Mountain Fighters

Meo mountain tribesmen are shown coming down a hill near Pa Dong, Laos, after picking up supplies dropped from a U.S. plane. Pa Dong is surrounded by Communist forces and is defended mainly by the Meo tribesmen. These jungle fighters are considered some of the best soldiers in Laos and are staunchly anti-Communist.

Lyndon, Diem Agree On U. S. Aid Plans

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today he had reached complete agreement with President Ngo Dinh Diem on how the United States can help South Viet Nam meet growing Communist guerrilla attacks.

The program includes increasing the 150,000-man Vietnamese army and bolstering it and civil defense forces with additional U. S. military advisers, but sources said no American troops are to be sent to this Southeast Asian battleground for combat duty.

Johnson refused at a news conference to discuss figures or costs. But earlier it was reported the United States was prepared to offer Diem $40 million more a year in arms aid to increase his army 20,000 men.

Johnson met with Diem for nearly three hours this morning. He then went before the National Assembly to pledge U. S. support in helping this pro-Western Asian ally carry the load of an additional defense burden to combat Communist subversion.

"We are prepared to work with you to develop an agreed solution to the problem of additional burdens of defense," he told the legislators.

This meant that the United States would step up its defense support program, which totals $150 million in the current fiscal year. But no specific amount was mentioned pending further negotiations.

Johnson also gave assurances that President Kennedy is ready to help South Viet Nam move forward to meet the needs of its 22.5 million people in education, rural development, new industry and long-range economic progress.

The U. S. aid program would also assist in equipping and training the 50,000-man civil guard force.

Give technical help in improving the self-defense corps, a village militia of volunteers to defend against surprise Communist guerrilla raids.

The United States is expected to increase its military advisory group in South Viet Nam from the present 650 officers and men to about 1,650. Sources said additional units would include ranger units, experts in counter-guerrilla warfare.

Senate Passes Bill Making U. Of H. State Supported

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate passed on voice vote today a bill making the University of Houston fully state supported in 1963.

The much filibustered bill now goes to the House for action in the remaining time of the regular session.

The measure was brought up before the Senate had been in session 10 minutes. It was passed immediately without discussion.

Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center, who participated in the many filibusters against the bill, tried to get recognition for a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed.

LI. Gov. Ben Ramsey refused to recognize Lane for this motion. "I think everybody understands this bill," Baker said in moving for final vote. It was then passed on a voice vote. The bill was laid out for debate on an 18-8 vote and a motion prevailed which cut off other debate.

REDISTRICTING

Before the Senate went into session the redistricting committee held a hearing on the House-passed redistricting bill. It was sent to a 5-man subcommittee headed by Sen. Abraham Kazem Jr. of Laredo.

Usually each house accepts the other's redistricting bill with little tailoring. The Senate bill, yet to be passed, applies only to revising senatorial districts and the House measure applies only to House districts. Several House members appeared before the committee to protest the way their districts had been carved and the committee rejected a motion to report the bill back to the floor immediately.

Then the Senate refused 14-14 to lay out for debate the House-passed bill setting out annexation procedures to be used by cities.

The Senate faced the prospect of a revived filibuster over redistricting.

SCHOOL LAWS

House members also passed a bill (HB1077) to recodify the state public school laws. It was amended to radically change teacher education requirements.

The representatives tentatively approved 77-55 the bill by James which he said can "by no stretch of the imagination be called a liquor-by-the-drink bill."

"It is not against the law now to serve mixed drinks in private places. It's a question of whether you want to regulate these private clubs and stop this subterfuge," he said.

Rep. Henry Grover, Houston, was successful in attaching to the school law recodification bill (HB1077) an amendment that would cut the professional education course requirements of elementary teachers from 60 to 24 hours and those of secondary teachers from 24 to 12 hours.

NOT THE PLACE

Rep. DeWitt Hale, Corpus Christi, author of the recodification bill, complained that his original bill rearranged and clarified present school laws without making any substantial changes. "This is not the place to make this change," he said of Grover's amendment.

House Speaker James Turman announced at the end of the session that no tax bills would be on today's calendar.

Both houses worked late Thursday on heavy calendars of local and uncontested bills.

The Senate passed and sent to Gov. Price Daniel for signature these measures:

Removing real estate brokers from the occupation tax.

Requiring state administrative agencies to file their rules and regulations with the secretary of state.

Setting up procedure for paying compensation to persons who have been sent to prison or have paid fines for crimes of which they are innocent.

Allowing certain independent school districts to establish seven-member school boards.

Requiring sheriffs to file monthly reports on all prisoners in county jails, including the reason for their imprisonment.

Judge Rules In Favor Of Love

Mr. and Mrs. John Hyatt, both in their 30's, sit in a Los Angeles courtroom as a judge decides they're not too old to legally adopt the 4-year-old twins they've cared for as "boarding parents" since 1958. The county Bureau of Adoptions said the Hyatts' proposed adoption of Brenda Louise (left) and Linda Lee (right) was against the county's adoption rules, but the judge heard the Hyatts' tearful pleas of love and instructed them to begin formal adoption proceedings.

Panel Suggests Librarian Handle Book Censoring

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Three Houston women contend that if there's any censoring of library books in the Channelview Junior High School library that the librarian should do it.

Faye Seale, 35, objected to two books, one on religious leaders, the other on philosophers.

So, Supt. H. C. Schochler asked a trio of women to serve on a book surveying committee.

Mrs. Ellis Burham, a former P-TA president at Channelview, said, "I'm not about to be a member of any book censoring committee." Mrs. F. P. Dillon agreed. "It would be an invasion of our fundamental rights," she said. "We all agreed it was the librarian's business to select books."

Mrs. Seale, who charged on April 17 that the "Living Biographies of Religious Leaders" took the Bible out of context, also objected to readings from Plato. "Plato talks about free love and communal living and such," she said. "The school library must be cleaned out."

9 Die In Worst 2-Car Crash In South Plains

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Nine persons, six of them children, were killed Thursday night when two cars collided at a farm road intersection eight miles west of here. Another child and an Air Force lieutenant were injured.

Killed were Ocie Degarte, 33, a service station attendant in Lubbock; his wife, Irene, 43; their children Patricia, 11; Ocie Ray and Dolly, 10-year-old twins; Doris 7; Don 6; Richard 2; and Pearl Mae King, 30.

All were Negroes.

The injured were the Degartes' 5-year-old daughter, Loraine, who is in critical condition at Memorial Hospital; and Lt. John Carpenter, stationed at Reese Air Force Base here, who was in serious condition at the base hospital. He was alone in one of the cars.

The Degartes have three other children who were not involved in the accident: Mrs. Frances White; Archie, 15, and Willie, 14, all of Lubbock.

An ambulance attendant said he found five dead children in a crumpled heap against one side of the car. One woman lay in a clump of grass. It took 30 minutes to extricate the other bodies from the wreckage.

The State Highway Patrol said it was the worst two-car accident in the history of the South Plains.

Seven persons were killed in a two-car accident five miles south of Lubbock on April 10, 1960.

Castro Halts All Traffic At Guantanamo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy disclosed today that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's militia has halted all Cuban automobile and bus traffic into the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay.

Most of the 3,200 Cuban workers on the base have reached their jobs in the past by commercial bus and through car pools.

The object of the traffic cut off last Monday apparently was to harass American occupancy of the 45-acre base.

As soon as the Navy learned that vehicular traffic had been stopped, all base buses were pressed into service and the workers were met at the main north-east gate and then hauled to work.

The Navy said all work on the base was proceeding normally.

Bomber Sets A New Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A four-jet B58 bomber has set a sustained speed closed-course record of 1,302 miles an hour around a 670-mile rectangle, the Air Force said Thursday.

The delta-winged bomber, piloted by Maj. Elmer E. Murphy of Poseyville, Ind., made the flight Wednesday.

Taking off from this test center, the B58 took only 30 minutes and 45 seconds to streak over the course, the corners of which were near Needles, Calif., Kingman, Ariz., Mormon Mesa, Nev. and Lone Pine, Calif.

The Air Force said the flight made it eligible for permanent award of the Louis Bleriot trophy, to be given to the pilot of the first craft to average 2,000 kilometers—1,243 statute miles—an hour for 30 minutes.

Other members of the Strategic Air Command crew were Maj. Eugene J. Moses, Altoona, Pa., navigator-bombardier; and David S. Dickerson, Ardmore, Okla., defense systems operator.

The speed run was supervised by the National Aeronautics Association, which will forward data to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale in Paris for certification for the award.

No Meeting Date In Mass Arrests

ODESSA (AP)—Chief of Police Jess Cariker says he has not set a date for a meeting with Negroes who protested the arrest of 96 youths after the rape of a white girl, 19.

All the Negroes were released after the girl failed to identify any of them as the masked Negro who attacked her.

The Rev. W. R. Ocheltree said he and other Negro citizens would meet with Cariker to discuss the arrests.

MERCURY GETS TO 100 MARK

After a struggle, the thermometer finally climbed to the 100-degree mark around 4 p.m. Thursday. This was the highest reading taken by the Weather Bureau in Big Spring this year.

The highest temperature on any May 11 previously recorded was 105 in 1910.

Cyclone Toll

DACCA, Pakistan (AP)—The death toll in the cyclone that hit East Pakistan Tuesday rose to 185 Thursday night and is expected to go higher.

County Welfare Plans Completed

The Howard County Welfare Department has completed all preparations to begin distribution of surplus commodities as a method of aiding indigent citizens and as a plan to lower the county's financial burden of dealing with charity cases.

Ed Carpenter, county judge said that the commissioners court Thursday signed a contract leasing a warehouse from Simon Terrazas to house the operation.

He said all application forms essential to having the county approved to receive surplus foods were completed and have been sent to Austin. The county reported 1,000 individuals as eligible for the surplus commodities and sent along its check for $150 to pay the county assessment on that number for the remainder of the year.

The warehouse, which was rented by the county, is located on the north side of town, a few hundred yards to the east of the Hull & Phillips Food store on Lamesa highway.

It is about 30 by 50 feet in area, provided with gas, water, lights and sanitary facilities. It also has ample parking space.

The rental will be $65 per month.

Workers will place iron bars over the two windows in the building and install an evaporative air conditioner. A counter will be built and shelving placed to handle distribution of the foods.

Carpenter said that it is believed that with the evaporative air conditioner operating, all of the foods now available, with the exception of butter, could be kept safely in the building. The butter will be stored in a locker plant and the quantities needed for distribution taken to the warehouse on the specified days.

Carpenter said he saw no reason for any delay in approval of the county's application for the surplus food, and that it is possible operations can be started by June 1.

He said the 1,000 selected as the number to be served is an arbitrary figure—Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare officer, believes there will be more than 1,000 being served when the program gets in operation. The number can be increased later.

Mrs. Phillips will be the supervisory officer for the program. She has already obtained application forms for needy residents to apply for the surplus foods and will soon announce her plans to register such applicants.

The county will employ help for Mrs. Phillips on the day the distribution of food is to be carried on.

U.S. Carrier 'Fires Shots' Near Santiago

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana Radio, quoting its correspondent at Santiago de Cuba, said today an American aircraft carrier had fired several shots within two miles of Playa Siboney, near Santiago.

The radio said five jet planes took off from the carrier and made "threatening flights" over Playa Siboney, which is about 40 miles due west of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

The radio called this "another act of Yankee imperialist aggression."

The broadcast, monitored here, did not mention the name of the American carrier allegedly involved.

SAR Lashes Church Council

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—"World government activities" of the National Council of Churches have been termed "a threat to Christianity and an aid to atheistic communism" by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

The organization adopted a resolution Thursday at the final session of its national convention which stated that the SAR had "documented proof of the infiltration of socialism and un-Americanism in certain church organizations and social actions committees."

The resolution also said that spokesmen for some churches affiliated with the national council "typify the radical positions which are personally opposed by the majority of church members."

Geneva Meeting Opening Delayed

GENEVA (AP)—Foreign ministers of Britain and the Soviet Union failed today to agree on arrangements for a 14-nation parley on the future of Laos and decided to postpone formal opening of the conference. It had been scheduled to start today.

Britain and the Soviet Union — co-chairmen of the conference — were unable to reach an agreement on which delegation should represent Laos at the table. The United States had refused to sit down for the talks unless this question was settled.

Big Spring Is On Blakley's Itinerary Today

Sen. William Blakley was to bring his co-sponsorship of the U. S. Senate here this afternoon, and supporters were poised to begin a motor caravan to Abilene for a 29th senatorial district rally this evening.

The senator was honored at a barbecue at San Angelo at noon today and was due to fly here immediately afterwards.

He was due to arrive here in time for an open reception at 2:30 p.m. at the Settles where friends could greet him. The motorcade, led by a number of Abilene supporters who are coming here to meet Sen. Blakley, was to leave about 3 p.m. and was to arrive in Colorado City at the Baker Hotel at 3:45 p.m.; at Roscoe at 4:50 p.m.; at Sweetwater at 5 p.m. and at Merkel at 6:15 p.m. The Abilene dinner is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Windsor Hotel.

The United States had accepted a report from the truce commission in Laos that a cease-fire exists.

A spokesman for the British delegation said he still hoped the conference could start Saturday—but even that is not certain. The official spoke after British Foreign Secretary Lord Home held an hour-long conference with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

When the conference was called, Britain had said Laos would be represented by a coalition formed by the Western-backed royal government in Vientiane, the pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas, and Prince Souvanna Phouma, considered by the Communist bloc countries as the legal premier.

NO FACT

Since the cease-fire was proclaimed last week, however, the Vientiane government and the rebels have been unable to agree even on a place to meet to discuss formation of a coalition.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk met with Lord Home and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville to discuss developments.

Rusk was to meet later today with Gromyko, co-chairman of the conference with Lord Home.

An American official said the truce commission—composed of representatives from India, Canada and Communist Poland—agreed unanimously in a report late Thursday night that there has been a general and demonstrable halt in the fighting.

Local outbreaks are still in evidence, the truce supervisors reported, but they said there is no way of controlling them.

Cuban Embassy People Defect

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Two Cuban diplomats—man and wife—defected Thursday and predicted the struggle against Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will "continue and succeed."

Antonio R. Montane and Gilda Portela de Montane, veterans of 24 years diplomatic service, quit their posts at the Cuban Embassy here and asked Mexico for asylum. Montane was a second secretary who ranked fourth among the embassy's officials, and his wife was consul general.

Recount Ordered Of Galveston Vote

GALVESTON (AP)—City commissioners ordered a recount Thursday of votes cast in the city election Tuesday, which saw a Negro candidate apparently win a commission seat by three votes.

Returns gave the edge to T. D. Armstrong, Negro undertaker, over lawyer Andrew Baker.

Record For Daisy

Daisy, a prolific Holstein cow, may have established a record with her quadruplet calves, shown here with her owners, George Goodfellow (right) and son, Harvey, of Belleville, Ontario, Canada. A staff member of the Ontario Veterinary College said the birth was a "one-in-a-million" occurrence and may be the first in the world. Daisy has already produced two sets of triplets and one set of twins.

DEAR ABBY

Pop Needs To Settle Down

DEAR ABBY: When a fine young man called for our daughter this evening, my husband remained seated in his chair and didn't raise his eyes from his newspaper until I reminded him that the boy was standing there. After the young man and our daughter left, I said to my husband, "Sweetheart, I was embarrassed. I thought you weren't going to speak to the boy." He flew into a rage and closeted himself in the bedroom. He is 48. Is there a solution to this problem? EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Your husband is either a very insensitive man with an ugly disposition—or he is not well. His age might be the "tip-off." Men, too, experience a "change" which frequently causes them to be irritable and quick-tempered. He should tell it to a physician.

DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old and like a boy who is in my room at school. He is handsome, and I mean very handsome. Here is my question: If a boy calls you names and throws rocks and mud at you, but misses you on purpose, does that mean he likes you?

JUST ASKING
DEAR JUST: Probably. Unless he is a very poor marksman.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is slowly driving me out of my mind. Her husband died nine years ago (before I met my husband), and starting with our engagement, through our wedding and the births of three children, she has turned every happy occasion into a funeral by crying. "If only Papa were here!"

I realize she misses her husband but, Abby, he is gone, and it's time she adjusted to it. New Year's Eve I had a party here and she sat in a corner and cried all evening. The same thing happens on Christmas and the children's birthdays. How can I get her to do her crying at home? Or must I tell my husband to ask his mother to stay away if she insists on crying and depressing everybody?

YOUNG DAUGHTER-IN-LAW
DEAR YOUNG: Since you are younger than your mother-in-law, it's easier for you to adjust to her emotional spells than it is for her to adjust to her loss. Let her cry, but don't let her tears dampen your spirits.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FLIP-PEP": He may be just what "the doctor ordered"—but he is also just what your lawyer told you to avoid until your divorce is final.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to Abby, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Gov. Daniel Signs Bills

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel has signed these bills:

SB18—Amending negotiable instruments act relative when an instrument shall be deemed payable to bearer.

SB35—Providing that all salaries and compensations of all state officers and employees, except district judges, shall be provided in general appropriation act.

SB137—Authorizing vocational rehabilitation division of State Department of Education to provide for rehabilitation of severely disabled.

SB398—Transferring to State Board of Water Engineers duties now in other offices.

ASSURANCE

By T. H. Tarbet, pastor Church of Christ, West Highway 10 P. O. Box 1282

The New Testament twice refers to the deliverance of Rahab the harlot (Heb. 11: 31; Jas. 2: 25); and Joshua 6 shows us how she was assured of her deliverance. It was not by receiving an inner witness, nor by the way she felt. It was by the promise of the two spies, who had the authority to speak for God's leader, Joshua, and promise Rahab she would be delivered. They promised with an oath that she would be saved alive (Josh. 6: 14-20). Today the saved person is the heir of the promise (Heb. 6: 16-20). "And this is the promise that

Brazil Deals Hard Blow To U.S. Position

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazilian President Janio Quadros has dealt a stinging blow to Washington's efforts to enlist Latin America against the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba—and at a time when the United States is gathering up a massive lump of aid money for Brazil.

A diplomatic note Wednesday night defining his government's position toward Cuba and the hemisphere, Brazil's new neutralist-line president made clear he wants the United States to keep hands off Cuba.

He also made clear that he does not regard the Castro regime as a member of the Communist bloc, as the United States does.

The question now is how many other South American nations will take Quadros' viewpoint. If many other key nations do, any U.S. effort for collective hemisphere action against Cuba seems doomed.

Brazil's position on Cuba, as explained by Foreign Minister Afonso Arinos, is to oppose any foreign intervention, direct or indirect, be it military, economic or ideological.

This could be applied to Red China or the Soviet Union. But the tone of the Brazilian note was clearly against any U.S. intervention.

Quadros took this stand despite growing pressure from the Roman Catholic church, big segments in Congress, intellectuals and the press to put Brazil on record in opposition to what many here consider a Communist regime in Cuba.

But Quadros is also aware of northeast Brazil—a tremendous area of impoverishment that has starved while the country's ruling class waxed fat.

Washington, finally alarmed at the threat of a Castro-type revolution in northeast Brazil, is preparing to send several hundred million dollars worth of aid to Quadros to help that section. U.S. officials have emphasized that Quadros would get the money no matter what position he took on Cuba.

He obviously expected him to stay on the fence at least. He didn't. But until he can start pouring U.S. dollars into the hungry, poverty-stricken backlands, he cannot take a stand that even appears to condemn Castro, the hero of the downtrodden masses of Latin America, including Brazil.

Police Receive Theft Reports

Noel D. Marsalis, 3402 W. 90, reported to police Wednesday that three boat trailer tires and wheels were stolen Saturday night while he was at Lake J. B. Thomas. Police put out notices to area stations to be on the lookout for the missing items.

M. C. Mitchell, 1011 W. 3rd, asked police to investigate the theft of a tire and wheel from a pickup.

W. M. Thomason, 900 E. 14th, told police he worked at a garage at W. 8th and San Antonio, and that he saw a man take a license plate from a red car and put it on a green car of another make.

Police also investigated four minor accidents since noon Wednesday.

Two of them were hit and run. One of the latter occurred in the 200 block of Main. Virgil James Barnes, 808 N. Gregg, was the driver of one car, and the other left the scene. A parked car, belonging to Frank Glasscock, 3300 Auburn, was involved in a collision by another which left the scene.

The other two, locations and drivers involved, were 19th and Gregg, Frank Aloysius Schmitt, San Angelo, and Albert Eugene Draper (no address given); 10th and Rannels, Gertrude Dunn Kubecka, Forsan, and Sandra Gay Bolden, Fort Worth.

Bogus Vicar Wed 9 Couples

LONDON (AP)—A bogus vicar was jailed Thursday for a year for officiating at nine marriages in the role of clergyman.

The prosecution claimed William Frederick Walker, 33, ex-principal of a private school, performed the marriages at two suburban churches last year.

Panel To Check Charges Cubans Being Held By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said today his Senate Latin Affairs subcommittee will look into reports that the United States is holding some survivors of the Cuban invasion force incommunicado on the Caribbean island of Vieques, a U.S. Marine base.

The subcommittee, of which Morse is chairman, has been hearing secret reports on the invasion flop.

Did Russkies Lie About Yuri? Here Are The Facts

EDITOR'S NOTE—Ever since the Soviet Union reported that Yuri Gagarin had orbited the earth, there has been some doubting as to whether the Soviet announcement was fact. This article gives the facts for their skepticism and presents also the view of others who see a reason for rejecting the Soviet version.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP)—Did Yuri Gagarin really orbit the earth to become the world's first spaceman?

U.S. officials and scientists in the best position to know say they are sure he did, and on that basis President Kennedy cabled congratulations.

But skeptics raise a chorus of doubts, and cite numerous reasons.

Moscow itself could stifle all skepticism, by supplying records, witnesses, and details of the flight to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale (FAI) in Paris which authenticates aviation and space world records.

On April 12, Moscow wired the FAI the names of the pilot and spaceship, the Vostok, and said a space flight had been made.

The telegram gave no other details but did say supporting evidence would be forwarded within the required time limit of two months and eight days, said an FAI official who asked not to be quoted by name.

DESCRIPTION
But to have claims authenticated, say aviation experts, Moscow would have to describe the model and type of spacecraft, the engine or engines, special apparatus aboard, the landing controls and the date, time and place of lift-off and landing.

It is highly debatable whether Moscow, which always has kept such information secret, will put it on open record now.

The United States, the FAI official said, also quickly advised the flight of Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. He said the FAI expects to receive the supporting data within the required time.

Shepard's flight was held open, and Jacques Ailler, FIA president, was a witness at Cape Canaveral.

The Soviet Union can claim world records for duration of manned orbital flight (1 hour and 23 minutes out of 108 total minutes from lift-off to landing); altitude (110 to 180 miles); and for the greatest mass (five tons) lifted into orbit.

U.S. CLAIMS
The United States can claim records for altitude without earth orbit (113 miles) and for greatest mass lifted without earth orbit (3,900 pounds).

Well, did Gagarin go, or go when he's said to have gone? Looking at all available information, including that from U.S. tracking stations, there's no doubt the flight was made, says James Webb, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Still doubters talk on such points as these:

1. The landing: Reports conflict whether Gagarin parachuted from his capsule, or landed inside the capsule. On Wednesday of this week he said he returned to earth in his spaceship. The landing spot is not pinpointed.

In a news conference several weeks ago, Gagarin did not clearly how he landed, saying only that the parachute technique is one of many landing techniques developed, and that the landing "demonstrated the success of all systems developed for the flight."

On April 24, Ivestia said he could land without leaving the cabin, or could catapult it by parachute at an altitude of 4.34 miles.

EARLY FLIGHT
2. Some London newspapers carried stories suggesting Gagarin's flight was made several days before April 12. One, the Communist Daily Worker, said an astronaut had orbited the earth three times on April 7, and was under medical care.

But Dr. Hugh Dryden, NASA deputy director, said: "We would have known if they had put up a satellite before April 12) and they did not."

Ivestia denied a report that

Conservatives Win
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservatives rolled to victory in a new round of county and local government elections throughout England Thursday.

Vladimir Il'yushin, son of the famous Soviet airplane designer, had been seriously injured in a space flight before April 12. It said he was in Hangchow, China, recovering from a serious leg injury incurred way back last June in an auto accident in Moscow.

Some say the Soviets would never talk about a dangerous flight while it was in progress, for fear of embarrassing failure, so Gagarin must have been back when he was reported to be in flight.

NO GAMBLE
A counterargument is the Soviets would never gamble on being caught in a hoax which could be uncovered, especially through the U.S. tracking system, of which the Soviets are well aware. And their launches with dogs beforehand had given them confidence in recovering Gagarin.

4. Gagarin said he saw a beautiful view, and gave details. But a Soviet rocket chief, A. A. Blagonravov, at a space meeting in Italy, said Gagarin's ship had no porthole. Later, he retracted, saying the Soviets had several types of spaceships, and he wasn't sure which had been used.

In Washington when Sputnik I went up, Blagonravov made several statements about that satellite which conflicted with official Soviet reports. Gagarin said he had a porthole. Ivestia on April 24 said his ship had three portholes.

OTHER POINTS
On this and other points, London observers commented: Some seeming contradictions may not be real, because Westerners often assume that any statement made is a final and definite Soviet version. But in the excitement, it's possible that the first Soviet accounts could contain errors, or that their scientists could misunderstand some information they were getting second-hand.

5. How could Gagarin's voice be heard all around the world, as one Moscow report said? Soviet reports, say the New York Times, describe a radio-telephone system with two short-wave channels, with at least one of them being usable on "most" of the orbit. And Gagarin's words at times could have been tape-recorded, for play-back when he was within range of a Soviet ground station.

U.S. officials don't question the flight, apparently partly through data gathered by a far-flung tracking system, some of whose operations are still secret.

This includes a 3,000-mile-range radar in Turkey, and another and probably improved station in the Aleutian Islands.

Tracking could determine if and when a satellite, or missile, had gone up, without saying whether a man was inside. Other intelligence methods, perhaps by monitoring a spaceman's messages, or other intelligence sources not disclosed could supply the basis for the U.S. acknowledgment and the congratulations to Gagarin.

FAA Bans FM Radios On Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency Thursday announced a one-year ban on the use of portable FM radios on U.S. civil aircraft.

The ban will go into effect May 25.

The FAA said the rule was based on the results of an investigation on the effect of portable electronic devices—radios, dictating machines and recorders—operated in planes.

Kiwanians Expect Banner Crowd For Benefit Feast

The barbecue benefit, which the Big Spring Kiwanians have undertaken for May 31, looms to become the biggest enterprise the club has ever attempted, members of the club were told Thursday.

Announcement that all profits from the barbecue would be given to the Crippled Children's Center has resulted in a heavy demand for tickets. As a result, Bob Travis, project chairman for the club, warned the Kiwanians Thursday that every member would have to work to insure that the event is handled as the club wants it handled.

SERVING
Serving committee is divided into two segments. One is assigned the rodeo grounds feeding. J. E. Smith heads this group. Members of his committee are Len Einstein, Bill Johnson, Wendal Parks, Merle Stewart, Earl Stovall, and Soc Walker. The City Park feeding committee is headed by Jim Jay. His aides are Jack Alexander, John Coffey, Bill Eysen, Jack Hendrix, Ward Jackson, Wayne Nance, Horace Reagan, Bob Stripling and Stanley Bogard.

CARVERS
W. B. Hardy will head up the meat carving committee. Walter Eubanks, Floyd Parsons, H. W. Smith and John Stanley are his assistants.

Publicity chairman is Bob Bradbury, assisted by Sam Blackburn. Tickets sold in advance are $1.25. On the night of the barbecue, tickets sold at the park will be $1.50.

Program for Thursday was offered by Mrs. Douglas Weihe, pianist, and Mrs. Rene Brown, vocalist. They provided music as the Kiwanians paid tribute to National Music Week.

Baptists Name Honor Mother

DALLAS — An 86-year-old great grandmother from Roscoe whose 13 children are all active church workers was named here the 1961 "Texas Baptist Mother of the Year."

Mrs. T. D. Wiman, wife of a retired farmer in the little west Texas town, was selected to receive the annual award this week by a special joint committee of the Baptist General Committee of Texas and the Baptist Standard, state Baptist newspaper.

Her pastor, the Rev. Glen Roemfeldt said that Mrs. Wiman has instilled optimistic Christianity into the lives of all her 13 children, and has influenced her 37 grandchildren to become Christians. She also has 19 great-grandchildren.

One of her sons is a Baptist minister. Her other five sons are deacons in their churches. Rev. Roemfeldt said that her daughters are equally dedicated.

One of her daughters, Mrs. Nora Smith, is a Baptist missionary to the Indians in Clinton, Okla., and two other daughters are wives of Baptist preachers—Mrs. Gladys Wade of Benwell, and Mrs. Pattie Keeth of Astec, N. M.

Citizenry Not Blamed In Red Plaque Placing

BROOKSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A county grand jury has exonerated the residents of Hernando County in the placing of a memorial to the founder of world communism on federal property near Brooksville.

The plaque was ordered by Margaret Robins. After her death in 1946 it was placed under a tree on a 2,000-acre tract owned by Col. Raymond Robins, her husband. He deeded the land to the U.S. Department of Agriculture prior to his death in 1954.

Tower, Blakley In West Texas

By MARSHALL COMERER

Associated Press Staff Writer

John G. Tower and Sen. William A. Blakley head into West Texas today in their roundup of votes in the U. S. Senate run-off election May 27.

Accompanying Blakley will be Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, a fellow Democrat who finished third in the April 4 election.

Wright will introduce Blakley at a noon barbecue on a parking lot in downtown San Angelo and at a banquet in Abilene tonight. And he will ride in a caravan of a bus and 75 cars that will hold rallies at Big Spring, Colorado City and Sweetwater and make handshaking stops at Roscoe and Merkel.

Republican Tower starts his long day of campaigning with a breakfast speech in Odessa, goes on a handshaking tour of plants and bank buildings, speaks at a luncheon and holds a news conference. Then he goes to Midland for a parade, barbecue rally and evening radio address.

Next week, Tower says, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., will come to Texas to help his campaign.

Two Liberal Democrats defeated in the April 4 election agreed they will not support Tower.

Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio said the liberal Democrats owe Blakley the same support they would have expected conservative Democrats to give him if he had been in the run-off.

"Sen. Blakley is and has been a good Democrat all along," Gonzalez said.

Maury Maverick Jr. of San Antonio, a liberal Democrat also defeated in the April 4 election, hinted he might "go fishing" on May 27.

"I am an old Franklin Roosevelt-John Kennedy Democrat and if I vote for Mr. Blakley it will be solely out of party loyalty to the Democratic party and the New Frontier, a loyalty which I hope Blakley will demonstrate between now and election day," Maverick said in a statement handed to newsmen in Austin Thursday.

Blakley told a rally in San Antonio he is opposed to any United States aid to Cuba. He said Cuba has asked the United Nations for a loan of $1.1 million and the United States' share would be $420,000.

Doctors Advised To Keep Quiet

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Doctors were on the receiving end of the advice Thursday and it was pretty blunt: "Keep your mouths shut. Let the patient talk, and you listen."

The advice, however, came from another doctor so the physicians took it in stride.

Handing out the advice was Dr. O. F. Rosenow, Columbus, Ohio. He also told the Kentucky Academy of General Practitioners: "There isn't a laboratory test designed that will tell you the patient has a nagging wife, a boss he hates or a mother-in-law who has come to spend her last days with him."

A Devotional For Today

Luke, the beloved physician, and Demas, greet you. Salute the brethren which are in Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the church which is in his house. (Colossians 4:14, 15.)

PRAYER: Our Father, dwell Thou with us. May Christ be not only a guest within our walls, but the head of the household — a member loved and honored. Help us wholeheartedly and with joy to open our lives and homes that they may be dwelling places for Him. In His blessed name we pray. Amen. (From The Upper Room)

Smile When You Get A Ticket

If a city policeman comes up to you and tells you he wants to hand you a ticket, smile. Just reach in your pocket, dig out $1.25 and you've bought your ticket to the big Kiwanis Club Barbecue, set for May 31.

Three police officers who are members of the Kiwanis Club have drafted all of their fellow officers as ticket salesmen. Already the policemen have sold more than 500 tickets! Of course, Kiwanians will be offering the tickets to you.

They have a good sales pitch — all profits deriving from the barbecue will be donated to the Crippled Children's Center.

Chief of Police Jay Banks, Capt. Walter Eubanks and Lt. Stanley Bogard, Kiwanian - policemen, are the wheel horses in this drive to sell tickets.

So don't feel nervous if a cop wants to hand you a ticket — be pleased. You are assuring yourself of a delicious meal and helping some crippled child or adult have a chance to alleviate or overcome a crippling disability.

How Come This Is Bottled Up?

Backers of efforts to eliminate or minimize the loan shark evil are distressed that the Texas Senate has bottled up a corrective bill in its State Affairs Committee.

Taking a cue from the constitutional amendment vote last November when voters overwhelmingly removed constitutional barriers to open the way for enabling legislation, the House quickly and decisively passed a bill to spell out mechanics of shackling the loan shark.

We supported, as did many other newspapers and organizations, the constitutional amendment (No. 4) which got the largest majority ever given by voters of Texas.

It is therefore inconceivable that the Senate committee would permit implementing legislation to be caught in the log jam of the tail end of the session.

Certainly there are two sides to the question of how best to deal with the loan shark problem, but in the face of so decisive a mandate from the people of Texas, the committee's failure to report out a bill is bordering on incompetence if not arrogance. We hope that a measure will be brought out soon, and that the differences between it and the House measure can be promptly resolved. If it stays bottled up, the people are entitled to know who is responsible and why.

David Lawrence Religion's Influence In The Schools

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has a real dilemma on his hands in connection with the bill that would provide federal aid to public schools. If he means literally — as the administration's published statements have implied — that religion cannot be taught in schools supported with public funds without violating the Constitution, then logically Mr. Kennedy would have to withdraw altogether his support of the federal-aid bill.

stand its role in history and in the development of values and standards in our society.

"What to do about religion in the public schools is a persistent and vital problem. It will not be solved by drifting. We urge that this problem be studied carefully, with appropriate experimentation in different communities that are willing to undertake it. The solution will have far-reaching effects on the future unity and soundness of American society."

FOR THE TRUTH is that religion is being taught today in the public schools of the nation in many states, and it is being done openly. Indeed, this is confirmed in a formal report issued by the American Council of Education and presented in a book entitled "The Function of the Public Schools in Dealing With Religion."

"THE 1953 REPORT refers to a previous one issued in 1947 by the same kind of committee, and says that "in general we still subscribe to the major principles which were stated at that time." It restates some conclusions from the first report as follows:

Although the report was issued in 1953, the same committee — composed of prominent clergymen of the Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths — has continued its studies every year since. No further reports have been made public, but it is understood that the main principles outlined in the 1953 report are being adhered to today.

"The separation of American public education from church control was not intended to exclude all study of religion from the school program.

"Teaching of a common core of religious beliefs in the public schools is not a satisfactory solution.

"Teaching 'moral and spiritual values' cannot be regarded as an adequate substitute for an appropriate consideration of religion in the school program."

THE REPORT was based on a questionnaire sent to 1,233 educators all over the country — chief state school officers; superintendents of schools, nearly all in cities of over 50,000 population; presidents of state or municipal colleges or universities; presidents of church-related or independent colleges or universities; presidents of state teachers colleges; and deans of schools of education or heads of departments of education in all types of higher educational institutions. Usable responses were received from 556, or 45 per cent of the total who received the questionnaire.

"THE PUBLIC SCHOOL should stimulate the young toward a vigorous, personal reaction to the challenge of religion."

It is interesting to note that both the National Council of Churches of the Protestant groups and the National Catholic Educational Association are separately engaged in continuing studies of what steps can be taken to give some form of religious education to public-school children.

The purpose was to get the facts and to find a solution. The report speaks of religious teaching in the public schools as "a persistent unsolved problem," and says:

THESE ARE regarded generally as worthy activities, but the real question is what can be done now that President Kennedy has contended that even to lend federal money to construct a Catholic school building is unconstitutional, as religion might be taught therein.

"IN ACTUAL practice one finds many activities which are not consistent with the assumption that religion has been excluded from the public school program. For example, Bible reading is required in some states and permitted in others. The observance of certain religious holidays, such as Christmas, is characterized in nearly all schools by the use of religious subject matter, music, and religious ceremonies. Some schools, particularly those in communities which are nearly homogeneous from a religious standpoint, go much further than this in the encouragement of participation in religion by the pupils of the school.

For, if the federal government cannot lend its money to any school, public or private, where any form of religion is taught, then many public schools throughout the United States may have to sacrifice federal aid or give up their Christmas celebrations, their Bible readings and many other projects, including the study of religious history.

The Russians Were Unimpressed

WASHINGTON (AP)—It sounds bigger and better than it says. Fifteen NATO allies — including the United States — met two days in Oslo and then issued a static statement which has been variously interpreted as vowing to meet the Communist push around the world.

It said the partners "reaffirmed their resolve to meet (the) challenge" of the Communist bloc's attempt to extend its dominion "over an ever-increasing area." It read it fast and it sounds rough and rugged.

But meet the Communist challenge how and where? That's the key question. But the statement was blank on an answer.

SINCE THE Allies avoided being specific, the Russians can conclude they were too unsure and divided to get down to cases. Thus the Communists, when the statement obviously intended to impress, probably were left unimpressed.

The foreign ministers of NATO — whose military forces were credited to defend Western Europe — certainly didn't say anywhere in the communique they would try to stop communism anywhere outside Europe by force.

They were a little more specific when they talked of economic aid to areas outside Europe. Here their statement said: They "gladly accept" the challenge of helping the less developed areas of the world to raise their social and material standards."

Hal Boyle The Calendar's Confused

NEW YORK (AP)—Something has happened to the calendar in the last generation. It was the night of romance and adventure, when a young fellow set out not knowing whether he would find love or a black eye.

It was the night of romance and adventure, when a young fellow set out not knowing whether he would find love or a black eye.

It was the night of romance and adventure, when a young fellow set out not knowing whether he would find love or a black eye.

da, was the day of the week one spelled in capital letters. Work ended at noon or 1 p.m. at the latest, and from then on Saturday was sheer magic.

Saturday was payday. Saturday was the day when no family, that held its head up in the neighborhood and had a feeling of local responsibility, failed to leave a series of rings in the bathtub.

Saturday was the day for haircuts, the kids in the afternoon and the groupies in the early evening.

Saturday was one long spurge of excitement, from the noon whistle until they rolled up the town sidewalks — along about midnight. It was the night of romance and adventure, when a young fellow set out not knowing whether he would find love or a black eye.

On one point the Allies were so clear and forceful the Russians could not misunderstand their language. This was their pledge to defend West Berlin against any Russian efforts to seal it off from the West.

YET, EVEN though their language was clear, the Soviets still may doubt the Allies in a show-down actually would risk war over Berlin which, while linked to the West, is still 100 miles inside Communist East Germany.

The Western partners seem to be expecting pressure soon from Premier Khrushchev against the city. If the test comes and they back down it will make their alliance a joke.

Except for the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt in 1956 — which the United States told them to call off in a hurry — the Allies haven't shown any eagerness to risk a war outside Europe for a long time.

In 1964, for instance, when the North Viet Nam Communists smashed the French in Indochina, as the Allies not only didn't dash in to bail out the French but let half of Indochina fall to the Communists.

True, the United States stood firmly by its promise to defend Formosa against Red Chinese invasion, but it has backed away from getting directly involved militarily in Laos which, in matter of time, also probably will fall to communism.

To Your Good Health Much Can Be Done For Epileptics

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Dr. Molner: I am writing for a book on epileptic fits. Our little boy has these fits bad, and had six of them yesterday. "We were told there is no cure, but would like to learn more about them. He started having them last winter, so we took him to our doctor. He gave him some little white capsules with a pink band on, but they don't help."

—Mrs. A. S.

Every time I receive a letter like this, or have contact in direct fashion with such a case, I still get that tensing feeling inside. I guess all doctors do. It isn't just this trouble. It's ANY trouble that afflicts a child and promises to be a life-long problem that he must contend with.

But then a different thought comes. What of the doctors (and the parents) who encountered this sort of thing 25 or more years ago?

Then there wasn't much anybody could do. Now, a great deal can be done. We may be no closer than we ever were to curing this affliction, but today we can control, or at least alleviate it, in something like nine out of 10 cases.

Only about 15 years ago some advanced communities had special schools for children with epilepsy, and that was a wonderful thing. Now—so rapid has been the development of effective drugs—such schools have closed because we don't need them. We can give medication that in most cases prevents the convulsions, and the patient can attend ordinary schools and in general lead an ordinary life.

No single drug does this. A whole series of drugs has been developed, and treatment consists of using the right drug for the right patient, or sometimes the right combination of them.

I do not have any booklets on this topic because the problem of epilepsy is so extensive. However, it is possible to obtain pamphlets and information on treatment, centers, employment, education and insurance through the American Epilepsy Federation, 77 Reservoir Road, Quincy, Mass. It has affiliated centers in about 25 states and provinces of the U.S. and Canada.

In addition, I have in the recent past mentioned an enlightening and inexpensive — book, "Epilepsy: What It Is and What To Do About It" by Dr. Tracy J. Putnam, published by J. B. Lippincott Co. It's a very clear and sensible discussion, and one of the so-called Keystone Books by Lippincott.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there anything that can be done to help mongoloid babies other than loving and caring for them?" —MRS. J. S. C.

No known method of correcting the basic condition—but a good deal can be done to maintain general health, and to train many such children. A good source of information for you might be the National Association of Retarded Children, which has pamphlets and a monthly newspaper on its 59 University Place, New York City.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about cellulitis... —Mrs. O. G." Cellulitis is an infection which is diffuse rather than localized. Actually, all infections are "cellulitis," in that they affect the cells of which our bodies are made. A boil, however, is localized. Pneumonia, confined to a segment of the lung, is also a somewhat limited "cellulitis."

Erysipelas is a form of cellulitis, often on the face.

"Cellulitis," in the way we usually use the term, is more likely to occur on one of the extremities. It is caused by a germ of one kind or another invading the tissues under the skin. Treatment embraces rest of the affected part, heat, and antibiotics.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible. (Copyright, 1961, Field Enterprises, Inc.)

Around The Rim Try It For Size-SF For Space Force

Well, why not? We have an Air Force, a Navy, an Army, a Coast Guard, a Marine Corps. We are even planning to have a Peace Corps.

So, why not a Space Force? Frankly, I think President Kennedy missed a big propaganda beat against the Russians in not announcing formation of a Space Force immediately upon reception of the news last Friday from Cape Canaveral.

Why not do now what eventually will be done anyway?

WE HAVE THE nucleus of a space force right now, in the seven Astronauts and their co-workers both civilian and military. Both Astronauts and other military space workers were drawn from all present armed services.

Announcement of the space service's formation would not be so fantastic as Alan Shepard's flight. In fact, it would seem to be downright logical. And, it would cut down on interservice rivalry over missiles.

Let there be a space force, with its own aims and purposes and duties, and then let the other military services work out their own missile problems, if they should have any such problems left.

BEING A MILITARY organization, the Space Service would not go orbiting off into the wild blue yonder just for the fun of it. First and foremost would be spatial defense of the United States. This would require both conquest of near space and the moon, and maintaining of missile bases on the ground. We would be more certain of having those all-important manned space stations and moon stations. And whoever gets these bases in full operation soonest will rule the world.

In organization, a space force would be more like the Navy than the Air Force, although yet unique. There would be regular commanders and crewmen, scientific officers, special technician grades to cover every category.

Who would be better as commandant than Gen. John B. Medaris (ret.), who better for chief scientific officer than Dr. Werner von Braun?

THE PRIMARY contingent could be drawn from existing personnel, and the basis for at least temporary organization has already been laid by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. After this, enlistments could be taken on a regular basis, and officers could be graduated from the Dr. Robert Goddard Memorial Institute (Goddard Institute for short), which would be the space force's equivalent of West Point, Annapolis and Colorado Springs.

The U.S. Space Force would be the first military service in peacetime history that would never lack for applicants.

Inez Robb All's Ready For The Tourist Horde

By mid - June, when schools close across the nation, millions of Americans will take to the road on vacation trips up and down and back and forth this vast and lovely land.

In another four weeks the great American summer safari will be under way. By July 1, six weeks from now, motel - keepers all over the nation will, by 6 p.m., be switching on that bleak-to motorists — sign, "No Vacancy."

I hope it can be said without boasting that no other nation offers its vacationing motorist such variety and beauty of scene, such an excellent network of roads on which to enjoy it and such decent, far-flung over-night accommodations.

Maybe motel - keeping isn't the nation's biggest industry, but it certainly looks that way from the highway. There are motels for all purposes and all tastes. There are even motels for local weather peculiarities, as I discovered in Shamrock, Texas. There the Royal Motel advertises "All Facilities, Vented Heat, Air Conditioned, Carpeted, Free Teevee, Storm Cellar."

NO MATTER how many Americans go abroad in summer, probably a hundred times as many gas up the family car, throw suitcases, kids and comic books in the back seat, and head for home. And where is "home," that magic place of the heart?

Ah, that is simple. Home is where a man was born, reared, went to school and, most particularly, where Grandma is. That is where we turn in the good old summertime.

INNUNERABLE motels from Tucson to New York can and do boast swimming pools ("Swim At Your Own Risk" is the hospitable sign posted at the brink of most pools); some even boast two pools, one for adults, one for children, but the Royal Motel in Shamrock was the only one that offered the comfort and security of a storm cellar.

Motorists like myself who can remember the old "Tourists Accommodated" signs on farm houses and village homes before World War II can only marvel at the great size and the luxury of the relatively new and fast-growing motel business.

THE LAND lies ready for the coming onslaught. My husband and I, a month ahead of the rush, have just finished a seven-day motor journey of 2,809 miles from Tucson, Ariz., to New York City. I can testify that motels, service and comfort stations (they go together like Scots and heather), dog wagons, roadside restaurants, souvenir stands and snake farms are braced and waiting.

I started the journey from Tucson unaware of my countrymen's infatuation with snakes. I still don't dig the crazy-but snake farms along the highways of Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania are authoritative testimony to this exotic strain in the national make-up.

AT THE BOXWOOD Motel in Winchester, Va., we accidentally drew the Honey-moon Suite, an elegant affair with wall-to-wall carpeting, gold and white furniture, pink satin brocade chairs, 24-inch teevie and a pink tile bath with masses of pink towels, all for $14.

That made up for the "best" motel in Norman, Okla., where the proprietor knocked $2 off the $8.50 tab when we found ants in the pressed-paper furniture. (Copyright, 1961, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Marquis Childs Rusk Reports On World Problems

OSLO—Secretary of State Dean Rusk on Monday told the North Atlantic foreign ministers that the Sino-Soviet penetration of the Western Hemisphere, as shown in the regime of Fidel Castro in Cuba, was a matter for grave concern for the whole non-Communist world.

Rusk in a vigorous speech reviewed the American position on the world scene at the opening of the annual ministerial meeting of NATO in the Norwegian capital. He sought, above all, to refute the idea that the United States was particularly concerned with Cuba as "an American problem."

considerable detail the degree of Soviet penetration in Cuba, with the Soviets not only supplying modern armaments but increasingly determining the direction of both domestic and foreign policy in Castro's Cuba.

Rusk also told the foreign ministers that the demonstrations reported from various Latin-American capitals in favor of Castro were staged almost entirely by members of the Communist apparatus. One of the few exceptions, he said, was in Uruguay.

ALTHOUGH the speech was delivered in a closed session of the 15 foreign ministers, this reporter learned from an authoritative source that Rusk, speaking in grave and measured terms, urged that all free nations consider what steps could be taken to check the spread of Sino-Soviet penetration in Latin America. He indicated that this was first a problem for the Organization of American States but that later it might be referred to the United Nations.

His speech to the council was in accord with the new view within NATO that its interests must be expanded to cover all areas where NATO members are involved.

RUSK ALSO touched on the sensitive subject of Angola, Portugal's African colony, where "another Congo" is threatened. The Portuguese in the Permanent NATO Council in Paris have sharply rebuked the United States for voting in the United Nations in favor of an investigation into the Angola situation. Rusk told the Council that the United States had voted in accord with its principles and with the conviction that colonial territories must be advanced toward independence.

BUT RUSK is not entirely certain that the conference will begin as planned on May 12. It may be impossible by that date for the international control commission made up of Canada, India and Poland to verify officially the cease-fire.

The Secretary of State is determined that he will not go into a conference in which there must be discussion of a still-unresolved cease-fire. The British delegation, headed by the Earl of Home, Foreign Minister in the Macmillan Cabinet, is convinced that the conference will begin as originally set.

WHILE THE meetings here are expected to be largely routine, there will be considerable frank and free discussion on such troubled subjects as Cuba, Laos, Angola and the French insistence on independent authority within NATO. A new secretary - general, the former Dutch Foreign Minister, Dirk U. Sikker, presided over the opening session. He succeeded Paul Henri Spaak, who resigned to become Foreign Minister in the new Belgian Cabinet. (Copyright, 1961, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Helping Hand

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Chapter of Broadcast Pioneers has established a foundation to aid radio and TV employees in time of need. Radio veterans of 20 years and television veterans of 10 years will be eligible for assistance during times of illness, emergency, or financial need.

RUSK GAVE the foreign ministers the same assurance that he gave to the State Foreign Relations Committee — that the United States does not contemplate any intervention in Cuba with American force. But far from minimizing the seriousness

Detroit Starts Long Trip Against Yanks

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Detroit's no longer tepid Tigers, who have won eight out of nine on the road so far, start an 18-game tour with a 2½-game lead in the American League race to-night when they open a four-game series at New York against the second place Yankees.

If this grand circuit trip — through the East and the Midwest, en route to the West Coast — is to test Detroit's pennant potential, an ingredient the Tigers haven't made pay off since 1945, they couldn't have picked a better place to start. The defending champion Yankees have won six in a row at home since an opening defeat by Minnesota.

San Francisco leads Los Angeles by one game, the Giants open a brief home stand against Milwaukee and southpaw Warren Spahn. The last time Spahn (3-2) faced the Giants he pitched a no-hitter. Right-hander Sad Sam Jones (3-1) goes for San Francisco.

Dixie D Goes In Feature Event At Sunland Park

EL PASO—A star studded field of speed artists tangle Saturday in the New Mexico Breeders Association Purse, Sunland Park's semi-windup feature of the spring season.

Named for members of the newly established New Mexico Breeders Association who are holding a general meeting in the clubhouse prior to first post, the mixed thoroughbred quarterhorse contest will be at the popular $70 stakes.

The eight speedsters are going for a purse of $2,000 and will carry equal weights of 122 pounds.

In post position order the field includes: Clover Leaf with Emil Armstrong up, Flying Dutchman-Jack Brown in the boot, Flying Tom to be piloted by Joaquin Figueroa; Dixie D, Joe Sherman in the irons; Roulade, Clifton Detegie up; Reed Sixty, Louis Meaux in the saddle; May High with his favorite rider Gale Mowder; and Rusty Sam, to be handled by Elbert Minehey.

Big Springer J. T. Dillard's brilliant flyer Dixie D, winner of the Raton and Ruidoso Futurities, celebrated her recent return to the races with a smashing victory over a top band of sprinters and will undoubtedly have the backing of her thoroughbred boosters.

Baltimore got past Minnesota 8-7 in the only other game scheduled in the majors.

The Senators busted loose for six runs in the fifth inning at Detroit with Billy Lush soaking the second grand slam home run of his career. Gene Woodling and Dale Long also homered for the Senators.

Baltimore broke up a 2-2 tie at Minnesota with a five-run fifth, getting three on Jim Gentile's double. But it was a bases-loaded walk by reliever Paul Giel in the eighth that gave the Orioles the run they needed. Camilo Pascual (2-3) lost his third in a row.

Steve Barber (4-2) won it, with relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm. Don Mincher homered for the Twins.

Will Risk Title

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Gene Fulmer of West Jordan, Utah, will defend his National Boxing Association middleweight title against Florentino Fernandez of Cuba in Ogden July 8, the Intermountain Boxing Club announced today.

Lamesa Again Slams Snyder

SNYDER—The Lamesa Tornados defeated Snyder for the second straight time to win the playoff for the District 2-AAAA baseball championship here Thursday. Final score was 4-1.

The Tornados iced away the decision by counting three runs in the sixth, when Ken Crouch, Harvey Everheart and Aubrey Cox counted.

Weldon Ware singled home Ronnie Wylie for Snyder's only run in the fifth.

Everheart led Lamesa's ten-hit attack with a double and a single.

Carts Put To Good Use

These out-of-town entries in yesterday's pro-am at the Country Club made good use of the available carts during the 18 holes of play. ## LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Up until a few years ago, relay races didn't count toward team scoring in the National Junior College Track and Field Meet.

A lot of pressure was brought to bear by Texas entries in the meet, however, and coaches at other schools reluctantly agreed to allow the relays to count as much as individual events.

In reality, the relay events should count twice as many points as the individual events. However, junior college officials in other states knew that Texas teams invariably dominate the relay events, so they voted to keep some sort of handicap in effect.

Right now, it appears Lubbock Christian will win both the sprint medley relay and the mile relay in the National JC Meet, which starts a week from tonight, while HCJC is given a good chance to cop the sprint relay, although the HJWC face competition from such schools as Victoria, Hutchinson, New York City Community College, Fort Lewis A&M (Colorado) and possibly Blinn.

Hard-working L. L. (Red) Lewis, the HCJC mentor who is working to make the 1961 National Meet a success, is largely taking care of all the chores connected with the job. He could use some help.

Quarter-miler Dick Link is the only member off last year's Hutchinson JC, Kansas, team who will return here this year.

Hutchinson finished in a tie for third place with HCJC in team standings in 1960.

One has only to see the playing field Snyder High School baseball team uses for its home games to realize what wretched condition the home diamond of the Big Spring Steers is in.

In Snyder, the infielders don't take their life in their hands every time they try to field the ball. Here it's a wonder any insurance company would take a chance on underwriting the health of the players.

It wouldn't take much money to improve the local plant and it should be done. One of the big improvements would be to rework the infield. It probably needs to be bladed and resown.

Incidentally, when the Snyder coach, Speedy Moffett, heard that Colorado City's Steve Hillhouse had blanked the Lamesa Tornados, and thereby enabled Snyder to tie Lamesa for first place in District 2-AAA standings, he remarked:

"We ought to letter that boy."

Moffett was given the chance to take his pick of the Midland baseball coaching jobs, after it was announced that Glenn Selbo was stepping down at Midland High School.

He's not going to leave Snyder, however. He has an ideal job there and he'll be working with a long-time friend and confidant, Horace Bostick, the new head football coach and athletic director.

Jim Pufal, baseball coach of the Ysleta Bel Air baseball team that is meeting Midland in bi-district competition this week, is a brother to Bob Pufal, coach of the Odessa Ector baseball team.

Notre Dame lost one of its better young quarterback prospects recently. The young man celebrated a little too long and a little too loud over a weekend and was invited to leave school.

Spec Franklin In No-Hitter

Spec Franklin hurled a no-hit, no-run game as Phillips 66 humbled Neel's Transfer, 7-0, in YMCA Industrial Softball League play at the City Park here Thursday night. Franklin fanned 14 in the seven-inning game.

The only Neel player who reached base in the seven inning joust was Tom Lockhart, who walked.

Phillips made the most of five hits, two each of which were off the bats of C. Hale and J. Jernigan. Jernigan batted home three runs for the winners.

Jimmy Patterson-Led Team Wins Pro-Am

A foursome headed by Jimmy Patterson, a local high school boy, won low ball honors in the pro-amateur held in near-100 degree temperatures at the Big Spring Country Club Thursday.

Until the Patterson group came in, it appeared that a quartet led by Big Spring's Bobby Blum would lead the way with a 57.

However, Blum and his teammates—Dick Pfeiffer, R. C. McDaniel and Bill Edwards—had to settle for a tie for second place.

Playing with Patterson were Bill Brigham, Jimmy Ray Smith and R. L. Heib, all of Big Spring.

Lloyd (Skin) Caretr, Sweetwater pro, captained the group that tied the Blum team. Playing with him were J. C. Southworth, Sweetwater; Dave Fink Odessa; and Dr. J. E. Hogan, Big Spring.

Blum did have the satisfaction of posting the low score of the day for a pro or amateur. He wound up with a warm 37-33-70. He beat Bill Cheek, Big Spring, for the amateur honor by two strokes. Cheek was out in 37 and in in 35.

Three out-of-town pros deadlocked for low honors in their division. They were Carter, Bobby Maxwell, San Angelo; and James Dixon, Andrews, each of whom fashioned a 72. They shared the prize money.

Carter toured the front nine in 34, then fell off to a 38 on the second nine. Maxwell, who formerly resided here, was out in 35 and in 37. Dixon settled for a 37 on the front nine and a 35 coming in.

A surprisingly large turnout registered for the tournament. Pro Shirley Robbins counted 106 players and at least two of those went 36 holes. Many of the linksters were playing the 7,900-yard layout for the first time.

Players were registered from Andrews, San Angelo, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa, Sweetwater and Webb AFB, as well as Big Spring.

Rounds of low amateur pros:

Son Powell and Obie Bristow, both of Big Spring, each had 73 and just missed the prize list.

Hawks Depart For Roswell

Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis and his Howard County Junior College track and field team left for Roswell, N. M., where they seek to win as many individual championships as possible in the Western Junior College Conference Meet.

Preliminaries in the big show were to be staged this afternoon. Finals on Saturday afternoon.

The Jayhawks have already won the team championship while Lubbock Christian was second and New Mexico Military Institute third.

The Hawks won eight first places in last week's conference meet at Amarillo and may do that well this time. Lubbock Christian, however, will field leading threats in several events in which the Hawks are favored.

HCJC should win titles in the 100, 220, mile, two-mile, discus, low hurdles, discus and possibly the high hurdles, as well as the sprint relay. Lubbock Christian will be favored in the sprint medley, mile relay, 800, broad jump, high jump and possibly the shot put and discus. Amarillo is the NMMI could win the high hurdles.

The meet will serve as a final warm-up for the gigantic National Junior College Meet, which takes place in Big Spring next weekend.

Pirates Tounce Star Nine, 14-3

A 10-run second inning propelled the Pirates to a 14-3 American Little League victory over the Stars here Thursday night.

Larry Burger, on the mound for the Stars, kept them afloat until the final inning.

Rod Roberts and Gary Rogers each smashed two hits for the winners.

Bob Goaly of Crystal River, Fla. was a stroke ahead of 11 players bunched at 71.

Nagle, who slapped a 2-iron in the 195-yard 13th hole, was all smiles as he termed his 65 the most sensational round of his career. The ace was the first in the 15-year history of the 72-hole tournament.

Player, the tour's leading money winner with $4,796.56 official earnings, was in and out of traps all day and wound up nine shots back at 74.

Ga. Tech Hauls Down Race Barrier

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia Tech has voluntarily torn down its barrier to Negro students. Faced with the prospect of legal action, the famed Atlanta engineering school Thursday announced tentative acceptance of three Atlanta Negroes along with approximately 1,000 white freshmen. All they have to do to win final acceptance is satisfactorily complete their final high school semester. Thus, Tech apparently will avoid the confusion which reignited last winter when two Negroes, Hamilton Holmes and Charlayne Hunter, cracked the color line at the University of Georgia in Athens. They were admitted only on order of a federal judge, who had to twice issue mandates that they be permitted to attend classes. The second order came after a campus riot. Tech President Edwin D. Harrison announced his school's decision to accept the applications of the Negroes—Ford Greene and Ralph A. Long Jr. of Turner High School and Lawrence Williams of Washington High School. Harrison said that he personally accepted responsibility on 13 Negro applicants. Ten were rejected along with approximately 600 white applicants. The decision was based, he said, on a "complete study of their high school records, college entrance examination board scores, and the other factors that normally weigh in the admission of all of our students." Tech's decision was applauded editorially by the Atlanta Constitution and accepted without rancor by student leaders and the Tech National Alumni Association president, R. A. Sigel of Atlanta.

House Extends Bracero Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House extended the Mexican labor import program two years Thursday, turning back all amendments aimed at protecting wages and jobs of American farm laborers. A strong coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats voted down the amendments. By a standing vote of 145-0 the House rejected an amendment by Rep. Alfred Santangelo, D-N.Y., to limit imported Mexicans, or braceros, to food farm work and to eliminate them from cotton processing. An amendment by Rep. Jeffrey Cohan, D-Calif., to phase out the Mexican labor program in three years by reducing the number of imported laborers by one third a year was shouted down by a voice vote. With these out of the way, the House voted to extend the Mexican import law for two years without change by a 231-137 vote.

AF Officers Chip Claims For Polaris

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Air Force officers are chipping at Navy claims that the Polaris missile-firing submarine is an invulnerable, sure-shot deterrent weapon. And they are getting aid from some influential senators. Air Force partisans at the Pentagon—concerned over the Polaris' high rating with the Kennedy administration—have contended the system is oversized; that it is a glamour weapon that yet must prove itself. A string of failures in Polaris missile tests no long ago had some of these Air Force people saying, in effect, "I told you so." This is all part of the never-ending struggle among the services for a bigger share of the defense budget.

NOT LOST
The significance was not lost on the Air Force when President Kennedy, in revising the Eisenhower administration's defense budget, recommended $1.34 billion to step up the Polaris building program. At the same time, Kennedy asked only $96 million more for the Air Force's Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile, deferred plans to replace it on railroad cars, and scuttled the Air Force's pet project—development of a 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 bomber.

Secretary of the Navy John B. Connally said, in testimony recently made public, that there is every reason to believe the Soviets "are not nearly as far along as we are" in anti-submarine warfare. But critics say it is only a matter of time before the Soviets are able to search out and kill U.S. missile-firing subs.

VALUABLE
Under questioning by senators behind closed doors, Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, called the Polaris a "most valuable" current weapon system. However, he said, "it is one against which, if history repeats itself, we can be assured that the enemy will develop a counter."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former secretary of the Air Force, said at the same Senate hearing: "you can bet your hat" that the Soviets are turning "their vast technological capacity to try to be able to detect this new weapons system." "And because a Polaris is a very slow moving object," Symington added, "if they ever do find out how to detect them, they would be in very serious trouble, indeed."

Equally skeptical was Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., who said that "if the Russians ever get a breakthrough on being able to see underwater, the Polaris will be just like a turtle going across a hot road."

"I have the feeling that you are oversold on the Polaris as a weapons system," Engle said.

Ike 'More Political' Now Than In Office

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Republicans credited former President Dwight D. Eisenhower today with having become more politically minded in retirement than some of them thought he was in the White House. It was old home week at Gettysburg, Pa., Thursday as Eisenhower played host at a five-hour conference to 20 of his Cabinet members and advisers. They had served with him at least part—and some of them all—of his 4-year tour of duty as President. The unprecedented meeting, which started with a chicken luncheon, finally broke up late in the afternoon. Then, Eisenhower led his team out on the portico of the mid-Victorian mansion on the Gettysburg College campus that serves as his office.

CHEER
There was a cheer from 66 college boys and girls—some of them raincoated and bearing umbrellas and some shivering in bare feet—who had stood for over two hours to see the man who was giving their college more publicity than any football ever could.

With an apology for the pelting downpour which fractured the tradition that he always carries sunshine around with him, Eisenhower stepped briskly to the microphone to tell rain-soaked newsmen clustering about the steps that all was harmony within his administration's wing of the Republican party.

The Republicans, he announced authoritatively, are going to be "completely bipartisan" in their attitude toward President Kennedy's handling of international crises.

RIGHT TO CRITICIZE
He added pointedly, however, that the GOP is reserving the right to criticize at the appropriate time. But this was not the time, he said, for divisive voices to be heard in the land.

Then, a reporter gave him an opening he seemed to be looking for by asking the former President what he and his advisers thought about the farm program submitted to Congress by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. Freeman has proposed that farmers draft their own programs, subject to congressional veto.

With a broad grin, Eisenhower snapped out: "Our discussions left no doubt about it. We don't like it." Standing at the former President's left, Ezra Taft Benson, ex-Secretary of Agriculture, beamed approval. Benson was a get rid of price supports man whose program the Democrats want to junk.

QUICK
Like an old firehorse who has been missing the sound of the siren, Eisenhower jumped quickly to every political question fired at him. Some of his answers: Former secretary of labor James P. Mitchell, the new Republican nominee for governor of New Jersey, got a hand when he arrived late at the meeting and the former President hopes "he gets a hand when he goes out to campaign."

Eisenhower himself will campaign for Mitchell and other Republican candidates if they want him. But the question is whether "foreigners" from out of state should be brought into such contests.

His group of advisers will meet with him from time to time to keep abreast of political developments. They won't try to dictate to the party. Nor will they follow the practice of the Democratic Advisory Council, which issued policy pronouncements before Kennedy's nomination for the presidency.

"There will be none of that," Eisenhower said with finality. All in all, his listeners came away with the impression that

Base Seeking Honor Nominee

Group commanders at Webb AFB this week are looking for their nominee for the Air Training Command's outstanding airman of the year. A wing board will choose one person and forward his name to ATC Headquarters at Randolph AFB as representative of the base.

At San Antonio a board will meet May 29 to select one of the nominees from the various bases, to represent ATC at the Sixth Annual Air Force Association convention at Philadelphia, Sept. 29-30.

Command representatives and their wives will be honored guests at the convention.

In addition, the USAF Recruiting Service will select a recruiter of the year to represent that organization at the five-day gathering.

CM. Sgt. Robert E. Holbert, Sheppard AFB, was ATC's representative last year; and M. Sgt. Lee Rogers of Boston Army Base, Mass., was the 1960 recruiter of the year.

Wives of outstanding airmen will be invited to attend the convention as guests of the AFA.

Miss Jarvis Urged First Mother's Day

By SAM BLACKBURN
Mother's Day—second Sunday in May and so proclaimed in a congressional resolution dating back to 1914—will be celebrated from coast to coast Sunday.

It is doubtful if one out of a thousand of those who note the day will know that the event was the creation of a woman who was never a mother.

The name Anna M. Jarvis will probably be recognized by few people. But it was Miss Jarvis who dreamed up the idea of a day devoted to paying honor to mothers and who worked for seven years to have the day officially recognized.

She began a campaign that continued for seven years to make Mother's Day a nationally observed event. In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson formally signed the congressional resolution creating Mother's Day as a national holiday and specifying that the second Sunday in each May should be set aside for its observance.

The resolution read in part: "Dedicated to the memory of the best mother in the world—your mother." Since that time the spread of interest in the day has been rapid. It is celebrated with thoughtful gifts and warmly sentimental cards.

GIFTS STRESSED
Merchants have come to recognize the tremendous interest in the day and for weeks ahead of the date, they stress merchandise which fits into the idea of gifts for mothers. Big Spring stores have been emphasizing Mother's Day suggestions since the middle of April. And the large number of gaily wrapped packages to be seen on the streets indicates that most Big Spring mothers will be well remembered day after tomorrow.

Although Miss Jarvis was responsible for the modern version of observing Mother's Day, the idea itself is hundreds of years old.

In ancient Rome the festival celebrated on the Ides of March (March 15) was in honor of Hilaria, the mother goddess. In the early middle-ages in Europe, mothers were honored on the fourth Sunday before Easter. This date was known as the Virgin Mary's Day. On that Sunday, gifts were brought to Mary's Shrine and living mothers were likewise remembered.

IN 1907
It was in 1907 that Mrs. Jarvis had her big idea. In her case it was a very personal thing at the outset—she wanted to arrange a memorial service for her own mother. The service was in Andrews Methodist Church in Grafton, W. Va.

From that date, Miss Jarvis

Says U.S. Racism Hurts Relations

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The charge d'affaires for Sierra Leone, Dr. William H. Fitzjohn, told a Baltimore audience Thursday night that America's racial discrimination is doing grave damage in its relations with the new nations of Africa.

"If you could remove this block which has no reason to exist, what else could the Russians say about you?" the African diplomat asked.

Dr. Fitzjohn and his driver recently were refused service at a Hagerstown, Md., restaurant because they are Negroes. President Kennedy, State Department and Hagerstown officials all expressed regret to the diplomat later. The restaurant has since changed its policy.

16TH CENTURY
In the 16th Century, England converted the Mid-Lent Sunday into "Mothering Sunday." Children on this date visited their mothers and took along trinkets and cakes.

One of the most famous man-made memorials in the world is dedicated to motherhood—the renowned Taj Mahal of India, described as the most beautiful building in the world.

Another famous tribute to mothers is the American statue "The Pioneer Mother" which stands near Ponca City, Okla. This famous work depicts a pioneer mother and her child and has been widely admired.

TRIBUTE
Many famous men have paid high tribute to their mothers in public speeches.

One of America's most famous mothers is a state—Virginia. Known as the "mother of presidents" having given the nation eight of its chief executives, it is also regarded as the "mother of states." It was the oldest of the original 13 states and directly responsible for the establishment of eight other states.

Earth Nearer Sun Than Believed

MOSCOW (U.S. Soviet radio studies of the planet Venus show the average distance between the earth and the sun is shorter than previously estimated—maybe 27,000 miles shorter.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said this distance, called the astronomical unit, was established at 92,812,797 miles—give or take a few thousand miles.

Standard Western reference works round off the figures. The World Almanac says the average distance is 92.9 million miles. The Encyclopedia Britannica puts the mean value at about 93 million.

WHAT A FATHER SHOULD HIMSELF BE WHO DESIRES FOR HIS SON A SATISFYING AND HONORABLE LIFE

Scripture—1 Kings 1:1-7; Proverbs 1:1-5; 10:1; 13-14; 20:11; 22:6; 22:17; Ephesians 6:1-4.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. THE THEME of this lesson, the importance of establishing a beautiful home life, is first illustrated with Solomon's resolve to carry out an important work planned by his father, David—a great temple, to the Lord.

David had brought up his son with such loving discipline that his hopes were realized through his son. David had set a fine example of devotion to God, and Solomon, by this example, by training and by his own effort, had made him a proud father.

Solomon, in his proverbs, tells his own sons how important it is for them to learn from him, telling them that he had learned in turn from his parents. [When Solomon says he was "only beloved in the sight of his mother," he means that he was long known as God's chosen and was especially beloved, as T. T. Perowse points out in "Peloubet's Select Notes."]

"A wise son maketh a glad father; but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother," says Solomon (Proverbs 10:1). The wise child makes his parents glad not only by his wisdom per se, but by having the wisdom (or love, or understanding) to put forth the effort deliberately to make his parents happy. Everyone should take the opportunity to show his parents as much love as possible—while he still has time to do so.

Remorse is bitter for such lost opportunity after one's parents die.

Solomon also points out that the truly loving parent does not based on copyrighted outline prepared by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Dr. G. C. Morgan has pointed out that what you want your child to be, you must be yourself; disciplining the child means primarily disciplining yourself, for he learns by your example.

It is in the home that the child learns the basic Christian truth—that his true happiness depends on making others happy. A home in which this truth is practiced has a beauty of spirit that even the casual visitor can feel. Children from such a home cannot help but spread the gospel of love.

Paul reinforces these teachings of Solomon in his letters to the Ephesians, wherein he urges children to honor their parents, and parents to "nurture" their young ones "in the chastening and admonition of the Lord." (Ephesians 6:4).

Kreidel Family Leaves For Missionary Work

An idea which originated four years ago at Abilene Christian College by seven ministerial students finally has become a reality for Walter Kreidel and his family.

The Kreidels will join 13 other families in Houston Tuesday to sail to Sao Paulo, Brazil where they will do missionary work and plan to establish a church. For three years the families will work in Brazil before they return home.

LOCAL SUPPORT
Supported by the 14th and Main Church of Christ, of which Kreidel is associate minister, the family of three children will live in a city of three million residents. Accompanying Kreidel will be his wife, and children, Angela, four; Keith, two; and Karen, two months.

"We would rather take the children while they are young, rather than waiting until they are accustomed to our customs," explains Kreidel. "Children can adapt themselves so much easier than adults."

In 1957 a group of seven students at Abilene Christian College, began meeting for prayer and study and decided to dedicate themselves to missionary work in some foreign field. Their final choice being Brazil. They counseled with teachers, preachers and men who had spent time on the mission field and decided to leave for Brazil in June, 1961. Kreidel was a member of this group.

13 MINISTERS

Since that time, the group has grown to 13 ministers, all married, all have children, and all are old college friends. All will sail to Brazil on the S. S. Del Norte where, as Kreidel puts it, they can establish a church that "will stand on its own feet, if they should have to leave Brazil."

At first, this will mean working with the people, learning their ways and understanding them. Later it may mean doing the actual construction of a church building.

The group decided that Sao Paulo would be the logical place to begin its work because Protestants have already established churches there. In the past, the two Protestant churches which have done most missionary work in Sao Paulo have been the Southern Baptist and Seventh-Day Adventists.

FINAL PLANS
Final preparations for the trip were made by the group when they met at ACC in February. As for the Kreidels, all they need to do is sell the family car before they leave Tuesday. Everything the family owns is packed in trunks and waiting in Houston or is stashed away in the six or seven bags the family will take with them. For four years the Kreidels have been planning for the trip by studying Portuguese from a private teacher and consuming literature on Brazil and Latin America.

When all the members of this unusual missionary team meet in Houston, it will be like "old homecoming" for many of the families. Kreidel was raised with two of the ministers, was a roommate at college with one of the group, and Mrs. Kreidel roomed with one of the minister's wives while they attended ACC.

Elbert R. Garretson, Evangelist

"WHAT THEREFORE GOD HATH JOINED"

We may depend on the Lord, but the supreme question is, "Can He depend on us?" The 19th chapter of Matthew which pointedly shows that marriages must not be lightly taken nor easily dissolved, says, "Wherefore they are no more twain but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together let not man put asunder." Let no man, nor woman, no one in any generation break or destroy. Let no one put it asunder ignorantly, nor viciously, nor impatiently; let the marriage bond not be broken through weakness, nor selfishness, nor through lust, excepting the reason of "fornication" stated in verse 9.

What God hath joined is a HOLY WEDDING WITH HALLOWED JOYS: Two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one. What God hath joined must not be left to the law of the jungle. The home is so vitally needed for our eternal souls, and for our national life, yea even the church depends upon it so much. Whatever the social control over the home is necessary (and limited it must be) should strive to keep homes from easily falling apart. What God hath joined ought to have Christian approval and religious sanction; for its sweetness, its desirability, preciousness and permanence. Marriage is not a church sacrament to anyone who either knows or respects the New Testament of our Lord. Nevertheless marriage should have the atmosphere of sermon, song, prayer and Scripture rather than the mere cold walls of any marriage hall divested of the sacred love of Christian people, for a wedding while "civil" is more than a "civil ceremony," God is in it. God has joined something of good judgment and common sense and of SACREDNESS AND BEAUTY, surely a wedding where God is would avoid the show of extravagance and boorish hilarity and all that is coarse, vulgar and crude and sinful. What God has joined surely would seem to include something of physical health, mental stability and of spiritual grace — a mind that reasons and has self-command. It is more by far than brute mating which is itself protected by instinct, but rather man protected by intelligence and sense if he but "will be;" otherwise excess destroys him. Come let us study the truth.

Elbert R. Garretson, Minister

a child's gift

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Luke	11	5-18
Monday	I Samuel	12	1-5
Tuesday	Matthew	18	1-10
Wednesday	II Timothy	1	3-7
Thursday	Proverbs	22	1-6
Friday	I Samuel	1	24-28
Saturday	Proverbs	31	25-31

A child's gift is especially sweet. I wish that I could give this little girl something that would mean as much to her as her flowers mean to me. But I know that just now, I can't. For she won't recognize my gift until much, much later.

Then, I hope she'll look back on her memories of me and say, "The first time I ever went to church, I went with my Grandma. You know, I don't think she ever missed a Sunday at church in her life..."

Though I have missed a Sunday now and then when I was sick, or had to stay home with my young ones, I never have missed going to church if there were a way to get there. And this habit—a wonderful habit—is something that I've passed along to my son, and that I've seen him pass along to his daughter.

This is a priceless heritage. For having a regular place for the Church in one's life, from childhood on, gives one a faith that endures forever.

Niki Repeats Contention Reds To Win Peaceful War

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev reassured his people once again today that communism will win a peaceful competition with capitalism. "We are certain of the superiority of Marxism and Leninism," the Soviet premier told a Communist party rally in Tbilisi (Tiflis), "and we are certain that this superiority will triumph." He added immediately that it would be a peaceful triumph. "I repeat," he said, "that we are not going to achieve the victory with the aid of guns."

HCJC Choir In Good Voice During Music Week Concert

With a group of only 21 voices, the Howard County Junior College Choir Thursday evening filled the college auditorium with full volume.

The concert was the annual spring concert for the HCJC group, and was sponsored by the Music Study Club in observance of National Music Week.

Director Ira Schantz had his students up to their usual standard, which is pretty high for its class. Already, the HCJC Choir is well-known in this area of West Texas, and was honored once at a State Fair musical exhibition.

There were only a few lapses. In one instance, the singers held a sustained note rather well, but sounded out of breath when they finally let it go. And, with guest soloists adding their volume in the first number, the choir seemed a wee bit out of balance, particularly in the bass.

This situation rectified itself, however, when the choir members got to passages in which they sang by themselves or merely provided background support for the soloists.

The soloists themselves did a good job, particularly guest soprano Mrs. Carl Bradley.

The other guest was Bill Bender, bass, high school choir director, and the other soloists included Pat Douglass, Delores Howard, a r d, Schantz and Robby Allen.

The first number was Mass in G by Schubert, followed by an assortment of shorter selections of a classical and semi-classical nature.

Guest soloists appeared only for the Mass in G, the rest of the program being carried on by the collegiates alone. Although the local choir lacks the total depth and range of adult professional groups, the students handled themselves in a practiced manner, with good balance. They expertly accomplished some difficult chorals.

Choral styling was used in a spiritual, but it was lively and syncopated, lacking only the spontaneity of the primitive original. It was an example of what in the instrumental world is known as cool (or composed) jazz, which descended directly from the hot (or Dixieland, or spontaneous) music of the Negro.

Spirituals represent one of the most difficult of all art forms, but the HCJC Choir came out handsomely.

The Jaysquawkers, quartet composed of Schantz, Jake Douglass, Robert Phelan and Paul Patterson, were immensely popular with the audience in their comic rendition (complete with descriptive motions) of "Old MacDonald Had a Farm."

The students obviously were pleased with the applause they

Jill Claims Marriage Not On The Rocks

By BOB THOMAS
AP News - TV writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Jill St. John-Lance Reventlow marriage has passed the one-year mark against all odds-makers, the orange-tressed actress says.

"I don't believe that stuff about Hollywood being the same as any other town," she commented.

"Marriages are shorter and oftener here, and I can see one reason why. Everyone seems so eager to break up a marriage.

"I firmly believe that columnists have revolving files that they bring out periodically. 'Jill and Lance ought to be fighting by now,' they figure, 'so let's run an item about it.'

And do they fight?"

"Certainly," she replied. "We fight like cats and dogs. But that doesn't mean we're going to get a divorce. And we never fight in public, so nobody has any grounds for making rumors about us."

The fights can be on any subject. "Trouble is, Lance is so darned logical, so he's hard to argue with," she added. "Now I'm using the same technique, and we end up glaring at each other."

One factor has contributed to their normalcy: Lance has given up sports car racing.

"He says I'm responsible, but I didn't really pressure him," Jill remarked. "He came to the decision himself, after watching a number of races last summer. In one of them, four drivers were killed. He realized as a husband he shouldn't take such risks."

"He still builds the cars and tests them. There isn't much danger when you're the only driver on the track."

What is life like for this pair of young marrieds? Sailing their yacht, flying their plane, skiing in Sun Valley, surfing in Honolulu. Their idyll was interrupted for three months while she made a film in England. She leaves this week for "Tender Is the Night" in Monaco.

TEXAS LAWYERS
Lawrence Sullivan Ross
Sheriff-Statesman
"Continue your good work and the people of Texas will not withhold their praise"

On the campus of Texas A&M stands the statue of Lawrence Sullivan (Sul) Ross, the school's revered one-time President. A state teachers college is named for him; he was a distinguished Governor and State Senator, a Brigadier General in the Civil War. But... before the years of soldiering and statesmanship Sul Ross had made colorful, turbulent frontier history as a peace officer. He was a young (22) Ranger Captain when, in 1860, he and his company broke the power of the Comanches. It was Ross who killed their chief, the noted Pete Nocona, then captured and returned to civilization Nocona's white wife, Cynthia Ann Parker. Then, in 1873, on special duty, he became Sheriff of McLennan County, with full authority to rid central Texas of a horde of vicious intruders, who in reconstruction days had imposed their lawless "six shooter rule" and terrorized the area. In true Ranger fashion, Sul Ross soon had tranquillized McLennan, and several other counties as well.

Today Texans still owe much to the lawmen who brought peace to the frontier... and much also to industry and commerce, for bringing prosperity and pleasure. The brewing industry has done its part... providing community revenues, payrolls and the refreshment of moderate beverages. In Texas "beer belongs," and the United States Brewers Association is constantly at work with brewers, wholesalers and retailers to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly and law-abiding conditions.
