Always Blooms Early

This 6-year-old apricot tree in the back yard of the James McCrary home at 706 W. 16th, gets off to an early start every year; Dana McCrary, 6, looks at the blossoms which show up as a white mass from the street. It also bears fruit. Last year the tree was loaded. Mrs. McCrary said, but the hail storm got most of it, while year before last there was a big crop. The tree seems to make its own seasons, and pays no attention to weather forecasts.

Dixie Flood Peril Shifts Southward

By The Associated Press

The danger of new flooding in the stricken areas of the Southland lessened today as the Weather Bureau predicted rains would be less than had been anticipated. But the floodwaters receding from the hard-hit inland cities posed a threat to areas farther south.

The rains, which moved into Louisiana and Mississippi Monday night and spread across Alabama and Georgia today, were expected to be much lighter than had been originally forecast. The Weather Bureau in Atlanta said the rain would be mostly showers and very light except in north Alabama, north Georgia and Tennessee where it would be moderate.

The new flood danger area extended from Jackson, Miss., across to Bainbridge, Ga. The lowlands around the Mississippi capital city were evacuated Monday night as the crest moved down the Pearl River. An estimated 600 persons may be forced out of their homes at Jackson.

BRACED FOR CREST
In Alabama, Selma braced for a 57-8-foot crest on the Alabama river which earlier had forced thousands from their homes at Montgomery. An estimated 1,400 persons were being cared for Monday night in Red Cross shelters at Selma.

President Kennedy designated most of the flood-ravaged area as a major disaster area, eligible for federal aid. The Small Business Administration named 15 counties in Alabama, 6 in Mississippi and 2 in Georgia as being eligible for reconstruction or rehabilitation loans.

Three multimillion-dollar public works projects on the Chattahoochee River between Georgia and Alabama were in danger from the flood waters. The U.S. Corps of Engineers prepared to flood the entire 20-acre construction area to save a large coffer dam at the $15-million Columbia (Ala.) dam and lock project.

LEAKS IN DAM
At Fort Gaines, Ga., minor leaks were reported in a coffer dam surrounding the Walter F. George lock construction site. At Georgetown, the river already had swept away two 30-foot construction bridges and overflowed a small coffer dam at the site of a new highway bridge and railroad trestle under construction.

While the death toll has climbed to 13 in the flood area, six persons lived through freak accidents Monday. Four Negroes escaped death at Phenix City, Ala., when their car fell some 35 feet into a hole as a section of a main traffic thoroughfare dropped into a water-eroded excavation.

Kennedy Requests Higher Truck Tax For Road Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today proposed a tax formula for financing super-highways by placing a greater share of the burden on big trucks. The President, in a 3,500-word special message to Congress, said his pay-as-you-go plan would complete 41,000 miles of express roads by 1972 without resort to a higher federal gasoline tax.

However, he said Congress should not permit a scheduled June 30 reduction in the gas tax from 4 cents a gallon to 3 cents. And he added that if his proposals for heavier levies on trucks are rejected, Congress should be prepared to increase gasoline taxes on all users.

Kennedy's plan would boost taxes and fees on heavy trucks, diesel fuel, tires, tubes and retread rubber. While truckers would bear the brunt of these, Kennedy said even so they would not pay "their fair share of the cost of this program."

SHARP COMMENTS
The President also made some sharp comments about roadside billboards, which he said "tend to detract from both the beauty and safety of the routes they line."

Kennedy said the states should be given a bigger incentive to regulate billboards. If that doesn't work, he said federal control or billboard taxes might be necessary.

In arguing the merits of super-highways, Kennedy said they will save each year at least 4,000 lives, 42,000 years of travel time and 9 billion stops for red lights and intersections.

Declaring the road program vital to the nation's security, safety and economic growth, Kennedy said "I am wholly opposed to either stretching out or cutting back" the work. He was equally emphatic about paying for the job out of revenues from taxes on highway users without dipping into general funds and unbalancing the budget.

To raise an additional $900 million a year, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower last month recommended that the gas tax be boosted to 4½ cents a gallon.

Kennedy called this "clearly acceptable." However, he said that because of economic conditions he would "prefer not to raise taxes on the general consumer at this time."

His alternative suggestion: Provide $900 million a year by preventing the scheduled 1-cent cut in the gas tax and raise the remaining $300 million through the heavier taxes and fees which would bear most heavily on truckers.

Under the Kennedy plan the federal truck license fee, applying to vehicles of more than 26,000 pounds weight when loaded, would go up from the present $1.50 a thousand pounds to $5 a thousand. Thus the fee for a 45,000-pound truck would rise from $67.50 to $225. The tax on a 100-pound truck tire would jump from $8 to $10 and trucks burning diesel fuel would pay a tax of 7 cents a gallon instead of the present 4 cents.

The biggest effect on the average motorist would be the higher tire tax—a matter of an extra 40 cents on a typical 20-pound tire.

The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of the new superhighways and the states the rest. The total bill is expected to approach $40 billion by 1972.

caped injury when the helicopter they were using for rescue work plunged into the river near Selma. They were pulled from the water by those they had gone to aid.

Evacuees in Montgomery, Ala., and Hattiesburg, Miss., have begun the trek back to waterlogged homes. In both cities—hardest hit by the flood—water supplies have been chlorinated and residents warned to boil drinking water.

NO ESTIMATE
No valid estimate of the damages caused so far are available, but Alabama Highway Director Sam Englehardt said that state's roads have taken a more than $2 million beating. Water damage to homes and businesses, livestock drowned, as well as time lost from production will run the total up to many millions of dollars.

Some rain also fell in the southwest portion of the Ohio Valley and in the Pacific Northwest.

Snow fell over Missouri, where Springfield reported one inch now on the ground. Snow also fell over elevations of the Rockies. At Idaho, nearly two inches of new snow raised the ground total to 13 inches.

Early temperatures ranged from below freezing in the northern tier of states to the 40s and 50s in southern New England, Southwest and some Atlantic states to the 60s in the Gulf Coast region and the 70s in Florida and South Texas.

The early morning's highest reading was 75 at Key West, Fla., and the lowest 16 degrees at International Falls, Minn., and Pelton, Mich.

Racing Election Forces Win Legislative Round

Berry Gains 3-Week Delay

AUSTIN (AP) — The House today refused to consider killing a local option election measure on horse race betting and set a showdown debate for March 21.

The postponement by a 77-70 vote was at least a temporary victory for Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry, San Antonio legislator and retired gambler, who pushed for three weeks more time to organize his proponents.

Rep. W. S. Healy, Paducah, was defeated 77-71 and 83-66 in efforts to get the proposed constitutional amendment debated today or on March 7.

The horse race betting fess came just after the House killed another proposed constitutional amendment that would out-law state income taxes.

The tax proposal by Rep. Marshall Bell of San Antonio was knocked down when it mustered only 46 favorable votes against 100 noes. Opponents said Bell's plan would tie the hands of present and future legislatures. Bell said the Constitution can always be changed.

"We oppose the continuation of debate on this (betting) measure past one week as an imposition on the State of Texas which has many more important things to consider than legalizing gambling," argued Healy.

He was assisted by Rep. Truett Lattimer, Abilene. "We have given the proponents plenty of time to organize their arguments," Lattimer said.

Berry said he needed the requested three weeks because he believes the measure would be subject "to quite a few amendments."

NOT GAMBLING BILL
"I don't know why Healy misconstrues this bill," Berry said. "He keeps calling it a gambling bill. It is not that, it is an election bill. Besides, when it comes up, next Tuesday or three weeks from today, Healy is going to vote against it."

"If we want to save time around here why don't you just sit down and shut up," Berry advised.

Berry's measure would schedule an election in November, 1962, at which time it would be determined if nine Texas counties could approve horse race betting within their counties. The counties are Dallas, Tarrant, Harris, Galveston, Bexar, Midland, Hidalgo, Cameron and Webb.

The House then whipped through passage, by a 39-4 vote, a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow the state to purchase space in federal and local reservoirs as a guarantee of future water needs. The measure goes to the Senate where a similar measure is pending in committee.

OPPOSITION
Considerable opposition arose over the June 3 date for voting on the water proposal. Reps. B. H. Dewey of Bryan and Jim Cotten of Weatherford protested that the early date had political implications.

"Who's using this bill to turn out votes for the special election? What's the reason for all this hurry, hurry?" asked Cotten.

Governor's aides said the June 3 date is the possible date of a runoff election in the crowded senatorial contest.

Dewey's efforts to change the date to Nov. 6, 1962, failed 115-14. The Senate spent the morning on minor bills and resolutions, then quit until 11 a.m. Wednesday. The House recessed until 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Senate passed a House resolution calling on Congress to adopt a balanced budget and to operate on the "pay-as-you-go" plan in Texas.

SCHOOL BILL
The Senate passed on voice vote a bill by Sen. George Parkhurst to allow independent school districts in counties of more than 150,000 to buy life, health and accident insurance policies for their personnel by deducting the cost from their wages.

By an 18-10 vote, the Senate refused to bring up for debate another Parkhurst bill which would permit cities and counties to pay for hospitalization and life insurance group policies for employees from available public funds.

Sen. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth got a 23-1 vote on final passage of a bill creating a new county criminal court in Fort Worth. Willis said the court will primarily be concerned with disposing of more than 2,500 pending traffic appeals cases.

The House recessed "in honor of the 183 Heroes of the Alamo." The legislators will attend a special showing of the movie "The Alamo" Wednesday morning.

Suit Alleges Bookmaking
LAMESA (SC) — District Attorney George Hansard and Attorney General Will Wilson, acting in behalf of the State of Texas, have filed a civil case seeking a temporary injunction against a Lamesa couple's residence, allegedly being used in connection with illegal bookmaking.

The state names Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meador, 1700 S. First Street, as the defendants.

The instrument alleges that the defendants have maintained a nuisance by engaging in the business of bookmaking at the dwelling. The state is asking the court to grant a temporary order restraining the defendants from maintaining, operating or using the home as a bookmaking establishment and also asks $5,000 bond be ordered posted.

The case has been docketed for preliminary hearing by Judge Truett Smith in 106th District Court here on March 3 at 3 p.m.

County Bungle Attempt Ends In A Bungle

Bungling burglars, who showed little knowledge of their business, made a highly unsuccessful attempt to break into the auto tag department of the Howard County Tax Assessor's office sometime Monday night. They jimmied a door in the west corridor of the court house, failed to open it, and succeeded only in ruining the door and the lock.

Even if the thieves had gained access to the tag office the only loot they might have gained would have been car tags—items of questionable value to thieves and most difficult to sell at a profit.

What money may have been on hand at the close of business Monday was locked up securely in the big vault in the office of Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county assessor. And that office is at the opposite end of the corridor from the tag office.

Sheriff's deputies who are investigating the case said that it was possible the thieves may have been hidden in the building when it was closed at 5 p.m. Monday. Officers said that several basement level windows were not securely locked and it was possible the thieves could have entered the building through one of these.

The wood around the lock on the door was chewed away indicating a pinbar or big screwdriver might have been employed. Deputies checked the door for fingerprints.

Jobless List At New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—State insured unemployment has climbed to a new high for the second week in a row.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security said Monday state insured unemployment was up 32,000 for the week ended Feb. 11.

This brought the total to 3,300,600 and represented 8.4 per cent of the total employed, compared with 8.3 the previous week.

Odessa Gets 9 Years For Slaying
LUBBOCK (AP) — An Odessa businessman, T. M. Shirley, pleaded guilty to the shooting death of his wife in August 1958 and has been sentenced to nine years in prison.

Shirley entered the plea Monday after seven days of jury selection which netted only five jurors.

It was the third time Shirley, 41, had gone on trial. Mistrials resulted in Odessa and Abilene.

Blundered Burglary

City Manager Proposes Smaller Budget For Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — A comprehensive budget for fiscal year 1961-62, listing expenditures at $907,713, has been forwarded to members of Lamesa City Council for consideration before it is finally submitted for approval in a regular meeting.

The financial estimates, based on the period from April 1, 1961 to March 31, 1962, is $20,508 less than the budget for the current fiscal year. It was compiled by City Manager C. A. Taylor.

Three departments reflected expenditure decreases for the next fiscal period while one remained unchanged and six showed moderate increases. On the other side of the ledger anticipated revenues indicated an increase, most of which would be derived from a healthy current tax collection rate.

The overall budget dip was effected despite an estimated deficit of $8,154, which was absorbed by the proposed budget and still allowed for an unappropriated balance of $16,148 at the end of the fiscal year.

It was prepared at the old tax rate of $1.50 for $100 evaluation with no changes in water, sewer or garbage rate changes.

Departmental decreases are expected in administration, street and water utilities while swimming pool operations are expected to remain unchanged. Other departments are expected to have slight spending hikes.

The estimated tax roll for 1961 is $18,060,466 with the expected tax revenue pegged at $233,700. Of that amount $162,147 would go to the general fund, $57,531 to the interest and sinking funds and $14,022 to the Board of City Development.

Taylor's budget message also noted that the delinquent tax amount on Jan. 1, 1961 was $72,607, 24 per cent of which was listed as 1959 taxes. Delinquent taxes for 1960 are negligible.

Midlander Gets 60-Year Term

MONAHANS, Tex. (AP) — A Midland Negro, Bennie Wilson, 19, received a 60-year prison sentence after pleading guilty Monday to robbery with firearms.

Wilson pleaded guilty in the holding of a Pecos service station last June during which Kenny Richards, 21, a Baylor University student, was shot.

The holdup shooting followed a crime spree that started hours earlier in Midland where Wilson and Curtis Ray Roberts, stole a car.

Roberts, also 19 and a Midland Negro, was given the death sentence last November for his part in the crime.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission received application Monday for the assignment of a permit for Radio KQIP at Odessa, Tex., to Texas Broadcast Industries.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY IN

Big Spring Resources INDUSTRIAL GROWTH

NO. 3 IN A SERIES

Few West Texas cities can claim anything like the industrial complex which contributes so much to making Big Spring the heart of opportunity in this region.

Backbone of this array of industrial, transportation and utility collection is Cuden Petroleum Corporation. Last year it did a $2 million dollar volume with an amazing variety of products ranging from gasoline to petrochemicals. Cuden's payroll, the bulk of it in Big Spring, aggregated $7,000,000.

Nestled at Cuden's doorstep is Cabot Carbon, which put out 120 million pounds of furnace black last year. It had a payroll of some $700,000. Reef Corporation, with a plant in north Howard County and terminal east of Cuden at Sand Springs, processed nearly 14 million MCF of gas and recovered 95,291,000 gallons of liquefied petroleum gases. It had a $431,000 payroll. Due to become part of the cluster is the Sid Richardson Carbon Black Company, now raising a plant at a cost of between four and five million dollars, and another plant (not formally announced) of similar stature. It is not improbable that the two will yield a payroll aggregating at least $750,000. The construction payroll of these units will be at a substantially higher rate.

The Texas & Pacific Railway Company still has a payroll here of around $2,000,000 per year. Big Spring has become a motor transport center, too, and this, together with utilities and a score of lesser local industries accounts for another two and a quarter million dollars of payroll.

Conservatively, the industrial-utility-transport payroll in Big Spring exceeds $14,000,000 each year, and is growing steadily.

Biting Jumping Bean Is Banned

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—The carapocsa salitans may have taken its last leap in Waukegan.

The carapocsa salitans, according to Webster, is the baby moth that gives the Mexican jumping bean its bounce.

The moth, says Waukegan health inspector Chester McMullen, popped from its gene recently and bit a girl, giving her a case of hives.

McMullen confiscated all jumping beans from local stores Monday and said he has recommended the City Council prohibit the sale of the bean which, when warmed in the hand, sets the moth lava moving, causing his head to tingle about.

The girl's hives have disappeared, McMullen said.

"It's nothing serious," he added. "But why should we have something that causes this much commotion and discomfort?"

The moth struck out of season, McMullen added as an afterthought. Waukegan stores usually stock the beans only in July and August.

That Far-Out Sound Is From Siberia, Man

Editor's Note: Soviet jazz expert Leonid O. Utyosov, writing in "Soviet Culture," thinks his country invented jazz, too. That stirred some reminiscences by AP record columnist Hugh Mulligan, who spent four years in New Orleans researching the subject.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—We always knew it came up the river, but we weren't sure which river.

Now, after all these years, the Soviets have cleared up the matter.

Jazz, it seems, didn't come up the Mississippi from New Orleans to Memphis.

It came up the Dnieper from Odessa to Kiev, then on to Moscow by way of the smoky clubs of Smolensk.

The authority for this is jazz expert Leonid O. Utyosov, the Soviet equivalent of Leonard Feather.

Writing in "Soviet Culture," an upbeat version of "Downbeat," Utyosov recalled that "in Odessa long ago musicians always improvised at weddings and this gives me grounds to say that so-called Dixieland existed in Odessa before New Orleans."

Now it all comes back. Who can forget the old days in Odessa when all the cats congregated down by the Black Sea to hear Satchmo Stalin and his Siberian Six belt out "Sweet Georgia Brown," "When It's Sleepy Time in Smolensk" and "Bulgarian, Won't You Please Come Home?"

Even before the wedding parties, there were the funerals, with the old balalaika bands marching in stately procession out to the peoples graveyard just beyond the collective farm.

Those were the days of the jazz greats—Bix Beria, Jelly Roll Malenkov, Ziggy Molotov, Big Daddy Khrushchev and Wimpy Gromyko—all playing their heads out, like there was no tomorrow, man, for just a few kopeks tossed in front of the marchers by the writhing crowd.

Heading out to the graveyard, they played it sweet and low, writing the last tear from such traditional dirges as "St. Petersburg Infirmary Blues" (later changed to "Leningrad Infirmary Blues") and "When the Commissars Come Marching In."

Coming back, the mood would suddenly change, from the somber to the frenzied, from the funeral to the far out. Like wild, man.

Then you'd hear the real Dixieland—authentic, original, improvised, non-imperialistic.

Bix Beria would grab his steaming hot zither and solo with "Way Down Yonder in Tsaritsyn" (later changed to "Way Down Yonder in Stalingrad"), while the rest of the cats, in mad counterpoint, made with "Muscovite Rambles."

And right in the middle, Ziggy Molotov would break in with his five-stringed oud for a couple of riffs of "It's a Long Way to Outer Mongolia."

And who can forget Hot Lips Lenin, the father of modern jazz and the first cat to sport a beret-like beard? In the days before the October revolution, he used to sit outside the czar's palace and hypnotize the masses with his way out wailing of "South Red Square Parade" and "Wheat Field Stamp."

Then they nursed it, rehearsed it, cleared it with the commissar of culture, whipped it into the party dialectic, and they called it the birth of the blues.

Man, that's the way it began.

DEAR ABBY CHECK THE BORE

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm allergic to my husband. He's kind, considerate and generous, but oh, such a bore, and quite stupid. We don't have anything in common and never have had. I got married very young. We have three of the best children you could want. I have taken up nagging as a pastime. Please help me adjust my life. I am 42 and have been married for 23 years and am bored to death with him.

DEAR BORED: The way to be entertained is to be entertaining. Better start to entertain this "kind, considerate, generous" bore before someone who is attractive, appreciative and unscrupulous starts to bore in from the outside.

DEAR ABBY: I was horrified at your advice to "PAUNCHY." The modern male is having trouble enough hanging on to his masculinity without your saying it is fine and dandy for him to wear elastic pannelled briefs to hold his stomach in. Please, Abby, leave the elastic foundations for the ladies.

DEAR JOHN: Women have done a much better job of holding themselves together and keeping things in shape than men. A boy window doesn't look any better on a man than it does on a woman. There is nothing feminine about wanting to look and feel better.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I both work. We have no children. Our problem is a very kind and generous neighbor, who has a large family and loves to cook. So, every night she sends us our dinner.

We don't wish to hurt her feelings, but her tastes are so different from ours we usually end up giving the food to the dog or putting it down the disposal. We hate to waste so much food. What should we do?

DEAR DIFFERENT: Tell your neighbor, as tactfully as you can, that you "enjoy" fussing around your kitchen after being gone all day, so please don't send you any more food. (What a pity a needy family isn't living next door to her?)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BOTH 65": You cannot continue to live with your present set-up. If your husband refuses to see a doctor (he is sick, you know) see an attorney about a legal separation.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3863, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Are your parents too strict? For Abby's booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send 25 cents to ABBY in care of the Herald.

Toothless Misfit Hunted In Rape-Slaying Of Child

NEW YORK (AP)—A toothless, beer-loving misfit who walked out on his family 15 years ago was sought today in a nationwide hunt for the sex-killer of Edith (Google) Kleczka.

The wanted man is Fred Thompson, 38, a vagabond in whom, during 30-a-week courtship of the bluish 42-year-old girl, was found Sunday.

An autopsy showed she had been raped and beaten to death with a blunt instrument, probably a short time after she disappeared last Wednesday from the body of her uncle's home.

A autopsy showed she had been raped and beaten to death with a blunt instrument, probably a short time after she disappeared last Wednesday from the body of her uncle's home.

Police and detectives, armed with fingerprints and a photograph from a cabaret work permit, were combing the vagrant-frequentated areas of the city.

The coin in which Edith's buttoned body was found was littered with beer cans and a whisky bottle. Thompson has a long record of drunken spree.

Fingerprints from the beer cans matched those on the cabaret license which Thompson took out Nov. 12, 1950, when he went to work as a night club doorman.

Detectives announced Monday night they had located Thompson's wife, three married daughters and 39-year-old mother—persons they described as "very respectable" and who wanted nothing to do with the man.

He had left them 15 years ago, the detectives said, and they had assumed he was dead. Identity of the family was withheld, but police said they lived in the New York City area.

Church Headquarters

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, West Highway 89

Do the churches of Christ today have any headquarters?

By "church of Christ" we do not mean a denomination that has adopted that name. In keeping with Biblical usage, we mean "the church which belongs to Christ." We have no denomination; thus we have no headquarters on earth.

The New Testament knows no organization larger than the local congregation. True churches of Christ today are reproducing the organization which is described in the Bible. Therefore they have no organization larger than the local congregation. Each congregation

The New Testament knows no organization larger than the local congregation. True churches of Christ today are reproducing the organization which is described in the Bible. Therefore they have no organization larger than the local congregation. Each congregation takes its orders from Christ, rather than from a human headquarters. Heaven, where Christ is, is our headquarters. "For our citizenship is in heaven . . ." Phil. 3: 20. R.V.

Church-School Bill In Uncertain Future

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill to bar the wearing of religious garb while teaching in a public school seems destined to die in an unfriendly House subcommittee.

Rep. Leon Thurman of Anson, the author, said he thought his measure's chance of survival is low.

At a hearing Monday, Thurman said children may be influenced in favor of certain religious denominations if they are taught by persons wearing distinctively ecclesiastical garb.

"Even though they are not teaching religion, that is a form of teaching, by wearing religious apparel," Thurman said.

Thurman told the committee he is "a deepwater Baptist."

He said he wrote the bill with "mainly Protestants in mind."

He said he never had heard of the controversial Bremont school case until after he wrote the bill. The Bremont dispute is partly concerned with mass teaching in public schools while wearing their religious habit.

The State Board of Education ruled it had no authority to bar the wearing of religious garb.

"I originally had reference to ministers who wear turned-in collars," he said. Some Protestant ministers, including a Methodist, have acted as substitute teachers in his district, Thurman said, and this created the demand for his bill.

The Bremont case was not mentioned during the hearing. J. W. Baker, Bremont school superintendent, and Joseph Koch, school board president, were present.

So Now The Russians Invented Dixieland Jazz

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet expert on music says New Orleans jazz men may have been stamping tuneful echoes from Odessa when they created the Dixieland beat.

Leonid Osipovich Utyosov's article in the latest issue of "Soviet Culture" not only gives communism's blessing to jazz as good honest music, but also suggests that the Russians might have invented the way-out stuff.

Jazz has been regarded as just a bad noise here, as the sound of capitalistic decadence. Utyosov, however, wrote that jazz "is a synonym of imperialism and the saxophone wasn't born of colonialism."

He said that improvisation is the cornerstone of jazz.

"Jazz music has existed for a long time and New Orleans style was not the discoverer but only a stage in its development," Utyosov commented.

"In Odessa long ago, musicians always improvised at weddings. This gives me grounds to say that so-called Dixieland existed in Odessa before New Orleans."

Utyosov, 65, is learned in opera and symphonies as well as in jazz.

They were brought here from Oklahoma Leads Oil Output Rise

TULSA (AP)—Daily average domestic oil production climbed 48,390 to 7,195,590 barrels during the week ended Feb. 25, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. Oklahoma was the biggest gainer with a 26,450-barrel advance to 329,750. The Journal estimated 1961 production at 401,169,100 barrels compared to 405,382,700 a year ago. Texas production, on an 8-day February schedule, was unchanged at 2,800,350 barrels. So was output in New Mexico, 300,000 barrels.

Suggestions Born Of Experience

Recently, J. Peter Grace advanced a plan of attack by the United States on the urgent political, economic and social problems of Latin-America.

teacher training centers to broaden educational opportunity; 5) technical assistance, grants-in-aid, training assistance and other steps to attract a pressing public health problem; 6) more venture capital for Latin America, but even more important, help promote local capital for industrial development; 7) establish an Inter-American science center to help Latin Americans develop scientific talent and to share in U.S. progress in the field; 8) strengthen communications with Latin America, particularly through such mass media as the motion picture (80 per cent of the films in Latin America are made in the U.S.) radio, quality magazines beamed for Latin American markets, or any other avenue for making sure that the U.S. message gets through to Latin America.

To Your Good Health Don't Ignore The Probabilities Of A Heart Attack

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D. There's a song about "accentuate the positive," but from where I sit, I can see good reason for giving at least a fair share of emphasis to things that are probable if not positive.

and getting soft and short-winded. Getting fat? Definitely a danger. If nothing else, it puts the heart to work harder than it should need to work, because there's that much more blubber which must be served with circulation.

I mention this because I want to discuss what we can do to protect against having a coronary thrombosis—see yesterday's column if you missed it, and are interested. And who isn't interested in heart attacks, including me?

Does obesity itself help "cause" a heart attack? Perhaps this would be hard to prove, but we know, very definitely, that on the average, lean people outlive the overly plump ones. Even though I know lean folks who have had heart attacks, the useful fact is that they don't have as many of them, and they tend to recover more easily.

Hardening of the arteries is part of the problem—but we all have some degree of that as we grow to maturity. It's as natural as gray hair, wrinkles and boredom with some of the activities that were so fascinating to us when you and I were young, Maggie.

Do you know the story of fat, cholesterol and sludge-laden arteries, but there's enough probability to make me think it's wise to take it a little easy on eating too much fat.

Dr. Paul Dudley White thinks that the habit of regular exercise is important—that instead of spending so much time sitting down when we reach the age of 30, more or less, we ought to keep on being active. I think he's right, contrary to the thoughts voiced by a few who don't think exercise is important if you don't feel like it.

Perhaps it's something that will have its effect over generations—maybe 30 or 40 years. Certainly I do not think there is any sort of juice, seed, drug or medicine that will prevent, cure or correct hardened arteries.

Yes, I think it's important—albeit I feel adequately certain that it does little good and may do great harm for somebody to try to leap into a life of athletics all of a sudden after he (or she) has sat 20 or 30 years sitting around

Around The Rim It's No Luxury Liner

It didn't take me but a few minutes to realize there is no room on a submarine for mere passengers—especially landlubbers like myself.

Impossible to keep my eyes off the erratic lines. From time to time one of the officers would announce how deep we were. I had to take his word for it.

The first problem was that we (us outsiders) were in the functional part of the sub rather than in the quarters. And when a sub is at sea, there is just room in that part for the watch on duty. There are scores of knobs to turn, switches to pull, meters to read. And they have to be turned, pulled and read exactly at the right time. You can be in front of one of 'em and not know it.

I began to remember how nice and comfy it had been on the surface; how bright the sun and how blue and sparkling the sea. In memory the bungalows along the shore took on a much more eye-catching appeal. I began to long for another chance to look at the surface greenery.

I DISCOVERED MY post was in front of the gadget which constantly records the distance from the bottom of the sub to the bottom of the ocean. I haven't the remotest idea how it worked but apparently it did. From time to time some officer would glance at the restless stylus which was inscribing very wiggly lines on a slowly moving strip of paper. I also looked.

Members of the off-duty watch were of numerous pots and pans and occasionally the tables or gossiping. The cook was busy in his galley (it was at least four feet wide, six or seven feet long and a trifle over 8 feet high.)

I had been told that the Hawaiian Islands were the summits of undersea mountain range but I didn't realize there were so many other mountains where the summits were still below the surface. For example, the bottom of the Pacific was shown at being 600 feet under my feet. As I watched the 600 feet began to diminish and in seconds later, it was 200 feet.

The loud speaker told us to make our way to the officers quarters. There in the "spacious" stateroom of the captain, (one of us could go in easily with the captain at his desk provided we sort of turned sideways) we were briefed more or less on why service in the Navy is the greatest of all possible careers for a young man, and why the chosen few selected for submarine service are many times more fortunate than any other Navy man.

WE WERE PASSING, I suppose, across the tops of submerged mountains and the deeper parts were the valleys between the hills. When we were just a few feet off the bottom we were passing over the ridges of these same hills. It was

I enjoyed it all a lot. I think I enjoyed an announcement made toward the end of the day most, though. "Gentlemen," said the captain, "we are now going to surface." —SAM BLACKBURN

Inez Robb Let's Cling To Betsy Ross!

Today I feel a bit like an elderly Peter Pan, ready to come to the front of the stage and cry out to the audience "Do you believe in fairies? If you believe, clap your hands!" but "Do you believe in Betsy Ross? If you do, clap your hands!"

The stamp didn't say she designed the flag, but the picture implied it. I asked on what authority the stamp was issued. The official in charge of commemoratives replied: "School children from every state had asked for it; three clergymen had endorsed it and no one else had ever been mentioned as designing it."

Peter Pan's audiences always save the dying fiery, Tinker Bell. But Betsy is in just as dire straits and, I'm afraid, only the audience can save her.

I advised that official to get Milo M. Quaife's "The Flag of the United States" and then to resign from the postal department. Quaife was an eminent historian who died last year. Lots of other historians share his point of view (that Betsy didn't design the flag). Do get it and read it.

MY PLEA, a few weeks ago, to save Betsy, the flag maker, from extinction and the inexorable march of historic truth, has produced a sad and frustrated letter from a man I have admired for years. That man is Harry Hansen, since 1948 the editor of "The World Almanac" and before that the urbane literary editor and brilliant book reviewer of the Chicago Daily News, the old New York World-Telegram and Sun.

SO NOW I am as sad and frustrated as Harry and there are just as many tears in my typewriter as in his. First, I love Betsy and, second, I can't bear to disappoint Harry because of my stubborn preference for the Betsy myth. If myth it is.

AND I must warn Harry about what happens when people start tampering with history as she was taught in the sweet long ago. A Briton, I refuse to call him a historian, named Thomas J. Fleming has just rewritten the basic script of the Battle of Bunker Hill to prove that it was not a glorious victory but an interludious defeat for the small and heroic Colonial army of genuine American patriots. Fleming is serious too.

NOW I AM WAITING impatiently, and with what might be known as blood in the eye, for Fleming's reinterpretation of the surrender at Yorktown, with Gen. George Washington meekly handing his sword to the victor, Gen. Charles Cornwallis. And when that reinterpretation comes, I shall expect Harry to help me load up the old flintlock and fire another shot heard round the world.

"FOR YEARS we at The World Almanac have been trying to educate the public to the Betsy Ross myth, and then our favorite columnist comes out with a piece that will help perpetuate it! Syndicated, too, by cracky.

With tears in his typewriter, Harry, an old friend, writes me: "Dear Inez. It's tough enough to make a man start inhaling cigarettes!

"OH, YES, three clergymen in the 1890s inspected the Ross family letters and said Betsy must have designed the flag. On that basis, Atwater Kent gave the money for restoring Betsy's house. A few years ago the Post Office Department issued a Betsy Ross stamp.

Holmes Alexander Ambassador Appointment Questioned

WASHINGTON—On September 26, 1951, Professor Edwin O. Reischauer, Department of Eastern Languages, Harvard University, wrote to the late Senator Pat McCarran (D., Nev.), chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and of the subcommittee which was investigating charges of Communist subversion of U. S. policy in Asia. Professor Reischauer is today designated as our next ambassador to Japan. To Senator McCarran, he said in part:

proper authorities. His character as a Christian, a patriot and a gentleman has been attested. If the Senate Foreign Relations Committee examines him in depth, as it certainly should, I think the question raised will be not so much Reischauer's fitness to be an Ambassador as President Kennedy's good judgment in appointing him to Tokyo in this age of struggle.

"I UNDERSTAND that my name was cited before your committee yesterday as one of a group who had taken a pro-Chinese Communist stand at a three-day meeting called by the Department of State in October 1949. I am certain that my examination... will reveal nothing which could be called pro-Chinese Communist or in favor of Communism in any form."

It would be pretty fatuous of the Fulbright Committee to say, "He speaks the language, is well educated, well traveled, a nice guy—confirm him!" The committee and the Senate as a whole is undoubtedly to exercise "advice and consent" on other grounds, including these:

It seems fair to put Reischauer's statement in the forefront of a column which is going to be critical of his appointment. The professor was born in Tokyo, 1910, of American parents, is married to a Japanese, has 38 references in the published volumes of the Senate investigation of the Red-run Institute of Pacific Relations, has worked and traveled with the very discredited group of intellectuals who clustered about Owen Lattimore and Philip Jessup, seems from the record to have been an early advocate of recognizing Red China and of encouraging amity between the Mainland Chinese and a "democratic" but apparently disarmed and isolated Japan.

REISCHAUER has been thoroughly investigated. His loyalty is certified by the

Lace For Allure

Lace, once reserved for weddings, evening dresses and lingerie, got the coat treatment in Paris this month. Marc Bohan, Christian Dior's newest designer, made this full-length coat (left) of black veiling from Lyon. Lanvin-Castillo made an ensemble in brown French Calais lace over beige. The coat hemline is scalloped and the tie sash of the dress is beaded.

Bands Of Contrast

From Pierre Balmain's haute couture house in the fashion capital come a coat and an ensemble, both banded by black. At left is a broad shouldered, generously cut coat, patterned to look like giant checks. At right is a super skinny black satin sheath with high banded waistline and contrasting banded coat.

Paris Fashions Hark Back To 1920 Styles

By NADÉANE WALKER PARIS (AP)—Most of the women who will wear them got their first look at the latest fashions from Paris today.

If they agree with enthusiastic buyers this season, Paris can rack up another popular success. The designers are out to please with a breezy, easy silhouette—easy to wear, easy on the eyes, but definitely not easy to copy. Men are supposed to like short skirts, so they should be happy, too.

Reports from the end of January openings often mentioned the flapper or 1920s trend, particularly in the top-of-the-season collections of Dior and Ricci. But pictures from the openings, released today for publication, prove that the designers are not merely copying a worn-out style, but interpreting it in a way that looks new and modern. Resemblance to the 1920s comes in short skirts, often showing a glimpse of the knees, and in a waistless or long, loose-waisted look.

Pierre Cardin cut his cloth looser than anyone else for his off-the-figure sarongs. Lanvin's Castillo bucked the general trend for low-flaring skirts with his down-tapering "ace of diamonds" silhouette.

One thing all the designers agree on is a fitted hipline, and with one or two minor exceptions, a flat-chested look which also harks back to flapper fashions.

The breezy, wind-blown air that all the designers tried for is carried out in pleated and flared short skirts with blousy semi-circular tops, and in such thin, airy materials as silk crepes, chiffons and organzas.

The fresh, pale colors add to it, too: pinks, peach, apricot, mint and lime green, auburn and daffodil yellow, cherry red, light blues and white, with some black and white combinations and pale beige, gray and navy for day wear.

The designers can take polka dots or leave them alone. Patou and Balmain sprinkled in a few giant spots. Floral printed chiffons are so pretty they seldom failed to draw applause. One of the most attractive ideas is floral chiffon dresses with matching unlined coats, highly transparent and really light as a breeze.

Browns Are Honored At Farewell Tea

Gifts of linen were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown at party Monday evening when they were honored at a farewell party at Birdwell Lane Baptist Church.

The family will leave this week to make a home in Harlingen; hosting the affair were teachers and officers of the church. Brown has been superintendent of the Sunday School; Mrs. Brown has been church clerk, and both have been teaching classes.

Mrs. L. V. Misk was in charge of a program, which included a singing, a devotion on "Fellowship" given by the pastor, the Rev. R. D. Lee, and a poem written for the Browns.

On the wall of Fellowship Hall, a map of Texas designated with a ribbon the distance between Big Spring and Harlingen. A toy moving van, loaded with doll furniture, decorated the tea table, with a highway connecting the two towns.

Tea Compliments Bride In Lamesa

LAMESA (SC)—Mrs. Charley Anderson, a January bride, was in the honor spotlight at a tea Friday afternoon in the Walton-Haney home.

Mrs. Anderson was formerly Judy Montgomery, and the couple married in Austin, Jan. 2; they are now establishing residence in the Key community, where he will be engaged in farming.

Sharing hostess duties with Mrs. Haney were Mrs. R. C. Hoffman, Mrs. James P. Gibson, Mrs. Herman Masile, Mrs. Howard Garner, Mrs. Spencer Barron, Mrs. R. S. Lewis, Mrs. Bill Britt and Georgia Grissom.

Guests were received by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. L. A. Montgomery; her mother-in-law, Mrs. Leroy Anderson, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. C. M. Anderson.

Covered with red mullin over white, the table featured a center arrangement of red and white gladioli with hearts nestled in the center. Streamers bore the wedding date and the couple's names.

Dressmakers incidentally set hat and hair styles, and this time they've come out, almost to a man, for short cuts that have a feathery softness or finger-combed look. Hats are feather-light and varied in size from great big (at Cardin and Ricci) to saucer-sized (Balmain and Patou).

Costume jewelry is not heaped on so lavishly as usual. Dior goes for colored crystal multi-strand necklaces. Lanvin-Castillo's trademark is a jeweled bow or clip perched right on the tip of the shoulder. Ricci's Jules Crabay designed long pendant pearl earrings as a prop for his ramps.

WCS Names Two For Conference

Mrs. Weldon Nuckolls and Mrs. Frank Arner will represent the Kentwood Methodist-WCS at the conference slated for Vernon, March 21-22. They were elected Monday evening at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Arner.

Ten were present at the session.

Douglass led the prayer.

A report on the annual houseparty at Hardin-Simmons University last week was made by Mrs. Yater, YWA counselor. Mrs. Yater attended the houseparty with eight local YWA girls.

Committee chairmen appointed at the meeting are Mrs. Choute, tickets; Mrs. Bedford Forrest, advertising, and Mrs. Waymon Clark, decorations.

Sands Mustangs, Wall Vie In Playoff Here

The HCJC Gymnasium will be the scene at 7:30 o'clock this evening of a playoff game between the Sands Mustangs and the Wall Hawks.

Admission prices have been pegged at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. The contest will be aired over radio station KBYO Big Spring.

The winner advances to the second round of the regional meet, which will be played in Odessa this week.

Sands, coached by Van Kountz, will carry an overall record of 29-6 onto the floor. Wall is 22-7.

Only one of the Sands' defeats has come at the hands of a Class B school. New Deal beat the Ponies in Ackerly on one occasion. Four of Sands' losses were inflicted by Class AA outfits, Duncanville and San Angelo Lakeview both beat the Cayuses in overtime. Muleshoe edged Sands by two points and Aberrathy by six. Midway of Waco was the only other team to get by Sands.

The Mustangs have beaten Coahoma (a Class A team) on three occasions, kayoed Forsan three times, beat San Angelo Lake View once and Stanton twice.

The Sands team is averaging 54 points a game, compared to 35 for the opposition.

Wall finished 10-2 in the district, losing to Merizon by 12 points on one occasion and forfeiting to Robert Lee another time.

Other losses have come at the hands of San Angelo Lake View (two), Brady, Nueces Canyon and Eldorado.

Chief Wall threat is Norma Braden, 5-foot-4, who has been averaging 25 points a game. Other Wall starters will be Betty Hallak, 5-2, and Nancy Chasak, 5-6, forwards; and Monette Ketchem, 5-6; Peggy Powell, 5-4; and Annie Cerncross, 5-7, all guards. Braden and Ketchem were all-district performers last year.

The Hawks are coached by Charlie Kelsa, who is in his third year at the Wall helm. Wall won the title in Kelsa's first year there and last season finished second to Barnhart in district.

Kountz will probably start a lineup consisting of Brenda Woods, 5-8; Wanda Carroll, 5-8; and either Jeanette Ray, 5-6; or Judy Roman, 5-7, at forwards; and Shirley Williams, 5-7; Reba Bodine, 5-4; and Linda Bristow, 5-6, at guards. All the girls but Bristow, the post guard, are seniors. She is a junior.

Local Representation

The LeFevre twins of Big Spring, Zay (left) and Jay (center) have wound up the basketball season with the George Pepperdine College freshmen team of Los Angeles, Calif., and are turning to baseball. Pictured with them here is Bert Brewer, one-time Big Spring coaching assistant and now assistant coach in both football and track at Pepperdine. Zay was a starting forward on the Pepperdine frosh quintet, Jay a first line reserve. Brewer handles the backs in football and the sprinters and hurdlers in track.

Eight Twins Are Unhappy With Offers

By MIKE RATHET, Associated Press Sports Writer

Figure-wary general managers continued to be plagued by the seasonal contract signing headache today as major league baseball's official midnight holdout deadline approached with a long list of players still haggling over terms.

The transplanted Minnesota Twins hold a secure lock on first place with eight dissatisfied members, including such key personnel as long-distance hitters Jim Lemon and Harmon Killebrew and pitchers Jack Kralick and Camilo Pascual.

In all 35 players remain to be signed—11 in the National League and 24 in the expanded American League, although some clubs already have classified their non-reporting operative holdouts after instituting early arrival dates this year.

The Twins, who have moved their franchise from Washington, admitted that Lemon, a .269 hitter with 38 home runs and 100 RBI last season, and Kralick were proving difficult to sign, but said they didn't expect too much trouble with Killebrew and Pascual.

Other former Senators reluctant to ink contracts are outfielders Pete Whisenand and Lennie Green and infielders Rene Bertha and Jose Valdivieso. Second baseman Billy Gardner agreed to terms yesterday.

The Milwaukee Braves signed pitcher Lew Burdette and infielder Billy Martin, reducing to five those unsigned and only outfielder Wes Covington apparently ready for a long holdout siege.

Lamesa's B. Ashton Is On All-State 5

By The Associated Press

Robert Zamora, South San Antonio's all-time great, repeated on the Class AAA All-State Schoolboy Basketball team. But Larry Franks of Nacogdoches, the tall plucker of rebounds and deadly hook shot artist, was the No. 1 man of the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Franks, whose team like that of Zamora will compete for the championship at Austin this week, got 96 points of a possible 115 to lead in the selections.

Bill Ward of Belton, the tallest outside man in the state (he's 6-5), was picked to pair with Zamora at guard.

The other three members of the team were selected as a combination of forward and center. Bruce Ashton of Lamesa got 95 points as second high man on the team, and will be the mate of Franks and Ronnie Norton of Seminole.

Zamora was the leading scorer with a 25.7 points average and he averaged more than 12 rebounds per game. He also was cited for his passing and ball handling.

Ward, who averaged 18.7, was a fine ball handler and feeder and led the full court press. His excellent jump shot brought him 500 points during the 31-game season.

Ashton averaged 21 rebounds a game and hit at a 58 per cent clip on field goals. He averaged 15 points per game although seldom playing all the way due to Lamesa's usually top-sided victory.

Norton averaged 19.6 points per game and also grabbed 15 rebounds each time. He hit from the field by 57 per cent.

Franks is considered an outstanding college prospect. He is 6 feet 5 1/2 inches tall, weighs 210 pounds and moves exceptionally well for such a big fellow. He averaged 17.7 points and got 15 rebounds per game. He hooks with either hand and also has a fine jump shot. He scored from the field by 58.7 per cent.

Clear Creek, with the best record in the state—36-1—failed to land a man on the first two teams but had three honorable mentions. Top man on the second team was Ronnie Merritt of Greenville, who lacked only 10 points of making the first selection.

The first team: Bill Ward, Belton, guard, 6-5 senior; Robert Zamora, San Antonio guard, 6-3 senior; Larry Franks, Nacogdoches, forward-center, 6-5 senior; Bruce Ashton, Lamesa, forward-center, 6-5 senior; Billie Norton, Seminole, forward-center, 6-4 senior.

The second team: Guards—Ronnie Merritt, Greenville, and Eddie Turner, Athens.

Forward-center—Clarence Dalton, Bristow; Harvey Harris, Fort Worth Castleberry; and Carroll Hamer, Richardson.

Honorable mentions: Guards—Paul Young, Clear Creek; Leslie Williams, Lamesa; Larry Thorpe, Dallas; Joe McKeigal, Paris; Robert Alford, Killebrew, Dallas; Roberson, Mike Talley, Washburn; Bill Bell, Sweetwater; Neal Chason, Belton; Oscar Brown, Killebrew; Bob Vanderrule, Beeville; Hank Cox, San Antonio; Marshall Carl Miller, Meridian; Johnny Ann, San Antonio; Sam Houston, John Mike, McQueeney; Dan Crisp, Palestine; Bobby Soopina, Carrollton; Robert Rogers, San Marcos; Benny Furbush, Sweetwater; Roy Sage, Caldwell; Carl Fields, Wichita Falls; Tommy Dugger, South San Antonio.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With TOMMY HART.

Sports dialogue: LEO DUROCHER, coach of the Los Angeles Dodgers:

"People say to me, 'Aw, it's just a matter of time till the New York franchise materializes; then you'll be a shoe-in as manager.' They forget something. I was out of work for 15 months. Everything going out, nothing coming in. I found out then what loyal friends I had—Frank Sinatra wanted me to move in with him. Dozens of friends called to make sure I was all right. Having it said I wasn't interested in returning to baseball hurt me. It was always interesting. I'll make close to $100,000 in California this year. What do you think I'm getting for those 110 'Magic Moments in Sports' TV series? More than I ever made for managing. During my five years out of baseball I've learned that money isn't everything. But being back in baseball is. I don't consider it a 'comeback' to return as a coach. It's an opportunity."

FLOYD PATTERSON, the Heavyweight boxing champion: "There's no such thing as a lucky punch in boxing. You stand toe-to-toe with a fighter and if he gets through your guard he deserves the credit. It was your fault. . . . No one can get me to say anything derogatory about Ingemar Johansson. He was thinking more than I was in our first fight. After the first round I thought it was only a matter of time until I won. It was the only time I have ever taken an opponent for granted. The newspapers helped me do that. People put Johansson up on a pedestal after he beat me. I left him there because I figured some day I might be up there with him."

ABE LEMON, veterans basketball coach at Oklahoma City University: "If officials don't commence calling the three-second rule the name of the game may as well be changed to muscle-ball, with the smaller teams almost despairing of winning seasons. Much of the finesse is being removed from the sport with comparatively few games being won by good outside shooting while a majority of them are being decided during the close-in, miltionaire beef-up. You have to be big and strong to hold your own, and possess a lot of hard power. The three-second rule in the middle lane is the most neglected one in the books. We're being policed by the NCAA about extending the limit from three to 2.5 seconds, but they're already allowing that much time. Now, if I ain't the first shot that is all-important. It might be the second or third, when the big bruisers keep tapping the ball around and finally get it in."

HARRY BELAFONTE, the singer: "If I hadn't gone into the entertainment business, I would like to have become a basketball player. I passed up an opportunity to be with the Harlem Globetrotters because I was interested in the Negro theatre. I knew that my pursuit of a career in the craft would take me to artistic, rather than athletic achievement. To be even an average athlete, one has to devote himself to the task fully. I love basketball, but I love the theatre more."

ROY CAMPANELLA, the former baseball great, whose career was cut short and who is now confined to a wheel chair: "I don't feel cheated; it is good just to be alive. I have learned that there is no reward in a wheel chair. God has given all of us some ability. We can all be gentlemen and have character."

CASEY STENGL, former manager of the New York Yankees: "I predict the Yankees to win the pennant easy. Yes, I certainly do, because they win 15 or 16 straight there at the end and you'd better say even in the World Series they win three but they lost four, so you'd better say they only lost about four of their last 20, maybe."

SMOKEY BURGESS, Pittsburgh catcher: "The best pitcher I ever caught was Robin Roberts of the Phillies. When Robin was in his prime around 1953-54, he was the master. He had speed, great control and tremendous heart."

Lamesans Add Cisco To Card

LAMESA (Sp) — The Lamesa High School football scheduled for 1961 was completed recently with the signing of Class AA Cisco for a game here on Oct. 6. It is a one-year contract.

The game gives Lamesa an even break on the slate with five games here and as many away. Cisco is the only new opponent, replacing the Big Spring Steers.

The Tornados, who closed out the 1960 campaign with a 4-6 mark under former coach Bill Davis, open the season with Midland and play Ector at Odessa here, Kermit there, Brownfield there and have two straight games with Cisco and Phillips at Lamesa.

The 3-AAA slate opens at Sweetwater and follows with an open date, Lake View here, Snyder there and Colorado City here.

The Tors will also have a new coach at the helm with trustees of the Lamesa Independent School district now considering four of an original number of 20 candidates for the post vacated by Davis.

Jayhawks Visit Clarendon Tonight For Final Game

Their chances for a first place finish in the Western JC Conference all but gone, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks hit the road tonight to wind up league competition.

The Hawks' task in Clarendon is the team that gave the locals such a scare here before losing by two points. Judging off that performance, the locals have their work cut out for them.

HCJC will carry a 23-5 won-lost record onto the floor with them. In league competition, they are 10-3.

The Hawks lost practically all chance of overtaking New Mexico Military Institute Saturday night when the Cadets' beat Lubbock Christian College, 72-60.

The win left NMMI with an 11-2 won-lost record, with only Odessa left to play. Those two teams clash in Roswell tonight.

HCJC can be assured of occupying second place in the circuit, however, by beating Clarendon tonight, since Lubbock Christian has already lost four games. LCC closes out against Frank Phillips in Lubbock tonight.

Most of the teams in the conference are pointing toward the Region V playoffs, which start in Shuttlesworth came here as head basketball mentor and a football aide in 1952. He succeeded Bill Boles as head football coach in 1954. Three years later, he became high school principal.

He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University. He said he planned to remain in the coaching profession.

Eddie Hickey's Marquette club, making its third NCAA appearance, will play another at-large selection, Houston, at Houston March 15. TAHOKA — Girls' basketball teams representing Coahoma and Sundown clash at 7:30 o'clock here tonight to see which team plays in the Class A playoffs this weekend.

The winning team opens play in the Regional Meet at Lubbock on Saturday.

Grady Lindol's club is a well-rounded outfit which won District 6-A honors without the loss of a game. The Bulldogs also won tournament championships at Forsan and Coahoma and coped consolation laurels in the HCJC Tournament at Big Spring.

The team has averaged close to 54 points a game, compared to about 43 for the opposition.

'The Sundowners' Leads Oscar Race

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Liz Taylor, Jack Lemmon and a family movie, "The Sundowners," rated early favorites today as Hollywood's 33rd annual Oscar derby was off and running.

For the beautiful Liz, her Academy Award nomination Monday as top actress was her fourth straight. Ironically, it came in a picture—"Butterfield 8"—which she balked at doing.

"It's pornographic," she once confided to a newsman. But she did it—still bound to her MGM contract—and gave the John O'Hara trollop a rousing portrayal.

Lemmon is one of the screen's best light comedians, but it was his pathos in "The Apartment" that made him the actor to beat. If the Harvard-educated Lemmon wins, he will become the first actor in Academy Award history to win both the supporting and top actor awards.

Lemmon won the supporting Oscar a few years ago as Enn, Pulver in "Mr. Roberts."

The other top actresses nominated were Greer Garson, the Eleanor Roosevelt of "Sunrise at Campobello"; Deborah Kerr, who got her sixth nomination in "The Sundowners"; Shirley MacLaine, Lemmon's girl friend of "The Apartment," and Melina Mercouri, the happy-go-lucky prostitute of "Never On Sunday."

Lemmon's competition includes Burt Lancaster, the controversial revivalist of "Elmer Gantry"; Britisher Trevor Howard, the crude coal miner of "Sons and Lovers"; Sir Laurence Olivier, the honky-tonk song and dance man of "The Entertainer"; and Spencer Tracy, who played Clarence Darrow in "Inherit the Wind."

Tracy's nomination was his seventh, making him the all-time champ nominee. If he wins, he will become the first actor to win three top Oscars.

"The Sundowners," filmed mostly in Australia, was an unusual picture for 1960. It has no sex theme, no violence.

The other pictures nominated as the year's best were "The Alamo," "The Apartment," "Elmer Gantry" and "Sons and Lovers."

Shirley Jones, sweet heroine of the movies "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel," turned prostitute for "Elmer Gantry." Hollywood, which loves such a switch, has made her the favorite to win the supporting actress awards.

Her competitors are British actress Glynis Johns ("The Sundowners"), Shirley Knight ("The Dark at the Top of the Stairs"), Janet Leigh ("Psycho") and British Mary Ure ("Sons and Lovers").

Making it a great day for the English Peter Ustinov rates a favorite to win the supporting actor nomination for "Spartacus." The other supporting actor nominees include Peter Falk ("Murder, Inc."), Jack Kruschen ("The Apartment"), Sal Mineo ("Exodus") and Chill Wills ("The Alamo").

The Academy Awards will be presented April 17 over the combined radio and television facilities of the American Broadcasting Co. and the Canadian Broadcasting Co.

Hunt Widened For Death Suspect

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—Authorities widened their hunt today for Oscar Kernohan, AWOL from Ft. Knox, Ky., and charged with the murder of an Arkansas man.

In San Antonio, where he is charged with passing bad checks, officers had a pickup order out for Kernohan for questioning in the disappearance of his wife and stepson.

The body of Norman Cox, 20, of Benton, Ark., was found by a fisherman Saturday in a culvert a mile east of the Davis Mountains.

Deputy Sheriff Gary Ingram, who filed the murder charges against Kernohan, said a wallet with Cox' identification papers was found in Kernohan's wife, abandoned Dec. 20 in Van Horn after an accident.

Formby Cites Opportunities In Agriculture

CROSBYTON, Tex. (AP)—Marshall Formby said Tuesday night that Texas farmers may be losing cash income by not developing their potential in crop yield and livestock feeding.

The former Highway Commission chairman from Plainview spoke at a Chamber of Commerce banquet.

"We welcome new industries to towns and cities," Formby said. "But we have not made the most of our agricultural possibilities."

The speaker said new industries are needed and wanted, and that committees should invite them to Crosbyton and other Texas cities. But he said that agricultural development should not be overlooked.

"We are an agricultural country and don't have many of the resources that industry is looking for, and we might as well face these facts," he said.

But we can bring more money into our area, we can put more persons to work, we can increase the populations of our towns and counties by developing our God-given resources.

"What the farmers of the Midwest can do, we can do better. If they can buy our yearlings, and in many instances buy the feed we raise, ship both livestock and feed to the Midwest, fatten the livestock and then ship back to Texas and make a profit, then surely we are passing up profits that are rightfully ours."

He said the state must continue its search for new, cash crops, and that every encouragement must be given research people who are seeking new uses for the crops raised in this area.

"We can make better use of our irrigation water, learn better methods of dryland farming and increase the feeding out of more cattle, sheep and hogs."

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Now, according to the critics who insist on dramatic values, the movie version of Cole Porter's "Can-Can" would be strictly for no-goodniks.

The plot reads like the usual fairy tale, the situations are routine, the music brassy and theatrical, the dancing stazy. Acting is indifferent even though the stars are famous and expert, and direction is sometimes lazy, sometimes fast-paced.

It is a sort of poor man's "Moulin Rouge." In fact, one scene depicts a Parisian cafe owner ripping apart a "cheap" Toulouse-Lautrec sketch left in payment of a bill.

It is obvious from this one scene that all concerned in the making of "Can-Can" meant this as a joke at the expense of a previous classical movie, and that they didn't particularly care for the dramatic niceties because they were filming a by-golly musical.

And here lies the ingredient of success for "Can-Can," for successful it is at the nation's box-offices. "Can-Can" is a lot of fun for those who want nothing more than a relaxing evening of musical entertainment.

Who says a Broadway or Hollywood musical must obey the dramatic verities? The only important requisite for such a production is that it divert and entertain. "Can-Can" does both.

The stellar roster is bright—Shirley MacLaine as a cafe owner persecuted by the Parisian League Against Filthy Dancing, Frank Sinatra as her wandering lawyer-lover, Louis Jourdan as a prosecuting judge who falls in love with his victim, and Maurice Chevalier as an elder judge "retired" from the pursuit of happiness.

The can-can is done without the wild abandon of the Paris original and without the immortal strains of "Orpheus in Hades," but it has a pleasing Broadway taste. Dancer Juliet Frowse is tremendous throughout.

"Can-Can" is a lot of fun for all but the purists.

Teal Ames Quits, So Her TV Character Gets Killed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It isn't often that a leading lovable character in TV soap opera is permitted to shuffle off this mortal coil. But Mike Karr's wife, Sara, in "Edge of Night" was killed off last week.

The decision was not made lightly. It was precipitated when Teal Ames, who had played Sara since the CBS daytime series started almost five years ago, told her employers she wanted to leave and to accept some other acting assignments.

"We could have done the usual thing—sent Sara away on a long trip (at least six weeks) and had another actress pick up the part," explained the advertising agency man who produces the program for the sponsor. "But this would not have been satisfactory. We decided to make it quick and clean, not one of those 17-week illnesses."

So on Monday Feb. 20, Sara was struck down while trying to snatch her infant daughter from the path of an oncoming car. She died on Wednesday, after a poignant farewell scene with her loving husband. That consumed only three scripts—the twinkling of an eye by soap-opera standards.

Now the script writer is busily exploring new territory in which to place Mike Karr, suddenly transformed from happy husband into an eligible young widower with an infant child.

Expectedly, when Sara died, switchboards of TV stations all over the nation were deluged with calls.

"Most of the callers just asked 'What did you have to kill Sara for?'" the producer explained. "But you'd be surprised how sophisticated television audiences are today. A lot of them wanted to know just why we had fired Teal Ames."

Recommended tonight: "JFK—Report Number One," NBC, 10-11 EST—first of a series on the new administration and its head.

Legislative Head Believes Regents Can Be Abolished

AUSTIN (AP)—The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee said Monday a proposal to abolish the board of regents of the state teachers colleges may be justified.

Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney criticized one regent, for what he called "berating" Dr. James Gee, president of East Texas State College at Commerce. Gee was then in a controversy over curriculum with the Texas Commission on Higher Education.

The Legislative Budget Board has suggested that the board's duties be taken over by regents of the University of Texas system.

The board administers the state's six teachers' colleges.

"The more I think about it the more I think the recommendation of the board was justified," Roberts told Richard Stovall of Floydada, a member of the board. Roberts said Stovall had berated Gee without giving him a chance to argue back.

Stovall said he had not "berated" Gee. He said "It was a matter they thought Dr. Gee should be talked to about."

Roberts criticized the board for hiring at $9,000 a year an executive director with salary money appropriated for an engineer.
