MISS TUMBLEWEED OF 1961
Sandra Jo Cushing of Loraine

Loraine Girl Is Tumbleweed Queen For 1961

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Sandra Jo Cushing of Loraine walked off with the Queen's crown at Colorado City's Tumbleweed Festival Saturday night. She is the daughter of Loraine Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. J. B. Cushing, and was sponsored by the Loraine PTA.

Second place winner was Linda Chesney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Chesney. She was sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi. Charlotte Nuckolls, sponsored by the Colorado City Fire Department, was third place winner. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nuckolls.

Contestants made four appearances before the winners were finally selected by the judges. Judges were Mrs. Ellen Thomas of the John Robert Powers School of Modeling, Dallas, and Weidon Owens of the Dallas Times-Herald.

BIG CROWD

The girls appeared before a crowd of almost 700 Friday night in the high school gymnasium, first in formals and then in bathing suits. They appeared again at a Coke party Saturday morning, then in the parade, and again for the finals Saturday night.

The 1961 Queen is a junior in Loraine high school. She is five feet, six inches tall and weighs 117 pounds. She was crowned by Nati Lynn Smith, the 1960 Miss Tumbleweed, and the new queen will wear the same crown.

Lieutenants E. L. Nock, and J. P. Tillander, of Webb AFB, were escorts for the candidates as they appeared on the stage for each showing.

A mile long parade passed before a blocks-long crowd. There were 21 floats, all designed of tumbleweeds, formed in the shape of a map of the State of Texas, old time river boat, oil well including a walking beam, and many other designs.

IMAGINATIVE PARADE
Thousands were on the streets for the parade, in which unit after unit carried imaginative and fanciful designs, all of them fashioned from tumbleweeds.

The lowly plant had its contrasting element as queen contestants appeared in the floats.

Bands were on hand in number, with the Abilene Christian College unit leading the review. There were also bands from Colorado City, Loraine, Stanton, Post, Roscoe and Coshoma High Schools, and Post and Colorado City Junior High aggregations.

The lowly plant had its contrasting element as queen contestants appeared in the floats.

Many students entered projects by themselves while others worked in groups on single projects.

AT HIGH SCHOOL
The science fair was held in the high school building. Most exhibits were centered in the cafeteria, with others placed in the entrance way, in the science wing, and in the hallways between.

Certificates were presented each of the competitive exhibits, and first, second and third place ribbons were given in each of eight divisions of the contest.

A number of students stood by their exhibits during the day for lectures and demonstrations. Both active exhibitors and the exhibits themselves showed, in many cases, the evidence of hard work, concentration and originality.

REAL ROCKET
First place in the senior high school chemistry division was won by Max Moore with a display of a workable rocket, along with a neatly stacked assortment of the paraphernalia required to shoot it.

This rocket, incidentally, actually will be fired. Moore plans the shoot for next Saturday, but has not yet determined time and place.

Second place in this division was won by Kay Crownover. Mary Locke Crosland and Janie Harrington with lecture and working demonstration of copper mining and refining methods.

First in the physics division was a demonstration of the Doppler effect by Richard Combs and Wayne Griffith. The Doppler effect was one of the phenomena which got the late Albert Einstein to thinking about Relativity.

NUCLEAR DEVICE
A display of nuclear science in the form of a Van de Graff accelerator, took second place for Eric Brewster and Don Bynum.

U. S. Capital Excitedly Readies For Astronaut Reception May

Reception May Outdo All Others

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's capital will roar a hero's welcome Monday to astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr.—and it may well outdo anything yet heard in this city where celebrities are often seen and cheered.

Led by President Kennedy, the big names in government will do the handshaking and medal-pinning while ordinary folk will peer and cheer as the first American to of Honor, although this usually is reserved for bravery in combat, or perhaps a special congressional medal.

After the ceremony on the lawn, Kennedy will have a private, 30-minute session with the astronauts while Mrs. Kennedy entertains Shepard's family at a coffee.

Then it will be on to the Capitol for an 11:30 a.m. reception in the old Supreme Court chamber.

Guests will include the full membership of Congress plus many other top-ranking figures.

Next will be the news conference at the State Department auditorium where Kennedy regularly meets the capital's newsmen.

As of Saturday, all three TV networks and the four major radio networks planned straight-through live coverage, starting with the airport arrival.

Police are making preparations to handle throngs which may well come close to matching the hundreds of thousands who line this route for inaugural parades.

The revised schedule for the day calls for arrival of Shepard and his six fellow members of the Mercury astronaut team at Andrews Air Force Base in near-by Maryland at 9:45 a.m., after a jet flight from Grand Bahama Air Force Base.

At Andrews, Shepard will be reunited with his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr., of Derry, N.H. After brief ceremonies at the airport, the party will be lifted by helicopter the 14 miles to the south lawn of the White House.

There the President and the First Lady will welcome the group and Kennedy will pin on Shepard the Distinguished Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which sponsored the space flight.

Other medals are certain to come later — perhaps the Medal

The Doppler Effect

Richard Combs and Wayne Griffith admire their ribbon which denotes first place in the senior high school physics division at the Big Spring Public Schools Science Exhibition. Looking on is M. Douglas Whitley, high school physics instructor and general chairman of the show. The Dop-pler effect illustrated by the winners causes sounds emitted by moving objects to be squeezed to a higher note when the object is approaching, and stretched to a lower register when the object is receding.

Nearly 1,000 Visitors See School Science Exhibition

An estimated nearly 1,000 visitors saw the first Big Spring Public Schools Science Exhibition Saturday.

Most viewers were from Big Spring and surrounding communities, but some were registered from as far away as Bakersfield, Calif., and Bangkok, Thailand.

Under the aegis of M. Douglas Whitley, chairman of the show, close to 400 students set up 263 projects entered in competitive divisions, and another 100 in non-competitive classifications. Science teachers from all Big Spring public schools worked with the exhibitors.

Many students entered projects by themselves while others worked in groups on single projects.

Teamsters Win Farm Contract

SALINAS, Calif. (AP)—The Teamsters Union signed one of California's largest lettuce growers and has announced plans to sign 110 more ranchers to farm labor contracts.

That gave the Teamsters a jump over the AFL-CIO Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee, which for the past year has fought hard—largely through strikes—to move into California's rich agriculture.

The biology division included both junior and senior high levels. First place here was won by Bill Clements, Tommy Bacus, Arion Hughey and Robert Clay.

Their project consisted of a long, narrow airtight tank depicting the balance of nature, and containing representative species of both land and water animals. Herbivores and carnivores also were represented, and the pitiless nature of Nature was proved when some of the former were eaten by the latter.

PLANT EFFECTS
Second place was won by Norman Patterson and Marvin Bell with a hydroponics exhibit showing the effects on growing plants of various minerals.

Among junior high school exhibits, first place in the earth sciences division was shared by La Nell Meredith and Covetta Paris; first place in physical science by Carl Benson and David Campbell with a cloud chamber, second by George Williams with a communications set-up; in the life science division first place by James Wyatt with a hamster maze, second by Linda Sue Seago and Candy Sue Bacus with chick embryo displays.

Judges for the science fair were Joe Snyder, Bernard Young, J. M. Looney, all of Couden Corp.; Henry Dirks of the VA Hospital, and Gladys Burnham of Howard County Junior College.

Judging was based in part upon originality, method of display, and how well the phenomenon or principle was illustrated.

Shepard Briefs Fellow Spacemen On His Flight

GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND (AP)—Alan B. Shepard Jr. briefed his fellow astronauts Saturday on his 5,100-mile-an-hour journey into space and said "the only complaint I have is that the flight wasn't long enough."

His brief statement came in response to a query from newsmen. "After seeing Al, the best news I have is that the flight proved our training program is going the right way."

John H. Glenn Jr., the "back-up" space pilot for Friday's flight, said the Shepard had undergone five minutes of weightlessness, longest ever experienced by an American, and "it apparently caused no problems at all."

Scott Carpenter, another of the astronauts, reported Shepard had a view of the earth of 600 miles from horizon to horizon, and repeated Shepard's in-flight comment that it was a "beautiful sight."

Project Mercury engineers Saturday brought tape recordings of the flight from Cape Canaveral so they could talk more intelligently from an engineering viewpoint about what happened.

In pronouncing Shepard in excellent physical and mental shape, Dr. William K. Douglas, the astronauts' personal physician, said: "He's just like he was before the flight, only he's happier, of course."

Shepard left the seclusion of the hospital Friday night to attend a party in his honor hosted by Capt. Hugh May, base commander.

He was up early Saturday for a breakfast of scrambled eggs, orange juice, toast and jelly.

Among elementary exhibits, primary division, first place went to Joan Robertson for a constellation depiction, second to Randy Hoover in the intermediate division, first to Gary Ham for a communications display, second to Elaine Miller and Sue Bearden for an exhibit showing the effects of soil erosion.

Webb Air Force Base was represented by a non-competitive display of survival equipment and miniatures of flight scenes. These displays were attended by Lt. Phil Sotherman and Capt. H. W. Brown.

Judges for the science fair were Joe Snyder, Bernard Young, J. M. Looney, all of Couden Corp.; Henry Dirks of the VA Hospital, and Gladys Burnham of Howard County Junior College.

Several got out and raised money for the project. For instance, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Posey made contacts and brought in $270 with a list of names. Mrs. B. D. Wells brought in approximately $50 gathered in the Gregg Street shopping center area.

Blistered by some substantial amounts in addition to a shower of dollars, contributions sent to the Herald for the Crippled Children's Center jumped sharply Saturday.

So far, $753.03 has been received by the Herald. Meanwhile, other communication media and the Crippled Children's Center are receiving gifts to a fund to underwrite a therapist for the center.

Spaceport Fever Passes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — "Spaceport, USA" recuperated Saturday from a week-long sleep of launch fever that broke only 24 hours ago when astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. rocketed 115 miles high into the sky.

Many of the thousands who gathered here Friday to see the historic lift off have gone.

The capsule Shepard rode into space returned here Saturday morning, unscathed. Millions of television viewers saw it take off atop its Redstone booster. Only 35 people—newsmen, engineers, guards—were on hand for its return.

The 1½-ton lightbulb-shaped spacecraft, its black paint slightly scorched by the heat of re-entering the atmosphere, was brought back by the recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain,

Lions End Convention

The Lions District 2-A-1 convention ended here Saturday night on a note of emphasis for individual integrity.

Clifford D. Pierce, Memphis, Tenn., former president of Lions International, appealed for citizens and leadership which will put integrity first in their service to the nation and world.

J. T. Jones, Goldthwaite, was elected governor of the district succeeding Cecil Bridges, Stanton, who retired to the praise of his constituents. A. E. Purgel, Sonora, defeated O. D. Daniel, Coahoma, in his bid for district director of the Lions League of Texas Crippled Children's camp, San Angelo was unopposed for convention city.

Lions defeated two of three proposed resolutions by falling short of a required two-thirds majority. One calling for an assessment to finance a state Lions magazine carried 92-58, but by not enough margin. Similarly, a resolution cutting off nominations from the floor for district offices, was favored 87-63, but short of the necessary majority. A third (six-part) resolution conforming the constitution to general practices carried overwhelmingly.

The convention drew a registration of 422 Lions and ladies from more than two score cities. Forty-seven of the 59 presidents-elect were in attendance.

Winners in the outstanding clubs in three categories under 75 members were Norton, Midland South Side and Goldthwaite. Midland Downtown swept honors in the major club division. Midland South Side also won the attendance award.

Jones said he accepted the governorship humbly, knowing that Bridges had achieved one of the top records of any district governor in Lions International. Gifts were presented to several cabinet members, to the guest speaker and outgoing governor.

"We must think in terms of honor and integrity in this country," declared Pierce. "We can't go on blinking our eyes at things which are tearing down our nation and our world. We must vote."

April went down in the books not as the driest, but as one of the very driest, on record. The (See THE WEEK, Pg. 6-A, Col. 4)

Public Visualized Average WPA Worker As Leaning On A Shovel

By JOE PICKLE
A generation ago wages made up stories about the WPA. Madison Avenue hadn't stumbled on to say that the WPA image was that of a man leaning on a shovel. Saturday was the 26th anniversary of the act which created the Works Progress Administration as a vast public works program designed to help turn the corner back to national prosperity.

IMPROVEMENTS
That it became a boondoggle in many cases and a makeshift means of spreading relief is beyond argument, but in this area WPA meant a lot of public improvements as well as a lot of jobs to those who couldn't find them elsewhere.

Some of the Big Spring streets and Howard County roads you ride over today are the result of WPA programs. The Big Spring airport, now part of Webb AFB, was given its most ambitious improvements as a result of WPA. Most of the City Park roads and the big amphitheatre are the result of the WPA. Steer Stadium at 10th and State, since replaced by Memorial Stadium as the football and track center, was a WPA project.

OTHER PROJECTS
In addition, there were various other projects, some with intangibles such as playground and recreation programs. No one kept an accurate total of the grants, but in all the federal government must have invested something like half a million dollars.

The city and county and other sponsors advanced something like a quarter of a million, most of it represented in the cost of materials, supplies and tools. Thus, something like a million dollars was applied to such public works over a period of about four years. By today's standards, the work it bought would be two or three times that in value.

Seeds of WPA were sown in the Civil Works Administration, a crash relief and work program instituted within months after Franklin D. Roosevelt instituted his New Deal; and as one of the emergency programs to stall out the depression.

CITY WORK
The City of Big Spring, at first dispensing emergency supplies of food under makeshift arrangements, created some water and sewer work to utilize large numbers of men with picks and shovels. All this was not without confusion, for the CWA program was subject to trial and error and to change almost daily. Eventually, on May 6, 1935, the Works Progress Administration came into being as a somewhat better organized program, although it had its erratic and sometimes wasteful aspects. Some, by no means all, who worked on WPA jobs became addicted to it, and they helped create the leaning-on-the-shovel image.

The city made by far the greatest use of WPA, and because of it obtained numerous improvements which would otherwise not have been possible or would have called for bonds. Because the sponsor could count his tools, equipment, engineering, supervision, etc., as part of the contribution, the actual cash outlay was modest indeed.

$59,900
Some $59,900 in federal funds was put into the first city paving since the original paving was put down. Many laterals, such as Eleventh Place, went in as WPA paving. Another $66,000 went into city park development, including a system of roads, the monkey cage, picnic units, etc. Later another project resulted in the construction of the amphitheatre which seats some 6,500.

$100,000
There were numerous other projects with the WPA appropriations approximating $100,000. These included all sorts of minor construction programs, utility extensions, playground supervision projects in community recreation and training, pre-school nursery for underprivileged tots. There was even one project for supporting researchers delving into the history of this section.

Gradually WPA gave way to PWA (Public Works Administration) which called for outright grants of about 60 per cent by the federal government in approved projects. Moss Creek and Powell Creek Lakes came into being as a result of a $225,000 grant. The Runnels Junior High gymnasium and original unit of College Heights school were built out of a $80,000 grant. The municipal swimming pool resulted from a $25,000 grant. Still later the Federal Works Administration came along, and during the war years Big Spring got $300,000 for sorely needed water and sewer improvements.

Subsequent to the WPA airport improvements, the Civil Aeronautics Board had invested $250,000 in city airport improvements.

Pat McCormick To Write Article On Bullfighting

Patricia McCormick, famed as the lady bullfighter from Big Spring, leaves Saturday from New York for Spain to gather material for an article for "Sports Illustrated."

She will take in the grand Feria of San Isidro in Madrid. Pat, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McCormick, is doing a taurine article with the artist-reporter, Robert Riger, for the magazine.

The shape of the story is basically how to watch a bullfight. There will be special emphasis on the mathematics and geometry of the corrida. No timetable has been set on the article, but it likely will be in the issue coinciding with Hemingway's new book coming out in the early autumn.

As a consequence of the engagement, Miss McCormick will not begin her fighting season until this summer. She had to turn down four fights on the border during February, March and early April. One of these included an invitation to appear during the Easter holidays at Juarez where she launched her unusual career in bullfighting on Jan. 20, 1952. Since then she has fought in numerous rings all the way from the border to Mexico City and as far south as Caracas, Venezuela. In the process she has been gored half a dozen times, once near fatally at Villa Acuna.

She had planned fights during the winter in Caracas and Panama under the impresario Cayetano Pastor. He wanted Pat to fight six bulls alone in Venezuela in March.

Currently she is booked to do lecture tours in the United States in the early fall under the management of Arthur Meyerhoff Associates of Chicago. As for managing her fights and other affairs, Pat has taken that job over herself.

Plans Announced For Annual Rodeo

The annual rodeo will be held at the Big Spring Rodeo Grounds, according to T. J. Good, Big Spring Rodeo Association president.

The annual event is slated for May 31, June 1-3. Rodeo stock will be furnished by Elra and Jiggs Beutler of Elk City, Okla. Buster Morgan, rodeo producer out of Burkburnett, will be in charge of the production.

Clem McSpadden, well known rodeo announcer, will make his third appearance here and the show will be spotted with clowns and two specialty acts.

The five major events will include saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, bull riding, bull dogging and calf roping. The girls' barrel race is an added attraction.

A parade through the downtown area will precede the opening night performance. It will start at 4 p.m. May 31. About a dozen sheriff's possees and riding clubs have indicated they will be on hand for the parade. Trophies will be awarded for the possees judged best, under the rules of the American Association of Sheriff's Possees and Riding Clubs.

The local association and Big Spring Mounted Patrol will be hosts at a barbecue for the visiting possees and queen candidates following the parade.

Webb Girl Scouts Attend Campout

Nine Girl Scouts from Troop 299 spent last weekend on a campout at Lake Brownwood, the established Girl Scout Camp.

The girls, Diane Boyer (patrol leader of one group), Jan Ferry, Donna Pendergrast and Marilyn Meacham; and Beverly Pearson (patrol leader of the other group), Peggy Brown, Sherry Hall, Eileen Lewis and Donna Wiener, were accompanied by Scout Leader Mrs. Donald W. Pendergrast and assisted by Mrs. William Boyer. Also accompanying the group were Col. Pendergrast and son, Pamela Boyer, who went along as senior aide, and Airman E.C. James Sayers, who volunteered to drive the troop on their outing to Lake Brownwood.

The troop held a council fire and a Scouts' Own ceremony on top of a hill overlooking the lake. During the program, the girls rededicated themselves to their Scout promise and Scout laws.

Each girl provided her food and cooked it over an open fire.

Niemen Elected Booster President

LAMESA (SC) — O. G. Nieman was re-elected president and Adolph Hollmann vice president of the Lamesa Booster Club in a special meeting held Friday.

Tim Cook was also re-named to the post of secretary-treasurer. The club's purpose is to support and boost all athletic events of the school and the community.

It was the first session of the newly elected board of directors, which includes Fred Flanken, Walter Buckel, Jimmy Hughes, Charles White, J. H. Beal Jr., Charles Bruton, John S. Porter, Millard McDonnell.

Clendening Rites Pend In Uvalde

Carley Clendening, 68, died unexpectedly Wednesday evening on the way to a local hospital. He had apparently been feeling well during the day and was taken to the hospital after complaining of a choking sensation.

Mr. Clendening is the father of Gordan Hickman and the brother of Buck Clendening, both of Big Spring. He lived in Big Spring from 1926 to 1938.

Mrs. Clendening preceded him in death April 28, 1960. Funeral services are pending in Uvalde.

Survivors include two sons, Gordan Hickman, Big Spring, and Carl Clendening, Seminole; three daughters, Mrs. Margarette Carlton, Brinkley, Calif., Mrs. Jewel Adkinson, La Pryor, and Nell Rose Clendening, Uvalde; two brothers, Buck Clendening, Big Spring, and Willard Clendening, Fort Worth; a sister, Mrs. Ray Curry, Fort Worth; 16 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

SCHOOL DANCES

Christian young people and parents, and all Christians of the community should be interested in knowing whether it is right in the sight of God to go to dances or to promote dances.

It is not a question of how acceptable the dances are in modern society, nor of their value to make one popular. It does not matter if "everybody's doing it." The Christian's prayer should be, "Not my will; but Thine be done" (Luke 22:42). Neither should we "follow a multitude to do evil" (Exo. 23:2). Our instruction is: "And be not conformed to this world" (Rom. 12:2). Dancing, drinking, and such like will be discussed in the sermon this morning at 10:30; and you are invited to come. We shall see what the Scriptures say on the subject, "What Can a Christian Do for Recreation?" "Rahab the Harlot" (Exo. 2 and 6) will be the sermon tonight at 7. Water Usage Climbs Up During April

The water consumption curve turned upwards for the Colorado River Municipal Water District during April with a 4.69 per cent gain over the same month a year ago.

The member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder showed a combined draw of 631,640,000 gallons as compared with 595,319,000 a year ago, or up 6.06 per cent.

Oil companies using water for repressuring took 178,745,000 gallons as compared with 183,023,000 for April of 1960, or down 2.4 per cent.

Total sales for the month amounted to $10,385,000 and ran the first four months total to 2,533,901,000 gallons. The corresponding figures for last year were 778,541,000 in April and 2,321,517,000 for the first four months. The average monthly gain for the first four months has been 4.5 per cent, said O. H. Ivie, assistant manager-production.

These were the April figures on municipal consumption: Odessa 358,190,000, up 2.3 per cent; Big Spring 219,894,000, up 16.18 per cent; Snyder 53,556,000, down 6.57 per cent.

Oil companies with the exception of the Sharon Ridge unit which dropped 3 1/2 million gallons, were virtually unchanged. They included SACROC 117,455,000, Sharon Ridge 33,464,000, Lion Oil 24,254,000, Texas Gulf 3,592,000.

The April total compared with 641,843,000 gallons in March.

VA Employes Schedule Recognition Program

A volunteer recognition ceremony, scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at the local Veterans' Administration Hospital, will honor volunteers for more than 17,000 hours they have given in voluntary service.

Mrs. H. D. Bruton and Mrs. C. O. Hitt will be recognized for contributions of more than 2,500 hours each has given. Mrs. Mary Simian will receive a certificate of outstanding service for her accumulated 1,000 hours.

Others receiving certificates are Mrs. Roger Buck, Mrs. Frances Dowd and Mrs. Mary Simian. They have each contributed more than 500 hours of their time.

Some 16 persons will get credit for more than 300 hours and about 55 persons for more than 100 hours.

"One cannot really place a value upon their work," according to V. J. Belda, manager. "They have been a tremendous help at this hospital."

Presiding at the affair will be Tolford Durham, chief of social work. Chaplain C. O. Hitt will give the invocation and Manager Belda will welcome all attending the ceremony.

Before presentation of the awards, Jack Hendrix will present a musical program. Ira Schantz, accompanied by Hendrix, will sing a solo.

Guest speaker for the night will be Dr. John C. Stevens. Dr. Stevens is the assistant president at Abilene Christian College.

Bessie Love, chief of nursing service, will present the certificates for 100 hours service. Carlton L. Carr, administrative assistant, will do the honors for those in the 300 hour group.

Dr. H. C. Ernsting, director of professional services, will present certificates of outstanding service to those qualifying with 500 hours and 1,000 hours. Belda will then make voluntary service awards.

Another type of recognition will be for persons or agencies which have done some exceptional service for patients or who have contributed continued outstanding service.

Refreshments will be served to those attending by the local VFW Auxiliary.

Three Habitual Cases Set For Trial In District Court

Three defendants, each indicted as a habitual criminal, and each facing automatic life imprisonment if convicted, are to be tried this week before juries in the 118th District Court.

They are three of 25 felony cases tentatively set down for disposition on this week's criminal docket.

Also slated for trial are two defendants, charged with robbery by assault, two for assault with intent to commit murder, and one for possession of marijuana.

NOT SLATED
Not slated for trial at this week's hearings are the cases against Dr. Eileen B. McAvoy, charged with obtaining narcotics by false prescriptions, nor M. O. Hamby, under indictment for failure to pay state motor fuel taxes. Both of these indictments were included in those returned by the grand jury which met on April 10.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said Saturday he was not certain which of the cases would be called for trial first. He said there was a chance some of the 24 defendants slated for appearance before the bar, would plead guilty when their cases are called on Monday morning.

Judge Ralph Caton has ordered a jury panel of 100 members to be in his court at 1:30 p.m. Monday. At 10:30 a.m. Monday, he has announced he will call the docket. At that time, the cases which are actually to go on trial will be determined. Even moving at top speed, it is unlikely that more than four cases can be tried during the week.

HABITUAL
The three habitual criminal defendants are:
Pablo Campos, Charles Gilbert Cleary and Frankie Leo Bean. Campos is accused of being a habitual thief; the other two are charged as habitual burglars.

The narcotics defendant is Sineda Pineda. She is accused of having been arrested with marijuana in her possession. The incident occurred on March 11, 1960.

The two defendants accused of robbery by assault are Shufford L. Walker and Elwood Frazier Bunton. They are alleged to have robbed Gully's Liquor Store here on the night of March 20. The two men were arrested at a roadblock at Stanton by Deputy Sheriff Clarence Ahrhart within a short time after they had left the liquor store.

The two defendants accused of assault with intent to murder are Gilbert Martinez and Eladio Zubiate Jr. Martinez is under indictment charging that on April 5 he fired five shots at Ruben Torres. Zubiate is charged with shooting and wounding Mary Franco. The shooting occurred Dec. 8, 1960.

Watch Your Cat, It May Be Carrying New Disease

By M. A. WEBB
A new disease is discovered almost every day in this fast moving age.

"Cat Scratch Disease" is one of the newer names appearing in medical journals. And, according to Dr. David L. Young, a Dallas physician, it comes, of all places, from the family cat.

"Cat Scratch Disease," states Dr. Young, "is associated with either a cat scratch or bite, or cat contact, in from 52 to 92 per cent of the cases. Of the 16 family epidemics reported, all have been associated with a family cat."

CHILDREN
The ailment has been found in persons ranging in age from one to 70, although it is more common in children and young adults. About one-half of the patients have been less than 20 years old. In patients over 45, the disease is found predominantly in women. This may be attributed to the fact that women more commonly care for the household cat.

Seasonal variation also is evident. The period of greatest incidence is from September through February, when the family cat is usually inside the house and in closer contact with the family.

Howard County Health Nurse, Bo Bowen, said this week that it was the first time she has heard of the disease and that no Howard County physicians have listed any treatments for it.

First noticed, says Dr. Young, it appears as a primary skin lesion, knot, or bump, and regional glandular swelling, the disease may begin with a rash and fever. Incubation period ranges from three to 14 days from the time of contact to development of the primary lesion. Glandular disease occurs most commonly from seven to 28 days following the contact.

"Nodes are often more visible than painful and may be first noticed by their size," he said. They usually disappear within six weeks but have been noticed to last up to a year. In about 75 per cent of persons with the disease fever with or without shaking chills, headache, abdominal pain, loss of appetite, and a vague feeling of bodily discomfort may occur."

County Delegates To Attend Congress
Howard County will probably be represented at the 22nd Annual Meeting of the American Cotton Congress, May 8 and 9, at Lubbock, according to Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent.

The congress will feature an address by James T. Ralph, assistant secretary of agriculture. He will speak at the evening session Monday, May 8.

Registration will be at the Pioneer Hotel. The morning and afternoon session on Monday and the morning session on Tuesday will be in the ballroom at this hotel. The Monday evening session will be at the Lubbock Country Club and the luncheon session on Tuesday will be at the Caprock Hotel.

Tech Programs 4 Workshops

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech's department of education is offering four workshops as a special feature of its 1961 summer program.

Workshops for teaching elementary school science, for junior high school principals, senior high school principals, and for public school business managers and graduate students in school administration will be provided, June 6-30.

The science workshop June 5 will be directed by Dr. Milo Blecha, associate professor of science education at the University of Arizona. June 12-30 is the date set for the junior high and senior high principals' workshop will be directed by Dr. Holmes Webb, Tech associate professor of education.

The senior high school principals' session will be headed by Dr. Earl Siefert, former president of the National Association of Secondary School Principals and present visiting professor of education at Texas Tech. Enrollment will be by invitation only and will be limited to 25 students.

The session for public school business managers and graduate students in school administration will begin June 19 and end June 23. This workshop will be directed by Dr. Berle J. Fallon, formerly of Big Spring, associate professor of education at Tech and member of the professionalization committee of the Texas Association of School Business Officials.

That's Obvious

VIENNA (AP)—The trade ministry is working on plans to create a series of tourist-catering vacation areas in Austria where noise will usually be held to a minimum.

A government investigating committee recently found that noise, most of it caused by vehicles, damages public health and cuts down the tourist trade.

Tourist Is More Profitable Crop; He's Easier To Pick

The travel industry is the third biggest economic factor in the nation, but Texas' share of it has been declining steadily since 1957.

To reverse this trend, the Texas Motel Association has given a plan to the Legislature which promises to help the state's general economy as well as the many-sided travel and tourist industry.

Texas motels must collect a three per cent tax from persons who rent rooms, and last year they turned over almost $3 million into the state treasury. Why not, ask the highway hosts, take 10 per cent of the tax collections each year and use the money to advertise for additional vacationers?

The "Tourist Court Journal" points out that most of the states already use the tourists' own money to advertise for more tourists and that Texas is falling far behind in the race. In 1957, for instance, out of state vacationers spent $64 million more in Texas than they did in 1960—the $64 million going into the businesses and tax revenues of other states.

Voters have changed Texas laws to permit the state to advertise for tourists, but money allocated for the Texas Highway Department's use in doing this job has been inadequate to compete with the multi-colored enticements of other states.

Bob Perry, executive secretary of the Texas Motel Association, said the state's 3,600 motels actually are in the minority among businesses which will gain through heavier influx of tourists. The 8.6 million visitors to Texas last year spent $457 million in the state, Perry said. Out of the average dollar, he explained: 20 cents were spent in retail stores, 28 cents were spent for food, eight cents were spent on recreation, three cents were spent on tires, auto parts, repairs, 19 cents were spent for gasoline and oil, and 22 cents were spent for lodging.

Perry cited Texas Highway Department records showing the average vacationer spent six days in Texas, toured 1,105 miles in the state, leaving $8.91 a day among merchants along the way.

"By regular use of 10 per cent of the tourist tax for additional tourist advertising and promotion," Perry said, "Texas can regain the $64 million a year it is losing to other states. Not only will many small businesses of Texas profit more, but the general public will get the benefit of a more prosperous economy and more of the tax burden being shifted to out-of-state visitors."

One Southern Governor has stated it another way: "One out-of-state tourist brings more cash profit than a bale of cotton, and he's a sight easier to pick!"

Fumes Kill 4

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP)—Fumes have caused the deaths of four men Friday inside a blast furnace at Republic Steel Corp.

Easily boasting the largest number of members—more than 600,000—in the greatest number of countries of the world, Lions International lays solid claim to being the world's largest, busiest and most representative service organization...

But for the first 10 years of its existence, Lions International had tough going. It was not until the depression days that it was able to get out of the red.

At the time of organization in 1917, said Kirkham, the balance was $76, and the next year the organization was $120 in the hole.

service club for the sake of service was gaining steady currency. "There were other clubs in existence when Melvin Jones (who founded Lions) asked why businessmen couldn't band together for service rather than mutual trade advantages...

In 1926, Lions International had to cancel the New York City charter for non-payment of dues, indicative of how hard it was to establish the service club idea.

...Lionism is recognized by many leaders as the greatest medium for peace in the world," said Kirkham. "Next to the home and church, the service club deserves to be in third place. It is composed of men who want to serve and men who are willing to take the lead."

At the luncheon, Steve Shannon, president of the big Midland Downtown Club, presented Roy Minear, Midland, district director on the Texas Lions Crippled Children's Camp...

Lion Gov. Cecil Bridges presented an award to J. T. Jones, Goldthwaite, zone chairman, for having helped in organization of two clubs—Buchanan Dam and Kingsland—in his zone during the year. He also gave David (Doc) Ellis, Midland, cabinet secretary, a handsome Lion statuette for outstanding service.

In the afternoon session Gov. Bridges reported the district had ranked in the top 25 in membership in Lions International. In service it was an active year—for instance at Christmas, every club in the district had a project.

Resolutions adopted include the courtesy ones to Big Spring and its Lions clubs as hosts, commendation to the visiting dignitaries, and a special one to Gov. Bridges for increasing the district "both in strength and numbers."

In his report on statewide activities, Cecil Massey, Weatherford, chairman of the state governors council, said that membership retention continues to be the big problem. Although 16 clubs were added, 13 were lost. Only 3 of 15 districts in Texas had a net membership gain...

Commission To Consider Packer Bids

The city commission will read and consider bids on one garbage packer body for a truck for the sanitation department, read and consider bids for two transmitter-receiver mobile radio units for new vehicles, read and consider two ordinances, one affecting house moving and one amendment to the dance hall ordinance; and consider appointments to fill a vacancy on the city-county juvenile board, and two vacancies on the CRMWD board. A discussion of a request from Webb AFB for permission to have a 16-ship T-33 fly-over on Saturday morning, May 20, Armed Forces Day, is slated and ordinances correcting paving assessment rolls will be read. The garbage packer body will be placed on a new truck to go in service in the late summer to speed up garbage collection. The reason for the earlier ordering of the body is because of the time element involved in building the new body to fit the needs of the department. The two radios will be used by the police department for a new patrol car and for a new three-wheel motorcycle. One car now equipped with a radio and not suitable for the police department will be transferred to another department. Recommendations from the planning and zoning commission will also be considered.

Webb AFB Projects Due June Letting

Possible lettings in June for an estimated $375,000 in work at Webb AFB are indicated in an announcement Saturday by the Fort Worth district of the U. S. Army Engineers. The largest of the two jobs listed is for approach lighting to Webb AFB. Invitations are due to be issued about May 9 on this project costing some $300,000. The successful bidder will furnish all paint, equipment, labor and material, except material supplied by the government, and perform all work on installation of an approach lighting system for the primary instrument runway. The work will be installation of threshold and directional lights, direct buried electrical cable, monitoring system, and an addition to night lighting vault. Opening data is due about June 9. The second proposal, for which invitations will be issued about May 24, is for a refueling vehicle shop. The contractor will furnish all labor, materials and equipment for laying concrete foundation and floor slab for about 3,500 square feet of area. A pre-engineered metal building will be provided by other sources, and then the contractor will install heating, air conditioning, and otherwise complete the building. Driveway, parking areas and outside utilities also will be supplied. Estimated cost is $75,000 and the bid opening date will be about June 20.

Local Students Get All First Place Medals

All 10 piano students entered from Big Spring in the 1961 biennial Piano Recording competition sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers won first place medals. In all, they won 29 such medals along with cash prizes for several. The showing was considered exceptional because of eight possible places, none ranked lower than first. They were in competition along with 57,880 other pupils from coast to coast. Pupils of Jack Hendrix and Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser were entered. The pupils made recordings of their entries and these were in for judging. Those placing first in Mrs. Houser's group were Rachael Phelan, Beverly Hooser and Marilyn Doelph. They each entered one division. Those under Hendrix entered three or more divisions and results included Dally Adair, Kenneth Nance, Donna Wiehe and Kathleen Wood, three places, Delores Howard four, and Robert Phelan and Myrna Richardson five each. Cash prizes, ranging from $15 up to $25, went to Rachael Phelan, Delores Howard, Kenneth Nance, Robert Phelan, Myrna Richardson, Donna Wiehe, Kathleen Wood.

Auditions Planned For 150 Students

There will be no lack of piano music here during National Music Week although it won't be in the form of concerts. Approximately 150 students under 12 members of the National Guild of Piano Teachers will be in auditions for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians. They also will be striving for local, district, state, national or even international honors which the Guild will confer according to the number of standard classic, romantic and modern pieces chosen from the masters of piano-orte literature each student can creditably perform. They will be competing against a standard along with 60,000 pupils across the nation. Those qualifying will be given bronze or gold pins. The national auditions were launched at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene in 1929 and the national headquarters are still maintained in Texas, at Austin. Local auditions will be in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium Monday through May 13. Judging the auditions will be Patricia Pierce, teacher in Southwestern University at Springfield, Mo. Miss Pierce holds her BA degree from the University of Texas and her masters degree from the University of Wisconsin. She was awarded a Fulbright scholarship in 1954 and studied in Frankfurt, Germany. She has been presented in numerous concerts and has been concert pianist with the Louisville Philharmonic, the University of Michigan Symphony and the honor symphony at Interlochen, Mich. She has been judging for a number of years at festival and concerto contests. Guild teachers with students entering include Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser, chairman; Mrs. Fred Beckham, Mrs. Robert Heinze, Mrs. Douglas Wiehe, Mrs. Nell Frazier, Mrs. R. L. Morris, Mrs. Annette Ray, Miss Roberta Gay, Miss Elsie Willis, and Jack Hendrix of Big Spring; Mrs. Dick Mitchell, Garden City; and Mrs. W. N. Bethel, Snyder.

Ryals, fireman, lost a fingernail on his right hand while fighting the fire, and Roy Smith suffered a foot injury when he stepped on a nail. Human Safety Prime Factor In Space, C-City Crowd Told COLORADO CITY — This West Texas community had its gayer moments with its unique Tumbleweed Festival, but it got serious for awhile Saturday to hear a scholarly discussion on a phase of man's adventure into space.

At a Festival luncheon at Civic House, attended by several hundred, Brig. Gen. Theodore C. Bedwell Jr. told how the U.S. is guarding its astronauts as they advance into space flights, and how human safety is kept as a prime factor in the complicated tests.

Gen. Bedwell is commanding officer of the U.S. Air Force Aero Space Medical Center, Brooke AFB (San Antonio), a facility he described as the first of its kind in the world.

THE WEEK

of an inch was scarcely any different from the four other times in the past 60 years there has been no rain. Long range forecasts offer little immediate hope, so our best chance at this critical period is a sneak thunderstorm.

Big Spring Band Boosters hit off a nice check last week in voting to back the Runnels Junior High band uniform purchase up to $4,000.

Another interesting development on the school front was the staging of a school science fair Saturday. Pupils had arranged some creditable exhibits, and those who complain that other things are over-emphasized in the school program ought to have taken time out to inspect these exhibits.

The city and Truman Jones, representing the Jacobus apartment center development, came to an agreement on right-of-way on a strip north of FM-700 at the Park Road intersection.

Members of the city's planning and zoning commission voted last week to fix a time limit on zoning. The idea is to fix a cut-off date for starting improvements made possible by zoning changes.

Burglars have been active. In one haul last week they hit the commissary at Webb AFB. Indications are that the safe-cracking job netted something like $3,000, one of the largest hauls in the area in quite some time.

Mental Health Week drew a good observance, starting with presentation of a painting by Mrs. Leland Croft, Odessa, long time friend of the Big Spring State Hospital, and climaxed by a volunteer capping on Friday evening.

Ranchers were organizing to supplement county funds for combating an increase of predatory animals. Their object is to raise about $3,600 to finance an additional 200 lams and 300 ewes.

Farm Bureau members from a dozen counties in this area voted to support the Elender bill, the new basic proposal for a farm program. It would, they contended, give the secretary of agriculture unlimited powers over agricultural trapper.

Kiwanis last week paid tribute to the girl athletes of the schools, making sure that these were not overlooked for their fine record. The Kiwanis Club also voted to turn over a rodeo barbecue May 31 to the crippled children's center.

Continental Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to introduce lower jet fares between Los Angeles, Phoenix, El Paso, San Antonio and Houston.

On May 4, the company requested authority to put into effect new "night coach" rates on its late night flights between the cities beginning June 11. On that date Continental will inaugurate service over the new California-Arizona-Texas Route granted the company in the Southern Transcontinental Service Case.

Under the proposal, passengers flying in the club coach compartment would pay the new night-coach rate and travelers in the first class compartment would pay the existing day-coach rate.

Subject to CAB approval, the new night-coach fares would go into effect.

A leadership procedure course has been set for May 15-16 at Marcy Elementary School. While this is a Parent-Teacher Association course, the meeting is open to all who are interested in welfare of children and young people.

Funeral services for Melvin Burton Cox, 42, who died suddenly Thursday at his home, 1308 Tucson Dr., will be held at the 14th and Main Church of Christ at 4:30 p. m. Sunday.

Cox was an employee of the Cabot Corporation. He was a Navy veteran of World War II. He was born in Durham, Okla., Nov. 29, 1918.

Palbearers will be Jack Price, Gary Pate, Owen Ivey, Stanley Peurifoy, Cecil Peurifoy, and Davis Elrod.

The family requests that memorials from friends be made to the Church of Christ Australian Fund.

City Court Fines Total About $2,000

The Big Spring corporation court judge assessed 101 fines amounting to $1,946 over the past week. As usual, drunkenness topped the number of cases tried and fines levied, with 30 paying $10, eight vagrancy $20; three on wrong side $8, passing on curve $5, three failure to yield right of way $30, disturbance $25; exceeding safe and prudent speed $10; improper registration $5; running stop sign $5, no valid driver's license in possession $10; two driving without lights $20; double parking at intersection $2; defective muffler $10, leaving scene of accident $25; running red light $5.

Leadership Class Set May 15-16

A leadership procedure course has been set for May 15-16 at Marcy Elementary School. While this is a Parent-Teacher Association course, the meeting is open to all who are interested in welfare of children and young people.

Police were frantic early Saturday morning when John Walters, 3619 Dixon, called in at 1:15 a.m. and said he wanted an officer regarding the theft of an airplane.

and work with the knowledge that we are dealing with the world, with our country's life, with our society and the lives and fates of children yet unborn.

He said he was sorely distressed at a nation that was in every way the greatest in the world, yet with an enormous debt, a terrific tax load, and worst of all, a lack of civic citizenry.

Pierce also took pot shot at the philosophy of materialism which he said was eating at the core of American life.

"Can't we begin to develop leadership which will inspire the world to something greater than materialism?" he asked. He said that in our society the individual was all-important, but he would have integrity to survive. This generation, he said, had no right to accept its heritage unless it makes a contribution to preserve it.

The governor's ball at Cosden Country Club ended a long and busy day that began with the Key Members breakfast sponsored by the Sonora Lions club with Buzzie Stokes in charge and the Goldthwaite trio and Jerry Woods furnishing entertainment.

There were reports from M. J. Weaver, third vice president of the children's camp, on the work accomplished by the project, which he termed the greatest in all of Lions International.

Afterwards, stripes were awarded. Seventeen persons received a blue stripe for 100 hours of voluntary service; nine, a white stripe for 500 hours, and 10 received a blue and white stripe for 500 or more hours.

Plans Approved For Addition To Medical Arts

LAMESA (SC) — Plans for new additions and remodeling at Medical Arts Hospital, estimated at $99,911, were approved by the Dawson County Commissioner's Court last week in a special meeting.

When the proposed project is completed, the hospital will have seven additional private rooms for medical patients, two additional examination rooms, new office space for the supervisor of nurses and bookkeeping department, and a new snack bar.

Architect Howard Allen of Lamesa, has been authorized to proceed with plans and specifications on the new construction and remodeling. Bids probably will be called about September.

The plans call for a new wing on the northwest side of the hospital. It will be 62 by 140 feet and house new surgical patient rooms and an examination room, along with a full sized basement for a Licensed Vocational Nurse classroom, storage, heating and cooling facilities.

An additional 400 feet square is to be added on the existing west wing which will provide two 4-bed wards, four 2-bed rooms, two isolation rooms and a medical examination room.

The new snack bar will be added to the north side of the main lobby. Two rooms in the OB ward will be remodeled for use by the supervisor.

Financing of the new construction will come from available county funds.

Capping

Mrs. Walter Wheat receives her cap from Mrs. Otillie Jolley, director of nursing service.

Special Award

Mrs. Winifred G. Piner is awarded a plaque for her special work during the past two years. Dr. Harrison presents the plaque.

Criminal Cases Lead Filings In District Office

Howard County Grand Jury, in session in April, voted 32 indictments and, by this action, made the filing of criminal matters the biggest item of the month in the office of Wade Choate, district court clerk.

There were 20 divorce suits filed during the month and 17 divorce petitions granted. Five divorce suits were dismissed. There were 17 new civil suits filed and 17 such suits disposed of without a jury. Two civil suits were tried before juries and two others were dismissed. Four adoption petitions were filed.

One habeas corpus petition was filed and one was dismissed. One contempt of court case was filed and 10 of the 32 criminal cases filed were handled before the court on pleas of guilty.

Three additions were made to the child support case record. The clerk and his deputy assisted in filing of 21 applications for passports.

Major Raughley Discusses Costs Of Nation's Defense

Major Joe Raughley of Webb AFB, speaking before members of the American Business Club at their regular Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel, explained in part where the American taxpayer's money goes in maintaining the nation's defense.

Raughley reminded the gathering that the cost of building newer and better aircraft had undergone an astronomical rise since World War II.

He pointed to such planes as the B-25, the C-47 and the F-51 as examples. The cost of a B-25 at the end of World War II, he said, was $146,261, that of a C-47 $85,466 while the price of an F-51 was a mere $49,250.

The engine of the F-101 alone now runs only $2,000 less, he said, than the cost of all three of the aforementioned planes.

Cost of the T-33 jet plane, the type long used for training craft at Webb, amounts to $122,000, that of an F-101, $2,173,000. The first B-58 bomber sets the taxpayers' back $37,398,000. Now that it is in production, the cost has dropped to $15,245,471. Maj. Raughley also touched briefly on the cost of missiles now in use.

He terminated his appearance before the club by answering a number of questions asked him by the audience.

Bob Rogers, president of the club, reminded the members that the National Junior College Track and Field Meet, which will be held here, is less than two weeks away and the success of the meet will largely depend on the number of men who volunteer to work at the stadium during that time.

Rogers also revealed that Big Spring had been awarded the 1962 American Business Club district convention but the dates have not been established. Rogers and several other members of the service organization returned recently from the 1961 convention, which was held in Amarillo.

Among guests present for the luncheon were C. W. Lomax and C. O. Dotson. Robert Phelan was on hand to provide luncheon music.

Local Birth Rate Differs From Nationwide Trends

Nationally, the birth rate trend has shown a slight upward shift since last August, according to a study of national statistics. In 1960, the records indicated that the birth trend was down compared with the peaks it had reached in the years immediately before.

However, when 1961 began, the stark went back to work, it is reported. As a result, the trend is now climbing again.

That's the national picture—here in Howard County it does not fit too well.

The number of births for the past decade has been steadily increasing locally. Observers credit this to the increase in the town's population. And if there was a dip nationally in 1960, it was not a marked one locally.

A check of the records of Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, for the period Jan. 1 through April 30, for the present year shows 389 births. For the same period in 1960, the total was 387. If there was any trend indicated at all, it was that the number of boy babies was up considerably this year as measured against the number of girl babies.

In 1961, the first four months of the year produced 183 girl babies and 206 boy babies. For the same four months in 1960, there were 194 girl babies and 193 boy babies.

SO MUCH THAT CAN'T BE COPIED

Bucket seats alone do not a sport car make. Even when they're as cozy as ours are. You also want (and darned well need, if you're after a fun-type car) things like efficiently eager steering. Steering like you get with Corvaire's rear-engine design. You want traction that keeps you car firmly attached to the road all the time—around corners, through mudholes, everywhere. You want superlatively balanced braking. You want an amiably smooth, supple ride—like Corvaire's full independent suspension gives you.

As you might have guessed, you simply can't get these happy advantages in any other U.S. car. Only Corvaire. Anything that gives you less is just another social climber.

Gov. Jimmie Davis Visited Local Airport Last Week

By M. A. WEBB
Big Spring and Howard County Airport played hosts, for a few minutes last Saturday, to Gov. Jimmy Davis of Louisiana, his secretary Melba Adkins, and the Director of Public Safety for the State of Louisiana, a Mr. Roden. Ted McClung, airport manager, said the aircraft landed and the pilot said it had been serviced in San Angelo shortly before and that he was just waiting for some people. He said he flew for the state of Louisiana, and let it go at that. After a while two men and a woman drove up in a '54 model car, left it for some one else to pick up the next day, and prepared to board the airplane. That's when McClung introduced himself and found out who the distinguished visitors were. Why they were in Texas, and their business, was not found out. The party was in a Twin Beech G-18-S. The secretary, Miss Adkins, incidentally is a sister to Mrs. Allen Crunkilton, whose husband is a lieutenant at Webb AFB. Mrs. Crunkilton said the party stopped by just long enough to say hello, and departed. Crop dusters are beginning to move through the area now, and several have stopped by for service before going on to the Rio Grande Valley. Most of them start

Police Launch Sidewalk Clearance Program Here

Big Spring sidewalks will look a little neater, and provide more pedestrian room, as the police department begins a drive to have all types of merchandise moved off and restricted to the property of the owner. The department was given instructions by the city commission last week to begin the cleaning up and moving back. Chief of Police Jay Banks said that the department will begin notifying all merchants and dealers who have been placing, or displaying, any kind of merchandise or signs on the sidewalk area, or between the sidewalk and curb, to move it onto their own property.

Oh Well, It's Just As Well

If there are any younger citizens in this county who are interested in President Kennedy's proposed Youth Corps program, they have not manifested such interest openly. According to reports, the post offices of the nation are supposed to have the formal application blanks on which young Americans may file for places in the Corps. This may be the case, according to E. C. Boatler, postmaster. It just so happens that so far no one has sent him any application blanks or any instructions on what he is to tell applicants. "It's just as well," Boatler said. "So far no one has even asked me about the program. And if they had asked, I couldn't have helped them. I haven't heard anything about the program other than what has been in the papers and I have no application blanks."

Respiratory Ills Still Lead List

Upper respiratory ailments led the list of diseases reported to the county health nurse this week, with 118 cases. With less than half this number, tonsillitis was in second place in the 190 total cases called in. Other cases treated and reported were Gonorrhea eight, syphilis two, mumps one, chicken pox two, bronchial pneumonia three, strep throat one, measles seven, pink eye two, and hepatitis two.

Kiwanians Begin Ticket Sales For Rodeo Barbecue

Advance sale of tickets to the Kiwanis Club Benefit Barbecue, to be served on the afternoon of May 31 at City Park is under way. The barbecue, to be an event of the opening day of the annual Big Spring Rodeo, will be used to provide needed funds for the operation of the Crippled Children's Center. All members of the Kiwanis Club were provided with tickets for the barbecue on Thursday and were urged by Ernest Welch, president of the club, to push sales activity at high speed. Tickets will be available today at the three banks, the offices of the Texas Electric Service Co., Pioneer Natural Gas, city water office, Piggly Wiggly, Purr's and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. Tickets are also on sale at the Webb AFB Officers Club, Non-Com Officers Club and the Post Exchange. Tickets are $1.25 each. A big barbecue meal is promised — replete with properly prepared barbecued beef, beans, bread, pickles and all other essentials. Tickets which are bought at the Big Spring Park on the night of the dinner will save 25 cents. The Crippled Children's Center has had to close its doors because funds are exhausted for its operation. The Kiwanis Club had been planning to stage the barbecue on May 31 but had not definitely decided on what use to make of any profits. With the announcement of the crisis at the Crippled Children's Center, the question was quickly decided. Directors of the club met, voted to push ahead with the barbecue plans and to donate all funds derived from the event to the aid of the Crippled Children's Center.

Favorite Wins Run For Roses

By JOHN F. CHANDLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Carry Back, the little Florida-bred colt they said didn't have bloodlines to travel a mile and one-quarter and win the Kentucky Derby, won the $163,000 derby Saturday before a roaring crowd at ancient Churchill Downs.

With Johnny Sellers, the nation's leading rider, in the saddle Carry Back charged from 11th place after the first half-mile, poured on the pressure in the last 80 yards and drew away to beat Fred W. Hooper's Crozier by 1 1/4 lengths.

Mrs. Vera E. Smith's Bass Clef roared from last place in the field of 15 3-year-olds — the cream of the country's sophomore crop — to snatch third place.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Dr. Miller, another come-from-behind horse, raced up to get fourth money.

Carry Back, sporting the blue and silver hoops and sleeves of Mrs. Katherine Price of Miami, became the first favorite to win the Run for the Roses since Needles, another Florida-bred colt, came from 16th place to capture the 1956 derby.

The time on a track labeled "good" despite the all-day rain of Friday and into Friday night was 2:04 flat. This was considered a fair clocking since the track, which was drying out all day under a strong wind and intermittent sunshine, was on the sticky side.

It was the slowest time since Calumet Farm's Tim Tam required 2:05 or a muddy strip in winning the 1958 derby.

Carry Back did just as his owner had been telling the Louisville people he'd do as he came home to capture first prize of $120,500 in the 87th running of the classic. Crozier finished two lengths ahead of Bass Clef while Dr. Miller was another length behind.

The winner, a brown son of SAGEY-JOPPY by Star Ben, turned right to win as the lukewarm favorite of the crowd estimated at the usual 100,000.

Snyder Wins, 2-1

SNYDER—Ronnie Wylie's seventh inning sacrifice bunt scored Freddie Miller with the run that enabled Snyder to tip Sweetwater, 2-1, here Saturday afternoon. The win enabled the Tigers to tie Lamesa for the District 3-AAA championship. Each finished with a 4-2 record.

ABILENE—Odessa High, behind the stylish hurling of Harlon Hinds, shut out Abilene, 6-0, in the final District 2-AAAA baseball game for both teams here Saturday.

Steers Show Good Hustle

The Big Spring Steers wound up four days of spring football training with a scrimmage at Memorial Stadium Saturday night and the results were favorable.

"We're farther along than I thought we would be at this phase of training," head coach Emmett McKenzie remarked following the extended drill, which saw the No. 1 offensive unit working against the No. 2 defensive 11 and the No. 1 defensive aggregation toiling against the No. 2 offensive club.

Rickey Wisener broke loose for a TD run after taking a handoff and James Gilbert scored from far out on a nifty sprint.

On defense, left guard Dexter Pate and right guard Bobby Pryor, along with Jack Irons, middle linebacker, sparked Irons.

Thomas Young, new to the game, caught several passes and ran very well.

McKenzie said the boys cut their mistakes to a minimum and showed good enthusiasm.

One of the brighter prospects is a transfer from Abilene, John Nichols, who will have to play with the B team this fall. He's a sophomore now. He played the split end Saturday night.

The defense appeared to be ahead of the offense until Saturday night but the offense moved to the challenge in the scrimmage.

The workouts will be resumed Monday and the week's work will again be climaxed by a scrimmage Saturday night.

David Maberry, hard-luck back, had to miss Saturday's work due to the fact that he re-injured his bad knee in the Steer baseball game in Odessa.

Bahama Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—Yama Bahama of the British West Indies jabbed his way to a 10-round decision over frustrated Joey Giambra Saturday night at St. Nicholas Arena.

Giambra, who had won his last 11 bouts, spent the entire fight waiting for a big opening. It never came.

Abilene Wins Fifth State Track Crown

AUSTIN (AP)—Abilene's versatile Eagles won their third state Class AAAA schoolboy track championship in a row and fifth in history Saturday. The Eagles tied Andrews of Class AAA for the most titles, each having won five.

The massive state meet, greatest in the 51 years of its existence, set 14 records and equalled six in two days and one night of running, jumping and throwing.

Three of the records were overall—3:17.5 in the mile relay by Abilene and a 175-foot 1-inch discus throw by Russell Wayt of White Oak in Class A going as overall records and a 9.5 100-yard dash by Billy Foster, the great Dallas Sunset athlete who won three first places in Class AAAA, going as a tie of an overall mark. Abilene rolled up 76 1-3 points to win the title going away. Baytown finished a distant second with 43 points.

Bloomington won the mile relay—last event on the program—to take the Class A championship with 42 points. Sour Lake was second with 30.

Lazbuddie, which won only one first place—the 440-yard relay—took the championship of Class B with 40 points. Lauders was second with 37 points.

Abilene wound up the meet with a great flourish—its 3:17.5 in the mile relay with the team of Tommy Yarbrough, who did 49.9; Jerry Newman 50.4; Chuck Evans, 48.4; and David Winkles, 48.8, coming within 2.3 seconds of the national record held by Andrews.

Andrews set the record in an invitational meet at 3:15.2. It is not considered as a state standard because it was not set in a state meet.

Abilene also tied the state record in the 440-yard relay with 42.0 while its Jeri Franklin set a new Class AAAA high jump record of 6 feet 9 1/4 inches.

Thus Abilene figured in three of the four records hung up in Class AAAA, two of which were ties.

Class A produced three records and a tie—Wayt's discus throw, a 6-3 high jump by Mickey Copeland of Gasto, a 4:34.7 mile by Gary Chisholm of Coppavas Cove, and a 19.3 100-yard low hurdles by Gary Collins of Sour Lake that equalled the record.

Devils Nose Out Cardinals In National Li'l League

The Devils scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth with the aid of two errors and two bases on balls to nose out the Cardinals, 11-10, in National Little League play here Saturday night.

Wayne Strop scored what proved to be the winning run after getting a base on balls.

Each team collected six hits. Phillip Hall had a pair of blows, including a first inning home run, for the Cardinals while Richard Cauley and David Harmonson had two safeties each for the Devils.

Kirby Horton clubbed a fourth-inning solo homer for the Red Birds.

On Friday night, the Dodgers bounced the Yankees, 5-1, as Joe Dean Rowland set the losers down with only three hits.

Sammy Mims, on the mound for the Yanks, fanned 13 and yielded only four hits.

In minor league action Saturday, the Aces edged the Jaybirds, 6-5. On Friday, the Cubs had mauled the Ramblers, 16-10.

Bobby Bowers had a relatively easy time notching the mound win as the T-Birds mauled the Comets, 15-7, in International Little League play here Saturday night.

Bingham gave up five hits, fanned 13 and walked ten in the wriad contest.

Steve Bingham of the T-Birds and Clyde Huff hit triples.

Cubs Stopped By Cardinals And Sadecki

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals scored four times in a sixth-inning uprising Saturday and trounced the Chicago Cubs 6-1 behind the five-hit pitching of left-hander Ray Sadecki.

Aided by three double plays, Sadecki was credited with his second victory of the season against one defeat. Jim Brewer, making his first start of the season, was the loser. Brewer and Sadecki engaged in a pitching battle until the Cardinals found the batting range in the sixth.

Brewer was charged in that uprising, as was Joe Schaffernoth, his replacement.

Daryl Spencer singled and Charley James doubled for his third straight hit of the game to open the big inning. Don Tausig singled and Spencer scored, but James was thrown out at home. Sadecki doubled off Schaffernoth, scoring Tausig, and rode home himself on Julian Javier's single.

Mel Wright replaced Schaffernoth but yielded a run-scoring single to Don Landrum before the Cardinals were retired.

Area Scores Twice Seeking New Production Prospects

By JOE BEYER
Exploratory drilling in the area was not exceptionally fruitful during April, but the percentage of completions was still above the national average. Operators bit on two of nine completion attempts.

One of the successful projects was A. K. Guthrie No. 1 Fred Shaffer, which pumped 44 barrels on initial potential. The operator was trying for the Strawn and bottomed at 8,620 but had to be plugged back to 5,835 feet and complete in the Spraberry.

The other gives Borden County another potential field two miles northwest of the Myrtle, East (Strawn) field and six miles southwest of the Fluvanna (multiphase) field. Ten per cent water was produced and the project was acidized with 1,000 gallons.

DISCOVERER
The other discoverer was Three-way Drilling Co. No. 1 Cornell Estate in Garza County. Here again the zone from which pay was sought proved to be barren.

The operator drilled to 8,018 feet trying for the Ellenburger, but found no oil. The well was then plugged back to 3,350 feet for tests of the Clear Fork, Glorieta and San Andres.

After heavy fracturing the Glorieta produced 66 barrels of 37 gravity oil on initial potential. It was perforated at three intervals, but produced 2,525-39 feet. The oil is eight miles northeast of Justiceburg.

Another Garza County prospect was a duster at 3,466 feet. This was the Edwin L. Cox No. 1 Wheeler, eight miles southeast of Southland.

ABANDONED
Glasscock County wildcats were especially costly in April. Three of them were plugged and abandoned with no completions. J. H. Bartley No. 1 L. C. Clark, three-quarters of a mile southeast of Spraberry production 10 miles

THREE-YEARS Study Begins On Gulf Corrosion

PORT ARANSAS (AP)—A three-year study on bacterial corrosion is under way at the University of Texas Marine Institute here. The study, financed by the Office of Naval Research, is being carried on by Dr. Carl S. Oppenheimer and George Blanton. They have already made important discoveries in this little-known field. Bacterial corrosion each year costs industries along the Gulf Coast millions of dollars.

The research is directed at sulfate producing bacteria. The corrosive pits they produce are no larger than a pinhead, yet their yearly toll in corrosive loss is staggering.

As soon as the steel is put into use along the coast, these bacteria, 400 million of them in every teaspoonful of salt mud or sea water, go to work to change it back to its native state.

It was formerly thought, according to Oppenheimer, that the sulfate producing bacteria caused corrosion through production of hydrogen sulphide, a corrosive agent. But the study has shown that this is incorrect and that the bacteria produce twice the corrosion of hydrogen sulphide through formation of germ-sized electrocyclic cells on the surface of the metal.

The researchers have found that these bacteria congregate in great numbers where food exists for them, or beneath barnacles and other fouling organisms.

The UT scientists estimate that each major oil company operating along the coast loses millions of dollars yearly from bacterial corrosion.

Oil well casings and transport pipelines designed to last a lifetime are corroded away in from two to seven years; rudders, propeller shafts, and even the steel from which ships are constructed are subject to the same deterioration.

Currie and Nolan and Schaeffer, a project which found the Clear Fork dry in September, 1960, was abandoned after tests were made of the Glorieta. It was one location north of the No. 1 TXL 10 miles east of Garden City.

A wildcat one mile southwest of Queen production in the Carter field north of Garden City had shows from the Wichita Albany in cores taken, between 5,966-5,946 feet, but produced no oil. It was plugged after bottoming at 6,000 feet. This was the George C. Sullivan and Pierce and Davis No. 1 W. J. Currie.

HOWARD SITE
A Howard County prospector, R. C. Lovelady and Associates No. 1 Standard-Hamlin drilled to 10,250 feet for Ellenburger tests and then plugged back to test the Clear Fork, between 5,815-55 feet. It was acidized with 500 gallons. The hole is 1 1/2 miles west of the Luther, Southeast (Siluro-Devonian) field and 12 miles north of Big Spring.

Two explorers in Dawson County were failures. Forest Exploration Corp. and Champlin Oil and Refining Co. No. 1 Eleanor Hatch was termed a duster after the operator ran logs. The attempt was five miles northwest of Lamesa.

The other Dawson County hole is Texas National Petroleum Co. No. 1 Barron, three-quarters of a mile northeast of the Mungerville, Northwest (Pennsylvanian) pool and the same distance northwest of the Triple D (Pennsylvanian) pool. The operator tested the Pennsylvanian reef, between 8,666-99 feet. Only drilling mud from which cores are constructed are subject to the same deterioration.

Demand Is Disappointing To Oil Industry

HOUSTON (AP)—Demand for oil products the first three months of 1961 was disappointing to the industry.

Demand was 1.2 per cent below the first quarter of 1960.

The decline has caused a downward revision of estimates for total 1961 demand, which now is expected to exceed 1960 by only 1 1/2 per cent. This amounts to only 141,000 barrels a day. Earlier forecasts had indicated a 1961 gain of from 2 to 2 1/2 per cent.

The supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPIAA) this week attributed the first quarter decline to warmer than normal weather and to depressed business conditions.

The committee said the general economy now appears to be on the verge of an upturn. The group said the revised estimate on 1961 demand, however, is less than would have been expected during a period of business recovery.

"In part, this development reflects the modest gains foreseen in business generally," the committee said.

"More significantly, it is a further indication of the annual increase in domestic demand have been tapering off appreciably since 1956."

110,000 TRUCK BUYERS PICKED VOLKSWAGEN

Top-hinged rear door swings up to eliminate traffic hazards. Facilitates loading goods of unusual length.

A VW Panel Truck loads and unloads thru big 48" wide outside double doors — as well as 33" wide rear door. Left side double doors optional.

VW Panel Trucks load themselves admirably to interior and exterior modification to suit individual requirements.

In a VW Truck the driver is in front, engine in rear, and the load cradled between. Full view of road and traffic. Parks, turns and maneuvers quickly in traffic — speeds deliveries.

A Volkswagen Panel Truck parks where few cars fit. It's 3 to 5 ft. shorter than usual half-ton trucks — yet holds 820 lbs. more. A full 1620 lbs. in a cargo compartment of 170 cu. ft.

Utilized welded body provides extra strength and rattle-free tightness. No bolts to loosen.

Cool cab in summer with no heat from rear engine. 5-way adjustable ventilating system for cab and cargo. Insulated warm-air heating for winter.

Wide foam rubber upholstered seat seats three. Driver sees road 48 in. in front of bumper without strain. Easy handling means less fatigue.

Surplus Plan Would Save Money, Provide More Food

By SAM BLACKBURN
 Since January, Howard County Public Welfare Department has spent $4,102 buying groceries for needy residents of the county.

Mrs. Ruby Phillips, welfare officer, said that grocery orders issued in April totaled $1,047. The March grocery bill was $1,079.50. February saw the total drop to $965.50. In January, the department issued $1,010 worth of grocery orders.

TO STORE
 When a grocery order is given an applicant, he presents it to a food store. The merchant then provides the applicant with food equaling the amount of the face of the order. The grocer writes down on the back of the order the items bought and the quantity of each.

meal, bacon, milk, eggs—more or less basic foods.
 Sternness has to govern Mrs. Phillips when she is asked for a grocery order. She makes a thorough investigation and if the applicant fails to show a good cause why he should be helped, he is turned down.

NOT EASY
 "It's not an easy decision," said Mrs. Phillips. "You want to help but you're constantly aware that the funds are not sufficient to permit any such action."

Mrs. Phillips estimates there are more than 1,000 men, women and children in Howard County who are in bad financial shape—so bad that their income is insufficient to provide them with food, clothing and shelter each month. The welfare office budget, which includes not only groceries, but medical aid, treatment for illness, hospitalization, and occasionally a funeral, runs close to $40,000 a year.

bility of distributing surplus foods available from the government. It was felt that by utilizing these commodities, which are available without cost to the county, two ends would be accomplished.

MORE HELP
 One, the mounting cost of operating the welfare department might be reduced.
 Two, more people, definitely in need of help, could be helped than can be helped now.

The county broached the proposal to the city administration with the proposal the city cooperate with the county in activating the program. It was pointed out the majority of charity cases on the rolls are residents of the town. The suggestion was that the county carry on all investigation activities, keep all records, make all governmental contacts to get the food. The city would supply only warehouse facilities and necessary personnel to distribute the food.

which have a retail value of $28.50.
 Since it is shown from the check of grocery orders issued by the welfare department that the bulk of each order is expended for such foods, it is reasoned the county could save more than 50 per cent on the money it has to spend now for groceries.

COSTS
 Cost to the county for the food would be 30 cents per client per year; storage fees at the district warehouse (based on the time the particular foods have been on hand), the costs of transporting the food from the warehouse (San Angelo) to Big Spring and the salary of what personnel it might require to package the items and distribute them to the clients.

FOR DESSERT BRIDGE, nothing could be prettier than a table in shades of pink placed under a lacy mesquite tree. Mrs. Clyde Angel prepared the table shown at the home of Mrs. J. E. Hogan as one of those in a pilgrimage of gardens and tables for outdoor service. A circular linen cloth of pink was centered with a pyramid of tiny roses in varying shades of pink; Venetian glass birds were accessories, and cranberry glass stood ready to hold refreshments for a foursome.

Garden Tables Seen On Pilgrimage

(Photos by Keith McMillin)

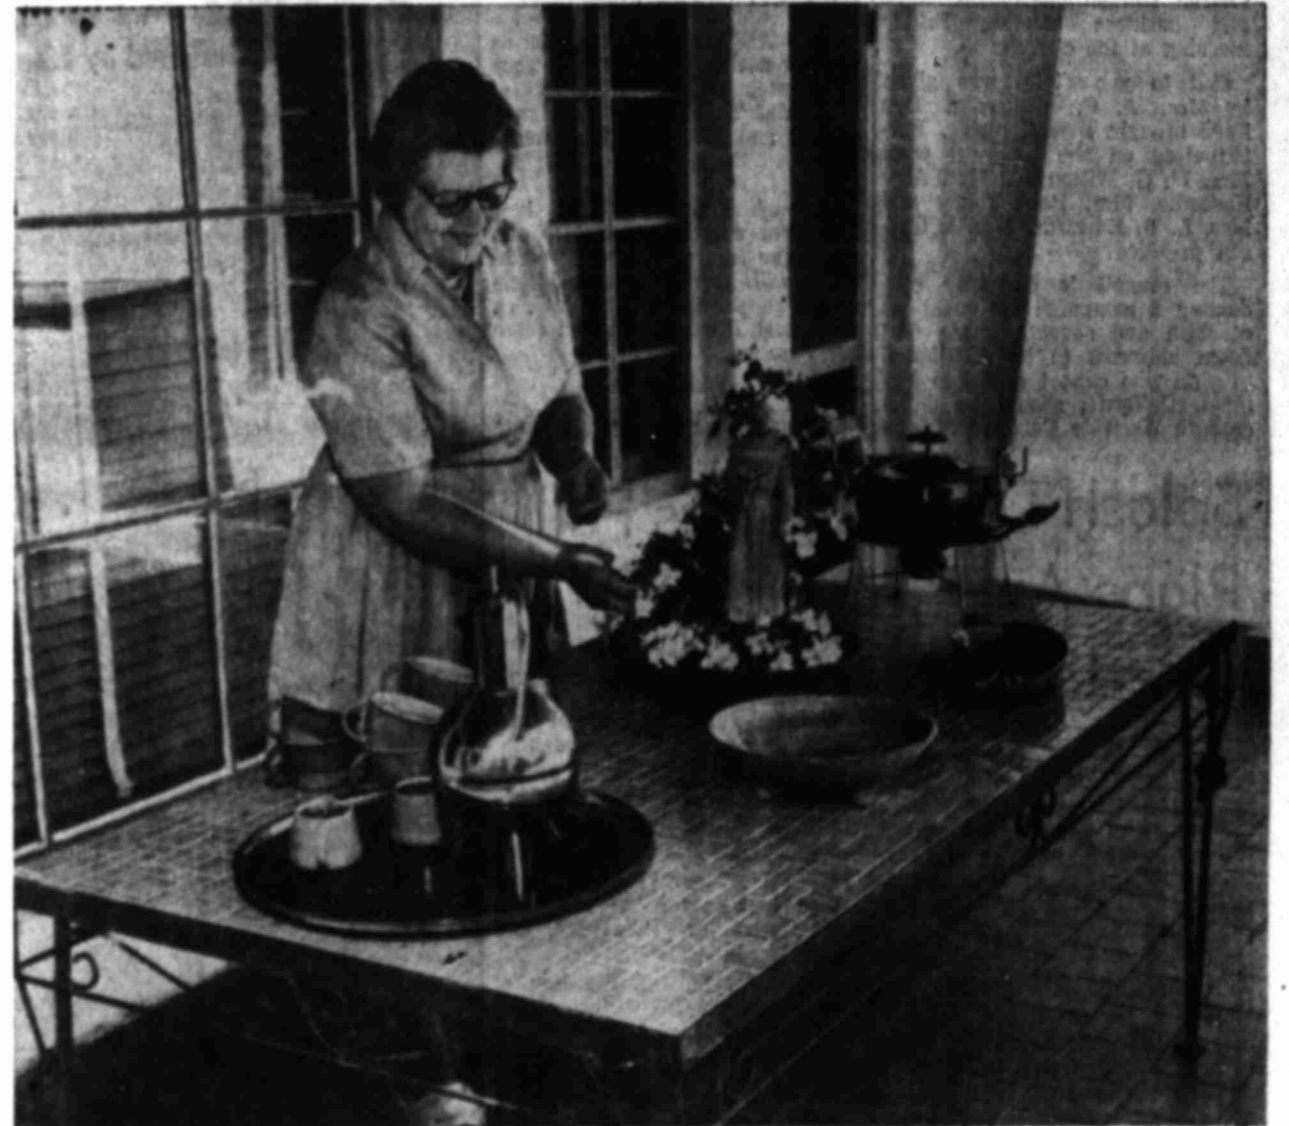

GUESTS WOULD LINGER long at the table of blue and white, which Mrs. J. E. Hogan displayed at her home Wednesday morning for the delight of visitors who called during the pilgrimage. Under a blue and white umbrella, the table held white phlox, daisies, baby's breath and sweet william as the floral eye-catcher. Blue place mats held white china, and blue glasses completed the setting. A copper coffee service was placed conveniently at hand.

BREAKFAST IN THE GARDEN would be a most happy occasion at a table arranged by Mrs. Robert Stripling at her home for the pilgrimage Wednesday morning. Guests viewed the garden and the setting for breakfast on a tile table, gay with yellow and white pottery. In the centerpiece were tiny pomegranate buds, limes, iris blades and roses to blend with the buds' shade. The pomegranate hue was repeated in the napkins at each place. Hostesses with Mrs. Stripling were Mrs. Allen Hamilton, Mrs. Hays Stripling and Mrs. John Coffee.

ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISSI, protector of birds and animals, was the center of the floral grouping of white snapdragons and mock orange on a table laid for a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Obie Bristow Wednesday. The table, done with brown and turquoise pottery and copper serving pieces, was part of the garden pilgrimage scene when members of the Big Spring Garden Club showed their gardens to the various units of the council and to members of the Green Thumb Garden Club. With Mrs. Bristow were Mrs. D. S. Riley, Mrs. John Knox and Mrs. Loyd Branon, hostesses.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS,
SUNDAY, MAY 7, 1961

FOR A PATIO TABLE, Mrs. J. R. Hensley (pictured left) chose white peonies to center the glass-topped turquoise table at her home, which was the final stop on the pilgrimage given Wednesday morning by members of the Big Spring Garden Club. Guests gathered on the patio for refreshments served by the hostesses, Mrs. Hensley, Mrs. H. D. Munal, Mrs. Leroy Tidwell, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. John Balch and Mrs. J. D. Elliott. Tsushi, the pekingese, isn't too impressed with flower arranging.

OWC Follies Go From Ridiculous To Sublime And Back Again

Gales of laughter, coming from the Officers' Club, Webb AFB, could probably be heard at distant spots on the base Friday evening. The reason? The TGIF Follies, presented by the OWC as a benefit for their welfare fund.

Given in the style of the old-time vaudeville show, with cards to announce numbers, the production included hilarious skits as well as beautiful songs. A typical "miller-drummer" was portrayed to a background of nickelodeon music.

Running quite smoothly, the revue lacked the long waits between acts, sometimes found in amateur productions, and the brief periods necessary for scene shifting were filled in with music by the Multi-Sonics, a small harmonious orchestra, which furnished accompaniment for the numbers.

"Strolling Through the Park" was a Floradora type skit with pretty belles in long skirts of the 1900's and handsome beaux in striped blazers and straw hats. Bathing beauties of the 1900's left one wondering how in the world any swimming was done in such attire as was required by fashion at the start of the century. Leading the girls in the song, "Good Old Summertime," was Mrs. J. F. Holt, producer of the show. Included in the cast group were Mrs. F. F. Sturlock, Mrs. R. J. Hartog Jr., Mrs. J. S. Smith, Mrs. P. Viken, and Mrs. J. R. Jensen.

Representing the Roaring 20's was Maj. Ernest Baumann, who all but brought down the house with his interpretation of Mae West singing "All of Me" in her torchy style.

The 30's came in for a share of fun with a parade to "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" as models entered from Tennessee, Georgia, Texas, Mississippi, and Las Vegas, with the girl who had been named "Miss Stork Club" as a climax. Col. B. Pearson was quite an addition to this number.

A jitterbugging couple, Lt. and Mrs. J. D. Wickard, noted the Fighting 49's. A beatnik five, representing present days, received an especially warm welcome from the group.

Bringing real beauty to the show was the song, "I Could Have Danced All Night," from "My Fair Lady," sung by Mrs. J. Moore, attired in a dancing dress of white ruffles touched with coral.

As the group gathered for a grand finale, a surprise touch was presented members of the cast in the appearance of the producer, Mrs. Holt, carried on a stretcher and holding a lily; she was accompanied by a "nurse," administering a "blood transfusion." — A. L.

Please, Mr. Custer

Timed perfectly to a recording of "Please, Mr. Custer," was the skit given by Mrs. R. J. Graded and Mrs. R. E. Stora. Friday evening as part of the TGIF Follies at the Officers' Club. Members of the Officers' Wives Club presented the collection of "insurance" to benefit their welfare fund.

Mary Zinn Circle Ends Mission Study

Study on "Basic Christian Beliefs" was concluded by the Mary Zinn Circle of First Methodist Church Tuesday by Mrs. H. H. Stephens.

The group met with Mrs. S. P. Jones with Mrs. W. A. Miller opening the program. Scripture readings were by Mrs. S. R. Nobles, and Mrs. Jones served refreshments to 14.

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

All may be changed before the day of this writing is over, but it now appears that Big Spring might have come up with good weather when a Lions convention was being held here. Many local members recall the April of 1955, when Saturday rolled in on a wave of sand and held on all day long. A more good-natured bunch of people one couldn't ask for . . . they just pulled their hats down tighter and took the wind and sand in stride. Of course, they were all West Texans, too. This was also the year the 1905 Hyperion Club celebrated its golden anniversary. They couldn't have had a more appropriate background because that storm was a really old-fashioned one.

At the convention luncheon Friday we were happy to be seated by the Goldthwaite people who were supporting a candidate for district governor. They chose a personable entertainer, JOHNNY MILLNOR, to get the voters on his side of the fence. He is a very capable guitarist and has a pleasant singing voice. He is band director at Goldthwaite. Mrs. Millnor and the GYNN COLLIERS were good company during the meal as were JOE DAUGHERTY and his attractive wife of Big Lake. MRS. CECIL BRIDGES, wife of the district governor from Stanton, wore a striking grey nylon net hat, and MRS. J. D. DYER, whose husband is governor of District 2-T-2, was wearing a pretty, high-crowned white straw trimmed with large pink flowers . . . Speaking of pink flowers, MRS. JAMES TIDWELL'S hat was nothing but flowers, mostly shades of pink but a few pale yellow ones cropped up.

DEE ANN SWEENEY has as her guest this weekend her Tech roommate, JUDY WILSON of Florida. They are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeney.

Although I have no idea how the flavor comes out, dieters can get sugar free chocolate bars flavored with coffee, orange, bitter-sweet, peppermint or coconut . . . also cough drops, mints and cranberry sauce.

Forsaner Suffers Fall

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. J. H. Cardwell was hospitalized Wednesday in Malone-Hogan Hospital due to a fall she had Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Yardley of Andrews were here during the week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Shannon.

Former residents of Forsan, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Roberts of Richmond, Calif., were here for a short visit.

Mrs. J. M. Craig is in Andrews for the weekend with her daughter and family the Bobby Bakers.

Here for a few days with his father, F. J. Klahr, was Cecil Klahr of McCarney.

Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Shaw of Weatherford were here to visit Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wash.

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jones and Mrs. O. W. Fletcher are Mrs. Lela Fletcher, Velma and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Black of Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Hood Jones and children of Kermit also are visiting.

Church Council Has Churches Program

A program on free and responsible churches was brought by the Rev. Al Seddon, pastor of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church, when members of United Council of Church Women met for a coffee and business meeting Friday morning at the church.

Call to worship was given by Mrs. A. C. Wilkerson. Don Ford brought special music. Participating on the program were Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr., Mrs. Alan Kernodie, Mrs. Paul Young and Mrs. L. B. Edwards. Mrs. Wilkerson presided.

The council is currently conducting a campaign for donations of sixth and seventh grade Girl Scout uniforms to be distributed to girls who cannot afford to buy them. Uniforms should be delivered to Westside Center.

Splash Day Plans Are Lined Up

Mrs. W. E. Gibson will head the Cosden Women's Association during the coming year, when various activities will be planned for entertainment of members.

At a Thursday evening session, held in the home of Mrs. Bill Crooker a program was set up for Splash Day of Cosden Country Club.

June 3 is slated for the big event, which will begin at 1 p.m. with a fishing contest for youngsters of club members; a driving and putting contest for the men is scheduled at 2 p.m. and will be followed by a swimming contest for various age groups at 3 p.m.

A fashion show around the pool will display swim wear and play clothes from 4 to 5 p.m., when a barbecue will begin.

Saturday evening a shipwreck dance is planned, with prizes for the most original costumes for a couple.

A change in the meeting schedule for the association was announced; from now on, a luncheon meeting will alternate with a dinner meeting on the second Thursday of each month, it was stated.

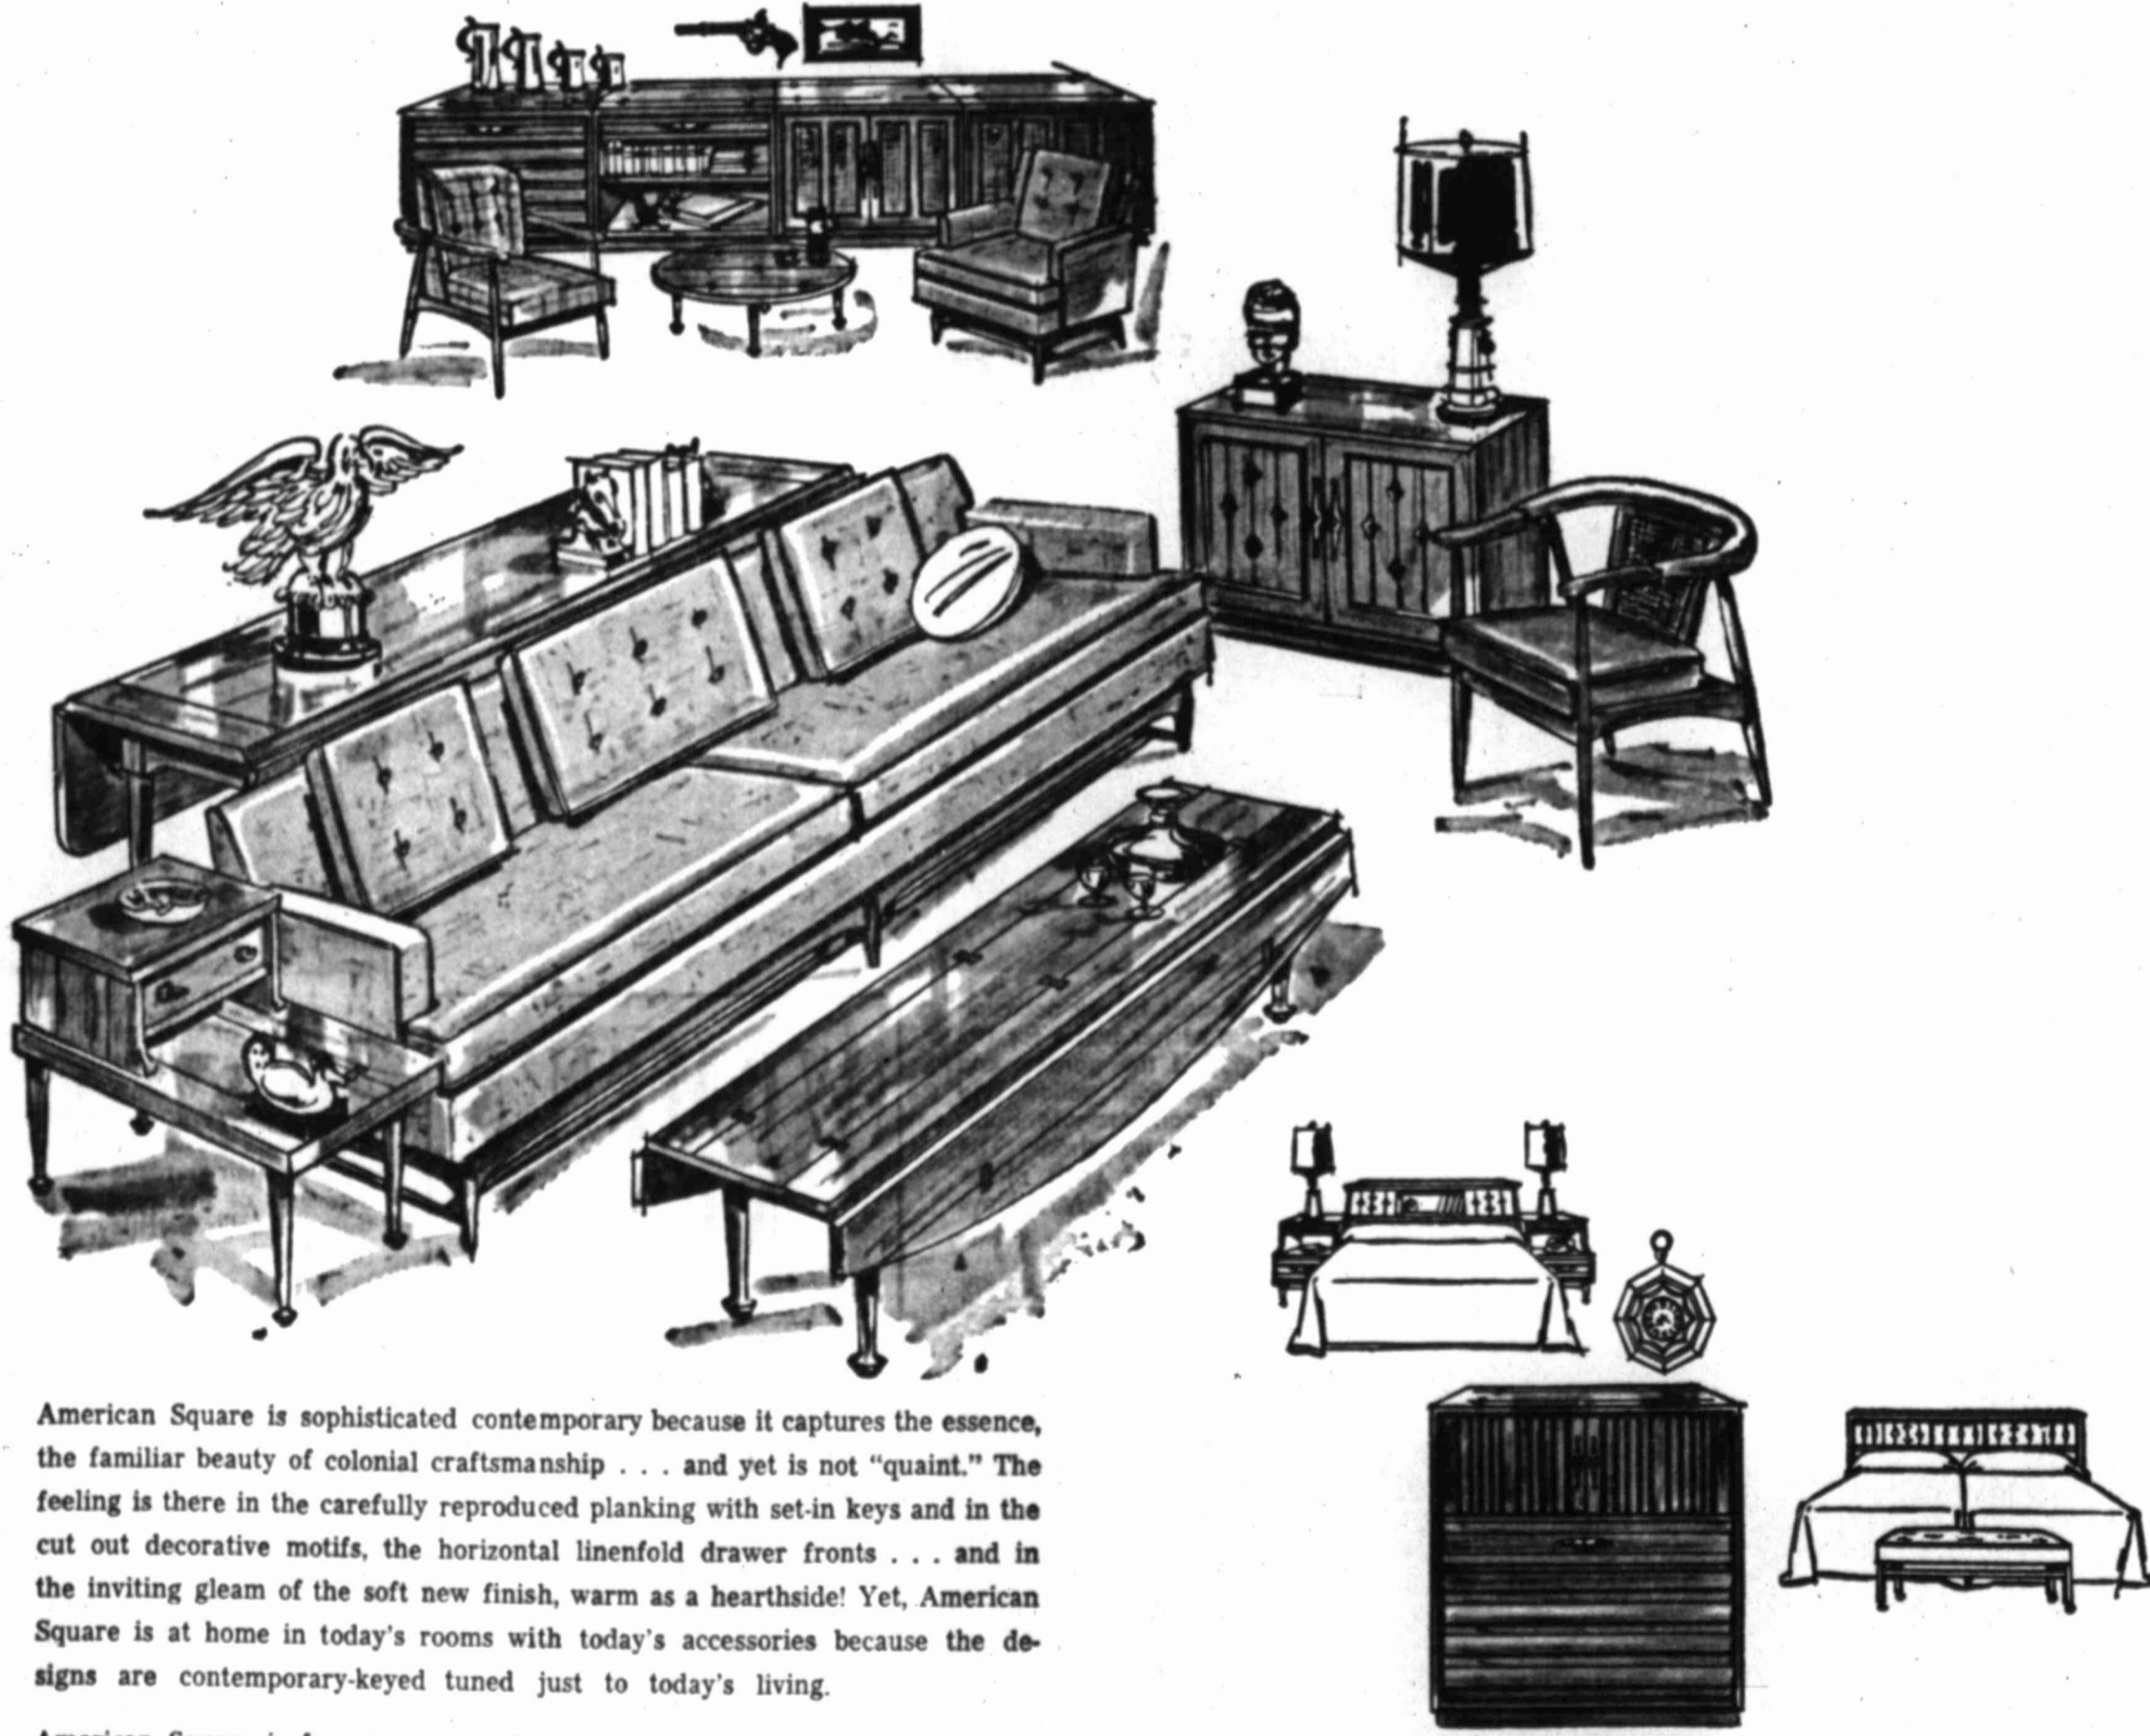

Heads Of Women's Group

Mrs. W. E. Gibson, at left, is the newly-elected president of the Cosden Women's Association, succeeding Mrs. Loy Carroll. Plans for many affairs are in the making by the group; first in the calendar is the entertainment for Splash Day, slated for Cosden Country Club, June 3. Mrs. Bill Davis heads the social committee for the club, which will meet on the second Thursday of each month.

AMERICAN SQUARE for Contemporary Living

designed by Merton L. Gershun

American Square is sophisticated contemporary because it captures the essence, the familiar beauty of colonial craftsmanship . . . and yet is not "quaint." The feeling is there in the carefully reproduced planking with set-in keys and in the cut out decorative motifs, the horizontal linenfold drawer fronts . . . and in the inviting gleam of the soft new finish, warm as a hearthside! Yet, American Square is at home in today's rooms with today's accessories because the designs are contemporary-keyed tuned just to today's living.

American Square is for every room in your home. You choose for bedroom, dining room and living room. Come in, see our complete open stock collection, you'll be pleasantly surprised by their modest price tags.

Freddy Brown Weds Girl In California

MRS. FREDDY L. BROWN

Before an improvised altar at the home of the bride's parents, Billy Jean Redden became the bride of Freddy L. Brown in Holtville, Calif., Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hefflin, 1509 Lancaster, are parents of the bridegroom; the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Redden.

The Rev. Glen Axworthy, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Holtville, read the double ring vows before a setting of white gladioli and carnations with greenery and candelabra holding tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of soft blue with elbow sleeves; pearls encrusted the crown of blue which held a shoulder length veil. She carried a white orchid nestled in pink feathered carnations on a white Bible.

Attending the couple were the brother-in-law and sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cox. She was attired in a white frock with blue figures and wore a corsage of blue blossoms.

A reception followed the wedding. When the couple left for a trip to Los Angeles, the bride wore a suit of champagne with matching accessories.

A Real Newcomer

England-born Hank appears to want to join his three week-old sister, Jana Kay, a real newcomer to Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brigman must not think it's a good idea. The Brigmans, 1103 E. 15th, moved to Big Spring in February; they had been living in England.

Brigmans Return Home After Three Years In England

"We were gone three years, so it's good to get back home," says Mrs. Bill Brigman, 1103 E. 15th St. The Brigmans arrived in the states in December from England, and made their move to Big Spring in February.

For three years Mr. and Mrs. Brigman lived in Aldeburg, England a fishing village of 2,000 population, where their 2½-year-old son, Hank, was born. Brigman was a first lieutenant in the Air Force at the time.

Mrs. Brigman, formerly Janet Hogan, had been out of high school only a short time when her fiancé got orders for an overseas transfer. The couple married and flew off to make their home in England. Before coming to Big Spring with the Air Force, Brigman lived in Brunswick, Ga., and attended Georgia Tech where he played football and was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

A new addition has been made to the Brigman family since their arrival. Jana Kay, three weeks old, was born at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital. Her dad is employed in the business department there. Mrs. Brigman has some pleasant memories of England, especially of seeing Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mother Mary at the Ascot Races; watching Princess Margaret and Anthony Armstrong Jones after their wedding ceremony; and attending a performance of "My Fair Lady" starring Rex Harrison and Julie Andrews. She also remembers how polite and reserved the English people were and the difficulty she had in understanding cockney.

It wasn't the English people who made fun of Mrs. Brigman's Texas accent, it was the other Americans stationed there, she says.

While in England, the Brigmans became bargain hunters and spent much of their spare time attending auctions. The Brigmans also spent a great deal of time traveling throughout Europe, and Mrs. Brigman was able to buy teak-wood furniture in Denmark at a very reasonable price. Her husband was sent to North Africa several times and on one trip Brigman managed to purchase a brass tray made by the Arabs.

An athletic person, Brigman enjoys playing handball and golf and is a member of the YMCA. Mrs. Brigman dabbles in water-color painting, and in England she studied under a Dutch artist.

Since returning to Big Spring, the Brigmans have joined the First Baptist Church and the Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Brigman is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan.

Mrs. Bill Patterson brought a devotion, and Mrs. Renee Brown presented the program for 18. Elected president was Mrs. Jerry Allen; vice president, Mrs. Darrel Wright; second vice president, Mrs. Marshall Day; secretary, Mrs. Bob Tawater, and treasurer, Mrs. Patterson.

Nurses' Week To Be Noted

Local nurses will join with all graduate nurses of the state in observing Nurses' Week, today through Saturday. During the period, National Hospital Week will also be noted.

Annually, the week containing May 12, is selected for the special week. The date is the birthday anniversary of Florence Nightingale, who worked so faithfully during the Crimean War to relieve the suffering of humanity.

Big Spring has many such dedicated women—in the hospitals and clinics, or those serving as nursing instructors, school and health nurses and members of the U.S. Air Force Nurses Corps.

Many are wives and mothers, and most of them work with civic, church and school groups.

Big Spring registered nurses are members of the Texas Graduate Nurses Association, District 21, of the American Nurses Association and of the International Council of Nurses.

Purposes of these groups are to establish and maintain a code of ethics among those in the profession; to elevate the standards of nursing education and profession; to disseminate information on nursing and to establish professional reciprocity between nurses of Texas and those of other states and countries.

Two local nurses are office-holders in the district; they are Bessie Love, second vice president, and Ruth Jameson, board of directors.

Bethany Class Has Social Thursday

Ten members of Bethany Class of Hillcrest Baptist Church participated in a social at the church Thursday.

Mrs. Dick Beard gave the opening prayer and Mrs. W. E. Miller gave the devotion. Decorations included pansies floating in a flower bowl and a lace cloth atop the table.

Vets, Wives Entertained At Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. Akin M. Simpson and Dr. and Mrs. Bill B. Dunn were hosts to area veterinarians and their wives at a dinner Saturday night at the Big Spring Country Club.

Members of the Permian Basin Veterinary Medical Association were invited to attend. Towns represented included Midland, Odessa, Pecos, Kermit, Andrews, Seminole and Lamesa. Dr. and Mrs. Bud Aldredge from Sweetwater also attended.

The dinner table was centered with an arrangement of iris, daffodils and gladioli in spring colors.

Dr. Simpson has served as president of the Permian Basin group this year with Dr. Dunn as secretary-treasurer. Dr. Henry A. Tillett of Midland is the association's vice president.

The Aldredges are house guests of the Simpsons this weekend.

MRS. RAY ALLAN HANES

Miss Fox, Ray Hanes Repeat Wedding Vows

LAMESA (SC) — Suzanne Fox became the bride of Ray Allan Hanes at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Cockrell Hill Church of Christ at Dallas. W. B. Cox was the officiating minister.

The bride, a June graduate of Justin F. Kimball High School of Dallas, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Howey, Dallas. Hanes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hanes of Lamesa and a 1956 graduate of Lamesa High School.

A cascade bouquet of white roses and white orchids was carried by the bride as she was escorted to the altar by her father. Her formal gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace was fashioned with a sabrina neckline with pearls; an iridescent accenting the basque bodice. The skirt front had a shadow panel with medallions of lace. The back was of cascading ruffles in lace bridal tulle ending in a whisper train. A finger tip illusion veil fell from an antique scalloped tiara owned by the bride's mother.

Marilyn Duncan of Fort Worth was maid of honor. Betty Davidson and Ivy Butler of Dallas were bridesmaids, and Karen Dooley of Dallas served as junior bridesmaid.

Royce Gleghorn of Lamesa was best man and Bobby and Troy Hanes of Lamesa were groomsmen. The junior groomsmen was Bob Harris of Dallas. Lynna Beth Cox of Dallas was the flower girl; Charles McDaniel Jr., Dallas, ring bearer; Ronny Campbell and James Houston, both of Dallas, ushers.

The reception was held in the bride's home. A weekend trip to Lake Murray, Okla., will serve as the wedding trip.

Five Give Circle Program Tuesday

Five members of the Kathryn White Circle of Vincent Baptist Church gave the program when the group met with Mrs. J. H. Redman Tuesday.

Mrs. Jack Brown gave the opening prayer and read the prayer calendar. Closing prayer was by Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Brown will host the May 9 meeting.

New Rate Set On Mail Fees

Postal money orders and fees for special delivery of mail and packages are going to be more expensive after July 1.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster of the Big Spring Post Office, said that effective that date, new rates set by the Postmaster General become effective.

The increase in special delivery fees will apply only to second, third and fourth class matter. First class mail special delivery will continue at the old rate. In the three categories below first class, the rate will be upped 10 cents.

Items up to two pounds will require a fee of 55 cents; two to 10 pounds 65 cents; over 10 pounds, 80 cents. First class special delivery rates continue 30 cents, 45 cents and 60 cents for the three weight divisions—unchanged.

The Post Office Department expects this increase to bring in about $2.5 million in additional postal revenue.

Money orders from $5 to $50 are to be increased five cents. The new schedule—an average of five cents higher—one cent to $5, five cents to $10, 10 cents to $20, 15 cents to $50, 20 cents to $100, 25 cents to $500, 30 cents to $1,000, 35 cents to $5,000.

Boatler pointed out that the postmaster general has authority to make these adjustments under the postal policy act of 1958.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day has also filed a request with Congress to take legislative action to increase postal rates on first, second and third class mail. He estimates this will bring in enough additional revenue needed to offset the Post Office Department's revenue deficiency of $741 million.

MAY 15-20

Mail Box Improvements Urged By Postmaster

If you are a rural resident and served by rural mail service, the Post Office Department would like to call your attention to an important 5-day interval—May 15-May 20.

These are the five days set aside for the Post Office Department's annual rural mail box improvement program, E. C. Boatler, Big Spring postmaster explained.

The yearly effort is to encourage patrons, who use such mail receptacles, to put them in good repair. The department emphasizes the importance of a rural mail box to be properly erected, maintained for safe and easy accessibility, offer a neat appearance and provide proper protection for the mail.

DAMAGE

The Post Office Department points out that if a rural mail box is not properly erected, and not maintained in good serviceable condition, it can retard the delivery of mail and also expose mail to damage from the weather.

The post office also suggests that if a box is in bad repair, it is advantageous to replace it. The name of the box's owner should be clearly inscribed on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches. If the boxes are in a group, the name of the owner should be on the door.

The post office prefers that rural mail boxes and supports be painted white but has no major objection to other colors.

ON RIGHT

It is also pointed out that mail boxes on rural and star routes should be located on the right side of the road in the direction of travel of the carriers. This is particularly important where conditions are dangerous for the carriers to drive to the left in order to serve the boxes or where such actions constitute a violation of traffic laws or regulations.

The post office also urges that all approaches to the boxes be kept filled, properly graded and unobstructed.

ARMED FORCES

The Armed Forces of the United States, throughout the nation and overseas, will play host to their American and international neighbors during Armed Forces Week, May 13 to 21.

President John F. Kennedy has proclaimed the third Saturday in May as Armed Forces Day. The observance was first established by presidential proclamation in May, 1950.

Observance at Webb will feature Open House for the people of Big Spring and nearby communities, and the Wing Commander's luncheon for local civic leaders.

Window displays depicting the mission of different organizations will be at business establishments in Big Spring from Monday, May 15 to Saturday, May 20.

Hemphill-Weiss will carry displays of Pilot Training Group and the USAF Hospital; Prager's will show exhibits of the Civil Engineers; Swartz', the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron; Gibbs and Weeks, Airways and Air Communications Service plus the Weather Detachment; C. R. Anthony, Air Base Group; and J. C. Penney, the Helicopter Rescue Unit.

More than 1,000 community programs will be held in the United States this year.

According to the Defense Department records, about 24 million people attended or participated in open house and community programs during last year's Armed Forces Week. Information on national security reached millions of others.

A Devotional For Today

These words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children. (Deuteronomy 6:6, 7.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for parents who encourage their children to know the Bible and to shape their lives in accordance with its teachings. Bless us all in our efforts to do Thy will. We ask in our Savior's name. Amen.

(From The Upper Room)

Expressing Our Feelings

The most significant secular banner in the world, the Stars and Stripes, flies proudly and impressively over military posts, government and public buildings, many schools at all times—but far too seldom at American homes.

On national holidays—and there are many of them on which the flag should fly—there is the motive of patriotism, perhaps a duty, to display the colors. This is one way that our nation and its citizens can show the world that there is a loyalty to country, a devotion to freedom, that is still strong in our hearts.

Who is to say that much of the apathy toward good government, much of the indifference toward our country's welfare, has come about through a declining practice of old-fashioned patriotism. What's wrong with patriotism?

Flying the flag, of course, is only one facet. And perhaps this is not done as much as it should be because there is not an opportunity to obtain the right sort of flag.

It is this thought which has prompted The Herald to offer the new 50-star flag in a size suitable for flying from front porch or window sill. A special kit is now available, which includes a 3x5 foot banner, six-foot pole and metal socket for mounting. And with the package is a booklet listing appropriate holidays for flag display, and rules of flag etiquette. The offer is in the spirit of public service, and the price is at cost.

It is gratifying to know that many people of Big Spring have responded already to this program, and we feel that many more will. Undoubtedly civic groups will lend their endorsement.

Reverence for the flag is an important part of service to country. May we put new emphasis on this, each in his own modest way, in his own home.

Proud And Happy

Americans may have varying emotions about the space program, but they all had a keen and almost personal interest in the sub-orbital flight of Navy Comdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. into the threshold of space Friday.

They clustered around radios or stood with eyes glued to television screens, or as in our case, knotted around the teletype as the magic moment came.

The elation of knowing that Comdr. Shepard was on his way into the ether of space was tempered by apprehension about his safe return. And within minutes came the running account that everything was going well and most important of all that the astronaut was in top condition. Then the capsule, glowing from friction heat, was lowered gently into the sea amidst a cloud of steam. Within minutes the capsule was reached, righted, and before long Comdr. Shepard was safely out.

The average person may be somewhat baffled by the space race and its vast consumption of funds and resources. He may be even resigned to it, or he may possess a keen interest and see in it great defense, scientific, and other implications.

But whatever his emotions, his reaction to the achievement and safe return of our first man into space is one of pride and even happiness. The achievement speaks well for our scientists. Because we dared to do it with the world looking on and listening in, we have created almost as much praise as the orbital flight of the Russians a fortnight ago.

Marquis Childs Another Breakdown In Intelligence

PARIS—To a recent visitor Ambassador James Gavin remarked that he was reading about his earliest predecessor, Benjamin Franklin. The retired general-turned-ambassador said it gave him some consolation to know that Franklin in the 18th Century in another time of great trouble had had his ups and downs with the French.

GAVIN HAS COME here as the French people have suffered the shock of a profound humiliation. Daily in the newspapers more details are supplied of the gaping abyss of uncertainty and disloyalty, and the recent revolt against President De Gaulle and his policy of pacification in Algeria. This is the subject of almost every conversation as the shock slowly wears off.

In the middle of the fateful Sunday night when a great many people, including Premier Michel Debre, believed the paratroopers were coming from Algeria to take Paris one observer saw 14 armored vehicles on the Bridge of St. Cloud across the Seine near Paris. He got on the phone to an official of the Ministry of Defense. Were these loyal tanks or were they part of a joint effort with the paratroopers against the government? The answer came back: We don't know.

OF SUCH anecdotes is the fabric of dismay woven. In the aftermath of the shock the draftees in Algeria are arguing with their officers and the officers are arguing with each other. Three generals, Raoul Salan, Andre Zeller and Edmond Jouhaud, of the four who headed the rebellion are still at large and the report is that they are organizing underground another push with the help of French settlers in Algeria.

IN VIEW OF ALL this, it is hardly surprising that the French would like to find someone else on whom to put at least part of the blame. This seems to be the explanation for the persistent reports widely circulated by the press and radio, and in this writing not denied by any official French source, that "American agents" were in contact with the head of the rebellion, Gen. Maurice Challe, and encouraged him to think that the United States would look with favor on a new regime in France favorable to NATO and full integration of the armed forces of the Western alliance. Until a short time ago Challe was commander of the NATO force in Central Europe.

THE CHARGE HAS been repeatedly denied from the American side. But it continues to flourish as a part of the mythology of an anguished France. As one of the highest officials of the French government put it:

"Of course, your government, neither your State Department nor your President, had anything to do with this. But when you have so many hundreds of agents in every part of the world it is not to be wondered at that some of them should have got in touch with the generals in Algiers."

THIS SAME OFFICIAL believes that President Kennedy's offer of support to De Gaulle was one reason the putsch collapsed so quickly. But this is on the assumption that Challe and the others may have thought they had at least tacit American support in their endeavor and then were disillusioned when they found that, on the contrary, the United States backed De Gaulle all the way.

Involved here obviously is the whole question of the role of the intelligence agent. An agent of the CIA or of one of the military services would have an obligation to discover whether French generals were so opposed to the De Gaulle policy of peace and gradual independence for Algeria that they would go so far as to revolt. The fact that no agency of the American government seems to have had the slightest hint of the generals' uprising is one reflection on the huge sums Washington spends on the process lumped under the term intelligence.

BUT AN AGENT who intruded his own political views in a show of sympathy with Challe would plainly be oversteering the bounds of propriety.

Any inquiry into the intelligence function that is more than merely an effort to sweep the whole thing under the rug could profitably examine what happened in France. One aspect is the reported relationship with Jacques Soustelle, once a passionate Gaullist who turned against the great man and has since appeared to be thoroughly discredited. The report strenuously denied from the American side is that agents were in close contact with Soustelle in the belief that he would be De Gaulle's successor.

IN FRANCE and Algeria the sweeping arrests continue. Two Air Force generals, one of them Premier Debre's closest military adviser, have been put in prison. Several hundred colonels and higher-ranking officers are detained in Algiers.

This has the look of a purge meant to root out the heart of disloyalty. But at the same time the professional military who run the armed services and who have endured much in the wars of the past 15 years are deeply affronted and this seems to be true of those who stood by De Gaulle to the latest revolt. Whether that revolt has been stamped out or whether it smolders underground to break out in the not-too-distant future only a rash prophet would venture to say.

J. A. Livingston Looks Like The Corner Has Been Turned

The recovery of 1961 is now a current event and the recession of 1960-61 is fast becoming ancient history.

Unemployment dropped in April and employment increased. Executives of major corporations, despite generally poor first-quarter profits, have turned their sights upward. Forecasts of outlays on plant and equipment are rising.

Steel executives are optimistic as incoming orders increase. The brass mill business is perking up and copper producers have upped the price a penny a pound to 30 cents. Auto sales in the last 10 days of April reflect a mood of Charles Godfrey Leland's verse:

MILDEST POSTWAR SLUMP

The 1960-61 recession, from top to bottom, was less severe percentage-wise than '57-8, '53-4, or '48-9.

unemployed. Unemployment in the 1960-61 recession started from a high level and, therefore, didn't rise as much as in the other three slumps. It is a long-term problem for a fundamental reason.

The century of the railroad has given way to the half-century of the airplane and the coming century of the space ship. The city is being reconducted to new use. The balance of military and economic power has shifted eastward — from Great Britain and France to the Soviet Union. Research, development, discovery, and new needs are restructuring American and world industry.

Which companies and which industries are successful ten years from now depends on managerial alertness and reorientation. Investors and speculators are betting on the space companies. That is lifting up the market as a whole.

The future is always a lottery. And this is one of those rare times when only the anchorite doesn't know it.

THERE IS SOMETHING close to an obligatory conclusion here. One is praction credit for an unintentional assist: Low interest rates. As yields on long-term government bonds sink to 3.75 per cent and under, the returns on industrial common stocks, 3 per cent or less, don't look so measly. To some people, counting on inflation, they may even seem attractive.

This low-interest, rate policy involves risk — let's hope well-calculated risk. The U. S. can no longer live in splendid isolation. The gold outflow last year proved that. So, also, does President Kennedy's willingness to consider quotas on textile imports. Postwar economics has caught up with us.

Investors, who 10 years ago kept money in the U. S., rather than in West Germany, Italy, or France, or Great Britain, because of proximity to Soviet Russian armed forces, no longer have the same trepidation. In an atomic-war world, one place is as unsafe as another. If long-term interest rates are forced down here while they stay up abroad, capital will move away from the U. S. The gold flow will be re-initiated. That's the risk.

FUTURE A LOTTERY

The mildness of the recession does not — should not minimize the hard pull ahead. 5,000,000 persons — 68 per thousand — are

The thief stole a car from a garage, eluding nightwatchman Chancy Finch, but later wrecked it. The thief awakened a nearby farmer who drove the man back to Oakley, not knowing he had stolen a car.

Early the next morning, a second car was stolen from the garage. Police believed it was taken by the same thief.

Around The Rim Of Kissing Girls, And Borrowing Money

In pursuit of exactly nothing:

For a long time now, I have been saying that a return to the horse and buggy days wouldn't be the worst thing that could happen.

DID YOU SEE that awful piece in the paper the other day? About the young fellow who had a minor car wreck while he was kissing his girl, and got sued because she got her head scratched up? He had to pay off, a sum to her, another to her Papa, although how the old man got into the act I don't know.

In the first place, this seems rather uncharitable of the girl, unless the fellow was a real cad. In the second place accidents wouldn't have happened in a buggy. I suppose there was a generation that could have called it "spooning in safety."

AND SHADES of progress! What do you suppose the body of Benjamin Franklin, the father of thrift, would be doing, if he learned that there's now a bank in Phoenix, Ariz., which actually advertises a "miss-a-month" type of loan. The borrower can skip one month in 12, without a penalty. I thought we had done everything we knew to do to help credit along.

WHILE WE'RE worrying about our lot, lawsuits for kisses, and no money for nothing, and that sort of thing, did you ever think of another citizen who never, never gets any public attention? He's the 11th-best dressed man in the country.

SPEAKING OF best-dressed men, there are some men in Odessa who have banded themselves together in a Men's Garden Club. And don't go to laughing, either, because the way of a man with a rose bush can be expert indeed. No kidding, the Odessa Men's Garden Club is to sponsor a rose show on May 20 and 21.

There are 35 members of this club and they say they will have 2,500 entries in their show.

SOMEBODY WRITES that a poll was taken among a girl's college alumnae to determine who they thought really did the most for the world. The answers were (1) The man who invented zippers. (2) The man who invented Scotch tape. (3) The man who invented drip-dry clothes. (4) The man who invented deep freeze. I would have thought that the alumnae of a girls' college would have just voted for a man, period.

ALTHOUGH I'm not much of a hand for progress, it is impressive to learn of an improved practice uncovered in the hills of Tennessee. The boys who make white lightning are putting it into these little plastic bottles, and it's possible to buy your moonshine by the squirt.

IN MY MEANDERINGS among magazines I ran across a wit by the name of Clem Erlander—if that is his true name—but I can't remember what his publication was. He passed on a couple of deep thoughts:

One is that Rolls-Royce dealers never advertise "used cars." With them, it's a "pre-owned vehicle."

The other was about the student in correspondent school who cut classes simply by sending in empty envelopes.

Holmes Alexander More Aspects Of U.S. Disaster

WASHINGTON — Now the danger concerning Cuba and Laos is one that often threatens men and nations on sentry duty or awaiting an attack which they hope won't happen.

The danger is boredom. We must resist it. We must not be distracted by Willie Mays' home runs or Space spectaculars. We must not succumb to the sublimation offered by respectable statesmen and pundits — we mustn't put away the guns and go back to the 15-year formula for failure — a reliance on plowshares, popcorn and peace-loving.

SEVERAL VERY non-boring aspects of the Cuban fiasco await some reporting and comment. First, it seems that American jet fighters were over Cuba to "cover" the April invasion. They were never ordered to do what they were there for — attack the Russian MIGs. This story is an example of what the administration prefers that we do not write about.

But, as every newsman knows, the governmental suppression of news (whether openly or by trying to shame the press into self-suppression) is often a way of saving the Government's face rather than denying information to the enemy. With American Air and Navy units on hand, and not fighting, we lost one of the crucial battles of American history. Until the President takes personal responsibility by declaring a state of emergency, such stories should be told.

ANOTHER ASPECT needing public attention is a Presidential decision which is apparent by his actions, and one that was voiced by an administration leader who is bound to know. If the Cuban-Laos defeats proved anything, it is that the world is a big place. In Cuba, we can and must win swiftly, with relatively little bloodshed, and the victory would have worldwide results. In Laos, any victory would be long, costly and not decisive unless we extended the war to Red China and possibly Russia.

THERE IS SOMETHING close to an obligatory conclusion here. One is practically obliged to conclude that the world is still divided into spheres of influence, interest and control. In brief, we can and must run this hemisphere, and we must admit that Sino-Soviet power can temporarily run areas that are readily accessible to them.

One more aspect needs to be exposed. As soon as the defeat in Cuba was acknowledged complete, the State Department began the process of "unthink" and "unwrite." Along with others, I was offered the grand concept of victory and triumph in the Caribbean. You will rightly ask — how's that again? Well, a top echelon State Department spokesman, with ambassadorial rank, compared a speech last March 13th by Mr. Kennedy to the Harvard Commencement speech on June 4, 1947 by Secretary of State Marshall which launched the Marshall plan and stabilized Europe.

YES, INDEED, Kennedy's $600 million extra aid to Latin America would make everything right. Castro's repulsion of the American-backed invasion last month was merely equivalent to Russia's early successes in trying to take over Greece and Turkey. Some of us who got paid to interpret the news were invited to interpret it as above. Specifically, the fact that Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay and other Latin American countries did not rise with Castro to throw out us Yankees and our friends is pictured as the real significance — the beginning of something like NATO.

WELL, THERE ARE three overlooked aspects of the Cuban disaster, and I hope Americans won't be bored. We have not been told about the frozen indecision in Washington which prevented our troops from the spot from opening fire. The authorities are still equating far-off Laos in importance with offshore Cuba. The official brainwashers are inviting us to believe that we really won an invisible victory in this hemisphere.

These are things that should keep Americans awake all night. (Copyright by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

David Lawrence How To Handle The Expense Account

WASHINGTON—At last there's a solution to the expense-account problem so far as its major aspects are concerned.

The government will get more tax money—hundreds of millions that the Treasury is not getting now.

The companies will be able to send their men to conventions and trade-association meetings.

THE SALESMEN will be able to take their wives along and continue to entertain their business friends and wives.

Also, the hotels, restaurants, theaters and auto-rental companies will all be able to do about as much business as before, and unemployment, therefore, will not be increased as has been feared ever since the crackdown on expense accounts was announced by the Treasury more than a year ago.

THE METHOD is simple, and it's lawful. Each company simply pays a special or temporary increase in salary or bonus to its representatives, to cover extra expenses as well as his federal and state income taxes on this added compensation.

To put it another way, when a company sends out a traveling salesman to attend a convention and he takes his wife along, the total cost of the special trip might, for example, be $600. The salesman is out-of-pocket not only $600 but an additional $200 that he would be expected to pay in income taxes. So the company gives him a bonus of $800 to cover all extra expenses. It becomes part of his salary and, like any other bonus for services rendered by an employee, the $800 payment is deductible as a salary item by the company itself.

A COMPANY can pay any salary it wishes to a salesman and an additional bonus for services rendered. Going to conventions is one way to make friends and help get orders. Many a sales representative works long hours at conventions. If he were in the classification of employees comparable to that of a trade union, he would be getting time-and-a-half for overtime beyond eight hours a day and beyond a five-day week.

So the companies really are getting a

To Your Good Health Let Babies Decide When To Try To Walk

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there danger of a baby's weight causing it to be bandy-legged or bow-legged in later years as a result of trying to walk too early? By 'too early' I mean nine months.

"Perhaps other young couples and their parents would be interested in an answer also—A.B.R."

Sir, I'm periodically glad to note that fathers as well as mothers are sufficiently concerned to write to be about problems of this sort.

And now to get down to bent legs—no. Adults may do all sorts of idiotic things, but tiny babies don't. They rely on their instincts which, over the centuries have become extremely reliable guides.

The age at which a baby ought to start walking varies

INVITATION TO DRIVE OFF when keys are left in ignition

HELP YOURSELF to these unprotected valuables

Don't Help Thief Steal Your Auto

By M. A. WEBB

A parked car, with windows rolled up, keys out of the ignition, hand brake set, gear shift set in park or reverse, and doors locked, is no invitation to car thieves.

A car parked with windows open, and keys left in, is a direct invitation for car borrowers to step in and drive off.

Items left on the seat, or in plain sight of passersby, and maybe in an unlocked car, is another direct invitation for petty thieves who are looking for just such chance to lift something of value.

MANY REPORTS

Police blotters and peace officers' records are full of complaints about stolen cars, stolen purses, cameras, golf clubs, and just about every kind of item you can think of, because of the hundreds of car owners who fail to take precautions to make it hard for someone to get his hand inside the car.

Chief Jay Banks of the Big Spring Police Department, said: "A person can walk down both sides of two blocks of the main streets of Big Spring and find at least a dozen automobiles with the keys left in the ignition, windows open, and valuable items in plain sight on the seats or floor. That would figure out to about 250 cars parked in Big Spring and left with no protection whatever."

"Doing all these things, if the car is parked on a side street, or on a big parking lot," he said, "or in dark places at night, is no guarantee that your car or valuable items will not be stolen. But it would slow up a lot of thefts. There are ways in which an experienced car thief or pilferer can get into your car, like breaking the glass, using instruments to open the ventilators and reaching through to unlock the doors, and then wiring the ignition straight across to start the engine. But thefts are from cars left unprotected."

URGES PRECAUTION

Car owners cannot take too many precautions to protect their valuables. Like the man who placed a high-powered fence charger in his car to discourage attempts to open the doors, the chief advises owners to take every precaution.

The do-it-yourself method of safety for parked cars and valuables is nine-tenths of the surety of finding the car and what was left in it exactly as it was left.

Some drivers make a habit of pulling the keys from the ignition every time they cut the motor. It becomes a habit and a good one. These drivers usually keep three doors locked when they drive, and make sure the driver-side door is locked when they get out.

DEAR ABBY Losing Face With Figure

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister-in-law who claims she weighs the same today as she did when she was married 12 years ago, which is 112 pounds, and also a big lie. Anyone can see she weighs at least 135. I lost my patience with her yesterday when I had a few girls in and the subject of weight and diet came up, and she made this ridiculous statement. I asked her to step on my bathroom scale and prove it. She refused and left my house in a huff, saying I called her a liar. I didn't call her a liar. I only asked her to back up her statement. When my husband came home (he is her brother) I started to tell him the story and he had heard it already. She called him at work. He says I should call her and apologize to keep peace in the family. I think she owes me an apology. Who owes who an apology?

DEAR ROSE: Call her and tell her you are sorry you offended her. Since you know she was wrong, you were unkind to embarrass her in the presence of the others. It's had enough to lose one's figure without losing face, too.

DEAR ABBY: There is a certain girl in the eighth grade who sure thinks she is something! She has a shape on her like a high school senior, and she wiggles (on purpose) when she walks.

When older boys ask her for a date she tells them she is sorry she can't accept because she has another date. We happen to know that she can't accept because her mother won't let her date yet.

How can we help her to be more truthful? She is losing friends. EIGHTH GRADE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: I doubt if the girl you are worried about will miss the friends she is losing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman (24) who has been keeping company with an undivorced man for two years. He has spent whole nights telling me how miserable his home life is. He said he never knew the meaning of love until he met me. He also said he hated his wife because she poisoned his children's minds against him. Yet when I would mention divorce, he Newspaper Advertising Readers Are Ready To Buy!

Newspaper readers are attracted to your advertising because it interests them. They are more apt to be live, "ready-to-buy" prospects than is the case with readers and viewers of other advertising media.

Live prospects are easier to sell. They actually shop the newspaper ads — they want to be sold, and are looking for information to help make a buying decision. Take housewives, for example—research* proves that 75% of them check the ads in the daily newspaper before making their main shopping trips of the week.

It's that kind of readiness on the part of newspaper readers that can mean ready sales for you!

'Fantasy In Flowers,' Spring Formal, Is Highly Successful

By KAY LOVELAND

Friday night marked the culmination of several hard weeks of "blood, sweat and tears" on the part of members of the HCJC Freshman Class. Between the hours of 8 and 12 p.m. on May 5 the class presented the Spring Formal with its theme "A Fantasy In Flowers." Boys in their bow ties, cummerbunds and dinner jackets and girls in their bouffant, springlike formals danced to the music of The Classics in the flower-bedecked main dining room of the Student Union Building. The class is to be congratulated for its fine work.

A number of students weren't able to attend the Formal because of a geology field trip which took place over the weekend. Most of the general geology class traveled by cars to the Arbuckle Mountains in Oklahoma where they took part in a state-wide field trip. They left at noon on Friday and spent the night in Wichita Falls in order to attend a banquet at Midwestern University. Among other schools participating in the trip were Baylor University and the University of Texas.

Students engaged in other scientific studies, namely physics and chemistry, took a trip to Odessa Saturday to attend an atomic energy meeting and workshop. They were accompanied by J. T. Clements, HCJC chemistry professor.

Next Friday night, May 12, members of Phi Theta Kappa and their guests will congregate at Moss Creek Lake (on the north side) for a wicker roast and final "get-together" before the year ends. Time set for eating is 7:00 p.m. A meeting of the group will be held this coming Wednesday morning at which new officers will be elected. All members are urged to attend.

The College Choir, under direction of Ira Schantz, accompanied by Jack Hendrix, will present its home concert at 8 p.m. this coming Thursday night in the college auditorium. This concert will give HCJC students a chance to hear the program that has been presented successfully at neighboring schools and at the First Methodist Church in Lubbock on April 20.

The calendar for the remainder of the school term is as follows: May 12—Deadline for $7.50 graduation fee and reservation for banquet. Guest tickets will cost $1.50; May 14 — Music Department's voice and piano recital; May 17—Baccalaureate rehearsal, 9:45

Seniors Take Trip To Galveston Area

By BONNIE SIMPSON

The seniors left early Wednesday morning on their long-awaited trip. The trip is something everyone looks forward to from the time they are a freshman until they finally become a senior. This year Galveston was picked as their destination. They traveled in cars and should arrive home sometime Sunday.

Monday the Howard County Junior College group presented a program for the whole school. It was well done, as all their programs are, and was enjoyed very much by all.

The delegates to the state meeting in Dallas for FFA came home full of news and gave very interesting reports on the happenings at the meeting.

The sophomores have begun child development in home-making and gave a party for the first graders Tuesday.

The Spanish Club gave a party for Spanish Club members and students who are planning to take Spanish next year. They left Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. and headed for Moss Creek where the party was held.

The girls who participated in sports this year are reluctantly handing in their hard-earned suits and warmups, especially the senior girls who are handing theirs in for the last time.

The girls who lettered this year ordered their jackets and sweaters Tuesday. First year lettermen receive sweaters and others receive jackets. Ten girls lettered in basketball this year. They were Jan Stockton, Joyce Shoultz, Betty Conger, Bonnie Simpson, Darla Dunagan, Judy Banks, Carla Jo Hughes, Ciela Newsom, Verna Draper and Mary Fields. Eight girls lettered in volleyball. They were Carla Jo Hughes, Verna Draper, Judy Banks, Betty Conger, Jan Stockton, Joyce Shoultz, Ciela Newsom and Darla Dunagan.

The cheerleaders for next year were elected Friday at noon. They are Carla Hughes—head cheerleader, and Darla Dunagan, Betty Conger, Steve Bell and Sonny Whetsel.

We are all very proud of the volleyball team this year. They won district, regional and then went on to win consolation in the state tournament in Abilene. They showed up very good against hard playing Imperial, losing to them by only five points. Two of our girls were on the all-state team. They were spiker Carla Hughes and set up Verna Draper. This leaves us with only four weeks of school. These could be the most important ones for some of us so let's all study hard!

Everyone who attended the faculty dinner given by the Student Council Monday night seemed to enjoy themselves very much. At last the girls in the home-making sewing classes have finished their blouses and are hoping they stay together long enough to wear them at least once.

We had 100 students taking part in the Science Fair at Senior High Saturday. All schools in Big Spring were represented at the Fair.

We had four new students check into Goliad this week. They were 7th grade—Janice England; 8th grade—Don England, Ray Wright; 9th grade—Shirley Ann Elkins.

That's about all the news for this week, but don't forget to attend the Spring Formal.

Principal Abe Holder made the announcements along with a list of 38 honor graduates for the current school term. No dates have been set for commencement and baccalaureate services to be conducted later this month.

The valedictorian was active in the band, FFA, PTA, National Honor Society, drama, Spanish, booster club, annual staff, and was named as the most valuable senior.

This year's salutatorian was an active band member, Tornado booster, FTA, National Honor Society, library club, Spanish club, and alternate representative to the student council.

Garner served as social chairman of the band, vice president of the slide-rule club, National Honor Society, outstanding Latin student, annual staff member, drama club, Quill & Scroll Society, all-regional bandsman, runner-up as most valuable senior and Mr. Citizenship of LHS.

Local Student On Dean's List

SAN MARCOS — Linda Wehner of Big Spring has made the Dean's List, college honor roll, at Southwest Texas State.

Miss Wehner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wehner of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is a junior elementary education major. She is a member of Alpha Phi, Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Chi, the Canterbury Club and the Student Religious Council.

The roll, just released, includes work done during the fall of 1960. Altogether, 417 students made the list, 50 of them achieving superior honors.

To qualify for the Dean's List, a student must make at least a B average in all work and must carry at least 12 semester hours of classes.

Stanton Students Have Another Active Week

By MARSHA BRISTOW

This week's schedule was very full! The senior play, various banquets, and the results from the State FFA meeting head the list. Mona Epley, Kay Bryan, Carolyn Manning and I returned from the State FFA meeting in Dallas last Sunday. We were accompanied by my mother Mrs. P. M. Bristol, and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. King and Carol Jean, Mother and I went to Dallas Wednesday to attend the session of the state nominating board. At this meeting I learned what office I will hold next year in the State Association. The others came on Thursday. During the meeting we attended the sessions which featured such interesting speakers as Mrs. Billie Davis, author of "I Was A Hobo Kid," the state FFA Hondo Kid, Jan Penn, and our state president, Donna Wickersham from Lubbock. Also on Friday night the program, "Those Wonderful Years," told the story of our FFA since 1944.

All around the meeting, Dr. Travis Shelton from the Southern Methodist University, conducted musical recitals. Also the state chorus sang. Carolyn Manning and I received our state degrees at the confirmation ceremony Friday afternoon. I was elected as second vice president for next year and next year I will be in charge of the degree program on the state level. All in all, the Stanton delegation enjoyed the meeting very much!

The senior class has been working very hard this week. Their play, "The Remarkable Incident at Carson's Corners," was presented Thursday night in the Junior high gym. When I said the senior class had worked very hard, I meant it because there were 27 characters in the play. However, the play was a huge success, and I want to congratulate the seniors on such a fine performance of this very dramatic play. This play by Ronald Rose was produced on Playhouse 90 last year, and received an Emmy.

The band banquet was Friday night in the high school cafeteria. The banquet was to reward deserving students for their support of the band and its activities during the year. The guest speaker was Mr. Corbett Smith of Sul Ross State College. Mr. Smith also worked with the band in a clinic before the regional contests. The regional contests were last Saturday. The band received a third rating in the concert division of the contest, and they received a fourth rating on the sight reading division. This was the first year that our band had competed in AA competition.

The FFA banquet was also this weekend, Saturday night. It was held in Midland at the Women's Club. The program included such items as the conferring of the Junior and Chapter Degrees, a report of state meeting, and musical selections.

Choir Will Give Spring Concert

By JUDY ENGLE

The annual Spring Formal was held Friday night at the Couden Country Club. The theme being "Dixie," everything was decorated in southern plantation style. Also this year, for those who did not wish to attend the dance a Western Hayride was held. There was good participation in both the dance and hayride, and the students and teachers really had a good time.

The Science Fair was held yesterday in the senior high school building. All felt that Runnels was well represented.

Selected members of the Runnels choir gave a program at the State Hospital birthday party Friday. Those participating were Clydette Williams, Sherry Napper, Alice Clemow, Billie Smith, Shirley Kinman and Mary Row. Also Mary Nance, Mary Hensley, Eva Statham, Linda Statham, Eugene Pennington, Marvin Bell and Carl Reynolds.

Next Friday night the choir will present its spring concert. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. and will be held in the Runnels gym. Price for students is 25 cents and adults 50 cents.

The last edition of the Round-Up, which will go on sale May 25, is to be dedicated to the freshman class. All freshmen wishing to fill items to a lucky or unlucky seventh or eighth grade student are to write their will on paper and put it in the new box. Also in the Round-Up will be the class prophecy.

The schedule for the elections has been changed a little. Petitions were circulated last week and were to have been turned in Friday. The rally will be held Thursday morning, and the elections Thursday afternoon. Students, be thinking about who you want to vote for.

Attending the state FFA meeting in Dallas last week from Runnels were Sue Cook, Pat Tubbs and Florence Leno, homemaker teacher. Sue was also chosen "Future Homemaker of the Year" of Runnels.

See you tomorrow. Be good!

Writer Best Known For Terror Tales

"Black Sunday," American International's weird story of the supernatural, is based on "The Vii" written by Nikolai Gogol, one of the great classic writers of Russia.

Gogol was born on March 31, 1809, in the province of Poltava in Southern Russia where various kinds of ghosts, including vampires, were believed in not only by the peasants but by the upper classes as well.

After an unsuccessful fling at the stage and futile attempts at writing in other fields, Gogol turned back to the people and customs he knew best for his novels. At the age of 27 he went abroad for the first time and lived in Rome, which so transformed his thinking that at his death on March 3, 1852, and for some time before, he turned toward mysticism. He achieved fame in the western world for his famous novel "Dead Souls" and for his celebrated comedy "The Inspector General" which dealt with the people he knew so well. Gogol was a keen observer of life among the middle classes, the landowners and their serfs. He has been described as "the writer who laughs through tears."

Primitive passions come into bitter conflict with civilization's moral codes in Warner Bros.' Technicolor production of "The Sins of Rachel Cade," starring Angie Dickinson, Peter Finch and Roger Moore, which opens today at the Ritz Theatre.

Miss Dickinson, playing the title role, is seen as a beautiful woman in her mid-twenties who ought to be married to a good man and have lots of children. Instead, she is a spinster missionary in the Belgian Congo.

Her desperate struggle between God's work and the weakness of her own flesh—and the ultimate resolution of her emotional turmoil—provide the thematic material for the motion picture based on the novel by Charles Mercer.

Scenarist Edward Anhalt has dealt with the sensitive and frequently delicate subject matter in a straightforward fashion, approaching the young missionary's problems with candor and honesty.

Rachel Cade's lofty ideals and indefatigable labors stamp her as a dedicated person ready to give her very life, if need be, for her work, yet at the same time a woman of human frailties and desires whose greatest battle is with her own conscience.

Director Gordon Douglas and producer Henry Blanke believe that Rachel Cade's weaknesses make her all the more understandable as a human being, all the more to be admired for her many sacrifices.

Finch is cast as Col. Henri Derode, Belgian administrator of the Congo district to which Angie is assigned. Derode is in his middle forties, widowed, oppressed by the ill fortune of his country in the war, and with little hope for the future.

His cynicism and agnosticism cover a profoundly sentimental and Christian nature — although they prevent him from believing that anything good will ever again happen to either his career or his emotional life.

Moore was entrusted with the role of Paul Wilton, a young American surgeon serving as a volunteer with the RAF. Essentially an adventurer, he is enormously occupied with his physical sensations and his economic future. He is a conformist—not critical of Rachel's passionate Christianity because, unlike Derode, he has no real interest or conflicts in this area. He is healthy, virile, skilled in his job and finds little wrong with the world.

Heading the supporting cast of "The Sins of Rachel Cade" is Trinidad-born Errol John, seen as Kulu, a primitive man of superior intelligence and breeding upon whom the revolutionary doctrine of Christianity has the impact it must have had on the Apostles themselves.

Actor Finds Prettiest Legs In America

English lassies, says Roger Moore, do indeed possess the world's most beautiful complexions but they have to take a back seat to their American sisters when it comes to a well-turned leg.

The dashing young Briton speaks with the assurance of one who has devoted more than haphazard attention to feminine attributes.

A blond, blue-eyed specimen standing well over the six-foot mark and weighing a muscular 172 pounds, Roger is in an ideal position to draw comparisons because he has only recently come to Hollywood from his native London.

"There's nothing basically wrong with English girls' legs," he diplomatically observes, "except that, alongside those of the average American woman, they seem to lack the same classical perfection."

The difference, as he assesses it, lies in the over-all symmetry. He reports that the feminine leg that parades through Piccadilly Square or angles down fashionable New Bond Street has somewhat "bulkier" architecture than its American counterpart.

"In all likelihood," he says, "this is because English women do so much more walking. Unlike American girls, they seldom make use of a car when it is possible to reach their destination on foot."

This constant development of ankle and calf muscles makes for a more utilitarian leg, he concedes, but one less aesthetically appealing.

Voodoo Secret Intensifies Scene

A little-known secret of jungle voodoo was used to heighten the emotional impact of a key scene in "The Sins of Rachel Cade."

The beating of drums for a ritual dance performed for Angie Dickinson, seen at the title character, was timed, at the inception, to the rhythm of the human heartbeat.

As the dancers were stirred to ever-increasing frenzy the rhythm was quickened to keep pace.

Voodoo experts report that tribal medicine men make use of the heartbeat timing to evoke a desired audience response during primitive ceremonial rites.

MAKING HER PITCH Julie Newmar and James Mason

Glamazon Julie Makes Bid For Hayward's Husband

Husband-borrowing Julie Newmar sets a new high in "glamazon" tactics as she makes a bid for Susan Hayward's man in "The Marriage-Go-Round," 20th Century-Fox DeLuxe. Color comedy also starring James Mason and opening today at the Jet Theatre.

Julie (40-23-39 in her stocking feet) brings to the screen the role she made famous in half a thousand performances of the Broadway play. As Katrin Sveg, a Swedish glamor girl of Amazonian proportions and abilities, she arrives in America the unheralded houseguest of James Mason and Susan Hayward, a pair of wedded college professors whose stock-in-trade are lectures on marriage and morals. Julie's advent is the bombshell that changes the course of everybody's morality: She wants Mason to father a eugenic baby for her . . . out of wedlock, naturally!

High point in Julie's super-charged assault on the modest Mason is a scene in which she glides her monumental torso across the screen draped only in a Turkish towel. Her wiles, matched against the instinct-plus-intellect of Susan Hayward fighting to save marriage, create a sophisticated laugh-maker.

Julie won the Antoinette Perry Award for best supporting actress during her Broadway run. The larger dimension of the screen gives her latitude for practicing judo-holds, yoga exercises, and her swimming, diving and wrestling talents.

One of the products of Lee Strasberg's Actors Studio, she began her career as a dancer, later showed up as "Stupefying Jones" in "Li'l Abner" and as one of the "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers." Her first lead-role in films came with "The Rookie," another 20th Century-Fox comedy.

Offscreen Julie's dimensions are a source of polite dismay to almost everyone with the exception of the "glamazon" herself. Nearly six feet tall, Julie has a fine philosophy on "lap": "If I make other people feel small, that's their problem, not mine!"

'Witches' Sabbath' Grew In Europe

"Black Sunday" in the American International film screening at the Ritz Thursday, is the day when weird, unearthly things take place.

It is the accursed day which occurs only once every 100 years, a day when an ancient evil is revived with horrible consequences to the members and friends of one family. Starring Barbara Steele and John Richardson, the film is based on a story by the novelist, Nikolai Gogol.

The awesome day is reminiscent of the Witches' Sabbath, a day known and feared by the superstitious throughout Europe in years gone by. Goethe in "Faust" describes the Walpurgis-Nacht dance.

According to German superstition, a Witches' Sabbath takes place on the Brocken, a peak of the Harz Mountains on the eve of May Day, which is the feast day of Saint Walburga (or Walpurgis), who is regarded as the protectress against magic arts.

The Witches' Sabbath has always had the connotation of evil, unspeakable things; a celebration held at specific times when witches from all over the world joined in a wild and worshipful tribute to Satan.

Actually, the first "Witches' Sabbath" gained prominence in Southern Europe and were public assemblies called "Sabbaths." These were held four times a year.

Those receiving pins for 20 years of service are W. H. Bacus, personnel division; V. J. Belda, manager; Rex Greenwood, fiscal division; Clark O. Hitt, chaplain; Jackson O'Brien and James Whidson, both with the dietetic service.

Eleven persons will be awarded 15 year pins and 21 will get credit for 10 years of service.

The employees need not have worked at the local hospital all this time for credit toward these awards, but only time spent with federal or military agencies can be counted.

Belda and Philip F. Hanigan, chairman of the employe awards committee, will be in charge of the meeting. As many personnel as can be spared from duty will be present, Belda said.

The awards consist of a pin—bronze, gold, silver, etc. depending upon service time—and a certificate of commendation.

Also to be honored are supervisors whose employes have shown significant participation in the hospital's suggestion program.

Presbyterians To Hold Supper

Members of the St. Paul Presbyterian congregation will begin their observance of Christian Family Week with a family night supper at the church this evening at 6:30 o'clock. Each family is asked to bring a dish of food for every two members of their family; the drink and rolls will be furnished. The Peggy Potter Circle of the Women of the Church is responsible for arrangements.

Following the meal, Capt. I. D. Appleby of Webb Air Force Base will speak to the adults and young people on the subject of "Communism—a Threat to Christian Family Life." Color slides of Europe will be shown to the children, and a nursery will be provided for pre-school children.

Promotions Up For 108 Airmen

A total of 108 Webb AFB airmen will be promoted on June 1, according to 1st Lt. Michael Ryder, Wing personnel office.

The breakdown is three to master sergeant, four to technical sergeant, six to staff sergeant, 25 to airman first class, 70 to airman second class.

A Wing promotion board will decide on NCO hikes.

Polls Open For Absentee Votes

Absentee voting in the Special U. S. Senatorial Runoff primary election of May 27 opens Monday.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said that she would have all arrangements completed to accept absentee votes on Monday morning.

The 5,000 ballots ordered by the county commissioners for the election are to be delivered by the printer on Monday.

The ballots list only two names—Bill Blakley and John Tower. Absentee voting ends on May 24.

Any qualified elector who will not be in his home voting precinct on election day or who is ill and cannot go to the polls is eligible to vote absentee in an election.

The ballots for this election are small in size and contain printed instructions for the voter to scratch out the name of the candidate he does not favor.
