Car Bomb Blast Kills Trial Witness

Police check over the wreckage of an automobile in which Richard Blaney died in an explosion as he turned on the ignition in front of his home in Philadelphia. Blaney was a key witness in the conviction of three men in the burglary of the home of coal magnate John B. Rich, Pottsville, Pa., last year. The body of Blaney's brother, Vincent, was found shot in the head and wrapped in chains floating in the Atlantic Ocean off Margate, N. J., last August. Vincent also had been expected to testify in the Rich burglary case.

Panel Claims Ike Kept Data Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House committee contended Saturday that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration kept certain records secret "for political purposes rather than in defense of the Constitution" during last year's presidential election. A Republican member promptly charged that the subcommittee which originated the report had shown itself to be "a tax-supported political propaganda machine," costing $200 a day in staff expenses.

Truman, Berlin 'Vet,' Says Russia's Bluffing

LITTLE FALLS, Minn. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, who won his own Berlin showdown in 1948-49, said Saturday the Soviets are bluffing.

Truman said the Soviet Union is too scared of Red China to risk war.

He said President Kennedy's address last week called their bluff.

"That was what it was for; that's what it did," he said. Truman spoke to newsmen

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

You'll have to concede that the most dramatic news of the week hereabouts involved Dick O'Brien and Nat Shick, a couple of old-time notables.

The revelation of Nat as the donor of a rose a week for nearly 19 years to Bro. Dick came as a surprise to many, and particularly to the recipient.

This is the kind of heart-warming thing that catches the fancy of editors all over. The event got on network radio, and was published in papers throughout the country. The two men have heard from California, Iowa, Georgia, Mississippi, and no telling how many other places.

Weather could have made news, simply because it went through a week without rain. Water was still running into lakes, though, and Lake Thomas is at the brim. Farmers welcomed the sunshine, and declare that there just aren't enough hours in the day to combat the weeds.

As a result of the rains, the city has taken steps to see that lots are cleared of the rank growth of weeds. If property owners don't do it, the municipality will, and assess the cost. This is under a new ordinance, which many hope will work effectively.

Sam Anderson, who has been an assistant superintendent directing curriculum, was named superintendent of the Big Spring schools for a year. The board will be receiving applications later on, but could be that after looking at them, it would want Anderson longer.

Both the school board and the county commissioners were wrestling with budgets this past week for a year. The board will be receiving applications later on, but could be that after looking at them, it would want Anderson longer.

K Orders First New Program Since Lenin

Plane Case Goes To U.N.

HAVANA (AP)—The Fidel Castro government placed the hijacked Eastern Air Lines plane case in the lap of the U. N. Security Council Saturday.

The decision announced by the Foreign Ministry appeared aimed at avoiding a showdown between the United States and Cuba over the fate of the $3.5 million Lockheed Electra plane.

A Foreign Ministry note to the United Nations accused the United States of massing forces for an "imminent military aggression" against Cuba, using the plane incident as an excuse for its plans.

It contended that elaborate military preparations were being made in the Caribbean area under U. S. leadership and claimed these plans could set off "a conflagration of unforeseen consequences."

NOT ALONE
"Cuba is not alone," the note said in an obvious reference to expected Soviet Union support.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Friday he expected a reply within 48 hours on a State Department demand for return of the plane to the United States.

He declined to spell out what course the United States would take if Prime Minister Castro failed to return it. But he alleged a Castro proposal to exchange the airliner for a U. S. promise not to impound Cuban planes flown to the United States.

"The Cuban delegation which handed the note to the Security Council president at the United Nations, Ambassador Leopoldo Benitez of Ecuador, did not ask for a council meeting. It did ask, however, that the note be circulated to members.

(State Department officials in Washington said there would be no comment on the Cuban note until they see the text.)

A Cuban gunman last Monday trained a pistol on the pilot of the Electra, bound from Miami to Tampa, and forced him to fly to Havana. The 32 passengers and five crewmen were released Tuesday.

The note, prepared on Castro's instructions, said Cuba wished to point out a "grave risk to international peace."

It claimed that the United States has "extraordinarily increased" the size of its regular forces at the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

But "the biggest concentrations of invasion forces are in Helvetia Ranch (Guatemala), Vieques Island (Puerto Rico) and the Panama Canal Zone," it added.

Anti-Castro Cuban forces which scrambled on Cuban shores in an abortive invasion attempt last April are generally believed to have grouped in Guatemala and jumped off from Vieques.

The note also contended that both American and anti-Castro Cuban troops were involved in the alleged Guantanamo Bay buildup.

The Cuban government, the note continued, seeks to deprive the United States of any pretext of an invasion. Accordingly, it said, Cuba has decided to "put under Security Council jurisdiction the North American Electra plane so that body would decide, whatever it confirms, what should be done."

The committee, composed mostly of relatives of prisoners, will send a three-man delegation with the returning group Monday to confer with Castro.

U. S. immigration authorities had no immediate comment on the decision of the two prisoners to remain in the United States.

Collazo and Pico accused Castro of stalling on his promise to free prisoners taken in the April 17 Bay of Pigs invasion in return for tractors.

Both Collazo and Pico have wives and children in Cuba. Gustavo Garcia Montes, spokesman for the prisoner committee, said several survivors of the invasion have volunteered to go to Cuba in place of the two defectors.

While currently taking its licks and facing possible reorganization as the result of a special study ordered by President Kennedy after the abortive Cuban invasion, the CIA can cite many successes in its brief history.

It correctly advised President Harry S. Truman that the Soviet Union would abandon a move against Greece and Turkey if American support for these countries was made emphatic. It was correct in predicting the United States could break the Berlin blockade without war. Probably its greatest coup was obtaining a text of Premier Khrushchev's famous speech downgrading Joseph Stalin nearly two months before it was released by the Kremlin. FOR LOVE OF A DOG

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — "We only paid $8 for him but Sparky has cost us a fortune in veterinary bills," said Mrs. Stephen M. Cehulic.

She was referring to the family dog, who was hit by a car, beaten up by another dog and rescued from a creek by firemen, all within a few weeks.

"Sparky's hardly worth it, but we love him so," Mrs. Cehulic said.

2 Anti-Castro Committeemen Break Parole

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two Cubans who came here as members of a prisoner delegation to negotiate a swap of tractors for nearly 1,300 fellow captives gave up on their mission Saturday — but "freed" themselves.

They said they would return to Cuba only to fight Prime Minister Fidel Castro, but would not go back to Havana on Monday, the deadline after more than a month of freedom here.

Their eight fellow-prisoner emissaries denounced the "defeatist" of Mirto Collazo and Reinaldo Pico, both 27, and decided them for not keeping their pledge to Castro that they would return.

The eight discussed the situation for four hours, then announced they would proceed to Havana Monday as scheduled.

They expressed confidence their fellow prisoners will be freed.

The Cuban Families Committee for Liberation, which took charge of tractor fund collections after a committee including Eleanor Roosevelt gave up on the deal, denounced the defection of Collazo and Pico as "defeatist, self-interested and malicious."

The committee, composed mostly of relatives of prisoners, will send a three-man delegation with the returning group Monday to confer with Castro.

The new fiscal year starts Sept. 1. Texas has never before come to the point where it had no money in sight to keep its vital services going. Tax money from existing sources would continue to flow into the treasury and some kind of stop-gap appropriations bill would have to be passed to keep the state store open.

The conference committee trying to iron out the differences between the House and Senate ideas of how much should be spent in the next two fiscal years worked behind closed doors over the weekend recess.

U. S. immigration authorities had no immediate comment on the decision of the two prisoners to remain in the United States.

Collazo and Pico accused Castro of stalling on his promise to free prisoners taken in the April 17 Bay of Pigs invasion in return for tractors.

Coexistence Rule Included In Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party Saturday night ordered all Communists to support what it called the "Leninist principle of peaceful coexistence" with the West. The Red leadership also told the Soviet people that improvement in their living standards is not far off.

The party promised Soviet citizens free housing and public transportation in the 1970s but added an important hedge: "Complications in the international situation and a necessary increase in the strength of the armed forces can delay realization of the plans for improving the people's material welfare."

Peaceful coexistence, the program said, is "a mighty obstacle in the path of the imperialist aggression."

It added this prediction: "Socialism (communism) inevitably will take over from capitalism everywhere. Such is the objective law of the development of society."

The program, however, did not exclude the possibility of "non-peaceful" transition to communism.

It said the method of being voted into power by a parliament is best for communism but it added: "However, when the exploiting classes use violence against people, it is necessary to consider a non-peaceful transition from capitalism to socialism."

The party proclaimed and history proved that the exploiting classes will not give up their power voluntarily.

Premier Khrushchev said the same thing in a speech last January and from this, plus the rest of the platform, it is obvious he was the guiding spirit in drawing up the program.

The program officially made it an article of state that "The transition of capitalism to communism is the road to development of humanity."

Divided into seven chapters, the program said, "The experience of the Soviet Union proved that socialism and peace are indivisible."

It claimed, "The forces of socialism are serving the cause of peace. The Soviet Union saved humanity from Fascist enslavement."

Premier Khrushchev, who ordered the program prepared, is en route back to Moscow from his holiday home at Sochi, on the Black Sea. He will lead public discussion of the new program.

In its attack on the capitalist system, the program said inequality of the rate of development is sharpening contradictions between capitalist states.

"The military center has moved from England to the United States," it declared. "America, the mightiest capitalist state, has become the strongest world exploiter. American imperialism, covering itself with the false flag of freedom and democracy, is in fact fulfilling the role of the worldgendarme supporting reactionary dictatorial regimes, rotten monarchies, taking action against democratic revolutionary transformation, unleashing aggression against people struggling for their independence."

The program laid out an economic plan for the next 20 years, and said that at the end of this period, heating, water, and gas will be free of charge in the Soviet Union.

WEALTH PREDICTED
It said the Soviet economy will achieve an abundance of wealth and material for the whole population during the second half of the 20-year plan and this will enable distribution in accordance with requirements.

The program, likely to be the key to Soviet propaganda in months ahead, took indirect note of fantastically overcrowded apartment houses and log cabin shacks in the Soviet Union by promising that during the second half of the 20-year period, "each family, including young married families, will have well-equipped apartments which embody the hygienic and cultured way of life. The homes of peasant families of all types will mostly be replaced with new modern homes or, in cases where possible, will be reconstructed."

OTHER PROMISES
Also the program made these promises:
1. Present charges for health services will be eliminated some time during the 20-year plan.
2. The working week will be reduced to 34 or 36 hours. Minors will work a 30-hour, five-day week.

3. Luncheons will be free in factories, collective farms and various other state enterprises.
4. Nurseries for children will become free, as will uniforms for schoolchildren.
5. Collective farmers will become eligible for a pension.
6. The present overcrowded homes for the aged will be improved by construction of a network of old folks homes for all who want to enter.
The program came out in full force for strengthening Soviet armed forces.
It urged all uniformed men, plus those in the security forces, to display vigilance and constant readiness to fight for their country.

MILITARY MIGHT
It said: "The party believes it is necessary to support the fighting might of the Soviet state so that they can deliver a decisive rebuff to any aggressor. The armed forces must be mighty, equipped with the most modern thermonuclear and also atomic weapons."
The party is educating all Communists in the spirit of defending their homeland as their first duty."

The new program appears completely nationalistic and in that sense differs from Lenin's, which was written when the Soviet leaders were flushed with their victory in the 1917 revolution and thought the world triumph of communism was imminent.
Turning to the matter of elections, the program suggested — that means ordered — that each election one-third of the new legislative deputies should be people who never served before in a government body.

It also said office holders should be limited to three terms — generally of two years each—but this could be waived in special cases where some individual is especially useful and could get 75 per cent of the vote.
No one has ever been elected to office in the Soviet Union with less than 98 per cent of the votes. So this provision seemed to be a smoke screen to imply that democratic processes actually exist here.

The program establishes a new rule for election to the all-powerful Central Committee of the Communist party. It said that at each routine election, membership must be "renewed by not less than one-quarter of the membership."
Members of the committee's presidium are to be limited to three successive terms. But then came another important hedge: Party members of "recognized authority, organizational abilities and other qualities, can be elected to the leading governmental bodies for longer periods of time."

ALL FOR K
This clause, is, of course, designed to keep people such as Khrushchev in office.
On foreign affairs, the party program said: "The victory of socialism in the whole world will

Error In Espionage Could Bring About A Catastrophe

By BEM PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—For men in high places a recurrent nightmare is watching the world stumble into a war nobody wants because of a breakdown in intelligence operations.

This is the basic danger in the present East-West crisis over West Berlin. Each side desperately needs an accurate assessment of the other's preparations and intent.

A look at the past record of intelligence operations in both Washington and Moscow is anything but reassuring for a diplomat troubled by dreams of a holocaust.

The Cuban fiasco last April contributed spectacularly to a crisis in credibility apparently casting a vague shadow across current reports of the Central Intelligence Agency. There are older examples of miscalculation: a CIA chief reported to Congress there was no evidence of trouble in Korea two days before North Korean tanks rolled southward in 1950. Just two months ago the takeover by a Korean military junta apparently caught U. S. planners by surprise.

NO MONOPOLY
But the CIA has no monopoly on mistakes. Since the end of World War II the Soviet intelligence apparatus apparently failed to detect the developing arrest in East Germany, Poland and Hungary. It completely underestimated the U. S. reaction to the Communist invasion of South Korea. It apparently was caught off base again by the U. S. landings in Lebanon, in response to Soviet meddling in the Middle East. Last year, the Soviet Union apparently misjudged Congolese willingness to swap Western colonialism for the Communist variety. There even is some indications the ease of the Red takeover in Cuba surprised the U. S. S. R.

Hazards of this lack of infallibility on both sides are enormously magnified by such a test of will as Berlin. In both Washington and Moscow, the key factor in decisions now being made is the way each intelligence service answers the crucial question: How determined is the other side? Miscalculation in this case, unlike Cuba or other fringe areas of partial commitment, could be disastrous.

NEWCOMER
The United States is a relative newcomer to large-scale peacetime intelligence operations. The CIA was founded in 1947 to help furnish raw material for foreign policy decisions and prevent a second Pearl Harbor. From very small beginnings, the CIA is now a huge bureaucracy employing 10,000 to 12,000 people in Washington alone. It correlates, evaluates and distributes information gathered by 12 or more departments, agencies and technical services with total personnel estimated at somewhere between 20,000 and 30,000.

Appropriations are concealed in the budgets of other departments. The expenditure for foreign information work probably is around $1 billion annually, although lower estimates have been published.

Despite its hush-hush character, the CIA frequently lands in print. There have been a number of apparently well-founded reports since 1948 that CIA agents have actively sought to overthrow three foreign governments—those of Iran, Guatemala and Cuba. The first two succeeded. There have been other published reports CIA agents have appeared in public as advisers to governments in Laos and South Viet Nam.

MANY SUCCESSES
While currently taking its licks and facing possible reorganization as the result of a special study ordered by President Kennedy after the abortive Cuban invasion, the CIA can cite many successes in its brief history.

It correctly advised President Harry S. Truman that the Soviet Union would abandon a move against Greece and Turkey if American support for these countries was made emphatic. Double Dollar Days -- Monday and Tuesday -- In Big Spring

High Powered Transportation

Dick Dillard of Laredo, agent for American Duster, stands below the prop on his "new" P-51. He flew the craft in from Elkhart, Ind., and it will be given a going over and a new coat of paint at Howard County Airport by O. D. Landrum of Big Spring Aero Repair.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Duster Flies P-51 In Here For Maintenance Repairs

A P-51 made its appearance at Howard County Airport Friday. It was flown in by Dick Dillard, agent for American Duster Co., out of Laredo. Dick said the airplane had been converted to a business transportation craft, and that he had arranged for it to be cleaned up, primed and repainted by O. D. Landrum of Big Spring Aero Repair, who operates the repair and maintenance shop here.

"We picked the big bird up at Elkhart, Ind.," Dillard said. "We flew into Shreveport, La., to pick up another company representative, and then flew to Sweetwater. Made the trip in one hour and seventeen minutes. Then from Sweetwater to Big Spring, from takeoff to landing, in 15 minutes. It cruises at about 350 miles per hour."

The plane is powered by a 1650-7 Packard engine rated at 1460 horsepower. It has a four-blade prop with plenty of pull.

Dillard's company has operated in the Big Spring area in crop dusting, and he will return the airplane to the shop here for the work at a later date. It will be painted a blue and white to match the colors of other aircraft. The heavy equipment, used by the Army Air Force, has been taken out and the plane converted to two-place.

Ted McClung said the slow cycle was on at the airport and that flying was off, although there were still quite a few trips made in and out, by both private and business aircraft.

Earl W. Dupue from Lexington, Ky., stopped for service early in the week; an Aero Club plane from Castle AFB, Calif.; Peter Kiewit & Son airplane in on business; Kasch Brothers have flown two business trips out of Big Spring; the Cosden airplanes have all been out; Clyde McMahon has made a business trip and Charles Reynolds, with the Sid Richardson Carbon Co., made a business trip to Houston.

Drs. F. W. Lurting, M. W. Talbot Jr., and their wives, will be at the Flying Physicians' "Fly-In" at Fort Worth this weekend when doctors from all over Texas will fly in. The group will fly to Tanglewood Lodge on Lake Texoma for Sunday breakfast.

Only Few Weeks Left Of School Vacation

By KAY LOVELAND
The summer is slipping away rapidly with only one day left in the month of July. Before we know it, school will once more be upon us—especially for those in the public schools here. From all reports, I understand school will probably begin in the latter part of August for them. Better make the most of those remaining few weeks.

How would you like to have a job measuring cotton? Sounds like hot work, doesn't it? Well, according to GARY PICKLE, it is. ROSEMARY DONICA has been in Plains this past week visiting her sister and brother-in-law. Also returned from a trip this week is SHERRY COATS. She went with her aunt and mother on a fishing trip to Lake Buchanan.

HORACE HAMILTON, who has been planning to attend Texas University in the fall, is now considering the possibilities of becoming a jet pilot after talking to Navy officials in Albuquerque, N. M.

More VA Hospital junior volunteers: MARCIA BAKER, registrar's office; CAROL ODOM, X-ray and social service; VELTON JONES, engineering and laboratory. This year's Junior Miss Big Spring, LANA LARUE FULBRIGHT, is working in social service and nursing.

Newburgh Gets New Welfare Head

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—A new welfare commissioner has been appointed in this Hudson Valley city which recently adopted a stringent relief program that has stirred wide controversy.

The City Council chose Peter Petrillo Jr., 32, to succeed John O'Donnell, who resigned as commissioner early this month on the ground that he regarded some of the new relief restrictions as illegal.

Petrillo said he regarded the new welfare program as legal and just, but that it was possible he might change his mind on some phases of it. He said every case would be judged on its own merits.

Taking a trip to Sulphur Springs this week is DANA ROSENE. She will visit with DONNA BARNETT.

Congratulations to JAMES HOWARD STEPHENS and BILL FRENCH on having such high grades at the University of Texas this past spring. James is listed magna cum laude on the College of Engineering honor roll, while Bill was named with honors on the College of Business Administration roll.

The best new 45 at the Record Shop this past week, in my opinion, is The Ventures' Delton recording of "Bluer Than Blue." It's a good instrumental, backed by another one which reminds me of "Bonanza," entitled "Silver City."

Other records which have a chance to hit the top are Tony Guy, backed by "Bless You"; Sarah Vaughn on Roulette, "Untouchable," flip side, "Hills of Assisi"; typical U. S. JEROBOAM

By T. H. Tarkenton, preacher Church of Christ, West Highway 80 P.O. Box 1325.

Following the death of Solomon, when the ten tribes pulled away, they made Jeroboam their king.

Jeroboam feared that if his people went to Jerusalem in the southern kingdom, to make their sacrifices as the Lord had commanded, then they would be led to make peace with the southern kingdom, and the twelve tribes would become united again; thus he would have no kingdom to reign over.

So he set up substitute places of worship in his kingdom, telling the people it was too much for them to go up to Jerusalem.

He also set up substitute feast days, and appointed substitute priests. He made two golden calves for the people to worship. See I Kings 11 and 12.

Jeroboam made additions and subtractions to the word of God—a thing condemned in his age, and also condemned today (Deut. 4:2; Rev. 22:18, 19). For his sins the kingdom was rent from him, and his family tragically erased from the earth (I Kings 13).

Let us beware of adding to and taking from the Word of God! More on this tomorrow.

Be with us today. Speakers: Roy Chapman, 10:30 a.m.; Howard Swinney, 7:00 p.m. —Adv.

More Recognition Scheduled To Dr. P. D. O'Brien Tuesday

More recognition comes Tuesday for Dr. P. D. O'Brien, who today steps down from the pastorate of the First Baptist Church after nearly 20 years.

He is to be honored at a special program being sponsored jointly by the Rotary Club—of which he has been a member for many years—and the Chamber of Commerce.

Occasion will be the noon luncheon of the Rotary Club at the Settles Hotel.

In addition, the mayor of the city, Dr. Lee O. Rogers, has issued a proclamation declaring Tuesday to be "Dick O'Brien Day" in Big Spring.

There will be many special guests at the Rotary luncheon. All members of the boards of the Salvation Army, YMCA, and the Chamber of Commerce (on all of which Dr. O'Brien has served) have been invited, along with several other guests.

Brief tributes to Dr. O'Brien's contributions to the community, as citizen and as minister will be paid by Rev. Don Hungerford, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church; W. C. Blankenship, former superintendent of schools, and Joe Pickle, managing editor of The Herald.

Ralph McLaughlin, Rotary president, has arranged the special program in cooperation with John Taylor, who is program chairman for the month.

PROCLAMATION

"Whereas, he has contributed with complete unselfishness his time and talent to the upbuilding of worthwhile civic organizations in our city; and

"Whereas, he has been an outstanding minister in our midst for nearly 20 years, leading his own church to new attainments; and

"Whereas, he has been shepherd, friend and counsellor to countless persons who have sought his good offices in their time of distress; and

"Whereas, he left an indelible imprint for good upon this city and all this area; and

"Whereas, above all, he has been a militant spokesman for righteousness and for Christian living;

Now therefore I, Lee O. Rogers, as Mayor of the City of Big Spring, do hereby declare that Tuesday, August 1, 1961, is hereby designated as 'Dick O'Brien Day'. In so doing, I call upon all citizens to acknowledge the good graces and great accomplishments of this outstanding citizen and minister."

Walton Offered Chief's Post

J. C. "Bill" Walton, formerly a police officer in the Big Spring department, has been offered the police chief's post in North Richland Hills, a suburb of Fort Worth.

Walton, a popular police officer here, worked for the department over five years. He was the sergeant on the day shift, when he left the department.

He has been employed in the suburb's police department for over a year and was recently made acting police chief. The chief's post there pays a minimum of $500 monthly.

BURNET, Tex. (AP)—A Johnson City woman escaped from county jail here Friday night. She is Mrs. Beatrice Bentrup, 31.

Semi-Finalists

These are the 15 semi-finalists of the International Beauty Contest from which Miss International Beauty of 1962 was selected in Long Beach, Calif. Left to right (front): Brazil, Vera Marie Brauner; Canada, Edna MacVicar; Ceylon, Kamala Athauda; China, Dolly Ma, and Finland, Marja Ryona. Middle row: Germany, Renate Moller, Holland, Stam van Baer; Iceland, Sigrun Ragnarsdottir; Ireland, Irene Kane, and Israel, Dalia Lion. Back row: Malaysia, Helen Tan; Norway, Aase-Marie Schmedding; Panama, Angie Alcover; Paraguay, Gladys Fernandez, and Spain, Carmen Cervera. Miss van Baer was the winner.

Amsterdam Girl Wins Beauty Title

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A sparkling brown-eyed charmer from Holland—much to her surprise—is Miss International Beauty of 1962.

The honor left the winner, Stanny van Baer, 19, of Amsterdam completely amazed Friday night at the International Beauty Contest.

"What can I say?" cried the dewy-eyed queen as cameras flashed in the crush of photographers following her triumph. "I didn't expect it—I'm so happy."

She is a fashion model and aspiring actress. Her little Dutch girl costume had won the points of the judges and the applause of the audience.

She had caught the judges' eyes from the start, a week ago. She won a citation in the play suit division—which in this contest takes the place of a bathing suit competition and then was named the most photogenic of the 52 entrants.

Second was Brazil's entry, Vera Marie Brauner, 19, a student teacher at Pelotas.

Other finalists finished in this order: Miss Spain, 18, Carmen Cervera; Miss Canada, 20, Edna MacVicar, and Miss Iceland, 18, Sigrun Ragnarsdottir.

Miss Holland succeeds Stella Marquez of Colombia. The lovely winner, who will represent the pageant during the year, will receive $10,000 cash.

She weighs 114 pounds, is 5-foot-6 and measures 33-23-36. She speaks English, German and her native dialect, Hongsos, and attends the Modern School of Art in Amsterdam.

Not finishing among the final five was Miss Paraguay, a brunette who captivated her listeners with an impromptu speech studded with chuckles and threatening, for a time, to continue indefinitely. The Paraguayan representative, Gladys Fernandez, 21, an aspiring concert pianist, seemed more at ease before the microphone the longer she stayed there.

She noted that her country has seven women for every man and commented, "You American men would be very welcome there—we need an increased population."

Near Record Levels In Construction

AUSTIN (AP)—Near record levels were touched in the construction industry in Texas, the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas says.

Since May, predictions of a second half upturn in 1961 seem to be materializing. There are substantial increases in the two months over 1960 figures.

Construction authorizations this year are at less than one per cent below the previous 1959 record. The authorizations total $663,699,000.

Home construction has accounted for less than half of the total authorizations.

Texas Agriculture In Good Condition

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas farmers and ranchers, with crops growing well and ranges and pastures and livestock in excellent condition, stepped up their outdoor summer work during the week.

The overall situation was very favorable, but much depends on how long the good weather will last and permit farmers to keep insects under control and clean up grassy and weedy fields, said director John Hutchinson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

For most of the state the weather turned warm and was near normal for late July. In some areas scattered showers, heavy rain and hail caused damage and delayed outdoor work.

Screwworms troubled stockmen and in some areas were reported the worst in many years. The harvesting of cotton, corn and grain sorghum went on in South Texas. Ranges were excellent where rains fell. Livestock are in good condition. Calves are moving to market.

HEAVY RAINS
Heavy rains and flooding hit the San Antonio area last weekend. Moisture was adequate over the South Central District. Boll weevil damage was heavy in cotton. Livestock and ranges are in good condition but screwworms are a problem.

Farmers in the upper Gulf Coast area got back into their fields on a limited basis. Cotton was opening. Corn, sorghums and rice crops were good, with some harvesting. Hay making has been resumed. Pastures are good and improving and cattle are in good condition. Flies and mosquitoes are causing trouble.

Showers plagued farmers in East Texas. Cattle and pastures are in excellent condition.

Moisture was spotted in Northeast Texas but generally adequate. Hay harvesting and plowing had been delayed in the wettest areas but several counties need rain. Cotton is fruiting well but insects are increasing. Corn is maturing rapidly and grain sorghum prospects are good. Forage production is heavy. The tomato harvest is nearing completion.

In North Central Texas, hay baling, potting insects and plowing stubble are major activities. Most range and pasture lands are in good condition; stock water is plentiful and livestock are in good condition.

Moisture in Central Texas is adequate. Corn and sorghums are mature and prospects are good. Bollworms and weevils are a real threat to cotton in many areas. Major activities now are applying insecticides and weed control. Peanuts are making good progress; melons are moving to market; pastures improved and livestock are doing good. Hay is being harvested.

Row crops made excellent growth and ranges and pastures are above average in Central West Texas. Some cotton is blooming; cattle and calves are fat; and some calves and lambs are being marketed. Screwworms are bad.

Moisture conditions in far West Texas are good except in the far west counties where ranges are very dry. Recent rains in other sections have improved range conditions. Screwworms are the worst in many years. All crops are making excellent growth with some bollworms reported. Controls are being applied.

COTTON HURT
Heavy rains and hail destroyed 8,000 acres of cotton in Hall County. Rains damaged crops in Motley and Wilbarger counties. Moisture was surplus in 10 counties around Vernon and adequate in all others in the Rolling Plains District. A limited acreage of sorghum had been harvested. Screwworms are a problem.

Moisture is adequate in all except two counties in the South Plains District. Cotton is making excellent progress but hot, dry weather is needed. Sorghum, corn, castor beans, soybeans and sesame prospects are good. Ranges and livestock are in excellent condition. The vegetable harvest is continuing.

Moisture is adequate in the Panhandle. The condition of ranges and livestock was good.

Shown at the right is Hajime "Jimmy" Kondo, a Japanese student being sponsored by Bruce Frazier. Jimmy wrote a letter to The Herald in November, 1960, asking for a sponsor and Frazier answered. He will be attending Howard County Junior College for about two years before going on to some other college.

Japanese Student Here For Studies At HCJC

By JOE BEYER
Hajime Kondo, Urawa, Japan, has finally realized a 10-year ambition. He has come to America to attend school.

His story began in November of last year when he wrote several newspapers in the United States asking for a sponsor. A story and his picture appeared in the Nov. 13 issue of the Herald and the sequence of events which was to bring him to Big Spring was under way.

Bruce Frazier, an instructor at Howard County Junior College, answered his letter and began the paperwork necessary to get Hajime Kondo to Big Spring.

SIMPLE
"It was quite a simple matter," Frazier said. "Jimmy, as he prefers to be called, had excellent grades. It was too late to enter school last year so we waited until this fall. His early arrival will give him the chance to become acquainted with Big Spring before school begins."

Jimmy arrived in Big Spring Tuesday after 19 days on ship and two days on a bus.

"I did not realize how big the United States is," he said. "Texas alone is twice as large as Japan."

He has been commuting 40 miles between his home and Meji Gakuin University in Tokyo where he has been attending school.

Upon transfer to Howard County Junior College, Jimmy will receive credit for about 60 hours, but he has other credits which are not being transferred at this time.

While here he will be majoring in English or Journalism, taking a wide range of subjects preparatory to attending another college later.

"I can read and write it well but have never had an opportunity to speak English very much," he said.

Association with American instructors at college has given Jimmy a glimpse of the United States. In his brief stay in Big Spring, however, he has already seen parts of the real United States which only a first-hand experience can give.

"Hardly anyone walks here," he observed. "Almost everyone rides, yet the city is quiet."

AMAZED

After the metropolis of Tokyo, West Texas appears more like a vast prairie. He was especially amazed by the presence of "mountains and deserts all in the same place."

Jimmy commented that houses and business establishments all seemed new as though they had not been around long.

He would like to work but his student passport does not permit this for one year. Jimmy has worked for one of the leading publications in Japan, and would like to work for a newspaper here whenever he can.

In the meantime, he will be studying and trying to learn as much about the United States as possible. Jimmy wrote his reasons in the letter in November and stated the again in person.

"If this will be useful for the two nations in the future, I am very glad to have come."

Lot Clearers Asked To Contact City

Persons interested in cleaning lots where owners fail to comply with the city weed ordinance should contact the public works department, according to Bruce Dunn, director.

He asked that proposed prices be a stipulated amount for each square yard to be cleaned. This should not be contingent on the size of each lot or number of lots to be cleaned.

As yet there are no lots which need clearing because owners notified of violating the ordinance have time to comply. When lots should be cleaned must be determined by the city attorney.

After preliminary letters have been sent to owners stating that the condition of their land is in violation of the ordinance, they are given 10 days to comply.

If this fails to get action, the public works department is instructed to get the area cleaned and have the owner assessed for the cost.

Officer Election Set For Tuesday

COAHOMA — Election of officers for the Thomas & Pelton Post No. 147, American Legion, will be held at 8 p.m. Tues., at the Burr Brown Cafe, Commander Shelby Pelton, said Friday.

A meeting had previously been called for last Tuesday night at the same place, but action was deferred because not enough members were present.

Pelton said all Legionnaires and veterans were invited to attend and join. Coffee, Cokes, and doughnuts will be served.

Insect Infestation Looms As Major Threat To Crops

Insect infestation has shown an increase on the farms of the county during the past week, according to a survey made by Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent.

Angular leaf spot, a disease which attacks the leaves and can seriously damage the yield as well as the quality of the cotton, is increasing, he said. Two weeks ago, Taylor reported that certain fields in nearly all parts of the county were showing signs of this disease. Last week, he reports, many fields were found severely infested with leaf spot. The blowing rains which have marked July are largely responsible for the spread of this disease, Taylor said.

"Unfortunately," Taylor observed, "there is no practical control for this disease. Where the field is already infected, there is little the farmer can do about the pest."

Angular leaf spot usually appears on irrigated cotton. Two years ago it made its initial appearance in dry land fields of this county. This year, with the exceptionally abundant rains that have fallen, it is making itself sufficiently evident to pose a threat to the crops.

Fleahoppers have shown a heavy increase in numbers over the entire county in the past week. Heavy infestation was noted by Taylor in fields in Coahoma, R-Bar, Fairview and Elbow communities. Light to heavy infestations have been reported from the Knot, Luther, Vealmoor and Lomax communities which means the pest is in all parts of the county. Taylor said that the early cotton which has made satisfactory growth throughout the season continues to fruit heavily and so far has suffered little insect damage. Younger cotton is just now reaching the stage where insects, particularly the Fleahoppers, can be damaging.

Regarding checks for the Fleahoppers, Taylor suggests that the size of the plant should be considered. Extremely heavy numbers of fleahoppers were found in many fields of May cotton but the damage being done was negligible. In the area north of Big Spring, fleahoppers have increased in much of the late June cotton and are sufficiently heavy in some fields to justify use of poison at once. When a farmer finds as many as 25 fleahoppers per 100 plants in cotton of this age, he should resort to poisoning.

So far, bollworm buildup has not developed on a countywide basis. One irrigated field in Lomax showed heavy worm infestation and control measures were deemed necessary. Medium to heavy egg deposits were also observed in irrigated cotton northwest of Coahoma. An increasing number of millers were noted in the fields during the week. This could mean more bollworms later on.

Cabbage loopers are dying almost as fast as they are hatched and this has kept this insect from becoming a problem. Aphid infestation is still present in many fields but generally speaking the presence of these pests has been spotted. They do not pose a major threat as yet.

Taylor said that the survey revealed a general increase in insect activity and that this reflects a possibility of a buildup of harmful insects.

He urged all farmers to continue to make close checks of their fields.

Wandering Mother Back To Care For Six Puppies

The mother who disappeared Monday leaving behind six dependent puppies has been returned, according to Larson Lloyd.

She was found at Scenic Mountain Thursday evening, only a few hours after a story about the orphaned pups appeared in the Herald. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper McCroney, 1001 Broadway, found her and took her home until the Lloyds could be contacted.

"We began receiving calls almost immediately," Mrs. Lloyd said. "Some persons offered their mother dogs. Others wanted to take one or more of them home. Others just called to see if the mother had been found."

Juliette Low, the name given the mother, gave birth to the pups July 4 at the Girl Scout Hut, 1407 Lancaster. Three others died shortly after they were born.

Famed Pony Roundup Held

CHINCOTEAGUE, Va. (AP) — Some 50 wild ponies, with new brands burned into their hides, returned to Assateague Island Friday to wait for another roundup.

Seventy-five of the little colts were sold at auction last week during the annual firemen's carnival. They brought prices ranging from $47.50 to $146.

The ponies not sold at the auction swam across the narrow channel to Assateague Friday afternoon in the same manner the larger herd was brought over Wednesday morning.

The annual auction has been sponsored by the firemen for about 36 years. Before that it was held each year since the middle of the last century.

County Pays $3,259 For Audit

Audit of the Howard County books, just completed, cost the county $3,259.50, according to a statement submitted to the county commissioners by Neil Hilliard, CPA, who had contract to make the audit.

The auditor made his report to the commissioners' court last Thursday morning. Other than for a shortage in the office of the justice of peace, Precinct 1, Place 1, the report showed the financial records of the county in good shape.

Draft Board Office Gets Flurry Of Calls

By SAM BLACKBURN

For many, many months, no public office in all Howard County has presented a quieter, more orderly and sedate appearance than the Howard County Selective Service Board. This agency, housed in the basement of the court house, has been going quietly about its affairs and other than for the relatively few individuals with whom it had business, few gave the office even a thought.

This happy, orderly condition continued until last week.

It was changed when President Kennedy warned the people of the potential threat to peace that the Berlin situation poses. In the course of his discussion, he said he intended to hike the number of men in the nation's armed forces.

This really changed things insofar as the draft board office was concerned.

"That telephone," declared Mrs. Louise M. Nuckolls, chief clerk, pointing to the instrument on her desk, "must have rung 500 times the day after the President's speech."

"The clerk who helps in this office on a part time basis had no opportunity to do any of her regular work—she was kept busy on the phone. And very often, she had to ask me for whatever information the inquiry concerned. So, as a result, neither of us managed to do much office work."

The bulk of the calls, she said, were from younger men who are on the rolls of the draft board. Many were calls by wives and mothers of potential draftees.

The men would ask:

"When will I be called up?"

Their wives, mothers, and sometimes their sweethearts, would demand information on the same subject.

LITTLE INFO

Mrs. Nuckolls could not provide much information. She only knew that the number of men to be called for preinduction medical exams in August had been upped from 7 to 35 and that order had been issued before the President made his speech.

So far, the office has no orders to increase the number of inductees nor to post any notices for larger numbers of preinduction examination candidates.

Possibly such increases will be ordered but to date all the office kn-ows is what its staff has read in the newspapers.

Recruiting officers for the armed forces in the post office and elsewhere in town said there have been a scattered few younger men dropping in to ask casual questions about enlisting. However, none of these inquirers seem to have made up their mind to take the plunge.

Mrs. Nuckolls said that another sidelight on the President's message was provided by a man who came to her desk. He was seeking the Soil Conservation Office which is at the other end of the building. He volunteered the information that what he wanted to talk to the soil men about was how to go about building a safe fallout shelter.

Mrs. Nuckolls told him where the office was located. She did not know if he got the information he was seeking.

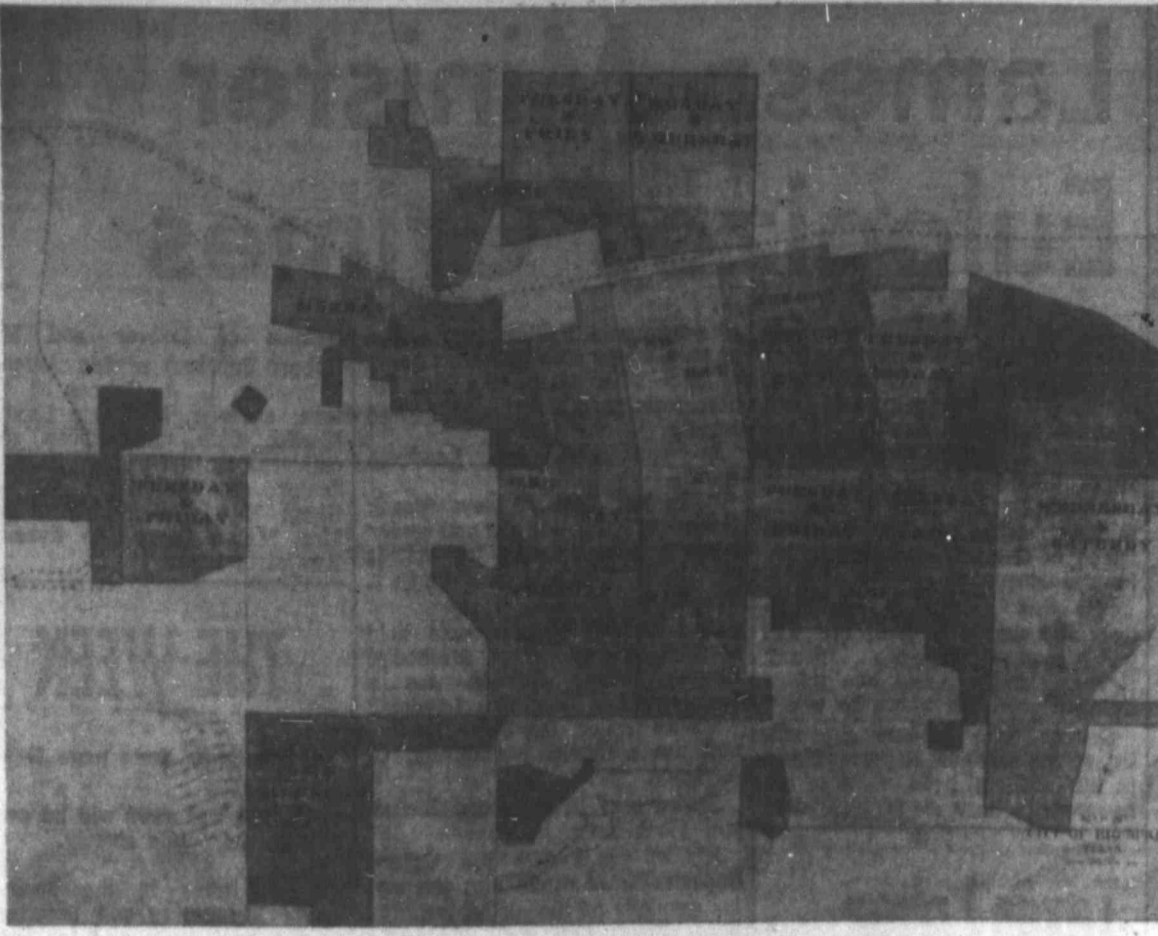

Meantime, the phone had ceased to ring constantly at the draft office. Friday, it was just ringing every now and then.

Odessa Oilman Purchases Ranch

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP)—Bobby French, Odessa oilman and ranchman, has purchased the 700 Springs Ranch, 21 miles southeast of here, for more than $1 million.

The seller was Charles Schriener-Jr. of Kerrville, member of a pioneer Hill Country ranching family. The price for the 14,354-acre ranch was $75 per acre.

French also bought 3,580 Angora goats from Pierce Hoggett, Junction ranchman, who has had the ranch leased for 9 years, for $40,000. Hoggett is moving his cattle and sheep to an 18,000-acre ranch near here which he has leased.

New Garbage Routes

Effective Monday, the routes for garbage collection have been changed so that in some areas days for collection are also changed. Routes have been made smaller and crews will work two shifts instead of one as previously. Housewives are urged to keep a lookout for collectors so they can know what time to expect them in the future.

New Garbage Schedules Go Into Effect Beginning Monday

The schedule of garbage collection will be changed, beginning Monday, according to Bruce Dunn, director of public works.

"A sixth truck has been added to the department," he said, "so we decided to go to two shifts." Three crews will operate three shifts on each shift with one shift working from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. and the other from noon until 8 p.m. With this system there should be only a few minutes of delay in the event a truck breaks down, according to Dunn.

"All five we had before worked at the same time and if one broke down it meant an entire crew was delayed as long as it took to repair the truck," Dunn said.

With the new system the size of each truck route is smaller. Routes will be changed and in many instances, days of garbage collection will also change.

Dunn said it might be helpful for housewives to watch for the truck until they learn when to expect it. Under this system trucks should always be nearby on time.

Drivers have been going over their routes and the crews with them so there will be no delays even from the first, Dunn said.

"We hope this will improve the quality of our service," Dunn added.

Garbage men will complete collections earlier and the crews for commercial routes can begin work earlier. According to the old schedule, which had day crews working from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., the commercial crews worked from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. Now they will work from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m.

Legion Demands Cleanup In Cuba

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Legionnaires called Saturday for military action to effect removal of the Fidel Castro regime from Cuba.

American Legion convention delegates also adopted a resolution stating recent Communist successes are "due in no small part to the inept and floundering, stumbling and fumbling foreign policy of the United States."

Another resolution commended President Kennedy for his firm stand on the Berlin crisis but added: "we ask him to take a tougher stand on Cuba."

Minutes later the 1,000 Legionnaires cheered as Alvin M. Owsley, their former national commander from Dallas, said: "We are tired of losing wars through the stupidity of the diplomatic table. All Americans will join with us in saying we'll take no further insults from big countries or little ones."

"This nation has been stepped upon and we have yielded. The rest of the world has become suspicious of our concern for them."

The foreign policy resolution called on the United States to reaffirm the Monroe Doctrine and to use promptly and vigorously all economic and military resources to prevent further establishment of any Communist government in the Western Hemisphere.

"We urge our government to call upon the Organization of American States immediately to cooperate with the United States to take all necessary military action in order to bring about the fall of the Castro Communist regime."

"In the event the Organization of American States, or any of its members, refuses to join us in this undertaking, we then call upon our government to take such action unilaterally in order to accomplish this objective."

On the state level, the convention requested establishment of a committee to check public school texts for books which fail to augment and promote true Americanism.

A resolution said some books now in use foster one worldism and subjugation of U.S. sovereignty to the United Nations and world court.

forever abolish the social and national reasons for any wars.

"To abolish war, to establish eternal peace on the globe—that is the historic mission of communism."

"The peaceful coexistence of socialist and capitalist states is an objective necessary in the development of human society. A war cannot and should not serve as a means of solution of international arguments."

"In case the imperialist aggressors dare to unleash a new world war, people will not any longer tolerate the (capitalist) structure which involves them in a disastrous war. They will sweep and bury imperialism."

PIE IN THE SKY

After promising pie in the sky for just about everybody in the Soviet Union, the program said: "When the Soviet people enjoy all this well-being under communism, hundreds of millions of persons throughout the world will say 'we are for communism, not through war, but because of its more perfect organization of society, the flourishing of its productive sources and the creation of all the conditions for the well-being of the people which is capturing the heart and minds of everyone.'"

Economic aid to underdeveloped countries was declared to be a cornerstone of the party's international policy.

This policy of aid to various underdeveloped countries has become something of a bone of contention with Red China. The same thing is true of peaceful coexistence with capitalist countries, which now has been declared to be an article of faith by the new program.

Johnson's Pick Opens Door For Former Herald Staffer

Jack Douglas, who served as sports editor of the Big Spring Daily Herald during the early '40s, has been named city editor of the Evening Star-Telegram in Fort Worth.

He succeeds Charles K. Boatner, who took a leave of absence from the Fort Worth paper to become administrative assistant to Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Johnson announced the appointment Saturday, adding that it would be effective Tuesday. Boatner has been a Star Telegram employe for 25 years and city editor for 13 years.

Boatner is a close friend of Johnson. The friendship grew out of Boatner's assignment to cover Johnson's campaign for the Senate in 1948.

Douglas worked on the San Angelo Standard-Times and Houston Chronicle before joining the Star-Telegram staff.

Douglas joined the Herald's staff in September, 1940, after graduating from the University of Texas and remained until he went into the Armed Forces the latter part of 1941. He served as a foot soldier in the European Theatre of Operations.

He has been serving as assistant city editor of the Evening Star-Telegram.

Editor of the newspaper is Henry Mathews Jr., who came here after serving 4½ years as night city editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. He formerly was with the Amarillo Globe-Times and News.

School Bands Begin Early Start Tuesday

Summer classes in band begin at the junior high schools and the high school Tuesday, according to Bill A. Jones, director of the Goliad Junior High band.

Parents interested in enrolling their children in the classes should attend a meeting with band directors Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Goliad Junior High band room. Jones, Joe Burchfield of Rannels Junior High, and Doug Wiehe, High School band, will be present.

Bands must begin their work before the regular term of school so they are in performing condition on the first day of school, Jones said. The early start also gives the students a planned activity to solve the problem of what to do with spare time at the end of the summer.

Jones said students who start as beginners in the summer months usually advance rapidly to the intermediate group when school starts.

The Soviet Union had a chance to edit it virtually wrecked the Communist party in the United States.

SPY NETWORKS

The Soviet Union maintains at least two major spy networks in every technically advanced nation.

The operations have been revealed by Soviet defectors and duly documented in public hearings.

First, and foremost, is the network operated by the Committee on State Security—KGB—in Moscow which concerns itself with political intelligence.

The second net is that known as the Glavnoye Razvedyvatel'noye—GRU—which specializes in the collection of military intelligence.

At the moment, the KGB, which has headquarters in the Machovaya district of Moscow, reportedly is headed by A. N. Shelepin, a member of the Central Committee of the Communist party and a member of the Foreign Affairs Commission of the Supreme Soviet.

The KGB, which was once known as the notorious MVD, CHEKA, OGPU and GUGB, contains four directorates.

DIRECTORATE

The 1st Directorate corresponds roughly to the U.S. National Security Council in that it directs over-all operations and reports to the decision-makers.

The 2nd Directorate is the terrorist group and has no known counterpart in the Western world.

The 3rd and 4th Directorates are concerned with collection of industrial and commercial information, including data on patents and new manufacturing methods.

The name of Lt. Gen. A. S. Panushkin, former ambassador to the United States, is connected by the State Department's directory of Soviet officials to the KGB. Some people believe Panushkin now heads the infamous 2nd Directorate.

There is a subsection of the 2nd Directorate known as Division 9, which specializes in murder, kidnapping and blackmail for Soviet political purposes.

Division 9 operates not only in the Soviet Union but throughout the world. Division 9 has left a trail of murder for all to see.

TERRORIST EFFECT

It is only rarely that these political murders come to light for there are those in the Western world who hold that to publicize them contributes to their terrorist effect.

The list of murders laid at the doorstep of Division 9 is long and includes Czechoslovakia's Jan Masaryk and the assassination of Leon Trotsky in Mexico.

The details and operations of the Soviet espionage and intelligence systems are known all over the Western world as a result of the defections of Igor Gouzenko, a Soviet Embassy code clerk, in Canada in 1946, and that of Vlad-

Lamesa Minister Eulogizes Grimes

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—In final tribute to veteran Abilene editor Frank Grimes, a minister said Saturday he was a man of faith and he achieved a place in the hearts of his fellow men which he never planned.

Dr. E. D. Landreth, a Lamesa minister who was a longtime friend of Grimes, also said in his funeral sermon:

"He was a citizen extraordinary. He was a man of integrity and a man of courage. . . . Frank Grimes thought about one thing: Doing a good job where he was."

Grimes, who became city editor of the Abilene Reporter-News in 1917 and had been editor of the newspapers here since 1919, died of pneumonia Friday at the age of 69. He was able to return home in June after 10 months in a tuberculosis sanatorium near San Angelo.

In conclusion, Dr. Landreth said:

"The last time I saw Frank Grimes, I said, 'I'll see you later.' I can say that again, for that is my faith. 'I'll see you later, Frank.'"

Grimes of Denver and Mrs. Robert Barnhart of San Antonio; a brother, L. A. Grimes of Abilene; a sister, Mrs. Ode Kidd of Martha, Okla., and three stepchildren, Maj. Gen. William C. Senter of Washington, D. C., Glynn Harris of Beaumont and Mrs. Milton Gipe, who lives on Kwajalein Island.

THE WEEK

week. The bad news will be available to the public shortly.

Bright items in the business news: Big Spring will become a new district office site for Social Security. The office will serve seven counties, may have around that many employes. Also, civilian workers at Webb got pay raises averaging something over three and a half per cent. This means better than $6,500 a month pouring into trade channels.

The Selective Service Office will be a busier place. With world tension tightening, the August draft call has been stepped up. Howard County will send 35 young men—instead of the seven previously allotted—into uniform. The monthly quota may keep growing.

Old Settlers staged their annual reunion, and, as usual, had one fine time. There was visiting, and food, and fiddleplaying, and dancing, and a lot of good fellowship, the flavor of generations past.

The YMCA terminated its active efforts in a building debt retirement campaign. About $50,000 was raised toward a needed $56,000, but the Association will be able to whittle its interest payments to some degree.

Various projects were taking entrants. Girls were signing up for the Howard County Farm Bureau Queen contest (Aug. 5). Entries were being received for a Quarter Horse show (Aug. 5), and for the Junior Rodeo (Aug. 10-12).

One of our stalwarts, former Mayor G. W. Dabney, got tipped over by a heart attack. But he is winning the battle.

Another name in the news: Carlton Carr, who goes to a Veterans Administration post in Washington, after having been on the VA Hospital staff since before the institution actually opened.

And, if you didn't realize that time is marching on, the Chamber of Commerce is arranging a cash award—$500—for the county's first bale of cotton. This shouldn't be too far away.

Texas Labor Eyes GOP; Mahon Lashed

GALVESTON (AP)—The director of the Texas AFL-CIO Political Committee said Saturday the group may abandon support of some Texas congressmen in favor of "any acceptable Republican."

Don Ellinger, director of the Committee on Political Education, said:

"We will look over the records of all candidates in the 1962 elections and we will support any acceptable Republican" against the men in nine districts.

The Houston Chronicle said the men on Ellinger's list of "worst congressmen" are John Dowdy of Athens, Republican Bruce Alger of Dallas, Joe Kilgore of McAllen, Olin Teague of College Station, Omar Burleson of Anson, Walter Rogers of Pampa, George Mahon of Lubbock, O. C. Fisher of San Angelo and Bob Casey of Houston.

School Tax Rate Raised

GARDEN CITY—The Glasscock County board of school trustees voted Friday night to increase the school tax rate from $1.40 to $1.50 per $100 valuation.

The increase means that slightly more than $8,000 per year will be added to the district's income. The Glasscock County district operated on a budget of about $153,000 the last fiscal year.

B. L. Murphy, superintendent of schools, said the system was still in need of a high school principal who can teach chemistry and biology.

The school district is also in a position to offer a teaching position to the man's wife, Murphy stated.

Billie Gill Rites Today

Funeral was planned today for Billie Gill Sr., 63, who died Saturday in the Luther Community after a year's illness.

Funeral is set for 4 p.m. in the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. Darrell Robinson, pastor of the Midway Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Horace Whiteside, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church. Burial was to be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Gill was a Gay Hill school bus driver since 1954. He was born in Jefferson County on Aug. 18, 1897 and came to Howard County in 1940 from Taylor County. He was a resident here since that time, except for three years spent in Hereford. He married the former Miss Ella Strickland in 1916 at Bradshaw.

Survivors include the widow; two sons, Melvin L. Gill, Long Beach, Calif., Billie Gill Jr., Lake Charles, La.; three daughters, Mrs. Horace Puckett, Luther, Mrs. Ed Sergeant, Eastland, Mrs. Dave English, Odessa; three sisters, Mrs. T. J. Middleton, Abilene, Mrs. Ethel Cathey, Irving, Mrs. Earl Blackburn, Grand Prairie; one brother, L-on Gill, Roswell, N. M.; and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of relatives.

He is survived by his widow and three sons, Clarence Manley, Duncan Okla., D. Manley, Nocona, and L. H. Manley.

Attorney Studies Legality Of Electric Rate Hike

COLORADO CITY (SC) — City Attorney John Worrell said Saturday he had not had time to study the legality of the city council's action Wednesday in approving an electric rate increase without advance notice or public hearing.

"In my investigation so far, it appears that everything is in order," he said.

Bailey Hits GOP Cutback Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said Saturday Republican demands that domestic federal spending be cut to offset new defense costs are excuses to "stop the clock on economic growth and social progress."

"If the Republicans want to stop the clock on progress on the domestic scene," Bailey said in a statement, "they have every right to argue their case, but it is transparent hypocrisy for them to equate this partisan obstruction with the nation's security in a time of crisis."

Bailey's fire was aimed at statements by GOP congressional leaders last Thursday pledging complete support of President Kennedy in the Berlin crisis but urging cutbacks on domestic spending.

"The current Republican argument," Bailey said, "seems to be that the high cost of making up for Republican neglect of our conventional forces and our civil defense program means that we should not carry out programs to repair the damage caused by Republican inaction to our own country."

He said Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Senate minority leader, says, "We cannot have guns and butter, that we have to make the choice of guns or butter." But, Bailey said, Dirksen offers no

Only Arguments, Verdict Remain In Eichmann Trial

JERUSALEM (AP) — Except for the final arguments of the attorneys — and the verdict, the trial of Adolf Eichmann is over.

After 70 trial days, during 25 of which Eichmann was the witness, the world knows this man as it has known few others among the cold leadership and bureaucracy developed by the Nazis in their bloodthirsty pursuit of the Jews. And in the final days of the trial last week, under calm questions from the three judges who must decide his fate, Eichmann probably came to know himself better than he wants to.

The question of whether he lives in prison or dies on the gallows has receded in Israel as those who study the record of the trial consider the deeper meanings of his life.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion did not attend the trial although he originally intimated he might.

NOT A GLANCE

Justice Minister Pinhas Rosen was in the audience two or three times, Foreign Minister Golda Meir and a few other members of the Israeli government dropped in—but Ben-Gurion refused steadfastly to have a look at the man he considers an arch enemy of his people.

But there is no doubt the prime minister has achieved what he aimed at when he announced in the Israeli Parliament on May 23, 1960, that Eichmann had been captured and brought from Argentina to Israel to be put on trial.

The aim was to tell the world the story of the wholesale destruction of six million Jews by Nazi extermination machinery and to make the younger generation of Israelis more deeply aware of this most tragic chapter in the 3,000-year-old history of their people.

Until the trial opened April 11, Eichmann was jailed in the British-built police fortress at Jlamah near Haifa. For eight months he had seen almost no one but his Hebrew-speaking guards and an Israeli police officer of "Bureau 66" who interrogated him in German about every phase of his past.

HANG HIMSELF

What he said was tape recorded, typed out and rechecked by him for errors. It was at this stage Eichmann declared: "Perhaps I should hang myself in public."

The trial recessed last Tuesday, until this Thursday, to give prosecution and defense counsel time to prepare their summations.

The three-man court heard evidence from 110 witnesses for the prosecution; received six affidavits of testimony heard abroad, also on behalf of the prosecution, and received 1,434 prosecution documents including a whole row of books.

The material presented for the defense was more modest in size —comprising 10 affidavits taken abroad, supplemented by 109 documents. Going through all the evidence and supplementary material, sifting the essential from the less important and weighing all the arguments is likely to take the judges some time. There already are voices doubting whether a verdict can be handed down in October as anticipated.

TESTIMONY

The prosecution brought in testimony about the beatings, gasings, shootings, torturing by which the Nazi death machine snuffed out countless Jewish lives. Some of the testimony brought gasps even from some present who had been in death camps. The testimony firmly linked Eichmann to the Nazi "final solution of the Jewish problem."

When Eichmann's turn came to defend himself, he made a point of noting that though he was born in Germany 55 years ago, he had been educated in Austria. That was when presiding Justice Moshe Landau tried to probe deeper into Eichmann's claim that he had never been an anti-Semite. Landau asked Eichmann whether he had no second thoughts on the Nazi party's atrocities after discriminatory anti-Jewish laws were promulgated in 1935 by the Hitler regime.

COOKED AND EATEN

Eichmann's reply was he had just come from Austria and that there the general attitude had been that "nothing was being eaten as hot as it was being cooked."

He deplored that Hitler used the expression anti-Semitism because this would include Arabs and other Semitic peoples. Obviously, he added, it would have been more appropriate if Hitler's adherents would have classified themselves as "anti-Judeans."

Several Israeli commentators have expressed the view that the trial of Eichmann is first of all a trial of Hitler's totalitarian state and the blind fanatics it was able to produce — perhaps even more: a trial of man's inhumanity to man.

In this light, the question of whether a single man—Eichmann—is sentenced to death drops into a secondary role.

Midland Girl, Family Gun Victim, Dies

MIDLAND (AP) — Vera Louise Kinsey, 15, who saw her father shoot her three brothers, a sister and himself to death, died Friday night of a gunshot wound inflicted by her father, Fred Milton Kinsey.

Kinsey and the others died shortly after the shooting Monday at their farm home near here.

Vera Louise ran 2 1/2 miles to tell neighbors of the shootings. She was wounded in the abdomen.

The mother, Mrs. Vera Kinsey, was in Fort Worth where she had given birth to a baby and placed it for adoption.

Mrs. Kinsey, 41, told police and newsmen that the father had filed for divorce because she became pregnant by another man.

Officers found a note which said, in part, "The kids have to go. They'll have a better home. Mother is coming."

Mrs. Kinsey visited the wounded child for the first time Tuesday. At the time, Vera Louise did not know the brothers, sister and father were dead.

Attendants allowed Mrs. Kinsey only a brief visit.

Mrs. Kinsey had little to say after the child asked, "Mommy, how is Daddy?" Mrs. Kinsey only sobbed.

Vera Louise then asked, "Why did daddy shoot us?" Mrs. Kinsey again had no reply.

The dead included J. D. Kinsey, 17; Johnny, 13; Jay, 8, and Lilly, 7. All were dressed in their pajamas. Kinsey, 58, was dressed in khaki trousers and a sports shirt.

Sewing Class

Among work done by volunteers at the Big Spring State Hospital is assistance with Occupational Therapy. Here Mrs. Paul C. Young, Big Spring, and Mrs. Robbie Latimer, Coahoma, right, assist a patient with sewing. Volunteers furnish sewing boxes and material to work on in addition to teaching patients how to sew.

Volunteer Workers Have Vital Positions

By JOE BEYER

Volunteer workers are an important part of the Big Spring State Hospital, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent. Without them, much would be lacking in the way of comfort and companionship for patients.

More than 500 such persons go at least occasionally to give their services where needed at the hospital. About 30 of the 441 who come regularly are Junior Volunteers.

Junior Volunteers are not much different from adults. They work in almost all areas, working on all wards. All are checked for preference and suitability for work on the wards and work is usually in areas the volunteers prefer. This allows all to work where they can do the best.

letter-writing. Businessmen allow patients to use their facilities at special rates to permit patients to bowl, swim, play miniature golf and participate in similar recreations.

Volunteers also help patients after they leave the hospital. They talk to the patient's family and help prepare for the return home. They help the patient's employer learn what to expect from the patient. They visit occasionally to talk over problems which the patient may have.

Most volunteers are local, according to Mrs. Hyre, but many come from surrounding cities and communities.

"Wherever they may come from makes little difference. Their work is appreciated just as much by members of the hospital staff and by the patients," she said.

LETTER

To indicate how the patients feel she read a portion of a letter written by a patient to volunteers who come regularly from Midland.

"I am proud to see the ladies . . . It is like a holiday, it changes everything. . . It is not time wasted for sure. . ."

Frequent expressions of thanks in The Round Up, a monthly paper written by patients and produced through volunteer assistance, also point up the sentiments of the patients.

WOMEN

Most volunteers are women. Although men can be as much help, especially with young boys at the hospital, they often lack the time. Most activities for patients are scheduled during hours men normally work, but cognizance is being given to the fact that many would like to volunteer. Work is being done to tailor the volunteer program to include more work for men.

Many adults have families and must sacrifice to do volunteer work. This apparently does not deter them, as the number will readily show. Some even have to hire babysitters for the periods they are absent from the home. Mrs. Lou Hyre, volunteer coordinator, said.

Most consistent workers are those who are active in church work. Next in line are persons with civic or service clubs. However, volunteers cannot really be classified, Mrs. Hyre said.

SUPPLIES

Some items furnished by volunteers for patients are supplies for Occupational Therapy, such as cloth scraps, lumber, sewing boxes and small tools. Eight odorizers were recently obtained for Ward 10-B. Clothing is frequently donated for both men and women.

Cookies, school draperies, glasses, hearing aids, cosmetics, cigarettes and tobacco, candy, reading materials, stationery and flowers are only a few other items. The list could go on and on, according to Mrs. Hyre.

But a volunteer's material donation is perhaps not the most important role of a volunteer. Personal association with a patient lets him know someone is interested, thereby stimulating his interest in himself and others.

WORK DAY

For many volunteers the day begins much like a work day of any employe. They usually go to work about 9 a.m., but a few come as early as 8 a.m. Some work as late as 9:30 p.m. when the dances are over.

Specialist groups include beauticians, ministers and persons with special skills. Persons who know more than one language assist in

Fire Causes Damage To Car

A car fire started by carburetor backfiring caused damage to the motor, wiring and hood at 200 NE 2nd Saturday morning before firemen could reach the scene and put out the blaze. The car belonged to Elias Arndarez, 509 N. Johnson.

No damage was reported from a fire at the Manhattan Cafe, 206 W. 3rd, at 12:15 a.m. Saturday. It was extinguished with dry chemicals. Firemen attributed the cause to grease which fell behind the stove.

Sen. Goldwater Slates Visit Here Aug. 12

Senator Barry Goldwater is to visit Big Spring Aug. 12, in his role as an active Air Force Reservist.

Goldwater is a Brigadier General in the AF Reserve, maintains an active interest in military affairs, keeps up requirements of his rank, and is a qualified jet pilot.

He will be on a tour of various air bases in connection with Air Reserve work, and is due to fly in here from Boise, Idaho.

He is to address officers of the Base on the night of the 12th in a formal "dining-in." Because of the military nature of his visit here, it is expected that the Senator will have little opportunity for civilian contacts.

It is possible that Goldwater will be accompanied here by Col. Carey B. McCoy, now attached to an Air Force Reserve unit in Washington with which Goldwater is actively identified. Col. McCoy was stationed at Webb for a number of years.

The Stanton Hospital was first put into operation in 1939 with the late Leslie Hall, M. D., as the first member of the staff. The hospital remained in operation for more than a year, but was closed until 1941 after Dr. Hall joined the Army. In 1941, Doctors Virgil and Nell Sanders, now of Medical Arts Hospital in Big Spring, reopened the hospital and remained until 1948. Until 1948 the hospital was located in the building now occupied by Bentley's Furniture.

Construction of a new hospital building was completed in 1949, and Dr. Don Gaddis, M. D., was the first doctor to hold practice in the new building. He remained until Dec. 16, 1957, when the hospital was closed. On Sept. 26, 1958, the hospital reopened and has been in operation since that date.

Army Prefers White Sands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., said Friday he and the Army preferred the White Sands, N. M., Missile Proving Grounds as the launching site for the first U. S. manned moon probe.

The three armed services, Rutherford said, will submit to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration their choices for the launching site.

He said he understood the Navy preferred a site in the Pacific near Hawaii or the Christmas Islands and that the Air Force first choice probably was Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Labor To Plan For Politics

GALVESTON (AP)—Texas organized labor meets this week to plan how to strengthen its political power and settle a dispute over state policy controls.

About 1,000 delegates are expected for the opening Monday of the Texas AFL-CIO convention.

The emphasis on politics at the four-day meeting is indicated by a Monday night rally sponsored by the State Committee on Political Education (COPE). Speakers include Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

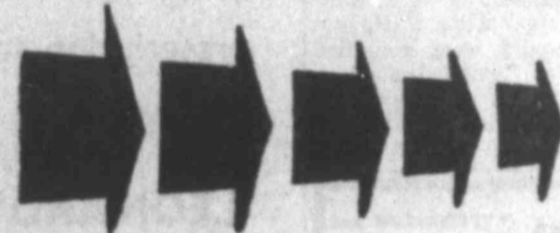

The wrangle over policy matters may be settled before the Monday night "COPE pow wow."

Reports on a July 8 meeting of the state executive board will be placed before the convention Monday afternoon. Constitutional interpretations by President H. S. Brown were upheld, 15-6, by the executive board and settle a dispute served notice it would appeal to the convention.

The dispute centers around Brown, a former AFL official, and Fred Schmidt, a former CIO official who is state secretary-treasurer.

Schmidt's backers contend his office has been bypassed on state headquarters policy decision since Brown was elected president in January to fill the unexpired term of Jerry Hollernan, who resigned to become assistant secretary of labor.

Another issue is a proposed four-cent increase in the per capita tax for support of state operations.

Barber New Leader At Olympia Fields

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO (AP)—Jerry Barber, a watch-fob golfer with a king sized swing, shamed the game's Golliaths Saturday by shooting his second straight sub-par round and taking the halfway lead in the PGA championship with a score of 136.

his playing partners — Arnold Palmer, the new British Open Champion, who shot 72 for 145, and Masters winner Gary Player of South Africa, who had a 74 for 146.

The first round leader, Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., could do no better than a 72 after opening with a 67 and held fourth place at 139 — one shot ahead of a trio, tied at 140. They were defending champion Jay Hebert, who had 69-72; bespectacled Ernest Vossler, 8-72, and tough Ted Kroll, who came charging in with a 68 after a first round 72.

Smith's, Angelo Down To Wire

E. C. Smith Construction Company of Big Spring inflicted a 2-1 defeat in extra innings on Personality Homes of San Angelo to square matters with the Concho City team in the District 6 ASA Softball tournament here Saturday night.

The two teams turned around and played again to determine the titlist and were still playing when the Daily Herald went to press.

Billy Paul Thomas, tagged for four hits, was the winning pitcher. McClelland gave up five blows.

Earlier in the evening, Smith's scored a run in the seventh inning to sideline Webb AFB, 3-2.

The Contractors broke the tie when Marion Tredaway was struck by a pitched ball, then proceeded to steal second base. He advanced to third on a bobbie and Billy Paul Thomas brought him home with a single.

An error on Tom Curran's ground ball, enabling James Terry to race home, gave the Dusters a run in the first. Terry had singled.

In the second, the two teams matched runs. Joe Sharpnack singled for Smith's, James Hollis followed with a one-baser and Pete

The tournament is still a wide open affair as it swings into Sunday's 36-hole showdown.

Tied at 141 were the new U.S. Open champion Gene Littler, Don Fairfield and Bob Rosburg. Two former champions, Walter Burkemo and Doug Ford, were in the group tied at 142, along with Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn.; Gardner Dickinson and Wes Ellis, Jr.

Barber, a bespectacled little man of 45 who looks more like a bank clerk than a golfer, salvaged his remarkable round with a brilliant recovery after butchering his tee shot on the 456-yard 16th.

He became distracted by a cameraman and hooked his drive onto the top of an ugly fairway trap.

There, standing precariously with one leg in the bunker and the other on the bank, he laced a four-wood shot just short of the green on the 458-yard hole, then chipped up to within four feet and sank his putt.

Barber had birdie putts on the front nine of 10, 20 and 25 feet, the last on the short eighth which he described "the best putt of my life."

Sanders, the boy with the hurry-up swing, also shot a 22 on the outgoing nine.

He got a bogey at the 12th, where he drove into the trees and at the long 13th had a disconcerting experience when his tee shot hit a spectator, James Schneider of Kankakee, Ill., and caromed some 50 yards into the fairway.

Sanders acknowledged that he was upset by the incident but he salvaged his par. The spectator was taken to a hospital.

January, a weed-thin Texan who this year collected $50,000 for a hole-in-one at Palm Springs, Calif., had five birdies — four on the front nine which he shot in 31.

Yanks Take An 8-3 Lead Over Poland

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

WARSAW (AP)—The touring United States team, victorious in Russia, England and Germany, built up a 3-2 margin over the powerful Polish aggregation Saturday and led 6-4 in points after the first half of a two-day international meet.

Wilma (The Wonderful) Rudolph, darling of last year's U.S. Olympic team, scampered to a pair of victories that left the American girls only a single point, 26-25, behind the Polish lassies after five events in their meet. The Polish women won all three events in which Miss Rudolph did not run.

Biggest surprise of the day came when Jim Beatty of San Jose, Calif., took over for the all-ing Dyrrol Burleson in the 1,500-meters and beat the famed Polish runner, Witold Baran, in 3 minutes, 40.9 seconds. Baran and his coach were certain all week that Baran would beat Burleson, holder of the American record.

But Beatty spun through the metric mile and won by about seven yards, reaching the tape in a time that gave him a share of Burleson's American record.

Miss Rudolph took the 100-meter dash in 11.5 seconds and was chased to the tape by her teammate, Willye White of Chicago, who registered 11.9. Then the two combined with Vivian Brown of Clarksville, Tenn., and Ernestine Polkards of Chicago for a triumph in the 400-meter relay.

The foursome was clocked in 45 seconds, while the Polish quartet did 46.5.

Nine more men's events will be contested Sunday. It had been expected that 100,000 fans would jam the huge stadium but glowing skies held the attendance to about 70,000.

Cliff Cushman of Grand Forks, N.D., suffering with a queasy stomach, forgot his ailment long enough to romp through the 400-meter 51.2 seconds, opening the day's program with an American triumph.

Other U.S. winners were John Thomas of Boston, in high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 11 1/2 inches; Ralph Boston of Nashville, Tenn., in the broad jump with 26 feet, 4 1/2 inches; L. Jay Silvester of Tremonton, Utah, in the shot with a heave of 61 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Frank Budd of Villanova and Asbury Park, N.J., captured the 100-meter sprint in 10.5 and Ullis Williams, the Compton, Calif., schoolboy took the 400-meter run in an authoritative 1:46.7.

The men's 400-meter relay, made up of Hayes Jones of Pontiac, Mich.; Charles Frazier of Englewood, Texas; Budd and Paul Drayton of Cleveland, won its event in 40 seconds compared to 41 for the Poles.

Russell Coalson New Kat Mentor

GARDEN CITY—Russell Coalson, 22, was hired Friday night as head basketball coach at Garden City High School.

He succeeds Bill Barker, who will be a mentor in Del Rio this year. Barker held the position one year.

Coalson will also assist Bill Richardson in football. He is married to a non-teacher.

The new coach is a native of Garner, Texas, (located between Weatherford and Mineral Wells) and attended high school at Millsaps, where he lettered in basketball.

He also played freshman ball at East Texas State College in Commerce but later quit the sport to concentrate on his studies. He graduated from the Commerce school during the first summer session this year. This will, of course, be his first coaching assignment.

A new girls' basketball coach has also been named at Garden City. She is Mrs. William C. (Lillian) Kuntz, wife of the vocational agriculture teacher in the Glasscock County system.

She boasts three years' experience as a coach but was active only as a teacher last year. She replaces Clarence McDaniel, who held the post two years. McDaniel has moved to Strawn where he becomes a six-man football and basketball coach.

Athletics Win Over Senators

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Bob Shaw pitched a strong four-hitter Saturday and gave the Kansas City Athletics a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

It was the right-hander's third victory for the Athletics against five losses since he was acquired from the Chicago White Sox.

The loser was John Gabler, a native Kansas Citian, who retired with the bases loaded and only one out in the seventh inning after a single through the box by Shaw struck his pitching hand.

U. S. Swimmers Churn Water

TOKYO (AP)—Two American swimmers from Indiana University bettered listed world records—but not their own best marks—in winning titles in the Japan Swimming Championships Saturday night.

Tom Stock, with a 2:14 time in the 200-meter backstroke, and Chat Jastrzemski, with 2:34 in the 200-meter breaststroke, both finished well under the approved records for these events. For each it was the third time within a month that he has bettered the listed records.

Two other titles went to Americans and the feat that drew the most applause from 4,000 Japanese fans was when Ray Saari, a 16-year-old high school student from El Segundo, Calif., beat the "unbeatable" Tsyositi Yamanka of Japan in the 1,500-meter freestyle final. Yamanka is Japan's top ranking distance swimmer.

The other American winner was Tom Gopf of Ohio State University, who took the high diving event with 151.92 points.

Olympic champion Mike Troy of Indiana, one of the top favorites to win the 100-meter Butterfly final, finished a poor third behind young Luis A. Nicalajo of Argentina and Isao Nakajima of Japan, and when Steve Clark of Los Altos, Calif., could finish no better than fifth in the 200 meter freestyle.

Ford Wins 19th Game With Help Of Berra

NEW YORK (AP)—Whitey Ford won his 19th game of the year and 13th in succession Saturday when Yogi Berra hit an eighth inning home run for a 5-4 New York Yankee victory over Baltimore in a rain-delayed contest.

Berra, 36-year-old Yankee veteran, thrilled the oldtimers' day crowd of 42,900 by hitting Jack Faber's first pitch in the eighth into the lower right field stands.

Berra's 13th homer of the season boosted the Yanks lead over second-place Detroit to two full games as the Tigers lost to Minnesota.

A morning-long rain had forced postponement of a scheduled two-

Ford ran into a wild streak in the fourth when the Orioles scored two runs after two were out.

Baltimore tied the score at 4-4 in the seventh on singles by Merv Breeding and Brooks Robinson, a wild pitch and a two-run single by Jackie Brandt.

Cincy Tumbled From Top Spot

CHICAGO (AP)—Home runs by Ernie Banks, Billy Williams and Ron Santo powered the Chicago Cubs to a 7-6 victory Saturday which tumbled the Cincinnati Reds out of the National League lead.

The loss, coupled with Los Angeles' 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh, left the Reds in second place, two percentage points behind the Dodgers. It marked the first time since June 16 that Cincinnati has not been in first place.

The Cubs pounced out 11 hits and knocked right-hander Joey Jay from the mound in the fifth inning when Williams clobbered a three-run homer to give the Cubs and southpaw Jack Curtis a 6-1 lead.

Curtis scored his seventh victory and third over Cincinnati but needed help in the eighth inning when the Reds rallied for four runs — two of them coming on

Drilling Activity Down In Free World

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Oil drilling operations are on the decline in most free world areas. Declines had been predicted for the United States and Canada but downward trends in other areas have prompted mid-year revisions of 1961 forecasts.

World Oil Magazine said 1961 drilling activity in the free world outside the United States and Canada now is expected to drop 3.1 per cent below 1960. The January forecast had indicated an increase of about 6 per cent.

However, the magazine's copy-righted "Midyear Oil Outlook" carried a note of optimism. "The hull is expected to be temporary, since the long-term outlook for drilling in the free world outside the United States and Canada is for sustained future growth," the report said.

The United States and Canadian forecasts also drew downward revisions. The domestic industry now is expected to drill only 44,102 wells this year, 5.8 per cent below the 1960 total. January estimates had indicated 46,079 wells or a decline of only 1.5 per cent.

Canadian operators had been expected to drill 2,425 wells this year, a decline of less than one per cent. The mid-year revisions cut the estimate to 2,250 wells, 14.2 per cent below 1960.

Slightly improved conditions indicated for the second half of the year for both the United States and Canada were offset by disappointing first year reports.

"U.S. oil producers generally are marking time, awaiting a general business improvement which may occur in 1962," the midyear report said. "A gain in oil demand of slightly less than 3 per cent is forecast for the second half of 1961. Demand the first half of the year decreased almost 2.5 per cent compared with the first half of 1960."

Other 1961 drilling forecasts: Venezuela, down 9 per cent; Brazil, down 16.5; West Germany, down 8.5; Far East-Oceania, down 22.5 per cent. Africa, Argentina and the Middle East were exceptions to the downward trend. A 14.2 per cent gain was forecast for Africa, with Libya registering a 37 per cent gain by drilling 190 wells compared to 131 in 1960. Algeria, where spectacular gains have been made since 1959, was expected to record a gain of 2.7 per cent.

Seven Firms Charged In Monopoly Of Jet Process

HOUSTON (AP)—The Justice Department recently charged seven firms with monopolizing a jet process used in servicing oil and gas wells.

The anti-trust civil complaint signed by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy asked the federal court for an injunction.

The complaint alleges the firms have conspired to monopolize patents for a jet process used in perforating well pipe so as to permit oil and gas to move from the underground reservoir to the surface.

Named defendants were the Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp., Houston; Jet Center Inc., Arlington; Borg-Warner Corp., Chicago; Dresser Industries Inc., Dallas; the Halliburton Co., Duncan, Okla.; McCullough Tool Co., Houston; and Pan Geo Atlas Corp., Houston.

Humble Boosts Plastic Yield

BAYTOWN — The plastic-producing capacity of Humble Oil & Refining Company's polyolefin plant here is currently being expanded by 50 per cent to about 60 million pounds a year.

This phase of the expansion program will be completed in November. Humble officials said plans have been approved for a second expansion to double the plant's present annual capacity by the second half of 1962.

The polyolefin unit, an investment of more than $30 million, went on stream in early 1960. Occupying an area equal to three city blocks, it is one of the largest installations of its kind in the world, producing 30 grades of Escon polypropylene.

Polypropylene, one of the newer plastics, is strong, resilient, rigid, smooth, resistant to heat and chemicals, and light in weight. It can be molded.

According to estimates when the polyolefin plant was completed, the production of plastics in the United States will double during the next decade, reaching an annual output of about 11 billion pounds by 1970.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 27 1/2 per cent tax depletion allowance for oil and gas producers appears intact for another year, at least.

Although the question of reducing it may come to a vote in the Senate, there seems little prospect of House consideration of any proposal for altering the rate.

Washington representatives of the oil and gas industry noted with a certain satisfaction that President Kennedy did not mention the allowance in his reference to tax loopholes in his Tuesday night speech.

Sen. John Williams, R-Del., and others may be able to force a Senate vote on the issue, but even if the Senate should go for reducing the tax benefit, the chances of any House action-one way or the other—appear remote.

Vacation Just Means Work - - -

SETTING UP CULTURES is Mike Jarratt, a junior pre-med student at Southern Methodist University, who is spending the summer working as a lab technician at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital. Jarratt, a junior pre-med student at Southern Methodist University, is spending his third summer doing hospital work. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jarratt, 1000 Wood.

The five college students pictured on this page are representative of the vast number of Big Spring's young people who have taken summer jobs to help enter college again this fall, to gain experience for their future profession or just to have something to do.

If you think most of the summer jobs are hand-outs to help the students, talk to a few of the local businessmen who have hired these kids. Not only do the youngsters prove to be an asset for the vacationing staff, but many may be tempted to continue work on a permanent basis.

Some of the jobs are glamorous (like being a fireman), some are serious (lab technicians fit this category), some are fun (working for the YMCA), and some are just plain work (like being in business for yourself and digging ditches).

How do the jobs help the students? The most obvious answer is the money, which always comes in handy for tuition, books, repairs on the jalopy that will take the students back to old alma mater, etc., etc. They also give the students confidence, a sense of being on his own, plus knowledge that will be valuable in his studies.

The learning process continues during the summer for the pre-med student working as a lab technician, the business major working as a bookkeeper, the physical education major who is teaching children to swim and the speech major who is a radio announcer. No wonder college students are eager to return to the halls of ivy!

GOOD EXPERIENCE for Judi Shields is bookkeeping for Joe Pond Insurance Company. Judi, who is a graduate of HCJC, will attend North Texas State University this fall where she will major in business education. Miss Shields is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Shields, 1500-A Wood.

Photos by Keith McMillin

A LOT OF FUN is a major part of the work done by Bill Engle, one of the summer instructors at the YMCA. One of Engle's duties is showing the different jumps on the trampoline, and here he demonstrates the back drop. Engle has been working with the Y for five years. In the fall he will return to the University of Oklahoma and harder studies as an electrical engineer major.

IN BUSINESS FOR HIMSELF is Horace Hamilton (photo at left), local dealer for a lawn sprinkler service. Above, Hamilton starts the ditch digging machine preparatory to laying the sprinkler system. Hamilton's father, Cecil Hamilton, is the state dealer for the sprinkler. Hamilton's tentative plans are to enter the University of Texas this fall as a chemical engineer.

A PART TIME, PART TIME JOB is that of James Stephens, (below) son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stephens, 1507 Eleventh Place. Stephens work a 24-hour shift as hoseman with the Central Fire Station and also works as surveyor for Louis Thompson Engineers. Cleaning fire trucks is helping to send the junior back to the University of Texas where he studies architectural engineering.

Nine Years From Cuba

The Rev. and Mrs. Ramon Navarro arrived from Cuba nine years ago with three of their children. Pictured with their parents are, left to right, Eunice, two of whom are not pictured. Now they make their home at 600 N. Goliad, and Rev. Navarro is pastor of the Northside Methodist Church. Pictured with their parents are, left to right, Eunice, 12; Dorcas, six, and Loida, four.

NEWCOMERS

Big Spring Family Shows Interest In Cuban Events

During the past eight years, Cuba has attracted the interest of most Americans, but it is of particular interest to the Rev. and Mrs. Ramon Navarro, 600 N. Goliad, who moved from Cuba nine years ago.

Rev. Navarro, who is pastor of the Northside Methodist Church, decided to bring his family to the United States so that he could study in one of our Methodist seminaries. In Cuba, which was then ruled by Batista, it was impossible for a married man to attend a seminary. During their nine years as U. S. residents the Navarros have lived in Florida, New Mexico and south Texas. They moved to Big Spring from Alamo.

Moving to a new country wasn't easy for Rev. and Mrs. Navarro and their three youngsters. None of the family, other than Rev. Navarro, spoke any English when they arrived from Cuba. Although Rev. Navarro had studied English in Cuba for several years and thought he could speak the language fluently, he had difficulty in understanding it when spoken by Americans.

All of the Navarro children now speak English fluently. The oldest son, David, who was 12 when the family moved from Cuba, now is a junior at McMurry College and working to become a citizen. The oldest daughter, who was 11 when she arrived in Florida, now is married and lives in Washington, D. C. and Eunice, who was three, attends junior high school and remembers nothing of her native country.

Two Texans have been added to the Navarros family. They are Dorcas, six, and Loida, four. Although they are Texans, the girls must wait until they are 18 years old before deciding whether they want to be citizens of the U.S. or Cuba.

The Navarros have kept in close touch with their friends and relatives in Cuba and Rev. Navarro says he is very unhappy with Castro and the Cuban situation.

"Some of my friends in Cuba write and ask about coming to the United States," says Rev. Navarro. "I have talked to many people who have come to the U.S. since Castro took over and listened to their stories. One friend told me that in the schools they ask the children to close their eyes and ask God for candy. When they open their eyes there is no candy. Then the children are told to close their eyes and ask Castro for candy, when they open their eyes candy has been placed on their desks. Of course, these are only things I have heard."

The Navarros would like to see and talk with their relatives in Cuba, but they say they have become too attached to the U. S. to live there again. Rev. Navarro knows that some of his relatives would like to come to the U.S. and others believe that Castro will help Cuba.

When the Navarros left Cuba, his parents owned a ranch which they had saved for all their lives. Now Rev. Navarro's parents live in the city and each day they go to work at the ranch, owned by the government.

Eunice isn't sure whether she would like to visit Cuba, although she would like to see the country that her parents describe as very green and which is talked about so much in the news.

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

MRS. ANNIE POLACEK, who has been a resident of Big Spring for as many as 57 years, celebrated her 96th birthday anniversary Wednesday at the home of her daughter, MRS. LUCY BAUER, with whom she makes her home.

Although Mrs. Polacek has been bedfast for the past 15 months following an attack of pneumonia, she was able to enjoy hearing the notes of congratulations from her many friends. Many sent flowers and gifts and a special cake was brought by MRS. LLOYD KINMAN for the occasion.

Children here for the day were MRS. IKE HAINES (Bessie Polacek) who with Mr. Haines came over from Odessa. Others who live here were JIM SKALICKY, LOUIS SKALICKY, FRED POLACEK, MRS. FRANCES WEIR, and MRS. BAUER. Other members of the family unable to be present were Joe Skalicky of Magnum, Okla.; Albert Polacek of Jal, N. M., and Mrs. Agnes Hudspeth of Fort Worth.

MR. and MRS. CAPPY RICKS and their children, Ronnie, Lynn and Scotty, of Bridge City, are expected to arrive Tuesday for a weeks visit in the homes of her parents, MR. and MRS. C. E. SHIVE, and a brother, BERT SHIVE, and his family.

MR. and MRS. JOE HEDLESTON and NANCY plan to leave Monday for a two weeks trip to points in California. They plan to go as far north as San Francisco before returning here.

MRS. LAVERNE TAYLOR and her father, J. A. THURMAN, will leave in the morning for a visit with his brother in Amarillo and then on to Ruidoso, N. M., for several days. Mr. Thurman spent part of last week in Abilene with another brother, MEL THURMAN, whose wife had undergone major surgery.

MRS. MARSHALL CAULEY expects to leave tomorrow for a visit in Hobbs, N. M., with a sister, MRS. JAMES COURTNEY. While she is in Hobbs, her younger son, Lynn, will pay a visit to his grandmother, who lives in Shallowater.

As a result of a recent vacation trip, MRS. GEORGE WHITE is ready to get out the history books and study the colonial period. She's been to Williamsburg, Va., among many places and she wasn't ready to leave after spending several days there. She had joined her sister-in-law, MRS. JACK FLOWERS, and her children, Michael, Woody and Betty Sue, of Tyler, and Mrs. Flowers' parents, the Herbert Wilkes of Houston, for the trip. The Wilkeses were going primarily to attend the Kiwanis International Convention in Toronto, Canada.

The party was captivated by Williamsburg and everything they saw in the beautifully restored homes. They visited the Bruton Parish Church where Episcopalian services have been held continuously since 1715; they toured the beautiful home of George Wythe, who was a law professor and teacher of Thomas Jefferson, and they also toured Jefferson's Monticello.

According to Mrs. White they did everything tourists are sup-

Broilers and fryers have been making headlines as prices at the farm dropped to the lowest level on record, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Many farmers throughout the major commercial producing areas have been selling quality birds at 12 to 13 cents a pound. This time last year, such birds were 3 to 5 cents a pound higher.

Since retail prices of poultry are quick to reflect farm prices, it's likely you'll find broilers and fryers tagged with lower prices at your market.

Fact is, prices may be attractive enough to warrant your filling your deep freezer with this quality meat, says AMS.

Remember that heavy fryers—those weighing 3 1/2 pounds or more—can be used to roast, bake or stew. Many old-fashioned southern cooks prepare these heavy fryers like Swiss steak. They "mother" the chicken in the oven with a delectable onion-tomato sauce.

If you like chicken and dumplings, try one of these heavy fryers. You'll like the "meaty" results.

Fried chicken is an ideal meat to take on an outing, for it's easy to handle and serve. And it's an economy dish for second and third helpings—which outdoor eating always calls for.

When preparing chicken for an outing, be sure it's kept really cold. Just as hot fried chicken should be served piping hot, cold fried chicken must be kept thoroughly chilled until serving time to retain its goodness. Long standing at room temperatures, or in warm picnic baskets, causes rapid deterioration of all poultry and needless waste due to spoilage.

Brown Flower

Know how to brown flour for use in old-fashioned gravies? Put a thin layer of the flour in a skillet and heat, stirring, until it is golden brown.

Add Egg

Add minced hard-cooked egg to mayonnaise and use as the dressing for tomato and bacon sandwiches.

Sliced Apple

Add sliced unpared apple to sauerkraut along with brown sugar and simmer until apples disintegrate. Good with ham, smoked tongue or frankfurters.

Cream Cheese

Cream cheese makes a delightful topping for hot gingerbread if you whip it with confectioners sugar, grated lemon rind and a little lemon juice. Old-fashioned American cooks often couped the lemon flavor with spices.

Add Peppercorns

Add peppercorns, whole allspice and a bay leaf to the water in which you cook smoked tongue or smoked boneless pork shoulder butt.

Beef Tongue

Most cooks like to cook smoked beef tongue in cold water. If a pressure saucepan is used in cooking the tongue, you may wish to soak the meat first.

Use Powder

Dust a latex foam cushion with talcum powder before stuffing in its upholstery cover. It will slide in without difficulty no matter how tight the fit.

Pretty Salad

For a pretty and good-tasting salad, alternate slices of avocado with slices of orange and paper-thin red onion rings. Garnish with sprigs of watercress or other greens.

MRS. RONNIE BROWN

Lamesa Rites Unite Couple

LAMESA (SC) — An altar flanked with gladioli in the sanctuary of the Bryan Street Baptist Church was the setting Friday at 7:30 p.m. when Virginia Marie Fancher became the bride of Ronnie Brown. The Rev. Donald F. Pruitt, pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fancher of Lamesa and Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Brown of Lubbock.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Her dress, a designer model, was fashioned with a high neckline flamed by a standing collar of lace.

The fitted lace bodice featured a sheer yoke enhanced with lace appliques, and long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. A skirt of alternating ruffled tiers of scalloped lace and nylon tulle stemmed from the natural waistline. A crown of pearls held her fingertip illusion veil, and she carried white camellias on a white Bible.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Renald Houston of Tulsa, Okla., the bride's sister. Mrs. Don W. Hill, organist and soloist, furnished wedding music.

Donnie Brown of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Another brother, Tom Brown, also of Lubbock served as an usher.

The bride is a graduate of Lamesa High School. Brown was graduated from Monterey High School in Lubbock and also attended Texas Tech College there.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Brown chose a black and brown skirtwaist dress with white collar and cuffs. She chose white accessories. After a wedding trip, the couple will reside at 1303 40th St. in Lubbock.

Send-Off Party Can Be Fun

Latest fun wave is the bon voyage party given at the drop of a travel folder.

But you don't need to be going abroad to be feted. Any pure and simple away-from-the-group vacation activity merits a sendoff whether you go by steamship, sports car or hay wagon.

A typical setting is the backyard or garden party with dancing outdoors. The motif is determined by the vacation plans. A camping trip calls for tent, campfire cookery, sports shirts and dungarees.

One party organized to send two 17-year-olds on a Mexican vacation was Spanish in theme. A packaged "do-it-yourself" bullfight kit was used for decorations and music.

Two huge bullfight posters and a Spanish calendar were put up behind the house. Each table was supplied with bullfight tickets and pictures to match. The recording that accompanies the kit was actual music from the Banda Tourina, official ensemble of the Plaza Mexico Bullfight.

Little bridge tables were decorated with wide strips of red, yellow, orange and black fabric in a basket-weave effect. Candles were the same colors.

Each male guest wore a black matador's cape made from a pattern in the kit, cummerbund and a white shirt.

Girls were dressed like senoritas. One wore a mantilla draped over her head and face; another, a large Spanish comb with a veil draped from it, along with a red skirt and white cotton blouse. Another wore black leotards and a gaucho hat.

Hot peppery food was the key to the menu. Chili con carne was made at home in traditional fashion. The other foods served were Mexican favorites—enchiladas, tacos, tortillas, served with sauces.

Use Scissors

Some cooks like to use scissors, some a very sharp small pointed knife when removing the fat and sinews from kidneys.

TODAY'S WOMEN

Is Another Battle Of Hems In Offing?

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—You can't count out the rumor that Paris might drop hemlines—not until the last of the current fall style shows next week.

No one, though, seems to be expecting a bombshell of New Look proportions.

That fell 14 years ago, in August 1947, when the world was emerging from a ruinous war and France's reputation as style center of the world seemed crumbling.

With one masterly stroke Christian Dior won back the defunct buyers, saved the Paris couture and banished the square-shouldered, short-skirted, long-jacketed silhouette that had survived from the war.

The New Look, in case you've forgotten, was full-skirted, slim-waisted, mid-calf-length and feminine.

It was an overnight sensation, but before the controversy died down, women had marched in protest through the streets, ministers had fulminated pro and con from their pulpits and many a red-blooded male had mourned the eclipse of the lissome limb.

To the average American woman, the New Look's padded hips and cinched-in waists were only so much French frippery to be shrugged off. But skirt length, which women know whether they are in or out of style, had been set at 12 inches from the floor.

That didn't mean a simple operation of letting out hems; it meant reconstruction of entire wardrobes.

Some women didn't give in easily. In Dallas, with a band playing old songs and women dressed in grandmothers' clothes, the Little Below the Knee Club stopped traffic with a parade proclaiming long skirts old-fashioned and impractical. Club motto: "The Ala-no fell, but our hemlines will not." Sister clubs sprang up here and there.

Hollywood designers violently opposed the new fashion because it outdated a backlog of pictures. Best-dressed Duchess of Windsor caused consternation in Paris by supporting British women in their campaign against the long skirt. London designers compromised at 14 inches from the floor; New York designers ranged from 12 to 14.

Then men got into the act. Gov. Roy J. Turner of Oklahoma declared lowered hemlines would bankrupt the country; besides he didn't like their looks.

A Unitarian minister in Washington pronounced longer skirts immoral because "they waste material desperately needed by the world's suffering people." (A Dior skirt used up to 40 yards of fabric.)

But through all the outraged opposition and in the face of circulating petitions, clothing retailers kept calm. They blamed the fashion writers for clouding the issue, ordered more New Look clothes and waited for the tide to turn. It did.

Forsan Folks Will Take Guests Home

FORSAN (SC)—Here for a visit are Mrs. J. W. Magee and children of Albuquerque, N.M., who are guests of her parents, the Joe Hoards. They are en route home from visiting in Louisiana and Fort Worth. Their hosts plan to accompany them to Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gilmore were recently in Merkel to attend funeral services for their brother-in-law, V. B. Sublett. They visited in Abilene with a daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McGuire, bringing their grandson, Robbie, home with them for a visit. Other guests have been their son, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gilmore of Wilson.

The C. L. Girdners of Spur have been guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Shoultz.

The James Craigs of Robert Lee have returned home after a visit here.

Here for several days are Mrs. Jimmy Hagar, Susie and Jimmy Ann of Pecos, who are visiting her parents, the S. C. Cowleys.

Back from Austin, where they were guests of their daughter and family, the Al Whites, are Mr. and Mrs. L. B. McElrath. They brought their grandsons, Buster and Jimmy home for a visit; they will also be guests of their uncle and aunt, the J. L. Overtons.

The Cliff Thomes of Midkiff have been visiting in the home of her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walls, Randy and Teresa.

MRS. BRADLEY THOMAS RUNYON

Mary Bain Is Bride Of Bradley Thomas Runyon

Twin rings were exchanged Saturday evening in the First Christian Church by Mary Bain and Airman S.C. Bradley Thomas Runyon, with the Rev. John Black, pastor of the church, reading the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bain, 119 Frazier, and Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Runyon, Pikeville, Ky.

Flowers banked the altar, and musical selections were played by Mrs. John Birdwell, organist; these included "I Love You Truly," "O, Promise Me" and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Jesse Fulcher. Her wedding attire was of white taffeta with overskirt of silk organza; the street-length skirt joined a fitted long bodice with a round neckline.

A pearl necklace matched the pearl-studded tiara which held the bridal bouquet was of white carnations.

Attending as bridesmaid was Peggy Davenport of Lomax, who chose a street-length frock of pale blue with matching pumps.

Richard Bain, brother of the bride, served as best man; ushers were Airman S.C. Harry L. Money of Knoxville, Tenn., and Airman S.C. Bob Weeks of Lakeland, Fla.

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of a reception following the ritual; the couple was assisted by her parents and the ushers in receiving guests.

Crystal appointed the table, laid with a lace cloth and holding a three-tiered cake, trimmed with rosebuds of pink frosting. A bridal figurine was at the peak of the cake.

At the register was Judy Osburn, and serving was done by Mrs. Fulcher, Mrs. Willred Holland of Midland, Nora Jane McCollum and Mrs. Lewis Merworth of Benham.

For a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., the bride wore a two-piece suit of pale blue with white accessories. The couple will make a home in Big Spring, while the bridegroom is stationed at Webb AFB.

Runyon is a graduate of Hellier High School, Hellier, Ky., and his bride has been attending Big Spring High School. She is employed by Jeanne's Toggery.

Deplores Our Hurry

Julie Andrews, shown here in a scene from Broadway's "Camelot" with Robert Goulet, feels one part of American life she doesn't enjoy is the way Americans hurry through a day without time for relaxing.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

English Actress Has Trouble Relaxing

By LYDIA LANE
NEW YORK CITY—I have just come from a matinee of "Camelot" and a visit with Julie Andrews in her dressing room. I had met Julie before her debut in "My Fair Lady," and found her charming now as then despite her great success.

"One moment," Julie said, "and we'll have a cup of tea." There was a tray set up and a kettle of water bubbling on a hot plate.

"Do you remember telling me you had to move from your hotel in New York to your own apartment so you could make a proper cup of tea?" I asked her.

"Yes, I do. To an Englishman, teatime is the shining hour," Julie said. "I think stopping in the afternoon for a cup of tea is a wonderful idea for everyone. It gives you a lift and at the same time a moment to relax. But tea will not refresh you if it is not made properly."

"The pace in America is so fast, but I didn't have any trouble relaxing until I came to New York. I made a promise then that I would try to lead a calmer life than those around me."

The kettle began to sing and I

Complexion Kit Made For Teens

Her first pair of high heels, her first date, all spent groping up to a teen-ageer. It also is a period of adjustment when minor troubles, such as a blemish, mirror a major disaster in her life.

To the rescue comes Charles of the Ritz with a first aid kit for a problem skin. Though the kit was tailored to the teen-age skin, it's perfect for the entire family. Grown women and men find the simplicity of this three step routine easy to follow in clearing up an occasional blemish.

Step 1. In any skin care routine, cleanliness comes first. Begin by cleansing the face with the special amber colored jelly face wash, to remove the surface oils and soil. When blended with water it fluffs up into a velvety rich foam to give you the most refreshing and soothing face wash imaginable. There are no harsh or irritating effects, for its mild cleansing action actually protects the skin's delicate acid balance.

Step 2. After cleansing, conceal the blemish beneath a light-weight opaque medicated lotion during the day. Tinted to a skin-tone shade, it can be worn as a simple spot cover-up or as a flattering all-over foundation with a smooth matte finish. Serving a dual purpose, the lotion camouflages blemishes as it relieves the discomfort and irritation of the eruption.

Step 3. At night dot on the cream straight from the little pink plastic tube. This concentrated solidified lotion treatment contains ingredients that work rapidly helping to banish blemishes and halt further flare-ups.

In addition to this three step skin care program, a teen-ageer should look to her diet, rest, elimination, and exercise as important adjuncts to a healthier skin. She should wash her face more often and keep the hair, hands, face cloth and powder puffs, or anything touching the skin, immaculately clean.

watched Julie fill the cups and the teapot to the brim with hot water. Then she poured this out and put a full teaspoon of tea for each cup into the pot and filled it with boiling water.

"When water is not bubbling, the tea leaves do not expand and the tea is flat," Julie explained. "I think one reason some Americans don't care for tea is the way they make it." Julie covered her teapot with a cozy to let the tea steep.

"If I complain about your tea," Julie said with a smile, "I, on the other hand, must sing praises of your food. It's so awfully good, I'm afraid if I didn't go to dancing class I'd have a problem with my weight."

"My aunt had a ballet school, and while I never thought of being a professional dancer as a child, I went to her classes. Now I still do some of her exercises."

"Tell me how you keep your small waistline," I said.

"When I finish my tea, I'll show you," Julie replied and did an exercise later.

"I stand with my feet a few inches apart, extending my arms straight out to the sides, and keeping my hips still, I bend sharply to the right side so that my right elbow touches the top of the right hip."

"I bend as far as I can and feel a strong pull on the opposite side," Julie said. "Then I alternate in rhythm, first to the right and then to the left."

"I always exercise in pairs so that I follow a tense routine with a relaxed one. After I work on my waist, I flop over rag doll fashion and hang limp. Then I breathe deeply and come up slowly."

"What have you learned from living here?" I asked.

"I've learned some good things from your remarkable make-up men," Julie enthused. "I was impressed by the careful way they studied my face before making any changes. They are really masters of the art of making-up. They told me not to follow so faithfully the cupid's bow of my upper lip. And I love the white stick they gave me to use under my eyes to blot out circles."

"I had never shaded with make-up before, but I find if you do it properly, it can point up the best features, and with a dark powder one place and a light one another, you can bring out your bone structure. It's important on the stage—and very useful off stage."

Luncheon Given For Bride-Elect

Luncheons and parties continue for local brides-elect as their wedding days draw near.

Saturday, Sherry Lurting was honored at a luncheon when Mrs. W. E. Ramsey and Mrs. James Edwards entertained in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club.

Miss Lurting, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Lurting, 608 W. 16th, is to be married to Frank Bolen Powell, Aug. 18, in the First Presbyterian Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Powell, 900 Mountain Park Drive.

Pink and white were featured on the table around which guests were seated and in the corsage which the honoree received from the hostesses; she also received a gift from the two.

Included in the invitation list were school friends of Miss Lurting, the mothers of the couple, Becky Fisher of Warshaw, Ind., and Nancy Andrews of Graham.

Altrusa Delegate Back From Meet

Mrs. A. C. Bass, 106 Washington Blvd., returned Saturday morning from Denver, Colo., where she attended the international convention of Altrusa Clubs as a delegate from the local club.

The convention, held from July 23-27, attracted representatives from 321 of the 438 clubs; over 900 members were present.

A Texas woman, Mrs. Edith DeRusk of Dallas, was elected president of the organization, and the next convention was announced for Philadelphia, Pa.

Sets Wedding

Aug. 28 has been selected as their wedding date by Martha Jane Smedley and William H. Coats, according to an announcement made by the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Vergil Smedley, 1105 E. 4th. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mims, 1023 Bluebonnet. Vows will be taken in the Phillips Baptist Church.

Grated orange rind and orange juice plus a little sugar do wonders for cooked sliced carrots. Add a little butter, too.

Fall Hats Pamper Coiffures

NEW YORK (AP)—This year American women won't need to choose between hat designs and hair styles.

The nation's milliners have conceded to coiffures which stubbornly remain bouffant, beehive or heightened with hairpieces.

Thus, fall hat creations are calculated to get along with fresh hair dos, either by covering up the whole head, or simply by tacking on somewhere, without getting into the hair's way.

Toppers like pirate bonnets are copious enough to hide ugly curls, or inflatable enough to protect a new beauty parlor job from the elements.

Witchlike silhouettes cover hair teased into pointed head dresses. Metallic mesh fits around hairpieces such as chignons then flare or like a bridal veil. Extreme.

But extremes are important hat fashion this year. Big hats are huge. Little toppers are out of daughter's doll trunk. Sideways tams hang vertically over one ear. Textured hats are dense with fur. Plumed ones are as flamboyant as peacocks; shaggy ones are ragged as excelsior.

Like roosters' combs, little feather hats parade through the center of pretty heads. Caps drip with tassels. Toques clink with crystals. Each fall hat is drastically different from the next. But they all abide by the new peace treaty with hair stylists.

Either hats cover those lacquered locks entirely, or they become as unostentatiously a part of the coiffure as a hairpin.

Three T&P Railroad Men Get 50-Year Recognition

By M. A. WEBB
Texas and Pacific Railway's roster of 50-year veterans was increased by three Friday when diamond-studded "Red Diamond" service emblems were presented to three men.

They were locomotive Engineer James Frank Skalicky, and Conductors Harry Owen Parry and Edward Wallace Pike.

The emblems were presented by Clarence Percy, Western Division assistant superintendent, in his office at the Big Spring station. The three brought the total to 177 veteran railroaders who have gained membership in the railway's "Royal Family" in recognition of the half-century of unbroken service with the Texas and Pacific.

HARRY OWEN PARRY

Parry, who was on a run Friday, received his emblem Thursday. Parry and Pike got theirs Friday.

Skalicky, a native of Shiner, began his railroading with the T&P in 1911 as a machinist helper on the old Rio Grande Division. He transferred to the post of fireman in 1916 and was promoted to locomotive engineer on Dec. 29, 1927. He is now on the western runs on passenger trains Nos. 7 and 8, making runs every other day. He is 67 years old and says compulsory retirement comes when he is 70.

"I may ride it out and I may not," he said. "I don't know from here, but I hate to think of the day when I can't go to work."

Skalicky said he went on diesels right after they were put in use on the T&P, and that he likes them a lot better than the old steamers.

"LOT BETTER"
"They are a lot better in every way. They are faster, smoother, and a lot more comfortable as well as powerful," he said. "I have been on the passenger runs between four and five years."

When asked if he remembered any unusual incidents that happened during his career on locomotives, he recalled a couple of wrecks, one of which was serious. "It was back in 1917," he said, "before we had block signals. About 5 o'clock one morning, while still pretty dark, we plowed through a caboose and six or seven freight cars on the rear of a train taking water. I was scalded pretty badly and was out of service for 50 days. Guess I have been lucky though, in not having more than that."

The Skalickys have two sons, James of Lancaster, Calif., and Ray of Big Spring. James has two sons.

SINCE 1911
Pike is a native of Paris, Texas, also served by the T&P, but has been a resident of Big Spring since he started railroading as a brakeman in 1911. He was promoted to conductor on freight trains in 1924 and went to passenger trains in 1942. He now makes the runs from Big Spring to El Paso and works on all four passenger trains.

The Pikes live on a farm on Route 1, and have two children. The older daughter, Mrs. Waldene Butler, is a nurse at the Howard County Hospital Foundation. Pike has two grandchildren, both Butlers. The younger daughter, is Sarah, 14, who is at home.

There is no age limit for retiring conductors, he said, and he has no plans for the date of retirement.

"I can retire at any time but am going to wait until I'm tired. I'm only 68 years old, so I probably will work for some time yet," he said.

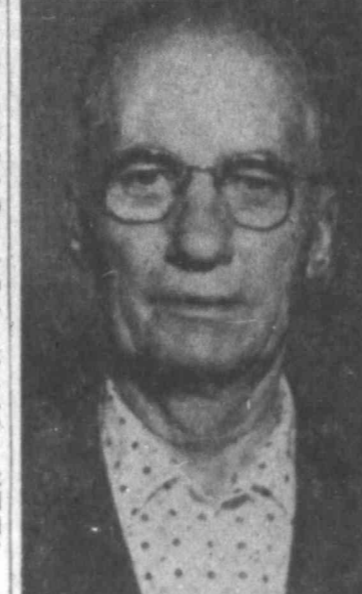

Pike said he had been on freight trains which had been involved in several wrecks but that he had always been on the "back end" and had never been injured.

BAIRD
Parry was born and reared at Baird and went to railroading in 1911 as a brakeman on the Western Division which was formerly called the Rio Grande Division. His first runs, from 1915 to 1937, were from El Paso to Toyah. He went to passenger conductor in 1937 and now rides all four runs from Big Spring to El Paso and back.

The Parrys live at 1134 E. River in El Paso. They have one son, Harry Jr., and two grandchildren, ages 2 and 4.

Parry says he is 72 years old and plans to work as long as he has health. He said he would probably work a long time "as there is no place around El Paso to fish."

"We don't have any water

EDWARD WALLACE PIKE

around there, so I'll have to work to keep out of mischief," he said.

MINOR WRECKS
Parry said he had been in several minor wrecks but was not injured, although he was shaken up some.

"I rode a caboose down a 20-foot hill once, while it was upside down," he said. "The brakeman, riding with me, was injured, but I made it okay."

Both men agreed that there is a lot of difference in modern railroading, with air conditioned coaches on the passenger trains. Parry said his hobby is "collecting tickets."

JAMES FRANK SKALICKY

Ed Stenrath Dies Friday

Friends here have been notified of the death at 8 p.m. Friday of Ed Stenrath, former Big Spring resident, in Brownsville.

Stenrath, who was Missouri-Pacific Railroad agent here for several years working in cooperation with the Texas & Pacific railroad, moved to Brownsville to become general freight agent there for the M.P.

He had been ill for a short time with pneumonia but was believed making satisfactory progress when he suddenly died.

Funeral services are to be in Austin on Tuesday but no time was announced.

He is survived by his wife, Irene, and his son, Edwin.

Blast Damages Railroad Shops

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — An explosion set off a fire that raced through the Cotton Belt Railroad shops early Saturday causing damage of more than $100,000.

No one was hurt. The cause of the blast was not determined. At least three big blasts rocked the city. They were felt more than a mile away.

A Year For Financial Caution

It's budget making time again, for counties in Texas and for school districts (public colleges, too).
 It means that the requests are pouring in for increased facilities, for additional help, for better equipment, for an expanded program of work, etc., etc. That's the American way, it seems: To keep things moving, and to try to stay ahead.
 One reason that public employees seek more appropriations is because the public seems constantly to expect more from them.
 Well, we don't want to be a voice against progress. And we'd like to think that we would support any reasonable expenditure that is in the public good. But it takes everlasting caution to keep a certain amount of waste from getting into public budgets.
 It is noted that the Taylor County Commissioners over in Abilene the other day held what amounted to a real "No" session. They turned back request after request from various department heads for additional salary allocations, either in raises or for more help. They seemed to agree that this is the year to hold the line.
 We hope that the good people in our County Commissioners' Court, as our school board and our college board will want to adopt the same general principle. Local taxes have been climbing steadily, and may be reaching the point of diminishing returns, unless and until there is a new spurt of growth in the community.
 Looking at the matter realistically, it must be admitted that Big Spring's rate of growth in the past couple of years certainly hasn't kept up with that of the '60's. A heavier tax burden might even serve to slow down growth.
 The county already is aware that revenues from oil will be down. There is no indication that this source of revenue will not continue to decline. The city's building permits may be static, too, and particularly must it be noted that values are not going to be enhanced in the downtown business district unless major planning is done for development.
 It all adds up, in our humble opinion, that this the time for prudence.

Revamping The Water Board

A step toward important improvement for Texas was taken Friday as the House passed a bill reorganizing the Board of Water Engineers.
 The proposal has to go through the Senate and get the Governor's signature, but the 198-2 favorable vote in the House indicates strong sentiment in Austin for this change.
 The state's water problems are so varied and widespread that this step is only one of many that must be taken. But a preliminary to meeting these many problems head-on would be the streamlining of the Water Board organization. It has been an antiquated, clumsy affair, and even the best of men on the Board could not accomplish what they knew needed to be accomplished.
 The new bill changes the agency's name to the Texas Water Commission. It separates the engineering tasks from the judicial powers of the board (such as granting water rights). It provides for a chief engineer who will administer technical programs and who will serve as the Commission's chief executive officer.
 As we have mentioned here before, the plan follows, in essence the organizational chart of the Texas Highway Commission, an efficient agency.
 This improvement in the state government comes about largely from study and recommendations made by a social water coordinating committee named by the Governor. This committee has done the state a great service. It is to be hoped that its recommendations are carried through to completion.

Marquis Childs President Has Walked The Narrow Line

WASHINGTON—In the prolonged debate within the Kennedy Administration over ways and means of responding to the threat to Berlin, every possibility was tirelessly explored. The President's challenge, as he put it in his speech, was to walk the narrow line between provocation and preparation.
 ON THE ONE HAND, he had to make it clear beyond any doubt that the United States would fight rather than surrender the freedom of the people of West Berlin. On the other hand, he was determined to avoid playing the kind of military poker game that would almost inevitably bring a showdown in war.
 There is no guarantee that this will not eventually happen. For as Premier Khrushchev called for large new defense expenditures and the cancellation of widely-heralded reductions in military manpower, so now the President has followed very much the same course. But what the President sought to make abundantly clear is that the measures he has asked for are not a crisis response to Berlin, but an effort to create available strength in readiness to meet the challenge of Communist power, wherever it may arise.
 A MAINSTAY for moderation and the long view through all the hours and hours of discussion was Gen. Maxwell Taylor, who only a month ago became military representative in the White House. Taylor could call upon his own experience as commander in Berlin from 1949 to '51. Threats to "take" West Berlin were frequently heard during those years, emanating often from top Communists.
 The spare, upright soldier, who has seen so much of war at firsthand, recalls particularly the widely trumpeted great "march" of 200,000 Communist youth in the spring of 1950. General Taylor took every possible measure for resistance on the border between the halves of the divided city. On the appointed day, the great "march" fizzled out in a barrage of words.
 AN IMPORTANT document in the long debate was the "Acheson Plan," prepared by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, whom the President had appointed as head of a Berlin task force. So top secret was this document that anyone

J. A. Livingston No Runaway Bull Market—Yet

Berlin isn't a crisis; it's a disease that must run its term—long term.
 And President Kennedy did the right things about treating it. That's why Wall Street's immediate reaction was relief—bullish relief.
 Berlin is another and persistent manifestation of Communist expansionism. The President's plan to increase military spending and call up reserves to add to the Army's strength is the necessary antibody: To fight rather than to kneel, and so check the corrosion of faith in Western power and will throughout the world.
 THIS AFFECTS business—naturally. A larger military force will reduce unemployment and the supply of available workers. It will increase the demand for military supplies—from uniforms to equipment. And it can be construed as inflationary—initially.
 But, if ever it became necessary to mobilize—really mobilize—Wall Street won't respond bullishly. The prospect of (a) rationing of steel and copper, (b) imposition of excess profits taxes, and (c) price controls would be disinflationary.
 THE IMMEDIATE result of Kennedy's talk is likely to be more conversation. Premier Khrushchev doesn't want war; he wants concessions. For him, Berlin is an advantageous place for a squeeze play. He wants to demonstrate to the world that the Soviet Union is strong and the United States weak. He wants to get the U. S. to make an offer which he can take and then proclaim that the U. S. backed down.
 When Khrushchev exploded the Big Four Conference in Paris, he reviled President Eisenhower. Why? To show power. Again, in the United Nations, he displayed contempt for the U. S. and the U.N. And if he can gain concessions in Berlin, it will be construed by many as evidence that the balance of power has shifted to Khrushchev. The weak and the doubtful will swing to the strong, upsetting the balance of power still more.
 IN ANY CONFERENCE, Khrushchev will demand the same old things, counting on American desire for a settlement to bring forth the concession that means so much to him. Negotiations to a Communist are not a dialogue but reiteration of demands. When a Communist wants dialogue, he plays chess.

 A Russian refugee I know expresses the war risk in Berlin mathematically: "President Kennedy knows the military potential of the United States but he can only guess the potential of the Soviet Union. Khrushchev knows the potential of the U.S.S.R. and has a good idea of the potential of the U. S. If Khrushchev assesses the strength at 50-50, no war; if he assesses at 55-45, no war; but if at 75-25, war."
 THE ARMS build-up is insurance—the best chance of peace without humiliation.
 Khrushchev has a tactical advantage in Berlin. He can irritate without creating a casus belli. If he declares a separate peace with East Germany, at first, no doubt, the East Germans will play sweet and low for a while. But one day, there'll be interference with a U. S., French, or British transport going through, or there'll be a directive to an airplane to change course.
 WHAT DOES the President do then? If he sends an armed motor transport through, the East Germans could shoot it up and send regrets. They don't want to kill U. S. troops, but they can't tolerate unauthorized armed personnel on their sovereign soil.
 Kennedy's answer could be to send troops into East Germany—which could mean war or a Soviet call for parity. The risks are great. An alternative is to respond to annoyances in Berlin with counter annoyances to Soviet shipping on the high seas, where the U. S. and Great Britain can flex their superior strength. Purpose: To show Khrushchev that two can play "Berlin roulette."
 WHATEVER CHOICE the President makes involves risk. And every investor, speculator, or business man must consider these risks in making commitments and plans.
 Industrial production—already recovered to its pre-recession peak in the shortest time in postwar history (see chart)—will get another fillip from military spending.
 The Federal Reserve Board index has climbed from 102.1 in February to 110 in June—the level attained during the early months of 1960. It's true that the index registered 111 in January, 1960, but that was an economic fluke. Actively effervesced following settlement of the steel dispute.
 MEANWHILE, the rally in Wall Street can't be relied on as a considered evaluation of either peace or profits prospects. Investors and speculators were relieved that President Kennedy was doing something positive. Maybe, at long last, the deterioration in U. S. posture vis a vis the U.S.S.R. will be checked.
 Such hearty hopes might have been in Khrushchev's mind as he signed a peace treaty with East Germany. At that point, second thoughts about the danger would develop. Wall Street's support of the President should not be construed as faith in a runaway bull market. It was anything but.

To Your Good Health Unidentified Virus The Cause Of Warts

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 "Dear Dr. Molner: I have a woman friend who has a wart on the end of her nose.
 "Some years ago I had a wart on a finger. I moistened it several times a day with Burrow's solution. In two or three months it vanished.
 "Is this an old standard remedy?
 "About the same time I cut a wart off my chest with a razor and the stump of the wart still remains. To speed up relief, could the woman I mentioned cut off the wart with a razor and then get rid of the stump with Burrow's solution?"—John.
 There must be as many "wart remedies" as there are "cold cures." If any single remedy proved to be reliable, all warts would then disappear. And they haven't.
 The fact, fortunate or unfortunate, is that most warts disappear eventually, no matter what one does or doesn't do. It's fortunate that the warts go away. It's unfortunate that warts are likely to disappear in the course of SOME treatment. That's the law of averages at work. When this happens, the proud ex-owner of the warts is absolutely positive that he has found the remedy. It's been going on like that for years, maybe centuries—putting a penny, or silver potato, or half a fresh killed chicken, or all sorts of folkloric remedies have been urged as sure cures.
 Slicing off a wart with a razor is NOT an accepted treatment, and neither is the use of Burrow's solution, although I have heard both of these mentioned many times. For casual use, I guess I prefer the penny—because it's simple and harmless and you get the penny back and don't run any risk of infection and you don't even waste any potatoes.
 But if it is really important to get rid of a wart, and having one on the end of the nose is a good reason for doing so, I'd recommend one of the following: Surgical removal with sterile instruments, which is quick, simple and not likely to leave a noticeable scar, freezing with carbon dioxide "snow," or, in some selected cases, the use of X-ray.
 While warts aren't a serious problem (they apparently are the result of some virus which has not been identified) there are cases in which a supposed "wart" is really something else. For the most serious possibility, which sometimes occurs in older people, a "wart" or horny growth can be a cancerous lesion which, however, can be readily and successfully removed.
 For this embarrassing wart on the nose, I recommend, first, examination to be sure that it is a wart and not something else; after that, removal by one of the methods which medical experience has shown to be reliable.
 For occasional warts on a youngster's hand, I recommend ignoring 'em.
 "Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any connection between sinus troubles and allergy?"—Mrs. B. M. J.
 Yes. From either cause, the membranes or linings of the nose and sinuses become thickened, and there are increased discharges from these membranes. One type of trouble reinforces the other. If you help one you help the other.
 To my St. Louis friend: The Nu-Voice Club is another new and good member of the group devoted to teaching speech again to those who have had the larynx removed. I wish I could mention specifically all the related clubs that are doing the good work so well.
 Dr. Molner is always glad to hear from his readers, and whenever possible he uses their questions in his column, but because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, he cannot answer individual letters.

Around The Rim What Was That You Wrote?

As far back as the third grade, it was established that I couldn't write. I don't mean write like an author, I mean just write—write, like with a pencil.
 Memory says that I squeaked through on arithmetic and spelling and reading, but on writing I was an outright bust. This disturbed Mama so much that she sent me to summer school after the third grade, to get extra supervision in writing.
 THERE WAS rather a stern principal of the times, a Mr. Judd, who looked over my shoulder for a couple of hours every day, while I laboriously scrawled out those copybook maxims in what was my version of a fine Spencerian hand. I do not know what Mr. Judd told Mama at the end of the summer, but I think it was something discouraging.
 The years have gone on, and though I have communicated with pen and pencil to a degree, nobody has come forward to award any plaques for my bee-youthful script. Matter of fact, the writing has gotten worse, and it's a good thing I can put four fingers to the typewriter keys.
 WHICH GETS us down to today's problem.
 Let's face it, I'm not much of a writer, like an author, either. And to dredge up something to fill this corner every Sunday, I scrounge around, looking at newspapers and magazines; picking other people's brains; trying to recall some instances of yesteryear; and always worrying about the crises in our household.
 These provide some subjects, not necessarily regular. When a brainstorm happens it hit, I usually try to jot down a couple of lines on a sheet of notepaper and stick this in my pocket. On some occasions, an idea of flashing brilliance has come to me in wakeful moments at night, and I reach hurriedly for a bedside pad to record this scintillating thing before it gets away.
 YOU GUESSED IT. By the time I get around to putting composition on paper, the notes have grown so very, very frigid. Or, to put it another way, I can't read my own writing.
 Just this week, I pulled a piece of paper out of the desk drawer that had two notations. One looked something like "Lk Smithern Dog." I just couldn't recall a major piece of intelligence like this, but finally I figured that I had written myself "St. Swithin's Day." You see, I was going to write a piece about this occasion, but sure enough, St. Swithin's Day has passed, and so that's out.
 THE OTHER LINE looked like "Roders in Pub," or maybe "Rabers in Pule." I have scrutinized that ridiculous phrase until I am sick of it. I can no more make out what it means than I can explain Mr. Einstein's Theory. I bet it would have made a dandy subject for a column, if I only knew what it was.
 Those jottings made at night are even worse. There was one that said "dingle fudder mastiff" or at least that's the way it looked. Another after a nightmare I suppose, was scrawled, as nearly as I could tell, "Fr Pooster Tad." Turned out this was something about a four-poster bed, and I guess it would have been veddy, veddy funny, but the thought never came back.
 SO, WRITING notes to one's self is a productive practice—provided one can read one's own notes? For instance, here's this latest thing I jotted down: "Lm sige up" Oh, I get it now, it says, "Time to sign off."

The Gallup Poll Public Ready To Fight For Berlin

PRINCETON, N. J.—President Kennedy can count on solid support from his fellow Americans in his announced determination to defend Berlin at all costs.
 Americans, in brief, are fully prepared to fight rather than surrender our rights in the city which, to many, has become a "cold war" symbol.
 Withdrawing from Berlin—as most Americans see it—would mean handing it over to Communist rule. And this, in turn, could be a prelude to Russian domination of all Germany, and then all Europe.
 THUS COULD BE summed up Americans' determination to resist Russian domination of the former German capital. Just what lies behind this determination, why people feel the way they do about the crisis, has been the object of a Gallup Poll "in depth" survey—completed before the President's speech—of the public's attitudes toward Berlin.
 As one measure of America's attitude about fighting for Berlin, Gallup Poll reporters asked voters the same question posed in 1948 and 1958 at the time of earlier disputes over the city:
 "Do you think we should keep American forces in Berlin—along with British and French forces even at the risk of war?"
 The latest vote among those who indicated they had been following the Berlin situation (76 per cent):

KEEP TROOPS IN BERLIN? —1958—	Per cent
Yes, should	78
No, should not	11
No opinion	11

 Thirteen years ago this summer, the U. S. faced its first Berlin crisis with the Russians. At that time, 80 per cent of all voters interviewed across the country favored our keeping troops in Berlin even at the risk of war.
 If the present tension over Berlin leads to a "showdown," the first move may come in the form of a Communist blockade of Western access to the city.
 HERE AGAIN—as revealed in the current study—Americans favor a "get tough" approach. Specifically, seven out of 10 persons familiar with the situation believe that under these circumstances the West should try to fight its way into Berlin.
 The question:
 "If Communist East Germany closes all roads to Berlin, do you think the U. S. and its Allies should or should not try to fight their way into Berlin?"

FIGHT INTO BERLIN IF NECESSARY?	Per cent
Should fight	71
Should not	15
No opinion	14

David Lawrence Many Europeans Missed JFK's Speech

IN EUROPE—A great speech was delivered by the President of the United States to the American people on Tuesday evening, but unfortunately, most of the people of Europe didn't have a chance to read it in full.
 THIS WRITER telephoned on Wednesday to newspapermen in London, Paris, Copenhagen, West Berlin, and the answer was the same: We waited and waited, but it came too late for most of our editions.
 Some will say this doesn't matter, since Mr. Kennedy was really talking to Mr. Khrushchev and the Soviet Premier will doubtless read the speech twice anyhow. But world opinion is of tremendous importance. Word-of-mouth opinion comes from those who do read a speech and pass their reactions on to others.
 THE RESPONSIBILITY for the failure of the European newspapers to print on Wednesday morning the full text of the Kennedy speech was primarily inside the White House itself. Neither the U. S. Information Agency nor the "Voice of America" was at fault. As a matter of fact, the White House staff kept promising the press associations that the full text of the speech would be available for advance distribution, and this word was passed on to the newspapers who held space in their pages till close to the hour when they had to go to press to catch mail trains and other delivery schedules.
 The difference in time—at least five hours between Europe and America—was the root of the difficulty, but this was a fact known in advance. Better planning could easily have overcome the obstacle.
 IT WAS NOT until eight o'clock in Washington, or one o'clock Wednesday morning in Europe, that the speech was made available to the press and began to move across the Atlantic by cable and radio. It was too late then for the morning papers to do much with it except to give it brief space in summary form. Repeating excerpts from the text by television and radio through tape recordings is helpful, but these do not come to the people in their own language.
 So, though there has been and will be plenty of editorial comment—nearly all of it favorable, by the way, on this side of the Iron Curtain—it would have been far better if the exact words of the Ameri-

 At night she rests at the station, repaying the kindness shown her by warding off potential burglars with her own special alarm system.

 DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Mrs. Richard Walker of Des Moines was stumped when her 7-year-old daughter came from school and asked:
 "Are you going to vote for the French fries?"
 That was the day Des Moines residents voted on a proposal to grant a power company a 25-year franchise.

Good Cotton Crop Looms In Dawson

LAMESA (SC) — Estimated income from agricultural sources in Dawson County rose from $29,273,536 in 1959 to a near-record $32,590,336 at the close of 1960 and prospects for current crops are even brighter.

The crop income accounted for $31,062,336 of the estimate derived from local farm service facilities. Livestock receipts accounted for the rest.

This year's crop outlook is even better, according to Lee Roy Colgan, county agent, who said, "I have never seen cotton look this good and this well loaded."

Colgan predicts a yield of 100,000 bales of cotton from the irrigated crops and an additional 71,500 bales from dryland farming this year, provided "we have a normal situation from here on out."

He said the current crop has a small amount of insects and disease and that favorable moisture conditions could boost his estimate by 20,000 bales. On the other hand Colgan warned that 50 days of hot, dry weather from Aug. 1 on could easily cut the estimate by 20,000 bales.

Cotton was the biggest single money-maker for county farmers last year, accounting for $23,375,000. Cottonseed receipts were valued at $3,039,400, making the aggregate from cotton crops $26,414,400.

The cotton income was figured from a total yield of 167,000 bales and $8,450 tons of cottonseed. Both were accumulated from 202,072 acres of cotton.

Grain sorghum, with 202,131 acres planted, showed a yield of 318,196,500 pounds, and netted farmers $4,204,300. The rest of the crop income came from silage and bundles, alfalfa, and cereal grains.

Beef cattle income was estimated at $900,000.

Alligator Hunting Ban Is Ordered

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Game Commission has ordered a ban on alligator hunting throughout the entire state.

Dr. O. Erle Erye, assistant director told the commission the prohibition was necessary to save the alligator, one of Florida's most valuable tourist lures, from extinction.

In the past, commercial hunters were allowed to take alligators more than six feet long for their hides, except in the Everglades region and a few other counties.

But, Frye said, many hunters have been taking alligators under six feet in their greed for hides and the reptiles are fast disappearing.

Broadway Hit Now Seen In Film Version

PLEASURE OF A BRIDAL PARTY
Hunter, Reynolds, Palmer, Astaire

The colorful city of San Francisco played host to a film company and took a starring part itself when Periberg-Seaton Productions went there to film scenes for "The Pleasure of His Company," screen version of the hit Broadway play at the Ritz Theatre.

Sharing top billing with "The City That Knows How" are Fred Astaire, Debbie Reynolds, Lilli Palmer, Tab Hunter, Gary Merrill and Charlie Ruggles. The screenplay by Samuel Taylor, adapted from the original play he wrote in collaboration with Cornelia Otis Skinner, required authentic backgrounds, so Paramount transported the varied necessities of Technicolor film-making up the California coast from Hollywood in a convoy of sixteen heavy trucks.

Who Are They?

You know who they are. The Three Stooges finally got around to making a feature-length film, after years of grinding out infamous, insane, half-baked and immortal short comedies. Co-starring skating champion Carol Heiss, the show is called "Snow White and the Three Stooges," and plays beginning Thursday at the Ritz.

Operatic Star Makes Debut In 'Canadians'

Teresa Stratas, petite, youthful Metropolitan Opera star, plays her first screen role as co-star of Robert Ryan in "The Canadians," 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope DeLuxe Color release, opening Thursday at the State Theatre. She is the only woman in the cast of this true story of three gallant men of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police who faced the entire Sioux nation after Custer's defeat and made them obey the law.

Teresa was born in Oshawa, Canada, May 20, 1929. She moved with her Greek-immigrant parents to Toronto where the family opened a restaurant. At the age of 5, Teresa was entrusted to a couple who operated a local motion picture theatre. There she happily watched pictures all day long. She learned the roles, and when there was a musical, she sang the songs. Her first and favorite song was "Pistol Packin' Mama."

Although Juliet Prowse plays a shapely and well-defined American carhop in the 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope comedy, "The Right Approach," opening today at the State Theatre, she is in real life a British Colonial twice-over.

Juliet Prowse Now Tries Comedy In Movie Career

Born in Bombay, India, she was brought up in South Africa—under British rule—and spent years studying ballet in Europe, before winning her present contract.

Prowse, who plays a carhop in the film, is still reaping kudos as the film fans-out across the country. Once considered too short for ballet roles, she is now one of the nation's most accomplished dancers.

Four new U. S. commemorative stamps recommended by the Citizen's Stamp Advisory Committee will be issued this year by the Post Office Department. The four stamps will honor the 50th anniversary of Naval aviation, the 50th anniversary of the Workmen's Compensation Law, the centenary of the birth of artist Frederick Remington, and the 100th anniversary of the Nursing profession.

The Naval Aviation stamp will be issued on Aug. 29 to coincide with the meeting of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences-Navy in San Diego, Calif. It will pay tribute to a half century of the development of the Navy's air arm and its contributions to the national defense.

A stamp to be issued on Labor Day will be dedicated in Milwaukee, and will mark the anniversary of the effective date of the first successful Workmen's Compensation legislation passed by the Wisconsin legislature of 1911. The Wisconsin law set the pattern for compensation laws passed subsequently throughout the country.

Frederic Remington, a famed American artist known for his treatment of the American West, will be honored on Oct. 4 with a multi-colored stamp. It will feature one of Remington's outstanding paintings. The Post Office Department claims this stamp will be the first multi-colored reproduction of a piece of fine art on an American postage stamp.

The multi-colored stamp honoring the nursing profession stems from the time in 1861 when formalized training of nurses in professional schools began in this country. The time, place and design of this stamp will be announced later.

In addition to these four stamps, the Post Office Department promises there will be two more commemorative issues forthcoming this year. These six stamps would bring the 1961 total to 15 stamps.

To commemorate the centenary of the issue of the first postage stamps of Nevis in 1861, a special set of four values is being released by the government of St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla. This group comprise one of ten British colonies which make up the Federation of the West Indies.

Each stamp bears the same design—a portrait of Queen Elizabeth at the right and a reproduction of one of the first stamps at left.

The 2 cents red with green border shows the original 1 pence, malized training of nurses in professional schools began in this country. The time, place and design of this stamp will be announced later.

Jeffrey Hunter Portrays State Witness In Trouble

Mounting terror and suspense mark the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer drama, "Key Witness," in which a Los Angeles detective pursues a murderer on the Hollywood freeway at night, the chase beginning by automobile and continuing on foot as the two men perilously weave in and out of and dodge the heavy traffic in the white glare of thousands of headlights.

It is one of a number of episodes filmed on locations in the Los Angeles area for "Key Witness," starring Jeffrey Hunter, Pat Crowley, Dennis Hopper, Jody Baker, Susan Harrison and the popular young singer, Johnny Nash, cast in a straight dramatic role.

"Key Witness" tells the story of Fred Morrow (Jeffrey Hunter), young husband and father, who inadvertently has witnessed a brutal murder committed by a street gang leader who calls himself Cowboy (Dennis Hopper). When Morrow consents to identify the slayer in court, he pays a heavy price for his sense of civic duty. He, together with his wife (Pat Crowley) and their young son and daughter, are intimidated and terrorized first by Cowboy and, after the killer is caught, by members of the gang, led by Cowboy's girl friend, Ruby, (Susan Harrison). A plot is formed to kidnap Morrow's son and a vicious attack by Ruby on his wife in a courthouse telephone booth just as Morrow is about to identify Cowboy at the arraignment.

A Pandro S. Berman Production for MGM, in CinemaScope, "Key Witness" was produced by Kathryn Hereford and directed by Phil Karlson, who won national recognition as director of the two-part Desilu Playhouse television production of "The Untouchables."
