Formby Urges Training For Church Leaders

FORT WORTH (AP) — Proper training of Christian leaders, both in the ministry and among laymen, is essential if this nation survives the onslaught of the world-wide Communism attack, Marshall Formby said today.

Formby was here to preside at the annual meeting of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary Advisory Council, comprised of Southwest laymen.

"Religious leaders must be about the sharpest persons in each community and must be the best trained," the Plainview attorney said. "They must have the best in teaching and realize that the opposition is extremely well trained."

"The sooner people realize that Communism is a form of religion and that the Communist leaders are organized, dedicated and ambitious, the sooner Christians can cope with Communist brainwashing tactics. Communist leaders are after the mind, soul and body of every person on this earth and will stop at nothing in achieving their goal."

CRMWD Ready To Sell Water In East Howard

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is ready today to deliver water to Standard Oil Company and Sinclair Oil & Refining Company for repressuring in the East Howard oilfield.

O. H. Ivie, assistant manager-production, said that all pipe and connections had been installed for obtaining water from Moss Creek Lake.

For flexibility of its operation, the district will install one other valve which will make it possible to pipe Lake J. B. Thomas water directly into the repressuring line, or into the lake.

The district and the companies earlier signed a contract under which the operators will take more than a million and a half gallons of water per day, effective Oct. 1.

Lineman Hurt In Electric Shock Mishap

L. P. Hamm, a lineman employed by the Seth Lacy Electric Co., suffered a fractured vertebrae and undetermined injuries from shock when he came in contact with a 7,200-volt highline at 9 a.m. today.

Hamm, who has worked for Lacy since November, was a member of a crew employed by the Caprock Electric Co-Op. The crew was working on a line eight miles north on the Gail Road.

Hamm was releasing his safety belt to lower himself on the pole when the belt came in contact with the hot wire. The impact hurled him from the top of the pole to the ground.

He was taken to Malone and Hogan Hospital Foundation in a Valley - Pickle ambulance. He was unconscious when fellow workers reached his side but was said to have regained consciousness later.

X-rays showed the fractured vertebrae but the damage caused by the shock is yet to be ascertained.

Hamm is married and lives with his wife and children at 3505 U.S. 80 west.

Texas College Enrollments Set Records

By The Associated Press

Just as educators and population experts predicted, enrollment in Texas colleges and universities set records in almost all instances this fall.

A spot check of a score or more of schools, large and small, showed spectacular increases in some cases and moderate gains in others.

The huge University of Texas went over the 20,000-mark for the first time. Arlington State, converted only recently to a four-year college, gained nearly a thousand students to 8,297.

Texas Tech also set a record with 10,195 students, going over the 10,000-level for the first time. The University of Houston, despite some tuition changes, went to 12,111, a gain of about 600 over last year to retain the title of second largest school in the state.

Both Denton schools set records, North Texas State going to 4,509 and Texas Woman's University reaching 2,734.

The new San Jacinto Junior College at Houston opened for the first time and found 815 students ready to sign up.

Midlander Faces Gambling Charge

FORT WORTH (AP) — W. H. Perry, 46, Midland cafe owner, was arraigned Wednesday on charges of accepting wagers without having bought a federal gambling stamp.

Perry was indicted by a Dallas federal grand jury. His lawyer, Bill Pannell, said Perry appeared at the hearing voluntarily.

U.S. Commissioner R. C. Van Orden set bond at $500 and Perry was released. The government alleges he failed to pay the tax for the fiscal years of 1956, 1957, 1958 and 1959.

BRITISH URGE BERLIN TALKS WITHOUT 'IDEA OF VICTORY'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain called urgently today for East-West negotiations to settle the Berlin crisis, disarmament and other disputes, but urged both sides to renounce the idea of seeking victory in the talks.

In a broad policy speech before the U.N. General Assembly, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home assailed the Soviet concept of coexistence as "a sterile policy."

He made frequent changes in his prepared text, deleting a reference to an "honorable deal" as the goal of East-West talks and a charge that the Soviet Union is "playing with nuclear fire" in trying to set man against his neighbor.

He accused the Soviet Union of deception and double-dealing in the collapsed nuclear test ban talks.

Lord Home praised what he called the "stirring" disarmament proposals of President Kennedy and urged that they be used as a basis for renewed arms negotiations either by the 10-nation group of East-West countries or by an enlarged group.

Officers Cleared In Paar Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today withdrew disciplinary action it had taken against two officers in connection with the filming of a Jack Paar television show at the Berlin barrier. It said re-investigation showed the two had done nothing wrong.

Army headquarters here issued a statement released in Europe by Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, U.S. commander there.

A formal admonition against Col. John R. Deane Jr., of San Francisco, was withdrawn.

Clarke also said he had ordered removed from the files of the case anything referring to Lt. Col. Dallas W. Hoadley of Baltimore. Deane will be continued in command of the 2nd Battle Group, 6th Infantry, in Berlin.

Hoadley, who was public information officer there, was transferred to Heidelberg after the Paar incident. He "will continue his new assignment in the information division at my headquarters in a position I consider to be of equal importance to the assignment he had in Berlin," Clarke said.

Local Hospital Program Takes Runner-Up Honor

A program by volunteers at the Big Spring State Hospital was runner-up for the Director's Award at a meeting of the Volunteer Council for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools in San Antonio Friday, according to Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent.

The award is made annually to a hospital with an outstanding project in which volunteers participate. Presented for consideration was the local training program in which patients at the hospital go into homes of volunteers to learn the housekeeping trade.

During the year some 30 patients participated in the program and eight were released permanently to accept jobs in the skill they had learned, according to Dr. Harrison.

Selection was made by a committee from the Austin central office of the Board. Local persons attending the council were Dr. Harrison, Mrs. Leo Bonin Hyre, volunteer coordinator; Jack V. Smith, vice chairman of the Volunteer Services Council for State Mental Hospitals; and D. M. McKinney, chairman of the local Volunteer Services Council.

In addition there were 12 volunteers from Midland present.

Free City Proposal In Gromyko Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet reply to President Kennedy's U.N. address raised guarded hopes today that the Soviets may be ready to ease the threat of war over Berlin.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko turned down the President's bid for a nuclear test ban treaty, stuck to the Soviet line on general disarmament and insisted on a three-man board to replace the late Dag Hammarskjold as U.N. secretary-general.

Nevertheless there were cajoling sounds amid threats in Gromyko's policy speech before the General Assembly Tuesday.

Gromyko stressed that the Soviet Union intends to sign a peace treaty with East Germany whether the West likes it or not. He declared that a war over the divided city could take hundreds of millions of lives.

The Soviet foreign minister also warned the West against "spouting threats" on Berlin and then repeated the Soviet proposition that West Berlin should be a "free city" with free access.

THE JOKER

The joker in this proposal, from the Western viewpoint, is that the city's communications would have to be underwritten by what Gromyko described as "appropriate agreements" with Communist East Germany. The West does not recognize the East German regime and insists on its own rights in Berlin.

However, Gromyko suggested the United Nations might take a role in West Berlin to help avoid conflict. Delegates noted that in discussing possibilities for the future status of Berlin Gromyko said the Russians would agree to "the use of troop contingents of neutral states or United Nations troops as guarantors of the status of the free city."

David Robertson, Railroad Union Pioneer, Dies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—David B. Robertson, 85, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen for 31 years until his retirement in 1953, died early today in Lakeside Hospital.

Robertson was credited with leading many of the legislative and economic battles that resulted in laying the groundwork for modern labor-management relations.

He was successful in having the Railway Labor Act enacted in 1926 when he served as chairman of the Committee of Rail Road Chief Executives.

RED CLUB? Apparently the Russians feel they can marshal the votes among the nonaligned nations to support their position if the tension builds sufficiently.

Many delegates felt that Gromyko's 1-hour, 45-minute speech contained little new, although there were some signs of giving ground. Neutrals felt encouraged by what they viewed as a moderate tone.

Gromyko ignored the new U.S. step-by-step disarmament program but produced all the standard Soviet objections to its main premise—that disarmament must be inspected, verified and controlled. He said such control would only benefit Western military leaders and serve as espionage for them.

Not only did Gromyko reject Kennedy's appeal for an immediate nuclear test ban treaty—he wants the question lumped with all disarmament problems—but he defended the Soviet resumption of tests.

"COMPELLED" The Soviet Union is compelled to do this by the actions of the NATO powers," Gromyko said.

Gromyko touched only briefly on the question of filling the vacuum caused by Hammarskjold's death. He demanded that the Security Council—where the Soviets can veto any candidate—take up the problem first and solve it "on the basis corresponding to the actual situation in the world."

This is the Soviet phrase meaning a three-man board of Communist, neutral and Western representatives, each with a veto.

Several hours later the Soviets came up with a slight shift from Premier Khrushchev's original "troika" proposal. They suggested appointing one top official for the U. N. secretariat with three deputies. They would have to agree on all decisions, thus giving each a veto. The top official would be only a figurehead.

Rayburn Misses First Ajoornment

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time since he became Speaker in 1940, Sam Rayburn missed today's closing of the House.

The 79-year-old Texas Democrat went to his Bonham home several weeks ago to rest and receive treatment for what aides described as lumbago.

Laborious Groundwork

Arranging for the mammoth United Fund solicitation is a laborious task within itself. Prospects cards must be prepared, business affiliations and addresses must be confirmed, organization must be completed so that volunteer workers can reach their people with a minimum of confusion. Four leaders in the campaign are pictured here

Smith, Kite In Semi-Finals Of Merit Scholarship Tests

Two Big Spring High School students are among the semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

They are Lawrence C. (Chap) Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith, 715 Tulane, and V. Stevens (Steve) Kite, son of M. Sgt. and Mrs. Verlon G. Kite, 168-A Fairchild.

As semi-finalists—there are approximately 10,000 in the nation—they will take other tests Dec. 2 to determine if they will be considered as finalists. Virtually all those who become semi-finalists have the qualities to become finalists, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation pointed out.

In the final phase of competition, high school grades, extracurricular activities, school citizenship, leadership qualities and other characteristics of the students will be evaluated with scores on tests. To some extent, financial need will enter into the final decisions.

About April 26, 1962, names of the merit scholars will be announced, the exact number depending on the extent of sponsor support of the merit program.

Each scholarship is a four-year award to cover the undergraduate college years. The recipient's stipend is tailored to his need. Now they average about $800 per year, but in some cases the amount may run to $1,500 annually. Those who already have financial resources may receive as little as $100 per year. In many cases, colleges receive supplementary grants ranging to $500 per year to help defray the actual costs of educating the students who receive Merit Scholarships.

The Merit Corporation sends the names of semi-finalists to all accredited colleges and universities and to other scholarship-granting agencies and financial aid sources. Studies show that about 50 per cent of the semi-finalists obtain scholarship assistance from sources other than the Merit program.

Ford Shows 1962 Trucks

The Ford F-100 (top) and Falcon Sedan Delivery (bottom) are two members of Ford's 1962 fleet of light duty trucks. Engineering changes have been made with the view of attaining economy of operation, plus ease of handling. The truck lines are being introduced at Shasta Ford Sales, 500 W. 4th.

NEW MODELS SHOWN

Ford Puts Stress On Truck Economy

Ford has concentrated its engineering effort in the truck field for 1962 on reducing truck operating costs. Engineering improvements which make for more economy and better operation have been stressed.

The new trucks are on display, and locally are to be seen at Shasta Ford Sales, 500 W. 4th.

In Ford's 1962 Business Fleet, truck buyers may select any of six economy-type engines, ranging in size and horsepower from a 144-cubic inch 85-horsepower 6-cylinder to a 292-cubic inch 170-horsepower V-8. Each engine has been designed to provide maximum economy and power for specific types of hauling jobs.

Typical of the many truck engineering advancements that have been incorporated into the Ford Business Fleet are those built into the 1962 Falcon Ranchero and Sedan Delivery trucks.

The 144 cubic inch engine, standard on the Falcon trucks, incorporates all of the features that in 1961 enabled it to record the greatest gas mileage ever achieved for any "6" or "8" in the 25-year history of the Mobilgas Economy Run. In addition to its excellent mileage performance, the engine operates on regular fuel for lower cost per transportation mile.

A new standard transmission interlock mechanism prevents drivers from "clashing gears." Increased use of asphalt deicer and other material provides an added sound absorption package.

Also built into every Ranchero and Sedan Delivery truck are such proven owner-convenience features as low loading height, easy-to-operate tailgate and level cargo floor with a full 800 pound capacity.

In addition to the Falcon Ranchero and Sedan Delivery trucks comprising Ford's 1962 Business Fleet include the Econoline van and pickup, the light duty one-half, three-quarter, and one-ton pickups, and the one-half and three-quarter ton 4-wheel drive Medium duty trucks in the Ford Business Fleet include the conventional and tilt-cab series with gross vehicle weights ranging from 15,000 to 21,000 pounds.

Drivers of 1962 Ford pickups will ride more comfortably and experience less fatigue, in "driverized" cabs. Thick foam rubber seat pads provide standard pickup cabs with built-in comfort. In addition, the Ranchero has new standard and deluxe upholstery and trim combinations.

Ford's 1962 parcel delivery line includes four economy leaders ideal for "stop and go" deliveries with gross vehicle weights from 5,000 to 15,000 pounds.

Cloney Drops Out Of Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Rosemary Cloney was disclosed Tuesday night to have dropped out of Friday night's Bell Telephone Hour television show on the National Broadcasting Co. network.

A spokesman for N.W. Ayers, advertising agency representing the sponsor of the program, said her decision to withdraw followed a dispute over a song for the show.

Miss Cloney was not available for comment.

Dixie Governors Support Tariffs

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Southern governors strayed still further from Dixie's traditional free trade stand today as they demanded protection for domestic industries against foreign imports.

Two resolutions calling for limits on "excessive" imports were up for adoption as the governors concluded their four-day annual conference. Both had strong backing.

One proposal called for "greater protection and assistance for domestic manufacturers and producers imperiled by foreign competition." The other urges President Kennedy to curtail textile product imports on national security grounds.

The final item of business will be the selection of a conference chairman to succeed Gov. Price Daniel of Texas.

Don't Exercise -- Stretch, Writer Advises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Take it from Millicent Linden, if President Kennedy had boned up on Leonardo da Vinci's writings, he wouldn't have suffered that back strain last spring.

The President would have known how to keep his backbone straight, in a natural sort of way, and wouldn't have put it out of whack, she says.

Miss Linden, who can do ballet and also sing, has delved into physical principles propounded by Da Vinci, the 15th century artist-engineer, and also the writings of Isaac Newton and the atomic scientists.

As a result, she has written a book entitled: "Why You Should Not Exercise".

Instead you should stretch—as a cat does when awakening from a nap, but of course since you don't walk on all fours, you have to adapt the stretch to the human body.

Five stretches are outlined in the book. To the uninitiated, they might look suspiciously like exercises. Perish the thought, says Miss Linden. Exercises are contrived, boring, things, she says, while her stretches are natural movements "completely harmonious and just as smooth as honey."

One is called the "embryo stretch." You curl up like a baby before birth, with your hands wrapped around your toes. Then you extend first one leg and then the other, with your fingers still on your toes.

Another is the "quadruped stretch." You stand squarely on both feet, bend your knees and place the palms of your hands on the floor. Let your head hang down with "quiet abandon." Then straighten your knees very slowly, with your palms still on the floor.

This stretch, Miss Linden says, utilizes Newton's third law of motion—for every action, there is an opposite and equal reaction. Among other results, it improves the complexion.

Miss Linden says her stretches are aimed primarily "at businessmen of ability, who go popping off like flies because of the tension they're under."

Miss Linden, demonstrating her stretches to a reporter and photographer, had a bit of difficulty because her isotards were binding. "Confound these things, they won't let me go," she said.

Texans' Oil Plight Told

FORT WORTH (AP) — A Texas official said today oil from other continents and states has put Texas oil producers on their knees.

Ben Ramsey, new member of the State Railroad Commission, said Texas' share of world crude production has dropped from 29 to 12 per cent since 1951.

During the same period, Ramsey said, the industry's state tax payments on production jumped from $3½ million in 1951 to a high point of $193 million in 1957 and $175 million last year.

"A turning point has been reached, I believe, in the history of your industry's relations with the state government," said Ramsey, who resigned as lieutenant governor earlier this month to accept appointment to the oil and gas regulatory body.

"The time is now at hand when it behooves this state's government to do everything it can to get this vital industry back on its feet."

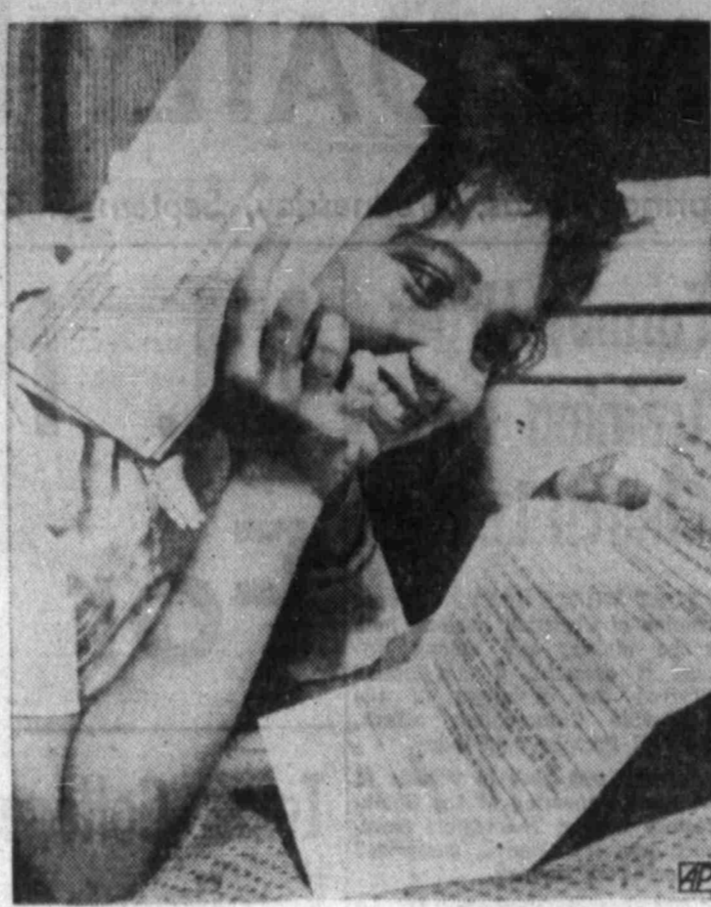

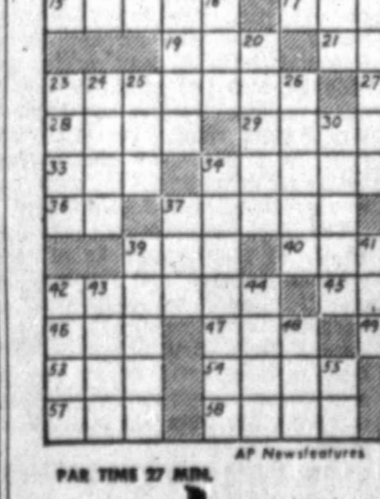

Ramsey spoke at the concluding general session of the 42nd meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

State Control A Definite Way Of Life In Australia

By HOUSTON HARTE

CANBERRA, Australia. The so-called "free enterprise" world is shrinking, or rather has been shrinking steadily without our general knowledge.

New Zealand is strictly a welfare state—perhaps the first. It dates back 70 years to 1890. Australia, 1,280 miles to the west, has been gradually assimilating one government control after another.

Liberal and labor governments of this continental federation of Australian states have attempted to meet every economic crisis with a law.

From the beginning the states have owned utilities, railroads, telegraph, telephone and all public services.

The states of Australia were British colonies until the Commonwealth was voted in 1901. The states had high tariffs against each other and lesser ones on manufactured articles from other nations. It has not been difficult for Australia to hold onto everything which it felt would help its "infant industries." Usually it kept the highest rates found in any of the states.

Australian-owned by American automobiles if they could afford them. Now General Motors and Ford have plants here. These law-located plants just about control the automobile business in this down under continent.

General Motors has a company called GM-Holden. Its fast-selling car is the Holden. It looks about like a 1956 Chevrolet and when you see it again you can't understand why GM ever quit making this car at home.

Ford makes its Falcon here and is doing a wonderful business. One reason is the duty on American cars is 40 per cent after $1,000 is added for freight to the cost of each car. When the dealer gets the car on his showroom floor his customer must add 35 per cent sales tax. An American Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth costs here about what we pay for a Cadillac. When the Australians talk about our tariff on wool and lamb our sheep and goat raisers association people should have the figures of what Australia does to us. And the Australians and New Zealanders are our friends and they like us. The tariff is business with them.

MARKETING BOARDS

With the exception of wool, which is sold in a free auction market usually held on alternate dates in Sydney, Brisbane and Melbourne, all major Australian farm products are controlled through marketing boards. This control appears to vary materially.

An example of a board with minimum controls is the meat board. It licenses export and assists in export promotion. It has nothing to do with internal marketing.

To an outsider it appears that the Australian meat producer has no real markets as we know them. There are no scales on Australian stations. The producer and the packer-buyer guess at the weight of the beasts, as animals are known here. The buyer makes an offer of so many pounds a head. The producer takes it or keeps his animals. There is no bidding "by the pound" as livestock is sold in the States.

MONOPOLY

Local meat prices are not controlled by the board, as with such commodities as sugar, wheat, citrus and dairy products. Under both Commonwealth and state legislation these boards have a monopoly on the products each handles. The board establishes internal prices which are usually well above the world market. On that part of the crop which moves into the export trade, the board negotiates for the best price obtainable.

In a complicated bookkeeping system the board averages the returns from all sources and pays the producer the average price received for the entire crop, less the operating costs. This "orderly marketing" appears to be strongly supported by the great majority of Australian farmers.

One of Australia's leading packers and meat exporters told me

Nixon To Tell Political Plans

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon steps before a televised news conference tonight to answer the big question—will he run for governor of California next year? Even his closest advisors professed not to know in advance whether it would be yes or no. At least they weren't talking.

Everything seemed to point to a campaign by the 1960 Republican presidential nominee to dump Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

There was the careful staging of the announcement, the steady buildup of a "draft Nixon" clamor within the state GOP, little hints here and there.

But, just as easily, puzzled guessers could make out a sound case for a decision by Nixon, 48, not to chance his political future with state voters who are better than 3-2 Democratic.

Republicans themselves are divided on Nixon's course. Some have told him that he needs the governorship to build a platform for another national race in 1964 or 1968.

Others have argued that Nixon, with his national party stature, doesn't need an office to keep in the public eye. They have warned, too, that he faces a stubborn battle for the state nomination, particularly from former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

Four Los Angeles stations will televise the proceedings locally, and ABC will beam the program to other California outlets. All three networks planned to offer excerpts nationally.

Gov. Brown and two of the three avowed Republican candidates for his $40,000-a-year job have demanded equal time. Brown has not announced his own candidacy as yet, but there's no doubt he will.

Talk about Nixon's possible candidacy for governor began right after he lost the presidency. It came into the open in February when Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., declared Nixon must win the state post if he expected to run again for president in 1964.

The former vice president told friends in March that he was not a candidate and he had no intention to be one. By July he was saying he would run "only if the party concludes I am the only man who can 'save' the state."

Talk about Nixon's possible candidacy for governor began right after he lost the presidency. It came into the open in February when Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., declared Nixon must win the state post if he expected to run again for president in 1964.

The former vice president told friends in March that he was not a candidate and he had no intention to be one. By July he was saying he would run "only if the party concludes I am the only man who can 'save' the state."

There was the careful staging of the announcement, the steady buildup of a "draft Nixon" clamor within the state GOP, little hints here and there.

But, just as easily, puzzled guessers could make out a sound case for a decision by Nixon, 48, not to chance his political future with state voters who are better than 3-2 Democratic.

Republicans themselves are divided on Nixon's course. Some have told him that he needs the governorship to build a platform for another national race in 1964 or 1968.

Others have argued that Nixon, with his national party stature, doesn't need an office to keep in the public eye. They have warned, too, that he faces a stubborn battle for the state nomination, particularly from former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

Four Los Angeles stations will televise the proceedings locally, and ABC will beam the program to other California outlets. All three networks planned to offer excerpts nationally.

Gov. Brown and two of the three avowed Republican candidates for his $40,000-a-year job have demanded equal time. Brown has not announced his own candidacy as yet, but there's no doubt he will.

Fire Threatens Carolina Docks

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C. (AP)—Fire, possibly starting from a fisherman's dropped lantern, raced across oil-capped water and set off a series of explosions aboard a Navy tanker discharging aviation fuel Tuesday night.

The explosions and flames killed at least one person, injured 21 and for many hours threatened to touch off seven storage tanks containing more than 10,000,000 gallons of aviation fuel.

Gov. Brown and two of the three avowed Republican candidates for his $40,000-a-year job have demanded equal time. Brown has not announced his own candidacy as yet, but there's no doubt he will.

Congress Adjourns In An Angry Storm

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first congressional session of the Kennedy administration wound up in an angry whirlwind early today with the Senate having to accept a big money bill which the House bounced to it on a take it or leave it basis.

The House passed the $1,125,027,341 supplemental appropriation and then quickly closed up shop at 4:20 a.m. With the House in adjournment and no chance for compromise, the Senate was forced to go along with the bill providing money for a wide variety of federal agencies.

The slightest Senate amendment would have killed the measure and forced President Kennedy to call a special session to get the needed funds.

Senators minced no words in expressing anger at the House adjournment prior to final Senate action.

OUTRAGEOUS
"We have taken a shellacking, and I think it's outrageous," protested Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois challenged his colleagues to "show how deep is your conviction."

"Let's find out whether the House of Representatives can affront the Senate," Dirksen roared.

But after additional angry complaints, the Senate passed the measure on a voice vote and quit at 6:16 a.m.

The session which ended in the flare of tempers had run up appropriations totaling about $2.5 billion, a peacetime record.

In its home stretch session of about 19 hours, the heavily Democratic Congress also:

Voted $3,514,000,000 for foreign aid for the year which started July 1. The final figure was a qualified victory for President Kennedy, who originally asked for $4,775,500,000.

PUBLIC WORKS
Cleared a $3,908,880,980 public works appropriation for flood control, rivers and harbors, reclamation and atomic energy projects.

Since convening last Jan. 3, Congress approved many major points of Kennedy's New Frontiers program. It also rejected several of his major requests.

Democratic congressional leaders said they were well pleased with the record of the 1961 session and predicted that many Kennedy proposals which failed this year would be passed in 1962.

Republican leaders said they had kept their pledge to cooperate with the President on foreign affairs, and had remained true to their principles by seeking to cut or defeat many new domestic spending programs.

The session's spending was exceeded only by two World War II years and one Korean War year. The $2.5 billion in appropriations for the fiscal year which began July 1 includes $8.6 billion interest on the national debt. Not included in the total is a fiscal 1961 supplemental appropriation.

The first session of the 87th Congress was the longest since the Korean War year of 1951, which ran to Oct. 20. Congress will reconvene Jan. 10 unless a crisis forces Kennedy to call it back sooner.

Congress quickly gave Kennedy the additional billions he asked for a defense buildup and to launch a big effort to get a manned space ship to the moon by 1970, plus authority to call up reservists and National Guardsmen.

At the same time key items in his domestic program bogged down. Democratic leaders blamed this in part on the sudden shift of attention to international troubles, particularly Berlin, and the belief of many members there must be some economy to offset increased defense spending.

MAJOR VICTORIES
Kennedy's major victories came relatively early in the session and involved measures which Democrats had tried unsuccessfully to get through in the Eisenhower years.

They included: An increase in the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour by 1963, plus coverage under the Wages and Hours Act for an additional 3.5 million workers, mostly in the retail field.

A depressed areas bill carrying $394 million in federal loan and grant funds to try to help bring new jobs to communities with high, persistent unemployment.

A Social Security measure lowering the retirement age for men to 62, boosting the minimum monthly check from $33 to $40, and raising widow's benefits 10 per cent.

A $5.6-billion housing bill setting up a new program for middle income families including 40-year home mortgages, authorizing 100,000 additional low-rent public housing units, and carrying $2 billion for urban renewal grants and $1.2 billion for college dormitory loans.

A $600-million Latin American aid program. A $225-million extension of the federal aid to airports program. A two-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission.

A highway bill authorizing an additional $1.5 billion to complete the 41,000-mile interstate system by 1972 as originally scheduled, and levying the taxes to pay for it. Two new organizations urged by the President, a Peace Corps and a disarmament agency, were enacted into law in the closing days of the session.

The chief casualties in Kennedy's program were: A $2.55-billion aid bill for public grade and high schools. Passed the Senate but killed in the House.

A religious dispute over whether church schools should get aid was a major factor in this defeat.

Three other education bills — aid for colleges, aid for medical education, and a broadening of the National Defense Education Act. Democratic leaders believe all three have a chance in 1962.

A broad tax revision program containing incentives to business modernization and removing various benefits now in present law. Some action likely next year.

A health care program for the 16 million persons over 65 handled largely under the Social Security System. The House Ways and Means Committee has completed hearings on this; action is possible in 1962.

A far-reaching new farm proposal authorizing producers to write their own programs under guidance of the secretary of agriculture and subject to a congressional veto. Congress put through a measure limited to wheat and feed grains, seeking to win production cuts by an offer of higher support payments.

A postal rate increase boosting the letter stamp from 4 to 5 cents and raising other rates. Establishment of a Cabinet department of urban affairs.

Tug Of War

A 77-year-old woman is literally caught in an East-West tug of war as she tries to escape from East to West Berlin. An East Berlin policeman holds her arm while a West Berliner grabs her legs as she dangles from a second floor window of a house in Bernauerstrasse, on the border of the city's Communist controlled and western sectors. The West Berliner wrenched the elderly woman free and they fell into the waiting fire brigade safety net.

Dominican Critic Carries Weight

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—For nearly half his 65 years Dr. Viriato A. Fiallo has been fighting the dictatorship of Rafael Leonidas Trujillo. The generalissimo is dead, but Dr. Fiallo is continuing a relentless opposition to the regime Trujillo bequeathed to the nation.

Fiallo is president of Union Civica Nacional, a self-styled non-partisan political watchdog organization. It represents the largest, best organized and most outspoken opposition to the government of President Joaquin Balaguer.

"The government has failed to insure political freedom. Human rights are being violated," says Dr. Fiallo.

But he adds he does not doubt the sincerity of Balaguer's desires or efforts to restore democracy.

Dr. Fiallo represents to a large segment of opposition-factions the symbol around which all antigovernment elements might rally to win next May's elections.

Yet the tall physician-teacher-philosopher says he does not want the presidency.

The weight of criticism against him centers on a charge that he once was an ardent nationalist but now favors intervention.

He admits he requested the Organization of American States to look into the status of political freedom here but says he never asked for direct or indirect physical intervention.

During the U.S. military occupation of the Dominican Republic, 1916-1924, he made speeches and wrote newspaper articles opposing the presence of American troops. The U.S. intervention started Trujillo to the top and marked the beginning of Fiallo's war on the generalissimo. He was in and out of jail for the next 31 years.

From 1947 through 1952, he was arrested three times and spent a total of seven months in solitary confinement. He was accused of subversion. He was refused permission to leave the country in 1947 when forced to take refuge in the Colombian Embassy.

He was fired as professor at Santo Domingo University in 1952 for refusing to join the official party. In 1951 he was dismissed as director of medical services for various industrial concerns through pressure from Trujillo.

He lives in a modest, comfortable home almost in the heart of the city. His wife, a first cousin, is Atala Fiallo de Fiallo, a warm-hearted woman who speaks French and English fluently. Her father was Fabio Fiallo, post-diplomat who served as consul general in New York and European capitals. The Fiallos have two sons, Fabio, 40, a businessman, and Rafael Aristides, 35, a lawyer.

Fiallo blames the cooperation of intellectuals and the indifference of American nations for helping keep Trujillo in power 31 years.

New Look For Dodge Dart

Dodge's popular price Dart is dramatically restyled for 1962, and its engineers assert it features a new concept in standard-size car design which provides greater performance, economy and ease of handling. All useless weight and extra size has been "engineered out," they say.

Pictured is the deluxe Dart "440" four-door hardtop. The Darts go on display Thursday at Jones Motor, 1st and Gregg, and with the compact Lancers. The smaller line features a sports job this year, called "Gran Turismo."

LANCER HAS SPORTS JOB

Action, Economy Combined In Dodge Dart Line For '62

Dodge is unveiling a dramatic, redesigned 1962 Dart which, the manufacturers say, is a real combination of action and economy. The popular-priced Dart features a new functional styling and an impressive series of engineering advancements.

- Also being shown is a sports model in the compact Lancer line for 1962 - a sleek job called "Gran Turismo." Both cars are being shown to the public Thursday, and will be at Jones Motor Co., First and Gregg.

The GT is just one of six Lancer models. It is a two-door hardtop with distinctive styling and a luxurious all-vinyl interior which features bucket seats.

The Dodge Dart is slightly shorter and lighter than the 1961 models, but both headroom and legroom dimensions have been increased. The makers claim increases in performance, economy and maneuverability.

In Darts with the standard V-8 engine and automatic transmission, for example, acceleration from 0 to 60 miles an hour has been improved approximately 7 per cent and gasoline economy by about the same percentage. With the six-cylinder engine with manual transmission, 0-60 acceleration has been increased about 11 per cent and economy by about 3 per cent.

The standard-size, 116-inch-wheelbase car has three new series identifications for 1962 - the low-price "Dart 330" and the deluxe "Dart 440." Twenty-three sedan, hardtop, station wagon and convertible models are offered.

A redesigned and more durable automatic transmission for V-8 engines and improved, easy-to-turn manual steering head the long list of engineering advances in the new Dart. Other major engineering features include:

An entirely new heating and ventilating system which provides fresh air to the passengers even when the car is stopped or moving slowly.

A new, lighter, "aircraft-type" starter which ensures quick, positive turn-over in cold weather and uses less electrical current.

Factory-sealed chassis lubrication which needs to be checked every 32,000 miles, instead of every 2,000 miles.

A host of electrical and ignition system improvements which increase durability and reliability—and simplify servicing and maintenance.

A new built-in device that automatically adjusts the brakes. The Dart also has larger, more powerful brakes.

A new, easy-to-operate manual gearshift which ensures smooth, positive shifting.

Fully integrated, all-welded body construction which gives the Dart a solid, vibration-free ride.

The 1962 Dart provides a choice of four engines. The standard power plants are a 145-horsepower, 225-cubic-inch "Slant Six" and a 230-horsepower, 318-cubic-inch V-8 which give excellent performance and economy on regular grades of gasoline.

Two extra-performance engines are optional: a 260-horsepower, 318-cubic-inch V-8 with four-barrel carburetor and dual exhausts; and a 305-horsepower, 361-cubic-inch V-8 with special camshaft, four-barrel carburetor and dual exhausts.

The 1962 Dart's new styling presents a completely different silhouette highlighted by a long, forward-tapering hood and short rear deck.

U. N. May Play Role In Berlin Settlement

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The possibility that the United Nations will play some role in efforts to settle the Berlin crisis appeared to be gaining headway today.

If the United States and Russia in current diplomatic talks fail to agree on a formula for starting negotiations, the war-threatening dispute will likely become an issue of prime concern for the General Assembly.

If negotiations can be agreed on, both the Soviet Union and the Allied powers may propose that the United Nations take a hand in carrying out any plan they can devise for the future of West Berlin. Indications are that Soviet and Western leaders alike are thinking along these lines:

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko scheduled another meeting today on the East-West deadlock over how to get negotiations started.

The central issue is what to negotiate about.

LITTLE HOPE
On that issue Western diplomats found little encouragement in the Soviet policy speech Gromyko delivered to the General Assembly Tuesday dealing at length with the Berlin situation.

In their view the speech contained nothing essentially new on Berlin policy, but that had been expected. If the Soviet government is willing to engage in the wide negotiations demanded by the United States, Britain and France, the first indications of change in its position almost certainly would be made known by Gromyko not in a speech but in his private talks with Rusk.

U.N. INTEREST
Gromyko laid heavy emphasis on U.N. interest in the dispute and ways in which the United Nations might take an active part in a settlement. He said the United Nations might serve as a "guarantor of the status of the free city" which Russia has been demanding for West Berlin, and which the Western powers have repeatedly rejected.

The status of the free city, he said, could be registered with the United Nations and "other forms of United Nations participation" could be envisaged. He also asserted that "the Soviet government is ready to agree to the use of troop contingents of neutral states or United Nations troops as guarantors" of West Berlin.

tion of war or peace on which "There can be no neutral states," "Neither can nor should the United Nations as a whole be a neutral, indifferent onlooker," he declared.

RECOGNIZED
President Kennedy, speaking Monday, had already recognized a major U.N. interest in the Berlin crisis by devoting a long section of his address to it. In addition the United States, Britain, France, and West Germany are known to have discussed possible participation of the United Nations, either in dealing with the crisis or in carrying out a settlement.

What roles the organization might undertake would have to be determined in the proposed negotiations on a settlement. Failing the unresolved crisis would go into the United Nations, perhaps on the initiative of the Western powers.

So far as the formula for negotiations is concerned, Gromyko stuck in his U.N. speech to the same policy previously enunciated by Premier Khrushchev. That position has been rejected by the Western powers. They are insisting that the problem of Berlin's future must be dealt with in the larger framework of the future of Germany and European security.

HEART OF MATTER
Gromyko argued that the peace treaty which Khrushchev proposes to sign with Communist East Germany is the heart of the matter.

"In brief, we say: accept the proposal to sign a peace treaty and to turn West Berlin into a free city on that basis, and we will accept any proposals on the most effective guarantees for that city that can be found in present-day international practice."

But the heart of the matter, in the view of Western governments, is not the peace treaty but what Khrushchev intends to do about Berlin and its access routes, since he claims the treaty would give East Germany full sovereignty over the routes.

The Western powers do not recognize East Germany and they hold Russia responsible for keeping open the access routes, the lifelines of West Berlin's independence from Communist rule.

The danger of war arises from the possibility that the East Germans, with Khrushchev's backing, may try to close some of the access routes after the peace treaty is signed. Their aim would be to compel the Western powers to recognize their authority.

If negotiations are held this will be one of the most critical problems. The Western powers have been reported considering concessions to the extent of accepting limited East German authority over the supply lines.

A Devotional for Today

They devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers. (Acts 2:42, RSV.)
PRAYER: Dear God, save us from coldness of heart and spiritual drought. Restore to us the joy of our salvation. Help us to be steadfast in faith, in our devotional life, and in serving others through Thy church. In our blessed Redeemer's name. Amen.
(From The 'Upper Room')

Cost Of College

We suspect that many parents in this area have discovered Howard County Junior College to be a lifesaver in helping meet financial demands of a higher education. Thus, it will become increasingly important to have a quality college near at hand in order that families can conserve and concentrate their financial effort in the completion of the college experience.

Consider that from 1952-60, fees to state residents in major public universities increased by 71 per cent. The average tuition in private colleges and universities this year will be $1,000 as against $310 in the 1939-42 interval. Tuition in public institutions has risen from an average of $78 up to a current $215.

The cost of going to college has far exceeded the rise in the cost of living. . . . about three times fast on an average. Certainly enrollments have jumped, but nothing like they are expected to rise within the next decade. Still nearly half of the top 25 per cent of high school graduates never go to college; only one fourth of the girls rated as talented continue beyond high school.

Some observers see in the trisemester plan of the University of Pittsburgh, Penn State and others as a partial answer. By using this and going to school 11 months out of the year, a student can obtain basic academic degree in two years and eight months.

Part of the answer, too, will be in colleges such as HJCC where students can go and obtain a good foundation while their families conserve their resources for the remaining two or three years of study. It is not only a good way, but for many it will be the only way that a degree will be possible.

Combatting Hunger

Americans like a diet high in animal protein. They dote on steak and chops and hamburger and meaty stews and all the other nutritious delights that come from farm animals. They also, though to a considerably lesser extent, enjoy fish and other seafood. Moreover they are rich enough to indulge their tastes.

Countless millions of human beings in other parts of the world are not so fortunate. To vast numbers of them, fish is a treat and steak a thing scarcely dreamed of. They starve for the kind of protein we take as a matter of course.

This is a central concern of the world's nutritionists, so much so that the United Nations has sponsored a conference on the use of fish in nutrition. And it is interesting that an American, Secretary of Interior Udall, challenged scientists at this conference to work out better ways of making more fishery products available on a worldwide scale.

This is but part of the over-all program, for land utilization, water management, crop selection and research are all part of the attack. We can contribute through our studies, experimentation, mechanization, etc. to the production and preservation of food in the areas where food is most needed. It would not be wise, even if it were possible, for the advanced nations to undertake to raise and ship foods continuously to needy lands. What is needed is an ability to transfer our productive skills.

Hunger is a kind of disease. A cure for it would do much to bring about world stability and peace.

David Lawrence Unexplained Paradoxes

WASHINGTON—There's an unexplained paradox in the news these days. It raises several interesting questions:

First, why was it necessary to organize "Freedom Rides" to protest against racial discrimination in the South in seating on buses and at bus terminal restaurants when the Interstate Commerce Commission all along has had the power to do what it has just done—issue regulations forbidding such discrimination?

Second, why did the attorney general wait until May 29 to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to issue these new regulations?

Third, why were the organizers of the "Freedom Rides" given encouragement by government officials here to carry on those demonstrations when there was a remedy in existing law?

Fourth, why was the United States subjected to criticism abroad and the Soviet Union enabled to get a considerable propaganda use out of the news of the disorders at a time of international tension, and especially when the United States was seeking to win the friendship and favor of various African countries which now have votes in the U.N.?

THE ABOVE QUESTIONS relate to a fundamental belief which too many people have expressed that the only way to get things done is to "take the law into your own hands." This was the psychology of those who argued that the Negroes had "already waited too long for equal treatment" and that it was "about time to do something."

Not so many years ago this was the argument also of those who started mobs to do lynchings. The leaders said it was useless to wait for the long-drawn-out processes of the law to punish criminals. This was widely described as "government by mob" instead of government by law and order. Indeed, when the disorders broke out at Little Rock, Ark., in the autumn of 1957, criticism was heard that the inclination to violence by impassioned partisans of the cause of segregation showed that they did not believe in "law and order."

But the "Freedom Riders" in 1961 disregarded the fears of the local populace that "law and order" would be disrupted and that violence might result if the demonstrations were carried to the point of actual resistance to local laws.

EVEN SOME CLERGYMEN, who are supposed to teach reconciliation and certainly are not supposed to do anything remotely to provoke violence, actually participated in the "Freedom Rides" without getting a single letter of reprimand from the institutions, religious or educational, with which they were associated. Does this mean that the end justifies the means after all, and that, if the cause one believes in is a worthy one, it's all right to engage in a demonstration notwithstanding that it is likely to incite a mob to violence?

Whether one likes the "law of the land" is irrelevant, but, since it's desirable in a democracy for the people to await the normal functioning of legal processes in one case, it is equally desirable for the partisans of any other cause to agree that "law and order" must be given an opportunity to apply its mandates through the judicial processes available.

The Kennedy administration must have known last January that it could ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to issue regulations to cover seating in buses and terminal facilities similar to those previously issued for railways and rail-terminal facilities. Why didn't the Department of Justice advise the Negro organizations in the beginning not to start "Freedom Rides" but to give the law a chance to function? There are rumors that the demonstrators were actually undertaken with the knowledge, if not the advice, of the Department of Justice. This needs to be cleared up. For there is a suspicion growing that the Department of Justice is acting as a partisan of political causes and is playing politics with the whole problem of desegregation.

THUS, IT IS NOT explained why President Kennedy waited until the last moment in the current Congress to send to the Senate the nomination of Thurgood Marshall, general counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, to be a U. S. Circuit Judge in the Second Circuit. Knowing that the nomination would stir up a Senate inquiry to determine whether the appointment was a political one and whether some other Negro lawyer without such political connections and controversial background could have been nominated, the President held up sending the nomination to the Senate so that there would be no time for any inquiry at all at the present session of Congress. Indeed, there now will be a recess appointment which will permit the new appointee—who has had no experience on the bench—to occupy a high judicial post and draw a $25,000-a-year salary.

THIS IS A DEFIANCE of customary procedures. Again and again members of Congress have criticized the idea of giving recess appointments to federal judges. For what is to be thought of the rulings of such a judge made during the recess if his nomination next year fails to be confirmed? There are signs that both parties are playing politics in an effort to win the support of Negro voters.

There seems to be a throwback to reconstruction days when the slogan was "might makes right." The Fourteenth Amendment, which is the whole issue of "equal rights" is based today, was declared "ratified" in 1868—three years after the War Between the States was over—by precisely such illegal methods, in disregard of the requirements of the Constitution.

Dean Slams The Door

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Smile when you warn Dean Crandell not to slam the door. Crandell, research vice president of a wall building company, has had a door mechanically opened and slammed shut more than 27,000 times in a test of a new interior wall panel material.

FINE TIME FOR THAT!

Bob Thomas Groucho In A Serious Role?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Groucho Marx in a dead serious drama? Yep—but not the lecherous, impudent, crouch-walking Professor Hackenbusch of the Marx Brothers comedies. Nor the sly, impudent quiz master of television.

Groucho was doing a scene on a country club terrace in which he and Fred Clark discussed the impending marriage of their children. Fred was all for supporting the kids through college. Groucho argued that they should wait to marry, rather than start their wedded life on a handout basis.

"Cut!" said director Charlie Haas after the long, no-joke scene. Groucho came over to explain this turn in his career.

"This is the first time in my career I've ever played a serious role," he said, "unless you count that last comedy I made."

"They took away all my trade marks. I can't even smoke a cigar. I can't go like this (wagging his eyebrows). Once I went like this (wagging his eyebrows) and the director said 'Cut!' He told me not to do it."

He explained his reasons for taking the dramatic role, which will appear on G.E. Theater:

"Not for the money, I can assure you. I'm okay there. In fact, this check goes right to the government. When you're in a 90 per cent bracket, it's ridiculous."

"Why am I doing it? Because I always thought that comedy was much harder to do than drama, and I wanted to see if I was right. I think I am."

"Besides, I didn't want to spend the rest of my life lurching at Hillcrest every day and staring at the same eight faces."

He referred to the famed comedians' round table at Hillcrest Country Club, where he matches quips with Jack Benny, George Jessel, George Burns, Danny Kaye, Danny Thomas, etc.

"And," he added, "I think this show has something to say. Too many kids nowadays expect to get married in a hurry and have the way paved for them. I've got a daughter 15½. In another couple of years she might run off with some gas station attendant and find out she's living a lot differently from how she did before."

More dramatic roles? Maybe, though he's not looking for anything strenuous. He turned down a "Wagon Train" because of the location. He fixed "66" (next week), he aims to enjoy life.

Hawaii Undersold

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii, one of the world's largest producers of pineapple, is being undersold at home by pineapple from Formosa.

A No. 2 can of sliced Formosan smooth cayenne pineapple, the same variety that grows in Hawaii, sells in local stores for 23 cents. The same size can of Hawaiian pineapple sells for 37 cents.

The Pine Review, publication of the pineapple companies of Hawaii, said Formosan farm and cannery workers get 20 cents a day, compared with $12 a day plus fringe benefits for Hawaiian plantation workers.

The publication said Formosan cannery workers operate Australian-made slicers bought with U.S. foreign aid dollars.

Formosa ships pineapple to the east coast of the United States for $28 a ton while Hawaii must pay $34.16 a ton to the same destination, it said.

For shipments to Europe, Formosa pays $25 a ton, Hawaii pays $35, the publications said.

To Your Good Health Article Causes Woman To Seek Diagnosis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Your article on diverticulosis sent me to the doctor for diagnosis, as I've suffered without knowing the cause."

"He learned from X-rays that I have calcification of an enlarged heart, upper abdominal aorta, and also of the splenic artery."

"I know now that it's age and arteries. But — what causes calcification?"

"The X-rays show diverticulosis, three such pouches."

"I am indeed grateful to you for your writings, and to Roentgen for inventing the X-ray. — Mrs. M. B."

"P. S.: I am active and alert, and sorry life cannot go on for me — I am a young 74."

Thank you, but shouldn't I give you a verbal spanking for your postscript? If you're an active, alert, young 74, there isn't any reason I can see why you shouldn't be an active, alert 75, 76, and so on.

Medicine pays off by finding out, accurately, what the real facts are, after which correct care, medication or maybe merely advice keeps the patient healthier and happier.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can or does diabetes come on suddenly, say within a few hours? Assuming there was no question of having this illness previously? — E. D."

No — assuming that there is absolute proof that the illness did not exist previously. But many a case of diabetes is not recognized for a long time. In such cases, and under the right (or wrong) circumstances, it may suddenly flare into a serious phase. In children, the onset is often quite sudden, but not measured in hours.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim The Vanishing West Texan

Writing for the United Press-International, Dick West exposed his upbringing—he's a West Texan and filled with nostalgia about the area.

He took note that any town can brag about something, quoting as an example Stanton's highway sign: "The home of 3,000 friendly people—and a few old soreheads."

Well, it turns out that Merkel was his home town, and in his day Merkel had more windmills per capita than any town of its size between Mineral Wells and Muleshoe.

"IT IS, I DARE SAY," wrote Bro. West, "rather difficult for most people, except possibly natives of Holland, to feel nostalgic about windmills. But such a feeling came over me as I was reading a survey put out this week by the National Geographic Society . . . (which reports that windmills . . . are rapidly disappearing from the American countryside)."

"Gee whiz, I feel terrible about that. . . . In my youth, the gay blades of the tower—those who went to dances and turned over outhouses and things like that were known collectively as 'windmill fixers.'"

"According to the Geographic, 'Movements are afoot to save windmills as charming reminders of a pastoral past.' I certainly hope the movement catches on back home."

COME TO THINK about it, windmills are disappearing—and rapidly. Most of them that still dot the scene are not in use. Maybe about half the blades are gone from the wheel, and the fans broken or drooping. Often the wheel and the fan are gone, only the peak of the derrick and remnants of the gear box remaining. Nothing seems more desolate and lonely than a windmill with its wheel gone, the ladder rungs broken and a few boards missing to complete the picture of utter abandonment.

Yet, not so many years ago the windmill was a sure sign of habitation. On the plains area the towers stood as landmarks for thirsty cowhands. Even though they might only be presiding over an earthen stock tank, windmills offered some contact with civilization because all trails led to windmills.

WHETHER IN THE backyard of a ranch home or back of the house in town, the windmill was a symbol of status as well as an evidence that this household didn't have to haul its water. Underneath was likely to be a well house through which clear water cooled crocks of sweet-milk, clabber and butter. The outflow pipe might run to a low metal tank with a float valve or to a pond where cattle could come and slake their thirst. The rattle and squeaks or the steady whir as a gust of wind stirred the mill to action could be both cheerful or mournful.

I FEEL LIKE BRO. WEST. We ought to see to it that some windmills are preserved around here. And we ought to preserve an old ranch house, a false front weather-beaten store, and maybe a bunkhouse. Somewhere out around the "big spring" (which ought to be restored) we could erect a little settlement to remind us what it was like in the early days. Yes sir, right in the middle of it, there ought to be a windmill.

—JOE PICKLE

Inez Robb Hate For Mother Becomes Boreome

Before the advent of television, reading and books were the opiate of the masses. Apparently some of us still can't kick the habit, because books continue to pour out of presses like water over Niagara.

And it stands to reason that publishers aren't in the business for the public weal.

There is nothing particularly new in the thought that follows: it is simply walked up and slugged me with renewed force since I waded through — well, almost — "A Matter of Life and Death" by Virgilia Peterson.

MISS PETERSON, a sometime teevee panelist and untiring, cross-country lecturer before women's clubs, hated her mother with such a pure and unadulterated passion that it has taken her 334 printed pages to pour out her venom.

Miss Peterson bears eloquent testimony to the inexhaustible literary blessing of an unhappy childhood and the pot of gold in unwavering detestation of Mummy. Not since Philip Wylie worked over the poor old American mom with a spike club some two decades ago has the sacred image of motherhood taken such a shelling as it does from Miss Peterson.

AND LET'S MAKE no mistake — Miss Peterson just didn't dislike Mummy; she hated and still hates her with such a passion that by page 100 her obsession has become embarrassing and by page 334, deadly dull.

A third of the way through this tome, I was rooting for Mother, now gathered to her fathers, and wishing she were alive and equipped with a ballpoint pen to state her side of the case. Boy, I'd bet Mummy's story would curl the printed page, because as a spoiled brat, Virgilia was surely no bargain in the home. For 334 pages, everyone is out of step except the author. And nothing, not even the author's experiences as a soiled dove, are spared the reading public.

IT IS NOT what the book reveals about her mother but what it lays bare about Miss Peterson that is so deadly.

Oddly enough, just before reading Miss Peterson's opus, I had reread Samuel Butler's "Way of All Flesh," a bitter indictment of a bigoted Victorian family that, literary history says, is autobiographical. Butler cast his indictment in the form of a novel that wrings the reader's vitals, and leaves him agast at such familial cruelty.

I WOULD LIKE to make a small wager that long after Miss Peterson's 334 pages of distasteful recriminations against Mama are forgotten, the world will still be reading "Way of All Flesh."

To take the dark-brown taste out of my mouth after "A Matter of Life and Death," I picked up Honor Tracy's new book, "A Season of Mistake," one of this hilarious Irishwoman's battier concoctions. Miss Tracy is a joy in a world in which there really isn't very much to laugh about.

"KIDNAP, The Story of the Lindbergh Case" by George Waller is a consummate retelling of that terrible case. As one who has heard every reporter who worked on the case — from Adela Rogers St. John to Joe Alsop to Grace Robinson — tell and retell the story, I thought no new recap of it could possibly interest me. But "Kidnap" is a ten-strike, if you're in a mood to curl up at home with a good book. And Mr. Waller doesn't seem to hate his mom.

Holmes Alexander The 'Troika': Faith, Hope And Hate

CAMBRIDGE, England — "Faith, Hope and Hate," writes C. P. Snow, the Cambridge physicist-turned-novelist, in probing the mentality of a British scientist who passed atomic secrets to the Russians. "That was the troika which rushed him on."

SNOW'S BOOK, "The New Men," published in 1954, holds up the mirror to much of the nuclear complex that we are living with in 1961. For the past two weeks, I have been lazing, reading, reverently sightseeing and interviewing in this ancient university town where, thirty years ago, I studied under the greatest of teachers and inspiration. Everything here tells me that philosophical and psychological comprehension, to keep pace with our exploding scientific and technical abilities, is the greatest single need of our mid-century.

Surely this marriage of physical and intellectual knowledge, as illustrated by Snow and by this seat of learning which produced both Newton and Milton, is the full conception of what a university was intended to be. And if our generation is to maintain this God-given plan for our progeny, we must learn a split idea as well as atoms, finding at the center the kernel of truth as well as of life.

ANOTHER ONE-TIME Cambridge don is Lord Bertrand Russell, 89, who has just served a jail sentence and whose recent career demonstrates how troublesome and pathetic science without sense can be. Russell is followed by thousands of witless intellectuals, pseudo and psychos, who cannot grasp the universality of knowledge. Through terror, or mental exhaustion, they have been seized upon by the aberration of Single Thinking. All they can think about is the Bomb. They are oblivious to the Humanities. All they are aware of is science, in its limited modern connotation. They are forgetful of every other form of scholarship, the imperishable records in literature and history of the mind and spirit of man.

WELL, SIR CHARLES P. Snow is here to remind us that atomic scientists are "new men" but not different men. They are activated by the corrosive action of power, the tremors of economic, professional and sexual jealousy, the noble sense of duty and the treacherous whispers of pity and self-pity.

How, then, does one confront a Communist? It does not matter whether he is Khrushchev, with his atomic blackmail, or Klaus Fuchs, who stole British atomic secrets, served his term in jail and is now free. We cannot confront the Communist, Snow is saying through the indirect arts of the novel, except by the very same forces of the Communist psychological troika—Faith, Hope and Hate.

THE GROVELING pacifists of Hyde Park, licking the dirt of Khrushchev's hobnails, are men without religious faith or adult courage. With any belief in God, they would not show such an indecent, public obsession with fear for their lives or even for the life of the race. A century ago another immortal English scientist, Charles Darwin, caused people to stop and think whether it made any difference if they were products of the Garden of Eden or the amoeba. Every form of life, wrote Darwin, "if useful, is preserved, by the term Natural Selection." Science and history both insist that this is the divine plan, and that it is unshakable. The race will go on without help from Bertrand Russell and his prostrate disciples.

THE BRAVE MEN, headed by President Kennedy, whose decisions to take up arms and resume testing have raised the American presidency to its rightful level, are the hopeful men. They courageously believe that Khrushchev can be beaten either in his chosen game of power poker or, if necessary, by the old and honorable test of battle.

The rest of us who choose to be hopeful can spend our time profitably by urging Mr. Kennedy to get rid of the pacifists, the hesitators and bomb-banners in his own household. This generation of Americans cannot be certain of conquering—but with the leadership of which the President is capable we can begin to behave like the conquerors we have always been.

ONLY HATE, the third steed of the troika team, will fuse the Western World for its death battle against the Communist powers and their helmsmen and hirelings in our midst. The truth is not in us if we go on treating this atomic age as if it were an unnatural era. Tyrants behave no differently than they used to do. The "new men" who gave us nuclear weaponry were drawn to their discoveries by the same fascination which called all great voyagers. The terrors of mass destruction by explosion or poisoning are no worse than those terrors once imaginatively faced by real or mythical persons who sailed unknown seas, opened boxes of troubles, ate forbidden fruit or looked on sights that superstition had marked as sacrosanct.

One way to begin anew to behave as men is to start hating those who so thoroughly hate us.

How's Your Leg Art? Fashion Wise That Is

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News Features Writer

Legs will be in the fashion line light as knee-length skirts take over on campuses this fall. Can you bare yours? Do your knees, calves and ankles shape up?

If they don't measure up to the beauty yardstick, tackle the problem with gusto now. Fat legs can be reduced by general diet and exercise. Skinny legs can be developed through a weight gaining program.

But the most difficult-to-correct leg faults are those caused by the wrong stance. Here are some ways to treat these:

WENBY WADDLER walks with her toes fanning out like 10 minutes past 10. If you walk that way, too, you can correct the situation this way...

POLLY PIGEON stands as if she was 25 past 7 on the clock. If you do, too, correct it by standing with heels about 6 inches apart. Slowly pull the heels together without raising them, putting as much pull and strain on your feet as possible.

BECKY BOWLEGS worsens the situation by standing with knees pushed back which causes the knees to turn in slightly. Knees should be kept slightly bent and with feet together. If bowlegs are your trouble, flex the calves and try to force the flesh and muscle into the hollow areas. The calves will pull around toward the inner side if you turn the leg outward as much as possible from the ankle up to the knee.

KATY KNOCK KNEES may also have fat hips and large legs. A diet to shed some weight and loosen the leg muscles will help. If she walks with slightly bent knees, trying to make the two inner calves meet, her knees will turn out automatically. If you fit Katy's description, try walking that way, too.

Another good exercise for fatty knees is this one: Lie down with your legs together, clapping your hands at the back of your neck. Raise one leg, keeping it straight and your knee stiff. Draw small circles in the air with your toes. Put one knee slightly ahead of the other and hit them together. Reverse, putting the other leg ahead, and knock legs together.

DR. AND MRS. A. M. BOWDEN ... to hold open house

Former Residents To Note 60th Anniversary

Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Bowden of May will observe their 60th wedding anniversary with open house Oct. 1, from 2:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the family residence in May. The public is invited, but it has been requested that gifts be omitted. The Bowdens family lived here.

A native of Dover, Ark., Dr. Bowden moved with his family when he was 14 to Clio in Brown County, in 1890. He and Mrs. Bowden, the former Amanda Heflin of Clio, attended Clio school and Howard Payne College at Brownwood. She was a teacher in the Brown County schools while Dr. Bowden attended medical school. They were married on Oct. 2, 1901.

In 1908 Dr. Bowden began his practice of medicine in Pioneer, moving to Holder the same year. After 15 years, he moved to May, where he has been a general practitioner ever since with the exception of nine years spent as superintendent of state institutions. He holds the record for having been licensed to practice medicine longer than any doctor living in Brown County. He is a life member of the Brown County Medical Association.

Dr. Bowden's medical schooling included work in the medical department of Fort Worth University, Tulane Medical School at New Orleans, La., and the Chicago Post-Graduate School of Medicine.

A former Austinite, Dr. Bowden spent nine years as a state institution superintendent. In 1946 he was appointed acting superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital and was on its staff until 1950 when he moved back to May.

Dr. and Mrs. Bowden are the parents of two children, a son, Heflin M. Bowden, Westaco, and a daughter, Iola Chambers, on the Southwestern University faculty.

Active in the life of their community, Dr. and Mrs. Bowden participate in the civic, religious and social affairs in the area. Dr. Bowden teaches the men's Sunday school class at the First Methodist Church where he has been a member since 1912 and has held every office in the church.

Trustees Begin Search For Superintendent In 1962-63

The first steps toward permanently filling the superintendency which will become vacant July 31, 1962, were taken by trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District at a special meeting Tuesday night.

The current contract of Sam M. Anderson expires on that date. He will not be actively competing with other candidates for the post, but he is not eliminated from consideration.

To aid with the selection, three persons from colleges representing a cross-section of the state will be asked to suggest the top five school administrators in the state.

Letters will be sent by Clyde McMahon, president of the board, to L. D. Haswell, the University of Texas; Morris Wallace, Texas Tech; and Arvin Donner, the University of Houston. In the event one or more of these men are unable to give their assistance, Emmett Smith, West Texas State College, and Glenn Barnett, The University of Texas, have been chosen as alternates.

Requirements to aid with nominations will be that the person be between 35 and 55 years of age and have a master's degree. The salary of the previous superintendent will be listed.

In other business, Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper and Clyde McMahon reported on a convention in Austin which they attended during the weekend. Sessions of the annual convention of the Texas Association of School Boards and Texas Association of School Administrators dealt with spotting and eliminating unsatisfactory teachers, passing information about schools to the public, changes in curriculum to meet modern needs and sizes of schools.

During the convention at the college, numerous articles of school equipment were on display.

PARSONS

The board went into executive session to read a letter from former superintendent Floyd Parsons relative to the questionable status of his employment with the school system. Parsons was employed as a consultant at a minimum teacher's salary, until Feb. 1, 1962, so that he could retire with 30 years of service in the Texas school system.

There has been some question about whether his employment and services rendered meets the requirements to entitle him for teacher retirement. To pay in funds and be eligible for retirement benefits, a person must work 2 1/2 days each week for the school system.

The matter will be given further consideration at a meeting scheduled Oct. 10 at the Administration Building, 100 E. 10th.

331st Adds New Building To Complex

The new armament and electronics building for the rapidly expanding 331st FIS complex at Webb AFB has been completed and will be occupied Oct. 1.

The new cream colored, one-story, concrete block structure has 8,300 square feet of usable floor space, and measures 127 by 102 feet. It will house communications equipment and testing consoles, radar mockups, and testing equipment for electronic navigation. The automatic flight control system, aircraft instrument maintenance section, and equipment supply will also be housed in the new building.

In addition, it will contain a technical library, and reading room to aid in on-the-job training.

Capt. Leon P. Early is in charge of the A and E section, and Lt. Robert L. Pettit is head of the weapons system branch. Each will have offices in the building.

New Home For Armament And Electronics

A recent change at Webb AFB is the completion of the new armament and electronics building in the 331st FIS area. The building is completely air conditioned. A & E personnel are expected to move into the new shop Oct. 1.

City Commissioners Discuss Need For Firemen, Equipment

City commissioners, with one eye on the local insurance rate, discussed requests for more men and equipment in the fire department during the regular meeting Tuesday. An additional man in the identification section of the police department was approved.

Stanley Tropashka, who has been working part time under Lt. Robert Bronson, will assume a full-time role after he is discharged from the Air Force about Oct. 16.

BIG JOB

Chief Jack Banks told the commission that one man could not handle the department, including filing, processing all jail prisoners, and the photography required.

Mayor Lee Rogers pointed out that the Big Spring Police Department has one of the most efficient identification files of any city near its size in Texas, and that Tropashka is largely responsible for getting files in order.

The commission authorized his employment, at a patrolman's base pay of $355 through the remainder of the fiscal year. Beginning next April 1, he will get sergeant's pay.

Need for additional firemen and equipment was discussed at length after examination of recommendations of the Insurance Commission.

It was pointed out that the Big Spring department is 10 men short of the requirements for a city of Big Spring's population and area. Two old pumps, 31 and 36 years old, were declared obsolete and inefficient. The lack of men add a one-cent penalty to the insurance rate; lack of a building code and old buildings add six cents, the report pointed out.

MASTER PLAN

"The Master Plan calls for two new pumps and additional stations facilities and men in 1963," A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, said. "The Eleventh Place and Birdwell Lane station can take care of one more pump and an additional crew which would help protect the east part of the city and the Kentwood Addition."

The commission took no action on the fire department problem, but plans to study the matter for action later. Money to meet the requirements is the primary consideration.

In other business, the commission authorized the acceptance of an escrow check amounting to $3,500 from E. C. Smith to insure the purchase of a new machine in the Kentwood Addition when all grading is completed. The escrow account enabled the establishment of FHA loans on new residences being built, pending the paving under city specifications.

A used Addressograph-Graphotype machine, to be purchased from the Home Savings and Loan Association of Odessa for $4,000, was authorized. The machine will be used by the water department in the cycle billing program, and by the tax department. The machine replaces an older type which could not handle the work, Steinheimer said, and is $2,600 under the cost of a new machine.

ZONING CHANGE

An ordinance rezoning both sides of Wood Street, between State and Rosemont, from R-2, single family residence, to PD, Planned District for neighborhood service, was passed on second reading.

An addition being developed by Bruce Frazier in Northwest Big Spring, known as the Carver Heights Addition, was annexed on final reading of an ordinance.

A strip of land along the north right-of-way line of IS 20, (the present Northwest Twelfth Street), approximately 300 feet in depth, from the Snyder Highway west to the intersection of IS 20 and the Andrews Highway, was annexed on the first reading of the ordinance. This move gives the city control of development along the new highway. Two more readings will be necessary for final passage.

The ordinance annexing E. C. Smith's Muir Heights in South Big Spring was given first reading. This strip lies west of US 87 and south of the new Catholic Church.

Alleys in Block 5 and Block 12 of the Lakeview Addition were closed by an emergency ordinance. Because of drainage difficulties on Hillcrest Street, bounding both blocks on the west, the developers could not utilize lots facing east and west. They will replat the lots to face north and south to provide paved streets to all residents.

Five Cubs Share In Pack Awards

Five boys shared in awards Tuesday evening at Washington Place School when Pack No. 137, sponsored by the Washington P-TA had its meeting.

Jack Holder got his Wolf; Steve Yates received his gold and silver points to his Wolf; Phillip Ferguson got a one-year service patch; Cary Gurnels and Coleman Nalls received denner patches.

Den No. 1 won the attendance award. In all about 45 were present for the affair. Dens No. 1 and No. 3 gave skits, the Webelos had the opening and No. 4 the closing ceremonies.

On Oct. 3 at 7:30 p.m. new dens will be organized and new boys and parents are urged to attend.

City Officials Set Early Bond Sale

The Big Spring City Commission Tuesday night decided to sell bonds totaling $1,125,000 on Oct. 24 in order to take advantage of a favorable market. The bonds are part of the master plan program of improvements for the city.

The bonds to be sold include $800,000 water and $600,000 sewer general obligation bonds, and $235,000 water and $210,000 sewer revenue bonds.

Included in the sale will be $88,000 on bonds not sold in the first issue on March 1.

A new sewage treatment plant and an elevated water storage tank for the business area will be covered in the 1962 construction program.

Thad Kennan, representing the First National Bank in Dallas, fiscal agent for the city, discussed the bond market and recommended the sale of the bonds before November.

"The market is not as good as it has been in August and September," he said, "but it is better than it will be for some time. For instance the type bonds which sold for 3.26 per cent a few days ago sold for 3.52 per cent today. We feel that the interest rate will go up later and will continue to go up during 1962."

The new elevated storage tank, which will be built just north of the present tank, and which will provide a million gallons of extra fire protection for the business area, will require about nine months for delivery after purchase. The erection of the tank is linked with the additional big main construction scheduled for the north, including the state hos-

Trustees Adopt Policies For Guidance Plan

A policy for administration of the guidance and counseling program in Big Spring Schools was adopted by trustees at a special meeting Tuesday night.

Although the policies were not spelled out in detail, as they will be when presented to the State for approval, broad outlines were laid out.

Objectives of the program, as outlined in the policies, are to assist the student, teacher and parent in helping each student realize and achieve his potentialities in all areas of growth.

In doing this, the outline states, guidance will be concerned not only with the intellectual life of the student, but with the "whole" student. It will be concerned with all students and not solely with special or problem pupils.

The board of trustees will be responsible for insuring sufficient funds to carry out the program successfully; the superintendent and his staff will provide leadership, physical facilities and personnel; school principals will carry the administrative leadership responsibility within their respective schools, and teachers will be responsible for expediting the program by getting information about students, counseling students and parents, planning activities to stimulate interests and provide opportunities for wide achievement, and to refer students who need specialized assistance.

Some areas in which the program will be used at elementary levels is in transition from the home to the pupil's first attendance at school and later transition into junior high school. In secondary schools it will aid the student in selecting course offerings to achieve his educational objectives and will help orient students with records, procedures and special problems.

Judges Support Drilling Right

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas voted Tuesday to support legislation which would protect the right of any landowner to drill for oil on his land.

A resolution pledging opposition to compulsory utilization or pooling of oil resources was approved after Stanley Woods of Austin appeared for help from the organization.

Woods, president of the Texas Land Owners and Independent Oil and Gas Producers Association, said landowners and producers are battling for their very existence against the onslaught of huge monopolies which would prevent a well from being drilled on a small tract of land.

In addition to the oil drilling resolution, delegates passed resolutions recommending that the legislature provide funds for maintenance as well as construction of farm roads; opposing the proposed requirement that counties purchase equipment through the State Board of Control; requesting legislation limiting the annexation powers of home rule cities; and petitioning the U.S. Department of Agriculture to allow the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association to continue inspecting cattle brands.

Jaycees Join AID Project

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City Jaycees will participate in the statewide Junior Chamber of Commerce project AID, according to Drew Ballard, Jaycee president, and have been assigned the Baytown area as its project area.

AID — Assistance in Disaster — has been set up to help victims of Hurricane Carla, and different Jaycee organizations will adopt towns along the stricken Gulf coast and will work directly with Jaycee organizations in the adopted town or area, Ballard said.

Arvie C. Clark has been appointed disaster chairman at Colorado City, Ballard said. Clark recently took a load of food and clothing to Port O'Connor following a whirlwind campaign by Jaycees, the Red Cross, Salvation Army and several other interested individuals.

Ballard said that cash contributions are being accepted now and that money received by Sept. 30 will be sent directly to Baytown to be used for any relief purpose.

Finalists then will be eligible for the scholarship awards sponsored by 130 business corporations, foundations, associations, and individuals in cooperation with the National Merit Scholarship.

Delta Darts Grounded

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The Air Defense Command disclosed Tuesday that its F-106 Delta Dart interceptor, which holds the world speed record for an operational aircraft, has been grounded.

The order applies to 12 Air Force squadrons in the United States, each squadron having about 20 aircraft.

The command said Air Force headquarters in Washington ordered the grounding last Friday in the wake of two recent crashes involving the Convair-made Delta Dart. The pilot was killed in one of the accidents at Geiger Air Force Base, Spokane, Wash.

"This is merely a precautionary measure," a spokesman said. The grounding order will apply while Air Force technicians in engineering changes are required.

There are still some tickets left for the Big Spring Film Club's remaining attractions. There will be seven more feature films, of the foreign, art and classic varieties.

The first was shown Thursday, a Japanese import called "The Golden Demon." It was, as one who has been Oriented might expect, an artfully done film, with superb photography and readable subtitles. In the Japanese film industry, one who would be a scenic designer must first become an established artist.

The next on the list is "Our Man in Havana," which will be screened Thursday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m. in Howard County Junior College auditorium. Starred are Alec Guinness, Burl Ives and Ernie Kovacs.

Short subjects for the October screening will be perfection for railroad enthusiasts "Pacific 211" depicts a locomotive thundering through the French countryside to the music of a rhythmic composition. "Go Slow on the Brighton" is a masterpiece of time-lapse photography in which a four-hour journey by train is compressed into four minutes. Even jet pilots have been known to duck involuntarily when the train carried the camera under an overhanging branch.

Season tickets are five dollars each and may be bought at the door, or by mail from The Big Spring Film Club Inc., 2500 Morrison, Big Spring, Texas.

Enrollment Hits 7,106

Enrollment in Big Spring schools continues to climb and Friday there were 7,106 students attending classes, according to Sam M. Anderson, superintendent. At this time a year ago there were 6,994 pupils registered.

Bauer Elementary attendance is still growing as was anticipated. During the week there was an increase of 12 pupils, bringing the total enrollment there to 468.

Cedar Crest Elementary, up 27 the previous week, registered a modest gain of three pupils for a total of 300 students.

Secondary schools were up three despite a loss of four in the Senior High School. Rannels Junior High gained five students and Goliad was up two.

Totals for the secondary schools were Goliad, 863; Lakeview, 64; Rannels, 783, and High School, 1,042.

Elementary schools had 4,228 students registered and secondary schools had 2,752 students. There were 126 in special education.

Bailey's Birth Certificate Found

A delayed birth certificate, filed in the Howard County Clerk's office, apparently establishes that Robert Lonnie Bailey, confessed slayer of Mrs. Martha Hathcock, 85, is 15 years old as he has contended.

The certificate states that he was born on Jan. 18, 1946, in Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

That means, Gil Jones, district attorney said, that it will be one year, two months and 25 days from last Saturday (the date of the homicide) before Bailey will reach the age of 17 and thereby liable for trial as an adult.

Bailey, now in the State Training School for Boys at Gatesville, will be returned to Big Spring as soon as he has reached his 17th birthday and tried for the murder charged against him, Jones said.

Bailey was charged with murder with malice late Saturday night after he made a detailed statement admitting that he had stabbed Mrs. Hathcock to death in the bedroom of her home on Scurry.

Officers describe Bailey as being unusually well developed for his 15 years. He is five feet, 11 inches in height and weighs 177 pounds. This makes him appear older.

The records of the probate court show that Bailey's birth certificate was filed Sept. 5, 1952.

Police To Don Winter Uniforms

Big Spring police will don winter uniforms Oct. 1, Chief Jay Banks said Tuesday. Winter uniforms will be of the same color as in the past, with cordovan brown shirts, trimmed in the same color as the trousers, and matching ties. Trousers are sand colored with dark stripes.

The force will wear heavy brown leather jackets this winter, Banks said. They are made so that the Sam Brown belts may be worn under or over, but in most instances the men will wear the belts under the coats, he said.

"The jackets will enable the men to keep warm during the coldest days," Banks said. "They have not come in yet, but we have been assured of delivery before cold weather starts."

Some of the night force, working outside, have been wearing the long-sleeved shirts during the recent cool nights.

Doorkeeper Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oscar Honssinger, 67, a doorkeeper at the House of Representatives, died Tuesday night of an apparent heart attack.

INTRODUCING FOR 1962 THE NEW LEAN BREED OF DODGE

The black car above is the 1962 Dodge Dart 440. First of the Action-Economy cars. A low price, full-size Dodge that will outrun, out-economize most any car around. Accelerates seven percent faster on five percent less gas than a comparable '61 model. Reason? Less dead weight. For instance, its automatic transmission (with V8 engine) has an aluminum case, weighs 60 pounds less than last year's. The '62 Dart 440 is more comfortable. Has chair-high seats, a fold-down center armrest in front for bucket seat comfort.

The white car above is the Lancer GT, America's first Sports Compact. It carries five. Corners flat. Handles neat. Really goes. Bucket seats, all-vinyl interior, full carpeting are standard.

Full-size or compact, every 1962 Dodge is rust-proofed. Has a smooth Torsion-Aire Ride. Goes 32,000 miles between grease jobs. As always, the name Dodge is your assurance of complete dependability.
