'Big Spring' In Big Spring

For a moment, Thursday, it appeared that the "big spring" had sprouted and spouted again, this time in downtown Big Spring. Several thousand gallons of water flowed down Runnels Street following a break in an 8-in. water main in front of Ward's Boot and Saddle Shop between 2nd and 3rd. The full circumference break, city officials said, was caused by freezing and thawing of the ground enough to snap the cast iron pipe under pressure. No water got into the buildings, but it billowed from cracks in the sidewalk before it could be shut off—drying up part of the downtown area in the process. (Photo by Keith McMillin).

French To Probe Air Incident In Algeria

PARIS (AP) — The government today termed French air force intervention in Algeria a regrettable incident and promised an investigation.

Lower level officials in Algiers charged a jet fighter fired warning shots at the plane over the Mediterranean Thursday because the Soviets violated flight plans.

The French foreign minister issued a statement saying an investigation of the "regrettable incident" had been ordered.

The spokesman would make no further comment but it appeared the government here viewed the incident far more seriously than did French authorities in Algeria.

There was general agreement that the incident took place in the early afternoon in sunny skies when the Soviet Ilyushin 18 turboprop was flying over the Mediterranean en route to Rabat.

A French twin-jet Vulture fighter fired warning tracer bursts ahead of the plane. It was one of three sent out, said French officials in Algiers.

Algeria military authorities today issued a communique charging that the Soviet plane was flying south of its announced route in an irregular manner which "made verification necessary."

The Algerians communique also accused the Soviets of violating custom by failing to notify the French that Brezhnev was aboard.

Warming bursts were fired only because the Soviets violated regulations by refusing to make radio contact with the intercepting fighters, the communique said.

A Soviet communique issued in Rabat, Morocco, where Brezhnev stopped on the way to an official visit to Guinea, said the four-engine turboprop plane messaged Algiers when the first French Vulture fighter jet appeared.

The message asked Algiers to recall its plane, the message was acknowledged, and the shooting was broken off, the communique said.

The two communique disagreed about the flight plan submitted in advance.

Flight Plan
The French said the announced itinerary was along the 38th Parallel, "that is, 140 kilometers (87 miles) north of Algeria" and "respected scrupulously the rules of air flight instituted by the French government in its zone of responsibility."

"But for reasons unknown," the communique added, "the plane followed a route far to the south and found itself by this fact in a dangerous zone from which it was necessary to make it leave."

Had the Soviets made radio contact, they would have been given instructions on a route to follow, the French communique added.

The Soviet communique quoted the Soviet pilot as saying he was following a route previously communicated to the French 130 kilometers (80 miles) north of Algiers when the incident took place.

At a meeting of the chapter last evening at Mrs. Lloyd's home, two new committees were activated.

Mrs. Harriett DeLapp, Amarillo, area field representative, was here for the meeting and will return next week to confer with committees.

The local chapter is planning on sending a physician from Big Spring to an institute in Dallas on closed chest cardiac massage. It is possible that a teachers workshop will be sponsored here later.

DEATH OF JAZZ ARTIST MAY END AN ERA

They Buried Picou And His Music May Be Next

New Orleans jazz style of clarinet playing. After Picou's funeral, the 10-piece band struck up bouncing tunes going back to the funeral home. The gay music drew people from nearby houses, stores, street corners. A piper army of old and young, white and Negro, danced along.

ON SCHEDULE

Brezhnev, 54, who is making a goodwill visit to West Africa, arrived on schedule at his first stop in Rabat, Morocco, and appeared untroubled by the shooting incident.

When a Negro jazzman or lodge member dies in New Orleans, a marching band is hired to play dirges and hymns to the graveyard. Going home, following the great tradition, the band cuts loose with ragtime. People dance in the streets.

She's Precise

Now, this is more like it. Dr. Nason declares that in order to learn to solve problems, a student must be precise, learn to concentrate, and, most of all, learn the principles involved in any enterprise. And Suzanne Compton is being precise with these laboratory measuring devices. Now, says Dr. Nason, all she has to do to make a straight-A report card is to be just as precise in all other subjects.

YOU CAN GET BETTER GRADES

To Solve Problems Readily, Concentrate And Be Precise

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D. with HARRY KARN'S
Now let's talk about solving problems.

Your mind is a wonderful thing. It will solve problems of surprising complexity, if you feed it the necessary facts and ideas and give it the chance to operate at its top efficiency.

So few persons do. They are satisfied with half measures, or if dissatisfied, do not know how to do better. Mental laziness is a pit-fall to some students. They memorize a single process for solving a problem and try to apply it to all problems.

Such students don't get the exact knowledge which is the foundation for any real learning. They have not been taught to care.

The time usually comes when they do care — and when they painfully regret the wasted years.

To be a good student you must develop the habit of giving complete attention to the task. Your thinking must be precise, persistent. You must know exactly what is meant and not be satisfied with partial or approximate ideas.

You must completely understand principles. It is not sufficient to know just enough to get the homework done.

THE PRINCIPLE OF PRINCIPLES

Many students in our class in algebra have said that the process of solving a problem is clear enough when it is demonstrated in the classroom. But, just a few hours later at home, the same sort of problem is not simple but baffling. Why?

The answer is that they understand the solution of the specific problem, but they do not grasp the principles involved. They have failed to exert the energy to think the problem through in words.

Since we are going to use this word "principle" often in the next dozen or so paragraphs, let's pause briefly and think about what a principle is.

If you know what two plus two is, you know the answer to a specific problem. If that is the only addition problem you can answer, however, you haven't grasped the principle of addition. If you know how to solve not only two plus two but also four plus four and six plus seven, and anything plus anything, you know the principle of addition. While there is something different about all these problems of addition, there is something fundamentally alike in the way the answer of each is obtained. When you find that, you know the principle.

Let's keep in mind something mentioned once before: The device of talking things out by yourself. This device is vital in the solving of problems.

Mary told us she understood how to do long division in class but forgot before reaching home. We started to explain long division again. Mary reached for her notebook and started copying the simple problem.

TRY IT STEP BY STEP

"Put the notebook aside," we told her, "and think in words instead. Think of the explanation as general directions which you can apply to any problem in long division, not just this problem."

Step by step we explained the principles of long division. She understood each step in words. She went home, worked problems involving different numbers but the same principles — and worked them correctly.

To understand the principle is to own a skeleton key to the doors of a whole house of knowledge. And the best way to hold the principle in mind is to think in words.

Pete was a junior at the university. His major was math. He did all his homework easily, but his exam grades pushed him down to a "C" for the course.

Diligently Pray For The Work of Your Church

PROMISE

The Saxons had a word for Spring. It was Lencten, shortened, in time, to Lent.

So the name Lent was given to that springtime period of 40 fast days from Ash Wednesday until Easter.

Lent came to mean a time of penitence. And it is. But it is also a time of preparation, and of promise. For because Lent means Spring, it heralds good things to come. It forecasts the glorious message of Easter. It is the dawn of the most beautiful season of the year.

The bare branches of these trees will burst into bud and leaf with the touch of Spring. Our thoughts during Lent, our personal preparations, also will reach fruition when the 40 days are through.

Lent is the time for prayer and self-examination. Make this Lenten season really mean something by seeking help and guidance at your church services.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Gunslinger' Has All Ingredients For Success

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Something different in the way of Western lawmen appeared Thursday night when CBS' new hour-long "Gunslinger" made its debut. The fast-drawing hero is an undercover agent for the Army, a real change from the usual avenging sheriffs, marshals and hired guns. Aside from that, "Gunslinger" follows strictly the tried and true formula.

Tony Young, a grim-eyed, slim-hipped young man plays Cord (just Cord, not first name; does Pahladin have a first name?) Who is assigned by Army Capt. Wingate (Preston Foster) to man-hunting jobs too delicate or too difficult for the uniformed boys. Cord's first job is to get a Civil War colonel wanted for torturing and mistreating prisoners of war. He finds him, of course, with the help of his sidekick, a whimsical and amusing Irish-American adventurer called Pico McGuire, played by Charles Gray. Their relationship just couldn't help reminding one of Marshal Dillon and Chester. But that's not surprising. "Gunslinger" was created and produced by Charles Marquis Warren, also father of "Gunsmoke."

It is questionable whether television at this moment really needs still another Western series, but if it does, "Gunslinger" has all the ingredients to be a popular one.

Congregation Honors Pastor

Lamesa Congregation Bids Pastor Farewell

LAMESA (SC) — On Wednesday evening the First Christian Church here honored its pastor, the Rev. Rush J. Barnett. Mrs. Barnett and their daughters, June and Becky Dede, at a farewell dinner.

Rev. Barnett will have completed a 5-year ministry at the church Feb. 15 and has accepted a call to the First Christian Church of Colorado City, effective that date. During his tenure here the Lamesa Christian church retired the debt on its present church building. Recently plans have been authorized for a new educational building.

Charles King, Sunday School superintendent, paid a tribute to the Barnetts, and Vernon B. Bratcher, board chairman, presided. The musical program was presented by choir members whose director is Mrs. Royce Dyer.

Rev. Barnett is currently serving as Chi Rho director for District II Christian churches, and for a number of years he has been treasurer for the Lamesa migrant kindergarten project. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club, a Boy Scout leader, and helped with the organization of the Dawson County Boys' Club.

Mrs. Barnett helped organize and has taught the Couples' Sunday School class of the church, and is also CWF study director. Active in community life, Mrs. Barnett is serving this year as president of Central Elementary P-TA.

Mrs. Georgen Wins $200 Award

Mrs. Hazel I. Georgen, management analysis officer at Wing Headquarters at Webb AFB, has been awarded an incentive check of $200 for her sustained superior performance during 1960.

The wife of Capt. Larry R. Georgen, she began work with the Air Force in 1952 while the couple was at an Alaska base. A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Georgen attended Whittier College. She has been active in the field since moving to Webb, in 1958.

Last August, Mrs. Georgen was honored at the Town House Hotel in San Angelo for a one-man show of her paintings. On exhibition was a life-size painting of His Holiness Pope John XXIII, which Mrs. Georgen later donated to the St. Mary's Elementary School in San Angelo. She has a one-month show running at the Sands Restaurant since Jan. 17. Featured are scenes from Japan painted in Tokyo during 1957-58.

Mrs. Georgen is currently studying advanced design at San Angelo College and hopes to continue at the University of California in the near future. She and the captain are expecting to move to Beale AFB, Calif.
