Aggies Feed Hospital Patients

JFK May Emphasize 'Brush War' Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP)—In his shakeup of U. S. defense policy, President Kennedy probably will avoid large military manpower increases but emphasize new weapons and especially the means to wage guerrilla warfare. The review of armed forces makeup, weapons and doctrine still is under way in the White House, but present indications are that the total manpower increase to be recommended to Congress by the President will be under 100,000 men perhaps considerably under. Kennedy's decisions are due in about 10 days. More dramatic than expansion of the Army and Marine Corps, authorities said this weekend, will be the President's stress on the hit-and-run kind of combat which has become increasingly characteristic of the struggle with communism in countries on the borders of the Chinese-Soviet bloc. The United States has been concerned with what the Army calls "special warfare" for several years but Kennedy, officials said, intends to give it an entirely new importance, making it the equivalent of a third arm of grand strategy.

Sailors Caught In Demonstrations

HOLY LOCH, Scotland (AP)—More than 1,000 Scots staged a waterside rally against the U. S. Polaris base on Holy Loch Saturday in an orderly demonstration marred by an outburst of anti-American feeling. With banners waving and bagpipes wailing, the procession wound along the road from Dunoon and halted on the shore near the anchorage of the submarine tender Proteus. Sailors on weekend leave from the Proteus were hailed cheerily by the straggling marchers, some of whom carried posters saying "Americans—we like you, but not Polaris."

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

One of the signs of spring is the swelling of the political buds. With the entry of John Stanley, E. C. Smith and Roy Watkins, the city commission list rose to six for two places. John Johnson threw his hat into the ring of the Big Spring school board, making three candidates for two places. J. D. Gilmore and Fred Romans, county board members, filed for re-election, and Garner McAdams also asked for one of these two places.

7 Seek Council Jobs At C-City

COLORADO CITY—Seven persons had filed for the Colorado City council Saturday at 5 p.m. with four council seats to be filled. Incumbent A. W. Hubbard and Lawrence Ruddle had not filed for re-election.

Sam L. Majors Jr., 39, manager of the Sam Major Jewelry Store, and Ira Utz, 51, owner of the Firestone Store, filed for re-election. Others filing were Robert Aycock Jr., 43, a native of Colorado City and a partner in the Colorado Machine Shop; Martin Weaver, 35, administrator of Root Memorial Hospital, a seven-year resident of Colorado City; C. G. Harkins, 47, lab technician at the Sol-Tex Refinery, a resident of Colorado City since 1929; E. M. Owens, local appraiser who retired as division superintendent of the Shell Pipeline several years ago; and Bob Carver, 36, owner of White's Auto Store, a resident of Colorado City for two years.

There's a new member of the financial family of the community. Last week the State Banking Commission unanimously approved the charter of the Coahoma State Bank with capital surplus and reserves totaling $180,000. One other change in banking circles was the election of E. G. Rodman and Dick Noel of Odessa to the Security State board. Action is due this month by the state commission on an application for a new state savings and loan association.

Congolese Open War On Two U. N. Ports

Reinforcements Go Into Battle

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Open war flared up in the Congo Saturday with Congolese forces launching a seaborne operation and fighting bitter street battles and mortar duels with U. N. soldiers.

Planeloads of U. N. reinforcements flew into the Congo's narrow Atlantic seaboard after Congolese swarmed ashore from boats to capture the little port of Banana from its U. N. garrison.

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld was immediately informed and he promptly cabled orders that the situation be restored—by negotiation, or force if necessary.

Sixty miles up the Congo River U. N. Sudanese troops battled grimly against Congolese units in the streets of the country's key supply port of Matadi.

For hours rifle machine gun and mortar fire hammered through the hillside town. The United Nations reported the Canadian station now has apparently been knocked out of action and all contact with the U. N. garrison has been lost. At least two Sudanese have been wounded, one of them seriously.

After a brief truce arranged by the local U. N. commander, firing broke out again. Should the United Nations be forced out of Matadi the entire operation in the Congo would be threatened. For it is at Matadi that nearly all of the country's desperately needed food, medical and gasoline supplies are landed.

Anticipating U. N. attempts to boost the strength of Matadi's garrison, the Congolese closed the river ferry connecting the town with its airport.

The fighting is a result of Congolese suspicions that the U. N. force is preparing to disarm the national army. It seems to have broken out spontaneously on the initiative of relatively low-level officers on the spot. Army commanders in Leopoldville are joining the United Nations in trying to arrange truces.

Fighting broke out in Matadi when Congolese opened up at close range on a villa being used by Canadian signalmen as a U. N. communications center. Sudanese troops replied with mortars from their camp nearby. Within minutes the battle spread to other parts of the town, according to U. N. reports. At one point the local U. N. commander ventured into the street to arrange a cease-fire. But it lasted only briefly.

CONFERENCE In Leopoldville, Rajeshwar Dayal, head of the U. N. Congo operation, and Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko also conferred on means of halting the wave of anti-U. N. violence.

The seaborne threat caused the 24-man force of Sudanese to withdraw from the downriver port town and find refuge in the important U. N. base at Kikona.

Under orders from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld that the base must be relieved of any threat, U. N. headquarters flew a contingent of Indonesian forces to the area to restore the situation and began special truce talks on the spot.

EASES DOLLAR PRESSURE Germany Raises Value Of Mark

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West Germany Saturday raised the foreign exchange value of the mark, an action that brought cheer to financial circles abroad and worries for businessmen at home. It is expected to ease pressure on the dollar.

Acting on a circular from the Economics Ministry, bankers boosted the mark by about 5 per cent in all foreign exchange deals.

It was the first official change in the value of the German mark since Sept. 19, 1949, when the Western occupation powers pegged it at 23.8 U.S. cents. It is now officially worth 25 cents. In actual trading, banks paid 3.93 marks to the dollar, which put the mark's value at about 25 1/2 cents.

The revaluation meant little to the German consumer but was of major importance to businessmen and bankers. It meant German firms selling goods abroad would have to charge 5 per cent more for their products or lower their prices in terms of marks.

This would either give an advantage to Germany's foreign competitors or squeeze company profits. Neither effect pleased industrial leaders, who were reported in emergency meetings throughout the country.

The revaluation was expected to ease pressure on the dollar and curb the flow of foreign currency into Germany, a trend that had international banking circles worried.

CITY SALES FIGURES UP

Unofficial advance figures of Sales Management magazine predict substantial gains for Big Spring. For instance the effective buying income in 1961 is estimated at $81,699,000 as compared with $71,303,000 for 1960. Retail sales are set at $57,901,000, up from $57,722,000 last year; food sales at $11,962,000 as compared with $11,067,000 a year ago; automotive sales at $13,525,000 as compared with $13,076,000; gas station business at $4,496,000; and drug sales at $1,585,000 as compared with $1,459,000.

EMERGENCY TRACHEOTOMY Liz Taylor Gravely Ill

LONDON (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, stricken by pneumonia, underwent an emergency operation Saturday night to save her life. Doctors said afterwards her condition was grave.

The glamorous, 29-year-old movie star and four-time Oscar award nominee, was rushed from an oxygen tent in her luxurious penthouse suite at the Dorchester Hotel to the exclusive London Clinic where doctors immediately performed a tracheotomy. The operation opens the windpipe to enable the patient to breathe.

Miss Taylor's husband, singer Eddie Fisher, stood by during the operation.

A medical statement said: "Mrs. Fisher has been suffering from a severe attack of staphylococcus pneumonia. She underwent an operation tonight of tracheotomy. Her condition remains grave."

Two doctors and three nurses were with Miss Taylor in the ambulance which sped her through rush-hour traffic in London's fashionable West End. Portable equipment to administer oxygen was in the vehicle.

Lord Evans, personal physician to Queen Elizabeth II, was one of the doctors who issued the medical statement. Another was Miss Taylor's personal physician, Dr. C. H. Goldman.

The doctors said they would be on call all night, in case her condition took a turn for the worse.

An anesthetist remained with her through the night, and all the facilities of the ultramodern clinic near Regents Park were available.

The decision that an operation was necessary to save Miss Taylor's life was reached after she had spent anxious hours in an oxygen tent in her hotel suite.

She had been suffering from influenza but was thought recovering. Early Saturday she woke up and had great difficulty breathing.

Fisher immediately called Goldman, who arrived at 4 a.m. He said he detected severe congestion of the throat and lungs.

Severe Storm Hits Chicago; 52 Injured

CHICAGO (AP)—A violent storm ripped a wide swath of destruction through the South Side Saturday. At least 52 persons were injured.

The fire department declared the district a disaster area. The Weather Bureau termed it a violent thunderstorm although at least one eyewitness called it a tornado.

Store fronts were blown out, trees uprooted, autos overturned and power lines blown down. The injured were admitted to six hospitals. Authorities said the storm-struck area is about a mile square. Most of it is in darkness due to disruption of power when the storm struck at 5:15 p.m.

The storm hit a residential area nine miles south of the Loop and cut a 17-block wide path northeast to Lake Michigan. The hardest hit area is roughly bordered by 71st Street on the north, 87th Street on the south, Loomis Avenue on the west and Stony Island Avenue on the east.

The Chicago Police Department ordered part of the sector evacuated because of reports of broken gas mains. There were no reports of fires or fatalities.

Chicago Hotel Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—Flames and thick smoke routed scores of guests from the upper floors of the historic Pick-Congress Hotel on Michigan Avenue Saturday, causing an estimated $100,000 damage.

ANALYSIS OF GROWTH IS GIVEN City's Outlook Bright, Says Bank Letter

The First National Bank in Dallas puts its finger on Big Spring as a regional bright spot. In the regular bond letter dated March 1, the bank devotes more than three or four pages to Big Spring, its industrial complex, its growth and its future. While a bright outlook does not guarantee an uninterrupted growth, the bank's bond report concludes: "Big Spring's citizens' enthusiasm gives the city as favorable an outlook as that of any similarly sized community we know."

Here are some of the highlights of the report: About a quarter of a billion barrels of oil have been produced to date in the county, and annual production is running around 14,000,000 barrels. Cosden, now a subsidiary of W. R. Grace & Co., has tripled capacity in the past decade to 30,000 barrels per day, and supplies 2 1/2 million barrels annually of jet fuel and gasoline to the Air Force at Big Spring and Abilene. It has a 290-mile pipeline to Duncan, Okla., where it connects with the trunk to the Mid-West and Ohio Valley. Pipeline sales last year amounted to $50,000,000, a fourth of it in government sales. Cosden has ventured into other areas, notably petrochemicals with a $9,000,000 volume; diversified also with asphalt production of similar value. The complex has attracted two carbon black producers, Cabot Carbon Co. and Richardson Carbon Co., which operate off residual oil piped from the refinery. "Value added by manufacture has been increasing rapidly. It jumped from $14.4 million in 1954 to $23.3 million in 1958. Manufacturing employment, mainly oil and chemical, is currently about 10 per cent of non-agricultural civilian employment. This clearly is the area of Big Spring's growth potential. "The city's economy is quite broadly based." It goes on to cite retail sales over $50 million; medical facilities in four private and three government hospitals, and payrolls from these sources; commercial banks; agriculture with a potential of $9-$10 million a year; 46 million cotton, $1.5 million grain, $1 million from cattle and the Hereford breeding industry. "Webb AFB has been a growth factor. It would be dangerous to predict further expansion, but its position as a permanent training center should make it a relatively stable addition to Big Spring's economy for many years. Payrolls from it amount to $14 million annually and the total contribution is some $20 million to the community and area. "Present assured capacity, mainly from the Colorado River Municipal Water District's Lake J. B. Thomas is almost adequate to meet estimated average daily requirement 20 years hence. The district is planning a new reservoir 35 miles southeast of Big Spring with twice the capacity of Lake J. B. Thomas, hence water needs are assured to at least the end of the century. "Recognizing the need of planning, in order to survive as a thriving community, Big Spring commissioned and has now received the results of a three-pronged study by one of the best water engineering firms, a nationally recognized urban planner and the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research."

Roy Watkins Bidding For Commission

Roy E. Watkins, 606 Drake Road, an employe of Cosden Petroleum Corp., has filed as a candidate for city commissioner. He is the sixth candidate to enter the race.

Watkins, 38, said that his decision to enter the city political campaign was in response to requests by fellow citizens urging that he do so.

He has been an employe of Cosden for the past 8 years. Presently he is stillman at the polystyrene unit. He has a record of six years served with the U. S. Marines, including 3 1/2 years in the Pacific during World War II.

He is a member of the Trinity Baptist Church.

He is president of Local No. 228, International Union of Operating Engineers, and is highly interested in encouraging union members to take greater interest in civic affairs.

He is married and has three children.

He issued the following statement on his candidacy: "I believe more working people should concern themselves with the functions of our local government not only the way it is administered, but how our tax dollars are being spent."

"Big Spring, I feel, has a great future, and is currently with the aid of monies received from the sale of bonds, transforming itself from a town to a city. I ask for the opportunity, and if elected pledge myself, to work toward this transition, that it be brought about in an orderly, as well as, economical manner."

"One apparent weakness in our city structure which I would like to help eliminate, is our nearly total lack of sidewalks in the vicinities to our schools. Much is being done, within and without our schools to protect the health, education and wellbeing of our children. Yet, when the last school bell rings, they're on their own. For lack of sidewalks numbers of students daily, must walk in the streets to and from school. This is hazardous and is unduly stating the problem. This condition should not be."

"I have always been identified with the protection of rights of individuals, and if elected would continue to preserve those rights."

Watkins was labor coordinator on the crippled children's center project last year, and he also headed the labor division in supporting the bond issue to back up the master plan.

Daniel Counts On Compromise Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel indicated Saturday a compromise may be reached to break the deadlock in the Legislature on his deficit-reducing proposals. Predicting the House would pass "enough measures to retire the deficit," before voting new taxes or spending, Daniel added: "I believe many of those House members who voted against the two measures Wednesday will work in good faith for alternatives or compromises."

IN JERRY STOVALL

LSU May Have A New Cannon

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Paul Dietzel, the coach who made Louisiana State a football powerhouse, could talk all day if necessary about Jerry Stovall, a 198-pound left halfback from Monroe, La.

In fact, Dietzel compares Stovall with Billy Cannon, regarded as the greatest All-America in LSU history.

"Stovall was our star back last season," says Dietzel. "As a sophomore he led our ball carriers. On 65 attempts he went 298 yards for a 4.5 per carry average. Not only that, but he's a fine punter, too. On 60 punts he averaged 42 yards.

"Stovall is a hard worker and a perfect boy to coach. He's a junior now and has two more seasons. You'll be hearing a lot about him."

Dietzel met with a lot of tough luck last fall when his Tigers from Baton Rouge compiled a 5-4-1 record. He had lost 23 lettermen from the 1959 team that compiled a 9-2 record.

"The Chinese Bandits still excel," says Dietzel. "They allowed only two touchdowns in our first five games yet we lost four of those games. The offense was not there.

"Offensively, we couldn't get settled on a quarterback. When we did get settled we became a pretty good football team. We won our last four after tying Mississippi, 6-6."

LSU went through its first six games with only three touchdowns and the Chinese Bandits, the defensive unit, couldn't be blamed for that. The Tigers fell before Georgia Tech, 6-2, on two field goals and bowed to Kentucky, 3-0, on another field goal.

Public Links Round Is Scheduled Here

John M. Pipes of Big Spring has again been designated by the United States Golf Association as director of the Sectional Qualifying Round for the 1961 U. S. Amateur Public Links Golf Tournament.

Pipes announced Saturday that the sectional play will take place at the 18-hole Muny course here Monday, June 19. Entry fee will be $5. No green fee will be charged.

Big Spring is one of three cities in Texas which will stage sectional play (the others: Dallas and Houston) and one of 49 in the nation. It perhaps is the smallest city in the U. S. which will hold sectional play.

All golfers who use public links are eligible to take part in the tournament. The winner here becomes eligible to take part in the National Public Links Tournament which will be held over the Rackham Golf Course, Detroit, Mich., July 10-15. Last year, the meet was held in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The field at Detroit will be limited to 150. Golfers competing here will engage in 36 holes of play.

Last year, the Sectional tournament was conducted in Midland but practically all of the players registered from Big Spring. Pipes has been director of the meet for the past several years.

Three dollars of every entry fee goes toward allowance expenses of competitors in the National meet. The size of the field here, of course, will determine the number of players made eligible for the Nationals.

When the National tournament was held in Denver two years ago, three players went from here.

Deadline for entry in the local meet is Thursday, June 1.

Tornadoes Set For '61 Debut

Winter Visitors Getting Ready For Long Trip Back Home

Flights of sandhill cranes such as the one shown above are often seen in the southwest part of the county. Thousands of the long-legged-widewing birds spend the fall, winter and early spring here. They supposedly come to this part of the country from far-away Siberia and northern Canada. They will soon be on their way back home. This group was photographed near Lomax last week.

Lamesa To Observe School Program

LAMESA (SC)—Special emphasis is being placed on visitation in the public schools here this week, as the Lamesa Public Schools join others across the state in the observance of Texas Public School week.

Simultaneous with this observance, the city council P-TA has announced it will conduct an Education Alert through the schools during the coming week.

At Lamesa Junior High School visitation to the classrooms is urged for Monday through Thursday; two special programs have been scheduled, according to G. L. Trice, principal. At 12:30 p.m. Tuesday the school choir will be presented in concert in the school auditorium; the group is under the direction of Bob McMakin. On Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. the Junior High School Green Warrior Band will present a program under the direction of Jerry Bartley.

Central Elementary and V. Z. Rogers Elementary School are inviting parents to visit classrooms throughout the week, and special decorations are planned for some of the classrooms at V. Z. Rogers school. Principal B. M. Turner said that South Elementary School will have special decorations in all rooms. At North Elementary School parents have been asked to stagger visits. Parents of first graders will visit on Monday; second graders on Tuesday, third and fourth graders on Wednesday and fifth and sixth graders on Thursday.

Visitation at the high school will be climaxed with a meeting of the High School P-TA at 7:30 p.m. Thursday on the "Transition of Students from High School to College." It was also announced that the high school stage band under the direction of Jim Williams will present the program for the Lamesa Noon Lions Club on Thursday. School will be dismissed on Friday so that teachers may attend the district IV meeting, TSTA, to be held in Midland.

Congo Missionary Speaks At Presbyterian Church

Margaret E. McMurry, on leave as a missionary pending stabilization of the situation in the Congo, will speak at 6:30 p.m. today in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

The church will have a fellowship supper for members and friends. Those desiring to hear Miss McMurry but not wanting supper, will be welcome to come at 7 p.m. Miss McMurry attended Hillsboro Junior College and Methodist Hospital in Lubbock before studying tropical medicine at Leopoldville, Congo, and Antwerp, Belgium. Before her mission assignment she was operating room supervisor at Sweetwater and was a member of the Sweetwater Presbyterian Church. Her home is in Lubbock.

When Miss McMurry went to Africa in 1946, as World War II ended, she found many who wanted some sort of magic medicine to protect their children from sickness. Some were not sure that the "white man's medicine" was any better than their own fetiches, even though medical missionaries had struggled to spread their efforts in the vast country for 50 years.

Today, young men from all parts of the Congo are in medical training in several schools and hospitals. And the traditional terrifying diseases of Africa—malaria, sleeping sickness, tropical sores, yaws, intestinal parasites, dysentery and pneumonia—are being treated by Africans and medical missionaries.

Stationed first at the mission hospital at Luebo, Miss McMurry has also served at hospitals at Mutolo, Mboi and Moma, where primarily she taught medical students and supervised their work. When political and tribal disturbances broke out after independence day, June 30, 1960, she evacuated with other missionaries at the request of the United States consul. When she is allowed to return to the strife-torn Congo, she will be stationed at Lubandul.

ASPHALT presents the case of— The Disappearing CONCRETE Highways!

Thousands of miles of expensive concrete roads have disappeared from view in the last 18 years. Most of these roads have had to be covered over with asphalt paving to restore a satisfactory level of riding safety and comfort. How much better it would have been to use total asphalt construction in the first place! Many millions in tax dollars would have been saved due to the more economical construction and lower maintenance costs of Deep Strength Asphalt pavements.

Concrete surfaced highways are actually disappearing from the records of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads faster than they're being built. As this graph shows, from 1940 to 1958, despite the fact that more than 30,000 new miles of concrete roads were constructed, total concrete mileage decreased by over 50,000 miles. This is a decline in concrete mileage 9,000 miles greater than the entire new Interstate Highway System now being built.

EXPLANATION: Figures represent total mileages of high-type asphalt and concrete pavements built by State Highway Departments on state primary systems; municipal extensions to state primary systems and secondary and local roads built by State Highway Departments. See U.S. Bureau of Public Roads HIGHWAY STATISTICS—SUMMARY TO 1955—table SMO-20L and table SMO-2, 1956 to 1958 inclusive.

During the same period, according to the Bureau of Public Roads records, high type Asphalt-paved mileage increased over 180 thousand miles. And today, over 90% of America's paved roads are Asphalt-surfaced.

One of the reasons for this is that each year the nation's petroleum industry invests over 4 million dollars in engineering research to keep Asphalt pavement the safest, most durable, economical pavement available.

NEW BOOKLET
Deep Strength Asphalt pavement can mean more miles of better roads for your tax dollar. To get the facts, read the new booklet, THE BETTER WAY TO BETTER ROADS. For your free copy, write The Asphalt Institute, College Park, Maryland.

THIS IS AN EXAMPLE OF DEEP STRENGTH ASPHALT CONSTRUCTION

Its laminated, multi-layer, heavy-duty construction will outlast all other types of pavement, even those claiming to last 50 years or more.

And Deep Strength Asphalt construction has lower maintenance costs. De-icing salts don't harm the surface. There are no porous slabs to freeze and crumble. No sawed-in or built-in cracks to admit damaging moisture. No brittle slabs to fracture even under the pounding of heaviest traffic—no lane joints to swerve your car.

Life Sentence In Slaying Of Woman

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—A Circuit Court jury has found Chester (Rocky) Weger guilty of one of the Starved Rock State Park murders and imposed life imprisonment as his punishment.

The verdict was announced late Friday, Weger, who had been confident he would be acquitted, took the decision calmly. He sat with hands folded in his lap, his head tilted and face expressionless.

Later, he told newsmen, "I know I was framed. I want to appeal all the way."

Weger could have been sent to the electric chair, as the state demanded, for the murder of Lillian Oetting, 50, last March 14. Still pending are indictments charging him with murdering Mrs. Oetting's two hiking companions, Frances Murphy, 47, and Mildred Lindquist, 50.

The defense attorney, John A. McNamara made an immediate motion for a stay of sentence until March 31, which was accepted by the court. He termed this a routine move to guard Weger's right to appeal.

State's Atty. Robert E. Richardson declined to say whether he planned to prosecute the two other murder indictments against Weger.

Nancy A. Porter, 37, of Peru, one of the jurors for the five-week trial, commented: "The confession was in. That's what did it. The confession was the big thing."

She referred to statements taken from Weger last November in which he admitted beating the women to death with a tree limb during a robbery attempt. He later repudiated the confessions, saying they were obtained under duress.

Sass Didn't Help Fine Any

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Sniffing Robert P. Fullerton looked down at Arthur Packer, 27, defendant in a drunk case.

"Sir," he asked, "were you drinking before you came to court?"

The defendant grinned sheepishly.

"Man, a guy's gotta have something before he comes down here."

Judge Fullerton imposed a $25 fine.

Surplus Chopper

What a whopper! Dick Standifer, at the Howard County Airport, looks into the fuselage of a surplus helicopter towed to the airport from Webb AFB Thursday. The chopper was bought, on a surplus bid, by the Heli-Crane Corp. of Van Nuys, Calif. It will be put into flight condition and flown to California by J. W. Alfred of the purchasing company, where it will be used in lifting and carrying operations.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

California Man Buys Webb Surplus Helicopter

BY M. A. WEBB
An old model surplus helicopter was purchased from Webb AFB Thursday by J. W. Alfred of the Heli-Crane Corp., Van Nuys, Calif. It was towed to Howard County Airport where Alfred will work the old chopper over and fly it to California.

The helicopter, bought on a bid basis, will be used by the company for hoisting poles and heavy objects, and for laying wire and cable on power and utility lines as a time saving device over old methods of rigging towers for short jobs. It is a boon in helping to build lines over rough terrain where trucks and other vehicles have trouble.

Over 60 per cent of the airplane flights out of the Howard County Airport are made by private flyers. Their air mileage also runs about the same percentage above commercial mileage.

Ted McClung, Howard County Airport manager, said that there are as many as 20 transient operations serviced each day. There are around 165 to 170 local operations each day. All this makes the airport a fairly busy place every day in the week.

There are now 31 airplanes in hangars at the airport. Three of these are owned by Cosden Petroleum Corp. based in their own hangar, and three are owned by Big Spring Aircraft. One of the latter is a twin-engine Aztec. One of the private craft is an oldtimer worked over for good service. It is a 1940 model Aerona Champion owned by Gene Barnaugh.

One pilot (not from Big Spring) recently got lost, going and coming, on a flight to another Texas city, and in both instances landed at Howard County Airport.

He was in soupy weather and came in for flight directions, McClung helped him line out his flight and the pilot went on his way. He made the trip to his destination without trouble, but got lost again on his way back. The Midland radio directed him to Big Spring.

"This is one of the things which shows a lack of supervision in the man's training," McClung said. "With modern instruments, radio contacts, and DMEs, there is little need for a pilot to get lost or to have trouble due to weather."

"Over 90 per cent of airplane accidents are due to weather conditions where pilots fail to check," the manager said. "If flight plans are made, and if the pilot has a radio, he can check after he is well on his way, to find out if there has been a change in weather conditions ahead. In this way, he can get a new route lined out."

Water Draw Down

LAMESA (SC)—Water consumption in Lamesa last month was slightly lower than the January pumping count but higher than the reading for a comparable period last year. City water superintendent W. E. Sealy gauged 31,639,000 gallons last month.

Feb. 18 was the peak day at 1,431,000 gallons. January was logged at 31,972,000 gallons and February 1960 had 29,938,000 gallons.

70 Candidates For U. S. Senate Seat

By The Associated Press
A fantastic total of 70 persons were in the U. S. Senate race when the secretary of state's office closed at noon Saturday — but that may not be all.
Secy of State Frank Lake said several others have telephoned or written that they are en route to the capital to pay their $50 filing fee for a place on the ballot which will be the longest anyone can remember.
Long ago the number of candidates in the April 4 special election is a new record. The election is to fill most of the term of Lyndon Johnson, who resigned to become vice president. The old record was 25.

Lake said that while his office closed at noon as usual Saturday, the law gives candidates until midnight to nail down places on the ballot.
LATEST ENTRANTS
The latest entrants were: Lloyd Layne, 45, tourist court and rent house operator, Payne Village, Del Rio.

George Red, 57, Houston lawyer.
G. E. Blewett, 78, Fort Worth, grain broker.
John Sybert, 36, exterminator, Dallas.
Brown McCallum, 57, citizen, Austin.
Marcos Zertuche, 48, San Antonio attorney.
Winnie K. Kerrick, 62, Houston real estate broker.
The total of 68 takes into account the official withdrawal of J. G. Barker of Marshall, one of the earliest entrants.
The contest to succeed Johnson pits one "official" Republican against a field made up mostly of Democrats although the party affiliation for candidates is not on the ballot nor on the official application for a place on the ballot.
The state Republican Executive Committee has endorsed John Tower, former college government professor, who ran a strong race against Johnson in the general election.
Tower is one of a dozen hard-running candidates making state-wide races.

Howard Entries Set For Show

Howard County 4-H Club members are taking 25 lambs to the annual San Angelo Fat Stock Show which opens on March 8, Jimmy day.
Lovell Kuykendall, assistant county agent, will go with the club members to the show.
Youngsters who are entering lambs in the show include: Forsan: Jay Creighton, LaNell Overton, Fran Creighton, H. K. Elrod, Susan Elrod and Harry Kuykendall.
Coahoma: Linda Foster, Andy Wilson, Olen Fryar, and David Robinson.
Big Spring: Kay Thornton, Wanda Boatler and Philip Richey.
The San Angelo show does not have steer competition.
The club members hope to sell some of their lambs at the auction which will bring the show to a close.
Immediately on their return to Big Spring, these club members and others in the county will begin moving stock into the Howard County fair grounds for the annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock Show.
This yearly event opens on March 15. It will bring the 1960-61 season for Howard County 4-H clubs to a close.

AT POLITICAL MEET
Hank Brown, Maury Maverick Jr., and Frank Parker

Maverick Talks To Labor Group Here

"I have 150 hard working managers over the state of Texas. I think I am going to be in the runoff for U. S. senator from Texas with John Tower," candidate Maury Maverick Jr., said Saturday afternoon.
He was in Big Spring to address a meeting of members of the Texas CIO-AFL groups at the Settles Hotel. Maverick was accompanied by Big Spring by H. S. (Hank) Brown, state president of the Texas CIO-AFL. He introduced the candidate at the banquet Saturday night.
Brown told the gathering that Maverick was making a hard campaign and that he was getting much encouragement as he covered the state. The San Antonio lawyer has been campaigning steadily for six weeks. Today, Maverick will be at Granite Shoals Lake fishing and relaxing.
Ronnie Dugger, publicity man for Maverick, was also in Big Spring. The group came from Fort Worth, where Maverick spoke to a crowd of 400 at a dinner on Friday night.
"I am a Franklin Roosevelt, Ralph Yarborough, John Kennedy Democrat," Maverick told his audience here last night.
"I intend to support to the 5-point Kennedy program."
"I believe in Social Security medical care for the aged—4 he kind which would provide the old folks with 81 days in a hospital or 180 days in a nursing home."
He favors federal aid for school teacher salaries and school buildings but he wants this aid free of censorship by the federal government.
He favors a minimum wage bill guaranteeing $1.25 an hour for workers.
He wants aid provided to the depressed areas. He wants action taken to stimulate the housing industry.
He warned his audience: "We Americans must identify ourselves with the hopes and aspirations of the new, uncommitted. Someday they will make a choice between the United States and Soviet Russia. We must make certain they make the right choice."

Colorado City Chamber Lays Out Big Program

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City's Chamber of Commerce adopted a $14,963 budget for chamber work in the coming year and set up the year's program of work Thursday night. It was a busy start for Dick Kendall, new Chamber of Commerce manager at Colorado City.
The chamber directorate adopted an ambitious 72-point program, including sponsorship of an agricultural business day, study of legislation concerning agriculture and Colorado City beautification of U.S. 80 and Colorado City and modernization of downtown store fronts.

Colorado City Chamber Lays Out Big Program

It also included cooperation with the proper authorities in development of park areas and the local museum; a study of the city's Master Plan for planned growth, sponsorship of the annual teacher appreciation banquet.
Also included a Tumbleweed Festival and County Fair; plans to locate and develop local industry; to encourage tourist and convention trade and work with local merchants in projects to help keep local trade at home.
Chairmen of the 14 committees are: Bob Post, agriculture; Austin McCloud, civic development; Jim Edison, education; Eldon Mahon, fair and Tumbleweed festival; George Witten, finance; James Boyd, highway; Bob Ridley, housing; Roy Bates, industrial development; Lewis Williams, legislative; Paul B. Hunter, membership; Porter Richardson, promotion and information; Jeff Taylor, retail merchants; Bob Reid, tourist and convention; and Frank Kelley, water.

Local Business On Board Slate

Two items affecting the Big Spring State Hospital are on the agenda for the Board of Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools meeting on March 13.
The request of the Texas Highway Department for additional right of way from the hospital properties on U.S. 87 will be up for action.
Finals plans and wage scales for the proposed renovation of refrigeration facilities and its electrical system will be before the board for approval.

THE WEEK

bond issue on Tuesday, the revenue portions going at a sparkling 3.919 per cent and the general obligations at a fair 3.34679. The improvement in the bond market will mean that taxpayers will be spared some $88,000 under original estimates based on 4 1/2 per cent.
City fathers also make news on another front. They approved plans for the first phase of city water plant improvements, water and sewer extensions. This means that a letting is due within a month on about a million dollars worth of work.
The sports front contributed its share of good news to Jan Loudermilk, former Big Spring high school basketball star, made all-Southwest Conference for SMU. H.C.J.C. battled its way to the finals in the junior college regional tournament; and Sands girls plastered Wall to coast into the regional play-offs.
If you've ever wondered why all these school buildings, bigger budgets, more teachers, etc., are necessary, be downtown Monday at 10 a.m. All the Big Spring school children will be on parade as a kick-off to Texas Public School Week. This will qualify easily as the biggest parade (for numbers) in the city's history. In 1949 during the Centennial celebration, there was a similar parade, but then there were less than 4,000 pupils. Now there are nearly 7,000.
Lamesa made news last week. The tentative budget trotted out by the city management was $637,000, or $20,500 less than the previous year. Cutting a budget under the previous year is almost unheard of these days.
Webb AFB took the wraps off a figure that will become a familiar character around these parts in about a month. It was the T-37 jet trainer which shortly will take over a lot of the load which has been handled so admirably by the trusty T-33s. A potent little unit in which the instructor will be seated beside the student, the T-37 will generate a more robust roar.

Hit-And-Run In Accident Report

Two minor accidents and a hit-and-run were reported to police Friday. The hit-and-run involved a parked car.
A minor two-car collision at the intersection of 4th and Douglas occurred at about 10 a.m. Drivers of the vehicles involved were Ralph Odessa, and Clifford E. McCubbins, 1231 W. 3rd.
The other collision was at 2nd and Benton and drivers of the cars involved were Felipe Rodriguez Munoz, 1105 N. Seury and Nazario L. Nunez, 406 N. Seury.

Second Time Just Too Much

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Things are getting mighty tough all over. In fact—
"It's getting to where a good honest bootlegger can't make a living," Albert J. Knox, Sweetwater Negro, opined here Friday.
Knox had been picked up Tuesday night northwest of Westbrook by the Mitchell County Sheriff's Department with his automobile loaded with wine, whisky and beer.
He spent the night in jail, was released on bond Wednesday and made a clean start.
Thursday about noon Knox was seen on Colorado City's downtown streets, headed for Sweetwater. His car was checked and police allegedly found two cases of wine, a half case of whisky and a case of beer.
This second blow by fate brought from Knox the bitter remark quoted above.
In other liquor actions, County Attorney Frank Ginzler filed liquor charges against three other Sweetwater men, all brought in by Sheriff Lewis Claxton and Deputies and city police Wednesday.
Those charged are: Rudolph Gomez, charged with transportation and Ervin Earl Daniel and Robert Perez Reyes, charged with possession for the purpose of sale.
A call Saturday afternoon took firemen to a grass fire at the corner of Columbia and Drexel.

Hearing At Midland On Gas Pricing

MIDLAND (AP) — Another chapter in the 12-year controversy over federal control of natural gas prices at the well-head starts here Monday.
A Federal Power Commission (FPC) examiner begins developing ground rules for FPC's new area pricing policy.
Consumers, producers, distributors, and trade groups from coast to coast have intervened in the pre-hearing conference before examiner Edward Marsh.
Many intervenors have no direct interest in the Permian Basin area that includes 41 Texas counties and 3 in New Mexico. But they want to be heard because of the impact the Midland proceedings will have on future FPC price fixing hearings.

Hearing At Midland On Gas Pricing

Marsh was assigned the job of recommending procedures to be followed when the commission begins formal hearings under the new pricing formula. In effect, Midland is the first step in FPC's search for a formula that will assure speed and confine formal hearings to pertinent issues.
There is some feeling within the industry the Midland results could become meaningless within a few months. There has been speculation the area pricing formula may not be acceptable to the new administration.
President Kennedy has nominated two new FPC members and a third appointment scheduled for June will give him a 3-2 majority.

Tires, Toys Lost In Thefts

Two thefts were reported to police Friday, one of eight tires, and the other of children's toys.

Garland Sanders reported the theft of a bob-tail truck Saturday morning. It has a yellow cab, black fenders, red bed and a winch on the back, he told police.
In other police activity, vandals were reported to have broken windows in the North Side Baptist Church.
The lunch room across from the Bauer Elementary School was the target of nightly wanderers again. It was reported Saturday that someone broke in and entered. Candy and school supplies were reported missing.
Providers were reported in the old Terrace Theater but police found everything in order after investigating.

Light Damage In 3 Local Fires

Fire damage was limited to a burned lamp cord as the local fire stations answered three calls Friday. One was a false alarm.
A trash fire was reported at 911 Main, a vacant building. Cause of the fire was said to be the burning of trash in the basement of the building.
On the other call, Mrs. Curtis Driver, 1004 Birdwell Lane, called for help with a short in lampwiring. The only damage was that to the lamp cord.
A call Saturday afternoon took firemen to a grass fire at the corner of Columbia and Drexel.

Medical Society Opposed To JFK Social Security Plan

A formal resolution citing the dangers of socialized medicine has been adopted by the Permian Basin Medical Society. The Society, at its last meeting, announced itself as 100 per cent "against the present administration's proposal of health care for the aged under Social Security."

The resolution follows:

"The Permian Basin Medical Society realizes that financing medical and hospital care for those who are unable to pay, whether over or under age 65, is a very real problem, and one for which all thinking citizens are naturally eager to find an effective solution.

"To be effective, this solution must provide funds, public or private, for the care of truly indigent patients regardless of age or of Social Security status.

FREE CHOICE

"To be effective, this solution must maintain free choice of doctors, hospitals, pharmacies and related services.

"To be effective, this solution must not subject the physician or the hospital to the arbitrary supervision of a government agency.

"To be effective, this solution must not be inflationary and therefore must not include within the plan financing for treatment of those who can reasonably afford to pay for their own care.

"To be effective, this solution must be supervised by local citizens, not by untrained clerks or office staffs in Washington, D.C.

'FOOT IN DOOR'

"The Permian Basin Medical Society among others has maintained for a long time that Forand type medical care proposals would be 'only a foot in the door' toward all-out socialized medicine, and a major step toward socializing the law profession, industry, insurance, transportation, etc. Now former Congressman Forand, at the White House Conference on Aging, admitted, 'If we can only break through and get our foot inside the door, then we can expand the program after that.' Regardless of the propaganda put out by Forand, Meany, McNamara, Reuther, Cohen, Kennedy, et al, Social Security is not insurance and it does not guarantee any rights. The federal government has controlled Social Security and therefore the federal government will control any benefits that occur under Social Security. As a result, any medical care plan that would compel American working people to shoulder the increased Social Security taxes to finance health costs for millions of people who do not need the care and at the same time ignore millions of people who do need help, is unsound to the point of recklessness.

"The Permian Basin Medical Society at its monthly meeting has resolved that we are 100 per

Latin Kiss Costs 30,000 Pesos

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A disillusioned furniture store employee reported to police about "a 30,000 peso kiss."

Edmundo Rivera Cortes, 28, told police he was carrying a bag with a 30,000 peso ($2,400) deposit to a bank when a young girl accosted him.

She asked Cortes to recommend a good hotel. He accompanied her to a hotel, and then waited while she went back downstairs to try to telephone her mother.

Cortes said she did not return because she had walked off with his bag of money.

No Special Plans Set

Howard County 4-H Clubs will make only token observation of National 4-H Club week which began Friday and continues through March 11, Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said Saturday.

Taylor pointed out that the club members are so deeply involved in fat stock shows and plans for the local show which opens on March 15 that no time is open for any special programs or activities to emphasize the National Week.

Taylor added that nearly a score of local club members are to be in San Angelo this week where they are showing 25 lambs.

Many others are working with their steers, lambs and Quarter Horses in preparation for the annual FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock Show which opens on March 15 at the Howard County fair grounds.

Taylor said that the county now has 12 clubs with 350 members. Thirty-five men and women in the communities where these clubs operate serve as adult leaders and advisers.

DEAR ABBY

THE LOCKER

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Are all married men supposed to lose their appreciation for things of beauty? My wife has a king-sized fit every time I look at a pretty girl walking by. Or even when I seem to enjoy looking at one on television. Please tell me if I am normal, or is there something wrong with me?

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and my life is ruined. Two years ago I fell in love with a married man. I babysat for his wife while she worked. Pretty soon he started coming home while his wife was working. (They both worked the same shift.) I fell madly in love with him and wouldn't date boys my own age. I even gave up a chance to go to college to be near him.

I know I did wrong, Abby, but I am in such a mess I don't know whether I should run away, kill myself or what. I am pregnant. This man wants to skip the state and take me with him. He has three children and a wife who loves him. I know it would never work. Can you tell me what to do right away? "MESSED UP LIFE"

DEAR MESSED UP: Tell your parents everything. Through your clergyman or Family Service agency, you can go to a home and have your baby quietly. Have absolutely nothing more to do with this man. Trust your parents to see you through this unfortunate ordeal. You are young and can still have a good and happy life if you try.

DEAR ABBY: When we were married, I bought my husband a wedding band to match the one he gave me. I wear mine all the time, but he refuses to wear his to work. He makes up the excuse that it is dangerous for anyone working around machinery to wear a ring. I think this is a lot of hokey. How can a wife hang on to a husband who tries to pass himself off as a single man?

MARRIED AND PROUD OF IT DEAR MARRIED: Your husband's "excuse" for not wanting to wear his wedding band is probably valid. Don't insist that he wear it to work unless you want a nine-fingered husband.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BOW-LEGGED BOY": Find a girl who is knock-kneed and together you'll spell O.K.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Are your parents too strict? For Abby's booklet, "What Teenagers Want to Know," send 25 cents to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Gil Jones Favors Bill To Abolish Death Sentence

BY SAM BLACKBURN
A bill now before the Texas legislature to abolish capital punishment in Texas and substitute life imprisonment without parole as a maximum punishment for what are now death penalty cases has the tentative endorsement of Guilford Jones, district attorney for the 118th District Court.

"I believe in the death penalty in the proper cases," said Jones. "However, I believe that a life imprisonment imposed on a criminal with no hope of parole might have more impact as a crime deterrent than the death sentence."

Capital crimes which now carry the death penalty as maximum punishment are murder with malice, rape, and robbery with firearms.

RELUCTANT
Jones, who points out, are most reluctant to assess the death penalty even in the most shocking cases. Further, the record indicates that few of those sentenced to death actually go to the electric chair. Computations, trial errors and delay frustrate the executioner.

In Texas, a "life sentence" actually means not more than 15 years for the offender receiving the sentence. If a prisoner under the sentence abides by prison regulations and rules, he becomes eligible for parole at the end of 15 years. Most lifers are good prisoners; nearly all score good behavior time credit.

This provision of the law has tended to greatly diminish the real impact and purpose of the life sentence as a stern punishment for individuals who perpetrate capital crimes, most prosecutors believe.

NO DIFFERENCE
"The number of years can be anything," Jones pointed out. "It can be a life sentence, 99 years, 100 years — or, for that matter, 1,000 years. It will in no way alter the situation. The prisoner becomes eligible for parole at expiration of 15 years, provided he has earned all of the 'good time' he is entitled to receive."

The new law which is being discussed by the lawmakers is being opposed by the District and County Attorney's Association of Texas. Truman Roberts, president of the association, believes that abolishing death as the maximum punishment for the crimes of murder, rape and robbery with firearms will do away with what he regards as the great deterrent to the gangland type of killing.

He admits most murders are not of this type; they are the one-in-a-lifetime aberration of a citizen who has never before been charged with any offense. In these murders, it is doubtful most officials agree, the threat of the electric chair serves as a major deterrent. However, Roberts, who is a veteran district attorney from Hamilton, believes that it does hold back the activities of the professional killer.

CRIMINAL COLONIES
Roberts argues that the life term without hope of parole would set up dangerous colonies of criminals utterly without hope. Such groups, he feels, would become a constant threat to society.

Jones, on the other hand, believes that if the offender who is likely to commit a capital crime knew he has a good chance of being sentenced to such life imprisonment he would be less likely to commit the crime.

"Under our present system," Jones pointed out, "the criminal is well aware that even if he is caught and convicted the chance that he will be given a death sentence is extremely remote."

"He also knows that if he gets a life sentence, he can expect to be eligible for release from prison within 15 years."

Jones also believes that juries which shy away from assessing death in justifiable cases would be far more willing to levy a paroleless life sentence.

BELIEF
Indeed, many jurors, who vote for a life sentence for a criminal actually believe they are committing that offender to prison for the remainder of his life.

Many juries in Howard County over the years have been qualified to assess the death penalty. That is to say, the members have been individuals who have said they had no scruples against assessing this penalty. However, very few death verdicts have been returned.

There are nine states in which the death penalty has been abolished. These states are Alaska, Maine, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Delaware and Hawaii.

Nine other states have abolished capital punishment and then, after a few years, revived the death penalty for capital crimes. These states are Kansas, Colorado, Washington, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Arizona and Missouri.

Great Britain, widely famous because its murderers almost always are convicted and hanged, abolished the gallows for a number of years. The experience did not prove satisfactory — the hangman was reinstated.

Enrollment Up

An upward trend has been noted in the Big Spring Independent School District enrollment figures for the past three weeks.

On Feb. 10, the total was 6,904, a week later 6,918; and on 6,926. Most of the gains have been in the elementary level. The last report showed 4,193 in the elementary schools, 2,705 in the secondary schools and 128 in special education classes. A year ago at this same time, the enrollment total was 6,648.

Only 2 Defendants Sentenced To Death

Only two defendants have been sentenced to death for crimes committed in Howard County in the 79 years since the county was organized.

One of these defendants was put to death for the offense for which he was convicted. The other won a new trial and on the second go-round dodged the chair. Life imprisonment was meted out instead.

Many juries in this county have been qualified to assess the death penalty. However, in the jury room when the chips were down, there have been only two occasions when the supreme penalty has been assessed.

FIRST
The first was on Feb. 13, 1929. The defendant was A. A. Bergdorf, who was on trial for the murder on Oct. 22, 1928 of Charles Wallace. The slaying occurred on the Lamesa highway north of Big Spring.

The jurors returned a verdict of death. The case was appealed and remanded for a new trial by the appellate court. The next jury decreed life imprisonment for Bergdorf.

The second time in Howard County history when a jury voted death for a defendant was on Oct. 25, 1934. The defendant was W. R. Hildreth. He was charged with the murder of his wife, stabbed to death with an ice pick on Oct. 1, 1934.

Hildreth pleaded guilty to the charge. The jury was assigned to assess the proper punishment. It decreed death. Hildreth died in the electric chair on Nov. 25, 1935.

NOTHER
There is a widely believed story that a third man drew a death sentence for a crime in this county.

This story has it that a Negro prowler, burglarizing a Mexican residence, awakened an infant sleeping in the room. The child began to cry. The story says, and the Negro killed it. For this offense, he was sentenced to death. No record of such a case is available but it is a widely repeated story.

The number of Howard County offenders who have drawn life imprisonment for capital crimes is not known but there have been many. Several such sentences have been issued in the past five or six years.

Steers Rip Wolves, Shaded By Snyder

Big Spring and Snyder staged a baseball marathon here Saturday afternoon, the visiting Tigers escaping with a 17-16 decision after building up a 13-0 lead early in the game.

Two games had been scheduled but the second was postponed. The seven inning opener had used up three hours and 45 minutes and the sun was about to go down.

Five home runs were boomed out of the park, three of them by the home club, Roger McMennery

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Don Scarborough, the University of Nebraska coaching aide who stopped in here the other day to visit relatives, says the Huskers' head mentor, Bill Jennings, came out of that Lincoln ruckard last fall smelling like the proverbial rose.

Jennings was quoted by one scribe as saying some Nebraska fans were better at complaining than they were at putting their shoulders to the wheel and helping push, or words to that effect.

According to Don, Jennings was quoted out of context and wasn't being bitter, in any sense of the word.

Scarborough says four daily newspapers service the area and each vies with the other to come up with something sensational in an editorial way.

At times, they are hard put, because the University of Nebraska is about all they have to write about.

At any rate, Nebraska, which had opened with an upset victory over Texas, beat arch-rival Oklahoma not long after the story hit print and a win over OU just about makes a season in Lincoln and its confines.

Valery Brumel, Russia's sensational high jumper, may represent his country in the decathlon in the 1964 Olympic Games.

He runs the 100 meters in 10.7 seconds, broad jumps more than 24 feet and throws the 16-pound shotput close to 50 feet.

One report has Harold Barrett and Harold Brunson, both of the Abilene High staff, Jack Pierce, Plains head coach, and Big Spring's Don Robbins among the last four being considered for the head coaching job at Lamona.

The new coach will probably be picked Monday night, school officials have indicated.

Warren Cantrell, one-time Big Spring resident who drew up plans for the Big Spring Country Club's new golf course, underwent major surgery at Lubbock.

He's now affiliated with the Amarillo Country Club. R. L. Lasater, Big Spring's great speedster, has a four-year scholarship offer from the University of Houston.

If he went down there, he'd be working under one of the great track mentors in America, Johnny Morris.

Every Seat Good One At Houston

There's some talk of a move to replace Vince Best as secretary of the Big Spring City Bowling Association.

That would be a mistake. No one else would worry with the myriad records that the secretary has to keep and throw himself so diligently into the task like Vince does.

Keith Henderson, the new assistant manager of Bobby Layne's Bowlarama here, has already played second base for the Ford Motor Co. baseball team in Detroit and, of course, is a confirmed Tiger fan.

He says a lack of strength "down the middle" has hurt the Tigers in recent years but Detroit remains one of the great baseball towns in the country.

The New York Giants of the NFL are so besieged by season ticket requests for the 1961 season that they have decided to reserve part of the bleachers at Yankee Stadium.

They will leave only 5,500 unreserved seats for game-day sale.

Dick McCarroll of Austin High School in Austin, named to the Texas Sports-writers Association Class AAAA all-state basketball team recently, is the foster son of Jake Pickle, the one-time Big Springer.

Frank Broyles, the University of Arkansas mentor, spent much of the time huddled with Amarillo's Bum Phillips and Big Spring's Emmett McKenzie during his stay at the Kellogg Coaching Clinic in Dallas recently.

Of the three are old friends. That new domed stadium at Houston will seat 46,217 for baseball, 52,797 for football, 66,000 for boxing and 46,700 for conventions.

Seating will be arranged on six levels, allowing in effect six front rows. Ten thousand seats can be converted from baseball to football sideline seats in five minutes at the press of a button.

Height of the roof above the field will be equivalent of 18 stories. For baseball, the distance from home plate along both foul lines will be 340 feet while the distance to center field will be 400 feet.

College Missed Good Bet On McCoy

Delnor Poss, the Big Spring High School cage mentor, says Hubert McCoy would have made one of the finest college cagers in the country, had some school given him a tumble.

Hubert signed a professional baseball contract and this year starts his third season in the pro ranks.

BOVINES EVEN AFTER 2 TILTS

AUSTIN (AP) — Tim Timmerman shot Houston Austin ahead in the first minutes Saturday to give the Big Green the Class AAAA schoolboy basketball championship with a 68-60 victory over Amarillo Palo Duro.

The game was broken open with only a minute to go as Palo Duro virtually collapsed.

AUSTIN (AP) — John Bragg made 23 points Saturday and led Frankston to the Class B schoolboy basketball championship in its first trip to the state tournament.

Frankston crushed Hutto 60-44. Bragg tied the division scoring record of 88 points for three games.

Nacogdoches won third place in Class AAA with a 46-45 victory over Dumas as all-state Larry Finks threw in 21 points.

Denton beat Austin 84-73 for third place in Class AAAA with Dan Smith of Denton scoring 37 points to make his total for two games 75 and a new divisional scoring record. It bettered the old 48 points set by Steven Strane of Dallas Highland Park in 1957.

The aggregate score of 157 also was a new divisional record.

AUSTIN (AP) — Harold May, Billy May and Don Kruse shot James Bowie to the Class A state schoolboy basketball championship Saturday, beating Brownboro 53-52.

It was the second time in three years for the two teams to meet in the finals and the second time for James Bowie to beat Brownboro by one point for the state championship. In 1958 James Bowie won 48-47.

AUSTIN (AP) — Buna won its fifth state schoolboy basketball championship and extended its unbeaten string to 43 straight games Saturday night, easily defeating Dimmitt 60-36 for the Class AA title.

Junior Coffey, the fabulous Negro star of Dimmitt, was high point man with 19 but he was all the Bobcats had as they tried against one of the finest teams ever to come to the state tournament.

AUSTIN (AP) — Magnificent Robert Zamora scored 33 points Saturday night in leading South San Antonio to its first state schoolboy basketball championship. The Bobcats beat Clear Creek 67-54 for the Class AAA crown.

South San Antonio had been in the finals four times in five trips to the state tournament but never before was able to win the title.

Zamora scored 65 points in two games Friday he made 32 in pacing his team to a 62-61 victory over Nacogdoches in the tournament first round.

Local Girls Claim Crown

Big Spring took the championship at the Lamona Volley Ball Tournament Saturday night by defeating Lamona 20 to 14.

Elena Patterson, Big Spring, won rating as the tournament's outstanding spiker. Gloria Greenwood, Big Spring, who was high point player in the game with Lamona, was given a set spot on the all-tournament team.

Big Spring's victory over Lamona was a thriller from the first whistle. The score was tied many times in the earlier periods. However, after the half score of 6-7 in favor of Big Spring, the outcome of the game was never in doubt.

Miss Greenwood accounted for 7 of her team's points.

In the semifinal game on Saturday morning, Big Spring defeated Plainview 33 to 16. Plainview was Big Spring 16, Plainview 3.

On Friday the Big Spring team downed Sweetwater 40 to 8. The half time score was 16 to 5.

Big Spring B Team defeated the Lamona B team Thursday 27 to 18. On Friday, the B team was defeated by Colorado City A team 28 to 13.

AUSTIN (AP) — Magnificent Robert Zamora scored 33 points Saturday night in leading South San Antonio to its first state schoolboy basketball championship. The Bobcats beat Clear Creek 67-54 for the Class AAA crown.

South San Antonio had been in the finals four times in five trips to the state tournament but never before was able to win the title.

Zamora scored 65 points in two games Friday he made 32 in pacing his team to a 62-61 victory over Nacogdoches in the tournament first round.

Wildcats Hang On To Triumph

FORT WORTH (AP) — Abilene Christian College's silver-heeled Wildcats, despite a near disastrous flop in the mile relay, Saturday repeated as champion of the gigantic Southwestern Recreation Track and Field Meet.

The highly-touted Christians, with Baylor's Golden Bears nipping at their heels, were eliminated in the crucial final event when Denis Richardson bumped a Southern Methodist runner on the second lap and dropped the baton.

ACC finished with 65½ points to Baylor's 62. Baylor went on to take third in the mile relay but could have dethroned the defending university division champions had it won.

Nine records were smashed and three were equaled this sun and wind swept day while an estimated crowd of 6,500 screamed its approval.

It was a great day for Abilene teams as McMurtry swept the college division, Abilene High School won the schoolboy division and the ACC freshmen placed third in the junior college freshmen class.

A McMurtry speedster, John Dale Lewis, won the R.D. Evans Memorial Trophy as the meet's most outstanding athlete.

SMU's freshmen swept to the junior college-freshmen title with 49 points. Howard County Junior College picked up 29½ to take second ahead of ACC.

SNYDER—Gary Walker picked up Big Spring's lone first place in the Canyon Reef Relays here Saturday when he tossed the discus 164 feet 8 inches.

Kenny Kesterson, who won the 100 in the Comanche Relays at Fort Stockton last week, finished second Saturday to Snyder's Crawford.

Crawford was timed in 9.9 seconds while Kesterson finished in ten flat.

Big Spring was again without the services of R. L. Lasater, the record-breaking sprinter, who injured a leg in Fort Stockton last week.

Kesterson also finished fourth in the 220. His time in that event was 23.3.

John Schwarzenbach and Ronnie Hamby made it to the finals in the shot put but failed to place.

Hamby's qualifying toss was 46 feet 9 inches while Schwarzenbach threw the big ball 46' 3".

In all, the Steers picked up 11 points in the meet.

Nine Injured As Shots Fired Into Tavern

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Nine persons were injured early today when a burst of eight shots were fired through the front window of a crowded tavern in suburban Cool Valley.

Patrolman Herb Longy was nearby and heard the shots. He arrived at the tavern just as Francis Walter Hemberger, 22, was backing away from the establishment holding several persons at bay with a rifle that later proved to be empty.

Longy drew his service revolver and disarmed the man as an angry crowd of tavern patrons milled around. Hemberger was taken to St. Louis County Jail and booked on suspicion of attempted murder and felonious assault.

Donald Graff, 22, was reported in critical condition at Normandy Osteopathic Hospital and his companion, Glenn Yoakum, 22, was in serious condition at St. Louis County Hospital. The other wounded persons apparently were not seriously injured. Authorities said several were hit by flying glass.

Longy said Hemberger told him the incident was ignited by a dispute with Graff earlier. Hemberger said he went to the tavern earlier to buy some beer to take out. He said Graff, with whom he was acquainted, took a dollar from him and shoved him.

Police said Hemberger returned home, loaded the .22-caliber rifle and returned. He told Longy he fired at Graff at an angle through the front window, but the weapon was set for automatic fire and emptied itself when he pulled the trigger.

Annual Health Agencies Appeal Now In Progress

Fifth annual campaign of the National Health Agencies is in progress in Big Spring and Howard County. E. C. Boatler, Howard County chairman, announced Saturday. The drive continues from now to April 10.

The campaign has the endorsement of the president, military commanders and federal department heads, Boatler said.

He explained the object of this effort is to collect contributions from workers in federal agencies, offices and installations for the support of the 10 generally recognized health agencies of the nation. These, he said, include such activities as the American Heart Society, National Foundation for Polo, American Tuberculosis Society and others.

Once each year the participating Health Agencies seek financial support for their lifesaving programs from Armed Forces members and civilian federal employees in the U. S. and overseas, Boatler said.

President Kennedy has asked for a "generous response" to the 1961 Federal Services Campaign for National Health Agencies.

The President said that the Health Agencies' "vital services" of research, education and community welfare "benefit all Americans." Noting that these services "have long been advanced by contributions from Federal, civilian and military personnel," he expressed confidence that the 1961 appeal would meet with a generous response on our part.

The following are participating National Health Agencies: Agriculture Department, Soil Conservation, Big Spring Field Station, Farmers Home Administration, Air Force Recruiting Station, Big Spring Air Procurement Field Office, Federal Aviation Agency, Post Office, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Internal Revenue Service, U. S. Department of Labor, U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Veterans Administration Hospital, and Webb Air Force Base.

District Water Sales Increase

Water deliveries during February showed another substantial gain, the monthly production figures of the Colorado River Municipal Water District show.

Customers took 515,600,000 gallons, which was 3.4 per cent above February a year ago, O. H. Ivie, assistant manager-production, reported.

The member cities of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder showed a 4.01 gain in demand, and the oil companies using water for repressuring were up by 2.94 per cent in their draw.

The three member city consumption amounted to 220,607,000 as compared with 207,295,000 for the same month a year ago, whereas the repressuring units drew 195,201,000 as compared with 191,092,000.

Individually, the consumption figures, with percentage of gain or loss, showed:

Odessa 173,012,000, up 7.62 per cent; Big Spring 118,966,000, up 3.59 per cent; Snyder 28,529,000, down 11.3 per cent; SACROC 137,930,000, up 8.14 per cent; Sharon Ridge 31,127,000 down 19.6 per cent; Leon Oil 21,464,000, down 9.13 per cent; Texas Gulf Producing 4,880,000, up 62 per cent.

For the first two months of the year, water deliveries have aggregated 1,081,673,000 gallons as compared with 925,316,000 gallons for the first two months of 1960.

PO Position To Be Filled

Mrs. Faye Johnson, who has operated the contract post office station at Webb Air Force Base since 1952 has asked to be relieved of her duties.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that he is advertising for bids to conduct the station through June 30, 1962.

Mrs. Johnson gave ill health as the cause of her desire to be relieved of her duties, Boatler said. Official forms on which bids for the job can be submitted are available at the Boatler's office.

The bidders must agree to provide the following postal services at the military installation:

Accept for dispatch all classes of mail matters, including that on which registered, certified insured or COD service is desired; transact postal money order business; sell all necessary postal supplies; collect amounts due and deliver COD and postage due mail; deliver registered, certified and numbered insured mail, and deliver all other mail for the installation to designated representatives.

Bidders have to agree to furnish all equipment including a safe. Adequate quarters, janitorial service; heat, lights will be furnished by the United States Air Force. Bids will be accepted until March 14, Boatler said.

Production Better January Totals

By JOSEPH BEYER
Initial production was up again in February as 1961 is getting off to a good start in the eight local counties. In spite of being three days shorter than January, February topped it by 236.04 barrels.

are Borden, Dawson, Garza, Glasscock, Howard, Martin, Mitchell and Sterling.
The Breedlove field in Martin County again boasted the largest producer. In January it had a producer of 548.12 barrels, and this month it came up with one for 487.47 barrels and another which flowed 447.12 to help account for most of that county's production.

Dusters also took a sharp turn upward, more than tripling the five of last month. Eight of 16 were exploratory wells.
Wildcats were not to be sneered at this month. Five oilers in four counties brought in 753.30 barrels of oil on initial production. Dawson County had two of these for 332.00 barrels.

Standard Moves Oil Tanker Fleet Into Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Headquarters for the largest privately owned oil tanker fleet flying the American flag are being moved from New York to Houston.
The transfer of the Marine Division of Humble Oil & Refining Co. is to be completed this spring. John Rogers, general manager, and J. E. Stovcken and Sydney Wire, assistant managers, are among the division officials moving to Houston.

Tax Plan Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's proposal for keeping the federal gasoline tax at 4 cents a gallon, instead of letting it drop to 3 cents July 1, is drawing opposition from the oil industry.
Testimony against extension of the 4-cent rate is to be expected when Congress considers legislation for that purpose. The present rate was voted by Congress in 1959 to help pay for the government's highway building program.

Texola Drilling Co. Inc. of Dallas has two discoveries in Reagan County. Neither, however, is a spectacular producer and one produced a lot of water.

Drilling On Pace With 1960 Figure

AUSTIN (AP)—Oil and gas well drilling this year is about equal with the pace set a year ago, the Railroad Commission disclosed Saturday.
Last week drillers brought in 159 oil wells, 41 gas wells and completed 7 oil and 9 gas wells in unproven territory.
For the year, 1,490 oil and 470 gas wells have been completed compared with 1,688 oil and 294 gas wells a year ago.
Eighty-two oil wells and 31 gas wells have been brought in as wildcat wells this year compared with 57 and 18 a year ago.

WHY?

WHY do so many local people purchase outside the City of BIG SPRING?
This question is aimed at the local businessman who is trying to instill "Buy-At-Home" in his advertising, but still buys out of town himself.
All sorts of reasons are given by local people when asked why they purchased out of town — Better Deals — Confidential Financing — Wider Choice — Etc. Invariably these excuses don't hold water and factually speaking, we are all in the same boat (or town).
When the elected people, school teachers, who depend on local tax dollars for their employment, when businessmen depend on local sales and when local workers depend on local business and industry for their jobs, doesn't it sound foolish to support other towns?
When you hear someone gloating over a deal he got out of town, ask him if the merchant who gave such a good deal helps send our children to school, supports a local church, participates in local taxes to provide police and fire protection, donates time and money to our local charities and improvements, helps employ local people (you and your neighbor).
When are we going to realize that BIG SPRING MUST LOOK AFTER BIG SPRING?
We here at Shroyer Motor Co. have dedicated ourselves to send you out-of-town competition and serve you better. Won't you at least try us? If we haven't what you want or need, try to find it in BIG SPRING. Let's take pride in Big Spring and put out city first. Adv.

JFK's Kinsman To Head Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced Saturday that his brother-in-law, Robert F. Kennedy, will head the Peace Corps set up on a temporary basis.

Schriver, who drafted the recommendations on which Kennedy based his decision to create a pool

Five Court Cases Already Settled

Nine of the 18 civil cases which Judge Ralph Caton of 118th District Court had docketed for trial this week have either been settled or passed by agreement, he said

Saturday. Five of the cases were reported settled.

Judge Caton, who has called 100 jurors to report to the court at 1:30 p.m. Monday, will sound the docket at 10 a.m. It is possible several other of the cases which were on the original docket will be reported either settled or passed at that time.

Cases remaining on the docket and slated to be called for trial: John H. Benefield versus Tarbox-Gossett Motor Co., damages; Robert A. Swan versus Travelers Insurance Co., compensation; AMF Pinpointers Inc. versus Clover Bowl of Big Spring; Jessie Martinez versus Travelers Ins. Co., compensation; Loretta Smith versus Johnson Oil Co. Inc., et al, damages; Ollie B. Bailey versus Texas Employers Insurance Association, damages; C. M. Holliday, et ux, versus Spec Robinson, damages; Ascencion V. Puente versus Texas Employers Insurance Association, compensation.

SETTLED

Cases on the docket which have been settled out of court:

W. B. Hood versus Jack Bennett, damages; Roberto A. Alvarez et ux versus Hazel McCormick, damages; R. F. Dorsey versus Vivian B. Dorsey, divorce; Manley Inc. versus Eugene Cross, debt; Leo Nix et ux versus Joe H. Spinks, damages; Cases passed for this time: Paul Thomas et ux versus Yellow Cab Co., et al, damages; Ken Wiggins versus Texas and Pacific Railroad Co., damages; Ravona Rector versus Marvin Dale Rector, divorce, has already been heard by the court.

of men and women for volunteer service overseas, also will head the corps when and if Congress establishes it on a permanent basis. Schriver will give full time to the government job, relinquishing his post as assistant manager of the Merchandise Mart in Chicago. He is the husband of the President's sister, Eunice, and a former president of the Chicago School board.

In setting up the Peace Corps by executive order on Wednesday, Kennedy announced that he expects to have 300 to 1,000 trained men and women overseas by the end of this year, and several thousand in a few years.

Kennedy also named 14 persons who will handle key assignments in the Peace Corps during its organization, and quite probably after it gets permanent status. One of these is Forest Evashevski, University of Iowa athletic director and former football coach who will be a consultant on the training program.

Evashevski will serve on a part-time basis. In order to give status to the Peace Corps, the White House said, Kennedy will ask Senate confirmation of Schriver's appointment immediately, even though the agency will not have statutory authority until Congress acts on the permanent program.

For this purpose, Schriver will be nominated for one of the posts provided in the State Department by the 1950 Reorganization Act at the salary level of an assistant secretary, $19,000 a year. However, Schriver, a native of Westminster, Md., will not take either the title or the salary, the White House said, either now under permanent corps status. Schriver, 45, has had a varied career in business, education and public service. He is a graduate of Yale University and a former chairman of the Yale Alumni Board. During World War II he entered the Navy as an ensign, served continuously on submarines and battleships, and in 1945 was returned to inactive duty as a lieutenant commander. He assembled the nucleus of the Peace Corps staff, which has been functioning under the temporary presidential order.

Fryar Rites This Afternoon

Funeral for J. W. Fryar Sr., 78, pioneer Howard County farmer, will be held at 2 p.m. today in the First Baptist Church.

Officiating will be Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor, assisted by T. E. Cudd, minister of the 14th and Main Church of Christ, and the Rev. David Craddock, Prairie View Baptist pastor. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park under direction of the River Funeral Home.

Pallbearers are Clay Reid, Charles Nichols, Roy Phillips, W. J. Ringener Jr., Robert Currie, Earl Hull, Glendon Brown and Harvey Wooten.

Mr. Fryar died early Friday morning in a local hospital after a short illness. He was born Aug. 25, 1882 in Bell County and came to this country in 1906.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Lucy Fryar, seven sons, Shirley, Frank, R. V., J. W. Jr., W. C. and Harvey, all of Big Spring, and Clarence, Stanton; two daughters, Mrs. Edgar Phillips, Big Spring, and Mrs. W. C. McWilliams, Fredericksburg; three stepdaughters, Mrs. D. E. Jacobs, Big Spring; Mrs. Ernie Thompson, Anchorage, Alaska; and Mrs. Beatrice Brown, Hermosa Beach, Calif.; two stepsons, H. J. Lewis, Liverpool and W. D. Lewis, Eunice, N. M.; one sister-in-law, Mrs. Ina Monteith, Big Spring and one brother-in-law, W. H. Walker, Denison. There are 30 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren.

State Building Figure Falls Off

DALLAS (AP)—February saw a total of $70,459,838 in contract awards, falling off almost $4.5 million from the preceding month, the Texas Contractor, trade publication, said Saturday.

Predictions of economists that business will not pick up until at least the end of the first quarter of 1961 apparently had an effect on construction during February.

The consistent inclement weather may have been an important deterring factor.

The February total is only slightly under the corresponding month in 1960. There were fewer multi-million dollar projects within the state during the month.

Signs Of Spring

BEAUTIFICATION AND WELFARE are combined in the project of Junior Garden Club members, who, just the past week, set out a shrub at the Crippled Children's Center. Wielding the shovel is Marsha Stark, vice president of the club, while two new members, Ann Garrett and Annelle Fitzhugh, get tips on completion of the planting from Merry Lee Dibrell, president of the young gardeners.

STRICTLY FOR THE BIRDS is part of the yard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Gray, 1305 Pennsylvania. The home overlooks a canyon where birds flit, and the family plans to arrange a sanctuary for the feathered flocks. To beautify the base of the bird bath, Mrs. Gray has planted pansies; just beyond the retaining wall in the background are various shades of roses to add color to the patio, which is on the east side of the house.

NATIVE CEDARS, MESQUITE AND CACTUS are being incorporated into the landscaping around the new home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Perry, 2408 Robb, and Mrs. Perry is adding century plants to the grouping. At the south of the home is a cluster of cedars in which a picnic space will be arranged; an elevation in front of the house has been partially planted with spineless cactus, devil's pin-cushions, prickly pears and other hardy specimens which will grow in caliche.

PART OF THE PLANTING PLANS of Mrs. Joe M. Wheeler, 1800 Grafa, is to have plenty of roses, come summer, and she has the right idea of starting her bushes now, since they will have a good root system before the hot days begin. Included in other plants at the Wheeler home are to be gladioli, which she will begin this month, with plantings each two or three weeks for continuous bloom during the summer, and chrysanthemums, to be planted late this month or early in April.

PLENTY OF HELP (?) is given by Joe Merrick, (pictured at left), 600 E. 15th, as he works to set out fruit trees, flowering shrubs and hedge plants at the family home. He has selected the right season of the year to do the planting, as the root systems will have time to develop before hot weather begins. Delivering a bucket of water is Charles, while, looking on are, from left to right, Buddy, Dona, Andrew and Beverly.

A GOOD WORKING-OVER is what the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thomas, 2304 S. Monticello; is getting in preparation for the sowing of Bermuda grass. The small machine Thomas is running is a garden tractor, which will plow the soil, and then with a rotary knife will cut clods and weeds, leaving the ground ready to be leveled and planted. In starting the lawn, Thomas may use strips of Bermuda grass set at intervals in the soil, or he may broadcast grass seed later in the season when the weather is warmer.

The Big Spring Herald

SECTION C

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 5, 1961

MR. AND MRS. DENVER DUNN

Celebration Slated For Local Couple

Open house at Howard County Junior College from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday will honor Mr. and Mrs. Denver D. Dunn on their 30th wedding anniversary. The open house will be in the student union building.

The Duns, 512 E. 15th St., were married in Fort Worth during 1931 and then moved to Big Spring. A short time later, the couple moved to Garden City where Dunn was employed with the A. D. Neel Ranch. They returned to Big Spring a year later, and Dunn became a cattle and land broker; later he was employed by Cosden Refinery and was on the Big Spring police force.

In 1940 Dunn was appointed chief deputy in the sheriff's office, a position he held until 1945. He became employed by L&L Lumber Co. in 1945 and remained there 1 1/2 years. Since 1957, Dunn has been with the E. C. Smith Construction Co.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Dunn, formerly Rubye Pittman, taught school at Lone Oak and worked for the Elliot & Waldron Abstract Co. She returned to teaching in 1957 and currently is teaching at Boydston elementary school.

The Duns have one child, Mrs. Pat Porter, who was born during 1937. They are members of the First Baptist Church, which they joined in 1950.

Guests are expected to attend the open house from Big Spring, Sterling City, Garden City, Midland, Lubbock and Pyote.

Garden Tasks Are Starting

March, with its flirtatious weather, is the month that gardeners find it hard to stay inside; a warm day catches everyone outside, digging, spading, planting and pruning, perhaps the next day, one stays close by the fire because of the cold wind, the freezing rain or even snow.

Included in gardening activities for this month you'll find planting that can be done with roses and shrubbery being set out, along with trees of various types. Unless plants are in containers, nurserymen advise against setting them out later than March.

Beds intended for receiving chrysanthemums should be prepared for planting late this month or early in April. Hardier plants, such as pansies, perennials, sweet peas, and seeds of hardier vegetables, should be planted at this time.

Clean up the iris beds and remove the dead leaves around the rhizomes. Small plants which have started their growth should be protected from the wind and from cold snaps.

Established lawns should receive their first fertilization, and for new lawns, the ground may be plowed, leveled and prepared for seeding or sodding later in the spring.

Mulch and manure can be used on roses at this time, with a dormant spray used on the bushes; pruning may be done, but use the cutter sparingly as it is better to prune severely at a later date. Pruning will start new growth which may be frozen if the buds are too early.

For the interior of the home, branches of flowering shrubs may be brought in and placed in water where they will open earlier than they might outside.

A series of gladioli plantings should be set up this month with plantings about every two or three weeks so that blossoms will come along far into the fall season. Plant the corms from four to six inches deep, leaving space between each for growth and development.

MRS. RAY ODIS BYRD

Marylyn Cox Becomes Bride Of Roy O. Byrd

LAMESA (SC)—In a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Marylyn Mae Cox became the bride of Roy Odis Byrd. The Rev. Milo B. Arbuckle, pastor, read the vows in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Byrd.

Sunbursts of white gladioli, accented with jewel pink snapdragons, were in three baskets at the altar, and cathedral tapers in pedestaled candelabra illuminated the setting and marked the pews along the bridal aisle.

The bridegroom's cousin, Tawana Boatright, played traditional music at the organ, and accompanied the vocalists, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wittner, who sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Cox escorted his daughter and gave her in marriage. She wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. The softly fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands; the skirt was formed with tier upon tier of scallop-edged lace forming the front, and a deep tier of the lace over pleated tulle flowed to a chapel train.

Her fingertip silk illusion veil fell from a double crown of seed pearls and lace with aurora crystal drops, and she carried an orchid with stephanotis and tiny pearl hearts knotted in the shower of satin streamers cascading from the blossoms.

Doris Wright was maid of honor. Her dress of jewel pink nylon organza over taffeta was fashioned with rounded neckline and large below-the-elbow puff sleeves, fitted bodice and fully shirred skirt accented with a belt of self material at the waist. She wore a wide white horsehair brim with jewel pink organza roses circling the crown, and carried a French parasol of starched lace and tulle filled with pale pink maline puffs and cascades of carnations in jewel pink. White ribbons fell from the parasol and were showered with lily-of-the-valley and sweetheart knots.

Bridesmaids were Beth Ann DuBose, Linda McPhaul, Mrs. Bob Boardman and D'Linda Shillingburg. They were dressed identically to the honor attendant.

Valerie Dopsen was flower girl, and Jay Parchman, ring-bearer. The candlelighters, Sharon Cliff, cousin of the bridegroom, and Vicki Standifer wore dresses of white nylon organza over taffeta styled similarly to those of the bridesmaids. They had jewel pink cummerbunds for color accent, and headbands of jewel pink organza rosebuds.

The bridegroom's cousin, Olen Boatright, served as best man. Ushers were Bob Boardman, Gary Mitchell, Duane Whitlow, David Vandiver and Charles Dunningham of Bryan.

Guests attended a wedding reception in the church parlor. Members of the house party included Mrs. W. W. Smith, Mrs. Olin York, Mrs. Doyle Payton, Mrs. Doyle Shillingburg, Mrs. Doyle Wilson, Mrs. Dennis Oldham, Mrs. Leon Hogg, Mrs. G. C. Clift Jr., Mrs. Ben Mac Dopson, Mrs. T. F. Vaughn.

Twin Ring Vows Recited By Fan Barber, D. Cloud

MRS. DONALD ROY CLOUD

Double ring vows were taken by Fan Barber and Donald Roy Cloud Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. C. P. Owen of Kerrville reading the ritual; he is a former pastor of the bride's family.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Barber, Rt. One, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cloud of Kerens and Laas, where Cloud is stationed as Rural Development Advisor for the U. S. Dept. of State.

During the wedding prayer, the bride and bridegroom knelt on a white satin prie dieu, which stood before a background of seven-branched candelabra and emerald fern trees. Large arrangements of white stock and calla lilies banked the altar.

A prelude of nuptial music, played by Mrs. Jimmie Cribbs, organist, included "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," Bach; "Be Glad, My Soul," Karg-Elert; "Our Father, Who Art in Heaven," Bach; "Andante," Rheinberger; "Communion," Guilman.

Mrs. Cribbs accompanied Ira Schantz as he sang Beethoven's "I Love Thee"; "Tomorrow," Richard Strauss; and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in ivory silk peau de soie. Her basque bodice was fashioned with a decollete neckline, enhanced by appliques of Alencon lace; long fitted sleeves extended to petal points over her hands.

Gathers at the sides of the full skirt gave a bouffant effect, complemented in front with applied medallions of lace on the tunic of lace, which extended the length of the skirt. Lace also accented the court length train of the gown.

A coil of jeweled Alencon lace held in place the bridal veil of imported candlelight silk illusion, and the bridal bouquet was a crescent of gardenias and stephanotis, centered with white orchids and showered with white satin ribbon.

tion, brother of the bridegroom; George M. Curtis of Pearshall; Charles W. Phillips and James R. Perltz, both of Austin.

Guests were seated by Gordon Bristow, cousin of the bride; Joe Zemanek of Bryan; Ronnie Stewart; Truman Bidwell of Austin. Tapers were lighted by Keith Bristow and Harold T. Garvin of Duncan, Okla., both cousins of the bride.

Cosden Country Club was the scene of a reception following the exchange of vows; mothers of the couple and the maid of honor assisted them in receiving guests, who were registered by Mrs. Loyd Branon.

Mrs. Norman Read and Mrs. John Coffey presided at the bride's table, done in all-white. Centering the table was a five-branched candelabrum, entwined with similar white carnations and tulle, which extended over the table to a nosegay of carnations.

An all-white multi-tiered cake was decorated with white frosting and topped with three satin wedding bells sheltering miniature doves of porcelain.

BAGS OF RICE

During the reception, young Bruce Hutto, cousin of the bride, distributed tulle bags of strawberry colored rice confetti to be used in showering the couple.

Others in the house party included Sen. and Mrs. Harold T. Garvin of Duncan, Okla., cousins of the bride; Mrs. C. H. Hall of Terrell, her aunt; Jo Anne Holmes, Mary Miles, Betsy Ferguson, all of Fort Worth, and Meta Butler of Austin.

Also the C. D. Henrys, the Hezlie Reads, the Henry Beards, the C. H. DeVaneys and Mrs. John Westmoreland, all of Coahoma.

And, the J. Gordon Bristows, the Tommy Huttos, cousins of the bride; J. A. Coffey, Loyd Branon, Marie McDonald and the Roy Braces.

For a trip to Colorado, the bride chose a sheer wool suit of mocha, with which she wore a coil of honey straw, and used brown alligator accessories. To her jacket, she pinned the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return from the wedding trip, the Clouds will make a home in Austin, where the bridegroom is stationed at Bergstrom AFB in OSI. His high school work was done in Woodstock School, India; he is a graduate of A&M College, where he was cadet colonel of the corps. He is listed in Who's Who in Colleges and Universities and is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society. After his tour of duty in the Air Force, Cloud will enter the law school of the University of Texas.

The bride was graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College and Texas Christian University; she is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. Mrs. Cloud plans to continue her studies as a junior in the University of Texas.

Attending from out of town were Charcie Barr of Houston, Mar-

Big Spring's Gain

The Jerry Fields family, 3615 Hamilton, has made Big Spring their new home. Formerly of Abilene, the Fields moved here during February. They are, left to right, Fields, Mrs. Fields, Kelly, 2½ months; Jerry Dwight, seven; and Melody, five.

Jerry Fields Family Leaves Abilene For Big Spring

Abilene's loss in Big Spring's gain, which is just a shorter way of saying that the Jerry Fields family, 3615 Hamilton, recently made Big Spring its new home. Mr. and Mrs. Fields and their three children, Jerry Dwight, seven; Melody, five and Kelly, two and a half months; arrived in Big Spring Feb. 15. Until that time, they lived in Abilene where they moved in 1956.

Both of the senior Fields grew up in Abilene and attended High School there. Following the couple's wedding nine years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Fields moved to Enid, Okla. Fields attended Phillips University in Enid while he was stationed at Vance Air Force Base. He received a bachelor of science degree and majored in marketing management and economics at the university.

Before moving to Enid, the couple was stationed with the Air Force in Oklahoma City, Okla. This gave Fields an opportunity to take some courses at the University of Oklahoma.

The two oldest Fields children were born in Enid. Kelly came along after the family moved to Abilene. While in Abilene the family attended First Christian Church.

Fishing is an interest shared by all the Fields, although Kelly is a bit young to participate. Each of the Fields, except Kelly, has his own fishing pole and rod, according to the mother.

Hobbies enjoyed by Mrs. Fields include bowling and sewing. The housewife currently is thinking about joining a local bowling league, which she feels is one way to meet new people.

Photography is Fields' special hobby and he indulges in taking pictures of his children, his favorite subjects, each Sunday. During the week, Fields is kept busy with his job at Montgomery Ward; Jerry attends the second grade at Morris elementary school and Mrs. Fields is kept busy taking care of Melody and Kelly.

"We are pleasantly surprised with Big Spring," comments Fields. "It is a larger town than we expected and very pleasant."

Ever cook a chopped onion in a little butter and then add it to rice that's been boiled? Go one step further for good flavor and use consommé instead of water for cooking the rice mixture.

Cowboy Theme Marks Baptist Youth Banquet

LAMESA (SC) — A cowboy theme was carried out when young people of Second Baptist Church were honored at their annual banquet Thursday evening in Fellowship Hall of the church. Glittering sprayed tumbleweeds hung from the ceiling, and a coral fence at the hall entrance was lined with saddles and saddle blankets; at the entrance were two animal skulls and a sign "The Chuck Wagon." Tables where the guests were seated were illuminated with kerosene lamps of the past century; favors were miniature saddles, glittered and sequined, and place cards bore the inscription, "Set Here, Partner." Program covers were cowboy hats with gold bands. Deacons of the church dressed in western regalia served the banquet. Dixie Maltsburger was master of ceremonies, and the Rev. L. R. Pendley, pastor, was ranch foreman. Honored as Ranch sweethearts were Jan Townley and Jerry Meeks. Also recognized for outstanding work in the training union department were Pattie Coffman and Leonard Shipley, named top cowhands, Peggy Caruth, Diana Garrett, Kenneth Tomlinson and Donald Shipley. Roving cowboys, Jackie Murphy and Glenn Flippin, furnished novelty numbers during the banquet. Other vocalists included Mr. and Mrs. Dick Amos, Linda Foster, and Mrs. Elmer Dean and Les Caudle. Mrs. Jimmy Peterson was pianist for the program.

Cheese Sauce

You can add as much as 1 cup of grated cheddar cheese to 1 cup of white sauce to serve with cooked fish, hard-cooked eggs or cooked elbow macaroni.

Spicy Sauce

The French use pepper, nutmeg, thyme and onion to season their famous Sauce Bechamel. You might like to try adding this group of seasonings to a white sauce.

Blanch Filberts

To remove the skins from shell filberts, place them in a shallow pan in a hot oven to toast; shake the pan several times. Then rub the hot nuts between the folds of a tea towel and most of the skin will come off.

Sew And Chatter

A change in the location of the Sew and Chatter meeting Wednesday afternoon has been made. Members will meet in the home of Mrs. M. Weaver, 1515 Eleventh Place, instead of with the hostess originally announced. Time is 3 p.m.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 5, 1961 SEC. D

Schools Will Stage Record-Size Parade

Buses have been borrowed and an elaborate schedule set up in order to stage a parade here Monday that easily may be the largest the city has ever seen. Over 7,000 will participate and probably many more than that will be watching from the curbs.

A project of the Big Spring Independent School District, the parade will include every student enrolled in the schools. Floyd Parsons, superintendent, said the parade would involve almost a fourth of the city's population.

Counting persons employed in the downtown area, parents of students, and shoppers, it is estimated that well over half of the city's population of more than 31,000 will be downtown Monday morning.

SCHOOL WEEK

Parsons said the gigantic parade is to emphasize Texas Public Schools Week.

The mammoth parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. at 6th and Runnels. Students will march, six abreast, down Runnels to Second; turn over to Main and march back up to Sixth for transportation back to their classrooms.

Youngsters are to report to school in the usual fashion, Parsons said. The buses will pick them up at the school buildings at 9:30 p.m. and transport them to the parade starting point. At the end of the parade route, the buses will be waiting to return scholars to class.

BANDS

Included in the parade will be the bands from the high school, and junior high bands from Goliad and Runnels. A float designed for the special week has been prepared.

Parade chairmen are S. A. Walker and Don Crockett. E. C. McKenzie is in charge of the parade.

Buses have been borrowed from outside sources in order to successfully transport students to the parade site. The Big Spring district will service the vehicles before returning them.

Donating buses and drivers are the Coahoma, Stanton, Forsan, Gay Hill school districts, and the YMCA, Howard County Junior College, and Webb AFB.

Members Urged To Return Cards

Members of the Big Spring Concert Association were reminded again Saturday to return their ballots for directors. Deadline is Monday evening.

Appearing on the cards are five names for three places. Listed are Mrs. James Duncan, housewife and civic worker; Anne Gibson Houser, music teacher and former board member; Douglas Wiehe, high school band director; Lester Morton, bank president and former member of the Odessa concert board; Randall Polk, department store executive and civic worker.

The cards also ask reactions to a proposal to offer one block of seats at higher prices as reserved seats. Member preferences in type of programs are also sought. Results will be tabulated for the board meeting Tuesday evening.

ONE-WAY STREETS

Narrow Margin In Vote Count

Big Spring residents who received, but did not return, the survey cards on one-way traffic downtown, were urged Friday to mail the cards in this week.

Members of the Big Spring Traffic Commission, in an informal meeting, canvassed 400 cards that have been returned, out of the initial mailing of 800. Eight of the cards were unmarked and 54 percent of those marked, indicated opposition to one-way streets.

quotes from these cards include:

"Too many signs . . . confusing . . . too hard to get around downtown . . . city is too small for one-way traffic . . . not enough parking space . . . traffic stacks up . . . not needed . . . worst thing that ever happened . . . nuisance . . . 3rd and 4th streets are OK, but the rest is no good"

OTHER REMARKS

And throughout the survey cards were criticism of other city policies regarding loading zones, parking, and water rates.

CLOSE COUNT

Commission members pointed out that the count is close and a larger return might point out a larger difference. As a result, another meeting is slated for Friday in order to give residents more time to return the cards.

Some sample quotes from the residents voting for the one-way traffic system, includes:

"I am in favor of one-way streets . . . eliminates congestion . . . why didn't opponents speak up before it was done? . . . prevents wrecks . . . speeds up traffic flow . . . better for pedestrians . . . keeps city from being a one-horse town . . . give it time and critics will be behind it . . . critics want to impede progress"

COMMENTS

A large majority of the cards returned had the voter's comments included. Regardless which side the resident voted for, most of them felt strongly about their opinions.

Those voting in opposition stressed difficulty in getting around in the downtown area and that the city is too small to have one-way streets. Some sample comments included:

"I am in favor of one-way streets . . . eliminates congestion . . . why didn't opponents speak up before it was done? . . . prevents wrecks . . . speeds up traffic flow . . . better for pedestrians . . . keeps city from being a one-horse town . . . give it time and critics will be behind it . . . critics want to impede progress"

Telephone Service May Be Extended

Officials of the Coahoma Telephone Co. are seeking to learn desires of members and others to a proposal for free interchange of calls between the Big Spring and Coahoma exchanges.

would have to concur in a rate adjustment, but this would not be necessary before Sand Springs subscribers could receive calls from Big Spring without toll calls.

Jack Cauble and Kenneth Orr, principal officials of the Coahoma Telephone Co., said that survey cards had been sent to subscribers to ascertain their feeling about EAS (extended area service). They would welcome comment from others, they said.

Cauble and Orr said they had plans to upgrade service out of their exchange, offering one and two-party service at points where it is not now available. They also have under consideration the enlargement of facilities, lines and cables.

If such an arrangement could be effected, a rate adjustment would be necessary as would a working agreement between the independent Coahoma exchange and Southwestern Bell Telephone. Additionally, the Coahoma city council

The exchange serves the area within a five-mile radius of Coahoma and the Sand Springs community. There are currently something like 400 subscribers. If there is a sufficient interest in the proposal, steps can be taken soon in that direction, they indicated. Then calls from Big Spring to Coahoma could be made by dialing LYric, and from Coahoma to Big Spring by dialing AlMherst.

Two File At Stanton

Two Stanton men have filed for places on the Stanton City Council. A city election April 4 will fill vacancies left by expiration of the terms of Jack Jones and Robert Herzog.

Filing for places on the ballot were Leo Turner and John Rouseche. Councilmen will be elected to terms of two years, joining present councilmen Jack Ireton, Sam Martin and John Davis.

H. A. Houston will be election judge. Polls open at 8 a.m. on April 4 and close at 7 p.m. Voting will be at the city hall.

U. S. 6th Fleet Has Playmate

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Soviet commercial ship, bristling with electronics equipment, has been attempting to keep tabs on the operation of the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, a naval spokesman said Friday.

"We call him our 'little friend,'" said Rear Adm. Ray C. Needham, commander of Carrier Division 2, who returned from the Mediterranean Friday aboard the aircraft carrier Independence.

He said the fleet is able to elude the Soviet vessel whenever it wants to.

A Devotional For Today

The Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if ye return unto him. (II Chronicles 30:9.)
PRAYER: O God, amid our busy lives, awaken us to the need to stop to consider the things that Thou hast done and art ever doing for us. Renew in us our love of Thee, whose grace is sufficient for all times, on all occasions, and for all of life. Through Jesus Christ our Saviour. Amen.

Challenge In Good Relations

In his message to the Webb AFB family last week, Col. Donald Eisenhart, wing commander, took occasion to remind members of a special responsibility toward the new class reporting for training at the base.

Essence of the message was that in contrast to previous classes which have had primary training before coming to Webb, the new class is fresh from civilian ranks. Much of their reaction to and attitudes toward the Air Force will be gained in their relationships at the base, he said.

The colonel's observation furnishes a good springboard for a similar appeal on the part of Big Spring as the home of Webb AFB.

As a community which has a consciousness and a conscience about its responsibility to the base as a constituent part of the community, we have a double responsibility of doing our part to see that these young men get off on the right foot. What sort of treatment they may receive in other cities where bases are located is no direct concern of ours, but how they are drawn into community participation here is certainly of paramount importance.

We will have an exceptional opportunity, for the young men assigned to the base will be looking for ties with the civilian community. Those with families will be housed in all parts of our city, and they can be dealt with as any new neighbor. Webb, we trust, can make them pleased they were established at this base; we hope that we can make them happy that Big Spring was their home for 55 weeks.

Some Implications Of The Analyses

In an article last week, the Farmers Home Administration, reported on analyses of 20 Howard County farm families and seven Glasscock County farm families that had operated under FHA assistance and published last year.

The Howard County families, all dry land operations, showed a gross of $13,770 and a net farm income of $2,235. The Glasscock accounts, which were irrigated operations, showed an average gross of $17,000 and a net of $4,204. There are no many other factors to conclude that the way to greater net is to have irrigated acreage. It may well be that the difference is also a correspondence difference in time and effort.

Anyway, the analyses weren't designed to go into that. It is interesting to note the FHA's conclusion, namely that "for the small farmer to continue in the farming business, he must cut cost of production, chiefly by increasing better management, producing more food on the farm, and practicing diversification. If maize is to be grown, it can be marketed at a profit only through livestock."

While the base of observation is too small for generalizations, the deductions do not appear unsound. It may be a full cycle around to self sufficiency for the small farmer — hire less outside labor, raise more of one's own needs, market feed through livestock and employ a change in farming pace to keep the soil productive and profitable.

David Lawrence School Aid And The Church Issue

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has sought to clarify the paradox referred to in these dispatches at the time he submitted to Congress his message on education. He called then for federal aid to college students, irrespective of whether they attended religious institutions, but did not favor such aid to children attending parochial schools at the elementary and secondary levels.

THE PRESIDENT, in his latest press conference left the door wide open for Congress to far as constitutional questions are concerned—to extend federal aid to parents who do not send their children to public elementary schools but who favor their attendance at private or parochial schools.

The President clarified the issues when in answer to a question he said:

"Well, the Constitution clearly prohibits aid to the school, the parochial school. There is no doubt about that. The Everson case, which is probably the most celebrated case, provided only; by a 5-to-4 decision, was it possible for a local community to provide bus rides to non-public school children. But all through the majority and minority statements on that particular question there was a very clear prohibition against aid to the school direct.

"THE SUPREME COURT made its decision in the Everson case by determining that the aid was to the child, not to the school. Aid to the school is—there isn't any room for debate on that subject. It is prohibited by the Constitution, and the Supreme Court has made that very clear. Therefore, there would be no possibility of our recommending it."

But the President didn't discuss the question of how aid might be given to the parents of the younger students in much the same way as it is given to the students of college age. In fact, in answer to another question, Mr. Kennedy said:

"THE AID THAT we have recommended to colleges is in a different form. We are aiding the students in the same way the GI Bill of Rights aided the student. The scholarships are given to the students who have particular talents and they can go to the college they want. In that case it is aid to the student, not to the school or college, and, therefore, not to a particular religious group. That is the distinction between that and the case of aid to medical schools, and that has been done for a number of years because that is a particular kind of technical assistance. The constitutional question has not arisen on that matter."

WHAT THE PRESIDENT is really pointing out could be called a distinction without a difference. Opponents of federal aid to any students who would use the money for tuition in church schools are logically calling, in effect, for a repeal of the GI Bill of Rights and all forms of scholarships that pay for education in any non-public institutions. Defenders of the existing policies of aid at the college level are logical in insisting that, if it is constitutional to extend such aid with federal funds—even if the money goes to religious colleges or private institutions—then it is also lawful to extend such aid to the parents of those children of elementary and high school age who are enrolled in parochial schools.

The Supreme Court of the United States in the Everson case in February, 1947, refusing to fire and police protection, bus transportation and similar services to all schools, said:

"OF COURSE, cutting off church schools from these services, so separate and so indisputably marked off from the public schools, would make it far more difficult for the schools to operate. But such is obviously not the purpose of the First Amendment. That amendment requires the state to be a neutral in its relations with groups of religious believers and non-believers; it does not require the state to be their adversary. State power is no more to be used so as to handicap religions, than it is to favor them."

By the same token, if the federal government extends aid to public school children, as is being suggested, and denies such aid to children who go to parochial or other private schools, then it can be accused of handicapping the religious education which is voluntarily sought by parents for their children in order to supplement the regular course of studies.

TO UNDERSTAND the problem, it can well be imagined what a financial burden in higher taxes for the community would be imposed if parents of children now attending private and parochial schools were suddenly to decide to send them all to public schools. The states would have to pay heavily every year to take care of the nearly 7,000,000 children now attending private and parochial schools. Many extra teachers would have to be hired and new buildings erected.

Certainly the extent to which the taxpayers today are being relieved of this extra burden in the community involves many times larger than the federal assistance that might be granted to those parents of children of elementary- and secondary-school age who desire to send them to religious schools, but at the same time cannot afford the double burden they are carrying today.

PERHAPS THE WAY out is to refund to such parents certain amounts out of their tax payments, which could then be used for education in private schools. This would not be direct aid to the school or educational institution, but to the students themselves.

Home Hazards

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Council of Safety says housewives and children face hazards that no man would put up with the job.

The council noted that 530 persons died in the state in 1960 as a result of home accidents and 60 were killed in industrial mishaps.

Fair Cutting Prices
TEANECK, N. J. (AP)—Dominick Nicola is a barber who believes in charging according to the individual customer's head of hair.

His prices start at $1.75 for a full crop and are scaled down to $1 for those balding or bald. Nicola, a master barber for 40 years, says he isn't cutting prices, but is merely charging according to the amount of work required.

A Wise Prophet Sees Upturn After It Occurs

President Kennedy is absolutely right in saying that there is no sure evidence of an economic upturn. That's always the way at, or near, the bottom of a recession. In 1958, the clamor for President Eisenhower to "do something" was loudest at the very bottom—in April. In the winter of 1949-50, just when it looked that an upturn was clearly established, a freak rise in unemployment suggested a reversal. It proved false.

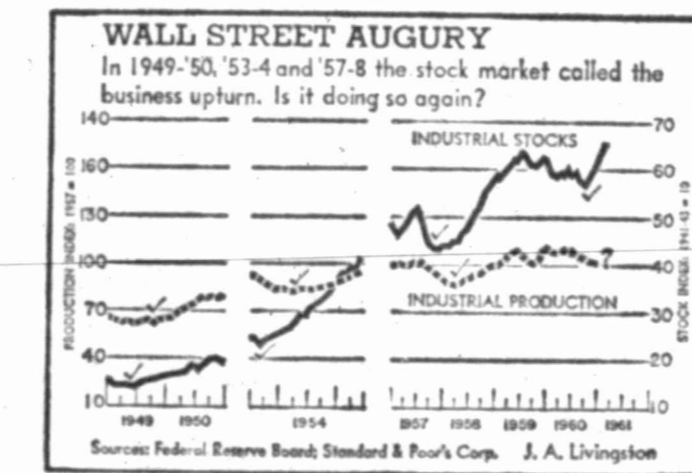

An erudite economist at the Ford Motor Co., Dr. George H. Brown, likens the current searchings among the economic tea leaves to primitive man and the winter solstice. Tribal elders sensed from experience that shorter shadows meant lengthening days. They didn't know the astronomical laws, the way of earth's orbit around the sun. So they had to wait and watch each winter-to-winter.

So, with prophecy in modern mid-20th century. Economic elders, particularly National Bureau of Economic Research tribesmen, know from experience and long study that business cycles have rhythmic ups and downs. They know that recessions have a way of petering out. And they know that frequently before an upturn, the stock market casts a happy shadow. It rises.

HAPPY HARBINGER
But they never can be sure until after the event—after the advance—if the shadow is false. Men, in their mass decisions, are not as consistently reliable as planets in orbit.

But this we know. In 1949-50, in 1953-54, and in 1957-58, industrial stock prices advanced four to seven months before the industrial statistics (production, sales, carloadings, employment, and unemployment) provided positive evidence of the end of the recession and the beginning of an upturn (see chart).

Again this time, Wall Street is the happy harbinger. Since Oct. 25, industrial stocks have advanced 21 per cent to all-time highs in the Standard & Poor's index (a much broader and better weighted measure of market movements than the more commonly used Dow-Jones or New York Times index, neither of which has reached a new high).

Railroad stocks also have advanced 20 per cent since October but are still 6 per cent below the peak of January, 1960.

PRODUCTION SOLISTICE
The stock market is a psychological solstice. Pessimism gradually diminishes, comes to a full stop (as the days seem to, in winter), and then optimism begins to take over. Here is the postwar record, showing the number of months and the percentages by which stocks heralded an upturn in industrial production.

Period	Mos. Ahead	Pct. Rise
1949-50	4	20
1953-54	7	27
1957-58	4	10
1959-60	7	21

But it is business, itself, not the stock market, and particularly the lengthening of automobile sales during February, that Dr. Brown and other economists watch. In February, 1960, steel production dropped a million ingot tons a month. In April, the decline was 1,800,000 tons. Then, gradually, the month-to-month drops diminished to $30,000 tons in December, and an actual rise in January and February of this year.

In industrial production, a broader indicator, the solstice also seems to be approaching. The drop has not fed on itself cumulatively. The Federal Reserve Board index dropped two points in August, a point each in the next three months, two points in December, one point in January, and February of this year.

To Your Good Health Many Sources Possible For Old-Age Odor

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: I am nearing my 90th year and am very conscious of the fact that I have that old body odor. Bathing (oh, so often) does not seem to help, and like all old folks, even my clothes have a scent, and so does my bedroom. What can I do?—Mrs. J. M."

Hope I can write a brisk, to-the-point letter like that when I approach 90, if I ever do!

There's no hard and fast rule that old people will develop a body odor. I have noticed it is true that some people, as they reach the 70's and beyond, aren't so careful about baths as they might be. Bathing is a problem for arthritic knees!

And another thing: Some older folks, because they don't go out much, and don't get their clothes dirty and spotted with commonplace chores, fall into the error of thinking that their clothes don't need frequent washing. They'll insist on wearing the same under or outer garments for a week or longer.

I doubt that Mrs. J. M., being as sensitive as she is to odor, falls in this category. I just mention it for anyone to whom it may apply.

The perspiration glands, including the apocrine glands which cause most of the odor, are inactive in small children, and tend to decline in activity in the latter years. That helps.

A chronic infection (teeth, nose, tonsils, lungs, etc.) can cause an odor. Certain foods can: Cabbage, onions, garlic, asparagus. In fact, Vitamin B can cause an odor in some people.

Bacteria inhabiting the skin can cause odor. Deodorants are as useful to old people as to others. Ordinary baking powder, dusted on armpits, groin, etc., will do much to lessen odor from these sources.

Another cause is the fact that when we grow old enough to lose our spryness, we don't get out as much as we used to. We don't give the clothes we wear an airing! It is a good idea to make it a point not to stay in one room most of the day. Just giving a bedroom time to air out will do a lot to rid it of odors.

As we get older, we seek warmth, and a warm, closed-up room, collects odors. We don't become markedly different as we grow older, but our habits change. Use of foot powder is a fine idea, because bacteria (and smell!) can gather in shoes and socks.

Tiny leakages of urine or other body discharges need to be watched. If they are present, have clothes washed more often.

After you've taken all the reasonable precautions, don't be overly sensitive about odors of age. We have our various smells at any age. The baby: the "small boy smell," which is acrid but pleasant to all of us who love little boys; the tobacco smell of men; the soapy, clean, powdered smell of girls who have grown out of the lumbago-age into the bathtub-and-clothes-conscious-age.

Watch the simple little rules, and everything will be all right.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is impetigo and the cause?—Mrs. S. G." I'm skipping your details, because they don't fit impetigo at all. Impetigo is a pus-producing skin infection, due usually to the staphylococcus germ. It usually occurs in children, and usually on the face.

The red spots you describe, which come and go, do not sound at all like impetigo, but more like herpes. For such, the only sensible advice I can give you is to have your doctor look at it when next it erupts.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for his booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Reader's questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Brilliant Sayings At Great Moments

If you people would read the same intelligences that I do, you would know that the next ten days or so bring a couple of important anniversaries.

Like it was March 7 that Alexander Graham Bell got a patent on his telephone, and it was on March 14 that Eli Whitney patented his cotton gin.

I DON'T KNOW what year each did which and it's difficult from this point to say which got there first for women—their obsession for talking, or for dressing. Either procedure takes considerable time.

But that's meat for another article, as the saying goes, and nobody wants to ruffle the ladies' feelings.

I was going to delve more into the historical background, and especially try to unearth the momentous sayings that were uttered in these brilliant moments of awareness of success. Many of these are of historical significance, others are literary gems.

FOR INSTANCE, it has pretty well been recorded that after Eli got through with his gadget, the first thing he said was:

"Keep your cotton pickin' hands off my gin."

There are several versions of what Alexander Graham Bell said. Don Ameche to the contrary. What latest research uncovers is that his immediate utterance on trying the phone was:

"Wrong number."

THIS LEADS us into other great moments of history, whether in the realm of science or otherwise.

Issue Newton it is pretty generally acknowledged, said after that apple fell:

WASHINGTON—Now it can be told—there's honor among politicians! Last September, with the presidential election catching fire, Ambassador William Pawley went before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in executive session and gave scathing testimony on the fall of Cuba to Castro and Communism.

Pawley's indictment of certain career officers in the State Department, especially of William Wieland, was released recently in a relatively calm post-election atmosphere. It reads alarmingly like the stories we were getting a decade ago when China went Communist.

BUT IMAGINE what the explosion and the fallout would have been if this testimony had been detonated last autumn. Can you hear the echoing repercussions: "Who promoted Rubottom?" "Will Herter turn his back on Wieland?" "Cuba, Communism and Castro!" "Whatever happened to that Latin American expert—Dr. Milton Eisenhower?"

It seems by hindsight that political exploitation of this sort would have helped Richard Nixon. It would have recreated a situation comparable to the elections of 1950 and 1952 when the Republicans won big majorities.

BESIDES THAT, two reasons for this voluntary suppression are special in nature. The first reason was that Pawley, a rampart Republican, was working hard in Florida for Nixon. Senators from both parties agreed that it would be wrong to put a party label on this testimony. The second reason, which came up immediately after the election, was that there was a very super-secret mission in Latin America, known to leaders of both parties. The mission, very advantageous to our side, would have been compromised if Pawley's testimony had been revealed in November or December.

It seems to me that this is admirable restraint on the part of a lot of Americans who wanted their party to win—but wanted much more for their country to

"Oh, well there was a worm in it, anyway."
S. F. B. Morse, it is now fairly well established, said:

"All that data and data is going to drive me crazy."

AND MARCONI, who had vision as well as great inventive ingenuity, is said to have made the remark:

"This will open a great new field—the disc jockeys."
It's not so funny, but it's true that General George Washington, the first day he reached Valley Forge, said to his aide-de-camp:

"Baby, it's cold outside."
But to go further back, recent research discloses that the Trojan warrior yammered to himself:

"Why is it I'm always the last one out?"

ANYBODY KNOWS what Sheba must have said when she first laid her eyes on King Solomon:

"Like man, he's loaded."
And, as Antony said to Cleopatra, or maybe vice versa,

"You ain't trying to snake-bite me are you kid?"

ANOTHER FAMOUS female of history, Delilah, said to her friend Samson:

"Why doncha try a crew-cut?"
It remains, however, for one of the more succinct, and better commentaries upon a job well done was uttered by Paul Revere, as he concluded that wild ride made after reading the light in the old North Church. What he said was:

"What?"

JFK's Problem Of Communication

WASHINGTON—In his initial attempt to prepare a way for a possible new strategy and for a serious attempt at nuclear disarmament, President Kennedy is discovering how difficult, dangerous and uncertain is the problem of communication in this field.

At his press conference the President was required to spend a part of that valuable time trying to quiet down the uproar over a State Department position paper suggesting that greater reliance be placed on conventional rather than nuclear weapons. In the same way, earlier, he had to tidy up the mess left behind by confused reports from the Pentagon as to whether there was or was not a missile gap.

ALL THIS, coupled with the premature speech by John J. McCloy on disarmament policy, is causing the President a certain unhappiness. He feels that his subordinates must learn to be a little less innocent and naive in dealing with these matters and particularly in the present phase when so much must be mastered in order to give eventual shape to new policies.

But it is the broader problem of reaching the American public that worries the President and his close associates. The deliberate news leak seems, from the White House perspective, to have been replaced by the news ooze. The stuff is there just under the surface and if it is not properly channeled it oozes to the top. The difficulty is in the channelling process.

THE PRESIDENT has given a great deal of thought to what follows nuclear disarmament, which might start with agreement on a nuclear test ban. One of the major objections to disarmament in the nuclear field is that this would leave the Soviet Union with vastly superior manpower. The forces of the Communist bloc, particularly if China were included, would sweep across the world without nuclear deterrent, so the argument runs.

WHAT IS MORE, those who adamantly win. It gives reason to hope. I think that the hissing time bomb of Cuba can be handled with the same composure and skill.

THE IDEA IS TO FIND a remedy for Cuba and a pattern for a winning policy in Latin America. This may very well call for some heads to roll. If so—so be it. There is enough evidence already in the files of investigators to raise some skepticism over President Kennedy's implication that blunders, though no crimes, were committed by the so-called In-Basket Brigade which apparently misinformed Secretary Herter, not to mention the American public, about the coloration of the Red Revolution in Cuba.

BUT THE SLAUGHTER of scapegoats is not what we need, and not even what will help us very much. We need action—perhaps military action—that will reverse the anti-American trend in Cuba. And we ought to move very fast toward a vigorous, fearless and fair take-charge policy for the entire Western hemisphere. This much we owe to ourselves, our neighbors and our historic role under the Monroe Doctrine.

After lamenting here recently that objectively on Cuba we had to find in print, I came across Ruby Hart Phillips' informed, I-was-there volume, "Cuba: Island of Paradox," where the whole revolutionary nature of this hot-blooded little country is revealed while building up to the Castro climax. She concludes 425 pages of reasoned, responsible reporting with these sensible thoughts:

"UNLESS THE U.S. adopts a firm attitude that treaties are treaties... and becomes impervious to the shouts of imperialism... our great American nation will find itself crippled in its efforts to hold the line... whether the future of Cuba and of all Latin America shall be decided from Moscow... is a question in which the U.S. can and should be the decisive factor."

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

oppose disarmament insist that the Communists will always have powers of infiltration and subversion by which they can bring down governments friendly to the West. How, then, to counter this threat? That and many other related questions the President has been pondering in connection with the beginning effort of disarmament. He understands that if you are going to disarm—with acceptable inspection and control—then the public must be convinced that the West is not defenseless.

In still another phase of the troubling and complex problem of defense and disarmament, the President is feeling somewhat disillusioned. This, as he indicated in his press conference, concerns the McCloy speech. As head of the administration's disarmament effort, McCloy seemed to reject any consideration of the Soviet proposal for complete and total disarmament in a four-year period.

THE PRESIDENT may ultimately come to agree with that view. But his feeling, according to close associates, and as he implied in his public response, is that if such a definitive statement were to be made it should come only after the new administration had thoroughly and completely examined the question and had come up with a detailed position of its own. No such position is anywhere near in sight.

SERIOUS CONSIDERATION is being given to what is known in the TV trade as a produced program with the President, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara and Edward R. Murrow, now head of the United States Information Agency, sitting down to tell the American people about defense and the changes that will be recommended. This would be the full treatment with film clips, charts and other devices to get the story across and hold public attention. The President may be slightly discouraged, as other Presidents before him have been, but he is going right on trying to find new channels to his public.

A SPECIAL FEATURE OF THE BIG SPRING HERALD, SUNDAY, MARCH 5, 1961

Students Ready For Education Day Parade

By JUDY ENGLE
Tomorrow begins Education Week throughout Texas. Runnels will cooperate by marching in the parade with all other students in the Big Spring school system. Students will be accompanied by the faculty and administrators. The Yearling band will lead its student body and faculty. All parents of students are invited to watch the parade, which will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 a.m.

The Brotherhood assembly was held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. Mr. B. M. Keese, registrar at Howard County Junior College, was a guest along with the speaker, Mr. Bill Tipton of Dallas. He spoke on the meaning and importance of brotherhood.

The seventh and eighth grade volleyball teams played games in Lamesa this week. The seventh grade of Lamesa won two out of three games with the scores ending up 15-1 and 15-8. But, the eighth grade Yearlings won their game 43-36. High scorer for the eighth grade was Kerry O'Brien.

Congratulations, team! The monthly FHA meetings were held last Monday. Pat Tabb was elected voting delegate for the Area II meeting, which will be held in Odessa on March 18. Billie Dickson was elected to register for Runnels. All registration fees should be turned in before noon Tuesday in the homemaking department. All members are urged to be present.

The last pages of El Palomar have been sent to press in Austin. The annual should be received around the first week of May.

Thursday during second period, the Round-Up went on sale. Special features were the mystery boy and girl and the personality parade. Each copy sold for five cents.

The choir at Runnels has begun tryouts for vocal solos. These are for contest and the Interscholastic League competition. A list of students who will do solos will be listed at a later time.

Only one new student enrolled at Runnels this week. She was a ninth grader, Janis Sparks. Welcome, Janis.

Cheerleaders For Next Year's Games Are Chosen

By MARSHA BRISTOW

This has been a busy week around SHS. We have had elections of all sorts. Also it seems that next week will be just as busy.

Two of our most important elections have been held this week. The cheerleader results were announced at the Athletic Banquet last Saturday night at the Student Union Building of Howard County Junior College. They are Cheryl McArthur, head cheerleader; Brenda George, seniors of next year; Jan Rhodes, Marilyn Sale, juniors next year; and Mary Beth Glaspie, sophomore next year. Congratulations, girls! They aren't wasting any time either. They have already planned some activities to raise money to go to cheerleader school this summer. They have planned a faculty-student basketball game for next Thursday night. Also they plan to have at least one car wash each month between now and summer.

The Student Council has been extra busy this week with all of its activities. The campaigns for officers have been raging, and the up-coming events are beginning to pile up. The elections for officers next year were: President: Glynnda Payne and Dorothy Lawson, vice president: Frances Graves and Mark Hanna; secretary: Mona Epley and Ronnie Driggers; and treasurer: Nina Yater and Jimmy Sale. The halls have been full of signs and all of us have gained several pounds eating all the food and candy handed out by the candidates. The campaign was climaxed Thursday with a political rally with each candidate and all of the supporters making speeches and conducting demonstrations. The results were president—Glynnda Payne, vice president—Frances Graves, secretary—Mona Epley, treasurer—Jimmy Sale.

The Council has also planned Twirp week for next week. This is the week that the girls get their revenge for maybe the boys get their revenge? The Council has planned a party for one night and the cheerleaders will have their ballgame one night, so boys you had better act right!

We will be honored next week to have several representatives from professional schools to come talk to us. A representative from a beauty school and one from a business school will be here. We are all looking forward to it.

Next week will be a short one for us. The teachers will be at an area teachers' meeting at Odessa all day Friday. As a result we will get a three-day weekend. Many of the kids have already made big plans to use their holiday.

This week has been a rather shocked one for many of us. We received our report cards Thursday, and so many of us will be staying home over the weekend to study to begin bringing up those grades.

Some of the students were shocked to see Carolyn Manning and me hanging out of the windows in the homemaking department this past week. We are working on our state FHA degree and we are hurrying around trying to finish all last minute details for our goals.

Drivers' Ed Talks Start

By NANCY HEDLESTON

The past week the Student Council has been selling School Day Scrapbooks. Each scrapbook costs 50 cents. Students can buy yours from any Student Council member.

Goliad will participate in the All-School Parade on Monday. All students are asked to wear black and white, our school colors. This parade is the start of Public School Week. Next Friday the District 4 Texas State Teachers Association will meet in Midland. All faculty members at Goliad will attend.

Registration for the spring lectures in drivers' training started Saturday at Goliad. You can still register between March 6-12 during the lunch hour, or after school at Goliad or Runnels. The cost will be $25. The lectures are to be held two nights a week, Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. and will begin on March 21. Any student enrolling for these classes must be passing all regular classroom work.

Two boys who attended the Houston Fat Stock Show last week won $150 each in the calf scramble. The boys are Lanny Proctor and Jimmy Reed.

New students at Goliad are 7th grade — Sherry Root, Michael Turner; 8th grade — Lawrence Barnes, Lonnie Howard, Rita Alexander, Brenda Flinn, Linda Kay Smith, Glenn Brown.

Queen Mother Snookers Males
LONDON (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth Thursday night invaded the strictly masculine retreat known as the London Press Club and shot a little snooker.

She spent two hours as the club's guest at a cocktail party and was presented with a gold mounted blue quill pen. For the benefit of photographers she then picked up a cue and had a go at the favorite club pastime—snooker, a kind of pocket pool. She shot left-handed, and obviously knew what she was doing.

In response to inquiries, a press officer at Clarence House, her London residence, said the royal family includes billiards and snooker among its amusements and that the queen mother is a pretty fair player.

First Family Adds A Kitchen

WASHINGTON (AP)—If they have a mind to, President and Mrs. Kennedy will be able to whip up a snack in a kitchen handy to their White House living quarters.

The conversion of a bedroom into a kitchen is one of the changes that has kept workers busy at the presidential mansion. The Kennedy quarters have also gained a butler's pantry and a spacious dining room. Another bedroom became the dining room and a bathroom was remodeled into the pantry. The bathtub remained, hidden under custom-made drawers and cabinets.

A Bald Giveaway

MANILA (AP)—Tomas de Guzman, accused of armed robbery, might still be at large today if he hadn't taken a shower. For two weeks he wore a wig. But he tossed off the toupee to bathe in an outdoor stall. Two detectives passing by saw his glistening scalp above the enclosure.

Girls, Follow Example Of Italian Gals

By JOAN KETCHUM

Just jettied back from a short vacation in Rome, Italy, one of the most exciting spots in the world to visit. Whole families whiz past ancient ruins, on motor scooters. The food is the most scrumptious anywhere for prices you'd pay for a dinner here. An American tourist can get by without a word of Italian because so many of the Romans seem to understand English. My Italian vocabulary consists of four words: Si, No, Grazia, Dove, meaning: Yes, No, Thank you, Where is I got the fancy one and thought I was asking for a glass of water. Seems I asked for vodka instead.

Naturally, as an Under Twenty reporter, I scrutinized the Italian teen-agers to see how they stacked up against the U. S. brand. On the streets of Rome they all looked very much alike, but if you translated one of the girls to an American town, she'd be a stand-out.

For the most part they're dark-haired with flawless complexions. They wear one of two hairdos. From the front view they're both the same—pulled back from the top and the sides to a height of about two or three inches on the back of the head. This is done by teasing the hair, holding strands of it and combing it toward the head, then softly tucking the ends under and holding them with bebbie pins. Some hair is combed down in front to form bangs or waves on the forehead. The hair is either left to hang, all lengths, or worn up in a French knot.

They either wear very pale lipstick or none at all. As far as make-up goes, they have an extremely natural look.

As for clothes, they have a problem which girls in America don't have at all. Clothes aren't turned out on the mass production level they are here. A girl can't get an inexpensive copy of the latest style unless she makes it herself. The less expensive clothes are made more for durability than prettiness. The materials of coats, sweaters and dresses are usually heavy and rough.

The girls hardly ever go in for bright colors. Tourists are about the only ones you'll see wearing shades of yellow or orange or red. From her neck to her knees, she may not look very feminine, but the Italian teen girl is very feminine about her legs. You never see her in socks or flats. She wears a dainty little heel and stockings at all times, sometimes black, occasionally black net—even to school.

The overall effect is glamorous and an American girl would make a striking impression if she borrowed a little from the Roman girl. Wish I could have picked up some fashion tips for the boys, but the Italian teen-age guy looks very much like our guys except that you don't see him without a suit coat or a sports jacket unless he's working at home.

4 Local Students On Tech Roll
Four students from Big Spring made the roll honor roll at Tech. The students were named by the academic deans at the college.

In the School of Engineering, Thomas E. Morris, sophomore, was named to the list. The School of Agriculture listed Lorin S. McDowell, senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dancy, 1112 E. Cowden. Two students were named from the School of Home Economics. They were N. Lanell Morris, freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Engle, Knott Route; and Priscilla Pond, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pond.

Boys Receive New Football Jackets

By LYN CLAWSON

Last Thursday the football boys received their jackets in an assembly before the school. The jackets are all black with gold letters on them. The letters "BS" replace the letter "B" that has been used in the past.

For the last two weeks Bedford Forrest's speech classes have been presenting plays in the auditorium during their class periods.

This week petitions for student council officers for the school year 1961-1962 begin. The campaign assembly will be March 14; the election, March 15; the runoff, March 17. Petitions for president, vice president, and secretary will be available in the office. Five officers will be elected — president, first vice president, second vice president, recording secretary, and corresponding secretary.

All who are members of Junior Volunteers and have not yet received an assignment should call Mrs. Haskell Beck at the state hospital for an assignment.

Last Monday night the junior and senior girls' Tri-Hi-Y clubs held a joint meeting at which Jan Farris spoke on hairstyles and make-up.

Spanish Club Has A Dinner

By DARLA DUNAGAN

Monday night the Forsan Spanish club, Los Curratacos, had a Spanish dinner at Carlos Restaurant. Dinner was served at 7:00 p.m. After dinner pictures were taken. These pictures will go in this year's annual. There were 20 present. Everyone reported a good time.

Monday afternoon at 12:30 the Forsan FHA met in the Home Economics Room. Glenda Rutherford was selected as the voting delegate for the district meeting which will be held March 18 at Odessa. This year the girls decided to buy a plant to go in the living room instead of the rose bush that they have bought annually for the school patio. A collection for "Care" is being taken by the Forsan FHA members. The money that is collected will be taken to the district meeting and they will send it to "Care."

Friday the Sophomore homemaking girls gave a tea at 9 a.m. in the homemaking department. They modeled the garments they made this year in homemaking.

The Forsan boys 1961-62 basketball team won second place in the post season tournament which was held at Sands.

'Antigone' To Contest

By KAY LOVELAND

Ooops! Seems I made a booboo last week. I announced that Karen Baldwin was named basketball sweetheart. Don't know what made me say that—I knew it was track. Sorry, Karen.

Friday afternoon Karen, LaVerne Carter and Nicky Nickens left for Fort Worth to attend the track meet our boys entered there.

The Freshman Class deserves a pat on the back for the money-raising job they're doing. The class made $44.75 profit off the car wash that held two weeks ago. Members are planning another one next Saturday. Also to raise money, the students are selling car license holders for $1.50.

The cast of "Antigone" is in the final few days of rehearsal before a cutting of the play will be presented at Corsicana on Friday. The members of the cast and crew will leave for Corsicana sometime Wednesday morning, stop over in Dallas that night to visit the Theatre Centre there and then go on to Navarro Junior College in Corsicana for rehearsals Thursday. Thursday night a reception will be held for the twelve colleges participating in the event and at that time a drawing will be held for the times of presenting the plays on Friday. Those students in the cutting include Roy Cebik, Mary Helen Yater, Adaleen Soles, Kay Loveland, Ronnie Bingham, Lewis Petmecky, Marvin Simmons, and Doug Davis. The group will return home on Saturday—with a trophy we hope. The play will be given here March 20, 21 and 22.

Congratulations to our Jayhawk basketball team which won its game against Clarendon in the Amarillo Tournament. The Hawks were top seeded at the tournament, and winning the most would mean a return journey for the team to Hutchinson, Kansas, for the national meet. Career Day will be held at

KAREN BALDWIN

HCJC a week from tomorrow, March 13. At that time, all day classes at the college will be dismissed while several hundred high school seniors meet on the campus for a day of vocational guidance. Student Government Association members will be the official hosts for the event. The vocational study programs have been organized by the college. They are agriculture, business and legal professions, communications, engineering and sciences, fine arts, homemaking and dietetics, medical services, skilled trades, social services, and teaching and educational fields.

SGA members are also thinking about attending the state convention in San Antonio on April 5, 6 and 7.

Tentative plans are being made by the geology department to take a week's field trip to the Grand Canyon the week after school lets out for the summer. Kenneth Seewald, geology prof, is investigating the possibilities now.

Lawrence Welk Continues To Hold The Top Spot With Recording Of 'Calcutta'

By JEANNE HARRISON
First place in the nation's top records is a place Lawrence Welk doesn't occupy often. But when he does, he makes the most of it. His haunting instrumental interpretation of "Calcutta" last week remained in the number one spot for the fourth straight week.

The Miracles with "Shop Around" took over second place from the Shirelles' "Will You Love Me Tomorrow" which settled into third. The biggest move in the top records was "Wheels" by the String-A-Longs. The record, which features a great new sound, rolled from ninth to the number six spot. Here's the rundown:

1. "Calcutta," Lawrence Welk
2. "Shop Around," Miracles
3. "Will You Love Me Tomorrow," Shirelles
4. "Calendar Girl," Neil Sedaka
5. "Exodus," Ferrante and Teicher
6. "Wheels," String-A-Longs
7. "Where the Boys Are," Connie Francis
8. "There's a Moon Out Tonight," Capris
9. "Pony Time," Chubby Checker
10. "Emotions," Brenda Lee

The piano duo of Ferrante and Teicher has, in the last year, had great success with their recordings of themes from motion pictures. Their "Exodus" and "Apartment" have been played everywhere by almost everybody. They have now recorded the love theme from Marlon Brando's "One Eyed Jacks" backed by "Tara's Theme," from the re-released "Gone With the Wind." Both sides match the previous high quality in sound and arrangement by the pianists and both are great listening numbers.
Another outstanding new release which you'll be hearing is a sure-fire Dinah Washington disc. It is "Early Every Morning" backed with "Do You Want It That Way." The "Morning" number is a rock-in-swinging while the flip side features Dinah's voice in a beautiful, lilting ballad.
If you dig the Western beat at its best, there's a new album which is a collector's item. It is "Hank Williams' Greatest Hits" which contains 14 of the all-time best hits recorded by the star during his lifetime. Included are such classics as "Cold, Cold Heart," "Half As Much," "Your Cheatin' Heart," and "Hey, Good Lookin'."

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Tennessee Williams and William Faulkner are telling us more about man's depravity than the church is," says the Rev. Dr. C. A. Roberts, who spent a year living among beatniks. "Problems of boredom, worry and guilt will not be solved by the same old sermons, and today's churches are not trying to solve their communications problems."

Her ambition is to retire from acting when she's about 20 and have a horse ranch with "about ten horses at a time." She doesn't know how much this might cost, but imagines, "You'd probably get one nice and cheap in Oregon or Vermont."
Her interest in outdoor living is unusual for a girl who has been in the public eye for eight years. She began a modeling career when she was five, was on Broadway at ten. "The day they were having interviews for the part of the young girl in 'J. B.' was my birthday. I hadn't taken any acting lessons and didn't think there was anything I really wanted to do, but my agent insisted I go up and see about the play." She got the part and then more roles on TV programs. "Tomboy" is her first film.

Candy doesn't know what prompted her interest in horses. According to her she just suddenly decided that for her main birthday present three years ago, she wanted to take English riding lessons. Her wish was granted and even once a week she goes riding about once a week. Her mother and her father, a stockbroker, have no objection—except one time, Candy gave them an awful scare.
She was doing a "Rawhide" episode for TV. The script called for the horse she was riding to be spooked by a dog and then jump and go wild with Candy on its back. The director naturally wanted a stunt rider to substitute for Candy in the scene. Candy insisted she was an excellent rider and wanted to do the scene herself. After much coaxing he gave in. Candy did the trick riding herself at the risk of her life. How could her mother possibly have let her do something so dangerous, I asked Candy. "She wasn't there," Candy smiled impulsively. "I told her later and she turned blue."
But despite her bravado, Candy did convince her she wasn't a tomboy when she told me about the night her movie premiered in Houston, Texas. "I was so excited about that night," she said. "I got things to make me really look grown up for the first time in my life. I got a tiara and a beautiful cherry red chiffon dress and a bunny fur jacket. I had satin shoes dyed to match my dress and my first pair of nylons. And there's what happens." The director calls me up and asks me to wear the western outfit I wear in the movie. I could have cried."
She did appear at the theatre that night in levis and a shirt, but for the party after the premiere, her mother insisted that she be allowed to change and wear her dream outfit. Candy's evening was saved. And tomboys don't feel that strongly about looking dainty and feminine.

CANDY MOORE

Candy's Not A Tomboy

By JOAN KETCHUM
"I don't know why anyone should be afraid of it," said Candy Moore of the 1,000 pound Angus bull which was her co-star in "The Tomboy and The Champ." The pretty, blonde 13-year-old told me with pride that she had no trouble learning to groom the bull and lead it around. She washed it, fed it, combed it and brushed it, even when it wasn't part of the movie script.
I, for one, thought her enthusiasm for the huge animal showed a daredevil streak in Candy, but she assured me that it was a gentle animal and wouldn't charge. Yet Candy emphatically says that unlike her role in the movie, she is not a tomboy. She had to go a long way to convince me. First of all, she has a decidedly athletic build for her 5'4", 103-pound figure. Sports are her pastime. "I love horseback riding, swimming, ice skating, sleigh riding, all sports," she told me. She even plays touch football.
Her ambition is to retire from acting when she's about 20 and have a horse ranch with "about ten horses at a time." She doesn't know how much this might cost, but imagines, "You'd probably get one nice and cheap in Oregon or Vermont."

Should Girls Have Double Standard?

By JOAN KETCHUM
For a long time the double standard applied to love-making. What was absolutely taboo for girls seemed to be perfectly okay for boys, and a girl was either "good" or "bad" according to whether she obeyed the taboos or not. Today many young people are beginning to wonder if what is good for boys is bad for girls. How far should they go to be up to date — and everyone else's? Both boys and girls bear what is considered a very proper point of view from their parents, their teachers and their religious advisors. They're told that kissing for a great length of time can lead to crossing the "danger zone," that indiscriminate fondling is practically as wrong as "going all the way." But the girls wonder if boys today expect them to be a little more "modern." Boys are finding pleasure in thinking they're square if they don't as least try.
The thing for girls to consider is that the male of today still holds on to an old-fashioned instinct. Despite any wild oats he might want to sow, he still wants to marry what is considered a "nice girl." Practically speaking, do you want to be some guy's adventure? Or do you want to be the dream doll he proudly presents to the world as his wife? If you're worried about not being passionate, forget it. That kind of popularity boys giggle about in the locker room.
How far should a boy try to go? A girl will certainly feel rejected if he doesn't try for a kiss by the second date. Girls like to hold hands and they like to feel a guy's arm around the shoulder and hold him close, but most of them frighten easily if a boy gets carried away. Guys can earn a bad reputation as easily as girls and find that the ones they like to date won't have anything to do with them.
So what about getting? If no one else has convinced you that being old-fashioned is the wisest policy, being practical should.

Has Reading Now Become Lost Art?

By DAN HARDING
Is reading a lost art? Many educators today, particularly at the college level, are increasingly concerned about the low level of reading ability on the part of incoming college students. This is only one part—an important part to be sure — of the story. How is it possible that it is much about the sheer pleasure and rewarding experience of reading a good book? Is this too being lost in the maze of visual entertainment available at the twist of a dial, or the price of a ticket?
It is possible that it is much too easy today to absorb entertainment without mental effort. Viewing television or going to a movie requires little intellectual activity on the part of the individual. It is simple to become a sponge-sitting indolently and absorbing the visual interpretation of the written word.
In addition to learning the fundamentals of reading, there is another way of raising the level of reading, and that is simply to read. And finding pleasure in reading can best be done in two ways. First, reading a good book teaches reading as you read. Secondly, it can become one of life's most rewarding experiences.
One could write volumes about the pleasures of reading, but the best way is to discover it for yourself. Read a good book and then, if you wish, see the visual presentation of the story—or you can reverse the process.
James Hilton's "Lost Horizons" has recently been given television treatment. The motion picture based on the book has been shown on the "late show." If you have seen either of these, go to the library and get the book. Read it with a completely fresh, open mind and you will be amazed at how your imagination fills in the gaps, how you will see things described by the author that the directors didn't see or couldn't include. You will get to know the characters so well you will feel as if you have known them all of your life.
Leon Uris' great novel "Exodus" has recently been released in motion picture form. Take a few hours to read the book; then when you see the picture you will be able to compare the sensations experienced in the reading with those you received from the picture. Each, in its own way, is a rewarding experience, but are different ways of obtaining pleasure and knowledge.
These are only two examples. You will be able to think of others for yourself. One thing is certain. If you make this reading experience you will come to appreciate the wonder of books more than ever before and say that reading is certainly not a lost art.

Clark Takes On A Dramatic Role

By BERNARD GAZZER
NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm a lot of different people. It depends on the circumstances and the time. I'm a businessman, a salesman, a lover."
This may come as a shock to those fans of "American Bandstand" (ABC-TV, 4-5:30 p.m.) who always see Dick Clark as a pleasant, good-looking chap with a knack for communicating with the nation's teen-agers.
"That's only one facet of me," he explained, as he dressed in a doctor's uniform. "On TV, I'm myself everyday. I'm calm, controlled, untroubled. You never see me angry or emotional."
Clark stepped into a corridor of Manhattan General Hospital where a battery of technicians and movie grips were setting up lights and cameras for location shooting of "The Young Doctor."
In the film Clark is a young doctor, but not the young doctor. That's Ben Gazzara. The old doctor is Fredric March. Ina Balin, a dark-haired beauty, is Gazzara's girl friend.
"It's gratifying to be able to do something else," Clark said. "I can cry or scream or be angry in a film, but that wouldn't be the same me on my television show. I've played myself so long that it's an experience to play someone else."
This is the first dramatic role with any meat in it for Clark, who has appeared in two other movies. The new film is being heralded as a major step in the development of a new career.
Why does he want to move in this direction? Does it have anything to do with the publicity he got during the television payola scandal?
"No, this has nothing to do with the Congressional hearings. I think that doing something else is what everybody in entertainment wants to do. The actors want to be singers, the singers want to be jugglers and the clowns want to be lion tamers. We all want the ability to do other things."
"There was no damage done to me in those hearings. The network ran surveys six months later and found that my acceptance had risen. I had been on the network three years at the time, and it's pretty hard to tarnish the image I created. I was exonerated, if you want to call it that. The only crime I did was make money. Now I make it for other people."
There's a certain businesslike boyishness in Clark's direct way of talking. At 31, the still looks like the eternal juvenile and takes great delight in the label once slapped on him: "America's oldest living teen-ager."
He approaches film acting with well-balanced seriousness but apparently has no delusions about being a Spencer Tracy or Fredric March.

Logically Cast

It was Carlos Arruza's fame as a bull fighter that won him a role riding a horse in "The Alamo." Although this may seem like another "Well, that's Hollywood for you" story, there was an excellent reason for this "type casting." Arruza, considered by many to be one of the greatest living matadors, performed in the classic Portuguese style, on horseback, and was easily the most accomplished horseman on the Alamo set. Sr. Arruza makes his film debut as a cavalry lieutenant in the army of Mexican General Santa Anna.

Mom and Pop may not recognize the current version of "Cimarron" as the same story they saw in the movies years ago. And, if you have read Edna Ferber's book, on which the picture is based, you might also wonder from time to time what happened to the story. Much has been added, much has been taken away.

Be Well-Dressed In A Basic Dress

By CHRIS RILEY
The secret ingredient of the best-dressed girl in your crowd, or your class, or your whole school is not money. It's not even a perfect figure. Though both these things can do a lot to enhance a girl's wardrobe, you can achieve just as devastating an effect with very elementary equipment.
The secret is a basic wardrobe—but one with a flair that reflects your personality. With just a few well-planned purchases, you can be perfectly dressed for all occasions.
Start with one dress in a neutral color and a simple design suitable for daytime as well as evening wear. If you don't have one now, make it the first thing on your clothes budget. You can select one of the styles with short sleeves and a scoop neckline (for night-time) which has a matching jacket for day. Or choose a dress with three-quarter or full-length sleeves with a simple high neckline which you can make appropriate for evening or day according to the accessories you wear.
Second in importance on your clothing shopping list is not another dress or even a sweater and skirt. You've still got work to do on that number one basic.
The loveliest way to enhance it is to top it with a carefully chosen scarf. Instead of buying outfits in the dime store, invest a dollar or more on a very good one—either a solid color or a design I happen to think a chiffon scarf is worth the extra money for the feeling of glamour it gives you.
Next item is a necklace or a pin. If you don't already have

Wait A Little Longer And Boys Will Interest You

By BESSIE LITTLE
DEAR BESSIE: Boys are dull to me. One day boys interest me but the next day they bore me. I have gone with three boys in a very short while.
I don't know what it is. I always have a good time at parties and dates and church activities, but the boys don't excite me. Do you think I'm just tired of boys already? I'm large for my age and seem older than boys my age.
—VERY BORED
DEAR BORED: In the early Under Twenties years the boys often lag behind the girls and your complaint is not an uncommon one. If you are "older" than boys your age, this situation is more difficult for you. The range of interest of boys is usually pretty wide and their interest in girls at certain ages is less than that of the girls display in boys. But, Bored, the day comes when boys devote more attention to girls. When this happens they become more interested and hence, more interesting. Yours is a perfectly normal reaction. Just be sure that you don't expect too much.
DEAR BESSIE: I went with a boy for almost a year. We broke up a couple of weeks ago. I thought my world had crumbled on me. We still go out together and he still has my picture in his room. I want to go back but I don't think he does. When we go out, I usually start crying. Should I stop seeing him or do you think he might ask me to go back? Should I take my picture back?
—CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: I'm sure that what you are going through is hurting you very much. You must, however, control yourself and adjust to your situation. You don't say why you broke up, but I would imagine from your letter that you were unwilling to stop going steady with the boy. The surest way not to get him back is to cry and to be sad when you are with him.
If he still dates you it means he still has some feelings for you and you should make the most of this rather than drive him away with weeping and moaning. From what you have told me there is no reason why you should not continue to see him. But to be fair to yourself you should also see other boys at the same time. As for taking the picture back, that's a small thought and unworthy of you. Whatever you do, don't turn into a full-time torch bearer.

—JONNIE
DEAR JONNIE: You can be sure that you will hurt your boyfriend more by not telling him the truth. The simplest way is to tell him that you like him very much but that you are not yet ready to fall in love. If you try hard I am sure you can make him understand without hurting his feelings. The truth, handled with kindness, is always the best way to handle this situation.

Horse Stunts For 'Alamo' Well Planned

All American motion pictures are required to meet the rigid specifications of the S. P. C. A. So when those horses fall in "The Alamo" they are only doing what they have been trained for. No horse may be "tripped" by hidden wires, as was done in the early days of film making. The valuable animals are so highly trained that they earn more than many of the actors.

Eighteen of Hollywood's most expert practitioners of the "dry high dive" were brought to Bracketville by John Wayne to execute the action scenes. It is a testament of their superb skill that, despite a number of daring group horse-falls, not one of the "Alamo" stunt crew sustained any injury worse than a skinned knee or sprained wrist, and not one horse was hurt, according to studio sources.

Unlike most stunt work for outdoor action films, which is hurriedly worked out on the spot, the big Alamo battle scenes involving powder charges and falling horses were planned months before the actual filming began. The stunt men spent countless hours in rehearsal with their "falling horses," all of which are individually owned and trained.

Flubs Her Line

It can happen to any actress. Three-year-old Aissa Wayne muffed her first line as a pro when she appeared before the cameras as one of the three survivors of the 13-day battle for Texas independence in her father's production of "The Alamo."

The line was "Good morning, Colonel Crockett," but she said, instead, "Good morning Daddy." Daddy John Wayne plays Colonel Crockett, who was one of the heroes to lose his life in this immortal chapter of American history.

The final stamp and highest value in Ghana's "definitive series" will be a one pound adhesive featuring an antelope in a graceful leap. The antelope, one of Ghana's indigenous animals, has not been shown previously on its stamps.

The colors of Ghana's flag—green, black, yellow and red—plus brown are represented on the stamp, designed by M. Shamir of Israel. The 1 pound value is the highest ever issued by Ghana.

Western Germany has issued a new 20 pfennig red and black stamp commemorating the 10th anniversary of the death of Hans Bockler, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Bockler, born in Bavaria in 1875, was a silver-smith who became active in the German Labor Movement in 1904. After 1945 he was West Germany's voice of labor and from 1949 until his death in 1951 was president of the German Labor Union.

The New York Stamp Exchange is again making his annual offer to readers of this column interested in obtaining album pages for their United Nations collections. The pages are standard size, punched to fit any

These pages may be obtained by sending just 10 cents to cover the cost of postage and handling to New York Stamp Exchange, 79 Wall Street, N. Y. 5, N. Y. Boy Scout groups or stamp clubs can get 25 albums for $1.50.

A collection of United Nations stamps, and those issued by other countries to honor the U.N., may be used to fulfill one of the requirements for the Stamp Collecting Merit Badge.

To honor the 10th Lahore Stamp Exhibition, the Pakistan Posts and Telegraphs Department has announced the issuance of an overprint of the 2 anna Jammu and Kashmir postage stamp. The words "Lahore Stamp Exhibition 1961" and the emblem of the exhibition are imprinted over the old issue.

Paraguay commemorates the opening of the International Bridge linking Paraguay and Brazil with the issuance of two new stamps. The 15 centavos olive, 30 c blue, 75 c violet, and 1 g violet show a ground view of the bridge. The 3 c red, 12 1/2 g maroon, 18 1/2 g green and 36 g blue are airmails and show an aerial view.

An original Berlioz airplane (1910 vintage) will be a central attraction at the International Stamp Exhibition (INTERPEX) to be held from March 17-19 in New York City. It was this type of plane which Ovington used in 1911 to carry the first official airmail from Garden City, Long Island, to Mineola.

John Wayne Sees Dream Come True

Marion Michael Morrison is a 6' 4" slow moving, deep thinking hulk of a Hollywood hero. Known to the screen world as John Wayne, his friends call him "Duke."

A big man, Duke Wayne thinks big, acts big and spends big. "The Alamo," which he produced, directed and in which he is starred as Col. David Crockett, cost a cool $12,000,000. It was the culmination of a 16 year dream, a personal obligation ("...to myself and to my country.") which he now feels is satisfied. The epic, in Technicolor, opens Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

"Duke" came to California on a high school football scholarship and during a summer vacation from the University of Southern California he got a job as prop man with the then Fox Film Corporation. Here he met the famous producer-director John Ford. When, after Wayne's career as the first singing cowboy on record, Walter Wanger signed Ford to direct "Stagecoach" he got his big break. Ford called Duke and offered him the part of "The Rugged Kid" in the now classic film.

"Stagecoach" was highly successful, artistically and financially, and Wayne was hailed as a "new screen star." However, he did not enjoy "instant success." His screen reputation built slowly over a period of several years, during which time he made many good pictures such as "Reap the Wild Wind," "The Long Voyage Home," "The Fighting Seabees," "Tall in the Saddle," "Back to Back," and "They Were Expendable." His name on a picture came to assure success at the box-office and exactly 20 years after he began his career and 10 after he got his big opportunity in "Stagecoach" Wayne was voted the most popular male star in the entire industry by all leading motion picture trade publications.

The tidal wave of Wayne's popularity continued with such hits as "Red River," "Tycoon," "Fort Apache," "Three Godfathers," "Wake of the Red Witch," "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," "The Fighting Kentuckian" and "Sands of Iwo Jima," for which he won an Academy Award nomination. He was married to the former Pilar Palette of Lima, Peru. They have a daughter, Aissa, aged 4, who appears in "The Alamo." He has four children by a former marriage. One of them, Patrick, also has a featured role in the film.

Richard Boone is the kind of actor who will always add stature to any cast. Since he began his career in New York eleven years ago, he has had a varied and steady rise to stardom in every type of acting medium.

It was to him that John Wayne immediately turned when he was casting the role of General Sam Houston in Boone's characterization said to be a highlight of the film.

Originally born in Los Angeles, Boone got his start as an actor in New York and did not return to the West Coast until he had appeared in about 75 dramas. Evenings, during this time, Boone studied with the group at famed Actors' Studio.

His first screen assignment was that of the nerve-wracked colonel in "Halls of Montezuma," followed by films in which he played both heroes and heavies with equal ease. Shortly after his contract expired he accepted the lead in the "Medic" series and became famous.

Worried about becoming typed as a doctor, Boone was happy when the "Medic" series ended in 1957, and he was able to start his top-rated series as Paladin in "Have Gun—Will Travel."

John Wayne, who for 14 years cherished the dream of bringing this epic to the screen, said of it, shortly after completing the climactic battle scenes, "This is going to shake hell out of people all over the world. And that is what I want most of all to accomplish."

"I want to remind the freedom-loving people of the world that not too long ago there were men and women in America who had the guts to stand up and fight for the things they believed in."

That is the message, and the inspiration, of "The Alamo." It is not subtle, indirect, or oblique.

"The people of the Alamo," said Wayne, "realized that in order to live decently a man must be prepared to die decently. There were no namby-pamby pussy-foots, malingers or skeddaddlers in that brave band. They were rough, lusty, hard-fighting, hard-drinking, hard-loving men who held to one common conviction, that freedom is worth fighting and dying for, and they gave their last drop of blood to be true to it."

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A PLAY MAKES

If you studied these before and after pictures, arranged correspondingly at right and left, you could tell that they are the same persons. Only a cursory glance, however, might lead one to think that on the left are some Big Spring High School students, and, on the right, a group of visiting Orientals.

The difference, of course, is in make-up. A few daubs of greasepaint here, a dash of powder there, a scratch or two with the pencil, and members of Bedford Forrest's High School dramatics class are ready to stage "Teahouse of the August Moon," an hilarious tale of the meeting of East and West on the island of Okinawa immediately following World War II.

It sounds easy but, actually, make-up is an art in itself and requires quite a bit of instruction and practice before one may succeed in making an Occidental look like an Oriental with any degree of realism.

Those students standing across the top of the page are Nelson Clemow, Susan Zack and Jo Dell Hudgins. They portray Okinawan villagers. In the center on either side is Denniece Nicholson who has the lead feminine role, that of Lotus Blossom, the geisha who captures the heart of an American officer. And last but not least at the bottom in East-West poses is James Farris, who will be starred as Sakini, the coniving and enterprising interpreter.

Finishing Up

Andrew Hlavaty, a patient at the VA Hospital, is shown putting a knot in the string on the last bundle of his 1,000 Poppy Stamp letters. Assisting him by stacking bundles already tied are Mrs. Carl Flack, left, of Odessa, and Mrs. H. D. Bruton, Department representative at the hospital for the 19th District.

Oil Field Worker Pitches In To Prepare VA Mailing

By JOSEPH BEYER
The Texas Poppy Stamp program is about ready to get under way, as far as the VA Hospital in Big Spring is concerned. Almost 25,000 letters containing stamps, a letter soliciting donations and a return envelope, have been readied for delivery to the post office.

One of the most diligent workers for the program is Andrew Hlavaty, an oil field worker from Monahan, who has been hospitalized since May 1960. Singlehandedly, he prepared 1,000 envelopes for mailing. He refused to accept credit for another thousand, stating that two others helped him with it.

Hlavaty is a veteran of World War II. He served as a tech sergeant with the 19th Bomber Group, U.S. Air Force, from 1939-45. His duty took him into the South Pacific.

The local VA Hospital is one of three such hospitals which help the American Legion Auxiliary Department of Texas, get funds to carry on its important work. The other two hospitals are in Bonham and Temple.

As a form of therapy, veterans in VA hospitals address envelopes, fold letters and stamps, insert them into envelopes, seal and tie them for delivery to the post office. They receive payment for the work. The letters will be mailed May 1.

Readying the material for mailing was begun here on Jan. 23.

City Fines Total $5,474

The Big Spring Corporation Court processed 471 cases in February and assessed fines totaling $5,474. Nine cases were dismissed or the defendant released; seven were appealed, 10 transferred to the county, and two to the juvenile officer.

Drunkenness led the number of cases, with $3,310 in fines assessed. One was dismissed, five appealed, and five released to the State Hospital.

Fines assessed on cases appealed totaled $603. Ninety-six traffic moving violations brought fines of $610. Leading the list of the 471 charges in addition to drunkenness were: 27 vagrancy, 33 with no driver's license, 32 mechanical traffic violations, 35 parking violations, and eight disturbances.

There were 14,447 overtime parking tickets issued in February, 33 parking violation tickets, and 168 moving violation tickets.

Cash receipts by the police department totaled $3,915; jail lay-outs accounted for $2,823; paid on previous fines, $55; and laid out in jail on previous fines, $220; for a total of $7,013.

A total of $7,220 was collected on pending fines, judge's docket, parking tickets, continued cases, and on warrants.

Palprints Used In Shine Chasing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Palprints as well as fingerprints will be used to catch Tennessee moonshiners.

The technique, so new in Tennessee it hasn't been used, was outlined in an interview by Herman O. Bomar, state supervisor of the federal alcohol and tobacco tax unit.

Bomar explained that palprints are frequently found on moonshine containers where legible fingerprints are not. The palprints are lifted, then compared with those of the person arrested.

If they match, Bomar said, "this is indisputable evidence that the man was at the scene of the crime."

Police Consider Tougher Policy Regarding Dogs

By M. A. WEBB
Big Spring has a dog ordinance. Big Spring also has dogs. Big Spring also has a police department which says it may take a look at more rigid enforcement of the dog ordinance if some owners persist in letting their animals run at large, which is a direct violation of the ordinance.

"We have tried to soft pedal the ordinance as much as possible," Chief Jay Banks said. "But we cannot ignore the protests of people who call us and say dogs are becoming nuisances in some instances."

98 CALLS
A check of police activities for February showed 98 dog calls. Only 17 of these were for picking up dead dogs, some of which were struck by automobiles.

A breakdown of the calls answered by police show the following, in addition to dead dogs: trouble with dogs 21, dogs biting people 6, nuisances 5, strays 29, sick 10, poisoned 3, lost 2, rabid 2, and barking 3.

The city ordinance states: "It shall be unlawful for the owner or keeper of any dog within the limits of the City of Big Spring to permit such dog to run at large... regardless of whether or not such a dog has been vaccinated for rabies or whether or not such dog has been issued a license tag under the provision of this ordinance, provided however, that if said dog has been issued a license tag it shall not be unlawful for the owner or keeper... to take such dog with him if the dog is kept at all times in the presence and view of the owner, but such dog must not be out of the sight and control of the owner or keeper. Any person permitting a dog to run at large within the limits of the City of Big Spring in violation of this section of the ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not to exceed one hundred dollars."

Thinks Atom May Bring Peace

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Willard F. Libby, says one of the first great peaceful benefits of atomic energy may be peace itself.

"The military is getting so efficient that it may well force peace, for it is developing war into a matter of total annihilation," Dr. Libby said during a lecture at the University of Utah.

He said the destructive power of nuclear weapons may force the nations of the world to reach peaceable agreements to prevent their own annihilation.

Dr. Libby is a former member of the Atomic Energy Commission and won the 1960 Nobel prize in chemistry. He is a professor at UCLA.
