Even The Pole Was Cold

Buster Carlile, left, and Mike Agee huddled with the totem pole at the YMCA this morning in an effort to keep warm against the below-freezing chill that belted the city. The huge pole, carved by and a gift from Nat Shick to the YMCA, was put in place Tuesday, just in time to help the youngsters keep warm.

Norther Brings Cold, Sleet To City

A fast moving norther, which replaced almost spring-like weather in rapid fashion Tuesday morning, toppled temperatures in Big Spring and Howard County to the lowest mark of the current winter. The U.S. Experiment Station reported that the low reading last night was 14 degrees and it was still barely 15 degrees at 8 a.m. By noon, the temperature had climbed to above 24 degrees but the ground was still gritty with a thin coating of sleet which fell during the night. Before the cold front pushed in, rains saturated the area. In Big Spring, the average precipitation measured was around .30 inch. However in other parts of the county much heavier moisture was reported. Vincent, it was said, had better than 1.70 inch rain; many sections of the county had more than an inch. Although the sleet left streets and sidewalks somewhat slick, there were no reports of serious accidents resulting from the storm. Motorists were moving with care and traffic did not seem to be seriously handicapped. The cold wave is to continue through today, tonight and Thursday, the Midland Weather Bureau reported. The forecast calls for continued cold with occasional light snow. Low for tonight will be in the neighborhood of 15 degrees. Texas Electric Service Co., said that icing had posed no major difficulties for it and that service had been uninterrupted. It's rain stations reported that Chalk had received .31 additional moisture since the report on Tuesday; Sweetwater 1.22; Eskota .83. The downtown offices of the TESCO reported .50 inches. Gauge at the switch station froze and burst so no measurement on rain there was reported. WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy tonight holds his first news conference since taking office. It will be a precedent-setting session on live television and radio.

Medics Endorse Oral Live-Virus
KANSAS CITY (AP) — The American Academy of General Practice Tuesday endorsed the use of oral live-virus polio vaccine as soon as it becomes available. The academy represents more than 27,000 family physicians. It was among 23 health organizations comprising a committee that concluded a conference in Atlanta on polio control.

Young Odessan To Be New President Of Big Spring Bank

A young West Texan with 15 years in banking and with an outstanding record of community service is to be the new president of the First National Bank in Big Spring. He is Lester W. Morton of Odessa, who is resigning as president of the American Bank of Commerce in that city to take the Big Spring position. He told The Herald today that he is arranging an orderly transfer of administrative duties at the Odessa bank, and plans to assume his job here around mid-February. He will become a member of the First National's board of directors. The board, in session Tuesday, also elected a veteran director.

Tom J. Good, ranchman, as vice chairman of the board. Board chairman is H. H. (Pat) Simmons of Odessa. Morton, 41, has served as president of the American Bank of Commerce since it was organized in Odessa five years ago. During his tenure, deposits in that institution have grown from about $3 1/2 million to over $16 million. The ABC recently moved into a new home, in a 14-story building, Odessa's tallest. Morton was reared on a farm near Hamlin and was graduated from Hamlin High School. He subsequently graduated from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, and went into the Air Force for World War II, serving as a 225 pilot in the Southwest Pacific. He joined the F&M Bank in Hamlin in 1946, then moved to the First State Bank in Abilene in 1949. He became cashier of that institution two years later, a job he held until moving to Odessa in 1956. He is married to the former Nita Fielder of Abilene and they have two children, Bill, 12, and Ann, 7. Last week Morton was named "Boss of the Year" by the Permian Chapter of the American Business Women's Association at its annual Bosses' Night dinner. He was cited for having served as first vice president of the Community Chest and United Fund, as a director of the American Red Cross, a director of the Odessa Day Nursery, and a member of the executive committee of the Community Chest. He is also a member of the board of directors of the Odessa Civic Concert Association and of the Odessa Symphony board. He has served as presidential advisor for the Chamber of Commerce and has been co-chairman of the Chamber's industrial committee. Morton is a deacon in the First Baptist Church in Odessa, is on its finance committee, is a soloist in the church choir and has served as member of various church committees. He told The Herald today that he and his family look forward to coming to Big Spring. "I have already met some fine people over there," he said, "and we look forward to meeting many, many more. We are going to try to be good citizens."

Annual YMCA Drive Appears In Doldrums

The annual YMCA membership enrollment program appeared in the doldrums following the report Tuesday. Only 18 per cent of the total goal have been reported. Over 250 workers began work Monday in a quest for 1,296 members. By Tuesday afternoon, only 237 members had been enrolled. Clyde McMahon, chairman of the program, urged division leaders to check their captains and workers to see that prospect cards are being worked. He said probably many cards have been worked, but not reported. Winston Wrinkle's division is still holding the lead with 81 members. Total for other divisions Tuesday were: Daryle Hohertz, 27; R. H. Weaver, 10; Arnold Marshall, 51; James Tidwell, 23; and Bill Quimby, 45. Only six individual "quota busters" have been reported. Granville Hahn leads the list with 13; Mrs. Roy Rosene is second with 11; Walker Eubanks has 10; Peggy Marshall has eight; Mrs. John Rudessel and Ted Snider each have seven. The quota for workers is six. Glenn Cootes' team is still leading the pack, the only team to go over the quota of 36. The team had 50 members reported by Tuesday. Three of the "quota busters," Mrs. Rosene, Mrs. Rudessel and Eubanks are members of this team. Harold Summers' team is second with 19 and third place is a tie between teams of H. F. Schwarzenbach and Bruce Dunn. They each have 17. Another report meeting was held at 5:15 p.m. today and the final day of enrollment is Thursday. Workers were urged this morning to report all prospect cards today so they can receive follow-up work if necessary.

HCJC Rolls Up To 457

Howard County Junior College's enrollment jumped upward today with a total of 457 reported at mid-morning. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that there were still a number who are expected to enroll who have not actually done so or have not yet cleared the business office. He said the final figure should substantially exceed 500. Classes resumed today and Dr. Hunt urged those who have not registered to do so as soon as possible. They may register either during the day or in the evening.

Wiley Witness Tells Of Seeing Speeding Truck

GLEBURNE (AP) — A former Abilene construction superintendent testified in the Roosevelt Wiley murder trial today of seeing two Negroes in a speeding truck the day L. H. Canada of San Angelo was knifed to death. Charles Holland, one of five witnesses during the morning, told of seeing the milk truck and a pickup truck parked off the highway near Sterling City Oct. 24, 1958. He said the milk truck later passed him at high speed. He said two Negroes were in the truck. Wiley, 28-year-old Odessa Negro, and another Negro were arrested with murder in the San Angelo milk truck driver's death. Another witness, Kenneth Slate, who worked for the same San Angelo milk company, testified that Canada was known to carry a large sum of money. A daughter of the victim, Mrs. Ella Macken, appeared briefly to give a description of her father. An all-white jury of 11 men and one woman was selected Tuesday for Wiley's second trial on a charge. A death sentence assessed him in an earlier trial was set aside. A Labcock jury convicted Wiley of the slaying Oct. 24, 1958. The Court of Criminal Appeals voided the conviction on a defense contention that a juror had been influenced by reading a newspaper account of a parole prisoner committing a second murder.

Poll Tax Sales Brisk At Refinery

Poll tax sales were brisk at the Cosden refinery Tuesday where a special tax deputy had been assigned by Mrs. Zerah LeFevre, county tax assessor. One hundred and thirty-one receipts were issued during the day. Monday, the deputy operated at the Cosden office building and issued 30 poll tax receipts. The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce paid the salary of the special deputy for this work. She worked a day each at the Veterans Hospital, Webb Air Force Base and a day at each of the two Cosden locations.

Aircraft Close In On Captive Liner

Icy Sheath Chills Texas

A vast and slippery sheath of ice and snow held much of Texas in its grip Wednesday. The Weather Bureau said no real relief is in sight until Friday at the earliest. The storm resulted in six deaths, at least four school bus wrecks, tore down uncounted utility lines and poles and snarled traffic. It caused scores of schools to close. The storm, which rose to blizzard intensity for a time on the South Plains, stretched from the Panhandle deep into the central and southwest areas around San Antonio and Austin. It reached from East Texas west across the Big Bend Country. The strength of the storm and the amount of ice and snow varied widely. Fears of suffering arose momentarily when an explosion and fire damaged a natural gas processing plant near Cisco in West Texas. But the damaged portion of the plant was bypassed and non-owner service continued. Industrial users were asked to curtail their gas consumption to make certain homes remained warm. Snow up to six inches fell around Plainview, where conditions Tuesday were called of blizzard proportions by the Weather Bureau. By mid-morning, the line of ice reached Houston, almost on the coast, and streets there became very slick. Police warned drivers to proceed with great care. Three school buses hit fixed objects in the Fort Worth area—at Kennedale, Arlington and White Settlement. Another overturned near Seminole. No injuries occurred.

COLDEST OF YEAR
Many cities and towns called it the coldest weather of the year. Post, in the Lubbock area, reported 3 degrees above zero. Among schools closed were numerous ones around Dallas, Vero and Grape Creek near San Angelo, Johnson City and Manchaca in the Austin section, several schools around Ranger, including Ranger, Olden and Scranton. Also Roby, O'Brien, Colorado City and Snyder in the Abilene area, Spur in the Lubbock section, St. Peter's parochial school in Fort Worth, Crowley, Decatur, Kennedale, Jacksboro, Paradise, Burleson, DeSoto, Bridgeport, Cedar Hill and Pooleville in the Fort Worth region. Utility workers labored around the clock to replace poles and lines felled by heavy icing. The worst conditions appeared to be on the South Plains. Abilene reported its whole area covered by ice, sleet and snow. Abilene reported 34 accidents and 4 injuries Tuesday on city streets. Continental Airlines at Abilene shut down because of icy runways, cancelling seven flights. In the Lubbock section, most school buses were picking up children only when they resided on paved highways and streets. Reese AFB at Lubbock advised personnel living off the base to stay home. The Big Bend Country was covered with one to four inches of snow and ice. The State Highway Department reported all main roads open, although traffic was advised to move with great caution on some. A slight warning trend was expected Friday but more cold weather was in store by the first of next week.

City Crews Stand By To Fight Ice

Streets in Big Spring were not hazardous enough to cause accidents during the past 24 hours, although the regular rash of collisions took up police time. Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said the city had trucks with gravel standing by in case of freeze-overs but that they had not been used. Highways over the area were all open, but the Texas Department of Public Safety advised caution in driving. Some bridges were slick and areas holding moisture were iced over. Only four accidents were reported since Tuesday morning in Big Spring. These involved: Samuel McComb, 311 E. 13th, and James Reynolds, Stanton, at 1st and Scurry, as drivers; Kenneth Griffin, 2309 Scurry, and Edna McGregory, 1910 Johnson, at 12th and Austin, drivers; Susan B. Zack, 1603 Indian Hills, and Margie B. Haines, 217B Langley, at 10th and Johnson, as drivers; Josephine Duff Davis, 805 W. 17th, and Floyd Hallam, at 1900 Goliad, as drivers. Mrs. Thelma Price, 1610 Gregg, reported that someone had crashed into her garage. Police arrested a man later and charged him with failure to control his speed to avoid an accident.

MOTHERS SET POLIO MARCH FOR THURSDAY

The Mothers' March for the March of Dimes will move forward on a record scale here Tuesday evening. Mrs. Howard Stephens, who is chairman for the Mothers' March, said that the door-to-door appeal would be made from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Residents were urged to aid the effort not only through generous gifts but also by having the gifts ready when the mothers knock on the door. Best response on record has greeted the Mothers' March to date, said Mrs. Stephens. Every one of the 10 elementary school district P-7As participating and an estimated 300-400 women will take part.

John Mabee Dies In Tulsa

John E. Mabee, millionaire philanthropist, died Tuesday in a Tulsa, Okla., hospital. He was 81. Entering the hospital Jan. 9 for a routine checkup, Mabee suffered a coma and remained in the hospital until his death. Widely known for his land and oil holdings throughout Texas and Oklahoma, Mabee was a native of Cedar County, Mo., and had an estimated wealth of 75-100 million dollars. He organized the J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation in 1948 which provided generous contributions to hospitals, schools and charitable organizations. Awarded a Doctor of Humanities degree from the University of Tulsa and a doctor of laws from the College of Emporia, Kan., Mabee gave $700,000 to Abilene Christian College, Abilene. Mabee, a sharecropper at 21, hit gushers on two of his first oil wells in 1919 in Burkburnett, consummating in the formation of Mabee Oil and Gas Company in 1940. He owned enormous herds of Hereford cattle in Texas and Oklahoma. His holdings included acreage in Martin County and the Mabee field was named for him.

Toy Maker Dies

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Alfred Carlton Gilbert, 76, noted toy manufacturer who invented the Erector set, died Tuesday of a heart ailment. He was founder and chairman of the board of A. C. Gilbert Co., and had served as president until 1954. He was born in Salem, Ore.

Portuguese Report Ship Is Located

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—U.S. Navy planes closed in today on the reported position of a mystery ship in tropical Atlantic waters and Portuguese authorities said the captive liner Santa Maria has been located. American confirmation of this was lacking, with Navy men saying they will not consider the Santa Maria located until it has been sighted and identified. But the Portuguese seemed convinced that the vessel trailed by monitoring of its radio is the Santa Maria. Rear Adm. Sarmento Rodrigues declared in Lisbon the liner "will be sighted within a few hours." The Portuguese frigate Pedro Escobar put to sea and a standby order went out to all Portuguese naval commands in the West African colony of Angola, the Azores, the Cape Verde Islands and Mozambique—all areas controlled from Lisbon. SALAZAR FOES The 20,906-ton liner was seized Sunday by enemies of the Salazar regime in Portugal. At the time the vessel was between Venezuela and Florida, on a course to set some of its 600 passengers ashore at Port Everglades, Fla., Tuesday. Four twin-engine Neptunes of the U.S. Navy circled over a 100-mile radius centered 400 miles east of Guadeloupe, a French possession in the Leeward Islands. They were following a radio fix, a method by which monitoring stations compare notes to determine the location of a transmitter through triangulation. Portugal's navy gave approximately the same position. They said the Santa Maria was located 550 miles east of the Windward Islands, southern neighbors of the Leeward Islands. The Santa Maria, with Henrique Malta Galva's hijackers in command, paused Monday off St. Lucia, one of the Windwards, and sent ashore eight crewmen, including one wounded severely by gunshot in the battle for the ship. ALL WELL Messages from the Santa Maria this morning, handed in an exchange with an RCA station at Chatham, Mass., were "All well—don't worry" assurances from passengers to their homefolks. A Navy spokesman at San Juan headquarters directing the search for the Portuguese liner said a radio fix had been obtained on a ship 500 miles southeast of Barbados that "might be the Santa Maria." A check of that area proved fruitless.

Petition Sparks Debate Of 1-Way Traffic System

One-way streets came in for considerable discussion by the city commission Tuesday night following a petition said to be signed by about 400 Big Spring residents. The petition asks that the one-way streets be abolished and that traffic be allowed to flow in both directions. The commission turned the problem back to the traffic commission with instructions to make a survey of business downtown, of residents all over Big Spring, and with the police traffic division. The report is to be made at the next regular commission meeting Feb. 14.

The one-way street traffic flow was started Nov. 13 on a trial basis with the idea of relieving parking problems, congested traffic on certain streets, and insuring ample fire lanes. John Stanley, of Stanley Hardware Co., as spokesman for the signers of the petition, said that "Nearly everybody we contacted wants to get the one-way streets changed back. People have come by and told us it is a problem. They get all excited when they turn the wrong way on a one-way street. It is definitely bad for business and is driving business to the community shopping centers."

Mayor Lee Rogers told the men that it was never the intention of the city commission not to hear justifiable complaints on any problem. "The one-way program was initiated on a trial basis. We acted in good faith," he said, "following a long study by citizens of Big Spring, in trying to maintain the business downtown. We were trying to keep a good flow of traffic and to relieve congestion on certain streets. If the new system is creating a problem and is diverting business, we want to know about it."

Rogers instructed the traffic commission to make a thorough survey among businessmen and residents and report back to the city commission Feb. 14. "We can determine then whether it would be advisable or necessary to call another public hearing on the matter," Rogers said. A. G. Mitchell, operator of Playland on Wason Rd., asked the commission to lease land in the city park where he might get away from the present area. "Following the public hearing on zoning Monday night," he said, "I feel that I must get the operation away to prevent further disturbance of the residents. I do not want to create a nuisance to anyone. The rides I operate can be moved to any place providing space and it would certainly create a better feeling in the area if I move out."

2 Die In Crash Near Sterling City

STERLING CITY—Two persons were killed and two others gravely injured in a two car collision on SH 158, seven miles west of here Tuesday. Killed were Santos S. Gallegos, 32, resident of San Angelo, who has been working in Midland as a cafe cook and Mrs. Frank Lucas, 26, Odessa, wife of Frank Lucas, 31, and mother of Sherry Lucas, 5, both of whom were critically injured in the accident. A light rain and some fog prevailed at the time the two cars collided. It occurred at 10 a.m., according to highway patrol officers, and the highway was slick. Gallegos was travelling east in his car and the Lucas family was apparently headed west toward Midland. Both cars were demolished. Lucas suffered multiple cuts, bruises, broken bones and shock. The child sustained a broken back and other injuries. Body of Gallegos was taken to San Angelo for funeral services. The woman's funeral arrangements are pending at the Lowe Funerals' Home in Sterling City.

Directors declared a 5 1/2 per cent dividend in the amount of $6,810.73. There was no interest refund because the charge is only three-fourths of a per cent per month.

During the past year the union processed 227 loans for $124,926. At the end of 1960 there were 160 loans outstanding for $141,927.94. Since organization the union has made 2,090 loans for $1,143,811.45. There were 280 shareholders with $146,714.65 at the end of last year.

At the meeting of the Cosdon Employees Federal Credit Union, which is the oldest of the groups in this area, all its officers and directors were re-elected. R. W. Thompson is president; E. W. Richardson, vice president; Otto Peters Jr., secretary-treasurer; Fred Beckham, Douglas Orme, George Zachariah, Arthur Tamplin, William R. Banks and William B. Crooker, directors. At the meeting Paul Soidan Jr. was awarded a television set, J. D. Canbie, transistor radio, and Wayne Bartlett a clock radio.

Since organization, the credit union has processed 12,907 loans for an aggregate of $6,872,129.45.

New Ordinance Regulates Junk, Auto Parts Buying

An ordinance governing the buying and selling of junk, used auto parts, and governing pawn brokers, was passed on the final reading at a long meeting of the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday night. It also passed the ordinance prescribing rules and regulations governing plates, plans, and subdivisions of land within the corporate limits and within five miles of the city limits.

In other business, a five-year lease was approved for the Teenage Baseball League of property near the city cemetery for use as a playing field; a proposal by E. C. Smith was discussed to form a water district southwest of Big Spring and to purchase water and possibly sewage facilities from the city; a report was heard on the paving assessment program, and proposed federal aid in construction of the new sewage treatment plant was discussed and approved.

OPPOSED ORDINANCE
Garry Thornton, who operates Thornton's Salvage at 1209 W. 2nd, appeared to oppose the ordinance regulating the sale of junk. "If I have to ask a man how old he is or where he got the junk, I feel I will have to close my business," he said. "If I get his name, his car license number, and his address, that should be enough. I think it would be embarrassing to ask a man where he got the junk."

A. G. Mitchell, deputy sheriff, told the commission and Thornton that he has had plenty of opportunity to discuss with junk dealers in other places similar ordinances passed by cities and that he has yet to find a dealer that did not like it.

DEALERS LOSE
"Under the present method of buying, a dealer has no way of getting his money back if the junk is sold," Mitchell said. "If a record is kept of the source, and a copy of the ordinance is available for all to see, the man who steals junk is going to hesitate in bringing it in to sell, and the dealer has a means of checking his loss. It also gives law enforcement officers an opportunity to identify junk from sources reporting thefts."

The new ordinance requires any dealer in junk or second hand materials to keep an accurate daily record of each article purchased, when purchased, and an accurate description of the person selling the article. All entries are to be made at the time of the purchase, and the book shall be kept by the dealer for open inspection by any peace officer. The dealer is also required to keep a copy of the ordinance posted in a conspicuous place at his business. No junk may be sold or removed from the place of business of any junk dealer within 48 hours after purchase, and it must be kept separate from other articles for 48 hours.

ANNUAL LICENSE
All junk dealers must secure an annual license and may not purchase from intoxicated persons, or minors unless with the written consent of parents or guardians. The ordinance prescribing rules and regulations governing plates, plans, and subdivisions was passed with two minor clarifications. The main clarification was in paving abutting streets where the owner on the opposite side would not pave. The developer would not be required to pave his half if he did not sell the lots abutting the streets.

E. C. Smith and Fred Coleman appeared to get clarification on the plat ordinance and the one regulating installation of water and sewer main extensions which was also passed. This ordinance provides for pro-rata charges for extensions. The commission agreed that the ordinance approved and would not come under the pro-rata provision. These lines will be considered as existing when the pro-rata ordinance goes into effect.

RIGHT OF WAY
A part of the land now used by the Teenage Baseball League as a playing field has been taken as a right of way for I.S. 20 highway route. Land owned by the city south of the cemetery was granted to the league on a five-year lease, with another five-year option if the city does not need the land.

One unit in the paving assessment program was approved and several others were passed over for future consideration. The unit is 22nd Street, from Gregg to Scurry.

A proposal by E. C. Smith to form a water district southwest of the city was discussed and referred to a meeting of CRMWD officials, city officials, and Smith. Smith said that he would need to purchase water from the City of Big Spring to develop the 640-acre plat. "The men furnishing the money to develop the area would lay all facilities, pave all streets, and provide sewer lines," he said. "What we need is the assurance of water."

haul their own but never make the dump ground with it. We also have some, like filling station and garage owners, who pay a regular fee to haul their trash once or twice a week. These have identification stickers on their windshields.

The individual business man who wants to haul his own trash may do so by paying an annual fee of $5. Residents will all be required to pay in the future. A person who hauls casual trash, like grass cut from his lawn, or hedge trimming and the like, may still do so.

QUESTION OF ABILITY
A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, told the commission that he did not disapprove of the water district but that he questioned the ability of Big Spring to furnish water after 1967. The question of whether or not the subdivision might incorporate at a later date and, if not, if it were annexed by Big Spring, assumption of the subdivision's bonded indebtedness might be too large.

More information is to be brought before the commission after the water question is discussed by the proper officials and a more definite figure of the possible demand and possible supply is secured.

The proposal to ask for federal aid in the construction of the new sewage treatment plant was discussed and a motion to apply for the aid was passed. Mayor Lee Rogers and Commissioner John Taylor were opposed to federal aid in any form and gave their reasons. Both felt that such aid was not in the best interest of any political subdivision except in extreme cases.

REGULAR FEE
The existing garbage and trash ordinance was amended to require every resident to pay the regular fee. "In the past," Steinheimer said, "we have allowed some to haul their own garbage. As a result we now have about 300 people who are free riders. They place their garbage cans just as others in the block do, and the collector, not knowing who has paid and who has not, pick it up. Some murder trial of Roosevelt Wiley, charged with the knife death three years ago of Shorty Canada, received a phone call from Cleburne last night telling him that his services in the trial would be required today.

He left on Wednesday morning for Cleburne.

He and Wayne Burns, county attorney, had been counting on the selection of a jury to try Wiley taking more time than it did. They had hoped the grand jury here could complete its work before Jones had to leave for Cleburne to fill his engagement as a witness.

A full day's work and more still remained for the grand jury, however. So today, Burns in charge, the county attorney is pushing ahead with the cases yet to be presented to the grand jury. It was estimated about 20 matters still remained to be laid before the jury at noon.

Jones will join Miller Harris, Leo Hull and Stanley Bogard, peace officers of Howard County, who are already in Cleburne waiting to testify in the Wiley case.

Wiley was arrested in Big Spring a few hours after he and a companion had slain Canada on a lonely stretch of road south of Sterling City on Oct. 24, 1957.

This will be the third attempt to try Wiley. The first trial ended in a death sentence for the defendant. The State Court of Appeals reversed this. The second attempt terminated in a mistrial when it was found a jury could not be obtained. Both of these trials were in Lubbock. The case had been transferred to Lubbock from Robert Lee in Coke County on a change of venue.

The case, after the mistrial entry, was shunted to Cleburne.

Meeting Date May Be Delayed
It seemed probable today that scheduled meeting of the Howard County Juvenile Board to determine the policy of the group on the duties of the new juvenile officer can not be held this week.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, had planned to call the meeting on Thursday or Friday but check of the other members showed all could not attend on either of those days. An attempt to set it for Saturday ran into the same difficulty.

Judge Carpenter and Ralph White, county commissioner, were in Sweetwater today attending a conference of juvenile officers and committeemen.

When Carpenter returns, a new effort to select a date for the meeting will be made, it was said.

The meeting is the result of a disagreement between the sheriff's office and the police department with the new county juvenile officer on just what the latter's duties comprise.

Two Men Held For Burglary
Burglary charges have been filed by the district attorney's office against Robert W. Jehring and Jack B. Hartwig. They are being held in the Howard County jail.

Officers indicated these men may be implicated in the same series of operations admitted by three men arrested in Slaton on Glasscock County orders earlier this week. These men, all airmen from Webb AFB, admitted, according to Buster Cox, Glasscock County sheriff, a series of robberies of pay telephone booths and coin-operated laundermats.

Odessans Grant Raises To Officials
ODESSA—Salaries of nine Ector County officials have been raised by $425 per year to a new total of $9,925 each.

The sheriff is receiving the $10,000 maximum. Commissioners left their own salaries at $6,800 per year plus $1,200-in-county traveling expense.

DEAR ABBY

WHOSE HEALTH?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 74-year-old man who is making his home at an Old People's Residence. I became acquainted with a very refined and pleasant widow here. Since we are both alone, I think it would be a good thing for both of us if we teamed up. I am beyond the age where a man thinks with his head, so I am thinking with my heart. In other words, I want to marry this woman so I'll have someone to take care of me in case I get sick. What do you think?

DEAR ABBY: Three months after my marriage, I saw my mother-in-law slip an airmail letter to my husband. Naturally I was curious, but pretended not to notice. The next day I found the letter in the pocket of his suit, so I read it. It was from an old girl friend of his. It was very mushy and I could tell from her letter she didn't know George was married. Her address was on the envelope, so I wrote her a nice friendly letter, telling her George and I were married and I hoped we could be friends.

DEAR "INSIDER": Your motives were mischievous and you know it. You should have been on the up and up; and having discovered the letter in your husband's pocket, handed it to him, unread.

DEAR ABBY: I have an unusual problem. We live in a suburban town and I entertain a lot. When I have guests, I always try to look my best. I put on my foundation garment, wear my best dress and make up my face. When my guests come, they say, "What are you all dolled up for?" This makes me feel foolish. THEY are all dressed up, so why shouldn't I be dressed up? I have gone to homes where the hostess looks a mess. She's either in slacks or jeans or looks just plain sloppy. Am I wrong to want to look my best? Why don't more hostesses try to look better?

DEAR ALL: Three cheers for you! When a hostess looks her best, it's a compliment to her guests. When she's careless or sloppy—it's an insult.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "READY TO GIVE UP": Yes, I can refer you to an excellent source of help. His name is God. And He is always available.

Insects May Have The Better Heads

A superior head, heavenly dust and tons of earthly reports engage scientists' attention:

HEADY TALE An insect's head is better than none. In many ways it is better than man's, suggests Dr. R. E. Snodgrass of the Smithsonian Institution.

The insect head has a variety of feeding mechanisms that can be changed to bite, chew, suck, or pierce, depending on what it is feeding on. It has both simple and compound eyes, antennae that are super-sensitive to touch, smell, and sometimes sound.

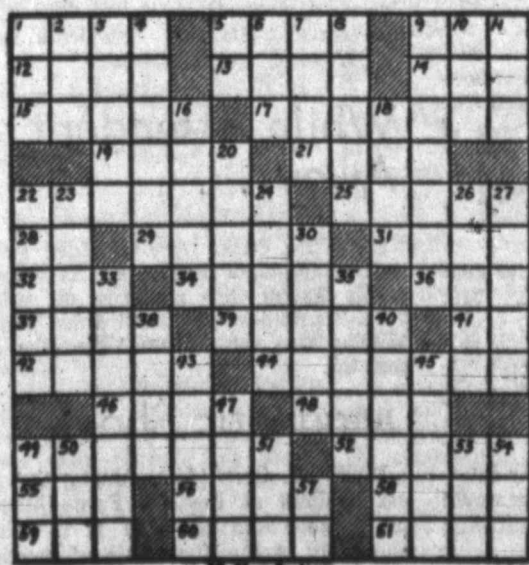

ROOT OF BEHAVIOR There is new evidence how our senses — our perception of the world around us — greatly influence our behavior.

Unusual behavior has been produced in cats by severing nerve bundles in the brain, in effect disconnecting the senses from the thinking part of the brain.

Venezuela Standing Against Extremists

By WILLIAM L. RYAN Associated Press News Analyst

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela today is going through a test of profound importance to the United States and Latin America.

While the rest of the continent watches, President Romulo Betancourt and his supporters are casting aside their fear of Castroism and its potential for mischief in alliance with communism.

The president's forces appear to be confusing and outwitting the Communist-Castroist combine.

They now have a good chance of inflicting a decisive defeat on the extremist alliance and of making it stick.

If they do this, they will have damaged Communist attempts to use Castroism for a heavy cold war offensive throughout Latin America. Venezuela's example can give courage to other continental governments fearful of Castro's hold on the imaginations of violently impatient young men.

MORE TROUBLE The Communists might eventually resort to tactics of desperation and this could mean more trouble for Venezuela.

The Communists and their Castroist allies suffered defeat in their early December attempt to topple the Betancourt government by means of a general strike. Betancourt's party, the Accion Democratica, supported by Social Christians of the Copei party, showed how tough it could be.

Betancourt's government suspended constitutional guarantees during the recent explosions of violence. They were restored Monday for nine hours, then suspended again with an announcement of new threats of rebellion by the Communists and their allies in the Movimiento de Izquierda Revolucionaria, made up of young hotheads who admire Cuba's Fidel Castro.

Betancourt a quarter century ago was himself a Communist, so he knows how they work. Today he is probably the man the Communists hate most in all Latin America. He is hated because he can block extremism of the Castro type which might lead to the chaos and confusion which is a classic Communist weapon of cold war.

IT CAN WORK They hate him, too, because Betancourt has set out to demonstrate that constitutional government can work in Venezuela.

Betancourt has brought his government through two years of storm in the wake of the fallen Perez Jimenez dictatorship. It has survived an attempt at a military coup and an attempt on the president's life laid to plots by dictator Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

At the same time the Betancourt government wrestled with problems inherited from an economy of waste and corruption under the Perez Jimenez regime. It is struggling with difficulties brought on by a flight of capital from the country at a time when many were unsure that Venezuela would not go the way of Cuba.

But today there is scarcely a man in Betancourt's Accion Democratica party who has any use for Fidel Castro. There is far less fear of the power of Castro than existed only eight or nine months ago. Above all, the vigorous and determined men who are Betancourt's top aides in Venezuela's struggle for economic and political stability, are exuding confidence that, no matter how formidable the problems ahead, they will get the job done.

Next: Ryan tells more of the problems that beset Venezuela and how the Betancourt government hopes to meet them with U.S. cooperation.

Bus Driver On Stand In Addison Case

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas bus driver took the stand again today to tell of his association with uranium promoter John Milton Addison, charged along with five others of mail fraud, conspiracy and violations of the Federal Securities Act.

Twyman Dew, a bus driver, related one of two first-person stories heard Tuesday on how it feels to give the 37-year-old Addison money.

Dew told a federal court jury of giving Addison $10,200 and how he "helped him collect another $4,400 from my relatives."

Melvin F. Hayes, Austin, was the other government witness to testify.

"John came to my house on June 9, 1956," Hayes testified. "He told me and my wife that he had about 200,000 acres of uranium leases and that one of the lease sites had about $150 million worth of uranium ore on it."

"He said that there was enough there to make us all millionaires."

Hayes said that he gave Addison a $2,500 check in exchange for a written agreement which promised him one-half of 1 percent of all gross sales from Addison's mining ventures for the next 50 years.

Hayes said a second agreement was given to him in exchange for an additional $300 which he gave to Addison and co-defendant Miles White to help them move the Benson uranium upgrader onto a mining lease.

The 37-year-old Addison collected $1.5 million in what he calls "loans" from more than a thousand investors to promote and perfect the upgrader.

Government attorneys said they will prove the upgrader does not work and never has worked.

A Decision Each Must Make

Colorado City voters are to ballot on Feb. 18 on a bond issue totaling $435,000. Proceeds would be used for improvements to the water system and for paving maintenance and construction.
The bulk of it ($385,500) would be used to install larger mains and other facilities at certain points in order to step up potential capacity of the distribution system to 6,000,000 gallons per day. In this respect, Colorado City's problem is not unlike that of other municipalities with an adequate supply but threatened with customer shortages during peak periods.
But by the same token that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, a water distribution system is limited by its bottlenecks. Most frequently these occur in the form of mains which have grown too small in view of demands which have been added over the years. Occasionally, there may be a need for a new loop or a new connection to form a belt around an area instead of a dead end line.

Redesign invariably means new and larger pipe and this costs money. So will the paving maintenance—$27,500 for seal-coating part of the present system, and $22,000 as the city's share in paving intersections of some 50 to 60 blocks.

These things and these services are all a part of the cost of growth. Citizens of each city must assess for themselves the cost of growing as against the cost of not growing.

Still Plenty Of Confusion

If anyone believes the confusion in the Congo is past, let him take a look at daily reports from Africa.
Premier Nasser of Egypt has asked the return of 519 troops which the United Arab Republic furnished as part of the 20,000 occupying forces in the Congo. On the heels of this, President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana has ventured that peace will return only when Patrice Lumumba is released and his government restored.
Not so long ago Lumumba, who had risen to a place of affluence presumably with the aid and blessing of Communists, was deposed and all the Soviet emissaries and technicians ordered out of the Congo. Lumumba was held in house arrest, later escaped, was recaptured and returned. In the process and on subsequent occasions he has been mistreated, abused and humiliated. One result has been to offer him the status of martyrdom to a certain extent; worse perhaps is that it has given his sympathizers such as Nkrumah a peg upon which to hang their complaints against the United Nations. Nkrumah wants to oust the United Nations force altogether and for the African nations to reconsider their membership in the U.N.

Part of this is for effect; part of it is a misunderstanding as to the function of the U.N. in the Congo. It is not to superimpose itself upon the government of the country and to usurp functions of civil government. It is to aid in maintaining a degree of stability in hopes that time will enable the Congo to supply and maintain that stability itself.

Kennedy's Inaugural Address

WASHINGTON — Just why did almost everybody here approve of President Kennedy's inaugural address — Republicans and Democrats, conservatives and nonconservatives alike?
The answer is: Because the speech expressed eloquently, forcefully, clearly the foreign policy of the United States — its traditional principles for decades past.

BUT WHILE America was thrilled by the speech, the Soviet Union conspired. This was a grim reminder of the problem faced by the new President. For he is being preceded — even as his predecessor — from talking to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain. Here are three passages which a Moscow dispatch by the United Press International tells us did not appear in the press of the Soviet Union:
"Let every nation know, whether it wishes well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and success of liberty . . ."

"TO THOSE NEW states whom we welcome to the ranks of the free, we pledge our word that one form of colonial control shall not have passed away merely to be replaced by a far more iron tyranny . . ."

"And let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain the master of its own house."
Presumably the Soviets didn't want to print anything that runs contrary to what their premier said recently in his professed opposition to "colonialism" or to be reminded by implication that there are several states now under Soviet domination which constitute a new form of "colonialism."

PRESUMABLY also the Soviet government didn't want its people to know of the resolutions of the new President of the United States when he warns the Soviet Union that the American people will be asked to "pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and success of liberty."
For this timely warning was but another way of saying that America will negotiate, is not afraid to negotiate, and is eager to "begin anew the quest for peace" but that this must not be construed as a bid for peace-at-any-price. Although the Soviet newspapers didn't print the speech in full — and it was very short — Mr. Khrushchev and the others in the Kremlin undoubtedly read every word of it.

THERE WERE ONLY a few sentences in the inaugural address which could be construed as relating to domestic policy, and it may also be asked: Why did these please all sides, or at least the conservalives? The answer is to be found in this memorable sentence:

"And so, my fellow Americans: Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country."
This places an emphasis on self-reliance and is the true meaning of the opposition to the "welfare state." This has been too often distorted as opposition to all reforms and to all progress, when the truth is no sensible conservative ever opposes direct intervention by the government in the economic life of the country in an emergency or when all other means have failed — as when private enterprise cannot finance a project essential to the general welfare. Incidentally, Mr. Kennedy's pronouncement parallels the plea for a responsible individualism proclaimed in an admirable statement by the Catholic bishops of America in their annual meeting here on November 20.

THE FIRST FEW days of the new administration have already brought out some interesting differences from the preceding administration. President Kennedy is an experienced politician. He knows his politics from firsthand contact with the organizations and its leaders. Mr. Eisenhower never knew politics. He was brought up in a different school of thought. The country rather liked his nonpolitical approach but, unfortunately, he lost many a scuffle over legislation and public policies because he was not a politician.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY has just chosen as chairman of the Democratic National Committee a very capable politician — John M. Bailey, Democratic State Chairman of Connecticut for the last 14 years. He is the man who sponsored the famous memorandum used at the 1952 and 1956 Democratic national conventions by the Kennedy managers to prove to the delegates that the Catholic vote can be a big asset to a presidential nominee if he is a Roman Catholic. It gave facts and figures showing how the Catholic vote could be influenced and mobilized. Mr. Bailey has been in politics for 30 years.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY will constantly keep his eye on the political weathervane. He didn't miss a trick during the inaugural parade as he waved and smiled to the various governors and leaders from those Southern states which supported him. His first speech to the Democratic National Committee last Saturday indicated that Mr. Kennedy will be leader of his party in fact as well as in name. Active politics in the White House is somewhat reminiscent of the days of Harry Truman or — if a Republican parallel is needed — the days of Theodore Roosevelt.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You don't have to be an archeologist to uncover ruins from the past, city officials are learning.

The worst drivers are unmarried teenagers and men who frequently change jobs.
Women appear to be better drivers than men, Dr. Schuster says, but they drive only a fifth the miles men do.

Utopia For Snoopy Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those plumpers of history, newsmen with an ear for leaks, have their work cut out for them in the Kennedy administration.
President Kennedy, starting his first full week in the White House, seems to have laid down a policy of hush-mouth.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was noted for not talking much when he worked in the State Department some years ago.

Rusk came away from the White House Monday, after talking with Kennedy, with the news the Kennedy administration wants quiet diplomacy.

Then there were the Democratic congressional leaders who perhaps for the first time had practically nothing to say.

When they came away from talking with Kennedy Tuesday, they may have been mumbling to themselves but they weren't even doing that to reporters.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson confided to reporters a piece of information which didn't send them racing for the telephones. He said the talk with Kennedy involved problems facing the nation.

It seemed only yesterday that President Eisenhower's congressional leaders could hardly wait to leave him before making statements.

This didn't mean they revealed much but, compared with the Democrats Tuesday, they looked like a bunch of chatterboxes.

If this clam-up is going to be Kennedy policy, it means reporters will have to work harder finding people who will leak news to them without being quoted.

Since Kennedy plans on having regular news conferences, perhaps he has decided that, if his administration does any talking, he'll do it.

This may explain the unlightening explanation by Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, when asked how come the quiet-

"We are not tightening information," Salinger said, "we're trying to coordinate it."
There was a particular reason for hoping Rusk would open up. Over the weekend Soviet Premier Khrushchev had called in the American ambassador in Moscow, Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., and talked with him for hours.

But Rusk brushed aside would-be questioners with a statement: "The value of the diplomatic channel depends on its privacy." He wouldn't say what Khrushchev had talked about.

Lift With Legs To Avoid Back Injury

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Today let's wind up our discussion about that prevalent bugaboo, the aching back, with a few tips on how to avoid it.
We've already mentioned the harm that can be caused by lifting. We've also mentioned, too briefly, that posture is important. The person with the least back trouble generally is the one with good posture. The person who has fallen into the habit of slumping, slouching, standing hip-shot or off-balance, is the one who has the most back trouble—again, a generality.

Why is this so? Because the spine, after all, is a tall column of separate bones, like a tower that a child builds with blocks.

These building blocks are held in place by the network of muscles, tendons and ligaments.

When the bones of the spine are correctly placed, one atop another (with the slight curve that is natural), the weight is supported by the bones themselves. A child's simple tower of blocks can support quite a weight as long as the pressure is straight downward.

But tip the tower just a little, and it buckles and falls. It is the same with the spine. Tip it, and the weight has to be supported by the network of muscles. Instead of by the bones.

That is why posture is so important. That also is why it is so important to know how to lift things properly. If you lift by bending the back and then straightening up again, you put the load on whichever of the back muscles are involved. Sometimes the load happens to fall on a muscle that you don't use very much. Result: A strained muscle and a backache, perhaps one that will last a long time unless you succeed in giving that muscle a chance to regain its strength.

Once injured, a muscle is in danger of being harmed again by a stress much less than the one which originally did the damage.

How to avoid these strains? When you are lifting something heavy, stoop down by bending the legs. Keep the back straight and vertical. If you do this, the back muscles are required only to keep the back in proper position, and the weight is borne by the bones.

Lifting with the back bent is inviting strain for some muscle that has to do the lifting in addition to guiding the spine.

Your leg muscles are powerful. Let them do the work.
"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking dry gelatin for about two years to strengthen my nails. It seems to have helped, but recently I developed a kidney infection. A friend told me that protein is bad for the kidneys. Is this true?—K. B."

Protein has nothing whatever to do with causing infection of the kidneys or any other organs, and you can be sure that the gelatin had no part in causing this trouble. It's true that in certain types of kidney disease (Bright's Disease) the amount of protein may be restricted, but that has nothing to do with what caused the trouble in the beginning. Maybe your friend heard about this and misinterpreted it.

Around The Rim

What They Want

Nicholas Goncharoff, the erudite former Russian who addressed the YMCA annual member banquet last week, has come away from his world travels with some definite impressions about what young nations, and particularly young people, want.

Perhaps some of these desires have always been characteristic of youth, but the application to nations on a worldwide basis is a phenomenon peculiar to the 20th century, he thinks. It may result in part from the opportunity of people from these countries to study in those in Western Europe and especially the United States. They have been awakened, they have been stirred, they have been imbued with admiration—and perhaps with jealousy.

AS A CONSEQUENCE, they want change for their countries. They want better educational opportunities, higher standards of living, a chance to participate in the resources and wealth of their nations, a chance to cash in on great technological advances, to push back the spectre of starvation and disease. They want intellectual achievements to have a place of power.

They want freedom. This may mean something different from our concepts, but they want to be free of domination. Ironically and paradoxically, many of the leaders feel that the masses don't have any conception of this freedom, and that therefore they are expendable if necessary to bring it about.

FINALLY, THEY WANT action. They have no patience with poverty and disease as their forerunners had. They are not so much concerned with whether the move is always logical and right as they are with the fact of motion. They just don't want status quo, even though the alternative may not be ideologically or actually better.

As a YMCA man dedicated to world service, he thinks that one of the greatest approaches would be through agencies like the Y and churches to help young leaders in other nations—particularly those now stirring—in an ambitious program to help themselves. A case in point is through the mission programs, the Y's World Service (which finances personnel) and its Buildings for Brotherhood (which gives aid in raising Y buildings in undeveloped or war-ravaged countries). Out of this, he feels, will come a conception of what is real freedom—the freedom of spirit.

POLITICALLY, HE has a feeling that one of the simplest and best things that the United States can do is to proclaim that it always is on the side of freedom. This may strain relations (although he thinks it actually might gain us more respect) with some major allies. This will attract the sympathies and the good will of millions of uncommitted people which not even material help would do, he believes.

Goncharoff, once a Russian tank commander and later a prisoner of war of the Nazis, can't get over the freedom he has found in the United States. Every day he marvels how wonderful it is to go to bed at night and know that unless you have committed some criminal act, that nobody will bother you. In this atmosphere, it is possible for the spirit of creativity to function, which after all, is an evidence of real freedom. —JOE PICKLES

Good And Bad On The Broadway Stage

One of the distinguishing marks of New York City is the fact that you can see real, live actors on the stage, providing you have a note from your bank—preferably one for a hundred dollars. Oh, well, let's not exaggerate. Fifty will get you a couple of good seats on the aisle.

Come now, tell the truth. You can get a pair for around twenty, if you have luck at the box office. Or for much less if you are young, have rubber legs and can stand. Or if Grandpa left you his binoculars, your hearing is good and you don't mind climbing.

FOR THE FIRST five years I was in New York, I sat so high up in the house I didn't even know there were seats called "orchestra" way down there on the floor.

We snuffed oxygen between acts. As for that, there are certain critics and patrons who feel a little oxygen here and there would improve the current season. But I just go on, year after year, loving square actors and what is poetically known as the living theatre, always excepting Tennessee Williams and all those angry young men.

ANGRY YOUNG MEN, my eye! It's the audience that ought to be furious. All that whining and self-pitying and carrying on. What those characters need is a good, swift kick in the rump, and a steady job with a pick and shovel that would keep them out in the open for about nine hours a day. And a shave. Yes, and an all-over bath wouldn't hurt, either.

But what I started out to say is that I have had a very fine time in the theatre this season. I'm the woman who likes "Camelot." Well, all but the last 12 minutes of it, and by that time even Hetty Green would have had her money's worth.

SOMETHING ELSE, too: Robert Gould, as Lancelot, is supposed to be the biggest matinee type to come along since John Barrymore. Matinee ladies supposedly choke on their dietetic chocolates. But if I were the age and type to stand outside a stage door, I would be swooning for Richard Burton, who plays King Arthur. A sigh guy.

From the very beginning, too, I cheered for "All the Way Home," which didn't have a critic's chance and was slated to close at the end of its first week. But word-of-mouth advertising kept it alive until this beautifully acted drama caught on with the public. It is still going strong.

It is heartening to have a drama on Broadway that doesn't have to depend on sadism, a golden-hearted tart, a drug addict, a homosexual or a menagerie of repulsive neurotics to pull the customers into the theatre.

THEN, "Little Moon of Alban" may not have been the greatest play in the world, but Julie Harris played as if it were. But even her lyric performance couldn't keep the play alive, although it ought to get her some consideration when the various critics' organizations begin handing around their "best" awards late in the spring.

As a disenfranchised theatre-goer, I also would like to cast my vote, nonetheless, for the best actor award. In the opinion of this theatre buff it ought to go by acclamation to Zero Mostel for a most extraordinary bit of acting legwork.

EIGHT TIMES each week, Mostel turns into a rhinoceros before the eyes of astounded, alarmed and fascinated audiences. Without a single prop to aid him in the transformation, Mostel nevertheless becomes a rhinoceros—snorting, bellowing and charging about the stage in a manner to raise the armor plate on the back of a real rhino's neck.

It is one of the finest pieces of bravura acting I have seen in a life of devoted theatre-going. All this takes place in the Ionesco play, "Rhinoceros." No one should ever be permitted to play the role but Mostel. I'd like to see him turned loose in a zoo. I'll bet all the other rhinos would be mad for him!

Big Vote Of Confidence For JFK

PRINCETON, N. J. — Although he won the election by a razor-thin margin, President John F. Kennedy starts his administration with the solid support of his fellow Americans.

By a ratio of nearly 9-to-1 among those with opinions, the nation's voters say they approve of the way he has dealt with the problems he has had to face since his election in November.

The vote of approval cuts across party lines. A majority of Republicans—as well as Democrats and Independents—say they are satisfied with Kennedy's performance during the "interregnum."

To determine the public's appraisal of Kennedy to date, Gallup Poll interviewers asked a nationwide sample of voters of all parties this question on the eve of the inauguration.

"In general, do you approve or disapprove of the way Kennedy has dealt with the problems he has had to face since his election in November?"

Here is the vote:

KENNEDY'S PERFORMANCE SINCE ELECTION (January, 1961)

Volunteered comments from voters indicate a general feeling that the Kennedy "official family" is made up of capable, intelligent, young men, whose talents the President made a special effort to obtain.

In an earlier survey by the Gallup Poll, the public indicated that it would be pleased if Kennedy were to select one or two Republicans for his Cabinet.

Six out of ten voters in that survey were in favor of such a move. In the present Cabinet, two men—Robert McNamara of Defense and Douglas Dillon of Treasury—are Republicans.

The Gallup Poll plans to keep a continuing check on the personal popularity of President Kennedy as it has done during the administrations of Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower.

March of Dimes coffees are planned by members of both Rebekah Lodges for Saturday morning, it was announced at meetings of the two groups in their respective halls Tuesday evening.

noble grand, who paid tribute to him.

BIG SPRING REBEKAH

Twenty-one attended and were served refreshments after the business meeting.

A March of Dimes coffee will be given Saturday in the home of Mrs. Albert Gilliland, 1016 E. 12th St., from 7 a.m. to 12 noon.

During the meeting Tuesday evening, Mrs. Dempsey and Mrs. Horace Smith presented a school of instruction dealing with the duties of officers and balloting.

At the Tuesday evening gathering of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284, Mrs. J. E. Brown, vice grand, was installed by Mrs. Tom Amerson, lodge deputy, acting district deputy president; she was assisted by Mrs. Gordon Gross, acting district deputy marshal and Mrs. E. F. Kehrer, acting district warden.

Initiation is planned for next Tuesday night for Mrs. R. H. Kebeley, elected to membership. Members were invited to attend the school of instruction, slated Feb. 7 in Lamesa. Sixteen were present.

Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, recording secretary, read an invitation from Mrs. Inis Greaves, district deputy president, District No. 11, to attend a school of instructions to be held Feb. 7 at the Berta H. Porter Rebekah Lodge No. 280, Lamesa.

It is up to the saved person to abide in Him; and he is so commanded (v. 4). To abide in Him, His words must abide in us (v. 7); we must live by the Old Book.

Thomas Willey, founder of the Odd Fellows, was honored on his birthday, with his biography recounted by Mrs. Harvey Harris.

We are faced with an "If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love..." (v. 10). Only if we bear much fruit are we His disciples (v. 24).

Beta Omicron To Assist MOD

A contribution to the March of Dimes was voted by members of Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Waymon Clark.

The group saw a film based on the fund drive.

A report on the sewing lessons being given at the special education school told of success in the classes. The chapter planned a Valentine party to be given for the pupils in the school on Feb. 14.

Refreshments were served to members and a guest, Mrs. Dan Long.

THINK! THINK! THINK!

Because they never learned how really to study, and as a result got poor grades in school, some people go through life thinking they are stupid.

Actually they may be quite bright or even potentially brilliant. A University of Southern California professor has proved that failure in school is often just a bad habit—one that can be eliminated and replaced with good habits that bring success.

How to establish such good habits is explained by Prof. Leslie J. Nason in clear and simple language that anyone can understand in a 15-part series starting Monday in this newspaper. It's called "You CAN Get Better Grades," and it's required reading both for students and for parents with boys and girls in school.

ACT! ACT! ACT!

And parents and smart students are going to want a copy of Dr. Nason's 52-page booklet, "You CAN Get Better Grades." It's a complete guide on proper study habits that can be a valuable aid during a child's formative school years.

Sites, Counseling On Trustee Agenda

School sites and the counseling program were discussed by trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District Tuesday. The meeting was one of a series which the trustees planned in order to familiarize themselves with the school program.

E. C. Smith, local developer, was on hand to offer the trustees a site in the Kentwood Addition. The site size is 12 1/2 acres and Smith offered it at a cost of $27,500 and he will provide paving and utilities. It would be about two blocks east of the present Kentwood Methodist Church.

Trustees took the matter under advisement and indicated they would continue to check into the availability of sites throughout the city.

A plat was received from Lloyd Curley on a site the trustees agreed to purchase several weeks ago. It is 20 acres near the Wasson subdivision on Wasson Road.

Then turning to the counseling program, trustees heard Frank Jackson, high school; John Yates, Goliad junior high school; I. J. Motal, Humble junior high school; and Mrs. Mary Foreman, elementary schools, explain their work and problems.

The counselors discussed their problems in assisting youngsters to select courses of study and preparing for college work. They pointed out that youngsters with personal and emotional problems also enter their field.

In substance, the discussion appeared to indicate that more counselors are needed in the system. Sam Anderson, assistant superintendent-curriculum, said a male and female counselor is needed in each of the secondary schools. The counselors agreed.

Testing programs carried on by the counselors were discussed, particularly on how teachers use test results in planning their respective programs. The counselors indicated great strides had been made in the testing programs as well as the entire counseling program here.

They expressed appreciation to the trustees for materials provided for use in counseling work.

Industrial Meet Slated Thursday

The Eighth Annual West Texas Industrial Conference will be held Thursday at the Windsor Hotel in Abilene. Sponsored by the Industrial Development Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the program will last from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Steve Matthews, executive director of the Texas Municipal League, Austin, will discuss the city's responsibility in industrial development; J. B. Thomas, president and general manager of Texas Electric Service Company, Ft. Worth, will give the luncheon address entitled "Don't Sell Texas Short."

Various industrialists from West Texas cities will group for panel discussions on how to market new products and handling competition across state lines.

Carrier, Planes Not Hurt By Fire

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The captain of the USS Saratoga says the aircraft carrier and her 75 bombers capable of delivering nuclear bombs were not put out of action by the fire that killed 7 crewmen and injured 35.

And Fun, Too

Members of Explorer Post No. 1 took full advantage of the ski trip last weekend to qualify for their ski merit badges, and mix in a little fun too. A photographer on the trip caught them in various postures, for instance David Stagg used a shovel to try the ski slopes, a bit safer than skis; Gary Richardson appeared mystified when he got first look at the Santa Fe Ski Run map; Nancy Thomas, Post's "Blister," proved anybody can do it and also qualified for the merit badge. Post advisors Capt. Gerald McMillan and Lt. Stanley Grant have a long list of other annual trips planned, including a raft trip down the Rio Grande.

Prisoner Riot Broken In Austin

AUSTIN (AP)—Fifteen county jail prisoners rioted for 30 minutes Tuesday before city and county lawmen could halt their yelling, plumbing-smashing spree.

The prisoners destroyed lavatories and commodes in a large maximum security "bank," flooding the sixth floor jail and causing officials to cut off the water in the county courthouse. Windows facing out on a busy street were broken.

C-City Council Winds Up A Long Agenda

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Council adjourned shortly after midnight Monday after a business packed five hours devoted to diverse items, including the setting of an election for a water improvement and paving bond issue totalling $435,000 for Feb. 18.

In addition, the council discussed fighting of fires outside the city limits; approved a contract with Parkhill, Smith and Cooper of Lubbock for engineering on construction which is proposed if the bond issues are approved; discussed possible pollution of the Lake Colorado City watershed; wished to spend $400 for the city's report for 1960 to be published in a tabular section of the Colorado City Record; and set a special meeting for Feb. 6 to hear the results of a study of Colorado City's water rates by Parkhill Smith and Cooper.

The proposed bond issue was the principal item of business with a panel session devoted to discussion of what the council felt to be Colorado City's needs in water and paving.

The two items will be presented separately on the ballot which will set out $385,000 for improving and extending the water system and a separate item of $50,000 for sealing and new paving.

Dr. John Chinn, the council's panel expert on paving, said the paving program could be completed without an increase in taxes by deferring any payment on the principal for three years. The paving will cost the landowner about $4.50 per curb foot. Dell Green of the First Southwest Company of Abilene, the city's financial advisors, told the council that the proposed bond issues would require "only a simple majority" for passage.

The city's contract with Parkhill, Smith and Cooper calls for the payment to the firm of 6.5 per cent of construction costs on the paving bond issue and 6 per cent on the water improvement costs for engineering and overseeing construction.

City Manager Earl Keaton told the council that the city's fire fighting contract with Mitchell County had expired and proposed that the present contract be renewed with the additional provision that the county supply the city with a vehicle suitable for fighting grass fires. Keaton added that the county contributed $1,690 in 1960 for fighting 28 fires. Keaton said that the average cost of answering a total of 90 alarms—both inside and outside city limits—in 1960 was about $200 each. The council told Keaton to discuss the situation with county commissioners and to report to the council at a later meeting.

In a discussion of the possible danger of salt pollution to Lake Colorado City by the reinjection of salt water in the Westbrook oil field, Keaton said that the Texas Electric Service Company, which owns the lake and has a big power plant on the shore, wished to employ a hydrologist to determine a safe depth to reinject the salt water brought to the surface as a byproduct of drilling operations. Keaton said that Texas Electric wanted the city to share in the cost of employment.

Mayor Bob Robinson, an independent oilman, explained the producer's point of view and told the group that there was apparently no danger of salt pollution if the salt stream was injected below any existing supply of fresh water. Dr. Chinn suggested that the council hear a representative of Texas Electric on the matter and the council took no further action.

Keaton proposed the council approve a tentative plan to publish a review of the city's progress in the past year in tabular form as an extra section of the local newspaper. Keaton said that the tabloid would be sort of an "annual report" and would cost $400. Engineer S. C. Cooper, now studying Colorado City water rates, will present his conclusions at a special meeting to be held Feb. 6. Cooper said his study was not far enough along so that he could present the council with concrete conclusions, but under questioning from councilman H. I. Berman said it would contain some provision for a service charge or demand rate to be charged persons or firms with large taps. Berman suggested that the council repeal the present ordinance, which collects a demand charge from residential users but exempts commercial users. Action was deferred until the Feb. 6 meeting.

Keaton also said that the new rate structure would reflect new charges necessary to retire the water improvement bonds.

Sonny Davis Is Top Rodeo Single Event Winner So Far

DENVER — From results tabulated today in the first two major rodeos of 1961, Odessa and Denver, Sonny Davis, Kenna, N. M., emerged the biggest single-event money winner at the two contests, with $2,895 earned in calf roping at the annual Centennial state classic.

However, the 225-pound New Mexico cowboy is trailing 1960's world champion calf roper Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, who won the Odessa roping for $1,852 and added $1,322 at Denver for a $3,174 total in defense of his title. The Colorado winter rodeo, which set a new high in attendance, sliced up $63,020 in prize money, to $18,130 at Odessa, and the variance in payoff sent other Denver event winners to the front in the sports standings.

Veteran contestant Bob Cullison of Hyattville, Wyo., leads rodeo's columns with $4,553, earned in bull riding and bareback bronc riding, at Denver, did not contest at Odessa.

The 40-year-old Freckles Brown of Lawton, Okla., ranks second, behind Cullison, with $2,867. Brown won $1,801 of that amount in the Denver bull riding, adding the balance $866 at Odessa.

Oklahoma's great Jim Shoulders of Henryetta now ranks fourth on the all-around standings' ladder with $1,149 which he pocketed in bull riding and bareback bronc riding at Denver. He also did place at Odessa.

Gay Weeks, Abilene, Tex., won the Odessa saddle bronc riding for $558 and finished fifth at Denver, worth $708, yet his $1,266 total was well below the $2,020 earned by Winston Bruce, Calgary, Canada.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Explains Golf Balls, Music

Dear Editor: The report on the public hearing of the new zoning code reflected statements which complained about golf balls being knocked into the yards of some of the nearby residents, and about loud music.

Since I operate a miniature golf course in the territory involved, I would like to clarify the situation.

I am sure that golf balls did land in the yards of residents, for some landed on my golf course. But these came from a nearby driving range, since abandoned, and not from the miniature golf course. It is a rare thing that we lose a golf ball, and then it is because a player may unwittingly pick up the ball.

The music came from an amusement park, and more particularly from a drive-in place (also now abandoned), which had dancing for teen-agers. On occasions we have been obliged to ask them to please quieten the music. As for my golf course, however, we have not had music out of consideration for our neighbors.

Sincerely, Vance Kimble Parkland Miniature Golf

Extra Meeting Planned Jan. 31

The Great Books discussion group plan an extra meeting this month, to make up for missed sessions during the holidays.

It will be Jan. 31 in the music building of Howard County Junior College at 8 p.m. Topics of discussion will be Moliere's "Tartuffe" and "The Misanthrope," and Leibniz' "Discourse on Metaphysics."

All interested residents are invited to attend the meetings. There are no charges.
