Mac, JFK Plot Laos Peace Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan focused their allied policy charting on the crisis in Southeast Asia today, planning particularly for negotiations with Russia and Red China on a permanent settlement in Laos.

While the two leaders worked separately at the White House and the British Embassy, their foreign policy chiefs met at the State Department to review the progress of the British-American talks so far and get ready for the final rounds this afternoon and Saturday morning.

At a Potomac River dock the 92-foot presidential cabin cruiser was made ready for this afternoon's Kennedy-Macmillan meeting. The two men and their advisers were scheduled to board the cruiser "Honey Fitz" in mid-afternoon and spend two to three hours conferring on the Laos crisis, the Communist threat in south Viet Nam, nuclear tests, disarmament and other issues in the cold war conflict between the Communist bloc and the Western Powers.

The two Western leaders, in the second day of their Washington conference, were reported optimistic about Soviet agreement to a guaranteed cease-fire in the Laotian civil war.

They were expected to agree that once the fighting ends they should focus their efforts on unifying and neutralizing Laos, seeking that objective in a forthcoming international conference on the future of the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Kennedy and Macmillan, in fact were described as substantially agreed in their positions on a wide range of world problems—with one notable exception in the case of United Nations membership for Red China.

TROUBLE
Their differences on this point could lead to trouble between the United States and Britain at next fall's meeting of the U.N. General Assembly. But the President and prime minister indicated a determination to do everything possible to minimize the split.

They discussed the Red China issue at the White House Wednesday in a series of meetings which began at 11 a.m. and continued until after 6 p.m. U.S. and British officials subsequently described the consultation as most valuable and useful in providing a basis for strengthening allied cooperation in many fields, despite the inability of either Kennedy or Macmillan to do anything to narrow the differences on Red China.

The second day of British-American talks on worldwide problems got under way today with a forenoon meeting between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Minister Lord Home.

Macmillan spent the morning at the British Embassy attending to British government business, aides said.

The prime minister attended a Congressional luncheon before resuming his meeting with President Kennedy—this time aboard a yacht on the Potomac River. Lord Home and top aides went to the State Department at 11 a.m. for their session with American officials.

Sitting in on this meeting were British Ambassador Harold Caccia, permanent foreign undersecretary Sir Frederick Hoyer Miller and others.

Assisting Rusk were Undersecretary Chester Bowles, Ambassador to London David Bruce, State Department policy planner George McGhee and John M. Steeves, acting assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs.

RIVER TRIP
Kennedy arranged to take the prime minister on a late afternoon trip down the Potomac River aboard a 92-foot presidential motor cruiser which he has named "Honey Fitz" after his maternal grandfather.

The White House said the "Honey Fitz" would be accompanied by a PT boat, a small speedy naval command vessel, for security reasons. The Potomac cruise was scheduled to end between 6 and 8 p.m., Macmillan being due for dinner at the British Embassy at the latter hour.

THIS CAT WASN'T COOL

Somewhere on cloud No. 9 there is a Persian cat whose charred remains testify that this line lives business is a bunch of baloney.

At 2:21 a.m. the cat made contact at the Texas Electric Service Station on the north edge of Coahoma. The resulting fireworks were so spectacular that Highway Patrolman Jimmy Parks, chasing a speeder at Iatan, 10 miles away, hurried to Coahoma to investigate.

At 4 a.m. TESCO linemen restored electric service to Coahoma and vicinity. The cat, or what was left, was beyond restoration.

Birdwell Lane Work Begins

Birdwell Lane, between East 4th, and the alley between Yale and Purdue Avenues, is being prepared for new curb and gutter and pavement this week. Utilities are being moved along the right of way where a full 60-foot street will greet car drivers in a short time.

Dirt work for laying curb and gutter started Tuesday. A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, said Thursday.

"This was one of the worst sections of street in the city," he said. "The work will come under the assessment paving program being carried on in the city, and will probably be the last gap in the 1960-61 program."

Curb and gutter had been laid before on the strip from the alley between Yale and Purdue to Alabama.

Katanga Folks In Economic War On U.N.

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—The Katanga government and black and white residents of Elisabethville kept up an economic war today against United Nations troops despite President Moise Tshombe's truce with the U.N. command.

All business places, including garages and cafes, still refused to serve U.N. personnel.

The chief U.N. spokesman in Katanga, Michel Tombelaine, was ejected from the downtown hotel Wednesday night by the hotel manager and a Belgian police officer as a crowd of whites jeered.

The Belgian officer and Marcel Tignee, Belgian adviser to Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo, told Tombelaine that Tshombe's order to impose economic sanctions on U.N. troops had not been rescinded.

A U.N. spokesman said Wednesday that after a conference with U.N. officials, Tshombe had agreed that "sanctions would be suppressed, but not lifted." The spokesman called this terminology a face-saving device by the president. But neither the Katanga radio nor local newspapers made any mention of Tshombe's assurance.

The U.N. military commander in the Congo, Gen. Sean McKeown of Ireland, warned Tshombe during the two-hour conference he would reinforce his garrison in Elisabethville with Indian troops if there was repetition of Tuesday's mob violence against the U.N. force. Tshombe violently opposes use of Indians in Katanga.

About 300 Irish troops poured into Elisabethville Airport Wednesday to relieve the Swedish garrison that was attacked Tuesday. There was no resistance to the arrival, and another 600 Irish were expected today.

Under the agreement with Tshombe, the Irish and Katanga police will guard the airport jointly.

Swedish troops early Tuesday thwarted an attempt by a small Katanga army detachment to take full control of the airfield, which was controlled jointly by the U.N. and Katanga police. Enraged, Tshombe ordered "general sabotage" against U.N. personnel, cut off the electricity and water at U.N. headquarters, and whipped up a mob march on the airport.

Thousands of Africans stoned the airport building, but Katanga army troops kept them from getting at the Swedish troops inside. Tshombe meanwhile had agreed with U.N. officials that the airport should continue under joint control.

City Managers Meet Today

Over 35 have indicated they would attend the West Texas City Managers meeting at the Cosden Country Club in Big Spring today.

Registration began at 11 a.m. and a luncheon was served to the managers, their wives, Big Spring city commissioners, department heads, and guests, at noon. Mayor Lee Rogers, Big Spring, welcomed the visitors, and W. E. Routh, Odessa city manager and president of the West Texas group, responded.

Following the luncheon the "visiting ladies were invited to the home of City Manager A. K. Steinheimer for an afternoon of games, conversation, or naps.

Dan Krause, senior vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corp., spoke at 2 p.m. on industry and municipalities. Chief of Police E. J. Banks, at 2:45 p.m. was to show a film on "X-Emergency."

The managers will hold their business meeting from 3 to 4 p.m., with President Routh presiding.

County To Call For Road Bids

Howard County Commissioners Court Thursday morning authorized the road and bridge department to advertise for bids to pave nine miles of Howard County roads.

The bids will be sought at the earliest possible date. Roads to be paved are two miles on Lover's Lane; one mile north on Birdwell Lane; two and one-half miles on the Sinclair road, (five and a half miles east of Coahoma); one-half mile near the new Coahoma high school and three miles on the Vincent road north from the Snyder highway.

Bids will also be sought to seal coat six miles of additional county road. The sealcoat treatment is for two and one-half miles on the road past Midway school; two miles on the Vincent road; two miles on the Fairview road east from U. S. 87.

The Court also began the canvass of the votes cast in Tuesday's election.

House Passes Small Loan Regulation Bill

Top Interest Rates Are Set

AUSTIN (AP)—The House passed 144-0 and sent to the Senate today Rep. Criss Cole's bill to regulate the small loan industry and setting maximum interest rates on loans under $3,000.

The interest rates set by the bill range from 40 per cent per year on loans under $100 to 11 per cent on loans over $3,000. Lenders would have to be licensed by the state.

The bill was the House's response to the mandate of the voters last November.

Juror Reveals Reason For Finch Verdict

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A woman juror at the third Finch murder trial revealed today what she claimed was the jury's reason for convicting the defendants:

"I would say that Dr. Finch and Carole were their own worst witnesses and convicted themselves," Mildred R. Brown told the Los Angeles Examiner.

"It was the doctor's story of how the shooting occurred that led to the conviction. We didn't believe Carole's version either."

Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 43, and his erstwhile mistress, Carole Tregoli, 24, were convicted of murder and conspiracy 10 days ago—after two previous juries had deadlocked—and the same jury of 10 men and 3 women Wednesday decreed life imprisonment for both. The couple could have been sent to the gas chamber for the July 18, 1959, fatal shooting of the socialist surgeon's wife, Barbara Jean Finch, 36.

Mrs. Brown, who faintly resembles the slain woman, said she portrayed Mrs. Finch as one of the male jurors—approximately the same height, 5 feet 10, as the doctor—played Finch's role.

Mrs. Brown said the jurors reached this conclusion: If Dr. Finch had accidentally shot his wife while trying to throw the gun away, the bullet would have hit Mrs. Finch below the waist instead of in the back.

The surgeon contended he and Carole went to see Mrs. Finch about a divorce, that she pulled a gun and was killed when he tried to wrest it from her. The weapon has never been found.

2 Extra Days For Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's taxpayers will get two extra days this year, until April 17, to file their federal income tax returns.

Because the normal April 15 deadline falls on a Saturday, the law provides for an automatic extension to the following Monday.

Whenever a federal tax deadline falls on a Saturday, Sunday or holiday, it is extended to the next day which is not in this category.

Catholic Attorney Lists Legal School Aid Methods

NEW YORK (AP)—The attorney for the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York proposes four methods by which students of parochial and private schools might be granted federal aid to education benefits without violating the Constitution.

The suggestions were made by Lawrence X. Cusack, who also is editor of the Fordham University Law Reviews.

He presented his views, on behalf of Francis Cardinal Spellman in a statement filed in Washington with the House Committee on Education and Labor.

President Kennedy excluded aid to parochial schools from his program of aid to education.

Cusack's suggestions were: 1. To make a distinction, as did President Kennedy in a news conference March 1, between aid to the child and aid to the school. By this means, said Cusack, direct benefits could be granted to all school children, including those attending church-related schools. Various possibilities were cited as providing pupils with nonreligious textbooks and supplies, and to make available to them certain nonreligious educational services.

2. Some form of grant or benefit for parents of all school children, such as reimbursement for

City Fire Marshal A. D. Meador is framed by what was left of a television set, after fire gutted the house occupied by Carroll Smith, 207 W. 8th, late Wednesday. Meador said the house and contents were a total loss.

Smith was sleeping when the fire started and awakened barely in time to escape the flames. Cause of the fire was not announced.

Supreme Court To Hear Local School Case May 3

Just one day less than a year from the time the order annexing Center Point and Gay Hill Common School Districts to Big Spring Independent School District was issued, the matter will be heard before the Supreme Court of Texas.

The high court has agreed to hear arguments on jurisdiction in the annexation matter on May 3. It was on May 4, 1960 that the Howard County Board of School Trustees issued its order annexing the two common schools to the Big Spring district.

The Supreme Court has agreed it will hear the county board argument on Points 1, 4 and 5 of the six points of error on which the county board appealed from the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals ruling.

The district court here, held with the county board that the course of appeal by the common schools was before the commissioner of education. It was on this opinion the schools appealed to the appeals court at Eastland.

Lyndon Says NATO Needs Effective Atom Capability

PARIS (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization needs an effective nuclear capability but the building up of the alliance's non-nuclear forces is a "high priority task."

In a speech marking the 10th anniversary of the founding of NATO military headquarters here Johnson served notice that the Kennedy administration intends to press first for greater conventional forces to beef up the alliance.

Johnson added that "an effective NATO nuclear capability is also needed to achieve our goal and the United States stands ready to consult with all members of the alliance on the best ways and means of maintaining this capability in the future."

Informants say that the Kennedy administration has shown no enthusiasm for any plan to give atomic weapons to NATO under any kind of complicated multi-national control. At present all the NATO nuclear arms are under U.S. control only, or under joint two-power control as in the case of U.S. rocket bases in Britain.

Johnson also called on America's European allies to step up political and economic integration and pledged the full support of the United States and President Kennedy in strengthening the Atlantic community.

The vice president, who is on his way home from Senegal's independence celebrations, stopped in Geneva and conferred with Arthur H. Dean, the U.S. delegate to the U.S.-British-Soviet negotiations for a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

The Eastland Court, on Nov. 11, 1960, acting on an appeal from the 11th District Court by the common school district, reversed the local court and remanded the cause for trial here, on its merits. The county board thereupon set up six points of error in the ruling of the appeals court and submitted the matter to the Supreme Court with a petition for a writ of error.

The high court, after checking the brief of the county board, agreed to hear argument on three of the six points.

The district court here, held with the county board that the course of appeal by the common schools was before the commissioner of education. It was on this opinion the schools appealed to the appeals court at Eastland.

Should the high court so act in this hearing, it would send the two common schools before the commissioner of education with their appeal from the action of the county board. If the ruling of the appeals court is upheld, the trial of the protest against the annexation order would be before the local district court.

Great Solar Wind Found

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A space probe sent aloft from Cape Canaveral, Fla., last week revealed the existence of a great solar wind sweeping outward from the sun at millions of miles per hour.

This was disclosed Wednesday by Massachusetts Institute of Technology scientists who conducted the experiment.

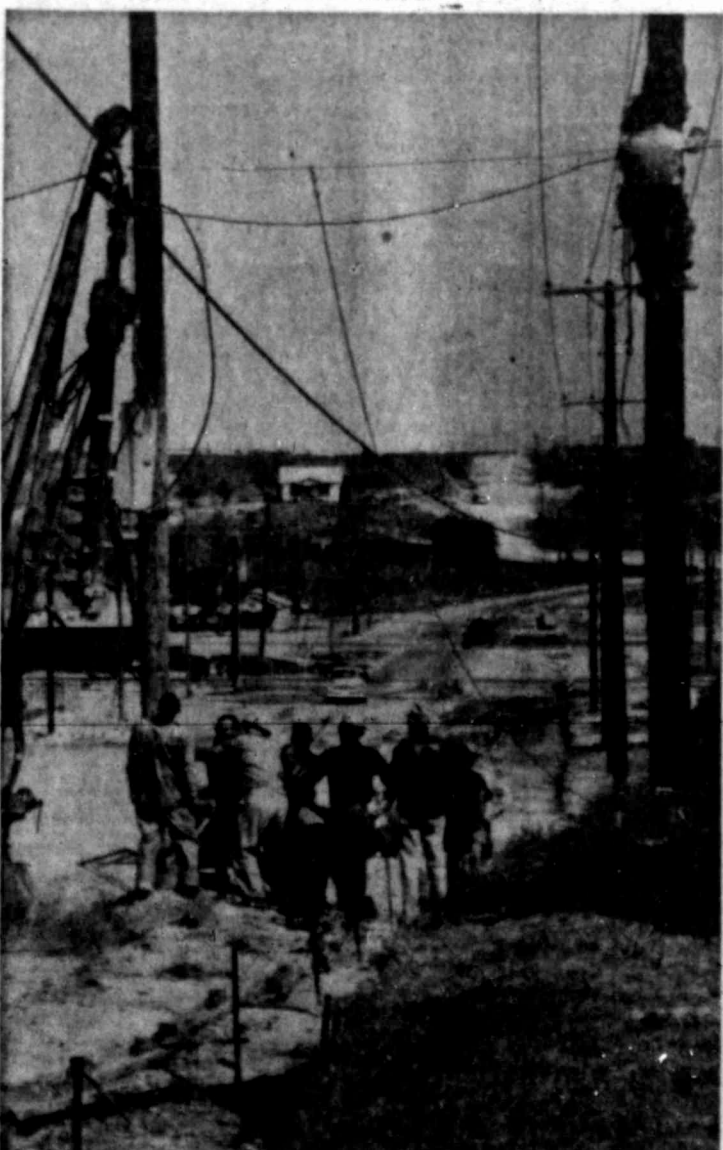

The space probe, fired by a Thor-Delta rocket, was described as a short cylinder with a tapering tail four feet long. Several antennas extended from the main section.

In the surface of the probe a special cup was installed. When electrons and protons streamed through the cup opening in outer space they were converted into electrical signals transmitted to earth.

IT JUST ALMOST DID

It didn't but it almost did. Freeze on Wednesday night, that is. Officially the temperature didn't get below 34 degrees and only the faintest trace of moisture developed.

The chilly 34, just two degrees above freezing, was in sharp contrast with the sizzling summery 96 degree weather which prevailed on Tuesday.

Moving Utilities

Workmen were busy moving utility poles from right of way for the new paving program on Birdwell Lane. The crews here are moving telephone poles. Texas Electric Service Co. had already moved the power lines, and the gas and water lines were moved earlier.

"The Calls Got Annoying"
It was a low-cost want ad in The Herald: "1955 Plymouth 4-door, 6-cylinder. Standard shift. Excellent condition, gas mileage and tires. A. 3-2439."
The advertiser reported: "We got so many calls it got annoying, and we couldn't get the ad out of the paper soon enough."

Travellers Visit Europe On Last Leg Of Journey

BY JOE PICKLE (Last of a series)

Ships officers figured steering passengers either couldn't afford or shouldn't be taking side tours, and it was only by raising a hue and cry that Terry Stanley and Wade Simpson were able, with seven others, to arrange for a car trip from Port Said.

On the way up the Red Sea, they had come within swimming distance of Arabia and could see the people along the shore. Usually, they never got to visit, so it was a consolation to go over the desert in the other direction to Cairo. They found this to be one of, if not the most, beautiful cities they saw. The great pyramids, and sphinx, were barely outside the city limits, and like good tourists they rode around them on a camel. They marveled how ancient Egyptians, with only crude tools, had built the huge pyramids out of huge blocks of stone, each weighing multiplied tons. Crawling up a passageway so tiny they had to walk backward to get out of it, they came to an interior tomb faced by huge blocks of ornate marble. Holes through the pyramids brought in perfect ventilation.

EITHER WAY

The Egyptians were demonstrative, fussy, even belligerent toward each other. They professed to be spoiling for a fight with Israel.

"With the United States helping us, we'll win easily."

But what if the U.S. helped Israel defend herself? They shrugged: "In that case, Russia will help us."

Getting back to Port Said, they couldn't board their ship and piled up in a small customs shack while the canal ahead had to be cleared of a burning freighter. They steamed on hard by Cyprus, Sardinia, Corsica, where they could see an active volcano in the distance, then to Marseilles, France.

They put in two days in this striking city, and for a time it seemed they might have to stay longer. They had been locked in the building where they stayed overnight and had to break out. After a visit to the Riviera they hitchhiked toward Spain. At dark and no the road, they were turning to go back to bed down in a crevice beneath a railroad trestle when a professor drove by, spotted them and arranged for lodgings.

The next evening, near the Spanish border and low on funds, they asked police to stay in the jail. Instead they were referred to a Catholic mission, where they were screened carefully and finally were accepted with human driftwood to spend the night, being rousted out early the next morning.

FRESH FAME

In Barcelona, they obtained cheap accommodations and were having a fine time. They bumped into an Associated Press correspondent who wrote a story about them being rodeo stars (part of it got on the wires in the U.S.) and won considerable fame. A motorist picked them up, declaring, "I heard about you on the radio just a minute ago."

As he whisked them around and over the mountains, slamming on brakes, passing on blind hills, they understood why Spain has the highest accident and mortality rate on highways of any nation in the world. After two wonderful days in Madrid they never did hitch back to Nice, France, with a priest who drove so wildly that they all surely would have perished except for divine protection surrounding the cloth.

Monte Carlo brought them several distinctions. Displaying all their clippings, they finally got in for an audience with the princess (Grace Kelley) and discovered she was away on a two-day trip, so they left her a note. At the casino, they were informed they could not come in without formal attire.

Despite vigorous objections, they finally were ushered out. With no place to stay, they went to the jail (which they found out later is reputed to be the best in the world) and asked for lodging. Perplexed, the jailers held a consultation and finally obliged. Terry had twin beds in his cell and Wade had an adjoining bath.

ON TO ITALY

Moving on to Cannes, they watched the odd characters at the beach. The boys and girls, the famous "Hippodrome" were both fascinating and amusing. In a gentlemen's race, where owners must ride their own mounts, three riders fell off.

Hastening to Milan, Italy they contacted a girl Wade had known and she sent her boyfriend to pick them up. He was a Russian lad who spoke seven languages, not counting English, French and Russian (he already knew these). He proved a perfect guide, and his family gracious hosts. In Rome, by luck, they had an audience with Pope John and he blessed some religious articles, which they brought back for Catholic friends.

They stayed in a palace converted into a hotel and saw many of the historic spots. Soon they went to Venice, rode in a gondola, saw the glass works and lace makers. They had to cut Yugoslavia out of their plans for lack of time.

Returning to Milan for their baggage, they went to Genoa to meet a friend with a bus, but missed connections. So they crossed into Switzerland and Geneva, going to Mount Blanc to ride the world's highest ski lift and try their hands at ice skating. As they had done in many places, they contacted the YMCA, for Wade knew his way around from having attended an international Y fellowship a few years ago.

TOO EXPENSIVE?

Paris they brushed off quickly ("too expensive") with a visit to some night clubs, the Louvre, Versailles, Eiffel Tower, etc.

In Brussels, they found that Belgians had established a Texas city out of remnants of a rodeo at the World's Fair, and they got to hear some good old western music. A friend took them in tow, conducted them on a tour of Waterloo and over Brussels.

Walking down the streets of Amsterdam, Holland, a few days later they heard a voice booming: "Hey Wade! Hey Terry!"

Turning, they saw Jim McCrary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvis McCrary and one of their former schoolmates. He is in service and went searching when friends asked him if he had seen the "two Texans."

LIKE A PAINTING

They had never seen a more beautiful and picturesque country than Holland with its painted, trim fields, sleek cattle scrubbed within an inch of their lives and sheep that looked like pictures.

March was rushing on and Wade had to be back in the States for an April 1 date with the Air Force Reserve, so they pressed on to London, spending four days visiting historic sites and viewing the countryside. Then they made a swing to Edinburgh, where they found the "grandest people you ever saw," and a country of haunting beauty.

It was a great thrill, but nothing like the one that awaited them some five days later when Miss Liberty loomed ahead in New York harbor, and still later when Cosden refinery and then Big Spring hove into sight.

Their families and friends were on hand, and Mrs. Simpson reciprocated for their flowery lei they had given her in Hawaii. She looped the pieces of rope over their heads and proclaimed: "West Texas leis." It was more beautiful than blossoms.

DERBY BOY'S HORNED TOAD DIES, HE MAY GET ANOTHER

Steve Moore, who lives on Route 1, Jamestown, N.C., was one of the youngsters who participated in the 1960 Soap Box Derby at Akron, O. And while in Akron, he was presented with a real live Texas horned toad by Mike Smith, Big Spring entry in the Derby.

Now Steve writes to the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It seems that he cherished that horned toad and it lived and thrived from August 1960 until March 25. Then, for no reason, Steve reports it up and died.

Steve said he had become very fond of his unique pet (unique in North Carolina) and is grieved over its demise. He would like very much to have another horned toad, he writes, and asks if something can be done about it.

The Big Spring Jaycees were the ones who boxed up the several hundred horned frogs and turned them over to young Smith to distribute at Akron.

The season for the frogs is not yet at hand but it is very probable that when the warm weather brings the critters out, the Jaycees will be shipping Steve a replacement.

Downpours Drench Coast Areas, Cold Air Moves In

By The Associated Press

Torrential downpours drenched parts of South Texas near the coast Thursday and cold air billowed across the state behind a cold front which brought up to 3 1/2 inches of snow in the Panhandle.

The late norther also sent a tornado dancing haphazardly over an open stretch of the lower Rio Grande Valley late Wednesday.

At Harlingen Air Force Base in South Texas, 4 1/2 inches of rain fell within six hours. Brownsville measured 3 inches and more than one inch dampened the Corpus Christi and Palacios areas.

Another hard rain contributed to an auto accident which killed three youths Wednesday night at Schulenburg in South Texas. Their car skidded and smashed into a culvert during the storm. Jimmie Hajovski Jr. of Schulenburg and Lawrence Bartosh and Herbert Zimmerman Jr. of Weimar, all 16, died in the crash.

W. A. Stafford of La Joya sighted the tornado funnel north of Sullivan City in the west edge of Hidalgo County. It did not touch ground. Light hail pelted the McAllen area as showers moistened the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Is There Error In All Churches?

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, West Highway 26, P. O. Box 1282.

Having done a little investigating, some have concluded that every church is wrong in something, and that further investigation is useless.

What about this?

First there is the plan, or the principles for which the church stands. When a church stands for the things taught in the Bible, its plan is perfect.

But the people who make up the church will fail to live up to the plan perfectly. The plan is divine, and therefore perfect; but the people are human, and therefore imperfect.

When a church stands for the divine plan, we can be affiliated with that church without aiding and abetting the error in the human element. Such error does not represent the church.

But if we affiliate with a church that stands for error, then we affiliate with error. "Neither be partaker of other men's sins; keep thyself pure" (1 Tim. 5:22).

"Prove all things; hold fast that which is good." (1 Thess. 5:21.) This must be possible, or it would not be commanded.

If you can find the church of Christ in error in organization, name, worship or teaching, we would like to know about it. Welcome to our mid-week worship and sermon tonight, 7:30.

DEAR ABBY

Some People Have No Pride

DEAR ABBY: First, let me explain our circumstances. We are not rich, but we work steady and save our money. We have some relatives (on my husband's side) who spend money faster than they make it. They owe everybody in town. They live out of the state, thank goodness. A few months ago they asked us for a "loan." We told them no. We have had our lesson with lending them money. It took them nine years to pay back $300. Ever since that time we have been getting boxes filled with their old worn-out clothes and shoes. They are nothing but rags and junk. Little notes are enclosed, "Maybe you can use these." I think this is going too far. How would you handle this?

INSULTED: Express your feeling to your relatives. Then express the boxes back to them (collect) if they send any more.

DEAR ABBY: About two months ago our daughter told us she was going to marry the young man she had been going with. She said they intend to marry "some time this fall" in our church. The young man has been a visitor in our home many times, but he has never spoken to either me or my wife about marrying our daughter. Had the young man asked, we would have given our approval, but we feel he should have asked anyway. Our daughter claims that the formality of asking the parents "for their daughter's hand" is an old-fashioned custom that has been done away with. Is this so?

THE PARENTS: The custom is very much alive. Unless the young man wants to start down the aisle on the "wrong foot," he had better ask the parents for their "daughter's hand."

DEAR ABBY: I can't seem to please my husband. He brags about everybody else's cooking but mine, and I try so hard to fix things the way he likes them. He never takes me out in company with him. I admit I don't dress up around the house, but I dress up when I go places. I have the hardest time getting him to introduce me to his friends. I still don't know half his family. I am only 35 and he is 60. Do you think he is ashamed of me?

LONELY: No. He is probably ashamed of himself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STYLE CONSCIOUS": Yes, the skirts are shorter again this spring. But if the girls wear them any shorter, the boys will be looking longer!

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cuba Mistreats U.S. Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government has accused Cuba's Castro regime of mistreating U.S. citizens held in Cuban jails. The State Department said officials are not giving enough food and medicine to the Americans—and also are stopping U.S. gift foods and medicines from reaching the prisoners. About 22 U.S. citizens are reported to be in Cuban prisons under various sentences. The jails are already overcrowded with Cubans imprisoned by the pro-Communist Castro government. State Department press officer Joseph Resop said he does not know whether the Americans are getting worse treatment than the others, or whether their food supply had been cut to the point of starvation.

GOP Opposes Laos Coalition

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Republican congressional leaders today renewed their warning against a coalition government for Laos in the face of a Democrat's protest they are conducting 'political guerrilla warfare' against efforts to solve the crisis."

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said after a GOP leadership meeting that Republicans are concerned that a coalition might "wind up with a Communist takeover of Laos."

But both Halleck and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the meeting agreed not to make a formal written statement, to avoid embarrassment to President Kennedy while he is negotiating with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said earlier that GOP attempts to define a coalition government as one necessarily dominated by Communists amounts to "emotional misrepresentation."

"The critical international situation in Laos should not be exploited for partisan advantage," Humphrey, the assistant Democratic leader and a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., GOP national chairman, told a party fund-raising dinner in Luray, Va., Wednesday night that President Kennedy should "repudiate" a suggestion by his roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, that the only way to make Laos a neutral nation would be to establish a coalition government.

OIL REPORT

Shell Project Has Good Flows

Shell Oil Corp. No. 1 E. Chriesman, a Glasscock County prospect, kicked off with good oil flows after being acidized with 45,000 gallons.

Two 24-hour tests flowed 181 barrels through a half-inch choke. The operator is still testing.

Five other projects were completed in Borden, Garza, Howard and Martin counties.

In Borden County, General American Oil Co. of Texas No. 2-64 Miller pumped 167.88 barrels on potential giving the Gordon Simpson (Strawn) field its fifth well.

Hill and Meeker No. 1-55 Connell, a Garza County Arlene (San Andres) silt, pumped 88 barrels on initial potential.

Howard County got another Iatan-East Howard when Bond Oil Corp. No. 8 C. Demmon pumped 61.53 barrels on initial potential.

Texas completed two wells in the Mabee field, No. 14-A Mabee (Strawn) NCT-4, pumped 88 barrels on initial potential. No. 19-A J. E. Mabee, NCT-1, an old well drilled deeper, pumped 188 barrels on initial potential.

Borden

General American Oil Co. of Texas No. 3-44 Miller pumped 167.88 barrels of 40.1 gravity oil through perforations between 7,810 and 7,840 feet on initial potential. Gas-oil ratio was 460-1. The three-quarter mile southwest outpost to the Gordon Simpson (Strawn) field was drilled to 8,292 feet and seven inch casing was set at 8,279 feet. It was acidized with 800 gallons. Location is 2,970 feet from the north and 1,750 feet from the west lines of section 64-6, H&GN survey. It is the fifth well in the field.

Crockett

Cosden No. 2 Miller is making hole below 9,000 feet in lime. The site is 900 feet from the north and 600 feet from the west lines of section 2-4, TCRR survey.

Dawson

Amerada No. 1 Dunlop has bottomed at 11,705 feet and ran 5 1/2 inch casing to 11,670 feet. The operator is waiting on cement to set before testing the Fusselman. The venture is 657 feet from the north and 644 feet from the east lines of section 22-36-5n, T&P survey.

Forest No. 1 Hatch is drilling below 11,019 feet. The prospect is C SE SW, section 4-2, D. L. Cunningham survey.

Texas National No. 1 Barron is digging in lime and sand below 7,296 feet. The site is 467 feet from the south and west lines of section 7-6-M, EL&RR survey.

Garza

Hill and Meeker No. 1-55 Connell pumped 68 barrels of 36.4 gravity oil with eight per cent water on initial potential. Production was through perforations, between 2,900-902 feet, after acidization with 250 gallons and fracturing with 1,500 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 440-1. From an elevation of

The regular monthly meeting of the Lone Star district of Boy Scouts will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at Cosden Country Club. Among other things, plans will be made for attending the Region IX meeting in Houston on April 14-15. R. L. Tollett, district chairman, is the council attendance chairman for the southwestern gathering of scouts. At the meeting this evening, there also will be a discussion of spring and summer plans.

Challenges Victory Claim

NEW YORK (AP)—Texas financier Clint D. Murchison challenges the victory claim of Allan P. Kirby, chairman of the Allegheny Corp., in a struggle for control of the holding company, which has assets of $2 billion.

The forces led by Kirby say a million-share buying surge Tuesday helped set a 32-year stock buying record and put them on top. Allegheny securities, with a market value of about $17 million, changed hands in hectic trading.

On its great volume Tuesday, Allegheny went up 25 cents to $14.13. Trading in Allegheny dropped sharply Wednesday and its price declined 50 cents.

Charles T. Ireland Jr., Allegheny president, Kirby ally, said Wednesday that company group holdings have accumulated to an equivalent of 40 per cent of the potential control vote. Ireland added that the Murchison group should throw in the sponge.

Murchison commented Wednesday: "Kirby's proxy fight is far from over. The independent group of Allegheny stockholders will play an even more important role at the annual meeting May 1." Murchison said.

"Kirby's desperate, last-minute buying should help to convince these stockholders who are already not convinced that Kirby apparently believes that he must make up in stock purchases what we have pointed out he lacks in the way of a proxy fight."

The Allegheny firm controls, among other assets, the $2.5-billion New York Central Railroad and the $3.4-billion investment company, Investors Diversified Services, Inc.

Sharecroppers Win Round

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals today ordered U.S. Dist. Judge Marion S. Boyd of Memphis, Tenn., to grant a preliminary injunction to prevent eviction of several hundred Negro sharecroppers from their rented land in Haywood County, Tennessee.

The U.S. Department of Justice's civil rights division had asked for the injunction on the grounds landowners were refusing to renew contracts with the sharecroppers because the Negroes registered to vote in the 1960 election.

The Court of Appeals previously had issued a temporary restraining order to prevent termination of the contracts.

In its order today it ordered the case back to the District Court in Memphis with instructions for Judge Boyd to issue the injunction. Judge Boyd previously had refused to issue the order on the grounds he could not interfere with private contracts.

Under the contracts, the sharecroppers farm the land and receive a share of the crops for payment.

The landowners had said contracts were not renewed because of a reduction in cotton crop acreage and mechanization of farms.

Reasons Cited In GOP Showing

HOUSTON (AP)—Tad Smith, state Republican chairman (from El Paso, claims independents and conservatives were responsible for the lead obtained by John Tower in the Senate election.

"We consider this a symptom of the fact the Republican party best represents the principles of responsible, conservative people all over the state," Smith said at state Republican headquarters.

Smith said a vigorous runoff campaign is being mapped for Tower.

Meet Postponed

The meeting of the executive committee of the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteers Council, scheduled originally for this evening, has been postponed. D. M. McKinney, chairman, said that the new time would be 5:13 p.m. on April 20 in the office of Dr. Preston Harrison at the hospital.

Dag In Standing Offer To Resign

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold left his fate in the hands of the United Nations General Assembly today with a standing offer to resign, but there seemed no prospect that a majority of the members would accept.

Hammarskjold made his show-down move during the assembly's Congo debate Wednesday in an obvious maneuver to take the sting out of repeated Soviet bloc demands that he step down. Judging from the applause he received at the close of his unscheduled address, most delegates want him to stay on.

Hammarskjold, who has been under mounting Communist attack since Soviet Premier Khrushchev demanded his resignation last fall, stood by his previous vow not to yield to the Red demand unless the assembly asks him to quit.

The U.N. executive also made clear he would consider silence from the assembly to mean he should remain in office.

He told the delegates: "I do not consider that I am entitled to present the General Assembly with a fait accompli by resigning because I have been requested to do so by a big power and its like-minded supporters."

"On the other hand I regard the will of the General Assembly in this respect as my law, and the General Assembly may thus consider itself as seized with a standing offer of resignation were it to find it to be in the interest of the organization that I leave."

But, he added, if "the assembly does not ask for his resignation, he must conclude that 'you neither expect me to proceed on the basis of that offer, nor desire in any other way to avail yourselves of the possibility it opens.'"

Hammarskjold's term of office does not expire until April 1963.

Elsewhere in the U.N., Yugoslavia and 14 Asian-African nations proposed that the General Assembly threaten Belgium with punitive action if she does not pull all Belgian military men and political advisers out of the Congo within three weeks.

Under the U.N. Charter the punitive action could take the form of economic boycott, diplomatic quarantine or even force.

The proposal was submitted despite the fact that the U.N. announced earlier Wednesday Belgium had agreed to carry out a Feb. 21 resolution of the Security Council calling for immediate withdrawal of Belgian military and political personnel from the Congo.

The Belgian government made clear once again, however, that it referred only to Belgians under its immediate control and not to the chief targets of the new proposal: The Belgian officers and political advisers Katanga President Moise Tshombe has hired.

ZOA To Honor Jim Zack Here

Jim Zack, veteran Big Spring businessman, will be honored here next week for his service to Jewish and non-Jewish causes.

Dr. Marcus Levenson, Houston national vice president of the Zionist Organization of America, and Sol Glickman, Wichita Falls, state ZOA president, will be here for presentation of a plaque to Zack. This will mark the first time that such a presentation has taken place outside of a state gathering.

Dr. Levenson and Glickman said that the event was being tied in with the 13th Bar Mitzvah year, or marking the 13th anniversary of the founding of the nation of Israel.

The recognition is not only for Zack's outstanding contribution to ZOA, but for his part in state organization and community activities.

A brief program is planned in connection with the presentation at a dinner set for 7 p.m. Wednesday at Cosden Country Club.

Undermined

The Al Crump family of Nashville, Tenn., woke to thundering sounds, looked outside and found 30 feet of their Cumberland riverbank front yard gone and their house teetering. The landslide is believed caused by paddlewheel action of a ferry which lands near the house. A house-moving company is attempting to pull the house to safer ground.

Area Students Gather For Spring IL Contest

Seven schools meet Friday and Saturday in scholastic and athletic competition for the 1960-61 University Interscholastic League Spring Meet in Big Spring.

Represented will be Abilene, Cooper (Abilene), Odessa, Midland, San Angelo, Permian (Odessa) and Big Spring High schools.

Golf matches will begin Friday at 9 a.m. Tennis matches, boys and girls singles, will begin at 1 p.m. and doubles will start at 2:30 p.m. The one-act play presentations are also scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. Friday.

The second round of golf will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday. Semi-final boys and girls doubles tennis matches will also begin at 9 a.m. and at 10:30 a.m. the singles will start.

Track and field events will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will continue during most of Saturday.

Sponsors must also verify all literary entries at that time.

At 10 a.m. there will be drawings for all speaking events, spelling and plain writing, number sense, ready writing, typewriting and the science contest. Since this is the first year of the science contest, points will not be considered in determining winners.

Shorthand contestants and their sponsors will meet at 10 a.m. to determine a starting time for the slide rule contest begins at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Rehearsals for the one-act play are today from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Mrs. Archer Rites Friday

Mrs. Lula Brunson Archer, 81, died this morning at her residence two and one-half miles northwest of Ackerly. She had been in ill health since Jan. 18.

She was born April 3, 1880 in Aberdeen, Miss. and married J. Archer, Dec. 24, 1900, at Waco. They moved to Ackerly in 1923 from Anson. Mrs. Archer was a member of the Ackerly First Baptist Church for 35 years and taught Sunday School classes for 60 years.

One son, Bill, died in 1937. Services will be held Friday at 4 p.m. at the Ackerly First Baptist Church with the Rev. J. D. Mabry, pastor, officiating. Rev. Roy Hanes, pastor of the Ira First Baptist Church, will assist him. Burial will be in the Ackerly Cemetery under the direction of the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Palbearers will be Curtis White, Dolph Raspberry, Tommy Horton, Lonnie Kemp, Jack Bowlin and Lewis Ethridge.

Survivors include her husband, four daughters, Mrs. Lulu Mae Watts, Mrs. Lonnie Coker and Mrs. Lucy Britton, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. Wayne Smith, Lamesa. Two sons, Jack and Harold, both of Ackerly; 16 grandchildren, and 18 great-grandchildren.

Rites Set For Mrs. Choate

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday for Mrs. Cora Zaid Choate, 84, who died Tuesday afternoon in a Hugo, Colo., hospital while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Don Capansky.

She was born Nov. 27, 1876 in Bosque County and married John Melton Choate Oct. 29, 1896 at Menard. They moved to Big Spring in 1920 from Schleicher County.

He was a former assistant police chief here. Mr. Choate died Aug. 17, 1958, and a son, George Choate, who was district clerk, died Sept. 9, 1956.

Mrs. Choate was an active member of the First Methodist Church here. An industrious woman she once operated the historic Stewart Hotel.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church, officiated by Rev. DeWitt Seago, pastor. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Don Capansky, Hugo, Colo.; Mrs. Herman Haygood, Falls Church, Va.; and Mrs. Robert Hill, Big Spring; four sons, Melvin, Curtis and Harold, all of Big Spring, and Reuben, Phoenix, Ariz.; and a sister, Mrs. C. E. Talbot, Big Spring.

There are three step-brothers, Dee Gibbs, Junction, Mo.; E. Gibbs, Menard; and Dave Gibbs, Kerrville; a step-sister, Mrs. Cloy Woods, Brownwood; 19 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

mostly of selective sales taxes. The hearing was set originally for Wednesday night but was postponed after it appeared opponents of a set of bills (HB72, 78, 79, 73) increasing the gross premiums tax on insurance companies would testify far into the night.

The Senate State Affairs Committee sent the annexation bill (HB3) to a subcommittee. The House-approved measure would set up buffer zones around cities, with the size of a zone depending on the city's population. A city could annex only 10 per cent of a buffer zone annually but it could enforce sanitation and zoning ordinances in the area. No taxes could be collected until after annexation.

The committee approved a resolution (SCR30) creating a study committee to report recommendations on revising the state election code to the 1963 Legislature.

A special three-man subcommittee was named to study a bill (SB379) that would create a salt water division in the State Game and Fish Commission.

The group also sent to subcommittee a plan (SB149) to create a "Little Hoover" Commission that would study ways of economizing in state government.

Pleads Guilty

Carl Green, charged with writing a worthless check, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court on Thursday morning. He was sentenced to serve 20 days in the county jail.

Freed American Is Near Death

HONG KONG (AP)—Robert McCann of Pasadena, Calif., released after nearly 10 years in Communist China, hovered near death here today.

Doctors canceled all plans to fly him to a U.S. Air Force hospital in Manila unless his condition, which they described as extremely grave, improves. McCann, 60, long a business man in China, is dying of lung cancer.

Attendants at St. Teresa's Hospital said he was semiconscious and tossing restlessly.

McCann was carried across the Chinese Communist border into Hong Kong on a stretcher at noon today. He was half-conscious then, apparently under heavy sedation. His eyes were glazed, his body emaciated.

His wife, who flew 9,000 miles last week to be at his side, said his condition took a drastic turn for the worse during their grueling 1,500-mile journey by plane and train from Tientsin, in North China.

She herself was on the point of exhaustion, having had only two hours sleep in the last 48 hours. Doctors ordered her to bed.

A delay in transferring McCann across the border contributed to his critical condition, an attending doctor here said. The McCann reached the Communist side of the border station at Lowu at 6, but Communist officials did not notify the British Red Cross here was there until noon, the previously scheduled hour for the transfer.

McCann, meanwhile lay on a stretcher on the floor of the railroad station waiting room.

McCann was born of missionary parents in China and became a businessman in Tientsin. He was interned by the Japanese during World War II and arrested by the Chinese Communists on June 14, 1951. He was sentenced to 15 years in prison on espionage charges.

Peiping announced on April 3 McCann was being freed "in the spirit of humanitarianism." British Red Cross officials said that McCann was in extremely critical condition and might have only a few days to live.

Wet-Eyed Finch, Carole Get Life Prison Sentences

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We'll fight it, darling, we're still alive." Wet-eyed and grateful a jury had spared their lives, Dr. R. Bernard Finch so consoled Carole Tregoff Wednesday after a third murder trial jury decreed life imprisonment for the once wealthy surgeon and his red-haired mistress.

Finch and Carole—convicted of murdering the playboy doctor's socialite wife—broke into sobs when the 10 men and 2 women of the jury decided after a dozen suspenseful hours to send the lovers to prison and not to the gas chamber.

Carole, 24 no longer the tawny beauty she was two years ago as Finch's pampered mistress, cried at the verdict: "No, no, I'll be an old woman when I get out."

WET TABLE
Finch, 43, dropped his head on his folded arms and cried until the counsel table in the packed courtroom was wet with tears. Then he said to his attorney: "Thank God, thank God."

Thus after three trials, a year and a half of suspense and an estimated $750,000 of taxpayers' money, did one of the most publicized murder cases of recent years come to a dramatic conclusion.

Under California law, Finch and his now plumpish paramour will be eligible for parole, depending on their prison record, in seven years—1968.

The case was front page news from the chilly morning of July 19, 1959, when the body of Barbara Jean Finch, 36—a bullet in the back—was discovered on the lawn next to the Finch estate in suburban West Covina.

NOT TO KILL
In the three trials—the first two ended in jury deadlocks—Finch testified that he went to see his wife to plead for a divorce, not to kill her. He said she pulled a gun, they struggled—and the weapon accidentally went off.

Her dying words—according to Finch: "I'm sorry, darling, please take care of the kids."

The death warrant has never been found.

The verdict brought a smile of relief to attorney Maxwell Keith who replaced courtly Grant Cooper as Finch's counsel in the third trial.

"From the look on the jurors' faces when they came in, it looked like gas to me," Keith said. "The verdict couldn't be any better under the circumstances."

Cooper, who took most of the surgeon's fortune—including his home and yacht—in legal fees for the first two defenses, said: "I'm very happy with this portion of the verdict."

NO COMMENT
Clifford Crail, the crusty prosecutor who masterminded all three trials, said: "We'll accept the verdict without comment. The jury has spoken."

The jurors retired to a hotel, dined on steaks and then jury foreman James Dyer read this statement to newsmen: "We as 12 individuals listened to all the testimony during the trial—the same testimony that all of you heard. When we returned to the jury room we discussed the testimony and various pertinent points and came to a decision on all counts. We feel we came to a fair and just decision. The verdicts speak for themselves."

The jurors who decided the fate of Finch and Carole were the same who on March 27 convicted them. Finch was found guilty of two capital offenses—first degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder. Carole was convicted of one capital offense—conspiracy to commit murder—and second degree murder, which carries a penalty of five years to life in prison.

Held On Suspicion Of Murder

Kindly Americans Help Sergeant York

EDITOR'S NOTE—How do fellow Americans respond when a private appeal is made to help a great war hero square his tax debt with the government? Gordon Brown tells this warm story of an outpouring of contributions—ranging from pennies to $1,000—to help Sgt. York in his time of need.

By GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Lots of people—kindly people, sympathetic people, rich and poor, young and old, high and low—have helped Sgt. Alvin York solve his federal income tax problem.

Letters by the thousands have poured in from people wanting to contribute to the $25,000 fund needed to wipe out the World War I hero's tax debt.

The goal now has been reached and hundreds of letters are yet to be opened.

This national outpouring of good will to a man who served his country well has touched Capitol Hill where much of the mail these days is of the pressure or "gimmie" type.

"These people are giving — not asking," said Rep. Joe L. Evins, D-Tenn., treasurer for the York Tax Fund Campaign. Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., touched off the drive two weeks ago with a $1,000 donation.

There have been a few other big donations since then. But for every one of these there have been hundreds of $1 and $2 donations. Some sent pennies.

Who contributed? Here are some samples:

From Denver: "Dear Sirs — I am enclosing only $1 to the Sgt. York fund. I am 81 and don't have much so excuse the small sum. Very sincerely, An old woman."

From Bobby Lamie, Kankakee, Ill.: "Dear Sergeant York—I am 9 years old and I help my brother with his paper route. My big sister said that you need help. I hope this 25 cents will help you."

Unsigned letter from Washington, D.C., addressed in childish scrawl to "Sargent York" (sic): "Here is 1/4 my allowance for a brave man." (Enclosed was 25 cents.)

From Mrs. George Peobody, Springfield, Ill.: "I am so glad something is being done to help Sgt. York. I wish to add my bit and perhaps can send more later."

EASTER BONNET
From Mrs. Curtis A. Delaney, Hastings-On-Hudson, N.Y.: "This represents my Easter bonnet—it's donated proudly and gladly from a grateful citizen who might not have reason to celebrate Easter were it not for Sergeant York and others like him."

Michael G. Parker, 11, Bronx, N.Y., sent a dime, two nickels and two pennies taped to a sheet of paper and a note saying "Something for Sgt. York."

Someone in New Madrid, Mo., put a $50 bill in an envelope with no note and sent it along; two men in California said they had no money but sent eight cents in stamps; one chap mailed a dollar bill wrapped in a federal income tax blank; $8 came from the 7th and 8th grades of the Arbutus Junior High School, located in a Baltimore suburb; several baby sitters sent their small earnings; many people on Social Security cheerfully sent $1 from their meager funds.

OTHER GIFTS
In addition to Rayburn, others who contributed $1,000 were Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, publisher William Randolph Hearst, former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton; Philip L. Graham, president of the Washington Post; and Abe Plough, Memphis, Tenn., drug executive.

There were numerous donations from men who served in the 2nd Division with York when he was credited officially with putting a German machine gun battalion out of action practically unassisted.

It was in the Argonne in 1918 that the Tennessee backwoodsman, then 31, performed his amazing feat of killing 25 Germans and taking 132 prisoners.

The commander of the American Expeditionary Force, Gen. John J. Pershing, described York as "the greatest civilian soldier of the war," and made the recommendation that brought York the nation's highest military decoration—the Medal of Honor.

Delman O. Hood, Medford, Ore., a lieutenant in the 82nd Division, sent a $500 check to the York fund. He said that while York probably wouldn't remember him, the "unforgettable day" when York marched his prisoners back "is still fresh in my memory."

York, now 73, fell into income tax difficulties when the government sent several years' ago because of income he received from a book and a movie based on his life and war exploits.

GARDEN TALK

Whatever You Call It, It's A Pretty Tough Tree

By BRUCE FRAZIER
A Mr. Shortes called asking me to identify the Osage Orange tree for him. This is a common name for a tree that is "Boadark" in common slang. The name comes from the French Bois d'Arc and it means "wood of the bow" and indeed many of the do-it-yourself kits for making bows come complete with lemons or Bois d'Arc wood for making the bow.

Several years ago a number of these trees were planted in a row running north and south at the Agricultural Experiment Station here in Big Spring and they are there today, though several will be removed to make way for the north bypass of I-37. These trees do well in West Texas.

The young trees have a greenish wood and are thorny. I have planted several of them at different times and find them to be very hardy and tough. It is the toughness that gives them their reputation. The toughness of these trees has caused them to be planted in close hedges, and as they grow close together, they can be topped from time to time and will eventually make an almost impenetrable fence of living wood.

Some of the hedgerows of France are of this tree and they withstood much of the heavy fighting during World War Two as well as the livestock and weather of ages past. The Bois d'Arc is a tree worth trying in special cases here in our climate. It could provide shade and protection in some of our plantings.

There are some disadvantages to this tree and anyone planning to establish a planting should look into them before beginning. This tree is by its very nature a tough tree. It will find food and water if there is any available and even at the expense of other plants near it. It is thorny and often the shape of the tree is irregular and dense. As it matures it produces the sticky "oranges" that give it the name Osage Orange, and these fall off and need to be raked up from time to time. It has a habit of planting itself where it is not wanted and the seedlings are also very hardy and sometimes are a problem to eradicate. Any of these qualities could eliminate it from some plantings.

Still the Bois d'Arc is a determined tree and there may be some plantings that need such a tree. It is worth remembering when looking for a plant list for some special planting project.

Pedigreed Linksters Tee Off At Augusta

By JERRY LISKA
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Golf's most pedigreed practitioners, 38 strong, today storm the treacherous Augusta National course in the opening round of the silver anniversary Masters tournament.

Amidst the flowery splendor of dogwood and azaleas comes a relentless 72-hole stalking of the coveted title (not to mention a $17,000-plus top swag) which Arnold Palmer is favored to capture in an unprecedented second straight time.

The field handicapped for this tourney rivaling the U. S. Open as a blue ribbon event—54 top American pros, 14 foreign pros and 20 fine amateurs—began teeing off at approximately 9:30 a. m., in cool cloudy weather.

Freddie McLeod, 78 and the 1908 U. S. Open winner, and Jock Hutchison, 77 and the 1920 PGA champion, led the teeing off in traditional fashion.

Last year, it took a birdie finish for Palmer to wrap up his second Masters with 282, on rounds of 67-73-72-70 over the par 72 wide sloping fairways and deeply-contoured greens.

However, the way practice rounds went over the lush 6,900-yard-course against stronger than usual winds, sunny and calm weather could bring a rare sub-200 winning total and perhaps the first triumph by a foreigner or an amateur. Ben Hogan's victorious 274 in 1953 is the record.

By Sunday afternoon's nationally televised windup, South African Gary Player, 1961's leading PGA money-winner, or an amateur like Jack Nicklaus, the amazing Ohio State strong boy; current Simon-pure champion Dean Beman; or Billy Joe Patton, who gave fits to the 1954 Masters field, may have dethroned Palmer.

The same goes for such masters "bridesmaids" as Ken Venturi, last year's one-stroke behind runner-up, or Dow Finsterwald, Billy Casper and Julius Boros, who finished in that order behind Palmer and Venturi.

Only three of the Masters' 16 champions are missing from the starting field, retired Ralph Guldahl (1939), injury-betted Art Wall (1959), and Henry Picard (1938) whose wife is ill.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Dean Higgins, who still harbors a lot of enthusiasm for baseball even though he has been out of it since 1955, will probably be one of the starting hurlers for the Big Spring Drillers, a sandlot club being organized by Jim Wade.

The 28-year-old righthander from Monroe, Michigan, who has been a resident of Big Spring since last September, broke into organized baseball with Pauls Valley, Okla., (Sooners State League) in 1951, at which time he won 18 games, lost nine and finished with a glittering 2.02 earned run average.

He hurled three shutouts that year with a club that led the league during the regular season, then turned around and lost to Ardmore in the playoffs.

Higgins, who is only 28 years of age now, had a 13-4 record well into the season but was bruised up in a diving accident while swimming one day and lost some of his effectiveness. In one of his starts that year, Dean went 7 2-3 innings against Lawton before giving up a hit after teammate Andy Payne had tossed a no-hitter in the opening game of a double-header.

The Texas League single which broke Higgins' spell was the only hit he gave up during the contest.

Before he began his pro career, Zack Taylor, then manager of the St. Louis Browns, wanted Higgins to stay with his club as a batting practice pitcher but Dean expressed a preference to launch his pro career.

In 1952, Dean divided his time between Paris in the Class B Big State League, Sweetwater in the Longhorn and Decatur, Ill., in the MOV circuit. He won nine and lost six at Sweetwater, which was a down-trodden outfit then being managed by the Venezuelan Alex Carrasquel.

At Decatur, Dean arrived in time to win one of two decisions and become eligible for the playoffs. Decatur proceeded to cop the post-season round of play and Dean lent assistance by hurling a two-hitter in a game that went 12 innings.

In 1953 and '54, Higgins was with the Armed Forces in Germany, during which time he won 16 decisions while losing only three with the First Infantry team.

He was back in pro ball in '55, dividing time with Pampa and Amarillo in the WT-NM circuit. His boss at Pampa was Grover Selig while he played under Taft Wright and Buck Faucett at Amarillo. Amarillo acquired his contract by swapping Stan Machinski to Pampa for him. Dean wound up winning six and losing four for Amarillo.

Higgins decided to depart pro baseball when Amarillo wanted to send him to the Carolinas for more seasoning. He married a LeFors, Texas, girl named Barbara Lynn Ross in 1955 and settled down there, until he moved here last year. He is employed by the Texaco Company here.

Dean's only contact with baseball since 1955 has been as a manager of a LeFors Pony League team, which beat McLean in the best of a seven-game series a couple of summers ago.

Dean is also an enthusiastic bowler (he maintains a 160 average in the Continental League here) and was good enough in ice hockey at one time to be offered a tryout with one of the National Hockey League's farm clubs. He decided to 'go baseball' instead.

Having lived in the vicinity of Detroit most of his life, he naturally roots for the Tigers—and has suffered right along with the rest of the Detroit fans in the midst of the team's miseries of recent years.

His favorite ball player of them all was George Kell, a great third baseman of a few years ago. He's not old enough to hark back to the days of Charley Gehring. He also fondly recalls the play of Pinky Higgins, the Texan who is still managing in the big leagues.

He regards Texas as home now and says the past winter was the most enjoyable he ever spent, because of the mildness of the weather here.

Redlegs Lean On Kid Staff

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds are rich in the outfield, reliable behind the plate and respectable in the infield but whether they improve last year's sixth place position depends upon the youngest pitching staff in the National League.

Manager Fred Hutchinson, a man known for his honesty, puts it this way:

"It's all up to our kid pitchers. If they come through, we'll give 'em all a battle. If they don't, it will be a long season for us. I've never seen so many strong clubs as our league has this year."

Weak pitching has plagued the Reds for years. Their hitters equalled a major league club record with 221 home runs in 1956 and still finished third.

Hutchinson feels his pitching staff, all but one of his starters under 26, is greatly improved this year. He is banking on southpaw Jim O'Toole (24) and right-hander Jay Hook (25) to win at least 30 games between them.

Joeey Jay (25), acquired from Milwaukee, is capable of winning 15 and expects right-hander Bob Purkey, dean of the staff at 31, to repeat his 17 victories of last year.

That would leave it up to the two junior members of the staff—20-year-old Jim Maloney and 22-year-old Ken Hunt. Maloney showed tremendous promise after being brought up from Nashville late in the season.

The bullpen is formidable. Right-hander Jim Brosnan (7-2) showed he could pitch as well as write. He has a 2.36 earned run average and 12 saves. Southpaw Bill Henry dropped five of six decisions but saved 17 games.

Marshall Bridges had a 4-0 record after coming from St. Louis late in the season. Howie Nunn, a 25-year-old right-hander, 12-4 at Jersey City, has been impressive in exhibition games.

Cincinnati's infield has gone a complete overhaul in two years. Gordon Coleman, brought up from Seattle in the middle of last season, is entrenched at first base.

The new third baseman is Gene Freese, acquired from the White Sox. Eddie Kasko is the shortstop, replacing traded Roy McMillan, and Jim Baumer, is being given a shot at second base.

"We are looking to Coleman and Freese to provide us with additional power," said Hutchinson. Besides promising Leo Cardenas, Hutch has Willie Jones and Elio Chacon for infield reserve.

Dick Donovan Going Great

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been a great spring for Dick Donovan, the one-time Chicago White Sox ace who gained a chance for a new life with the new Washington Senators. And at the moment, it must feel like the greatest spring ever for the big righthander.

Dropped out of the starting rotation by the White Sox a year ago, and then grabbed by the Senators for $75,000 in the American League's player pool, Donovan pitched a full nine innings for Washington Wednesday and beat the Philadelphia Phillies 10-3 with a seven-hitter.

The victory padded the spring exhibition record, tops among American League clubs, to 14-8 for the Senators, who debut at home against the White Sox Monday.

Elsewhere Wednesday, the Detroit Tigers made it two in a row over Pittsburgh, whipping the world champion Pirates 12-8; the New York Yankees beat St. Louis on the fifth try, 5-4 in 11 innings; Cincinnati defeated Milwaukee 5-4, San Francisco stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0; the Boston Red Sox beat Chicago's Cubs 4-3, the White Sox defeated Kansas City 3-1, the Los Angeles Angels beat Cleveland 5-3 and Minnesota and Baltimore split a doubleheader, the Twins winning 7-4, then losing 5-4 in seven innings.

The Senators backed Donovan with a dozen hits, but needed

only one while scoring five runs in the sixth inning against a wild Johnny Buzhardt.

Jim Bunning went nine innings for the second time this spring for the Tigers, although allowing 13 hits. Rookie Bubba Morton, Dick Gernert and Rocky Colavito hit home runs off loser Vinegar Bend Mizell and Bobby Shantz.

After Bill Skowron kept the Yankees in the game, driving in the first four runs with a double and three-run homer, slumping Roger Maris singled home the winning run off Ronnie Kline.

Southpaw Mike McCormick and Stu Miller combined for a six-hit job that handed the Dodgers their first shutout of the spring. Don Blasingame produced the run the Giants needed in the fifth inning with his first home run of the spring, off Stan Williams.

Don Buddin, back after a two-week bout with an allergy, hammered a home run and drove in another run with a single for the Red Sox.

The White Sox made fine pitching by Early Wynn and Gerry Staley pay off when Ed Rakow walked in the winning run in the eighth inning.

Jerry Casale and Ron Moeller allowed Cleveland just six hits, and Casale opened a clinching three-run fifth for the Angels with a double.

The Senators backed Donovan with a dozen hits, but needed

Hawks, Wings Launch Set

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings tonight open the final series of the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs in Chicago Stadium—and it will be quite a family affair.

James D. Norris is co-owner and chairman of the board of the Hawks. The Red Wings are owned by his brother, Bruce, and sister, Margaret Norris Riker. They are heirs of the late James Norris, founder of hockey's richest dynasty.

The Hawks, who eliminated the world champion Montreal Canadiens in six games with 3-0 back-to-back victories, have been installed 13-10 favorites to win the opener of the best-of-seven series. The Hawks have won the cup twice, in 1934 and 1938. The Red Wings have won it seven times, the last time in 1955.

The Hawks, who finished the regular season in third, and the Red Wings who barely struggled home in fourth and then whipped the runner-up Toronto Maple Leafs in five games, will make up the first all-United States Stanley Cup showdown since Detroit defeated New York in 1950.

Victory for the Hawks in the series—which would bring a $54,000 split of the winner's share—would mark the first time Chicago has had a world championship in any sport since the Chicago Cardinals (now moved to St. Louis) took the National Football League crown in 1947.

After tonight's game, with a capacity crowd of 16,666 assured, the series will shift to Detroit Saturday, return to Chicago Monday and then back to Detroit for the fourth game Wednesday. If necessary, the series will continue at Chicago April 14, at Detroit April 16 and at Chicago April 18.

Y Cage Tourney Gets Under Way

The annual YMCA Independent Basketball tournament, which the E. C. Smith Construction Company is co-sponsoring, starts at 7:45 p. m. this evening in the HCJC Gym.

The meet, with six teams entered, will continue through Saturday night. Four trophies will be awarded. The first, second and third place teams will earn premiums, as will the consolation round winner.

The pairings tonight send E. C. Smith's against Humble Oil at 7:45 p. m. and Maxie's Barber Shop against Manuel's of Odessa at 9:15 p. m.

Humble Oil was originally identified at Ray Crook's Co-sponsor.

Thorny Peace Runs At Sunland Park

EL PASO — Racing resumes in the Land of Enchantment Friday for a regular three day schedule at Sunland Park with two of the largest days of the current spring meeting just behind.

Racing secretary Harvey Foster has written an outstanding 16 race card with the LaSertoma Club Purse (wives of Sartoma) holding down the featured ninth race spot on the Ladies Day program.

The LaSertoma at six furlongs is one of the finest Friday features yet staged at Sunland and matches two of the giants of the meeting, Thorny Peace, and Ying And Yang, both prepping for the mile and one sixteenth Santa Fe Handicap to be decided here April 22.

Thorny Peace, the M. R. Prestidge standard bearer who lived up to his press notices here Saturday by scoring a lopsided win over easier company, will be put to a more severe test in the LaSertoma.

He shares equal weight with Ying And Yang at 116 pounds and will have Ken Coppennoll up.

Thorny Peace, named for the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who often referred to world conditions as being in a state of "thorny peace," was unraced as a three-year-old after being sidelined by an injury early in his career.

Eddie Arcano, who rode him four times as a two-year-old described him as a "brilliant" prospect and his two recent victories appear to bear out his contention.

Although Ying And Yang's victory in his lone start here was not decisive, he was not fully extended and would no doubt have looked more spectacular had he been hard ridden.

The LaSertoma was written under allowance conditions and W. L. "Buck" Britt's five-year-old Elbruz has been assigned 122 pounds, top-weight of the field. Elbruz displayed keen form last year and won in $10,000 company at Golden Gate Fields in the excellent time of 1:10 1-5.

The recent winner, Kerry Piper, property of leading trainer Bill Tompkins, could be the dark horse.

Seeded Players In Rough Going

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The quarter-finals of the second annual Masters Tennis Tournament opened today with the going figured to be a little tougher for the seeded players.

Neale Fraser of Australia, top seeded in the tournament, faces Jon Douglas, an unseeded player on leave from the Marine Corps.

Douglas made the quarter-finals by defeating Ed Turville Jr. of St. Petersburg 6-0, 6-3 Wednesday.

Fraser defeated Rodney Mandelstam of South Africa, 8-6, 6-3. Rod Liver of Australia, No. 2 seed, meets Jerry Moss of Miami, one of the top rated Americans in the event.

There are so-called "bargain" tires, "cheapie" tires, "discount" tires and other tires you've never even heard of.

Most of them do a lot of shouting about price. But there's a big difference in what goes into them, as compared to a Goodyear tire.

1. Goodyear gives you a stronger tire body. It's the tire body that takes the beating. And it all depends on cords and plies. So we tested our 3-T Nylon All-Weather—priced at $12.88—against nine other nylon cord tires in the $10-$12 price class or better. Goodyear's tire rated 23.2% stronger than the average rating of all the others.

2. Goodyear gives you a tougher tread. You need toughness where the tire meets the road. So, Goodyear gives you all-new tread rubber in every tire. And it pays off good: Goodyear's tread was greater than the average of the rest.

3. Goodyear gives you greater over-all strength! Comparing the results of body tests and tread tests, Goodyear comes out way ahead. Actually, Goodyear not only proved out best on both counts but topped them all in over-all quality rating, too!

Before you part with $10, $11 or $12 for any tire, get the inside story. Remember that for about the same price, you can get a lot more tire—a Turnpike-Proved Goodyear tire. It's called the 3-T Nylon All-Weather. And it costs you as little as $12.88***

2 More Executed

HAVANA (AP)—Firing squads executed two more men in La Cabana today, raising to 601 the unofficial total of persons executed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime since he took power on Jan. 1, 1959.

To The Editor:

My name was listed among those opposed to the multi-million dollar apartment and shopping center to be located in the south part of town. May I state that I am not opposed; on the contrary, I am very much in favor of anything that will mean progress and beautification of our city.

This one and one half million dollar apartment center will certainly add to our town; both in its well planned architecture and landscaping, and in the jobs it will create during its construction. The shopping center is to be a well planned business district in a location that eventually will be commercialized anyway. Is it not better to know what type of business you are going to have near you, than to have the portions of land sold individually with no set pattern or plan?

It is my desire that these men will be granted another hearing and that they will be allowed to explain the advantages of this project to our town, and that people will listen with an open mind.

Sincerely,
ROLETA CARLILE

Eichmann Moved To Trial Site

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann was transferred Wednesday night from a prison near Haifa to the Jerusalem Community Center, a strong new concrete building where he will stand trial on charges of major responsibility for the extermination of millions of Jews during World War II.

Eichmann, 54, former German SS officer, was brought to Jerusalem in a police car in the early morning hours. The trial opens Tuesday.

Speaks Here

Brig. Gen. W. L. "Jerry" Lee (retired) spoke to the Webb AFB Chapter of National Sojourners Wednesday. Gen. Lee, in speaking on the subject of Communism, warned his audience of the danger in the Communist conspiracy. He is to speak tonight at the Masonic Lodge No. 1340. Gen. Lee is a Sojourner chapter past president and currently the National 1st Vice President of the national organization. In other Sojourner business of the evening, Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, chapter president, presented the new Air Explorer Squadron Charter, sponsored by the chapter. Individual Air Explorer membership cards were given to Capt. William C. Hall, Explorer committee chairman; Capt. Harry C. Hon, institutional advisor; and Maj. John Z. Groves, committee man.

Johnson Gets Execution Stay

AUSTIN (AP)—Adrian Johnson, 19, Houston Negro convicted of the 1959 slaying of William Bodenheimer III, has won a sixth stay of execution. Gov. Price Daniel postponed Johnson's execution from April 14 to May 16 Wednesday. This was done to maintain a definite execution date which will not conflict with an indefinite stay granted by the U. S. District Court in Houston.

The federal court ordered a delay until it can hold a hearing on Johnson's application for a writ of habeas corpus. The hearing is set for May 2.

Johnson was convicted of killing the 12-year-old white boy July 20, 1959. Another Negro youth, Joe Smith, also has been sentenced to die for the slaying. Several Negro boys under 17 were sent to the Gatesville State School for Boys in the same case.

Cardinal Endorses Anti-Red Welch

NORTH EASTON, Mass. (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing has endorsed controversial Robert Welch—founder and head of the ultra-rightist John Birch Society—as worthy of support as a dedicated foe of communism.

"Anyone who is fighting communism today on a top level and who knows the methods and teaching of communism—that man is going to suffer," the Boston prelate said in an address to business and professional men Wednesday night.

Demands recently have been made in Congress for an investigation of Welch and the society he heads, since disclosure of Welch letters in which he refers to former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower as tools of communism.

AUSTIN (AP)—Brady land promoter B.R. Sheffield was called to trial today on charges of income tax evasion.

Cooley Blank At Murder Hearing

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Ottomillo hillbilly musician Spade Cooley stared blankly in court as he was ordered to stand trial for the murder of the former singer he married 15 years ago.

The erstwhile "king of western swing" failed to acknowledge an introduction to his lawyer Wednesday—and seemed not to know his son by a previous marriage, John Cooley, 28.

Ella Mae Cooley, 37, who once sang with Cooley's band, was beaten to death during a violent quarrel Monday Cooley was arrested after taking his wife to the hospital that night.

District Attorney Kip Nelson said he may take the case to the grand jury for a direct murder indictment. Preliminary hearing was set for April 26.

License Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission Wednesday approved assignment of the license for Radio Station KRIG at Odessa, Tex., to Auchincloss Broadcasting Corp., associated with Station KWOC at Chickasha, Okla., for $120,000.

Crime Prevention Meeting Set For Lakeview Area

A community meeting has been called at Lakeview School at 7:30 p.m. today for an explanation of the Youth Crime Prevention League.

The Rev. L. C. Browning, Temple, founder of the movement for boys and girls from 7 to 17 years of age, will be present to explain the objectives of the organization.

Among officials also invited to take part are County Attorney Wayne Burns, Juvenile Officer Bob Darland, DA Investigator Bobby West, Justice of Peace Walter Grice, Police Chief Jay Banks, Judge Ed Carpenter and others.

The Rev. Browning said that the purpose of the organization was to emphasize law and order, good citizenship in the home, church and school, and to encourage religious ties. In short, it is to encourage a positive, constructive, moral activities and attitudes for young people.

He said that there are some 60 chapters in existence now and they have about 4,000 members. Each chapter controls its own affairs, and the state headquarters is simply an agency to assist when requested, he said.

Rev. Browning said that he was hopeful that there would be a large turnout by parents and children in the Lakeview area.

More Credit Information Courses May Be Planned

Seventy-four persons attended all three sessions of the Retail Credit Course held here and received certificates for completion at the final class Wednesday night. Highest attendance was also registered as 83 persons were present.

The course was received so well that Mrs. Ruth Apple, Credit Bureau manager, said other projects along similar lines would be considered. Merchants and employees attending had only favorable comment.

"The course gave us a place to exchange ideas with each other," R. E. Hickson commented.

"We got many new ideas about collection procedures," Leon Faris said, "especially about collecting bad checks and on accounts where the persons have skipped town."

Meetings were held nightly in the conference room of the Texas Electric Service Co. offices. Lowry M. Carpenter, a retail credit specialist at the University of Texas, was the instructor.

While in Big Spring, Carpenter also served in a counseling capacity for local businessmen. He returns to Austin today to conduct another credit course.

The course was sponsored by the public affairs committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants Association, Big Spring Credit Women's Club and the Retail Credit Executive Club.

Credit Club women served refreshments.

Airmen Rolling Bed With Car

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Eight airmen stationed here proposed to give college boys a mark to shoot at today in the current fad of rolling a bed on wheels from town to town.

The Carswell Air Force Base crew set out to push a bed carrying a 1,200-pound car to Denton, 36 miles northeast of Fort Worth. They hoped to complete the trek by Saturday afternoon.

"We've got to make it," said Robert Shriner, one of the airmen. "They're planning a reception for us at Texas Woman's University and giving a dance that night."

If the airmen succeed, they plan to turn the bed over to a fraternity at North Texas State College in Denton—which recently rolled a bed minus car to Dallas—with a challenge to beat their record.

Damage Suit Trial Continues

Trial of the half million dollar damage suit brought against the Pioneer Natural Gas Co., by M. G. Bisey continued Thursday in 118th District Court.

Since it is evident that the case will take up all of today and part of Friday, there is no possibility of any of the other seven cases set for trial being heard this week.

Wade Choate, district court clerk, contacted all members of the jury panel other than the 12 now in the jury box Wednesday and informed them they need not report for further duty at this week's court session.

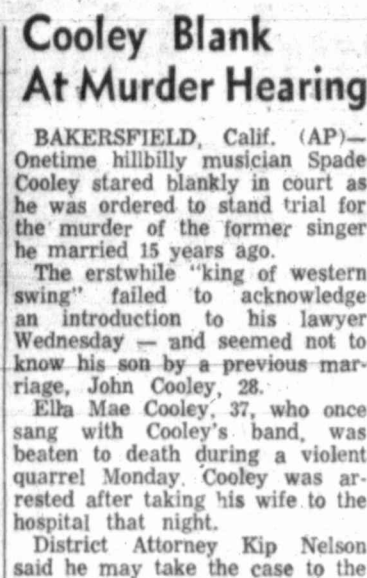

The trial of the Bisey case began Monday afternoon. He and his wife, Vivian, are suing the Pioneer Natural Gas Company for $510,000 alleging Mrs. Bisey was injured in a gas explosion here on Jan. 6, 1960.

The explosion occurred in the rest room of Guy's Lounge on West U. S. 80.

Signal Practice Planned At Webb

Base siren signal familiarization training will be conducted next week at Webb AFB, according to Maj. Russell Gradel, disaster control officer. Starting April 10, the siren will sound alert signals at 11:30 a.m. The test will last for three days.

Primary purpose of this test is to familiarize base personnel with these signals; no action will be taken to implement plans. The signals given will be the Red Alert (warning signal) and the Tornado Alert (steady) one-minute signals.

Hood Pulling Against Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—Carlos Marcello, long accused of heading the underworld in a suburb of New Orleans, La., is providing little help to his lawyers, who claim he was deported to Guatemala forcibly and illegally.

In fact, they seem to be working at crosspurposes.

While the lawyers were filing suit Wednesday in Washington demanding Marcello's return, Marcello acted in Guatemala City very much as if he wanted to stay.

U. S. immigration officers had rushed Marcello to the Central American republic Tuesday. He appeared unexpectedly Wednesday at Guatemala's Interior Ministry and submitted documents attempting to prove he was a Guatemalan.

This astonished Marcello's lawyers, David Carliner and Jack W. Asserman. They asked a U. S. District Court to declare Alty, Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and J. M. Swing, immigration commissioner, in contempt of court.

In the eight years that the U.S. government has tried to deport Marcello he has been listed in proceedings as a native of Tunis in North Africa.

Marcello was deported for violating the federal narcotics law.

Incumbents Win

ARLINGTON (AP)—Incumbents H. A. Dunsworth and Dixon Purvis won close races for two City Council seats Tuesday.

Frank Wallace claimed a third seat uncontested and Mayor Tom Vandergriff was unopposed for re-election.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To: LINDO CORTES COVRUBIAS, Defendant(s).
You are hereby commanded to appear by this citation in the District Court of Tarrant County, Texas, at the County Court Building, Fort Worth, Texas, on the 11th day of March, A. D. 1961, in this cause, to wit: LINDO CORTES COVRUBIAS, Plaintiff(s), vs. LINDO CORTES COVRUBIAS, Defendant(s).

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows: Plaintiff alleges that defendant, LINDO CORTES COVRUBIAS, is a resident of Tarrant County, Texas, and is the author of a certain instrument, to-wit: a deed, which conveys to Plaintiff certain real estate in Tarrant County, Texas. Plaintiff alleges that the Defendant has abandoned the said instrument, and that Plaintiff is entitled to a decree of divorce from the Plaintiff.

Plaintiff alleges that the Defendant has abandoned the said instrument, and that Plaintiff is entitled to a decree of divorce from the Plaintiff.

If this citation is not served within the time specified herein, the date of the hearing shall be deemed to be the date of the hearing, and the court shall proceed to hear and determine the case as if the Defendant were present.

The filer certifies that this process shall be served on the Defendant, to-wit: LINDO CORTES COVRUBIAS, and make due return as the law directs.

Dated and given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at the City of Big Spring, Texas, this 21st day of March, A. D. 1961.

WADE CHOATE, Clerk.
District Court, Tarrant County, Texas.
By Jo Ann Watkins, Deputy.

New Ford Tractor

The biggest and most powerful tractor ever built by Ford Motor Company is the new Ford "6000", which will be displayed to the public Saturday at Big Spring Tractor Co., 1101 Lamesa Highway. Dealer Lloyd Wasson is inviting all farmers and other interested persons to view the machine. Goal of the Ford "6000" is improving farm efficiency, Wasson said. The six-cylinder diesel-powered "6000" tractor develops manufacturer's horsepower ratings of 60 at the drawbar and 66 at the power-take-off, and weighs close to 10,000 pounds fully loaded. Engineered to handle existing three-point hitch and pull-type equipment as well as several new implements matching its six to eight-row power, the "6000" features several exclusive innovations including Select-O-Speed power-shift transmission, hydraulic accumulator system to keep hydraulic power at peak pressure, two-position steering wheel, and electro-luminescent instrument panel.

Judge Overrules Sheriff Suspension

BEAUMONT (AP)—Dist. Judge Gordon Gary Wednesday denied an application for the suspension of Sheriff C. H. Meyer. He said a person is presumed innocent until proven guilty in court. An application for the Jefferson County sheriff's temporary suspension was filed by acting Dist. Atty. W. G. Walley Jr. shortly after he brought suit to remove the sheriff from office. In the removal suit it was alleged that Meyer was guilty of "official misconduct and incompetence."

The application also states the sheriff accepted $200 bribes from M. H. Helms of Fort Arthur, owner of the Jefferson Novelty Co., on April 1 and May 1, 1958. Meyer was indicted by the Jefferson County grand jury March 14 on charges of accepting these bribes.

A number of persons, including those in Meyer's office, rushed to shake hands with sheriff after the judge's ruling.

Meyer issued this statement: "This is the beginning of my complete exoneration. I am, of course, innocent of the charges that were made against me. I wish to add that cooperative action by all agencies has corrected almost completely a vice condition which drew so much adverse comment. This work will continue in full effect. I can also assure the people of

VA Officers To Attend Meeting

Four representatives of the local Veterans Administration Hospital will attend a State Service Officer's Regional Rehabilitation Clinic in San Angelo April 13, according to V. J. Beida, manager. Attending the annual school will be Beida; Phil Hanigan, registrar; Dr. Charles Miller, admitting physician; and Ellis Neves, state service officer.

At the clinic, service officers will discuss improvements in ways to help veterans and their dependents and widows file insurance, hospitalization, pension and other compensation claims.

Hanigan will also attend the Region One Convention of Disabled American Veterans in Abilene April 9.

Texas Demos Seek To Prevent Election Of Republican Senator

By The Associated Press
Texas Democratic leaders sought Thursday to rally their divided forces and prevent election of the state's first Republican U. S. senator since Reconstruction days.

Two conservatives — the GOP's John G. Tower and interim Sen. William A. Blakley — will vie for the Senate seat formerly held by Vice President Lyndon Johnson in a runoff tentatively set for June 3.

Vote totals in a special election Tuesday afforded clear evidence of a historic split between conservative and liberal factions among Texas Democrats. Tower, 35, 5-foot-5½ former professor of government at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, led a bulky field with a sizeable 31.50 per cent of the slightly more than one million votes cast.

INTO RUNOFF
Blakley, 62, a rancher, lawyer and financier rated one of the richest men in the United States, forged into a runoff with 18.33 per cent of the ballots.

Four other Democrats — two of moderate views and a pair of liberals — collected 47.6 per cent. The rest of the 71 men and women on the ballot divided the remaining 2.55 per cent. It took a majority to win without a runoff.

National Democratic committee man Byron Skelton of Temple called on fellow party members to unite in support of Blakley. "Sen. Blakley's election is assured," Skelton asserted, "because the Democratic majority in this state is not going to support a Republican for this high office."

"It is not surprising that the Republican candidate got slightly over 300,000 votes in this race because that just about represents the Republican voting strength in Texas. Republicans voted for Tower in a solid block, which again is not surprising."

CUT EACH OTHER UP
"The Democrats had so many in the race they cut each other up with a badly divided vote. But the fact remains that the great majority of votes were cast for Democrats. This makes the election of Sen. Blakley a certainty."

Skelton challenged Republicans to prove statements made in the past about wanting to convert nominally Democratic Texas into a two-party state.

"If they are sincere in this," the national committeeman said, "I challenge them to join me in urging all Republicans to vote for Tower and all Democrats to vote for Blakley."

State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio, a liberal who ran sixth in the U. S. Senate race, promised to back Blakley in the runoff. Gonzalez said it was "impossible and unthinkable" for him to support a Republican.

U. S. Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, who finished third in the contest, rejected a suggestion from some liberal spokesmen for a write-in campaign in his behalf, declaring "we should accept the verdict of the people of Texas with good grace."

WHITE ADDS VOICE
State Agriculture Commissioner John White was another who urged fellow Democrats to support Blakley.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., identified with the liberal wing, noted that Tower and Blakley together received a little more than half the total vote.

"Each candidate has the opportunity to win," Yarborough said. "The one who can best appeal to the other 50 per cent of the voters with his platform will win."

In answer to a reporter who asked if Yarborough would support Blakley actively in the runoff, the senator said: "I have taken no part in the campaign so far, and a question of that nature is premature."

Yarborough expressed surprise at the showing of Tower. He also said he would have expected Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, fourth man in the race, instead of Wright to press Blakley for a runoff berth.

The Texas Election Bureau had counted 1,030,103 votes and said unreported ballots were too few to change the standings of candidates. It did not plan another tabulation until Saturday.

The latest tally gave Tower 324,465, Blakley 186,809, Wright 165,626, Wilson 121,234, Maury Maverick Jr. of San Antonio 104,499 and Gonzalez 96,477.

Negro Runs Well In Home County
HEMPSTEAD (AP)—The first Negro to run for the Senate in Texas since Reconstruction days ran second to Republican John Tower in his home county Tuesday.

Ernest Sams, 48, a Prairie View farmer, drew 230 Waller County votes to Tower's 441. Sen. William Blakley ran third with 176.

About 1,200 of Waller County's 2,900 eligible voters are Negro.

Meat Production
WASHINGTON (AP)— Production of red meats during the first two months of this year totaled 4.4 billion pounds, down 4 per cent from the like period last year. The Agriculture Department reported beef production was up 2 per cent, veal 3 and lamb and mutton. Pork production was down 11 per cent.

Now, He Had Reason To Dig

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—At first glance we have here an example of the finest American tradition—a young flier out of work sticking at a night ditch-digging job four months to get money for his family.

Wells-Benner van Steenberg Jr. didn't mind the hard work and odd hours because his digging led him under a bank vault and eventually got him $45,600. It also got him up to 20 years in prison.

How it all happened might have confounded investigators much longer except, as often happens, Van Steenberg could hardly wait to start spending the money. Officials of the South Seattle branch of the Peoples National Bank were amazed last Feb. 20 when they opened the vault. A 14 by 16-inch hole had been blasted in the 1½-foot-thick reinforced concrete floor. It was centered nicely in the vault so it didn't set off the burglar alarm.

AMOUNT OF LOOT
The amount looted from tellers boxes came to $45,600.53. Authorities observed Seattle's first tunnel bank burglary with grudging admiration. The hole was blasted in the exact location to miss heavy steel reinforcing bars. They assumed the thief used a magnetic locator.

An 18-foot tunnel, carefully shored with timbers, led to crawl space under the bank. It looked like the work of several energetic diggers.

While an intensive investigation was in progress Van Steenberg, 25, made a down payment on a used station wagon with $1,000 in bills. Authorities have not commented on how serial numbers of the bills happened to be recorded. But they were.

FBI agents met Van Steenberg in the driveway of his modest home March 3. His luck had run out.

ACQUITTED
When investigators checked on Van Steenberg, formerly of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., they found he had been tried and acquitted in December 1956 of the slaying of a Staatsburg, N.Y. woman.

The prosecutor then contended Mrs. Lloyd Beresford, 38, had caught Van Steenberg trying to steal $4,000 from her home in October 1955; that he killed her and set fire to the home to cover the slaying.

Van Steenberg was tried twice in that case. The first jury disagreed; the second acquitted him. In the Seattle burglary inquiry, authorities said Van Steenberg signed a confession after FBI agents recovered more than $30,000 of the loot, most of it from a locker registered in his name.

Van Steenberg, born in Rhinebeck, N.Y. in 1935, came here with his wife, Mary Sue, 22. He had seasonal work as pilot for a small airline, but was out of a job. She was pregnant.

MORE MONEY
"In the early part of October, 1960," the confession related, "I felt the need to get more money for my family because I felt that they deserved more than they were getting from me."

Van Steenberg said he considered two other banks but decided to rob the suburban branch of Peoples National. He had an account there and knew the vault location. It was relatively isolated with an unused alley behind it and no nearby buildings at the rear.

"The same night that I made my plan in the early part of October," the confession said, Van Steenberg started the tunnel. A cave-in threatened, so he ordered lumber and cut it into shoring lengths at his home.

When the tunnel reached crawl space under the bank, Van Steenberg saw he would need power tools to break into the vault. So he stole them from a tool rental shop. Happily, there was a manhole by which he could reach the bank's power outlets so he used the bank's own electricity.

He bought 25 pounds of plastic dynamite, using an assumed name. First, however, he tried to blast a hole in the vault floor with gunpowder. No luck.

Then he drilled holes two to three inches into the concrete and set off a blast of plastic dynamite. It tore only five inches into the floor.

The next day employees wondered why there were plaster cracks and dust in the bank.

On Feb. 17 (a Friday) Van Steenberg returned and drilled holes a foot deep. This time the hole was blasted through, dead center between the bars. No magnetic device was used; he was just lucky.

Fearful of a burglar alarm, Van Steenberg fled but knew he had two more nights before anyone would enter the vault. Saturday night, he came back and lugged out the loot.

Perhaps it was paying $1,000 in bills on the car that led to the numbers check.

When Van Steenberg came up for trial March 30 he decided to plead guilty.

"I just want to pay my penalty," he said.

U.S. District Judge Charles H. Boldt compiled 30 years. But he said he might consider reducing the term after he gets a probation report.

Police To Handle All Dog Calls

Dogs, dead or alive, will get faster attention hereafter when calls are made about them. The police department will handle all calls, and the new dog warden (formerly dog catcher) will be directed entirely by the police in picking up dead dogs or in handling strays, nuisances, sick, or just any kind of dogs.

All calls from citizens hereafter will be to the police department (AM 4-4311). A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, said Wednesday, "The purpose is to get quicker action on calls," he said. "A police officer who will always be on patrol close by in any area where calls come from, will investigate, except for dead dogs. He will go to the residence of the person making the call and discuss the reason for the call. If the dog warden is needed he will be contacted on the radio and, if necessary, the officer will stand by until the warden arrives.

"We feel this move will speed up reports on dogs giving trouble, and a trained police officer will be able to handle whatever public relations are necessary when calls are made," Steinheimer continued. In the past the dog catcher has been under the supervision of the public works department and he was often several hours late in getting to the scene.

"He was not a door knocker," Steinheimer said, "and if he could not find the dogs when he reached the area, he went back to his station. Under the new setup he can be on hand in a short time. We also plan to put on an additional man, when the weather warms up, in order to have at least one warden on duty from 7 a.m. until 11 p.m."

Police Chief Jay Banks said that the new plan would insure attention to all calls, and would speed up action.

Overcame Timidity

Elaine Stritch believes that the right clothes can give any girl self-confidence. She is starring in "My Sister Eileen" for CBS-TV.

Clowning Role Is Pleasing To Her

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Elaine Stritch says she is very happy in her "My Sister Eileen" TV series on CBS because she can play the clown. "I was always cutting up at school," she confided to me. "I love making people laugh."
After we gave our luncheon order, I asked what she would like to talk about.
"How I overcame loneliness," Elaine said. "Often a person is shy and unhappy inside but no one believes it. When we are young and trying to find ourselves, we feel a natural need to be liked and to be understood. But we must dig deep inside to find out our weaknesses and build our character on our good points. I had to learn to control feeling envious or jealous of others' success and to learn to accept disappointments."
"At one time, I was very self-conscious about being taller than the boys at the school dances. I was 5-4, and it made me miserable that I couldn't look up at my escorts. Now I wanted to be small like some of my girlfriends.

I would even make excuses to miss parties and then sit at home feeling lonely and sorry for myself. But making mistakes is part of growing up. It's important, though, that we learn from them.
"I soon learned from the family that clothes could give me confidence," Elaine continued. "when you like what you have on and know you are looking well, the impact goes deep."
"I still don't enjoy doing my hair and spending time making up my face, but I feel a sense of accomplishment when I do it well. I try not to think about the time it takes me."
"When a girl doesn't bother to be neat, it looks as if she doesn't care what others think. She gives the impression she's just not interested enough to make an effort."
"It's dangerous not to be interested in caring for your appearance. Grooming is a habit that is easy once it's learned. We have to have discipline to have happy lives," Elaine said with finality. "and taking care of ourselves is the best place to learn it."

Mrs. Smith Is Honored

The new home of Mrs. Lois O'Barr Smith was the scene of a housewarming given Wednesday evening by a group of friends. Hostesses included Mrs. C. V. Wash, Mrs. Jesse Overton, Mrs. W. A. Bryans, Mrs. A. D. Meador and Mrs. Gene Smith.
Mrs. Wash and Mrs. Gene Smith presided at the tea table, centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and roses.
Gifts were presented to the honoree by the 75 attending; in the group were members of the Business and Professional Women's Club, the American Business Women's Association and the First Methodist Philathea Class and Service Guild.

Spring Vegetables In Plentiful Supply At Your Grocer's

By The Associated Press
Texas food markets are loaded with fresh spring vegetables. Abundant at attractive prices are cabbage, carrots, celery, greens and green onions, lettuce, onions, radishes, squash and turnips.
Winter supplies of potatoes and tomatoes remain strong, says the Agricultural Marketing Service. Apples are ample. Prices have remained modest and fairly steady all winter. Banana imports have been heavy.
Orange and grapefruit seasons have passed their peaks, but Texas shipments continue in volume and prices still are of best-buy variety. Lemons also are in good supply.

Carrots, lettuce and celery are priced higher this week than last. Avocados and peppers advanced in price this week. Idaho russet potatoes average higher.
Dry onions, asparagus and yellow squash prices lowered. Tomatoes are slightly lower. Cantaloupes and cucumbers, while still fairly high, also dropped. Fresh spinach from Arkansas and Texas is available readily in many markets.
Strawberry prices are pretty much unchanged, as Texas supplies continue good.

Among processed fruits, watch for plentiful supplies of cranberries, freestone peaches and ripe olives. All are plentiful.
Spring lamb and other red meats are available in abundance. Turkey continues plentiful. The spring surge in milk production is on. Dry beans and peanut products will be plentiful all month.

Neighborhood Two
Leaders of Girl Scout Neighborhood Two will meet Friday at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Larson Lloyd, 2308 Roberts Drive. Plans for a May 16 court of awards will be made, and a lesson will be given in knot-tying. Plans are to be discussed for the day and established camp to be held during the summer.

Flower Arrangements Made By Garden Club

A flower arrangement workshop was held by members of the Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass.
The group brought arrangements in various classes, which were judged by Mrs. Dale Smith and Mrs. Kyle Cawley, both of the Spaders Club, and Mrs. B. J. Tubb, members of the Four O'Clock Garden Clubs.

Winners in Class One—for those who have attended no flower show school—were Mrs. V. J. Belda, first; Mrs. Allen Hamilton, second; and Mrs. Hayes Stripling, third.
In Class Two—those who have attended one or more schools—Mrs. Robert Stripling won first; Mrs. J. D. Elliott, second and third.
Class Three winners included those who are student or national flower show judges; they were Mrs. J. B. Knox, first; Mrs. Obie Bristow and Mrs. J. E. Hogan in a tie for second; Mrs. D. S. Riley and Mrs. Knox in a tie for third place.

Mrs. Belda was introduced as a new member of the club. Twenty-three were present.
The group discussed final plans for Flower Show School, No. 1, to be given April 11-13 in the old student union building, Howard County Junior College. Fees for the course are two dollars per day with the examination on the last day priced at one dollar.
Registration will be from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. each day; horticulture will be taught by Mrs. John Salois of Dallas on Tuesday, with flower arranging taught by Mrs. H. R. Calkins of McGregor on Wednesday.

Members were reminded of the state convention of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., to be held in Odessa, April 25-27.
Planned for the next regular meeting is a pilgrimage table show to include patio settings. Home visits are planned for those of Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Bristow, Mrs. Robert Stripling and Mrs. J. R. Hensley.

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

All it really took to bring on this spell of cold weather was for us to sort out the spring and summer clothing and to get the winter ones pretty well stacked away. Of course Tuesday's heat brought on the 'get out the lighter clothing' move... Wednesday morning, we were practically back where we started.
Everyone is making an attempt to save what fruit has developed on the trees, and the result is an array of covers over the city that makes one think of the ill-assorted guard. Some use tarpaulins, some old bed spreads and others who are fortunate enough to have new cars, take the plastic covers from the seats and pin them on the trees with clothes line. It will probably hold off the frost if it doesn't get down to real cold, cold or a real hard, hard hail such as we had last year.

We covered our trees last year, also, particularly the peach that was loaded with fruit. It was doing a good job against the wind, but then the hail came. By the time it was over, we were glad to have a roof over our heads and the fruit-saving venture seemed of little importance.

COAHOMA (SC) — Among Coahoma college students who visited here with their parents over the weekend are Sharon Finley from Abilene Christian College; Malcolm Roberts and Jackie Burkholder from the University of Texas; David Barr from Texas Tech, Rosalie DeVaney and Jo Dell Shelburne from NTSC; also Annette Porter, who is a student in the school for nursing in San Angelo.
Spending the holidays away from here were Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Shive and small daughter, Susan, who were in Lufkin with her mother and other relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Daniel and children visited relatives in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlon DeVaney and daughter, Cassie Ruth, were in Lufkin with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Carr.
Mr. and Mrs. Jim Spann and children visited friends in Brackettville, where he served as a former high school football coach. They visited the scene of the filming of the Alamo on Sunday.
Out of town guests visiting here this weekend with their parents and other relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Willis and Kerl, from Odessa with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Shive.
Mr. and Mrs. Lou Trulo and Nancy, also of Odessa, were here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Timmer.
Mr. and Mrs. Don Cloud of Austin were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Barber.
Mr. and Mrs. Grady Barr and young daughter from Milwaukee, were here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barr.
Visiting here with their mother were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Terry and children of Clovis, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. Mutt Henry and family of House, N. M.
Out of town children who were with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Self were the Everett Selfs of Snyder and the Myron Lee Selfs of Ira.

LGA Luncheon
The monthly luncheon of the Ladies Golf Association Big Spring Country Club, will be given at 1 p.m. Friday at the club. Games of duplicate and contract bridge will follow the luncheon and business meeting. Reservations should be made at the country club, AM 4-7701, today.

Upholstery Study Is Made By Club

The selection and care of upholstery was discussed for members of the Coahoma Home Demonstration Club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass.
Mrs. Ray Swann was the speaker; 10 members and a guest, Mrs. Elvin Brown, were present.
Planned for April 19 is an all-day meeting, when the group will work on crafts; the place is to be announced.

Brownies Plan To Make Cookbooks

Cookbooks of their mothers' favorite recipes are to be made by members of Brownie Troop 291 and presented as gifts to friends.
This was decided at a meeting of the troop Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Sidney Blanchard.

Susan Watson and Pam Eubanks led a singsong, and sack lunches were served with dessert provided by Janice Pounds and Kathy Eckrode. Fifteen were present.

Club Hears Specialist On Credit

"Retail Credit at the Crossroads" was the topic of discussion when Lowry Carpenter spoke for members of the Credit Women's Club Wednesday at their regular luncheon. The group met in the Golden Pheasant Lounge.
Carpenter, a retail credit specialist from the University of Texas, has held a credit school this week at the Texas Electric Company.
He urged the women to make credit procedure a profession and to realize the importance of the job. The speaker discussed the examination of prospects and revealed ways of decreasing collection problems.
Mrs. Jewel Kuykendall offered the invocation for 19 members and seven guests. The capsule prize was awarded to Mrs. W. T. Schlect.

Cramped Quarters

Robert E. Lee, 184 E. 9th, took cramped and crowded quarters in his wife's kitchen and eating for "spicy" meals. As chef by the wagon wheel restaurant, Lee is used to using a 20-quart mixer.

THAT'S THE WAY THE POT PERKS

Chef's Wife Won't Cook When Hubby Is Home

By CAROL BARNES
Mrs. Robert E. Lee, 184 E. 9th, had good reason to be nervous when she prepared her first meal for her husband—he was, and still is, a professional chef.

"I wanted to make good gravy, which I generally do, but this time the gravy just kept getting thicker and thicker," explains Mrs. Lee. "Finally he came in my rescue and smoothed the gravy out for me."

Since that day, Lee has come to the rescue many times by preparing difficult dishes for his wife. According to Lee, his wife is a good cook and she does most of the family's cooking. With all the compliments, Mrs. Lee still refuses to cook under his husband's critical eye and likes to prepare meals before he gets home.

"Born behind the oven" is an expression used in the cooking profession for an especially good chef. Lee doesn't consider himself an expert, but he has been the cover and the sidekick since he was 13 years old. Since then he has cooked in restaurants, hotels, for roadside, in a bakery and in the Army.

With more than 20 years of cooking experience to his credit, it is natural that Lee judges other people's cooking, especially when he eats in restaurants. His greatest problem is staying out of the kitchen when someone prepares a meal. Critical or not, Lee admits that he is a better eater when someone else prepares the food.

Cooking for the wagon wheel restaurant and cooking for his family are entirely different, according to Lee. After preparing meals for several hundred people, using a 20 quart mixer and 50 pound roasting pans, Lee often feels awkward in his wife's comparatively small kitchen, using her hand mixer. He also must keep in mind that cooking for three persons requires a much smaller quantity of food than what he is used to preparing. As a chef, Lee may prepare a dozen pies a day and has cooked as many as 40 dozen eggs in one morning.

Twelve-year-old Sue, the Lee's daughter, wouldn't commit herself by saying which parent's cooking she prefers, but she did admit that her daddy's hot rolls and pecan pies are her favorites. Sue is learning to cook from her mother.

Cakes are about the only food that Lee doesn't cook and he leaves all the cake baking to his wife. Speaking of cakes, today is the chef's birthday, which may give Mrs. Lee a chance to display her culinary skill for a change.

Who are the better cooks, men or women? Lee straddles the fence on this question by saying that when it comes to quantity men are better cooks, but women outdo them when preparing for the family.

Lee has given up some of his favorite recipes, a few are originals which he has refused to give even to close friends.

RANCH BAR-B-Q SAUCE

NO. 1
This recipe is good for large barbecues, says the originator, and is one of the recipes he has previously refused to divulge.

2 bottles catsup
2 bottles steak sauce
1 bottle (small) hot sauce
Garlic salt or powder to taste
1 qt. bottle vegetable oil
1 lb. butter or margarine
¼ bottle tabasco

Franks Are Versatile

Frankfurters don't always belong in a bun. Although "hot dogs" are one of our most popular American foods, today's exciting frankfurter dishes are a far cry from this one use.

For example, frankfurters and sauerkraut have become famous partners. One novel way of serving this combination is to arrange an attractive platter of frankfurters and sauerkraut atop mashed potato cups. Paprika adds a colorful touch. For flavor variety you might cook the sauerkraut with dill or caraway seeds.

Frankfurters are one of the quickest foods to prepare and require a minimum of effort. They are so versatile; you can use them in dozens of ways.

Here are a few suggestions: broil or pan-fry them, include them in casseroles, feature them in salads or bake them wrapped in biscuit dough.

Frankfurters With Sauerkraut in Mashed Potato Cups
1 lb. frankfurters
1 can (16 oz.) sauerkraut
3 cups seasoned hot mashed potatoes

Paprika
Simmer frankfurters in water until heated through. Heat sauerkraut. Arrange frankfurters and mashed potato nests on warm platter.

Spoon sauerkraut into potato nests.
Sprinkle mashed potatoes and sauerkraut with paprika. 6 servings.

Cool Pie Shell
Allow a baked pastry shell to cool thoroughly before adding a filling.

Cranberry Relish Adds To Fish Fillet Dinner

See what a sparkling cranberry relish will do to complete a gourmet fish dinner. Take a menu of baked fillet of Sole Florentine, add a cranberry garden relish, baked potato, some garlic cheese bread, then hear your praises sung.

Choice filets of Sole are frozen for your convenience. The tempting main dish is brim full of spinach, ham and sole. Easy to make and takes only ¼ hour to bake.

The sparkling cranberry garden relish is made with canned whole cranberry sauce, diced celery, cucumber, green pepper. It can be mixed in seconds to chill until serving time.

Here are easy directions for:

BAKED FILET OF SOLE FLORENTINE
2 tbsps. butter or oil
¼ tsp. paprika
1 (16-oz.) can spinach, drained and chopped
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ lb. sliced cooked ham
1 pkg. ready-to-cook frozen Filet of Sole (or Six Portion Pack)
2 tbsps. melted butter or oil
Paprika

Melt butter in saucepan over moderate heat. Add onion and cook for 2 minutes. Add paprika and spinach. Mix well. Remove from heat and stir in mayonnaise. Place mixture in bottom of oiled 8x8" or 9x9" baking dish. Arrange ham slices over spinach. Place filets on ham.

Mix together melted butter and paprika and drizzle over fish. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Garnish with lemon slices.

Serve with cranberry garden relish.

CRANBERRY GARDEN RELISH
1 can (1 lb.) whole cranberry sauce
¼ cup diced celery
¼ small cucumber, diced (about ¼ cup)
¼ cup diced green pepper
1 tsp. lemon juice
Combine ingredients. Chill thoroughly to blend flavors. Makes 1 pint.

And try these relishes with Baked Fish Casseroles.

CRANBERRY RELISH PIQUANT
1 apple, diced
¼ cup diced celery
¼ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. horse-radish
1 can (1 lb.) whole cranberry sauce

Combine all ingredients. Chill thoroughly. Makes 2 cups.

CRANBERRY CATSUP
1 can (1 lb.) jellied cranberry sauce
1-3 cup bottled thick meat sauce
2 tbsps. salad oil
1 tsp. brown sugar

Beat ingredients together in bowl with rotary beater until

Texas Doughnuts Are Giants Compared To Yankee Versions

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Doughnut fanciers who want to find paradise had better take themselves to Texas. We had heard tall tales of giant-size yeast-risen doughnuts—some 4-5-6 inches, but we didn't appreciate just how huge these are until a New York friend, visiting her home town of Houston, brought some back for us.

Can't pick up and go traveling right now? Then make yourself some of these voluptuous at home. Here's how to do it.

TEXAS DOUGHNUTS
1 cup milk
2-3 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup very warm water
2 pkg. active dry yeast
2 eggs slightly beaten
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tsp. lemon juice
¼ tsp. nutmeg or trace
¾ cup salad flour
1 large egg
1 large onion (grated)

Sprinkle yeast over water in a large bowl; stir to dissolve. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg, lemon rind and juice, nutmeg and ½ cup of the flour. Beat until smooth.

Stir in enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth; knead until smooth and elastic—about 10 minutes.

Keep dough as soft as can be handled without sticking.

Place in greased bowl, turning to grease all sides. Cover; let rise in warm place free from draft and dust about a half-hour. Turn out on greased board; cut into 12 equal-sized doughnuts. Turn out on greased board or prepared pastry cloth; knead until smooth and elastic—about 10 minutes.

Doughnuts, Texas Style

These giant doughnuts were made from yeast-risen dough. Each is as big as a soccer ball.

Keep dough as soft as can be handled without sticking.

Put Cottage Cheese In Beef Dish

If you're a ground meat user and who isn't, new ground beef recipes are always welcome. "Hamburger" dishes appeal to all from the lively small fry and teenage set on up to the senior citizens.

This Italian Beef Casserole is one you'll want to add to your file of quick-fix meat dishes.

This savory entrée features the traditional Italian-style sauce with tomato paste, green pepper onion and oregano. The beef-sauce mixture is placed in layers with wide noodles and a surprise ingredient—cottage cheese.

ITALIAN BEEF CASSEROLE
2 lb. ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tbsps. lard or drippings
¼ cup oregano
3 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce
1 pkg. (8 oz.) wide noodles, cooked
1 pt. (1 lb.) cream-style cottage cheese (finely diced)
3 plum tomatoes (sliced)
Brown ground beef, onion and green pepper in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine salt, oregano and tomato sauce and add to beef mixture.

Place half the noodles in the bottom of a greased 3-quart casserole and place half of cottage cheese on top of noodles. Spread half of the ground beef mixture over cheese.

Repeat layers. Sprinkle with parsley flakes. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

Serve Vegetables For Spring Dinner

Nutritious vegetable dish.

BROCCOLI WITH CHEESE SAUCE
1 bunch (1 ½ lb.) broccoli
¼ tsp. salt
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tbsps. flour
¼ tsp. dry mustard
¼ cup milk
¼ lb. processed American cheese (finely diced)
3 plum tomatoes (sliced)
Place outer covering from broccoli stalks with swivel-blade vegetable peeler; divide stalks evenly. Wash in cold water and drain.

Cook broccoli in large skillet with boiling water and salt, covered, just until tender—7 to 10 minutes. Drain and keep warm.

Melt butter in saucepan; stir in flour and mustard; add milk; cook and stir constantly over low heat until thickened.

Remove from heat; add cheese and stir until melted; add plum tomatoes. Serve sauce over broccoli. Makes 6 servings.

Always Delicious!

Nice with that extra cup of coffee!

QUICK NUT LOAF
2-3 cups graham cracker crumbs
2½ tbsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup sugar
3 eggs
¼ cup milk
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 cup coarsely cut walnuts

Stir together the graham cracker crumbs, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; beat in milk and melted butter; add to cracker mixture with walnuts.

Stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn into greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) whose bottom has been lined with waxed paper and the paper greased.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 40 to 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on wire rack; remove paper; cool. May be sliced without storing first.

Quick Sauce
Quick sauce for a great vegetable. Mayonnaise flavored with onion juice and heated over hot water.

Cake Variation
You can vary a standard two-egg cake by adding half a cup of strained coconut into the batter.

Watch The Heat!
Most cakes benefit from being served at room temperature.

Pork Roast With Added Spicy Glaze

As a pleasant mealtime change, your family will enjoy a pork roast, especially when it's attractively adorned with spicy apple glaze.

Remember that pork should always be cooked well-done. Pork should be cooked to an internal temperature of 185 degrees F.

Then for that extra treat, spread the spicy glaze on the roast 20 to 30 minutes before the end of the roasting time.

PORK LOIN ROAST-SPICY APPLE GLAZE

4 to 6-lb. loin roast
Salt and pepper
Spicy apple glaze

Have backbone removed from loin. Season. Place fat side up on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb reaches center of thickest part. Do not cover.

Do not add water. Roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 3 to 4 hours, or until roast meat thermometer registers 185 degrees F. Allow about 35 to 40 minutes per pound for roasting.

During the last 20 to 30 minutes of roasting time, spread Spicy Apple Glaze over meat and return to oven to finish roasting.

SPICY APPLE GLAZE

1 cup chopped canned apples
1-3 cup apple juice

1-3 cup cinnamon candies
1/4 tsp. ginger
2 tps. lemon juice

Drain apples. Measure apple juice. If necessary, add water to apple juice to make 1-3 cup. Combine apples, juice, cinnamon candies, ginger and lemon juice.

Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until thickened, for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 3/4 cup glaze.

April Specials Fill Grocery Shelves

Showers of refreshing grocery specials loom on the April horizon for shoppers who scan the shelves for plentiful foods.

Eight items are listed as being especially abundant, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture's April list of plentiful for this area.

Tender-meated turkeys and colorful cranberry products are featured. Other plentiful foods include cabbage, canned freestone peaches, canned ripe olives, peanuts and peanut products, milk and dairy products, and dry beans.

All are plentiful to the extent that supplies exceed normal trade needs. That's why growers, processors and grocery handlers are doing everything they can to pass the abundance on to you—very often at savings.

Turkeys in cold storage are at near-record levels. And it looks like growers will raise a fifth more in 1961 than in 1960. So, light, springlike turkey sandwiches surely will be in order all April—and longer, too.

With stocks of processed cranberries still huge, there'll be plenty of this colorful delicacy to brighten any April meal. Use whole or jellied cranberry sauce with any meat.

Fresh, green cabbage heads are rolling out of Texas' Lower Valley at almost give-away prices. Milk production is zooming upward as green pastures become more luxuriant. Peaches, and olives present numerous menu uses. Peanuts are more than a snack; they're rich in protein. And don't overlook the humble dry beans for valuable nutrition, with economy.

Life of the party—that's what really good snacks are. But don't always reach for the same old favorites. Try a brand-new snack cracker—crisp, celery-flavored with a delicious assortment of dips and spreads.

New Cracker Will Vary Snacks, Dips

Here are directions for flavorful Crab and Egg-Anchovy Dips which you'll want to try with the cracker which won't break when you scoop up a hearty helping. They're celery-crisp, fresh and snappy to the taste. Serve with cups of tea or coffee or tall, frosty drinks.

CRAB DIP
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened at room temperature
1/4 cup tomato catsup
1 6 1/2-oz. can crab meat, flaked
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/4 tsp. tabasco sauce
Combine all ingredients. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

EGG-ANCHOVY DIP
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
1 tsp. anchovy paste
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Combine all ingredients. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

A Devotional For Today

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23)
PRAYER: O Lord, we give Thee praise for the hope Thou hast given us through Jesus Christ. Prevent us from ignoring, neglecting, or becoming indifferent to the cross He would have each of us to carry. In His name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

A Good Choice

The choice of Thomas Mann, a native of Laredo, as ambassador to Mexico should prove to be a sound one. This sends a career diplomat to an exceedingly sensitive post at a time that our relations with our southern neighbors are critically important.

Mr. Mann has been serving as assistant secretary of state in charge of inter-American affairs. Virtually all of his responsible experience has been in Latin-American affairs, an area for which he is peculiarly equipped. He not only speaks Spanish fluently, but he was reared on the border and is familiar with and fond of our Latin neighbors. It is no small wonder that Mexico newspapers and others have received news of his appointment with considerable enthusiasm.

This appointment recognizes the key position of Mexico in our entire Central and South American relations. Mexico is in the pivotal position for the Organization of American States. Its political as well as its economic climate is increasingly important to us.

As a man who has grown up with the Mexican people, has done business with them (he was an attorney in Laredo from 1934-42), Mr. Mann has the background and enjoys the respect which could strengthen our friendship and neutralize some of the rising Communist threat.

An Alternative To Federal Plan

The Texas Research League, an analytical agency supported by private contributions, has come up with a proposal for state financed medical care as an alternative to federal aid.

Its approach has been entirely different, namely to view the problem from the angle of plugging holes in the existing system of aid. Whereas the proposed federal medical aid program would cost something like $5 million dollars, according to league estimates ($9 million in matching state funds and $6 in federal funds), the league's suggested program would cost 1.7 million dollars the first year and 1.1 million the second.

In a nutshell, the proposed federal program, tied in with Social Security, would be a blanket deal. While admittedly easier to administer, it not only would be costly but would replace currently voluntary and locally financed programs with state - federal payments. The league's plan is to leave intact, indeed encourage, local and private responsibility in adequate medical care, but to bring state funds into the picture where there is currently a no-man's land.

Aside from the budgetary consideration, which is formidable if league estimates are accurate, there also is the added matter of fitting program within present capabilities and availabilities. Without some restraints, facilities and physicians could be swamped by geriatrics.

Restrictions On Aid To Education

WASHINGTON—The Kennedy administration is unwittingly misleading the American people on the issue of aid to parochial schools by frequent reiteration of the phrase "across-the-board" loans and grants and an accompanying statement that these are unconstitutional.

The public has gotten from this the impression that the Catholic Church, for instance, wants gifts and loans to be given by the federal government to all parochial schools to teach religion—which, of course, would be unconstitutional. No such request has been made by any church organization.

THE FACT is that Secretary Ribicoff of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has just transmitted to Congress a group of lengthy documents, and one of them is entitled: "Federal programs under which institutions with religious affiliation receive federal funds through grants or loans."

At least 50 different forms of financial aid to religious schools are listed, including some for the training of teachers who will teach modern foreign languages in all types of schools operated by church groups. These programs were enacted by a majority of the members of Congress, and the laws were signed by Presidents Truman and Eisenhower, all of whom took an oath to support the Constitution.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY has not said that he would ask Congress for the repeal of these laws, nor have congressional opponents of aid to parochial schools done so. Instead, there is continued emphasis on the administration's opposition to "across-the-board loans and grants." Mr. Kennedy has used the phrase often in his recent press conferences.

The single question at issue today, however, is whether federal loans may be authorized to help all private schools—religious and nonreligious—in financing their construction costs. Already federal loans for the building of dormitories to house students are authorized by Congress, and they are being made to religious institutions throughout the country. Likewise, even parochial schools at the elementary and secondary level are being granted federal loans right along to buy equipment to help them teach mathematics, science and foreign languages.

IT COULD be argued that this isn't an "across-the-board" loan because it does not apply to all subjects or to religious instruction. Indeed, in the memorandum filed by Alanson W. Wilcox, the general counsel of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and concurred in by the Department of Justice, the point is made that the criterion is the "purpose" of the loan. The argument in the memorandum in support of this concept is contradictory. Thus, in one place the Wilcox memorandum says:

"Plainly an across-the-board grant is

Castro's Tough To Handle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration this week released a brilliant, 36-page indictment of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolution. But what it adds up to is this: Castro's tough to handle.

This indictment, called a State

Department White Paper, says Cuba is under Communist control, accuses Castro of betraying his revolutionary promises of freedom and social justice, and calls Cuba a menace.

Copies of the White Paper will be distributed widely in Latin America where Castro has support, particularly among the landless masses who applaud his taking land from the rich in Cuba.

But it doesn't offer any solutions for getting rid of Castro unless you want to read into it a veiled suggestion this country would help a new revolution against him.

HERE ARE SOME examples of why he's tough to handle:

1. He has the active support of Russia and Red China. Last Aug. 9 Premier Khrushchev threatened to intervene with rockets if this country was responsible for an attack on Cuba.

2. Other Latin-American governments—some of them shaky—are hesitant about even criticizing Castro because of his popularity among left-wing groups and the masses in their own countries.

While there is no talk in this country of attacking Cuba—which has become a Russian spearhead in the Western world—other steps short of armed force might be unhelpful.

3. For instance, the White Paper says Russia has been pouring arms into Cuba. Suppose, because of this or for some other reason, this country tried to blockade Cuba.

RUSSIA MIGHT retaliate at once by trying to blockade West Berlin to shut it off from the Western allies with whom it has all its ties.

2. While this country broke off diplomatic relations with Castro and put some restrictions on sugar dealings with him, it still has economic dealings with Cuba. Suppose this country now tried tough economic sanctions.

The result might be increased ill-will toward the United States throughout Latin America at the very moment when President Kennedy is trying to improve relations.

3. AS FOR AMERICAN military action — that probably would set back this country's relations with the rest of Latin America by many years.

The time may come when the United States feels compelled to take far harsher action than any tried so far. If that time arrives it almost surely will be preceded by worse tensions than now and perhaps even a crisis.

Run For Office

NEW YORK (AP) — No one's education in life is quite complete until he seeks to be elected something or other.

It isn't necessary to seek high public office—to aspire to be a senator or a governor or a tenant of the White House.

Running for the presidency of a private club or organization of any kind can be equally enlightening as to the vital dynamics of democracy.

A man learns the same basic facts of politics whether he runs for the presidency of the United States, or for the chairmanship of the local branch of the International Society for the Betterment of the Petunia.

As a matter of pure truth, the infighting in amateur politics is probably more intense than it is in the field of professional politics which is, to some extent, affected by traditional rules.

You are an ordinary man reasonably content with an ordinary job, a wife and two ordinary children. You rather unwillingly join P-T-A because—well, you feel you ought to.

You sit silent through the first few meetings. Then, one night, when the audience is asked for suggestions as to how to improve the school, you get up.

"Why don't we get the gym mats cleaned? They look pretty dirty," you say.

Later Joe Doakes, one of the king makers of the organization, approaches you.

"That was a mighty constructive proposal you made. This outfit needs fresh minds and new blood. How about your running for president?" he says.

So you launch your campaign for the presidency on a liberal platform: "Let's get the gym mats cleaned—and hang the expense."

A week later a second faction appears with a candidate whose slogan is, "Why imperil our children's safety with used gym mats? Let's buy new gym mats!"

A third candidate then arises with the cry, "Let's build a new gym." Then a fourth candidate emerges with an even hotter issue: "What our community deserves is a brand new school."

The whole situation has changed. Instead of being a forward-looking liberal, you are now tagged as a foot-dragging old fossil with his mind in the past, a real drag on the community.

Rumors spread that you are a wife beater, a tax dodger and a man who starves his kids on stale bread and water in order to keep up sumptuous love nests in two neighboring suburbs.

Well, on the advice of Joe Doakes, you rent a mimeograph and start grinding out campaign literature. You and your supporters hold endless caucuses far into the morning, and soon you are spending more time and effort trying to be president of the P-T-A than you are in earning a living.

Old enemies suddenly become warm friends, and old friends unexpectedly become new enemies. You have a strange sense of unreality. You don't feel you have changed, but the world around you has.

Comes election night and you are badly swamped. The P-T-A overwhelmingly votes in as president the guy who plumped for a $3-million bond issue to build a new school.

You are a defeated man. But you have learned things about yourself and your community you never could have discovered unless you had run for an elective office, and submitted yourself to the voting discipline of your fellow man.

There are many causes for chronic asthma. An irritant, perhaps something inhaled, as pollen, dust and molds, or it may be a food or certain drugs. Emotions may be involved—a sense of hostility, guilt, apprehension or whatever. Sometimes a severe emotional storm precedes an attack of asthma. Sometimes we are unable to identify any specific cause, physical or emotional.

For the allergies, or sensitivities, sometimes when the substances or foods are isolated, it is possible to desensitize the patient—and thus relieve the asthma.

I am wondering how carefully the lady's case has been studied. The resort to codeine is not a measure that can be recommended, and the reference to "patent medicines" indicates, I am afraid, a scattergun effort to find a cure without finding out, first, what causes the asthma.

Good results from medicine can't be promised unless the cause is determined first. Otherwise the results are just luck, good or bad.

The references to rainy weather, and climate, may or may not be significant. Some individuals find benefit in a warm, dry climate. Some—perhaps fewer—are relieved by a moist climate. Yet even in these cases, the important thing is not necessarily in the dryness or moistness.

The "change of climate" can be deceptive. Sometimes it may only mean that pollen, dust, animal danders or some other factor may be absent, or may be less prevalent, for the time being. The improvement, due to one of those factors, is credited to the "climate."

Or—and this is not to be discounted—the improvement may be due to emotional relief. It's fun to take a trip! You throw aside the worries and conflicts of everyday life! This most definitely can be a factor in asthma.

Asthma, you see, is a fairly prevalent ailment in nearly all cases. No climate is universally good or bad for asthma. I will not deny that occasionally one climate or another may not be beneficial, but this applies only in particular cases.

Do not go to the effort and ex-

Penalizing One Department For Another

In the aftermath of the city budget hearing and subsequent approval, a spectre hangs over the promised improved working hours for water and sewer treatment plant workers. It is in the form of a legislative bill designed to improve working conditions for city employees.

The problem came up when the city commission agreed to improve working hours for the treatment plant workers by shortening their work-week from seven to six days. All agreed that this move should be made. An additional $4,200 was allowed in the budget in order that an extra man could be employed.

But, the city is faced with a law that says the city cannot work policemen any longer hours than the average of all city employees. This, of course, is a well-justified idea in most respects. Its primary fault was that it was passed only recently, instead of many years ago. Certainly, it has helped the plight of the policeman and gave him a shorter work week.

But in a round-about manner, for the treatment plant workers, it is an obstacle.

THE REASON is that the treatment plant work week of 56 hours holds up the average for all city employees to above 48 hours. Many city employees are on a 40-hour week so in order to hold at the policemen's level or 48 hours, there has to be a 50 to 56-hour a week workers, else the policemen's hours will have to be shaved, necessitating more personnel and more money.

The entire problem revolves around a policy to save money in one department while penalizing another. And none of this was planned... it just worked out that way.

ONE OTHER aspect of the problem is the bigger picture. Recently, the people, marched down to the polls and approved a $4.3 million dollar bond issue to enlarge our water treatment plant and enlarge and improve our sewerage treatment plant. The work on these projects has already started.

Our foresight is commendable, but where do we stand if we cannot get employees for these magnificent new structures? What good are new plants and equipment if men cannot be found to operate them?

Sure, the men now in the plants have been working for the city many years; they have done a commendable job. But where can we find replacements in these modern times who are willing to work every day of the week—week in and week out? Also, these men must be trained as plant operators and qualify with state certificates.

FEW HIGH school graduates may begin his life on a seven-day-week schedule for about $30 per month. I'm sure most college graduates would shun at the proposition.

The problem is there, but I suppose we can turn our backs on it today because we have good, trained men on the job. Someday, we must find the answer to it. Someday, we are going to be forced to offer these men a better working schedule and good pay, or our modern new plants will be far less useful than they must be. Whatever else we have, we must have water.

A Resolve To Return As A Tourist

ATHENS, Greece. — The world is so full of a number of things that tourists should all be as happy as kings. There is never quite time enough to see all the treasures in any land, a happy circumstance that nags the determined traveler to start saving for the next trip even before he has finished paying for the current one.

I long to return to Israel to visit the Sea of Galilee and to spend more time in Jerusalem. And I must come back to Greece for a tour of her beautiful islands.

Not even the Greek government is certain how many islands it rules. The official guesses range between 2,000 and 4,000. But I would judge that the latter figure includes even the little, rocky cones that pierce the turquoise waters around Greece.

THERE IS a rare satisfaction in visiting, one after another, these two small nations from which sprang the religion and the political, philosophic and artistic mores that have guided and dominated Western thought and civilization for more than 2,000 years. One is the gateway to the East; the other, the portal to the West. Their combined influence on the world is inestimable.

Yet much in both countries remains unchanged, which is one of the joys of traveling in them. In Israel there are communities in which the 20th Century impinges on the First Century. That incomparable jewel, the Parthenon, glowing above modern Athens, is by far the most beautiful reminder of Greece's Golden Age, the Fifth Century, B. C. But it is only one of many great ruins that glorify the nation.

IT IS A JOY to travel through Israel with a Bible as a guide. But next time I shall have sense enough to bring a concordance, too. It is a comparable joy to travel through Greece with a good translation of Thucydides and Edith Hamilton's "Mythology."

Yesterday, as I walked in the ruins of old Corinth, the past of the two small nations merged for a moment in the realization that here, in broad daylight, Diogenes astounded the populace by coming with a lighted lantern, in search of an honest man, and here St. Paul thundered at Corinthians to reform their sinful ways.

I HOPE both men, in their zeal for reform, occasionally lifted their eyes to the great Gulf of Corinth, sparkling like a sapphire, at their feet. One of the most beautiful drives in Europe is along and above this bay from Petras to Corinth. There is an equally lovely drive above the Saronic Gulf, after one crosses the Corinth Canal, on the way back to Athens.

The Greek government is spending large sums on excellent roads to take the tourists to its historic sites, invariably in the midst of great scenic beauty. It is also building a series of tourist hotels, where the traveler will find a good bed, bath and food. A double room with bath costs from $5 to $6 per day, and a three-course luncheon or dinner is pegged at $2.

MY HUSBAND and I stayed at three of these government hotels, at Delphi, Olympia and Corinth, and found them always not only excellent but so situated as to give the traveler a glorious panorama of the country. I could hardly tear myself away from the Amfifryon Hotel in Corinth, set high on a hill and commanding a wonderful view of the gulf and the mountains beyond.

But what we shall remember longest are the Greek villages alive with neon signs, and old ladies sitting in sunny country doorways, spinning yarn on distaff and spindle, as in the long, long ago of Greece's ancient glory.

Biased Reporting In The Campaign

WASHINGTON—Dear Sir and Madam: Sometimes it seems that I owe letters to nearly all of you who wrote in last winter about two postelection columns. One of these took the thesis that President Kennedy's 49-plus per cent victory was decided by the bone-head vote. The second suggested that biased reporting (as distinct from biased editorializing) was a factor in this photo finish race for the White House.

LETTERS FROM readers of the first column divided pretty much along I. Q. lines. Kennedy voters indignantly denied they were bone-heads, while Nixon voters acknowledged they were the intellectual elite. It was a stand-off. But letters about the second column (so numerous that I resorted to printed postcards to stall off the respondents) demanded to know the identity of an unnamed colleague whose researches I was citing with his permission.

Well, now it can be told because Willard Edwards, a reporter for 35 years and Capitol Hill correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, has published his findings—or a part of them—in the April 7th issue of "Human Events." Edwards is admittedly more of a prospector than an explorer in this instance. Briefly, this is what Edwards discloses:

NIXON'S Me-Tooisism was a myth created by Hate-Nixon reporting. Edwards traveled with Nixon from nomination day till election day, 64,000 miles, listened to and reported on hundreds of speeches. He writes that he heard Nixon call JFK: "Dangerously irresponsible, reckless, utterly unfit, dangerous and dead wrong... rash, impulsive, immature, inexperienced... a divider of America, one of Khrushchev's most helpful aids." If you didn't read these vigorous denunciations in your newspaper, it was because the featured stories were written about inconsequential phases of Nixon's campaign by Dr. Molner in care of the Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner is always happy to hear from his readers, but he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters due to the great number received daily. Whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

(Copyright, 1961, Field Enterprises, Inc.)

New York department store executive, formerly financial chairman of the Democratic National Committee's Nationalities division. A considerable figure in N. Y. Democratic politics, Mr. Remo made a conscientious decision to quit the Kennedy camp and join Nixon. On October 26th, Mr. Remo was presented to a group of about 50 reporters aboard the Nixon campaign train as it was pulling out of Cincinnati, and told his tale. Edwards describes the scene:

"At this point one or two reporters raised a yell of 'turncoat.' There was a chorus of agreement and backs were turned on Remo. Although it was a good story, especially for New York newspapermen, only the two wire service reporters and a few others took notes and filed dispatches.

THERE IS a great deal more of the same in Edwards' article, which he wrote from I-was-there testimony and from check-ups on the newspaper files in the Library of Congress. What we have in the Nixon campaign is a candidate supported by the thinking (editorial) segments of the press ($7.7 for Nixon; only 16 per cent for Kennedy; the rest neutral), but covered by reporters who were 90 per cent (Edwards' estimate) against Nixon. Edwards goes on:

This attitude was not concealed. It was loud and open. When Nixon was making a speech there was a constant murmur of ridicule from many in the press rows just beneath the platform. They regarded an assignment to Nixon as a penalty—an enforced association with a discreditable character."

WILLARD EDWARDS has said much here that needed to be said. Whether something can or should be done is something else. After all, human prejudice (even against a Presidential candidate) is a normal and (I think) a wholesome instinct. Freedom of the press does not mean absolute objectivity (which is impossible), but a multiplicity of newspapers and writers that are keepers of their private consciences.

To Treat Asthma, First Learn The Cause

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My wife, aged 52, has suffered with asthma for many years. They told her she would 'have to live with it,' as there is no cure.

"She has had temporary relief, using codeine and patent medicines which leave unpleasant after-effects. The worst spells are during dry, dusty weather. She says she feels better when it rains. Several years ago we noticed this on a trip near some lakes. Is there any proof that a damp climate would make an asthmatic person have better health?—A.H."

There are many causes for chronic asthma. An irritant, perhaps something inhaled, as pollen, dust and molds, or it may be a food or certain drugs. Emotions may be involved—a sense of hostility, guilt, apprehension or whatever. Sometimes a severe emotional storm precedes an attack of asthma. Sometimes we are unable to identify any specific cause, physical or emotional.

For the allergies, or sensitivities, sometimes when the substances or foods are isolated, it is possible to desensitize the patient—and thus relieve the asthma.

I am wondering how carefully the lady's case has been studied. The resort to codeine is not a measure that can be recommended, and the reference to "patent medicines" indicates, I am afraid, a scattergun effort to find a cure without finding out, first, what causes the asthma.

Good results from medicine can't be promised unless the cause is determined first. Otherwise the results are just luck, good or bad.

The references to rainy weather, and climate, may or may not be significant. Some individuals find benefit in a warm, dry climate. Some—perhaps fewer—are relieved by a moist climate. Yet even in these cases, the important thing is not necessarily in the dryness or moistness.

The "change of climate" can be deceptive. Sometimes it may only mean that pollen, dust, animal danders or some other factor may be absent, or may be less prevalent, for the time being. The improvement, due to one of those factors, is credited to the "climate."

Or—and this is not to be discounted—the improvement may be due to emotional relief. It's fun to take a trip! You throw aside the worries and conflicts of everyday life! This most definitely can be a factor in asthma.

Asthma, you see, is a fairly prevalent ailment in nearly all cases. No climate is universally good or bad for asthma. I will not deny that occasionally one climate or another may not be beneficial, but this applies only in particular cases.

Do not go to the effort and ex-

Wrong Town

CALUMET, Mich. — A trailer truck driver didn't learn until he stopped at state police headquarters here that the one-time mining community of Fulton, now a tiny village in Upper Michigan, was not his destination.

The driver, transporting four tractors from Iowa, had passed Fulton, Mich., in the lower peninsula, because it wasn't listed in his map index.

The error took him 600 miles out of his way.

Expert Help

DAYTON, Ohio — Sheriff's deputies had expert help readily available to open a rusty 300-pound safe pulled from the Miami River.

They simply asked a 26-year-old prisoner in the county jail to apply his talents on the safe. He cracked it.

Sgt. Dupree, Exceptional Tenor, Is AF Band Soloist

M. Sgt. William K. Dupree, tenor soloist with the Air Force Band, is a gifted tenor. His voice has exceptional range, abetted by his ability to sing with dramatic feeling.

A native of Roanoke, Va., Dupree is a graduate of Howard University with a bachelor of music degree. He had his own radio programs over NBC and ABC at the age of 16 and was for three consecutive years the recipient of the International Lions Club Award for outstanding achievement on the concert stage and in radio.

Expertly trained for a concert career, his versatility extends into the realm of opera and theatre. Having appeared in several major musical productions, his accomplishments include being for two seasons the leading tenor in Paul Green's symphonic drama "Faith of Our Fathers" and singing the leading role in Oscar Hammerstein's musical play "Carmen Jones" with members of the original Broadway cast on a nationwide tour. Dupree made his debut with the New York City Center Opera last year singing the lead in Kurt Weill's "Street Scene."

Frequently in demand as a tenor soloist, Dupree is young in years but has been referred to as the "old trouser" when behind the footlights. He will sing solo renditions and with the "Singing Sergeants," when the Air Force Band plays matinee and evening concerts in Big Spring April 14 at 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the City Auditorium. Many citizens will remember Dupree from his previous appearance here with the Air Force Band.

The appearance of the band here is sponsored by the Big Spring Shrine Club. Admission charges at the matinee concert will be 75 cents for students, $1.75 for adults, and for the evening performance, $2.

Tickets may be bought at the door, or at Hemphill-Wells Record Shop, the Credit Bureau in the Permian Building, or from any Shrine Club member.

Special Shows Planned For Television This Week

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's pace is slowing as the weather becomes warmer, but it will be sparked during the next few days by special shows—on the Eichmann trial, on the White House, on the Civil War.

Tonight, however, the main item on the bill is NBC's "Sing Along With Mitch" (9-10 Eastern Standard Time). Saturday's most promising specials include CBS' report on the Master's Golf Tournament (5-6 p.m.) from the Augusta National Golf Club and NBC's "Nation's Future" debate

Crash Kills 3 Youths

SCHULENBURG, Tex. (AP)—Three high school youths died as a car smashed against a culvert during a hard rain storm Wednesday night.

The accident happened as five youths, all 16 and students at Bishop Forest Catholic High School here in South Texas, were driving to a cafe after working late at the school.

Those killed in the crash were Jimmie Hajovsky Jr. of Schulenburg and Lawrence Bartosh and Herbert Zimmerman Jr., both of Weimar, Tex.

on whether the trial of Nazi Eichmann serves the cause of international justice (9:30-10:30).

Sunday, as usual, has a number of promising programs. ABC's "Directions '61" (1-1:30 p.m.) will tackle an abbreviated dramatization of "Doctor Zhivago." There is also the final "Young People's Concert" by the New York Philharmonic orchestra on CBS (3-4). ABC's "Issues and Answers" (4:30-5) will have the internal revenue commissioner, Mortimer Caplin, talking about the income tax laws. NBC's briefing session, "The Trial of Adolf Eichmann" will be broadcast from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Report No. 2, NBC's special Tuesday night (10-11) will show the President and the First Lady in the White House. On Tuesday evening CBS will repeat its "Eichmann—Engineer of Death" (10-11).

"CBS Reports" on Thursday (10-11 p.m.) is Carl Sandburg at Gettysburg talking about the Civil War. ABC's "Silents Please" (10:30-11) is a reprise of the film career of Will Rogers.

Father-in-Law Of Candidate Dies

DALLAS (AP)—The father-in-law of Joe Geary, defeated candidate for Dallas mayor, died Tuesday.

He was Edgar Walters, 65, of Butler, Mo. His death in Butler followed a heart attack. He owned the Missouri Western Gas Co.

Heart Victim

SILSBEE, Tex. (AP)—Highway patrolman Clinton Sherrill, 46, of Silsbee died of a heart attack in his patrol car near Kountze Tuesday. Sherrill, who joined the Department of Public Safety in 1937, parked his car off U.S. 69 and collapsed.

FOR PATIENTS

Volunteers Needed To Teach Housekeeping

The demand for hospital patients as "live-in" housekeepers has been greater than the supply of trained persons, Dr. Preston J. Harrison, superintendent at the Big Spring State Hospital, said, so the hospital has come up with a new idea to meet the needs.

There are women patients at the hospital who either have no families or whose families are not interested in their welfare. Some of these could leave the hospital if they had a means of supporting themselves and someone to give them minimum supervision.

Some have forgotten the skills of housekeeping; others must start with no knowledge beyond that of doing their own housework. Since keeping house for another is different than keeping one's own home, they must be trained.

The hospital has no facilities for this type training and cannot simulate problems which might arise when a person gets on "the job."

The proposed program allows patients to go into the homes of those who wish to volunteer their services for training as housekeepers. The volunteer can work with a patient two or three days a week and show her how to clean and use the various cleaning agents, waxes and household utilities.

The Vocational Rehabilitation program at the hospital furnishes all transportation and if desired, even lunch while the patient is on the job. The volunteer is not expected to pay the patient, as he provides the training.

Volunteers interested in working with patients should contact Tom Porter, vocational rehabilitation, at AM 3-4816.

Famed Artists Will Begin Summer Recitals At Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa High School department of music will present John Seagle, baritone, and Andrew Mihalso, pianist, in concert in the auditorium April 21 at 8 p.m. in the first of a series of summer recitals.

Seagle was born in Paris, France, where his father, Oscar Seagle, famous baritone of the "Golden Age of Song," was the close friend and associate of Jean De Reszke. The Polish master singer became the godfather and mentor of Seagle, who has had extensive training under his father and De Reszke.

He came to the U.S. when he was about nine and became boy soprano soloist at St. John the Divine Church in New York. One of his first appearances was with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Walter Damrosch.

Seagle has received great acclaim in concert and has made records for Victor and Decca. He is well known for his famed series of radio recordings called, "The Church in the Wildwood," which played all over this country, in Europe, Asia and Australia.

Since 1947, he has been professor of voice and artist in residence at Trinity University. Though young in years, Mihalso is a noted pianist, currently serving as professor of piano at Trinity. His numerous public appearances include a concert at the 1958 State Fair of Texas and he has just returned from a two-week concert tour through three states.

Tyler Re-Elects 3 Commissioners

TYLER (AP)—Tyler voters re-elected three city commissioners Tuesday as a record 6,100 votes were cast.

Zeb J. Spruiell, Tyler lawyer, won his fifth two-year term, defeating Tom Joyner, a merchant, 3,994 to 1,950. R. P. Power, a lawyer, won his third term by defeating former Commissioner A. B. Curtis, 4,525 to 1,409. Oilman Smith P. Reynolds Jr., was unopposed.
