Legislature Approves Daniel's Water Bill

Racing Measure Hope Seen

AUSTIN (AP)—The Legislature completed action today on the major bill in Gov. Price Daniel's water program.

The Senate by a 30-0 vote sent to the governor a bill passed earlier by the House permitting the Water Development Board to make loans for dams and reservoirs up to $15 million, rather than the present $5 million.

In another major legislative development, the head of a House subcommittee said his group will recommend tonight that the full committee and the House approve a measure to legalize horse race betting.

"My life's too short to keep something like this bottled up," said Rep. John Huebner of Bay City, whose subcommittee received the horse race betting constitutional amendment last Wednesday night.

LOCAL OPTION

Huebner said his subcommittee will report back favorably on the measure just as it was sent to the five men after a long and heated public hearing. It would allow local option elections on parimutuel betting in nine Texas counties if the constitutional change is approved in a November, 1962, election.

The Senate adopted a resolution by Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo, asking the commission on Higher Education to make a study of Laredo Junior College with a view toward making it a full four-year state supported institution. The resolution now goes to the House.

It also adopted a simple resolution by Sen. Frank Owen III of El Paso, providing for a cost of government between-sessions study committee, similar to that recently reported.

The House passed 142-1 and sent to the Senate a bill that would allow the state's four largest counties to open election polls at 6 a.m. instead of 7 a.m., if so ordered by the respective county commissioners' courts. The polls would close at 7 p.m. as in other counties.

NEEDED

Rep. Paul Floyd of Houston said the bill is needed particularly in Harris County.

"Last November we had people standing in line all day to vote and some of them didn't get to vote until nearly midnight although they were in line at 7 p.m. when the polls closed," he said. "This extra hour will particularly help workers getting off or going on early morning shifts at the industries."

The House also passed 144-0 a (See WATER, Pg. 6, Col. 7)

The Long Wait

Prospective airline passengers just sit and wait at New York's Idlewild Airport as a wildcat strike of flight engineers cut normal operations by 80 to 90 per cent. Airline officials said that if the strike is not settled they would begin furloughing about 84,000 employees.

Wildcat Strike Shuts Down Three Of Largest U.S. Airlines

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the nation's largest airlines were shut down completely today as a result of a flight engineers' wildcat strike that has caused the greatest tieup in American aviation history.

Trans World Airlines, American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines have halted operations for the duration of the strike, with 84,000 employees slated for layoffs.

Pan American World Airways and National Airlines maintained token service. Western Airlines, down to four jet flights a day between Los Angeles and Seattle, also continued a token effort.

From Miami to Boston and from New York to Los Angeles, many thousands of passengers have been inconvenienced by the walkout of the 3,500-member Flight Engineers International Union.

PLANS DISRUPTED
Airline executives estimated that through Monday night travel plans of at least 125,000 persons in metropolitan New York alone had been disrupted. An estimated 700 flights affecting 35,000 persons were canceled Monday. Trains, buses and the major airlines untouched by the strike reported a mammoth flooding of requests for reservations.

Among the major airlines not struck are United, Delta, Braniff, Capital, Northeast and Continental.

The six struck airlines already have laid off more than 81,000 of their workers. Losses in revenue and salaries approached $5 million a day.

The walkout was being felt not only by the airlines but also by the communities they serve. Especially hard hit were Caribbean and Florida resort areas. Miami estimated its daily losses at $3 million.

PROTEST RULING

The flight engineers are protesting a Feb. 6 decision of the National Mediation Board ordering their union and the Air Line Pilots' Association at United Airlines to vote for a single union as bargaining agent for both.

Pilots are in the majority and the engineers say they fear the ruling might mean eventual death for their own union. The engineers have asked a congressional investigation of the mediation board's decision.

All of United's engineers are pilot-trained and, some belong to both unions. This is not true of the other airlines.

Francis J. O'Neill Jr., chairman of the National Mediation Board, conferred Monday with Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg and later explained that the United case is not necessarily binding on the rest of the airlines. Each case, if sent to mediation, will be judged on the basis of fact, he said.

DON'T WORRY

In Chicago Clarence N. Sayen, president of the pilots' union, said the engineers need not worry that the mediation board's decision required flight engineers to be members of the pilots association. He said statements to the contrary were "completely untrue and irresponsible."

In Los Angeles, Kansas City and New York, various struck airlines sought contempt citations and filed multimillion-dollar damage suits against the engineers' union. Trans World Airlines asked $3.5 million in a single suit at Kansas City.

In Houston, Capt. Eddie Rick-enbacker, chairman of the board of Eastern Air Lines, said the decision to stop Eastern's operations was made because of threats to supervisory personnel operating some planes.

Supervisory personnel were used by the airlines in place of flight engineers after the strike began last Friday night. Engineers are required on all four-engine planes and jets.

Spokesmen for the striking engineers in the New York area implied that engineers might refuse to man aircraft of Air France, the British Overseas Airways Corp. and KLM Dutch Airlines.

State Drops Smith Case

AUSTIN (AP)—The state dropped Monday its effort to prosecute former State Insurance Commissioner Garland Smith on a perjury indictment.

Dist. Judge Mace Thurman granted Dist. Atty. Les Procter's motion to dismiss indictments against Smith, former Commissioner J. Byron Saunders and Max Wayne Rychlik. The indictments grew out of legislative insurance investigations.

Drizzles Add .11 Inch Of Rain To County

Intermittent drizzles which prevailed most of Monday added .11 inch moisture to the rain total for 1961 and further improved the already excellent condition of farm and ranch lands of the county.

The moisture of Sunday and Monday aggregated around .33 inch over the county. The drizzle was this county's share of the vicious snowstorm which blanketed much of the South Plains.

There were reports that a fleeting interval of snow fell in some parts of the county last night but the flurry was so brief and so light that it passed almost unnoticed.

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said that he had never seen the soil in better pre-crop condition. Farmers and ranchers are delighted with the prospects. Some farmers, he added, would like a few days of dry weather to enable them to get ahead with belated listing operations. However, most of the fields are already listed and in need of no immediate attention.

Ranchers, too, would like a little interval of warmer weather to permit the first weed crop of the spring to show up. The initial appearance of weeds on the ranchlands is of importance in the matter of stock feed.

Excise Boost No Solution, Group Declares

AUSTIN (AP)—Retail sales tax backers said today that Gov. Price Daniel's plan to boost excise levies will not solve the state's financial problems.

Tom Sealy of Midland, chairman of Citizens for Sales Tax, said Daniel was wise in "withdrawing the so-called payroll tax." Daniel also challenged backers of general sales tax and income tax plans withdrew theirs. There are no indications either will drop their plans.

"The only type of tax left that will raise the necessary revenue without crippling any individual or industry is a broad-based sales tax such as we have endorsed," Sealy said.

He called the excise tax revision plan of the governor "nothing more nor less than a selective sales tax, adding that it is not broad-based because it is a tax on specific items.

Lots Of Siesta

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico has five national holidays but in reality workers get at least 92 days off a year, it was reported today. Banks observe 13, the number jumps to 30 when church holidays are added. Counting the 52 Sundays a year, the total of days off hits 82.

TOM SOUTH

Tom South Adds Name To City Race

Tom South, serving his first term as a member of the Big Spring City Commission, said today he is submitting his name as a candidate for re-election. He filed with the city secretary for a place on the ballot in the municipal election of April 4.

Two places on the commission are to be filled this year, those of South and Paul Kasch, who previously had announced.

"If the people of Big Spring see fit to retain me in office, I will do my best to meet each of the city's problems in a manner calculated to help us progress and to improve," South said. "We have a continuing major development program ahead, and I would like to help in this."

South, 40, has resided continuously in Big Spring since 1947, operating a laundry and dry cleaning service. He lived here as a youngster, and was graduated from high school here. He saw service in World War II, as a civilian flight instructor and in the Air Corps (CBI Theatre). Upon his discharge in 1945, he lived in Coleman two years, then returned to Big Spring. He and his family reside at 1703 Kentucky Way.

Mama Worse Than In-Law?

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A man's own mom is more likely to wreck his marriage than his mother-in-law, says a family relations expert.

Dr. Paul Popenoe of Los Angeles, president of the American Institute of Family Relations, said Monday that the wife is usually helpless. Only the husband can effectively convince his mother that her "little boy" is old enough to take care of himself, Popenoe said.

Manned Flight Seen In 3 Months

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States today selected three astronauts to begin final training for a manned rocket flight expected in two or three months.

The three are John Glenn, Virgil Grissom and Alan Shepard.

Robert Gilruth, Mercury project director, announced the selection at a news conference after the successful firing of a space capsule of the type to be used in manned flight.

The unmanned space capsule survived in apparently excellent condition today in a test of the worst that might happen as an astronaut returns from space.

The spacecraft, differing only in equipment from the one an American astronaut is expected to ride late this year, sped upward at 9:10 a.m. EST from the missile test center, on the nose of a huge Atlas missile.

Forty-three minutes later it was fished from the sea about 400 miles northeast of Puerto Rico and 1,425 miles from the launching pad.

Just before noon Gilruth told newsmen that reports from the recovery ship indicated that the capsule came through in excellent shape.

The LSD (landing ship dock) Donner hoisted the spacecraft aboard.

The aim of the test was to determine what happens when such a spacecraft returns through the atmosphere under the worst possible conditions.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that the Atlas launcher and the spacecraft itself performed satisfactorily.

The floating capsule was sighted at 9:32 a.m. and the recovery, by helicopter, was made 33 minutes later.

The bell-shaped capsule was aboard the Donner at 10:09 a.m. The space chamber will be returned to Cape Canaveral within a few days for extensive study to determine how well it survived the jolting journey.

NASA announced 25 minutes after launching:

"Preliminary indications are the Mercury-Atlas spacecraft flew its programmed trajectory, hitting a peak altitude of approximately 107 statute miles and landing approximately 1,425 statute miles down-range. The approximate peak velocity was 12,850 miles per hour."

These figures were very near those sought in the test — a 115-mile altitude, 1,400 miles down-range and 13,000-mile-an-hour speed.

NO PASSENGERS

The spacecraft is like the one that successfully carried Ham, the space chimpanzee, on a short flight Jan. 31. There was no living thing aboard today, however.

The test was a critical one for both the capsule and the Atlas booster, a strengthened version of a missile which exploded on a similar flight last July.

Both had to perform almost flawlessly. Otherwise, the United (See MISSILE, Pg. 6, Col. 6)

Heavy Equipment Moving In For Highway 87 Work

Heavy equipment to be used in rebuilding U.S. 87, from north of Fairview 15 miles to the Dawson County line, is being moved onto the job this week. Work will be started as quickly as equipment is on hand and weather permits.

E. E. Hood, San Antonio, is prime contractor for the job which will involve expenditures of $547,378. Construction calls for grading, structures, base and surfacing of two new highway lanes parallel to existing U.S. 87.

Construction, the State Highway Department announced, is to start on Feb. 21 and be completed by Oct. 1.

Howard County Commissioners Court obtained right of way for the job and have already moved utility lines and fences back on the strip in this county. One mile of the road to be built is in Martin County, where it cuts across one corner to the Dawson County line. Joe H. Smoot, senior resident engineer of the Texas Highway Department in Colorado City, explained that traffic will be routed along the present pavement, parallel to the new construction. It was pointed out that adequate barricades and warning signals will be prominently displayed, but motorists should be extremely cautious in passing through the area as it will be heavily traveled by large highway construction equipment.

The construction area will be zoned for a maximum speed of 40 miles per hour for the protection of motorists and workmen alike. The entire length will be patrolled to minimize inconveniences to motorists. Cooperation of the public is requested in obeying all traffic signals, warning signs, and speed zones.

Chamber Fires Protest To Re-Districting Bill

A strong resolution protesting any state re-districting plan that would remove Howard County from the 19th Congressional District was adopted by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce directorate Monday.

The C-C board in regular luncheon session, instructed that copies of the resolution go to all members of the Texas Senate and House Re-Districting Committees, and to the area's own representatives in Austin.

Under the 1960 census figures, Texas is entitled to another congressman, and various re-districting plans have been offered to provide for this official. A recent bill proposed that Howard and Mitchell counties come out of the 19th District. This is the district represented by Congressman George Mahon, who has been affiliated with the two counties all his public career.

A report from the Chamber-Webb AFB Council proposed that additional get-togethers of Webb personnel and local civilians be held in the spring. A party for junior officers and younger business men will be held soon, and later on, entertainment events will be scheduled for each incoming class of student officers.

Manager Bill Quimby reported that the outlook is favorable for the city to be served by Trans-Texas Airlines, in the eventual decision on local air service in the Southwest.

The manager also reported that the Chamber will again assist schools in a Student Government Day, when high school students—elected in democratic processes—serve in various local public offices for a day. There will be a student county judge, sheriff, mayor, city manager, etc. This event was held last year with considerable success.

The 1961 date is set for April 15, and Big Spring High School students have invited those from Sands, Coahoma and Foran to participate this year.

The Chamber also will join the schools in promoting local observance of Texas Education Week, to open March 6. Details on this are to be arranged later.

The C-C board also passed a resolution calling upon the City Commission to give full and prompt cooperation in the clean-up and improvement of the street entrance to Webb Air Force Base. Base Commander Donald W. Eisenhart reported that the area badly needs a face-lifting, and that his proposal to the City had been favorably received.

Directors accepted with regret the resignation of Quimby as manager. He announced Saturday that he is giving up the post here to become assistant general manager of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, and will make the change at mid-March. They voted him a formal expression of appreciation and commendation for outstanding work.

A committee to consider applications for a new manager was named by President Horace Garrett. It will be headed by Carl Marcum, and includes Garrett, Clyde Hollingsworth, Cliff Fisher, Clyde McMahon, Champ Rainwater, Adolph Swartz, R. W. Whipkey and Marvin M. Miller.

By The Associated Press

What oldtimers called the worst snowstorm in the history of Texas' South Plains dumped up to 20 inches of snow on the area by Tuesday morning and then apparently ended.

The snow was blamed for two traffic deaths. Motorists by the thousands abandoned their cars. Some teachers and pupils spent the night in their schoolhouses.

But temperatures in the snow area were only slightly below freezing and thus physical suffering was limited.

Shortly after dawn, much of the white covering turned into slush. Road crews began clearing streets and highways.

Charles Watson, managing editor of the evening Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, said some motorists spent the night in their cars but were not in great danger because of the relatively moderate temperatures.

HAD A BALL

"The kids stranded at Wallfort school had a ball," said Watson. "They bedded down on mattresses." About 50 students and 15 teachers spent the night in the school because buses were unable to travel. Forty passengers and the driver of a commercial bus lined up in the school cafeteria to eat with the students and teachers.

Orlin Brewer, editor of the Levelland Sun News, 30 miles west of Lubbock, reported that the 19 inches of snow collapsed the warehouse roof of the Levelland Cotton Compress and caved in the metal canopy of a drive-in. It was 9 p.m. before all the Levelland schoolchildren were delivered to their homes or the residences of friends.

Schools throughout the area closed. The snow stopped at Lubbock at 4:45 a.m. It began Monday morning.

CALLS CURTAILED

Long-distance telephone calls were curtailed at Lubbock when operators could not get from their homes to report to work because of the 12-inch snowfall that paralyzed traffic. Texas Tech and Lubbock schools suspended classes.

"Just describe us as a Little Antarctica," one newsmen said. "Old-timers here tell me there has never been anything like it before," a reporter said.

At Lovington, N.M., where 16 inches of snow covered the ground, seven snowbound school buses had to turn back to the school after being freed by snow plows.

"We brought them to the Jefferson School cafeteria where we thought we would have to feed and house them," C. E. Jackson, instructor of education for the Lovington schools said. "But we were flooded with calls from residents offering to take the students in for the night."

ALL AGES

The 125 students unable to get home ranged from first graders to high school seniors.

Hundreds of cars around Reese Air Force Base, west of Lubbock, were abandoned after many motorists were taken from their cars by crews driving tractors and road-clearing machines. One busload of school children in that rural area was rescued by parents driving tractors.

Snow and freezing rain continued throughout the night as state highway maintenance units and National Guard trucks checked abandoned automobiles for any stranded motorists.

The brunt of the isolated storm was borne by an area about 200 miles long and 100 miles wide ranging from Lovington and Hobbs, N.M. northwest through the Texas South Plains to around Plainview, Floydada and Matador. The unexpected storm was in sharp contrast to the balmy 70 degrees weather in the area late last week.

HEAVIEST FALL
The heaviest snowfall of 20 inches was at the small town of Claene, 40 miles southwest of Lubbock. Levelland and Plains had 19 inches, Littlefield 16 inches, Post 15 inches, Denver City 14, Morton, Matador, Brownfield and Spur 10 inches, and Hobbs 9 inches. The snows ranged downward to 6 inches at Plainview and 8 at Floydada. Snow flurries fell Monday in northern New Mexico and the upper Texas Panhandle but did not stick to the ground.

Bobby Jack Smith, 11, was killed when he was struck by a car after alighting from a school bus north of Post during the snowstorm. Ralph Maldomeda, 30, was killed at Lubbock when his car and a train collided in the blinding snowfall.

Except for far West Texas, skies were cloudy over the state at dawn Tuesday. Light rains were falling at Wichita Falls, Abilene, Midland, Tyler and Brownsville. Lubbock reported that a light snow mixed with rain which fell throughout the night stopped about dawn.

The forecasts called for the rains to end late Tuesday and for skies to become partly cloudy to fair. A warming trend was also predicted for the state.

Unions Told Organizing Drive Bogged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A report that organized labor is losing ground in making union members of American workers brought a self-appraisal in the AFL-CIO today that it could spell union labor's "obituary."

Organizing director John Livingston told AFL-CIO chiefs gathered here for a winter meeting that the union is losing a losing battle in wooing workers to the union cause.

Livingston reportedly told the AFL-CIO Executive Council at a closed session Monday that where all the nation's unions had enlisted 40 per cent of organizational workers in the work force five years ago the proportion is now down to 38 per cent.

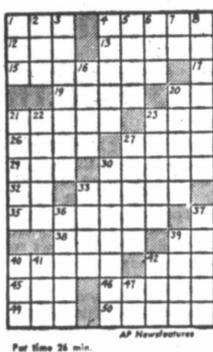

Livingston also was said to have told his AFL-CIO colleagues that independent unions, meaning those unconnected with the federation like the Teamsters and Mine Workers Unions, are winning bigger groups of new members proportionately than the AFL-CIO's own unions.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers, was reported to have told his federation colleagues the waning proportion of unionized workers "means the obituary of organized labor" unless it is quickly reversed.

Livingston explained the decline in union organizing prowess is partially due to the rapidly changing composition of the nation's work force—with the number of manual workers declining along with a corollary increase in white collar, or office and technical workers.

Snow, Floods On Menu Of U.S. Weather

The season's most severe snowstorm hit the plains of West Texas and southeast New Mexico Monday, isolating some communities and causing widespread traffic tieups.

Flood waters from swollen rivers and streams menaced areas in Iowa, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Virginia, Maryland and Florida.

The Southwest snowstorm erupted in freezing temperatures as rain splashed across most of Texas eastward in warm air to the Atlantic Coast.

Early thaws of heavy snows and recent heavy rains overflowed many streams in the East, South and Midwest.

The swollen Allegheny River, carrying a 15-mile-long ice gorge, crested well below flood stage in Pittsburgh Monday night. The gorge appeared to be thinning out as it moved downstream. The Allegheny reached the 21.5-foot level and then began falling. Flood stage in Pittsburgh is 25 feet.

Ice jams also threatened flooding on the Des Moines River upstream from Ottumwa, Iowa. Thousands of acres of land were under water in Calhoun and Chickasaw counties in Mississippi, hit by 10 inches of rain in three days.

The lower Potomac River was near flood stage north of Washington, D. C., due to the melting of heavy snow in Virginia and Maryland. Minor overflows were reported on the James River near Richmond. Several streams in Alabama have risen as much as 30 feet in three days.

Rain and storms raked areas in the South Monday night. Small tornadoes damaged a few buildings and uprooted trees in scattered areas of Mississippi and Marengo County, Ala.

The rain belt spread into the Ohio Valley and middle Atlantic Coast states. Heaviest falls were in a narrow band from northern Louisiana northeastward into northern parts of South Carolina, with falls up to two inches.

Fairly mild weather prevailed in most areas. Below freezing marks were reported in the Central Plains, the Middle and Upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region and eastward through northern Pennsylvania and New England.

Roped-In Student Is Haunted By Commies 14 Years Later

By The Associated Press
What is it like to be labeled a Communist in Texas?

A Dallas professional man, his communism now a 14-year-old nightmare, was found by James Lehrer, writer of the Dallas Morning News, for a series on Reds in the state. The News calls the man "John Doe."

When he was 24, a college student just returned from World War II, the Communist Party roped him in. For six months he was at least close to the party and he still is harmed by that contact.

Here is his story as related by Lehrer: "You must first think about those days in 1947. The war hadn't been over very long; people were unhappy; veterans like myself were unhappy. We wanted some changes in the world, and we talked about these changes."

"I was a member of a small music appreciation and discussion group. We spent our evenings sitting around listening to music and talking."

"This group found my interests and went to work. 'They had me nodding my head, you see. Do you believe in this? Yes. What about that? Yes. How about Marxism? Each time I nodded my head.'

"There were about 10 or 12 of us. I, to this day, could not swear which ones were Communists and which were not. Except, of course, for the guy who finally made the party pitch."

"He asked me to come back to one of the bedrooms in this house... there was someone there he wanted me to meet. He introduced me to a man he identified as the regional director of the Communist Party. He asked me quickly if I wanted to join the party. I said, 'Yes,' and he handed me an application card."

"He made me mad. He started telling me what I would do... the individualist in me broke out and I told him to take his Communist Party and go straight to hell."

"He said I was to stay on after finishing my studies and become a member of the university's faculty. I was to leave the cell—go underground, I guess you'd call it—and never associate with any of them again."

"He kept telling me, 'You're a Communist, Doe, and don't you forget it.' I stormed out of the room, told him he was crazy—and thought that would be the last of it."

Royal Praise For Sexy Film

LONDON (AP)—A sexy Hollywood comedy billed as "the sauciest dish ever set before a queen" won the applause Monday night of British royalty and shocked one critic.

The film, "The Facts of Life," deals lightly with a married man's vain attempt to commit adultery with his wife's best friend. It stars Bob Hope and Lucille Ball.

It was a pretty daring theme to be chosen for the annual royal film performance. But Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, and her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones, obviously were delighted.

As they left the celebrity-studded Odeon Theater, the queen mother told movie industry officials: "It was a most enjoyable evening and we all liked the film very much."

Of the critics, only Paul Dehn of the Laborite Daily Herald voiced any complaint. "Filmmakers with less need to be careful of appearances may laugh their heads off, but I say this is not a film to put before a queen," he protested.

Blakley Makes TV Address

By The Associated Press

Sen. William Blakley joined other active campaigners with a 26-station TV address Monday. The 36th aspirant to the seat vacated by Lyndon Johnson filed for the April 4 election.

The new candidate is Thomas Barton, 43, Sherman teacher who called himself a "Southern conservative Democrat."

Blakley told his TV audience he was strongly opposed to federal aid to education, world government and the welfare state.

Rep. Jim Wright, on a 1,700-mile helicopter campaign tour, spoke Monday in 10 Northeast Texas cities. He said at Paris he would be "senator for all the people."

Former state Rep. Maury Maverick Jr., who has the endorsement of a large segment of organized labor, received the endorsement of Mrs. R. D. Randolph of Houston, former Democratic national committeewoman.

John Tower, the only Republican in the campaign, scheduled stops in Slaton, Lamesa, Andrews, Seminole, Denver City and Brownfield Tuesday.

Blakley, appointed to the Senate to serve until the special election could be held, proposed a series of income tax exemptions to help parents educate their children.

He repeated his proposal to keep 5 per cent of all income taxes collected in Texas in the state for the benefit of education.

DEAR ABBY

MONKEY BUSINESS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The fellows where my husband works started a fan club for a stripteaser and they elected my husband president. He carries her picture in his wallet and sleeps with a garter she threw at him during one of her performances. Now he has brought home a big poster of her and has hung it up in our bedroom. I am not a crabby wife and I believe in letting a man have his fun—within limits—but what kind of monkey business is this for a 52-year-old man?

DISGUSTED WITH MAC
DEAR DISGUSTED: It's a pretty swinging monkey business. What a man carries in his wallet is his own business, but he went too far when he hung the poster in your bedroom. Take it down, and tell him to hand over the garter—and make it snappy!

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that letter from "RICHARD" wanting to know what to do about a woman he loved who was legally married (but separated) from her husband but wouldn't get a divorce because of her religion. I think your answer was very crude. A girl who is willing to stick to her religion and not get a divorce would make a wonderful wife for Richard if her husband died.

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: The Old Folks' Homes are full of people who have spent their lives waiting for someone to die. If the object of one's affection already has a legal connection, I recommend unconditional surrender.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a girl should be the one to answer the door when her date calls for her? I say the girl's parents should do it and explain that the girl will be ready in a minute. My mother says if I am dressed I should answer the door myself. I think if I open the door myself, it will give the boy the impression that I am over-anxiously awaiting his arrival. I am always dressed ahead of time, but I don't think my date has to know this. What is your opinion?

READY BUT NOT WILLING
DEAR READY: If you are dressed and ready to go, answer the door yourself. Your date will probably appreciate it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO N. H.: Tell your children nothing of your past "sins." If you are now living a good, clean, respectable life, the Lord forgave you years ago.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Kennedy Plans Canada Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will visit Canada in what probably will be his first venture outside the United States since taking office.

A date has not been fixed. Kennedy will make the trip in time to address a joint session of the Canadian Parliament before it adjourns. It is expected to wind up in early summer.

Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced Kennedy's acceptance of his invitation to return to Ottawa Monday from a White House visit.

The exchange of visits and a joint statement issued at the White House after Diefenbaker left were indicative of the close relations between the two countries.

In the statement, Kennedy and Diefenbaker reaffirmed the determination of their nations to work together for peace and freedom in the world.

In talking to newsmen in Washington, Diefenbaker in effect rebuked Canadian neutralists. He said Canada "does not intend to be neutralist regardless of the opinions expressed by some people."

Daily Average Oil Production Dips

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Daily average production of domestic crude oil and condensate dipped 4,745 barrels to 7,157,000 barrels during the week ended Feb. 18, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

Oklahoma's 10,400-barrel drop to 503,000 barrels was the principal factor in the net loss. Kansas had the week's best increase, 5,700 barrels to 308,000.

What's In A Name?

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, West Highway 18

When Christians at Corinth began to adopt different names, Paul condemned the practice as divisive (I Cor. 1:10-13). Today, the world is confused because of many divisions in religion, and many different church names; yet the Lord prayed that His disciples be one, that the world may believe in Him. (John 17:20-23.)

As Frank Talmadge once said, "It is evident that no other name but His will conquer the prejudices of men and restore the unity of the church."

We are told to "do all in the name of the Lord Jesus" (Col. 3:17). Christ referred to the church as, "My church;" and Paul called ed the local congregations, "The churches of Christ" (Matt. 16:18; Rom. 16:16).

As you may have noticed when denominations merge in some sort of effort to find unity, they often decide upon the name, "Church of Christ" (though they may add something to it). They know this Scriptural name is not divisive.

FAA Asked To Probe Crash Of Sen. Johnson's Plane

AUSTIN (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says the Federal Aviation Agency has been asked to make an immediate and thorough study of the crash of Johnson's private plane.

The plane, a big white Convair executive type craft, crashed into the side of a hill near Johnson's ranch 65 miles west of here Sunday night, killing the pilot and co-pilot. There were no passengers in the plane.

The wreckage and the bodies of Harold Teague, 39, Austin, pilot, and Charles Williams, 37, Houston, co-pilot, were found Monday morning after an all night search.

Highway patrolmen said the plane cut a 100-yard swath in the brush then burst into flames. The pilots were thrown clear on the impact.

Johnson, who rushed to the scene as soon as the wreckage was sighted, said the plane would not have crashed if it had been flying 20 feet higher.

The plane took off from the Austin municipal airport early Sunday night for the LBJ ranch at 7:16 p.m. Sunday. When it arrived over the ranch the pilots could not see the lights on the landing strip just back of Johnson's house because of the fog and misting rain. They radioed they were turning back, presumably toward Austin. Investigators believe the crash came a few minutes after the last radio conversation with the ranch.

Johnson was up most of Sunday night calling ranchers in the area in an effort to get some trace of the plane. He joined the search parties Monday morning.

"This is an hour of grief for us all," Johnson said after the wreckage was found. "Harold Teague has been like a member of our family, a trusted friend as well as a most dedicated and competent pilot with more than 11,000 hours and 20 years of flying experience. Charles Williams had just joined Teague as a highly recommended and respected co-pilot."

Captive Negro Sit-Ins On Bread, Water Diet

By The Associated Press
Eight Negro sit-in demonstrators were back on a diet of bread and water today in a disciplinary cell at the York County prison camp near Rock Hill, S. C., where they staged a sit-down strike and refused to work.

Prison officials said they showed no indication of giving up their protest against what they termed overwork and the transfer of one of their companions to the jail.

York County Supervisor J. Ed Allen said the eight consumed second helpings of a meal given them Monday, the first full meal in three days under terms of disciplinary confinement. The other days they received bread and water.

The 8 were among 11 young Negro men who chose confinement at the prison camp rather than post appeal bonds of $100 each on conviction of trespassing at lunch counters for white persons in downtown Rock Hill. One was transferred to jail, two others were on the prison camp sick list.

The prison camp superintendent Charles C. Maloney disclosed the eight were given a half-day in the disciplinary cell early last week for refusing to stop singing in their cells. On Friday, authorities said, they sat down and refused to work and again were placed in the disciplinary cell. The Congress of Racial Equality, in New York, telegraphed President Kennedy protesting the disciplinary action against the Negroes in the prison camp.

In Atlanta, eight Negro doctors were arrested when they tried to eat lunch in the segregated cafeteria at the Biltmore Hotel where they were attending the Atlanta Graduate Medical Assembly.

The physicians, all from Atlanta, were charged with violating Georgia's anti-trespass law and were bound over to the criminal court after a city court hearing. They were allowed to sign their own $100 bonds.

At Nashville, Tenn., police arrested about 30 Negroes staging a stand-in demonstration in front of the downtown Tennessee Theater. They were charged with violating a fire law by blocking an exit.

Earl Kemp, manager of the theater, said the Negroes were attempting to buy tickets. He said there was "a little shoving but no violence."

A brief attempt to buy tickets to a Chattanooga, Tenn., theater ended when the Negroes left after being refused admittance. At Opelika, Ala., trial began in federal court on the Justice Department's request for an injunction to prohibit Macon County registrars from discriminating against Negro voters.

An admittedly illiterate white woman told of a voter registrar going to her home and signing her up while Negroes with high school diplomas testified they made repeated futile attempts to register.

A Devotional For Today

Jesus had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. (Luke 8:29.)
PRAYER: O heavenly Father, we are sorry for the wrongs that we have done. We confess to Thee that in our own strength we have not been able to face them as we should. Forgive us for trying to hide and forget. We are mindful that our lives can never be right until we confess all to Thee. Grant us the courage to do this. In the name of Thy Son, our Redeemer, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From The "Upper Room")

We Urgently Need Such Minds

A recent dispatch out of Washington announced that John B. Connally, Secretary of the Navy, had requested Admiral Hyman G. Rickover to stay on active duty past his scheduled retirement in 1962.

There is scarcely any secret to the coolness of old line flag officers to Adm. Rickover. He has never been one to polish the brass, and had not top civilian officials in the Navy department, along with congressional leaders, laid down the law, he would have been passed over for promotion for a third time and retired as Capt. Rickover in 1953.

Fortunately, he was not retired and thus kept on hand to slash the way to activation of the first atomic submarine. This is one of the fields of science and defense in which we are well out in front, and it is largely due to the brusque, dogged and exacting efforts of a brilliant man who figures that accomplishments are more important than protocol.

It is probably true that Adm. Rickover is unduly cutting and impatient, for not everyone is another Rickover. Yet those around him who have measured up to his exacting requirements swear by his ability and his devotion to duty. It would be a tragedy for the nation to lose such a brilliant and disciplined mind as that of Adm. Rickover simply because he reached a certain age. We are not in a battle for retirement, but for survival, and men of the calibre of Adm. Rickover are needed to tip the balance.

A Critically Important Segment

As Marcy (FM 700) gains in use as a arterial loop or bypass, feeders into this arterial route gain in importance.

None is more important than Birdwell Lane. It is the first direct route from Marcy to IS 20 (Third and Fourth Streets) and to the T&P crossing—and in time even to the Snyder highway.

Moreover, it is the connector for south-east traffic to get to town quickly and without congesting intra-city traffic by taking the Marcy loop.

We have mentioned it before and do here now that the two or three block strip from the end of pavement between Morrison and Alabama to Marcy ought to be included in the paving program. It is the connector of south and southwest Big Spring with Howard County Junior College.

A bad situation on the north end of Birdwell Lane is due to be corrected under the current paving program. Beyond Marcy, the county road extends paving rightward. In time this is due to continue right on up the slopes of South Mountain and eventually over the hump to connect with Driver Road in the Country Club vicinity.

We fail to get the logic of one tiny strip of dirt road that gets to be one of the worst pieces of road in town in bad weather on the whole length of Birdwell Lane. It seems to us that if there should be a priority strip of paving in town, this ought to be it.

The Use Of Atomic Artillery

SOMEWHERE IN GERMANY — President Kennedy's proposal for a stop-and-think period before resuming nuclear test-ban talks has been cheerfully accepted by the Russians—no wonder!

While we stop and think, they, in all probability, are doing research and development on nuclear weapons. Pretty soon there will be a new kind of "zap"—one in the use and knowledge of tactical arms with nuclear warheads.

THESE GLOOMY thoughts occur after some discreet discussion and some tedious reading, on the subject of atomic artillery. The matter is still somewhat verboten, and so little understood, that even an elementary, dead pan recital carries, I think, a certain amount of news content.

Well, then, the atomic materials which finally go into the ammunition are not so plentiful as to be cheap. The task of refining the product is difficult and highly technical, the more so because for over two years we have refrained from the tests which might allow us to refine the product and develop production skills.

ATOMIC AMMUNITION is contained in artillery shells which bear distinctive color or markings and serial numbers. The forward troops of the Seventh Army in West Germany are already equipped with "basic loads" and supply lines are in existence for resupply. Every soldier who handles atomic materials, even the paperwork, must be selected and trained so as to insure, among other things, his psychological stability.

The moral and scientific mystique which enshrouds military atomic is not inherent in the materials. It is a result of enemy propaganda which seeks to impede American development and acceptance of atomic, and of old wives' tales by persons who seek self-importance and sensationalism. An artillery commander's handbook, which lies before me, reads:

"THERE IS actually nothing strange, new, or unfamiliar about the concept of (atomic) 'target analysis', because it is an extension of knowledge which all soldiers possess . . . In analyzing a target when a nuclear weapon is to be employed, the procedure involves comparing the effects of weapons . . . on a target of known (or assumed) size and composition. This results either in the estimation of casualties or damage to be achieved . . ."

Nothing could be simpler. Napoleon, the most famous of artillery officers, would have understood perfectly, without any knowledge of nuclear physics. The only added danger in the use of atomic artillery lies in the ignorance of the user—

Good Fishing Time For Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the Kennedy administration this is that time—just after dawn—when fishermen love on a lake. There is practically no wind and the place is calm.

Things are still calm for President Kennedy who took office a month ago. There has been practically no wind, although there's been some growling about his programs from various quarters and Republicans have made some cracks.

BUT NOTHING really harsh has happened or been said—yet. This will soon change as Congress, which up till now hasn't started earning its pay for 1961, gets down to work on Kennedy's programs.

There will be a lot of wind then, and a lot of rough water. The in-fighting should be fascinating.

The trouble with in-fighting, from the spectator's viewpoint, is that so much of it is out of sight, like the mayhem that goes on constantly under the surface of a lake where fish chew on each other and the unseen winners put on weight.

Just by themselves, following their own inclinations, many members of Congress will fight one Kennedy program or another, even if they didn't have outside help. But the help will be there.

VARIOUS PRESSURE groups or lobbies, already busy and vocal, will be busier still, for and against. You can see it now in the fight, still in its mild stage, being waged over Kennedy's proposal to tie medical care for the aged to Social Security.

But Kennedy, with 14 years in Congress behind him, is no novice in trying to get politicians to see things his way and in rallying public support for what he wants. Anyone who has ever taken the trouble to learn about his activities in those 14 years as a senator and representative knows he pays scrupulous attention to details.

And his handpicked staff of White House assistants, men who have been through the political wars with him, not only pay attention to details but are tireless in doing so.

Kennedy has various pressures at his disposal to make Congress see things his way. Pressure can be exerted, for instance, through direct or indirect appeals to the public on television, if only in statements he makes at news conferences. This kind of pressure is there for all to see.

A far more subtle influence lies in patronage, the power to satisfy desires in and out of Congress for jobs, judgeships, for example, or jobs as postmasters.

Unlike Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was a political novice, Congress this year is dealing with a political pro in Kennedy who was for 14 years on the receiving end of pressure.

Don't Blame Menopause For All Distress

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Would you please set me straight on hormone therapy? I am 52 years old and have not menstruated for over two years."

"I've been on hormones off and on for 11 years, but they don't help me a bit. Could this be nerves"—E. G."

After 11 years, and you still feel as miserable as your letter indicates (I left out the details), I'd begin to have a strong suspicion that the reason is something other than the lack of hormones from menopause.

It's been popular for women to blame any sort of vague or unexplainable discomfort on menopause. Well, this doesn't make sense.

Women have been going through menopause for millions of years. They got past it without hormones, just as youngsters have been struggling past the hard years of adolescence for a long time before we had any medical terms to describe their confused, blundering, groping instincts to grow from children into young adults.

Medicine doesn't much change the rigid problems of living. It can now help us over the hard spots, and save our lives in instances where, when you and I were young, death would have been certain. I do not belittle the enormous accomplishments of medical art and science, but I think maybe I should remind every friend of mine that medicine cannot perform ALL desired miracles just because it can do some wonderful things. The wonders of science do not mean that—presto!—we are in a never-never land where nobody grows old, or stubs his toe, or gets sick, or dies.

We can't change the time at which menopause insists on starting. And when it starts, we must accept the fact that the ovaries with some variable abruptness, reduce the supply of hormones which they have been pumping into the system for some 30 years.

In recent years we have been able to inject hormones or give them by mouth, to ease the shock which the system encounters from menopause.

With or without extra hormones, the body presently adjusts and hormones from the several endocrine glands of the body take over.

When troubles persist year after year, look for some other cause of the distress. Disorder of the thyroid? That's one of the endocrine glands, remember. Anemia? Quite possible, and not too uncommon. Nerves? A frequent contributor. Poor nutrition? It's surprising how careless we get about the simple but important things. Inadequate rest? Not uncommon, either.

In a case such as the one we're discussing today, I'd think that, after 11 years, a complete physical examination would be the thing with which to start, rather than trying to make a choice between only two things — hormones or nerves.

"Dear Dr. Molner: A few days ago I found a lump in my right side, next to my lower ribs. The doctor said he thought it was my kidney. I thought kidneys were located in the back—Mrs. G. G."

They are. But in thin-waisted individuals with a thin abdominal wall, they may be felt from the side. If you are not of this type, then further study may be indicated to identify the lump completely.

NOTE TO MRS. R. B.: Inflammation, whether of the cervix or elsewhere, tends to heal if given a proper chance. You have had treatment which could have hastened healing. That's what treatment is for! You should have periodic Pap smears every six or 12 months just to make sure.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald requesting a copy of his booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

The Frailer Generation

This thing called progress has destroyed a great many friendly little human endeavors and I sometimes wonder if it has substituted anything for them half as pleasant.

I just happened to remember the comfortable feeling one used to have when he dropped into one of the old-time crossroads general stores.

Of course these establishments were inadequately stocked. I am aware that no meticulous attention was paid to the matter of sanitation. I also realize that they did not present the tidiest picture possible.

And, I will have to admit, I would be a bit dubious if I had to do my shopping at one of them today. Particularly in the matter of meats, vegetables and candies.

I REMEMBER ONE store of this kind which I used to visit often and which I think was typical. It had all of the traditional features that legend has associated with such stores. Including, I believe, the open cracker barrel and the store cat who fancied that barrel as a sleeping place.

I remember the dried fruit. It was in the original boxes, the tops ripped off and the open containers placed on a counter. The candy showcase featured limited selections. Most liberally represented were the chocolate drops—small cones of rocklike white inner material coated over with brown chocolate. These came in huge wooden buckets. Assorted stick candies were on hand—including lemon, peppermint and sugar sticks.

Cowboys used to patronize this store. I have watched many a cowboy drift in, buy a nickel's worth of lemonstick candy, help himself to a handful of crackers from the barrel and have his lunch.

If he was really hungry, he would buy a can of pork and beans, a dime's worth of cheese, and, if there was any on hand, a slice ofologna.

THIS STORE HAD one bit of counter at the rear of the store reserved for these customers. A can cutter was provided; a tin spoon was available. The waterbucket with its rusty dipper, was near at hand. If the cowboy was really putting on a feed, he would terminate his meal by having the proprietor open up a can of green gage plums.

I was just a kid and couldn't afford such banquets. I just stood in silent envy watching the gourmets.

I resolved that I would some day feast in just such royal a fashion. I particularly wanted to try the cracker-lemon stick candy combination.

Somehow, however, I never did get around to it. And the fancy la-de-da lemon stick candy one buys these days just somehow doesn't seem to fit.

I WOULD PROBABLY shun the common eating place the oldtime storekeeper provided for his hungry customers. And I would be hesitant to make use of the tin spoon without subjecting it to some sort of cleansing. I know that it's not really dangerous but I do not like to eat foods out of cans.

Those brash characters I watched made no issue of the condition of the spoon, the presence of a fairly large swarm of hungry flies nor the somewhat weathered appearance offered by the bologna.

And if any of 'em ever died of food poisoning I never heard of it.

But today, if one ate under the same conditions, he would be felled by ptomaine before the first bite had been swallowed.

We must be getting frailer or something.

—SAM BLACKBURN

The City Needs Rockefeller As Mayor

Every four years at approximately this season millions of New Yorkers, a docile breed, begin to realize just how hard a good man is to find. Faced with a mayoralty election in the autumn, the late winter bourgeois with a restless longing for a good, strong, fusion candidate—preferably a miraculous return of Fiorello LaGuardia—for City Hall.

All the classic signs are in evidence at the moment, with a dozen factions piously wishing for such a candidate and no one doing very much about it except moanin' low. The prospect of four more years of Mayor Robert Wagner in the job is more than most voters can contemplate.

THE TIMES seem ripe for a fusion candidacy, yet four more years of Robert Wagner will certainly have unless a politician of skill, experience, reputation and personality can be conjured up, and soon. There is such a man in New York, if he would make himself available.

In recent days Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has been urging that the Grand Old Party fight for the mayoralty on the basis of his Rockefeller's proven policies of fiscal integrity, civic virtue and vigorous leadership. If the governor believes his successful policies for the state are a good omen and platform for the city, let him run for the mayoralty on a strong fusion ticket this autumn.

THE LIBERAL PARTY, which could swing the balance of power in a fusion race, has already been playing footsie with Rockefeller and making call's eyes at him. And he would be the first Republican in a mayoralty race since LaGuardia who had a ghost of a chance of winning.

All right, so he would have to forego the governorship. But politicians of all flavor in New York City are eternally saying that the New York mayoralty is the second most important elective office in the land, inferring that only the Presidency surpasses it in consequence. If this contention is so, then Rockefeller would be stepping up, not down.

IT IS ONE woman's opinion that City Hall would be an even finer show case of the Rockefeller's elegance than the gubernatorial mansion in Albany.

A fusion candidate, above all, must be a vote-getter, which Rockefeller certainly proved to be when he defeated the incumbent governor, W. Averell Harriman, for the Albany job in November, 1958. When the G.O.P. nominated Rockefeller, the wisecracks of both parties thought Harriman would make mincemeat of him.

BUT THE MINCEMEAT turned out to be on the other vest. Rockefeller, to the amazement of all, proved a formidable crowd-pleaser with a stomach marvelously attuned to New York City's peculiar political nuances. He ate his way rapturously through Irish stew, Wiener-schnitzel, pizzas, bagel and lox, mysteries wrapped in grape leaves, chili con carne, gappacho, tripe Lyonnaise, shish-kabab, bortsch and, for all I know, wrapped up the scattered Arab vote by polishing off a platter of whole roast sheep.

EAST SIDE, West Side, in every city district Rockefeller was a prodigious campaigner. He has only to repeat his gustatory feats in the 1961 mayoralty campaign to win in a walk. New York hasn't enjoyed or even savored good government since the days of LaGuardia, while the state has been almost uninterruptedly blessed with excellent government since the days of Al Smith.

Fusion can't win with a colorless draft horse. But fusion and good government for the city can win if Rockefeller will only say the word. The city deserves a lucky break, and it could also prove one for Rockefeller.

U.S. Faces A Choice With Portugal

WASHINGTON—While the passengers may not have appreciated all the humorous overtones, the shanghaiing of the Portuguese liner Santa Maria furnished a welcome interlude of comic relief while it zigged and zagged through the South Atlantic at the command of its captors.

BUT IN REALITY it was one more ominous indicator of the tide of change that apparently can no longer be held off in a corner of the world where time has stood still. The expectation here is that within a relatively short time the regime of Portugal's dictator, Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, will be modified through the intervention of elements in the Portuguese army.

There is a realization that without some moderation the regime will find itself with a first-class revolution on its hands. By letting up a little, tensions will ease and the essential pattern of tight control will be preserved. But the long sleep of the past, and for many it was a comfortable and contented sleep, is plainly at an end.

HEIGHTENING the drama of the awakening is the fact that Portugal still holds two large chunks and three smaller bits of Africa. The two sizable colonies, Angola on the West coast and Mozambique on the East, underwrite the Portuguese budget and in a sense the Portuguese standard of living. And there is every sign that, regardless of any modification in the homeland, the Portuguese mean to try to keep their iron hold on their African possessions.

WHAT THIS MEANS for the United States is another two-way stretch, another pulling and hauling, between the demands and loyalties of Europe on the one hand and the strident claims of African nationalism on the other. For even though the colonial system in Angola and Mozambique has "rocked"—with investigators charging forced labor if not actual slavery of the native population—better than most for the colonizers, unrest is rising with its origins in racialism, nationalism and communism. As ruthless as are the methods of suppression they are unlikely to prevail forever.

The Portuguese expect the support of Washington in the impending struggle over Angola and Mozambique. They will judge what degree of support is sufficient. And if it is not forthcoming they may sever their ties with NATO.

ASIDE FROM the psychological effect on the alliance of losing one of the partners, even though from the standpoint of military contribution a minor partner, the NATO bases in the Azores would be gone. Many island bases scattered around the world have today little or no usefulness. But the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington dearly love those in the Azores.

If it were a clear-cut choice between, say, bases in the Azores and the allegiance of the African nationalist movement, the answer would not be quite so hard to come by. But caught in the two-way stretch Uncle Sam would like to please both sides. And, as past experience shows, the end result is likely to be that both are alienated by what seems to be a timid compromise.

NO ONE FOR a moment underestimates the complexity of the course that must be charted. There are glib oversimplifications—rely on Europe because out of long experience Europe understands how to manage the African. As has just been seen, however, in the reaction to the murder of Patrice Lumumba in the Congo, the traditionalist European conditioned by years of colonialism fails to comprehend the fierce passions that have been aroused.

If only somehow the whole process could be slowed down, the necessity for choice would be less cruel. But as even Portugal, where for so long change was held in abeyance, now shows this is impossible.

In Odessa Saturday for the wedding of JUDY EVANS were MR. and MRS. AVERY FALKNER, Johnnie and Riley, MR. and MRS. VERNON BAIRD and Ronnie, and MR. and MRS. JOE FIELDS. The bride is the daughter of MR. and MRS. H Y M I E EVANS. Mrs. Evans is the former Dorothea Campbell, who is a former resident of Big Spring. Mrs. Fields was a participant in the wedding.

MRS. E. E. BRYANT and her sister, MRS. MELVIN BOATMAN of Monahan, returned here Friday night from a two weeks automobile trip to various points in South and East Texas. They drove to Eastland on Tuesday following the heavy snowfall here, and were joined by another sister, MRS. WALTER GANN, for the trip that took them to Austin, where they visited MR. and MRS. EDWARD BOATMAN. Later they drove to Harlingen to be guests of an aunt and uncle, MR. and MRS. E. A. SHELTON and their family. They also stayed in Corpus Christi, Kennedy, Beeville and San Marcos, and spent some time on Padre Island. They were in Waco to visit Mrs. Bryant's daughter, MRS. J. V. HASLEY, and her family, and in Waxahachie as the guests of Mrs. Bryant's sister-in-law, MRS. U. H. BRYANT. Outside of one good downpour and a little mist, the traveling sisters had good weather throughout their trip.

MR. and MRS. C. D. COPELIN spent the weekend in Plainview with his mother, MRS. ERNEST BRADLEY, and Mr. Bradley, who had as their guests another son and his wife, MR. and MRS. CHARLES L. COPELIN of Anchorage, Alaska. The visiting couple left today for the drive back to Alaska where he is employed by a telephone company.

MRS. H. H. STEPHENS is in Little Rock, Ark., to attend the annual meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church. This is the annual meeting of the society, and the Northwest Texas area will be represented by six delegates. The meeting will adjourn on Thursday.

Sorority Announces Rush Season

Spring rush season plans were begun at a meeting Monday evening of the Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Richard Cook, 1801 Alabama, was hostess to the group of 13 in her home. A book review, "The Watch That Ends the Night," was presented by Mrs. Betty Price.

Mrs. Martin Is Speaker For Circle

The last two chapters of the book of Acts were discussed by Mrs. Prach Martin for members of the First Christian Church Mary Martha Circle Monday morning. The group met in the home of Mrs. Harry Lees and heard a devotion on "God's Ways" presented by Mrs. Willard Read. The meeting was opened with a prayer by a guest, Mrs. John Crews. Eleven were present.

Winners In Games Of Duplicate Bridge

About 58 played in the games of duplicate bridge Sunday afternoon at Cosden Country Club. Winners in north-south position were Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Tom South, first; Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Ray McMathen, second; Mrs. E. V. Spence and Mrs. A. Mrs. R. E. McKinney and Mrs. Rogers Heffley were first in east-west play; Mrs. D. W. Wall and Mrs. George McGann, second; Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, third; Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. Hudson Landers, fourth; Mrs. Ben McCullough and Mrs. John Stone, fifth.

Orientation Course At Hospital Set For ALA

An orientation course for volunteers at the VA Hospital has been slated for members of the American Legion Auxiliary, it was announced at a meeting of the group Monday evening.

The meeting was held at the hospital where a film was shown based on the work of volunteers. Mrs. Ara Cunningham, volunteer coordinator, announced that the hospital will give an orientation course at the same time the auxiliary presents its work, scheduled for March 27.

Mrs. Byron Hill was elected vice president to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Bill Teague, who resigned from the position. The auxiliary voted to send a girl to Austin to attend Girls State, and Mrs. L. H. Steward was named to select a representative for the trip.

At the next meeting, March 6, members will plan the annual barbecue to be given in honor of the veterans of World War I; they will work in conjunction with the Legion.

Mrs. T. K. Price led the program for members of the Christine Coffey Circle Monday morning at the home of Mrs. W. B. Younger. As guests arrived, they assembled at the dining table for refreshments while a business session was held.

Further study in the lines of the alcohol problem was conducted by Mrs. Price, who was assisted by Mrs. T. B. Atkins and Mrs. C. T. Clay. Six were present.

Mrs. Atkins will be hostess for the meeting on March 13 at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. J. C. Douglass Sr., 401 Pennsylvania, was hostess to a three course breakfast in her home Monday morning in honor of members of the Johnnie O'Brien Circle of First Baptist Church.

Following the breakfast the group assembled in the living room of the Douglass home for a lesson study on alcohol and narcotics. Mrs. C. H. Yater led the study.

Has Five-Pound Limit

Janet De Gore never allows herself to gain more than five pounds before dieting, and she tells her favorite way of relaxing in today's Hollywood Beauty. Janet plays James Whitmore's secretary in ABC-TV's "The Law and Mr. Jones."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Five Pounds Gained Mean She Diets

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — One of the most popular new additions to the TV scene is the new series "The Law and Mr. Jones," which stars Janet De Gore as a secretary.

"I have never been happier," Janet told me, "but just before they sent me to come out from New York to test for this part, I was at my lowest ebb. But I kept reminding myself of what my mother had drilled into me—quitters never get what they want."

We were having lunch in Janet's dressing room, and she ordered cottage cheese and grapefruit.

"I have to drop five pounds, and so I'm dieting," she explained. "I love all the wrong foods, and I've been on an eating kick—Italian dinners, rolls and butter, goeey desserts. But I really don't have a problem, because I don't exceed the five-pound limit. When I gain five, I take off five."

"Do you find it exhausting having a weekly TV show?" I asked. "I would," she admitted, "if I hadn't learned a relaxing exercise. After doing it 15 minutes, I feel wonderfully refreshed. This is what I do. I lie flat on the floor and roll to the side, stretching from the tips of my fingers to the tips of my toes. Then I lie on my back breathing deeply and relax every part of my body beginning with my toes and going up my legs, spine to my scalp."

"When I finish this, I try to make my body as heavy as possible by getting a sinking-down feeling. Next I feel myself light enough to float into space. At this point I roll back my eyeballs, hold and relax three times. I lie there clearing my mind of all thoughts, visualizing a blank sheet of white paper or a black velvet cloth." Janet began to yawn. "The very thought of it," she confessed, "makes me sleepy."

LEARN TO RELAX
Learning to relax is easy with Leaflet M-4, "How to Relax." You'll discover how to let tensions go and command your body to do your will. Don't let yourself be a slave and to nerves when some simple suggestions will make you feel free and easy all day and night. For your copy of this important leaflet, send only 10 (ten cents) AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring, Herald.

Bridge Clubs Meet In Garden City

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Mrs. Steve Calverley Jr. entertained the Wednesday afternoon bridge club in her home Wednesday. Mrs. Glenn Riley won high score, and Mrs. Joy Wilkerson won second high. Bingo prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. A. Bigby and Mrs. H. W. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Parker entertained the Thursday night bridge club in their home Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Riley, guests, won high score and second high was won by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Postor.

DeMolay Mothers

The DeMolay Mothers' Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the parish house of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

Individual projects in the study of food and clothing were discussed by members of the 4-H Club at Center Point Monday afternoon at the school.

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, HD agent, showed the group booklets dealing with each of the subjects to enable the girls to make their decisions.

About 24 were present for the meeting.

Guild Has Lesson By Mrs. Compton

Mrs. H. M. Compton presented the Bible study for members of St. Mary's Episcopal Guild Monday afternoon in the parish house. A devotion was brought by Mrs. Paul Young after a short business meeting, in which 24 took part.

ABWA Gives Box Supper

A box supper and bingo with a discussion of make-up and new hairstyles was the entertainment for members and guests of the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, Monday evening.

The group met in the old student union building at Howard County Junior College, where Mrs. John Polone spoke on various types of make-up and hairstyles.

Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, president of the Scenic Chapter, ABWA, was a guest along with several other visitors. Forty-two were present for the meeting.

P-TA Group Of County Has Election

Mrs. Garland Conway of Forsan was elected president of the Howard County P-TA council Monday evening in a session at Howard County Junior College.

Elected vice president was Mrs. M. A. Dunagan of Elbow; Mrs. P. E. Moore of Midway was named secretary, and Mrs. Tom Kirkpatrick of Forsan, treasurer.

Programs for the coming year were discussed, and announcement was made of the spring conference of the district slated for Big Spring March 21-22.

Representatives of the Elbow School announced a parliamentary course to be given March 6-7 at the school. Mrs. Kirkpatrick, outgoing president of the council, will be the instructor.

Next meeting of the group, set for May 15 at Coker's, will be an installation dinner. Mrs. Sammy Porter and Mrs. Frank Thieme, both of Forsan, were appointed to make arrangements. Mrs. Chesley McDonald of Sterling City, district president, will be installing officer.

Foreign Missions Are Presbyterians' Topic

Members of the Evans-Moffett Circle of St. Paul Presbyterian Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Joe Wright. Mrs. Bill Edwards directed the opening prayer.

Circle responsibilities for the month of March will include the serving of refreshments to the youth groups and assisting in the church nursery.

Mrs. Al Seddon gave a talk on the monthly emphasis of world missions. Mrs. Seddon pointed out that our world is in almost complete revolution and we must be aware that the basic issue is the awakening of individuals in every country to their great desire and need for freedom, dignity and justice.

"What Hurts the Missionary Most" was the study presented by Mrs. John Page. Mrs. Page cited examples of incidents in the United States which have adversely affected our missionary efforts in foreign lands.

Mrs. Joe Wright moderated the Weather Cancels Tower's Visit Here

Despite rainy weather in Big Spring and snow in Lubbock, which forced the cancellation of an appearance by John G. Tower, about 50 residents turned out for a buffet luncheon Monday at the Country Club. The candidates for U. S. Senator were to have been guest speaker at the gathering of Howard County Republicans.

A report just prior to the dinner said that Tower's chartered plane landed in Lubbock at 12:05 and he was snowed out there. He was going to attempt to reach Colorado City by about 4 p.m., but all other engagements for the day were cancelled.

Present at the luncheon were Ralph Hughes, Republican county chairman; Paul Meek, 1960 county chairman; E. B. McCormick, 1952 county chairman; Ralph Mc-

Many Men Will Not Yield To Sickness

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.
 How many men do you know who are too proud to admit illness? How many men do you know who are falling or have fallen to make a good living simply because they are not well? Proud men often stand with clenched teeth and a foolishly brush off the mention of illness because they mistakenly associate illness with weakness. Usually these are men who have always been healthy and masculine. They can't understand how anyone can be sick. They often poke fun at puny people and therefore refuse to complain or seek professional help when they eventually become sick. Some men are afraid to consult a doctor. They are the ones who know that they have "waited too long" and therefore feel they are something "terrible" and are afraid to find out just how bad they really are.

When sick, business and other interests lose their importance! Worry and fear are negative and frequently create an "I can't care" attitude. This kills any hope of success and often drives an otherwise ambitious man to drink, instead of searching for the cause and correction of his trouble. Engineers Mark Special Observance "Engineering—a Career of Opportunity" is the theme of the 1961 National Engineers' Week which will be observed Feb. 19-25. The special week is held annually to embrace Feb. 22, the birthday of George Washington, who in his youth was a civil engineer.

Don C. Klein, Odessa, president of the Permian Basin chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, said the theme was chosen as a part of a broad program to impress young people with the importance of obtaining the kind of sound and comprehensive academic background necessary for an engineering education.

"These opportunities are large in number and variety now," said Klein, "and will, in all probability, grow considerably larger within the next few years."

At various points in the Permian Basin where members are located, observances are planned. There are no formal ones here, but local engineers said they were available for counsel with any young person interested in pursuing a career in engineering. They said they would welcome the opportunity to encourage students to explore the possibilities.

Mayor Lee Rogers proclaimed the week. He pointed to the importance of engineers in today's increasingly technological society. Moreover, the contest between the free Western world and Communism is so critical that it is imperative that this nation turn out more and better engineers.

"Our safety may well depend upon it," he said. "Engineers go hand in hand with scientists and they will be more and more in demand as the need becomes more apparent and urgent for application of the discoveries of science."

Noted Musical Composer Dies

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—In an age of increasing musical dissonance, composer Percy Grainger had to be considered a conservative.

Yet he was a free spirit, and he displayed it with a colorful personality, sometimes eccentric manners, a flair for the dramatic, and a huge shock of hair that turned slowly from orange red to white.

His death Monday in White Plains Hospital at the age of 78 robbed the musical scene of a man who had once been one of its liveliest members, a world-famous pianist and composer.

He had lived in semi-retirement for years in this New York City suburban community, whose residents had grown accustomed to seeing their neighbor wheeling his luggage from the station in a wheelbarrow or carrying his groceries in a knapsack.

His smaller compositions and arrangements of English folk tunes, such as "Country Gardens," "Molly on the Shore," and "Handel in the Strand," showed originality. They had one characteristic—they could be whistled.

In 1928 Grainger was married to the Swedish painter and poet Ella Viola Stroom before 22,000 persons in the Hollywood Bowl. He conducted his orchestral work, "To a Nordic Princess," a bridal song dedicated to his wife as part of the ceremonies.

His eccentricity sometimes got him into trouble. He once arrived in Wausau, Wis., for a concert wearing white ducks, no hat or coat, and carrying a knapsack. The temperature was 7 below zero. He was arrested and held briefly as a suspicious character.

He was born in Melbourne, Australia, July 8, 1882. After a successful career there as a child prodigy he adopted Europe, England especially, as his own.

In many ways, "The Misfits" qualifies as a fine film.

First, and most important, it is a well-written story. Helping to tell the story are expert direction by John Huston and good performances by the principals. The story was by Arthur Miller, the noted playwright, who collaborated with Huston in his first film.

Secondly, "The Misfits" is rich with meanings and symbolisms, factors which have helped immortalize a good many Broadway plays, such as Miller's "Death of a Salesman," but which all too many films lack.

There are many deeply moral statements Miller tries to put across in his film, and he chose a group of misfits as the best way of expression. Normal people would have been too dull and uninteresting, and they would have lacked the outstanding qualities of the misfits which symbolize their human needs.

The film's other qualities include some unusual action scenes at a rodeo, and on a horse-wrangling trip, and a wild stallion who's the best horse actor to be seen in some time.

And one should mention the musical score by Henry Mancini. It fits.

The plot sees Marilyn Monroe in Reno for a divorce, rooming with old-timer Thelma Ritter. She unties her knot, is picked up by flying horse wrangler Eli Wallach, who introduces her to Clark Gable, a wrangler who prefers to stay aground. On the way to the rodeo, they pick up Montgomery Clift, a dispossessed heir who deliberately risks his neck in the ring before finding the meaning in his life.

Gable and Miss Monroe buddy up in Wallach's desert house, and bare their souls one to the other. Love blooms.

But it nearly fades when the three men go after a herd of wild horses, for Marilyn discovers the animals are to be sold to a dog food cannery, and she loves every living thing.

The whole fabric of their lives seems to come apart during the hunting trip, but what is really happening is that each is revealing his own true colors. Some are misfits not because they lack natural qualities but because they got started wrong. Others were just born that way.

Filming of "The Misfits" had other repercussions than the production of a good movie. Gable, who insisted on doing his own wrangling instead of bringing in a stunt man, died of a heart attack soon after production was finished. Miss Monroe and her husband, Miller, were divorced after the last reel was in its container. One wonders if the gathering tragedy of reality helped deepen the tragedy of fiction.

There are a lot of wise things to be learned from "The Misfits," particularly by those movie-goers who are misfits themselves.

We note Mr. William Castle is organizing a fan club. This is a good thing.

Castle, you may already know, is the producer of some of our more horrible horror shows; the genius with the gimmick who always manages to give his young audiences the chills they're looking for.

And how could a fan club be a good thing? Why, to let the disapproving parents know that it's all in fun, and that the kids know it as well as Mr. Castle. Children are going to get themselves frightened just for the thrill of it, no matter what we tell them, and it would seem much better that they get their kicks in a nice, safe movie house than on Highway 80.

In the meantime, he informs us, he's busily preparing more gimmicks and more horrors for the edification of our offspring.

If you're interested, chillun, you may drop a line to The William Castle Fan Club, Box 3253, Grand Central Station, New York City, N. Y.
