NEARLY 500,000 FLEE CENTURY'S WORST HURRICANE

Carla Begins Moving Inland— Winds, Tides Already Rake Coast

Heading For Higher Ground

Horses and cattle jam the highway leading out of Cameron, La., heading for higher ground as Hurricane Carla moved toward the Louisiana and Texas coasts. Nearly 600 people died at Cameron in 1957 when Hurricane Audrey struck this low coastal town.

Carla Finds Audrey's Death Trail Deserted

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Giant waves and high winds stirred up by brutal Hurricane Carla surged over Louisiana's deserted, marshy coast today.

The vicious hurricane spawned at least three tornadoes, which struck at south Louisiana communities Sunday night. Kaplan, where a baby was killed and more than 50 injured, was the worst hit.

Evacuations continued as rising waters spilled over protective levees and flooded coastal towns. More than 40,000 already had fled inland.

From the second-story of the Cameron, La., courthouse, Sheriff O. B. Carter reported eight-foot tides and 65-mile winds. Carter said the highest points in the town of 5,000 were covered by nearly three feet of water.

Residents of Cameron—remembering the 590 left dead by Hurricane Audrey in 1957—needed little prompting to evacuate. By Saturday only Carter and a few deputies remained in the town.

At Holly Beach—a few miles west of Cameron—Norman Richardson, state editor of the Shreveport (La.) Times, said houses, stores, sheds and shacks were being pounded apart by the surf and tide.

Richardson, accompanying a six-man National Guard patrol, waded through hip-deep water on an inspection tour.

Some 225 miles eastward, rising tides began flooding the small community of Lafitte, nearly encircled by bayous, lakes and canals.

Barataria Bay, where pirate Jean Lafitte anchored his ships, pounded a protective levee to the south. Water from Goose and Rigollets bayous, on the west and north where there are no levees, crept into deserted homes.

Jalopies loaded with children began an exodus toward New Orleans as fishermen, trappers and oil company workers left their homes.

"It's not much use to sandbag," said a deputy sheriff. "Why brace the front door when the water comes in the open back door?"

Between Lafitte and Cameron, only a few trappers remained in isolated spots.

Taylor Resigning County Agent Post

James Taylor, Howard County Agricultural agent, is resigning his post and will become farm and ranch representative for the First National Bank.

Lester Morton, president of the bank, announced the addition of Taylor to the bank staff Monday and said that he would begin his new duties on Oct. 1.

Morton voiced satisfaction at Taylor's decision to affiliate with the bank. The banker said that Taylor would be of much assistance to the bank and to its agricultural patrons.

Taylor has served as Howard County Agricultural agent for six years. He came here in 1955 after having served a hitch in the armed forces from 1953 through 1955.

He and Mrs. Taylor live at 1102 Douglas. She is employed by Cosden Petroleum Corp.

He was born in southern Arkansas, but while still a small child, his family moved to Monahan, He attended school there, graduating from the Monahans high school. He enrolled in Texas A.M. College, graduating in 1948. Joining the extension service of the college, he was assigned as assistant agent in Young County.

He served eleven months in that post and was transferred to Pecos as county agent for Reeves and Loving counties. He served in that post from 1949 through 1953 when he enlisted in the armed forces.

On discharge from the military, he re-entered the extension service and was sent to Big Spring.

Taylor said that he had notified the District Extension office of his plans and that his resignation has been accepted effective as of Oct. 1.

The District Extension Agent will appoint his successor but no announcement has been made of the selection. Taylor said that he had also advised Ed Carpenter, county judge, of his plans.

Taylor said he had enjoyed his work in the office of the county agent but that he feels the new position with the bank is an opportunity too good to overlook.

He expressed his appreciation to the people of the county for their cooperative attitude and friendship while he served as agent.

Fire Threat As Ships Clash

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A grain ship tossed about wildly by gigantic waves rammed a loaded oil tanker in normally busy Corpus Christi Harbor repeatedly today, leading to a threat of fire, said Mayor Ben. F. McDonald.

McDonald said the tanker was secured but that there was no way to keep the grain ship from banging against it. High winds and tides made control impossible.

There was a 75 per cent power failure in the city of 100,000 and natural gas service was curtailed. But the water supply was unscathed.

Five men trapped in an industrial plant for a time were taken to safety in boats. The howling gales leveled the tower of Radio Station KTOD.

While the evacuation proceeded, life began for more than a dozen tiny Corpus Christi residents. They were born in hospitals while Hurricane Carla struck at the city.

Mothers-To-Be Crowd Hospital

GALVESTON (AP)—"Every pregnant woman who is expecting a baby any time before December has come to the hospital."

The speaker was Dr. E. S. McLarty, busy at St. Mary's hospital, while Hurricane Carla howled down on the city famous as a mecca for tourists since before the turn of the century.

"All they can do is walk up and down the halls," McLarty said of the women thinking of the children they will bear. "We can take care only of those in labor."

15-Foot Waves, 173-MPH Gales Are Expected

BULLETIN
 HOUSTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau said the northern edge of Hurricane Carla's eye was on Matagorda Island at 1 p.m. (CST).

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Carla, the most intense storm aimed at the Texas coast this century, lashed Louisiana and Texas with estimated 173-mile winds and battering 11-foot tides today while still miles at sea.

Nearly 500,000 persons fled the coast in Texas and Louisiana in one of history's major flights, the Red Cross said.

At a late hour the 30-mile-wide eye was expected to strike land during the afternoon between Aransas Pass in the Corpus Christi area, and Matagorda Bay, 75 miles northeast.

At noon Carla remained in the Gulf of Mexico 65 miles due east of Corpus Christi and apparently had not moved toward land in five hours, although hurricane winds and pounding tides from its leading edge raked the coast.

The Weather Bureau said winds of 150 miles an hour swirled near the center, but this velocity already was exceeded at Port Aransas, where the Weather Bureau officially estimated the 173 m.p.h. winds.

The Weather Bureau predicted tides of 15 feet or more in some places from Port Aransas northward to Galveston. Tides from 8 to 12 feet were expected from Cameron, La., to Galveston, and up to 10 feet elsewhere where Carla's power is felt.

Carla will pack hurricane force winds near the center for 24 hours, the Weather Bureau forecast, an extremely long duration.

Galveston, island city of 75,000 from which 60,000 fled, was completely isolated.

At Port Aransas, on low-lying Mustang Island just off the Texas coast, 55 persons remained, including a few citizens and a detachment of Coast Guardsmen, 15 feet off the ground in an elevated house.

NO CHOICE
 They had no choice except to ride out the wind and tides. All communications to them were cut.

As far inland as Bay City, 20 miles from the coast, Carla's slashing winds ripped out power service and telephone communications.

At Port Lavaca, on Matagorda Bay, 9,200 of the city's 10,000 persons left for high ground and winds reached 70 m.p.h.

Shortly after daybreak, tides surged to 10.7 feet above normal at Port Aransas.

Sheet metal, poles, broken glass and trees flew through the air in Corpus Christi. National Guardsmen patrolled against looting.

Corpus Christi reported nearly five inches of rain since midnight.

Rescuers Seek 83 Bodies At Irish Plane Crash Site

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Working knee-deep in mud, rescue workers today dug for more bodies in the wreckage of the chartered American plane that plunged into the Shannon estuary killing all 83 persons aboard.

The crash Sunday of the President Air Lines DC6B "Theodore Roosevelt" was the worst disaster ever to befall a U.S. commercial plane overseas.

Aboard were 77 European passengers and six American crewmen.

As investigators sought to determine the cause of the crash, 19 bodies remained to be recovered from the wreckage.

The tailpiece of the plane loomed above the slimy, gray mudflats like a giant tombstone.

Lashed by rain, the people of Shannon toiled all day Sunday in a race against the incoming tides.

As the tide came in and again covered the remains of the airliner, floodlights cut across the mudbanks and illuminated the wreckage.

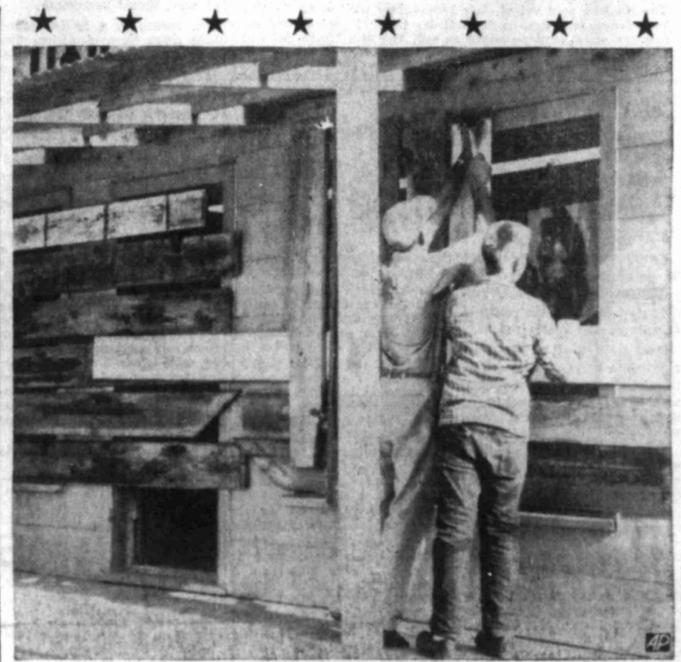

The big four-engined plane plunged into the Shannon's waters minutes after taking off for the Atlantic hop after a refueling stop. The passengers had been taken aboard at Dusseldorf, West Germany.

The DC6B set off about the same time another charter plane carrying U.S. Army personnel and their families was called to leave. This led to erroneous reports from Shannon Airport officials and a U.S. Air Force spokesman in London that the Americans were victims.

The ill-fated airliner carried Austrian and German farm families, including a baby, on a trip organized by a crop spray firm for a three-week visit to the American Midwest corn belt.

People at the airport said they heard the plane take off and minutes later the engines cut out. There was an eerie silence and then a thud.

All those aboard, with one exception, apparently died immediately. A dark-haired girl of about 25 was thrown clear and was found alive but died later at the airport medical center.

Boarding Up

Woody Ousley and son, Bobby, boarded up their shop at Port Aransas and headed for the mainland as the pushed her way toward the Texas and Louisiana coasts.

LATEST WEATHER BULLETIN

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The New Orleans Weather Bureau issued today this position bulletin on Hurricane Carla at 1 p.m. (CST).

"At 1 p.m. Hurricane Carla was centered near latitude 23.1 and longitude 96.4 or about 65 miles east-northeast of Corpus Christi and about 29 miles south of Port O'Connor, Texas. The northern edge of the eye is on Matagorda Island."

The Weather Bureau also issued this advisory:

Hurricane warnings are displayed from the Corpus Christi area to Morgan City, La. and gale warnings south of Corpus Christi to Brownsville.

The center of hurricane Carla is moving slowly toward the Matagorda Bay area and will move inland in that area late this afternoon. The calm center or eye of the hurricane is about 30 miles in diameter. Winds will die down suddenly if eye passes over your area but the will increase again rapidly to full force and from the opposite direction as the eye moves away.

Remain in safe shelter as the eye passes over your area. Since Carla is moving very slowly this lull will last from a few minutes to several hours depending on how near you are to the center. Winds and squalls will continue to increase on most of the Texas coast until the center crosses the coastline and is inland. Carla will be slow to lose intensity after moving inland and will pack hurricane force winds near the center for 24 hours.

Tides will continue to rise until the center crosses the coast reaching 12 to 15 feet and even a little higher in inlets and on the windward side of bays from Port Aransas area to the Galveston area. Tides are 8 to 12 feet north of Galveston Bay to Cameron, La., and 5 to 10 feet elsewhere in area of display.

Every precautionary measure possible should be continued for protection of life and property in this extremely dangerous hurricane. Small craft from Brownsville to St. Marks, Fla., should remain in safe shelter.

Highest winds are estimated 150

m.p.h. near the center and hurricane winds extend outward about 120 miles from the center. Gale and squalls cover all of the northwestern Gulf and the adjoining coastal areas and they will spread farther inland ahead of Carla.

Heavy rains along the central and upper Texas coast will spread northward with 8 to 15 inches indicated for a broad area near the center as it moves inland.

Board Grants Water Plea

The State Board of Water Engineers today granted an application by the City of Big Spring to amend its water permits on Moss and Powell Creek lakes to allow mining as a use.

E. V. Spence, manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, was presenting the application since the amended use is a requisite to the districts completing a repressuring contract with Standard Oil of Texas. Appearing for the City of Big Spring were City Manager A. K. Steinhilber and City Attorney John Burgess.

A routine protest had been entered by the rice growers along the coastal plain in Southeast Texas. Officials anticipated no serious contest of the application since it did not involve an increase in appropriation.

The application to amend covered permit No. 1272 under which the city was authorized to impound 2,477 acre feet in Moss Creek for an annual appropriation of 600 acre feet; to impound 1,458 feet in Powell Creek for an annual appropriation of 300 acre feet; and to divert an annual appropriation of 600 feet from Devil's Creek into Powell Creek reservoir. This is the total appropriation involved for 1,700 acre feet per annum.

The board approved 1,900 acre feet per annum, leaving 100 acre feet for municipal peaking purposes.

Storm Delays Highway Bidding

AUSTIN (AP)—Hurricane Carla has forced the cancellation of the September highway contract letting Tuesday, the Highway Department said today. The new dates will be set later.

Catholics Fight Castro's Police

HAVANA (AP)—Roman Catholic demonstrators shouting "Cuba yes, Russia no" fought police Sunday night in an unusual show of defiance of the Castro regime.

Shots were fired as the police and militia broke up a march on the Presidential Palace. One man was killed, three wounded and scores suffered bruises from police clubs.

The anti-Communist outburst erupted after about 4,000 Cubans massed in downtown Havana for the annual procession of Our Lady of Charity, patron saint of Cuba. For five hours they gathered in front of the Church of Charity shouting and denouncing the Soviets. Many shouted "Long live Jesus Christ."

Word that the Interior Ministry had banned the procession sent the demonstrators into a fit of anger and they started to march on the Presidential Palace.

The fighting erupted as the police and supporters of Prime Minister Fidel Castro pitched in to break up the crowd. An announcement that the authorities had granted permission for the procession failed to quiet the crowd.

Church authorities stepped in and called off the procession. A priest pleaded with the demonstrators to go home.

The crowd ignored the appeals. Shots—apparently fired by police and militia—sent hundreds in a wild scramble for cover.

Others tangled with the police and militia for more than an hour before order was restored in the narrow streets around the church. Many of the wounded were taken into the church for first aid.

About 300 of the demonstrators managed to break through to the Presidential Palace. A guard there talked to them and finally persuaded them to go home.

It was the first outward show of violence against the Castro regime's close ties with the Communists since the abortive invasion by Cuban exiles last April.

Launching Tour

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Patriarch Benedictus of Jerusalem is launching a tour to meet heads of the Greek Orthodox Church in the United States, a spokesman said Sunday. The patriarch took a plane for Beirut, Lebanon, Saturday on his way to New York. In two months abroad, he expects also to visit Athens, Rome and Belgrade.

Soviets Set Off 2 New Blasts, Including Giant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has triggered two new nuclear blasts—one packing a punch far greater than earlier shots in the current tests. The Atomic Energy Commission said the first of Sunday's explosions in the atmosphere was "on the order of several megatons"— an explosive force equivalent to several million tons of TNT.

Although it was by far the largest fired since the Soviet Union resumed testing 11 days ago, the blast was a long way from the 100-megaton level which Soviet Premier Khrushchev has boasted the Soviets will reach.

Bishop Helps Stricken Isle

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—A one-man mercy mission has arrived in Cape Town from St. Helena, Napoleon's island of banishment, whose 4,000 inhabitants now face virtual isolation from the rest of the world.

The man with a mission is the Anglican bishop of St. Helena, the Rt. Rev. Harold Beardmore.

St. Helena is a British island 1,200 miles west of Africa. The two passenger ships serving the island at intervals are to be taken off the run next year.

When that happens St. Helena will be cut off from the world, except for occasional freighter visits.

The bishop is seeking second-hand typewriters, workshop lathes and tools—and anything else that will help stave off idleness and stagnation.

"Our main problem is that we have a growing population and a shrinking labor market, so there's a great deal of poverty," he said. "Several hundred islanders used to go to Britain every year to take jobs but now there will be no ships to take them there. Quite a number of our men have been going over to the American missile tracking base and the cable and wireless station of Ascension Island, 700 miles away, but they too will lack transport when the ships stop coming."

"We have no staple industry to keep the island going."

The second nuclear device, fired the blast was a long way from the 100-megaton level which Soviet Premier Khrushchev has boasted the Soviets will reach.

The four devices tested before Sunday's doubleheader ranged from about the 20,000-ton equivalent of the bomb the United States used at Hiroshima to something in the 150,000 to 200,000-ton class.

All Soviet nuclear blasts in this series have been fired in the atmosphere.

There was no immediate reaction from U.S. official sources on the latest tests.

Because it was so much more powerful, the first of Sunday's blasts presumably produced much more radioactive debris than the previous explosions.

U.S. experts say there is no danger from fallout resulting from the four earlier tests, but continued atmospheric testing would increase the possibility of deadly radiation.

It was this danger that prompted President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to join in a plea to Khrushchev to confine his testing to underground explosions, which are relatively safe from the contamination standpoint.

Khrushchev rejected the proposal last Saturday, calling it a propaganda maneuver.

In a joint statement issued a few hours later, Kennedy and Macmillan voiced deepest regret at Khrushchev's reply.

"This action contrasts vividly with the Soviet Union's own repeated expressions of concern as to the health hazards of such testing," they said.

Both leaders repeated their readiness "to negotiate a controlled nuclear test ban agreement of the widest possible scope." Negotiations for such a ban collapsed completely after the Soviet Union and then the United States, announced they would resume nuclear tests. Kennedy said the U.S. tests would be underground.

A communique issued Sunday night on Khrushchev's Moscow talks with India's Prime Minister Nehru said the Soviet leader told the prime minister the Soviet Union was compelled to resume nuclear tests because of "the Western arms race. Tass did not mention Nehru's reaction."

The AEC said both of Sunday's blasts took place in the Arctic region in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya, an island which has been used previously for detonation of large Soviet nuclear devices.

'Mister, It's Rough'

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP)—When Hurricane Carla hit Mustang Island on the Texas Coast Sunday night, a man on the scene said: "Mister, it's rough."

Constable T. R. Smith, one of 20 people who elected to stay in their Fort Aransas homes to ride out Carla, spoke by long distance on one of three telephones still connected to the mainland at midnight.

"The downtown area is completely under water," he said. "Small buildings are floating around in the bay, we're completely surrounded by water."

Port Aransas, a famous fishing spot, no longer has a fishing pier, he said, and water was arm-pit deep at some places in the town. Those who stayed in the city included businessmen, peace officers and coast guardsmen.

"We don't know about any damage now because we can't get out," he said. "It's too dangerous to leave now."

Tower Urges Defense Support

WARICK, R.I. (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., Sunday called on the nation to support President Kennedy when he asks for more military power.

The Texas senator, speaking to 4,000 Rhode Island Republicans at an outing, said strength is the only thing imperialistic leaders understand.

Tower said America must resolve "not in any part of the world to yield one inch of free territory" to communism. He said, "I fear that Mr.

Khrushchev will not negotiate any strategic or tactical advantage he may have over us now. We are gullible if we think that."

High School Physics In Bad State; Law Keeps Science 60 Years Late

By BLAIR JUSTICE
Fort Worth Star-Telegram Writer
Written for The Associated Press

What would you say if a state law prohibited your school children from using a textbook that points up revolutionary changes made in the world in the 20th Century?

Ridiculous? Not in Texas, it isn't—nor to the 31,000 students enrolled this week in high school physics.

Physics, we are repeatedly reminded, is an important science in our race with the Russians.

Sweeping new concepts in physics made possible the atomic bomb. Revolutionary changes in physics gave rise to our world of giant computers, palm-size transistor radios, mass-produced television sets and modern communications.

The lives of all of us have been affected by modern physics—yet teachers themselves say that concepts of modern physics are not taught in Texas high schools.

ATOMICS IGNORED
Atomic physics is modern physics. But concepts of modern physics are almost completely ignored by the textbooks that the Texas state Board of Education requires public high schools to use.

The law says the schools must use these state-approved texts "to the exclusion of all others."

Three of the five books on the state's prescribed list don't even bother to mention the man whose theory, advanced in 1900, set off the 20th Century revolution in physics.

Now the revolt is among teachers and schools made to use such books (each local school district selects one text from the approved list of five).

Law or no law, some flatly aren't doing it.

Out of the 1,029 accredited public high schools in Texas, 28 are listed as using a text not approved by the State Board of Education.

TUMULT OF CHANGE
This unapproved book recognizes that fundamentals of physics have gone through a tumult of change in 60 years.

Some say that the 26 schools using such a text are doing so in defiance (or ignorance) of the law.

But the law says different things to different people.

The revised civil statutes repeatedly warn that public schools must use only the textbooks adopted and approved by the State Board of Education.

But in one short statute, dated 1925, the law also says schools may use and purchase "supplementary books other than those selected" by the state.

So for the 26 schools teaching modern physics, it's strictly "supplementary."

In an attempt to make everything legal, some teachers even go through the motions of laying the approved state book out in the classroom, announcing that this will be the text for physics—and ignoring it completely for the more modern "supplementary" book.

BUY THEIR OWN
Because the state furnishes free only the adopted texts, local school districts and students are having to buy their own books to get modern physics.

Dallas (in eight high schools) is doing it. Houston (in two high schools) is doing it. San Antonio isn't doing it. Fort Worth isn't.

The Texas Education Agency, which accredits high schools in Texas, approves of new courses in physics and encourages "experimentation," says Dr. W. B. Goodson, director of accreditation.

But the law firmly warns that any teacher who uses textbooks other than those approved by the state is subject to a $5 to $50 fine each day such unapproved books are used.

Who says the state-adopted books don't teach modern physics? Physics teachers themselves. Opinions of 25 were sampled from Arlington to Alice, and there was unanimous agreement to this point.

OTHER STATES
The problem of being 60 years behind, however, goes far beyond the classrooms of Texas.

state of the quantum physics that made all these things possible.

Outdated and incomplete textbooks may be a major problem in Texas high schools, but teachers say there are also other factors that need correction.

Most physics teachers, they note, need to return to school and learn modern physics themselves. The National Science Foundation pays teachers to attend summer institutes. A nine-week course held at NTSU this summer was attended by 24 of the 25 physics teachers whose opinions were sampled for this story.

A BRAVE FEW
As of Aug. 10, when the PSSC book publisher made a tabulation, these were the schools in Texas listed as using the unapproved physics text, law or no law:

Amarillo — St. Mary's; Andrews; Austin — St. Stephen's; Beaumont and South Park School District; Brownsville; Canyon.

Dallas—Crozier Tech, Hillcrest, North Dallas, South Oak Cliff, Samuel, Sunset, Jefferson, Wilson, St. Mark's and Greenville (the latter two private schools).

Fredericksburg; Houston—Yates and Bellaire; Keller; Midland; Queen City; Palestine; Post; San Saba; Stinnett; Tyler; Wharton, and Ysleta.

There are 1,003 other public high schools that are sticking with approved textbooks, in strict adherence to state law. What can be done to assure that their students are offered 20th Century physics?

Teachers agreed that action is needed. Such as:

Reporters were to blame for the furor stirred up over the incident, he says.

And as for Congress: "It could better spend its time on some of its unfinished business with James Hoffa" than worrying about TV shows. Hoffa is president of the Teamsters Union and has been questioned by senators.

Paar wouldn't talk with newspapermen about the incident, but he discussed it in Berlin with Eleanor Harris, who is traveling with him for Look Magazine. The interview was published by the New York Herald Tribune.

He told the writer that he wasn't surprised that reporters "make up news, but I am surprised to hear that senators spent 20 minutes discussing this matter."

The Army removed one officer—Lt. Col. Dallas Hoadley of Baltimore—from his post for "improper performance of duty." It admonished a second—Col. J. R. Deane Jr. of San Francisco—for "exercising poor judgment" in providing troops filmed by Paar.

The National Broadcasting Co. said the controversial Berlin sequence would be shown on the Paar program Tuesday night.

Paar Blames The Reporters

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar says he received no undue cooperation from U.S. Army personnel in his recent filming of a TV show on Berlin's tense East-West border.

Reporters were to blame for the furor stirred up over the incident, he says.

And as for Congress: "It could better spend its time on some of its unfinished business with James Hoffa" than worrying about TV shows. Hoffa is president of the Teamsters Union and has been questioned by senators.

COUNCIL CONCERNED
GENEVA (AP)—The World Council of Churches, grouping 176 Protestant and Orthodox churches in all parts of the world, has expressed its "profound concern and dismay" at the Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear testing.

which is the only group with the power to make official recommendations on school books, needs to examine the approved list and consider whether the books on the list deserve an extension in contract, while a newer text must await approval until the long contract expires.

The State Board of Education, which is the only agency with power to adopt texts, needs to decide whether it is in the best interest of school children of the state to issue long-term contracts on physics books, even though the longer the contract, the cheaper the cost.

The legislature needs to decide whether local schools can or cannot legally use books other than those adopted by the State Board of Education, and whether students should be given the latest in concepts.

Teachers must decide whether it makes any difference what physics their children are taught—modern or pre-1900.

And students, as one teacher insisted, must realize that "the U. S. will go ahead of Russia in the space race when our generation thinks more in terms of physics than football."

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have or ever have had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? Whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become itchy or greasy? Does your scalp itch and how often? And any other information you feel might be helpful.

All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 6601, Houston 6, Texas. —Adv.

Secret Army Group Hunted In De Gaulle Death Attempt

PARIS (AP) — With the arrest of one accused plotter, police pressed a drive today against the Secret Army Organization—OAS—for the spectacular attempt on President Charles de Gaulle's life.

Interior Minister Roger Frey declared that the clique of French military rightists directed last Friday's attempt to kill De Gaulle in a roadside ambush.

He announced the arrest of Martial de Villemandy, 30, a former radio announcer in Saigon, South Viet Nam, and said he had confessed. De Villemandy had boasted he was a member of OAS and had taken orders from former Gen. Raoul Salan, Frey told a news conference.

Salan is a fugitive. He is under a death sentence as the arch plotter in last April's revolt of the generals in Algeria against De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for that rebellious North African territory.

At least four others are being sought as organizers of the bomb plot. Frey said De Villemandy was arrested near the scene shortly after the plot misfired.

De Gaulle was being driven by his chauffeur at his home at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises when his car was forced to drive through a wall of flame. The flame was supposed to set off a roadside bomb, but it did not explode.

The OAS was formed in Algeria to coordinate various activist groups working to maintain French domination over Algeria. It first came to prominence in the abortive April putsch of the generals in Algiers. Salan is the nominal commander.

Paris has buzzed all summer with rumors of another uprising being planned in Algiers and of an attempt to seize power in France.

The search for the plotters has sent the police knocking at some strange doors. While not connecting them directly with the plot, Frey listed these as under arrest, as members of OAS:

Maj. Gen. Paul Vanuxem, former deputy commander of French troops in Germany, who was relieved of command after the April revolt.

Maj. Gen. Jean de Crevecoeur, a veteran of the French army's bloody fighting in Indochina and Algeria.

Frey said that preliminary evidence, still being sifted, has indicated that Vanuxem and De Crevecoeur were the heads of the OAS in France.

Among the others arrested were an army colonel believed to have been the chief of staff of the OAS organization in France; a former secretary of Pierre de Gaulle—the president's brother—when he was mayor of Paris; the director of administrative services at the Institute de France and a history professor.

How Storms Change Things

HOUSTON (AP) — Hurricane Carla produced more than strong winds and high tides.

A caller advised the Houston Post to rush a photographer to a television screen because a radar picture of Carla was being shown "and it looks just like a dog."

School kids—more than 200,000 in Houston alone—got an unexpected holiday. Principals passed the word there would be no classes today. That goes for Tuesday, too, in some coastal areas.

Snake bite serum was rushed from Dallas to Houston and then to Galveston after rattlesnakes—wet and angry—were flushed from their dens by Carla's high tides.

Federal Judge Joe Ingraham of Houston postponed his court docket until Wednesday.

The University of Texas School of Nursing at Galveston put off the opening of classes from today until Sept. 19.

Donna Lynn Stewart, 1, was found Sunday after she was found floating face down in a bathtub. Her parents—Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stewart of Houston—drew the water in case Carla knocked out the regular city supplies.

A caller from Battle Creek, Mich., phoned Mayor Lewis Cutrer the best way to control Carla would be to use an atomic bomb on her. The man was serious, Cutrer said.

Jails in Baytown and La Porte were turned into hurricane shelters.

The telephone company said it was ready to rush microwave relay equipment—important in long distance calls—from San Antonio and Hempstead to any area knocked out of contact with the rest of the world.

Rangers Sent To Storm Area

AUSTIN (AP) — Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, early today dispatched two-thirds of his force of famed Texas Rangers to the area threatened by Hurricane Carla.

Garrison said the force of about 40 men is prepared for anti-looting duty in evacuated towns and cities.

Besides their six-shooters, Garrison said the Rangers are carrying bedrolls in their cars in case they can't find lodging.

A Devotional for Today

Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They said unto him, Yea, Lord. . . . According to your faith be it unto you. (Matthew 9:28-29.)
PRAYER: O eternal and heavenly Father, we pray we may become more like our Savior, that we may be given sight to see and understand the things of the Spirit. We pray that Thou wilt touch the eyes of those around us that they may see Jesus and believe on Him. We pray in His name. Amen.

Double-Standard Won't Work

United States foreign policy, on which world peace and free world security alike depend, continues to labor under the weight of an adverse double standard in both allied and unaligned foreign capitals.
The application of the double standard was distressingly glaring in the so-called neutralist conference of 25 nations in Belgrade. Its formal communique condemned vestiges of Western colonialism, which the U. S. has affronted several of its European allies also to oppose, but made no mention of Soviet colonialism in the Baltics and Eastern Europe or Red China's colonialism in Tibet. It deplored the U. S. Guantanamo base in Cuba and France's Bizerte base in Romania and said nothing of Soviet bases in Rumania and Poland.
The United States was blamed for failure of disarmament negotiations, but the Soviet Union was spared any criticism for rejecting any enforcement system that might make arms reduction possible. The United States was equally blamed for resumption of nuclear testing, though that was obviously triggered by Russia and the U. S. is refraining from fallout-producing tests. The U. S. also was blamed equally for the Moscow manufactured Berlin crisis.

The Japanese press clearly revealed the double standard — and one of its causes — with comment urging the U. S. to reconsider its testing decision because it is useless to reason with Russia. But the comment offered no answer to President Kennedy's statement that he had "no other choice," no sane alternative to allowing Russia to forge ahead in nuclear weapons to the free world's peril. Much British opinion took the same irrational line.
The widespread illusion seems to be that the United States should make all the concessions in world crises because the Soviet Union won't. This may be and humanitarianism, but it smacks of peace — at any price — appeasement which ultimately would doom America's allies and the neutral nations alike.
The fact that Russia is feared, while we are not, thus is feeding Khrushchev's aggressiveness rather than tempering it. U. S. policy must disregard, if it cannot change, that fateful misguiding element of world opinion.

Disperse The Functions

Every state and sizeable city in the country should have a keen interest in a running debate in Congress over decentralization versus concentration of federal facilities. The immediate issue is the massive laboratory establishments which the age of governmental science is bringing into already crowded Washington, D. C.
A leading critic of this concentration, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., is pushing a bill to use Congress' appropriations power to compel decentralization of federal agencies' non-policy-making functions. He has stressed this concern for the nation's capital.
"If we planlessly gratify the wishes of any federal agency which decides it would like to expand in Washington, we are going to produce a population in the Washington metropolitan area that will be impossible to handle. Water supply, sanitation, traffic, the provision of open space — all will break down if we simply allow nature to take its course and Washington's population to explode in the next generation from its present 2 million to 7 million."

Of course, top-echelon government administration has to be centered in the capital for close coordination. But undoubtedly much of the concentration is a needless byproduct of bureaucratic desire for the dubious prestige capital location is believed to afford.
There are several strong arguments for maximum decentralization. National defense considerations certainly oppose concentrating too many vital federal operations in one location. Agency activities should for maximum efficiency, be located in the environment most compatible with their functions. And, so far as is otherwise feasible, federal facilities and installations should be distributed among regions and communities that need the economic boost that would result.

Holmes Alexander The Man Who Is Independent

Holmes Alexander has left on a brief European vacation. During his absence a number of prominent and interesting guests will contribute columns.
By
Congressman Daniel Brewster (D) (Maryland, Second District)
WASHINGTON — A distinguished columnist runs a great risk when he turns this space over to an old friend. Let me tell you about this learned man of letters. I know him well.
Holmes Alexander is a man with many diverse interests. "Who's Who in America" lists his books — three biographies, four novels and the highly-praised work on American air power, "Tomorrow's Air Age" — but this is only part of the man. His quest for excitement has known few limits.
AMONG OTHER hazardous undertakings, Holmes was once an amateur steeplechase rider. I remember one dark night in May 1939 when Holmes won the moonlight steeplechase on a horse named Red Dragon. Just imagine racing in the middle of the night, hoping your horse would see the white-painted fences in time to jump. Holmes won other races — I know as I rode against him — but there were many times when he ended up in a crashing, splintering fall, with horse, fence and Holmes all in a heap.
Holmes also turned his hand to politics. At the age of 24, he was elected to the General Assembly of Maryland. In days of bossism and recognized political machines, independence was his motto. In fact, one back-row country man said the last time he saw such an independent operation was when his boar hog got loose on the frozen mill pond. Holmes was not a "go along" man.
I LATER succeeded to the legislative seat then held by Holmes and heard many legends about him. After one particular political machination, in which one of our most distinguished columnist's colleagues lied to him, Holmes swore he would try to kill him, and set about to do it. The story I heard from Annapolis was that Holmes quickly took the startled professional politician by the throat and undoubtedly would have proceeded with the work at hand had he not been pulled off by his friends. These men later commented that they would not have missed the man who broke his word, but it would have been a shame for Holmes to go to jail — he would have been missed. Holmes has never been afraid to fight.

AT THE END of his tour of duty in office, Holmes reported to Marylanders in an article entitled, "I Hold Office," which was published in Harper's Magazine in 1933. Sacred cows were butchered, windbags deflated, and spades called spades. The big county boss was dubbed "Old Rolling Thunder." When the boss read this, he thundered even louder. Holmes did not run for re-election.
In World War II, Holmes went in as an Air Force ground officer, but he flew as an aerial photographer on the very first mission of 392nd Bomber Group (H) and decided to be a flyer. Although over-averaged for such things, he went to gunnery school and earned his Air Crew Member's wings. He flew over Germany and France as a gunner-photographer, and over the North Sea as Air-Sea Rescue officer of the 2nd Air Division. He wrote about it all. The Baltimore Evening Sun carried his "History of a Bomb Squadron," and "Fishers of Men." He came home with a Major's commission with the Air Medal, four battle stars and the Distinguished Unit award.
I WILL ALWAYS remember one of Holmes' letters to his children from overseas. It was published in The Saturday Evening Post under the title, "Dispatch From Dad" — it might have been called, "My Children, This Is Why We Are Fighting."
This son of a distinguished, successful family forsook a gilded seat in the Alexander business firm for a reporter's pencil. His pencil has been golden in a different sense. We can see in his books, stories and columns the result of the physical violence and smashing falls of racing days, the tension of the bomber crew, the understanding and sentimentality of a son and father, and the scholarship of a historian. All this comes through in our favorite reporter's writings.

ON MY RETURN from duty in the South Pacific with the Marine Corps, I went to see Holmes Alexander, my friend and neighbor. Mission — advice on politics. I will always remember the wise counsel he gave me. It summed up to this: "Be independent." This good advice has taken me through eight years in the General Assembly of Maryland and into my second term in the Congress of the United States.
Long ago, at the Gilman School, Holmes wrote something for the school magazine which I still remember. It has served as his motto down the years:
"It's true in life and race and hunt
The place to die is out in front."
Well, Holmes, here's to the old days, but also here's to tomorrow! We all hope there will be better days — but if we die, let's do so "out in front!"

THAT 'HUNG-UP' FEELING

James Marlow

There's No Use Looking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western diplomats, like scholars with magnifying glasses, examine Premier Khrushchev's every word on Berlin, looking and hoping for some shift, some change. There isn't any.
Khrushchev and his government have pumped out thousands of words in speeches and statements, playing nice guy and tough guy as they thought fit, since their first blockbuster on Nov. 27, 1958. In that historic document Russia stated its case on Berlin. In the three years since it has made no basic change in its position. Secretary of State Dean Rusk summed it up last Friday night when he said there is nothing in the "fine print" of Khrushchev's statements on Berlin to "show the path to agreement."

IT WAS THE diplomat's way of saying Russia hasn't budged. Three classic examples of Khrushchev's position can be taken — from instances scattered over three years — to show the consistency of Moscow's views on Berlin.

One was the note of Nov. 27, 1958; another was the statement Khrushchev handed President Kennedy at their Vienna meeting last June; the third was an interview he recently gave C. L. Sulzberger of the New York Times.
In all three the Russian position was the same:
1. Russia wants a peace treaty signed with Communist East Germany. If the West won't sign it, Russia will.
2. This will end the Allies' right to keep troops in West Berlin. They now have about 12,000. They base their right on wartime and post-war agreements.
3. Russia guarantees West Berlin will be a free city without interference from East or West and with free communication with the outside world. The city is 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.
4. BUT ONCE Russia signs the peace treaty with East Germany the West will have to deal with the East Germans about getting in and out of Berlin.
5. In some way — Russia is vague on this — the United Nations perhaps with neutral troops, could be used to see that West Berlin's freedom is preserved.
They are points to remember. Any settlement hinges on them and, so far as can be seen, for the West to agree to them means concessions by the West.
For instance: The West doesn't formally recognize the East German Reds as the legitimate government of East Germany.
For the West to ask the East Germans for permission to travel over their territory to Berlin would in fact — no matter what face the West puts on it — be recognition of the Communist regime.
Should the West refuse to dicker with the East Germans, it would chance war.
If the East Germans balked at Allied travel to Berlin — without agreement — and the West tried to batter its way through, Russia would come to East Germany's aid. Khrushchev has said so.
Perhaps if Russia and the Western Allies ever sit down to negotiate on all this, it won't be so completely black and white.

Impatient Collegians

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
Joe College is in more of a rush to get married, than Betty Coed. About three out of every 10 college men marry while still in school, but only one out of eight college women do.
Lady, if you want to help your husband lose weight, make him take you dancing more often. He'll use up 250 calories an hour dancing — even more if he jittersbug.
Communist China is adopting the capitalist practice of going in for brand name products. Among them are "far reaching wine" and the "double happiness" table tennis balls.
Out of the blue: Lightning is responsible for 39 per cent of U.S. church fires, more than any other single cause.
The Navy has doomed its lighter-than-air service, but defenders of the blimp claim that in World War II 125 of these big flying gasbags escorted 89,000 ships without the loss of a ship to submarine action while under their protection.
Prosperity note: Bowling, now the nation's fastest growing sport, has become a $1.5-billion-a-year industry.
Our quotable notables: "After 35 a man begins to have thoughts about women; before that age he has feelings." — Austin O'Malley.
The most jealous husband in the animal world is the male hamadryas baboon. He is likely to beat his mate to death if he catches her corying up to any other male.
Moslems are on the rise in this country. There now are 100,000 here. Their most beautiful mosque is in Washington, D. C.
Tip to gardeners: You might get bigger tomatoes, come next growing season, if you serenade them with a violin or trumpet. It has been found that the sound waves from a musical instrument bombard the cells of some plants and speed their growth.

Worth repeating: "Some folks spread — happiness — others just spread."
Can you name offhand the six U.S. presidents who married widows? They were George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, Millard Fillmore, Benjamin Harrison and Woodrow Wilson.
Skin divers now have a new form of antishark insurance — a gadget that squirts shark repellent. The big fish hate the smell of it. If you meet a shark with a stuffed-up nose, better get out of the water fast!
Happy place: There is no word for worry in Papiamentu, the language spoken on the Caribbean island of Aruba. When an Aruban worries he has to do it in Spanish or English.
We live in the jet age, but approximately 83 per cent of Americans still have never flown in an airplane.
Do you ever walk in your sleep? For reasons unknown, sleepwalking seems to be more prevalent among women than men.
Nature lesson: Next to trees, the giraffe is the tallest living thing on earth. But he has exactly the same number of bones in his long neck as does a mouse — 9.
It was Samuel Johnson who observed, "A man is in general better pleased when he has a good dinner upon his table than when his wife talks Greek."

To Your Good Health A Skin Disease Called Lichen Planus

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about lichen planus. What causes it, the treatment, how long it takes to get rid of it? Also, if you do not treat it, what happens, if anything? — H. H."
Maybe you will forgive me if I go to these questions backwards. If you don't treat lichen planus, it itches.
Next to last question: I don't know what causes it, and I don't know how long is required to get rid of it. But I do know some treatments.
Lichen planus is one of several skin diseases which stem from unknown causes. It's not especially common, but neither is it rare. It's the sort of thing that every doctor recognizes easily. No doctor will promise to cure it, but SOMETIMES he can do so.
Lichen planus consists of some pimple-like eruptions which most commonly appear in places like the bend of the wrist, mouth, genitals and legs. Lichen planus appears as a consequence (for one thing) of certain drugs. A particular one is atabrine, used so widely in World War II in the armed forces to suppress malaria. Keep this in mind for there's a very odd fact involved. In rare cases this is true only when the area involved is very small.

To summarize, lichen planus is an itchy nuisance, the cause eludes us, sometimes we can cure it, but more often we are disappointed. It's not a dangerous ailment, but it certainly is a vivid example of one problem that still mystifies us.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Have you ever encountered anyone who claimed to hear his blood pulsing through his ears, and still claimed no ill effects? Not even an earache or loss of hearing. I have noticed this for over three years. Can you shed any light? — J. D."
Yes, you are hearing your own pulse beat. It doesn't imply ear trouble or loss of hearing. In fact your hearing may be very acute to detect this. Some increase in blood pressure may be a factor in making it audible to you.
Note to W. P. H.: No, cortisone certainly does not "eventually eat the liver." It does have side effects at times, which is why it requires medical supervision. But under such supervision the side effects are readily detectable before they have time to do any serious harm. Stopping the drug averts any potential danger.

Around The Rim

How About A Game Of Jacks?

You may regard the game of jacks played by your daughter, little sister, niece or neighbor too with cool detachment. There are very few big girls today which didn't, as little girls, play the game, however.
The sport of jacks boasts a history much longer than that of most nations in existence today.
THE GREEK DRAMATIST Sophocles insisted that the game was invented by his countrymen during their extended, and oft-times, boring siege of Troy, which extended over ten years.
The word "jacks" is a shortened version of jackstones, although it was known earlier as knucklebones. The reason: Simple enough. It was played with the knucklebones of a sheep. Pronged jackbones are imitations of those bones in metal.
Some authorities on the matter insist that knucklebones was a primitive gambling game, doubtless Asiatic in origin, which originated about the same time as dice.
I'M STRICTLY a minor league jacks player. My game is plain vanilla. When the experts start playing things like "pigs in the pen" and "fast Chicago," I'm ready to take a seat in the bleachers and look on.
You never heard of "pigs in the pen?"

The girls explain it this way: You scoop the jacks into the hand which rests on the floor instead of picking them up. Fast Chicago? You transfer the jacks to the opposite hand in only one bounce of the ball.
And don't leave the jacks lying around after you've finished playing. The baby might swallow them.
HOW ABOUT that woman in El Centro, Calif., who left the following note for her milkman?
"We are going to have puppies, Mr. Milkman, and they are all yours," she wrote. "Our dog is a registered dachshund. You left the gate open and now we're expecting puppies and it's your fault. P. S.—I hope you have many friends."
If I were the milkman, even if I hadn't left the gate ajar, I'd change routes.
A PROSPECTIVE tenant apparently didn't like the looks of the place he was being shown because he remarked:
"What a rundown looking place. What keeps it together?"
The landlady showing him about obviously didn't care for his looks, either. Replied she:
"The termites are holding hands."

Story Of The Yacht Guests

CARLTON BEACH, Bermuda. —Who would have thought that in this British outpost I would find myself listening avidly to a story reinforcing the tenets of American free enterprise, sturdy personal independence, absolute democracy, a stirring testimonial that the servant problem at home is not as hopeless as it seems and a chapter in a domestic situation-type comedy?
ALL THIS began when I met an acquaintance in the lounge of the Carlton Beach Hotel who, said sadly, "My wife won't speak to me."
"And why, Mr. Bones?" I asked, as expected.
"Did you read the story in the local paper yesterday about that big American yacht tied up in Hamilton Harbor?" he asked.
"Who didn't?" I countered. "As long as from here to the lighthouse, 25 in the crew, hot coffee and cold champagne in the taps, carpets a foot deep, fireplaces in every cabin . . ."
"YES, IT sounded as if at last the Americans were breaking up that Greek monopoly in plush yachts," my friend said. "As my wife and I skimmed through the story, whose name do we see among the guests on board this private 'Queen Mary' but those of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Blow. Well, I went to school with a Joe E. Blow, and while Joe was a fine fellow he gave no indication of being a yacht man. A nice guy, all right, but if the class had voted boatwise, Joe would have been marked off as an outboard — motor man at best.
"SO MY WIFE and I agreed that this couldn't possibly be my Joe E. Blow and let it go at that. Anyway, in the afternoon I hired one of those motorbikes and went into Hamilton to look around. I was moseying up and down Front Street along the harbor, casing that big, shiny yacht when darned if I didn't run into Joe E. Blow. MY Joe Blow.
"It turned out that he was the Joe Blow on that floating palace in the harbor," my friend continued. "Naturally, I asked him how come he was an intimate of this new — milled millionaire who owned her. Imagine my surprise when Joe said not only didn't know the millionaire but had never even laid eyes on him."

"HOW COME?" I asked my chum, who said it was a long story. In the first place, he said, the millionaire wasn't aboard, in fact, he hardly ever gets aboard his yacht because he is too busy checking up on his money machines and financial empire ever to leave his New York offices except to go to his bank.
"But he is crazy about his sister, who is married to a village druggist somewhere in Massachusetts, and of his uncle, who still lives in the Maine community where all were born. So every year, this Croesus turns his yacht over to them for an all — expenses paid cruise, and tells 'em to invite their friends, too," continued my friend.
"NOW IT HAPPENS that old Joe Blow lives in the Maine town where the millionaire was born and where his uncle lives. Not only that, but the uncle is Joe Blow's gardener and all-round handy man and has been for years."
"But if the new Midas is so rich and loving, why does he let his aged uncle still work as a gardener?" I asked.
"That's exactly what I asked Joe," my acquaintance replied. "And Joe asked me if I knew anything about the sturdy New England character and its itch for independence.
"WELL, TO SHORTEN a long story," my friend went on, "Joe and his wife are on the cruise as the guests of their gardener and handy man."
"But why isn't your wife speaking to you?" I wanted to know, for the sake of tidying up all loose ends.
"Because," replied my friend, "I was too dumb to wangle an invite from old Joe to go aboard the yacht so my wife could get a load of it."

Time To Speak Out Plainly

WASHINGTON — Everyone in America would back up almost any effort President Kennedy might make to avert another world war and to bring about a reduction in the current cost of "peace-time" armaments.
But, as so often happens when governments get bogged down in the rituals of diplomacy, the obvious is overlooked. Reliance is too often placed on strong talk to the Kremlin about bigger and better weapons or the mobilization of armies. But this doesn't reach the Russian people.
TODAY THE MOST obvious fact staring the whole world in the face is that a dictatorship exists in the Soviet Union which lies to its own people by completely distorting and misrepresenting the viewpoint of the Western countries. This is not an academic matter for the Russians either. For if war comes, millions of them will lose their lives.
Yet the United States government is falling down badly in communicating its views to the people behind the Iron Curtain. The excuse usually offered is that it is hard to penetrate Communist-controlled areas and that radio broadcasts can be "jammed." This is partly true, but there are ways of reaching into the Soviet Union if a massive effort were made by the United States.

time to handle America's viewpoint with tenderness or politeness. It is a time for straightforward and plain speaking by the American people to the Russian people.
The United States, moreover, need not hesitate to tell the Russian people that Nikita Khrushchev is threatening world peace, that he is suppressing the truth about his own nuclear tests, and is following a dangerous course which can lead to a war that neither side really wants.
FACTS ABOUT the suppression of the truth and the enslavement of hundreds of millions of human beings behind the Iron Curtain — these are matters which need emphasis over the air waves everywhere. They must be repeated persistently, day in and day out, so that the whole world will have a basis for condemnation of real tyranny and real colonialism.
Nor is there any good reason to ignore the "non-aligned" or "neutral" nations either. Their peoples, too, should be told the truth. In many of these countries, which profess the virtues of their "neutrality," censorship of the press and radio is maintained, so that the American viewpoint doesn't become known or is deliberately misrepresented.

IT IS NOT a question of which individual should manage the U.S. Information Agency or how much staff the "Voice of America" itself should have for its broadcasting operations. There is need for a vigorous and aggressive policy with a powerful directive from the President of the United States which would authorize direct appeals to the people of the Soviet Union. The bureaucrats may oppose it, but they are not realistic in view of the threat that faces the world.
The existing directives, for instance, are based on a pussyfoot policy of forbearance. They provide that care should be taken not to seem to be dealing with internal affairs in Russia. So broadcasts are made in vague and abstract jargon, designed mostly to reach so-called "intellectuals." Highbrow lectures are offered to such an audience, when simple truths need to be stressed to publicize the current behavior of Khrushchev.
TODAY, WHEN the world faces the possibility of a nuclear war, is not the

College Sets Record For Entry Exams

A record number of freshmen turned out for entrance examinations at Howard County Junior College today, according to Ben F. Johnson Jr., dean and counselor.

There were 206 students present to take the English examination. Others who were unable to come today are expected to take the tests at a later date, Dean Johnson said.

"The number indicates about a 20-30 per cent increase in enrollment," he said. Earlier, Dr. William A. Hunt, president, had predicted an enrollment of about 800 students, compared to 667 last year.

The mental aptitude testing portion of the entrance examination was scheduled for this afternoon.

Registration for freshmen begins at 9 a.m. Tuesday according to Dr. Hunt. Late registrants and sophomores register at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Classes will begin Thursday at 8 a.m. Students attending night courses at the college will register at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Near Record Crowd At Cap Rock Meeting

STANTON—A near record attendance greeted the 22nd annual meeting of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative here Saturday afternoon. An estimated 380 were on hand to hear reports of a banner year and to rename three directors to each of the electric cooperative and its sister co-op, West-Tex Telephone.

Janice Glaze and Pat Fortune were announced as winners of the Howard County Junior College scholarship which Cap Rock awards annually to two youths whose families are on the Cap Rock system.

J. R. Cobb, Austin, president of the state organization for electric cooperatives, traced the history of rural electrification and recounted the struggles to get power to farm and ranch homes. As tough as the sledding has been, it was no less exacting than will be the battle ahead to sustain gains made over the last two decades, he declared.

The electric membership re-elected Paul Adams, D. W. McDonald and Mrs. Lee Castle to the board and West-Tex Telephone returned Lawrence Adkins, Cecil Wilkerson and L. C. Hazelwood.

Miss Glaze, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Glaze, Tarzan, and she is a graduate of Stanton High School where she starred as basketball and volleyball player, served as a cheerleader, and was for two years a member of the Future Homemakers of America. She plans to major in physical education.

Pat Fortune, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Fortune, Ackerly. He was graduated from Sandis High School, and he took part in track, football, basketball, as well as in the Future Farmers of America. Cap Rock pays the tuition, fees and book costs for a full year under the scholarship plan.

Glenn Cantrell, Cap Rock president, welcomed members, and Arsh Phillips, secretary, read the records after the Rev. Ellis Todd, First Methodist pastor, had worded the invocation. O. B. Bryson, manager, presided over the dual meeting, and Cantrell and A. A. McKinney, West-Tex Telephone president, were in charge of business sessions. Three score youngsters enjoyed a movie while their parents were attending the membership meetings.

Those who shared in cash awards from Cap Rock were Mrs. Joe Glaze, J. G. Nichols, E. G. Warner, Ken Dawson, Mrs. Earl Douglas, R. J. Krause, J. W. Motley and A. B. Hodges. Cecil Allred was not present for the major award, and it will be carried over until next year. West-Tex awards went to O. R. Glenn, Harry Echols, A. B. Hodges and J. M. Payne. Appliance gifts were presented to Mrs. J. T. Mims, Lawrence Heischler, O. R. Crow, J. L. Wietzell and James Jones.

Jury Excuses May Be Few

Members of the special venire of 200 called for duty in the trial of a murder case in district court next week, who had plans of getting an early excuse from service, are due for a disappointment.

The only way a special venire member can be excused is by consent of both the defense and prosecution attorneys.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that he had decided not to excuse any member of the venire until next Monday. When Hartman Hooser and John Richard Coffee heard of the decision by the district attorney, they said they would follow the same policy.

The venire has been drawn to serve in the murder trial set for Sept. 18 of John Edwin Myers, 33, indicted for the pistol slaying on Sept. 1 of Arthur Lee De Krael. Hooser and Coffee are Myers' attorneys.

Jones was busy preparing his case Monday.

Asked if he thought it would take long to try Myers, he said that much depended on developments.

He proposes, he said, to offer a vigorous prosecution of the state's case against the erstwhile cook and truck driver.

Selection of a jury will be the initial task when the court convenes on Sept. 18. No other cases are set for trial during the week.

Trustees To Meet Thursday

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District will inspect portable classrooms at Goliad Junior High Tuesday at 7 p.m. prior to a meeting of the board at 7:30 p.m. at the Administration Office, 100 E. 10th.

The preliminary inspection will be made before the buildings are accepted, Sam M. Anderson, superintendent, said. Harold Talbot will act as president of the board at the inspection in the absence of Clyde McMahon, president.

A proposed mileage increase and pay increase for substitute teachers will be presented to trustees for consideration, Anderson said.

Anderson will recommend that mileage allowance be increased from seven cents a mile to eight cents a mile to keep the figure in line with state mileage allowances. The proposed salary increase would raise the pay of substitute teachers from $10 a day to $12 a day.

Enrollment statistics during the current school year will be reviewed and compared with statistics of the past.

Other business will include reports on special education, speech therapy, school health service, elementary music, and elementary counseling.

A progress report on taxes will be made by Novis W. Womack.

Members of the First Baptist Church extended a call Sunday evening to the Rev. Robert F. Polk, Bryan, to become pastor of the church.

He is expected this week to advise whether he feels led to respond to the call.

The Rev. Polk brought the message Sunday 11 a.m. worship at the church Sunday. He and his wife and their children, Bobby, Tommy and Nancy, had come here Saturday. They left Sunday afternoon to return to their home in Bryan, where the Rev. Polk is pastor of the Central Baptist Church.

NEWS BRIEFS

AUSTIN (AP)—The defense asked for a postponement today in the trial of the Rev. John Feit, Roman Catholic priest, charged with attempted rape.

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—An exploding gas well which has already claimed the lives of 2 men and injured 73 others may have caused as many as 4 other deaths, authorities said.

The well, which exploded Saturday near this West Texas town, continues to burn, however, and fire fighters have been unable to determine whether any more men were trapped by the blaze.

The men killed were Herbert Whitfield, 50, of Monahans, and Pat York, 35, of Fort Stockton.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower reportedly is incensed at a State Department pamphlet that pictures him as having decided not to capture Berlin before the Soviets did near the end of World War II.

A GOP spokesman said he understood Eisenhower was hoping mad about the State Department pamphlet, entitled "Background Berlin-1961."

The pamphlet said at one point, "The Western armies could have captured Berlin or at least joined in capturing it. But the supreme Allied commander, Gen. Eisenhower, believed that they could be more usefully employed against the major German forces elsewhere. As a result the Soviets captured Berlin."

WASHINGTON (AP)—High ranking diplomats met here today to lay the groundwork for Thursday's Western Big Four foreign ministers' conference on Berlin.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, informed the commissioners some time ago that it was not a part of his official duties to represent the county in such trials.

Judge Carpenter wrote to the attorney general and Burns' position was upheld by opinions handed down by that official. Two opinions which have been issued on this matter are quoted; one of July 7, 1959 and the second, which is a replica of the first, dated Sept. 2, 1960.

The commissioners, it was believed, will have to employ attorneys to represent them and pay the fees from right of way funds.

No trial of line has been set for the seven appeals.

The commissioners court was discussing the problem at noon Monday.

Up to three feet of water lapped through the streets of Groves, adjacent to Port Arthur.

Glass broke in the windows in downtown Port Arthur.

Wolston's greatest concern was that some Port Arthur area residents were seeking to return and a few filtered past roadblocks.

"They must not come back," said the civil defense chief.

Terrestrial rains mounted toward the 15 inches predicted by the Weather Bureau.

At Bay City, eight inches had fallen by late morning and streets were inundated by the slashing downpour. Telephone poles toppled in a wide area. Electric power went on and off during the night.

The 1st Battle Group of the 143rd Infantry of Texas 36th National Guard Division was ordered to the Matagorda Bay area. It has 1,000 men.

At least six coastal towns and probably more were without telephone service. Southwestern Bell reported. They were Port Bolivar, Matagorda, Clute, Angleton, Freeport and Lake Jackson. Several other exchanges operated only on emergency power.

Court May Need Lawyer

Howard County Commissioners Court seems likely to be in the market for the services of an attorney shortly.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, has been advised by the attorney general that it is not an official responsibility of the county attorney, or the district attorney, to represent the county in condemnation hearings before the county court.

The county has, as agent for the state highway commission, filed seven appeals from findings of a special commission on right of way for US 87. The state felt that the findings of the appraisers were out of line and filed appeals which must be settled by hearings in the Howard County court.

m.p.h. and rain cascaded down in smashing sheets. "But the people remaining are calm and we still have phones, gas and water and about half the town has lights," he reported. There was no tide water in the city.

At Texas City, across a bay from Galveston Island, the industrial city was under eight feet of water, reported civil defense director Kirby Smith. Rescue teams began taking the remaining 1,600 to 1,800 persons out of shelters to higher ground, using amphibious vehicles and high-wheeled trucks. Most of the city's 35,000 citizens fled yesterday.

The high winds threatened the Lower Rio Grande Valley's $30 million citrus crop still on the trees. Winds of 65 m.p.h. knocked mature fruit from exposed trees. Schools closed in the Valley.

Three bayous surged out of their banks at Houston, 20 miles from Galveston Bay, closing some streets and roads, and the situation is expected to worsen as more rains fall on top of the 5 to 8 inches which already had cascaded down by midmorning.

Throughout the Texas Gulf coast, where major industrial establishments stand shoulder-to-shoulder for miles, industries were shut down, and water ran through some plants.

Tides 10 feet high pounded the levee around Port Arthur, an area from which 135,000 persons were ordered to higher ground Saturday.

Port Arthur civil defense director Sawyer Wolston said he feared the levee would go out under the No. 1 storm tonight. Winds in gusts of 100 m.p.h. sent the tides pounding against the levees.

Mayor Orders Downtown Corpus Christi Evacuated

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Mayor Ben McDonald ordered evacuation today of downtown Corpus Christi as hurricane Carla approached.

The area being evacuated is below a 30-foot bluff which divides the main business district.

City planning engineer William Anderson estimated 1,800 persons are involved in the evacuation. The area consists of residences, motels and hotels. Much of the city's major business area is above the bluff, but department and other stores are in the downtown section.

Two of the city's main streets, Mesquite and Chaparral, are in the evacuated area.

Editor Robert Jackson of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times said that while the Caller-Times building is below the bluff, it was not evacuated and will publish today.

1,800 Taken From Shelters

TEXAS CITY (AP)—Rescue teams began the evacuation of 1,600 to 1,800 persons from Texas City emergency shelters today.

Kirby Smith, director of civil defense, said the city was under eight feet of water "and we are without city water, sewage or power."

About 80 per cent of the 42,000 residents of the Texas City-La Marque area had moved inland on Saturday and Sunday.

Daniel Reports Koriath Quits

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel reported today the resignation of Rep. Tony Koriath.

Koriath was in the House for three terms from Grayson and Cooke counties.

Daniel said contacts will be made with local officials to determine if a special election to fill the vacancy can be held at the same time as other scheduled elections in the district.

Almost, But Not Quite

Danny Coates (83) of Big Spring almost got his hands on this pass, thrown in the Steer-Plainview football game last weekend, but the ball bounced away.

The Longhorns, who beat Plainview, 36-0, will be idle this weekend. They return to competition Sept. 22, at which time they visit Snyder.

Spirits Up, Steers Look To Next Tilt

Fired up and determined to make this a good season, the Big Spring Steers buckle down to hard work again today in preparation for their game against an old rival, the Snyder Tigers, on Sept. 22.

Snyder will not begin until next Monday, for McKenzie and aides will be working with the Steers this week to try and correct mistakes made in the opener. Films of the game are back and will be ready for the Quarterback Club meeting Tuesday evening. R. C. Moore scouted Snyder at Berger last week when the Tigers absorbed a 22-0 drubbing. This week others on the staff will get a chance to look at the opposition.

Reds Get Big Foot In The Door For Pennant

By ROBERT MOORE

Sprinkle a little pitching they can't hit at 'em and win more than your share of the close ones. This has been philosophy of baseball experts for carving pennant winners for many years.

It's true the Cincinnati Reds haven't yet nailed down the National League flag, but today they've got a big foot in the door, boasting a four-game lead. There's every indication that somewhere along the line Manager Fred Hutchinson has convinced his troops of this age-old philosophy.

QB Meeting Tuesday Night

Fans will get to savor that 36-0 Big Spring victory over Plainview Tuesday when the Quarterback Club has its weekly meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Captains Jimmy Felts and Roy Bennett are urging a large turnout for the meeting where films of the opening football game will be shown. Emmett McKenzie and other members of the coaching staff will be on hand for comments and to point up some of the weaknesses which the Steers displayed despite a game that was going all their way.

Game Draws 4,254 Paid Customers

Friday evening's opening football game brought a fair crowd—almost entirely home folk.

Don Crockett, assistant business manager, said that a check showed 4,254 paid admissions, yielding a gate of $4,155.90. Out of this will come game expenses, and the remainder will be divided equally.

Advance sales from Plainview included 17 adult and 17 student tickets. The next game the Steers will play will be at Snyder and tickets will go on sale about Sept. 20.

Pros End Tuneup; Season Play Begins

By The Associated Press
The next time the National Football League teams go on the field it will be for keeps.

The 37-game exhibition schedule was completed over the weekend, with Detroit, Philadelphia, Green Bay, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Baltimore and Chicago winning their final tuneup games.

And it may be sheer coincidence that six of these victors were in the Western Conference last season.

Only two teams escaped unscathed during the long pre-season schedule—the league champion Philadelphia Eagles and Green Bay, the 1960 western division champions.

Green Bay won its fourth in a row Saturday night, exploding for 17 points in the third quarter to defeat the Washington Redskins 31-24. The Eagles romped over the St. Louis Cardinals the same night 27-0.

It was the Redskins' fifth straight loss, matching the pre-season record of the new Minnesota Vikings. The Minnesota entry was a victim of its own mistakes in dropping a 21-17 verdict to the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

Dave Hill Pockets Top Denver Money

DENVER (AP)—Haunted by home-town magic, the touring golf pros headed today for Seattle after Denver's Dave Hill pocketed top prize of $3,500 Sunday with a 21-under par performance in the $30,000 Denver Open.

Hill, 24, duplicated the feat of the previous week by Earl Stewart of Dallas first home pro ever to win a PGA tourney. Hill, a Denver resident, has been a touring pro the past two years.

His final round 69 for a 263 total was six strokes better than Art Wall Jr. and Bob Goaly, who each collected $2,000 for runner-up honors. Par for the 6,843-yard course is 71.

Hill's $3,500 payoff was his second major victory in two years with the tour. He won the Tucson Open in a playoff last winter. Doug Sanders, biggest money winner playing at Denver, picked up $1,400 for his 270, which tied him with Bob Rosburg for fourth and fifth.

The leading money winners: Dave Hill, $3,500 63-64-67-69-263 Art Wall Jr., $2,050 72-61-69-67-269 Bob Goaly, $2,050 69-65-67-68-269

Bob Rosburg, $1,400 65-67-67-71-270 Doug Sanders, $1,400 67-67-65-71-270 Dave Ragan, $1,150 66-69-68-66-271 Bill Collins, $1,150 66-72-67-66-271 Mason Rudolph, $975 66-65-71-67-272 Don Fairfield, $975 66-70-66-70-272 George Bayer, $850 67-68-70-68-273 Tony Lema, $850 70-68-65-70-273 Frank Boynton, $850 67-69-66-71-273

LOOKING EM' OVER

By TOMMY HART

You eye Leon Fuller and you wonder how a man that size could ever have played college football. He's rough and tough Southeastern Conference, especially for a man like Bear Bryant.

When you think of football, you automatically think of big bruisers, the kind you wouldn't mind a bit stepping off the sidewalk for.

Fuller was short-changed when it came to getting his full growth. His best playing weight was around 148 — small even for high school.

Yet Leon went so well as a halfback at Tyler Junior College, after departing Nederland High School, that Bryant himself talked the young man into looking over his shoulder.

Fuller was by no means an ordinary ball player at Alabama University. A rough and ready defensive star, Leon was picked to play in the Shrine game at Miami, Fla., and, but for an injury, would have appeared in the Senior Bowl contest last January. Though the mishap hobbled him, he did see the game from the sidelines.

The native Texan also performed in the Liberty Bowl game at Philadelphia and the Bluebonnet Bowl game in Houston. While at Tyler, he performed for Tyler JC in a losing cause (21-7) against Boise, Idaho, at Boise for the National Juco championship.

The elements at Boise, incidentally, weren't conducive to good football. The temperature dropped way down before kickoff time and stayed there during the contest. It was the kind of dreary weather that made the Texas team appreciate the warmer climes of its own state.

Fuller credited a well-regulated weight program with what successes he might have experienced on the football greenward.

Look him over carefully and you get the idea that he didn't need all that weight the football buffs are talking about to have held his own in football circles.

He's a walking advertisement for a co-ordinated weight program at any school.

Roger Maris, the sensation of the major league wars this year, wasn't noted for his distance hitting when he was with Tulsa of the Texas league briefly in 1955.

He appeared in 25 games with the Oilers, went to bat 90 times officially and slugged only one home run.

A native Texan who played high school football at Smyrna High School down in Tennessee last year, Tommy Albert, is having to sit out his senior year at Abilene Cooper because Texas Interscholastic League forbids him the chance to play in this state.

Albert gained considerable backing for an all-state berth in Tennessee in 1960. He is the son of an Air Force officer who is now stationed at Dyess AF Base.

Lyle Lewter, who spent much of his early life here and who gained more fame by raising prize livestock (his father was the Texas Agent here at the time) is now a candidate for a backfield spot with the Lubbock Monterey football team.

Lyle has grown into a big boy since departing here. A 185-pound fullback, young Lewter is considered the best newcomer on the Monterey squad.

Maris, Mantle Have 10 Games To Match Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle of the Yankees take their challenge to Babe Ruth's home run record on the road today with one leading and the other trailing the pace Ruth set when he hit 60 in 1927.

Maris has 56 home runs and is four games ahead of Ruth while Mantle, who hit No. 53 here Sunday against Cleveland, trails Ruth by two games. They have 10 games remaining in which to tie or break the record within the limit of 154 decisions set by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

Sunday, the Yankees swept both ends of a double-header from Cleveland, 7-6 and 9-3. Coupled with Detroit's 8-7 loss to Boston, the Yanks are 11½ games ahead in the American League pennant race.

In other AL games Baltimore nipped Washington 3-2, the Los Angeles Angels edged Chicago's White Sox 4-3 and Kansas City and Minnesota divided a pair, the A's splurging 13-1 in the opener and bowing 7-0 in the nightcap.

Cincinnati, with the help of San Francisco, broke the National League race open by completing its sweep of three games with St. Louis 5-2 while the Giants were humiliating the Los Angeles Dodgers for the third straight time 7-1. Milwaukee, downed Pittsburgh 4-3 and slaughtered the Chicago Cubs 14-4.

The Yankees' double victory extended their two-season chain of victories over Cleveland at Yankee Stadium to 18 games and gave New York a sweep of its 12-game home stand.

Three homers by Mantle, Elston Howard and Johnny Blanchard brought to 219 this year the Yankees have hit the number and left them two shy of the record set by the New York Giants in 1947 and tied by Cincinnati in 1956.

Baltimore's Chuck Estrada had a shutout until the ninth when Billy Klaus hit a two-run pinch single with two out. Hoyt Wilhelm got the final out and preserved the Oriole victory.

Kansas City got 17 hits, including a triple, double and three singles by Billy Howser, in its first game triumph over the Twins. Harmon Killebrew got his 42nd and 43rd home runs for Minnesota. Pedro Ramos tossed the shutout for the Twins in the second game.

Full Schedule For Schoolboy Eevens

By The Associated Press
Everyone of Texas' 900-odd schoolboy football teams will have seen action this week when the smoke clears over a tremendous schedule.

All classes swing into action last week with Class AAAA making its start, but there were a dozen schools that held out.

Heralded powers like Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi Ray, Baytown, Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio and Corpus Christi Miller get strong tests in the Class AAAA Division which also has its first conference game.

Dist. 1 is where championship action starts when El Paso meets El Paso Tech Friday night. It is the first district in the four divisions that play to state championships to open conference strife.

Wichita Falls, which dripped with power in a 55-6 victory over Ada, Okla., last week tackles the little toughie of Class AAA—Breckenridge Friday night. Ray takes on San Angelo, which is just now moving into action. Baytown meets old enemy Port Arthur, which disappointed itself by falling to Houston Lamar 20-14 last week.

Thomas Jefferson, impressive in a 26-7 decision over Abilene, has Austin this week. Austin is another well-rated outfit. It opened up last week by trouncing San Antonio Highlands 25-0.

Miller, the defending State Class AAAA champion, strapped Alice 32-3. Miller plays San Antonio Alamo Heights, 30-22 victor over San Antonio Tech, at San Antonio Friday night.

Sweetwater, always a strong one in Class AAA, meets Abilene while B F W o o d, defending champion of Class AAA, takes on Killeen. Brownwood was a 6-0 winner over Dallas Thomas Jefferson in its season start.

Denver City, Class AA defending champion, plays Kermit of AAA in a good test indeed. Jackboro has been the sensation of AA, scoring 130 points in two games and allowing nothing for the opposition. It plays Bigspring this week.

Albany, defending champion of Class A and which has been showing why it is heavily favored to repeat, rests. Albany blasted Merkel 60-6 last week.

Piersall Gives Fighting Fans Fair Warning

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Piersall is giving fair warning to spectators with an urge to invade his centerfield territory intent on doing him bodily harm.

"I'll swing at anybody that comes at me," the fiery Cleveland Indian player promises. "I won't ask any question. Who knows? The next guy may have a knife with him."

Piersall issued his warning between games of the doubleheader between the Indians and New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium Sunday after two young spectators had rushed onto the field and attacked him.

Piersall felled one of them with a left and booted the other before his teammates and police arrived on the scene. Both were charged with disorderly conduct.

"They came at me like mad-men, hurling insults," Piersall related. "I could see fire in their eyes. One of them yelled, 'we'll get you, you nut!' and cocked his right hand to hit me."

"I didn't wait to hear any more. I got in the first punch. I got the first guy with a left hook and he went down. I hit the other with a right but the punch landed a little high and he stayed up. He tried to get away but I connected with a kick in his rear before the cops grabbed him."

Piersall said he had no regrets over the stormy incident which occurred before nearly 58,000 stadium fans and a vast television audience.

It was the second such incident involving Piersall in two weeks. Two weeks ago in Cleveland a fan charged him and was sent on his way by Piersall with a swift kick in the pants.

Piersall had one source of satisfaction. "First fight I ever won," he said. "I've had 117 fights and this is my first victory."

One Of Many

Milton Carver shows Jack Magee one of the many drug items from the well-stocked shelves of Carver Pharmacy. In the new, modern building at 310 E. 9th, new shipments arrive regularly so you can be sure your medicines, cosmetics and candies are always fresh merchandise. On weekdays, Carver's Pharmacy is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The Sunday hours are from 8 to 12:30 p.m. and from 1:30 to 6 p.m.

Carver Stocks Special Cosmetics

Most all pharmacies handle the ordinary lines of cosmetics and toiletries for the convenience of their women customers but Carver Pharmacy is one that goes a bit further with this service.

Some women notice skin blemishes after using certain soaps. Others find that their line dry and crack from the use of certain types of lipstick. Many have dermatological or respiratory reactions after using certain perfumes.

It is for these women that Carver stocks the complete line of AR-EX Cosmetics. This line is a hypo-allergenic cosmetics which is manufactured from a professional formula for the express purpose of reducing allergic reaction and irritation. Surveys have shown that a surprisingly large number of women cannot comfortably use just any powder, lipstick or face cream. By learning more about various allergies, dermatologists have worked to create these cosmetics especially for delicate or sensitive skins. AR-EX Cosmetics have the approval of Good Housekeeping and are recommended by Parents' Magazine. Over 50 ingredients (usually found in the manufacture of cosmetics) have been omitted from AR-EX products when they were found to be an irritant or allergen to some people.

Everything a woman needs, such as lipstick, powder, creams, shampoo—even wave set and nail polish—has been tested on allergic persons and has now been made as safe as it is glamorous. There are many things at Carver's that some or all members of the family would enjoy. Jewelry and hose for Mother, smokes and magazines for Dad, games and school supplies for the youngsters and many items for baby's needs.

Medallion Marks Home With Ample Electric Power

The small metal disc, the "Medallion" displayed on more and more homes in the Big Spring area is a hallmark of better electrical living.

Living better electrically can be easy when you have the help of your local utility, Texas Electric Service Company, whose representative awards the Medallion to only the homes that earn it.

To win the coveted "Medallion" symbol, builders and contractors work with electrical experts in planning lighting and power that will best bring electrical living to your family. Medallion homes come in all price ranges, but each assures the same basic electrical living values. Planners start with these three things in mind:

First, who electrical specialists call "full house power." This simply means providing the house with an abundance of good wiring and adequate outlets that meet the demand of modern living, let you add appliances anytime.

The second consideration is termed "Light for Living." Imagine living in a home that is always bright and attractive anytime, any season. Comfortable light wherever and whenever you need it to speed household tasks, make homework enjoyable or reading more pleasant. See how Light for Living adds extra beauty to your rooms with eye-pleasing, eye-protecting light.

Point number three is work saving appliances. Science has given us the means of taking drudgery out of household tasks and progressive manufacturers have given the perfect appliances to do the work. Medallion homes are prepared for these and future appliances still in the developing stage.

Consider the kitchen with its stove, refrigerator, cooler, mixers, coffee makers, radios, dishwasher and waste disposer or think how you can take your pick of entertainment in your home with TV, radio, hi-fi or stereo—all depending on electricity to serve you.

It doesn't take a new home to win a Medallion. Call Texas Electric Service today and consult with one of their representatives to see how remodeling your wiring and making better use of your space can help YOU live better—electrically.

Every Home Is A Target For Roaches, Ants, Weevils

Every home, whether rich or poor, is a target for attack by roaches, ants, weevils and other bugs. Don't wait until you see them. Prevent them from invading your home. Your insurance is Johnston's No-Roach, the modern way to control cockroaches and ants. This brush-on product is by far the best, because:

It is so easy to use. One application lasts for months. The coating is colorless, odorless, and stainless. There's no need to move dishes and food, or breathe harmful sprays. It's safe to use around children and pets.

Just brush No-Roach liberally on cabinets and baseboards, window sills and door steps, in cracks, around drainpipes and under sinks—wherever crawling insect might appear.

This takes only a few minutes. No-Roach dries quickly to form a colorless, odorless coating which stays effective for months against cockroaches, ants, waterbugs, spiders, silverfish—all crawling insects. Once an insect approaches this invisible film, it is doomed to die, as No-Roach affects its delicate nervous system.

No-Roach can also rid your dog of ticks and fleas. Just apply No-Roach in his kennel or where he lies. Brush a few drops on his fur. This will not harm the dog, and he will be free of these pests.

Held

Howard L. Rich, 43, of Cooper, Tex. is shown in jail at McAlester, Okla., after he was given a one-year suspended sentence on his conviction of writing a bogus check for two power saws. He was to be returned to Comanche, Tex., where he faces a similar charge. Investigators said the prominent rancher and church worker had signed a statement that he had written more than $2,000 worth of hot checks in Oklahoma and Texas.

Refugees Clog Roads Fleeing From Storm

DALLAS (AP) — To escape lethal winds and tides hurling spots of water into normally populated spots, refugees from Hurricane Carla surged northward by the hundreds of thousands. In road-clogging masses, they poured inland from the Texas and Louisiana coast in an exodus probably unparalleled in American history.

J. J. Lamanoco of Hitchcock, one town near Galveston cleared before the arrival of mountainous waves, summed up a widespread sentiment.

"I stayed out the 1915 storm when I was a teen-ager," Lamanoco said at an evacuee shelter in Austin, miles from the coast. "I know what a hurricane is. When they said 'get out,' I got out."

The migrants fled in cars laden with pets and other possessions in addition to necessary clothing and food.

LADEN CARS
"The girls just wouldn't let me leave the bird," said Mrs. Lester Shemah of Laporte. She carried a four-foot high bird cage containing a blue parakeet.

After an hours-longer than normal drive from Texas City, Mrs. Hector Moreno related:

"The traffic was so terrible that several times we wished we had stayed home. People aren't good drivers when they're scared."

In most cases there was little concern over the jobs left behind. Bobby Kee of Freeport said his boss told him: "Get out. We'll see you when you get back. The important thing is to take care of your family."

Some moved as few miles as possible into the comparative safety of cities only a few miles from their imperiled homes. Others jammed public buildings, armories, hotels, motels and private homes as far north as Dallas, 300 miles from the Gulf of Mexico.

QUARTER MILLION
Red Cross spokesmen estimated a quarter million people were displaced. In most cases the migration was voluntary. At a few points the evacuations were by mandatory official order.

The movement was praised as orderly by Frank B. Ellis, director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization in Washington. He said it "is an outstanding example of preparing for emergency, natural or man-made and which we must do on a national basis if we are to have the non-military defense this nation must have to protect our people from devastation of nuclear war."

Texas state parks, recently proposed as refuge centers during emergency wartime conditions, got an unexpected test. Parks within a 200-mile radius of the coastal area accommodated many thousands.

READY NOW
Park managers "feel they're ready for anything now," said R. W. Barlow, assistant executive director of the State Parks Board.

Public buildings, schools, churches, National Guard armories and U.S. Army barracks were thrown open in Waco, San Antonio, Austin and scores of smaller cities.

About 1,500 persons crowded into Houston's city auditorium. Thousands crowded Red Cross shelters in the city.

A Rockport, Tex., offshore oil operator, Roy Lusby, told at San Antonio of taking his ill wife from a hospital and fleeing their home a block from the shore line before dawn Sunday.

"We put all we could get in the station wagon," Lusby said. "It looks like the rest is lost."

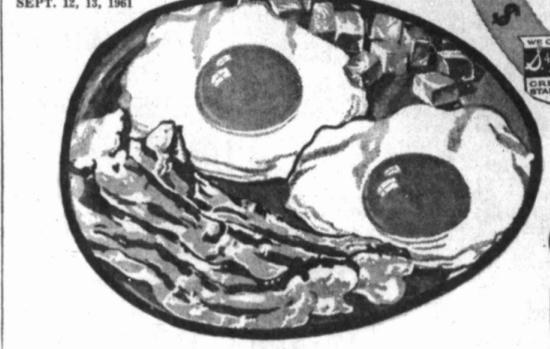

In Austin, R. B. Dingle of Laporte, Tex., said: "We left our home all boarded up. Everything we own. We just hope to goodness it is there when we get back."

Baby Gorilla

A seven-pound gorilla born at the Washington, D. C., zoo nestles in the arms of Sherry Gallagher, daughter of the zoo's gorilla keeper, Bernard Gallagher. The baby, ignored by its 240-pound mother, will spend its infancy in the Gallaghers' suburban Maryland home.

K At Stalingrad Sees Peace Hope

STALINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP)—Premier Khrushchev chose the Soviet Union's bloodiest battleground of World War II to tell his people he sees "encouraging rays of hopes" of settling the Berlin-German crisis peacefully. He predicted "there will be negotiations."

The Soviet leader's declaration Sunday brought wild cheers from a crowd of 35,000 that included hundreds of veterans of the battle of Stalingrad.

The premier said a nuclear war would create great destruction in the Soviet Union but asserted that "imperialists" would be wiped out.

As Khrushchev spoke, a communique he signed jointly with Prime Minister Nehru of India was released in Moscow calling "for a peaceful solution of the German problem through negotiations between all concerned."

Ending his official visit to the Soviet Union, Nehru agreed with Khrushchev "that general and complete disarmament under strict and effective international control was the most important question now confronting the world."

But while the accent was being placed on peace, the Soviet government announced it will fire "more powerful and improved" multistage rockets into a Pacific target area beginning Wednesday and continuing to Oct. 15.

The Soviets have announced that these rockets could deliver super nuclear bombs with pinpoint accuracy to any part of the world. The Soviet news agency Tass warned foreign aircraft and ships to steer clear of the target area, about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

(The Soviets set off two more nuclear explosions Sunday in the atmosphere, making six fired since they broke the test ban truce and began testing again 11 days ago, Washington reported.)

Khrushchev spoke of Soviet military might but made no mention of the weapon testings at the commissioning here of a new power plant, described as the world's largest, capable of producing more than 2.5 million kilowatts, about double the capacity of Hoover Dam.

In outlining what he called rays of hope that war might be averted, Khrushchev said he detected a change in attitude of President Charles de Gaulle of France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany toward talks. He described them as the principal holdouts against negotiations.

"As is known," the Soviet leader added, "President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan have been supporting the idea of talks."

While stressing the need for "reasonableness and flexibility" in international relations, Khrushchev showed no indication he is ready to compromise. He emphasized his determination to sign a peace treaty with East Germany before the end of the year.

Stilled Streets Give Freeport Strange Look

By TED POWERS
FREEPORT, Tex. (AP)—Trucks and cars—abandoned in the middle of streets—gave Freeport a strange look.

The vehicles were left by some of Freeport's 12,000 residents when they fled the city rather than wait here for Hurricane Carla.

It was an eerie feeling to drive through Freeport Sunday afternoon and not see a soul.

This was the toughest assignment I've had in 20 years of Associated Press photography.

The city was evacuated—even by civil defense workers—after a levee holding back Carla's terrible tide broke Sunday morning.

Tree limbs and water covered many streets. Signs were blown down. Debris was everywhere.

I didn't know that levee was broken when I entered the city. A river of water washed across a school yard and into the street I was on.

Halfway across I got worried. But I went on because it was just as easy to go on across as turn around.

Downtown, hurricane flags—what was left of them—snapped in the strong wind. The flags were in tatters. Part of one hung in a tree almost a block away.

One intersection seemed particularly windy. A little bird took 2½ minutes—by the watch—to make it across that intersection.

Two highway patrolmen had stopped me 10 miles from Freeport.

As they drove off they tossed back a reminder that everyone left earlier.

Freeport has a tall bridge with a big hump spanning the Brazos River. Wind was picking up water from the river and blowing it in a solid sheet across the bridge.

I headed for Houston after a strong gale rocked my car about the middle of the bridge.

French, Tunisian Prisoners Traded
TUNIS (AP)—French and Tunisian prisoners captured during the fighting around the French naval base at Bizerte in July were exchanged Sunday under the supervision of the International Red Cross.

French officers turned over 788 soldiers and civilians to Tunisian authorities at Menzel Djemel, a village about three miles from Bizerte. In turn, 213 French prisoners, who have been held at Sousse, 85 miles south of Tunis, were released to French officers.

Trade Down
BERLIN (AP)—The International Leipzig Consumer Goods Fair closed Sunday and organizers said business with the non-Communist world was more than one-third below last year's level.

No One Worried At Indianola

PORT LAVACA, Tex. (AP)—No one was worried when Hurricane Carla headed toward Indianola on Matagorda Bay early today.

Two hurricanes in the late 1800s left only a few crumbling foundations at Indianola as targets for Carla.

Indianola, once the shipping center of the Texas Coast, has been a ghost town for 75 years.

White Estimates Hurricane Damages At $100 Million

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White estimated today the hurricane damage to livestock, rice and cotton crops on the Texas coast would be close to $100 million.

"It could be several hundred million dollars, or it could be much less," White said. "So much depends on the weather after the hurricane passes and how much of the crops can be salvaged.

"Then, if you want to go into the loss of agricultural economy, you could multiply that 7 to 1. During the drought, economists figured that for every dollar you took from farmers' pockets, you would take $6 from the total economy."

Violence Takes 23 Over Weekend

By The Associated Press
While Texas residents awaited reports of violence resulting from the awesome Hurricane Carla, 23 violent deaths occurred in the state over the weekend.

The Associated Press count of violent deaths in Texas started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Ten deaths were attributed to automobile accidents. Shootings, drownings and fires accounting for the others.

DEAR ABBY

Money For The Church

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for your wise answer to "Church Widow." As a pastor I am aware that many people regard church fund-raising activities, such as bingo and carnivals, as a service to God. Yet we would do better to leave undone much of what has been done in His name.

I disagree when you say that most churches need funds (and fund-raising) for survival. They DO need funds, but fund-raising affairs hurt more than they help. Our churches need significant gifts from dedicated members. But fund raising affairs are only excuses to get non-members to help the church pay its bills. Very sincerely, riage, that her rings were originally intended for someone else? While chatting with my mother-in-law, the subject was turned to a girl my husband once went with. I said I never knew anything about the girl. My mother-in-law said, "Well, the rings you are wearing were once hers." I was so shocked and hurt I didn't know what to say. My mother-in-law asked me please not to say anything to my husband when she saw how hard I took it.

I haven't said anything to him, but I have taken my rings off because I don't want to wear them again. Am I wrong to feel my husband has deceived me? Is there a solution to this problem?

HURT: Let's start with the assumption that the rings given you came from the man who loves you. And end with it. Wear the rings, ignore your mother-in-law's unsolicited newscasts, and cherish thy husband.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOPEFULLY YOURS": Quit torturing yourself. You told him he was forgiven. Now never mention the incident again, and forget it!

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Sanford Wright, Westminister Presbyterian Church

DEAR ABBY: We are having an argument in our X-ray department about the difference between an old maid, a spinster and a career girl. Would you please settle it by defining each.

THE ROENTGENS

DEAR ROENTGENS: A career girl is an unmarried female who doesn't feel the need to apologize for being single because she is "married" to her job. An old maid is a single woman because either (a) nobody has asked her, or (b) nobody whom she wanted has asked to marry her. A spinster is an old maid somewhat advanced in years.

DEAR ABBY: What does a married woman do when she finds out after several years of mar-

Pope Pleads For Peace

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope John XXIII, in a dramatic appeal recalling papal messages on the eves of two world wars, urged the world's rulers to negotiate to avert a third global disaster.

In one of his most stirring messages since he became Pope almost three years ago, the pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church Sunday night asked "the rulers of nations to face squarely the tremendous responsibilities they bear."

He declared they must not "fall victims to false and deceiving provocations."

"It is truly upon wise men that the issue depends: that force shall not prevail, but right, through free and sincere negotiations, that truth and justice shall be vindicated by safeguarding the essential liberties and the insuperable values of every nation and of every human person," the Pope said.

The Pope mentioned no world leader by name. But his words were bound to figure in growing pressure, especially by nonaligned nations, to bring about a face-to-face meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

With the background of the Berlin crisis and renewed testing of nuclear weapons, Pope John made his appeal after celebrating a special Mass for world peace at his summer residence in this tiny hill resort, 15 miles south of Rome. Radio and television carried his 2,000-word address around the world.

The 79-year-old pontiff, who was an Italian army chaplain in World War I, spoke feelingly of "the bloodstained half century between 1914 and the present." He spoke of man's search for peace.

"The world," he said, "has no need of victorious wars and defeated peoples, but of the renewed strength of salvation and of the fruitfulness and calm of peace."

He spoke of "new weapons of destruction and ruin which human ingenuity continues to multiply to everyone's loss."

Of the choice between war and peace, the Pope said: "Everything is lost, and lost to everyone, through war. Nothing will be lost through peace."

Those words, Pope John said, recalled exhortations by Pope Pius X, later St. Pius, in 1914, and by Pope Pius XII on Aug. 24, 1959, a week before World War II started.

Pope John's recollection of the two previous papal pleas, both of which failed to avert war, lent intensity and drama to his message. But the Pope did not speak with despair.

He said he was "persuaded that up until the present time there is no serious threat of either immediate or remote war" because of his confidence in the "serene and sure wisdom of all men who guide the nations of the world."

The Pope then called for worldwide prayers to enlighten rulers and help their peoples rid themselves of "exacerbated nationalism and destructive rivalry."

UAW Begins Striking At GM Plants

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers Union members began striking General Motors Corp. plants at 10 a.m. today and indications were that the huge automotive company might be shut down by tonight.

The UAW represents some 325,000 GM hourly rated workers at 129 plants across the country.

As union workers started walking off their jobs company and union negotiators broke off national talks until 7 p.m. today.

The International Union of Electrical Workers and GM announced they were extending their contract deadline from 10 a.m. today until midnight Thursday. The IUE represents some 25,000 GM hourly rated workers.

As the strikes erupted, the UAW announced in a statement that a stalemate had developed in negotiations on noneconomic national-level issues.

A main snag, the union said, was its demand for more liberal relief time from machines and assembly lines to care for personal needs of the workers.

The UAW said "the question of adequate relief is a matter of dispute in a large number of plants, especially Fisher Body assembly plants and the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plants."

The UAW said it was prepared to settle on a proposal made by management of the Oldsmobile main plant at Lansing, Mich., with a proviso that each worker should be relieved from his job for "not less than 24 minutes daily," with the added stipulation: "This provision shall not interfere with any mutually satisfactory local practice."

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, said the union's relief time proposal was taken under study by the company and was intended to unlock negotiations, but that instead "they went the other way."

GM Vice President Louis G. Seston repeatedly has insisted that it is company policy to provide each employe with five per cent relief time daily. Five per cent is equal to 24 minutes for an eight-hour shift.

Pair Returned From Arkansas

W. C. Jackson, 43, former used car dealer of Coahoma, and his wife, Evelyn Darlene Jackson, 29, are in the Howard County Jail.

They were returned from Hot Springs, Ark. Sunday by Sheriff Miller Harris and Bill Whitton, deputy, to answer indictments voiced against them by the Howard County grand jury.

They had been arrested in Hot Springs and held there for Howard County. The Jacksons waived extradition and agreed to come back here to stand trial.

Judge Ralph Coton set bond in the amount of $7,500 each in four counts now pending against Jackson and bonds of $1,500 each in two indictments against his wife.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that he probably would file additional charges against the pair.

Jackson is indicted for three counts of forgery, and for one charge of theft, being alleged he stole $2,300 from the First National Bank.

His wife faces two worthless check indictments.

Rites Set For Mrs. Johnson

LORAIN — Mrs. Bessie Ann Johnson, known as "Mama" Johnson for many years died at the age of 76 at the Johnson Hospital here after a long illness. She had been hospitalized since June.

She was born in Denton County July 28, 1883 and came to Mitchell County in 1903. She was married Frank Johnson here Dec. 16, 1905.

Mrs. Johnson was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Order of the Eastern Star. The family moved to Abilene in September, 1925, and returned to Loraine in 1941.

All three of her sons are doctors. Mr. Johnson preceded her in death Feb. 14, 1943.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 Tuesday at the First Methodist Church in Loraine with the Rev. Frank Story, pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. John W. Price, a retired minister from Abilene. Burial will be in the Loraine Cemetery under the direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Palbearers will be Max Caswell, Jim Bartley, Raymond Johnson, and Jack, Willie and Virgil Walker.

Survivors include three sons, Dr. B. H. Johnson, Loraine, Dr. Homer Johnson, Midland, and Dr. Dale Johnson, Abilene; one sister Mrs. Grace Jackson, Abilene, and nine grandchildren.

Dr. K. Owen White, chairman of the board and pastor of the First Baptist Church of Houston, said the board's major business will be consideration of the long-range statements of policies and objectives for the nine colleges, universities, and academy operated by Texas Baptists.

SOUTH PACIFIC JOURNEY

Australia Much Like Texas; Opportunity For Investors

By HOUSTON HARTE
SYDNEY, Australia—This huge island continent is so vast, so new, even the 10.5 million Australians are continually amazed at what they learn about their land.

The average Australian is so busy with his own enterprise he hasn't found the time to really study Australia.

More than half of Australia's population lives in its seven great cities. Sydney has a population of 2.5 million. Melbourne and Brisbane combined — about the same number. Adelaide, Canberra, Perth, Newcastle a million more.

Less than five million Australians live outside the big centers. This does not seem important until you realize Australia is the size of the United States. The nation's population is just a little more than that of Texas, but excluding the big cities it has less than half of Texas' population spread over an area the size of the United States.

LIKE TEXAS

To a casual three-week tourist Australia today reminds you of Texas at the close of the first world war. Many Texans lament the fact they were unable to invest in Texas in the 20s. Looking at Australia today a Texan can see the same inviting opportunities which were apparent on every side in 1920.

A businessman can be fooled by not sensing the difficulties that confront any investor anywhere, but Australia with its vast resources of soil, timber and climate, cannot be so short by either the casual or analytical investor.

Here is a great fertile continent ruled by stable Anglo-Saxon government. It has no problem of race or color or creed. This vast area has a common language. Its customs are steeped in the spirit of the Magna Carta and the Declaration of Independence.

The civilization derived from the Hebrew, Greek and Roman philosophers, who idolized the individual rather than the state, is as much a part of Australia as Scotland or the U. S. Even a short association reveals the many common traits between us.

Australia's hospitality is extraordinary. The accent is English without the British reserve. There is a frank admiration of America and things American. There are no "Yank Go Home" signs visible in Australia. On the contrary people go out of their way to express their gratitude to the U. S. for "Saving us from the Japs."

There is no complaint in this regard about the British, as everyone realizes the British Commonwealth was occupied with Marshal Rommel in the Middle East.

WORDS OF PRAISE

In other lands Americans and our government are abused, perhaps deservedly, but here you are told how much Australia admires "Your young President."

There is usually a word spoken of commendation of President Eisenhower "who was such a fine man." President Kennedy has caught the imagination of the average Australian. Perhaps his voice has helped him. His broad "A" seems to have pleased these people and made it easier for them to feel close to him.

They make no pretense of attempting to hide their dependence on him and us for leadership in the present difficulties with the Communists. You get the feeling the average Australian would rather have London deeper in the decisions.

One grazer remarked: "The best thing that could happen to the world and to Australia would be for the Commonwealth to give Western Australia and the Northern Territory to the United States." (An area one-fourth the size of the United States.)

U. S. COULD HELP

This is not typical of Australians as a whole, but the statement was made as a sincere and earnest commentary on the need of Australia. This ranchman felt we

Dream Girl Starts Off Year's Career

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's newest dream girl started off happily today along the year-long path she hopes may lead to a glowing career in the entertainment world.

It was in this show business mecca that Maria Beale Fletcher—the newly crowned Miss America—received her first glare of the bright lights.

The 19-year-old North Carolina beauty was a member of the Radio City Music Hall's famed Rockettes last year before she returned to her Asheville home to spruce up for the Miss North Carolina contest.

She was still sprucing today, but this time it was to prepare for her reign in the Miss America role that she won over 54 other beauties at Atlantic City, N. J., Saturday night.

The brown-haired, hazel-eyed Miss Fletcher will spend a month here, with much of it in the selection of a wardrobe suitable for her queenly proportions. She stands 5 feet 5½ inches tall, weighs 118 pounds and measures 35-24-35.

Board To Meet

The board of directors of the Howard County Farm Bureau will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the office at 117½ Runnels. J. H. Fryar is president.
