All In Fun

Daryl Hoberiz, left, division leader who reported the lowest attendance this morning at the YMCA membership enrollment breakfast, received the traditional lantern from Clyde McMahon, program chairman. The lantern signifies "bringing up the rear." James Tidwell received a football for having the division with the largest attendance. More than 200 were on hand to begin the annual four-day enrollment program.

200 YMCA Workers Seeking Prospects In Member Drive

More than 200 workers in the annual YMCA membership enrollment program fanned out over the city today following a breakfast meeting to select prospects.

The workers will be striving to enroll 1,296 adult members in the Y program, many of them currently holding memberships. Over 250 volunteer workers are involved in this portion of the annual effort.

Each worker is charged with enrolling six members; each team, 36 members; and each division, 216.

7 Dead, 'Many' Hurt In Carrier Fire At Sea

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The U.S. aircraft carrier Saratoga put into nearby Phaleron Bay today with seven dead and "many" injured after a fire at sea.

The fire occurred in the eastern Mediterranean, where the big aircraft carrier was on patrol with the U.S. 6th Fleet.

Italy, said the fire was believed to have occurred this morning. Reports received here did not make clear the cause of the fire or where it occurred.

Supreme Court Upholds Pre-Censorship On Films

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld censorship of motion pictures before their public showing.

Justice Clark delivered the court's 5-4 decision.

The tribunal acted on an appeal by Times Film Corp., distributors of a movie called "Don Juan."

The firm refused to submit the picture to Chicago's censors and the city then refused a permit for its exhibition.

In today's high court decision, Chief Justice Warren and Justice Douglas wrote dissenting opinions.

Also dissenting were Justices Black and Brennan.

The majority was made up of Clark and Justices Frankfurter, Harlan, Whitaker and Stewart.

In the controlling opinion, Clark said the challenge to the validity of the Chicago ordinance presented the tribunal with the "broad justiciable issue, whether the ambit (bounds) of constitution-protection includes complete and absolute freedom to exhibit, at least once, any and every kind of motion picture."

Legislative Committees Are Named

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey named Sen. Wardlaw Lane chairman of the State Affairs Committee today. Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney was named head of the important Finance Committee.

Appointment of the committees opened the way in the Senate for the first actual steps of lawmaking in the legislature. Introduction of Senate bills was the next step.

Ramsey picked Sen. Dorsey Hardeman as chairman of the Jurisprudence Committee.

The state affairs group will be the one to consider and make recommendations on any tax bill originating in the House. Roberts is head of a group that will hold public hearings throughout the session on appropriations for 1962-1963.

Speaker James Turman is expected to name the House's 43 outstanding committees this week end.

Other top committee chairmen in the Senate included: George Moffett, agriculture and livestock; Lewis Crump, constitutional amendments; Andy Rogers, education; Bruce Reagan, insurance; Abraham Kazen, legislative, congressional and judicial districts; Martin Dies Jr., nominations; and George Parkhouse, water conservation.

The House heard a resolution by Rep. W. E. Oliver of Port Neches, which would extend the life of the interim General Investigating Committee.

Oliver said the committee's life officially ended Jan. 10, the day the legislature convened.

Turman referred the bill to the temporary Rules Committee, bypassing Oliver's request that it be considered for immediate passage. Oliver was given permission to explain the bill to the House.

"It was the consensus of the committee that the same situation that exists in Jefferson County also exists in other parts of the state," Oliver said. "The citizens of Jefferson County and other parts of the state are entitled to have that investigation continued."

The House soon adjourned until 11 a.m. Tuesday.

A victory dinner is set Thursday, 7 p.m., at the Y for announcement of final results.

Report sessions are slated each day at 5:15 p.m. in the Y. Workers are to report daily on progress with their prospects. All outstanding cards are to be completed by Wednesday, and Thursday it will be "open season" for workers who have not completed their quota.

President Begins Security Review

Sheriff-Youth Officer Clash To Committee

Settlement of a disagreement between the sheriff's department and Bob Darland, county juvenile officer, on procedure in matters involving juveniles will be up to the Howard County Juvenile Board, the Howard County Commissioners Court ruled today.

Darland and Miller Harris, sheriff, have clashed on where the newly created juvenile department's activities begin.

Harris said that where a crime is reported to this office and it is established that the offense is by juveniles, he proposes that Darland investigate it and handle it entirely. Darland argued that his job was primarily probationary; that he had neither the time, facilities, or training as an investigative officer. He contended the arrests and investigation of offenses where juveniles are involved will be up to the police and the sheriff's officers.

The development afterward, he said, are the duties of his office.

After hearing Darland, the commissioners court suggested the matter be laid before the county juvenile board and that a policy on what the new office is to do be established.

Harris said that in any case where a crime was investigated and a juvenile was found to be one of the offenders, that juvenile would be apprehended and placed in the juvenile jail. However, where a case was shown to be wholly perpetrated by juveniles, he said he expected the juvenile officer to investigate and handle it.

Darland was recently appointed county juvenile officer under a new system adopted by the city, county and schools. He contended in his statement to the court that his duties are in the fields of probation and reformation and not investigation.

Judge Ed Carpenter said the juvenile board would be assembled and the matter laid before them but no announcement was made of the date.

State police said the blonde cheerleader and basketball star James C. Erhart, 16, apparently died together rather than live apart.

Their bodies were found sprawled across a bed in Linda's bedroom.

Each had been shot in the chest with a .32-caliber pistol belonging to Linda's father, a prominent Richmond attorney, police said.

Detective Laurence N. Hofman said the two Richmond High School students had been going steady for two years. The boy was to go to Amsterdam in June as an exchange student under a State Department program.

Hofman said the two collaborated in writing a note to their parents. "Don't blame one of us more than the other," Linda wrote on a sheet of lined notebook paper.

DALLAS (AP) — Things weren't sunny side up at Sunny York Farms today.

Grand Jury Begins Session

Gil Jones, district attorney, told Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, Monday morning that he anticipated it will take the newly organized grand jury three days to wade through the docket of felonies to be presented to it.

The grand jury, with Clifton L. Cook as foreman, began its work at 9:30 a.m. By noon it had investigated six of the 43 cases on the original docket prepared for its consideration.

However, it was not indicated that the grand jurors had completed work on the first six cases called; it is quite possible additional testimony may be heard in some or perhaps all of them.

First case on the docket to be aired before the grand jury was scheduled to be that against James M. Knight and Billy Joe Wade, charged with burglary. These defendants are accused of stealing the safe from Pinkie's Liquor Store on Nov. 13.

Wade, sought since the breakin, was recently arrested in Salinas, Calif., and was returned to the county jail here Saturday night by Sheriff Miller Harris and Deputy Tommy Cole. Knight has been at liberty on bond since a few days after the burglary.

The third floor corridor in the court house was jammed this morning with witnesses waiting to be taken before the grand jury.

The grand jury is composed of: Cook, M. M. Mancill, T. Willard Neal, George Oldham, Worth Peeler, F. D. Rogers, Horace Reagan, James Kenneth Huff, Sherman Smith, Carl Coleman, Truman Jones and Harold Hendin.

Kennedy Meets With His Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy with key aides at administration's top defense and diplomatic officials today started a far-reaching review of the national security program.

Seeking a safeguarded peace with the Communist bloc, Kennedy began talks with key aides at midmorning and arranged to resume the discussions after a recess for lunch.

Sitting in with the President at the conference in the Cabinet room at the White House were Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Also on hand were McGeorge Bundy, Kennedy's personal aide on national security matters; Undersecretary of State-designate Chester Bowles; and Paul H. Nitze, designated as assistant secretary of defense in charge of international affairs, including disarmament planning.

Also present was Gen Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said several other officials were joining in the discussions. He did not immediately name them.

The conference started at 10 a.m. an hour and 15 minutes after Kennedy turned up in his office.

Salinger said the White House would have nothing to say regarding the talks until their conclusion late in the afternoon. He added that there might not be any official comment even then.

A scheduled Kennedy meeting with the entire White House staff was called off. Salinger said without elaboration that other business prevented it.

The president arranged to have lunch in the White House living quarters with Mrs. Kennedy.

Resumption of the national security talks was scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

The double conference—the only announced business on his agenda today—demonstrated the priority Kennedy attaches to seeking an easing of East-West tension while beefing up the nation's defenses.

GRIM REMINDER
A grim reminder of troubles ahead reportedly came in a secret message from Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson who met Saturday in Moscow with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Thompson's cable was understood to report that Khrushchev—while talking hopefully of an agreement with the Kennedy administration—in private had adopted the same tough, unyielding position on issues that wrecked previous Western hopes.

Khrushchev served up the same old hash to Kennedy that he had placed before former President Eisenhower without success, said diplomatic officials.

With this background, it seemed likely the Kennedy meeting with Rusk and McNamara would concentrate on:

1. A searching look at the state of the nation's military defenses. In departing, Eisenhower called them "second to none" but in his campaign Kennedy questioned this and pledged quick moves to build more military muscle.

2. A blocking out of the new administration's initial diplomatic moves to thwart Soviet plotting in Laos, the Congo, Cuba and Red-circled Berlin.

PREVIEW
Kennedy got a preview during a White House luncheon Sunday of Rusk's thinking about Khrushchev's maneuvers. Bowles also attended.

The 2½-hour session concentrated, however, mainly on administration efforts to find and name about 12 more top assistants for Rusk in running the State Department.

Kennedy, moving about in the unpredictable fashion that has become almost routine since inauguration, popped into the press room for a surprise visit.

He was accompanied by his wife, Jacqueline, looking like a fashionable teen-ager as she strolled through the White House lobby, wearing beige riding pants and a three-quarters length sports coat.

White House guards, who never had seen anything like it during the Eisenhower administration, stared goggle-eyed.

After going to church Sunday, Kennedy kept up a rapid-fire work pace. By late afternoon, he named an undersecretary of the Navy, two assistant secretaries of commerce, and a three-man panel to advise him on conflict of interest problems and ethics in government.

He picked Paul Fay Jr., 42, an independent Republican businessman from San Francisco, to be Navy undersecretary. Fay, who helped campaign for him, was in Kennedy's wartime torpedo boat squadron.

As assistant commerce secretaries, he chose Hickman Price Jr., Detroit, director of the Mercedes Benz automobile branch in Brazil, and Rowland Burnston, a Chicagoan, president of Borg-Warner International Corp.

A PROJECT WITH A PORPOISE

Navy Building Gear To Talk With Dolphin

By RALPH DIGHTON

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP) — That porpoise the Navy started training a year ago has turned out to be unpredictable and talkative, and talking is the best trick she's learned so far.

Expected to swim at speeds of 30 to 40 knots — and thus show scientists how to build faster submarines — she still hasn't gone faster than 16.

Scientists hope to overcome her aversion to speed by giving her more room, perhaps an inlet fenced off with antismarine netting. Her speed runs so far have been made in a narrow, 315-foot-long tank.

Her ability to talk delights Navy scientists. They're building complicated electronic gear in the hopes that, by duplicating her sounds, they can actually hold conversations.

The porpoise, called Notty after the initials of the Naval Ordnance Test Station here, has learned another trick. She can count out her age, which is four.

She does this by nudging a lever in her private pool. Her trainer, psychologist Ron Turner, says there's no chance that this is just luck. She's been trained to push another lever when she's through counting.

Notty's talking to human ears sounds like a cat in anguish. She also makes noises humans can't hear.

Dr. Rene Engel, head of oceanic research at NOTS, has caught these noises on tape and now is working on a generator to duplicate them.

"Our first step," says Engel, "will be to determine what sounds Notty reacts to. Then we will observe what she does after each type of sound. If we can learn to give orders, maybe she can learn to talk back."

This seven-foot, 200-pound porpoise—she probably will grow to twice this size—also has been taught to wear a collar.

Unless she's smarter than scientists think she is, Notty doesn't know that this collar could be built to contain explosives which could be detonated whenever she approached an enemy vessel.

The collar also could house submarine-detection instruments, but why bother? If she can be taught to talk and count, the day may come when deep-diving Notty will swim alongside an American picket boat and yell:

"Hey, skipper, I just spotted four enemy subs off Kodiak island at 100 fathoms."

THE ALLURING ASSASSINS --- II

Reducing Fats Key To Weight Control

From caveman times, most humans have never been more than a half step ahead of hunger.

Millions have starved. More millions are hungry today. But hunger is a stranger to the great bulk of Americans, and some other peoples. Most eat well. Many eat too well. Many are overweight.

And Americans are leading victims of heart attacks. Growing suspicion that an assassin sits at the dinner table centers mainly on high consumption of fats and rich foods, with resultant high levels of cholesterol and fatty materials in the blood.

Just last month, the top medical committee of the American Heart Association recommended reducing total fat consumption, and substituting some vegetable oils and other unsaturated fats for some of the animal fats now consumed, as a possible means of preventing atherosclerosis.

MAIN ARGUMENTS
The main arguments are these:
1. More than 100 years ago, fatty materials were found in the deposits which clog up arteries. Cholesterol was one.

2. Atherosclerosis, the clogging process, has been produced in rabbits, rats, dogs, pigs, chickens, guinea pigs and monkeys by feeding them diets high in cholesterol and fats. Monkeys can even be induced to die of heart attacks this way.

3. In humans, high blood content of cholesterol is associated with three to six times greater risk of heart attack in middle age.

4. Overweight persons appear twice as likely to have heart attacks as those of normal weight.

generally but not always find higher rates of heart attacks where diets are high in fat content, and more people have elevated blood cholesterol.

Where diets are low in fats, and where blood cholesterol is lower, heart attacks are less frequent. These people depend more upon grain, vegetables, potatoes, rice and fruits than upon meat and dairy products. Among the best known such studies are those of Dr. Ancel Keys and associates of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston.

6. In human tests, blood cholesterol can be raised by high fat diets, and reduced by cutting the intake of fats and substituting some "polyunsaturated" fats for solid or saturated fats. (About this, more in a moment.)

CASE NOT PROVED
Still, the case is not yet proved that reducing dietary fats will prevent or reduce risk of heart attacks.

Proof could come within five to ten years through studies in which hundreds of middle-aged men are cutting and changing fat intake, reducing weight, and becoming more physically active.

Such studies are underway by Dr. Norman Jolliffe in New York City, Dr. Jeremiah Stamler in Chicago, and Dr. Irvine H. Page of Cleveland.

The verdict depends whether these men have fewer heart attacks in coming years than men of comparable age who continue eating the typical American diet which supplies 40 per cent or more of total calories from fats.

With the evidence still circumstantial, few authorities are calling for drastic diet changes by everyone.

The heart association committee says that cutting fat intake probably would be most beneficial to persons who are overweight, who have already had a heart attack or stroke, or whose personal and family histories indicate they may be particularly susceptible to atherosclerosis. It suggests people consult their own doctors before making specific changes in diet.

DIET CAUTION
Cautions against racing into drastic diet changes are sounded also by Dr. Charles Glen King, research biochemist and executive director of The Nutrition Foundation, and Dr. Ogden C. Johnson, assistant secretary of the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association. Dr. King warns that "the entire population is exposed to misleading claims about diets that are based on extreme practices not supported by good evidence, and hence may be both wasteful and harmful."

All experts agree we need a fair amount of fat in our diet for health. Cutting out all fats would be harmful.

Nor is it desirable to avoid all foods containing cholesterol. The human body itself manufactures cholesterol, even from foods not containing cholesterol or saturated fats. Cholesterol is essential for health. This basic material is needed to manufacture sex and adrenal hormones.

But an excess of either total calories or saturated fats in foods apparently leads to excess cholesterol and fatty materials circulating in the blood.

So much of the current advice follows this line:
1. Eat a well-balanced diet, which includes some of all the four basic types of foods—animal proteins, cereal products, vegetables, and fruits.

2. Instead of getting more than 40 per cent of total calories from fats, cut this to 25 to 35 per cent.

3. Reduce the proportion of calories from saturated fats. Saturated fats generally are those which are solid at room temperature. They include most dairy and animal fats, and the visible and invisible fats in meat.

No one is saying cut them out. (See VEGETABLE, P. 3-A, Col. 1)

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing this hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have or ever had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy, does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful.

All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas.

Are Your Grammar Weak? School Doors Is Still Open

CHICAGO (AP) — "The grammar of the passenger department is deplorably weak," asserted Vice President C. E. Spens of the Burlington Railroad, surveying a sentence for a 1956 institutional advertisement.

It began: "For within this tremendous area is produced: two thirds the corn, more than half the corn, more than half the barley, half the wheat..."

"Are produced" is the correct form," declared Spens.

Not so, said P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager who had submitted the layout. He quickly produced a University of Chicago opinion—for Probably got that from the football coach, retorted Spens, and issued an SOS. "Are" is correct, opined Northwestern University.

"Is" it is, said Harvard. "Are" it is, said the Literary Digest.

And so, in 1956, the grammatical battle was joined—to the delight of headline writers everywhere:

"Are" vs. "is" splits five colleges, dictionary and railroad heads," headlined one newspaper.

"Is it 'Are' Or Are It 'Is'?" asked another. And even: "Am he want or would he come? How can it was?"

In all, 22 schools and magazines were queried. The result: 12 votes for "are," 6 for "is" 1 for either and 3 abstentions.

Spens and Eustis and the Literary Digest are dead but the controversy still is not settled.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad recently came across a booklet chronicling the word puzzle and decided to resurvey. The results, released today: 14 for "are" 1 for "is" and 1 for "either." Six didn't answer.

The Universities of Chicago, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Harvard and Temple switched their "is" votes to "are." None reversed from "are" to "is," but Boston University maintained its earlier "is" vote, declaring, "technical speaking, any grammarian would say 'is' is the correct vote."

Eustis and Spens, the original combatants, settled their argument with a flip of the coin. It turned up "is."

But Holy Cross in Worcester, Mass., which in the resurvey amended its original "are" to "either," suggested another solution: Rewrite the sentence.

Light rain that was falling in the Laredo area early Monday is scheduled to spread over a wide section of Texas during the week.

The five-day forecast called for heavy to moderate rains in South Texas by mid-week and light to moderate precipitation in most other sections the latter part of the week.

Skies were cloudy along the coast, partly clear in South Texas and clear elsewhere early Monday with Laredo reporting rain and Houston and Lufkin having fog.

Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 23 degrees at Delhart to 60 at Brownsville.

The only measurable rain in the state Sunday was .02 inches at Dallas and Fort Worth. Maximum temperatures Sunday ranged from 51 degrees at Lufkin to 79 at Brownsville.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes . . . Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold—without prescription—in tiny tablets called Primatene®.

Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves taut nervous tension. All this without taking painful injections.

The secret—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose.

So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms. Primatene only 98¢, at any drug store.

Vegetable Oils Urged For Diet

for they are excellent sources of proteins, vitamins and minerals. Foods higher in saturated than polyunsaturated fats include butter, eggs, most solid shortenings, many cooking fats, coconut oil, fats in chocolate and pastries made from them, whipping cream, sour cream, most cheeses except cottage cheese, and gravies.

Milk is average in saturated fat. Skim milk is very low. Poultry and pork fat are less saturated than most animal fats.

Many fats and oils consumed in this country are hydrogenated—a processing which retards development of rancidity and can be used to convert liquid fats to semi-solid or solid consistency. This decreases the amount of their polyunsaturated fats.

SUBSTITUTIONS

4. Increase intake of polyunsaturated fats, by substituting them for some of the present saturated fats eaten.

Unsaturated fats—usually liquid at room temperature—don't supply materials to make cholesterol, and may even reduce blood cholesterol levels. They also supply essential fatty acids which the body itself cannot make.

Foods high in polyunsaturated fats include corn oil, cotton-seed oil, soybean oil, safflower oil (but not coconut oil), vegetable oils, and fish oils (fish in cold water would congeal if their bodies had saturated fats).

The list also includes fruits and some newer margarines and shortenings, dressing oils, and cooking oils designed to reduce saturated fat content and increase the polyunsaturated types.

On salads, French, thousand island, and oil and vinegar dressings supply unsaturated rather than saturated fats, if the oils are not made from olive oil.

5. Don't expect pills to come along which will keep blood cholesterol down while you eat anything you please.

Some drugs and chemicals do show ability to reduce cholesterol, by interrupting its manufacture or by other means. But these are still being studied carefully, with some questions about them not yet answered, and are being tested mainly in heart patients with high cholesterol.

6. If overweight, reduce.

And in this, contrary to widespread opinion, exercise and more activity can help burn up some of those calories so delightfully taken aboard.

Third Wiley Trial Slated

Assistant Chief of Police Leo Hull and Lt. Stanley Bogard, of the Big Spring police department, were in Cleburne Monday as witnesses in the trial of Roosevelt Wiley, 38, an Odessa Negro. Wiley is charged with the slaying of L. H. Canada, San Angelo milk truck driver, in a holdup Oct. 24, 1958.

A second Negro, Willie McDade, 15, also was charged in the slaying, and drew a life term.

Wiley was sentenced to death March 7, 1959, after a trial in Lubbock but the Court of Criminal Appeals set aside the verdict, ruling that a juror was unduly influenced by reading a newspaper.

A second attempt to try him in Lubbock failed because a jury could not be selected. The case was transferred to Cleburne on a change of venue.

The two Negroes were arrested in Big Spring shortly after the slaying of Canada near Garden City.

10 Blue Law Charges Filed

HOUSTON (AP) — A special Houston police squad filed 10 charges against nine defendants Sunday for violations of state Sunday closing laws.

The charges were a result of Mayor Lewis Cutrer's order to enforce the state blue laws three weeks ago.

Eight of the charges were filed against employes of the Mike Persia Chevrolet Corp. here.

Jane Conte, 35, vice president and general manager of the company, was charged with being open on Sunday for the third time since the crackdown started. The first charge was dismissed and the second hasn't come to trial.

N. Elmer White, owner of a builders supply company, was charged with being open for the second time. His first charge is also pending.

Brooklyn Fire Kills 7 In Family

NEW YORK (AP) — A mother and six of her nine children were killed in a Brooklyn tenement fire that may have been sparked by one of the victims—a 4-year-old boy.

The mother, Anna Fancher, 36, was found in a corner of her living room. Her body was lying over her five dead children. A sixth died later in a hospital.

The father, Howard Fancher, 42, an unemployed foundryman, and three daughters survived.

Fancher said he had spanked Charles, 4, a month ago for playing with matches.

Paint Aids Driving

BUFFALO (AP) — A reflective highway paint that gives drivers a sharp view of the road at night has been developed at Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory here.

The laboratory said the paint, applied so that it reflects only the light from the driver's own headlights, will be tested by the New York Public Works Department this summer.

Youth Admits Bayonet Killing

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Police said husky Robert Sichel, 14, admitted Sunday night that he killed a middle-aged neighbor woman with a bayonet. They were still trying to determine his motive today.

Police Capt. Mal Sylvia said Sichel, after intensive questioning, admitted stabbing Marie Rozas, 58, and then trying to burn her corpse.

Sylvia said Sichel was arrested after a neighbor reported seeing him leave Mrs. Rozas' yard just before the fire that burned her body was discovered.

He said the boy was unable to give a clear motive for the slaying. The badly burned body of Mrs. Rozas — clad in bathrobe, half-slip and panties — had been covered with blankets and draperies. She had been stabbed or slashed at least 20 times.

7 Children, Adult Burned To Death

PASADENA, Md. (AP) — Seven Negro children and an adult who was caring for them burned to death early today when their frame house erupted in flames near here, state police reported. One child escaped.

State trooper Lester Chenoweth identified the victims as Donald L. Green, 9 months, and his sisters and brothers, Maryland, 2; Wilfred, 3; Yvette, 4; Joeline, 5; and Aaron, 6.

Also burned to death were a cousin, Regina Wright, 10, and the Greens' uncle, Bernard Green, 33.

DEAR ABBY

BE SEATED

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it proper for men to offer their seats on a bus to women any more? I ride to work on a bus every day and I have seen elderly (and even pregnant) women stand while men just sit there. Occasionally I will see a gentleman offer a woman his seat, but you should see the dirty looks he gets from the men who are sitting. Are gentlemen becoming extinct in our civilization?

DEAR LADY: Some of the women who ride buses are in better shape than some of the men. Naturally, an elderly or pregnant woman shouldn't be made to stand any more than a feeble or handicapped man. But healthy, able-bodied women, who compete with men for jobs, shouldn't expect a busload of Sir Walter Raleighs.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have four children. Every time one was born, we'd agree on a name we both liked, take the baby to church and have it baptized with that name. But as soon as we'd go home my husband would start calling it something else. Our Christopher he calls "Max." Marie Ann is "Cookie." Francis is "Butch" and Antonio is "Charlie."

I get so mad I could throw him out. What can I do?

DEAR ONLY: ONLY A WIFE I love a man who calls me "Pope." (He's my husband.)

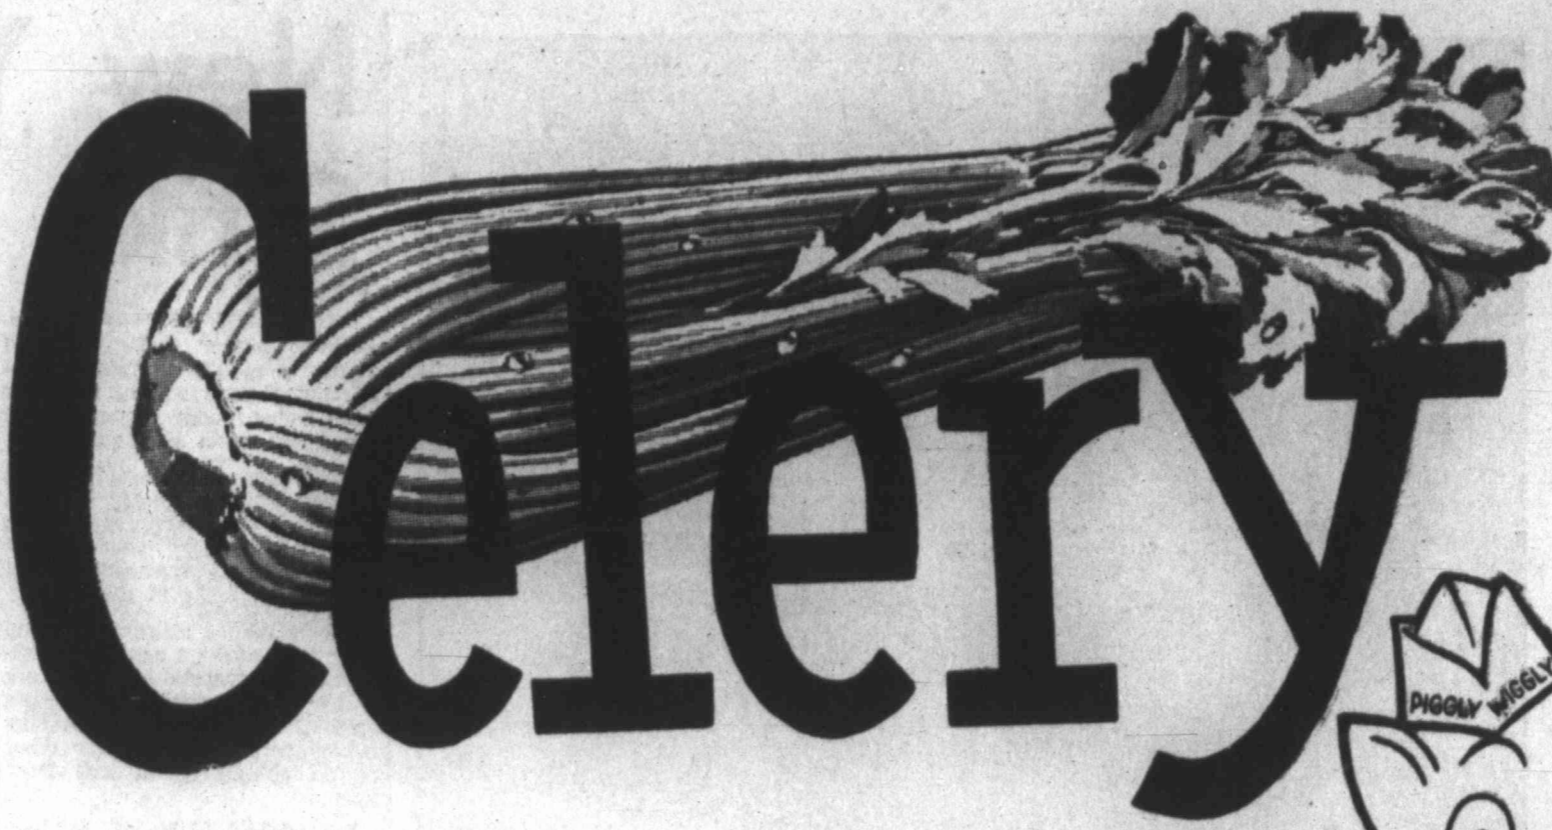

DEAR ABBY: There is a certain boy who asks all the girls to dance and he is the world's worst dancer. He keeps going around in circles and gets all the girls dizzy. Should we tell him so he can improve, or should we skip it for fear of hurting his feelings?

THE THREE H'S: Considering the present crop of wallflowers, a girl would have to be pretty "dizzy" to criticize a boy's dancing. Don't suggest he improve unless you are willing to teach him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WILLING TO WORK": Be a bellhop. Money grows on trays!

For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

British Royal Hunt Has Animal Lovers Up In Arms

JAIPUR, India (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and her husband Prince Philip were to go 12 miles into the jungle today on a tiger hunt that has some animal lovers of Europe and Asia up in arms. The royal couple are spending two days at the hunting lodge of the Maharaja of Jaipur without the usual entourage of newsmen and curious public. The maharaja declared the hunt area off limits to give the queen privacy and to avoid frightening away the tigers. Several animal welfare groups in India and Britain strenuously objected to the queen participating in the hunt. Nine thousand New Delhi students threatened a hunger strike if the queen "encourages" tiger hunting.

and appeared to enjoy the ride as the huge beast awayed along. Packed mobs cheered loudly as the queen and Philip, on another elephant, rode into the palace's courtyard to meet Indian nobility. The queen also visited Bhankrota village near Jaipur, capital of the desert state of Rajasthan, 145 miles southwest of New Delhi. The trip back to Jaipur was made in the maharaja's 1934 silver and green Rolls-Royce, as huge crowds of villagers pressed in close to cheer and wave.

She was a daughter of J. H. Allison of Wichita Falls, retired former executive of Fort Worth and Wichita Falls newspapers, and a sister of James H. Allison, publisher of the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

Gen. Krueger Receives Salutes

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Gen. Walter Krueger, World War II commander of the Sixth U.S. Army, received salutes from national and state leaders here Sunday on the approach of his 60th birthday.

Krueger, who will be 60 Thursday, has lived in San Antonio since his retirement from the Army in 1946. Former President Eisenhower, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Gov. Price Daniel joined in the tributes read and voiced at Sunday's testimonial dinner attended by more than 40 former members of the Sixth Army staff.

Brigitte's Ex To Direct Picture

Winter Holds Icy Grip On East U.S.

By The Associated Press
Winter, a month old and rugged, held an icy grip across much of the eastern half of the nation today after a record cold weekend extending into the Deep South. No immediate general break in the frigid weather was indicated but some warmer weather appeared on the way for the chilled Gulf states. Lower temperatures, however, were indicated in Tennessee, the central Mississippi Valley and parts of the central Great Plains. The cold weather and last week's snow storms and blizzards that swept wide areas have been blamed for at least 70 deaths. The fatalities were attributed to exposure, snow-shoveling exertion, traffic accident on icy roads and fires. Seven children and a 33-year-old man perished in a fire in a home in Pasadena, Md., this morning.

necticut, thermometers plunged to 33 below, four degrees shy of the record reading of -37 in 1943. A 56-year-old record was broken in Windsor Locks, Conn., near Hartford, with a mark of -26. In the South, unseasonable cold was reported, with freezing weather into northern Florida. The 33 reading in Anchorage, Alaska, was much higher than many Southern cities. Blairsville, in northern Georgia, was the coldest spot in the South with a reading of 8 below Sunday. Three inches of snow covers the ground. Atlanta's 10 above was a record for Jan. 22. It was 6 below in Gordonsville, in central Virginia. Richmond's 7 above was a record for the date. In many northern Midwest cities, temperatures stayed below zero all day Sunday as the arctic air held stationary over the snow-covered sections. Chicago's high was 10 after the first zero weather of 1961. More light snow fell in some parts of the cold belt during the night and early morning, including much of the Great Lakes region and the Ohio Valley as well as sections of the central Mississippi Valley. Heaviest fresh fall was 3 inches in Houghton, in Upper Michigan, adding to the 17 inches already on the ground.

It was below zero again this morning in most sections in the northern tier of states from the eastern Dakotas through the Great Lakes region into New England. The mercury dropped to more than 20 degrees below zero in northern Minnesota after a bone-chilling -34 in Bemidji, the nation's so-called "icebox" Sunday morning. But in Norfolk, in western Con-

Chases Monsters Away

No Roach has earned a welcome spot in the hearts of many housewives as an effective way to chase "those monsters" out of the house. Effective against every breed of roach, it is a welcome addition to housecleaning equipment. Available at local drug stores and supermarkets, No Roach is the housewife's standby as an effective means to rid the home of roaches.

No-Roach Users Write Letters Of Gratitude For Effectiveness

Housewives all over America write unsolicited letters of thanks to the manufacturers of Johnston's No-Roach. Every day, letters like this one come in.

I saw a No-Roach advertisement, that it was a brush-on liquid that stayed effective. So I tried a bottle. A miracle! Here at last is a product that lives up to its name. There are no dead roaches left lying around, no odor, no danger to pets or children. I can use food and dishes around the kitchen without worry!

It is my pleasure to recommend your fine product to all women in the same predicament I was in. I'll testify that Johnston's No-Roach really works!

MRS. C. J. Brooklyn, N. Y.
No-Roach is available at your favorite drug store or supermarket.

I am writing out of relief and gratitude. When the other families moved away from our multiple-dwelling building, I was besieged by hordes of ugly roaches and other bugs. It was impossible for us to run, so we just had to say and fight the pests.

Be Yourself

Maggie Hayes warns against becoming a type which doesn't express your personality. She is soon to be seen in a "Michael Shayne" episode on NBC-TV.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Use Make-Up So It Appears Natural

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD - "We learn by our mistakes, and I'm glad that mine happened to me when I was young enough to profit by them," Maggie Hayes declared as we were driving to visit the soldiers at a veterans' hospital.

"The first time I came to Hollywood, the make-up men did the obvious. They tried to pattern me after those stars that were on top. With the philosophy that worked for Lana Turner or Marilyn Monroe would work for someone else, they made me bleach my hair. My eyebrows were plucked, and they advised me to assume an appearance that was not representative of my personality or individuality so that what came across on the screen was phony.

"Now I am interested in fashion for only one reason: What I can take from it that is right for me. A young girl is naturally insecure, but she should think twice before she goes along with something that is not her type."

I asked Maggie what routine she used to keep her skin so fresh and glowing.

"I hate the made-up look, and I have always tried to keep my complexion nice enough to be able to do without a lot of gook on it. I have been using the same things for a long time. It's really quite simple, and, my doctor told me, very pure.

"I clean my face with a liquid cleanser. Several times a week I scrub it with a granulated mixture that contains honey. It keeps all the blackheads away and helps bring up the circulation in my face. I use a green herbal liquid to combat dryness. I think using a few things that work well is better than smothering your face with a lot of creams.

"But skin cannot be separated from a healthful diet. You can ruin your complexion by eating the wrong foods or staying on crash diets that are not balanced nutritionally."

LOVELIER COMPLEXION
You can have a lovelier complexion by following the simple routines offered in Leaflet M-55, "Complexion Magic." Your skin must be nourished from inside as well as out. Here in Leaflet M-55 is a five-point program: Food, Rest, Breathing, Habits, Disposition—all of which are important to build and keep a clear, beautiful complexion. Yankees Were Reason She Had No Blue Dress

By ANNE LEFEVER
"As long as my father lived we were not allowed to wear blue dresses, so bitter was he against the Yankees," said Mrs. W. W. Edwards, whose memories of post-Civil War days are stirred by the centennial observance of that struggle.

Mrs. Edwards, a sprightly little woman with deep blue eyes, chuckled as she spoke of wishing for blue dresses as a child, but being denied her desire because of the intense feeling of her family, who lived in Tennessee.

Born a few years after the end of the war, in Sparta, Tenn., she remembers that feeling still ran high in the state because the citizens were made to furnish food for their enemies.

"The Yankees would take the eggs and chickens and all the other food they could find; then a few weeks later, they'd make another raid on the henhouses of the country," she remarked.

Because of the war, the family left Tennessee and came to Texas in a covered wagon, settling near Waxahachie for a time before they returned to Tennessee. Again, they made the trip back to Texas in a covered wagon, this time making a home in Alvarado, where her parents ran a small hotel.

It was here that Mrs. Edwards met her future husband, who threw a bit of gravel to attract her attention as she sat on the veranda of the hotel. Their courtship survived her absence when she went to school in Missouri, and three years after they met, the couple was married.

Then began an exciting life for the young woman. Each year for about 10 years, she and her husband went to Mexico, where they hunted lions, tigers, bears, deer and other animals in Coahuila. On such trips, they would go on horseback into the mountains, with only an Indian guide and a cowboy to care for the 11 horses required to transport them and all their equipment.

It was a rough trip, with rivers to be forded, steep trails to be followed and overnight camps to be made. Mrs. Edwards still remembers the cold when they hunted at altitudes of 10,000 or 12,000 feet.

On one of the coldest journeys, wrapped and bundled up almost beyond recognition, they were joined by a group of engineers. They had traveled for some time before the men realized that one of the party was a woman.

When Edwards was offered a

MRS. W. W. EDWARDS
... wearing blue knit suit

drink of whiskey by a traveler, the man asked him if Mrs. Edwards might like a drink to warm her up. "I told him not to ask my husband—to ask me what I'd like! And I'd like a drink!" she chuckled.

Mrs. Edwards' adventures did not stop with the death of her husband in 1929. She has five trips to South America marked up to her credit—several taken when it required 18 days of riverboat travel to reach her destination.

Her son, Dr. Thomas W. Edwards, now of Corpus Christi, was at one time stationed with a Standard Oil camp in the interior of Colombia, and to visit him and his wife a 600-mile trip must be made up the Magdalena River. On her first journey in the ill-furnished boat, Mrs. Edwards learned that she must provide her own bedding; rice was the main item of diet during the slow travel period and the boat stopped at night because of numerous sandbars. Even in daylight, the crew quite often struck the obstacles and there was always trouble getting off and back into deep water.

Once at the company camp, Mrs. Edwards always enjoyed the life of the people around her and took frequent horseback rides. A person could own a horse and have him well-tended for only three dollars a month, she recalled.

Especially interesting to this lively traveler was the use of machetes by the South American natives; they used the sharp knives for everything—hunting, protection, as household cutlery and to till the soil.

"The way they could peel a pineapple with a machete was an art," Mrs. Edwards said, and then recounted her experience of being in a native village at the time one of the residents neatly beheaded another with a machete.

Here as a guest of her niece, Mrs. Jack Woodall, and Dr. Woodall, 808 W. 14th, "Aunt Kit" will remain until the wanderlust again calls her to visit elsewhere—or she may go home to Corpus Christi—for a short time, anyway.

Our Example

Read John 18
Christ said, "For I have given you an example . . ." Jno. 13:15.

In this chapter we have His example of humility and service, in that he washed the disciples' feet. His is an example of love (verse 1); and by living a life that glorified God, He has become our great example (v. 31).

Let us shape, form and mold our lives after Christ, the perfect example.

In walking in His footsteps, let us begin where he began. He came into the world to preach (Lk. 4:17-21); but He did not begin His ministry until He was baptized (Mat. 3 and 4). Paul, in following Christ, also began at this point (Acts 9:13-20).

Beginning at the beginning, let us follow Him to the end; and receive the crown of life (Rev. 2:10). Let us at 3000 West Highway 50, help you find Christ and walk in His steps. Welcome to all services. We do not preach politics nor the "social gospel"; we preach Christ. Next service: Thursday, 7:30 p.m. —Adv.

Davis Criticized On School Issue

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mayor DeLespess Morrison laid the New Orleans school financial situation in the lap of Gov. Jimmie Davis today.

Morrison called the Davis administration "two-faced" and criticized State Education Supt. Shelby Jackson.

Morrison urged early payment of city taxes to aid teachers and the public school system, which has been in financial straits since federally-directed integration began last November.

The legislature has prohibited the city board from borrowing $12 million against its share of city taxes.

Morrison charged that Davis has held up approval of the board's customary request for the loan. Approval formally comes from the State Bond and Tax Board, which the governor heads.

About one-third of the city's teachers did not receive their monthly salary last week.

Cuban Militia Sent Home But Told To Remain Alert

HAVANA (AP)—Maj. Ernesto Guevara warned Cuba's civilian soldiers Sunday night to remain alert so that if "the new (Kennedy) administration threatens us we will all be ready to go back to the trenches."

Cuba's pro-Communist economic chief sounded the warning at a rally of demobilized militiamen at a seacoast town 40 miles west of Havana. He urged the men to go back to work now that the three-week "invasion" alert was over, but cautioned them to be prepared.

Following the line laid down in Fidel Castro's speech Friday, Guevara called for a change in the "mistaken and absurd" policies of the Eisenhower administration. He claimed the military alert had averted the danger of invasion and resulted in "an important victory for the people without bloodshed."

Fidel Castro told provincial delegates of the Agrarian Reform

Institute that his government would give 80,000 small farmers in Oriente Province credits to spur cultivation of coffee and cacao.

He also announced creation of "children's farms" to be incorporated in the "people's farms," which raise vegetables, chickens and rabbits. Children over 10 will be eligible to work on the farms.

Cuba and the Soviet Union also will exchange a thousand children to work and learn on each other's youth farms, Castro said.

Unrest From Red Chinese Hunger Brings Reprisals

TOKYO (AP)—An announcement from Peiping indicates unrest and sabotage brought on by a drastic shortage of food is bringing new drives against opponents of the Red regime.

A voluminous communique issued after a meeting Jan. 14-18 of the top Chinese command in Peiping referred again and again to the food shortage, which was blamed on the "most severe natural calamities in a century following upon serious natural calamities of 1959."

The Communists reported last month that 150 million acres were hit by these calamities. No figures were listed in the latest report, but it left no doubt about the seriousness of the problem.

The official New China News Agency reported a four-day cold wave in Kwangtung Province, South China, destroyed part of the winter crop, especially sweet potatoes, a staple food of the toiling masses.

The Peiping communique said, the agricultural setback led to a shortage of raw materials for light industry. The leaders ordered that new sources of material along with increased production be achieved to "ensure the supply of the people's daily necessities as far as possible."

"The tasks in 1961 are extraordinarily great and arduous," the communique said, "but the difficulties can be overcome."

The Communists claimed that more than 90 per cent of the population is loyal to the Red regime and is putting up with their "temporary difficulties."

However, it reported "an extremely small number of landlord and bourgeois elements have not yet been sufficiently remolded and are always attempting a comeback."

This element was charged with taking advantage of the difficulties, along with "some shortcoming in the work at the lower levels to, carry out sabotaging activities."

A Devotional For Today

Every one therefore who shall confess me before men, him will I also confess before my Father who is in heaven. (Matthew 10:32. ASV.)

PRAYER: Dear Father, help us each day to serve Thee in words and deeds. Teach us to be mindful that to win others to Christ we must first take our own religion seriously. We ask these things in the name of Jesus, who taught the early disciples and us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From The "Upper Room")

The People Have A Right To Speak

The Herald in its Sunday edition carried the results of a survey which showed a large proportion of downtown business operators in opposition to continuing one-way traffic on Rummels and Scurry, and Second and Fifth Streets.

And many of them were critical of a new outbreak of loading zone markings.

Well, this is not entirely surprising, and it is to be expected that a change in patterns as drastic as the one-way system would evoke some opposition. As long as we live in a free country, a man can express his opinion, and hallelujah for that. His opinion might not be the correct one, but it's his.

Which leads us to the disturbing facet of this Herald's informant. This was the apparent feeling on the part of many business men that their protests to the city administration would be unavailing.

We ourselves have voiced a protest against too much experimenting in the municipal engineering department, at which must be considerable cost. When such a position is expressed, the newspaper gets phone calls saying "you're sure right." But when the editor suggests that the opinion should be directed to the city management, the answer almost always is, "Oh, that won't do any good."

We feel that it should do some good. We are not in a dictatorship here yet. Responsible public officials — and Big Spring certainly has them — surely will give full and courteous hearing to suggestions or criticism honestly made in good faith. And if there are enough protests to certain policies or procedures, we can't help but think that these would come up for review. And if individuals were found to be at fault, they could be corrected.

We always thought the utterance, "You can't fight city hall" was a joke. Surely it is.

The Federal Strings Attached

In urging that Federal funds be withheld from racially segregated colleges and universities, the U. S. Civil Rights Commission points a course which probably appeals to a great many Americans. Why, after all, should the Federal Government subsidize institutions where orders of the Federal judiciary are flouted, sometimes violently?

The question, at first glance, seems reasonable and the answer, self-evident. Such disobedience is intolerable, so let the Federal Government punish the recalcitrant by denying its bounty. But the desire to "do something" about such spectacles as the recent spasm at the University of Georgia ought not to blind those outside the South to the implications of the Commission's recommendation.

Impatient with progress in the courts, the Commission proposes to advance civil rights by exerting the coercive power inherent in Federal aid programs that have nothing to do with civil rights. Here, if anyone doubted it, is proof of the proposition that Federal aid to education leads inevitably to Federal control. So far as the principle involved is concerned, it does not matter whether most Americans favor integration and wish to see the power of the Federal purse behind it. What does matter is setting a precedent which might have broad and doubtful application.

Suppose, as the Commission suggests, that a Presidential order were issued denying Federal aid to segregated schools. If that precedent stood, would Federal educationists fail to use this punitive power against other aspects of education which displease them? It is not so long a step as some may believe from imposing sanctions against colleges which disobey the Government in one respect, to compelling obedience to a broad range of Federal "standards" embracing the choice of faculty, textbooks and curriculum.

It's odd but hardly surprising that we hear so much these days of the need for new and expanded Federal aid to education, but never a word about the invisible strings tying every Federal dollar to Washington.

The Danger Period In Government

WASHINGTON — The flavor is Hollywood. Noted theatrical stars perform, as the money for tickets helps pay political expenses, but there is surprisingly little interest in just how these were incurred.

Despite the weather, the watching crowds and the parades along historic thoroughfares are festive, as in a Roman holiday. The inaugural ceremony itself is reminiscent of the coronation of a king.

TWO MINUTES before noon one man is clothed with the power to defend the nation against surprise attack. Two minutes later a new President assumes that fateful responsibility. What a moment on some inauguration day for an unscrupulous enemy to choose! Assembled in an area of a few hundred square feet on the Capitol Plaza is the entire government—the President and his Cabinet, other key men in the executive departments and agencies, the justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, and the members of Congress—along with the military chiefs and sub-chiefs, the diplomatic corps, the governors of several states and their staffs, heads of corporations and labor unions, and a sizable number of the nation's leaders in all fields!

CONTINUITY in government is purely theoretical. Transition is being described as "smooth," but this is mostly because it is accomplished without personal rancor or ill feeling and in a spirit of co-operation and helpfulness.

"Continuity," moreover, is an ironic word. The transition in government really means confusion as there is a changeover of 90 top executives and sub-executives. Take away at one time even 25 such personnel from a corporation as big as General Motors, and the wheels inside inevitably stop though outwardly everything looks the same. And the national government's budget is many times that of any single American company. Most of the officials in the new administration here will not be familiar with the background of their jobs for months to come.

APART FROM the desires of the politically victorious to celebrate—and they are happy and gay in their triumph—the

Mr. Eisenhower has suggested that the inauguration be held in the autumn soon after the election and at least 90 days before Congress is convened in January. This might help on the weather side and reduce somewhat the confusion of the present method of transition, but the flaws in the system are more basic. The need is for fixed terms that do not expire at the same time in all important administrative offices below the Cabinet level. It may take a disaster some day to awaken public opinion to the dangers of the present slipshod system of "transition."

If you dwell on a tropical isle, you'd be less likely to get an ulcer, a heart attack or a mental ailment. On the other hand, here in the good old temperate U.S.A., you are likely to live longer, have more energy, be more creative, and suffer fewer infectious diseases.

Let the rest of the world get the notion America is fat and tired, he said. "The torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans."

And indeed it has, to such a degree that American leadership now is the youngest of any major power. The leaders of Russia, Red China, Britain, France and West Germany are old or aging.

BUT HIS USE of the word "generation" has a special meaning for those Americans who were alive and listening when President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the crisis of the depression said his generation had a "rendevous with destiny."

Kennedy made no such hopeful promise for his generation.

He said in the presidential campaign he did not know what the future would bring "except hard times" in the international sphere."

Because this is probably a conviction with him, it explains why he said in his inaugural that the work ahead will not be finished "in the life of this administration, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet."

His words were almost identical with a man of a generation before him and Roosevelt — Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal—who, looking ahead in 1948, said: "Not in our lifetime, or in that of the next generation, do I foresee the time when a strong military potential will not be needed to back up our diplomacy."

KENNEDY DID NOT get that blunt in the inaugural speech. But his views — like those of Presidents Truman and Eisenhower before him — are the same as Forrestal's as he showed during the presidential campaign when he said: "Peace requires an American defense posture strong enough to convince any potential aggressor that war would be a mistake. This means we must have a military force second to none."

I still haven't mentioned what I'd do with a backache like Mrs. E. V.'s, but I will tomorrow.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My girl friend uses rubbing alcohol for her skin blemishes. Is this good? I have heard of several people doing it. —S. F."

Some blemishes can be due to bacteria, and since rubbing alcohol is about 70 per cent alcohol it is a good antiseptic. Hence I see no objection to using it. It may tend to dry the skin a bit, however.

NOTE TO N. N.: When I think of all the people who would give anything to get their blood pressure DOWN to 120, I wonder why you're so set on raising yours? It's normal for some people to have low blood pressure and it doesn't harm them in any way.

Removal of tonsils is a serious matter. You will find my views on tonsils in my pamphlet, "Don't Trifle With Tonsils." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all readers' letters and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but he regrets that, because he cannot answer letters individually, they are not published.

Sea Monsters, Drive-Ins And Hotel Clerks

One thing and another: The sea monsters are supposed to be out again.

Down Chile way, there are reports of sea serpents lurking in the dark, noiseless trench, two to four miles below the surface, a big hole in the earth that extends south from the Isthmus of Panama along the South American coast.

A marine biologist, Dr. Robert J. Menzies, says he almost caught one with a giant hook. He used a big squid as bait and got the hook back — badly bent, large and strong as it was.

A two-inch shellfish called the Neopilla, believed to have been extinct more than 300 million years, was recently taken alive from the waters.

AN OUTDOOR movie theatre equipped with pipes blowing hot air into cars recently went into operation in Detroit. The same pipes, of course, can be used to cool off the occupants of the vehicles in the summer time.

When the drive-in theatres come up with a roof to keep the rain and snow off the cars, they've got it made.

I LIKED THE story ex-president Herbert Hoover told to Cardinal Spellman and others at the football oldtimers' dinner held recently in New York City: Southern Methodist was playing Notre Dame. Crowds for both teams were going wild and among them two nuns got up and cheered frantically for SMU.

"Sisters," reproved a priest, "Don't you know that Notre Dame is of our faith?"

"Yes, father," replied one of the nuns, "but we're from Texas."

IF YOU HAVE trouble getting a hotel room at a big city convention site or during the time of a big athletic event or political rally, you might try what one man sometimes does to meet the situation.

He goes up to the desk clerk with a $10 bill folded in the palm of his hand so the numerals of it are plainly visible and flashes it for an instant to the clerk.

"Do you have a reservation for so-and-so?" he asks.

The clerk has been known to flip through the reservation cards and answer: "Yes, we certainly do."

While the clerk's back is turned to make his phony search, the man seeking the reservation swaps a dollar bill for the $10. He registers and then shakes hands with the clerk, thus handing the bill to the clerk.

The clerk, more than likely, slips the bill into his pocket without looking at it. You can imagine the clerk's reaction when he examines the bill later.

General Motors Makes Sales Mark

George Romney, of American Motors Corp., unquestionably has been the automobile industry's man of the year for several years running, but not in 1960, and we'll have to see about 1961.

Romney succeeded in '60—make no mistake about that. But he did what he had been doing for several years—plugged the Rambler and the compact car. He got about 7 per cent of the market, matching his 1959 total, which almost doubled his 1958 performance, which more than doubled 1957.

FAR LESS spectacular are the percentage gains of General Motors Corp. None the less, the manner in which Frederick H. Donner, chairman, and John F. Gordon, president, increased GM's share of the market from 46 per cent in 1959 to 48 per cent in 1960 (excluding foreigners) merits medals, plaques, and kudos from this country's sales and marketing organizations.

General Motors launched the Corvair on the compact-car market without impairing the position of the standard-size Chevrolet. Corvair's 3.9 per cent share of the 1960 market was a pure plus on top of Chevrolet's 24.1 per cent, the same as in 1959. This brought the total for Chevrolet-Corvair to 28 per cent, almost the same as in '58.

IN CONTRAST, the Ford standard car commanded 24.5 per cent of the market in 1958 and 24.1 per cent in 1959, but fell to 13.7 per cent in 1960. The success of the Falcon, which pushed ahead of American Motors' Rambler as the top-selling compact, lifted Ford-Falcon production to only 21.2 per cent.

At Chrysler, Plymouth output dropped from 7 per cent of the domestic total in 1959 to 3.8 per cent in 1960; Valiant's mounted from 0.4 per cent to 3.5 per cent. For the two years the Plymouth-Valiant were nearly static: 7.4 per cent and 7.3 per cent, as you can see:

Per cent of Total Production	1958	1959	1960
Plymouth	8.6	7.0	3.8
Valiant	—	0.4	3.5
Total	8.6	7.4	7.3

One-Sided Versions About Cuba

Is objectivity possible in our age? Must contemporary history, journalism, even drama and literary criticism always be ideologically bent and colored?

There are two polarized views of the Cuban revolution. One is that it is Communist in form, intent and control. The other is that it is the just rebellion against a corrupt alliance between Cuban crooks and foreign imperialists. The former is taken by Nathaniel Weyl, a reformed Communist intellectual, in "Red Star Over Cuba." The latter by E. Wright Mills, a Columbia University professor, in "Listen Yankee."

AT THIS MOMENT in history, most of the people in the U. S., and most of the "experts," subscribe to the former view. However, something can be learned by reading both these books and weighing the conflicting evidence they present.

Both books are based on the overdue "conspiracy" theory. Weyl says that the Cuban revolution is but a part of the vast plot of international Communism. He says that the U. S. State Department, through ignorance or treachery, failed to alert the American people, and the American press was tricked into publishing Castro propaganda as absolute truth. He accuses Herbert L. Matthews of the New York Times and Edward R. Murrow of CBS of deceiving the American people. Weyl says of Matthews:

"WHEN AN AMERICAN correspondent takes sides in a foreign civil war, a proper question is whether his dispatches are designed to inform his own countrymen or to misinform that foreign faction or government which he considers he is fighting."

Weyl says that there was a clique of "leftwingers" in the State Department who forced the U. S. government to adopt a pro-Castro policy in the latter days of the Batista regime, cutting off shipments of military supplies just when they were most needed. He cites testimony of ex-Ambassador Smith about the misguided activities of the State Department "In-Basket Brigade." This "middle echelon clique of pseudo-liberals and semi-incompetents" had a disastrous impact on U. S. policy toward Cuba, according to Weyl.

MILLS ALSO sees a sinister group lurking in the shadows, yet controlling American policy toward Cuba behind the backs of the American people. His villains are "the vested interests of U. S. corporations."

Mills blames most of the Cuban misery, poverty, disease, hunger, ignorance and illiteracy on selfish, grasping U. S. corporations, drunken, lecherous tourists and the gangsters. It's almost that simple in his presentation. The government of Fidel Castro is merely trying to extirpate the evil wrought by U. S. corporations in Cuba, says Mills. This is, of course, the line Communists are using all over the world.

MILLS, WHO WENT to Cuba and interviewed Che Guevara, Castro and others (with the aid of an interpreter), is an emotional apologist for the Cuban revolution. Most of his book is in the form of an insidious letter from a composite Cuban revolutionary to the American people. It is repetitious and almost unreadable in its foaming hatred.

An apology for the Cuban revolution would be a valuable document, if written by an intelligent, patriotic Cuban. "Listen Yankee" is written by a Latin-American "expert" who apparently can't even understand Spanish. Mills thanks "Juan Arcocha, Deputy to Carlos Fraquel, who interpreted for me in the many long interviews."

WEYL HAS WRITTEN a book on Mexico and works in the Latin-American division of a Federal agency. He seems to be well acquainted with Spanish source material. He is certainly more qualified than Mills to write about Cuba.

But both men have a message to bring. There is some truth, no doubt, in both these indictments. Any reasonably unbiased reader of the two books would come away convinced that the Castro government is vigorously serving the goals of international Communism. Castro himself is a strange creature and not the ideal Communist type. But the Communist movement is not as inflexible and doctrinaire as it is sometimes made out to be. Communism will continue to use Castro and his apologists as long as they serve the World Revolution.

Standing alone, neither of these books is of much value. Taken together, they are useful.

Public Hearing Tonight On Business Zoning

(This is the final article of three by Glenn Coates on the provisions of the new proposed zoning ordinance for Big Spring.)

Public hearing on one of the most important phases of the Master Plan—zoning—is slated tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the city auditorium. All residents of the city, and particularly property owners, have been invited to attend the hearing.

The proposed ordinance provides six zones for various types of business, commercial and industrial uses. In general, they will be designated in sections of Big Spring where such uses are now in effect.

These include:

ZONE NS
Businesses scheduled to be included in the Neighborhood Service District include barber shops, banks, florists, food stores, service stations, washeries, drug stores, professional and administrative offices, restaurants, variety stores, studios, etc.

Lots in this district must meet minimum size requirements of 60 by 100 feet. A 25 foot front yard area is required, but service station pumps may be placed within 20 feet of the front property line. Parking space must be provided: one space for each 200 feet of floor space for professional offices; one space for each four seats for restaurants, etc.

ZONE R
The Retail District includes bakeries, bowling alleys, hotels and motels, various retail stores, theatres, etc. Other requirements track the NS zone, regarding lot size and yard uses.

Off-street parking is another requirement and it is similar in scope to the NS regulations.

ZONE CA
The Central Area district is a section designed to protect and encourage downtown business, the heart of the city. Business types include generally, those now existing in the downtown area. Lot sizes are similar to other retail districts, however there is no front yard requirement. Side yards are dependent largely on the height of adjacent buildings.

No off-street parking space is required in this district and there is no height requirement.

ZONE C
The Commercial district includes, in addition to Zone CA uses, commercial amusements, cleaning plants, drive-in theatres, feed stores, motor car repairs, ice plants, motor freight terminals, paint shops, railway terminals, storage warehouses, veterinarian clinics, etc.

A 15 foot front yard is required and building height determines the side yards. Off-street parking is required on the same basis as required in Zone NS.

ZONE LI
The Light Industrial zone is set aside for such uses as hatcheries, grain elevators, auto salvage yards, light manufacturing processes, such as those which would not emit obnoxious odors, gases, smoke, and excessive noise.

Permanent residential construction is prohibited.

No lot size requirements are stipulated and yard requirements are relatively light. Off-street parking is a requirement and is similar to other commercial zones in this respect.

Any legal height is approved.

ZONE HI
The Heavy Industrial district allows just about any construction, but is aimed at providing an area for industrial applications that would be considered detrimental to other areas. Uses mentioned in the section include animal slaughter, acid manufacture, carbon black plants, explosives storage and manufacture, petroleum refining and manufacture, petrochemical plant, etc.

There are no lot size requirements and yard requirements are relatively loose. Off-street parking is required at similar ratios to commercial zones.

PLANNED DISTRICTS
This special category was included in the ordinance to allow a developer to build a complete section, such as a shopping center, as one unit. It would also include housing developments, industrial districts, medical centers, civic centers, etc.

Such a district would be considered by the planning and zoning commission, then recommended for establishment by the city commission. Every district approved under this section would be considered an amendment to the ordinance.

SPECIFIC USE PERMITS
The commission retains the rights to specifically authorize certain types of construction in various zones. These include airports, carbon black plants, cotton gins, colleges, electric generating plants, radio and television towers, race tracks, hospitals, drive-in theatres, quarries, mortuaries, slaughtering plants, refineries, wrecking yards, etc.

ADJUSTMENT BOARD
A board of adjustment is created in the ordinance, consisting of five regular members and two alternate members, appointed by the city commission. The members must be qualified voters and owners of real estate in the city.

This board is established to consider any requests for exceptions to the ordinance. It can approve exceptions regarding non-conforming use and permit modifications of requirements under the various zone restrictions.

The records and meetings of the board shall be open and be considered public records, open to the public at all times.

MAPS AVAILABLE
Maps of the areas where the new zones will be effective after approval are available at city hall in the office of Bruce Dunn, director of public works.

No auction sale was held and residents enjoyed a barbecue dinner during the noon intermission.

Sharon Kay Lee won 50 pounds of dog food upon showing her grand champion cocker spaniel in the dog show. Lathan Wood received second place honors with his beagle.

A Home Economics food and clothing contest featured both adult and student winners. The grand champion in clothing attire was Donna Craney, reserve champion, Lovanda Greenfield; first place, Margie Appletton; second place, Kay Earnest; third, Judy Echols; fourth, Bessie Coates.

The grand champion award in the food division was given to three freshman girls, Bessie West, Mary Connolly and Catherine Cantrell, for their German Chocolate cake. Other winners were: Mrs. V. O. Spring Fashions Are Devil-May-Care

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—The Paris spring fashion season got off to a devil-may-care start this morning with two collections that tried to outdo each other in breeziness.

The windblown look just covered the knees and usually left the waistline only semifitted.

Jacques Esterel's saucy show was full of drapes and fresh, frank colors, while Jacques Griffe got a similar effect with loose, middy blouses, pleated skirts, and wrist-length jackets.

Esterel owes his sudden emergence as a crowd-drawing dressmaker largely to Brigitte Bardot, who popularized his clothes. But he made a good try for sophistication, "saving" the curvy models for his "misses" dresses. Young girls, he says, want "everything to be seen at once."

Two-tone outfits are a great thing in the Esterel show. White jackets over printed or black skirts, matching jackets and blouses with contrasting skirts, and skirts with a deep hem band of contrasting material are some of the changes he brings.

He revives such old favorites as jabots, in a nontrivial version of two big loops of silk at the neckline; corselet waistlines, halo hats, apron panels, vesper or vest tops, and V-backed dresses with a back-to-front look.

Esterel's waistlines are high, low, hardly there at all or fitted like a glove. Jackets run the same gamut from short bolero length to midhip to bottom of the thigh. Sleeves, mostly three-quarter or elbow-length tubes, are sometimes kimono-cut with the bottom and sometimes actually puffed. The sleeveless sheaths survive, but barely.

Esterel achieves a loose, free-and-easy general effect without actually being baggy anywhere. His high, glove-fitted waistlines have puffy bosoms, while his low waists have puffy backs.

Spring fashions will be a breeze according to Griffe. He opened his collection with a fluid draped line he calls "puff of wind."

His first models were breezy enough in tight, ankle-length pants, patent leather flats and flat caps. But the remainder was an ultra-conservative group of gently fitted wrist-length suits whose narrow revers met at the waist or just below.

Waists were passed by for a line just above the hips, marked by a belt or an insert of ruffled self material. Loose middy blouses and pleated skirts were topped by simple cardigans or straight collarless coats with a two-inch binding of self material. When not perfectly straight, coats were also belted just above the hip.

Dresses were loose sheaths with emphasis on a side drape, starting at either shoulder or hip. Hats dipped low on one side to balance the drape.
