

Dog Rescued From Pipe

Scherry, a nine-year-old Collie dog, is hugged by her owner, Mrs. Carl Crivello, in a sewer pipe in Miami, Fla., where the dog spent a whimpering 20 hours. Scherry got stuck in the pipe after swimming ashore from a boat. It took five hours of rescue effort by Mrs. Crivello, sewer workers and humane society agents to free Scherry.

Field Narrowed To 3 Candidates

The race for the two seats at stake on the Big Spring City Commission was narrowed late Wednesday when it was announced that Hank McDaniel was disqualified.

He was one of four who have filed for the two seats. Others are Boyce Hale and incumbents Paul Kasch and Tom South.

McDaniel was disqualified on the residency requirement. The city charter specifies that a candidate must have been a resident of the city for two years prior to the election.

McDaniel has been a resident of the area for over 40 years and has lived within the city limits on numerous occasions. His residence since 1948 has been on Wasson Road, near the city park entrance. It was annexed to the city in December of 1959. Prior to that, his home was within 200 feet of the city limit line.

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer notified him of the requirement late Wednesday.

This morning, McDaniel said: "I appreciate the encouragement I have received from residents all over Big Spring regarding my candidacy. As I have lived here for 40 years, I have always considered myself a resident of Big Spring and have been deeply concerned for its welfare and future. However, due to a technicality of the law, I was disqualified from the city commission contest this year.

Deadline for filing for a place on the ballot, is Saturday at midnight. Besides the residency requirement, a candidate must be a qualified voter.

The commission election will be held April 4.

Stubborn Mother Turns Jail Cell Into Nursery

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP)—A young mother has turned a Clovis jail cell into a nursery.

Betty Raines, 26, refused to pay a fine of $10, plus $5 court costs, for driving with an expired license and was jailed Tuesday. She is nursing her 10-month-old son, Terry.

There have been numerous offers to pay the fine but Mrs. Raines has rejected them all.

"I want my husband to get me out," she said.

"I don't expect any help and I don't want any in any shape or form."

Mrs. Raines claims the $5 court cost fee is unfair.

The lower bunk in her 5x10-foot cell has been turned into a crib. The mattress is propped along the outside edge so the baby can't roll off.

Mrs. Raines sleeps on the top bunk. Shelves contain baby powder, piles of diapers, lotions and salves and safety pins.

Dennis Raines, an auto mechanic, said he doesn't have the money to get his wife out of jail, but he indicated to newsmen that he might be able to pay the fine today.

The couple's son, Guy, 5, has been accompanying his father to work and then to the jail to visit his mother.

The fine is being served out at the rate of $1 a day.

Algerian Rebels Okay Peace Talks

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—The Algerian rebels today accepted French President Charles de Gaulle's bid for peace talks to end the long and costly Algerian war. Direct negotiations appeared imminent.

The rebels insisted on their goal in the 6½-year war: Independence from France. They softened it somewhat by saying that Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria are planning to join in a loose federation retaining friendly ties with Paris.

The rebel announcement came in a joint communique issued after talks here between the Algerian nationalist leaders and their two neighbors and supporters, Tunisia and Morocco. Rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas conferred with King Hassan II of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia until just before dawn.

Bourguiba had come directly from Paris bearing a new offer for talks from De Gaulle.

French information officer Louis Terrenore disclosed in Paris that De Gaulle told Bourguiba France is no longer insisting that the rebels lay down their arms before negotiations take place. A cease-fire would have robbed the Algerian nationalists of their main political weapon, which is the war itself.

The two sides see the negotiations differently. The rebels want to talk only about independence. De Gaulle, Terrenore said, wants to discuss "the conditions for self-determination."

By this he meant the De Gaulle plan for letting Algeria decide its own political future through free elections. Independence from France is one of the choices De Gaulle has outlined.

The key portion of the North African leaders' communique said: "Considering the recent developments of the Algerian problem, the three chiefs of state esteem that there ought to be no further obstacles to the opening of direct negotiations between the French government and the provisional government of the Algerian republic for independence in the framework for total decolonization."

They also reaffirmed their determination to build the "Grand Maghreb." This is the Arabic expression for a political and economic grouping of North Africa. The world maghreb means far west, in this case the far west of the Arab world.

De Gaulle views this plan with enthusiasm because it would provide a means for France to retain ties with its former colonies and, hopefully, to neutralize the die-hard opposition of Algeria's European settlers to independence.

House Applauds Both Sides In Daniel Criticism Reaction

'THEY WERE ON MY BACK,' LAD EXPLAINS Father Can't Understand Why Son Went On Shooting Spree

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I don't know how it could happen. This is my son. This is little Terry, my son, my son!"

Harry J. Wiggins, 42, stared at the ceiling in Queen of Angels Hospital Wednesday, where he is under treatment for bullet wounds in his left wrist and hip.

He was shot by his son, Terry, 15. Wiggins was at a loss to explain it all.

In another part of the hospital was Wiggins' wife, Florence, 35 — Terry's stepmother. She was hit in the wrist, abdomen, hip, and twice in the back by her stepson's bullets.

Police say the teen-ager ambushed the two adults Tuesday night in the garage of their upper middle-class home in suburban Van Nuys, wounding both with a fusillade from a 22-caliber revolver.

"This is like living a dream — a nightmare," the father said. "I've just got to wake up and find out it isn't a dream." He added: "We were a happy family."

Mrs. Wiggins sent her husband a message via a nurse.

"Tell him I'm all right," she said. "Tell him that Terry is still our son and we still love him. If he needs help, we must help him."

Wiggins received the message tearfully.

At Juvenile Hall, where Terry is held on charges of assault with intent to commit murder, the teenager offered his own explanation: "They have been on my back since I got picked up for burglary in January. Sunday, mom was on me for not doing the window washing. Before that, it was dad, for not taking care of the pool we've got in the backyard."

"I decided to shoot them last week, but Monday they were real nice to me so I didn't. Tuesday, though, mom got on me about a dirty fork after I washed the dishes. So I went back to school and planned it out."

The father weighed his son's words Wednesday. Then he told a newsman: "I guess we were 'getting on him' as he said. But no more than you'd expect, and it was only because we love him and want him to turn out to be a good man."

"We kept him restricted to school and the house. My wife and I both work. We're supervisors for the 'phone company, and so we both got home a little after he did. Just recently, we'd started missing things around the house."

"Some money, one time, and other things. That gun he used was my 22. I suppose he got it from my dresser. I didn't even know it was gone."

"But for awhile, we've been keeping the house locked so he couldn't go through things when he got home. Maybe that was it. Maybe."

And Wiggins closed his eyes.

Gov. Price Daniel's criticism of the House's handling of his deficit bills Wednesday sparked minor revolt in the House today.

"I'm a little bit tired of casting a vote the way I think my people want me to cast it and then have the governor come out and say I am voting against my people," said Rep. W. T. Oliver of Port Neches in a speech.

He was applauded loudly.

"The governor has the right and responsibility to fight for anything he thinks is right and those who resent the criticism should not take it personally," answered Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio. "I don't think the House should applaud anyone who stands up and criticizes the governor."

Spears' speech was applauded loudly.

The two-speech series, allowed under a House rule that lets members speak their mind on any subject where they think their personal integrity is involved, lasted a bare five minutes.

HOUSE QUIET

The House then quit until 11 a.m. Monday.

First on the calendar Monday will be a utilities tax measure that caused part of today's uproar. It was one of three deficit measures recommended by Daniel that were knocked down Wednesday night by the House. No final vote was taken on the utilities bill.

Daniel issued a statement today challenging Texas banks and interstate companies to come forward with tax bills to replace the three administration measures riddled yesterday.

"It was a fine day for the banks and interstate corporations but a bad day for the people of Texas," Daniel said early today.

At the debate premiere Wednesday of Daniel's deficit financing program, three bills were presented and all were defeated, at least temporarily.

Daniel confined his post mortem comments to his two pet issues of seizing abandoned property and new franchise tax rates for out-of-state business.

"The defeat of these two measures should forewarn Texans that unless some legislaive minds are changed, the people are going to be taxed $27 million so that banks can continue to keep money that belongs to the state and so that interstate corporations can continue their tax advantage over domestic companies," Daniel said.

CHALLENGE

"Supporters of these two measures made a hard-fight in a good faith effort to retire the state's deficit. I now challenge those who defeated the measures to come forward with their solution. It is now their responsibility to act."

"The people are going to hear more about these two measures in the future. The fight is not over by a long shot."

State Commission Passes Coahoma Bank Application

The State Banking Commission, by unanimous vote, today approved the application for a state bank in Coahoma, the Associated Press advised the Herald at noon.

Action on application had been twice delayed, once in December shortly after members of the proposed board of directors had appeared at a hearing, and again in January.

Ed J. Carpenter, one of the leaders in the effort to restore a bank to the east Howard County town, said that he likely will call a meeting of the directors for Saturday.

"I imagine we'll want to push things along just as fast as possible," he said. Judge Carpenter expressed great satisfaction over the ruling.

The proposed bank would have capital of $100,000, paid-in surplus of $50,000 and paid-in reserves of $30,000.

Members of the board are Ed J. Carpenter, R. E. Martin, Joe Nixon, Carl Bates, R. D. Garrett, Mrs. E. T. O'Daniel, R. A. Foster and Bill Read. All are from Coahoma except Read, who is head of a bank in Moran and who is due to become president of the Coahoma bank.

Residents Urged To Return Cards

The Big Spring Traffic Commission will meet at 3 p.m. Friday to review sentiments expressed in the survey cards sent to 10 per cent of Big Spring's water customers regarding the one-way traffic pattern in the downtown area.

Bruce Dunn, secretary of the commission, said Thursday morning that 333 of the more than 800 cards had been returned and the opinions are about even on the one-way street traffic pattern inaugurated on a trial basis last fall.

Dunn urged others, who have not mailed their cards, to get them in the mail today so that the commission could have the benefit of citizen sentiment.

"We mailed the cards to every tenth water customer in order to get a good cross section of feeling on the one-way street pattern," Dunn said, "and we feel that the greater the number of cards returned, the better we will be able to reach a decision for the future of the pattern."

The commission will decide, as a result of the survey, whether further investigation of the matter is necessary.

Castro Reported Seeking Peace

HAVANA (AP)— Fidel Castro reportedly was sounding out Venezuelan today to help solve Cuban-U.S. differences as a fifth nation in the Americas severed relations with his revolutionary government.

The Venezuelan foreign ministry said in Caracas Wednesday it had received a note from Havana asking for efforts toward a solution. Sources said the note amounted to a Cuban request for conciliation — but outside the Organization of American States.

At the same time El Salvador broke off relations with Cuba in protest against a vigorous campaign in Havana against the junta that rules the little Central American country.

Commissioners To Select Officer

Howard County Commissioners spent an hour Wednesday afternoon to select a successor to Mary L. Cantrell as county public welfare officer at a meeting Thursday afternoon.

The commissioners have interviewed nearly 40 applicants for the job. They spent all of Wednesday at the task.

Several applicants who had filed their names did not appear. However, the commissioners decided to set a deadline of Wednesday afternoon for applications and interviews and then meet on Thursday afternoon to decide which of the applicants shall be selected.

Jury Waits On Court's Charge

Thursday morning was devoted to preparation of the court's charge to the jury in the trial of Joe Nunez, accused of possession of marijuana, repeated offense.

The jurors who had heard the testimony in the case on Wednesday were locked up in their quarters while state and defense attorneys conferred with Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, on the charge.

Because of the delay in the case, jurors on the panel who had not been used in the Nunez case and who had been instructed to report to court at 1 p.m. today, were being notified by phone this morning.

Services would not be needed until Friday morning.

Difficulty was being encountered in contacting many of the panel members and as a result, it was anticipated a considerable number would be on hand in the court room at 1 p.m.

Nunez and his attorneys have vigorously opposed the state's efforts through all of Thursday and the final witness — Nunez, the only defense witness — was excused from the stand after 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The jury was then placed in the charge of the bailiff and after supper, locked in rooms on the fourth floor of the court house.

2 Men Killed In U.S. 87 Crash

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Two Farwell men died today in a car-lumber truck crash at Water Valley just north of San Angelo.

State police identified them as Benton Rundell and Merrill Glen Rundell, both middle aged.

They were in a car pulling a rented trailer.

The truck involved belonged to a San Angelo lumber company. Traffic over U.S. 87 was blocked for a short while by lumber. The driver of the truck escaped serious injury.

Local Officials To Determine Ballot Positions

Will Wilson, attorney general of Texas, has written Ed Carpenter, county judge, informing him it will be the responsibility of the county judge, the county clerk and the sheriff of each county to draw the names of U. S. senatorial candidates and determine their position on the county ballot.

Wilson who is a candidate for senator, said that he was not writing as an official but that he felt the judge would want to be informed on the procedure.

He said that the secretary of state will officially certify a list of the candidates for the Senate. This list, arranged alphabetically, will be sent to the county judge.

When this list is received, Wilson said, the judge, Mrs. Pauline Pettit, county clerk, and Miller Harris, sheriff, must put all of the names in a hat, draw one at a time and by this method, fix the order in which the names will appear on the county ballot.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY IN Big Spring Resources GOOD GENERAL OUTLOOK

(Fifth in a series)

All signs point to so much activity in this vicinity in 1961 that it indeed is in the heart of opportunity.

Previous articles have explained how, in addition to expanded operations, Webb AFB has $2,183,000 of construction under contract; how the highway and road program promises to add another two or three million dollars.

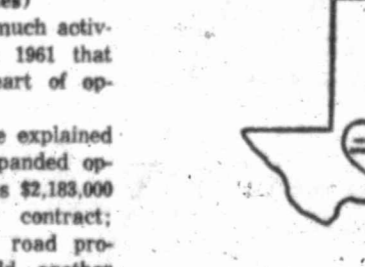

While private builders are pointing, hopefully for stepped-up activity this year, another $1,250,000 is on the board in local public works and institutional improvement. The biggest item committed is that of municipal improvements including $398,000 for water plant improvements, $421,000 for water distribution, $250,000 for sewer extensions, $20,000 for survey work. In addition, a contract is expected within a month or two for a $150,000 Lakeview School addition. The Big Spring district is considering seriously several permanent-type portable units. Contracts have been let for additions to the county fair barn and to the YMCA. Churches indicate at least a quarter of a million dollars in new building.

After trying times the past two years, there have been faint but bright spots in the petroleum outlook. Howard County should produce more than 10 million barrels of oil. Included in a value of $25,000,000 will be $3,000,000 to land and royalty owners.

Agriculturally, prospects have never been better at this time of the year. Repeated rains since last autumn have provided ideal deep seasoning, so that even fall rains in the spring and summer could mean a good to bumper crop. A minimum harvest $5,000,000 is not at all impossible.

Tourist traffic is due to hold at least steady. Stepped up work on so many fronts is bound to be reflected in better business.

Results . . . Proven!

This was the low-cost add which appeared in The Herald:

"1953 Plymouth 4-door radio and heater. A good economy car. $195."

And this is what the advertiser reported: "Got at least 20 calls soon after the paper was delivered. Never saw anything like."

Orientation Flights

Five civilians pose with their pilots prior to take-off on a 30-minute orientation flight in the T-33 jet aircraft at Webb AFB Wednesday. They are, from left (kneeling), Capt. Robert F. Daley, G. K. McDonald; (standing) Capt. Norman F. Cozart, Truman Jones, Richard M. Johnson, Boyd Hillery, Col. Glenn A. Stell, Wright G. Boyd, and Maj. Frank J. Shearin. Johnson and Jones are Big Spring residents and others are from Lamesa. Their flight was preceded by four hours of preparations in getting checked-out in the altitude chamber, briefing, and filled with flying tips. Capt. David D. Chamberlin, check pilot in the 356th Pilot Training Squadron, was escort officer for the group.

Nixon Hasn't Quit Politics

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Wednesday night assured well wishers that although he has no plans to run for public office he is not retiring from politics.

"I intend to get my affairs in order," he told a welcome-home banquet of about 2,000 persons. He said he has three immediate goals: Return to private life, earn a living and "save enough to send my two girls to college."

He added: "While I have no plans to run for public office, I assure you I am not retiring from public life."

The unsuccessful Republican presidential candidate said he feels it's his duty to speak out on public issues and added: "To the extent my making a living will permit, I will devote just as much time as I can to participating in the great battles of our time" and "to make sure the opposition (the Kennedy administration) does just the best job it can."

Alternate Race Bet Plan Ready

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. Fred Berry has another plan for restoring parimutuel betting on horse races if his first one fails.

He introduced another proposed constitutional amendment Wednesday (HJR53) which is like the original except that it confines the proposed local option elections to Bexar, Hidalgo, Cameron and Webb counties.

His first constitutional amendment, now pending a March 21 showdown vote in the House, would also include Harris, Tarrant, Dallas, Midland and Galveston counties.

Berry said he thought the House would approve his original proposition, but that he is holding this one "just in case."

DEAR ABBY

LET HER FLIRT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife complains that I never take her dancing any more. When I did take her dancing she would flirt with every man in the place—including the boys in the band. So I just don't take her any more. Do you blame me?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: I do. A married woman often "flirts" because she needs the reassurance that she is desirable, attractive and hasn't lost the old touch. It is unwise to keep a wife down on the farm after she's seen Paris, so give her a whirl occasionally. And don't worry—you're the guy she goes home with.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VIRGINIA:
If her best friend won't tell her pass the suggestion on to her worst enemy.

FED UP
Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Are your parents too strict? For Abby's booklet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25 cents to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald.

DEAR ABBY: My husband dislikes eating with the children. He prefers eating later with me. We have five children from 4 to 12.

TRIVING TO PLEASE
DEAR TRYING: Why does your husband "dislike" eating with the children? If it's too early to enjoy an evening meal, he could sit with them and nibble something as a token gesture. If it's too hectic (which I suspect is the case), it's three o'clock in the afternoon. Part of your responsibility as a mother is to see that father doesn't shirk his.

DEAR ABBY: I just had my seventh child. The eldest is 13. They are all fine, healthy children. We are able to feed and clothe them all. My clergyman called on me in the hospital and saw fit to discuss birth control with me. (Yes, we are Protestant.) Unasked for advice, I might add.

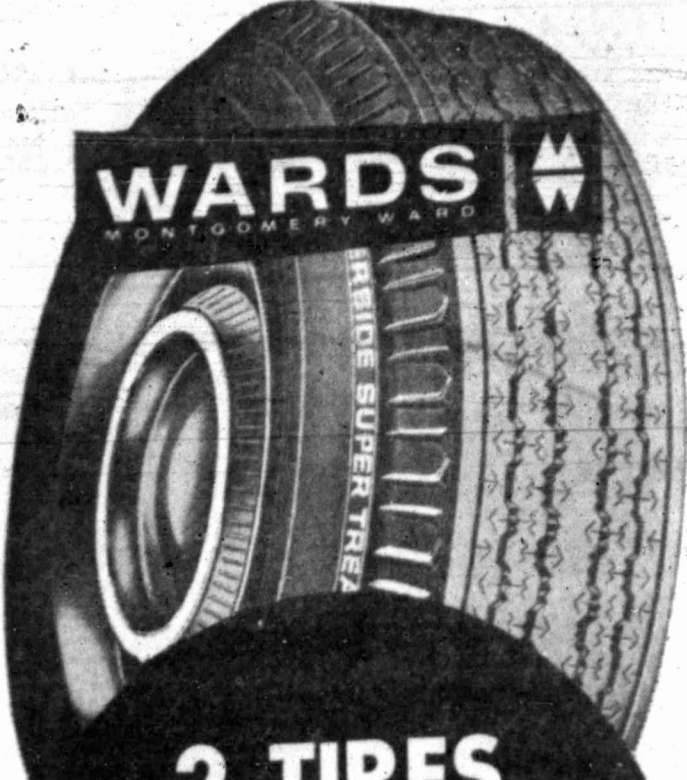

I am quite aware of what I am doing. Why do people insinuate that we are somewhat less than human because we have seven children instead of one or two?

Champions of the junior division vie today with champions of the open division for top laurels as best of various breeds.

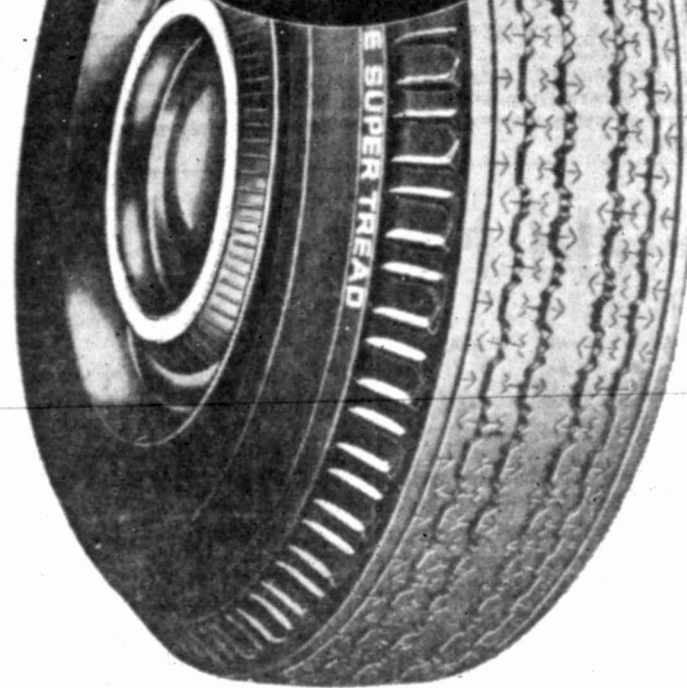

Black Smoke, the stock entry of a 70-pound Wilburn Holloway who lives on a stock farm near Abilene, became a stout contender by claiming the championship in the show's junior steer division Wednesday night.

The animal exhibited by young Holloway, who stands only 4-feet-9, triumphed over an 850-pound Hereford which took the reserve championship in the junior show for Charles Peryn, 13, son of a Bexar County vegetable farmer.

THE UNDENIABLE

Guided By The Spirit

By E. H. Turbet, preacher, Church of Christ, West, Houston, Tex.

"Howbeit when He, the Spirit of truth, is come, He will guide you into all truth. . . ." (Jno. 16:13).

This promise was given to the apostles of Christ. Why? Because the apostles were to deliver the doctrine that everyone must believe. We are to continue steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine (Acts 2:42).

The apostles (and the few on whom they laid hands to endow them with powers to assist them) gave us the teaching of Jesus in written form—the New Testament Scriptures.

Timothy was not to look for direct guidance of the Spirit; the New Testament Scriptures were being written to guide him. The Spirit was guiding him through the writings of the apostles. See I Tim. 3:14, 15; II Tim. 3:15. The written word was given by the Spirit. The Spirit guides us through it.

"The Offering of Isaac, Genesis 22" will be the sermon tonight, 7:30, at our mid-week service. Welcome.

Stock Purchase

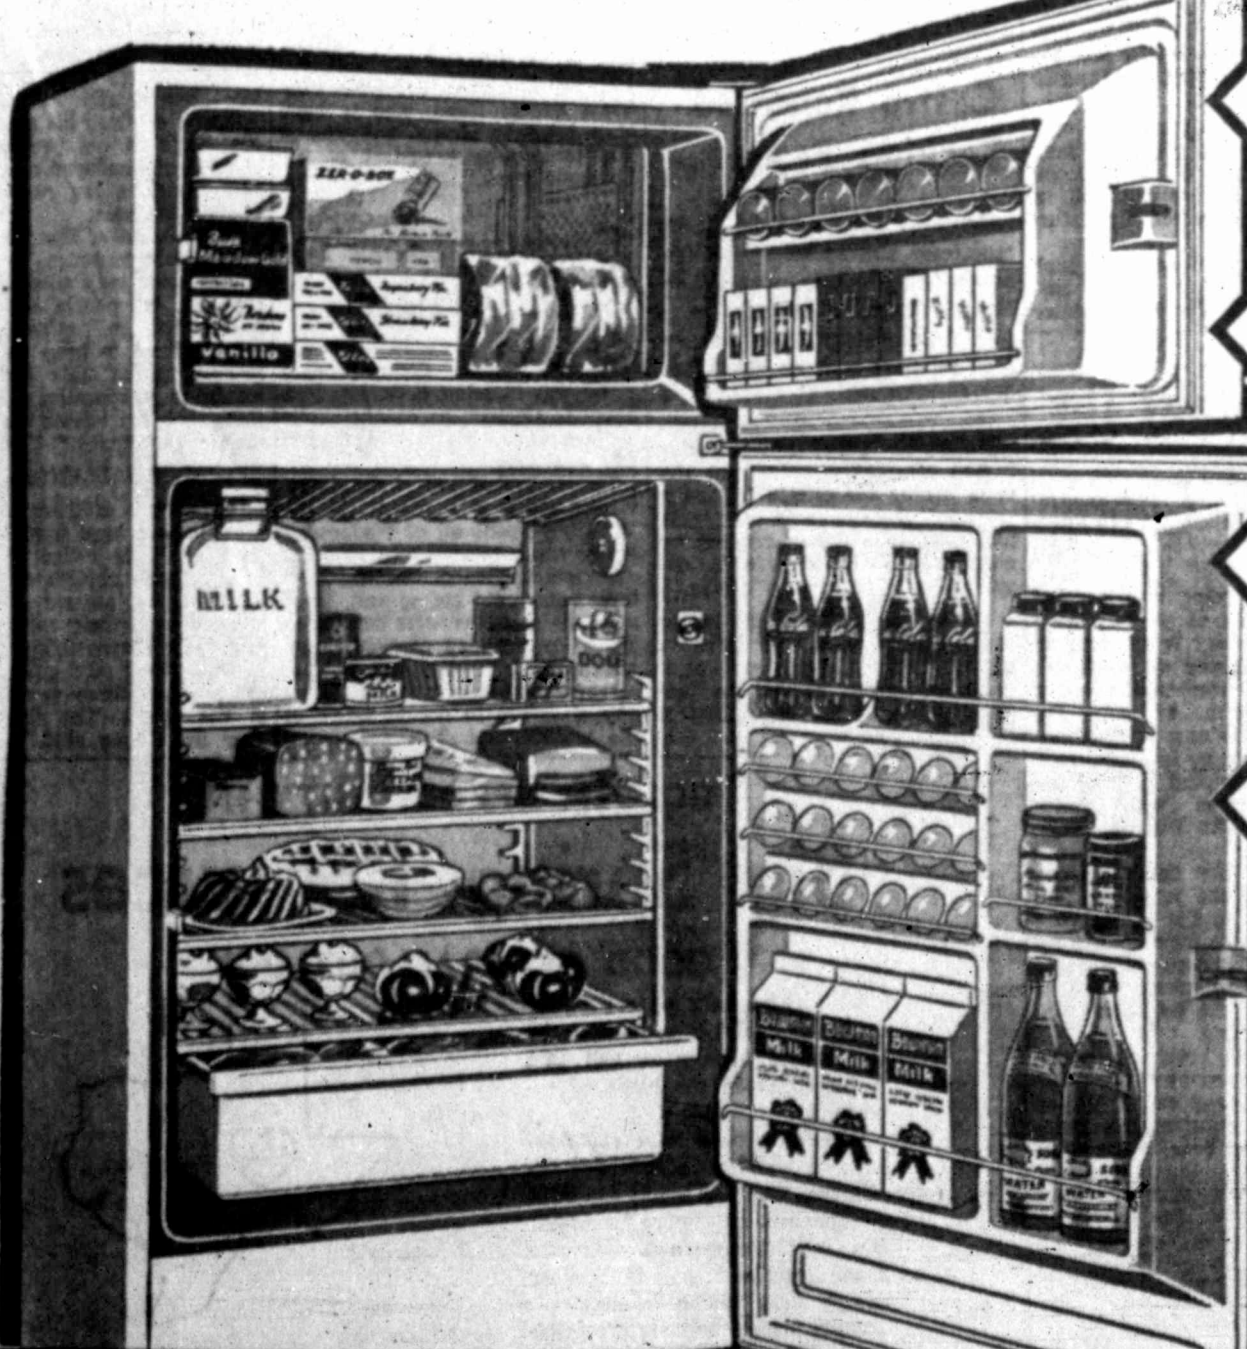

DALLAS (AP)—The Southwest Life Insurance Co. said Wednesday it has bought nearly all the stock of Atlantic Life Insurance Co. of Richmond, Va. The $29 million cash sale is one of the biggest deals of its kind.

Cutting Back

NEW YORK (AP)—American Smelting and Refining Co. is cutting back zinc production by 11 per cent at its Corpus Christi, Tex., refinery. The reduction is due to decreased demand for the metal and will help to minimize a further increase in its stocks, Asarco said Wednesday.

Comments On Paving And Hal Boyle

To the Editor: Instead of the city spending so much time and money on paving all the side streets, why don't they pave the streets where it will do the most good?

Suggestion: Each end of Birdwell Lane. Franklin Earley Jr. 101 Madison Street

To the Editor: While reading Hal Boyle's column Monday in the Herald I could not restrain myself from thinking on the funny side of things. I think one's mind might be like a well, some very deep some not so deep, stir it up and the things resting on the bottom comes to the surface, after reading this you might think it would have been better to have left it resting at the bottom undisturbed.

Mr. Boyle says in his column— "Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail." I think it would be a blessing to many folk if they didn't open some of their mail. About 50 per cent of my mail finds its way to the trash can. I wonder where so many people put their name and address? I could never pay back all the money they desire to loan me, nor do I have the money to buy the wonderful investments that is being offered. I certainly can't read all the publications, and some I would not want to read around for my children to see the front covers. The other half of my mail I can tell by the color of the envelopes that I had better open them as they find their way to my mail box every month.

Mr. Boyle said doctors used to pride themselves on having good bed manners. Three cheers for our physicians, but today it seems to be instead of manners, a temperature era gauge and a bottle about the size that olives come in along with a long wicked looking thing like a woman's hat pin sticking out of that bottle and that familiar phrase "turn over please". I always figure on getting stuck one way or another.

The one about Cleopatra with her gizzard cream was good. Marlene Dietrich was asked what magic cream was responsible for her lovely youthful complexion said, none, just plain soap and water. I know that soap and water is good. I saw an ad or a beauty soap, but they didn't call it soap. It was a vegetable compound, the ad said "A little more water and you get a little more suds. One cake would last a lifetime. If you didn't live too long or wash too often."

Mr. Boyle stated that only six fathers in U. S. history have lived to see their sons become tenants of the White House. I think we should see more of our native sons in the White House as tenants if we wouldn't see so many of them as inmates in our state schools and penitentiaries.

This Mr. Boyle sure gets around. He says if you like a girl five feet two inches you had better marry her soon... speaking of short girls getting shorter, maybe they will meet the lengths of their skirts some day.

Some real estate men say you can get 12 per cent more for your home if you will paint it first. I like that idea very much. 12 per cent of $7,500 would be $900. That will give some painters some nice income. Maybe the painters could work out some kind of a deal to paint the house for 5 per cent of the sale price. We would see more painters driving around in bigger cars.

About blood transfusions, the medical journals report only two in the Civil War and none in the Spanish American War more than 30 years later. I think they have plenty of trouble even now, getting the right kind and type of blood needed these days. Maybe its because most of the blood turns out to be 80 per cent alcohol and 20 per cent tobacco juice.

Mr. Boyle writes that D. H. Lawrence observed: "A woman unsatisfied must have luxuries, but the woman who loves a man would sleep on a board."

Now that really floored me. I know my wife loves me (she said so) but I've never tried getting her to sleep on a board. With today's inventions, push buttons, automatic transmissions, it would be too easy for her to reverse the whole idea to my regret of ever mentioning it in the first place.

Yours truly, Sig Rogers 404 Douglas

Most School Board Posts Contested In April Elections

Write-in votes will designate who is to replace J. Alden Ryan as a member of the Center Point Common School District board. The same situation will apply in the case of a successor to Max Zant on the Venzlor board.

No candidates filed for either of these two places as the deadline for filing arrived Wednesday.

Both Ryan's and Zant's terms of office are expiring this year.

Forsan has a big race for posts at stake on his school board. There are eight candidates officially listed with the county judge's office. They are John M. Nobles, Ed Simpson, Jack Ellis, H. C. Tidwell, Curtis P. Sherman, D. M. Bardwell, Frank Thieme and Sammie Porter.

Jeff Painter and Ulysses Hall, who are presently members of the Gay Hill Common School board, and who have filed for re-election, drew no opponents.

3 CANDIDATES

Three candidates are in the field for the two posts on the Howard County school board. Fred Roman, seeking re-election from Commissioner's Precinct No. 1, is unopposed. J. D. Gilmore, presently the member from Commissioner's Precinct 2, has one opponent, Garner McAdams.

Three members of the Sands Consolidated Independent District board are retiring this year and none of the three filed for re-election. They are Elmer Dyer, Bill Hambrick and J. D. McGregor. However, six candidates are in the field seeking the posts.

A. D. Reed, Audie Ve Grubb, Ross Mahoney, Bobby Roman, Donald Allred and M. L. Shell have filed as candidates in this district.

Three posts are to be filled on the Coahoma Independent School board. Two of the incumbents are seeking re-election. They are T. O. Earnest and Woner Robinson.

Smith Cochran, third member of the board whose term expires this year, did not file for re-election.

Candidates who have filed in addition to Earnest and Robinson are Donald Duke and Mrs. Marion Hays.

Duke works for Cosden and owns his home in Coahoma. He has three children, two of whom are in the Coahoma schools. Mrs. Hays is employed by the Bond Oil Co. and owns her home in Coahoma. She has two children, one of whom is in school.

Earnest is a Cosden employe and lives at Sand Springs. Two of his four children are in the Coahoma schools.

Robinson is a farmer and lives on Route 1. He has one of his four children in the Coahoma schools.

Ted Hull and his son, Dickie, demonstrate the scooter and cargo will go starting position for the four-wheel scooter relay race. No Scalps To Be Taken When Indian Guides Hold Pow Wow

The 14 Y-Indian Guide tribes of the Big Spring Nation will not be on the warpath when they congregate at the YMCA Friday at 7:30 p.m. The pow-wow calls for ceremonial friendship and fun.

Prisoners Here For New Charges

Two prisoners, who are to face felony charges in 118th District Court, were checked in at the Howard County Jail Wednesday night by Miller Harris, sheriff.

Harris returned Robert Logan Magill Jr. from the state penitentiary at Huntsville. He is to stand trial for armed robbery of the Vicki Liquor Store here. Magill is currently serving the first of three 10-year sentences stacked on him in Corpus Christi.

Victoria Howard, wanted here to answer theft charges, was returned from New Orleans by Harris. She is being held in the jail pending disposition of her case.

Church Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Highest prelates of the Roman Catholic Church met in Washington Wednesday to plan a fight against President Kennedy's school aid program, the New York Times says.

erick Jr., the CIO-AFL's endorsed candidate, announced Thursday night plans for a San Antonio rally and statewide television broadcast.

Interim Sen. William Blakley's headquarters in Dallas said their candidate planned a "dawn-dusk" campaign Saturday.

Rep. Jim Wright, the congressman from Fort Worth, planned to invade the home bailiwick of two of his leading opponents, Maverick and State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez, at a San Antonio luncheon. He planned a tour of San Antonio Thursday morning.

Five Texans announced their candidacy Wednesday for the seat left vacant by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. But there probably was more interest in an announcement from former Rep. Martin Dies of Lufkin. Dies said he would not run, because he could not campaign without violating federal law and committing perjury.

The five new candidates were Dr. Mail Jean Rouch Barraco, 57, Houston dentist; George N. Gallagher Jr., 41, Houston cigar factory manager; Steve Nemecek, 42, Houston filling station operator; Jacob Bergofsky, 35, who termed himself a "part-time politician; and Austin fireman Cecil D. Perkins, 31.

Deadline for filing for the April 4 election is Saturday. The final ballot is expected to have more than 50 names on it.

Maverick, in Beaumont and Liberty Wednesday, endorsed President Kennedy's federal aid to education program and said it "will not tell teachers how to teach their courses."

State Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, in a televised news conference in Texarkana, called Wright's campaign "insignificant" and added:

Did They Put It Out?

A truck and three men from the 18th and Main fire station were called to the 1500 block of Goliad at 7:05 p.m. Wednesday to extinguish a fire.

A smudge pot had turned over on the pavement.

Upside-Down Flag Was A Mistake

Some earlier risers who live in the southwest part of the city may have noticed a strange looking flag flying over Marcy School. That is, unless they drive upside down.

But there was no cause for alarm. Someone just did not take a second look at his completed task. As soon as the upside down flag was noticed, it was corrected.

Receipts for January this year were $34,536.22. In January 1960, the receipts were $35,017.05.

So far, postal receipts for the Big Spring post office for the first two months of the current year are $809.11 under the receipts for the same two months in 1960.

Cafe Burglarized

Carlos Restaurant, 306 NW 3rd, was entered sometime Thursday and around $30 was taken from the music box and cigarette machine. David Gomez called police who reported that someone crawled through the west window of the cafe after breaking the glass. The cigarette machine was not locked. A salad knife was used to open the music box.

Sheriff Discovers Route Of Heavy Booze Traffic

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County Sheriff Lewis Claxton captured four liquor transporters Tuesday and Wednesday at a roadblock set up on what was thought to be a little traveled road north of Westbrook.

The road parallels Interstate 30 but is about two miles north and runs east and west. It is evidently a pipeline for illicit liquor traffic toward the north and east of Big Spring.

Claxton got his first customer Tuesday night as a Sweetwater man came through loaded with three cases of wine, a case of whiskey and four cases of beer. The man claimed he was en route to Sweetwater.

About 4 p.m. Tuesday another man claiming to be returning to Sweetwater, was stopped with a case of beer and four cases of wine. Shortly after five p.m., a third Sweetwater man was picked up with eight cases of beer, three cases of wine and six cans of beer. He too, was headed for Sweetwater.

About the same time, a Sweetwater man and his wife drove up in a farm truck. "What have you to do with this?" he was asked. "A load of hay," he replied. The sheriff and his deputies found 196 cases of beer in the truck. This beer was destined for Snyder, the driver said.

All four men were in the Mitchell County jail Wednesday and County Attorney Frank Gintzel said that he would study the cases Thursday and would probably file charges of transporting in a dry area. He indicated that investigation might lead to other charges.

Graveside services for Joseph Eugene Gene Acuff, 46, will be held at the City Cemetery at 10 a.m. Friday.

Mr. Acuff died early Wednesday morning in a Dallas hospital after a long illness. Rites were said at 10 a.m. in the First Baptist Church of Oak Cliff, and the body was to be brought immediately to Nalley-Pickle Funeral home where it will be in state overnight and until time for final rites.

The Rev. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor of the Crescenzo Baptist Church in Odessa, will officiate and Nalley-Pickle Funeral home will be in charge of the interment.

Mr. Acuff was born Sept. 20, 1914 in Colorado City and was reared in Big Spring. He worked for a time with Piggy Wiggly and then moved to Odessa with an oil company. For the past four years he has been in Dallas as manufacturer's representative for OTM Corporation.

Survivors include his widow, the former Hazel Brown of Big Spring; one son, Joe Acuff; his mother, Mrs. Mamie Acuff; Mrs. Doyle Buffington, Jal. N. M. two brothers, Loy Acuff, Big Spring, and Grady Acuff, Lamesa.

They Made Up Their Minds

This couple asked that their names not be published. They showed up at the office of Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk. They had a marriage license clutched in their hands.

They wanted to get married. But first of all, was the marriage license they had any good?

A check of the document showed it had been issued in 1959.

It had never been used.

It will never be used. Its life expired 36 days after it was issued. And that was nearly 22 years ago.

So the couple bought another license. Presumably this one will be used. If it isn't, it, too, will cease to be of any value after 30 days.

Sen. Blakley Proud He's Conservative

By MARSHALL COMERER
DALLAS (AP)— Sen. William Blakley, one of the candidates in the April 4 special Senate election, proudly agrees that he is a conservative.

"But I'm not a reactionary," he says. "I don't want to go back."

Blakley, 62, admits that the trend is toward the strong, firm hand President Kennedy is seeking to exercise on the federal government.

"There may be forms of assistance the federal government can properly give," he said. "But great care must be taken in preparing legislation."

"I believe we can do the most efficient job at the least expense by leaving controls in local hands."

"I believe strongly in this country's system of government and want to conserve all the rights and privileges I can."

COWBOY-SENATOR

Blakley is a tall, thin, soft-spoken man who looks like either a cowboy or senator, and he is both.

He now is serving his second term as interim senator by appointment of two governors. It is the second time he has sought election to the office. He was defeated in 1958 by Ralph Yarborough, 761,511 to 535,418.

Blakley is one of the wealthiest men in the nation, although little was known about him until he became senator in 1957. He owns ranches, oil interests, a business center and is a major stockholder in Braniff Airways. He started life as a ranch hand.

In an interview shortly after he announced for the April 4 election, he said placing medical care for the aged under social security concentrates too much power in the federal government.

He believes the government can best aid education by reallocating sources of tax money.

TAX SOURCES

"The federal government has already preempted to a revolutionary degree the sources of taxation," he claims.

"It has made it almost impossible for local governments to find the money to build the schools our growing population needs and to raise the salaries of teachers."

He still rides in the roundups on his ranches, but has given up breaking broncs.

"I never minded getting bucked off as long as I bounced," he said with a chuckle. "But when I stopped bouncing I decided it was time to quit."

Blakley says that "there are some even in high councils of our government, who believe that the purpose of the government is to support the people. I cannot accept such a doctrine."

He added that "The welfare state offers the promise of security, yet demands that the people give up their freedom in return."

NO DEFENSE

Blakley said such a state has no valid defense against communism because such a state has "socialism, the seed from which communism grew."

He is much concerned about education, saying, "I am opposed to federal interference in any form in our public school system whether it is primary, secondary or higher education."

He proposes that the state retain 5 per cent of all federal income taxes collected in the state, and that this would be enough to meet the needs of Texas "at no greater cost than is now being proposed under the federal aid program."

He proposes also an additional income tax exemption of $400 for each dependent child enrolled in a high school and an additional exemption of $1,200 for each dependent enrolled in college.

OWN DESTINY

He is against world government proposals where they would surrender the nation's sovereignty to an international body. "I will oppose every attempt to place the destiny of this nation beyond the control of the American people," he says.

Blakley first was appointed senator by Gov. Allan Shivers. Not long after Blakley announced for the coming election, he and Shivers talked in Dallas and Blakley reaffirmed at once his decision to seek the office. Shivers had been considered a possible candidate.

Blakley supported the Republican presidential ticket in 1952 and 1956, but supported the Democratic ticket last year.

His chief opponent for the fully conservative vote is John Tower, Wichita Falls Republican.

Odessa Faces Prison Term

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)— Roy Edmund Christmas Jr., 30, of Odessa, Tex., and a confederate drew prison terms of 3 to 25 years Wednesday for armed robbery. Christmas and Robert Quintana, 26, of Farmington, N.M., pleaded guilty to taking $26 in a Feb. 21 holdup of La Ventana Bar and Trading Post northwest of here.

Stop Stripping, Governor Asked

MISSION (AP)— Gov. Price Daniel was asked Wednesday by the cities of Mission, McAllen and Edinburg to use his office to "stop the stripping of material from Moore Air Force Base." The base near here has been deactivated by the government.

Gonzalez Draws No Line At Liberal, Conservative

By JOE BENHAM
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Henry Gonzalez sees the special Senate election of April 4 as a sort of quiz program, with voters answering this question: "Will Texas send a senator to Washington who will work in good faith with the administration?"

This, says Gonzalez, is the major issue in the race for the Senate seat held by Lyndon Johnson until he became vice president.

The other major consideration, the state senator from San Antonio said, is experience. He thinks he has plenty.

Gonzalez, 44, said he believes he could get along with the Kennedy-Johnson administration, but asserts that he's not a yes-man.

"When I say work in good faith, I don't mean slavishly or blindly," he said in an interview. He says he was the only member of the Texas Senate to question the wisdom of changing the Texas election code to allow Johnson to run for re-election to the Senate as well as vice president.

can become so inflexible that you have to hew to one line."

NO DOCTRINES

"I don't apologize when they call me a liberal," he said. "But I am not a doctrinaire liberal. I respect the conservative viewpoint, because the true American conservative is an American who believes passionately in conserving the American tradition of liberal democracy."

Gonzalez said he is disappointed because another San Antonian, Maury Maverick Jr., also entered the race. "Maverick assured me, at the time I entered the Senate race, that he did not intend to run," said Gonzalez.

Gonzalez is liked by labor union leaders, but the state AFL-CIO officially endorsed Maverick, son of a local figure in liberal circles and himself a former state representative. Gonzalez claimed labor leaders rigged the Maverick endorsement.

Gonzalez attracted national attention in his freshman Senate year when, joined by Sen. Abraham Kazen of Laredo, he conducted a series of filibusters against school segregation bills.

SUCCESSFUL

Most of the anti-integration measures died and some of those which were passed were modified. Gonzalez sought the Democratic nomination for governor in 1958 and polled more than 250,000 votes as he finished second in a four-man field led by Gov. Price Daniel.

Gonzalez was on the San Antonio City Council, where, he recalls, he was called too conservative because of his insistence on a pay-as-you-go tax system.

Gonzalez said one of his greatest contributions in the Senate would be in the field of U.S. and Latin American relations. "We need to stimulate and promote commercial activity between Texas and Mexico and points to the south," he said.

He also thinks someone needs to take a long look at relations between the executive and legislative branches of the federal government and between the federal and state governments.

"Congress, as the policy-making arm of the government, should exert the leadership that is incumbent on it for charting the course for the economic defense of our native industries in view of the competition with highly-synchronized totalitarian systems," he said. "No leadership has been forthcoming from Congress to meet this challenge."

MAYBE HE HAS GARBAGE TOO

How low can thieves get? I. J. Motil, 1902 State, called police and said someone in a pickup had just taken his garbage can. It had his name on it.

The driver of the pickup wasn't the garbage collector.

Teeth And Blues In Medical News

By The Associated Press

The blues after birth, dangerous cockroaches and new clues to hard-bitten teeth are subjects with a focus on health.

BLUES OF THE BIRTH

One of 10 new mothers gets the blues just about the fifth day after her child is delivered, a scientist says. The reason is probably an anticlimax in the adventure of motherhood.

Throughout her pregnancy she gets lots of attention from her husband, friends, relatives and her doctor, explains Dr. George W. Morley of the University of Michigan.

This attention reaches its peak about two or three days after delivery. Then suddenly it decreases. Most patients can give no reason for the blues, admit that it's silly, but the blues are still there. Most frequent treatment is to have a good cry and talk it out.

TOOTHY DEVELOPMENT

A new clue to ways to make teeth less susceptible to decay comes from University of Alabama scientists—and more than 300 human teeth.

The researchers softened the tooth enamel with a known softening agent—and then re-hardened the enamel by soaking the teeth in a solution of calcium salts. The teeth hardened faster when a small amount of fluoride was added to the soak.

The findings suggest how fluoride acts on teeth when added to drinking water or is directly applied to the teeth.

BEWARE THE COCKROACH

The lowly cockroach may be highly dangerous—thanks to its hospitality for a whole family of human ills.

Cockroaches have been found to carry four strains of polio virus, some 40 kinds of bacteria that infect man and the eggs of some worms that can affect both man and animals.

The cockroach also carries along some 220 other viruses, fungi, bacteria and worms which are harmless to man, says a report published by the Smithsonian Institution.

GOOD OLD DAYS

Take a look into medicine in the past with Dr. Austin Smith, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association.

The Romans treated alcoholics by putting eels in their drinking cups.

Asthma treatments included swallowing a ball of rolled up spider webs and breathing into the mouth of a live fish.

For colds, inhale the breath of a duck—or sneeze at your reflection in the mirror—to pass on the cold to the reflection.

For coughs, sleep with a cockroach in a jar under your bed, or nail a frog to the door.

A&M Language Professor Dies

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Dr. C. B. Campbell, 83, professor emeritus of the modern language department, Texas A&M College, died Wednesday at his home. He had been ill some time.

Services will be held today at 3 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church of College Station.

Campbell is survived by his widow, a son, C. B. Campbell Jr. of Midland, and a daughter, Mrs. Peggy Campbell Owens of College Station.

Queen, Prince End India Tour

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip today ended their seven-week state tour of India, Pakistan and Nepal and left for Tehran.

"It was a wonderful visit," the Queen told President Rajendra Prasad at the airport.

Prime Minister Nehru, who also saw the Queen off, said, "It was a great visit. We enjoyed it. I hope she also enjoyed it."

John Payne Hit By Auto

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor John Payne was struck by a car Wednesday night as he crossed Madison Avenue between 61st and 62nd streets.

Payne was taken to Roosevelt Hospital for treatment of a fractured left leg, multiple cuts, and possible internal injuries. His condition was listed as fair.

The actor was struck by a car driven by Bernard Selz, 21. Payne was hurled into the air by the impact and thrown on the hood of the auto.

Selz, a research analyst for a Wall Street firm, said he didn't see Payne until it was too late. The driver was released after questioning.

Payne starred for more than two years on TV in "Restless Gun" until quitting last fall. An actor for more than 25 years, he appeared in at least 50 Hollywood movies before he stepped into his TV role.

49 Candidates Seek Senate Seat

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The run-for-the-Senate bug in Texas had infected 49 persons through Wednesday night.

There are now 49 candidates formally announced for the post vacated by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. With the filing deadline for the April 4 election set for Saturday, several more candidates are expected.

Top candidates for the post include Sen. William Blakley D-Tex., former state Rep. Maury Maverick Jr., son of the Franklin D. Roosevelt era congressman from San Antonio; State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez, who polled a heavy vote for governor three years ago; and John Tower, former college instructor and one of two Republicans in the race.

Hawks Try Clarendon In Regional Tourney

AMARILLO — Howard County Junior College was seeded No. 1 but San Angelo drew the first round bye in the annual Region V Basketball Tournament, which gets under way at 4 p.m. here today and continues through Saturday.

The winner of the tournament becomes eligible to take part in the National Juco Tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas, later this month.

HCJC's games in the meet will be aired over radio station KBST Big Spring 1490. The Jayhawks, who carry a record of 23-6 onto the court, will meet Clarendon JC in the first game of the tournament—at 4 p.m.

Lubbock Christian College and Odessa College clash at 7:00 p.m. while Amarillo and New Mexico Military Institute tangle at 9 p.m. Should the Hawks defeat Clarendon, and the game looms as a tossup, they would return to action starting at 7 p.m. Saturday. No consolation games are on tap.

HCJC won the tournament last year, beating San Angelo in a thrill-packed finale, 75-74.

New Mexico Military won the Western JC Conference championship League play closed recently. HCJC and Lubbock Christian wound up in a tie for second place, each with 10-4 records.

San Angelo is the Pioneer Conference titlist and takes a 21-5 win-loss record onto the floor to-morrow night.

Clarendon must be given a good chance to upset the Hawks. The Bulldogs beat the Big Spring team 62-59, earlier this week and held the Hawks to a two-point victory (76-74) earlier this season in Big Spring.

Clarendon has won 12, and lost 19 games this season. The club has fared poorly in Western Conference play but, for some reason, always gives the Hawks fits.

Buddy Travis, the Big Spring college's coach, will probably go with a lineup composed of Ronald Weeks, Charley Knotts, Kenneth Clearman and either Larry McElyea, Bill Edwards or Elvin Spradling.

"It may be a little dangerous to say that," Marv Jensen admitted, "but Gene has lost respect for Robinson's punches."

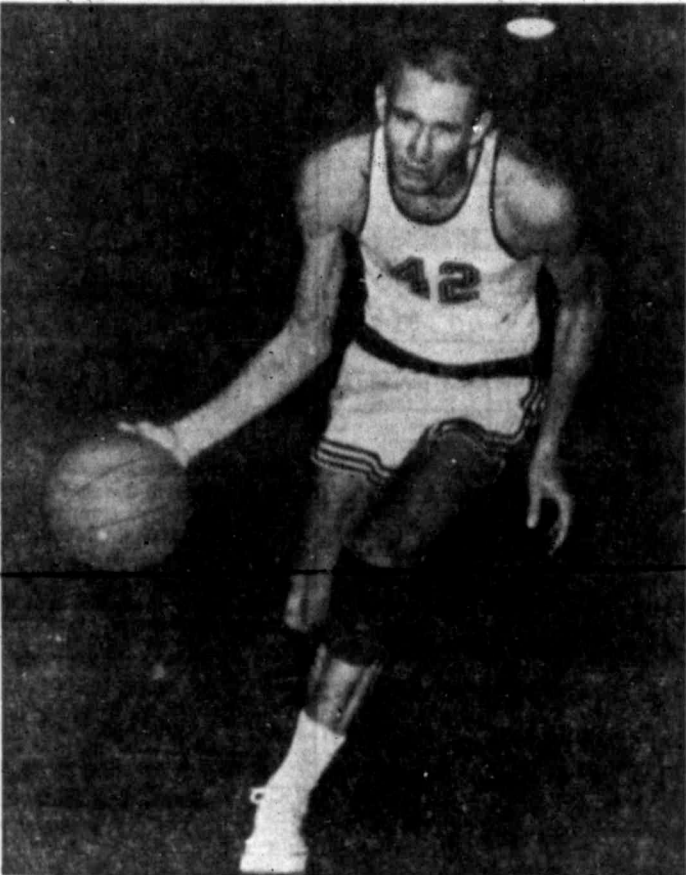

Jensen might have been thinking of previous occasion on which such a loss of respect resulted in a loss of consciousness for the bullish champion from Utah.

"Yeah, that's what happened when Ray knocked Gene out in Chicago in 1957," Jensen said. "But Gene feels that was a lucky punch, because he was moving in fast and supplied a lot of force himself."

Whether Jensen's theory stands up depends simply on whether Fuller stays standing up Saturday night when he defends his NBA middleweight title against the 40-year-old challenger at Las Vegas Convention Center.

When Robinson and Fuller fought to a 15-round draw in Los Angeles last December, Jensen said, Robinson nailed Gene with some magnificent punches in the fourth and eleventh rounds. "I think Robinson shot everything he had," Jensen said, "and Gene wasn't even dazed."

"This time he really wants to get in there and trade punches."

Freshman Cager Clark Jennings (above) is completing his freshman basketball season at Howard County Junior College, where he has shown flashes of brilliance. Jennings can lead the Jayhawks a lot of help next season.

Sugar Has No Punch: Jensen

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson couldn't knock out Gene Fuller with his best punch, Fuller's manager declared today.

"It may be a little dangerous to say that," Marv Jensen admitted, "but Gene has lost respect for Robinson's punches."

Jensen might have been thinking of previous occasion on which such a loss of respect resulted in a loss of consciousness for the bullish champion from Utah.

"Yeah, that's what happened when Ray knocked Gene out in Chicago in 1957," Jensen said. "But Gene feels that was a lucky punch, because he was moving in fast and supplied a lot of force himself."

Tech Can Win Title Tonight

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference basketball race hits its climax Thursday night at Lubbock where Texas Tech can win its first championship in history if it beats Texas.

An upset, however, would throw the championship into a two-way tie, with the winner of the Arkansas-Texas A&M game at Fayetteville deadlocking with Texas Tech.

Texas Tech has a 10-3 record, Arkansas and Texas A&M 9-4. No other team has a chance of figuring in the title.

Texas, the 1960 champion, was eliminated some time ago but is still considered a most dangerous foe for Tech. Texas beat the Red Raiders 63-55 in Austin Jan. 10.

Texas A&M and Rice, which pulled the season's biggest upset in topping Tech Monday night 95-91, hold the other victories over Tech.

If Texas Tech wins it will all be over and the Red Raiders will go to the NCAA playoffs. If Tech loses, and Texas A&M wins over Arkansas, Tech and A&M would tie for the title and have to engage in a one-game playoff. But if Arkansas should beat A&M and tie Tech for the title, there would be no playoff. Tech would get the NCAA place since it beat Arkansas both times during the regular season.

The campaign closes with a full slate—Texas A&M vs. Arkansas at Fayetteville, Baylor vs. Southern Methodist at Waco, Rice vs. Texas Christian at Fort Worth and Texas vs. Texas Tech at Lubbock.

The season scoring championship goes down to the last game with Carroll Broussard of Texas A&M expected to win it since he has a 29-point lead over Del Ray Mounts of Texas Tech. Broussard has 519, Mounts 490.

Broussard apparently has the chance scoring championship sacked up with 320 points. Harold Hudgens of Texas Tech is second with 273.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

"Gorgo" is further proof that some of the better hands in the movie industry need to take the horror and science fiction type of film in hand.
 Basically, the story is good; it shows some originality, a slight deviation from the old monster formula, but the writers missed the opportunity to develop characterization to the fullest.
 "Gorgo" is short for Gorgon, the legendary Greek sisters (remember Medusa?) whose aspect turned men to stone. The movie monsters are plenty ugly all right, and it's an even bet whether they resemble dinosaurs or mules.
 Anyway, a couple of adventurous seamen come across such a monster off the coast of Ireland, capture it, double cross the Irish government which claims the creature, and make a deal with a London circus. They thought the lizard they captured was pretty big, but up pops Mama Gorgo, and she heads straight for London to rescue her baby. Mama is just about as high as that famous London tower that houses the Big Ben clock. She makes short work of both the tower and a goodly portion of London.
 There are two major ways in which the story deviates from formula—there are no women in major roles, and the monsters go home unscathed. The usual story line has some handsome, athletic looking but slightly dense man of action thinking up some ingenious method of killing the monster (or the invaders from Mars, or whatever). But Mama Gorgo plows through one defense after another, bombs and rockets bounce off and fire doesn't seem to hurt her.
 The ending is Wagnerian in concept, as the Gorgos slither back into their ocean, leaving London in ruins and man's civilized vanity deflated. It's too bad the dramatic power of this situation wasn't brought out as fully as it could have been.
 It's also too bad that more usage wasn't made of the little boy who had sympathized with the monsters from the beginning. It was a good bit of dramatics, however.
 The two seamen, incidentally, were left rather crestfallen and looking as if they'd learned a lesson in humility. They were about as heroic as people might be in such a case, but they ended up fleeing the monster like everybody else.
 Some attempt was made to arouse sympathy for the two monsters. The attempt was successful as long as it was left up to the beasts themselves, but failed when a news broadcaster was tossed in with the closing comment.
 Acting, with Bill Travers in the lead role, was as good as could be expected.
 The special effects man did the best he could, but his work suffered from other technical defects such as poor editing and loose direction. For example, a wall of "stone" comes crashing down on fleeing Londoners, and it looks real until one of the cardboard cartons used in building the wall turns the wrong face toward the camera—it was not possible to read the name of the product painted on the side of the carton because the action was so fast, but the name was there.
 Sound mixing was slip-dash, and often one could not hear what the actors were saying. If this was intended to be realism, it drowned out a lot of the script.
 All in all, "Gorgo" is a technically poor film with what could have been a really good story if anyone had tried. Still this reviewer must admit he enjoyed the movie in spite of its technical faults.

Brand X Gets Revenge — In Britain, That Is

LONDON (AP) — British soap manufacturers have been ordered to stop kicking around "Brand X" on television.
 The government-appointed Independent Television Authority ruled out all TV commercials claiming that a name brand is better than "Brand X" or other "ordinary soap powders."
 Also banned are films with one girl in sparkling white and the other in tulle-gray, captioned: "Somebody's mother isn't using—soap flakes."
 Makers may still claim that their box of bubbles washes "whiter," or "whitest," an ITA spokesman said.
 "But they simply must not say or imply that it possesses qualities making it superior to all other makes," he said, because differences among well known British soaps and detergents are usually too slight to prove.
 Soap and detergent firms spend about $30 million a year on British TV advertising. They were stunned at the loss of their favorite punching bag.

 Simmons is charged with killing Martha Perez Villagomez, 14, her sister Hilda, 18, and their brother Juan Manuel on the Laredo-Monterrey highway on the night of Oct. 12, 1959.
 Their car had broken down and they asked Simmons for help. When he could not start the car,

Film Bitterly Splits Liberties Defenders

By LEIF ERICKSON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rival defenders of American liberties are embroiled in a nationwide conflict of intensifying bitterness, roused by a pieced-together movie of the San Francisco City Hall student riot of last May 13.

The disturbances in the City Hall rotunda climaxed a protest demonstration by college students against a hearing by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Sixty-four students from San Francisco area campuses were arrested after police turned fire hoses on the demonstrators inside City Hall. Riot charges against 63 were dismissed. The one remaining accused goes to trial March 6.

The movie, "Operation Abolition," was put together from television newsreel clips subpoenaed by the committee.

The 45-minute film has been sold and shown in all the 50 states.

TREASON?

In the film, committee members declare the student demonstrators were "loying with treason" as the dupes of a Communist drive to destroy the committee and wreck the nation's security system.

Committee foes charge the film is a dishonest distortion. They call the movie the principal instrument of "vivid stimulus" spreading a grass roots revival of McCarthyism—without a personal leader like the late Red-hunting Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said last summer that FBI investigation made it evident that students participating in the demonstration were incited and used as dupes by Communist subversives.

In a year-end report Hoover said in December that "the Communists hope to repeat the success which they achieved on the West Coast last May in spearheading mob demonstrations by college students and other young people against a committee of Congress."

FEUD SPREADING

The violent disagreement has reached into churches, schools and industry across the nation, and is continuing to spread.

Protests against the film have flared at universities and colleges across the country—at Rutgers, Harvard, Minnesota, Nebraska and on Indiana campuses.

Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike declared the movie's "distorted presentation" was encouraging a "growth of the radical right and its fellow travelers that has reached much greater proportions than in the days of McCarthy himself."

Dr. Fred C. Schwarz, Australian physician who heads the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade with headquarters at Long Beach, Calif., declared: "Almost everyone who views the film with an open mind is most profoundly aroused and disturbed by it. It suggests the vulnerability of the student to the clever Communist agitator."

MORE FACTS

The National Council of Churches, meeting in Syracuse, N. Y., last week, voiced misgivings about the fairness of the film. It prepared an advisory to churches not to show the film without presenting supplementary facts about it.

The council said the film "does not contribute to a realistic understanding of communism and its dangers to the United States."

The Rev. Dr. Curtis Nims, pastor of San Francisco's First Baptist Church, resigned as director of the Northern California-Nevada Council of Churches in February because the council's board cautioned member churches about showing "Operation Abolition."

Dr. Nims said he was present when the City Hall violence erupted and believes the film "presents a fair representation of the deplorable events."

More than 600 print copies of the film have been sold, at $100 a copy, reported George Johnson, president of Washington Video Productions, Inc. Johnson said Fulton Lewis III, committee staff member and son of radio broadcaster Fulton Lewis Jr., edited the film and prepared the narration.

SENT TO CHECK

Because of questions raised in Minnesota, the St. Paul area Chamber of Commerce sent Jack McCauley, public relations director, to San Francisco in January to check.

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, recorded for McCauley a statement saying: "The pictures speak for themselves. They are true. They are authentic. They tell the real story and, of course, they are most unfortunate."

The St. Paul chamber declared subsequently: "We feel the film will continue to be of benefit to our American ideals program."

Fulton Lewis III obtained Mayor Christopher's permission to use the mayor's statement on his father's radio network program.

Irving Hall, 24, California graduate student from Pomona, joined six other demonstration leaders in a statement disputing the mayor. It noted that Christopher did not witness the riot, but was speaking in suburban Burlingame at the time.

THE WHOLE PICTURE

The Miami, Fla., school board purchased an "Operation Abolition" print for showing to high school classes. The board took under advisement a Florida Civil Liberties Union request that the classes be given "the whole picture" with a report of the criticisms.

The Lockheed Missiles and Space division with headquarters at Sunnyvale, Calif., shows the film to employees.

"But, we always advise the employee audiences that Lockheed neither supports nor opposes the House committee, but uses the film to show the actions of identified Communists in this area," said Ed Long, security training and education officer.

Following an October showing of "Operation Abolition" on the University of Minnesota campus, the student newspaper, Minnesota Daily, said editorially: "Yesterday we saw a spectacle—hardly a spectacular—conceived in fancy and aimed at the third grade mind."

LONGER LOOK

It urged: "The House of Representatives ought to take a long second look at the HCUA and a longer look at the Constitution."

John P. Greenagel, vice president of the Student Conservative Club which had sponsored the showing, sharply protested the student paper's news and editorial treatment as "applauding open defiance of the law."

A judicial review of the hotly disputed film report on the riot may be written in the trial of Robert J. Meisenbach, the one student against whom charges are still pending.

In dismissing charges against the others, Municipal Judge Albert A. Axelrod said, "I am convinced that they are not engaged in subversive activities, nor in spreading subversive propaganda."

"However, they chose the wrong means to accomplish their purpose and let themselves become victims of those who profit by creating unrest, riots and the type of conduct which is outlawed by the penal code."

NATURE OF CHARGE

Meisenbach, 22, an education senior at the University of California, is charged with beating a police officer on the head with the patrolman's own night stick.

"I believe all the facts surrounding the City Hall incident must be brought out to give him a fair trial," declared Jack Bertram, Meisenbach's attorney.

"Neither Meisenbach nor any other student started the riot. The cause of the violence was the turning on of the hoses by the police without warning."

Robert Maurer, assistant district attorney, said the prosecution regards the trial as being strictly limited to the question—did or did not Meisenbach assault patrolman Ralph Schumleffel?

While the trial could shed light on what happened May 13, the bitter debate over authenticity of the film goes on and on.

2 Missiles Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Polaris and Pershing solid-fuel missiles assigned key roles in U.S. defense plans, have registered significant test flight successes.

The Army sent the Pershing winging 100 miles over the Atlantic early today in the first test of the missile's complete jam-proof inertial guidance system.

Several hours earlier, the Navy fired a "second generation" Polaris for the first time from a ship at sea. The stubby missile performed like clockwork, in speeding 1,600 miles down the Atlantic range.

Both missiles are powered by solid propellant, a rubber-like mass which can be stored indefinitely. This gives them a high degree of mobility which large liquid-fuel rockets like Atlas and Titan lack because of complex pumping systems and hard to handle propellant.

The Polaris was launched from the USS Observation Island, a 563-foot floating missile laboratory, about 10 miles offshore. The success was the fourth in five firings of the advanced Polaris, which is designed to hit targets deeper inland. It eventually will have a range of 1,725 miles, compared with the 1,380-mile reach of missiles now aboard submarines.

First underway launchings of the improved Polaris are scheduled next month after the submarine Theodore Roosevelt arrives home.

Fog Dots Gulf Coast

By The Associated Press

Patches of ground fog along the Gulf Coast of Texas Thursday morning made movement of motor vehicle traffic dangerous from Beaumont to Corpus Christi. Skies in the area were partly cloudy.

Elsewhere over the state skies were clear with only high thin cloudiness in some sections.

Temperatures were in the 30s over much of West Texas and in the 40s and 50s over the rest of the state. The range was from 29 at El Paso to 60 at Brownsville.

Forecasts called for slightly warmer weather Thursday and increasing cloudiness and cooler temperatures Friday.

A 30-day forecast issued by the Weather Bureau indicated above normal temperatures and generally light precipitation for the rest of the month.

Fisherman's Pie Is Good Lent Dish

Salmon first found favor among the people of Ireland and Scotland. Then it became so popular in England that a law was passed stating that no one was obliged to eat salmon more than three times a week. Now they would be happy to get it once a week!

Fortunately for Americans, there is an abundance of canned salmon within reach of everyone to enjoy right from the can or combined with other ingredients in luncheon dishes, dinner dishes, casseroles, soup, stews and chowders. Salmon is a natural complement to such staple foods as eggs, cheese, vegetables, macaroni or rice. It is one of nature's perfect foods. Try it today in this attractive fish version of a Shepherd's pie, called:

FISHERMAN'S PIE
 3 medium potatoes
 1 10-oz. pkg frozen peas
 1/2 cup chopped onions
 1 4-oz. can sliced mushrooms
 2 tbsps. butter
 2 cans concentrated celery soup
 A 1-lb. can salmon, drained
 1/2 tsp. salt
 Dash pepper
 Peel, boil and mash potatoes. Cook peas according to directions. Sauté onions and mushrooms in butter for 5 minutes. Combine celery soup, salmon, mushroom-onion mixture, salt, pepper and peas. Turn mixture into a greased 1-quart casserole. Spoon potatoes in a ring around edge of dish and bake in a preheated 350 degree F. oven for 25 minutes. Serves 4.

Cauliflower, Sauce Is A Favorite Dish

An interesting vegetable dish. CAULIFLOWER WITH CAPEER SAUCE
 1 large head cauliflower
 2 tbsps. salt
 2 tbsps. each butter and flour
 1 1/2 cups milk
 1/2 tsp. mustard
 Pepper
 2 to 3 tbsps. drained capers
 Trim cauliflower and wash in cold water. Cut whole cauliflower in 1-inch boiling water with 1 teaspoon of the salt, uncovered, 5 minutes. Cover and continue cooking over low heat until top is tender—about 20 minutes.

Melt butter in a saucepan over low heat; stir in flour. Add milk, remaining 1 teaspoon salt, mustard and pepper to taste. Cook and stir constantly until thickened. Add capers.

Place cauliflower in serving dish; some of the sauce may be poured over the top so it drips down sides, and remaining sauce served separately. Makes 8 servings.

Surprise Muffins
 Fill muffin pans about a quarter full of muffin batter. Add a tablespoon of chopped dates and walnuts; fill muffin pans with more batter so they are two-thirds to three-quarters full. Bake as usual.

Cheese, Potatoes
 Ever prepare scalloped potatoes with cheese sauce? Delicious to serve with almost any roast meat.

Careful, There
 Don't stack more than two cups and saucers together when you are putting them on a buffet table.

Interesting Top
 Use rum as part of the liquid in a confectioner's sugar frosting for coffee cake.

Fried Pies Are Real Southern Specialty
 Interested in regional specialties? Then you may want to put fried pies in your cooking repertoire.

We first heard of this southern dish some friends who had been brought up in New York went to Kentucky to live. Opening a coffee shop in the country, they fully expected to serve coffee and sandwiches. But it didn't take them long to discover that fried pies had to be among the snacks offered—or coffee shop out!

What is a fried pie? Nothing but our old friend the turnover—filled in rounds or squares, fried and turned over or crimped in pairs. The fillings may be sweet or savory. But the turnover is baked in the oven, and fried pies come out of the deep-fat kettle.

According to our transplanted friends, the sweet fillings for the pies must be fruit. The savory fillings might be beef, ham, chicken or turkey.

The following recipe for fried pies uses cornmeal in the pastry and ground beef in the filling. They were enjoyed for lunch at our house with a crisp accompaniment of carrot and celery sticks and sweet pickles. They're on the rich side, so for dessert we found fresh fruit refreshing.

SAVORY FRIED PIES
 2 cups sifted flour
 1/2 cups enriched cornmeal
 2 tbsps. sugar
 4 tbsps. baking powder
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1-3 cup shortening
 1 egg
 2-3 cup milk
 Beef Filling

Melt 3 tablespoons margarine in a saucepan over low heat; stir in 3 tablespoons flour. Add 1/2 cup tomato sauce (from 8-oz. can), 1 cup canned tomatoes and juice, 1/2 cup water and 3 teaspoon salt. Cook and stir constantly until thickened. Add a bay leaf and simmer 5 to 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove bay leaf.

TOMATO GRAVY
 Melt 3 tablespoons margarine in a saucepan over low heat; stir in 3 tablespoons flour. Add 1/2 cup tomato sauce (from 8-oz. can), 1 cup canned tomatoes and juice, 1/2 cup water and 3 teaspoon salt. Cook and stir constantly until thickened. Add a bay leaf and simmer 5 to 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove bay leaf.

BEF FILLING
 Brown 1 1/2 pounds ground beef and 1/2 cup each chopped onion and green pepper in 2 tablespoons margarine. Mix with 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon chili powder and 1/2 cup tomato sauce (from 8-ounce can). Cover and simmer 10 minutes; cool.

Mrs. Bill W. Tubb, Thyrpe Rd., takes a break during her busy day to enjoy a cup of coffee and search for a recipe that will please her family and be quick and easy to make. According to the local housewife, pleasing her family isn't difficult; they like everything.

Quick And Easy Recipes

Busy Housewife Likes Quick, Easy Recipes

Housewife, cook, club woman, mother and student—put them together and they spell "one of the busiest women in Big Spring." It is hard to believe that a woman with all these responsibilities has time to cook, especially for a club project, but she does. Such a woman is Mrs. Bill W. Tubb, Thyrpe Road.

Mrs. Tubb again is planning to take one of her favorite recipes to Saturday's tasting tea, sponsored by the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs of which she is president. Because the busy housewife has such a full schedule, she likes quick, easy recipes, a good batch of beans for the annual tea.

The housewife doesn't consider herself a fancy cook, as she prepares basic foods such as meat, chicken, potatoes and salads for her family. Her husband and the three children, Ricky, eight; Mary K. seven and Patsy, five, like everything, according to Peggy, except scrambled eggs.

Simple recipes are favorites for everyday cooking, but Mrs. Tubb does have a few "fancier" menus for special occasions. These include a turkey tumbler, an original Louisiana recipe learned from Mrs. Tubb's mother, and Creole Steak, which she learned from the late Mrs. E. R. Watts.

TURKEY GUMBO
 2 cups coarsely chopped celery

1 cup or more cubed turkey or chicken
 4 tbsps. lard
 4 tbsps. flour
 1 large chopped onion
 Dash salt

Pickled Mushrooms With Green Added
 Pickled mushrooms are great when green beans are added:
GREEN BEANS AND MUSHROOMS
 1-2 cup sugar
 1-2 cup cider vinegar
 1 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. whole mixed pickling spices
 1 extra bay leaf
 1 lb. snap beans (cooked whole)
 1 can (8 oz.) sliced mushrooms
 1 small onion
 1 pimiento

Mix together in a small saucepan the sugar, vinegar, salt, pickling spices and extra bay leaf; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to a boil.

Remove from heat. Add drained cooked beans, drained mushrooms and onion; pour, sliced thin and separated into rings, mix well.

Cover tightly and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Garnish with pimiento strips. Makes 8 servings.

Melt fat and brown flour; add onion and celery and coat turkey with brown flour. Add 1 quart of water and let turkey cook for one hour over low heat. Pour over dry rice to serve.

CREOLE STEAK
 1 1/2 lbs. ground meat
 1 or 2 bell peppers, chopped fine
 1 egg
 Dash salt and pepper

Mix the above ingredients in a large bowl and add flour, at least a cup and a half, until ingredients won't hold any more; shape into a rectangle approximately 14" x 14". With a wet knife cut the steak into strips of 1 1/2" x 2". Sear in hot grease, cover with a can of tomato paste, 2 cups water and one bay leaf. Allow to simmer for approximately 45 minutes.

The cook, who had never touched a skillet before marriage, would rather cook yeast and quick bread than anything else. A fruit bread generally is on hand for snacks and treats.

One reason Mrs. Tubb cooks so much bread is to replace potatoes, one of the few foods the Tubbs don't like. Breads are easy to make, says Mrs. Tubb, and are good snacks for the kids or for her husband when he comes home from his civil engineering work with Texas-Pacific Railroad. Mrs. Tubb also likes a treat after a P.T.A. meeting, Four O'Clock Garden Club meeting, or a class session at Howard County Junior College.

Potato Apple Bake Is Fine Accompaniment To Roast Pork

An imaginative new way to serve potatoes is always welcome because in most households they appear on the menu once a day. Here's a suggestion that is simple to make and is particularly delicious with roast pork—Potato Apple Bake.

The two major ingredients are a jar of applesauce and an envelope of instant whipped potato flakes. You can make the potatoes in seconds with instant whipped potato flakes because the chores of peeling, boiling and mashing have been eliminated. Just pour them into scalding boiling water to which milk and butter have been added, and they whip.

Arrange them in the center of a baking dish, add the spiced applesauce and pop the dish into the oven. Here's the recipe:

POTATO APPLE BAKE IS PT
 (Makes 4 servings)
 1 1/2 cups water
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1 tbsps. butter
 1/2 cup cold milk
 1 envelope instant whipped potato flakes
 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 1/4 tsp. nutmeg

Combine water and salt in medium-size saucepan; cover, bring to boil. Remove from heat; add butter and milk immediately then instant whipped potato flakes. Stir gently with fork or wire whip until liquid is absorbed; whip briskly.

Combine cinnamon, nutmeg and mace; blend well with applesauce. Place potatoes in center of well-buttered casserole; arrange applesauce around potatoes. Mix butter, add bread crumbs, mix well. Place buttered crumbs on potatoes.

Bake in moderate oven—350 degrees F—for about 20 minutes. Serve with roast pork, if desired.

Leafy Vegetables Among Low-Priced Items In Produce

By The Associated Press
 Lettuce and cabbage prices rarely drop much lower than they are right now, so Texas food shoppers will do well to serve both, generally the USDA Marketing Service says.

Carrots, celery greens and green onions, dry onions, parsnips, old potatoes, tomatoes, turnips and rutabagas also rate "good buy" price tags this week.

Among fruits, ruby red grapefruit, Texas oranges and lemons are available at most markets in abundance. It's the citrus season.

Apples continue reasonably priced. Look especially for Rome beauty and Winesaps. Avocado, bananas and lemons remain in good supply.

Claiming higher prices in many markets this week are avocados, cantaloupes, sweet corn, eggplant, California and Texas oranges, peppers, yellow squash, sweet potatoes and onion plants. Lettuce advanced slightly.

Scapones, old onions, old potatoes, tomatoes and celery are available in many markets at prices lower than a week ago.

Look also for an abundance of several other important items like cranberry and peanut products, dry beans and rice, canned ripe olives and dates. All are plentiful.

New onions from South Texas began arriving this week. Shipments of Texas strawberries are increasing but prices are still fairly high.

Continued increases in production of eggs and dairy products can be expected as spring advances. Many stores are featuring seedlings for Lent. The supply of red meats—beef, pork and lamb—continues strong.

CONTINENTAL CUSTOM
Serve variety of fruit, cheese

Entertain With Ease; Serve Fruits, Cheese

In Italy, meals come to a comfortable close with Formaggio e Costino di Frutta. In France, blue-marbled cave-cured Roquefort is set before the diner along with a petite basket of sun-ripened pears or other fruit. When one orders "dessert" in England, fruit and cheese is served. Other countries continue this custom.

Here in America, this age-old food combination is providing the answer to more and more dessert courses and party food needs since cheese and fruit are instantly ready for serving, only a bit of artistic arranging is needed to give it an extra festive touch.

First, seek out an attractive dish for the dessert service. Perhaps your grandmother's epergne can be polished and put to use. Aunt Susan's tiered sandwich or cake plate would also make a good holder for these goodies. Or, put that home-handyman to work turning the lathe to make a three-tiered wooden holder. Have him design so it can be taken apart for easy storage or for serving smaller groups. However you serve cheese and fruit, remind guests to experiment with combinations. Encourage all to enjoy the goodness of cheese which combines the food value of milk with appetite appeal.

Here are some helpful hints on cheese service:

Camembert cheese: Bring it to room temperature before serving. Then, spread on a slice of crisp apple or pear. A few basic rules will aid you in serving this delicate cheese at its peak of flavor goodness. Buy it as needed. Age does not improve this cheese after it has ripened. The date stamped on the package indicates the expiration of proper aging time. If you purchase Camembert weeks in advance of this date—you can hasten the ripening by holding it at room temperature for a few hours. Then place it in the refrigerator until 15 to 30 minutes before serving time. Camembert cheese should never be served cold. Room temperature brings it to perfection in a short time. It ripens from the inside out and is perfect for serving when the entire center is soft creamy yellow consistency. The rind is edible. Eat and enjoy it. Roquefort: Cave-cured and distinctive of flavor with its beautiful blue-marbled appearance, it is easily sliced or crumbled atop a juicy and mellow-ripe wedge of fresh pear or toasted cracker. Nut-sweet Gruyere has a natural affinity for Blue Concord grapes, as does a thin slice of natural Swiss Cheese.

Liederkranz: A robust, all-American contribution to the world of cheese, it spreads well and combines excellently with pears, apples, oranges, salty rye bread slices or crispy toasted crackers.

Fall, holiday or year-round dessert service is yours easily by just unwrapping a variety of cheeses, and washing and polishing harvest fruits. And, there is no better way to cater to individual tastes, no smarter way to become a "knowing" hostess. Cheese and fruit make perfect fare for committee meetings, too, so try them at your next social, or business, church, political or other get-togethers.

Try Parsley, Dumplings

Parsley adds flavor.

PARSLEY DUMPLINGS
2 cups sifted flour
4 tps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
3 tps. minced parsley
1 cup milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Add parsley and milk; stir only enough to moisten dry ingredients.

Drop dumpling mixture by spoonfuls on top of pieces of meat and vegetables in gently boiling stew.

Cook uncovered 10 minutes; cover tightly and cook 10 minutes longer. Serve at once. Dumplings will be large.

Makes 6 servings.

Special Dessert For Social Teas

Good dessert for social gatherings.

ORANGE SPONGE LAYER CAKE
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
Salt
6 large eggs (separated)
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 tps. grated orange rind
2 1/2 cup orange juice

Sift together the flour, baking powder and a dash of salt. Beat egg yolks rapidly with electric mixer until thick and lemon colored; gradually beat in sugar until luscious colored.

Beat in orange rind and juice thoroughly, then sifted flour mixture.

Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into two 9-inch layer-cake pans.

Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 25 to 40 minutes or until top of cake springs back when lightly touched with finger.

Cool in pans placed on racks, then ease out of pans.

Fill and frost as desired.

Coconut Pineapple Bars Are Favorite

Requests for this recipe keep popping up!

COCONUT PINEAPPLE BARS
1/4 cup butter
1 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups flaked coconut

Pineapple Filling
Cream butter and sugar; add flour, salt and coconut. Work with fingers until mixture is like crumbs.

Press firmly one-half of mixture into buttered and floured baking pan (9 by 9 by 1 1/2 inches).

Spread Pineapple Filling over; cover with remaining crumb mixture, pressing down.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until golden brown—35 minutes. Cool in pan on wire rack; cut into bars.

PINEAPPLE FILLING
Stir together 1/2 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch and 1/4 teaspoon salt in a 1-quart saucepan; stir in a 9-ounce can of crushed pineapple, including syrup.

Cook and stir constantly until thickened and clear, bringing to a boil.

Remove from heat; stir in 1-tablespoon each butter and lemon juice.

Onion Steak Will Satisfy

A zesty onion steak surrounded by lima beans will give your hungry family deep-down appetite satisfaction. The cut of beef is a 1-inch thick arm steak, an economy meat cut. If you prefer, a round steak may be used instead.

Although both these cuts are termed steak, they come from less tender sections of the animal and require braising. A can of condensed onion soup for the cooking liquid creates the delectable onion flavor. This cooking liquid can be thickened for a savory gravy.

ONION STEAK

1 beef arm or blade steak, cut 1-inch thick
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed onion soup
1 package (10 ounces) frozen lima beans
Flour for gravy

Brown steak in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season. Add soup, cover tightly and simmer 2 hours. Add lima beans and continue cooking for 25 to 30 minutes or until meat is tender and beans are done. Thicken liquid for gravy. 4 to 6 servings.

Miracle Cherry Pie Is Perfect Dessert

"Practice makes a perfect pie," Grandmother used to say. Had she known about today's recipe for Miracle Cherry Pie, she could have had perfect results with her very first effort.

A simple method of thickening and sweetening the cherry filling with vanilla pudding and pie filling mix is the secret of the wonderful flavor and color of this Miracle Cherry Pie, and its perfect consistency does credit to the art of pie-making.

MIRACLE CHERRY PIE

1 1/2 cups (17-oz. can) pitted canned unsweetened red cherries, drained
1 1/2 cups water and cherry juice combined
1 pkg. Vanilla Pudding and Pie Filling
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup sugar
2 tps. lemon juice
1 tps. butter
Few drops red food coloring
1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled

Combine cherries and 1/4 cup of the combined water and cherry juice in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Meanwhile, combine pudding mix, salt, sugar, lemon juice, and remaining 1/4 cup liquid. Stir to form a smooth paste. Add to boiling fruit, stirring to blend. Then cook and stir until mixture comes to a full boil.

Remove from heat. Add butter and food coloring. Cool 5 minutes. Pour into pie shell. Let stand about 3 hours, or until firm. Serve with sweetened cream, if desired.

Refreshing Drink

Using canned pineapple in a salad? Pour the syrup leftover from the fruit into glasses; fill with ice cubes. Now add club soda, stir and serve for a refreshing drink.

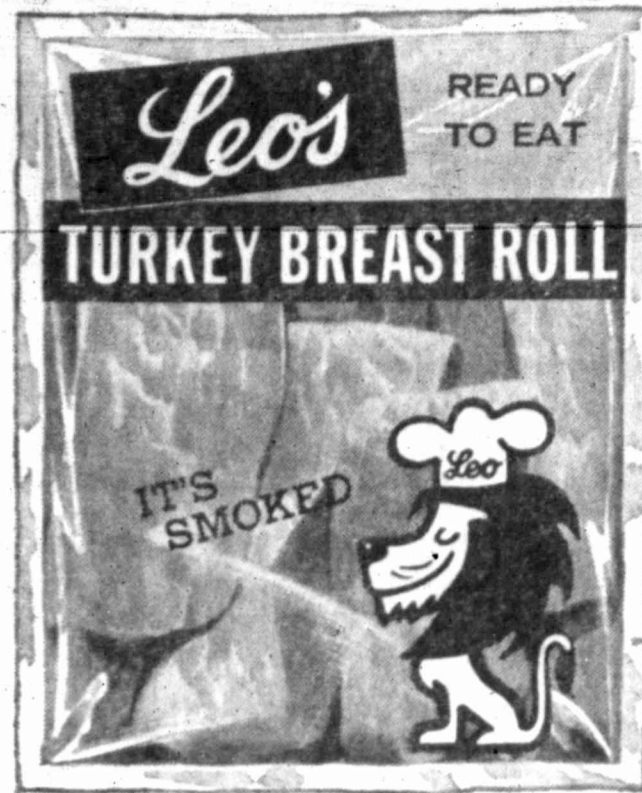

Wait To Slice

Most quick bread loaves benefit from being left overnight before slicing. Cover or wrap tightly during the stay.

Allow Space

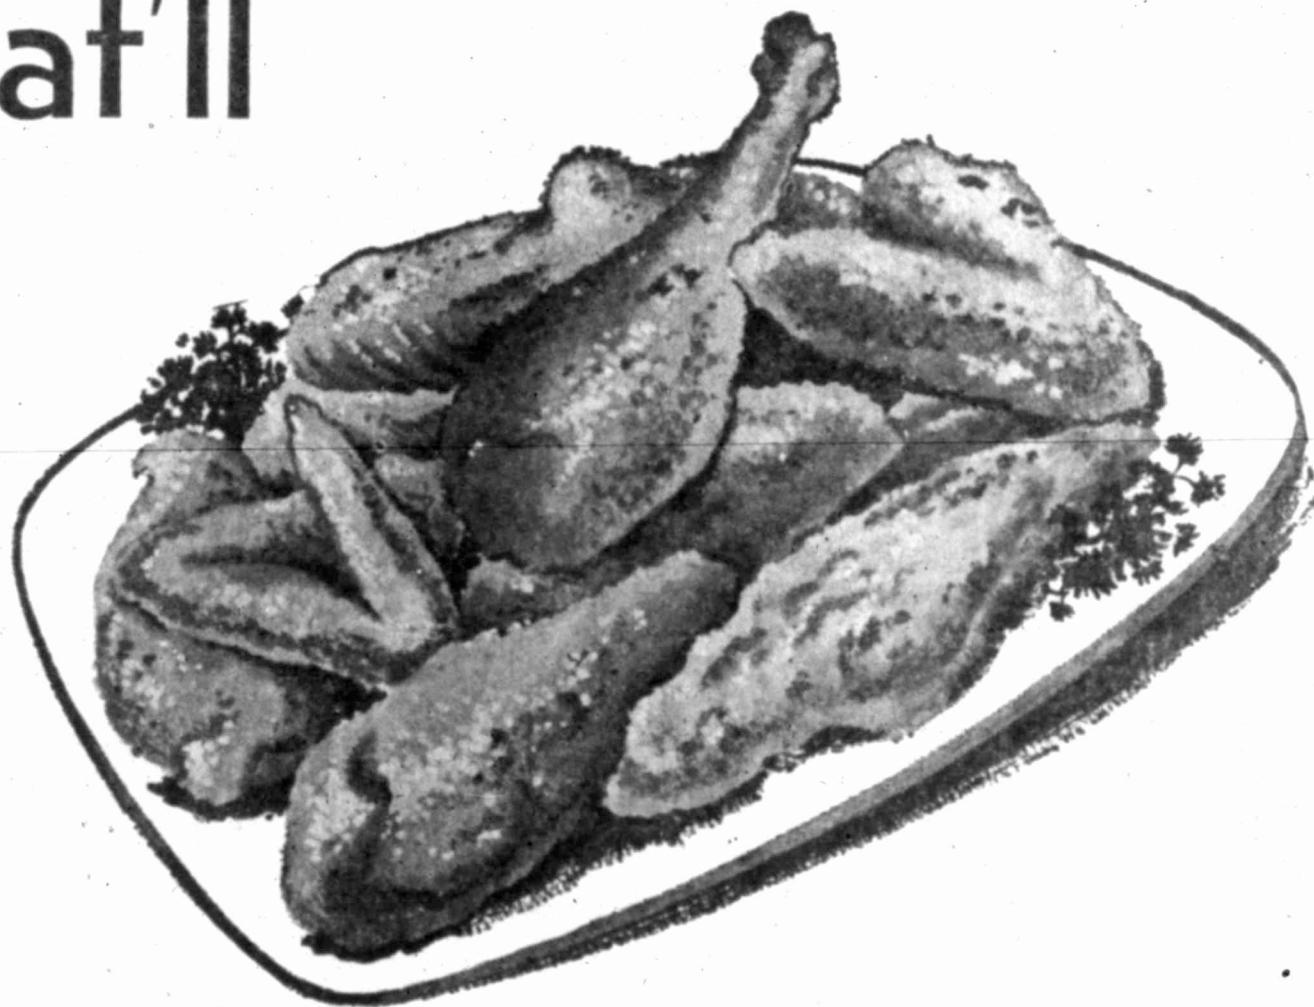

When you are putting a couple of loaf pans of bread in the oven, allow two inches between the pans so the heat can circulate. Both pans can go on one rack.

Mrs. Carr Is Club's Speaker

Mrs. Carr was guest speaker for members of the Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday morning, choosing as her subject, "Fillin' Our Saddle Bags—Our Vegetable Garden."

The club met in the home of Mrs. Loretta Trammel. Mrs. Carr stressed the importance of careful planning for garden and early preparation of the soil. Choose seed of good quality from reliable dealers. She advised the group, and plant them in a trench for protection from the wind.

The proper planting time is important in the success of gardens, members were told. Mrs. Carr suggested planting a ball of straw with a cucumber vine and using the end of the string as a water cap as a trick to irrigate the plant.

At the meeting due to be given Saturday from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., the club members will be responsible for their sales, the affair, sponsored by the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs, will be given in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College.

Members who plan to attend the District One Short Course and conference in Lubbock, Sunday and Monday, include Mrs. One Brown, Mrs. J. E. Hogan and Mrs. Robert Stimping.

Mrs. C. C. Bass was announced as business for the meeting, April 5, when a flower arrangement workshop will be held in connection with a plant exchange.

Try The New

Anti-bands help the way to glamorous hair in a willow-like make-up and are in a class of trying something new.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

She Tries The New For Hair, Make-Up

By LYBIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—As I watched Anita bundle rehearsal a scene on the "Bonanza" set at NBC I tried to guess her age. Was she a teen-ager who was appreciating sophistication, or was she older but retaining a fresh look?

"I'm 35," Anita said. "One more year and I'll be out of my teens. But I feel I'm not changed as a teen-ager any more."

Anita had her dark eyes outlined in black, her black hair in a wide bouffant hairstyle, and her lips white.

"I had my eyes as my best feature, so why detract from them with a bright red lipstick. And besides I like the black and white effect," she admitted. "I've found the greatest make-up for me is a make-up which I apply with a moist sponge and then I rub it down until it has a just-right shine to it and it is kept under control with this make-up. Some people think that I don't wear make-up because it looks so natural."

"I watched the make-up men at the studio and learned the trick of using make-up to reflect light and help stage my face. But you have to be clever about it or it's no good," she added.

"Do you like my hair?" Anita asked suddenly. "I back comb it very gently to get this effect. I'm always trying something new because I'm not afraid of making mistakes. Sometimes I look awful, but at least I find out what I can and cannot wear. I think a hairstyle is so important. I do my hair every three days."

Since Anita seemed to be a girl with opinions, asked what she thought of today's generation.

"I think most teen-agers take on responsibilities too early. They ought to live a little before they get married. I like the old-fashion-

New Designs, Finishes Are Trend In Furniture

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Modern is a little softer in its lines. Elegance is more subdued.

These are trends in new furniture shown at the Los Angeles Home Furnishings Mart during the annual Winter Market Week.

The trend to elegance in furniture got under way about a year ago, a mart spokesman says, and got out of hand. Now the swing is back. The elegance is there but in a subdued manner.

Modern furniture has new designs and finishes, with more graceful and flowing curves. There is a touch of Italian classic, California-contemporary still goes strong for French and Swedish.

Perhaps a hint of the future is seen in designer Shelby Miller's "freeway" coffee table. This large rectangular coffee table derives its design from a freeway bridge. Its curves are inspired by freeway arches. There is an inlay top with eight pieces of matched-grain travertine meeting at the center.

FURNISH TOUGHER

Colonial pieces are less heavy, but the fabrics are richer, with wider color ranges. Reclining chairs are slimmer with a broader selection of coverings.

Fabrics are more durable. Some fabrics have a lifetime outside guarantee. And a couple of new vinyls have a built-in stain-fighting overlay on printed vinyl to give extra stain resistance.

More careful designing and detailing is noticed in patio furniture. There is an increasing use of plastic cord, this year a wider type. One line of outdoor pieces combines steel tubing and redwood in contemporary design.

DOUBLE LIFE

Among the outdoor offerings is a six-rampy piece—a table flanked by two attached chairs.

Designer John Keel presents in American black walnut a dining-games grouping. The square table, extending to 78 inches, has a plastic surface. It serves as a dining table, card and game table.

Dining chairs are more versatile. Some makers have lowered their height to that of the occasional chair to be used in either way. One firm presents a swivel chair for sitting down at the dining table or use in the living room.

Patio Chandelier

rivaling plastic mirrors, stars and jewelights, the usual decorations for outdoor areas, is this elaborate chandelier, which was shown recently at the California furniture market. It is made to accompany the distal furniture made of metal, wood and vinyl.

A Devotional For Today

"My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt." (Matthew 26:39. RSV.)
PRAYER: Our Father, it is hard for us to accept and practice letting Thy will be ours. We pray for Thy Spirit to strengthen us that we may conquer ourselves. Let Thy will be in us and manifested through us. In the name of Christ, our Saviour, Amen.
(From The 'Upper Room')

Hardly Worth The Effort

The federal census lists Peacock in Stoneham County as having a population of 0—zero, nothing, blank.
Officials explained that it is the practice of the bureau to list incorporated towns with no population, provided they had population in the previous count.

But as for Peacock maintaining its community status in the face of this overwhelming evidence, well, it just doesn't seem really worthwhile.

There Could Be More Headaches Ahead

Sen. Clair Engle of California thinks that backlogs may become a problem once more. This is the term applied to illegal immigrants, particularly from Mexico because those slipping across the Rio Grande got their backs wet as opposed to those who walked over dry and legally at the bridges.

The senator, as well as many other legislators, think that the farm workers agreement—which made it easier for the Mexican farm laborers to become braceros than backlogs—will not be renewed.

There are two reasons. One is the mounting demands imposed by the Mexican government so much so that those working out the bracero contracts say that guarantees, benefits, insurance, etc., have reached unreasonable levels. The other is that U. S. labor unions are adding pressure on the grounds that migrant labor, even for the harvest or field work, displaces domestic labor.

Should the agreement fall of renewal, the practice of slipping across the river doubtless would step up. There are many reasons for this, the chief of which is that the braceros, often approaching half a million a year, have got a taste of higher earning capacity in the United States. Moreover, they have spread the word among their compadres. Hence they will not easily give up earnings of some $25,000 a year, which is almost as much as Mexico got in trade with Latin-American countries.

Another is that they do not seem to think themselves abused or ill used, and also they lack complete job opportunities in their own country. The penalties for illegal entry are hardly severe enough to discourage a short wade across the border.

One immediate effect of this will be to create a shortage of harvest workers and thus accelerate the mechanization of feed and cotton production. Another will be to lower some labor costs, for backlogs have to work to subsist and therefore are willing to work for less. Still another potential result is a super-headache for the Border Patrol.

Marquis Childs Justice Black's Long Record

WASHINGTON—Justice Hugo L. Black observed his 75th birthday by reading from the bench two more of the long sequence of stirring dissents that have come in recent years to make him the most eloquent champion of the rights of the individual under the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech, press and religion.

The two cases in which he dissented again involved the power of the House Un-American Activities Committee to compel witnesses to testify about their political beliefs and past political associations and to sentence them to jail for contempt if they refuse under the plea of the First Amendment guaranteeing free speech and free association.

JUSTICE POTTER STEWART read the opinion of the majority of five, holding that the powers of the committee could not be challenged even though, as he pointed out, Frank Wilkinson, had alleged, the aim might be to silence critics of the committee. "We can find nothing to immunize from interrogation," he held, "all those (and there are many) who are opposed to the existence of the Un-American Activities Committee."

Then, in a voice that has lost none of its vigor in his more than 23 years on the court, Justice Black read from a part of his dissents in both the Wilkinson and the Carl Braden cases. He has several times in the recent past, speaking for the minority of four, the senior justice in point of service took a dark view of the future of liberty in this country:

"... IF THE PRESENT trend continues, this already small number of those who stand up to the authority of the committee and risk criticism of it will necessarily dwindle as their ranks are thinned by the jails. Government by consent will disappear, to be replaced by government by intimidation, because some people are afraid that this country cannot survive unless Congress has the power to set aside the freedoms of the First Amendment at will.

"I CAN ONLY REITERATE my firm conviction that these people are tragically wrong. This country was not built by men who were afraid and it cannot be preserved by such men. Our Constitution, in unequivocal terms, gives the right to each of us to say what we think without fear of the power of government. That principle has served us so well for so long that I cannot believe it necessary to allow any governmental group to reject it in order to preserve its own existence.

As the tributes paid to him in connection with his birthday have made plain, few men within the span of a lifetime have vindicated themselves so completely as has Justice Black. With the position he has achieved on the court it is hard to realize the storm of protest his appointment stirred. The disclosure that he

GETTING PRETTY NOISY

James Marlow We're First With Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has nothing similar to the Peace Corps which President Kennedy established Wednesday. Trained young men and women who will help backward peoples develop by living and working with them.

For years the Russians have been sending technicians into backward countries. But American experts on the Soviets say the Russians in other lands are clannish and stay by themselves. This country, too, sends technicians abroad. But the basic difference between them and the Peace Corps will be this:

Peace Corps members will get no salary—just subsistence wages. They will speak the language of the backward people to whom they are assigned. By example and working side by side with them, they will help them do what the technical advisers only suggest.

KENNEDY GAVE examples of the specific programs to which Peace Corps members can contribute.

Teaching in primary and secondary schools, especially as part of national English language teaching programs; participating in the worldwide program of malaria eradication; instruction and operation of public health and sanitation projects; aiding in village development through school construction; helping local farmers produce better crops by assisting them in the use of modern implements and techniques.

Kennedy said: "The initial emphasis on these programs will be on teaching."

The President did two things in this field Wednesday. He established the Peace Corps by executive order on a temporary basis until Congress by law can create a permanent corps. He asked Congress to do this.

BY GETTING started now, he explained, he thought some of the young men and women could be sent to jobs overseas by late fall. Training, he suggested, can range from six weeks to six months.

He didn't limit the corps to just the young, although he said he thought it would be mostly made up of young people. The government, in addition to giving them subsistence wages, will take responsibility for their health.

How will the program work? In various ways, as Kennedy sees it.

THE IDEA of a Peace Corps was suggested in 1960 by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis. Humphrey introduced legislation to establish the corps. And Kennedy endorsed the idea during the 1960 campaign.

Hal Boyle Want To Live Forever?

NEW YORK (AP)—Fifty couples hold joint 120th wedding anniversary party. Ceremony attended by 3,000 descendants.

If you saw a headline like that in a newspaper today, you wouldn't believe it. And you'd be right not to.

But such headlines may be commonplace in next century—if a possibility held out by the Journal of the American Medical Association comes true.

That is the possibility that science by then will have increased life expectancy to 140 years—twice the Biblical span of 70—or even more.

The esteemed AMA Journal isn't either spoofing or daydreaming. It believes this prolonged longevity will automatically follow as medicine gains fresh victories over such problems as infection, cancer and degenerative diseases that now shorten most of our lives.

The prospect of making man durable enough to outlast most old trees is fascinating to all of us, and perhaps appealing to many. To others it seems downright appalling.

Take yourself, for example. Would you like to live to be, say, 150 years old, even though you remained in fairly vigorous health until the end?

Think it over. You have to be mindful of a number of considerations.

Since the trend is toward ever more youthful marriage, you'd probably wed at 20 a girl of 17. How would you like to carry garbage out for the same woman for 130 years?

Since there is already grumbling that the present retirement age of 65 is unrealistic, it would probably be doubled. Suppose you had a dull routine job turning out widgets in a widget factory. How would you like to have to keep on doing it until you were pensioned on your 130th birthday?

Since age would be enshrined, youth would probably be both outnumbered and penalized. No matter how talented, an ambitious lad could hardly look forward to becoming a junior executive before he was 75 or a senior executive until he was 100.

But the greatest curse would probably be one of simple boredom. Greater automation might reduce the work week down to perhaps only 12 hours, accomplished in two days.

This would give people the task of occupying five full days of leisure from the age of 21 to 150. How could they do it without going crazy?

Most probably couldn't. Most would go crazy, as many do now with only two days of leisure.

The end would come, most likely, when some eminent scientist would announce: "A way has at last been found to make it possible for people to live, 250 to 300 years—or even longer."

Frightened at this terrible prospect of even more prolonged monotony, the earth would erupt in riot, rebellion and chaos. Some person would push a button and blow up the human world.

And in some distant sea a surviving amoeba would pluckly divide itself in half—and start the whole darned business all over again.

To Your Good Health Caffein Use In Anti-Pain Preparations

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Dr. Molner: Many anti-pain preparations contain a half grain of caffeine, included, so I have read, to counteract the depressive aspects of the other ingredients.

"Do these other ingredients, in turn, counteract the caffeine? Or must one who has difficulty in sleeping at best, accept the fact that the caffeine probably constitutes an added deterrent?—H.B.K."

A penetrating question! You are quite correct that many headache remedies or anti-pain preparations do contain a bit of caffeine.

Caffein is a stimulant, and a very good one, too. It is not, however, included solely to counterbalance the depressant characteristics of the other drugs.

The caffeine acts as a stimulant in the brain area itself, and this is of substantial help in overcoming a headache.

For example, a mild headache, one described perhaps as a "blurred" headache, and not a real hammer-and-tongs head-splitter, will often need no treatment other than a cup of coffee or tea. If forehead speculating on what may cause these blurry headaches in some victims!

Anyway, the caffeine is included in remedies for a valid and positive purpose, and you may not assume that the other drugs will balance out its effect.

Taking too many tablets containing caffeine in the course of a day can disturb or rather inhibit sleep, just as too much coffee, tea, or other source of caffeine may—the degree varying considerably from one person to another.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I enclose 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of 'How to Deal with Varicose Veins.' I am 25 years old, weigh 116, am 5 feet 6. I have developed a cluster of protruding varicose veins at the back of my left knee. I have tried to rest the leg as often as possible and wear an elastic bandage around the knee. Is this a good idea or should I leave it off?—M.B."

For your age and proper height and weight, I'd say you are probably an ideal candidate for either injection or (preferably) stripping of the cluster of offending veins. Remember, I'm guessing from your letter! Take your doctor's advice. Meantime, the bandage probably will help. It won't harm.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am troubled with prostate gland trouble. Doctor says I must have an operation. I understand there is a place where they cure without using the knife. What do you advise?—O.M."

I advise following your doctor's advice, which is sound, rather than what you heard about it. It is of no monetary value to your doctor either way; it is important to him to advise you truly. He did.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, 'Acne—the Teen-Age Problem.' Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Even A 'Craftsman's' Pride Is Subject To Shame

I would be the first to agree that our household has a large number of unusual objects sitting around. I have written in this space before about the fish pond in the middle of the living-room floor. But it is not necessarily out of place at our house.

The collection of unusual projects comes from reading too many do-it-yourself articles. That spark of enthusiasm that blossoms when reading such an article grows dim when faced with the necessity of completing one of the projects.

FOR INSTANCE, stack two white tile blocks in the archway between the living room and dining room. Then build a box, four inches deep, three feet long and two feet wide. Paint it black. Set it on top of the blocks.

Next, stand poles in each corner of the box, about six feet high. Paint them red. Brilliant red.

Next, build another box, like the first one and mount it about three feet above the other one attached to the poles. Paint it black.

Last, wrap a length of fine mesh screen around the four poles, between the boxes. Finally, fill the bottom box with clean sand and the top one with soil.

Whatever picture you now have in your mind of this object, it is not nearly so hideous as the real thing. As a matter of fact, it is a bird cage. And the top of it is a planter for indoor plants, the poles serving as something for them to climb upon.

YEP, I SPENT hours making the thing and when I finished, it was so ridiculous looking, I couldn't bear to put an innocent bird in it. On the other hand, I worked too long and hard in construction to throw it away.

So it still stands, sans sand in the bottom and soil in the top, where I finished it.

My good wife, Joyce explained, with all of the kindness in the world, "It's going to take a little getting used to." That was also the understatement of the year around our place.

Actually, it is good for a few laughs. Visitors walk around it wonderingly and finally come up with something like "Isn't it unusual?" or "That certainly is striking." Then if we don't volunteer the information, they finally blurt: "What is it?"

NORMALLY, however, they spot it as a do-it-yourself nightmare and are afraid to ask what it is.

We have a number of other projects in the mill. But, before we get under way on them, we are trying to figure out what to do with the ones we have completed. It has been my experience that the completion of the project is the easiest part of it. It's disposing of the corpse that has it.

The Woman Who Has Everything

There are friends who believe that Marjetta Peabody Tree is really The Woman Who Has Everything, including the last, fine flowering of that dying breed, the imperturbable British butler.

Mrs. Tree, whom President Kennedy recently named to the United Nations Human Rights Commission, was born to the purple, is as beautiful as she is rich, and as intelligent as she is dedicated to public service.

THE VICTIM of A stern, rock-bound New England conscience, Mrs. Tree has spent most of her adult life trying to earn the privileges to which she was born and the good things to which life has made her heir. Although in boarding school she tried to organize the girls of St. Timothy's (Maryland) for Herbert Hoover, she switched to the true or Democratic faith after reaching the age of reason and a stint on Life magazine.

Ever since she has labored in the Democratic vineyard. She has taken a special interest in interracial affairs. For the past two years, Mrs. Tree has been a hard-working member of the New York Committee on Intergroup Relations.

A TALL, SLIM WOMAN with green eyes and dark-blond hair, Mrs. Tree last summer made her unexpected debut in the movies, playing a scene with Clark Gable in his final picture, "The Misfits," a distinction that no other member of the United Nations can claim.

All the famous Tree energy that she summoned to campaign for Adlai Stevenson in 1952 and '56, Mrs. Tree devoted to electing President Kennedy in '60. As deputy chairman of the Citizens Committee for Kennedy and Johnson, she turned in her usual A-1 performance.

"I was totally surprised by the appointment," Mrs. Tree said the other day, in her home in East 9th St., one of the most beautiful private residences in New York. "I met the President a few weeks ago and he said, 'I hope you'll come to the United Nations.' But that was all."

"I SAID I WOULD simply have to talk the matter over with my husband! Ronnie. But Ronnie said, 'There is no discussion possible. You've got to take it.' He's the most heavenly husband—the most heavenly man."

Ronnie is Ronald Tree, born an American citizen and the grandson of two of Chicago's foremost pioneers, the original Marshall Field and Lambert Tree. He was reared in England and shortly before World War II became a British citizen. A Conservative member of Parliament, Mr. Tree was adviser on American affairs in the Ministry of Information in the Churchill cabinet from 1940 to '43.

MR. TREE DISPOSED of his English homes and moved to New York in 1949. In the years since, Mrs. Tree has presided over one of the few political salons of any importance in the United States. Republicans as well as Democrats meet to eat in the exquisite Tree home and to chew the political fat.

Mrs. Tree is the granddaughter of two of the most famous proper Bostonians, the late Rev. Endicott Peabody, founder and headmaster of Groton, and the late Mrs. Henry Parkman one of the founders of Radcliffe. Dr. Peabody, who preached public service as the highest good, infected his granddaughter with his doctrine no less than F. D. Roosevelt, a Groton graduate.

The new appointee to the U. N. says her greatest triumph is her conversion of her brother Collins, once a staunch monarchist, to splendid Democratic partisanship. (Copyright, 1961, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

David Lawrence Khrushchev Is Whipping Us Again

WASHINGTON—The Western countries are so preoccupied with what they want to get out of each other, diplomatically and otherwise, that they are missing a big opportunity. They are giving Nikita Khrushchev the stage as he sends letters and messages to 66 governments throughout the world in a deliberate effort either to wreck the United Nations or to make it subservient to his wishes.

On the surface the Moscow government has made it appear that the Secretary General, Dag Hammarskjold, is some sort of assassin who plotted or abetted the murder of Patrice Lumumba.

ACTUALLY, the Kremlin isn't very much interested in Mr. Hammarskjold as an individual or as a functionary. What is sought is a means of replacing him with three co-equal members of the office of Secretary General—each with a veto power. The Soviets want to be able to block the General Assembly in the same way that they have managed to frustrate the Security Council.

For several days now, Khrushchev has gotten considerable space in the press and over the air waves as he has blazed away at Mr. Hammarskjold. Yet the Western governments seem to be indifferent to the fact that the Communist dictator is penetrating many parts of the world with his propaganda in his pose as defender of the freedom and independence of small nations.

NO COUNTERATTACK seems to be in the offing. The Soviet government is the biggest colonial power in the world today and would not even let a U. N. mission of observation and inquiry into Hungary in 1957 and 1958 to find out what happened when the people there tried to set up their own government. Maybe Khrushchev sees in the resolutions recently adopted—and supported by him—a means by which the U. N. some day will be passing resolutions to send into Hungary or some of the other colonial states in the Balkans an international army to preserve order or to insure free elections. Maybe he wants the veto power to prevent anything being done by the U. N. to protect Eastern Europe, though he cries out for armed intervention in the Congo by the U. N. to support the Communist-inspired regime which he has recognized as the "legal" government. For the moment he is bent on getting control of the small African nations as he did the Balkan states.

THE SOVIET UNION has been accused by implication, of course, of trying to wreck the United Nations if it can't control it. Adlai Stevenson, the American an-bassador to the U. N., said pointedly on January 27th at a press conference:

"Attacks on the Secretary General are attacks on the institution itself. I should think that the small powers would rise as one in defense of the institution which is their best protection. The United Nations exists in order that no nation need be powerful in order to be independent and secure."

THIS IS A doctrine that could be widely publicized throughout the smaller countries. But the attacks on the U. N. by the Soviets are not confined merely to bitter criticism of the Secretary General. The Soviets recently engineered a conference of African nations at Casablanca and secured the withdrawal by them of their troop contingents in a move that seriously weakened the U. N. army in the Congo. No condemnation, however, of this palpable case of treason against the U. N. has come from the principal Western governments. None has introduced a resolution calling for expulsion of the Soviet Union.

THE MOSCOW government, moreover, is carrying on another form of sabotage by refusing to pay its allotted share of the expenses of the U. N. Thus in 1960 it cost $218,390,000 to operate the U. N., and its allied and associated agencies. Of this amount, the United States paid $88,575,000 while the Soviet Union paid only $18,245,000.

There is an additional cost of about $116,300,000 a year for the U. N. operations in policing certain areas like the Congo, ordered by formal resolutions adopted in the General Assembly, and for refugee and food programs. Soviet Russia has refused to pay a dime toward these expenses, while the United States paid $57,610,000 for these in 1960.

MEANWHILE, the Soviets are spending considerable sums clandestinely arming certain revolutionary forces formerly led by Lumumba. The Communist bloc in Africa headed by Nasser of the United Arab Republic, has given recognition to the government formed by pro-Lumumba forces, notwithstanding the fact that the U. N. Assembly by formal resolution has recognized a different government.

All in all, the Soviet premier is issuing his tirades and still is shipping munitions by ship and plane to thwart the U. N. What seems puzzling is that the Western governments are letting Khrushchev get away with his game and are failing to take issue with him in the court of world opinion.

THE HERALD SIMPLY! "SPOILED THEM"!

This is an unsolicited, but nonetheless welcome letter from a former Big Spring resident now living in another West Texas city

"We thought we could do without it, but found we couldn't make a go of it"

Dear Sirs:
Well, here I am at last, as we have gone as long as we could without your paper. We thought we could do without it and take our home town paper, but found out we couldn't make a go of it, as it doesn't have enough news to suit us. Guess we are just spoiled on the old Big Spring paper, but couldn't blame us, I guess, as we were raised on it, and know so many people there. So start our paper to coming, please. x x x
We shre missed the paper a lot and want to congratulate you on it.

MRS. Mc.

Mr. Merchant:

When people have a "love affair" like this with their newspaper, then you can be sure that they are followers of, and believers in, Herald advertising. This is the kind of patron you're looking for. You get them into your store through Herald advertising.

Our thanks to Mrs. Mc, and we just hope that we can keep on "spoiling" her family—as well as all the other 10,000-plus families reading The Herald.
