Realistic Christmas Card

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Don't be a civic slacker; be sure you have your poll tax receipt or exemption certificate by Tuesday evening. After that, it will be too late to worry about qualifying to vote, no matter what issue might come up. It's not too harsh to say that good citizens will see that they are able to vote this year.

There were few gaps in the weather menu for the week—sunshine, frost, clouds and mist, rain and sleet, and finally snow. The mercury dipped to a season's low of 14. During the week, we picked up one or more inches of moisture in the area. Lake J. B. Thomas came up .08 of a foot and thus added some 600 acre feet of water.

The March of Dimes experienced a good week with its most successful Mothers' March in history, thanks to the good ladies of the P-T-A units. They brought in $2,947. The high school journalism class had netted $128 and the private fliers penny-a-pound flights $406. Saturday night's donations based on the total points in the HJJC. (See THE WEEK, P. 6-A, Col. 4) ed that the snow was heavily saturated and melted down to the equivalent of 17 inch of moisture. It was pointed out that it takes a 10 inch fall of snow to produce moisture to equal an inch of rain.

Apparently the snow was heavier to the south of Big Spring. There were reports from Garden City that four inches of snow covered the ground, underlined with a slippery layer of tricky sleet. Travel, it was reported, had come to a standstill in the Glasscock county seat.

One fatality was blamed in part on the weather. A Mexican National was killed when the car in which he was riding overturned on a curve eight miles north of town at 9 p.m. Friday night. Officers said that the paving was slippery with ice at the time.

Numerous minor accidents were reported in town. A brief fall of sleet preceded the snow Friday night and streets were slick in the city on Saturday morning. Motorists were moving with extreme caution throughout the day. By mid-afternoon, traffic had beaten the ice off most of the heavier traveled streets and tendency to skid had diminished. City trucks put gravel on some of the more dangerous hills and intersections.

The temperature dropped to a chilly 16 degrees during Friday night but was pushed up to the high 30s Saturday afternoon. January promises to go down in the record books as one of the wettest in many years. The 17 inch moisture produced by Saturday's snow brought the Experiment Station gauge to nearly two inches for the month. Average for January for the 60 years that Farmers and ranchers are elated at the moisture January has produced. They look forward to the planting season with satisfaction, hoping that the same happy conditions will continue.

Lindsey Gets Death Penalty

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Ex-mental patient Richard Lindsey—whose parents said they were too poor to get him proper psychiatric care—must die in the gas chamber for murdering a 6-year-old girl who had a heart disorder. Lindsey, who admitted kidnapping, raping and killing Rose Marie Riddle, was sentenced Friday in a jammed courtroom that was heavily guarded because of public feeling against the slightly built slaver. He got a life term for kidnapping besides the death sentence for first-degree murder. "This is not the time for revenge or sympathy," said Superior Court Judge William L. Bradshaw. "These are the only sentences I can give for the crimes committed."

Lindsey, 30, was twice committed to mental institutions in Texas and has a record of auto thefts in Texas and Arkansas. His pregnant wife, Dixie, 23, was with him when Rose Marie was kidnapped Jan. 12 from a farm labor camp. The child's body was found Jan. 17 in a desolate area some 55 miles north of Bakersfield. The Lindseys were arrested in northern California.

Mrs. Lindsey is being held on suspicion of murder and kidnapping, but it hasn't been decided whether she will stand trial.

Nearly All Texas Held In Icy Sheath; 21 Die

No Relief Seen From Bitter Cold

By The Associated Press

Sub-freezing weather kept nearly all Texas in a vast sheath of snow or ice Saturday and added to the death toll from an ice storm the fore part of the week.

At least 21 persons had died as a result of the bitter cold and snow which spread a white cover up to 6 inches deep eastward from the Panhandle across the state by Saturday afternoon, and snow melted off busier streets and highways in some sections.

Temperatures started dropping again, however, in a few hours. Ice quickly returned and the Texas Highway Department advised drivers to use roads in all areas only in event of emergencies.

No relief from the numbing cold was in sight. The Weather Bureau predicted the mercury would dive as far as 10 above zero in the Panhandle by early Sunday. Forecasts promised readings well below freezing elsewhere except the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where an overnight low of 32 was expected.

While all roads were reported open, many were iced over completely. Even those in the south bore tricky ice traps on hills and bridges.

A blanket of snow up to six inches deep covered the northern half of the state. Snow fell as far south as Conroe, 40 miles north of Houston.

Freezing rain and sleet pelted the area from the snowbelt south to Corpus Christi and Del Rio.

The heaviest snow was in a band from Abilene to Fort Worth, Dallas and east to Kilgore.

Dublin, 79 miles southwest of Fort Worth, had 6 inches of snow; Waxahachie 5; Cleburne, Fort Worth and Kilgore 4; and Abilene and Dallas 3. It was the heaviest snow at Kilgore in years.

Levelland, 32 miles west of Lubbock, had a 5-inch snow. Elsewhere in the northern half of the state the snow cover was from 2 to 4 inches deep.

LATE BUSSES Intercity buses ran as much as three hours late. In many cities gigantic traffic tieups developed as cars stalled on icy hills.

At one time police counted 300 cars caught in a traffic jam on a hilly stretch of Marsalis Ave. in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas.

A car-towed sled carrying two Fort Worth youths slid into the path of a second auto on an icy highway curve Saturday north of Fort Worth and Tommy Wright, 19, was killed. His companion on the sled, Donald Crarer, 17, was injured.

In Duncanville, near Dallas, a searcher found the body of Benjamin Day, 87, in the snow Saturday near a rest home. He walked away from the home late Friday wearing only light clothing.

In West Texas, Manuel Armenta, 28, of Delicias, Chihuahua, Mexico, was killed Friday night when a car skidded on ice-covered U.S. 87 north of Big Spring and overturned.

A skidding car struck and killed Sherwood R. Williams, 81, as he walked along a snow-covered road near his home 1 1/2 miles north of Plainview to help his son move a stalled auto Friday night.

Severe cold and ice which glazed roads in Northwest, Central and East Texas earlier in the week were blamed for 17 deaths.

Skies cleared in West and North Central Texas Saturday and some of the snow melted. However, the forecasts were for more sub-freezing temperatures Saturday night, threatening a new cover of ice for highways.

The temperature dropped to 5 degrees at Dalhart and 10 at Amarillo Saturday. Readings in the interior were in the 20s and in the 30s along the Gulf Coast. El Paso had a low of 40.

Airliner Falls On Training Flight, 6 Die

AMAGANSETT, N.Y. (AP) — A jet airliner on a training flight rolled over in the air Saturday and crashed into the Atlantic Ocean off the eastern tip of Long Island with a loss of six lives.

No passengers were in the plane which cost $5 million. The victims aboard the plane were three instructors and three jet trainees. There were no survivors.

What caused the crash was not known immediately. Planes normally are put through more strenuous maneuvers on training flights than in regular passenger service.

The huge airliner, capable of carrying 179 passengers, had taken off from New York's Idlewild Airport, about 100 miles west of here, and crashed at about 1:15 p.m. in clear weather.

"The plane rolled over and over," said Capt. Frank Ward, a Montauk Point fishing boat owner, who saw the aircraft's last moments as he was driving west on Old Montauk Highway.

"It straightened out and then I saw an engine on fire," he said. "It headed toward the ocean."

He said he drove to a point opposite where the plane crashed and ran to the beach. "I saw nothing but wreckage," he said.

The accident was the fourth involving a modern jetliner in the New York area in the last two years—two of the planes on training missions. They cost 149 lives.

Juvenile Board Bill Offered

AUSTIN—Rep. David Read of Big Spring Friday put into the hopper a bill to create by legislative act a juvenile board in Howard County.

The measure is modeled after the 1959 Nolan County bill, but it differs in that the board would not be composed entirely of judges.

On the contrary, its makeup would be as under the present informal arrangement, namely the county judge as chairman, two members from the county commissioners court, two from the city commission and two from the Big Spring school board. The board is empowered to name the juvenile officer and set the policies of the work.

Bracero Is County's 1st Traffic Fatality Of 1961

A 28-year-old bracero from Chihuahua, Old Mexico, became Howard County's first 1961 traffic victim Friday night.

Manuel Armenta Estrada, who was working on a farm a mile east of Knot, was thrown from a spinning car and instantly killed at 9 p.m. Friday. The accident occurred 7.3 miles north on U.S. 87.

A companion, Victor J. Garza, 30, employed by Johnny Dillon of near Fairview, was uninjured in the accident. The car in which the two men were riding was owned by Garza. Garza insists that Estrada was driving at the time of the accident, officers said.

Kellas M. Davis, highway patrol officer who investigated the accident, said that the 1953 model car approached a curve on the road at high speed. Some sleet and ice had formed a slippery coating on the paving and the car failed to make the curve. Estrada was apparently thrown out of the car for a distance of 40 feet. The car began to roll over and in its tumblings passed over Estrada's body.

Garza, uninjured, left the scene of the accident and walked to the store at Fairview. He told the people at the store there had been a wreck and that he was fearful his friend had been injured. A rescue party set out for the scene of the wreck. Garza disappeared and was not located until shortly before noon Saturday. Apparently he had gone on home.

The rescuers found the mangled body of the victim in the ditch and the wrecked car nearby. Davis was called.

The body was removed to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Justice of the Peace Walter Gries ruled death due to an accident.

The victim had only a key and four sticks of chewing gum on his person. He was not identified until Saturday about noon.

He is from Presidio Delicias, Chihuahua, Mexico. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home has been in contact with the Mexican officials and they were endeavoring to get word to relatives Saturday. What disposition will be made of his body depends on the decision of relatives in Chihuahua.

9 Firemen Trapped By Collapsing Walls

CHICAGO (AP) — Walls collapsed on more than a score of firemen fighting one of two spectacular blazes in near zero weather Saturday. Eight bodies were recovered from the mountain of rubble and one firefighter was missing.

Fourteen other firemen were rescued and hospitalized after the walls of one of two factory buildings destroyed in the near Northwest Side blaze caved in.

Several firemen who answered cries of help from those buried under the debris of the walls were crushed to death when the roof of the second building fell in on them.

Rescuers battled cold, debris, flaming timbers and onsets of darkness in their efforts to recover bodies.

Some of the equipment fighting the $500,000 factory fire was called away to battle a second blaze, a three-story brick building on the North Side which housed a bowling alley, a dance hall, stores and apartments.

Four persons were injured, one critically, in the second blaze which caused damage estimated in excess of $200,000. Spokesmen for the bowling alley where the fire apparently started said the blaze may have been set deliberately by disgruntled teen-agers.

A series of alarms brought 216 men and 67 pieces of equipment to the factory blaze shortly after dawn. Later two fireboats tied up in the Chicago River nearby began pumping water on the fire.

The firemen were trapped when 5th Battalion Chief George Kuhn led a group to the roof of the two-story factory building to see if they could run a hose line into the burning six-story building. The adjoining wall of the taller building toppled on them.

Other firemen heard their cries of help and rushed into the smaller building. The roof collapsed on them.

"I was about seven feet from the wall, trying to get to a window, when I heard a rumble," said fireman Joseph Taylor, 25. "I got out, thank God. I saw other guys running. One guy was running on a broken foot, but he ran."

Among those trapped when the roof collapsed was 1st Battalion Chief George Rees. Rescuers could hear his cries: "My God, oh, please God, somebody please find me. Please get me out."

Rescuers sighted Rees after half an hour of feverish tunneling through the wreckage. But they needed another half an hour to reach him and by that time he was dead.

Firemen said the six-story building, housing the Hillier & Bietach Co., bakery supply firm, "went up like an egg crate." The blaze was fed by oils and other highly inflammable materials used by the firm.

The smaller building of the Crown Glass Co. held large quantities of empty one-gallon tin containers, which were blown over a wide area after the roof collapsed. Firemen formed a chain to pass the cans out before they could proceed with rescue work.

The North Side fire apparently started in the rear of the bowling alley, then spread rapidly through the building. About 150 persons in the bowling alley fled to safety.

John Jenkins, owner of the bowling alley, said shortly before the blaze several youths were chased from the alley at the rear of the building. He said he believed vandals may have set the fire.

An arson investigation was ordered.

Brazil May Return Ship, Give Asylum To Rebel

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil was reported Saturday to have decided to return the Santa Maria to the Portuguese owners if the captured liner enters Brazilian waters, but to give asylum to the rebel skipper, Capt. Henrique Galvao.

The Foreign Ministry source, in saying that the liner would be seized and returned to the Portuguese Colonial Navigation Co., explained: "Our long tradition of noninterference in other nations' affairs leads us to stick to the law. We do not consider Galvao a pirate."

This position, disclosed after a high-level Foreign Ministry meeting, could mean talks between the U. S. Navy and Galvao, a revolutionary foe of Portugal's Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, in such a way that the passengers would have to be transferred at sea. That is a potentially dangerous undertaking.

Brazil's order Friday night grounding U.S. reconnaissance planes which sought to refuel at Recife knocked out direct contact with the seized Portuguese liner, but a U.S. Navy fix had it moving from the Equator directly south on the 290-mile route toward Fernando de Noronha.

You can help elect a new U. S. Senator, City Commissioners and School Trustees; you'll have a voice in other vital public issues ONLY if you pay your poll tax. This must be done by Tuesday night.

Retired Prof Grows Orchids But Has To Fight Off Rats

By JULIA SALTER
WHITEWRIGHT, Tex. (AP) — Crouched on the darkened floor of a greenhouse, a man with a rifle waited through the night. Stockily built and with greying crew-cut hair, he held the gun tightly and waited absolutely motionless. Suddenly his target appeared and the blast of the rifle echoed off through the night. A big rat fell dead, just as it was preparing to bite into an expensive orchid for the sugar content.

The marksman? Joseph Meador, one of three commercial orchid growers in all Texas who raises 6,000 plants at his old family home in Whitewright.

"You not only have to raise 'em," Meador explained drily, "you have to protect 'em. That's why I'm an expert rat killer."

But Meador's expertise at orchid culture has earned him more of a name than his rat killing.

LOOKS EVERYWHERE
He travels the world to find and observe or buy rare plants and he is in constant demand throughout the Southwest as a judge in orchid competition.

This former professor of architecture at Texas A&M retired to his home here about 15 years ago and read everything he could find on orchids. Then he bought the window glass from a surplus Army barracks, built two greenhouses and went into business. He built the greenhouse to his own 5 feet 5 specifications and six footers knock themselves out on the door frames.

Meador's orchids cost up to $400 a plant. He calls one of his greenhouses his seedling house.

"The youngsters stay here for four years," he explained, "then they are moved next door with the blooming plants."

The second greenhouse seems to be a jungle paradise in the wilds of North Texas. A large cage of brilliantly colored parakeets add to the exotic flavor of the environment. The house holds three plant tables brimming over with large pots of magnificent orchids, tagged with their Latin names and the origin of each plant.

BIG TUB
An unexpected note in all this decor is provided by a big white bathtub, brimming with water. "I don't bathe out here," said Meador, "this bathtub of water provides the necessary humidity."

He explained that since orchids are air breathers they require a humid climate. Meador said the temperature in his greenhouses never dips to below 55 degrees. Meador's orchids range from the rich loveliness of the deep maroons to the mischievous spider orchid, which has no commercial value. "Nobody would wear one of them," Meador said, "because it looks too much like a bug. A very sophisticated woman might wear a couple of them in her hair to shock everyone."

THEY'RE TOUGH
As a rule, he said, orchids are very very tough and they last much longer than any other plant. He added:

"Some people have the idea that the only place for an orchid is in the refrigerator. An orchid reacts to this treatment just as a human would react to being placed in a steam bath and then transferred to an ice cold shower. You would be preserved but in a state of shock. An orchid reacts the same after being taken into a warm room from a refrigerator," he said.

The orchid expert said most people who buy his plants want the finest even though they have no idea how to care for them.

"Some buy them because they are pretty while others want a plant that has won prizes in flower shows. But they don't know anything about raising orchids and manage to kill them very successfully," he said.

Meador's travels have taken him to such places as London and Hawaii in search of rare plants but he said now the United States is far ahead of the rest of the world in orchid production.

"There are 30 species of the plant in Texas," he said, "and all of them grow in the Big Thicket area of the state."

"You can't rush these orchids," he said. "They require time and patience to bloom into mature, healthy plants. I guess that's why I decided to come back here to raise the plants in the quiet atmosphere of a small town. The way I see it is that people nowadays are in too much of a hurry. I like to take life slow and easy."

"I guess that's why I like to grow orchids," he said, "you just can't get in a hurry with them."

Base Planning Reorganization

More reorganization is taking place at Webb AFB as part of the consolidated pilot training program and the concept will take final shape when Air Base Group consolidates all of its subordinate units into one big administrative organization by Feb. 6.

On this date units will be inactivated and assigned to Headquarters Squadron Section, 3560th Air Base Group, according to Col. Howard W. Lindsey, Group Commander. Units to be inactivated are the 3560th Air Police and Transportation Squadrons. Also officers and airmen now assigned to Headquarters Squadron Section, 3560th Pilot Training Wing, will be attached to Group for administrative support.

Maj. Michael A. Cappiello, has been appointed commander of the consolidated organization. The former commander, Maj. Lawrence J. Bassett, will leave Webb shortly for the Aircraft Maintenance Officer School at Chanute AFB, Ill.

M.Sgt. John J. Amerson will succeed M.Sgt. Joseph E. Scott as First Sergeant of Air Base Group's Headquarters Squadron Section. Sgt. Scott is returning to Air Police duty.

San Antonio Old Folks Home Discussed At Aging Parley

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service
WASHINGTON (AP) — San Antonio's multi-story "Golden Age" residential apartment building for elderly persons with low incomes attracted comment at the White House Conference on Aging.

Spoken by the city's public housing authority and designed especially to make things more lively, convenient and safer for older persons, the development was discussed at the conference group discussions on housing and was singled out for favorable mention in Washington newspapers.

Bexar County Judge Charles W. Anderson, one of the Texas delegates, told Rep. Paul Kilday,

Special Plan Available For Some Drivers

One insurance company has announced an attempt to help a large number of drivers who have difficulty getting auto insurance.

Single men under 25, men and women over 65 and other motorists with minor driving infractions whose records in the "statistically undesirable" driver categories are the target of a plan announced by the company (State Farm County Mutual of Texas).

The program is called the "standard plan" and is aimed at helping those who currently may have to seek their insurance in the assigned risk plan, or who cannot otherwise buy it on the open market.

The program will take into account the individual's driving record, rather than a group to which he may belong. Rates will be slightly above uniform rates established by the state's board of insurance commissioners, but surcharges and credits will not apply to policies under the standard plan.

He said there is much talk of similar projects for aging persons in higher income brackets.

A housing problem of a completely different nature here in the District of Columbia affects more than a hundred people living in two blocks bounded on one side by the Library of Congress and on another by the old House Office Building.

Late in the last session, with Speaker Sam Rayburn taking a leading role, Congress appropriated $5 million dollars to acquire all the property for possible use as an addition to the Library. Besides a block long row of business places on Independence Avenue, the area includes many handsome homes, some more than a century old and now owned and occupied by congressmen and other officials.

Most of the residents in the area protested when they received eviction notices and again in the last few days when prices were published showing how much owners were being offered.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, one of those who bought one of the 19th century homes and restored it said he stands to lose several thousand dollars.

Two other Texas congressmen with homes near the Capitol, but not in the condemned area, are Reps. Bob Poage of Waco and Jack Brooks of Beaumont. Brooks last month was married to the former Charlotte Collins of Cameron, who had worked on the staff of Bob Casey of Houston.

Cash Awards Given By Headliners Club

AUSTIN (AP) — Newswriters and photographers were presented $3,225 in cash awards Saturday night at the annual awards party of the Headliners Club of Austin.

Earlier, at a headliners' luncheon, Rhea Howard of Wichita Falls was honored as the Texas Publisher of the Year.

At a noon luncheon, Headliners honored Rhea Howard of Wichita Falls as the Texas Publisher of the Year. Howard is publisher of the Wichita Falls Record-News and the Wichita Falls Daily Times.

The trophy praised Howard "for his keen interest, knowledge and devotion to the editorial needs of his newspaper."

Eva Marie Saint, Academy award-winning film star received a special award for her performance in the movie "Exodus" and for "adding splendor to the entertainment world with her charm and grace."

In the Headliners writing and photography contests the grand prize of $1,000 went to Tomny Thompson, editor of the Amarillo Globe Times. It was the largest newspaper writing award ever given in the Southwest, for his exposure of misconduct of Randall County officials.

Thompson's newspaper led the fight for honesty in public office with disclosures that rocked the Panhandle and forced the resignations of several county officials.

Other Headliners awards winners were:

Harold Scarlett and Louis M. Boyd of the Houston Post, first place for news reporting written under the pressure of deadline time, $400, for their story of a gentle gunman written with humor and pathos; Jerry Hall, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, second place, $100; Sam Kendrick, San Antonio Express, third.

Cope Routh of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, first place for writing in a single editorial, signed article or column, $400, for his Christmas story about a garbage truck driver who helped a homeless family; Nat Henderson, Austin American-Statesman, second, $100; C. L. Richart, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, third.

Blair Justice of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, first place for writing in which the pressure of time was not a factor, $400, for a story about a victim of a heart attack brought back to life. A.C. Greene won second place, $100, for a story on Nellie Yunk in the Abilene Reporter-News. Greene is now a member of the Dallas Times Herald. Paul Rosenfield of the Dallas Times Herald won third place.

Garvin Berry of the Houston Press, first place for reporting of municipal affairs, $400, for his series about how ambulance services operate their businesses; Dave Shanks of the Austin American-Statesman, second, $100.

Owen Johnson of the Houston Post, first place for the outstanding photograph published in a Texas newspaper, $150, for his prison rodeo picture of a horse's hooves at a rider's throat; Bill Thompson of the Austin American-Statesman, second, $75. Third place was won by Joe McAnuly of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Gilbert Barrera of the San Antonio Light had an outstanding piece of work in his panel sequence about the saving of a life in a flash flood. This did not qualify under the contest rules, but it was cited by the judges for its general excellence.

The judges cited for special recognition the thorough and fast team work of the Houston Chronicle as it mobilized every available member of the staff to cover the Houston school integration order which came at a mid-morning time without warning.

The Chronicle, said the judges, did an outstanding and significant job of handling a story with depth quickly and accurately.

OJC Move Is Called Surprise

ODESSA — Rep. George Cook, Odessa, caught everyone by surprise Friday when he introduced a bill to make Odessa Junior College a four-year college.

Leland Croft, president of the OJC board, said he knew nothing of the plan and said it was Cook's doing. Jack Rogers, president of the college, also was caught unaware. He said that the matter had been discussed last summer but was dropped on the premise that there were several things that OJC wanted to do as a junior college before considering senior college status.

Bills also are pending to convert San Angelo, the University of Houston (junior college division), Pan American at Edinburg, and San Antonio Junior College into 4-year colleges.

Winter's Now Busy Time For Texas Park Managers

TYLER (AP)—Winter was once a slow time for managers of state parks in Texas. Now, however, lights burn into the night in a battle to meet needs of a mushrooming number of campers.

The space pinch has created a year-round expansion planning program in all 30 parks with camp grounds in the state's 54-park system.

W. A. "Pete" Palmer, manager of Tyler State Park, is one of these men faced with meeting increased camping needs. Like all state park managers, he must do this with little or no boost in the budget.

Only six years ago a camp ground was opened in the 994-acre East Texas park. Last year we had approximately 11,250 campers out here, almost 3,000 more than year before last," Palmer said.

The immediate past president of the Texas State Park Managers' Association said the boost has been about the same the past couple of years in his park, which is pine wilderness for cooped-up city dwellers.

Campers are only a part of those using state park facilities. Tyler State Park drew 182,220 of the 6,539,518 visitors to state parks in Texas last year.

Palmer's problems are typical of most park managers. He is faced with a problem, but not like J. C. Henderson at Garner State Park near Uvalde.

Garner State Park recorded a total attendance of 809,381 last year. Of these, 99,731 were campers. Garner is annually visited

Winter-Empty Park

Three lads stroll down a road through the winter-empty grounds at Tyler State Park where thousands each summer come to pitch tents and relax. Mushrooming camping interest is creating a problem with park managers across the state.

more people than other state parks.

Palmer, on the other hand, estimates that from 25 to 30 per cent of his campers last summer stayed in a week to three weeks in the grounds located on the shore of a 65-acre blue lake nestled in pine-covered hills.

A majority of "stayers" at Tyler State Park were from the Houston area and from around Fort Worth and Dallas.

"We have several families that come in on a weekend and when Monday comes, the husbands go home to work leaving the family behind. The children swim and hike and the mothers just rest. They may stay two or three weeks with the husbands commuting on weekends," Palmer said.

Although approximately 40 per cent of Tyler State Park campers are from out of state, more and more campers are coming in from towns and cities within 250 miles.

"Folks aren't interested in bragging about the miles driven on a vacation any more, but just want to relax. Camping in a state park lets them do that for about what it would cost to stay home and it's a lot more fun," Palmer said.

Like many such state parks, the one near Tyler has camp grounds equipped with running water, electrical outlets, table, fire-place and grill. There is also a central shower house, rest room facilities and a place for mom to do a quick hand wash.

"We aren't trying to get in the motel business. We don't want to ever. We're just answering the demands of campers," Palmer said.

And the demands at Tyler State Park are going to get greater with the completion of Interstate Highway 20 which is under construction just a whop and a hollar outside the gate.

Palmer agreed, and the thought rolled another worry wrinkle across his brow.

Diary Entry Prophetic

BAYTOWN (AP)—"When I got to heaven, I won't be dumb and I'll have pretty teeth. . . . With that prophetic entry in his diary, John Williams, 17, picked up his .22 rifle Friday, walked to a nearby laundry where his mother works and kissed her goodbye. "I'm going hunting," the youth told his mother, Mrs. J. C. Lawson.

A few hours later his body was found near a Bayshore pier. Investigators said he died from a bullet wound to the head.

Mrs. Lawson said her son received his mid-term grades Wednesday and had fallen in school a third time.

"He never told us his troubles," she said. "I guess he only told them to his diary. He was always cheerful and happy."

Three Civilians Get Webb Awards

Incentive awards totalling $55 went to three Webb AFD civilians for shop-practice ideas which have been adopted at the base.

Collecting incentive cash proved habit forming for Clyde Cantrell when he picked up his seventh check from the Wing Incentive Board. This time it was $10 for suggesting the modification of the choke control on fire trucks. Cantrell is assigned to the 3500th Transportation Squadron.

Biggest share, $30, went to Parnell Garrett in Webb's management-improvement program. A member of the Transportation Squadron, Garrett was paid for his idea to relocate the emergency brake anchor post on the Pettibone Milligan Crane which eliminates a safety hazard.

Lowell D. Shorter received $15 for suggesting a puller for removing the pin bushing from the outer segment door hinge of T-33 aircraft, instead of driving them out. Shorter is assigned to the 3900th M&S Group.

Scientist Exchange Program Planned

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Norway and the Soviet Union have decided to exchange scientists as well as information on the peaceful use of nuclear energy, Soviet Ambassador M. G. Gribanov told a news conference Saturday. Closing three days of negotiations, Gribanov and the chief of the Cultural Relations Office of the Norwegian Foreign Ministry, Dr. E. Christophersen, signed a treaty of cultural, scientific and technical exchange between the two countries for 1961.

Cold Wave Forces High Feeding Rate

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—A cold wave forced farmers and ranchers in many areas of Texas to step up feeding to the highest rate of the winter, the director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says.

John Hutchison also said fields and pastures in the eastern half of the state remain boggy and plant growth is at a minimum. Only in the Panhandle is there need for moisture.

In North Central Texas, the worst weather of the year forced ranchmen and dairymen into the heaviest feeding program of the winter. Grain fields are too wet to graze and grain mites and leaf rust are still causing trouble. Hay supplies are getting low and farmers are anxious to get on with their field work before spring planting. A lot of sunshine is needed.

LITTLE GROWTH
Sunshine was welcomed but oats made little growth but grazing is still short in Central Texas. Moisture is adequate to excessive. Livestock looked good with normal shrinkage. Feeding is heavy.

Some improvement was noted in Central West Texas. Some grain fields were being grazed. Lambing and calving were well underway. Most fields were still too wet for plowing. Much more sunshine was needed to dry fields and give grasses and weeds a boost.

In far West Texas, moisture is adequate; livestock are in good condition with some feeding; and small grains are providing grazing. Some lambing was reported in the Del Rio area. Goat shearing will start in that section if the weather is good. Plowing in the Midland section is half complete.

Open weather last week permitted farmers in far South Texas to catch up some on field work. Watermelons are being planted in Brooks, Duval and Jim Hogg counties and the harvest of vegetables was nearing the peak. The market for citrus showed a slight improvement. Coyotes are causing some calf losses.

LITTLE PLOWING
A few did a little plowing on the light, well-drained soils of the upper Gulf Coast area. Rain started again Tuesday and field work was at a standstill. Calving and lambing are underway. Cattle are in poor to fair condition with feeding increasing. Pastures need sunshine and dry weather. Some disease and insect troubles were reported by stockmen.

Some improvement was noted in South Central Texas. Pastures, ranges, vegetables, flax and oats responded to the dry and open weather but much more was needed. Livestock marketing increased as the weather permitted some working of cattle.

Rain stopped all field work and caused a further delay in the planting of pine seedlings in East Texas. The cold rain is making it hard on livestock and feeding is above normal. Condition of cattle was fair.

Moisture is on the surplus side in Northeast Texas and grains and legumes are making little growth and furnishing limited grazing. Major activities were gopher control demonstrations, pine planting and the repairing of fences and machinery.

RAIN NEEDED
Surface moisture was needed over the Panhandle. Wheat pastures generally were dormant. Livestock conditions were good but feeding was increasing.

Grains in the Rolling Plains (Vernon), where moisture is adequate, showed some response to greenbugs are reported. Out planting has started in one county but fields generally are still too wet for plowing or grazing. Feeding will increase due to the new norther and colder weather.

32 Attend Pack 100 Meeting

Despite adverse weather, 32 turned out for the monthly meeting of Cab Pack No. 100 at the St. Paul Presbyterian Church on Friday evening.

Den No. 1 put on the flag ceremony and won the count, also served the refreshments. Awards went to Lance Lane, denner, and Bobby Bryant, assistant, of Den No. 1, and Lynn Adams, denner, and Graham Pitcock, assistant, of Den No. 2; Wolf badge to Lance Lane; gold arrow point to the bear for Jimmy Looney, silver point to bear for Gary Gebhart, plus a two-year pin. The Cub of the Month was Lynn Adams, J. M. Looney was in charge of the meeting.

Navy Broadens Enlistment Choice

The U. S. Navy recruiting Station has announced that more openings will be available soon for enlistment in the nuclear, electronic, and hospital fields of training. These fields have been limited in the past, but many openings will be available during the next six months.

To qualify for enlistment in one of these fields, a high school diploma is required, plus qualifying on mental and physical tests. All pre-qualifying tests may be taken before actually enlisting. The nuclear field virtually insures the applicant of submarine duty. The electronic field would afford extensive training in some electronic specialty, and the hospital field is for hospital corpsmen, and dental technicians.

Interested young men, who are high school graduates or who expect to graduate, are invited to contact the local Navy recruiting station in the post office basement.

Texas Bureaucrats Get High Salaries

By ED OVERHOLSER
AUSTIN (AP)—The average Texas doesn't make as much money as the average American but Texas' top administrative executives get bigger salaries than those in most states.

Pressure is being exerted on the legislature to keep on raising the pay scale for department heads. Only six states pay their agriculture commissioner more than Texas but Gov. Price Daniel's budget calls for a raise for Commissioner John White from $15,000 to $17,500.

Only two states pay their attorney general more than Texas does. Four pay their state treasurer, public welfare and state health officers more. The governor's top assistant and the secretary of state are paid higher wages in only five states.

None of these are asking for more money for the next biennium but many other top officers are.

Per capita income in Texas in 1959 averaged $1,908, higher than the surrounding four states but below the national average of $2,166. The average in states of comparative population size includes $2,328 in Ohio, $2,610 in Illinois, $2,661 in California and $2,736 in New York.

Daniel would increase the salary for the three State Insurance Board members from $15,000 to $17,500 and would raise his salary for the head of the Department of Public Safety from $17,500 to $20,000. He would boost the education commissioner's salary from $18,500 to $20,000.

In addition to higher salaries for themselves, most administrators want to expand their departments.

The Legislative Budget Board, made up of Senate and House leaders, generally advised the legislature to keep most current salaries where they are. The legislature must consider the requests again and make its own decision.

White wanted to increase the number of his employees from 165 to 201. The budget board recommended a department staff of 165. State Welfare Director John Winters, with 1,491 employees, wanted 1,741. The budget board suggestion: 1,497.

The state comptroller wanted to increase his staff from 587 to 647. The budget board's recommendation was 57.

The State Hospital Board recommended that superintendents of such institutions as Austin, San Antonio and Terrell state hospitals get $17,000 a year instead of the current $12,500. The budget board figure was $14,000. The board rejected the hospital board's plan to set up several new assistant superintendents at $16,000 a year.

The state now pays the director of mental health and hospital $20,000. The hospital board wanted Dr. C. J. Rullman's salary hiked to $25,000, the same as the governor receives. Actually, Rullman is getting $25,000 a year but $5,000 comes from a private source.

Walter Dickerson, executive director of the Industrial Commission, wanted his salary jumped from $7,200 to $16,000. The budget board recommended no increase. The department has five employees, one more than it needs, the budget board decided.

Daniel's budget calls for Securities Commissioner William King's salary to be raised from $11,000 to $15,000 but the budget board suggested no change.

The budget board rejected these salary increases proposed by the respective agencies: Adjutant general from $10,600 to $16,200; state auditor from $15,000 to $17,500; prison system director from $16,000 to $18,500; executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission from $12,000 to $15,000; state health commissioner from $18,500 to $20,000; insurance commissioner from $15,000 to $17,500; and the University of Texas chancellor from $18,100 to $22,500 plus continued use of a house, utilities and $11,900 in other supplements.

The board also conflicted with Daniel's recommendations for more money for the DPS chief and the education commissioner.

Soybeans Post Large Advance

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans futures posted the broadest advance on the Board of Trade this week of any commodity in years. Gains ranged to more than 18 cents a bushel.

The grains also moved well ahead with numerous contracts up more than three cents and some of them, along with all soybeans, hitting their highest levels of the season.

At the end of the week, soybeans were 16-18 1/2 cents a bushel higher on the old crop contracts and 5-7 cents on the new, March 2.90-60¢, wheat 3 1/4-4 1/4¢ higher, March 1.15 1/4-1 1/2¢; corn 2 1/4-4 1/4¢ higher, March 65 1/2-71¢; rye 3 1/4-4 cents higher, March 1.16¢.

The board also conflicted with Daniel's recommendations for more money for the DPS chief and the education commissioner.

Boll Weevil Can Be Costly

MEMPHIS (AP) — In areas where it is well established the cotton boll weevil takes a bigger bite than taxes. Its odd appetite adds as much as a dime a pound to the cost of producing cotton.

But cotton men say they are about to push the little snout-nosed insect away from the dinner table.

This was the report Saturday at the annual meeting of the National Cotton Council. Committee meetings will be followed Monday and Tuesday by general sessions expected to draw 1,000 cotton men.

One of the committees, headed by J. D. Hays of Huntsville, Ala., disclosed plans for a massive onslaught against cotton's No. 1 enemy.

One of the biggest factors in the fight is a $1 million boll weevil research laboratory at Mississippi State University. It is due for completion this year.

Gathered at the center will be 22 senior scientists and supporting personnel — entomologists, plant scientists, soil scientists, chemists and engineers. Their one job will be to work over the weevil.

One aim of the scientists is to detect just what it is about cotton the weevil likes. It eats nothing else. If its liking could be identified it might be bred out of the fiber. Repellent substances might even be bred in.

More research is under way at College Station, Tex. There the weevil is being cultivated, reared almost as a pet rather than a pest. The cultivated weevils assure an adequate supply for further research.

A new control concept — attacking the weevil as it prepares for hibernation — holds a great deal of promise and is being supported by a $10,000 grant from the council, Hays said.

DOCTORS URGE INOCULATIONS

Parents are urged to protect their children and families against diphtheria.

Last week, the Permian Basin Medical Society passed a resolution urging all parents to check with their physicians about immunizations to help prevent the occurrence of diphtheria in the area.

The members pointed out that outbreaks have been reported throughout West Texas. The Society includes Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Writer Tells Rest Of Story

To the Editor:

I am writing in regards to the article in Friday's Herald to the effect that the Howard County Commissioners Court has ordered condemnation proceedings against me in order to obtain right of way for FM 846, which some call the Hamlin road.

Details of the county's offer are correct, but this is not all of the story. When the surveyors approached me to run the lines, and when an agreement was made with the commissioners court, it was on the basis of following the common section line between section 17 and section 20 which I expected to be straight.

However, when the final survey was shown and the right of way deeds presented, the route veered south from the section line at its western end and as a result had to crook back northward at the east end of the section in order to make connection with the existing Luther road. This is not what I agreed to and it is not what I was told by the surveyors when the lines were run.

While on the subject of right of way, I would like to set the record straight about the dogleg in the Knott road where it comes off U. S. 87. This has been changed two or three times, and finally I offered to donate the right of way in order to get it straightened.

I have in my possession a letter dated Feb. 24, 1958 and signed by all members of the court, saying that they would move the fence back to the new line in as good or better condition as then existed. I signed the easement with the understanding that the road would be straightened. The fence was moved back, but was not well built. The road was never straightened. What is now proposed on the new road is to create another dogleg, which is unnecessary and will only damage several of my pasture terraces.

Caton Accepts 2 Guilty Pleas

Robert E. Duke, who pleaded guilty 10 days ago to an indictment charging forgery, was formally sentenced to serve five years in the state penitentiary at Huntsville Friday afternoon.

He had declined to waive the 10 days when his plea of guilty was accepted by Judge Ralph W. Caton in 118th District Court.

Marshall Butler, who had been indicted for assault with intent to commit murder, was permitted to plead guilty to the reduced charge of aggravated assault. His punishment was fixed at one year in the county jail.

Butler was given credit for the 126 days he has already served in jail. With good behavior time, a year in jail is about 270 days. Butler has already served about half of the time assessed against him.

You Can Make Better Grades; Article Series Will Tell How

The modern way to meet a real difficulty in an important matter is to call in an expert.

With many youngsters having difficulties, as always, in the matter of grades—which are of paramount importance these days—The Herald has called in an expert for you.

He is Prof. Leslie J. Mason, a specialist in getting better grades. His series, headed "You CAN Get Better Grades," will appear daily in The Herald starting Monday.

Getting good grades isn't just a matter of intelligence, Dr. Mason asserts, nor even of knowledge alone. To a considerable extent it's a matter of technique.

Subject by subject, Dr. Mason shows you how to get better grades, or how to help your child get them.

Dr. Mason is a professor in the University of Southern California's school of education. He is accustomed to producing results. His experiments with learning techniques have focused the attention of educators. They work. Take the case of the falling fraternity.

It was losing 50 per cent of its pledges because they failed to make a "C" average. The sponsor called in Dr. Mason to tell them how to make better grades. That was two years ago. Since then, the fraternity, one of the prominent Greek letter groups at the University of Southern California, has lost only two out of 38 pledges because of poor grades.

40 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

Dr. Mason has worked in the teaching field 40 years as math, science, and engineering instructor and as special consultant on study methods.

He began his teaching career while still a senior at Central High School in Grand Rapids, Mich. He held an instructor's certificate and taught in a junior high school.

Following a term of duty (1917-1919) with the 16th U. S. Cavalry, he enrolled in Michigan State College. He graduated with honors in 1923 with a B.S. in engineering and higher grades than any engineering student had made at Michigan State in 10 years.

He never turns down a case if the student answers yes to the question: "Do you really want to help yourself and let me help you do better?"

The student who answers yes and accepts Dr. Mason's guidance goes back to school and makes better grades. He has not had a failure yet!

His successful methods and principles of learning are drawing more and more attention as this era of scholarship makes its severe and exacting demands.

In "You CAN Get Better Grades" Dr. Mason explains:

- How to work both swiftly and accurately.
- How to read for maximum meaning.
- How to organize and write class papers.
- How to improve your handwriting.
- How to listen.
- How to solve math problems.
- How to prepare for and take tests.

Glasscock Livestock Show Opens Monday

GARDEN CITY — The Glasscock County livestock show, which in recent years has run into uncertain weather, appeared to be running true to form for Monday's 24th annual show.

Most of the county was blanketed by sleet and snow from two to three inches Saturday, but there was prospect of moderation today on the eve of the judging of some 130 fat lambs, 15 barrows and 5 capons.

Judging will be inside of the old gymnasium, and the building will be heated, Oliver F. West, Glasscock County agent, said Saturday.

About 50 FFA and 4-H club members have entries in the show, which makes it one of the largest in years. Judging will start at 8 a.m. and there will be a barbecue luncheon served at noon by a catering service. Immediately thereafter, the traditional sale will be held.

Church Schedules Fellowship Supper

Members of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church will hold a fellowship supper this evening as the initial meeting of the World Missions Season. The meal is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. and all members and friends of the church are urged to be present.

Following the supper, Capt. Nolan Young will direct the group in a period of singing. The program will continue in the sanctuary under the direction of James Cape, president of the Men of the Church. A color film with sound titled, "Household of Faith," emphasizing the ecumenical trend in world missions, will be shown. Mrs. Gene Peters will close the service with prayer.

Mrs. John Page, World Missions chairman, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Al Seddon, is planning this first in a special series of studies on missions.

Pins On Wings

Mrs. Mary Lee Carey places on the newly won wings of her husband, 2nd. Lt. Wesley G. Carey Jr., honor student in Class 61-E.

Lt. W. G. Carey Is Honor Man

"Man is still a necessary part of future weapon systems," said Brigadier Gen. John E. Dougherty in addressing graduate pilot training Class 61-E at Webb AFB Friday night.

During his speech before the 70 graduates, their friends and relatives, Gen. Dougherty stressed the need for pilots in today's aerospace age and placed special emphasis on the extremely rapid pace of progress in the aerospace field.

"The way to space is open," said Gen. Dougherty and added that during the next 10 years, progress in space flight and man flight will be rapidly advancing as the whole world struggles in education, technology, and engineering to gain this space capability which would give one nation advantage over the rest of the world.

In congratulating the pilots on winning their wings, Gen. Dougherty told the class to wear them proudly, as they had passed another milestone on having a fine Air Force career with extremely broad horizons. He commented that in today's age flying has to be done in a professional manner and the 70 men receiving their diplomas and wings will be playing a key role in the security of the United States.

Manned vehicles will be needed to fulfill the total requirements for the combat aerospace force structure needed to guarantee this security and manned vehicles means pilots will be needed. Gen. Dougherty added that there are many electronic gadgets in this age but loyalty and devotion can't be put in a little black box and there's no substitute for man.

2 Days Left To Pay 1960 Poll Taxes

Only two days remain for the payment of poll taxes.

Failure to pay the poll tax deprives the citizen of his right to vote on elections which will be coming up during 1961.

The total number of poll tax rates issued so far now stands at 5,086 which compares with 5,327 at this same date in 1959. Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, has announced that her office will remain open until midnight on Jan. 31 as a convenience to belated taxpayers who want to pay the poll tax. She also has announced that the several request stations operating in the city will continue to accept applications for poll tax receipts until their closing time on Tuesday.

The tax office issued 358 poll tax receipts Friday. The places other than the tax office where requests for poll tax receipts can be made are: Coahoma Drug, Coahoma; Bowen Jewelry, 11th Place Shopping Center; Cecil Thixton Motorcycle Shop, 908 W. 3rd; Reeder-Huff-Estes Insurance Agency, 506 E. 4th; and Gound Pharmacy, 900 Main.

At these places, the taxpayer can fill out an application and pay the $1.75 fee. The request will be sent to the tax office; the taxpayer will receive a receipt by mail.

Vigorous Campaign Seen In Lamesa City Election

LAMESA — Supporters of the present council - manager form of city government have indicated a vigorous campaign to retain it in the April 4 election.

This was one of the implications drawn from the filing of petitions listing two prominent civic workers as candidates for the city council — Mayor Bowers Purcell and Clyde Branon.

While their candidacy ostensibly does not have a connection with the charter amendment referendum, Purcell and Branon — both favor the current council - manager type of government. That they are being backed for posts on the council is indicative that those against altering the form of government expect to have the same type of council and government for Purcell and Branon to serve on.

Petitions asking Purcell and Branon be listed as candidates were circulated for a couple of hours Thursday afternoon and came up with 138 signatures—considerably more than the minimum of 25 required. Purcell was petitioned as a candidate for place No. 5, which he holds, and Branon as a candidate for No. 4, held currently by John A. Flache, a proponent of the charter amendments to change to the mayor - alderman type of city government. Both of the petitioned candidates must file formally in order to be on the ballot, but this is anticipated soon.

Actually there will be two elections in one on April 4 — one for naming council members; the other for deciding whether to return to a mayor - alderman type of government; to redistrict the city; and to make the corporation judge position elective.

Purcell is a prominent contractor in this area, has been on the council for two years and mayor for a year. He has been outspoken in his opposition to changing to a mayor - alderman form of municipal government. Branon, a veteran worker in Lamesa civic affairs for over three decades, is operator of the Higginbotham Funeral Home, is a past president of the chamber of commerce, was the first president of the U.S. Highway 180 Association and a leader in the International 87 Highway Association, a leader in the planning group which laid the ground work for the Medical Arts Hospital.

AFL Operators Are Optimistic Bunch

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The American Football League lost more than $2 million in its maiden season but no one batted an eye. There even was some "skinning" about it. H. L. Hunt, one of the world's richest men, observed that his son, Lamar Hunt, owner of the Dallas Texans, was reported to have dropped a million. "The boy only has 123 years to go," commented the elder Hunt. "That is the main reason started worried when the league started out by suffering what would, to the ordinary man, have been a staggering deficit. The men who own franchises in the league designed to furnish competition for the 40-year-old National Football League have the money to wait it out and they also didn't lose any more than they had expected.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

L. L. (Red) Lewis, track and field coach at Howard County Junior College, has no reason to whistle the blues these days. He has a team shaping up that appears capable of giving any team in the nation a run for its money. He may have four sprinters who can go under ten seconds consistently. One is William Argo, a graduate and three-year letterman at Thomas Jefferson High School in Dallas, who attended Baylor as a freshman. Argo has run a 9.7 and 9.8. He was fourth in the century in the SWC freshman meet last year. One could have thrown a baby blanket over the first four boys. The event was won by Bill Kemp of Baylor in 9.5. Argo was also third in the 220. Other stand-out sprinters on the HCJC squad will be Dean Cheatum of Kress, who has already done 10 flat in practice here and who has a 9.9 clocking in the 100 and has done the furlong in 21.7; Bert Mansfield of Junction, back in college after remaining out a year; Herman Robinson of Corpus Christi, who beat Argo by a stride here the other day, at which time Argo was timed in 9.7; and Eugene Franklin, Abilene, better known as a hurdler. Mansfield was fourth in the National Juco Meet low hurdles two years ago. Franklin was third in both hurdle events in the National JC Meet here last year and can do the 100 in 9.9. Jimmy Wise, son of the well-known Brownwood sports official, Polly Wise, is also in school here. Jimmy concentrated on football at Brownwood until his senior year, when he reported for track. He runs the low hurdles, quarter and the sprint relay teams. In the only quarter he ever ran in high school, he was timed in a very respectable 52 flat. Lewis thinks he'll make a great 440-man. One of the brightest newcomers on the Jayhawk squad is Michael Hill of Libertyville, Ill., who may be capable of beating Tuffin Stone in the discus throw and who also tosses the shot put. Lewis reasons the big boy will do 50 feet in the shot and anywhere from 150 to 160 in the discus. Stone, who is back with the Hawks, was second in the National JC Meet discus throw in 1960. Others who could figure heavily in Hawk track plans include Charles Smith, Big Spring, a half-miler; Johnny Ramirez, Rankin, who ran a 4:33 mile last year; Robert Galvan, Lorraine, who was timed in 4:32 in the mile while still in high school and who has great potential; and Marshall McCrummen, Lubbock Monterey, who placed third in the broad jump of the state meet last year.

Each franchise cost $25,000, so $200,000 should be taken off for that. Capital investment for each club is estimated at $75,000, this including equipment for playing the games, office setups, etc., which won't have to be repeated any time soon. Dallas, for instance, built an office and bought two lots on which it laid out capital investments would total about $600,000, which should be taken off. And when the actual losses are totaled they will run around $2,500,000. Owners of the eight franchises don't think this is so bad for a start. "I wonder how much the National Football League clubs lost through the years in getting going," says Commissioner Joe Foss. All couldn't have been peaches and cream, he observed, since there were 32 franchise changes in the NFL in its better than 40 years of existence. Boston may not have lost anything. It spent $300,000 on its stadium and its losses for the season were placed at $300,000. So it broke even. However, no other club was as fortunate. Denver dropped $700,000 in addition to its expenditure on the stadium. New York announced it has lost $450,000 (this including the $300,000 spent on the field). Buffalo dropped $175,000, Houston $490,000 (taking in about $700,000 spent in court), Oakland $400,000 and Los Angeles $80,000. Buffalo, Los Angeles, Dallas and Oakland spent nothing on plants. In the coming year the clubs will have to spend much less because they already have most of their players and equipment. They'll even be putting out less in bonus money. The average salary in the league was $9,000, according to Foss. The highest paid was Billy Cannon of Houston, who got over $30,000. The average attendance was 16,000 to 17,000, which isn't enough to pay expenses. Buffalo, however, says it can make it on 21,000, which is about seven thousand less than Dallas needs. Buffalo averaged 14,500. Each club got around $185,000 from television to soften the load.

Jacksonville lead powerful Kilgore by one point in only 45 seconds to play in a recent game, finally lost by six. Bobby Evans and Homer Mills, who performed for Harton here last year, are now at Jacksonville. However, Mills has been handicapped by a twisted knee. Terry Tredaway of Huntington appears to be Harton's top hand, although such boys as Mahank's Charles Groom, Gale Driver, Woden; and Jerry Perry, Bullard, are close to him. Harton expects the record for the distance. Chick Polly was in at 1:09.2 for six furlongs. Millard Bennett, the former HCJC trackster now at East Texas State College, will run in both the 440 and mile relay in the SWC Coaches Association indoor meet at Fort Worth next month. The gym at the New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped at Alamogordo has been renamed for the late Dr. Neal Quimby, father of Big Spring's Bill Quimby. Representative Making Sales Pitch Tonto Coleman, brother of Big Spring's Carl Coleman, has retired from active coaching. He'll concentrate on his duties as assistant athletic director and supervisor of the physical education department at Georgia Tech. He'll continue in an advisory capacity with the Tech staff, however. Rep. Red Berry of San Antonio heads the drive to get the state legislature to give the green light to pari-mutuel betting in this state this year (it would still have to be approved by the voters and here are some of the very pertinent selling points in his campaign: (1) Tax receipts from horse racing last year shot up ten per cent, to $243 million, in the 24 states in which betting on the bangtalls is legal; (2) legalized track betting would be one of the state's best tourist attractions and the tourist business is sadly in need of a shot in the arm—whereas the state had 10,200,000 tourists who spent $531 million here in 1957, only 9,600,000 visitors spent $431 million two years later; (3) Texas is universally known as the home of good racing stock, yet is in a position where it can't show off its own animals. California alone raises $37 million a year for state services from its race tracks, Berry says, topped only by New York, where the tax bite amounts to $96.5 million. Berry also reminds that the transient trade buys such items as cigarettes and gasoline, on which there are sales taxes. The city of New Orleans got five per cent of its operative income, $1.4 million, from its tracks last year. Berry contends that the state legislature is forever seeking new sources of revenue but has been slow to investigate this possibility, even though the decision would be entirely up to the people, and not the solons themselves. He says that if the legislators could vote on his proposition by secret ballot, it would carry by better than 3-1. Berry was elected in San Antonio solely on his pari-mutuel proposals, beating six other candidates from wire to wire. "The horses beat him," said Berry, of his leading opponent, Rep. James A. McKay, former president of the San Antonio Bar Association, who was seeking his second term.

The Bulldogs jumped into an early lead and were out from under straight contests the Bulldogs commanding 10-point advantage at half time. Ronnie Reeger paced the Merkel team in point-getting with 11 points. Coahoma also won the girls' game, 44-43, despite the fact that

Jayhawks Ranked Fifth In Nation

HOWARD COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE is rated fifth among the nation's junior college basketball teams by the National Junior College Athletic Association. The Jayhawks earned the spot at a time they had a 15-3 won-lost record—not long after they had been upset by NMMI. Proome Tech of New York, which won its first 12 games, was ranked first. Only Texas team to rank above HGJC was Tyler, whose only loss in 14 games was to HGJC. The Jayhawks beat Tyler by ten points in the Christmas week tournament here. Last year's national champion, Parsons, Kansas, was not rated among the top teams. The leading ten: 1. Broome Tech, N. Y., (19-0). 2. Dodge City, Kan. (18-1). 3. Dodge City, Kan. (15-1). 4. Trojan Cage Fortune In Big Improvement

By DON WEISS
Southern California, acting more and more like the best Trojan troupe in Forrest Two good's 11 years as coach, is moving smoothly toward next week's showdown with UCLA which could determine the West Coast's major challenger for college basketball honors. The Trojans, ninth-ranked nationally, pushed their winning streak to six and their season record to 13-2 Friday night, 74-51 over Air Force. The victory wrapped up a doubleheader at the Los Angeles Arena, which opened with UCLA (11-3) routing Denver 85-64, and gave basketball's top members a split in scattered Friday night action after a couple of weeks of mid-term examinations.

WITH THE TWINS

Mincher Is Due To Make Grade

NEW YORK (AP) — When the new Minnesota Twins inaugurate major league baseball in Minneapolis-St. Paul next April it will go so with all the old Washington faces. Few newcomers are expected to make the grade. The rookie with the best chance is Don Mincher, 22, a first baseman acquired from the Chicago White Sox a year ago in a trade. Mincher began as an outfielder but Manager Cookie Lavagetto gave him a first baseman's mitt and told him the job was his if he could hold it. He held it for about a month but obviously was in need of more experience and was optioned to Charleston of the American Association. In 27 games with the Senators, he batted .241 with two homers. The Meridianville, Ala., boy's back and this time he is expected to stick. He enjoyed a good season at Charleston, hitting .306. A majority of the newcomers are pitchers, all of doubtful quality. They include Jim Kaat, who probably no longer can be termed a rookie because he hurled 50 innings in the big leagues last year, winning only one of six decisions at Washington. The 22-year-old Southpaw was 7-10 at Charleston. Ted Sadowski, a right-hander,

White Sox To Pay Minoos Record Wage This Year

By JOE MOOSHLI
CHICAGO (AP)—Only Minnie Minoos could do it—receive the biggest salary ever paid by the Chicago White Sox at an age when other players have called it quits. Minoos is one of those fellows who doesn't quit, and that's one of the reasons which prompted President Bill Veck to offer Minnie an estimated $50,000. The previous White Sox high of $45,000 went to second baseman Nellie Fox, who was named the league's most valuable player after the Sox won the 1959 pennant. Minoos is listed as 37 in the record book. There are those who question his age, but this makes little difference to Minoos. He had a good year in which he batted .311, drove in 105 runs, hit 50 home runs and led the league with 184 hits while playing in all 154 games. Yet Minoos has had better years. So why the big salary?

Joneses Get The Job Done

When Coach Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics wants to cool a fire, he just calls on his two firemen, the Joneses boys. The pair doused cold water on the red-hot Detroit Pistons Friday night and the Celtics went on to win the ball game, 140-111. Until they came up against Sam Jones and K. C. Jones, the Pistons had been setting the national Basketball Association on fire. They had won seven games in a row and showed no signs of cooling off. In the first period against the Celtics, the Pistons ran up a 29-16 first quarter lead. In came the ball-hawking Jones boys and suddenly the Pistons became icicles. In other NBA action, the Syracuse Nationals defeated the Cincinnati Royals, 138-126, and the New York Knickerbockers turned back the Philadelphia Warriors, 130-119.

Jan Loudermilk Hits Late Goal As Mustangs Triumph

DALLAS (AP) — A desperation maneuver capped by a perfect hook shot in the final five seconds gave Southern Methodist a 68-67 victory over Oklahoma City University in a non-conference basketball game Friday night. The Chiefs only two seconds earlier forged into a 67-66 lead on a deceptive over-the-shoulder basket by Fred Moses. The Mustangs then moved into action. Jim Hammond passed the ball back in bounds to the Ponies' Steve Jordan near mid-court. Jordan relayed to Jan Loudermilk (of Big Spring) near the goal and Loudermilk executed the winning hook shot. OCU led from the start and held a 33-32 edge at intermission. The Ponies captured the lead two minutes deep in the second period and the two teams battled on even terms to the finish. Loudermilk finished as the leading scorer for the night with 24 points. Larry Jones led the Chiefs with 18. The victory pushed SMU's season record to 8-6 and left the Chiefs, who had beaten the Mustangs earlier, at 17-6. The leading ten: 1. Broome Tech, N. Y., (19-0). 2. Dodge City, Kan. (18-1). 3. Dodge City, Kan. (15-1). 4. Tyler (13-1). 5. Howard County (15-3). 6. Independence, Kan. (12-2). 7. Pueblo, Colo. (11-3). 8. Joliet, Ill. (11-1). 9. Eastern Oklahoma (9-1). 10. Coffeyville, Kan. Jayhawks Ranked Fifth In Nation

HOWARD COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE is rated fifth among the nation's junior college basketball teams by the National Junior College Athletic Association. The Jayhawks earned the spot at a time they had a 15-3 won-lost record—not long after they had been upset by NMMI. Proome Tech of New York, which won its first 12 games, was ranked first. Only Texas team to rank above HGJC was Tyler, whose only loss in 14 games was to HGJC. The Jayhawks beat Tyler by ten points in the Christmas week tournament here. Last year's national champion, Parsons, Kansas, was not rated among the top teams. The leading ten: 1. Broome Tech, N. Y., (19-0). 2. Dodge City, Kan. (18-1). 3. Dodge City, Kan. (15-1). 4. Tyler (13-1). 5. Howard County (15-3). 6. Independence, Kan. (12-2). 7. Pueblo, Colo. (11-3). 8. Joliet, Ill. (11-1). 9. Eastern Oklahoma (9-1). 10. Coffeyville, Kan. (13-2).

Midland Five Rips Bovines By 66-23 Tab

MIDLAND — Gathering steam in the late stages of the game, the Midland Bulldogs battered Big Spring 66-23, in a District 2-A-A-A basketball game here Friday night. The victory was the sixth without a loss in conference play for Midland. Big Spring is 0-6. So good was the Midland defense that Big Spring was able to hit only four field goals all night and no Steer hit more than one basket from the field. The Steers hit only nine per cent of their shots from the floor. However, the Steers trailed by only 27-10 at half time and most everyone agreed that the Longhorns were doing a fair job of defending themselves. Charles Dishman again led the Bulldogs in scoring with 28 points. Dick Ebling had ten for Big Spring. The Bulldogs connected on 22 of 47 shots from the field for a good 47.2 percentage. The Longhorns, as is every other visiting team in 2-A-A-A, were handicapped by Midland's gym in that they were playing on fan-shaped backboards. Midland also won the B game, 65-27. Brown led the Dogies in scoring with six points while the Bulldogs had only one player, Kenneth Hancock, to hit in double figures. He wound up with 12 points. Big Spring goes to Odessa Tuesday night for a game with Permian.

Oriole Ace Jumped From Low Minors

By FRANK ECK,

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Steve Barber, the 21-year-old southpaw who won 10 games as a rookie with the Baltimore Orioles, learned to grow up in Class D baseball. That's about as low as anyone can get and if Barber were faint-hearted he would have quit the game long ago. The native of Takoma Park, Md., put in three seasons in the low minors after signing with the Oriole chain for a $500 bonus and $225 a month in 1957. Wherever he pitched — Paris, Tex., in the Sooner State League, Dublin, Ga., in the Georgia-Florida League or Pensacola in the Alabama-Florida League — it was the same story. Too wild.

In 1959 with Pensacola, the six-foot pitcher set some sort of a record with 30 wild pitches and 143 bases on balls in 159 innings. He also made 14 fielding errors.

"I was in D ball three years and made a total of almost $5,000, including the bonus," Barber was saying recently. The Army brass at Fort Knox, where he is stationed, had given him the night off to attend the annual minor league banquet.

He will be in the Army until April 8, three days before the season opens. His pay of about $71 a month is a big comedown from the $7,000 salary and $1,564 second place World Series share he drew for 1960.

"After three years in D ball I have to like the Army," Barber continued. "Those three seasons almost ruined me. I was temperamental. I was my own worst enemy. But Lou Fitzgerald, my manager at Pensacola in 1959, helped me tremendously. He got me to grow up. He used to call me Meat, and I was just that for the opposing hitters.

"Hey Meat," he said one night, "you're going nine (innings) tomorrow. I don't care if you walk 500."

"In the fourth inning I loaded the bases with walks, Fitzgerald came out to the mound and said: 'Well Meat, you got 497 more to go.'"

"I got out of the jam and we won in 10 innings, 2-1. Last winter I got a lot of help from Baltimore third base coach Luman Harris and pitching coach Harry Brecheen. Harris ran the rookie team at Clearwater, Fla., and Brecheen worked with me about four weeks.

"I improved my fast ball and slider. The fast ball now gives me a big advantage over hitters because it has a tendency to act like a sinker. Next season I must work on a change of pace.

Barber turned in a remarkable 10-7 record with Baltimore. He was one of the big reasons why the Orioles finished second to the pennant winning Yankees.

In fact, he was one of the Orioles' big four. He pitched 182 innings. He led the American League with 113 walks and 10 wild pitches, but fanned 112 and was the most effective regular on the Baltimore staff. His fielding also improved. He made five double plays. Six DP's topped the league.

Barber's 1960 record is all the more remarkable because his previous three seasons found him with only 22 wins compared to 32 defeats. He couldn't make it in Class C, taking only one decision out of eight with Aberdeen, S. D., in the Northern League in 1958. Steve has started and finished only three campaigns with the same team. In each case he led the league in walks. Yet, despite his trouble locating the plate, the Orioles, and Manager Paul Richards in particular, believe he could be the future ace of the Baltimore pitching staff.

Rockets Trim Colorado City

Big Spring Lakeview won its second District 1-A basketball game in three starts by vanquishing Colorado City, 63-54, here Friday night.

The Lakeview girls won by an even more pronounced margin, 37-9, as Mavis Newton scored 19. Sue Taylor had four for Colorado City. Lakeview led at halftime, 21-5.

Overall, the Rockets have a 5-8 record in boys' play. Colorado City led the Rockets for a quarter but Lakeview was in command at half time, 27-26.

Johnny B. Wright scored 20 points for Lakeview, 10 of them in the final period, while the locals outscored Colorado City, 24-15. H. Burton kept Colorado City in contention with a 19-point effort. The Rockets go to Hamlin Monday night for a practice game.

GOOD BENCH SECRET OF A GOOD TEAM, SAYS LONGHORN COACH

AUSTIN — "Show me a good team and I'll show you a good bench."

Those are the words of Coach Hal Bradley, whose Texas Longhorns are leading the Southwest Conference basketball race. The Longhorns went ahead of Texas Tech by a half-game last week with an 81-76 victory over Texas A&M.

Bradley's defending champions went into the final examination layoff with a 4-1 SWC record and a 10-5 over-all mark, and as Bradley put it: "Our bench has won most of our games this season."

"You can never have a good team unless you have a good bench," the Longhorn mentor said as he reviewed the progress of his charges. "We had a very enthusiastic bench last year — one that came alive during a time out, one that cheered the men who were playing — but the substitutes didn't do as good a job in the game as on the bench," Bradley added.

Bradley's bench is coming through in action this season because there have been 11 starting combinations in the 15 games. Only Seniors Albert Almanza and Donnie Lasiter have started every game.

The shuffling of players was an effort to offset the loss of All-American Jay Arnette and Brenton Hughes, top guns in the championship last season.

"When we lost Arnette and Hughes," Bradley said, "we lost all of our maturity, toughness and speed. Since we couldn't replace them, we started to experiment with all kinds of combinations. As a result, our sophomores received a lot of experience and at the same time our veterans have improved."

Bradley, who is pleased with the club's progress, indicated he is through with his experimentation program.

Bucs To Try Four Frosh

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There's little room for newcomers on the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates but at least two pitchers—Jim Umbricht and Earl Francis—and two outfielders—Don Clendenon and Henry Mitchell—are going to get more than the usual attention given to rookies in spring training.

Umbricht is a 30-year-old right-hander who had a brief trial last year. Optioned to Columbus, Ohio, he returned with an 8-5 record, a 2.50 earned run percentage and a sinker pitch which he is supposed to have perfected in his minor league hitch.

Francis, 24, had a mediocre 5-4 mark at Columbus but he made a deep impression on Danny Murtaugh in spring training last year and the Pirate manager is anxious for another look at this 6-foot-2, 208-pound right-hander.

Clendenon played at Savannah last year. He led the Southern Association in home runs with 28 and was the second highest batter at .335. He also hit 15 triples and drove in 109 runs. Mitchell, at Salt Lake City, batted an even .300 with 19 homers and 64 RBIs.

There are only 11 freshmen on the Pirate roster, more than half of them pitchers. Al Jackson, a southpaw, had a 10-4 record at Columbus; Larry Foss, a right-hander, was 9-5 at Savannah; Tom Parsons, a right-hander, was 12-7 at Salt Lake City; and Tommy Sisk, a first year pitcher, was 6-7 with Burlington of the Three-Eye League.

Elmo Plaskett, a 22-year-old catcher, bears watching as a future big league prospect. A Virgin Island product, the strapping youngster batted .295 at Grand Forks, N. D., drove in 78 runs in only 93 games and was named to the Northern League's all-star team. Presently, he is one of the leading hitters in the Puerto Rican winter league with a .319 mark, 10 homers and 31 runs at Ponce. His homers and RBI lead the league.

Shaive, Bright May Win Regular Jobs With Sens

NEW YORK (AP)—A pair of minor league nomads, who have been wandering from club to club for years, may finally settle down, thanks to the American League expansion program.

The nomads are second baseman Johnny Shaive and third baseman Harry Bright. Both are expected to win regular jobs with the new Washington Senators.

Shaive—pronounced shay-ve—27, of Springfield, Ill., had eight seasons of minor league experience. Last year he was the slickest fielding second baseman in the American Association and batted .314 at Charleston.

Shaive has had two tastes of big league ball. He was in seven games for Washington in 1958, going to bat 24 times for six hits. Last year, after batting .313 at Denver and .278 at Chattanooga, Johnny got another chance with Washington. This time he collected nine hits in 59 times at bat.

Bright, 31, from Sacramento, has had several trials with Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs. Last year, at Salt Lake City, he batted .313 and led the Pacific Coast League in runs batted in with 119. He walked 27 home runs and was second in total bases with 22.

Jimmy Mahoney, former Boston Red Sox chatter, will vie for the regular shortstop berth with Bob Johnson, formerly with Kansas City. Mahoney played at Minneapolis last year, hitting .236 in 154 games.

Marion Zippel, a first baseman-outfielder, may prove to be the biggest surprise. Only 22, he was drafted from the New York Yankees. At Binghamton last year, the Belleville, Ill., native batted only .271 but he hammered 23 home runs and drove across 108 runs.

Western Faces Rugged Going

EL PASO—Texas Western College's basketball team hasn't seen the inside of the structure which serves as the Miners' "home court" many times this year, and the El Paso team is braced for another siege of on the road contests before they come back home to stay.

Texas Western took a two-week break for final examinations with a 6-9 record after having played 10 of the first 15 games away from home. Saturday night the Miners resumed play in Clovis, N. M., against Eastern New Mexico University. They'll come back home to the El Paso Coliseum Feb. 1, for a contest against Pasadena (California) College, and then they will hit the highways again to play three Border Conference games.

Despite the handicap of having played two-thirds of their games away from home, Texas Western has made a creditable showing. The Miners have scored at a 76.4 points-per-game average, and have two players who have tallied almost 20 points per game. Nolan Richardson, 6 ft. 2 sophomore, has averaged 19.9 points per game and Al Tolen, 6 ft. 1 senior, has a 19.6 average. Don Burges, 6 ft. 3 inch postman, has an 11.3 average, and the fourth starter, Paul Hines, 6 ft. 3 junior, has a mark of 9.5.

Gordon Taylor and Jerry Ray, both 6 ft. juniors, alternate at the fifth starting spot. Taylor has averaged 9.3 points, and Ray 5.3 points.

Tolen, the blond senior who averaged more than 20 points per game last year, has staged some remarkable scoring heroics in recent games to overcome an early-season slump. He made 38 points against Arizona State U. in a game played at Tempe, and less than a week later hit 27 against New Mexico State's defense-minded Aggies in El Paso.

Bearkats Shade W. Valley Five

GARDEN CITY—Dennis Cypert led the Garden City Bearkats to a 56-37 District 39-B victory over Water Valley here Friday night, scoring 28 points.

Garden City's girls also won, 56-31, as Pat Saunders tossed in 31 points.

The boys' win was the second in four conference starts for Garden City. Overall, the Kats are 14-11. The girls are 3-1 in district and 12-11 overall.

Stadium Issue Is In Hands Of Voting Residents Tues.

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Harris County residents vote Tuesday on the fate of Houston's plans to give the major leagues their first "train or shine" baseball stadium. They will vote on a proposed $22 million bond issue to finance construction of a dome-covered, air-conditioned stadium that would be the home of Houston's 1962 National League entry.

A change in financing plans forced a second special election even though a $20 million bond proposal was approved in 1959 by a margin of nearly 4 to 1.

The 1958 vote involved revenue bonds with an interest rate of about 6 per cent. The Tuesday proposal would authorize a change to obligation tax bonds that would cut interest to about 3½ per cent. The switch would save nearly $400,000 a year in interest alone or over $15 million during the life of the 40-year bonds.

Even though tax bonds are involved in the new plan, county officials say the ultra-modern stadium can be built and paid for without cost to the taxpayers.

The Houston Sports Association (HSA), holders of the 1962 National League franchise, has agreed to underwrite the entire cost of the bonds by paying the county $750,500 a year for 40 years.

One more formality would remain even after a second stamp of approval by voters Tuesday.

The State Legislature, now in session, would have to approve the change. A special statute under which the 1958 election was held authorized the county sports center to be built with revenue bonds. The county's nine-member legislative delegation has indicated a switch to obligation bonds would receive quick approval at Austin if the proposal receives voter endorsement Tuesday.

HSA officials have said a Tuesday victory would permit immediate start of excavation work for the 45,000-seat stadium. Excavations needed for placing the playing field 26 feet below the surface will require about 60 days but the HSA group is confident the stadium can be completed for the opening of the 1962 season. Organized opposition to the bonds has been minor. Two unsigned advertisements expressing opposition appeared in local newspapers this week but no opposition committee has been announced publicly. Over 40 organizations, including organized labor and a 900-member citizens committee, have endorsed the bonds.

The opposition has centered on two parts—a fear a tax increase eventually might be needed for retirement of the bonds and criticism of the terms under which HSA would lease the stadium on a year-round basis.

In return for underwriting the bonds, HSA would keep all income from sub-leases for professional football and other events and would keep all parking and concessions income.

The HSA was organized in 1958 and was one of the founders of the defunct Continental League. It obtained the 1962 National League franchise last October 17 after a compromise that led to abandonment of the Continental project.

Contractors Report Volume, Price Drop

The pattern of receiving too little work and too little pay which has characterized the United States oilwell drilling contracting industry for several years was intensified during 1960. Contractors not only experienced another sharp decline in the drilling volume they performed, but also suffered a further deterioration in the footage prices received.

Less work at reduced prices does not spell out the full story of 1960 for oilwell drilling contractors. There was an even larger reduction in the number of drilling rigs able to find work in the U.S. Hole penetration rates increased to a new peak, with the result fewer rigs were needed to perform the drilling services sought by the nation's oil and gas producers.

This double-barreled attack on the economy of the oilwell contracting industry has grown steadily more acute since 1956. Distressed conditions are causing an increasing number of mergers, foreclosures, and voluntary withdrawals from the contracting business.

8-YEAR LOW

One of the factors responsible for the economic ills of the oilwell contracting industry is the reduction in U.S. oil and gas drilling activity. Total U.S. oil and gas well drilling activity, including wells drilled by both company-owned and contractor-owned rigs, dropped to only 46,751 during 1960. This was the smallest number of wells drilled in any year since 1952.

The 1960 level was 8.1 per cent below the 50,893 wells drilled in 1959, and 19.6 per cent less than the 58,160 wells drilled during the 1956 peak.

FEWER WELLS

The decline in U.S. drilling activity during 1960 was of sufficient magnitude to result in less work for contractors, although contractors drilled a slightly larger portion of the U.S. wells. Contractors are estimated to have been responsible for drilling 95 per cent of the wells in 1960, contrasted with 94 per cent in 1959, and smaller amounts in earlier years.

On this basis, contractors are estimated to have drilled 44,413 wells and 181,167,000 feet of hole during 1960. This volume of contractor work represented 3,427 fewer wells and 14,407,000 less footage. The peak year for contractors was in 1956, when they drilled 54,089 wells and 217,529,000 feet of hole. The 1960 volume of drilling was about equal to that of 1953, and almost 18 per cent less than the 1956 peak.

PRICES DECLINE

A continued reduction in footage prices for rotary work took place during 1960, despite a substantial increase in the average depth of wells contracted for rotary drilling, and despite contractors furnishing additional services for producers.

A survey by the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors indicates the contract depth of rotary drilled wells advanced to an average of 6,124 feet per well during 1960, for which service contractors received an average of $4.11 per foot, exclusive of day work charges.

In 1959 they received an average of 22 cents more per foot than in 1960, although the depth of wells drilled averaged 248 feet per hole. In 1958, average depth of contractor rotary-drilled holes was 589 feet less than in 1960, but they were paid 16 cents more per foot than in 1960. The 1957 rotary-drilled wells averaged 293 feet less than in 1960, but contractors received 40 cents per foot more than in 1960.

FEWER FIND WORK

Far fewer drilling rigs were able to find work in the U.S. during 1960. The decline in activity was considerably greater than the reduction in number of wells drilled. Total active drilling rigs (rotary and cable engaged in all types of operations) averaged only 3,687 during 1960. This was 491 fewer rigs than in 1959, a decline of 11.7 per cent. Except for the year-curtailed years of 1942 and 1943 this was the smallest number of rigs to work since 1930.

The average of only 3,687 rigs which worked in 1960 compares with 4,867 in the peak year of 1955, and with more than 4,900 in the years 1951, 1952, 1953 and 1956. The number working in 1960 ranged from a high of 3,919 at the end of January to a low of 3,482 at the close of October. This contrasted with a rig activity range of 4,399 working at the end of June, 1959, to a 1959 low point of 3,855 working at the close of February.

ROTARY RIGS DECLINE

The number of rotary rigs actually engaged in making hole in the U.S. averaged 1,745 during 1960, nearly 16 per cent below the 1959 average of 2,074. This was the lowest level of such rotary rig activity since 1947.

The larger reduction in number of rigs that worked in 1960 than in the number of wells drilled resulted from another increase in rig penetration ability.

COSTS DO NOT CHANGE

There was practically no change in the cost of major drilling equipment items during 1960. Minor increases in the price of combination hooks and rotary slips took place, while the price of drill collars declined by 6.8 per cent. The cost of all other items remained the same as at the end of 1959.

In addition, the 1960 cost of major drilling equipment items showed relatively small change from the December, 1958, level; but have advanced sharply since 1954. The cost of most major drilling equipment items today ranges from 20 to more than 30 per cent higher than in 1954.

The continued decline in drilling contractor income during 1960, as a result of less work at lower footage prices, intensified the serious economic squeeze between high costs and low income rates. Current contractor income simply is not sufficient to permit recovery of new equipment costs.

More Activity Indicated By Rotary Count

Drilling activity took a spurt upward last week, as the Reed Roller Bit Co. weekly survey reported an increase in rotary rigs at work.

There were 231 rotary operations working Friday, compared with 215 a week earlier. Lea County, N. M., is still the top county in the Permian Basin, reporting 28 active rotary rigs.

Stock Market
Runs Weekly
Advances To 5

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market this week ran its string of weekly advances to five straight and—according to some observers—flushed the signal for a further bullish trend.

The signal came in the action of two familiar market indicators, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials.

Standard & Poor's index in the concluding session rose .62 to 61.24, a new historic high which bettered the previous record of 60.71 reached Aug. 3, 1959.

The Dow industrials, on the same day, broke through strongly above the Aug. 24 recovery high of 641.56, making a net gain on the week of 9.22. This average, at 643.59, was still well below its all-time high of 685.47 reached Jan. 5, 1960.

NEAR HIGH

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.70 to 232.60, within hailing distance of its historic high of 235.80, also reached Aug. 3, 1959.

The topping of previous highs—and important ones—by these familiar barometers was convincing evidence to market analysts that the trend was upward. Some were outspoken in their beliefs; but the proof still remained in the pudding.

Meanwhile, the government reported that both consumer spending and consumer prices were at record highs. Also on the bullish side were some surprisingly good earnings statements by Standard Oil (New Jersey), General Motors, Jones & Laughlin and others.

A 3-for-2 stock split by IBM spurred this stock to an immediate jump of 30 points. After profit taking, IBM closed the week at 538 for a net gain of 14 points.

American Telephone's rise of 9 1/2% also inspired confidence in the market. This issue touched a new historic high of 115 1/4 before backing away.

VOLUME UP

Volume of 21,899,864 shares compared with 20,734,470 the week before.

The Tuesday market was the broadest in history, with 1,294 issues traded. During the entire week, 1,456 issues were traded, of which 769 rose and 572 fell.

The most active issue this week was Goldfield Consolidated Mines, up 1/2 at 2 on 239,800 shares.

Corporate bond prices advanced every week this month to make the January spurt the best since August. Despite plus performances the last two weeks, the U.S. government market declined as much as 1 1/2 points.

The scarcity of new offerings, which reaches back to before Christmas, was universally credited for the strength of the corporate list. Institutional demand widened as investors took note of the short supplies.

4 TIMES BETTER

Based on the AP averages of 60 bonds the over-all gain was four times better than the December rise. All components of the average finished higher, also for the first month since August when bond prices were at their 1960-61 highs. Many corporates are now approaching or are at these levels.

Daily volume of corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange topped $7 million par value in each session.

TAX DEADLINE FALLS TUESDAY

Deadline on ad valorem tax payments falls Tuesday evening.

Most local agencies report a good percentage of the roll collected to date. County, state, junior college district and local school taxes all will become delinquent if not paid by Tuesday evening. Thereafter, they will suffer penalty and interest charges.

Student's Family Fought Crusaders

KINGSVILLE (U) — A student whose family still retains land granted for fighting the Crusaders is attending Texas A&I College here.

He is Adnan El-Assad, a business student who came here because a student liked the school when he attended it in 1956.

Adnan's father, Ahmed Nabih El-Assad, has been a member of the Lebanese Parliament for 11 years.

Asked what his family's business is, Adnan replied, "Our business is politics." But the lands provide the income.

The student relates the family story that "A call went out to help fight against the Crusaders. Our ancestors fought and helped repel the enemy. For this they were granted large lands, some of which our family still holds."

Some of the land was lost during time of the Ottoman Empire. The El-Assads revolted against this government.

The family traces itself back to 500 B.C., the family history being easily available because all marriages are arranged by the family.

Adnan said that when a revolt occurred against Lebanon President Chamoun, he took to the hills as a rebel while his father remained in Parliament.

He sees nothing strange in that. Adnan got out of Lebanon and for a time was not welcome back. But today there is a new president and all who opposed the former leader are in good standing, Adnan says.

Building Paces
Last Year Totals

Building permits for January are running close to January a year ago. Business and residential permits of all kinds issued up to Friday totaled $154,250, just $2,671 under the $156,921 in 1960.

New residences accounted for $128,750 of this total.

With just two more full days for permits left in the month, the total may equal or pass last January's.

Europe Approves
Kennedy Actions

PARIS (AP)—West Europeans closely scrutinized President Kennedy's conduct during his first week in office and with rare accord chalked up positive marks.

Political leaders and editorial writers grasped hopefully at the signs of an easing of tension between Moscow and Washington, though a few wondered how long the honeymoon would last.

Even Western Europe's strongest Communist parties, in Italy and France, put aside their vitriol. They advised a new look at the intentions of the United States with Kennedy at the helm.

The independent and widely respected Le Monde of Paris set the general tone with an editorial headed "Good Manners."

Speaking of the liberation of two imprisoned RB47 fliers by the Soviet Union and Kennedy's assurance that 172 flights over the Soviet Union will not be resumed, Le Monde said: "(These) two obstacles had since last summer barred the way to a resumption of negotiations between East and West. These obstacles are now lifted."

ADEPTNESS

Le Monde said Kennedy handled himself with "clairvoyance and adeptness" in his Wednesday news conference, his first as President.

West Germany's Social Democratic party spoke enthusiastically of Kennedy's inaugural address.

"There are and will always be hours in the history of mankind when a powerful man through the proclamation of his ideas lights up the picture of the world, making the obscure clear and showing new ways. That is what Kennedy, the young president of the United States, succeeded in doing," the Social Democratic party said.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party said Kennedy has shown himself to be a "man determined to attack the problems facing him with initiative and energy."

RESTRAINT

Kennedy's comments indicated he will not be "seduced into a spectacular summit conference," the party press service said.

Showing a note of restraint, the independent Frankfurter Allgemeine said "Regardless of how much one welcomes the gesture (of the pilots' release), one would like to warn all those who dream of an abrupt improvement in American-Soviet relations."

Italy's independent newspapers were almost unanimous in saying there was great hope in what they called Kennedy's more positive new approach.

General press reaction in the Netherlands was that Kennedy has made a good start. The Socialist Het Parool said he "has been accepted as a leader, worthy to be followed."

London's mass circulation dailies heavily played Kennedy's news conference.

Said the Daily Express: "Between Washington and Moscow tokens of good will have been exchanged, important in themselves and more important because they suggest a desire in both capitals that good will should go further. It may be too early to make predictions of happier times. But it is not too early to hope for them."

The London Times, referring to the live television coverage, warned that it could be a "two-edged weapon especially dangerous in fumbling hands." But it added: "President Kennedy is not likely to fumble much."

West Berliners seemed generally to approve Kennedy's first steps, but there was some disappointment that he did not mention the isolated city's problem in his first news conference.

Vienna's independent Neues Oesterreich praised Kennedy's executive order on food allocations to needy persons in the United States.

DEAR ABBY

HE'S A TWO-TIMER

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For a 23-year-old college graduate I guess I'm pretty stupid, but here's my situation: Last year I met a very attractive man of 29. He told me from the start he'd been keeping company for several years with a woman a little older than himself, and he had no intention of severing their relationship. From all appearances their "relationship" included everything but the marriage license.

I have fallen head over heels in love with him and would give anything to have him for myself. He says he "loves" me but he loves her, too. He sees me on Tuesdays, Fridays and every other Sunday. It kills me to know he is with her when he's not with me. I can't give him up and can't live without him. Is there a solution?

HOPELESSLY IN LOVE
DEAR HOPELESSLY: You CAN live without him and you'll probably have to, so save yourself further agony and call it quits while you still have your youth. Your Romeo wants to eat his cake and have it, too. Give him the "frosting" he so properly deserves.

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it considered proper etiquette for a person who is entering a room to say, "Good morning" (or "good evening," whichever the case may be) rather than for the person who is already in the room to say "Hi" first? This has bothered me for years because I was taught that the person entering the room should greet those already there. Some people don't know this apparently.

DEAR IRRITATED: Common sense is the best rule. Before the silence becomes awkward, say "hello" and to heck with what's proper.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is the sweetest, most wonderful person in the world — when she isn't drinking. Lately, she is so loaded by noon every day you can't reason with her. The worst part of it is that no one in her family thinks this is a problem. They say, "Ma's feeling good," and will even have one with her any time of the night or day.

I want to help her because she is getting worse. My husband travels and doesn't seem to realize how serious it is, and her other children think I'm a busybody. Can you help me? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Investigate "Al Anon"—a branch of Alcoholics Anonymous, whose purpose it is to teach the families and friends of alcoholics how to cope with them.

Enrollment Reaches 526

Enrollment for the second semester at Howard County Junior College reached 526 Saturday morning.

However, some increase is expected Monday with return of some senior college students who have indicated they plan to enroll here for the spring semester.

Deadline for registering is the end of this week, but Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, urged those who are contemplating enrollment to do so Monday or as early in the week as possible. To wait until the end of the second week before starting makes it a formidable task to catch up in class, he pointed out.

Mrs. Jackson Wins Incentive Award

A $100 incentive check was recently awarded to Mrs. Ola Jackson of Wing Publications, Webb AFB, for her sustained superior performance from December, 1959 to June, 1960. She is employed as a distribution clerk.

Joining Wing Publications in August 1959, Mrs. Jackson gained a working knowledge of the different functions within the section, and began resolving non-technical questions in the absence of her supervisor.

Mrs. Jackson has also learned shorthand since coming to Webb. She and her husband moved to Big Spring in September, 1958 from Spur. She is currently enrolled at Howard County Junior College.

Small-Fry Fashion Parade

JUST RIGHT FOR LITTLE FISHERS are the Capri pants and the clam diggers worn by these two young models who will appear in the fashion parade for members and guests of the Cosden Women's Club luncheon, Feb. 9. Holding the pole is Leslie Harris, who chose Capri pants in turquoise with blouse of white appliqued with a ship of the polka-dotted fabric. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harris, 1313 Mulberry. The successful fisherman is Mary Kay Cochran, who wears clam diggers of ticking with a red shirt; her parents are the Ennis Cochrans.

THE QUEEN OF HEARTS could not be prettier than Linda Cochran in her dress of white silk organza with red cummerbund and matching slippers. White tulle ruffles outline the low, wide neckline and hem. For the heart presentation, John Edward Fowler has donned a white jacket with black trousers. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Cochran, 603 E. 13th; John's grandmother is Mrs. Alice Miller, 404 Westover.

CHOOSING HIS PARTNER for the next square dance is David Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ladd Smith, 2208 Morrison; seems he has just asked for a do-si-do with Sonia Lusk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lusk, 313 Lincoln. Nothing strange in that, either, since she is a picture in her full-skirted dance dress of orchid in two intensities, with ric-rac braid shading from dark to light. David's suit is a black and tan combination gaily embroidered in bright colors and enhanced with fancy buttons. The two will be part of the nursery rhyme dress revue to be given for the Cosden Women's Club, Feb. 9, at Cosden Club.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

This doesn't seem like good weather to sell white patent leather shoes and bags, but it won't be long before they are on display at the ladies' shops and stores, according to word from the new spring market. These will be worn with gorgeous high color of greens, bon bon blues, and orange. Jewelry ready for the buyers is light and bulky and will match the pretty shades of materials in the dresses.

Not only are these colors prevalent in dresses and jewelry but in bags, bedspreads and shoes. The handbags that attract the most attention are the novelty ones. For the early spring, shops are already showing the various shades of green that have a grayish tinge, which almost every woman wears well.

This won't happen again anytime soon, I am sure, but there does have to be a first time for everything . . . Friday I was the first guest to arrive at the tea for bride-to-be, SALLY COWPER. Given in the Ted Groebel home, it was a beautiful affair with a nice, frosty background of winter.

A.2.C BILLY J. HUGHES, formerly of Webb AFB, arrived in Korea at Kimpo AFB Thursday for a year's tour of duty. Mrs. Hughes, the former MARY KATHERINE WYATT, will live with her parents while her husband is in Korea.

A. I. C. AND MRS. RICHARD JOHNSON and their daughter, RONDA LYNN, will be here another week on leave from their base at Offutt AFB, Omaha, Neb. They are visiting in the home of her mother, MRS. LOGAN GRID-

ER, and Mr. Grider. Mrs. Johnson is the former DANNA LEE GREENWOOD.

CATHY McREE, a January graduate of Texas Tech has already been on a teaching job in Albuquerque, N. M., for a week. Miss McREE is teaching 36 pupils in the third grade at the Collette Park School.

Another local January grad of Tech is BOBBY GRANT, who is to be a teacher of eighth grade math at Ruidoso Junior High. Grant was valedictorian of the 1957 graduating class of Big Spring High.

MR. AND MRS. STORMY EDWARDS, MRS. DON REYNOLDS and her children, "Frosty" and Katie, are visiting in Ruidoso, N.M., with the Sonny Edwardses. They expect to return Monday if the weather permits.

Another visit to New Mexico that hinges on the weather is one to Santa Fe by MR. AND MRS. BART WILKINSON. They plan to visit their daughter and her family, the Dean Millers.

MRS. ETHEL STOCKTON and MRS. ARAH BOHANAN have returned from a marketing trip to Dallas. RANDALL POLK flew in from New York Thursday night, and MRS. HART PHILLIPS came home from the New York market by train Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan R. Robinson of Midland are parents of a baby girl, born Jan. 25 in Cowper Clinic and Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Robinson of Lenoir, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robinson, 1307 Settles.

Pages To Note Anniversary

A luncheon today in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis G. Page E. 17th, will mark their Golden Wedding anniversary.

The two lived in Rotan when Page met Lola Martin at a summer picnic in 1910—the meeting being arranged by a sister-in-law of the young lady. The arrangement seemed an instant success as the two began their courtship and on Jan. 29, 1911, they were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. R. Martin, parents of the bride.

Farms at Rotan and at Merkel were homes for the family, and the couple's two daughters were born in Rotan. Then a move to Knott brought them "out west."

After several years in the Knott community, the Pages moved into Big Spring, where he operated a trucking business for about 10 years. Another business venture was a cab company, which Page operated, and then he became interested in restaurants, operating one for about three years before his retirement in 1957.

Not content to be idle, Page established a system of rental property in both Abilene and Big Spring. Today, friends and relatives will gather at their home for luncheon, with which their two daughters, Mrs. Frank Barnard and Mrs. Riley Knightstep, will assist. There are four grandchildren and three great-grandsons.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Actresses Help With Readers' Problems

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—(Editor's Note: Miss Lane invites your letter but regrets that a personal reply cannot be given. If you would like your question and answer to appear in this column, please write: Questions and Answers, Lydia Lane, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, Calif.)

Q—I am in my early twenties and I have had a problem since I was in high school. When I wake up in the morning, my eyes are puffy for hours. My boss made a crack about "you should get more sleep." This hurt me as I try to get eight hours every night. What can I do? Please help me. (Germaine, Kenosha, Wis.)

A—Ida Lupino had a similar problem. "The shots of me in the morning," she confessed, "did not match the afternoon shots because of the puffs under my eyes. But I finally found a way to get rid of them. The first thing every morning I use alternating hot and cold compresses. I soaked my wash cloth in water as hot as I could stand and put it over my eyelids. I know that hot water is supposed to increase swelling, but when I followed the heat with very cold compresses, it helped to reduce the puffiness like nothing else."

Q—I won the title of campus queen my senior year at high school, and I have always taken a lot of pride in my appearance. I'm worried about the back of my legs. They will look like a piece of corrugated paper, if I don't do something soon. I am 32 and the mother of three children. I am busy but willing to take time to exercise if I know what exercises to do. (Mrs. T.E.A., Chicago, Ill.)

A—Joanne Dru's favorite exercise for keeping the thighs firm is: "Get a five pound weight (a heavy book will do), and with your feet apart, swing down with a straight spine, bringing your arms and the weight as far between your legs as possible. "Do this 10 times every morning. You should feel a good pull in your legs every time you swing. As you become more used to the weight, you can increase the count to 20."

Q—I am a tense person. People are always telling me I should relax, but I find it very difficult. Learning to relax is very important to me and to my work, and I would appreciate your help. (John B., Tulunga, Calif.)

A—Try practicing the routine offered by Doris Day: "The way I begin my morning keeps me relaxed all day. Before I get out of bed, I lie quietly for a few minutes and think of all the soothing words I know, such as serenity, peace, tranquility. I let my mind wander to a quiet place. One of my favorite mental excursions is to Grand Canyon, Marty and I spent our honeymoon there, and I remember standing with him and watching the sunset. As far as I could see was the still, beautiful canyon. And after I recapture that experience, I get out of bed with a tranquil feeling." Try her method at night, too, for a more peaceful sleep.

Q—I am a compulsive eater. I hate myself for it, but as fast as I lose weight, I gain it back. My family is ashamed of me because I'm so fat. Please tell me what to do. I'm desperate. (Catherine W., Seattle, Washington)

A—Armanda Blake of "Gunsmoke" had a similar experience: "I had a terrible struggle with my weight. I was always dieting because as fast as I would reduce, I would gain it back. I found I couldn't control my figure until I had corrected my mental problems. I know that a lot of my worry was unnecessary, but I also know that you cannot pooh-pooh the mental side of dieting. There must be friction in your environment or something that is upsetting you. Try to eliminate your worries and you will probably solve your eating problem."

Q—I am 15 and overweight. I hate to get on the scales. How can I lose 40 pounds? (M. J. Flint, Mich.)

A—Benay Venuta says: "I was 50 pounds overweight when I was 13. It took six months to lose it—the slow and sure diet is the best. It was just a matter of counting calories after I got thin, and I never was fat again." Remember, if you need to lose many pounds, you should see your doctor—in fact before going on any long or unusual diet, I recommend now, as I do in all my leaflets, to get your family physician's approval.

FOR EMOTIONAL EATERS If you have a desire to lose weight and yet cannot bring yourself to the point of not eating, here is a leaflet designed especially for you! Start the new year off right with the help of Leaflet M-3, "The Mental Side of Dieting." So stop worrying and start doing something about your excess pounds. Your copy will be on its way when you send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Diligently Pray For The Work of Your Church

BRIDGE TO GOD'S WORLD

The bridge, what a miracle! Tons of steel hanging in air . . . spanning miles of water . . . supporting an unending line of cars like so many ants.

And what a boon to man! The bridge saves untold hours and opens up new vistas of life.

The bridge of prayer, what a miracle! Spanning Heaven and Earth . . . carrying the needs and hopes of believing hearts. What a boon to man! The bridge of prayer opens up new paths of creative living and vistas into the realm of Heaven.

In Church you can discover prayer—the bridge which leads to God's world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Uncluttered Fashions Call For More Important Jewel Styles

Jewelry — all kinds of jewelry — has streaked across the new fashion scene to provide some of the most colorful new of all.

For this is the year when calm, uncluttered, easy clothes gain their drama and excitement from jewelry accessories. Against the background of wearable, comfortable apparel, jewelry provides the

Recital Slated By Pupils Of Miss Gay

A music recital will be presented by pupils of Roberta Gay this afternoon in the auditorium at Howard County Junior College. The affair will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Included in the performers are Sheila and Sherry Powell, Cornelia Garrett, Connie Tubb, Susie Armstrong, Barbara Ballard, Carol and Rudene Dunn and Sherry Stroup.

Also, Janice Reagan, Kay Coppedge, Randy Peterson, Mary Lynn McClure, Linda La Lile, Carla Davidson, Henri Ann Perry, Linda Lu Lightfoot, Valynia Conway, Glenda Webb, Kaye Weeg, Paula Leonard, Barbara Campbell, Susan Collier, Brenda Baker, Diane Banks and Janet Curry.

spice and the fun of fashion. The new spring clothes have a "calm" look, a look of ease and movement. They are clothes that women can enjoy wearing because they are comfortable and flattering and they will provide new reasons for accents and new ways for jewelry to be worn.

Sleeveless dresses and short-ened sleeves on coats and suits bring bracelets into every woman's wardrobe. Bare arms will sport bulky, stone-studded bracelets in new wide versions; multiple chain bracelets in bright, bold, enameled spring colors.

Necklines are flat, collarless and plain. They may be sparked with a big pin and matching earrings or necklace in multiple strands.

Bigger, more dramatic earrings have come into view as hair styles have become sleek and simple. The long drop earring is being worn for daytime now; shower drops and enormous pear-shaped drops look new and different or "after-five" wear. The big bold button earring, in many variations of domed, contoured and abstract shapes, provides new interest.

Pins are important this season because of their design and because of the new important ways they are worn. There are many in floral motifs.

The way pins are worn is determined by the lines of styling of the spring fashions. Pins will be seen on the bold oversized pockets; worn centered in long necklaces, or placed dramatically on the shoulder to balance the new broad full sleeves. Side openings in dresses, suits and coats give pins a new place of importance. Pin and earrings are matched and worn alone or combined with a long free swinging necklace for a more casual look.

Gold jewelry follows as another sure sign of spring fashion. The warm glow of gold is a wonderful way to accent the bright ood colors of spring print dresses, since splashy prints often call for a more conservative jewelry accent. Gold jewelry is a bright but neutral choice.

Fallout Shelter Bids Due Feb. 9

That shelter for nuclear fallout is going to be a reality in Big Spring.

W. D. Berry, Big Spring-Howard County civil defense coordinator, said Friday that the contract for the shelter would be let Feb. 9 following the opening of bids.

The family-type shelter, big enough to accommodate six people, will be built on the northwest corner of the 18th and Main fire station lot. Six local contractors have shown an interest and have bid forms. Copies of the specifications and bid forms may be secured at the post office and the courthouse, or at Bruce Dunn's office in the municipal building.

Berry said the shelter should be completed within 30 days after the successful bidder is notified. This will be the first in this area. Others have been suggested at Abilene and Lubbock.

"This is purely a demonstration shelter to be used as a model for those families who might want to construct one of their own," Berry said. It will be 9x12 feet, with a concrete roof and a steel door. Equipment will include electric lights, bunks, radio, first aid supplies, and water. Fresh air will be available in the shelter through a hand-operated air pump, and disaster period lights will be battery-powered. The food, water, and other supplies are enough to take care of six people for two weeks.

"We can do better," said Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, Wing commander, as he gave Webb AFB airmen a run-down on the 1960 safety record during a ground safety meeting last week in the base theater.

Webb's safety record improved during 1960 and this year's program is designed for a still higher increase. During the meeting where Col. Eisenhart cautioned the airmen about winter driving, 20 airmen received $10 each for keeping a perfect record during the last quarter of 1960. All Webb airmen, except those getting traffic citations or suffering an accident, are eligible for the prize money. Names of the winners were drawn from a box containing the names of all airmen on base.

Detachment 7, 8th Weather Group, won a $100 check and Wing Safety Flag for the organization with the best safety record during the last quarter. Weather Detachment won the award with an accident prevention rating of .44 per person assigned. Maj. Robert E. Thomas, detachment commander, accepted the check and flag for his command.

Winners of the money were: Airman 2.C. William J. Thompson, Airman 3.C. Bobby R. Van Dahlen, Airman 3.C. Michael J. Shober, Airman 3.C. Keith C. Campbell of

M&S Group; Airman 3.C. Milford E. Thompson, and Airman 1.C. George R. Jones of Air Base Group; Airman 2.C. Bobby R. Thornton, Airman 2.C. Gaymon G. Preast Jr., and Airman 3.C. Roy A. Wilkinson of CE Group; AB Claude A. Nash, 331st FIS; Airman 2.C. Timothy Forrest, Hospital; Airman 2.C. Ernest L. Marks, Airman 1.C. Carroll R. Harbin, Pilot Training Group; Airman 1.C. John E. Morning, Air Police Squadron; and Airman 3.C. Hugh S. Clark, Airman 3.C. Wayne N. Owens, and Airman 2.C. Thomas H. Scott.

The flag won by the Weather Detachment from the last winner, 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, is awarded under the point system. The Air Police Squadron was second in the showing with a .73; Headquarters Squadron Section, Pilot Training Wing, took third with .98 and the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron fourth with 1.03.

Webb had a perfect record in military on-duty injuries and property damage accidents. There were 29 reportable accidents during 1960.

Webb lost out in ATC's 1960 ground safety award program. Laredo AFB took the $20,000 overall first place award.

FAMILY GETS MEMBERSHIP

A family, long active in YMCA activities, almost missed obtaining a membership in the Y this year. Due to medical bills, the family could not afford to join during the enrollment program last week.

But Mrs. Arnold Marshall had volunteered to pay a $40 membership for a family who needed help. So the family received its membership this year and three youngsters will again be enrolled in the numerous organization activities.

Trouble Seen For Retailers

AUSTIN (AP)—The outlook for Texas retailers for 1961 is less than enthusiastic, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday. Prices will be under pressure. Discount houses are growing in number, putting more pressure on regular stores. The consumer is more selective, both of merchandise and merchant. The bureau said until employment is no longer at an all-time high, impulse buying will not be a factor to be.

The bureau reported 1960 sales, estimated at $14,664.9 million, fell 2 per cent short of 1959. However, the state's retail sales in December rose 25 per cent from November.

December sales of durable goods, including automotive stores, furniture stores, and a lumber, building material and hardware stores, rose 4 per cent from November. Annual sales volume fell 7 per cent from 1959.

Nondurable goods, including apparel, food, general merchandise, eating and drinking places, gasoline and service stations, and other retail stores, registered a 32 per cent increase in sales over November. Sales fell 1 per cent from last year.

1961 Highway Map Available

AUSTIN (AP)—The 1961 official Texas travel map is now available to the public, the Highway Department said Saturday.

The map charts 60,000 miles of roads.

Also on the map are 830 roadside parks, 32 state parks, major lakes, rivers, creeks and streams and 1,827 towns.

SAVES TAXPAYER THOUSANDS Mrs. Teague has $24,000 idea

Webb Employee Gets Suggeston Award

The Air Training Command estimates that $96,000 will be saved annually when a management-improvement idea originating at Webb AFB goes into effect Feb. 1.

The suggestion which simplifies inventory, accounting and monetary procedures in the statistical services section, was turned in by Mrs. Shirlee J. Teague, a card punch supervisor. She received a $50 check from the Base Incentive Board for the idea.

The present system at Webb requires punching 169,000 IBM cards for the quarterly report. Mrs. Teague's plan reduces this figure to 34,000 cards. Salient features in the new system include monetary saving in card costs, less detailed programming, less clean-up time, and a reduction in the margin of errors.

First quarter saving at Webb is estimated at 85 man-hours and a total cash value of $276. Command-wide adoption of the plan is expected to show a quarterly saving of $24,000. All punch card machines are affected in the new procedure.

The wife of Airman I.C. Luther K. Teague of the 3560th M&S Group, Mrs. Teague started Civil

RELIGIOUS ILLITERACY

The religious illiteracy of our day was recently revealed by a questionnaire addressed to 18,434 high school students. Eighty-seven per cent of them could not name three Old Testament prophets; 54 per cent of them could not name three disciples of Jesus; and 64 per cent of them could not name the four Gospels.

Religion, we know, does not consist in a knowledge of names; yet it is inconceivable that a high school pupil, properly instructed in the rudiments of Christianity, should score less than 100% on the above three questions.

Any youth of 16 who has been given a proper Christian training should not only know the answers to the above questions, but he should also know what the Bible says concerning sin, the deity of Christ, redemption, Baptism, the Lord's Supper, and a dozen other fundamental facts of faith.

Has your child been instructed in these important Bible teachings? Your obligation is clear. "Ye fathers," says the Bible, "bring up your children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

It is true that sometimes the dependable vitamins, made by the same reliable firms who supply us with our prescription drugs, do cost a little more than unknown brands. Vitamins made to sell for less eliminate expensive testing and research.

You can be certain the dependable vitamins we supply are not only potent, but that the designated ingredients are in a purified form your body will absorb. Too often, some cut-rate vitamins pass through the body with little benefit.

Band Raising Money For N. Orleans Trip

By LYN CLAWSON

This has been a rather busy week at BSHS as students settled down and got back into the old groove.

The band is working hard to try to earn enough money to finance a trip to New Orleans in February. Next Friday night is the date for the Mid-Winter Band Concert. All three school bands will perform in the Municipal Auditorium. Tickets are 50 cents for students and $1.00 for adults and may be purchased from any band member or any member of Chi-Rho Tri-Hi-Y. They had a car wash last Saturday and took in about $51.

The BSHS student council is still trying to find out whether or not the exes of Big Spring High School would like to have a Homecoming in 1961. They have been advertising through the paper and on radio and TV, but in spite of all this, they have received only ten replies. The majority of the replies are from recent graduates. Although the council is glad to hear from these, they would also like to hear from those who have been out of school for five years or longer. The council could sponsor activities for the recent graduates, but in order to have a Homecoming, there must be interest among all the exes. If you are an ex of BSHS, please write to the council in care of the high school and let us know how you feel about this.

In the March of Dimes Dance sponsored by the Journalism Department, $128 was taken in. Approximately 250 attended this affair.

Next week is the girls' chance! It's Twirl Week. Permits must be bought for 25 cents from any student council member before any dates are asked for. A Twirl Dance is planned for next Saturday night and the Junior Class will receive the money from it.

Last Saturday the Junior Class sponsored a cake sale and made $111. All the money that the class makes will go toward sponsoring the Junior-Senior Prom. Incidentally, May 13 is the date that has been set for the Prom.

Last week the basketball boys trudged over the ice to play games in Odessa and Midland. This week the boys will again go to Odessa to play Odessa Permian on Tuesday night and will meet San Angelo in Steer Gym next Friday night.

Congratulations to the Steerettes on their first victory of the season. The Steerettes opened against Ozona in Steer Gym. The final score was Big Spring-52 and Ozona-9. The girls will be in Odessa next week end for the Odessa Junior College Tournament.

Congratulations and thanks to the cast and crew of the junior play on the fine job they did on their production, "Mr. Angel," and for the many hours of work that they put out on it. The Senior Play is to be "Tea House of the August Moon" and will be presented sometime in the spring.

Next Wednesday morning eleven BSHS students will journey to Coahoma to induct the CHS National Honor Society. Those National Honor Society students who will make the trip are Ilamela Carr, Tim Williamson, Ross Hamby, Larry Moore, Kay Crowner, Lyn Clawson, Anne Homan, Gary Walker, and Mary Locke Crossland.

BSHS received eight new students this week. They are Ronald Chaney, Mary Dulin, Linda Hill, Ken Griffin, Jack Lalluan, Joan Blackburn, Peggy James, and Danny Wise.

At mid-term eight BSHS seniors graduated. They were Robert Carr, Nancy Jenkins, Jessie Padick, Sylvia Richardson, James Hardaway, Wesley Watson, Judy Pearce and Robert Fields.

Twelve speech students traveled to Midland Friday for a speech tournament. Those making the trip were Nelson Clemow, Lida Fiveash, Sharon Peach, Jodell Hudgins, Emmett Morgan, Linda Morton, Demmie Nicholson, Johnny Cone, Dick Meacham, Dana Smith, Noma Jones and Dorothy Wheeler.

Spanish Club Has A Party

By DARLA DUNAGAN

Monday night at 7:30 the Los Curruacas Spanish Club met in the English room at Forsan High School. They discussed having a Mexican dinner next month at one of the local restaurants.

Tuesday night the girls' and boys' basketball teams went to Sterling City to play their third conference game of the season. First was a "B" boys' game. The game was nip and tuck all the way. Within the last five seconds, Hubert Bardwell hit a long field shot and put the Buffaloes ahead to win 29-26. The girls' game was won by Forsan, 70-48. Bettye Conger made 31 points. Joyce Shoultz made 21 and Jan Stockton made 16. This makes a 2-2 win-loss record for the girls. The "A" boys lost their game to Sterling, 64-38, giving them a 2-2 win-loss record for their 1961 season.

Last week-end, the Junior High teams were entered in the Gay-Hill tournament. The boys won. Judy Hughes made all the consolation, David Roberson and ment teams.

Saturday the juniors and seniors held a bake sale at Purra. The money that is raised by these classes will help with the Junior-Senior Banquet and with the Senior trip.

Cleta Newsom was selected as the 1961 "Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow" for Forsan High School, having received the highest score in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitude, which was taken by the graduating senior girls. She became a candidate for the state Homemaker of Tomorrow award which will be announced in March. She received an award pin with

The Cast Got Wet

Have a pretty girl perform in a tank in a night club—have a group of collegians on vacation at a table adjacent to the tank—and you can be pretty certain that before the evening is over, one or more of the exuberant students is going to join her in the act—in the tank.

This is one of the high-comedy moments of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Where the Boys Are," which has a cast of youthful stars, including Dolores Hart, George Hamilton, Yvette Mimieux, Jim Hutton, Paula Prentiss, songstress Connie Francis in her film debut, and Barbara Nichols—as the girl in the tank.

Barbara, whose new role is a follow-up to her hijinks in "Who Was That Lady?" claims it is her most arduous role to date. Not only did she have to fend off the underwater advances of Jim Hutton, who pursues her into the tank, along with seven other members of the cast, but she had to live up to the "show must go on" tradition by continuing with her act, a quasi-ballet routine.

On top of that, the young actress, who admittedly has always been a little afraid of water, had to accustom herself to being submerged by spending several nights a week in the pool of a Hollywood health club.

THANKS!

The Journalism Department at Big Spring High School thanks the various firms, merchants and radio stations for donating records to the March of Dimes Dance, held last Saturday night at the Cosden Country Club.

Returns from the dance totaled $128 and was donated to the March of Dimes.

Spring Term Under Way

By KAY LOVELAND

The spring semester got under way at HCJC on Wednesday. Enrollment through Thursday afternoon topped the 500 mark with several days of registration still to come.

Starting the semester off right, the Freshman Class held a dance in the SUB Friday night. Admission charge was a penny per pound of the girl's weight, or one half penny per pound for boys.

Another dance is scheduled soon by the Rodeo Club. This will be a western dance, featuring recordings by the Hoyle Nix band. Fred Short, speech and drama teacher, has scheduled readings for parts in the contest play, "Antigone," to be held from 6 to 8 p.m. tomorrow night in the little auditorium—if scripts arrive in time. Providing the scripts do not arrive, readings will be postponed until Tuesday night. "Antigone" is a one-act Greek tragedy, adapted by Jean Anouilh. It will be presented in-the-round by HCJC at the state one-act drama festival in Corsicana in March. Last year HCJC hosted the festival, and we were fortunate enough to rate superior with our cutting from "The Petrified Forest." HCJC will be aiming for that again this year, so come on out and read for a part.

Four candidates were chosen by members of the Jayhawk basketball team last week for the honor of being crowned Basketball Queen. The candidates selected were Marilyn Bigham, Priscilla Riorden, Gracie Welch and Brenda Augustine. One of the four became queen during halftime proceedings at the game last night.

Members of the Lass-O Club met Friday to make plans for their annual Valentine Dance, slated for Saturday, Feb. 11 in the SUB. Three nominees for "Beau" were named. The Beau will be announced at the dance.

The North Texas State College A Cappella Choir will give a performance Tuesday night in the college auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Who's Who has been chosen by the faculty. El Nido will announce the list soon.

Honor Rolls To Be Posted Next Week

By NANCY HEDLESTON

Report cards have been the main topic for worry and conversation at Goliad this week. The names of those qualifying to be on the "A" honor roll, merit honor roll and National Society will be listed in the paper next week. The Merit Honor Roll requires students to have grades not lower than a B.

The Future Homemakers of America held their monthly meeting Friday during their home-making classes. They elected Tim Smith as their "Dreamboat." Other nominees for the honor were Dusty Burnett, Monty Clendenin and Mike Alexander.

Monday the Library Club held a meeting. Miss Agnes Currie, English literature teacher, presented the library with a painting, "The Passing of the Old West," painted by H. Wallace Caylor. Everyone would like to express his thanks to Miss Currie.

The tumbling team and other girls in the PE classes will put on an hour program for the Gay-Hill March of Dimes Monday night. Date for the February Festival has been set for Feb. 10. We will soon elect our candidates for queen.

Monday night our three basketball teams played Lamar of Snyder. The 8th grade was victorious by a score of 26-24. High scorer for the 8th graders was Dub McMeans with nine points. The 7th "B" team landed a victory too. Our Freshman team played very well, but didn't quite come up with enough points to win the game. Kenny Chrane came in first with points. Tommy Erhart and Robert Goodlett also played an outstanding game Monday night.

Tuesday afternoon our volleyball girls will play Runnels in the Runnels gym.

New students at Goliad this week are Neal Cheney, James Caruthers, James Cude, 7th grade; Barbara Campbell, 8th grade; Margaret Merrill, Earl Stride, 9th grade.

Club Youth Area Raided By Police

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police raided a well-known San Francisco jazz spot last week and closed a special section for minors where liquor is not served. The Black Hawk, featuring Cal Tjader and his quintet, had been under police scrutiny because of Mayor George Christopher's objection to "children in saloons."

Police officers shooed a dozen youngsters from the special section.

Owners Max and George Weiss and Guido Caletani say that screening the area from the rest of the club and the serving in the special section of only soft drinks made it legal for persons under 21. The mayor has called this a "technicality."

The owners were cited for admitting underage persons to a night club.

STANTON — A Martin County library fund has been given a substantial boost through a gift of $670.64 by the inactive Martin County Forum. Faculty Is Victorious

By JUDY ENGLE

The freshman volleyball team played the women of the faculty a good game Thursday during activity period. The faculty won the game, however, by a score of 54 to 30, not after first putting up a hard fight against the freshmen. Admittance to the game was 10 cents per student.

Report cards have been issued. Many of the students left school Wednesday with happy faces, but others looked rather sad. A list of the students making the honor roll will be ready to print next week.

The Runnels band, under the direction of L. E. Burchfield, will take part in the concert scheduled for Feb. 3 in the City Auditorium. Also participating will be the Goliad band and the Big Spring High School band.

A pep rally was held Monday in the gym. Seventh, eighth and ninth grade cheerleaders led yells for "victory" over Travis of Snyder and pep talks were given. Our freshman team again came out on top by a score of 75-55. The eighth grade lost by a narrow margin of 30-27, but the seventh grade won 46-23.

Friday night, Runnels' ninth grade team went to Snyder for the Snyder Tournament. The boys were really aiming high, and we hope they brought home a new trophy for us.

The Yearlings will meet Lee of San Angelo tomorrow night in the Steer gymnasium. At the ninth grade game, which begins at 8 p.m., the Basketball Sweetheart for 1960-1961 will be crowned. Candidates are Jan Anderson, Sue Condit and Estella France.

The seventh grade HI-Y had a hayride Friday night on the YMCA bus. Special guests were the eighth grade HI-Y and their dates.

Newcomers to Runnels this week are Russel Mauldin and Armando Flores, 7th grade; Marlin Bowers, 8th grade; and Marriam Linn, 8th grade.

The January meeting of the Future Homemakers was held Friday. The program for the month was "Dating Teen-Agers." Next Tuesday, the girls plan to finish the last part of their Junior Degree work.

Students, I'd like to remind you who haven't paid for your annuals that they must be paid for by Feb. 1.

TOMMY EDWARDS

Tommy Edwards Began His Career As A Composer

By JOHN LARSON

Tommy Edwards, top recording star, did not begin his musical career as a singer. Early in his career he spent most of his time writing and attempting to sell his own compositions. His singing professionally developed out of necessity and the desire to save some money.

New tunes are usually heard by record companies through demonstration records, or "demos." After years of cutting "demos" with other artists, Tommy decided to cut expenses on future tunes by singing for the demonstrations himself. His first trial for the plan was a pert tune entitled, "All Over Again."

As it happened, Tommy's first stop in his attempt to sell the record was MGM. "After I auditioned the record," Tommy recalls, "record officials at MGM showed a lot of enthusiasm and I really thought I had a hit. I did not know that they were not only happy with the ballad I had composed, but were very much interested in my voice."

"The next week," Tommy continued, "I was cutting the first four sides as a recording star, and was under an exclusive contract. And, believe it or not, included in these first four recordings, was my own composition, 'All Over Again.'"

His first recordings were soon hits and Tommy was on the way to becoming one of the label's top sellers. But, the advent of rock 'n roll changed the music business virtually overnight. Like many other excellent singers, Tommy had difficulty in selling his new records.

"Rock 'n roll," Tommy told us, "just wasn't my style of singing and things weren't easy for quite a while. Then I decided I'd just have to put a little different quality into my voice to sell records. In other words—if you can't lick 'em, join 'em."

"I had once recorded 'It's All in the Game' and it had been a hit. It's unusual to record the same number twice, but we decided to try it again. Only this time, I guess I added an extra little beat and an extra little catch in my voice. That was in 1958 and the record topped the million sales mark. Believe me, I'm really proud of that gold record because it pulled me out of a bad slump."

Tommy had his own 15 minute radio show in Virginia very early in his career. Since then he has made numerous television appearances, including the Ed Sullivan Show. His fan clubs are among the most active around, sending him almost 800 letters a week. Among the other hits which have helped to bring him this staunch fan support are: "Melancholy Baby," "I Really Don't Wanna Know," "Don't Fence Me In," and "Please Mr. Sun."

"They are not rock 'n roll. But," Tommy says with a bit of a smile, "they have a little bit of beat to them and I guess you could say I'm meeting the rock 'n rollers about half way."

ODE TO JFK

Of course we're sad to see "like" go,
His land respects and loves him so,
But he's earned his needed rest,
He gave us all his very best.

Young JFK is at the wheel,
The young have nerves and wills of steel,
To open up the new frontier,
This new decade, this brand new year.

A poet once wrote stirring words,
And called this land a "ship of state,"
Bid it sail on, and on and on,
"Sail on, or Union, strong and great."

America is young and strong,
And has another man to lead,
This melting pot of every race,
Of every color, every creed.

God give him wisdom, give him health,
To lead this great democracy,
And prove to all around the earth,
That freedom is our greatest wealth.

PLATTER PATTERN

'Exodus' Moves Into The Top Position On Polls

By JEANNE HARRISON

The beautiful theme from "Exodus" in the Ferrante and Teicher recording continued its steady march last week and ended in the number one spot in the nation's top ten hits. Bert Kaemfert's "Wonderland By Night" gave way to the movie theme, sliding into second, while Elvis Presley's "Are You Lonesome Tonight," clung to the number three spot.

Two newcomers to the top ten were "Calendar Girl" by Neil Sedaka and "Angel Baby" by Rosita. Here's the rundown:

1. "Exodus," Ferrante & Teicher

2. "Wonderland By Night, Bert Kaemfert
3. "Are You Lonesome Tonight," Elvis Presley
4. "Will You Love Me Tomorrow," Shirley Bassey
5. "Calcutta," Lawrence Welk
6. "Corinna, Corinna," Ray Peterson
7. "Rubber Ball," Bobby Vee
8. "Calendar Girl," Neil Sedaka
9. "Angel Baby," Rosita
10. "Last Date," Floyd Cramer

With the orchestral version of the "Exodus" theme occupying first place there are at least six other instrumental versions on the market besides the winning Ferrante and Teicher disc. Pat Boone has now entered the field with a vocal rendition which could well be a smash hit for him. Titled, "This Land Is Mine," with words penned by Pat himself, the side is stirring and vivid.

The flip of Boone's "Exodus" is another rocker's ballad of the type for which he's famous, "There's A Moon Out Tonight."

Perhaps the favorite cool combo attracting Under Twenty disc spinners is Johnny and the Harri-canes. They've really stirred up something with their new release, "Ja-Da," an oldie given every thing the modern beat can give it. "Mr. Lonely," the flip, is a beat-ballad calculated for listening and swinging.

Ruth Lemon, Sands Junior High student from Ackerly, won this week's record album, "Carmen Francis Sings Spanish and Latin American Favorites." The Herald will mail it to her.

Winner of the bonus record is Tommy Gilmore, a student at Howard County Junior College. He may pick up his record at the Herald this week.

Do Teen-Agers Of Today Conform More Than Ever?

"Teen-agers conform more now than they did before." This is the statement made in a recent nationally published newspaper article. The same thought was repeated in an article in a national magazine. As a matter of fact, scores of articles have been written on the subject in all manner of publications. How true is it? And, if it is true, why is it true?

What the writers had to say was basically that today's Under Twenty set is more sheeplike than ever before. What one does, they must all do. If it's trenchcoats, then everyone must wear a trenchcoat. A popular singer is popular with everyone at once, and the rest of the entertainers are "squares."

In order to be "in," today's teen-ager wears the same clothes, sees the same movies, listens to the same records, goes the same places, eats the same food, uses the same expressions as all the others in his age group. This is the charge of conformity and lack of individuality contained in the articles. Some of it was based on research conducted among teen-agers themselves. Much of it was the result of writer observation and interpretation.

One thing comes to mind in reading these articles. They deal mostly with "things"—the superficial objects and activities that can be easily observed, easily measured. How about beneath the trenchcoat or leather jacket? Do Under Twenties have the same goals, thoughts, objectives, desires? Are they afraid to think for themselves, explore new ideas, speak out against the crowd?

We think not. Educators are familiar with the heated discussions a subject can bring about in the classroom. People who spend any time with young folk find out that when you get them off in a corner as individuals, the lamb's wool falls away, and they are different in the same way as adults are different—if not more so.

While on the subject of the parent group, there is another observation to be made. Recently a whole television program was devoted to conformity and spoofed the desire for sameness on the part of, not teen-agers, but adults.

Does Dad go to work in a yachting cap when the rest of the men wear felts? Does Mom completely ignore the fact that the neighbors have a powder blue refrigerator? How about buying that new car because that's what people are doing? Isn't keeping up with the Joneses conformity?

Perhaps this is where the drive for conformity comes from. It would seem the problem is not one of teen-age conformity, but the drive for sheeplike conformity at all age levels. Does our educational system encourage conformity? Or, does it stimulate individuality, initiative and a desire to be one's self, even if that is different?

We believe there is as much personal drive and individuality among Under Twenties as there ever was. Not, perhaps, outwardly, but down underneath inside the person. We do believe that there are numerous forces working for conformity—many more than there were 15 or 20 years ago. And, perhaps these eventually succeed in decreasing the number of people who think and act for themselves.

What do you think? We would like to know if you think today's Under Twenties are sheep from the wool to the heart, or if they are individuals in sheep's clothing. Have you any examples? Does your school encourage individuality?

Boys, How's Your 1st Date Appeal?

By JOAN KETCHUM

How's your first date appeal? Does a girl get your number the first time out and decide she digs it or that it's something she'd like to bury?

Girls are usually just as anxious as boys to make a date "a night to remember" so if she decides you're a drag, you must have really worked overtime at being gruesome. The girls don't expect you to be as debonair as Cary Grant or to spend money as if every day were graduation night, but they do have some pride.

For instance, there's a limit to how long you can keep a girl waiting when you go to pick her up. Twenty minutes is about tops unless you've got a wavy or an excuse like your car breaking down or your good suit getting ruined when you fell in a puddle of mud. If something drastic does happen, give your girl a call and let her know what's holding you up.

Having her meet you on a street corner instead of calling for her at home will make her feel that she's seeing you on the sneak. Any girl worth your salt would rather do things above board.

Pretending to be someone you're not will usually scare her enough to want to rush back to people she thinks she knows. If you perform like a tough guy or a play-boy or a man of the world, things she never suspected were the real you (and really aren't), she'll size you up fast as a p-h-o-b-e-y. (If you want to express your acting talent, join play production at school.)

And please be clean and neat from your shirt to your fingernails. Whether a guy is handsome or plain, a girl feels crawly all over if he looks like a fugitive from a shower.

Remember all those things your mother told you about etiquette—you know, those numbers that sounded so corny when you first heard them. Like opening a door for a female, helping her on with her coat. It's amazing how special a girl thinks you are when you indulge in little courtesies.

There's nothing wrong with trying for a goodnight kiss on that first date, but let it go at that. If you go crazy with passion after spending a few hours with the girl, chances are she'll decide she'd rather watch wrestling on TV than indulge in the sport first hand. But if all you wanted was a kiss and you got turned down, don't lose heart; some girls are still old-fashioned about first date kisses.

Above all, act your age and have fun. A good time is as contagious as measles—but much nicer. Don't fret about whether you're making a hit or not. Your date is just as anxious as you to make a good impression. If you relax and be your nice old self, she'll probably want to see you again. After all, she must like you a little or she wouldn't have gone out with you in the first place.

MAILBAG

Your Problems Are Considered Serious

By BESSIE LITTLE

Publisher Teen Parade

DEAR BESSIE: Because I had a problem that was bothering me, I read quite a few advice columns in the past few months. After reading them I swore I would never write to any column for advice. Almost all of them seem to poke fun at people who send in problems. I was lucky, my problem solved itself, but suppose I really wanted help? I am sure I would be afraid to write.

—JANE R.

DEAR JANE: There are some columns that have as their basic function entertaining readers and there are many that attempt to inform and help. Problems can, I imagine, be funny—funny to everyone except the person involved. But, Jane if you could read the letters that come in to Mailbag from Under Twenties, it would be easy to resist the temptation to treat them lightly.

We take the problems seriously because we know that to the people who took the time and trouble to write they are serious problems of the moment. We attempt to answer them in the best of conscience and in fact, try to picture the person who wrote us as we write an answer. Oddly enough, this kind of answer often helps other readers of Under Twenty Mailbag.

Don't ever be afraid to write Mailbag. We will always suggest you keep your sense of humor, but your problem will get serious consideration.

DEAR BESSIE: I've got a problem a lot of girls I'm sure would like answered. I like a boy, but he's going steady. I like the girl he's going with but I'm really crazy over the boy. I know a lot of girls with the same problem, so please answer this. We are counting on you to try to give us some hints on how to get them. Thank you. —PAM AND CAROL

DEAR PAM AND CAROL: It is always a temptation to find an attraction in a person going with someone else. Resist it! With the scores of fine boys you must know, why single out one who is already spoken for? Between the two of you I'm sure you can come up with some ideas that will broaden your social horizons. Why not try it?

DEAR BESSIE: In several weeks my scout troop is having a square dance. We are supposed to ask a boy. Since I have never been faced with this situation before, I was wondering what is the proper way to ask him to a dance. The boy I want to ask has never asked me out, but he seems to like me. Would it be all right for me to ask him, or should I think I was rushing things?

One more question: Who provides the transportation when a girl asks a boy out? Thanks for listening to me.—QUESTIONING

DEAR QUESTIONING: It is perfectly proper for you to ask the boy. The easiest way is the direct way. Just tell him about the affair and ask him if he would like to go with you. It is very common practice for girls to ask boys to affairs run by their organizations.

The transportation problem can be solved this way. After he says "yes," ask him if it is possible for him to pick you up at your home or if it would be more convenient to have your parents take you. If it is easy for him to get his parents to handle transportation, he will doubtless say so. If not, I'm sure your parents will be happy to do so. Another tip, why not attend the affair with another couple—it often makes the first date more relaxed and pleasant.

DEAR BESSIE: I am 17 years of age and have a problem. My parents and friends say I'm not bad looking but I have never been out on a date. What is wrong with me? —WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your letter gives me very little to go on. But, it seems that your parents and friends must be right about your being attractive. If that is the case, (and it isn't the most important fact in the world) the fault must lie elsewhere. Are you shy? Hesitant? Unsure of yourself? Is it difficult for you to meet and talk with people?

If you would seem your problem is not an outside problem, but an inside one—inside yourself. Sit down and have an honest-to-goodness talk with yourself. Find out if the above is true about you. If so, there is an answer for you. Get out among people. Force yourself to talk with them. Concentrate particularly on talking with boys. Overcome your shyness and reticence by forcing yourself to join in the conversation. Stop worrying about yourself and turn your thoughts more outward. Become genuinely interested in others, what they think, how they feel and what makes them do and say the things they do.

Only by turning your thoughts away from yourself and towards others will you come out of yourself. Oh yes, remember that 17 is not exactly an archaic age—late-blooming flowers are often the most desirable.

Record Program Hit With Airmen

A John H. Lees Service Club program, "Bring Your Own Record," has been added to the club calendar and has made a big hit with Webb AFB airmen, according to Mrs. Mildred Shev, director.

"It would be impossible to carry every record asked for by music lovers, so we encourage them to bring their favorites and have them played at the club," she said.

That is why, Mrs. Shev explained, music hours follow no particular pattern.

Disc-jockeys are airmen C.C. Thomas R. Spring and Joe Perrone.

Success Didn't Rub Off On Her

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Perry Mason's unflinching success in legal matters hasn't rubbed off on Gail Patrick, an actress who produces the television series bearing his name.

Lamson & Gilbert Co., which remodeled Miss Patrick's kitchen, won a $1,484.48 judgment against the actress and her husband, advertising executive Cornwall Jackson.

The company said it did a $10,289 job but was paid only $7,117. Miss Patrick contended the job was not done properly and said she should not be required to pay any more.

A consulting architect named in court to arbitrate the matter agreed that some of the work was faulty but held that the couple should pay part of the $3,172 demanded by the company.

History's Longest Forward Pass?

Attribute the longest forward pass in history to 19-year-old Sean Flynn, son of the late Errol Flynn. Sean, who makes his acting debut in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Where the Boys Are," played his first scene before the camera on location in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. The scene had him throwing a football to an off-screen receiver. In the unique way of film-making, the shot of a boy catching the ball was subsequently filmed in Hollywood on a local beach. So, it was a case of the pass having traveled coast-to-coast, a toss of some 3,000 miles.

Local Students To Enter H-SU Debate Tournament

Thirteen students from Big Spring High School will attend the Hardin-Simmons University annual high school debate tournament Feb. 17-18. The Big Springers will enter all events in the Abilene contest under direction of Bedford Forrest, speech instructor. The local group will leave for Abilene the morning of Feb. 17. It will be an open tourney and any West Texas or Central Texas high school may send contestants. Invitations have been mailed to all schools known to have teams.

In addition to debate, contests will be held in five individual events—oratory, extemporaneous speaking, poetry reading, declamation and Bible reading. Preliminary and elimination rounds are planned for all events. Debate will be on the national high school topic, "Resolved: That the United Nations Should be Significantly Strengthened." There will be a sweepstakes trophy for the school compiling the most points in all events, first place trophies in both boys' and girls' debate, and first and second place medals in all individual events. Competition in the individual events will be held the afternoon of Feb. 17. Debate will start Friday evening, with eliminations set for Saturday morning and finals Saturday afternoon. Hillcrest High School of Dallas won the H-SU sweepstakes trophy last year.

Again, Big Spring High School's band has placed students in the All-State Band. This year's winners were Wayne Griffith, cornet, and Edward Loveless, baritone saxophone, who were selected to win a berth on the state level. The two musicians will leave for Dallas Feb. 8 for the All-State band concert, under the baton of Hugh McMillan of the University of Colorado. They face further auditions if Dallas to determine their rank in the state ensemble. Accompanying Loveless and Griffith will be Doug Wiebe, high school band director, and several other musically minded citizens. Big Spring placed 22 students in the All-Regional Band in Lubbock. That aggregation was presented in concert Saturday evening in Lubbock under Dean Killian of Texas Tech.

ON THE SHELF

THE MEMOIRS OF JACQUES CASANOVA DE SEINGALT — THE SPANISH PASSIONS. Translated by Arthur Machen. Putnam, $5. Casanova, as every college boy knows, was an 18th century lover, rake and adventurer without a peer. What the undergraduate may not know is that aside from these memoirs, Casanova wrote various learned books, read Greek, spoke Latin and did most of his writing in French, although an Italian by birth. Making and squandering fortune after fortune, he disputed with Voltaire, talked to kings, and was repentant in his old age only that he lacked strength for repeat performances of his early revals. This is the sixth and final volume of the Machen translation first published in 1894. Since then, until the present edition, only 4,105 copies of this work had been struck off, if an appended bibliography is correct. Although based on a badly edited and incomplete French text, it's still the best available, pending publication abroad of Casanova's original. The memoirs, produced when Casanova was about 70 years old and keeping black melancholy at bay by writing 10 or 12 hours a day, carry him only until 1773 when he was 48 and feeling the cold breath of age and waning fortune. But during those 48 years he had made love to an almost unbelievable number of women, had accomplished one of the most famous jail breaks on record, and had made a million in France by setting up a state lottery. Moving in court circles, but also in the ranks of strolling players, black guards and thieves, he had been a stool pigeon, confidence man, duelist. He had rescued damsels in distress, served and hounded with cardinals, traveled from country to country like one possessed, and spent money like water, when he had it. He spent his last unhappy days as librarian to a nobleman in a lonely Bohemian castle. Few will dispute Casanova's talent for making thoroughly readable copy out of a thoroughly naughty life. For those who doubt his veracity, savants give assurance that he invariably proves truthful on events that can be checked. —JOE WING AP Book Reviewer

George Hamilton, Yvette Mimieux, Jim Hutton, Barbara Nichols, Paula Prentiss and Connie Francis, starring in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's comedy, "Where the Boys Are," found a unique diversion. Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures SWITZERLAND annually issues a colorful set of stamps publicizing important events or programs of interest not only to the Swiss but to all peoples. The 1961 "Publicity Series," now ready for issuance, consists of four stamps, each devoted to a different theme, according to the Swiss Philatelic Agency in America. The 5 centimes gray, vermilion and blue green is for "Development Aid." The stamp shows a wall under construction with a globe in front symbolizing the young nations of the world. The 10 c blue-green and yellow is called "HYSPA 1961 BERN." It commemorates the hygiene, gymnastics and sports exhibition to be held in Bern this spring. The HYSPA emblem appears on the stamp. The 20 c carmine, yellow and dark brown pays tribute to ice hockey and European championships to take place in Lausanne and Geneva March 8-12. Depicted is a hockey stick and a puck. The 50 c blue, carmine and dark grey publicizes the fully automatic Swiss telephone service. Switzerland claims to be the first nation to have completed the conversion of its telephone system to fully automatic operation, whereby anyone can dial from any part of the country to another. This new stamp shows a wiring diagram superimposed on a map of Switzerland. As previously announced in this column, the first United Nations commemorative stamp for 1961 honoring the international Court of Justice will be issued on Feb. 13. Two countries have issued stamps honoring "Stamp Day" in their particular nation. The United Arab Republic has issued a 10 mills red depicting a model post office. It was the first U. A. R. issue of 1961 and marks the 96th anniversary of the transfer of the post office to governmental authority. Wording on the stamps is in Arabic and English. Italy, just before the end of the year, issued its "Stamp Day" adhesive illustrating an old mail coach and horses (in black) with an enlarged posthorn (in red). The denomination is 15 lire.

Choir To Premiere Classical Works

The North Texas State College A Cappella Choir will present the Southwestern premiere of choral works by Schutz, Brahms and Schubert on its 1961 concert tour. The Howard County Junior College Music Department will sponsor the choir's Big Spring concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the HJCG Auditorium. Frank McKinley of the NTSC School of Music will direct the 41-voice student choir in appearance in nine Texas and New Mexico cities during January and February. In keeping with its custom of presenting works new to Southwestern audiences on annual tours, the choir will sing Heinrich Schutz' "Psalm 136," Johannes Brahms' "Festival and Commemoration Pieces, Opus 109," and Franz Schubert's "Miriam's Song of Triumph." "Psalm 136," Schutz' first important composition, was written in 1619 as one in a group of 13 psalms. The choir will present the work antiphonally—verses chanted before they are sung. The Brahms selection was written in motet form in 1839 and was first sung in that year. The three motets were dedicated by the composer to Burgomaster Carl Peterson of Brahms' native Hamburg. He made the dedication after being accorded "Freedom of the City," an honor which had been bestowed upon only 12 men at that time, including Blucher, Molke and Bismarck. "Miriam's Song of Triumph," a composition for mezzo-soprano, chorus and piano, was written in the last year of Schubert's life. The text, by Franz Grillparzer, is based upon chapters XIII, XIV and XV of the Book of Exodus. The solo parts will be sung by Mildred Armstrong, Alpine, and Claudine Curb, Amarillo, with accompaniment by Eugene Brister, Grenada, Miss. The NTSC Choir will repeat three works which it has premiered in the past. HEARD LAST YEAR Carl Ott's "Dre" a cappella-chose aus Catulli Carminen was first heard in the Southwest during the choir's 1960 tour. The composition is in three parts which are settings of early Latin poems. Zoltan Kodaly's "I Will Go Look for Death," another repeat from last year's tour, was included because of its enthusiastic 1960 reception. The text for the Kodaly work is by poet John Massfield. The choir premiered Norman Delo Jolo's "Song of the Open Road" on a Southwestern tour several years ago. The brilliant example of contemporary writing, featuring trumpet, chorus and piano, is a musical setting for Walt Whitman's poem. The choir will give its concert a lighter side by presenting excerpts from Meredith Willson's Broadway hit, "The Music Man." A male quartet and five soloists will be featured. OPTIONAL NUMBERS The quartet is composed of Carroll Barnes, Abilene; Jon Smith, Dallas; Don Waugh, Brownsville; and Dwight Whitsett, Odessa. Soloists are Vance McFadden, Abilene; Milvern Ivey, Hobbs, N. M.; Frances Walters, El Paso; Miss Armstrong and Miss Curb. The tour program also includes several optional numbers, including a Roger Wagner arrangement of Stephen Foster's "Oh! Lennu" and "My Old Kentucky Home," Paul Felber's setting of Langston Hughes poem, "Drum" and Lehman Engel's arrangement of "I Know Where I'm Going." The concert in Big Spring will be open to the public.

Flores Rites Pend In Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Sabas G. Flores, 63, died in a Houston hospital Friday morning after an illness of several weeks. Flores was born in Mexico, Dec. 5, 1895, but had lived in Colorado City since 1922. He had been an employee of the Pick and Pay Grocery for 29 years.

Time for the service is still pending but will be announced from the Kiker and Son Funeral Home in Colorado City. The body arrived in Colorado City today. Burial will be in the Mitchell County Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, three stepchildren, four brothers, and three sisters.

C. M. (Mack) Jackson, who was reared in Big Spring, is featured in a national trade publication, "Fishing Tackle Trade News," in its January issue. Jackson, who is a brother of Mrs. Robert J. (Jack) Cook and Mrs. Hal Buttle, is jobber salesman for the Evans Sporting Goods Company of Shreveport, La. and works the northern half of that state. The magazine, which devotes three pages and 10 pictures to Mack Jackson, describes him as one of the best jobber salesmen in the business. His story is one of a series under a format of "meeting the challenge of the sixties."

The jobber salesman can either be one of the strongest links in the chain of (fishing) tackle movement from manufacturer to consumer, or he can represent a weak spot where all the work that preceded his efforts goes to waste, the magazine explained.

To prove the point, a writer accompanied Jackson on his weekly rounds, observing how he works to encourage dealers to maintain a well-rounded supply of fishing tackle, giving tips on merchandising and display. Many places had developed such confidence in his advice that they have him write up the orders.

Jackson took his job eight years ago, ostensibly to learn a route. But the salesman became ill and he had to take over immediately on his own—and he's been going great guns ever since. From the first week, he has been a record-breaking salesman.

His typical week begins Monday morning when he hits the road, and it doesn't end until he rolls in Friday night. He averages 3,000 miles a month on the road and pays his own way to the Dallas Fishing Tackle Show every year to get new ideas. As a result, he has developed a lot of techniques for introducing new lines, timing on when to book certain orders, tips on how merchandise can be moved.

Jackson attended schools here, although he graduated from high school at Shreveport. He is the son of the late Mrs. Maud Jackson, Big Spring.

Trees, Like Livestock, Need Occasional Feeding

By BRUCE FRAZIER

Mrs. W. D. Anderson of Luther writes: "We have two apricot trees that are about eight years old and have never had fruit to mature. The first few years they started blooming the blooms were fairly heavy, but each year now they bloom less. They are on the drain that runs from the cesspool."

Probably the troubles come from too much alkali in the soil. The soil may be made alkaline by the water from the drain field which is probably alkaline to begin with, and perhaps made so by evaporation which leaves more basic salts in the soil all the time.

A good remedy to try would be an application of iron and aluminum sulfate to the soil in equal parts. Use one pound of this mixture to each inch of diameter of the tree trunk. Apply it evenly under the branch spread of the tree. If this does not help, double the amount next season. Copperas is another name for this remedy. Use it at the rate suggested above. It would also help to apply a wheel barrow load of barnyard manure to the area beneath the trees.

Many times we forget that trees need to be fed just as livestock need to be fed. Apricots should do well in West Texas, but a little care is needed to get them to produce properly. Often they will set fruit but it will fall off or rot before maturity. To prevent this dust with sulfur just as it sheds the blooms, and again in 10 days and again in 10 more days. These three with perhaps a fourth dusting should prevent the roting of the fruit before maturity.

Now is also the time to remove dead or diseased branches and the time to shape or prune your fruit trees.

Dead or diseased branches should be removed flush with the branch or trunk they come out from. Cut out all dead or diseased wood and then gather it and burn it to prevent spread of plant diseases. Shaping the tree will not hurt it either. One can even the branches just as a barber evens a haircut. Trim the tips of the limbs back a little. This will make a stronger and neater tree. Also remove branches that rub together. This rubbing causes wounds that are an invitation to insect and disease damage.
