More Riders Land In Jail In Jackson

By The Associated Press
 Seven more "Freedom Riders" quickly landed in jail at Jackson, Miss., today after a new attack on Mississippi's segregation laws.

County Okays Revised Plans For Airport

Revised plans for improvements at the Howard County Airport have been approved by the Howard County Commissioners Court and will be dispatched to the Federal Aviation Agency in Fort Worth.

Louis Jean Thompson, engineer, explained the plans to the court on Monday and said they appeared to comply with the specifications set up by the FAA.

The improvements will cost slightly more than $30,000 of which $15,275 will be provided by the FAA. The county will match the funds dollar for dollar.

The allocation of federal funds for the project was announced on March 12. First plans prepared were found to cost more than the funds available.

Work to be done includes the paving of an island in aircraft parking apron and the construction of warmup pads at the ends of the north-south runway. The project also calls for removing and adjusting taxiway lights.

White Man Claims Beating

TRINITY, N.C. (AP)—Robert Parris, 20, employe of a grill, who had been missing all night after a race riot, walked into his home today. He had welts on his back and arms from what he said was a beating by Negroes wielding leather belts.

Parris told officers he had fled from a fight Monday night involving about 40 Negroes and a dozen whites and hid under a house. He said he lost consciousness and did not revive until daylight.

Monday morning, Parris said, three Negro youths came into the grill, got drinks and started out. A group of white youths said something to the Negroes.

John McPherson, owner of the grill, told the Negroes to leave before trouble started and as they were leaving, Parris said, one told him: "I'll be seeing you tonight."

An intensive search for Parris had been made after the fight. There were no arrests. Trinity is a community of about 1,000 persons with whites outnumbering Negroes. It is in central North Carolina.

Finch Moves To San Quentin

CHINO, Calif. (AP)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 43, serving a life sentence for the 1959 slaying of his socialite wife, is being transferred today to San Quentin prison.

His paramour, Carole Tregoff, 24, convicted with him, is serving a similar sentence.

to jail 65 earlier riders. Authorities maintained the breach of peace charge has nothing to do with segregation, but the Mississippi Legislature approved the statute last year with an anti-integration label.

Today's group came by bus from New Orleans, La. Their arrival was uneventful, except for their speedy arrest. The first fly-in to test barriers was expected later. The integrationists were scheduled to leave St. Louis, Mo., for Jackson via a regularly-scheduled Delta Airlines flight.

Plans were announced for students from a half-dozen cities to leave Louisville, Ky., early next week for Freedom Rides to several southern cities.

Thirteen more riders were convicted in Jackson Monday raising the total to 65 since the first wave arrived May 24. None has been charged with violating segregation laws. All were fined $200 and given 60-day suspended sentences on breach of peace charges. The maximum penalty on that charge is a $200 fine and four months in jail.

City Attorney Jack Travis said he would demand penalties for future riders and added that other charges might be filed against them.

The city and state have done all they can to uphold the laws since these so-called riders have come to Mississippi," Travis said. "It appears that a conspiracy, plan or plot exists to completely break down the laws of the state."

Most riders have elected to stay in jail to work out their fines at $2 a day. Some have started hunger strikes emphasizing their protests over segregation.

Three Cornell University students, all white, broke their hunger strike Monday night. The three, Charles A. Haynie, 25, Douglass, Queens, N.Y.; Paul Green, 22, New York City; and Joe H. Griffith, 26, Corpus Christi, Tex., had fasted since May 31. Their decision to resume eating left five white and three Negro prisoners still refusing food.

One of the 13 convicted Monday was the Rev. Richard Gleason, 24, a white Baptist minister from the Bible Mission in Chicago. He announced he had broken connections with the Freedom Riders because they included atheists, persons with police records and some who talked of Communism.

Mr. Gleason said he joined a Freedom Ride because he felt it would do good in desegregation, but added:

"I advise anyone thinking of joining the rides to look them over carefully. I had expected high-type people. I am disappointed with their caliber. I will not knowingly associate with any questionable group."

Cotton Meet Set Tonight

Cotton producers in this area are urged to attend a meeting set for 8 p.m. today at the Big Spring High School auditorium.

D. P. Bigony, county chairman for the Cotton Producers Institute, said that the program was designed to explain a plan whereby producers could be instrumental in boosting the cotton market at a profit.

Through proper promotion, research and other proven means, he estimated that the national cotton market could be increased 25 per cent within the next seven or eight years. The initiative, however, rests with the producers—those who have the most to gain, he said.

There will be a 40-minute slide presentation to explain the plan laid out by the Cotton Producers Institute, and then speakers will detail other phases of the program. Immediate opportunities in research and promotion will be outlined.

Anyone interested in cotton production is welcome, and producers are especially urged to take part, said Bigony.

108 Enroll At HCJC

The first day of registration Monday brought 108 students to the first six weeks of the summer session at Howard County Junior College.

In addition, some two score are expected to register from Webb. Meantime, registration will continue through this week, although classes began Tuesday morning. Officials urged students to register and begin classwork as promptly as possible.

The ratio of new students and those who have previously taken work at HCJC was about even, said B. M. Keese, and so was the ratio between the transfers and beginning freshmen among the new students.

Breaks Back

Dee Ann McCauley, 20, of Houston, lies in a Brenham hospital after she stepped out of a window and fell 20 feet, breaking her back. Miss McCauley, a Baylor University junior, had been selected as Miss Waco and was to compete in the Miss Texas contest at Lake Whitney. Combing her hair is her mother, Mrs. Dan McCauley.

Court Upholds Anti-Red Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dividing 5 to 4 in two historic decisions, the Supreme Court has upheld two of the government's major weapons against Communist party activity in the United States.

The decisions backed the tightest U.S. restrictions ever aimed at a group which purports to be a political organization.

The court Monday upheld:

1. A clause in the Smith Act which makes it a crime for a person to belong to any organization knowing that it advocates violent overthrow of the government.

2. A requirement that the Communist party register with the U.S. attorney general as a puppet of the Kremlin. This requirement is a part of the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act.

The Justice Department declined comment on the rulings. Gus Hall, U.S. Communist party general secretary, said in New York the decisions endanger "the very foundation and fabric of Democracy in our country." The party vowed to fight the decisions, but didn't say how.

Writing the majority opinion upholding the government efforts to force the Communist party to register as an arm of the Soviet Union, Justice Felix Frankfurter swept aside the party's arguments that its rights under the First Amendment of the Constitution were being violated.

If the high court agreed, Frankfurter said in his 39,000-word opinion, it would "make a travesty of that amendment and the great ends for the well-being of our democracy that it serves."

The First Amendment guarantees freedom of speech and the right of peaceful assembly.

Justice John M. Harlan wrote the majority opinion in the court's approval of the "knowing membership" clause of the 1940 Smith Act. He pointed out the court held the membership "must be active, and not nominal, passive or theoretical."

The ruling specifically dealt with Junius Irving Scales, a former chairman of the Communist party's district in the Carolinas. He has said he is no longer a member of the party.

In The Grocery Business

Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare officer, displays part of a two weeks' allotment of food to be made to indigent Howard Countyans under the new surplus commodity distribution program. Back of Mrs. Phillips is part of the 23,000 pound shipment of foods assigned to this county. The food distribution program opens on Wednesday. The food allotment for a family of four would include the items shown, plus butter and rice.

Kennedy Returns, Plans TV Report

Big Spring Included In Storm-Warning Area

By The Associated Press

The Weather Bureau issued a new tornado forecast Tuesday in the wake of vicious storms which battered wide areas of weather-plagued Texas Monday night and early Tuesday.

The bad overnight weather spawned multiple tornadoes, torrential rains, crop-destroying hail and winds up to 90 miles an hour.

Floodwater wiped out or seriously damaged 45 days of work on the Hubbard Creek dam eight miles northwest of Breckenridge. The multi-million dollar dam is to provide water for Abilene, Breckenridge, Albany and Anson.

The tornado forecast was for parts of the Texas Panhandle, South Plains and eastern New Mexico.

INCLUDED

The area stretches between Roswell, N.M., and Abilene, and 60 miles on each side of that line. Cities in the warned area included Abilene, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Stamford, Colorado City, Snyder, Lamesa, Lubbock, Brown-

Rains Help Area Crops

If Sunday night's rains caused damage to crops in the county, whatever damage caused was offset by the benefit provided, Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said.

He pointed out that the heaviest rains fell in that part of the county where the least moisture had been received earlier in the spring.

This area, he added, was in bad need of rain and that the deluge which struck on Sunday night was highly beneficial.

Some washing of crops was reported in the Vincent area where the heaviest rains of the storm fell. However, the washing was not too extensive and farmers in general were not too unhappy over the development.

Stockpounds in the area, which had begun to need replenishing, benefited greatly from the rain.

Mahon, Rogers Urge Okay Of Canadian River Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Texas congressmen have urged approval of a $4.2 million appropriation of the Canadian River reclamation project in Texas.

Reps. George Mahon of Colorado City and Walter Rogers of Pampa appeared Monday before the House Appropriations Committee.

They said the amount was requested by the Bureau of Reclamation and would enable the agency to start construction of the project. Its estimated total cost would be $68 million.

Water users, the two said, would repay the government about $92 million of the cost.

field, Levelland, Plainview and Littlefield.

The forecast calls for scattered severe thundershowers with large hail, damaging winds and isolated tornadoes.

The Hubbard dam site went under 20 to 25 feet of water from Big Sandy and Hubbard Creeks. The floods created a lake three quarters of a mile wide and the water continued to rise and spread.

Tom McClintock, assistant to Lamar Acker Jr., resident engineer of the dam, said he could not provide any immediate estimate of dollar damage.

LINE REPAIRED

Workmen meanwhile rushed completion of repairs to the Texas and Pacific main line, damaged by flash floods Sunday night and early Monday around Abilene.

Twisters and violent thundershowers roamed from the northwest tip of the Texas Panhandle deep into Central Texas where Waco was hard hit.

The thundershowers continued to pound away at northern Texas during the night instead of abating as they have been doing recently.

One line of thundershowers moved southeastward through the Fort Worth-Dallas area before dawn.

There were no injuries, possibly because many residents where tornadoes often hover are accustomed to taking to their storm cellars.

A severe electrical storm struck Pampa in the Panhandle at 2 a.m. Marble-sized hail covered the ground. About 3.5 inches of rain fell, while up to 4 inches fell in the vicinity. The storm lasted a little more than an hour.

DALLAS READING

Dallas had 1.38 inches of rain, while Fort Worth reported .58 inch.

Other rainfall included Amarillo 1.18, Wichita Falls .12, West 1.18, Mineral Wells .54, Perrin AFB .54, Childress .11, Wink .11, Aquilla in the Waco area 2.80, Crandall .19, Denison 1.71, Decatur 1.54 and Burleson .54.

Winds up to 90 m.p.h. raked Amarillo, in West Texas as one of several lines of thundershowers marched across the area to the southeast. Three inches of rain fell in 40 minutes.

Electric power and telephone service were disrupted as the wind tore half the roof off a gas station and toppled three power poles on the southwest edge of Stamford.

The storm gnashed windows in numerous homes and felled trees. The wild weather started developing late Monday afternoon and battered the Central Texas area around Waco where damage was heavy.

HAIL WIND

Hail stones up to ¾ inch thick whitened the ground. Winds up to 80 m.p.h. wrecked two small planes at the Waco municipal airport. Water rose a foot deep, temporarily stalling hundreds of cars, as up to 3 inches of rain fell in 1½ hours.

A twister uprooted trees at Lorena, south of Waco. High winds blew down a vacant house at Rosenthal, 13 miles southeast of Waco.

Then twisters turned their fury on the upper Texas Panhandle and the rich farming areas of the South Plains east of Lubbock.

One giant tornado funnel, followed by two smaller ones, swung in a wide circle across the southwest tip of the Oklahoma Panhandle. Then it dipped low and formed three more funnels in spinning over the Texas Panhandle 10 miles west of Kerrick.

Motorists reported the six tornadoes spun across U.S. 386 in front of them and broke up before reaching Dalhart. Heavy hail in the wake of the tornadoes broke windshields around Dalhart.

RADIO KNOCKED OUT

Lightning knocked out the sheriff's radio transmitter during a severe electrical storm at Amarillo where .73 of an inch of rain fell.

At least four tornadoes dropped down from a giant black cloud that hung threateningly over the area east of Lubbock for hours.

Two twisters moved across farms about 35 miles east of Lubbock, between Calgary and Crosbyton. Another hit near Cone, a rural community 30 miles northeast of Lubbock. A fourth touched ground 15 miles east of Spur, which is 60 miles east of Lubbock.

Rain ranged from a trace in east Lubbock up to 3 inches in rural areas to the east.

Hail smashed the windows of farm homes.

Near-cloudbursts and hail inflicted heavy crop losses.

Hail the size of golf balls and a 3-inch diameter hail destroyed wheat ready for harvest and young cotton plants around Crosbyton.

Near the south edge of Floyd County, northeast of Lubbock, a 5-inch deluge wiped out wheat, barley and cotton.

Wind tore a porch off the home of Mrs. E. W. Basinger and broke its windows at Southland, 14 miles southeast of Lubbock.

Lake Gains More Water

Lake Colorado City had gained one foot and three inches in water as result of heavy rains on Sunday night, the Texas Electric Service Co. reported Tuesday morning.

Water was still running into the lake and there was promise that at least two feet might be added to the lake level.

The lake elevation was 2,059 feet before the rains. Now it stands at 2,060.20. Gain up to noon Monday had been only three inches but the heavy flow into the reservoir had not at that time reached its peak. The estimated increase was about 6,000 acre feet or 200 million gallons.

President Ends Trip To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy returned to America this morning after a "very fine trip" to see leaders in Europe. He will make a report to the nation tonight.

Kennedy arrived at Andrews Air Force Base at 9:33 a.m. after a week during which he saw Soviet Premier Khrushchev, French President Charles de Gaulle and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The President stepped from his jet plane to a small but warm welcome at the airport. Congressional leaders of both parties, diplomats and administration officials greeted the returning chief.

Kennedy walked down the receiving line and shook hands with each of the approximately 70 people in it.

Then, in a show of bipartisanism, he took both Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, and Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to his waiting helicopter to ride with him to the White House, 15 miles away.

At the executive mansion, Kennedy planned to work during the day on the speech he will broadcast at 6 p.m. Eastern Standard Time tonight. It will be carried by all major television and radio networks.

Kennedy, who seemed relatively buoyant despite the ardors of his trip, made no speech at the airfield.

He told newsmen he had a "very fine, fine trip."

In tonight's talk, Kennedy is expected to deal largely in generalities in reporting his conversations with Khrushchev. But it seemed certain that he will reaffirm the West's determination to stand solidly against any new Communist thrusts in Berlin and other danger spots.

Special Meet Slated Today

The city commission will hold a special meeting tonight at 5:30 at the police building classroom. The meeting place is being changed in order to make room in the municipal building for the regular meeting of the planning and zoning commission which will have a long agenda.

The city group will have three items up for consideration. The first will be a request from the office of the city manager to be allowed to borrow, not exceeding the sum of $100,000 for the operation of the city during the summer months until tax money is available. The second item will be concerning personnel changes at the water filter plant.

Purchase of 1.09 acres of land from Dr. W. J. Lloyd for the site of the new 1.5 million-gallon elevated water storage tank on NE 12th street, north of the present tank, will be discussed. The new storage tank will be a part of the water improvement system proposed under the Master Plan bond issue. The land will be north of the new IS 20 which will follow NE 12th street and will be on a 300-foot right of way.

Liquor Board Figures Given

AUSTIN (AP)—The Liquor Control Board collected $2,819,960 in taxes, fees, confiscated liquor sales and other sources during April.

Eight stills were seized. Two were found in Harrison and Montgomery counties and one each in Bowie, Freestone, Red River and Titus counties.

TEXAS IN THE CIVIL WAR

The Texas Associated Press some time ago assigned to one of its veteran editors, a native of Texas, the task of writing a series of stories commemorating the Civil War Centennial.

Clayton Hickerson has turned up a series of eight articles, detailed, comprehensive and colorful, of Texas in the Civil War. Titles of the articles and the dates on which they will be released for publication:

1. Yankee go home, on page 2 of today's Herald.
2. The Magnificent Barbarian (Sam Houston), June 7.
3. Journey of Death, June 8.
4. Valverde and Golieta Pass, June 9.
5. The Battles for Galveston, June 13.
6. The Battle of Sabine Pass, June 14.
7. The Battle of Mansfield, June 15.
8. The Texas Confederate, June 16.

Each article is handsomely illustrated by Dmitri Vall, eminent Southwestern portrait artist of Dallas.

Teachers, libraries and patriotic organizations will be interested in this series. Hickerson has made of the stories a factual narrative that you will want to preserve.

Jackie Stays In London To Visit Sister

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy stayed behind today while her husband flew home to report to the American people on his European tour.

Mrs. Kennedy remained in London to visit her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, and will fly to Greece Wednesday for some rest and sightseeing and a short cruise to islands in the Aegean Sea.

America's beautiful young First Lady has captivated London just as she did Paris and Vienna.

In her last official appearance at Buckingham Palace Monday night she displayed still another new hairdo that drew a chorus of "ohs" and "ahhs" from spectators outside. Her black hair was lifted high in front, nestled in slight waves across her ears and tucked into a swept-up bun enhanced with diamond clips and diamond-drop earrings.

Queen Elizabeth II gave what was described as a "good old English dinner" for the President and his wife under soft lighting in the palace's state dining room.

Mrs. Kennedy wore an American-made sleeveless gown of pale blue silk with a V-neck at the back, bow at the waist and loosely gathered bell skirt.

The queen wore a full-length gown of larkspur-blue silk tulle with a fitted bodice and full skirt.

Kennedy was the first U.S. President to dine at the palace since Woodrow Wilson in 1918.

"Jackie stole the show," said one member of the palace staff.

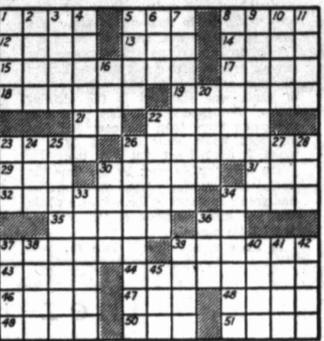

Several thousand Britons let go with cries of "Jackie" as the Kennedys left the palace.

Throughout Monday crowds watched outside the four-story Georgian town house of the Radziwills, where the President and his wife were staying. They cheered every arrival and departure. Shouts of "we want Jack, we want Jackie" brought out the President, his wife and her sister Princess Radziwill, to pose and wave.

Assassins Held Family As Hostages

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A young doctor said four of those who plotted dictator Rafael Trujillo's assassination held him and his family hostage for four days until hunger drove them out of hiding.

Dr. Robert Reid Cabral said his home was commandeered by the four fugitives shortly after Trujillo was gunned down last Tuesday night.

Reid Cabral said he, his pregnant wife and their infant son were held hostages until Sunday. The family's ordeal ended when the fugitives, desperate for food and cigarettes, came out of hiding. Within two hours, two of the four had met death in a gun battle with police. The two others surrendered to authorities.

Leader of the group and alleged mastermind of the assassination was retired Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, 52.

Reid Cabral told this story after the Trujillo slaying, Diaz and his accomplices went to the office of another physician, Dr. Marcelino Velez, to get treatment for a bullet wound.

The men threatened Velez unless he found them a hiding place and he took them to Reid Cabral's home. When Reid Cabral opened the door, Diaz and Antonio de la Maza forced their way in with guns drawn. Later two other fugitives moved in.

Cabral said the fugitives tried to get him to relay word to a person identified only as "Wimpy" to tell Venezuelan President Raulo Betancourt that "the tyrant is dead."

Wimpy was to try to drum up support in Latin America for the Dominican Revolutionary Movement, the country's opposition party.

Reid Cabral refused to relay the information, despite threats to liquidate him and his family.

"Every day they said they would leave at night, but the hour never arrived," the doctor said. "They constantly asked me to find cigarettes and when I delayed, Diaz suffered a terrible attack of nerves."

"They asked me to find some potassium cyanide because they preferred to commit suicide rather than to be taken alive. I firmly refused."

Tension became so great, the four began to have violent arguments about what to do. One of the fugitives, Salvador Estrella fainted from hunger.

When they finally decided to leave the house, Dr. de la Maza gave Mrs. Reid Cabral his gold ring and a fountain pen to be delivered to his wife. Diaz left a diamond pin for his son.

Two hours after they came out into the open, police spotted Diaz and De la Maza in downtown Ciudad Trujillo. Diaz was machine-gunned to death and Maza died of wounds soon afterward in a military hospital.

The other two, Estrella and Luis Caceres Michel, gave themselves up voluntarily.

GARDEN TALK

Riches Await Developer Of A True Blue Rose

By BRUCE FRAZIER

"Roses are red, Violets are blue" . . . and at one time roses may have been blue, too. The blue rose has excited the imagination of gardeners for years and years, but so far as anyone can say, there is no one living who has ever seen a naturally blue rose. There are several that border on shades of blue, or purple but no really blue rose.

There is a great deal of doubt that any really sky-blue rose ever did exist, but in spite of this general doubt there are several references to such a flower. Parsons' "ON THE ROSE," mentions in 1869 that the Moors in Spain had such a rose in their gardens.

M. Hardy, chief director of the Luxembourg gardens published a book in 1823 called "Journal des Jardins" in which he mentioned the blue roses of the Moors in Spain. It seems that all the references to the blue rose refer to some writings of one called Abu-el-Jair. In his translated writings he states, " . . . there are roses of many colors—carnation white, fallow or yellow, lapis-lazuli, or sky-blue. Some are of this last color on the outside, and yellow within. In the East they are acquainted with roses which are variegated with yellow and sky-blue, the inside of the corolla being of one color, and the outside the other. The yellow-heart is very common in Tripoli and Syria, and the blue-heart is found on the coast of Alexandria."

With these references to a blue rose, the imagination of some rose fanciers is excited to hope and dream that such a flower may again appear in gardens. There are several possible explanations for this. The writers could be mistaken.

There is a possibility that some soil or feeding method would cause the blue color to develop. It is a strange thing that the red-bush grapefruit will develop a pink blush entirely through the skin of the fruit in Texas, but the same plants moved to Florida fail to get this degree of color. Perhaps the soil is responsible.

Then there is the possibility that there really was a blue rose. If there once was, there must still be the gene of heredity somewhere in some plant that would some day reveal another spectacular blue and yellow rose. Such a flower would be in great demand, and the return to the discoverer could be great wealth. It is a prize worth working for if you happen to be an avid gardener or plant breeder. Still the prize may be as illusive as Coronado's fabled seven cities of Cibola that remain forever hidden, but still alive in the minds of men who search.

If you have a garden question, write in care of the Herald.

McKay Wins Paternity Suit

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A jury says actor Gardner McKay, star of television's "Adventures in Paradise" series, is not the father of cocktail waitress Patrice Frantz' 18-month-old daughter.

The 10-2 decision was voted by the 11-woman, 1-man jury after less than two hours' deliberation Monday.

Mrs. Frantz, 23, alleged in the paternity suit that McKay, 27, fathered her daughter Gabrielle. Her lawyer said he plans to seek a new trial.

During the trial McKay admitted an intimacy with Mrs. Frantz in January 1959 but said he was not intimate with her within nine months of the baby's birth.

U.A.R. Lashes Red Propaganda

CAIRO (AP)—The Middle East News Agency Monday attacked Moscow's propaganda organs for the second consecutive day.

Quoting informed United Arab Republic sources, the agency denied what it termed the reports propagated by Moscow radio, Pravda and Trud in an anti-U.A.R. campaign.

The agency defended U.A.R. measures barring Communists from political activities. It charged Communist parties in the Arab world with being "agents getting orders from outside their own country."

Crisis To Crisis

The world is full of crises, and they seem to pop faster than possible solutions can be found. It was Laos, Cuba, and the life of the Venezuelan president. Most countries in the hemisphere have broken off diplomatic relations. The U.S. put on an economic squeeze through pinched exports of oil and trucks to the Dominican Republic and by cutting out imports of sugar. Other neighbors have applied other pressures, so much so that Trujillo was getting into increasing domestic trouble prior to his death. One evidence was his announcement a week ago that free elections would be held in the country within a year. His son and successor, Rafael Trujillo Jr. has reaffirmed this promise.

In the light of past performances and in the light of a probable continuance under fostered, promises coming out of the Dominican Republic will require a lot of solid proof. About all we know for sure now is that all men are mortal, even a Trujillo, and that dictators err if they think they are universally loved. Such an assumption is sometimes a fatal mistake.

The Other Talks

At this stage, the talks between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev seemed to have been up to expectations—that is nothing dramatic was expected, and nothing dramatic happened.
The parley appears to have been basically exploratory, in the field of international diplomacy, politics, and power, the exchange seems to have been somewhat akin to boxers coming out in the first round. The two leaders each have expressed a desire to talk frankly, face-to-face, as a means of doing some personal sizing-up. What will come of the impressions gained only time will reveal.
One immediate test may be in efforts to implement the cease-fire in Laos and move toward some effective plan of reducing this to something of a buffer state. High pronouncements from both sides allude to establishment of an independent and neutral Laotian government chosen by the people themselves. Ostensibly this has been the objective all along, but one prostituted by the Communist infiltration and invasion.

It is not improbable that the most significant results of the President's trip will be the conferences with Gen. De Gaulle in Paris and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in London. Possibilities here are a more unified position in relation to the pledge to maintain West Berlin as an island of freedom behind the Iron Curtain and also in opening a crack for Britain to get its foot in the door of the common European markets.

David Lawrence No Final Resolution In Vienna

VIENNA—It was altogether fitting that the meeting of the two K's should have been held in this charming capital that has forsaken its imperial past and is today the model most often cited of what neutrality in the cold war can mean.
But Austria, as even Premier Khrushchev should understand, is in many ways unique. The Austrians got out of the big-power game at the end of World War I when the Austro-Hungarian empire was shattered and not since that time have they been under compulsion to try to play the game.
BUT AT THE SAME time the Austrians have continued to be a politically conscious people very much aware of the tides of change all around them. The curious mixture of Socialism and Catholicism, grounded in basic common sense and a maturity with sophisticated and even cynical overtones, they have achieved a remarkable degree of independence.
But to suggest that Austria can serve as a model for other countries—Laos, for example—is to imply that you can create Austrians, with their sophisticated mixture of political understanding, anywhere and everywhere by the fiat of neutrality. This surely President Kennedy must understand, for it is at the heart of his dilemma as he confronts the master of the Communist world.

independent nations of Africa will be held in line by a threat of armed force.
WAS IT THEN a mistake in judgment to promote this encounter? In the view of those Americans most familiar with the Kremlin it is a useful and indeed an essential confrontation.
As long ago as last February Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson was encouraging the President to find an appropriate time and place for such a meeting. As Thompson has several times pointed out, Khrushchev's judgments, leaving Communist dogma to one side, have a large element of the intuitive and personal in them. Sooner or later he would have to meet the President face to face, and after the break with the Eisenhower Administration over the U-2 the initiative would have to come from Washington.
FORTUNATELY, there are few, if any, illusions about this encounter. Anything tangible that may come of it, and that is not entirely excluded, will come to light not here but in Geneva or in one of the capitals where the Soviet position has seemed more and more immovable.
The President tried to impress on Khrushchev the areas where the danger of open conflict is greatest. One of these is Laos where the Soviets, as co-chairmen of the International Control Commission, are stubbornly resisting efforts to enforce a cease-fire with really effective inspection.
HERE KHRUSHCHEV may have shown some yielding and it could come to light in a shift in attitude in the limping and all but broken down conference on Laos in Geneva. An effective enforcement of the cease-fire by the control commission would at least give the Geneva conference a chance to start talking about the long-term future of Laos as the kind of independent and neutral state that both sides profess to want.
But on Berlin there can be no give, since Moscow must sustain the regime of the East German Communists and the United States is irrevocably committed to the support of Chancellor Adenauer in a stand that Adenauer believes is imperative if Germany is to be a resolute working partner with the West. That illustrates the striking difference between Austria and Germany, and shows why Austria could become a neutral nation.

NATIONS SUCH as Laos and Viet Nam cannot be held by force of Western arms. The tactics of the cold war as developed under the Eisenhower-Dulles approach of the past eight years are unworkable. Too often in recent years the United States has seemed to be backing the past and trying to stop all change while Communism has allied itself with the fermenting nationalism at work outside the West.
Leaders of the liberal non-Communist left in Europe have become increasingly aware of this since the Cuban fiasco. They wanted to believe in Kennedy and the new administration. But now they see the President forced back to the language and the tactics of the cold war which cannot halt the erosion of the Western position among uncommitted peoples.

THE PRESIDENT could have said to Khrushchev, "Surely you must know that if you persist in your determination to impose Communism everywhere I shall be compelled to seek new and more powerful armaments and use force wherever it is required." But Khrushchev is convinced, as he has made clear several times lately and notably in the Walter Lippmann interview, that the cold war cannot be won by piling up more nuclear armaments. Neither Iran or Viet Nam nor the newly

Early Success

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP)—Success arrived early for Fred Cutlip in the teaching profession.
Five years ago, at 19, he was the youngest grade school principal in the United States at Lawdale School in Lincoln.
Next year he will be a full-fledged professor on the faculty of Northern Michigan College at Marquette in the mathematics department.
He now is studying towards his master's degree at the University of Illinois on a National Science Foundation fellowship.

James Marlow Kennedy's In Good Shape For TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—As President Kennedy's White House term lengthened, this question repeatedly was being asked around Washington: When is he going to make his first nationwide TV talk?
He already had used three of the four main ways open to a president for getting his ideas across to the people: televised news conferences, messages to Congress and television speeches at special events.
It was assumed that Kennedy, acutely aware of a president's need for broad public support, would make a TV broadcast sooner or later.

IT ALSO WAS assumed that, because Kennedy is an extremely shrewd political tactician, he would make the broadcast when he was in the best position for it.
He's in a very good position for it tonight, perhaps better than at any time since he became president.
He'll be fresh back from his meetings with President Charles de Gaulle, Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The country is still interested enough to want to know what good, if any, came from the conferences.

So, while attempting to answer this, Kennedy also can get his own foreign policy ideas across on the big issues.
He can do this now without being on the defensive—as he would have been, for instance, if he took to TV to explain his advance approval of the disastrous Cuban invasion—or without irritating any particular part of the American society.

Hal Boyle An Ugly Duckling No More

NEW YORK (AP)—Sophia Loren has a two-word recipe for avoiding nervous tension: "Please yourself."
The onetime waif of Naples in less than a decade worked her way up from modeling to become one of the world's busiest as well as most beautiful actresses.
Sophia took me to lunch the other day during a break in the task of dubbing in English dialogue for her 30th film.
"I have the philosophy of a peasant," she said. "Take it easy—everything is going to be all right."
Lunching with Miss Loren is more of a treat than going to see her in a movie.
Sophia shows up in an ink sheath dress. Her enormous green eyes, flecked with gold, gave her a strange look—as if she were half-panther, half-gazelle.
Gazing out a 48th floor window at all the new buildings rising in mid-Manhattan she exclaimed: "It must get tired—holding up so many, many tall buildings. Aren't you afraid some day it will all sink?"
Waiters fluttered up, cooing solicitously in several languages. "I love to eat," said Sophia. "It's my only pleasure while working. I like any food that is spicy and full of sauce."
Chattering charmingly, she went from an aperitif through a small plate of sевич tongue and ham, a dish of kidney stew, potatoes and vegetables, two glasses of red wine, two bread rolls, then topped with a big slice of cake topped with whipped cream.

She is a tall girl with a lot of lovely body to fuel, and so far she doesn't have to worry about gaining weight. It's a real pleasure to eat with a woman like that—particularly if you go as a guest.
"There are some people who add up their calories as they eat," she murmured. "I prefer to add up the number of dishes."
Sophia doesn't feel that success has changed her much since the childhood days when she felt herself to be a thin and gawky ugly duckling. She is poised, friendly, and completely self-possessed.
"I'm very strong. I have always tried to keep myself as naive and innocent as possible," she said.
"But I like to work hard, and don't believe in drifting. I never liked to be taken by the routine of life—or to become tense and nervous."
"It is a hard thing to do, but I try to look at things in a relaxed way."
"I think you get tense only by doing things you don't really want to do. So I please myself. I do only the things that please and interest me. Why not? When I get tired, I'll stop."

To Your Good Health Room Temperature OK For Babies' Feeding

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Feeding infants cold milk in their bottles and cold baby food from the jars seems to be a common practice with some of the young mothers. Is this a new theory of some kind? What do you think of this practice? Wouldn't warm food be better for the babies?"—W.F.G.
This is a question that I have touched on briefly before.
The idea of cold milk or food for babies is a relatively new concept. I decline to call it a theory, because experience has shown it to be satisfactory.
The milk—or baby food from a jar—need not be really cold. It can be at room temperature. But babies seem to like it that way.
We have found no reason to suspect that it harms them, nor that it bothers them at all.
Undoubtedly a warmed bottle helps a baby relax if he's a bit fussy. But on the other hand, I don't think that warming the bottle has to be such a ritual as it has in many cases in the past.
Shaking a few drops onto the back of your hand to test the temperature remains a good precaution after a bottle has been warmed. If it is too warm, baby won't like it.
I don't think that an icy bottle, fresh from the refrigerator, is likely to be a special treat for a baby. There may be some who develop a taste for cold things, but I have my doubts. Let 'em wait until they reach the "early ice cream age" of childhood!

I do say that there is no evidence that serving baby food at ordinary room temperature is either distasteful nor harmful.
Nor—emphatically—do I think that serving cold or room-temperature food should be done purely for the convenience of a mother or nursemaid.
If it is obvious that a baby prefers his food warm—or at room temperature—or somewhere between, give it to him the way he likes it.

a sodium salt added. This is usually listed on the bottle.
"Dear Dr. Molner: What about a rupture in a 4-year-old boy? It is a small swelling at the groin. The doctors say it will get larger and should be operated on now. They don't recommend a truss. How successful are those operations for a rupture?"—M.L.
Years ago trusses were recommended because surgery of any sort was much less effective than it is today. We now have better techniques, antibiotics, trussings if required, and a lot of other aids. What was once a perilous undertaking is now just a routine operation. Ruptures don't get better by themselves; they get worse. A truss is a prop rather than a cure, so by all means have the little boy's trouble permanently corrected by surgery.

Of course you get some food which occurs naturally in food, and you can't help that. In fact, one needs at least a trace of salt. But for a salt free diet, don't use any table salt, either at the table or in cooking. Common salt is sodium chloride—and the sodium in it holds moisture in the body tissues. For some conditions, this is harmful. Avoid prepared foods which have salt added: Salt meats, pickles, fish, chili, relishes. Milk is high in sodium. Low salt milk, powdered or canned, is available. Many soft drinks have

Around The Rim He Won't Do His Vest

Used to be when you bought a suit it comprised three pieces—coat, pants and vest.
The vest has disappeared.
To my way of thinking it's no great loss. I never owned a vest in my life which fitted me or felt comfortable. Because I was a timid soul and wanted to conform with my fellows, I wore the things, even though I despised them. The weather was no colder then than now; there was no more real need for this extra garment to keep you comfy than exists today.
If the vest had any value at all, it was for the additional pockets that it provided. Most vests had four pockets, occasionally only two. The pockets, were smaller than those in the coat and pants but sometimes they were real handy.
I DOUBT if you could buy a suit with a matching vest today. About the only way would be to find an old tailor and have him make you an outfit complete.
Used to be, too, no ordinary guy like myself ever bought a suit without buying an extra pair of pants. Suit with two pair of pants was standard in the clothing stores. The theory was that you wore the pants more than the coat and that one coat would wear out two pairs of pants. It worked out that way, too.
The only trouble was, by the time the pants were trampled beyond wearing, you had grown so weary of the suit as a whole that the good condition of the coat offered little appeal.
In more recent times, since the vest and the tendency to buy two pair of pants disappeared. If you wanted a second pair, you bought a contrasting pair of slacks and thereby sought to fool folk into thinking you had an extra suit.

TODAY, I SAW a big ad in a metropolitan newspaper.
It offered a special buy in mens suits—men's suits with two pair of pants, yet! Surely this development reflects some trend. I'm not sure just what the trend is. We used to buy suits with an extra pair of pants under the impression we were saving money. I don't think we were saving any money but we had to have some reason. In more recent years, saving money has not been important. Indeed, what with taxes and inflation, it has not even been possible.
Now we may be on our way back to something—to a day when the suit shopper will be buying two-pant suits again.
COULD IT BE we are even moving backward to a day when men will have to wear a vest or be regarded as eccentric? It used to be that way. If you refused to sweater with a vest on and showed up with just your coat, folk looked upon you as a showoff.
I knuckled in the old days. I bought suits with two pairs of pants. I wore a vest.
I'm through now. If they try to revive these things, count me out.
I just ain't gonna conform.
—SAM BLACKBURN.

Inez Robb How It Feels To Be In Spy Role

LONDON — Looking back upon the Paris-Vienna-London Presidential journey from a purely personal point of view, I realize that the highlight of the journey for me is the realization that there is a new type of highly suspect international Mail Hari abroad about whom security forces cannot be too careful.
THIS NEW TYPE is middle-aged at best, with mousy hair and no claim to beauty. She turns up at Versailles Palace on gala occasions, for instance, with all the proper credentials issued by her own government. But members of the French Surete are not fooled by this disguise, not for a split second, and before this new type international adventurist can get inside the place to shoot up the chandeliers or the Presidents Kennedy and De Gaulle, the French police are manhandling her.
Poor, unwitting woman. She cannot comprehend why she is being led off by the police or whether she is going to join the Algerian generals in their fortress. But she has enough sense not to argue lest an old, left-over rack is handy in the Versailles stables.
AND WHO IS this new type female spy? Why, me, of all people! When I presented myself at the Palace of Versailles on the gala night when President and Mrs. De Gaulle gave their great fête for President and Mrs. Kennedy, my three passes for the event, plus my passport, got me inside the gate.
But before I could get loose and do my damage, a French security officer fifty yards inside the gate stopped me and examined my credentials. One thing only is certain, at this point: either he didn't like them or me. Cinderella's stepmother, on the eve of the ball, could not have been more heartless—and even she didn't send for the police!

me in my true character as a cloak-and-dagger dame I shall never know. Perhaps the inspector was suspicious of the sanity of any woman who would try to hobble over the cobblestones of the Versailles courtyard in spike heels. (He has something there!)
Perhaps my red silk evening wrap gave me away for what I am, a minion of Moscow. Perhaps he was furious that my white evening dress, a Givenchy as was the First Lady's, was not original but a mere copy. Cherchez la femme, and I was it!
I MIGHT BE in that fortress at this minute if one of my colleagues had not dashed off to find the French chief of security while I was being held under guard as ransom for her return.
She returned, all right, and brought with her a tall, distinguished Frenchman, in evening dress, in charge of security at Versailles that night. He looked at my credentials and cried "Fough!" to mine enemies. Then he gave them a tongue-lashing that was a joy to hear. Next, he bowed from the waist and said, "Come with me, Madame."
MY POINT of vantage, as a member of the newspaper pool, was at the entrance to the Palace. After the official parties had swept in and my work was over, I approached my hero to thank him for his timely intervention.
Then, emboldened by his courtesy, I asked him if I might have a look at the great gardens and the fountains making a glory of the night. "But certainly," he said, and that is how this suspicious character was permitted to wander all over the gardens and bask in their beauty.
HOWEVER, I recommend a career as a suspicious international character to other middle-aged women only if they are certain that rescue is close at hand. Stone walls may not be a prison make, but in France they make a fine substitute.

Holmes Alexander Let's Have The Whole Truth

WASHINGTON—During the last week of May, the Soviet press (like the American press) had a field day with news stories and news photos about the race rioting in a couple of our Southern cities which involved, at most, a few hundred persons.
But during that same week the Soviet press (to an extent, like the American press) passed over a riotous scene in Warsaw when 100,000 Poles bottled insults and fired a barrage of bottles upon their guests of the day, the Soviet soccer team.
WITHOUT MAKING an extensive search, I cannot be certain that nothing of the Warsaw stadium roughhouse reached our newspapers—but the coverage, if any, was thin. It did not compare with the spreads given to the troubles in Montgomery, Birmingham and Jackson which involved not guests, but uninvited, unwelcome, law-breaking interlopers. My descriptions of the Warsaw uproar are taken from the Paris newspaper "Le Monde" whose correspondent, Jean Weitz, called it "a most extraordinary demonstration of chauvinism."
Weitz reported, in a suave understatement, that "it showed that some Poles have a very great hatred for the Russians."

to play up to standards. Whether by luck or diplomacy, the Poles won the match 1 to 0. On May 22, Pravda reported the game with no mention of the commotion, as follows:
"YESTERDAY in Warsaw was held a comradely match of the combined teams of the Soviet Union vs. the Polish People's Republic. The game came to an end with the Poles victorious, one to zero."
The contrast in coverage between these events in the American South and in the Warsaw stadium seems worth pointing out both in the interest of truth and policy.
We are right in reporting all noteworthy events, whether or not they please us—and the Russians are wrong in what they do. They are wrong because they offend truth and because the policy of selective, controlled, censored information will soon bankrupt any government of its credibility and good name.
BUT IT SEEMS to me that our news media, and especially our U. S. Information Agency outlets, are doing wrong if they permit the impression that race, religion and sectional pride are fighting matters mainly in our Southern States. These are not provincial peculiarities, for they are human and universal, occurring today in the Free World, the neutralist nations and the Communist bloc.
Happily, USIA Director Ed Murrow is gifted with no small share of intellectual insight and honesty, and he seems to be hekkled by a very persistent conscience. Murrow is struggling to find a formula which will permit him to show both the good and the bad in American life, and will also allow him to fire some shots for our side in the Cold War.

DURING THE FIRST half of the game, the Polish crowd contented itself with vigorous, unsportsmanlike jeers a la Bronx whenever a Soviet player missed a goal. But as the second half opened, the mighty crowd saluted its own nationals with a thunderous ovation, and howled with suspicion and prejudice at the visiting Russians. Before long the USSR forward, Comrade Krasnickie, gave the super-patriots something to yell about. While attempting to score, Krasnickie collided so hard with the Polish goalkeeper, Szymkowiak, that the latter had to be taken off the field by ambulance.

WELL, I SUBMIT that the makings of such a formula are available in the stories just cited. Since Murrow feels duty-bound to tell the world about riots in Alabama and Mississippi, he ought also to tell the world about the uproar in Warsaw. If he shows Anglo-Americans fighting in the streets with Afro-Americans, he ought to show that in Middle Europe, Polish Catholics don't like Russian atheists, and that the Slavic blood boils at the very sight of Muscovite manhood. Let us have the truth—but have it whole.

Another bride-elect took the spotlight Tuesday morning when Betty Boykin was honored at a coffee given in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Boykin, 101 Jefferson, the honoree is to be married to H. J. Johnson Jr., July 22, in the First Baptist Church. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Johnson of Shreveport, La. A gift of china was the presentation of the hostesses; Mrs. Joe Pickle, one of the group, greeted guests, along with Miss Boykin and her mother.

Two of the hostesses, Mrs. Loyd

Brannon and Mrs. John Davis, were at the coffee table, which was laid with white cutwork. An epergne arrangement of majestic daisies centered the table.

Estered daisies were given as corsages to Miss Boykin and her mother.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Horace Reagan, Mrs. J. D. Elliott, Mrs. John Coffee, Mrs. J. T. Anderson and Mrs. Eugene Turner. Assisting in the house party were friends of Miss Boykin, Gloria Coker, Marilyn and Linda Phillips, Sarah Kinsey, and Mrs. David Hodnett, sister of the honoree.

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

One of the most delightful evenings we have spent in some time was with IRA SCHANTZ when he showed a group of friends the beautiful color slides of his 1958 trip to Europe as a member of the All-American Choir. Mr. Schantz has recently completed the taping of a narration to accompany the showing, which adds much to the enjoyment of the pictures.

A 'Golden Way' For Frying Eggs

If you like your fried eggs golden in color, with whites that are just set, and soft yolks, use olive oil for the frying. Add a spoonful of olive oil to a cold skillet. Heat very slowly. When oil is warm drop in one or more eggs. Fry till desired degree of doneness, basting with the warm oil.

Lift eggs from the skillet with slotted spatula to allow oil to drain off. The eggs will be delicately soft yet cooked firm. Only salt and pepper seasonings are needed.

seem to be that long when one gets engrossed in the beauty of the old world architecture and artistry. The HCJC voice teacher has a real knack of getting shots of most outstanding parts of a statue, the unusual mosaics, the adornment of a building that the ordinary tourist wouldn't think of taking.

In the commentary he has included a great amount of information that has been gained through research since he returned. He made a second group of pictures on a trip in 1959 but has not had the time to write and record the script. He's not going to show the pictures until he gets the commentary taped. . . and if it is as good as the first try, we will probably have to wait for a while to see it, but when one gets an opportunity to see the most beautiful sights of Europe some of which are thousands of years old, what difference does a few years make?

Shrugs For Comfort

Attractive as well as giving protection from the sun are shrugs, which can be stitched up in a jiffy with large needles and coarse yarn. At left, while is a good contrast with a sustan, while a shrug of Roman stripes can be in pastels or in giddy shades.

Shrug Your Shoulders

The sun isn't fun all the time. Whether darling daughter goes near the water or not, she had best shrug off some of it, some of the time if she knows what's good for her complexion.

Since bathing suits do not cover as much of the subject as they could, the well dressed beach miss must cover the rest herself. The newest idea in a beach jacket, therefore, is a well-named shrug. A shrug reaches at least from elbow to elbow with sleeves wide enough to give the breeze a break. Taking a really close look, as a matter of fact, you find that the design is mostly one long sleeve with a neck hole in the middle. Happily, shrugs are as easily homegrown as a shawl, almost. Thanks to big needles and bulky yarns, the rows add up fast enough to finish one in time for the heat of the season.

A bright knitter can stitch up a variety of styles, improvising as she goes along. Giddy gaudy colors, the kookie kinds which require sun glasses to look at are cinches. But easier are feminine pastel hues which flatter tans. Knitting instructions are available through the National Hand Knitted Yarn Association, 15 E. 26th St., New York.

Pre-Trial Conference Called Great Saving To Taxpayers

DALLAS (AP) — Pre-trial conferences save taxpayers many thousands of dollars each year, federal court attorneys say.

U. S. District Clerk John Lawrence said 73 of the 233 cases handled by U. S. District Judge Joe E. Estes here last year were settled out of court as a direct result of pre-trial talks before the judge.

"This fact alone means thousands of dollars in savings to the federal government," he said. "The biggest item of expense is for juries. Thus settling of cases means a big saving."

Asst. U. S. Atty. W. E. Smith, who handles many cases in the Estes court, cited a recent example of a saving in a complicated suit involving two government contracts worth more than five million dollars.

"I had a file on that case which would have cost eight inches thick," Smith said. "Through pre-trial talks, the facts in the case and the amount in issue were stipulated, making possible the submission of the case to the judge on stipulations and briefs. That meant a saving of two weeks of courtroom time."

Smith said eight or 10 officials of the Public Housing authority might have been summoned as witnesses from Washington, had this not been made unnecessary by the pre-trial talks.

"The savings to the government from these pre-trials run into thousands of thousands of dollars," Smith said.

William Odeneal Jr., a lawyer in an anti-trust case before Judge Estes recently, praised the judge as a master, and one of the leading advocates, of the pre-trial conference.

"Judge Estes pared this case down from what would have been a 30-day trial in a state court to three days," Odeneal said. "He did this by insisting that the attorneys stipulate on facts that were not really in dispute, thereby narrowing the issues involved."

Logan Ford, the lawyer who opposed Odeneal in the case, agreed with his opponent about the value of the pre-trial. He said: "In addition to reducing the expense and actual time of a trial, these pre-trial conferences assist in the actual presentation of the case from the standpoint of the attorneys and the court, and clarify the issues."

Judge Estes writes in the State Bar Journal that scores of the civil cases he handles are settled, largely due to pre-trial conferences.

"No feather of pressure has ever been exerted on anyone to compromise a case," the judge writes. "Settlement is a mere incident of pre-trial conferences, resulting from a new view and reappraisal of the case or defense."

"Cases that do go to trial are disposed of in from one-third to one-half the time which would have been required had there been no pre-trial conference, and more importantly, the pre-trial conference prepares the trial judge and counsel for the just, speedy and inexpensive trial of the case on its merits, rather than a haphazard trial by surprise, maneuver and ambush."

Church-State Report Hits School Aid

DALLAS (AP) — A report on church-state relations, submitted to the executive board of the Texas Baptist Convention today, vigorously opposes all direct aid to church schools, colleges and other institutions.

The board at once began consideration of the report.

The report not only opposed direct aid to church institutions, but also attacked loans to colleges from federal or state funds.

The statement said "Baptists would immediately reject as unconstitutional any loan program for construction of houses of worship."

But the committee said it does not consider loans and grants to college students from government in violation of the church-state separation principle. It also said church schools should continue to cooperate with the government in research.

The report also said religious institutions should make certain that the price paid for land acquired under urban renewal is equal to raw land value.

But it approved use of government surplus property but said free mailing privileges by non-profit institutions is "a violation of the church-state principle."

Enrollment Under 100

Registration for the non-English speaking course being conducted at Bauer and Kate Morrison Elementary schools has dropped to below a hundred, according to Sam Anderson, assistant superintendent.

He said five youngsters who were registered did not show up for the first day of class, but that they may come in later in the week. A few persons are still calling up wanting to know when they can register, he continued.

There were 56 pupils present at Bauer and 36 at Kate Morrison for the first class Monday. Registration will continue during the week, Anderson said, but he advised parents to register their children promptly so they will not miss many classes.

Classes are held each day between 9 a. m. and noon. During the eight-week course, students will receive 120 hours of instruction in English if they attend all classes.

The course is designed for children who do not know the English language. It prepares them for entering school where it is necessary to know English in order to maintain progress.

Some 30 cases are to be presented to the jury with the Herring case last, according to District Attorney Dan Sullivan, Andrews.

Scurry Relic May Be Clue To Maximilian Treasure

SNYDER (AP) — L. E. Wood was a 6-year-old "twisting rabbits out of their holes" 40 years ago when he crawled into a cave on the edge of the mesa near his ranch home in eastern Scurry County.

Instead of a rabbit he found a double-barreled, muzzle-loading gun, a flintlock that had been converted to cap and ball.

Only recently, however, have experts noticed the gun's carvings

Town Hard Hit By Fire

AYER, Mass. (AP) — Troops today patrolled a blackened quarter-mile area to prevent looting and disperse the curious in the wake of a devastating fire which Monday night ruined six homes and two industrial plants, including the town's major industry.

More than 400 persons were thrown out of work with the loss of the Hartnett Tanning Co. and the International Purchasing Co., a rope-making firm.

Some 40 persons in 15 families were given temporary quarters at Ft. Devens, a big Army installation, when six multifamily homes were leveled.

Officials of the two industries and town authorities said after a recheck today fire loss would total about $4 million.

Heavy, acrid smoke felled 25 persons. Another 10 persons suffered minor injuries.

and engravings are the trademark of Nicholas Boutet, personal gunsmith to King Louis XVI of France and Napoleon Bonaparte.

Boutet was the most famous gunsmith of his day in France. Both Louis XVI and Napoleon commissioned him to make elaborately ornate guns for gifts to kings and other men they wished to honor. Many are to be found in museums in their original condition, never having been fired.

On the gun, Wood found a boar's head, complete to the last wiry hair, which stood out in bold relief on the under side of the stock. Its eyes were bright rubies. Mother of pearl and ivory inlay gleamed richly where the head of a tawny lion was carved in the casing of the ramrod. Each piece of metal was covered with delicate, elaborate engravings.

Wood, who now lives in Abilene, says he remembers removing the rubies "and carrying them around until I lost them."

The inlay is missing now and the barrel of the gun is dented from the rocks Wood battled as a boy.

But still visible are the engravings of a fowl searching for food, the Versailles Palace and the words "Manufacture a Versailles," which experts say stamp the gun as the work of Boutet.

Boutet made his guns between 1800 and 1815. Experts who have examined Wood's gun note that the conversion of the flintlock to ball and cap is of much cruder workmanship than other parts of the gun. This, they say, indicates the gun was modified sometime after the 1840s when percussion caps came into use.

How did a gun prized by kings and emperors get into a cave 25 miles northeast of Snyder in what was once the heart of the West? What might be in the cave?

These questions may never be answered. Long ago the rock roof collapsed, sealing the cave. But out of the folklore of northeast Snyder County comes a possible explanation.

Old settlers have repeated to each generation the legend of a gold train ambushed by the great Comanche Chief Quannah Parker and the treasure hidden in Indian grounds nearby.

In the early 1800s a man now remembered as a Mr. Hill from Massachusetts arrived in Snyder to hunt for gold mentioned to him by a Mexican he had befriended.

On his deathbed the Mexican told Hill his "terrible secret, known only to two men," of the lost treasure train of Emperor Maximilian of Mexico.

Hill, a man of mystery, spent the rest of his life working as a "chose boy" for ranchers in northeast Scurry County while he searched the canyons and gullies for the hidden cache of gold. Two years before Wood found the gun, Hill died in a house only one-half mile from the cave.

Maximilian, who became emperor of Mexico with the backing of Napoleon III of France, was shot to death in 1867 during the revolution led by the Mexican patriot Benito Juarez.

According to legend, Maximilian, before his death, sent his large personal fortune and most prized possessions in five wagons from Western Mexico with orders to go to Galveston and ship his fortune to France.

Six former Confederate soldiers offered to guide the wagon train, but instead killed all the others in the party and made off with the loot. The wagon train and the treasure were never heard of again. The robbers apparently either died of disease or fell into the hands of Indians.

J. Frank Dobie, the Texas folklorist, has said the 15 persons on the wagon train were killed at Horsehead Crossing on the Pecos River, which is 200 miles southwest of Scurry County. But the train is supposed to have been en route to Ft. Concho, which is much nearer to Scurry County.

Could the gun Wood found have belonged to Maximilian? Did it belong to a trusted officer guarding the emperor's treasure train? Did some Comanche brave long ago leave the gun in the Scurry County cave and never return to claim it?

Police Check Theft Reports

Carl Smith, barber at Webb AFB, reported to police that he left his car at a local service station over the weekend, and that a cardboard box containing wrenches had been taken from the trunk of the car. He said the trunk was opened but that the keys were not in the car.

Mrs. J. B. Myrick, 309 NW 10th, called police and said someone had left some fender skirts in her back yard. They were picked up and brought to the station.

Police Check Theft Reports

A tool box, 4x6x6 feet, was reported lost somewhere in the vicinity of Big Spring. Julian Rosales, San Antonio, who is employed by Centex Paving Co., said the box contained parts for his equipment, and requested information leading to its recovery.

Police investigated only one minor accident since noon Monday. It happened at 3rd and Nolan and drivers involved were Marjory Hanes Graham, 634 Tulsa, and Alma Smith Partlow, 2403 Main.

A cab driver reported, at 10:38 p. m. Monday, that he almost ran over a man sitting on the sidewalk at 1506 W. 2nd. The driver said the man had blood on him and asked that an ambulance be sent. The man was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for bruises, apparently from a fight. Police arrested the man for drunkenness.

Prisoners File Writ For Release

Bobby Glenn Worsham and William A. Hampton, prisoners in the city jail, have filed a petition for release from custody on a writ of habeas corpus.

The petition filed in 118th District Court and tentatively slated for hearing late today before Judge Ralph Caton, sets forth that the two men have been placed in jail by Chief Jay Banks and the city police. They claim no complaint has been filed against them, no commitment issued and that they have been denied the right to make bond.

Desk, Derrick Club Hears Talk On Oil Production

L. M. Thompson, vice president in charge of production for Cosden Petroleum Corp., spoke on exploration development and production at a dinner meeting of Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club held at Masters' Cafeteria Monday evening.

He stated that the production department is in constant contact of the well from the time it spuds until it is plugged and abandoned years later. He outlined the steps in acquiring a lease, and said the three ways of evaluating a lease were by surface, sub-surface with maps and geophysical. After preliminary planning, including contacting owner or tenant, a drilling prognosis is prepared and bids mailed. Applications to drill and other necessary forms are filed with State and Federal offices.

115 ATTEND Girl Scout Day Camp Kicks Off

The Girl Scout Day Camp being conducted at the Boy Scout jamboree grounds got off to a good start Monday as 115 girls showed up.

The scouts chose their camp areas Monday, pitched tents and cleaned up the area. A few more venturesome groups took in a little exploration also.

The girls are led by 15 adults and eight older scouts who are assisting during the Day Camp, according to Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr., camp director.

Each unit of the camp is separate and carries on whatever activities it wishes. For today, some groups will make name tags. Others who are choosing an Indian theme, will make headresses. Still others will make blueprint photographs of things they find around camp.

No cooking was scheduled for Monday, but each scout brought her own supper and ate at the campsite, Mrs. Thomas said. A

DEAR ABBY Better Play It Safely

DEAR ABBY: I met a wonderful guy two weeks ago. He is a professional ball player. He is the kindest and most gentlemanly man I have ever known. We have had several dates and I know we are meant for each other. We always enjoy ourselves no matter where we go or what we do. I have never had this feeling about anyone else and neither has he. Well, here's our problem. We are both married. His home life is a mess and so is mine. Abby, I am not the kind of girl who goes around breaking up marriages, but I love this guy so much I would do anything to have him. Is it possible to be married in one state before your divorce is final in another? SO IN LOVE

DEAR SO: It is not possible... and for a good reason. It assures a cooling off period and is a safeguard against stealing home. Catch?

DEAR ABBY: This is my eighth day in bed. I caught my heel on the stairs and plunged to the cement landing. I suffered a slight brain concussion, sprained ankle and a badly bruised elbow. Yes, the new shoes did it.

DEAR IN: You had better see your doctor again. I'm afraid that brain concussion is more serious than you think it is.

DEAR ABBY: While I was working at the polls, our National Anthem was played on the radio. Everyone was very busy writing, and so was I. But I stood up and placed my hand above my heart until the song was over. No one else in the room bothered to acknowledge it. In fact, I heard a few of them laughing behind my back.

DEAR PATRIOTIC: Most people do not stand for the National Anthem or flag except at public gatherings. This doesn't mean they are less patriotic, only more conformist. Do as you please, but don't be surprised if you surprise and amuse others.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB: Jumping at conclusions is not nearly as good exercise as digging for facts, girls.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? Write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Who pays for what, and how do you go about planning a lovely, inexpensive wedding? Send 50 cents for Abby's wedding pamphlet, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Congressmen Eagerly Await Kennedy Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress — divided between hope and skepticism — eagerly awaited President Kennedy's report to the American people tonight on the results of his conferences abroad.

Speaking on nationwide radio and television at 6 p.m. EST, Kennedy planned to summarize his meetings with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, President Charles de Gaulle of France and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The expectation was that the President would deal largely in generalities in describing the Khrushchev conversations. But he seemed certain to reaffirm vigorously the West's determination to stand fast against any new Communist encroachments in Berlin and other world danger spots.

Congressional Democrats generally were optimistic that some improvement in East-West relations might grow out of the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna, even though no concrete results had been anticipated. Republicans were more skeptical.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he believes the conversations were "well worth while" and may have contributed to paying the groundwork for lower-level negotiations on East-West differences.

"If some reasonable agreements can now be reached at the ambassadorial level, the talks with Khrushchev may have enhanced, indirectly at least, the prospects for a real summit meeting in the future," Mansfield said.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said it seemed to him the Vienna meeting "well served the purpose of getting the two leaders acquainted" and giving them an opportunity to talk over the world situation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, in a separate interview described the Khrushchev session as "a sparring match that solved nothing."

Three members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — Sens. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, John Sparkman, D-Ala., and Homer Capehart, R-Ind. — expressed differing views.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The discount house, with a new merchandising technique, has been making inroads into the sales of the traditional department store. Now the latter has launched a counterattack—by adopting the discounters' own methods. What will be the end result? The following story, Business News writer Jack Lefler examines the whole situation.

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—A revolution in retailing is under way.

It was brought on by the tremendous success of the discount stores, which sacrifice service and fanciness to sell at lower costs.

Apparently on the theory that "if you can't like 'em, join 'em, some big department stores and variety chains are diving into the discount business.

For a long while the department stores looked down their noses at discount newcomers in confidence that low-priced stacks of goods could never wear away customers who were used to high fashion, good service, credit and delivery.

But the discounters flourished and now there are some 3,000 across the country. Their cut-rate prices shashed into department and variety stores' business.

Woolworth's
Latest to get into the act is the giant variety firm, F. W. Woolworth Co., which announced plans to build "the biggest discount chain this country will ever see."

Its first unit will be opened this year. "It has become evident there is a great deal of customer interest in this direction," said President Robert C. Kirkwood. Woolworth's discount stores will operate under the name of Woolco Department Stores. Initial locations have not been announced.

Another big variety chain, S. S. Kresge Co., said it is "as far as further along" as anyone in preparations for discount operations but did not elaborate.

Interstate Department Stores, which operates more than 50 units, plans to open eight discount houses this year and 20 more next year.

It already has opened two on the outskirts of Chicago, and plans two more in Chicago and four in Baltimore, Kalamazoo, Mich., and Hartford, Conn., this year.

MOST OF PUBLIC
"We foresee the day, 5 to 10 years from now, when 80 per cent of the public will be relying on discount centers for the bulk of their purchases," said Sol W. Cantor, Interstate president.

"There is no practical limit on the amount and kinds of goods that can be purchased through discount centers, provided discount operators stick to their original and very basic philosophy, which is to keep markups low."

Grayson-Robinson Stores, which has 239 women's and children's apparel stores in 36 states, has opened 21 discount centers and eight photographic discount operations.

Bankers Securities Corp.-City Stores Co., with headquarters in Philadelphia, describes its approach as more evolutionary than revolutionary. Virtually all of its stores utilize self-service and checkouts in toy departments at Christmas time. This merchandising system will be expanded to other departments and a whole stores where necessary.

SELF-SERVICE
The May stores in Akron, Denver and Cleveland are planning to convert part of their operations to self-service and to open 100,000-square-foot branch units on a self-service, checkout system. The Cleveland store will keep branches open six nights a week instead of four.

Three Los Angeles branches which do not have basements are being rearranged for self-service operations. The basements of the Los Angeles downtown store and the suburban San Fernando unit are being converted to the new technique as well as some upstairs departments.

Bernard Litvak, president of Lil Bros. of Philadelphia, said department stores could sell much more merchandise through the installation of self-service, particularly in staple items, without violating the department stores image of quality and large selection.

"We mustn't forget," he said, "that maybe the customer would rather trade some of the regular department stores services for cash savings. She will put up with no delivery, no credit and no adherence to the old idea that the customer is always right if she can save enough by doing so."

J. Gordon Dakins, executive vice president of the National Retail Merchants Association, says the entrance of department and variety chains into the discount field means "they are diversifying because some of their customers feel they would like to shop this way."

YOUR BODY AND YOUR CAR

By Halvard T. Hansen, D.C.

Even if you bought the most perfect gasoline and motor oil, your automobile would stall if through failure of operation of the electric system, the spark plugs did not produce the electric spark at the exact time and point necessary for ignition. Therefore, if your car stalls, your mechanic examines the car not only to see if gas and oil are flowing readily, but also to see if there is anything wrong with the wiring system. For if the wires are not just right or if there is a short, the electricity cannot reach the point it should serve.

In an analogous fashion the human body approximates the motor car. The nerves of the body carry the "electricity" to supply the necessary stimuli to different parts of the body. If there is any interference with the normal transmissions of these impulses, the organ inactivated "stalls" until it again receives its normal quota of impulses.

Hence, just as one has one's car thoroughly overhauled yearly at least, so it is but common sense to have a mechanic to look over your body at least once a year. Your Body Mechanic is your Chiropractor.

If other doctors have made you well, you don't need us. If you are not well, investigate as other wise readers are doing. What can you lose except ill health?

Commission Will Probe Dominican Democracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-nation special commission is expected to leave Thursday to determine whether the Dominican Republic is moving toward more freedom for its people or toward an even tighter dictatorship.

A seven-nation committee of the Organization of American States voted Monday to send the commission to investigate conditions in the Caribbean country following the assassination last week of dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The unanimous acceptance of a U.S. request for the investigation came after Dominican Foreign Minister Profrío Herrera Baez said his country would welcome the special mission.

The decision marked the first victory in an inter-American agency for the administration of President Kennedy. The United States had strong support in the proposal from other American republics but the initiative clearly came from Washington.

Jose Costa Rica, charged that the Trujillo government plotted an assassination attempt on President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela and voted that all American republics should break diplomatic relations with the Trujillo regime.

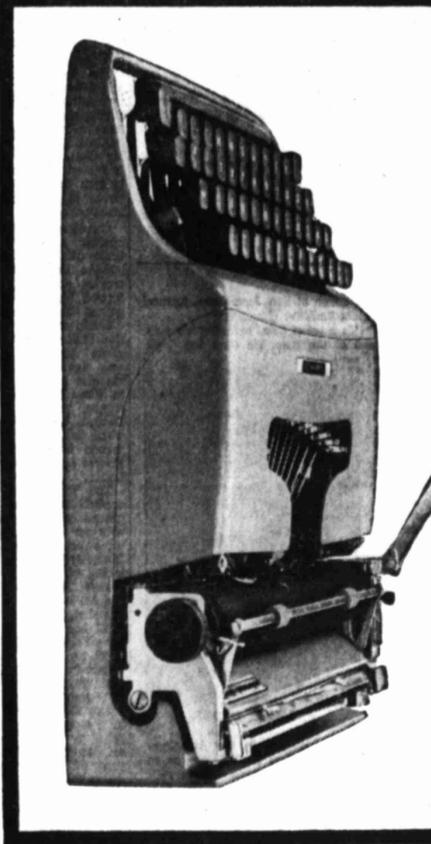

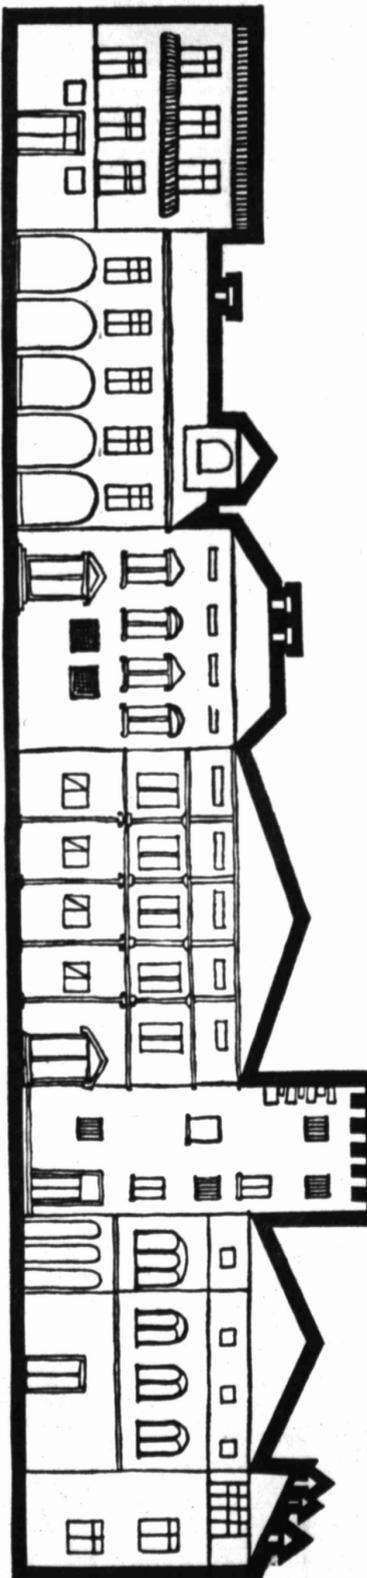

A special committee sent to the Dominican Republic last year to conduct an investigation was not permitted to travel freely and conduct its business.

OAS officials said it appeared probable the special five-nation commission would depart Thursday morning from New York. Its members are Panama, the United States, Argentina, Mexico and Uruguay.

Diplomats said the fatal shooting in Ciudad Trujillo Sunday night of retired Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, sought as the plotter of the assassination, and of a man described as one of his accomplices strengthened the U.S. case for sending the mission.

Speaker's Mementoes Rest In Home Town, Hubbard

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

HUBBARD, Tex. (AP)—The well-kept old home in this little Texas town looks like most of the others.

It does inside, too, until Miss Tris Speaker Scott and her mother, Mrs. Jim Scott, start opening closet doors and boxes and proudly displaying some of baseball's most fascinating lore.

In the parlor is a big oil painting of a center fielder leaning forward, eyes upward.

It is, of course not just a center fielder. It is THE center fielder, Tris Speaker, a legend in baseball.

Mrs. Scott is one of his two surviving sisters. The other is Mrs. C. R. Lindsey of Abilene, Tex. Tris Scott, who teaches fourth grade in the Hubbard schools, was one of Tris Speaker's favorite nieces.

Tris Speaker died of a heart attack Dec. 8, 1958 at 70 and is buried not far from the Scott home.

For 22 years he was a major league star, boasting a lifetime batting average of .344. He was called the Gray Eagle because of his prematurely silver hair and his skill at hawking balls. He managed Cleveland to the world's title in 1920.

He collected many nostalgic mementoes—silver trophies of all sizes, bats autographed by champions, baseballs signed by other greats, photographs with celebrities from all fields, plaques, a beautiful clock, a silver cigarette case.

Most of these, with one of Speaker's uniforms and his personal scrapbooks, are at the Scott house.

Great Outfield

It was his headquarters after he sold his large ranch near here. The Speaker mementoes rest in the Scotts' after his wife died in November, 1960. She was buried at his side.

Miss Scott is mindful of the public interest. "We have thought about putting them on display in some manner, where they could be appreciated," Miss Scott says.

"We have thought of perhaps doing it at our bank downtown.

Speaker is enshrined in the Cooperstown Baseball Hall of Fame. In 1951 he became the first man named to the Texas Sports Hall of Fame. The latter hopes some day to have a building housing all the mementoes of its members. Speaker's collection will, of course, occupy a prominent place.

Legion Visits B'field At 8

Cheered by a smashing 15-0 opening round victory over Tahoka that could have been even more decisive, the Big Spring American Legion baseball team visits Brownfield this evening for a District 19 joust with that city's team. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Big Spring is one of five teams in the south zone of District 19. The others are Tahoka, Lamesa, Brownfield and Denver City.

Last Sunday's game between Big Spring and Tahoka, which was played in Tahoka, was called at the end of five innings, when the umpires invoked the ten-run run.

Bowman Roberts looked very sharp on the mound for Big Spring. He set the Tahoka team down with two hits.

The Big Spring team plays its first home game at 4 p.m. Saturday, at which time it meets Denver City in Deer Park.

D. R. Gartman, the Big Spring coach, will probably go with a lineup composed of Artrick; first base; Coy Mitchell, second base; Rick Wisener or Tommy Young, center field; David Maberry or Jerry Tucker, right field; Ronnie Suggs or W. Fields, shortstop; and Roy New, pitcher.

Final Open Places Go Up For Grabs

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The last 25 vacancies in the 150-man field for the U.S. Open golf championship go up for grabs today with Samuel Jackson Snead spotlighted as he reaches for the 21st straight time for the one crown he's never won.

Snead, who claims to be a "better golfer now than 10 or 20 years ago," will be among 32 professionals and 16 amateurs aiming for 11 berths in the 36-hole sectional qualifier at Detroit's Grosse Ile Golf and Country Club. If he qualifies, he'll be playing in the Open for the 21st consecutive time.

Many of the other regulars on golf's touring circuit will be battling for places in the premier U.S. championship that will be played at the Oakland Hills Country Club course in Birmingham, Mich., June 15-17.

Forty-four berths were filled in seven locations Monday. The 85 others today join 21 exempt players to make up the 150-man lineup for the open championship next week.

Besides Detroit, sectionals over 36 holes are scheduled today at Bakersfield, Calif.; Washington, D.C.; New York, Cleveland and Oklahoma City. The latter site will be the proving grounds for the bulk of golf's regular tourists, including Ken Venturi, Gene Littler, Marty Furgol, Don Whitl, Fred Hawkins, Bill Collins, Bob Goaly and many others.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer and Masters champion Gary Player head the list of 21 who have been exempt from the two stages of qualifying.

Don January and Bill Bisdorf of Denver were the national leaders Monday among 44 who qualified at Denver, Atlanta, Chicago, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Portland, Ore., and Dallas.

January, setting a course record at 65 at the Dallas A.C. Country Club in his afternoon round, led the Dallas field with 70-65-135. Bisdorf matched that total with 65-70 over the 7,035-yard par 72 Columbine Country Club course at Denver.

Among the other name players who made it were Frank Stranahan of Toledo, with 70-70-140 at Cincinnati; Dave Douglas of Clayton, Mo., with 68-70-138 at Kansas City; Chick Harbert, Pete Cooper and Freddie Haas at Atlanta; Jim Ferrier at Chicago, and Billy Maxwell, and Doug Higgins at Dallas.

Noteworthy casualties were former PGA and Masters champion Jack Burke and former British Amateur champion Joe Conrad at Dallas; Skip Alexander at Atlanta; and Charlie Sifford, national Negro champion, at Chicago.

Temple Baptist Decisions First

Temple Baptist scored a run with one out in the final inning to topple First Baptist, 6-5, in a YMCA Church Softball League game here Monday night.

Successive singles by Bob Rogers and E. C. Smith, followed by E. Barbee's triple, broke up the game.

Barbee fashioned the mound victory, giving up only six hits to the losers. Temple Baptist collected 14 assorted bloop hits, including four by Smith.

In the evening's other game, East Fourth Baptist turned back Phillips Baptist, 15-7, making the most of ten hits and 11 bases on balls.

Bo Anderson, tagged for nine hits, received credit for the mound victory.

East Fourth scored in every inning but the third and crowded eight runs across the plate in the second round.

Veterans Slam Braves, 6-3

The VFW outlasted the Braves, 6-3, in a National Little League engagement here Monday night.

The Vets collected their runs in clusters, scoring in the second, third and fifth rounds. Jimmy Lonnie received credit for the hill victory.

Lonnie Clanton paced the Vets' six-hit attack, driving out two doubles and a single. Simon Terrazas contributed heavily to the offensive, too, with a two-run homer in the fifth and a single.

The Braves managed only two hits. Those were a first inning single by Billy Reese and a fifth inning one-baser by Bobby Lyon.

The Vets employed three pitchers. Clanton got the final three innings for the winners.

In minor league competition, the Hawks smashed the Red Sox, 14-1.

Locals Kayo Toby's, 6-1

The Locals kayoed Toby's, 6-1, in a Texas Little League contest here Monday night.

Ben Montanex authored the mound win, stopping Toby's with four hits. He lost his shutout in the final inning, when Flores crossed the plate.

Jessie Zapata, Montanex and Felix Martinez each drove out two hits for the Locals. Montanex and Jerry Cuthbertson each had a double for the winners.

A four-run uprising in the third inning sailed away the decision for the Locals.

Ethridge Named Amarillo Mentor

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Johnny Ethridge, of Dimmitt Monday was named head basketball coach at Amarillo High School, succeeding veteran mentor T. G. Hull who recently resigned.

The Stars counted in every inning but the fourth and two runners aboard in that round.

First Round Play Due To Be Ended

Bobby Wright, the defending title, has yet to play Dan J. Lewis. Jimmy Patterson must still oppose Tommy Wilkerson. Don Lovelady is committed to meet Bobby Bluhm. Eddie Don Harris and Charles Johnson have played only nine holes of their match.

Cleveland Has Hot Hand In American Poker Game

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, barred from high stake card games by Manager Jimmy Dykes, are playing a hot hand at the moment in the American League race, moving within one game of first place with a seven-game winning streak.

Dykes ruled out the big pots to make sure the Tribe kept their minds on baseball, and the Indians have done just that. Out of the first division just one day this season, they've stacked the bullpen with ace and have come from seven games back by winning 19 of their last 23.

The three-man fireman brigade of right-handers Frank Funk and Barry Latman and lefty Bob Allen has a 13-3 record. With seven bases tacked on, those three have been in on 20 of Cleveland's 31 victories.

Latman, acquired in the Herb Score deal with the Chicago White Sox last year, nailed a 4-0 record and hung up the Indians' seventh in a row Monday night, breaking a 5-5 tie with a triple and blanking Washington in four innings of two-hit relief for a 7-5 victory over the Senators.

That put the Indians even with front-running Detroit in the decisive "lost" column as the White Sox knocked off the Tigers 8-0 behind the seven-hit pitching of Frank Baumann. Third-place New York drew within four games of the top with a 6-1 and 6-2 two-night doubleheader sweep over the Minnesota Twins. The Los Angeles Angels dropped fourth place runs in the seventh at southpaw Ron Moeller's six-hitting.

Kansas City split a doubleheader at Boston, winning 10-6 after the Red Sox had won the opener 6-2.

The Indians, after blowing 3-0 and 5-3 leads behind starter Johnny Antonelli and Bobby Locke, finally made it with two unearned runs in the seventh at Washington against losing reliever John Gabeler (2-2). Latman's two-out triple triggered the rally and gave the bullpen three victories and three saves in the Tribe's seven-game streak.

Cleveland collected 15 hits—including a 4-for-4 show by the three pitchers—with Jimmy Pier-bullpen three victories and three singles and Johnny Romano extended his hit streak through 20 games with a double.

Baumann (4-4) gave the White Sox staff its first shutout and became the first lefty to pitch all three innings of a game this season. He also had three hits and drove in three runs. Right-hander Phil Regan, a five-game winner for Detroit, lost his second in a row when the Sox scored twice in the second inning on two walks and a single by Jim Landis and Sperm Lollar.

The Yankees set AL home run records for 13 and 14 consecutive games while tagging the Twins with an 11-game losing string. A three-run, pinch homer by Johnny Blanchard did it in the seventh inning of the opener, and Mickey Mantle then regained a tie for the AL lead with his 15th, a two-run shot, in the eighth. That made it 27 home runs in 13 games for New York, and Tony Kubek made it 28 for 14 in the ninth with a two-run homer in the seventh that gave the Yankee shortstop a 14-game hitting streak.

Jim Coates (6-2) won his fifth in a row, first as a starter, with relief by Luis Arroyo in the opener. Rookie Roland Sheldon (2-2) then pitched his first complete game with a six-hitter in the second game, clinching it with his first major league hit, a two-run single, in the fifth. Don Lee and Chuck Stobbs, both 0-2, were the losers.

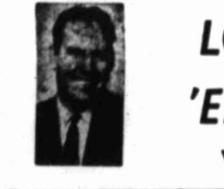

Ted Kluszewski hammered a two-run homer in the first inning for the Angels off Hec Brown (5-2), who had won four in a row. It was Klu's sixth hit off Baltimore pitching this season—all home runs. Moeller, an ex-Bird, struck out nine—fanning Brooks Robinson and Jim Gentile with the bases loaded in the fifth, and whiffing Jerry Adair and pinch-hitter Dave Philley with two on in the sixth. It was his first victory and complete game in the majors.

Mike Fornieles (2-2) gave up 10 hits but went all the way while making his first start in three seasons for Boston in the opener. Frank Malzone's single broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth off Ray Herbert (3-5). Joe Nuxhall (4-1) won the second game, with relief help from Bill Kunkel. Norm Siebern reached base eight times in a row for the A's in the twinning, hitting a home run in a decisive five-run fifth in the second game against reliever Dave Hillman (2-2).

from seven games back by winning 19 of their last 23.

The three-man fireman brigade of right-handers Frank Funk and Barry Latman and lefty Bob Allen has a 13-3 record. With seven bases tacked on, those three have been in on 20 of Cleveland's 31 victories.

Latman, acquired in the Herb Score deal with the Chicago White Sox last year, nailed a 4-0 record and hung up the Indians' seventh in a row Monday night, breaking a 5-5 tie with a triple and blanking Washington in four innings of two-

LOOKING 'EM OVER With TOMMY HART

Sports dialogue:

"George is a big man who holds a lot of pole, meaning his grip is over 13 feet from the pit end of the pole. He uses the 'high density' type pole, a fiberglass job with fast action, more bend and a lot of strength. And since he is strong as an ox, George should be able to hit the three feet necessary with his arms. I know he'll do it sooner or later. After all, in high school he was just under 14 feet. Then in 1959 he set a national junior college record with Phoenix College with 14.6. He just keeps getting better."

LEFTY GROVE

Sprinter DENNIS Johnson, who has run a 9.3 hundred several times.

"I should break the record this year. I'd do it the next time I get some real competition. I feel I can run 9.3 any time now. But to make 9.2 you have to fight the coaches and the timers and everything has to be just right."

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS:
"There are reports that his fellow owners in the American Football League see Harry Wismer of the New York Titans as so 'controversial' a figure that they'll try to persuade him to sell. The AFL owners, who meet in Dallas this month, are also facing reports that they're having difficulty finding a sponsor for the telecast of their games."

TOM FERRICK, coach of the Detroit Tigers:
"I don't know Warren Spahn, but he's one of the greatest pitchers I have ever seen. We've never been on the same club, but when I was with Philadelphia and Cincinnati he never had a good curve ball. He's a classic stand-up pitcher who has smoothness and motion. You call it rhythm. He has it big, and it's hard for a batter to time his pitches, no matter what he throws. Spahn has changed. He worked on a curve more in 1960. In the 1958 World Series, the Yankees apparently had him scouted as a slow breaking-ball pitcher. But he called on his reserve, and pitching with speed, threw a two-hit shutout. Spahn seems to have a sixth sense about what the batter will hit and what the batter will swing at. He's been around so long that he has a mental image of every hitter. He seems to block out the upper part of a batter's body. By the way a batter stands, Spahn can tell who the batter is and what he is thinking."

GENE MARKEY, owner of Calumet Farms racing stable:
"Blacksmithing has become so expensive that you could put shoes on Phil Sitalny's all-girl orchestra for what it costs to put a set of plates on a horse."

CHARLEY FINLEY, owner of the Kansas City A's:
"I'll continue to give away free tickets to the home games of the A's, despite Ed Doherty's protest. If he'd devote a little more time and attention to the Washington franchise perhaps his results would be better than they have been to date."

LEFTY GROVE, the pitching immortal:
"Baseball is a lot different now. First there's the platoon system. Managers think nothing of using 17 to 20 men in a game. All we carried was 20, and most of the time we didn't use more than a dozen. Second, the gloves are different. Our gloves weren't basketball nets, the kind they have now. You can catch a watermelon in 'em. As for current players, they're about the same. They still hustle. But I don't see any Ty Cobb or Tris Speaker or Babe Ruth, Cobb is the best I ever saw, all around. He could beat a ball club all by himself if you got him mad. Why aren't there more 20-game winners? Managers won't leave 'em in long enough. They panic after a couple of hits. Pitchers don't finish games any more. Except for maybe Warren Spahn. When I won 25, I completed 26."

Cain Is Favored In State Amateur

AUSTIN (AP)—Between 150 and 200 golfers are expected to converge on Austin Wednesday for the 52nd annual Texas Golf Association's State Amateur Tournament.

John Paul Cain of Lubbock, who is co-holder of the competitive course record at the Austin Country Club where the tournament will be staged, is one of the top favorites.

Aggie Infielder Signed By O's

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles of the American Baseball League Monday signed Dick Hickerson, captain and first baseman of the Texas A&M team, to a bonus contract.

Hickerson has been assigned to the Orioles' farm club at Bluefield, W.Va., in the Appalachian League. He batted .330 in 25 games with the Aggies this season.

Dee Phillips, Baltimore scout, did not reveal the amount of the bonus but said it was sizeable.

Stars Batter Jets, 20-6, In American Li'l League

The Stars mauled the Jets, 20-6, in an American Little League contest here Monday night, closing out with 12 runs in their final inning at bat.

The Stars collected only six hits off three Jet hurlers and three of those were by Jackie Bowen. Jackie drove out two doubles, along with a single.

In all, the Stars were given 14 bases on balls and another batter was hit by a pitched ball.

Kirk Boyd had an easy time pitching the win, although he was touched for eight hits.

Tommy Lawson, the losing pitcher, had the satisfaction of connecting for two hits. One of those went for two bases.

The Stars counted in every inning but the fourth and two runners aboard in that round.

First Round Play Due To Be Ended

Vandiver Warns Rabble Rousers

ATLANTA (AP)—Rabble rousers, would-be rioters and the like have been warned by Gov. Ernest Vandiver against trying to stir up trouble when four Atlanta public high schools are integrated next fall.

Vandiver said Monday that although he was dead set against integration, "anytime the life or property of any citizen is endangered whatever forces that are necessary to preserve the peace will be used."

The Atlanta Board of Education has approved transfers of 10 Negroes in the 11th and 12th grades to white schools. The desegregation was ordered by a federal judge.

"Unless the state of Georgia wants to secede from the United States and fire on Ft. McPherson, we'll have to obey that court order," Vandiver told a news conference.

Florida Revises Its Mob Law

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—State highway patrolmen and city commissioners as well as mayors will be allowed to disperse riotous or unlawful crowds under a new Florida law.

The old law granted such authority in cities only to the mayor. The Tallahassee City Commission, which asked for the expanded authority, said it found the old law cumbersome in dealing with trouble arising from integration activities on highways.

The bill was introduced in the wake of riots in Alabama resulting from activities of "Freedom Riders." It was signed Monday by Gov. Farris Bryant.

Vibration Clouded Astronaut's Sight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut Alan Shepard disclosed today that rocket vibration fogged his vision briefly in the early part of his historic 15-minute space flight a month ago. But he said just about everything else went well.

Shepard said that as the result of his difficulty, some changes have been ordered in the Mercury capsule design to reduce vibration during the crucial moments just after launching.

Shepard made the observation in a paper prepared for delivery to 300 physicians and research scientists at a conference on the medical results of the first U.S. manned suborbital space flight last May 5. He rocketed to an altitude of 116.5 miles before landing in the ocean 302 miles from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site.

Shepard said the roughest part of the flight came as the rocket accelerated through the speed of sound and then passed through the point of maximum dynamic pressure. That was the point at which the Redstone rocket and the capsule it carried were subjected to the most severe combination of acceleration forces and atmospheric resistance.

"These events occurred very close together on the flight, and there was general vibration associated with them," Shepard said.

"At one point my head vibration was such that my vision was blurred for a few seconds. "We intend to avoid a recurrence of this experience by providing more foam rubber for the head support and improving the space craft adapter ring."

Shepard said he had no other difficulty during the powered flight and found no problem in breathing, seeing, or reporting to the ground.

Shepard added that:

1. The water landing was no more severe than the catapulting of a plane from a carrier deck.

2. The so-called debriefing conducted during his two-day stay at Grand Bahama Island, after the flight, was useful and will be profitable for future flights.

3. The five minutes of weightlessness was similar to floating and did not affect movements, speech or breathing.

4. The capsule periscope not only was a good device for viewing the sky and earth, but also was a "backup" aid for navigation and for monitoring the opening of the parachutes on descent.

Shepard had only one mild complaint concerning the numerous physical examinations before the flight—"I felt as though an unusual number of needles were used."

Shepard's report was one of 10 papers on various aspects of the mission prepared for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration conference.

6 Children Die In Missouri Fire

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Six children perished in a fire which destroyed their home Monday night. Another child was critically burned.

The mother, Jesse Mae Forest, was treated for shock. She rushed from the blazing house barefooted and in her nightgown. A neighbor, Jimmy Davis, and another man, Van Adams, rescued one child, Michael, 9, who was rushed to a hospital with burns over 60 per cent of his body.

The flames blocked further rescue work. The house was destroyed.

The dead children ranged in age from 1 to 9. They were Aaron, 10, Don 7, Ema Mae 6, Kayseen 5, Robbis 1, and Jennett 2. The Forests are Negroes.

Human Behavior Next On Agenda

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—President Kennedy's personal physician predicts the goal of medical science soon will be the cure of human behavior rather than the cure of human physical illness.

Foreseeing a world free of physical disease in which "only death will be accepted as inevitable," Dr. Janet Travell told the 108-member graduating class of Meharry Medical College here Monday. The challenges of the future for medicine lie in the possibilities of modifying the behavioral patterns of the human race for the good of society."

Dr. Travell went with the President to Paris and Vienna but returned to appear as the commencement speaker at Meharry, a predominantly Negro school.

Stevenson Heads For Argentina

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson heads for Argentina today after a 48-hour visit to Venezuela's capital, first stop on his presidential mission to Latin America.

Although no agreements were sought on concrete problems, Stevenson made known he was pleased with the results.

For one thing, he was reported reassured by President Romulo Betancourt's continued firm stand against dictatorships in Latin America, of both the left and right complexion.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations also was gratified by the warm personal reception he received in the city which displayed violently anti-U.S. feelings to Vice President Richard M. Nixon three years ago.

The English language Daily Journal noted the friendly welcome Stevenson got and expressed belief that it was "an augury of things to come." The paper said Stevenson's talks in Caracas should lead to progress and understanding so far as Venezuela is concerned.

"We hope," the editorial said, "they will have similar results in the other countries Mr. Stevenson will visit."

Stevenson expressed sympathy for Venezuela's current economic difficulties and hinted that he would recommend U.S. approval of Betancourt's requests for short-term economic aid.

The pool will be 75 feet long and at the shallow end it will be 25 feet wide. The deep end will be 32 feet wide.

Besides the pool, there will be a wading pool for the youngsters and this 10x15-foot structure will also have filter equipment.

Contracts for dressing rooms will be awarded later.

Also due at a later date is a structure for a snack and refreshment unit for the convenience of those swimming or engaging in other outdoor activities.

The pool, and subsequently the auxiliary buildings, are part of the expansion program authorized recently by the stockholders.

'Miss Big Spring' Prospects Sought

Good-looking women between the ages of 18 and 26 were urged today to sign up for the annual Miss Big Spring pageant to be held June 29.

Sign up also were asked for the Junior Miss Big Spring contest to be held in conjunction with the senior pageant. Age limits for the junior division are 16-18.

The beauty contest is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, with Bill Mancill as chairman.

Miss Big Spring of 1961 will go to Beaumont later this summer to take part in the Miss Texas contest. The state title holder will proceed to Atlantic City, N. J., in September to seek the Miss America crown.

Details and application forms may be had from Winston Wrinckle, entrants chairman, or his secretary at Radio Station KBST. Application deadline is June 22.

Mancill urged prospective contestants to begin entering the contest this week.

A busy week of activities will precede the pageant. On Monday, June 26, there will be a swimming party for contestants at the Tommy Gage home. This will be followed the next day with the first rehearsal, in which the modeling director will instruct the beauties in poise and charm.

A Pepsi party will be held the following (Wednesday) morning at the Cowden Country Club, and later in the day, the senior contestants will hold a talent practice session. Later the same evening, the second rehearsal will be held.

The pageant will be staged on Thursday of that week, in City Auditorium. John Taylor will emcee.

Ashton Gets Degree

LAMESA (SC) — Franklin C. Ashton was one of 220 students to graduate from Trinity University in San Antonio recently. Ashton received a bachelor of science degree in mathematics, with a minor in chemistry.

To Hollywood

Karen Balkin, 12, of Houston has been signed for the Hollywood film "Infamous," based on Lillian Hellman's play "The Children's Hour." Karen will portray a little girl whose lies lead to disaster for half a dozen persons. Others in the cast will be Audrey Hepburn, Shirley MacLaine and James Garner.

Certain Commercials Should Leave Video, Too

By CYNTHIA LOWEY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It would be really nice if some of the season's commercials were heading for oblivion along with all those network entertainment programs which won't be back next fall.

Every viewer has his own candidates for extinction, but I could manage to struggle along without:

The jolly demonstration of a wash-day product involving two small boys heaving chocolate pies at a clean table cloth and mopping up with dainty towels a floor covered by a nauseous mess of gravy, soup and sauce.

The rude, aggressively snooty neighbor who walks into the housewife's kitchen and proceeds to order her to use a certain soap. The "scientific machines" that demonstrate how fast pills dissolve, how a woman can breathe out of only one nostril and how bad an onion smells.

All the ladies who make gentlemen disappear completely when they breathe upon them.

All the gentlemen whose unruly hair makes the ladies flee. The couples, obviously madly in love with each other, who spend their precious time together sentimentally describing how mild and satisfying their cigarettes are.

The announcers with authoritative "doctor voices" prescribing reducing aids or headache pills.

The athletes attributing all their skill and vitality to one brand of bread or cereal.

Those filthy sinks that the scouring powder cleans without even scrubbing.

Dave Garroway obviously is going to leave NBC's "Today Show," as he requested, but the date of departure is still up in the air. Garroway was planning to take things easy this summer by taping a couple of shows one day each week anyway.

John Daly is considered the most logical replacement, but network officials say that a number of names have been submitted for consideration.

NBC's "The Nation's Future" will have Edwin Newman as its new moderator. John K. M. McCaffery, who has been moderator since the series started last November, is out of the program and will soon undergo surgery. He will not be back.

NCU Awards Degree To Negro

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—The University of North Carolina Monday night awarded its first undergraduate degree to a Negro. David Dansby, 22, Greensboro, received a bachelor of arts degree in political science. The university said Dansby compiled a better-than-average academic record.

About 35 Negroes are enrolled at the 8,500-student university here.
