance.

Similar proposals over the last few years have gotten nowhere. Gross contends the present depletion allowance amounts to a tax loophole.

Area Gains Nine Projects

One of nine new field locations reported in the eight county area at week's end was a new project in the Pools Creek (Clear Fork) field of Glasscock County.

J. R. Currie of Garden City has staked No. 2 S. C. Currie about 10 miles east of Garden City on a 640 acre lease. Projected for 3,000 feet with rotary tools, it is 330 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 46-32-48, T&P survey.

John L. Cox of Midland No. 1-B

Gillespie has staked a Felken (Spraberry) project in Dawson County on 160 acres about 15 miles northeast of Lamesa. It will go to 7,600 feet. Location is 660 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 10-1-J, Poitevent survey.

In Garza County, Bayview Oil Corp. of Dallas will dig No. 3 W. V. Roy as a Harris field project about four miles northeast of Justiceburg on a 320 acre lease, slated for 2,700 feet. It is 1,650 feet from south and east lines of section 134-5-H&H survey.

A Borden County project is Whitehall Oil Co. No. 3 C. D. Jones which is an old well to be plugged back for new tests. Location is 2,080 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 59-97-H&TC survey and four miles northwest of Fluvanna. On 200 acres, it will go to 7,790 feet. It is in the Fluvanna (Ellenburger) field.

Four projects are planned in the Howard-Glasscock field of Howard County and another is slated to drill in the Snyder pool. The Snyder field project is Fleming Oil Co. and Fleming and Kimbell No. 33-E Snyder which will go to 3,200 feet about five miles south of Coahoma on a 440 acre lease. Site is 2,310 feet from north and east lines of section 21-30-T&P survey.

Socony-Mobil Oil Co. of Midland No. 11 Sarah Hymen is one of the Howard-Glasscock field projects. Pegged for 1,700 feet, it is 15 miles southeast of Big Spring and 2,310 feet from north and west lines of section 113-29-W&NW survey on a 320 acre lease.

Savnie Robertson has spotted No. 6 Cooper on an 80 acre lease staked for 2,350 feet about eight miles east of Forsan. Drillsite is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 94-29-W&NW survey.

Socony-Mobil No. 12 Sarah Hymen will be 15 miles southeast of Big Spring on 320 acres and slated to check the section at 1,700 feet. It is 1,650 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 113-29-W&NW survey.

Socony-Mobil No. 13 Sarah Hymen is on a 320 acre lease and will dig to 1,700 feet. Drillsite is 990 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 113-29-W&NW survey. It is 15 miles southeast of Big Spring.

Nine Projects Are Finaled

Area operators reported 11 completions toward the end of the week, including a Wells (Devonian) project in Dawson County that has an initial flowing potential of 456 barrels per day.

Ard Drilling Co. No. 1 J. R. Ernest is the project which found pay in perforations between 9,979-994 feet. The elevation is 3,006 feet, total depth is 12,040 feet, top of the pay section is 11,979 feet, and the 1/2 inch casing goes to 12,040 feet. The flow is through an 18-64 inch choke, gravity of the production is 37.1 degrees, the gas oil ratio is 59-1, tubing pressure is 840 pounds, and there is a packer on the casing. Operator acidized with 1,000 gallons. Drillsite is 660 feet from south and 960 feet from west lines of league 2, Taylor CSL survey.

Phillips Petroleum Corp. completed No. 3-A Callie as a Jo Mill (Spraberry) in Borden County project for an initial pumping potential of 169.56 barrels of oil per day with nine per cent water. Elevation is 2,711 feet, total depth is 7,960 feet plugged back to 7,925 feet, top of the pay section is 3,300 feet, the 5/8 inch casing goes to 7,550 feet and perforations are between 7,292-412 feet. Gravity of the oil is 38.4 degrees, the gas oil ratio is 542-1 and operator fraced with 21,000 gallons. Location is 330 feet from south and 334 feet from east lines of section 9-33-4n, T&P survey.

Discovery No. 1 H. P. Morrison is a Spraberry Trend Area completion in Martin County for an initial pumping potential of 215 barrels of oil per day with five per cent water. Gravity is 39 degrees, the gas oil ratio is 825-1 and operator fraced with 30,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,694 feet, total depth is 8,050 feet, top of the pay section is 7,085 feet, the seven inch casing goes to 8,050 feet and perforations are between 7,958-78 feet. Location is 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 28-36-1s, T&P survey.

Basin Oil Co. has completed No. 5 L. R. and W. N. Reed in the Howard-Glasscock pool of Howard County. Initial pumping potential is 44 barrels of 29 gravity oil per day with two per cent water. The gas oil ratio is nil and operator fraced with 50,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,505 feet, total depth is 2,600 feet, top of the pay section is 2,165 feet, the seven inch casing goes to 2,600 feet and perforations are between 2,165-87 and 2,198-358 feet. Site is 330 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 141-29-W&NW survey.

Drilling and Exploration No. 2 E. W. Douthit is another Howard County completion in the Howard-Glasscock field. The initial pumping potential is 65.10 barrels of oil per day with seven per cent water. Gravity is 28 degrees, the gas-oil ratio is nil and operator fraced with 50,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,431 feet, total depth is 3,076 feet, top of the pay zone is 2,961 feet, the 5/8 inch casing goes to 3,025 feet and perforations are between 2,960-65, 2,970-74, and 2,986-98 feet. Location is 1,850 feet from north and 2,330 feet from west lines of section 115-97-H&TC survey.

Basin Oil Co. finished No. 3 Paul Teas also in the Howard-Glasscock field for an initial pumping potential of 55 barrels of 29 gravity oil with two per cent water. Total depth is 2,747 feet, top of the pay is 2,650 feet, the 5/8 inch casing goes to 2,650 feet and perforations were not reported. Operator fraced with 40,000 gallons. Location is 330 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 65-29-W&NW survey.

Samedan Oil Corp. No. 11 Chalk is also a Howard-Glasscock completion with an initial pumping potential of 50.24 barrels of 27 gravity oil with 55 per cent water. Elevation is 2,474 feet, total depth is 3,018 feet, plugged back to 2,298 feet, top of the pay is 2,192 feet, the 5/8 inch casing goes to 3,017 feet and perforations are between 2,192-281 feet. Drillsite is 330 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines of section 94-29-W&NW survey.

J. J. Travis Trustee No. 1 Gospel Trumpet is a Turner-Gregory (Clear Fork) project completed for an initial pumping potential of 167.76 barrels of 26 gravity oil per day. Location is 960 feet from south and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 19-28-T&P survey. Elevation is 2,198 feet, total depth is 3,270 feet, top of the pay is 2,497 feet, the 5/8 inch casing goes to 3,270 feet and perforations are not reported. The gas oil ratio is 115-1 and operator fraced with 20,000 gallons.

Another Mitchell County project is W. K. Byron No. 2 Cranfield which is a producer in the Sharon Ridge (1700) field. It potentialized for 42.14 barrels of 27 gravity oil per day with 12 per cent water. Elevation is 2,106 feet, total depth is 1,665 feet, top of the pay is 1,532 feet, the 5/8 inch casing goes to 1,665 feet and perforations are between 1,532-610 feet. Operator fraced with 15,000 gallons. Site is 1,535 feet from east and 330 feet from north lines of section 10-27-T&P survey.

Basin Drilling Activity Slackens

Permian Basin rotary drilling activity slackened somewhat with the beginning of 1961, according to Reed Roller Bit Company's Friday survey which counted 230 units, down 14 from the previous week's 244.

Every Friday Reed counts those rotary drilling rigs in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico that are actually making hole.

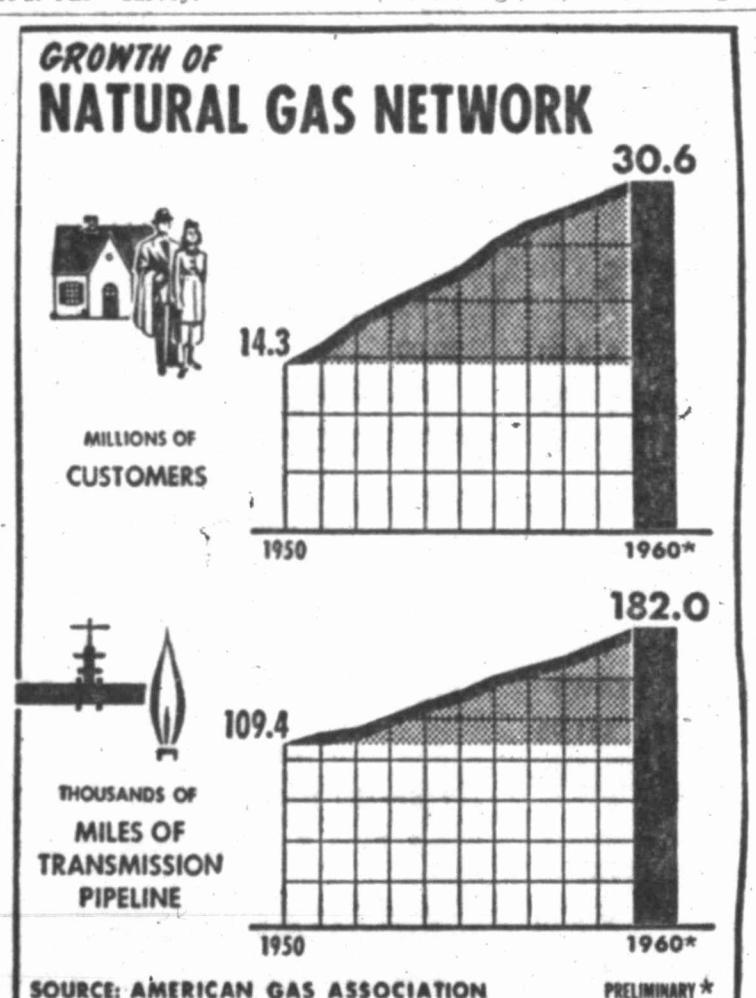

More rigs, 31, were running in

Lea County, N. M., than in any other county in the basin. Andrews County trailed with a count of 22, followed by Eddy County, N. M., totaling 18 active rotaries.

Roosevelt County, N. M., upped its count of active units from 12 to 15 and placed fourth Winkler and Ector counties each totaled 12.

Last year at this time there were 275 rotaries making hole. The county-by-county tally, with previous totals in parentheses, include:

- Andrews 22 (21), BORDEN 3 (1), Chaves 5 (5), Crane 11 (14), Crockett 5 (7), Crosby 1 (1), Culberson 3 (3), DAWSON 6 (5), Ector 12 (11), Eddy 18 (14), Fisher 3 (3), Gaines 8 (6), GARZA 4 (4), GLASSCOCK 1 (2), Hockley 2 (2), HOWARD 3 (3), Irion 1 (1), Kent 2 (2), Lea 31 (33), Loving 0 (2), Lubbock 0 (1), Lynn 1 (1), MARTIN 2 (3), Midland 7 (5), MITCHELL 0 (1), Nolan 2 (3), Otero 1 (1), Pecos 11 (11), Presidio 1 (1), Reagan 0 (1), Reeves 2 (3), Roosevelt 15 (12), Runnels 3 (4), Scurry 4 (3), Schleicher 2 (2), Stonewall 2 (2), Terrell 5 (6), Terry 1 (2), Tom Green 4 (6), Upton 3 (2), Val Verde 2 (2), Ward 0 (2), Winkler 12-16, Yoakum 9 (12), TOTALS 230 (244).

Gas Industry Grows

Nearly 1 1/2 million customers were added to the nation's fast-growing natural gas network during 1960 when transmission systems were extended by nearly 18,000 miles. Natural gas customers have more than doubled since 1950, and the number of customers using all types of gas, including LP, now totals more than 42 million.

Moisture For New Year Is Adequate

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas farmers and ranchmen are starting 1961 with adequate moisture. They also welcomed the sunshine which came in with the new year, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In many sections, fields are too wet for working or grazing. Heavy feeding continued as stockmen sought to maintain the good condition cattle carried into the winter. The over-all outlook is good, Hutchison said, especially if a period of open and warmer weather could be had.

The cold, wet weather in all sections in late December delayed the completion of harvests but allowed gains in the High Plains to clean up and get ready for the final push.

Moisture was generally adequate in the Panhandle with only one or two upper counties needing rain. The general condition of cattle is good, and with the return of good weather, increased fields can be used better for grazing.

About 97 per cent of the cotton is out south of Lubbock but about 3 per cent of the crop to the north is yet to be harvested. A week of open weather would see the harvest completed in both areas. Moisture is adequate and livestock are in good condition. Wheat is excellent and some plowing is under way.

Moisture is adequate in all counties in the Rolling Plains (Vernon). Feeding is continuing. Only a small acreage of cotton remained to be harvested.

Sunshine and warmer weather was welcomed in North Central Texas where heavy feeding had been required during several days of wet and cold. Grain fields have been too wet for grazing. All field work delayed.

An inch of rain in Northeast Texas, coupled with cold, has slowed oats and legumes and stopped grazing but clearing weather has improved prospects. Cattle were losing weight and some feeding was being done. Most farm work was at a standstill.

Moisture is adequate in all sections of far West Texas but the cold has slowed grain, grass and weed growth. Livestock are in good condition but some feeding is reported. All harvests, except for limited cotton scrapping, have been completed.

Oats are making progress in Central Texas but have been slowed by the cold. They are furnishing grazing where fields are dry. Moisture is adequate; pastures and ranges are greening up with winter weeds and grasses but are furnishing short grazing. The condition of livestock is good, with feeding.

Fields are too wet for grazing; milk production is below normal and cattle are being fed but many are losing weight in East Texas.

Moisture is on the surplus side in South Central Texas where farmers drop further behind in the field work and ranges in the coastal areas of the district are boggy. Some shrinkage has been reported in livestock due to the wet and cold, but the over-all outlook is good if the area can get extended dry weather.

Sunshine pleases coastal farmers and ranchmen. The upper coastal area has been waterlogged for weeks. Though fields are still too wet for working, some oat pastures have dried enough to permit limited grazing. Feeding is increasing and the condition of cattle is fair. Mustard greens are moving to market and producers are preparing hotbeds and getting cold frames ready for tomato planting. Native pastures deteriorated.

Sami Istanbuli To Visit Big Spring Schools

The Big Spring School District will be host for the next 10 days to Sami M. Istanbuli, a foreign exchange teacher from Beirut, Lebanon.

Supt. Floyd Parsons said 10 schools in Texas were picked as having outstanding science programs and Big Spring was earmarked as one of them. On this basis, this district was selected to host one of the teachers.

Istanbuli is a chemistry and mathematics teacher in the Beirut school system and is particularly interested in industrial applications of chemistry. As a result, Cosden Petroleum Corp. will probably be on his local agenda.

He received his degree from the American University in Beirut in 1954 and has been teaching since 1955. He is 31 and unmarried.

Parsons said complete planning for his visit ends his arrival in Big Spring Monday.

Addison Lawyers Seek To Sever His Co-Defendants

DALLAS (AP)—Attorneys for uranium promoter John Milton Addison Friday filed two motions for two of Addison's co-defendants.

The motions are apparently aimed to block moves by federal prosecutors.

Lester May and Lamar Holley, lawyers for Addison and eight of the other nine defendants who face trial here a week from Monday, filed a motion with the U.S. district clerk's office to suppress a baggage carload of evidence seized in Addison's hotel room at San Antonio in behalf of Agnes Carver.

She and the other defendants face charges of mail fraud, conspiracy and violations of the federal securities law.

Earlier the attorneys had filed a similar motion to suppress in behalf of Addison and Robert Olson. The merits of the motion were heard by U.S. Dist. Judge Whitfield Davidson early in December. Davidson is expected to rule on the motion shortly.

A motion to sever is subject to Judge Davidson's decision on the motion to suppress. The motion pleads for severance of defendants Carver and Olson from Addison, alleging the former two could not possibly receive a fair trial if tried with Addison.

Girl, 15, Weds 65-Year-Old Boss

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—"I'm so happy," said Maria Diana Candia Moreno, 15, Friday shortly after she and her employer, 65, were married.

"You don't have to ask me how I feel," said a happy Jose Marín Moreno, the girl's husband.

The short romance between the couple began last March, a month after Maria Diana started working as a clerk at Moreno's small grocery store.

"She was very unhappy at that time because she had to quit school" to help support her family, Moreno said. "And I had lost my wife two years ago, so we tried to make each other happy."

"And it worked!" Maria Diana said.

UF Agencies Split Deficit

The Howard County United Fund will split the difference on a campaign deficit with participating agencies.

Trustees met Friday afternoon to receive reports which showed $93,538 raised in cash and pledges, according to audited figures. However, subsequent un-audited gifts in the amount of $4,723 have boosted the total campaign results to $93,262.

Bill Quimby, manager of the Chamber of Commerce and who directed the mechanics of the campaign, said that it appeared that there would be a difference of about $4,000 between the amount finally raised and the goal which exceeded $98,000 for 12 agencies.

Trustees estimated that the Judge Caton Calls Jurors

Petit jurors have been notified to report for duty at 1:30 p.m. Monday in 118th District Court when the remainder of the October term civil docket is on tap.

Judge R. W. Caton will call the docket at 10 a.m. Monday to ascertain what, if any, cases are ready to proceed to trial. Some 15 are on the docket, but several are known to have been settled.

Dr. Chambers Dies In Oklahoma

Carl Strom has gone to Seminole, Okla., in response to a message telling of the death of Dr. Claud Starr Chambers in an Oklahoma city hospital.

The doctor and his wife had been frequent visitors in the Strom home, and Mrs. Strom plans a visit to the widow in the next few days.

Dr. Chambers, about 69, became ill two weeks ago; he was active in civic and social affairs and was a cousin of the late Will Rogers. Funeral services will be conducted Monday with interment in a Seminole cemetery.

Survivors include his widow, a daughter and a son; there are three grandchildren.

Montgomery Goes To Gonzales Springs

Jack T. Montgomery, 1107 Lamar, who suffered a heart attack Nov. 28, and was partially paralyzed on the right side, has been transferred to the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation.

Mrs. Montgomery said Saturday that he is apparently improving and, with a brace on his right leg, can walk by holding to a rail. Friends may write him at Box 58, at the Warm Springs Foundation.

The local United Fund campaign helps support the foundation.

TALK PLANNED ON RETIREMENT

The January meeting of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District has been moved from Tuesday to Thursday so that teachers and administrators may hear Frank Jackson, executive secretary of the Texas Teachers Retirement System.

Jackson will speak on teacher retirement in the Howard County Junior College auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Teachers from area schools have been invited here for the meeting.

150 Expected To Make Reports

The annual alien address report program began Jan. 1, and over 150-mile country Dallas district offices are expected to complete the forms for registering their addresses by the end of January.

Gordon L. Cornell, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service whose office takes in the 150 counties and the entire state of Oklahoma, said that the address reports are required by law and that failure to comply with these requirements may lead to serious consequences. Aliens may get the cards to report their addresses at all local post offices or at Immigration offices.

All aliens, except diplomats, persons accredited to certain international organizations, and persons here temporarily as agricultural contract workers, must report their addresses. "This includes children as well as adults," Cornell said, "and any person who is ill or unable to travel may have a card brought to him for signing."

Catholics Classify Sins Of Dancing

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Roman Catholic publication carries a moral classification of ballroom dances and their effects.

Vita Pastorale (pastoral life), a periodical put out by Italian Dominicans, says "limited contact" dances—such as the waltz, polka and mazurka—are "morally innocuous."

It says the most morally dangerous dances are those involving bodily "contacts at intervals." Listed among these were the rumba, mambo, samba, cha-cha, boogie-woogie.

Vita Pastorale classifies "external contact" dances—like the fox trot, Charleston and one step—as bordering on sin.

Turner Turning To Business

SWEETWATER—Elwood Turner has announced he is retiring from coaching to enter the business world in the Sweetwater area. Turner has been head coach at Sweetwater High School the past six years.

The Sweetwater school board had announced earlier that he would not be rehired.

"I definitely will remain in Sweetwater, at least for the present time," Turner stated.

Turner moved to Sweetwater in 1955 after an eight-year tenure in Albany. During that 14-year span, his teams have won or shared eight district football crowns. His 1954 Albany team lost in the state finals to Deer Park while his 1957 Sweetwater team yielded to Nederland in the state championship game.

At Sweetwater, his teams have won 43, lost 19 and tied two games. His teams have been tied for the 3-AAA crown the past two years. His 3-AAA record is 23-4-1.

His 1960 Sweetwater team was supposed to have been the greatest in the history of the season. When it failed to measure up to expectations, in the eyes of some people anyway, harping criticism started.

Under Turner, Sweetwater was runnerup to Snyder in 1955 and again in '56.

Sweetwater's two ties under Turner have come against Breckenridge and Levelland. Abilene has defeated the Ponies five times. Breckenridge, Stamford and Snyder three times each.

Turner attended high school at Tulla and went to ACC one year before transferring to TCU to complete his schooling.

He and Mrs. Turner are the parents of twin boys, age 15, and a nine-year-old daughter.

Snyder Tigers Shade Big Spring, 73-49

Snyder — Mistakes cost the Big Spring Steers dearly in their practice basketball game with Snyder here Friday night, as the Tigers captured a 73-49 decision.

The defeat was the tenth for Big Spring, compared to nine victories. The Steers now settle down to await their opening District 2-AAAA game of the season, a Tuesday night outing with Midland in Big Spring. Midland is a co-favorite to cop the conference crown, along with the Odessa High School Bronchos.

The Steers threw the ball away too often to stay in contention with the Tigers, who were winning their second game in two starts against the Longhorns.

John Hatter led the Snyder team in scoring with 16 points while Dick Ebling waxed warm for Big Spring, tossing in 23 points.

Big Spring played the Tigers on even terms for a quarter. The score was deadlocked at that point, 15-15. However, the Tigers were in command at half time, 40-25.

Big Spring fared much better in the B game, coming from behind to win a 54-48 decision. Snyder led at half time in that one, 21-16.

Brownwood Puts 2 On All-State 11

By The Associated Press
 Champion Brownwood placed two men on the Class AAA schoolboy football all-state team selected by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Lawrence Elkins, 175-pound end, and Ronnie Moore 190-pound tackle, represented the Lions on the mythical team. No other school got more than one player on the selection.

It was a 12-man proposition because two tied for one of the end positions.

The team:

Ends—Lawrence Elkins, Brownwood; Tommy Doyle, Lamesa; and Larry Franks, Nacogdoches (tied).

Tackles—Billy Ballow, Sweetwater, and Ronnie Moore, Brownwood.

Guards—Edwin Thomas, Hereford, and Roy Segars, LaMarque Center—C. C. Willis, Bay City.

Backs—Tommy Doerr, Cleburne; Clint Mitchell, Carrollton; Robby Robbins, Jacksonville, and Mike Piper, Kingsville.

The second team:

Ends—Pete Lammons, Jacksonville, and Charles Knight, San Benito.

Tackles—Doyle Slayton, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, and Larry Carlisle, Levelland.

Guards—Edward Korenek, El Campo, and Basil Freeman, San Angelo Lakeview.

Center—Joe Felty, Waxahachie.

Backs—Norman Smith, Monahans; Charles Buckalew, Channelview; Eddie Flores, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo; John McMillan, Bay

City, and Don Vest, Colorado City.

Ends—Davis Carter, Robstown; Stephen Lee, Cleburne.

Tackles—Arthur Hammonds, Nederland; Dale Lee, Pflug; Viktor, Sallisaw; Lopez, Rio Grande City; Ronnie Tribble, Mesquite; Ray Dotley, Jacksonville; Yancy Bounds, Carthage; James Weidka, Fort Lavinia; Bill Keach, Robstown; Bill Malone, Phillips; Mike Cole, Brenham; Marvin Myers, Lamar Consolidated; Tom Richards, El Campo; James Miller, Kerrville; Arthur Millard, Greenville; David Heavens, Greenville; Chris Bredt, Love; M. Parsons Triumphs Over San Angelo

LAWTON — Parsons JC, defending National Juco basketball champion, defeated San Angelo College, 79-71, in the first round of the All States Tournament here Friday.

The defeat was the third of the season for SAC, compared to ten victories.

The Rams tied Parsons at half time, 43-43, but Leonard Kelley led a last half surge for Parsons that paid off in victory. Kelley wound up with a total of 33 points for the game.

Bill Johnson tossed in 25 for Parsons while William Keel and Mack McCausley had 15 and 14, respectively, for San Angelo.

Coahoma Girls Defeat Forsan

COAHOMA — The Coahoma girls swept a basketball double-header from Forsan here Friday night, winning the A game, 62-56, and the B contest, 25-20.

The win was the 17th in 20 starts for Coahoma's A team. The Bulldogs open conference play Tuesday night in Wylie.

Glenda Haynie tossed in 25 points for Coahoma while Bonnie Simpson had 23 for Forsan.

Barbara Ritter also made her presence felt for Coahoma with a 21-point outbreak. Sandra Nichols followed with 21 while Darlene Mason counted two.

For Forsan, Jan Stockton scored

14, Joyce Shouls ten and Betty Cooper nine.

Coahoma led at the end of the first quarter, 14-12; at half time, 35-26; and at the termination of the third period, 49-36.

HD Clubs Begin New Year

CRAFTS ARE THE FUN SIDE of home demonstration work, as this group will tell you. This activity is usually accompanied by a covered dish dinner, and members spend the day, working at some hobby or some newly-found idea, such as the cups and saucers painted with faces. These make amusing planters or small vases; plaques are made of sheet aluminum, shaped into a frame and centered with clusters of grapes, leaves and berries; pillows are smocked, or small pictures are made with crushed eggshells glued into a meat carton, sprayed with silver and ornamented with a blossom. Discussing the various articles are, from left to right, Mrs. L. M. Duffer and Mrs. Jack McCall, both of the Forsan Club, Mrs. Waymon Etchison, Lomax, and Mrs. R. N. Adams of the Fairview Club.

WITH ONE SIDE OF THE DRAPERIES in place for the effect, Mrs. Ray Swann completes the other half of the hanging. Mrs. Swann, a member of the Coaloma Home Demonstration Club, has made draperies for her home as well as those for the living room in the home of a friend. This is one of the many accomplishments taught in the work of the HD Clubs.

(Photos by Keith McMillin)

ANTIQUING A TABLE is the project planned by Mrs. Delaine Crawford for one of the home demonstration clubs of the county, and this is the one she will use. Bought at a second-hand store, the table will be thoroughly cleaned before the work begins. Two coats of white enamel will be applied by Mrs. Crawford, who is the new HD agent for Howard County; brush strokes will purposely be left in the enamel since the grooves will emphasize the color of burnt umber which will be brushed on with turpentine and satin varnish.

YOUNG HOMEMAKERS, especially, gain by the training afforded in home demonstration work, since the agent is always ready to help with everything from the methods of processing food for freezing, to the best way to roast a turkey or recipes for fancy Christmas candies, among all the other knowledge to be learned at the club sessions. At left, in picture, left, Mrs. Jerry Cockrell discusses various frozen foods with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Billy Wayne Cockrell; both are members of the Knott Home Demonstration Club.

SCRAPBOOKS MAKE INTERESTING HISTORY for an organization, and these books may well be the inspiration for such a record of the work of Elbow 4-H Club boys and girls. There are 59 members in the group at the present time. Quite active in assisting the youngsters is Mrs. Ross Callihan, standing at left in picture, right; reading from left to right are Sherry Kirkpatrick, 4-H secretary, Larry Callihan, Alton Callihan, Mrs. R. L. Christenson, president of the Elbow HD Club, and Marsha Kirkpatrick.

WOMEN'S NEWS

The Big Spring Herald

SECTION C

Recent Bride

Mrs. Jim Don Williams is the former Donna Rae Rich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rich of Tishomingo, Okla. The couple is making a home on the Sterling City Rd. following their marriage, Dec. 30, in the First Baptist Church, Tishomingo. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Cate, 406 Owens, and the late Mr. Williams.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Two weeks after Christmas and just this Friday have we taken time to sit down and really enjoy the greetings from our friends who live away. It's almost like a visit to get a Christmas card from those who have made their homes here at one time or another.

We always enjoy hearing from the POLLARD RUNNELSES who still live in Terrell with their handsome son, Buddy, who is by now a senior in high school. . . from Malibu, Calif., comes a note from MRS. ERNIE KEEFER telling of the recent illness and recovery of her mother, MRS. J. O. HAYES, a long time ago resident of Big Spring. . . the MARVIN BAKERS, gone away not so long ago, sent a word from Tallahassee, Fla., and the WAYLAND YATES' children, Kent and Kaye, brought us up to date on their activities in Abilene. . . the BOB HORTONS, living in Lubbock, are doing fine with him still in Tech and working full time at the Avalanche-Journal. . . the WAYNE SMITHS in Sweetwater came through with a greeting. . . we remember them fondly as neighbors. . . other former Herald employees, the DON HENRYS, are in San Angelo; he is with the Standard Times. . . We always enjoy hearing from the JACK HENDRIX family in Brownwood although we haven't seen them in years. . . Folks we'd like to see again are the ROY SLOANS, who remembered us from their post in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. . . and the GRAHAM PURCELLS, who have expanded to six from the four they were before leaving for a new home in Wichita Falls several years ago. . . three boys and one little girl. . . the DEWEY MARKSES have added a third son since last Christmas and have moved to Houston. . . the CHALMER BOLES-ES have moved across town in Cortez, Colo., since we last had an address so we wonder if they got our card. . . still in the same place after many years are the FRANK LITTELLS who live in Bronville, N. Y., and are still leading most interesting lives with their nice family. . . the NORRIS KINGS, who lived here all through their children's school years, sent a greeting from Weatherford, the only word we hear through the years except on Aug. 16 which is Jean's birthday anniversary and mine also. . . she keeps reminding me. . . Remember the WESLEY MILLERS who were here more than 15 years ago with the Herald? . . . They are still in El Paso and always write a little personal message which we think is wonderful. . . We wish we could visit the A. C. LACROIXS in Dallas; the E. J. HUGHESES in Brownwood; the CECIL COLLINGSSES in Eastland; the HERBERT WHITNEY'S in Corpus Christi. . . the HAROLD LYTLES in San Bernardino, Calif., . . . and all those dear hearts and gentle people that once lived in my home town.

From Van Nuys, Calif., comes word by way of EDITH GAY telling of the successful operations on MRS. HILA (STORMY) WEATHERS' eyes. It took a series of four operations to do the job but she is confident she will now have improved vision.

A card from MRS. EBB HATCH reveals that MR. HATCH may get to leave the hospital, where he was taken on Dec. 10 after suffering a heart attack while visiting in Dallas. He and Mrs. Hatch plan to be at the home of his sister, MRS. H. B. ROBE, in Dallas for some time yet until his physician will let him return home.

The high point of the Women's Golf Association luncheon Friday was watching MRS. SON POWELL and MRS. GUIL JONES attempt to assemble the beautiful gift from the association to Mrs. Powell, the outgoing proxy. I still don't know what its purpose is but it certainly is beautiful.

Bridge Series Ends Friday

The winter series of duplicate bridge games at the Big Spring Country Club came to an end Friday, with ties for three places.

A silver trophy was awarded jointly to Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. Ben McCullough, who tied for first place. Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson tied for second place; Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Mrs. Harvey Williamson both placed third.

Fractional bonus points were the award given to Mrs. B. B. Badger, who was seventh in the race. The new race, the Valentine series, will begin Friday at 1 p.m. at the club and will end Feb. 17.

Twelve tables were filled for duplicate games, while contract bridge entertained players at eight tables. Winner of the floating prize in the latter games was Mrs. Y. C. Gray, who had been a guest at the luncheon of the Ladies Golf Association, sponsoring body of the bridge games.

Winners in duplicate were Mrs. Badger and Mrs. C. A. Jones first in north-south position; Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Wasson, second; Mrs. Ray McMaben and Mrs. Riley Foster, third; Mrs. Don Penn and Mrs. Travis Read, fourth.

Mrs. Robb and Mrs. Williamson led the east-west players; Mrs. H. W. Smith and Mrs. Hayes Stripling were second; Mrs. Guil

New Club For Girls Is Formed

The Webb Hostess Club, for young women 17 years and older, was recently formed at the base and has gained affiliation with the Servicemen's Wives Club.

The new organization is devoted to assisting the service club director in various activities at the John H. Lees Service Club.

Members are active at square dances, ballroom dances and dancing classes. They will attend future card socials, suppers, and coffee calls at the service club.

Girls wishing to join the club may call Mrs. Jackie Wauhtel, group chairman; or Mrs. E. D. Randell, volunteer coordinator, at AM 3-3637.

Golf Association Heads In Offices At Luncheon

New officers of the Ladies Golf Association, Big Spring Country Club took office Friday at the monthly luncheon, held at the club.

Mrs. Guil Jones will serve as president; Mrs. Ralph Gossett is vice president; Mrs. Eil McComb, secretary, and Mrs. Charles Tompkins, treasurer.

A gift was presented to Mrs. E. L. Powell, outgoing president. Several by-laws were read with the purpose of having a vote on amending them at the February meeting.

Mrs. Fred Lurting was awarded a trophy as winner of the achievement contest among duplicate bridge players, who meet at the club each Friday under sponsorship of the golf association. Mrs. Elmo Wasson, director of the only word we hear through the years except on Aug. 16 which is Jean's birthday anniversary and mine also. . . she keeps reminding me. . . Remember the WESLEY MILLERS who were here more than 15 years ago with the Herald? . . . They are still in El Paso and always write a little personal message which we think is wonderful. . . We wish we could visit the A. C. LACROIXS in Dallas; the E. J. TUESDAY: Old-fashioned stew, peas and cheese salad, hot rolls, chocolate malt cake with chocolate frosting, milk.

WEDNESDAY: Patties, mashed potatoes, carrot and cabbage salad, hot rolls, apple Betty topped with marshmallow whip, milk.

THURSDAY: Frito pie, green beans, combination salad, cornmeal rolls, jellied fruit, milk.

FRIDAY: Spiced ham balls, mixed greens, fluffy potatoes, sliced pineapple with cheese, hot rolls, peanut butter cookies, milk.

Mrs. Johnston Is Club Hostess

Mrs. D. D. Johnston was hostess to 11 members of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club in her home Friday afternoon.

Secret pal names were drawn for the next three months. Plans were made for the serving refreshments to the patients at the VA Hospital Saturday morning.

The next meeting of the group will be on Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. D. Kendrick, 614 Steakley.

Half-Size

If you wear half sizes, you will see at a glance how well this pattern is adapted to the shorter, fuller figure, how becoming it is in its softening details. Equally good for plain or printed fabrics. No. 3168 comes in sizes 14 1/2, 15 1/2, 16 1/2, 17 1/2, 18 1/2, 19 1/2, 20 1/2, 21 1/2, 22 1/2, 23 1/2, 24 1/2, 25 1/2. Three-quarter sleeve takes 4 yards of 35-inch fabric or 2 1/2 yards of 54-inch; with brief sleeve, 3 1/2 yards of 35-inch.
 Send 35 cents in coins for this pattern to IRIS LANE, Big Spring Herald, Box 1490, New York 1, N. Y. Add 10 cents for each pattern for first-class mailing. Pattern book 50 cents.

Birthday Party Is Honor For Westbrook Girl

WESTBROOK (SC) — Donna Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bryant, was honored with a surprise birthday party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otho Conaway Monday evening. Classmates were guests.
 After a gift was presented to the honoree, the group went to Colorado City and attended a show. After the show they returned to the Conaway residence and enjoyed a treasure hunt. Refreshments of cake and punch were served.

 Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otho Conaway have been Mrs. Edward Blakney, Sue, Linda and Bettye and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Albert of Colorado City.
 The Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Hennessee and Charles of Carlisbad, N.M., were recent guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Address and children, Mrs. Address and Mrs. Hennessee are sisters. Rev. Hennessee is pastor at White City, N.M.
 The Rev. and Mr. Dan Oglesby and children of Fort Worth were guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Oglesby, and Mike recently. Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Conaway spent the holiday in Houston as guests of the J. C. Conaways.

 A. G. Anderson is a patient in Hendrick Memorial Hospital, Abilene. Mrs. Anderson's father, who lives with them, recently received minor burns on the face when he fell into a heater in his room.
 Jim Berry was discharged from Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City Wednesday.
 The small son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Morris is seriously ill in Colorado City Hospital.
 Mrs. Orlean Cook has had as her guests Fay Cook of Snyder; the Earl Cooks and the Donald Gressetts of Silver. The latter were also visitors in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Gressett.

 A study course is scheduled in the First Baptist Church from Jan. 23-Jan. 27. The book of Corinthians will be the basis for study.
 The holidays came to a close for Westbrook pupils Jan. 2, after a vacation period beginning Dec. 28, 1960.

-Nap Time

It's nap time for "Charlie Charlie Shortie" who is the pet of local newcomers, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rone, 3709 Connally. The couple recently moved here from Abilene, but Midland had been their home for several years before that.

Artistic Couple Is New To Big Spring

"Artistic" is the name that would apply to both Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rone who are among local newcomers. Mrs. Rone especially enjoys making plastic flowers, and her husband is interested in her hobby.

Throughout their new home at 3709 Connally are many attractive plastic arrangements. One is of blue morning glories running on a dried and cured oak root. The root was given to the couple by a friend who retrieved it from the pasture of her brother in New Mexico. In the family living room is an arrangement of red dogwood blossoms. Other arrangements include white magnolia blossoms, holly and poinsettias, which were left over from the holiday decorations.

Rone, who is an enthusiastic fisherman, recently decided to use a plastic flower mixture for making skirts for his fishing plugs; and reports that it worked wonders.

In the family room of the Rone home may be seen staggered quilted pictures done from a quail scene on printed fabric. Mrs. Rone did the quilting work while her husband made the frames for the pictures.

The Rones, who were both

Kogers Entertain Dawson Bureau

LAMESA (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kogers were hosts for a dinner at Lamesa Country Club Friday night for members of the board of directors of the Dawson County Farm Bureau and their wives.

The buffet table was highlighted with a wrought iron tree holding votive candles based in greenery, and on the tables where the guests were seated, votive candles in jewel tones rested in greenery. Approximately 40 attended the dinner, which preceded the regular directors' meeting. Kogers is president of the Farm Bureau this year.

Mrs. Kennedy Is Best-Dressed; Husband's Attire Not As Good

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy tops the best-dressed in the world of women's fashions, but her President-elect husband is low man on some clothes designers' totem pole.

The lovely First Lady-To-Be was selected Thursday night by the New York Couture Group, Inc., to head the list of the world's 12 best-attired women. Couture annually consults some 2,500 style experts and society leaders before announcing the winners.

As for the President-elect, his current supply of suits was viewed with some anxiety by members of the International Association of Clothing Designers who gathered at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Thursday for their 50th annual convention.

Some opinions on Kennedy's dress:

His coat lapels are of the old-fashioned, wide variety. The shoulders of his suits are much too broad.

There are only two buttons on his jacket and the two buttons are too low on the suit.

After Mrs. Kennedy, the official 1960 list of best-dressed among the world's women names the following:

- Donna Marella Agnelli, of Turin, Italy.
- Mrs. Loel Guinness, of Paris and Palm Beach.
- Mrs. Patrick Guinness, of Lanes, Switzerland, daughter of Mrs. Loel Guinness.
- Princess Alexandra of Kent, daughter of the Duchess of Kent.
- Mrs. John Barry Ryan III, of New York.
- Mrs. David K. Bruce, of Washington.
- Mrs. Stavros Niarchos, of Paris and New York.
- Queen Sirikit of Thailand.

Fashion Trends Set In 1960 Continue In '61 Style Picture

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

No news is good news in the fashion forecast for spring. That loose, relaxed fit, those bare arms and collarless necks, suit and coat costumes, skirts, pants . . . those style trends which were set in '60 are just beginning to jell now.

Thus America's husbands can thank their lucky pocketbooks. For, with a bit of nipping and tucking here and there a woman can keep last year's wardrobe from showing its age.

A survey of New York couture houses indicate these style trends for spring. Check them off with your own attire and see how you fare.

THE SHAPE . . . You figure subtly in what the designers call a bottle shape. The line in dresses and short-jacketed suits dips in gently at the waistline, becomes fuller at the hips and tapers at the knee-length hem.

Nothing clings. The drape of fabric takes shape on you. Waistlines are either a little higher or a bit lower than your natural spot. Skirts tuck softly at the waist in front. Blouses fit with ease or puff a bit at bellines. Backs are straight. Jacket and coat backs may dip a little.

SEASON FOR BREEZES . . . Dresses, and coats, too, are detailed with aerated sleeves and necklines. Wide sleeves, set in, or none at all, collar-bone showing collarless necklines are a part of '61 detailing too. Bare compromise are ring or drawing necklines. SIDE DETAILING . . . Buttons at the shoulder, marching down the side, side piping, side pleats, or tucks are decorative touches on this and next spring's fashions.

THE CUT . . . The way patterns are laid on the material determines design in many instances. Plaids and stripes work together at the yoke and sleeve insets for interesting effects. Bias cut skirts, capes and jackets with figure draping interest are other couture tricks for spring.

BELTS . . . Draw strings, leather shoestring ties, or soft, wide tap-over sashes are a part of the easy-look fashion.

YOUNG IN HEART . . . Designers who do depart occasionally from collarlessness, such as Norman Norrell, embrace the peter pan collar in varying widths, or those middie necklines. These with crisp, pleated or slightly flared, gored skirt are a part of '61's so-called Little Girl look.

COLOR . . . The shims may be the same '61 (nearly) but the hues will be different. Purple bows out to pink, any kind of pink from deep raspberry to delicate baby tints.

Big prints in the boldest color combinations ever will be everywhere there's a fashionable woman . . . on overblouses, with slim plain skirts . . . as cocktail dresses, with florals outlined with sequins . . . and in coat and dress combinations, with gaudy hats to match.

THE COSTUME . . . Increased travel, unpredictable changes in spring temperatures are reasons given for this year's emphasis on the dress with matching coat or jacket. Dress is a basic hue with bold printed coat or jacket . . . or the dress possesses the splash of color with a solid topper lined with a dress matching fabric.

COATS AND JACKETS . . . The cape coat with wide short sleeves, cut on a bias and collarless, has as its counterpart straightlined ones with easy fit, sash belt and slit sides.

Jackets, too, will be available in a variety of lengths and fullnesses. You will find everything from the long, bellless and shapeless tunic, to waist high straight-line, short sleeved versions.

OH, YES, CULOTTES . . . Skirts that part in the middle to become pants were last season's trend shocker. They've been refined, and feminized in this spring's couture line. One house features Turkish type culottes in an evening version of the trend. Side pleats in other lines hide the skirts' dual personalities.

Westbrookers Report Visitors; Set Study Course

WESTBROOK (SC) — Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Clawson were their niece and her family, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Buckalew and Larkin of Oakdale, Calif. Other guests included were the C. E. Clawsons, the F. A. Carters and the A. D. Sparkes of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. C. J. Findelson of Jacksonville, Fla., the H. E. Sullivans of Coahoma, the Dwayne Clawsons of Fort Stockton, the Jack Jarnigans of Midland the H. H. Salleys and J. E. Salley joined the group.

Pastel Blossoms Are Lunch Decor

Blossoms in pastel shades emphasized the theme, "June in January," of the luncheon given Thursday for members of the Officers Wives Club at the Officers Club.

Hostesses included Mrs. C. L. Bray, Mrs. F. C. Snyder, Mrs. Frank Shearin and Mrs. Don Ernst. A guest was Mrs. Margaret Alken.

Mrs. Richard Patterson discussed the art of painting and displayed examples of her work. Floral arrangements, which centered the small tables where guests were seated, were presented as prizes to Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. M. A. Ruhl, Mrs. August Taute and Mrs. Jack Slaughter.

COSDEN CHATTER

Desk, Derrick Club Installs Officers

New officers of Big Spring's Desk and Derrick Club were installed Friday evening at a dinner meeting at Cosden Country Club. Mrs. Kathleen Isbell of Abilene, Director of Region 5, officiated at the ceremonies which placed into office Mrs. George Thorburn, president; Mrs. Sam Thurman, vice president; Mrs. Ray White, recording secretary; Pat Murphy, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Doryne Hefner, treasurer. Among those present were 13 guests from Midland and 8 from Abilene.

Melvin Murphee is a new employe in the IBM department. Mrs. Bill Horne and family had as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. Loy House and son from Big Spring. The Houses are former Big Springers.

A number of her associates helped Mrs. Leslie Green celebrate her birthday Wednesday. Coffee was served with a specially decorated cake.

Phil Elliott, son of Mrs. Don Yates, is home on leave from a tour of duty in the Far East. He is a senior radar man (RD-2) on the "USS Lenawee", assigned to the Seventh Fleet.

Mrs. Mims Reed, who is leaving the company, was given a surprise luncheon Friday at Smith's Tea Room. She will join her husband, who is attending Texas Tech.

Friends and associates were saddened by the death of H. T. Bratcher, production superintendent. Mr. Bratcher died Thursday morning in Hobbs, N. M. following a heart attack. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Ninley-Pickle Chapel, with interment in Independence, Mo. Surviving him are Mrs. Bratcher and two daughters, Joan and Gayle.

Cookies With A Special Taste

SAUCEPAN COOKIES
1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup crisp rice cereal
Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Melt chocolate and butter in saucepan over hot water; cool slightly; beat in sugar, then egg.
Add sifted dry ingredients and cereal; mix well. Drop tablespoonfuls of batter, a few inches apart, onto greased cookie sheets.
Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 12 minutes. Cool slightly before removing to wire racks to cool. Makes 2 to 3 dozen cookies.

Steamed Rice

Steamed rice and chutney are a "must" with any curried dish. Peanuts (salted or plain) are also a flavorful addition; put them through the fine blade of the food chopper so they may be sprinkled over the curry.

Lamesa Delphians Set Open Meeting

Doll Collector

Margie Newman proudly displays the 108 presentable dolls in her collection. She is holding her favorite, Pauline, which was once owned by her mother. Pauline still wears the clothes that came on her when she was given to Mrs. L. A. Newman. The larger China doll was bought for Margie in an antique shop in Ruidoso, N. M., and the small one also belonged to her mother.

Doll Collecting Is The Hobby Of Miss Newman

By GAYNELLE PRICE

At the age of three years, Margie Newman began her collection of dolls which has grown to several over one hundred.

Margie is the daughter of Mrs. L. A. Newman, 1809 Mittel and the late Mr. Newman. She is a seventh grade student at Center Point School, where her mother is a teacher.

At the present time Margie has 108 presentable dolls and several others which are not in too good condition.

When Margie was seven, she appeared with Jo Anne Forrest on television and displayed 60 dolls and recently appeared again when she displayed her most recent collection.

Everyone has shared the joy of doll collection with Margie, by giving her dolls as gifts on birthdays, Christmas and for special achievements and just by knowing the thrill she receives with every new one.

Last year during the Christmas season people began saying, "Margie, this is your last doll." Again this year when she received several more for Christmas they repeated the same thing, but Margie has never said she is stopping her collection.

Most of her dolls are displayed on a peg-board in her room, and others are stored away in safe places about the house.

Her collection is from many states and foreign countries. A Queen Elizabeth doll, one of the favorites, was a gift from a teacher, a friend of her mother who resides in San Diego, Calif. The doll is from a collection of dolls from England. Her aunt recently sent her one from Mexico City and her mother has presented her with several from Juarez, El Paso, Ruidoso, Santa Fe and Domingo Reservation in New Mexico.

Each year Santa Claus has surprised her with a variety of dolls, and a neighbor of the family has crocheted many of the small dolls' dresses, hats and purses.

Each of the dolls has a name and can be remembered by Margie; Mrs. Newman sometimes gets them confused. Names have been chosen from movie stars, friends and names she just likes.

In the collection are three dolls that were her mother's. One is Pauline, who still carries the same name that Mrs. Newman gave her many years ago. Pauline has recently had plastic surgery on her face and ear and has a new glass eye.

Still one of her favorites, is Lee who is dressed in a blue denim trainman outfit. The receiving of Lee was quite unusual, reported

Mrs. Newman. It happened in a store in Dallas where a large fountain was spraying, not water, but perfume. Mrs. Newman was standing there admiring it and when she looked around there was little Margie with Lee, his head dripping with the perfume. Needless to say, Lee was an impromptu purchase.

Margie says she plays with the dolls sometimes, but not too often anymore.

The dolls, which range in height from two inches to 36 inches serve as models for Margie, who also enjoys making doll clothes.

Other interests of Margie are piano and accordion. She has a piano pupil of her own. She sings in the churches and enjoys 4-H Club work. In the two years she has been a member she has won two achievement pins. She was first place winner in the "Teen-age Division."

Other hobbies are horseback riding and swimming.

To Be Installed

Mrs. Irene Dempsey will be installed Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. as noble grand of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 at the lodge hall. Theme for the installation service will be "Gateway To Friendship, Love and Truth." Mrs. Horace J. Smith will also be installed as vice grand of the Lodge.

Gray Lady Course Is Scheduled

Wives of military personnel at Webb AFB will have the opportunity of taking a course in American Red Cross Gray Lady training, Jan. 16-18.

Hours for the course, slated at Ward 3, Webb Base Hospital, are from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Free nursery service for the children of those enrolled is planned.

Ten hours of probation will be served after training by the professional staffs of the hospital and the Red Cross. A capping ceremony will climax the period of service.

Further information may be secured by calling either Mrs. James Smith, AM 3-3169, or Mrs. Glenn Ferry, AM 3-2469.

Delegates Named By GS Leaders

Delegates to the Girl Scout Council were elected by GS leaders of Neighborhood Two Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. L. Bryant. They are Mrs. Lee Burdick, Mrs. D. W. Pendregrast, Mrs. R. D. Tindol and Mrs. Bill Davis.

Activities for the neighborhood troops were planned for March, with a box supper set for fathers and daughters at the Service Club, Webb AFB, March 17.

Announcement was made of the annual district meeting slated for Snyder, Thursday, at the First Methodist Church.

Leaders will be honored at the all-day session, and all are urged to attend. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m., and luncheon will be served at the church; price is $1.50.

MR. AND MRS. W. A. KADERLI

Kaderlis Will Mark Wedding Anniversary To Brownwood

The distinction of being the oldest couple to have married in Stanton and lived there continuously belongs to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kaderli, 308 St. Peter Street, Stanton.

Married Jan. 11, 1911, the couple will observe the date with open house at their home Wednesday from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friends are invited to call, but the Kaderlis have requested that no gifts be sent.

Expected to be present are their three children and their families, H. H. Kaderli of Midland; M. D. Grants, N. M., and Mrs. M. P. Tixier of Houston. There are seven grandchildren.

It was at a Halloween party that Kaderli met Beulah Johnson, who "made eyes at me behind a mask," according to the bridegroom of 50 years ago. Their first date was on Thanksgiving evening.

The couple was married at the home of the bride's parents.

Kaderli's father was the first to come to Stanton for the purpose of farming, arriving in 1904 from Oklahoma. Mrs. Kaderli's family came to the town in 1906 from Hunt County.

In the abstract and insurance business, Kaderli's hobbies were at one time, bees and the raising

OWC Plans Unusual Luncheon

A do-it-yourself theme has been selected for the Officers Wives Club luncheon Feb. 2. It has been announced.

At the affair will be models showing any type garments which they have made, and there will be a display of handwork such as knitting, painting, ceramics, mosaic work, seasonal decorations, articles of furniture which have been refinished or any other item that a member may have made.

In charge of the entries are Mrs. R. E. Story, AM 4-5947, and Mrs. J. N. Wilson, AM 4-7864. Those planning to enter an exhibit are asked to call one of the women by Jan. 28.

Local people in correlated lines, will be judges of the entries.

Installation Is Planned

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Rebekah Lodge 287 will have a formal installation ceremony Monday night at the IOOF Hall.

The elective officers are Mrs. Mason Coggin, noble grand; Mrs. Fannie Graves, vice grand; Mrs. Clayton Burnam, secretary; and Mrs. Robert White, treasurer.

Dan Saunders is in Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital in Big Spring.

Sheriff Saunders and members of the Martin County Sheriff's posse received first place in the parade opening the Odessa Rodeo. Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hazlewood and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Angel visited last week in San Angelo with W. E. Hazlewood, who is a patient in Baptist Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kaderli will observe their 50th wedding anniversary with a tea at their home, 308 St. Peter Street, Wednesday, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. All their friends are cordially invited. They requested that no gifts be sent.

Mrs. Elora Morris has left for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neill in Tornillo.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Morrow were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Morrow and son of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. James Biggs and daughters.

Stretch Frozen Peas

You can stretch a package of frozen peas by cooking some diced celery with the peas. The celery won't get soft in the time it takes the peas to cook but its crunchiness will be a pleasant texture contrast.

Winter Salad

especially when she has the internationally renowned Irene Gilbert of Dublin to do the designing.

The jacket has a flattering easy cut, tapering gradually inward to the hipbone. The underarm gusset extends to the lower edge, forming the side section.

Slot-seaming finishes off the shoulder yoke and the front darts, and is repeated on the front panel of the slim high-rise skirt.

Their Majority

Three of five Webb AFB captains hear Wing Commander Col. Donald W. Eisenhart read orders promoting them to the rank of major. They are from left, Capt. Roy E. Butz of Air Base Group; Capt. Lawrence R. Simpson, Wing Hq.; and Capt. Nolan F. Young, M&S Group. Others on the promotion list are Capt. Frederick Armstrong and Capt. Glenn A. Fletcher.

4 Webb Squadrons Are Consolidated

The 3560th Maintenance and Supply Group, biggest unit at Webb AFB, recently had a major change in its organizational structure when all four squadrons in the group were consolidated administratively into one unit under one squadron commander.

The four squadrons scheduled for inactivation by Jan. 9, include 3560th Field Maintenance, 3560th Flight Line Maintenance and the 3561st Flight Line Maintenance.

All personnel in these squadrons have been reassigned to Headquarters 3560th M&S Group. For Squadron Commander Capt. Alfred K. Halverson, there has been little change other than the vast increase in strength.

Col. Donald W. Pendergast, who heads M&S Group, now has four well-knit divisions, headquarters squadron, base supply, petroleum, and maintenance.

There was no change in base supply and petroleum as these two sections were always part of group headquarters. But within the Flight Line Maintenance Squadrons, the shift means reassignment for squadron commanders, first sergeants, and other administrative people.

The three squadrons which formerly functioned independently, now come under direct supervision of Lt. Col. Ase A. Adair, chief of maintenance; and functioning as a major branch within the division are the two flight line units, headed by Maj. Joseph A. Riley, organizational maintenance officer.

Sgt. Johnston Signs Up For Six

T. Sgt. Robert G. Johnston Jr., a supervisor in the Wing Accounting and Finance office has re-enlisted for six years' duty with the U. S. Air Force. The California native has been in the service since August, 1946.

Prior to his assignment at Webb AFB in 1959, Sgt. Johnston served four years in Alaska. He also served at Adak in the Aleutians from 1948 to 1949; and started a one-year tour at Kunsan, Korea in 1953.

Sgt. Johnston and his wife, Patricia, are foundation members of the Big Spring Free Lance Photo Guild and hold the offices of president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Job placements for Maj. Thomas S. Lane, Maj. Edward J. Hershock and Capt. Ira K. Morton, commanders of the inactivated squadrons, are those of standardization and analysis officer; maintenance control officer; and assistant field maintenance officer, respectively.

Mother Of Four Goes To Jail

Mrs. James T. Weeks, mother of four children, was sentenced Friday in County Court to serve 45 days in the county jail.

Mrs. Weeks was returned here from Midland by sheriff's officers to face a complaint of having passed a $37.50 check on Dec. 3 without having an account in the bank. She was free on bond on two other checking cases at the time.

Band Boosters Meet Monday

The Band Boosters Club will have an important meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dr. Preston Harrison, president, reminded Saturday.

Final reports from the fruit cake sales will be received, and awards will be made to the top three salesmen for each of the three bands—Senior High, Goliad, and Runnels Junior High Schools.

Band activities, together with some uniform purchases, are financed out of profits from the annual fruit cake sale, together with some other activities such as the stadium cushion rentals.

The meeting will be in the high school band room, and all parents of band members and others interested are urged to attend, said Dr. Harrison.

Improved

Mrs. W. W. Grant, who entered Howard County Hospital Foundation 11 days ago for allergy treatment, was considered improved Saturday by her doctors. She is in room 228.

Bloomberg Bank Ends Government Suit On Wages

An agreement by the Bloomberg State Bank of Bloomburg, to pay its employees the legal minimum of $1 an hour, to pay overtime after 40 hours a week of at least one and one-half times their regular rates, to keep adequate records of employees' hours of work and rates of pay, and had moved in interstate commerce goods produced in violation of the Act.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell brought the civil suit alleging that the bank had failed to pay its employees the legal minimum of $1 an hour, to pay overtime after 40 hours a week of at least one and one-half times their regular rates, to keep adequate records of employees' hours of work and rates of pay, and had moved in interstate commerce goods produced in violation of the Act.

The suit was before the U. S. District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, Jefferson Division, accepted by Judge Joe J. Fisher.

For all non-exempt employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, the Federal Wage-Hour Law requires a minimum wage of $1 an hour, at least time and a half for overtime after 40 hours a week, and the maintenance of adequate records of employees hours of work and rates of pay.

Important news for new-car buyers— THE '61 CHEVY BRINGS

JET-SMOOTH TRAVEL DOWN TO EARTH

HERE'S WHAT GIVES CHEVY ITS JET-SMOOTH RIDE—
Full Coil suspension—Chevy's one of the few cars with a coil spring at every wheel. Precision-balanced wheels—For smoother rolling with less vibration. Sound-hushing insulation—Sheet metal is carefully insulated against drumming and vibration. SI built-in "shock absorbers"—Cushion the chassis against shock and shake. Live rubber body mountings—Extra-large butyl rubber cushions that further isolate the ride from the road.

This is the Impala Sport Coupe—just one of 20 Jet-smooth Chevies!

Better just circle your dealer's block the first time you try a Jet-smooth '61 Chevy. Get anywhere near an open highway and he's liable never to see you again. What we mean, Chevy's ride whets your yen to travel. Wins you over with its delightful coil-spring smoothness, its hushed comfort and light steering. You find yourself feeling sorry for people who buy higher priced cars, thinking they have to pay premium prices for a luxury ride. That may have been true at one time, but not any more. Chevrolet's ride, its roadability, just doesn't take second place to anybody's. Drive one soon and see.

Activities Slow Down For Mid-Term At BSHS

BY LYN CLAWSON
Activities around BSHS this week have been rather slow, as students settled down after the holidays and started to study for the mid-term exams which come up on Jan. 18 and 19. The first, third, and fifth period tests will be taken on the first day and the second, fourth, and sixth are scheduled for the 19. These tests are to be two hours in length and students do not have to report to school if they do not have an exam. Yesterday the Future Teachers of America journeyed to Midland High School to participate in a district meet. The district officers for next year and Mr. and Miss Future Teacher were elected. Big Spring did not run anyone. Among those attending were Danny McCrary, Mary Locke Crossland, Kay Crowner, Joe Don Musgrove, Emmett Kent Morgan, Linda and Glenda Peacock, James Farris and Cleo Thomas.

The date for the junior play has been announced. The Court Jesters will present "Mr. Angel" on Jan. 26 and 28 at 8:15 p.m. The junior class will sponsor this play and the prices are to be adults—75 cents, and students—50 cents.

The BSHS Band travelled to Odessa Permian High School to try out for Regional Band yesterday. They will not know who made the band until next Saturday. Those trying out were: on flute—Lillian Burnett, Glen Whitley, Silva Edwards, and Sonnet Johnson; on alto saxophone—Carolyn Thompson, Gary Bradberry, Edward Lovelace; French horn—Herman Hodges, Bill Edwards; cornets—Wayne Griffith, John Fish, Paul Woodward; trombones—Jerry Younger, Durward Rutledge; bass clarinet—Kathy Soldan, Cora Sue Turner, Eric Brewer, Yolanda Torres; baritone—Freddie Coleman; bass—Don Mitchell, David Pastervant, Allan Dunn; oboe—Phyllis Palmer, Bobby Dawes; clarinets—Patty Bishop, Curtis Beard, Carol Hughes, Cynthia Vaughn, Beverly Dobbins, Carolyn Lewis; and drums—Jackie Hipp, Gary Don Carey. The band will present a concert sometime in February before they leave for New Orleans.

Last night the junior college cafeteria was the scene of the annual Football Banquet. This is a banquet for all football boys and their dates, and the cheerleaders. Railey Blakely was the speaker for the evening.

About 30 Homemaking girls met Thursday afternoon to discuss their annual sweetheart banquet. A probable date will be Monday, February 13. The theme is to be "Love in Orbit." At that time the FHA Dreamboat will be presented.

Pictures for the annual will be made next week of some of the clubs. The band and volleyball pictures will be made Tuesday, and the choir later in the week.

On Jan. 21 the journalism department is going to sponsor a dance. This will cost $1 per couple and proceeds will go to the March of Dimes. Everyone is invited; the place will be announced later.

Next Thursday the BSHS student body will be honored when Boyce House will speak to them in an assembly.

Friday night the French Club held a Twelfth Night Party in the cafeteria. This is one of the celebrations that is held in France.

The BSHS basketball team is doing well this year. They have participated in three tournaments and brought home three trophies.

Hi School Dance Bands Prevalent

By PETER WEST
The band swung from the rocking beat of Count Basie into the smooth swing of Harry James as millions of television football fans watched and wondered, "Jazz at a football game?" they said. "Hey, what gives?"

There was good reason for their amazement. Not only were they hearing the first jazz concert ever presented at the half-time ceremonies of a professional football game, but the professional-sounding band they were seeing averaged a cool fifteen years in age! The occasion was just another "gig" for the Walt Whitman High School Band of South Huntington, N. Y., however, and their poise on-screen showed it.

This polished group of teen-agers has been performing on TV, radio and at jazz concerts and school dances for three years now. Under the direction of onetime Tommy Dorsey drummer, Clem DeRosa, the fifteen high school students have made an unusual mark in the music world in less time than it takes a professional road band to establish itself.

Proof of the pudding lies in the recognition it has received in the past two years. On Oct. 16, when the band played at the Buffalo Bills-New York Titans game in a concert carried over network television, band director DeRosa was presented with the First Annual Gretsch Award to an Outstanding School Dance Band by the Gretsch Company, a leading manufacturer of school band instruments.

Both Down Beat and Metronome, the top publications in the world of jazz, have given the band extensive coverage in feature articles and in commentary on the LPs it issues each spring. In 1958, the youthful jazzmen got a standing ovation at the Great South Bay Jazz Festival on a program headed by such names as Duke Ellington, Rex Stewart, Charlie Mingus and others.

Although the South Huntington is unique in the extent of its experience, the trend toward dance band activity is very much on the upswing around the country, according to Mr. DeRosa and such authorities as Phil Grant, drummer for the Richard Franko Goldman Band. In a syndicated radio show called "Coffee Break" which interviewed both men, Grant noted, "It's estimated that at least 45 per cent of our secondary schools have some sort of a dance band, either sponsored by the school or initiated by young musicians who want to play at their own school dances. And when you consider that there are some 26,000 public secondary schools across the nation, that's a lot of dance music."

How has the band's experience affected its members? "One of its biggest effects has been on personality," DeRosa says. "Several students came into the band who were shy, didn't know how to socialize and just didn't seem to want to participate in any of the school's activities. They were frightened at the idea of making a public appearance. Now, after months of playing before all kinds of audiences, the difference is amazing. In a sense, a youngster who stands up and takes a solo with the entire high school looking on, is achieving as much as a basketball player scoring a winning basket. By now, getting picked for the band is as important as getting a letter in sports."

Bassist Fred Day, who doubles in brass as one of the school's outstanding athletes, adds, "Playing in the band develops other qualities, too, some of which are parallel to the experience you get in sports. You learn to develop discipline, you improve your coordination and develop a sense of leadership."

In short, Walt Whitman High's once-experimental band is now a solidly established part of the school's music curriculum. As an indication of a growing trend in the nation's secondary schools, it is an outstanding example.

During the holidays the Forsan High School girls' basketball team was entered in Coahoma's invitational tournament. Forsan played Garden City and Stanton B, winning both of these games. This pitted Forsan and Coahoma against each other in the finals for first place, with Forsan losing by seven points. Even though the team lost, however, three Forsan girls made the all-tournament teams. Bettye Conger and Judy Banks made the all-tournament A team. Carla Jo Hughes was named to the all-tournament B team.

Tuesday night the Forsan girls played Coahoma at Forsan. Forsan lost by seven points. Friday night Forsan again played Coahoma, losing 62-56. Bonnie Simpson, with 23 points, and Jan Stockton, with 14 points, led Forsan's team in high scoring.

This past week the Forsan boys' basketball team entered Big Lake's invitational tournament, losing their first game to Iran and their second game to Junction.

Forsan's FHA stamp drive is still in progress. The number of stamps grows daily and we now have approximately 50,000 stamps; our goal is set at 100,000. The club would appreciate it if everyone would save his stamps and either send them to Forsan or give them to a student at Forsan.

Well, the school bells are ringing again. The holidays are over and, students, it's back to the books. Midterm tests are not far away, so let's start the New Year off right by studying extra hard.

Volleyball teams for the eighth and ninth grades have been chosen. Those playing for the freshman team are Domingue Correa, Estrella Franco, Lynda McDonald, Josefina Moncada, Susie Alquin, Lupe Sapata, Floy Timmins, Charlotte Wallace, and Jane Womack. Making up the eighth grade team are Grace Chavez, Nancy Eastley, Linda Fields, Ann Issacks, Paula Leonard, Kerry O'Brien, Sandra Phillips, Viola Rubio, Edelmira Sanchez, Linda Seago, Lupe Sosa, Sherry Stevens, Lucy Thornton and Beverly Womack. Seventh grade try-outs will be Saturday at 12:30 p.m.

The choir at Rannels has performed at several community affairs since the beginning of school. Mrs. Doris Gambill, director, announced that the choir is always ready to perform upon such occasions.

Monday, the ninth grade basketball team will play Lamesa at Lamesa. The seventh and eighth grade teams will also play Lamesa in the Rannels gym.

Friday annual pictures were taken at the basketball teams and the volleyball teams by Barr's PhotoCenter.

Quite a few new students have been enrolled at Rannels this week. Among the new ninth graders are Shirley Heffington, Tommy and William Parks, and Kerick Williams. New eighth grade students are Dolores and Gilbert Recio. Larry Cabill, Danny Harrison and Jack and Nelda Williams are the new seventh graders.

School Joins Nat'l Safety Association

BY NANCY HEDLESTON
The holiday fun has ended and now everyone seems glad to be back at Goliad even though it does mean hard work.

Thursday afternoon a group of girls from our PE department presented a program for the patients at the VA Hospital. The tumbling team performed several stunts. After the cheerleaders did a skit, Cheryl Bray and Karen Gradel also performed a very humorous skit. Shelia Powell played the accordion.

Goliad has joined the National Student Traffic Safety program. This means that all students at Goliad are members. There are very few schools in Texas belonging to this association.

This coming week Mr. Sami M. Istanbuli will visit our schools. Mr. Istanbuli is a mathematics and chemistry teacher from Lebanon. He is sponsored by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Office of Education in Washington, D. C.

Support Ordered
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Movie-TV director John Frankenheimer Thursday was ordered to pay $1,750 a month temporary support for his estranged wife and two children. The order was made pending trial of a separate maintenance suit filed by Carolyn Frankenheimer, 31, who is seeking $3,372 a month for herself and the couple's two daughters, ages 3 and 4.

Aussies Dirty Up For 'Sundowners'
The main street of the little town of Nimmitabel in the Australian "outback" was first paved less than two years ago.

Recently it was a dirt road again.

Warner Bros. recovered the mile-and-a-half stretch with dirt while filming "The Sundowners" on location.

After several weeks of filming, the studio removed the dirt and restored the street to the 700 townpeople.

'Exodus' Is Powerful, Moving Story Of Israel

BY JOHN LARSON
In adapting the novel "Exodus" to the screen, it was important that the performances of young Sal Mineo and Jill Haworth should rank among the most memorable in this spectacular film. This is due in part to the importance of Israel in his novel; but primarily it is due to the sensitive, moving performances of Sal Mineo as Dov Lanau and Miss Haworth as Karen Hansen.

The history of modern Israel has been written by the perseverance of its elder statesmen and the bravery of its youth. Israel became a reality first on paper, because her statesmen worked diligently at conference tables the world over. To sustain that birth as a fact required the work of her youth who held one hand on a rifle and the other hand on a plow in the arid soil.

In a film running 3 hours and 33 minutes in length (with an intermission midway) and starring such greats as Paul Newman, Eva Marie Saint, Ralph Richardson and scores of others, the scene with the greatest impact belongs to Sal Mineo. In the scene he is being interviewed by members of the Irgun (Israeli underground) and recounting his experiences as a young boy in the notorious Auschwitz concentration camp. His performance as he breaks down under the questioning is filled with an artistry and magic which will cause viewers to stiffen in their seats.

The tender, gentle love of Lanau and Karen Hansen runs like a silver thread through the huge panorama of a big story. Their story, tragedy and victory stands as a monument to the sacrifice of the young people from all over the world who sought refuge in the land of their ancestors.

In undertaking the tremendous task of adapting a novel of the scope of "Exodus," Producer Otto Preminger has succeeded in presenting a picture which will be the talk of young and old alike. Those who have read the book can appreciate the challenge of selecting from the history of a people those portions which will make for good motion picture entertainment. Preminger has done more than entertain—he has produced a panorama of history—filled with importance, significance and beauty.

Filed entirely on Cyprus and in Israel, "Exodus" boasts some of the most thrilling scenery in many a year of motion picture releases. The authenticity throughout the film makes for a high level of interest and offers a great opportunity to learn about a corner of the world which will figure importantly in history in the years to come.

Paul Newman gives a strong performance as David Ben Ami, a resourceful Haganah officer. Eva Marie Saint as Kitty Fremont, the American nurse caught up in the march of history because of her love for Karen, brings to her part a highly sensitive portrayal. Sir Ralph Richardson in the role of the understanding British general on Cyprus contributes his usual, magnificent performance. The photography, projected on the wide screen, is nothing short of genius. There are times, though, when the sheer scope of the action and settings threatens to overrun the edges of even the large screen.

"Exodus" is a picture one should not go to see alone. There is so much to talk about after it is over that it needs to be shared. It is a moving experience.

June Allyson, Powell Part

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The 15-year marriage of June Allyson and Dick Powell—an unusually durable union by film-town averages—is washed up, her attorney says.

And when the principals part, one of Hollywood's biggest fortunes will be split up with them.

Jerry Giesler, the attorney who has led many of the town's disenchanted famous through the divorce mill, said he expects to file a suit on Miss Allyson's behalf within a few weeks.

The actress, 37, reached later at her Hollywood home, began crying and told a newsman, "There is just nothing I can say."

Powell, 56, is in Europe on business with a partner, actor David Niven.

Giesler said a property settlement is being drawn up. No specific figures were known, but it was estimated Miss Allyson's share will be between $1 million and $5 million.

Powell has enjoyed immense financial success, not only as an actor but as a producer. He is part owner of Four-Star Productions, a prolific producer of television shows. Miss Allyson stars on her husband's TV anthology series, "The June Allyson Show."

The collapse of the marriage was not unexpected. Powell and his wife separated for about a month several years ago. Since then it has been general Hollywood talk that their marriage was in danger.

The first week back at school after the holidays has been one of getting back into the old routine. Of course, this has been a short week, as we didn't have to go but four days. It seems that Santa Claus was very nice to everyone this year. Most of the gifts consisted of clothes, jewelry and phonographs.

Our basketball teams practiced during the holidays in order to be ready for the Stanton and Big Lake tournaments. The Stanton Tournament began Tuesday, and the girls' A and boys' B teams are both entered. In the Big Lake tournament, the A boys are competing for top honors.

Everyone is bustling around trying to finish his term projects. Mid-term exams will be given next Wednesday and Thursday. The only bright thing about those two days is the fact that we get out of school at 2:10.

Our FFA and 4-H people have done very well in the Sand Hill Hereford and Quarterhorse Show. Smitty Smith's lambs received 8th place. Ben Mott, Carol Nichols, David Poe and Bud Glaspie also entered. Ulen North is planning to show a steer later in the week.

Final Examinations Are Set For Jan. 16 To 20

KAY LOVELAND
After a three-week vacation in New York, I am certain that the hardest thing I ever did in my life was to come back to school Tuesday morning. And from the comments I've heard, I gather there were a few more people who had an equally hard task after the Christmas holidays. Making it all the more difficult is the fact that final exams start the 16th.

The final examination schedule has been out for several weeks, better pick up a copy now if you haven't already. First exams will be held Monday morning, Jan. 16, at 8 a.m., and the final day of tests will be Jan. 20. All exam periods are set at 3 hours. After a 5 day semester break, the spring term will begin on Jan. 25.

Congratulations to our Jayhawk basketball team who played their way into the championship of the HCJC Invitational Tournament last month. HCJC came out on top by beating South Plains, San Antonio, Clarendon and San Angelo. Named outstanding player of the tournament was HCJC's Ron Weeks, and Jayhawks Bill Edwards and Ken Clearman were named to the all-tournament team. HCJC came out with the best defensive average per game, 55.2, and the high scoring player, Ron Weeks, 75.

Three games were scheduled to be played the week of Jan. 7-14. Saturday night the Hawks played Amarillo there. Monday night they will play Frank Phillips College in Borger; and a game with New Mexico Military Institute is set for next Saturday night.

The girls' basketball team played two games last week. Friday night they played at Fort Hood and Saturday night they competed at Mary Hardin Baylor College in Belton.

Members of the Baptist Student Union held a social and get-together Friday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan. Highlight of the affair was color slides shown by Dr. Hogan of the Hogan's trip to Europe.

A reminder to those of you who enjoy the music of a flamenco guitarist: Carlos Montoya, one of the world's finest flamenco guitarists, will appear at the City Auditorium tomorrow night at 8 p.m. All HCJC students will be admitted to the performance, part of the regular concert series, by activity card.

That's all for now. See you next week.

Shy Boy? The Simple And Direct Approach Works

By BESSIE LITTLE
Publisher Teen Parade

DEAR BESSIE: I have a problem I guess many girls have. I met a boy during the summer that I like very much now. I see him in the halls all the time at school, but I don't think he knows I'm alive. I'm afraid to say hi to him because I don't think he remembers me.

I've given it a lot of thought, but just can't come up with a solution to it. I would appreciate it very much if you would help me.—SANDY

DEAR SANDY: You are right when you say you think this problem plagues many girls (and boys). As is the case in so many problems, the simple, direct approach is the best one. It is possible he is going through the exact same thing you are. He wants to say hi but is shy or frightened. There is really nothing to be frightened about. The worst thing that can happen is that he doesn't remember you. When next the opportunity to speak to him presents itself, go up to him and say your pleasant hi. Then, help him by telling him your name and recall for him the circumstances under which you met during the summer. This boy is like most boys he'll be flattered that you remember him and want to speak with him. It may be that you have to carry the conversation for a bit, so be ready for it. It won't be the first time a shy boy has found it difficult to speak out easily. Try it. Good luck.

DEAR BESSIE: I am 14 years of age and have a problem. I have a girl friend who is boy crazy. Some of my other friends say I should not see her at all and some growl up say so too. She is always trying to get boys to take her out. She even tries to get my cousin to take her out. What do you think I should do?—DELLILA

DEAR DELLILA: Being boy crazy is not a new disease. As a matter of fact young girls have been known to be affected by it since time began. However, if this girl behaves badly, is overly forward and unpleasant to be around, the answer is an easy one. Stop seeing her. If it is just a harmless stage she is going through you will have to make up your own mind about continuing your friendship. Oh yes, one other thing, don't gossip about her or carry tales. Just make sure you do what you know to be right.

DEAR BESSIE: I am 16 and am very much troubled. About five months ago I was going with a boy who is 17. I am very much in love with him. I went steady with him for three months. We talked of love and marriage. We broke up over jealousy on my part which I know was wrong. I have tried to get him back. I have gone out with other boys. I have played hard to get but nothing seems to help as far as going steady again is concerned. I have never been stuck on anyone like this. Please advise me.—TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: It looks as if you have done all the wrong things. First you lose the boy by becoming jealous. Then, you try to get him back by getting him jealous. Set up a good relationship on a new basis and enjoy his company when you can. See and date other friends when you wish. Perhaps the passage of time on this basis will work the wonders time so often works. And, from now on play it straight!

DEAR BESSIE: I have a part-time job and am saving up for college. I am 17 years old and the girl I date goes with a bunch of kids who have more money than I do. Most of the things we do cost money. I don't mind an occasional movie, but I don't think I can afford to do all the things the rest of the gang does. I like Jan, but I can't spend my money and save it too. What should I do?—BUDGET BUGGED

There is only one thing to do. Have a good heart-to-heart talk with Jan. Explain to her that there is a limit to how much you feel you want to spend on entertainment. If she is the right kind of girl she will understand and even suggest activities which won't crinkle your budget. You owe it to yourself and to her to tell her what the score is. If, by a long shot, she doesn't understand, find someone else to take to an occasional movie.

DEAR BESSIE: Buddy, who is 21, and I were very serious and planned to be engaged by my next birthday. The family didn't object to this. But, I thought we should wait and take our time. Buddy and I have gone through many separations and have always come out feeling the same towards each other. So, I was invited to spend two weeks with my aunt and uncle. I thought this vacation would give me time to think and adjust before school. Buddy was sort of against this, but he didn't seem to mind too much. While away I met a boy the same age as Buddy. He was a lot different, the big brother type, not someone to fall in love with. He made me see what the family tried to make me see, that 16 was too young to go steady, let alone think of being engaged. I tried to explain this to Buddy but he acted as a child, not a 21-year-old. He accused me of carrying on behind his back. I just realized what I was doing before we made a very big mistake. I was just too young to go steady. Now he acts as if he hates me. If he loved me so much in the beginning why should a returned ring make that much difference. Did I do wrong? Should I have become engaged, married him and then hurt him?

DEAR NANCY: If you had done anything other than you did, you would have been wrong. It seems to me you behaved in a very adult manner and with the utmost honesty. You can be sure that if Buddy really loved you, his love won't fade and the day will come when you will feel ready for marriage. There's lots of time and much to enjoy. Keep your head as level as it is now.

DEAR BESSIE: I have three problems—my boyfriend, my boyfriend's mother and my mother. My mother and his mother think we are much too young to be engaged. They say we are J.D.'s. We are both 15, and very mature, too. My boyfriend is very nice but he drinks. He attended a reform school when he was 12 but that is in the past now. We want to be engaged and get married soon. Our mothers just don't understand. Please answer my letter, I'm desperate.

BOUND
DEAR DESPERATE: The chances are you are not half as desperate now as you will be if you go ahead with your plans. I agree that calling you "J.D.'s" is little help to you or the boy, but perhaps the two mothers are desperate too. If you are really fond of this boy you will give him the chance he deserves to straighten himself out and overcome his problems before he is weighed down by another big responsibility.

In the meantime let your loneliness be satisfied by spending time with groups of friends in activities that will give you broader interest. Desperate, before you do anything permanent—please talk to your clergymen. If you have no church, find one.

DEAR BESSIE: I'm fourteen and I like a boy who is very cute. I think I have liked him ever since fifth grade. I know he likes me, but there are only a couple of things wrong. I know how he feels about me, but he never calls, comes over or even asks me out. I'd call him a chicken, but I think you would call him shy, but he isn't. Tell me what I should do. But don't tell me to try to stop liking him, or to invite him to a party at my house, because I have already tried that.—JUDY L.

DEAR JUDY: It is a fact, a sad one perhaps, but a fact, that very often boys in your age group have so many things to occupy their time and their minds that girls are not of the slightest interest to them. What with sports, school, hobbies, chores and just plain daydreaming, their minds don't find time to include girls. Judy, it looks as if you've tried most of the things anyone could suggest. We don't have any magic powder to send you. Hard as it may seem, you may have to wait a few years until this boy's interest in the opposite sex catches up with yours.

Youth Of America Is Not 'Beat'

By JO CRAVEN

Is this really a "beat generation?" Can anyone who bothers to lift his eyes about the level of an espresso coffee cup really believe that?

We think not. And we don't just think this defensively. It's more than that. There's something in the air—something really stirring. We believe it's a completely new answer to today's completely new problems—problems—youth's problems. We may as well go all out and say that we firmly believe youth will always be able to come up with such answers.

When "the old order changeth," there is usually a pendulumlike swing from one extreme to another, before a new "center of gravity" is found. We had this in the "lost generation" and now we have the "beat generation." The beatniks, in their own way, are rebels and rebels are not beat and the voice that has come through has actually been expressing a strong repugnance for complacency and things as things are.

At the beginning of the "beatnik movement"—which is really what Jack Kerouac, Anatole France, R. V. Cassill, Chandler Brossard, Clellon Holmes, George Mandel, and so many other "beatnik" writers have started—there was no solution found for the discouraged outlook of today's young people. The so-called beatniks just didn't like things the way they were.

Yet, there was power in this dislike. We think that power came from honesty. No one could read the writing of sincere, thinking beatniks without realizing they were telling the truth. And everybody knows that truth is a powerful force.

What are beatniks objecting to, anyway? Why are they growing beards, putting on old clothes and resorting to the "kaffe klatch" on a 24-hour basis in espresso parlors?

Are they saying that the old answers, the old customs, the old pretenses are not adequate to meet the problems of this altogether new, entirely different, atomic-powered world? They are poetic in their expression and a strong theme permeates their writings—that man is lonely, left out, lost, and cannot find himself or find peace, in any of the old-fashioned, empty, meaningless ways of yesterday.

Very well. What are we going to do about it. After beatniks, what? Objection and dislike are certainly not enough. But what is termed a negative philosophy can become a positive force if it highlights the need for change.

A new question has begun to emerge: After beatniks, what? With apologies to the beatnik Royal Guard for using (or misusing) their own jargon, we think it has become clear that being "beat" is not really the answer. Faith must be placed in the younger generation to take positive action, make positive contributions, affect changes for the better in an ever-changing society and world.

BOBBY RYDELL

B. Rydell Worked For His Success

In these days when popular singers zoom into prominence almost overnight and fall from view almost as fast, Bobby Rydell stands out as an exception. His career began at the age of 9 at the urging of his father in Philadelphia. And, Bobby, has been working hard ever since to develop his talents and performance.

When we talked with Bobby he was busy with rehearsals for his second appearance on the Perry Como show this week. "I was on the Como show early in the season," he said, "and it was such a ball that I was invited back again. They tell me I'm the only guest who has been asked to come back within 13 weeks. Perry is so easy to work with and I've been very lucky in getting these shots at his show."

Why this acceptance and growth for Bobby? Well, it seems that both Perry Como and Red Skelton have taken a great liking to him. They particularly like his impersonations and his lively sense of humor. Sometimes, though, rehearsals can be a shambles when Bobby suddenly breaks into an imitation of someone connected with the show. On numerous occasions he has broken up the cameramen, crew, writers and artists by stalling across the stage with an imitation of Jerry Lewis.

The story of Bobby's start is fairly well known. At the age of nine he habitually delayed his bedtime by keeping the Ridarelli family doubled up with laughter over his impersonations. Papa Ridarelli arranged for an audition for the Paul Whiteman TV Teen Club. "Pops" Whiteman immediately signed him to the show. It was Whiteman who suggested he change his name—hence Rydell from Ridarelli.

In talking about where he is going with his career, Bobby says, "Frank Day, my manager, is a perfectionist and he keeps me working, working, working. If it isn't a performance, he has me studying constantly. I play the drums but Frank has me studying the bass. I am taking speech lessons, drama lessons, dancing lessons and I don't know how many other lessons."

After his television appearance with Perry Como, Bobby will return to Brooklyn's Paramount Theatre, following which he is leaving for a personal appearance tour which will take him to Australia and Hawaii in January. In February he shoots to the other corner of the world for London, Paris, Milan, Rome, Brussels, Austria, Sweden and Luxembourg.

"I'm looking forward to the trip," Bobby says, "but I'm also looking forward to coming back because I have an appearance scheduled for Philadelphia in May. I love to play my home town and I get the chance to see a lot of my old school buddies."

After Philadelphia Bobby goes to Bilmstrum's in Boston; then Buffalo, Pittsburgh and Syracuse and back to New York's Copacabana.

I love getting around and meeting new people. Wherever I go," Bobby said, "I try to meet as many of the young crowd as I can to find out the kind of things they like to hear and see. It keeps me in touch with them as I spend so much of my time with older people. How much time I'll have for this on my tour I don't know. The way Frank Day keeps me studying I'll probably be taking bass lessons on the flights from one place to the other!"

Etiquette Is Essential To Today's Atomic Age

By DAN HARDING

No era before this, ever carried so much risk of unintelligent behavior. As the days progress, in this atomic age, it becomes more and more obvious that we simply dare not act blindly. We must think about everything we do—great or small. The human race—which means people like you and me—is courting disaster if we refuse to use our heads.

What has this to do with etiquette? Just this: in deciding what we are going to do about etiquette today, we must apply the same test to etiquette that we apply to everything else. Think about it. Is etiquette necessary? Is it intelligent? Does it belong to this scientific age?

While we're thinking about this, let's get it straight, just what etiquette is. A fairly good rule-of-thumb definition (without even consulting the dictionary) is this: etiquette is a body of rules for good social behavior. By "social behavior" here we do not mean just "high society" behavior. We mean behavior at all levels of human contact. This behavior would naturally be more formal on formal occasions.

Manners is only one aspect of etiquette. Manners are the ways you, personally, behave in your relationship to others. A man rising when a lady enters a room, opening a door for her, holding her chair as she is seated—these are good manners. Etiquette includes the way you accept or refuse an invitation. It includes the way a table is set for guests. Manners were at their height in the days of "manors." You've heard the expression, "to the manor born," which, when written this way, has become almost meaningless, simply because there are so many manors today. "To the manor born" is the way that

Elvis Dominates Top Ten Again

By JEANNE HARRISON

It is six weeks in a row for Elvis Presley. His top hit "Are You Lonesome Tonight" held tightly on to the number one spot last week resisting the efforts of "Wonderland By Night" with Bert Kaempfert, to take over the lead. "Exodus" by Ferrante & Teicher held on to third place, to which it shot shortly after the release of the picture of the same name.

A newcomer to the top ten is "Rubber Ball" featuring Bobby Vee, which squeezed into the number ten position. The rundown follows:

1. "Are You Lonesome Tonight" Elvis Presley
2. "Wonderland By Night," Bert Kaempfert
3. "Exodus," Ferrante & Teicher
4. "Last Date," Floyd Cramer
5. "A Thousand Stars," Kathy Young
6. "You're Sixteen," Johnny Burnette
7. "He Will Break Your Heart," Jerry Butler
8. "Many Tears Ago," Connie Francis
9. "Corinna, Corinna," Ray Peterson
10. "Rubber Ball," Bobby Vee

Advice On Teen Marriages Given By U.S. Novelist

By ROYD STEVENS.

DEAR QUESTION-AIRS: A great deal has been written about teen marriages—most of it against them. We hear and read about the marriages that don't work out and I am sure that many of them do succeed. Would you ask someone who married as a teenager and has made good if they would do it over again? Thank you.—SUE BROWN

(Question—Airs asked the question of "Son and Her" and "Just Off Fifth." Mrs. Begner's "Son and Her" is a novel about a surgeon and his wife. Much of the material is autobiographical and deals with the problems of a very young wife and a struggling young surgeon. Follow us for the reply.)

DEAR SUE: "Under Twenty" will always have a very special, very personal meaning for me—the most special and personal meaning of all—because I was "under twenty" when I was married, and don't think it was easy. It never is, but in my case, there were some particularly difficult things about it.

Difficulties began right away; my English professor wouldn't cancel an assignment, so I had to do homework on my honeymoon!

And then there came the awful problem of looking old enough to impress our few patients with my competence as a nurse—or even a receptionist. I tried a hundred hairdos, and in art class worked on dozens of illusions one might achieve with makeup, to odd makeup to a teen-ager's face.

And I had simultaneously to learn to be an actress; always cheerful when my tired husband came home, lest he learn how inadequate I felt as a young girl suddenly thrown into tough adult situations, and always putting on another kind of act for the patients, so that they thought the office was buzzing with activity when actually the opposite was the case.

Now don't get the impression that my marriage has been successful because of any great talent on my part. Believe me, the big secret is— we were lucky—and we both worked hard at making a success of our marriage.

So you have a right to ask—if I had it to do over again, would I again become a teen-age bride? The answer, in my case, is yes, a hundred times yes. Our love has grown through the years and, balancing all the factors, of course I am happy.

Sincerely,
(signed) Edith P. Begner

Philip ran thither to him, and heard him read the prophet Isaiah, and said, Understandeth thou what thou readest? And he said, How can I, except some man should guide me? (Acts 8:30, 31.)

Getting Going On Road Job

It would appear that Howard County is getting traction on U. S. 87.

A representative of the Texas Highway Department brought approximately two score right-of-way deeds here last week for the highway from Fairview south to Big Spring. Anticipating this, members of the court already have been feeling out some of the landowners along this eight-mile stretch. Hence, actual trading on the needed roadway should be able to proceed at a steady clip.

Information now is that the U. S. 87 improvement program from Fairview north to the Martin County line will be up for a contract letting on Jan. 19. If so, that means the actual work on this can be started about Feb. 1.

Long before this phase of the work is completed, the section from Fairview south to Big Spring should be ready for a letting, so the effect may be that of one continuous project. With this in the mill, we can expect other programs to unfold, including the replacement of the T&P overpass in Big Spring, the conversion of the route into a divided four-lane road across the corner of Martin County and on into Lamesa. This would then mean a four-lane divided highway to Lubbock and beyond.

Loathsome Practice

It is a sad commentary when an investigating committee must be brought in from the outside to expose to general scrutiny the unsavory conditions within a particular area. Yet, this seems to be the only way that the public conscience can be stirred to the point of real remedial action.

This was the case at Amarillo last year when the Texas House of Representatives General Investigating Committee put the white light of publicity on the county judge and his ties with vice and crime in general. It appears to be the case in Jefferson County now where the evidence of entrenched influential vice operations are being unfolded.

Out of this have come many disclosures not only of vice running the gamut from gambling to prostitution and drug addition, but also of malfeasance in office. Some of the instances have pointed to weaknesses and unwillingness to buck the tide; several others have pointed to outright collusion and cooperation between crime syndicates and public officials. The latest of these is the admission of Sheriff C. H. Meyers that over a period of five years he received gifts of $85,000. His explanation? The gifts are necessary for a politician "to run for and stay in office and support his family."

Even small gratuities are suspect for public officials, and gifts of money are not part of the emoluments of office. It's wrong; it's morally if not illegally dishonest; it's loathsome. God forbid that our public conscience should ever regard it otherwise.

David Lawrence Grist For The Mill

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Government would like to have everybody in the world think that the Castro demand for a reduction in the American embassy staff in Havana, which led to the break in diplomatic relations with Cuba, is just an isolated affair between Cuba and the United States. The Moscow regime would also like to give the impression that what's happening in Laos is a spontaneous uprising of the people in protest against alleged interference in their internal affairs by the United States.

Actually, both events are the result of Communist initiative and are part of the Soviet offensive in the "cold war."

The Castro government in Cuba is advised hourly by Communist representatives just what to do to aggravate relations with the United States. The Soviet government, moreover, is engaging in a worldwide offensive designed to gain by so-called "peaceful conquest" a dominant position on every continent.

home and around the world they will, as they have in the past, seek to exploit these weaknesses.

"IN THEIR non-military arsenal they have at their disposal all the open techniques of diplomacy, trade, foreign aid and cultural missions which, when used by almost any other country, would be legitimate arms of official government business. The Communists have in addition local parties in nearly every country in the world—parties trained and directed by Moscow, as at the recent meeting, and dedicated to the overthrow of representative governments.

"This is no secret... the Soviets have boasted that there are active Communist parties in 87 countries in the world.

"The Soviets have the greatest and most expensive propaganda machine the world has ever known.

"Several years ago we were inclined to say that what goes on far across the Atlantic or the Pacific does not really affect us. Then we began to recognize the real intentions of the Communists. Several months ago we could still have said: 'Today Laos is in danger; tomorrow it may be somewhere else, perhaps closer to home.' Now we are forced to say: 'Today Laos and today Cuba, 90 miles from our shores.'

"Behind their curtain of secrecy, they believe that they can make preparations for a surprise military attack.

"In answer to the question: 'When will the Communists strike?'—the answer is they have attacked, they are attacking, and they will continue to attack."

THE FOREGOING is an example of what our high officials are being told every day about Communist intrigue and the way the "cold war" is being fought. But do the American people realize what's happening?

It is naturally assumed that the people of the United States would disapprove of military action to counter the Communist moves. This has been said so often that the Moscow regime believes it can go to almost any lengths and yet not meet any real resistance from the United States. Scarcely a day goes by that there aren't hints of appeasement from persons who are close to President-Elect Kennedy.

"The real decision will have to be made soon—whether the new administration is going to face up to the Communist threat and call the Soviet bluff. Laos and Cuba are incidental to the larger aspects of the "cold war."

ANY QUESTIONS?

J. A. Livingston

Stock Market Is Brave Candle In The Wind

This is one way to express it: America's world is in a "state of Laos." Confusion in the Congo, confusion over Cuba, confusion and threatened involvement in Laos, uncertainty in Detroit and Pittsburgh, reorganization in Washington, but golly-gee in Wall Street.

Investors and speculators have not given up. They're convinced that international affairs won't get much worse, and that economic affairs will get better. They assume that there'll be no war and that sometime before midsummer an industrial recovery will be in progress.

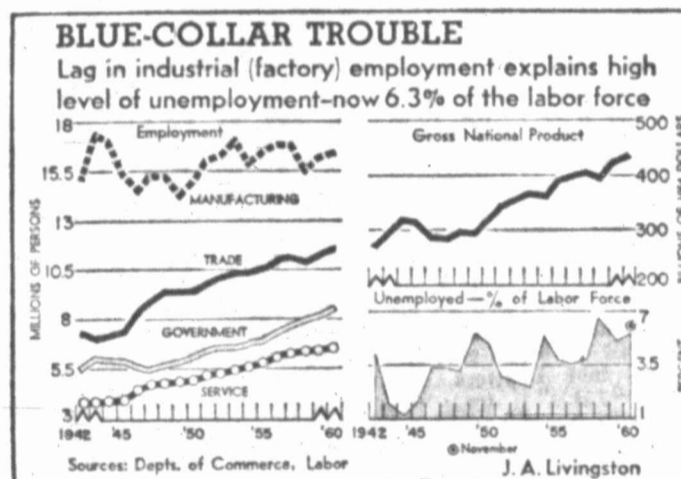

I can't prove this. It has to be sensed—like reading between the lines of a letter. The sensing goes like this: Stocks made their 1960 lows late in October. Today, both industrial and rail shares are about 10 per cent above these lows, and they bob up from under bad news like a cork buried by a wave.

On Wednesday, simultaneous with the announcement of a decline of steel production to a 20-year low (aside from strikes) and the break with Castro's Cuba, steel stocks on the New York Stock Exchange rallied sharply. Aircraft stocks also were strong. Indeed, the entire market "caught fire."

"RECESSION" PIANISSIMOED The one big prop to business is bigger government—federal, state, and local. In New York, Gov. Rockefeller called for higher outlays. Other states and cities will undoubtedly follow suit. Increased miles of highways demand maintenance, as any motorist dodging winter potholes can verify with expletives. The increase in school-age children, in hospital population, and so on, all presage sure increases in spending, and, as a corollary, debt and taxes.

President Eisenhower's economic advisers still insist he can retire from the White House without using the horrible word "recession." They still count on an economic revival early this year. In that event, economic analysts ("not analysts") will describe the 1960 rise in unemployment and the drop in production as an inventory readjustment, rather than a true recession.

Industrial production has fallen more than 5 per cent from its

January, 1960, high. But the automobile industry has yet to complete its inventory readjustment. General Motors and Ford have just announced layoffs—in keeping with declining production schedules for January. This had to be.

YULE SALES NOT BAD Inventories of a million cars are uncomfortable—three months after the introduction of new models. During November, retail sales were excellent, but in December—partly because of snows—sales dropped noticeably. The auto makers, therefore, are gearing output to what they hope will be less than sales. If not, production will drop anew.

Retail sales held up throughout 1960, notwithstanding the production drop. Even with extremely bad weather in the East, Christmas volume managed to vie with last year. This is why the President's advisers argue that this is not a recession of the 1948-49, '54, or '57-8 type.

The inventory readjustment is superimposed on a long-range technological adjustment. Manufacturing has become a regressive industry. Whereas employment in government, in retail and wholesale trade, and in the service industries has been rising, the employment of so-called blue-collar workers in factories has leveled off. And this seems to be a continuing trend.

WALL STREET SIGNAL? As a consequence, unemployment, as a per cent of the labor force (see chart), has risen to more than 6 per cent, notwithstanding

Around The Rim Cleaning Up After Christmas

It's not too late to talk about Christmas again, is it? Anyway, there are some post-holiday situations that ought to be disposed of, before we get any deeper into this year, which apparently is going to have problems all its own.

(1) Taking down the tree. Ordinarily a chore which should rest with the distaff side of the house, but because the husband had something to do with putting it up, he ought to help undo the mischief. Finding the right day ain't easy, but there comes the time when postponements must cease. The method is open to considerable debate. If your tree stands as precariously as did ours, all you have to do is clap your hands real smartly, maybe jump just a little, and shout "Ole!" The tree will topple right into the middle of the room, which is what it had been threatening to do all during the Yuletide season.

I WAS IN FAVOR of this, but the Dream Girl said this would ruin all the lights and bauble keepsakes, which have to be unhooked, wrapped and delicately stored for another year.

I then recalled, for her, the fellow I knew who very carefully seized his Christmas tree by the topmost tip, carried with great caution to the garage and hung it to a rafter, where it rested unmolested and was ready for use the following Christmas, with nary a bit of work.

I got only three questions: Where will we put the car for the next year? What kept the tree from drying out? Do you think the tree would look like anything a year from now?

WE SKIPPED IT, and dismantled the tree in the same old way. The Dream Girl took off the delicate items, I was allowed to unhook the heavier lights—until I fell smack dab into the middle of the whole mess. Finally tree, me, and all were drug out of the house, and here it is another year.

(2) Saving the ribbons and wrappings. Nearly every little pretty that comes off packages seems to be worth keeping. This calls for extra boxes, correctly labeled, so they can be hauled out at the start of next season. My only protestation of this practice was to ask the Dream Girl, "what if you send the decoration back next year to the same friend on whose package it was this year?"

She only said, Silly, I know. What Chloee used for decoration, I can put on Marcia's gift, because they aren't speaking.

"YOU'RE SURE THEY won't be speaking next year?" I asked. Oh well, if they are, SOMEBODY won't be speaking, and the same procedure will hold good.

(3) Assembling the gadget which some salesman sold to somebody to send to the "man who has everything." It has instructions like:

"Firmly grasp corner A and fold over to a point half way between points B and C. Use a small screwdriver to insert pin W into slot X, while lifting lever M until the lower end drops into notch N. When this is tightened, go back to corner A and unfold it from where it was and take it to a point two-thirds the way between D and E. If the device is for left-handed persons, the whole procedure should be reversed."

Turns out this thing was a shoe horn. Oh, well, only 360 days until Christmas. —BOB WHIPKEY

Norman Vincent Peale Help To Bear The Load

A man stopped me on the street and made a very curious remark. He told me that certain weaknesses in his character were virtually tearing him apart. The way he said it struck me as quite descriptive. "I'm a civil war," he said.

While the figure of speech is curious, the condition is a very common one. It was no mere fancy that prompted some writer to compare human nature to a battlefield "where two opposing forces meet and where they seldom part."

The opposing forces are, of course, the good and evil in a person. Essentially we are children of God, created in God's image. As such, we aspire to nobility, goodness, greatness of soul. But we also have an animal nature, compounded partly of base appetites and selfish passions. This is an inescapable concomitant of having a physical body. It is inherent in being human. And the two elements in us, the good and the bad, inevitably clash.

Now fortunately we cannot escape this turmoil for very long by suppressing or putting to sleep the good in us. It refuses to be suppressed. It will not stay asleep.

SO UNLESS AND until you master these so-called lower tendencies in your nature and bring them under the control of your better self, you are just bound to have inner conflict. And for many persons the beginning of wisdom and of true accomplishment in life is when they realize that they cannot bring this conflict to a victorious conclusion by their own unaided will-power, but humbly seek God's help.

A man with 16 years' service in the U. S. Army has written to me from the post where he is now stationed, saying, "I am accepting your invitation to share Christmas with prayer. I was raised in a Christian, religious home, but until the last year or so have lived a Dr. Jekyll-and-Mr. Hyde existence, on the one hand trying to follow in daily life the course of the Sermon on the Mount and on the other hand indulging destructive weaknesses of the flesh, especially for alcohol."

NOTICE THAT reference to Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story of Dr. Jekyll-and-Mr. Hyde, because it carries an implicit implication. Stevenson's tale is a study in split personality. The virtuous, altruistic Mr. Jekyll underwent each day at nightfall a mysterious transformation and lived a separate nocturnal life as the evil Mr. Hyde.

Well, let us see what it led to. "When I was stationed in Korea in 1953 and 1954," he writes, "I was stricken to the soul by what I saw of the suffering of the Korean people, especially the children. That, together with being separated from my loved ones, started me off on some very heavy drinking — exceptionally heavy even for me."

"A few days after Christmas in 1954, emerging from a round of terrible excesses and beset with remorse over my unfaithfulness to both family and God, I knew I could not continue this struggle by myself.

"IN THE LATE hours of evening I set off through the snow to an Army Chapel about a mile away. With a humbleness and seeking I had never experienced before, I knelt in that dimly lit chapel and poured out my heart in prayer.

"As I continued to pray, I was aware of a gentle touch on my shoulder, and the awareness of the warm feeling, together with an immediate lightening of my heart, was an experience I shall hold forever.

"Even if the touch I felt was imagination, I knew that His presence was with me in that moment."

WELL, THE BEST test of the depth of any religious experience is whether it is followed by a lasting change of any kind in the quality of a person's living. I think the sequel to this man's experience in that Army chapel speaks for itself.

"For the rest of my tour in Korea I found that I had the strength to help my fellow men to the best of my ability when I encountered suffering, and I lived a sober, useful life.

"During the next few years I reverted somewhat to my excesses, but I was again thinking of Him, and in the past year I have turned my life to old interests, including church each Sunday, and delivered myself to His care and stayed sober." (Copyright, 1961, The Hall Syndicate, Inc.)

Marquis Childs Overthrow Must Come From Within

WASHINGTON—To realize how rapidly time is running out in Cuba, with the break in diplomatic relations, it is important to try to look at recent events not from the perspective of the extremes but from the viewpoint of those who continue to hope that democratic self-government can be restored.

From this perspective one fact is important: It is now too late to overthrow the Castro regime by an invasion by exile forces however well trained and equipped in various training centers in the United States and the Caribbean.

To be effective such an invasion would have to succeed in the first 36 to 48 hours. The substantial force that Castro has at his command makes this all but impossible. With the likelihood of prolonged fighting and the possibility that the invaders would be driven off, a chain of consequences of extreme peril would be set in motion.

THE CONFLICT would have to be taken to the Organization of American States, with an appeal for help to the provisional government decreed by the invaders in the name of a free Cuba. Then, presumably with the sanction of the OAS, military assistance would be supplied by the member states—in reality Washington.

The reaction of the Communist bloc would be at the very least the threat of armed assistance to Castro. Here would be a Laos, with a potential of far greater danger, right on Uncle Sam's doorstep. But, equally important, to millions of Latin Americans the invasion would be almost equivalent to sending in the Marines. Castro would be handed a massive propaganda coup.

MORE THAN SIX months ago Castro's intelligence furnished him with details of centers where Cuban exiles were being trained for an invasion. These centers included an airfield training for bomb runs. Thanks to widespread infiltration, Castro's intelligence is of a high order. As was demonstrated when Cuba earlier brought charges before the United Nations, pinpoint details come to light.

Castro took his information to agents of the Communist bloc as justification for large-scale military aid. That aid has been forthcoming. It was seen not only in the New Year's Day display of weapons but it is also said that from 3,000 to 4,000 military specialists have been sent from the Communist bloc to Cuba. These technicians and instructors are not seen in the streets of Havana. They are working in military centers throughout the island.

WHILE THESE DEVELOPMENTS were taking place the Cuban opposition to Castro was increasingly split. Among exiles who fought the Batista dictatorship and later turned against Castro because of his identity with communism, the feeling grew that the United States was interested only in providing an invading force from the outside. Help was being denied, so the complaint ran, to the forces within Cuba ready to rise up and overthrow Castro.

The concern of the democratic forces was fed by publicity given to invasion training associated with some of the figures out of the Batista era against whom popular feeling had been greatest. There were the secret police and the torturers in the political prisons. It looked as though a new military dictatorship would be imposed on Cuba as the only alternative to Castro.

IN OCTOBER reports persisted that an invasion would be mounted before the election. There apparently was some substance to these reports. But it is hard to believe in Castro's latest cry of "woli" against the United States, for surely our own intelligence must know the heavy odds against an invasion and the perils that would flow from it on the eve of a new administration.

The only hope in Cuba is that forces within the country will rise up and overthrow the dictatorship Castro regime. To make another Laos out of Cuba would be the ultimate in folly.

To Your Good Health How Duodenal Ulcer Is Best Treated

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has an ulcer in the duodenum. What is the duodenum and where is it located? You see, doctors use such big words and people who never studied medicine don't always understand.—Mrs. M."

The duodenum is the first eight or 10 inches of the intestine—that is to say, our food, when we eat it, is collected first of all in the stomach.

There it is churned into a more or less liquid form, after which it proceeds into what we call the small intestine, which is something like 20 feet long. That is where the rest of the digestion takes place.

As I said, the first few inches form the duodenum. This is the place where certain of the digestive juices (from the liver and pancreas) enter the digestive tract.

Other digestive juices, including pepsin and hydrochloric acid, are in the stomach.

If you want a term to cover ulcers of either stomach or duodenum, you can refer to them as "peptic ulcers." But when somebody says he has ulcers but does not specify where, the chances are that he's talking about duodenal ulcers.

In either case, first give the ulcers a chance to heal naturally. This means avoiding things which tend to irritate them. Avoid highly seasoned foods, alcohol, and so on. Generally it is very important that the patient give up smoking. It is also important for him to try to control his nerves, because a good many sufferers are high-strung people, and if they can learn to calm down, it lets the muscular activity of the stomach relax, too.

In addition, some medications help, and so does taking a good deal of milk or cream which tends to ease the irritation.

Anyway, that's briefly how we tackle duodenal ulcers.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a cataract on my eye. Could I have it taken off in a doctor's office, or would I have to go to a hospital and stay there a week and not work for two or three months?—J.W."

an office procedure. On the other hand, how long you will be off from work afterward depends on many factors: How quickly the eye heals, whether there were any complications of any sort, how the other eye is, and so on. Your doctor usually can give you a pretty good estimate, but the time varies considerably from one patient to another.

NOTE TO MRS. J. M.: Since your doctor says not to bother about your navel hernia there's your answer. Leave it alone unless it requires surgery. If surgery is necessary, it would be a matter of "removing" the hernia by closing the small break in the abdominal wall, which is what a hernia is. It would not interfere with subsequent pregnancy.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of my booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual questions.

Chance Meeting On Train Led Wallace To Write 'Ben-Hur'

Hollywood sent the largest motion picture company in history to Italy to film "Ben-Hur." Years of preparation preceded the turning of the first cameras in Rome. Throughout the months of filming, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which produced the spectacular Academy Award-winning picture, planned everything down to the last detail. In such an outstanding operation nothing, not even the weather, could be left to chance. If rain or clouds made it impossible to film scenes out of doors, sets on sound stages had to be ready at a moment's notice. Chance is something a huge unit, filming a picture abroad, cannot afford. And yet, if it had not been for a chance meeting on a train in Indiana some 23 years ago, there probably would have been no "Ben-Hur." This is the story of how this celebrated book about early Christianity came to be written. Gen. Lew Wallace, a Civil War hero and a leading political figure of his day, was on a sleeper, Sept. 19, 1876, bound from Crawfordsville, Ind., to Indianapolis. He was headed for a soldiers' reunion in the latter city. Aboard the same train was Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, also a well-known soldier but more famous as an outspoken atheist. At the door of a stateroom, Wallace met Ingersoll, plump, forty-three, and unabashedly clothed that sultry evening in a nightgown. "Come in," said Ingersoll, "I feel like talking."

Stamps In The News

BY SYD KRONISH AP Features
To commemorate the centenary of its first postage stamp, Malta has issued three new stamps, each of which features a facsimile of the first half-penny stamp bearing a profile portrait of Queen Victoria. The new Maltese issues — 1 1/4 pence green, 3 pence red and 6 pence blue — also depict a portrait of Queen Elizabeth II and the St. Edward's Crown. Each has the inscription "Centenary of First Malta Stamp 1st December 1860-1960." The stamps were released on Dec. 1, the anniversary date. Also reported from the British Crown Agents is the news that the Federation of Malaya has issued the remaining denominations in its new definitive set. In this issue the portrait of His Highness Sultan Sir Ismail bin Al-Marhum Sultan Sir Ibrahim appears on each. The Tokyo Bureau of the Associated Press reports it has received via Peiping radio that a set of 18 stamps each bearing the design of a chrysanthemum is being issued by Communist China. The radio broadcast said the first group of six stamps with face values from eight to 52 cents has already been issued. The chrysanthemum is one of the most popular flowers among the Chinese people. The radio report noted that thousands of varieties of this particular flower have been cultivated by horticulturists since the Reds took over Mainland China. To give U. S. first day cover collectors an idea of the popularity of this branch of the hobby, it is interesting to note that there were 1,168,770 first day covers cancelled at Washington, D. C., on Oct. 26 when the 4 and 8 cent Gustaf Mannerheim "Champion of Liberty" stamps were first placed on sale. The count thus far in 1960, says the U. S. Post Office Department, is 19,399,533 first day covers with first day sales totaling $1,744,751.

Laughton, Heflin Star In 'Ten Flags'

"Under Ten Flags", a Dino De Laurentiis production released by Paramount, returns to the Jett Theatre today with Van Heflin and Charles Laughton in the starring roles. The film is based on the true-life adventures contained in the autobiography of the erstwhile German admiral, Bernhard Rogge, and deals with the mysterious surface raider he commanded during World War II, which took such a heavy toll of British shipping before it was finally sunk. Van Heflin portrays the commander of the raider, the Atlantis, Laughton plays his chief adversary, the British admiral whose job it was to locate the hit-and-run vessel and have it eliminated.

'Plunderers' Western With Modern Theme

"The Plunderers," which stars Jeff Chandler, John Saxon, and Dolores Hart, sets forth a universal theme addressed to moderns in a story told under producer Joseph Pevney's direction. The quiet but ominous beginning depicts four young strangers riding into Trail City bent on committing a misdemeanor with no more in view than a jail lodging for the night. Finding the citizens are afraid of them, they taste power, and end by trying to take over the town. It falls to Chandler to stop them. But he, psychologically shocked by having lost the use of his right arm, has to learn to be a man all over again before he can go into action. It is Miss Hart who gives him back the sense of wholeness. Saxon portrays Rondo, the young vaquero who courts destruction because of his attraction to this girl. Ray Stricklyn is Jeb, leader of the four boys, who suffers a sudden and violent disintegration of character at the climax.

Actors Spy On Shy Platypi

The fabulous platypus, an egg-laying mammal of Australia, performs for the Technicolor cameras in "The Sundowners." Fred Zinnemann, directing the picture on location "down under," made arrangements to film scenes at an animal farm near Brisbane where the platypuses frolic with wombats, spiny anteaters, eucalyptus-nibbling koala bears, kangaroos and emus—the finest collection of animals indigenous to Australia. Chiefly, the animals were photographed fleeing a raging brush fire and in a hunting sequence. "The Sundowners" will also deal generously with more conventional domesticated breeds—dogs, sheep and horses. But there is even something special about these. The dog is an Australian sheepdog, a kelpie; the horse is an Australian racing champion; and the sheep are 12,000 strong.

In Concert Monday

Carlos Montoya, world-famous classical guitarist, will appear at 8 p.m. Monday in City Auditorium, next attraction of the Concert Association series. The artistic musician has thrilled many thousands with his renditions of flamenco forms, classical stylings, and modern jazz renditions. He has no orchestral accompaniment and needs none, since he is capable of orchestrating on his single instrument. Montoya is among a handful of artists who have made the guitar an accepted classical instrument.

'The Sundowners' Is Australian Story

"The Sundowners," opening today at the Ritz Theatre, is the creation of a new land, historically speaking. The Warner Bros. Technicolor production was conceived in Australia, and it was effected in Australia. It is hailed as an honest story of the Australian "outback." The Warner Bros. troupe for "The Sundowners," handpicked by director Fred Zinnemann, turned out to be a sort of United Nations road company: Deborah Kerr, Robert Mitchum, Peter Ustinov, Glynis Johns, Diana Merrill. Miss Kerr comes from England via Hollywood. Robert Mitchum is as strictly a Hollywood character as you'll find west of East Los Angeles. Peter Ustinov — actor, playwright, director—holds a British passport, lives in Switzerland, is of Russian and French descent and works all over the world. Glynis Johns is a fiery blonde Londoner who was star at 14 and plays her first "character" role in "The Sundowners," a move she was loathe to make except under the persuasive influence of Zinnemann, who was determined to have her for his film.

Aussie Actors Pull Wool Over Director's Eyes

Two hundred and seven stalwart sheep shearers were rounded up by director Fred Zinnemann to compete for roles in "The Sundowners," filmed in Australia. Zinnemann had put out the call to obtain 12 shearers, four of whom would subsequently be flown 24,000 miles round-trip to England for the filming of interior sequences. "I'm looking for types and talent," Zinnemann said. By talent he meant not necessarily acting talent but shearing talent. "The record number of sheep sheared by one man in a day, I understand," the director explained while on location, "is about 360. The men I'm looking for don't have to be that good. Anywhere around 200 a day is excellent shearing speed." The prospective actors came from as far away as 600 miles; but they came, unfortunately, in their Sunday best—shaven, cropped, coated and necktied. Zinnemann said he had to visualize them in sheep shearers' outfits: thick singlets, tar-and-bloodstained khaki pants and calf-high boots. Zinnemann looked at the shearers in groups of 10—rated them as one-two- or three-star material. Then he went through the three-starrers again until he had selected the necessary 12 and six standbys. The 12 finalists ranged from short to tall, from blonde to brunette and from 18 years to 60. They were all experts, and the lowest daily tally for any

GARDEN TALK

Orchids Will Grow Here Under Proper Conditions

For Christmas I received two orchid plants, and this reminded me that at different times I have had the question asked: "Can one raise orchids in this climate?"

Yes they can be raised, but only under proper conditions. Orchids are tropical plants, except the lady slipper group that are found in bogs from Maine to Georgia. The tropical orchids need a tropical climate but this can be managed in a greenhouse or a terrarium. The terrarium can be a sort of window garden where the humidity and temperature can be regulated.

For best results a terrarium should have ventilation at both top and sides. The orchid plants in pots or other containers should be placed on wooden slats over a pan of water. This will assure high humidity and proper drainage at the same time. Usually watering once or twice a week is enough, though some plants prefer a dry season after blooming.

Where can one get orchid plants? There are a number of mail order nurseries that will supply the plants at reasonable prices. The cost varies from $3 per plant on up to any price one cares to pay. It is not practical to try to grow them from seed. Breeders who do produce seedling plants may require as long as seven years from cross pollinating a plant to the time when they have a specimen of that hybrid in proper blooming size.

Recently the Danny Thomas show featured the problems of keeping an orchid plant, but while the program used the basic problems of orchid culture as the background for the comedy, the home gardener will find that they overplayed the problems into the show. This should not discourage any one who wants to try growing these rare and exotic plants in West Texas. There is a certain reward in growing the difficult and unusual plants in spite of the problems involved.

If you do try to grow orchids, remember that the best temperature is 55 to 65 degrees and they require a high humidity. Don't over-water, and do provide good drainage. They need ventilation and an organic material for the root system. There are other problems to be sure, but the fact remains that you can grow orchids if you want to.

Making A 'Stop' Sign

Raymond Neill, city sign maker, demonstrates the use of the sign-making machine at the city warehouse. This machine can put new faces on old sign blanks, saving the city the cost of new sign purchases. It has also produced a savings when the city has changed from one kind of sign to another. The only purchase necessary was the new face material.

SS Benefits Depend On Wage Payments

The amount of benefits payable to a worker and his dependents at retirement, if he becomes disabled, or to his survivors in case of his death, depends upon the amount of wages posted to his social security account, H. P. Thomas, manager of the district office of the Social Security Administration at Odessa, pointed out Saturday.

The administration is responsible for keeping an accurate record of each earnings record; however, the cooperation of employers and employees is needed in maintaining these records. A person working for someone else should be sure his employer gets his correct name and social security account number when he starts to work. If a pay slip or withholding statement has an incorrect name or account number, the worker should call this to the attention of his employer. The employer should also make sure the correct names and social security account numbers are on the quarterly reports of earnings sent to the Internal Revenue Service.

A person who is self-employed should pay his social security self-employment tax and report his net earnings at the end of each year if those net earnings are $400 or more, Thomas said. These reports must be based on records of income and expenses in connection with the trade or business, whether kept in a ledger showing income and expenses or sales slips and invoices, depending on the nature of the business. Copies of self-employment reports and the business records upon which they were based should be kept for future reference.

Pranksters Add To Sign Expenses

Youngsters with paint brushes render the most damage to street and traffic signs, according to R. V. Foresyth, assistant director of public works.

Some signs are presently being purchased as the needs of the city dictate, while traffic signs can be made with the city's equipment.

Foresyth said a 1960 budget figure of $600 was set aside for new street signs and that twice that much could be spent in 1961, in an effort to make all the city street signs uniform over a period of time.

Street signs usually last about 15 years and future signs will be installed in the same relative locations throughout the city. Some areas do not have proper signs, Foresyth said, and many have lettering on just one side. These will be replaced as soon as funds are available, he said.

About a year ago, the city purchased a sign-making machine to use in making traffic signs. The life of these signs is two years and this machine cuts the cost of replacement by simply refacing the existing sign at only labor expense. The advantage in this technique lies in retaining the blank each time for continuous use.

Foresyth said the potential life-span of a traffic sign is shortened by bullets, reckless driving and pranksters. With the sign making machine in use, however, the city has tightened its budgetary belt girding this once expensive item, he said.

$32,000 Residence Opens Subdivision

Twelve building permits had been issued in January through Friday afternoon with a new residence taking up most of the value.

Robert Johnson will build a residence at 510 Highland Drive costing $32,000. It is the first in the Highland South Addition. Another residence at 1752 Purdue, by Cortes & Milch, will cost $12,000.

The total for the 12 permits for the first six days in January is $48,720.

Salvation Army Units In Texas Get New Leader

Brigadier B. Gordon Swyers will assume command this month of the Texas division of the Salvation Army, with headquarters in Dallas.

Reporting from Washington, D. C., where he has served as commander of the National Capital division, Brigadier Swyers succeeds Lt. Col. Ernest Pickering. Col. Pickering has been appointed field secretary of the Southern Territory in Atlanta, Ga., effective Jan. 4.

Swyers will be in charge of 37 corps in 35 Texas cities, and 226

Service Unit Committees in as many Texas cities.

Mrs. Swyers shares equal rank with her husband and will become home league secretary for the Texas Division, a position now held by Mrs. Pickering. Mrs. Swyers will be in charge of all Salvation Army women's activities in Texas.

Swyers has served as a finance officer at Southern Territorial Headquarters in Atlanta and has held posts in the Oklahoma division, Alabama-Mississippi division, North and South Carolina division, and Florida division. He received his commission from the Salvation Army School for officers on June 13, 1952.

He is a native of Cambridge, Mass.

At present he serves with the Middle Atlantic States Conference on Correction, and is a member of the Washington, D. C. Board of Trade and the Rotary Club.

Mrs. Swyers is a fourth generation Salvationist, and one of five children who are Salvation Army officers. After being commissioned, she was assigned to youth work. She was later appointed to the staff of the school for officers' training and during her assignment in Atlanta she received honors for service in the Veterans Hospital, and special recognition from the AMVETS for "Service to Servicemen" in the hospital.

For several years she was the liaison officer in work with women prisoners, with special interest on first offenders. She is presently the liaison officer for Civil Defense, and is in charge of activities for women in the nation's capital.

Terry Farmers Can Receive No More Braceros

DALLAS — The Terry County Farm Association of Brownfield has been declared ineligible for further participation in the Mexican National Program. The association has been notified of the revocation of its existent authorization to contract Mexican Nationals and the denial of further authorization.

Regional Director Tracy C. Murrell of the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security here said that the decision against the association was based on a joint determination between representatives of the United States and the Mexican governments.

They found the association had failed to keep adequate work records, failed to promptly notify proper authorities of abandonment of work contracts of specific Mexican workers during the 1959 season, and had failed to furnish subsistence to Mexican workers. The association made restitution of subsistence payments after the disclosure of the violation.

The association appealed the initial determination made by the Regional office, Murrell said, and the case was referred to the Director of the Bureau of Employment Security in Washington.

In Washington the decision of the regional director was affirmed by the director and the association was notified of the final decision.
