PRESIDENT LAYS DOWN POLICY IN U.N. SPEECH

Kennedy Challenges Reds To 'Peace Race'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States gave the United Nations a broad new disarmament plan today. A high U.S. source called it "one of the most bold, one of the most comprehensive" such plans ever put forward anywhere.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—President Kennedy told the United Nations today the United States has "both the will and the weapons" to resist aggression. He challenged the Communist world to drop the arms race in favor of a "peace race."

"yielding to threats can only lead to war." BROAD SPECTRUM The President's address covered the broad spectrum of crises confronting a frightened world. He proposed a six-point disarmament plan and called for the creation of a U.N. peace force.

For the first time he personally emphasized that in connection with a Soviet-East German pact that "the Western allies are not concerned with any paper arrangement the Soviets wish to make with a regime of their own creation, on territory occupied by"

Terrific Electric Storm, Rains Leave Wide Damage

The brilliant electrical display and heavy rains left most of the city thunderstruck Sunday night. Lightning and near flood waters accounted for damage reports in almost all parts of the city.

years in Borden County prior to the turn of the century. She was born in Bowie, Oct. 13, 1875. Survivors include her two daughters, Mrs. Mary H. Rogers, wife of Dr. Lee O. Rogers, mayor of Big Spring; Mrs. Helen Shelby, Big Spring; one sister, Mrs. Tom Carson, San Antonio; two granddaughters Mrs. Carolyn Martin and Mrs. Catherine Thompson, both of Big Spring; one grandson, Glen Rogers, Dallas; Glen Hathcock, a son, preceded her in death.

Ready To Talk For UF

A couple of outstanding students, Dub McMeans and Martha Hardy, have been chosen as spokesmen for the United Fund in a series of engagements before service clubs during the next 10 days. Both are honor students, young McMeans as a freshman in High School, Miss Hardy as a senior. Dub is captain of his football team (at Goliad Jr. High), is an Explorer Scout working toward his Eagle award. The vivacious Martha has been a Girl Scout and Junior Red Cross member, has held some sort of office in YMCA activities for the past five years. They have firsthand stories to tell of the work of UF agencies.

The Civil Defense rescue team was called out to assist persons stranded in City Park by high water. One house at 1909 Morrison had a foot of water. The Settles Drug reported some water came into the building during the high flooding. Lightning struck several places in town causing electrical shorts and one great bolt completely destroyed the north screen of the Sahara Drive in Theater. Although numerous cars were stalled, fast work by the police department and wreckers got most going without trouble. A large hole appeared in East Second between Goliad and Austin streets as the pavement sank. The bridge at Birdwell Lane and North Second was washed to one side although it did not wash away. The Civil Defense Unit had communications and rescue units active but only once had to rescue anyone. Ropes were thrown to occupants of a vehicle stranded in City Park. In the vehicle were Bobby M. Marquez, Manuel Marquez and Louisa Palomino. Numerous other reports throughout town were investigated but none was as serious as first thought. "The water ran off between showers so it did not cause too much trouble," Berry said. "Few cars ventured out in the heavy rain and I think everything went smoothly."

Body Found In RR Yards

Body of Loddie Joseph Synos, 42, Bartlesville, Okla., oil field worker, was found in the Texas & Pacific railroad yards at 1 a.m. Sunday. Synos had fallen from or had been struck by a train. He had been dead for approximately two hours when he was found by railway workers. An inquest verdict ruled death by accident. The body was taken in charge by River Funeral Home and will be sent to the Arnold Moore Funeral Home in Bartlesville where funeral services are planned for Wednesday. Burial is to be in White Rose Cemetery. Synos, who was a veteran of World War II and held several decorations for bravery, including two bronze stars and a purple heart, was a roustabout by trade. He was born May 22, 1919 in Bartlesville. He was a member of the Catholic Church. He is survived by one brother, Ted Synos, who lives in Bartlesville.

Raging Storm Dumps 'Ocean' On Big Spring

Lightning Knocks Out Power Lines

A crackling electrical storm, one of the worst in several years, knocked out power service in areas of Big Spring Sunday evening. While wind and water caused some minor interruptions, it was lightning that did the big harm to power and communication lines. A one-two punch dealt Texas Electric Service Company misery.

Board Agrees Water Plea Has Merit

The State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools agreed that "new and adequate consideration" had been shown by the City of Big Spring in its request for a new water rate contract with the local hospital. George Zachariah, city commissioner, calling from Austin at noon today, said the board had heard proposals for a water rate increase, and had agreed that the "new and adequate consideration" had been shown. "The board appointed a committee, composed of French M. Robertson of Abilene, chairman of the board; W. G. (Cotton) Kirklie, Odessa; and George W. Pirtle, Tyler, to make a study of the requirements, Big Spring's proposals, and start negotiations with the city," Zachariah said. "The committee will utilize the legal and engineering staff of the board. "We feel that a start has been made in getting the water rate up from the 19 cents per thousand set in the 1957 contract," he said, "but the board told us that no appropriation had been set up for an increased rate for the two-year period ending in 1963. At least we believe that an adequate rate may be negotiated for and that the board realizes the present rate is not sufficient to keep the city out of the red."

Changes Due

AUSTIN (AP)—Acting Gov. Bruce Reagan predicted today that the Legislature will make some "corrective changes" in the state's new sales tax when the next special session meets. Robert Lonnie Bailey, 15, Negro high school student, who confessed to police Saturday night to the stabbing death of an 85-year-old Big Spring woman, will be tried for murder when he reaches his 17th year. Gil Jones, district attorney, said Monday that he had filed a murder with malice charge against the youth, prior to his arrest, and that the charge would be kept alive until Bailey has reached the age of 17. Under Texas law, he can be brought back to Big Spring at that time and tried as an adult for the charge against him. The boy was taken to Gatesville early Sunday morning. He had been arrested in connection with the murder Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Martha Hathcock at her home, 811 Seury. Under further questioning by Jones he confessed the homicide, claiming he killed the aged woman when she resisted this unsuccessful attempt to criminally assault her. He said he stabbed her one

THIS WAS NO BULL

A prize steer sought shelter here Sunday night, during the peak of the thunderstorm. Deputy Sheriff Nimrod Smith, Las Vegas, Nev., pulled into Oldham's El Paso Service Station and asked shelter for a prize steer. He was en route from the Lyndon B. Johnson ranch to Las Vegas, where the steer will be the star of the Democratic Dinner and Auction set for Sept. 29. The steer sat out the storm for two hours inside the station wash rack room while the armed guards watched the rain and electrical display. Bob Piatkowski, night manager at the station, reported the incident.

Base Helps With Power

No wind or rain damage was reported at Webb AFB in Sunday's storm. However, the base had a part in helping civilian agencies meet emergencies. An emergency generator was taken to Cowper Clinic and Hospital to provide power. By the time it arrived, local power had been restored, but Capt. David Atkin left a 500 KW generator and instructed a nurse in its operation in the event power was halted again. John Douglas McIntire, four-day old son of Lt. and Mrs. J. T. McIntire, 3202 Drexel, was in an incubator during the power failure, but he is reported to have been in no danger. "The heat was the only thing furnished electrically so there was never any difficulty or danger," according to Dr. G. E. Peacock. The police station's radio was off the air for a time and Webb personnel sent the MARS unit, a portable generating station, to the police station. Again, the local power was restored by the time it arrived. Capt. Atkin left a small emergency generator for use in the event of a second power failure.

time in the throat with a pair of grass clippers which he found in the woman's room. Sheriff Miller Harris, Deputy Tommy Cole and Bob Darland, juvenile officer, took the Bailey youth to the State School for Boys. The department had been working all the way with city police and the district attorney's office in the investigation. Darland said that the youth was removed to Gatesville reformatory as a matter of convenience and caution. Jones denied that he ordered the removal because he anticipated possible mob trouble from the public. Harris said that the trip was made after consultation with County Judge Ed Carpenter, who revoked the probation under which Bailey had been placed previously following admission to a series of house burglaries. The youth said nothing en route to Gatesville, the sheriff said; in fact, he slept most of the way. The body, found at 5:15 p.m., was removed to River Funeral

But County Gets Spotty Moisture

A raging equinoctial storm which swept into the area late Sunday after a day of intense humidity, dumped an ocean of water on Big Spring and its environs and subjected the populace to a terrific electrical display. Countywide, the rains were extremely spotted. They did not amount in volume to the downpour in Big Spring but most sections received some moisture. There seemed to have been less rain in the extreme north part than elsewhere. Porter Hanks at Vealmoor said that only a few drops fell there. "The pickers are back in the cotton fields today," he said. Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said that he did not anticipate any heavy damage to cotton from the rain. In fact, it is possible the rains may have a value in excess of any damage they may have done. He said that anytime rain falls on cotton which is opened and ready for picking, some damage results. The lint is stained and the extent of the staining cuts the value of the crop. However, he said that at least one third of the county's record crop of cotton is still not opened. This cotton needed rain and will be benefited. Pastures will be helped. Grain will not be damaged, Taylor believes. There was some damage from the storm. The winds which roared in with the initial rains around 5 p.m. Sunday were of high force and the lightning which prevailed most of the evening was the most brilliant of any storm this year. Lightning struck one of the twin screens at the Sahara Drive-in theater and destroyed it. Electric service was broken and for an hour or longer parts of the town were in darkness. Flooding developed in some of the lower parts of town. Cars were stalled by high water on some streets. Limbs were battered off older trees. Leaves were stripped from other shrubbery by the wind and by the buckshot sized hail which accompanied the first downpour. Rainfall in town varied as sharp-

K Eases Up Treaty Deadline

BONN, Germany (AP)—Premier Khrushchev removed the end-of-the-year deadline for a treaty with East Germany in his talks with Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henry Spaak, diplomatic sources reported today. "Khrushchev reportedly told Spaak that the Soviet Union prefers slow negotiations to a quick war," these sources said.

home which is directly across the street from the scene of the crime. In his statement to officers, Bailey said his attempt at assault failed and that he killed his victim to prevent her identifying him later. Meantime, Jones and his investigator, Bobby West, are seeking legal proof of the youth's age. School records show him to be 15; however there is no birth certificate on file although he says he was born in Big Spring. Jones said that Bailey is a large boy physically and that he is possessed of good mental facilities. "He looks older than 15," Jones said. "It is important that we establish his age and my office intends to do so." Darland said that Bailey lived with his grandmother and two younger sisters. He pointed out that the boy's record shows he was picked up in August, 1960, and admitted a series of house burglaries. He was sent to the Gatesville reformatory for boys from which he was paroled on Jan. 11, 1961. Darland said that police records show three prior arrests of Bailey—July 9, 1960, Aug. 1, 1960, and Aug. 3, 1961. The last entry (prior to his arrest Saturday for the murder of Mrs. Hathcock) was for an attempted burglary of the George Melear residence. Darland said that Bailey has been conducting himself properly since his parole—with the exception of the Melear burglary attempt. "He has reported to me regularly," he said, "Robert has been attending school and making satisfactory grades. Contrary to reports, he has not been in a lot of trouble since he was paroled. We have kept a close watch on him and I know he has kept out of difficulty." Bailey said that the killing had been committed around 2 p.m. The elderly woman's body was found by her granddaughters, Mrs. Carolyn Martin and Mrs. Catherine Thompson when they came home from work at 8:15.

Telephone communication on rural lines was difficult Monday morning and a complete check of the county was not possible. Ackery reported a light rain. Snyder had 2.84 inches; Sweetwater 2.96, Morgan Creek and Colorado City, a trace; and Eskota .29. No report was available from Moss Creek Lake, Oosten Lake on the south edge of the city filled rapidly and for a few minutes lapped over the spillway—the first time it has been full in two years. The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported only a trace of rain at Lake J. B. Thomas. Its Martin County station measured half an inch. Midland had upwards of four inches, and Odessa none. The district shut down operations from 5:30 p.m. to midnight when power interruptions made pumping impractical, said O. H. Ivie, assistant manager-production.

Airliner Falls Into Harbor, No One Killed

BOSTON (AP) — A four-engine Astrojet 707 carrying 71 persons skidded off a runway Sunday and dropped into shallow water in the harbor.

No one aboard the American Airlines plane was killed. Small boats rescued those aboard within six minutes, an airline official said. Two passengers and a stewardess were treated at hospitals for minor injuries and released.

Airline officials said seat belts helped avert more serious injuries.

One man died of a heart attack rescuing passengers in a small boat.

NEAR DEATH SITE

The big plane slid into the water a few feet from the spot where it was making an instrument landing in the dark and overshot the 10,000-foot runway, an air line spokesman said.

The Astrojet's pilot, Capt. Ted Johnson of San Francisco, said: "I was making a normal approach. There was some fog. I landed on the runway a little farther up than I would have liked to and we skidded off the end."

"I realized we were going to crash when the plane overshot the runway," said Norman Bagley, 47, a Sacon, Maine, supermarket operator. "I thought as the wheels touched and then went up again. I knew we were going to pile up somewhere and I prayed for it to be in water."

SHAKEN UP

Stewardess Connie Forbes said some of the passengers were shaken up but there was no panic. The $5-million plane, its No. 1 and 2 engines torn off and its nose damaged, stopped in five or six feet of water. Four stewardesses led the passengers out on the wings.

Taken to the hospitals were Charles Ivanc, 28, Kenosha, Wis.; Lillian Rocheleau, 51, Westboro, Mass.; and a stewardess, Sheila Homan of Lowell, Mass., and Burlingame, Calif.

In addition to the 63 passengers and crew of 8, the plane also carried the body of William F. Richardson Jr. of San Francisco, being shipped to Northampton, Mass., for burial.

Most of the rescued were brought to the Orient Heights Yacht Club. It was during one about 50, of Bechmont, suffered such heat trip that Jack Luti, his fatal heart attack.

Susan Shefflin, 18, of Highland Park, Ill., a student returning to school in Boston, said Luti collapsed in his boat as it approached the yacht club.

Lou Fremi in the Mary Lou III said he took 30 off the plane and two other boats, the Four Brothers and the Rock Ay, brought in 25 between them.

Baby In Garbage Can

Mrs. Wilma M. Barber, a 25-year-old Houston dairy worker, was charged with assault to murder after her newborn child was found alive in a garbage can. Mrs. Barber, whose second husband left her a year ago, said she put the child in the garbage can because she didn't have money to take care of it. She gave birth to the child unaided. She has four other children.

CRISIS

By T. H. Terbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 200 West Highway 80, P.O. Box 1282.

In these ominous and fearful times, we would do well to remember there is no crisis with God. He is Almighty, Allwise, Eternal and present everywhere. There is no crisis with God; and those who stand with God need not be fearful, not even in these times.

"In the fear of the Lord is strong confidence; and His children shall have a place of refuge Prov. 14: 26.

Do you fear the Lord? Are you His child? These are the important questions!

How may you become a child of God? By faith. Not, however, by faith only. The following Scrip-

Heat, Rain Divide U.S.

By The Associated Press

Rain and drizzle persisted Sunday night along a cold front stretching from the Great Lakes to Texas. The nearly stationary mass of cool air appeared unable to push eastward into areas sweltering in record-breaking heat.

Tropical air over the eastern third of the country pushed temperatures into the 90s Sunday from Pennsylvania southwest to Texas. Presidio, Tex., was the hottest with a reading of 101 degrees.

Fog and drizzle covered the New England coast but skies were fair and the night was warm elsewhere in the East and Southeast. Early morning temperatures were in the 70s over much of the area.

Rains continued to drench the Chicago area, adding 3.40 inches over the weekend for September total of 11.72 inches. The previous September high was 8.97 inches in 1936.

High winds accompanied the rain in scattered areas of Illinois, Indiana and Missouri. A roof was torn from a gymnasium in Shelby County, Ind. Funnel clouds were sighted near Marissa, Ill., and Caldonia, Mo.

Two inches of rain, accompanied by large hail, flattened cotton fields near Big Spring, Tex.

Crash At Air Show Kills 3 'Chutists

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—An Air Force cargo plane carrying six daredevil Army parachutists lumbered clear of the runway Sunday, faltered, sleeted off to one side and fell to a fiery crash before a shocked air show crowd of some 100,000 persons.

Three servicemen died, 12 others aboard were injured—six seriously.

Onlookers gasped as firemen and rescuers rushed to the broken C123 to drag out the injured from the gaping holes in the fuselage. Three of four helicopters whirred out to the Hanover County airport. One hovered over the burning wreckage, the wash from its rotors beating back flames from two men in the cockpit.

The wife of a Civil Air Patrol officer, watching the CAP "Friendship Day" show on television from her mother's hospital room in Wilmington, dashed down to alert the emergency room and then began contacting blood donors. By helicopter and ambulance, rescuers brought in the casualties. The dead were Sgt. Robert T. Turner, an Army photographer from Ft. Bragg, N.C., home base of the sky divers; and two Air Force men, Capt. John E. Markel and T. Sgt. John Lesso, both of Nellis (Nev.) Air Force Base.

The injured included the six skydivers—Lt. James P. Pearson, recent winner of the world sky diving championship; M. Sgt. T. Hollis, Sgt. Joe E. Norman, Sgt. Wilfred J. A. Charrette, Spec. 5 Bobby Leibster and PFC. Robert McDonnell.

Others hurt were John Weston, a free lance photographer; Lt. William F. Maxey, Nellis Air Force Base, Bob Lemayne, Wilmington Star-News photographer; and three staff members of WECT-TV, photographer John McNeill, art director James Craig and salesman C. D. Martin. All are from Wilmington. Weston, who suffered a broken back and face injuries, said from his hospital bed: "I knew we were going to crash when we were about 300 feet up and the plane stalled. The pilot (Capt. Markel) apparently nosed down to pick up air speed and he started to bank to the left to get clear of the runway. He leveled off at 100 feet and attempted to pick up speed."

The plane was to have climbed to several thousand feet for the descent of the sky divers, members of a crack Army parachute team of about 50 men.

Maj. Kenneth Wooten said he was "utterly amazed by the orderliness of the crowd," which stayed put and did not hamper rescue operations. Maj. Wooten's wife was at the hospital when the crash was shown on television, and she spread the word to hospital personnel. About 300 people answered an appeal for blood donors and 50 pints were taken.

A surgeon said the action of Capt. Jack Armstrong, who kept his helicopter hovering over the wreckage, probably saved the lives of two men menaced by flames in the cockpit.

Border Crossing Spells Death

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — The government warned Sunday that persons crossing the Israeli border illegally do so at the risk of their lives.

The warning was issued after the Cabinet heard a report on two Gaza border incidents last week and subsequent antigovernment demonstrations.

A communique said the government is satisfied that three Arabs shot dead by security forces near the Gaza border last Sunday night and two others killed Monday night were trying to sneak into territory of the United Arab Republic.

A Devotional for Today

"Come unto me, all of you who are weary and overburdened, and I will give you rest!" (Matthew 11:28-Phillips.)
 "If anyone wants to follow . . . he must . . . take up his cross." (Matthew 16:24. Phillips.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we cast our doubts and cares upon Thee, for Thou carest for us. As we are anxious to lay down our burdens, help us with gratitude to take up the cross daily and follow Thee, that we lose not life, but have it more abundantly; through Christ our Savior. Amen.

The Wonder Of A Petition

The naive of legal petitions can be a source of wonder.
 For instance, Ralph L. Gilbert, who is serving a life sentence in the Texas prison system, has filed for a writ of habeas corpus in 118th District Court on the grounds that two detainer notices filed by the district attorney have blocked him from applying for parole.
 The petition alleges he is being "persecuted" on account of the development. So he wants the detainers withdrawn and two pending indictments against him here dismissed. In short, he complains about the permanence of his confinement.

And this from a man who admitted that he shot his benefactor in cold blood for the prospects of a few puny pieces of silver. What about the permanence of the judgment he inflicted upon an employer who had given him employment when much of society wouldn't?

Exemplary Record

To those who have followed his career all these years, the performance of Justice Zollic Steakley since his appointment by Gov. Price Daniel to the Texas Supreme Court has been no surprise.
 With the exception of one dissent (for purposes of consistency), the opinions written by Justice Steakley so far have won unanimous concurrence of other members of the court.
 Justice Steakley was reared at Sweetwater, attended Hardin-Simmons University, and was graduated from the University of Texas Law School, and then began his career of public service in his hometown. More recently he gave distinguished service as our secretary of state.

At every step, Justice Steakley has been admired not only for his unusual ability, but for his integrity, his Christian character, his warmth of heart. West Texans are proud of the record he is achieving.

David Lawrence Walker Case Affects Army Morale

WASHINGTON—What is more important than the morale of the American Army? If there is a war in which "conventional forces" are to carry the principal burden, what are the troops going to fight for?

No army is worth anything unless it has a fighting spirit—unless it is motivated by a deep feeling as to the righteousness of its cause. This applies both to officers and to men.

Yet we read from the pen of Hanson Baldwin, military expert of the New York "Times," as he writes from Augsburg in West Germany:

"FROM HIGH COMMAND to private first class, the Army in Europe has been deeply disturbed by the case of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker. Officers of all ranks, particularly the senior ones, deplore the manner in which the case was handled and feel that some fundamental elements of military justice and fair play were violated."

"At the direction of the Pentagon, prior plans to transfer General Walker to a Corps command in Texas with promotion to Lieutenant General were canceled. Since April, General Walker has been filling a colonel's billet as an assistant operations officer of the staff of General Bruce C. Clarke, Commander-in-Chief, United States Army Europe, with headquarters at Heidelberg."

MR. BALDWIN goes on to say that the reasons why many officers and men are dismayed "have nothing to do with the materials General Walker used or things he said in his anti-Communist program." Indeed, many officers said the general had become "too much of a single-minded zealot in his fight against communism."

But the Army is reported to have been "shocked first, by what it feels is the summary treatment given to a man who is generally regarded as an outstanding leader and soldier." He made a distinguished record in both World War II and the Korean War, and has been awarded many decorations. Under his leadership, the Twenty-Fourth Infantry Division and come to be judged as one of the top best divisions in the European area, if not in the whole Army.

THE ORIGINAL press release from the Pentagon, announcing General Walker's relief and transfer, was couched in such extreme terms that Mr. Baldwin was told, one senior commander refused to publish it. He felt it was an interference with the normal processes of military law and an interference with the chain of command. The wording of the release was subsequently altered. But the records of the Inspector General's investigation—like the minutes of a grand jury hearing, are confidential—were made public by the Pentagon. This is unprecedented. General Walker was not even given the right to read first the transcript of the testimony.

THE RECORDS of such investigations are traditionally for use only in a military court, where evidence is taken under oath and witnesses are subject to cross-examination. Supposing that the testimony of

BIG FROG IN A SMALL PUDDLE

Sam Dawson Some Plowshares From Our Swords

NEW YORK (AP)—A complete meal instantly prepared by the housewife as easily as a cup of coffee—thanks to the Army. Perishable food preserved without refrigeration—thanks to the Army. A low-cost helicopter for businessmen, a pill to swallow that will make mosquitoes fly away from you, a quality radio the size of a future pen for tomorrow's teen-agers.

All these future goodies and more are promised to consumers—presumably taxpayers all—as an extra dividend for the money being poured into research programs primarily aimed at military defense of the nation from its enemies.

SIX GENERALS and two colonels have presented these wonders at a meeting of the Aviation-Space Writers' Association as a reminder to taxpayers that civilians also frequently benefit from the research tied to the defense program, now in the process of being expanded.

A classic example is the aerosol bomb, originally developed to spray insecticides during World War II in the South Pacific, and now used for a long list of civilian goods from shaving soap to whipped cream.

Another is the millions of dollars poured into the development of military jet transports which made economically feasible the jet airliners civilians use today.

Civilian benefits still to come include many other wonders. New plastic tubing developed by the Army Medical Corps can replace torn arteries in arms and legs. Heretofore it has been used only in the trunk of the body. Military scientists also are working on an oral drug to combat malaria and on nitrogen-mustard treatment of cancer.

BRIG. GEN. Clifton F. von Kann, director of Army aviation, says that because the Army will need more than 3,500 turbine-powered, four-passenger helicopters, the mass production method should mean that by 1964 civilians can get one for less than $25,000. Businessmen can use them, or they can be used as air taxis, commuter transports or for farm chores.

Maj. Gen. William D. Hamill of the Army Signal Training Command says he has seen research models of high quality radio receivers as small as fountain pens. Small TV and radio sets may come from use of tiny electronic micro-modules one-tenth the size of present day miniaturized circuits.

A complete dehydrated meal, ready to eat after being mixed with hot water, is being developed by the Army's Quartermaster Corps. And Brig. Gen. Merrill L. Tribe of the QM Research and Engineering Command says they are studying a method of preserving perishable food without refrigeration.

The oral insect repellent under development by the Medical Corps is guaranteed to offend only mosquitoes and such and to go unnoticed by other humans—this on the word of Col. Colin Vorder Bruegge of the Army Medical and Research Command.

Don't get the idea all those millions of tax dollars are being voted with just civilian comfort in mind. They're being spent for military research into electronics, chemistry, medicine, aviation, meteorology and transportation.

But you never know when some of the research will come up with things that civilians can use, too—like that wartime aerosol device now used to spray hair set on the blondes and redheads and brunettes you know.

Hal Boyle Where The Snipe Flies

NEW YORK (AP)—When you are young, sometimes you reach to knowledge exceeds your grasp. Your reading can confuse you with reality.

I would like to tell you an experience of my own that taught me an unforgettable lesson. Never trust a country boy if that is all he can brag about.

Mother in tears—I didn't cry—came down to wave me farewell as I stormed aboard a train that would carry me 45 miles from Kansas City to the Missouri River to Lexington on the same river.

It was the summer of my ignorance and I went to where my father was born—where his father from Ireland before him had dug soft coal and raised 14 children. To me it was all new. I was the son of one of the youngest sons of the family. My father had built a business—a grocery store.

My hostess was my father's sister, whose husband then still dug coal. My father loved her dearly as he did all his sisters and brothers. My aunt had 10 kids, double what I was used to at home.

Being from Kansas City, I was amazed at the ceiling. I was even more surprised to find that the raisins had wings and were flying. That's the welcome you got in the old soil coal days.

Well, my country cousins played the usual tricks that rural egotism employs, such as getting you to mix stale chocolates and chewing tobacco, then gnaw a live elm hole for relief.

That was part of your belonging. I didn't mind the tricks—except one. That was when as a child away from home I was invited to hold the bag in a snipe hunt. The idea was that the victim held a penny sack before a lighted candle and waited for a snipe to leap across the light into the bag.

One of the reasons I held the bag before the candle so earnestly and so long was that I had read in nature study books there was a bird called the snipe. I was willing to believe, although I hadn't met one in Missouri.

As I held the empty bag in the lonely dark with the night gathering in my heart, I knew I would never believe as much as I had before. But in the years since then I have gone a snipe farther. There is a snipe. There was a snipe then. And I have been where the snipe flies.

To Your Good Health Causes Of Amenorrhea Are Many

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Dr. Molner: Would you comment on the condition called amenorrhea — Mrs. L. F."

Amenorrhea, very simply, means absence of menstrual periods at any age at which they should be occurring.

There is a common notion that lack of periods is harmful. This is not so — although, to be sure, amenorrhea does indicate that something may be wrong. The underlying cause may, or may not, be an indication of ill health.

Pregnancy, naturally, is a normal cause for absence of menstruation, and periods may be absent in the early months of nursing. But beyond these normal causes of amenorrhea, is a wide and varied array of others.

In a young girl, amenorrhea may be due to some abnormality, perhaps some malformation of ovaries or uterus. And then again, everything may be perfectly all right. It is not at all uncommon for periods to start at the usual age (from 13 to 15) and then stop for a few months, after which the human mechanism adjusts and everything becomes normal.

At menopause amenorrhea may occur from two to perhaps six months or so. It's part of the process of stopping.

Emotional disturbances can also affect regularity of periods. For a few of the many possible situations, girl students may experience such upsets due to homesickness, worry over exams, or maybe over-spending their allowances before they get the hang of budgeting. Shock or fright can be involved.

I've known of individuals who, otherwise in perfect health, had a natural cycle that left gaps of two, three or six months between periods. This is rare, but it happens. And I dare say that in such cases, if we went into sufficiently careful studies, we would find some abnormality to account for the situation. But, after all, if the individual is in perfectly good health otherwise, why fuss?

Still another cause of amenorrhea is obesity. This isn't surprising, because obesity can result in many problems, both physical and emotional.

If no developmental defects are present in amenorrhea, evaluation of the glandular situation is in order. Sometimes thyroid extract is needed. Again, what is called "cyclic therapy" is used. For this, hormones are given periodically. Often the cycles are re-established and carry on without additional treatment. In other instances, if a more profound pituitary or ovarian failure is at fault, little can be expected of treatment.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What harm, if any, can come from the use of one 50 mg. tablet of thiamine hydrochloride every 24 hours? — O. S."

None.

Around The Rim Roast Beef And Apple Pie

One thing and another: Nothing tastes better to the average American than roast beef, tossed salad and apple pie.

So researchers for the National Restaurant Association have learned.

SECOND CHOICE is fried chicken, followed by roast turkey.

Donald Greenaway, executive vice president of the association, is so bold as to predict a change in tastes during the next ten years.

Greenaway contends that we will be wanting fine sauces, tabbouleh and delicate herb seasonings within that time.

HERE WE ARE preparing to use electrical impulses to shoot a man to the moon and we can't even keep our street lights burning in my neighborhood when it thunders.

I LIKE the way Representative Wayne Hays (Dem., Ohio) handles abusive or irrational correspondence — and the solons, no doubt, get plenty of it.

Hays' formula is to send this note to the writer: "Dear sir: Twice in the last week some crackpot has written me a letter and signed your name to it. I thought you ought to know about it before he gets out of hand."

IN AN ENGLISH court not long ago, a Sikh who was to give evidence refused to take the oath unless the court produced his holy book, the Granth, and two cow's tails.

Some months ago, a Chinese chef in London took the oath by breaking a dish with his fist. The court's proceedings were postponed until the chef's hand could be stitched up by a physician.

The aforementioned has provoked a debate in the House of Commons to change the Oaths Act of 1888 to affirm in court instead of taking the oath on the Holy Bible.

Quite possibly, the method for swearing in a witness will be altered. The Commonwealth is susceptible to the winds of change.

Grand Wedding, Even In Depression

It was a flossy wedding, all right, with all the trimmings from orchids to champagne. The society pages of the New York papers duly noted that the bride had worn her mother's exquisite wedding gown designed especially for her in 1931 by the late, great Monsieur X, one of America's most distinguished couturiers.

A FEW DAYS after the wedding, when the mother of the bride and I were lunching, I mentioned the bridal gown, its classic simplicity and the extraordinarily beautiful satin from which it was made.

"Yes, it's a beautiful gown and this time we could afford it," said Fran, for whom the dress had been designed 30 years ago. "But in 1931, it almost ruined my wedding."

"Give," I said, and settled back to hear the story of the 1931 bride that almost ruined a wedding.

"IT ALMOST DRIVES me crazy when the children come home from school and say 'Mother, tell us about the depression. What was it like?'" Fran started off. "To Mary (the 1961 bride), the depression is just an historic blur, like the Magna Carta or the Boston Tea Party."

"But nothing will ever be more real to our generation than the depression," Fran continued as I nodded. "When Jack and I got engaged 30 years ago, our two families scarcely had a sou between them. Before the depression, both had been comfortably well-off. On paper, I guess they were downright rich."

"BUT THE depression ended all that. Both our families had scraped bottom. At least in our home, the pawn tickets kept growing. Jack had graduated from college in 1930. He was among the lucky few who got a job, and with a big, substantial firm. By deciding that two could live as cheaply as one, we figured we could barely get by on his depression salary."

"I was so much in love that I didn't care a straw when Mother and Dad said that a 'real' wedding was out of the question."

"THE BEST they could afford, they explained, was a simple ceremony at home for the members of both families. I was lucky enough to get a job as an office girl when I had quit college, and I was saving to buy a new suit in which to be married."

"There was only one 'frill' Jack and I longed for, but it was so completely out of reach we scarcely mentioned it. We longed for a Bermuda honeymoon. But in 1931, it was out of the question, until the day my father came home with another pawn ticket and without his dress studs. 'I want you kids to have a honeymoon to remember,' he said. 'There's enough money here for Bermuda.'"

"SO EVERYTHING seemed settled — until our engagement was announced. Then no sooner did it appear in print than Monsieur X, who was a great friend of my grandfather, came to call. He reminded the family that the day I was born he had promised Grandfather, over a glass of champagne in the old Waldorf bar, that he would design for me the loveliest wedding gown in the world."

"Without further ado, to the despair of myself and my parents, Monsieur X carried me off to his shop and designed the dress you saw on Mary. It was his masterpiece. But even though the gown was his loving gift, we could not afford it or even the accessories, much less the wedding such a dress demands."

"FOR TWO WEEKS, I went to the fittings as to the galleys. As the magnificence of the gown grew, so did our gloom at home. What in the world were we to do with this real white-satin elephant?"

"Then Jack dashed into our house late one afternoon, really bursting with excitement. The president of the company had called him in and told him that the firm's wedding present would be payment in full for a honeymoon. And where did Jack and I wish to go?"

"IT WAS NOTHING less than a reprieve! Father's evening studs paid not for a honeymoon but for a wedding at least partially commensurate with the gown. Finally, 30 years later, Mary's wedding gave it the setting it really deserved. Now, I have packed that gown away for a future granddaughter — to whom the depression, in all probability, will be as remote as the Pyramids."

Holmes Alexander Answering Khrushchev's Challenge

Holmes Alexander is on a brief European vacation. During his absence a number of prominent and interesting guests will contribute columns.

By SEN. HUBERT H. HUMPHREY, (D-Minn.)

WASHINGTON—Holmes Alexander is a conservative. I am a liberal. Many of his readers and my friends were thus surprised recently when he selected me as "Senator of the Year." And their surprise may turn to wonder when they see that Mr. Alexander invited me to write a guest article for his column.

Respect would be a more appropriate reaction than surprise. Mr. Alexander is a man with a distinct viewpoint, but he is unafraid of the expression of a conflicting viewpoint. His presentation of my record and my ideas serve to emphasize his responsibility and fairness as a journalist.

I TAKE THIS opportunity to thank him, and to thank the hundreds of his readers who wrote to me in response to his column about my work in the Senate.

None.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and would like to know if it is all right to take reducing pills.—J. L."

A 15-year-old has no business taking reducing pills unless under the direction of a physician who finds some unusual condition. Proper eating, avoiding nibbling, and adequate exercise will do more good. What do you want: a drug-induced temporary weight reduction, or establishment of living habits that will keep weight correct for life?

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his leaflet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

trated only by Americans and their allies.

The second goal is to rally his own people to additional sacrifices in the coming months and years.

The third goal is to make it appear that American leadership is lagging in peaceful planning and is concentrating only on stepping up the arms race.

KHRUSHCHEV will continue to embrace on his theme of a Communist utopia, not only for the people of Russia but also for the peoples of Latin America, Asia and Africa.

We cannot underestimate the force of this new psychological offensive. To hundreds of millions of people in the world who have nothing, Khrushchev's plans could be tremendously attractive.

We should let the world know that we welcome this kind of competition. And we must recognize that the Soviets are capable of making some strides toward their goals.

The strength of America and the free world does not rest on guns alone. Those who are now so ready to shortchange the great programs of progress in America in the name of national defense fall to see the true nature of the struggle with Communism.

We can and must afford both defense and progress. It is time for our nation to recognize this fact, and to face the need to finance both.

Though we arm, we also work. Though we spend new billions for weapons, we will not forget our basic purpose: To build, to create, to improve, to progress.

National Council Up For Debate

DETROIT (AP)—A clash over the conduct of the National Council of Churches moved toward a showdown today at the Episcopal general convention.

Up for consideration in the House of Deputies, the lay-clerical chamber of the bicameral church congress, were several resolutions aimed at curbing the council, or severing ties with it.

The council, an interdenominational cooperative body made up of representatives of 33 denominations with nearly 40 million members, includes most of the nation's major Protestant, Orthodox and non-Roman Catholic bodies.

It has been under running fire from various individuals and groups in the country, some of whom accuse it of being too easy on communism, although the council has repeatedly denounced communism.

One of the regular accusers, The Rev. Carl McIntire, Collinswood, N.J., "Bible Presbyterian," showed up here, distributing an "Episcopalian packet" denouncing the council.

The packet also contained articles condemning church reunion moves, and charging some Episcopal leaders with heretical teachings.

The approximately 900 voting delegates to the convention also have been bombarded with similar literature from sources in a dozen cities in Arizona, Louisiana, Texas, Ohio, California and elsewhere.

Mailings of such material were received by all delegates before they came here. Some of it also contained racial segregationist leaflets.

J. Irwin Miller, the Columbus, Ind., diesel engine manufacturer who is president of the council, flew into town last week, and hit back at some of the charges being circulated.

"There are no Communists in the National Council of Churches any more than there are in the American Bankers Association. I am a member of both and they're not there, and they're not in Rotary or other groups. Why do people pick on one and not the other?" he said.

The campaign against the council has produced tensions in several denominational conventions recently, including demands for withdrawal.

However, in each case where the issue boiled to the floor, the Methodist Church, the United Presbyterian Church, the American Baptist Church, and others have stuck with the council, and commended it.

DEAR ABBY

Put Her In Reverse, Son

DEAR ABBY: I am 19, in the Service in Korea and in trouble. I have less than four months to go here, but I almost hate to go home. I have been writing to two girls in the States who expect to marry me when I return.

I have dated both of them, but have never discussed marriage with either one. (But I did get carried away in some of my letters.) One of the girls wrote that she will be "ready" when I get home. I would like to know what she will be ready for. The other girl wrote that we could live with her parents until I got a job and we could get a place of our own. Both girls are attractive and intelligent, but I don't want to marry either one. What do I do now?

APO No. 20
DEAR APO: Since you "proposed" to both girls by mail, you had better do some creative writing fast. Tell them both that because marriage is a permanent step, before they make any plans they should wait until you get home. Put a chill on both deals now, or, when you get home, the quiet of Korea will look good to you.

DEAR ABBY: You brought up an interesting subject in the case of the husband who refused to wear a wedding ring. I think all married people should be forced by law to wear identification of their married status. Then single girls would not be taken in by two-timing husbands, and vice versa.

micks are no substitute for science and morality. A wedding ring doesn't always stop the "circulation."

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your reply to Mrs. Citizen that "many mothers, in their well-meaning eagerness to make their daughters popular, encourage them to grow up too fast."
Thank heaven my mother was wiser than that. I am 18 and am a freshman at college. When I started my teens I was far from the first girl in my crowd to wear make-up, nylon and heels. I didn't get to go to all the parties, and was never Miss Popularity or anything near it. At first it bothered me, but I soon found out there were more rewarding things, such as the faith my parents had in me to live by their high standards. I don't smoke and they know I won't. I don't drink and they trust me not to start. They never doubt my word because they know I wouldn't deceive them. Although I think your advice is very good, Abby, I am glad I never had to ask for it.

Love,
BONNIE

DA Unhappy With Laws On Youth Crimes

Gil Jones, district attorney, voiced extreme dissatisfaction Monday with the laws of the state which deal with juveniles implicated in crimes of extreme violence.

"We can protect ourselves," he said, "against the attacks of adult killers but we have no protection at all against juveniles."

He added that he has long been unhappy with the provision of the law which precludes prosecution of a juvenile as an adult for capital crimes where the offender is under the age of 17.

"I have been district attorney in Howard County for seven years, he said. "In that period I have had to deal with nine homicides in which the killers were juveniles."

In each, I have had to stand aside and permit the killer to be removed to the state reformatory and evade punishment for his deed. I have observed hundreds of other offenses, not quite as serious but of great importance, where the same situation prevailed.

"I suppose in the seven years I have been district attorney, I have had a part in the investigation of 40 or 50 homicides.

"For a fifth — perhaps a fourth — of such crimes to have been perpetrated by juveniles is far too many."

"It is high time that the state take a new hard look at the laws dealing with the handling of juveniles. And it is time that those in authority recognize the threat to the public offered by unrestrained juveniles of the caliber of those I have had to handle in these nine cases.

"The laws need revising. I intend to press for such revision."

Governors Pass Political Issues

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A threat to push the states rights-segregation issue to the forefront of the Southern Governors' Conference collapsed today as the chief executives of 15 states took to less controversial topics.

their own troops and governed by their own agents."

But to make the United States position clear, he asserted: "No such action can affect either our rights or our responsibilities."

He said the Western powers cannot surrender the freedom of West Berlin or their commitments in Germany.

FRAUD

"A peace treaty" which would destroy the peace would be a fraud," he said. "A free city" which would suffocate freedom would be an infamy."

The Western Allies "have calmly resolved to defend, by whatever means are forced upon them their obligations and their access to the free citizens of West Berlin and the self-determination of those citizens," Kennedy said.

"Firmness and reason," rather than brandishing or yielding to threats, can lead to a peaceful solution, he said. Kennedy held out hope for peaceful solution to the 99 nations represented in the United Nations who have grown alarmed at the hazardous situation in divided Berlin.

He said troops and tanks can for a time divide a nation against its will.

"But we believe a peaceful agreement is possible which protects the freedom of West Berlin and Allied presence and access, while recognizing the historic and legitimate interests of others in assuring European security."

WEATHER

at the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College during flooding of the lower end of the Monticello Addition but all had returned home before 10 p.m.

Some 25-30 volunteers assisted in Civil Defense work with the Sea Scouts, radio communications and MARS units, Berry said.

Several policemen volunteered to work extra during the brief period of danger, according to Jay Banks, police chief.

"Some men came on duty early and others stayed late to help out," he said.

Several police cars were temporarily stalled during the flooding, but none were even in serious trouble. Vehicles from the Public Works Department and wreckers from the wrecking companies assisted with stalled cars.

"Everyone co-operated and there was no great danger. Fortunately the rain let up before the flooding got serious. If it had rained much longer we could have had some people in real trouble," Banks said.

Firemen were kept busy with eight calls and frequently had no time to return to the home station between calls during the height of the electrical storm.

At about 8:10 p.m. lightning struck a switch box at 209 E. 19th and entered the house through a closet causing heavy fire damage. This was the only serious fire damage outside the loss of the north screen at the Sahara Drive In Theater on US 80 west, according to Fire Chief H. V. Crocker.

The screen was struck at about 8:15 p.m. and despite heavy rains, it was almost totally burned. Firemen were unable to put out the blaze.

A car belonging to Clyde Angel, 706 Hillside, caught fire at 1103 E. 15th at about 8:15 p.m. Its cause can be attributed indirectly to the storm, but the car was not struck by lightning.

"The motor drowned out and when I was trying to start it the carburetor caught fire," Angel said.

There were nine extra firemen on duty during the period of severe storm. Two men were in a boat at the KBST tower for about one hour to keep water from entering the station.

Other calls made by firemen were to check out electrical shorts caused by lightning. They were at Lewis Five and Ten, 503 Lamesa Highway; Driver Implement Co., Lamesa Highway, 1003 Abrams, 516 Dallas and 706 Tulane.

Wires were reported down and Texas Electric Service Company men were out during most of the storm keeping power available wherever possible.

Man Injured In Assault

Lawrence E. Ferguson, 1603 Main, was taken to the Howard County Hospital Saturday night with several cuts on his face and head.

Patrolman Bob Smith said that witnesses reported another man walked up to Ferguson, who was on the band stand at the Night Hawk Cafe and struck him over the head with a bottle. He also stated that the doctor took 23 stitches to close some of the cuts, but that Ferguson was not seriously injured.

Ferguson's assailant was taken to the police station and charged with drunkenness, aggravated assault, and disturbance.

Ferguson told police that he had never seen the man before.

"He just walked up, without saying a word, and hit me," he said.

A call from an address on Aylford street, at 11:23 p.m. Saturday, said someone was trying to break a front door down to get in a residence. Police arrested a man and charged him with drunkenness. He told them he was trying to locate his employer.

Shed Burned

Firemen answered a call to the Casey Packing Co. plant on Snyder Highway at 8 a.m. Sunday. A rendering shed was burned down, and firemen said the blaze was caused by fire from the rendering pot.

Medical Checks Taken At Webb AFB, Armory

Eighty-one men of Battery A of the 3rd Artillery Howitzer Battalion, 132nd Artillery of the 49th Armored Division received their physical examinations Sunday at the National Guard Armory and at Webb AFB hospital.

Results of the examinations will be known probably Wednesday or Thursday, Sgt. Donald Hedges said Monday morning.

"We will have to wait for laboratory reports from the base hospital, and that will take two or three days," he said.

Capt. Dewie Stevenson, commanding officer of the local battery, and his men spent about eight and a half hours Sunday, with the noon mess being served at the armory under field conditions.

The physicals were regulation type for men going into combat duty, and given by Air Force Medical men.

"The men were briefed on information received by Capt. Stevenson up to now," Sgt. Hedges said. "We have not yet received orders on the members of many for advance movement to Fort Polk, La., so we are standing by."

Many of the men in the 49th had planned to take their families to the area, but with bulletins stating that no provisions were made to take care of them, most of the men have cancelled such plans. Some of the batteries have been assigned to Fort Polk, and some to other areas for training after mobilization on Oct. 15.

The men from Big Spring and Colorado City, who make up Battery A, are making arrangements, for their mobilization and call-up, but those who may have to make the ready trip are still uncertain about the time they will leave, Hedges said.

Extra time training sessions will be carried out as ordered two weeks ago, including an additional Sunday.

A portion of the physical examinations, where laboratory facilities were not needed, were given Sunday morning at the armory. The trek to the WAFB hospital began at 12:30 p.m. and completed around 3 p.m.

The men went about their duties calmly, and with the appearance of seriousness. They did not have the appearance of glumness while awaiting their turns at the hospital, but there was not too much horseplay.

"Wait a minute and let me wipe this smile off my face," one sergeant said to a photographer. "I don't want my wife to see my picture in the paper with a big grin on it. I'm not scared about going but do hate to leave my family behind."

Equipment of the battery is ready for moving out, Hedges said, and will be in good shape for use when needed.

Seminar's Attendance Is Praised

The Freedom Seminar, sponsored by the Big Spring Rotary Club Saturday in the city auditorium, was attended by persons from all over the west Texas area, James Cape, chairman of the arrangements committee said Monday morning.

"We have not had time yet to check the registrations," he said, "but the peak attendance seemed to run around 300 persons. There were times when there were from 40 to 70 in the auditorium, but many came for some of the sessions and had to leave. We estimate that there were around 400 who came and went. There were also many who did not register."

Cape said the response was excellent and that comments made by many attending indicated their interest in more such seminars.

The spread of Communism, its history and how to combat it, were given by W. P. (Bill) Strube Jr., through the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade with headquarters in Houston.

"There are few subjects of more importance than the spread of Communism today," Strube said, "yet it would be difficult to find one on which the average person is less informed."

"To a great extent this lack of information is understandable. For some years it was considered unwise for a person to know too much about Communism for fear that he or she might be suspected of Communist tendencies. As a result a void has existed on a subject that has a great bearing on the future of this country and the world. Today it is smart to be informed on the philosophy of Communism, which is really an ideal instead of a religion or political party, and its meaning to the world."

"Like all menaces it cannot be combated successfully unless the people know and understand its insidious workings," Strube said.

In addition to the talks, several films showing the result of Communist spread in other countries, and its utter lack of progressiveness as far as the people are concerned, were shown.

Cape said more information would be available to Big Spring and area people soon in the form of forums scheduled to be sponsored by the Jaycees.

Cairo Pushes Socialization

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Cairo newspapers published Sunday details of a new presidential decree requiring personnel of nationalized industries to declare publicly the wealth of themselves, their wives and children over the past 10 years.

The decree is directed at Egyptian managerial and white collar classes.

It is a further step in socialization plans that have now effectively nationalized all industry. The maximum income allowed from all sources is now limited to $28,000 and salaries above $4,200 must be approved by special presidential decree.

Troublesome Pest

To most Texans the kangaroo is an interesting animal seen in zoos, but in Australia it is the chief pest for ranchmen (graziers, in the down under country). Born just a little larger than a mouse, these pouched mammals grow to a height of six to seven feet.

IN AUSTRALIA

Kangaroo Is Just A Great Big Pest

By HOUSTON HARTE
ST. GEORGE, Queensland—The Australian station owner has had to contend with three problems which are peculiar to this country alone. With great effort, he has overcome two of these and he has hopes for victory over the others. Australia's graziers have had to fight:

1. Prickly Pear
2. Rabbits
3. Kangaroos

The pear and the rabbits have been licked. It is hard to believe the stories you hear about these pests. The pear made worthless millions of acres of land in New South Wales and Queensland when pastoral activities had just started to become extremely profitable.

Station after station almost closed down from the ever increasing growth of pear over the fertile land of these two states. West Texans can take pride in the fact that experiments conducted in the vicinity of Uvalde are given credit in this far away land for finding the secret of the bacterial curb and cure for cactus.

GARDEN PLANT

Prickly pear originally was brought to Australia as an exotic garden plant. From Sydney a pot plant was taken to Northern New South Wales. This ultimately was thrown out of the house, then thrown out of the garden and eventually literally took over millions of acres of good grazing country. Graziers were forced out of sheep and then forced out of cattle.

In the early 1900s it was discovered by the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization that there was a small beetle of the cochineal family which lived in South America, which was a parasite of prickly pear.

There were several varieties of this beetle and because one variety was a parasite of the other variety, the beetles had to be segregated and the one that was a parasite of prickly pear obtained, without introducing the other varieties.

This segregation was done at the U. S. Department of Entomology station near Uvalde by Dr. D. C. Farman and others including entomologists sent to Texas from Australia. The station has been discontinued and Dr. Farman is now retired but lives at Uvalde.

SAVED BY BEETLES

The pure prickly pear parasite beetles were then brought to Australia and introduced into the millions of acres of pear infested country. Slowly at first, then at a gradually accelerated rate, the Cactoblastic beetle eradicated the pear and saved Australia from this pest.

Rabbits presented another grazer and farming problem which was peculiar to Australia.

For years one of the worst pests throughout the whole of the Commonwealth were rabbits. Various ways were tried to eradicate them, including trapping and poisoning. It was a losing battle until the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization in the late 1940s, developed a virus disease which was peculiarly effective on rabbits and nothing else.

It was released throughout the Commonwealth in 1950. Within three months, wherever it was released, 90 per cent of the rabbits were dead. It was the year of the great "stink" in the land. Only those who lived in the rabbit infested area can understand what an olfactory event this was. But the rabbits were dead and there was feed again for sheep and cattle.

During the year previous to the release of Mexamotosis, 5,000 rabbits a week were trapped and sold for their carcasses or their skins on one small property of 15,000 acres. Following the use of Mexamotosis only odd rabbits were seen and none was killed or trapped by manpower. However, there now seem to be small colonies of rabbits developing which are immune to the virus. The Commonwealth is working on a new method of attack.

KANGAROO MENACE

Another menace to the grazer and his beasts is the kangaroo. Some station operators say a kangaroo will eat as much as three or four sheep. Others say he will eat twice as much as a sheep, but at the same time, spoil twice as much as a sheep would eat. In addition, they are terrific smashers and breakers of fences.

In some areas it is known to be a fact that the kangaroo population outnumbers the sheep population two to one. This is based on the fact that on one property of 17,000 acres near St. George carrying 6,000 sheep, 15,000 kangaroos were shot for their carcass meat in three months by three men.

During the last two years, quite a substantial business has developed by the shooting of kangaroos for their low-grade carcass meat. This is exported to Germany, Japan and the United States. The meat is used for pet food.

Small boning-out works have sprung up in several of the small country towns of Queensland. This meat is then sent by refrigerated vans to the seaports, loaded straight onto the export market.

WORK FOR SHOOTERS

The average carcass, minus gut, legs, arms, tail and head, weighs 50 to 60 pounds (a large one weighs 120 pounds). This would bring the shooter three cents a pound—that is, a dollar and a quarter for the carcass. A good professional shooter, using spotlights, is able to shoot and deliver 50 kangaroos a night. A station hand, shooting Friday and Saturday nights, is able to deliver 50 over the weekend. It is hard work but it is a sizable supplement to his wages.

The Commonwealth is investigating the possibilities of developing and releasing a virus in the same manner as they did for the rabbit program, but so far, nothing has come of this.

The kangaroo is as native to Australia as the aborigines. They are found nowhere else. Aside from his hide and what meat is used for pet food, he is a worthless troublesome pest. Almost as prolific as the rabbit, the kangaroo has a period of gestation of only 30 days. This monster mammal of seven feet in height is born just a little larger than a mouse. The young fastens itself on a teat in its mother's pouch and stays there until it weighs 25 to 30 pounds.

Kangaroos run in mobs. In the more settled sections, they scatter in bunches of a couple of dozens, but in the northern territory and Western Australia, as many as 150 to 200 can be seen at once.

'Free Publicity' For Nixon Charged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Roger Kent, chairman of California's Democratic State Central Committee, says James C. Hagerty and the American Broadcasting Company plan to give Richard M. Nixon $100,000 worth of free publicity Wednesday night.

Hagerty says, "Mr. Kent has been misinformed."

Hagerty, who was former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's press secretary, now is news director of ABC.

Former Vice President Nixon is expected to announce Wednesday night whether he plans to campaign for the Republican nomination for governor of California.

In telegrams to Hagerty and the Federal Communications Commission Sunday, Kent demanded "equal time—a full 30 minutes—to be provided by each and every one of the 400 television and radio stations owned by or affiliated with the ABC network throughout the United States on exactly the same basis that these stations participate in coverage of the Nixon broadcast under arrangements ordered by you (Hagerty) as chief of the ABC news division.

"It is our position that the Nixon broadcast is in no sense a legitimate national news event and that by extending nationwide coverage to it in your capacity as chief of the ABC news division your network becomes an organ of partisan politics serving Nixon's attempt to rebuild his bankrupt political fortunes and feed his still-burning presidential ambition."

Hagerty told San Francisco newspapers by telephone that Nixon's news conference Wednesday night will get only regional live coverage over the ABC network.

Hagerty said Kent "has every right to say what he wants to about Mr. Nixon and me personally, but he has no right to tell me how to report or run a news story."

Passenger Train Slammed By Freight, 20 Injured

BAY, Ark. (AP) — A freight train derailed and slammed into a passenger train parked on a siding Sunday night, injuring at least 20 persons.

There were no deaths reported, but attendants at a Jonesboro, Ark., hospital where the injured were taken said at least five of them were critical.

Thurman Adam, a porter, said a hotbox caused a wheel to fly off one of the freight cars as the freight rumbled by the motionless passenger train.

Adam said in the chain reaction that followed about 20 of the freight's 88 cars left the tracks. Some piled atop the overturned passenger train. The engine of the passenger train was knocked into a nearby cotton field.

Frisco officials said the passenger train was knocked into a nearby cotton field.

The secret is—Primatens combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose. So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms. Primatens only 98¢, at any drugstore.

ger train had been switched to a siding to allow the freight to pass. They said the freight had slowed to about 15 miles an hour. Passengers said they saw some of the freight cars start to move sideways on the track as the freight train "just started coming apart."

"It was terrible. I just don't know what happened," one of the injured said at Jonesboro. "There was a big noise and then all the lights went out."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Georgia Gibbs Not Slinky Type

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "They say clothes make the man. Well I think clothes make the woman, too," her nibs, Miss Georgia Gibbs declared. "When I first started my career, I lost some jobs because of the way I dressed. I am a little over five feet, and I thought that if I wore platform soles and long skirts with an unbroken line, I would look taller. But let's face it, I'm not the slinky type, and a person can't get anywhere trying to be something she's not."
"It is not easy for a small girl to find the right clothes so I began to design what I wanted and found a little dressmaker who accepted my ideas. I wore my evening dresses full and short. I studied myself from every angle and learned how to make the most of what I had."
"There are a few fundamental tricks all small girls can follow. Analyze your figure and then try to fool the eye. Now to make my waistline seem longer, I have by belts designed with a little point in the back and in the front."

"The length of your skirt is very important. It must be in proportion to the rest of your body. I feel that you can't ignore a major trend, but you can adapt it. I don't like knees showing on anyone especially a small woman."
"My neck is on the short side," Georgia continued, "and I never crowd it with collars or jewelry. I leave the line unbroken and I find a V-neck very flattering."
"I'm crazy about clothes. They are my hobby. I go to Europe to see the collections after doing my yearly act at Monte Carlo. I have most of my clothes made in New York except my suits and coats and these I buy in Paris. The French finish a garment beautifully. You could actually wear them inside out. And how they hold their shape! I can wear them year after year."
"Unless money is no object," Georgia concluded, "you should avoid an extreme style for it will be dead after one season. But if you have a 'nose' for fashion, you can catch a new trend — such as the sloping shoulders and loose jacket—and be in style for six or seven years."

Decorate Mobile Home For A Cheerful Look

How do you decorate a mobile home? More than 1,200,000 of these transient units now are called home by retired couples, army personnel, young married people and others who find them a great convenience.
Decorator consultant Betty Jennings says the main object should be to make the mobile home cheerful and durable through the use of color and proper materials. A typical decorating scheme she has suggested to manufacturers includes oak plywood walls, dark textured brown couch, bright orange small chair, dark taupe carpet.
"Since the kitchen can be seen from the living area, it's a good idea to carry the accent color from the living room into the kitchen," she points out.

She uses sheer orange curtains and other accessories, and the same living room wall paneling for kitchen cabinets.

The bathroom is likely to be in a pastel color or white. She prefers white.

"I choose light colors as much as possible because dark woods and dark colors tend to make the area look smaller. One can use accents of darker colors, perhaps on one wall. Bright colors may be used in small-scale furniture. The new print-grain panelings are very attractive."

A mobile home may be from 10 x 45 feet to 10 x 60. It is transported by truck rather than by car, and it is dropped on cinder blocks where it will tie up to electricity, septic tank and other home conveniences. The industry estimates more than 3½ million people now live in them.

Young married couples who invest in mobile homes at a cost of from $5,000 to $10,000 frequently add another unit when the family grows. Then something is built in between, a glassed-in area, that can serve many useful purposes.

"Many mobile homes have extendable flooring and sides, often telescoping out as much as 20 feet. When the living room and bedroom is extended in this way, some home owners add a screened-in porch between the sections," Betty says.

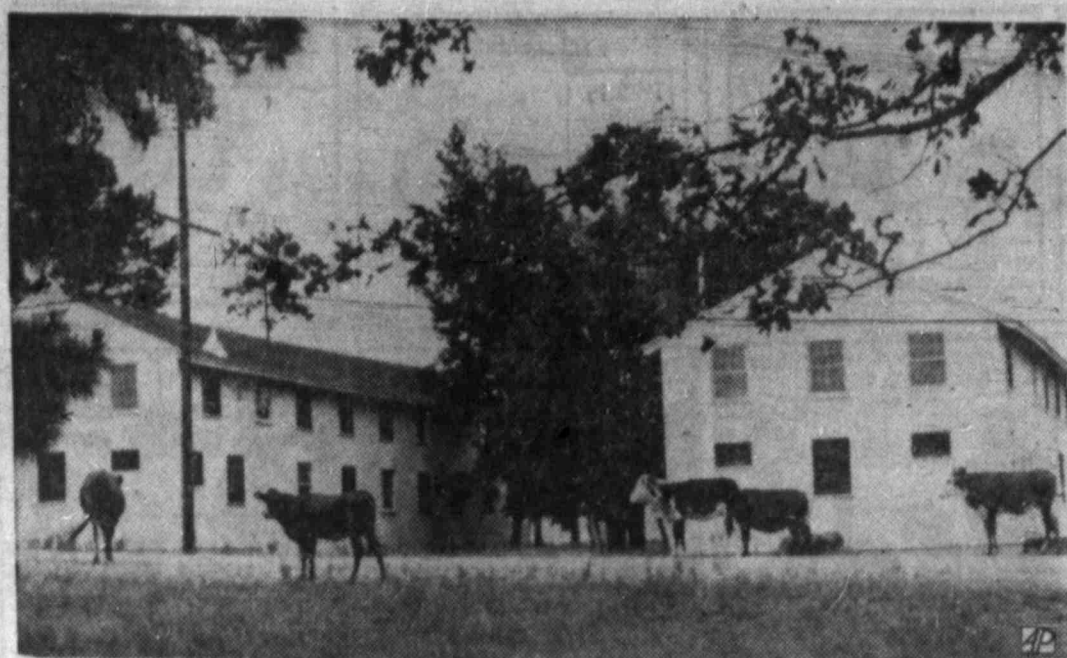

Betty studied industrial design at Pratt Institute and designs warehouse offices in addition to being design consultant for a plywood company. She has spent a good deal of time working at the drawing board, and traveling to consult with some of the 350 mobile home manufacturers.

"The main idea is to make the homes more livable as we progress. The level of design has become better as more people live in these homes," she explains. "Park owners are taking more pride in their project, offering mobile home people better community development, attractive landscaping and other features available usually to the residential home owner."

Texas Violence Takes 27 Lives

At least 27 persons met violent deaths in Texas over the weekend. Traffic was blamed for 14 of the fatalities.

The Associated Press tabulation, which began at 6 p.m. Friday, ended at midnight Sunday.

West Texas deaths included these:

Fred M. Rives, 32, of Wichita Falls, drowned in a stock tank at the Wichita Falls State Hospital Sunday. He was a patient at the hospital. Justice of the Peace H. M. Newman ruled the death accidental.

Mrs. Sadie Moore, 32, of Lovington, N. M., and her daughter, Rita Mae, 13, were killed in a head-on collision Sunday near Jolly, midway between Wichita Falls and Henrietta.

A car struck a bicycle ridden by two youths and killed Johnny Ramos, 17, in Lubbock Saturday night. His companion, Joe Chavez, 15, suffered critical injuries. Witnesses told police the driver turned off his auto lights and fled.

The body of a man identified by police as Loddie J. Synos, 39, of Bartlesville, Okla., was found on a railroad track Saturday night at Big Spring. He was believed to have died in a fall from a train.

Mrs. Martha Hathcock, 84, was found slain Saturday in her home at Big Spring. Police said Robert Lonnie Bailey, 15, Big Spring Negro, signed a statement admitting he stabbed the elderly woman in the throat with some grass shears. A murder with malice charge was filed.

Mrs. Nancy Applewhite, 29, of Dallas and Robert J. McGannon, 25, of Midland died as a private plane crashed just north of Midland Friday night. Singer Charles Applewhite, 28, husband of the dead woman, suffered critical injuries.

Dan Walleit, 69, of Big Spring drowned Friday night while fishing alone at the Robert Lee City Lake 35 miles east of Big Spring.

One Survivor In Turkish Crash

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — One survivor was found Sunday in the smoking wreckage of a twin-engine Turkish airliner that crashed in the mountains near Ankara Friday, killing 28 persons.

The survivor was identified as Salin Kalafatoğlu, a Turkish banking official. He was taken to a hospital in serious condition.

Among the dead was Bernard Havens, Rye, N.Y., a civil engineer with Socony Mobil Oil Co.

Planes To Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations announced Sunday that Canada had agreed to provide two C119 transport planes for the U.N. operation in the Congo. They are due in the Congo Tuesday.

LBJ To Address Judges Meeting

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is expected to address the annual meeting of the County Judges and Commissioners' Association of Texas Tuesday.

More than 1,500 persons are expected at the two-day convention which opened today.

Former State Highway Commission Chairman Marshall Formby of Plainview is to give the keynote address today, speaking on "Government by Remote Control."

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, Speaker of the Texas House James Turman, several members of the state House and Senate, State Highway Commission Chairman Herb Petry and Stanley Woods, president of the Texas Land Owners and Independent Oil and Gas Producers Association, also are to speak.

Actor Dies

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — John D. Eldridge, 56, an actor who played the role of father for several seasons in television's "Meet Corliss Archer" series died Saturday of a heart attack.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy Says A-Weapons May Be Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says "there is no question" that President Kennedy is prepared to use nuclear weapons to maintain the Allies' position in Berlin.

Appearing on an NBC television interview program Sunday — "Meet the Press" — the attorney general said: "The President and the free world are willing to use nuclear weapons to preserve our position in Berlin, to insure that the people of Berlin remain free and that we have access to that city."

The attorney general said he "would hope" that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has come to this realization within the last few weeks.

Robert Kennedy said that the matter of possible use of nuclear weapons probably takes more of his brother's time and thoughts than anything else, "because when we are talking about using nuclear weapons we are talking about almost the destruction of the human race—at least—a very large proportion of it."

The attorney general's remarks were partly in response to questions based on a Senate speech Thursday by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine.

Feet Of Clay?

PARIS (AP) — Nine persons were injured Sunday when a stairway at the Soviet exposition collapsed.

The stairway led to a balcony where prototypes of Soviet transport planes were on display. The exposition is housed in the permanent exposition park at the Port de Versailles.

2 Mountain Climbers Killed

SEATTLE (AP) — Two young mountain climbers fell 300 feet to their deaths Saturday in the Cascade range.

Killed were Linda Cartwright, 24, and Ed Goodman, 28, both of Seattle, who were climbing Gey Peak, just north of Snoqualmie Pass, with Janet H. MacDonald, 26, and Brian Marts, 18, also of Seattle.

Marts and Mrs. MacDonald said a rock apparently gave way as Mrs. Cartwright stepped on it. Goodman was climbing behind her.

Mrs. Cartwright's husband, Walter, 23, was on weekend duty in Seattle as a Marine reservist sergeant. Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Karin, 5.

Accused

Edward Henry Ashdown, 39, of Costa Mesa, Calif., is shown in a Los Angeles police station after police said he admitted stealing paintings valued at $670,000 "so I could draw attention to myself." The art works, found at a bus depot and a rented garage, were taken from the home of industrialist David Bright. Officers found Ashdown's fingerprints at the Bright home.

Welles Dies At Age Of 68

BERNARDSVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Sumner Welles, 68, undersecretary of state for six years during the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, is dead.

Welles died early Sunday at the home of his wife's family after an illness of three weeks. He had suffered a heart attack some years ago.

A specialist in Latin American affairs, Welles was credited with coining the phrase, "good neighbor policy," and of persuading President Roosevelt to pursue such a policy.

Welles served briefly as ambassador to Cuba and later was in charge of the State Department's division of Latin American affairs.

He was one of the principal American diplomats assigned by Roosevelt to work on the formulation and organization of the United Nations.

Welles was named assistant secretary of state in 1933 after Roosevelt's inauguration. He was promoted to undersecretary, the No. 2 position in the State Department, four years later.

His resignation in the summer of 1943 was believed to have resulted from a clash of personalities with then-Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Hull was said to have resented Welles' habit of going directly to the White House with problems and advice.

Big Dope Raid Made

CHICAGO (AP) — The arrest of three men and the seizure of $250,000 in marijuana smuggled through Laredo, Tex., from Mexico has been announced by the Chicago Police Department.

The seizure — 26 pounds — was described as one of the largest of raw marijuana ever made in Chicago.

The three men arrested Saturday were Walter Stark, 50, a machinery workers owner; Esteban Marquez, 37, unemployed, and Demacio Vasquez, 30, a factory worker. All are of Chicago.

Police said U. S. Customs agents spotted the marijuana when two unidentified men drove into Laredo from Mexico. The drivers agreed to cooperate with police.

The drivers continued to Chicago with the marijuana, closely followed by customs agents. Police said they led officers to the three Chicagoans.

Gen. Wedemeyer Charges U.S. 'Soft' On Soviets

DALLAS (AP) — Retired Army Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer charged Sunday that the Kennedy administration was "soft on or appeasing the Soviet Union to the hope of reciprocal treatment."

Arriving for a speech tonight, Gen. Wedemeyer repeated remarks he made before a controversial "Let's Look at America" seminar in San Antonio Saturday, and hit what he called a "soft attitude."

"I do not challenge the administration. I do not question motives but judgement," he said.

As examples of what he termed "appeasements," Gen. Wedemeyer said two Soviet spies were recently apprehended in the act of espionage in Chicago but "were not punished but just sent back to the U.S.S.R."

"We should continue the security device of fingerprinting visas. Our country should not discontinue just because a Communist delegate protested. These are the same people we are building bomb shelters against," the 64-year-old general said.

"I would break off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and all Communist satellites," he added.

Gen. Wedemeyer, author of the Wedemeyer Reports, said the Red Chinese government defied "by word and deed" the charter of the United Nations and should not be admitted for membership. He said such an action would be "breaking faith with our war dead."

"I am very unhappy about the United Nations as a whole," he said. "So far it has just been used as a sounding board for Soviet propaganda."

Gen. Wedemeyer said certain factions of the U. S. government were endeavoring to find ways of

Civil Rights Panel Asks More Desegregation Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Rights Commission called today for action by the President and Congress to speed school desegregation.

"The nation's progress in removing the stultifying effects of segregation in the public elementary and secondary schools—North, South, East and West—is slow indeed," the commission said.

The six commission members were unanimous in recommending that Congress require every local school board that operates segregated schools to file a desegregation plan with the federal government within six months.

Such plans would have to call for at least a first step toward full compliance with the Supreme Court's 1954 desegregation decision at the beginning of the following school year. Desegrega-
