Johnson Ends His Wide Asian Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned today from a 29,000-mile diplomatic mission to Asia which he described as "the most challenging trip of my life."

President Kennedy and a large number of other government officials welcomed the vice president on the White House lawn as he arrived by helicopter to report to the President.

Kennedy To Take Plea To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will address a joint session of Congress in person Thursday to ask increased funds for space, foreign aid and other spending.

House Majority Leader John W. McCormack, D-Mass., interrupted debate on a $12.5 billion defense authorization bill to announce the joint session to be held at 12:30 p.m.

Among other things, Kennedy is expected to ask Congress to support a sharply increased fallout shelter program for the protection of civilians against sneak nuclear attack.

and other measures designed to reduce unemployment. Kennedy's decision to appear before Congress appeared to indicate that he places special importance on his requests.

Absentee Vote Total Indicates Big Turnout

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

A spot check of absentee ballot totals in more than a dozen of the larger Texas counties indicated Wednesday a heavy vote can be expected in Saturday's special Senate election.

In most counties, more absentee ballots were returned than in the April 4 preliminary which cut a field of 71 candidates down to John G. Tower and William Blakley.

Tower plainly has hoped to bring out the Republican vote in full, through a detailed organization, and hoped that Democrats would fail to ballot through indifference or overconfidence.

Blakley equally plainly has been aware of this problem. For two or three weeks he has stressed the get-out-the-vote theme alongside the campaign issues.

But when political observers look closer at the figures, they may need to question assessment of the heavy-light vote formula.

Many counties showing higher absentee votes went for Tower April 4. A late count showed seven gave Tower the margin, while four went for Blakley. Two of the counties went for neither.

Among the counties showing a decline in absentee balloting, Blakley and Tower split, while one went for another candidate.

Harris County, with its tremendous influence in any election, counted 3,355 absentee votes, compared with 2,077 for the April 4 election. Tower led Blakley 60-016 to 13,458 April 4, with 64,670 ballots for other candidates.

Dallas, also a heavy vote center and a Tower backer April 4, reported 2,726 absentee ballots, compared with 1,342 earlier.

Transport Crash Kills 18 Soldiers

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP)—A big military transport returning servicemen from maneuvers met disaster five miles from takeoff today in a flaming pileup that killed 18 men and left four injured critically.

The C124 Globemaster fell in a wooded area minutes after it lifted from a McChord runway in predawn darkness, headed for Ft. Sill, Okla., with 15 Army men and its Air Force crew of seven.

Five men got out somehow from the shattered, burning plane and were rushed to Madigan General Hospital at nearby Ft. Lewis. One died a few hours later.

Three Army men and one Air Force crewman remained at Madigan in critical condition.

NO MILLIONAIRE

Yarborough Brands Political Ad A Lie

A strong denunciation of a political statement that he is a "millionaire" had come today from U.S. Senator Ralph Yarborough.

Sen. Yarborough telephoned The Herald after he had received a copy of a political advertisement which had run in this newspaper. The ad listed him among others, as being a millionaire.

"This is a callous falsehood and a complete untruth," said the senator. "I believe it must have been a deliberate attempt to imply that I might be a grafter. My friends in Texas all know very well that I am far from being wealthy, and know in fact that I still owe money from my former gubernatorial campaigns. I trust that a correct statement can be made."

The Herald is happy to comply with Sen. Yarborough's request.

Dies

Joan Davis, radio and television comedienne, died in a Palm Springs, Calif., hospital following a heart attack. She was 47 years old.

Capsule Conference

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Space traveler Alan B. Shepard Jr. and four of his fellow astronauts of the Project Mercury team are in St. Louis for a conference with engineers of McDonnell Aircraft Corp., which builds the space capsules.

Convoys Seek To Halt Any Disturbances

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Eleven "freedom riders" — white and Negro — broke the racial barriers in a bus station luncheon today. Then, under heavy military guard, they left for New Orleans, La., in a continued assault on Southern segregation.

School Aid Bill Nearing Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's federal aid to education bill neared final victory in the Senate today but actual passage was not expected until Thursday.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told news-men he hoped to dispose of all remaining amendments to the hotly disputed $2.55-billion public school measure today.

Mansfield called the Senate in three hours early to try to get a quick start at beating down four or five expected amendments.

He said some lengthy opposition speeches undoubtedly would delay the roll call to pass the bill until Thursday.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., for one, has prepared a 67-page speech lambasting the measure—a major item on President Kennedy's 1961 program. Thurmond estimated it would take three or four hours to make his point.

The House Education Committee meets again today on its version of the school legislation and may clear it for floor action.

The administration won a big victory in this group Tuesday when supporters of aid for private schools withheld their amendment.

Administration forces feared inclusion of such a provision would kill the bill. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., had an amendment pending as the Senate convened this morning. It would strike from the bill all aid for teacher salaries. It was given no chance of adoption.

Administration forces easily quashed two Republican amendments to the bill, including a substitute proposed by Goldwater.

Turned down 62 to 32 was a civil rights amendment sponsored by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y. It would have authorized taxpayers to file federal District Court suits to bar grants to states not complying with the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., floor manager, argued the amendment would kill the bill. He fortified his view with a letter from Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff taking the same position.

The Goldwater substitute went down in the Senate Tuesday night 79 to 19. It would have given homeowners an income tax cut of more than $3 billion by allowing them to deduct up to $100 of the amount paid in property taxes for school purposes.

Two other provisions would have authorized 1,000 annual college scholarships to be financed with federal money and allowed a family to deduct up to $2,000 a year on income tax for college expenses.

Two amendments accepted by Morse and the administration were voted into the bill. One, by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., broadened the purposes of the legislation so that the federal money could be used for all operating expenses of public schools.

Prouty's amendment carried 50-29. The other, by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., doubled the amount of grants to the District of Columbia.

Once Proud Rail Industry Is Ailing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Strange and frightening ailments are afflicting that once proud and glamorous industry, railroading.

NBC's final "White Paper" of the season took a look at our faltering rail systems Tuesday night. It summed up the gloomy picture with some shots of rotting ties, rusting rails and defensive railroad presidents pleading for equal treatment with rival forms of transportation while raising the specter of socialism in a nationalization of the industry.

But the public's shifting attitude toward rail travel was even more dramatically sketched in three short vignettes.

One was a turn of the century film clip, showing excited, elegantly attired men, women and children dining in luxury aboard the plush 20th Century as it roared through the countryside.

The scene shifted to today—a group of disconsolate, bored people in the train's club car.

"I'm on this thing," said one man disdainfully, "because I couldn't get a flight to Chicago."

"I've gotten so used to bad conditions," said a New York bound commuter with weary resignation, "that I'll settle for the hot cars in summer, the cold cars in winter and I'll sit on a hard bench, if they will only just get me to work on time."

The program skipped all over the country, finding delays, breakdowns, poor service, discontinued trains, branch lines and main lines all over the place. The one bright spot in the gloomy picture was the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad out of Chicago, which has modernized its equipment, attracted (rather than discouraged) commuters and has turned a huge deficit into a tiny profit.

The while situation seemed thoroughly disheartening and, even in summary, narrator Chet Huntley could not come up with

BAPTIZED, WHAT FOR?

By T. H. Tarkenton, preacher, Church of Christ, West Highway 28 P. O. Box 1282

If we deny that baptism is for salvation, then we are at loss to tell what it is for. Nowhere does the Bible say that it is for a testimony to the others, or that it is just a symbol, or that it is for joining a church.

Surely this command, like all others, has a purpose. The Bible says it is "for the remission of sins," or to "wash away thy sins" (with Christ's blood, of course); that "baptism doth also now save us"; that "he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Acts 2:38; Acts 22:16; 1 Pet. 3:21; Mark 16:16).

Be it understood that baptism is not for salvation unless it is an expression of faith in Christ and a picture of repentance, which is in our hearts (Gal. 3:26, 27; Rom. 6:3, 4; Acts 17:30).

Baptism is for salvation; and the people in Bible times were made to understand that before their baptism.

Just as Christians must have the right purpose in their hearts in singing and giving and observing the communion; so must sinners have the right purpose in being baptized.

DEAR ABBY

Just Don't Give Up Yet

DEAR ABBY: What is a girl who wasn't born beautiful supposed to do? I am 13 and have never had a boy friend. I am of medium build, maybe a little underweight. Anyway, my figure is nothing sensational, and the way my mother makes me dress, even if it were no one could notice it. My hair is light brown, gets oily fast and just hangs. I wear glasses and braces.

Believe me, it is not an inferiority complex that gives me the idea that no boy would look at me twice. I have tried to be the kind of person who is fun to have around, but I am a big flop.

Can you give me a few tips on how to get a boy to notice me?

NOTHING SPECIAL

DEAR "NOTHING": Maybe you're trying too hard? And maybe the fish you're casting for are too big for your line? Be yourself. Be your best-groomed, kindest, sweetest self. Pay particular attention to the shy little guy whom no girl notices. I'll bet you catch something pretty special.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a big-hearted woman who feels sorry for a friend of hers who happens to be a widow. When I drive this woman home my wife always says, "Honey, be sure to kiss Vera goodnight." Vera is not hard to kiss, but I don't think it's right for my wife to ask me to kiss a woman just because she has no one else to kiss her. We have been friends for years, and I know Vera doesn't take me seriously, but don't you think eventually this could lead to trouble?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Only if YOU do!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an expensive one. Whenever I wash, my neighbor washes, and she takes my good diapers off the line and leaves me her old ragged diapers, which are full of holes. I have never seen her do it, but I know she does. Diapers cost $2.50 a dozen, and I am tired of buying new ones all the time. Print this. Maybe she will take the hint. I don't want to accuse her.

DIAPER POOR

DEAR DIAPER POOR: Write your initials in indelible ink in the corner of each new diaper. Then tell your neighbor (in a friendly way) that you think you have been getting your diapers mixed up with hers, and have marked yours so it won't happen again. And I'll bet it doesn't.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Must Have Been Crazy" that she has company. I am another secretary who fell for her boss. I was 21 and he was 44. I had to have his child to grow up. I was married and so was he. He said he loved me. I was blonde, five feet four, 36-25-36. He said I was perfect. When my measurements changed, so did he. This is all ancient history, and thanks to heaven, and an understanding husband, my life was not ruined. But please tell girls who get a yen for their bosses to quit while they are ahead.

Senate Candidates Continue Pounding

By The Associated Press
The two candidates for the U.S. Senate hammered away at each other again Wednesday as they criss-crossed the state.

Democratic Sen. William A. Blakley bore down in South Texas on his theme that a Republican senator couldn't help the state.

Republican John Tower assailed the Democratic national administration and claimed he was running ahead of the interim senator.

At Houston, Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph, leader of the Texas Democratic liberals, said she won't vote for either candidate in Saturday's election for Vice President Lyndon Johnson's unexpired term.

"I cannot vote for a Republican and I won't vote for a Dixiecrat," she said.

Sen. Blakley's Harris County campaign manager, Presley Werlein Jr., said Mrs. Randolph "is asking people to forget completely and to ignore party loyalty, which she has stressed for so many years."

NO QUESTION

Tower's Houston campaign manager, Robert Overstreet, said "There is no question of party loyalty in this election because neither candidate is officially a nominee of a political party."

Blakley said "I have the experience, the knowhow and the friends to get the job done in Washington."

The senator campaigned Tuesday in Houston where Tower gained some of his strongest support in the April 4 election.

Blakley, referring to U.S. aid in developing Texas natural resources, said a Republican senator from Texas wouldn't help the state.

Blakley addressed some 500

cheering supporters at a Houston hotel.

He told them that he would oppose repeal of the Connally Amendment limiting U.S. participation in the World Court. He referred to the Senate resolution introduced by Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., as one that is "before Congress now, put there by a Republican."

ALL SHOULD OPPOSE
Replying to Tower's charge that he is not a member of the Committee of One Million, which opposes admission of Red China to the United Nations, Blakley said:

"I think it ought to be a committee of 175 million. I think every person ought to be against admission of Red China to the United Nations, but the place to oppose it is on the floor of the Senate, and that is where I will oppose it."

Blakley told his audience the administration of former President Dwight Eisenhower was responsible for two acts which had been oppressive to the oil and gas industry:

1. Veto of the Harris-O'Hara Gas Bill, which would have relaxed federal controls on natural gas at the well head.

2. The present oil import program.

"I recommended that oil imports be cut to about 50 per cent of what it is now," he said. "I don't believe you want someone representing you who will be told how to vote by somebody from Arizona, Pennsylvania or some other place," Blakley said.

ITINERARY

Blakley campaigns today in Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange. Thursday he will be in Amarillo and Lubbock and will wind up his campaign in Dallas on election day.

In Corpus Christi Tower said it is time that the United States starts carrying a big stick and calling the Russians' bluff.

The candidate told a rally Tuesday night:

"I think we could march right into Cuba and they (the Russians) wouldn't do a thing."

He called for an economic blockade around Cuba and preservation of the Monroe Doctrine.

Tower termed President Kennedy's proposal to give aid to Communist countries "suicidal" and said the United States should not have given aid to the Cuban rebels "unless we were prepared to see it through successfully."

ECONOMIC AID

Tower advocated economic aid

Expelled Student Wounded Trying To Abduct Girl

DALLAS (AP) — An expelled student from the Melissa Pierce Negro High School was wounded by the high school principal Tuesday as the student tried to drag a girl student, 16, from the school grounds.

Shot in the hip and arm was Smith Brownlee, 19, who was under guard at a hospital.

Booked for assault to murder and released on bond was the principal, Ollie Mitchell, 42.

Detective J. B. Drake said witnesses told him Brownlee was choking Inez Curry, 16, and attempting to drag her off the school grounds by her hair.

"I had a few dates with the boy, but don't go with him any more," the girl told Drake. "He said he was going to snatch me off the school grounds and rape me."

Which Way, Alleghany? Let's Wait And See, Says Leader

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle is over and where do we go from here is the question today facing stockholders in the Alleghany Corp. who voted a change in command of an empire controlling $6.7 billion.

John D. Murchison, 39, the Texan who successfully led the dissidents in an uphill assault, declined to go beyond a hint of his wishes.

He deferred to a meeting today of his new board of directors virtually all decisions on the day-to-day operation of the holding corporation and any radical change in the use of the millions of dollars at its disposal.

The 31-year-old corporation has paid only one dividend of a nickel, ridiculed by Murchison, and that was at the height of the battle this year for control.

Murchison voiced only one dic-torial dictum Tuesday in Baltimore after he had won control of Alleghany by nearly 854,000 votes out of more than nine million cast in this century's biggest struggle on the financial field.

That was that Allan P. Kirby, 68, the power behind and in front of the Alleghany Corp. since 1937, has not and will not be offered a spot on the board of directors.

"It's up to him" to make any peace overture, Murchison said. Kirby is the biggest single individual stockholder in Alleghany with one-third of its shares.

The most pressing problem before the nine new directors of Alleghany, including John Murchison and his brother Clint, 37, is selection of a "chief executive officer," whether he be designated president or chairman.

John Murchison said "nobody has been offered the post but that he hoped it "would be filled quickly."

As for himself or brother Clint becoming chairman, John hedged by saying, "Let's see what happens."

"We'll have to analyze" was his stock answer.

He did say he personally favors a split up to 10-1 in the stock of Investors Diversified Services and increasing its annual dividend of $6 a year.

The Murchisons ran IDS, which manages mutual funds amounting to more than $3.7 billion, for five years last year. The Murchisons own 15 per cent of the IDS stock personally and Alleghany owns close to half.

Alleghany also has substantial interest in three railroads, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Missouri Pacific.

ON THE SHELF

AMERICA — TOO YOUNG TO DIE! By Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky. McGraw-Hill. $4.95.

The author of "Victory Through Air Power" and "Air Power, Key to Survival," which contained a good many early forecasts that came true, tells us now that little time is left to catch up with the Russians and achieve "aerospace supremacy." And he suggests measures which he says are imperative.

De Seversky is opinionated. He pounds the desk with a hammer instead of a shoe. He renews his attacks on every United States president of the last 20 years, on practically every general except MacArthur, and on innumerable military and civilian figures, whom he charges with blundering and bureaucratic stupidity.

But he backs up his opinions with arguments, many of them cogent, and he is a military expert entitled to say "I told you so" a good many times. He pokes an irate finger at limited war, equal status of the armed forces and infantry-minded strategists.

He says it is folly to think of limiting nuclear tests, and equally foolish—as long as human beings remain what they are—to put any faith in disarmament talks.

He also shares with a good many analysts a fear that the government has not been telling the people enough, and has been depending too much on committees and compromises in reaching urgent decisions.

De Seversky insists that science and technology cannot stand still. Some readers may shudder at his comment on the possibility of a planet-shattering bomb: "If that can be done, I am sure someone will design one. If he designs it, he unquestionably will build it. And when it is built, he will not be able to resist the temptation to detonate it, just for the hell of it, to prove that it can be done."

He demands real, not imitation, integration of the armed forces, with aerospace supremacy as its goal. He believes that "an active scientific defense" based on anti-missile principles and supplemented by a genuine civil defense, is as important as a strong offense.

By shouting at the top of his voice so continuously, De Seversky may deafen part of his audience, but even if the reader is skeptical he is likely to feel that this man's arguments and convictions should carry some weight. The book is a strong presentation of a strong-minded man.

AP Book Reviewer

THE SOUTHWEST OLD AND NEW, by W. Eugene Hollon. Knopf, $7.50.

This is a book that newcomers to the Southwest, particularly Texas, would do well to read, just to brush up on history. But the author falls into a common fault as far as Texans are concerned. He begins with prehistory and then ploughs ahead, like a mule with its head in the furrow and a day's work to be done, until he repeats history most Texans have grown weary of—at least in this pattern.

It is amazing that the story of the West can enthrall playgoers, movie fans and TV watchers for hours, but put it into the hands of most historians and it becomes purely pedestrian. The facts must lie somewhere between.

Not until the author begins discussing such matters as the industrial boom, politics, money and brains and cities and culture does the interest rise.

Just the same, it is an excellent book for those needing a quick survey of Texas and the Southwest.

It need not always be taken literally. For instance, many Texans will dispute the author's conclusion that the South Plains will become a desert. The writer apparently has confused sub-soil moisture and underground reservoirs.

Hollon was born at Commerce and educated at East Texas State Teachers College and the University of Texas. He is professor of history at the University of Oklahoma.

Weather Calms After Lightning Kills Worker

By The Associated Press
The weather calmed down again over Texas Wednesday after lightning killed a farm worker and a tornado ripped apart a garage and damaged a home near Victoria.

Melquidez Morales, 60, was killed by lightning while working on a farm northeast of Victoria, in Southeast Texas.

The tornado, which hit Ganado, in Jackson County, destroyed a two-car garage and damaged a roof of a house. Damage was estimated at about $1,500 but there were no injuries. An inch of rain fell.

Most of the night's thunderstorm activity was along the coast and in South Texas.

Another line of showers moved out of New Mexico into the South Plains around Lubbock early Wednesday.

Ganado, where the tornado struck, is about 75 miles southeast of Houston.

Winds in Austin were clocked at 37 miles an hour. Light rains fell at Austin, Temple and Fredericksburg.

More than an inch of rain with hail fell at Pleasanton, 34 miles south of San Antonio.

Rainfall reports included: Houston .42 of an inch, Junction .52, Midland .97, San Angelo .47 and Waco .54.

Other widespread areas of Central Texas were soaked by welcome rains Tuesday. Hail caused some crop and property damage, but the loss was considered negligible as compared with the benefits to crops.

Cuban Rebel Split Looms

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An internal political explosion threatens to rip apart the anti-Castro Revolutionary Council, the Miami Herald said today.

Manuel Ray, head of the People's Revolutionary Movement, has decided to withdraw from the council and "go it alone," the Herald said.

Ray's decision could sound the death knell for the council, through which the Central Intelligence Agency operated in the ill-fated Cuban invasion last month. His decision was not unexpected in view of his statements since the invasion.

Ray had expressed disgust with the council's surrender of authority to U.S. officials before the invasion and the fact that his underground was never notified of invasion plans for its date.

Seuser To Visit Local Realtors

Harley R. Seuser, regional representative of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, will spend next Thursday in Big Spring consulting with local realtors and other business leaders.

Harold Talbot, president of the Big Spring Board of Realtors, announced, Seuser travels from the headquarters office of the association in Chicago.

During his visit, Seuser will meet with the officers of the Big Spring Board of Realtors and address a meeting of the board at 10 a.m. in Room 105, Pacman Building.

Prior to his service with the Realtors' Association, Seuser conducted his own real estate office for 15 years. He has served as a director and president of the Walworth County (Wisconsin) Board of Realtors, as president of his local chamber of commerce, and on the legislative committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Final Arguments Are Due In Torch Slaying Trial

HOUSTON (AP)—Final arguments are due today in the murder trial of Leslie Douglas Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima, Houston couple accused of the gun-torch slaying of a real estate dealer.

The state and the defense rested their cases Tuesday after Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe called a surprise witness to testify Ashley invited him to go to New York City the day before the slaying. The couple was arrested in New York City 20 days after the death of Fred A. Tones.

Tones, 46, was shot six times, covered with gasoline and set afire in a Houston ditch Feb. 6. Ashley, 23, a female impersonator, and Miss Lima, 18, testified they shot Tones in self defense during a struggle at a sex party in his office. They said his body was burned because the couple was scared.

The surprise witness, Richard Ramirez, said Ashley invited him on a trip to New York and threatened him with a gun when Ramirez refused to go. He said Ashley told him he would get the money for the trip "some way or another."

Ashley and Miss Lima testified they spent some time before the slaying with a man they knew only as Robert and indicated he could prove the slaying was not premeditated if he could be located. Ramirez said he was the Robert they knew. Miss Lima, who showed no emotion when Ramirez' name was called as a witness, broke into sobs when she saw him.

Ashley, called back to the stand after Ramirez' testimony, said Ramirez was not telling the truth.

Moslems Gather For Big Pilgrimage

CAIRO (AP)—A huge throng of 750,000 Moslems gathers tonight on Mt. Arafat just outside Mecca for a service climaxing the annual pilgrimage that is the most sacred event in a devout Moslem's life.

Many of the pilgrims are Saudi Arabians. The rest come from throughout the Moslem world. There are 55,000 from the United Arab Republic, the largest foreign contingent.

The Saudi ambassador in Cairo, Mohamed Elzoghbe, said there have been no epidemics so far this year among the pilgrims and all hospitals are on the alert to care for any sick.

Even so, it is expected that 500 or more pilgrims will die near Mecca—a port on the Red Sea near Mecca—by land, sea and air. That is the usual number of deaths from sunstroke or infirmities of very aged pilgrims, many of whom arrive hoping to die inside the holy city.

The pilgrims have poured into Jidda—a port on the Red Sea near Mecca—by land, sea and air. For the past fortnight 30 planes have landed daily at Jidda bringing pilgrims from all over the world. The harbor is crowded with big passenger ships and tiny sailing dhows that ferry pilgrims from the Sudan, Ethiopia and Somaliland across the Red Sea. Thousands come on foot from Yemen and Aden to the south, bringing provisions on their backs.

Most of the pilgrims have saved for a lifetime to make this trip. For the pilgrimage they shave their heads and don a white costume which is worn until the pilgrimage is completed.

On arrival in Mecca, the pilgrims walk seven times around the Kaaba—the chief shrine of the pilgrimage—and on the last time kiss the sacred black stone that has been a revered object since long before Mohammed.

Afterward the pilgrims march to Mt. Arafat, bringing along provisions of canned fruit, meat, ice water or bottled drinks. Some families bring a lamb or goat to sacrifice.

Thursday the pilgrims begin four days of feasting. During it they will visit the town of Mona to throw pebbles at an object beside the road representing Satan.

The Saudi government spends four months preparing for the pilgrimage. Health regulations are rigid. Each pilgrim must carry certificates proving vaccination against yellow fever, cholera and other illnesses.

Sweetwater Man Draws Death Penalty In Slaying

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Shelby Leon Doggett has been sentenced to death in Oklahoma's electric chair by a Superior Court jury here which convicted him Tuesday night of murdering Lawton golf professional Jimmy Lanman.

Doggett, 23, of Sweetwater, Tex., sat impassively while the verdict was read by the 11 man and one woman jury that had deliberated 3 1/2 hours.

He is the second person convicted of shooting to death the 24-year-old golfer pro last August.

Ronald Lockwood, 19, Altoona, Pa., was convicted earlier by a jury which set his punishment at life imprisonment.

Doggett's attorney said the verdict would be appealed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Lanman, parents of the victim, were in the courtroom when the jury returned its verdict.

The defendant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Doggett, did not hear the verdict read although they had witnessed earlier trial proceedings. Doggett is the youngest of 10 children.

Doggett and Lockwood were arrested in Pennsylvania shortly after the slaying while driving Lanman's car.

Korean Chief Sets U. S. Trip

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The leader of South Korea's successful military revolt, Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yung, announced today he plans to leave for the United States soon to sell his regime to President Kennedy and the American people.

The U.S. Embassy, which had opposed the coup last week, said no invitation had been issued to Chang but it was taking the matter up with the State Department.

Initial reaction in Washington was cool.

Chang, who is head of the ruling military council, premier, defense minister and army chief of staff, said "reliable informants have told me President Kennedy wants to see and talk with me personally."

The 38-year-old general said he would "seek support for our efforts to achieve the revolutionary tasks and thus promote furthering of close ties between the two countries."

The junta has said the aim of its revolution is to weed out Communist infiltrators from North Korea, end official corruption and rejuvenate the economy.

Korean army leaders and U.S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder were reported still deadlocked over details of a formal agreement renewing acknowledgement of Magruder's authority over Korean forces as U.N. commander in Korea. At issue is the return of 7,000 Korean troops occupying Seoul since the coup to Magruder's authority and the U.S. general's right to pass on Korean army appointments.

Chang's iron-fisted regime stepped up its crackdown against what it called social evils and subversion.

A military court sentenced 45 young people to jail terms ranging from three months to a year for dancing at an unlicensed hall in violation of martial law regulations.

The government shut down about 100 newspapers and 290 small so-called news agencies which were termed incompetent, financially weak and vulnerable to money payoffs. Registration of new publications was frozen and censors withheld permission for all school newspapers to appear.

Some 4,200 Koreans arrested as hoodlums will be sent to labor camps on public works projects "if they wish" after their trials, said Maj. Gen. Hahn Shin, the new home minister. He said many of the 10,626 persons charged with violating the martial law curfew will be court-martialed as part of a drive to promote a law-abiding spirit.

Pollard Calls For Militancy

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The outgoing president of the 9.7-million member Southern Baptist Convention said today "The day calls for a militant church, a church on fire and a church with conviction."

"No church worthy of bearing the name of Jesus Christ," said the Rev. Dr. Ramsey Pollard, "will make peace terms with evil and oppression. We must have courage enough to be unpopular if our cause is right."

Dr. Pollard, 58, Memphis pastor, has served two consecutive one-year terms as president of the SBC. He is not eligible for re-election.

He told the SBC that Baptists must never allow those who disagree with us "to muzzle great truths by crying 'bigotry, persecution and narrowness' whenever we stand for the right."

In this regard, he said, the Roman Catholic Church "will never give up its efforts to dip its hands into the treasuries of all nations."

"Listen to the impassioned plea of the Roman Catholic hierarchy demanding federal funds for the support of their church related schools," Dr. Pollard said.

"Our nation faces danger from without and within. It may be that the gravest danger of the two is the danger of losing our religious freedom because of a breakdown of the wall of separation of church and state."

The Plane Isn't Through

The Air Force is committed to a 3-year program of experimentation on an airplane wing that "breathes" air. If lab experiments thus far are borne out in further testing and in actual flight, the payload or range of jet planes might be doubled.

The theory is that air drawn inside the wing through the locations, where jet motors normally would be, would be compressed by air turbines to force air out through slots on top of the wing. This is supposed to break up the normal friction from air drag on the wing surface, making it more efficient. Some additional thrust would also result, according to the theory.

In a day when everyone is preoccupied with missiles, it is well to note that the airplane has not yet reached the limits of its possibilities. Indeed many of the lessons we learn from rocketry may be applied to altering the design of aircraft.

The plane may go higher, faster, further and carry greater loads, but it will be the backbone of our over earth travel for a mighty long, long time.

Weighted On The Side Of Rights

Actress Elizabeth Taylor and her husband, singer Eddie Fisher, have expressed dismay over a decision not to jail three writers allegedly involved in a plot two years ago to kidnap two of her children.

One of the alleged conspirators confessed to a plan to kidnap the children. His reason for the confession, he said, was a fear now that his two companions might again attempt to carry out such a plan.

State authorities said that all they had was the word of one conspirator, that there was no corroborating evidence, hence it would be futile to attempt legal action.

"We don't understand how the three men are walking around free even after we were told by the FBI and the sheriff's office that one of them has confessed," said Miss Taylor and Fisher.

Frequently, people have reason to believe something strongly, and they may be correct in their conclusions. But the law draws a clear distinction between accusation and guilt, as between suspicion and proof. Thus, the law requires that when a party to a crime testifies, his testimony must be supported by testimony of another corroborator or another person. Were this not the case, anyone could make an accusation against anyone else, about almost anything out of spite, revenge, hope of publicity, or what have you.

Sometimes the law seems to lean over backwards, but it is weighted in the direction of guaranteeing individual rights and liberties. Perhaps the law occasionally makes it difficult for justice to be done, but it is better to err on the side of individual rights than the other way around.

As long as 1946 the court outlawed segregation on interstate buses, although you might not think so in view of the white mob riots last week in Alabama over buses carrying so-called "freedom riders" of whites and Negroes.

The NAACP's crowning achievement was the Supreme Court's May 17, 1954 decision against public school segregation. All the court's previous anti-segregation rulings didn't have the impact of this.

Another Backward Look At Cuba

WASHINGTON — Maybe the less said about the Cuban "invasion" fiasco the better. But when Sen. Gore of Tennessee, Democrat, blames the failure on the Joint Chiefs of Staff and openly urges that they be replaced, then the subject can hardly be ignored.

Perhaps if the British or Canadian parliamentary system were in operation in the United States today, there also would be suggestions that President Kennedy himself be placed or at least subjected to the customary vote of "confidence" or "no confidence."

IT SHOULD be noted that Sen. Gore made his comment after listening to a substantial part of the three hours of testimony given to a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last Friday by Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, head of the Joint Chiefs. Since this testimony was secret, and the public has no way of judging whether Sen. Gore's interpretation is justified. Other senators who heard the testimony disagree emphatically with the Tennessee senator's verdict.

Where is the press left in these circumstances, and how is the country to know the whole truth? For obviously, while Gen. Lemnitzer answered questions frankly and listening senators are convinced he gave them, truthful answers, it was obvious to them there were many things that he was not privileged to discuss. Also Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, previously had given the Senate committee his explanation of the affair.

This, too, was secret, and the press still has no way of judging just what was or was not responsible for what happened in Cuba.

HOW THEN CAN the public make up its own mind? Recently there have been suggestions from President Kennedy that perhaps there should be censorship of the voluntary kind for the press. But isn't it the duty of the press to tell the people when top-ranking officials in government, including the President himself, have made some serious mistakes? A member of Congress familiar with the facts, but himself not a participant, sums it all up with this remark: "It was a case of cumulative stupidity."

THIS CORRESPONDENT would point out, however, that it was a case of an unprecedented nature for which neither the President nor the Congress has had occasion heretofore to delegate or fix responsibility. For it was, outwardly at least, an operation carried out by Cubans as participants. Americans acted as advisers. The CIA helped to plan the project. The Joint Chiefs were asked their opinion beforehand and gave it. But, while the theory was all right and the plan might

A Haunting Question Arises

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negroes' efforts to end segregation in the South through direct but passive action—such as sit-ins and bus rides by Negroes and white sympathizers—raises a haunting question.

Would this country be closer to total desegregation if a quarter century ago Negroes had begun their present tactics instead of deciding on the long, slow road through the courts?

Back in the 1930s the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People instead of direct action, began a fight, step by painful step through the courts to have segregation declared unconstitutional.

BEFORE EVER trying to get the court to outlaw public school segregation, a truly explosive area, the NAACP fought to get schools on the higher levels desegregated through court action.

As long ago as 1946 the court outlawed segregation on interstate buses, although you might not think so in view of the white mob riots last week in Alabama over buses carrying so-called "freedom riders" of whites and Negroes.

Words About Collegians

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a college senior, Class of 1961, gets tired of hearing:

"Well, Sidney, that four-year loaf on father's dough is about over."

"If he's the hope of tomorrow, the country might as well give up now and save itself a lot of trouble."

"The starting salary is only $75, there are no fringe benefits and you'll be on the road three weeks out of four—but we feel the opportunity for personal advancement is unlimited for anyone who gets a kick out of good old-fashioned hard work."

"Naturally no student will be allowed to graduate who has failed to pay his college library fines."

"Your father says it is perfectly all right with him if you go ahead and get married the day after graduation—that is, if you are prepared to support a wife. He says he is able to support only one wife himself—me, your darling mother."

"I know you majored in international economic problems, my boy, but our firm makes zippers. We're looking for a young fellow full of fire and ginger who can eat, sleep and talk zippers 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

"Frankly, Sidney, I think the talent scouts from some of these big corporations would show more interest in you if you'd just shove off that silly looking beard."

"Look at it this way, kid. Just because you went to college nobody's going to hand you the world on a platter."

"The worst of it, as I see it, Sidney, is that from now on we'll have to wear a necktie every day the rest of our life."

"Remember, son, I'd be awful glad if you just came back and helped your old dad run the grocery store. If you put your mind to it, you can find a lot of romance in canned peas and pork chops."

"I tell you they're all spoiled today. Why, when I got out of college, we felt we were darned lucky if we got a job at $25 a week."

"If security is what you're looking for at your age, young fellow, you don't go out and get yourself arrested so you can go to jail. That's real security."

"Okay, Sidney, so we got our diplomas at last. Now let's go out on the highway and hitchhike back home."

To Your Good Health
Sunshine Deadly To TB Germs

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Dr. Molner: What about buying articles that are made by patients in a TB hospital. Is it advisable to let children play with them?"

"Will sunning these articles destroy germs? Can patients or visitors carry the germs on their clothing?"—Mrs. R. L. O.

These are good, intelligent questions. Tuberculosis remains a disease that attacks thousands upon thousands every year.

TB patients are usually different from other invalids in that for most of the time in a hospital they feel pretty good. They feel, in fact, as though they're ready to get up and go home, and to work.

They shouldn't go, we know, until they have had time for thorough healing of the lungs and complete obliteration of the active TB germs. It gets to be quite an argument at times. In fact, maybe I could say it's the sort of argument that usually develops when a TB patient feels good, and wants to go home, and is unhappy because we say he should wait a bit longer.

Well, such patients like to do something to keep busy. They also like to do something for their friends, relatives, children, nieces, nephews and neighbors. So there are handicraft projects in some TB hospitals to enable patients to weave baskets, make toys, etc.

How about germs? Remember first of all that the TB germ, like other germs to varying degrees, can live only in some suitable environment—people live only on land, fish live only in water, angleworms live only in the earth and soon expire either in open air or in water. A TB germ can live in its favorite environment, the lung, or occasionally in some other kind of tissue. But it can survive only briefly in an unsuitable environment.

It's too bad for us, but the TB germ can survive long enough so that it can be coughed, sneezed or breathed from a tuberculous lung into the moist air of the breath. If breathed in by another person it may arrive in time to survive and multiply. And that's the way TB is transmitted from person to person.

But can the germ live on a toy or basket or something? Not for long! Or in the open air? Not for long. In TB hospitals we do what we call "air impingement tests," sampling the air to see if there are active germs. These tests are consistently negative.

Besides, when a TB patient is well enough to do handicraft projects, nine times in 10 a test of his sputum (whatever is coughed up) is negative. That is no germs.

So as for toys or other things made by such patients, a little lapse of time will result in the disappearance of active germs.

But for complete peace of mind for whoever receives such a gift, a cleaning or washing, plus a couple of hours in the open air and sunlight, are adequate and generous assurance that no active TB germ will remain.

Tomorrow I'm going into a totally different kind of common germ which is worse, and deserves a warning.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes a child 20 months old to get car sick and vomit? It happened mostly in the winter months."

Mrs. C. C.

That last sentence would lead me to suspect very strongly that carbon monoxide might be leaking into the car from the exhaust—perhaps not enough to be noticed by adults, but enough to affect the child. In warmer weather when the windows are open, the monoxide just blows away. I'd have that car checked very carefully.

NOTE TO W. G.: I doubt if beer has any substantial effect on high blood pressure. It does have an effect on weight—and excess weight DOES.

Around The Rim
That Spot Is Way Under Water

Ten years ago a crowd of Big Spring, Odessa, and Snyder people stood under a broiling sun, grouped around the long flat beds of oilfield trucks. Bands played, officials of the three cities spoke, as did those of the newly formed Colorado River Municipal Water District. If the people seemed to put their tongues in their cheeks when S. W. Freese, one of the consulting engineers, said that someday the spot where they were standing would be way under water, they could be pardoned. The temperature was near 100, no clouds were to be seen, and dust from the red clay bottoms boiled in thick curtains from car wheels.

THIS WAS the physical beginning of the district, which had its actual genesis in April of 1946 and in May of 1949 when the act creating the district was signed into law. In the autumn of 1950 both Big Spring and Odessa ratified the district and then approved contracts which bound the cities to take their water from the district. About this time, Snyder petitioned to get back into the district and was accepted.

At this stage, the district floated $11,750,000 in bonds for land purchased, construction, pipelines, engineering and legal fees. On June 11, 1951 water from the Martin County Well Field, on the pipeline to Odessa, took desperately needed water to Odessa, and in September of that year Big Spring got water from the same source. Snyder got its first water the following year from Lake J. B. Thomas as did Big Spring. In 1958 another $4,600,000 in bonds was floated to finance more pipelines and supply. This provided a 30-inch line from the well field to Odessa and made practical the delivery of lake water to Odessa in 1959.

ALL OF THIS has been done without help from anyone. The entire $16,350,000 has been in revenue bonds, paid entirely out of operating revenues without one cent of tax income. The bonded debt has been reduced to $15,625,000 at the end of the past year. The value of the system (capital assets) plus cash and securities in the reserve fund (a cushion required by bond holders) to assure payment in event of lean years, the contingency, improvement and extension and other funds approximates $20,000,000. It can be seen how well the district is faring financially.

This, however, is not the real story. It is told rather in the security of water supply for the member cities. The assurance of plenty of water took off the shackles from Odessa and Big Spring. The former more than doubled its size growth. Big Spring almost doubled population. Snyder also grew.

MORE THAN THIS, several oil companies banded their interests and purchased surplus water to repressure fields, doubling and tripling the yields and longevity. Industries took sizeable volumes of water. The demand pushed to nearly 10 billion gallons a year—a level that may be reached this year.

Meanwhile, with city growth exceeding these, the district is shooting for another dam on the Colorado River. It is keeping an eye on possible new well fields for summer peaking purposes, and even other areas for more surface supplies down through the years. Can anyone who notes that the dam groundbreaking site is now over 60 feet under water at Lake J. B. Thomas doubt that these things will come to pass?

Please Read The Directions

There is a small neighborhood hardware store down the block to which the Robbs repair when in need of thumb tacks, a pint of paint, a new filter for the air-conditioner, a hammer, file, light bulbs, sandpaper, silver polish, curtain rods, shell paper, floor wax, fuses and other oddments.

THE STORE is operated by a man named Chuck, who is a trifle deaf and only partially reconciled to the harassment of New York apartment dwellers who want 10 yards of electric wire to string a new light bulb or an insecticide to banish silver fish who dearly love book bindings.

When I went into the shop yesterday, something new had been added to the warm clutter of years. It was a large sign, hung back of the only counter, which reads: "If All Else Fails, Read The Directions."

with space enough on the box for directions that ran to the approximate length of "Hawaii." But I go to the library when I want to read; not to the laundry.

NOW I HAD lived for some years under the impression that detergents clean but don't make suds. Who has ever heard of an electric dishwasher or washing machine foaming around the premises like a mad dog on the loose?

Well, sit tight. You're about to hear of one. I tossed the new detergent and the lingerie in the machine, turned it on and went into the living room. Five minutes later the Head of Clan Robb poked his head into the utility room, only to be smothered in more suds than a bock beer festival. He fought his way to the machine and turned it off. Then, I fear, he fought his way to me.

LET US DRAW a curtain over the following domestic scene, including the considerable mop-up period and an eloquent dissertation on the benefits to be derived from reading directions. For, truth to tell, the fine print at the bottom of the box did read "not for mechanical washers." I still contend it was a dirty trick to put it in the finest print at the bottom of the box.

Finally, it came my turn at the hardware counter. I pointed to the new sign. "Think it'll work?" I asked.

"NO, I DON'T," said Chuck. "This is just a kind of warning so's the next woman who barges in here that hasn't put water in her steam iron hasn't got a leg to stand on. And so's I don't have to put up with the next guy who hasn't read how to mix instant cement. They've been warned!"

"People!" Chuck continued. "They've got a thing about directions. Let me tell you something that benefits printed 'Lady Chatterley's Lover' on the side of a paint can or on a bag of ready-mix plaster nobody wouldn't ever have heard of the book."

(Copyright, 1961, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

SINCE CONFESSION is good for the soul, this was a novel thought to me. Early in life I discovered that elaborate directions tend to confuse me, and I have learned to ignore them more or less successfully. Sometimes the results are surprising, as the time, long ago, when a henna rinse turned me into the most gorgeous redhead in the Boise Valley.

An unexpected career as a redhead is not unrewarding when one is 19. And I never really regretted not reading the directions until I was, so to speak, fair complexion. Some place down in the dreary directions I discovered that to obtain high lights in the hair, the henna goo was to be left on for seven minutes instead of three hours.

BUT IF I HAD read the directions, I would have missed one of the most pleasant summers of my youth.

In a way, directions take the adventure out of a new product. I thought as I waited my turn at the counter. Take that new detergent, guaranteed to treat hands and lingerie alike with tender, loving care that I bought a few months ago.

I purchased the large economy package

Holmes Alexander
Analysis: Blakley And Tower

FORT WORTH—in a checks-and-balances government like ours, the opposition is just as important as the party in power. No matter which candidate wins the special Texas election for Senator on Saturday, he will join the opposition to President Kennedy—and this is a good, significant thing for the country.

WILLIAM BLAKLEY (D), if chosen, would strengthen that part of the opposition called the Southern Democrats. As an appointive incumbent, Blakley has already publicly opposed the appointment of Housing Administrator Weaver, a Negro liberal and intellectual who favors using the federal power to bring about race mixing in housing. Blakley has also fought the administration on its plan to give federal money for teachers' salaries and school construction.

These are important anti-Kennedy positions by a man who could develop into an impressive national figure. Blakley is lean, laconic, shy and given to sporty cowboy dress. It is a lot more conventional in Washington to wear a bleeding heart than high-heeled boots, and Blakley for some time has been the butt of jeers and sneers, to which he is happily oblivious.

BUT GIVEN TIME in the Senate, he could conceivably become recognized for what he is—the vanishing American who broke wild mustangs for a living, worked his way via night schools through law and accountancy, made a fortune through construction and investment, developed a rawhide philosophy of individualism, local sovereignty and nationalism.

The Kennedy administration is too strong at home, and too weak abroad, for the country's good. It is too crafty in the use of political persuasions (especially among Southerners), and too ruthless in using executive power and intimation. Every day brings examples of these abuses.

ALL THIS is happening when the many Southern Democrats, a one-time bulwark against disguised dictatorship, are weakening and defecting. For these reasons, Bill Blakley would be a strong and welcome enlistment to the opposition.

John Tower (R), if chosen, would probably oppose President Kennedy more often, though not so forcefully. The difference is mainly the difference between men. Tower impressed me in a telephone interview as being an implacable hater of the welfare state. But he has lived a softer life—as a salesman and former assistant professor, he simply hasn't had the fights and the victories which have toughened Blakley. But as a Republican amid many Democrats, Tower would never feel those myriad obligations to return a favor to the White House, or to a committee chairman, or to give a compromising vote to a measure that is sure to win anyhow.

TOWER, IF ELECTED, would join such Senators as Goldwater, Lausche and Miller, whose conservatism is not tinged at all with racism. Washington is the best place on earth for a newcomer to learn that legislation like the Administration's school building is ruinous.

Will newer and shiner buildings make better schools? Well, the marble palaces of Federalism haven't done much for outfits like the Central Intelligence Agency.

WILL PAY RAISES make better teachers? In all honesty, the $22,500-a-year Congressman aren't half the men we used to hire for $10,000. Somehow Republicans seem to get these points more readily than Democrats do, and this is an argument for Tower.

But the Texas election, win it who may, promises some anti-Kennedy opposition—and oh, how we need it.

Winders Club Helped Out Too

To the editor: My boy worked hard on Saturday washing cars on a street corner. He and about 19 others were pretty disappointed when people would say they think even see it in the paper about how much they made. They donated to the Crippled Children's Center. Everyone saw the writeup on Webb. The boys of the Winders Auto Club deserved as much credit as the boys at Webb. Maybe it's because they are an auto club I don't know, but at least they did try. Did the service stations give them help? No, they worked on a street corner and it cost them $6 to have the car wash, so really they donated $106, wouldn't you think? I think you should have recognized them as well as the Webb boys.

Zoning Ordinance Effective June 15

Big Spring's new zoning ordinance will become effective June 15, following the final reading and passage by the city commission Tuesday night.

The ordinance will be published May 24 and will include the map showing the outline and markings of all new zoning districts with figures, letters, and symbols. The map will become a part of the ordinance.

The ordinance will replace a zoning ordinance adopted in 1947. The new one is part of the Master Plan adopted by the city following surveys and recommendations of Marvin Springer, urban planning consultant of Dallas.

Emergency List Named By City

Emergency calls, to speed up service in the water, sewer, street, and vehicle departments of the City of Big Spring, at night, Sundays, and holidays, may be made to specified individuals, Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said this week.

Everyone saw the writeup on Webb. The boys of the Winders Auto Club deserved as much credit as the boys at Webb. Maybe it's because they are an auto club I don't know, but at least they did try. Did the service stations give them help? No, they worked on a street corner and it cost them $6 to have the car wash, so really they donated $106, wouldn't you think? I think you should have recognized them as well as the Webb boys.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Winders Club Helped Out Too

To the editor: My boy worked hard on Saturday washing cars on a street corner. He and about 19 others were pretty disappointed when people would say they think even see it in the paper about how much they made. They donated to the Crippled Children's Center. Everyone saw the writeup on Webb. The boys of the Winders Auto Club deserved as much credit as the boys at Webb. Maybe it's because they are an auto club I don't know, but at least they did try. Did the service stations give them help? No, they worked on a street corner and it cost them $6 to have the car wash, so really they donated $106, wouldn't you think? I think you should have recognized them as well as the Webb boys.

Guide Lists Big Spring

Big Spring's tourist resources, history and economy are explored in the Mobil Travel Guide for the South Central and Southwestern States, the first American guidebook to report in detail on local-level sightseeing and rate independently hotels, motels and restaurants.

The section on Big Spring was prepared by researchers who blanketed Texas, selecting outstanding tourist attractions and personally rating facilities for quality and value.

The guide notes that Big Spring (named for a buffalo hunter's watering place) was once a cattle town on a broad plain with grass and mesquite. Now it is a farm center with a large oil refinery, carbon black plant and other varied industries. Webb Air Force Base, 2 1/2 miles west, is a jet pilot training school.

Listing "what to see and do," the guide suggests picnicking at Big Spring State Park.

The guide describes hundreds of villages, towns and cities. Three other regional editions are printed. A national board of travel authorities examined more than 2,500 selected motels, hotels, restaurants and resorts, rating each on a star system.

Food and travel experts answer such questions as: "Is this restaurant worth a detour? How much will it cost? What's the best inexpensive hotel we can find before it gets dark? Will they put up our dog? Is there a baby-sitter service?"

Buildings started, or plans approved by the city prior to the effective date of the new ordinance, will not be changed under the new ordinance.

Emergency List Named By City

Emergency calls, to speed up service in the water, sewer, street, and vehicle departments of the City of Big Spring, at night, Sundays, and holidays, may be made to specified individuals, Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said this week.

Residents needing emergency service may call the following men: For water problems, Fred Overman, 4-7820, or Robert Shanon, 3-3854.

For sewer problems, P. H. Viera, 3-4974, or Fred Overman, 4-7820.

Streets, Sket Foreyth, 4-5302 or Tom Arista, 4-5657.

City-owned vehicles and equipment, Sket Foreyth, 4-5302.

YMCA Outlines Busy Schedule This Summer

The YMCA summer program is chock full of entertainment for all members of the family during June and July.

Girls are offered trampoline, swimming for several degrees of experience, Junior and Senior Tri Hi-Y, volleyball, ballet and tap dancing, baton twirling, arts and crafts, SCUBA diving and both junior and teen-age socials.

FOR BOYS

For boys there is trampoline, with wrestling and gymnastics added. A special conditioning class is offered for boys between the ages of 15-18. There are several categories of swimming, including a Hi-Y swim, Junior Hi-Y swim and Y-Indian Guide father-son swim.

In addition, there is arts and crafts, SCUBA diving, junior and senior teen socials and a junior leaders club.

Adults have not been left out either. Men and women get the opportunity to play badminton, swim, bowl, draw, take beginning or advanced ceramics, square dance, learn to fish, get instruction in hi-fi and stereo care and operation and learn how to get the most out of a camera.

FOR WOMEN

There is also instruction for women in tennis and golf. Registration for the instruction classes begins immediately. Many are free to Y members and others require a fee to cover materials used. Non-members may register for $5 a course.

For additional information about time, place and instruction, call the YMCA.

Summer Festival Of Classics Set

A special summer festival of film classics beginning at the YMCA June 5 offers comedy, drama, tragedy and musical selections.

Two groups of films are being offered and the number of registrants will determine which group will be offered.

Persons buying season tickets to the festival will see Charlie Chaplin, Laurel and Hardy, Ben Turpin and others in "When Comedy Was King." The Marx Brothers and Lucille Ball are in "Room Service" and Miss Ball appears with Red Skelton in "DuBarry Was A Lady." "O. Henry's Full House" with Charles Laughton, Marilyn Monroe and Fred Allen round out the offerings.

On the musical side are "Down Memory Lane" with Bing Crosby and W. C. Fields and "The Chocolate Soldier" has Nelson Eddy and Rise Stevens. Drama and tragedy selections are "MacBeth," starring Orson

Wells and Jeanette Nolan. "Fountainhead," with Gary Cooper and Patricia Neal. "Grapes of Wrath," Henry Fonda and Jane Darwell; and "Viva Zapata," with Marlon Brando and Jean Peters.

A shorter list which does not include "MacBeth," "Fountainhead," "Viva Zapata" and "DuBarry Was A Lady" is offered as an alternate.

Season tickets for the films will be either $2 or $1, depending on which group is chosen. There must be at least 50 adults registered for the longer list and 30 adults registered for the alternate.

Showings will begin at 7:30 p.m. each Monday at the Y and children under 14 will be admitted free if accompanied by a parent holding a season ticket.

Tickets may be purchased at the YMCA.

Registration Begins On Camp, Trek

A day camp and a wilderness trip are in store for YMCA members and other boys who wish to take advantage of these parts of the Y summer program.

The day camp will be held at the old Kiowa and Comanche Indian Camp grounds, near the big spring in the northeast corner of the City Park. Campers will meet at the Y at 8 a.m. and go by bus to the park, but from then on it will be a day full of living in the Indian tradition. Boys will participate in crafts, swimming and numerous other sports and activities.

Camp dates are June 12-23 for 1-3 grade boys and July 10-21 for 4-6 graders. Cost is $10 for Y members and $14 for others. The fee includes noonday dessert and milk, insurance, craft supplies and daily swimming.

For reservations, call or stop by the Y. The number attending will be limited and parents are urged to register youngsters early.

Going on the wilderness trip will be boys in grades 7-12. They will live in the outdoors, swim, go sightseeing, see dramatic landscapes and participate in other activities during the five-day tour.

The trip will begin June 26 and is scheduled to include Carlsbad Caverns, Balmorhea State Park and pool, historic old Fort Davis, McDonald Observatory, the Davis Mountains and the Big Bend National Park.

The travelers will return June 30.

Here too, the number is limited and reservation should be made early, according to Joe Leach, acting general secretary. The cost of the trip will be $25.
