Pay Raises In House Money Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Pay raises for many state workers and a 40-hour week for others were recommended in the bulky House appropriations bill laid out for study on members' desks today.
Another major recommendation in the 4½ pound spending bill, a revision and substitute for SBI, the Senate's appropriations measure, includes $100,000 for the advertise-Texas program.

Money matters, still written in red ink, stood high on the calendars of both House and Senate as the Legislature moved into its 16th week. The final spending bill will be written by a conference committee of senators and representatives, much later in the session.
DEBATE LOOMS
The appropriations bill may be debated on the House floor later this week. It is the greatest in Texas history, calling for total two-year expenditures of more than 2.5 billion dollars from all sources including general revenue, fees, and federal booster funds.

The increase urged by the House committee, in its revision of the Senate bill calls for a 4 per cent raise for all state workers included in the new job classification plan. State hospital and special school workers and employees of the youth and correctional institutions would be put on a 40-hour week. This was figured to cost a total of $5.6 million in the next two years. The general state worker pay raise would cost about $2.06 million.

The pay raises and improved working conditions, plus the job classification plan, were urged on the legislators as one means of holding qualified state workers in the face of tough competition for top-quality employees from private business.

COTTEN CHAIRMAN
Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. The committee substitute for the Senate spending bill was signed by Rep. B. H. Dewey Jr. of Bryan, vice chairman.

A bill to make the University of Houston a fully-state supported institution rammed into another delaying action in the Senate.
Sen. Hubert Hudson of Brownsville, a member of a group apparently very well organized to block the Houston bill, carried on with a speech urging a resolution requesting the Higher Education Commission to evaluate the programs at all state schools seeking four-year status.

Hudson's resolution would include a study of all the state schools seeking to be designated as universities instead of colleges. Hudson is also opposed to changing the name of North Texas State College to "university."

YES, IT WAS HOT SUNDAY

If anybody thought it was hot Sunday, it was.

The mercury went all the way up to 97, according to the weather bureau thermometer at the U. S. Experiment Station.

The previous high record was 94 on the same date in 1916, 17-18-21 and 24.

The forecast calls for not quite so hot through Tuesday, with the possibility of thundershowers in the Big Spring area.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, said that as much as half an inch of rain fell on parts of the Vincent Community on Sunday afternoon. The rain was accompanied by strong winds.

Light sprinkles were reported as close as five miles north and east of Big Spring. No measurable moisture fell in Big Spring.

Damage Reported In Scurry Storm

A violent spring thunderstorm broke in southwest Scurry County Sunday afternoon, blew down power poles, unroofed outbuildings and produced some damage in Snyder.
Although there were reports of a small twister hitting northeast of Lake J. B. Thomas, Texas Electric Service officials said their damage apparently was caused by hard, gusty winds. In all, the company had 26 poles to blow down.

Winds were clocked at 60 miles per hour in Snyder during a 10-minute interval when intense rain and a small amount of marblesized hail caused worry. Part of the Lamar Junior High School roof was blown off, along with a portion of the room of the Walter Hale Lumber Co. An outbuilding in the south part of Snyder was badly damaged and the Canyon Drive in Theatre lost part of its screen. In all, 71 of an inch rain fell in sheets.

Power was off at the Snyder pump station at Lake J. B. Thomas. On the lines carrying 66,000 volts to the station, three poles went down and the station was idled nearly seven hours. In the same vicinity, what may have been a small twister unroofed some outbuildings.

At the dam, 6 of an inch of rain fell in a driving shower, but three miles up the lake at the Big Spring-Odessa intake, no rain was recorded. The storm seemed to have made up near the dam area and moved northeast toward Snyder.

Sukarno Gets Red Carpet On U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Indonesia's President Sukarno arrived here today for a one-day visit and told President Kennedy "it is my fervent hope that America and Indonesia will always be close friends."

Kennedy, greeting the neutralist Southeast Asian leader, praised him as "a distinguished national leader, the father of his country and a leader of the world."

The American chief executive said Sukarno throughout his life had devoted himself to the building of the Indonesian nation.

"We wish relations between the United States and Indonesia to be intimate and close," Kennedy said.

"We seek what he seeks—a life of freedom, independence and security for our peoples."

FIFTH VISIT
Sukarno, pointing out that this is his fifth visit to the United States, expressed appreciation for the warm welcome. He disavowed the "father-of-his-country" role and said: "Without my nation, I am just the man next door."

The Indonesian president said he is "just a small mouthpiece of the Indonesian nation. I express its wishes, its hopes and aspirations."

The friendly exchange took place on a bright sunny morning at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland, where Sukarno was welcomed by fanfare and military pomp.

Kennedy and Sukarno rode in an open limousine to the White House in a motorcade that moved at a leisurely pace. They were met at the executive mansion by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The two presidents immediately began the first of a series of talks that were to total four hours today.

WIDE RANGE
The talks were expected to range from the dispute over Dutch-held West New Guinea which Indonesians claim is a part of their country, to the situation in Cuba and Southeast Asia.

Diplomatic sources indicated that the Asian nationalist was expected to ask Kennedy not to give any help whatever to anti-Castro forces. The Indonesian government has condemned the Cuban invasion as an "armed aggression," carefully prepared from bases in the vicinity of Cuba.

Patet Lao rebels pushed southward along the main north-south highway during the weekend, sending royal army troops into a hounding retreat of 30 to 40 miles.

The rebels bolstered their position as India agreed to convene a three-nation commission to supervise a truce which would freeze military lines.

Three American military advisers may have been captured in the rebel thrust to Vang Vieng, a major government military headquarters 80 miles north of here on the Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway linking the administrative and royal capitals.

CONFLICTING REPORTS
There were conflicting reports on the fate of the Americans. One source said one of them was wounded.

He said they were not wearing U. S. uniforms.

The government radio, which often paints a darker picture than warranted in hopes of receiving maximum military aid from outside, called the situation north of Vientiane "a Laotian Dien Bien Phu." That referred to the decisive battle in the Indochina war that marked the beginning of the end for the French there.

U. S. helicopters shuttled troops in battalion strength to Vang Khy, a small town on the north-south road. In the uncertain military situation this was encouraging.

Vang Khy lies 10 miles north of the spot at which government troops had been expected to halt their retreat.

Government troops bolted before the rebel attack and at least 18 were reported killed. It was uncertain how far south the royal Laotian troops withdrew and whether they were beaten from

Car Victim Has A Restful Night
Clayton McCombs, 40, who lives at 1665 Mesquite, Abilene, was reported to have had a satisfactory night at Cowper Hospital and Clinic Sunday when he is being treated for grave head injuries.

McCombs was severely hurt about 8 p.m. Sunday when the car he was driving overturned and then landed upright five miles east of Big Spring on IS 20.

State highway patrol officers said that McCombs was driving east on the highway when his 1953 Plymouth left the road. It turned over one time, according to the highway patrol.

The car was badly damaged. A Nalley-Pickle Ambulance took the injured man, who was alone in the car, to the hospital.

Maryland Fire Kills 9 Persons
NORTH BEACH, Md. (AP)—Grim firemen probing the blackened ruins of a large frame house in which nine persons died early today found the charred bodies of a mother and two children lying within a few feet of the front door.

They apparently died in a desperate attempt to flee the blaze that wiped out the Bowden family Sunday night.

French Rebel Invasion Fails To Materialize

Birdwell Lane, looking south from East 4th, has curb and gutter laid, and gravel base was being dumped Monday morning, for the new pavement from 4th to beyond Purdue. The street will be 60 feet wide and will smooth out the old chug holes formerly found on the uncurbed three-block stretch.

Ready For Pavement

Centex Paving Co., San Antonio, was awarded contract to pave nine miles and sealcoat 6½ miles of Howard County roads at a meeting of the County Commissioners Court Monday morning. Centex's bid of $24,127.50 was nearly $4,000 under that of W. D. Caldwell Inc., Big Spring, who was the only other bidder for the paving job. His bid was $28,910.

Centex's spokesman said, they would start work Friday, if the county road and bridge department is ready for them to do so.

Gravel for the paving project will be supplied by West Texas Sand and Gravel Co., Big Spring. They submitted a bid of $6,973 which was lower than the B. E. James Gravel Co. Inc. bid of $7,497.60.

The contracts awarded call for the paving of nine miles of new county road and sealcoating 6½ miles of road already paved.

New county roads being completed are:
Lover's Lane, two miles east from terminus of 11th Place; Birdwell Lane, one mile north to intersect with Hilltop road; Sinclair Road, two and one half miles south of U.S. 80 beginning at a point 5½ miles east of Coahoma; Coahoma High School road, one half mile; Vincent road, north three miles from FM 2032.

Roads which are to be sealcoated are: Midway road, from east end of Lover's Lane for two and one half miles; Vincent road, south, two miles from FM 2032; Fairview road, east off U.S. 87 for two miles.

TRAFFIC HALTED
All commercial air traffic to and from France was halted. Trucks were parked on airport runways to prevent the landing of any troop carriers. Labor union members assembled at union headquarters to back up the security forces if needed.

This morning the Interior Ministry announced that "fear of what could have happened during the night on the territory of metropolitan France did not materialize."

As public fear of an invasion subsided somewhat, most civilians went to work as usual. The ban on commercial aviation was lifted for four airfields in the Paris region and one field in Alsace, near the Swiss border.

But airports at Marseille, Nice and Toulouse — those closest to Algeria — remained closed to traffic, with buses, tanks and trucks spotting their runways.

CONFUSED
The situation in Algeria remained confused. The insurgent junta claimed the whole army in Algeria had rallied to it. But the French government said Gen. De Gaulle, with headquarters at Tlemcen, west of Oran, and still loyal to De Gaulle, reported he was in contact with all army detachments in western Algeria with the exception of those in Oran itself.

This would mean that most of the army in the Oran area is standing by De Gaulle. The insurgent junta broadcasting from Algiers, claimed that the whole army in Algeria had rallied to its cause.

The Interior Ministry said 1,500 civil defense volunteers had been enrolled in Paris for guard duty to supplement gendarmes and troops posted at the key structures of Paris.

Labor organizations, from right to left, scheduled a one-hour token strike at 5 p.m. to express their allegiance to De Gaulle.

CHORUS OF SUPPORT
Reports from throughout the country voiced a resounding chorus of support for the government.

North of Lille and at Strasbourg, frontier police tightened their inspection. The Lyon region of central France, security guards removed the propellers from private planes to keep them grounded.

Laos Loyal Troops Airlifted To Front To Halt Red Drive

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Hundreds of government troops were airlifted to the front north of Vientiane today to shore up crumbling defenses against the pro-Communist rebels in the final hours before a cease-fire in the civil war.

Patet Lao rebels pushed southward along the main north-south highway during the weekend, sending royal army troops into a hounding retreat of 30 to 40 miles.

The rebels bolstered their position as India agreed to convene a three-nation commission to supervise a truce which would freeze military lines.

Three American military advisers may have been captured in the rebel thrust to Vang Vieng, a major government military headquarters 80 miles north of here on the Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway linking the administrative and royal capitals.

Vang Khy lies 10 miles north of the spot at which government troops had been expected to halt their retreat.

Government troops bolted before the rebel attack and at least 18 were reported killed. It was uncertain how far south the royal Laotian troops withdrew and whether they were beaten from among royal Laotian soldiers last week, hoping to bolster the sagging government forces.

Another American military man is believed held by the pro-Communist rebels. He is an Army major who bailed out when a U.S. military observation plane was shot down in March.

With a cease-fire due within two days, the leftist Patet Lao forces now hold about one third of Laos and control its narrow waist. They dominate the north-south highway linking Vientiane with Luang Prabang.

Britain and the Soviet Union, after weeks of negotiations on the Laotian situation, are expected to issue a joint call for a cease-fire today or Tuesday, and quick endorsement is expected from Washington. The Soviets reportedly have agreed that the cease-fire will be policed by the International Truce Commission set up by the 1954 Indochina armistice and that a 14-nation conference then will be held to arrange a unified, neutral Laos.

As the military position of the pro-Communist Patet Lao rebels got better and better, Prince Souvanna Phouma, the neutralist Laotian leader recognized by the Communists as the legal premier, said in Peiping that his people count on the Communist and neutral nations to help restore peace in Laos.

Souvanna brought along to Peiping his half brother Prince Souphanouvong who leads the Patet Lao. Souphanouvong issued a statement accusing the United States of "paying lip service to peace."

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai joined in criticizing the United States for creating a military advisory group in Laos. Souvanna in turn backed Peiping's claim to the Nationalist Chinese island of Formosa and to a seat in the United Nations.

British-Russ Pact Reached

LONDON (AP)—The British government announced today it has reached agreement with the Soviet Union on preliminary arrangements for a cease-fire in Laos.

Joseph Godber, undersecretary of the Foreign Office, told the House of Commons that Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, and the British ambassador in Moscow had worked out the agreement.

Gromyko has assured the ambassador of the desire of the Soviet government for an immediate cease-fire to precede an international conference of 14 nations which, should now meet, provided the Swiss government concur, in Geneva on May 12, Godber said.

The 14 nations are Britain, the Soviet Union, the United States, Communist China, France, Cambodia, Communist North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam, Laos, Thailand, Burma, India, Poland and Canada.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai joined in criticizing the United States for creating a military advisory group in Laos. Souvanna in turn backed Peiping's claim to the Nationalist Chinese island of Formosa and to a seat in the United Nations.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Five railroad tank cars loaded with highly explosive gas derailed here Sunday, causing evacuation of about 100 families.

Only a minor injury was reported—a Frisco Railroad crewman's toe was broken by a loose rail.

The tank cars containing 57,378 gallons of propane, and propane mixed with butane were in the center of a 95-car freight bound from Tulsa, Okla., to Frisco's Tennessee yards near Capleville.

Fire Chief Eddie Hamilton said it was "plain luck" that a broken rail had not ruptured one of the tank cars.

Lucy To Disobey Doctor's Orders
NEW YORK (AP)—Lucille Ball, who collapsed onstage during the Saturday night performance of the hit Broadway musical "Wildcat," says she'll be back in the show tonight—despite her doctor's wishes.

The red-haired 49-year-old comedienne, who has an extremely vigorous role, fainted at the beginning of the second act as she was singing "Tippy-Tippy Toes."

Reserves Alerted In Algerian Crisis

PARIS (AP)—Fearful of a paratroop invasion by army mutineers from Algeria, the French government today announced plans to call up reservists to strengthen its defenses at home.

Premier Michel Debre in a communique said units loyal to the government would be "reinforced by individual callups which will permit the constitution of reserve units with regular officers."

Debre announced the call-up after a night of electric tension sparked by his own warning that the government feared an airborne attempt to seize the French capital.

The invasion didn't materialize during the night and some of the special precautions were relaxed. But the French air force remained on the alert and jet interceptor squadrons were ordered to fire on any unauthorized plane from Algeria.

DEFEND REPUBLIC
As the right-wing mutineers in Algeria claimed more and more of the troops there were joining their rebellion against De Gaulle's Algerian policy, labor and professional organizations from left to right called on their members to defend the republic.

Volunteers by the hundreds streamed to the Interior Ministry in Paris, clamoring for arms. They were given rifles or carbines and partial uniforms, organized into 10-man squads and sent out to guard public buildings.

As dawn broke over the French capital, thousands of tank-supported troops and security forces were on guard at key points.

Much of France went on a virtual war footing after Premier Debre told a nationwide TV-radio audience Sunday night that an attack from Algeria could come any day. Rumors flew that 1,500 paratroopers in 30 planes had taken off from Algeria.

All commercial air traffic to and from France was halted. Trucks were parked on airport runways to prevent the landing of any troop carriers. Labor union members assembled at union headquarters to back up the security forces if needed.

WHERE'S THE POSSE?
Cattle Rustlers Hit Fairview Community
Cattle rustlers are believed to be operating in the Fairview community.

Vernon Langley, who lives near that community, has informed Sheriff Miller Harris that thieves have stolen four head of cattle from a pen near his house.

He said the theft may have occurred several days ago. He discovered it on Saturday.

The animals missing are two steers and two heifers. One of the steers is white-faced, weighs 300 pounds, and is branded with an O on the left hip; the other is black, weighs 448 pounds and has a V brand in the left ear.

One of the heifers is black, weighs 320 pounds and is branded with a V on the left ear. The other heifer is white-faced, weighs 350 pounds and is unbranded. Sheriff Deputy Aubrey Standard is working on the case.

Carriers Hold C-City Conclave

COLORADO CITY (SC)—About 90 letter carriers, wives and guests attended the spring meeting of District 4, Texas State Association of Letter Carriers, to hear guest speaker Andy Baker of Austin, regional director for the NALC.

He blasted the Republican administration as "economy-minded" and predicted increased pay, more benefits, more voice in management, and more regular jobs under the Kennedy-Johnson administration.

The meeting, held in the primary school cafeteria Saturday night, drew members and guests from Dallas to El Paso and from Austin to Borger.

Officers of the local unit include A. C. Clark, president and John Brown, secretary.

Good General Rain Needed, Some Areas In Fine Shape

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A good general rain is the thing most needed now by Texas farmers and ranchers. Dry winds and low temperatures the past week have dried up moisture, retarded plant growth and planting in most south and west areas.

Need for rain is greatest in far South Texas and in West Central Texas. Director John Hutchinson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said crops and ranges in these areas are beginning to suffer. In contrast, Silver Whitsett from Richmond reported pastures are green, wild flowers are blooming, baby calves are playing and corn, grain sorghums and cotton are coming up to make farming conditions look better in his upper Gulf coastal district.

NEEDS IT BADLY—The western half of the district needs rain badly, said Joe Rothe from Westaco. He added that crops and pastures in his far South Texas district are beginning to suffer. Harvesting of onions, cabbage, carrots and citrus is continuing and the cucumber harvest is just beginning. Livestock are in good condition.

The north half of the district is short on surface moisture and spotted frost in this section damaged all spring planted crops, reported Joe Glover from Gonzalez. He said moisture was adequate in the southern half of his district but cold nights were holding back crop growth. He described the condition of pastures as fair.

Moisture is adequate in East Texas and corn, grain sorghum, peanuts, peas and cotton are being planted, said Walter Scott from Nacogdoches. Livestock conditions are excellent.

SUBSOIL DAMP—Surface soil is dry but subsoil moisture is adequate but a good rain would help planted crops, advised R. G. Burwell from Stephenville. He said oats in his central Texas district were heading and providing good grazing. The fruit crop is set and growing. Livestock are doing well and sheep shearing continues.

Surface moisture has been depleted by high winds and grain crops are being held back by lack of rain in Central West Texas, reported Roy Huckabee from San Angelo. Pastures and ranges, he added, are furnishing average grazing but are beginning to burn. Livestock remain in good condition.

Rain is needed for spring crops and ranges in far West Texas, said Ray Siegmund from Fort Stockton. Winds are continuing to dry out surface moisture but livestock are in good condition. Cotton planting is under way with up to 50 per cent planted in the El Paso area.

SURPLUS—Moisture continues on the surplus side in Northeast Texas but high winds dried out soils which have been plowed, advised John Suravik from Mt. Pleasant. Some corn will be replanted and sweet potato land is ready for planting.

Small grains are beginning to head and are looking good in North Central Texas, reported Ted Martin from Denton. The grains top-dressed with nitrogen are looking extra good. He estimated that over 75 per cent of the corn had been planted but added that some will be replanted.

Surface moisture is needed in about half of the rolling plains district, advised James Simmons from Vernon. He said small grains are heading and continue to look good.

High winds last week changed the moisture situation on the South Plains. W. H. Jones from Lubbock reported that surface moisture was greatly reduced. Much preplanting irrigation will be done during the next two weeks unless it rains, he said. Wheat is needing moisture and some growers are now irrigating. Early range plant growth was good but is slowing now due to the moisture shortage.

Gloves For Pansy

A baby kangaroo, named Pansy, at Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo shows off the new cloth gloves that the zoo attendants hope will prevent her from scratching herself in the eye. The kangaroo was evicted from her mother's pouch April 3, about six weeks prematurely, and lacked coordination at this tender age. The zoo has given her a padded incubator and the gloves.

Sukarno Plans Mexican Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Sukarno of Indonesia arrives here Tuesday for his third visit to Mexico.

The visits is unofficial and Sukarno will spend most of his six-day visit at the Pacific resort of Acapulco. He will make a courtesy call on President Adolfo Lopez Mateos on Wednesday and is expected to have luncheon with the Mexican president at least once and possibly twice. He will also confer with other high Mexican officials.

The Indonesian president will leave Mexico May 1 for Ecuador. He also will visit Bolivia, Uruguay and Brazil.

TWO LETTERS

By T. H. Tarkenton, publisher
Church of Christ, West Highway 20
P. O. Box 1382

Last week I received two letters from readers who disagreed with me (and they have the right to disagree). One was anonymous, and if the writer will write again and sign his name, I will give attention to his letter. See Jno. 3:19.

The other correspondent I wish to commend for being open and above board about his name, address and religious affiliation.

This friend wrote in response to our call for Scriptures to justify eight popular doctrines of today. He offered a Scripture on one of them. He offered Acts 10:43-48 as an example of men being saved before water baptism. Our friend failed to read far enough on the subject; thus he reached a false conclusion. But next Thursday, 7:30 p.m. I wish to give fair consideration to what he has submitted. This is according to my promise when I made request for the Bible proof. Our correspondent is invited to come, and also to speak in defense of the idea he projected. Everyone is invited to come, and to ask questions. —Adv.

Wool Contestants In Texas Sun

Three of the 20 beautiful hopefuls for the Miss Wool of America contest, held in San Angelo, take time out from wardrobe fittings to soak up a little Texas sunshine. From left are Kathy Kershner, of California, Janet Ray of Colorado, and Jackie Plenke representing the Michigan-Wisconsin wool area. Gayle Hudgens, Hobbs, N.M., was the little Texas sunshine.

Castro Hints Clemency Trade For U. S. Peace

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A threat of firing squads hung today over hundreds of anti-Castro invaders and others rounded up as "counter-revolutionaries" during the ill-fated invasion of Cuba. "Counter-revolutionaries must be shot," Fidel Castro announced in his first public appearance in Cuba for a week. "We have to act with hard hands. Don't let the terrorists entertain dreams that they can act with impunity while they persist in these plans. Let them not ask for clemency."

A Cuban audience watching the marathon television-radio broadcast Sunday night in Havana cried "to the wall!" Castro spoke four hours and 23 minutes, vilifying the U.S. administration, President Kennedy personally, the Central Intelligence Agency and the U.S. way of life. He compared Kennedy to Adolf Hitler, called him an "international bully" and his administration "thugs who threaten the world with war."

CHILL OF FEAR

What Castro had to say about the captured rebels — he said there are 458 of them — and others of the thousands rounded up in Cuba on charges of disloyalty to the Communist-dominated regime sent a chill through the Cuban community in exile in Florida.

There was a hint that Castro might spare some from the firing squads. He implied that clemency would depend on a pledge from the United States to end any attempt to oust communism from Cuba.

Castro put it this way: "Now the imperialists are promoting a campaign in Latin America to seek clemency for the invader captives. Certain rulers of Latin America are promoting a movement of condemnation (of Cuba) and a movement for clemency."

TRADE?

"We are going to tell them first to ask the CIA and the United States for clemency for the children who were murdered here, that they have clemency for the victims of their bombs, that the bringing of weapons to Cuba cease, that the supply of explosives stop."

Castro's appearance — he was an hour and a half late on the air — dispelled rumors that he had somehow been put out of commission during the invasion.

He appeared to be in good health. His speech was accompanied by his customary gestures. Occasionally he waved his arms or thumped the table with a clenched fist.

He asserted that his regime had "won over a reactionary, aggressive, brutal enemy." "The threat of Kennedy is much like that of Hitler," said Castro. "Hitler threatened small countries. Kennedy threatens small countries."

VIOLENCE THREAT

Should any new invasion attempt be launched, all Latin America would rise violently against the United States, Castro said, and he called for an end to the U.S. "empire."

"If they (the United States) invade Cuba, all Cubans and Latin American sympathizers of the revolution will take the battle there, to the heart of the empire," Castro said.

"These thugs, how are they going to frighten the Soviet Union if they can't frighten a little country like us?" Roundups of suspected Cubans were reported continuing in Havana, which had the look of a city of terror. Diplomatic sources, in telephone conversations with the United States, pictured a hushed and uneasy city, full of fear. Even the victory parades drew only sparse crowds after waves of weekend arrests kept people in their homes.

Ruckus Cools As General Is Probed

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The ruckus sparked by a newspaper and a U.S. general has simmered down while the Army takes a look at charges the general furnished his troops propaganda from the John Birch Society.

Inquiries as to whether Gen. Edwin A. Walker is a member of the Birch Society have brought no answers from the Army or the general.

The Pentagon announced last Monday that Walker had been relieved of command of the 24th Division and put under wraps at U.S. Army European headquarters pending investigation of assertions by the Overseas Weekly, a privately owned American paper sold mainly to Europe-based troops.

The paper had said Walker used his troop information program to spread Birch Society material among his men.

NUTTY IDEA

Walker's GIs seem generally agreed that his program, whatever it was, had little effect.

"It's a nutty idea," was one comment.

One soldier questioned by newsmen said he heartily approved of the paper's expose. Asked why, he replied: "Because I don't like generals."

His understanding of the political questions involved proved to be confused—he commented he was surprised to learn the general had been making "pro-Communist remarks."

Walker's program seems to have had most influence on officers and noncommissioned officers. Reaction from several often reflected their own political viewpoints. Some disagreed sharply and others approved.

But officers generally declined to discuss the matter and none wanted to be quoted. Those who objected to the program said they regarded it as Red-baiting and held that the general "had gone too far."

CANCELLATIONS

The Overseas Weekly reported several subscription cancellations after the articles appeared.

One Air Force officer wrote the paper expressing sympathy with the general.

Before the Army clamped a lid of silence on the case, a series of statements and counter-statements exploded.

Walker was silent for a day after the weekly's first stories. Then, on April 14, he issued a denial that his troop information program was connected with the militantly conservative Birch Society.

Walker fired off another statement at midnight Saturday, April 15. He used the terms "immoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive" in talking about the paper.

The next day, the Overseas Weekly accused Walker of not approving press freedom.

RELIEVED

Before the general could reply to that, the Pentagon announced he had been relieved of command. President Kennedy ordered an investigation. It is being conducted by Gen. Bruce Clarke, commander in chief of Army forces in Europe.

The editors of the Overseas Weekly said last week they regretted Walker's "approach to the problem." They also said they were suing him in German courts to retract his statements about their publication.

DEAR ABBY

Not The Rope That Counts

DEAR ABBY: Why are parents so indifferent about what time their teen-agers come in at night? I've turned a deaf ear to our 17-year-old daughter's plea that no one else has to be in by 11 p.m. This rule is for movie dates, and does not apply to dances or parties.

Recently other couples have come home with her from the movies, and they stay until all hours. My wife says, "At least we know where they are." I sent them home at 2:30 a.m. and now our daughter is furious with me. Do parents sleep peacefully trusting that Sonny and Sissy will be home for breakfast? I say, give them enough rope and they'll hang themselves. What is your opinion?

DEAR OLD FOGEY: I think teen-agers should "be in" at a decent hour in order to get enough rest and sleep. I am not so worried about their "hanging themselves." If you have raised them right, you need not worry. If you haven't, they can "hang themselves" before the sun goes down on a Sunday afternoon.

DEAR ABBY: There is a man who belongs to our club who is giving me a pain in the neck. Just because I am a widow (50), and he is a widower (72), he thinks it is a real treat for me to dance with him. So, every time he spots me he asks me to dance. He is more interested in putting on a performance than anything else. He pumps your arm up and down like an old-fashioned pump handle, takes great, long steps, and goes fast and furiously, trying to cover as much territory as possible. He simply wears me out. He is nice to talk to, but I wish I could get out of dancing with him. Have you any suggestions?

EXHAUSTED
DEAR EXHAUSTED: This

might seem corny, but tell him you have a corn.

DEAR ABBY: My husband wants me to get a job, and right now! Our baby was two this month. I want to be home with our child until she goes to school, but my husband thinks I am just lazy. He says we can hire someone to look after the child. I think that is MY privilege. The wives of many of our friends work and my husband says we will never have what the Joneses have because he is pulling the load alone. I would rather have fewer material things and be home to raise my family, but he doesn't see it that way.

Tell me, am I old-fashioned and lazy to feel this way? I am so tired of his nagging, if you say so, I will go out and get a job.

NAGGED

DEAR NAGGED: You HAVE a job, and it is a very coveted, full-time position. Stay home and raise your TWO children!

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife went to court and changed their name legally because of a family quarrel. I am heart-broken and so is the rest of the family. I feel like a fool. Tell me, is he still my brother or not?

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: He is still your brother. What's in a name?

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Career Week Begins Today For Students

Career Information Week begins today at 7:30 p.m. at Goliad Junior High School as two panels of local business people tell students and parents about various occupations.

The program is a coordinated effort between the school, the A&M Club and interested citizens to acquaint students with work in areas of interest and aptitude. Students have been furnished results of their achievement tests, lists of high school courses, college entrance requirements, and the results of an interest inventory.

By attending sessions dealing with work areas of their interest, students can gain an insight into how they must prepare for entering that type of work, either from high school or after college.

Local business people will comprise a panel and each will speak for about five minutes on an occupation. They will give such information as usual duties, characteristics of the job, qualifications, employment prospects, advancement opportunities, and job locations.

Panel members and subjects for discussion in the gymnasium are Billy Dunn, veterinarian; W. S. Goodlett, soil conservation; Jimmy Taylor, County agent; Bruce Frazier, agriculture education; Maj. Curtis Utterback, military; Jim Bill Little, construction; and Jack Buchanan, farmer-rancher. Ralph Hughes will be moderator for the panel.

In the cafeteria, speakers and subjects will be Mrs. Jo Ann Forrest, TV-Radio announcing; A. J. Prager, salesman; Hayes Stripling Jr., clerks; A. K. Steinheimer, government-politician; Dr. F. D. O'Brien, minister; Johnny Johnson, insurance; and R. H. Weaver, lawyer. Moderator will be Mrs. J. B. Apple.

Burglars, Thieves Plague Residents During Weekend

Burglaries and thefts were investigated by police over the week end, with a heavy siege of calls.

Alberta Moon, 603 E. 16th, reported that someone stole her handbag from a car at the "66". It contained her billfold and several credit cards.

Mrs. T. E. Peacock, 3623 Dixon, said a reflex camera, valued at $15, was taken from her car while it was parked at Moss Creek lake.

Albert J. Dimmock, at the D&S Service Station, reported that someone entered the station, by taking a piece of masonry from a window, and took a cigar case containing $85.50 in cash from the store room. The masonry was used to close an opening from which the glass had been broken in a previous robbery.

A juvenile suspected of taking two wrist watches from the Savor Grocery, 311 NW 4th, was arrested Sunday night and turned over to the juvenile officer. A witness identified the girl.

Lita Byerly, Midland, reported that someone took her purse from a car parked at Asia Cafe, 106 E. 3rd. Contents were spilled on the street and only a billfold was missing.

Knifings Keep Police Busy

Police were busy after midnight Saturday checking into fights, cuttings, and rumors of still more, but only minor injuries were reported.

Mary Arispe, 1902 N. Gregg, called officers and said her husband was involved in a fight. Police have been unable to locate the other man.

A local hospital called to tell police they had a patient with a slashed wrist. Police said the man cut himself when he saw his wife dancing with another man. Two men were arrested and charged with affray following a fight at the Nile Hawk Cafe.

Another hospital called and said they had a boy who had been cut in the left side. Police investigated and found he had been involved in a fight with another boy. The families got together and "patched things up."

Still another call from a hospital saying three boys there needed investigating. One had a small cut on the neck. The boys told police they were playing with a knife and one boy was "nicked" on the neck. A woman called from the Greyhound bus station and told police she had been stabbed by her boy friend. Investigating officers reported that she had a small scratch on the left arm from a screwdriver and she did not want to file charges.

Commission To Award Contract

Letting a contract for the addition to Big Spring's water filter plant, and a new clear water storage reservoir, will be the primary item of business at the city commission meeting Tuesday night.

Apparent low bidder was B. B. Adams of Fort Worth with a base bid of $328,000.

Bids will also be opened and considered on two motorcycles and a new patrol car for the police department, and a pickup for the street department.

Recommendations of the Big Spring Traffic Commission and the Planning and Zoning Commission will be heard, and a public hearing on the proposed increase in electrical rates by Texas Electric Service Co. will be held at 7:30 p.m. Several minor items will also be brought up for consideration and action.

The commission will have a luncheon meeting with Jake Roberts, district highway engineer of Abilene, Tuesday to work out some problems in connection with right of way on FM 700 west of Westover Road; on problems in connection with the widening and paving of East 3rd and 4th streets from Tulane to Baylor, and on the proposed new Gregg Street overpass.

C. A. Hines Dies Sunday

Claude Arthur Hines, 1904 Benton St., died Sunday morning in the M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston.

He had been ill since August, 1960 and was hospitalized in Houston about two weeks.

A resident of Big Spring since 1941, Mr. Hines moved here from Springfield, Mo. At the time of his death, he was a station supervisor for Kent Oil Co. Service Stations in Big Spring.

Prior to joining Kent Oil Company, Mr. Hines worked for the Texas Consolidated Transportation Company and Jones Motor Company here.

He was a member of the West Highway 90 Church of Christ.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Stella Hines; two daughters, Mrs. Roberta Smith and Mrs. Carol Henkin; and two sons, Tommy Smith and C. A. Smith Jr., all from Big Spring.

CARD OF THANKS

The Family of Mrs. S. D. Buchanan wishes to express sincere thanks to the kind friends and neighbors for their expressions of sympathy and beautiful flowers and other courtesies extended to us during our recent bereavement.

Y Secretaries' Wives Organize Association

Wives of YMCA secretaries formed a new club at a West Texas District meeting held in Abilene Saturday and Sunday, according to Joe Leach, secretary of the local Y.

The organization is the West Texas Y-Wives Association. Mrs. Joe L. Leach was chosen vice president.

This is the first time wives in a district have organized into a club. Previously clubs have been within a city or locality.

Other officers chosen were Mrs. Gene Coleman, San Angelo, president; Mrs. Bob Shreiner, Lubbock, secretary; Mrs. Phil Brandon, Midland, treasurer; and Mrs. Bill Ellisor, Abilene, open door representative.

The club is comprised of 34 wives from El Paso, Midland, Abilene, San Angelo, Dumas, Perryton, Plainview, Amarillo, Lubbock and Big Spring.

Wives attended the meeting in Abilene to organize the club and in the future will meet at the same time as their husbands. This year the groups met to hear John Ledie, a nationally-known lecturer on camping, speak as the resource leader from the national secretary organization.

Ledie spoke about the Indian Guide Program, Day Camping and the Junior Hi-Y Program.

Some 18 Y secretaries and six ladies were present. Attending from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Leach, Everett Taylor and Ken Larson, the interim replacement for Taylor. Leach is the president of the West Texas District staff.

J. L. Lancaster Dies Sunday

John L. Lancaster, 81, died early Sunday morning after being seriously ill about four weeks.

He was born in Marion County, Ark., March 27, 1880 and has been a resident of Howard County since 1922. The retired farmer was married to Ada Mick in 1947 in Big Spring.

Mr. Lancaster was previously married to Zonie Gogbern in August, 1904. She preceded him in death Feb. 13, 1941.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. today in the River Chapel with James Eubanks and the Rev. Cecil C. Rhodes officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow; three sons, Alfred, San Francisco, Calif.; Oren, Big Spring, and Marion, Hayward, Calif.; five daughters, Mrs. Claude Tredaway, Midland, Mrs. Arlie Williams, Big Spring, Mrs. Chester Raliback, Mrs. Arthur Caughey and Mrs. Maurice Chapman, all of Knott; a brother, Newton Lancaster, Lamesa; a half-brother, Wilcox Wheeler, Big Spring; two stepsons, four step-daughters, 30 grandchildren, 14 step-grandchildren, and 27 great-grandchildren.

Palbearers will be step-sons of Mr. Lancaster.

Davidson Takes Over C-C Post

Big Spring's new Chamber of Commerce manager was beginning to get the feel of things locally this morning, as he settled down at the helm of the local chamber office.

Carroll D. Davidson, after a two-year stint in Odessa, where he became familiar with many of the problems faced by West Texas cities said recognizing these problems is the first step toward finding solutions.

Davidson was in Big Spring Saturday to attend the community "get-acquainted" dinner held at the Country Club, where young businessmen of the community played host to captains at Webb AFB.

Sunday was moving day as many of the family possessions were transferred to this city. Davidson said his family would remain in Odessa until the five remaining weeks of school are completed.

In discussing the strengths of the city, Davidson pointed to Webb AFB, Cosden, the highway concentration, and the hospitals. He said he is looking forward to working with community leaders in developing these strengths as well as new ones.

Davidson, 40, is a 1961 graduate of Oklahoma University. He entered the journalism profession, then changed to chamber of commerce work in 1954. He served in Wewoka, Okla., and Clinton, Okla. before taking the Odessa position.

He and Mrs. Davidson have four children.

District Legion Convention Scheduled Here In October

PLAINVIEW—Mrs. Lois (Byron D) Hill, Big Spring, was named Tuesday afternoon as president of the American Legion Auxiliary for the 19th District, Raymond Andrews, only commander to serve more than one term, was given a standing ovation when Wilfred Stoerner, Plainview, was named to succeed him as commander. Big Spring was awarded the fall convention.

Another Big Spring member, Bryan Hill, was elected as district vice-commander. Resignation of Calvin Foster, Big Spring, adjutant of the district was accepted as he is moving to Bryan.

Mrs. Hill, a past president of the Big Spring unit, has long been active in the district and was unopposed for the post of district president. She succeeds Mrs. Wilfred Stoerner, Plainview.

Andrews considered the leading candidate for the May election of division commander, asked not to be considered for business reasons and the convention named Warren Limer, Lubbock, as his candidate for the post. Under Legion precedence, the 19th District is in line to furnish the commander this year.

Nearly 200 delegates from Posts and Auxiliary Units throughout the district were on hand for the two day session in Plainview. Saturday afternoon was devoted to workshop training and the convention dance was held Saturday night. The Sunday sessions included Memorial Services conducted by Stoerner and the afternoon business meeting.

Attending from Big Spring were Commander Andrews; District Adjutant Calvin Foster; Hill, Victor Ziegler and H. J. Morrison. Mrs. H. D. Bruhan accompanied Mrs. Hill as Auxiliary delegate.

Big Spring, who has often been host to the Legion District Convention, was the unanimous choice of the delegates for the fall meeting. It is usually held in late October.

200 Dancers Expected Here

Upwards of 200 visiting square dancers from a dozen or more towns are expected here May 6 when the Westerners Association has its meeting.

The folk dancing will be held in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building on the HCJC campus with J. W. Taylor's band from Odessa furnishing the music. Callers from all towns will participate, and the host club, the Big Spring Squares, will have five callers. They are Woody Rutledge, Harold Graves, Billy Massingill, Pete Jensen and Roger Fleckenstein.

Dancers are expected from San Angelo, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Abilene, Snyder and a number of other places.

Pat Bishop Wins Twirling Award

Pat Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Bishop, captured first place in the girls' senior division of the second annual High Plains Twirling contest in Amarillo Saturday.

She edged Bonnie Black, Quanah, and Jan Probst, Anson, to win the big trophy for girls 15 years and older. Approximately 150 twirlers from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas took part.

Mrs. Archer Elected President

Mrs. George Archer, Gay Hill, is the new president of the Howard County Teachers Association. She was installed at a dinner affair held at Elbow during the weekend.

She succeeds Russell Howell, Elbow principal who is going to Grady School in Martin County next year.

Other officers are Merrill Romans, Forsan, vice president; Mrs. J. H. Fryar, Gay Hill, secretary; Mrs. Loy Acuff, Drowning, Midland, was the speaker and the Howard County Junior College quartet, the Jaysquawkers, directed by Ira Schantz and accompanied by Jack Hendrix, sang.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

U. S. Comment On Castro Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Official Washington withheld immediate comment today on a salvo of accusations fired at President Kennedy by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Spokesmen here declined to give a quick response to Castro's charge that "the threat of Kennedy is much like the threat of Hitler" and that the U.S. administration threatens the world with war.

Castro's rambling, 4-hour and 25-minute radio and television address Sunday was his first public appearance since last week's ill-starred rebel invasion of Cuba.

Kennedy moved to build up greater unity for his position on Cuba and for possible future action on the thorny problem of growing Communist prestige in the Caribbean island.

Kennedy moved to build up greater unity for his position on Cuba and for possible future action on the thorny problem of growing Communist prestige in the Caribbean island.

TALK WITH ROCKY

The White House announced that Kennedy would see New York's Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Tuesday afternoon. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is going to Independence, Mo., Tuesday to talk with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. These visits have been described as for the purpose of giving leaders of both parties full information. But an attempt to round up bipartisan support for the President seemed obvious.

Kennedy met Saturday with his predecessor Dwight D. Eisenhower, at Camp David, Md., and got from the former Republican president a call to all Americans to support Kennedy in the Cuban crisis.

Former Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon already had assured Kennedy of support, "even to the commitment of American armed forces." Kennedy also discussed Cuba with another Republican leader, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

OBVIOUS GOAL

Another obvious goal of the administration is to stiffen Latin American nations against Communist penetration in the Western Hemisphere. Kennedy touched off this part of his Cuban campaign last week in a speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

He indicated that the United States would go it alone if other Western Hemisphere nations "should fail to meet their commitments against outside Communist penetration."

This campaign seemed to bear fruit over the weekend.

In a joint declaration, Presidents Janio Quadros of Brazil and Arturo Frondizi of Argentina affirmed a sturdy against "direct or indirect interference by extrajurisdictional factors" in hemisphere affairs.

Another concrete action was Honduras' breaking of diplomatic relations with Cuba. In Guatemala, President Miguel Ydigoras called on the United States to show its "guts" and act even more boldly.

SIFTING ASHES

The administration continued to sift the ashes of the abortive rebel assault.

Saturday, Kennedy named Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former army chief of staff, to review American intelligence and guerrilla warfare capabilities. Taylor is to report back to Kennedy in 60 days.

Kennedy was understood to be concerned about what some authorities called a failure to calculate accurately in advance the strength of Castro's reaction to the rebel assault as well as possible errors in intelligence.

Taylor's assignment is to "survey and review the organization of the United States in paramilitary planning."

Para-military planning, White House news secretary Pierre Salinger said, means "nonconventional and guerrilla activities and certainly intelligence is a part of it."

K'S NOTE DENOUNCED

The United States denounced Soviet Premier Khrushchev's latest message on Cuba as "distortion of the basic concepts of the rights of man."

In a statement issued Saturday by the State Department with Kennedy's approval, the United States said the President did not intend to be drawn into an extended public debate with Khrushchev.

Earlier Khrushchev, in a letter to Kennedy, blamed the United States for the invasion and called the attempt to topple Castro "a crime which has revolted the whole world." The Soviet premier also accused the United States of "gangsterism."

RE-DEFINE DOCTRINE

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire called on Kennedy and Congress to redefine the Monroe Doctrine to let the Soviet Union know it applies to Communist subversion and indirect aggression.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on Latin American affairs, said he had been led to believe the United States played no part in the revolt. Now, he said, he had found "we played a considerable part. We helped supply supplies and transportation."

Morse, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on Latin American affairs, said he had been led to believe the United States played no part in the revolt. Now, he said, he had found "we played a considerable part. We helped supply supplies and transportation."

COURT RULES ON CHECK CASES

Woodrow Wilson Harrison, arrested by the sheriff's department Saturday on a warrant from Eastland for worthless check writing was turned over to Eastland officers Sunday.

Mae Frazier, charged with writing a worthless check, drew 30 days in the county jail on a plea of guilty in Howard County court Monday morning.

W. R. Bennett was brought before the court charged with writing a worthless check and pleaded not guilty. Bond was set at $750.

He was also charged with forgery in a felony complaint. Bond was set at $1,000 in that case. He posted bail and was released from custody.

Jack Schultz, charged with writing a worthless check here, entered a plea of guilty in a San Angelo court on agreement with local officials. He was fined $25 and costs.

Will Phillips, charged with writing a worthless check, has been released on $500 bond.

OIL REPORT

Lovely No. 1 Standard-Hamlin has acidized the Clear Fork and is now swabbing load water. No gauges were reported on this Howard County prospect.

In Dawson County, Amerada No. 1 Dunlap is swabbing the Chester, probably in the Mississippi, and on tests had fair gas blows on each run of the swab. This Lamesa, West (Spraberry) field is continuing to swab.

A Howard County outpost to the Playa (Spraberry) field in Martin County, James No. 1 White, is waiting on cement prior to testing the Spraberry. Logs were run after bottoming at 5,733 feet.

A Glasscock County wildcat, Texas National Petroleum Co. No. 1 Edmund Tom, is moving in and rigging up. The venture is projected to 10,200 feet and is about four miles south of the Gordon Street (Wolfcamp) field in Martin County.

Midwest Oil Corp. No. 3 Hunt-cott has bottomed at 2,521 feet and is setting 8 1/2 inch surface casing at total depth. This project is the third site in the Myrtle, West (Ellenburger) field and is 1,339 feet from the south and 2,466 feet from the west lines of section 420-97, H&C survey.

Amerada No. 1 Dunlap has been plugged back at 11,127 feet after reaching 11,715 feet. The operator perforated the Chester, probably in the Mississippi, between 10,800-890 feet and is swabbing. In nine hours, swabbing recovered 43.6 barrels of load oil and 14.9 barrels of acid water with a fair blow of gas with each run of the swab. The project was acidized with 3,000 gallons and swabbing recovered 33.2 barrels of load oil and 23.0 barrels of acid water. A fair blow of gas was reported on each run.

On previous tests of the Missis-

Capabilities. Taylor is to report back to Kennedy in 60 days.

Kennedy was understood to be concerned about what some authorities called a failure to calculate accurately in advance the strength of Castro's reaction to the rebel assault as well as possible errors in intelligence.

Taylor's assignment is to "survey and review the organization of the United States in paramilitary planning."

Para-military planning, White House news secretary Pierre Salinger said, means "nonconventional and guerrilla activities and certainly intelligence is a part of it."

Old Furniture Mixes Well

A fine French Provincial commode took up one third of this decorating budget, but it carries the room. Old or antique furniture does mix well with contemporary.

One Fine Piece Of Furniture Can Make A Room Mellow

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You can build an entire room around one good piece of furniture, says decorator Trudy Wilkinson.

"An old piece of furniture or an antique can mix very well with contemporary furniture," she says. "It is like introducing an old friend to your new home. A room that is strictly contemporary usually is too impersonal. The old piece you buy or inherit can mellow a room."

Mrs. Wilkinson has wedded old and new furniture for many of her clients.

"In one instance we spent one-third of the entire decorating budget on one fine French Provincial commode it carries the room, although we cut costs by using inexpensive cottons."

Color also helps in a low-budget decorating plan, she points out. Your favorite color can dominate a room, balanced off with tints of the same color, if you like monochromatic schemes. Or you can mix strong colors.

"Red felt draperies help liven a room; they look important but are inexpensive and easy to make," she says, pointing out that she decorated a budget room for a young girl using a green on white printed linen with red felt draperies at windows, using the same linen print on the sofa and two arm chairs, with red felt cushions on the couch.

A bachelor's apartment decorated by Mrs. Wilkinson has walls of charcoal gray and white ticking, draperies of the same and a bed covered in red velvet. She likes to hang fabric on the wall, rather than pasting it down. "It looks better and the tacked area can be covered with braid," she says.

An added advantage in hanging it is that it can be taken off when you move.

Other tips she suggests: Use silks on contemporary furniture when combining it with antiques.

Tie a room together by repeating the color of draperies in throw pillows.

Felt should be finished off. Use an inexpensive braid around it. Fine old draperies may be found at auctions; bad parts may be cut away to give you enough fabric for sways or draperies.

Wood gives warmth to a room and it can grow in beauty if it is waxed or dusted every day.

Creates Illusion

Susan Davis believes in learning all you can about clothes and make-up so you can create an illusion of beauty. She will be seen in "The Outlaws" for NBC-TV.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Actress Stresses Ways Of Pleasing

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — On "The Outlaws" set at NBC-TV, I met Susan Davis for the first time. This attractive Smith graduate, who came here from Kansas City, is climbing the TV ladder fast.

"Ever since I can remember, I wanted to be an actress. I guess I was just born a ham," she confessed. "But I wasn't born a great beauty, and I thought a lot about this. And I know that with the desire to make yourself more attractive, you can go a long way."

"I believe you should seek advice, but don't be afraid to hear something unflattering," she continued. "Find out what is wrong and how you can improve it. I took a course in modeling because I was doing TV commercials and I wanted to be pleasing to the eye in every way."

"There are so many factors that contribute to a first impression," she pointed out. "It is not easy to get a complete picture of yourself, but as I watched myself on film, I learned how important your hands are, and the way you use them, the proportions of your dress and the way you hold your head. Color makes a great difference and I worked hard to find out what I should eliminate. I don't wear black around my face any more. And I found that reds and pinks give me my biggest lift. And they are more flattering."

"Make-up and dressing well can create an optical illusion," Susan continued. "You can give the impression of height when it isn't there. I am five-foot-two, but I wear four-inch heels and I concentrate on an unbroken line to make me look taller. A sheath with a high neck and long sleeves is my favorite costume."

"Another point you must find out is at what weight you look and feel your best. Mine is 105, I hold the line there. If you take off that extra pound right away, it's easier than waiting until you've gained five or ten. I can get back to normal in one or two days by eliminating toast with breakfast, sandwiches at lunch and bread in the evening. That's not a great hardship, and it always works for me," Susan concluded.

Knott Folk Have Weekend Guests

KNOTT (SC) — Mrs. Tim Robbins had as her guest Mrs. Lucy B. Smith, her sister-in-law. She also visited with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Durden.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nichols, Morton; were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nichols.

Mrs. B. L. Roman was in Level-land to visit with her mother, Mrs. Jack Curry, who is ill in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Taylor and four daughters of Houston, visited Mr. and Mrs. Herschell Smith, Knott; Mr. and Mrs. Edison Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. George Franklin, Big Spring, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taylor, Westbrook.

Sharon King visited with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burton in Fort Worth during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat McFall visited here during the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John McGregor.

Local Women Return From Amarillo Meet

Three local women attended the executive board meeting of the Texas School Food Service Association in Amarillo over the week-end. All state officers attended the annual meeting.

They were Mrs. John Annen, director of cafeterias; Mrs. John Fry, district 4 representative to the state school food service organization, and Mrs. Roger Miller, local chapter president.

While in Amarillo they were guests of Rocco DeSalvo, director of Amarillo school cafeterias for a tour of four elementary schools and cafeterias and a tour of Tascosa High School. At Tascosa they were honored with a breakfast and luncheon and welcomed by the superintendent of schools.

Also on the agenda was a visit to the second annual Tri-State Greater Food Exposition, Panhandle Chapter of Texas Restaurant Association. Featured were the latest trends in food, newest innovations in restaurant and institution equipment, the electronic radar range and education films and live demonstrations.

Tom Walsh, director of Texas Restaurant Association, was host to the board for a banquet at the Crossroads Restaurant.

Grady Brownies Visit TV Studio

Brownie Troop 414 of Grady spent Saturday visiting KEDY TV, going on a picnic and attending a movie.

Troop members participating were Nancy Pugh, Deborah Holloway, Brenda Graves, Jennifer Gevrin and Nancy Madison. Mrs. Glenn Holloway, Mrs. Ralph Pugh and Mrs. Gib Madison accompanied the girls. Also attending were Jerry and Brenda Holloway, Sandra and Mervin Pugh, and John and Jay Madison.

Secretaries Initiate Week With Dinner

Members of the Big Spring Chapter of National Secretaries Association will initiate National Secretaries Week with a dinner at 6 p.m. tonight in the home of Mrs. L. M. Tucker, 1207 Pennsylvania.

National Secretaries Week will end Saturday with Secretaries' Day falling on Wednesday.

A business meeting will follow the dinner and Mrs. Winifred Greenleaves, nominating chairman, will introduce the slate of officers. Election will be held at the next meeting.

Cottage Prayers Slated Friday At Westbrook

WESTBROOK (SC) — Cottage prayer meetings sponsored by the Westbrook Baptist Church will be held throughout the Westbrook community beginning Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Homes scheduled for meetings and those to assist the hosts are Mr. and Mrs. Willie Brooks, assisted by the Ralph Bryants; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Barber, assisted by the Troy Lankfords; Mr. and Mrs. Charley Ranne, assisted by the N. J. McMahan; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bell, assisted by Mrs. Altis Clemmer and Mrs. T. E. Lewis.

The young men and women will meet separately at the church with Richard Clemmer, Laverall Sullivan, Tommy Bryant and Raye Conaway in charge of the men, and Mrs. Kenneth Address and Mrs. Rex McKeeney leading the young women with the assistance of Faye Conaway, Judy Ranne, Rebecca Bird, Carol Stone and Donna Bryant.

The Westbrook WMU of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. W. A. Bell for a Royal Service program in charge of Mrs. Kenneth Address. Theme was "His Heralds Will Preclaim Gaza, Jordan and Lebanon."

Call to prayer was given by Mrs. Charles Gressett with Mrs. Willie Byrd leading. Mrs. Byrd also discussed the Near East and Mrs. Bell told of the Arabs and the Story of Tyre and Sidon.

Mrs. Altis Clemmer gave a discussion on the comparison of traveling the road from Jerusalem to Jericho now and in the time of Christ. "Down to Gaza" was given by Mrs. Herman Parsons, and Mrs. Gressett discussed "Islam." Seven members were present.

Forsaners Make Trips

FORSAN (SC)—Mrs. T. R. Camp was a Coahoma visitor with her mother, Mrs. Luther Williams, who is ill.

C. F. Philley of Abilene has been visiting here with the Frank Philley and Oscar Johnson families.

In Odessa over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Kubecka, Mrs. M. M. Fairchild and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cardwell.

Martha Cowley of Abilene is a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cowley, and other relatives.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Romans and Rita Lynn are his mother and sister, Mrs. T. E. Romans and Mrs. Joe Haines of Lempassas.

Mrs. O. W. Scuddy was a recent visitor in El Paso with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mathews.

E. A. Grissom of Monahana, a former Forsan resident, is hospitalized in Monahana.

W. E. Stockton of Hyman, who has been in the Cowper Clinic Hospital the past 10 days, is showing improvement.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Shannon have been Mrs. Clara Kinck of San Francisco, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. Kris Kinck and family of Wichita Falls.

In Stephenville until Monday were Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Knight and granddaughter Darissa Crooks of Big Spring. All visited Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Greer in Stephenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Boeker are the parents of a daughter, Mary Elizabeth. She was born April 16 weighing 6 pounds, 11 1/2 ounces. Mrs. Boeker formerly taught school in Forsan.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lamb were Fort Worth visitors with his mother, Mrs. John Lamb.

Mexican Railroad Moves Texas Nearer To Pacific

By BRUCE FRAZIER
West Texas is moving 400 miles nearer the Pacific Ocean.

Without fanfare and with uncanny ingenuity and skill, Mexican engineers and laborers are pushing a railroad across unbelievably rugged and wildly beautiful country to tidewater at Topolobampo.

When they get there, possibly this year, it will mark the realization of a dream turned loose at the turn of the century. We will have a route 400 miles nearer the Pacific.

Col. A. E. Stillwell, the colorful railroad builder and promoter, envisioned the route as a short cut to the Pacific that would connect the Santa Fe Oriente with the little known port between Guaymas and Mazatlan. He saw the road started westward from Presidio, on the Rio Grande, but the dream came to a complete halt during the time of Diaz. Since then the project has been resumed and pursued sporadically, but doggedly. Within a few months Chihuahua al Pacifico Ferrocarril will complete the link.

CONNECTS HERE
The significance to this particular area is wrapped up in an obscure junction beyond Chihuahua City. At Junta, the road forms a Y, one arm swinging upward to Presidio making contact with the "Orient" to Marfa, San Angelo and then the Santa Fe trunk lines. The other arm points northward to Juarez, The Texas & Pacific at El Paso, and on to Big Spring. Not only will this shorten the distance to tidewater by a day's journey, but it will open up a whole new storehouse of raw materials from timber to tropical fruits, from wintertime vegetables to fresh fish.

Recently, with one of my sons, Roger Mack, I had the privilege of pushing along the line to the outer reaches where workers are hacking away in a herculean effort to close the last 40-kilometer gap. Officials of the road told me that I was the first United States reporter to make the complete trip. I hope to go back when the road is completed, and I predict that it will become a new scenic attraction for tourists as well as a commercial boon.

WILD COUNTRY
Most of this railway is through desert and dryland farming areas, but in the last hundred or so miles on the Pacific end, it plunges through landscapes as awesome as they are beautiful. This is called the Baranca de Cobre. There are three of the barancas, and each is something like the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in Arizona. Here the rims of the barancas are at the heights of the lofty Sierra Madre and cascade suddenly down almost sheer walls to near sea level.

The contrast in climate is so great that it is difficult to grasp. At tops of the canyon walls are forests of pine, fir and encino trees; the canyon floor may be filled with palms, oranges and tropical plants. In the winter several feet of snow cover the mesa tops, while the natives bask in the valleys.

There is a great range of animals—bears, mountain lions, etc.—birds and even of peoples. Several tribes of Indians live in this wild place, some in houses, some in crude shelters, paper houses, Luder rock ledges or in caves, or even in the open.

INDIANS
In the summer, Indians plant wheat high on the baranca slopes, retreat to the valley while snow covers over the mesa. They live in tropical comfort, basking in thermal springs, and next autumn when they see the slopes turning golden brown, they make their way up to the harvest.

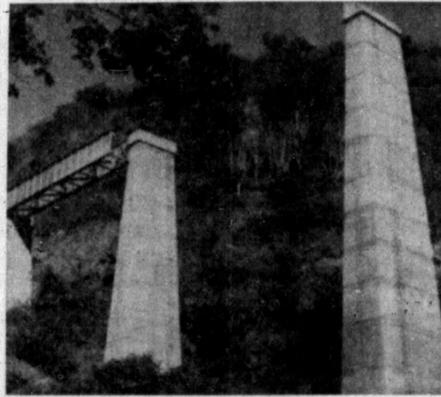

The abundance of snow in the mountains sends down countless waterfalls that cascade like folds of lace into the valleys. It is in this setting that you hear talk of dams to impound the water for recreation and irrigation, of resort facilities to attract tourists. Not many miles further on is Topolobampo and some fabulous fishing in the Gulf of California.

As we travelled through the different barancas and along Rio Fuerte, I saw breath-taking arrays of colors in flowering trees. There were some resembling dogwoods, but with brilliant yellow displays. Others were reddish pink like giant redbuds. Still others had a profusion of white flowers, and some had no leaves but masses of cottony materials along the limbs. This is one of the least explored botanical areas in our part of the world. It is a geologist's paradise.

ALMOST A MIRACLE
So much for the topography, but it does underline the accomplishment of pushing a railroad through such impossible terrain. It is almost a miracle, and these engineers and workers are deserving of a medal as though they were military heroes. Any nation would be proud of this road which is being made possible by low interest rate, long-term loans by the Mexican government.

The statistics are these: The road from Chihuahua to the Pacific is only about 200 miles long, but it is made with 82 tunnels, 7 false tunnels, 24 high bridges and over 300 cuts.

No one can appreciate the construction of these structures by simply reading statistics. You have to see them to appreciate the massive scope of this work. For example, one cut of 300 meters length (about half a mile) is wider at the bottom than at the top and curves on the downgrade. This single cut through solid rock required 30 years to construct, and it was built by one of the few United States companies employed on the road.

SPECTACULAR SPAN
... one of many along right of way

AMAZING TUNNELS
The tunnels are more impressive. One was being reinforced in the top, and minutes before we arrived tons of loose rock fell in, blocking the way. We had to wait several hours for workers to free us to continue our journey.

Another tunnel goes into the mountain and makes a complete pear-shaped curve so that the train comes out in the opposite direction some 500 feet directly below where it entered the mountain. Engineers working from opposite ends of this tunnel brought the tunnel together within 10 centimeters of perfect accuracy. These engineers, mostly products of the University of Mexico, can hold their own anywhere in the world. The false tunnels are required where rock slides keep covering the right of way. Concrete shelters are built completely over the tracks like a tunnel roof, and in a short time, sliding rock from the mountain cover them so they are like bona fide tunnels.

GREAT BRIDGES
Bridges are another marvel of construction. Most of them are concrete and steel, but some are all-concrete. In some cases concrete is mixed mechanically, but it is not unusual for the mixing to be done by hand. The aggregate is taken from the bottom of the stream being crossed, combined with cement shipped in from Chihuahua, and then hoisted in baskets to the top of the forms.

The form lumber is cut from the adjacent forests and is fashioned with amazing precision. Some of the lofty pilasters or piers rise over 100 feet from the river bed. The concrete and steel beams to support the rail bed are inched over open space, by muscle power, to the next pier.

At one point the track strings a hundred feet over space to suddenly plunge into a tunnel on the mountain side. The trains seem to be flying through thin air one moment, and in a twinkling they are swallowed up.

EASY GRADE
Remarkably, engineers have held the road to a maximum 2½ per cent grade.

Construction of the roadbed is no more impressive than the trackage itself. Track laying is by the very latest method. Steel rails from an Illinois company are laid on impregnated ties. Steel polishes the joint so that it is not easy to tell where the rails join.

To make this work possible great supply yards containing acres of rails were set up. Cross ties cut from the forest nearby are brought to the treating plant for impregnation with a preservative. Great piles of crushed rock, cement, and other materials give the forward section of the job the appearance of the Normandy beachhead.

PICTURESQUE CHIHUAHUA

My first contact with Chihuahua al Pacifico was through Senor Abel Prince-Fernandez, who is in charge of the operation of the line and is second to Senor Larranga, the president. Senor Prince welcomed me and my son upon our arrival in Chihuahua City. Next day at noon we left, not by rail, but by a taxi that dutifully circled the Cathedral of Chihuahua before striking out to the ranch country to the west. The cathedral was erected in 1730, years before we were fighting for our independence from Britain. Not far from it is where Hidalgo, the "George Washington of Mexico," was martyred in his fight against Spain.

But back to our journey. We were climbing the highlands and overtook a train, part freight and part passenger, which was pushing an automobile mounted on railroad wheels. At the next crossing the train stopped, and we were met by Senor Francisco Saenz-Navarrete, audit or general of the railroad. The five of us loaded our luggage into the contraption called the Autovia and headed toward Topolobampo.

AUTOVIA RIDE
We had an air horn that announced our coming around every curve and over every summit. We had air brakes, but these went out and contributed excitement and near disaster. We moved past ranch after ranch, through small towns where horses were used as they were here 40 years ago.

By seven that evening we had come to Junta where some of the rail shops are located and where the branch line from Juarez and El Paso joins the main line. We moved past a Menonite community where some of the finest oats in the world are raised; we moved past factories and towns, and a cellulose plant where logs are converted into raw materials for pulp and other purposes.

ONE DEEP CUT
... took 30 years to make, complete

By the time a full moon rose, we were high in the mountains at a town called Creel. Here an executive coach awaited our arrival. After the cook and waiter served a full course dinner, we settled down in the most comfortable beds you could want. Next morning, after fruit and coffee (made with hot milk, not water—cafe con leche, they call it), we inspected some tunnel construction complicated by water pouring through the roof on the workers who were shoring it with concrete. There was ice on every pool of water and the wind cut like a knife; I wished for a blanket like people were wearing around their shoulders.

ARMS OUTSTRETCHED
On the summit of the mountain overlooking Creel there is a statue of Christ, arms outstretched toward the countryside. It reminded me of some European mountain villages.

Houses were built of wood, some of logs, some of concrete. Roofs were steeply pitched to shed heavy winter snows. By the time the day warmed up, everywhere there appeared planters and window boxes of red geraniums. Even the boxcars where workers lived had them.

We returned to the coach and then had several courses of breakfast served in perfect taste. We also met some of the construction engineers on the project, highly intelligent and cultured gentlemen. They explained that the road is cut up into numerous projects with each one assigned to a separate contractor. Road officials and government inspectors correlate the work.

LIKE SOLDIERS
The cook stuffed a roasted chicken into a sack and this turned out to be our food supply for many hours. We moved past work party after work party. Some were laying the ties on the road bed, welding and fastening rails, covering over with rock ballast which was shaken down through the track by a special tamping and leveling machine. All the men moved like soldiers going into battle—a battle against the mountains.

We stopped along the lip of Baranca de Cobre where it looks like our own Grand Canyon. Our driver took his cap, threw it out over the chasm, and the wind currents brought it back like a boomerang. This would be a wonderful place for golfers with a bad slice. Waterfalls dropped out of sight into the trees underneath. Far, far below a river threaded its way toward the Gulf of California.

UNSPOILED
You would not expect to find luxuries in surroundings such as these, but frequently we had soft drinks, sometimes frozen. Although workers and engineers lived in houses made of a corrugated paper (we even saw a movie theater made of it), they had refrigerators operated by bottled gas. One such place which had two refrigerators served us drinks and a lunch of beef kidneys, green peppers, tortillas, spaghetti soup, beans and goat cheese.

The people are friendly and innocent and, on the whole, charming. They have white teeth that beam at you in every smile, and they all smile a lot. They laugh easily and seem free of modern tensions. In one sense, it seems almost a shame to intrude into this idyllic setting with two rails of progress that someday may bring trade and tourists to spoil all this.

(Frazier wishes to express his appreciation to Senor Larranga, Senor Prince, Senor Saenz and other officials of Chihuahua al Pacifico Ferrocarril for making the trip over the railroad possible, and for all other courtesies.—Ed)

Carr Explains Need For Enlightenment

Spiritual enlightenment is vitally needed, Charles M. Carr, Montclair, N. J., told an audience attending a meeting sponsored by the Big Spring Christian Science Society at HJCJ auditorium. He was introduced by Mrs. Anna Shannon.

"We need to be enlightened, not frightened," Mr. Carr declared. "We need to see the very presence of good—justice, mercy, good will, and integrity—in ourselves and in others."

God's law of healing is infinitely good, as available to mankind as the air they breathe, he said. To illustrate the practical results of the application of this divine law, he cited healings through wholly spiritual means of several serious illnesses.

"The greatest gift we can give to ourselves and the world is the Christy point of view, whereby we recognize as real nothing but the perfection of God and His creation," Mr. Carr said. Christ Jesus, he said, "saw God as Spirit, that is, as invisible, ever-present, all-embracing Being—the only Father of man. He saw man in the image and likeness of God, or Spirit, as wholly spiritual. He proved that man is subject to spiritual law and not subservient to material law. Through the understanding of man as Spirit's incorporeal, perfect expression, he overcame sickness, sin, and even death. He gave mankind hope, assurance, and an example of how one may demonstrate health, holiness, and immortality."

According to Mr. Carr, Christianity as Jesus taught it was not a theoretical religion but a demonstrable science. He held that Christian Science is the Science of Jesus' teachings and works. It is the law of God, or good, he declared. The law of God can be applied specifically to a serious problem and obtain positive, healing results.

Mr. Carr urged his audience to think of themselves and others in terms of the qualities of God rather than in terms of physicality or materialism.

"Consistent, spiritually good thinking brings happiness," he declared.

Modern physics has brought to the world a changing concept of matter, he said, quoting Werner Heisenberg, George Russell Harrison, Einstein and others to show where metaphysics and physics are beginning to merge.

"The physicist," he said, "believes that there is a thing called matter which can be translated into a more ethereal thing called energy. Christian Science holds, on the basis of God's allness, that matter of material energy is illusion, a misconception of reality."

Cautioning his audience against being trapped in the "deep-freeze of denominational beliefism, and popular materialism," he emphasized the need for a reassessment of values.

"Christian Science," he said, "helps to behold and experience the fact that we are the beneficiaries of the most thrilling discovery of our age. That discovery is the Science of Life which reveals to you and me and all who are ready the universe and man as God created it, entirely spiritual."

Here's a family who can honestly say:

Advertising never sold them anything!

The family in this photograph lives in Russia. We are using them to illustrate a point.

Unlike most Americans, these people seldom see or hear any advertising. Only a few posters and handbills, random announcements in newspapers and magazines and, lately, some commercials on the government-run radio and television.

So, these people can honestly say advertising never sold them anything.

Advertising never "sold" them an automobile.

Advertising never "sold" them a telephone.

Advertising never "sold" them a dream house, color television, an FM radio, a hi-fi record player, frozen lobster, packaged soups, modern furniture, an electric mixer, power mower, air conditioning, automatic de-frosting, home permanents, outboard motor, spinet piano, home workshop.

Some people might point out that life is much simpler in Russia than America. It is. And no wonder!

There are not nearly so many choices to make. Not nearly so many new things presented to people by manufacturers trying to serve them. Not nearly so many new things for people to want, because advertising helps show them how a product can make life easier, pleasanter, more worthwhile. Yes, and more dignified.

No automatic dishwasher ads tell human dishwashers how to get out of the kitchen dishes.

No travel ads tell families they, too, can go South for the winter sun.

No cake mix ads. No ice cream ads. No automobile ads. No ads to rub it in that they haven't got much cake—or ice cream—or a car.

Now...let's imagine that suddenly all this is changed.

Let's imagine that advertising as Americans know it begins to urge Russian families to light their homes more efficiently, or join book clubs to read Plato or best sellers, or grow greener lawns or bigger chrysanthemums, or lay the tile on their own patios, or deep-wax their cars, or eat more delicious and healthful breakfasts, or have wine with dinner, or vote the Democratic ticket, or vote the Republican ticket, or dress smarter, or sleep under an electric blanket, or look prettier if you're a woman, or handsomer if you're a man, or sit down at the piano and surprise your friends, or drive across your country just for the fun of it!

We wonder if these people and the millions like them would say "No thanks. We prefer the simple life."

We'd like to suggest that the next time you read an ad or see a commercial you think of the Russian families to whom advertising has never "sold" a thing.

And that you look at that ad as an advertiser offering you a choice to do what you want with your dollars to satisfy your wants in your pattern of living.

It's as simple—and honest—as that!

Tigers Sweep Twin Bill From Visitors

The Big Spring Tigers won a double header on the home diamond Sunday, pushing their early season record to 3-1. The two victories were at the expense of the Fort Worth Apaches. Behind the five hit...

Jayhawk Is Nipped

John Puster of New Mexico Military Institute is shown nipping HCJC's Eugene Franklin at the tape after finishing the 120-yard hurdles event in the Western JC Conference track and field meet here Saturday. Puster was timed in 15.9 seconds, which set a school record.

Runnels-Goliad Scrimmage Set

Fans will get a long-range look at future stars when Runnels and Goliad football squads meet in a scrimmage Tuesday to climax their spring training.

About 2 1/2 hours of solid football are in store for those who take in the twilight affair at Memorial Stadium starting at 6 p.m.

Six teams will see action. Teams No. 1 and No. 2 will be composed primarily of eighth graders, whereas the remaining teams are all seventh graders.

The seventh graders will start it off. Coach Emmett McKenzie said, at 6 p.m., playing 10 minute quarters without interruption. Teams will be alternated as units.

The first half will be from 6 p.m. to 6:20 p.m., and at 6:25 p.m. the first half of the eighth grade scrimmage (with 15-minute quarters) will be unbroken. The schedule calls for the second half of the seventh grade tilt to be at 7 p.m. and the last half of the eighth grade practice at 7:25 p.m.

Seventh graders will neither kick off nor punt. The ball will be put in play on the 40-yard line to start the game and after scores. If the offensive team desires to punt, the ball will be moved automatically 30 yards down field.

Eighth graders will punt but they will not kick-off. To start the game and after scores, the ball will be put in play on the 30-yard lines.

Coaches will be on the field at Travelers Take Second In Loop

The Big Spring Herald Team is currently in second place in the Ladies Travellette Bowling League.

The team has been in the top three spots all season, posting 38 wins and 26 losses.

In the latest round, Don Howell started a game with seven strikes in a row for a final score of 230. The team posted 933 for a single game. Members of the team are Evelyn Wilson, Mary McConkey, Dot Howell, Arlene McMurtrey and Marie Irwin, captain.

The team has an average of 751. Two more rounds of bowling remain during the season, one in Andrews in May and the other in Odessa in June 4.

Texas Athletes Figure In New Kansas Relay Records

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Six meet records were established, four of them by Texas athletes, in the win-up of the 36th Kansas Relays Saturday.

Baylor scored the most victories—two—and two individual events—but didn't figure in the record performances.

North Texas' State's distance medley unit was anchored here by John Cooper's 4:07.1 mile in record time of 9:49.3—01.5 faster than Oklahoma's record in 1958.

Texas Southern's foursome of Homer Jones, Barney Allen, Lester Milburn and Charles Frazier lowered the college division 440 relay record to :41.9 and the 880 standard to 1:24.2. The Houston Negro team had set a 440 relay...

NEW TEEN-AGE BASEBALL PARK RAPIDLY TAKING SHAPE HERE

The new Teen-Age Baseball League park, which is located northwest of the old site to the north of Big Spring, is being graded and staked off and lights for night play will probably go up sometime this week.

Clifton Bellamy is president of the circuit this year while Harold (Lefty) Bethell will serve as vice president and S. T. Bogan as secretary-treasurer.

A meeting of all persons interested in the circuit had been called for Tuesday, but it has been postponed. A new meeting date will be announced.

Two leagues may be formed, one for boys in the 13-14 year age bracket exclusively and one to include 15-year-olds.

Right now, it appears that at least 12 teams will be ready for competition.

The concession stands will be located immediately back of home plate in the new park, with bleachers on both sides of it facing the field.

The playing field is being enlarged to the extent that the fences down each foul line will extend 300 feet. In the old park, it was only 270 feet from home base to the barriers.

The lighting system will be enlarged to include two more light poles, it has been announced.

Forsan Girls Win

Forsan's girls captured the Region 11-B volleyball championship Saturday at Stephenville, beating Leuders in the finals.

HOUSTON (AP)—Jay Hebert missed a 10-footer that would have given him an eagle.

Bolt took a bogie on 18 and collected $2,500 for third place at 278. Lionel Hebert, Jay's brother, was the only other player from a starting field of 107 pros to break par over 72 holes. He won $2,200 for 279. Julius Bors received $1,900 for a par 280. Thomson took a final round 75 to share a five-way tie at 283 with Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Paul Harvey and Bill Casper Jr. Each received $1,200.

Hebert, 38, closed his birdie spree with a 25-foot putt on the final green for a 67 and a 72-hole 276, four under par for the 7,122-yard par 70 Memorial Park course.

Venturi, 29, the Californian who has picked up over $151,000 in less than five years as a pro, missed a 30-foot putt that would have avoided the Classic's third round playoff.

Hebert had earlier rounds of 69, 71, and 69. Venturi opened with a pair of 70s and closed with a pair of 68s.

Today's round was worth $17,000 to the winner, $3,600 to the loser. Venturi had named the third round playoff Peter Thomson and Tommy Bolt. He took command in the final round with birdies on the first two holes and held the lead until he missed the long birdie on the final green.

Venturi dropped a stroke by missing the green on 14. His first putt a pine tree on 15 and he took another bogie on a hole Hebert had birdied with an eight-foot putt.

Both birdied 16, but Venturi missed a 10-footer that would have given him an eagle.

Mahaffey Within One Of Tying SO Record

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Art Mahaffey, 22, Philadelphia right-hander, came within one stroke of joining Bobby Feller and Sandy Koufax in the record books Sunday by retiring 17 Chicago Cubs on strikes in the top left of a busy day.

If it had not been for Mahaffey and Frank Sullivan, who teamed up with a startling pair of 19 and 6-0 shutouts in the last-place Phillies, the big news might have been Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, who won game No. 289 on his 40th birthday. Spahn just missed a shutout when Don Hoak homered for Pittsburgh in the ninth, but he won 3-1.

Or it might have been Wally Moon, the spectacular Los Angeles Dodger who continued to slap those "moon shots" over the left field screen at the Coliseum. He hit another, his eighth homer of the season, all to the wrong field for a left-handed batter. Moon's hit gave him a 500 batting average and helped the league-leading Dodgers trim Cincinnati 5-1 on a six-hitter by Roger Craig.

LOOKING EM' OVER

By TOMMY HART

Billy Maxwell, the ex-Big Spring pro golfer, fired successive 69's in the recent Greenbriar Golf Open but they emerged from radically different rounds.

On the first round, Billy carded four birdies and an eagle but came up with four bogies. On the second, he had three birdies and just one bogie.

Maxwell said he was far prouder of his score the second day than he was the first. On the second 18 holes of tournament play, Billy missed four greens but parred every one he missed.

Someone asked Gary Player of the South Africa, if he had taken out American citizenship papers after he had won the Masters recently.

Gary's reply was: "No, they don't want any more Max Maus over here."

John (Red) Schwarzenbach, who has developed into a fine weight thrower on the BSHS track and field team this spring, will participate in spring football drills with the Steers next month.

Schwarzenbach, son of one of the better quarterbacks in BSHS history, tried of the game last fall and checked in his equipment.

He was playing in the line at the time. This time, he'll vie with Jack Irons for the fullback's berth. Red is a big boy, weighing around 190 pounds, and quick enough to prove an able hand at his new position.

Or defense, he'll probably man a linebacker's position. Schwarzenbach couldn't be blamed for losing interest in football, in a way. He was a member of teams that lost 24 consecutive games over a period of years at one time.

Another boy who will participate in spring workouts here is John Nichols, a sophomore who performed for Abilene's junior varsity troops last fall, and who recently moved here.

A 175-pound halfback who has shown quite a talent for catching a football, John won't be eligible to play varsity here this fall but could prove quite a hand for the B team.

Nichols has already engaged in spring training with Abilene and coach Emmett McKenzie offered to excuse him here, if he so wanted. Nichols passed up the chance, however. He said he wanted to play.

The uniforms for Jim Wade's sandlot baseball team here have arrived and Jim says the team is available for bookings with teams anywhere in the area. The club will be known as the Big Spring Drillers, by the way.

He can be reached by contacting the Big Spring Police Department, by which he is employed.

Bobo Olson, the former boxing champion, is now owner of a used car lot in Portland, Oregon.

That NCAA television football game between Miami and Pittsburgh, scheduled for Sept. 16 in Miami, will be worth $85,000 to $100,000 in TV loot alone to each school.

Either school has to share its loot with conference, because both teams play an independent schedule.

Pinus Hendricks of Agua Dulce High School, named recently to play for the South in the annual All-Star High School football game staged by the Texas Coaches Association, is the son of J. B. Hendricks, who was a member of the 1938 Corpus Christi football team, which won a state championship.

EIGHT FINALS—Tommy Arledge (Lubbock) beat George Grimes (Big Spring) 1 up. To get to the finals, Grimes beat Chuck Wheeler (Abilene) 2 up.

SEVENTH FLIGHT—John Sligh (BS) beat Jerry Barron 4 and 3. To get into the finals Barron beat Johnny Barron (Lamesa) 2 and 1, and Sligh beat R. C. McDaniel (Lubbock) 4 and 3. In the consolation, Johnny Swindell (BS) lost to Floyd Smith (Lubbock) 1 up. To get into the finals, Swindell beat G. P. Gideon 1 up.

FOURTH FLIGHT—Tommy Wilkerson (BS) was beaten 1 up on 19 holes by Charles Moore (Lubbock) in the finals. To reach the finals, Wilkerson beat Paul Morgan (Lubbock).

SECOND FLIGHT—Don Lovelady (BS) beat Jimmy Stewart (Lubbock) 3 and 1. To get into the finals, Lovelady beat C. H. Martin (Lubbock) 3 and 2.

THIRD FLIGHT—Bucky Grimes (BS) beat Gayland Brand (Lubbock) 4 and 2. To reach the finals, Grimes beat J. O. Burnett (Lubbock) 1 up. In the Third Flight Consolation finals, B. C. Swindell (BS) was beaten by Buddy Hamilton (Amarillo) 3 and 1. To get into the finals Swindell beat Tom McAllister (Lubbock) 1 up.

FIFTH FLIGHT—Tommy Wilkerson (BS) was beaten 1 up on 19 holes by Charles Moore (Lubbock) in the finals. To reach the finals, Wilkerson beat Paul Morgan (Lubbock).

SIXTH FLIGHT—Tommy Arledge (Lubbock) beat George Grimes (Big Spring) 1 up. To get to the finals, Grimes beat Chuck Wheeler (Abilene) 2 up.

Red Hot Tigers Win 7th Straight

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Scheffing, Detroit's fifth major league pitcher in three years, is looking like the man who came to stay at Tiger Stadium with his youth movement paying 10 dividends.

The Tigers' first home run, Cleve and then reeled off seven straight victories, taking over the American League lead in the weekend series with the Los Angeles Angels who now have lost seven in a row.

Jim Donohue, 22, a right-hander who didn't figure to stick with the big club, figured prominently in both of Sunday's victories, 3-1 and 3-1 in 11 innings. The youngster, up from St. Paul, stamped out a ninth-inning rally and saved the first game for Bob Bruce.

He won the second in relief of Jim Buckner, a young lefty with a chance to be the No. 3 man on Minnesota's staff behind Pedro Ramos and Camilo Pascual, shut out Washington 1-0 with four hits. He also drove in the only run with a fifth-inning single that hung a third straight defeat on Dick (Tough Luck) Donovan.

Jackie Brandt and Brooks Robinson led a 13-hit attack by Baltimore in a 4-1 victory over the New York Yankees despite Mickey Vernon's fifth home run. Cleveland shamed Kansas City 10-3 with the help of a wild pitch and a throwing error in a game that set a new American League record and tied the major league mark with 14 pitchers (seven on each side) in action.

Bob Shaw, a stubborn holdout in spring training, pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 7-1 decision over Boston and an even break in a doubleheader. Tom Brewer won the first for Boston 4-3 although his arm tightened and he left the game after eight innings.

Scheffing, fired as boss of the Chicago Cubs in 1959, continued to get the most out of his Tigers. Bruce was two outs away when his first big league shutout when Ted Kuszewski homered and Bob Cerv doubled for the Angels.

Scheffing brought in Terry Fox who hit two men, loading the bases. Donohue bailed him out by retiring pinch hitters Ken Hunt and Leo Burke on pop flies.

Chuck Estrada, knocked out in the first inning last Sunday, came back and beat the Yankees with help from Dick Hall. Brandt and Brooks Robinson each had three hits off loser Danny McDevitt and three successors.

Shaw retired the first 14 men he faced and scattered nine hits after Tom Brewer won the opener for Boston in a steady drizzle. The A's lost when, with two on base in the ninth by walks, Joe Nuxhall's fourth ball to Johnny Temple was a wild pitch, letting a run score. Catcher Haywood Sullivan threw wildly, letting a second run come in. Wynn Hawkins was the winner.

Bowling shoes are an essential for even the occasional bowler. We have them for you to rent, if you don't have your own... but once you start bowling you'll want your own shoes.

Street shoes "mark" the alleys... and those black marks cause slicking, ruining a bowler's slide. That's why the sole of the "sliding" shoe is of leather. For a right handed bowler, this is on the left shoe.

White rubber heels are used for the same reason (to prevent marks) on both shoes. The right shoe has a rubber sole to stop you short of the foul line when needed.

Ling Story Is Tradition—But With A Twist

EDITOR'S NOTE—James Ling is a young man who has moved exceedingly fast in a new and fast-moving field. When he was 24, Ling had $1,000. Today at 28, he's a millionaire, working on a merger to make his electronics company one of the 20 largest in the United States.

By MARSHALL COMERER
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Remember the orphan? He ran away to seek his fortune. Now he's rolling in greenbacks.

Great American tradition, the orphan story.

It also is the story of James Ling, given a twist here and there.

Ling walked a long road to a fast clip to reach the millionaire class at 28.

Along that road he has done such things as sell stock from a booth at a state fair, bid his last dime in a cable gamble, and lived in the back of his shop to save money.

Now Ling is president of Ling-Temco Electronics, Inc., which has assets of $93 million, sales of $148 million and an order backlog of $100 million. He recently added to this empire control of Chance Vought, Inc., a Dallas company making fighter planes, missiles and some major space projects, including a space station.

BURDEN
Ling first wanted to be a priest. He was 14 then.

But he felt he was a financial burden to an aunt who had reared him. So he ran away from a Roman Catholic boarding school in Shreveport, La.

He drifted from job to job and city to city. Then the Navy swept him into World War II.

Out of the service in 1947, he sank all his $3,000 into a home electrical wiring business.

From that start, Ling parlayed his holdings into one of the 20 largest electronics firms in the nation.

If physical size means a man is a fighter, Ling has the qualifications. He stands 6 feet 2 and weighs 208. He appears more at ease in a sport shirt and slacks than a business suit.

To a close business associate, "He's a financial wizard with a keen, analytical mind. He's a positive thinker with a lot of common sense. He's no big shot."

His personal income is $155,000 a year, and he lives in a $250,000 rambling, ranch-style home.

VACATION
Last summer his wife, Dorothy, a vivacious brunette, persuaded him to take his first vacation, a three-week trip to Hawaii.

When Ling started his electrical business, he lived in a room back of his shop.

He had been in business seven months when he won a $4,000 contract to wire an industrial building. His prime need was heavy cable and Ling didn't have the money to buy it.

He found a Dallas aircraft company offering $5,000 in surplus cable on sealed bids. Ling scraped together $546 and bid that, figuring some long shots come in. His bid.

He finished the $4,000 contract at a profit and sold the cable left over for $5,000.

Ling was on the road.

He incorporated Ling Electric with 800,000 shares at $2.25. He retained 400,000 shares for his assets.

Investment bankers showed no interest. So Ling obtained government permission to sell the stock himself.

AT THE FAIR
He and three friends handed out prospectuses from a booth at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

They sold among friends and from door-to-door.

All the stock sold in 90 days and the company netted $738,000 in new capital.

Since 1957, Ling has purchased or merged 13 companies—spread from Anaheim, Calif., to Winchester, Mass.—into Ling-Temco Electronics, Inc., maker of electronic gear for submarines, aircraft, missiles and satellites. It also makes such diverse things as packaged television broadcast stations, a go-cart and a central control system for coin-operated laundries.

Ling's biggest merger effort began last fall when he saw an opportunity to merge his Ling-Temco and Chance Vought into a giant aerospace and electronics company strong enough to win the big private and defense contracts.

Quietly Ling and his company began buying Chance Vought stock.

There were charges of stock raiding, law suits and threats of a proxy fight. But before the law suits went to trial the adversaries agreed on a plan to combine the two companies. Stockholders will vote on the agreement in June.

U.S. Hopes For Fighting Cuban Reds Just About Gone

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — U.S. hopes of driving communism out of Cuba—unless the Kennedy administration wants to court enormous trouble—have just about vanished for the foreseeable future.

Perhaps the only thing the United States can do for some time to come is take steps which will guard against new Cubas elsewhere in Latin America. A new invasion attempt now would raise an immediate danger of other Cubas.

The invasion fiasco of last week probably has greatly strengthened the Communists in the Cuban regime. From now on, according to indications in his speech Sunday, Fidel Castro will be a better and more willing tool than ever before for the Communists.

EXCUSE FOR TERROR
The abortive invasion also has given the regime whatever excuses it may have needed for relentlessly rooting out and eliminating its enemies on the island.

The firing squads, Castro predicts, will be busy. The crackle of their rifles will echo throughout the island as a warning to those who might think of continuing to resist actively. Their cause will look more and more hopeless.

As for the regime's enemies outside Cuba, they are hurting badly. It is difficult to see much other result from the invasion attempt than a humiliating defeat for U.S. policy and perhaps a costly setback in Latin America at a time when the United States had just about awakened to the grave dangers there.

NO CONSOLATION
The enemies of the regime have been denied even the consolation of hoping that they had inflicted some permanent harm on Castro which might remove him from the scene and thus deprive the Cuban revolutionary government of its figurehead and symbol.

Fidel is back. His voice is in working condition as he showed by speaking Sunday for almost four and a half hours. He had been oddly silent for a whole week while earth-shaking events involving Cuba were taking place.

The status of Fidel may well have changed, though. Among careful observers of the Cuban scene there is a growing conviction that the Communists have taken a much more authoritative hand in the country's affairs. The Communist party may well have emerged from last week's developments with full and undisputed control of the country.

SOME HINTS
There have been hints of this, Fidel, probably prompted by the Communists, has been calling his regime a "Socialist" revolution in the same sense as those of the Red bloc are supposed to be Socialist revolutions.

In his speech Sunday, Fidel again pictured the U.S.S.R. as the model for his country and he told

But if the Russians are going to act effectively to turn Cuba into something less than a madhouse in the eyes of the outside world, if they are going to organize the economy and stave off chaos, if they are going to register the nation's people as populations of other Communist lands have been regimented, then Fidel is going to have to toe the line. Except as a figurehead he may already be in a back seat, and that may be the meaning of the week-long silence which he finally broke Sunday.

MATTERS WORSE
That is no consolation for Fidel's enemies. If anything, it makes matters worse. The Communists, with swarms of bloc technicians, can give the Cubans lessons in how to be efficiently ruthless.

Communist terror will be far more effective than the harsh measures which brought the revolution against the Batista dictatorship. They will bring into play, along with the terror, such instruments as school children trained by Communist teachers to spy on their parents, and the police state measures perfected in the subjugation of country after country in the East.

With the firing squads busy and terror on the move, there likely will be little heart left among the enemies of Castro inside Cuba for continuing the struggle.

French Rally To DeGaulle

PARIS (AP)— "Give us arms! Give us arms!" shouted hundreds of men besieging the French interior Ministry during the night after Premier Michel DeGaulle announced mutinous paratroopers from Algeria might descend on Paris.

The huge inner court of the ministry was a scene of confusion. About 800 men milled around in the floodlit court, joined by a steady flow of recruits who poured through the big main gate.

Security officers organized them into 10-man commando squads to guard public buildings.

Trucks loaded with military uniforms and steel helmets roared into the courtyard and dumped their cargo on the pavement. The recruits hastily donned partial uniforms.

Most of them were eager young

Gaullists shouting defiance of the threat to their hero.
A few elderly veterans of World War I wore tarnished medals on the lapels of their coats. Some paraded in fragments of uniforms.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatene®.

These Primatene Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose.

So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms. Primatene only 98¢, at any drug store.

Held In Bank Robbery

Red River Navigation Group To Lay Plans For Hearing

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—Barney Holland and a hundred other persons interested in making the Red River more navigable meet here Tuesday to map plans for their appearance at a Corps of Engineers hearing. Future development of the Red River Valley—from Denison Dam to Fulton, Ark.—will be discussed at a formal Wednesday hearing called by the engineers. Navigation, bank stabilization, flood control and preservation of land along the river will be considered. The Wednesday meeting is the third held recently. Hearings were held at Alexandria, La., Thursday and at Shreveport, La., Friday. Interested persons have been invited to the one-day Corps of Engineers meeting. These include representatives of federal, state, county and municipal agencies, and those of commercial, industrial, agricultural, civic, highway, railroad, water transportation, flood control interests and property owners. Few of them have gone to the trouble and expense that Holland has to attempt to prove the need and the feasibility of using the Red River as a major means of transporting goods. Holland, 40-year-old former Fort Worth city councilman, has made application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a permit to handle water freight from New Orleans to Denison. He said he expects the ICC examiner to make his report some time this month. He owns about 10,000 acres of land along the Red River in Oklahoma and Texas. "I would be ready to get my transport system in operation pretty pronto after the ICC gives me approval," he said.

Desi Arnaz Is Taken To Clinic

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—TV actor-producer Desi Arnaz is hospitalized and probably will remain under care for a week or so, a spokesman reports. The Cuban-born television mogul "spent a pretty good day" at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, said Sunday. Arnaz entered the hospital last Thursday suffering from a severe virus infection.

DOES GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKE YOU FEEL OLD

Thousands are now discovering how much stronger and better they can feel by combating ordinary kidney or bladder irritations. These irritations often occur after 24, and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, COTWEX usually brings back relaxing comfort by curbing irritating action in urine, acid urine and by giving analgesic pain relief. Safe for young or old. Get COTWEX at drugstore. ## Bracero Law End Advocated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg Sunday advocated an end to the employment of Mexican farm labor unless the law is changed to protect American workers from what he called unfair competition. Goldberg issued a statement supporting a bill introduced in Congress by Rep. Merwin Coad, D-Iowa, which the labor secretary said provides changes needed if the program is to be kept alive. The treaty between the United States and Mexico under which about one million Mexican farm laborers come into this country each year on a temporary basis expires next Dec. 31 unless Congress extends it. "It is my view and the view of the administration," Goldberg said, "that the power and authority of the government should not be used in a manner which tends to perpetuate or lower the already depressed economic condition of U.S. farm workers." In addition to protecting U.S. workers, Goldberg said, Coad's proposal would enable the Labor Department to administer the law "in a manner which is fair to all parties involved." The labor secretary suggested that with the changes the law should be extended for two years to Dec. 31, 1963. Provisions which Goldberg said he favored were: 1. Before being eligible to employ Mexican workers, growers would have to offer U.S. workers wages at least equivalent to average farm wages in the state. 2. Eligibility to employ Mexican workers would be restricted to employers who make reasonable efforts to attract U.S. workers by offering and actually providing conditions of employment equal to those required by law for Mexican workers. 3. Mexican workers would be confined to employment in seasonal and temporary jobs, and to employment not involving the operation of or work on machinery, except in specific cases found necessary by the secretary of labor to avoid hardship. 4. The secretary of labor would be authorized to limit the number of foreign workers who may be employed by any employer to the extent necessary to assure active competition among growers for the services of U.S. farm workers.

Boy's Plight Has Fruitful Results

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The house where little Max Castillo lives with five brothers and sisters, their sightless mother and unemployed father has running water and enough food on the table for the first time in months. Some of the children have new shoes and clothes. All the Castillos have a brighter outlook on life—thanks to the generosity of newspaper readers in 14 states and the District of Columbia.

Letters, many containing cash, began arriving a few days after papers over the nation carried an Associated Press story about the troubles of Max, a 9-year-old shoe-shine boy.

Max spent Easter Sunday polishing shoes for five cents per shoe only to have two bigger boys take his day's receipts—about a dollar.

They didn't get the money without a fight. Max told police Sgt. Leonard Salas: "I knocked one in the river first."

Salas collected some change from fellow officers, but Max's delight was mild compared to that when letters started arriving from as far away as New York and Washington.

A childless couple in Montgomery, Ala., sent $5, a picture of themselves and a letter expressing hope for the boy's future.

In three weeks, the Castillos had received $89, most of it in $1 contributions. The largest was $10 from a minister.

Mrs. Miguel Castillo, blind for 30 of her 40-odd years, used the money to pay a $12.98 water bill overdue so long that the city had suspended service last January.

Other funds went for food—"Just things like bread and salami," said Mrs. Castillo, and shoes and clothing.

Gas and electric service also were suspended in January because of unpaid service charges. The family does without electricity. Mrs. Castillo prepares their simple meals on a neighbor's stove.

She pays $40 per month and $7 for insurance from the $67 state allowance for blindness. Of the balance, she said, "If I buy shoes, I can't buy anything to eat, so I buy bread."

Max gives her 75 cents to $3 per day which he earns shining shoes after school and on Saturday and Sunday. His older brothers do the same. Sister Gloria earns her lunch by washing dishes do the same. Sister Gloria school cafeteria.

Senator Aids Recovery Plan

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said Sunday he is giving full support to President Kennedy's recovery program because "we have more Texans hunting jobs than at any other time since the 1930s."

"I think that when we have 230,000 able bodied Texans unable to find work they need and work they want...to earn a living, we must face the facts and act vigorously to correct the trouble as quickly as we can," Yarborough said in a taped broadcast over Texas radio stations.

"The record shows that last month there were 32,600 more Texans hunting jobs than were looking for work that same month a year ago in 1960. This reflects a serious rise in unemployment, and it's a trend we must move to remedy," he said, adding that he is supporting President Kennedy's six basic programs to "give America and Texas additional purchasing power."

Yarborough said the program calls for such things as acceleration of the nation's highway construction program, increasing the social security payments, aid to hungry children of the unemployed, accelerated housing construction and community development, additional distribution of surplus food, and faster payment of veterans life insurance dividends.

"It is judged that these six programs will mean $90.1 million more in purchasing power in Texas in a year to be spent for retail goods and service in stores and shops all across Texas," he said.

Popular Alligators Get Threadbare

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—The two alligators in the Marin Junior Museum here are so popular they're getting a bit threadbare.

Assistant Curator Arthur Maden said he found their cage empty Sunday for the second time in a year. The museum's glass door had been broken and the zoo's food supply dumped on the floor.

Later Sunday both alligators were recovered after police tapped gopher current among the museum's moppet patrons. It led them straight to the bathtub of a couple of 10-year-olds who, police said, had been unable to resist the idea of showing the two saurians off to their playmates. The kids were referred to juvenile authorities.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Walt Disney has that rare talent of taking a bit of pure nonsense, a hoary old shaggy dog story, and blowing it up into an irreverent bit of satire.

In fact, he started his present trend with "Shaggy Dog." In "The Absent-Minded Professor," Disney suffers a nearly fatal attack of whimsy, and the resulting buffooneries, like a scatter gun, pop holes into a few sacred cows and other assorted asininities of our civilization.

Fred MacMurray is the professor, a guy who forgets his wedding dates, forgets to take off his laboratory apron; a man so well known at the small college where he teaches that loud explosions and huge columns of smoke issuing from his chemistry class turn not one head among the students crossing the campus below.

He invents "flubber" (a contraction of "flying rubber"), loses his girl, tries to interest Washington in his discoveries, and soups up his old Model T flivver with flubber so it flies.

Of course, none of this begins to describe the plot—you have to see it to disbelieve it.

Targets for Disney's scatter gun are varied—our ostrich-like contempt for mental brilliance, our preoccupation with world-shaking and important events such as basketball games, the devious minds of Pentagon brass hats, our maltreatment of contributing genius, the plight of small colleges, the machinations of selfish men.

Yet, the targets all illustrate one principle Disney tries to convey—that we had best awaken our minds if we intend to survive.

But "The Absent-Minded Professor" is never preachy, always funny. It is entirely possible to sit back and laugh so hard as to miss the more subtle points completely. MacMurray, one of Hollywood's better comedians, is rarely expert as the professor, and supporting stars are equally adept—Nancy Olson as the girl he intends to marry if he can just remember to attend his own wedding, Keenan Wynn as the crook who attempts to horn in on the flubber, Tommy Kirk as his delinquent but sassy son. The only disappointment is Ed Wynn as the fire chief who tries to rescue the bouncing crook (the flubber on his soles bounces him higher and higher and he can't stop). But this disappointment is only because he isn't on long enough.

There is so much inherent drama in the true story of Adolph Eichmann that one need not add or take away any part of it. "Operation Eichmann" could have been so much better had this rule been followed.

Eichmann was Hitler's number one man in the Nazi program to exterminate the Jews, and is now on trial in Israel, charged with the murder of six million human beings.

"Operation Eichmann" looks like one of those quickie movies put out hurriedly to latch on to the present Eichmann publicity. If it was years in the making, it doesn't show it.

Acting is alright, even fine in some places (they're all foreign), but script work is jerky and disorganized, and the viewer never knows exactly what is going on. The script also fails to follow the true Eichmann story, and a bit of the foreign-intrigue formula was added, apparently to juice it up a bit.

Just one example—Eichmann had a wife and children, and his wife was a typically loyal German hausfrau who probably never did a really bad thing in her life, yet the film version has Eichmann running about with a sexy, greedy, hard-drinking blonde to whom he's not married. They have no children to speak of.

The story line dwells too much on plot, at the same time leaving out details that would tie the plot together, and too little emphasis is laid on the actual crimes which Eichmann directed. One misses the shock of reality the story needs to be believable.

There were, however, a few short film clips from Auschwitz and Buchenwald and Belsen.

True, dwelling for more than a moment on Nazi crimes probably would drive numerous sensitive souls from the theatre, but there is no other way to portray the monster that is Adolph Eichmann.

Maybe the world could use a bit of remembering.

NEW YORK (AP)—Guests on "What's My Line?" Sunday night were a young man who gives mud baths, a lady who counts fish in a government hatchery and Peter Ustinov, actor and Oscar winner.

The panel guessed two—the fish counter and the Oscar winner—which was about par for the show. But as far as the home audience was concerned, correct guesses were only incidental to the personalities and repartee.

In the sudden-death world of TV, this program runs along year after year as a Sunday night fixture. John Daly, Arlene Francis, Dorothy Kilgallen and Bennett Cerf are broadcasting institutions.

Some of us oldsters remember way back when a wisecracking man named Hal Block had Bennett's chair. We recall Fred Allen's seasons on the panel, too, and Steve Allen's, Nowadays, the No. 2 spot—where the Allens sat—is reserved for visitors who come and go. It's the four regulars that the viewers tune in to see.

Over the years, this panel show has changed its rules scarcely at all and its format only once—the panel members now walk in to take their seats. This change was made so the women of the audience could get one good, full-length glimpse of Arlene's and Dorothy's clothes. The girls never let the audience down, either.

Over the years, too, the audience has come to expect certain things of certain panelists, Bennett's puns, John's little jokes

Weekend Death Toll Reaches 29

By The Associated Press
Traffic accidents killed 11 persons as fires, accidents and violence pushed the Texas weekend death toll to 29.

The Associated Press began its tally of violent deaths at 6 p.m. Friday. The count ended at midnight Sunday.

Deaths in West Texas included: Benjamin H. Atley, 38, was shot to death in a San Antonio motel Sunday night. Charges of murder were filed against Wilbur D. Connors, 52.

Orvie E. Firestone, 19, a McMurry College student, died Sunday in a two-car crash five miles south of Abilene on U.S. 83-84. He was a resident of Hermleigh, Scurry County.

Sylvester Glass, 33, was found dead Saturday east of his home near Garden City. Justice of the Peace W. C. Underwood ruled the death a suicide. Glass was found with his arm slashed.

Showers Bounce Around Over State After Storms

By The Associated Press
Widely scattered showers and thundershowers bounced around Central Texas early Monday following a night of storms and at least one tornado.

One area of scattered rains extended from 60 miles south of Abilene to Brownwood, Cleburne, Fort Worth and College Station.

Another area of scattered showers developed within a 30-mile radius of Waco and moved eastward. Some showers fell in the Longview area and at Fort Worth.

A tornado spun out of two thunderstorms that collided over Snyder Sunday and overturned a trailer and smashed a plate glass window. The city got 90 of an inch of rain and some hail.

The tornado winds overturned a trailer belonging to the R. V. Lashway Trailer Company. No one was hurt.

Skies Monday morning were partly cloudy through East and South Texas and fair in West Texas. Small craft warnings were displayed from Matagorda Island to Port Arthur.

Strong west winds and locally blowing dust were forecast for extreme Southwest Texas during the day.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the mid 50s in the Panhandle to the mid 70s in South Texas.
