One Of Fiercest Storms In Gulf History

200,000 FLEE HURRICANE

By The Associated Press
Ponderous Hurricane Carla, aiming her 135-mile-an-hour winds at Galveston, Tex., roared through the Gulf of Mexico early Sunday toward the abandoned coasts of upper Texas and western Louisiana.

As "the greatest evacuation of persons in the face of a national calamity in modern times" by the national Red Cross headquarters in Washington.
Winds up to 60 miles per hour already were beating the coastline in some western Louisiana sections.
Refugees packed hotels, motels and private homes in many cities to the north and jammed into every available place in Lufkin, Henderson, Carthage, Longview and Marshall. Some 2,000 were estimated by police to be in the Carthage area.

More than 150,000 residents fled the Port Arthur and Galveston areas. At least five highways leading out from Port Arthur were choked with cars three lanes deep. They stretched bumper-to-bumper for 20 miles in some cases.
The evacuation was described as "the greatest evacuation of persons in the face of a national calamity in modern times" by the national Red Cross headquarters in Washington.

Refugees packed hotels, motels and private homes in many cities to the north and jammed into every available place in Lufkin, Henderson, Carthage, Longview and Marshall. Some 2,000 were estimated by police to be in the Carthage area.

Worse than Audrey
This compared with disastrous Audrey in 1957 which killed 590 persons in Texas and Louisiana. Audrey had winds in gusts up to 165 miles an hour.
Greatest fear was from the tides, which generally cause more death and destruction on the Gulf of Mexico coast than do the high winds which spawn them. Most of the victims in Hurricane Audrey lost their lives by drowning.
In some areas on the Texas coast, the tide was 15 feet above normal when it strikes land.

PLANE FALLS, 82 ABOARD

What happened out on the greenward of Memorial Stadium Friday evening was enough to warm the cockles of a football fan's heart. Admittedly the test wasn't nearly as severe as those which lie ahead, but the attitude of the gridders was heartening. Those young men want that extra yard, and they want to be the one man to meet the ball carrier first. And nobody is as proud of them as they are of what their team mates are doing. Maybe we've turned the corner.

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — A chartered airliner carrying 82 persons — identified by a U.S. Air Force spokesman as mostly wives and children of American Army men flying home from Germany — plunged into the storied River Shannon early Sunday.
A U.S. Air Force spokesman in London said:
"The passenger list will be at the U.S. Army headquarters in Germany."
The spokesman said: "It appears that casualties are heavy."
The big four-engine DCs crashed shortly after taking off. The River Shannon runs along the end of the airport runway.
An Irish fire department official said: "The airliner is in the river and they won't be able to find the wreckage until dawn breaks and the fog clears."
Thick fog hampered rescue operations.
The four-engine plane was flying from Germany to the United States and stopped at Shannon for refueling.
All ambulances and hospitals in the Shannon area were called. Telephone lines out of the airport and nearby Limerick were taken over for emergency purposes.
The Sarnos has been considered the most advanced of the space spies that the Soviet Union calls aggressors.
Published reports, neither confirmed nor denied, have said Sarnos III would carry cameras capable of taking photographs of the Soviet Union for as long as a year.
Sarnos satellites are designed specifically to take magnified pictures of Soviet military installations. The first successful one of the type, Sarnos II, was launched from here last January. The Air Force has never disclosed details of its performance.
A network of eight to 12 Sarnos satellites is planned, enabling the Air Force to keep all parts of the world under constant watch.
They are space age replacements for the ill-fated U2 photographic planes, grounded after Russia shot one down a year ago last June.
Sarnos II went into a nearly circular polar orbit ranging from 300 to 350 miles high, encompassing the globe once every 96 minutes. Spokesmen refused to say whether it is still in orbit or whether its cameras are still working.

THEY STILL DO THAT?

It isn't a forgotten art yet. An unknown woman called police Friday afternoon and said a neighbor was beating his child. Patrolmen Morris and Steele answer the call. Their report:
"Boy took money from his mother's purse and his daddy was just giving him a good whuppin'."

Spy Satellite Rocket Fails

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—The camera-loaded satellite, Sarnos III, blew up on its launching pad Saturday.

De Gaulle Not Hurt In Attempt On Life

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle rode in his car through a sheet of flame Friday night and escaped injury in a carefully laid bomb plot against his life.
Moving swiftly, the government announced Saturday a man had been arrested and had made a full confession. Two generals also were taken into custody. Right-wingers hostile to De Gaulle's Algerian policies were blamed for the assassination attempt, made as De Gaulle was driving to his country home east of Paris.
The 70-year-old soldier-president, imperturbable as ever, said immediately afterward: "This was just a little joke in bad taste."
The attempt came about 11 p.m. as the president was making his usual weekend trip through the rolling Champagne region to his home at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises, 150 miles east of Paris.
He had gone about 60 miles when a sheet of flame suddenly seared the car and the blast of an explosion pelted the undercarriage with sand from the shoulder of the roadway.
The three-car motorcade stopped momentarily.
After De Gaulle had made sure no one was injured, the presidential cars sped ahead at normal speed and reached the estate on schedule.
The lower right-hand side of the president's car was scratched and marked by black smoke stains, and the right headlight was damaged.
Gendarmes from the area, alerted by police radio, raced to the scene. There they discovered a lump of explosive plastic weighing almost nine pounds hidden in a mound of sand. Nearby was a can that had apparently been filled with five gallons of gasoline.
Police said that the explosion and sheet of flame came from the explosion of the gasoline can. But this detonation only superficially burned the plastic and did not explode it.
Electric wires were found running to the area. The wires were buried about eight inches underground and followed a serpentine route of about 1,000 feet to a small clump of trees. Here, police said, the man or men charged with setting off the charge were hidden while awaiting the president's car.
Interior Minister Rogery Frey announced that a man had been arrested and had made a full confession.
Frey said the assassination attempt was "certainly organized by the Secret Army Organization." This is a right-wing group pledged to keeping Algeria under French control.
Frey also announced that two generals had been arrested in Paris and that they were in the top echelons of command of the OAS in metropolitan France.
The generals were identified as Paul Vanuxem and Jean Marie de Crevecoeur. Another announcement said that Vanuxem had been caught in the act of a crime, which was not specified.

Interior Minister Rogery Frey announced that a man had been arrested and had made a full confession.
Frey said the assassination attempt was "certainly organized by the Secret Army Organization." This is a right-wing group pledged to keeping Algeria under French control.
Frey also announced that two generals had been arrested in Paris and that they were in the top echelons of command of the OAS in metropolitan France.
The generals were identified as Paul Vanuxem and Jean Marie de Crevecoeur. Another announcement said that Vanuxem had been caught in the act of a crime, which was not specified.

De Gaulle Not Hurt In Attempt On Life

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle rode in his car through a sheet of flame Friday night and escaped injury in a carefully laid bomb plot against his life.
Moving swiftly, the government announced Saturday a man had been arrested and had made a full confession. Two generals also were taken into custody. Right-wingers hostile to De Gaulle's Algerian policies were blamed for the assassination attempt, made as De Gaulle was driving to his country home east of Paris.
The 70-year-old soldier-president, imperturbable as ever, said immediately afterward: "This was just a little joke in bad taste."
The attempt came about 11 p.m. as the president was making his usual weekend trip through the rolling Champagne region to his home at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises, 150 miles east of Paris.
He had gone about 60 miles when a sheet of flame suddenly seared the car and the blast of an explosion pelted the undercarriage with sand from the shoulder of the roadway.
The three-car motorcade stopped momentarily.
After De Gaulle had made sure no one was injured, the presidential cars sped ahead at normal speed and reached the estate on schedule.
The lower right-hand side of the president's car was scratched and marked by black smoke stains, and the right headlight was damaged.
Gendarmes from the area, alerted by police radio, raced to the scene. There they discovered a lump of explosive plastic weighing almost nine pounds hidden in a mound of sand. Nearby was a can that had apparently been filled with five gallons of gasoline.
Police said that the explosion and sheet of flame came from the explosion of the gasoline can. But this detonation only superficially burned the plastic and did not explode it.
Electric wires were found running to the area. The wires were buried about eight inches underground and followed a serpentine route of about 1,000 feet to a small clump of trees. Here, police said, the man or men charged with setting off the charge were hidden while awaiting the president's car.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Colorful Confederate Air Force Included In Show

By M. A. WEBB

Since the Confederate Air Force is scheduled to take part in the air show at Midland Terminal on Sept. 17, I found some background information on the CAF. The following is passed on, as written by Jethro E. Culpeper, Colonel, CAF, from Central Valley Airport at Mercedes.

"A number of years back a group of pilots in the Rio Grande Valley bought a surplus North American P-51 Mustang. A few months later they bought a Grumman F8F Bearcat. The reason for buying these aircraft was obvious to anyone who really likes the flying game. The Mustang is the finest flying machine ever built by the hands of man and was bought for the pure pleasure of flying.

NEED TWO

"When it was discovered that you can't run a race with only one airplane the F8F Bearcat was bought and reconditioned (Gov't acquisition cost $111,000; surplus price $805). This gave the group the last propeller-driven fighters to see service with both the U.S. Navy and U.S. Air Force — the last in a line of pursuit and fighter aircraft dating back to 1914. A long standing argument between Navy and Air Force pilots as to which of these aircraft had the greatest speed and performance could now be settled. They had never been matched in competition before.

"Other pilots became interested and wanted to take part in the flying. It was decided to pick up other fighter types. In looking for these ships we discovered that there were very few of the aircraft left intact. . . . The P-47 Thunderbolts were gone. The F4F Wildcats, P-39 Aircobras and P-40 Warhawks were near extinction. A small number of F4U Corsairs, P-38 Lightnings and F6F Hellcats were still left but deteriorating rapidly.

"A group of pilots went out to see what was left at the surplus disposal depots at Litchfield Park Naval Air Station and Davis-Monthan Air Force Base in Arizona Territory. What they saw first made them cry and then made them mad. They were chopping and smelting down good airplanes by the hundreds. The T6, C45, F8F, Corsair, TBM, E25, B26, F9F, the AD, and many other types, were on the block. The older types had long since been completely destroyed.

YANKEE ORDER

"On checking into this situation it was found that the orders to destroy these great aircraft had come from above the Mason-Dixon line. It was a Yankee order. "On checking further it was found that in the future no combat type aircraft would be sold for flying or display purposes. They were to be destroyed before leaving the base. This order was also from Yankee Country. It was found that demolition of these aircraft was started back in 1945 and these orders were carried out entirely by Union Troops.

"This showed a complete disregard and lack of respect by the Yankee commanders for the world's finest fighting aircraft — ships that served with distinction and won the war in the air. "There was only one thing to do. We organized the Confederate Air Force!

"In the process of organizing this great force we became aware of the extent to which the Yankees with their fast and furious ideas had infiltrated the Deep South. The great customs and traditions of the Deep South were being violated, diluted and forgotten in many areas. Among the pleasures being forgotten in the South, due to the influence of carpetbaggers, are such items as Good Southern Cookin', Leisurely Drinkin', Cat Fishin', Pocket Knife Whittlin', Rockin' Chair Rockin', and plain old Shade Tree Settin'.

"During the recent great war many a good Rebel was shipped above the Smith & Wesson line. With all good Rebels having a steerable liking for female companionship they started fraternizing with the local women. These ladies, realizing their inherited misfortune and being eager to escape to the comforts and wonders of the Deep South, married up with these good men. They then brought with them to the South such subversive items as Boston Baked Beans, New England boiled dinners, Philadelphia creamed cheese, etc. These ladies were countered by exposing these ladies to such vittles as black eyed peas, turnip greens, cornpone, sow belly, pot likker, grits, sugar-cured ham and hushpuppies.

OBJECTIVES

"The officers of the great Air Militia of the South feel that their most important objectives are these: "1. To preserve, in flying condition as many types of first line military aircraft as possible, particularly those types that played important roles in World War II. "2. Perpetuate in the minds and hearts of all Americans the spirit and memory of the accomplishments of these great airplanes. "3. Preserve the great customs and traditions of the Deep South. "4. Use all our political influence to have the Capitol building in Washington turned to face the South.

"5. To gain lots of pleasure and new friends in flying and supporting some great airplanes.

"With our course set we now have 66 officers dedicated to the cause. Officer candidates are carefully investigated by the OSS (Office of Southern Security) to see that they have no Yankee tendencies a-tall and that they sport the above objectives without reservation. We have found that many ex-Yankees, who have defected to the South and have been properly brainwashed, survive the investigation with flying colors. Membership applications will be referred to the Office of Southern Security.

FORCE

"Our force now consists of one each of the following aircraft: P-51 Mustang, F8F Bearcat, FG-1D Corsair, FM2 Wildcat, P-38 Lightning, F6F Hellcat, B25 Mitchell, P40 Warhawk, Training Squadron, 3 each TX Texans.

"Our ultimate goal is to have a complete line of WWII fighters, in flying condition, and ready to go. "These aircraft are made available for display or exhibition on a non-profit basis to civic or military groups anywhere in the South."

Westbrook Church Names Officers, Plans Projects

WESTBROOK (SC) — After a teachers and officers meeting at the First Baptist Church last week there was a regular church convocation to elect officers and teachers recommended by the nominating committee. The group also voted on several projects regarding maintenance of the church. The members will meet Sept. 15-16 to begin laying sidewalks around the church and to enclose the vestibule. Decisions were made to buy two wardrobes for the new choir robes, buy new heaters for the auditorium, and to have the piano tuned. Charles Ranne was appointed chairman of the sidewalk project and N. City Tax Roll To Be Adopted

The Big Spring city tax valuations on real and personal property have been prepared for consideration by the city commission at Tuesday night's meeting. An ordinance adopting the tax roll for 1961 will be read and considered at the meeting. Tax Collector Perry Johnson has set up the following figures, which show a valuation increase of $2,003,320 and which will bring in a levy of $30,049.80 more than last year at the same rate of $1.50 per $100 valuation. Real property valuations have been set at $38,526,370, and personal property at $8,418,350, totaling $46,944,720. Last year's total valuations were $44,941,600. The 1960 tax rate was $1.50, and will be the same this year.

SKUNK IS STRONG FOE

Didn't seem to be much "scents" in doing that. Police Patrolman Bob Smith got a call at 11:02 p.m. Friday night about a skunk in a yard at 424 Ryan. His report: "Captured same, disposed of same, then bathed in strong soap."

Booster Club Explained, Membership Drive Set

In an appearance made before members of the American Business Club in a noon luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel, captain Jimmy Felts of the Quarterback Club explained the aims and ambitions of that booster organization. Felts said that the primary purpose of such a club is to encourage the citizenry to take a more active part in promotion of their schools, especially where athletics were concerned. He said he thought everyone interested in the welfare of the educational institutions should become a member of the Quarterback Club and lend assistance in its promotion of all kinds of athletics. Cheer leaders of the Big Spring High School, after they were introduced by Keren Koger, gave an exhibition of co-ordinated cheering and asked the membership to participate in one yell. Negroes Suggested As Missionaries

DALLAS (AP) — The Baptist Standard, publication of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, has called for a change in the Southern Baptist Convention's constitution to permit Negroes to serve as missionaries. Dr. E. S. James, editor, made the appeal in a signed editorial in last week's issue of the Standard. There is no doubt that the Negroes can do far more than white people can do in Africa, the editorial said.

UNAVOIDABLE

By F. H. Tarsel, preacher, Church of Christ, 2900 West Highway 80, P.O. Box 1282.

I cannot help being in the church of Christ — I have no choice in the matter.

Unless I do not want to be saved. The saved are added to the church by the Lord, thus the only way to stay out of the church is to keep from being saved.

And the Lord added to the church daily, such as should be saved" (Acts 2:27). What church does this verse refer, if not the one which Christ spoke of as "my church" Mat. 16:18, the church which belongs to Christ—the church of Christ? I do not use the term, "church of Christ" in a denominational sense; but in the Bible sense, it is only in the Bible sense that the people who worship at 2900 West Highway 80 call themselves the church of Christ. We have not formed a denomination. We only function as a congregation of Christians. We are Christians only. Such were the Lord's disciples in the first century. They proved that the church can exist without denominationalism. It should so exist today. Yes, it does! Welcome to our services today! 9:30, 10:30 & 7.

City Commission Has Ordinance-Filled Agenda

Five ordinances will be read and considered at Tuesday night's meeting of the Big Spring City Commission. Consideration of a request that bids be taken for salvage rights on the City Dump ground for the next 12 months will also be on the agenda.

The five ordinances to be considered will be:

The third and final reading of an ordinance, amending the zoning ordinance, changing the zoning of Cole property in South Big Spring from 1F-2 to PD, planned district, for the purpose of creating an apartment housing development;

First reading and consideration of an ordinance amending the zoning ordinance changing the designation on both sides of Wood between State to Rosemont from 1F-2 to PD-NS, planned district—neighborhood service;

Second reading of an ordinance establishing the policy of the city concerning wrecker and towing service, storage, and impoundment of vehicles when requested by the police department;

An ordinance adopting the 1961 tax roll, and reading and consideration of an ordinance providing for the installation of trash receptacles within the City and permitting advertising signs on the sides of the receptacles.

Change Order No. 2, on the contract for additions to water distribution and sanitary sewer systems, will be considered for the purpose of establishing unit prices for bid items not included in the original contract but encountered during the construction of the project.

Jim Nichols of Freese and Nichols, consulting engineers, will present several types of elevated storage tanks for the consideration and approval of the city commission. The delivery date on elevated storage tanks is approximately nine months which will necessitate the awarding of a contract for the erection of the new 1.5 million-gallon elevated water storage tank the latter part of October or the early part of November, in order for the city to receive the benefit of this elevated storage next summer.

Also to be discussed will be the problem of furnishing water to the proposed Muir Heights Addition to be developed by E. C. Smith. Only the 34 acres in the addition will receive water if the plan is adopted. Amendments to the water service contract between the City of Big Spring and the Howard County Water Control District No. 1 (Coahoma) will be discussed.

Schools Enroll 133 In Special Education

By JOE BEYER
Special education for some 133 children in the Big Spring School system is exactly what the words imply. Each child receives special, and almost individual, instruction as the workload permits, according to Mrs. Mary Newell, special education coordinator.

The usual student load for each teacher is from eight to 14 pupils and when the maximum is reached, the teacher certainly has a full day's work, she said.

The old Central Ward school building now has classrooms for 48 pupils. Five of the groups are mentally retarded.

PRACTICAL

Cooking, sewing, physical education, homemaking and similar training is in vogue. Most instruction is in a practical vein. Although some regular academic work is given, it is usually on a lower level, Mrs. Newell said.

Instruction for orthopedic pupils is as near regular classroom teaching as is possible, she said. Film strips, special typewriters and tape recorders are used extensively for paraplegics, polio victims, and pupils afflicted with cerebral palsy.

Classes begin each day with a general assembly to give the students a chance to sing and associate with one another before they go to the classrooms.

Field trips to study about particular subjects brighten up the day and allow students to "get away from classes." Swimming at the YMCA pool three times each week is sponsored by the Junior Women's Forum under the direction of Bo Bowen, county health nurse.

COMBINED
Some classes, such as physical education and homemaking, have been combined with regular classes at other schools.

"The State encourages putting students into regular classes in which they can participate," Mrs. Newell said.

All pupils receive a thorough physical and psychological examination to determine in which class they can function best. Groups are often determined by age, according to Mrs. Newell, but the ability to learn is also important.

Two buses have been purchased for the Special Education department. They are compact vehicles with a capacity of 12 pupils. Although more trips are required to pick up all the children, the smaller vehicles are apparently more satisfactory.

"The children do not get as restless as they did when they had to make long rides and they are not a problem to the drivers," Mrs. Newell said.

HOSPITAL UNIT
Another special education unit is at the Big Spring State Hospital where special education is only in its second year. It was begun with 17 pupils last year and the enrollment now stands at 37 students. C. B. Underwood was the first instructor. Since then, Mrs. Anna Steen has been added to help with the increased workload.

Kate Morrison has 10 pupils, Rannels, 10, Lakeview, 15, and Bauer, 12.

Home Burns

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y. (AP)—Fire destroyed the summer home of actor Edward Everett Horton last week. The two-story frame structure on Warner Bay, 10 miles north of this resort village, was built in the 1880s. It was unoccupied at the time.

Baptists Plan Annual Meeting

Baptists of the Big Spring Association will hold their 53rd annual meeting here Sept. 18-19.

Summations of the year's work in the various congregations will highlight the sessions set for the East Fourth Baptist Church. Dr. P. D. O'Brien, who recently retired as pastor of the First Baptist Church after more than 19 years in its ministry, is the associational moderator.

Dr. Jimmy Allen, Dallas, representing the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will be among the speakers. The Rev. Cecil C. Rhodes, pastor of the Westside Baptist Church, is to deliver the convention evangelism report and message. W. M. Irwin will deliver the sermon.

Among others on the program will be C. R. Mathis, camp; J. W. Arnett, district missions; Mrs. W. B. Younger, WMU report; H. B. Graves, petitionary letters; G. G. Morehead, obituaries; E. R. Hammock, Mexican mission work; Warren Capps, resolutions; H. L. Bingham, Sunday School and VBS; Joe Dunn, Brotherhood; Jack Strickland, training union; R. B. Murray, worker's conference schedule; Leslie Lekley, nominations.

Paper Changes Issue Time

GREENVILLE (AP)—Newspaper history was made in Northeast Texas Saturday morning.

The Greenville Herald Banner, heretofore published as a five afternoon and Sunday morning newspaper, changed to a seven-day morning publication. It will be the first in Hunt County history and the second newspaper in Texas in a city with a population under 25,000 to operate on a seven-day schedule—at least in the past quarter century.

Said Publisher Matt Sholey: "The Herald Banner will 'don a new dress, a different head style. Its face will be redone for what the people at the newspaper hope will be in the best interest of beauty, and ease of readership."

New features and special columns are also being added, the publisher said.

Sports, women's coverage, farm and area news will be given special attention, Sholey explained.

Cotton Does Well, Bumper Crop Set

Spotted rains which fell early last week helped cotton and other crops in those areas where the volume was sufficient to be of importance.

Cotton continues to do well and there is every indication that a good crop will be harvested from border to border in the county. Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said that he sees no reason to revise his prediction on the number of bales likely for this season.

"I think we will hit 45,000 bales," he said. "Cotton looks fine. The only problem at all is in the case of very late cotton which will need all of the time it can get to ripen. With ordinary good luck, it should be well along in November before we get a killing frost. If this is the case, the crop will make."

Grain is looking good, Taylor said. He said one grower is harvesting his crop this weekend because he was fearful it would fall over. The man is getting around 2,000 pounds per acre from the field.

Taylor said that the bulk of the grain is not ready for harvesting and that which has been cut or will be cut soon will be penalized because of excess moisture and lack of maturity.

He said there are some fields in the county which should produce 3,000 pounds per acre. The crop should average out 1,500 pounds.

He said that it would be sometime yet before the grain harvest gets into full swing.

Meantime, cotton harvesting will not really get under way for at least two more weeks and possibly longer.

Taylor said that he has not heard of any large groups of bracers hitting the county as yet and he added they are not needed. Taylor issued his final bug report of the season Friday.

He repeated that insect difficulties have been of no major importance this season. Few fields had to be poisoned and there was no major buildup of bollworms, flea hoppers, loopers or other pests.

Majority of the fields over the county are free of damaging numbers of insects at this time. Taylor sees no danger of any change in the situation but said that if any such trouble did arise he would issue a supplement report in the next two weeks.

Bollworms were the only insects observed this week which could be causing any damage. A few armyworms and webworms are also present in some fields but the number is small.

What damage is done by the bollworms will be largely restricted to a handful of fields.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are having a disagreement that needs settling. We know a couple who have been married about a year. We attended their wedding and gave them a nice gift. I see this man at work every day. He keeps saying, "My wife and I are very put out with you and your wife because you haven't paid us a visit in our new apartment yet." When I tell my wife this, she says, "If they want us over, his wife should call me and invite us."

I can't tell this to the man, can I? Is it our place to call them up and invite ourselves over? Or should we wait until they call? What is proper?

DEAR ABBY: I have been going steady with a young man for three months now. He has a good personality, a good job, and my parents like him. You might think I have no problem, but I have. When he kisses me I just don't get that wonderful tingle. No matter how hard I try, I can't seem to feel anything for him. It is like kissing my brother. I know he thinks a lot of me, because he has been talking about marriage. I am 22 and have felt more for other men I've dated than this one, so I know it's not me. Should I keep going with him? If I break up, what excuse could I use? I hate to hurt his feelings.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going steady with a young man for three months now. He has a good personality, a good job, and my parents like him. You might think I have no problem, but I have. When he kisses me I just don't get that wonderful tingle. No matter how hard I try, I can't seem to feel anything for him. It is like kissing my brother. I know he thinks a lot of me, because he has been talking about marriage. I am 22 and have felt more for other men I've dated than this one, so I know it's not me. Should I keep going with him? If I break up, what excuse could I use? I hate to hurt his feelings.

Educational Institutions Here Fully Integrated

Ten years ago the processes of compliance with Supreme Court decisions calling for an eventual end of scholastic segregation were set in motion here. This autumn the chain of events, which started at the top, has now made full cycle—smoothly, orderly and in a matter-of-fact manner.

Trustees of Howard County Junior College, acting with dispatch following a test case, issued a statement of policy in 1951 that no one would be denied access to the college because of race or creed. That same fall the first Negro students enrolled.

Over the years the number registered has normally been small, and in recent years the total would not exceed a dozen. Some of the top athletes have been among these students, and some have gone on to enter the professions—one becoming a pharmacist and one now studying for medicine.

This year the cycle completed its turn with the absorption of all the students in Lakeview High School, which was located in the part of town where most of the Negro families reside. There are, at latest count, some 42 of these enrolled in various classes and participating in athletics, band and other special activities.

Actually the first colored student in the senior school entered in the autumn of 1950, when a girl, residing in the attendance district, applied for admittance. In the spring she was joined by a boy who attended a while and then dropped out. Several of the boys took part in spring football practice and are still out this fall. Two are expected to be starters on the basketball team, bolstering prospects there.

The initial enrollment of a colored student in junior high level came in 1959 when a lad from Webb Village signed up.

Big Spring became the scene of a historic court test in August of 1955 when the board of trustees voted to begin desegregation of grades one through six. In the ensuing hearing on an injunction petition, the late Judge Charles Sullivan denied the injunction and held that desegregation would not void a district's participation in state school funds. Because of the extreme importance of the case, the state supreme court heard the appeal immediately and sustained the trial court here.

In the meantime the program was initiated with half a dozen Negro youngsters enrolled in the Bauer School. Here and there have been occasional enrollments in other schools. Marcy, which serves the extreme southwest part of the city including the Webb (AFB) Village area, has several.

All in all, school officials report, the transition has been made smoothly. Among the children in lower grades there has been no apparent consciousness of the matter, and in the upper grades and in the college level, if anything, the students have gone out of their way to simply take the steps in stride.

Henry C. Barron, charged with DWI, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to three days in county jail Friday morning. He pleaded guilty in Howard County court. He was given credit for the time he had already served in the jail.

Seventy-eight persons were assessed fines totaling $1,065 in corporation court last week. Three cases were appealed with fines totaling only $35.

Drunkenness led the list with 34 being fined $710. Six ran red lights and were fined $40 (one appealed $15), and four for improper backing assessed $40 (one appealed $10).

Other charges, with total fines assessed, were two with no driver's licenses $30; two for disturbances $20; four for vagrancy $36; exceeding safe and prudent speed $10; four with no operator's licenses $75; parking on crosswalk $2; two for parking in alley $4; two for running stop signs $15; three for speeding $30 (one appealed $10); following too closely $10; double parking $2; improper left turn from middle lane $10; running stop sign $5; three parking on wrong side of street $6; four parking in prohibited zone $8; parking in middle of street $2; improper start from parked position $10.

Acres Survey Plans Readied

Rural mail carriers in Howard County are cooperating with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in conducting the 1961 acreage survey, according to E. C. Boatler, postmaster.

Boatler said that the carriers would distribute the survey cards to rural residents starting on Sept. 14.

The post office and the USDA makes these surveys cooperatively each year. The reports, obtained directly from the farmers, are the basis for official estimate of Texas acreage of all crops harvested in the current year.

To be assured that this community is well represented in the survey, Boatler urged each patron receiving one of the cards to fill it out and place it in his mail box.

The rural carriers will pick it up and send it on to the proper authorities.

The rural mail carriers who are working on this project are: Ervin Daniel, Rt. 1; J. E. Kennedy, Garden City Route; E. C. Evans, Gail Route; Clyde L. Payne, Knott Route; and D. C. Duncan, Sterling City Route.

Turkish Woman Studies Fish Culture At Galveston

GALVESTON (AP) — A scientist from Turkey was a recent student in Galveston learning commercial fishing research techniques under a fellowship from the United States.

The scientist is Mrs. Bedis Taneri, director of the Istanbul fisheries directorate.

"I am here to study your organization and administration at the research laboratories, and to learn new methods and techniques that I can apply to my own work in Turkey," she said.

Galveston was the only Texas city included in the scientist's itinerary and one

Teenage Girl Ordered To Training School

A pretty little blonde, who is now 15 years old and who has been involved in more than half a dozen escapades ranging from running away from home to burglary in the past 12 months, was ordered committed to the state training school for girls Friday afternoon.

Bob Darland, county juvenile officer, who has interceded repeatedly for the girl when she was before the court on other occasions and who has sought to keep her from getting into difficulty for the past year, told Judge Ed Carpenter that he was at the "end of my rope."

The girl's parents were seated at the table with her in the court room. Judge Carpenter told the girl that it was evident further clemency for her is useless.

"You have been given a large number of chances to change your ways," he said. "It is evident you do not appreciate the opportunities which have been offered."

He instructed Darland to take the girl to Gainesville and commit her in the state training school there.

The parents asked that she be allowed to go home for the weekend but Darland declined. He pointed out that one of the girl's most common offenses is running away from home.

She and another girl gave police and other officers three days work the last time she ran off. She was locked in the juvenile ward and will be taken to Gainesville Monday.

Respiratory Ills Lead Disease List

Others recorded were influenza 6, mumps 4, bronchial pneumonia 1, impetigo 5, strep throat 2 and echo virus, an unknown disease, 2.

NOTICES TO BE MAILED

Special 200 Member Venire Drawn For Sept. 18 Trial

A special venire of 200 — 61 women and 139 men — was drawn from the jury wheel Friday afternoon to serve in the murder trial Sept. 18 of John Edwin Myers, Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, presided at the drawing of the venire. Miller Harris, sheriff, and Wade Choate, district court clerk, drew the names and compiled the jury list. Notices will be sent to the veniremen Monday.

From this venire, a jury will be sought to try Myers for the pistol murder of Arthur Lee DeKraai, a hitchhiker, whom Myers had picked up in Fort Worth. DeKraai was killed near Big Spring on Sept. 1.

It was explained that a person summoned for special venire jury duty cannot be excused from serving by the judge. He is not authorized to exempt anyone from such service.

Only those persons who are excused by both the defense and state attorneys can avoid reporting for duty. Of course, once the venireman has reported to the court a large number of reasons can arise why he will not be eligible for duty.

A special venireman, under Texas law, is paid $2 a day for reporting to the court. His pay goes up to $5, if he is one of the 12 finally chosen to try the case.

Jurors, both civil and criminal on regular panels are paid $5 per day.

John Richard Coffee and Hartman Hooser, attorneys for the Chicago defendant, requested the special venire at the arraignment of their client Wednesday morning. They filed a written request with the court Friday.

Meantime, Hooser and Coffee have held several talks with Myers. They requested that he be given an examination by the staff at the Big Spring State Hospital to determine his mental status.

He was declared to be sane by the psychiatrists.

Varied Disturbances Keep Big Spring Police Moving

Speeders, thefts, juveniles, disturbances, dog bites, and assaults, were investigated by Big Spring police Friday and Saturday.

A woman called and reported a reckless driver in the 700 block of Main, and about two minutes later the same driver was reported in the 1800 block of Main. Both callers said they would file charges if the driver was located, and both gave the same description and license number. Police located the registered owner of the car, but the driver was not known Saturday night. One caller said the driver passed her at an intersection, driving fast, and almost ran into her. Other speeders and reckless drivers were reported on Main and Marcy.

A clarinet, reported stolen from Runnels Junior High School Wednesday, was returned to the school Friday morning. No questions were asked.

Fred Stitzel, 706 W. 17th, reported to police that a tire and wheel had been stolen from his car.

A Mrs. Phillips called from 2002 W. 30 and reported the theft of a tricycle, stroller, and clothing. Police found the tricycle at a house in the area.

The manager of a Big Spring motels asked police to patrol his area as he had trouble with juvenile males. A couple of 10-year-old girls, in a fuss in East Big Spring, brought a call for police from a witness.

Shelter Survey To Start Soon

Big Spring residents may soon begin receiving questionnaires on their homes for the nation-wide fallout shelter surveys. One question will be whether or not the resident wants a survey made.

W. D. Berry, Civil Defense coordinator who recently reported that such a survey would be made in Big Spring and Howard County, said teams would be made up of engineers and architects and would be working on a voluntary basis.

"The sole purpose of the survey," Berry said, "is to let residents know whether or not their homes would be safe to take care of one or more people during a radio-active fallout in the event it happened. Of course the decision on allowing teams to enter a home to make a check would be up to the residents of the home. The whole survey is a voluntary matter."

"We will not have to check every home where we are permitted to enter in the areas of Big Spring," he continued, "in several areas the homes are built alike, except for floor plans, and that will suffice."

"In the end such a survey would give everyone an idea as to whether he and his family might stay in their own home during fallout periods, or would have to hunt a safer shelter."

Vatican Accepts Council Invitation

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican announced today that it has accepted an invitation by the Protestant World Council of Churches to send five Roman Catholic observers to the council's next general assembly in New Delhi Nov. 18-20.

The observers will take part in the council's sessions without right to vote.

was killed when his explosives truck overturned north of Kermit.

The grand jury required less than half an hour to report a bill of indictment against John Edwin Myers for murder. Myers and his 13-year-old girl friend have made statements admitting four murders, one of them committed at the west edge of town a week ago. No time will be lost in attempting a trial, for the date has been set for Sept. 18.

Perhaps you are one of those who have intended to send in a contribution toward continuing the Bible Class program at high school, but somehow you haven't gotten around to it. Could you do that right away, please? Your help and the example of your help are needed urgently.

Thomas L. Cudd is terminating a ministry of 4½ years at the 14th and Main Church of Christ today to move to Hamlin. His ministry has been blessed with substantial growth in numbers as well as in plant. Another change in the ministerial ranks has brought Maj. and Mrs. Robert L. Short to be in charge of the Salvation Army program here.

Lamesans looked ahead boldly last week and ratified a contract with the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority to take up to 733,000,000 gallons annually when water is available. A fixed charge will repay the city's $3,845,000 share with interest over a 50-year period, so you can say Lamesa has looked that far ahead on water. In this country you have to.

The Howard County budget of $940,420 was adopted last week. It amounted to about $16,000 more than the preceding year, which is holding the line pretty well, considering that increased values should more than cover that.

Members of the base-community division of the Chamber of Commerce got together last week to talk about activities. We consider every person at Webb AFB a citizen of Big Spring, but the turnover of military personnel means that we need to keep letting the new folk out there know how we feel.

LeTourneau Due Award

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A major industrial honor, the Elmer A. Sperry Award, will be presented to R. G. LeTourneau of Longview, Tex., at a luncheon at the Milwaukee Auditorium Tuesday.

The award will be conferred in recognition of "a distinguished engineering contribution which, through application, proved in actual service, has advanced the art of transportation by land, sea and air."

LeTourneau will be the main speaker at the noon meeting, which will be held in conjunction with the Society of Automotive Engineers heavy duty vehicle assembly.

Recipients of the Sperry award are chosen by the Elmer A. Sperry Board of Award of New York, members of which represent the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the Society of Automotive Engineers, the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, and the Institute of Aero Space Sciences.

This will be the fourth major award to be given this year to the internationally known manufacturer and lay leader, three of which came in recognition of outstanding industrial achievement. This is believed to be the largest number of top manufacturing honors to be received by one man in one year.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Kathryn Elise Leavenworth, 8, told sheriff's deputies that her brother, Richard, 4, was shot Friday after her mother had stopped their car on the desert near Barstow.

However, the mother, Mary Katherine Leavenworth, 37, told officers an automatic pistol went off accidentally and wounded the boy while she was taking target practice.

The girl told deputies her mother wanted to blindfold her "and play a game" after Richard was wounded. She said she told her mother, "Momma, I don't want to play the game. I'll run away if you put a blindfold on me, Momma, I don't want to be shot."

The girl told deputies that as she and her mother returned to the car they passed Richard lying on a blanket, crying. "Mommy, mommy, help me."

Then Mrs. Leavenworth summoned a passing car and the boy was taken to a Barstow hospital. He was reported in fair condition.

Mrs. Leavenworth said the car had run out of gas. After trying unsuccessfully to haul a passing motorist, she said she took the boy into the desert for target practice.

She was booked on suspicion of assault to commit murder.

CIVILIAN TRAVEL PAY CUT OFF

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a major build-up to meet the Berlin crisis, the Kennedy administration ordered Saturday 40,000 regular Army troops to Europe to bolster the 250,000-man American force already there.

At the same time it cut off government-paid travel to Europe for dependents of fighting men and civilian employees of the armed services. It was explained that the problem of finding transportation, housing, schools and medical facilities was too difficult at this time, in view of the troop movement.

The travel ban is effective Oct. 9.

A significant exception was made in the case of travel to West Berlin. Dependents will still be permitted to go there, apparently because officials want to preserve West Berlin as a symbol of freedom, including freedom of travel.

The 40,000 reinforcements, most of whom will go to Germany, include 3,000 the Army had previously announced were to go. Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, said Friday these 3,000 would be assigned to the three U.S. infantry divisions in the German area. He also announced steps would be taken to increase the mechanization of these divisions. There are two U.S. armored divisions in the area, for a total of five.

The troops movement and ban on travel were announced by Secretary of Defense Robert S. Mc-

MISS TEXAS IS 4TH

Carolina Girl Is Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Maria Beale Fletcher, a hazel-eyed, brown-haired North Carolina beauty, Saturday night was chosen Miss America of 1962.

The 19-year-old Miss North Carolina, winner of a preliminary swimsuit competition in the pageant, succeeded Nancy Anne Fleming of Montague, Mich., as holder of the world's oldest and most famous beauty crown.

The new queen, from Asheville, is 5 feet, 5½ inches tall, weighs 118 pounds, and measures 35-24-35. A former member of the Radio City Rockettes in New York, she hopes for a career in the entertainment field after completing college.

Maria has had 13 years of training in dancing, three years of voice training and two of dramatics.

She is the first girl from North Carolina to win the title. Another North Carolina girl, Ann Farrington Herring of Winston-Salem, won third place in last year's pageant.

They asked her, "As Miss America you have just been introduced at a woman's club luncheon. You discover the speech you brought with you is for the Cattlemen's Association meeting next week, what would you do?"

She replied: "I think I would just go ahead and give the speech I had planned and hope they would think it was a comedy sketch."

Maria drew a rousing ovation before she finished the last word of the answer to her second question which was: "What is the greatest problem facing our country today, and what should we do about it?"

She replied: "I feel that the greatest problem facing our country today is making other foreign nations realize that we seriously mean what we say when we say that we are all for peace and that everyone here is hoping and praying for it all the time."

Miss North Carolina has won many dancing trophies before but had never been in a beauty pageant until she entered the one at Asheville which started her on the road to being Miss America.

The five finalists were selected from a group of 10 semifinalists named earlier Saturday night from among a group of 55 contestants in the pageant.

OTHERS

The other five semifinalists were:

Miss Alabama, Delores Hodgins of Bessemer.

Miss California, Susan Ann Henry of Fresno.

Miss Hawaii, Joan Whitney Vine of Honolulu.

Miss Montana, Joanna Katherine Lester of Missoula.

Miss New Mexico, Myrtice Lee Conn of Clovis.

Miss America receives a $10,000 scholarship for her college education or special training. She also will be paid some $75,000 and expenses for a year of personal appearances across the nation and abroad.

The runners-up get scholarships of $3,000, $2,500, $2,000 and $1,500. Each of the other five girls in the semifinals gets a $1,000 scholarship.

McNamara directed the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force to take the following steps:

1. Stop completely on Oct. 9 government-sponsored travel of dependents to Europe.
2. Encourage immediately all port calls for dependent transportation to Europe. These are calls for families to go to ports for transportation overseas.
3. Cancel authority for concurrent travel of dependents to Europe in all cases where the military man or civilian employee involved has not yet departed from his last duty station. This means that if a man still is on duty in the United States his dependents cannot go abroad with him even though they have already been authorized to do so.
4. Encourage dependents to forego travel even though the journey already is scheduled before Oct. 9.
5. Advise all concerned of dependents' rights to transportation to "selected places of residence" in this country. This means, for example, that if a soldier is going overseas, his family may move in with relatives, with the government paying for any travel involved and for shipment of furniture.

Exceptions to the ban on travel may be made for dependents of military attaches of U.S. embassies and military assistance groups working with foreign governments.

Refugees Leave Ghost Towns Behind On Coast

plashed over the 17-foot Galveston seawall—a protective structure built by the island city after about 6,000 persons died 61 years ago this month in one of the world's major disasters. High water caused most of the deaths.

Most gasoline stations closed at noon Saturday in the Port Arthur area, cars were lined up at most stations, and grocery and drug stores were closed and persons seeking emergency lighting equipment, food and water containers.

GUARDSMEN OUT
Louisiana Gov. Jimmie H. Davis said National Guardsmen would remove all persons in the path of the hurricane if necessary.

Gov. Price Daniel of Texas put guardsmen in East Texas on alert.

Civil Defense and the Red Cross put emergency plans into operation and made plans to house refugees. Government surplus food was being used to feed the evacuees. Military airfields along the entire coastal area sent planes to other areas.

The fishing resort of Port Aransas, on exposed Padre Island off the Texas coast, began evacuation. Water in some streets of the town of 600 reached four feet.

At Houston, Tex., some 25 ships—one the Del Mar with more than 58 passengers—tied up in the deepwater channel to wait out the hurricane.

Water in early afternoon

Most of Grand Isle was inundated. Ninety-five per cent of this island's residents have already been evacuated. Lake Pontchartrain lapped over U.S. 11 east of New Orleans as winds kicked up high waves on the large lake.

Civil Defense authorities ordered all coastal roads in Louisiana closed.

Between Carla and the coast are hundreds of offshore oil wells in the rich tidelands. Operations on the big rigs ceased and equipment and workers sped ashore in boats and helicopters.

Gale winds buffeted the coastal area south of New Orleans.

Removal of cables and runway lights to make room for work and to prepare for adding more lights was the first part of the work started.

The airport also got a weed-cutting job the last of the week when county mowers went to work to clean up the entire area.

County Airport Work Started

Preliminary work began at Howard County Airport last week for the addition of run-up pads at the end of runways, and for paving an island in front of the terminal building. W. D. Caldwell has been awarded the contract, which will be paid for by Howard County and the Federal Government, and will cost approximately $32,000.

Donna Faces Murder Trial After Return To Illinois

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Donna Marie Stoner, who has admitted complicity in four slayings in three states, apparently will be returned to Illinois to stand trial for murder.

Because of her age, the girl apparently can't be tried for murder under Texas or Missouri laws. Illinois authorities said there are no such legal bars in their state, where the crime spree began with the gunshot slayings of a father and daughter Aug. 30.

"It is fairly certain the girl will be returned to Illinois for prosecution," state's attorney John M. Karns Jr. said Saturday.

The prosecutor said some arrangements already have been made with Big Spring authorities. He preferred not to go into detail because of the approaching trial. Ninety-five per cent of this island's residents have already been evacuated. Lake Pontchartrain lapped over U.S. 11 east of New Orleans as winds kicked up high waves on the large lake.

Meteor Sets Off Storm, Bomb Confusion

DALLAS (AP)—What was reported to have been high-flying jets taking pictures of Hurricane Carla apparently was a meteor exploding in the atmosphere, authorities said Saturday night.

The Oklahoma FAA said it was a meteor sighted from Central Kansas to South Texas.

Airport control towers at Dallas Love Field said it was a meteor and Federal Aviation Agency's control tower at Oklahoma City's Will Rogers Field confirmed the information.

The Dallas sheriff's department, which first said the light and noise were caused by jet planes taking pictures, said it had heard the information from several police departments.

Connally Air Force Base at Waco, where it was reported the planes were flying from, said it had no planes in the air.

Dyess AFB at Abilene, Tex., also reported the light was believed to be a meteor.

Television Station KXII at Sherman-Denison, Tex., said it was told that the display was caused by magnesium flares ignited by government agencies to photograph Hurricane Carla.

The FAA tower at Tyler, Tex., said it plotted the huge light's movement and that it fell near the Red River, probably north of the stream in Oklahoma. The agency said the light hit northeast of Fort Worth and northwest of Tyler which would have put it in the Madill-Durant area.

Reports coming in to the Big Spring police station said an airplane crashed northwest of Colorado City, northeast of Coahoma, north of Cosden, north of Stanton, near Amarillo, north of Brownwood, and points in New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas.

One caller insisted—correctly—that it was a meteorite.

Fire Is Set In Russ Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet embassy officials protested to Secretary of State Dean Rusk Saturday night that someone broke into the embassy during the day and started a third floor fire. Rusk promptly ordered an inquiry.

A Soviet spokesman said the fire was put out quickly. The Soviets said they had lodged "strongest protests against this unprecedented criminal act."

DALLAS (AP)—Fallout shelter businesses have noted a 30 per cent increase in activity in Dallas since the recent resumption of Soviet nuclear testing, a survey indicated Saturday.

Envoy Weds In Splendor

HILLEROD, Denmark (AP)—In an ancient European setting, U.S. Ambassador William McCormick Blair Jr. married a former model producer Helmut Danntine, and more than 150 political and social figures from the United States.

The wedding of the envoy and Catherine Gerlach took place in a Renaissance chapel of the 350-year-old Fredericksborg Castle, for centuries the residence of Danish kings.

The event attracted friends of the bride and groom from Chicago, the home town of both, as well as Washington and many capitals of Europe.

Blair, 44, was active in President Kennedy's 1960 campaign and is a former law firm associate of Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The brunette bride, 29, is a former photographers' model and daughter of Norman Gerlach, a prominent Chicago attorney.

Heading the guest list were Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Sargent Shriver, mother and sister of the president. Mrs. Shriver's husband directs the Peace Corps, introduced Blair to Miss Gerlach three years ago.

Other guests included former Sen. William Benton of Connecticut, Chairman Newton Minow of the Federal Communications Commission, Undersecretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Hollywood movie producer Helmut Danntine, and Mrs. Harry Guttenheim, publisher of the Long Island, N.Y., newspaper, Newsday.

Woman Held In Check Spree

CHICAGO (AP) — A 19-year-old woman who police said collected $68,000 in a week-long check writing spree is being held today for questioning. She said she gave most of the money away.

Mrs. Shelby June Neumann was seized Friday at a South Side bank where five checks were deposited without difficulty during the past week. They were made out for $3,900, $4,150, $10,750, $25,000 and $25,000.

The checks were credited to a personal account maintained by Patricia Cavey, 18, who also is being held. She told police she deposited the checks, then withdrew the money and turned it over to Mrs. Neumann.

Mrs. Neumann, a divorcee, told police she obtained blank checks while working for the Fleischman Distilling Corp. as a switchboard operator. She said she signed them with the name of Frank M. Fiore, her former boss.

Mrs. Neumann told police she gave $25,000 to a young man to buy a sports car and complete his musical education and $17,000 to another so he could buy a new car and organize a band. She said she deposited about $24,000 in other Chicago area banks.

City crews have been busy with the stabilization of Big Spring streets where drainage problems exist. The photograph shows Young Street, between Twelfth and Sixteenth, with a grader spreading the asphalt mix to prevent washing. Young, Benton, Donley, and Victory streets, south of the railroad, will be completed in a few days, and work has started north of the railroad on several streets.

Local Youth Faces Car Theft Charges

DALTON, Ga. (AP) — Federal auto theft charges have been filed against a 20-year-old Texan who was touring the country on his stepfather's credit card.

Ronda Joe Reid of Big Spring, Tex., today faced arraignment before a U.S. commissioner in Rome, Ga.

Reid finally admitted his identity Friday after two days of silence. First, however, he told Sheriff Donald McArthur and FBI agents that he was Richard C. Seaman Jr., son of an Army sergeant from Big Spring. Later Reid said Seaman Sr. was his stepfather.

Sheriff's officers arrested Reid Wednesday night when he drove into town with a convertible, minus hub caps, fender skirts and a radio. They held him for not having a driver's license.

In the car, officers found a shawl, purse and Social Security card belonging to Barbara Ann Shaw of Poughkeepsie, N.Y. The front seat of the car was spotted with blood and bloodstained trousers were found in the trunk.

Reid's refusal to talk set off fears for the safety of Miss Shaw, but she was located at home. Reid said he had met Miss Shaw on his travels and that they had gone swimming together. He explained away the bloodstains by saying they resulted from a cut on his hand.

The sheriff quoted Reid as saying he stole the car in Waco, Tex. The FBI said Reid was on three years probation for violation of the federal car theft act, and that he had served two years in the Texas State Penitentiary for a similar conviction.

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — Exploration is under way in the Rocky Mountain foothills 240 miles northwest of Edmonton to determine the feasibility of mining high grade cooking oil deposits.

The Edmonton Journal said successful development could mean an initial $50 million boost to Alberta's coal mining industry.

Guard Unit To Intensify Training, Add New Members

The National Guard unit here has been advised of its training schedule under the recent alert.

Capt. Dewie Stevenson said Saturday that Battery B of the 142nd Field Artillery had been notified that the alert would call for intensified training and by efforts to come up to full manpower and equipment strength.

This would mean an additional Sunday of training for the unit, plus the addition of about 21 new guardsmen during September and October.

Those who have had prior military experience would be eligible. This is because the local unit is not equipped to offer the basic military training, but rather for development of specialized skills.

Those who have had prior military experience are invited to contact Capt. Stevenson or report at the Guard armory any Sunday morning.

The follow-up to the naming of the 49th Armored Division a "priority" unit to receive intensified training as a result of the mounting Berlin crisis is the authorization for the unit to recruit approximately 4,500 men with prior military service.

The order to beef up the division to full strength—14,617 officers and men — was received Thursday in the National Guard Division's Dallas headquarters. Maj. General Harley B. West, commanding general, promptly had the play relayed by radio to the 85 units in 75 far-flung Texas communities.

West said, "There are many factors which will influence the Lone Star Division's state of preparedness. Probably most important is the enlistment of veterans of military service. With these men in our units, we should reach a peak of efficiency in a short time."

In addition to the order to recruit veterans, the division will attach Ready Reservists for training as directed by the Fourth U. S. Army Commander.

blue baby makes up for lost time!

In Teheran there is a six-year-old boy who is running, jumping, playing... showing how a boy has fun when he has waited all his life to do it! Until last year, Moshe Nemanpor was virtually immobilized; he was small for his age, his nails and lips were blue... he was a blue baby!

When he was five an operation, completely successful, was performed on Moshe. The operation and after-care were provided through the combined efforts of two hospitals. Within three months Moshe had grown three inches, his weight was normal, he could move about like any healthy child.

This happy outcome never would have happened except for Americans supporting the Overseas Aid Program of their faith. One of the hospitals in this case is supported by funds raised through the United Jewish Appeal. But all three American faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—maintain programs to help those in need overseas. Hospitals, farm tools, food, clothing, books, jobs... whatever is needed, your faith provides it. Next time an appeal is made, give generously. There is constant need for your help.

Boy Scout troop No. 9 will stencil hubcaps all day Saturday on the Furr Food parking lot as a fund-raising project.

Lester Goswick, scoutmaster, pointed out the stenciling is done with an electric needle and provides a permanent record of the owner's name and address.

With numerous cases of reported hubcap thefts, the troop felt like it was time to offer a service they provided two years ago.

Goswick also pointed out that the troop was conducting a recruiting drive for members and he invited boys 11 years and older to contact him. The troop has just returned from a camping trip at Carlsbad, N. M.

Jack Cox, Former Governor Candidate, To Join GOP

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Cox, Breckenridge businessman who ran for governor on the Democratic ticket in 1960, said Saturday he will become a Republican.

"I can no longer support nor be a part of the Democratic party under its present leadership and political platforms," he said.

"And I shall immediately exercise my constitutional privilege of pledging my efforts . . . to assist the Republican party in its fight to restore constitutional government."

He said that he not now a candidate for governor, but indicated he might decide later to become a candidate for that or some other office.

Cox drew 619,834 votes in the first Democratic primary in 1960 against Gov. Price Daniel, who polled 908,992. Only the two men were in the race.

Cox is much in demand as a speaker for Americanism. The text of his statement: "For over a decade, loyal, thinking Texans who value their political independence, the rights of the states, the sound financial handling of the taxpayers' money and constitutional government have been faced with a dire political dilemma: The customary blind loyalty to the Democratic party, regardless of platform or leadership, vs. the historical and fundamental principles of government on which Texas and these United States of America were originally founded.

"In recent years . . . over and over again . . . long-time Texas conservative Democrats have refused to surrender their constitutional rights to the Harry Truman-Adlai Stevenson-Walter Reuther-Eleanor Roosevelt dominated Democratic party demand for blind loyalty.

"Texans, like myself, now face another dilemma: Is it possible to continue within the framework and under the leadership of today's Democratic party now that it becomes increasingly obvious that the present Democratic party is dedicated to a course which can lead only to the destruction of the basic political and civil rights guaranteed by our Constitution.

"It should not be a question of party loyalty. Rather it is a question of an individual citizen being loyal to the basic principles of government in which he believes and then determining the established political party in which and through which these basic principles of government—and a way of life—can be put into operation in an orderly and successful manner.

"After prayerful consideration, I have concluded that I can best serve Texas and the nation . . . and the future of my children . . . by supporting and working in the Republican party.

"I can no longer support nor be a part of the Democratic party under its present leadership and political platforms. And I shall immediately exercise my constitutional privilege of pledging my efforts and dedicating whatever abilities I may have to assist the Republican party in its fight to restore constitutional government.

"Let there be no misunderstanding. I am 'enlisting' in the Republican party as a 'back private' and will gladly serve in any capacity, no matter how small, that will bring about the soundest restoration of Jeffersonian, constitutional government in our country.

"Under these circumstances I am not a candidate for governor of Texas or for any other state office. If, in the future, there should arise an opportunity in which I can be of any appreciable service to my state or to my country, consistent with my beliefs, I would then consider such service at that time."

Local Pilot Joins T-Birds

Capt. Ralph L. Brooks, a native of Big Spring and currently assigned to the Air Force Fighter Weapons School, has been selected as one of two new pilots to join the Air Force Thunderbirds.

The other new pilot is Capt. Robert G. Moore, a native of Florida.

Capt. Brooks has been academic instructor in the weapons school at Nellis AFB, Nevada, since March, 1960. He will join the team as spare pilot later this year and will replace Capt. Robert L. Cass in the right wing position early in 1962.

The local pilot was selected from a field of over 100 applicants, who were briefed and interviewed personally by the Thunderbird demonstration pilots.

Capt. Brooks graduated in 1951 from Hardin-Simmons University. His wife is the former Lynette Blum, and also a native of Big Spring. They have four children: Laura 5, Greg 3 1/2, Cynthia 2, and Michael 2 months.

Lyndon Gets A Goodwool Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the heat and humidity, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was presented with an all-wool blanket Friday.

The presentation, mercifully in Johnson's air-conditioned capitol office, was made by Gayle Hudgens of Hobbs, N. M., who is "Miss Wool of America."

Miss Hudgens, a 5-foot-7-inch brunette, wore an emerald green dress (wool) and a varicolored turban hat made of brushed wool. She is a student of the University of New Mexico on leave of absence while, as she put it, she is serving as "goodwool" ambassador.

Rog Clubs 56th Round Tripper

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris crashed his 56th home run Saturday—four shy of Babe Ruth's major league home run record—and the New York Yankees, with four runs in the ninth, rallied for their 18th straight victory, 8-7 over the Cleveland Indians.

By each club, but the biggest cheer came in the seventh when Maris pitched a 2-1 pitch deep into the right center field bleachers to stay six games ahead of the pace set by Ruth when the Babe hit his 60 homers for the Yankees in 1927.

Johnny Blanchard, who hit his 19th home run earlier, struck the big blow in the last of the ninth rally—a ground rule double with the bases loaded that tied the score 7-7.

Luis Arroyo, who relieved starter Rollie Sheldon in the 7th, picked up his 14th victory against three losses and his 12th triumph in a row. Funk lost it for an 11-10 record.

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Coach John Bridgers has had two main conference football campaigns—putting a razor-sharp edge on what is perhaps the league's finest passing attack and developing some depth in the line.

Ronnie Bull, a prime candidate for All America honors, has been moved to fullback to make greater use of his versatile talents.

The line will be heavier than a year ago, and Baylor fans expect it to be more potent, especially on offense. Indications are the starting line will average 210 pounds.

Darlene Hard Nears Crown

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., moved within a step of her second straight women's title and a pair of Queenslanders, Rod Laver and Roy Emerson, set up the fifth all-Australian men's final in six years Saturday in the National Tennis Championships.

Miss Hard's sharp net game was too much for Margaret Smith, 19, the Australian pre-medical student, set up the fifth all-Australian men's final in six years Saturday in the National Tennis Championships.

Sands Mustangs Tie Robert Lee, 0 To 0

By JOE BEYER
ACKERLY — In a game riddled with fumbles and penalties on key plays the Sands Mustangs and the Robert Lee Steers battled to a scoreless tie Friday night. Robert Lee had one touchdown and two other near touchdowns called back during the second quarter. Except for the three flashes, the first half was about even. The Steers went to the air more times, during the first half, connecting twice, only to have two penalties erase the 54 yards gained on the two plays. Four other attempts were unsuccessful. Sands completed four passes in six attempts during the first half for a net yardage of 15 yards. John Kinsey, quarterback for the Steers, brought the fans to their feet early in the second quarter when he galloped from the Mustang 40-yard line into the end zone. A holding penalty, however, nullified the gain. The Mustangs were determined not to be outdone and twice in the first half they worked to within the 5-yard line only to lose the ball—once on a fumble and again when the Steer defense refused further yardage. Sands fumbled once early in the game and Robert Lee, twice. After that the two teams settled down to some bruising football between two evenly matched teams.

Most of the second half was played in the Sands end of the field as the Mustangs backed the Steers against their own goal line and refused to let up. The Mustangs twice took the ball deep in their own territory and worked it across the 50-yard line only to lose it. In the see-saw play Robert Lee twice moved well against the Sands, but as it approached the goal line the Steer defense stiffened and the line gave little yardage. The Sands eleven showed a sparkling pass defense as it broke up pass attacks by the Mustangs in the latter parts of both halves.

Cowboys Down Forsan Buffs By 46-8 Tab

AFTON — The Patton Springs Cowboys, surging for 22 points in the final period, battered the Forsan Buffs, 46-8, in an eight-man football game here Friday night. Forsan counted its lone TD in the third on a 58-yard pass play that went from Kenneth Soles to Larry Stroud. Soles added the extra point on a run.

Tom Clay and Boyd Epting each tallied two touchdowns for Patton Springs. Forsan drove to within inches of the Cowboy goal seconds before the first half ended, at a time the Buffs were very much in contention. Danny Wash was a tower of strength on defense for Forsan, just as he was against Wellman last week. He made 14 tackles against Patton Springs to bring his two-day aggregate to 29 H. K. Elrod also stood out in the Forsan line, with 12 tackles.

Forsan's Roger Park punted three times for an average of 37 yards. The Buffaloes made 45 yards rushing the ball and 69 passing. Soles completed four of eight airmail and had one intercepted. Forsan lost two fumbles and Patton Springs three. Patton Springs was penalized twice for 30 yards, Forsan three for 25. First downs favored the Cowboys, 6-3.

The Buffaloes, now 0-2 on the season, will be idle next weekend.

Ozona Lions Turn Back Coahoma 'Dogs, 26-0

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs lost a hard-fought game to the Ozona Lions on their home field Friday night, 26-0, with Pete and Carl Montgomery doing the scoring. The first quarter went scoreless, but with Ozona gaining yardage which didn't pay off. Carnes, the quarterback for the Lions, did a lot of personal ground gaining but when it came to scoring he left it to Montgomery & Co.

The Bulldogs fought stubbornly, and on two occasions seemed to be going, but were halted by fumbles or a Lion wall that wouldn't let them through. Ozona pushed through a second touchdown in the third quarter but failed to get the extra point. In the fourth quarter they got going again and crossed the goal line twice, but failed to get the two points pushed over.

The last touchdown was taken across by Carl Montgomery with 10 seconds left in the game. There was time to kickoff to Coahoma but no time for a play afterward. Starting lineups were Coahoma—ends, J. Mays and Maurice Cutright; tackles, L. Pherigo and W. Self; guards, B. Ford and B. Anderson; center, R. Burgess; backs, F. Firenze, R. Cunningham, R. Lindsey, B. Turner. Ozona—ends, G. Studdard and H. Long; tackles, D. Raseberry and P. Baggett; guards, F. Childress and C. Bingham; center, R. Cox; backs, P. Montgomery, B. Moore, P. Carnes, C. Montgomery.

Snyder Trowned By Borger, 22-0

BORGER — Snyder, next football foe of the Big Spring Steers, was kayoed by Borger here Friday night, 22-0. The Bulldogs scored all their TD's in the first half, getting one in the first period and two in the second. Unable to move on the ground, Snyder tried desperately to move through the air. The Bengals picked up 91 yards through the air to only 30 on the ground. Borger made 20 first downs to only eight for Snyder. The Bulldogs wound up with 237 yards in rushing gains.

Wellman Winner Over Bearkats

GARDEN CITY — Freddie Sedgwick scored two touchdowns and Sammie Rex and Jesse Hartman one each as Wellman's Wildcats turned back Garden City, 28-0, in an eight-man football game here Friday night.

Sterling Shades Loop, 24 To 14

STERLING CITY—Led by David Durham, the Sterling City Eagles kayoed Loop, 24-12, in an eight-man football exhibition here Friday night. Leroy Churchill put the Eagles in front in the first period when he gathered in a pass and raced 12 yards across the double stripes, Durham threw the toss, then wound up and pitched to Bill Coleman for the conversion.

After being held scoreless in the second round, the Eagles counted in both of the last two periods. Durham passed to Coleman for five yards and one score, then got the other on a quarterback sneak. Clayton Stewart plunged over for one two-point conversion. Durham sought out Coleman with a pass that paid off with the other one. The win proved costly to Sterling, however, because quarterback Jerry Payne broke an arm on a tackle and probably will be lost for the season. Loop scored in the second and third periods.

HERMLEIGH — Hermleigh, nudged by Coahoma in its opening game last week, struck back to bomb Aspermont, 16-0, here Friday night.

Western Better, Insists Collins

EL PASO — Texas Western College has a better team than last year, Coach Ben Collins and his staff contend. Why? "Better backs," said Collins, whose Miners won 4, lost 5 and tied one last year. "We're weaker at some spots, but overall we're better. We have bigger, stronger, faster backs than last year, and the line looks about as good as last season, although it is somewhat greener."

Getting back to the halfbacks, Collins is more enthusiastic than at any time in the past three years. He is particularly high on Evans, among the newcomers, for the 6-foot, 180-pound junior from Big Spring has been tremendous in practice. A good high school footballer, he passed up the sport for two years of basketball at Howard County Junior College in his home town. He enrolled at Texas Western in the spring, and lettered in basketball before taking part in spring football practice. He has excellent speed, and is strong and intelligent. He has proved to be a good runner and a capable pass receiver.

Springer, who enrolled at TWC last year and sat out a year's ineligibility after transferring from Oklahoma, is running at the second unit halfback where he is paired with Meeks, 175-pound senior. Many fans consider them as good as the players ahead of them, and either or both could advance. Springer, a fast 190-pounder, is a good runner and pass receiver. Meeks was the team's best back before he was injured early last season. He led the team in pass receiving as a sophomore, but he is equally impressive as a strong runner who cracks tacklers with the authority of players much bigger than he. Second unit fullback is Chuck McCalmont, an El Paso senior who weighs 190 pounds and who is one of the team's sickest and fastest runners. Quarterbacking that team is tall Fat O'Donnell, 190-pound sophomore who has come along fast since his freshman year, when he was labeled a prime prospect.

Cosden Reports New Subsidiary

Cosden Petroleum Corporation has announced the formation of a subsidiary, Cosden Petrochemical Corporation. The new organization, incorporated in the State of New York, has opened offices in New York, N. Y.

A newcomer to the petrochemical scene, its benzene-toluene-xylene plant went on stream in 1952. Cosden has followed a carefully mapped program of diversification which has brought the company an international reputation. Its recognition of the importance of chemicals and plastics has prompted the establishment of the Petrochemical Corporation, which will perform marketing advisory services.

Franklin E. Eck, who has been marketing manager of chemicals and plastics for Cosden, is president of the new firm. Eck holds a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from the University of Notre Dame and a master's in business administration from Harvard Business School. The New Jersey native previously had been associated with Spencer Chemical Company and American Cyanamid Company.

From its initial venture in petrochemicals Cosden has expanded its manufacturing complex so that in fiscal year 1961 petrochemical sales went to $10.2 million or 12 percent of total sales. Petrochemicals were credited for a fourth of the net income during fiscal 1961. Cosden, a subsidiary of W. R. Grace & Co., manufactures orthoxylenes, metaxylenes, paraxylenes, polybutene, styrene monomer, polystyrene and a new chemical polymer used in making vinyl plastics and resins.

Directors of Cosden Petrochemical Corporation are Kurt P. Duldner, Thomas J. Sheridan Jr., and Henry W. Parke, all of New York.

Decrease Reported In Wells Drilled

AUSTIN (AP) — Last week 151 oil wells were drilled in the state, the Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday. This is a decrease of 40 from the previous week.

The year's total is 6,484 compared with 6,807 during the comparable 1960 period.

Gas well completions totaled 89, up 39 from the week before, for a year's total of 2,164, compared with 1,379 at the same time last year.

There were 6 oil and 44 gas wildcat wells drilled.

Crews plugged 44 wells plus 99 dry holes.

Conoco Seeks Limits Of Ackerly Field

MIDLAND — An intensive one-company drilling program is under way in Dawson and Martin Counties to determine the limits of the Northwest Ackerly (Dean) Field.

Continental Oil Company has five rotaries aiming their bits at a 170-foot pay section in the 10-well field, said Frank T. Elliott, Midland Division production superintendent.

This pace, he said, will continue until the limits of the field have been set.

The middle of May marked the beginning of Conoco's accelerated Dean sand search. The company, which had only one producer in the field at the time, moved in two rigs and has been completing wells at the rate of one per rig per month since.

The reservoir Conoco is tapping was estimated by Elliott to contain approximately 10,000,000 barrels of oil. It is a stratigraphic trap with a solution gas drive. The field now occupies about 11.5 square miles with the company holding leases on the majority of the proven acreage.

The average total depth of the field's seven flowing and three pumping wells is 8,700 feet. The allowable production per well is 175 barrels of oil for eight days. They are capable, Elliott said, of flowing or pumping approximately 200 barrels of oil daily.

The field was opened on Nov. 7, 1960, when Southern Union Gas Company completed its No. 1 Janie Pitts, two miles northwest of Ackerly in section 46, block 34, T-4-N, T&P survey.

It flowed 271 barrels of 38-gravity oil in 24 hours through a one-fourth-inch choke from perforations at 8,370-feet.

Three Oilmen Get Key Jobs

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON (AP) — Three independent oil operators have been appointed since February to key Washington jobs dealing with oil and gas matters.

Jerome O'Brien this week was appointed director of the Interior Department's Office of Oil and Gas.

John Kelly earlier was named assistant secretary of the Interior for mineral resources. Lawrence O'Connor was approved last month for membership on the Federal Power Commission.

All three have much in common.

In addition to having backgrounds as independent operators, each has been quite active on committees which have charted the national program of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA).

O'Brien, 54, of Midland, was president of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) in 1957 and 1958. As head of the 7,500-member group he made numerous Washington trips to discuss such problems as import controls and natural gas price decontrols.

O'Brien's appointment has particular significance in that both Kelly and Interior Secretary Stewart Udall have indicated they plan to strengthen the Office of Oil and Gas and make it the nerve center of most oil and gas actions by federal agencies.

O'Connor, 46, carries nearly two years of government experience with him to his new FPC assignment. In 1959 O'Connor was assistant director of the Oil and Gas Division. A year ago he was selected to succeed Navy Capt. Matthew Carson as oil import administrator.

Kelly now is searching for someone to succeed O'Connor as head of the mandatory program to control oil imports.

All of O'Connor's business career is not linked with the oil industry. He was a certified public accountant seven years in Houston before becoming an independent operator.

O'Connor is the first man with an oil background to get on the FPC since the death of John Hussey in March, 1960. Hussey was once Louisiana conservation commissioner.

Appointments Draw Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., asserted Friday that the otherwise "fine record" of the Kennedy administration is "blacked out by oil influence."

Proxmire's remarks were in a prepared Senate speech criticizing the appointment of Jerome O'Brien as director of the Interior Department's Office of Oil and Gas.

O'Brien, of Midland, Tex., is a vice president of the Humble Oil and Refining Co.

Proxmire said: "The President owes the country an explanation for this latest in a string of appointments which wholly ignore the consumer and give the petroleum industry a stranglehold on U.S. government policy affecting oil and gas."

He said confidence in the impartiality of the administration where oil is concerned was "severely shaken" previously by:

1. Appointment of John Connally Jr., "still executor of one of the biggest private oil estates in the world," as secretary of the Navy, the country's biggest buyer of petroleum fuels.
2. Appointment of John Kelly of New Mexico, "still a holder of vast oil interests," as assistant interior secretary for mineral resources.
3. Naming of Lawrence O'Connor, former vice president of Goldstone Oil, to the Federal Power Commission.

Sonic Well Pump Uses Vibration

A new principle has been introduced into pumping oil—lifting it upwards by using vibration. The Sonic pump, manufactured by Johnston Testers, is a mechanical device which vibrates a string of tubing so that a series of valves installed in the tubing collars will lift the fluid to the surface.

This high-frequency valve action and tubing agitation has been found useful in the Panhandle where downhole paraffin accumulations are often a problem.

Area Projects Have Routine Drilling Reports

Conoco gave reports on five of the firm's projects in the Northwest Ackerly field of Dawson County Saturday. Several projects in Borden County had reports and a deep well in Dawson County was completed.

Contract May Solve Problem

Oil producers in the Sharon Ridge Field of Mitchell and Scurry counties will meet Thursday in Snyder to discuss a new purchasing contract they hope will solve the field's salt water disposal problem.

Up for consideration will be a proposal of Mesa Pipe Line Co. of Midland to buy all crude oil produced in the field and simultaneously dispose of all salt water.

Market price for the crude would be based on the average postings of three major purchasers of West Texas sour crude.

The contract to be offered by Mesa is the result of several months of negotiations between the company and the Sharon Ridge Operators Salt Water Disposal Committee, headed by Jack Patton of Rotan. This committee was formed in December, 1960, after the Colorado River Municipal Water District complained to producers that surface disposal pits in the field were causing contamination of the river.

Sam L. Robertson of Abilene, president of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association, named the committee, and his association has handled administrative work of the group.

Copies of the contract have been mailed to all producers in the field, and Patton has urged them to have representatives at Snyder Thursday prepared to negotiate.

The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. at the Snyder Country Club.

The field currently produces 5,444 barrels of oil daily from three pay zones. Southwest Hydrocarbon Co. of Corsicana has been gathering 4,543 barrels daily, while the Permian Corp. of Midland has been taking 1,101 barrels.

Members of the operators committee besides Patton are Mark McLaughlin of Snyder, Richard Cummins of Southwest Hydrocarbon Co., Leo G. Ellis of Colorado City, J. M. McLaughlin and Don Dotson of Mobil Oil Co. in Lubbock, Lem. G. Neely of Abilene and E. Bruce Street of Graham.

Seminar Planned At Odessa Friday For ROW Men

A one-day seminar on right-of-way and appraisals will be held Friday in Odessa's Lincoln Hotel, W. P. Langley of Midland, program chairman, announced Saturday.

Langley said a large attendance of right-of-way men, appraisers and real estate men from Permian Basin cities is expected.

William F. Howard, El Paso, president of the sponsoring Southwest Chapter 35, and others from El Paso are expected to attend the session.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. and a general session will begin at 9 a.m.

Speakers will include George Finley, Kermit attorney, who will speak on "Contamination from the Landowners Viewpoint"; Dan Williamson, vice president, land department, Transcontinental Pipe Line Corp. of Houston, "Importation of Right-of-Way Acquisition from Management's Viewpoint."

Area Potentials Take Big Lead Over Previous Year

By JOE BEYER

New potential during August bounded ahead of both July of this year and August, 1960 to put the eight-county area far ahead of the same time a year ago. Completions hit a new high for the past two years as 51 wells came in.

In August, 4,808.32 barrels of new oil were produced, up 134.80 barrels above July and 282.62 barrels ahead of a year ago. The area has totaled 34,673.26 barrels going 3,420 barrels ahead of the cumulative total at the end of August, 1960.

A total of 297 wells have been completed this year compared to 244 during the same eight months in 1960. Discovery wells, however, lag behind last year 15 to 12. Drilling has taken forward strides in 1961 with 421 new sites staked so far compared to 317 at this time last year.

REGAINED LEAD

Martin County regained the lead with 10 new wells potentializing 2,198.60 barrels of oil. Howard County came in second with 1,350.39 barrels from 23 oilers. This is only the second time this year that Howard County has topped the 1,000 barrel mark.

Howard County led in completions with 23. Next highs were Martin, 10, and Mitchell, nine. Garza County had four, Dawson and Borden counties, two each, and Glasscock County, one. Sterling County failed to break into the top potential column.

A total of 47 new field sites were filed along with seven prospectors. Dawson County had most explorers with three. Borden and Martin County each gained two wildcats.

In field sites, Martin County led with 11, Howard and Glasscock counties each had 10. Dawson County had nine, Borden County had three, and Mitchell and Sterling counties each had two. The 34 total was 14 behind July, but nine more than August a year ago.

The county - by - county breakdown:

BORDEN
Only two new wells were logged in the county for a total of 317.88 barrels of new oil. A Jo-Mill well came in for 175.28 barrels and one in the Arthur field potentialized 142.60 barrels.

There were five new projects. Two are wildcats, two are in the Good, Southeast Field, and one is a Fluvanna location. The Koonsman and Vealmoor fields each had a duster.

DAWSON
After two months of more than 1,000 barrels, the county dropped to 331 barrels of new oil. This was produced by two oilers, one each in the Ackerly, Northwest and Felken fields.

The Ackerly Field gained eight of the 12 new sites filed by operators. Three were explorers and one was in the Felken Field.

One wildcat was abandoned as were projects in the Walls and Welch, Southeast fields. Dusters totaled three.

GARZA
Four small producers totaled 139 barrels of new potential in the county. Lone oilers were in the Justiceburg, Post, Rocker A and Threeway fields.

The Post Field had eight of 19 new sites. The two others are in the Dorward field. Two prospectors were plugged and abandoned. Another duster was in the Aycock Field.

GLASSCOCK
This county almost failed to get on the charts this month. A small Spraberry Trend well pumped 27 barrels of new potential. There were no locations or dusters.

HOWARD
Despite 23 completions which led the area, the 1,350.39 barrels of new oil produced was second best to Martin County.

N. P. Powell Oil Co., Inc. No. 2 N. H. Reed, a Pennsylvania explorer, was completed in the Canyon Reef for 132 barrels of new potential to re-open that pay in the Vealmoor field. Other new wells were in the Howard-Glasscock Field, 13; Iatan-East Howard Field, four, and Snyder Field, five.

The Howard - Glasscock Field had all 10 new locations in the county. One wildcat and one Howard - Glasscock Field site were plugged and abandoned.

MARTIN
Six Spraberry Trend oilers potentialized 1,339.24 barrels of the total 2,198.60 barrels of new oil in Martin County as it led the nearest competitor by 848.21 barrels. Three wells in the Mabee Field had 377 barrels and one Breedlove completion registered 482.38 barrels of new oil.

The county also led all others with 13 new projects contracted. They were sprinkled about with two explorers, five in the Ackerly Field, one in the Breedlove Field, two in the Mabee Field and three in the Spraberry Trend.

MITCHELL
Although there were nine completions, the county gained only 444.45 barrels of new potential. The Sharon Ridge (1,700) Field had most completions with four, but the Turner - Gregory Field, with three, registered most barrels. It had 204.27 barrels of new oil. The Iatan - East Howard and Westbrook fields each had one oiler.

One prospector, a Wichita - Albany attempt one - half mile southwest of the Sharon Ridge (1,700) Field, was a duster at 5,512 feet. It was the Tucker Drilling Co., Inc. No. 1 C. C. Berry.

There are two new sites in the Iatan - East Howard Field.

STERLING
Activity was slow again in the county as it drew a blank in production for the fifth month of this year. The Herrell and Howard-Glasscock fields each gained one new project. One wildcat was a duster.

Priest Faces Rape Attempt Trial Monday

AUSTIN (AP)—A slim, bespectacled, dark-haired Catholic priest comes to district court here Monday accused of trying to rape a college coed in an Edinburg church.

The Rev. John B. Feit, 27, is charged with assault with intent to rape Miss Maria America Guerra, 20, on March 23, 1960.

State and defense attorneys say they are ready for trial if all their witnesses appear. The defense has asked for testimony from 44 persons and the state from 33. Some witnesses got subpoenas from both sides.

"I expect to announce ready for the state," said Hidalgo Dist. Atty. R. L. Lattimore, who has been in Austin several days planning his court campaign. "The rest is up to the defense and the court."

Fred Semann, widely known San Antonio attorney, says he and his client will be in court Monday. "Then it depends on whether all the witnesses I've subpoenaed show up," he said. He added that he doubts if he will be able to go to trial before the first of 1962 if the case is postponed Monday.

Dist. Judge Penn Jackson of Cleburne, until recently head of the State Board of Insurance, will be on the bench.

Miss Guerra, a Pan American College coed in March of 1960, said she was seized as she knelt to pray in Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Edinburg. She said her attacker fled when she bit him on the finger.

Miss Guerra, who graduated from Pan American College this summer, now is a teacher in Starr County where she lives with her parents.

Father Feit was charged in justice of the peace court Aug. 4, 1960, in Edinburg. He was indicted by the Hidalgo County Grand Jury six days later. He surrendered to the San Antonio sheriff's office about a week following his indictment and said he was innocent of the charges. He posted $10,000 bond.

Brass Censor Probe Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Backed by a flood of protest mail, Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., appears likely to win a fight for a further investigation of Pentagon censorship of military officers' speeches.

Unless signals are changed, the Senate Armed Services Committee is expected to decide this week that its Preparedness subcommittee should inquire into Thurmond's charges that some officers have been "muzzled" in expressing anti-Communist sentiments.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara obviously convinced a majority of the armed services group in testimony earlier in the week that the Pentagon is not trying to soften the policy line against communism.

McNamara conceded that some phrases regarded as provocative had been deleted from military men's speeches at times, such as when efforts were being made to obtain the release of the RB47 fliers captured in the Soviet Union.

McNamara told the committee that Pentagon policy did restrict the public utterances of military men but kept them from involvement in politics thus preventing confusion over national policy.

But senators said they were getting heavy mail protesting that the policy was denying service leaders the opportunity to speak out on the menace of communism. Some of them said they felt the controversy raised over the matter would only be increased by denying an inquiry and that the only way to quiet it lay through further investigation.

Rights Panel Asks Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Rights Commission asked Congress Saturday for legislation spelling out the right of all Americans to vote in federal or state elections.

That right, the commission said, should be abridged only in case of failure to meet reasonable age or length-of-residence requirements or conviction of a felony.

However, the commission reported, evidence of balloting discrimination based on race has been found in eight Southern states.

U. S. Tops Russia In Farm Output

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States still tops the Soviet Union in farm production by around 60 per cent despite Communist efforts in recent years to surpass this country.

Officers Rapped As Result Of Paar Show Flap

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department removed one Army officer from his job Saturday and admonished another as a result of the controversial Jack Paar TV show filmed on the border between West and East Berlin.

Relieved from his post for "improper performance of duty" was Lt. Col. Dallas Hoadley of Baltimore, information officer of the Berlin command.

Admonished was Col. J. R. Deane Jr., of San Francisco, commanding officer of the 2nd Battle Group, 6th Infantry, in Germany.

He was accused of "exercising poor judgment in diverting a squad from regular training duties in order to participate in activities beyond the scope of their military mission."

Rosh Hashanah Begins Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—The observance of Rosh Hashanah, marking the Jewish year 5722, will begin Sunday at sundown.

This holy day opens a 10-day period of penitence and prayer culminating in Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, which begins at nightfall, Sept. 19.

Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe Rosh Hashanah for two days, and Reform Jews for one day.

President Kennedy, in a message noting the Jewish holiday, said in part: "We have learned that tolerance and cooperation are the ways to true national strength. Americans of the Jewish faith have given their country a great gift in this regard."

Kennedy Infant Rites Saturday

Graveside rites for Robert Scott Kennedy, infant son of Warrant Officer and Mrs. Jack Kennedy, were held at Coleman Saturday afternoon with arrangements by the River Funeral Home. The child died in a local hospital Friday.

Survivors include the parents, two brothers, Jeffrey and Kevin; one sister, Debra; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lucille Kennedy, Lake Michigan, Wis.; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Marrs, Abilene.

Kuharich Optimistic About Irish Outlook

By EDWARD S. KITCH
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Head Coach Joe Kuharich has an optimistic view of Notre Dame's 1961 football season.

"Personally, I don't think that we should take a back seat for any of the teams," he says.

"They are good and strong, but we are going to be able to compete on equal terms. We have every reason to think we'll have a good season."

The 1960 Fighting Irish's record of two wins and eight losses matches the worst season of Kuharich's predecessor Terry Brennan. That was in 1956 when Notre Dame's academic boards of review instituted in 1954 had caught up with players' scholastic records.

The opening game at South Bend with Oklahoma Sept. 30 will test Notre Dame's strength, Oklahoma, Northwestern and Duke, last one on the schedule, are expected to give Notre Dame its toughest competition.

Injuries have handicapped key players for the last two years. This year the injury talk centers around Frank Snowden, a fullback who suffered a knee injury last spring. Snowden is a key member of the backfield. He is fast although he weighs 235.

JOE KUCHARICH
No Back Seat

From Youngstown, Ohio, Snowden is one of two top-weighted players on the squad. The other is Tackle George Bednar of Shaverstown, Pa. He is 6-3 and weighs 240.

Kuharich is pinning his winning hopes on the fact that several experienced players are scheduled for the lineup. The squad only lost 12 seniors. But the lineup isn't cut and dried by any means.

"We still are looking for the fast-breaking and fast-running back," he said.

"We believe we have one in Tom MacDonald, 180-pound 5-11 sophomore from Downey, Calif."

MacDonald is among 60 candidates for the squad. His expected good performance is based on a pre-season Old-Timers game played this spring. He carried the ball 3 times for 10 yards and caught one pass for 10 yards.

A key quarterback is Dayrie Lamonica, 205-pound junior. He returns with a year of experience. By the end of the 1960 season, the Fresno, Calif., led the quarterbacks in playing time with 258 minutes.

What the team needs, perhaps, is another playing Joe Kuharich, who graduated in 1938. His old coach, Elmer Layden, recently said:

"Joe Kuharich was one of the best and smartest players I ever had at Notre Dame."

Perhaps some of his football enthusiasm is with his 1961 squad, for he says:

"This squad is more intent and eager to demonstrate its ability. All in all, it's a better picture than we've had over the last few years."

Nov. 4 Day Of Decision

By BOB HOORING
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mark Nov. 4 as college football's 1961 day of decision. Chances are the winners of the Iowa-Ohio State and Louisiana State-Mississippi games of that date will be judged best in the nation.

Kansas, Syracuse, Penn State, UCLA, Alabama plus the Southwest Conference triumvirate of Rice, Texas and Baylor are among the other serious contenders.

The season opens Saturday, Sept. 16, featuring Pittsburgh at Miami—a meeting of two powerful independents confronted by nightmare schedules.

Here's a capsule forecast:

Big Ten—Iowa or Ohio State, Michigan State right behind.

Southeastern — Alabama likely champion but LSU-Ole Miss winner ranked higher nationally.

Southwest — A three-way donnybrook which won't be decided until the Rice-Baylor game Dec. 2.

Atlantic Coast — North Carolina State or Maryland.

Big Five — UCLA, Skyline — UCLA, Missouri Valley — Tulsa or Wichita.

Ivy League — Yale and Cornell favorites; Penn may surprise.

Southern — Tossup: VMI, Furman, William and Mary.

East — Winner Penn State vs. Syracuse, Oct. 21.

Other independents — Oregon State or Oregon.

A Near Miss

Danny Coats (33) of Big Spring makes a game effort of recovering a Plainview fumble in the above picture but the ball went out of bounds. Big Spring scored an easy 36-0 victory over the Bulldogs and Coats saw a lot of action.

Phil Linz Wins Batting Crown

By The Associated Press

Phil Linz, the clouting Amarillo infielder, won the batting championship of the Texas League by seven points.

Final averages showed that Linz took the title with 349 on 151 hits in 433 times at bat. It was seven points better than Doug Clemens compiled while at Tulsa.

Cooper Loses To Monterey

ABILENE — Gathering steam in the final two periods, the Monterey Plainsmen of Lubbock kayoed Abilene Cooper, 33-0, in a football exhibition here Friday night.

Monterey held only a 7-0 lead at half time but in the last half it was all Monterey.

Jimmy Cochran led the Lubbock attack, picking up 62 yards in 20 carries.

Cooper threatened just before the half ended following a pass interception, when it moved to Monterey's nine.

Jerry Shopley, Cochran, Tom Brown, Darnee Ritchey and Bowers counted touchdowns for the Plainsmen.

The Plainsmen were handicapped by the fact that Larry Strickland, their regular quarterback, had broken his leg in practice earlier in the week.

Solons May Help Prosecute Gamblers In Bribe Case

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators offered today to help prosecute two gamblers accused of trying to bribe a University of Oregon football player.

L. Carl Robinson, head of the Michigan state police rackets squad, told a reporter he would urge immediate reopening of the case now that the Senate Investigations subcommittee has turned up one of the gamblers, Frank Rosenthal.

At subcommittee hearings Friday, the player, Michael Bruce, 20, dramatically pointed to Rosenthal as the man who offered him $5,000 to fix last fall's Oregon-Michigan game. Bruce, of El Cajon, Calif., said the bribe was offered in a hotel on the eve of the game at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Bruce said he exposed the offer to the Oregon coaching staff and police were called in.

Rosenthal, of Chicago and Miami, stared impassively as Bruce leveled a finger at him. Then Rosenthal invoked the Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination and refused to testify about the incident.

The other gambler, David Budin, 28, a former New York school teacher, was arrested at the hotel. He was tried and fined $100 on a charge of registering under a false name.

Last June, Budin, former captain of the Brooklyn College basketball team, was indicted in New York on bribery charges in college basketball scandals.

Robinson testified that reluctance by Bruce to face the embarrassment of testifying in a trial was a complicating factor when the rackets squad handled the case last September.

But another, he said, was that the state police never, until the subcommittee produced him, had identified Rosenthal as the other man involved.

DENVER CITY — Denver City nipped Seminole, 9-8, here Friday night to register its 17th straight football victory. A ten-yard field goal by Mike Martin proved to be the difference between the two eleven.

Seminole had a sizeable edge in the statistics. The Mustangs made only three first downs to 12 for Seminole.

Spirit Of Fall In THE ENSEMBLE

START A FALL ENSEMBLE with a bright red basic dress as shown by Mrs. Joe Moss, model for all pictures on this page. The pure wool basket-weave frock is fashioned with a semi-blouson bodice, slightly shirred at the waistline. The jewelry neckline can be dressed up with the season's bright jewelry . . . the sheath-type skirt goes anywhere, anytime of day.

AND A HAT SO PRETTY it merits a double take. The deep brown satin high crown features a stitched brim that is turned back then dipped to provide the flattering profile type so popular this fall. The two pearl and rhinestone pins are crossed to add a smart touch. The jewelry is of iridescent beads and matching ear clips in colors ranging from pink to ruby.

EYES DROP TO THE FLOOR when lizard shoes and bag in the new beige color are accessories for the ensemble. The shoes have a tapered toe and the latest leather collar trim.

FOR CASUAL WEAR MATE THE BRIGHT red dress with a cerise imported wool coat, fashioned of coronado shadow plaid secured with large dyed-to-match bone buttons, as pictured at left. The new A look is achieved by the drop shoulder, the abbreviated open sleeve and the patch pockets. The ring neckline is completed by looping the long ties.

And Now She'll See The Sea

By WARREN LERUDE

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Pretty Charlene Suneson joined the Navy for the usual reason: to see the world.

"I didn't think I wouldn't be allowed to go to sea. The Navy was the first place I met any restriction because I was a woman. At home (in Chicago) and at the University of Chicago, I never was told I couldn't do some kinds of work because I was a woman."

Now, seven years later, Charlene finds she is right all along. At 27 she is going to sea, the Navy's first woman line officer assigned to serve aboard a ship.

There have been nurses and other staff specialists assigned to sea duty, but Lt. Suneson will be the first to go aboard as regular Navy officer.

It's part of a Navy experiment—to ease the officer shortage and to learn what shipboard jobs women can fill as well as men.

She'll be going to sea early next year, and probably will remain on ship for 18 months. The ship, incidentally, is the USS Mann.

Asked about shipboard romances, petite, dark-haired and dark-eyed Charlene says: "It's better to stay away from that subject. It's not likely that anything would happen."

What about moonlight nights on the high seas? "It's not that type of cruise."

Aboard ship she'll have special accommodations set aside for her, nurses and other female personnel.

"I don't know who is responsible for my actually being assigned to a ship," she says. "I've requested sea duty before and suddenly it came through."

Now she's looking forward to visiting Far Eastern ports and buying silks in Japan.

She has been doing personnel work at the San Diego base, and thinks her sea-going duties probably will be in personnel work too. "But I could be assigned to nearly anything."

She says it doesn't bother her to work with men. As for handling jobs usually assigned to men: "There's not much difference between men and women. When you come right down to it, I guess men are just stronger."

Charlene, who says she has no marriage plans, hopes to continue working if and when she does get married. She hopes to complete a 20-year hitch in the Navy.

"I'm just not the kind who likes to stay at home and wash dishes," she explains. "I wouldn't give up my work to get married."

Charlene first thought of the Navy when in high school. Her only association with nautical life as a youth was occasional vacations in the Wisconsin lake areas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Suneson of Chicago.

"It was a very unutilitary family," she recalls. "My dad is a contractor."

Tree Doctors Need More Than Twig For Diagnosis

Even the most knowing tree doctors need more than just a sample twig or leaf to tell you what's wrong with an ailing tree, without seeing the patient.

Henry W. Gilbertson, pathologist of the Davey Tree Expert Co., says most home owners send in either insufficient information or the wrong kind to complicate an already difficult task of appraisal. If you write to your experiment station or arborist, you're most likely to get a prompt and accurate diagnosis by sending along data covering five critical points:

1. Description of entire tree and its surroundings. Note such things as soil fill, type of soil—sandy, heavy clay or intermediate—poor drainage and similar factors. Attach this information to your specimen.

2. Kind of tree—and be specific about this. Don't just refer to an oak or maple. State whether it is a red or white oak, or a sugar or silver maple, etc.

3. Collect twig or branch specimens from the crown portion showing the disease symptoms. And do not send in dead, dried out specimens, they are worthless.

4. If possible, collect specimens that show a junction of dead and living wood. Frequently, the insect that caused the branch to die or the fungus that caused the leaves to wilt can be found at these junction points.

5. Send in as much past history of the tree as possible. Key to many tree problems is found in something that happened to the tree or its environment in the past. Careless use of weed killers, for instance, often is the cause of tree disasters.

place it in a polyethylene freezer bag and seal tightly. Do not put water in bag before sealing. Bags can be bought at most supermarkets.

In sending specimen material.

HARLEQUIN

contemporary correlates of rich-toned walnut with 3-dimensional, solid walnut accents... pieces for every room at modest prices

The doors that give this group its unusual facade are very difficult to illustrate and describe. The doors are concave, sloped to the center from top and bottom and fitted with convex diamonds of polished solid walnut. A striking effect is achieved by the play of light and shadow across the soft finish of the woods. There are many more Harlequin pieces than we have pictured here... pieces for living room, bedroom, dining room. Come see the complete collection. When you see the pieces in person, you'll be amazed by the small price tags.

Stanton Resident Weds Lubbock Girl In Church

STANTON (SC)—Betty Hankins of Lubbock became the bride of Paul Allen Jones of Stanton in a double ring ceremony read Friday night in the First Christian Church in Lubbock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hankins of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Jones of Stanton.

Dr. Dudley Strain, pastor of the First Christian Church, heard the vows as they were repeated before the altar decorated with a fan type arrangement of white gladioli. Tall baskets of greenery were placed at either side as were candelabra entwined with fern.

Cecil Bolton, organist, accompanied Jayne Maddox as she sang "Walk Hand in Hand With Me," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a full length gown of embroidered tulle over cloud mist taffeta and net. The fitted bodice of the gown was designed with a scalloped deep V neckline and long tapered sleeves ending in points over the hands. The skirt featured a scalloped apron-effect front with a bouffant back of nylon tulle ruffles cascading the length of the skirt to the floor.

Her waist-length veil of silk illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls, iridescent sequins and teardrop pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses accented by pearlized orange blossoms and satin leaves and centered with a white orchid.

Jon Anna Hankins attended her sister as maid of honor; Kay Ustry and Karen Mason were bridesmaids. The attendants were identically attired in full-skirted dresses of romance blue silk organza over cloud mist taffeta featuring Empire waistlines with bands of self material terminating in tailored bows in front. Small hats of silk organza petals and silk illusion circlets completed the attire. Each carried a white colonial nosegay accented by touches of romance blue and tied with satin streamers.

For the traditional something old the bride wore a two-and-a-half dollar gold piece pin belonging to her grandmother. The pin is 108 years old.

The bridegroom's father was his best man; his twin brother, John Calvin Jones, and Clayton Friend were groomsmen, while Jackie Mullins and Life Bernard were ushers. Candles were lighted by the ushers.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in Texas the bride chose a pumpkin colored wool suit with black accessories and wore the white orchid from her bridal bouquet. When the couple returns they will make a home in Stanton where the bridegroom is associated with his father in farming and oil business.

The new Mrs. Jones was graduated from Tom S. Lubbock High School and was a music major at Texas Tech and had taught private lessons in piano. Mr. Jones was graduated from Monterrey High School in Lubbock and attended Tech. Both will transfer to Howard County Junior College where they will be classified as sophomores.

The reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall where guests were received by Mrs. A. C. White, aunt of the bride, the bridal couple, their parents, and the feminine attendants.

The nosegays of the bride's attendants formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table that was laid with white linen. A three-tiered wedding cake was ornamented with a miniature bridal couple and blue confection roses.

Marcia White and Marilyn Williamson, cousins of the couple, registered the guests. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. R. S. Ustry, Clair Lynn Sayers, Cheryl White, Penny White and Dorothy Wells.

Guests came from Plainview, Midland, Stanton, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Canyon, Childress and Wichita Falls.

MRS. CHARLES RICHARD MILLER

Miss Wilkerson Bride Of Charles Richard Miller

Double ring vows said in the First Assembly of God Church, Saturday evening united in marriage Dorothy Marie Wilkerson and Charles Richard Miller.

Parents of the two are Mrs. C. M. Wilkerson, 1710 Austin, and the late Mr. Wilkerson; Charles Miller of Champaign, Ill., and Mrs. Oscar Greiton of San Antonio.

The Rev. S. E. Eldridge read the vows as the couple knelt on a prayer bench before a background of emerald ferns and baskets of white gladioli; this was centered with a white wrought iron arch, decorated with white wedding bells. The bridal aisle was marked with pew candles tied with white satin.

Mrs. Howard Sheats and Mrs. Eldridge were organists, accompanying Mrs. Jerry Hobbs of Austin as she sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "O Promise Me." Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilkerson of Monahans joined in singing "Savior, Lead Us" following the prayer.

H. L. Wilkerson gave his sister in marriage. She chose white Chantilly lace over taffeta for her wedding gown, which was ballroom length, with scooped neckline and fitted bodice. White satin bows and streamers accented the back of the frock. From a cap floated a veil of white net, and the bride carried a white orchid showered with lily of the valley on a white Bible.

In the traditional manner, the Bible was named as the borrowed item, since it is the property of Sharon White, niece of the bride; old, was a birthstone ring, given to the bride by her father; she wore a blue garter and in her shoe was a sixpence. Something new was a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. O. A. Shortes of Odessa attended as matron of honor, while bridesmaids were Mrs. Betty Clifton, Mrs. Tom Blick and Mrs. Bill White.

Attendants, identically attired, wore peacock blue satin dresses fashioned with bell skirts and fitted bodices. They wore tiaras of peacock pearls and aurora borealis beads to hold blue net veils and carried nosegays of white mums.

Bill White was best man; groomsmen were H. E. Bost, O. A. Shortes of Dallas and Homer Wilkerson; guests were seated by Charles Odum, Fred Wilkerson and Norman Young.

Dianna Wilkerson and Miss

White, both nieces of the bride, were flower girls; they were dressed in blue and white organza frocks; Bobby Mealer, a nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a satin pillow. Taper lighters were Evelyn and Tommy Wilkerson, niece and nephew of the bride.

After the ceremony, guests gathered in the Settles Hotel ballroom to greet the couple, the bride's mother and brother and her attendants.

A white organdy cloth covered the bride's table, centered with an arrangement of her chosen colors of pink, white and peacock. A cake, frosted in white, was decorated with confection roses and lily of the valley and topped with a bridal couple.

At the guest register was Mrs. Olive Murphee; others in the house party were Mrs. R. O. Mealer, Mrs. Fred Wilkerson, Mrs. J. D. Thomas and Nancy Eldridge.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cunningham and Linda and Louise McElwee of Houston; Jerry Hobbs of Austin; Mrs. W. D. Taylor of Oakwood and Oscar Eriton of San Antonio.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, the bride chose a midnight blue dress of silk with white ruffled collar with which she used white gloves and wore a white feather hat.

Upon their return they will make a home at the Austin Street address.

Both are graduates of Big Spring High School, the bride having attended Southwestern Bible School at Waxahatchie; the bridegroom served two years in the U. S. Army and both are employees at the Veterans Hospital.

Engagement Revealed

Mrs. Virgie Johnson of Stanton has announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Nancy Carroll, to Jerry Eugene Baugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Baugh, also of Stanton. The wedding is planned for Oct. 14 in the First Baptist Church.

CHERRY FRUIT CUP

Use A Pencil When Pitting Cherries For Good Garnishes

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Our early inventors worked too hard! Whenever we come upon those antique household-size cherry-pitting machines for which patents were once taken out, we're reminded that simple ways often do best.

Make yourself a cherry pitting tool from a lead pencil with an eraser tip tucked into a metal band. Remove the eraser with a small sharp pointed knife; use the open metal band to push the pits out of the cherries. Works like a charm and leaves the fruit in beautiful whole condition.

The whole pitted cherries make delightful garnishes; or halve them for fruit cups to serve at the beginning or end of a meal. One recipe, tried recently in our kitchen, our tasters liked particularly well. For this we chilled the pitted cherries in a simple sugar syrup spiked with white rum. At serving time we added melon balls.

If you try this recipe, follow our directions and the syrup will become a pretty pink color as the cherries stand in it. The melon balls are best added just before serving.

SWEET CHERRY CUP

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 1 tsp. lemon juice

Sweet Corn Has Wide Range Of Preparation

Baskets and baskets of fresh late-summer vegetables are arriving at food markets throughout the nation this month.

You'll find an abundance of tomatoes, sweet corn, snap beans, onions, cabbage, carrots, squash and sweet potatoes.

This colorful medley of flavorful fresh produce adds sparkle to hearty meat-and-potato platters, as well as crispy fresh salads.

Take tender-eared sweet corn, for example; there's a lot of it this time of year.

Fresh sweet corn can be prepared by steaming, boiling, baking in the husk, grilling on a broiler or over a grill, cutting it off the cob and cooking the kernels for fritters, cream-style corn, or corn pudding.

No matter how you serve it, though, the secret of good sweet corn cookery is easy—cook it as soon after picking as possible; eat it right after cooking.

Corn-on-the-cob is delicious eating at its scrumptious best. To prepare: Drop the husked, de-silked ears in boiling salted water, return to a boil and serve. The ears should spend only 4 to 10 minutes in the water. Cook "seconds" while the family or guests eat "firsts" so ears will not have to stand in hot water.

And have you ever fried corn-on-the-cob in deep fat? Slice the fresh ears crosswise into chunks about 2 inches long. Put a skewer into the center of each. Deep-fat fry them, sticks up in vegetable oil, bacon fat or olive oil for 2 minutes. Drain and serve with salt and pepper.

Grilled corn-on-the-cob is another

The family enjoys Colorado and the opportunities it affords for hunting and fishing. In fact, Mr. Boles caught such a wonderful fish

Your Credit Rating Is Valuable Part Of Life

Our grandparents looked upon "being in debt" as a sign of personal failure. Today, rare is the family that is not in debt at least to the extent of a home mortgage, car financing or credit card charges.

Far from being considered immoral, says the September issue of a national magazine, such credit arrangements have supplanted cash in a large segment of our nation's spending and have contributed substantially to raising our standard of living.

Listed are 10 questions a loan company asks—either directly or through investigation of retailers you deal with—when you apply for a personal loan.

The number of questions you can answer "yes" determines how good your credit rating may be:

1. Will your income, from job and other sources, continue at a steady level during the period in which you are repaying loan?

2. Will you be able to handle all regular expenses, other than the loan payment, during this period?

3. Will you be able to meet the loan payments completely and on time?

4. If you have any installment purchases, did you make a substantial down payment on them, rather than covering the whole cost by installment payments?

5. Are your monthly mortgage payments (or rent) a quarter of your income or less?

6. Does your spouse agree that the loan is necessary, and that it will fit into the budget?

7. Do you have an organized household budget, on paper, and currently up to date?

8. Does your figuring for the future include the possibility of repairs to the house, or emergency hospitalization or other contingencies?

9. Are your bills paid up or to be paid up within ten days?

10. If the family income was suddenly cut off, could you get by on reserve funds (or help from relatives) for six months?

Let Diet Fit Build Of Body

Nobody is born to be fat. If you learn a few facts about your body build and eat accordingly, you can control your weight for a lifetime, says a current magazine.

The September issue of the magazine lists the three body-build classifications: "Endomorph," dominated by digestive organs; "mesomorph," by muscles and bone; and "ectomorph" by skin and nervous system.

If you're naturally heavy around the waist, thighs and upper arms, you may be an endomorph. The person with this body type can put on 30 pounds every five years until middle life unless constantly watchful of his diet.

His weight control is almost entirely dependent on diet, since he works off less food by exercise than others.

Exercise is just the thing for the mesomorph, however. He may be heavy but not overweight, since he boasts a large bone and muscle structure. In the early part of life he may eat as he pleases and not gain weight, but with the lessened activity of middle age, obesity may develop if the food habits of youth persist.

Luckiest guy of all is the ectomorph, who has naturally slender arms and legs, delicate bones and small features. He is likely to gain only two or three pounds after adolescence, and has the longest life expectancy of the three types. With his small stomach, hunger comes quickly but is easily satisfied by a small amount of food.

Triple Success

Barbara Hale, lovely secretary on the "Perry Mason" TV series, tells how she manages to have a happy marriage, a successful career and find time for beauty.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

'Della Street' Tells Secrets Of Success

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD — Barbara Hale is known not only to her fans as Della Street, but when her young son was asked at school what his mother did, he wrote, "She is a secretary to Perry Mason."

"How do you manage two careers so admirably?" I asked Barbara the other day when she slipped away from CBS long enough to lunch with me at the Brown Derby.

"It's an appreciation of the importance of both," she explained, "and being sufficiently organized to find time for both. Time—that's the secret — making every minute count. I am constantly finding new ways."

"When I come home from a long day on the set, I am exhausted. But I want to visit with my children; she has three, the eldest -13. I lie on my slanting board with my feet higher than my head because this rests me more completely than anything else, and while I'm resting, the kids tell me about what happened at school."

"There are many working mothers today, and the first thing a wife should do, whether she works away from home or not, is to allow her husband to be the head of the family. There can be no competitive sense in a happy marriage," Barbara declared. "Who cares who makes what? Money shouldn't count. But don't think any marriage runs itself. It takes work to blend personalities or avoid conflict of interests."

"My big problem is getting enough rest. I don't want to look tired before the camera, and I don't want to be irritable around my family, and you know that nothing affects a good disposition like fatigue."

The waiter placed scrambled eggs and sliced tomatoes in front of Barbara.

"Is this your day for dieting?" I asked.

"I don't have a problem with my weight. I am so active I seem to burn up my calories. But I am conscious of the need to keep my body firm and so I exercise every morning for 20 minutes before I go to the studio."

"And I do exercises for my face too," she went on. "The other day, while driving to work, I was doing my facial routine when suddenly I saw the expression on the face of the man in a car next to me and I burst out laughing. I'm sure he thought I was going out of my senses. But I didn't care. It's another way of making the minutes count while waiting for a traffic signal to change."

I wanted to know more about her facial-exercises routine.

"Good circulation is important to your face as well as the rest of your body. And when I am home, I lie across my bed with my head dropping over the side of the mattress, but when I am in the car, I just drop my head back as far as I can and then lead up with my chin. It gives a good pull to those muscles that might sag and make a double chin. Then I bring my head up straight and push it forward keeping my shoulders still and give a broad grin. When I think I've stretched my mouth as far as I can, I stretch farther until I can feel my neck muscles pulling. I hold this until I can feel the pull go well down the throat. It is best to work in front of a mirror — then you can see the muscles at work."

"The next exercise is to drop your jaw and relax. Take a good yawn, if you feel like it. Then

Lattice-Type Crust

Fresh fruit pie looks best and bakes best when try cloths help cooks do this kitchen arithmetic. It is measured and cut with care. Modern pasty-chore with ease.

Peach Pie Has Lattice Top Crust For Looks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If it's your ambition to turn out one of autumn's best delights—a fresh peach pie with a lattice-top crust—here are some suggestions to guide you.

Use freestone peaches; they're easiest to slice. Have their rinds just ripe—not too hard, not too soft.

Dip the peaches into boiling water for a moment or so, then slip off the skins by giving them a tug with the edge of the knife and your thumb.

Use the flavoring that suits your family. We suggest cinnamon in the following recipe, but nutmeg or mace may be substituted.

And so to the pastry. A lattice-top crust needs careful measuring, and cutting to look its best and bake its best.

Pastry cloth on which to roll out pie dough and covers for rolling pins make pie-making so much easier than it used to be. The markings on the cloths make measuring a cinch.

Some of these pastry cloths come with wooden rods and metal strips that keep the cloth firm on your work space. And we mean work space!

Until recently we had used one of these pastry cloth arrangements on a regular kitchen counter top. In our new test kitchen we have a huge round marble-topped pastry center, and we find the metal strips hold as firm on the rounded surface as they do on a straight one.

If you make pies often, and even if you don't, keep your pasty-making equipment together; besides the pastry cloth and rolling pin and its cover should go a pasty blender and a pasty wheel.

PEACH LATTICE PIE

- Pastry for 2-crust pie
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tbsps. flour
- 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
- 2 tbsps. lemon juice
- 5 cups sliced peeled peaches
- 2 tbsps. butter or margarine

Prepare pastry and divide almost in half. Using the larger half, roll out on prepared pastry cloth to 9-inch size as marked on cloth or to about 1 inch larger around than a 9-inch pie pan held upside down over the pastry. Lift pastry and fit into 9-inch pie pan.

Trim edge if necessary, leaving a 1/2-inch overhang. Roll out second half of pastry. Cut into 1/2 to 3/4 inch strips using a pastry wheel. Stir together well the sugar, flour and cinnamon.

Measure lemon juice into a bowl and as you slice and measure the peaches, add them to the lemon juice, tossing to coat the peaches with the juice and keep them from turning dark. Drain off lemon juice (unless you want a tart pie) and mix peaches with the sugar mixture; turn into prepared pastry-lined pie pan. Dot with butter.

Place half the pastry strips over the pie. Starting at center, fold back every other strip and weave additional strips diagonally across pie, under and over strips until top is covered. Press ends of strips to rim. Fold the overhanging crust up and over and flute the edge. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 45 to 50 minutes or until pastry is golden brown.

Tetrazzini Chicken Is New Quickie

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Do you like an all-in-one main dish for an informal supper to which you ask a few guests? Then this new recipe for Chicken a la Tetrazzini may interest you. Add a big salad bowl and maybe garlic bread, dessert and coffee, and you'll have a good meal.

When we tried this recipe, we cooked a roasting chicken in water to cover in Chinese style—boiling it hard for 15 minutes and letting the bird stay in the covered kettle for 1 hour before draining. This way we had lots of broth that wasn't rich enough for soup; so we used it instead of water for cooking the packaged sliced potatoes called for.

CHICKEN A LA TETRAZZINI

- 6 cups water
- 1 tsp. salt
- 3 cups packaged sliced potatoes
- 3 tbsps. each butter and flour
- 11-3 cups chicken broth
- 2-3 cup heavy cream
- 1/4 tsp. monosodium glutamate
- White pepper and nutmeg
- 1 can (6 ounces) sliced mushrooms (drained)
- 3 cups fork-size pieces cooked chicken
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- Paprika

In a large covered saucepan bring the water, salt and potatoes to a boil; simmer 20 minutes, drain. In a medium saucepan over low heat melt the butter and blend in the flour; add chicken broth and cream and cook and stir constantly until thickened. Stir in monosodium glutamate, pepper and nutmeg to taste. Mix half the sauce with the drained potatoes and mushrooms; turn into a fairly shallow 2-quart baking dish.

Arrange chicken on top; add remaining sauce. Sprinkle with Parmesan and paprika.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 20 minutes or until hot through; brown top if necessary under broiler. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

The Judge Is Happy Too In Some Court Decisions

By SAM BLACKBURN
On nine occasions in August, Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, took his place in his court room and handed down decisions which invariably made all of the litigants before him extremely happy.
And because they were happy, the judge, too, was happy.
The nine occasions were final hearings on petitions filed in the local court on adoption.
Local residents have long been rated as exceptional in the number of applications they file to adopt orphaned and unwanted children.
In August, though, they out did themselves—there were 12 such applications filed and nine others, which had already been filed and had worked their way through to the big finale, were approved by the court.

Wade Choate, district court clerk, said that the August adoption petitions set a new record in his office.
"We have had 48 petitions for adoption filed so far in 1961," Choate said. "Judge Caton has granted 30 of these. Two petitions have been filed so far this month. A number of the 18 petitions which have not been acted on are still to come before the court."
It is rare when an application to adopt a child is rejected.
When a petition is filed asking to adopt a child, the court appoints some unbiased and competent person to make a thorough investigation of the individuals who filed the petition.
When the investigator has completed the task, a written report is filed with the court. The judge studies this report with care and if additional information is needed, he obtains it.
"One of the most enjoyable duties of a judge," Caton said, "is to sit in adoption cases. The happiness of the foster parents when the adoption is approved is wonderful to behold."
Big Springers are widely recognized for their intense interest in youngsters in need of homes and the courts, the members of the bar, and everyone concerned, works overtime to make it as easy as possible for valid adoptions to go through.

DISTRICT COURT

Civil Docket Opens Monday

A jury civil docket opens Monday in 118th District Court.
Judge Ralph Caton has set down 15 cases for trial. Originally seven others were on the docket but the court has been informed these will not be tried. Three have been settled, three have been passed by agreement and one is being consolidated with another action.
Judge Caton has announced he will sound the docket at 10 a.m. Monday. At 1:30 p.m., a jury panel of 125 will report to the court for duty. It is probable the first case will get under way Monday afternoon.
This is the first jury docket of the current court term.
Cases which are on the docket and will be called:
Lewis G. Grantham vs. Big Spring Bonded Warehouse & Storage, Inc., damages; E. B. Smith et al vs. Medical Arts Hospital, damages; Margie Hart vs. C. R. Anthony Co., damages; Eula Mc-Donald vs. Bickerstaff & Tibbetts Drilling Co., et al, damages; Bobby Dove et ux vs. T&T Supply Co., damages.

Ollie P. Bailey vs. Texas Employers Ins. Association, damages; Paul Thomas et ux vs. Yellow Cab Co., damages; Pedro Munoz vs. Commercial Standard Insurance Co., compensation; Lettie Heath vs. Yellow Cab Co., damages; Beulah Hampton et vir vs. G. C. Burke, trespass to try title; J. H. Pangburn et ux vs. Allen Wright et al, damages; Leo D. Brooks et al vs. C. W. Dickerson et ux, damages; Herbert Vinson vs. Keaton & McGibbon, debt; Jerry Harvey vs. Jim Buck Matthews, damages.
LAMESA (SC)—Negotiations for the purchase of additional water rights for the City of Lamesa were announced recently by Mayor Guy Weekes.
Weekes reported that a $10,000 deposit had been placed in escrow at a local bank for a half-section of land, identified as a portion of the late Sam Mayben estate, located four miles north of the city.
The closing date for the purchase is Dec. 28, 1961 with a 60-day optional extension. The full amount of the purchase price was not disclosed pending final settlement.
The land adjoins three of the city's water well fields and future plans contain a provision to develop and tie in all three areas. Approximately five new wells are planned for each quarter section of the new tract.
Surface rights to the Mayben tract will be offered for sale in the near future, Weekes indicated.

Heirs Win Land Suit Over ACC

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP)—The heirs of William M. Edwards have won a jury verdict over Abilene Christian College in a contest over a 5½-section ranch. Edwards signed deeds and a contract Dec. 15, 1954, giving the college the ranch valued at more than a million dollars.
After the rancher died in 1959, the college filed suit against Roy Landers and other heirs asking possession of the land on the basis of the contract and two deeds.
The heirs claimed Edwards was of unsound mind or was unduly influenced at the time he signed the documents.
The heirs contesting the deed were Frank Edwards; Mrs. Frances Butz, Fort Stockton; Mrs. Mary Fleming, Junction; Mrs. Grace Deats, San Antonio; and John Edwards, San Antonio.

Frank Hunt Takes Evening Post At South Plains

Frank Hunt, 26, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt, has been named director of the evening school at South Plains College in Levelland.
Hunt has been an instructor at the Odessa College for the past year.
He is a former student at Howard County Junior College, where his father is president, and an honor student at the University of Texas. He received his BS degree in history, magna cum laude, in 1957 and received his MA degree in history from Southwest Texas State at San Marcos in 1960. He completed his high school work here in 1952.
Mrs. Hunt is the former Tommie Jo Williamson, to whom he was married in 1957, and they have one son, Thomas Anthony, who is 10 months old.

Military Personnel Boost Enrollment

More Webb AFB officers and airmen are taking educational courses during their off-duty hours than ever before.
Registered for the fall semester at Howard County Junior College are 139 officers and airmen taking 196 courses for a total of 612 semester hours. The spring semester for the same year had 136 enrolled for 591 semester hours in 193 courses.
The first six weeks of the summer session for 1961 attracted 40 military students who completed 43 courses for 132 semester hours.

The second six weeks brought out 21 for 23 courses, and 73 semester hours.
All figures include both the 331st FIS and the 356th Pilot Training Wing.
The Webb education office announced that all application for tuition assistance must be in that office by Sept. 20, and all paperwork completed and all fees paid by Sept. 22.
Webb buses will be used to transport students to and from HCJC for night classes.
The boom in education is reflected in figures released by the USAF showing that last year 127,833 officers and airmen attended civilian schools and colleges near their respective bases. Another 122,128 enrolled in group study classes on base; 58,222 pursued United States Air Force Institute correspondence courses; and 19,081 were enrolled in elementary classes.

HCJC Set For Record

A record enrollment at Howard County Junior College is predicted for the fall semester by Dr. William A. Hunt, president.
"We are trying to prepare for about 800 students," he said. "Last year we had 667 and on the basis of inquiries it looks as though we will have a record enrollment."
The teacher staff is complete and teachers have held faculty meetings in preparation for the coming semester.
Registration for freshmen begins at 9 a.m. Tuesday. Other students register at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.
Students attending night courses at the college will register at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.
The Freshman Orientation begins at 9 a.m. Monday at the auditorium and will go on all day, Dr. Hunt said.

Supervisor Leaves After Inspection

Josephine Lamb, supervisor of psychiatric nursing services for the Board of Texas State Hospitals, left Big Spring Friday after a three-day visit to inspect nursing service at the Big Spring State Hospital.
She arrived Tuesday night. While here she visited the wards at the hospital as a consultant for nursing service.
Miss Lamb left for Abilene where she will conduct a similar inspection.

A Devotional for Today

"Call upon me in the day of trouble; I will deliver you, and you shall glorify me." (Psalms 50:15. RSV.)
PRAYER: O Lord, we are fearful and lost without Thee. Help us to seek Thy face continually. We thank Thee that in Christ, the resurrected one, we find help and strength for all of our needs. In His name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

The Best Foundation

Various media of communications, newspapers included, have a lot to say about the beginning of schools and the importance of schools; the need for greater safety; the worthiness of certain civic undertakings.

These things are indeed important in the balanced quality of our community. However, the thing that gives all of these moral underpinnings is the spiritual strength to be found among us.

For this reason, there is nothing more important than having our churches vigorous in their programs and outreach. The big trouble with us today is that we want to acquire security both materially and superficially. Real stability, patriotism and personal responsibility cannot exist except that they stand upon a foundation of morality.

Morality which can stand the test of pressure is not to be found in ethics, for it is more than a passive philosophy. The morality that our day demands is a spiritual thing. It is rooted in God, and thus it is unshakable and uncompromising even in the face of temptation for personal gain.

The home, to be sure, should be a source of this recharge, but the enduring well springs of spirituality are the church. This is why, even if you have drifted out of the habit of church attendance, that we urge you to start this new season with a habit of going to your church regularly.

These Should Promote Safety

Regulations issued by the police department last week may have a beneficial effect on traffic safety within the corporate limits.

A firm but understanding hand on enforcement may well hold down excessive speeds and other unsafe habits. The policy of warning, if in bounds of prudence, is preferable to a sudden, summary crack-down of tickets. What the department is after is safety, not fines. Sometimes, however, the most eloquent message of all is heard through the pocketbook.

The decision to ride herd on noisy mufflers also is apt, for there is no point of putting the finger on one party because of a hole in the muffler while letting loud-er ones roar by because the exhaust happens to come from twin chrome pipes. Noise is noise.

It is heartening to note the new regulation as regards emergency cars. Except for emergency conditions, police (and ambulance) vehicles will be subject to the same regulations as all other cars. Even under emergency conditions the disposition to pull out all the stops is now taboo. The cars will, instead of depending on a siren for safety, come to a halt on red lights or stop signs before proceeding, and will approach green lights with greater caution. The few seconds thus lost will rarely have any effect on the capture of fugitives or the recovery of patients. In the long run it may cut down on the too high rate of mishaps for our police vehicles.

David Lawrence Race Toward Nuclear Destruction

WASHINGTON—The testaments of all religions contain the equivalent of the commandment: "Thou shalt not kill." Yet the world today is witnessing a resumption of nuclear tests designed to find more and more weapons that can destroy human life.

This paradox seems to be taken for granted as one of the inevitable consequences of international rivalry. War is roundly denounced as each side professes to be interested in attaining peace whilst the other side is blamed for provocations that could lead to armed conflict.

GOVERNMENTS FROWN at one another and send out sharply worded diplomatic notes. But the means of disarming reckless men who may bring on war is yet to be discovered. There are no tests to find ways of depriving dictators of the power suddenly to plunge their own country and the world into a nuclear war.

No decision which President Kennedy has made could have caused him more anguish than the authorization to American scientists and military men to resume nuclear tests. Even though the American tests are to be underground and in laboratories, while the Soviets have already held three tests in the atmosphere—presumably producing "fall-out"—there is a revulsion of feeling about all of them on the theory that a decision to test means a decision some day actually to use nuclear bombs.

NEVER IN HISTORY has the world faced so powerful and so devastating a weapon as the big nuclear bomb. Estimates vary as to the millions of persons who can be killed or the wide area that can be destroyed. But those scientists who understand the effectiveness of these weapons have told congressional committees again and again of the awfulness of these new tools of war.

Under the circumstances, the world is challenged to find a way to prevent a disaster of incalculable proportions.

BUT WHAT IS being done or likely to be done about it? A group of 25 nations who call themselves "non-aligned" but who, for the most part, play the Communist game has called on the governments at Moscow and Washington to enter into some kind of "summit" conference to secure a peaceful settlement of outstanding issues. Great Britain and France have expressed their concurrence with President Kennedy's action in ordering underground tests and have echoed a widely prevailing sentiment in this country that he had no other choice.

But there may be back of the recent moves some other maneuvers by the Soviets that have not yet appeared. It is considered quite possible that only a compelling reason caused Premier Khrushchev to violate all the previous pledges in which he proclaimed his determination to resume nuclear testing only if the West did so. One theory is that his own military people forced his hand. The probabilities are that the Soviets discovered they were somewhat behind in the nuclear-arms race and couldn't wait any longer for an opportunity to make certain tests.

ONCE THESE TESTS are over with, however, it is being suggested that the Moscow government may be willing to enter into an agreement to ban further tests indefinitely—or at least until Soviet scientists again produce something on the drawing boards that absolutely requires testing in order to determine its effectiveness.

But, assuming that there soon will be a moratorium again on nuclear tests, what assurance has the world that one man in the Kremlin may not take some military step that will compel the use first of smaller nuclear weapons and then later on of the bigger ones? For, once a battle starts, it might be difficult to secure any sudden stoppage, and the final result could be a terrible loss of human lives.

THEORETICALLY, the United Nations was supposed to be a forum in which such a vital subject might be debated. But there are no signs as yet that world opinion has been mobilized to bring about action at the U. N. to require a binding agreement covering not just the tests but the actual use of nuclear weapons in the future.

One would think that the conscience of mankind would be troubled not only that nuclear war is seriously contemplated as a possibility but that no method of restraint has been devised by the peoples of the world to avoid what Prime Minister Lloyd George of Britain in 1919 called "organized murder." For war today with nuclear weapons would be far more a fulfillment of that term than it has ever been in human history.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The theme was typed, double-spaced, written by a student at a state university. "I find," it read, "that any major course in 'Agriculture' is one of the biggest fields of days living. I have been a farm boy all of my life, and that is one of the main reason I took the field in agriculture. It is one of the most open jobs in the state to day. The farmers is one in which it takes the most beating, and I hope that the government will help all they can so that the farmers will be able to keep the work in which every one person depends on."

Exceptional? Perhaps. But too close to typical. Few of the Johnnies and Marys our high schools turn out today can write good English even if, as sometimes happens, their spelling is acceptable. This is one of the ills that ail our educational process.

In a current article Look magazine points out these facts:—A survey of 450,000 high school graduates showed that only one out of 100 could write a five-minute theme without making a mistake in English.

While a teacher of English can teach and grade themes successfully for a class of not more than 100 pupils, the average work load for English teachers in this country is about 150 students. To teach a group of this size properly, including the careful grading of themes, would require as much as 70 hours of the teacher's time each week. The result, in many cases, is that a minimum of theme-writing assigned, and grading is done in hurried fashion.

This failure to teach good writing sends a very high proportion of modern youngsters into the world without the ability to communicate ideas and information to others. In an increasingly specialized, technical age, this is a heavy drawback. Good writing, after all, is closely related to good thinking.

JUST CAN'T KEEP THAT BOY OUTFITTED!

J. A. Livingston Capitalism Changes—Khrushchev Is Constant

What's so awesome about the program for Soviet Communist Party Congress approval in October is that Premier Nikita Khrushchev has twice been to the United States, once on a two-week visit at the invitation of President Eisenhower, once for more than three weeks to put on his shoe-thumping display at the United Nations.

He came, he didn't see, but he's sure he'll conquer.

ALL THE OLD Marxist clichés about capitalism and the oppression of the working classes are in the document. It's as if Khrushchev regarded the line-up of workingmen's cars outside factories in the United States, the plenitude of high quality food and well-dressed shoppers in supermarkets, and the variety of life in America as staggering.

Alphonse Karr, French essayist and novelist, is responsible for the adroit phrase, "The more it changes, the more it remains the same." To a Communist, the more the non-Communist world changes, the more it is as Karl Marx saw it.

IN THE Short Economic Dictionary, published in 1958 in Moscow, "Capitalism" is defined as a "social system under which the overwhelming bulk of the means of production is the property of a few persons—capitalists or associated capitalists—at the same time that the majority of workers, having been deprived of the means of production, are therefore forced to sell their productive labor, which capitalists exploit and extract for their own profit. Capitalism is the last social and economic structure based on the exploitation of man by man."

Note the confident arrogance in the choice of the word, "last." Capitalism is all but up-posed to receive the knock-out punch.

THE PROPOSED statement for the 22nd Party Congress parrots the Short Economic Dictionary, thus: "Under capitalism, the basic and decisive means of production belong to the numerically small capitalist class, while the vast majority of the population consists of proletarians and semi-proletarians, who own no means of production and are therefore compelled to sell their productive labor and by their labor create profits and riches for the ruling classes of society."

A friend of mine says of his mother-in-law, "She knows I'm a human being, but she made up her mind long ago that I wasn't, and so she treats me as if I ain't."

TO COMMUNISTS, anything

Right Town, Wrong State

CUSHING, Okla. — The Paul Johnson family is reunited after a trip to Michigan that went awry and a three-state search for 16-year-old George Ray Johnson.

The family was en route in two vehicles with the boy driving a truck and his parents in the family car. The father told George to drive to Springfield, meaning Springfield, Mo. But the boy misunderstood and drove to Springfield, Ill.

"I thought Pop was away off the beam when he wanted me to drive so far but it was 'do or die' with me and I made it," the youth said after the family was brought together again.

Brimstone Succeeds

BANGOR, Maine — "Old Brimstone" removes as much snow from railroad yard switches in four minutes as a man can in 45.

That's why Bangor & Aroostook Railroad officials figure the self-propelled, flame-belching monster — a $23,000 investment—will pay for itself in about four years.

The B & A bought "Old Brimstone" to burn weeds along its right-of-way. Five nozzles, fed by diesel fuel at the rate of 157 gallons an hour, belch fire onto the ground. It was tried out on snow-clogged, ice-bound yard switches and worked so well the railroad figures it will cut appreciably its normal $20,000 a week snow removal charge.

that conflicts with Marxist-Leninist principles "ain't."

You and I know that in most economically advanced countries of the world, notably Great Britain, France, the United States, and western Germany, conditions under which women and children work are regulated and that social and economic disparities are narrowing. None the less, the CP document proclaims:

"Capitalism extensively exploits female and child labor. The economic laws of its development necessarily give rise to a huge reserve army of unemployed, which is constantly replenished by ruined peasants and urban petty bourgeoisie. The exploitation of the working people is continuously increasing, social inequality is becoming more and more marked, the gulf between the haves and the have-nots is widening, and the sufferings and privations of the millions are growing worse."

"CAPITALISM, by concentrating millions of workers in its factories, socializing the process of production, imparts a social character to production; nevertheless it is the capitalists who appropriate the fruits of labor."

"This fundamental contradiction of capitalism—the contradiction between the social character of production and the private-capitalist form of appropriation—manifests itself in production anarchy and in the fact that the purchasing power of society falls short of the expansion of production and leads periodically to destructive economic crises."

"CRISES AND periods of industrial stagnation, in turn, are still more ruinous to small producers, increase the dependence of wage-labor on capital and lead more rapidly to a relative, and sometimes an absolute deterioration of the condition of the working class."

That statement runs contrary to postwar facts or experience. But what are facts to fanatics? That's what's so awesome about this "Communism Uber Alles" document, and the unchanging definition of "capitalism," as if the capitalism of today were what Marx experienced a century ago.

Around The Rim

Here It Is, Culture Time Again

DEAR RUFÉ:

Well, pardner, wanted you to know that the culture people have gotten busy again, and before you know it we are going to be exposed to the finer things of life. Like pianna players and orchestras.

Haven't figured just why the culture people ain't busy in the summer time. I think they go barefooted just like the rest of us. Or maybe everybody needs a rest from culture. Anyways, the season is nearly on us.

ACTUALLY, we ain't had much culture last few months. One of the radio stations put on what they called a Fabian Festival, which is not what you immediately would want to write a letter about. And there was a fiddle band here during the rodeo. That's about the size of it, which, wouldn't you say, is about average for culture?

But, like I said, soon as school takes up, and the night air gets nippy, some folks start trying to make us more music-minded.

THEY ARE out a-sellin' tickets, for ope thing. It's not that they just want the money. It's more that they think a dose of pianna playing, or organ music, and stuff like that, is just naturally good for us. If you want to get in on it, let me know. I hate to think about havin' to write you every time one of these artists comes to town.

What they got this year is some culture, and some good time, that is, if the two don't go together.

THERE IS goin' to be a pianna player, like I said, and he's the first one up on it. Don't know much about him at this writin', but I figger it's a cinch he will be on the stage in his forked-tail coat, and will have the pianna lid histed up on that little stick. What he does to them keys will be somethin' else again.

Then they got this Blender feller comin' back, you know the Waring one. He may have more flag wavin' than pure culture, but his music is the foot-tappin' kind, and you can bet that he will have a bunch of party girls in his outfit. This is the kind of culture that sort of appeals to me.

THEN THERE'S another outfit, a regular stage play, with live actors. They will be puttin' on a piece of repertory called "The Music Man," which, sure 'nuff, was in New York. Whadya know about that? Well, Rufe, I didn't see this thing in New York, but I seen it in Dallas, which is big enough for me, and it is a rib-tickler from 'way back. You should see this feller as a music man in this hick town. Come to think about it, I felt right at home.

To top the whole thing off, there is a man who plays the organ. I don't mean one of those big organs where you pedal as fast as you can with your feet while you are falling all over three keyboards with your arms and hands. A paralyzed feller will never make a good organ player. I'm sure this feller comin' here ain't paralyzed. Probably loose as a goose. As the sayin' goes:

ANYWAYS, just wanted you to know that culture is comin' up right away. Things like pianna players and orchestras with party girls, and live shows and men what can rip up an organ—that's somethin', ain't it? You ought to get in on it.

Yore friend,
ZEEKE

Holmes Alexander Quiet Leader Of The Senate

WASHINGTON — Mike Mansfield of Montana served in all three of the armed services and never rose higher than private, first class, but today he is commanding officer of the U. S. Senate.

This contrast in rank is easily explicable by anybody who knows the trim-and-tough-as-a-nail Majority Leader. He is that particular breed called "a Senate man." He was a member of the Inner Sanctum almost the day he came over from the House of Representatives. His rise to power in the Senate was written in his stars.

EVERYBODY BUT Mike thinks he was unlucky to succeed the flamboyant and hyperactive Lyndon B. Johnson as Leader. Marching behind LBJ seems to many of us like marching behind the hard-nobody will notice you. But Modest Mike says that Lyndon ran the Senate so well that it made everything duck soup for the Leader who came next.

Anyhow, the Senate has been a different, a much quieter place in 1961. Mansfield's way of command is much more mature and much more complimentary to the members. What he does is call upon the 98 men and two women to behave as Senators should. He appeals to the very best that is in them. Lyndon Johnson was the master of what is known here as "wheeling and dealing." He would throw a big affectionate head-lock upon a colleague, promise him a junket to Paris, or a place on a prize committee in return for a vote. If Johnson couldn't get the vote, he would often persuade the colleague to "take a walk" and not be recorded against Johnson's desires.

JOHNSON RAN the Senate like a maestro leading an orchestra. He would spin his hands, fast or slow, to speed up or retard a roll call. He would point out the next person to be recognized like a conductor calling for the first fiddle to make more music. So much of Johnson's real leadership took place in the back rooms that sometimes it was a waste of time to sit in the press gallery.

But Mansfield is said to do 90 per cent in the open, and 10 per cent in the Democratic Policy Committee. He takes the floor generally to tell the Senators of the day's schedule. He warns them that unless they answer roll calls and are frugal with their remarks, he'll call them back on Saturday morning—something Senators hate as much as school boys.

HOW WELL has the Mansfield method worked? Statistics don't tell the quality of legislation, but they show the volume that has moved through the Senate.

The figures prove little, except what is already clear, that Mansfield is not a record-smasher, not an innovator. He is simply himself. The comparison with Johnson is not precise because for six years we had a divided government, so that Johnson was the spokesman of his party. The comparison with Knowland brings out two slightly differing concepts of Senate Leadership.

Knowland, a man of strong and outspoken convictions, felt that he had two capacities — one as Leader, either Majority or Minority, of the party with a President in the White House, two as Senator from California. On issues, such as the Bricker Amendment, when he disagreed with the President, Knowland would leave his front aisle seat and speak from the rear of the chamber. This dramatized the conflict of party regularity and conscience.

MANSFIELD DOES not go this far. For a time he took an independent position on Berlin, and was critical of Foreign Aid. But he says that there are positions he must take as Majority Leader which he would not take as Senator from Montana. To that extent, he loses himself in the Leadership role.

But nobody doubts that on a great, clear issue, Mansfield would sacrifice his career before going against his conscience. This, essentially, is why the Senators admire and follow him so wholeheartedly. (Distributed by McNaughton Syndicate, Inc.)

Marquis Childs Some Problems For Mr Nixon

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
(For Marquis Childs, who is on vacation)

WASHINGTON—Richard M. Nixon is being damagingly caught in the middle as a 1964 Republican Presidential possibility by some circumstances he could have controlled and by some he could not have controlled.

His greatest problem is that though he is out of national power he retains the heavy responsibilities of national party leadership. This will not be solved even if he gives in at last to GOP pressure in California and agrees to run for governor there next year.

FOR EVEN a Richard Nixon firmly in that office would be a long way from the center of national decision-making—and, for that matter, of national headline-making. It is a curious fact, if neither a rational nor fair one, that the governor of even so powerful a Western state as California is "too far West" to exercise the degree of influence both on party and national decisions that automatically goes to the governor of a big Eastern state—in this case, Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Nixon as governor of California, in short, would still not carry the power necessary fully to carry out his responsibilities as titular national head of the GOP.

HIS SECOND greatest problem is the sharpening squeeze being put upon him by his two rivals for the 1964 Presidential nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the GOP right wing and Governor Rockefeller in the left wing.

Rockefeller—to whom is now falling some of that plain-political luck which once went to Nixon—is moving up mainly because the Democrats in New York City are handing power to him. Their savage intraparty primary fight for the majority nomination there hurts any and all Democrats, including themselves, and helps only Rockefeller.

SENATOR GOLDWATER, for his part, is making headway against Nixon largely because of the basic differences in their political positions. True, Goldwater as of now cannot be said to control any very large part of the Republican party. But what he does control—the Republican right wing—he controls absolutely and without the shadow of a rival anywhere.

Already, for example, Goldwater is able to hold Nixon's feet to the fire by saying that if Nixon runs for governor of California this ought to take him out as a Presidential candidate in 1964. For Nixon this is an awkward suggestion to reply to, assuming he does decide to run in California. If he says he agrees with Goldwater he is not necessarily out of it for President; but he is at least very embarrassed. If he doesn't agree, his California opposition will begin to charge him with using the governorship only as ambition's stepping-stone.

ALL THESE problems, therefore, may fairly be described as problems Nixon never made and could not have avoided.

What he could have avoided, however, was his recent unwelcome criticism of President Kennedy's dispatch of 1,500 additional American troops to crisis Berlin.

For this unpatriotic Presidential decision was supported to the hilt by the Republican leaders in Congress—and almost certainly by the country as well. Thus for the first time in years Nixon has put a foot seriously wrong in foreign policy. Moreover, he has to some extent alienated himself from powerful Congressional Republicans whose full-hearted support, because of all his other difficulties, he will increasingly need. To Your Good Health Ingrown Hairs Shouldn't Cause Embarrassment

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I am in my early 50's. My problem is my beard. I have what I suppose would be called ingrown hairs. They don't seem able to penetrate the skin and the hairs itch and torment me.

"To obtain relief I have to resort to tweezers to scratch the skin and pull the hairs out. I must do this about four times a week. I shave daily. I must pull at least 30 or 40 hairs at a time and this leaves my face looking like I've been fighting a cat. I am embarrassed to tell my family doctor—M. K."

Oh, boy! There is no reason at all for being embarrassed. This can happen to anybody—although even if you have exaggerated a bit, you've got quite a case.

What causes ingrown hairs? Several things. The texture of the skin has a lot to do with it, and this varies a great deal from one person to another. A tough, rugged outer layer of skin has a tendency to "trap" a hair or bristle as it starts to grow out.

When this happens, the hair, instead of growing out, curls up underneath the skin—but keeps growing and becomes irritating. It's possible that the natural curliness of hair in some people is a factor. But you can't do anything about that.

Generally, however, men are most likely to have this trouble on the neck, especially toward the back, where the collar exerts some pressure; or under the chin.

But it can happen anywhere that a hair has been shaved off short, and that the stub of the hair manages to get itself trapped under the skin. Give it time, and it begins to look like a pimple, and may be mildly infected. It's an itchy sort of nuisance.

Close shaving — shaving "against the grain," which cuts each hair off very short—accentuates the trouble. In some men the angle at which the beard grows is much more acute than in others.

One useful measure is to avoid shaving quite so close. If I had such trouble to any great extent, I'd certainly try an electric razor instead of a blade, and even if I sometimes had to shave often, I wouldn't leave so many sharp edges on the bristles.

Where skin thickness is a problem, a one per cent ointment of salicylic acid in a greasiness base may soften the skin so that the bristles can push through more easily—and that's one good reason why you SHOULD go to your doctor for help.

As a final step, removal of some hairs by electrolysis, although a somewhat tedious and painstaking process, will help if the trouble is mostly in one particular area.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Do you advise operation for rectocele on a woman 61 years of age? Does the condition grow worse with advancing years?—Mrs. P. M." It depends on the circumstances.

Here are the facts on which to base a decision: Rectocele is due to injury and stretching of fibrous tissues at childbirth. As one grows older, fibrous tissues tend to relax. Therefore the condition does NOT tend to improve.

If the condition is such that it causes considerable discomfort or inconvenience, surgery is the only answer. As to being ill—that's no impediment if one is otherwise in good health.

"Dear Doctor: Will X-rays show an aneurysm?—E. C. S." An aneurysm (weak, bulged part of an artery) may or may not show in X-ray, depending on size and location. Other symptoms may vary considerably. The usual ones are a pulsating mass, and pain.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet ACNE — THE TEENAGE PROBLEM. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but he regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

GRANT JOHANNSEN

"One of the first pianists of the world." This the way Robert Casadesu regards Grant Johannsen, and everywhere critics have concurred in this appraisal. Johannsen's name has become a household word through his many appearances on the Telephone Hour telecasts. Last summer he made his first trip to Australia and on the way back appeared in Calcutta, Bombay, and with the Oslo and Liverpool symphonies. He also was rushed to Hawaii as guest artist with the Honolulu Symphony. "A major pianist . . . Mature mind and mature feelings . . . Truly great musical exponent . . . Tremendous technique, the nerves of a Heifetz, total musical assurance . . ." say the critics of Grant Johannsen.

MUSIC MAN

Kermit Bloomgarden, who produced Meredith Willson's "The Music Man" on Broadway, has put together an entirely new company with a nucleus of veterans from the Broadway engagement, as well as fresh scenery and costumes.

From the time the curtain went up on the first show in December, 1957, there was no doubt that "The Music Man" was one of the all-time greats among the musicals. Theatre-goers went away beating the tempo of "Seventy-Six Trombones," singing the catchy "Goodnight My Someone" and "Til There Was You," "Lida Rose" and a dozen other infectious numbers created by Willson. It's bright and gay, fresh and wholesome — a show to delight the whole family.

The company, in addition to 60 actors, singers and dancers, also will carry a dozen musicians, plus a staff of other aides.

FRED WARING

Fred Waring drew a capacity house — much of it standing room — here two years ago, and ever since then there has been a big demand for his return.

This year, with a brand new show, "Let Freedom Sing," Waring and his Pennsylvanians will be back to quicken pride in the heritage of this country.

This is the story of the nation from Columbus to Lincoln, with music integrated with narration of the most eloquent spokesmen of their times — Bryant, Emerson, Whittier, Longfellow and others.

With this, Waring has set a new standard in the use of advanced stage production techniques, lighting and stereophonic sound, massive sets, dazzling costumes.

RICHARD ELLSASSER

Somebody different and exciting is Richard Ellsasser. An organist with few peers, he is noted for his virtuosity and keen sense of the dramatic, brilliant musicianship and impeccable taste. He is heard annually in concert by over 200,000 people and by countless thousands more through radio and television, and also by motion pictures and recordings. His MGM and RCA long-playing albums are the top selling organ recordings of the world. His range is from the pops to monumental works of Bach. Small wonder that Richard Ellsasser, playing on an instrument valued at many thousands of dollars, has been called the "Paganini of the Concert Organ."

By CANDY BACUS

The fall football season started with a bang! The Runnels Yearlings took two games from Sweetwater. The score for the eighth grade game was 16 to 0 while the ninth grade score was 14 to 0. The boys did a very fine job and we're proud of them.

Thursday morning we had a pep rally. Everyone was glad to see our first pep rally off to a good start. Runnels cheerleaders are: ninth - Peggy Spier, head cheerleader, Ann Coyle and Glenda Heffington; eighth - Cindy Jones, Susie Engle and Sara Smith. These girls did a wonderful job of leading the yells and giving our boys support. The band played and that really helped to pep things up. Coaches Dan Bustamente, Dan Lewis and Tommy Henry introduced the football boys. The captains are: ninth—Howard Bain, Mike Steward and Perry Power; eighth—Mike Carey, Freddy Stiehle and Sam Mims. The eighth grade captains gave pep talks. The cheerleaders presented Mrs. Bernd a mum for the game.

Forsan Classes Have Concessions

By BONNIE SIMPSON

FORSAN—The hustle and bustle of a new school year began August 31. The halls seem to be more crowded than last year. One hundred five pupils enrolled in FHS. Thirty-nine of these are freshmen.

The juniors and seniors had a meeting last week concerning the concession stand at the football games. They operate it jointly and split the profits at the end of football season. The seniors use their share to help finance the senior trip. The juniors use theirs to sponsor the annual Junior-Senior banquet.

Friday, Sept. 1, was freshman initiation day. They were given instructions as to what to wear, were painted with lipstick, made into slaves and the boys were run through a belt line while the girls rolled chalk down the hall with their noses.

Plans for the 1961-62 yearbook are beginning to shape up, with members of the annual staff going around in a deep daze, counting the number of days until delivery date, or scratching their heads over the dedication page. Merry Lee Dibrell and Cynthia Pond have been named co-editors for this year's book.

FG Pep Squad Performs In Half-Time Activities

By CAROLE WADE

FLOWER GROVE—The Dragons are very proud of their victory over Klondike in the first game of the season. We hope to have many victories before the season is over.

The pep squad wasn't ready for last week's game but hopes to be by this week. Cheerleaders are Janette Barkowsky, Lawana Froman and Carole Wade. Their uniforms consist of white pleated knee-length skirts and white wool sweaters with black and white letters. Majorettes are Betty Langston, Veneta Oaks and Geniece Carmichael. They will wear black satin uniforms with white fur around the bottom of the short skirts and the neck. Drummers include Betty Hollandsworth, Nellie Carstensen, and Ernestina Gonzales. Several improvements have been made in our school this year. New venetian blinds have been put through out the school. We have new typewriters, new text books ordered, and a new agriculture department is under construction. We will certainly be glad when everything is completed.

The school paper will be published at the end of the first six weeks. One paper will be given to each family of kids going to school. Editor of the paper is Carole Wade; assistant editor, Jerry Webb; sports editor, Ronnie Deatherage; sports reporters, Lawana Froman and Beaver Ramsey.

Stanton Juniors Sell Beat Ribbons Weekly

By MARSHA BRISTOW

Of course the most important news item this week is the report of last week's victory. Our Buffaloes beat the Merkel Bulldogs 20-6. We are very proud of our Buffs for starting the season out right! We also want them to know that we are backing them all the way to the state finals.

Naturally, last Friday the crowd was mostly interested in the football team and the progress they were making on the field, but we think that they also noticed the cheerleaders, band and the majorettes; or at least we like to think that we added to the festivities. The cheerleaders were dressed in red knee-tickers and red and white sweaters. However, the crowning touch was seen when the girls jumped and twirled because their tights were also red and white striped! They really kept everyone in high spirits. At half-time, our band put on a nice show for the spectators after we enjoyed the Merkel band's performance. The band under the direction of Taylor Stephenson was under the field direction of drum major Glen Wren. Our majorettes' suits were white velveteen with long sleeves, lined with white satin. The front was adorned by a silver sequin shield with our names in red sequined letters down the front. By the way, the cheerleaders are Cheryl McArthur, Brenda George, Marilyn Sale, Jan Rhodes and Mary Beth Gaspie. Majorettes are Nina Yater, Wilma Doshier and myself.

Last week and every week from here on, the junior class will be selling beat ribbons. They usually start selling them on Wednesday, so if you want one, you'd better see a junior girl on Wednesday. Also if some of you seniors don't want to buy one, think! The juniors will be putting on our banquet and the money is needed!

The FHA chapter had its first meeting of the season Wednesday. The officers presented a skit showing the prospective members some of the projects and programs we carried on last year. We plan to have our informal initiation next Monday and our formal initiation Monday night.

Well, about this time each year our friends that are going to college leave us, and this year is no exception. We will have SHS representatives in Texas Tech, Texas University, North Texas State, Howard County Junior College, Houston University, McMurry College and Howard Payne. We are very proud of these going to college, but of course we will miss them.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

The Unquestioned Compulsion

Years ago there were many who disputed the novel idea of free and compulsory public education. The first truancy laws were opposed as infringements on liberty.

But as our children return this fall to schools that will mold their growing minds—does a single parent complain?

I believe in sound religious education, as well. The molding of the character should keep pace with the molding of the mind.

Naturally I never want my government to exercise compulsion in this sacred area. And my Church, while it offers a complete curriculum of religious training, does so on a free and voluntary basis.

But I'm a parent! And, though I find that example and encouragement usually suffice, I'm not above telling Johnny,

"YES, SON, YOU HAVE TO GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL!"

As a child begins to see the importance Faith has in our lives and in the strength of our nation . . . you'll be surprised how quickly this becomes an unquestioned compulsion.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and ready your Bible daily.

"Fanny" we haven't seen yet, but if it's got Leslie Caron, you may be sure we'll be there.

Miss Caron got her American movie career started with "Lili," a memorable fancy of a film in which she portrayed a homely, lonesome wife who found love with an equally lonely young cripple.

"Fanny" follows in much the same tradition. It is a purely French love story (and this means the tender side of the Gallic manner), based on the classic Marcel Pagnol trilogy. Joshua Logan, the successful Broadway producer who has tried his hand at Hollywood with equal success, produced a stage musical version of "Fanny" which was highly rated both by critics and audiences.

Now, he has translated the original story (not the stage musical) to the screen, and first-run reviews have been mostly good.

Logan wanted his film to have a true French flavor, so he moved his crew and cast to Marseilles, upsetting that city's routine somewhat, and chose three top French stars for his four-star cast.

Besides Miss Caron, there are Maurice Chevalier and Charles Boyer, as the older fish in the soup, and young German actor Horst Buchholz as her lover. The theme is the direct opposite of most romantic plots, in that older people connive to get the two kids together.

Singing star Bobby Darin makes his feature-movie debut with Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida, Sandra Dee and Walter Szlezak in "Come September," the romantic comedy in Technicolor which opens Friday on the screen of the Ritz Theatre.

Darin, who has been one of the nation's top-selling recording stars in the past several years, plays the young romantic partner of Sandra Dee. It was in this picture that the youthful couple first met and fell in love. Soon after returning to this country from the Rome, Italy, location, they were married.

"Come September" is an original screenplay about an American playboy (Rock Hudson) and a sultry continental beauty (Miss Lollobrigida). It was written by Academy Award winners Stanley Shapiro and Maurice Richlin, who won their Oscars for "Pillow Talk" and also a nomination for "Operation Petticoat."

The picture was filmed on Italian location, in Rome and Portofino, under the direction of Robert Mulligan, who directed "The Rat Patrol" with Tony Curtis and Debbie Reynolds, and the recent Curtis starrer, "The Outsider," for Universal-International. The film's producer was Robert Arthur, whose production of "Operation Petticoat" is the studio's all-time top box-office hit. The associate producer was Henry Willson.

"Come September" is a 7 Pictures Corporation-Raoul Walsh Enterprises, Inc., production, and a Universal-International release.

Few, indeed, have been the motion pictures with the quiet power and dignity and carrying such emotional impact as "On the Beach."

This film version of the best-selling novel by the late Nevil Shute sisters closely to the author's story, making only a few minor changes. Headman Stanley Kramer, who specializes in the highly dramatic, ordered only two changes as a minor sop to the allegedly morose American public, and the other alterations were those that inevitably come with the translation of a work of literature into scripted form.

"On the Beach" presupposes an atomic war which blasts most of the civilized world and pours out monstrous invisible clouds of fallout, which the earth's wind currents send slowly but inexorably over the entire globe. Everything dies.

Neither Shute nor Kramer went for the usual Filmtown technique of spectacular bloody scenes. Instead, the story centers on a small group of people in South to create than others whose decisions led to its use.

There are other characters, all of whom were strained to their finest by Kramer's tight, subtle direction.

One of the most exciting scenes is the world's last auto race, in which Astaire finally realizes his fondest dream. In a world where death is near, it doesn't matter so much if one dies now.

Quieter and more sobering scenes, with deep dramatic meaning, include a view of a dead San Francisco through the periscope of Peck's submarine, and the final moment of the film when the breeze and a few scattered newspapers are all that are moving.

"Days of Thrills and Laughter" is another in the currently fashionable series exhumed from ancient Hollywood archives.

Most film goers already know whether they will enjoy this latest attempt at film history, for there have been several previous such movies and they have been seen by millions. If you enjoyed the others, you'll like this one.

"Days of Thrills and Laughter," however, tries a different approach. Previous assemblages were all-comedy. This time, it's a mixture of vintage comedy and musty melodrama.

People past 30 will recall many of the scenes, and people over 50 will probably recall all of them. Those on the younger side of 30, however, will find most of the material new. In fact, the teen crowd probably will find the old melodrama funnier than the historical comedy.

Jerry Lewis combines his four-way talents as producer, director, writer and actor for "The Ladies Man," which returns Sunday at the Jet Theatre.

Co-starring in the Technicolor production are former Metropolitan Opera star turned comedienne Helen Traubel, Kathleen Freeman, Hope Holiday and Lynn Ross with new star discovery Pat Stanley making her motion picture debut. Miss Stanley left the Broadway cast of "Fiorello," the musical hit, to appear as Jerry's leading lady. Guest stars Buddy Lester, George Raft, and Harry James and his band are importantly featured, along with 31 gorgeous blondes, brunettes and redheads.

The girls portray career-seeking residents of the Hollywood boarding house which is the principal setting of the comedy. The story concerns the adventures—or, rather, misadventures—of one Herbert H. Heebert, who, having been jilted by his fiancée, has sworn off women for life. He takes a job as houseboy for motherly-looking Miss Welenmelon (Helen Traubel), unaware that he will be the only male in her boarding house of man-hungry beauties. Miss Welenmelon prevails upon him to stay and in spite of himself Herby becomes involved in the girls' affairs. By the time he finishes his "education" at the boarding house, he has developed a whole new attitude toward the female sex.

Included in the entertainment offered by "The Ladies Man" are songs, dances, and specialty routines by Jerry, the girls and the other stars.

Harry James and his band play a "hot" rendition of the famed leader's original composition "Bang Tail," in the comedy.

The song is from James' record album, and is described by him as "a real swingin', jazzy little number."

According to Lewis, one way to get a movie role that's made to order for you is write the script yourself—and that's exactly what the comedian did, in collaboration with Bill Richmond. In addition, Lewis touched all the other creative bases by also serving as producer and director.

Jerry, of course, plays the title role.

Predicts Rapid Expansion Of Discount Operations

A tremendous growth in discount stores in the next few years is envisioned by H. R. Gibson Sr., operator of the Gibson stores with headquarters in Seagoville, Tex. Gibson addressed the Discount Operators Annual Show and Seminar in New York City recently, joining in a panel on "What Lies Ahead for the Discounter?" Gibson said he felt the spread of discount houses will be similar to the growth some years back of super-markets, but at even a faster rate. He pointed to the fact that super-market growth has affected the wholesale grocer, and that the discount house expansion is affecting wholesalers in other lines. "A true discount operator," he said, "will sell his merchandise to his customers at the same price level as the wholesaler is selling the merchant today — less in many cases." Gibson reviewed growth of his own operation, which today numbers 44 stores—33 of them a franchise nature. He said he went into the full discount business only three and a half years ago, and that the growth of his company has been far faster than anticipated. "In setting up a program of operation we insisted on giving the greatest value for the customer's dollar—not second or third line merchandise — but the best. We sell only merchandise that we can fully guarantee and stand behind." Gibson cited other policies followed in his own business: Semi-self service seems to be more desired by the customers, and this is provided; the stores do not get in a "price war," but maintain the low prices of the wholesale level; the stores are careful not to use misleading advertising.

New Water Record

LAMESA (SC) — Lamesa broke the all-time water consumption here in August by using 91,732,000 gallons of water. The old record was set in June of last year at 88,316,000 gallons. It puts the 1961 total at 447,058,000 gallons, well ahead of the consumption of last year.

Police Department Working On Communication Efficiency

Efforts to step up the efficiency of the communications office at the Big Spring police department have been put into effect, Chief Jay Banks said last week. The radio dispatchers receive an average of four calls per minute, he explained, some of them long and detailed, and they must handle other telephone calls as well.

"We have issued explicit instructions to the dispatchers to give priority to telephone calls, even though they often have to ask the caller to hold on until another call is answered," Banks said. "There are times when as many as four calls are coming in on the phone at once. When this happens the dispatcher will have to ask one person to hold on until a second, third, or fourth party is switched to some other person in the department."

Pastors Back Bracero Ministry In Dawson County

LAMESA (SC) — A group of Protestant ministers have organized a committee for ministry to braceros, it was announced here by Rev. Richard Tarr, chairman, and pastor of the First Christian Church.

The group of ministers and laymen have engaged the services of Raul Perales, Las Cruces, N. M., as an evangelist for the bracero population of Dawson County.

Perales, who has been performing similar functions for the past four years in California, has already begun his duties here and will preach in all bracero or labor camps in the county until late November.

It is the first time that a minister has been engaged in this manner in the county. Perales' auto is equipped with sound and he combines films with his sermons. He will tour the camps after the evening meal hour.

Some local churches and lay leaders have offered financial support of the project.

Walker Listed As A Bircher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker is listed in an official Army report as a member of the militantly conservative John Birch Society.

Walker, former commander of the 24th Infantry Division in West Germany, was officially reprimanded by the Army June 12 for attributing Communist leanings to former President Harry S. Truman, other top Democrats and elements of the U.S. press, television and radio.

spaced evenly there would be no problem," the chief said, "but in most instances they come in bunches, and the dispatchers have their hands full."

To the casual observer, walking into the dispatcher's office at certain times of the day, it appears to be needing a six-handed operator. The radio has traffic, the telephone is ringing, and the operator is trying to get something out on the telephone at the same time.

Banks also said an effort was being made to get the public works and city hall radios off the police frequency which would serve to relieve some of the load.

Another problem is the off-hour shifting of city hall calls through the police department. The dispatcher often has to convince the caller that the calls are routed through police phones when the city hall is closed at night, Sundays, and holidays.

"There are times when the caller loses his temper when the police department answers. He wants the city manager or somebody else," Banks said.

A BLOOD RELIGION?

More than one person has turned his back on the Christian religion because, as they say, "it is a religion of blood."

There need be no blinking the fact: Christianity IS a religion of blood. From the first pages of the Bible to the last, the forgiveness of sins is inseparably interwoven with the shedding of blood — the blood of sacrificial animals in the Old Testament, the blood of Christ in the New.

John writes, "The blood of Jesus Christ, His Son, cleanseth us from all sin." Peter says, "Ye were redeemed by the precious blood of Christ." Paul writes, "In Him we have redemption through His blood." And Christ Himself asserts, "This is My blood which is shed for the remission of sins."

It will do no good for the Church to preach a diluted Gospel of morality and good deeds; the Gospel which Christ preached was one of personal salvation through faith in His redeeming blood.

EVERYBODY LOVES

Amber and Honey

FASHION BLONDES BY VANITY FAIR

The new way to dress is in color from the skin out... color to look luscious with complexions and clothes. These two glamorous glows go with each other and whole wardrobes of russets, currys, golden browns and black. Honeysuckle, a fair fresh beige, comes in everything; Amber is the deeper gold lingerie blonde. It's no wonder at all you love being in fashion every stitch of the way, now that all is vanity... all is Vanity Fair... lingerie, girdles, bras.
